WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon announced today John B. Connally had accepted a part-time job as unpaid presidential adviser and that James R. Schlesinger was his choice for the new defense secretary.

In the continuing reorganization of the administration resulting from the Watergate scandal, the President said Schlesinger, now CIA director, would succeed Elliot L. Richardson — also shifting jobs — at the Pentagon and William Colby would move up from deputy to director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Connally, who switched from Democrat to Republican last week, will "be available when the President wants to call on him — and we assume it will be frequent," said Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

Really hung up

SKYDIVER Bernard Schuchmann of Toronto, Canada, dangles upside down from 40-foot tree in Malone, N. Y., after parachuting mishap. His chute opened partially, throwing him into uncontrollable spiral and 4,000 foot fall in less than minute. Rescuers needed more than three hours to bring him final 16 feet to ground. Schuchmann was unhurt. (UPI)

Ex-aide claims he's target yet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former White House counsel John W. Dean claimed today that there is a concerted effort to get me "and vowed again that he would not take the blame for other top administration officials in the Watergate scandal."

Dean, fired last week as a result of Watergate disclosures, made the comments in a statement distributed to news media.

Dean's statement followed a series of reports about him — some saying he was prepared to link President Nixon to bugging, cover-up efforts and some saying both government and Senate investigators had concluded that Dean had no such evidence.

In his statement, Dean said the information contained in unspecified news stories was "neither complete nor accurate," but declared that "truth will emerge" ultimately in the Watergate case.

"Efforts have been made to prevent me from obtaining relevant information and records; attempts have been made to influence the handling of my testimony by the prosecutors; restrictions have been placed on the scope of my testimony as it relates to the White House; and blatant efforts have been made to publicly intimidate me," Dean said.

Dean and two other former White House aides, H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, who resigned April 30, are among 20 witnesses who have been subpoenaed by the Senate's Watergate committee for testimony at its public hearings starting a week from today.

Dean will first answer questions under oath on Friday from counsel for the committee.

Dean is widely reported to have been negotiating with federal prosecutors for immunity in exchange for whatever information he can provide about the bugging conspiracy and any subsequent efforts to cover up administration involvement in it or related espionage and sabotage against the Democrats last year.

In his new statement, Dean said he knew of "an on-going effort to limit or prevent my testifying fully and freely."

Dean's statement followed a report by the New York Times that federal and Senate investigators had concluded after questioning Dean separately that he could not implicate Nixon in the Watergate scandal. Newsweek and Time magazines had reported earlier in the week that Dean had told investigators he was prepared to do that.

As he said in a statement last month that he would not be "a scapegoat" in the case, Dean said today:

"There have been discussions within the White House during the past four to five months as to how to end the Watergate matter, but these discussions always ended with an unwillingness to accept the truth for what it meant. That unwillingness to accept the truth still prevails among some who are affected by the truth."

Heist term for Rap Brown

NEW YORK (UPI) — H. Rap Brown, a leading black militant of the late 1960s, was sentenced Wednesday to between five and 15 years in prison for his part in the robbery of a bar.

His only comment, made before sentencing, was: "Truth crushed to the earth will rise again." One of those who asked for leniency, playwright Imamu Amiri Baraka, said Brown was "a hero to us" and added, "The system systematically kills off our leaders."

Auto firms won't fight rules

DETROIT (UPI) — The major U.S. automakers today said they will not go into court to challenge the interim 1975 emission standards set last month by the Environmental Protection Agency.

In a letter to acting EPA administrator Robert W. Fri, General Motors president Edward N. Cole said the interim standards did not provide the relief GM needed, but the time is too short to "wait for the outcome of further time-consuming legal proceedings."

Cleanup schedules due 2 Valley sugar plants

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Three Amalgamated Sugar Co. plants will be among eight "major installations" faced with state-pollution compliance schedules in the next several weeks.

The head of the Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS) environmental protection division, Al Eiguren, told the agency board meeting in Twin Falls Wednesday the proposed compliance schedules would be mailed in the next several days.

He declined today to identify the other firms that would be covered by the schedules, but said they were involved in mining, lumbering and phosphate processing.

Eiguren said schedules for the sugar company's installations in Twin Falls, Paul and Nampa would be "comprehensive," covering both air and water discharge, and would commit the firm to a multi-year, multi-million dollar program.

He told board members the state legislature had given the department authority to proceed with the compliance schedules and said that when they were issued, "both parties, we and they, will know what the programs are going to be."

Eiguren said the schedules would be mailed out one month in advance of anticipated public hearings, and told board members they would be asked to meet again in late June and approve the programs.

He said the eight major installations, as well as other smaller firms, constituted the "first batch" of installations to be covered under the program. Most involve only discharge into the air, he said.

Work was proceeding, he said, on involving more firms under the second phase of the program.

In related matters, the board approved changes in the state regulations governing municipal treatment plant facilities.

Members agreed to changes in the state guidelines to reflect an increased federal participation in the treatment plant costs to 75 per cent from the former 50 per cent; and a corresponding reduction in state support to 15 per cent from 25 per cent and local cost reduction to 10 per cent from its former 25 per cent.

The changes were needed, Eiguren said, to make sure the state was ready for a hoped for release of federal funds in the coming months.

About two dozen municipal treatment plant construction projects are on the drawing board awaiting the release of the funds, Eiguren said. The projects total $15 million.

Magic Valley communities affected by the holdup of federal money include Twin Falls, Burley, Heyburn, Paul, Jerome, Hazelton, Rupert, Kimberly, Wendell, Albion.

Pair facing indictments

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two former Nixon administration cabinet members — John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans — were expected to be indicted today or Friday on charges they sought to obstruct an investigation by a federal agency in exchange for a secret $200,000 cash contribution to the Nixon reelection campaign.

Mitchell, former attorney general, and Stans, former secretary of commerce, had earlier testified before the grand jury investigating the $200,000 secret contribution to the Nixon reelection campaign by financier Robert L. Vesco, who left the country while the matter was under investigation. Mitchell at the time said he testified "fully, frankly and freely."

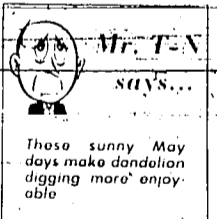

Vesco, 37, was under federal investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission at the time the money exchanged hands. Vesco and 41 others had been accused in a civil suit by the SEC with milking four foreign mutual funds of $224 million.

Vesco was reported to be in Costa Rica.

Donald Nixon Jr., President Nixon's nephew, is an official in the Vesco financial empire and earlier was reported living with the Vesco family at their Long Island home.

Few former cabinet members have ever been indicted. Only one, Albert B. Fall, interior secretary in the Harding administration, was indicted, convicted and sent to prison, in the ill-famed "Teapot Dome" scandal. Fall was convicted of having accepted a bribe.

The $200,000 secret campaign contribution first came to light about two months ago when Harry L. Sears, a former Republican leader of the New Jersey Senate, testified he had delivered the $200,000 in cash to Stans in Washington on April 10.

These sunny May days make dandelion digging more enjoyable.

No leaks, aide vows

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Elliot L. Richardson pledged today not to tell President Nixon about any information turned up by the special prosecutor he intends to place in charge of the government's Watergate investigation.

Church asks funds for Salmon Falls

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, Wednesday asked the Senate Appropriations Committee to approve $100,000 to begin work on the Salmon Falls Reclamation Project.

At the same time, Church urged the committee to approve the funding of a feasibility study of a proposal to develop a segment of the Cub River in Franklin County.

Church made his requests in testimony submitted to the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Public Works.

The Salmon Falls division project south of Twin Falls was authorized by Congress last year, but no funds for the project were included in the President's budget when it was sent to Congress earlier this year.

Noting that the "primary purpose of the Salmon Falls division is to provide a reliable supplemental irrigation water supply for lands first irrigated in 1910," Church said the project "offers the only hope of developing a full water supply."

Commercial usage leaps northward

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — John Bishop is planning a development along the Snake River Canyon.

He calls it "a spot to live and work that you would never have to leave."

Bishop's firm, Lynwood Development, has no plans for a cemetery, but it does expect to provide just about anything else.

The 33-acre development will stretch westward 1,000 feet along the south canyon rim west of the Perrine Memorial Bridge.

Included in those 33 acres will be a motel-hotel, stores and shops, a restaurant, a service station, professional offices, condominiums and apartments.

Bishop is president of Lynwood Development Corp., the firm responsible for creating the city's first large shopping center at what was once the northern edge of the city, the intersection of Blue Lakes Boulevard North and Flier Avenue.

The Lynwood Shopping Center, still the city's largest, has seen the city grow past it in the rush toward the canyon.

Now Bishop's firm hopes to leapfrog all that growth jumping right to the edge of the canyon.

The development will lie on the roughly triangular piece of lush pasture that greets visitors to the right as they cross the Perrine Bridge and proceed along the swooping S-curve leading into the city.

The property runs along Blue Lakes Boulevard for about 2,300 feet. According to Bishop, 400 to 500 feet of this frontage will be open to commercial development.

Bishop will not discuss the costs of his development other than to say, "It'll cost plenty."

A key part of his plan is the establishment of a hotel/motel, for which Bishop says he "could" have a franchise. He won't say which firm the franchise could be with.

"Who wouldn't want that location?" he asks.

Anything that would go out there would be first class, there's no doubt about that," Bishop says. "We don't build anything else."

Bishop says his firm is not in a hurry to begin construction. "It's something we don't have to do overnight. We're not pressed on it. That's gonna be torn up all there for the next two years. You don't want to build out there when it's all torn up."

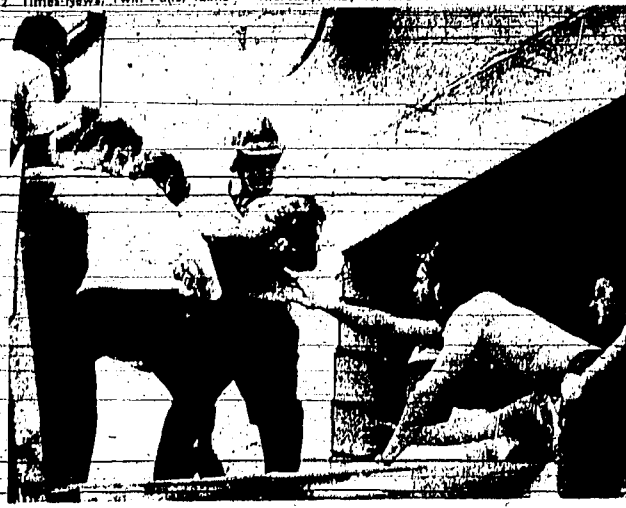

One hurdle facing the project involves negotiations with the highway department regarding access to Blue Lakes Boulevard.

According to Everett Kidner, assistant district engineer for state department, the department plans to allow access only every quarter mile between the new bridge and Pole Line Road, where eventually a new interchange, possibly to tie in with proposed new highway routes around Twin Falls, will be constructed.

Bishop says the proposed Pole Line interchange will take away about two-thirds of an acre of the Lynwood property. "We'd have to alter the plans on the south end," he says.

Kidner says he doesn't think the limited access on Blue Lakes will "affect Lynwood in the least."

Ex-aide Dean says he's bug case 'target' now

The Times said federal and Senate investigators were at odds over their separate inquiries and the Columbia Broadcasting System said the government prosecutors wanted to get new indictments against the three deposed White House assistants as well as former Attorney General John N. Mitchell as soon as possible in the Watergate case.

The Senate staff investigators arranged to question Mitchell in Washington this afternoon.

14 New York indictments were expected today or Friday against Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans on charges of accepting a once secret $200,000 contribution to the Nixon campaign from New York financier Robert L. Vesco in return for their effort to influence an investigation of Vesco by the Securities and Exchange Commission. Vesco and 41 other persons have been accused of bilking four foreign mutual funds of $224 million.

The Times quoted a "federal source" as saying of the Senate's hearings, "they're murdering the criminal case against Dean," by indicating Dean might be offered a form of immunity for his testimony.

Federal officials have been reported for weeks to be considering a request by Dean for immunity from prosecution in exchange for grand jury testimony on what he knows

Lemonade treat set before treatment

TWIN FALLS — "Happiness is a lemonade party." So says the invitation sent out this week to children scheduled for surgery at Magie Valley Memorial Hospital. Invitations are for a party to acquaint them with the hospital people and facilities on Friday.

The new program, says Mrs. Nancy Churchman, pediatric head nurse, is designed to relieve the children's fears about their pending hospitalization and surgery.

All children, age three through 11, scheduled for surgery during the week of May 14, are invited, with their parents, to a party Friday at 4:30 p.m. Mrs. Churchman will make introductions and give a brief description of the purpose of the party.

Guests will tour all of the hospital facilities, giving the children an opportunity to see before hand what he will later be involved with as a patient. Areas to be visited include admission offices, X-ray department, laboratory, the surgery hallway, recovery room and pediatric floor.

Following the tour the children will return to the auditorium where each receives a disposable surgical cap and mask, a medicine cup, tongueblade and color book-style booklet with cartoon characters describing hospital functions in detail.

The items may be taken home by the children. Children will also have an opportunity to dress in miniature sized surgical gowns identical to those worn by doctors and nurses. Lemonade and cookies will be served and nurses will answer questions.

"We are hoping things will not seem so strange and frightening when the children come in as patients. Once they have had an opportunity to see and learn about what will be happening to them many of their fears from unknown factors will be quelled," Mrs. Churchman said.

These parties will continue at the hospital every two weeks or once a week if there is sufficient response, she said.

Aviation safety clinic slated Wednesday in TF

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls is one of six locations in Idaho and Oregon which will have general aviation safety clinics during May, according to Mel Swan, Eastern Idaho coordinator for the Federal Aviation Administration.

The air safety meeting for pilots has been set for 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Idaho Power and Light Building. It is sponsored by the Twin Falls Flyers.

Similar meetings are being held in Salmon Monday; Idaho Falls, Tuesday; Pocatello, May 17; Boise, May 22; Ontario, Ore., May 24.

At the meeting, pilots will be given details on major changes in Federal Aviation Regulations, Part 61, dealing with certification of pilots and flight instructors. Also to be taken up will be density altitude and wake turbulence.

A special program on Mountain Flying will be included.

Jack W. Van De Riet, FAA's accident prevention specialist at the Boise General Aviation District Office, urged all pilots to attend.

"We believe these programs will provide information of direct benefit and immediate interest to pilots," Van De Riet said.

There is no charge for the meetings. Those desiring further information on the programs can reach Van De Riet by writing to him at 3113 Airport Way, Boise 83705, or by calling Boise: 342-2711, ext. 238.

Changes in personnel in the district were announced today by Lt. Roy Thomas, Idaho State Police.

Eugene Bolton, state patrolman in Hailey, will be transferred to Twin Falls at the same capacity, and Max Simpson, formerly of Lewiston, will transfer to Hailey to replace Bolton there.

Lt. Thomas said Simpson has been with the ISP in Lewiston the past year as a radio dispatcher. He will be serving as a patrolman in Hailey.

Bolton, formerly associated with the Hollister Port of Entry was transferred to Rupert as a patrolman and to Hailey in 1969. He has been with the ISP for seven years, Thomas said.

Search continues

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — After a two-week search two men who disappeared in the Snake River about 50 miles south of here are still missing.

Former Idaho state legislative leader Edward V. Williams, 44, Meridian, and Jack Bowman, 44, Lewiston, disappeared in the Innaha Rapids April 23 when the 18-foot riverboat piloted by Bowman struck a rock and capsized.

Near Pierce County sheriff's deputies said several private boats had gone back upstream Wednesday.

READY for action, two Lincoln School bicyclists, Tim Garcia, 9, on a bicycle, and Dorin Fairbanks, 8, get some pointers from John Howard, Optimist Club, and officer Jim Mildon on the coming bicycle safety rodeo to be held Saturday at Harmon Park. This is one of two bicycles to be given away during the event.

Bicycle safety rodeo slated Saturday in TF

TWIN FALLS — Several hundred youngsters and a few law enforcement officers will compete Saturday in the Optimist International bicycle safety rodeo.

The event begins at 10 a.m. in Harmon Park with all youngsters with bicycles invited to participate. Members of the Optimist Club of Twin Falls will be assisted in the event by city, county and state police.

Officers will mount up for their own bicycle race during the morning with a special trophy to be given the winner. Several officers will be attempting to outdistance and outrun champion Jim Mildon of the Twin Falls city police department.

All youngsters participating will receive a ribbon and special races for age groups will feature special awards. Two free bicycles will be given away to a boy and girl attending the event.

Joining the Optimist club in sponsoring the event are Olson's Bicycle Shop, Marty's IGA, Independent Meat Co., Magie Valley International, Times-News Ace Printing and Coca Cola.

Free pop, hot dogs and a free bicycle safety inspection will be provided all attending the event.

TWIN FALLS — Two changes in personnel in the district were announced today by Lt. Roy Thomas, Idaho State Police.

Eugene Bolton, state patrolman in Hailey, will be transferred to Twin Falls at the same capacity, and Max Simpson, formerly of Lewiston, will transfer to Hailey to replace Bolton there.

Lt. Thomas said Simpson has been with the ISP in Lewiston the past year as a radio dispatcher. He will be serving as a patrolman in Hailey.

Bolton, formerly associated with the Hollister Port of Entry was transferred to Rupert as a patrolman and to Hailey in 1969. He has been with the ISP for seven years, Thomas said.

Area man fined

TWIN FALLS — Gilbert Eugene Quesnell, 44, Murtaugh, was fined $500 Wednesday and placed on probation for one year on charges of involuntary manslaughter.

Judge Dan Meobl, magistrate court, signed the order following Quesnell's appearance in court a week ago. The charges were brought in connection with a Jan. 4, 1973, traffic fatality near Murtaugh.

Quesnell was driving a vehicle which collided with one driven by Earl Christian Stocking. Mr. Stocking's wife, Karen Joyce Stocking, was killed in the accident.

TF Literary unit installs leaders

TWIN FALLS — Booklore Literary Art Guild installed officers at the final meeting of the season Wednesday night.

Trene Vandenberg reviewed "The Education of Hyman Kaplan" by Leonard Q. Ross at the meeting held at the home of Marlin Crockett, Hansen. It is the humorous story of a foreigner struggling with the English language.

Officers include Mrs. Vandenberg, president; Mrs. Crackett, vice president; Carma Bingham, secretary; Ruth Magnelli, treasurer;

Hazel Stevens, hospitality; In Olson, scrapbook, and Doris Williams, publicity.

In Olson gave the gilded thought and Wyoma Grandjean presented the author's sketch. Special guests were Pat Bates, Louise Arrington and Debbie Crockett.

Refreshments were served by the outgoing officers and a geranium plant, grown by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peay, was given to even woman attending.

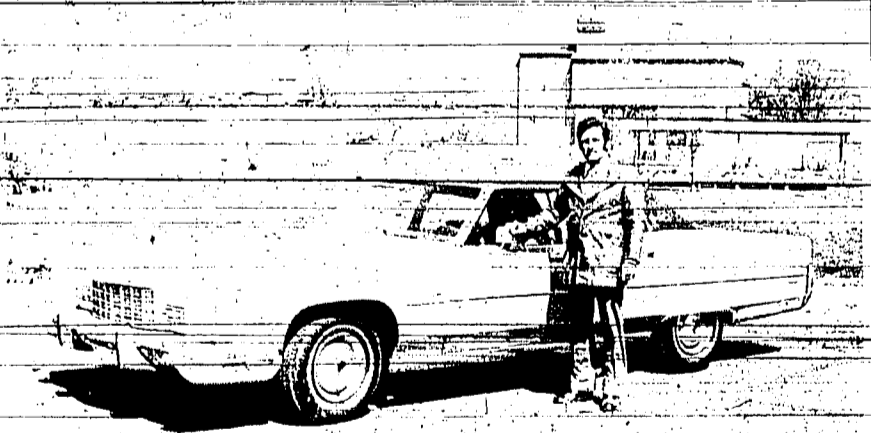

The club will resume meetings in September.

One entire car is devoted to an extraordinary cross-section of contemporary art, featuring such artists as Andrew Wyeth, Ben Shahn, Andy Warhol, Jasper Johns, and others.

The ARTRAIN is an adventure in the arts, designed to expand the creative horizons of everyone. Special tours are being arranged for schools.

John Connally

John Connally has left the Democratic party, which elected him Governor of Texas, to become a Republican in a masterpiece of anti-climactic timing...

Connally, friend and adviser to Presidents Johnson, Kennedy and Nixon, made his switch of allegiance official May 2, explaining that the Democratic party he had supported all his life...

Connally said he sought no elective or appointive political office but skirted the question of whether he would seek the Republican presidential nomination in 1976.

Democrats discounted his defection as having been coming a long time. Republicans welcomed Connally. Senator John G. Tower of Texas said his timing demonstrates the sincerity of his commitments...

Senator Robert Dole of Kansas said "he can be of enormous help to our party in this time of adversity."

A protege of Lyndon Johnson, Connally maintained his Democratic allegiance during his service as President Nixon's Treasury Secretary. Nixon has proclaimed his admiration for Connally and doubtless would be happy to have Connally undertake another post in his government.

Vice President Agnew and Senator Percy of Illinois, who have been mentioned as possible candidates for the nomination to succeed President Nixon, expressed their gratification at Connally's entry into the party...

For the present, Connally has indicated he would prefer to remain outside the administration, but, if pressed by Nixon, he probably would accept another appointment.

Far Out Airport

Any lingering doubt that the jet age has arrived was erased with the unveiling of a new jet airport plan for New York City. The $1 billion project would be 65 miles from the city limits...

A new international jetport to handle twice as many passengers as John F. Kennedy International Airport services now would be located on the site of an abandoned Air Force base at Newburgh, N.Y.

More than 10,000 acres for the airport and a buffer zone around it has already been acquired. This is more than twice the size of JFK International.

The $1 billion cost would include lengthening runways to 12,000 feet, completing a high-speed rail connection from midtown Manhattan to the airport, and erecting terminals. Most of the trackage for the rail link already exists in a line that ends in Secaucus, N.J. It would require a short connecting link there with other tracks that already go under the Hudson River into the city...

The distance from the city of the proposed jetport is no isolated case. Englishmen have been debating hotly a series of possible jetport sites 50 miles or more from London.

Miami was barely stopped from constructing a giant jetport in the Everglades about 40 miles from downtown. Ecologists fought it and won.

MR. SPECTATOR

Another Reunion

There's another reunion coming up — a class reunion — but it will be just a little different than other reunions because it will be for members of the Class of 1913 of the Twin Falls High School.

The reunion is scheduled for June 29 and 30 in Twin Falls — that's on a Friday and Saturday.

In case you can't figure real quick like Mr. Spectator must inform you that it will be the 60th anniversary of the graduating group and class members are expected from Maryland, Tennessee, Colorado, Texas, California, Oregon, Ohio, Idaho and other points.

We were talking to Mrs. Wanda H. Rood, who is chairman of the event. She is all enthusiastic and told us that if we really wanted to see how old timers really reunion we should come around.

Preliminary reunion plans were discussed a few days ago when Mr. and Mrs. Granville Haight of Boise, Mrs. Harry Benoit, Mrs. Willard McMaster and Mrs. Laura Doss met at Mrs. Reed's home.

Mrs. Haight is the former Stella Perrino, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Perrine. Mr. Perrine, you remember, was the "father" of the Twin Falls tract.

Members and friends will meet the evening of the first day at Mrs. Reed's home and then on the following day there will be a luncheon session at the Blue Lakes Country Club. That same evening will see them at the home of Mrs. Benoit.

Well, that's it as Mr. Spectator heard it. Just think — a high school class reunion after that period of time.

GIVEAWAY DEPT.

"This organization," she wrote, "should have the very best of uniforms, and equipment that our school system can provide."

The Other Side

RUPERT — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus did Rupert City Councilman W. F. (Bill) Whitton a big favor Monday when he appointed someone else to a vacancy on the Minidoka County Commission.

The chances are that Whitton hasn't figured out how much of a boost that actually is, and Andrus, it seems safe to say, didn't even think along those lines.

All he did was receive a letter from the Minidoka County Democratic Central Committee recommending the appointment of Mrs. Jo Hillis to the vacancy created several days ago by the death of Wayne Hollenbeck at age 69.

The selection process by which Mrs. Hillis was chosen had seemed certain for a few days to precipitate a nasty little squabble in Minidoka County, which could only have ended up pitting one side of the local party against the other, lining Andrus up in the middle and damaging what is already a weak structure to judge by election results.

But Whitton and his forces wisely decided not to make an issue of the selection, eliminating a nightmare for everyone involved.

Whitton, at 32, is an ambitious politician who has been elected to office once, defeated once and come out third in the recent search for a new state commissioner of agriculture.

He is a Democrat in a Republican part of the state, a young man in a county that likes its elected officials to be under their feet and an outspoken individual in a relatively closed political system that reserves its choicest rewards for subtlety.

Some of his critics are quick to point out that he will grasp onto any issue, real or imagined, that he thinks will help his own cause. But in spite of that, from his own point of view, he may have deserved the appointment to the commission.

He was, after all, elected to a four year term to the Rupert City Council three and a half years ago, and he did take on the difficult job of opposing Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, last fall when a race against a state representative might have been more plausible.

But he was also soundly rejected in that race, losing Minidoka County by 1,000 votes and the election by nearly 2,000. That was a lot better than a lot of Magic Valley Democrats did in the Republican landslide of 1972, but isn't exactly the type of credentials needed to imply overwhelming public support for anything.

In fact, Whitton created at least some party opposition among party officials.

It was county chairman O'Dell Smith who cast the breaking vote at last week's central committee meeting that put Mrs. Hillis into the position to be nominated by the governor.

Whitton's initial reaction to the defeat was to fight back, but after a weekend of thinking it over, he decided against that. "She has my support one hundred per cent," he says in response to questions.

She should, because her selection may have done as much for his political career as anything in recent months. That in no way tends to cast doubt on her abilities or intentions.

But based on the political rule of thumb that proximity breeds contempt, there is vary little that a term on the county commission can provide for anybody's political career in the long run.

Commissioners are called upon to resolve difficult questions about budgeting, and hand down decisions on requests for zoning changes, liquor licenses, and expenditures of small amounts of money. In addition, they attend a variety of seemingly endless meetings on subjects dear to a small number of people but incomprehensible to others. It is a tough, thankless job.

If there was ever a question about that, the Twin Falls Commissioners' recent experience should dispel it. They announced plans several days ago to allocate the county's revenue sharing money and called public hearings to enable citizens to react to the proposals.

The local League of Women Voters signed up, went in and told the commissioners they should hire a professional planner to oversee the specifics of growth over the next several years.

A day later, a group of members from the Idaho Tax Equity Association sat down with the commissioners and warned them that a planner would subvert the traditional democratic process in America, leading the way for the appointment of a regional dictator from Washington, D. C.

So, Mrs. Hillis is the new county commissioner in Minidoka County, for which she will be paid $3,000 a year to answer the local equivalent of the $64,000 question a day.

But Whitton has survived one narrow escape with political doom, thanks to the governor's favor.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

The Doctor Says

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I wonder if shoe companies try to cash in by stressing the absolute need for expensive, well-designed, supporting shoes starting at the earliest months.

I have read that no shoes at all is the natural and best way to develop baby's muscles and thus develop the arch. Ankle supports seem fine for skaters but, like crutches, don't they help you stand without allowing the muscles to do their own work? If the environment were suitable, wouldn't bare feet be the ideal?

I recognize the need for foot coverings but wouldn't a good-fitting, less expensive, lighter shoe be just as effective as the stiff, high-ankled shoes? — Mrs. P. S.

You are essentially right except I don't know that there's any special campaign to urge expensive shoes for youngsters. All I'm about to comment on is what the right shoes are for a young 'un.

Most children are born with perfect feet — the occasional abnormality is quite another matter, of course.

A child's foot doesn't need shoes to develop properly. That isn't the purpose of shoes. The purpose of shoes is to protect the feet, to prevent stepping on a pebble or something from hurting, to prevent stubbing a toe on something hard.

A properly fitted shoe is one that is snug enough not to be clumsy, but long and wide enough to permit growth, because a small child's feet grow rapidly. An infant may need new shoes every four months or so, for a time. It's the shoe that becomes too tight that damages feet. So make sure toes aren't being cramped or the foot isn't crammed into a shoe that's too narrow. A toddler will outgrow his shoes far sooner than he can wear them out — but that's the way it is.

It costs money for new shoes, but it's money well spent. Most foot problems begin developing between the ages of 2 and 8 years, and then mostly because shoes became too tight.

They don't have to be expensive shoes, but they must fit, must be big enough so the foot isn't crowded.

Signs of foot trouble that can be detected by parents include these: Does the child dislike walking or have a peculiar gait? Does he try frequently to take his shoes off, implying discomfort? Does he stumble or fall frequently?

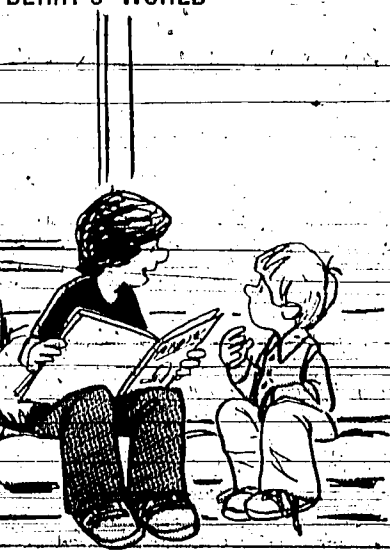

Going barefoot or wearing sneakers is conducive to building foot strength. Overly stiff shoes may not give sufficient freedom of action. A child using corrective footwear should not go barefoot or into sneakers without the approval of the physician or podiatrist.

Depending on the child, high-top shoes may be desirable for ankle support when a child is learning to walk, but as the ankle strengthens they aren't needed.

The most important guide remains: don't let a child wear shoes that aren't big enough for his rapid foot growth.

Note to C.T.M.: I know of no vitamin that will cure either wrinkles or loss of hair.

Papers trial end nears

CIA head admits unit's assistance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — CIA Director James R. Schlesinger has admitted his agency provided the White House with a psychological profile of Daniel Ellsberg and supplied paraphernalia used in the burglary of his psychiatrist's office.

Schlesinger told a Senate subcommittee Wednesday that Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt was given the burglary-related equipment in 1971 on orders from then CIA Deputy Director Robert F. Cushman — acting on an implied recommendation from ex-White House aide John Ehrlichman.

He said former CIA Director Richard M. Helms, whom he succeeded this year, also authorized his staff to prepare a psychological profile of Ellsberg in 1971 at the request of another White House aide. It was the first time Helms had been linked to the secret investigation of Ellsberg.

But Schlesinger added that these acts were "ill-advised" and would not be repeated in his tenure as head of the CIA.

Ellsberg, currently on trial in Los Angeles, for leaking the Pentagon Papers to the New York Times, is seeking a mistrial because of these disclosures.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the committee which oversees U.S. intelligence spending, said that Schlesinger's testimony indicated "on the surface" that the CIA had violated the law by getting involved in domestic security. But he said he would reserve judgment until the committee hears from Helms and Cushman — and possibly Ehrlichman.

Schlesinger, whose testimony was given in private and later released by McClellan, said that Cushman received a telephone call July 8, 1971, from Ehrlichman saying that Hunt had been appointed as a White House security consultant.

Ehrlichman recently resigned as President Nixon's domestic

20. H.R. Haldeman, former White House chief of staff.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Pentagon Papers trial could come to an end today, freeing Daniel Ellsberg, "without ever going to the jury."

U.S. District Judge Matt Byrne was to hear arguments on a series of defense motions to end the trial, including a charge of "pervasive government misconduct." That includes the trial's entanglement with the Watergate burglary team, the CIA, resigned White House officials and President Nixon.

But Byrne expressed particular interest in hearing arguments on a directed verdict of acquittal — which would be a declaration by Byrne that the prosecution never proved its case, even without considering the sensational charges of the past week.

Byrne said he hoped to be able to rule "immediately" on such issues after today's arguments.

The defense had been reluctant to argue for an acquittal before Byrne ruled on the dismissal motions because it wanted to be sure it had time to appeal any denials.

Byrne asked, "Speaking hypothetically, what if after I ruled, there was nothing left (for the defense) to appeal?"

He told attorneys he felt there were "forfeited" issues involved in the motion for a judgment of acquittal, and I wouldn't want either side to pass over it lightly."

A ruling for the defense would free Ellsberg and his codefendant, Anthony Russo, after almost two years of legal battle with the federal government over their actions in making public the secret Pentagon study of the origins of America's involvement in South Vietnam.

Ellsberg and Russo are charged with theft, conspiracy and espionage. Ellsberg admitted copying the papers and leaking them to newsmen, and Russo acknowledged he helped him. The key dispute in the trial was whether what they admitted doing could be construed as a crime.

On the eve of the hearing, four Justice Department officials — including the trial prosecutor, David Nissen, and the department's chief Watergate investigator, Assistant Attorney General Henry Petersen — swore that they had no advance knowledge of the break-in by the Watergate team at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist. They also said the break-in had not tainted the government's case.

Other affidavits have described the break-in as approved by now resigned White House officials and carried out by the White House "plumbers squad" in a special investigation of Ellsberg ordered by the President.

Hunt gives testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt obtained secret documents from the State Department in 1971 after he was turned down at the Pentagon, it was disclosed Wednesday.

State Department officials defended the decision to open their files to Hunt, who copied 240 classified cables concerning the 1963 government coup in South Vietnam.

Hunt described how he copied the documents in sworn testimony released Monday at the Pentagon Papers trial of Daniel Ellsberg in Los Angeles. He also admitted that he prepared some fake cables linking the late President John F. Kennedy to the assassination of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Identified as one of the White House "plumbers" assigned to track down leaks of the Pentagon Papers, Hunt said he acted on orders from former White House aide Charles W. Colson.

Defense Department officials disclosed Wednesday that Hunt originally tried to get the cables from the Pentagon and was turned down under a "firmly established policy of the secretary of defense that in legal matters we respond only to the Department of Justice."

But when the same request was made at the State Department, according to a spokesman, it was approved by former Deputy Undersecretary William B. Macomber on the basis of a memorandum from two junior White House aides.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers defended that decision Wednesday. "Everything we did was perfectly normal," he said. "We think the procedures were good." He indicated there would be no change of policy in the future.

A spokesman said Macomber, now ambassador to Turkey, was asked for copies of the cables in a memorandum dated Aug. 11, 1971, from White House aides David R. Young Jr. and Egil Krogh. Young was an assistant to John Ehrlichman, President Nixon's former domestic adviser, and Krogh worked for ex-White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman.

Krogh — Wednesday resigned from his current job as undersecretary of transportation.

The memorandum said the request grew out of an investigation of how Ellsberg had leaked the Pentagon Papers — which described the origins of the Vietnam war — to the New York Times and other newspapers.

Hunt went through the State Department files and made copies of the cables over a span of three days in September, 1971, the spokesman said.

At the Pentagon, a spokesman said, Hunt's request had been denied by the department's general counsel, J. Fred Buzhart. Then Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird "to the best of my knowledge ... was aware of the requests," the spokesman said.

Lightning strikes

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Despite a lightning strike on the launchpad, simultaneous countdowns went smoothly for firing the Skylab space station and its first three-man crew into orbit Monday and Tuesday.

The lightning bolt Wednesday afternoon hit a mast on the mobile service structure attached to the giant Saturn 5 rocket that will thrust the 100-ton orbiting laboratory into space for eight months of exploration.

Space agency officials said the big rocket wasn't powered up at the time, but a retest of the launcher was being run as insurance against problems developing.

Astronauts Charles "Pete" Conrad, Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz will be launched 23 1/2 hours after the space station, the nation's first, in a refurbished Apollo ferry ship that will dock with the lab.

Two other three-man crews will visit Skylab for 56 days each this year to learn more about the earth, the sun and man's stamina during extended stays in space.

Out-of-control

ABOARD THE USNS RANGE SENTINEL (UPI) — A Poseidon missile fired from a submerged submarine whipped violently out of control Wednesday evening, blew apart and hit the Atlantic Ocean in full view of a Russian spy ship and 200 guests of the U.S. Navy.

One section of the errant missile plunged straight down, trailing a bright yellow flame, and splashed into the sea only four or five miles from this spectator-crowded tracking ship. A second piece cartwheeled into the ocean several seconds later.

A few minutes after the failure, the Russian ship put a small boat in the water in an apparent search for debris normally expelled from the top of the launch tube when a missile is fired. The sub and the Range Sentinel returned to port, leaving the Soviet vessel in the launch area.

Testing program set in Gooding

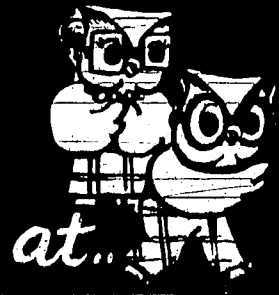

GOODING — A pre-school screening program is planned Tuesday at the Gooding elementary school. The program, sponsored by School District 231 and the South Central Child Development Center, is designed to determine if a child entering the first grade in September has the necessary skills to accomplish first grade work. The tests are free and are used to identify problems of speech, language, hearing or emotional problems. Following the testing a conference is held with parents, social worker or psychologist to explain test performances. Recommendations for children needing help will be made. Those children with emotional problems may require further counseling and those having speech or hearing problems will be recommended to a therapist. Others may be recommended for the summer pre-school readiness program held at the elementary school, according to Mrs. Blanche Reay, county public health nurse.

Conservation measures adopted by WR council

GOODING — Resource, conservation and development measures adopted by the Wood River Resource Area Council of Governments were announced today. These include a Lincoln County swimming pool, a Wendell City soil survey, Wendell sewer system extension and recreation facilities and open spaces area-wide study. The council of governments is assisting the Magic Reservoir resort community to form either a water and sewer district. The council will coordinate joint action with the Bureau of Land Management, Idaho Fish and Game Department, South Central District Health Department and Farmer's Home Administration. Resource and BLM services plans were prepared for Shoshone unit cattlemen and Dry Creek Cattle Association. These measures are primarily grazing allotments on natural resource land of the BLM, according to G. J. Price, project coordinator.

Gem delegation talks for AF dam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. Cecil Andrus told a U. S. Senate subcommittee hearing Thursday replacement of the American Falls Dam and river crossing is "an Idaho necessity."

Andrus said a delegation of ranchers, farmers and businessmen flew to Washington, D. C., to present testimony in favor of replacing the American Falls Dam structure.

Andrus said the impact of the structure is felt statewide because it is an integral part of "vital irrigation and transportation systems which are closely tied to the stability of Idaho's overall economy."

Idaho has major necessity for an adequate storage facility at American Falls along with the need for a modern river crossing on the dam or in the immediate area.

"We do not come here with a request for millions of federal tax dollars to do for us what we can and will do for ourselves. Instead we ask for congressional approval of a plan which will allow private money to rebuild a falling structure and for deserved assistance to build a crossing which is partly the responsibility of the Bureau of Reclamation," Andrus said.

Andrus pointed out the structure weakened by chemical reaction in the concrete has become structurally unsafe and can hold only a portion of the water originally intended.

"Subsequently, farmers and ranchers face probably shortages this year and near-certain shortages in the ensuing years. A dry or short water year could mean financial disaster for thousands of small farmers and family businesses throughout Idaho," he said.

The Idaho governor also pointed out that proposals to replace the structure with private money have the support of water user oriented agencies, conservation groups, agriculture organizations because it is "a unique priority which transcends the special interests for a common cause."

Former POW Chesley raps American society

BOISE (UPI) — A former prisoner of war released last February said Wednesday that he thought American society had changed for the worse during the seven years he was in a North Vietnamese prison camp.

Capt. Laery Chesley, 31, Burley, told a press conference in Boise that he was surprised at the dress of students even at Brigham Young University, an institution in Provo, Utah, supported by the LDS Church.

When on campus after his release, Chesley said he saw many students wearing combat boots and old army uniforms.

He said one of the most shocking things he learned about America when he was in the prison camp was that his fellow countrymen were showing X-rated and triple X-rated movies in the United States and parents could "take their kids to them."

"Some of them are worse than the old stag movies," Chesley said.

Some 30,000 persons turned out to see Chesley when he returned to Burley last March.

Chesley also announced at the press conference he would be married June 19 to Amette Huntsman of Fairfield, Calif.

Chesley also told newsmen that he had thought of running for political office in Idaho, but it would have to be later if he did because he was still "a military man."

He said he had been very busy since his release and had not had time to keep up on his reading on the war — so he could not comment on it.

Director assigned to Boise IRS

BOISE (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service announced Wednesday Elmer W. Klotke was assigned district director for the Boise IRS district.

Klotke succeeds Calvin F. Wright who retired from the district which serves the entire state of Idaho.

Klotke is a career government official. He began as an internal revenue agent in 1957 in Riverside, Calif.

After attending the IRS executive development course in 1972, Klotke was promoted to assistant director of the IRS audit division in Washington, D. C.

A native of Fullerton, Calif., Klotke received a degree in accounting from the University of Southern California. He also attended Stanford University and the University of Nevada.

Man carries hand to hospital

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — Johannes Christian Hess, 37, drove to the hospital, his left hand wrapped in paper on the seat of his car, and told doctors there a shocking story:

Police said Wednesday that Hess reported a teen-aged mugger cut off his hand with one stroke of a large knife in order to get his watch.

Hess, an automobile factory engineer, said the robbery occurred in a dimly-lit street in a wealthy residential section of Sao Paulo after he stopped his car to change a tire.

He was attacked by four youths who first asked for a cigarette and then for his watch, Hess said. When he extended his hand to wave them off, he said, one of them swung his knife.

The youths fled, Hess said, and he picked up his hand from the pavement and wrapped it in paper.

"With my right hand, I drove to the hospital," he said.

He was reported in good condition after surgery, but doctors said it was too early to tell if Hess would regain use of his hand.

Candle sellers told to stop deception

BOISE (UPI) — Fourth District Judge Alfred Hagan has issued a permanent restraining order enjoining a Utah-based firm — from engaging in practices in violation of the Idaho Consumer Protection Act.

The restraining order was requested by the Idaho Attorney General's Office. It does not prohibit the Scents of the West, Inc., Salt Lake City, from doing business in Idaho.

The court order restrains the corporation from specific acts unfair or deceptive to the consumer in the conduct of trade or commerce.

The order restrains the company from representing to potential distributors or home manufacturers that the company has contacted or made agreements with retail stores for the purchase of candles.

The Attorney General's office alleges there have been no agreements made by the company and retailers to purchase the Scents of the West candles.

The order also forbids the company from representing to potential distributors that the annual income they may expect to receive from their operation is quite substantial.

And the court restrained the company from representing to potential home manufacturers that the company will purchase all candles that the home manufacturer is able to produce.

The court also ordered Scents of the West to notify every Idaho consumer who has purchased distributorship or home manufacturer agreements of his right to rescission and a refund.

Judge rules for Gem attorney

BOISE (UPI) — Fourth District Judge Alfred C. Hagan has ruled in favor of the state attorney general saying that the endowment fund investment board is a constitutional body and has the right to invest such funds.

Ruth Moon against the investment board, the department of finance and the state.

In his ruling, the judge granted a summary judgment in favor of Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park, who represented the state.

Sweeping development looms on rim

At a county zoning meeting on April 12, a representative of the Highway Department told zone commission members that the department's plans had not been finally determined.

An architect for Lynwood Development said then, that the firm had been authorized access at four points and would realign a fifth. The architect said that, although not a part of the original proposal, Lynwood had added plans for a frontage road along the development to handle the access problem.

Final traffic arrangements now await completion of Highway Department plans for improvements along the highway.

Zoning is another obstacle facing the Lynwood developers. Bishop has petitioned the county zoning commission to rezone the property from its present agricultural designation to a commercial-general category.

However, should this be done, the residential uses in Lynwood plans would not be allowed under current zoning regulations.

But under a proposed new county zoning ordinance, Lynwood's property would be zoned for commercial use to a depth of 660 feet along Blue lakes, and zoned for medium density residential development beyond that.

However, since the new zoning ordinance has not been authorized, Bishop's request for a zoning change will have to be considered within the framework of current zoning regulations. Zoning commission hearings are scheduled on the question later this month.

One touchy question is involved in Bishop's request for a zoning variance. If request is granted, would Lynwood then be required to follow its proposed plans? Or would it then be free to construct any sort of development permitted within the new zoning category?

County zoning administrator Ed Woods says Lynwood could change its plans in any way it wanted provided the construction were permitted under the zone ordinance authorized under a variance.

Asked whether he plans changes in the original concept if a zoning variance is granted, Bishop says, "We don't know how much of one thing we would do, but we would stick to the original plan, you bet."

However, both city and county zoning commissions have been burned in the past when granting zoning variances, and for this reason the zoning commission may decide instead to consider the Lynwood Development under its Planned Unit Development ordinance, which calls for detailed plans and strict adherence to those plans once approved.

Bishop already considers Canyon Village a planned unit development, which he says has "never been done around here."

When questioned about alternatives to development, Bishop is skeptical.

"When you get land that gets expensive, who's going to pay for putting in a park?"

"There is land out there priced at $20,000 an acre. Who is going to pay that for a park?"

"There is a lot of room for a park on the other side of the river. We don't have all the land around here. There are thousands of acres out there."

Bishop says public facilities could be developed inside the canyon. "Get some roads down in the canyon and it will develop itself."

Working with the engineering firm of Edwards and Howard, Frazier has arrived at a trapezoidal shaped subdivision containing 52 lots, 44 of them fronting on the Snake River Canyon rim. Lots range upward from intersection of the two canyons. He plans to develop all of the land eventually, but is only subdividing the 35 acre tract at present.

Working with the engineering firm of Edwards and Howard, Frazier has arrived at a trapezoidal shaped subdivision containing 52 lots, 44 of them fronting on the Snake River Canyon rim. Lots range upward from strict covenance to regulate building standards.

"We want to see quality construction out here."

Frazier plans to build on a corner-lot himself.

Frazier has owned and farmed his property for 17 years. He considers it with its sweeping view of the Canyon "probably one of the most beautiful spots in the whole country."

He said his decision to develop the area was based on a conviction that it would be developed eventually because of its prime location and he wanted to see an "orderly development and as many people as practicable enjoy it."

Frazier admits he has had second thoughts about turning his farmland into a residential area. He says there is ample farm land existing and under development, in such places as the Salmon Tract, to forego rimlands to residential development without hurting agricultural production.

"I think the population of Twin Falls is going to increase, and if we provide livable homesites then the natural beauty will be maintained."

Frazier refuses to discuss the economics of his development, either the price he paid for the land or the price at which his lots will sell.

"I'd a lot rather not get into a dollars and cents figure."

Doug Howard of the engineering firm of Edwards and Howard says Frazier could make more money out of his development if he were not conscious of esthetic values. He points out that Frazier has allocated 15 per cent more land to open area than is required under the proposed county zoning ordinance.

"The extra space comes right out of Harold's pocket," Howard says.

There is land out there priced at $20,000 an-acre. Who's going to pay that for a park?

—John Bishop, Twin Falls

Bishop says Lynwood plans to retain trees now on the property "even if we have to move them."

The development has "got to be something beautiful or we don't want it."

Bishop also says his firm is "interested" in a proposed McCollum-Simplot golf course and condominium development down in the canyon almost directly below Lynwood's site.

"We are interested in what McCollum is doing in reference to the golf course," Bishop says. "It's advantageous to us, absolutely."

Bishop says the two developments could possibly be linked by a tramway running into the canyon. "That's just one of the things that might be done," he says.

To the west of Canyon Village, another developer, Harold Frazier, is subdividing about 35 acres of alfalfa field.

His development lies just east of the outfall of Rock Creek into the Snake River Canyon.

"Meander Points," as his development is called, is part of about 125 acres of rimland Frazier owns at the about one-third acre. In the center of the development is an open space containing about one fourth of the project's land. Each dwelling would have immediate access to the center space.

Plans for "Meander Points" have been approved by the Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Commission, and found acceptable to the Twin Falls Highway District and the South Central Health District.

The highway district has agreed to cut a road to the subdivision from Pole Line Road. Frazier will build the interior roads and provide regulated easements on all of them.

His plans call for a sewage system consisting of individual septic tanks. At the same time, water will be provided by one or two central wells. Other utilities will also be placed underground.

Frazier plans to develop the unit under a condominium ownership arrangement, with a management body selected to govern the common property in the open area and utility systems.

Frazier says he will hire an attorney to draw up a "fairly

New money crisis?

LONDON (UPI)—Rumblings of a possible new international money crisis developing in European markets again brought the dollar under pressure today.

The price of gold continued its ominous rise and banks and dealers said the movements were almost carbon copies of prodromes to previous crises.

The run on the dollar began Wednesday with a strengthening of the West German mark, occasioned by reports that Bonn intended to revalue its currency and take fresh counter-inflation measures. The rumors were denied later in the day.

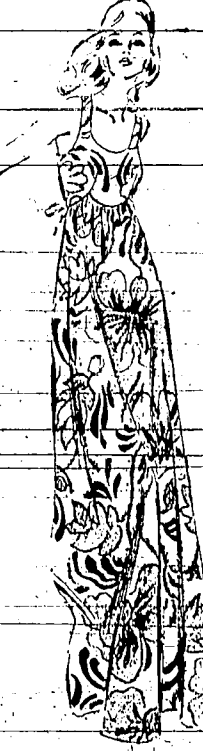

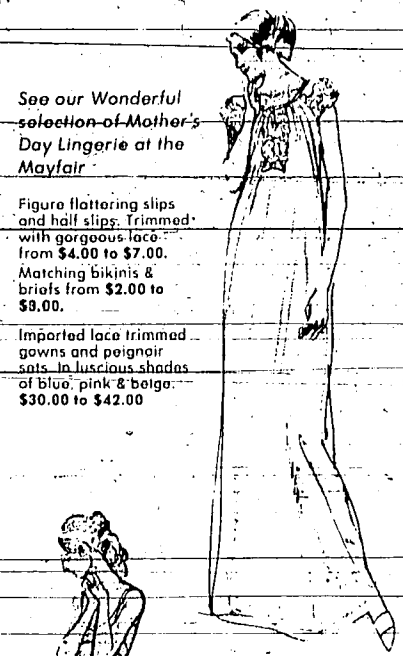

"In March there was only a rumor of a new dollar devaluation. Now there are renewed fears following the Watergate affair."

Church asks funds for Salmon Falls

The $100,000 Church requested for fiscal year 1974 would be used to finance land classification and detailed geologic exploration and other preparatory work needed before construction contracts could be awarded in the following year.

"To deny advanced planning funds," this year, said Church "would make another full year's delay inevitable."

In making the request for funding for the Franklin County project, Church told the subcommittee that studies of general development in the Bear River Basin have been pursued intermittently for several years.

"A variety of problems have prevented the larger undertaking from being successful," Church said, but he noted that "one segment of the project, along the Cub River in Franklin County, Idaho, and Cache County, Utah, could be developed as a separate project."

Church said the project could develop flows along the Cub River for both domestic and municipal use in small communities in the area and would supply supplemental water for existing irrigated lands as well.

Board bars direct quotation

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI) — In what is supposed to be a "great breakthrough" for the news media the State Board of Education has opened its committee "work sessions" to "contextual reporting."

This sort of reporting, in case you are unfamiliar with it, "permits" the reporter to say in general terms what was discussed. But it discourages specifics and bars absolutely attribution of direct quotes to those participating in the session.

These committee sessions until recently were in a sort of gray area of reporting, generally not covered by newsmen. Board members, much as others in the public eye, did not like the idea of having so-called "far out" suggestions pinned to them.

Then, at a meeting of the state board in Moscow last month, some of those who cover the board "won" an agreement to let them attend work sessions providing there were no quotes. One of these work sessions began late Tuesday afternoon in Boise and United Press International — not a party to the Moscow pact — showed up and asked about the ground rules. Janet Hay, Nampa, the chairman of the committee, said the reporter could stay, report "contextually" but could not quote anyone directly. "At the regular board meetings we'll play by your rules," she said. "All the votes will be on the record and you'll be free to quote everyone. At the committee 'work sessions' you'll play by our rules."

Political Echoes

"We've got to be free to brainstorm," Mrs. Hay said.

But you're perfectly free to stay and report the general drift of the meeting," she said.

In fact, Mrs. Hay encouraged the newsmen to stay and "background" himself on what the committee was doing and thinking.

Refusing to be bound by such rules the reporter left.

For those unable to understand a newsman's reluctance to accept such rules it is worthwhile pointing out that the legislature does not impose them on committee meetings. (Most party caucuses still are closed but even those are under editorial attack.)

To be sure, there are many legislators who would like such an opportunity — to pop off, generate ideas and, should they become unpopular, disavow them. But that battle was settled a few years back and newsmen now cover even the "work sessions" of such sensitive legislative committees as finance, appropriations, revenue and taxation, education and health and welfare — fully and openly.

Members of the State Board of Education devote — in fact really donate — a lot of time to a worthwhile pursuit.

Yet, for some reason, they seem to think that their activities are so sacred that they should not be questioned closely or quoted directly. At one time — several years ago — they even closed most sessions of regular board meetings, operating in "executive session."

They point out they make their decisions now in open and public meetings where reporters can tell the public what they do and what they say. However, they still are formulating decisions in "work sessions" where ideas are born, nurtured and then reared or killed.

What goes into these decisions also is of interest and importance to the public — along with the names and quotes of those who suggest the courses of action taken or not taken.

Boise march hinted

BOISE (UPI) — Teachers May march on the school board asking for better salaries next Monday in Boise.

A flyer calling for such a march was distributed in the schools earlier this week. However, spokesmen for the Boise Education Association said the BEA was not responsible and has no idea where the proposal originated.

Lamb pool set

TWIN FALLS — This spring's first lamb pool for Twin Falls County Livestock Marketing Association members will be Tuesday at the Twin Falls Livestock Commission Co.

Donald Youtz, county extension agent and association secretary, said the lamb committee will mark lambs for the pool in Jerome County Saturday and in Twin Falls County on Monday.

Farm flock owners who believe they have lambs ready for market may call one of the committee members of the county extension agents' offices in Twin Falls or Jerome counties to make arrangements for marking.

Marked lambs should be taken to the commission company yards between 8:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Tuesday for sale and shipment.

Burning season closes

BOISE (UPI) — After Thursday it will be unlawful to burn on forest or range lands of Idaho without a burning permit in possession, State Land Commissioner Gordon From-ley said today. Burning permits, when conditions are safe, may be obtained from the offices of the land department, the U.S. Forest Service, Bureau of Land Management and Timber Protective Associations. Frombley said fire danger is higher than normal due to the lack of moisture this winter and spring.

Preacher cleared in church deaths

NEWPORT, Tenn. (UPI) — A grand jury has cleared preacher Liston Pack of charges of involuntary manslaughter and snake handling in connection with two poisoning deaths at Pack's Little Cocks County Church last month.

The grand jury refused Tuesday to indict Pack, pastor of the Holiness Church of God in Jesus Name, in connection with the deaths of Pack's brother, Buford, and his assistant minister, Mimmy Ray Williams.

The two men died of strychnine poisoning in April. The grand jury ruled that Pack could not be held responsible for the deaths of the two men, who drank the strychnine in connection with a church prayer service ritual.

Leaders of the mountain sect believe, based on Mark 16:18 that under the influence of the Holy Ghost they can drink poison and handle snakes as a mark of their faith and a sign of their "anointing."

Inexperience, heart attack caused crash

LONDON (UPI) — On June 18, 1972, flight BP458 roared off the runway at London's Heathrow Airport with an angry pilot with heart trouble and an inexperienced 22-year-old copilot at the controls.

Inside the cockpit somebody pulled a lever, sending the Brussels-bound, British European Airways (BEA) Trident plunging into a meadow near the airport. All 118 persons on board, including 25 Americans, were killed in Britain's worst air disaster.

Results of a public inquiry released Wednesday blamed the crash on cockpit errors, crew inexperience and inadequate training and a heart attack suffered by the jetliner's pilot, Capt. Stanley Key, 51.

But the nine-week inquiry failed to resolve the big mystery: who pulled the lever and why?

The inquiry's report said the "immediate cause" of the crash was the premature retraction of a flap-like "droop" device on the front of the airline's wings, sending the plane into a stall. The device enables the rear-engine aircraft to climb steeply on takeoff.

"What seems inescapable is that the reason for the movement of the lever lies either in the inexperience of the co-pilot, Jeremy Knightley, or the impaired mental faculties of Capt. Key or both," the report said.

Sikkim bows to India

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Chogyal Palden Thandup Namgyal, ruler of the tiny Himalayan kingdom of Sikkim, has bowed to opposition demands for popular reforms which would reduce his absolute power and has accepted India as his overlord, it was disclosed Wednesday.

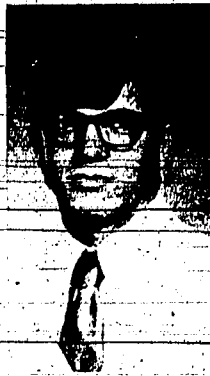

The 50-year-old Chogyal, husband of former New York socialite Hope Cooke, signed a document Tuesday that provides for an elected legislature on the basis of one man-one vote and the appointment of a chief executive who will be named by and will be ultimately responsible to India.

Observers said the agreement virtually reduces the Chogyal to a constitutional head of the state. The Indian executive will exercise authority akin to the prime minister of a democratic country, but he will owe his allegiance to India.

The text of the agreement was placed before the Indian parliament Wednesday, about 20 hours after it was signed by the Chogyal, Indian Foreign Secretary Kewal Singh, and leaders of Sikkim's three main political parties, at the royal palace in the capital city of Gangtok.

The agreement calls for an elected assembly on the principle of one-man-one vote, and specifies the elections "shall be conducted under the supervision of the Election Commission of India."

The agreement abridges the hitherto absolute powers of the Chogyal, providing that he "shall perform the functions of his high office in accordance with the Constitution of Sikkim as set out in the agreement."

Army promises to investigate charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army said Wednesday it would investigate charges that Gen. William C. Westmoreland and other high Army officers sought to cover up frauds committed in South Vietnam.

Retired Sgt. Major William O. Wooldridge, once the highest-ranking enlisted man in the Army, leveled the charges in testimony released Tuesday by a Senate subcommittee. Wooldridge was convicted earlier this year of fraud for his involvement in a racketeering scheme involving a ring of Army sergeants.

An Army spokesman told UPI, "all allegations imputing wrongdoing on the part of military personnel now on active duty will be investigated or re-investigated." If necessary, charges will be filed under the military code of, if the men are no longer in the Army, referred to the Justice Department, the spokesman added.

Teamster contract gap opens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Teamsters-Union opened contract negotiations with the trucking industry Wednesday by asking for a wage and fringe benefit package that would far exceed President Nixon's 5.5 per cent phase III wage guideline.

The total cost of the package was not immediately calculable but the Teamsters demanded a $1.50 an hour increase in pay for local cartage drivers, a boost that would amount to more than a 25 per cent increase in three years over the present average hourly pay of $6.16.

The union asked for roughly a similar raise for over-the-road drivers when it demanded that their pay be increased from 12.5 cents per mile by three pennies to 15.5 cents.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My mother has been a very sick woman for a year and a half. Her doctor says she could last another year, or die tomorrow. Half the time she doesn't even know me.

My husband and I have put off taking my kind of vacation ever since mother's illness, and we really must get away. My question: Should we go? I'm afraid if we go, mother might die, and we'll have to turn around and rush home.

I've asked our minister and he said we should go—but not too far. I've asked my mother in law, and she said we shouldn't go at all. My best friend, who's a registered nurse, said we should go and take our chances. The doctor refuses to give me a yes or no. My husband says it's up to me.

What do you say, Abby?

HAVE A PROBLEM

ISU queen

A 21-YEAR-OLD Idaho State University senior, Sheryl Marie Reinke, has been crowned ISU's 1973 Queen during the annual tapping, awards and songfest ceremony at the university during parents weekend. Miss Reinke is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orval E. Reinke, Buhl.

Decision is yours

DEAR HAVI: You have another problem. You want someone else to make the decision and accept the responsibility for it. So far you've polled the doctor, your minister, your mother in law, your best friend, your husband—and now me. Make your own decision, and accept full responsibility for it.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going around with this man for 6 1/2 years. At one time we talked of marriage, but he asked that we postpone it because his mother was going thru a divorce and he was quite upset about it.

Now, he tells me he thinks he is also in love with someone he met at work. He says he has never gone out with her, but they've had coffee a few times.

I love this man and want to marry him, but I can't think clearly now. How do you figure this?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: I figure that 6 1/2 years is long enough for him to make up his mind about marrying you. And if he could fall in love with a girl he's only had coffee with a few times, I'd like to know what kind of coffee it was. Tell him to get lost before he tells you to, which is probably what he has in mind.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 24-year-old college student. I'm also an alcoholic.

I just want to let kids know that they don't have to be over 30 and on skid row to qualify as an alcoholic. Alcoholism is a disease that makes no distinctions in a person's age.

If teen-agers or young adults think they have a drinking problem and want to help themselves, please tell them to contact Alcoholics Anonymous. It is a wonderful organization of marvelous, understanding people who try to help each other.

Since I became a member two years ago it has helped me tremendously. Not only am I sober, I have been able to help others. It has been a lifesaving experience for me. Thank you for letting me share this.

YOUNG ALCOHOLIC

DEAR YOUNG: And thanks for wanting to.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MY READERS: Remember your mother next Sunday with a bouquet of flowers. (And if you're adopted, send her TWO bouquets.)

of diamonds. Others would cash the 10 of diamonds and give up.

A West player worth his salt will lead the 10 and another diamond and look forward to some chance of beating the game contract.

They will know that South is not looking at their cards. South can't be sure that the 10-of-spades-is-going-to-fall and if South doesn't have the queen of hearts in his hand South is very likely to discard two spades from dummy on those two diamonds and rely on the heart finesse for his ninth trick.

Maybe he won't but any chance is better than no chance, and this play does give the defense that chance.

The declarer has most of the advantage in play, but not all. He can't look into his opponents' hands and see how suits are going to break.

West opens the king of diamonds and continues with the queen. South wins that second lead and plays a spade to dummy's jack. East wins with the queen and leads back the nine of clubs, which is taken by South's ace.

South leads a second spade and West takes his ace since it is pointless to hold off.

At this point some West players would lead a club on the theory that they didn't want to set up South's nine

Minidoka taps woman

By ROBERT SCHLEEF
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Mrs. Jo Hillis was appointed as a Minidoka County Commissioner Tuesday by Governor Cecil Andrus. Mrs. Hillis is the first woman to sit on the county board. She is currently the only woman county commissioner in the state.

She says she is still surprised over the nomination because of the strong and qualified competition, and that she is very grateful to the Democratic Central Committee.

Mrs. Hillis was chosen by the Democratic Central Committee last Thursday in a special meeting to recommend a successor for Wayne Hollenbeck, the commission chairman who died last month.

She was chosen from four Minidoka County residents vying for the position. After the candidates presented their views, the committee held an executive session and cast a vote of 5-5 for Mrs. Hillis and Rupert City Councilman W. P. Whitton.

Committee chairman O'Dell Smith cast the deciding vote for Mrs. Hillis. The other candidates were Roger Liedtke and Russell Jacobsen.

Mrs. Hillis was born in Shreveport, La., where she received her education, culminating in business college. She worked with the Caddo Parish Department of Welfare for three years.

She then spent six years with the Army Air Corps in Barndale, La., where she met Edward Hillis. They were married in 1947. They later moved to western Texas, where Hillis had lived previously. After farming in Texas for about seven years, they homesteaded in Minidoka County in 1954.

Mrs. Hillis has worked with the Bureau of Reclamation and three years ago began work as a reporter for the Minidoka County News. She has just finished writing an in-depth report on government at the county level for that newspaper, and has also reported the county commissioners' activities for the last two years.

For the last ten months, she has been working part-time for the Minidoka Soil and Water Conservation District, but resigned last Friday after her nomination, since it receives funds from the county.

Mrs. Hillis said: "The county has made a lot of progress under Mr. Hollenbeck, and I want to help it continue." She plans to continue in the Commission's current policies, especially in the construction of the new wing on the courthouse. She feels that the new wing is vital to the county economically. The county would no longer have to rent space around Rupert for many of its offices with the new wing, she said.

Asphyxiation causes death

TWIN FALLS — Coroner Cloyce Edwards said today an autopsy has determined a 26-year old Hansen welder died of asphyxiation in a 250 foot deep well shaft Saturday.

Edwards said Richard M. Anderson, 26, Hansen, probably died within 30 minutes after reaching the bottom of the shaft, where he had been lowered in an attempt to weld a broken drill bit.

The autopsy was performed at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Wednesday morning. Edwards said there was a high degree of carbon monoxide found in the body, indicating Anderson ran out of oxygen and died.

He went into the shaft of the well being drilled by George Galley Well Drilling Co., Kimberly, on the Anton Potucek ranch near Castleford about noon Saturday.

County officers worked throughout the afternoon and until 4 a.m. Sunday before recovering the body.

TF woman receives honor

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Marjorie Hoops was the recipient of the 1973 "Others Award" at a Tuesday night Salvation Army awards banquet at the Holiday Inn.

Mrs. Hoops was presented the award by Elmer Hagerly, member of the board of directors of the Salvation Army, who commended her for "dedicated service to 'others' in the community."

Mrs. Hoops is president of the American Legion Auxiliary, a member of the 20th Century Club, Soroptimists, and the Rebekah Lodge. She is secretary of the Magic Valley Alcoholism Rehabilitation Center, for which she voluntarily gives explanatory talks to civic organizations. Hagerly said.

She is also counselor for the Idaho State probation department, and secretary of the Salvation Army Board of Directors, and has worked with the YWCA Indian Maidens.

Sierra zoning protested

TWIN FALLS — Commercial zoning of a 122-acre Sierra Life tract adjoining the "northeast" city limits was protested Wednesday.

The Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Commission received the citizens petition calling for denial of Sierra Life's requested rezoning from residential to commercial less than 24 hours after Sierra Life withdrew the request.

While the petition was anti-climactic because of Sierra Life's withdrawal, it may indicate further protest if Sierra Life resumes plans to build its proposed multi-million dollar shopping and office complex.

The petition bore the names of 273 city residents, most of them living on property adjacent to the Sierra Life tract.

The signatures, which included those of Twin Falls City Zoning Commission chairman John Rosholt, Idaho Frozen

Food's plant manager W. C. Routh and Fifth District Magistrate Danel B. Meehl, were dated from April 21 through May 8.

Sierra Life president Fred Frazier said today that the petition had not influenced his decision to withdraw the commercial rezoning request. He said he was not even aware the petition had been filed.

Frazier said the withdrawal was simply for purposes of determining if the Sierra Life complex might be more advantageously zoned under the county's Planned Unit Development ordinance, which is due to be completed within a month.

Frazier said if it does not appear better to zone under the PUD provisions, his firm will refile its request for a commercial zoning designation.

Just a bunch of monkeys filing a petition doesn't bother me, he said.

Heyburn dogs face tough life

HEYBURN — A dog's life will be getting tougher in Heyburn. Every city employee will be instructed to pick up stray dogs, the Heyburn City Council decided Wednesday night. The dog catcher and the city policeman will be instructed to crack down too.

Although the dog problem is improving, according to Mayor Harold Hurst, complaints are still coming in to the council. Hurst read three letters written to him complaining about loose dogs.

Discussion at the meeting heated over where the responsibility lay for taking care of the problem. Citizen-signed complaints were said to be inadequate, although city attorney Thomas Church said either the complaints or citations presented by city officials are needed to take action in most cases.

Loose dogs without licenses may be picked up by the city, kept the allotted period, then disposed of without legal action.

Hurst said application papers for a sewer grant had been signed and it looked like Heyburn was "pretty high up on the list" of priorities for grants.

The South Idaho Resource Planning and Development Association has asked for the sewer plans, Hurst said, and will make recommendations to the Environmental Protection Agency based on their regional acceptability.

Approval was granted for part-time employment of two electrical linemen at $60-a-day each to work on weekends to complete extra work. The money will be taken from electrical department funds, Hurst stressed, and will not be taken from other scheduled projects.

The city ballpark will be ready for the summer season, it was reported. The park will have three practice areas so the city will no longer rely heavily on the schools for facilities.

Damages asked

TWIN FALLS — Roland D. Moore has filed suit in Fifth district court seeking $57,829 damages as a result of an auto accident in March.

He alleges the defendants, Dale Slane, Thelma Jane Moore and Robert Steinmetz and Chris Steinmetz, in a pickup truck driven by Slane, crashed into the rear of his 1969 sedan.

The plaintiff also charges an altercation followed the accident, during which he was beaten and kicked and suffered severe injuries. Moore asks $25,000 personal damages, $25,000 punitive damages and the cost of damages to his automobile, medical expenses and $5,000 for alleged malicious acts against him.

Budget proposed

SALMON — The Salmon School District proposes a 1973-74 budget of $791,800. The outlay compares with a 1972-73 budget of $688,500.

Anticipated revenue for 1973-74 totals $761,800 which compares with $674,500 in 1972-73.

The budget proposes increased spending in all areas with the largest increases in instructional salaries and other instructional expenses.

A public hearing is scheduled Monday at 8 p.m. at Pioneer School.

Urgency stressed

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Senator Jim McClure, R-Idaho, urged today that the Congress, in dealing with the pending American Falls dam legislation, "must recognize the urgency of getting something done immediately."

Speaking at the opening of a Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee hearing, McClure said, "We are here today with this legislation before us because the entire Idaho congressional delegation recognizes the extreme importance of getting this problem solved."

The Idaho Republican added that replacement of the present 45-year-old deteriorated structure is "not something to be done five or 10 years from now; but something that must be done as quickly as is humanly possible."

Air race set

JACKPOT — All's favorable weather-wise for the annual air race Saturday between Lander, Wyo., and Jackpot, Nev.

The race was postponed in mid-April when snow and wind storms beset the Idaho-Wyoming border.

Planes will begin leaving Lander at 9:30 a.m. All will arrive in Jackpot by mid-afternoon.

Chipped time winners will be announced at a 5 p.m. assembly in Cactus Pete's dining room.

More than $1,000 in prize money is posted for four classes of planes. Classes include multi-engines. Jerry O'Leary, Lander, general committee chairman, says all seats must be filled on the "over the mountains" flight. Pilots will assemble for briefing and name plates Friday in Lander.

DECS board 'turns head'

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Department of Environmental and Community Services board looked the other way Wednesday when presented with a proposed policy on "pregnancy terminations."

Members declined even to take a vote on the proposal, which would have recognized abortions as the "least desirable" method of family planning, but one the department would have to provide counseling and referral services about.

Board member John Squires, Pocatello, complained the Supreme Court and state legislature had presented the board with an "accomplished fact" in recent months, and asked why a policy determination was even necessary. "I'm going to vote no on anything," he said.

In spite of their refusal to vote, board members were told that persons receiving assistance under the Medicaid Program were still eligible for assistance from the state if they underwent abortions.

Harold Smith, state welfare officer, told board members the cost to the state for an abortion would probably not exceed what the state would have to pay if it were providing medical care for pregnant woman who had a child.

The policy the board was presented said, in part, "The department's family planning program will endeavor to assure that other methods of family planning are made available to all persons who request them. In the event that pregnancy termination is requested, counseling shall be given and referral to appropriate resources made if this is the decision of the client."

Mental health funds requested

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley is a top priority area for mental health services, according to the Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS) administrator.

But Dr. James A. Bax told the director of the area's mental health center Wednesday that didn't necessarily mean state funds to continue his programs.

Don Barlow, who heads the South Central Idaho Mental Health Center, appeared at a DECS board meeting in Twin Falls to ask for state assistance to continue programs now funded by federal money. That money is being cut off, Barlow said, jeopardizing the program that was set up several months ago.

But Bax, while making it clear that the Magic Valley was in need of continued mental health programs, told Barlow, "I'm just not of a mind to come up and fund 11 positions," the number currently funded with the federal money.

He also promised Barlow, however, "you're going to have a mental health program going here," adding it would be "more" than what currently exists.

Idaho contract dispute aired

TWIN FALLS — Idaho is in the driver's seat in a contract dispute with a Florida advertising firm, according to Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS) administrator Dr. James Bax.

Bax told a meeting of the DECS board in Twin Falls Wednesday he had ordered the firm, Franceschi Advertising, Tallahassee, Fla., to stop production of a planned media advertising campaign on child abuse.

He made his remarks after board member Marvin Whittman, Caldwell, asked for a rundown on the contract problems.

A $23,000 contract had been signed in March with the firm by former Commissioner of Social and Rehabilitation Services Dr. John Marks.

The first payment on the contract was scheduled to be made by the state upon receipt of part of the advertising package May 1. The materials arrived late, according to Bax and were of poor quality and unusable in the state's tabloid newspapers.

Samples of the graphics were shown to board members. Bax defended the contract and Mark's signing it, saying that if the advertiser had "lived up" to his agreement, the state "would have had a good thing."

Bids necessary for new contracts

TWIN FALLS — Any future service contracts signed by the Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS) will be awarded by competitive bidding, administrator Dr. James Bax said Wednesday.

Bax made his comments during a discussion of a contract signed with a Florida advertising firm at the agency board meeting in Twin Falls.

While noting that state law did not require service contracts to be bid, Bax said he had ordered that policy himself.

"I'm not going to impose my judgment for the competitive bidding process," he told board members.

KH Grange greets two new members

KING HILL — James Montgomery and L. D. Montgomery were accepted as new members of the King Hill Grange Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Horace Lips, women's activity chairman, reported that the "spiritual memorial" service would be held at the May 22 meeting.

An Elmore County Fair queen contestant tea report was reported received from Tamara Sherman. Miss Sherman is the candidate sponsored by the K. H. Grange.

Thank-you notes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Frank Jones, from the Xi Alpha Alpha Sorority for a donation to the grave awning, from CARE, the Heart Fund and TV Foundation for Donations. A communication was read relative to the National Grange session, to be held in Lincoln, Neb. November 12-20.

Pomona Grange will meet in Mountain Home on May 21, at the Childfellow Hall at 8 p.m. Mariposa Grange will host. All King Hill Grangers were urged to attend.

A pancake supper was served before the meeting, with Fred Whitehead and T. M. Timbers as chief cooks and Horace Lips, Hattie McKee, Karl Anderson and Arthur Green as waitresses.

About 60 people enjoyed the Mother's Day supper. Mrs. Timbers and Mrs. Lips decorated the rooms with spring flowers.

Carcass dumping draws fire

BOISE (UPI) — An Idaho environmental official Tuesday blasted the state's farmers for dumping dead animals in streams.

Ed Barker, chief of solid waste management for the Department of Environmental and Community Services, said the dumping of dead farm animals into rivers is more apparent in certain areas of the state at different times of year.

Barker said there is a health hazard associated with the dead animals. If not disposed of correctly they can increase chance of spreading diseases and endanger healthy animals.

The dead animals also are detrimental to the river, Barker said, because the material of decaying flesh — organic hydrocarbons — lower the oxygen content of water, upsetting the balance of life in the stream.

Fifteen dead farm animals were dumped in the Snake river at one time near Burley in recent years.

Although not justifying their actions, Barker said he could understand the feelings of farmers who dump the dead animals into a river.

"What they feel is the animal cost them money to buy or raise and when it's dead they just want to get it out of sight as soon as possible."

"But the farmer is still the owner when the animal dies just as when it is alive. Once the animal has died it is going to cost someone some money unless they can get a rendering plant to pick up the meat for its processable parts."

"First, we try to find out who the owner of the animal was, to try to talk the person into removing the animal from the water."

Attorneys for the department are investigating responsibility on the part of state or local governments for removing the animals, if an owner cannot be determined.

Once the carcass is out of the water, there still is the problem of its disposal.

Some rendering plants will pick up animals free of charge within two days after death, to use in making poultry and hog feed and leather.

Mel Jennings, manager of Colorado, Utah, Idaho, International Rendering Plant in Idaho Falls said his plant has picked up as many as 200 head of dead animals in one day.

The average in the spring is 80 to 85 head per day.

"We pay the phone bills so there's really no reason for them to dump the animals in the river or out in the brush..." Jennings said.

The plant will pick up the animals out of the river, if someone calls and asks that it be done. But for processing the plant wants fresh animals.

"A lot of people will leave their animal set 'til they can't stand the smell anymore. Then they'll call us... They think they're going to bury them, but when the animals are smelling so bad they call us thinking we'll pick them up. But we won't do it," Jennings said.

"That's when a lot of animals get quickly deposited in the nearest running river, often with the brand cut off."

Lincoln exemptions listed

SHOSHONE — Lincoln County Assessor, Sanford Connell has listed rules for widow and veteran tax exemptions.

He said they must fill out a form each year in order to be exempted from property taxes, if eligible, but need not meet with the county commissioners each year.

Persons who own property valued at more than $15,000 or whose income is more than $4,000 for an individual or $9,000 for a couple are not eligible.

Persons over 65 must apply each year, also, for forms to fill out to receive the tax exemption. Qualifications are the same as listed.

The applicants for exemption must apply by May 15 and return the forms to the office of the Assessor by the fourth Monday in June.

The addition to a building in the Idaho Chemical Processing Plant area, is estimated to have a $14,600 design cost. The design is to be completed by June 25.

The new facility will provide 14 offices, a computer room, computer users' room and a classroom for personnel training purposes. Construction is scheduled to begin about Aug. 1 and about 120 on-stand days will be required for completion.

Bellevue streets get sharing fund

BELLEVUE — The Bellevue City Council has dedicated all of the city's 1973 federal revenue sharing funds to the street department.

During a council meeting Monday night, Mayor L. T. (Peter) Johnson said the funds would be utilized in a project to repair and upgrade city streets.

Johnson said the council will research costs to determine the extent of the project.

City clerk Anna Payne O'Donnell said the city will have received about $9,000 in revenue sharing funds through June.

In other action, the council:

— Installed Johnson as mayor, replacing former Mayor James Pigg, who was defeated in the annual city election. Three incumbent aldermen were returned to the posts in the election, including Joe Bergin, Ralph Griffin and John Pascoe.

— Voted to seek a new city attorney to replace Stephen W. Boller. Johnson, who proposed the move, said the city "was at liberty to change attorneys at any time" and said he felt Boller had "too many other interests."

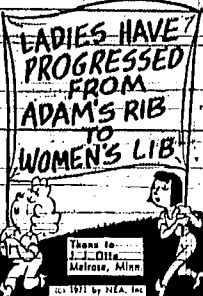

— Rescinded a March, 1972 resolution requiring a new water customer to install a line to his residence and set the new water hookup fee at $300.

— Allocated $60 to pay traveling expenses for an instructor to conduct a fire fighting training school in Bellevue.

— Tabled for additional study a recommendation by Johnson for a tax on unaltered unspayed dogs.

Johnson said the tax could be annual and could be in addition to city license fees. The proposed tax would be $30 for an unspayed female dog and $20 for an unaltered male dog.

New safety standards for bikes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government Wednesday proposed new safety standards for bicycles, including a ban on extreme high-rise handlebars and tougher construction for pedals and brakes, in a move to cut down the 600 deaths which occur in bicycle accidents each year.

The proposals came amid booming popularity in bicycling, with tremendous increases in sales, particularly among the multi-speed models.

With 14 million bikes sold last year — and an estimated 40 million in use throughout the country — the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said 1 million accidents each year are related to the two-wheel vehicles.

"Of these 30,000 involve automobiles and more than 800 result in death. In many cases the bicycle itself is a major cause of these accidents," the agency said.

The new rules, which are subject to 60 days of public comment before the FDA puts them out in final form, would require pedals that are slip resistant and brakes that would meet specified performance standards. In addition only a "modest" handlebar rise would be allowed, a requirement that would ban the more extreme V-shaped high-rise handlebars popular on some children's bikes. Reflectors would be mandatory to make bikes both visible and identifiable in the dark. Unsafe protrusions and other hazards would be banned and there would be limits on seat heights.

The person buying a bike would have to be supplied with assembly tools and instructions, as well as with an owner's manual which would cover maintenance, operation and safety.

The rules would also specify the clearance between the pedals and the ground, the size and shape of chain guards, the frame strength and the brake integrity, and four test requirements which bikes would have to meet.

Bench hits 3 homers for 7 RBIs in Redleg victory

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Johnny Bench drove in seven runs with three tremendous home runs off Steve Carlton Wednesday night to tie major league record and Dave Concepcion hit a two-run homer in the ninth inning to give the Cincinnati Reds a 9-7 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Bench's three home runs coupled with a home run his last at bat Tuesday when he drove in four runs enabled him to tie the major league record with four homers in four consecutive at bats.

Bench now has nine home runs and 26 RBIs for the season. Bench previously hit three homers in a game and drove in seven runs off Carlton on July 27, 1970 when Carlton was with the St. Louis Cardinals. The defeat Wednesday night was charged to Barry Lersch, who took over for Carlton in the ninth.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Unbent Jerry Koosman pitched a five-hitter for his fifth straight victory and Rusty Staub hit his fourth-homer of the season Wednesday night as the New York Mets scored a 6-1 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Koosman glad touch returned
NEW YORK (UPI) — Jerry Koosman, who feared he might pitch his way into the bullpen this season, has hurried his way back to stardom for the New York Mets.

One of the heroes of the Mets' "miracle" 1969 National League pennant and World Series victories, Koosman pitched his fifth straight victory of the season Wednesday night, a five-hitter as New York beat Atlanta 6-1. He has allowed only 10 earned runs in 50 innings for a 1.80 earned run average.

"I'm pitching as well as I did in 1969," said Koosman, who had a no-hitter until Oscar Brown doubled with two out in the sixth. The Braves scored their run in the seventh when Dusty Baker walked and went all the way around on a double by Darrell Evans.

"I was beginning to think about a no-hitter in the sixth," said Koosman. "But you can't get too serious about those thoughts. You need a lot of luck to pitch a no-hitter."

Cubs batter San Diego 9-2
SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Home runs by Billy Williams, Randy Hundley and Dick Monday, coupled with Burt Hooton's six-hit pitching, carried the Chicago Cubs to a 9-2 victory over the San Diego Padres Wednesday night.

Hooton, now 42, picked up his third straight-win as the Cubs made the most of 10 hits off four Padre hurlers. One of them was an infield single by Glenn Beckert in the third inning which stretched his consecutive hitting streak to 19 games.

Pressing Cards nip Giants 3-1
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ron Roitz' first big-league homer, a two-run blast in the sixth inning, provided the batting punch and Diego Segui bailed starter Reggie Cleveland out of a ninth inning jam Wednesday as the St. Louis Cardinals snapped a four-game losing streak with a 3-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

With one out in the sixth, Ted Simmons was safe on an error by Willie McCoy and Roitz followed with his homer. The Cardinals, winning only their sixth game in 26 starts, managed just four hits off San Francisco starter and loser Ron Bryant and reliever Elias Sosa. The only hit that figured in their scoring was Roitz' homer.

LA gets 5 runs in 2-hit inning
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers scored five runs on only two hits in the fifth inning, one of them a two-run double by Willie Crawford, and went on to beat Pittsburgh 8-5 Wednesday night despite a 14-hit attack by the Pirates that included two-run homers by Manny Sanguillen and Bob Robertson.

Trailing 3-1 after Sanguillen's 420-foot homer with Dave Cash on in the fifth, the Dodgers chased Steve Blass on Bill Russell's run-scoring single. That came after the Pittsburgh starter Jim O'Rourke pitched the bottom of the inning with walks to Lee Lacy and Dodger winner Claude Osteen.

Willie Davis' sacrifice fly brought in Osteen, now 3-2, to tie the score at 3-3 and the Dodgers went ahead when Russell came in from third on a wild pitch by reliever Jim Rooker.

History says Lakers can't win series

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Can the defending NBA champion Los Angeles Lakers come back from a 3-1 deficit? No team in the 27-year history of the league ever has and the New York Knicks, a team with the fourth best NBA regular season record, seek to apply the clincher in the championship series tonight.

"There's always a first time," said a hobbled Jerry West, who played in Tuesday night's 103-98 Lakers defeat at New York.

"We could be the first team to make it back from this far. But it's hard to beat a good team three times in a row." The Lakers took out the Knicks in five games in last year's finals after, ironically, losing the series opener. New York was beaten in the opener this year 115-112 but bounced back to take three straight.

The Knicks won 99-95 and 87-83 in games No. 2 and 3. Despite the Knicks' big edge, the Lakers players think they can come back to win back-to-back titles. Or at least that's what they're saying.

"It's not over yet," said starting forward Bill Bridges. "We can win at home and win one at New York." "We had a chance to win all previous four games," added Wilt Chamberlain.

Said Gail Goodrich: "It's not through. We've been good in spots but just not consistent. We've got to create our own breaks more." "If the Knicks win tonight, it will be their second championship ever, both in the space of only four years. They look the title in seven games in 1970-71 but I won't be happy until we win the fourth one."

DeBusschere also played brilliant defense in Tuesday night's game, holding Jim McMillan to 14 points. McMillan, the Lakers' standout third-year forward, was 6 for 20 from the floor.

If Los Angeles wins game No. 5, the series switches back to New York's Madison Square Garden Sunday afternoon. A seventh game, if necessary, is set at the Forum here Tuesday night.

Tigers avenge no-hitter at hands of Busby and KC

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers, no-hit by Kansas City's Steve Busby 12 days ago, jumped on the young right-hander for two runs in the second inning Wednesday night and went on to score a 4-1 victory over the Royals.

Norm Cash provided most of the offensive spark for the Tigers, singling to start a two-run second, delivering a third-inning run with a sacrifice fly and bolting his fourth home of the season in the eighth.

The Tigers collected four singles off Busby in the second inning, with Cash scoring on a throwing error by center fielder Amos Otis and Dick McAuliffe coming home on a single by Aurelio Rodriguez.

Yankees blank Minnesota 2-0

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI)—Fritz Peterson and Sparky Lyle combined on a nine-inning shutout to outduel Jim Kaut Wednesday night as the New York Yankees defeated the Minnesota Twins 2-0.

Lyle, in recording his second save, came on "after Larry Hulse doubled leading off the eighth inning—Lyle got Rod Carey on a ground ball and struck out Harmon Killebrew and Bobby Darwin to end that rally. Lyle then retired the Twins in order in the ninth inning to end the game. He wound up with three strikeouts.

Homerun ends no-hitter bid
MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Jim Colborn, starting his first game since opening day, allowed only one hit—a fifth-inning homer by Jeff Burroughs—and Dave May hit two homers Wednesday night as the Milwaukee Brewers beat the Texas Rangers, 5-1.

Colborn, boosting his record to 3-1, walked three and struck out three in besting Dick Bosman. Colborn allowed six runs in five innings as the "brewers" opening day pitcher in Baltimore and then won two games in six relief appearances before making his second start Wednesday night.

Bob Coluccio got Colborn off to an early lead when he hit the first pitch of the game for his third homer of the season. Bosman retired the next batter, but May ripped the first homer of the game down the right field line to give Colborn all the runs he needed.

Athletics nip Orioles in 10

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Oral Lind's Joe Rod smashed a two-out double to score Bill North with the winning run in the 10th inning Wednesday night as the Athletics defeated the Baltimore Orioles 4-3 to hand Dave McNally his fifth straight defeat.

North reached second base when Brooks Robinson fielded his leadoff grounder and threw wildly to first. It was the third error for two games for Robinson, usually considered the best field third baseman in the game.

Oilers get Smith and Parks
HOUSTON (UPI)—The Houston Oilers traded their first and third round choices in next year's National Football League draft to the Dallas Cowboys Wednesday for defensive end Tody Smith and wide receiver Billy Parks.

Smith, 6-5, 250, the brother of Hubba Smith of the Baltimore Colts, was the Cowboys No. 1 draft choice in 1971. He missed most of last season because of a knee injury and illness.

Parks, 6-1, 165, was a sixth round draft choice of San Diego in 1970. He went to Dallas last season in the Duane Thomas trade and caught 10 passes for 291 yards and one touchdown.

Indians belt Angels 10-3

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Designated hitter Charlie Spikes and Buddy Bell each drove in three runs Wednesday to spark the Cleveland Indians to a 10-3 victory over the California Angels and spoil Rudy May's bid for his fourth straight shutout.

Spikes' two-run double highlighted a four-run fourth inning that snapped a 1-1 tie and chased May, while Bell singled in two runs in the fifth when the Indians scored four more times against reliever Lloyd Allen.

Cal entry
BALTIMORE (UPI)—Neil Hellman said Wednesday there was a possibility he would enter Linda's Chief in the May 19 Preakness as a challenge to Secretariat's bid for the second leg of the Triple Crown.

Linda's Chief suffered a foot bruise while winning the California Derby, but it is completely healed, Hellman said by phone from Miami.

"It had been our intention to start Linda's Chief next in the May 30 Withers mile at Belmont, but we could change our plans," said the colt's owner. "We are not 100 percent out of the Preakness." The Preakness is at a mile and three-sixteenths.

Pacers practice on eve of chance to clinch ABA crown

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—The Indiana Pacers, reeling one victory for their third American Basketball Association championship in four years, took nothing for granted Wednesday—they practiced.

The Pacers, winless at Kentucky during the regular season, won two of the three games played in Louisville to grab the lead in this see-saw struggle for the playoff crown champs a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series and they can pick up all the marbles here Thursday night.

Pro track gauging its future

NEW YORK (UPI)—The International Track Association "run for the money" circuit moves into the second half of its inaugural indoor schedule Friday night at the Maple Leaf Gardens at Toronto hoping to find some answers about its future.

With attendance of its first eight meets averaging around 7,500—a quite lower figure than at first anticipated—the IFA hopes to get a more reliable pulse in four key meets between May 11 and June 6.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MAY 11, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Early morning delays soon change. An influential person you know gives you the benefit of his support. Even though you have some small annoyances, the overall aspects of today's influences are broad in their scope so you are able to make some long-time excellent changes.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get busy with work at hand and don't go off on tangents if you want good results. Try to gain the goodwill of a coworker. Avoid one who has a chip on the shoulder. Think.

TAUROS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study and arrange creative ideas well in a.m., and you can be successful. The door of opportunity is opened for you by one you know. The morning starts slowly, but by evening all speeds up.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study family affairs and see where you can improve them. Appliances need repairing or replacement, so handle them carefully. Get free of tensions that have been bothering you for some time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Consulting with others is best after lunch, when you can put your plans in good working order. Every opportunity is yours for gaining more productive. Give your attention to your work exclusively.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can get those money matters working properly, but have to study all details connected with them. A business expert is not in a good humor. Avoid this person now. Contact another time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan the future more wisely so you have more of the things you want. Don't let some small loss disappoint you. Improve your appearance in some way and feel more sure of yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Quietly get into talks with experts who can give you the information you need to solve your problems. Then you can proceed in a positive way. Listen to what romantic attachment has to suggest for more harmony.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan just how to get the cooperation of allies for some fascinating project you have in mind. Get into that group affair later that can be both enjoyable and helpful to your interests. Don't go to bed too late.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Some new course should be followed if you are to make your career more successful. Be sure to get the backing of a bigwig. Not a good day to take action, but time for involving yourself in some public matter.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) New ideas are fine, but make sure you put them in motion at the right time and at the right place, and with the proper persons. Be more alert to what your goals really are. Make sure they are just what you want.

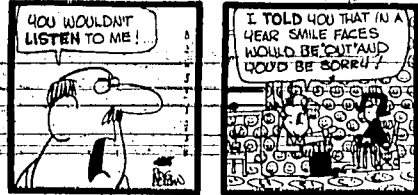

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have some long time responsibilities and need some new system to get them handled properly. Try to please more in p.m. Avoid some situation that could get you into trouble.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Discuss with associates questionable points. Get down to the policy level and make the future more profitable and worthwhile. Differences of opinion now can prove to be good, since you learn much. Think.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those little fussbudgets who wants everything around supper time, but should be taught early to make allowances for human error and to stick to the important, big things of life. Otherwise your child will have a poor and ineffectual life. Instead of a successful one. Send to schools best suited to the mentality of your youngster. Don't try to push into doing whatever is against the nature. Religion is important here. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

L. M. Boyd

Did you know a shook-up zebra barks like a little dog? 'What's the 'Spanish swindle?' A-Ah, yes, the old border bunko gimmick. Say you're the mark. I'm the 'cib' artist. I write you a letter, claiming to be a Mexican citizen of good repute unjustly charged in a bankruptcy case. I tell you that U.S. Customs officers are holding my suitcase, containing, oh, maybe, $250,000. To redeem the claim, check, I need $5,000. So you send me $3,000 and I'll send you back $10,000. You wouldn't think anybody would fall for that ancient fraud, but many innocents still do. Many, many.

Am asked what innocents inspired the phrase "cover girl." Had to be the Ladies Home Journal, the first magazine in the world to change its cover with each issue. The median for those marriages that end in divorce is seven years.

DIAL-A-TALE

In London, you can telephone a certain number to hear a six-minute bedtime story. About Peter Rabbit, Reddy Fox, Johnny Chipmunk, Grandfather Frog, whatever. Costs the equivalent of about a nickel American. The post office there started this interesting enterprise.

Sleep specialists say what you dream about shortly after you go to bed relates to what happened recently. Four hours deep into the sleep, when your temperature is slightly lower, you tend to dream about things of long ago. Then just before you wake up, your dreams pertain to current stuff again.

THE HARD FACTS

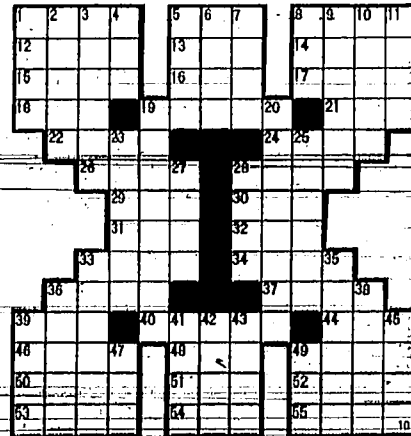

The psychology boys say their studies indicate women discuss men three times as much as men discuss women. It's the custom among Canadian Eskimos to name their sled dogs after departed family members. If you want to discuss the game-of-checkers in England, call it draughts. No. 3 on that list of most popular given names for men now is David. Eight out of every 100 bridegrooms postpone indefinitely that wedding trip known as the honeymoon.

Pickpockets of old England worked in pairs. One banged on a pair, rang a bell, blew a crude horn, and yelled outlandishly to draw a crowd. The other then zapped through the collected folk, gathering up the goods. Noises made by the first, an any good dictionary reveals, was described as a racket. And our Language man says that's how we came to refer to just about any line of crime as a racket.
