Cleanup cites MV firms

BOISE — State environmental officials made public today a list of eight "major installations" and dozens of smaller companies across the state that are receiving state pollution compliance schedules.

Included on the list are two Magic Valley Amalgamated Sugar Co. plants, as well as asphalt-mixing operations and grain handling businesses in the eight county area.

The smaller companies in the Magic Valley include, according to the list made public this morning, Aslett Construction, Twin Falls; Beyer Paving, Twin Falls; Gordon Paving, Burley; Holmes Construction, Heyburn; Twin Falls Construction Co., Twin Falls; and Winn and Co., Buhl.

Also receiving compliance schedules among grain handling operations, are Peterson Feed and Supply Co., Burley; Beakon Bean Co., Gooding; Wendell Elevator Co., Wendell; Minidoka Seed Co., Paul; Floyd Idle, Rupert; and Woolford Mill and Elevator, Rupert.

Al Elguren, head of the environmental protection division of the Department of Environmental and Community Services, (DECS) had told the agency board the schedules would be mailed out late last week.

But as late as Friday he had declined to make the list public, except for the three Amalgamated Sugar Co. plants, located in Twin Falls, Paul and Nimpun.

The eight companies identified today by DECS officials include: Bunker Hill Co., Kellogg; Potlatch Corp., Lewiston; FMC, Pocatello; Monsanto Industrial Chemicals, Inc., Soda Springs; Kerr McGee Corp., Soda Springs; as well as the three sugar company facilities.

The compliance schedules were mailed to the firms last Friday, a spokesman said today, and a public hearing will be called in Boise June 11 to allow for the companies and the public to react to the proposals.

Elguren had told the DECS board members last Wednesday in Twin Falls they would be asked to reconvene in late June to approve the schedules, the final step toward making them binding on the companies involved.

Most of the major companies will be committed to compliance schedules dealing only with emissions into the atmosphere, but Elguren said in Twin Falls last week Amalgamated Sugar Co. alone among the group of large firms, would have a "comprehensive" program dealing with both air and water.

He said it would involve a "multi-year—multi-million dollar project at the three sites.

Canada death said murder

TWIN FALLS — Canadian police have charged a Twin Falls man with "capital murder" in connection with the shooting death of James Lash, also of Twin Falls, in Kaslo, B. C. Saturday.

Constable B. L. Getz of the Royal Canadian Police in Kaslo told the Times-News today that Calvert Lee Stanger, 33, was in jail on charges of shooting Lash.

Getz said a second Twin Falls man, Barth Cilest Rovig, 19, was under arrest for having a restricted weapon in Canada.

Getz said "I don't know" if Stanger and Rovig were in the same party with Lash, who was apparently on a fishing trip in British Columbia when he was shot and killed.

The constable said the shooting occurred in the early morning hours Saturday.

"I can't let anything else out to you," he said when asked for further details on the incident. He said investigation is continuing.

According to Kevin Terris, Lash was the former owner and operator of the Military Inn. Terris said the club is now owned by Grand National Saloon, Inc., and operated by Terris.

TWIN FALLS — Three hundred twenty-five College of Southern Idaho students were graduated Sunday in the college's seventh commencement exercise.

The college's first graduating class of nurses had held separate ceremonies on Saturday. (See story, p. 3)

Commencement speaker Dr. James Beemis told the nearly 2,000 persons attending that the primary role of the community college is involvement in the community.

Beemis, executive director of the Commission on Higher Schools, said that "Unless the college does not become involved, it tends to move toward complacency."

The community college must be flexible, mobile and fluid, according to Beemis. If the college knows its constituency then it should offer programs toward that constituency, he said.

"People should not look upon this community college as a two year college," he said. "They must look upon it as a lifelong institution."

"Most people go through their lives without developing their full potential but the community college can help develop those potentials," he said.

"The college has a difficult job," he said. "Many people stop learning at an early age and settle into fixed economic and political views. As they mature they progressively acquire a narrow scope to their lives."

The community college must vitalize these people by offering wide varieties of services according to Beemis.

Judge OK's inspection of papers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Judge John J. Sirica ruled today that both government prosecutors and the Senate's special Watergate committee were entitled to see secret papers that ousted White House aide John W. Dean locked in a bank safety deposit box.

Sirica, chief judge of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, instructed the court clerk to take possession of the papers and to provide certified copies to the federal prosecutors and to the Senate committee which also is investigating the scandal.

"Everybody wins," Sirica said in announcing his decision following a 25-minute hearing on the so-called Dean Papers, possibly bearing on the Watergate case.

Dean, himself was at the hearing, appearing under heavy strain and looking haggard. He told Sirica the papers were classified "top secret."

Asked by the judge where they came from, Dean said, "A combination of several agencies including the FBI and other national security agencies."

The judge subsequently directed Dean to go to his bank to get the documents and bring them back to the court.

Not far away, in the federal courthouse, another of the aides that President Nixon dropped two weeks ago, chief of staff H.R. Haldeman, appeared for another meeting with a grand jury investigating Watergate.

Haldeman told reporters: "I am cooperating fully with the grand jury and I will with the Senate committee (that begins public hearings Thursday). I have no intention of taking the Fifth Amendment or seeking immunity."

Dean took the papers from White House files shortly before President Nixon fired him April 30. Expressing fear the documents might be destroyed or stolen, he asked the court in a letter to take possession of them.

The administration asked that they be returned to the White House since Dean described them as classified documents.

Sirica had first asked a lawyer for Dean, Charles N. Shaffer, what type of classification the documents carried — noting that the law provides for "confidential," "secret," and "top secret" categories.

"They've got something better than 'top secret' now," Shaffer said. "I don't know what they call it but that's what these documents are."

Set for liftoff

POISED ON LAUNCHING pad, Saturn V rocket carrying Skylab 1 is silhouetted against early morning sun at Cape Kennedy, Fla., hours before it was sent aloft to put laboratory into earth orbit today. (UPI)

Skylab off on mission

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — While the Skylab 1 astronauts watched from the ground, their space station rocketed into space today to push back the frontier of manned orbital endurance and cash in on the promise of spaceflight.

Moonwalker veteran Charles "Pete" Conrad, Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin, America's first space physician, and aeronautical engineer Paul J. Weitz will take off 23 1/2 hours later and spend a record 28 days in orbit aboard the Skylab.

Their space lab, an eight-room assembly as spacious as a three-bedroom house, began its eight-month voyage around earth on a 33-story Saturn 5 rocket left over from the moon program.

It was the start of the nation's fourth manned spaceflight project in 12 years.

The current space endurance record, set by the Russians in their pioneering Salyut 1 space lab, is nearly 24 days.

Weather was the only potential problem today. At sunrise, NASA was closely watching a band of thunderstorms in the Tampa Bay area on Florida's west coast. By mid-morning, however, the storms had weakened considerably and were drifting northeast — away from the Cape.

The 334-foot Skylab-Saturn 5 rocket was fully fueled with 617,000 gallons of kerosene, liquid oxygen and liquid hydrogen at 10:30 a.m.

today in brief

Prosecutor picks named

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Elliot L. Richardson today identified the "list" for selection as special government Watergate prosecutor as Warren M. Christopher of Los Angeles, Judge William H. Erickson of Denver, former Judge David W. Peck of New York and Judge Harold R. Tyler Jr. of New York.

Indo operations bar voted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted, 13 to 3, today in favor of prohibiting U.S. military operations in Indochina.

As antiwar legislation continued to sweep through Congress, the committee adopted a proposal by Sens. Frank Church, D-Ida., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., while a Senate subcommittee voted to allow the Pentagon to shift $170 million from one account to another to meet higher costs of operation abroad.

Gold zooms past $100 level

LONDON (UPI) — Gold leaped to the highest price in history on European free markets today, easily passing the $100-ounce "barrier." A major British dealer linked the gold stampede to a lack of confidence brought on by the Watergate affair but others disagreed.

The gold rush which saw a price of $106.70 on the French commercial market sent the dollar skidding on European money markets as speculators and multi-national companies unloaded U.S. currency for the precious yellow metal. U.S. tourists joined the stampede to buy gold.

Court OK's women's benefits

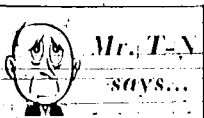

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled 8 to 1 today that women members of the armed forces are entitled to dependents' benefits on the same basis as men.

The opinion brought the women's rights movement nearer than ever before to winning a high court ruling that sex is in the same "suspect" classification as race and alienage. The vote was 4 to 4 on this broad issue.

Lebanese shun special session

BEIRUT (UPI) — Members of Parliament today shunned a special session called to extend a state of emergency that was proclaimed at the height of clashes between government troops and Palestinian guerrillas.

Beirut radio said their absence meant an extension anyway, despite a halt in the fighting.

Burley lawyer Nielson dies

BURLEY — Long-time Burley attorney Adonis H. Nielson, 73, died Saturday night at his home of natural causes.

He set up a law practice in Burley in 1928. His firm's members served as Cassia County prosecuting attorney for more than 35 years.

Crash kills Hagerman cyclist

A Gooding man was killed in a motorcycle accident near Hagerman Sunday evening, one of two traffic related deaths in the Magic Valley Sunday.

Victim of that accident was Randall Hoagland, 22, Gooding. A Friday morning wreck in eastern Jerome County claimed the life of Kevin D. Barney, 16, Pocatello, who died at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Sunday.

A former Filer girl, Tamara Marsha Chandler, 5, died Sunday at St. Anthony Hospital in Pocatello of injuries sustained in a car-pedestrian accident at St. Anthony Saturday.

State Police Officer Jim Finch said Hoagland was riding a motorcycle north on US Highway 30 when he left the road on a curve three quarters of a mile south of Hagerman. Hoagland was thrown off when the cycle hit a ditch and slid for another 100 feet.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Gooding Memorial Hospital. The accident occurred about 6 p.m. Hoagland was from Joplin, Mo., but had been working in the Hagerman area for about five months, Finch said.

State police said Barney was fatally injured when his westbound car left Interstate 80 North on a curve near the Ridgeview Road interchange Friday morning. Barney, who was believed to have fallen asleep, was thrown out when the car overturned. He was alone in the car, officers said.

The Chandler girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Chandler, former Filer residents who moved to St. Anthony this past fall. Her father is a teacher in the Teton school system.

Further details about that accident were not available late this morning.

'Champs d'Elysees' one future view

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

SCENARIO ONE: One hundred years from now the Snake River Canyon rim is choked by apartments, condominiums and commercial centers with high-rise office buildings.

Rimland dwellers have for a view the canyon floor below covered by other apartments, condominiums, commercial centers and high rise office buildings.

SCENARIO TWO: The people of Twin Falls enjoy an open park running along the canyon rim, separating the rim and the residential and commercial development to the south. A broad tree-lined boulevard, known as Idaho's "Champs d'Elysees," stretches along the rim. The rim grass is the favorite Sunday picnicking spot of the city's 150,000 people.

The two scenarios are probably extreme views of what lies ahead for the Snake River Canyon.

But it is clear from recent developments that the city is moving rapidly in the direction outlined in the first scenario. Canyon subdivisions are in the works for areas totaling about a square mile along and inside the canyon north of the city. Not everyone likes this. There are people who would rather see the second scenario come to life.

Just over a year ago, the Times-News published a letter from a former Duhl resident who called for preservation of a strip of land along the south rim of the canyon.

Paul L. Duffy, now a San Francisco architect, predicted Twin Falls soon would grow northward to the canyon rim.

In his view, how the city deals with this canyon rimland will determine what kind of city she hopes to become.

"It is now, today, easy to imagine the advance of Twin Falls to this canyon rim as farmland becomes a grid of residential streets; main arterial commercial strips and each intersection with its own shopping center.

"In the most elementary and profane view the canyon rim will become 'hotter and hotter real estate.'"

"I would like to suggest," Duffy wrote, "that the City of Twin Falls develop a master plan for the preservation of the entire neighboring rim before despoilation makes it only an impossible dream."

"In order to preserve the rim," he said, "a linear belt of open space should be established. This belt of space would be defined continuously by the canyon rim and a corresponding, although not necessarily parallel, drive which might vary a distance of one eighth to one third of a mile from the rim."

"The belt would most effectively be quite long, perhaps five to 10 miles of continuous alignment to the canyon and its tributaries such as Rock Creek. It would be a clearly defined buffer edge against which canyon would receive city."

"The space contained within the belt could form one of the most dramatic city-regional parkways in the entire nation."

Humane accreditation planned, funds needed

TWIN FALLS — Plans for an accreditation program for Humane Society animal shelters were outlined here by Regional director, Harold Perry, Salt Lake City.

Twin Falls Society is in financial difficulties, having been turned down by the county commissioners in a request for $75 a month to help meet costs of caring for animals from areas outside of Twin Falls city limits.

Twin Falls city provides $150 per month for services beyond those the city dog pound provides and to help care for the many homeless animals from within the city which reach the shelter.

Now you know

By United Press International. A Camel's eyes enable him to see backwards without moving his head.

Perry said the accreditation program as now being considered by the Humane Society would apply to pounds operated by municipalities or counties.

Our purpose for visiting with the individual societies is to discuss this proposal and see if there is anyway we can help them in better serving the areas, he said.

Members of the Twin Falls Humane Society will meet May 31 to elect new officers and board members.

Last month, one of the slowest of the year, the shelter handled 362 animals, including largely dogs and cats.

Question

Is it true that any wages I receive after my death will be free of Federal Income Tax to my survivors?

Answer

It is not required that any Federal Income Tax be withheld by your employer from wages which are paid after death. Those wages, however, must be included in the computation of your income tax liability for the year in which you pass away, and a return filed for you.

It is possible that your survivors may receive $5,000 as a tax free death benefit following your death. Your beneficiaries may receive up to this amount plus any credit you have in a stock bonus, pension or profit sharing plan without reporting the amount they receive for Federal Income Tax purposes.

Yellowstone rules set

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo. (UPI) — Yellowstone National Park officials have closed certain portions of rivers and streams in the park this year as part of a continuing program to restore native species to park waters. Vern Hennessey, park information officer, said Sunday.

Hennessey said Yellowstone River and all its tributary streams from the outlet at Yellowstone Lake to a point one mile downstream will be closed for fishing this year. He said the section has been used extensively as a spawning stream by trout from Yellowstone Lake and that heavy fishing pressure in the past has drastically affected the fisheries in the northern part of the lake.

The closed area includes the popular fishing bridge.

Hennessey said certain waters would be designated as "catch and release" areas, in which fishermen must carefully and immediately release all the fish caught. These waters include portions of Yellowstone River, Slough Creek, McFry Lake and portions of the Lamar and Lewis Rivers.

Hennessey blamed the necessity for such regulations on exploitation.

"Even in recent years, thousands of fish have found their way to the garbage can," he said. "Put there by the selfish angler who kept more than he could eat."

Hearings tonight

TWIN FALLS — Four public hearings are scheduled tonight before the Twin Falls City Planning and Zoning Commission.

The hearings set for 8 p.m. in the City Hall Council Chambers, are on these requests:

— For recommended zoning on annexation of two tracts of land near Lois Street in the South Park area, one the site contemplated for KEPP Radio Station and the other owned by the LDS Church.

— A request by NAN, Inc., for side yard variances on three properties in Kingsgate Subdivision.

— On a request by James K. Lash for rezoning from industrial to commercial general an irregularly shaped tract of land north of the intersection of Shoshone Street and South Park Avenue.

— An application for a variance for side and rear yard setback requirements at 768 Madrona St. N., sought by Charles G. and Katherine J. Gordon.

Nursing awards given

TWIN FALLS — Six awards were presented during the white honors ceremony for the first class of graduates of the College of Southern Idaho Department of Nursing Saturday evening.

Recipients and their awards were Sally Towle, Jerome, Dr. James L. Taylor Scholastic Achievement Award; Sharon Jones, Jerome, Sister Martina Award from St. Benedict's Hospital; Margaret Bailey, Twin Falls, Twin Falls Clinic Award; Rose O'Connor, Eden, self-advancement award, from the Nursing faculty.

Patricia Rodman, Twin Falls, Lucile Pimentel Award, from the district International Nurses Association; and Phyllis Anderson, Rupert, the Irene Oliver Award, from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Don Stephenson, professor of psychology at CSI, addressed the assembly prior to the presentation of honors. Judith Roberts, nursing department chairman, delivered the challenge to the graduates. Nursing faculty members presented the graduates with their pins, and the students repeated a pledge written by Gigi Erdota.

Dr. Ben Katz, Twin Falls, delivered the welcome; Elena Aldritt offered the invocation and Donal Puder, professor of psychology at CSI, gave the benediction. A vocal solo was sung by Edwin G. Kratzberg, son of one of the graduates. The student response to the speaker was given by Rhonda Rambo.

We guarantee our service work for 90 days or 4000 miles, whichever comes first.

We at Theisen Motors guarantee our service work, for 90 days or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first. If repair or replacement fails in normal service within that period, we'll fix your car free. Including parts and labor.

The man who personally did the work on your Lincoln or Mercury signs a card to thank you. It also asks you to tell his boss how he did. An extra incentive for him. An extra assurance for you.

4 students attend confab

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho sent four Reader's Theatre performers to the Interpreter's Theatre Alliance held at Utah State University May 10-12.

Those attending were Tricia Elledge and Larry Kimball, Twin Falls; Robert Haynes, Hanson, and Patrick Cunningham, Rupert.

Under the direction of speech and drama professor, Fran Tanner, president of ITA this year, the group presented a 30 minute show, "Hyacinths For Thy Soul." The program is a compilation of prose and poetry affirming the idea of goodness.

The Interpreter's Theatre Alliance is an organization composed of college and university faculty and students who enjoy Reader's Theatre.

The group meets annually in a workshop where schools present short programs which are critiqued by outstanding directors in the field.

No ranking or trophies are given. A sharing of ideas and enthusiasm towards the art form is promoted rather than competition among schools. The College of Southern Idaho hosted the workshop last year attended by 33 different schools.

Mrs. Tanner explained that "Reader's Theatre is an exciting art. Participants learn versatility of voice and expression as they work with all types of literature—prose, poetry, essays and plays. Material that cannot be staged in regular theatre often lends itself well to Reader's Theatre."

This is the Reader's Theatre production for the school year which included the "Firebugs," "Charlotte Web," "Portrait of a Cog," "George Washington," and "Loves Ladder."

Jerome play given

JEROME — The Jerome High School drama club concluded its performances of "The Mouse That Roared," Friday night.

This was the first production put on by the drama class in which royalties had to be paid to the publisher.

Mrs. Kathleen Chapman, high school drama teacher, said the play made about $200, compared to the $80 paid in royalties.

Members of the drama class constructed a three-quarter round stage which was placed in the middle of the gym floor.

yes no

We at Theisen Motors want to continue serving our customers after the sale and therefore offer Free oil changes with every new Lincoln or Mercury bought for as long as you own it.

5. If there's a problem, do you have someone to turn to?

yes no

Bill Roemer will take care of most problems right here at Theisen Motors, and if you still have a problem either you or Mr. Roemer will call the Customer Service Division, office 1-800-648-4848. He'll describe your problem and then Ford Motor Company's Customer Service Division will contact you and straighten things out.

3. Does he ask you to grade his service?

yes no

At Theisen Motors we give you a service report card attached to the service bill. It's your way to grade the work done on your car. And it's our way to find out what we're doing right and what needs to be improved. So far, 95% of the cards we've received say they're either "satisfied" or "very satisfied" with the work. Not perfect. But not bad.

The goal: No unhappy owners.

Theisen Motors is committed to this goal. And by the way, what has your dealer done for you lately?

If you bought your new car from Theisen Motors then you have no worries, but if you didn't then it's really something to think about.

We listen better. And we'd like to prove it to you.

Two Solutions

Idaho Falls Post-Register Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy has made a significant point on the state's endowment lands which has largely eluded press and public.

involved Senate Bill 1163, made declarations by reason of the estimation of $15 million as the reasonable market value.

The confusion has been that the state, assumedly, has been locked into straining the highest use of the state or endowment lands to pump more money into the schools without proper regard of these same lands for broader public purposes.

But Lt. Gov. Murphy not only underscores the potential for "buying" for any demonstrable public purpose in the endowment lands, he zeroes in on the basic weakness of the State Land Board's operation.

Over the years, political pressures for this individual or that has been exerted unfortunately. The present board and the one under the preceding administration may have been the best but all boards have been subject to some strange intrusions at times.

At one time, this newspaper and many another thought that the best solution was merely changing the Constitution to permit more flexible judgment on the use and application of state lands.

While the press and public are aware that the Idaho Constitution insists that funds for endowment lands (referred to as state lands commonly) be strictly applied to schools, and prescribed institutions, it has been largely forgotten that there is a mechanism to utilize state lands for other purposes in the public interest.

The lieutenant governor, steeped in land study experience in his public career, went on to explain: "As you know, the Legislature has charged me with the responsibility of selecting endowment grounds which were 'in lieu of lands' owned by the federal government to the State of Idaho since statehood.

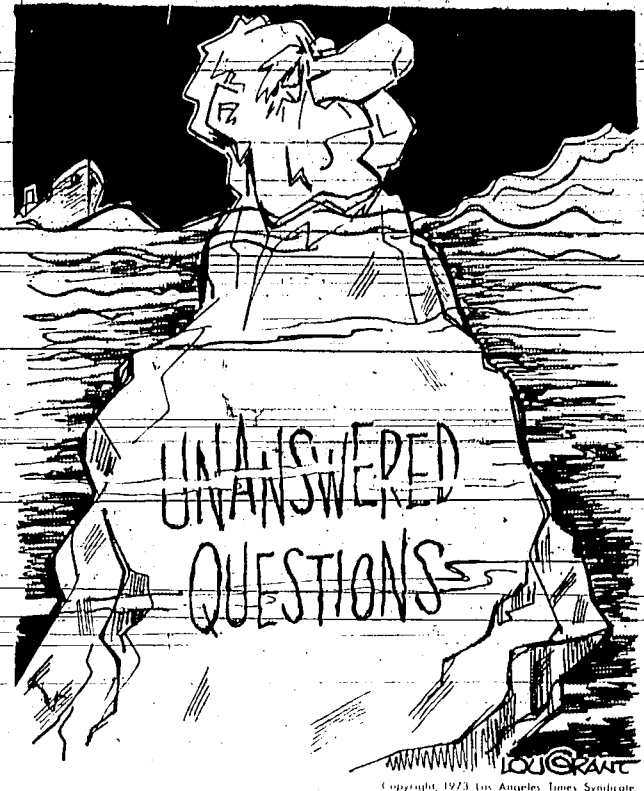

"Admittedly, these grounds are expensive, but on the other hand, the duty of the selections committee is to acquire for our common schools the highest and best use of lands available for selection.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Neither the low tones of Watergate nor the high tones from President Nixon on the decentralizing "new federalism" seem likely to halt the flow of power to Washington — with perhaps still more for the White House that is already thought to have too much.

Leaks To Press

WASHINGTON The reason why the Watergate case has broken open is that everyone involved is leaking to the press to save their own skins.

I work in a building on Pennsylvania Avenue which also includes the offices of the Boston Globe, Newsweek magazine, the Dallas Times Herald, the Kansas City Star and the Chicago Tribune.

The other morning when I arrived there was a long line outside the building composed of people implicated in the Watergate affair.

A policeman stopped me at the door and said, "Get in the back of the line, Mack, like everybody else."

"I'm not a suspect in the Watergate case, Officer. I'm a newspaperman going up to my office."

"Some people in the line heard me and tried to shove documents at me."

"Let's have none of that," the cop said to the crowd. "You can show him your documents, when you get inside."

One man, a former White House aide, shouted, "I can tell you the whole story on the Ellsberg break-in!"

Another man said, "He doesn't know anything. I've got Ellsberg's psychiatrist's couch hidden in my home."

Someone down the line said, "Don't listen to him; I have a blackbuster of a story. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy wrote Clifford Irving's book about Howard Hughes."

Someone else yelled, "I have the names of everyone who contributed a million dollars to the Committee for the Re-Election of the President. Give me a break. I've been waiting since 6 o'clock last night to leak it."

"I'm sorry," I said to the man, "but I don't write that kind of story. Why don't you leak it to Jack Anderson?"

"You can't get near his office," the man said. "I waited two days to leak it to him and I never got closer than a block away."

The police officer said to me, "I wish you wouldn't stand out here, sir. These people are desperate and I don't want a riot."

The offer was tempting, but I gave the man his money back. I said, "It would be unfair to the other suspects in line. I'm sure you'll all get in to leak your stories."

"That's what they told me at The Washington Post. But when I got up to the head of the line they said they didn't need any more on the Watergate bugging. They had enough leaks on that."

"I can't understand why all you people are so desperate to talk to the press," I said to several of the people, all former White House aides.

"You stumpy" one of them shouted. "If we implicate others then we can get immunity from prosecution."

PAUL HARVEY

The Cadillac

Milton Berle said it last: "Whether you're rich or poor, it's nice to have money."

Our Department of Agriculture is receiving an increasing number of complaints that poor people are using food stamps to buy steak.

There are now 12.5 million Americans receiving food stamps. July 1, they are due to get an additional $4 worth of food stamps a week because food prices have gone up.

If those food stamps are used for buying the most expensive items, that many buyers piling another $2 billion on the inflation fire — 2 percent of our nation's total food bill — inevitably would contribute to the further upward pressure on food prices.

After which they'll seek and get more stamps. Hopefully the misusers of food stamps are few, but they do bring into focus an unprecedented paradox: "The welfare Cadillac."

Beginning July 1, food stamps worth $16 each month can be purchased for $10 by a poor family of four, provided the family income is low enough.

Thus grocers are seeing more and more Americans getting fat on tax-free welfare. Nor is it just the poor who want to live it up; we all do.

Average family income in the United States last year was $11,200 — that's a 9 per cent increase in one year or 81 per cent more than 1965. Taxation and inflation considered, that still allows for a comparatively fancy lifestyle.

GEORGE C. HOSTESON, M.D.

The X-Ray

Dear Dr. Hosteson: Can you set my mind at ease regarding X-rays? I work in a hospital and must have a yearly X-ray — a "flat chest plate."

A little knowledge may be a dangerous thing in my case, since I know barely enough about X-rays to make me scared stiff of a yearly X-ray. I also resent having to have X-rays for dental purposes.

Today I had my yearly X-ray and the technician goofed and it had to be repeated. Two in one day really upsets me. Will this have any long-range effects? — T. M.

Well, of course, X-ray exposure shouldn't be given without good reason. But one chest X-ray a year, or even an extra one now and then, certainly isn't "overdoing it."

Maybe this will settle your worrying mind a bit. While it takes a bit of time to get you placed properly for a chest plate, and although the technician automatically tells you when to hold still, the time of the actual exposure to the rays is roughly equivalent to the time it requires to take a picture with an ordinary camera. Specifically, it's about 1/30 of a second.

Now let's put it another way. X-ray exposure is measured in roentgens (after Wilhelm Roentgen, who discovered X-ray). For fine distinctions of small amounts, this is converted to milliroentgens, or thousandths of a roentgen. The government has suggested 180 milliroentgens per year as a reasonable tolerance for an individual. A chest X-ray measures about 8 milliroentgens, so even if you had 20 of them a year, you would still be within safe limits.

A dental film would require a bit more exposure than a chest X-ray, but small compared to the 180 milliroentgens.

So on the basis of that you have no need to be alarmed even with the extra plate that you had.

Bed-wetting is a distressing problem. If your child has the habit, write to Dr. Hosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of his helpful booklet, "Enuresis: Ten Ways To Stop Bed-Wetting." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Hosteson is delighted to receive letters from his readers, but he regrets that because of the great number received daily he cannot answer them individually. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

American are crying aloud

Close watch

Prisoners see Skylab

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Prisoners of war who were denied a chance to watch America's Apollo flights to the moon had front-row seats today for the launch of America's first manned space station.

The three Skylab astronauts, who will ride a rocket Tuesday to catch up with their orbiting laboratory, personally invited 600 former POWs to the double-barreled blastoff.

Only 34 responded, but that was not the fault of the townspeople, who offered the POWs their homes and apartments in case they couldn't find motel rooms. Some even volunteered to feed them, take them on cruises and babysit their children.

Kings and queens, Hollywood stars and the nation's presidents once watched space launches from bleachers in the marches at Cape Kennedy, but the top name on the VIP list for this shot—not counting the POWs—was Abdalla bin Hussain al-Amur, president of the consultative assembly of the Yemen Arab Republic.

Police were getting to handle a crowd of 500,000, but traffic was relatively light along the miles of Brevard County beaches on the eve of the launch.

About 1,000 newsmen were here to cover the first Skylab blastoff, less than half as many as were on hand when the target was the moon. A total of 1,717 had applied for credentials, as compared with 3,497 here for the first moon mission.

But even if the 1,000 should write only a couple of pages each, it would fill a volume the size of War and Peace.

At NASA's press headquarters, which has moved across the street from an adult book store and topless shoeshine parlor, a contractor was giving away motel-size bars of unscented "hypo-allergenic" soap, the kind the three astronauts will use on their 28 days in close contact.

Election reform planned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Following a relaxed Mother's Day weekend at his Camp David, Md., mountain retreat, President Nixon was back at the White House today, reportedly putting the final touches on a major proposal to clean up election practices.

White House sources said Nixon will ask Congress this week to set up a bipartisan commission to recommend new laws aimed at averting future Watergate scandals. The sources said the commission would be comprised of 16 to 20 members and would aim both at recommending new laws for reforming campaign practices and seek voluntary agreements to insure fair campaigning.

Two Republican congressional leaders—Sen. Bill Brock of Tennessee and Rep. John Anderson of Illinois—said Sunday they were "delighted" with the President's reported proposal. In a televised interview on CBS' "Face the Nation,"

Brock, chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, said it is time "to face the fact that the present (campaign) law is unworkable."

Anderson, chairman of the House Republican Conference, also expressed his support, but said he would continue to press for congressional approval of his own election reform bill introduced in the House last week.

Seale concludes mayor campaign

OAKLAND, CALIF. (UPI) — The "new" Bobby Seale, the Black Panther turned Democrat, and incumbent John Reading today concluded their campaigns for mayor of this city of 362,000 on San Francisco Bay.

Reading, 55, who missed election to a third term last month by only 115 votes, worried about overconfidence. Seale, 36, hoped his arduous campaigning and well-organized volunteers would produce a major upset.

The voters of Oakland, where minorities make up 51 per cent of the population, will go to the polls Tuesday in the runoff election for the $7,500 a year, part-time mayor's job.

Seale, who shed his militant image and his Panther leather jacket last fall to woo middle class voters in mid business suits, finished second in the April 17 election with 20 per cent of the votes in an eight-man field. Reading garnered 40.0 per cent.

"I don't think I'll have any problem," said Reading. "I think people are sufficiently concerned about the future of this city to come out and vote for me. But if everybody thinks I have the election in the bag and decides not to vote, then I could be in serious trouble."

"It's not true," responded Seale. "He hasn't nearly won this race. Information compiled by precinct workers shows some 65,000 people, mostly minorities, stayed away from the voters booth during the primary. If they all go, this time I can—I will—win the race."

Rogers outlines Mexico proposal

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers obtained approval Sunday for a plan to ease one of the main points of ill feeling between Mexico and the United States, he did not indicate it.

The issue is the amount of salt in the Colorado river waters.

Rogers said that he outlined a series of proposals that could permanently and "justly" resolve the problem when he conferred with President Luis Echeverria. But he did not indicate Echeverria responded during a farewell round of talks that lasted 1 1/2 hours.

The subject was one of several raised in the first official talks of Rogers' swing through eight Latin American countries.

The issue stems from a 1944 agreement that guaranteed Mexico about 1.5 million acre-feet of Colorado river water a year. But an Arizona construction project in 1962 turned the water so salty that it ruined the land of many cotton farms in northwestern Mexico.

Skylab schedule

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Here is the schedule for the first day of flight of the Skylab space station (all times EDT and subject to change):

1:30 p.m. — Skylab is launched while its astronauts watch from the ground.

1:40 p.m. — Skylab reaches a 269-mile high orbit.

1:46 p.m. — Skylab's solar telescope assembly swings into position.

1:55 p.m. — The observatory's four solar panels unfold.

2:11 p.m. — Skylab's main wing-like solar panels deploy.

3:06 p.m. — An aluminum meteoroid shield springs into place.

TUESDAY

1:05 a.m. — Skylab's atlock module is pressurized.

2:45 a.m. — Spaceport launch area is cleared for start of fueling for the flight of the first Skylab astronauts.

1:00 p.m. — Skylab's astronauts are launched in a modified Apollo.

Venus weather cycles 4 days

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Astronomers at Cal Tech said Sunday that Venus has a weather cycle lasting four days in which cloud layers rise and fall nearly a mile in an "accordion-like movement."

The astronomers have been taking infrared photographs of Venus from a mountaintop observatory south of here.

Dr. Louise Young said the team found that carbon-dioxide levels on the mysterious planet fluctuate by as much as 20 per cent, creating rhythmic cloud movement during a four-day cycle.

"We seem to be observing a fundamental feature of Venus' (weather) dynamics that are not explained by current theories of atmospheric circulation," the scientists said.

The astronomers said previous ultraviolet observations of the planet by other scientists indicated a similar cycle, but said the new study shows for the first time the role played by carbon dioxide.

But the scientists said their new discovery points up a mystery in that they could not find the huge amount of energy necessary to move the clouds.

News woman says Nixon remiss

COLLEGE CORNER, Ohio (UPI) — Veteran UPI White House correspondent Helen Thomas says President Nixon "would have been saved the dilemma of having to persuade the world that he was duped" if he had held more news conferences.

Miss Thomas, addressing the spring meeting of the Ohio UPI Editors Association, noted that President Harry S. Truman held 324 news conferences during his eight years in office, while Nixon has held 30 in four years.

"Had he held more news conferences, he would have been saved the dilemma of having to persuade the world that he was duped," Miss Thomas said. "Now the questions are going to be much tougher. The warning signs are up."

Chairman says news too full of scandal

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas, Republican party chairman at the time of the Watergate break-in, says the news media are paying too much attention to the scandal, particularly to rumors of President Nixon's involvement in the coverup.

"I think there's been an undue amount of space, attention, given to every little rumor, every little thing that somehow has involved the President," he told a weekend news conference.

Dole would not mention the Watergate by name, but said he has some ideas on how Nixon could build up his credibility after the scandal.

Big victory reported by Cambodians

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian authorities announced today a "major victory" by government forces battling Communists for nearly eight weeks in and near Takeo, a besieged provincial capital 55 miles south of Phnom Penh.

Heavy fighting and intensive U.S. bombing were reported in other parts of the country, the only Indochina country with no formal cease-fire agreement.

Spokesmen for the Cambodian high military command said Cambodian troops killed 62 Communist troops Sunday in fighting 1 1/2 miles southwest of Takeo. Their own losses, the spokesman said, were two dead and two wounded.

American warplanes flew heavy raids in support of government forces, military sources said, and destroyed a Communist command post nine miles west of Takeo.

Spokesmen also said government troops captured sizable quantities of Communist ammunition, including 49 cases of machine gun bullets, two cases of AK47 rifle ammunition, 17 rounds of 60mm mortar ammo and 27 hand grenades.

Heavy fighting was reported today around Kampot, 93 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, and U.S. A7 Corsair jets were ordered into the area.

More American warplanes went into action along Highway 7 today on protective flights guarding two road convoys totaling nearly 600 trucks and trailers that set out from the port of Kompong Som with supplies for Phnom Penh.

No action along the convoy route was reported.

Meanwhile, military sources said air coordinators directing the U.S. bombing of Cambodia received orders Sunday from 7th Air Force headquarters at Nakhon Phanom air base in Thailand to switch to secret frequencies to prevent ground monitoring.

Until the switch, newsmen could tune in and listen to details of the American bombing and strafing runs.

The order came so suddenly, the sources said, Cambodian military headquarters told their American counterparts they did not have the sophisticated equipment necessary to handle the top-secret transmissions.

Washington (UPI) — A Treasury Department official voluntarily went on "administrative leave" Sunday following a published report he offered a Watergate conspirator executive clemency in return for silence.

A Treasury spokesman said John J. Caulfield, 44, asked for the leave on his own initiative and it was granted "through normal channels."

He is at least the 14th government official to step aside after being publicly linked to the Watergate scandal.

The Los Angeles Times reported earlier Sunday that Caulfield, a former White House aide, held two secret meetings last January with James W. McCord Jr., who was then on trial for conspiracy, burglary and bugging in the Watergate case.

The Times, citing "a source involved in the matter," said Caulfield "repeatedly told McCord at these meetings ... that McCord could expect executive clemency in 10 or 11 months if he remained silent at the trial and accepted imprisonment."

The newspaper said the meetings took place by prearrangement in the woods along the George Washington Memorial Parkway across the Potomac River from Washington.

McCord later was convicted in connection with the June 17, 1972, bugging of Democratic national headquarters at the Watergate.

Caulfield is a 15-year veteran of the New York City Police Department. He spent three years on the White House staff, as an aide to presidential assistant John D. Ehrlichman and later to White House counsel John W. Dean III, working on law enforcement policy.

Caulfield moved to the Treasury Department a year ago—after the alleged meetings with McCord.

'Rock' guides

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Former inmates of the old federal prison on Alcatraz may be among the guides when the "rock" in San Francisco Bay is opened to the public for tours.

William Whelan, superintendent of the new Golden Gate National Recreation Area which includes Alcatraz, said Saturday that several former prisoners have already applied for jobs as guides and their applications will be "seriously considered."

A final decision on what to do with the former prison island is at least five years in the future, Whelan said, but in the meantime the public will be admitted, for tours beginning in the late fall or early winter.

Opinions detract

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., says talk of possible impeachment of President Nixon only detracts from the Senate's investigation of the Watergate scandal.

"I think that we need to get to the bottom of this matter," Mondale told reporters before a weekend Democratic fund-raising banquet. "That is what the Ervin committee is doing and will do very responsibly. I think that talk of impeachment simply detracts from a responsible investigation."

The Senate's special Watergate committee, headed by Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., is scheduled to open televised hearings Thursday.

Chairman faces questions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — G. Bradford Cook, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, faces Senate questioning today about whether he bowed to Republican pressures in the performance of his duties.

The New York grand jury that indicted former Attorney General John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans on charges of perjury, conspiring to obstruct justice and to defraud the United States made the accusation against Cook, but did not indict him.

It alleged that Cook, while general counsel of the SEC before President Nixon elevated him to chairman last winter, bowed to Stans' persuasion and dropped reference in a SEC lawsuit to a secret $250,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's reelection campaign.

The contribution allegedly came from Robert L. Vesco, who is one of 42 defendants correcting the transcript and last Wednesday, the day before the New York indictments were handed down, returned the corrected version to Proxmire.

His new answer said he had talked to Stans about the Vesco matter several times—both before and after the complaint was filed.

The New York panel charged he had done more.

It said Stans "would and did cause Cook to delete all specific references to the $250,000 in cash..."

Canyon rim preservation appears unlikely now

Duffy is not alone in calling for the development of a rim parkway of "greenbelt."

The Twin Falls City Preliminary General Plan also proposed a rim greenbelt. The plan, prepared in 1967, in connection with the Urban Renewal Project under which the downtown mall was built, called for a narrow parkway along the canyon rim from the Perrine Bridge as far west as Rock Creek and then along Rock Creek canyon itself.

The plan also called for a tree-lined entryway along Blue Lakes Boulevard south of Pole Line Road and retention of agricultural zoning for lands between Pole Line Road and the canyon rim.

However, according to City Manager Jean Milar, even though the plan was formally adopted by the City Council, it has had little effect over lands north of Pole Line Road which are out of the city limits and under county jurisdiction.

Other supporters of a rim greenbelt include some Twin Falls members of the League of Women Voters, who as a group are currently studying the complex question of land use planning.

Recently, League representatives asked the Twin Falls County commissioners to consider the possibility of establishing a greenbelt.

Another is Frank Pofhanka, a native of Czechoslovakia who immigrated to the U.S. and now teaches ornamental horticulture at the College of Southern Idaho.

He too would also like to see a park established along the canyon rim.

"We should be planning about 100 years ahead when Twin Falls will have about 100,000 people," Pofhanka says. "Twin Falls and Twin Falls County should create a park since we do have a beautiful canyon here."

Pofhanka would like to see a park from Pole Line Road north to the rim extending from Blue Lakes to Washington Street North. As he envisions it, the park would be heavily planted with trees, perhaps Norway Maples, which he said give "wonderful shade."

Along the canyon rim itself would be a wide promenade with "plenty of benches," for enjoying the view. Restaurants, and dance platforms would provide visitors with sustenance and entertainment. The wall of the canyon itself would be landscaped in some places "with the creation of beautiful waterfalls."

At the southern boundary of Pofhanka's projected park there would be a boulevard "just as wide as the Champs d'Elysees in Paris," lined with shade trees and with adequate spaces for off-street parking. The center of the boulevard would contain a wide green median strip also planted with trees and with room for a wide walkway.

Such a greenbelt would provide a "first class tourist attraction which would be preserved not only for the next 100 but the next 1,000 years," Pofhanka says.

He admits land costs would be the first hurdle in the establishment of a park on the rim. He says federal, state, city, county and private funds would have to be sought.

"If they put houses in, only a few people will be able to enjoy this beautiful canyon view," Pofhanka says.

"It would be ridiculous and barbaric to build condominiums, cabins and gas stations at the canyon rim."

City Manager Jean Milar does not agree. He says he favors low-level residential development on both the Snake River Canyon rim and the Rock Creek Canyon rim. He is skeptical of such plans as Pofhanka's.

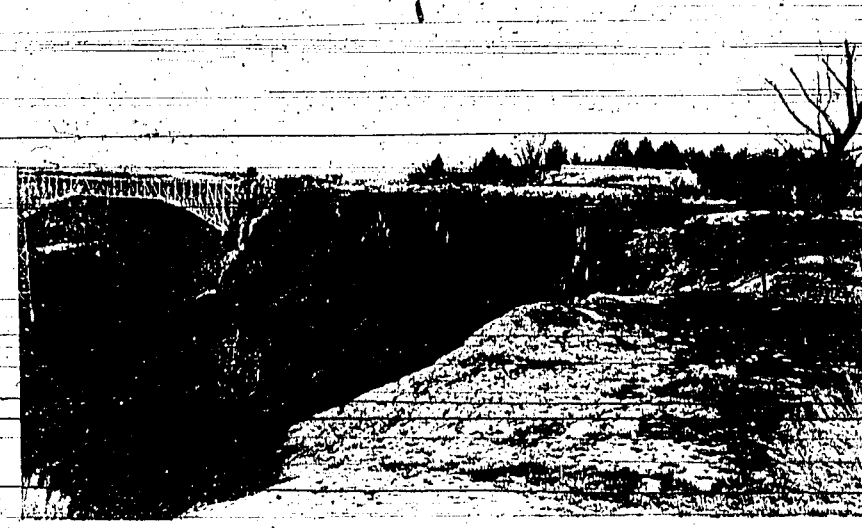

"All these plans and beautiful daydreams — you can concoct in five seconds more than the public will pay for in five years," Milar says.

The only value of the rim lands is the view. They are "damn poor" agricultural land, he says.

Milar suggests that public land on the north rim in Jerome County, instead, be allocated to parks.

"And what's wrong with a residential area over there," he adds. "It's better than the loss of choice agricultural land to residential development on this side."

The preservation of a segment of tree-lined entryway along Blue Lakes Boulevard North also strikes Milar as of the county commissioners. A developer could also request a zoning variance or apply for permission to construct under a "conditional use" provision.

South rim west of Perrine Span — greenbelt or development?

With this sort of breadth in county laws, much of the responsibility for developments rests with the developers themselves.

"I don't think rezoning for aesthetic values is possible legally," Woods says. "Woods believes zoning the rimlands for a park would reduce property values drastically. This, Woods says, would be ruled as 'illegal seizure' of a man's property in the courts.

The key to zoning is that land must be zoned for "reasonable use" by the property owner, he says.

"People are just not in the mood to support public facilities," says Woods, indicating that it would be difficult to convince taxpayers to pay high prices for a rimland park. "If we're going to do something, we've just about got to get a plot where private enterprise isn't going to compete with us."

"How about attacking the north side of the canyon rim where there is still room to do something?" Woods asks. "We can put down grass or do whatever we want over there."

John Rosholt, chairman of the Twin Falls Planning and Zoning Commission, also says a greenbelt along the canyon rim is unlikely unless public funds became available to buy the land.

"I think it's got to be admitted that the outstanding geological formation or feature is the canyon.

"It's the one thing, basically, that we have to work with from one end of the county to the other... I think it's a unique canyon. I think it's a beautiful thing. "I feel very sensitive about the canyon, but I get to the point that I can't go all the way toward total greenbelt."

"When it comes right down to it, what can you do on the canyon rim that you can't do any place else in the county? It seems to me that you can look down in the canyon. That's the one thing we're talking about."

"From the standpoint of recreation, from the standpoint of fishing, birding, rockhunting... you can do it better in the canyon than you can on the rim of the canyon."

"I think that some of the canyon area should certainly be preserved, at least, on the south side of the rim — in open areas and spaces that are available for people to come and picnic and enjoy the scenery. I think when it comes right down to the recreational use, or the people use, that you can do just as well with a nice park somewhere else."

Rosholt said to zone lands for recreational use, at least without the benefit of a comprehensive zoning and development plan, would infringe upon private ownership rights and would probably be interpreted by the courts as a "taking."

"I think, based on Idaho law at least, there are very few occasions where zoning regulations have been upheld by the Idaho courts. In fact, I think on all but three occasions a land owner who has sought a change in use was granted that change of use."

A good example, said Rosholt, was the case of a Twin Falls landowner who sought and was granted a variance to build a service station on Blue Lakes Boulevard across from Washington School.

"They were the first ones to break that to go commercial, which, in fact, opened the first door on Blue Lakes, because the rest of the businesses on Blue Lakes at that point in time predicted the zoning ordinance.

"If we're going to remove (lands from development) and plan for the utopia of the world," said Rosholt, "we'd better be prepared to bring along some dollars, just because of the property ownership privileges and the constitutional protections of the property owner."

Dale Reidesel, engineer for

J-U-B, Inc. and a member of the city zoning commission, says he would like to see a rim greenbelt, but he said the land should be purchased by the public, not made the responsibility of developers.

"To me, if the city would make the investment and purchase the land, or purchase the right to be there, then 10 to 20 years from now we'd have a beautiful scenic park that could be developed all the way along there. The trouble is now, that takes tax money. People are just fed up with taxes."

Reidesel is now working on provisional plans for a 25-acre rim subdivision for a client whose name he declines to divulge.

He says in spite of public interest in the rim because of its scenic potential, development "has to be allowed."

He said the city or county designated for public use rather than make it a requirement of the developer to set aside land for the public.

"The public is just not informed, nor are they willing enough to become informed to the total situation—that 10 or 15 years from now that canyon is going to be fully developed. There's not going to be any access there, no public view, no public parks."

"It's going to be purely private, the whole thing," he says.

Next: Growing Pains

"The public is just not informed... 10 or 15 years from now that canyon is going to be fully developed. There's not going to be any access there, no public view, no public parks." —Dale Reidesel, TE engineer.

US bombing in Vietnam since January 'mistake'

SAIGON (UPI) — If American jets have bombed inside South Vietnam since the Jan. 28 cease-fire, it was "clearly by mistake," an informed source said Saturday.

And it is difficult to believe that such mistakes could have been made on such a widespread scale as the Communists are charging.

The source said American jets have indeed been bombing along Cambodia's border with South Vietnam, "but on the Cambodian side."

While the border in much of the areas concerned—80 miles north and 75 miles northwest of Saigon—is ill-defined double canopy jungle forest, and hills, American planes were operating along it years before Cambodia entered the war in 1970, and with minimal straying across the frontier.

The Viet Cong claim is open to question for other reasons.

Col. Duong Dinh Thao, a deputy chief of the Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG-Viet Cong) delegation, said bombing was done by U.S. F4 Phantom and F105 Thunderchief fighter-bombers.

B-52s normally bomb from altitudes beyond the line of sight of the naked eye. The prolonged rumble of a B-52 strike is distinctive and resembles no dive bombing ever done by fighter bombers.

Thao also said the B-52s flew over South Vietnam and released their bombs while en route to Cambodia. This would indicate that the planes involved came from Guam rather than Thailand, where most of the B-52s employed in the bombing of Cambodia are based.

Identification of the F105 Thunderchiefs as being involved in the bombing is highly improbable since all of the fewer than two dozen F105s remaining in the Southeast Asian inventory are "Wild Weasel" electronic counter-measures planes, used for the past five years almost exclusively for bomber escort.

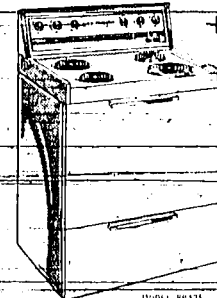

If American fighter-bombers did make strikes into Tay Ninh and Binh Long provinces this month, it is more likely they were A7 Corsair attack bombers or swing-wing F111 fighter bombers, both of which somewhat resemble the silhouette of an F105.

But one informed source said any such bombing would have to be a mistake, for if the U.S. deliberately violated the ceasefire it would be to hit far more important targets, such as the new Communist SAM2 missile sites near the old U.S. Marine base at Rhe Sanh and in the A Shau Valley along the Laos border.

One expert on Communist affairs suggested that Thao's charge probably was linked with Dr. Henry A. Kissinger's forthcoming meeting in Paris with Le Duc Tho next Thursday.

"Both sides are busy preparing full bills of particulars of alleged cease-fire violations for that meeting," he said.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: He the letter in your column from a gal who met a guy when she accidentally got a wrong number on the phone. On their first date, he asked her to go to a motel with him. She refused. On their next date, however, he repeated the invitation, and she went. After that the guy lost interest in her so she wrote to you for advice.

You said: "Next time, hold something back." That attitude toward men by women is exactly why men regard most women as prostitutes. And mothers teaching their daughters to be dishonest by "holding something back" has resulted in marriages based on deceit and dubious dealings.

A woman can be a terrific mother, housekeeper, and companion, but if she's lousy in bed then dad will always have an itch that needs scratching. Likewise, a man can be a terrific father, provider, and companion, but if he's lousy in bed, mom will always have an itch that needs scratching.

MRS. LOUISE KOONTZ, left, outgoing president of the Twin Falls Toastmistress Club, passes the gavel to Mrs. Marjorie Ann Kramer, new president. Veronica Detweiler is incoming first vice president.

Sex not deceitful

When women and men start facing this reality and dealing with it, there will be fewer broken homes, nervous breakdowns, and letters to Dear Abby.

If you have the guts to print this letter, I have the guts to let you use my name.

TIMOTHY J. BOWEN, COLUMBUS, OHIO

DEAR TIMOTHY: Why is a girl who "holds something back" promoting a marriage "based on deceit and dubious dealings"? What is "deceitful" about refusing premarital sex?

"Sins, a man or woman can be "lousy in bed" but otherwise terrific. What if either is "terrific" in bed but lousy otherwise? While sexual compatibility is important in marriage, there are other reasons why marriages fail. Moreover, I don't agree that most men regard women as prostitutes.

DEAR ABBY: To the woman whose husband refused to shave at night altho his rough beard irritated his wife's sensitive face when he became affectionate: A friend of mine solved that problem by writing the following poem, and placing it on her husband's pillow.

I can go without hats
I can go without shoes, and whiskers may force me to go without youse.

(P. S. It worked.) PHAIRIE VILLAGE, KAS.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to "Mother" to "dig into the sugar bowl" and help her married daughter when "Dad" refused (because son-in-law was always short on the essentials, but gave 10 per cent to the church) prompts this letter.

May I suggest that "Mother" wait until she's asked for help? My own married children feel free to ask me to "butt out."

Parents can help their married children too much. If they confine their gifts to small surprises now and then and perhaps a more generous gift at Christmas, they will be giving their children more than gifts. They will give them strength and courage to face reversals, or unexpected crises, should they arise.

"I was only trying to help," said thru tears of bewilderment when things don't work out as the parent had hoped, is a sad excuse for the chaos created over a longer period or making children dependent.

SADDER AND WISER

(Also HAPPIER since I caught on early enough!)

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Jim: "The basic principle of defensive discarding is that a high card indicates strength and a low card weakness, but there is a most important corollary here. This is that when showing strength with one of equals you should always play the highest."

Oswald: "West opened the jack-of-hearts and continued after South ducked."

South won and played clubs. East held off until he was able to take dummy's queen with his ace. Then East cashed his last two hearts. South discarded the eight and four of spades and West dropped the 10-spot.

A Lovelier You IS IT NATURAL OR ORGANIC?

By Mary Sue Miller

A Lovely writes: The words natural and organic are used these days to describe all sorts of cosmetics. What's the difference between natural and organic? Is there a difference?

"The Answer" As presently used, the words sometimes seem interchangeable. Even by organic buffs and pros who should know better. Let's see if straightforward definitions lead to understanding.

Webster defines the term natural as "in accordance with what is found in nature." In other words, not man-made. The word organic has two definitions. To a chemist it means "relating to carbon compounds." The biologist thinks of it as "containing matter of plant or animal origin."

Now how do the meanings apply to our cosmetics and toiletries? Let's take dusting powder as one example. This preparation consists mainly of talc which exists in nature and thus is considered natural. A second example is skin cleanser formulated with Irish moss and beeswax, a combination found in nature and organic life. Truly a natural.

Lastly, according to chemists, most modern shampoos are organic-synthetic — owing to the inclusion of carbon compounds not found in nature. All cosmetics carry a preservative without which they would be subject to contamination from many sources, even the user. Effective preservatives are synthetic.

Completely natural vs. partially synthetic... Could be a choice.

Horse show set for Shoshone

ROCKY HAGEN
...elected

SHOSHONE — An open horse show will be held at the Shoshone rodeo grounds June 3. Mrs. Charlie Errington, committee member, said. The show will feature 20 events in Western and English classes for adults and two classes for young people, including those 13 and under and a 13-17 age bracket. The show is sponsored by a group of Lincoln and Gooding County horsemen. Mrs. Errington said. The program is designed for fun with classes for everyone to enter and there are no breed or qualification restrictions. She said "the group hopes to perpetuate our rich western heritage with a touch of the Old West in the cow-working stock horse class."

Students elect at Shoshone

SHOSHONE — Student body officers for Shoshone High School have been elected for the 1973-74 terms. They are Jan Coffman, president; Don Setser, vice-president; Linda Webb, secretary; J. D. Bowlin, treasurer; Mark Anderson, assistant treasurer; Jeff Pate, Annual editor; Steve Kelley, assistant Annual editor; Rhonda Blackburn, Tattler editor, and Lara Kidner, assistant Tattler editor.

Summer schedule announced for Y

TWIN FALLS — Summer program schedules for the YMCA in Twin Falls were announced by Charles Upton, executive director. He said a highlight of summer activities will be the camping sessions for various age groups. Two sessions of day camp and one session of resident camp are planned. Upton said the resident camping session will be for boys and girls 6 through 14 years of age. It will be held Aug. 5 through 12 in the Lutheran Heights Bible Camp near Alturas Lake. Day camping opportunities will be featured in two sessions for boys and girls 6 through 11 years of age to begin on June 11 and continue over a five-day period. The day camping period will run from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and feature a number of activities and entertainment. Summer classes at the Y will include badminton, table tennis, archery, arts and crafts and a new sport, floor tennis. June classes begin June 11 and 12 for badminton, and table tennis. On July 8 classes begin in archery, arts and crafts and floor tennis. Upton said any boy or girl interested in one of these classes should call the YMCA, 733-4384 for a summer bulletin. Upton said arrangements have been made for youngsters wishing to earn part of their camp expenses to sell YMCA peanuts.

Valley students elect

VALLEY SCHOOLS — Rocky Hagen will lead the Valley High School as student body president for the coming 1973-74 school year. The announcement was made by the current student body president, Ken Bailey, following student elections at the school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Hagen, Hazelton. Randy Christopherson is the newly elected vice president, and Cheryl Griffiths is secretary-treasurer.

Queen contest slated

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County Sheriff's Mounted Posse will sponsor a queen contest later this month. The event will be held at the Twin Falls county fairgrounds at Filer. The winner will compete in the Miss Rodeo Idaho contest to be held in conjunction with the Twin Falls county fair this fall. She also will represent the posse at several other shows and riding events during the summer. She must be at least 18 years of age, not over 24 by Sept. 1, be single and never been married. Contestants will be judged on horsemanship, personal appearance and general knowledge. Entry forms are available from Neil Turner at Macy's Boots in Twin Falls.

USSR urges Arabs to 'keep cool'

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union, deeply worried about a major flareup in the Middle East, is quietly urging Arab leaders to "cool it," diplomatic sources said Saturday.

The Kremlin is passing the word that the Soviets would slip out of direct involvement if it came to a major confrontation in the area, the sources said.

Behind the move lies Moscow's fear that any new war in the Middle East at this stage would all but undo the Kremlin's efforts in Europe and the rapprochement with the United States.

A well-informed diplomat put the Soviet thinking in these terms: "If the Middle East exploded into a major conflict this would kill the projected European Security Conference and halt the hoped-for cooperation with the United States."

Soviet Union finds its position in the Middle East considerably weakened and its influence among Arabs notably reduced.

Shoshone students plan play

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone High School drama department will present the play "Harvey" at the school recreation rooms Wednesday and Thursday.

Gene Harris, teacher-instructor, said the play will be at 7 p.m. each night.

Main characters include Sandy Dewey, Val Urrutia, Homer Owens and Chair Thorne with a large supporting cast.

The public is invited. Tickets will be sold at the door.

The Soviet attitude was said to have been made clear in Cairo, Damascus and Baghdad. Moscow's East European allies have been briefed to the effect that every effort must be made to keep trouble out and smoothe the atmosphere for the forthcoming rounds of important international negotiations.

The Soviets want the European Security Conference in June or July in Helsinki to consolidate their position in Europe and are planning a special summit between party Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev and President Nixon in Washington late next month.

Capacity crowd turns out to hear 'Carpenters'

By JOLLEY SNYDER and BART QUESNELL.
TWIN FALLS — Sunday night a capacity Magic Valley audience crowded into the CSI gymnasium to listen to the unique sound of Karen and Richard Carpenter.

A small group of Twin Falls fifth and sixth graders made up a choral group to help the Carpenters with "Sing," one of their big success songs. After the show the youngsters went back stage to get autographs from the Carpenters and happily listen to the song that the Carpenters had taped for them of their performance.

The audience gave the eight piece group a standing ovation in the middle and end of their performance.

The Carpenters have bridged the generation music gap with a combination of what they call the "A B's": The Beatles, The Beach Boys, The Bee Gees and Burt Bacharach. The mellow sound of Carpenter albums is created by vocal overdubbing as much as eight times.

According to Richard Carpenter, "We've been going-going-going. If we're not performing, we're recording. If we're not recording, we're rehearsing. Six hours of sleep has gotten to be a luxury. Being able to sit down for a relaxed dinner is a dream." Richard became interested in music as a boy. His father's extensive music collection included Dixieland Jazz, the Big Bands, Les Paul and Mary Ford, Red Nichols, Spike Jones, Liberace and also classical and show music.

Richard remembers, "I was listening to those records every waking moment."

At age 12 he began playing the piano and at 16 was studying classical piano at Yale. He also faked his age as 20 to play in local jazz clubs.

Karen started drumming and singing at an early age and at 16 was playing in a band.

Brother and sister teamed with several other people and sang as "The Carpenter Trio" and "Spectrum" before becoming "The Carpenters."

They got their first big break when Herb Alpert heard a tape which was recorded in a garage of a friend of theirs. It was a multi-track recording with their voices blended into four, six and eight parts.

Since then the Carpenters have toured Europe, Australia and the Orient where they played for record-breaking audiences and received recording awards. In addition, they had a summer NBC-TV series, "Make Your Own Kind of Music."

They also recently visited President Nixon at the White House where he personally thanked them for the $80,000 they donated to the American Cancer Society.

"We'd just like to continue as performers and entertainers — to last, to stay," Richard said. "I imagine I'd like to produce someone else's album some day — when the right thing comes along."

For Karen, the future holds possibilities of singing and acting in musicals.

"I've always loved Broadway-type musicals," she said, "like 'Camelot,' 'Finian's Rainbow,' and 'The King and I.' I'd like to do something like that eventually."

"We just want to keep doing what we're doing," Karen said. "Right now we're really into our own music, improving it, developing it, but continuing to do what we've been doing."

She admits that several people consider her a women's libber because she plays drums.

"I never really got into women's lib," she explained. "I'm 23 and I've achieved success in a profession that means more to me than anything — music — and I lead a strenuous life, but none of this takes away from my being a woman and none of it was hampered by being a woman. I don't feel oppressed."

"The drive," she continued, "comes from within the individual."

The Carpenters have a ritual of huddling for a pep talk before performances.

"It all started when we were playing at a school gym like this one," Richard said. "We just fell into a huddle just like sports players do and since then it's been a ritual with us."

After the huddle, the Carpenters with Randy Edelman as their show started presented the two hour concert.

They signed autographs backstage after the show and prepared to catch the next plane for Los Angeles.

When asked what she thought of Magic Valley's clean air, etc., Karen said, "It's okay, but nothing would make me ever leave L. A."

Area inquiry on shooting continues

SHOSHONE — Investigation is continuing today into the apparent accidental shooting of a 42-year-old Shoshone man.

Sheriff B. J. Anderson said Rex Gallimore, Shoshone-city sanitation engineer, is in the Gooding Memorial Hospital listed in critical condition. He was struck in the stomach by an apparently accidental discharge of a pistol.

Gallimore and his step-brother, Edward Hicks, were in front of the Hicks residence in the northwest section of the city at the time of the incident at 6 p.m. Sunday. They were preparing to take a truckload of tree limbs and trash to the city dump and were planning on doing some practice shooting in that area.

Hicks told the sheriff the gun accidentally discharged while he was loading it.

The wives and children of both men were at the Hicks residence at the time.

Gallimore was rushed to the Gooding Memorial Hospital by Hicks.

Barbers elect

TWIN FALLS (UPI) — Zella Tomlinson, Boise, has been named president of the Idaho State Barber Association at its annual convention in Twin Falls and Larry Anderson, Twin Falls, has been chosen Barber of the Year.

Leon Cappel, Pocatello, was named first vice president of the group. Don Shepherd, Boise, was chosen second vice president, Anderson third vice president, and Glen Heward, Nampa, secretary-treasurer.

Wendell meet set

WENDELL — The Wendell School Board will meet Wednesday in the school administration office at Wendell High school at 8 p.m. There will be no board meeting tonight according to Supt. Lawrence LaRue.

Buhl man cited

BOISE — Robert E. Bailey, editor of the Buhl Herald will receive one of two first citation awards from the Idaho Chapter of the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security.

Martin L. Peterson, executive director of the Idaho Human Resource Development Commission will receive the other citation award. Both awards will be presented during the state chapter's annual convention May 18-19 at Idaho Falls.

Bailey was nominated for his efforts in behalf of the Idaho Department of Employment for establishing and maintaining a satellite public employment office operated at Buhl from November, 1970 through September, 1972.

Water date set

News tips
733-0931

HOLLISTER — The Salmon River Canal Co. has set May 15 as the delivery date of its irrigation water to farmers.

Morris Huffman, general manager of the canal company, said the date was decided on by the board of directors at a meeting May 10.

Huffman said water will be started from the Salmon Falls dam on the 14th, but the water won't reach the farmers until the 15th. He said farmers will receive their full allotment of water per share.

Last year, Huffman said, the water was delivered by the 1st of May. He said a mining operation on the canal held up the delivery date this spring, but he didn't think farmers would be hurt much by the late delivery.

"There are some farmers who would have used the water had it been available," he said, "but they're taking it pretty well in stride. We could probably have used the water around the 10th if it had been available."

TF boat recovered

GANNETT — A 12-foot aluminum boat reported stolen from a Twin Falls business May 7, was recovered Saturday near Gannett.

According to a Blaine County sheriff's deputy, Craig Baldwin, Gannett, telephoned the sheriff's department Saturday evening to report finding a boat on his ranch, about one-half mile south of Gannett.

The deputy said the boat was valued at about $350 and had been stolen from the Bud and Mark, Twin Falls.

TF trustee election set

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls school patrons in zone one will elect a new trustee Tuesday.

Frank DeLuca, a laboratory technician and former school board member, and Kenneth Hodge, a Twin Falls businessman, are candidates for the three-year term.

John Wolfe, current school board chairman and trustee from the district, is not seeking re-election.

DeLuca has served five years on the board. The New York native supports kindergartens but thinks they will have to be funded by the state. He said the toll classes could be funded locally if some local programs are paid for by the state.

Replacement of Washington Elementary School is high on DeLuca's priority list because of heavy traffic at the Five Points intersection. He also places special importance on vocational training.

Hodge, a graduate of Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H., operates his own custom garden service.

He also favors kindergartens because the toll classes "got children going earlier." He believes children are capable of learning at a much earlier age than most adults realize.

Washington school "is not a good place for kids," according to Hodge. He cited traffic hazards around the school and on Second Avenue East and North.

Hodge worked for the Twin Falls Employment Service prior to starting his own business.

Polls for the trustee election will be open from noon to 8 p.m. Tuesday at Bickel and Lincoln schools. Only zone one residents may vote.

Petitions set

BELLEVUE — Petitions will be filed in Blaine County Magistrate Court on two Bellevue juveniles after an apparent attempted break in at the Silver Dollar Bar and Cafe early Sunday.

According to City Marshal Duane Dudley, the incident occurred about 4 a.m. Sunday morning while personnel were cleaning up the business.

It involved a 16 and a 13-year old boy, he said.

Dudley said business owner, Boyd Jones, found the 16-year-old boy in the attic portion of the building. The 13-year-old boy was found in bushes outside of the facility, Dudley said.

Both youths have been released to parental custody.

Search continues

LEWISTON (UPI) — Nez Perce County Sheriff's patrol boats continued to search the Snake River south of here Sunday for Ed Williams, 44, Meridian, who disappeared April 23 after a boating accident.

The body of Williams' cousin, Jack Bowman, 44, was found Saturday about 31 miles south of Lewiston.

Bowman had been missing nearly three weeks when the boat he was piloting capsized and sank in the Imnaha Rapids 50 miles south of here.

Papers scrutiny okayed

The Washington Post said today the late J. Edgar Hoover's temporary successor at the FBI, L. Patrick Gray, was told several weeks after the Watergate burglary that there appeared to be an administration cover-up of the extent of the affair.

The Post quoted reliable sources as saying Gray declined to follow a suggestion by subordinates that he advise Nixon of the alleged cover-up on grounds he felt it would be improper and appear that he was seeking presidential guidance in the FBI investigation of the plot.

Gray resigned April 27 as acting FBI director after disclosure that he destroyed some papers given him by White House aides that were later reported to have been taken from the office of one of the Watergate conspirators, E. Howard Hunt.

Gray was said by friends to have had no knowledge until recently of the source of the papers or that they might have been

"The community college can be a useful device to knowing oneself," Beamis said.

He continued, "Most of us employ devices for running away from ourselves. By middle life most of us are fugitives to ourselves. This is because many of us have never had an opportunity to find the world within."

He feels the College of Southern Idaho, like the other small community colleges across the nation is there to give the individual the chance to probe for answers to man's awareness.

"We need habits of the mind that promote objectivity, creativity and change," he said. "We find it hard to be tolerant to those who say something against our strongest habits."

"The truly original and independent thinker is not an outlaw but a law maker. The answers he seeks can bring order out of chaos."

He concluded that, "The successful college leader welcomes the future and the changes the future will bring."

CSI president Dr. James Taylor said of the graduating class, "We were tremendously pleased, because all the students indicated a sincere interest in learning."

He also complimented the 29 graduates of the new registered nurse program at the college. They were the first to complete the two-year program.

Weiskopf wins Colonial by outlasting Crampton

PORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Tom Weiskopf, whose final round charge had seemingly wilted under pressure, won the Colonial National Invitational by a stroke Sunday as that pressure instead crushed Bruce Crampton on the final hole.

Crampton, who had led the tournament since the opening hole of the opening day and who was going after his fourth triumph of the year, came to the last hole with a one stroke lead, but played it like a duffer to suffer a double bogey and surrender the $30,000 first prize to Weiskopf.

Weiskopf fired a one-under-par 69 over the always difficult par 70 Colonial Country Club course for a winning 72-hole score of 270.

Crampton shot a 73 — ending a stretch of 10 straight rounds of par golf or better — to finish in a tie with Jerry Heard for second at 277. Crampton and Heard each won $13,875.

Lee Elder was the only other golfer to finish below par, shooting a 71 Sunday to wind up at 278 — good for $7,650.

For Crampton, it was an unfortunate repeat of the 1962 Colonial in which he dumped his approach shot on the final hole into a lake, which now bears his name, to lose the tournament.

"The tour's leading money winner started the day three strokes ahead of Weiskopf and quickly opened that margin to four, but for the second straight day fell victim to Colonial's brutal back nine.

Crampton bogeyed both the 11th and 12th holes, while Weiskopf was birdying the 13th, and suddenly the tournament was tied.

Crampton seemed to steady himself, however, by saving pars on the 13th and 14th holes with pressure putts of eight and 15 feet and moved into the lead when Weiskopf began to stumble.

Weiskopf, who won his first tournament since last year's Jackie Gleason event, bogeyed the 15th when he hit a trap, regained a share of the lead at the 16th by rolling in a 20 footer from the fringe and fell out of the lead again on the 17th when he was the victim of another bunker.

When Weiskopf failed to make his birdie on the final hole, Crampton was faced with making a par to become the first player on the tour this year to win four tournaments.

But Crampton hooked his tee shot badly on the 18th, putting it behind a stand of trees. From there he tried to play it safe and put the ball back in the fairway, but his shot scurried through the fairway and into an area covered with weeds and gravel.

Still more than 200 yards from the green, Crampton left his third shot in the green-side trap from where he blasted poorly and took two putts.

Crampton said he broke his sand wedge when trying to hit his second shot and had to hit his trap shot with a pitching wedge.

"I would like to have had the proper equipment to have gone with that shot," he said.

Weiskopf said he felt a little funny standing at the 18th watching Crampton.

"I would feel like a hypocrite if I said 'I didn't want to win,'" he said, "but you have to play all 72 holes. It's a funny situation to be in."

APPEARING-DISAPPOINTED as she loses the second set of the challenge match is Margaret Court, former Wimbledon champion (l) to Bobby Riggs (r), the 65-year-old former American champion who leaps over the net after winning easily, 6-2 and 6-1. The match point in the best-of-three set match came on a serve by Riggs that Mrs. Court could not handle. (UPI Telephoto).

Yankees hold press conference

NEW YORK (UPI) — George M. Steinbrenner, general partner of the New York Yankees, Sunday called a "clear the air" press conference to clarify the functions of former Yankees' president Mike Burke, who has had less and less active participation in the club under its new ownership.

Steinbrenner and Burke, along with other Yankee officials Gabe Paul and Lee MacPhail, met with the press in Burke's office prior to Sunday's doubleheader with the Baltimore Orioles and it was resolved that the mod, longhaired former Yankee President in the CBS regime will now devote most of his time as an advisor on the multi-million dollar Yankee Stadium rebuilding project.

"I am glad that Mike and I have resolved all differences," Steinbrenner announced. "He (Burke) will serve the team as an active consultant. Meanwhile Gabe Paul will serve as club president, dealing with the everyday business of the club while Lee MacPhail will handle the baseball operation as general manager."

Guess who is the winner?

Bobby Riggs defeats Margaret Court easily

RAMONA, Calif. (UPI) — Bobby Riggs, using lobs and placements to force continuous errors, spoiled Mother's Day for Margaret Court by coasting to a 6-2, 6-1 victory Sunday in their so-called "tennis battle of the sexes."

The match proved no contest as the 55-year-old Riggs forced his opponent into lengthy volleys, his type of game, and then astounded the fans by scoring two straight service aces in the fifth game of the second set to also demonstrate power.

The match point came on a serve by Riggs that Mrs. Court couldn't return.

Riggs proved his claim that women's tennis is not in the same class with men's and also picked up $20,000, plus whatever side bets he had. Mrs. Court took $10,000 as a consolation prize.

Riggs threatened to make the match a mockery at the start by "rooling off" three straight games without being forced to deuce. Once, he even tried a lob serve but Mrs. Court smashed it past him and he gave that up.

The 30-year-old Mrs. Court, called the top women tennis player in the world, made it 3-1 by putting in her first serve and rushing the net, but Riggs quickly adjusted and forced her to play his game before a national television audience (CBS).

His placements and lobs kept the more powerful Mrs. Court away from the net and eventually forced her into errors as she tried to keep her volleys low and near the lines.

There were no aces in the first set, indicating the emphasis on placement rather than power. Mrs. Court doublefaulted twice and Riggs once.

Riggs presented Mrs. Court with a bouquet of roses before the match and suggested she might take it easy on him, but the outcome never appeared in doubt for the male firepower.

The match arranged to prove men's superiority over women, caused one fan to remark "this shows Bobby Riggs is the best women's tennis player in the world."

In the first set, Mrs. Court broke Riggs' service once while he broke hers three times. Only one set went to deuce. In the second set, Riggs won his service every time and broke Mrs. Court all but once.

Riggs declined to credit himself with a superior game and said the net and unfamiliar concrete court hurt Mrs. Court.

"She's the mother of one and I'm the mother of five," he added. "Maybe the bouquet I gave her before the match caused her to take it easy on me."

"She made some exceptional shots and could beat me on any given day."

He offered a rematch, saying, "I'd like to tour the world and play all the women."

Mrs. Court said she lost her rhythm and confidence early.

"A lot of girls don't hit it that slow," she declared of Riggs' chop shots.

"I missed a lot of easy shots. I don't usually miss. I guess I'll take him on again — any day."

Smith beats Ashe for tennis title

DALLAS (UPI) — Stan Smith overcame a brief mental lapse and sloppy play in the third set to defeat Arthur Ashe in the $100,000 World Championship Tennis tournament Sunday to earn the title of the world's best tennis player.

Smith, alternating power and precision before 3,357 fans including celebrities Sidney Pottier, Charlton Heston, Nancy Wilson and James Franciscus, won the match, 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

With the title, Smith earned $50,000, the largest prize in pro tennis, and he earned it on the same court where, in 1969, he won his first professional tournament, the Dallas Invitational.

Smith controlled the tempo of the first two sets and won them easily, but he fell victim to a less concentration and several mistakes in the third set.

Ashe battled Smith on even terms in the fourth and final set, but Smith finally won on the set's only service break in the 10th and last game. But it took two disputed calls to do it.

The first came on an Ashe serve and Smith appealed to a judge to rule that it was wide to the right. The judge said he did not see the shot and finally the line judge on Ashe's side of the net ruled that Ashe had faulted. Ashe then missed the second serve for the double fault.

The second disputed call came in the middle of a volley when Smith faced toward the net and lunged his 6-4 frame to reach a ball that had barely cleared the net.

Smith's victory which took only a little more than two hours and which came before a packed pro-Ashe Moody Coliseum crowd, gave him a total of $154,100 in money winnings for the year. In the process, he became the first American since the Tony Trabert-Pancho Gonzalez era of the mid-1950s to reign as king of the tennis world.

Smith teamed with Bob Lutz last week to win the Rothmans World Championship last Sunday in Montreal and won $20,000 for the WCT doubles victory. Sunday's win gave him a total of $70,000 in two weeks and two world titles.

Ashe, who defeated two-time defending ACP champion Ken Rosewall in the semifinals, won $20,000 for second place, and totalled $63,150 for the year in money winnings.

Smith, who defeated John Alexander and Rod Laver to get to the finals, said he was sorry the match had to end "on a sour note."

"As I ran to the net, I felt that I got to the ball," Smith said, referring to the disputed call in the last game. "I guess the TV will be able to tell if I did or not. I only hope that I did."

Rosewall, the only other player to win a WCT championship, defeated Laver Saturday for third place and won $10,000. Laver won $6,000 for fourth.

Rankin wins Lady-Carling

TOWSON, Md. (UPI) — Judy Rankin fired an even par 73 to win the $30,000 Lady-Carling Open Sunday by four strokes over runnerup Sandra Haynie.

Mrs. Rankin, who won the Raleigh Classic last week, posted rounds of 75, 67, and 73 for a winning 215 total.

Miss Haynie finished with three 73's for a 219 finish.

Mrs. Rankin, of Midland, Tex., is one of the youngest players ever to join the LPGA tour. She began in 1962 at the age of 17.

Rankin wins Lady-Carling

The 30-year-old Mrs. Court, called the top women tennis player in the world, made it 3-1 by putting in her first serve and rushing the net, but Riggs quickly adjusted and forced her to play his game before a national television audience (CBS).

His placements and lobs kept the more powerful Mrs. Court

Mrs. King tops Nancy Gunter

TOKYO, May 13 (UPI) — Billie Jean King was superior Sunday in the aerial moments and defeated Nancy Richey Gunter 7-6, 5-7, 6-3 to win the $3,000 Toray Silhook professional women's tennis tournament.

Favored Mrs. King, 29, had to fight hard and often was forced to come from behind to beat Mrs. Gunter, 30, in the final of the first women's professional tennis tournament ever held in Japan.

Sixteen well known competitors from the United States, Franco, Holland, Australia started play last Wednesday and played separately in Tokyo, Osaka, Ekuuoka, Shizuoka and Kobe before the semi-finals Saturday in Tokyo.

Mrs. King and Mrs. Gunter thrilled a crowd of 5,000 at the Nihon University Auditorium with their brilliant performance and hard fighting spirit.

Mrs. King resorted to her aggressive tactics with a strong service and powerful ground strokes, but Mrs. Gunter played a fine defensive game. And occasionally she came through with brilliant cross court placements to receive a big hand from the spectators.

But it was Mrs. King's deceptive drop shots which paved the way for easy placements at the net and earned her the victory. On the other hand, Mrs. Gunter's lobs well back to the base line forced Mrs. King to hit out from time to time.

Mrs. King and Mrs. Gunter battled for two hours and they obviously were tired in the third set.

Mrs. King broke Mrs. Gunter's service in the first game of the first set and led 5-3. But Mrs. Gunter held her service in the ninth game and made it 5-4 by breaking service.

SLEEPING GENERATORS

PRODUCE NO ELECTRICITY

So we try to keep 'em humming with electric heat

The big generators and extensive transmission facilities required to meet summer demands for electricity to operate irrigation pumps and air conditioners represent a huge investment. Keeping them productive the year around is one way of paying interest to the shareholders who provided the money to build them. Load balancing also helps maintain electric rates as low as is reasonably possible.

In the interest of building winter electric load we concentrate much of our advertising on the many benefits of clean electric heat. In the process we are helping many of our customers enjoy new comfort and convenience. With Idaho Power's Gold Medallion Insulation standards as a guide, it's also wise use of energy.

Thinking about electric heat for your home? A call to Idaho Power will bring information and planning assistance.

Red Sox topple Cleveland 8-3

BOSTON (UPI)—Tommy Harper unloaded his first major league grand slam homer in the sixth inning Sunday as the Boston Red Sox spotted Cleveland a 3-0 lead and then ripped the Indians, 8-3.

Harper's drive to left center field came off Steve Mingers, the third Cleveland pitcher in the inning, to cap a five-run outburst.

Ron Santo was the batting hero for the Cubs in the second game with four straight hits. Jose Cardenal batted in three runs, two with his fourth homer of the year while Rick Monday rapped his eighth of the year.

Orioles split with Yankees

NEW YORK (UPI)—Larry Brown's two-run homer capped a four run fifth inning to boost the Baltimore Orioles to a 9-6 victory over New York and a split of their doubleheader Sunday after the Yankees slugged four homers to win the opener, 4-0.

The Orioles, the weakest hitting team in the majors, were trailing 6-2 when a single by Earl Williams, a single by Don Baylor and two infield outs produced two runs in the fifth.

Brown then followed with his first homer in two years, hitting a pitch by loser Andy McDaniel just inside the left field foul pole.

Baltimore wrapped the game up with three more runs in the eighth on a single by Brown, doubles by Mark Belanger and Merv Rettenmund, and an infield out and a sacrifice fly by Davis.

Jerry Ruth is race champion

BOISE — Jerry Ruth dominated action between Funny cars and AA fuel attenders Sunday by winning all three rounds of racing in Firebird Raceway's second major race of the season.

Ruth also set a new Funny car track record turning 221.94 miles per hour in 6.83 seconds.

Top Magic Valley racers included Dave Austin, Twin Falls, and Harold Turvey, Jerome. Austin gained the semi-finals in the Mint bracket traveling 109.6 miles per hour in 12.56 seconds.

Aaron homers twice as Braves split with S.D.

ATLANTA (UPI)—Hank Aaron's 68th career home run, his second of the day, sparked the Atlanta Braves to a 6-2 victory over San Diego in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday after the Padres won the opener, 3-1.

Aaron's homer, his 10th this year, came with one out in the third inning and put the Braves on top for keeps.

The 39-year-old slugger, now in his 20th major league season, hit homer No. 602 as a pinchhitter in the bottom of the ninth of the first game.

Jerry Morales drove in three runs with a two-run single and a sacrifice fly and John Grubb drove in a pair with a double and a sacrifice fly and had another double for the Padres in the first game.

Bill Grett went the route in the opener and gave up only four hits over the last 8-2-3 innings while picking up his third victory in five decisions.

The Braves got three quick hits off Grett in the first inning when Johnny Oates, singled home Ralph Gurr but the Padres jumped ahead in the third on sacrifice flies by Grubb and Nate Colbert, moved ahead 4-1 in the fifth on Morales' two-run single and led 6-2 in the seventh after Morales followed Grubb's run-scoring double with a sacrifice fly.

The Padres, who could have climbed out of the basement in the National League West if they could have swept the doubleheader.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, MAY 15, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you are pressured into producing some worthwhile results... First, get the goodwill and active assistance of important associates for your own judgment is not good at this time. Quietly gain the information you need.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Start thinking how to handle those important responsibilities you have. Avoid a friend who complains. Use your intuition in handling a romantic situation. The evening can be a happy one.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't go off on any tangent, but cooperate fully with an associate instead. It may be difficult to reconcile with one who opposes you, but a gentle manner will be helpful.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't waste time on a peculiar scheme but keep busy on important work you have to do. Don't quickly accept the views of others, but doublecheck with facts and figures. Keep calm.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you engage in recreations you enjoy, this can be a happy day for you, but be sure not to be too extravagant. Put your finest talents to work, but don't over-talk others.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) Put your efforts into improving the conditions at home and be tactful with everyone. Avoid an associate who is not acting right at this time. Eliminate tensions at home. Show wisdom.
VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Be cheerful in handling routine affairs. Put aside unimportant duties that are dull and can be done later. A perplexing letter can prove to be important and bring in benefits.
LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) The planets are favorable for monetary affairs so be sure to handle business matters early in the day. Postpone recreation to the evening. Show that you are a practical person.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Concentrate on making yourself more charming today. Don't engage in any arguments, especially at home. Use good judgment in an honest dispute with an associate. Take it easy tonight.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Solve problems of an intimate nature wisely by first consulting with an expert. Don't confide in others. Be better prepared for a trip you want to take. Learn to be thrifty.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Listening to what friends have to say will be better for you today than going to some expert. A new method employed now can help you achieve your personal goals. Think cleverly.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Engage in a civic affair of importance at which you are very adept. Forget personal recreations for the time being. You can easily make the future more profitable if you wish.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have fine ideas to put in operation which can help you to advance more quickly in the future. Don't fret over what cannot be helped. Get the approval of a higher-up. Think objectively.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those interesting-looking people with fine character and will tolerate little interference where gaining own aims are concerned. Give religious training early in life so that this strong personality will be focused on being of great benefit to the world at large. Discipline should be in the form of right guidance. Sports are good here.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Three out of every four men who buy boats buy more boats. That word "inolen" used to mean nothing more than "unusual". Costs a little less than a penny to make a dollar bill. Report is that Grand Canyon goes an inch deeper each year. More things have been bought with shells than with any other money.

Supermarket managers in West Germany's Stuttgart charge a shoplifter the equivalent of about $6 before they turn said thief over to the lawmen. Money goes to pay the salaries of the store detectives. On the most practical theory that such costs ought not be passed along to the customers. Interesting notion.

Did I mention a turtle lays eggs at the rate of about five a minute?

LOVE AND WAR

Among 30-year-old men, it's the never-married bachelor who is most difficult to get into matrimonial harness. Or so says our Love and War man. He quotes statistician Edward A. Low as reporting the widower of that age is twice as easy to lead to the altar while the divorced fellow is four times as likely to go down the aisle.

Do chickens take naps? A No they rack up all the sleep they need in the long stretch every night. Cats take naps. Dogs, too. Likewise, cows, horses, sheep. Not chickens.

People of what country use the most drugs? I mean per capita? A Denmark.

What countries have hot lines with the U.S. now? A The Soviet Union, Great Britain, West Germany, France and Japan.

THE TRAINMAN

Anybody who owned a cart with flanged wheels could use the railroad lines in this country. Such was the case for about 20 years after the first of said tracks were laid out. As a consequence, some of those early trains crawled for hours behind slow teams. Got worse and worse, the landing between the wagon haulers and the trainmen. The cow catcher on the front of the steam engine originated as a weapon. So snipers found work. Most dangerous job of all for awhile there was locomotive engineer.

Exactly how many kinds of animals, besides Man, actually cry tears in sorrow remains uncertain, but Darwin insisted Indian elephants do so, too.

Reported that just about every other woman you pass on the street wants to lose weight. "I know that," says a feminine client. "But how many want to gain weight?" Oh, about one in every seven.

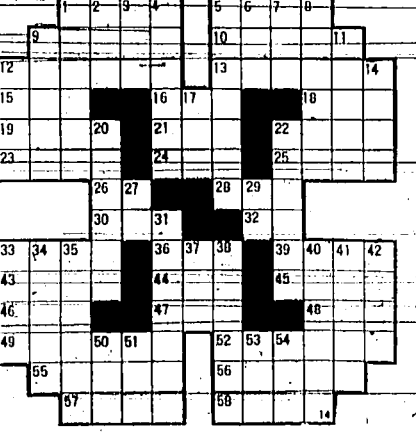

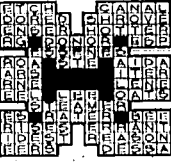

At the time and whereabouts of William Shakespeare, the eating of bacon was thought by classy folk to be a disgusting practice, popular to the savage past.
