Hailey plans 'advisory' vote on McCulloch annex

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — The Hailey City Council voted unanimously Tuesday to hold an "advisory election" on a proposed annexation of the marmoth McCulloch development.

The McCulloch Properties, Inc., proposal calls for annexation of a square-mile area residential and business development to the city.

The decision capped a three-hour-long public hearing Tuesday night, followed by 30 minutes of council deliberation.

After the meeting, acting city attorney Steven Clayton said he would draw up an ordinance calling for the election and that publication and an about 45 day waiting period would ensue before the election could be held.

Earlier in the meeting, Clayton said results of the election would not be binding on the Council.

Before deliberations, Mayor Lawrence Hengle said the council had three options: vote for or against annexation that night; hold an advisory election; or hold a referendum election, after July 1 when state statute permits such an election.

Last week, the Hailey Planning and Zoning Commission voted seven to one to recommend annexation and zoning of the about 650-acre McCulloch development site. The planning unit formulated 20 recommendations on the development which it had also sent to the council.

After Tuesday night's hearing, Robert P. McCulloch Jr., McCulloch president said, "McCulloch will work very hard to present its case to the people" prior to the election.

McCulloch said he felt the issue had been reduced to whether or not the development is wanted. He said he felt that questions had been answered about the type of provisions to be offered with the proposed McCulloch development.

However, McCulloch said he felt that the procedure of calling an election "can be carried too far" and said it would probably set a precedent, at least for the Wood River Valley.

"There are lots of other developments in the area. As subdivision continues are you going to declare an election on every one? It is quite a cumbersome process," McCulloch said.

During the hearing, four petitions, carrying a total of about 725 names were presented to the Council.

In a statement accompanying a 163-signature petition, Marty Martindale, Hailey, urged the council to examine all the facts in the matter and to arrive at a sound decision.

"Allegations without foundation have no place in a Democratic society," Martindale said.

"We reassure you that we have not lost any confidence in your ability," Martindale said. He said the petition signers would "honor and respect" any decision made by the council.

Another petition, signed by 210 students at the Wood River High School, was presented by Julie Brossy, Gannett.

Miss Brossy said the signers were opposed to annexation "without thorough study" of the impact of the proposed development on the environment, schools and taxes.

Two petitions were presented by Robert W. Ward, Hailey. The first, which Ward said carried about 200 signatures, called for the council to "immediately pass" a resolution against annexation of the proposed development site.

The second petition, bearing about 145 signatures, requested that the council adopt an initiative and referendum ordinance to allow citizens to vote on the annexation issue.

During the hearing, Jean Mizer Todhunter, representing Hailey Citizens for Orderly Development, gave four reasons why her group objected to annexation:

— The time involved since the proposed development was disclosed and dissemination of materials began "has been unfair."

— The only impact studies done on the development were carried out by associates of McCulloch. "The state has assured that they are willing and want to do impact studies," Mrs. Todhunter said.

— The issue involves "the lives, destiny and welfare of so many people" that a referendum election should be conducted.

— "We haven't heard of the advantages of the development to Hailey." All "we have is that the development won't do too much harm," Mrs. Todhunter said.

Nixon asks vote reform

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon asked Congress today to create a 17-member, bipartisan commission to recommend sweeping changes in the nation's election laws.

He suggested as subjects for consideration matters including whether the presidential period in office should be one six-year term, campaign financing, and "the whole range of improper campaign practices."

"There will be a temptation to attempt reforms piecemeal; this, I believe, would be a mistake," he said. "The reforms needed are sweeping rather than scattered, and each should be considered in relation to the others. We should think in terms of nothing less than a complete reexamination of our system of elections and campaign practices."

The President said the commission should consider "whether the Constitution should be amended to change the length of terms of office of members of the House, of the Senate or of the President."

Nixon said he personally advocates doubling the term in office of House members from two to four years. He noted some political scientists have suggested a single six-year term for the President. He did not specifically support that but voluntarily raised the matter in a meeting with congressmen Tuesday.

The President said he chose the commission route instead of proposing election reforms himself because he said the reform plan should "come not from one political party, not from one administration, not from one Congress, but from a bipartisan group of recognized experts."

Nixon submitted a draft resolution to Congress which would establish the 17-member commission including Democratic and Republican national chairmen, two Democrats and two Republicans each from the Senate and House, and seven members appointed by the President — not more than four from the same political party.

Indo policy clash fades

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A showdown between President Nixon and Congress over bombing in Cambodia was delayed today until early June to see how Henry A. Kissinger makes out in talks with North Vietnam's Le Duc Tho over cease-fire violations.

Senate Republican leaders insisted on their right to hold up action until a minority report is written to a $3.2 billion supplemental appropriations bill. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he had no choice under the rules but to accept the delay.

"It is felt that an opportunity should be given for the Kissinger-Tho talks to proceed so that the Senate action would not endanger those negotiations," GOP Leader Hugh Scott told reporters.

The supplemental bill, a result of Tuesday's 24-0 vote by the Senate Appropriations Committee, now contains language to cut off funds entirely for further military action in, over or from the shores of both Cambodia and Laos.

But in both houses, sentiment against the war has grown to such proportions that administration supporters were no longer even trying to fight the issue on its merits.

The House, ending its record of unwavering support for the President, voted last week against further funding for the Cambodia bombing.

And the Senate appropriations panel, which has given Nixon and his predecessor every cent they asked for the war in past years, unanimously voted Tuesday to cut him off without a dime for further military action in either Laos or Cambodia.

Senate Democratic Whip Robert C. Byrd said the vote indicated the Senate not only has a majority to end the war but to override a presidential veto.

Some of the Senate's most consistent supporters of Nixon's policies joined the antiwar camp.

"As far as I'm concerned, I want to get the hell out of there as quickly as possible and I don't want to fool around while they capture any more prisoners," said Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H.

Value of $$$ shows gains

LONDON (UPI) — Gold's price dropped and the dollar's value climbed today as some of the gold fever went out of European financial markets.

In London gold was fixed at $106.50 an ounce in the afternoon price-pegging session. This was $4.50 lower than the morning price, a dollar or two above the figure at which most trades were made, and about $8 lower than the price of most of Tuesday's sales.

The dollar firmed in late afternoon trading in London, Paris, Zurich, Frankfurt and other European trading centers. It went up by amounts valued in fractions of cents.

Markets all over Europe were calmer than Tuesday's frantic sessions. There was no repetition of the market pressures which in the first two days of this week buffeted the dollar to new lows but sent gold soaring to the highest price in history.

Dealers said wealthy investors from the Middle East were now switching from gold back to dollars, restoring strength to the American currency.

In London, the world's main free market for gold, the first of two daily official price settings put the precious metal at $111 an ounce. The price setting was up 50 cents from Tuesday's closing price, and was the highest fixed price in history.

At Moscow, Latah County Prosecutor Pete Larige filed three different complaints against Palouse Producers, Inc., charging violations of the act by dumping fertilizer into Paradise Creek near Moscow.

Nixon OK'd taps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon personally authorized FBI wiretaps on telephones of more than a dozen members of his National Security Council staff in 1969 in an effort to track down news leaks, the White House said today.

A presidential spokesman defended Nixon's action on grounds of "national security" one day after a top CIA official was said to have testified that three top White House aides tried to involve the Central Intelligence Agency in a coverup of the Watergate scandal.

The wiretaps apparently were installed following a published report about B52 bombers attacking targets inside Cambodia in 1969 and other reports relating to U.S.-Soviet talks on limiting strategic arms. The White House had been described at the time as concerned about leaks to newsmen of confidential material on both subjects.

"It was a national security matter," a White House spokesman said today of Presidential approval of the wiretaps, first reported by The New York Times.

The procedure was approved by the President and authorized in individual cases by the attorney general in coordination with the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the spokesman said.

Acting FBI Director William D. Ruckelshaus said Monday that records found in a safe in the office of former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman indicated taps had been placed on the telephones of 17 individuals, including four reporters.

"He said the taps were authorized after presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger had talked with J. Edgar Hoover, then FBI director."

The wiretaps first came to light last week at the Pentagon Papers trial in Los Angeles. It was disclosed that FBI agents had monitored a conversation by Daniel Ellsberg when he used a telephone at the Bethesda, Md. home of Morton Halperin, a member of the National Security Council staff at the time.

Halperin said today he was sure Kissinger, as head of the council, was aware of the wiretapping.

McClure ad sponsors erroneous

BOISE — A political advertisement that appeared during the 1972 senatorial election campaign did not accurately disclose the identities of the persons who paid for the ad, the Idaho Statesman reported today.

An article by Statesman staff reporter Ken Matthews, said the ad, which allegedly was sponsored by Concerned Agricultural Food Producers and Consumers in Treasure Valley was in fact paid for in part by men who told the Statesman they never belonged to the group.

The article further says the Treasure Valley group existed only to place the ad in the Boise-based paper.

The advertisement, nearly identical copies of which appeared in other Idaho papers under different sponsorship, discussed Democratic senatorial candidate Dr. William E. Davis' signature on a lettuce boycott pledge at the Idaho Democratic Convention in Sun Valley in early summer, 1972.

Election reforms sought by Nixon

The President outlined his plan in a two-page message to Congress and in a five-minute speech recorded for radio broadcast. Although he did not use the word Watergate in the text of either message, there was no question that the scandal had prompted the commission plan.

In his radio broadcast, Nixon said the commission "will be authorized to examine the cost and financing of campaigns, and look into the various ways in which the cost can be kept down and improper influence or influence-seeking through large campaign contributions can be ended."

"Other areas for inquiry would include the elimination from our election campaigns of violence and the threat of violence; of intimidation; of frauds in the casting and counting of ballots; of the throwing about of misleading or malicious charges; of sabotage and espionage and other infringements on the right of privacy; and of the whole range of improper campaign practices," he said.

The President outlined his plan Tuesday in a meeting with bipartisan leaders of the Senate and House.

He personally more than a little concerned that this commission will be another delaying tactic and whitewash effort," Strauss said in a speech Tuesday to a Democratic group.

He said campaign reform proposals have been considered by Congress for years. What is needed now, he suggested, is congressional action, not further study.

Nixon told congressional leaders that former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Lyndon B. Johnson had favored the idea of a single, six-year White House term.

Nixon also said House members have to campaign constantly since their terms are two years. He suggested a better idea might be four-year terms with half the House elected every two years.

Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott said Nixon would propose further controls on contributions, a September or October start for campaigns, limitations on spending campaign funds before a specified date, free radio and television time for office seekers and the creation of a federal elections commission to regulate campaigns.

Those ideas, and many similar ones, have been proposed in the past. The Senate, over strong White House opposition, has passed and sent to the House a bill permitting potential voters to register in federal elections by postcard.

Canoe sails circles

NEW TOPSAIL BEACH, N. C. (UPI) — After a little more than 24 hours at sea, most of it apparently spent sailing in circles and getting seasick, a man and woman have ended for the time being their effort to cross the Atlantic in a 16-foot canoe.

Mrs. Shirley Haycock, 40, of Helper, Utah, and Bob Geedy, 38, of Mantu, Utah, ran aground in their fiberglass canoe near here Tuesday evening, about 30 miles northeast of their starting point.

They declined to talk with reporters Tuesday night, but Knight said they told him they had problems with their rudder and outriggers that caused the canoe to sail in circles.

And Geedy, no relation to the Utah Geedy, said the two told his wife in a telephone call that they "got very seasick—that was the biggest problem."

Jerome aides hear revise proposal

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer
JEROME — Proposals for reorganization of the Idaho Association of Elected County Officials were presented to fourth district county commissioners meeting in Jerome Tuesday.
William Norberg, county commissioner from Canyon County and an association officer, said the reorganization proposal calls for one organization of county officials to encompass individual associations of county Treasurers, Auditors, Assessors, Sheriffs and Commissioners and Clerks with representatives from each serving in the over-all 45 members voting board of the parent organization.
To finance the association programs, including legislative advisors (formerly lobbyists), the association proposes $200 per year per county and a levy not more than one-tenth mill from each county, he said.

Norberg said prosecuting attorneys in Idaho have chosen not to affiliate with the other elected officials.
The proposal calls for a president and vice president who will be county commissioners plus the regional, chairman and legislative chairmen of the individual groups represented. With five associations within the over all organization there would be a limit of 45 members.
Weldon Beck, Cassia County, of the district organization said the proposal will be taken under consideration.
Most counties in the Fourth District, generally Magic Valley, now have membership in the Idaho Association of Commissioners and Clerks. It was indicated during the meeting, Lon Baldwin, Patrick, Camas County commissioner, said he favored leaving it this way.
In other business William Chaney, chairman of the district health board, said a meeting of the budget committee, consisting of chairman of each county commission, will meet May 23 at 10 a.m. in Twin Falls for a report on the new health district offices.

Chaney said Ivan Stone, architect, will meet with the budget committee prepared to present cost estimates and tentative design for the renovation.
John Clark, Cassia County, introduced a motion giving the budget committee the power to take action on the plans without returning to the general membership of the district commissioners for approval. The motion was approved.
Chaney said he believes the renovation can be accomplished for less than the $1 per capita the counties have earmarked for the project in the current budgets. Mental Health offices may be included in the new facility, the renovated American Legion Hall, which would mean additional state funds to help with the remodeling program.

FRANK DeLUCA elected

DeLuca tops trustee vote

TWIN FALLS — Former school board member, Frank DeLuca, was elected to the Twin Falls school board in Tuesday's trustee election.
He received 83 votes, defeating Kenneth Hodge, who polled 24 votes. Both men had made an unsuccessful bid for the post previously, but DeLuca has served five years on the board prior to his defeat by incumbent John Wolfe. Wolfe did not seek re-election.

With 107 total vote, the turnout was considered "medium," according to J. T. Anderson, business manager for the district.
At Bickel school DeLuca received 27 to 10 for Hodge, while voters at Lincoln gave DeLuca 63 and Hodge 14.
Election clerks said not one young person voted at Bickel, but there were a few younger couples casting ballots at Lincoln.

Graduation

GOODING — Gooding High School graduation will be at 8 p.m. Sunday in the High School gymnasium.
Baccalaureate and commencement services will be combined. Rev. Carl Wilde will be baccalaureate speaker and Dr. Gerald R. Wallace, dean of the school of education at Boise State College, will be commencement speaker. There will be 81 seniors graduated.

Hagerman ups credit number

HAGERMAN — The Hagerman school board raised the number of credits required for high school graduation from 34 to 40 during the monthly meeting Monday night.
The increase will be accomplished over a period of three years with a raise of two credits per year, according to Superintendent Kenneth Black, so as not to inflict hardship on next year's seniors.
State law requires the 34 credits for graduation but local districts may increase this and set higher standards if they wish.
A contract for $1,735 was awarded to Grant Stuart, Twin Falls, for painting gymnasium, dressing room areas. The board decided to continue the hot lunch program next year with no price raise.
The school district will sponsor the Red Cross swimming program, Black said.
Bids will be accepted on a welding gauge now owned by the district.
An industrial arts class model home project at Hagerman High school will be featured in the Idaho Industrial Arts Newsletter, the superintendent said.

Hailey okays ordinance

HAILEY — An amendment ordinance to require new subdivisions to install asphalt-oil mix roads prior to dedication was approved Monday night by the Hailey City Council.
In other action, the council approved a request to annex the about one acre Keith Bird property, located southwest of the city, into Hailey. The annexation request will be embodied in an ordinance and will be presented to the council.

Approved crediting $91 to the sewer account of Nels Sisman, China Gardens, to cover the about 14 months Sisman had made sewer payments but had not been connected to the sewer line because of an on-site break in the residence's sewer pipe.

The city employe and equipment costs for demolishing condemned buildings as $500 for the Song Bar and $310 for the Werry building. The bills will be submitted to the Blaine County clerk to be charged to the owners' personal property tax.

TF zoners ask 2 annexations

TWIN FALLS — City zoners have recommended annexation of two large parcels of land adjacent to the south city limits under residential-professional zoning.
The tracts are immediately east of Lois Street and north of Park Avenue.
They are owned by KEEP radio station and the LOS Church. KEEP plans to construct new studios and a transmitting tower on its land.
Jim Smith, a South Park resident, speaking Monday at the zoning hearing objected to construction of a radio tower because "several of us would lose radio reception." He said the large transmitter would interfere with ham radio operations in the area.
Charles Harland, chief engineer for Inland Radio, Inc. (parent company of KEEP), said there would be a "blanket area" of about six-tenths of a mile in which the KEEP transmitter might affect radio reception.
But he said Federal Communications Commission rules require that radio stations "take care" of such problems as they occur. He did not say how the problems could be corrected.

City zoner David Armstrong, who abstained in the commission's approval of the zoning, said more thought should be given to retaining the South Park area in an industrial zone.
He gained a concession when the zoners also recommended that the church and KEEP agree to future rezoning (to industrial) to meet a master zoning plan.
In other action, the zoning commission recommended rezoning from industrial to commercial-general a small parcel of land immediately north of the intersection of South Park Avenue and Shoshone Street.
Also recommended was a variance of side and rear yard setbacks for a home a 768 Madrona Street North. The owners, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gordon, plan an addition to the home.

2 women injured

TWIN FALLS — Two Kimberly women were injured in a two-car collision late Tuesday afternoon.
Police said cars driven by Mae Kirkman Herron, 63, Twin Falls, Route 3, and by Lou Ann Ruth Carpenter, 30, Kimberly, Route 2, collided at Eleventh Avenue East and Shoshone Street.

Mrs. Carpenter and a passenger in her car, Mary Haugge, also Kimberly, Route 2, were taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises.
Mrs. Carpenter was released following treatment. Mrs. Haugge was kept at the hospital overnight, then released.

Ticket sale set

TWIN FALLS — Boy Scouts of Troop 65 will sell tickets this week to a benefit double feature drive-in movie Tuesday.
Proceeds from the sale are part of a fund raising drive to send about 40 troop members with leaders to the National Boy Scout Jamboree at Farragut State Park in northern Idaho in August.

The double feature at the Motor Vu Drive In Theater will include "True Grit," starring John Wayne, and "The Scoutmaster," with Clinton Webb.

Rebekahs host tea

JEROME — Sringa Rebekah Lodge No. 110 members served their annual Mothers' Day tea following a brief meeting Monday evening.
Mrs. Maude Metcalf is a new transfer member from Eden.
Mrs. Glen Rolfe was nominated and elected district deputy president-elect.

Groups from the Donna Mauldin school of dance performed. Mrs. Carson Wong, Mrs. Duane Kuhn and Valerie Van Patten sang. Mrs. Leo McVey provided piano accompaniment. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Correll presented three vocal numbers with Correll providing guitar accompaniment.

The Foreign Shadow Of Watergate

WASHINGTON — A public attack on Greek exile leader Elina Demetrapoulos as an obscure Greek Communist journalist at the height of the presidential campaign last fall has now been linked to an anti-McGovern letter-writing campaign inspired by John B. Connally's Democrats-for-Nixon organization.

That "obscure Greek Communist journalist" could only be Demetrapoulos, a respected editor and writer in pre-1967 Greece who has been lobbying against Greek student in the U.S. in the Greek-American press — not at the time it was written but just three weeks before the election. On Nov. 20, lawyers for Demetrapoulos formally asked the mayor to retract what looked like an "intention to defame" the exiled Greek leader.

But it was not until Jan. 3 that the mayor found time to reply, and his reply stated that he had been wrong. It also stated that his original use of the word "Communist" to describe Demetrapoulos "was based on a report that was given to me."

When we called the mayor to ask the source of his "report," he was evasive but finally said he had "read it" in a newspaper column. When we asked him to quote from that column, he said the column had reported that Demetrapoulos, upon leaving Greece after the coup d'état in 1967, stopped off in Poland for a few days.

This was the entire basis for his labelling Demetrapoulos "Communist," he insisted to us. "No one prompted me on this," the mayor said. But according to federal investigators, the essence of the mayor's letter to McGovern was originally drafted on Democrats-for-Nixon letterhead and sent to Mayor Rousakis. The mayor's own letter became a principal exhibit in the anti-McGovern campaign of Sam Nakis, named vice chairman of Democrats-for-Nixon in September to attract the large Greek ethnic vote to Mr. Nixon.

Bush could easily beat conservative Republican Henry (Hank) Grover in the primary, might go into the election as a 50-50 even shot for governor, far better odds than he faced in his two losing attempts for the Senate.

A fund-raising tea party in the attractive Georgetown house of Mrs. Denn G. Acheson should raise several thousand dollars for the infant Committee for a Democratic Majority (CDM), a political brainchild of Democratic operative Ben J. Wattenberg.

Wattenberg, an intellectual out of Lyndon Johnson's White House and co-author of the bestselling "The Real Majority" (with Richard Semmon), has arranged for Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and Henry M. Jackson to be honor guests at the May 21, $50-a-head party, with 250 invitations ready for mailing.

ANDREW TULLY

Much Foolishness

WASHINGTON — There is so much foolishness in this town, most of it costly to the taxpayers, that a historian must play catch-up baseball to get in his two-cents' worth on merely a minimum of the monkey shines committed.

Proelke surely would like to have back, he declared that he did not want the Army Chief of Staff going home at 5 p.m. to mow his lawn. "Five p.m.!" bellowed Proxmire. "Generals making over $50,000 a year in salary and equivalent benefits shouldn't be running home at 5 o'clock. At that rank and pay, they should be putting in long hours like the farmers, businessmen and construction workers of this country."

It is possible, of course, that an Army Chief of Staff would find it undignified to mow his own lawn after a day spent ordering several million people around. But I already pay a 14-year-old relative to mow my lawn and I am not interested in subsidizing a weekly manicure job for the grass around a general's or admiral's place.

Defense Secretary Elliot Richardson, our Attorney General-designate, apparently came to the same conclusion. At any rate, he has ordered a 10 per cent cut in the use of limousines by Defense officials and military officers, and directed a personal staff study into the brass's habit of pressing GIs into service as domestics and men-of-all-work.

Over the years, the military services have argued that enlisted servants are necessary in order for generals and admirals to meet their "social and professional obligations," meaning the throwing of parties. I'm afraid I don't buy that, either.

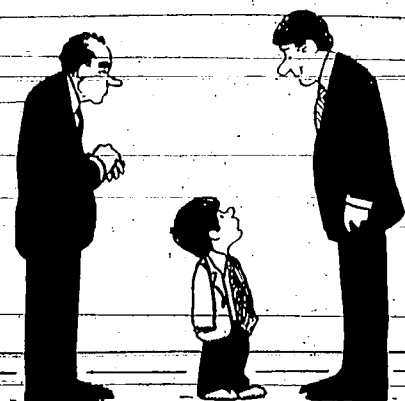

Most taxpayers of my ken pay through the nose for waiters and bartenders when they meet their "social and professional obligations" in homes mortgaged to the hilt. Moreover, the GAO found that GI servants also were being used as baby-sitters and dog-walkers, chores that have few redeeming social or professional values.

Moreover, Richardson was in a pickle. He had been telling Congress there was no way to reduce the Defense budget, and suddenly Proxmire was making loud speeches about how the brass was living it up at the taxpayer's expense. Speeches like that come through loud and clear to Main Street.

Nuts to that, Pentagon, sirs. I want my generals and admirals to live in a certain style, with uniforms neatly pressed and medals polished daily, but I got enough dependents already and tuition going up every hour on the hour. What I don't need is another bill for walking some desk warrior's dog.

Adversity, if for no other reason, is of benefit, since it is sure to bring a season of sober reflection. Men see clearer at such times. Storms purify the atmosphere. — Henry Ward Beecher, American clergyman.

BERRY'S WORLD

"He's not a lame duck! You said he was a lameduck!"

Thoughts

The devising of folly is sin, and the scoffing is an abomination to men. If you faint in the day of adversity, your strength is small. — Proverbs 24:9, 10.

Votes And Duty

Members of Congress nearly always put votes ahead of duty, even when their duty is clear. The reason is that their constituents appear to value results, that is, government programs in their districts, more than reductions in any spending, however extravagant and unnecessary.

Furthermore, it is plain that the military has carried a burden of wastefulness imposed on it by the politicians. Congress has clamored for reducing military spending, in order to provide money for social extravagances, such as the Office of Economic Opportunity, but it sees no political gain in removing obsolescent bases and the military and civilians payrolls they entail.

Since the Pentagon undertook to clean out in most states, it is evident that Massachusetts was not singled out. While it has been popular with some politicians for years to carp about the military-industrial complex, the truth is that the military and the industrial strength of this nation has stood in good stead time and again. Just as OEO employees raked the roof when they saw their lucrative incomes threatened, other employees complained bitterly about their own impending layoffs. We do not like to see anyone lose his job but we relish even less the idea that there is nothing to do with an outworn program but to keep it going. That kind of philosophy would have kept buggy whip factories going. It's a good thing making buggy whips never became a government operation.

MR. SPECTATOR

County Legislators Aren't Popular Everywhere

We are sorry we are a little late on this but after someone sent it to us we promptly put it away for safekeeping and then forgot where we put it. But it is too good to forget because it shows that not everyone loves the state legislators from Twin Falls county.

They were concerned about the whole Snake River. Twin Falls county legislators were hardly acting in the same spirit when they killed the governor's proposed $600,000 appropriation for an American Falls bridge.

What the alleged supporters said and how they voted would have confused a computer. It startled the District 35 legislators.

It's that time of year again. Just about the time you think you are going to save some money by not having to burn the lights too many hours a day, then it gets hot enough that the air conditioning system must be activated.

Certainly, the people who use American Falls bridge owe Governor Andrus a vote of thanks.

He personally inspected the dam, organized a meeting here of the Idaho congressional delegation and key Idaho leaders, asked for money to temporarily repair the bridge in his budget message and lobbied the legislature for the project.

Too bad he wasn't a Republican or that the Legislature wasn't more Democratic.

AT CHURCH

Judge S. Claud Stewart, who now lives out at Heritage Manor, was in church last Sunday. He had walked in to attend the services — he's 90 years old. Well, we offered him a ride back to the Manor — with the understanding that he would return the favor some day when we hit 90 years. But Judge Stewart said he was not just sure where he would be when we hit that 90 years — in fact he wasn't sure that we would

We had visitors from Boise the other day. We insisted they use our car when they went to the grocery store to pick up a couple of items for us. This they did — and when we got in the car the next time KBOI Radio at Boise was on. We queried them about it. To which they replied, "Oh, we didn't know you had any radio stations down in Magic Valley."

Care unit reopening studied

Honors sought

Mine fire location disputed

TWIN FALLS — Reopening of the intensive care unit at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and a decision on fathers in the delivery room were issues discussed Monday night by hospital board members.

Ruth Malone, supervisor of nurses, told the board with additional training now given nursing personnel it is believed the intensive care unit can be open and fully staffed by July 1.

Tony Parsons and Sue Woods, who have returned from special intensive coronary care training sessions, reported to the board on plans to work with other registered nurses and licensed practical nurses to complete the staff for the unit. They plan the first three-week training course next month.

Misa Woods said the unit in Twin Falls is well equipped by standards prescribed in the training session she attended in Milwaukee, Wis. The training program covered two weeks including clinical work in the intensive coronary care center there.

Nancy Churchman, head nurse for pediatrics and JoAnne Kallisek, nurse in that department, reported on sessions they have just completed in the University of Utah and Primary Children's hospitals in Salt Lake City.

Dr. Ben Katz, president of the hospital medical staff told the hospital they will probably have to soon review the policy on fathers in the delivery room.

"I imagine the hospital will some day have to permit fathers in the delivery room under certain and specific conditions," he said, "but this may not happen in the immediate future."

Dr. Katz said the situation has been discussed by a special committee of the staff but no recommendations has been made and it has not been discussed in any meetings of the entire staff.

Hospital board members indicated they would not take action until a recommendation is received although a number of new fathers have indicated a desire to be with their wives at time of delivery.

Plans for a management study which would cost approximately $33,000 were also discussed. Board member Herb Thorne, Murtaugh, said his committee met with a management study firm which indicated the cost of the study could be saved in management streamlining practices within 18 months. Additional management study firms will also be contacted.

Rosenbaum said he would not recommend any management study contract until at least this fall due to present financial conditions of the hospital.

Board members also approved an extension of insurance coverage to cover a "Directors Errors and Omissions" policy for items not covered under regular insurance programs now in effect.

The board also approved a contract with the South Central Mental Health District to assist in obtaining immediate care for babies with mental health symptoms.

John Hayden, new addition to the hospital staff and the hospital's first controller, discussed financial reports with the board.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Brooke, R-Mass., today introduced a resolution to include a remembrance of America's 1,288 servicemen missing in action in Memorial Day ceremonies this year.

Brooke's resolution urged motorists to turn on their headlights throughout Memorial Day, May 28, in memory of those missing.

"Our most compelling task is the resolution of the status of these men," Brooke said in a statement.

Brooke was joined by 22 cosponsors of the resolution in the Senate.

COBUR, D. ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — An expert called into the investigation of the Sunshine fire disagreed Tuesday with what was originally thought to be the location of the start of the disastrous blaze just over a year ago.

John Kiseley, North Bend, Wash., head of his own engineering consulting firm, said he felt the fire started between the 08 and 09 veins on the 3,550 foot level of the mile deep mine.

Kiseley, testifying before the Interior Department hearing said his investigation had shown the blaze started in this area rather than in the 09 vein area of the 3,400 foot level, as the Bureau of Mines report claimed.

He said he doubted the fire had smoldered very long as the bureau report said.

"If there had been smoke present, the miners would have smelled it," Kiseley said.

The hummingbird family includes 17 species.

Life nears normal in Michigan town

WILLIAMSBURG, Mich. (UPI) — For the first time in almost a month, life began to return to normal for a few families who have homes on the outskirts of this small upstate community.

State officials gave the go-ahead for 20 of more than 70 families to return to their homes, the first time anyone has been allowed back in the area since a "strange" underground gas eruption began to pockmark the area in mid-April. Grand Traverse County Sheriff's deputies said a few of the families began to move back Monday.

"The residents returning are outside the blockade area," a deputy said. "They were evacuated because of a loss of public utilities."

"The spokesman said, however, it was "hard to determine when the rest of the homeless residents would be allowed back within the city limits."

Utility service guideline backed

BOISE (UPI) — Staff members of the Public Utilities Commission testified today in favor of a guideline governing disconnections of utilities for nonpayment of bills.

The commission conducted a hearing on a proposed policy to make utilities send disconnection notices to utility users five days before service is stopped.

Members of the PUC staff testified there is a wide variety of disconnection practices used by the state's 50 utilities.

The hearing arose from a complaint filed last February by Carolyn Bagley after her telephone service was discontinued.

That complaint was settled, the PUC said, but after a review the commissioners decided to conduct a hearing on proposed guidelines.

Ted Meyer, in charge of complaints for the PUC, said 681 informal complaints were handled during 1972. Sixty per cent of these complaints came from southwestern Idaho, Meyer said, and about 50 per cent of them concerned disconnections of power, telephone, water and gas service. The new policy would allow utilities to disconnect a customer's service for nonpayment of any bill after the past due date if the account is not secured.

Cold charge

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Although a fully charged car battery will not freeze until the temperature reaches 90 below zero, a half-charged one will start to freeze at 16 below, according to the National Automobile Club.

Minimum pay hike OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Labor Committee approved Tuesday a bill to raise the $1.00 an hour minimum wage to $2.20 in one year. It also proposed a tax credit of up to $400 a year for persons who employ household domestics.

The panel on a 2-13 vote approved the wage measure that Democrats tailored to blunt southern opposition which helped defeat a similar wage bill last year. Republicans Alphonzo Bell, Calif., and Peter Peyser, N.Y., voted with Democrats.

The committee rejected on a 20-12 vote a Republican substitute measure offered by Rep. John Erlenborn, R-Ill., which would raise the minimum to $2.10 over two years. The administration has proposed raising it to $2.30 over three years but has still not sent Congress a bill to that effect. The committee measure would raise the minimum to $2.20 an hour in one year for workers covered by the wage law prior to 1966, which is the bulk of the nearly 50 million workers affected by the law, and would go to the $2.20 level in two years for those covered after 1966.

The committee bill would extend wage law coverage to an estimated 4.4 million local, state and federal government workers and to the 1.6 million household domestics in the nation.

The measure proposes allowing a tax credit of up to $400 a year for the cost of employing "in the house" domestic help, which would exclude jobs such as gardeners and chauffeurs.

Couple separated 71 years

LOCKEFORD, Calif. (UPI) — A brother and sister who hadn't seen each other since their childhood in Hungary 71 years ago met again Monday and found they have a slight language problem.

Mrs. Anna Matts, 65, said she had forgotten most of the German she used to speak to her younger brother, John Augustine, 76, who arrived in this community 40 miles east of San Francisco from Brazil.

The reunion came two days before Mrs. Matts' 60th birthday. "It's the greatest birthday gift in the world," she said. "He looks a great deal like her and one of her sons," said Minnie Garibaldi, one of Mrs. Matts' daughters. "I recognized him when he got off the plane. He looks like the family."

N-test set for blast

DENVER (UPI) — Thermally-maligned and often-criticized Project Rio Blanco nuclear detonation seem destined to go off on schedule Thursday.

Denver District Judge Henry P. Santa ruled Monday that he could not overrule the Colorado Water Pollution Control Commission, which has granted a permit for the blast.

Spokesmen for Citizens for Colorado's Future, an opponent of the test, said late Monday they would not appeal Santa's decision. They cited a lack of funds to pay damages to the defendants. In one case, the project was delayed and their appeal lost.

Santa ruled said there was conflicting evidence on the possibility that underground water might be contaminated by the blast. But he said he had no authority to decide the question.

Elements of the test had claimed that radioactivity from the experiment might seep into the Colorado River, contaminating the drinking water supply of 27 million Americans in the Southwest. The Atomic Energy Commission and GEH Geonuclear Corp. of Las Vegas, Nev., joint sponsors of Rio Blanco, maintained that studies had shown the test would not release dangerous levels of radioactivity.

Tsar fate secret

LONDON (UPI) — British Liberal party leader Jeremy Thorpe said today he believes the U.S. State Department or the British Foreign Office may be withholding a document that would throw light on the fate of Nicholas II, last Russian tsar of Russia, and his family.

He said he is continuing efforts to get the document released. "The mystery of the tsar's fate is yielding up new secrets," Thorpe told newsmen. "The assassination version is increasingly open to doubt."

According to the officially accepted version, the tsar, his wife, his son and three daughters were murdered by Bolsheviks in a cellar at Ekaterinburg (now called Sverdlovsk) July 16, 1918. A West German court two years ago finally rejected after 36 years of legal

Search continues for 'right' man

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General-designate Elliot L. Richardson today carried on "mutual explorations" with the three remaining top candidates in his search for a special Watergate prosecutor.

As Richardson continued his search for the right man, six Democratic members of the Senate Judiciary Committee met to discuss their concern over his intention to keep "ultimate authority" over the prosecutor.

Some said they could not vote to confirm Richardson unless he granted the prosecutor "complete independence." Richardson was conferring by phone with Warren M. Christopher of San Francisco, deputy attorney general in the Johnson Administration; Colorado Supreme Court Justice William H. Erickson, and David W. Peck, retired New York appellate justice.

"It wouldn't be helpful to keep a score-board on who's turning it down," Richardson told reporters late Tuesday, saying he would not reveal the order of his choices.

U.S. District Court Judge Harold Tyler Jr. of New York, assistant attorney general in the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations, turned down the job Tuesday, saying it was not appropriate for a sitting judge to take such a post.

Richardson said that persons may wish not to be considered because of such things as personal problems, a wife's health, finances, or they belong to a law firm that had a client with a connection to the Watergate case. He said for these reasons he wanted to confer with all three of them as a prosecutor.

before announcing which one he was selecting.

How much authority Richardson will grant to the prosecutor remained unresolved in his hearing before the Senate Judiciary committee. After four days of hearings, the committee was in recess today, with no date set for reconvening.

Sens. Phillip A. Hart of Michigan, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Birch Bayh of Indiana, Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, Clinton N. Bardick of North Dakota and John V. Tunney of California met privately Tuesday to discuss the issue of the prosecutor's authority.

Later Hart said he could not vote for Richardson's confirmation on the basis of what the nominee had testified so far. Tunney said the nomination was in "grave danger" unless Richardson granted the prosecutor "complete independence."

Richardson said he would reveal simultaneously the name of the prosecutor and the exact guidelines under which the prosecutor would work. There is no chance that Richardson will be approved by the committee until this is done.

Rogers faces toughest stop on 8-nation tour

LIMA (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers wound up a 22-hour visit to Venezuela late Tuesday and flew into Lima at the start of possibly the toughest stop on his 17-day, eight-nation tour of Latin America.

In Peru, he faced perhaps the least friendly government on his itinerary since it has first disturbances of his trip. Students from several high schools protested his visit by burning tires and an American flag in a main downtown street. Rogers did not see any of the protests, which were broken up by police using tear gas.

At a luncheon in his honor, Rogers asked Venezuela to increase its oil exports to the United States. Venezuela already is the United States' chief source of oil.

"There is no doubt," Rogers said, "that over the next few years there will be ample room for Venezuelan petroleum exports to the United States to increase substantially from the present level of 1.6 million barrels a day."

"We are also in a position to take all the heating fuel oil Venezuela can provide at a competitive price and quality," he said.

Rogers earlier visited Mexico and Nicaragua in addition to Venezuela.

Cease-fire talks slated

PARIS (UPI) — Barring last minute hitches, Henry A. Kissinger arrives today for new cease-fire talks with Hanoi, bargaining in an atmosphere clouded by warnings by North Vietnam and growing antiwar sentiment in the U.S. Congress. Kissinger was due to arrive at Orly Airport from Washington sometime between 8:00 p.m. and 11:00 p.m., U.S. embassy officials said.

The presidential adviser is scheduled to open the talks with Le Duc Tho, his Hanoi counterpart, on Thursday in a Paris suburb. The talks were expected to last three or four days.

This is a member of the Hanoi politburo and the man Kissinger met over a three year period to hammer out the final Jan. 27 cease-fire agreement on Vietnam.

The United States requested the talks in hopes an agreement can be reached for strict compliance of the cease-fire accord. They follow high-level meetings in Paris last month to review the agreements and the charges of violations.

Tho arrived Monday and promptly delivered a warning to Washington, saying that the talks would not begin or continue if started, if the United States carried out more of what he called U.S. bombing attacks on Communist-controlled areas of South Vietnam near the border with Cambodia.

The United States denied the bombing charges. Kissinger also is meeting the North Vietnamese only days after committees in both the Senate and the House of Representatives voted against financing more U.S. military involvement in Indochina.

Republican leaders were attempting to delay final votes on the issues until Kissinger concludes his talks.

In Washington, administration officials said Kissinger hoped to persuade Hanoi that it was in North Vietnam's economic and military interest to refrain from violation of the agreement.

The officials said Kissinger would probably tell Tho that Congress cannot be expected to vote reconstruction aid while the violations continue. Similarly, they said, Kissinger is expected to contend that the United States does not feel obligated to clear mines from North Vietnamese waters while the violations continue.

Plans cause static

VIENNA (UPI) — Western officials said today that negotiations with the Warsaw Pact on reductions of arms and troops in Central Europe has caused some discord among NATO allies.

"It was the first time we had to agree on a common negotiating policy with an adversary and carry it through," one official said. "It was a new experience and therefore caused a certain amount of static within the Alliance."

It was the first official confirmation of disagreement among the 12 members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) taking part in preliminary talks on reductions of force in Central Europe. NATO spokesmen had denied reports of dissension earlier.

Preparations for a fullscale conference this fall went ahead today with more policy statements by the 19 participating nations, including the United States and the Soviet Union.

Allied officials said there were two schools of thought within NATO on how to approach East-West force reductions.

One school headed by the United States feels that NATO should concentrate on whittling down the bulk of Soviet forces stationed in East Germany.

Another school led by West European allies feel that for political reasons all Soviet troops stationed in Central Europe, including Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary, should be included in any cutback.

"The outcome incorporated the best of both sides," one official said.

An East-West agreement Monday that ended 14 weeks of procedural deadlock and opened the way to the current talks exempted 39,000 Soviet troops stationed in Hungary. It included those in East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Even the suggestion of considering troop cuts at all caused some disagreement within the alliance. France refused to participate in the talks at all.

But some allied officials said these differences—and the 70 meetings it took to sort them out—had strengthened the alliance.

"It resulted in a new dimension for the alliance," one official said, "an era of added cohesion."

False alarm

HONG KONG (UPI) — Army demolition experts rushed to the village of Pak Nai after villagers reported a dud shell from a nearby firing range had landed there early Tuesday. The "shell," officials said, was an old fire extinguisher someone dumped.

Vesco cleared of wrongdoings

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (UPI) — American financier Robert Vesco has been cleared of any charges of wrongdoing in Costa Rica by a special committee of parliament set up to probe his various investments in this Central American state.

"There was no doubt cast on the legality of Mr. Vesco's operations," a report issued Tuesday night by the committee said.

It did not deal with charges of wrongdoing elsewhere Vesco, along with former Attorney General John Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans and a fourth man were indicted in New York last week on charges stemming from a $200,000 contribution to President Nixon's reelection fund.

Vesco, charged with illegal mutual funds dealings in the United States, came under investigation after complaints from Costa Rican businessmen about reports he moved large amounts of money into the country starting in 1969. The committee said this was true.

Vesco, who was reported in Nassau, did not appear before the committee. The report said his failure to appear prevented the committee from gathering exact information about his investments.

But it estimated he has put $25 million into Costa Rican nationalized banks, $1.5 million into a government housing institute, $1 million into a government waterworks institute and an undisclosed amount in private residences, a "coffee plantation," lumber works and low income housing construction.

All activities of (Vesco's) companies and their directors, shareholders and officials have been in all respects in conformity with existing legislation here," the report said.

Probe becomes growing mystery

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nature of the "complete investigation" which President Nixon cited at the start of last year's presidential campaign, as evidence that no administration officials were involved in the Watergate bugging is becoming more and more a mystery.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler indicated Tuesday there was never a written report of such a probe.

Ziegler insisted, however, that Nixon thought there had been an investigation when he said last Aug. 29 that no one then employed in his administration was involved in the bugging of Democratic headquarters.

A central figure in this mystery, as in much of the Watergate tangle, is John W. Dean III, the 34-year-old lawyer who was fired as White House counsel, April 30.

Committee has mandate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate select committee which begins Watergate hearings Thursday has a mandate covering the whole field of 1972 presidential election campaigns.

The committee was established by Senate Resolution No. 60, passed Feb. 7 by a vote of 77 to 0 with 23 senators not voting.

The resolution's preamble calls on the committee "to conduct an investigation and study of the extent, if any, to which illegal, improper, or unethical activities were engaged in by any persons, acting individually or in combination with others, in the presidential election of 1972, or any campaign, canvass or other activity related to it."

Soviets firm US visit plans

MOSCOW (UPI) — An advance party of Soviet diplomats flew to the United States today to make final arrangements for the June 18-26 visit of Leonid I. Brezhnev, General Secretary of the Soviet Communist Party.

The group was headed by Yuri Chernomyrdin, Secretary General of the Foreign Ministry and a former minister-counselor at the Soviet Embassy in Washington. It included one representative each of the ministry's press department and protocol division.

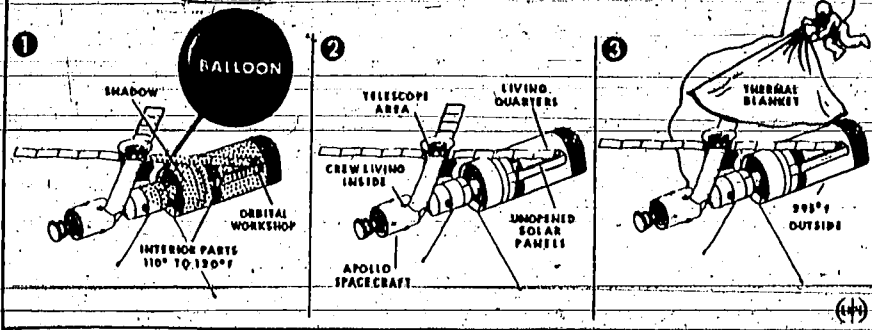

A similar American party was in Moscow last month. Besides Washington, Brezhnev was expected to visit at least one other American city. It will be his first trip to the United States.

The Soviet leader begins a five-day visit to West Germany on Friday.

SKYLAB: Possible Solutions to Overheating

Skylab becomes hotbox in orbit

HOUSTON (UPI) — Teams of space agency engineers today sifted hundreds of ideas ranging from the simple to the exotic for a solution to the overheating problems which threatened to keep astronauts from living and working in America's first space station.

Skylab 1, its main insulation from the sun's heat ripped away during launch, was a hotbox after little more than a day in orbit. Temperatures rose above 110 degrees in the living quarters and the station's outer skin hit a sizzling 295 degrees on the side facing the sun.

Space agency officials said they probably would not know until at least Thursday the answer to a key question: How much hotter Skylab will get without drastic countermeasures?

Hopes of launching the first crew to the station Sunday appeared far from certain. Officials said they could not decide on the Sunday launch until sometime Saturday.

Among the far-out solutions proposed to save the $2.6 billion project were inflating a big balloon between the sun and Skylab to cast a cooling shadow on the station, wrapping a thermal blanket around the tubular spaceship like a loose-fitting bandage, and draping a blanket-diaper-fashion over the craft.

Officials said there was a possibility the astronauts might be called on to perform the first spacewalk ever to repair a crippled spaceship. If this were the case, the extra training needed by the crew almost certainly would rule out a Sunday launch.

"I don't think there is a most popular remedy now," flight director Don Puddy said Tuesday night at the Johnson Space Center in Houston. "All plausible alternatives are being investigated."

No solution—or combination of steps—can be selected until the important question of how hot the station will get in its present condition has been answered. Skylab director William C. Schneider took personal charge of the search for this answer at Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala.

Astronauts Charles "Pete" Conrad, Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz, still in preflight quarantine to keep them from getting sick, flew from Cape Kennedy to Houston to join in the crash program search for a solution to the problem.

"About all I can say is we've come home to regroup," Conrad said.

Temperatures already recorded in Skylab would strain the capacity of the craft's air conditioning system, which cannot be turned on until the astronauts enter the 100-ton station the size of a three-bedroom house.

If temperatures soared higher, they would make living in the station uncomfortable, at the least. At worst, Schneider said, the high temperatures might cause equipment in the station to give off gases like deadly carbon monoxide which would make Skylab uninhabitable.

Extortionist diverts jet

DENVER (UPI) — An extortionist who threatened to disintegrate a 747 jumbo jet carrying 125 persons to Tokyo unless he received $30,000, forced airline officials to divert the plane to Denver today with the hope the extortionist was bluffing.

The anonymous caller, who telephoned his threat to airline officers in Portland, Ore., said a pressurized bomb was hidden in the middle of the luxurious Northwest Airlines jet and it would explode if the plane descended below 7,000 feet.

"Mexico City had the closest airport above 7,000 feet," an airline spokesman said. "But the plane didn't have the fuel to fly that far. We had to take a chance and put her down in Denver."

The plane landed at Stapleton International Airport at 12:15 a.m. MDT.

The 103 passengers and 22 crew members deplaned through the regular exits and were hustled to security stations where they were questioned by the FBI. Their luggage was rushed to a makeshift bomb disposal unit and searched.

Federal and city bomb experts combed the plane and at the end of a two-hour search pronounced it clean.

The passengers were taken in three buses to various city hotels. The plane, Northwest's Flight 7, was to leave at 7 a.m. for Tokyo.

"The flight originated in New York. It's final United States stop was in Seattle and it left the Washington city on schedule. It was flying over Anchorage, Alaska, when the pilot, Capt. John Denman of Seattle, learned of the bomb threat."

"It seemed like we were three or four hours into the flight when the captain told us about the change," said one woman from New York whose husband and four children were on their way to a Japanese vention. "There was no indication before that we were in any kind of trouble."

The passengers were irritated by the diversion, the questioning by the FBI and the ordeal of having to go through customs again. They were very reluctant to talk about the experience.

"I just trusted in the good Lord to bring me home and he did," one elderly woman said. All but two of the passengers spent the night in hotels as guests of the airlines. Two Japanese aliens who were being deported spent the night in the city jail.

Nixon OK'd wiretaps

The testimony linking White House aides to a Watergate cover-up came from the CIA's deputy director, Vernon Walters.

Richard Helms, CIA director at the time the White House aides were said to have sought the agency's help last summer, was called to testify today before a Senate appropriations subcommittee investigating the matter.

Helms, who returned from Iran where he is U.S. ambassador, refused to talk with reporters on entering the closed hearing.

The story was disclosed Tuesday by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., amid speculation that the White House never conducted what Nixon had described as a "complete investigation" of the case.

Symington said testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee indicated ex-presidential aides H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and John W. Dean were involved in "an attempt to unload major responsibility for the Watergate bugging and cover-up on the CIA."

The three, he said, "were doing everything in the world to obstruct justice."

Both Haldeman and Ehrlichman have denied any wrongdoing. And Dean, who will testify in public hearings under immunity from prosecution, told an interviewer the scandal "won't hurt my hide."

Symington, repeating the closed testimony given to his committee Monday by CIA Deputy Director Vernon Walters, said Haldeman and Ehrlichman tried to get the CIA to block an investigation by the FBI after the June 17 bugging and break-in at the Watergate headquarters of the Democratic National Committee.

Dean, he said, tried to get the CIA to pay salaries or provide bail for the seven men who were arrested and later tried in the case. But he said the CIA eventually refused to comply with the top-level White House requests.

Haldeman, who was Nixon's chief of staff, and Ehrlichman, domestic affairs adviser, resigned two weeks ago. Dean, who was fired as the President's counsel on the same day, had been assigned last summer to carry out the White House's own investigation of the case.

But Dean told the Washington Star-News in an interview published Tuesday that he never wrote a report telling the President what he knew.

At a news conference last Aug. 29, Nixon said Dean had conducted a "complete investigation" of the affair. He said he concluded, from Dean's probe that "no one in this administration presently employed was involved."

Dean told the Star-News, however, that he was asked only to write "some fairy tales" about the case and he "drafted one which showed I thought they were fairy tales."

Asked about the matter Tuesday, White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler indicated the report which the President received—if any—was verbal. And the New York Times said today it had learned that Ehrlichman had provided Nixon with an informal, oral report that absolved the White House staff.

Hearings held on Amtrak's future

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A consumer group said today that two years of Amtrak operation of the nation's passenger trains have been a disappointment and that some of the railroads that operate Amtrak trains are deliberately trying to kill passenger service.

Anthony Haswell, chairman of the National Association of Railroad Passengers, testified before the Senate subcommittee on surface transportation which today began hearings on Amtrak's future.

"Unfortunately, we believe that Amtrak has not come to grips with fundamental problems which confront it, with the result most of its services are deficient in quality and excessive in operating costs," Haswell said.

He said Amtrak has done some good things—such as more frequent Metroliner service between New York and Washington, reduced fares between New York and Boston, rental automobiles, and improved ticketing and reservations.

But he said Amtrak has failed to improve its routes, has operated trains slower than when it took over service May 1, 1971, has a poor on-time record, still has not improved the basic quality of service in some areas and has excessive operating costs.

Haswell said Amtrak president Roger Lewis had no background or expertise in the railroad industry and that top Amtrak officials have not enthusiastically attempted to sell the passenger train.

MOSCOW (UPI) — A battered taxi halts outside the Vavilova farmers' market and two elderly peasant women emerge, dragging a bulging white gunny sack of fresh beef.

"One holds the sack over her black-shawled shoulder and both women trudge inside. Within 30 minutes, the two women have secured counter space and a state-inspected scale and are selling hunks of the meat at whatever price the day's traffic will bear.

Private enterprise in the Soviet Union is nowhere more obvious than in the farmers' markets that supplement the meat and produce available in state-run shops.

What the state shops don't have can often be found in the farmers' or so-called free markets: Prices reflect demand and scarcity.

"Young and fresh—just like me," cajoles a gold-toothed Georgian waving a tiny bunch of fresh spinach.

The price is also fresh, 60 kopecks (almost 80 cents) for hardly enough for one generous helping. But nobody else has any approach on this day and the price is paid.

Quality is usually better in the farmers' markets. Shoppers gladly pay as much as three times the state price for a pound of potatoes that are plumper and less battered.

The marketeers are a colorful microcosm of Soviet life.

Swarthy Georgians preside over carefully arranged layouts of flowers, fruits and nuts. Corpulent women in white gowns dispense cream cheeses and cole slaw from metal tubs. Gnarled peasants from the villages, faces brown as the earth they till, squat amid mounds of cabbage, carrots and onions.

Distance is no barrier. With domestic air fares among the cheapest in the world, a farmer in the south can stuff a suitcase with fruit or flowers before dawn, catch the first plane to Moscow, sell out quickly and catch a night flight home.

The net profit will be worth the effort.

Soviet officials candidly admit the private sector of agriculture is indispensable for meeting the food requirements of the nation's urban areas.

Collective and state farm workers are given small household plots of land, usually about an acre. They use them for orchards, vegetable gardens and vineyards and feed themselves from the output.

The often considerable remainder goes on the free market.

Officials say private plots account for 3.5 per cent of the total cultivation in the Soviet Union.

The private sector of agriculture has been providing about 60 per cent of the potatoes consumed in the Soviet Union; 40 per cent of the vegetables, 40 per cent of the meat and dairy products and more than 60 per cent of the eggs.

Kimberly terms for farm aides

KIMBERLY — Agricultural specialists from Turkey and Korea are currently stationed at the Snake River Conservation Research Center.

They are Beyhan Gotkay, agricultural engineer from Giresun, Turkey, and Jeong Nam In, soil physicist from Suwon, Korea.

Gotkay is completing a year study tour of the United States. At the Kimberly center he is studying soil-plant relationships, methods of measuring and predicting water use by plants, the effect of climatological factors on plant water use and evaluation of irrigation methods.

Jeong Nam is spending a month at Kimberly studying research methods of improvement and modification of soil physical conditions. During a year in the United States he will study research methods and analysis, soil-plant-water relationships, irrigation methods, erosion control and effect of tillage methods on soil properties.

Gotkay has been employed by the Turkish soil conservation agency since 1965 as a unit project and applications chief engineer. He supervises 17 irrigation projects in 15,000 square mile bordering the Black Sea. He will return to Turkey in September, after participating in irrigation courses conducted by Colorado and Utah universities.

Jeong Nam is senior soil physics research officer for a division of the Korean government. He has previously worked on a soil survey study of Korea conducted by the United Nations Development Program and the FAO.

Ag unit aide next to leave his job?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Stephen B. King, the former bodyguard for Martha Mitchell who accused him of manhandling her, is expected to be quietly dropped from the Agriculture Department, where he was hired at the insistence of White House aides last December.

An informed department source said King's job as a personnel assistant to Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz would be phased out. King said in a brief interview he had no current plan to resign and was not aware of any plans to eliminate his position.

King's reported departure would follow that of another former employee of President Nixon's reelection campaign committee. Last week, Robert C. Odle, who had been the committee's director for administration, was fired by Butz after less than a week on the department's payroll as a temporary consultant.

Although neither King nor Odle has been implicated in the Watergate scandal, at least Odle was viewed by department insiders as a casualty of the administration's extreme political sensitivity over the affair.

King is listed as a $26,828-a-

Moisture becoming Gem need

BOISE (UPI) — Except for the east where rain and snow hampered farming operations early last week, most dryland areas of Idaho need rain for good crop growth.

Strong winds with cool temperatures occurred during the early part of the week through Idaho, a federal report said today, but conditions by week's end were favorable and field work was in full swing in all areas.

Meantime, the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said farm workers in the state during the week of April 22-28 totaled 44,000, the same as the comparable week a year earlier. Family workers at 33,000 were down 1,000 from last year and hired workers at 11,000 were up 1,000.

Yosemite National Park in California was founded in 1890.

Worm lab landbound

MISSION, Tex. (UPI) — The International Screwworm Commission has decided it would cost too much money to establish a mobile screwworm factory that could sail to trouble spots and release sterile flies.

The commission decided Monday to build the factory on land instead.

The factory, which raises millions of sterile screwworms for release over infested areas, was to have been built on a ship to give it mobility. But U.S. and Mexican veterinarians attending the conference felt this would be too expensive.

A site within Mexico for the factory has not been selected. The only other factory is located in Mission.

The commission is hoping to drive all screwworms into far southern Mexico by the end of the summer.

ATTENTION - ALL POTATO GROWERS

Mr. Potato Grower, you are now being solicited by the J.R. Simplot Company to telephone a number to secure information concerning their 1973 potato contract.

Before you make that call to talk to any member of the Simplot field staff, Potato Growers of Idaho, Inc. believes that you should know the following facts:

1. The basic objective of this latest Simplot move is not to sign contracts, but to obtain a feel of grower sentiment.
2. Five major Idaho processors have settled with Potato Growers of Idaho, Inc. on 1973 pre-season contracts reflecting increases in the base price of 20¢ per cwt. The present Simplot offer is 15¢ per cwt. under all other negotiated contracts. DO YOU FEEL THAT IT'S A PRIVILEGE TO GROW POTATOES FOR SIMPLOT FOR 15¢ PER CWT. LESS THAN OTHER PROCESSORS. Why take less for your crop than your neighbor will receive from another processor?
3. The processing industry is enjoying a tremendously successful season with movement good at prices considerably higher than previous years. "Processors have applied for and received a substantial increase on finished product since the last potato contract was negotiated." POTATO GROWERS OF IDAHO, INC. DEMANDS ARE NOT UNREASONABLE.
4. Don't be alarmed by rumors concerning over production and now acreage. Idaho potatoes are presently being sold on the open market for $4.60 to $4.75 per cwt. and in addition Idaho potatoes are being shipped bulk to Washington State for processing, due to a continuing shortage of Washington raw product to meet processor needs.

We wish to remind non-members that Potato Growers of Idaho, Inc. works for all growers and their assistance in this effort can only result in better prices for all growers concerned.

We wish to thank members of Potato Growers of Idaho, Inc. and all other potato growers for their continuing support, which over the past several years has resulted in price gains ranging near 60¢ per cwt. on pre-season contract potatoes.

If you want information and facts concerning contracts and negotiations, call Potato Growers of Idaho, Inc. at 785-2669 for current, factual information.

In the Wendell area, Francis Gunning, division head for hospital service area west, will be working with team captains, Walt Terman and Mark Koll.

Dr. L. V. Ruchel will head special gifts and Jack Morley will direct the community gifts division for the Jerome area.

Jack Mullowney is directing captains in the Twin Falls district, according to Garrabranti.

The hospital family fund development which consists of the medical staff and the hospital employees will be handled by Dr. R. C. Matson, M. D. He is being assisted by Mrs. Ruby Crosby, R. N.

Rev. Garrabranti stated "That the full support of the people of the surrounding communities served by St. Benedict's Hospital will be necessary to make Project 1 a complete success, and our various community organizations will be working to help you to help yourself to better health facilities."

Mail carrier Harvey Harding and friend Zippy

Zippy follows Gooding mailman

GOODING — Residents who have watched a little dog follow the mailman on his route for almost five years were worried last week when the mailman began making his rounds alone.

After a series of unusual events, the dog is back on the job, but now is wearing a light blue uniform complete with a US Postal Service patch.

Until last week, "Zippy" has followed the mail carrier, Harvey Harding, every day since she was a puppy, with two exceptions.

Two years ago, while running to catch up with Harding and his cart, she was struck by an automobile which left her blind in one eye.

"Zippy" missed her rounds the second time when Idaho went on daylight savings time some time ago. As punctual as ever, "Zippy" arrived at the post office across town from her home at 8 a.m. to meet Harding, but he had already gone on his route an hour before.

According to postmaster J. E. Heller, she sat outside the post office looking forlorn and waited until Harding's return at 4 p.m.

This happened for two or three more days until, confused, she stayed overnight at the post office in order not to miss Harding again. That evening, the postal employees provided a box for her to sleep in at the side of the office and it was there that she was picked up by the city dog catcher last week.

Recent complaints that the dog was not in accordance with the city dog leash law forced her owners, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Olsen to tie Zippy up in their yard.

"The dog cried so much, especially when the mailman passed by the house, we were afraid that unless we put her to sleep, she would pine herself to death," they said.

The dog's plight came to the attention of Mrs. Frank Jones who notified others and "Friends of Zippy" was organized.

In a special ceremony last

Friday, Zippy, wearing her uniform for the first time, was presented with a "pride in Excellence" award from the US Postal Service western region.

The citation reads "In recognition of Zippy, for outstanding performance as a devoted volunteer assistant city mail carrier." Signed J. E. Heller, postmaster.

According to Heller, Zippy is a morale booster and provides good personal contact between the postal service and those on the route.

Heller says that Zippy actually accompanies the mail, rather than an individual carrier and that when Harding is not on duty, Zippy has always followed his replacement, Al Micks, just as faithfully.

Harding says the dog is protective of the mail and has chased other dogs away from him and the mail cart.

The 15-member "Friends of Zippy" group has retained a lawyer, Phil Backer, Gooding, and legal papers have been drawn up making them financially responsible for Zippy while she is with the mail carrier, according to Linda Lauder, a member of the group who made Zippy's uniform. Even so, Zippy will still have to remain on a leash because the city's dog ordinance comes under a criminal code and apparently no exceptions can be made, she said.

Zippy may no longer meet Harding every morning at the post office, but must stay confined to her yard. Harding picks up Zippy at 12:30 p.m. when he arrives at her home at 325 Colorado Street on his route.

She accompanies him for the remainder of the day on a leash attached to Harding's belt. He brings Zippy back to her home about 4 p.m. and in accordance with the city ordinance, she is confined until he returns for her the next afternoon.

"Zippy doesn't seem to mind being leashed to the belt of the mailman, she is just happy that she can go with him again," the Olsens said.

Harding says Zippy is getting along fine on the leash and has figured out which way to turn that they don't get tangled up.

"People really missed Zippy last week. I must have been asked 40 to 50 times a day, 'Where's the dog,'" he said.

Newsmen barred in China

HONG KONG (UPI) — The People's Republic of China has not allowed American correspondents into the country to cover the opening of the U.S. liaison mission in Peking despite earlier indications that they would be permitted to do so.

The China Travel Service office here told Charles R. Smith, UPI senior editor in Asia, today that visas would not be granted. Smith and UPI photographer Rikio Iinajo had been scheduled to cover the opening of the liaison office.

Ambassador David K.E. Bruce and his party arrived in Peking on Monday to open the mission.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've been married two months. My husband is 41, and I am 41. For years he lived alone, ate plain meals, and didn't have a very exciting life.

He loves photography, takes good pictures, and wants to become a professional.

In the short time we've been together I have booked him for an exhibit at a good gallery, I got some of his pictures published, and I've set up a future exhibit at a museum. I'm presently working on getting us a free trip to Europe with a group of professional photographers.

I am his wife, agent, cook, mentor, and lover. So tonight I prepared a really jazzy meal with candles and the works. When we sat down, I asked him: "Are you happy?"

Well, I didn't expect Robert Browning's sonnets. A simple "yes" would have sufficed. You can imagine my shock when the dirty dog says: "Well, I'm not too unhappy."

Unhappy picture

That really turned me off. I mean, I couldn't get excited over him again for the next 100 years.

Please tell me where I went wrong. Maybe if I did nothing like some wives he'd appreciate me more. What now?

DISGUSTED WITH HIM

DEAR DISGUSTED: A helmate can do too much to help. He'd probably prefer eating haked beans in the dark with a woman for whom HE put the beans on the table. Give him a chance to see what he can do for himself—and you.

DEAR ABBY: Joe Blow and I were married and had three children. Then Joe Blow and I were divorced. I then married John Doe. Now I learn that John Doe had several wives before he married me—none of whom he bothered to divorce!

Question One: Am I still legally Mrs. Joe Blow? I certainly can't be Mrs. John Doe if he is a bigamist, can I?

Question Two: Is there a central United States bureau or agency where ALL divorces are recorded so a person can find out who is legally divorced? WHO-AM I?

DEAR WHO: Answer One: You are still Mrs. Joe Blow in name only if John Doe is a bigamist. Answer Two: There is NO central bureau or agency where all divorces are recorded.

DEAR ABBY: Our 23-year-old son, ERIC, is marrying Heather, who is 21. Erik asked his father to be his best man, and naturally his father was flattered and delighted.

When Heather heard about it she said she had asked her 21-year-old girl friend to be her maid of honor, and it will look ridiculous for a 47-year-old man to stand up for the groom when a 21-year-old girl is standing up for the bride. Heather has asked Erik to reconsider.

Do you think it will look ridiculous? And how should this sticky problem be handled? ERIK'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I see nothing ridiculous about it. Heather should be told that the best man and maid of honor do not necessarily have to be the same age.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Dance recital set in TF

TWIN FALLS — The Willa Dean Nielsen School of Dance will present an annual recital Friday and Saturday nights.

Show time will be at 8 p.m. in the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium.

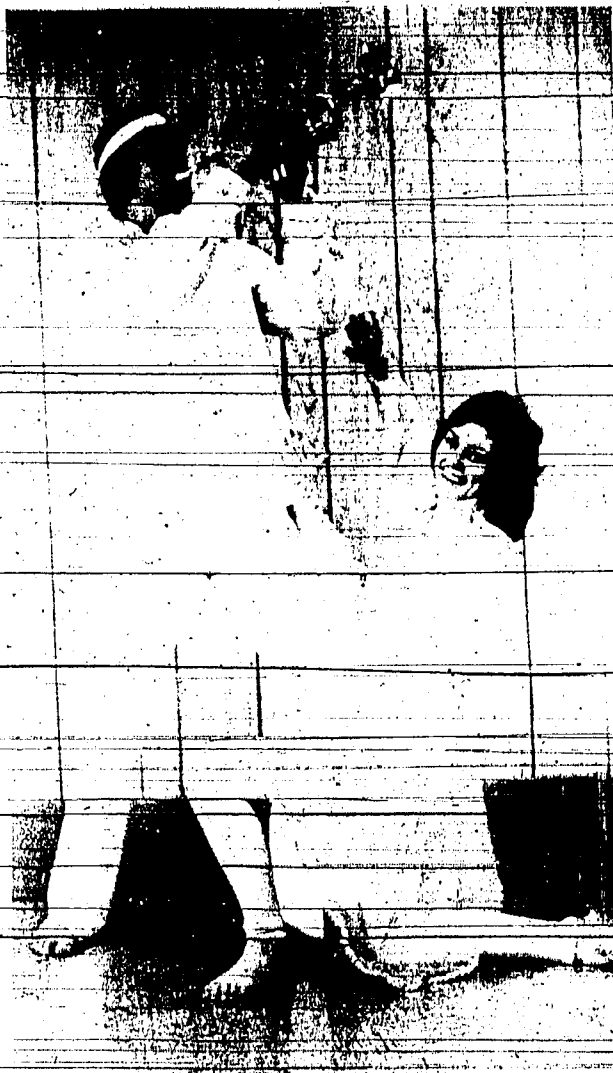

According to Mrs. Nielsen, two complete programs are planned, and tickets will be sold for both performances.

Proceeds will be used for summer dance scholarships to Brigham Young University and Ricks College, and for attendance at Dance Caravan in Salt Lake City in July. Tickets will not be sold at the door, she said, but may be picked up at 527 Polk Ave. or called for at 733-6343.

Friday night, dance students will present "Brer Rabbit and de Moppes," written by Beverly Surgill and narrated by Zola Alfred. Three to 10-year olds will dance the parts of forest animals who attempt to help Brer Rabbit get rid of his "smarts."

"We are the Kids of the Chorus," using "Peanuts" characters will be included in the program which will conclude with older dance students in "Puttin' on a Show," a tap and jazz selection.

The Saturday night performance will begin with "Candyman," played by Cindy Warner, Jester, Karen Kelley, and Princess Prunelope, Julie Waters.

Dance revue

APPEARING in revue with the Willa Dean Nielsen Dancing School Friday and Saturday will be Kim Nielsen as Gabriel and Debbie Skinner as the angel in "Stop the World. It's Time to Get Off." The revue will be in the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium at 8 p.m.

National Nursing Home Week under way in Magic Valley

TWIN FALLS — National Nursing Home Week is being celebrated this week at J and P Enterprises, Inc., operated nursing homes in Twin Falls and Gooding.

Hazelde Manor and Sky View Manor in Twin Falls and Green Acres Terrace, Gooding, will participate in the observance through Saturday.

Gooding mayor, Harley Crippen, has proclaimed this week Nursing Home Week in Gooding, also.

Betty Woolen, Twin Falls, and Jeannette Molino, Gooding, direct social activities programs throughout the year for residents of the homes. The activities include arts and crafts and entertainment for groups of residents as well as a number of individual activities that provide residents with a one to one communication with volunteers. The volunteers perform such services as letter writing, reading to the blind and assisting the disabled.

A number of volunteers have been taking residents to community functions outside the homes, as a means of helping them remain in touch with community affairs.

A bazaar is planned for June in Gooding to sell the crafts residents of Green Acres Terrace have made.

The public is invited to visit residents, participate in activities or to bring special activities to the residents of the three homes. The public is also invited to the Gooding bazaar.

Fashion and Beauty Tips

Ski-Pack

It'll help save your face, if you use waterproof make-up and mascara and carry along a supply of hand and body lotion when you're skiing.

Headly Make-up

Whenever a close fitting or head-hugging turban is worn, make-up should be particularly emphasized. Without anything to detract from the face, make the most of eyes with smudge shadow and lots of mascara and accentuate the mouth with glossy color.

Trench Coats in Color

The classic trench coat returns with lovely fabrics that can be worn rain or dried furs are going to be the rage and already hang in closets of jet setters. All kinds of dyed furs — from fur pieces to fur coats, in outrageous colors.

Shine

And the colors are white and cream so the coat looks great for daytime or as an evening coat.

Baby Your Nails

After the vamp reds for nails, come the baby pinks. Pastels in blue, lilac, lemon yellow and baby blue are the latest fashion hints.

Lasting Lips

Lip gloss lasts longer if you coat your lips with a thin coat of powder before applying the gloss.

Western Shirts

Western-style shirts, complete with arrow pockets and embroidery, are getting popular in pale colors to go with pastel palazzos.

Keep It Natural

Foundation evens out skin tones and gives an added bit of color to bland complexions, but it should be kept sheer and natural looking to work effectively.

Brow Business

Although fashion magazines advocate thinner eyebrows, the advice should be tempered to go with your own facial structure. Shape and thickness of brows is determined by the rest of the face, so there can't be a standard thickness set.

And even on the eyes, bleaching should be done from the bottom and any bleaching must be done with facial hair bleach, not regular hair bleach.

Carroll Righter

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAY 17, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Steer clear of any arguments which could turn into an unpleasant battle. Overlook some associates acting in an overly independent manner. Control an urge to break up present benefits for new surroundings. Express happiness.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) Communicating with out-of-towners is fine, but don't commit yourself in any way. Go to the right sources for the data you need. Evening is particularly fine for the social side of life.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Do something to improve your health and you can easily handle those responsibilities in the future. Strive for a more harmonious relationship with mate. Show kindness to one who is ill.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't sever connections with an associate because you are in a strange mood or you will regret it later on. Show that you are steadfast with others, even under difficult conditions.

MOON (CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Put all that energy into doing your work in a most precise way and you add to present benefits. Take no chances in handling monetary matters at this time. Take health treatments.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) You want romance, but make sure you don't force yourself on anyone. Start perfecting your finest talents and improve your position in life. Avoid one who can be harmful to your progress.

VIARGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Try to understand the views of kin better and be helpful to those more harmonious at home, don't be so critical of others. Find a better way to add to present income. Use care in travel.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Much care in motion is important now or you could get into a costly accident. Take care of your purse or wallet when out shopping. Avoid those who are in an angry mood at this time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov 21) Don't think you have to spend a good deal of money to gain another's favor. Forget visiting an adviser who has own problems and could do little for you now. Do your own thinking.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) Make your plans carefully if you want to add to present abundance, otherwise hasty action now could result in loss. Don't be forceful with anyone. A diplomatic approach is best.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) If someone has slighted you, just know that person isn't worth worrying about. Carry through with whatever you have promised to others. Assist one who needs your help.

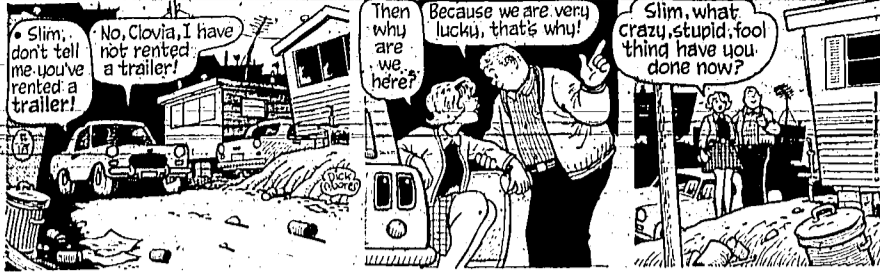

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) Avoid friends today since you are not in the right mood for them and there could be an argument. Keep busy at the work you have to do. Try not to bother others with your personal woes.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar 20) Make sure you take no unnecessary risks in any business dealings today. Observe every rule and regulation that applies to you. Pay bills when due. Show that you are conscientious.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people who will act on impulse and get in trouble if you don't teach to be more disciplined. There is honesty here. Work in foreign countries could be most profitable. Teach to do nothing that could bring criticism from others. Musical talent here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Understand about 10,000 tipsters a year report alleged tax cheaters to the IRS in the hope of reward, but only about one out of every five actually gets paid off.

It's reported that seven out of every 10 engaged couples in the Soviet Union still ask parental consent to marry, even though it's not required.

This is the order in which your senses stop registering their impressions as you drift off to sleep: 1. Sight; 2. Taste; 3. Smell; 4. Hearing; 5. Touch.

Do you know of any bank that assumes responsibility for the safety of what's in its deposit boxes? ... Come on, "strength" can't be the only nine-letter word containing but one vowel, can it? ... Life expectancy of a U.S. Army general is somewhat longer than that of other men. Why?

DANCING BEARS

Pretty imaginative bunch, those gypsies. History records that years ago in Central Europe they devised a physical therapy for sore back muscles and sold same to many a working man. It consisted of inducing a small trained bear to massage the patient's back by dancing on it. Pitch as - smile, please - those animals never get aching backs because they so treat themselves, instinctively knowing exactly where to jump up and down. In medical history, dancing bears should outrank leeches, I think.

PENNY A GALLON

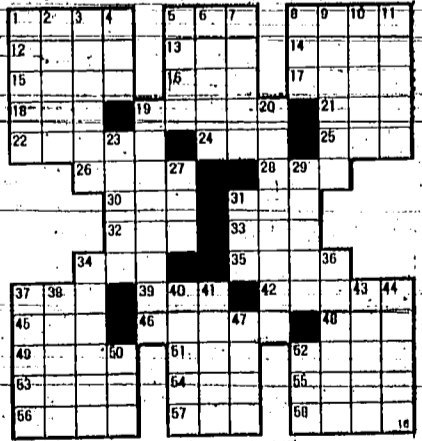

Whatever happened to the old boy who invented some sort of green fluid which substituted for gasoline to fuel a car for about a penny per gallon?

A. Louis Enrich? He wound up in Sing Sing. But not before he took the senior Henry Ford for quite a ride with his remarkable truck. At age 70, Enrich in 1916 demonstrated his concoction to reporters, publishers, military experts and industrial giants in the auto business. He poured a few spoonfuls of the stuff mixed with water into a gas tank, and the car took off, purring perfectly. They tried it in other cars, too. Still worked. To this day nobody knows how he pulled it off. His green gasoline hoax isn't what landed him in jail, though. It was a grand larceny indictment that grew out of a stock swindle in 1923.

which also held. South saw he needed to shorten himself twice. He started out fine by ruffing his last diamond while Jimmy got rid of his last spade.

South entered dummy with a club, discarded his ace of spades on a second high club, ruffed a club to get down to two trumps, and tried to enter dummy with a second spade. Unfortunately for his purposes, Jimmy was now out of spades and able to ruff.

If Jimmy had discarded a low spade, West would almost surely have led his fourth high diamond. South might still have gone down but he could have worked out East's distribution and found a play to make his contract.

Blaine poses questions over sewage allotment

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — Blaine county commissioners have formulated a list of questions on the state-set limit on the amount of treated sewage allowed in the Big Wood River.

The questions are contained in a letter from the commissioners to Dr. Leo Stokes, Boise, director of Environmental and Community Services (DECS) water and pollution control programs.

Earlier this month, the DECS determined that a maximum of 1,000 pounds of organic waste per day can be dumped into the river without it becoming polluted. The present waste load is estimated at 550 pounds per day.

Dr. Stokes has said county officials will be given the opportunity to initiate studies that will help them determine how to allocate the allowable limit between the area's communities.

The commissioners' letter states, "May we first say that we appreciate your department's concern for the maintenance of water quality in the Big Wood River. We, too, share that concern."

The letter states that since receipt of Stokes' letter which gives the limit, the commissioners had discussed the matter with several people who are directly concerned with the problem and had had preliminary discussions with engineers on the study the department proposes.

Questions raised in the commissioners' letter include the following: "While we are willing to undertake the study, are funds available from the department either on the state level or federal level?"

The letter says that Blaine County did not make provision for appropriation to cover study costs in its 1973 budget, which was set in February.

Assuming a study is made and allocations determined, will the department accept the allocation and issue waste discharge permits on that basis?"

The letter says the Big Wood River probably will be divided into three areas for allocation, including the area from the Ketchum sewage treatment plant north; from the Hailey plant north to Ketchum; and from Magic Reservoir north to the Hailey plant.

"If the allocation study is made in conjunction with our own assimilated capacity analysis; and such analysis shows that the 1,000-pound bob limit on discharge is too low, will the department accept the county's analysis?"

"Does the DECS now have the statutory authority to issue discharge permits and to require the study you propose?"

"If the study by the county shows that on the basis of population projection and given an 85 per cent efficiency treatment that the limit of 1,000 pounds may be exceeded at any given point in time, is the DECS willing to give a high priority, that is, above another projects for Environmental Protection Agency funding for any necessary expansion of sewage treatment in Blaine County?"

During the regular meeting Monday, commissioners tabled a request from JUB Engineers, Boise, that the firm be considered to conduct the study.

Harold Cox, representing JUB, said the study would be conducted in conjunction with Dr. Al Wallace, of the sanitary engineering department, University of Idaho, and would cost about $3,000 to $3,500.

Cox said that several sampling stations would be set up along the river including possibly above and below Ketchum; above and below Hailey; below Bellevue; and possibly on East Fork and Warm Springs.

Cassia PTA urges vote

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News writer

BURLEY — A special mill levy election for public kindergartens was urged by members of the Cassia County PTA Council at the county school board meeting Monday night.

The current public kindergarten program, which consists of four classes in Burley and several in other county communities, will not be operating next year following cut-backs in federal funds.

The head start program will continue next year as well as several private kindergartens in the area. But, PTA Council representatives said, many people's incomes are too high for eligibility in the head start program and too low to be able to afford private kindergartens.

Superintendent Harold Blauer said a 1.5 mill levy would be required to finance kindergartens.

The board took no action on the proposals.

The board made plans for sale of $3.8 million in bonds approved by the district in a vote last month. The bonds will be sold June 11.

County fiscal agent Ken Newman, Salt Lake City of the firm of Burroughs and Smith suggested that the board approve about $800 to finance a Moody rating of the district. Newman said the credit rating for the district would be probably high attracting large eastern and western firms for purchase of the bonds.

Newman said the interest rate on the bonds would probably be about 5.2 per cent.

Trustees approved an $18,000 a year salary for Blauer, a $16,000 salary for instructional supervisor Norman Hurst and a $15,750 salary for business manager Matt Warr, following a discussion in closed session.

2 elected

RUPERT — Two new trustees were easily elected from a field of five in a Minidoka School trustee election Tuesday.

Dr. Harold Catmull, 52, will fill the opening left by Nile Mariele, board chairman, who did not run for re-election. Dr. Catmull, a Rupert dentist, won the zone 4 election with 97 votes while his opponent Arturo Zamora netted six votes.

Groundbreaking

Minidoka school budget approved

RUPERT — The $3,065 million Minidoka County school district budget for 1973-74 was accepted Tuesday night without protest.

Assistant Supt. Doyle Lowder gave an hour long presentation and explanation of the budget to over 20 people who attended the budget hearing at the East Minico Junior High School. A few technical questions were asked, but no comments made by the group. A vote was taken in the school board offices following the hearing.

A proposal by Supt. Dr. Darrell Hatfield to set a cut-off figure on salaries with increments for teachers involved in extra-curricular work was tabled until the Monday board meeting pending further discussion.

Currently increments range from one per cent for some department heads to 18 per cent for teachers involved in the high school music program. With some salaries rising to the $10,000 level plus the increments, the cost is getting quite high, Hatfield said.

The board decided to grant increments to four Minico High School teachers who, because of enrollment, must teach six periods instead of the usual five next year. The amount of the increment will be determined at the next board meeting.

Dr. Hatfield estimated that at 10 per cent these increments could require another $4,000 from the budget, and he was unsure where the money would come from because of the "extremely tight" budget for next year.

Four appeals for early dismissal from school were heard by the board. A decision was made to authorize the principals and vice-principals of individual schools to determine each case on its merits.

Gary Swann, head coach at Minico High School requested that he teach four instead of five classes next year. According to Lowder, this was the agreement made with Swann when he signed a contract with the district two years ago.

Last year Swann taught five classes. Board members felt that granting Swann this variance would be opening the door for similar requests by other coaches. Dr. Hatfield said the tight budget this year would make it difficult to grant the request.

In closed session, following the regular meeting, the board failed to make a decision on the request, Dr. Hatfield said.

A request from the Acequia Ward of the LDS Church to use a school bus for trips to church temples in Utah this summer was denied.

Lowder said that the district doesn't have a public utilities license from the Public Utilities Commission (PUC) to use the busses for non-school activities. Two years ago the district was served with a notification of that fact by the PUC, he said.

School attorney Roger Ling questioned the legality of such bus use, and said the insurance company may "frown" on the use of busses for non-school purposes.

The board has in the past granted permission for bus use to many groups but turned last night's request down because of the several trips involved.

Hailey okays annex vote

She told the council, "If you do annex then you are going to betray the people of Hailey and I don't think you want to do that."

Martindale replied, "There is no way we are going to stop people coming into the Wood River Valley, legally."

He said McCulloch is offering a comprehensive development plan that proposes to concentrate the population in an area less likely to do damage to the ecology.

"There is going to be a lot of problems whether McCulloch comes in or not."

Martindale said that if the tax base is not increased, new schools cannot be built.

"Only by this type of orderly development are we going to get a valley we can live with within 15 to 20 years," Martindale said. He said he felt that the McCulloch Development plan would set a precedent for future development in the valley.

Questions at the hearing mainly centered on tax issues. Don Angell, Hailey, asked the Council whether members felt that the tax base increase brought by the development could provide proper services for the development.

Both councilmen Neal Nyblad and Claude (Hop) Porter answered in the affirmative.

Douglas Hawkins, representing Trico Development Inc., the McCulloch engineering firm, presented figures on projected tax base increases.

According to figures developed in conjunction with the Blaine County assessor, Hawkins said at the moment the development is recorded, it will have $5.2 million assessed evaluation.

At the end of the first year, the development will probably contribute about $46,600 in taxes to Hailey and about $69,000 in school taxes, Hawkins said.

At the end of the 20th year, based on 1972 dollar figures and the present mill levy rate, Hawkins said the development probably would contribute the $355,000 in taxes to Hailey and $507,000 school tax.

Filer re-elects school trustee

FILER — Everett Andrews was re-elected to a three year term as trustee of Zone II for School District 431 Tuesday.

Andrews received 24 of the 26 votes cast. There were two write in votes for Dale Stultz, a high school student.

No Filer citizens attended a public hearing on the district budget for 1973-74. The $668,651 budget had been approved by the trustees at a special budget meeting last week. The budget shows an about 15 per cent increase over last year's budget of $570,200.

New teachers hired by the district Tuesday night include Charles Farmer, Twin Falls, Filer High School basketball coach; William Rupprecht, former Clover school principal, seventh and eighth grades at Filer elementary school; Mrs. Frankie Lou Hale, Twin Falls and Mrs. Gernie Iversen, Filer, half day each in Filer elementary school, fourth grade, Mrs. Arlene Marshall, Twin Falls, Filer elementary; Mrs. Lorraine Hughes, Buhl, Filer High School.

Gerald Sprude, Boise architect, discussed plans with the trustees for a future vocational agriculture building to be erected on the high school grounds.

HAILEY — Dr. Art Richards, Hailey, has been appointed by the Blaine County School Board to fill the unexpired term of William B. Mallory.

Mallory, who submitted his resignation last month, had served as trustee chairman. He had one year remaining on his term.

Trustee Ronda Hunt, Carey, was elected interim chairman. He will serve until the board is reorganized in June, when newly elected members Dorothy Moore and Mark Patterson take office.

In other action before the trustees Monday night, the board:

— Agreed to submit to the Hailey City Council a petition containing about 100 signatures of district principals, teachers and non-certified personnel requesting that a school impact study be conducted on the proposed McCulloch Properties Inc. development.

— Heard a preliminary report by Wood River High School Principal John Barton on administrative staffing proposed schedule changes at the high school.

Barton said the changes were designed as an alternative to provide additional classroom space. This year, he said, 83 seniors will graduate and next year the school will receive 100 freshmen from Wood River Junior High School.

Barton said the proposal would offer an eight-period day as opposed to the present six-period day. Students would schedule at least a succession of five periods, he said.

Also proposed, Barton said, would be offering nine-week duration courses. He said the proposed system would allow students to register for more classes of the same general type and was workable for certain subjects, including English, social studies, and home economics.

Jerome trustees delay action on censoring plan

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — The Jerome school board has delayed action on a liberal policy concerning censorship of books and audio visual materials in Jerome schools.

Superintendent of schools, John B. Campbell, presented the proposal which was drawn up by Marilyn Botkin, high school librarian and himself, to the trustees at their meeting Monday night. The proposal follows the guidelines set forth in the American School Board Journal.

The proposal asks that the school board, responsible for all book purchases for the school district, recognize the students' right of free access to many different types of books.

It also asks that the board recognize the right of teachers and administrators to select books and other materials in accord with current trends in education and to make them available in the schools.

It was requested that the policy of the district require that materials selected for the school district be in accord with the following regulations: Books and other reading matter shall be chosen for value of interest and enlightenment of all students in the community. A book shall not be excluded because of the race, nationality, political or religious views of the writer or of its style and language.

Every effort shall be made to provide materials that present all points of view concerning the problems and issues of our times international, national and local.

Books or other reading matter of some factual authority shall not be removed from library shelves or classrooms because of partisan, doctrinal approval or disapproval.

Censorship of books shall be challenged in order to maintain the school's responsibility to provide information and enlightenment.

Campbell said that in accordance with the policy of censorship, the board should adopt the following policy that the final decision for controversial reading matter shall rest with the school board after careful examination and discussion of the reading matter with school officials or anyone else the board may wish to involve. No parent or group of parents has the right to determine the reading for students other than their own children.

Campbell said the board, however, should recognize the right of an individual parent to request that his child not have to read a given book and any parent who wishes to request reconsideration of the use of any book in the school must make a written request.

He also recommended that a committee of two teachers and one librarian appointed by the principal shall review the material and judge whether it conforms to the stated principles.

Campbell said he thought it was in the best interests of the school district to adopt such a policy. "So far we have not heard any chronic criticism over the books in the library, but that is not to say we won't," Campbell said.

Board chairman Gordon Hollifield said he could not accept such a policy until it had been reviewed by the school attorney. "Under the first section of this proposal, it states a book shall not be excluded because of the race, nationality, political or religious views of the writer or of its style and language. If we accept this, what is left to object to? It states we would permit any kind of book," Hollifield said.

Campbell said "This is what the Supreme Court of the United States has ruled that we must do. But under the proposal, we have a policy dealing with censorship of books and other materials which would prevent unwanted books in our library," Hollifield said "If I understand you right, Campbell, the first half of this proposal states that the Supreme Court says we cannot discriminate against these books and then the second half of your proposal says we are going to discriminate against the books and the Supreme Court. I'm sorry, but I can't accept this. Something is wrong somewhere and I think our attorney had better take a good look at this to see what the legalities are in order to protect the district."

Trustee LeRoy Weigle questioned Campbell as to what the purpose is of using books that would have to be challenged. Campbell told Weigle that many of the classic books, which have been in school libraries for years are now and challenged.

Wendell seeks state A-3 repeat; Gooding State eyes high finish

BOISE — The Wendell Trojans, their six-man regional track championship team further trimmed to two in individual events, will still have to be considered a threat to repeat as state A-3 track champions.

The Trojans go into the event with Kip Dennis in four events, Alan Stevenson in two individual competitions in the 440-yard relay. The state will give the Trojans tough competition in two things, the high jump and the 220-yard dash. The 440-yard relay, which after all is a matter of baton exchanges, is always a fickle event.

But from a comparison of times of the other two regionals held in the state last weekend, the Trojans could have enough quality to win it again. (They shared it with Homedale last week). Several teams will bring more people and the depth factor — lots of third and fourth-place points — could take a darkhorse into the title. Nampa Christian, second in Wendell last week, has good depth.

Again, based on the time comparisons, Dennis has to be favored in the high and low hurdles. His 10-flat in the 100-yard dash was the best in state but that race is a matter of starting and is over too quickly to rectify any mistakes. Stevenson's 23.2 in the 220-yard dash leave him right with the other two regional champions at 23.4 and 23.2, so that race will be a focal point. He also anchors the 440-yard relay which had the best time and, incidentally, Wendell's best time of the year. Stevenson also will find competition in the long jump. Jim Parot of Lapwale sailed 21-3/4 while Hymas of Soda Springs went 19-9. Stevenson's jumping the past couple of weeks is coming back to the form that carried him to second last year.

Parot, the northern champion, and Hymas, eastern titlists, both have superior high jump marks than Dennis. They went 6-3/4 and 6-3 respectively, while Dennis was 6-0 with a season best of 5-2 in district. Gooding State, although suffering a setback when John Hunter went out too quickly and had to settle for fourth in the mile, places his hopes for a state trophy in the distances and weights. Steve McCalley, who set a national detour mark of 4:28.2 last week, has the best there easily. His 10:09 two mile, which was seconded by Hunter, leaves him behind Ahlers of Prairie who clocked a 10:03.3. Russ Hollins, slightly ahead of the other regions in the shotput and in the thick of things in the discus, carries basically the rest of the Redskin hopes.

Alan Schultz of Castleford, a junior, has the best time in his quest for a second quartermile state title. Joining Schultz as defending champions are Dennis in the high hurdles (he was upset in the lows last spring); McCalley in the mile; Hunter in the two-mile; Parot in the high jump; Haylett of Homedale in the pole vault; Dahlin of Kamiah in the shotput. Ironically, defending 100-yard dash champion Hughes of Salmon River didn't get past district eliminations this year.

Houston, the Houston Oilers' all-league safety, was traded to the Washington Redskins Tuesday for five reserve players, including wide receiver Clifton McNeil and tight end Mack Alston.

The Redskins also gave up offensive tackle Jim Snowden, defensive end Mike Fanucci and safety Jeff Severson. Washington also received the Oilers' sixth round draft choice. "This trade was good for both teams," Redskins coach George Allen said at Washington. "It did not involve any of our first team players and it will give Houston five football players with experience at different positions."

General Manager Sid Gilman of the Oilers said four of the five could start for Houston next season. Coach Bill Peterson said he was impressed with Alston, a 6-2, 230-pound, fourth year player from Maryland State. "We tried to trade (with) George Allen for him last year," Peterson said. "Snowden is a great athlete. I've known him since his high school days on waivers from the New York Jets. The third candidate is Mike Hatch, a rookie free agent from Akron. Houston, a 6-3, 190-pounder from Prairie View, holds the NFL record for most pass interceptions returned for touchdowns — nine. He also holds the NFL record for the most returned in one season, four in 1971.

Indy field has trouble finding speed

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Mike Mosley of Clermont, Ind., found some additional speed for his already qualified car Tuesday, but more miles per hour were hard to come by for machines still trying to find a berth in the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Mosley had a fast lap of 193.216 miles per hour, which is nearly two miles quicker than his top qualifying lap over the last weekend at 191.530 m.p.h. and his average qualifying speed of 189.753 m.p.h. Mosley wound up in the seventh row for the May 28 race.

Peter Revson of Redondo Beach, Calif., and pole sitter Johnny Rutherford of Fort Worth, Tex., got over the 190 m.p.h. mark with race-day setups. Rutherford, who qualified at 198.413 m.p.h., and Revson, whose 192-plus put him in the fourth row, ran Tuesday with full fuel loads but still managed the quick laps.

But while the "haves" practiced under race-day conditions, the "have nots" were looking for more speed that would get them into the 33-car field. With 30 cars qualified over the past weekend, the slowest car in the tentative lineup had a speed of more than 187 m.p.h. Tuesday's nonqualified machines weren't really close to that.

Bob Harkey of Indianapolis was the fastest of the non-qualified with a 184.880-lap Tom Bigelow of Whitewater, Wis., and Sam Sessions of Nashville, Mich., were in the 183 range. John Mahler of Bettendorf, Iowa, who had a lap of 191 Sunday before giving up on qualifying attempt, could get up to only 182-plus Tuesday.

National driving champion Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., who had only a 180-plus qualifying run Sunday, had his backup car out for shakedown runs Tuesday, preparing for the possibility that his No. 1 car might be bumped Saturday or Sunday.

Bigelow and Larry McCoy of Zionsville, Pa., escaped harm when their cars spun during practice runs. Neither can make contact with the wall.

Tigers cop SCIC JV title

HAILEY — The Jerome Tigers, taking 26 points out of the mile and two-mile, won the South Central Idaho Conference freshman track meet Tuesday afternoon.

Big 10 might okay red-shirt proposal

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke said Tuesday there's a good chance conference faculty representatives meeting here in the next few days may approve the five-year eligibility or "red shirt" rule.

But while the "haves" practiced under race-day conditions, the "have nots" were looking for more speed that would get them into the 33-car field.

With 30 cars qualified over the past weekend, the slowest car in the tentative lineup had a speed of more than 187 m.p.h. Tuesday's nonqualified machines weren't really close to that.

"No. 1 is that the Big Ten and the Ivy League remain the last major collegiate athletic entities operating on a four-year eligibility rule," he said.

"No. 2 is that fact that a proposal to adopt a four-year eligibility proposal advanced by the Atlantic Coast Conference at the NCAA convention in January in Chicago was overwhelmingly defeated. That indicated quite obviously that the rest of the country wasn't going to go with the four-year rule."

"And probably more importantly is the fact that the NCAA convention in January adopting for all practical purposes national limitation on 105 football grants, reduces the possibility of wholesale red shirting or abuses..."

The conference athletic directors met with the commissioner Tuesday. Faculty representatives will meet Wednesday and there will be a joint meeting of faculty representatives and athletic directors Friday.

Angels' Nolan Ryan hurls no-hitter at Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Smoke-throwing Nolan Ryan, acquired from the New York Mets in one of the most one-sided trades in baseball history, pitched the first no-hitter of his career and the second of the Major League season, striking out 12 and walking three Tuesday night.

The California Angels blanked the Kansas City Royals 3-0. Bob Oliver drove in two runs with a first-inning single and a sixth-inning homer to provide Ryan with all the support he needed as he won his fifth game in eight decisions.

The game was played under protest from the third inning on after Kansas City Manager Jack McKeon complained that Ryan was not keeping his foot in contact with the pitching rubber. Plate umpire Jim Evans had warned Ryan about getting a "walking start" in the first inning.

Ryan had not won a game since May 2 when he beat Detroit in 12 innings.

The only previous no-hitter this season was pitched, ironically, by Kansas City rookie Steve Busby against Detroit, 3-0, April 27.

The crowd of 12,205 at the new Royals Stadium sat impassively as Ryan went to the mound for the ninth inning.

Fred Patek, the smallest man in the major leagues, hit a foul pop-up to first baseman Jim Spencer for the first out in the inning.

Steve Hovley went down swinging on a 2-2 count for the second out.

The final batter was Amos Otis, the only Kansas City batter to pull a ball against the fastballing Ryan all night when he grounded to short in the seventh.

Otis missed Ryan's first pitch, then hit a long fly to rightfielder Ken Berry who caught the ball on the warning track just in front of the wall at the 380-foot mark.

Milwaukee wins in 17th inning

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Dave May, who hit nine home runs all of last season, hit his 10th of the year in the 17th inning Tuesday night to give the Milwaukee Brewers a 2-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

The win enabled the Brewers to break a tie with Boston and take over undisputed first place in the American League East with a 15-15 record.

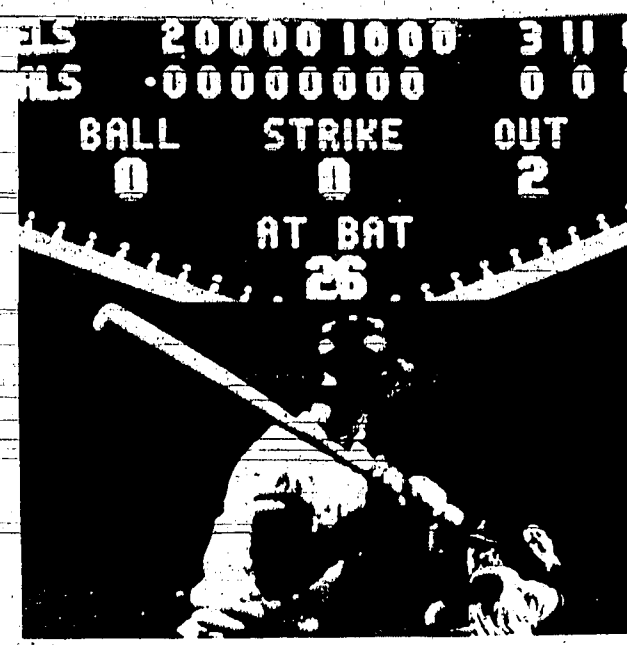

The score was tied 1-1 with one out in the 17th when May collected his fourth hit of the game, a home run that barely cleared the right field wall.

Skip Lockwood, the third Brewers' pitcher, hurled the 17th inning to get the win, his second against two losses. Brent Strom, the fifth Cleveland pitcher was saddled with his fourth loss against one win.

Cleveland scored first in the fifth when Frank Duffy was safe on a felder's choice, went to third on Tom Ragland's single and scored when Buddy Bell forced Ragland at second.

Royal victim

SCOREBOARD tells the story as Angels' Nolan Ryan pitches to Royals' Amos Otis with two outs in the ninth. Ryan got the no-hitter, the first of his career, by striking out 12 and walking three. Final score was 3-0. (UPI telephoto).

BOISE — Terry Miller, 6-4 all-Los Angeles guard from Taft High School, has signed a national letter of intent to attend Boise State next fall. The announcement of Miller's signing was made by Bronco head basketball coach Bus Connor. Miller, who played for the Taft Toreadors in Tarzana, Calif., averaged 18.6 points per game last year and 10 rebounds per encounter. For the past two years Miller has hit 76 per cent of his free throws and 59 per cent of his shots from the field. His highest point output the past two seasons has been 27 points.

Ryan's no-hitter draws praise from defeated Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — There was nothing fluky about Nolan Ryan's first no-hitter. He blew the Kansas City Royals away 3-0 and he looked like he could do the same thing for nine more innings Tuesday night.

"He's throwing the ball harder than anybody I've ever seen in my life," said John Mayberry, the major league RBI leader who struck out three times against the California flame-thrower.

Amos Otis, who knew Ryan when both were with the New York Mets, said, "I yelled at him all through the game. I called him every name you can think of and told him we were going to break it up. All he did was look at me and shake his head. The man derided the Big Blue Bus."

Otis made the last out of the game, taking rightfielder Ken Berry to the warning track about 380 feet from home plate. But Berry, who was inserted into the game for defensive purposes in the seventh inning, made the catch and lifted the ball over his head in a victory salute. Ryan's teammates poured from the dugout to pump his hand.

Otis was the only Royal to pull a ball against Ryan, who struck out 12 and walked three. He grounded out routinely to shortstop Rudy Meoli in the seventh.

Kansas City catcher Carl Taylor said, "The man was throwing harder at the end than at the beginning."

Chicago White Sox a 6-5 victory over the Oakland A's.

The victory snapped a three-game White Sox losing streak, their longest of the season and increased their American League West lead to two games over Kansas City.

The victory went to reliever Cy Acosta, his first decision of the year, although the A's knocked him out of the box of the 12th when they loaded the bases with one out on three singles.

Steve Stone then came on and struck out Joe Rudi and Gene Tenace to end the three hour and 40 minute contest.

Chicago White Sox a 6-5 victory over the Oakland A's.

he was at the start. After the first time around, I thought I could hit him. But when I saw him the second time, I knew there was no way."

And Hal Metcalf, who didn't even play, said, "If there was a higher league, Ryan could play in it."

Ryan himself took the feat rather calmly. "I've never felt like I was the type of pitcher to throw a no-hitter," the 26-year-old right-hander said. "My curve isn't the type that is overpowering. And I don't have the type of fastball that really moves like some left-handers throw."

The most difficult play turned in by the Angels came with two out in the eighth when pinch-hitter Gail Hopkins lofted a soft line drive to center. Meoli raced back and grabbed the ball with his back to the infield.

"I got hurt a lot by balls hit just over the infield," Ryan said. "I pitch inside a lot and jam people and they get those kind of hits."

Ryan's gem was the second no-hitter of the major league season. Kansas City rookie Steve Busby pitched the first, winning 3-0 at Detroit April 27.

Kansas City Manager Jack McKeon played the game under protest after the third inning when he complained, to no avail, that Ryan was not maintaining contact with the pitching rubber during his windup. McKeon had complained in the first inning and plate umpire Jim Evans had warned Ryan against taking a "walking start."

Ryan's three walks were to Steve Hovley in the first, Taylor in the third and Paul Schaal in the eighth. Between the last two walks, the native of Refugio, Tex., retired 16 straight batters.

California catcher Jeff Torborg caught his third major league no-hitter, having also caught a perfect game by Sandy Koufax in 1965 and a no-hitter by Bill Singer in 1970. Both of them were when Torborg played for Los Angeles.

"Nolan has thrown this hard before," said Torborg. "But you get to the point where it's humanly impossible to throw any harder. Yeah, I was nervous in the ninth. I was thinking about it."

Ryan was well aware of what he had going in the ninth inning, too. But he said two previous no-hitters had prepared him for it.

"I knew I had it," he said. "I put it out of my mind. I wasn't trying to make this pitch or that pitch."

Fred Patek led off the ninth by hitting a pop foul to first baseman Jim Spencer. Then Hovley fanned on a 2-2 pitch. Otis swung and missed at a high fastball before flying out to Harry.

Ryan didn't exactly pick on a weak-hitting team to perform his feat. Entering the game, the Royals had a team batting average of .265.

Louisiana's shrimp production, averaging about 250,000 barrels annually, is the largest in the continental United States.

Idaho State signs three JC transfers

POCATELLO — Three junior college basketball players have signed national letters of intent to attend Idaho State University. Two of them transferred from Cerritos College, where ISU Coach Jim Killingsworth formerly was basketball mentor.

George Rodriguez and Ron Kruidhof are from Cerritos. Rodriguez is a 6-1, 180-pound guard who earned all-South Coast Conference honors. A playmaker, Rodriguez averaged 14.5 ppg. "Tony is the complete offensive guard," says Killingsworth. "He's a good jumper, is quick, can shoot, and sets up plays."

Kruidhof is 6-6, 190-pounds, and also was all-conference. He averaged 17 points and 12 rebounds, and was honorable mention all-state. "Ron is an excellent offensive player who goes to the basket well and can also hit from the outside."

Arrests up — SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Highway Patrol reports it increased its drunk driving arrests by more than 40 per cent from 1969 through 1971.

The agency said its stepped-up program of detentions and removing the inebriated driver from the road resulted in a reduction of more than 32 per cent in fatal accidents involving drinking.

Chicago edges Oakland in 12

OAKLAND (UPI) — John Jeter singled, stole second and scored on Pat Kelly's two-out double in the 12th inning Tuesday night to give the Chicago White Sox a 6-5 victory over the Oakland A's.

The victory snapped a three-game White Sox losing streak, their longest of the season and increased their American League West lead to two games over Kansas City.

Cleghorn becomes ISU mentor

POCATELLO — Jack Cleghorn, the only man in Oregon basketball history to have coached back-to-back state high school champions, is the new Assistant Basketball Coach at Idaho State University.

He replaces Phil de la Porte, who resigned effective June 1st to enter private business.

After graduating from Eastern Washington in 1969, Cleghorn became Coach at Seappose (pronounced ska POOSE) H.S. in Seappose, Oregon and took his team to a 76-25 record in four years, capped by 23-3 and 23-4 records and Oregon AA titles the last two years, a feat never before accomplished by an Oregon High School coach.

Cleghorn played for ISU Head Coach Jim Killingsworth at Cerritos College in 1960. He is a native of Bellflower, Calif. and was an all-conference high school player at Bellflower, H.S. He attended Cerritos College two years, playing tennis and averaging 10 points a game as 5-10 playmaker on the basketball team.

He transferred to Eastern Washington in 1960 and was all-conference there. Cleghorn worked one season, 1968-9, as freshman coach for EWSC, before going to Seappose to break records. Dave Allan, Cleghorn's "top player" at Idaho State next fall.

Derby winners cut field entered for Preakness

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The one-two Kentucky Derby punch of winner Secretariat and second place Sham apparently knocked out all but one of the other 11 starters who challenged the pair at Churchill Downs. Our Native, who was 12 lengths back of Secretariat while finishing third at the Downs, will take on the top two again in Saturday's $150,000-added Preakness, but the other four likely to go to the post have rather undistinguished records. Our Native was involved in the gate incident in the Derby, when Secretariat reared in his stall and kicked Our Native, but after the race jockey Don Brumfield said that while the fuss before the start surely didn't do his mount any good, he doubted that Our Native would have caught the top pair. Trainer Bill Resseque, Jr. informed Illinois authorities that he would ship Our Native Tuesday night, his entry bringing the probable field to seven.

Pirates rally past Expos 9-8 to snap six-game losing spell

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Dave Cash singled with the bases loaded in the 11th inning Tuesday night to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a come-from-behind 9-8 victory over the Montreal Expos, ending a six-game losing streak.

Bob Robertson opened the inning with a walk and took second on a one-out single by Gene Alley. Dave Giusti, the last of six Pittsburgh pitchers in the game, received a walk to load the bases and set the stage for Cash's winning single to left off John Strohmyer.

The Pirates, who trailed 8-4 in the sixth and 8-4 in the seventh, scored four runs in the eighth inning to tie it when Alty stroked a one-out triple and scored on Gene Clines pinch-single and Cash. Richie Hebner, Manny Sanguillen and Al Oliver followed with singles.

Brock Cards drop Phillies

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Lou Brock cracked out four hits Tuesday as the St. Louis Cardinals erupted for 13 hits all tolled and came up with four runs in the eighth inning to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies 8-4.

The game was tied 4-4 when Darrell Brannan entered in relief of Barry Lorsch in the bottom of the eighth.

Stealing doesn't pay

Like to go the post in the mile and three sixteenths second gem of the Triple Crown, in addition to the top three from the Derby, will be Torsion, Ecole Etage, Lark Twist and Deadly Dream.

The latter two surfaced here Tuesday, when owner-trainer Larry Boyce filled out an entry blank for Lark Twist and trainer Henry E. Worcester informed the track that Deadly Dream from the Wide Track Farm of Frederick R. Menke would be a starter.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Gene Bartow, NCAA basketball coach of the year whose team reached the finals of the national championship, will take a team of American allstars to the People's Republic of China next month.

Bartow was named to the Memphis State, said Tuesday Sports Council, and officials of the Committee for Better he had been offered and accepted the duties, which will officially be announced in New York Monday.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Billy Williams' two-run home run first in Wrigley Field this year, sparked the Chicago Cubs to their seventh straight victory, a 4-3 win over the New York Mets Tuesday which snapped pitcher Jerry Kosman's five game winning streak.

Bert Hooton needed relief by Jack Aker in the ninth to save his fourth straight win and run his season record to 5-2.

HOUSTON (UPI) — Dusty Baker slammed a three-run homer and knuckleballer Phil Niekro pitched a five-hitter in his first start this season to give the Atlanta Braves a 4-1 victory over the Houston Astros Tuesday night.

Boise firm draws plan in Minidoka

By ROBERT SCHLEEF
Times-News writer
RUPERT — Thurber and Marlowe Architects, Boise, will be hired to draw the plans for the new wing of the Minidoka County courthouse, commissioners decided Monday.

The commissioners discussed what to include in the new wing. Present plans are to include space for the probation office, the Department of Public Assistance, the county auditor and the magistrate court room which will be on the second floor.

William Murdock, Twin Falls, department of Social and Rehabilitative Services, talked to the commissioners about changing from food stamps to a commodity program. He helped Burley begin a community program early this year.

Elmer Ketterling, commission chairman, will go to Cassia County Wednesday, May 23, to observe commodity distribution and determine whether a similar program would be satisfactory for Minidoka County.

Commissioners were reassigned at the Monday meeting with Ketterling being named chairman and Lyle Burton vice-chairman.

Mrs. Jo Hillis, who was appointed to fill the remainder of the term vacated due to the death of Wayne Hollenbeck, will attend meetings of the fair-board, zoning commission, parks and recreation and the South Idaho Resources Planning and Development Association. Barton will represent the commission at week control, sanitation and land fill and airport meetings. Buildings, and grounds, welfare, and hospital board and Board of Mental Health meeting will be attended by Ketterling. Ketterling was also appointed to oversee construction of the new law enforcement building.

Half of lots five and six in block 33 in Teton will be sold to satisfy unpaid taxes. The land, owned by Wilford Davis, will be sold in a public auction at 10 a.m. May 29 at the Minidoka County courthouse.

A beer license was approved for Lillian Didlot for the Hideout Bar, Heyburn and a license transfer for Delmar Wilson for the Stag Pool Hall, Rupert.

Nixon favors presidential 6-year term

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon favors a constitutional amendment which would limit future presidents to a single term of six years duration, congressional leaders reported Tuesday.

Amendment limits them to two terms. Senators serve six-year terms, and that would not be changed.

Want Ad Brings Back the Milkmaid

A Tampa, Florida, dairy owner, finding it increasingly difficult to hire and keep dependable men for milking, ran a Want Ad and hired two women. "The women challenged the men and now they're doing a better job," says Mr. Gore, owner of the 800 cow dairy.

14 People Answer Want Ad for "Lemon"

A disgusted car owner ran this Want Ad in a Kentucky newspaper: "1970 station wagon, 11 months old, lemon yellow, has required 3 water pumps (still leaking), pistons replaced once, baskets replaced twice, starts with difficulty, fuses burn when rear sprayer is used. Will probably last 11 years if left in garage. Interested?" 14 people responded! "They think they can fix it," said the seller.

'Where is the governor kept?'

By HELGA MADLAND
Special to the Times-News

BOISE — What mother has not dreamed of spending a day riding on a school bus filled with 9-year-olds. Not a single one — right?

Nevertheless, that questionable honor was shared by several mothers, three teachers and one principal who accompanied third graders from Washington School on a visit to the historical museum and capitol in Boise.

Clutching our lunches in brown paper bags and assuring each other that at least one of us was carrying a large bottle of aspirin, we met the children early Saturday morning.

"We had to give up cartoons, you know," some of them reminded us. In other words, the museum better be good.

Once settled on the bus, the children were really quite nice about it. It is indeed a sobering experience to listen to 40 happy 9-year-olds sing: "If you're happy, clap your hands, stamp your feet, shout hurra." On the way back, it was "My girl's a corker, she's a New Yorker," all the way from Boise to Bliss.

Saturday is visiting day for groups of school children at the capitol and great danger exists that one might end up with more children in one's group than the original number.

The gun-chewing guide at the capitol was a no-nonsense type. "Where do they keep the governor," somebody asked, and, "Why can't we climb the staircase all the way into the dome?" and, "Has anyone ever tried to steal it?" as she explained the history of the gilded, mounted-George Washington on the second floor.

She merely shifted her gum from one side of her mouth to the other and on we went to the

Winged Victory of Samothrace.

A bubbly, charming employe of the museum spun a bit of wool and a yarn about the times of the pioneers. There is no doubt about it, life in those days required stamina, courage and muscles.

But fortunately for the development of the west, the pioneer ladies never experienced a ride on a school bus, or I doubt if they would have mustered the courage for the wagon train trip.

At the zoo, the monkeys rated top priority, a fact that is not difficult to understand since it is so easy for the children to identify with them.

The boys were also quite taken with a very nice lizard. At least one expressed the desire to take it home to his older sister.

All in all, the trip was highly educational. For example, the children know exactly how many varieties of snow cones the refreshment stand at the Boise Zoo has to offer.

And as for myself, never again will I scoff at the tragic expression most school-bus drivers seem to acquire after only a short time on the job.

Series of disasters hits King Hill

KING HILL — Monday was not an ordinary day in King Hill.

Men working for E and G Excavation Co., Twin Falls, inadvertently cut the city's water line, causing an interruption in the water service of four or five hours. The men also ruptured the city's sewer line, which then also had to be repaired.

A tree fell on an electrical line strung across a ranch east of here, leaving the city's 100 residents without electricity for about three hours during the afternoon.

And a fire that started about 8:30 Monday night, burned the Agri-Mist Irrigation Supply Co. to the ground. Damage was reported to be about $4,000, even though the water system was made operational by that time. No one was injured.

Jerome man elected to governing board

JEROME — Leon Felder, president of St. Benedict's Hospital Inc. has been elected to the governing board of the Association of Western Hospitals.

Felder is the third hospital administrator from the state of Idaho to be so elected. Previous Idaho members of the association were John Hayman, Caldwell, a past president, and Paul Hoff, formerly of Pocatello.

In the election process each state selects and presents to the nominating committee (consisting of five past presidents) a candidate for board membership, the board then selects and recommends to the house of delegates.

The house of delegates consists of members from each of the 12 states. They in turn make the final selection.

FHA officers installed

VALLEY SCHOOLS — New officers for the Valley Chapter District 4 Future Homemakers of America were installed in candlelighting ceremonies Monday night.

FHA president Cindy Johnson presided at the meeting and banquet that were held at the Holiday Inn in Twin Falls.

Debbie Corle is the newly elected president and Janeen Dixon is the new vice president.

Other new officers include Nona Baldwin, secretary; Angie O'Connor, treasurer; Peggy Anderson, historian, and Trisha Soronen, parliamentarian.

Chairmen in charge of public relations is Jeanie O'Connor; degrees chairman, Stacey Smead; recreation, Susan Grant, and projects, Christy Minsee.

The formal initiation was preceded by lighting of candles which represented the eight purposes of the Future Homemakers of America by this year's club officers. Miss Johnson presented each of the officers with a long stemmed red rose. The girls presented Mrs. Nancy Darrington, chapter adviser, a gift. The event was attended by FHA girls and boys and their mothers.

Jerome educators apologize to board

JEROME — The Jerome School Board Monday heard an apology from the majority of the Jerome teachers.

He also presented a letter signed by members of the teachers' pay board requesting that the petition presented to the trustees on May 7 be withdrawn.

"I feel we had a serious misunderstanding at the budget hearing and the views expressed were not those of the majority of the teachers," Peterson said.

The apology was prompted by the actions of Ephraim Swann, who was representing the Jerome teachers and backed up by Carol Robertson, vice president of the JEA, at the May 7 budget hearing.

Swann had presented the petition which has been withdrawn. The petition had stated the teachers accepted the seven per cent salary increase but protested the budget in dollar amounts and also requested that as new money became available to the school district that it be earmarked for teacher salaries.

Miss Robertson had protested that the present salary schedule was inadequate, that it was hardly worth a teacher's time to go to summer school to gain a step as the pay increase did not merit it.

She had said the teachers wanted more steps since many districts have as high as 11 steps on their salary schedules.

Calley appeal refused

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lt. William L. Calley Jr. lost his bid for reduction of his 20 year sentence for the My Lai slayings on Army Secretary Robert F. Froehke's last day in office.

Froehke rejected Monday a recommendation of the Army-Air Force Clemency and Parole Board to reduce the sentence from 20 to 17 years.

Calley's conviction for the murder of at least 22 South Vietnamese civilians at the village of My Lai in 1968 remains under appeal before the U.S. Court of Military Appeals, the highest court in the armed forces.

That court has until May 23 to decide whether or not it will hear the appeal.

The parole board recommendation was wholly separate from the judicial appeals. The board will review the case again in December.

President Nixon has said in the past he will make a final review of Calley's sentence after it has moved through the Defense Department legal structure.
