New Idaho office building approved

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus today proposed erection of a new $3.8 million state office building in the capitol mall, financing it through a surplus in the State Insurance Fund. "I am submitting for your consideration a plan whereby building services would lease from the State Insurance Fund, a building to be constructed on the old heat plant block site north of the Capitol," Andrus told the Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council. "The construction costs would be $3,896,000 for a building containing 136,000 square feet. "The proposed amortization cost to the State of Idaho, through its lease from the insurance fund, would be $2.76 a square foot for 20 years," he said. "Presently, the cost of this type of rental space outside the capitol mall would be at least $9 per square foot and much higher costs can be anticipated."

Bug case hearing opens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Watergate Committee, determined to "spare no one" in its probe of the political scandal, opened its public hearings today with an apparent effort to quickly link high White House officials to the bugging case. At a two-hour, 40-minute opening session, the committee's first questioning prompted the first witness, Robert C. Odle Jr., to acknowledge that high White House officials, in effect, were calling all the shots in President Nixon's 1972 reelection campaign. In the vaulted marble Senate Caucus Room where the Teapot Dome scandal was aired 50 years ago, the Senate hearings began 11 months to the day after a five-man spy squad, financed and run by the Nixon campaign, was arrested bugging and burglarizing Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate complex. "My colleagues on the committee and I are determined to uncover all the relevant facts surrounding these matters, and to spare no one whatever his station in life may be, in our efforts to accomplish that goal," the committee chairman, Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said in his opening statement. Odle, who was director of Administration at the Committee for the Re-Election of the President (CRP), was summoned as the first witness to provide the background and responsibilities of the workers at CRP.

Under questioning by Sens. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., and Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., Odle also revealed that Jeb Stuart Magruder — the deputy campaign manager and a key Mitchell aide — had secret files removed from his desk at campaign headquarters within hours after the Watergate arrests. Odle said Magruder, in a telephone conversation from California, had asked him and Robert Helms, Magruder's administrative assistant, to take the files home for the weekend. Odle said he believed they were described as "strategy" files, but he had never looked at them. "Did you ever later learn what was in that file?" asked Baker, the committee vice chairman. "No, not until recently," Odle replied. "I can only speculate; I suspect that things which have no place in a political campaign were in it."

He said he did not know whether the files — in light gray legal-sized folders — contained logs of wiretapped conversations or other political espionage memos which reportedly had been forwarded to Magruder. A committee member, Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., stressed the international impact of Watergate in his opening statement. He noted that the President's posture in Southeast Asia, the volatile Middle East, and in crucial trade and arms-control talks hinge on the outcome of several ongoing probes. "What will Watergate do and what will these hearings do to the office and the institution of the presidency?" Gurney asked. "That is the question that is uppermost in people's minds and gnawing away in the pits of their stomachs." He said the "absence of comment" by world leaders on the case reflected the long-time diplomatic credo of "don't rock the boat lest we all capsiz."

today in brief

Genetic cancer link found
BAF HARBOR, Maine (UPI) — Jackson Laboratory researchers announced Wednesday they have determined that inherited genes are a major cause of leukemia and of perhaps all kinds of cancer. The development is believed to be the first evidence that at least some cancers are caused by inherited genetic information.

Gold price off, $ stronger
LONDON (UPI) — The price of gold dropped briefly below $100 an ounce in London today and the dollar gained ground on European currency exchanges. On the London gold market, the metal was pegged at $103.50 an ounce in the first of two daily price settings; down $1.50 from Wednesday's closing price.

Ellington influence cited
NEW YORK (UPI) — Edward (Duke) Ellington received an honorary degree from Columbia University Wednesday. Shortly after, the composer-pianist sat down and played a medley of some of his famous hits. The university cited him for being "a major influence upon generations of composers and musicians."

Henry says first talk 'OK'
PARIS (UPI) — White House adviser Henry A. Kissinger conferred for more than five hours today with Hanoi negotiator Le Duc Tho about Vietnam cease-fire violations and said the secret talks had gone "okay." Officials said the two sides agreed to meet again Friday at 3 p.m. (6 a.m. EDT) in a Communist-owned villa in a Paris suburb, Gif-Sur-Yvette.

Milan bomb kills woman
MILAN, Italy (UPI) — An anarchist hurled a bomb at a crowd outside police headquarters today, inflicting death and injury and missing Italian Minister of Interior Mariano Rumor by five minutes. Police rescued the anarchist from a crowd beating him with umbrellas. Police said one woman died of injuries she suffered in the bombing. Thirty other persons were injured, one seriously.

NATO offers troop cut agenda
VIENNA (UPI) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) today proposed to the Warsaw Pact an agenda for a conference on East-West force reductions in central Europe, allied officials said. They declined to give details. The Western proposals were presented during a first working session of 19 NATO and Warsaw Pact states to prepare for the conference this fall. A Communist delegate said the Warsaw Pact had no specific agenda proposals at this stage.

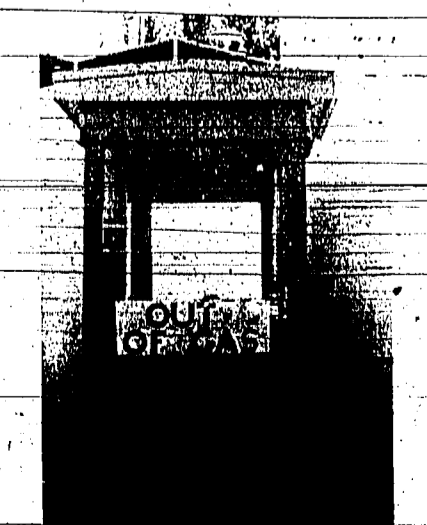

Viet infiltration data filed
SAIGON (UPI) — Testimony that North Vietnamese troops are still infiltrating into South Vietnam has been forwarded to the two-party Joint Military Commission by the international truce team, an informed source said today. It is unlikely the JMC — made up of both South Vietnamese government and Viet Cong delegates — will be able to agree on any joint action, the source said.

Jump delayed
TWIN FALLS — Evel Knievel's Snake River canyon jump is now set sometime in 1974. Keith Slinger, Twin Falls, president of Northwest Crane and Rigging Co., said he had received that word from Knievel, the Butte, Mont., daredevil. Slinger's firm built the ramp from which Knievel is to make the leap on a jet-powered "skycycle." The jump had been scheduled for either July 4 or Labor Day this year. According to a wire service report, Knievel said the date will be determined by "closed circuit TV people" who have purchased telecast rights to the event, and are hoping for worldwide coverage.

US planes aid convoy Change due
PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Swarms of American planes from swing-wing F-111 bombers to Spectre fixed-wing gunships flew heavy strikes along the banks of the Mekong River today trying to protect a fuel convoy steaming toward Phnom Penh under Communist attack. Military sources said the convoy of eight vessels — six tankers, a cargo ship and tugboat — began receiving heavy small arms fire about 5 a.m.

Test fired
RIO BLANCO, Colo. (UPI) — Three nuclear devices seven times more powerful than the Hiroshima atom bomb were exploded more than a mile under ground in Western Colorado today to free deposits of natural gas.

Cooling Skylab due sunshade
HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab's cabin cooled to a 90-to-105-degree range today and the space agency stepped up work on two giant awnings to shade the orbiting lab from the sun and let it become habitable for nine men this year. The current plan is to dispatch astronauts Charles "Pete" Conrad, Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz on the unprecedented space repair mission Sunday. But project officials said they may wait until May 25. George B. Hardy, chief of system engineering at the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., said a decision on a launch date for the Skylab crew may be made by early Friday. During the night, he said, temperatures inside the main living areas of the space station dropped from 169 to 90 and 102 degrees because the ship had been turned.

Commission mileage OK

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners in Idaho are entitled to mileage payments, including driving to and from work, except when they live in the county seat. This is the opinion of Deputy Atty. Gen. Warren Felton announced Wednesday by Twin Falls County Commissioners. Felton said it appears commissioners "where they do not live in the county seat may charge mileage and meals while at the county seat on official business. This writer believes that by logic and good conscience this must be limited so such charges as board and lodging are not charged while at the person's town of residence," the statement said. The statement said where commissioners earn less than $5,000 per year, no accommodations are paid while they are away from home and at the county seat. Commissioners in Twin Falls county are paid $8,800. Felton said he received a second question from the commissioners — should other county officials receive mileage to travel from home to the county seat? The attorney said the situation differs in that county commissioners are required by law to live in a specific district of the county while county employees may select their place of residence and taxpayers should not be penalized if a county employee or other elective official resides a great distance from the county seat. He said under Article 12, Section 2 of the Idaho Constitution, the individual county commissioners could pass an ordinance stipulating mileage for such employees but it might have to stand up to court tests.

Commissioners Merl E. Leonard and William Wiseman reside in Filer and Hansen respectively. They are paid mileage to and from work. William L. (Bill) Chancey lives in the county seat. He said today he has not in the past charged mileage to or from work and will not do so in the future. His expense accounts each month show daily mileage charged to "around the area." Chancey said today this does not include his driving from his home on 1350 Sixth Ave. E. to the county courthouse and so there will be no change in his policy on mileage claims. Mileage for Chancey for April ranges from three to 10 miles per day. The two other commissioners are less specific in their mileage claims. They file a lump sum mileage amount for "regular meetings," and separate listings for "special meetings" and trips. Commissioners are required to meet Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week but generally are in session five days per week. Wiseman's mileage for April shows regular meeting mileage for 20 days at $44 and special meetings at $8.80. Leonard's account shows regular meetings, 160 miles for $18 and special meetings at $11. Mileage payments have been brought up in numerous election campaigns in the past and recently came before the public in Times-News stories questioning the legality of commissioners' mileage to and from work each day as opposed to no-similar payments for other county elected officials or employees.

Gas squeeze pinches TF
By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — Like their counterparts across the nation, Twin Falls gasoline retailers and wholesalers are feeling the pinch. While gas is still readily available to the motorist, independent oil jobbers are scrambling for gas wherever they can get it. Major oil company outlets are, in most cases, operating under company guidelines to hold consumption at 1972 levels. New customers are discouraged. At least one service station closed for two days last week and will close for two days this week. Other stations which did not operate last year are now unable to get supplies to reopen. Most dealers and wholesalers agree that price rises can be anticipated, though no one seems to think the price will skyrocket, largely due to governmental controls. The reason for the gas shortage is widely disputed. Some independents claim the shortage is artificial, that major oil companies — the source of nearly all gasoline and diesel fuel — are seeking to cut the independents and the self-service stations out of the market, at the same time bringing political pressure to bear to force the return of full depletion allowances and the reduction of environmental restrictions affecting off-shore drilling and the building of the trans-Alaskan pipeline. The majors on the other hand contend that the shortage is a real one, caused by increased consumption — largely on the part of family motorists driving more and newer cars which use more gas because of anti-pollution devices — coupled with a severe winter which saw the oil companies producing heating oil when they would normally have been producing gasoline. Whatever the reason for the shortage, it is occurring. Twin Falls dealers on all levels are being affected. Shelby's Slim Price Gas on Addison Avenue East closed two days last week and two days this week because of lack of supply. Shelby's pumping installation is owned by American Petrofina, of Dallas, Tex., which has been the supplier of gas under an exchange agreement with Fletcher Oil Co. of Boise. The station itself, which includes a car wash, is leased by Joseph Shelby, former operator of the adjacent Shelby's Market, to Wiff Derricott, who operates it. "I wouldn't know how to tell you why we ran out," said Derricott. "We just don't have any more. Right now we've only got 45 per cent of what we can sell." Derricott said Fletcher Oil cut down on his supply, but he said he is not sure why. "I don't have anything to do with that gas. I don't buy that gas, the company (American Petrofina) puts it in." Derricott said he is taking no new customers. "I think a lot of people think this is just sort of something to talk about yet, but they'll find out in another 30 days or so." Peter Hirschberg, president of Fletcher Oil, said his firm has an exchange agreement with American Petrofina, "but what they do with product we have no way of knowing." Hirschberg said his firm does not directly supply Shelby's. (Continued on p. 6)

TF man raises bounty

TWIN FALLS — A $250 reward posted by O. K. Swenson for information leading to the conviction of vandals destroying his property has been raised to $500.

A sign posted by Swenson on his property along the road to Shoshone Falls was burned down at about 9:54 p.m. Wednesday. Earlier this month, the same sign had been cut down.

Twin Falls County Sheriff Paul Corder said this morning, "This has been a long drawn-out thing down here. Somebody is being tremendously destructive. We're asking workers and others to try to observe people down there. The vandalism is getting to be an extreme aggravation for everyone concerned."

Swenson has been plagued with vandalism in his canyon property and a house on the property for several years. He estimates losses in the last two years from vandals and thieves as "running close to $10,000."

'Fun' ahead for seniors

TWIN FALLS — Today was a big day for graduating Twin Falls High School seniors. Following practice this morning for Baccalaureate and Commencement, scheduled for Sunday and Monday, the graduates met at Twin Falls park in the Snake River Canyon for a catered lunch and class program. Class officers, Mike Sturgill, president, Brent Olmstead, vice president, Nancy Bonnett, secretary, and Terry Latham, treasurer, were in charge of the reading of the will and testament, assisted by Andy Cover, Kathy Brown, Holly Couch and Willie Darr. In addition to the party at the falls, seniors will hold a dance tonight at the National Guard Armory from 9 p.m. to midnight. Tickets for the afternoon party will also admit seniors, and their guests, to the dance. Those not attending the class party may purchase tickets for the dance at the door, according to Principal Frank Charlton. The dance is sponsored by the senior class with the help of PTA members. Baccalaureate services are set for 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the high school gymnasium with Roy Babbel of the LDS West stake presidency, as speaker. Graduation exercises are scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday in the high school stadium with Sen. James McClure, R. Idaho, as speaker.

14 vandalism cases reported

FAIRFIELD — Fourteen cases of vandalism in the Sawtooth National Forest north of Fairfield are reported by Fairfield District Ranger Larry M. Weeks. He said four juveniles, all from Gooding County, were apprehended in connection with the vandalism and are awaiting prosecution. Extensive damage was done to the summer homes of Frank Olinger, Dr. M.V. Klingler, Phil Becker, Sid Byrum and Judge Charles Shaw as well as the Big Smoky Ranger Station. In addition, trailer houses and the Smoky Bar Cafe were vandalized. Several doors were kicked in, the ranger said, windows were broken, interiors were badly littered, locks were shot and chopped off and propane valves were opened. The youths apparently camped in the various homes for several nights, Weeks said. Enforcement efforts will be intensified this coming summer season and also during the winter to curb further vandalism, according to the ranger and Camas County Sheriff Paul Cox.

TF club honored

TWIN FALLS — Toastmasters International honored Twin Falls Toastmasters No. 149 for achieving the highest membership in District No. 15 it was announced during the Tuesday meeting. The group has never had less than 30 members since its inception in 1947. Clubs in the district include Oregon, Wyoming, South Idaho, North Utah and part of Nevada. Gary Van Kolman won the blue pencil for his speech, "I Wasn't Afraid to Lose It," during the Tuesday meeting at the Holiday Inn.

AARP unit meets

TWIN FALLS — The American Association of Retired Persons Chapter No. 425 met Tuesday at the IOOF Hall. Plans were made for a trip to Red Fish Lake June 14. Reservations may be made by calling Roy Wetherbee, president, 734-3126 or Mrs. Mary Bolton, 733-9209.

Open house set Saturday

TWIN FALLS — Open house will be held at the Armed Forces recruiting service station, 132 Second St. E., Twin Falls, Saturday. The event is in observance of Armed Forces Day which has been proclaimed by Gov. Cecil Andrus to be observed throughout the state May 19. The proclamation is a joint services effort to bring attention to the new and ever-changing all-volunteer Armed Forces and stress the need for a powerful and prepared reserve component. The public is invited and free coffee and donuts will be served from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

7 TF women attend conclave

TWIN FALLS — Seven Twin Falls delegates left today for Idaho Falls on the 12th biennial convention of the Idaho League of Women Voters. The convention will be held today and Friday in the Ramada Inn with the theme this year, "Communications." Joy Buersmyer, Boise, state president, said more than 40 delegates from nine Idaho leagues and 12 state board members will be attending. New officers will be elected. Women will discuss state planning and current legislative moves. R. Neil Sampson, program manager for land use in the state planning and community affairs agency, will speak at a banquet tonight.

Dott Obee, Boise, second vice president, will preside during the first day luncheon and Marjorie Slotten, Twin Falls, will report on the League's national council meeting just concluded in Washington, D. C. Those attending from the Twin Falls League include Ella Nelson, president; Annie Swepe, Vickie Moore, Ingrid Strope, Kristy Cannon, Kathy Noh and Kay Viste. Mary Meeh, Boise, state legislative chairman for the League will report Friday morning. Sessions adjourn Friday afternoon after adoption of a budget, approval of the program for the coming year and election of new officers and directors.

TF AAUW hears music program

TWIN FALLS — A program of piano music was presented at the American Association of University Women meeting Tuesday night at the home of Jane Ellen Shew. Arranged by Mrs. Shew, the program included selections by Kathy Scott, Kathy Jones and Mark Rosenbaum and Mrs. Shew who played a Debussy selection. Phyllis Culver, president, reported the state president recommends that regional workshops be repeated every second year. Audrey Moore thanked members for helping with arrangements of the visit of the Artram to Twin Falls last week.

Mrs. A. J. Peavey reported the book study group will resume meetings in the fall. Karen Glenn reported she had presented the group's resolution on kindergartens to the Twin Falls school trustees. Officers for next year were installed by Shirley Humphries, past president. They include Mrs. Glenn, president; Barbara Shockley, first vice president; Audrey Howard, second vice president; Ann Graefe, treasurer; and Barbara O'Marra, secretary. Maggie Kohz, a new member, and Jean Fagan, a guest, were introduced.

Good Help

President Nixon, who can offer more inducements than any other employer...

His good friend, John Connally, who served him as Treasury Secretary...

David Packard, the industrialist who served as Deputy Secretary of Defense...

That post went to James R. Schlesinger, whose experience appeared to fit him admirably for the tough job...

Housecleaning of the White House staff in the aftermath of the Watergate scandal...

There remains the task of finding a permanent Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation...

The essence of the task is to find a man who can command respect on the order of J. Edgar Hoover...

The Director of the FBI must be a man of recognized stature and integrity...

There are such men. May the President find exactly the right man and soon.

Super Service

There is an occasional complaint that American supermarkets are becoming so super the customer is beginning to feel forgotten...

As the woman shopper walks through a gleaming supermarket, she may be looking for a particular product of a certain brand...

What is bringing the matter into the open is the worry of food manufacturers that their advertising and promotion are going to naught...

MR. SPECTATOR

The Foundations

Foundations, more than 15,000 strong, own slightly less than one percent of the assets in the United States...

Most of the foundations are of much smaller size and exert little economic impact. But the rapid growth of foundations in numbers and assets in the last two decades has prompted investigations in Congress...

Most foundations follow legitimate and honorable pursuits of establishing and administering funds for an endless list of worthwhile projects...

Where foundations frequently generate criticism is when they engage in commercial enterprises in competition with tax-paying businesses...

Any changes in existing federal law concerning foundations must be approved by Congress, so nothing is imminent to change the status quo...

THESE WAXING BEES

The American Museum of Natural History in New York reports that an aggressive new strain of honeybee is now heading north at the rate of about 200 miles a year...

The Brazilian bee is a hybrid that resulted from interbreeding between the local bees and an African type that was imported into Brazil in 1956...

The hybrid flies faster and works longer to amass honey than the native bees. But it is also highly aggressive, swarms in larger numbers and is much more easily aroused to attack...

Plans to check this undesirable immigrant are in the research stage. One idea is the possibility of creating a genetic barrier in the region of Panama using a yet-to-be developed strain of bees so mild and inoffensive that any crossbreeding with the Brazilian interloper would create a new generation much less prone to attack...

In other words, the hope is they would make honey, not war.

DAVID ESPO

The Other Side

TWIN FALLS The most recent flap over the cost of prisoner meals is only another example of the tendency of the Twin Falls County Commissioners to reach for political gain while ignoring the economic facts of life...

Until six months ago, the county paid for prisoner meals at a cost of about 93 cents a meal, including a flat 90 cents for food to the cook and about three cents for incidentals...

The price of prisoner meals has declined to about 55 of 60 cents, the commissioners now say in monthly press releases. So the commissioners have succeeded in making what was at the time of the campaign a vulnerable issue for them into a political plus...

The political benefit of cleaning up the countryside is obvious. The economic picture needs cleaning up, too, but the commissioners are reluctant, because that makes enemies and forces people to confront what are unpleasant facts...

But who can blame them? Everytime anyone suggests a little planning, a little professionalism, someone descends on their office and yells, "dictator."

PAUL HARVEY

Overweight

Appetite is so responsive to psychological factors that one explanation for some people who enjoy excessively hot chili peppers and such is that they derive pleasure from a certain degree of pain...

TOPS, an association researching the cause, effect and remedies for overweight, discovers "resistantly overweight women suffer significant emotional maladjustment."

Our appetites, to a large extent, are preconditioned by early experience and psychological hangups.

A Hindu would no more eat a cow than you would eat a cat. Most Europeans regard sweet corn as swine food.

TOPS' research at Deaconess Hospital, Milwaukee, Wis., over a three-year period associated overweight more with psychological than with physical factors, more with attitude than with metabolism.

They were more femininely dependent; to a very psychologically restless. Despite physical discomforts

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Seasoned Democrats and political observers here aren't buying Sen. George McGovern's claims he was misquoted in a New York Times magazine piece that has him putting a hard rap on Sen. Thomas Eagleton, saying further that McGovern's wife grew to hate the press, and that after he lost to President Nixon they thought of moving to England...

show him his controversial medical reports. A bit later in the piece, however, he suggests that history will make his campaign look better. In obvious effort to assist that judgement by comparing his 1972 activities with the outrages of the Nixon administration's Watergate enterprise, McGovern says: "We didn't steal. We didn't wiretap or burglarize. We didn't toll any lies. We didn't try to deceive anybody."

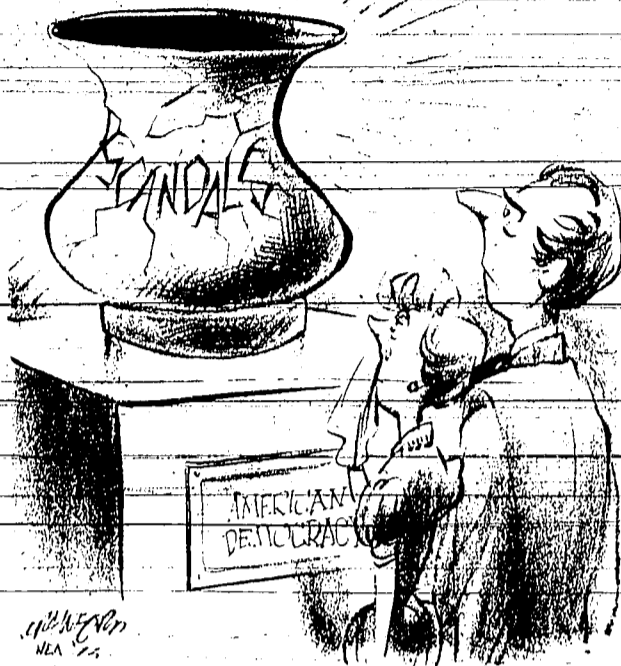

The evening before, he had circulated among newsmen covering his campaign and led them clearly to believe he was leaving it up to Eagleton, then on the Pacific coast, to decide whether or not to remain. He left the impression he still had confidence in the man. That yielded one story.

But only hours earlier he told another reporter he had firmly decided Eagleton had to be jettisoned, which produced the quite contrary story. All of this happened just a couple of days after the matter of Eagleton's history of treatment—mental-emotional breakdown was disclosed.

Furthermore, in the manner of his disclosure (a press conference at which a key part of the tale had to be dragged from Eagleton), McGovern double-crossed newsmen for the Knight papers. They had gathered the story on their own, confronted McGovern with it, and had been promised an exclusive break in return for holding off while McGovern and a chance to weigh the thorny problem.

The Watergate affair may turn out to be the worst political scandal in history. But it doesn't give McGovern or anyone else license to make false posturings of total honesty. His kettle may not be black, but it shows some gray smudges.

Crack in the Golden Bowl

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Appetite

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My little granddaughter has a very poor appetite. She has been taking multiple vitamins but shows no improvement.

Her diet consists of milk, bread and jelly, ice cream, gelatin, cookies and cake. She doesn't like potatoes and meat and has to be coaxed or made to eat them. She will not eat vegetables and the only fruit she likes is soft applesauce.

She always seems to have a cold. She has had frequent kidney infections.

It was so difficult to get her to eat that she started baby food until she started school. Is this a stage some children go through? Mrs. G. T.

What a crummy diet for a growing child! Since she has reached school age already, I'd say that something had better be done in short order or she'll have this distorted eating habit so firmly fixed it will follow her for the rest of her life.

A certain percentage of young ones go through a phase of food-fussing. They like to attract some attention, like to be coaxed and, undoubtedly, want to test things out and see how far they can go in bossing the parents around.

With this little girl, the time for coaxing is long since past. If, indeed, she ever should have had any coaxing at all. Best way is just to stop the bread and jelly (the jelly, anyway) and the ice cream, and all the desserts. Without doubt she'll put up a dreadful squawk. Let her. But don't squawk back. Don't fuss. Don't coax. Don't argue. Don't threaten.

Just give her some decent meals and no desserts, and no more than a reasonable amount of bread and milk, so she can't fill up on them. She needs some protein! She needs some vegetables! She needs some other fruits!

If she won't eat sensible meals, then she can be excused from the table. But nothing else to eat until the next meal. No ruckus. No threats. No arguments. Just a quiet statement that that's it. I am sure she will plead, look pitiful, say she's hungry. But make the rule stick.

When she's hungry, she'll start to eat. Up to now she's allowed em who was boss.

It's time for her to wake up with the help of some hard and fast rules about eating properly. She may even manage to stay hungry for a couple of days before she sees the light. It won't hurt her. She'll eat when she needs to.

If you give in to her, you'll merely reinforce a habit that she'll pay for the rest of her life.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is "staghorn" in the kidneys? J. K.

It is a kidney stone so large that it fills the inside of the kidney and has projections conforming to the shape of the pelvis of the kidney.

Doctors Seymour Isenberg and L. Melvin Elting of Teaneck, N.J., prescribe "preoccupation."

Their research demonstrates that those mental processes which may contribute to intermittent gubbling can be distracted by a hobby, especially a hobby which keeps you on your feet and dirties your hands.

They say when you are standing at your hobby you have your back toward the snack.

And these doctors, personally, participated in their own controlled experiment. One did silversmithing and one made things of stained glass; they lost a combined 50 pounds.

Their theory is that most fat persons overeat out of boredom; when a hobby holds your interest, hunger becomes secondary.

Gasoline pinch nipping TF

A V-1 Oil Co. station on 4th Avenue South has a sign in its window saying "Due to the gas shortage this station will be closed." However, Sam Bennion, owner of V-1 Oil, said in Idaho Falls the Twin Falls station was closed because it was not profitable. He said "I don't think it was our people" when asked who put up the sign.

Bennion said his supply of gas "is the same as last year and in some instances more than last year."

Ken Roundy of Ken and Joe's Gas on Main Avenue West said he is having trouble getting gas, but he has managed to stay open.

"I'd like to buy 10,000 to 15,000 gallons," said Roundy, "but I can't. A month ago I could have, but I didn't know it would get this short."

Roundy said he will buy gas anywhere he can get it. "You used to be able to shop around for gas, but not anymore. You just ask what the price is, you just ask if they've got any."

Roundy said he is taking on no new customers and has placed limits on old ones. "If a truck comes in here and wants 50 gallons and I haven't seen him before, he doesn't get it."

Joe Clements, owner of Clements Oil Co., said he has 50,000 gallons on hand to last out the month. He said he has been able to trade some diesel fuel for gasoline and pay the difference.

Clements gets most of his gas from Fletcher Oil, which he said has cut him to one-third of what he was getting at the same time last year.

Clements said he is looking for a tie-up with a major brand in order to get gas. "If you can't beat 'em, you join 'em, because that's where all the gas comes from. But nobody wants me to join them."

Another independent, Ray Holmes of Holmes Oil Co., said he has two stations unopened which he would like to open but can't get the gas to do so.

Holmes operated the Shell Oil distributorship before Shell pulled out of the Twin Falls area about a year ago.

"The gas industry is the most highly subsidized in America," Holmes said. "This doesn't just happen. They're smart people, you know. Maybe they aren't living up to their responsibilities."

A quick survey of major oil companies showed most have received directives to hold to quotas based roughly on last year's like month sales. Paul Jones, distributor for United Oil — "Supply as far as we're concerned is critical. That's about all I can say on it. We just don't take on any new customers."

R. T. Bankhead, Texaco consignee — "We are on allocation. We have our stations and our customers all on allocation. I can't give you any more information than that."

Diane Serpa, Standard Oil wholesale distributor — "I'm not supposed to take on anything new, and I'm supposed to be given enough to take care of my old customers."

James Dorian, American Oil consumer sales manager — "We've basically been on it (allocation) since the first of the year, but since the first of April we've got our people on the basis that they can sell exactly what they sold last year."

Mack Dodson, wholesale jobber for Union Oil — "I would prefer not to go into absolute figures. Our company is asking cooperation from our customers in view of a shortage in product. If everyone starts to hoard gasoline then we defeat the whole purpose. We haven't really had to cut down. They have asked us to take what measures are necessary to keep within last year's volume or thereabouts."

Most of the gas coming into Twin Falls comes by pipeline from Salt Lake to terminals in Burley. The pipeline is owned by Standard Oil of California but serves as a common carrier for Phillips, Continental, Sinclair, American, Husky and the U.S. Air Force as well as for Standard's own Chevron product.

Many oil company officials interviewed agree the volume of flow through the pipeline is down from last year's levels, but no one could provide a figure.

The Standard Oil official authorized to release the figures was traced from Salt Lake to a "bank" plant in Pocatello, but efforts to call him there proved futile.

Leonard Harris, stock delivery man in charge of the Burley pipeline, said storage tanks at the terminal are way below last year's levels.

"I was empty on stove oil from December until this past week," Harris said. "Right now we're just doing our best to stay up with last year's (gasoline) volume, and it's just nip and tuck, it's close."

Thus far, the city and county have not been affected by the gas shortage, but bids for the next year are not due until August.

City Manager Jean Milar said he has not heard anything from local suppliers concerning shortage or possible cutbacks. Milar said the city usually "gets some pretty competitive bids."

"I have heard from different cities up in Montana that have been calling for bids and can't get bids or guarantees or something like that," Milar said.

County weed Bureau superintendent Wallace Savage said his agency has had no trouble getting gas.

Jim Campbell, office manager of Holmes Construction of Burley, which was rumored to be having difficulty getting diesel fuel for a paving job at the Twin Falls airport, said the firm had "a little problem for awhile" getting diesel but is now supplied through Texaco. "To my knowledge, Texaco has been pretty good about it," he said. "We haven't been cut off entirely by anybody."

Wounded Knee chapter to end

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — White House officials arrived on the Pine Ridge Reservation today, hoping to write the final chapter to the confrontation at Wounded Knee. The White House delegation, headed by Bradley Patterson, executive assistant to Leonard Garment, acting White House counsel, arrived by helicopter from Denver, Colo., early today. A meeting between the delegation and the Oglala Sioux tribal government was scheduled at 9 a.m. MDT. Later today the delegation was to meet with supporters of the Georgia police probe slaying

DONALSONVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — State investigators said late Wednesday that a fingerprint found in a farm home where six members of a family were slain has been identified tentatively as that of a Maryland fugitive, one of four suspects being sought in the case. Col. William Beardsley, head of the state Division of Investigation, said identification would not be positive until blowups of the fingerprint indicates the print belongs to Carl Isaacs, 19, one of three men who escaped a prison work

3rd death reported

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — Rhodesian security forces today reported a third death along the Rhodesian-Zambian border where two Canadian women tourists were shot dead and an American wounded while they were climbing beneath the majestic Victoria Falls. The third victim, security forces said, was Sydney Escott, a 10-year-old boy who died in a landmine explosion at the Murrumbidgee wildlife reserve. The three deaths occurred Tuesday along the tense border separating Rhodesia, a white-ruled former British colony walked into the hearing room of a Senate government operations subcommittee Wednesday carrying a briefcase bulging with files and papers concerning his case. It was his first public appearance since all charges against him were thrown out of U.S. District Court in Los Angeles last Friday. Speaking without a prepared statement or any notes, he told Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, who chaired the hearings on government secrecy, that lying and secrecy had become almost "a way of life" in government.

Ellsberg said that while he was writing the history of the Vietnam war for the Pentagon, he knew that two cabinet members in President Lyndon B. Johnson's administration—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara—led to two Senate committees about the war. "It was wrong then to have kept my mouth shut," he said. Ellsberg did not back up his charge with specifics. He accused the Justice Department of a scheme to link up the Pentagon Papers with Muskie's presidential candidacy last year.

ROME (UPI) — Someone told the police that Emilio Costanzi, wanted on a theft conviction, was hiding in a Rome apartment. When police knocked on the door, a bearded man answered and said he never heard of anyone named Emilio Costanzi. Then the man's beard fell off and police arrested their man.

Nixon's release said 2nd hand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon did not talk personally with John W. Dean before he announced last Aug. 29 that Dean's investigation of the Watergate scandal had cleared all high level administration officials. In response to repeated questions, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Wednesday Dean's report was never put in writing nor did he discuss it with the President. But he said it was conveyed verbally to the President by a "senior staff member" — probably former chief domestic adviser John D. Ehrlichman. But Ziegler insisted that Dean, who was White House counsel until he was fired April 30, did conduct an investigation. "The process certainly took place," Ziegler said. In an interview with Newsweek magazine, Dean said he never investigated the Watergate and the first he knew of the "Dean report" was when he heard television news accounts of the President's statement. "The President called for an investigation," Ziegler said. "The responsibility for conducting that investigation clearly fell in the counsel's office." He added that "senior staff members" who told Dean that the President wanted him to conduct the probe.

G. BRADFORD COOK resigns

One more resigns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The fallout over Watergate has claimed another victim—Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) Chairman G. Bradford Cook. Cook resigned Wednesday after only 10 weeks as head of the regulatory agency and a few days after a grand jury connected him with two ex-administration cabinet officials in an alleged scheme to fix a stock fraud case for financier Robert L. Vesco in return for a $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's re-election campaign. Conspiracy charges were leveled last week against Vesco; former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, and former Commerce Secretary and reelection finance chief Maurice J. Stans. No formal charges were placed against Cook, who claimed Wednesday to be caught in "a web of circumstance" and denied any wrongdoing in the matter. Nevertheless, Cook said the publicity jeopardized the effectiveness of the SEC as long as he remained chairman. Without directly mentioning Watergate, Cook told reporters, "everybody is focusing on what's bad...that's an impossible situation for this agency." The 30-year-old Chicago lawyer said he volunteered his resignation to the White House. "I retain my complete confidence in our country, its institutions and myself," he said in a brief note to Nixon. There was an ironic twist to the case. Although Mitchell and Stans, with Cook's support, allegedly tried to take the heat off Vesco, the SEC last November returned one of the biggest fraud complaints in its history against the New Jersey financier. As late as 1950, butter was still being packed in snow and shipped across the Sierras and California from a Mormon settlement in Nevada.

Ex-CIA head testifies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ex-CIA Director Richard Helms did not feel "called upon" to alert President Nixon last year when he suspected White House aides were trying to involve his agency in illegal political activities, according to Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark. McClellan said Helms, who testified for three hours Wednesday before a Senate subcommittee on intelligence operations, admitted the CIA complied with two White House requests for help in covert operations against Pentagon Papers figure Daniel Ellsberg. But he said Helms refused to cooperate when White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman asked the CIA to block a Watergate-related FBI investigation. "Despite Helms' suspicions," McClellan said, "he did not feel he was called upon to go to the President about it." Asked if Helms was under any obligation to alert Congress or a grand jury probing the Watergate scandal, McClellan replied: "I think I would have if I thought a cloud was being cast on my agency. But I can't speak for him." Helms, who was recalled from his post as ambassador to Iran to testify before three congressional committees and a grand jury, refused to comment after his appearance before McClellan's subcommittee. But Sen. John Pastore, D-R.I., told UPI that the professional intelligence officer was "quite hurt that his reputation has been tainted after 40 years." McClellan said Helms originally was unaware that the CIA had provided Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt with paraphernalia used to plan a burglary of the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist. However, McClellan said, Helms admitted that the CIA staff to help Hunt and also provided the White House with psychological profiles of Ellsberg.

Night ladies lose chance

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — Idaho's ladies of the night have lost their chance to become mental health counselors as well as prostitutes.

The State Department of Environmental and Community Services has rejected a staff proposal to train the prostitutes of the Idaho Panhandle in relationship and communication skills.

The 20-page proposal prepared by an unidentified staff member said the girls could use their new skills to counsel their clients or to refer them to another state agency.

"Training in communication-relationship skills would certainly enhance the girl's capacity to meet the relationship needs of the client she serves," the proposal said.

It went on to say the idea would provide "good stewardship of public dollars by providing assistance to the client through an agency already within the community which is paid for through private enterprise."

Dr. James A. Bux, director of the state agency, said his department could not become involved in such a program, since the prostitution which flourishes in the state's panhandle is illegal.

"But I was impressed with the employe's knowledge of the subject," he added.

Idaho GOP reduced to 'shambles'

BOISE (UPI) — The Republican chairman of the Senate State Affairs Committee said Wednesday his party is in shambles and unless there are unforeseen changes a Democrat will win the 1974 governorship.

H. Dean Summers, R-Boise, told newsmen at the Idaho Press Club's headliner luncheon that the GOP in Idaho has been reduced to "shambles" financially and also suffers from "rural domination."

"(Gov. Cecil D.) Andrus would have 'stumbled badly' not to win in 1974," Summers said of the Democratic governor, who he also described as a close friend.

He said Andrus, who took office in 1971, has worked well with the legislature and with the people and he added he can see no one at this time "who can beat Andrus."

Summers was first elected to the House of Representatives in 1962. The Boise insurance man served two terms in the house and then was elected to the Senate where he still serves.

The controversial Republican described the man who might beat Andrus as "a 35-year-old Ronald Reagan with a $5 million bank account," but then Summers added even that man better run for the office in 1978.

Summers also praised Andrus for his veto of two controversial stream-channel and lake protection bills which were passed by the Republican-controlled House and Senate.

He also had some criticism for the interim committees put together by the last session of the legislature. He said other than a few of them the taxpayers were not getting their money's worth, because they were understaffed.

The Boise Republican also said that the interim committee studying the Occupational Safety and Health Act was one of the most "conservative committees" he had ever seen during his years in the legislature.

The only thing which will come out of the OSHA committee, according to Summers, will be farm exemptions and state enforcement of the program which will "totally be unfunded." One because OSHA is a "way of protecting the working people of the state."

Hansen introduces timber bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, Wednesday introduced a "balanced approach to land management and timber supply" in Congress as the Forest Conservation and Improvement Act of 1973.

"The United States is running out of timber and must change its forest management practices," Hansen said. "My bill is a balanced approach to land management and timber supply."

He said demand for timber may outpace supply by as much as 20 billion board feet by 2000.

"To meet this demand will require curbs on log exports, reforestation of five million acres of national forest land, and intensive forest management practices on the lands nearly everyone agrees are suitable for timber harvesting."

Sunshine blaze cause in doubt

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — The origin and cause of the Sunshine Silver Mine fire last year that killed 91 hard-rock miners remained in doubt Wednesday at the conclusion of the second Interior Department hearing into Idaho's worst disaster ever.

The hearing reopened Monday at the request of Sunshine officials, who said they had new evidence.

Explosive and chemical engineering experts hired by the company testified for two days, concluding the fire was man-made, but we have no evidence that it was.

Wilson went on to say the reasons the miners probably didn't smell the smoldering fire were "because of the 18 mile an hour air circulation through the area, as well as other odors and noises in the area."

Meanwhile hearing examiner James Day said he would take about a month to make his final report on the hearing.

Day, in his closing statement, said where the blame lies or who must share it is only one part of the story of mine disasters.

"What we can do to prevent similar disasters is another important story," he said.

He indicated his final report would lean heavily toward recommendations to prevent similar disasters.

investigative team, was the government's chief witness.

He said the bureau stood behind its finding that the blaze erupted within 200 feet of the 4,300-foot level of the mine and that "through elimination," spontaneous combustion was the probable cause.

"Based on going through everything we could think of, we feel spontaneous combustion was the probable cause," Robert Riley, another mining engineer with the bureau, said. "We did not rule out the possibility that the fire was man-made, but we have no evidence that it was."

Wilson went on to say the reasons the miners probably didn't smell the smoldering fire were "because of the 18 mile an hour air circulation through the area, as well as other odors and noises in the area."

Meanwhile hearing examiner James Day said he would take about a month to make his final report on the hearing.

Day, in his closing statement, said where the blame lies or who must share it is only one part of the story of mine disasters.

"What we can do to prevent similar disasters is another important story," he said.

He indicated his final report would lean heavily toward recommendations to prevent similar disasters.

They refuted the findings, by the U.S. Bureau of Mines that the blaze deep in the nation's largest and richest silver mine was the result of spontaneous combustion.

The bureau's findings came after seven months of investigation immediately following the May 2, 1972 fire.

Sunshine's expert witnesses were Dr. Bernard Lewis, Pittsburgh, Pa., president of Combustion Explosives Research, Inc., and John Kniseley, North Bend, Wash., head of a chemical engineering firm.

They said there was nothing in the mine hot enough to ignite spontaneously. They said the normal temperature of the mine is about 100 degrees.

Kniseley said it would take a temperature of at least 250 degrees to touch off a spontaneous fire.

"I've seen this type of fire often in ships, but never before in a mine," he said.

Lewis said the bureau's contention that the fire may have been smoldering for several days before bursting through the bulkhead separating old workings from new had not been substantiated.

He said the miners would have smelled smoke had the blaze been building up behind the wooden bulkhead.

NEAP TIDE

All you housewives know that when TIDE'S IN, Dirt's out, and of course you veteran "old salts" from Nantucket Bay or Stimpson Beach know that the tide that goes in is NEAP TIDE. Most everyone knows about the tide that goes out—Ebb Tide, since someone made a pretty song about it. Actually it would probably be pretty hard to write a nice romantic song about NEAP TIDE (NEAP! NEAP!). So to sum up, tides go out and tides go in and if it weren't for the moon, there wouldn't be any tide at all... or so they say. That's a lot of shallow talk about a pretty deep subject (Ocean tides).

BUT THE MAIN POINT IS THAT SWENSEN'S MAGIC MARKETS HAVE TIDE THAT GOES IN THE WASH AT A VERY LOW PRICE!!

Joslin Field project progresses

Taxiways paved at Joslin Field

TWIN FALLS — A project to overlay taxiways and ramp areas at Joslin Field is underway.

Officials of Holmes Construction Co., Heyburn, today said completion of the job is expected by the end of the month.

The Heyburn firm was awarded the contract on a competitive bid of $147,792. Complete cost of the work, including several minor improvements, is estimated at $165,192.

The mix plant has been set up near the east end of the Twin Falls City-County Airport property. Gravel was hauled from Burley area by the contractor.

Grants to Gem schools

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Grants for six Idaho school districts in Federally affected areas were announced Tuesday by Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho.

The grants from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare were approved for Arco, $28,116; Firth, $7,397; Shelley, $28,443; Salmon, $21,856; Mackay, $4,026; and Blackfoot, $28,953.

HEW also informed Hansen of a grant for Buhl School District in the amount of $9,824 for use to develop environmental education in elementary schools.

AF reservoir users boost budget

TWIN FALLS — District American Falls Reservoir spaceholders Tuesday proposed a tremendous boost in their budget in anticipation of private replacement of the American Falls dam.

The proposed budget is about $250,000 as compared to the current budget of about $30,000, according to John Barker, Buhl, president of the district spaceholders.

Barker said the nearly tenfold increase includes anticipated expenses for preliminary engineering for the new dam, investigation of tax exempt status for bonds to finance the dam and a share of the operating and maintenance expenses for the present dam.

A formal hearing on the proposed budget will be held on Aug. 2 in the district's Twin Falls office.

District board members Tom Olmstead, Twin Falls, and Dale DePew, Wendell, testified in Washington, D.C., last week before the Senate subcommittee on water and power. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, heads the subcommittee.

The hearing concerned expedient replacement of the American Falls Dam.

The Bureau of Reclamation has restricted storage in the dam to 66 per cent of its designed capacity because of concrete deterioration.

American Falls spaceholders have proposed that the dam be replaced with non-federal financing and that the falling water be sold to the Idaho Power Co. The sale to Idaho Power would cover $10 million of the new dam's cost.

The spaceholders would pay the cost in excess of $10 million plus interest and the expense of replacing the existing roadway crossing the dam.

DEAR ABBY: How right you are! No one should drop in on their married children unannounced. They might be smoking grass there!

I learned the hard way. If someone stole my purse, I'd report it to the police. But when I'm present when they're smoking marijuana in their own homes, I just keep my mouth shut, come home, and air out my clothes and hope I never have to smell it again.

I know what I am going to put in their Christmas stockings next year. A hacksaw for her, and a file for him.

I've invited my daughter, her husband, and several of their friends over for dinner next week, and if those kids light up in my home, I'll call the sheriff. I wonder if I should warn them in advance? Or do you suppose after four years of college they are sufficiently educated to know that one doesn't break the law in the home of a host?

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Why the frustration? Just tell your kids you don't want them lighting up in your home, and if you are present when they light up elsewhere, absent yourself.

DEAR ABBY: Since you frequently give waitresses space in your column to air their pet peeves I hope you'll give equal time to a customer who has one:

Where do people get the nerve to go into a busy restaurant and READ at the table? I can understand someone giving the newspaper a quick going over to get the news, but I've seen people leisurely reading books and magazines at the table while others are waiting to sit down and eat.

I hope you'll print this for some of those selfish people who need to be jured into more considerate behavior.

CHICAGOAN

DEAR CHICAGOAN: I'd print it. But those who behave in the above-mentioned manner need more than a "jar." They need an earthquake.

DEAR ABBY: My problem has no solution, unless this is printed and the "culprit" just happens to see it and recognize herself as the singer.

My sister, whom I love dearly, has been a widow for several years, and since she is a very congenial person my husband and I have invited her along on our motor trip vacation. We love music and our automobile is equipped with stereo and our favorite cassettes.

Now comes the problem: My sister, who has no singing voice at all, must accompany every song she hears. She does this in a shrill, off-key voice, four to six beats ahead (or behind) and sometimes she "harmonizes."

My husband and I intend to spend three months touring Mexico and my husband has given me an ultimatum: Tell Sis to keep her mouth shut, or the trip is off.

Any ideas? LOVING SISTER

DEAR SISTER: Tell Sis that your husband, the music-lover, is looking forward to enjoying the music on the trip, and you'll appreciate her quiet cooperation.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN THE STOCK MARKET IN ALBANY": It's not the bulls and the bears you have to watch out for. It's the bum steers. Be sure you're getting your tips from an expert.

time at trick one to analyze the whole hand. Then he would have let West hold the trick and would duck again if West continued with the jack.

South's plan would have to be to keep East from ever gaining the lead. Look how well things would have gone. He would win the third club, draw trumps the same way and lead that same king of spades. West could take his ace of spades or duck. Either way he would never be able to get East in to lead a diamond and South would make three hearts.

PEASANTS AT CITY GATES

By Mary Sue Miller

In the 1930s fabrics and fashions from European hinterlands made the American scene. Dirndls of flower-spigged cotton and starched off-shoulder blouses with billowing sleeves appeared in country and vacation settings.

We're about to have a return visit. London and Paris began exporting bits of Bavaria. Then our designers created their own versions for wear in the city and the country, for day-times-and-evening-hours. Now, madam, don't be alarmed. This relaxed idea is meant only as a change, not as a replacement for your shirt-dress or chemise.

Dirndls with dark grounds and squared-neck blouses look cool and appropriate for city days. Off-shoulders and bright shades seem ready for casual surroundings.

No peasantry ever existed that could have dreamed of the current evening interpretations. Long, of finest sheer materials, often trimmed with embroidery and ribbons, the dresses are floats of femininity. Storybook type.

There is a cue. Do you guess what? Elegant accessories and grooming, that's what. You may tie your hair up in a bun. Daytime, if you do it as well as a couture milliner. A broad-brimmed rustic straw would be safer. A breeze might ruffle your hair of an evening but never let it go so far that it looks like a haystack.

Kimberly chapel setting for rites

SHERYL JOHNSON sets date
THERESA JOHNSON plans rites

HANSEN — Pence Lynn Ann, Norma Reynolds, Hansen, Ray and LaVern Davis were married in rite May 4 in the Kimberly Second Ward LDS Chapel.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob B. Ray, Hansen. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Keith Davis, Wendell.

Bishop Bill Lyda performed the ceremony in a setting of baskets of Mayflowers, crabapple blossoms and carnations. Mrs. Sam Caudill prepared the corsages and flower arrangements and boutonniere were prepared by Mrs. Jess Belleu.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white chateau lace with a white band at the empire waist. The A-line gown was made by Mrs. Ben Sherman.

Her waist length veil was held by a diamond tiara. She carried a bouquet of three trailing yellow orchids accented by white carnations and white steppers made by her grandmother, Mrs. Caudill.

Mrs. Belleu served as organist and accompanied Mrs. Darrel Ward, Salt Lake City, Utah who was soloist. The couple was honored at a reception following the ceremony.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tier white wedding cake, trimmed with fresh yellow chrysanthemums. The cake was made by Mrs. Darrel Ward and decorated by Mrs. Caudill.

Mrs. Belleu was in charge of the bride's table.

Guests were seated at quartet tables covered with yellow lace cloths and centered with a white chrysanthemum.

Mrs. Hal Lundin was in charge of registering guests.

Mrs. Dennis Miller and Mrs. Darrel Ward opened and displayed gifts.

Jerome groups convene

JEROME — A fried chicken potluck dinner preceded the Tuesday meeting of the Jerome Barracks and Auxiliary of World War I Veterans.

The dinner began at noon at the American Legion Hall in Jerome.

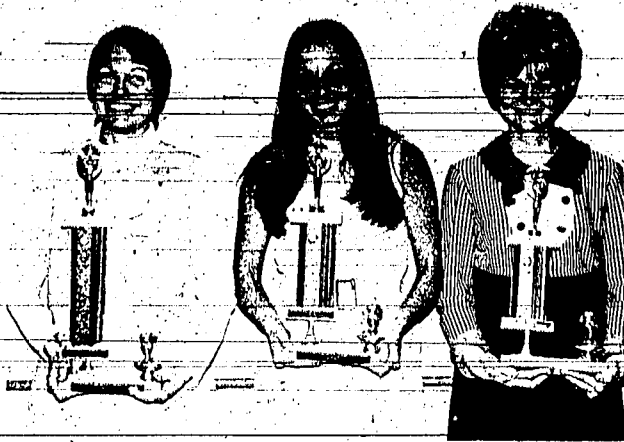

Lora Suttmiller, Twin Falls, was introduced and welcomed as a guest by Jack Smith, commander. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chelina, Gooding, were introduced and Chelina discussed his visit to Halley where he served as installing officer for the Halley barracks.

Mrs. Lillian Armita spoke on her recent visit and work days to the Veterans Hospital and Home in Boise. The barracks purchased two electric razors and donated them to the Boise Veterans Hospital.

A donation for chapel flowers was approved by the auxiliary during the business meeting which was conducted by LaRue Smith. A recent donation will be used for a Father's Day Party at the hospital. The party will be directed by Winifred Harker, VAWS chairman for the organization.

After the business meeting, card games were played and a light supper was served.

The next meeting is a picnic at the Jerome City Park June 19.

Hopper meeting slated

HOLLISTER - Roger Pollard, of the animal and plant health inspection service, will speak at 8 p.m. Monday at the Hollister Grange hall on grasshopper control.

According to Donald Youtz, Twin Falls County Extension Agricultural Agent, Pollard will explain how the 1973 control program will work. A major change this year is that the Department of Agriculture will only be concerned with a control program on non-cropland.

Only rangeland can be included in a cooperative federal-state-local program this year, Youtz said.

Richard Harder, 1972 secretary-treasurer of the Grasshopper control committee here, will act as chairman.

Retention of principal pushed by Blaine crowd

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

KETCHUM — An over 200 strong contingent of parents and teachers pushed Wednesday night for retention of Sam Hazard as principal of Ernest Hemingway Grade School, Ketchum.

The meeting with Blaine County School district board of trustees came after a three to one board decision Monday night not to renew Hazard's contract for next year. The decision had stemmed from Hazard's lack of certification.

After an about 20 minute deliberation at the close of Wednesday's meeting, the board decided to call a meeting May 23 with the newly elected board members to discuss the matter.

Former trustee chairman William Mallory said the meeting will be designed to give the new board members — Dorothy Moore and Mark Patterson — "an opportunity to be apprised of the situation and do research" on the matter.

Mallory said the meeting would not be open to the public. However, he said meeting results would be made "public immediately" after the session.

The tone was set for Wednesday night's meeting by a prefacing comment by Jean Colven, who served as moderator. "We are a group of concerned parents (who are) dismayed with the precipitous dismissal" of Hazard," Mrs. Colven said. She said the purpose of the meeting was to " lodge a protest" and to clarify the situation.

During the meeting, a petition signed by 180 students at Hemingway, seeking retention of Hazard, was presented to the board by students Darby Brown and Kathy McCannles.

Miss McCannles said, "We care about Mr. Hazard and we want him back for our principal."

Trustee chairman Ronda Hunt said after Monday's meeting that the board's action had centered on Hazard's change of program towards certification from Idaho State University to Northwestern University.

Hunt said that Hazard, in essence, had contracted with ISU, the Idaho Department of Education and the Blaine County school board, "In return for a letter of authorization" to teach and act as principal for the 1972-73 school year.

The trustee chairman said a March 20 letter from Dorcoy Riggs, director of certification and related services, to Hazard referred Hazard's request for approval of the change of program back to the local school board.

Because of the letter, Hunt said approval of the new program of study would require a letter from the board of trustees stating that an emergency exists and no other certified candidates are available to fill Hazard's position.

During Wednesday's meeting, Hunt said to make such a statement would be "a directive on the part of the school board."

"The board was in a position where it had no choice. We have got to comply with the letter of the law," he said.

Hazard reviewed the events beginning from his hiring in 1971 until the board's action.

The principal said that he has "not been able to substantiate in any constitutional form" Riggs' ruling that the change in program had cancelled all previous agreements.

Before the meeting, Hazard said, "Obviously I have known since I started work here that certification was a problem to be resolved. I feel I am making every possible effort to meet all the requirement and I will meet them by December."

Hazard said, "I had no warning that the board on election night was going to take such immediate and drastic action."

Mallory read a letter dated March 23 to Ronda Hunt from George Hunt, certification consultant.

The letter stated that Hazard's request would not be honored unless authorized by the local school board and upon evidence of Hazard's completion of 10 credit hours by Sept. 1.

Hazard said, "That would solve the whole problem. I didn't know about it."

Mrs. Jane Kneeland, board member said she felt the letter would still require a board statement that no certified candidate is available.

Oliver Dibble, Sun Valley, said the board had had several months to answer the letter but that it had not been answered.

"We in this community charge you directly Mr. Hunt, Mrs. Kneeland and Mr. Stella (a school board member) with dereliction of duty."

Earlier in the meeting, Hunt said, "In case someone gets the idea this was a hasty decision, this is far from the truth. We have been considering the case for a year."

Because Hazard broke the contract established between ISU, the state department and the local board, Hunt said Hazard's action left the board without a certified principal "which put our program in jeopardy and put our state funding in jeopardy."

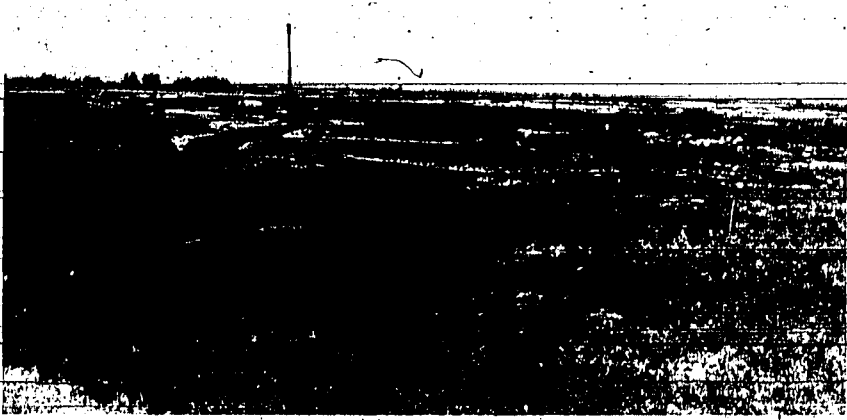

Rip Sewell, Ketchum, who has children in Hemingway school, said, "One reason my youngsters are learning a lot in school is because they are happy. Like what's happened to my kids."

Hemingway teacher Thomas Jasper said, "I have never seen a better education system than (what is) going on in this school. I would hate to see the kids who get a super education here suffer from a political situation we can't resolve."

Relocation site of small amusement park

Assumes command

MOUNTAIN HOME AIR FORCE BASE (UPI) — Col. Howard W. Leaf has assumed command of the 368th Tactical Fighter Wing at Mountain Home AFB, succeeding Col. Lynwood E. Clark.

Clark was promoted to Brigadier General and reassigned to command the 327th Air Division at Taipei, Taiwan.

Bliss event slated

BLISS — Graduation ceremonies for Bliss High School seniors will be at 7:30 p.m. May 23 at the High School gymnasium.

Lieutenant governor Jack Murphy will be guest speaker. There will be 15 seniors graduating.

Burley opening set

BURLEY — The new Skaggs drug center is holding a grand opening in Burley today. The center is part of a complex along with Albertson's food store on Pomerelle Ave. near the airport.

The two businesses are under the same roof, so patrons are able to pass from one store to the other without leaving the building. Albertson's opened last month.

The new drug center includes a 125 person capacity buffet style restaurant, a take home delicatessen, a snack bar, and a health food department.

Trustees named

RUPERT — Two new trustees of the Mindoka school district are Blaine Anderson, Heyburn farmer, and Dr. Harold Catmull, Rupert dentist.

They won in a field of five candidates in Tuesday's election. Anderson defeated incumbent Roger Brown in Zone 3 by a vote of 121 to 30. Jesse Esquivel, the third candidate for the seat, polled 13 votes.

In Zone 4, Dr. Catmull polled 97 votes defeating Arturo Zamora, who received 6. Incumbent Nile Maricle, board chairman, did not seek re-election.

The new trustees begin their terms in June.

Credit increase ok'd

BLISS — Bliss school trustees have approved an increase in the number of credits required for high school graduation.

Supt. Burton Lenker said Wednesday the required credits will increase from 34, which is the state requirement, to 40 over a three-year period. This will upgrade the school's accreditation, he said.

Trustees have accepted the resignation of Harold Wesche, science and math teacher, and are accepting applications for that position and also for a first and second grade teacher.

Trustees have authorized Supt. Lenker to draw up a users agreement for use of the school gymnasium. Four representatives from the Northside Gem Club who have used the facility for three years for their gem and hobby show met with the board to discuss the agreement.

Water reduced 25%

GOODING — Irrigation water available to this city's residents has been reduced by 25 per cent.

Mayor Harley Crippen said the cutback took effect Wednesday after a meeting with the Big Wood and Little Wood Canal Companies and American Falls reservoir district officials.

Low run-off into Magic Reservoir and the Little Wood River and storage capacity cutbacks at the American Falls reservoir necessitated the Gooding cutback, according to Crippen.

"We're going to try to continue irrigating the way we have (once a week per resident), but we may have to go to every 10 days or two weeks," Crippen said.

He said the city's irrigation water may be cut by more than 25 per cent this summer.

Jerome to air park site

JEROME — Location of a small amusement park on the north side of the Perrine Memorial Bridge will be discussed tonight by the Jerome County Planning and Zoning Commission.

The meeting at 8 p.m. will be to review information presented in an earlier meeting for and against the relocation of the go-cart facility which was formerly on the southside of the bridge in Twin Falls county.

The Jerome County Advisory Council last week informed the zoning board an error had been made in "zoning judgment" in regard to the location of the amusement facility on the highway frontage in Jerome County.

Land on which the go-cart track and buildings were located is now part of the new highway right of way and the highway department helped relocate the facility on the northside of the river.

Members of the advisory council said use of this prime commercial land for the amusement center is not advisable.

The council said the Planning and Zoning commission acted in haste by not requiring a comprehensive plan with blue prints of the planned development setting forth exact uses.

A small building formerly south of the bridge has been moved to the new site and a track paved. Wednesday workers began on drilling a well at the new site.

Fire damages Wendell home

WENDELL — About $8,000 damage was done by a fire to a mobile home at the Mel Jaramillo residence in Wendell Wednesday.

Firemen were called at 9:20 a.m. and found smoke coming from the mobile home when they arrived. When they attempted to enter the structure, they found the interior filled with smoke and flames.

Protective clothing and a self-contained breathing apparatus were needed by men fighting the fire because of the extreme heat, according to fire chief George Waller.

He said the fire apparently burned in the kitchen and living room area for about an hour before it was noticed. No one was at home at the time of the blaze.

Two engines, the emergency van and 10 men responded to the alarm. Investigation to determine the cause of the fire is continuing. The fire was extinguished at about 11 a.m.

Rupert event set tonight

RUPERT — A student art and music festival under the sponsorship of the County Council PTA will be held in the Minico High School gymnasium.

Choral and band groups from Minico High School and both junior high schools will present a program at 8:00 p.m.

Before and after the concert, works of students in the arts and industrial arts departments will be displayed in the balcony of the gymnasium. Instructors Larry Caldwell and Milton McDaniel and some of the students will answer questions about the art work and student projects.

Preliminary okay given in Blaine

HAILEY — The Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commission has given preliminary approval, with stipulations, to the Indian Creek planned residential unit development.

The unanimous decision, along with preliminary approval for 40 initial, single-family residences, came Tuesday night.

The proposed development comprises 2,500 acres and is located about 1.5 miles northeast of Hailey. According to project developer, John Koppes, Ketchum, planned for the development is 1,000 multiple family residential units and up to 250 single family units.

However, in its decision, the commission stipulated that the preliminary approval hinged on the following contingencies:

- That the developers reach a decision with the Blaine County Commissioners on the make-up of roads within the development.
- That the Hailey city council approve water and sewage provisions for the development.
- That county attorney Stephen W. Boller be given time to research the development's covenances and give his approval or make recommendations for changes.

Antiques lost in Berger fire

BERGER — Two rooms were completely gutted by fire and part of an antique collection destroyed Tuesday morning at the Lyle Schnitker home near Berger.

The Filer Volunteer Fire Department was called to the scene about 9:30 a.m., according to Walt Schenkel, fireman, and were able to get the fire out.

The kitchen of the house, and a back room used to hold a large antique collection, were completely destroyed by the fire, which also did extensive smoke damage to the other rooms of the house.

According to Schnitker, his wife had started frying a chicken on the kitchen stove and went out to work in her garden nearby. When she started back into the house she noticed smoke pouring from the windows and notified her husband who called the fire department.

Mrs. Schnitker's large collection of antique coal oil lamps, as well as many other valuable glass pieces, were destroyed by the fire. Schnitker said they were probably worth several thousand dollars and he estimated damage to the house to be between $4,000 and $5,000.

Neighbors called Morris Huffman of the Salmon River Canal Co., who went to the headgates and diverted more water down to help put out the blaze.

TF city-county planning meet set

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners and representatives of all cities in the county will meet at 10 a.m. May 31 to discuss city-county planning.

In a meeting Wednesday, with representatives of Twin Falls, Filer and Kimberly, county officials set the date for discussion of joint planning programs.

Mayor John Christoffersen, Twin Falls, who asked for further consideration on planning problems, said he hoped the commission was not as firmly opposed to participating in planning costs as had been indicated in a Times-News story.

"Twin Falls city has budgeted $20,000 for a professional planner and if the county would come up with a similar amount we could work out an overall comprehensive plan. At the present we are simply moving from crisis to crisis in planning," Christoffersen said.

Christoffersen said the present county and city planning and zoning boards are working long hours in an effort to solve these crises. He said the city planning board has even considered asking the city to pay the cost of meals so they could begin meetings at 5 p.m. and work to a more reasonable hour at night instead of 7:30 p.m. until after midnight to cope with planning and zoning problems.

Christoffersen also said the problem of mobile homes and mobile home courts requires some professional consideration. He said property owners in residential areas do not want "a trailer at their back door" and are opposing mobile home courts.

But he said, there are many mobile homes being sold each year and there is a current shortage of mobile home court space. He said apparently people find this a highly satisfactory way of life and city and county officials must allow suitable mobile home parks for these people. The problem, he said, is to provide planning which will be fair to the mobile home residents and the residential property owners alike.

Christoffersen said there is also the problem of cities expanding into rural areas to inherit problems created prior to zoning regulations.

He said an open invitation to industries by a community could backfire. A community's sewage facilities may be restricted to a 6,000 population equivalent, he said, and one industry could exceed this, requiring costly new facilities.

Some communities appear to be changing to "bedroom communities," which Christoffersen said may be the most logical form of growth.

Mayor Dan Knuffman, Filer mayor, said his community has experienced a 20 per cent growth in the past two years and also has growing pains.

"At this time more than 600 acres of land around Twin Falls is being platted for housing and other development. This is the same size as the city's original townsite," Christoffersen said.

He told the county officials there must be some city-county planning coordination soon.

Cities costs reduced for prisoner food, housing

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — County Commissioners agreed Wednesday to reduce the charges to cities for feeding and housing prisoners from $1 to 85 cents per meal.

In doing so, the county commissioners said they are sharing with the cities the saving they have been able to bring about in prisoner costs.

City representatives from Kimberly, Filer and Twin Falls attended a special meeting Wednesday morning with the commissioners to discuss the costs which were brought to the commissioners' attention by Twin Falls City Manager Jean Milar.

Milar told the county commissioners Wednesday, "If statements are correct and prisoner meals can now be prepared and served for 60 or 65 cents each, I think we should all share it in the saving, but if this is not true then we should pay the bill and forget it."

County Commissioner William Wisoman suggested the 85 cents per meal as a fair price to both county and city representatives. Under the contract now expiring June 1, the cities pay $1 per meal for the two meals per day for all prisoners housed in the county jail but arrested under city ordinance.

In return, the county pays at the same rate for prisoners placed in city jails for segregation purposes or when county facilities are overly crowded. The Twin Falls city jail is used when juvenile space is unavailable in the county or when a prisoner such as a mental case must be held for protection and must be separated from other prisoners, but county jail space is too crowded to permit such seclusion.

The agreement approved verbally in the Wednesday meeting will be drawn up to cover a one year period. Fees will apply as of May 1.

County officials explained the 60 to 65 cents per meal now listed as the cost compared with 90 cents per meal they had previously. In addition, said Commissioner Merl Leonard, are the costs of laundry and cleaning of blankets, furnishing razor blades, cigarettes and other needs of the prisoners. There is also a sizeable janitorial bill, Commission Chairman William L. Chancey said.

Chancey said indications are these costs will continue to rise and may change the present base figure over the coming year.

Architect Ivan Stone presented preliminary plans Tuesday for remodeling of the jail which he said will cost an estimated $60,000. This figure is considerably below original estimates as plans have been revised by the architect.

Under the plan presented Wednesday, emphasis has been placed on safety and prisoner security, Stone said.

Stairways from the fourth floor prison area to the third floor will be divided to provide a firewall in each and the one stairway from the third floor will also be rebuilt with a fire wall for safety.

Doors will be located on basement entrances to keep smoke and fire from moving up stairways in the event of fire starting near the heating plant.

In the new design, the night jailer or security officer will have a view of the cell areas but will not be in contact with prisoners at any time.

With completion of the new facilities, space will be provided for juveniles with adequate cells for both male and female prisoners, adult and juvenile said the demand for jail facilities elsewhere will be least be minimized, Sheriff Paul Corder said. He said the county will probably be able to take care of all prison needs.

Mayor John Christoffersen said the city would like to know if it should maintain the city jail or if it should be closed. Commissioners suggested it be retained at least until the remodeled jail quarters are finished and the county has an opportunity to see if county jail facilities meet all needs.

Jerome, Wood River carry area SW Louisiana cage coach quits hopes into A-2 state track meet BOISE — The Jerome Tigers, Wood River Wolverines and Buhl Indians will gun for high finishes in the state A-2 track and field championship at Boise State Stadium Friday and Saturday.

From the local viewpoint it should run about the way with Jerome having the better depth in an attempt to win all the marbles. Wood River, the defending state champs, should finish well up and Buhl will have sufficient quality to place among the top-eight or so, maybe higher.

The other tough schools from around figure to be Post Falls and Marsh Valley, both of whom qualified a lot of youngsters.

Jerome goes into the thing with the favorite in the mile relay and shotput. The Tigers also should get points from the hurdles, a couple of other relays and the middle distances.

Toby Walcott leads the individual Tiger parade as the returning A-2 shotput king. He appears to be relatively unopposed in other parts of the state, but from the home district will come Buhl junior Brent Watson, who got off a 55-3 effort last week and a repeat of that might not give Walcott much leeway on an off day.

Jim Thackeray holds the best hurdles hope from the area although the Tigers have all three district places in the lows. Ron Hillier should get points in the quartetle but will have company in the form of Blaisdell, brother of CSI coach Jim Blaisdell, who will represent Malad with four individual district championships. Blaisdell ran 50.9 last week to Hillier's 51.0. Hillier also is qualified in the 400 yard where again he will be butting heads with Blaisdell, who won all three sprints and took the long jump at 21-6 last week.

Wood River combines almost all of its hopes into four events — and will definitely have the news at bed time Friday. Coach Bob Shay will be sending Rick Ward out in search of the mile and two-mile titles with Monty Brothwell a hopeful third or fourth place kicker. Callier and Jim Hurst, both 13-foot vaulters, appear to rule that event, based on district time comparisons. The Wood River medley had the fastest time in state A-2 last week, but as Coach Shay points out "there could have been a lot of changes since then on other teams."

Kevin Swigert figures into a tough halfmile where a Snake River had hit a two-minute timing and has to be the favorite. Swigert and Jerome's Johnson will be hitting, however, and the top three places should come from those three individuals.

In addition to good points in the shotput from Watson, Buhl expects as much or more in the discus. Watson had the best district last week.

But hurting all three contenders will be the fact they face tests in two or three of the higher places appear headed for other parts of the state. There was one 6-4 last week. Jerome Coach Karl Kleinkopf is sitting on a lot of hopes and a lot of fears. "I can see where we can win it (the title)," he said "but we are putting a lot of hope in third and fourth place points. The times in the other districts seem to put us in the ball park in most events but they never tell you how close the second-place man was. For instance, we think Thackeray can win the high and place well up and maybe win the low. Naylor (Marsh Valley) beat him in the Buhl invitational. We know that Thack has improved, but so probably has Naylor. But the thing that worries me is when one and two points could mean so much as I understand Naylor just barely won both hurdles down there last week. If Naylor can still beat Thack by a couple of yards, we're looking at third-place points."

"But," he added with a smile, "conjecture like that sure has made the week interesting."

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI) — Beryl Shipley, coach of the powerhouse Southwestern Louisiana basketball team and the center of an NCAA recruiting investigation, resigned Wednesday.

In the past half year, Shipley has been suspended by his own school in connection with the NCAA investigation and suspended by the Southland Conference for calling the conference a "Mickey Mouse league."

He said he was quitting because he could no longer communicate with the school's administration and insisted he would carry on a personal court battle with the NCAA. "I still plan to do as much as I can," said Shipley. "I feel like as an individual we have to answer the charges they've leveled against us. I still plan to do so to the best of my power."

Oliva's double caps comeback that lifts Twins past Chicago

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Tony Oliva's two-run double broke a 4-1 tie in the seventh inning and led the Minnesota Twins to a comeback 8-6 victory Wednesday night over the Chicago White Sox.

Oliva, the designated hitter, sliced a two-out delivery from reliever Terry Forster off the leftfield chalk-line to score Rod Carew and George Mitterwald, who had walked. Back-to-back doubles by Mitterwald and Danny Thompson had tied the score and brought on Terry Forster in relief of Eddie Fisher at the start of the seventh.

Bobby Darwin's single followed Oliva's double and finished the Twins' four-run inning.

Toby Harrah's one-out single started the winning rally. Harrah went to second on a wild pitch, and then reliever Doug Bird came in to intentionally walk Johnson. A walk to Rico Carty filled the bases.

After Harrah was forced at home for the second out, Blittner delivered his winning hit.

Cal drops A's for 5th in row

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Veteran lefthander Clyde Wright registered his first win of the season with a six-hitter and Jim Spencer belted a two-run homer Wednesday night as the California Angels beat the Oakland A's for their fifth straight win, 7-2.

Wright, an 18-game winner in 1972, took an 0-5 record and a 4.43 ERA into the game but the Angels, who won 3-0 on Nolan Ryan's no-hitter in Kansas City Tuesday night, backed him with a 12-hit attack for their most runs of the season.

DETROIT (UPI) — Mickey Stanley's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded and one out in the 10th inning scored pinch-runner John Gamble Wednesday night to give the Detroit Tigers a 6-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Re Brown walked to start the 10th inning and Gamble ran for him. With one out hit, Duke Sims singled and Dick McAuliffe worked loser Luis Tiant for his sixth walk to lead the bases. Stanley then flew to rightfielder Ben Oglive on the warning track and he had no play on Gamble at the plate.

Rangers win on excuse me hit

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — Larry Blittner's check swing single down the rightfield line drove in Alex Johnson from third with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning Wednesday night to give the Texas Rangers a 2-1 victory over the Kansas City Royals.

The Rangers defeated Paul Spittorff, who suffered only his second loss of the season against six wins.

Gilmore hit in paternity suit

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Artis Gilmore of the Kentucky Colonels, the leading rebounder and shot-blocker in the American Basketball Association last season, has been named the defendant in a $25,000 paternity suit filed by University of Louisville coed Belinda Carmen Gill charged in her suit, filed Tuesday in Jefferson County Circuit Court, that she was "deceived and misled" by Gilmore's "agents, servants or employees" into believing he would provide medical care and support her after she became pregnant.

DETROIT (UPI) — Mickey Stanley's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded and one out in the 10th inning scored pinch-runner John Gamble Wednesday night to give the Detroit Tigers a 6-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Re Brown walked to start the 10th inning and Gamble ran for him. With one out hit, Duke Sims singled and Dick McAuliffe worked loser Luis Tiant for his sixth walk to lead the bases. Stanley then flew to rightfielder Ben Oglive on the warning track and he had no play on Gamble at the plate.
