Summit focuses on troop levels

REYKJAVIK (UPI) — President Nixon and French President Georges Pompidou began their two-day summit meeting today by focusing on the issue of American troop strength in Europe and French fears of a unilateral U.S. cutback without parallel Soviet reductions.

capital in the world.
The first session lasted two hours, 42 minutes — 42 minutes longer than scheduled.
— Asked by a reporter, as he left the first meeting, how the discussions were progressing, Pompidou replied in French that "they're going fine."

Spokesman for both leaders described the talks as "useful and constructive," but provided few details.
They met for nearly three hours in the morning, then held a second session in the afternoon.
The talks were held in the Kjarvalsstaðir art museum on a typically chilly day in Iceland's principal city, the northernmost

A French official spokesman, Denis Baudouin, told newsmen that Pompidou called on Nixon not to withdraw American troops from Europe, reflecting French apprehension that an agreement on reduction of forces might be reached between Nixon and Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev when they meet in Washington in mid-June.
"President Pompidou insisted on the extreme importance of the presence of U.S. troops in Europe and the great danger of reducing the U.S. forces unilaterally," Baudouin said.

Hijackers hike ransom demand

ORANJESTAD, Aruba, N. A. (UPI) — A hijacked Colombian airliner left here at dawn for Lima, Peru, today but was forced back for mechanical reasons. Two armed and masked hijackers aboard seeking $200,000 ransom for release of 55 persons on board were reported upping their ransom demands by $50,000 an hour.

Jerome amusement park ordered shut

JEROME — Jerome officials Wednesday told the owner of an amusement park near the Perrine Bridge to shut down his business.
If he did not do so, a criminal complaint would be filed against him, charging violation of the Jerome County Zoning Ordinance, Gene Fredericksen, prosecuting attorney, said today.

Childers leads Irish vote

DUBLIN (UPI) — Erskine Childers, first Protestant to contest a nationwide popular election in the overwhelmingly Roman Catholic Irish Republic, emerged today as its probable next president.
In the first three constituencies (voting districts) to announce official results in presidential elections, Childers led with 39,014 votes against 31,956 for his Roman Catholic opponent Tom O'Higgins.

Fredericksen said he has been instructed by the county commission to file charges against Feller.
He said the park was in operation despite a county commission directive to discontinue operation until the commission has acted on a request for rezoning of the area.
The prosecuting attorney said Feller was warned Wednesday by Sheriff Elza Hall to discontinue operations. If the park was still operating today, then a criminal complaint would be filed, he said.

Gold inches up, $ firm

LONDON (UPI) — The price of gold, already at a record high, inched forward again today. The dollar remained firm in quiet trading as most major money centers took the day off for a religious holiday.
The price of gold in London rose 50 cents to $114.50 an ounce, a new record.
"The market is fairly quiet at the start of business," bullion dealer John Matthey said.
"It is too early to say whether further new highs will be reached today, a lot depends on the performance of the dollar," N.M. Rothschilds said.

On May 17 the Jerome County Planning and Zoning Commission had recommended to the commissioners that a variance in the present classification of the land be granted to permit the park to operate until a comprehensive study of the area could be made.

Israel hints tough stand

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israel said today it would have to toughen its Middle East peace stance if the United States goes through with proposed new weapons deliveries to Saudi Arabia and Kuwait.
The warning appeared in the nation's two major morning newspapers.

Fredericksen said, "This recommendation by the zoning commission in no way gave Feller approval to continue his business activities. Final approval must come from the county commissioners following a public hearing on the variance recommendation."

US jets strike on Mekong

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — U.S. jet fighter-bombers struck 14 miles southeast of Phnom Penh today along the east bank of the Mekong River where government and Communist troops clashed Wednesday, military sources said.
It marked the 86th consecutive day of the stepped-up U.S. bombing campaign in Cambodia but there was no word on whether B52 bombers took part in today's raids.

The amusement center, was recently moved from south of the bridge in Twin Falls County. It is now on state endowment land. Feller is leasing the site from the Idaho Lands Board.
The Jerome County commissioner's have filed a protest with the state land board and have requested an investigation by the Idaho attorney general's office.

Chrysler asks rule delay

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. sought Wednesday a one-year delay in the 1976 federal standard controlling nitrogen oxide emissions. The president of General Motors Corp. asked Congress to favor the 1975-4 emission standard.
In its application for a delay in the nitrogen oxides (NOx) requirement, Chrysler said suspension was "desirable to prevent the extreme dislocation and risk caused by the massive introduction of two different catalytic devices in the 1976 model year."

Pompidou listens, Nixon makes point

Nixon link queried

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., urged colleagues on the Senate Watergate committee today to call promptly top-level witnesses who can tell whether or not and to what extent President Nixon had knowledge of the affair.
Gurney suggested that starting next Tuesday, when the hearings resume, the committee call seven former administrative officials.

nesses "can tell the committee and the nation whether or not and to what extent the President had knowledge of Watergate."
Sen. Herman F. Talmadge, D-Ga., another committee member, said last week that the top-level witnesses should be summoned quickly. Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said Monday however that the committee would continue hearing lesser witnesses first. Ervin said the committee wanted to build a case logically "instead of piecemeal over yonder."
Gurney argued, "The committee can get to the heart of Watergate with a few witnesses and in short order."

Planner proposed

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls City Manager Jean Millar proposed hiring a joint city-county planner at a meeting of city and county officials here today.
Millar proposed creation of an executive planning board under which a professional planner would work.
The planner would be supplied with tools and staff necessary for a fulltime continuing planning program.
The planner would be a fulltime employee of the board, and not hired on a contract basis, he said.
About 25 people representing the cities of Buhl, Filer, and Twin Falls; the county commissioners and farm organizations attended.
In the past Twin Falls officials had urged hiring a professional planner, but the county commissioners had not yet committed themselves to the idea.

Youth ranch views differ

RUPERT — Former Idaho Youth Ranch houseparent Clifford Morgan Wednesday called for the resignation of Clyde Greenwell, chairman of the ranch board.
But at the same time, the head of the Idaho Department of Environmental and Community Services said in Boise his agency can be "supportive" of the ranch's directors.
Morgan also charged a recent investigation of the ranch by the Idaho attorney general's office was not done in enough depth and not conducted by an unbiased person.
Only one day was spent at the ranch during the state investigation into charges of mistreatment of ranch youths, Morgan said. The probe was conducted by Rita Blackhaller, Idaho child licensing specialist, who had the role of both licensing and investigating the institution, he said.
But Blackhaller said Wednesday she had spent two days on the ranch during the child abuse investigation earlier this spring and "my report was complete." Her report has not yet been made public.
She said she had been licensing the ranch since 1968 and was "not unfamiliar with the program."
— Dr. James Bax, Boise, administrator of the Department of Environmental and Community Services, (DECS) said Wednesday his agency "can be supportive of the board," and is not critical.
"They have some excellent board members and I think they are on the right track," Bax said.
The houseparents have brought great improvements to the program since last fall, Morgan said, by talking with the boys, instead of dishing out punishment, and by openly telling them what they have to accomplish "to go home, and then following through."
He charged that firm manager William Mitchell, along with Mack Moore, former chaplain at the ranch, would constantly "go around" Ranch Manager Dwayne Peterson and Executive Director Lee Childs, complaining directly to the board that the houseparents were trying to ruin the ranch program, Morgan said.
Mitchell constantly opposed discussing evaluations with the boys and felt that any attempt at treatment was "molly-coddling," Morgan charged.
"The board supported Mitchell 100 per cent," Morgan said. The board failed to support its own administrators, he said, and was unaware of the "excellent credentials" of the houseparents.
Last week the three sets of houseparents resigned following the resignation of Childs and dismissal of Peterson. They said the board and Mitchell were too custody-oriented, as opposed to treatment oriented.

Lab power limit asked

HOUSTON (UPI) — Ground controllers told Skylab's astronauts today to conserve electricity as a result of a new power failure and renewed studies of earth's resources were cancelled for the day.
Minutes after being awakened this morning, space station commander Charles "Pete" Conrad asked Houston if electrical specialists working through the night had found any way to overcome the new power shortage.
"Afraid not," replied Robert Crippen. "We're still looking at it. There is some concern that we may have to eliminate some activity, but we still haven't fully evaluated that."
"Back to bed," quipped astronaut Joseph P. Kerwin.
"You don't get the day off until tomorrow," Crippen said. All three astronauts will be given a light schedule Friday with no experiment work planned.
The power trouble developed with the failure Wednesday of the second of 18 batteries that store electricity generated from sunlight. It reduced Skylab's already short power by another 6 per cent and added a new crimp to the mission just when everything appeared to be settling down.
The energy crisis added impetus to proposed plans for a during spacewalk to free the jammed solar generating wing that cut Skylab's power by half before the astronauts were launched last Friday.
Conrad, Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz were told they may be asked to push a television camera through an airlock on the side of the station in a day or two so engineers can see what can be done to open the wing.
Mission control had some good news for the pilots today too. Air temperatures in the big space cabin dropped from 88 to 82 degrees during the night.
Weitz repaired a broken astronomical camera by taking it apart and fixing a metal flange that had jammed a gear mechanism.
The pilots slept in their small bedrooms aboard the big space house and Conrad reported:
"We had a good night's sleep. I think we're getting used to sleeping up here."
The earth resources observation today was cancelled because it put too great a drain on the Skylab batteries. A new schedule was drawn up concentrating on medical experiments and solar observations with the huge observatory mounted piggy back on the orbiting laboratory.

Puzzled by metal

PHYSICIST Dr. Tom Gray of North Texas State University examines a metal sample from the so-called spaceship site in Aurora, Tex. Of the four samples he has examined, one has "puzzling" properties, he says. (UPI)

Buried astro probed

AURORA, Tex. (UPI) — A 61-year-old woman says she remembers the night on April 10, 1967, her parents went to the spot where an airship crashed into Judge Proctor's well and the pilot was buried in the community cemetery.

"That crash certainly caused a lot of excitement," Mary Evans said Wednesday. "Many people were frightened. They didn't know what to expect. That was years before we had any regular airplanes or other kind of airships."

The Wright Brothers made their historic flight at Kitty Hawk in December, 1903. This has led some to believe the airship that crashed at the Texas well was from another planet, if indeed such an airship exists, Mrs. Evans has no doubts.

"I was only about 15 at the time and had all but forgotten the incident until it appeared in the newspapers recently," she said. "We were living in Aurora at the time but my mother and father wouldn't let me go with them when they went up to the crash site at Judge Proctor's well."

"When they returned home they told me how the airship had exploded. The pilot was torn up and killed in the crash. The men of the town who gathered his remains said he was a small man and buried him that same day in Aurora Cemetery."

The UFO advocates have combed the Aurora area with metal detectors, radiation meters and other scientific devices in recent months in an attempt to get some tangible evidence to file with a court order to examine the body of the alleged pilot. Pieces of metal taken from the area have been sent to various scientists and metallurgists for examination.

A physics professor at North Texas State University tested one piece and said it was unusual because it was 75 per cent iron but lacked many of the properties common to iron. The professor, Dr. Tom Gray, said it was not magnetic and was shiny and soft instead of dull and brittle like iron.

"I don't mean by my comments to indicate whether this is of terrestrial or extraterrestrial origin, but that the physics of that much iron being not magnetic stirs my curiosity as a scientist," he said. "If it proves to be a rather strange metal, then a great deal more study will have to be done on it. Right now we can only make suppositions. We cannot draw any conclusions."

Producer speaks on new film at TF Rotary meet

SANDY HOWARD
... producer

By JOCELYN CLOWARD
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — Well-known movie producer Sandy Howard, visiting in Twin Falls yesterday believes "The entire world is looking for family pictures."
Howard, whose latest film, "The Neptune Factor," will premiere in the Rocky Mountain area June 6, spoke at a Rotary luncheon at the Turf Club Wednesday.
He produced "A Man Called Horse," in 1970 and "Man in the Wilderness" in 1971, and has been involved with many other motion picture and television ventures, including the "Howdy Dandy" show, "The Neptune Factor", which will open Wednesday in Twin Falls, is the story of three aquanauts cast loose by an earthquake from their seabed moorings into the ocean depths, and the recovery search for them. It stars Ernest Borgnine, Yvette Mimieux and Ben Gazzara.

"It was a back-breaker to make," Howard told the Rotarians. "The underwater work was done scientifically. We did take dramatic license with lighting," he said.
"The depths of the ocean do not have the light that we used. Our sea animals took months of adjusting to the light we were using. We had 160 tanks of deep sea creatures located at Toronto, Canada, where we did much of our filming, and later in the Bahamas."
"We used those particular waters, he said, because clear water is not available at most coastal places. "We worked quite deep, and used miniaturized equipment to create the illusion of huge ocean creatures."

"Actually," Howard said, "there really are creatures in the deep which have been sounded by sonar equipment that are much larger than whales."
Speaking of Magic Valley, he said, "I don't find this area provincial," he said. "People everywhere are much the same. The television tube has sprouted a great deal of culture, so that even small places are aware of what is going on."
"I believe in the theater," Howard said. "I love to entertain families. Everywhere there is terrible concern that the family audience is no longer coming to the theater with regularity, regularly."

"I have never made an R or X rated movie," Howard said. "Pornography is not entertaining for me. I have never considered it."
"A Man Called Horse," he said, "is very adult, but not in sex and extreme violence. I think the most violent movie I remember was 'The Longest Day.'"
"The thing that concerns me in the rating system is that censorship generally is totally unconstitutional, even though I think clean," Howard said. "I'm not for censorship of any kind. The best censorship is just not going to the theater."
"Our country is heaven," Howard told the Rotarians earlier. The press in Europe, for instance, is congratulating us for investigating Watergate. It will pass," he said.

"Personally, as well as nationally," he said, "Failure is much more interesting than success."
"I'm the only man I know, he joked, "who has made 16 comebacks without ever being a success."
"I've traveled a great deal," Howard said, "and I would hope that the people in Twin Falls would be happy. You have a great blessing here in your clean air. It will be of tremendous value to your children," he said.
"I'm not today's wanderer," Howard concluded. "I travel constantly with my profession. If I were to settle, I would miss the action, the ocean, the theater. I enjoy the adventure of living."

TF trustees okay bid for HS band uniforms

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Selection of new uniforms for the Twin Falls High School band occupied most of Wednesday night's school trustee special meeting.
After lengthy private presentation of their company's product by three representatives, the board unanimously approved the lowest bid of $10,726 for 90 uniforms from the Oswald firm. The purchase will be handled through Van Engle's Department Store.
John Roper represented Roper's bid of $11,548.80 and John Massey, of Idaho Department Store, explained his firm's bid of $12,685.50.

Del Slaughter, band director, who attended the meeting to assist with the discussion, said the Oswald firm is the biggest manufacturer of band uniforms in the nation. The local uniforms have not been replaced for 16 years.

Details of the contract will be completed by Slaughter with Bryant Summerhays, Provo, Utah, who made the sales presentation to the board. The uniforms will be dark blue, with white overlay which have the initials "T.F." in front and a braunhead on the back.

Slaughter said the "in" thing now is for the overlay to be used for the marching band, then removed and the blue suits worn for concerts, thus giving considerable more use for the uniforms.

John Wolfe, board chairman, said the reason for calling for bids is to get the lowest cost and "if we're not going to accept the lowest bid we have to justify the difference in quality."

Trustees agreed the Oswald uniforms should be satisfactory. Summerhays said delivery could be expected within 90 days after the order was received.

Other business, which was rapidly dispensed after nearly two hours' consideration on the uniforms, included:

Acceptance of a bid of $28,337 each for desks from Brunswick, for a total of $6,799.20. That was $1,406.40 lower than one from Haywood-Wakefield for $8,444 each, total of $8,265.60.
Official approval of 11.32 per cent salary

Kimberly man named to board

TWIN FALLS — William E. Brockman, Kimberly, has been named to the Twin Falls County Fairboard, succeeding E. W. Moore, Hansen.

Moore submitted his resignation from the board earlier this month. He has served the past eight years. He said he is resigning because of demands from his own business and because he feels there should be new people and new ideas on the board from time to time.

Brockman, appointed Wednesday by the county commissioners, has been active in 4-H club work and other youth programs. The appointment is for a one year subject to reappointment at that time.

Backs bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, announced Wednesday he is among 20 senators cosponsoring a resolution permitting prayer in public buildings.

McClure said he submitted similar legislation when he was a member of the House of Representatives. He said most Idahoans support restoration of voluntary prayer in public schools and buildings.

"I am convinced that in the near future the Supreme Court decisions which held school prayers to be unconstitutional will be overturned," he said.

Stands 'out'

TWIN FALLS — There will be no concession stands at the Twin Falls high school or two junior high schools next year.

Supt. George Staudaer told trustees Wednesday night he and Mrs. Evelyn Beck, school lunch director, feel that stands cannot continue to operate profitably with increased food costs and salary increases.

"The sale of sandwiches was a failure," Staudaer said. "Students realized the sandwiches cost more than a school lunch and, strangely, our school lunches increased in numbers after the sandwich machines were placed at the high school."

Theft of the coins from the concession stands was also a factor in the decision to eliminate them, he said.

Several additional vending machines, which will save labor costs, will be substituted for the concession stands.

Andrus releases 'holdback' funds

BOISE (UPI) — A 1.9 per cent general fund spending holdback for the State Department of Agriculture and the University of Idaho Extension Service and Agricultural Research is being released.

But in announcing that decision Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said the holdback on all other general fund spending — except higher education which was released in January — will remain through this fiscal year.

By June 30, the end of the fiscal year, "we will be in a good solvent position with a balanced budget," Andrus said.

Andrus said his action in regard to the agricultural agencies made available an additional $72,100 for spending in the current fiscal year. He said he let the money go because "the federal cutback in funds hurt them more than other departments and this will relieve the pressure."

CSI gets one gas bid

TWIN FALLS — Only one bid for gas and oil was received by the College of Southern Idaho at the bid opening Tuesday.
The bid from United Oil Co. will be presented to college trustees at their June 18 meeting, according to Herb Van Slyke, business manager. The firm has provided gas and oil for the school last year.

The bid, which is termed a "tank wagon price" bid, and subject to change if prices rise, lists prices per gallon as 29.2 cents for regular gas, 32.7 for ethel, 20.2 for diesel. Motor oil in 55 gallon drums is listed at 92 cents per gallon for heavy duty and 72 cents for non-detergent oil.

No other firm apparently could offer a bid since this would require additional fuel over the amount they purchased last year, Van Slyke said. Some suppliers have indicated they only expect to receive about 90 per cent of their last year's allocation because of the current fuel shortage, the official said.

In past years, five or six companies have offered bids. The fuel is used for approximately 15 college-owned vehicles and diesel powered equipment, including a 15-foot swath power lawn mower.

Church airs plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Wednesday he has written again to President Nixon concerning the plight of Idaho farmers and independent gasoline dealers in Idaho faced with a fuel shortage.

Church said the office of oil, and gas of the interior department recently issued guidelines for voluntary rather than mandatory allocation of crude oil and refinery products.

"While farmers have been given priority status, the guidelines give no definite assurances that this group will have supplies available when needed, and, in the quantities required," he wrote.

Buddhist ruin

BOROBUDUR, Indonesia (UPI) — The most important example of Indian architecture outside of India is the vast, 1000-year-old temple of Borobudur in central Java. The Buddhist ruin, which is scheduled to be restored by UNESCO, is famed for 430 life-size images of Buddha.

Theoretical

Theories can be moving instruments, changing man's presumed knowledge and forcing him to alter his behavior. But theories remain only theories until proven by incontrovertible fact.

A fertile field for conjecture through the ages has been human population and man's ability to survive with finite resources.

Many centuries ago, when populations were a fraction of their present size, famines spread across entire continents with disastrous consequences.

The Malthusian Law came much later, but it held much the same message. Harvest increased arithmetically, it held, but man reproduced geometrically.

could only be calamity. More recently, academicians touted an "exponential growth" theory which also held dire predictions for mankind's future because of population explosions.

What happened was a sudden decline in the United States birth rate. For the first time in history that rate has declined to a level below the repopulation point needed to achieve zero growth.

The consistent birth rate decline of the last decade was unpredicted and contrary to theories and projections. It is also humbling to those who believe they can prejudice nature's ways.

Swiss Secrets

A new treaty signed between Washington and the Swiss government concerning the famous secret Swiss bank accounts could cause some quick account withdrawals by leaders of organized crime who may have thought they had an untouchable haven for their ill-gotten gains.

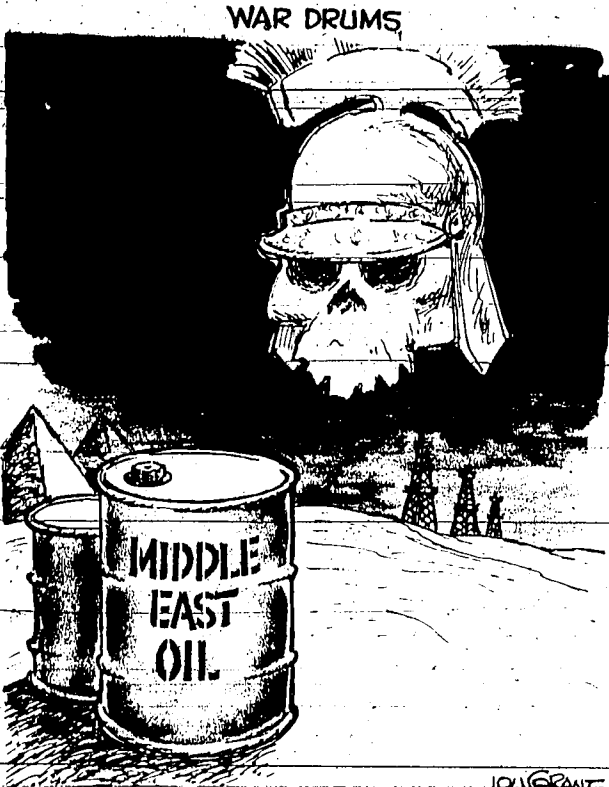

Because of the limited nature of the treaty's provisions, however, only a small number of Swiss accounts are expected to be revealed to American investigators.

What may have prompted the Swiss to relax slightly their long-standing adamancy against intrusion into bank secrecy was an Italian charge that a major underworld meeting had been held in Zurich only days before the new treaty was announced.

The agreement provides only for revelation of accounts owned by major crime figures, and then only on the presentation of convincing evidence the accounts play an important role in criminal activities.

Still secret are accounts which may involve political chicanery, income tax evasion or assorted lesser crimes.

There may be other places to which crime funds can be transferred with reasonable security, but partially opening the Swiss door helps fumigate the major repository.

ART BUCHWALD

Watergate Saga

WASHINGTON — It was May, 1973, and the Watergate hearings were still being televised every day. It was the longest show in the history of television and, like The Forsyte Saga, it was hard to keep all the characters straight.

The Bilkin family sat in front of their set heavy-eyed, but determined to see it through.

On the stand was John Dean III who had been testifying every day for eight months.

Maude Bilkin said, "What a nice-looking boy. Tricia made a smart choice marrying him." "Tricia isn't married to John Dean," Alan Bilkin said, "she's married to Job Magruder."

The Bilkins' 16-year-old daughter Ellie spoke up. "I thought Julio was married to Job Magruder and Tricia was married to Sen. Sam Ervin."

"No," said Joel, the 18-year-old son. "Sam Ervin is married to Martha Mitchell. Their son is Henry Kissinger."

Maude replied, "I thought Henry Kissinger was the nephew of John Ehrlichman." Alan Bilkin shook his head. "No, don't you remember last year it was revealed that Henry Kissinger was H.R. Haldeman's long lost son?"

"That's right," Joel said. "And Henry Kissinger and Martha Mitchell were in love but she broke up when G. Gordon Liddy tapped their telephone."

"Didn't Martha Mitchell marry Maurice Stans?" Ellie asked. "No, she married Robert Vesco and moved to Costa Rica," Maude said.

"I don't remember that," Alan said. "You were working that day," Maude explained.

"What happened to Dick Helms?" Alan asked. "Dick Helms became the head of the Bureau of Indian Affairs and lost a finger at Wounded Knee," Joel said.

"I thought Bebe Rebozo was at Wounded Knee," Ellie said. "No, Bebe Rebozo became the governor of Florida when Daniel Ellsberg was appointed the head of the CIA," Alan said.

"Wasn't Daniel Ellsberg Patrick Gray's lawyer?" Maude asked. "No, Ron Ziegler was Patrick Gray's lawyer. But then he resigned to become the commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps," Joel said.

"I thought Richard Kleindienst was made the commandant," Ellie said. "No, Kleindienst became the head of IT after Dita Beard moved to Denver," Alan said. "It does seem hard to follow," Maude said. "Let's listen."

Ellie said, "Dean seems to be talking about President Nixon." "What happened to President Nixon?" Joel asked. "He married Brezhnev's daughter," Alan said.

Maude replied, "It seems to me Spiro Agnew's son married Brezhnev's daughter. I think Nixon is still married to Pat."

"But if Nixon is still married to Pat, what happened to Donald Segretti?" Ellie asked. "He was adopted by Sen. and Mrs. Muskie and now lives in Maine with Jane Fonda," Alan said.

"I thought Jane Fonda had fallen in love with Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist," Joel said. "I don't remember that," Maude said. "You were shopping that day," Joel replied.

"Do you think John Dean will go to jail?" Ellie asked. "Eh, not," said Maude, "it would be awfully tough on Tricia."

When you listen to Mr. Kissinger's obtuse explanations for our continuing involvement in Indochina, when you hear some misstepping member of Congress temporize; when you hear our President trying to rationalize — do you ever wish our leaders might be strong enough to confess weakness? Or wise enough, when they do something unwise, to admit: "We goofed!"

We're going to un-complicate Watergate.

Any time a lawyer tries to explain anything, inevitably he falls back on classroom-learned words and phrases which have been courtroom-tested for either their definition or their indefiniteness.

NO President of the United States has dared employ potentially incriminating shirt-sleeve English since Harry Truman, and, before him, Andy Jackson.

Reread the way those men responded to challenges to themselves and/or their administrations with "yes" and "no" and unmistakably meaningful salty phrases and it's shocking — but refreshing.

If they were sometimes mistaken they were never misunderstood.

Compare Truman's "The buck stops here!" to the 2,000 words it took Mr. Nixon not to say the same thing last April 30 and it's no wonder the new surveys show most Americans remain unconvinced they've been told the whole truth.

If you leave the lawyer language out when you retell the Watergate spy story, it's not really worthy of all the attention it's getting. It's an impressive cast but a thin plot you'd have to stretch like everything to fill a half-hour on TV.

It's the story of some guys in a political campaign who decided their opponents were mostly a bunch of knooks, so to find out what the knooks were up to, the spy guys did a very kooky thing themselves. They listened in on the opposition's headquarters.

And they got caught at it. To make it more exciting for TV — or for a news-reader — you have to imagine some clandestine, cloak-and-dagger-type meetings, by plotters in dark glasses in the back rooms of dim-lit bistros.

But actually, factually, most of the plotting was arranged as casually as a telling B, "I know where I can hire a private-eye type who'll keep us out of it."

And B said, "Okay."

So the only way you can make this third-rate burglary into a Page One scandal is to add the whodunit element.

If you should know from the beginning whodunit it's no mystery, no story, no news.

Some day our nation will be mature and secure enough so that its leaders can look at Vietnam and say, "We goofed!"

They can look at the record of foreign aid and say, "We've been had."

They can look at Watergate and, the morning after, confess: "We sinned! We knew the gun was loaded and we took a chance."

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Same Medicine

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My friend and I are both 65 years old and we both have had a hysterectomy. Her doctor gives her a hormone shot each month. I have never had one. Are they that necessary? And why doesn't my doctor "do likewise? I would most certainly appreciate an answer from you. — M. S.

And I would most certainly think that if you want to know why our doctor does or doesn't do something, you ought to ask him.

But for some possible answer:

First, hysterectomy (removal of the uterus) does not of itself indicate any need for hormones. If it occurs before menopause, and the ovaries are healthy and left in, the ovaries produce enough hormones so additional ones are pointless. If the ovaries are removed, that's another matter. It becomes then a "surgical menopause" and hormones — frequently — are needed to make up for those the ovaries no longer provide.

After menopause (after the ovaries have ceased functioning) hormones may or may not be advisable. It depends on how the patient adjusts. Most women need some medical help in the form of hormones, or other medication, to subdue hot flashes and other menopausal symptoms, but some get along perfectly well without such help.

Finally, and particularly at age 65, I can't see that having had the uterus removed has any bearing whatsoever on whether you need hormones. It would be my assumption that your friend's doctor detected a need for them; and that your doctor did not detect any such need in you.

You do not offer me any information as to why you think you ought to have hormones. But you don't give hormones "just because." You give them when there is some apparent need for them.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son has a habit of cracking his knuckles several times a day. We tell him this is bad for his hands. What effect, if any can this habit have if he keeps doing it? — R.I.H.

Actually, it isn't going to harm his hands at all — but it's a habit that may annoy others, so he'd do well to curb the habit.

MR. SPECTATOR

The Battle Is On

It's underway! The big contest between those who want to end the "population explosion" and those who want to keep the explosion going, so to speak.

The other day we received a letter from Judge John Henry Norton, national secretary of the Large Families of America, Inc.

"The population alarmists have created a preposterous myth called the 'population explosion' which has been spoon fed to the American public," he wrote. "Large families have been particularly battered about by these alarmists. Large families are beginning to fight back."

"Our association is a non-profit association providing economic benefits to 170,000 families with three or more children. Eventually, we fully expect to reach the 14 million large families of America. It's a startling fact that 23 per cent of the American families raise over 65 per cent of our children."

"The 'population explosion' myth must be shattered. It thrives on fear and leads innocent people to emotional and dangerous actions. It leads to a 'Nazi-type mentality' which starts out with slaughtering unborn children and winds up in killing off old people and other 'undersirables' of our society. We can regain a reverence for all life in our country and emphasize the infinite value of a child as long as we don't permit the fearmongers to frighten us by overworking our emotions."

The alarmists cry that we are running out of resources but can't name a resource that we are running out of, Judge Norton writes. He adds that the alarmists are really "cop outs" since it is easier to cry about populations than solve the problems that need solving. They ignore the still unlimited opportunities in the world and the known cures for many of our problems.

When the alarmists attack large families, they fail to point out that famous leaders from large families abound. Some of our greatest Presidents were children from large families. Most of our clergy of all faiths come from large families.

So now, Mr. Spectator would point out, the battle lines are drawn. You can be against raising a family or for it.

If you are for large families here is your chance. Drop a line to Judge John Henry Norton, care of Large Families of America, Inc., at 54 Miller Street, Fairfield, Connecticut, 06430. We are sure he will tell you more.

CLASS OF 1928

Members of the Class of 1928 down at the Filer Rural High School are getting ready for a reunion. They are missing the whereabouts of four class members. So they asked Mr. Spectator to help.

If you know the whereabouts of Robert Melvin, Wilmer (Bo) Small, Goldie Small or Ben Satterlee, all graduates of the Class of 1928 at Filer, then drop a line to Mrs. Luther Pierce, 820 Filer, Filer, Idaho 83328. OK?

BERRY'S WORLD

"With the price of gold hitting over $100 an ounce, you're worth a fortune!"

Good relations seen continuing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some of President Nixon's bitterest critics argue that even if he is shown to have more direct connections with Watergate than has yet been proven, he should not be driven to the point of resigning lest this endanger the era of improved relations with Russia and China.

This contention is based on the assumption that the continued progress toward a stable and more fruitful relationship between Washington and the two major Communist powers depends upon the political survival of Nixon and his executive officer, Henry A. Kissinger.

State Department officials in general do not buy this theory. Neither do many of the more informed foreign diplomats here. These officials doubt that even the removal of the President would reverse an historical process which was inevitable.

They point out that it would have taken a particularly obtuse president to fail to see the leverage available to the United States in the continued and bitter ideological and geographical dispute between Russia and China.

Diplomatic officials give Nixon full credit for perceiving as early as 1967 the beginning of the end of the cold war with Russia and the increasing opportunity for a reestablishment of relations with Peking. They also concede that Kissinger has been extremely skillful in furthering U.S. aims, although he tends to get over his head when dealing with South-East Asians and Japanese.

The basic reason that many diplomatic officials feel there will be continued improvement in East-West relations, no matter who is President, is that so far the Russians and Chinese appear to have benefited more from last year's diplomatic breakthrough than has the United States.

The one major mutual gain made in the Soviet-American diplomatic breakthrough was the treaty placing a specific limitation on the number of defensive nuclear weapons each side could have. Beyond that the only thing that Kissinger and Nixon were able to get was an "interim agreement" limiting a few types of offensive nuclear weapons for a few years but leaving the Russians numerical superiority in some delivery vehicles and disclosing the difficulty Washington will have in getting Moscow to sign any permanent treaty in this area.

Meanwhile, Russia has secured large amounts of U.S. grain at bargain prices, has made it clear that she is exceedingly anxious for American techniques and equipment to develop the vast natural resources of Siberia and generally shown that the Kremlin realizes cooperation with the United States is about the only way it can make good on long-delayed promises of increased consumer goods at home.

As for China, the Peoples Republic has abandoned its professed intention to take Formosa by force and has had some effect — nobody knows exactly how much — in persuading Hanoi to agree to a shaky armistice and peace agreement in Vietnam. In return, Peking has secured Nixon's promise of eventual removal of the Seventh Fleet from waters close to the Chinese mainland and the eventual elimination of American forces on Formosa. The United States has pulled its troops out of Southeast Asian countries immediately next to China yet still maintains sufficient forces in Thailand and the China Sea to provide the military counterbalance to possible Soviet influence which Peking wants. For all these reasons, diplomats believe Russia and China are eager to proceed as rapidly as possible with the era of relaxation and will deal with whoever is in power in Washington on the same basis as they have with Nixon.

MAYOR THOMAS BRADLEY refused to listen

New LA mayor beats system

By United Press International
Two weeks before his election as mayor of Los Angeles, the nation's third largest city, Thomas Bradley, 55, returned to his alma mater of UCLA and talked about life as a black.

"I grew up under the system that said you can't do this, you can't go there, you cannot achieve this position.

"Don't try to go to college because it won't do you any good. You know, a black youngster, a Negro youngster—that's what we were called then—can never make it. Just be content to get on with junior high school if you can.

"I refused to listen to that kind of advice."

He was born the son of a Pullman car porter and a domestic maid in Calvert, Texas, in 1917. They did not give him a middle name. The family moved to Los Angeles when Tom was six years old. The parents broke up and for a time the mother and children were on relief.

He ran the quarter-mile in track events at Poly High in Los Angeles and was elected student body president.

At 23, he became a rookie cop on the nearly all white Los Angeles Police Department. He retired as a lieutenant 21 years later. While on the force he graduated from UCLA and then went to Southwestern University Law School and received a degree in 1956. He was reportedly under consideration for the post of deputy chief when he retired from the force. He has represented the biracial 10th District in west-central Los Angeles since he won the seat in the 1963 primary by polling 63 per cent of the vote.

Bradley is a Methodist and a Democrat, although the office of mayor is nonpartisan. He is a little over six feet tall and weighs about 195 pounds.

He once said that during his years on the police force he learned that "hostility breeds hostility."

"As an officer, I saw that every man was looking for some kind of warmth; whether he would admit it or not. People, all people, are looking for respect, for human dignity.

"This is something we all nourish. I have faith in this element of human nature, faith that there is an underlying decency in every man."

Andrus fills panel

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus Wednesday announced three appointments to the law enforcement planning commission.

Andrus named Robert J. Fanning, Idaho Falls, Bonnaville County prosecutor, to replace Everett D. Hofmeister, Sandpoint, Bonner County prosecutor, on the commission. Hofmeister resigned and Fanning was named to complete the term expiring April 30, 1976. The governor named Third District Judge Edward J. Lodge, Caldwell, to succeed First District Judge Watt Prather, Coeur d'Alene, and Kootenai County Commissioner Eugene W. Ingalls, Dalton Gardens, to succeed Rulon Swenson, Boise. Andrus appointed Lewiston Mayor Ron F. Jones to succeed Larry Merk, Moscow, on the magistrate commission.

Nixon aware of Mexican connection

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman says President Nixon—within days of the Watergate arrests—was "especially concerned" that the FBI's investigation might reach into Mexico and uncover secret operations.

Ehrlichman was Nixon's chief domestic affairs adviser until April 30, when he and Haldeman resigned from the White House staff in the wake of the scandal. Both are among the targets of a renewed grand jury probe into Watergate and its coverup.

Ehrlichman's allegation before a Senate subcommittee Wednesday was the first indication by someone close to the President that Nixon was aware of a Mexican connection with Watergate sometime before federal investigators uncovered it.

It was reported last August by federal authorities that the Watergate, bugging had been financed by Nixon campaign funds "funneled" through a Mexico City bank to hide the identity of the donors.

In a 20-page statement prepared for a Senate appropriations subcommittee looking into reported CIA involvement in covert White House activities, Ehrlichman said Nixon directed him and the White House chief of staff, H.R. Haldeman, to meet with CIA officials following the Watergate arrests last June 17.

"Mr. Haldeman said that the President was concerned about the effect of the FBI investigation upon the Central Intelligence Agency," Ehrlichman said. "The President intended to require a full, vigorous FBI investigation with no strings but believed that the trail might lead to agency people or activities either in this country or abroad."

"The President was especially concerned about agency activities in Mexico which might be disclosed," Ehrlichman said. Ehrlichman did not say what types of activities Nixon was concerned about. Nor did he say why Nixon was worried specifically about Mexico or why he feared the Watergate trail might lead there.

Ehrlichman said he and Haldeman met with then-CIA Director Richard Helms and Helms' deputy, Lt. Gen. Vernon Walters, at the White House last June. He gave no date for the meeting, but Senate testimony earlier this month placed the date as June 23, 1972, six days after the arrests.

"Mr. Helms and Gen. Walters were asked first, if the CIA had a part in the Watergate break-in," Ehrlichman said. "They replied that it did not. They were asked if a very rigorous examination of the past of the burglars or their money sources might jeopardize the secrecy of present or past CIA operations, including those in Mexico. They replied that no past operations would be jeopardized, so far as they could tell them."

But, Ehrlichman said, Walters did not rule out the possibility of CIA concern about Mexican operations, and "I got the impression that Mr. Haldeman's shot had hit some target."

He did not explain his reference to "money sources" of the burglars or why this was raised in connection with Mexico at that meeting.

Earlier this month, however, the Senate Armed Services Committee heard testimony from Walters and Helms about the June 23 meeting, in which they said Haldeman was worried about "the investigation of funds in Mexico connected with the Watergate case" and sought to have them block the FBI probe.

JOHN D. EHRLICHMAN, President Nixon's former top domestic adviser, said Wednesday he told the CIA six days after the Watergate burglary that the President was concerned about an unrestricted FBI investigation of the break-in compromising CIA operations. (UPI)

Watergate testimony

Ehrlichman contradicts earlier CIA testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate subcommittee is trying to unravel what its chairman calls "serious and conflicting allegations" about efforts to involve the Central Intelligence Agency in the Watergate and Pentagon Papers cases.

Testimony by John D. Ehrlichman, President Nixon's former chief domestic adviser, given Wednesday to the Senate subcommittee on intelligence operations, contradicted earlier testimony of CIA officials in many respects.

The subcommittee today was hearing the story of H.R. Haldeman, former White House chief of staff, behind closed doors.

Ehrlichman, in his statement to the subcommittee, which he himself released, said he had no recollection of making a phone call to ask the CIA to give technical assistance to E. Howard Hunt Jr., when he was working as a White House security expert.

Marine Corps Gen. Robert E. Cushman, former CIA deputy director, has testified that Ehrlichman called him in July, 1971, to say that Hunt was a former White House consultant and would be calling on him for assistance "which Mr. Ehrlichman requested that I give."

According to earlier testimony, this resulted in CIA giving Hunt false identification papers, a disguise and other equipment — allegedly later used in the burglary of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

"I can say flatly that I do not have even the faintest recollection of having done so," Ehrlichman said in his statement. "I can say with assurance that any call to the CIA is the kind of call that I usually have little or no difficulty remembering."

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said after the Wednesday hearing: "Serious and conflicting allegations have been received regarding attempts to involve the Central Intelligence Agency in the Watergate and Pentagon Papers cases."

Some other contradictions and unanswered questions appeared to be:

—Ehrlichman said that at a White House meeting June 23, 1972, six days after the Watergate arrests, deputy CIA director Lt. Gen. Vernon Walters "left a very clear impression with us of the strong possibility of a vigorous investigation uncovering some secret such as the President was concerned about." He said this was why Walters was sent to warn FBI chief L. Patrick Gray that an FBI investigation might uncover CIA operations. But Walters has testified that when he went to see Gray later that day, he did not know whether the FBI investigation would hurt CIA. He said he later checked and found out it would not.

—Ehrlichman said President Nixon was "especially concerned" about the FBI investigation uncovering CIA secrets, even after the CIA gave assurances to the contrary. But Ehrlichman did not say why the President was so concerned.

2 entries suspected

By United Press International The Los Angeles Times and the New York Times today said authorities are looking into reports that two separate burglaries may have been carried out by agents of the FBI or the Committee to Reelect the President.

The Los Angeles paper said the FBI is investigating the possibility that convicted Watergate conspirators, G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt, "or their associates" broke into the Manhattan offices of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) legal defense fund the same weekend they burglarized the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist in Beverly Hills.

The New York Times said it has learned that FBI agents broke into the office of an underground newspaper in Washington shortly before President Nixon's inauguration in 1969 to look for information linking the paper with subversive groups.

The Los Angeles paper said it learned the investigation was begun at the suggestion of Jack Greenberg, director of the NAACP fund. Greenberg said federal prosecutor Earl Silbert told him the FBI had been ordered to check into the possibility the break-in at his office was connected with the Watergate burglary, the Times said.

Officials of the NAACP fund said they found on returning from the Labor Day weekend last Sept. 7 that desks and a file cabinet had been broken into but nothing was taken, although there was $100 in cash in one of the desks.

Greenberg said the fund keeps no secret information in its office. At the time of the break-in, the fund was involved in a number of politically sensitive cases, including the defense of Black Panther leader Bobby Seale and New York Times reporter Earl Caldwell, who was fighting subpoenas from a San Francisco grand jury investigating the Black Panthers. In its story the New York Times said two former Army intelligence operatives revealed that they took part in an FBI raid on the office of the Washington Free Press at the request of the FBI.

The sources said the raid came at a time of concern about "possible disruptive activities during the inaugural festivities. Such activities by the FBI had been ruled out two years earlier by then-acting Attorney General Ramsey Clark on the grounds they were unconstitutional.

The break-in was the first alleged to have been made during the Johnson administration after Clark's ruling, the Times said, noting that the Senate Watergate Committee is known to be expanding its investigation into domestic intelligence-gathering activities during the Nixon administration.

Preoccupation

NEW YORK (UPI) — White House preoccupation with Watergate may mean the U.S. economy faces a more severe slowdown next year than previously anticipated, a Chase Manhattan Bank analysis published Wednesday said.

The analysis, published by a Chase subsidiary, Chase Econometric Associates Inc., said the nation "now finds itself in a position where all the important economic policies of the past three years—reduction of inflation, meaningful international reform and closer control over fiscal policy—are dying on the vine because of President Nixon's preoccupation with other matters and the concomitant loss of respect by the Congress."

The report said Nixon has come close to his goal of a $30 billion budget for fiscal 1973, but that his power with Congress wanes he may be not be able to use the veto as effectively for this purpose.

In 1973, however, Nixon "can be expected to react vigorously... by moving his view of social welfare programs back toward the center" and reintroducing "various programs which he has previously downgraded or ended" to make the 1976 GOP presidential candidate "more acceptable."

Driver worries

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — A University of Nevada-Reno professor has come up with something new for the urban driver to worry about.

Dr. George Sutton, head of the university's mechanical engineering department, warns that a three-mile depressed section of Interstate 80 through Reno could become a "death ditch."

He said that an accumulation of oxides because of the absence of air movement could prove fatal for motorists stopping for any length of time during rush hours. Sutton called for the planting of foliage which would disperse the noxious elements as a safety measure before the stretch opens in a few months.

Highway Department officials weren't too concerned about the warning. "We shouldn't expect a serious problem to develop in this area," a spokesman said.

Nixon's controls failed

DR. G. A. DEAN
... new M.D.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said today President Nixon's economic policy was a "total, colossal failure" and called for resumption of wage-price controls.

"I have not one iota of faith in Phase III," Mansfield said in a Senate speech. "It is totally and completely ineffective."

Mansfield added that the largely voluntary compliance program, in effect since the first of the year, was a "total, colossal failure because inflation is going up, up, up."

He said Congress was willing to go "more than half the way" if the administration would propose a return to "something on the order" of mandatory wage and price controls under Phase II.

In an exchange with Mansfield, Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott sought to defend administration policies but agreed that Phase III "needs a very careful re-evaluation" and suggested consideration should be given to reimposing controls.

Mansfield began his speech by noting that "everything seems to be centered on Watergate (but) other factors should be considered as well."

He cited the high cost of living, increasing profits, record-high prices of gold, increasing interest rates, and a downward trend in the stock market.

On Tuesday, Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz and other White House economists refused to be dismayed by the first decline in 2 1/2 years in the government's index of leading economic indicators.

The Mormon Church reports it has 17,000 volunteer missionaries serving throughout the world.

The announcement was made by Duane B. Hugadone, president of Hugadone Newspapers, Coeur d'Alene.

The accident occurred May 24 at noon. The Times-News regrets the error.

Chinese treated royally by US

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The first envoy ever to represent Communist China in the capital of the United States met for 25 minutes with President Nixon Wednesday in the White House, receiving a VIP treatment seldom accorded to the ambassadors of even the closest allies.

Less than 24 hours after he arrived in the United States, Huang Chen was seated beside Nixon in a gold upholstered armchair in the President's Oval Office.

Nixon related that he wishes to return to China to retrace his historic 1972 visit which ended more than 20 years of Sino American hostility.

"I hope to go again in the spring," Nixon said. "I didn't say which spring."

Huang replied through an interpreter: "This is very good news indeed. I will speedily report this to our government."

Sometimes ambassadors from nations with which the United States enjoys full diplomatic relations must wait for a month or more for their meeting with Nixon.

The President wasted no time in scheduling his first session with the Chinese diplomat despite an unusually tight schedule. Nixon left Washington a few minutes after conferring with Huang to fly to Iceland and a summit conference with French President Georges Pompidou.

Both China and the United States have emphasized the importance they attach to their first formal contacts in almost a generation by appointing high-ranking envoys.

Huang is the only Chinese diplomat who is a member of the Communist Party Central Committee.

"Ambassador David K. E. Bruce has held more top assignments than any ambassador in the history of America," Nixon told Huang.

"Before he left he said he felt this was the peak of his career, to go to Peking."

Reporters were permitted to attend the first few minutes of the Nixon-Huang meeting. Almost apologetically, Nixon then asked the newsmen to leave because he said he wished to talk about substantive matters with the Chinese official. The White House would provide no details of the private discussion.

"We were very appreciative of the welcome that was given to Ambassador Bruce when he arrived," Nixon said while reporters were in the room.

"We hope that we can see that your accommodations are handled as well here," he told Huang. Then with a gesture to National Security Adviser Henry A. Kissinger, who attended the meeting, the President joked: "If there are any slipups, we will fire Dr. Kissinger."

Both Bruce and Huang hold the personal title of ambassador although technically they are not ambassadors in their present posts, because the two nations do not have full, formal diplomatic relations. The two men head "liaison offices" which will function as embassies in all but name.

MIA, antiwar legislation fight looms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration forces struggled to derail antiwar legislation in the Senate today on behalf of 1,295 U.S. servicemen missing in action in Vietnam.

The MIA issue was raised as the Senate headed towards a late afternoon vote on legislation by Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., to force a halt to the bombing of Cambodia. Sens. Robert Dole, R-Kans., and Jesse Helms, R-N.C., planned to introduce an amendment to require all remaining MIA's to be accounted for before the bombing restriction can take effect.

White House forces, however, all but threw in the towel Friday, abandoning thoughts of a filibuster as long-time backers of President Nixon's war policies broke ranks and supported the Eagleton amendment.

Overwhelming passage was expected.

Even if the Eagleton amendment passes unaltered it could be a week or more before an amendment to halt the bombing is sent to the President for his signature or veto.

If Dole and Helms succeed, the antiwar measure would be a virtual nullity. The United States is still identifying missing in action from World War II, a quarter-century ago, and it could take months—if not years—for the status of remaining Vietnam MIA's to be settled.

Sen. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, also weighed in with an amendment to permit bombing in Cambodia and Laos against North Vietnamese troops and supply lines.

Today's voting comes one week before presidential envoy Henry A. Kissinger reopens talks in Paris with Hanoi emissary Le Duc Tho aimed at producing a genuine cease-fire in Indochina.

Kissinger pleaded, in a series of phone calls to Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, for all possible action to stop the Senate from taking action that he said would weaken his negotiating position.

The administration contends North Vietnam, in defiance of the Jan. 28 cease-fire agreement, has troops fighting in Cambodia. Kissinger was reported to be highly optimistic about obtaining full Communist compliance with the cease-fire if Congress would hold off.

Non-flying officers lose flight bonuses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Flight pay will be ended for an estimated 5,000 non-flying military colonels and generals at midnight tonight despite Pentagon efforts to save the bonuses.

Congress voted last year to end the practice of paying flight pay to non-flying colonels and generals, including two members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The cut, designed to save an estimated $140 million a year, was scheduled to go into effect tonight.

But Pentagon officials said Wednesday night they have sent a bill to Congress that would continue the flight pay for these non-flying officers through Dec. 31.

A long-time critic of the practice, Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said the Pentagon circulated a fact sheet to congressmen asking them to support the legislation as "a matter of extreme urgency."

He called it an "irresponsible scheme."

Accused murderer thanked by Nixon

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — Accused mass murderer Edmund E. Kemper III, 24, has received a "Thank you" note from President Nixon for volunteer work in the 1972 campaign.

Kemper, after his arraignment in Superior Court on eight counts of murder, started newsmen Wednesday when he showed them the form letter on White House stationery. The letter expressed "deep appreciation" for his work and was signed with the President's mimeographed signature.

The 6-foot-8 suspect told Sheriff's deputies, however, that he switched his registration from Republican to Democrat and voted for Sen. George S. McGovern.

The note had been forwarded from Kemper's former residence in nearby Aptos to the County Jail.

Kemper was accused of killing his mother, her best friend and six college coeds. He had served time in a mental institution for slaying his maternal grandparents.

Communists hit Viet outpost

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops led by three Soviet-built tanks stormed across the Itoa Nai river Wednesday and attacked the outer defenses of the former imperial capital of Hue, a government military spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the assault, on a outpost 18 miles from Hue, was repulsed and one Communist tank was destroyed. It was the first such use of tanks by the Communists since Feb. 6, when seven tanks were destroyed in the same area by artillery and air attacks.

The other two tanks retreated toward the Communist bastion in the A Shau valley, along the Laotian border, Hien said.

The scene of the battle is about 365 miles northeast of Saigon.

SOMEONE IS WAITING to buy that thing you're longer want. Call 733-0923 and sell it fast with a "Walt" Ad.

At the same time, one of the biggest battles since the Jan. 28 cease-fire was reported by the government in the Mekong Delta 50 miles southwest of Saigon. Three government soldiers and 45 Communists were killed in the clash Wednesday near Cang Lang. Four government troopers were wounded and one was missing.

Military spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien said that in the fighting near Hue the Soviet-made PT76 amphibious tanks had rolled within 300 yards of the government 1st Infantry Division outpost when South Vietnamese artillery opened fire.

Hien said one Communist tank was knocked out and 15 of Sailor tried in sabotage

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — For the first time since World War II, an American serviceman is being court-martialed for "sabotage in time of war."

A Navy judge ordered fireman Patrick D. Chenoweth, 21, Puyallup, Wash., to stand trial beginning today on charges of dropping a paint scraper and two 12-inch bolts into the reduction gears of the carrier USS Ranger's No. 4 engine last summer.

The bolts snapped off the teeth of the huge gears, causing $800,000 damage that took three and one-half months to repair and prevented the Ranger's scheduled return to Vietnam waters.

During pretrial proceedings, a Navy judge ruled that for the purposes of military justice the Vietnam conflict was "a de facto war" and that Chenoweth could be charged with sabotage in time of war. He was the first serviceman charged under that section of the Military Code since World War II and faces up to 30 years in prison if convicted.

The Navy said the incident occurred between the end of June and about July 10 last year while the Ranger was tied up at Alameda Naval Air Station on the east side of San Francisco Bay. Chenoweth, who had been in the service two years, was arrested Aug. 2.

The prosecution said it had a witness who says Chenoweth confessed the crime to him, and two other witnesses who say they overheard him make similar statements.

Chenoweth, who pleaded innocent, said the remarks were made as a joke.

Defense attorney Eric A. Seltz said the dropping of the bolts, which weigh four pounds each, was one of two dozen acts of sabotage or harassment by unhappy sailors between June 7 and Oct. 17. He said other incidents occurred after his arrest.

The taking of testimony from as many as 80 witnesses will begin Monday after two days of jury selection from a panel of Navy officers and enlisted men.

The court martial was held at Treasure Island in the bay after Seltz went to federal court and won an order prohibiting its transfer to Subic Bay Navy Base in the Philippines, where a Navy judge ordered it held as a convenience to Ranger crew members while the carrier was in Asian waters.

TF miss, Utah man say vows

TWIN FALLS — Donna Brownfield and John H. Rich exchanged wedding vows in rites performed by Judge Reed P. Maughan at 9 a.m. May 15 in Twin Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. (Buss) Brownfield and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Burke Rich, Smithfield, Utah.

Judith Gibson was maid of honor. Best man was Lyle Isaacs.

The bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower prior to the wedding given at the home of Mrs. Larry Wahl.

The bride, a 1971 graduate of Twin Falls High School and a graduate of Mr. Juan's College of Hair Design, is currently employed at Heads 'N' Threads. The bridegroom is a 1968 graduate of Skyview High School, Smithfield, and served with the U.S. Army in Vietnam until his discharge in December, 1971. He is currently self-employed in subcontracting commercial construction. The couple resides in Twin Falls.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN H. RICH

40th year

JEROME — Mr. and Mrs. Ben Roberts, Jerome, will celebrate their 40th Wedding Anniversary Saturday with an open house at the home of the Charles McManamans in Buhl. Friends are invited to call from 2 to 4 p.m. The couple requests no gifts.

Veterans schedule Boise convention

BOISE — The 18th Annual Convention of the Department of Idaho Veterans of World War I of the U.S.A., Inc., will be June 4-6 at the Downtowner Motel, Boise.

Malcolm W. Rogers, Boise, department commander, will be in charge of the meeting. Esther E. Denkins, Payette, president of the Women's Auxiliary, will conduct women's meetings.

There will be a joint meeting with the Auxiliary at 9 a.m. Monday in the ballroom of the Downtowner with J. S. Jamison, department chaplain giving the invocation. The Boise mayor and chief of police and Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy will speak.

A snake, though it seems to move speedily, seldom travels more than five miles an hour.

Shut-Ins Day slated in MV

TWIN FALLS — Residents of Magic Valley are being urged to observe Shut-Ins Day Sunday by taking a few minutes to help a disabled or otherwise shut-in citizen.

Buel McGhee, member of the Shut-Ins Day Association for Idaho, said Gov. Cecil Andrus has officially proclaimed Sunday a day of recognition and consideration for these persons and urges residents to visit someone confined to a nursing home or otherwise unable to get out or to take them for a drive.

Miss McGhee said many persons in Idaho and all communities within Idaho are confined the year around to a room or their home and are unable to mingle socially with others.

"A card or a letter will help brighten the day for such people and, this should be within the means of everyone," Miss McGhee said.

She said the Shut-Ins Association, has set aside Sunday as a day to remember those people, and hopefully it will become a habit in which other citizens keep in mind those shut ins they know or know of to visit or write them on other occasions during the year.

Annual Shut-Ins Day, the first Sunday of June, was instituted in 1942 by Ernest Barker, a young Canadian afflicted with heart trouble, who felt all handicapped persons should be helped, by occasional visits and friendships with others.

A thought for the day: Spanish writer Miguel de Cervantes said, "My honor is dearer to me than my life."

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both Catholics. My husband wants to join the Masonic Order. I say the Masons will not take a Catholic. My husband says they will—if he is right—and joins the Masons. I say—if the Catholic church finds out about it they will kick him out, and he won't be able to receive communion with his family, and when he dies they won't give him the last rites. Something else that I never could understand: Why can't a Catholic be a Mason, too?

IN THE DARK

DEAR IN: The Masons WILL accept Catholics, but a Catholic who joins the Masons forfeits his right to receive the sacraments, and he will be canonically excommunicated from the Catholic church. If you can't "kick" a Catholic out of the church—he can attend church if he wants to, but he can't receive the sacraments.

Catholic Mason?

The Catholics view Masonry as a formal religion, and one cannot be a Catholic and a Mason for the same reason that one cannot be a Catholic and a Lutheran or a Catholic and a Mohammedan at the same time.

DEAR ABBY: I am now a grown man, but when I was a child my parents never forced me to eat anything I didn't like, and I never suffered from it. I now tend to follow that approach with my own children. I have divorced and remarried, and my present wife and I have my children from my previous marriage for many weekends and most of the summer.

We get along fine, except at mealtime. My wife feels that children should be made to eat food they don't like, on the theory that it is good for them, and they will grow to like it. The children have made an honest effort to try certain foods which don't appeal to them, but they simply don't like certain things. My wife tends to prepare at least one thing at every meal that the children don't like, and it is a constant hassle at mealtime.

We have agreed to let you arbitrate and will abide by your decision.

FATHER

DEAR FATHER: Angry arguments at mealtime are bad for the digestion. I vote for a compromise. If the kids are too picky and don't like too many things, for nutrition's sake, beat down. But don't force food on them just to prove your wife's authority over them. That's not fair.

DEAR ABBY: I've been putting this off for so many years I am ashamed of myself, but now I must do something about it.

When I was very young I had an illegitimate daughter. When she was 2, I married a fine man, and we had three children of our own. All four children think my husband is their father.

My husband never legally adopted my first child. She just used his last name, and it has gone on like that ever since.

This first daughter is now 44 years old, and one day in order to get old age benefits she will have to have a birth certificate. I seem to recall that when she was an infant I destroyed it for fear she (or someone else) would find it.

I don't want her to know the circumstances of her birth, but I think I am cornered. Can you help me?

TROUBLED MIND

DEAR TROUBLED: The laws vary in different states. Talk to a lawyer. He may be able to help you get another birth certificate without disclosing the facts. It's worth a try.

Today's article belongs in the category of why some people win at bridge. West was the late Sidney Slador, one of the greatest players of all time. He opened the king of spades against South's four hearts.

Nothing remarkable about it. Anyone would make the same lead. East played the nine and South the six.

Sidney led a second spade. Nothing remarkable about that either. East had played the nine. But there was something remarkable about the spade he did lead. He led the queen!

South took his ace and led his 10 of diamonds. Sidney went right up with the ace and gave his partner a spade ruff. South was able to finesse against East's king of trumps later on but the damage had been done since East's ace of clubs provided the setting trick.

Suppose Sidney had led a low spade at trick two. South would have been in dummy with the jack and been able to pick up the trumps before East got in a ruff.

Would any other lead have done Sidney any good? No, it wouldn't. A club lead would have let East in with the ace to lead back a spade, but South would get to dummy, pick up trumps and discard dummy's third spade on a club while a diamond or trump lead would be equally futile.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Mother's Day became a national observance through the efforts of Miss Anna Jarvis. After her mother's death on May 9, 1905, she wrote numerous letters asking for observance of the day until in 1913, Congress recommended that the second Sunday in May be a national holiday honoring America's mothers. The World Almanac recalls Sons and daughters customarily wear a pink carnation if their mothers are living, white if they are dead.

Briton claims Hitler sent Hess on mission

BERLIN (UPI) — A British official who visited Rudolf Hess in four-power Spandau war crimes prison for 18 years said today he is convinced Adolf Hitler sent his deputy on his mysterious wartime flight to Britain.

John Hartman, British censor at Spandau until he retired last year, said Hess at one of their thousand-odd meetings in the prison told he went on his "peace mission" with Hitler's knowledge.

Hartman in an article in the West German picture magazine Quick said Hitler sent Hess to try and make peace with Britain so he could attack Russia one month later in a one-front war.

An air of mystery still surrounds the bizarre flight Hess made to Scotland on May 10, 1941 with peace terms that included a demand for the firing of Premier Winston Churchill.

When news of the flight became known the Nazis said Hess had stolen his Messerschmitt 110 fighter plane and Hitler called him insane.

"Hijacking is a modern sickness in the world," Hartman said to Hess in one of their chats. "It never used to happen."

Hess replied "yes, that's true."

"I assume that the term hijacking would not apply to your case," Hartman said.

"You could put it that way," Hess replied.

"The words may not be too clear in cold print but the tone in which they were spoken I regard as an acknowledgment that the flight was not unauthorized," Hartman wrote.

"I am completely convinced that the flight was made with Hitler's full knowledge. The only question is whether the idea was Hitler's or Hess's." Most historians disagree with Hartman, and the Briton grants that the truth may never be known.

"Hess is the type of man who would let himself be cut to a thousand pieces before he let Hitler down," Hartman wrote.

"Therefore this lonely prisoner of Spandau will die with his secret."

"Even if Hess should be released I am sure there never will be any Hess memoirs."

Saw trouble

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI) — A Bakersfield man has been arrested after allegedly threatening to saw off his ex-wife's head with a power saw.

The saw malfunctioned, witnesses told police Tuesday, so he beheaded her on the head with it.

Carl Myers, 51, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon after his arrest at the Red Rooster tavern owned by his ex-wife, Gloria Wals, 38. He was freed on $2,000 bond.

Authorities said Myers left the bar after an argument, returned with an electric saw, plugged it in and tried to start it, threatening to saw off his wife's head. When it failed to work, witnesses said, he struck the woman with the saw and then tried to get it started again.

Officers fight with prisoners in London

LONDON (UPI) — Prison officers fought a running battle with prisoners in a south London street Wednesday after a mass breakout from Brixton prison.

Four officers were hurt in fierce fighting in Lime Road, about 50 yards from the prison, and witnesses said some prisoners were "smothered in blood."

Between 15 and 20 prisoners were involved in the escape bid, but most of them were recaptured, police sources said.

A Home Office spokesman said two prisoners were still at large.

The prisoners overpowered a guard and stole his keys and ran into the prison yard where they dragged the driver out of a private contractor's truck and used it to ram a hole in the prison's rear gate.

Airline fuel supplies adequate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The airline industry said Wednesday there is no immediate threat of a fuel shortage that would ground any of the nation's 2,326 airliners.

"The industry has no fuel crisis," Stuart G. Tipton, chairman of the Air Transport Association (ATA), a trade organization representing the major airlines, said.

Tipton said a survey by the ATA showed "supplies seem to be adequate," but he said the airlines might be faced with spot shortages over the next year.

"Tipton also said that any increase in the price of fuel could force the industry to ask for fare increases."

"A one-cent-a-gallon increase in the cost of jet fuel would cost the industry $100 million," Tipton said.

Making public the ATA's annual report, Tipton said the industry earned $214 million in 1972, an increase of $183 million over 1971, and "a complete reversal of the $200 million loss experienced in 1970."

Greek generals arrested

ATHENS (UPI) — Two generals have been arrested by security forces investigating the recent Greek navy mutiny and the activities of a resistance organization called E.A.N. (Greek Anti-dictatorial Youths), opposition sources said Wednesday.

The sources identified the generals as Panourghias Panourghias and Andreas Vardoulakis. They said the men were picked up Monday from their homes and held at security police headquarters in Athens.

Panourghias, descendant of a long line of army officers starting with the Greek war of independence, was chief of army intelligence at the time of the April 21, 1967, coup that brought the present regime to power.

Vardoulakis, who was a division commander during the 1967 coup, played a key role in the counter-coup of King Constantine a few months later.

Three more retired officers were arrested by security forces last week for alleged participation in E.A.N. They were Col. Nikolaos Papanikolaou, 53, Maj. Spyridon Moustaklis, 40, and Capt. Alexandros Zarkadas, 42.

The government said the three former soldiers were key members of E.A.N. which was led by a 42-year-old veterinarian and former national wrestling champion of Greece, Ippokratris Savouras.

Outfitters select committee

SALMON — A "watch dog" committee representing the outfitting and guiding industry has been established to coordinate activities involving the industry as a whole.

Martin Capps, Salmon, president of the Idaho Outfitters and Guides Association, serves as coordinator.

Capps said the committee, made up of association presidents from the various states, has established lines of communication and will build support to meet anti-hunting and environmental misunderstandings.

When issues involving the industry arise, the committee will act to keep on top of the matter and gain support where support is needed, he said.

The group hopes to include Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, Montana, California, Oregon, and Utah in its representation.

Stock guard meet Friday

TWIN FALLS — Hiring a special rattling-prevention range officer in Twin Falls County will be discussed by cattlemen Friday night. Tom Sharp, Piler, president of the Twin Falls Livestock Producers Association, said all cattle producers in the county are invited to the meeting at 8 p.m. in the mini-auditorium of the Vo-Tech building on the College of Southern Idaho campus.

The cattlemen have met with county commissioners to propose hitting the special range deputy as a regular member of the sheriff's staff. Commissioners said today they have conferred with the Idaho Law Enforcement Planning Commission and will apply there for funds for such a deputy. They said no money was provided in the county sheriff's budget this year, as the matter did not come up until after budget approval. Commissioner William J. Chancy said the county would have to provide 25 per cent of the cost of the salary and radio-equipped vehicle if the Law Enforcement Planning commission approved the application.

Sharp said the cattle association will propose an assessment on a per head basis of herds owned by members and by other cattlemen in the county to help finance the local portion of the cost. The special deputy would patrol range areas to protect cattle from rustlers and vandals.

The officer would work night or day hours as appropriate, commissioners said.

Time to spray

TWIN FALLS — Donald Youtz, Twin Falls county agricultural extension agent, said it is time to begin spraying apple trees.

He said the first codling moth of the spring has been trapped by Dale Tautz, state and federal inspector for this area.

Youtz said the codling moth lays eggs in apple trees, resulting in wormy apples. Several sprayings are necessary during the season to protect the fruit. First sprayings should be made at now, he said.

Kimberly resident offers lowest bid

GOODING — Robert K. Whittaker, Kimberly, was successful bidder for 320 acres of state land west of Buhl at a public auction Tuesday at the Twin Falls Courthouse.

According to Howard K. Keattle, Gooding, resource manager, South Central Area office of the State Department of Public Lands, the parcel of land was appraised at $11,520. Whittaker offered the highest bid of $30,500.

The principal from the sale will be put into the endowment fund and he invested, Keattle said. Interest from the investment and the remaining contract become a part of the appropriations for use by the public schools in the state.

More 'hoppers

BOISE (UPI) — The state commissioner of agriculture said Tuesday he anticipates grasshopper infestation in Idaho will be as much a problem as a year ago — if not worse.

Commissioner Wilson Kellogg said the winter season in the Gem State "didn't bother" the grasshopper cycle. Last summer, state and federal officials, along with private individuals sprayed 1.2 million acres of land to control the insects.

Kellogg said the state is coordinating efforts with the federal government to undertake a spraying program which is scheduled to begin in the middle of June.

Kellogg said the amount of damage done to crops and range land last summer was not known.

Application filed

KETCHUM — An application for a state chartered savings and loan association in Ketchum has been filed with the Idaho commissioner of finance. According to a news release, David Olson, proposed president for the association, said it would be independent and would serve the Wood River Valley. Initial capitalization has been set at $250,000, Olson said. The association would be located at the Hawk's Barn building on US 93 in south Ketchum. Proposed directors include William R. Burt, Craig K. Sorenson, James B. Donart, Olson, John Peavey, Robert A. Sims and F. Charles Duryea. Banks presently in the Wood River Valley area are the Bank of Idaho, with branches in Hailey and Ketchum, and the First Security Bank of Idaho, with branches in Hailey, Ketchum and Sun Valley.

Extradition pending

HAILEY — Extradition proceedings are pending for a Sparks, Nev., man, who is wanted in Lorain County, Ohio, on an alleged parole violation. According to the Blaine County Sheriff's Department, Michael R. Doty, 21, was arrested Tuesday afternoon south of Ketchum and was charged with being drunk. Subsequent checks with authorities in Nevada and Doty's birth state, Ohio, revealed the alleged parole violations. In Blaine County Magistrate Court Wednesday, Doty pleaded guilty to the drunk charge and was sentenced to four days in the county jail.

Agent named

TWIN FALLS — Lyn Merrick originally from Oregon and recently from the Ashton area, has been named new county agent in charge of 4-H programs in Twin Falls County. He succeeds Richard Fuehrer, whose resignation is effective June 30. Fuehrer has been affiliated with the county agricultural agent's office in Twin Falls the past two years. County commissioners said they approved Merrick Wednesday following a letter from County Agent Donald Youtz announcing the selection of Merrick by the University of Idaho Extension Service. The county will pay $125 per month toward his salary with the remainder paid by the state. He will have a salary comparable to those paid on-campus instructors at the university.

Rupert man injured

RUPERT — A Rupert man was treated for minor injuries following a single-car accident at 12:13 p.m. Wednesday. Kenneth L. Peterson, 18, Rupert, was northbound on North A Street. He told police he crossed the canal bridge but didn't remember what happened after crossing the bridge. The Peterson car apparently veered to the left hand side of the road and struck a parked car owned by John Henscheid, Rupert. The Peterson car and the Henscheid car each received about $2,000 in damages. A fence in front of the Henscheid residence and a utility pole were damaged. Peterson was cited for inattentive driving.

Hearings set

SUN VALLEY — The Senate Interior Committee on Public Lands has scheduled hearings on predator control Friday in the Sun Valley Lodge. The hearing will open at 9:30 a.m. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, subcommittee member, requested the hearings to explore how predators can best be controlled now that chemicals and poisons may no longer be used. Since the President's ban on the use of chemicals for predator control, there have been increasing protests from stockmen that they face economic hardships because of the growth in the number of predators.

Oregon man injured

His motorcycle collided with a pickup truck near Shoshone Tuesday. Robbie was eastbound on U.S. Highway 26, five miles west of Shoshone, when the pickup truck, driven by D. Sid Smith, Shoshone, entered the highway from the old Gooding road and turned east, colliding with the cyclist. Sheriff B. J. Anderson said little damage resulted to either vehicle. Robbie was treated by a Shoshone doctor and transferred to the Jerome hospital. He suffered a broken arm and cuts and bruises. Smith was cited for failure to yield right of way.

Mrs. Knight was reported in good condition following the accident.

Leader asked to resign

Morgan came to the ranch last September with nearly 10 years experience working with the California youth authority. Both other sets of house parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stone and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pratt, worked under Morgan in California. Peterson, who was fired as ranch manager over two weeks and rehired by Childs and dismissed when Childs quit, was placed in a failure situation from the start," Morgan said, because the board followed the suggestions of Mitchell, who has since been named acting ranch manager. Mitchell has been with the ranch in different positions for about three years, longer than any other staff member besides Childs. "Even when a new director is named we can't work on the same ranch with Bill Mitchell," Morgan said. The board plans to hire one man to fill both Child's and Peterson's positions, he said, and the job is too much for one man. "Mitchell will end up in charge," Morgan said. Morgan said if the administration climate had been right, none of the boys would have been "brutalized." There has been abuse of the boys for several years, he said. Peterson had a personal relationship with the teacher, recently dismissed William Potter, which prevented Peterson from dismissing the teacher, even after letters of protest concerning the teacher's behavior had been sent to Peterson by Morgan. Peterson told Morgan, in a letter, that if Morgan made a civil complaint in the matter he would be fired. However, Morgan said, he did report the incidents involving five boys on different occasions to the attorney general's office on March 30.

Morgan said as a house parent he worked eight and one-half months 24 hours a day, with only five days off. During one three-day vacation, Morgan said, four sets of house parents were used to relieve him and his wife and "we came back to a bigger mess." It is the board's fault, Morgan said. "They drain people of every emotional resource they have and let them go on their way." The constant turnover in personnel, about 42 people in the last two years according to Morgan, "is the same thing as child abuse," he said. The setup is opposed to helping kids, Morgan said. Bax said the youth ranch has been a very worthwhile program and has been valuable to the people of Idaho, the community and the boys. Bax will grant the ranch only a provisional six months license, he said, but expects to restore the ranch to a permanent license at the end of that period. The investigation report, currently being studied by his office, suggests a re-evaluation of the ranch's purposes and objectives, including clarification of personnel responsibilities, improved services to boys, better record keeping and clarification of work and discipline policies for the boys, according to Bax. "The agency doesn't want to 'lay out any ultimatum,' but is strictly here to help," Bax said. There are some minimum requirements the agency has for the ranch, Bax said, and the ranch board has been receptive. "I am confident there will be some changes made as a result of the suggestions," made in the investigation report, Bax said.

TF housing funds urged

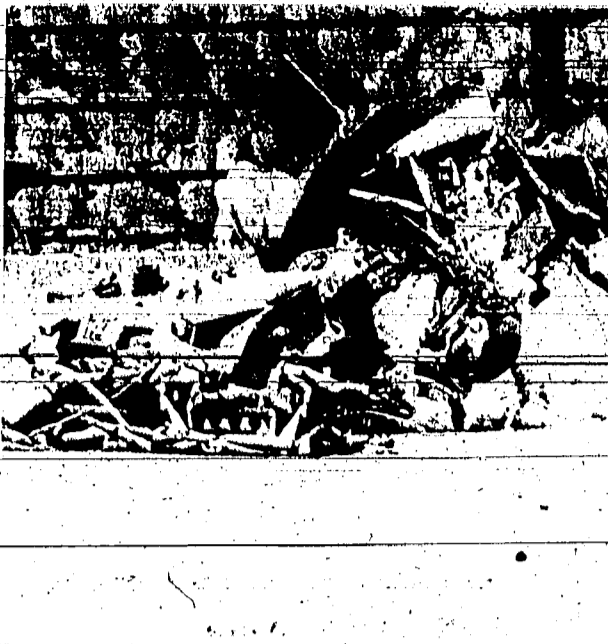

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — County commissioners Wednesday encouraged funding efforts for a Twin Falls low-income housing improvement project. Tuesday the commissioners met with members of the Community Improvement Association (CIA) and the chancellor of the Boise Catholic Diocese to discuss a CIA application for a $200,000 housing improvement grant from the Catholic-sponsored Campaign for Human Development. At the Tuesday meeting, the commissioners said they would consider writing in support of CIA's plan to provide loans and grants to low-income families in Twin Falls County to upgrade delapidated housing. Interviewed Wednesday, the commissioners said they recognized the need for further low-income housing in the Twin Falls area. They said they would give written support and encouragement to CIA's efforts to fund its housing improvement project. "If it's administered properly, I think there's merit to it," said Commissioner Merl Leonard. He said he was concerned, however, that the program be administered carefully so loan applicants and grant recipients would not take unfair advantage of the program at the expense of others trying to honestly help themselves. "We're interested in different levels of the economy, low-income people," Commissioner William Chancey said. "Just because we sit here in this office doesn't mean we look down on these people. We hope there would be some way to motivate them to help themselves." Commissioner William Wiseman said encouragement for CIA's efforts to launch the housing improvement program was "something we owe to the community." Questioned about possible county funds available for housing improvement, Chancey said, "As of right now there are no funds available. We would listen to these people at another budget time." Tuesday, City Manager Jean Milar told the CIA group touring with Rev. Thomas Gaudin, chancellor of the Boise Diocese making the evaluation of CIA's project for the Campaign for Human Development, that the city was with the effort "in spirit." "I think you can be assured the city government will try to cooperate and assist the best we can," Milar said. "I don't know if we can help with money, but maybe we can, and we would certainly want to help the project." Milar said that the Victory Subdivision in the Oak Street area was the single major area of the city still needing sewer services. He said some effort had been made to float a bond issue to install sewer lines under a local improvement district format. He said bond issues in low-income areas faced extra difficulty in attracting investors. Milar said any improvement in housing conditions, such as proposed by CIA, would increase property values and make a bond issue easier.

Houses for rent

SOME SHEDS on the left are for rent as living quarters for $30 to $40 per month, according to owner Carl McCarty. There are no plumbing facilities inside. The white door beneath the house sign on right leads to a communal toilet. Housing conditions such as this are what the CIA hopes to upgrade. The photo was taken in the South Park section of Twin Falls.

Sad and happy Indianapolis

Tragedy mars Johncock's victory in 500-miler

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Gordon Johncock, a 57-mile mite from Michigan now living in Franklin, Ind., won the rain-shortened and tragedy-marrred Indianapolis 500 Wednesday, but a crewman was killed in the pits and Swede Savage seriously injured in a flaming wreck.

Johncock, competing in the holiday classic for the ninth time, led runnerup Bill Vukovich of Fresno, Calif., by nearly half a minute when chief steward Harlan Fenger ordered the chase halted after 133 laps.

Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., was third; Mel Kenyon, Lebanon, Ind., fourth, and Gary Bettenhausen, Tinley Park, Ill., fifth.

Armando Moreno Teran, 22, Santa Monica, Calif., a crewman for Britain's Graham McRae, was killed when struck by a fire truck in the pits as the vehicle sped to the north end of the home stretch only seconds after Savage's fiery wreck stopped the race after 58 laps.

Yanks nip A's on Munson's solo homer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thurman Munson, robbed of a homer by Reggie Jackson in the first inning, led off the eighth inning with his sixth homer of the year Wednesday night to give the New York Yankees a 4-3 victory over the Oakland A's.

Munson's blast, which landed in the first row seats just inside the leftfield foul pole, came off reliever Darold Knowles, who had relieved starter Vida Blue in the seventh inning.

Yankees' relief pitcher Steve Carlton, who had pitched the first six innings, was replaced by Gene Michael in the eighth.

Evans carries Sox past Cal BOSTON (UPI) — Dwight Evans cracked a solo homer in the eighth inning and robbed Mike Epstein of a two-run homer with a leaping catch in the ninth inning Wednesday night to give the Boston Red Sox a 2-1 victory over the California Angels in a game that was marred by a near brawl.

Johncock disappointed race didn't go complete distance

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Gordon Johncock's only disappointment in winning Wednesday's twice-postponed Indianapolis 500 was that he couldn't go the distance.

The race was stopped after 133 laps by the same dismal rainy weather that washed out the 57th annual holiday classic Monday and Tuesday.

But winning the world's richest auto race, he said, was "the greatest thrill of my life."

Johncock said he was nowhere near Swede Savage when Savage hit the wall in an accident that resulted in the death of a pit crewman but "I knew he had to be hurt by the way the car looked."

Twins blank Brewers again

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Bobby Darwin's three-run homer and the four-hit pitching of Bill Hands gave the Minnesota Twins a 4-0 win over the slumping Milwaukee Brewers Wednesday night.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Aurelio Rodriguez drove in three runs, with a single and two-run homer and Jim Northrup collected two doubles and a single Wednesday night to lead Detroit to an 8-3 triumph over the Chicago White Sox for the Tigers' fifth consecutive victory.

McLain opens new comeback

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Former two-time Cy Young award winner Denny McLain, aiming for at least "one more shot in the major leagues," will be on the mound tonight when the Iowa Oaks meet the Indianapolis Indians here.

Johncock, who won at an average speed of more than 150 miles an hour, added he thinks it's about time someone did something about the speed of high-powered racing cars.

Johncock began racing in 1955 with stockcars, then moved to modified for eight or nine years before he started running in USAC sprint cars.

Johncock said he was "not running at 150 mph" but "I'd like to see them do something about slowing them down."

WALT SCHOOLCRAFT, JR., Shoshone, sits in the cockpit of his "homemade" speed-racing car. Schoolcraft will enter his car in races at the Gooding International County Raceway at this weekend. He has just completed construction of the 1,307 pound vehicle after eight months work.

Shoshone man tests new car at Gooding

SHOSHONE — After eight months of work, Wall Schoolcraft, Jr., Shoshone, is ready to enter his new car Saturday at the Gooding drag strip. Saturday's races will begin at 9 a.m., the first of the season and this will be the first year for Schoolcraft to race his newly constructed car. His sponsors are Hubbs Repair and Gateway Service, Shoshone, and he has built the vehicle at the Hubbs shop in Shoshone during the past eight months.

Wheels-in-front, from the outside rib of each, measures 82 inches and they are 43 inches apart over the back wheels. A parachute over the back assists in controlling the vehicle. The 200-inch wheel base looks powerful. The engine is a 301 cubic inch Chevrolet, high 400 horsepower. Schoolcraft assembled the engine himself, and said this week as he tunes it up for the races, it will be the first time for it to run.

Baltimore told to build park

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A $115 million stadium-convention complex was recommended for downtown Baltimore Wednesday by the Maryland Sports Complex Authority which said the city could lose the Orioles and Colts unless a new facility is built. The proposal calls for a stadium with 70,000 seats for football and 55,000 for baseball, at a cost of $50.7 million if it is domed. A decision on whether to build an open or enclosed stadium hinges on future environmental impact studies.

Gooding raceway opens with bang

GOODING — Gooding County International Raceway opens its season with a two-day bang and lots of features Saturday and Sunday. Opening its second year and hopeful of presenting at least a season a month, the raceway calls the weekend the "wings and wheels spectacular," throwing in competitive racing at the end.

The festivities will start at 11 a.m. Sunday and include aerial stunt flying by Art Schell of Riverside, Calif., plus a competition race between funny cars Gentle Ben and Rapid Apparatus. Also included will be go-kart racing at speeds approaching or bettering 100 miles per hour and a special demonstration ride by Hal Anderson of Independence, Ore., in a double A dragster.

Players ask artificial turf ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Football League Players Association (NFLPA) has asked the Federal Consumer Product Safety Commission to ban further installation of artificial turf on pro, college and high school grounds pending a study on its relation to injuries.

Edward Garvey, executive director of NFLPA, asked Commission Chairman Richard Simpson Wednesday to establish safety regulations for synthetic turf. "At the very least," he said, "we have asked the commission to prohibit new installation until such time as safety rules are established."

DeBusschere quits with yen to play

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dave DeBusschere, workhorse all-pro forward of the New York Knicks, will be switching hats and changing leagues as of June 1, 1974, it was announced Wednesday when the crooked ABA New York Nets announced they have signed the 6-6, 235-pound NBA star as general manager to a long-term contract calling for an estimated $75,000 per year.

DeBusschere, admitting he wanted to play "one more year," said he took the post because he knew nothing of a similar nature would be forthcoming from the Knicks.

"I never wanted to get back into coaching again," said DeBusschere who at 24 years of age became the youngest man ever to coach in the NBA in 1964 with the Detroit Pistons. "But I feel I have a good knowledge of the game and I have no doubts that I can succeed with the Nets in this capacity.

"I also didn't want to leave New York if at all possible because this is a great basketball town and the fans here are extremely knowledgeable about the game."

A seven-time All-Pro selection in the National Basketball Association, DeBusschere, 32, replaces Lou Carnesecca, who resigned the main post of Nets general manager, head coach, to return to his alma mater, St. John's after last season. Prior to DeBusschere's hiring, the Nets also dipped into the NBA ranks to pluck Kevin Loughery away from the Philadelphia 76ers to be their head coach.

"I approved of Kevin's selection," DeBusschere admitted, "but I had nothing to do with the actual negotiations with him. I was too busy with the Knicks and the playoffs."

DeBusschere, who holds a lifetime 15.8 NBA scoring average, said he felt he had "at least one more year left" and wanted to fulfill his contractual obligation with the Knicks. "It would have been eating away at me not to play next year," he said. "I feel I have one more real good season left, but I still want to quit while I'm on top. That's the only way to go out."

An all-around athlete, DeBusschere had a short major league baseball stint as a pitcher with the Chicago White Sox in 1962 and 1963. He coached the Pistons from 1964 to 1967, having limited success with limited material.

In December of 1968 he was the key figure in one of the most decisive trades in NBA history when the Pistons dealt him to the Knicks in exchange for guard Howard Komives and center Walt Bellamy.

Howe considers going to WHA to play with his sons

DETROIT (UPI) — Gordie Howe, the greatest Detroit Red Wing and National Hockey League scorer of them all, might get his most cherished wish—to play pro hockey with his sons, Marty and Mark.

But if the deal with the Houston Aeros of the World Hockey Association materializes, Detroit and the NHL would lose an idol. At the same time Howe's presence in the fledgling WHA would give great prestige to the competing hockey league.

The 46-year-old Howe, a Hall of Famer after scoring a record 1,113 points in 17 seasons, retiring in September, 1971, after 25 seasons, Wednesday said he would travel to Houston this weekend to talk with club officials.

"The deal involves a 'pile of money,'" said Howe, a Red Wing vice president.

Howe was considering a proposal which would include his returning to active play for a year with his sons, Marty, 19, and Mark, 18, both stars last season with the Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Major Junior Hockey League.

"I've talked to them and hell, you're interested," Howe said of a meeting last weekend with Houston club president Jim Smith and coach Bill Dineen at Howe's cottage near Grayling, Mich.

"We're going down there (Houston) to get things on the table to see what they look like," Howe said.

"I'm open-minded about going back on the ice. They (Houston) wanted to see if I wanted to play with the youngsters—sons—Marty and Mark for a year.

"As you are probably aware, Houston drafted the boys last month... at the same time they apparently put me on the same negotiation list."

"It was while we were talking to Houston about the boys that they asked if I would be interested in playing one season with them.

"They knew my greatest wish has always been to play pro hockey with my sons and when they asked, 'Would you be interested?' I said, 'Hell, yes.'"

However, Howe cautioned that "nothing is settled. It's just a preliminary meeting. In fact, the iron isn't even hot and there's a lot of pressing to be done yet."

No economic details of the offer were mentioned but Howe, who refused to say whether the pact would involve $1 million, said that—the offer made "involves a pile of money."

Marty is a defenseman and has played two seasons with the Marlboros and will be eligible for the NHL amateur draft next spring.

Mark, a left-winger who played for the U.S. National team in the Olympic silver medal victory in 1972, was recently named "the most valuable player in the tournament when the Marlboros won the Memorial Cup as the Dominion champs."

The only other NHL player of comparable stature to be lured by the WHA, was the Chicago Black Hawks' Bobby Hull, who signed a $2.75 million, 10-year pact last season as player-coach of the Winnipeg Jets, making him the highest paid contract athlete in North America.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 1, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES The only benefits to be yours today are those which come without warning and from cooperative persons who have your best interests at heart. A new course of action can easily eliminate a feeling you have of being held down.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have many tasks to perform. Attend to them without delay and be enthusiastic. Show an associate how much you appreciate him—Make sure you can keep any commitments that you make.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Handling financial affairs with care is important now. Try adding to bank account instead of detracting from it. Don't argue with a co-worker over a petty matter. Keep your cool.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you listen to others more, you can easily gain valuable information. Take time to engage in favorite recreation. Show more devotion to mate and increase harmony. Avoid prejudice.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't let your problems today bother you. Engage in new activities and make your life happier. Don't pamper one who is troubled or you weaken that person. Take it easy tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) Seek the right advice from a good friend and become a more dynamic person. Avoid a person who has an eye on your assets. Think constructively and be more optimistic in your views.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) You are able to get the advice and aid of a business expert that you need now. Engaging in a new outlet can add to your present abundance. Find a better way to start an uptrend.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Use that good judgment you have and be of assistance to others. The favor will be returned later. Make yourself more attractive by taking health treatments. Dress in good taste.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Plan a new course of action for the days ahead. Listen to what experts have to suggest. Give a lending hand to those who need your aid. Show admiration to loved one. Be wise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't go along with what an associate has in mind or you could get into real trouble. A good friend can be most helpful to you now. The social side of life is fine for you tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Engage in outside activities instead of staying in regular routine. Meet with influential persons and obtain the data you need. Seek a good friend who can be helpful to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are inspired now to gain your finest aims and should take action without delay. A different attitude toward bigwigs gains you the backing you need. Do nothing of a radical nature.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't permit a situation at home keep you from taking care of routine duties. Show more devotion to mate and get better results. A thoughtful gift is wise. Keep all appointments.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those delightful young people who likes to take responsibility—be sure to give an opportunity to do just that, otherwise the fine promise here will be limited. There is a sticker for perfection here as well as an inventive genius. Give as much religious training as your progeny needs. Sports are a must. Give as much education as you can afford.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

To describe a girl as "cold" is to characterize said feminine party as unromantic, not just in English, but in all known languages. A universal metaphor, that one. Make a point of this because there aren't many such that translate into every angle tongue. Hardly any, in fact.

Where'd the ancestors of the Australian aborigines come from? A. From what's now the state of Rajasthan in India; it's believed. At least, the backwoods souls in that area still use boomerangs and musical instruments similar to those of the aborigines.

Average height of the Great Wall of China is 25 feet. Was built to keep out invading cavalry. But not invading infantry. Ciovor follow, that Chinese Emperor Chin. He could have made the wall higher, much higher. But he purposely kept it to a scaleable altitude. The wall became a cunning trap. Evertime the assaulting Huns sent a batch of climbers over the top, Chinese horsemen closed in behind them along the wall road. Massacre.

Aides data second hand

BOISE (UPI) — The administrator of the State Health Department said Wednesday an employee who suggested that prostitutes be used as mental health counselors had no "first hand knowledge" of the existence of bordellos in Northern Idaho.

Dr. James A. Bax, administrator of the Department of Environmental and Community Services, said he called for a report when a proposal reached his desk advocating the part-time use of prostitutes in Shoshone County as counselors in order to refer their clients to state agencies if they needed mental rehabilitation.

The proposal was rejected by the department when it came up in a staff meeting two weeks ago.

Bax said the employee gathered his information on the existence of bordellos in the Wallace area from an article in the Intermountain Observer, a weekly newspaper based in Boise.

Then, Bax said, it was a matter of the employee's "imagination" that prompted him to put together a four-page report, supplemented by some 20 pages of other material which was prepared before he came to work for the Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS).

The administrator said the report on the proposal, prepared by DECS' North Idaho region, pointed out that the employee put the proposal together on his own time, but did have it typed by a department secretary. The time taken to type the report was about two hours, Bax said, at a cost to the state of about $4. The proposal suggested that prostitutes be used by the State Mental Health Division because they had access to their clients and it would make such state services more attractive. The proposal said it would lower the cost of such services to the taxpayer because the houses of prostitution already existed in Shoshone County.

Bax said the new regional administrators would tend to "put tighter controls" on employees' time and proposals such as the one from North Idaho would find their way to the wastebasket.

But Bax added he would not "difle" an employee's creativity in the health and welfare field.

"How can you stop an employee from waking up at 2 a.m. in the morning with an idea."

"Edison had some 6,000 inventions and some of them were silly," Bax said. "But he did come up with a light bulb."

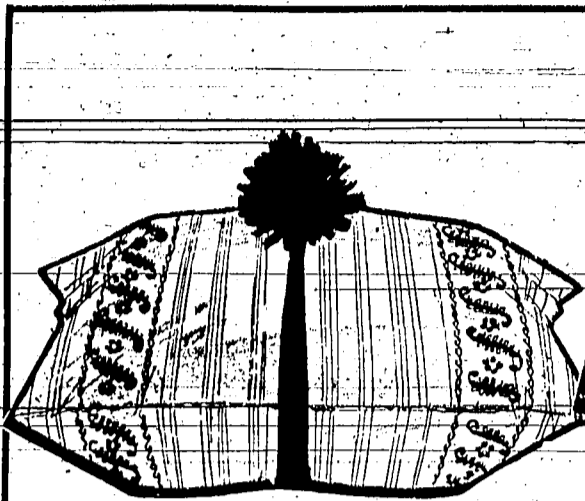

He said the employee was "naive" in his approach to such mental health services. Bax said the employee's name could not be used because it would put him up for "public ridicule."

"The department doesn't recognize that there are bordellos in the state," Bax said, "and there is no one at the higher administrative levels of this department who has any first hand knowledge of bordellos in Northern Idaho."

The author of the proposal is employed in the North Idaho region of DECS.
