

Self-service gas pumps vanish from TF

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — During the past two months, major brand gasoline stations in Twin Falls have been converting self-service pumps to "full-service," attendant-pumped outlets.

In at least one instance conversion of self-service islands has been the result of a head office directive — with incentives. In all cases, consumers are paying around two to three cents more per gallon for attendant pumped gasoline than for gas they pumped themselves.

Most service station operators surveyed said they cut out the self-service islands to cut back the amount of gasoline sold while supplies are short, and to increase profits on the limited amount of gas available.

"We were running out of gas — using too much gas from them," said Holly Walker, manager of Holly's Blue Lakes 66 Service.

Walker said he shut down his self-service pumps in April. He said he has also closed on Sundays and shortened his regular hours to conserve his allocation of gasoline. Walker said he recently ran out of premium fuel for a short time but has otherwise had gas. He said he is on an allocation of 90 per cent of last year's sales but has been getting 100 per cent.

Mary Hunt, owner of Blue Lakes American Service, said he shut down his self-service operation because of lower pump prices and the limited supply of gasoline.

Asked if the federal price-freeze on gasoline influenced his decision to go to full-service and higher prices per gallon pumped, Hunt said, "I'd be lying if I said it didn't."

Hunt said he thought he could optimize his profits by pulling self-service and taking the higher profits on his limited amount of gasoline.

Hunt said his overall profits were running about the same as last year's. "So far it's all right as long as they don't cut me anymore," Hunt said he is on an allocation of 100 per cent of last year's sales.

Of all major brand stations surveyed only Texaco outlets said they had received a company directive to close down self-service operations. Standard Chevron stations, on the other hand, have never operated self-service islands, according to dealers.

Buck Buckingham, manager of Buck's Blue

Lakes Texaco, said he received a directive to do away with self-service as of May 1 but closed his self-service about five days prior to the deadline. Texaco "didn't give any reason," he said, just directed that the self-service be eliminated.

Buckingham said the closure of self-service has not cut down "at all" on gasoline sales. He said he is having trouble this month staying within his 100 per cent allocation.

Doug Brown, manager of Eastside Texaco, on Addison Avenue East, said he also closed his self-service about two months ago. He said the Texaco head office suggested it be eliminated to "put the service back into service stations."

Texaco, Brown said, had been subsidizing him one cent per gallon on the self-service operation.

He said the subsidy came in the form of a reduction of the rent he pays on his station. He said he is now paying a "flat rent" of about $100 more than he paid previous to the subsidy cutback.

Some service station operators who have taken out self-service would like to put it back in.

"We'd like to put it back up, but we were just selling so much gas that we had to do something, so we took out the self-service island," said Linda Larson, bookkeeper for Don Pieper's Gas and Tire Center, "but if the gas situation improves, we'll put it back again."

Mitchell implicates aides

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John N. Mitchell testified today that former presidential advisers H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman were among those who had an "active concern" last year in hiding the truth about Watergate and other criminal acts.

The former attorney general, during a third day of questioning by the Senate Watergate Committee, said he believed that both campaign and White House officials helped shield President Nixon from the full story of the "horrors" involving his subordinates. "Is it your impression that the President was misled by that (White House) group just as you were misleading the President?" asked Samuel Dash, the chief committee counsel.

"I believe that would be, would certainly be, the impression I would have," Mitchell replied.

Both men — Nixon's closest confidantes until their resignations from the White House staff April 30 — have denied any knowledge of the affair until this past spring.

"You did speak to Haldeman and Ehrlichman in 1972?" Dash asked Mitchell.

"That is correct," he replied.

"And those discussions concerned how to keep the lid on?"

"There is no question we did discuss problems that would arise if those parties in the White House who were involved in some of these activities would come forward — with all the information they had," Mitchell replied.

"And there is no doubt in your mind that Haldeman and Ehrlichman were taking an active role themselves in attempting to keep the lid on?" Dash asked.

"They had a very active concern just as I did," Mitchell replied, contending that he didn't know in "what ways they participated in implementing it."

The committee, in its sixth week of hearings, met privately this morning to discuss whether to subpoena Watergate-related documents from the White House — documents that Nixon has said he will not provide. Further discussion on the subpoena question was postponed until the hearings recessed for lunch.

Contrary to the sworn testimony earlier of ousted White House Counsel John W. Dean III, Mitchell said he believed Dean did conduct a Watergate investigation for the President.

"Did you ever ask him?" asked Dash.

"I'm not sure I put it in the form of that type of question," Mitchell replied. "We did have such a discussion and he said he had been in discussions with Haldeman and Ehrlichman but had not made a direct report to the President. He was going through Haldeman or Ehrlichman — one or the other, I don't recall which."

Last Aug. 29, Nixon announced that an investigation by Dean made at his request had indicated that no one in the White House or his administration had been involved in the Watergate affair. The White House later acknowledged there had been no such Dean report.

Cambodian force opens drive

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian helicopters with heavy American air support flew two battalions of troops to positions 12 miles south of Phnom Penh today in an offensive aimed at routing out Communist troops menacing the capital. But they ran into stiff resistance.

Along the Mekong River and Highway 4, however, two convoys — also moving under heavy U.S. air cover — slipped into the capital unscathed.

Hoffa plans return to power

DETROIT (UPI) — James R. Hoffa hopes to recapture the presidency of the Teamsters Union, which he gave up when he was jailed for mail fraud and jury tampering.

Hoffa, 60, said in a radio interview Wednesday he plans to go to court this fall to seek freedom from restrictions imposed when his 13 year prison sentence was commuted in 1971.

NY solon indicted on bribe

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rep. Bertram L. Podell, D-N.Y., was indicted Thursday on charges of soliciting and receiving payments to influence federal agencies to obtain a mail route for a Florida air taxi firm.

The 10-count federal indictment specifically charged Podell with conspiracy, perjury and bribery.

Progress Edition coming on Sunday

An in-depth look at Idaho and the Magic Valley, past and present, will be offered Sunday when the Times-News' annual Progress Edition appears.

Prepared over a period of several months by staff members of the newspaper, the edition will include in more than 150 pages sections devoted to Idaho history, an examination of the area's growth and potential, and recreational attractions.

That will be in addition to the regular Sunday news section, the Idaho magazine supplement, Family Weekly and the comic sections.

Extra copies of the Progress Edition will be available from the circulation department of the Times-News for the usual Sunday edition price of 25 cents. The progress edition may be mailed anywhere in the continental United States for 50 cents, if arrangements are made through the circulation department.

Progress Editions will be distributed by carrier and through newsracks on Sunday.

Probers mull subpoenas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Watergate Committee was unable to reach agreement today on whether to subpoena White House documents which President Nixon says it cannot have.

The committee, in a closed session before the start of John N. Mitchell's third day of testimony at the nationally televised hearings.

All seven members of the Senate committee want to see White House papers touching on Watergate. At this morning's discussion preceding the public session, sources said the committee debate centered on whether it should — or under the separation of powers doctrine, legally could — subpoena the documents.

In a letter to the committee chairman, Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., last week, Nixon said it would violate his constitutional duty to preserve the independence of the presidency if he gave the committee access to "presidential papers."

Senate OK's gold ownership

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate overwhelmingly adopted legislation Wednesday allowing Americans to own gold.

The legislation, offered by Sen. Peger H. Dominick, R-Colo., and approved on a 69-21 vote, would allow U.S. citizens to purchase, hold, sell or deal in gold beginning Jan. 1, 1975, or earlier — if President Nixon decrees that it would not have an adverse impact on the U.S. international monetary position.

Jerome airport site endorsed

TWIN FALLS — A Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) official has voted "strong approval" of a regional airport in Jerome County, according to a news release by the South Idaho Regional Airport Authority (SIRAA).

George Buley, chief of the airports planning branch of the FAA in Seattle, Wash., said his "strong approval" of the proposed Jerome County airport site "will be incorporated into the State of Idaho Airport System" plan, according to the SIRAA release.

But Darrell Manning, Idaho director of aeronautics, said today the state airport plan has not been finalized and the Jerome County site has not been approved for a regional airport.

Manning said Buley had forwarded a copy of an engineering study to SIRAA "without the authority of the state." Buley "should not have done this," he said. The study recommends the Jerome County site and includes a cover letter by Buley which

Federal team expands audit of CSI fund use

TWIN FALLS — A two-week federal audit of the College of Southern Idaho's use of federal student-aid funds has been extended for an additional eight weeks.

According to federal auditors, the unexpected extension followed discovery of "some potential problem areas" involving the college's use of federal funds.

At the same time the size of the auditing team dispatched to the college has been increased.

Originally the auditors had said they expected the CSI investigation to last no more than two weeks, using two auditors at the campus.

According to the latest estimates, the audit will be extended to about Sept. 2, using a team of "from three to four" auditors.

Kenneth Sill, Seattle regional audit director for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, had said earlier the audit should have been completed before this week.

But he said Wednesday the scope of the federal investigation had been expanded to include a "management audit" of the college's use of the student funds.

He said the earlier audit had amounted to a "survey" to determine whether the more intensive audit was warranted.

Sill declined to say what findings had been made during the preliminary visit.

He would say only that "We just felt there were some potential problem areas we should look at."

He cautioned that the extension of the audit should not be interpreted as any indication of wrongdoing at the college.

"There is nothing to be implied in any of this. There could be no findings or there could be findings," Sill said.

The Times-News had reported at least four instances of irregular use of the federal work-study funds at the college.

The instances, which had been confirmed by college trustee chairman John Hepworth and CSI President James L. Taylor, involved use of work-study funds for special favors for college administrators.

Additionally, there were instances in which students had claimed to have worked at times when they could not have worked, according to the college's auditor.

The instances involving irregular use of work-study funds included cases in which work-study students, supervised by college employes, had installed an underground lawn sprinkler system and a decorative rock garden at the privately owned home of the college president.

Another case had involved paying babysitters for David Perkins, director of the work-study program on campus, from work-study funds.

Remedial action had been taken in the Perkins case, as Perkins was required to pay back the funds used. Federal funds used to pay the "unsubstantiated" student work claims similarly had been paid back to the federal government from general college funds, although not paid back by students, Taylor had said.

According to Dr. Taylor, there had been no payback of federal funds used to install his sprinkler system and rock garden.

Dollar halts climb, flounders

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar today halted its three day upward climb and floundered downward on world money markets when there was no sign that government banks were intervening to prop it up.

The Americans are trying to talk the dollar up rather than pull it up," said a bank official in Paris.

The dollar dropped to 4.085 francs on the Paris market at midday from its overnight price of 4.17 francs. It slipped to 36.375 Belgian francs in Brussels, to 2.425 Swiss francs in Zurich, to 2,3710 marks in Frankfurt — all lower than Wednesday night's closing prices.

"If no support comes soon for the dollar I expect it to fall back quite a bit," said a London foreign exchange dealer.

In Belgrade, the Yugoslav government announced it was reversing the dinar by 9.7 per cent upward against the dollar and devaluing it by 3 per cent against the West German mark.

TFHS class sets 50th anniversary

TWIN FALLS — There were 130 members of the graduating class of the Twin Falls High School 50 years ago. Of the 100 still living, 72 will attend the first class reunion Friday evening.

Leonard Scott, chairman in charge of reunion arrangements and a class member, said today the 66 percent attendance at a 50th high school reunion, "just has to be some sort of a record."

The reunion will get underway at 6 p.m. at the Holiday Inn with dinner scheduled at 7 p.m.

Those who will attend, he said, are about equally divided as residents of Idaho and of nine other states. Twenty-two class members are from Twin Falls and four from Boise.

Other Idaho communities represented will include Jerome, Idaho Falls, Hagerman, Hazelton, Featherstone and Gooding.

Other states represented, aside from Idaho, include Arizona, Colorado, Nevada, New Jersey, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wisconsin and California. There will be 18 here from the Golden Bear state.

Three of the teachers of the Class of 1923 will be special guests. They will be Winnona Rundquist Chaddick, San Diego; Alice G. Parker and John S. Feldhusen, Twin Falls; John McMartin, Westfield, N. J., who was class president, will share master of ceremonies duties with Milo Davis, Buhl, and Leonard Scott, Woodland, Calif. Opening remarks will be by Scott.

Some members of the classes running from 1920 to 1928 (other than the 50-year class) will be guests at the session. Special awards for "horseplay" events will include two-pound boxes of Varney Candy. Varney operated a candy store in Twin Falls from pioneer times and a son of the original owners, Fred Varney of Weaverville, Calif., who operates a store there, donated the boxes of sweets. Mrs. Scott, the former Helen Varney, will make the presentations.

Reunion events will continue Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday a brunch and bus tour of the area will be featured while graduates will attend a special service at the First United Methodist Church Sunday at 11 a.m.

Arrangements for the reunion have been underway during the past year. The whereabouts of only 10 of the 130 graduates could not be substantiated. Assisting Scott in arrangements were George Warberg and Milo Davis, co-chairmen, and Mrs. Nona Verano, secretary.

Ghost town sold

SALMON — Leesburg, a ghost town in Lemhi County about 60 miles northwest of Salmon, was sold last Saturday to a Ketchum resident for about $25,000.

Leesburg became the center of gold mining after five Confederate soldiers discovered the precious metal there in 1866.

The town once was home to about 3,000 people and contained 100 businesses. Now only four homes and 15 buildings remain standing.

Patented mining claims were the town's business and almost $16 million worth of gold was taken from the area over the years. There is a placer mine still operating in the area that was filed on in 1969.

There is no mining in the town itself at the present time. According to Fredrick L. Wolfe, representative of the former owners, there is considerable gold still to be found in gravel at the town site. W. F. (Bill) Whitton, representing himself and four other men from the Minidoka-Cassia area, drove to the site last weekend to negotiate for the purchase of the town. They intended to purchase it with the intention of preserving the area and mine.

The town had been sold for 12 hours before Whitton got there.

TF man, 29, faces charges

TWIN FALLS — Marvin (Tex) Helsley, 29, Twin Falls, was arrested Wednesday and charged with lewd and lascivious conduct with a minor child.

Capt. Tim Qualls, chief of detectives for the Twin Falls Police Department, said the man was arrested by city officers in Twin Falls in connection with an incident reported July 7. He said the incident allegedly involved a 12 year old girl.

The course covers criminal psychology and is under the direction of two Federal Bureau of Investigation officers from the National FBI Academy at Quantico, Va. The instructors are Conrad V. Hassel and Thomas Strentz. Wes Dobbs, law enforcement instructor at the college, said the course is available to men who have had three or four years experience in law enforcement.

The course opened Monday and will continue through Friday. Dobbs said this is one of a number of such training programs which will be held in the state this year with the assistance of the FBI.

The training programs are designed to assist local level officers with investigation practices.

Zoning decisions set Monday in TF

TWIN FALLS — Decisions on two county zoning matters will be announced Monday by Twin Falls County commissioners.

The commissioners took the two zone requests under advisement after holding public hearings Wednesday.

Keith Sigar has requested a zone change from agriculture to agriculture-residential on 40 acres of land he owns two miles east of Twin Falls on Kimberly Road. Sigar proposes to build a mobile home park on the property with hopes of eventually using the full 40 acres.

William Chancey, commission chairman, said that of the nine persons at the public hearing Wednesday, five opposed the zone request and four supported it. Those urging the county to deny the request included Mrs. Eugene E. Ostrander, property owner across Kimberly Road; Eugene Champlin, who owns property south and west and Lloyd Shewmaker, residing southeast of the area.

Don and R. E. Norris, who also own nearby property, also opposed the change. Most objected to the increased number of homes in the agricultural area.

Dale Riedesel, who helped design the proposed mobile home court, said the court would be elaborate and attractive in design and would balance out the trend along Kimberly Road where a number of business and industrial properties are now appearing. Commissioners said the county zoning board has recommended by a five to four vote, approval of the Sigar request.

Commissioners said they will render a decision on the matter at 10:30 a.m. Monday. At 11:00 a.m. Monday the commissioners will rule on a request of Western Realty for development of 40 acres two miles east and one mile north of Castleford.

L. James Koutnik of Western Realty proposes a housing subdivision for homes and said the development is prepared to meet all sewer and other restrictions.

Only one farmer in the area objected to the proposed subdivision.

Close The Loopholes, You Say?

Close the loopholes! The effort is now under way in the Senate...

But those tax-free expense allowances on which the rich live and work and travel so comfortably...

Now, says Sen. Nelson, it's time to plug those loopholes. All right. But if we do away with depletion allowances right now...

Equipment. In one year a senator is likely to collect allowances for telephones and telegrams ranging from $6,000 to $20,000.

your expense, all he need say is that he's going to the Riviera on business to "study the situation" there.

Soap Opera Fans

Soap opera fans and unquenchable Nixon Republicans aren't the only ones who are not completely enchanted with the Senate Watergate hearings.

A relatively disinterested observer, columnist Bernard Levin of the Times of London, wrote recently that the inquiry "is just about the most scandalous violation of every standard of justice to take place in a free society since the Southern gentry abandoned lynching as their favourite outdoor sport."

Overstated though it may be, Levin's observation comes at an appropriate time. For as he points out, tinges of McCarthyist inquisition have crept into the hearings and they threaten at times to become a more than acceptable substitute for reruns of the old Perry Mason series.

Inevitably, the Select Committee chairman, Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C. and its vice chairman, Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., have been thrust into the starring roles, without any noticeable kicking and screaming on their parts.

Ervin gives the impression of wallowing in the spotlight, playing the kindly but stern grandfather with a folksy anecdote for all occasions (and some anecdotes that do not fit any occasion but are too good not to use).

Baker, cool and suave, visions of 1976 nominations, no doubt dancing in his head, is the picture of fairness. Thomas Jefferson unwigged, asking so many questions about morality that one begins to look for a halo lurking around his head.

The situation is high drama, of course, and ripe for this sort of thing. A playwright's touch is needed in the hearings — minor witnesses coming first to lay down a structure that the Big Boy will have to cope with later.

The question is, after all, the extent of involvement of President Nixon in a stupid, unmitigated scandal.

Do we need, as Levin comments, Ervin and Baker going through saccharine post-testimony ceremonies of congratulations to cooperative witnesses? Can we take seriously the self-righteousness of committee members who solemnly compliment men like Hugh Sloan, Herbert Porter, Jeb Magruder (whose middle name, "Spartan," is always mentioned, as if to damn him indelibly as a rebel) and John Dean for their honesty?

How are we to interpret Ervin's badgering of Maurice Stans, who may well have been involved in the Watergate business but could hardly be held responsible for every ethical shortcoming of the American political system?

The nature of the case demands a skeptical attitude toward everybody involved. There are so many self-interests running around like headless chickens that nothing anybody says at the hearings can really be taken for granted.

But that attitude should be applied equally to everyone. For to all practical purposes, President Nixon and his associates are being tried in absentia in these hearings, without the benefit of the legal protections usually offered.

That is not to say that the hearings should not have been held. It appears that they may succeed in revealing the depths of truth that might otherwise have remained suspicion. And whatever that truth is, it must be found and studied and understood.

So the imperative importance of maintaining a scrupulous fairness in the hearings should be stressed to the committee members and staff.

It is imperative because it is the right and fair thing. It is imperative because the committee's findings must not be clouded by suspicions of partisanship or hedged by hints that the facts became lost in the show business trappings.

ROBERT ALLEN

Pressure Is Building

WASHINGTON — More pressure is building up for hearings by the Senate Armed Services Committee on the long-pending legislation to recompute the pay of some 900,000 military retirees.

Sen. Harry Byrd, Ind.-Va., World War II Navy veteran and member of the committee, is throwing his influential weight behind the effort for hearings.

It was authoritatively learned that Byrd, at a closed-door committee meeting, noted that hearings on recomputation had been promised and urged they be conducted "as soon as possible."

The influential Virginia legislator has long supported recomputation, and took the occasion to stress that and the commitment to hold hearings.

The committee is in the process of "writing up" the multi-billion-dollar military procurement bill, and the expectation has been that this major measure would be sent to the full Senate for consideration by the middle of this month.

However, the inside word now is that it is unlikely that this legislation will probably not emerge from the committee until after Congress's annual August vacation. That means the big and controversial procurement bill will not be taken up by the Senate until sometime in September.

In turn, that means there is little likelihood the Armed Services Committee will get around to holding recomputation hearings until after the procurement measure has been disposed of — probably not before early October.

Last month, Sen. John Stennis, Miss., second-ranking Republican committee member and author of a recomputation bill co-sponsored by a number of other Senators, told this column he expected recomputation hearings after the procurement measure had been acted on.

Sen. Stennis promised there would be hearings. Tower said, "and I am sure that commitment will be met. My best judgment is that will be done after completion of consideration of the procurement authorization bill."

"When is that apt to be?" "Probably not before Congress shuts down in August for month's summer recess."

"That means there is virtually no chance of hearings taking place before fall."

Tower nodded agreement. The question of whether hearings will or won't be held may turn out to be moot — if Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., chairman of the Veterans Affairs Committee, has his way.

The Indianan is all set to again offer his recomputation bill as an amendment to the $27.5-billion military procurement measure — as he did so successfully last year.

On that showdown, the Senate overwhelmingly approved recomputation 82 to 4.

Hartke is firmly confident the Senate will do that again this year and has served notice on the bipartisan leaders of the chamber that he will offer his measure as an amendment to the first military bill taken up by the Senate.

Recomputation is long overdue. Hartke told this column. President Nixon included $360 million in his budget for recomputation, and there is absolutely no reason why Congress shouldn't vote the necessary legislation to put recomputation into effect. My amendment is ready and waiting, and the Senate will again have the chance to vote on it. I have absolutely no doubt as to the outcome; it will be just as decisive as it as last year.

While Sen. Byrd will vote for Hartke's proposal, he still feels it is worthwhile to continue pressing for committee hearings.

In his opinion, that is advisable to further the recomputation cause.

It is also Byrd's belief that Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., committee chairman recovering from bullet wounds sustained in a holdup last December, intends to make good on his promise to conduct hearings.

"Sen. Stennis is a man of his word," said Byrd, "and I know he favors hearings and intends to have them at the first opportunity. He doesn't make a promise lightly and always follows through."

Stennis made his promise to hold recomputation hearings last October, when a House-Senate conference committee discarded the Hartke amendment approved by the Senate by an overwhelming 82 to 4 majority. Following is the verbatim exchange between Hartke and Stennis on the floor of the Senate.

Stennis: "I am now in the process of arranging for someone to be chairman of a subcommittee that will hold hearings on this matter."

Hartke: "Can the Senator give me any kind of time reference; can we anticipate a bill coming to the Senate floor by March 1, 1973?"

Stennis: "April 1 to 15 — let us put it that way."

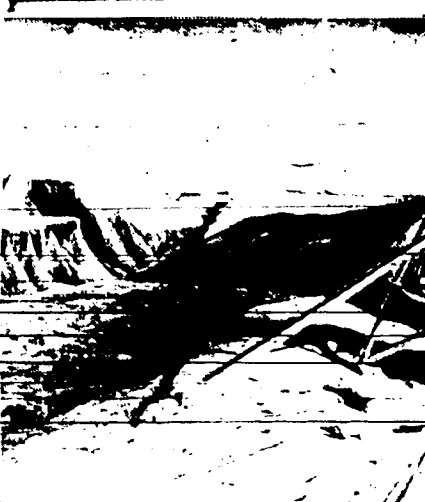

Hartke: "We have assurances then that hearings will be commenced as early as possible, that a subcommittee will be appointed within a few weeks and that the chairman will urge them to consider this matter and report a bill not later than April 15. That is the announced intention of the chairman (Stennis)."

Stennis: "I will certainly advise the Senator on this matter, and that is my intention."

In A Hurry?

If you are in a hurry — say, like in a hurry to talk to someone back home — then just forget taking a trip to Mars.

Why? Because communication between the Earth and Mars — by radio, for instance — will take nearly 25 minutes. In other words it will take 25 minutes for a word to get from your mouth on Mars to a listening ear on Earth.

In 1976 NASA will land two automated scientific laboratories on the planet Mars. The two spacecraft will be launched from Cape Kennedy within one month of each other in mid-1975 and will travel nearly 460 million miles around the Sun before reaching the Red Planet.

Each spacecraft will consist of an orbiter and a lander, and the descent to Mars will occur when the planet is about 225 million miles from Earth and nearly on the other side of the Sun. This will require a completely automated orbit and landing operation because, like we pointed out, at that distance two-way communications will take nearly 25 minutes.

BERRY'S WORLD

Here comes the White House projectionist. Poor devil has seen 'Patton' 26 times.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

The Doctor Says

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you tell me why, after I walk two or three blocks, I get a tight feeling in my chest? After I rest for a few minutes I am okay. This is more or less after each meal. I am 80 and still do a good day's work — H. P.

Congress or somebody should provide medals for people who still do a good day's work at 80. But at 80, you've still got to admit that you aren't as young as you used to be.

I'd prefer to examine you physically before giving you too glib an answer as to why you have that tight feeling in the chest, but I'll hazard what seems to me to be a possibility that fits the facts you gave me.

Your heart, after 80 years, has done a lot of work, and you can't blame it for getting a bit tired. Well, maybe not "tired," but it doesn't have the zing it used to have.

Now hold on a minute! If you think I'm saying you have heart disease — I'm not! I'm just saying that we all do get older, and we have to accept it.

In your 80 years your heart has beaten something like three million times, and considering that, it evidently is in pretty good shape still. Just — well, it's older.

It still keeps pumping blood around your body, but it doesn't do it quite as easily now. So when you walk two or three blocks, that tight feeling in the chest is a polite warning that your heart doesn't want to be pushed any harder than that.

You comment cannily that this happens particularly after a meal. That's not surprising. Additional blood circulation to the digestive organs is required after we eat. Think of it this way, digesting food, separating it into the various nutrients and absorbing them, is work.

It's your heart that circulates the blood to nourish the organs for this work, so your heart is called upon for a bit more effort after a meal. That's why you get this "tight feeling," this warning signal from your heart, after your meals.

I repeat, although it needs more rest than formerly, you evidently have a pretty good heart.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I've always had trouble with my nose, sneezing perpetually in the spring, summer and fall. I don't think I will ever go on a hayride again without at least two boxes of tissues.

The most irritating part of my problem, usually in the evening, is that one side or the other of my nose clogs up and I can't get any air through it.

Does this indicate some serious sinus problem? Is there medication that would help? — J. Z.

Whether your sinus is involved is beside the point, although such continued congestion probably will affect your sinuses if it hasn't happened already.

From the sound of things, I would suspect that your first line of defense would be to put yourself in the hands of an allergist. You have the signs of being allergic to growing things — trees, grasses, flowers, plants. An allergist can readily test you for the more common offenders in these groups.

Note to H'S: Your problem — about starting a suit — is a legal problem, so ask your lawyer instead of me. As to the medical aspects of the suit, I certainly am not about to offer any opinions without having first-hand knowledge of the case. Nor would a court be interested in my hearsay remarks.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care Of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

What causes "balance" trouble? What can be done to correct or overcome it? Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Dizzy Spells," discusses loss of balance, vertigo and nausea, Meniere's disease and labyrinthitis. For a copy write to him in care of this newspaper enclosing 25c in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters.

Watergate advice no longer Laird's job

(c) Chicago Sun-Times
 WASHINGTON — White House counselor Melvin R. Laird, whose suggestion that President Nixon is no longer taking advice from him on the Watergate affair. Pressed three times to say he intends to respond to charges that he took part in the Watergate cover-up, Laird refused, insisting: "I am not involved in giving counsel in that area."

Two weeks ago, Laird talked at length about the subject in an interview. He said he had discussed the matter with Nixon and predicted the President would respond to all questions after the Senate Watergate committee finished taking testimony from major witnesses. Laird, former defense secretary and now Nixon's top domestic adviser, also suggested in the interview that Ziegler step aside in favor of someone without his credibility problems on Watergate. But Assistant Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, obviously acting on Nixon's orders, promptly denied Ziegler would be relieved. Laird's remarks Tuesday implied his power at the White House may have been curtailed and even that he might leave his job, which he had accepted reluctantly. Laird spoke after HEW Sec. Caspar W. Weinberger at a White House-sponsored briefing to explain the administration's plans in the field of health. One question had two parts, the first dealing with reports of "Semi-Paralysis" of government machinery due to the Watergate scandal and the second dealing with Nixon's plans to answer accusations such as those of John W. Dean III, the former White House counsel. Laird fielded the first party by saying, "we cannot be distracted from facing up to problems confronting the country. He then turned away for further questioning without responding to the second part. Later another newsman pointed out that one question already asked remained unanswered. "Perhaps I'm not going to answer it," he said. "I thought I made that clear." But the question surfaced a third time a moment or so later, drawing from Laird the comment that he is "not involved in giving counsel in that area."

"By the President's choice or yours?" he was asked. "It's by my choice," he replied. Laird was asked about Nixon's health and attitude toward the future, questions that have arisen as a result of the President's long absence from the public eye except for fleeting glimpses. "The President is in good physical shape," Laird said. "I continue to be impressed and delighted with the way he addresses the problems of this country."

MELVIN LAIRD
 ... mum on scandal.

Prober guards office

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After six weeks on the job, Archibald Cox has turned his special Watergate prosecutor's office into a miniature fortress, rigged with electronic gadgets that might keep even G. Gordon Liddy and James W. McCord busy.

Cox and his staff of about 50-30 lawyers and 20 clerical workers are carrying on their investigation from the ninth floor of a building called "One McPherson Square," named after the Civil War general whose greened-bronze equestrian statue sentries the magnolia and oak trees in the park across the street.

It is a new but faceless glass and stone building, as anonymous as the ninth floor suite the former Harvard law professor has taken over. And a visitor to any but the ninth floor finds little beyond U.S. passport offices.

But anyone stepping off one of four elevators on the ninth floor is immediately under the scan of three barely noticeable television cameras. If the intruder looks lost or nosy—or doesn't head for the doors of a trade association occupying the only other office on the floor—one of two guards pops into the hall from nowhere asking the visitor if he needs help.

Behind the guards is a wall full of electronic equipment wired to burglar alarms which sound if closed doors are opened, or if windows, taped with electric wires, are tampered with. The TV sets are even equipped with stethoscoped-like devices suction-cupped directly to the screens to detect motion in the hallway should the guards, in their around-the-clock duty, happen not to be watching when someone steps off the elevator.

Each morning, the guard wears a plastic card with his picture on a chain around his neck. The card must be surrendered to the guards on leaving the office, even if it's just to visit the water fountain outside the door or the rest room across the hall.

The government-gray carpets and modern wooden desks inside look like any other federal office, except for a slight disarrangement and just-moved-in look. One poster in a hallway depicts a telephone wired to dynamite and warns: "Talk is explosive."

Gas still short

By United Press International

Filling stations in scattered areas reported there still wasn't enough gasoline to go around, but across the country there was more available than there has been at any time this summer, the American Automobile Association (AAA) said Wednesday.

"While gasoline supply and distribution inequities continue to inconvenience motorists and dealers to some degree in every area of the nation, most dealers expressed considerably more optimism than the statistics reveal," the AAA said.

The AAA said its survey of gas stations along major travel routes in the United States showed 46 per cent were operating at normal hours and allowing motorists to fill their tanks.

Forty-eight per cent of the stations surveyed reported closing early, the AAA said, but only 10 per cent were still limiting the amount of gas a motorist could buy.

Motorists in less populated areas were warned to make sure they have enough gasoline, especially evenings and weekends, when many gas stations are closed.

The gas supply was reported short in Colorado, Rhode Island, Maine, Florida, Oregon, the District of Columbia and parts of Pennsylvania.

In other developments, the Senate voted overwhelmingly to require confirmation of the appointment of Colorado Gov. John Love as President Nixon's special assistant on energy policy.

The 88-4 vote on an amendment offered by Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., allows Love to remain in office until the Senate acts.

The amendment was added to a bill intended to clear the way for construction of the trans-Alaska oil pipeline. The bill was scheduled for a vote early next week.

In a statement on the pipeline, Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, said routing it through Canada would mean no deliveries to the United States before 1984, while a trans-Alaskan route would begin operating by 1977.

Western Airlines and Continental Airlines meanwhile filed a joint application to provide one-plane service between Anchorage, Alaska, and the oil centers of Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma and Colorado, claiming, "The energy needs of the nation would be uniquely served by such a routing."

Governors end meet

NEBRASKA Gov. J. James Exon, right, leans over to listen to Minnesota Gov. Wendell Anderson during the last session Wednesday of the '73 Midwestern Governors Conference in Rapid City, S. D. Exon will be the chairman of the 1974 Midwestern Governors Conference to be held in Ely, Minn. (UPI)

Governors don't agree on 'crisis' solutions

RAPID CITY, S.D. (UPI) — Governors of midwest states have backed away from hard decisions on what the government should do about the fuel and power problems troubling their areas.

The annual conference of midwestern governors, which wound up Wednesday, was preoccupied through its four-day course with the energy crisis and the need in the Midwest to get enough fuel to keep agricultural machinery going.

But the governors, in final action, torpedoed a resolution by Gov. Arthur Link of North Dakota endorsing pending legislation to establish a nationwide power grid system to provide wholesale electric power at what Link called "reasonable rates and with the least impact on the environment."

Their reasons were much the same as for an earlier turndown of the resolution of Wisconsin's Gov. Patrick Lucey backing a pipeline to bring Alaskan oil across Canada to midwest terminals.

The governors said they felt they simply did not know enough about the problems and possible solutions to take positive action this year.

Link said of the energy grid plan that it would provide "an interstate highway system for electric power to regions that need it most."

Lucey said the governors voting against him may have had other considerations.

But Gov. Daniel Walker of Illinois told Link "I'm troubled by this resolution because I haven't done my homework." Gov. Richard Kneip of South Dakota said "I just don't have enough knowledge to know where this legislation is taking us."

Walker and Kneip said they were concerned about possible nationalization of part or all of the national grid system "under the federal government's control."

"I would guess many people would be against the federal government moving into another area of ownership," Walker said. He had Link's proposals referred to a committee of the National Governor's Conference.

Link also failed to "push through a resolution asking the governors to oppose federal legislation on state taxation of interstate businesses unless the law would help the state enforce their tax laws."

The governors approved a Link resolution supporting an additional $150,000 congressional appropriation to the Army Corps of Engineers for a study on hydro-electric generating capacity for Missouri River dams.

Also approved was a resolution from Gov. Wendell Anderson of Minnesota urging the federal government to relax its "tight restriction" on soybean exports. Anderson said the restrictions might cost the midwestern states as much as $2.1 billion if the policy was allowed to stand.

Social Security benefit hike set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Social Security benefits for almost 30 million Americans will increase by more than 5 per cent beginning in June, 1974.

President Nixon signed the compromise legislation authorizing the benefits increase Wednesday. The measure would also increase to $12,600 the maximum wage base on which social security taxes are imposed on wage-earners.

"The critical feature of this bill is an increase in social security benefits of more than 5 per cent next year in order to meet the rising costs of living," Nixon said in a written statement issued by the White House.

White House officials estimated that the benefits increase would range between 5.6 and 5.8 per cent, with the first checks to be paid in July of next year.

The legislation also provides: — That the amount of money an individual may earn without a reduction in social security benefits would increase from $2,100 to $2,400 effective next Jan. 1.

— Increased welfare benefits for more than six million aged, blind and disabled recipients. The increases, also intended to compensate for advances in the cost of living, lift the monthly payments from $130 to $140 for an individual and from $195 to $210 for a couple, starting next July.

— That states must supplement federal welfare benefits to make sure no recipient receives a benefit cut when welfare programs shift from state to federal operation at the end of this year.

The social security increase was attached to an amendment on a minor bill passed by Congress in the closing hours before it began its July 4th recess.

The measure was a compromise which the administration agreed to accept after threatening to veto a more generous version.

Nixon objected to one section of the new bill postponing until Nov. 1 the effective date of regulations, adopted by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), to limit the social services which states may provide under programs requiring a federal reimbursement.

"As the Congress knows, neither I nor my predecessors have been able to accept such a 'coming into agreement' because it infringes on the essential responsibility of the President and the executive branch, and on the separation of powers doctrine," Nixon said.

In separate action Wednesday, Nixon signed legislation extending temporary increases in railroad retirement benefits from June 30 until the end of this year. This measure also permits men with 30 years of railroad employment to retire at age 60 with full pension.

Labor leaders ask for trade

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI) — Labor leaders agreed to end a crippling two-week general strike Wednesday if the government of President Juan Maria Bordaberry would free hundreds of arrested strikers.

The strike was called June 27, immediately after Bordaberry dissolved congress and began ruling by decree with the support of the armed forces. The president retaliated by outlawing the 500,000-member National Workers Confederation (CNT) and ordering arrest of 52 labor leaders.

Troops and tanks broke up a street demonstration Monday by tens of thousands of Uruguayans shouting "down with the dictatorship." Newspapers were censored and radio and television stations broadcast only official views.

At the same time, a three-man mediation committee began seeking an end to the stalemate in the country, by acting as a go-between for politicians and labor leaders in hiding.

Police sources estimate that 2,500 persons are currently in detention. Most of them in the municipal basketball stadium.

Despite the government efforts to break the strike, it began showing signs of weakening after two weeks.

Gasoline shortages followed the refusal of oil refinery workers to return to work and the lack of bank personnel brought commercial transactions to a halt. During the first days of the strike, transportation stopped, public offices and stores were closed — even movie houses were shut.

The military began taking a greater role in Uruguayan politics last year after suppressing the leftist Tupamaro guerrillas.

Bordaberry accepted economic and political demands made by the military after a bloodless revolt in February. He closed both houses of congress after they refused military requests to impeach leftist Sen. Enrique Erro, accused of maintaining contacts with the Tupamaros.

Hooked big one

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — Marine engineer Ron Scott took 90 minutes to catch one of the biggest sharks off Sydney for many years. Scott hooked the 905-pound, 13-foot tiger shark on 80 pounds breaking strain line five miles off Dee Why, one of Sydney's most popular beaches.

APPEARING before the House Armed Services Committee Wednesday Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger promised Congress to press US allies to shoulder burden of NATO defenses and hinted that a gradual cutback of up to 15,000 troops might be militarily acceptable. (UPI)

Plane crash kills 122

SABLEX LES-CHARTRÉUX, France (UPI) — The death toll in the fiery crash of a Brazilian jetliner rose to 122 today when one of the survivors died in a hospital, French officials said.

Hospital spokesmen declined to identify the victim, but they said it was not Capt. Gilberto Araujo Da Silva, pilot of the Varig Airlines Boeing 707 jetliner that made a forced landing in a lettuce field near Orly Airport Wednesday with a fire raging aboard.

The death left 12 survivors, all of them crewmen. Investigators today played back tapes from the aircraft's "black box" flight recorder to hear the last communications between the plane and Orly ground control. Aviation authorities already had made it clear the cause of the crash was a fire that started in the tail section, apparently from a short circuit.

Da Silva guided the plane to a difficult emergency landing in a field, missing houses and a major highway, when the fire forced him to land short of the Orly Airport runway though he was only 30 seconds away.

One crewman was French, but the others did not report any other foreigners on board. Most of the persons on the passenger list were Brazilian.

Excerpts from Mitchell's testimony

Sen. Lowell Weicker

Armor wilts under shock

By PETER LISAGOR (c) Chicago Daily News

WASHINGTON — As if suddenly stricken with the shock of recognition, John N. Mitchell muttered bitterly into an open microphone for all the world to hear, "It's a great trial they're conducting up here, isn't it?"

The dawning that he was "on trial" came late to the former attorney general. But it was the one indisputable fact of his second day before the Senate Watergate Committee. The deference to his former eminence collapsed early in the day, and he became the wary, grim, vulnerable witness, clinging to his composure.

Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., had cut through the armor of a higher loyalty Mitchell had used to defend himself on Tuesday. Weicker's long and aggressive series of questions were freighted with disbelief and indignation and a sizable portion of contempt.

The prosecutor in tone and manner, Weicker found it "difficult" to understand why Mitchell, as attorney general, didn't arrest G. Gordon Liddy when Liddy presented him with plans for a cruise wave in the interest of the President's re-election.

Then Weicker wanted to know why Mitchell didn't warn President Nixon that Liddy — the senator called him "some pinwheel" and an "idiot" at various times — was general counsel of the Committee to Re-Elect the President.

"This is fantasy," said Weicker. "This is unbelievable." Mitchell just glowered.

But the blow that appeared to wear at Mitchell's scornful reserve came when Weicker reminded Mitchell he was a lawyer, "an officer of the court," when he learned about the break-in of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

As Weicker asked if Mitchell had informed any law enforcement officer, the witness visibly wilted. "I notified nobody," he said.

Not the Justice Department, not Judge Matthew Byrne, who presided at the Ellsberg trial in connection with publication of the pentagon papers? No one.

"You were content to remain silent when you knew that silence might possibly convict an American citizen?" Weicker pursued his quarry.

In a voice as lame as his reply, Mitchell said the break-in produced nothing to report. But Weicker said Mitchell had no way of knowing that at the time he was informed of the crime.

The horrible fact that his credibility was facing a long siege must have weighed in on Mitchell earlier. The former cabinet officer had repulsed Sen. Howard Baker, the Tennessee Republican who avoids the concrete cross-examinations in favor of moral generalities.

Baker wanted to know Mitchell's "perceptions of the Presidency," as though that would explain the crimes of obstructing justice and winking at other assorted illegalities. Even Mitchell seemed perplexed by the irrelevancy of the inquiry and all but blurted out, "What does that have to do with this hearing?"

But Chairman Sam Ervin, the North Carolina Democrat, was intrigued by the President's apparent lack of curiosity about what Mitchell knew about the Watergate affair. Told that Nixon never asked about the case after June 20, 1972, when in a telephone conversation Mitchell apologized for letting the re-election committee staff get out of hand, Ervin was bemused.

"If a cat had no more curiosity than that, he'd still be enjoying his nine lives," Ervin drawled.

"I hope the president has ought more," Mitchell retorted.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Excerpts from testimony, Wednesday of the Senate Select Committee investigating the Watergate matter: Witness — former Attorney General John N. Mitchell.

(Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, asked about meetings Jan. 27, Feb. 4, and March 30, 1972 at which Gordon Liddy's proposals for surveillance and espionage were discussed. Inouye recalled that Mitchell has said he told Liddy, "Take that stuff out and burn it.")

Inouye: Would I be proper in translating your statement, "Take that stuff out and burn it," to mean, "Get rid of this incriminating evidence?"

Mitchell: Not only that, senator, to get rid of the incriminating evidence, but also to abandon any concept that any such activities would be part of the re-election campaign of the President.

Inouye: Did you advise the participants that they were essentially participating in a conspiracy to commit a crime?

Mitchell: Not at that time, no sir, I didn't.

Inouye: Why did you not, as attorney general of the United States, advise the President of these meetings?

Mitchell: For the very simple reason that I presumed and had every reason to believe that these matters were over and done with, were through, and that was the end of them. The President of the United States has many other things to concern himself with other than the type of factors that were involved in these meetings and many other meetings.

Inouye: Are you willing to lie to protect the President?

Mitchell: Senator... I don't have to make that choice.

(Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn. questioning.)

Baker: Let's talk about the man for a moment. The President of the United States is a man you've known for a long time and known intimately, and a man I've known for a long time, less intimately, but for a long time. What is there in your perception of the man that would contribute, if it did contribute, in your decision not to tell him about this? I'm not speaking now of the institution, but rather the man.

Mitchell: I've described that circumstance and answered that question, senator, a number of times here in the last two days and I'll answer it again the same way. I know the man very well, just as you do, and as I say he would have lowered the boom on the whole category of the White House horrors, and this would have spread across the whole White House, and of course, the derivative effect would have upon the President and would have affected his election.

Baker: Isn't it unfair that he is now undergoing the hostility and suspicion of a nation in this respect, with this allegation of a coverup, with the suspicions about what he knew. Isn't that greatly far more...

Mitchell: That's a statement that I'm not prepared to accept senator. I do not believe the nation feels that way. I do not believe anybody has come to the point where they have one shred of evidence that he was knowledgeable of the break-in or cover-up.

(Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., questioning.)

Weicker: On the 27th of January, 1972, Gordon Liddy presented a plan in your office, in the office of the attorney general of the United States, and that plan, complete with visual aids that included elaborate charts of electronic surveillance, breaking and entering, prostitution, and kidnaping and mugging. Now you've indicated that in hindsight you probably should have thrown him out of the office.

Mitchell: Out of the window, I think I said.

Weicker: Even out of the window, in hindsight. In the life of every American, to a great degree, his liberty, the protection of all his rights sit in the hands of the attorney general of the United States. And do you mean to tell me that you sat there through that meeting and in fact actually had the same man come back into your office for a second meeting, without in any way alerting appropriate authorities, in this particular case, the President of the United States?

Mitchell: That is exactly what happened, senator. And as I say in hindsight, it was a grievous error.

Weicker: And yet the only action you took, as one of the President's closest advisers and also as head of the Committee to Re-Elect the President—the only affirmative action that you took—was to say nothing to the President.

Mitchell: Well, I obviously had discussions with the other individuals involved here about the subject matters and this is where I learned more of the horrors stories from John Dean. But as to an affirmative overt action, there was no other action that I took during this period of time.

Calm slips

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John N. Mitchell has appeared relatively unflappable while undergoing tough questioning by the Senate Watergate Committee.

But exasperation showed through late Wednesday as the committee recessed for the day.

The former attorney general turned to one of his lawyers and said, "It's a great trial they're conducting up here isn't it?"

Reactor public display sought by Gov. Andrus

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus Wednesday told the Butte Chamber of Commerce he has requested the Atomic Energy Commission to decontaminate the first experimental breeder reactor brought to power so it can be displayed to the public.

Andrus said he has written to AEC commissioner, William O. Doub suggesting that the reactor, shutdown in 1966, be decontaminated "in such a manner that true decommissioning will be effective."

The reactor was brought to power Dec. 20, 1951, and has been designated a registered national historic landmark by the U.S. Department of Interior, National Park Service.

"In view of the upcoming bicentennial celebration of July 4, 1976, I would like to suggest that you consider accelerating your cleanup program of EBR-1 in such a manner that visitors can be permitted to view this national landmark on our 100th birthday," he wrote.

The governor pointed out it would be an opportunity for the AEC to demonstrate to the public that a nuclear reactor can be operated, closed down and decontaminated without injury to the surrounding environment.

The governor said that in the wake of national concern raised about the safety of atomic sites and potential dangers to surrounding communities, he has checked with AEC officials and been reassured that the best safety techniques have been employed for handling nuclear wastes at Arco.

"Personally, I am pleased to see that the Atomic Energy Commission is also trying to move away from burial of atomic wastes to what they call 'interim storage.' I think this is an improved mode of handling wastes, particularly because the waste material is more easily retrievable."

Money orders bounce

BOISE (UPI) — State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon said Wednesday she has received complaints from several Boise businesses that they have been receiving money orders for payments which are bouncing.

She said the money orders are from the American Money Order Service Co., the same company whose money orders to state agencies bounced last month.

Miss Moon said she referred the complaints to the attorney general's division of consumer complaints.

Earlier, Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park said his office is investigating complaints to the effect money orders on this particular money order service company are bouncing.

Miss Moon said earlier five such money orders written to state agencies were returned marked "account closed" by the Central Bank, a national association headquartered in San Mateo, Calif.

DECS director 'stores' color TV

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's administrator of Environmental and Community Services keeps up with the news on a $420 color television set bought with tax money, the Idaho Statesman reported Wednesday.

In a story by staff writer Mandy Cameron, the newspaper said the set "stored" in the office of Dr. James A. Bax is one of two such sets purchased by the department.

They are part of a new $2,000 videotape recording outfit purchased by DECS for use in the agency's continuing education program, the story said.

A $1,116 video tape recorder and the other television receiver are kept in the public information office. The one kept in Bax's office, a department spokesman said, is used by Bax "to keep informed about the news."

Before buying the color videotape recorder DECS already had black and white videotape equipment, including a camera and television, Cameron reported.

City of Rocks studied

BOISE (UPI) — A regional director at Seattle, to U.S. Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, outlining the possibility.

He said Rutter reported that a study of the area in question showed its unique geological formations qualify it to be a unit of the national park system and that a master plan was being prepared.

Director J. M. Neil said he received a copy of a letter from John Rutter, park service regional director at Seattle, to U.S. Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, outlining the possibility.

Idaho prison tunnel halted

BOISE (UPI) — Ada County deputies and Idaho Board of Corrections officers Wednesday interrupted a team of Idaho State Penitentiary inmates in the process of digging an escape tunnel beneath the prison wall.

Gerald Wright, state board of corrections officer, said the inmates have been "under surveillance for about four to five weeks now. Tonight we actually caught them in the tunnel and the one who let them in."

Gary B. Anspaugh, 39, Edmund L. Gutzman, 34, and Maurice Ruddle, 24, were arrested in the incident. They were later transferred to Ada County jail and will be charged with attempted escape.

Deputy Mike Roberts said he believes that the tunnel was "a major escape attempt and it will never be learned who all were involved."

Roberts said the tunnel, measuring 11 feet 9 inches in length, was a "crawl way"

Gasoline allocation misplaced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charging that urban areas of the nation are receiving gasoline supplies at the expense of agriculture, U.S. Sen. James A. McClure Wednesday called for mandatory allocations with priorities for agriculture and transportation.

"There is substantial evidence that the farmers in Idaho are not getting the gasoline they need to plant and harvest their crops, while at the same time there is an increasing supply for motorists in urban areas," the Idaho Republican said.

Bumper corn, soybean crops seen

(c) Chicago Sun-Times
 CHICAGO — The U. S. Agriculture Department has good news for food shoppers. The nation's corn and soybean crops should be larger than most agriculture experts expected—and the bumper crops should mean lower feed costs and eventually cheaper beef, pork, poultry and egg prices.

The USDA, in its first report on 1973 corn and soybean acreage, said farmers are expected to harvest 9 per cent more acres of corn next fall than in 1972 and 22 per cent more of soybeans. "The optimistic government report handed ammunition to farm leaders who have been pounding the Cost of Living Council seeking a removal of price ceilings on beef and poultry. Industry sources said a ruling from the council might be expected this week.

Chicago Board of Trade brokers, however, were somewhat surprised at the bumper crop projections which were released after the close of trading.

"If the figures are accurate," said one commodity market analyst, "then there doesn't seem to be as much of an emergency as the secretary of agriculture claims. And one wonders if the need for export controls is still there."

Still, there was some fear that the Agriculture Department would slap export controls on corn similar to those now in effect on soybeans. The USDA had let it be known that it would act to limit exports of corn unless it appeared that the crop would hit the targeted 6 billion bushels. With Tuesday's 5.9 billion estimate, the issue was in doubt.

The USDA projections surpassed government hopes for the soybean crop and just about met the 6 billion bushel corn crop goal set prior to planting delays caused by severe spring weather.

Based on the acreage inventory as of July 1 and using average trends in yields, the USDA gave this outlook:

Corn — a total of 62.3 million acres to be harvested for grain this year, with a possible record production of 5.9 billion bushels. That would compare with 57.3 million acres for grain in 1972 and a production of 5.5 billion bushels. The previous record was 6.6 billion bushels in 1971.

Soybeans — Some 55.7 million acres for harvest at a projected output of 1.58 billion bushels, compared with 45.8 million acres and a production of 1.2 billion bushels in 1972. The administration wanted at least 1.5 billion bushels this year.

Wheat — A total of 53.5 million acres for harvest and an officially estimated production of 1.7 billion bushels, compared with 34.9 million acres and a harvest of 1.5 billion bushels last year. The previous high was 1.6 billion bushels in 1971.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department has estimated the 1972-73 citrus crop will include 224 million boxes of oranges, 65.1 million boxes of grapefruit and 21.7 million boxes of lemons. As of the end of June, the Crop Reporting Board said producers had harvested 85 per cent of the orange crop.

TF girl earns trophy

Idaho trophy winner

SALEM, Ore. — Betsy Harney, 11, Twin Falls, was the only Idahoan to receive a trophy at the 26th national Appaloosa Horse Show here.

Miss Harney, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harney, Twin Falls, won the Nez Perce Stake Race, which drew a field of 275 contestants. She also placed fifth in the Camas Prairie stumps event.

Two other Harney children placed in the various events at the show. Herb Harney, 14, was second in the Camas Prairie stumps and seventh in the Nez Perce stake race. Tom Harney, 15, finished eighth in the stumps event.

Another Magic Valley contestant, Jonie James, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry James, Jerome, placed sixth in the lead line class.

The Harney youngsters will be among those participating in the Magic Valley Appaloosa Show at the fairgrounds at Filer Friday through Sunday. About 250 to 300 horses from all northwestern states are expected to participate. Sessions are scheduled in the daytime all three days.

White House investigated G. McGovern

(c) Washington Star-News
WASHINGTON — Members of the White House staff sought to investigate the personal finances, war record, travel habits and other aspects of the personal life of President Nixon's opponent in last year's election, according to previously undisclosed documents.
 Those documents, internal White House memos written throughout 1972, provide the first evidence of the specific items of interest to Nixon's aides in their attempt to investigate Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D.
 The memos were among the scores of documents turned over to the Senate committee investigating the Watergate scandal by ousted White House counsel John W. Dean 3d when he appeared before that panel two weeks ago.
 Most of those documents were immediately released to the public, but the committee impounded a series of memos described by Dean as designed "to politically embarrass" McGovern and other leading figures in the Democratic party.
 "Because of the very sensitive nature of the information contained in these documents, and the problems that information might cause to those individuals, I shall not discuss the documents further," Dean said at the time.

 However, the memos made available to the Star-News by sources close to the Senate committee include no information which could be potentially embarrassing either to McGovern or to the members of his campaign staff whom the White House aides apparently designated as targets of their investigations.
 One memo, written in April 1972 to Charles W. Colson, then special counsel to the President, by Douglas Hallett, suggests that McGovern is displaying "increasing distance from the plains of the Dakotas."
 It notes McGovern's conversion early in the campaign to "mod clothing," and "his trips to the Vermont farm of John Kenneth Galbraith, a campaign adviser, and to the Virgin Islands home of Henry Kissinger, a personal friend and principal campaign fundraiser."

Valley school elects chairman

VALLEY SCHOOLS — The elementary school principal at Valley School board has re-elected Harold Grant as board chairman, according to Supt. Orin Bodily.
 Grant and Larry Anderson who were elected to the board this spring, have been sworn into office. Grant has served for eight terms, most of them as board chairman. Anderson is serving his first term.
 Roy Colson was elected vice chairman of the board and Opal Newberry, treasurer and clerk of the board.
 Forrest Fonesbeck, 27, was hired as head football and basketball coach. He replaces Julian Torres who was basketball coach and Gene Bindreiff as football coach.
 William Schiess, 27, was also hired by the board as head wrestling coach and assistant football coach.
 Breh Sorensen 45, Marsing, was hired to serve as

Infant Cuban refugee permitted to stay

MIAMI (UPI) — Desiree Butez, the infant daughter of Cuban refugees who was smuggled into the United States from Spain in her aunt's handbag, will be allowed to remain in this country and her aunt will not be prosecuted, the government ruled Tuesday.
 Robert Woytych, immigration chief in Miami, said. The child will be permitted to remain indefinitely in this country because of the unique humanitarian factors involved in the case.

"This decision to let this girl stay is no way of condoning what has happened. Only because of her age will she be allowed to stay."
 The child was only 14 days old when the aunt, Kiomara Aguilera, a naturalized American born in Cuba, smuggled her aboard a transatlantic flight to Puerto Rico and through U.S. customs before flying on to Miami. The child now is four weeks old.
 Miss Aguilera said she acted because the child's parents are poor.

dummy's trumps and stopped to plan the rest of the play. Obviously, East held the ace of clubs for his vulnerable two-spade overcall. He probably held the king of diamonds also, but I didn't care.

I had one of those book safety plays at my disposal and proceeded to make it. I led the 10 of spades and discarded my club after East played the jack.

As you can see, this play insured his contract against any distribution of the East West cards. It also gave him a bottom score.

East had overcalled with virtually nothing and all other declarers made an overtrick by leading up to the king of clubs, finessing the diamond sometime along the way and discarding the third diamond on the spade 10.

Richfield miss, Giesler marry in Twin Falls ceremony

RICHFIELD — Sheryl Jenene Pridmore became the bride of Richard B. (Rick) Giesler in an evening candlelight ceremony in St. Edward's Catholic Church, Twin Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Pridmore, Richfield. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Calvin Eckles, Fairfield, and Dick Giesler, Lewiston.

Rev. Robert Grant performed the double ring ceremony before beaurty baskets of pink carnations and daisies and wrought iron candelabra holding pink tapers and trimmed with mint green ribbon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an old fashioned gown of crinkly seersucker featuring pinafore ruffles and long sleeves ending in ruffles. Accenting the rounded neckline and ruffles was embroidered daisy trim. The floor-length gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice, sash ties and a large flounced ruffle around the hemline.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a Juliet cap trimmed with lace and seed pearls. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of pink roses, daisies and baby's breath.

The bride wore a tiny gold diamond centered cross, a gift from the bridegroom, and a heart bracelet worn by her mother at her wedding.

Mrs. Sidney F. Edwards III, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Toby Dayley, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Kent Arnold, sister of the bridegroom.

Brent Giesler, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Rod Pridmore, brother of the bride, and Oley Kevan. Ushers were Mark Lee, Roy Robinson Jr., Case Maestas and Randy Bauscher.

Candlelighters were Suzy Giesler and Becci Eckles, sisters of the bridegroom.

Deana Wahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wahl, was flower girl. Ringbearer was Paul Pridmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Pridmore.

Joanne Cubit was organist and Fred Webb was soloist.

The couple was honored at a reception after the ceremony in the Parish Hall.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Steven McClure.

The bride's table was covered with white lace over pink and centered with a four-tiered cake with four hearts forming the base. The cake was decorated with light pink lilies with pearl centers and mint green leaves. It was topped with a miniature bridal couple under an archway of Lilies of the Valley and wedding bells. The table featured a silver punch bowl and silver candelabra entwined with flowers and ribbons in the bride's chosen colors.

Mrs. Francisco Limbago and Joanne Riley cut and served the cake. Mrs. Mark Lee poured coffee and Mrs. Fred Lake and Mrs. Steven Tester poured punch.

Guests were seated at quartet tables covered with lace and centered with tiny wicker baskets containing pink poms and daisies.

Mrs. Rod Pridmore, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Ralph Riley Jr. and Mrs. Udeff Robinson were in charge of the gifts.

Special guests were Mrs. Fred Rutherford, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Pridmore, grandparents of the bride;

Mrs. C. O. Thomas, grandmother of the bridegroom, and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Simon, grandparents of the bridegroom.

The bride was honored at a pre-nuptial personal shower by Lori Dayley, Becci Eckles and Suzy Giesler.

The parents of the bridegroom were hosts for a rehearsal dinner at the Rogerson restaurant.

After a short honeymoon, trip the couple will reside in Twin Falls and Fairfield.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY. I am married and have three preschool children. My husband has a good position with a well-known corporation.

My problem is the lady next door. She is around 40, divorced, and has teenage children. We live in townhouses and our front doors are side by side.

About a year ago she told me that she was the reincarnation of Cleopatra and has had visions as proof. Later she told me another neighbor, who was trying to possess her body, was making her stink! Then "Cleopatra" started leaving her garbage by the front door, which attracted flies, so my husband asked her to please remove it. She insulted my husband and accused HIM of making her stink, too. (My husband removed the garbage himself.)

Peculiar behavior

When a friend called on me a few days ago, "Cleopatra" met her on my doorstep, announcing that SHE was now the Queen of Austria! She also told her that I was making her stink. Later that day she rang my bell to tell me that she knew my husband and I had entered her house while she was away. She used insulting, abusive language. She must be sick. What can we do? Is there some society we can call? One almost hates to get involved.

INSULTED BUT FORGIVING

DEAR INSULTED: Contact your County Welfare Information Service and report your neighbor's peculiar behavior to them. They will investigate the matter without using your name. She appears to be disturbed and in need of help.

DEAR ABBY: I have just won $500 in a contest, and my husband is furious because I told him I am going to give the money to our church. Our church is in dire need of funds for an important project. I prayed hard to somehow get the money for this project, so when I saw this contest advertised I entered it. I made a promise to God that if I won the contest, I would give the money to the church.

My husband doesn't believe in God, and says a promise like that means exactly nothing. He says I am crazy for feeling the way I do and he thinks we should spend the money on things we need for ourselves. I must admit we could use it right now, but I feel it was the power or prayer that brought us that money and it belongs to the church.

My husband is barely speaking to me. Abby, we honor commitments to people. Why not to God? What shall I do?

CONTEST WINNER IN N. Y.

DEAR WINNER: You won the money and it's yours, so give it to the church if you wish.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old boy with a question to ask you. What do you think of long hair on a boy? My father is so old-fashioned it's pitiful. He thinks if a boy has long hair, he is on drugs or something. He makes me wear my hair real short, and I feel like a freak. Abby, I wouldn't think of taking drugs, but I want to be one of the crowd. How can I get my father to let me wear my hair a little longer?

GEORGIA PEACH

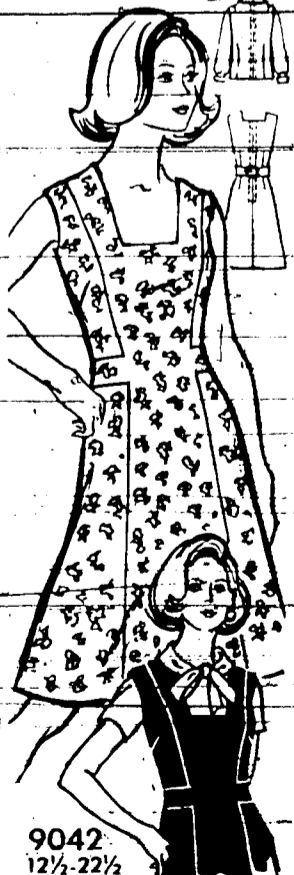

DEAR PEACH: I think it's what is IN a head that is important—not what is ON it. I see nothing wrong with long hair if it's kept clean and neat. However, a sign of maturity is being able to play by the rules. Don't nag or whine. When your father notices your maturity, he may change his mind.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HUNGRY FOR LOVE" IN RURAL VALLEY: A woman likes—indeed "needs"—to be told that she is loved. And I will let you in on another not-so-well-kept secret. So does a man. So, if you want to be loved—love!

Problem? You'll find better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 1, A.

Can't write? Dictate—stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Team films interview

TF oil man talks for TV

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls independent petroleum producer will be carrying his story on the gasoline shortage nationwide this fall in a special television broadcast. Joe Clements was interviewed Tuesday by a special NBC news feature team who flew here by chartered plane. Interviewed Clements and a number of his customers and then left by plane for New York. The team is currently filming a three-hour special on the energy crisis which will be carried by NBC television stations on Sept. 4. Fred Freed, New York, who headed the group, said Clements has an important story to tell about the fate of the independent under the present conditions. "He has made a lot of noise," Freed said, "and is putting up a spirited fight to survive." Clements told the news team independents like himself are being forced out of business by the "contrived" gasoline shortage and once the majors have "put away" all of the independents and accomplished other things they want the shortage will disappear. Clements points out there are no fuel shortages for the jet planes arriving and leaving the local airport but a farmer buying gasoline from an independent dealer is out of luck. Last year in June he sold 213,000 gallons of gasoline and this year received a "voluntary" allocation of only 43,000 gallons for the same period. Clements has several lawsuits pending against major oil companies and has gained national recognition for his battle to stay in business and overcome the regulations of the oil companies. He said he has contacted NBC and other national outlets in an effort to let the people throughout the country know what is happening in the industry. Members of the NBC team said the gasoline shortage will cover a portion of the three hour special. In addition to the filmed interview with Clements, they visited farmers he has supplied until he could no longer obtain gasoline. They also visited his service station and bulk plant to take background footage. In addition to Freed the group included Dexter Alley, cameraman; Richard Berda, assistant cameraman and Jim Robinson, all of Los Angeles, and Lou Del Prete, New York.

Food prices to soar

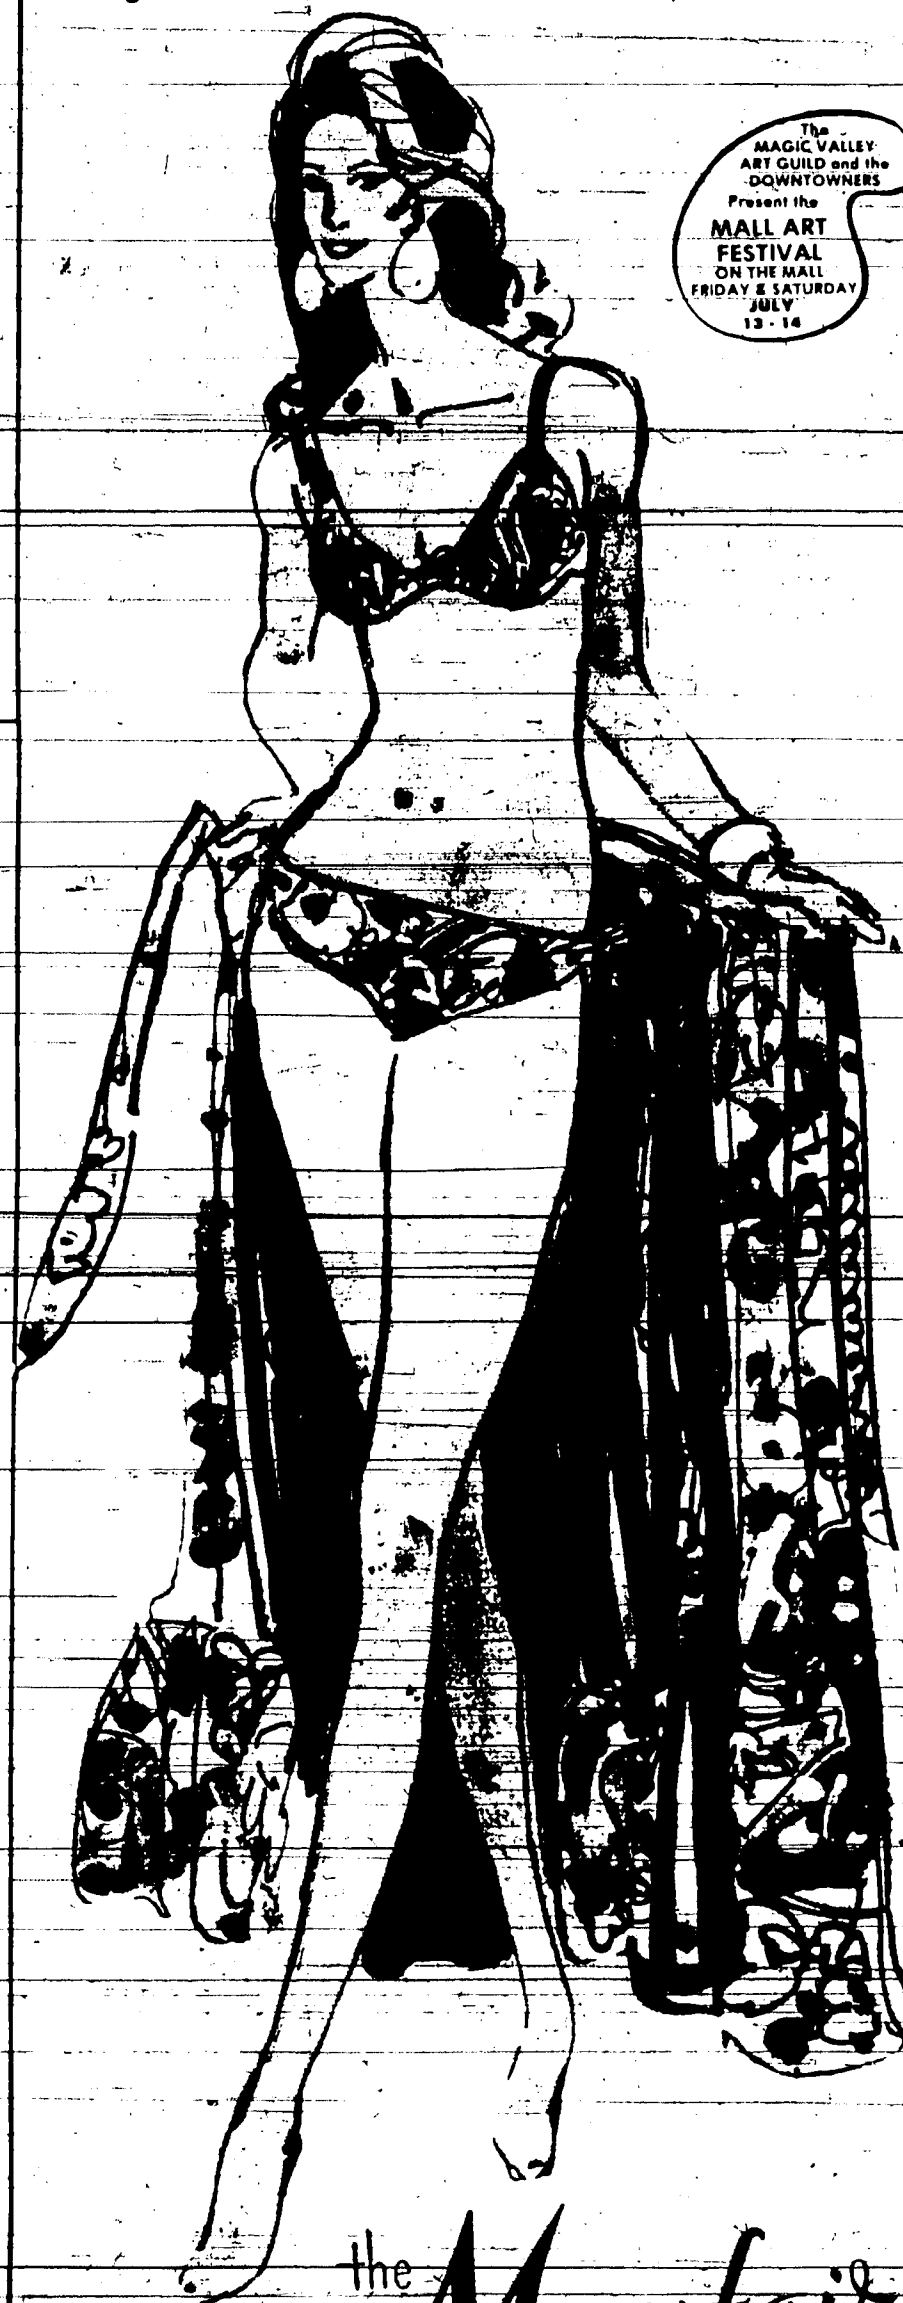

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Today's record food prices are really "deceptively low" and consumers will be shocked when the food industry finally passes on the increases it has been absorbing during the temporary price freeze, a leading industry executive has warned Congress. C. W. Cook, chairman of General Foods Corp., in a wire sent to all members of Congress July 3 and made public yesterday, warned the lawmakers not to be misled by rosy hopes growing out of Agriculture Department reports this week that farm production may set new records this year. Cook said that because of past and present control systems, current retail food prices are based on raw farm product prices far below the actual current cost of raw products. "When sharp commodity price increases are reflected at retail, as ultimately they must be, the resultant rise in food costs is certain to shock consumers. Even excellent crop prospects this year will not be sufficient to curb this spiral significantly," Cook warned. "For these reasons, food prices are destined to rise sharply this year regardless of provisions for control that may be incorporated in Phase IV regulations. We believe the consuming public should be made aware of this distasteful prospect now because we fear many consumers expect food prices to hold steady or possibly decline once new crop estimates are in," Cook said. President Nixon met for two hours with his cabinet Wednesday on plans for a Phase IV anti-inflation program to follow the temporary freeze. A spokesman said the new plan will be announced "relatively soon," although no final decisions have yet been made on it.

Florida takes treasure

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — The state of Florida has taken custody of the first portion of a $400 million treasure found aboard a sunken Spanish galleon. But for the treasure hunters, the first haul means only that they're banking about even. Mel Fisher, president of Treasure Salvors, the firm which made the find Monday, estimates his company's search for the wreck of the Nuestra Senora de Atocha which went down in 1622 has cost $700,000. One blackened silver bar and over 700 gold coins have an estimated value of about three-quarters of a million dollars. But Fisher and his colleagues hope the first load will be followed by salvage of more than 47 tons of silver and 27 tons of gold aboard the galleon when it was lost in a hurricane. The salvage operation today officially went under the Florida Department of Archives, History and Record Management to insure the state's 25 percent cut of the treasure, as proscribed by state law. The first load of treasure has been stored in a Key West bank vault under armed guard, and the state says it will stay there until claims are processed. The exact value of such a load of fine silver and gold coins on today's inflated market is unknown, but estimates have mostly been at the $400 million figure, with some as high as $600 million. If the entire shipment of silver, or a substantial part of it, is recovered, then Treasure Salvors will have accomplished what searchers have not been able to do for over three centuries.

Feds probe CSI

According to the federal auditors, the current probe will be limited to use by the college of student aid funds, and is not expected to involve use of other federal funds granted the college.

Sill said the auditors will expand their efforts to "look at the management systems employed in running the entire (student-aid) program."

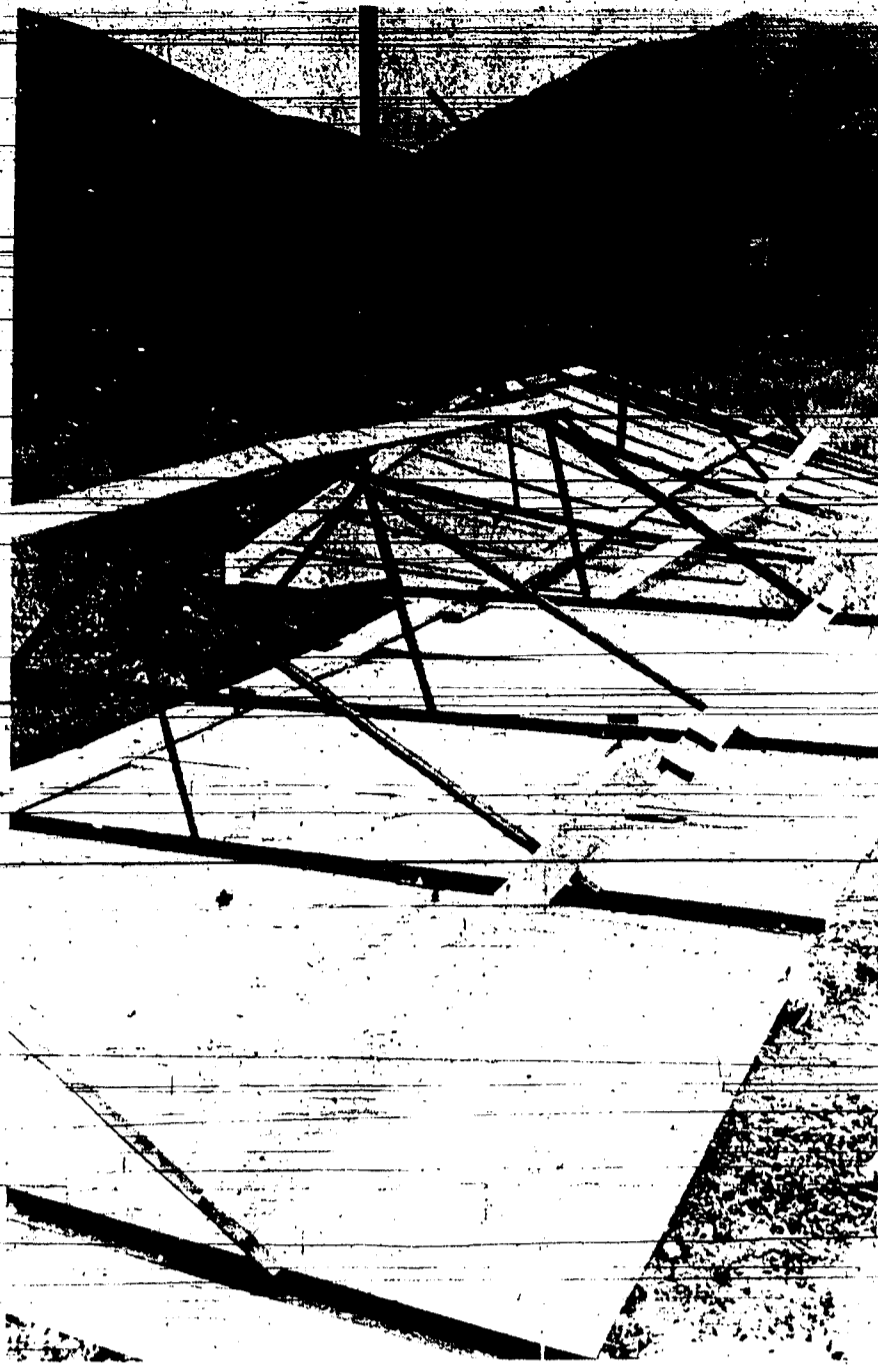

The purpose, he said, "is to ascertain the degree of accountability of a federal program that the objectives of the program are being achieved."

"Basically, what you're saying is you're looking at program results."

The auditors will be checking such areas as eligibility for programs, keeping track of students' whereabouts to make collections on loans, then how the students were utilized in the work-study programs, time and attendance controls utilized — stuff like that."

Sill said this is the first such management audit conducted by his staff at any educational institution in Idaho. Routine audits ordinarily are conducted by college auditors, he said.

Sill said he had notified the Idaho legislative audit staff of the intensified audit at CSI. He said the state is not taking part in the current federal audit.

TF County zoners okay changes in ordinance

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The proposed county zoning ordinance will be revised to make housing subdivisions a conditional use in residential agricultural (RA) and residential medium (RM) zones.

County zoners approved the change Tuesday. The current draft of the new zoning law lists subdivisions as a "principal use" in RA and RM zones, virtually assuring approval of qualified housing developments.

The new conditional use classification will require public hearings before approval or denial of subdivision requests.

But the conditional use classification of subdivisions will not apply in RA and RM zones that are within one mile of municipalities, according to Ed Woods, county zoning administrator. Subdivisions will remain a "permitted use" within the one-mile area, Woods said.

L. James Koutnik, chairman of the Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Commission, indicated that the conditional use policy for subdivisions is the result of testimony at the zoners' work sessions, where agriculture spokesmen sought protection for prime farm land.

Koutnik said Tuesday the final draft of the new zoning ordinance should be completed "in mid-September."

Woods also said the planned public hearing concerning the ordinance, originally scheduled for Aug. 9, has been postponed indefinitely. He said alterations in the original draft of the law necessitated the delay.

Jerome sewer report made

JEROME — The Jerome Steering Committee and the City Planning Committee Tuesday night heard a report on the requirements of the city sewer system.

City engineer William Block reported to the committees that the Boise firm of Cornell, Howland, Hayes and Merryfield was retained by the Jerome City Council to conduct a comprehensive study of the Jerome sewer system and plant facilities.

Block said the firm is in its second week of testing the flow system and analyzing existing data on the sewer.

He said the Boise firm has requested the help of the city in drawing up planning limits and a land use plan for those limits. "Since the steering committee and city planning committee have been actively working on planning the proper development of Jerome, I felt these committees would be able to draw up these two requests," Block said.

"If you are going to plan an adequate sewer system, for now, and for the future, some guidelines and limits must be formed. It will be up to the committees to decide how much of our future needs the plant will be able to handle and set some limits as to how far the sewer will extend."

"It will also be up to the committees to decide what the land within the area designated will be used for. In other words, what areas will be residential, commercial and industrial as each poses a different problem for the sewer plant," Block said.

He said the plant does not need to be completed all at once to handle the possible needs of the community 20 years from now.

"But if we have some idea of what the possible usage of the plant will be in 10 or 20 years, it can be designed in a manner so additions can be made as the need arises," Block said.

He said it was the firm's belief that only the people in the community can properly project the growth and possible needs of the area. "Of course they don't expect us to be exact in our predictions, just furnish some guidelines," Block said.

He said the guidelines would have to be drawn up as soon as possible because the Boise firm is expected to complete its survey by the end of this year.

Tom Mahan, Jerome County Planning Commission chairman said his committees would be willing to help in the matter.

Following a discussion on the best approach to gathering the data it was agreed that each chairman would get together and pool the information already gathered on the proper planning of different areas in Jerome and the county.

Also attending the meeting was Dave Easton, Association of Idaho Cities representative, who offered his help. Easton said he would like to become involved in all the planning so that he could use Jerome as an example of what can be done if the people of the community want to get together and do it.

Art Bathburn, University of Idaho inter-service community resource development division, also offered assistance in the project, as did Dave Mitchell, Northside Soil Conservation District. Mitchell said his office is equipped with maps of the area which could be used to lay out the plans.

Hemingway donates land

RICHFIELD — Jack Hemingway, Ketchum, has become the first donor to the newly created Idaho Park Foundation with the gift of a 400-acre hunting and fishing area near Richfield.

Wednesday local press representatives toured the site, located eight miles northeast of Richfield, with Hemingway, foundation president Hope Kading, board members Ron Daly, Dick Vetter and Mrs. Barnee Erkins, and Idaho Parks and Recreation director Steven Bly.

Hemingway said, "The passage of the property into the hands of the Idaho Park Foundation will insure its preservation as a first rate fish and wildlife habitat for the people of Idaho and perpetuity."

Mrs. Kading termed the donation "a gift far exceeding the concept of monetary value. We are very pleased that the first gift to the foundation is one of the unique fishing and hunting areas in the state."

The deed of transfer calls for the recreation area to be named after the late Sun Valley area guide, Taylor "Bear Tracks" Williams. Williams was a hunting partner, guide and close friend of Ernest Hemingway, the donor's father.

The deed specifies that the area will be open to the public for hunting but limits fishing to fly fishing. The property includes frontage along the Little Wood River.

The site, formerly called the "Halfway Ranch," figured in a $500,000 libel suit brought by Jack Hemingway against the Wood River Journal. The case is presently pending in the Idaho Supreme Court.

The Idaho Park Foundation was founded in 1972 with the purpose of preserving natural areas and to cooperate with cities, counties, recreation districts and the state to provide the public with recreational opportunities.

Woman injured

TWIN FALLS — One woman suffered minor injuries in a three-car accident Wednesday afternoon at the intersection of Second Avenue North and Second Street North.

City police reported Mrs. Clarice L. Hendrix, 68, Twin Falls, was treated for minor injuries after her vehicle collided with one driven by Betty Thieman, 30, Twin Falls. The accident occurred at 3:15 p.m.

Officers said Mrs. Thieman was traveling west on Second Avenue North, a through street, when Mrs. Hendrix pulled across the street without seeing the Thieman car.

Following the collision, the Hendrix vehicle was whipped around facing west and collided with a parked automobile owned by Dennis Gilbert, Twin Falls.

Damage was listed at $1,000 to the Thieman car, $1,100 to the Hendrix car and $350 to the Gilbert vehicle.

Students learn by outings

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News writer

RUPERT — About 50 migrant students took their classroom to the mountains south of Albion Wednesday.

The grade school students made the final field trip of the annual six-week session held at East Minico Junior High School under direction of Gene Snapp, Minidoka County elementary school principal.

The classes began in 1968 financed by Title I funds designated for migrant programs. Area migrant students from ages 5 to 12 attend the sessions.

The program is organized to help students function in a community and to accept responsibility and take pride in a community," Snapp said.

During the session the children are taught English and reading along with writing and arithmetic. The program emphasizes citizenship, Snapp said, in showing respect for others and respect for the communities they live in.

There are four classrooms used, one for team teaching. The youngsters are divided according to age groups under the direction of six teachers and six aides.

Along with traditional subjects, Snapp said, an art and music program is provided for all students. Shop is taught older students.

During the session, field trips are taken nearly every week. The theme of the excursions is Idaho history, Snapp said, but the emphasis this year is on geology.

"We want the students to know something of the Migrant students have fun in the snow community they're in," Snapp said.

Last year the program had about 110 students. This year about 90 are enrolled.

The number of students enrolled fluctuates during the program as families move in and out of the area. Mrs. Angelica Jensen, teacher with the program for two years, said her class went from 9 to 22 pupils this session.

A migrant day care center in Burley this year has helped alleviate the problem facing older students who must babysit, Snapp said.

Buses are provided to bring the children to the summer session.

Wednesday the students went to Thompson Flats. The group hiked to Lake Cleveland for lunch. Then went to Mt. Harrison where they viewed the valley and spent some wet, muddy time sliding down a nearby snowy slope.

The younger students then returned to the school, while about 17 of the older ones prepared camp for an overnight stay.

During the session this summer the youngsters have visited Craters of the Moon, Crystal Ice Caves, American Falls, City of Rocks, a game farm in Jerome and the Shoshone Falls.

Snapp said the students usually receive praise for their diligence in keeping the areas they visit clean. "We are usually invited back wherever we have been," Snapp said.

Most students return to Texas in the fall, Snapp said, where school programs are offered to provide them with a continuing educational program.

"Moving around all year," Mrs. Jensen said, "they miss a lot of things. Some of them don't even know the alphabet."

Mrs. Jensen said many of the migrant students return to the summer session every year.

Mrs. Larson said elimination of self-service had not cut back on gasoline sales "that much."

Her husband, Neil Larson, who manages the station, said, "The problem we were having — we had eight stations (mostly independents) around us out of gas, and this just created too much drain. All the majors have taken self-service islands out. We didn't take it down because of the price freeze. It was just a matter of gallonage."

Jerry Clark, co-owner of Larry and Jerry's Lynwood Union 76 Service, said the price freeze had nothing to do with closing down his self-service pumps. He said it was a matter of conserving limited supplies of gasoline. He said it had cut back "some" on his gasoline sales.

"We've got a gas shortage just like everybody else," Clark said, noting that the station is on a 90 per cent allocation.

He said he did not think he was making more money by eliminating the self-service. "There's no way in the world to make up the money if you can only sell so much gas," Clark said.

While most branded dealers have already done away with self-service, some have not.

Neil Grisham, manager of Neil's Phillips 66 Service, has kept his self-service island in operation so he can devote more time to service work.

Grisham's self-service prices are 38.9 for regular and 41.9 for premium, compared to 41.9 and 44.9 for full-service gas.

Grisham said he is willing to take the three-cent per gallon loss in order to spend more time with tubes, oil changes and other work, but he said he may eliminate the self-service if a gasoline price rollback now being considered under Phase IV of President Nixon's economic program becomes effective.

For now, Grisham, who works mostly by himself, continues to pay the price for self-service. "I spend really too much time out there (at the pumps) even as it is," he said.

Admiral Netz, manager of Admiral's American Service, has two pumps remaining in self-service, but Netz said he may close down his whole station in another month.

"I can't make money on it," said Netz. "Business is bad and there's not enough gas."

Like most operators, Netz said his profits per gallon are about the same as last year's, despite the increase in price.

He said he makes about six cents per gallon on self-service and eight cents on full service.

While some station operators admit they are now making more per gallon than they did last year, they say that inflation has eaten any additional profit.

"The price of everything else goes up too so actually you don't make any more," said Howard Nielsen, manager of Howard's Conoco. Nielsen said he makes six-and-one-half to seven cents on a gallon of gasoline. He said he has never had self-service.

Missing camper search in vain

STANLEY — Search for a possible missing camper whose abandoned camp was found early this week in the White Cloud area was reported as fruitless today.

Carl Ellis, deputy sheriff of Custer County in the Stanley area, said he could not release any details of the search or the possible missing camper for a day or two when he has had time to make a report and clear it with his sheriff.

The sheriff's office in Challis confirmed the finding of a deserted camp by two hikers earlier in the week and a search of the surrounding area Wednesday. Officers said the camp contained personal effects of the camper which would indicate he might have met with an accident or foul play.

The camp, which had been in a deserted condition throughout the winter, was located 12 miles from US Highway 93 in the White Clouds. Forest service officials said they were cooperating with the law enforcement officers in the search and that further attempts to determine the fate of the camper would be made.

An unconfirmed report indicated the identity of the camper had been established and he had not been heard from by relatives since last August.

The Custer County sheriff said he did not know the identity of the missing camper and if the identity had been established he was unaware of it.

New fish screen built to save more salmon

A new type of fish screen, capable of handling 150 cubic feet of water per second, was installed recently on a large irrigation canal near Challis by the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

Within the next five years, 75 or 80 electric drive rotary drum screens will be installed as replacements for existing louver and plate type screens. The new screens are adaptable only where electric power is available on-site, and where the water flow through canals is fairly deep and slow.

Yanks outlast White Sox 2-1

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sparky Lyle halted a Chicago uprising in the ninth inning Wednesday to preserve a 2-1 victory over the White Sox for Fritz Peterson and move the New York Yankees back into first place in the American League's Eastern Division.

Lyle relieved Peterson with none out and runners on first and second in the ninth after Ed Herrmann was hit by a pitched ball and Pat Kelly singled.

Scoreboard table for Yankees vs White Sox. Yankees 2, White Sox 1.

Home runs lead Tigers by Texas

DETROIT (UPI) — Jim Northrup, given a rare opportunity to hit against left-handed pitching, responded with two home runs and eight RBI Wednesday night to pace the Detroit Tigers past the Texas Rangers, 14-2.

Northrup's performance enabled him to score the 500th run and knock in the 500th of his career in the same game.

Baltimore rips California 7-1

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Tommy Davis ripped three singles to score two runs and Boog Powell cracked a two-run homer as the Baltimore Orioles defeated Nolan Ryan and the California Angels 7-1 Wednesday night.

Ryan struck out 11 Orioles to run his league leading total to 203, only to see his record drop to 10-11, while Mike Cuellar 5-9, upped his career record over the Angels to 9-3 with a 10-hitter.

In 1938, the United States Congress authorized a program designed to help perpetuate and increase salmon and steelhead production in the Columbia River drainage. The program was activated in 1948 with the states of Oregon and Washington participating.

Prior to 1956, it was known as the Lower Columbia River Fishery Development Program and was limited to the Columbia River below McNary Dam. In 1956, the program was extended above McNary Dam and Idaho became a participant.

The original plan was to use a perforated plate type screen, previously developed in California, and modify it to Idaho's needs. The mechanical and structural design was ready in the spring of 1958.

Jerry Mallet, fishery research supervisor, says that Idaho's fish screens are maintained on streams that produce about one-half the annual Salmon River smolt production, adding that the savings of juvenile chinook and steelhead produced by the screening program may exceed one million fish a year.

Brewers drop KC 8-1

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Darrell Porter drove in four runs, three with his 10th home run, and Eduardo Rodriguez pitched a five-hitter to lead the Milwaukee Brewers to an easy 8-1 win over the Kansas City Royals Wednesday night.

Porter's homer came in the second after John Briggs and George Scott opened the inning with walks. He also walked in the third with the bases loaded for his fourth run batted in.

of malfunction, according to Jack Fisher, chief of the Engineering Division of the Idaho Fish and Game Department. A large amount of debris usually carried by streams in the Salmon drainage is one cause of breakdown.

A hinged gate at one end of the screen structure trips under a differential head between upstream and downstream sides of the screen. The trip device is a spring loaded roller that can be preset to trip the gate at any desired loading.

"The delivery of water to farmers is of primary importance," he stresses. "When the screen becomes plugged, the trip gate provides the necessary protection to ensure that irrigation water is not restricted."

Hunter sparks A's by Indians

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Jim "Catfish" Hunter tossed a four-hitter in winning his ninth straight game and Sal Bando belted his 17th homer of the season Wednesday to spark the Oakland A's to a 9-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Hunter, who hasn't been beaten since May 29, struck out eight, walked only one and was tagged for a solo homer by Jack Brohamer and a two-run homer by George Hendrick on the way to his 14th victory against three losses.

is held by a trashrack located just upstream from the screen. Clear opening on the trashracks is six inches and they are fabricated from one-half inch diameter reinforcing steel or thin wall conduit.

Fisher comments that screen maintenance is minimal. Normally one man can service about 50 screens. This includes visits to each screen at least every other day and on more troublesome screens, everyday.

Blyleven throws Twins by Boston

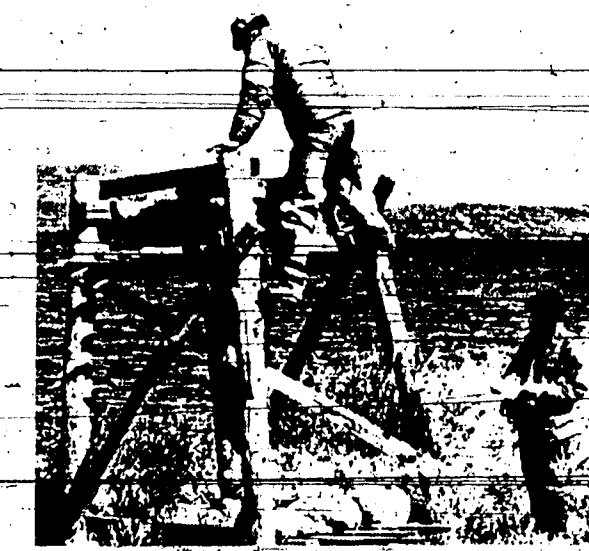

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Bert Blyleven pitched his seventh shutout of the season, blanking Boston on six hits, and Tony Oliva hit a two-run double as the Minnesota Twins snapped a three-game losing streak in beating the Red Sox 3-0 Wednesday.

Blyleven, who leads the American League in shutouts, struck out five batters and walked one in stretching his record to 12-8. He didn't allow a Red Sox runner past second base.

Egg information

FIELD PERSONNEL EXAMINE goose eggs on nesting platform at Blackfoot Reservoir. Production information is gathered annually on selected areas to determine fall flight forecasts. This year there have been problem areas that reduced nesting habitat and hatching success because of low water conditions. Areas that normally are islands were "dried up" and joined to the mainland. Consequently, geese that traditionally nested on these sites spent their spring on the shoreline and watched the nesting season pass.

Variable season set for chinook

The Idaho Fish and Game Department urged salmon anglers to study chinook salmon regulations carefully because of variable season closing dates which began June 30 on the Clearwater River and ends July 31 when the chinook salmon season ends on the entire Salmon River drainage.

July 15 is the closing date on Redfish Lake Creek, Redfish Lake; Salmon River and tributaries, including lakes, from the mouth of Redfish Lake Creek upstream to Hell Roaring Creek; Valley Creek from Stanley Lake downstream; Camas Creek, from mouth of Silver Creek to the mouth of Yellow Jacket Creek; and Loon Creek from the mouth of Mayfield Creek upstream, including Mayfield Creek.

Anglers are reminded that they must have in possession a valid 1973 anadromous salmon permit card when fishing for this species, and must record the month, date, stream and stream section immediately after reducing a fish to possession.

Access to most high mountain lakes is open, whether by road or trail, and most lakes are ice-free and fishable throughout the state. But a very high elevations, heavy snowfall can come at any time — and sometimes does — in July and August.

Anglers heading for alpine lakes are urged to take plenty of food, clothing, bedding and mosquito repellent. Heavy boots should be broken-in and comfortable, and first-aid kits are good insurance.

$100,000 Riggs, King match set

NEW YORK (UPI) — Brash Bobby Riggs sized up the tough little lady he'll play in the $100,000 winner-take-all tennis match of the century, shook his head negatively during their first face-to-face confrontation Wednesday and muttered: "Man is king, not Billie Jean King."

With that, Riggs, 55, dismissed the challenge of the 29-year-old Mrs. King, arch-priestess of the Women's Lib movement who has just returned in triumph from London where she won her fifth Wimbledon title Saturday.

"What I did to Margaret (Court) I can do to Billie Jean," Riggs said. "It makes no difference that she is 26 years younger than I am. A good male player, whatever his age, will always beat a lady."

Riggs, hustler extraordinaire, beat Mrs. Court 6-2, 6-1 in a $10,000 nationally televised match May 13 to set in motion a series of sporting events featuring middle aged men against women champions in all manner of sports.

The date and site of the match have yet to be fixed, but promoter Jerry Perenchio, the man who put on "The Fight of the Century" between Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier in March of 1971, said he thought the match would be held sometime in September.

Riggs has been trying to get Mrs. King on court for nearly three years but she never previously answered the call and it was left to Australia's Mrs. Court to carry the banner originally for the women.

Billie Jean said she finally accepted the challenge because "the money is right this time and, more important, I have a cause."

Margaret opened the door but she did a lousy job. I felt irritated when I read the score while playing in Hawaii. She plays for money, but I have a cause: for women to gain an equal share of purse money with the men. We are just as entertaining.

Billie Jean said there was "no way" Riggs could psyche her the way he had Mrs. Court. "I thrive on pressure. I think I've proved that. Each time the press writes me off as finished I go and win something big."

Mrs. King drew a big laugh when she said: "Anyway, I won't need 437 vitamin pills to boost me," in reference to Riggs' daily pill in-take before his match with Mrs. Court.

Riggs, who said the idea of playing for $100,000 appealed to his gambling instinct, added he has always wanted to play Mrs. King "because she is the leader of the Women's Lib movement."

"I want to put the ladies down. Women should be home looking after the baby and hubby. They should get the slippers out to greet the male of the household; get his pipe and make with that kissing stuff."

Mrs. King said that instead of Riggs acting like a male chauvinist he should give thanks to the women's tour. "He's never had it so good. Now he even wants to shave his legs, put on a skirt, and come play with us," she said.

Riggs insisted Mrs. King would get just as nervous as did Mrs. Court, but Billie Jean insisted: "I'll let him hustle off the court and I'll hustle on it."

Perenchio said it was not certain the match would be shown on national television. "They paid something in the region of $60,000 for Wimbledon. That's ridiculous. I would expect the same they spend on making a John Wayne special," he said.

Perenchio said if the networks did not come up with an acceptable offer he would sell the match to cable television. He did not rule out Mrs. King's home club at Hilton Head, S.C. as a possible venue, but said places like Madison Square Garden and arenas in Los Angeles, Las Vegas, Houston and other cities all were in the running.

"We want an arena which can hold a good sized crowd because there will be a lot of interest in this match," he said.

Battle of sexes set

WIMBLEDON tennis champ Billie Jean King tactfully lowers the net so that 55 year old Bobby Riggs can easily clear it, as the two met Wednesday at an East side tennis club in New York to settle an agreement to play in a $100,000 winner take all tennis match.

Big Sky baseball All-Stars named

BOISE (UPI) — Gonzaga placed seven men on the Northern Squad and Weber State four on the Southern Squad of the Big Sky Conference baseball All-Star teams for this past season, it was reported Wednesday.

Giants HR past Chicago Cubs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ed Goodson's second homer of the game, a two-run drive, and Gary Matthews' bases-empty blast were the key hits during a five-run seventh inning rally Wednesday that carried the San Francisco Giants to a 7-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Paul Popovich's sacrifice fly in the top of the seventh tied the score at 2-2 and the Giants then touched reliever Dave LaRoche for four hits, a walk, a sacrifice fly and a wild pitch to score five times in the bottom of the inning.

Houston drops New York 7-1

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lee May hit a two-run homer and Skip Jitze drove in two runs with three singles Wednesday to give the Houston Astros a 7-1 victory over the New York Mets behind the 10-hit pitching of Dave Roberts.

The Astros tagged Jerry Koosman for five singles in the second inning by Bob Watson, Doug Rader, Tommy Helms, Jutze and Tommie Agee to take a 3-0 lead.

High jump world record set

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — Dwight Stones, a 19-year-old Munich Olympic bronze medalist from Los Angeles, soared seven feet, 6 1/2 inches in his third attempt Wednesday night to set a world high jump record.

Using the flop technique, Stones bettered Pat Matzdorf's July 7, 1971 record by 1/2 inch and sent the crowd of 25,000 to its feet.

Stones' record highlighted the first night of the West Germany-United States track and field meet at the Olympic stadium.

After the first night of competition, the U.S. male athletes took a 60-46 lead over West Germany while the American women trailed their German counterparts 40-33.

Don Sutton improved his record to 11-3 on a six-hitter while Gibson, who was removed for a pinch-hitter in the seventh, was tagged with his ninth defeat against eight wins. Sutton struck out 11 to take over the National League strikeout lead with 120.

Stones went on a wild sprint around the stadium with the fans giving him a standing ovation.

Earlier, the Americans had opened their scoring when Jim Bolding won the 400 meter hurdles and sprinter Steve Williams took the 100 meter dash.

Cincinnati wins on unearned runs

MONTREAL (UPI) — Hal Breden, whose two errors in the contest contributed to two unearned Cincinnati runs, singled home the winning run in the seventh inning Wednesday night as the Montreal Expos defeated the Reds 4-3.

The game was tied 2-2 going into the seventh inning when Pepe Frias led off with a triple.

LA drops Cardinals

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Willie Davis hit a two-run homer off Bob Gibson with one out in the first inning Wednesday night and the Los Angeles Dodgers went on to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1.

Don Sutton improved his record to 11-3 on a six-hitter while Gibson, who was removed for a pinch-hitter in the seventh, was tagged with his ninth defeat against eight wins. Sutton struck out 11 to take over the National League strikeout lead with 120.

Stargell bats Pirates by SD

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Willie Stargell cracked the 302nd home run of his career to set a Pittsburgh club record as the Pirates turned back the San Diego Padres 10-2 Wednesday night.

Stargell's fifth inning blast with the bases empty was his 25th this year and his 12-year career figure wiped out Ralph Kiner's mark of 301 set over a period of seven seasons with Pittsburgh.

Kiner wound up his career in the American League with a lifetime total of 369.

Aaron returns as Braves lose

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Hank Aaron returned to the Atlanta Braves' lineup Wednesday night and contributed a double and two singles in five at bats to their attack in a 6-5 loss to the Philadelphia Phillies.

Aaron lost ground in his bid to set a new career mark of 715 homers, however, when his season total remained at 23 for Atlanta's 91 games.

Weiskopf fires 68, takes British lead

TRON, Scotland (UPI) — Tom Weiskopf, playing with the style and confidence that has won him three tournaments in seven weeks, fired a four-under-par 68 when the wind dropped on the Troon Old Course today to take an opening round one stroke lead over Jack Nicklaus and Bert Yancey in the $125,000 British Open.

But for a bogey on the 18th hole when he hooked his tee shot into the rough, the 30-year-old pro from Columbus, Ohio, would have equalled Arnold Palmer's record of when the Open was last here 11 years ago.

Weiskopf birdied the second, third and fifth to take the front nine of the windswept 7,064 yard course in 33. He was one of only three players in the 153-strong field to break par on the homeward nine when a swirling wind which had spread, eagled the field eased off in the evening. Yancey blazed along the first nine in 30 but then ran into that headwind which cost him a double bogey at the 11th and had to hang on grimly for his 69.

Nicklaus, describing the homeward stretch as "where the real golf begins," came through it in par to remain the 9-4 favorite to clinch his record 14th major championship.

"I needed a round like that today to really get me going," said Weiskopf, who recently won the Colonial National, Kemper Open and Philadelphia Classic titles. "I just hope it stays with me."

"It is a funny course for me. I can't say I like it or dislike it. I can't always figure out where to go or what shot to play," said Weiskopf.

"I just don't even know now what type of game to play. Maybe you should dislike a course just a little — it makes it an extra challenge," he said. Weiskopf began his round in a depressed state of mind, he said. "I just could not get interested and was very dispirited."

Johnny Miller, the U.S. Open champion, with "one of the best ball striking rounds I have ever played," came in with a 15-35 to finish alone on 70 two shots off the pace.

Lanny Wadkins, winner of the Byron Nelson Classic, shot a steady 35-38 for a 71 where he was joined by Australia's Bruce Crampton, leading money winner on the U.S. PGA circuit, and Britons Neil-Coles, Peter Butler and Peter Wilcock.

Arnold Palmer and Chi Chi Rodriguez headed a six-way tie on 72 with the 1967 champion Robert de Vicenzo of Argentina, Australia's Bruce Devlin, South Africa's Vincent Baker, and British amateur David Russell, who was one of two players to ace the 126-yard eighth.

The other was 71-year-old Gene Sarazen, returning to Troon for the first time in exactly 50 years. It was sweet revenge for the former U.S. Open champion, who that year returned home humiliated after failing to qualify.

"The thrilling part about it," said Sarazen, "was that it was the first in 40 years."

Lee Trevino, the defending champion, saw his chances of a third straight title recede when he bore the brunt of the morning wind to card 35-40 for a 75.

"If that wind doesn't change," said a subdued Trevino, "I've no chance because I can't use my low ball and that is what I came here to play."

CROWN OF concentration erupts into hallelujah victory grin as Jack Nicklaus chips out of bunker and winds up in hole for a birdie four on the 16th green during British Open at Troon, Scotland. He ended first round with a three under par 69. (UPI)

Blasted birdie

Miller looked to 10th

TRON, Scotland (UPI) — When U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller stepped onto the first tee in the British Open today his thoughts were further down the line — to the 10th hole.

"I knew that along the back nine that golf had to be played," said Miller, whose blistering first round of 63 at Oakmont, Pa., a month ago brought him the U.S. crown.

"I was primed for the back nine all day and that was probably why I played so well," said Miller after finishing 2 under par 70.

"In fact, I consider this was one of the best ball striking rounds I have ever played. Not on every hole do you have a flatline like you do in the States. I was very pleased with the way I was hitting today."

Miller said he was particularly pleased with his performance at the 481-yard par 5 11th where he birdied.

"I was on the green in two and I don't think many guys were doing that today," said Miller. It was on the 11th that Bert Yancey lost his chance to go clear of the field, taking a two over par seven.

Miller said he thought stamina would play a major role in the tourney.

"If the wind keeps blowing like this it's just going to wear everybody out by the fourth round," he said. "It could have been a better round for me but I'm very pleased with it."

"If I could play like today I'd win it," he laughed. "But then I know I'm not going to keep this up for four rounds."

"I feel everybody is going to have one bad round unless they have a real hot putter," he said.

Blaine panel accepts bid

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News Writer

HAILEY — The Blaine County Commission Tuesday accepted a low bid of $40,500 on a used motor grader.

The G-K Machinery Co., Poetello, bid was selected from three other bids submitted Monday to the commission. The grader, which was "re-modified" to meet 1973 standards, includes a V plow and wing.

In other action, the commissioners:

- Approved a proposal by the US Forest Service to establish a program through the Blaine County Sheriff's Department to patrol forest roads and campgrounds during the summer season.
- Meeting with the commissioners to discuss the program were Sheriff Orville Drexler, Jerry Green, Wood River zone manager for the Sawtooth National Recreation Area (SNRA), and Gilbert

Farr, district ranger for the Ketchum Ranger District.

Green said that through the newly enacted cooperative law enforcement bill about 100 percent federal funding will be available for the program.

Farr said the program will meet the need for added law enforcement because of the greatly increased number of visitors to national forest land and was designed to stem vandalism and theft.

The patrolling program, he said, would encompass national forest lands from Hailey north, including the Alturas and Pettit Lake areas.

Farr said that he and Green will work with Drexler to estimate budget needs and will submit the plan to federal authorities to determine funding availability.

Agreed at the request of state Rep. E. V. McHan, R-Ketchum, to send letters to Idaho congressional délegation, district representatives and Gov. Cecil D. Andrus to protest the lack of a grandfather clause in the SNRA legislation.

McHan termed the lack of such a clause a "dastardly situation" and said it was "very unfair" to the private land owners within the SNRA. The state representative requested that the commissioners "take a real strong stand" on the matter.

Agreed to send a letter to McHan, opposing Blaine County assessor Del Nicholson's valuation of McHan's about 15 acre property located about four miles south of Ketchum.

McHan maintains that the acreage, excluding his residence, should be classified as dry grazing land. The land is presently classified and assessed on the basis of "other rural lands."

"I am not using the land as a subdivision, but yet you are charging me subdivision prices," McHan told the commissioners.

McHan said "there are many other people in the same boat" and said "you are going to force everyone in this county to subsidize."

Nicholson said he was required by state law to assess land on the basis of market value. If the taxes were rolled back on McHan's property, he said, about an additional 10,000 acres within the county would have to be put back into farm land.

McHan told the commissioners that he would oppose the valuation to the state tax authorities and the courts. He also protested the higher evaluation of about 5.8 acres of his property along US highway 93.

"You are reading into market value of ground its highest possible potential," he said.

Met with Sally Donart, chairman of the board for the Other Side of Time group home for pre-delinquent boys, the organization's new house parents Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Morgan, and Robert Schelske, youth rehabilitation counselor.

The commissioners had earlier agreed that the county would act as fiscal agent for the organization toward its application for a law enforcement planning commission grant.

Mrs. Donart told the commissioners that the organization had obtained a lease on a house located adjacent to state highway 58, south of Bellevue.

The new house parents, replacing Mr. and Mrs. Randy Stare who returned to college, formerly worked at the Idaho Youth Ranch for about nine months.

Morgan said that he has worked with delinquent youth for about 10 years and that he and his wife had raised 17 foster children.

Driver says air bag saves life

DETROIT, UPI — John R. Beauchamp is convinced the experimental air bag system in his car saved him from serious injury when he slammed into a parked automobile at almost 25 miles an hour.

Beauchamp received only minor facial abrasions as he pitched forward into the inflated cushion—the 10th time in more than 26 million miles of testing that the system has worked in an accident.

Beauchamp, 34, of suburban Lavonia, said he "kind of dozed" as he entered a West Side Detroit intersection Monday night, lost control of the car and then into the parked auto. He was driving one of 1,000 cars equipped by GM and then leased to several corporations to test under actual conditions.

An infrequent user of seat belts in his wife's car, Beauchamp said he is convinced the air bag system is useful because it requires no action by either the driver or front seat passengers. Unless the timetable is delayed, all 1976-model cars will be equipped with such a passive restraint system.

FAMILY CIRCUS

"If you really like the picture I drew, Grandma, how come you hung it inside your closet door?"

GASOLINE ALLEY

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Most business managers agree it's the female employees who's most likely to start trouble in an office. Still, they say they'd prefer a majority of girls in their employ rather than an all-male staff. Although the young ladies create some tension, said tension tends to make everybody work harder, particularly the men, they believe. Fascinatingly factual.

The old plantation bosses down in Trinidad prohibited their slaves from talking in the fields. So said slaves sang to one another in a French-Creole dialect called patois. That's how calypso got started, says our Language man.

Any chicken inspector worthy of the title can tell whether a hen will lay white eggs or brown eggs just by looking at said hen's earlobes. Brown earlobes lay white eggs. White earlobes lay brown eggs. White: white.

Approximately three weeks' salary that and no more is how much the bridegroom-to-be should budget for his girlfriend's diamond engagement ring, according to some expert opinion.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS

Q: What's the difference between fishing and angling?
A: Technically you fish for food and angle for fun. Or so say the pundits.

Q: Is there any animal that can run backward as fast as forward?
A: Understand the gopher can. Know of none other offhand.

Q: What proportion of the typical lady doctor's patients are men?
A: Maybe three out of 10.

Am also asked the whereabouts of the longest paved highway in the world. That would be the 5,000-mile stretch across Canada. Incidentally, it's lined with picnic sites every 50 miles and supervised campgrounds just about every 100 miles.

LOVE AND WAR

In a study of wives married to men who earn more than $100,000 a year, researchers found that 93 out of 100 such ladies were still married to their first husbands. Fairly high figure. Still, our Love and War man says he's not surprised. Lack of money leads to most matrimonial breakups. It's a relatively rare woman who can't get along with an old boy who brings home about $2,000 a week, dare say.

Originally that rural trick of taming a rambunctious cow by tying her neck to neck with a docile cow was known in the vernacular as "necking" but you don't hear it used that way much anymore, oddly.

Some business experts insist their studies prove that less than 5 percent of all the papers filed by most companies aren't worth keeping.

It's a statistical fact that drivers in that age group with the best safety record are those over 65 years old.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JULY 13, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when your keyword should be "organization" of whatever you need to put in perfect working order. You are able to expand in areas that are important to you. A full-moon stimulates much activity. Avoid any arguments.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have to be diplomatic with higher-ups today, otherwise you could have serious setbacks where career matters are concerned. Don't forget to pay an important bill. Seek good advice.

TAUROS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have responsibilities to take before planning a trip. Try not to fall for a charmer's plan and save yourself trouble and expense. Show that you have willpower. Consult the right people.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make sure you keep promises you have made. Show that you understand your business very well. Loved one could be in a bad mood, but use fact and all is fine. Sidestep an annoying troublemaker.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Have little to do with associates today, since they are in an irate mood. One in public life could oppose you now, but take it in stride. Don't take any risks. Think in a happier vein.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Although you are late at having so much work to do, keep busy and you can gain the benefits you seek. Health treatments can improve your appearance now. Show devotion to mate.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make plans for inexpensive pleasure now and have more fun because you know you can afford it. Look into a new outlet that could be profitable in the future. Improve on your credit.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) There could be a serious argument at home now if you are not careful so use tact. Keep busy making necessary repairs. Not a good day to start an uptrend toward greater success.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make sure that you use much care in motion and don't be belligerent with officers of the law or you could get into trouble. An ally should be treated with understanding at this time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Use more honest methods instead of trying to force your way into whatever you want, which would not be appreciated by others. Show others that you like them and add to happiness.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You may be bitter to a good friend you feel has been disloyal, but this is not the case, so cool it. Dress well and engage in more social activity. Show more appreciation to associates.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't think that others are imposing upon you. Keep busy by attending to the tasks ahead of you with enthusiasm. Use your finest judgment now, since your intuition is not working well.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A friend appears depressed, but this is because there are problematical matters you have no control over. Not a good day for attending group affairs. Make long-range plans for the future.

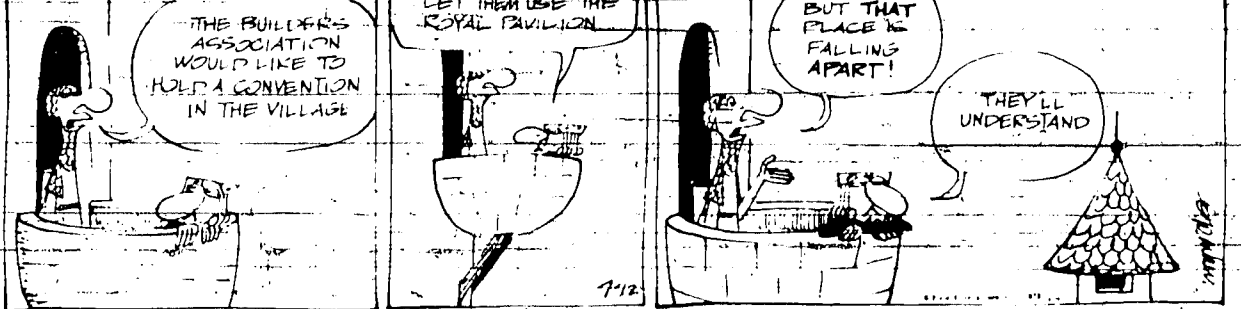

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be a born organizer and would do well in such fields as real estate, business, merchandizing and the like. Teach early to be a good listener, otherwise your progeny could talk away many of the fine opportunities that are in this chart. Give spiritual training early in life. Don't force sports on this youngster.

"The stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU.

72 HOUR CONTINUATION

JULY 12-13-14
Thurs. Fri. Sat.

THIS SALE ON ALL DODGE AND CHRYSLER AUTOMOBILES ONLY!!!

NEED FINANCING?

Should you need assistance with financing or insurance on your new car or truck, you will then meet with our Finance Manager and insure the financing.

IT MAKES SENSE TO BUY YOUR CAR NOW WHERE WE DON'T FORGET YOU AFTER THE SALE! YOU CAN DEPEND ON IT!

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS

- You browse through 2 acres of cars, and with the assistance of one of our courteous salesmen select the model color and equipment of your choice.
- That's all the salesman will do. From there you will meet with the sales manager and he will furnish you with our cost on that particular new car.
- You will then figure your own deal by adding to dealer cost, a service and handling charge of $60 plus 5% profit for the dealership.
- Should you have a car to trade in you will deduct the actual cash value less reconditioning expenses from the previous dollar amount you figure mutually acceptable to you and the dealership.

DO YOU HAVE 5 MINUTES...

to learn about THE BIGGEST GAS WAR IN HISTORY?

DOES IT SEEM TO YOU THAT MAJOR OIL COMPANIES HAVE EVERYTHING TO GAIN AND NOTHING TO LOSE?

1. IT COULD FORCE HIGHER PRICES AND PROFITS.
2. THEY COULD GET HIGHER DEPLETION ALLOWANCES.
3. THEY MIGHT GET MORE EXPLORATION TAX CREDITS.
4. THEY WANT MORE OFF-SHORE DRILLING PRIVILEGES.
5. THEIR PROPAGANDA COULD FORCE THE ALASKA PIPELINE.
6. THEY MIGHT FORCE OUT COMPETITION OF "INDEPENDENTS".

Are we being stampeded into over-reaction so we'll settle for anything? How long will the "shortage" last when the government gets off Watergate long enough to intervene for us with investigation and possible controls?

HERE ARE SOME FACTS ABOUT GAS MILEAGE COSTS:

Our '73 Pontiac owners are reporting as high as 18 miles per gallon on full size cars, however we admit most say about 14 1/2 on REGULAR gas.

If you are now getting 18 miles per gallon on Ethyl, what would it cost you to drop to 14 1/2 in a new PONTIAC that uses Regular? With Regular at 40¢ and Ethyl at 45¢, EXACTLY 50¢ per week!

Is the safety of the bigger car worth 50¢ a week to you and your family? Would you trade the comfort of its room for a cramped compact for even twice that? Does it make sense, with our dollar devalued by foreign governments, to add insult to injury by buying their product to pay their workers, to put tax dollars in THEIR government?

We, at John Chris Motors want to serve you. We feel we've earned our reputation of fairness and integrity. But, above all, whatever brand of new car you choose, why not support your local dealer and YOUR country?
