Phase 4 price rise starts

(c) Chicago Daily News

WASHINGTON — Food prices headed up today under President Nixon's Phase 4 program to prevent supermarket shortages and allow higher farm costs to be passed along to shoppers.

The President retained ceiling prices on beef, however, until Sept. 12 — the same day that a further relaxation of food price controls is scheduled.

There is no way, with or without controls, to prevent a substantial rise of food prices, Nixon admitted in his announcement. "Only if a rise of food prices is permitted now can we avoid shortages and still higher prices later."

Treasury Sec. George P. Shultz, refusing to estimate how big the food price increase would be, said Nixon hoped to "spread the bulge" over the next three or four months with his new program. (Related stories, p. 13)

The President also lifted the freeze on health care services — including hospitals, nursing homes and doctors — and restored Phase 3 controls over their prices.

No change was made in the 5.5 per cent standard for wages increases and .7 per cent for fringe benefits.

Nixon extended the month-old freeze on most other products to Aug. 12 when new controls will take effect. At the same time he exempted public utility rates, lumber-plywood prices and firms with fewer than 60 employees.

The president described Phase 4 as "tough" and "selective" but held out hope that the entire wage-price control system may be scrapped by the end of this year, saying: "I hope it will be possible to do so and I will do everything in my power to achieve that goal."

But he also proposed new ceiling prices on crude oil, gasoline, heating oil and diesel fuel to take effect Aug. 12 to keep down the cost of driving a car and winter heating.

One new element — not found in any prior Nixon administration control program — would allow manufacturing and processing firms to raise prices only to pass along, dollar for dollar, any increase in their costs.

Only retail and wholesale firms would be allowed to raise their "markup" by the same percentage that costs rise. This would have the effect of squeezing profits since they would not go up along with prices except in the retail-wholesale areas.

Here is how the phase 4 rules on food will work:

— Beef. Price ceilings remain until Sept. 12, when they are dropped and normal rules apply.

— Food. Effective immediately, food prices may go up to cover higher costs of raw agricultural products — such as livestock, fruits, vegetables, poultry — since June 8. The price may rise only as much as the cost went up and if costs are down, the decrease must be passed along to the consumer.

Reds squeeze Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist forces increased their pressure on Phnom Penh from three sides today despite heavy air strikes by American B52s and fighter-bombers in the 134th day of intensified U.S. bombing.

The heaviest fighting was taking place north, west and south of the capital, field reporters said.

Arab yields in Athens

ATHENS (UPI) — An Arab gunman armed with a sub-machine gun and hand grenades seized 15 persons as hostages in a hotel in the heart of Athens today but released them unharmed in return for guaranteed safe conduct to the Middle East, police said.

The hostages included an elderly American, a Greek Orthodox priest, three policemen and three children. At one point the gunman had threatened to execute them one by one if he did not gain his freedom. At another point he threatened to blow them all up.

Dollar makes small gains

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar improved in late trading today on the European money markets but was still low. West Germany increased its support of the U.S. dollar today but neither the American nor the European statements that it was supporting the dollar helped the currency much.

The dollar climbed .91 per cent in Brussels during the day, to 35.23 Belgian francs, and pulled up to 4.045 French francs in Paris where for the first week it would buy less than four francs.

Moscow, Peking said peace keys

SAIGON (UPI) — Ambassador Michel Guay, leader of the Canadian truce supervision team, told a large news conference today "the key to peace in Vietnam" is held by the Soviet Union and China.

Other Canadian supervision personnel are scheduled to leave South Vietnam at the end of July as withdrawal becomes effective. Search for replacement continues. (Story, p. 7)

House OK's war power limit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House passed legislation Wednesday to take away the President's power to reject congressional orders to halt any unauthorized war. The measure probably will not become law this year since President Nixon has said he will veto it.

The provision was contained in a landmark resolution that passed the House 244 to 170 to limit presidential warmaking powers and reassert Congress' role in decisions to commit troops overseas.

Actor Connors receives samovar

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — On his recent visit to the United States, Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev — a Western movie fan — received a pair of six-guns from actor Chuck Connors after giving Connors a bear hug.

On Tuesday, a Russian consular official arrived at Connors' home, and presented him with a samovar, apparently in return for the set of six-guns.

House panel OK's aid bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee approved by 29-8 vote today a $2.8 billion foreign aid bill. It would give the administration nearly everything it sought for military and economic assistance to foreign nations.

The bill, expected to be ready for House action next week, is $103 million short of the administration's request but more than $600 million above the level approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Mining in wild areas receives US approval

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon Administration wants mining to be permitted to continue in wilderness areas that Congress has set aside for preservation in their primitive state "untrammeled by man."

Costs reported from the Midwest in the last hour or so have been going up drastically this morning, he said. "We have raised some prices to meet anticipated live hog prices, but we haven't even got the hogs brought yet."

only minor waste products for disposal. All other parts will be shipped frozen to an out-of-state rendering plant, endorsed by the "protest group" which had earlier voiced objection to continued rendering.

The action was taken following assurances from the owners of the rendering plant that a new freezing process would be put into operation at the plant within a year. The process reportedly would reduce objectionable odors by 90 per cent.

TF board clears plant expansion

An agreement was presented Wednesday which stipulated that a new freezing process for dead animals handled in the plant would be in operation within one year.

This process, representatives of the firm said, would eliminate at least 90 per cent of the odor in the cookers used in the rendering process. Animal parts will be quickly frozen, leaving Commissioners said there is a need for animal disposal in this agricultural and livestock area and the plant, although objectionable to some residents and businesses, is important to the area.

The Move To Pry Rogers Out

WASHINGTON — The polished corridors of the State Department last week echoed a mocking sound: ridicule of Secretary of State William P. Rogers for what one of his underlings called "a faux pas that anyone in his job for four years should have avoided."

Some Western European diplomats defend Rogers on grounds he was merely confronting a future probability. Nevertheless, the fact is that he approached the East German official without any plan, without authority from President Nixon and only because he happened to find himself seated near Herr Winzer.

Washington knows he would love to cap his spectacular career by becoming Secretary of State. The problem is Rogers' top deputies vintantly tried to find out what U.S. Policy really was, begging Rogers at morning staff meetings to tell them.

Kissinger says nothing, but all Washington knows he would love to cap his spectacular career by becoming Secretary of State. The problem is Rogers' top deputies vintantly tried to find out what U.S. Policy really was, begging Rogers at morning staff meetings to tell them.

Kissinger for Rogers has now become essential to stop the State Department from descending into complete bureaucratic paralysis.

Behind smiles, Japanese feel US treatment second class

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Secretary of State William P. Rogers has departed Japan leaving behind the usual diplomatic smiles but the Japanese with the feeling they still are being treated as second class citizens.

The occasion was the ninth annual U.S.-Japanese economic conference which always is held at the cabinet level and which the Japanese had looked forward to particularly this year because of pressing economic questions and because of Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka's impending visit to the United States.

Especially the Japanese wanted to know what the United States intended to do about the dollar and about future agricultural exports.

They therefore were especially disappointed when the three men they most wanted to hear dropped out of the meeting at the last moment.

They were Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz, Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz and Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

Explanations that they were needed in Washington, presumably because of the approaching announcement of Phase IV in President Nixon's antiinflation program, failed to convince the Japanese they were being treated other than as inferiors.

It is a feeling which has been growing steadily ever since Washington's late notice to Tokyo of U.S. detente with China in 1971.

Latest strain on U.S.-Japanese ties had been the cutback without advance notice of the export of soybeans to Japan.

Analysis

Next to fish, soybeans are the most important source of protein for the Japanese people, and 92 per cent of the soybean supply comes from the United States.

The Japan Foreign Trade Council denounced the ban as one "utterly ignoring internationally established commercial practices."

And it was one of the background reasons for Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira's stern admonition to the United States at the opening of the conference to wield more "discipline" over its economy.

From Butz they had wanted firm assurances that Japanese needs in the future would receive high priority in the allocation of U.S. agricultural products.

The Japanese also had wanted from a higher economic authority than Rogers recognition for the steps they have taken to help the United States ease its balance of payments problems.

U.S. trade with Japan ran more than $4 billion in the red last year. The figures this year still are running in the red but the deficit is expected to be reduced by half. Trade for June actually showed a U.S. surplus — $847 million in exports to Japan as against imports of $804 million.

The Japanese point out that in the last two years they have acceded to virtually every U.S. request, including liberalized trade and investment in Japan and an upward revaluation of the yen by more than 35 per cent. U.S. exports to Japan this year are up 35 to 40 per cent.

McGovern nomination likely

By SAUL KOHLER
(c) Newhouse-News Service

WASHINGTON — Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota appears headed for renomination without a primary fight following a period of intensive fence-mending and the refusal of Gov. Richard F. Kneip to splinter an already minority Democratic party with an internecine battle.

Following his loss to President Nixon in the national election last year, McGovern faced major problems in his home state.

For three years, the people of South Dakota had considered themselves without a senator because of the debilitating illness of Karl Mundt and the presidential aspirations of McGovern.

But George has been doing well these past six months and he has regained just about all of the popularity he had before he started off on the presidential thing," a source in the state capitol at Pierre said in a telephone interview.

"A year from now, he'll be stronger yet."

Now that the governor has decided to look elsewhere, there doesn't seem to be any opposition to McGovern in the democratic party, and I'd be surprised if any did develop."

Kneip has asked the courts to strike down a law which prevents anyone from accepting nomination for the governorship more than twice. The South Dakota constitution originally set the gubernatorial term at two years without limit on the number of terms. A 1971 amendment lengthened the term to four years.

Kneip claims the constitution, rather than the legislative pronouncement, should prevail, and a decision by the circuit court in Pierre is expected by the end of July.

"If the governor loses and the decision is upheld, he will return to private business life," the source said. "He won't run against McGovern, he says, because they have been close, and because he doesn't want to break up the party with a primary."

Kneip's other option would be to seek a Congressional seat. But Mrs. Kneip is said to be reluctant to move her family of eight sons, ranging in age from 15 to 3, to Washington and have to run for re-election every two years. South Dakota's other senator, elected while McGovern was losing his home state to Nixon, is Democrat James Abourezk.

Following his defeat in the presidential election, McGovern immersed himself in the affairs of his home state. He became deeply involved in Indian matters — a major factor in South Dakota — and was instrumental in the negotiations which followed the uprising and occupation at Wounded Knee.

On the horizon as possible Republican opponents in the 1974 general election are:

Al Schock, a Sioux Falls business man who is said to be immensely popular in the state although he never has run for public office.

Air Force Lt. Col. Leo Thorsness, of Sioux Falls, a returned prisoner of war whose plane was shot down over North Vietnam and who says he will run for the senate.

Barbara Gunderson, of Rapid City, former Republican national committeewoman and former (1958-61) member of the U.S. Civil Service Commission.

Unless there is some sort of agreement among the potential GOP possible candidates, a Republican primary could make things even easier for McGovern.

Voting reform gaining

(c) Newhouse-News Service
WASHINGTON — A watchdog commission to reform federal elections and to make certain they remain reformed is likely to pass in this session of Congress as a byproduct of the events and circumstances which collectively have come to be known as the Watergate affair.

Although it had been proposed previously — even before the break-in at the Democratic national committee offices here — the commission had failed even to reach the floor of the House of Representatives.

This year, for the first time and because of Watergate, sponsors give the measure a good to excellent chance to pass.

If it does, it would herald a new era in American politics. It also would carry out pledges by President Nixon and the heads of both political parties to participate in nonpartisan reform.

The commission would consist of four senators, four representatives and eight members to be appointed by the President. As introduced in the Senate on May 16, the resolution called for a 17-member commission, but the rules committee cut it to 16 to maintain its nonpartisanship.

As envisioned in the joint resolution, the commission would "conduct an extensive and exhaustive study of the practices engaged in by political parties and individuals in the course of federal political campaigns."

Its scope would be unlimited, and the commission also would be charged with probing the advisability of changing the terms of office of the President, senators and members of the House of Representatives.

Although the resolution currently calls for the expiration of the reform commission by next March — following recommendations to the President and Congress — there is a move to make it a permanent body if and when it becomes a reality.

LaRue marks 1st to plead guilty

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Frederick C. LaRue is the first major figure in the Nixon re-election committee and in the Watergate cover-up to plead guilty, seek mercy and offer testimony for the prosecution in the expected trials of his former associates in those enterprises.

But, peering through thick lenses at the select Senate Watergate Committee Wednesday, the Mississippian offered recollections just as imprecise as those who preceded him.

He did implicate his old friend and colleague, John N. Mitchell, more deeply than Mitchell admitted last week. And he pointed to lawyer Charles W. Colson as applying pressure from the White House staff for getting the Watergate wiretapping approved. Colson has denied that.

While LaRue was questioned the committee awaited President Nixon's response to its request for the secret White House tape recordings which would show what his closest aides were telling him through the months Nixon insists he was in the dark about his administration's involvement.

"My hopes are great, my expectations are small," Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., told reporters after Wednesday's hearing. "I don't know when my patience will be exhausted."

In his letter to Nixon Tuesday, Ervin asked for a meeting "within the next day or two." So far he has heard "not a word," he said.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the request was under study. He said "not to my knowledge" when asked if anyone at the White House was reviewing the tapes. He refused to say if Nixon will continue taping conversations in his offices and over his phones.

LaRue, a social friend of Mitchell and his right hand man at the Committee to Re-elect the President (CRP), told of Mitchell's reaction when, for a third time, G. Gordon Liddy's bugging plan came up for review at a strategy session March 30, 1972.

As LaRue recalled it, Mitchell said, "Well, this is not something that will have to be decided at this meeting."

Mitchell, last week, said what he said was: "This again? We don't need this. I'm tired of hearing about it. Out! Let's not discuss it any further."

And Jeb Stuart Magruder, deputy campaign manager and the only other person there, has testified that Mitchell at that meeting gave his approval to the plan "albeit reluctantly."

LaRue's testimony also involved Mitchell in the payment of $220,000 in "hush money" to assure the silence of the seven original Watergate defendants. Mitchell had said he had nothing to do with that.

LaRue and Herbert W. Kalmbach, Nixon's personal lawyer, handled those payoffs.

LaRue said he participated because he was sure "someone" had made a pre-arrest "commitment" to the defendants to pay their legal expenses and support their families if something went wrong.

But under questions from Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., he said he had "no idea" who made the "commitment" or how much money had been promised.

Talmadge recalled that the witness, a millionaire, was a successful businessman in real estate.

"This is the way you do business?" he asked.

LaRue said it wasn't.

Earlier, Anthony Ulasewicz, the former New York City detective who delivered the cash, told how the requests from Mrs. E. Howard Hunt, wife of one of the defendants, snowballed into insistent demands for more and more money. They reached $460,000 last summer, he said.

That's when he decided he had been drafted for a chore that was not quite ethical, he said. He said he told Kalmbach of his suspicions and they both decided to pull out.

"Something here's not kosher," he said he told Kalmbach, a California lawyer with manicured fingernails.

"It's definitely not your ball game," Mr. Kalmbach. We started out with $75,000 and now we've got something like $220,000 coming in and we're only approaching half of the demands, and I know that the next conversation I have, that figure's got to go up."

Added the retired politician: "We were in different stations in life, but he did agree with me that it was time to quit it."

FREDERICK LARUE ... contradicts

WH silence dims hopes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Continued silence from the White House has dimmed hopes of the Senate Watergate Committee for release of tape recordings of presidential conversations relevant to the Watergate probe.

"My hopes are great, My expectations are small," said Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., in explaining Wednesday he has received no word on President Nixon's decision.

The committee's next step could be a subpoena for the tapes, but Ervin would say only "I don't know when my patience will be exhausted."

Meanwhile, special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox has reportedly requested the tapes. That effort could skirt the separation of powers doctrine under which the White House says it will not release presidential papers to the Senate committee.

A spokesman for the White House declined comment on whether the tapes will be given to Cox or even if Cox has made a formal request.

But the White House did confirm receipt of a letter from the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. asking it to conform with regulations on recording devices placed on telephones.

The Federal Communications Commission asked the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. to investigate possible violation of telephone company tariffs requiring an audible tone at 15 second intervals when a recording device is operating on a telephone.

The White House has acknowledged that secret recordings were made on the President's telephones and in two of his offices since the spring of 1971.

Former White House official Alexander P. Butterfield testified before the Senate committee the tapes were to be used for historical purposes.

The committee wants the tapes and other White House documents as part of its inquiry into the Watergate break-in and cover-up.

Heavy fighting reported

SAIGON (UPI)—Government and Communist troops battled within 30 miles of Saigon today in heavy fighting that has left 86 casualties on both sides in a little over 24 hours, the Saigon command said.

A command spokesman said fighting flared again today with a Communist shelling and ground-attack near the South Vietnamese government's Lai Khe camp 30 miles north of Saigon. He said six Communists and one government soldier were killed and one South Vietnamese troop was wounded.

Shortly before dawn Wednesday the Communists opened up with a 400-round artillery barrage and launched a ground attack near Lai Khe, the command said. In the 12 hours that followed, 47 Communists and three government troops were reported killed, and 28 government soldiers wounded.

Stories differ on break-in

WASHINGTON (UPI)—After two months of hearings the Senate Watergate committee still does not know who approved the June 17, 1972, break-in of Democratic National Committee headquarters at the Watergate.

The committee has heard three different stories from the three men who attended a meeting in Key Biscayne March 30, 1972 where such activities were discussed.

and other witnesses. Some committee members expressed the opinion that LaRue's testimony would be more truthful than the others since he has already pleaded guilty to obstruction of justice for his role in the Watergate cover-up.

He's already taken his medicine," Sen. Howard Baker, the Republican vice chairman of the committee said.

Magruder, deputy director of President Nixon's re-election campaign, said John N. Mitchell "reluctantly" approved a $250,000 political espionage plan at that meeting.

Mitchell, who resigned as attorney general to run the Nixon campaign, said Magruder's statement was a "damnable lie," and added he disapproved the plan at the meeting.

Wednesday, Frederick C. LaRue, the third man at that meeting, quoted Mitchell as saying the "matter needn't be decided at that time," LaRue said he didn't know whether Mitchell approved the plan or not, but to his knowledge it was not killed at Key Biscayne.

The three different stories are typical of the testimony the committee has heard almost from the start of the hearings May 17.

Jeb Stuart Magruder, deputy director of President Nixon's re-election campaign, said John N. Mitchell "reluctantly" approved a $250,000 political espionage plan at that meeting.

Mitchell, who resigned as attorney general to run the Nixon campaign, said Magruder's statement was a "damnable lie," and added he disapproved the plan at the meeting.

Laos war settlement in limbo despite talk

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — A high-ranking military source said today negotiations for a formal settlement of the war in Laos are stalemated despite a cease-fire five months ago.

He said there was still no agreement on important military and political issues.

Despite the impasse between Communist Pathet Lao and government negotiators, however, the Feb. 22 cease-fire continues to hold with only a few minor violations reported by military spokesmen. Officials characterize the level of military activity as the lowest in years.

The Communist representative, Phoumi Vongvichit, and the chief government negotiator, Interior Minister Pheng Phongsavan, are continuing to meet four or five times a week, sometimes in sessions with Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma.

The source said, however, that little new progress was expected until the return of a Pathet Lao emissary who departed for Communist headquarters at Sam Neua in northeast Laos July 8.

The emissary, Col. Soth Pethrasay, was expected to return this week or next after delivering government counterproposals of Pathet Lao demands to Laotian and North Vietnamese Communist leaders. It was hoped Soth would bring back new negotiating instructions, the source said.

Under the cease-fire agreement, the makeup of a coalition government was to have been negotiated within 30 days, with withdrawal of all foreign troops and advisers to follow during the next 60 days.

In the meantime, an estimated 60,000 North Vietnamese troops and, approximately 16,000 pro-government "volunteers" recruited in Thailand by the CIA remain in positions they occupied at the time of the cease-fire. Several hundred American advisers who were to have been withdrawn remain frozen in place.

According to the government source, no agreement has yet been reached on the vital issue of policing the cease-fire.

HERRICK S. ROTH ... faces fight

CLC fights Meany takeover attempt

DENVER (UPI) — An official of the Colorado Labor Council (CLC) says the CLC will fight AFL-CIO President George Meany's attempts to take over the organization because of its endorsement of Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern last year.

Herrick S. Roth said the executive board of the council, which represents the principal building trades and industrial unions in Colorado, voted to reach agreement with Meany through talks, if possible.

The CLC violated an AFL-CIO executive order to remain neutral in the 1972 presidential election by endorsing McGovern. Roth said Meany wanted to impose a trusteeship over the CLC for the violation.

It is clear that President Meany, frustrated in his legal and other attempts to strengthen this council into submission, is trying to secondarily boycott this council by personally soliciting each local, through its international, to withhold its per capita payments," Roth said.

He called a meeting of the CLC's 45,000 members for Sept. 8 in Denver to decide the future of the organization. Roth said 30,000 members had dropped out since the battle with Meany started.

Meany tried to impose trusteeship on the CLC last fall after the endorsement, but was blocked by a federal district judge's decision. Last month the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the lower court's decision.

Roth said members of the council would be asked in September to either submit to trusteeship, relinquish the AFL-CIO charter or attempt to override Meany's efforts.

"There is a better answer than trusteeship," he said. "A trusteeship would set up Colorado as a target for the first time in 12 years for right-to-work forces. It would be potentially destructive to the Colorado labor organization and every person who is a member."

Canada withdraws as Viet watchdog

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Canada withdraws from the Vietnam supervisory commission July 31, and the United States is having difficulty in its search for a replacement satisfactory to all sides.

Diplomatic sources said today the United States was quietly sounding out a number of countries, including Brazil, Iran and Mexico.

But one knowledgeable State Department official conceded that as of the moment there was "no leading candidate" yet to replace the Canadians on the International Commission of Control and Supervision (ICCS).

The ICCS was established under the Vietnam peace agreements of Jan. 27, 1973, as a watchdog body to supervise the accords. The original commission members were Canada, Poland, Hungary and Indonesia.

From the beginning, Canadian External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp was skeptical about the effectiveness of the ICCS. Canada served with Poland and India on the former International Control Commission (ICC) which was supposed to police the 1954 Geneva Agreement on Vietnam.

The ICC was frequently bogged down in disputes between the Canadian and Polish sides. The Canadians experienced similar difficulties in the more recently created ICCS.

Cambodia fighting, US bombing go on

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist forces withstood more intensive American bombing Wednesday and maintained what officials described as "heavy pressure" on Phnom Penh. Cambodian officials said insurgents were fighting to the north, south and west of the capital.

Despite the fighting, two convoys carrying vital supplies reached Phnom Penh.

There were no details of the U.S. bombing, now in its 134th day since the intensified American air war began.

Field reports said Communist-led rebel forces Wednesday assassinated the chief of an area located 27 miles north of the capital. They said the chief, Lt. Col Khoun Say, was shot by four men as he visited his family at a village 13 miles from Phnom Penh.

In the fighting, Cambodian military spokesmen said Communist troops tried to infiltrate the defense perimeter 10 miles south of the capital.

To the west, the spokesmen said, fighting was centered at Chrey Leas, along a railroad line that runs from Phnom Penh to the northwest.

In its report on the convoy, the military command said one arrived by river, the other by road, and managed to reach the capital without incident with the support of U.S. warplanes.

Idaho junior college budgets up 13%

By DAVID ESPO
Special to the Times-News
BOISE — The state's two junior colleges told the State Board of Education Wednesday that continuation level state funding for academic programs would require $2.17 million for the next fiscal year.

That would mean an increase of slightly over 13 per cent in state funds for the College of Southern Idaho and North Idaho College in Coeur d'Alene. The two schools received slightly over $1.8 million for the current year.

CSI President James L. Taylor and NIC President Barry Schuler appeared before the board members with the budget requests. Board members also directed them to return to a later board meeting this fall with proposals for expanded programs. The budget requests presented Wednesday are only for continuation of existing programs.

Dr. Taylor and Dr. Schuler also told board members their requests would not increase the percentage of state support for academic programs. CSI now receives approximately 45 per cent of its academic funds from the state. NIC gets about 43 per cent of its academic money from the state.

The two schools also presented requests for $3.3 million in permanent building fund projects. Taylor told the board CSI would seek $1.6 million for second phase construction of the planned vocational technical building. The legislature authorized $950,000 for first phase construction last winter, but work has not yet begun.

North Idaho College needs a new $1.7 million vocational building, Schuler told the board, to alleviate a serious space shortage.

Continuation level funding would permit the schools to hire personnel to fill the staff positions that are already authorized, as well as replace equipment on a regular schedule. It would not permit any expansion in the scope of academic programs, however. Taylor told the board he did not prepare any expansion-level budget proposals because of a misunderstanding at his last appearance before the board in McCall.

The junior colleges had been moving toward 50 per cent state funding for academic programs in the last several years, but that drift would be stopped at least temporarily if the continuation budget were to win final approval by the legislature next year.

The board accepted the requests of the two schools, but did not react to them in any formal manner.

Action here

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Navy has been making increasing promotional efforts lately at auto race tracks. The reason is obvious from a recruiting standpoint: That's where the young men are.

A Navy recruiting officer here said an estimated 2.1 million unmarried men between 18 and 24 years of age are actively involved in closed circuit racing.

Kimberly fact finders okay halt

Special to the Times-News
BOISE — A State Department of Education official has recommended that an investigation into allegations of improper activities by the Kimberly School Board be ended.

George Hunt, who visited the school district with another education official last winter, returned during June and found the district attempting to comply with the recommendations contained in the earlier report.

"It is the opinion of the fact-finder that the Kimberly School Board and Administration have made a sincere effort to effect the recommendations proposed to them. It may be of interest to the State Board to know that the entire Kimberly School Board was reelected this spring.

Hunt reported to the State Board of Education this week during its meeting at the campus of Boise State College.

Hunt's report told board members that the Kimberly officials had made efforts to comply with his recommendations concerning disciplinary procedures and keeping of records.

Hunt said the board's secretary had begun to keep more careful minutes of meetings, and that an ad hoc citizen's committee on recreation had been appointed that had reported to the school board on the use of district facilities by the community.

College district tax levies same

Special to the Times-News
BOISE — College of Southern Idaho president James Taylor said Wednesday he didn't anticipate a tax increase for junior college district patrons.

CSI currently levies slightly more than seven and a half mills against property in Jerome and Twin Falls County.

Dr. Taylor made his comment following his appearance before the Idaho Board of Education to discuss requests for state aid for academic programs. He and North Idaho College president Barry Schuler told the board a continuation level of funding would mean an increase in state support of 13 per cent, from the current $1.8 million to $2.17 million for the year beginning in July, 1974.

In spite of the size of the jump needed in state money, Taylor said, the local district probably won't be taxed any heavier next year.

TF meet set

Special to the Times-News
BOISE — The Idaho Board of Education will meet in Twin Falls for its October meeting, board members agreed Wednesday.

The board last met in Twin Falls during the fall of 1971.

CSI President James Taylor, in response to a question from board chairman Dr. John Swartley, Boise, offered the board the use of CSI facilities for the meeting, scheduled for October 11-12.

CSI vocational building aired

Special to the Times-News
BOISE — The College of Southern Idaho may be able to call in an architect early next year to begin planning for a new vocational technical building on campus.

CSI president James L. Taylor told State Board of Education members Wednesday he had been assured some of the money authorized by the last session of the state legislature would be available to school officials during the next several months.

Dr. Taylor said he had made inquiries about the availability of the $950,000 that was authorized for first phase construction of the building, and had been told "not to rock the boat" and the money would be available during the current fiscal year.

Taylor told the board members the building was currently envisioned as two modular parts that would make one complete structure. The planning is proceeding that way, he said, to permit the construction in phases.

CSI is asking for $1.6 million for second-phase construction from the legislature when it convenes in 1974, Taylor has said.

Gooding school's budget rises 16%

Special to the Times-News
BOISE — The Gooding School for Deaf and Blind will need a 16 per cent increase in state general funds next year to provide services on a continuation level, according to school figures.

Dr. Edward Reay, school superintendent, presented the Idaho Board of Education with budget proposals calling for $1.14 million in state funds for the year beginning in July, 1974. The total budget, Reay presented calls for $1.17.

The legislature appropriated $982,000 for the current fiscal year.

Under the budget Reay presented to board members, classified employees would receive a three per cent salary increase, and one instructor's salary now paid from federal funds would be picked up from state money. In addition, two new dormitory supervisors would be hired for the school.

The school also presented the state board with a permanent building fund request for $32,000 to raze the condemned main building, relocate electrical transformers and replace steam lines at the facilities.

BOISE — A new Twin Falls Extension Service and Research Building rates eighth on the University of Idaho's list of building priorities.

The list, presented to the State Board of Education for review during the board's monthly meeting at Boise State College, includes a total of 19 buildings.

The university put the cost of the building at $548,000. The State Board received requests for $19 million in building projects from institutions under its control, and must arrange the list in its own priorities and forward it to the Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council, where it will compete with other non-education building requests.

Bombing figures excluded from report

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department said Wednesday U.S. planes made a total of 3,630 secret bombing strikes in Cambodia in 1969 and 1970 to drop almost 104,000 tons of bombs on Communist "sanctuary" areas.

All the targets were just across the border from the south-central area of South Vietnam, said Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim.

Friedheim said the statistics were excluded deliberately from a report on U.S. air activity in Indochina provided last month to Congress and were forwarded Wednesday morning to the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Exclusion of the figures from last month's unclassified report and from one classified report, given the committee in May led Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, to charge that the Defense Department had lied twice to the Senate.

The secret bombing was said to have begun in March, 1969, at the request of Gen. Creighton B. Abrams, then the top U.S. commander in Saigon, to try to weaken Communist forces to the point where American troops could withdraw safely.

The Pentagon has acknowledged the bombing was not as successful as hoped, leading to the controversial U.S.-South Vietnamese ground invasion of Cambodia in May, 1970.

A map provided Wednesday by the Pentagon depicted the bombing targets as clustered in five areas along the South Vietnam-Cambodia border between the cities of AKN Loc and Dha Song and a sixth area further north where the South Vietnamese, Cambodian and Laotian borders come together.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

I would appreciate knowing the names of utility companies with dividends which are tax sheltered, 8 B. H.

Although in 1973 a number of utilities will pay partially tax-sheltered dividends, this advantage is on its way out. Under terms of the Tax Reform Act of 1969, the use of accelerated depreciation in calculating earnings for income tax purposes was disallowed for companies with fiscal years ending after June 30, 1973. Since accelerated depreciation was the primary source of the tax shelter, the number of companies which will still distribute such dividends is sharply reduced. Because earnings for tax purposes were reported using accelerated depreciation but for regulatory and stockholder reports the straight line or normal method was used, there was often a sizable spread between these two earnings figures. Thus, that portion of dividends which exceeded reported income tax earnings was considered a return of capital.

Since several other accounting procedures also result in a portion of dividends being considered a return of capital, there are some utilities whose dividends will continue to feature this advantage. Other sources include accelerated amortization of defense facilities, treatment of interest credits during construction and changes in billing practices. Investors, however, should realize that these dividends are not tax exempt; the share cost basis is reduced by the amount of the dividend which is a capital return. This may result in a capital gains tax when the shares are sold.

There are seven utilities whose dividends should be 30 percent or more tax sheltered this year.

DENVER (UPI) — Bob Ragsdale of Chowchilla, Calif., is back in rodeo competition again, but the Rodeo Cowboys Association said the calf roping and steer wrestling specialist is more than $5,000 behind the leader in the all-around standings.

Ragsdale led the all-around champion standings until June 17 when he was sidelined by an injury. He returned to competition for the first time this past weekend and won more than $400 in calf roping and steer wrestling at San Juan Bautista, Calif.

The association said Ragsdale trailed five-time world champion Larry Mahan of Dallas, Tex., in the all-around standings. Mahan has won $33,746 on the rodeo circuit so far this season, compared to $28,230 for Ragsdale. Tom Ferguson of San Martin, Calif., is in third place with $23,793.

Ragsdale will have a chance to gain some ground this weekend at the opening of the 77th

AF jet cost skyrockets

(c) Washington Star-News
WASHINGTON — The Air Force has agreed to pay up to an additional $3 million for engines for its new F-15 fighter plane because of problems in engine development, it was learned Wednesday.

The added payment is provided for in a special agreement between the Air Force and the Pratt and Whitney division of United Aircraft Corp., manufacturer of the F-100 jet engine. Existence of the special agreement was revealed in a routine contract award announcement at the Pentagon.

Trouble in the engine's development began to become apparent in February when it failed a crucial 160-hour endurance test.

In April, the engine passed the test — but only after the test had been changed to eliminate problem speeds and altitudes. At that time, Pratt and Whitney was told the modified test had qualified the engine for a production go-ahead.

Under the new special arrangement, however, the company has agreed to a number of conditions that could cost it substantial sums of money if there is further trouble in the engine development program.

The Air Force said the company agreed to stay on the original delivery schedule even though development is seven and one-half months behind schedule; to accept limited funding until a full 150-hour test has been passed; to limit its claims against the government to $34 million if the program should be terminated, and to live up to the original contract which made it responsible for correcting deficiencies in the engine.

In return, the Air Force has provided the company with $18.75 million — of which $8.75 million was awarded Tuesday — to cover its work through Sept. 30 and has agreed to increase the ceiling price for the first production lot of 72 engines from $113.2 million to $116.2 million.

The Air Force is now working toward a deadline of Sept. 30 to have the engine fully qualified for production. If changes in the engine should not be completed by that time, that could force a costly change in the production schedule for the plane.

Sentences meted out

TWIN FALLS — Fifth District Court sentences reported Wednesday include two repeat offenses of driving while intoxicated.

Judge Theron W. Ward sentenced Arthur LeRoy Wiggins, 44, to two years in the Idaho State Penitentiary and gave a similar sentence to Tommy Fulton Bayless, 25, Hagerman, both on repeated offense of driving while intoxicated. Judge Ward retained jurisdiction over Bayless for 120 days of the sentence.

He granted a pre-sentence investigation for Dennis J. Herman and Jimmy Lee Ethridge, who pleaded guilty to charges of grand larceny in the theft of $170 worth of tires and other equipment from Robert Haynes, Twin Falls.

Judge Ward will set a trial date after Sept. 1 for Archie Morrow, 45, Twin Falls, on charges of lewd and lascivious conduct with a minor child. Morrow pleaded innocent to the charge.

Donald H. Lowder, 26, Filer, has been sentenced to five years in the state prison on four counts of forgery. Judge Ward retained jurisdiction for 120 days.

Anthony Davids, 26, Twin Falls, was sentenced to three years on a forgery count with jurisdiction retained for 120 days.

Answers to Phase 4 queries

$150 gain in '74 car price tags

By United Press International

Questions and answers concerning President Nixon's Phase IV economic controls:

Q. What is Phase IV?

A. It's a complex set of wage and price controls imposed on most of the economy in the next two months. The object, as in Phases I, II and III, is to slow down the rate of inflation.

Q. What happened to the price freeze?

A. Prices are still frozen until Aug. 12 except in the food and health industries.

Q. Does that mean grocery prices are free to rise again?

A. Yes, many food prices will go up, some of them sharply. Beef prices will remain under ceiling rules until Sept. 12. But grocers and food wholesalers may raise prices only to reflect increased cost of raw agricultural products since June 8.

Q. Will nonfood prices also start going up immediately?

A. No. Industrial, wholesale, retail and service prices in most cases will remain frozen until Aug. 12.

Q. What happens after Aug. 12?

A. The price freeze is lifted on the rest of the economy on a sector-by-sector basis. Each sector or industry will be governed by a special set of rules dictating how much prices can go up. The administration has put forward a set of preliminary regulations in each case and will allow the public to comment on them until July 31. Then the rules will be revised, if necessary, and will take effect Aug. 12.

Q. How about wages?

A. The familiar 5.5 per cent standard for annual wage increases, plus 0.7 per cent for fringe benefits, still applies. It was mandatory during Phase II (November 1971-January 1973), voluntary in Phase III (January-May 1973) and now it's mandatory again.

Q. Do the rules cover everybody?

A. The Economic Stabilization Law itself requires that workers earning $3.50 an hour or less be exempt.

Q. What about my apartment rent?

A. Rents are exempt, just as they were during Phase III.

Q. Is the government going to ration gasoline?

A. Despite repeated rumors, administration officials insist there is no plan to impose a World War II style gas rationing system. However, the proposed Phase IV rules contain an elaborate control system that would place ceiling prices on the petroleum industry. In addition, beginning Aug. 12, you should see a sign listing ceiling price and octane rating on every pump at retail gasoline stations.

Q. Do the Phase IV rules cover everything?

A. The new regulations continue to exempt raw agriculture products. They will also exempt on Aug. 12 lumber and plywood, long-term coal production contracts, public utility rates and all businesses with 60 or fewer employees.

Q. How long is all this going to last?

A. The President didn't say and urged citizens to have "patience" while the controls do their work. But a top-level committee of labor and business leaders has urged Nixon to scrap the whole system by the end of the year and Nixon indicated he is leaning that way, provided there is progress against inflation.

DETROIT (UPI) — Price tags on 1974-model automobiles could be as much as $150 more than 1973 models despite Phase IV price controls.

While the "Big Four" automakers maintained an official silence Wednesday when Phase IV controls were announced, there were indications they will be in Washington in August to seek "substantial" price hikes.

The automakers will be required to notify the Cost of Living Council 30 days in advance of any price increases which will be limited to matching boosts in production costs on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors claim they haven't been able to recover any of those economic costs since January of 1972. GM and Ford in March said they would hold off any price hikes until the 1974 models are introduced by September.

Swift food cost rise seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Except for beef, President Nixon's price freeze on food was lifted today and his chief advisers acknowledged there will be a quick and substantial rise in what it costs to feed American families.

This was the element of the new Phase IV economic plan, unveiled late Wednesday, that will be most immediately felt and Herbert L. Stein, chairman of the President's economic advisory council, admitted today, "nobody is going to be very happy about what we did."

"The producers are going to be unhappy we didn't lean one way and consumers are going to be unhappy we didn't lean that way," said Stein. "But that's the nature of the problem."

The program also includes a continuation of controls on wage increases to about 5.5 per cent and stipulates that a business firm can raise certain prices only so much as production costs increase. Besides most food, the price freeze imposed June 13 was lifted immediately on health care fees.

It was the food segment of the program that drew the greatest attention, from the President on down. In a written statement, Nixon said, "There is no way, with or without controls, to prevent a substantial rise in food prices."

Stein echoed that today. "My personal view is that we will have a bulge over a period of some months," he said, but like Nixon he insisted the price rise would be much less in the latter part of the year and continue to level off in 1974.

"Nobody is going to be very happy with what we did, we're sure of that," said Stein. "It is clear that the big increase in the supply of meat is about a year off because we have this fall the big increase in the crops of corn and soybeans — the things that animals eat — and it takes a year for the animals ... to come to market.

"But the whole process that we are engaged in is one of a delicate balance in our interest in restraining the prices and our interest in getting the output out."

John T. Dunlop, chairman of the Cost of Living Council, and Stein both refused to predict how much food prices would rise, although a food chain spokesman forecast a 4 to 5 per cent jump in the next two months.

Dunlop also took issue with a suggestion that the administration waited too long to act and said "it's wrong (to say) Americans are paying a severe price" for this.

"We think we moved as soon as we could," said Dunlop.

The expectation is that by the time housewives do their weekly shopping at the supermarket next week, they will see the effects of the removal of the freeze on food prices. The freeze on beef lasts until Sept. 12.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, a prime architect of the Phase IV policy, stressed today that the removal of restrictions on beef "will absolutely take place" as promised Sept. 12.

Shultz conceded that, "yes, as compared to pork producers," the rules do discriminate against beef producers. But he said the President felt that controls could not be lifted all at once in all areas and he wanted to "try to let up first in areas where we had the greatest threat of shortages."

Stein and Shultz both refused to predict the dimensions of the food rise on grounds that this would invite grocers and others to set their prices accordingly.

Stein and Dunlop were interviewed on the CBS-TV Morning News program and Shultz on the ABC-TV Today show.

Nixon said in his statement that food price increases in the latter part of 1973 "would be less than in the first half of the year but greater than anyone would like."

Rules hit

Phase 4 no brake

VAIL, Colo. (UPI) — The nation's cattlemen Wednesday condemned the Nixon administration's Phase IV economic guide-lines for singling out beef as the only food still frozen under wage-price controls.

Phase IV, which was announced Wednesday, continues the current ceiling on beef prices until Sept. 12.

"The new move continues to push the country down a treacherous path toward more imminent beef shortages," said American National Cattlemen's Association (ANCA) President John Trotman.

BOISE (UPI) — A Boise State College economics professor said Wednesday he thinks President Nixon's latest economic announcement of the lifting of the price freeze will not do much to stop skyrocketing inflation.

Nixon lifted the freeze on food prices and health care immediately but said all other prices will remain frozen until Aug. 12 as part of an economic stabilization program he hopes will end the runaway inflation. After that, there will be "tough and selective controls," Dr. Ellis Lamborn, economics professor, said. "There are going to be price increases. President Nixon has done nothing really yet to attack inflation, and it will continue."

He thinks consumers will agitate for reimposition of controls, but said that will not help. "If you reimpose controls, that will create a shortage of supplies."

Lamborn said a combination of three things is needed: "a cut of government expenditures a tax increase and a hold down on the increased quantity of money."

HOT LINE 733-0122

Controls aim at more fuel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As part of its Phase IV economic policy, the administration Wednesday announced controls on gasoline and other petroleum products, designed to encourage production.

Details were to be announced later, but these were the main features.

Petroleum prices remain frozen until Aug. 12.

Two new sets of ceilings are being "proposed" by the administration, subject to public comment. With possible modifications, they will go into effect Aug. 12.

One set of ceilings will cover gasoline, heating oil and diesel fuel. It will allow a wholesaler or retailer to figure costs, then add the same markup, in dollars and cents, as he put on the price Jan. 10. That eliminates the customary percentage markup and is suggested as a brake on profits and a potential rollback in some cases.

There will be another price ceiling on domestic crude oil.

To encourage increased production, there will be exemptions from the price ceilings, operating as follows:

If a producer put out 10 barrels of oil per month in 1972 and raised that to 15 barrels per month this year, the price ceiling would apply only to 5 barrels. The 5 that he increased, plus an equal amount another 5 would be exempt.

a manufacturer would have to tell the Cost of Living Council every time he proposed to charge more than he did on May 15, unless the higher price reflected increased costs of imports since May 15, or reflected the higher cost of domestic crude as a result of exemptions.

Gas stations must post price ceilings and octane ratings on each pump.

Watergate defendant studies sent to Sirica

(c) Washington Star-News
WASHINGTON — The Federal Bureau of Prisons has completed the special presentence studies of the five original Watergate defendants who pleaded guilty, and has forwarded the results and recommendations to Chief Judge John J. Sirica of the U. S. District Court here.

Sirica ordered the studies on March 23, the day of the scheduled sentencing in the case, saying he did not feel he had enough information about the five men to pass sentence.

At the same time, however, he hinted strongly that if they cooperated fully with the Watergate Grand Jury and the special Senate Watergate Committee, it would work in their favor at sentencing time.

The men — E. Howard Hunt Jr., Bernard L. Barker, Frank A. Sturgis, Virgilio R. Gonzalez and Eugenio R. Martinez — have all testified before the grand jury, and all have met with the Senate committee's staff but only Barker has actually testified openly before the committee.

Investigators have said that in many cases, the men appeared to have held back information unless there was no way to avoid giving it.

Hunt spent considerable time before the Grand jury Wednesday, the seventh or eighth time since the investigation resumed in late March that he has appeared before the body.

In addition to appearing before the grand jury Hunt has been meeting with officials at the special prosecutor's office to discuss these matters, his knowledge of the bugging and cover up.

Sirica ordered the studies under the provisions of a little-used federal statute that allows a judge to have convicted felons examined for up to three months, and for an additional three months if necessary.

The general purpose of a presentence report is to provide a judge with information on the felon's background, from which the judge can determine an appropriate sentence and decide whether the person is likely to respond to rehabilitative techniques. Until he passes final sentence, Sirica has provisionally sentenced the five to the maximum terms they face as a result of their guilty pleas during the January trial.

Hunt pleaded guilty to six counts of conspiracy, attempted leavesdropping, burglary and interception of wire communications, and faces a maximum of 35 years in prison and $40,000 in fines.

Co-conspirator G. Gordon Liddy, who pleaded not guilty to the charges against him, was convicted of the same six counts and sentenced by Sirica to the full $40,000 in fines and a prison term of from 80 months to 20 years.

The other four men each pleaded guilty to seven counts of conspiracy, burglary, attempted eavesdropping and possession of illegal eavesdropping devices. They face maximum sentences of 40 years and $50,000 in fines.

The seventh original defendant, James W. McCord Jr., was convicted on all eight counts in the original indictment and faces a maximum of 45 years in prison and $60,000 in fines. His sentencing has been postponed indefinitely, pending the disposition of his motion for dismissal of his conviction.

Word of the Bureau's completion of the studies came in a letter by Norman A. Carlson, director of the Bureau of Prisons to the U. S. Marshal for the District of Columbia, a copy of which was filed at the federal courthouse Tuesday. Sirica told a reporter

Tuesday that he had received the studies and as examining them to determine his next step. He said he might call a hearing to go over certain points in the studies, or might simply schedule a sentencing date.

Watches home burn

BOISE (UPI) — Ada County deputy Arlyn Christopherson was at the sheriff's office Tuesday afternoon writing a report on a stolen car complaint when a fire call was received by the dispatcher.

The fire was reported by deputy Jay Knight on his way back to Boise from the new penitentiary site. Smoke from the blaze could be seen at the airport.

The fire, seven miles south of the airport on the Kuna-Mora Road near Pleasant Valley turned out to be at Christopherson's mobile home.

US props sagging dollar

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has moved in to support the sagging value of the dollar through intervention in foreign exchange markets, the Treasury Department and Federal Reserve Board said Wednesday.

A joint statement said the Federal Reserve first moved to support the dollar on July 10 and that "active intervention will take place in the future at whatever times and in whatever amounts are appropriate for maintaining orderly market conditions."

The brief statement issued by the Federal Reserve's Chairman, Arthur F. Burns, and Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz did not include the amount of money the U.S. central bank had committed to prop up the dollar.

In an intervention proceeding, the Fed — as the Federal Reserve is commonly known — sells foreign currencies and buys dollars, thus driving down foreign exchange rates and firming up the dollar's value. There are billions of dollars in government and private hands overseas and this mass of currency has been the single biggest cause of the recent weakness in the dollar.

Black October group papers near victim

(c) Washington Star-News
 WASHINGTON — The mysterious Black October group may have figured in a second ambush slaying in Baltimore Wednesday.
 Baltimore police said Black October literature warning of death to dope dealers was found near the body of George Leroy Evans, 33, after he was slain in front of his home early Wednesday. The literature is similar to that found near the body of James A. (Turk) Scott, who was killed Friday, also in Baltimore.

In both cases, police reported, an anonymous caller telephoned the Baltimore Sun shortly after the slayings and claimed that the Black October group was responsible.

After the Scott slaying, police said they were pursuing two possible theories: that the so-called Black October group might be trying to punish drug dealers, or that Scott might have been executed for fear that he would give information on the drug trade in Baltimore.

Acupuncture medicine

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Board of Medicine Tuesday ruled that the practice of acupuncture "is the practice of medicine and surgery."

The board said it will "withhold judgment as to the value of acupuncture until such time as the same has been scientifically proven."

By its action, the board has the power to regulate the practice of acupuncture, used by Chinese and other physicians and surgeons to eliminate pain in surgical operations and in their practice of medicine.

Politics plays prime part in City of Rocks fate

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News writer

BURLEY — The fate of the Silent City of Rocks near Almo is "tied up now in the inner sanctum of bureaucracy," Paul Fritz said Wednesday.

Fritz, Superintendent of Craters of the Moon National Monument, who assisted in a federally financed study of the area last fall, said its eventual designation as a national monument "depends on how politics run."

The area, about 10 square miles of fantastic, pyramiding granite formations in the southern Cassia County, was first designated a National Historical Monument in August, 1964. It was dedicated in May, 1966.

As a National Historical Monument, however, the Silent City of Rocks can receive no aid for restoration and preservation. With more and more visitors crowding into the area each year, vandalism and littering are increasing.

With a push from many area residents and organizations, as well as some National Park Service officials, federal funding was authorized for an official study of the area in September of 1972.

Great historical as well as geological significance has been placed in the area.

The California Trail, still visible in many places, passes for four miles through the Silent City of Rocks. Emigrants' signatures, applied with axle grease, in the mid-1800's, are still visible on Register Rock and Camp Rock.

A journal of one of the emigrants records, "a most wild and romantic scenery presents to the eye, rocks upon rocks, naked and piled high in the most fantastic shapes."

The rocks, billions of years old, have been carved with incredible cavities and caverns as water penetrates the formations, then evaporates in a slow geological process, eroding surfaces.

In October, 1972, the Idaho State Bicentennial Commission designated the area as one of four state historical sites which should be preserved.

Current plans call for the site's restoration as nearly as possible to its historic condition. Recent markings on the rocks would be erased, the area would be cleaned up, and all vehicles except horse-drawn transportation would be prohibited.

The final draft of the report is being studied by National Park Service officials now and an environmental impact statement is being drawn up.

Final approval will have to come through federal legislation and Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said last week he is ready to introduce a bill to designate the City of Rocks a national monument as soon as a legislative proposal is received from the National Park Service.

Local feeling runs highly in favor of creation of a national monument at the site, but the decision is in the hands of the "bureaucracy" now, and the final decision might be tied up there for a couple of years, as Fritz told members of the Cassia County Historical Society in May.

Jerome leaders grapple with canyon rim issue

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — Northside community leaders met Wednesday night to begin grappling with the question of how to approach development of the areas immediately north of the Snake River Canyon.

The leaders met as a task force of the Canyon North Planning Unit and began at once to organize their efforts.

Among those at the meeting were officials of the Bureau of Land Management, State Land Board, State Highway Department, Idaho Fish and Game Department, Council of Governments, South Central Community Action Agency and the South Central Idaho Regional Airport Authority.

Tom Mahan, chairman of the Jerome Planning Council conducted the meeting and discussed approaches to be considered by the group. Mahan set up four committees to deal with specific aspects of the area.

The committees include transportation, which will study traffic patterns, volume projection and road systems with H. E. (Hap) Wilson, Jerome County Highway District, as chairman; environmental concerns, which will study sewage, solid waste, water, energy systems, recreation and land use with Forrest Hymas, Jerome, as chairman; economic and social concerns, which will check the economic impact and social problems in the area, Duge Pharris, Jerome, is chairman; and a coordinating committee.

Mahan said the main purpose of the group is to propose a plan for the orderly development of the referenced areas for consideration by the Jerome County Planning and Zoning Commission and the Jerome County commission.

"If our plan meets with their approval, it will result in a county ordinance zoning the area to control the development," Mahan said. He said the Jerome County Planning Council, representing the public interest will coordinate and direct the development of the plan.

It was decided by the group that the area to be studied will be from the Perrine bridge north to the Union Pacific railroad tracks which are located between the junction of U.S. Highway 93 and Interstate 80, and the junction of state highway 25 and Highway 93.

The area will include land three miles east and west of U. S. Highway 93. With the drawn guidelines of the area to remain flexible if it is found during the course of the study that other surrounding areas should be incorporated.

The group has set Dec. 31 as a deadline for completion of the study.

It was noted at the meeting the area to be planned is considered a "hot spot" for future and immediate development. A large portion of the area is made up of BLM and state endowment land. The proposed site of the regional airport is also within the study area.

Robert Amoureux, environmentalist with the Department of Environment and Community Services, told the group that at present there are six areas south of Jerome being developed as residential areas. "There is also a residential development going in by the Blue Lakes Country Club, the Jerome Golf Course and south of Sonnichsen's Butte. Most of these subdivisions will house Twin Falls residents who will still be working in Twin Falls. This will mean an even heavier amount of traffic through the site plan area," Amoureux said.

He said several commercial firms have been trying to locate in the area of the junction of Highway 93 and I-80. "One such business, a large motel chain, was denied land in the area and is now locating at the junction of I-80 and state highway 70, east of Cindy's Restaurant," Amoureux said.

Don Runburg, BLM, said while the area is made up of BLM land, disposition of the land is still a legal question. "We do not have any laws that we can use now to dispose of this land; to either private or commercial interests. Also, at the present time, 2,300 acres of the land is being considered by the state as possible state endowment lands. The Regional Airport Authority has 8,500 acres of the land tied up and until we know if a Regional Airport will be built or not, the land will remain tied up," Runburg said.

Ed Elliott, representing the Regional Airport Authority, said it looks like the Regional Airport will soon be a reality and the area in question has received approval from several concerned agencies.

It was decided by the group that two plans should be developed, one for the possible inclusion of the Regional Airport and one without.

Ray Mickelson, state planning commission, recommended that a staff assistant be hired to work with the committees. He also suggested that the committees use an overlay mapping system so the whole picture of the planned development could be seen. His recommendations were approved by the group.

A third proposal that an implementation committee be formed was taken under consideration.

Ed Wood, representing the Twin Falls County commission, said that Twin Falls is very interested in the development of the canyon rim area and recommended that careful consideration be given to the type of development in the area.

DAVE MITCHELL, Northside Soil Conservation District, points out to Robert Amoureux, environmentalist, and Duge Pharris area to be studied by Canyon North Task Force. All three men are from Jerome and attended the initial planning meeting of the task force conducted Wednesday night.

Valley reacts to Phase Four

Brown spoke to about 25 county presidents of the Idaho Farm Bureau Federation at a meeting in Burley.

Predicting "small" increases in food prices following the lifting of retail controls, Brown said, "the increase in cost with a corresponding increase in production, will eventually bring costs into line with demand."

"The American farmer has demonstrated in the last 200 years the ability to produce an abundance of food," he said, "and it is only when government interference disrupts that production and the supply channels that we find food shortages."

Brown said, "farmers as a group are the largest consumers, and have been the victims, not the cause of inflation."

If the price ceilings had not been lifted, Brown said, there would have been "serious food shortages and eventually greater costs."

Leland VanderDoes, Safeway manager, said this morning "We haven't heard from the company yet. I don't have any notice of price changes."

Albertson's assistant manager Stan Soares said "I imagine pork and chicken will go up right away, but price changes here will take some time. National changes usually take about three days to reach us," he said.

Nixon reply nears

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will draft a reply this weekend to the Senate Watergate committee's request for tapes of his conversations with former aides implicated in the scandal, the White House said today.

But Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler gave no indication whether Nixon would decide during a weekend stay at Camp David, Md., whether to relinquish the tapes.

He also said a date had not been set yet for the President's meeting with Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., the Senate Watergate committee chairman, to discuss access to White House documents relating to Watergate.

The Senate committee has asked for the tapes and assorted other presidential papers, claiming they are necessary to clarify the role of Nixon and others in the Watergate affair.

The President has refused thus far to turn over the material to the committee on grounds that such action would violate his duty to uphold the tradition of separation of powers.

MV supervisor named

new supervisor

JEROME — William Webb, a Boise native, has been named regional supervisor in Region IV (Magic Valley) of the State Fish and Game Department.

He has served as regional fishery biologist in Boise during the past eight years and was the department's water quality biologist from 1958 to 1965.

In 1967 he served as a member of the President's National Technical Advisory Committee on Water Quality Criteria.

The Magic Valley region is one of six consolidated in the state on July 1 from the previous eight regions.

Webb today said one problem faced by his department in Region IV is "over appropriation" of stream waters. He said Snake River Canyon springs, including Box Canyon, are being "taken up" by commercial fish hatcheries.

"I think we're going to be in for a lot more problems along this line," Webb said.

Upland game management is also a problem, according to Webb. He said controlling the number of out-of-state hunters, particularly in the Minidoka County area, is gaining precedence.

The department is currently "working up" a questionnaire for local residents concerning the upland game problem, Webb said.

The questionnaire will suggest several control alternatives for comment by residents, including hunter quotas, controlled hunts and adjusting hunting seasons to coincide with seasons of neighboring states.

Murtaugh to develop city park

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Orval Hansen announced Tuesday, July 17, that the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, has awarded $22,797 which will be matched by local funds to the City of Murtaugh to develop a city park.

The new facilities will include a group shelter, riding arena, baseball field with portable bleachers, comfort station, picnic facilities, landscaping, etc.

The park will be located on U.S. Highway 30 near the western city limits of Murtaugh.

Hospitals stay under Phase III

TWIN FALLS — The President's Phase IV price controls will probably give no relief to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital's financial plight, James Rosenbaum, administrator said today.

Although the program calls for immediate lifting of restrictions on medical services including hospital rates, it states hospitals will remain under Phase III regulations.

"In Phase III, we were held under Phase II," Rosenbaum said. "This probably means we are no better off than before and possibly will have to be more restricted than in the past."

Rosenbaum said the hospital needed an eight per cent rate increase to meet operating expenses in 1973. Under Phase II, a six per cent could be assumed but federal approval was required on all additional increases.

The requested additional two per cent was denied by the Price Control Board in Idaho on two occasions.

The matter has been appealed to the Internal Revenue Service in Washington D. C., where it is now being held up pending a full review of the new Phase IV regulations.

Rosenbaum said the hospital was advised recently no action would be taken pending the release of Phase IV. Now, he said, it appears under the special rules applying to hospitals, comments will be received until July 31 and hearings will again be conducted with no decision to be made until September.

Rosenbaum said the hospitals throughout the country are in difficulty because there are no restrictions on drug costs and other items the hospitals require for operation.

"If we were allowed to adjust our rates only to keep pace with our rising costs, we could survive," Rosenbaum said, "but our drug costs, for example, have increased from 12 to 48 per cent in various cases against our six per cent rate increase."

Korean UN proposal endorsed

SEOUL (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers assured South Korean President Park Chung-hee today that the United States backs Park's proposal for joint admission of both South and North Korea to the United Nations, Park's press spokesman said.

Lincoln studies employe status

By MELBA THORNE
Times-News writer

SHOSHONE — Lincoln County officials were considering today whether they can continue to employ the wife of a county commissioner.

Mrs. Ruth Chatfield, wife of Commissioner C. F. Chatfield, has been employed the past 17 months in the office of the county assessor.

Assessor Sanford Connell said today he hopes to keep her on if he can do so legally. She was employed to work in the county-wide reappraisal program on real and personal property. Connell said he discussed the matter with the county attorney before hiring Mrs. Chatfield and received clearance.

Mrs. Chatfield was employed, he said, to work on the reappraisal program only with her job to terminate when the specific job is completed. He said he had expected to be complete by now but reappraisal work is still continuing.

Connell said he has received a number of complaints about hiring the wife of a county official and has not contacted the county attorney recently.

Glenn L. Sorenson, chairman of the county commission, said he would oppose the termination of Mrs. Chatfield's services prior to completion of the county reappraisal work.

SV aides award contract

SUN VALLEY — Neil M. Wright, Ketchum, has been awarded the architectural contract for the planned new Sun Valley municipal complex.

Wright was confirmed by the Sun Valley City Council Tuesday night.

The complex will include a fire station and city offices. It will be located northwest of Dollar Cabin. Estimated cost for the facility has not yet been determined.

The complex is expected to be constructed in the summer of 1974.

In other action, the council:

- Approved a plat for the Dollar Mountain Subdivision, to be located at the top of the Elkhorn Saddle Road.
- Philip Conger, Sun Valley Realty, told the council that the subdivision will include 28 homesites, ranging in size from one-half acre to over one acre. Each lot, he said, will contain a designated about 2,500 square foot building envelope.

- Discussed ambulance service for the Ketchum and Sun Valley area.
- Councilman and Fire Chief William Innes said a committee is presently discussing the possibility for such service to be manned by members of the Ketchum and Sun Valley fire department on a 24-hour-a-day basis. He said response time for the present Hailey-based ambulance service was about 18 minutes.
- Approved the about $390 purchase of an incoder for signal meters to be shared by the city, the Moete Community Hospital and the Sun Valley Water and Sewer District.
- Tabled action on a proposed ordinance to restrict bus and truck traffic on certain roads within the city until further discussion can be conducted with City Attorney Thomas Nelson.
- Adopted an ordinance instituting the uniform fire code and repealing the earlier uniform fire prevention code and prevention code penalty ordinance.

TF contest set

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls City recreation department championship frisbee and hula hoop contest will be in City Park Friday at 1 p.m.

About 40 winners from all city parks will compete in the tourney for awards and certificates according to Mike Woodhead, playground supervisor. Two divisions will be open for ages 11 and under and for 12 to 15 year olds. Woodhead said

FCC requests decision

WASHINGTON (UPI) The Federal Communications Commission Wednesday asked the telephone company to determine if the White House violated regulations when it recorded President Nixon's telephone conversations.

The White House said, meantime, it was still considering whether to comply with the Senate Watergate committee's request to turn over all taped conversations with witnesses in his investigation of the bugging of Democratic National headquarters.

At the same time, a sampling of foreign diplomats indicated they were not surprised or unduly upset to learn that tapes had been made of Nixon's office and telephone conversations.

The FCC acted following disclosure Monday by Alexander P. Butterfield, a former White House aide who now heads the Federal Aviation Administration, that the recording equipment had been installed in 1971 to record presidential conversations for posterity and use by historians.

The White House quickly acknowledged the use of the recording device and existence of the tapes, but so far it has declined to comply with the Watergate committee's request to turn tapes and other presidential documents over to the Watergate investigators.

For the second consecutive day, press secretary Ronald Ziegler refused to answer any questions about the tapes or indicate when President Nixon would make up his mind about the committee's request, formally given the White House Tuesday. Ziegler would only repeat that the tapes were considered presidential documents, such as papers Nixon so far has withheld from the committee.

Telephone taps themselves are not illegal, but Butterfield, testifying before the committee's televised hearings, said the telephone conversations were recorded without use of the "beep" signal that is required in American Telephone and Telegraph Co. tariff regulations to caution a caller that his words are being recorded.

The tariff provides that any recording equipment used by telephone customers must include a device that emits an audible tone at 15-second intervals when the recorder is operation. The only exemptions are broadcast media recording interviews and calls to police and fire departments.

House veto warned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon warned the House Wednesday he would veto pending legislation to curb presidential war-making powers, but said he supported Congress' desire to reassert its role in policy decisions on war and peace.

In a telegram to House Republican Leader Gerald Ford, Nixon denounced the proposed War Powers Resolution up for House action as "dangerous and unconstitutional."

"However, I fully support the desire of members to assure Congress its proper role in national decisions of war and peace, and I would welcome appropriate legislation providing for an effective contribution by the Congress," the President said.

Ford read Nixon's telegram, dated June 28, as the House began voting on the historic measure intended to limit presidential authority to commit U.S. troops to wars such as Vietnam without specific approval from both the Senate and House.

The President objected specifically to two sections of the bill that would:

—Require withdrawal of U.S. troops committed overseas within 120 days unless Congress has within that time approved a declaration of war or otherwise authorized the use of the troops.

—Permit Congress to direct a President to terminate U.S. involvement in any war by adopting a veto-proof concurrent resolution.

"I am unalterably opposed to and must veto any bill containing the dangerous and unconstitutional restrictions found" in those sections, Nixon's telegram said.

The President did not object to other features of the measure, including a provision that would require him to report to Congress within 72 hours after he had dispatched troops overseas.

Ford said Nixon's telegram, while uncompromising on key sections of the measure, represented some shift in administration policy.

He noted that Secretary of State William P. Rogers had opposed any bill attempting to define the war-powers of the executive and legislative branches, preferring that the two branches resolve their differences by consultation.

Backers of the bill, including members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, opposed all efforts to remove the 120-day limitation from the bill.

Without a provision for stopping a war by concurrent resolution, they said, both houses would have to muster a two-thirds majority to override the President — something they were unable to do on measures to cut off funds for the bombing of Cambodia.

In the Senate, meanwhile, debate began on a similar war powers resolution expected to reach a vote this week.

The Senate measure also faces a presidential veto, because it would forbid commitment of troops to a war without advance congressional consent except for specified emergencies.

Kennedy sets retirement but foresees expansion

NEW YORK (UPI) — Predicting an era of increased national expansion and inter-continental basketball for his successor, Walter Kennedy has announced his intention to relinquish his job as commissioner of the National Basketball Association on June 1, 1975. "I believe you can safely expect some kind of expansion beyond the current 17 teams and by the late '70s or early '80s the NBA will be expanding to Europe," Kennedy said Wednesday upon making the formal announcement of his retirement. "By then jet travel will be more convenient and the costs lower. Teams now travel from the East Coast to the West, and I don't visualize any serious problem in going the other way."

When Kennedy first took over the job as commissioner, the NBA consisted of only nine teams and it didn't have a television contract. Today, in addition to 17 franchises, the league receives an annual income of $9 million from TV.

Referring to these accomplishments, the 60-year-old Kennedy said in explaining his decision to retire, "I felt most of the projects I was involved in since 1963 have been substantially accomplished. I also felt I wanted more time to be able to spend with my wife and children and to do some leisurely travel."

He emphasized, in answer to several questions referring to printed reports that he was being forced out by the NBA Board of Governors, that the decision to quit was strictly his own.

"This is my own decision," he stated firmly. "The stories that were in the papers are utterly untrue. I was under no pressure at all to make this decision. The only consultation I had on the matter was with my wife."

"It takes nine votes to keep me in office, and I'm totally confident there are substantially more than nine owners who support me."

Kennedy also stated that the owners were prepared to offer him a new contract if he wanted it. Instead, he will serve on the committee that will choose his successor.

To help make his retirement more comfortable, the league's Board of Governors voted unanimously to give Kennedy a 10-year contract as a consultant, to take effect upon his retirement. The contract is said to call for a total in excess of $500,000.

"This is an effort to show the appreciation and respect of the owners for his leadership over the years and which will assure the commissioner comfortable financial security for the rest of his life," said Richard L. Bloch, president of the Phoenix Suns and chairman of the NBA's finance committee.

As for the final two years of his term, Kennedy said he already had received two pieces of advice on how he should conduct himself. "One owner told me, 'Now you don't have to worry about a new contract and you can rule with an iron fist.' The other said, 'You'll have to be very careful because you'll be a lame duck and you can't get out of line.'"

"I won't be a lame duck, or even a dead duck," Kennedy said. "I'll be a live goose."

Kaat throws six-hitter while Minnesota stops Yankees 3-0

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jim Kaat pitched a six-hitter and Tony Oliva hit a two-run homer in the third inning Wednesday, leading the Minnesota Twins to a 3-0 victory over the New York Yankees.

Using an assortment of slow curves which had the fast-ball hitting Yankees off balance, Kaat walked none and struck out five in scoring his 10th win of the season. He was almost flawless as he faced only 22 batters through the first seven innings.

Orioles drop Oakland 5-2

OAKLAND (UPI) — Merv Rettenmund's two home runs in the first two innings powered Jim Palmer and the Baltimore Orioles to a 5-2 victory Wednesday night over the Oakland A's.

The slumping Rettenmund led off the game with a solo shot against loser Ken Holtzman, 14-9, then cracked a two-run blast following a walk in the second inning. Rettenmund now has five homers and only 20 RBIs this season.

Cleveland nips Angels in 11th

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Catcher John Ellis hit a two-run homer into the California bullpen with two outs in the 11th inning Wednesday night to give the Cleveland Indians an uphill 10-8 victory over California as the Angels blew 5-0 and 8-3 leads.

Ellis' ninth homer of the season came off Steve Barber, after the Angel reliever had given up a single to George Hendrick.

Brewers down Rangers 3-0

ARLINGTON, Texas (UPI) — Dave May set a Milwaukee record by hitting in his 14th consecutive game Wednesday night and his two-run homer provided all the help Jim Colborn needed to send the Brewers past the Texas Rangers, 3-0.

Browns' coach likes running back depth

HIRAM, Ohio (UPI) — Cleveland Browns head coach Nick Skorich said Wednesday for the first time since Leroy Kelly replaced Jim Brown in 1965, he will be able to platoon his running backs.

Skorich warned, however, that the key to the entire club would be the solidification of the defensive front four.

"I will be able to rotate at least four men at running back, giving Kelly and (Bo) Scott a rest when they need it," Skorich said. "In the past they've had to go the entire game and it wore them down."

"Now we have those two, Billy Lefeare, Greg Pruitt, Ken Brown and Hugh McKinnie to work with. We know what most can do, but Lefeare, Brown and McKinnie must play a lot in the exhibition season. It's great to be able to say that we're a better balanced team all over and that the gap behind our two regular backs and their subs is no more."

"As far as the offense goes, our first criteria is how do we get 4.5 yards per carry and more. If we do that, it makes Mike Phipps' job much easier and it'll show that he has become the quarterback we know he is. But we've got to keep the opposition to no more than 3.5 yards a carry."

Csonka may miss all-star game

MIAMI (UPI) — Larry Csonka, the Miami Dolphins' premier fullback, may miss the game against the College All-Stars at Chicago July 27, Coach Don Shula reported Wednesday.

Csonka, the leading rusher in the Dolphins' record-setting ground attack last season, tore a thigh muscle in practice late Tuesday and spent the night at a hospital.

Shula said Wednesday "the injury is not as serious as we first thought but he could be out for 7 to 10 days and could miss the All-Star game."

Detroit belts Royals 4-1

DETROIT (UPI) — Gates Brown and Dick McAuliffe each hit three-run home runs Wednesday night to help Joe Coleman coast to his 15th victory for the Detroit Tigers, a 4-1 triumph over the Kansas City Royals.

Mickey Stanley and Duke Sims each hit solo home runs as Detroit pounded out 18 hits and scored six unearned runs in the fifth inning of the club's biggest inning of the year.

Box score for Detroit vs Kansas City game. Includes pitcher stats and team totals.

Boston batters White Sox 6-1

BOSTON (UPI) — Tommy Harper cracked a three-run homer in the fourth inning Wednesday afternoon and Reggie Smith added a bases empty shot in the fifth as the Boston Red Sox ripped the Chicago White Sox, 6-1.

Box score for Boston vs Chicago game. Includes pitcher stats and team totals.

Working out Thomas works out with team

IRVINE, Calif. (UPI) — The San Diego Chargers announced Wednesday that running back Duane Thomas' suspension has been lifted.

Thomas, who missed the entire National Football League season because of personal problems in 1972, showed up at the Chargers Irvine training camp Wednesday morning with his adviser Abner Haynes.

Thomas was suspended two days ago after he showed up late for the opening of pre-season drills. Thomas officially checked in and made arrangements to move into a dormitory room at UC-Irvine.

Thomas, whom coach Harland Svare describe as the best running back since Jimmy Brown, came to the Chargers from Dallas in 1972 for receiver Billy Parks and running back Mike Montgomery.

Tams seem stuck in Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — The Memphis Tams definitely will not be moving to Providence, R. I., and probably will be staying in Memphis, Avron Fogelman said Wednesday.

The president of the old Memphis Pros and leader of a group of local businessmen trying to buy the American Basketball Association club back from owner Charles O. Finley said the sale to a group of Providence businessmen headed by Paul Lynch is off.

"The sale is officially dead and we are continuing our negotiations with Mr. Finley in an effort to keep the team here," he said. "Things look good."

Fogelman said it was his understanding that the sale to the Providence group fell through due to a lack of money and difficulties in scheduling playing dates at the new Providence Civic Center.

Finley purchased the bankrupt Memphis Pros franchise from a group of local stockholders last year and prevented the team from being disbanded. After the re-named Tams finished the season with the worst record in the league, Finley announced he was selling the club because "I lost approximately $550,000 and I just can't afford to lose that kind of money."

When the proposed sale and move failed to gain the approval of the ABA trustees, Fogelman and other local businessmen began trying to raise the money to regain possession of the team. Finley indicated last week he might be willing to retain part interest in the club and allow it to remain in Memphis.

Fuel record

FREMONT, Calif. (UPI) — Don Garlits, Tampa, Fla., Wednesday set a new American Hot Rod Association top fuel record by travelling a quarter mile in 5.99 seconds at 241.93 miles per hour.

The time broke a 6.03 second record held by Jerry Ruth, Seattle, Wash. Garlits had previously held the miles per hour record with 239 mph.

Board's shift rejection could end Idaho football

BOISE (UPI) — University of Idaho Athletic Director Ed Knights says he feels U of I's future may very well hold football-less autumns because of financial difficulties. Knecht made the comment today following a decision by the state board of regents

Tuesday not to let the school leave the Big Sky conference and join the California-based Pacific Coast Athletic Conference.

The school's director of university relations and development, Frank McCreary, agreed with Knecht saying football may be on its way out at the request of the alumni.

McCreary, who sat stone-faced through Tuesday's board meeting at Boise State College, said the alumni president said he would work to get rid of football at Idaho if the board decided to keep the school in the Big Sky.

The board voted 4-3 Tuesday on the request by the U of I to leave the Big Sky Conference. The proposal has been the topic of discussion between sports fans and educators alike for the past year.

A leading opponent of the switch, board member J. P. Munson of Sandpoint, said he thought times and economics were going to drive many small colleges out of pre-professional type athletics.

Knecht earlier told the board that the university could lose from $150,000 to $200,000 annually if it stayed in the Big Sky Conference.

CSI signs 14 freshman track prospects

A total of 14 Idahoans have signed track and field letters of intent with College of Southern Idaho, announced head track coach Jim Blaisdell.

"We're pleased with the caliber of men who will be coming with us this next year and we're very happy so many from Idaho will be here," Coach Blaisdell said. "We feel that it is important to have Idahoans since this area isn't blessed with great track springs and our men will be used to running in windy and cold conditions. Men with better times from lower altitudes and warmer areas generally don't perform to their previous bests."

Ten of the men are from Magic Valley. These include Bruce Cooper, Twin Falls, two-time A-1 state quartermile champion; Brent Thompson, Twin Falls, sprinter and long jumper; Steve McCalley, an American deaf mile and two-mile record holder, Gooding State, distance ace; Monty Brothwell, Wood River, state A-2 cross country champion and double event point winner in state track and field meet; Russ Hollins, Gooding State, state A-3 weight events placer; Bob Hansing, Filer, distance man; Rick Long, Buhl, long sprinter; Tim Severa, Castleford, distance man.

Others joining the team will be Greg Haylett, 146-pound vaulter from Homedale and 10-foot sprinter; Jim Baker, sprinter-long jumper from Nampa; Mike Ulbright, Boise, sprinter; and Doug Gilkey, Capital, middle distance runner.

The returning Eagles are Randy Meldon, Twin Falls, middle distances; Mike Murray, Twin Falls, shotputter; Mike Phillips, Camas, Wash., high jumper, and distance ace Jeff Van Hoozer and Pat McIntyre, both Jerome.

"We are still talking with three or four other boys we'd love to have," says Coach Blaisdell. "They would make us a stronger team. But with the men we have coming now, we should be very respectable. I think our cross country team will be strong enough next fall to place very well in nationals."

"There really is a great deal of potential in these incoming freshmen," he continued. "I think Bruce Cooper can become a great one because he has the size and speed but more importantly is a great competitor. Gilkey only went out for track in the spring of his senior year and ran a 2:03 halfmiler. I believe he can get down into the lower 1:50s. Our sprinting corps will have at least two men who bettered 10 flat during high school and that will help us in those events plus make our relays strong."

"A couple of the boys we're talking to are distance men and if we get them, we will have seven good cross country individuals. I'm really looking forward to the fall," Coach Blaisdell concluded.

From all angles By Larry Hovey

When the Idaho board of regents voted to reject University of Idaho's bid to leave the Big Sky Conference, they concluded the meeting before the better parts could be added.

The fact Idaho, perhaps whistling through the graveyard some, has announced it might not be able to continue with intercollegiate football due to money problems should hold no qualms since the board probably can cope with that, too.

Can't you see the meeting where one representative, probably from the Poacatello, passes a motion that Idaho can't be allowed to drop football. This is seconded by the representative from the Boise and passes 4-3. "Then," asks the Northern Idaho representative, "how will the program be funded?"

"Funded, shrugged," retorts lower eastern Idaho. "I've been working on a plan and, with the chair's permission, I believe now is the time to bring it to the board's attention."

Pulling out no notes, the downeaster explains "I don't believe it is necessary to actually put a team on the field. We shall continue to negotiate and sign contracts with other institutions and strive diligently to keep the Vandals in major football status — if for no other reason than to please the alumni of that school."

"But we," he says with an all-encompassing gesture around the board, "shall decide how the games come out."

Before he could say more, the south western representative leaped from his chair shouting "capital, capital."

"Well," said the far east rep, "I'm not sure I entirely understand this plan, but if it will save money, then I will go along with it."

"First off," said southwest who as yet hadn't been able to make himself return to his chair, "I think it should be understood that Idaho must lose just about all its football games to Boise State and a large majority to Idaho State. Just look at the past record."

"Someone muddling piped up with 'maybe I'm missing something, but haven't Idaho and Boise State played only two games?'"

"Correct," said southwest, "but just look at the record. Boise State has lost only once and Idaho has only won once." (The nods approving the record outpointed the looks of dismay about 4-3). "Now that everyone understands exactly what the aim of my plan is, let's just run down through this year's record and everyone then will have a clear idea of how it can work," the southeast said.

"Their (the Vandals') first conference game will be against Weber State at Moscow. How does the board feel about this one?" he asked. "I think it would be nice if Idaho beat Weber this time around."

"What" shrieked southwest. "Listen, man, the Vandals are playing Weber. Weber's tough. They can't beat Weber" — where upon he spun toward the chair and addressed the chairman "and I would so move."

"Second," chimed in southwest. The vote was 4-3. And so it went. One by one through the 11 Idaho games. On a monotonous vote of 4-3, the Vandals came out of their first financially successful non-season with a 1-9-1 record.

The only sticky point came in the intra-state battles when the Vandals were pitted against ISU and BSC. The Vandals lost both games on 4-3 votes. Two representatives were not happy with the outcome of the voting.

"It's too close," southwest complained. "It makes it look like the Vandals are playing over their heads against us."

"Me, too," said southeast. "Fortunately, cooler heads prevailed and a compromise was worked out. In all cases of intra-state rivalry, the board ruled, one vote would represent one touchdown. The compromise came when the dissenting groups finally agreed to allow Idaho one-point conversions after each touchdown while the others got the two-pointer.

As the day wore on, with Idaho's record now being established for 1989, another touch of temperament arose.

"I'm sick and tired of Idaho playing these same teams year-in and year-out. Why don't they upgrade their schedule. Let's put Notre Dame, Alabama and USC on the 1990 schedule and take out the Western Michigans, Washington States and the other patsies."

From that point on, Idaho never won another football game — but it didn't lose money either.

Dodgers place 3 hurlers on National league staff

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, who didn't have one player in the top four at any position in the fans' All-Star balloting, made a comeback Wednesday when Sparky Anderson named the pitching staff for the All-Star game in Kansas City on July 24. Anderson, the Cincinnati Reds' manager, selected Don

Sutton, Claude Osteen and Jim Brewer of the Dodgers among the eight pitchers he named for the classic. Anderson is the All-Star manager because the Reds won the NL pennant last year but they're trailing the Dodgers in the NL West this season. Tom Seaver of the New York Mets is the senior hurler on the N.L. squad for the mid-season classic against the American League. He was selected for the seventh time.

Anderson chose six righthanders — Seaver, Sutton, his own Jack Billingham, Rick Wise of the St. Louis Cardinals, Wayne Twitchell of the Philadelphia Phillies and Dave Giusti of the Pittsburgh Pirates — and southpaws Osteen and Brewer.

Bill Russell, who was fifth in the balloting at shortstop, and Ted Sizemore, who was fifth in the balloting at second, were the highest Dodger finishers in the fans' balloting as Los Angeles was all but ignored despite the fact that the Dodgers have been leading the Western Division most of the season.

Osteen, on the team for the third time, and Sutton, on the second time, are the only pitchers beside Seaver with previous All-Star experience. Seaver has allowed only three hits in six innings of All-Star competition. His record includes 10 strikeouts and one walk. He started the 5-1, 12-inning game won by Osteen in 1970.

One of the pitchers Anderson bypassed was Ron Bryant of San Francisco, who has a 13-7 record.

The pitchers will back a starting lineup of catcher Johnny Bench, Cincinnati; first baseman Hank Aaron, Atlanta; second baseman Joe Morgan, Cincinnati; shortstop Chris Speier, San Francisco; third baseman Ron Santo, Chicago; outfielders Pete Rose, Cincinnati; Billy Williams, Chicago; and Cesar Cederio, Houston.

Matthews-led San Francisco foils Cards' bid for top spot

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Gary Matthews drove in three runs with a two-run homer and a ground-rule double to give the San Francisco Giants an 8-3 victory over St. Louis Wednesday night that foiled the Cardinals' bid to overtake the Chicago Cubs in the NL East.

The Giants tagged All-Star pitcher Rick Wise for 11 hits and six runs in less than six innings. The loss left the Cards a half-game back of Chicago.

Pitcher hits Hunt for 235th time

HOUSTON (UPI) — Ron Hunt was hit by a pitch for the 235th time in his career to lead off the 10th inning Wednesday night and eventually scored the winning run on Juan Pizarro's wild pitch to give the Montreal Expos a 3-2 victory over the Houston Astros.

Box score for Montreal vs Houston. Includes batting averages, runs, hits, errors, and totals for both teams.

Mets trounce Atlanta 12-2

ATLANTA (UPI) — Rusty Staub belted two homers and drove in five runs, John Milner homered and Tom Seaver pitched a five-hitter Wednesday night as the New York Mets trounced the Atlanta Braves 12-2.

Box score for New York vs Atlanta. Includes batting averages, runs, hits, errors, and totals for both teams.

Reds explode past Phillies

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Andy Kosco's three-run homer capped a five-run sixth inning and broke up a pitcher's duel between Steve Carlton and Tom Hall Wednesday night and the Cincinnati Reds went on a 7-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Phillies led 1-0 on a third inning homer by Bill Robinson when Pete Rose's second hit of the game.

Stargell's 27th home run of the season snapped a 2-2 sixth inning tie Wednesday and gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-2 victory over Los Angeles, ending the Dodgers' seven-game winning streak.

Box score for Pittsburgh vs Los Angeles. Includes batting averages, runs, hits, errors, and totals for both teams.

Padres keep Cubs on skids

CHICAGO (UPI) — Dave Roberts hit two home runs and Nate Colbert one off losing pitcher Ferguson Jenkins Wednesday and Mike Caldwell pitched three scoreless innings in relief to lead the San Diego Padres to a 8-5 win over the Chicago Cubs, lengthening the Cubs' losing streak to six games with 12 defeats in the last 16 games.

Box score for San Diego vs Chicago. Includes batting averages, runs, hits, errors, and totals for both teams.

Pirates snap Dodgers streak

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Willie Stargell's 27th home run of the season snapped a 2-2 sixth inning tie Wednesday and gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-2 victory over Los Angeles, ending the Dodgers' seven-game winning streak.

Box score for Pittsburgh vs Los Angeles. Includes batting averages, runs, hits, errors, and totals for both teams.

T.F. Legion hosts Boise

The Twin Falls American Legion team will host the powerful Boise Gems in three games Friday and Saturday at Jaycee Park.

The two will meet in a doubleheader at 6 and 8 p.m. Friday with a single game slated for 1 p.m. Saturday. The Gems took a pair of 7-6 decisions earlier this year.

"It is by far the biggest baseball team I've ever seen," says Twin Falls Coach Harold Brown. "It has great size, good speed and outstanding power."

U.S. track team routs Italians

TURIN, Italy (UPI) — The U.S. track and field team routed Italy in a two-day track and field meet which ended Wednesday, winning 29 out of 34 events.

The U.S. men's team won 149-78 and the women's team came out ahead 78-49 for a total 227-127.

Only one record fell during the meet. Franco Fava set an Italian record of 8:32.2 for the 3,000-meter steeplechase, 1.2 seconds faster than his previous record.

But Fava's time was not good enough to win the event. Barry Brown of Gainesville, Fla., won easily in 8:31.8.

Freckle-faced Mary Decker, 14, of Garden Grove, Calif., performed one of the day's finest feats, winning the women's 800 meters with a fantastic burst of speed. She was timed in 2:03.9.

Other American winners included Steve DeAutremont of North Ridge, Calif., 217 feet in the hammer, Paul Gels of Houston, Texas, 13:44.2 in the 5,000 meters.

Dallas veteran Bob Lilly may announce retirement Thursday

DALLAS (UPI) — Bob Lilly, a 12-year veteran with the Dallas Cowboys, called a news conference for Thursday amid speculation he would retire. Cowboy General Manager Tex Schramm flew to Dallas from training camp in an apparent attempt to dissuade Lilly from quitting.

Lilly is one of several Dallas players who have expressed displeasure with either contract problems or what they consider is a reduction of morale in the club's training camp at Thousand Oaks, Calif.

"Tex talked to Bob by telephone today," said a club spokesman, "and then left for Dallas to talk personally with him."

Schramm indicated there were no contract problems involved and that he wanted the opportunity for a face-to-face talk with Lilly before the big defensive tackle made a decision as to his future.

Cowboy Coach Tom Landry declined to speculate on why Lilly was not in training camp and said he did not know whether Lilly had decided to end his career.

Dallas center Dave Manders, himself involved in a contract squabble, said Tuesday Lilly had told him he had decided to retire. Manders has said he himself is retiring because Dallas has not met contract demands.

Schranz joins pro ski tour

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former world skiing champion Karl Schranz, who was banned from the 1972 Winter Olympics for alleged commercialism, will compete on the $500,000 professional ski circuit this season, the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner reported Wednesday.

Quarterback Craig Morton, another defector, has said he would rather quit than play for Dallas and left training camp last week asking to be traded.

A club spokesman said officials had heard from neither Manders nor Morton Wednesday.

Lilly, who recently signed a two-year contract, flew to the Cowboy training camp in Thousand Oaks, Calif., last weekend, but when the official reporting time came Monday night Lilly was not there.

"He was talking about things that happened down through the years," said Jethro Pugh, a defensive tackle who has yet to sign a new contract. "He was in a bad mood from the start." Lilly, who will be 34 next week, has been named to the Pro Bowl squad ten times in his 12-year career. He was the first college player ever drafted by the Cowboys and was the leading attraction.

Sue Snyder new ISU business manager

FOCATELLO — Sue Snyder has been named Athletic Business Manager at Idaho State University. The appointment, which was announced by Athletic Director Milton "Dubby" Holt, was effective July 1st.

Miss Snyder, 25, has been acting business manager since May 1972. She replaces I. J. "Babe" Garcia, who remains at ISU as Assistant Athletic Director and Baseball Coach.

A 1971 graduate of Idaho State University with a Bachelor of Business Administration (BBA) degree in Marketing, Miss Snyder is originally from Rochester, New York, and was graduated from Wood River High School in Hailey, Idaho.

She worked three years for the ISU Athletic Department on the College Work Study Program, and worked one year as a secretary before her appointment last May as acting business manager.

Miss Snyder becomes the ninth woman to join the College Athletic Business Managers' Association (CABMA), which currently numbers approximately 225 members.

Is Hadrian's Villa For Sale?

No. This beautiful residence, built by the ancient Roman emperor just outside the capital, today is one of Italy's national monuments. It's definitely not for sale. But why go to Rome for a villa anyway, when we've got a lot of nice one's for sale right here. Better plumbing, too, most probably. With or without pools. Now isn't that something to reflect upon?

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 34. He has a shaky marriage and two fine children, ages 10 and 12. He has changed jobs frequently and is always in debt.

We like his wife. My husband and I have pulled them out of debt several times. It has cost us a total of $5,000. They have never mentioned paying us back.

The problem: Our son has won a trip to Hawaii on his job, but if he wants to take his wife he will have to pay her way. He doesn't have the few hundred dollars it would cost to take her, so naturally he is sort of looking in our direction for it.

They have never taken a trip together. [No money.] I think the trip might help their marriage and have told my husband how I feel, but he says I am a soft touch.

What should I do?

GOOD OLD MOM

'Get tough' on policy

DEAR MOM: Offer to lend him the money on a business basis. Ask him to sign a promissory note with a date set for repayment. And this time insist that he live up to his obligation.

And don't lend him more than the few hundred he needs. Good Old Mom has to be Tough Old Mom if she wants her son to be a real man.

DEAR ABBY: My sister, who is 62, and my brother in law, who is 57, have been happily married for 28 years.

Because of health reasons, my brother in law is contemplating retiring and with time he is collecting social security. Since my sister will also be eligible to collect social security, my brother in law suggested that my sister get her birth certificate. This is frightening to my sister as she has never told her husband that she is five years older than he is. [He thinks they're the same age.] She was afraid if she told him her real age, when they first met, he wouldn't marry her.

Now my sister is afraid of repercussions, as she has always been completely honest with her husband.

Do you think she should tell him now?

MINNIE

DEAR MINNIE: After 28 years of marriage, I doubt that your sister's husband would hold it against her for having knocked five years off her age. I think she should tell him, and get it over with. A 62-year-old woman who can pass for 57 needn't be ashamed.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, Pam, was invited to be a bridesmaid. She was thrilled because she had never been in a wedding party before. The bride's mother invited all the girls in the wedding party over to plan a shower for the bride.

We have a nice large finished basement party room, so Pam offered to have the shower here. The bride's mother said, "Oh, no, I want it at the restaurant." [and she named an expensive restaurant.] The girls just looked at each other in amazement. Pam then asked the mother if she planned to help them financially, and she said, "Emphatically no, you girls are supposed to give this shower!"

The girls agreed to have it at a restaurant, to please the mother, but they chose a less expensive one. The next day the bride called my daughter and coldly said, "Pam, if you couldn't afford to be in my wedding party, why did you accept? I think it's best if you drop out, so I'm sending the $20 deposit you put on the bridesmaid's gown, and I'm asking someone else instead. Goodbye."

My daughter couldn't believe her ears.

Now, listen to this. This girl had the gall to send Pam an invitation to her wedding.

If you were she, what would you send her?

MOM

DEAR MOM: My regrets!

CONFIDENTIAL TO 'TEMPTED IN ALLENTOWN': You must have too much time on your hands. Temptation never enters our minds when we are steeped in work.

Landscape project under way

TWIN FALLS — Initial stages of a difficult landscaping and beautification program have been completed at the Twin Falls County Humane Society grounds.

Bobbi Glasmann, president of the society, said the ground at the agency's headquarters is so poor and so shallow plants cannot be grown. Assistance has been given by a number of individuals and businesses to provide planters and plants.

Two large planters have been donated, with Fairbanks Excavation Co. providing soil, Volco Builders Inc., donating two new screen doors for the building and Cook Electric Inc., providing the material for planters and flowers.

Cliff Qualls donated the labor to build the planters. A clean up project was held with Mrs. Ed King, Darla King and Mrs. Bob Reinstein cleaning around the building and pens.

The Rock Creek and Hansen residents held their own "Johnny Horizon" day at the Humane Society site.

Additional planters and plants are needed and persons with trees or plants which could be donated are asked to contact Mrs. Glasmann or the Humane Society.

Hansen man on honor roll

HANSEN — George C. Hill, Hansen, fourth year engineering student at the University of Kansas, is listed on the spring semester honor roll for the institution, according to university officials.

Project begins

Auditions slated for scholarship

TWIN FALLS — Auditions for a $500 scholarship in music will be conducted by the Dilettantes of Magic Valley at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

The auditions will be in room 122 of the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center. Any Magic Valley high school graduate planning to major in any form of music at a college or university this fall may audition.

The judges ask that each individual limit his or her presentation to 10 minutes.

Those interested in auditioning should contact Terri Wood, 733-9223 or Brad Hickerson, 733-5407.

Sign up for auditions will begin at 6:30 p.m. with the auditions beginning at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

The group also has given the Antique Festival Theatre $250 for scholarships to members of its group. The CSI Fine Arts department has received $250 for a second year student pursuing any aspect of the creative arts.

Dangerous practice

Driving nails into concrete without the proper tools and safety precautions can be just about as dangerous as playing Russian Roulette with a revolver pointed at your head. In fact, your head is the most vulnerable area of all when you are hammering anything into concrete. Shattered nails or chipped concrete can fly into the cranium in a lethal manner, says the Hand Tools Institute. If you're going to nail into masonry, the Institute suggests you look into new devices on the market for shielding the nail during application.

One thing that makes new fall clothes beautiful is, in most instances, the fabrics designers have used, and the colors. Everything seems to be soft to the touch, suggesting that they will be wonderfully comfortable to wear. Even the all-over sequin evening things are mounted on light and fine fabrics such as chiffon and fine jersey.

MISS PETERSON plans rites

Rupert miss sets LDS rites

RUPERT — Mr. and Mrs. Duane Skinner, Rupert, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Theresa Peterson, to David Dulling.

Dulling is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dulling, Sugar City, Idaho.

Miss Peterson is a 1971 graduate of Minico High School, and Dulling was graduated from Sugar Salem High School in 1968. Both have attended Ricks College for two years. Dulling has fulfilled an LDS mission to California.

The couple plans an Aug. 7 wedding in the Ogden LDS Temple.

Summer bloomer

IT'S APRIL in July at the residence of Ted Davis, 266 Borah Ave. W. An Easter lily, planted last year and then forgotten, now blooms through the heat of summer afternoons. Five blossoms have appeared on the unseasonable plant.

No crutches

BRIDGETON, N.J. (UPI) — Bridgeton Hospital, which issues as many as 500 pairs of crutches to patients each year, reports a wood shortage has caused it to run out.

"We are completely out of crutches," Ralph E. Vannozzi, hospital administrator, said Tuesday.

The hospital is offering to pay $2.50 for each pair of used crutches returned this week.

Galahad the Pure looked over dummy quickly. The hand looked as if it had been bid just one trick too high, but there was one slight chance for success. He ruffed the third diamond and played a couple of rounds of trumps.

When the wily Mordred was sat West followed to the second trump Galahad saw that he had a distinct chance to bring the contract home.

He led a club to dummy's ace, a second back to his king and ruffed his last club. Galahad knew Mordred was not the sort to make a vulnerable overcall with only a four-card suit so Mordred had started with 5-3-2 distribution and was down to his five spades.

Galahad played the last two trumps, stopping in dummy. Mordred did his best by discarding the three and 10 of spades, but it wasn't good enough.

The six-spot was led from dummy. East went up with the nine, but Galahad played his queen. Mordred took the trick with his king and led back the seven-spot, and this allowed Galahad to win the trick with dummy's eight-spot.

Galahad was lucky at that. If East held 9-7 of spades there would have been no way to bring the contract home.

4 from Blaine participate in 4-H cultural exchange

CAREY — Five Blaine County residents departed Wednesday for a one month's stay in Japan as part of a 4-H cultural exchange program.

According to James Eakin, county extension agent, the program is designed to promote a better understanding of family life between the Japanese and American people.

The program allows the participant to live with a Japanese family, he said, using the host family's cultural habits, eating the same foods and generally taking part in the family's daily way of life.

Last year, Eakin said, county residents served as host families for three visiting Japanese.

Serving as chaperones for this year's exchange to Japan will be Joseph and Mary Wurst, Bellevue.

Debbie Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Green, Carey, will stay with the Mutsuko Yoyota family in Tokyo.

Clint Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Peterson, Carey, will live with the Motohiro Motaba family in Tokyo. Last year, the Peterson family served as host to Motaba.

Kirby J. Arrign, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Arrign, Carey, will spend the first half of the month with a host family in Sapporo and the second half with a family in Tokyo.

Waiting period long for 5

NICASIO, Calif. (UPI) — Eva Ghilotti, a 43-year-old mother of two, goes about the ranch chores with a knowledge that she may suffer a horrible death. So does her husband, Mario, 50, a neighboring couple and a 20-year-old college student employe.

The five Marin County dwellers all were exposed unknowingly to a rabid horse and are now waiting to learn if they're infected with the nearly always fatal viral disease.

"I keep thinking, what the hell, why plan for tomorrow," said Mrs. Ghilotti, a pretty platinum blonde who says she aged 10 to 12 years since learning she was bitten by a rabid horse.

The horse, an Arabian stallion named Co-Co, bit her twice, breaking the flesh, before he went into convulsions and was shot May 20. A routine lab test showed no sign of rabies in the animal's brain.

However, Co-Co's brain was re-examined and the rabies virus found after a mare on Ghilotti's Mar-Ghi ranch died two weeks ago of convulsions and was found to be rabid.

The Ghilottis, their ranch hand Mark Greving, and Madeline Kreuter, a neighbor, then began taking the painful series of vaccine injections to fight the disease, which has a 30 to 60 day incubation period. Now all they can do is wait.

"We're all in the same boat, so we have to consult and console each other every day," said Mrs. Kreuter, the mother of four youngsters. Her husband, Norman, who shot Co-Co, declined the rabies treatment.

Mrs. Kreuter had ridden the horse the day it went into convulsions. Mr. Ghilotti had put his hand which had an open cut into the stallions mouth the same day and Greving, a college student, washed out the horse's water bucket with an open cut on his hand.

Mrs. Ghilotti says that despite the bleak outlook, her husband has remained optimistic and even plans to buy a new car, believing that "if you use your mind over matter, you're sure to win."

The Marin County Health Department, which did the original analysis of Co-Co's brain, said the sample was inadequate. It also said the two horses on the Ghilotti ranch were the first known cases of rabies in the county.

A Lovelier You

A PASSPORT TO CHARM

By Mary Sue Miller

Your speech communicates to the world the kind of person you truly are. Your tone of voice and choice of words are an index to your personality.

Like an unkempt appearance, unkempt speech shows both the lass and the lady to be careless of the opinion of others and lacking in regard for herself. In fact, an unpleasant voice, a shoddy word, a run-down idea, lose a speaker her audience. Husbands, children, friends, and strangers flee such assaults on their sensitivities. Quite oppositely, an attractive speech pattern carries more magnetism and lasts longer. When you getfully offer fresh ideas in a clear, warm voice, you win a devoted following. You carry a passport to successful relations within the range of your voice, just by being thoughtful about what you say, and how you say it. The truth of this comes into sharp focus when we go traveling and meet new people. In strange surroundings our perception is keener. We can't miss the shrewish mother disciplining her children in public, and we change. We are driven to find salitude when the voices of a rocking chair brigade drone on and on and on. But we think it would be fun to invite the couple whose voices never intrude to have supper with us. You see, they've got a passport.

Find your place in the sun in a quickie skim you can whip up in a morning to wear that afternoon. Choose sleeveless, bell or short sleeves.

Printed Pattern 9180: Half Sizes 10 1/2, 12 1/2, 14 1/2, 16 1/2, 18 1/2, 20 1/2. Size 14 1/2 (bust 37) takes 2 1/2 yards 45-inch.

Oakley plans celebration

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News writer

OAKLEY — Hundreds of area residents will feast at a barbecue then spend the afternoon watching a rodeo and parade here next week.

The annual Pioneer Days celebration is planned July 24. Activities are slated from sunrise until after sundown.

A sunrise salute will be presented by the American Legion and then the chuckwagon breakfast begins in the Oakley City Park.

The Oakley Chamber of Commerce will be cooking hotcakes, sausage, eggs, coffee and juice.

At 11:30 the annual beef barbecue opens up in the park. John Clark, Oakley, will be serving up the pit-cooked beef until 1:30 p.m.

Three separate events are scheduled beginning at 2 p.m. Dr. Max Craner, director of the LDS seminary program in the region, will be the featured speaker at the Pioneer Day program at the Cassia Stakehouse.

There will also be a showing of "Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory" beginning at 2 p.m. in the Cassia Stake Playhouse. The movie will be shown twice in the evening, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

In addition, the gymkhana will start at the rodeo grounds. Competition is open to all amateurs with local team rmp sponsored by the Oakley Vigilantes. Youngsters can sign up for the calf roping in the morning at the rodeo office.

The Murtaugh Mavericks Riding Club will compete against the Oakley Annies during the afternoon.

The parade will begin at 6 p.m. Featured will be floats, horses and the Pioneer Day queen, Lori Elquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dallen Elquist, Sandra Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay (Bud) Robinson, and Margaret Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Baker.

The queen and her court were chosen in competition several weeks ago.

At 9 p.m. the Eastern Idaho Rodeo Association approved rodeo begins. The rodeo, produced by the Spur Rowel Rodeo Co. under the direction of Jake Pope, will also be presented July 25.

The Minidoka Wranglers will perform at the July 24 rodeo and the Cassia County posse will present their drills at the July 25 rodeo.

The main event on July 25 is the annual 25-mile pony express marathon race. Each entry will run five horses with one or more riders in competition for a $1,000 purse for first place, $400 for second place and $200 for third place.

The race will be run at the Oakley Posse grounds at 7 p.m. Originally, the race was run from Burley to Oakley on the highway, but traffic in recent years made the course too dangerous.

Legislative improvements panel seeks Gem opinion

TWIN FALLS — Opinions of southeastern Idaho residents will be heard during the next meeting of the Citizen's Advisory Committee on Legislative Improvement, set for July 26 at the Holiday Inn in Twin Falls.

According to John Mix, chairman of the group, interested citizens will be welcome to express their thoughts on legislative procedure during the morning session of the meeting, starting at 9 a.m.

The committee, authorized by a resolution passed by the most recent session of the Idaho Legislature, is charged with improving legislative procedure and facilities, as well as upgrading procedures to keep the public informed on the lawmaker's activities and accomplishments.

Additional meetings are planned around the state, Mix said, in an attempt to sample public opinion in all areas. The chairman emphasized that the committee is concerned with citizens' opinions on legislative procedure, and not with ideas or complaints on specific pieces of legislation.

The seven-member group conducted its first two meetings in Boise and Idaho Falls. Its report will be due when the legislature convenes in January of next year.

Legislative staff members are currently performing research services for the group, gathering information on such subjects as information programs in use by other state legislatures, costs of suggested improvements in facilities for legislators during the session.

Altered tapes can fool even experts

NEW YORK (UPI) — A good audio editor can doctor tape recordings so skillfully that the ear cannot tell the difference, a broadcast news executive said Tuesday.

Frank Sciortino, manager of the UPI audio network, said "Given enough time and a skillful editor, and enough material, you can do almost anything with audio tape."

Words or sounds can be eliminated to make a negative statement positive, or plurals singular, Sciortino said.

graph. Even this device can be fooled by adding a background sound covering the original.

The catch to a spectrograph is that the operator must be more skilled than the editor who doctored the tape, one sound expert said. Even when the spectrograph operator does detect abnormal changes, he usually can not determine why the changes were made or if the changes altered the content, the expert said.

"Sentences can be restructured, context changed, qualifiers added or subtracted. Almost anything is possible to change a tape to one that is very different from the original," he said.

"Words of a conversation can be changed or re-arranged to suit almost any purpose. The only considerations are the desire to do so, good standard equipment and a very good editor."

Once the tape is altered and dubbed onto a new tape, the changes are detectable only by an instrument called a spectro-

Russ gives cement to Israelis

JERUSALEM (UPI) — The Soviet Union has agreed to deliver 100,000 tons of cement to Israel to help alleviate the Jewish state's housing shortage, government spokesmen said today.

The deal was described as the biggest between the two governments since Moscow broke off diplomatic relations during the 1967 Middle East war.

According to spokesmen for the Foreign Ministry and the Ministry of Commerce and Industry, the first shipment of 20,000 tons will arrive from the Soviet Union in August aboard grain ships returning to the United States for more wheat.

The ministry-spokesmen said Israel will pay $35 per ton for the Soviet cement.

Sterility suit dismissal asked

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Attorney Joseph Levin Jr. said today he has asked a federal court to dismiss a $1 million damage suit he filed on behalf of two young black girls sterilized by a federally funded clinic.

"I cannot tell you why I'm seeking the dismissal," Levin told a UPI reporter.

Levin said his dismissal petition offers no reason for the request. He said it was filed Monday in the court of U.S. District Judge Robert Varner.

"The petition asks for dismissal with prejudice," which would permit it to be refilled at a later time or in a different court.

Levin and attorney Morris Dees Jr. filed the suit last month, accusing a local poverty agency of illegally sterilizing Minnie Relf, 14, and Mary Alice Relf, 12. The suit claimed the girls and their mother, who can't read or write, thought the clinic was giving them "some sort of shots."

Levin and Dees later asked Varner to disqualify himself from the case on grounds the judge is racially prejudiced. The attorneys accused Varner of saying the sterilizations possibly were performed because the girls had had children, or perhaps venereal disease.

JFK tapes 'not bugs'

By United Press International

The late John F. Kennedy left his library nearly 200 recordings of telephone conversations and meetings, but aides to Kennedy and three other past U.S. presidents vigorously deny presidential "bugging" such as that under Richard M. Nixon.

Asked whether recent presidents bugged their meetings or phone calls without knowledge of the other party, former White House aides gave these answers:

—Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, military aide to the late President Harry S. Truman: "As far as I know there never was a tapped telephone in the White House." He said he knew "most everything going on" there.

—Sherman Adams, the right hand of President Dwight D. Eisenhower: "Answer negative."

—Arthur Schlesinger Jr.,

adviser to and chronicler of President John F. Kennedy: "It is absolutely inconceivable. It was not the sort of thing Kennedy would have done. The kind of people in the White House then would not have thought of doing something like that."

—Joseph Califano, aide to President Lyndon B. Johnson: "The White House was not wired for sound."

In Boston, Dan H. Fenn Jr., director of the John F. Kennedy

Library, said Friday that, as a result of inquiries prompted by the disclosure of the Nixon bugging, the library staff made a search and found 68 dictaphone belts recording Kennedy's telephone conversations and 125 magnetic tapes of Kennedy meetings.

There was no indication whether or not any of these were made in clandestine fashion without knowledge of others involved in the conversations.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JULY 20, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you can get the support of those who can help you gain your cherished longings...

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Contact one who can help you gain your most cherished aims...

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May. 20) Look to a good friend for the assistance you need for whatever is important to you now...

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get busy at those public and career matters that are important to your advancement...

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have the power to gain the aims you seek by joining with the right people now...

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get busy working out those requests others come out with even if they are not very interesting...

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Excellent time to show partners you know what they expect of you and understand their needs...

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) There is much work ahead of you and you would be wise to forget fun and give it until it is done...

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Having fun is fine provided you do not spend too much if you cannot afford it...

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Even though you may have to be in the business world, think of conditions at home and what should be done about them...

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure you get shopping and other errands done early so you can be at the hobbies that really delight you later...

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Introduce more economical measures in your field of operations for fine results; build up a sizable fund...

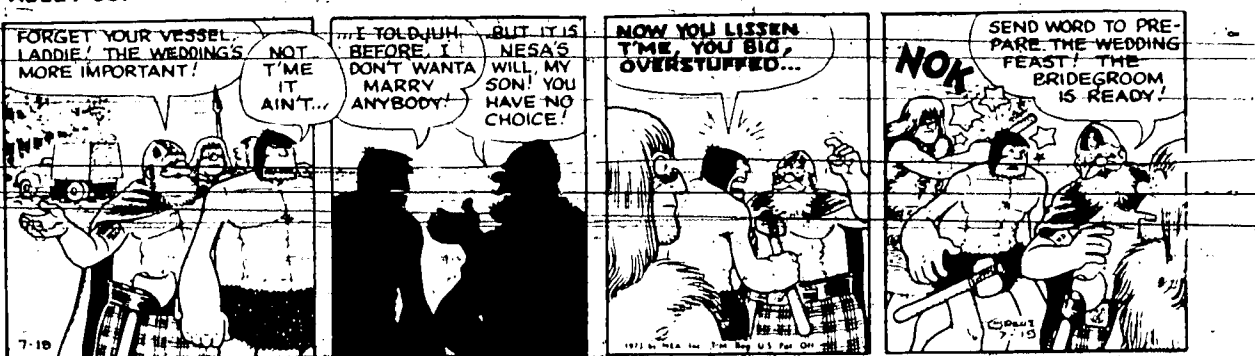

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study your reflection in the mirror and make yourself more attractive so others will be drawn to you more...

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those charming young people who will get quite emotional as the years go by...

OUT OUR WAY

EDDIE REICHART of Denver says the gasoline shortage is costing him from $300-$500 per month loss on auto repairs. He has refused to sell gas to anyone except his regular customers. The Denver area reportedly is one of the hardest hit by the squeeze on gasoline supplies. (UPI)

Shortage hurts

Miss Florida says charges 'mistake'

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — Ellen Meade, the Miss Florida beauty queen, contends that shoplifting charges filed against her resulted from a "misunderstanding."

Miss Meade was charged last April with the theft of a $39 midriff blouse from Maas Bros. store here, but this did not come to light until this week when a court appearance was delayed.

She is scheduled to appear in court July 24 and her attorney Larry Byrd said Tuesday "there apparently has been a serious misunderstanding of the facts."

"I intend to enter a not guilty plea to try to clear this up as quickly as possible so she can go on to the Miss America contest," Byrd said.

Miss Meade was not available for comment but Byrd and her mother both described her as "upset."

Dealer feels pinch

DENVER (UPI) — Eddie Reichardt says he's never seen it so bad, and he's been selling gas for 35 years.

Motorists waited in line to buy gas at the stations that were open Tuesday, and police sought a woman who pulled a gun on a taxi cab employe and demanded fuel from taxi pumps.

"It's all because of political graft," Reichardt said after he sold his daily quota of 680 gallons before noon, closed his station and went home early.

"If we get more Nixons and more Watergates, the whole country will go broke."

Reichardt said he would use up his July allotment of 15,000 gallons next week, and have to close for the rest of the month.

The American Automobile Association said most of the city's stations close on weekends and operate only four to five hours on weekdays now.

The gasoline shortage in Denver has been blamed on an increase in state population.

Bugs don't surprise foreign diplomats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A President, he comes as a worries. But when the President is meeting with senators, for example, that is a different matter.

The State Department said that it had received no protests or reaction from foreign governments following the disclosures at the Senate Watergate hearings about the secret recordings.

In testimony Monday, former White House aide Alexander P. Butterfield disclosed the existence of a highly secret recording system in the President's Oval Office and other White House rooms. He said that disclosure of the monitoring devices "could have a number of serious repercussions with regard to foreign governments."

One Soviet diplomat said it was his personal opinion that the Soviet Embassy was not particularly upset about the recordings which apparently were still being made when General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev of the Soviet Communist Party visited here last month.

"Your country has its own rules. It's really up to you," the diplomat said. "As I understand it, he was recording for his own purposes and that is his business."

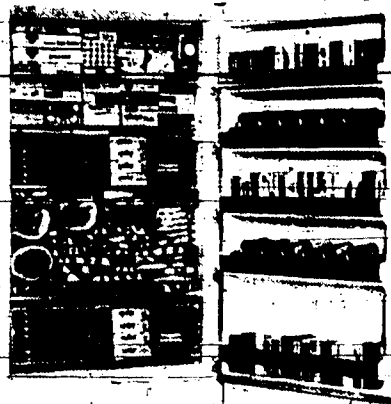

A Romanian diplomat, disagreed. "I think it is something unusual," he said. "Of course, if the visitor were told and was offered a transcript, that would be another matter."

A West German diplomat, also giving his private opinion, said that in foreign affairs such secret recordings do not have the same significance as they might in the internal affairs of the United States.

Fugitive's life said 'hell'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — "I've lived the last six years in Hell and ecstasy," record producer Tom Anthony said from his jail cell Tuesday.

"The Hell was knowing one day the FBI would walk up to me and say 'We know you're John Beck'. The ecstasy was living with my wife and two beautiful children and knowing that I had made a clear break from my prior life."

"That day when the FBI walked up came Monday.

Beck said he jumped parole six years ago in Atlanta after being told he could not visit his brother who is a captain on the Bibb County, Ga. security police. He had just two months left on probation at that time after being given a five-year white slavery term.

"So I went (to see his brother) anyway and from that point on I was in violation," Beck said. "I changed my name the next week to Tom Anthony. I really don't know why I chose that name other than it just came to me."

Privacy inquiry started

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson said today his Senate investigations subcommittee will begin right away an inquiry into the "right of privacy in the United States."

The Washington Democrat said disclosure Monday that many of President Nixon's major conversations in his office as well as on the telephone were tape-recorded was "a terrible shock" and led him to order his staff to start the investigation.

Jackson said the issue of privacy has taken on new dimensions with the development, coming out of the Senate's Watergate hearings, Jackson said the secret taping practice raises the question "How widespread is this?"

Jackson said "it goes to the heart of our civil liberties" and that "it is high time we found out" how prevalent the practice is in the national life.

"I'm going to get the staff started right away on it," he said in an interview on the NBC-TV Today Show.

Man owns town lock, stock, barrel

LAMONT, Wyo. (UPI) — Aldon Thornton owns everything in Lamont except the people. He paid $125,000 for two gas stations, a bar, dance hall, rental cabins, a grocery store, a trailer court, a barn and a horse.

"It's not very often that you get to buy a whole town," Thornton said Tuesday.

"We're really thrilled with the opportunity. We can foresee some wonderful possibilities and think the town can be developed into quite an oasis."

Army, Navy high brass wastes taxpayer money

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., charged Wednesday that many generals and admirals are "providing themselves with unbelievable luxuries and special privileges at public expense."

In remarks prepared for delivery to the Senate, Proxmire said the military "is fast becoming luxury-bound...it is time to return to the 'lean mean' officer corps concept that is so necessary for military preparedness."

The "soft life" examples cited by Proxmire included:

- Officers above the rank of major, dependents and some retired officers can get free airplane vacation flights anywhere in the world, and more than 336,000 free overseas trips were provided by the Pentagon last year.

- Military personnel are assigned to colonels and generals on such vacation trips to handle their bags, arrange for cars and escort them through customs.
- Besides basic pay, housing and food allowances totaling $40,030, four-star generals and admirals receive special tax and retirement benefits, free medical care and commissary privileges bringing total pay to more than $51,000 a year. That compares with $42,500 paid their spouses, the secretaries of the three services.
- Three-star generals and admirals also are given a personal allowance of $500 a year to spend as they see fit.

Libyans to press for Egypt unity

CAIRO (UPI) — A convoy of trucks and buses carrying an estimated 20,000 Libyans headed out of the Libyan capital of Tripoli today on a five-day, 1,600-mile march on Cairo to press for unity with Egypt. The move caught Egypt by surprise and President Anwar Sadat told Libya to stop it.

The convoy of students, youths from work camps and peasants, was carrying petitions written in blood demanding that Sadat go along with Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy to effect a full merger of Egypt and Libya on Sept. 1, the Libyan news agency said.

The surprise move followed Khadafy's apparent failure to win Egyptian support for unity during his 18 days of talks and meetings in Cairo with Sadat. It is questionable whether it could have started without Khadafy's prior approval.

The Libyan agency said the convoy, which started out from the Tripoli area earlier today, was picking up new recruits along its route. The agency said on leaving Tripoli the convoy comprised 20,000 people.

Sadat sent a cable to Khadafy telling him the march was unacceptable, but the march continued.

Summer feedings may harm grass

MOSCOW — Home owners should avoid fertilizing lawns during the hot, dry periods of July, August and early September.

Dr. R. D. Ensign, plant breeder and agronomist at the University of Idaho, said liberal fertilizer applications during these periods may actually weaken grass and decrease turf quality.

Grasses in Idaho and most northwest states are cool-season grasses — bluegrass, fescue, bentgrass. Most of these become somewhat dormant with restricted shoot growth during hot weather. Excess fertilizer, especially nitrogen, forces plants to grow in the dormant period, putting stress on the plant. This stress results in loss of roots, rhizomes and stolens. The plants may become susceptible to winter kill and disease. Ensign said.

A split annual application of fertilizer in the spring and fall is recommended rather than a summer application, Ensign said. Late fall fertilization is important to provide plant nutrients when cool-season grasses are building reserves and new shoots and roots for the subsequent spring and summer. Fertilizing in late spring provides additional nutrition for healthy, dense, plant growth with good color, Ensign stated.

Summer lawn care should include light, frequent watering, the College of Agriculture scientist added. The amount and frequency of watering depends on the type of soil and weather conditions. Usually light or sandy soils need to be watered more often than heavier soils.

Ensign said lawns need to be watered more often in hot, dry weather. Lawns should be watered whenever they show signs of dryness — dark discoloration of grass or dry spots, Ensign said.

June 1, 1895, rights are being filled.

Small wasps found in Lincoln fields

SHOSHONE — Area residents are assured the presence of so many small blue-black bees is not harmful.

Lincoln County Extension Agent Ivan Hopkins said an extension entomologist has identified the bee as a wasp, commonly known as the blue mud dauber, and it is one of the insects beneficial to man.

Ordinarily the bee lays its eggs in the body of the black widow spider and parasitic eggs kill the host insect.

Hopkins said there are many black widow spiders in the area.

Another type of wasp lays its eggs where grasshopper eggs have been deposited by the parent insect. The wasp eggs, upon hatching, devour the grasshopper eggs, a method thereby controlling the more destructive insect.

Appointed

PROMOTED TO office administrator for the Idaho Potato Commission is Gladys I. Muguira, Boise. Mrs. Muguira has been with the commission from 1954-58 and from 1963 until the present. The move was among administrative changes placing more emphasis on marketing and promotion by commission officials.

Rainfall lack hits NW wheat

RITZVILLE, Wash. (UPI) — Eastern Washington wheat farmers are experiencing the worst crop conditions in 35 years and next year may be just as bad, says M. Snell Weatherford, executive secretary of the Washington Association of Wheat Growers. Weatherford said he can recall wheat crop conditions for the last 35 years and said this year has been the worst because many farmers will not be able to plant seed in the fall.

He said lack of rain has created a "disastrous condition" for wheat farmer and little hope can be held for a better crop next year.

Weatherford did, however, say crop quality is generally good in those areas harvesting. He said with conditions the way they are, the kernels are usually shrunken, but not his year.

New protein source created

(c) New York Times Service
NEW ORLEANS — An Agriculture Department laboratory here has developed a process that could make cottonseed an important source of low-cost protein for human consumption.

The process is already being used to manufacture a limited amount of cottonseed food in India. A Texas mill will start producing this country's first supplies this month.

Cottonseed is one of the richest sources of protein, and cotton is indigenous to much of the world. Until now, however, the seed has never been widely used as a food for humans.

It has long been an important feed for cattle and sheep. But the seed contains a pigment gland called gossypol that is detrimental to humans. The substance reduces growth and depresses the appetite of one-stomach animals.

Scientists and engineers at the Agriculture Department's Southern Regional Research Center here have invented what they call a liquid cyclone process to remove gossypol.

The seed is ground to a powder and placed in a cylinder. Liquid is added and the nutrients are forced out the top by centrifugal action, allowing the gossypol and the seed oil to drain away. The portion of seed containing the gossypol can be used for animal feed and the oil for other purposes.

"We are enthusiastic about cottonseed," said Mrs. Wilda H. Martinez, the laboratory's research leader for protein products. "Most people concerned with diet would agree that we eat far too much meat and would be better off consuming more vegetable protein."

Meats contain minerals and vitamins not found in cottonseed, but cottonseed is much richer in protein than any meat or fish, Mrs. Martinez said.

Cottonseed flour produced by the liquid cyclone process is 60 to 70 per cent protein. By comparison, she said, raw fish, pork, beef and chicken have 16 to 20 per cent protein. These foods gain a few percentage points of protein through cooking because of the loss of moisture. Whole milk is about 3.5 per cent protein. Wheat flour is 10 to 12 per cent.

Soybean flour, a rich source of vegetable protein that is now in short supply, has about 50 per cent protein.

Cottonseed has been used for human consumption in limited amounts for about 25 years. But the process used heretofore to deactivate the gossypol, by use of heat, has also damaged the protein. The new process, although still so imperfect that it can extract only about 57 per cent of the protein from the seed, does not damage the protein.

The cottonseed flour can be further processed to make concentrates and isolates with much higher proportions of protein.

Cottonseed food is bland in taste. That may make it more flexible than soybean foods, which have a pronounced "heavy" taste. Because of its blandness, the researchers say, cottonseed can be added to a large number of other foods to enrich them without affecting their taste.

Carey plans celebration

CAREY—Carey is gearing up for its annual Pioneer Days celebration and rodeo Friday and Saturday.

Celebration events will begin at 6 p.m. Friday with the queen contest under the direction of Rick Mechem.

Rodeo action will be featured each evening beginning at 8 p.m. at the Carey rodeo grounds, with the Spur Rowel Rodeo Co. as the stock producer.

The shows will include bareback, saddle bronc and bull riding; calf and team roping; bull dogging, and girl's barrel racing.

On Saturday, a parade will begin at 10:30 a.m. in Carey, with a total of $120 offered in prize money. Categories will include church, civic, commercial and children.

A lunch will begin at 11:30 a.m. at the Carey fairgrounds. At 2 p.m. horse races will be conducted and a total of $650 will be offered in prize money. An entry fee will be charged for the competition.

Races will include the following: Quarter mile stock horse; a three-eighths mile "free for all"; cloverleaf; thurnback; seven-barrel; 220 yard; novelty; relay; spud, and musical chair races.

Streets sports will follow the races.

Chairman for the celebration is Blaine Tingey, with Walter Peck as secretary. Committee members include Harry O'Crowley, Lloyd Davis, Rick Mechem, Lloyds Justesen, Robert Hennefer and Robert Pyrah.

Soviets lack suds

MOSCOW (UPI)—When you're out of Tulsakaya Pivo, you're out of beer in some of the hottest spots in the Soviet Union.

Hundreds of thousands of suds sippers in Tula, Azerbaidjan, Khirghizia and Uzbekistan are without beer or in some cases able to find only stuff that no one can drink.

The Communist party youth newspaper Komsomolskya Pravda reported the sad news to beer drinkers after sending a reporter on a round of breweries and bars.

His report Tuesday concentrated on Tula, a city of 500,000 located 80 miles south of Anigr.

"I looked all over Tula," the reporter said. "I couldn't find a single beer."

Tula has one "very small" factory that makes its own beer—ask for it by name, Tulsakaya Pivo—but the factory's conveyor belt broke and it shut down.

Another problem is lack of pasteurization.

Only three factories, in Moscow, Leningrad and Lvov, pasteurize beer, allowing its storage for as long as three months.

Salmon City water shortage critical

SALMON—The Salmon water shortage grew more critical this week and the city placed new restrictions on sprinkling.

Outland is sprinkling from 1 to 5 p.m.

Extended heat produced a heavy drain on the city's water supply, from Jesse and Pollard Creeks with the reservoir running dry in the afternoons.

Virgil Schofield city works superintendent, said "that unless water pressure is maintained in the lines there could be a serious danger in case of a fire."

The ban on sprinkling from 1 to 5 p.m. went into effect Wednesday.

The present regulations also require sprinkling on the east side of the Salmon River and above 14th Street on the Bar on odd numbered days and the Bar on the west side to 14th Street on even numbered days.

A water short season developed with a low snow pack disappearing from the mountains—several weeks early.
