

Demonstrations delighted aide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — H. R. Haldeman wrote "good" and "great" next to notations on a memo saying violent and profane demonstrations could be expected when President Nixon and the Rev. Billy Graham appeared at a rally in Charlotte, N.C., last October.

Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., produced the memo at today's Senate Watergate committee hearing and said it showed that the Nixon White House welcomed demonstrations against the President because of the political backlash such events could inspire.

Haldeman, returning for a third day of testimony, said that was not the case, and insisted Weicker misinterpreted the memo. He acknowledged writing the word "good" alongside a sentence which said demonstrators at the Oct. 5 rally "will be violent" and "will have obscene signs."

today in brief

16 new probes aired

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Post said today it has learned of 16 previously unreported secret investigations ordered by White House aides against such diverse figures as House Speaker Carl Albert, the Smothers brothers and the producers of an anti-Nixon movie called "Millhouse."

Quoting "reliable sources," Post reporters Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein said most of the investigations were carried out by Anthony T. Ulasevich, the former New York City policeman who has twice testified in the Watergate hearings, and that "virtually all" of them were ordered by former White House aides John D. Ehrlichman or H. R. Haldeman.

Impeachment proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Massachusetts congressman on the White House "enemies list" has introduced a resolution calling for the impeachment of President Nixon.

Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., a Jesuit priest, said in introducing the resolution Tuesday that "I have come to the point where I must follow my convictions and my conscience and recommend that the House of Representatives pursue its duty."

Nixon-Tanaka talks end

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon and Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka completed two days of talks today with a joint pledge to help rehabilitate war-torn Indochina, when a "stable and lasting peace" is finally achieved.

A communique issued after the two leaders held a final, one hour, 45-minute meeting in Nixon's White House office, said Nixon would visit Japan before the end of 1974 and that Emperor Hirohito would visit America at an unspecified time.

Convicts slay guard

MCALISTER, Okla. (UPI) — Convicts at the Oklahoma State Prison stabbed to death a fellow inmate and severely beat another during the night in the prison yard, officials reported today.

The new violence occurred within sight of highway patrol officers and National Guardsmen who were unable to reach the disturbance in time, prison officials said.

Automaker admits bugging

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors Corp. has admitted its plant security section at a South Bend, Ind., facility bugged United Auto Workers meetings for several months during 1972.

An AMC spokesman said Tuesday the electronic surveillance occurred at a subsidiary company, AM General Corp., without its full knowledge until this July 5. The spokesman said an immediate investigation was launched which culminated in the resignation of two company officials.

Moses found in weeds

CHICAGO (UPI) — The 8-pound baby is called Moses because, like the biblical baby, he was found in a bed of weeds along the water's edge.

The black-haired, brown-eyed baby was described by nurses at Columbus Hospital today as two to four weeks old, "extremely handsome," and apparently in good physical condition.

E. Germany's Ulbricht dies

BERLIN (UPI) — Walter Ulbricht, East German chief of state and founding father of Communist East Germany, died today of heart failure, the East German government announced.

He was 80. Ulbricht suffered a stroke July 19 and earlier official East German reports said he had been confined to his bed in a luxurious stone villa inside a guarded compound for party and government elite near the town of Liepnitz.

Falsifiers 'should be fired'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., says anyone who "knowingly authorized" false reports to Congress on the bombing in Cambodia should be fired, including President Nixon.

Asked if this extended to Nixon, Anderson replied, "If the President knowingly authorized deception of this kind to keep facts from Congress, yes."

TF food: up 1/3% each day

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Food prices have risen more than one-third of a per cent every day since the price freeze ended.

According to the Times-News price survey of five Twin Falls supermarkets, food prices jumped an unprecedented 4.5 per cent in the 11 days following the end of the freeze at mid-month.

Prior to the freeze, prices had been racing upward at about one half per cent each week.

A basketful of groceries that would have cost $10 at the beginning of the year had jumped to $11.11 by mid July — 11 per cent higher than at the beginning of the year.

But just 11 days after the end of the freeze the same groceries would have cost another 51 cents. The $10 basket of groceries had jumped to $11.62 during the seven months since Jan. 1.

Most dramatic was the skyrocketing cost of eggs since the lift on the price ceiling of all food items except beef. Large grade AA eggs averaged 77 cents per dozen July 18 and 97.4 cents per dozen 11 days later, up 27 per cent.

Bob Evans, manager of Olsen Farms Inc., in Hagerman, said that the skyrocketing price of eggs is due to rising feed prices coupled with the previous freeze.

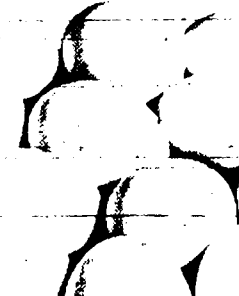

When the freeze was on, Evans said, many poultry farmers found it more economical to kill chicks than to feed them for future egg laying.

A letter from Dean Olsen, president of Olsen, also cited expanding demand as a cause for the rising egg prices.

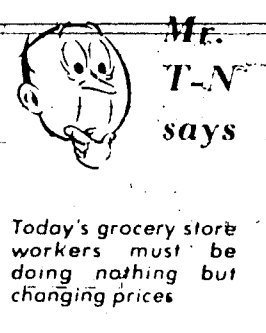

Dean said that when prices were frozen, eggs were selling at the lowest price in 30 years. These prices were impossible to keep stable, he said.

Dean added that egg prices in Idaho are substantially below market prices nationwide. In some regions large, grade-AA eggs are selling for more than $1 per dozen. Even at these prices, eggs offer more protein per $1 spent than other forms of protein foods, such as beef, he said. The rising cost of bacon was also dramatic. Falls Brand bacon cost on the average $1.24 per pound July 18. Monday evening not one of the five stores surveyed had Falls Brand bacon in stock. The price of other brands averaged $1.52 per pound.

Desert fires rage

TWIN FALLS — A Bureau of Land Management official said today he couldn't estimate when fire fighters and their equipment might control two large range fires in the Owyhee Desert 40 miles southwest of Twin Falls.

The fires have already consumed about 35,000 acres of rangeland. About 500 men and their equipment have been called in to fight the blazes.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus was prepared today to declare a state of emergency to permit National Guard troops to offer support for the men at the fires. But Andrus' action would only formalize the situation at the fires, since Guard kitchen units were dispatched to the area about 3 a.m. today, according to a BLM spokesman.

According to John Sherod of the Boise District of the BLM, one fire is located about six miles west of the Twin Falls County line at the Clover Flat Crossing. It is burning about 17,000 acres, he said.

The second fire, five miles west across the East Fork of the Bruneau River, located at One Horse Butte, had destroyed 18,000 acres.

Both fires were lightning caused, Sherod said, and broke out Monday afternoon. More and more men and equipment were sent to the area over the next day and a half, he said, as the fires grew.

The 500 men from the BLM and Boise Interagency Fire Center were being assisted with retardant drops from two BLM airplanes, as well as by eight caterpillars, 11 ground tankers, four helicopters and several ground units.

US jets hit rebel Cambodians

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — U.S. warplanes flew heavy air strikes four miles south of Phnom Penh today, flying over the capital to attack rebel concentrations on the east bank of the Bassac River across from the suburb of Takhmau.

Heavy fighting was reported southeast of Phnom Penh along Highways 2 and 30.

Army officers told newsmen the insurgents apparently were concentrating their efforts on driving government forces back towards Takhmau, which lies only four miles southeast of Phnom Penh.

U.S. F4 fighter-bombers followed up raids by B52s bombers aimed at routing the rebels from positions close to the city.

Warplanes dropped bombs during the night less than six miles south of Phnom Penh's center and reverberations from the blasts shook the city all night. It was the 147th day of an intensive U.S. air war that must end Aug. 15 under an agreement between Congress and President Nixon.

Field reports also said American warplanes carried out raids about six miles to the northwest of the capital, attacking insurgent concentrations within a few miles of the city's Pochentong airport.

The Cambodian military command said ground fighting took place southeast and southwest of Phnom Penh.

Judge refuses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall today refused to order an immediate halt to U.E. bombing in Cambodia.

A court spokesman said attorneys for the American Civil Liberties Union intended to make the same appeal to Justice William O. Douglas, who is vacationing at his summer retreat in Goose Prairie, Wash.

Marshall, in a 12-page opinion, said, "I would exceed my legal authority were I, acting alone, to grant this application."

Columnist linked to campaign plea

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gulf & Western Industries Inc. was asked last year to contribute "services" to President Nixon's campaign, company sources said today.

They said the request had been first by Herbert W. Kalmbach, then the President's personal lawyers, and later by William L. Safire, a special assistant to President Nixon and now a columnist for the New York Times.

Safire's column appears in the Times-News. Federal law prohibits a company from making any contributions to a political campaign.

Both Safire and Martin S. Davis, a senior vice president at Gulf & Western, a conglomerate whose companies include Paramount Pictures, confirmed today that they talked about contributions to the campaign, but Davis said he could not remember if services had been specifically mentioned.

Other-Gulf & Western executives said, however, that Kalmbach and Safire had solicited such services as campaign films from the company but they were turned down.

Safire said that he had been asked by Kalmbach to talk with Davis "in terms of services" and had done so. But after he met with Davis, he said, he called Kalmbach and said that he did not want to purport the matter.

"I just didn't like the feel of it," Safire recalled. "I didn't know if it was illegal or anything. I had never done any fund-raising."

Solons OK farm bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has passed the huge, four-year farm and food stamp bill, responding to Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz's statement he was dropping his plans to recommend a veto.

The measure, passed Tuesday night by the Senate, was shipped to the House, where it was expected to receive final consideration before the congressional recess begins at the end of the week. Republican leaders reported they had an "understanding" that President Nixon would sign the compromise.

One major remaining obstacle was a proposed ban on food stamps for strikers which was approved by the House in an earlier version of the bill but ignored by the Senate in its first action on the measure in June, and defeated on the Senate floor Tuesday night.

House backers of the ban could try to reinstate it when the measure returns to the House.

despite a warning by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., that inclusion of the ban would "kill the bill" by forcing House liberals to desert on a final passage vote.

The bill includes a four-year support plan for grains and cotton under which growers would get subsidy payments only if market prices fall below congressionally set "targets." This is a sharp departure from current law, expiring this year, which provides fixed subsidy payments in most cases no matter how high market prices go. It also raises the floor under milk supports to 90 per cent of parity for the 1974 and 1975 marketing years.

Administration experts have estimated that grain and cotton subsidy costs under the new bill in 1974 may drop to $800 million from the $3.8 billion level of 1972 and the estimated $2.8 billion in 1973 payments.

Hot waste buried over Idaho water

By DWIGHT JENSEN
Special to the Times-News
ARCO — Picture to yourself as asphalt parking lot, hundreds of feet long and about 80 feet wide, smack in the middle of a flat expanse of sagebrush desert.

On the parking lot stand thousands of white 55-gallon drums, stacked four deep, each layer covered with a sheet of plastic. The far end of the stack is being covered with dirt by a man riding a small tractor with a dozer blade attached.

What you're visualizing is the disposal site for atomic waste at the National Reactor Testing Station west of Idaho Falls.

Items that have been contaminated with radioactivity are placed in those stainless steel barrels — which are, in turn, lined inside with polyethylene to further resist corrosion — placed on asphalt pads, and covered with earth.

Each barrel bears a sheet of paper telling what's inside. One barrel might contain radioactive sludge left over from a processing activity and mixed with cement as it is put into the disposal barrel.

Another might contain some coveralls, tools, and pipe, all of which have become radioactive. A computer record is kept of the contents of each of the 200,000 or so barrels that have been filled so far. In the future, particular barrels could be pulled out for resorting, or for extraction of radioactive fuel (a barrel of waste might contain one gram of plutonium), or so that burnable items could be burned and the ashes buried.

This was not always the way the AEC disposed of waste at the NRTS. Prior to the fall of 1970 there were no asphalt pads. The containers were simply buried.

3 charged in cycle larceny

HAILEY — Three men have been charged with grand larceny in connection with the theft of a motorcycle July 4 in Hailey.

Arrested in Mountain Home Sunday evening by Hailey police officer Douglas Williams were Joe Sunny, 22, and Steven Bennett, 20, both Mountain Home.

Allan J. Mendenhall, 22, Preston, was transferred Monday from Franklin County to the Blaine County jail by Sheriff Orville Drexler and Hailey police officer Ron Wyatt.

Bennett and Sunny have been released to military authorities, pending court action. Mendenhall remained in custody this morning in the Blaine County jail.

Williams said the motorcycle, owned by Tom Marlow, Hailey, was recovered in Bear River, Utah.

At one time there were no steel barrels — the waste might be put into wooden boxes or, in the early days, into cardboard boxes. But in the fall of 1969 people began to be concerned about those methods of disposal.

Plutonium has a half-life of 25,000 years, meaning the radiation was going to last for a long time, and the fear was expressed that rains could leach the radioactivity down through the soil until it would eventually reach the Snake River aquifer, the water supply that flows about 500 feet below the burial ground and comes out eventually into the Snake River at The Thousands Springs.

Some radioactivity, the result of processing operations, was injected directly into the aquifer, but the AEC said this was in such small amounts, and consisted of materials with such short half-lives, that it would not endanger the aquifer.

Then and now, water from the aquifer was periodically drawn from many wells on and off the site and tested, and the AEC says no radioactivity in dangerous or even measurable amounts has moved more than five miles from its point of entry into the aquifer, and no radioactive water has flowed out from under the site.

It is not only waste from the site itself that is disposed of here. Some atomic waste is imported from other areas for disposal here.

Waste too large to fit inside the barrels is placed in large wooden boxes that have been covered with fiberglass.

AEC officials say that any of these containers should resist corrosion, and consequent leakage of radioactivity, for at least 20 years. Pipes are inserted into the stacks so they jut above the covering layer of earth.

Monitoring tools can be lowered into these pipes to check for leaking radiation, and if any is found the offending containers will be dug up and the material in them repackaged.

More digging up is planned. The AEC now recognizes the need to dig up that old burial ground and repackage those wastes in safer containers. But it's easier said than done. More than $600,000 has been spent in research on how to do it, and more is yet to be spent.

Officials hope that the 1976 budget will include money for the actual redispal of these wastes — and they estimate that the cost will run to millions of dollars and the job may be spread over a number of years.

It is probable that a building will have to be constructed over the burial ground or a part of it, to protect workers and the atmosphere.

Not only will the old wastes be dug up and repackaged. Any dirt they have contaminated with radioactivity will also be placed in those stainless steel drums for redispal.

The monitoring, and the search for safer methods, are to continue into the future, and the AEC officials at this installation seem confident that they can protect the public and its water supply from dangerous radiation in the future.

Tragedy restores woman's sight

READING, England (UPI) — A coroner said Monday that a woman who lost her sight five months ago regained it when told her husband had killed their baby daughter and then committed suicide.

Mrs. Rita Thick, 25, was in the hospital undergoing treatment for blindness caused by worry, doctors said, when she received news that her husband John, 23, had killed their daughter Jacqueline and then himself.

"The news was broken to Mrs. Thick and at the same time she regained the use of her eyes," said coroner Robert Wilson.

He said the child was found asphyxiated in her crib at the Thick's home. Thick died from a drug overdose, he said.

The coroner said Thick left a note reading, "Jacqueline is dead. God help me for doing it. How I don't know, but I must end it myself."

The coroner's jury ruled Thick's death a suicide and ruled murder in the case of his daughter's death.

Buck Owens plays at Cassia fair

BURLEY — Some good 'old foot-tappin', tear-jerkin', big-time country western music will echo from the bleachers at the Cassia County Fairgrounds August 15.

For the seventh consecutive year the Burley Exchange Club is organizing a country-western jamboree in conjunction with the Cassia County Fair and Rodeo.

This year, Buck Owens and his All-American Show are coming to town. Owens, a country music legend in his own right, will bring with him his Buckaroos, LaWanda Linsey, Tony Booth, the Bakersfield Brasa and Buddy

Alan, who is Owen's son. The jamboree was first organized in 1967 and has featured some little-known entertainers who have since become famous for their music, like Charley Pride, who appeared in 1967 and again in 1969.

With the money from the jamboree, the Exchange Club has built a performing stage and bleachers for use at the fairgrounds and has donated a coronary heart machine and bed to the Cassia Memorial Hospital.

Tickets for the event go on sale August 1 in front of Bryan's Cafe.

BUHL. — Raymond G. Herzinger, M.D., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Herzinger, Buhl, has received his discharge from the U.S. Army and entered private medical practice in Annapolis, Md.

Dr. Herzinger graduated from the George Washington School of Medicine in 1965 and received his specialty training in urology at the Walter Reed Army Medical Center. He spent three years at Fort George G. Meade, Md., where he became certified by the American Board of Urology.

He lives in Laurel, Md., with his wife, the former Imelda Cronin, Dublin, Ireland, and his two sons, Shawn and Neil. He is a graduate of Buhl High School.

GOODING — Airman Milton D. Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest V. Jenkins, Rt. 2, Gooding, has been assigned to Grissom AFB, Ind., after completing Air Force basic training.

During his six weeks at the Air Training Command's Lackland AFB, Tex., he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

The airman has been assigned to a unit of the Strategic Air Command for further training and duty as a computer systems specialist.

Airman Jenkins was graduated in 1963 from Gooding High School and attended Ricks College, Rexburg.

Belfast violence spreads to Bogside

BELFAST (UPI) — Youths erected barricades and lit bonfires in their onetime strongholds in the Creggan and Bogside areas of Londonderry late Monday and Tuesday, then hurled bombs, rocks and bottles at troops who intervened.

The mob turned out Monday night to mark the first anniversary of an army security operation that cleared away barricades and opened the two areas.

Violence spilled over into the early hours Tuesday when demonstrators in the city's Bogside area hurled seven bombs, one at an army post. The army said there were no casualties, but troops reported they fired at a suspected gunman in a top-floor building window and may have hit him.

An army spokesman said because of crowds in the streets, troops were unable to search for the man.

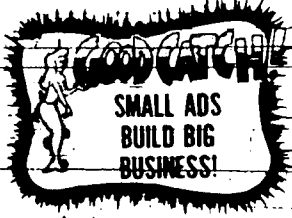

Earlier, the spokesman said, British troops fired rubber bullets and tear gas to disperse about 30 youths who set fire to three cars and hurled rocks at soldiers.

The extremist Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) warned Tuesday it will deal sternly with anyone who removes bombs planted in shops.

"There has been an increase in the number of people who dare to carry bombs out of the premises in which they are placed," The Provisional statement said. "This will not be allowed to continue."

"We would like to give final notice that this practice must stop and that people responsible for it will be dealt with in the most severe manner," the Provisionals said.

So far, 855 persons have died in four years of violence among Roman Catholics, Protestants and the security forces.

Astronauts to perform head moves

HOUSTON (UPI) — The men of Skylab 2, slowly rebounding from space age seasickness, undergo initial medical tests today to monitor their reactions to the strange world of weightlessness.

With the first spacewalk of their two-month journey put off until Saturday to give them plenty of time to get over the lingering illness, Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma concentrated on research aspects of the mission.

A series of head movements were planned for Garriott and Lousma to see how well the inner ear balancing system responds to the unique environment in the big space ship. They also scheduled experiments to show how the heart and body chemistry were faring in their new world.

Bean told mission control Tuesday night the day's flight plan looked good but the crew would have to take it easy in performing the head movements.

"We're going to give it a go and just be careful," Bean said.

"Our concern was the fact that everybody's a little unsettled so they were afraid they might not be able to recover very fast."

Like land lubbers getting their sea legs, the Navy captain said, the astronauts made progress in settling their upset stomachs but faced a dilemma when they eat.

"Everybody feels pretty good until meal time comes," he said. "Then we're kind of caught in the squeeze between trying to decide whether we ought to eat all that we have, to keep our stomach full and our strength up, or eat what we want, which isn't very much."

NASA Dr. George Armstrong said the astronauts were "around the corner but not up on their feet yet." Bean reported they had increased their food intake and all exercised on the ship's bicycle, plus Bean himself jogged around the locker storage area.

But Armstrong said, "As Daniel Boone would describe it, they're not bright-eyed and bushy-tailed yet."

Shortage of beef causes hoarding

United Press International. Meat packers by the thousands were out of jobs today as a shortage of beef spread throughout the nation.

Panic buyers hoarded meat in home freezers, meat distributors reported they were sold out by Tuesday, butchers turned away customers—and even the White House was turned down by its beef supplier.

The American consumer was faced with prospects of eliminating from family menus hamburger, steak, meatloaf, meatballs and roast beef—and eating instead cheese, pork, fish, poultry and lamb chops. One agricultural expert said the nation's big cities will "suffer like hell."

By Tuesday, the shortage of beef still centered mostly in the processing, distributing, and wholesaling end of the business—but several spots around the nation reported the shortage had already hit the supermarket.

In New Jersey, "beef is almost nonexistent at this point," according to Gerald Gilligan, director of the meat division of the Wakefern Food Corp., a statewide group of grocery stores. "We are in dire straits for beef."

In Baltimore, Paul Diamond, the head buyer for 10 Food-A-Rama supermarkets, said beef supplies are 40 per cent of normal.

In Detroit, Edward Deeb, chief of the Associated Food Dealers of Michigan said the shortage to grocery shoppers was already serious and would get critical within a week.

"We have received reports of panic buying and hoarding in the Detroit area, and such conditions will bring us closer to the critical stage," he said.

Deeb urged President Nixon to lift the retail price freeze on beef before Sept. 12, the date announced in the President's Phase Four economic plan.

Wrinkle remover said dangerous

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) said today a facial wrinkle remover treatment for sale in various parts of the country may be dangerous, offers only a temporary cure and may be more expensive than similar treatment by a plastic surgeon.

It also announced that it had won a temporary court order to stop the company involved—Forever-Young Inc., Denver, Colo.—from engaging in what it said was false advertising.

The agency issued a proposed complaint which said the treatment involves the use of carbolic acid to peel off the outer layer of skin, and that such a process may be poisonous. It said one patient allegedly died after the treatment.

But the company's advertising, the complaint said, does not mention that pain, discomfort or danger may be involved in the treatment.

"In reality," the FTC said, "the pain can be so severe that patients are sedated or anesthetized before the application of acid and may require medication for days, weeks or months afterward to reduce pain and other discomforts."

The complaint also alleges that the treatment carries the risk of infection and may scar the skin; that it lasts only from 16 to 18 months before the natural aging process shows up again; and that plastic surgeons throughout the nation use the same process under stricter medical control for a fraction of the $2,500 that Forever Young charges for it.

Watergate small, murky, says Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, his mind evidently on Watergate, said in a toast to Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka Tuesday night his time in office was too short to be concerned with "small, murky, unimportant, vicious things."

Nixon, who concludes his official talks with Tanaka today and has accepted an invitation to visit Japan before the end of next year, told Tanaka, "let others spend their time on the small, murky, unimportant, vicious things. We will spend our time building a better world."

"We are devoted to the proposition for the time that we are in a position of political influence that our influence will be used to build a better world and not be dissipated on little things," Nixon said in his toast at a state dinner.

Referring to his talks with Tanaka earlier Tuesday, Nixon told the White House dinner guests "it would make lively conversation to say that, like a couple of rug merchants, we haggled over textiles and trade, but these were not the subjects. We discussed the role we have to play in the brief time he and I are in a position of world leadership."

It was the second time in as many weeks that Nixon alluded to the "little time" he feels he has to accomplish his goals while in the White House.

He first referred to "his second term as a brief span of time when leaving Bethesda Naval hospital after an eight-day bout with viral pneumonia. In his toast Nixon said, "after our short time on this world stage, what do we leave, really, only the battles we fought, only the opponents we did in, only the viciousness we created—or the reality of the world, the millions of young people we wanted to live in peace?"

In his reply, Tanaka, speaking through an interpreter, stressed the importance of friendship and better understanding between Japan and the United States.

"The strong bond of friends who weather together many a storm and blizzard is the real precious wealth that Japan and the United States share," Tanaka said.

Laotian treaty includes US POWs

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Informed sources said today the Communist Pathet Lao has agreed, under American urging, to include a provision on POWs in a proposed Laotian peace treaty.

Such a provision, the sources said, might provide information on the fates of 318 Americans listed as missing in action in Laos.

Government and Pathet Lao negotiators met again Tuesday in another effort to iron out points in the protocol. Tentative agreement on it was announced last weekend.

The sources said Phoumi Vongvichit, the chief Pathet Lao negotiator, agreed to include the provision in a protocol forming a coalition government and setting in motion machinery for the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Laos.

Several hundred U.S. military and Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) advisers are involved in any withdrawal plans as well as about 17,000 Thai "volunteer" troops paid by the CIA and an estimated 60,000 North Vietnamese troops in the country.

Phoumi agreed, the sources said, to a provision "expanding" article 5 of the cease-fire agreement signed last Feb. 21, but they did not elaborate.

Approval of euthanasia up sharply since 1950

By GEORGE GALLUP
PRINCETON, N. J. — Public approval of "mercy killing" has increased sharply since a 1950 survey.

A majority of Americans (53 per cent) now hold the view that, when a person has a disease which cannot be cured, doctors should be allowed by law to end the patient's life by some painless means if the patient and his family request it.

In the 1950 survey, only about one-third of Americans (36 per cent) said they approved of "mercy killing" or euthanasia.

The most dramatic change in views on euthanasia over this 23-year period has occurred among adults under 30 years of age. In the earlier survey, 39 per cent of the young group approved of this practice, similar to the percentage recorded at that time for older groups in the population. The latest approval figure among young adults is 67 per cent.

Two recent dramatic incidents have renewed discussion of euthanasia. In one, a young man was accused of fatally shooting his brother who had been paralyzed in a motorcycle accident and who had pleaded for death.

In the other incident, a physician has been charged with the "wilful" murder of a cancer victim who was in a comatose state and was believed to have two days, at most, to live.

The indictment of the physician appears to be the first legal action taken against a physician since 1949.

Dr. Malcolm C. Todd, president-elect of the American Medical Association, has argued physicians should not have to make the decisions on mercy killing by themselves. He suggests that board made up of diverse kinds of people make the needed determination.

To measure the current support for legalized euthanasia, the Gallup poll repeated a question asked previously in 1950: "When a person has a disease that cannot be cured, do you think doctors should be allowed by law to end the patient's life by some painless means if the patient and his family request it?"

The results show men and women holding similar views. Protestants and Catholics are also in close accord on the issue. The higher the level of a person's formal education, the more likely he is to support euthanasia. Six in 10 among the college group think doctors should be allowed to practice mercy killing.

The question, should doctors be allowed to practice euthanasia, is answered in sequence with yes, no or no opinion.

National, 53, 40, 7; Men 53, 40, 7; Women 53, 40, 7; College Background 61, 34, 5.

High school 54, 40, 6; Grade school 39, 51, 10; Under 30 years, 67, 30, 3; 30 and over, 44, 47, 9; Protestants, 53, 40, 7; Catholics, 48, 46, 6.

The following table shows the changes in approval between 1950 and today. These changes are most pronounced among younger adults, and persons with a college background.

Change since 1950 — show the following in this order, 1950, yes, latest yes and changes.
 National, 36, 53 (plus) 17; Men, 38, 53, (plus) 15; Women, 34, 53 (plus) 19; College, 42, 61, (plus) 19.

High School, 39, 54 (plus) 15; Grade school, 31, 39, (plus) 8; Under 30 years, 39, 67 (plus) 28; 30-49 years, 37, 51, (plus) 14; 50 and over 33, 44 (plus) 11.

Among those interviewed who favor legalized euthanasia is a 25-year-old computer engineer from Maryland:

"Under the present system of medical care, a prolonged and hopeless illness can lead to total financial ruin for the patient's family, which only adds to the patient's torment in his last days."

Another who supports the "right to die" is a young Raleigh, N.C., executive: "I do not believe in miracles, and if there is no medical cure why should the person suffer longer and die with no honor or self-esteem?"

A Union City, N.J., attorney commented: "I strongly support making euthanasia legal because it shortens the suffering for the patient and shortens the agony of helplessness that his loved ones feel as they watch him slip away."

Opposition to mercy killing is expressed by a salesman from Somerville, N.J., who said: "No person should have the right to decide life or death for another human being. Life is a gift of God. Everything should be done to relieve suffering, and if death is inevitable, let it follow naturally."

A 47-year-old technician holds this view: "Perhaps there may be cases which would warrant such a law, but if passed, it would most assuredly be abused."

The findings for the latest survey are based on interviews with a total of 1,544 adults, 18 and older, interviewed in person in more than 300 scientifically selected localities across the nation during the period July 6-9.

Firm asked to give 'services'

Charles G. Bludhorn, chairman of Gulf & Western, said he was invited by Kalmbach in 1972 and asked for a personal contribution. Bludhorn said he had turned him down as he had numerous others from both major parties who had solicited political contributions from him.

"I was very clear to him about it," Bludhorn said. Kalmbach, who could not be reached for comment today, went to other executives in the company, including Davis, company sources said.

Davis said he had also turned down Kalmbach, but later had gotten a call from Safire, whom he had known when Safire was a public relations representative in New York.

He said that Safire had come to New York on Feb. 25, 1972, and had met with him at the Four Seasons Restaurant.

"We talked about contributions but I don't remember the details," he said. "If services were mentioned, it went by me."

Safire said that he had stayed away from fund raising while at the White House, but in this one instance he had consented to talk to Davis when Kalmbach had asked him to do so.

Safire said that he had gotten the impression from Kalmbach that Gulf & Western executives wanted to help and "talked in terms of services."

He said he couldn't remember whether he had called Davis or whether Davis had called him. Davis said that Safire had initiated the call and had asked to see him.

Safire said that when he had met with Davis, they talked about how Gulf & Western executives could help in the campaign. "We talked about films and the fact that they had a film capability," Safire said. "It was left indeterminate as to what they could do."

Davis called him a few days later in Washington, he recalled. "He was vague, hinted about contributions."

At that point Safire said that he had called Kalmbach and told him he didn't want to pursue the matter further and Kalmbach had told him to "forget it."

Sources in the company said that Kalmbach had gone to Gulf & Western executives and had asked them to contribute one per cent of their net worth, or a total of $100,000.

When they turned him down, he brought up the contribution of services by the company, the sources said.

They added that when company officials rejected that suggestion as well, Kalmbach dropped out of the picture and Safire entered.

Kalmbach it has been disclosed, obtained an illegal corporate contribution of $55,000 from American Airlines and solicited funds from other companies involved in negotiations with government agencies.

Andrus urges federal support

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus has joined the state's chief health officer in asking the federal government to foot the bill for the state to inspect possible radiation leakage at the Atomic Energy Commission's testing station near Idaho Falls.

Andrus wrote a letter to AEC Chairman Dr. Dixie Lee Ray asking the commission to consider a proposal calling for Idaho to set up an independent monitoring system to check radioactive pollution around the national reactor testing station. The letter also asked for federal money to run the program.

Recently, Dr. James A. Bax, administrator of the Department of Environmental and Community Services, called for the federal government to fund operation of the state's monitoring system. Bax put together a proposal for the program, which accompanied Andrus' letter. The letter estimated the initial cost of the system would be $52,000 with an annual cost of $18,000.

"The main value of this secondary monitoring system would be to provide additional credibility to the data currently collected by AEC." Presently, the state is given information from the AEC but does not collect any data concerning radioactive pollution itself.

The proposal calls for the state to set up monitors around the site to measure radioactivity in water, air and food products. The figures would be compared to others taken at distant points in the state.

Andrus said the state program would permit cross-matching of data between the two systems. He said the initiation of the system would be advantageous to the AEC and the state.

"With this thought in mind," Andrus said, "I would like to request that our proposal be examined by your staff and that you respond to it as soon as possible regarding the possibility of your supplying the needed funding for this worthwhile project."

Marriage market gains 2 members

United Press International. A couple of good-looking, highly eligible millionaires came on the marriage market today.

As soon as certain formalities are completed, Elizabeth Taylor can seek a sixth husband and Richard Burton a third wife.

For the famous lovers who announced their intention of seeking a divorce Tuesday have often said they could never be content living alone again, since they have known the happiness of a devoted family life.

If anything ever happened, they used to say, they would want the surviving partner to get married again. And unless the unpredictable pair make up or divorce then remarry each other, they will certainly take other partners.

Burton and Miss Taylor are in Rome, where their romance began nearly a decade ago during the filming of "Cleopatra," but announcement of their divorce plans was made in New York by their attorney.

The announcement did not give a reason for the split and did not mention Burton's drinking, which a spokesman said contributed to a brief separation by the earlier this month.

The bustup apparently occurred Monday night when Miss Taylor left the Roman villa owned by actress Sophia Loren and her producer husband, Carlo Ponti, and checked into the Grand Hotel there. Burton, a spokesman said, remained at the villa.

"They are very amiable toward each other and no third party exists in either case," said Aaron Frosch, their attorney.

Another spokesman, press agent John Springer, said Frosch was expected to file divorce papers in Switzerland in the next couple of weeks.

The Burtons had been together in Rome for the last 11 days following a 17-day separation that Miss Taylor said was necessary because "maybe we loved each other too much."

Miss Taylor started work Monday on a film, "The Driver's Seat" while Burton is scheduled to start work shortly on a film with Miss Loren.

Some lucky man will get in Elizabeth one of the world's most beautiful women of her age, which is 41, and the mistress of considerable wealth.

Blaine event slated

KETCHUM — Area golfers will be shooting over tennis nets, through culverts and around bed springs during the "Fund-a-Bus" obstacle golf tournament Aug. 18.

The Ketchum event has been scheduled in conjunction with a tennis tournament Aug. 11 at Ketchum and the "Fund-a-Bus" auction and dinner Aug. 25 in Sun Valley.

Proceeds from all events will benefit the Ketchum-Sun Valley Transit System.

According to Tom McMahon, chairman of the golf tournament, the event will be conducted at the Bigwood Golf Course, north of Ketchum.

Because of the nature of the tournament, he said, less experienced players may have an advantage over more seasoned players.

"When it comes to shooting through croquet wickets," McMahon said, "the less you know about golf, the better."

No-host refreshments will be available on tournament day. Sign-up will be conducted at the Chamber office, Ketchum.

According to Bill O'Neill, chairman of the Aug. 11 tennis tournament, the event will be for mixed doubles and will be conducted at the Warm Springs Ranch Tennis Club.

An 8 a.m. tournament start is anticipated, O'Neill said. Rolls and coffee will be served during the morning.

Players may sign-up at the tennis club or at the chamber office.

The Aug. 25, "Fund-a-Bus" auction will offer participants an opportunity to bid on 50 items to be placed on the auction block.

Only 500 tickets will be sold for the event and the ticket price will include a full-course dinner with wine, access to a variety of games and prizes and access to bidding.

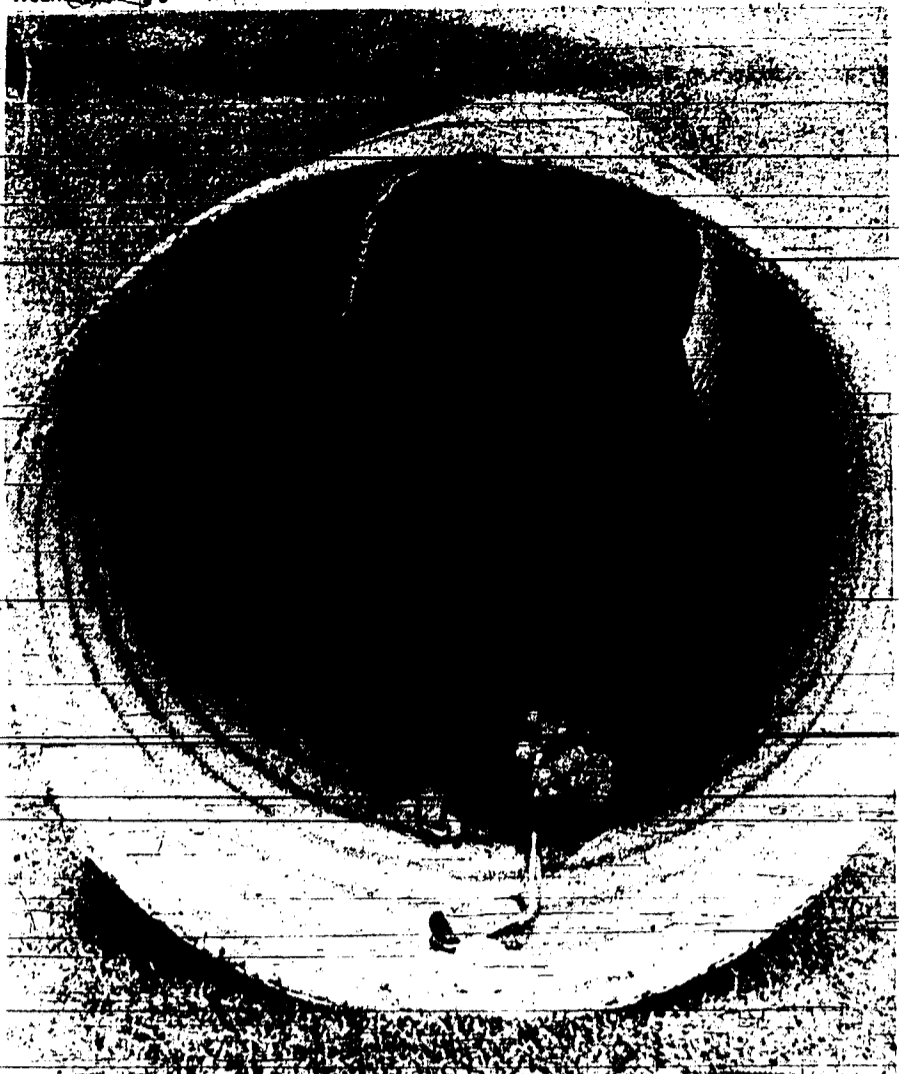

Tickets for the event may be purchased at the Rialto, Halley; the Collage, Ketchum; and the chamber office, Ketchum; Elkhorn Hall, Elkhorn Village; and the Sun Valley Lodge Information Desk, Sun Valley.

Reservations are also being taken for tables in the "Driver's Seat" and the "Front of the Bus." Interested persons may contact Bill Brohan at 726-3344.

FORE! Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce manager Lloyd Curtis prepares to take a swing at a golf ball within the confined quarters of a culvert as he practices for a "Fund-a-Bus" obstacle golf tournament, scheduled for Aug. 18 in Ketchum.

Grant revision outlined

TWIN FALLS — A grant for regional mental health services for the Magic Valley is expected to be revised and sent to Seattle by Sept. 1.

Don Barlow, program director for the South Central Idaho Mental Health staff, told advisory board members here Tuesday night the original grant which was sent to Seattle in June is now being revised.

He said phases of the grant, outlining out-patient and emergency care and consultation and education phases of mental health services are considered satisfactory, but details of administration still need to be worked out with the Department of Environmental and Community Services on the two other required areas — in-patient and partial care.

Barlow said if the grant is approved the administration of the regional mental health services would be under direction of DECS. He has scheduled a meeting with Milt Klein, regional DECS director, to work out details.

Since Region V, which encompasses Magic Valley, is the only area in Idaho where mental health services are not already in operation, the establishment of such services here, poses administrative problems of "how it all fits together" under DECS, Barlow said.

The grant will provide for a staff of 24 fulltime professional persons to serve a population of 103,000 in the eight-county area. Administrative and clinical headquarters would be located in Twin Falls with satellite operations in Rupert, Burley, Jerome, Gooding and the Halley-Sun Valley area.

Barlow noted the grant has been decreased from an original request of about $500,000 and the staff lowered from 60 because of merger of social services in Idaho into the new department, DECS. This will allow more efficient use of professional personnel from other agencies within the department and the sharing of staff members between agencies resulted in the lowered requests.

The federal government is again processing and reviewing new grants, Barlow said, after some months when no new grants could be received.

Lotus Schmucker, president of the Twin Falls County Mental Health Association, announced a Vista worker is to arrive in Twin Falls Friday for a brief orientation to the community. She then will receive further training in Boise and return in a few weeks with another Vista volunteer.

The two volunteers will be stationed in Twin Falls and it is expected they will provide leadership in formulation of a community program to provide help and services for returning patients from mental hospitals.

The rate of re-institutionalization for mental patients is higher in Region V than in any other part of the state, she said.

Barlow announced Ken Deibert, who has been a case worker with the mental health center, has been named regional substance abuse director and currently is headquartered at the Adult Development Center. The substance abuse program, funded by a federal grant, deals entirely with alcoholism problems, Deibert said.

HAVE YOU WRITTEN A BOOK?

A publisher's editorial representative will be in Twin Falls in September. He will be interviewing local authors in a quest for finished manuscripts suitable for book publication by Carlton Press, Inc., well-known New York publishing firm. All subjects will be considered including fiction and non-fiction, poetry, drama, religion, philosophy, etc.

If you have completed a book-length manuscript (or nearly so) on any subject, and would like a professional appraisal (without cost or obligation), please write immediately describing your work and stating which part of the day (a.m. or p.m.) you would prefer for an appointment and kindly mention your phone number. You will promptly receive a confirmation for a definite time and place.

Authors with completed manuscripts unable to appear may send them directly to the representative (address below) for a free reading and evaluation. He will also be glad to hear from those whose literary works are still in progress. Please address:

Crew battles fire

SHOSHONE — Shoshone Bureau of Land Management crew members are still battling a fire two miles north of Eden.

Michael Green, public information officer, said crews have been in that area since Monday evening and they are undecided at this point whether an original fire snapped at 8,900 acres Tuesday morning broke out again or whether another fire was started.

The latest additional area burned is approximately 2,000 acres at Greenshead. Two tankers and the fire boss were still in the area mopping up the first fire when they spotted the second blaze Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. Two more tankers were dispatched to the sight along with 28 men, a refill tanker and spotter aircraft.

Green said the estimated time for control of this fire is 2 p.m. today.

In another small fire Tuesday night 100 acres of state and federal land was burned on the north end of the Perrine Bridge.

Following intermission, the band will play "The Phantom Regiment" by Leray Anderson; "Around the World" by Victor Young with Gerald Ridgeway in a cornet solo; "West Side Story Highlights" by Leonard Bernstein; and "March Grandioso" by Roland Seitz. The concert will conclude with the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

DEAR ABBY: A woman who is about to make application for a job driving a school bus is worried about her past catching up with her.

She got a dishonorable discharge from the service 17 years ago, and is afraid that when her application for this job is received, they will start a thoro investigation of her past, which will include her service record, and everything will come out.

She has no criminal record of any kind, but she understands she has to have FBI security clearance for this bus driving job. The only law in her record is this dishonorable discharge which, I may as well tell you, came about when she and another girl were discovered having a romantic relationship. It was only a passing fancy, or an experimental thing, you might say, and never occurred again. She is now married, has a family, and is living a normal life.

Must she be branded all her life for this single incident?

Paul couple plans observance

PAUL — Mr. and Mrs. Ulric U. (Rick) Locander will be honored at an open house observance of their Golden Wedding Anniversary from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday.

The event, given by their family, will be at the Paul Ward Cultural Hall.

The couple was married in Twin Falls Aug. 7, 1923, and their marriage was later solemnized in the Logan LDS Temple.

They are the parents of two children, Ulric Blair Locander, Boise, and Mrs. David P. (Ida Ann) Logsdon, Bountiful, Utah.

The couple has four grandchildren.

The couple invites all of their friends and relatives to attend. They request no gifts.

Haunting past

DEAR ANXIOUS: Driving a school bus does not require FBI clearance. Furthermore, the response from the Army to an inquiry about this person would be: "Dishonorable discharge—unsuitable for military life." Unless national security was involved, nothing else would be divulged.

DEAR ABBY: Last November I became engaged. I was so excited at the time that I asked a girl I work with (I'll call her "Mazie") to be one of my bridesmaids. I had seen Mazie only at work, never outside the office.

Now that I know her better, I am very sorry I asked her to be a bridesmaid. She gets drunk and talks dirty. She is very loud and extremely pushy where men are concerned.

Worse yet, my fiance can't stand her. He's afraid she will ruin our wedding with her drinking and dirty mouth.

To give you an idea of what kind of girl Mazie is, she keeps telling me she hopes the bridesmaid's gown will be plenty sexy so she can show off her "38s."

How can I get rid of her politely? Or am I stuck with her?
SECOND THOUGHTS

DEAR SECOND: There is no way you can get rid of her "politely," which means either you are stuck with her, or you will have to get rid of her impolitely.

DEAR ABBY: In reference to the young couple who couldn't find a church and minister for their post-pregnant wedding.

You should do a service to others in such straits by informing them of Unitarian-Universalist churches and ministers. They value individuals for honesty and candor; one need not "belong" to a Unitarian-Universalist church to use the building. Witness the many Unitarian-Universalist churches that serve as forums, or centers for unusual music, art debate, or whatever in the search for truth and for meaningful living.

If the couple are straightforward, and respect the prior scheduled commitments of the organization, I am sure they will find a sanctuary in a Unitarian-Universalist church, and a friend in the minister there.

tract look hopeless. On account of the mirror distribution it appears that South must lose one trick, each in hearts and diamonds.

A little extra thought should show South a way to overcome this. He wins the heart lead and plays out two rounds of trumps. East follows to both. Then he runs off all three clubs. East follows to two of them.

It is reasonable to mark East with seven hearts for his preempt, which only leaves him with two diamonds. Therefore South cashes the ace and king of diamonds and proceeds to throw East in with a heart.

East has to lead a heart. South ruffs in one hand, discards a losing diamond from the other and, as a magician might say, "It was all done with mirrors."

When declarer and dummy have the same number of cards in each suit it is called a mirror distribution.

Declarers who continually find themselves looking at one of those mirror distributions are apt to call it by some far less mild name because in general, mirror distributions don't produce as many tricks as the declarer wants them to.

Blaine wants BLM land for school

HAILEY — The Blaine County school board has initiated action to acquire about 80 acres of Bureau of Land Management land for a new high school complex southeast of Hailey.

A site selection committee has proposed that the property be combined with an adjacent 20-acre parcel in the McCulloch Development, which McCulloch has offered to deed to the district.

During a special meeting Monday night, the board voted unanimously to send a letter to the BLM Shoshone District office requesting that it begin paper work to deed the 80 acres to the district.

The BLM property is expected to cost $2.50 per acre. The board also forwarded to the steering committee a recommendation by the site selection committee that the McCulloch property be accepted.

Site selection committee chairman Harvey Bickett told the board that the committee had studied a number of sites and said that the McCulloch property was "the only ground we have that is feasible that we can afford."

The donated McCulloch property, he said, combined with the BLM acreage would provide about 45 acres of usable ground.

Bickett said that McCulloch had also agreed to install sewage and water facilities to the property line.

W. D. (Marty) Martindale, Hailey, said the McCulloch property was valued at about one-half million dollars.

In other action, the board: — Approved the hiring of Mrs. Wayne Fagg, an elementary music specialist, to initiate a music program at the Ernest Hemingway Elementary School, Ketchum.

During discussion of the move, trustee Leif Odmark questioned whether problems may arise because Mrs. Fagg is the wife of newly appointed superintendent Wayne Fagg. He also said the school holds a physical education program.

Mrs. Fagg said that she had worked under similar circumstances for 15 years and had not experienced any problems. She said that if a situation did arise and she was notified by the board, she would resign.

The board also discussed the possibility that, with the addition of Mrs. Fagg to the Hemingway faculty, teacher time could be freed to coordinate a physical education program.

Mrs. Fagg told the board that the new music program would be similar to the Nash Concept and would stress a linear, melodic scale which is more natural to children.

Instruments would be utilized which will also develop the children's large and small motor skills, she said.

— Approved the hiring of Lynn Stewart on a half day basis to teach at the Carey school.

Stewart is presently on a one year's leave of absence as principal. Newly appointed principal is Dare Jensen, formerly an elementary principal in Montana.

— Approved a board ground rule that trustees be required to vote on every issue before the board.

Supt. Fagg said that each trustee represents a different area and that if he or she abstains on a vote, the area would not be represented.

Grassman named

RUPERT — Gerald Arthur, 27, Paul, was named Mindoka County Grassman of the Year today.

Arthur has farmed 210 acres west of Paul for the past nine years. Much of the acreage is in pasture land. He also raises sugar beets, grain, hay and occasionally potatoes.

He has a sheep operation which maintains about 500 ewes year around and prepares 3,000 to 4,000 feeder lambs for market each year.

Arthur is now eligible to be chosen South Central District Grassman of the Year.

"It was a real close decision this year," Mindoka grassman chairman Lloyd Patterson said. The other two candidates for the title were Clark Higley, Norland, and Ed Miller, Rupert.

TF food prices go sky high

Wholesale prices for Falls Brand bacon rose 21 per cent from 97 cents to $1.17 during the period, according to Otto Florence, manager of Independent Meat Co. which produces the bacon.

Florence said bacon shortages are normal in summer, but this year the shortage has been aggravated by the freeze. Because hog prices rose substantially while wholesale prices remained frozen, Independent Meat cut its hog slaughtering operation 30 to 40 per cent during the past three months.

Florence added that he expects bacon production to pick up in the fall. However, he would not venture a prediction on whether bacon prices would drop during fall and winter, as is normal.

Independent Meat will continue its beef packing operations at least through next week, Florence said.

Unlike many packers temporarily shutting down because of cattle shortage, Independent Meat was able to purchase enough beef Tuesday to continue packing operations for a day and a half next week.

The beef packing operation will remain open for cleanup and other jobs the rest of the week, even if no more cattle are available, Florence said.

Larry Fullmer, manager of Albertson's, said that no shortage of beef has occurred yet at his store.

"We're selling a lot more beef right now than we have for quite awhile," he added, predicting that there could be a shortage this weekend.

"I don't see it going down any," Fullmer said speaking of grocery prices in general. He said that Albertson's was passing on the rise in wholesale prices directly, and that on a percentage basis the store was making less profit despite the rising costs.

The price of staples, which comprise 55 per cent of a family's grocery budget, has remained relatively stable. Since July 18 it has risen 1.4 per cent.

However, staples dropped in price during the freeze and there has been an overall price drop of 2 per cent since June 15. Since the beginning of the year staples have risen 3 per cent in price.

Ground beef reached the 93 cents per pound ceiling which will remain in effect until Sept. 12. On July 18 it averaged 89 cents per pound.

Commenting on the soaring grocery prices one older resident of Twin Falls said, "Where your income is more or less limited, you certainly notice these increases more than somebody who has a high income. . . it kind of scares you."

Mrs. Robert Nunnelley, a Twin Falls housewife, has responded to the costs by changing her priorities.

"It's hard on all of us," she said, "I don't buy for quality any more, I buy for quantity. My children suffer, my family suffers. I just can't buy for quality any more."

Senator attends SV meet

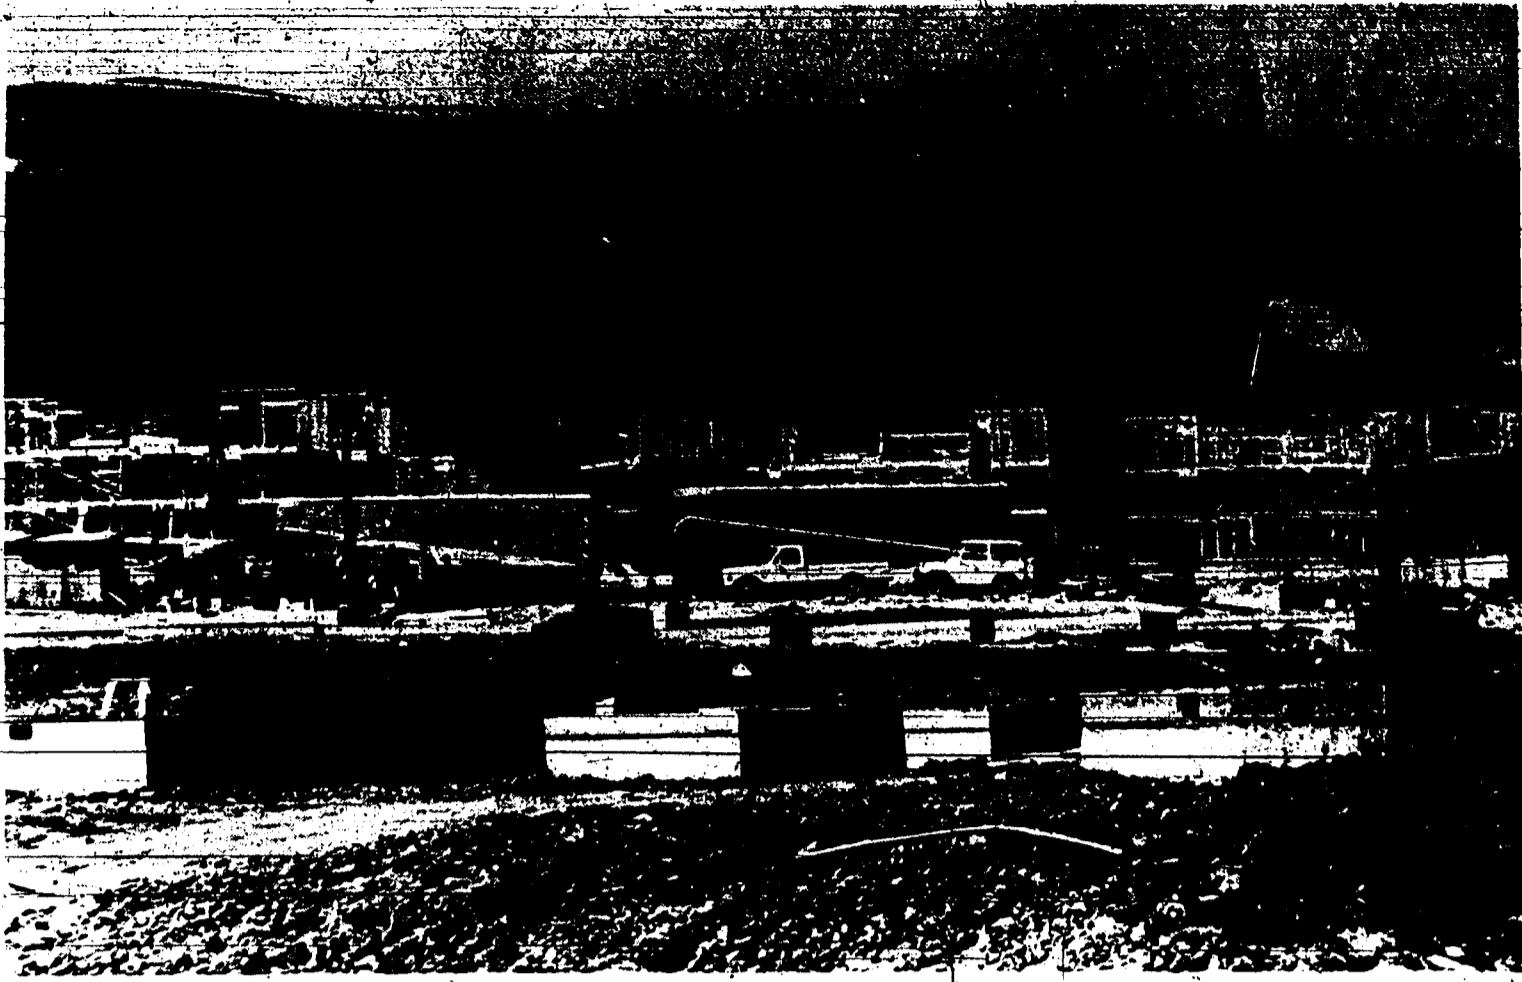

BUHL — Sen. John M. Barker, R-Buhl, attended a meeting of the Idaho Consortium on Education at Sun Valley Tuesday.

The consortium covers the areas of higher education, vocational education, public schools and legislative representation. It is working to provide teachers for kindergarten programs, career and vocational education in the public schools, more extension college courses and accreditation of teacher aides.

In a news release, Sen. Barker also announced today plans to attend a Human Resource meeting in San Francisco, Calif., Friday. The 17 state conference will study state finance of education and social services, increased aid demands, federal regulations, cut-backs in federal programs and tax relief efforts.

Elkhorn condominium Phase II construction progresses

Elkhorn construction 2 weeks ahead of plans

ELKHORN — Construction on Phase II of the Elkhorn condominiums is about two weeks ahead of schedule, according to Elkhorn officials.

This summer's project includes 89 one to four bedroom condominium units. The project is located in the Indian Springs portion of Elkhorn — named because of the recent discovery of artifacts attributed to an early Indian industrial center.

According to Don Chiscaden, general superintendent for Wick Construction Co., Seattle, Wash., his 78-member crew began work on the project April 15.

Unusually dry weather conditions have facilitated the framing of main structures, roofs and balconies well ahead of schedule, Chiscaden said. Within the next ten days, finished cedar siding will be affixed to the condominium exteriors and sheet rock will be installed on the interiors.

Wick — who also served as general contractor on Phase I of Elkhorn's development — had just started framing the 134 units at this time last summer.

Subcontractors for Phase II who have been called in early include Gaco Deck, George Seofield Co., Insulating Service, Acme Dry Wall, Northwest Fireplaces Inc. and Belaire Painting Co.

Chiscaden estimated that the first Indian Springs units will be ready for occupancy by Oct. 1, which he said, if man and nature continue to cooperate, will be more than six weeks ahead of last year's completion.

TF aides delay action on refurbishing bids

TWIN FALLS — Two bids, apparently $27,595 apart, were received Tuesday by the Twin Falls County commissioners for refurbishing the county courthouse and two other buildings.

The basic bids were for cleaning and repairing the exterior of the four-story, 62-year-old building. Alternates were included for the old hospital building and old nursing home exteriors.

Max Stuart and Co., Twin Falls, bid $51,400 for the courthouse building and alternates of $9,900 for the old hospital and $7,900 for the nursing home for a total bid of $69,200.

Busy Bee Co., Twin Falls, submitted a bid of $21,996 for the exterior of the county courthouse, plus $11.50 per hour on all mortar tooling or an estimated $2,070 addition; $9,961 for the old hospital plus $11.50 per hour for mortar tooling or an estimated $1,242, and $5,408 on the nursing home plus $11.50 per hour on tooling with the estimate at $928. The total bid was $41,605, or $27,595 below the other.

However, commissioners questioned Norman Herzinger of Busy Bee. He said if the tooling projects ran below the estimates on each building the county will not be charged the full amount, but if they run above the estimates the county will have to pay the difference.

Commissioners took the two bids under advisement until Aug. 8 at 10 a.m. They said the low bid does not appear to be a "firm" bid and additional information was needed.

This is the second bid for the work. In the first the commissioners included redesign and replacing of windows in the courthouse. Bids received Tuesday were reported "more in line" by commissioners than the first bids.

The county budgeted $85,000 for refurbishing the buildings' exteriors, rewiring of the courthouse and replacing of old windows. A bid in the amount of $21,332.30 has been let to Shotwell's Inc. for the rewiring work.

Commissioners say they may drop plans for window replacement altogether.

Haldeman memo claims demonstrations welcome

Weickersaid Haldeman wrote "great" next to a notation saying the demonstrations would be directed against Graham — the President's close personal friend — as well as Nixon.

The atmosphere at the hearing tensed while the memo was discussed. John J. Wilson, Haldeman's lawyer, insisted that Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., use his gavel when laughter erupted as Weicker read the memo.

"Mr. Chairman, I thought silence was to be enforced here!" Wilson called out.

"I wish you could tell me how to keep people from laughing," Ervin replied.

Haldeman said the reason he wrote "great" and "good" next to the anticipation of violence and obscenity was because the American people would thus come to understand that such demonstrations were organized, planned and evil — and not the casual, minor "off-the-cuff" events which he said reporters portrayed them as.

The memo also said that Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary; Gerald L. Warren, his assistant; and Patrick Buchanan, a presidential speechwriter, had expressed concern that "liberals" in the press were becoming aware that the White House had manipulated demonstrations to rebound to its own political advantage.

Weicker said Ronald H. Walker was the memo's author.

The only way to hang onto happiness is to give it freely.

6 juveniles charged in church vandalism

TWIN FALLS — Six juveniles, ranging in age from 5 to 17 years, were taken into custody Tuesday night in connection with vandalism and burglary of the Episcopal Church of the Ascension on Blue Lakes Boulevard North.

City police were called by a resident in the neighborhood who saw the rear door of the church open Tuesday night at about 8:55 p.m. Officers said they found several windows broken out and rocks on the floor of the basement.

A woman living in the vicinity of the church told officers her son had been in the building. The 11-year old, another boy of the same age, a 13-year old, one 17-year old and two brothers ages 7 and 5, were all apprehended at their homes.

Officers said an amplifier cord and a felt tip pen were taken from the building and a number of food items in the kitchen were eaten.

Church officials have reported several instances of vandalism and break-in in the past few weeks. The two youngest children were not held for court action and the others were released to their parents pending further action.

Lincoln fair officially open Friday with parade

SHOSHONE — Activities are buzzing at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds here in preparation for official opening of the fair Friday.

Results of preliminary judging of some exhibits today were not made available to the press. Some of the exhibits would not be intact until Friday noon.

Official launching of the fair will be at 9 a.m. Friday with the livestock judging contest, followed at 10 a.m. by a parade.

The best fitting and showing contest followed by quality of animal will be at 11 a.m. Friday and a tractor driving contest will be at 11:30 a.m.

A dog fitting and showing with quality of animal after will be at 12:15 with street sports set for 12:30.

At 1:30 p.m. Friday the sheep fitting and showing, followed by quality of animal will be held and the dairy fitting and showing and quality of animal will be at 3 p.m.

The poultry and rabbit judging is set for 5 p.m. A music jamboree will end Friday's events, at 7:30 p.m. Old time music will be featured.

Saturday at 9 a.m. there will be the activities pertaining to horses, fitting and showing, quality and performance and round robin fitting and showing.

The style revue will be at 1:15 p.m. with the main event of the 4-H fair at 3 p.m. with an awards meeting.

The riding club jamboree will be at 8 p.m. and a dance at the tennis courts at 9:30 p.m. will end the fair.

Plant shut down ordered

BOISE (UPI) — King of Spuds, Inc., a Minnesota corporation doing business in Jerome, has until Aug. 6 to answer a motion for a preliminary injunction forbidding sale of processed potatoes.

A complaint was brought against the corporation and its Jerome plant manager, Ralph Schultz, under the federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act in U.S. District Court last Friday.

A temporary restraining order was issued, shutting down the potato processing plant in Jerome for unsanitary conditions.

Manufacturing and packing of potato flour was discontinued at the plant after FDA inspections in March and April. However, the firm is holding stock of the flour at the Jerome plant for sale.

Stores burglarized

TWIN FALLS — Two drug stores were burglarized in Twin Falls County Tuesday night with an undetermined amount of merchandise taken.

Twin Falls city police were called to the Crowley Pharmacy at 4:30 a.m. when a cleaning lady discovered the southside window glass had been broken out and the store entered.

Officers said Robert Crowley, manager, said an inventory will be taken to determine the loss.

Sheriff's officers were notified this morning of a break in at the Kimberly Drug Store, Kimberly. Investigation was underway and amount of the loss had not been determined.

Golf carts damaged

TWIN FALLS — An estimated $375 damage was caused two golf carts at the Twin Falls municipal golf course Tuesday, city police reported.

Officers said the storage barn at the course had been left open while caretakers were working on the grounds and someone entered the building and took two carts from the building and wrecked both of the small vehicles.

Employees at the golf course reported the incident occurred between 3 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday while the course was closed to the public.

Investigation is continuing.

TF youth hurt

TWIN FALLS — Eldona Verwey, 15, suffered cuts and bruises and her bicycle was damaged about $25 in a traffic accident Tuesday.

She told officers she was traveling northwest on 9th Ave. N. when a vehicle pulled away from the curb, cut across her path and stopped suddenly to turn into a driveway. She told officers she was unable to stop in time and struck the car. She said the car left the scene. The accident occurred at 12:50 p.m. in the 900 block of Shoshone St. North.

Fire destroys outbuilding

BELLEVUE — Damage has not yet been estimated for a fire this morning in Bellevue which destroyed the south end of a more than one-half block long outbuilding.

The blaze broke out shortly before 5 a.m. in a wooden shed located behind the Irene Merrill residence at Third and Cottonwood. The shed had housed about 50 chickens as well as other fowls.

About one dozen Bellevue volunteer firemen responded to the call. They contained the blaze within about one-half hour, preventing ignition of adjacent residences and saving about two-thirds of the structure.

Mrs. Merrill could not determine as yet how many fowls were lost in the blaze. The property is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sievers, Mountain Home.

Malta Lions install

MALTA — Ralph Williams has been installed as president of the Malta Lions Club, club officials announced today.

Other newly installed officers of the club include Dale Asher, first vice president; Don Carson, second vice president; Darrell Hirtzie, secretary; Nick Rodocker, treasurer; Alvin Neddoo, lion tamer and Pete White and Odell Hutchison, tail twisters.

Roy Rose is the retiring president.

Erving traded to Nets to beat suit, NBA jump

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI)—Julius Erving fulfills a lifelong dream Wednesday—to play basketball in his native New York—as the court-embattled super star forward officially moves from the Virginia Squires to the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association.

Erving, the all star 6-foot-6 forward, has been traded to New York for the Nets' leading scorer last season, forward George Carter, plus "considerable considerations."

Erving, the all star 6-foot-6 forward, has been traded to New York for the Nets' leading scorer last season, forward George Carter, plus "considerable considerations."

Foreman, owner of the Squires, confirmed the trade Tuesday and added that among the considerable considerations would be "a lot of cash."

The Erving-to-New York trade climaxes a desire Erving expressed while he was a junior at the University of Massachusetts in 1970. At that time, he went to the Nets and asked them to sign him instead of waiting for his class to graduate. Lou Carnesecca, Nets' general manager-coach at the time, rejected the idea on the premise that it would be unethical. The Squires went ahead and drafted Erving and signed him to the now-contested four-year contract.

Oddly, it was a similar situation which brought Barry to the Nets from Virginia in 1970.

New tennis league will draft Friday

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chris Evert, who appears destined to become the new queen of the tennis courts, is expected to receive the honor of being the first player drafted on Friday when World Team Tennis holds its first player draft.

Mrs. King has expressed a personal preference to play for a West Coast team or for New York.

The Miami franchise won a special lottery held last week in Cleveland to determine the order of selection in the draft and would seem almost certain to make the teenage sensation its first choice, Miss Evert lives in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Jackson-Bronco hassle ends

DENVER (UPI)—The Denver Broncos Tuesday lifted the suspension of starting offensive guard Larron Jackson, and said the three-year veteran obtained from Houston in 1971 would rejoin the team at its Pomona, Calif., training camp Wednesday.

The unfortunate situation which kept me from being with the Broncos so far is regrettable, but I am eager to rejoin the team and prove myself to the coaches, the other players and the fans," said Jackson. "I just want to make up for lost time and play football."

Jackson was suspended July 21 by Bronco Coach John Kalston in a contract dispute. The Broncos refused to meet Jackson's undisclosed contract demands. Kalston called Jackson's demands "excessive and out of line."

TOO MANY DODGERS wound up at third base when Los Angeles met Houston Tuesday night. Astro third baseman tagged both and Dodger Bill Russell (18) was safe with Dave Lopes called out. Houston won 3-2. (UPI telephoto).

Dodgers help Houston collect victory over weird base running

HOUSTON (UPI)—Cesar Cedeno hit a run-scoring double and scored the deciding run on Doug Rader's sacrifice fly Tuesday night to pace the Houston Astros to a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Loser Tommy John walked speedy Roger Metzger to lead off the sixth and Cedeno doubled into the leftfield corner to score him. Cedeno advanced on an infield out and scored on Rader's sacrifice fly to center.

Los Angeles botched a chance to tie the game in the eighth after Bill Russell and Dave Lopes both singled. Manny Mota followed with a single to center but Russell held up at second, thinking Cedeno might catch the ball. He then ran to third but Lopes, who was running all the way, was close behind him.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)— Stocks opened broadly lower Wednesday in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange, with investors apparently uncertain about a resolution introduced in the House to impeach President Nixon.

Shortly after the opening, the Dow Jones Industrial average had dropped 1.80 to 924.60. Declines were almost two-to-one ahead of advances, among 297 issues traded.

Investors received a shock in the last half-hour of trading on Tuesday, with word a resolution to impeach President Nixon had been introduced in the House of Representatives. The Dow, little more than 2 points in the minutes most of session, ended 1.57 lower at 926.40.

Watergate thus remained a key psychological problem for Wall Street. Recently, soaring interest rates remained in the economic forefront. Most of the market so far has struggled off several successive rises in the prime lending rate—which now stands at 8 1/4 per cent, and is headed soon for 9 per cent, according to analysts. But they say an atmosphere of rapidly rising money rates does not normally lead to bull markets.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, AUGUST 2, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early day can have some small disappointments, but shortly thereafter excellent planetary positions favor a happy and productive result in anything undertaken with others, particularly connected with social popularity, romance and reaching new understandings.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you sit down with others in a very conciliatory manner you can teach a far better understanding. Try not to lose your temper and all will be fine. Take it easy tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make your dwelling more attractive and gain the cooperation of working pals. Buy the new clothing you want and look your best. Seek out whatever brings you more happiness in p.m. Avoid one who likes to fight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get into the amusements you really enjoy with the people you truly like. Working on your best creative ideas is fine and you get excellent results. Drive with utmost caution.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Study your abode well and see what can be done to make it more attractive. Some entertaining at home could be very pleasant. Try to save more money instead of spending so lavishly.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you make those appointments early so your life becomes more successful and happy, you get excellent results. Evening should be spent with people of same ideas as yours. Think wisely.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study debts and credits and improve your financial standing. A clever business person will big-heartedly give you advice you need. Follow it and you get excellent results.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can be very charming with others now and can do much to gain their goodwill, benefits, favors they can bestow. Get out to some social affair that can be very good for you. Be sure to dress well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can have a delightful time with one you like, but be sure you do not confide in others. Get the data that you need so you can put it to use quickly. Make sure you do not disturb others, though.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Look to a good friend for the information you need at this time to gain some important aim. Social activities are fine later in the day and congenial in an excellent mood. Don't be grim.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Contact congenials and officials and improve your image both in private and in public, get their support for your aims. You can get that civic matter on the road, also. Save time, treat with mate in p.m.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have unusual outlets to get into and this is a good day for that, get the support and approval of bigwigs. You can make the new associates you need easily. Think along very practical lines.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) If you follow your intuition, you know exactly what to do regarding some important issues facing you. Use good judgment, too. Return the affection which mate extends to you and have much greater rapport.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will have the delightful quality of being a people admirer and easily extends compliments. This leads to much goodwill, understanding and favors given to your clever youngster. Teach early to become a good student and then this chart becomes very successful. Much charm here and willingness to cooperate with others. Spiritual framing early.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Callar door, "dung hill" and that sewing machine ac-couterment known as a "zipper foot," each of these has been called the most beautiful phrase in English. But what is the loveliest single word in the language? "Diarrhea" has been named as a candidate for that distinction. However, the great word man Wilfred J. Funk nominated these 10: Dawn, hush, lullaby, murmuring, tranquil, must luscious, chimes, melody and golden.

How long do pigeons live? Oh, about 35 years.

Death rate among the ladies who smoke is five times as high as that among the no-smoke girls.

A merchandizer of ladies' apparel in Los Angeles says he doubled the sales of one particular set of racks simply by removing the label "large" from each of the dresses.

BOXER

Few know that Abe Lincoln's assassin John Wilkes Booth was a remarkably skillful boxer. One historical footnote on him: Booth came unglued one afternoon when he spotted a big husky teamster beating a horse—Booth hit him. The man outweighed Booth by at least 50 pounds. Didn't matter. The fight lasted a long time. Record shows Booth grinned all the while, taunted the old boy, spit on him, and painstakingly with bats cut him into a bloody mess until said teamster finally collapsed.

Q: How old is Elvis Presley now? How much money has he made?

A: He's 38. By the time he hits 40, he'll have earned $100 million. Nobody else has done that, not in show business.

WOMEN

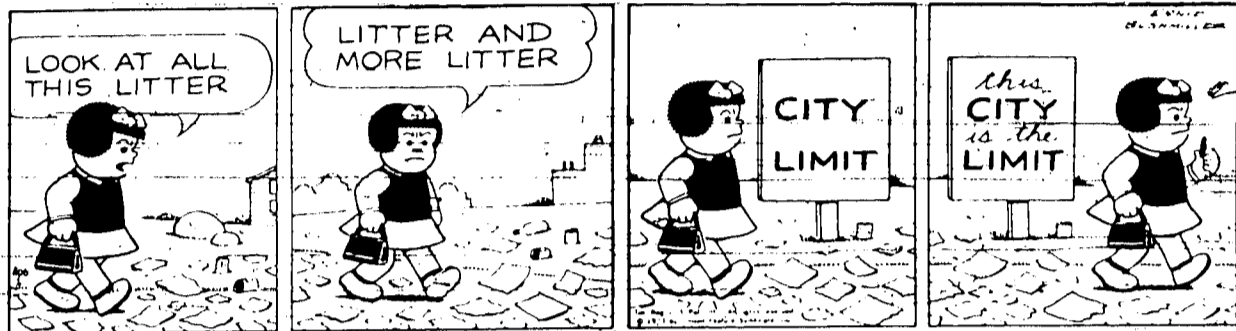

Nationally, "The Year of the Woman" must have been 1962, some months before President John F. Kennedy was assassinated. Then, 19 women were in Congress, more than at any other time before or since. Observers contend the ladies of the lib, so rightfully vocal of late, even so have been unable to do as much as the Kennedy charisma to elevate the girls. That sounds about right, unfortunately.

If all the people worldwide who go to the movies on any given day were to gather on some lost continent to form a new country, its population would be just about equal to that of the United States. My, that's a cumbersome little fact, isn't it?

Have you ever gone hungry because of lack of money? That's what the surveytakers asked numerous men and women nationwide. Exactly 22 per cent of the men said yes, and 15 per cent of the women likewise. How would you reply? I'd say yes, but not for long, brother, not for long. Records from the midst of the Great Depression in 1932 here show 22 deaths were attributed to starvation.
