

US bombs kill refugees

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — United States planes accidentally bombed the Mekong River town of Neak Luong today, inflicting more than 300 casualties on the refugee-swollen populace in the worst mistake bombing of the entire Indochina War, Cambodian Air Force sources reported.

A Cambodian air force officer who took part in rescue efforts said the toll might rise to more than 100 dead and up to 600 wounded. A survivor in a Phnom Penh hospital said the bombing destroyed the Neak Luong city hall, a hospital, an army and a navy base and scores of houses.

There were conflicting reports whether the bombing raid which was said to have destroyed much of the town was carried out by B52 heavy bombers which carry a 30-ton bomb load each, by swingwing F111 fighter-bombers which carry an 18-ton bomb load each, or possibly by both.

More than 200 wounded persons were brought into Phnom Penh, 32 miles northwest of Neak Luong, by helicopters and boats. There was no definite number of those killed, because their bodies were left in the rubble of the town, a ferry-crossing point and strongpoint of the defense line southeast of the capital.

An officer who helped evacuate the wounded said he counted at least 50 dead sprawled in the town.

"From the noise I heard, I guess there were four planes," one victim in a hospital bed told a UPI reporter. "At first I thought it was harassment fire and we ran for cover."

U.S. Air Force Gen. John Vogt, head of American air operations in Thailand, flew to Phnom Penh to discuss the incident with Cambodian President Lon Nol, and returned to Thailand today.

Heavily bandaged women and children, crying and pleading for help, reached Phnom Penh by boat late Monday afternoon. Helicopters were used to bring in the more seriously wounded who still had a chance for survival.

Cambodian Air Force sources said the B52s unloaded their payloads — up to 180 tons of bombs — over the sleeping town by mistake shortly before dawn, and that Neak Luong, one of the more strategic towns on the Mekong, was reduced to rubble.

One survivor said he heard at least four planes. B52 bombers normally fly so high there is no sound associated with them until the explosion of their bombs is heard. Early reports said F111s were in the area.

Prelude to disaster

AMERICAN crewmen in Thailand fuse a truckload of 500 to 750-pound bombs to be dropped over Cambodia. US warplanes today "accidentally" bombed a refugee-swollen village in Cambodia, reportedly killing at least 100 and wounding 600 more. (UPI)

Paper destruction said Nixon order

today in brief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — L. Patrick Gray III testified today he believes two top White House aides were "acting for the President" when they gave him documents from E. Howard Hunt's safe 11 days after the Watergate break-in and told him to destroy them.

The former acting director of the FBI, testifying before the Senate Watergate Committee, said he "had to believe they were acting for the President" when John W. Dean III, presidential counsel, and John D. Ehrlichman, chief domestic adviser to Nixon, gave Gray the papers with what he considered instructions they be destroyed.

He said he figured they did not destroy the documents themselves because they wanted to be able to say in honesty that they had given Hunt's papers to the FBI.

Hunt was arrested as a Watergate suspect a short time after the break-in. He had worked as part of the White House "Plumbers" squad, created to stop news leaks. The papers included phony State Department cables fabricated by Hunt to implicate President John F. Kennedy in the assassination of President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Vietnam.

Gray, who resigned as acting FBI director after disclosure of the Talmadge, "Now let me ask you something that I think is very important. The only evidence this committee has had to date implicating the President of the United States is that of John Dean, and you, and General Walters. Did you think that your conversations with the President on July 6, 1972 was sufficient to adequately put him on notice that the White House staff was engaged in obstructing justice?"

Gray: "I don't know that I thought in terms of obstructing justice. But I think it was adequate to put him on notice that members of the White House staff were using the FBI and the CIA."

Soviets launch Mars spaceship

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union said today it has launched another spaceship to Mars, the third in 16 days. Western experts said the latest craft may land on the Red Planet.

The news agency Tass said Mars 6, carrying both Soviet and French scientific equipment, was launched Sunday and is scheduled to reach the vicinity of Mars in early March, 1974.

Mars 4 was launched July 21 and Mars 5 on July 25.

Tass said Mars 6 differs somewhat in design from the two previous spaceships. It said Mars 6 will "use equipment of Mars 4" in carrying out part of its scientific exploration.

Batista dies

MARBELLA, Spain (UPI) — Fulgencio Batista, 72, the ruthless dictator who ruled Cuba for a 11 years before he was overthrown by Fidel Castro in 1959, died a "peaceful death" today in a golf resort on the Costa del Sol, his family said.

Ruben Batista, one of his five surviving sons, said Batista died in his bed at 3 a.m. "of an apparent heart attack" and will be buried in Madrid Tuesday.

Gooding fair opens

GOODING — The three day Gooding County Fair began this morning with livestock judging the first event on the calendar.

County Commissioner Ben Glauner said the fair would include a two-day rodeo Tuesday and Wednesday nights, as well as a horse show tonight and agricultural and produce exhibits for the three days.

He said the Gooding County granges have the food concessions for the week. In addition, he said, a livestock sale is scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Shultz defends White House bugs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz defended Sunday the use of the Secret Service to install and maintain recording devices in the White House.

"I think the President has a right to arrange his office as he wants," Shultz said. "I don't think the Secret Service was improperly used in installing the electronic devices there. I don't think the Secret Service, as such, is a question in that."

Maller sued

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A $6 million damage suit against Norman Maller, alleging he plagiarized material for his book, "Marilyn," has been filed by author Maurice Zolotow.

The suit filed in U.S. District Court Friday alleges Maller's biography contained 15,000 words plagiarized from Zolotow's 1960 biography of the late Marilyn Monroe.

Park ranger killed

POINT REYES NATIONAL SEASHORE, Calif. (UPI) — A veteran National Park Service ranger was shot to death Sunday while looking for deer poachers on remote seashore lands in Western Marin County.

Kenneth C. Patrick, 40, father of three boys, had been shot once in the wrist and twice in the chest and left lying in wet brush near Mount Vision at Point Reyes National Seashore.

Spacemen take walk

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab 2's astronauts walked in space today to look for signs of serious cooling system leaks threatening the long-term life of the space station, raise a sunshade and install film in four solar telescopes.

Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma moved through the ship's main outside hatchway and worked around the base of Skylab's large, white solar observatory. Commander Alan L. Bean remained inside, monitoring the activity.

The main purpose of the spacewalk, first of three planned for the two-month mission, was to raise the awning and replenish the film, but the search for yellow and brown stains resulting from the antifreeze leaks gave the walk extra significance.

Beef supply short in MV

By BILL LAZARUS
Times News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Valley beef packers have cut operations by half, and meat counters in some stores were visibly short on meat early today.

But grocers remained optimistic, saying they had enough meat to satisfy customer demand.

"I've got all the beef we need right now. Looks like this week we'll be all right," Larry Fullmer, manager of Albertsons said.

Fullmer reported that last week Albertsons sold 30 to 40 per cent more beef than usual. Even so, he said the store was stocked with all cuts for this week.

Glenn Miller, assistant manager at Buttrely Foods said, "I think we are going to have plenty of beef (for the week). I don't think it will be an abundant supply."

Miller said that he had been assured by a local meat packer that the store would receive enough beef to last through the week.

Buttrely Foods is also well stocked with poultry and pork taken a steep leap since last week. Friday whole fryers selling at 73 cents a pound are now 86 cents a pound. Cut fryers have jumped from 75 to 90 cents a pound.

In accordance with freeze regulations, Miller said, the store was passing on wholesale price jumps on a dollar to dollar basis.

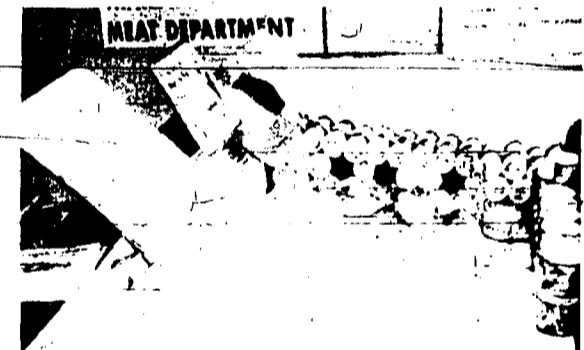

Safeway manager Lee Vanderdoes expected his store to be short on beef, but still expected to be supplied for this week. A meat department employee at Safeway said that beef had been ordered a week ago and should arrive this morning. He would not predict whether the amount delivered would be adequate.

"We have assured our people here that we will continue to operate all week," Otto Florence, manager of Independent Meat Co., said.

Florence said Independent Meat has part of a weeks supply of cattle and would probably continue butchering throughout the week at half of normal output.

For next week Florence said, "we really don't have anything lined up."

Beef buyers: 'Forget about it'

United Press International

Some supermarkets are restricting beef sales, some butchers said they were sold out of red beef, and New York City Consumer Affairs Commissioner Betty Furness advised shoppers Sunday: "Forget about buying beef until this hysteria has passed."

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz said it "remains to be seen" whether the ceiling on retail beef prices will be lifted earlier than the projected Sept. 12 deadline.

Cattlemen and meat packers have said the price ceiling is causing the shortage by making it impossible for the industry to pass on to the consumer increased costs in getting cattle to market. Shultz, questioned Sunday on ABC television's "Issues and Answers," was asked if President Nixon might call off the price freeze early.

"Well, that remains to be seen," Shultz said. He denied his statement means the administration is retreating from its position that the freeze should stay on.

It is just a recognition of the fact that lots of questions have been raised and lots of pressure has been put on," Shultz said.

West Coast markets reported shortages, limits on sales, and in some cases no beef at all during the weekend. A "first come, first served, as long as it lasts," policy was in effect at Safeway, an employe in Los Angeles said.

In the San Francisco area, shoppers emptied some supermarket shelves of beef while other stores began rationing supplies for the first time. Fry's Supermarket in nearby San Jose was completely sold out of beef, and major appliance stores in the suburb reported a waiting list for freezers.

"People are overbuying, that's the problem," said Al Franz, general manager of Petrin's Butcher Shop in San Francisco.

In Walnut Creek, Calif., the consumer-controlled Co-Op food market began rationing meat at four steaks, one roast and two chickens per customer. In Indianapolis, the Stark Wetzel Food Co. closed because of the shortage and laid off 25 workers indefinitely.

And in New York, where grocery stores have begun to run out of various kinds of beef, Miss Furness said she believed the shortage was "totally manipulated by the meat people," but she said ending the price freeze early would not solve anything.

"What we have now is less beef at ceiling prices," she said. "But if the ceiling were lifted, we'd have less beef at high prices." She said it will take time after the freeze ends for the beef to be prepared for market.

The shortage was also affecting jobs of meat packers and associated industries.

Historical trip slated

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County Historical Society has planned another summer field trip Aug. 12.

The buses will leave Robert Stuart Junior High School at 7:30 a.m. for the ghost towns of Custer and Bonanza located northeast of Stanley.

According to Dorothy Povey, author of "Idaho's Bonanza Years," the first rich placer discovery was made at the junction of Jordan Creek and Yankee Fork in the fall of 1873.

In 1877 packers began the grueling task of packing supplies and machinery from Ketchum, 84 miles to the south.

In 1879, the mining camp of Bonanza City was begun on the banks of Yankee Fork and the townsite of Custer, two miles upstream, was platted.

The first post office in the district was located at Bonanza City but after the General Custer Mill began operations the pendulum of populations swung to Custer and it was moved there.

Until 1880 the Yankee Fork mining district lay partly in Lemhi and partly in old Alturas County. On Dec. 13, 1880, Custer County was created, with Challis named county seat.

From 1879 to 1888 prosperity reigned in the mining district and the miners had comfortable homes to live in.

The town of Custer died in the fall of 1910, and Ms. Povey says the few remaining residents of Bonanza found it necessary to leave their homes. The post office was discontinued and the more than 5,000 people who had lived in the two camps faded into the forest from which they came.

A test made in 1937-38 of the Yankee Fork from the mouth of Jordan Creek to its merge with the Salmon showed that about $11 million in gold alone could still be taken from the stream bed, which had already produced so many fortunes.

A giant dredgeboat was constructed in 1939 and slowly it worked its way up the Yankee Fork, chewing up the stream bed as it went.

It stopped work in 1942 upon an order from the government, resuming its gutting operation after World War II. It ceased operations entirely in 1952 and sits now at the mouth of Jordan Creek in the piles of rock and gravel, the result of its own chewing and spitting.

The US Forest Service now operates a museum in the old school house at Custer.

Those who accompany the society on the tour must mail or bring their membership cards and fare to the museum near Curry before 5 p.m. Friday. If mailed, please allow at least three days for return. No reservations will be made after that date.

For more information call 733-0341 in Twin Falls or Buhl 543-4039 or 543-5802.

The buses will stop at Redfish Lake for the lunch break. Those attending should bring a sack lunch.

Shoshone wreck injures 2 men

DIETRICH — A single car accident at 5:50 a.m. today, five miles southeast of Dietrich, has put two Shoshone men in St. Benedict's Hospital.

The accident occurred on state highway 24 as the vehicle was traveling west. Passengers in the car, Steel Larson, and Dave Ritter, both 20, Shoshone, were taken to St. Benedict's Hospital by ambulance.

The driver of the vehicle, Hal L. Ross Jr., 23, Shoshone, was not injured.

Ross was driving to Shoshone to work, he told state patrolman, L. R. Stimpson, and had picked up the other men who were hitchhiking. He said he went to sleep at the wheel.

The right wheel of the vehicle went off the shoulder, the driver over-corrected, according to the patrolman. The car then ran off the road through a fence, overturned and landed on its top.

Larson was thrown out and was partly under the car. His injuries were mostly to his head and face. Ritter received a knee and possibly lower back injury. Neither Ritter nor Ross was thrown from the vehicle.

The car is a total loss, patrolman Stimpson said. He has issued a citation for driving under the influence, to Ross.

Geothermal plan set for panel

IDAHO FALLS — A proposed $18 million geothermal research and development project will be presented to the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission Advisory Committee meeting Tuesday and Wednesday in Idaho Falls.

The proposal will be presented by the Northwest Public Power Council and Raft River Electric Cooperative of Malta.

The council is looking for a program to provide information on the potential of geothermal resources as a potential producer of electric power. "Exploration and recovery of geothermal resources are the areas that now require research and development to provide information on this resource," according to R. Ken Dyar, Council manager.

The Council is a long-range bulk power supply planning organization of the 104 consumer-owned electric utilities being served by the Bonneville Power.

Nixon in dark till April

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon did not learn all the facts about the Watergate break-in and subsequent cover-up until April 15, former Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst is prepared to tell the Senate Watergate Committee this week.

Sources close to the investigation said Kleindienst personally told Nixon the full story on that date and came away convinced it was the President's first knowledge of many of the details.

Assistant Attorney General Henry E. Petersen, who headed the Justice Department investigation of the Watergate, reportedly will confirm Kleindienst's story.

Kleindienst and Petersen are to be the final witnesses to testify before the committee ends the first phase of its investigation this week; possibly Wednesday. When Congress returns from a recess after Labor Day, the committee will start its second phase—an examination of campaign "dirty tricks."

The committee hearings resume today with testimony from L. Patrick Gray III, former acting FBI director, who testified last week that he warned Nixon a few weeks after the break-in that top White House aides were trying to "mortally wound" him by interfering with the investigation. Gray also said he destroyed Watergate-related documents found in the White House safe of E. Howard Hunt, one of the original "Watergate Seven."

Kleindienst reportedly will testify that he learned the complete story about the June 17, 1972, break-in and the cover-up from Petersen on the night before he met with Nixon. The two men met until 5 a.m. in the morning on the case.

Three hours later, Kleindienst called the President and set up a meeting after Sunday morning church services at the White House, the sources said.

"The President was amazed," Kleindienst was quoted as telling investigators of the April 15 meeting. "The President acted as if he was hearing it for the first time, or if he had heard something, it was just the day before."

Ousted White House Counsel John W. Dean III, in his testimony, said he met with Nixon in September and believed Nixon was aware the cover-up was going on in the White House.

Kleindienst's version reportedly will say that Nixon said he met with Dean only once between the break-in and late March and at that one meeting Dean did not reveal the cover-up.

The story that Kleindienst took to Nixon was based largely on what Dean had told federal prosecutors, Dean, seeking immunity from prosecution at the time, has told prosecutors top White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman were in on the cover-up and that several other top campaign and White House officials were involved in obstruction of justice.

Kleindienst and Petersen reportedly will testify they were never ordered by Nixon to hold back on the Justice Department probe of Watergate. Kleindienst said he ordered a full probe "just as in any other case."

But the source said Kleindienst told investigators that Ehrlichman at one point became involved in an attempt to prevent Maurice F. Stans, the head of the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President, from testifying before the Watergate grand jury.

Pentagon over $48 million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon has overspent a congressional ceiling on public relations expenses by $48 million in the past two fiscal years, a Government Accounting Office (GAO) report said Sunday.

The GAO report, requested by Sen. Foreign Relations Committee chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., was reminiscent of the 1971 CBS News documentary, "The Selling of the Pentagon," which caused bitter protest from the Pentagon and some members of Congress about alleged distortions of the Defense Department public relations efforts.

The official Pentagon reports on publicity expenses listed $24.8 million in fiscal '73 and $22 million in fiscal '72—well below the $28 million annual ceiling imposed by Congress in 1970.

But "selected activities which are, at least in part, promotional in nature and not included in public affairs expenditures," the GAO reported, showed the military spent $24 million above the reported figures in each of the two years.

The Pentagon did not include the public affairs costs of personnel who spent less than half their total time in public relations work, the report said.

Other hidden expenses, the GAO said, were:

- Four special military aerial teams to perform at fairs and other civic events. Operating costs for three teams reviewed were put at $5.3 million, and this does not reflect the high costs resulting from the numerous accidents involving the teams.
- Five major military bands which performed 5,023 times in 1972 at a cost of nearly $11 million.

Three hours later, Kleindienst called the President and set up a meeting after Sunday morning church services at the White House, the sources said.

"The President was amazed," Kleindienst was quoted as telling investigators of the April 15 meeting. "The President acted as if he was hearing it for the first time, or if he had heard something, it was just the day before."

Ousted White House Counsel John W. Dean III, in his testimony, said he met with Nixon in September and believed Nixon was aware the cover-up was going on in the

Terrorist hit termed 'success'

ATHENS (UPI) — Two Arabs who attacked passengers at the Athens international airport Sunday with hand grenades and submachine guns gave no reason for their action, officials said today. The two men called the attack a success, police added.

"We did what we came to do," police said the men told them after the attack.

The two, described as Palestinian guerrillas, struck without warning, shooting and hurling four grenades among passengers—many of them American—preparing to board jets for New York and Geneva.

Three persons, two of them Americans, were killed and 55 more wounded.

The dead included two Americans with at least 10 Americans listed among the 23 foreigners who were wounded.

Passengers caught in the attack were those scheduled to leave on a Swissair flight to Geneva and a Trans World Airways (TWA) flight to New York. The New York plane was just loading and only a few of the passengers managed to clear the lounge and reach the plane safely before the Arabs struck.

Police declined to speculate on whether the Arabs might have mistaken the New York and Geneva-bound passengers for passengers on another TWA flight headed to Tel Aviv. It departed without incident 10 minutes after the attack began.

After their attack the Arabs, seized between 35 and 40 persons hostage behind the lounge bar but released them unharmed and surrendered to police two hours later after demanding without success to see the ambassador of the United Arab Republic.

Officials identified the two as Zaid Mohamad, 23, and Talaat Hussam, 21, both listed as Palestinians.

One killed, ten injured in riot

STARKE, Fla. (UPI) — One prisoner was killed and 10 others injured Sunday night in what a state official called a "little race riot" at the Florida State Prison in Bradford County.

Rex Newman, a spokesman for the State Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, said the trouble was quelled by prison guards in about a half hour.

At the height of the trouble,

Newman said about 300 inmates were removed from the main prison in the state system.

Newman said "to our best knowledge it was a little race riot, a racial incident which may have started Friday night when a white inmate threw lighter fluid on a black."

"Saturday night a white stabbed a black, so there's reason to believe that Sunday night's trouble was in retaliation."

Reddy regularly faces two kinds of curves: a daily load curve, as shown here, and a yearly load curve. Both are affected by changes in family routine, weather and a multitude of factors which vary electrical needs.

Keeping electric loads as level as possible is wise use of facilities as well as wise use of energy. That's why Idaho Power Company promotes such services as electric heat, water heating and Nightguard lights. We're filling in the valleys to help straighten the curves.

Ousted aides scramble to obtain jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nixon administration officials who lost their jobs because of the Watergate scandal have no government financial fringe benefits upon which to rely, and several presidential appointees have scrambled to find new jobs to maintain their standard of living.

Former Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst, who quit his $60,000-a-year post April 30 because of his "personal and professional association" with figures in the scandal, said when he resigned he could live "about 30 days" without a job.

Kleindienst now is practicing law in Washington, but he admits business could be better.

John Mitchell is one of the few people who is prepared for adversity," Kleindienst said, alluding to the affluence of President Nixon's former campaign manager, who also is a former attorney general. But Mitchell took a leave from his Wall Street law firm when he was indicted with financier Robert Vesco for allegedly attempting to conceal a $200,000 campaign contribution to Nixon's 1972 campaign. Maurice F. Stans, a millionaire and campaign finance chairman, was indicted with Mitchell and Vesco.

Mitchell and his wife, Martha, continue to maintain an expensive apartment on New York's Fifth Avenue, but in a recent long distance telephone call by Mrs. Mitchell to UPI reporter Helen Thomas, Mitchell interrupted their conversation to say "who's paying for this call? Remember, I'm unemployed now."

Advised by Miss Thomas that his wife had called her, Mitchell admonished the women to cut the conversation short.

Mitchell, Kleindienst and former White House aides John Ehrlichman, H. R. "Bob" Haldeman and John W. Dean III were presidential appointees and therefore ineligible for health, life insurance, leave and pension benefits assured regular civil servants, according to the U.S. Civil Service Commission.

Other departed administration officials also failed to qualify for benefits because of their appointee status or because they quit or were fired, the commission said. A spokesman added that federal benefits only are denied civil servants who have been convicted of endangering national security or espionage.

The life styles of the officials, many of whom were in government for the first time and serving for about four years, have changed radically. Many of them have devoted hours to preparing their testimony, before the Senate Watergate Committee or conferring with their lawyers. The re-election committee, still in operation, reportedly is underwriting some legal fees as the probe continues.

Haldeman, who completed his Senate testimony last week, has moved his family into a borrowed $750,000 home near Newport Beach, Calif. Haldeman, a former advertising executive, and Ehrlichman, a lawyer, made $42,500 with the administration.

Ehrlichman has returned to Seattle, Wash., with his family. Herbert W. Kalmbach, the President's lawyer, told the Senate committee that he personally lent his friend, Ehrlichman, $20,000 after he lost his White House job.

Egypt, Libya ponder merger

CAIRO (UPI) — Political sources said today Egypt and Libya are holding talks in Tripoli to decide the type of merger they want for their two countries and the date for putting it into force.

Vice Premier Abdel Kader Hatem, who arrived Saturday in Libya, is leading the Egyptian delegation while the Libyans are led by Premier Abdel Salam Jalloud.

The sources said that while the two countries agree on the principle of unity, they differ on some fundamentals of the new state and on the date of merger itself.

The Libyans want the new state proclaimed in September as originally planned. They want its laws based on the Koran, the Moslem holy book, and its citizens to exercise direct authority by means of popular committees.

The Egyptians are more cautious, the sources said, and prefer a declaration of unity in September followed by steps to bring the new state into existence.

Moreover, the sources said, the Egyptians are not keen on the application of Islamic law in all walks of public life and feel that a "popular revolution" in such a populous country as Egypt may adversely affect public order.

The talks between the two sides began Sunday with a four-hour session, the major part of it a closed meeting between Hatem and Jalloud and two of their aides.

As the session was in progress, the Middle East News Agency said, an aide of President Anwar Sadat of Egypt arrived in Tripoli with a message for the Libyan leader, Col. Moammar Khadafi.

Commissaries violate laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., believes some military commissaries are offering servicemen cut rate prices on food and cigarettes in apparent violation of the law.

Aspin said Sunday a 1952 law requires the defense secretary to certify that food at reasonable prices and quantity is unavailable in a locale before a commissary can operate there.

However, Aspin said, Pentagon regulations defeat the purpose of the law by allowing commissaries to operate wherever there are stores with prices 20 per cent higher than commissary prices.

"Despite the clear mandate of the law, the Pentagon continues to operate dozens of these stores in apparent violation of the law," Aspin said.

The Wisconsin congressman, a frequent critic of the Pentagon, said there are 278 military commissaries in the United States doing an annual business of $2 billion and costing the taxpayers "hundreds of millions of dollars a year" in subsidies.

Aspin said the Defense

Department was seeking $17.9 million this year to build new commissaries. He said he was asking the General Accounting Office (GAO), the investigatory arm of Congress, to look into the operations.

The GAO should find out, Aspin said, whether the Department of Defense regulations and their enforcement "are within the scope of the law and how many stores should be closed down."

He said a GAO study conducted in 1964 showed that half the commissaries in the United States should be shut down.

There was no immediate response to Aspin's charges.

However, individual servicemen reacted privately with expressions ranging from indignation to appreciation of the savings which commissaries offer.

"Every time they run out of other things to criticize, they start attacking the commissary system," one officer said.

Another serviceman said commissaries used to offer a regular 20 per cent discount but now charge close to civilian supermarket prices on most items and often are less well stocked than supermarkets. He pointed out that commissaries in the Washington area were rationing meat, allowing each customer only two packages per trip.

Beef freeze 'lift' aired

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz says it "remains to be seen" whether the administration will remove its freeze on beef prices before the Sept. 12 deadline.

But Shultz denied Sunday that his phrase meant the administration—responding to beef shortages and consumer complaints—was retreating from its position that the freeze should stay on.

"It is just a recognition of the fact that lots of questions have been raised and lots of pressure has been put on," Shultz said in a television interview.

Asked if the freeze would be lifted early, Shultz replied, "that remains to be seen." The last I talked to the President that was the date that had been set and as far as I know he hasn't shifted his view on that."

The treasury secretary described as "quite on the high side" a beef industry prediction that beef prices would go up as much as 20 per cent on Sept. 12. He said beef that is being held back from market now will come on the market Sept. 12 and later and "that will tend to hold the prices down in the future."

One reason for the beef shortages, Shultz said, was the fact that many consumers were buying "more than they need currently" and stocking it in freezers.

Japan provides market

(c) Chicago Daily News
 PARIS — Sparked by one of the world's highest inflation rates, Japan's economy is turning into a booming market for American exports. Japanese inflation is more than 11 per cent for both retail and wholesale prices, figures released today by the organization for economic co-operation and development (OECD) show.

Booming economic growth of 15 to 16 per cent in the first months of 1973 will slow to a still-high 10 per cent by early next year, OECD predicted.

Heavy exports from the United States played a major role in subtracting $1 billion from America's $1.6 billion trade deficit with Japan in the first five months. Red ink totaling $600 million remained.

Helping U.S. sales were the upvalued Japanese yen, up 38 per cent against the dollar. Also, the relatively better U.S. performance in limiting price rises and Japanese liberalization measures on foreign sales and investments.

The Tokyo government is shifting priorities to homebuilding and other social spending. Wages are rising, spurred by higher consumer prices.

Responding to prodding by Washington, Japanese exports are diversifying to Europe (up 39 per cent) and to China and the Soviet Union.

Japan's share of total exports to the United States rose only four-tenths of one per cent last year, compared to yearly increases three times as great in the preceding four years.

Among imported cars, Japan's share rose from 18.1 per cent in 1971 to 19.9 last year. Television sales accounted for 61.1 per cent of imported TV, compared to 77.8 in 1971.

Much of American exports to Japan were in commodities such as timber and wood products, foods, soybeans and metals. Japanese demand for all of these is likely to stay strong, experts said.

But there was doubt privately expressed whether the high level of imports of early 1973 would continue into late 1973 and early 1974.

The swift change of (Japanese) business expectations in conditions of abundant liquidity has led to speculative purchases," the OECD report notes.

This, relates, to heavy Japanese buying of soybeans, wool and other commodities.

The country's gross national product now is $225 billion, compared to $1,068 trillion for the United States with a population twice Japan's 107 million.

Its inflation is partly a result of the "strongest" boom in 20 years throughout most of the industrialized world, OECD said. There is rising world demand competing for nearly everything.

Dr. George graduated this spring from the University of the Pacific School of Dentistry. He was among the top 10 scholastically of 97 who received the dental surgery degree.

He was presented a $250 scholarship award by the Women's Auxiliary of the school in recognition of his achievement. He was also honored with election to Omicron Kappa Epsilon, national dental scholastic society, and Tau Kappa Omega, the school's dental honorary society.

A graduate of Rigby High School, Dr. George attended Brigham Young University, where he graduated with a bachelor of science degree in 1969.

Safety during landing top aviation problem

By WILLIAM HINES
 (c) Chicago Sun-Times
 WASHINGTON — Safety during approaches for landing — especially when weather conditions are less than ideal — is the biggest single problem facing commercial aviation today.

Three times in the last 10 days of July, American-Flag Airlines were involved in crashes fatal to 202 persons — the worst blood bath in any equivalent period in U.S. aviation history. Two of these accidents, accounting for 124 lives, occurred during landing maneuvers in bad weather.

Such tragedies are a melancholy fact of life in today's air-oriented transportation system. Statistics compiled over the years clearly show the most dangerous part of any trip to be the last few minutes before the airplane reaches the arrival gate. The worst single-airplane accident in U.S. annals, the crash of an Alaska Airlines Boeing 727 near Anchorage on Sept. 4, 1971, which killed 111 persons, fell into this category. Most approach accidents happen without the flight crew's having any notion that trouble is building up until literally the last second or two.

4-H field days finished in TF

TWIN FALLS — Annual 4-H field days were completed for Twin Falls county youngsters during the past week giving them a "trial run" for coming county fair competition.

Field day programs to assist club members and their parents in fitting and showing and preparing for judging contests in dairy cattle, beef cattle and sheep and swine were held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The swine field day program initiated the three-day sessions at the Independent Meat Co. There were 35 4-H club members and their parents taking part.

Otto Florence Jr. and Bill Hazen county extension agent from Camas County put on a swine program pointing out things to look for when judging fat hogs and grading and classifying of fat hogs. Hazen explained fitting and showing and demonstrated the important points on live hogs provided by Independent Meat Co.

The Beef field day began Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the county fairgrounds with 70 youngsters participating. Clay Harrison, Minidoka county beef producer and Lynn C. Merrick, Twin Falls county agent, directed the beef program. Demonstrations included proper ways of clipping a beef animal for show and showing and handling the cattle in the ring.

Merrick discussed judging points for beef steers and stressed the fact beef animals are being produced for meat and not excess fat. Practice judging with four live steers was held.

Dairy project exhibitors met Thursday night at the Gary Custer dairy farm with Custer and John Holloway discussing the proper methods of fitting and showing dairy projects. They also discussed judging and selecting of show prospects.

Sheep field day was held in conjunction with the Filer Ram Sale. Robert Bumgardner, Council, presented the program Friday at the fairgrounds. The program covered clipping of the lambs feet, curry combing of the wool, carding the wool, showing of wool, brushing and blanketing the lamb, and a demonstration of proper methods of showing the animals. About 60 4-H club members participated in the event.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE G. BLASTOCK

Valerie Menck, Blastock wed

TWIN FALLS — Valerie Jean Menck became the bride of George Gregory Blastock in July 21 rites at St. Edward's Catholic Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin L. Menck Sr., Twin Falls, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Blastock, Filer.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Father Robert Grant. Vases of pink roses and hot pink carnations were placed on each of the side altars. Pink and hot pink bows marked the pews in the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of French lace over white satin with a full chapel train. The dress featured long lily point sleeves and was trimmed with tiny seed pearls around the neck. The sleeves were closed with small covered buttons.

Her fingertip veil was held by a crown of three roses with pearls at the base. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses, baby's breath, a white orchid and greenery, tied with white satin ribbons.

Cleo Tsatsa, Twin Falls, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Nancy Rogers, Twin Falls, cousin of the bride, Nancy Bonnett, Twin Falls, and Ella Bullers, San Jose, Calif. Toni Rogers was flower girl.

Melvin Menck Jr., brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Bob Blastock, brother of the bridegroom, Nick Ohanesian and Roger Eaton. Darren Jones was ringbearer.

Burt Huish was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Joanne

Cubit, organist.

The couple was honored at a reception — following — the ceremony in the parish hall of the church.

Quartet tables were covered with white lace overlays. Brandy snifters with pink carnations were placed in the center of the tables.

The bride's table was covered with a white satin underskirt and white lace overlay trimmed with pink and hot pink ribbons. The four tiered wedding cake was iced with white and decorated with pink and hot pink roses and silver leaves. Pink roses and greenery were arranged around the base of the cake.

A miniature bridal couple was placed on top of the cake. Candelabra decorated with pink roses, baby's breath and greenery flanked the cake.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Earl McAdams and Mrs. Eugene Lattin, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Ken Menck, aunt of the bride, served coffee. Mrs. Dick Small served punch. Leonard Vauk served at the bridegroom's table.

Chris and Camille Blastock, both sisters of the bridegroom, and Janice Small were in charge of gifts. Carla Blastock, sister of the bridegroom, registered guests.

Guests attended from Filer, Buhl, Hagerman, San Jose, Calif., Las Vegas, Nev., Kimberly and Twin Falls.

The bride was honored at a pre-nuptial shower given by Cleo Tsatsa.

Following a wedding trip to Lake Pend Oreille, the couple resides at 1638 Highland, East, Twin Falls.

Miss Watkins bride of Good

GLENN'S FERRY — Janet Watkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Watkins, and James Good, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Good, Indian Cove, were married July 22.

The justice of the peace in Elko, Nev. performed the double ring ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. James Morin, Glens Ferry, accompanied them. Mrs. Morin is a sister of the bride.

The bride wore a white double knit street dress, with white accessories, and had a bridal bouquet of pink roses.

She is a 1973 graduate of Glens Ferry High School and has been employed at the Clark Insurance Agency in Glens Ferry.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Glens Ferry High School and attended vocational school in Twin Falls. He is employed at a body shop in Rupert, where the young couple will reside.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: As the cliché goes: "I never thought I'd be writing to Dear Abby, but here goes."

My oldest and dearest friend is marrying a gal he's been living with for two years. Some of his buddies wanted to have a stag for him—the typical kind—a dinner with drinks, and a lot of gags about his "last chance" to enjoy bachelorhood. We wouldn't go so far as to have any nude girls jumping out of cakes or anything like that.

The problem is his fiancée. She says the traditional stag is a "chauvinistic idea" and if his friends want to honor him, they should entertain the two of them together.

The groom doesn't want to upset his fiancée, so he's asked us to call off the stag. I am pretty burned up about the whole thing. I think the decision should be the guy's, and not his fiancée's. So you tell me, Abby, who is being unreasonable here? D. R.

Stag party nixed

DEAR D. R.: The decision WAS the guy's. He decided not to upset his fiancée. So if you want to honor your buddy, do it his way or not at all.

DEAR ABBY: Is it standard practice to charge close relatives for wedding pictures? My sister in law has had two children marry this past year. (My son was in one of the wedding parties). She had pictures taken of all the guests as well as the bridal couple and wedding party. Then she went ahead and had a lot of pictures made up, and she charged her own parents, sisters, and brothers for the copies of the pictures that included THEM.

Is this right? And if it is, don't you think $5 is a little stiff for one five by seven black and white glossy? D. A. IN C'VILLE

DEAR D.A.: It's standard practice if one can afford it. TO GIVE close relatives one picture of themselves as well as one of the bride and groom. Those who want additional pictures should order (and pay for) their own.

And yes, I think $5 for one black and white glossy is a little stiff.

DEAR ABBY: We had to write! Our oldest son, who was a fine athlete before he entered the service, also stepped on a mine in Viet Nam. He lost one leg, and the sight of one eye.

Three months later, he won a trophy in skiing competition, and we have several shelves of trophies he has won every winter since his accident in 1970. He is still able to surf, and has a license for scuba diving. Next year he graduates from college with a degree in physical education.

Last March we attended a meeting of the National Inconvenienced Sportsmen's Association in Winter Park, Colo. There were both male and female entrants from 12 years old to 50, and some of their accomplishments were absolutely unbelievable! The last thing these people want is sympathy.

We were heartbroken when we heard the extent of our son's injuries. Now we have the greatest admiration for his courage. Do you wonder why we are such proud parents? MR. AND MRS. O. W. RAYDER, Reseda, Cal.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SALLY: You won't meet anybody sitting home. Go with the creep and look over the crop.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90009. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90009.

Smut peddlers trigger backlash

BILMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Pornographers who flooded the market with explicit films and publications triggered a backlash and spurred the U.S. Supreme Court towards its recent decision on obscenity, according to the director of the Indiana University Institute for Sex Research.

Dr. Paul Gebhard, director of the Institute made famous by Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, called the court decision to let censorship rules mirror community standards "dangerous and unfortunate."

"The ruling is an infringement on individual freedom and an attempt to legislate taste," Gebhard said in a news release.

"It is another example of the government claiming that the individual must be protected from himself as though he were an incompetent minor."

"This is dangerous viewpoint since it could easily lead to more and still more repressive statutes and ordinances," he said.

Gebhard said the liberalizing of obscenity laws, beginning in the mid-1960s when the Supreme Court declared nudity in and of itself was not obscene, prompted pornography peddlers to sell more and more explicit materials. This resulted in a "backlash effect which happens any time a social change happens too fast."

Nixon establishes 9 new domestic council panels

(c) Washington Star-News
WASHINGTON — President Nixon has set up nine new domestic council committees to give members of his cabinet a stronger hand in developing domestic policies.

Each of the committees headed by a cabinet member, is given "lead responsibility" in a specific domestic problem area for developing, coordinating and presenting to the President both short-term and long-range domestic policy issues.

Nixon also charged each committee with the "lead responsibility" for continually reviewing legislation pending in Congress and recommending to him "such actions as may be necessary to successfully achieve our legislative objectives with the Congress."

The new committee structure is seen as part of an effort, led by Melvin R. Laird, counselor to the President, for domestic affairs, to increase the cabinet's role in making administration policy in the domestic field and promoting it in Congress.

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton heads one of the new committees — on environmental resources.

Another committee, on community development, has rotating chairman — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz for rural development; Housing and Urban Development Secretary James T. Lynn for urban development; and Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar for transportation policy development.

A committee on drug abuse also has rotating chairmen — Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson for enforcement, and Health Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger for treatment.

Weinberger is chairman of three committees in the "human resources" area — one on health insurance; one on income security; and another on aging.

Domestic growth concerns Britain

(c) Chicago Daily News
OTTAWA, CANADA — Is this vast, wealthy country attempting to replace Britain as the focal point of the 32-member commonwealth of former British colonies?

If so, Britain will be happy to see it happen.

At least that is what Prime Minister Edward Heath said in London last week in a private press briefing on the eve of his departure for the 19th Commonwealth Conference, which opened in Ottawa this week.

last Jan. 1, more practical considerations take over. The special trade relationships, preferential tariffs and other economic ties that Britain held with its former colonies will have to be revised, and these are major topics of discussion among the heads of state.

Stressing that she is not abandoning the commonwealth, Britain nevertheless is frankly more concerned with its domestic growth and its place in the European community than with the dynasty of countries it mothered.

Canada's ambitious Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau began his effort to secure a new place for his country in the commonwealth during the 1971 conference of heads of state in Singapore.

He was praised then for his role as mediator in averting a commonwealth breakup over African blasts at Britain for selling arms to South Africa.

Here, before a colorful array of princes, presidents and prime ministers representing independent countries that once were part of the mighty British Empire, Heath stressed the fact that Britain today is merely an "equal among equals."

There is no question that the common bond of language, law institutions and tradition — from the parliamentary democracies most of the commonwealth retains to gin and tonic before dinner — will always give Britain a special place among those countries.

But with Britain's entry into the European Common Market

Five Magic Valley girls try for Gooding crown

GOODING — Five young women are vying for the title of 1974 Gooding Rodeo queen.

The new queen will be crowned by Marlene Varin, 1973 queen, during the final performance of the rodeo Wednesday.

Contestants include Linda Laudert, Wendell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Laudert; Jana Moody, Gooding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Moody; Bette Will, Eden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Will; Carol Skinner, Twin Falls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Skinner, and Dawn Thompson, Jerome, daughter of Dorothy Thompson.

A new Gooding County junior princess will be crowned during the same ceremony by Nancy Pierson, reigning junior princess. Candidates include Carol Hobbley, Wendell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Hobbley; Sandra Mohwinkel, Gooding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Mohwinkel; Elizabeth Osborne, Gooding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Osborne; Robin Jewell, Gooding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harland Jewell; Leslie Isaacs, Wendell; daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Isaacs; and Laura Bray, Bliss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Bray.

Miss Laudert began riding at age 4 and had continued with participation in high school rodeo. She attended the College of Southern Idaho last year and was named all around cowgirl at CSI. She will attend Idaho State University this fall. She is currently Jerome Posse queen and was second runner-up in the state posse contest.

Miss Moody attends Boise State College, majoring in veterinary science. She has been riding horses "since she could walk" and helps with cattle work on her parents' ranch. She lists sewing and crewel embroidery among her hobbies.

Bette Will is a graduate of Valley High School and will attend Boise State this fall. She was active in high school rodeoing and in track. She is immediate past reigning queen of Murtaugh Hospitality Days and second runner-up at Buhl Sagebrush Days.

Miss Thompson graduated from Jerome High School this spring and will attend dental school in Salt Lake City in the fall. Her hobbies are riding and reading. She breaks and trains her own horses.

Carol Skinner was recently named first runner-up in the Hatley queen contest and Miss Congeniality and second runner-up at Carey. She is a sophomore at College of Southern Idaho majoring in accounting. She trained her own Quarter Horse for the competition.

Phnom Penh residents wait

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — The mood in Phnom Penh is one of free-wheeling gaiety despite the crumbling of the capital's outer defense perimeter and the creeping possibility of the capital's "fall" to surrounding Communist troops.

"Musique Monsieur Nixon" — the Cambodian nickname for the the thunder of American B52 bombers — has reached an almost deafening volume in the city as the United States makes an all-out effort to save the regime of Prime Minister Lon Nol before the Aug. 15 bombing deadline.

The Cambodians, however, seem almost oblivious to the roar of the air strikes and to the unhappy military facts that prompted them. Phnom Penh residents simply raise their voices in an attempt to drown out the bombs and only occasionally will someone crack the already stale joke, "a lot of thunder this year but not much rain."

An ice cream vendor stationed at a prominent observation spot used to do a thriving business each time American Phantom warplanes bombed guerrilla positions on the outskirts of the capital, but now Cambodians barely glance at the jets: Even the dogs don't bark as they did when the bombing increased three months ago.

Government radio stations broadcast continuous announcements of brilliant military victories on all fronts, but some of the generals have packed off their wives and children to Paris.

Cambodian leaders have been inviting U.S. Embassy officers to an increasing number of luncheons these days with such attractions as "hot dancing" for entertainment. At first, the Americans were a little puzzled by the increased amiability, but they soon found out the reason — a rumor-making the rounds that the United States plans to fly only 100 high-level Cambodians to asylum if the capital falls to Communist troops. Everyone wants to make sure he's got a seat reserved.

"These bloody fools," snorted one western military attaché who spent an uncomfortable afternoon at such an affair. "In a few weeks they're going to be paraded on spikes around the city and they sit there leering at 'hot dancing'."

The U.S. Embassy plans to land big Chinook transport helicopters on the roofs of the capital's hotels and at secret rendezvous points throughout the city in order to save its nationals.

Many diplomats without the insurance of a last-minute U.S. flight out intend to leave the city as soon as "the point of no return" seems to have been reached.

"I have been watching the Cambodian bigwigs very closely," said one diplomat who has orders not to play hero. "They have already sent their wives to safety for one reason or another but when they begin to evacuate their mistresses I'll know the time to leave has come."

Some Western diplomats and journalists intend to stay in Phnom Penh "no matter what" and have been stockpiling champagne, imported cheese, caviar and steaks for the "three or four days of utter chaos and hell" after a possible Khmer Rouge guerrilla push into the city.

"Once the shooting stops my instructions are to go out on the street, tap the nearest member of the other side on the shoulder and, bowing formally present my credentials," one American diplomat said.

Transport system failure

(c) Newhouse News Service — A WASHINGTON — A professional transportation consultant believes that in human terms the American transportation system is the "largest technological failure the world has ever seen."

In remarks circulated by the national coalition on the transportation crisis, Dr. George W. Brown singled out the automobile for much of his criticism. He noted the toll of highway deaths, injuries and destruction had cost the economy $13.6 billion in a single year and that a quarter of the registered motor vehicles in the country were involved in accidents in 1970, then asked:

"One wonders why these yearly costs do not cause rational men responsible for transportation planning to recognize the failure of the system. Their sole response is to blame users of the system for its failure."

At another point, Brown, who has a Ph.D. in physiology and who serves as a consultant to insurance funds on safety, declared:

"In terms of human values we can state that the American transportation system is the largest technological failure the world has ever seen."

The national coalition on the transportation crisis is a volunteer organization founded 10 years ago. "It's a small thing, but it's honest," says Mrs. Angela Rooney, executive secretary.

Tax-loss farmer studied

(c) Washington Star-News WASHINGTON — Concern over high food prices and current shortages may spark a congressional investigation of a relatively new breed of farmer — the highly paid actor, doctor or businessman who goes into farming to shelter his income.

A new congressional study shows that individuals and corporations who invest in farming ventures with the aim of incurring losses are having an increasingly adverse impact on farming generally.

These "tax-loss farmers" — many who never see the land they own or the crop they produce — take advantage of tax laws originally passed to help "real farmers" but which now appear to be hurting them, the study says.

"Markets for many agricultural products have become distorted, reducing the profit margins of many real farmers" and putting large numbers of them out of business, says the study, prepared by the staff of Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio.

Vanik, a member of the House Ways and Means Committee, has written to the secretaries of the Treasury and the Agriculture Department as well as the chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission asking for a probe of the effects of tax-loss farming. Congressional action, a Vanik aide said, may well follow the expected September release of another study on tax-loss farming currently being conducted by the Ways and Means Committee staff.

Vanik believes his study demonstrates that the "combination of disruptions" caused by tax-loss farmers is increasing costs to consumers.

But no one knows the "dimension of that increase," now many "real farmers" are going out of business because of market distortions, or how many acres this type of farmer actually controls, he says.

The absentee farmers show little concern over whether a crop market is over supplied or under supplied or whether production costs are forced up through inflated land prices, study says.

But the "real farmer" does care about his land, the price he gets for his crop and providing ample supplies of the right foods for his country, Vanik said.

Beef producers, for example, are beginning to feel the effects of a "land squeeze" which is forcing up the consumer price of meat the study says.

"The fact that outside investors are outbidding farmers for acreage has led to a situation where range land is increasingly scarce."

Beef crunch hits valley

However, independent meat is doing a "tremendous amount" of custom work for farmers and private individuals who have cattle they want slaughtered, he said.

Because of the custom work Florence maintained, "We're not expecting to close. We're very optimistic about that."

He added that there is a nationwide shortage of hogs affecting this area now.

Independent Meat is slaughtering 30 to 35 per cent fewer hogs than normal this month. Last month its hog slaughtering operation was 20 to 25 per cent below normal, he said.

Monte Baker, manager of Magic Valley Packing Co. in Gooding, said that the company is slaughtering at 50 per cent of normal rate this week and plans to continue its operations at this level through next week.

"We are just trying to survive," Baker said speaking of the bleak situation for packers.

He added that the company has not yet laid off anybody and has no immediate plans for layoffs.

"If it (the price freeze on beef) continues it's anybody's guess. I don't know what will happen if it continues a full month," Baker concluded regarding the likelihood of the company remaining open through Sept. 12.

TF event set

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Downtown Merchant's Association and the Twin Falls City Parks and Recreation Department will co-sponsor "Kids Appreciation Day" on Thursday.

Highlight of the day will be the 10 a.m. showing of "Finnegan's Rainbow" at the Orpheum Theatre. Admission to the movie will be free for kids. Chad Browning, director of the city recreation department, said there will be a second showing of the movie if needed.

There will be a drawing at the first showing of the movie for a Stingray bicycle. Free treats will be given after the movie.

Browning said the day will signify the closing of the city's summer playground program and is an indication that school is "just around the corner." He said the baseball program has already been concluded.

The city's swimming pools will remain open, Browning said.

TF plant gutted by fire

TWIN FALLS — The interior of old Western Condensing building on the south end of the Ida-Gem Dairies plant, 702 3rd Street West, Twin Falls, was gutted by fire, Sunday afternoon.

According to Twin Falls Fire Department Capt. Ted Poulton, the entire interior was in flames when firemen arrived at the scene about 3:15 p.m. Sunday.

Poulton said an explosion — probably caused by gases pressurized by heat — occurred before firemen arrived, blowing out the walls and windows of the brick and wood structure, and causing the roof on the west end to collapse.

All trucks and firemen on duty in the city responded to the blaze and all off-duty firemen were called in, Poulton said.

He said the building was too far gone when firemen arrived to take any control measures through work on the building itself.

Use of spray brought the blaze under control about 7 p.m., he added, with mop-up work continuing until midnight.

Poulton said one fireman received bruised ribs when he was jerked to the ground by a firehose and two men were treated for heat exhaustion. There were no serious injuries.

Poulton said the fire department received about 10 calls from passing motorists and nearby residents. A delay was caused, he said, when first reports of the fire indicated it was a weed burn on the north side of Rock Creek Canyon.

Poulton said the building contained no alarm system and was standing empty prior to the fire.

R. Lyons Smith, general manager of Ida Gem, said this morning that no damage estimate was available. He said the firm's insurance agents and an architect were studying the structure to determine whether it would be rebuilt.

Incorrect caption

BELLEVUE — The cause of a pickup truck and trailer rollover accident Thursday morning south of Bellevue was incorrectly stated in the caption of a picture in Sunday's Times-News.

Pictured was an overturned pickup with a camper shell driven by Albert C. Jones, Birmingham, Ala., which had been towing a 40-foot trailer.

According to a Blaine County Sheriff's Department report, Jones was attempting to pass a pickup truck driven by Thomas Kennedy, Paradise, Calif. and towing a 14-foot trailer. As Kennedy was turning left off U. S. Highway 93 onto Highway 23.

The bumper on the Jones trailer reportedly caught the front bumper of the Kennedy pickup. Only the Jones pickup and trailer overturned. Jones was cited for passing at an intersection.

Andrus inspects Salmon home

SALMON — Gov. Cecil Andrus inspected the Casabello Estate nursing home during a visit to Salmon and said that "hopefully" the establishment can work out its problems involving federal regulations.

The governor said he was interested in finding out where he could help. He noted that in this case it is a matter of dealing with federal requirements.

Casabello Estate was faced with a financial crisis when federal regulations went into effect requiring the nursing home install a $30,000 fire protection sprinkling system or lose its federal Medicaid funds.

Mrs. Joyce Hammond, owner-operator, conferred with federal and state officials to keep the nursing home open.

She advised this week that the nursing home now is operating under an intermediate care plan in the federal Medicaid program and is still licensed as a skilled nursing care facility by the state.

A patient medical-social re-evaluation team consisting of regional and state members visited the nursing home last week and advised Mrs. Hammond that under the present plan there would likely not be a moving of any of the residents to other facilities and at the most one or two, probably those only temporarily.

Gov. Andrus commented that he didn't feel it right to have to move the patients who reside here some distance from their home.

During his visit here, the governor inspected the nursing home and its facility, talking with patients and personnel, including Mrs. John Prochko, director of nursing.

He spoke with Mrs. Nora Y. Whitwell, 103, a patient at the nursing home.

Mrs. Whitwell told the governor: "I thought I'd never get to see you. We are so happy to have you here. Please give my regards to Mrs. Governor."

Youths hurt in wreck

BURLEY — A collision which sent two area youths to the hospital late Thursday occurred when Carl Andrew, 18, Heyburn, failed to stop his vehicle at a stop sign.

Andrew was traveling south on 250 East and Connie Smith, 17, Burley, was headed east on 500 South when Andrew collided with the Smith vehicle.

Andrew and a passenger, Irvin Binam, 16, Burley, were taken to Cassia Memorial Hospital.

It was erroneously reported Sunday that the Smith vehicle failed to stop at the stop sign. The Times-News regrets the error.

TF program set

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Hazel Ostrander, Twin Falls, will present a program on identifying and pricing antiques from 6 to 8 p.m. tonight at the Twin Falls Public Library.

There will be a display of various antiques and cut and pressed glass during the afternoon.

There will be a presentation on woodworking projects from 2 to 4 p.m. Tuesday given by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Annis, Twin Falls. They will display some projects and describe how to prepare the wood, plus talking about various woodworking skills and operations.

SV festivities set this week

SUN VALLEY — A solid week of varied artistic and musical events begins today at Sun Valley.

The art and music week is coordinated through the Sun Valley Creative Arts Center.

Tonight and Tuesday evening, a performance of Moliere's farce "Scapin" will be presented, by the University of Idaho, beginning at 8:30 p.m. in the Elkhorn Summer Theatre.

Also tonight, beginning at 9:30 p.m. at the Sun Valley Opera House, a screening will be conducted of "Triumph of the Will," the Leni Riefenstahl 1934 documentary film focuses on Hitler, Goebbels and contemporaries of Germany's sixth annual Party Congress.

Beginning at 9:30 p.m. Friday at the Opera House, Ferico Fellini's 1963 Academy Award winning film, "Eight and One-Half," will be shown.

Saturday and Sunday will mark the fifth annual All State Art Festival in Sun Valley. Artists from throughout Idaho will be exhibiting their paintings, sculpture, pottery, weaving, macramé, jewelry, photography and other media on the Sun Valley Mall.

The week's music will be provided by the Ramsey-Lewis Trio which will be playing in the Limelight Room of the Sun Valley Inn for six consecutive nights beginning Tuesday at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets for all events and performances, as well as entry blanks for the art festival, may be purchased at the Creative Arts Center in the Elkhorn Gallery on the Sun Valley Mall.

Proceeds from all the events will benefit the arts center, a non-profit educational institution. For further information, call the center at 622-9292.

Visit with stars

AN ADMIRER talks with Cary Grant, left, host for the opening of the Brut Film Festival Friday night at Sun Valley. Many film stars were on hand for the festivities including James Brolin, above. The art and music week activities are coordinated through the Sun Valley Creative Arts Center.

Governor visits

GOV. CECIL Andrus visited with Mrs. Nora Y. Whitwell at Casabello Estate nursing home in Salmon. With them is Mrs. Jewel Prochko, director of nursing at the home. Mrs. Whitwell will be 104 in October.

Niekro hurls no-hitter for Braves in NL action

By United Press International
Phil Niekro, a 34-year-old knuckleballer in his 11th major league season, pitched the Atlanta Braves' first no-hitter Sunday when he blanked the San Diego Padres, 9-0.

Niekro, who came out of the bullpen after an arm injury to become the Braves' most reliable starter, gave up three walks and hiked his record to 11-5. It was the first no-hitter in the National League this season although there have been four in the American League.

The Braves, leading all the way of course, put the game on ice for Niekro in the sixth inning when Paul Casanova led off with an inside-the-park home run and the Braves added three more runs in the inning to build their lead to 8-0.

In other National League games, St. Louis beat New York twice, 3-2 and 3-1, Cincinnati routed Houston, 7-1, Pittsburgh downed Philadelphia, 4-1, Montreal nipped Chicago, 3-2, San Francisco edged Los Angeles, 4-3.

Rick Wise pitched a five-hitter and drove in two runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly in the second game of St. Louis' doubleheader sweep over New York after the Cards edged the Mets in the opener. Wise hit his 14th major league homer to open the third inning of the second game. Lou Brock followed with a triple and scored on Tim McCarver's single.

Singles by pinch-hitter Bake McBride and Lou Brock each drove in a run in the seventh inning of the Cards' first game win. Jose Cruz led off the seventh with an infield hit, took second on a sacrifice, and McBride singled to left to score Cruz. McBride took second on the throw to the plate and scored on Brock's single to right.

Joe Morgan highlighted a four-run fourth with a two-run single to lead Cincinnati to victory over Houston. Walks to Johnny Bench and Bobby Tolan touched off the Reds' uprising in the fourth. Doug Rader missed pitcher Jim Richard's throw for an error on an attempted force play at third, enabling the first run of the inning to score. Pete Rose singled home a second run and Morgan's single accounted for the final two of the inning.

Richie Zisk banged out two doubles and a single and drove in a pair of runs to lead Pittsburgh to victory over Philadelphia. Zisk doubled behind a Willie Stargell single in the second inning and the Pirates scored their first run on a wild pitch by loser Wayne Twitchell. The Pirates scored two more runs in the eighth with just one hit. Rennie Stennett walked, and Dave Parker was hit by a pitch. After Stargell was intentionally walked, Zisk doubled to right-center to make it 3-0.

Ron Fairly cracked a two-run single in the seventh inning to spark Montreal to a win over Chicago before a crowd of 101,019, the largest crowd ever to see a game at Jarry Park.

Bill Buckner smacked a two-run homer to pace Los Angeles to victory over San Francisco. Buckner highlighted a three-run rally in the third with his fifth homer of the season after Dave Lopes reached base on a throwing error.

Detroit beats Yankees to highlight AL action

By United Press International
Jim Northrup went 4-for-4 including two singles, a triple and a home run, and Dick McAuliffe drove in four runs with a pair of home runs Sunday to give the Detroit Tigers an 8-6 victory over the New York Yankees.

John Hiller came on to get the last four outs of Joe Coleman's 18th victory for his 24th save of the season.

Northrup has a seven-game hitting streak going during which time he's hit .581 to raise his season's average to .301. He hit his eighth home run of the season off the roof in right field in the first and then tripled in the third and scored when Mickey Stanley followed with his 13th home run.

McAuliffe opened the fourth with his 11th home run of the season and came up in the fifth to smash his 12th of the season, a three-run blast that dealt Pat Dobson his fourth loss in 10 decisions.

In other games Boston beat Baltimore 7-4, Cleveland swept a doubleheader from Milwaukee, 6-5 and 4-1, Minnesota ripped Kansas City 7-1, and Chicago dealt Texas a doubleheader defeat, 7-3 and 5-4.

Bert Blyleven pitched a three-hitter, retiring the first 18 batters he faced to defeat Kansas City as the Twins snapped the Royals' seven-game winning streak.

Blyleven, who leads American League pitchers in shutouts with seven, saw his no-hitter disappear in the seventh inning when Fred Patek tripled on a 2-2 pitch off the left field fence. The drive barely eluded the grasp of left fielder Larry Hise. Cookie Rojas then followed with a line drive single to center field to score Patek.

Earl Williams' costly seventh inning error set the stage for Tommy Harper's three-run double as the Red Sox crushed Baltimore behind southpaw John Curtis' five-hitter.

Williams, who was playing first base, dropped a throw from second baseman Bobby Grich with two out that eventually cost loser Mike Cuellar a five-run inning. Rico Petrocelli singled in the fatal seventh and with two out, Rick Miller reached on Williams' single before Doug Griffin singled home Petrocelli. After Dwight Evans walked to load the bases, Harper lined a double down the left field line to score Miller, Griffin and Evans. Harper stole third and on an attempted steal of home Oriole catcher Andy Etchebarren dropped the ball and Harper was safe.

Brent Strom, who had not won a game since April 9, tossed a four-hitter and George Hendrick hit his 21st homer of the season to pace the Indians to a second game victory and a doubleheader sweep over Milwaukee.

Oscar Gamble drove in three runs with a pair of homers in the first game as the Indians pulled out the contest with a ninth inning rally.

Strom, who is now 2-10 for the season as well as his major league career, struck out nine, walked five and lost his no-hit bid when Ellie Rodriguez hit a two-out single to left in the seventh inning. George Scott, Ollie Brown and Rodriguez singled with two out in the ninth for the Brewers' lone run.

John Jeter doubled home Eddie Leon with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning Sunday to lift Chicago to a second game victory over Texas after the White Sox grabbed the first game of the twinbill.

In the opener, in which Stan Bahnsen won his 15th game after allowing 11 losses, Carlos May drove in four runs for the Sox with his 11th home run, a double and a sacrifice fly.

Skier waits for partner

A PENSIVE LISA Lynn seems to be waiting for someone to join her for an afternoon of boating in the warm water off Florida's Gulf Coast recently. America's favorite form of water recreation is skiing. It is estimated that 11 million skiers will be skimming across the lakes and rivers this year.

Family will watch Clemente inducted

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (UPI) — Three little boys, still not fully conditioned to the fact their father is gone, will see him officially inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame Monday along with five others.

The late Roberto Clemente's sons, Enrique, Luis and Roberto, all under 10, along with their mother, Vera Clemente, have made a special trip here from Puerto Rico to see for themselves the enshrinement of their internationally famous father who was killed while on a mission of mercy last New Year's Eve.

Warren Spahn, fifth biggest winner in major league history with 363 victories, heads the list of living inductees. He will be honored along with Monte Irvin, a standout in the Negro Leagues before starring for the New York Giants; George Kelly, first baseman for the champion 1921-22-23-24 Giants, the late Mickey Welch, a 300-game winner from the previous century, and the late Billy Evans, an American League umpire for 22 years and later a major league executive.

The boys have been reading every possible thing written about their father, says Mrs. Clemente. They had been looking forward to this day for a long time.

Following the 34th annual Hall of Fame Day enshrinement, Clemente's team, the Pittsburgh Pirates, will meet the Texas Rangers at historic Doubleday Field which is little more than a fungus drive from where the six new members will be inducted into the Hall.

Clemente, who was 38 when he was killed off the coast of San Juan when the plane he was attempting to bring supplies to earthquake victims of Nicaragua crashed into the sea, became the 11th player in major league history to achieve 3,000 hits last September 30.

Shortly after his tragic death, the Baseball Writers Association of America petitioned Hall of Fame directors to waive the five-year waiting period, and so the BBWAA membership could vote the Pittsburgh superstar into the Hall of Fame.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn will preside at the induction and the ceremonies, a traditional event here, are open to the public free of charge.

Among the Hall of Fame members scheduled to attend are Lefty Grove, Waite Hoyt, Bob Feller, Joe Cronin, Luke Appling, Roy Campanella, Charley Gehring, Rube Marquard, Max Carey, Stan Coveleski, Bill Dickey, Ford Frick, Jess Haines, Harry Hooper and Buck Leonard.

Jackie Stewart wins grand prix

NUERBURGRING, Germany (UPI) — Jackie Stewart of Scotland, pacing his blue Tyrrell Ford round the twisting and hilly course with cool precision, led from start to finish today to win the 35th German Grand Prix.

Francois Cevert of France stuck to the tails of his Ford teammate throughout the monotonous 198.8 mile grand to make it a Tyrrell double with Jacky Ickx of Belgium third in McLaren Ford.

Carlos Pace, a 29-year-old Brazilian, placed fourth after a slow start and broke the track record with 7:11.4 minutes closing, an average of 118.4 mph. He shaved 2.2 seconds off Ickx's 1972 record.

Stewart chalked up his sixth victory of the season and edged closer to the 1973 World Championship in the 11th of his races. His plight was eased when Sweden's Ronnie Peterson dropped out with mechanical trouble early in the race. The 150,000 crowd had barely settled down round the 14.2 mile track.

Reigning world champion, Emerson Fittipaldi of Brazil, still nursing an injured foot, was never in contention and settled for sixth place. He was beaten out of fifth spot by his elder brother Wilson.

With 11 out of 15 races out of the way, Stewart now has a commanding lead of 60 points to Cevert's 45 and Fittipaldi's 42 in the overall Grand Prix points standings.

While the crowd had little excitement on a windy and cloudy day, at least they were spared of accidents which have marred so many Grand Prix races this season. Although several cars dropped out, none crashed and at no time was the big force of firemen called into action.

Stewart clocked 1:42.03 for an average 117 miles in his 27th Grand Prix win. He also was the fourth driver to score three victories at Nuerburgring joining Juan Fangio, Alberto Ascari and Rudolf Caracciola.

At the halfway stage Stewart and Cevert had increased their lead to 25 seconds.

Judy Rankin outlasts Austin for victory in Pabst classic

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Judy Rankin withstood a late charge by Debbie Austin Sunday to win the $35,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association Pabst Classic with a final round even-par 72 and a 54-hole total of four-under 212.

Miss Austin, who started the day five shots off the pace and trailed by six strokes going to the 11th hole, cut it to two during the next four holes as she wound up the day with a two-under 70 and a 54-hole total of 215.

Four shots back at even par were Sandra Palmer, who set a course record with a six-under-par 66 Sunday; Sandra Spuzich, who had a 69; Shelly Hamlin, 70; Laura Baugh, 71, and Donna Young, 72.

Mrs. Rankin, a leading money winner on the LPGA tour this year, started the day with a four-shot lead over Mrs. Young and Betty Burfeindt.

Miss Burfeindt, however, was one of four players disqualified prior to the start of the final round for illegally moving guy wires used to hold up small trees on the 4,500-yard Riviera County Club course during Saturday's round. The others disqualified were Beth Stone, Jane Blalock and JoAnn Prentice.

Mrs. Rankin started the day with a bogey on the first hole which quickly cut her margin to three shots. She knocked in a five-foot putt, however, on the par 3 fourth hole and got another deuce when she ran in a 15-footer on the par 3 ninth, to go five under par.

It was about that time, however, that Miss Austin began her belated charge, picking up two shots on the 11th when she knocked in a 20-footer while Miss Rankin missed the green, chipped about four feet past and failed to make her putt. That left Miss Austin even and Mrs. Rankin four under.

Both girls parred the 12th hole but Miss Austin sank a 25-footer on the 13th for a birdie and picked up another shot on the 14th when Mrs. Rankin chipped short and missed her five-foot putt.

That trimmed the margin to two shots, but that was as close as Miss Austin got as both parred the 16th and 17th. The 29-year-old Mrs. Rankin, of Midland, Tex., knocked in an eight-footer for a birdie on the 18th for her final three-shot margin.

Mrs. Rankin, who collected $5,250 for her victory to push her earnings for the year to $52,000, said she "probably played as well today as I did the first two rounds but I didn't make as many putts."

She said her eight-foot putt for a birdie on the final hole "was a little easier after I sank that three-footer for a par on the 17th. I didn't want to go to the final hole with only a one-stroke lead."

Miss Austin, 25, of Oneida, N.Y., who suffered a two-stroke penalty during Saturday's second round for hitting the wrong ball, picked up $1,900 for her second place finish. The five players who tied for third each received $2,070.

Sandra Post finished alone at 218, earning $1,300, while Robyn Dummett, Andy Fischer, Murle Breer, Pam Higgins and Clifford Ann Creed each received $975 for their 219 finish.

Mary Lou Crocker, who shot a one-under 71 for the day and finished the 54 holes at 224, had a four-under-par 32 on the front side for a course record.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, AUGUST 7, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to fill your thoughts and your plans with much outside activity. Look outward instead of inward to make the decisions that will best extend your present interests.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) Becoming more friendly with associates whose thinking has been different from yours is wise. A good day to plan a trip. Don't be too eager to take up with strangers at this time. Be alert.

TAURUS (Apr 20 to May 20) Put those good ideas to work that will make you more skillful and give you more abundance. Show more devotion to loved one. Don't become disturbed at the strange behavior of a friend. Be helpful.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Meet with associates who are important to your well-being and be willing to make changes in agreements so that better results occur. Use more direct methods with one who opposes you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can increase your work output and get excellent results at this time. Find new items to add to your wardrobe and improve your appearance. Have a delightful time with kin tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Once you have done important work, go to the amusements that you enjoy. Engage in those creative outlets that you like so much. Make sure you don't argue with others or trouble could result.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept 22) If you are more kind with kin and give them a pat on the back instead of criticizing them, you get a more harmonious reaction. Make little changes around the house for added comfort.

LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct 22) Being more cooperative with associates brings good results now. Work in a more efficient way and get more benefits in the future. Make sure you do your shopping early in the day. Relax tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov 21) Fretting over little things you cannot change is not wise. Concentrate on whatever is important and make far greater progress. Obtain the advice you need from a successful businessman.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) You can improve your present position by getting busy at whatever really pleases you and is important to your welfare. Make sure you dress well before keeping a vital appointment.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) If you first talk with a trusted adviser, you can take a course of action with confidence. Forget civic work for the time being. Avoid persons who are detrimental to your progress.

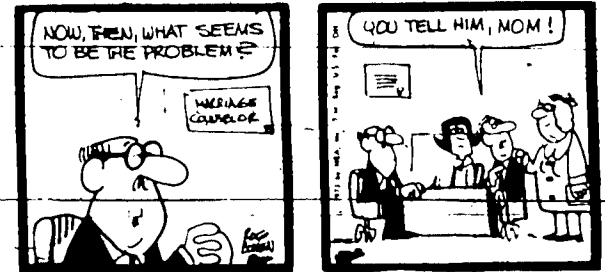

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) Getting in touch with good friends early makes it possible for you to be the gregarious person you are. Take time to go after your finest aims. A kind manner with mate brings fine results.

PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar 20) You are now able to add a good deal to your present success because of the fine capabilities you possess and put to use. Don't forget to pay an important bill. Relax at home tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those confident young people who will be full of pride in any endeavor. Direct the education along civic or governmental lines, and there could be no limit to the advancement in such fields. Give good spiritual training early in life, plus musical lessons or whatever is of a cultural nature. Teach fair play.

Young lady, do you have a pretty mouth? If so, you now can have it copied in a mold, then cast in bronze, so said decorative lips can be worn as a brooch. Dress designer Yves St. Laurent came up with that notion. It's not altogether new, though. In 1925, Salvador Dali designed a couch in the shape of Mae West's mouth.

POLITICS

Q: "Who said, 'Politics makes strange postmasters'?" Kin Hubbard?"

A: No, that was Frank Hubbard. Kin Hubbard said, "There's some folks standing behind the President that ought to get around where he can watch them."

Q: "Which has more caffeine - a cup of instant coffee or a cup of brewed coffee the same strength?"

A: The brewed. Theoretically, it should have twice as much.

Q: "What's a 'set' of chickens?"

A: Two roosters and five hens. In the lingo of the poultry boys.

EASY FISHING

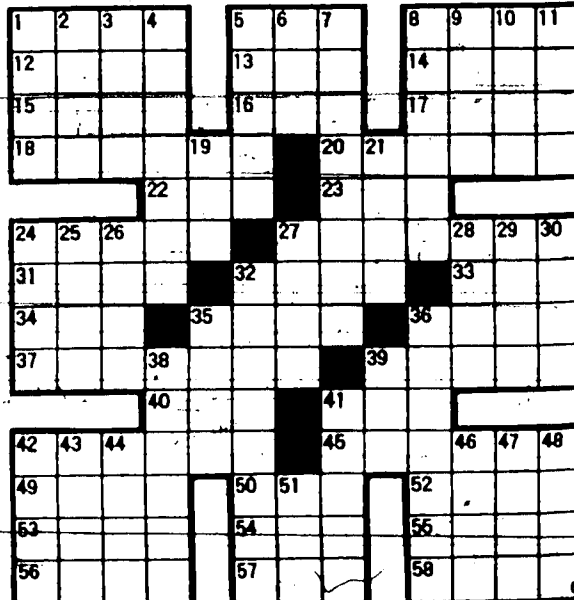

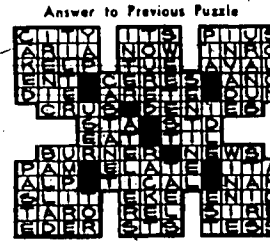

At Stradella in northern Italy is a vermouth distillery. Something broke there recently. A whole batch of the sauce polluted Stradella's creek. Fish therein got drunk. Swimmers downstream found they could catch said fish with their hands. Baskets full. What's more, even though fresh out of the frying pan, I understand they had a rather fancy flavor, those fish. As though marinated.

MAJOR HOOPLE

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market drifted lower Monday in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange, reflecting lack of buying interest and concern over the latest round of prime rate increases.

Just before noon, the Dow Jones industrial average had dropped 4.22 to 904.65. Losers led gainers, 992 to 472, among 1,455 issues traded.

Turnover was sluggish, and amounted to over 4,200,000 shares through noon, compared with 4,540,000 shares at the same time Friday.

The move began last Friday by three banks to a 9 per cent prime lending rate spread among a number of the nation's largest lending institutions early Monday. While analysts feel the market fully expected the rise, there was concern the rate might move considerably higher in the coming months.

Else, in a survey of purchasing agents, for the first time since the "recession" of 1970-71, the number of those reporting declines in production and new orders was greater than the number reporting gains.

Twentieth Century-Fox led the Big Board actives, unchanged at 8 3/4 on 175,900 shares, including a 175,200-share block at 8 1/4. Levitz Furniture was second, also on a large block trading, up 1/4 to 8 1/8 on 166,800 shares. The company reported a 14.1 per cent rise in July sales. Bausch & Lomb was third, up 1/8 to 31 1/2 on 51,800 shares.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange declined in slow trading. Leading the actives, McCulloch Oil gained 1/2 to 5 1/2 on 42,900 shares, followed by Kaiser Industries which fell 1/4 to 6 3/4 on 21,400 shares. John H. Harland Co. was third, up 3/4 to 27 1/4 on 19,300 shares.

Interstates build towns

(C) N. Y. Times Service — At the intersection of Interstate 90 and South Dakota 63 this town is officially nameless. It is unincorporated. It is on no map. But it could be a city of the future.

The permanent population of this new town is five, not counting two dogs. But the temporary population — the people who buy gasoline, souvenirs, campground spaces and "radar range" hamburgers — is somewhat around 1,200.

Developments at highway junctions are not brand new, as any driver — tired of the road by the garish gasoline beacons — can attest. Historically, Americans have built most of their towns around transportation intersections.
