Nixon response due shortly

(c) Chicago Daily News
WASHINGTON — Working behind a curtain of tight security, President Nixon plans to answer Watergate accusations "not later than Thursday," according to White House sources. The White House has declined to give any official clues to how or when Nixon will respond to the 37 days of Senate hearings which detailed charges against former administration officials ranging from perjury and destroying evidence in a criminal case to influence peddling and conspiracies to obstruct justice.

Discount rate hits peak

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Reserve Board's discount rate rose to an all-time high of 7.5 per cent today in the seventh increase of the year. The Board announced Monday it was jumping the rate from 7 to 7.5 per cent effective today. It responded to record high prime rate hikes by commercial banks. The discount rate is the interest commercial banks are charged when they borrow from Federal Reserve banks.

Gen. Bradley 'comfortable'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gen. Omar N. Bradley, 80, the nation's only living five-star general, was reported "resting comfortably" at UCLA Medical Center today. Bradley was admitted Sunday with a blood clot on the lung. The condition was attributed to a football injury at West Point more than 55 years ago. His wife said he is "in no critical danger" and his condition should stabilize in less than a week.

Anti-war 'pray-in' planned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the midnight deadline for an end to the Cambodia bombing only hours away, antiwar demonstrators from across the country planned a massive pray-in today at the White House. The Community for Creative Non-Violence (CCNV), which has organized daily pray-ins that have resulted in 98 arrests since July 6, said the demonstrators would join the regular tourist lines. Antiwar priest Daniel Berrigan is expected to participate, a spokesman said.

Texas slaying evidence found

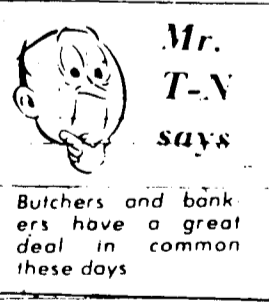

HOUSTON (UPI) — An east Texas sheriff said today a hand-scrawled map of possible new gravesites and "many other items of evidence" had been found in a cabin used by a homosexual bachelor accused of killing at least 27 young boys in the worst mass murder in modern U.S. history. San Augustine County Sheriff John Hoyt said the map pinpointed several locations in the San Jacinto National Forest in southeast Texas.

Nader charges AEC cover-up

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader charged today the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) has practiced "a massive cover-up of most urgent reactor-safety problems" for years. Nader, leadoff witness at a Pennsylvania State Insurance Department hearing into the insurance risk posed by nuclear power plants, said a major accident in a nuclear power plant could create a disaster area "equal to that of the state of Pennsylvania."

Mishap injures young Kennedy

HYANNIS, Mass. (UPI) — David Kennedy, 18, son of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy, was listed in satisfactory condition at Cape Cod Hospital today with a sprained back, sustained when a jeep-like vehicle overturned Monday. His brother, Joseph P. Kennedy III, the driver (left), was not hurt, but five girls riding in the vehicle were injured, one seriously.

More French N-tests hinted

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI) — Four ships of France's Pacific squadron put out to sea over the weekend, touching off reports they will participate in new French nuclear tests. The four warships are part of the naval task force policing the Mururoa atoll testing area, 720 miles southeast of Tahiti.

Agnew support reaffirmed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House reaffirmed today President Nixon's confidence in Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and described as "totally wrong" a report the two discussed any possibility of Agnew's resigning.

US planes on last raids

By United Press International

Orders to halt the bombing of Cambodia went out today from a peaceful Marine Corps base overlooking Pearl Harbor on the Hawaiian island of Oahu.

American pilots and crews were instructed that the last bombs were to be dropped before 10 p.m. MDT today — ending more than a decade of U.S. combat involvement in Southeast Asia and 180 consecutive days of the intensified air campaign in Cambodia.

In those six months, the U.S. Air Force has dropped more than 240,000 tons of bombs on suspected rebel emplacements in Cambodia — nearly half again the 160,000 tons of conventional explosives dropped on Japan in World War II.

U.S. warplanes used their last hours in Cambodia today to give guerrillas in the jungles around Phnom Penh a final pounding before the cut-off. The heavy bombing shook foundations and rattled windows in the city, but unruffled Cambodians went about their business as usual, oblivious to the racket.

The government of Cambodian President Lon Nol says 10,000 rebel troops are perched on the city's outskirts, biding their time until the bombing stops. Some intelligence officials predict a new rebel offensive on the capital shortly thereafter.

The orders for all U.S. forces to comply with a law ending bombing and combat activity throughout Indochina as of Aug. 15 came from the office of Adm. Noel Gayler, commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific headquartered on Oahu. The directive was in response to an agreement ending the American campaign in Cambodia between President Nixon and Congress.

Gayler said that as of midnight, the B52 bombers and the fighter-bombers that have strafed and bombed Cambodia on an around-the-clock basis for the past six months would cease all operations over the tiny country.

Gayler said that while the combat missions would be halted, most of the planes and their crews would remain at their bases in Southeast Asia, at least for the time being.

"Certainly, we won't move them out instantly," Gayler said. He said the decision on whether to pull the planes and crews out of Southeast Asia entirely would "have to be made on the situation as it evolves."

Including the secret bombing by U.S. B52s that began in March, 1969, Cambodia has been bombed by American planes off and on for four and a half years. The campaign intensified when insurgent troops launched their current offensive in the country shortly after the Jan. 28 Vietnam cease-fire took effect.

The rebels are under the leadership of deposed Cambodian leader Prince Norodom Sihanouk, forced from office in a 1970 coup led by Lon Nol and currently living in Peking. His troops are said to comprise a well-disciplined and well-organized army of 140,000 men who hold 90 per cent of Cambodia and 45 per cent of its population.

Guilty Cure-oil?

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — Jay Dean Standlee, 31, Hazelton, entered a plea of guilty today in Fifth District Court to charges of voluntary manslaughter and assault with intent to commit murder.

Standlee was to go on Trial Wednesday on charges of first degree murder, attempted murder, which were brought against him following an incident in his parent's home Aug. 17, 1973.

Standlee was accused of first degree murder in the death of his ex-wife Sharyn Woodall, 26, Silverton, Ore., and of attempted murder in the wounding of Theral Woodall, 42, also Silverton.

Mrs. Woodall died from two wounds in the head, and her husband received a single wound in the chest, all allegedly fired from a 38 caliber revolver belonging to Standlee.

Judge James Cunningham ordered a pre-sentence investigation and withheld sentencing until the report was completed. He told Standlee that voluntary manslaughter carries a maximum sentence of 10 years and assault with intent to commit murder, a 14 year maximum sentence.

Prosecuting Atty. Eugene Fredericksen told the court that his office would accept the lesser plea because it was felt that a jury would most likely bring down the same judgment.

Fredericksen based his statement on evidence submitted by several psychologists and psychiatrists during sanity hearings. He said, however, that the state had not been allowed to select its own psychiatrist and had to use one appointed by the court.

BUHL — There was oil on the water here Monday

It was castor oil — a fine grade — at that. City Water Supt. Lawrence Fawcett said the oil was drawn into the water being pumped into the mains by heavy use between 5 and 8 p.m. The pump motor was slowed down, slowing the flow of oil, used to lubricate a lower bearing in the well shaft.

Fawcett said excess "drifter" oil accumulates atop water in the well. It was drawn into the lines when heavy usage lowered the level in the well. He said there was no danger to residents or vegetation from the oil.

Big firms ask price boosts

United Press International

U.S. Steel Corp., the country's largest steelmaker, today joined the list of major corporations filing for price increases following the introduction of Phase IV.

Auto and steel companies have been the first of the big corporations to file their 30-day notices of price increases but many in other lines of business are expected to follow.

U.S. Steel said it expected to raise prices on sheet, strip and pipe products an average of about 5 per cent. The increases were similar to those announced in the spring but which were withdrawn because of the government's price freeze. They are "cost justified," the company said.

Chrysler Corp. asked the Cost of Living Council for permission to increase prices on 1974 models by an average of 7%. American Motors also applied to increase car prices an average of 5%.

Scalping alleged in $120,000 suit

TWIN FALLS — A $120,000 negligence suit has been filed in Fifth District Court by a girl who was allegedly scalped by a go-cart.

The suit was filed Aug. 10 by Kim C. Kmeck, 13, Saratoga, Calif., through her father and court-appointed guardian ad litem E. L. Kmeck, against Chalet Amusement Co. Inc.

In the suit it is alleged that the Kmeck girl was riding a go-cart at the amusement park on Aug. 11, 1971, when her hair became caught in an exposed drive chain mechanism and her scalp was torn from her head.

Named as a defendant along with Chalet Amusement, Inc., and its operator Val R. Feller is Kohler Co., a Minnesota firm which allegedly manufactured the go-carts used by Feller.

In seeking $120,000 on six counts of negligence, the suit alleges in part, "that said injury occurred through the negligence of said defendants in failing to properly maintain their equipment and in failing to use reasonable care by covering the engine and working parts of said machine to protect the operators of said vehicles."

Search halted

DIVER SURFACES after futile attempt Monday to find body of Dean Dotson, 26, Twin Falls, presumed drowned in Wilson Lake east of Jerome Sunday evening. Harlan Fillmore and Butch Fillmore, Twin Falls divers, aided in search before it was halted Monday evening. Sheriff Elza Hall said the search was halted until an area can be pinpointed.

TF plan unit convenes

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Joint City-County Planning Council held its first meeting at a luncheon Monday.

The council is the result of a mutual agreement between Twin Falls City and Twin Falls County to develop a comprehensive land use, resources and services plan for the county, including Twin Falls and all other cities in the county. The council hopes to hire a professional planner soon to develop such a comprehensive plan.

The council is presently composed of six members. Paul Ostyn from the Twin Falls City Council, Merl Leonard from the county commission, Jack Muldoon from the city planning and zoning commission, Alvin Harris from the Farm Bureau, NFO Grange and Cattlemen's Association; Joe Fehrenbacher, Buhl, from county municipalities at large, and as an yet unnamed member from the county planning and zoning commission.

In addition, Paul Kelly, director of the South Idaho Resource Planning and Development Association sits as an ex-officio member.

Funding for the council, and for the hiring of a professional planner with a salary in the $15,000 to $18,000 range, will come from $20,000 allocated from city revenue sharing monies and probably matching amount from county revenue sharing funds.

While the county has not yet budgeted any money to the council directly, Leonard said today $10,000 currently budgeted for administrative purposes could be used in part for the council with additional funds likely to be budgeted soon.

Cassia beef demand soars

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

BURLEY — Housewives living only a few miles from some of the state's largest feedlots are unable to buy beef in large quantities, survey of Minidoka meat markets shows.

Butchers from nearly a dozen markets and supermarkets from Minidoka and Cassia counties report an increase in the demand for halves and quarters of beef of five to six times the normal demand.

According to Dan Kelly of the House of Fine Meals in Burley, it is unlikely that all of his orders — five or six a day — will be filled by the time the freeze comes off beef prices Sept. 12.

Most butchers contacted agreed there is little problem getting normal cuts of beef and hamburger meat from suppliers. But they also agree they are working on a week to week basis, and in one man's words, "You just order it and you'll know when the truck gets there" whether the order is filled.

Of the outlets contacted, only one, Jerry's Market in Rupert, reported any serious difficulty in getting meat for the week.

Robert Fletcher, business manager of Bryant's Packing Co., a supplier for some local meat markets, confirmed what the butchers said. "We haven't been able to handle the volume," Fletcher said, "but we're able to take care of our regular customers."

He said the company had its own feedlots, which permitted it to continue its supply uninterrupted, but was unable to purchase cattle from other feedlots because of the price freeze.

And he cited an "overwhelming demand" from butchers for halves of beef. "It's not so much that we don't have the beef, it's that we can't process it" due to the shortage of hanging space. He said the demand for halves and quarters of beef is five to six times normal.

Ed Miller, owner of the Foodland in Rupert, said customers are "going crazy" over halves of meat, apparently in anticipation of a serious beef shortage in the near future. "They're getting frantic because they think it's going to go," he said. Byron Warr of Mac's Market in Burley, agreed with Miller.

"I think they (the customers) are wanting to board it," he said, adding he had received 50 calls in the past two weeks from customers asking for halves of beef. His normal demand, he said, is a maximum of five a month.

Most butchers are in general agreement the price of beef will "take off" when the price ceiling is lifted by the Nixon administration in another month. But they are cautious about predicting what will happen following the initial rise.

Warr predicted hamburger at $1.29 a pound at least for a few days after the freeze comes off. That is about 30 per cent higher than the $.98 a pound he is currently selling it for. But he said the price could "go to heck" if all the packers start killing and processing beef at the same time. Ray Hess, manager of Shelby's in Burley, also said it was difficult to predict what would happen to the price when the freeze was lifted.

Fletcher, the manager of Bryant's, said the price would "unquestionably" go up initially, but after the prices would depend on the quantity of beef being held up in the stockyard, because their owners were waiting for a higher price. "I know they're fairly short around here," he said, "but added he was uncertain about stockyard suppliers around the country."

Patients get poultry, fish

BURLEY — Cassia Memorial Hospital has had "some trouble" getting enough beef for its patients' meals, according to the hospital's food service manager.

Mrs. Lila Priest said Monday she had had to "fill in" several meals with poultry or fish as a substitute for the planned meat. She said the hospital had received all it ordered in the most recent shipment from its supplier, but had received only about one third what she ordered last week and about one half the week before.

Mrs. Priest said the hospital bought meat already cut rather than buying halves or quarters. In one case, she said, she had been purchasing diced sirloin tip beef for $1.10 per pound for stew, but had been told she couldn't get any more of that cut. Now, she said, she is purchasing ball-tipped stew meat for $1.29. "It looks identical," she said.

Edd Richardson, administrator of the Minidoka Memorial Hospital, said his institution had had no problem getting its ordered beef.

Israelis defend abduction of jet

(c) Chicago Daily News
UNITED NATIONS — Israel has defended her abduction of an Iraqi jetliner over Lebanon as an indefensible defiance against a "morbid blood lust of the Arab states" against her sovereignty.

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah Monday, before the 15-member U. N. Security Council, said Arabs who had turned the world into a "dangerous jungle" could not complain that the "man-killing beasts in it are being pursued or that the pursuit is conducted not necessarily in white silken gloves."

Lebanese Ambassador Edouard Ghorra — whose country demanded the council session after Israeli fighters had forced down the Arab plane which they believed carried Palestinian guerrilla leader — accused the Jewish state of "aerial piracy" as an instrument of national policy.

"The international community," he said, "can no longer tolerate this lawless behavior... as Israel is arrogating to itself the power to establish a special law outside the Six-Day War in June, 1967, has been deplored, censured and condemned by the UN Security Council for conflicting incidents in the Mid East war zone."

Rainy variety

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — Puerto Rico, only 35 miles wide, has a great variation in rainfall. In the north coastal sections, it is about 60 inches a year, while on the south coast it averages about 40 inches. Inland, high in the tropical rain forest of El Yunque, the rainfall averages 180 inches.

indicated it would ignore any kind of even mild UN censure as it has in the past.

The United States, in the meantime, indicated it would support Arab-inspired censure of Israel on its trespass on Lebanon airspace, but no further.

If the Arab delegates insist on sanctions, Americans have said they would probably be pushed into a sixth veto, only less than a month after their last exercise of that prerogative.

The Soviet Union, backing Egypt and Iraq, which also spoke during Monday's session, supported demands or sanctions against Israel. Ghorra charged Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan had "aroused a more arrogant challenge" to the "existing Middle East conflict."

Israel's Tekoah countered that Lebanon had made "backneyed pretenses" in vain attempts to justify support for Arab terrorist against Israel.

He said Israel had hijacked the Arab plane on justified grounds because "savage atrocities are being perpetrated for the avowed purpose of destroying a member state" of the UN.

Israel, he continued, was interested only in apprehending George Habash, a Palestinian guerrilla leader, and an "arch criminal" who had purposefully killed "innocent men, women and children" of Israel.

Habash, he charged, was responsible, also for the "barbaric murders" in Athens, Munich and other neutral areas the Palestinians insisted is making arenas of Mid East confrontations.

The United States was the target of Arab vitriole for continuing to supply arms to Israel. U. S. Ambassador to the U. N. John Scali, however, kept a determined silence during the debate, apparently waiting for his chance to explain U. S. presence in the Mid East embroilment. That debate was expected to resume this morning.

Energy use up seven %

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In 1960, an estimated 12.8 per cent of American homes had air conditioners. In 1971, the figure was 40.6 per cent.

Thirteen years ago, 6.3 per cent of homes had electric dishwashers. This percentage had grown to 26.5 by 1971.

The government's Council on Environmental Quality used these and other figures today to illustrate why there is an energy crisis.

In a report entitled "Energy and the Environment," it noted that electricity consumption has grown at the rate of 7 per cent annually over the past decade. And it predicted the trend will continue, a result of growing affluence.

One conclusion of the report was that the nation tends "to produce and consume energy inefficiently." It called for an improvement in decision making in the energy field "through the careful evaluation of the costs and environmental effects of all present and potential energy sources."

It admitted that there is not enough knowledge at this time to carry out planning of comprehensive policy.

"The energy problem is multifaceted—to provide energy for a rising standard of living while limiting environmental damage and meeting our national security and balance-of-payment concerns," the council said.

"Long-term resolution of this problem will require both an institutional framework and the development of analytical techniques... to determine the optimal mix of (energy) systems and the effect of energy pricing policies. It will also require effort to develop new ways to conserve energy."

Kidnapers sought in South Korea

SEOUL (UPI) — South Korea put its police on nationwide alert today in a search for abductors who kidnaped, beat and then released a prominent opposition politician.

The politician, Kim Dae-jung, was kidnaped last Wednesday from a Tokyo hotel. He was released in Seoul Monday night and said he had been roughed up badly by his abductors.

Culture Information Minister Yoon Chuyoung released a government statement expressing relief that Kim was released.

(In Tokyo, however, South Korea's former ambassador to the United Nations charged that Kim's kidnaping was planned "at the highest level" of the South Korean government.

Solon denied admittance to San Clemente estate

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — A congressman was denied permission Monday to look over the tax-paid security improvements at President Nixon's estate, and accused the administration of "ripoff of the taxpayers."

Rep. Jerome Waldie, D-Calif., said he had asked for, and received, permission last week to inspect the works at the Western White House paid for by the General Services Administration with federal funds. The White House has said that at least $700,000 has been spent on the estate for security installations, requested by the Secret Service to protect the President's life.

"It's fairly obvious the expenditures were not warranted," he said.

Shoshone market entered

SHOSHONE — The Farmer's Market, Shoshone, was burglarized sometime early Sunday morning and a little more than $100 in cash taken along with possibly about six Timex watches. The watches ranged in price from $12.95 to $40. The burglary was discovered Sunday when employe Allie Albright went to work. Entry was gained by using some strong instrument, such as a tire iron, to burst the front door lock. The money was taken from the cash register where it had been left for the Sunday help. Ordinarily money is not left in the building. The market is owned by Joe Berriochos, who was out of town for the weekend.

TF hospital deficit explained to board

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Memorial Hospital showed an operating income deficit of about $35,000 during the first seven months of 1973, hospital board members were told Monday night.

Hospital administrator James Rosenbaum told the board the deficit was incurred because of rapidly rising costs coupled with a federal freeze on hospital rates and fees.

"We think we have effected about every economy we can and still keep our patient load up," Rosenbaum said.

He said the situation was one being faced by hospitals nationwide because of the price freeze, with many hospitals near bankruptcy.

He said Magic Valley Memorial was able to handle its losses by drawing on reserves, but he added that reserves were rapidly being eaten away, also holding back plans for construction of additional hospital facilities.

According to the monthly MVMH financial report, net operating cash dropped from about $191,000 at the end of June to about $116,000 at the end of July.

"Our revenues now are not generating fast enough to offset our spiralling costs. . . so we're going in the red," Rosenbaum said, expressing disbelief that the federal government could place hospitals in such a financial bind.

He said the government has misled the people into thinking that the reversion to Phase III controls would end the strict price freeze, "but for hospitals Phase III was Phase II," he added, noting that the controls continue.

In other business, hospital board members heard a report from Mountain Bell Telephone Co. representative Lyman Davis on the advantages of a new switchboard and telephone system.

Davis said the hospital's present phone system is wearing out and has resulted in continuing, irritating malfunctions and a repair service call nearly every day.

He outlined a new system which would possibly result in the displacement of one night operator and provide "far, far more efficient" service to hospital patients and staff.

Davis said the new system would cost about $1,620 monthly, or roughly $550 to $650 more than the current $1,080 the hospital pays for its phone service.

The increased cost, he said, would be offset by increases in room rates and discontinuance of long distance charges paid by the hospital and then not collected from patients.

Rosenbaum estimated that the hospital now pays about $900 a month in uncollected long distance calls made by patients.

After listening to Davis' report, the board voted to install the new system and authorized Davis to begin ordering equipment.

Davis said there would be some delay in receiving the equipment but the new system should be operational by the end of the year — about the time, he suggested, that the hospital would be able to make additions to room rates even under current government regulations.

Receives funds

JACK RAMSEY, center, vice president and manager of the Idaho First National Bank in Twin Falls, hands a check for $2,250 to Dr. James L. Taylor, president of CSI, while Darl Gled, Boy Scout executive who received another check for $2,000 for that organization, looks on. The funds were donations from the Laura Moore Cunningham Foundation, Inc. and are made yearly in selected Idaho communities.

CSI, Scouts get funds

TWIN FALLS — Two Twin Falls institutions Monday received donations from the Laura Moore Cunningham Foundation, Inc. in the total amount of $4,250.

The College of Southern Idaho received a foundation check in the amount of $2,250 (for three $750 scholarships to be given as many students named by the college officials) and the Snake River Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, received a $2,000 check.

The presentations were made Monday morning at the Twin Falls office of the Idaho First National Bank by Jack Ramsey, vice-president and manager. Accepting for CSI was Dr. James L. Taylor, president, while Darl Gled, SRAC executive, accepted for the Scouting organization.

The Laura Moore Cunningham Foundation is administered by members of the Moore family, one of the founders of the 106-year-old Idaho First National Bank. The Foundation was organized in 1963 by the will of Laura Moore Cunningham for the purpose of aiding education and charities in Idaho. Yearly grants are distributed.

Christopher W. Moore and his partner, B. M. DuKell received the second national bank charter issued west of the Missouri River. The Idaho First National Bank now has 58 offices serving the state and it is in these communities where grants to charities and educational institutions are made by the Foundation.

CAA to review housing project

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Community Action Agency will consider possible construction of low-cost housing at its meeting tonight.

According to CAA official Kay Viste, the meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the CAA building at 260 Second St. East.

Viste said some possibilities for discussion are self-help housing, forming a building cooperative and new housing techniques.

Self-help housing is a Farmers Home Administration low-cost housing program in which about 8 to 10 families cooperate to build their own homes under the supervision of a qualified building coordinator (hired by FHA of the Office of Economic Opportunity), according to Lyn Bradshaw, Twin Falls FHA agent.

He said low interest loans are provided by FHA to eligible applicants to cover materials and other costs.

Loan interest rates are based on adjusted family income, varying from 1 to 7 1/2 per cent with annual payments ranging from $550 to $1,200 over 33 years on a $15,000 loan.

Bradshaw said this program provides individuals with homes valued at approximately $20,000 for only

According to Viste, a non-profit building co-operative would probably be more complex than the self-help plan but possibilities for savings would be greater. She said a building co-op could save money by buying materials in quantity, by serving as a building contractor, or purchasing housing lots.

Viste also said new housing techniques could utilize different types of building materials or new construction techniques.

An added spin-off from the housing program, according to Viste, would be obtaining construction skill by the families involved.

She said a housing program would provide new skills to individuals with better employment opportunities in addition to lowering housing costs.

Two self-help housing programs have already been carried out in the Magic Valley. According to Russ Giber, Burley FHA, a project in Heyburn had 9 homes averaging $14,000 to $15,000 each. Tom Farnworth, Rupert FHA, said a Rupert project included 8 homes of about $12,000 to $13,000 cost.

Club tours Silver City mining district

JEROME — The Gooding Regional Horseless Carriage Club had a tour Saturday and Sunday.

The Silver City Mining district was visited by members. A guided tour of the Stoddard mansion was a highlight of activities Saturday. Also the group visited the Silver City Schoolhouse Museum and took trips to the two local cemeteries.

A pot luck was served in the Idaho Hotel that evening. Ed Jagels, proprietor cooked the hamburgers. The event was attended by 31 people. After the meal, Jagels conducted a flashlight tour of the old building. He gave an explanation of Silver City's history and the story of the hotel.

Breakfast and the noon meal were served by Jagels at the hotel. Following a breakfast, the group toured the Masonic hall, drugstore and buildings of the town.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Nat Spofford, and Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Howell, all Jerome; Mr. and Mrs. Doug Minnum and family, Bliss, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grant, Boise, Mr. and Mrs. Russ Smedly, Twin Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Clint Kerr, Kimberly; Mr. and Mrs. Buzz Thornhill, American Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. West Tronson, and Mr. and Mrs. LaVar Peterson, Wendell.

Rupert man charged

RUPERT — Randy Nelson, 20, Rupert, will appear in Magistrate Court here Thursday to face a charge of leaving the scene of an accident in connection with the May 11 death of Scott William Ennis, 15, Rupert.

Ennis was riding a bicycle on Highway 25 near 190 East Baseline Road when he was struck by a vehicle driven by Ignacio Minigo, 31, Rupert. The youth was lying on the highway when he reportedly was hit a second time by a vehicle driven by Nelson.

Ennis was pronounced dead on arrival at Minidoka Memorial Hospital.

Nelson pleaded not guilty to the charge at a hearing May 22. He was released on $200 bond on May 23.

The trial Thursday will begin at 9:30 a.m. Magistrate Gleason Anderson will preside.

Minidoka airs ambulance laws

RUPERT — Evertt M. Perry, from the Highway Medical Services Preventive Medicine Division, and officials from Minidoka County Ambulance met with Minidoka Commissioners Monday to discuss an ambulance ordinance for the county.

According to Perry there are five areas in Idaho that have an ambulance ordinance. Perry said he is "fairly satisfied with the quality of service in the Burley Rupert area." But added that the ordinance would be used to keep fly by night operations out of the area.

Perry said that he was trying to set statewide recommendations for ambulance operators to follow. Perry stated that ambulance inspection would be necessary on a regular basis.

This could best be done, Perry said, by a local doctor, the sheriff, a County Commissioner, and a member from the Highway Administration.

According to the National Academy of Sciences there were 25 to 30,000 people killed by unqualified ambulance attendants. Twenty three percent of last years highway fatalities could have been saved if ambulance had been better operating condition and more qualified staffed.

Jerome sets school plan

JEROME — Registration for Jerome schools will begin Wednesday, according to Jerome school officials.

Seniors will register from 9 a.m. to noon Wednesday and juniors from 1 to 5 p.m.

Registration for sophomores will be Thursday from 9 a.m. until noon.

New students and all other students unable to register at the listed times are to register Thursday from 1 to 4 p.m. and Friday from 9 a.m. until noon.

Jerry Diehl, high school principal, said the following fees have been set for the high school and are payable at time of registration, activity cards, $8.25; annual, $6.50; laundry fee, $3.60; football insurance, $20, and all other sport insurance, $6.

Junior high students will register starting Wednesday with seventh grade from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., eighth grade will register Thursday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and ninth grade from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Friday, according to Principal LaVere Gooch.

Gooch said that fees for the junior high include activity cards, $5; annual, $4; arts, crafts and shop, $5.15; (ninth grade) $3.60; football insurance, $13.50 and all other sport insurance, $6.

Elementary students who are new to the district and first graders who did not register last May are to register from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday at their respective schools.

Donald Daw, elementary principal, reminds parents of first graders that they should bring birth certificates when they register their child. He noted parents of first graders who registered last May are encouraged to bring their children to Washington School Friday to meet the students assigned teacher.

Gas or Electric; which is your best buy?

for home cooking, it's Gas!

A gas range operates at 35% less cost for home cooking than a comparable electric range. Gas cooking is also preferred by professional cooks, chefs and home economists because it provides exact heat control. Instant on . . . and off . . . and everything in between. You broil with the oven door closed . . . no smoke, for a cooler, cleaner kitchen. And a gas oven starts its constant cleaning action at only 140 degrees. Come to one of our offices and see for yourself. We'll finance your new range and you can make payments with your gas bill. Home cooking is another use where natural gas is a highly efficient energy source. In Idaho we have gas to burn . . . but we want to burn it wisely.

WILLIAM SAFIRE

I Said — It Could Be Worse

(c) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — "I said to myself, 'cheer up, things could be worse,' so I cheered up and sure enough — things got worse."

That bit of folk wisdom casts some light on the plight of the optimist today: every time he puts on his rose-colored glasses, he is undermined by cynicism or overtaken by events. Gloom springs infernal.

Optimism has long been out of intellectual fashion. When the German philosopher Leibnitz, never a barrel of laughs, postulated that ours was "the best of all possible worlds" in which the Creator made possible the free choice of the most good and least evil, the French philosopher Voltaire promptly took him apart in "candide" and set a pattern for the successful hooting at optimists by men of letters in the centuries that followed.

In our times, when a President tries to duck over to the sunny side of the street, his own writers plunge their faces into their hands and moan "not again, not the pitch about 'what's right with America'."

And yet a surprisingly strong case can be made these days for confidence in ourselves and faith in the future, to counter the handwriting of modern Malthusians and the hyperbole of avuncular torquemadas who claim we are going through "the greatest tragedy this country has ever suffered."

Look back a moment. Five years ago, we were a people down in the dumps about a war without end, a steadily climbing crime rate, and an upward surge of prices and taxes that had the average worker on a treadmill. How do we stand now with that awful trid of "war, crime and inflation"?

War: It's over. You may be angry at how long it lasted, or who started it, or why we got involved in it, or the terrible things that were done in its name, but the overriding fact of 1973 is — the war in Vietnam is over.

Yes, there will be sporadic fighting in Southeast Asia and cease-fires will be violated often enough to satisfy pessimists who cannot believe that war will never end, but what exists over there is the inescapable diminution of killing as a national policy — the beginning of a kind of peace.

What's more, by some stroke of luck or skill of diplomacy there doesn't seem to be a full-scale war going on anywhere else — despite terrorism in Ireland, Angola and the Middle East. Nothing like this state of "peace in the World has existed in the past: two generations Knock wood and murmur incantations, but enjoy it.

Crime. For the first time in 17 years, serious crimes reported to police in the United States declined last year. In cities of populations over a quarter million, where the rise in the crime rate had been the most serious, the decline in crime was a substantial, startling 8 per cent.

In the District of Columbia, the only area in which Federal authorities have control of local law enforcement, the serious crime rate in 1972 plunged 27 per cent from the previous year, despite all you hear of a break-in that occurred the night of June 16, 1972. In New York (where the city administration never participated in second-story jobs) the crime rate dropped 18 per cent.

Inflation. Here's where the optimist has to run for cover, right? Wrong. Of course prices are going up much too fast, but the basic measurement of how the economy is performing for people is not prices, but "real income" — how much you can buy for what you receive.

If prices are stable and real income is down, those are "hard times"; if prices are going up but real income is up, those are "good times" — and real income is rising any way you look at it, quarterly, annually, or over a 10-year period. In real terms, demagoguery aside, the figures show that the average worker — and the retired worker as well — is better off now than ever before.

If you want to get dramatic about the results this much-abused free enterprise system delivers for citizens, consider this: Since 1950, the actual purchasing power of the average American family has more than doubled (and that takes all the rising prices into account); at the rate we are going today our children will be twice as well off as we are.

G'wan, say the pessimists, the pace and pollution of modern life is killing us. But the American baby born today can expect to live 21 years longer than the baby born at the start of this century, and each generation is living over 10 per cent longer than the previous generation, thereby providing pessimists more time in which to complain.

We all go through Gloomy Gus periods, but we can snap out of it. Working on early draft of "A child's Garden of Verses," Robert Louis Stevenson is said to have tried out this rhyme:

"The world is so big and I am so small,

"I do not like it at all, at all."

Then the good Dr. Lekyl in him took over; Stevenson crossed out those self-pitying lines and substituted two others, which may have a goody-goody ring but are ultimately more realistic and more helpful to human progress:

"The world is so full of a number of things,

"That I'm sure we should all be as happy as Kings."

Action Needed

For the second time the question of a possible conflict of interest situation involving a member of the Twin Falls County Zoning Commission has been raised.

The possible conflict involves James Koutnik, now chairman of the commission. It was first raised at the time he became chairman and it was raised the other evening when a hearing on the proposed new zoning ordinance was set for Sept. 20.

The next move in this matter is up to the County Commissioners. The matter should be settled one way or the other. If there is a conflict of interest existing then there is only one way to settle the issue and that is by changing the commission membership. If there is no conflict of interest then there should be public recognition of this fact so the zoning commission will not be hanging in a "grey" zone.

The work of the zoning commission is much too important to be clouded by this issue and it should be settled before any proposed zoning ordinance is adopted even after a public hearing.

The county commissioners should investigate the matter — at a public hearing if they see fit. But they should reach a decision and the sooner they do the better it will be for all concerned.

Your Shirt?

If you haven't had a pay increase in the past year, then you are losing your shirt. In fact, if you had an increase and it isn't pretty close to 8 or 10 per cent, then you are still losing your shirt.

Prices of food, in particular, have caused most pay increases for hundreds of thousands of workers to drop below what was needed to just keep the head above water. The cost increases have involved practically everything these workers use, but the food situation is dramatic because everyone eats. There are a lot of things they can get along without but food isn't one of them.

The tax officials of New York City said the other day that if you were making $10,000 in 1966 and are making $13,500 today you have actually "lost" $466. Likewise, if your income from 1966 to the present advanced from $20,000 to $27,000, that extra $7,000 means practically nothing. It is all eaten up before you get it to spend.

If this is true for salaried workers — even those who are getting regular and substantial pay raises, how does it affect those who are living on a fixed income?

Well, in Twin Falls and Magic Valley there are scores of people in this category, practically all of them senior citizens. And they are not eating too well. Their situation is desperate and it is going to get worse long before it gets better — if, in fact, it ever does get better.

It is a problem which needs to be solved. Inflation is the number one problem in this country today — above Watergate, politics, profit margins for business or anything else. If it isn't solved — and soon — a lot of people will be so far downhill it will not make any difference.

JAMES RESTON

General Amnesty On The Way?

FIERY RUN, Va. — At some point in the crazy story of these times, we are probably going to have to think about a general amnesty not only for the draft dodgers in the war but the truth dodgers in the White House.

This will be hard to arrange since the President says he won't forgive the draft dodgers, and the draft dodgers won't forgive him, and probably most people are not ready to forgive either, but we can't go on like this with the President hiding out in Camp David and San Clemente, or skulking off the coast of Florida. He should be allowed to come home with the others.

Sorting out the crooks from the moral cripples around the President, and the idealists from the cowards or revolutionaries in the armed services, is not going to be easy. We could still be debating all this on the 200th anniversary of the Republic on July 4, 1974, which would be a little awkward.

How, for example, do you weigh the punishment between a runaway army kid who told the truth about the war, and an official who lied about the war, or an air force general who carried on his private war and was "punished" with a handsome retirement pension; or a President who assured everybody he was respecting the neutrality of Cambodia when he was bombing hell out of it?

Who, in other words, is wise or smart enough to sort out all these philosophical and legal tangles and pass fair judgment on them? Are the antiwar demonstrators out in the streets or the isolated and suspicious men around the President responsible for the fear and siege mentality in the White House? Are the political fund-raisers more of a problem than the corporations that give illegal political funds?

If Presidents, leaders of the great departments of government, members of the joint chiefs of staff, and theater commanders in Vietnam do not set and abide by the standards or enforce the rules of the government, are their subordinates to be held responsible for the negligence at the top?

The testimony before the Senate Watergate Committee is a tangle of contradictions. Likewise, the Constitutional arguments in the courts over the President's right to secrecy in his own office and the court's need to know the evidence of criminal activity contained on the President's secret tape recordings could be debated endlessly and the arguments have not clarified but merely confused the public debate.

Accordingly, the Ervin hearings and the court actions have to go on for a while; but nobody pretends they will ever come out with a clear decision on the acts and motives of everybody concerned. Leaving aside all questions of fact still in dispute, we already have enough admitted facts to know that something was deeply wrong both in the conduct of the war and the conduct of the last Presidential election.

In this situation, it is understandable that many people long for clear and tidy solutions — most of them for the exoneration of the President and some of them for his impeachment, conviction or resignation, but like most things in life, that's not the way it's likely to be.

Too much has been revealed, and too much has been concealed to expect definitive answers, to the tragedy. The President could suggest or even provoke the House of Representatives to bring in a bill of impeachment, knowing very well they have no heart for it and hoping this would dramatize the crisis and finally proclaim his innocence, and put the whole tragedy behind him.

But even such a grandstand play wouldn't do it. He is going to have to go on with the doubts of his people for over three years. He is the head of the national family, and his administration has been caught on the admitted evidence being unfaithful to the Republic, but the main hope now is not divorce but reconciliation.

In short, at some point, hopefully by the end of the year, at least the spirit, if not the act, of amnesty will have to be considered. Nixon said when he was rejecting amnesty for the draft dodgers that the word meant "forgiveness" but actually it comes from the same root as "amnesia" and means, not "forgiving," but "forgetting." And in the end this may be the only way to compromise this unhappy period in American history.

This does not mean doing nothing about the crimes of the last election or its spectacular dirty tricks. In fact, the crisis has already produced new attitudes of independence in the Nixon cabinet, new campaign financial legislation, and new efforts on Capitol Hill and in the courts to restore the balance of equal powers.

But if resolution of all these problems clearly and simply is out of the question, as it undoubtedly is, reconciliation is the only hope, and this means a kind of amnesty or forgetfulness if not forgiving by the end of the year.

MR. SPECTATOR

Much About Nothing

One of those days again! Ran across a definition (actually, read it in the dictionary) of a newspaperman, or what have you. Might shock you, so will pass it on: "NEWS-MAN (Nuz-man) Pl. — Newsmen. (1) A reporter of events, not unlike a statesman — who is credible and reliable. (2) A journalist who is responsive to the needs of the community.

NEVER CHANGING

In this old world, everyone wants their kids to be better than any other kids — they want them to grow up to have more material things than any other kids, they want them to be smarter than the other kids.

And, you know, this carries over into the animal kingdom too. Even a mother and father gorilla want their baby to be the best and to get the best of everything.

But — and we point this out so you will have something to chew on when it is all over, the smart and talented gorilla baby is still a gorilla. Get it?

GASOLINE

With all the talk about gasoline shortage, we must report that in the last three months, while traveling several thousands miles here and there, we never once met with a refusal when we wanted gas and only once did the "pumper" say we could have only 10 gallons. Peculiar thing, too: When that came about it only took seven gallons to fill the tank!

TALENT

We always wanted to be talented

— but never quite got there. As a kid we went through various stages. For instance, at one time we had our heart set on playing (and owning) an accordion. Then there were the banjo days followed by the "uke" days. We never owned any of those things. Well, we did own a "uke" once but never learned to play it. Then somewhere along the line came the harmonica. We didn't master it either. We finally ended up taking two years of piano. Memorized a few pieces and that was that. Like we said, we have had many yearnings but little talent.

You know something — we would still like to become a "ham" radio operator. Wonder if we will ever make it?

TODAY'S CHUCKLE:

A mother faced her brood of six children one morning. "I want some cooperation around here," she said. Noticing the puzzled looks on their faces, she added, "Cooperation means you do what I say."

BIT OF INFORMATION

There are more than 11,000 airports in the United States — yet there are only 63 of them which have runways 10,000 feet or more in length.

WON'T BE LONG

Don't give up — you folks who have your children all raised. School will soon be starting and your neighbor's children will once more be raised by teachers — giving the neighborhood a deserved period of utter quiet.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

For Blood Pressure

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Why must medication prescribed to lower high blood pressure be taken the rest of one's life? Why can't the medication be terminated if blood pressure returns to normal? — A.J.M.

There are various causes of high blood pressure. Some cases can be corrected surgically. Others may require medication instead.

If, after a period of medication, pressure is normal, and stays normal when the medication is stopped, that's fine.

But ample time (several months) should be allowed after stopping medication to make any judgment as to whether the improvement is permanent — to make sure pressure isn't going to rise again.

If pressure does rise again, medication should be resumed and continued indefinitely.

A normal pressure for a week or two after stopping the medication is not sufficient to presume that the condition has been corrected.

but your doctor can decide that. Most women are not harmed.

You obviously have not read my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," so I recommend it. Send 35 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What ingredient in various over-the-counter drugs are glaucoma patients being warned against? What about cold remedies? — J.F.

The ones to avoid would be drying agents such as the antihistamines and drugs of the belladonna type. They can cause dilation of the pupils of the eyes which should be avoided with glaucoma.

Such drugs frequently are part of the various preparations offered for combating the symptoms of colds, and my suggestion to you is to avoid these complex mixtures and stick to aspirin or some equally simple medication when you have a cold.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you comment on hot flashes? I am 51 and in menopause and know hot flashes are caused by a lowering of estrogen. Should I get hormone pills to alleviate this? Are hormone pills harmful? — Mrs. R. H. C.

Hormones are a generally used treatment if menopause brings hot flashes, although not all women need hormone treatment. Some don't need any; others find a mild sedative sufficient.

There are some individuals who should not use hormones.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can a person have angina and not had a heart attack? — Mrs. L. O.

Yes, it's entirely possible, since the heart can be damaged by conditions other than a "heart attack" — that is, a coronary occlusion.

As a personal aside to you, after all your tests, your headaches and many other signs of nervous tension, and your entire description of your experiences of pain, chills, and so on, I would have to agree with your doctor.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a maid in a first class hotel. (Please don't mention the city.) I took something from a very famous person who stayed here. I have admired this person for years and only wanted a souvenir.

What I took may be valuable, and now my conscience is bothering me. I am not a common thief, but I'm not brave enough to confess, and now I don't know what to do. Please help me. I trust you. TROUBLED MIND

DEAR TROUBLED: Go to your public library and look for that person's name and address in "Who's Who in America." If you find it, mail back whatever you took. If you can't find the name and address, write to me and I will find it for you. (You can trust me.) And if you ever again want a "souvenir" from a famous person, ask for an autographed picture.

Couple recites promises

TWIN FALLS — Fawn LaRae Jacobsen became the bride of Richard A. Engelhart in a double ring ceremony July 28 at the First Southern Baptist Church.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Bennie Wright before an altar decorated with crystal candelabra with pale green tapers and a mixed floral arrangement. Two large chrysanthemum plants sprayed pale green and accented with white bows flanked the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Jacobsen, Twin Falls. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Engelhart, Twin Falls.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long white colonial gown of polyester trimmed with pale green fashioned with a high ruffled neckline and long sleeves accented with ruffles trimmed in lace. Her fingertip veil was held with a cap of silver leaves and rhinestones and a double heart tiara of pale green pearls. The gown and veil were made by Mrs. Frank Anderson and her daughter, Terry.

She carried a double green orchid corsage surrounded by cascading pale green carnations and green trailing ribbons.

Terry Anderson was maid of honor.

Rick Paxton served as best man and Kenneth R. Jacobsen, brother of the bride, was usher and candlelighter. Darren Nickerson was ringbearer.

Mrs. Issy Gibbs played the wedding music.

A reception was held in the church after the ceremony. The bride's table was decorated with a hand crocheted table cloth accented with white wedding bells and green and white ribbons. Silver candleholders on each side of the cake held white tapers with green ribbon and green and white carnations at the base.

The two-tiered cake was frosted pale green with white roses and lattice work and white wedding bells and Lilies of the Valley. At the base of the cake were green carnations and white gladioli. The cake was topped with a kissing bride and bridegroom seated on a lovebench with an arch overhead.

Mrs. Iva Nickerson served cake and Elaine Wright and Janet Lively served punch and coffee.

Mrs. John Jordan, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. Gift table attendants were Bonnie Engelhardt, sister of the bridegroom, and Teresa Biggers.

The bride was honored at showers by Mrs. Eugene Modlin, cousin of the bride, Mrs. James Wood and Terry Anderson.

After a wedding trip to Ketchum, the couple resides in Kimberly. The bride is employed at Buds Supper Club and the bridegroom is employed by Steamway Cleaners and the Turf Club.

Out of town guests attended from North Dakota, Washington, Boise, Pocatello and Filer.

Conscience troubles

DEAR ABBY: I work in a fairly large office. One of the girls who works here is being married soon, so a coworker suggested we girls give her a bridal shower. (The bride-to-be is 30 years old and has been married before. So has her fiancé.)

The bride made up a list of "suggested shower gifts" which she mimeographed and distributed to all the girls in the office. This list is titled "CAN USE" and there are three pages of "gift suggestions" (typed, single-spaced) indicating the brand names preferred, and "where-to-purchase." (She listed everything imaginable from a cork-screw to a king-sized bedspread! !!)

She even submitted dimensions of her living room, dining room, bedroom and bath indicating "Rugs are needed."

When I saw this list I was turned off completely and decided not to attend. I declined the shower and told the girls why. Was I wrong? SOURD IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR SOURD: No. Since you felt that the purpose of this shower was to "soak" the guests, I don't blame you.

DEAR ABBY: I just had a terrible experience. I invited the gas man into our mobile home for a cup of coffee. He had been filling our tank for about a year, and he seemed so nice.

I had just made a fresh pot of coffee and asked him if he wanted to join me for a cup. (My husband had left for work.)

When this man got inside he sat at the table and kept looking at me funny. I felt uncomfortable but kept talking and sipping coffee. Then he said he'd never seen a mobile home like mine before, so I offered to show him around. He kind of cornered me in the baby's room, but I managed to get out of that situation and back into the kitchen.

I kept praying someone would call me. Finally, I edged toward the door, and opened it, and told him I had a lot of work to do. He left reluctantly.

Abby, I am only 22. Am I naive? Was I wrong in inviting him in for coffee? Do most men who talk to housewives take this as an invitation for something else?

Was I being forward? I blame myself. I swear I only meant to be friendly. FRIGHTENED

DEAR FRIGHTENED: Perhaps he mistook your friendliness for something more. Most men who deal with housewives are straight and strictly all business. But it's best to play it safe and keep your distance.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69766, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

wants you to try no-trump if you can stop hearts

At Table 1 in an important team match South decided to bid three no-trump with his near stoppers in both major suits. North thought it showed a sure heart stopper and passed.

South was most unhappy with the king of hearts lead. He didn't have to be. East held just one high heart and no matter when he took it the suit blocked and only four heart tricks were available to the defense.

At Table 2 South decided against three no-trump and took his partner to five clubs. East opened the 10 of spades and declarer had to lose three tricks.

US airmen risk lives in spite of bombing law

(c) Chicago Daily News
WASHINGTON — American airmen will continue to risk their lives in Cambodia even though U.S. bombers will discontinue their campaign at midnight tonight.

The reason for needing to know this, he said, is because of congressionally approved military and economic assistance which the U.S. will continue to send Cambodia.

To the question of whether the Communist side agrees to the flights, Friedhelm answered, "we think they understand."

He said, "We certainly hope none of our unarmed reconnaissance planes and supply planes will be fired on. If they were to be fired on, it would be something we would have to think about."

Friedhelm said that the law permits these flights to take place but since it forbids all U.S. "combat activities" in Cambodia, the Pentagon would not feel free to retaliate by sending armed escorts if the planes are fired on unless Congress changed the law.

He did not rule out the possibility of the Pentagon seeking such a change in the law in that circumstance.

Former WH aide John Ehrlichman

Aide evaluates hearings

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Former presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman believes the thousands of letters he has received show a public backlash rising against the Senate Watergate hearings.

"The letters are terribly critical, not only of individuals on the committee but committee conduct on the whole," he told his first news conference since his lengthy testimony at the hearings. "I'm sure my mail is just the tip of the iceberg."

"As an individual, I think what they (Watergate committee) are doing is destructive," Ehrlichman said Monday from the lakeside patio of his home in Seattle's exclusive Hunts Point area.

However, he admitted he could not objectively evaluate the hearings. "That's a forest to which I'm standing too close to see the trees," he said, looking about his heavily wooded yard. "At this point I can't say whether it is going to have lasting benefit or lasting harm for the whole country."

Asked how the public could decide who was telling the truth over weeks of conflicting testimony, Ehrlichman said it was important to withhold judgment until all the evidence was in.

He said the testimony of White House special counsel Charles Colson would be especially vital when the hearings resume next month, explaining that Colson sat in on a lot of meetings that figure in the Watergate puzzle.

Whatever the effect of Watergate on the nation, Ehrlichman predicted the affair would have only short range effect on the presidency and would leave no lasting scars.

He said President Nixon very soon would be functioning again with his usual force and vitality, both in his dealings with Congress and as the nation's leader.

Ehrlichman said Watergate's effect on party politics would be longer range, lasting several years, then gradually wearing off.

"There will be super caution there will be a lot of leaning over backwards, particularly in the next presidential election," in handling campaign contributions and campaign practices, he said.

Skylab 2 astronauts search for sun info

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Skylab 2 astronauts aim their powerful telescopes at the sun for more than 10 hours today to gather information for ground scientists trying to understand the violent activity of man's energy source.

While Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma conduct a series of orbital experiments, launch teams at Cape Kennedy prepared to roll out a 22-story Saturn IB rocket and Apollo command ship that might be needed to rescue the second Skylab crew.

Problems with the Skylab 2 pilots' Apollo ferry craft could force the first rescue in spaceflight history. But if not needed, the craft at the cape will be the Skylab 3 ship for that two-month mission.

Bean, Garriott and Lousma, who have already observed three major solar eruptions of radiation and gaseous material, planned to take turns at the piano-like keyboard of the solar observatory, recording the sun's activity through a battery of telescopes and instruments. The data is either beamed back on television or stored on film to come home with the astronauts after the 59-day mission.

Bean told flight controllers the pilots were getting ahead of their assigned tasks every day and wanted more work.

"There's about 10,000 people who have been working hard for this mission and they want to make sure that we pull it off right in the next month and a half," Bean said. "We seem to be having all the fun. Jack asked when does all the hard work start."

Jackson said Monday the hearings his Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations conducted recently showed that increased agricultural exports have forced up domestic prices. He said the administration is continuing this policy.

"It is clear that foreign sales will again be allowed to continue at a breakneck pace and that consumers here will be paying even more for even less food," Jackson said.

Jackson said it was an irony that the administration's "infatuation with farm exports" has put the nation in the throes of a food shortage.

Jackson noted that the administration had hailed last year's grain sales to the Soviet Union as a historic move forward for the American economy.

Food ills caused by exporting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration's "infatuation" with selling agricultural products overseas will lead to domestic consumers paying still more for less food, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., believes.

Jackson said Monday the hearings his Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations conducted recently showed that increased agricultural exports have forced up domestic prices. He said the administration is continuing this policy.

"It is clear that foreign sales will again be allowed to continue at a breakneck pace and that consumers here will be paying even more for even less food," Jackson said.

Germany pays

BOSS (UPI) — Since 1952, West Germany has paid 17.6 billion marks ($680 million) to Israeli Jews who suffered Nazi oppression.

Another 12.6 billion marks ($486 million) probably will be paid to the state's citizens in individual restitution.

Canada controls all meat exports

NEW YORK TIMES SERVICE
MONTREAL

The Canadian government, moving against the steepest increases in the cost of living that this country has known since the Korean War, has imposed controls on the export of beef and pork, to keep the shortages in the United States from spreading north across the border.

Prime Minister Pierre Elliot Trudeau's minority liberal government had been under increasing pressure to act from opposition politicians and grumbling housewives, who in recent weeks have watched the prices of such foods as bacon and ground beef go up, and then go up again.

The move Monday night, announced after a five-hour cabinet meeting on the problem of inflation, stopped well short of the imposition of wage or price controls which some had demanded.

"It is the belief of the government that we should in no way interfere with the incentive that the producer of food has to produce more food when the demand increases," explained Trudeau, whose party held power in Ottawa by only the narrowest of margins.

Aluscan Gillespie, his minister of trade, industry and commerce, traced tonight's action to the United States government's decision to retain a freeze on the price of beef.

Allende speech halted by power line blasts

SANTIAGO (UPI) — The government said today right-wing terrorists dynamited power lines Monday night, cutting off a nationwide television speech by President Salvador Allende and blocking out half of Chile for 35 minutes.

Allende was nearly finished with his speech when the blackout struck. He threatened to take whatever steps necessary including a state of emergency or a state of siege, both modified forms of martial law to end a 19-day-old strike by truckers.

The strike, which has nearly immobilized Chile's transport system, has had serious consequences for a country already suffering grave economic problems.

A State Electric Co. spokesman blamed the power failure on a "fallen line" at the huge Rapel hydro-electric plant 45 miles southwest of Santiago.

The blackout included Santiago and an area extending from Coquimbo, 350 miles north of Santiago, to the port of Valparaiso, 65 miles west, and to Rancagua, 85 miles south.

Inquiry of Vesco stopped by Dean

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Securities and Exchange Commission was about to accuse financier Robert Vesco, a secret contributor to President Nixon's re-election campaign, of illegal business dealings last year when the agency was asked to delay its probe.

Federal prosecutors said Monday it was John W. Dean III — former White House counsel and later a key witness in the Senate Watergate hearings — who asked the SEC to stop pressing the Vesco investigation.

Dean is not under indictment. The government said he did what he was told to do by former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, and is listed only as a "co-conspirator" to defendants Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans.

The two former cabinet members are both charged with perjury, conspiracy and obstructing justice in the Vesco matter. Their trial is set to begin Sept. 11.

The government's latest action was taken at the request of defense attorneys, who wanted to know more specifics about the accusations against Mitchell and Stans, as well as any other persons involved. The document filed by U.S. attorneys Monday — a "bill of particulars" — says Vesco, who has also been charged but has fled the country, secretly gave $200,000 to re-election campaign officials in April of 1972 in exchange for efforts by Mitchell and Stans to get the SEC to leave him alone.

Mitchell was Nixon's former campaign manager and Stans chairman of the campaign finance committee. The government also says the $200,000 may have been used to pay convicted Watergate burglar G. Gordon Liddy and other Watergate characters, implying the money could have been used to finance the break-in into the Democratic headquarters.

2 reasons why the price of SILVER may rise steeply

Two powerful forces are at work today which make a steep rise in the price of silver seem inevitable.

First, the demand for silver surpassed new production for each of the last 20 years. And for each of the last 11 years the demand for silver surpassed new production by more than 100 million ounces. This excess of demand over supply is exerting a strong, steady upward pressure on the price of silver. During the 1960s the price of silver rose 95%.

Second, soaring federal budget deficits, record balance of payments deficits, and 37 years of inflation have brought the dollar to the brink of collapse. Harry Browne, whose book HOW YOU CAN PROFIT FROM THE COMING DEVALUATION accurately predicted the first dollar devaluation in 37 years, and the record gold prices, warns "The alternatives are narrowed to either runaway inflation or a full scale depression."

For nearly 2,600 years, since the first silver coinage, knowledgeable investors have turned to silver for financial protection — because silver generally performs well in bad times. For instance, between 1932 and 1935 the depths of the Great Depression — the price of silver more than tripled.

Our new booklet, The Case for Silver — How to Protect Your Assets Against Inflation, by Louis E. Carabini, President of the Pacific Coast Coin Exchange, shows you:

- 3 reasons why the dollar must be devalued again.
- How silver protects your assets against inflation and monetary crises.
- Why the peculiar nature of the supply and demand for silver makes sharp gains for silver seem inevitable — regardless of monetary crises.
- 2 common mistakes in silver investing — and how to avoid them.
- Why we believe a new silver investment — the Pacific Coast Coin Exchange Protected Margin Account in silver coins — is your best, most reliable hedge against inflation in existence.
- How to open your Pacific Coast Coin Exchange Protected Margin Account.

Barney sparks Lions to 17-16 victory over Chiefs

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Lem Barney, who set up one touchdown with a pass interception, charged through to block Jan Stenerud's extra point attempt with 1:18 to play Monday night and preserve Detroit's 17-16 National Football League exhibition victory over the Kansas City Chiefs. Len Dawson guided the Chiefs 82 yards in 17 plays, hitting Elmo Wright with a 10-yard scoring pass on fourth down, but Barney blocked a tying extra point before a disappointed crowd of 67,624.

Dawson played only the last 6 1/2 minutes after Pete Beathard had quarterbacked the Chiefs the rest of the way. Greg Landry directed two time-consuming scoring drives earlier in the second half, scoring on a two-yard keeper and setting up Errol Mann's 16-yard field goal. Landry, taking over for Bill Munson at the start of the second half, guided the Lions 80 yards in 15 plays for the touchdown that put them ahead 14-10, then came back with a 52-yard, 16-play drive that was capped by Mann's field goal.

Houston shuts out St. Louis as Cards absorb eighth loss

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Southpaw Dave Roberts tossed a five-hitter for his 12th victory Monday night and handed the slumping St. Louis Cardinals their eighth consecutive defeat while pitching the Houston Astros to a 4-0 triumph.

The loss sliced the Cardinals' lead in the National League East Division to only two games over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Roberts pitched a complete game, allowing only one hit, a single to center fielder Fred Whitfield in the first inning. He struck out seven batters and walked one.

Houston's offense was led by Fred Johnson, who hit a two-run home run in the second inning. The Astros scored all their runs in the first two innings.

St. Louis manager Leo Durocher said his team was "out of sync" and that the Cardinals were "not playing like a team." He said the team would be "back to work" on Wednesday.

Pirates edge Redlegs 3-2

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Willie Stargell cracked his 34th home run and scored another run Monday night as the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, in the nationally televised game and gave Nelson Briles his 11th win of the season.

Stargell's home run came in the bottom of the seventh inning. Briles pitched a complete game, allowing only two hits and one run.

Pittsburgh manager Danny Boniecki said his team was "out of sync" and that the Pirates were "not playing like a team." He said the team would be "back to work" on Wednesday.

Tigers belt Twins 9-3

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Bill Freehan's base-loaded seventh inning single sparked the American League Eastern Division leading Detroit Tigers and Woody Fryman to a 9-3 victory over Minnesota Monday night, extending the Twin's losing to seven games.

Freehan's single scored three runs. Fryman pitched a complete game, allowing only two hits and one run.

Detroit manager Bill Freehan said his team was "out of sync" and that the Tigers were "not playing like a team." He said the team would be "back to work" on Wednesday.

Heeds advice

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — Nascar driver Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N. C., pulled out of stock car racing for good after hearing a voice tell him to quit while running in the Talladega 500 Sunday, the Charlotte News reported Monday.

Isaac, 39, told the News, in an interview in Talladega, Ala., "Something told me to quit, I don't know anything else to do but abide by it." A veteran of stock car racing since 1955 when he began to compete on the sportsman circuit in the Carolinas and Georgia, Isaac retired his car after 90 laps Sunday and handed over the driving chores to Coo Coo Marlin.

Isaac said the death of Larry Smith on the 14th lap of the event didn't influence his decision. "I had not thought of quitting before the race and nothing happened on the track to influence me," he was quoted as saying.

He said he was unaware of Smith's death until after he pulled out.

National loop will ponder Padre shift

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — The National League will get a one-day jump on the American League with a special meeting Tuesday in advance of the official opening of the summer baseball meetings, and the topic of conversation will be the San Diego Padres.

National League owners will consider the merits of the Padres' proposed move to Washington, D.C., for the 1974 season and the legal action started by the city of San Diego to keep the club. The Padres have a long-term lease and the city has sought a restraining order to block the move of the club to Washington.

WSU chief asks budget cutting

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Washington State University President Glenn Terrell said Monday the school's athletic program faces the difficult task of maintaining its quality in the face of a mounting financial crisis.

Addressing the Inland Empire Sports Writers and Broadcasters, Terrell outlined several alternatives to the complex question which faces college and university athletic programs throughout the nation, with few exceptions.

Terrell suggested the NCAA begin seriously looking at earlier cut-off dates for the signing of national letters of intent. He said WSU could save as much as $150,000 in recruiting costs if athletes were required to decide a month sooner which school to attend.

Padres nip Mets in last inning

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Derrel Thomas, whose eighth inning error allowed New York to score the tie-breaking run, doubled in the game-winning run with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning Monday night as the San Diego Padres shaded the New York Mets, 3-2.

The Chiefs held the ball for only five plays and Jerrol Wilson helped the Lions' cause with a 23-yard punt which was killed at the Chiefs' 48. Landry's 17-yard run aided the drive which eventually died at the Kansas City eight; but Mann took a 16-yard field goal with 14:01 remaining in the game.

The Chiefs scored first on a 29-yard field goal by Jan Stenerud with 7:18 left in the first quarter.

The Lions took the lead in the second quarter when Barney picked off a Beathard pass at the Kansas City 31 and returned it to the two. From there Taylor dived for the touchdown 11:51 before halftime.

Kansas City took the lead at 10:71:03 before intermission on a spectacular play.

Minidoka school drops hair length regulation

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News writer

RUPERT — A paragraph defining regulations for hair length was unanimously dropped from the Minidoka schools handbook by the school board here Monday night.

Minico High School principal Glen L. Maughan, asked the board to drop a paragraph which stated the "board of education believes—extremes of hairstyle may become a badge of insubordination or rebellion."

Each year, Maughan said, the student council questions the clause, which causes many problems in school discipline. The clause, he said, "seems to be an affront to them."

Another paragraph requires that students "confirm to the common rule of cleanliness, and decency and so as not to be disruptive of the educational process," he said. The latter clause should adequately cover student dress, he said.

School attorney Roger Ling said that "to arbitrarily say your hair is too long won't work. The rule must relate to the educational process."

Activity fees for high school students were raised about $2.85 for the coming school year.

The raise, requested by Maughan, comes from an increase of $2 in activity charges, 50 cents in student council charges, 15 cents in activity card fees and a decrease of 50 cents in newspaper fees. Annual fees, which are optional, were raised 50 cents.

The total this fall will be $15.50 for activity fees with an additional $10.50 if the student desires the annual.

Attendance policies were discussed but after debate were left primarily in the hands of the school administrators as they had been previously.

Dr. Darrell Hatfield, school superintendent, said the students had been taking advantage of the 14 days absence allowed by the state, bringing the Average Daily Attendance (ADA) down while the enrollment continued to increase. The ADA determines the amount of state aid a district receives.

Maughan said the school administration needed to know "where to draw the line" in allowing excused and unexcused absences.

The board concluded that the issue "should be a matter of judgment depending upon individual circumstance" determined by the school administration.

Increments for new athletic coaches were also approved by the board. Increments were established to provide "incentive" for teachers to "give them an opportunity to prove themselves and move up," Dr. Hatfield said.

Five teachers were appointed to new coaching positions at the meeting, following the appointment of former head football coach Gary Swan to position as new athletic director last month.

John Astorquia was appointed head baseball coach; Doug Gasnell, assistant football coach; Gerald Mayes, sophomore football coach; Bart Templeman, weight coach, and Gerald Harding, cross country coach.

Increments accepted were $800 for head baseball coach (last year's increment was $1,200); $350 for assistant baseball coach ($600); $500 for assistant football coach ($600); $500 for sophomore football coach ($600); $400 for weight, golf and cross country coaches (unchanged), and $350 for assistant track coach (a new position).

WORKMEN on scaffolding at Oakley High School Monday patch section of wall where former furnace room stood. New furnace system will be installed in $250,000 renovation of the school.

Renovation under way

Cassia overhaul under way

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News

BURLEY — Early stages of a $3.9 million overhaul of Cassia County school facilities are in high gear.

The first phase of a $250,000 renovation of Oakley High School should be finished by Sept. 1, according to Harold Blauer, Cassia school superintendent.

The improvements include new windows and sidewalks, roof repairs and a new furnace system at the Oakley school. Blauer said the work would cost about $72,000.

Another $180,000 will be spent on phase 2 improvements at Oakley next year, according to Blauer. He said tentative plans call for converting the gymnasium to a media center, relocating some classrooms and installing new lighting systems and floor coverings.

Phase 2 should go to bid around April 28 next year and be completed by Aug. 25, Blauer said.

Preliminary plans for major improvements at Raft River High School and Declo Elementary are "about two weeks behind schedule," according to Blauer. He said bids should be let for a $150,000 multi-purpose auditorium at Raft River on Aug. 28 and a new $800,000 Declo Elementary building around Sept. 24.

The Declo construction will include music facilities and a cafeteria, kitchen and multi-purpose gymnasium.

The Raft River work should be completed by February of 1974 and the Declo improvements by October of the same year, according to Blauer.

Construction of a new $2.1 million Burley Junior High School and a $450,000 conversion of the old junior high building into an elementary school will be the last improvements completed — May 1 and Dec. 31, 1975, respectively.

Blauer said bids for the new junior high structure, to be constructed near Burley High School, will be let on Feb. 25, 1975. Bids on renovation of the current junior high will be let on April 28, 1975.

Cassia voters approved a bond issue last spring for the school improvements. Their vote marked the first time in nearly 14 years that a major bond proposal has passed in the Cassia school district.

Lincoln employees seek wage raises

SHOSHONE — Lincoln County commissioners were urged to grant immediate wage increases for all county employees Monday night.

The commissioners took under advisement a petition containing signatures of 16 employees asking a raise to offset rising living costs.

Commission chairman Glenn L. Sorensen stated, "We are in sympathy with their plight and if the budget permits, we will give them something." Figures presented showed Lincoln County as one of the lowest in the area in wages.

The county clerk at the top of the scale now receives $6,500 while the assessor, treasurer and sheriff each receive $6,000.

Walter Bowman representing the county to the South Central Health District presented the district's proposal for 11 cents per capita to help pay office expense for the district. Commissioners voted against this proposal for the time being.

Dave Scoville and Mel Cline from the Department of Environmental and Community Services met with the commissioners to explain services of youth rehabilitation and help for handicapped persons to be offered at the center being opened at the former TB hospital in Gooding.

Office reports for the month of July showed $1,352.56 from the magistrate court for fees and fines and $243.50 from the clerk's office for fees, to total $1,596.06.

Lincoln County dispute resolved

SHOSHONE — A dispute over the firing of Mrs. Beverly Hall as administrator of the Wood River Convalescent Center, Shoshone, was aired at the Monday meeting of Lincoln County commissioners.

Chairman of the board Glenn L. Sorensen said Monday night, "We had a good discussion and I feel that the matter has been resolved to the satisfaction of all concerned," by explaining the reason for the dismissal.

Sorensen said the hearing was held by the commissioners as a courtesy, that they simply acted as a mediator between Mrs. Hall and the convalescent board. The Department of Labor through Eldon Ryals, Filer, had requested the commissioners hear the matter since a complaint had been filed with them by Mrs. Hall.

Mrs. Hall alleged that her one year, trial-basis contract had been violated in her termination and she had been given no reason for her dismissal.

Sorensen said, "The discussion Monday brought everything out in the open and personality conflict between Mrs. Hall and other personnel at the center was the reason for her removal. She had been hired, however, as a bookkeeper at the center."

Meeting with the commissioners on the matter besides Mrs. Hall and Ryals was William Kerner Sr., chairman of the convalescent board. Kerner said Mrs. Maude Webber, Gooding, has been hired as administrator. She is a former administrator for the Gooding County Memorial Hospital and the Gooding Senior Citizens Home.

In other business, commissioners approved hiring Mrs. Charlene Critchell as tri-county home extension agent for Lincoln-Blaine-Camas counties.

Blaine Linford, district extension agent, met with the commissioners to introduce Mrs. Critchell. She is a 1972 graduate of Idaho State University and is a native of Jerome.

Shoshone man fined

SHOSHONE — A guilty plea to petty larceny has netted a Shoshone man a $75 fine plus $7.50 court costs and a 30-day jail sentence.

Henry Brothers, North Shoshone, was given the fine and sentence when he appeared in the court of Magistrate Nancy Haddock Friday. The complaint was signed by Sheriff B. J. Anderson and charged Brothers with taking a logging chain and a jack from a farmer for whom he was working.

Sets up Burley office

BURLEY — The Salt Lake City architectural firm of Richardson, Richardson and Associates is setting up an office in Burley to oversee the $3.9 million improvements at Cassia County schools.

Jerry Green, construction supervisor with the firm, said the office would be operational during the two and one-half year construction program. Major improvements will be made at Oakley and Raft River High Schools, Declo Elementary and Burley Junior High.

The office will be located at 1432 Overland Avenue, in back of The Flower Pot.

TF zoning meet tonight

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County Zoning Commission will meet at 8 p.m. tonight in the Twin Falls County Judicial Building.

The commission will consider recommendation of the zoning map itself, the subdivision ordinance, and the planned unit development ordinance, according to Ed Woods of the zoning commission.

Cassia coroner named

BURLEY — Bruce Young, Burley, was appointed Cassia County coroner Monday within hours of Roger Porter's resignation of the post.

Porter turned his resignation into the county commissioners Monday afternoon.

He told the commissioners he was setting up a paramedical service for a Denver fire department. The job, he said, was more closely related to his training than his current position.

Young approached the commissioners about the appointment late Monday. According to county clerk Frank Kearns, Young served as coroner here about four years ago.

Lightning starts fire

BATTLE CREEK — A 2,000 acre brush fire is burning out of control in Battlecreek 20 miles south of Grandview, according to a Bureau of Land Management official.

Lightning started the fire Sunday. The fire jumped but of rim rock yesterday and "blew up," rapidly spreading over 2,000 acres of land. The official said that the fire was nearly under control this morning.

To battle the flames 50 hand crew men, 5 ground tankers, 6 trawlers, 2 helicopters and one 6,000-gallon momma tanker have been called out.

Jerome selects school site

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — The Jerome School District will apply for 120 acres of Bureau of Land Management land as a possible site for a new high school.

School trustees Monday night gave approval to Supt. John Campbell to submit an application for purchase of the land which is located one quarter mile south of State Highway 93-25 junction on the west side of Highway 93, approximately three and one quarter miles east of Jerome.

Campbell told the board it would cost the district $10 to apply for the land. He said that if the district were able to obtain the land, it would cost them $2.50 an acre for a total of $300, "which would mean a great savings to the district in construction of a new high school. Also we would have plenty of room for expansion," Campbell said.

He said that part of the acreage could be farmed by the vocational agricultural department and explained that the district would have to check into extra expenses involved in having the school located out of town.

"The cost of extending a trunk line to the city sewer line may be completely out of the question," he said. He also requested that he be allowed to contact a qualified architect to help formulate cost projections.

In other business, Roy Pardon, high school counselor, was selected to direct a needs assessment steering committee comprised of nine area residents representing business, agriculture, education and other factions of the community.

A request by Larry Standley, band director, to take the varsity band on tour was tabled until the October meeting. Standley requested permission for the band to travel to central California March 23-April 2. He also requested three days leave in January to make arrangements for the tour. In a letter to the board, he estimated costs of the trip at $2,400, to be raised by the band students.

Board chairman Lyle Van Orman questioned whether requests for tours were getting "out of hand."

"We have to draw the line someplace, or we'll have the whole student body on tour," Van Orman said.

He said perhaps the trips should be conducted closer to home.

Jerry Diehl, Jerome High School principal, said he has received two other requests for tours by other classes. "I agree that we must draw a line someplace. I have also received numerous complaints from Jerome residents about being bothered by students selling candy, Christmas trees and what have you during their fund raising projects."

Campbell pointed out that sometimes an 11-day tour does more good in teaching a student than 11 months in school can. He requested that the trustees hold their decision on the tour until the October meeting when possibly part of the needs assessment survey would be completed.

The resignation of Mrs. Gay Jackson, junior high school Spanish teacher, was approved by the board and contracts approved for Robert Lawson and Mrs. Alice Baer who will be working in the special learning disability program for the district.

A request from a representative of the Blue Cross Insurance Co. met with the board and explained that district health insurance policies for teachers were in danger of being canceled because of participation by the teachers.

He said that for Blue Cross to carry the district in a statewide plan they would need at least 75 per cent participation by the teachers. He requested the board consider the possibility of including in the 1974-75 budget a larger contribution by the district as a possible benefit to teachers.

Blaine zoning okay delayed

KETCHUM — The Ketchum Planning and Zoning Commission held a public hearing Monday night on the annexation of four parcels of Bigwood development land into the city, but confusion over exact zoning boundaries caused a delay in the approval of the land.

Ralph Thomas represented Bigwood. Attorney George Kneeland asked that most of the proposed annexation be zoned tourist as this is the only designation which will meet their condominium scheme.

Thomas asked that the commission find "some zone between limited residential and tourist which will meet our needs."

The commission however had reservations about other uses allowed within tourist zone and could not determine exact zone lines on the map presented by Thomas. They called for a special meeting to be held today to continue the discussion using a new map.

In the only action taken by the commission a proposal for parking on Ketchum's 100 foot streets presented by Anstep Corp. represented by Steve Giacobbi and George Hilliard was accepted. The plan calls for parallel parking on both curbs of the street and a double row of parallel cars in the middle of the street. These two rows would be separated by a narrow raised asphalt island.

Minidoka board asks clarification from HRC

RUPERT — The Minidoka School board decided Monday night to send a letter to the Human Rights Commission HRC requesting further clarification of charges has filed.

The commission, said to be "inept" by school attorney Roger Ling, charged a counselor at West Minico Junior High School with discrimination in the case of two Mexican-American students in a letter sent to the school principal, Earl Carlson, last Thursday.

The statement of cause in the two-part letter said there was "contradiction" in testimony between school officials and witnesses, that school officials took action that resulted in "disparate treatment" against Mexican-Americans and that it was unlawful to discriminate.

The letter added that by signing the document and agreeing to conciliation points, the school district did not admit guilt but agreed to comply with anti-discriminatory measures in the future. Darrell Hatfield, superintendent of the district, said the district had not yet seen copies of the investigation report from which the allegations stemmed.

According to Hatfield, the district received notification in late June that they were being investigated by the HRC and were told they would receive a conciliation notice in five days. The next communication, he said, was last Thursday's letter.

As far as he knew, Dr. Hatfield said, no testimony had been heard by the HRC from school officials.

Thursday's letter told the school board that if response was not made in 15 days, a public hearing would be held into the matter.

The letter included a conciliation agreement that asked for removal of conduct reports on the two youths, development of a clear written policy on dress for physical education classes

(from which the charges apparently evolved), and to cease from treating Mexican-Americans in a disparate manner.

Dr. Hatfield said there were no current reports on the boys involved, that the district currently provides physical education clothes for those who need them, and that as far as he knew, the district was not discriminating.

The incident referred to apparently involved two youths who did not have proper physical education clothes and were asked to sit out class by the instructor in March, Hatfield said.

The youths allegedly were found wandering in the halls by the counselor who told them to pick up paper in the halls since they were doing nothing, he said.

The youths refused and were told by the counselor they could then leave. The youths apparently walked through a snowstorm to their homes.

The original HRC complaint, released several weeks ago, charged that the youths were told to do janitorial work.

The second portion of Thursday's letter told the board that if they did not comply to the conciliation requirements, "appropriate action would be taken by the HRC."

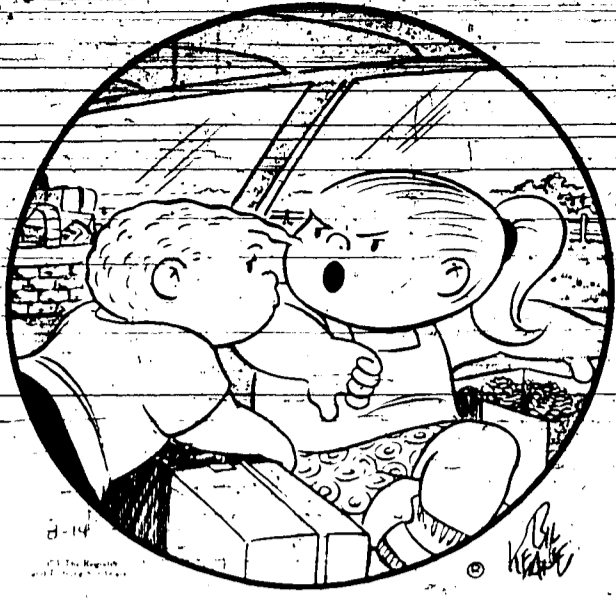

The HRC "came to some far-out legal conclusions," Ling said, by referring to hiring clauses in the human rights law and in asking the principal, to whom the letter was sent, to make "certain policies."

The HRC, Ling said, can hold a public hearing and can ask the prosecuting attorney to bring action if they feel discrimination has been practiced.

"I can tell you that the prosecuting attorney in this county won't bring action unless they have a lot more facts," he said.

Ling was instructed to write a letter to the commission saying the board could not make a decision unless more facts were presented and a logical presentation was given.

FAMILY-CIRCUS

"This is MY side of the road. You look on your side."

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Question arises as to how many love affairs wind up in marriage? A psychiatrist named G. V. Hamilton ran a study on that. Quizzed 200 married citizens, male and female. They admitted 1,358 love affairs in their pasts. So the doctor concluded that only one out of every six or seven such amorous attachments really leads to matrimony. How many romantic affiliations did you experience before you went to the altar? Just whisper. Won't go any further.

Am asked if counterfeiters ever sell phony tickets to sports events. Happens. Most famous instance, probably, was the Dempsey-Carpenter fight. An enterprising team of confidence men bought one ticket for a seat in the first row, reproduced 10,000 more, and peddled them through scalpers. Some night! Just about 10,000 light fans showed up to claim that chair. Debate ensued.

WHY JUNE?

Q. Why is it June always has been considered the big marriage month?

A. In recent generations it's because that's the first month after graduation. But the tradition got started some centuries ago because then the preceding month of May was customarily the time to mourn the winter's dead.

Go barefoot in the rain, young lady. That's the advice of a British foot specialist named Harold Widdore. Walking around without shoes isn't bad for you, says he. On the contrary. This counsel harks back to some colonial advice, I think. A health expert then told mothers to dampen down daily the shoes of their children. To toughen the soles of their feet, said that authority.

Another little known fact is the Incas of South America freeze-dried their potatoes. Set them in high windy places first. Then jumped up and down on them to squeeze out the water. Finally bleached them in the sun.

ORGAN

Concerning left-handed and right-handed persons, it has been my experience in over 30 years of teaching the organ that right-handed organists are left-footed and left-handed organists are right-footed. How do you explain that? So inquires a Tennessean. Can't explain it. Most mysterious.

It's said your southern windows get 47 times as much sunshine as your northern windows.

Count your five people on your block who drive cars. Two of them this year will get into some sort of traffic accident. So says the Insurance Information Institute. Rough odds.

Miss, how would you categorize your hands as to size. Small, average or large? A gentleman who buys lady's gloves for a large department store says most every girl gets some fixed notion about the size of her hands, and it's usually wrong. But her glove size, he says, will give her a fairly reliable measure. Size 6 means small, size 7 means average, size 8 means large.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) You have a fine chance to be with interesting individuals who can help pave the way to greater success. Get errands run, write letters, make phone calls. Keep busy and happy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 19) You want to have a greater income and can do so provided you use only proven systems instead of something unpredictable. Trust one who has financial knowledge. Avoid one who wants to take you off on some tangent or other.

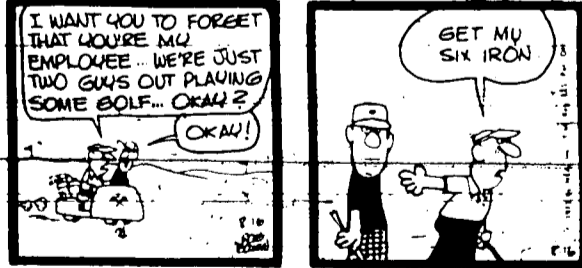

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make sure you pick out the right people with whom you have much rapport for the fun things you like to do. Take the treatments that will add much to present charm. Avoid one who is a troublemaker.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those people who must read minds of others and would do well in such fields as personnel work, a government appointment, police work and the like. Education should be slanted along such lines for the biggest success here. The field of business is good also, as well as interior decorating where the artistic talent can be brought into full play for the most charming effects. Teach early how to handle money properly.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!
