Nixon blasts war critics

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — President Nixon, speaking despite "real threat" of assassination uncovered by the Secret Service, today attacked critics of his secret 1969 bombing campaign in Cambodia. He said congressional leaders knew of it and the Cambodian government approved of it.

Nixon, accompanied by his wife Pat, called off a planned motorcade along Canal Street in downtown New Orleans at the "very strong recommendation" of the Secret Service.

The Secret Service said it had uncovered a possible conspiracy to assassinate the President before he took off by plane from Key Biscayne, Fla., for New Orleans. A spokesman for the FBI, which was cooperating with city police, termed it "a very real threat" to Nixon's life.

Nixon made no mention of the threat during his speech to the Veterans of Foreign Wars national convention in downtown New Orleans but heavy security precautions were in evidence throughout his stay.

"These air strikes were not directed at the Cambodian Army or the Cambodian people," he said. "They were directed at the North Vietnamese raiders inside Cambodia."

"The Cambodian government did not object to the strikes," said Nixon. "In fact, while the strikes were in progress, Prince Sihanouk invited me to make a state visit to the Cambodian capital."

Mrs. Nixon, wearing a white summer blouse and a red skirt, was near him as he spoke in a downtown auditorium.

With the possible assassination threat providing drama to Nixon's first public appearance in six weeks, the President said it was "ludicrous" to think he would consider as neutral territory the Cambodian border regions occupied by Communist forces.

He said about 40,000 North Vietnamese troops were concentrated in a 10-mile-wide strip on the Cambodian side of the border where they launched attacks on American forces.

"There is today great anguish and loud protest from the usual critics that this was an attack against tiny Cambodia," Nixon said. His reference apparently was to Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and others who have charged that they and the public were misled about the Cambodian bombing campaign four years ago.

"As for secrecy, the fact of the bombing was disclosed to the government leaders and congressional leaders," Nixon said.

"The secrecy was absolutely necessary to accomplish these goals. Had we announced the air strikes, the Cambodian government would have been compelled to protest," he said.

"The bombing would have had to stop and American soldiers would have paid for the disclosure with their lives."

It was Nixon's first personal response to recent disclosures that the Pentagon had instituted a dual reporting system in order to keep the bombing campaign secret. The air strikes in Cambodia were reported publicly, and, his congressional critics claim, also to Congress as being inside South Vietnam.

today in brief

Greek martial law relaxed

ATHENS (UPI) — George Papadopoulos, newly sworn in as he first president of Greece, promised to sign decrees today normally ending martial law and freeing political prisoners.

Papadopoulos, a former army colonel, took office Sunday as president of the country he has ruled with an iron hand since coming to power in an April 21, 1967, military coup.

Bolivian revolt said crushed

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Bolivian Interior Minister Col. Walter Castro announced today the government had completely crushed an attempted coup led by former Health Minister Carlos Valverde Barbery.

He said government troops had routed Valverde's followers, estimated at less than 90, and that they had fled into the jungle from the farmhouse they had named "Perseverance."

Keating takes Tel Aviv post

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Ambassador Kenneth B. Keating, former U.S. Senator, arrived here Sunday and will formally present his credentials to Israeli officials in about 10 days.

Keating, 73, served as United States ambassador to India from 1969 to 1972. He succeeds H. Walworth Barbour, who held the post for 11 years until retiring several months ago.

Chilean physicians strike

SANTIAGO (UPI) — Thousands of physicians today began a 48-hour strike in snowballing labor unrest against President Salvador Allende's government. A trucking strike already is in its 28th day.

As the physician walkout began in Santiago, the Chamber of Commerce said it would decide later in the day whether to join the strike. And the Santiago Central Labor Federation, controlled by the Socialist president's opposition, has called for a 48-hour strike beginning Tuesday.

Famed medic 'satisfactory'

BOSTON (UPI) — Dr. Paul Dudley White, 87, famed heart specialist, remained in "satisfactory" condition at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Dr. White, who gained prominence during the Eisenhower administration, underwent surgery at the Boston hospital on Friday for removal of a blood clot on the brain following a stroke. He suffered a mild stroke in June.

Dollar loses ground on marts

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar fell against major European currencies in early trading today, losing some of the momentum built up in last week's dramatic recovery.

In Frankfurt, the dollar opened at 2.47 marks, marginally under Friday's close of 2.4710 marks, and fell back further to 2.4570 marks by midmorning.

On the Paris financial market used by tourists and money speculators, the dollar opened at between 4.36 to 4.38 francs, down from Friday's final price of 4.44 francs.

Mine rescue bid pressed

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (UPI) — Rescue workers assembled portable bulkheads Sunday night and advanced 150 feet into a smoke-filled tunnel where two copper miners had been trapped deep underground since Friday.

Ex-cop sought

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Secret Service reported a possible plot to assassinate President Nixon during a New Orleans visit today and a presidential motorcade down famed Canal Street was canceled.

The Secret Service ordered the arrest of a former New Orleans policeman, Edwin M. Gaudet. Four other persons were reported under surveillance.

Gaudet, nicknamed "Punchy," was described by Secret Service spokesman Jack Warner, as "a lookout." However, Warner emphasized, "I wouldn't draw an inference that the two (the reported assassination plot and the lookout) are connected at this time."

Oregon girl dies after Cassia crash

BURLEY — A 3-year-old girl was killed and her family sent to the hospital following an accident about five miles south of Cottarel Port of Entry on Interstate 80 Saturday morning.

Kristine Lee Davis, Milwaukie, Ore., died early Sunday morning at Cassia Memorial Hospital following a head on collision which sent her parents Walter Davis, 36, and Helen Davis, 34, along with her brothers Timothy, 4, Kenneth, 12, and Robert, 6, to the hospital. Mrs. Davis was reported in good condition and the others were reported in satisfactory condition, Monday morning.

According to state police reports, Davis, heading north on Interstate 80 near the Idaho exit, attempted to pass another car in his Dodge van and collided with a car driven by Lorin W. Goates, 70, Parma, who was headed south on the highway.

Crash kills MV family

SALMON — A Rupert doctor, his wife and two of their sons died Sunday morning in the flaming wreckage of their small airplane in the Idaho Primitive Area near Salmon.

Dr. Ben K. Humphrey, 66, and his wife, Dr. Evelyn Martindale Humphrey, 48; also a physician; Brian Humphrey, 16, and Steve Humphrey, 14, were identified as the crash victims by Lemhi County sheriff's deputies.

The deputies said the bodies were burned beyond recognition. The family was identified through a name on a camera found in the wreckage.

The Humphreys moved to Rupert in 1956 from Texas. Dr. Humphrey was a general practitioner and his wife was a gynecologist. She had practiced part time for the past 12 years.

Dr. Humphrey owned a large farm in the Crestview area, 10 miles west of Paul. He reportedly has two other sons, Russell and Michael, by a former marriage.

The plane crashed in the bottom of a narrow canyon about 2.5 miles from the Middle Fork of the Salmon River, below the mouth of Camas Creek.

The cause of the crash was "presumed" to be engine trouble, according to the Lemhi County sheriff.

The Humphreys were returning to Burley from western Canada, where they had been vacationing. They had stopped at the Flying B Ranch on the Middle Fork of the Salmon River, where Humphrey was chairman of the board of directors meeting. Humphrey was chairman of the board of the ranch.

The bodies were taken by helicopter to the ranch and were reportedly being brought to Rupert today.

A patrol plane from the Challis National Forest spotted smoke from the crash about 11:30 a.m. Sunday.

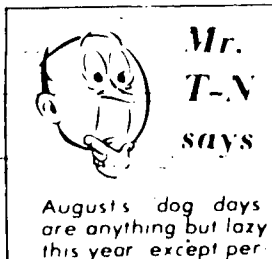

A Salmon National Forest fire dispatcher later flew over the site and sighted a white wing tip. Two firefighters and two ranger station personnel then went to the crash site by helicopter. The Lemhi County sheriff and deputy coroner flew to the Flying B and then to the crash scene where an area had been cleared.

Federal Aviation Administration officials were to leave Boise today to fly to the crash site.

Blazing tree cut in California blaze

Western fire outlook better

By United Press International

Firefighters today battled about a dozen major forest and range blazes in five Western and Northwestern states but they gave an optimistic note about the critical fire situation in the drought-stricken area.

"The general fire situation somewhat improved in Eastern Oregon, Northern Idaho and Western Montana," Roger Leonard, public information officer for the Boise Interagency Fire Center said today.

Leonard reported three major fires burning in California, two in Idaho, one in Nevada, two in Oregon and four in Montana. Several new fires broke out in the southern part of Idaho Sunday night, but all were reported controlled today. Two fires roared through 4,000 acres in the Burley fire district located west of Raft River in southern Cassia County and near Malta.

Several other smaller fires were reported south of Oakley in the Goose Creek area were reported under control, along with one in the Shoshone District in south central Idaho.

The Boise Interagency Fire Center reported a new range fire in California north of Susanville. Officials said the fire had charred some 8,300 acres and was still burning today.

Another fire was reported in Nevada 20 miles southeast of Carson City.

In Montana, the agency said, control was expected late today in the Caribou Mountain fire which has burned 5,000 acres and extended into Canada. Another blaze in the Frowitt Creek area, was controlled early today and another 2,300-acre fire in the Lolo National Forest was expected today.

Fires in the Bitterroot National Forest continued to burn with control of the 400-acre Goat Creek fire expected today.

Leonard said the Bureau of Land Management and the Forest Service have about 6,500 men from throughout the United States fighting the fires in the five-state region.

Officials said today they did not have any major fires reported in the states of Washington, Utah or Wyoming, but added the fire danger remains critical in those states.

"We don't see any rain in the next 10 days in Idaho or Montana fire regions," Clyde O'Dell, lead fire weather forecaster for the national weather service, Boise, said.

PREMIER SOUVANNA PHOUMA survives coup try

Laotian coup plot broken

(C) Washington Star-News
VIENTIANE, Laos — A coup against Lao Premier Souvanna Phouma and his government by right-wing Lao exiles from Thailand failed today.

The coup leader, one-time Lao Air Force commander, Gen. Thao Ma, was killed after light fighting.

The rebels, numbering about 40, captured the Vientiane airport and Vientiane radio station. At dawn T-28 divebombers seized by the rebels took off and strafed army forces loyal to Souvanna.

One divebomber strafed an army camp on Vientiane's outskirts, killing two Royal Army officers and wounding three others but missing Souvanna who had moved there for safety after armed civilians had approached his residence.

Broadcasting on the Vientiane radio, the rebels claimed to represent the army, police, air force and civilians. They claimed they were ousting Souvanna's government which they said "gives away too much," a reference to concessions Souvanna made to the Communist Pathet Lao in the current Peace negotiations.

The United States immediately went on record supporting Souvanna.

At 8 a.m. local time, the coup started to collapse.

Thao Ma was shot down by machine guns mounted on a tank as he tried to land at Vientiane airport for refueling and remaining after a strafing run. He was badly injured and died later.

Rightist army troops in Vientiane remained loyal to Souvanna and attacked from the town along the airport road against only light rebel resistance.

One rebel was killed when a government soldier tossed a grenade into a jeep the rebels had commandeered. By 10 a.m. the rebels were fleeing into paddy fields and the rebels in the radio station had quietly surrendered.

Souvanna told reporters the coup attempt became apparent at 1 a.m. local time and government loyalists were in a position by 5 a.m. to counterattack.

Souvanna called the affair "a tentative coup by exiles from Thailand." Souvanna said "everything is in order now and the army is fully behind the government."

US fire fighters called to west

By GEORGE FRANK
BOISE (UPI) — Officials at the Boise Interagency Fire Center here say 80 per cent of the federal fire-fighting force in the United States has been called to the Northwest to battle forest and range fires in six states.

"Most fire managers in the Northwest feel this is the worst fire season ever," John Hafterson, head of the Interagency's intelligence unit, said Sunday. "It is the worst season and the worst potential fire season I have been acquainted with."

The agency, which is the major coordinator for the use of Forest Service and Bureau of Land Management fire fighting forces, has alerted the remaining 20 per cent of its men in the United States to be ready if new fires break out or others become worse.

"We still have some personnel we can draw from in the eastern and southeastern part of the country," Hafterson said.

The agency has called up state crews, along with BLM and Forest Service personnel from the northeast, eastern, southeastern, south and southwestern parts of the United States. Presently, it has dispersed 6,500 persons to fight fires in Montana, Idaho, Oregon, California, and Washington.

Hafterson said the decision will really have to be made when the federal force is 100 per cent committed. He said the decisions will include what fire the men will have to fight and in what area, while others may have to go without assistance from BLM, Forest Service, Bureau of Indian Affairs and other personnel under the control of the agency.

"Dispersement of equipment and men, according to Hafterson, would first go to fires which threaten lives and property. He said the value of the land and timber would then be considered.

Officials attribute the critical fire season to the lack of moisture in the northwest this winter and spring. They also said below average snow packs during the winter months was also an attributing factor.

Hafterson said the majority of the fires now burning in the northwest are in an area designated as an extreme drought section in the six state area.

Hafterson says the weather outlook for the northwest is not encouraging. He said if the present weather situation continues the severity of the fire danger will increase.

Meetings set on wild river plan

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Montana and Washington meetings have been scheduled on a Forest Service proposal that recommends 132 miles of the St. Joe River in Idaho be classified under the wild and scenic rivers act.

The proposal calls for 26.7 miles of the river to be classified as "wild river" and the remainder "recreational river."

The Forest Service said it made the proposal because the classification acknowledges the river potential as a major recreation area and would provide guidelines for development of the river to fill that role.

But, controversy is hanging over the proposal as environmentalists want to keep the river from economic interests.

In addition, the Coeur d'Alene Indian tribe has already declared part of the river flowing through the reservation as a wild and scenic river.

Antiques burn

JEROME blaze Saturday resulted in $5,000 damage to two outbuildings, chicken coop and a large pile of straw at the Vern Clarkson ranch, one mile north and two and one quarter miles west of Jerome. Included in the loss was an estimated $1,200 worth of antiques stored in the outbuildings.

Fuss ensues over sale

(c) Chicago Daily News
LONDON — The United States was caught up today in the middle of a fierce political battle here over the sale of British-made jet fighters to Spain.

The Spanish government is buying from the United States, eight vertical-takeoff carrier jets which were built for the U. S. Marines by Britain's Hawker Siddeley Corp.

The deal with Spain has the approval of British Prime Minister Edward Heath's conservative government.

But former Prime Minister Harold Wilson, now leader of the Labor (Socialist) party opposition, has denounced it as an outrage and accused the government of "employing the United States as an arms trafficker."

Wilson also warned that if and when labor returns to power it will "cut off arms to fascist powers" and "the United States will be informed that we cannot agree to any further sales, whether or not covered by contracts."

Wilson complained that Spain is "a blatantly fascist country" and that it is not even on the "authoritarian fringe" of the NATO alliance which might provide some excuse for the deal.

The politics of the deal are further complicated here by the continuing dispute between Britain and Spain over Spain's claim to Gibraltar.

That dispute is a major reason why Spain chose to make the carrier deal through the United States instead of with Britain directly.

Testimony at meet conflicts

POCATELLO — The Idaho Commission on Human Rights (IHRC) heard conflicting testimony over the weekend on the use of Indian symbols as mascots at Pocatello High School.

Members took the case under advisement and directed the staff to draw up findings for further discussion at the commission's next scheduled meeting in September.

The Native American Students Association (NASA) at Idaho State University brought the case to the commission charging that the school's use of headdresses, Indian style dress, Indian songs and the Indian god Oski encouraged both racial and religious discrimination.

"When I saw the marching band in a parade, the only thing I could do was turn my back and bow my head in shame," NASA member Sandy Chandler said. She termed the school's use of symbols as "dehumanizing" and "stereotyping."

Neccha Neeser, once a cheerleader at Pocatello High, claimed, "It's good to have a spirit (Oski) representing school spirit." She said its an "honor" to wear the headdresses.

"We think so highly of the Indian people, that is what we base our traditions on," Deborah Stratton, who graduated last year from Pocatello, said.

Mary Kern, a Native American student at Pocatello also supported the use of Indian symbols. "I didn't think the (school's use of) headdress or anything was degrading. I thought this was more of an honor. There shouldn't be the gap between whites and Indians which has now developed," she said.

NASA member David Farris said he felt the use of Indian symbols by school cheerleaders was "mockery." He said the headdress has "religious significance" and it "has to be earned."

Theft noted

TWIN FALLS — More than $800 worth of sprinkler heads were stolen from G. T. Newcomb, Inc., 729 Commercial Avenue, last week.

According to Twin Falls police, an unknown person or persons entered the Newcomb storage yard by cutting a hole in a cyclone fence and removed 200 to 300 rainbird sprinklers valued at $2.75 each.

Newcomb employees told police the burglary occurred between 7 p.m. Tuesday and 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Investigation is continuing.

Cross country for Christ set

TWIN FALLS — Sixteen college athletes will pass through the Magic Valley Thursday on a 3,500 mile "Cross Country for Christ" run.

The students, from the Cedarville, Ohio, College will begin their cross-country run Monday beginning at Astoria, Ore., west of Portland. By the time they have completed the run they will have traveled through 15 states, finishing at Portland, Maine.

The runners plan to reach Gooding at 5:09 p.m. Thursday after a run of 593 miles. They are scheduled to be in Wendell at 7:16, Jerome at 9:16 p.m. and Rupert 3:46 a.m.

The fund-raising project is sponsored by the Baptist college of arts and sciences which hoped to raise at least $120,000 from the run, with pledges from individuals and business firms sponsoring the runners.

The run is expected to take two and a half to three weeks with each runner expected to go approximately 220 miles or foot. The 16 runners will be divided into teams of four.

Each day three of the teams will run, with the other four going ahead to talk to people in the cities and towns about Christ.

The runners, already have conferred with people in many towns along the way about using churches for their talks about what Christ means to them personally.

In past projects, they have raised money for a Science Center observatory, carpeting for the library, bleachers for the gymnasium, a scoreboard and fences for the athletic fields.

Defense aide tells nuclear strategy

By ORR KELLY
(c) Washington Star-News
WASHINGTON — Both the United States and the Soviet Union are now shaping their strategic arsenals so they can fight a nuclear war without necessarily destroying each other's cities.

This is one of the most dramatic developments revealed by Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger Friday during a Pentagon news conference in which he described Soviet successes in testing multiple warhead missiles like those in the U. S. arsenal.

Soviet strategists have long favored a war-fighting capability — the ability to fight and "win" a nuclear war by destroying American offensive weapons.

The theory was that this would rule out a surprise attack and thus prevent war. As part of this policy, the United States deliberately refrained from developing "hard target" weapons that might appear to the Soviets to be part of an effort to destroy all of their forces in a first strike.

In contrast to this policy, Schlesinger spoke in his press conference of his desire to have in the U. S. arsenal "certain precision instruments that would be used in a limited counter-force role." The term "counter-force" is used to describe attacks on military targets, such as missiles and control facilities, in contrast to "counter-value" attacks on population and industry.

What Schlesinger had in mind, according to Pentagon officials, is precisely the kind of very accurate weapons that were long ruled out by U. S. policy. They are weapons that could be used to root out an underground command center or a heavily reinforced warhead storage facility. They might be used in a limited way by a president to show his willingness to resort to nuclear warfare without launching an all-out exchange. But the technology involved in these weapons is the same as that that would be used in developing weapons designed for a surprise attack.

This change in U. S. strategy has been foreshadowed in philosophical terms in the state of the world messages the president has sent Congress each year since 1970. In them, he expressed his unhappiness that, in a showdown, he might have no choice between destroying the Russian cities and doing nothing. But Schlesinger's statement is the first indication of how the new philosophy is to be expressed in the form of new weapons.

Spying plot disclosed

(c) Washington Star-News
NEW YORK — A journalist who posed as a member of the press corps traveling with Sen. George S. McGovern during the 1972 presidential campaign has revealed that she was assigned to accompany the Democratic nominee as $1,000-a-week spy for President Nixon's re-election committee.

Mrs. Lucianne Goldberg said the secret project on which she worked was personally directed by Murray M.S. Chotiner, a former political adviser to the President.

Chotiner, known for his controversial political activities on Nixon's behalf in earlier campaigns, has not previously been publicly linked to alleged "dirty tricks" in last year's presidential race.

First identified as a Nixon undercover agent by Washington sources, Mrs. Goldberg confirmed her role in an interview here in which she also said:

— When recruited for the assignment, she was told that "Nixon himself had approved it, and had turned to his old dirty tricks expert (Chotiner) to carry it out."

— While accompanying McGovern at campaign appearances throughout the country, she was asked by Chotiner to report back to Washington not only traditional political intelligence but also information about the personal habits of those aboard the two jet aircraft chartered by the Democratic presidential candidate.

Amateur week at palace

By C.W. ORR
United Press International
It's amateur week at the Cow Palace in San Francisco. People who like their beef, but can't get it in the supermarket, have flocked to a public auction of feedlot cattle to make bumbling bids for beef on the hoof.

In other news about food prices, a consumer organization accused major canners of holding supplies off the market until price controls are lifted. But Del Monte Corp. said consumers were hoarding canned goods in hopes of beating a price increase.

The Cow Palace auction continues through Thursday. It drew about 200 persons, most of them inexperienced in auctioning, on opening day Saturday. In the first hour, only 21 head were sold because most of the bidders simply did not know how to bid.

If this was a professional cattle auction, we'd have 3,000 head sold by now," Mike Dozich, co-owner of Marks Cattle Co. of Zamora, Calif., said.

The purchasers paid about the same as they would for supermarket beef if they could get any. The buyers apparently are trying to insure eating beef while supplies are down and avoid paying higher prices when price controls are lifted next month.

The Food Action Campaign asked the government to investigate charges that canners were holding their products off the market.

"No doubt," said Pennsylvania Agriculture Secretary James McHale, a spokesman for the group, "they will use these shortages to argue for price increases in stage two of Phase IV, which is due on Sept. 12. Then they will release their hoarded goods for sale to consumers at higher prices and they will enjoy still higher prices."

Grand jury expected to indict Agnew, Time says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Time magazine reports that a federal grand jury, acting on reinforced allegations he received kickbacks on government contracts, is expected to indict Vice President Spiro T. Agnew next month.

SPIRO AGNEW ... claims innocence

The magazine said Sunday it had learned from sources a third Maryland contractor has told the Justice Department he gave kickbacks to Agnew.

The contractor was identified as Allen I. Green, 49, president of a Maryland engineering firm. He was reported to have told investigators that he gave kickbacks to Agnew about five times a year while Agnew was governor of Maryland in 1967-68 and on a reduced scale after Agnew became vice-president in 1969.

Time said the grand jury "is expected to vote an indictment next month charging Agnew with, among other things, bribery and extortion." It quoted a Justice Department official as saying "the department has no choice. At least three witnesses have told of diverting cash payments to Agnew. The evidence is so strong that the case must be taken to trial."

Agnew has described the allegations made against him as "damned lies." Saturday night he appeared at a political rally at Centerville, Md., and pledged he would fight to establish his innocence. He also chastised anonymous news sources for improperly leaking reports on the investigation.

"They have no hesitancy at all about violating my civil rights or my constitutional rights—but I'll have more to say about that later," Agnew said. "Just let me say I intend to fight to establish my innocence of any wrongdoing."

He spoke at a rally for a Republican congressional candidate.

Found guilty

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — Herbert V. Mullin, 26, a high school honor student who turned to drugs and mysticism and believed murder was an 'act of love,' stood up calmly to be manacled Sunday after a jury pronounced him guilty of 10 slayings.

Defense attorney James Jackson termed the verdict, which came after 14 1/2 hours of deliberations, "as insane as Mullin is."

Mullin, wearing a prison orange jumpsuit, said nothing and was led quietly to his jail cell to await a Sept. 18 sentencing on the findings of two counts of first degree murder and eight of second degree murder.

"What was in their minds was fear," Jackson said of the six-man, six-woman jury. "They were afraid he was going to get out and kill someone—which is not an unreasonable consideration."

Mullin admitted slaying 13 persons in a three-week period during which he received "telepathic messages" that the killings were needed as "human sacrifices" to prevent a cataclysmic earthquake in California. He was charged with 10 murders and entered an insanity plea.

During his 12-day trial, Mullin took the stand and described in detail how he shot to death a mother and her two young sons, four teen-agers living in a mountainside camp, a drug dealer and his wife and an elderly fisherman. He also admitted but was not charged with stabbing and stomping a priest to death in a confessional and shooting two other persons.

Under California law, an appeal is automatically made on the murder convictions, for which he faces a life imprisonment with no chance of parole.

Both the prosecution and defense agreed that Mullin is mentally ill, but they argued over whether he was legally

Monsoon strikes

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Monsoon rains lashed India's Rajasthan State today, stranding a train with 1,000 persons aboard and forcing officials to drop food packages to the passengers from air force helicopters.

Railway officials said the train from New Delhi to Ahmedabad, capital of Gujarat State, has been stuck in waist-deep water for the past 24 hours and cannot be moved for at least another two days.

The officials said the express train splashed to a halt at Someswar Station, 390 miles west of New Delhi, when powerful rains suddenly flooded the tracks.

The Press Trust of India news agency reported 12 persons swept away by the crushing floods in the Bermer district of Rajasthan State.

The agency said a whole village near Bermer town was surrounded by flood waters and military helicopters were dropping food packets.

In Pakistan, disastrous floods in the Punjab Province started subsiding Sunday, but the Indus River in Sind Province threatened to break its banks.

Pakistan Radio said military engineers and civilian technicians were working around the clock to bolster embankments along the Indus, whose floodwaters were threatening to destroy Guddi Barrage, 300 miles upstream from Karachi.

The radio said miles of farmland and villages along the Indus would be inundated if the engineers failed to keep the river from bursting its banks.

It said military helicopters dropped food to flood-isolated areas in Sind and Punjab and mobile medical vans were negotiating thousands against cholera.

Teachers consider NEA merger

(c) Washington Star-News WASHINGTON — The American Federation of Teachers opens its annual convention here tomorrow and although the topic of merger with the rival National Education Association is not on the agenda, it is on the minds of the 3,000 delegates.

Both the 385,000-member teachers union and the 1.4 million member NEA are on record as favoring the formation of a unified teacher organization.

Last week, NEA president Helen D. Wise officially invited AFT president David Selden to begin merger talks as soon after Sept. 1 as possible. But some AFT members who believe that their union may be weakening in its insistence that the unified organization be affiliated with the AFL-CIO may express their fears this week through demonstrations and resolutions during the convention at the Sheraton Park hotel.

The AFT members mostly from minority groups and smaller locals, are especially wary of the no-compromise stand against such affiliation taken by the NEA when their convention in Portland, Ore., last month.

Among those steadfastly insisting on AFL-CIO affiliation is William Simons, president of the predominantly black Washington teachers union, which has 4,600 members.

"Labor affiliation is important. Teachers are workers, and the only way to wield power is through organized labor," Simons said in an interview last week.

"And I fear that the merger is based on a political motivation rather than a general interest in teachers' rights, a consolidation of strength at the top with little concern for what happens down below," Simons added.

He contended that the merger of state and local affiliates within NEA has led to smaller, particularly black, affiliates being "swallowed up." Simons, as well as many small locals, feels that the New York State delegation, headed by Albert Shanker, now controls the union.

The Affiliation of state and local AFT and NEA organizations in New York has resulted in a membership of 190,000, about 50 per cent of the AFT total. New York will have about 1,400 delegates here this week, many of them former NEA members attending an AFT convention for the first time.

Roll calls for the first time at this convention will be based on a state's membership, not delegate strength, and New York is expected to have effective control of most issues.

This situation has led some members, like Simons, to feel there is now "one-man control" of their union. They also cite the action of the AFT's executive council last fall making Shanker the senior vice president, empowered to run the union should Selden be incapacitated.

The membership will be asked to ratify that action this week, and that could spark a floor fight.

Shakeup

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An earthquake rocked portions of West Los Angeles Sunday night.

Hollywood police said the quake was "hardly noticeable." Residents of Santa Monica, however, said it was a "pretty good shake" which lasted as long as 10 seconds.

There were no reports of injuries or damage.

Feared offense begins today

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Large insurgent forces began moving today toward two provincial capitals and terrorist bombings inside Phnom Penh coupled with new fighting outside the city signaled the apparent start of the long-feared rebel offensive in the country.

Military sources said three rebel regiments totaling roughly 4,500 men have approached to within six miles of Kompong Cham on the Mekong river 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

Kompong Cham is Cambodia's third major city after Phnom Penh and Battambang. Its prewar population of 30,000 has swelled to double or triple that number with the influx of refugees.

Near Kompong Speu, 30 miles southwest of the capital, a company of about 100 government troops three miles north of town was reported under attack by about 300 rebels led by a Hanoi-trained Cambodian rebel named Chan Sary, military sources said.

Government armored vehicles were en route from Phnom Penh to the battle site near Kompong Speu, the sources said.

Charged

DISTRICT ATTORNEY JIM GARRISON goes on trial today on charges of taking bribes to protect illegal pinball machine gambling in New Orleans. Garrison received nationwide publicity "after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in 1963 when he tried to vainly to prove the death was a conspiracy plotted by members of a military-industrial complex. He said the current charges against him are fabricated by the same group.

Pollution guards promised

VALDEZ, Alaska (UPI) — Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton reassured fishermen here Sunday that everything possible would be done to guard against pollution from the proposed Trans-Alaska oil pipeline.

Rogers, who just began a tour of 80 million wilderness acres and some Alaskan towns, said his department would do everything possible to make sure "there is no competition with the fishing industry, which is so vital to Alaska and the nation."

Conservationists had expressed fear that a possible oil spill at Valdez, the southern terminus of the proposed Alyeska pipeline, would pollute the water and ruin the fishing industry.

Standing beside 419 miles of pipe a go-ahead on construction, Rogers compared the project to the building of the pyramids in ancient Egypt.

"This will be the biggest manmade structure in the world and probably the most expensive," he said.

Morton plans to spend a week in Alaska, reviewing plans for the pipeline and examining some 80 million acres of land that the federal government will choose for national park additions and wildlife areas. He has already said he would recommend that Mt. McKinley National Park be doubled in size.

He also plans to meet with native leaders in several cities and villages.

Snake men happy

NEWPORT, Tenn. (UPI) — The Revs. Liston Pack and Alfred Ball, who've been arrested for violating a judge's ban on snake handling, were reported "happy as can be" today in the Cooke County jail.

They could stay behind bars until their hearing Saturday. Pack and Ball gave themselves up Saturday night after Sheriff Bobby Stinson told them earlier in the day that Circuit Court Judge George Shepherd had ordered their arrests.

Shepherd issued the arrest order Saturday morning, charging that Pack and Ball had handled snakes during religious services in violation of his order against it and had not paid fines for contempt of court.

County jailer Jakey James said Pack and Ball had spent most of their time in the call talking with each other.

Snake handling is a religious practice in which participants handle venomous snakes as part of a religious ceremony.

In the past, there were cases in which Vietnamese residents in Thailand, Laos and Cambodia have returned to South Vietnam to fight the Communists," spokesman Bui Tho Truc said. "It could not be taken as a special case. It would just like to point out that the cases existed already."

Truc, however, denied Communist charges that troops have already been sent into Cambodia. He refused to comment on a statement by Maj. Gen. Sotheane Fernandez, Cambodia's top military commander, that Phnom Penh has already requested such soldiers.

"I cannot confirm that we have received the request or not," he said.

Viet communists fail offensive

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops tried to storm a small hamlet in the Mekong Delta but were pushed back in fierce fighting that left 73 soldiers slain on both sides, military sources said today.

The sources said a joint force of 300 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers attempted Sunday to seize the hamlet of Thap-Nghia, 75 miles southwest of Saigon, in one of the biggest battles in recent months.

The sources said 67 guerrillas and six government militiamen were killed in the fighting. Twelve government soldiers were reported wounded.

The South Vietnamese commander said today Communist troops launched heavy shelling against the former imperial capital of Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon, and the key Central Highlands city of Kontum, 286 miles north of the capital.

A command spokesman said the Communists fired 372 rockets into five government infantry positions ringing Kontum Sunday, killing four soldiers and wounding 18.

The spokesman said the guerrillas fired a barrage of 121 mortar rounds at four outposts in the government's defensive line around Hue, wounding two government soldiers.

A government spokesman told newsmen at today's daily briefing a precedent exists for sending South Vietnamese troops of Cambodian origin to

Critics adamant

(c) Chicago Sun-Times WASHINGTON — Nothing President Nixon can say about the Watergate affair would satisfy his critics, an administration official has declared.

William D. Ruckelshaus, the former acting director of the FBI who has been nominated by Nixon to be Deputy Attorney General, said the President feels that no statement by him no matter how detailed or candid would "ultimately resolve" the Watergate matter.

The president rejected a lengthy "white paper" that was prepared by his staff in defense of his conduct because of the feeling that it would only prolong the Senate Watergate committee hearings. It was decided not to engage in a point-by-point rebuttal.

"He has taken the position," Ruckelshaus explained, "that he has said all he can say or is willing to say, and so let's get on with other things."

Chinese embassy bombed, 1 dead

LUSAKA, Zambia (UPI) — A parcel bomb exploded in the Chinese embassy Sunday, killing a woman and injuring a man, diplomatic sources said.

Chinese and Zambian officials refused to comment on the reported blast at the embassy, a large mansion on the outskirts of Lusaka.

Sources in the Zambian capital's diplomatic community said the man underwent an emergency operation for face and hand wounds. They said the woman lost both her hands in the blast and later died in a hospital.

The sources said both victims were Chinese. They said the woman was believed to be the wife of a senior Peking diplomat in Lusaka.

China has given Zambia a $400 million, interest-free loan to build a railway to Tanzania.

Shoshone schools open August 27

SHOSHONE — Registration for Shoshone High School students will be Wednesday Supt. Kenneth Crothers said Friday. Registration will take place at the high school building, starting at 9 a.m. and going until 4 p.m.

Juniors and seniors are to register from 9 a.m. to noon. Freshmen and sophomores will register from 1 to 4 p.m.

There will be no required fees.

Students desiring high school activity tickets will be able to purchase them at registration for $5.

Students not holding activity cards will be charged adult prices to high school activities, including ball games and national assemblies, Crothers said.

A fee of $7 will be charged students desiring a yearbook.

Yearbook orders will also be sold at registration if students wish to make the purchase at that time. Yearbook sales will close on Sept. 28.

A $5 shop fee will be charged for students taking shop, and the athletic insurance will be $10 for the school year.

Crothers said students will register for classes, pay any fees that are involved and get their locker assignments.

Textbooks will not be checked out until the first day of school Aug. 27.

Shoshone schools officially open on Aug. 27, and there will be a full day of school with bus routes and schedules the same as last year.

Lunch prices will remain at 35 cents for elementary students and 40 cents for secondary students.

Since the federal government has discontinued support of special milk programs, students wishing extra milk will pay 10 cents per half pint.

Elementary and junior high students will register on the first day of school. There will be no registration or book fees required for them.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A produce truck carrying 45,000 pounds of garlic bulbs overturned on a freeway interchange transition road Friday and the mess smelled as bad as it looked.

The driver, Barry Durrah, 21, Hollister, Calif., who suffered only bruises, said his load "shifted" about 11:20 a.m. and the diesel rig went over.

"It was so bad we nearly needed gas masks out there," said Officer Bob Phillips of the California Highway Patrol. The smell got worse as the day wore on and cars drove over the garlic, crushing the bulbs to a slippery pulp.

BUHL — Registration and fee schedules for Buhl schools are announced by Dan Mabe, superintendent.

The Buhl elementary school office will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. today through Friday for registration of new students in the elementary grades.

Lee Popplewell, principal, said insurance would be available at that time to all students. There are no registration fees for elementary students.

Junior high students will register Tuesday and Wednesday between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Bob Sept, principal, announced the junior-high fee schedule as student activity card, $6; annual, $2.75; newspaper, $1; towel fees for physical education, $3, per sport, $2, with a maximum of $5 for any student, and insurance $2.50.

Roger Michener, high school principal, said students would complete their registration on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Seniors will register between 9 a.m. and noon Tuesday; juniors between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. Tuesday; sophomores between 9 a.m. and noon Wednesday, and freshmen between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. Wednesday.

High school registration fees include class dues, $1; towel fees, physical education, $3, per sport $2, with maximum of $5 per student; shop card $6; locker fee, $1; school paper, $1; student activity card, required for any participants of extra-curricular activities, $7.50; annual, $6.50; and insurance, $2.75.

School will begin Monday with a full class schedule. Lunches will be served Monday with charges of 35 cents for students and 50 cents for adults. Bus routes will be the same as the past school year.

U.S. treasure hunters unable to reach liner

By KENNETH CAFARELL
FAIRHAVEN, Mass. (UPI)

Underwater movies will prove that treasure hunters who reached the sunken luxury liner Andrea Doria last week did not get to the millions of dollars in cash and jewels believed stashed in the purser's office, the drivers said Sunday.

Donald L. Rodocker, 27, and Christopher DeLucchi, 22, both of San Diego, Calif., insisted they recovered only a bottle of perfume, some silverware and four chafing dish tops.

After the films are shown, it'll be fairly obvious that we didn't get anything substantial," Rodocker said.

"It'll show that interior and that will be self-explanatory." The owners of the 29,000-ton Andrea Doria, which sank 45 miles off the Massachusetts coast in 1956 after colliding with the Swedish ship Stockholm, have said they still own the ship and all its contents, regardless who is able to dive and recover any valuables.

Rodocker and DeLucchi, both former Navy frogmen, called off a week-long search of the 700-foot vessel 240 feet below the surface of the Atlantic four days ago. They said they had failed to reach the four safes containing the cash and jewels because tangled wreckage made the ship's purser's office "a death trap."

"I was standing probably within 20 feet of where the safe should have been and there was just no way," Rodocker told reporters.

Numberous attempts to salvage the estimated $1.1 million in cash and another million dollars worth of jewels, sculpture and paintings have failed.

The two divers said a crew of underwater photographers, headed by Robert Hollis, 35, of San Leandro, Calif., filmed the expedition from beginning to end. Rodocker said he hoped the sale of the films to a motion picture studio would pay most of the $250,000 cost of the expedition.

Dietrich schools set full day schedule

DIETRICH School will open here on Aug. 27 with a full day schedule, Supt. Wayne Perron announces.

A new teacher to the system is Larry Messick, coach and history teacher.

School lunches will be 35 cents for students and 45 cents for adults.

Milk purchased by the younger students during the afternoon and extra lunch milk will cost 7 cents.

Activity tickets for high school students may be purchased for $3 and annual school yearbooks cost $5.

Grade school students may purchase activity tickets for $2.50.

Offenhauser dies

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Fred Offenhauser, developer of the nation's most famous racing engine that has won the Indianapolis 500 a total of 28 times, died in his sleep at his home Friday. He was 85.

The four-cylinder Offy engine was created in 1934 and it soon became a standard at Indy, winning all but eight of the events.

Offenhauser was a plant superintendent when Harry Miller went out of business in 1933. Offenhauser developed all of the plans and drawings of Miller's engines, reorganizing the firm, and gave the company and the engine his name.

Offenhauser retired in 1964 and sold his Offenhauser Engine Co. to Dale Drake and Louie Meyer, who moved the Offy factory from Los Angeles to Costa Mesa, Calif.

Innertubes tried in attempt to give coyote air

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI) — Scientists at Colorado State University are hoping they can outfox the coyote.

Old, black innertubes laced with chemical-filled sponges are being placed around the necks of sheep in hopes that coyotes — unfamiliar with the scent — will look for their meals elsewhere.

Dr. Verne B. Swanson, extension sheep specialist, said the chemical odor would present the coyote with something he had never come across before. Hopefully, he will lick his chops and hunt for food on other grounds.

"He's a pretty wary, suspicious sort of a character," Swanson explained.

The problem comes when the coyote gets used to the new scent and discovers the lamb with the funny smell tastes as good as the one that is unscented.

"That's going to happen, I believe," Swanson said. "The coyotes will adjust to it. We may have to change the ingredients from time to time, although this is just speculation now."

Another possibility is using an odor of some type of animal that the coyote fears. "This is what we would like to find but we haven't been able to come up with one yet," Swanson said.

The current test program is being carried out in the Montrose-Norwood area of Colorado.

Swanson said 2,200 head of sheep were being used. Of this number, 1,400 have collars — three groups using different types of repellants and one group with an unscented collar.

The odor doesn't appear to bother the sheep, although they do put up a bit of a battle while the collar is being put on.

"I don't know whether they're fighting the collars or fighting the odor, but they settle down real rapidly," Swanson said. "It doesn't appear to bother them."

Swanson said it would take several months before he could evaluate results of the test. He said he carried out a similar experiment two years ago and thought things were going pretty well for 10 days.

"Then the coyotes turned around on us and they just about cleared us out," he said. "You learn to have some reservations on this thing."

Colorado State University began serious research on a program to keep coyotes away from lamb on the hoof last year, shortly after President Nixon banned toxicants or poisons from being used on federal lands.

Many sheepmen argued that the decision took away the best tool they had for any form of coyote control.

Although some of the sheepmen's claims to coyote kills may have been overstated, Swanson said he has no doubt there is a serious problem — particularly when you consider the high cost of any kind of meat these days.

"Just to give one example, I know of one fellow that lost 50 lambs out of 300 in a 30-day period in late May and June," he said. "That's an awful lot of lambs. If you figure at $40 a hundred, you're looking at $2,000 just for that month." Hopefully, the new collars — with odors varying from a cinnamon smell to that of rotting cabbage — will get mutton from the field to the supermarket without too much interference from the coyote.

Horse ownership rules changes affect Idaho

BOISE (UPI) — Officials said today new amendments to the code of federal regulations to implement the Wild, Free-Roaming Horse and Burro Act of 1971 have been adopted and will change certain procedures of ownership of animals claimed under Idaho stray laws.

The new rules, adopted by the U.S. Department of Interior and Agriculture, will require persons claiming ownership of unbranded burros and horses on federal land to file a written claim and acceptable proof of ownership with the appropriate land administrator before Aug. 15.

William Mathews, state Bureau of Land Management director, said the regulations were officially published Aug. 5 in the federal register and called for the management of wild horses as an integral part of the natural systems of federal land.

Animals are protected from unauthorized capture, branding, undue disturbance and slaughter. BLM personnel are authorized to reserve public land forage for wild horse use and to reduce domestic livestock grazing where necessary to provide for wild horse needs.

The 1971 act provides for the protection, management and control of wild horses and burros associated with national forests which are administered by the agriculture's forest service and the natural resource lands — which are administered by the interior's bureau of land management.

Beef black market draws IRS probers

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service is probing reports of a black market dealing in beef.

Karl Nash, acting district economic stabilization manager, said Friday the IRS has received complaints from several restaurants and grocers about meat packers billing customers for more meat than they actually deliver.

"Nobody is anxious to tell us who is doing this," he said, "because they're afraid they won't be able to get more beef."

Nash said the packer will bill out, for example, 700 pounds of meat, but will deliver only 600 pounds. The technique is designed to cover up prices higher than allowed by the freeze which remains in effect until Sept. 12.

"We're watching closely," he said. "But so far we've had only reports of this going on."

Nash said no complaints have been signed.

Gas storage warning out

BOISE (UPI) — An official of the Idaho Petroleum Council today strongly cautioned residents and motorists against the dangers of storing gasoline to guarantee supplies during shortages.

Douglas E. Bean, director of the council, said because of fuel shortages and the use of fuel in lawnmowers and outboard motors some people are storing gasoline without much thought to the dangers involved to lives and property.

"Beware of gasoline danger signals," he warned. "When you can smell it, there's a leak somewhere that should be taken care of immediately."

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Reaman
Meridian, Idaho

"When Idaho Power's Eileen Swanson advised us about changing to electric heat, she told us that heat is lost through single glass windows at five times the rate it is through uninsulated walls," said Mr. and Mrs. Reaman. "Acting on her advice, we installed double glass throughout the house, including storm doors. With this double glass, plus thorough insulation, our home has been warm and draft-free and our electric heating costs very reasonable."

Whatever form of energy you use for heating, double glass and thorough insulation are energy-savers. And whether or not you plan to change to electric heat, an Idaho Power representative will gladly advise you about ways to reduce heat loss. Just call your local Idaho Power Company office.

Secret Service tells assassination plot

Police records showed Gaudet burned a U.S. flag and tried to throw it on Vice President Spiro T. Agnew during a New Orleans visit three years ago. He was charged only with attempted desecration of the American flag.

The conspiracy also was believed linked to the theft of a car assigned to New Orleans Police Superintendent Clarence Giarrusso and a uniform belonging to Patrolman Bennett Lacour. Both Giarrusso and Lacour live in Algiers, La., across the Mississippi River from New Orleans.

A police spokesman said the superintendent's car was taken from in front of his home about 2 a.m. The car was recovered about six hours later near Louisiana State University's takefront campus in New Orleans. Investigators said nothing was missing from the vehicle.

Lacour reported the uniform theft Sunday night from his car, also parked in front of his home.

The police radio described Gaudet as "armed and extremely dangerous." The radio said Gaudet's arrest was ordered by the Secret Service.

Crowds were three deep along Canal Street shortly before the President's arrival at the Rivergate Auditorium to address the 7,500 VFW members and guests. Near the auditorium, the crowd was about six deep along Broad street.

In Washington, the FBI referred inquiries to the Secret Service but commented: "It's a very real threat and we do have agents on the case."

The New Orleans Times-Picayune newspaper reported four persons were under surveillance besides Gaudet.

"The FBI has asked the New Orleans Police Department to arrest Edwin Gaudet Jr., a former police officer," information officer Frank Hayward announced at mid-morning. "He was suspended from duty on May 20, 1967, when he got in a fight in the French Quarter area and at that time he illegally discharged a firearm. Then, July 25, 1967, he was allowed to resign."

"He also was arrested for burning an American flag and throwing it at Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's car during one of his visits here."

Burley district has small fires

TWIN FALLS — Several small range fires broke out in the Burley district of the Bureau of Land Management Sunday, according to BLM officials.

In addition, one new fire was reported in the Shoshone District of the BLM.

Burley BLM officials reported that all its crews are now mopping up four small range fires which were started by lightning Sunday. Two 2,000-acre fires occurred, one west of the Raft River and one northwest of Malta. Two smaller fires burned in Goose Creek south of Oakley.

The Wendell City Fire Department extinguished one small range fire located between Gooding and Wendell along Highway 20. Wallace Fixsen, fire control officer for the BLM, said the fire was reported at 3 a.m. today and, though exact acreage has not been determined, it is believed to have been small.

Over the weekend, however, Shoshone District sent two tankers to the Burley area, four overhead men to the Idaho Falls District and one man to Montana.

The Sawtooth National Forest reported no fires over the weekend, but an "extreme fire hazard" exists at the forest's southern end where thunderstorms moved through Sunday night.

Much of the Sawtooth's fire fighting equipment has been dispatched to Montana and northern Idaho to assist in fighting major fires that have broken out in the last several days, fire dispatcher Richard Stanley reported.

Jerome citizens to meet Tuesday

JEROME — A regional task force of the Citizens Study of Local Government will meet at the Wood Cafe in Jerome Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

Local members of the Citizens Committee have invited nearly 50 people from this area to join the group, which will discuss existing laws and constitutional provisions that may keep local governments from solving problems.

The findings of six regional task forces throughout Idaho will be compiled in a final report and recommendations to be presented to the 1974 Idaho State Legislature.

The citizens study group was formally organized in June 1973 for the purpose of forming a broad-based citizens study of local government in Idaho. It is funded by a grant from the State Planning and Community Affairs Agency.

Members of the citizen's committee from the Magic Valley include Claude Ballard, Bellevue and Forrest Hymas, Jerome. Twin Falls attorney Dan Slavin is an advisor to the group.

State auditors meeting in SV

SUN VALLEY — The 58th annual convention of the National Association of State Auditors, comptrollers and Treasurers today discussed "in-house" topics such as auditors' operational audits and treasurer investments.

The meeting is being held for the first time in Idaho in the 58-year history of the association, which is in session through Wednesday. Gov. Cecil D. Andrus was scheduled to give a banquet address Monday night.

New York City Finance Administrator Richard Lewisohn sent a message to the convention with Deputy finance administrator for the treasury Malcolm D. Strickler.

That New York city could save $15 million a year in borrowing costs if the federal government paid its obligations on time.

His message said, "as things are now, collection of over $1.7 billion of federal aid payments under a variety of categorical grants with varied reporting requirements, has many delays built in."

He said even by the end of any fiscal year, about one-fourth of those federal grants are still owed.

The message, added with interest costs climbing because of federal monetary and fiscal policies, states and localities can expect the cost of delay in federal aid payments to increase.

"If the federal government would speed up the transfer of funds to cities and states, this would help cut down the adverse impact of money shortage on interest costs paid for necessary public projects and programs," Lewisohn said.

Lewisohn said Strickler would present to the convention in detail the city treasury department's cash management system which has earned $26 million in interest in the first seven months of 1973.

Big fires continue in region

"Last year things were a little better at this time, but current conditions are typical," he said.

He said for most of the Northwest, temperatures would continue to get warmer, and most thunderstorm activity was expected today and Tuesday in Southern Idaho, Eastern Oregon and Western Wyoming, becoming more widespread Tuesday and moving North.

For Washington and Oregon, O'Dell said, no change in the weather is expected. He said there may be a little cooler temperatures in the next couple of days with cloudiness on the coast and in the interior.

He said Montana has a chance of isolated thunderstorms, but not as great as for Idaho and Montana.

For northern California there is a chance of showers and about a 10-degree drop in temperatures from the 100s to the 90s. There is a chance of thunderstorms in the South Sierras.

Champion beef

MIKE EAKIN, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Eakin, Bellevue, sold his champion beef, Bubba, to the Sun Valley Co. for $1,150 per pound at the fat stock sale Saturday which ended the three-day Blaine county fair.

Stock sale ends Blaine's fair

CAREY — Spirited bidding netted almost $2,000 for the Blaine County 4-H Builders Club as 34 persons purchased the club's lamb, only to return it to the auction block.

The lamb auction, conducted during the 4-H and FFA stock sale, capped the three-day Blaine County Fair in Carey.

The newly formed Builders Club plans to use the funds to purchase picnic tables and benches for the county fair grounds. The lamb was donated to the club by Jim and Lee Peterson, Carey.

In a second highlight of the stock sale, Fred Laidlaw, Muldoon, purchased the fair's grand champion lamb for $4.10 a pound. The lamb was raised by Cherie Reay, Carey, and weighed 110 pounds.

Bobette Kawamura, Bellevue, was named "Little Miss Blaine County Fair and Rodeo Queen" during a rodeo Saturday night, staged by the Carey Valley Rodeo Association.

Mjss Kawamura is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kawamura. Names first runner-up from the field of 16 candidates was Jonnie Denam, Carey. Second runner-up was Sue Ann Bennett, Carey.

Citizens' right to news Ok'd

TWIN FALLS — "Every citizen has a right to inspect and take a copy of any public writing of this state" unless expressly forbidden by law, according to the Idaho attorney general's office.

The opinion was issued last week by Chief Deputy Attorney General Clarence Suiter at the request of the Times-News.

The request asked clarification concerning public records of documents and when they should be made available to the public.

Quoting from the Idaho Code, Suiter said, "The public records and other matters in the office of any officer are, at all times, during office hours, open to the inspection of any citizen of this state."

However the "precise question of what is and what is not a public record is not definitely answered by the Idaho Code," according to Suiter, "but it must be generally conceded that any record that is kept in the ordinary course of business of a public officer or official is a public record."

"Any records that are withheld from the public must be specifically designated in our laws," he said. "It is unfortunate that many officials of the state, county, and local governments feel that the records committed to their keeping should be held confidential, but such is the fact," Suiter added. "In those cases, the above cited sections of the Idaho Code should be brought to the officials' attention."

2 ponies appear

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls family is holding two Shetland ponies that turned up on their lawn about 12 p.m. Saturday.

The ponies are being held in a corral on the property of C. H. Newkirk, 919 Washington Street South.

According to Newkirk's stepdaughter Debbie Day, the ponies are both sorrels with light manes and tails. Debbie said the family was watching television when they heard squealing tires outside and, looking out, saw the ponies on the lawn.

Both ponies are wearing halters, Debbie said, and look as if they had broken loose. Anyone thinking they may have lost the ponies can contact the Newkirk's at 734-3092.

Gooding man held

TWIN FALLS — Michael Winkler, 23, Gooding, was arrested last week by Twin Falls County sheriff's officers on a charge of issuing checks without funds.

Sheriff Paul Corder traveled to Los Angeles, Calif., to place Winkler under arrest and transport him back to Twin Falls.

Winkler remains in the county jail in lieu of $500 bond.

Cancer warning

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Because their mothers were treated with diethylstilbestrol (des), many young women may be in danger of vaginal cancer, two California physicians believe.

Drs. Robert R. Williams and Robert J. Schweitzer, writing in the California Medical Association's journal, urged that those daughters be sought and checked regularly. Early detection is imperative, they wrote.

Cocktail probed

SALMON (UPI) — City police are investigating the tossing of a "Molotov cocktail" at the Mary Colson residence on Washington Avenue in Salmon.

Police chief Frank Evans advised the cocktail was made with a coke bottle filled with gas, a wick lit.

Neighbor Wally DeBoard noticed the burning object and used a shovel to throw it into a field. Chief Evans said a warning note was left at the house telling the occupant to move. No one was in the house at the time of the incident Aug. 10 about 11:45 p.m.

Proposals asked on land plans

SALMON — A 12-member committee from the Salmon, North Fork and Lewis and Clark areas has been created to offer recommendations on resource management in the Challis Bureau of Land Management planning unit.

The BLM asked for public participation from the Salmon area on the development of a resource management plan.

K. Grant Harbour, Challis, MacRay area manager for the BLM, noted that only 12 persons here indicated a willingness to serve on one of seven resource committees.

As a result the group will form a single committee to make recommendations on such resources as range, timber, wildlife, wild horses, lands, recreation and minerals.

The Challis planning unit consists of 321,122 acres of national resource lands, 18,000 acres of state land and 35,600 acres of private land.

Harbour noted that agriculture continues to be a primary source of income for the area. However, recreation is a close second and provides much income within the unit.

Wadkins pulls from behind to take USI championship

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI) — Young Lanny Wadkins fired a three-under par 69 Sunday to register his second tournament victory of the year by two strokes over three other players in the $200,000 USI Classic at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

The $100,000 first prize gave Wadkins, 23, $188,914 for the year, a record for a second-year man on the Professional Golfers' Association tour and moved him in fourth place ahead of Lee Trevino on the 1973 money list.

Rik Massengale, Tom Jenkins, and Lee Elder tied for second place. Wadkins finished the 72-hole tournament at nine-under par with a 279. The others closed at 281.

Wadkins entered the final round three strokes behind third round leader Massengale, but charged into the lead with a birdie-eagle-birdie string on the 10th, 11th and 12th holes.

Ferguson's ninth-inning 2-run homer lifts LA past Cubs 2-1

CHICAGO (UPI) — Joe Ferguson belted a two-run homer with two out in the ninth inning Sunday to lift the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 2-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs and spoil a brilliant 13-strikeout performance mark by the Cubs' Rick Reuschel.

Reuschel, who did not give up a hit through the first seven innings, gave up his third safety to Bill Buckner with one out in the top of the ninth. Willie Davis then flared out for the second out before Ferguson ripped his 19th homer against the top of the left center field bleachers to send Reuschel down to his 12th loss against 14 victories.

Pittsburgh blanks Giants

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Rich Heber and Manny Sanguillen each drove in two runs and Jim Rooker fired a five-hitter Sunday as the Pittsburgh Pirates blanked the San Francisco Giants, 5-0.

He led Massengale by only a single stroke heading into the final hole on the 7,212 yard course. But Massengale, shooting for a tie, with a 30-foot putt from the right fringe, overshot the cup and then blew a two-foot putt to drop into the second place tie.

Cards use error to nip SD 1-0

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Alan Foster throttled the San Diego Padres on seven hits and the St. Louis Cardinals scored an unearned run in the first inning for a 1-0 triumph Sunday.

A throwing error by Padres' shortstop Dwain Anderson, a former Cardinal, enabled Bake McBride to score from second base with the game's only run. The victory was only the second in the last 13 games for the National League Eastern Division-leading Cardinals.

Indians sweep two from Twins

CLEVELAND (UPI) — An infield single by Leo Cardenas scored Jeff Brohamer from third base with two outs in the ninth inning Sunday to give the Cleveland Indians a 4-3 victory over Minnesota and a sweep of their doubleheader.

Buddy Bell, who was ejected in the first inning of the second game, hit a three-run homer and reliever Ken Sanders.

U.S. takes doubles for 2-1 tennis edge

ALAMO, Calif. (UPI) — Stan Smith and Erik van Dillen, taking advantage of every opportunity and mistake, swept the Nastase and Toni Senteu in straight sets, 6-2, 7-5, 6-2, Sunday to give the United States a 2-1 lead over Romania in their Davis Cup semifinal series.

Smith and van Dillen, in extending their Davis Cup doubles winning streak as a team to nine, opened up a 3-0 lead in the first set, fell to 3-2 by the fifth game and then won 13 straight points in the next three games for an easy victory.

The second set proved hard work as the two Romanians, playing as a Davis Cup team for only the fourth time, finally coordinated their game. With Nastase saving his own serve and scoring key points, they

Pitts scores twice as Browns top Cincy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Wide receiver Frank Pitts hauled in a 76-yard touchdown pass and scored another tally on a 22-yard end around to ignite the Cleveland Browns to a 24-6 pre-season victory over the Cincinnati Bengals in Ohio's pro football rivalry Sunday.

Cornerback Cliff Brooks scored another touchdown for the Browns on a 23-yard pass interception and Don Cockroft added a 37-yard field goal.

Cincinnati's only scores came on field goals of 28 and 35 yards by Horst Muhlmann. The victory was Cleveland's first of the exhibition season and upped the Browns' record to 11-1. It was Cincinnati's second pre-season loss in three games. The game was played in spoggy, sultry weather before 73,421 fans at Ohio Stadium on the campus of Ohio State University.

OPEN LETTER TO THE OUTSPOKEN CRITICS OF AGRICULTURE

Criticizing the farmer for today's high food prices - especially meat - seems to be the current national pastime. The farmer is as freely blamed when prices are high as he is freely ignored when they are low. As long as food is cheap, he's a good guy; when it's expensive, he's a baddy.

We are quite literally biting the hand that feeds us. That the farmer should be given either credit or blame for food prices only reflects how wide the communications gap has become between the general public and the farmer. The truth is, the farmer doesn't determine food prices at all. The consuming public does. It does so by the demand it creates.

The truth is, too, that the farmer is the biggest inflation fighter we have today. He performs miracles of production daily: He squeezes the dollar harder and stretches it farther than any housewife - including his own. Look at the facts:

While total farm investment in land, buildings, livestock and equipment has doubled in the last 20 years (rising from $167 billion in 1952 to $339 billion in 1972), farm net income has risen by only a third. And farm debt has multiplied almost 4.5 times (from $14.7 billion in 1952 to $66.9 billion in 1972).

As this was happening, farm output per manhour shot up 3.1 times. In the manufacturing industry, by comparison, output per manhour during the same 20 years increased 1.7 times - only about half as much. This record of efficiency by the farmer is unmatched anywhere.

Pass interceptions let Giants rip Jets

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—Carter Campbell and Jim Files returned pass interceptions for touchdowns in a 55-second span of the fourth quarter and Spider Lochart set up another score with a 77-yard interception return Sunday to lead the New York Giants to a 45-30 victory over the New York Jets.

The Jets trailed only 24-23 early in the final period and had moved to the Giant 17 when Al Woodall was hit trying to pass. Campbell, a defensive end pressed into duty by injuries, grabbed the loose ball in the air and fumbled 82 yards for a TD.

Sox complete sweep of Kansas City set

BOSTON (UPI)—Luis Aparicio singled in one run and scored another and Bill Lee won his 13th game on his seventh try Sunday to pace the Boston Red Sox to a 4-3 win over the Kansas City Royals and a sweep of their three game series.

Places fourth

LEWISTON — Depot Grill-Turf Club of Twin Falls placed fourth in the state slowpitch softball tournament, the highest of the three teams representing Magic Valley this year. Depot Grill-Turf dropped defending state and current district champion First Federal Shuffle Inn of Twin Falls 8-7 Sunday morning and went on to defeat Mc U Sports of Boise 4-3 before falling 14-8 to Sweeney's of Lewiston. Lighthouse of Cour d'Alene took the title.

49ers roll past San Diego 19-7

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco quarterback John Brodie threw a touchdown pass in a brief appearance and his backup, Joe Reed, drove the team to four field goals as the 49ers defeated San Diego 19-7 in an exhibition game Sunday.

San Diego scored first on a 10-yard pass from Johnny Unitas to Walt Garrison at the end of the first quarter. Brodie, who played only two series of downs, came back with a three-yard scoring toss to running back Jimmy Thomas. Bruce Gossett's 12-yard field goal with 22 seconds left in the second quarter gave the 49ers a 10-7 halftime lead.

San Francisco kicker Tom Wittum connected on three fourth quarter field goals, two for 23 yards and one for 41, to pad the final margin. Unitas played—for three quarters, his most extensive stint for the Chargers thus far. He completed 5 of 10 passes for 77 yards, but the Chargers could convert third down situations just twice in 12 tries, and missed twice on fourth down gambles.

Californians win gun titles

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (UPI)—California teams dominated action Sunday by winning the enlisted men's and Rumbold trophy contests of the 1973 National High Power Rifle Championships. California's four-member "blue teams" won both matches by two points, scoring 1,778 of 1,700 for the enlisted men's match and 795 of 800 to take the Rumbold shoot. The U.S. Marine Walker team posted 1,176 and California's "gold team" 1,175 for second and third in the enlisted men's competition fired from standing, sitting and prone positions at 200 and 300 yards.

U.S. basketball team breezes but Russians haul in medals

MOSCOW (UPI)—A three-gold medal "hat trick" by Olga Korbut, the Soviet gymnastics princess, eclipsed another home victory by the U.S. men's basketball team and the Russian's domination of track and field Sunday at the seventh World University Games.

With the U.S. cagers blowing out France 137-43 for their fourth straight 80-point-plus triumph, the relentless Russians, led by the diminutive Miss Korbut, grabbed off 15 more gold medals to boost their overall five-day total to 31.

The petite Miss Korbut, winner of three gold medals at the Munich Olympics, equaled that feat in one day by picking up firsts in the uneven bars, balance beam and the free exercises. She then added a bronze for good-measure in the vault. Flipping her controversial backward somersault as easily as a housewife tossing pan-

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Mister, how old are you? Wait, some medical experts who specialize in heart ailments contend you're 15 years older than your actual chronological age, if you: 1. Smoke more than a pack of cigarettes a day. 2. Show an exceedingly great blood cholesterol level. 3. Register abnormally high blood pressure. Now, sir, how old are you?

Rare is the black man who has hair on his chest, I'm told. Or, relatively rare, anyway.

It's a matter of record that the typical coin collection increases proportionately in value even more from year to year than the typical portfolio of stocks.

Gen. Joseph Hooker commanded a division during the Civil War. Many was the woman who followed his troops from camp to camp. Our language man says she became identified by the general's own name. As is the girl of similar ilk to this day. Or, did you know that?

BROKEN JAW

O. 'I've heard it's almost impossible to break the jaw of a professional boxer by hitting him with a 12-ounce glove if his teeth are set in his mouthpiece. How did Ken Norton manage to do it to Muhammad Ali?'

A. Long-time Ali observers assumed his mouth was open.

You ought not trust that citizen who fails to look you straight in the eye. Such is the common belief. An am asked if there's any scientific reason for the notion. No, it's bunk. Take honest Abe Lincoln, for instance. A trustworthy soul, that one, certainly. But he suffered from a condition called hypertropia, which caused the visual axis of one of his eyes to deviate upwards, thus preventing him from looking anybody straight in the eye.

ASTROLOGY

It's the contention of that research astrologist Linda Goodman that people born under Aries, Gemini, Libra, Sagittarius, Aquarius and Pisces tend to be late arrivers in four out of five appointments.

What, you don't know the very first of Henry J. Heinz' original 37 varieties? Grated horseradish.

'Church goes,' said the great Fred Allen, 'are people who spend six days sowing wild oats, so they can pray on Sunday for a crop failure.'

Young college men and the coeds share living quarters at West Berlin's Free University. Share bathrooms, too. Management decided the girls should hang pink cards on the door-knobs when they showered, the boys blue cards. Excellent, excellent. But dormitory visitors now report virtually all the bathrooms display both pink and blue cards simultaneously.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, AUGUST 21, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have all sorts of interesting ideas that you can easily impart to others in a very logical manner. By so doing you can come to a better understanding and bring a new series of successes to your activities. Be forthright.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you have long conversations with associates, fine ideas will be formulated and excellent plans made for the future. Improve on transportation matters. Don't waste so much time.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Good day to meet with higher-ups who are able to help you solve a particular problem. Follow your hunches as well as your good judgment for ideal results. Be sure to dress in style.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take steps to improve your health via proper treatments. Make business appointments that are important. Attending the social tonight can be to your advantage. Avoid extravagance.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Talk with a clever person who can help you gain your fondest aims. Listen carefully to the advice given you. Follow your intuition, but not your emotions and all works out fine.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Showing devotion to good friends can bring you many favors today. Try to bring out the best qualities in them instead of the worst. Make sure you don't take risks of any kind.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you join forces with influential persons you know, you can make big strides in civic affairs. Buy the appliances that add to your efficiency. Show more devotion to loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Obtain the data you need and then carry through with a special plan you have in mind. Careful planning at this time can bring added income in the days ahead. Take it easy tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Schedule your time well so you can take care of responsibilities without having to rush. A show of affection for mate brings results now. Forget any past resentments. Be wise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Meet with closest tie and discuss subjects uppermost on your minds and come to a far better understanding. Do the same with an associate and your relationship will improve.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can combine cleverness of mind with nimble fingers to get much accomplished today. Do something to make your wardrobe more charming. Get the right accessories. Use good taste.

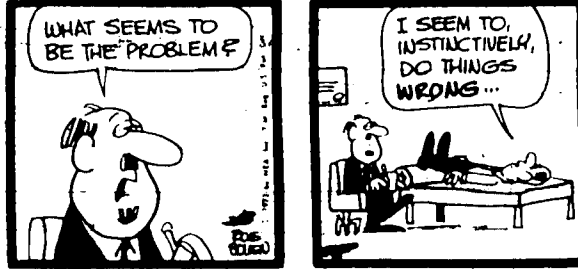

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Congenials will gladly join you in recreational activities that you enjoy. Find the right way to get your ideas of a creative nature approved by higher-ups. Think logically.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Getting busy and fixing up your abode so that it is more comfortable is wise. Make it as clean as you can. Your office or place of business could also use some sprucing up.

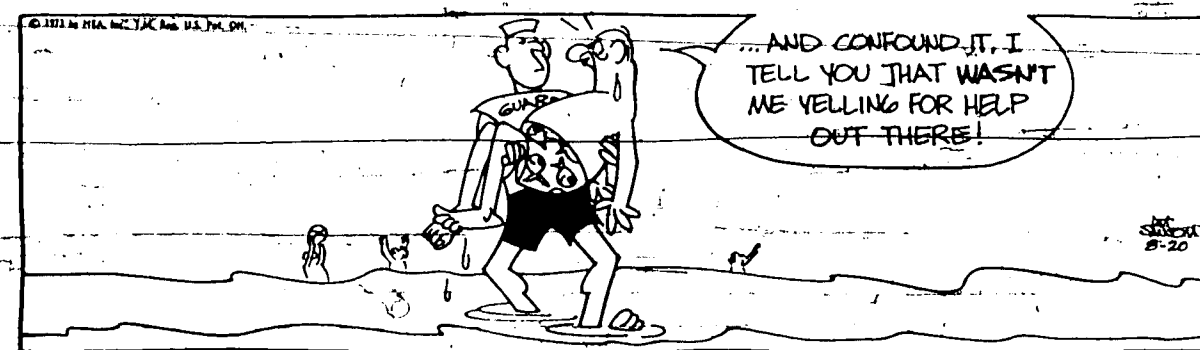

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those delightful young people with an agile mind and the ability to work well with the hands. This will bring considerable success in whatever the forte may be. Bigwigs will be attracted to your clever progeny early in life and give a boost where and when most needed. Many fine talents in this chart. Give religious training early in life. 'The Stars impel, they do not compel.' What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Market Review

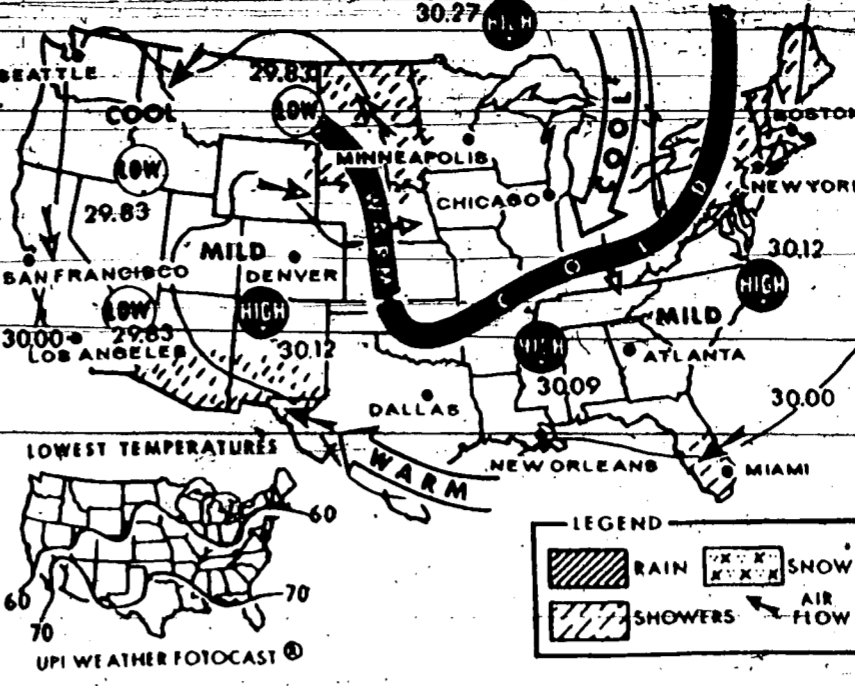

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock prices opened irregularly Monday in slow trading on the New York Stock Exchange, with a rise in the prime lending rate, and renewed dollar weakness in the news background. Shortly after the opening, the Dow Jones industrial average had dropped 0.83 to 871.01, but advances held a narrow lead on declines, among 360 issues traded.

On Friday, lack of interest in stocks led to a dull session, in which prices ended pretty much where they started. The Dow slipped 0.90 to 871.04. Recent dollar strength overseas, which showed signs of cracking last Friday, further deteriorated early Monday. The currency was fixed sharply lower at Frankfurt and elsewhere. Also in the news, First National Bank of Chicago announced a new prime rate of 9 1/2 per cent early Monday. If the rise becomes accepted by other banks nationwide, it would be the fourteenth consecutive rate hike of the year.

Fair and warm with showers
Twin Falls, northside, Burley-Rupert are: Fair and warm through Tuesday except a chance of widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers. Lows tonight will be 55 to 60 with highs Tuesday 90 to 95. The outlook for Wednesday is for little change. Camas Prairie, Halley, and lower Wood-River-Valley: Fair and warm through Tuesday except a chance of widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers. Lows tonight will be 55 to 60 with highs Tuesday 85 to 90. The outlook for Wednesday is for little change. Sunday a slow pressure center in the upper atmosphere over the eastern Pacific ocean shifted upper winds over Idaho to the southwest. As a result, warm temperatures returned rapidly, along with increased moisture and afternoon and evening thundershower activity. No change in present weather pattern is predicted through Wednesday. The extended outlook Wednesday through Friday for southern Idaho is dry, except a few afternoon and evening thundershowers mainly over the mountains. Warm with highs 85 to 95 and lows 45 to 55.

Hearing set on billings
BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Public Utilities Commission will conduct a general rule-making hearing to review regulations relating to billing and termination of service procedures next Tuesday. The meeting will be held in the commission's hearing room in Boise. The utilities committee of the Idaho Housing Coalition will present expert testimony on its proposed alternate rule that would provide strong safeguards for utility consumers against unjust and unreasonable actions by utility corporations. Also, the public utilities will be given a chance to respond.

US income gains told
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Personal income of Americans rose $7.3 billion in July, the Commerce Department reported today. The gain in June was $7.9 billion. Factory payrolls increased $1.2 billion in July, about half the June rise of $2.3. The largest increases last month were in primary metals, transportation equipment, electrical equipment, printing and chemical industries. Wages and salaries in July gained $4 billion, compared to a $6.2 billion rise in June. The slowdown came in industries related to commodity production, the report said. Personal income for the first seven months of the year rose 9.9 per cent over the comparable period for 1972. The over all personal income gain in July, compared with a rise in July, 1972, of $8.2 billion. These seasonally adjusted annual rate for personal income in July was $1,033.9 billion.

Seed saving
TRACY, Calif. (UPI)—Sugar beet growers now use 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 pounds of seed an acre, compared with 20 pounds in former years. Agronomist Alex Lang says seeds have been improved to assure germination and to resist plant diseases. The way things are, any emerging nation would be wise to crawl back in its shell. Progress is inventing screens and then developing cookouts so one can get back with the bugs. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)
