

Phase IV controls on gas suspended

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. District Judge Friday suspended Phase IV price controls, scheduled to go into effect August 31st, for most of the nation's retail gasoline dealers. Government attorneys said they would immediately ask an appeals court to delay the order. Under Phase IV controls, the retail price of gasoline would have remained frozen at Phase III levels. Attorneys for the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers said the order in effect lifts price controls starting next month for the nation's 165,000 brand name service station dealers. Jerry S. Cohen, an attorney for the gas station owners said, however, that the dealers, who constitute 75 per cent of the nation's service station owners, are not expected to raise prices significantly because of competition.

"What it does to prices is very little" because traditionally most dealers have simply passed on wholesale price increases, Cohen said. He noted that thus far only a few wholesalers have increased prices and those increases were about a penny a gallon.

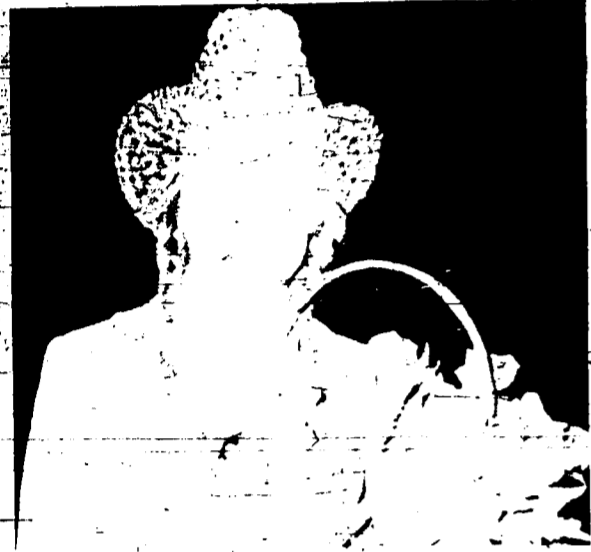

U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker ruled that the Phase IV controls on gasoline station dealers were "arbitrary and capricious" because the stations constituted the only small business still bound by price controls and the dealers were the only retailers under Phase IV oil regulations who may not pass on wholesale price increases.

Parker said that substantial numbers of service station owners would "go out of business or otherwise sustain substantial and severe economic injury" if the Phase IV ceiling was held on. He said the service station owners "have been singled out from all other classes and in particular all petroleum firms, in that they must absorb all product cost increases after Aug. 1, 1973."

The ruling came on a class action suit filed by the Petroleum Dealers Congress and named two service station operators in Waycross, Ga., and Fraser, Mich., as plaintiffs.

Parker said he was granting the dealers' request for a preliminary injunction against implementation of the Phase IV oil regulations which apply to brand name service station owners.

The Cost of Living Council issued the oil regulations on Aug. 17.

Miss Peterson was sponsored by the Jerome County Mounted Sheriff's Posse. She will be a senior at Jerome high school. She has been riding all of her life and said her hobbies are horseback riding, competing in horse shows, snowskiing, backpacking, writing and drawing.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Peterson, Jerome.

FBI break-ins told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI carried out a 30-year program of break-ins at foreign embassies to gather intelligence until 1966, FBI sources said Friday.

Former officials of the Justice Department were quoted as saying burglaries and other illegal activities also were carried out to get information on organized crime figures. But the FBI sources would not confirm that report.

One FBI official, who declined to be identified, said the burglaries against embassies occurred "and they probably should have occurred or how else would we have found out what was going on?"

The official said the practice began in the Roosevelt administration. "That was pre-World War II and the war years, and intelligence was where you found it," he said. "But we don't do it anymore."

US pulls out in Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — The United States announced plans today to pull 3,500 troops and more than 100 warplanes out of Thailand in the first phase of an American pullout from seven bases across the country.

Maj. Gen. Thomas W. Mellen, chief of the American Military Assistance Command for Thailand (MACHTA) worked out the withdrawal agreement earlier in the day in talks with Lt. Gen. Kriangsak Chamamanda, deputy chief of staff of Thailand's Supreme Command.

A joint statement, issued after the meeting at the Thai Foreign Ministry, said, "It was agreed that the U.S. would take immediate steps for an initial withdrawal of 3,550 U.S. military personnel from Thailand and also a reduction of more than 100 aircraft."

The statement made no specific mention of how long the pullout would take, but said the two sides would meet again in the first week of September to consider "further gradual reduction of the level of U.S. forces in Thailand."

The announcement said the future withdrawals would include "strategic, tactical and support aircraft" but would take "into consideration security requirements of Southeast Asia."

The United States and Thailand had agreed earlier to pull out some of America's 45,000 servicemen and more than 500 warplanes at Thai bases because of the Aug. 15 Cambodian bombing halt.

The bases were built by the United States during the 1960s at a cost of more than $650 million.

Thailand has the largest concentration of American air power outside the United States. The kingdom's military government guards a border of 4,000 miles with Cambodia and Laos, separated from China by only a narrow strip of Burma.

Military sources said the first withdrawals likely would be from Takli, an Air Force F4 Phantom base about 100 miles north of Bangkok, and Nam Phong, a U.S. Marine Phantom and A4 Skyhawk camp 40 miles northeast of the capital.

Nixon aides deny leaks in Agnew bribe scandal

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon's top aides, in what appears to be shaping up as a battle within the executive family, emphatically deny the White House is smearing Vice President Spiro T. Agnew by means of news leaks on the Maryland bribery scandal.

Reports that the White House is secretly funneling anti-Agnew information to newsmen are "blatantly and absolutely false," the aides say.

Justice Department sources indicated Thursday that the White House, which has access to details of the inquiry, may be the leaking the Agnew reports.

But Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler "categorically" denied that presidential aides were the source of the information.

Nixon, Gen. Alexander M. Haig, White House chief of staff, and Special Counsel J. Fred Buzhardt are being kept abreast of details of the investigation of allegations that Agnew accepted kickbacks from Maryland contractors.

Nixon told a news conference Wednesday that he had ordered Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson to find the source of the leaks and to summarily fire anyone involved. Afterward, the President called Agnew to relay his concern personally.

The President knew long in advance, before he discussed it with Agnew, that federal prosecutors were conducting the investigation, White House officials said. He has said that it "would be improper for me to comment on the charges" but condemned the "outrageous leak of information from either the grand jury, or the prosecutors or the Justice Department" or all three.

However, Richardson has noted in a letter to Agnew that the "outlines" of the investigation are known to a number of witnesses, individuals, lawyers, the White House staff, investigative personnel of the Internal Revenue Service as well as the Justice Department.

In another reperussion of Nixon's news conference, a White House spokesman refused to give evidence supporting Nixon's claim that widespread burglary was authorized for national security purposes by both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations and well known

Agnew news leak inquiry ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson has ordered a "systematic inquiry" into news leaks about the Maryland corruption probe involving Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. Justice Department sources said the leaks may be coming from the White House.

Richardson made public a letter he sent Thursday to Agnew, which told the vice president Richardson had ordered one of his assistants, Glen E. Pommerening, to make a thorough investigation of the leaks. The attorney general also said he had asked the FBI to furnish personnel "as needed" for the probe.

The attorney general said he had directed Pommerening to "undertake a systematic inquiry using any and all departmental sources as he sees fit." Sources in the Justice Department said perhaps the leaks were coming from the White House or perhaps from law enforcement officials. The sources said only about a half dozen people in the Justice Department knew about the status of the Agnew investigation and that a poll of these persons failed to uncover a source. President Nixon's aides at San Clemente, Calif., denied the leaks were coming from the White House. Reports that the White House might be involved are "totally false," a spokesman said.

Agnew has expressed anger over the leaks. He called a news conference early in the week after Time Magazine reported, quoting Justice Department sources, that Agnew appeared certain to be indicted as a result of the investigation into an alleged Maryland kickback scheme.

Judge asks addition to TF building

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A District Court Judge has notified the Twin Falls county commissioners the county's six-year old Judicial Building is too small.

Judge Theron W. Ward asked the commissioners in a letter early this week to use some of the county's more than $400,000 in annual revenue sharing money to build an addition to the structure. The commissioners said Thursday they would meet with court officials and take the request under advisement.

Ward's letter "cites the ever increasing case load" of Magistrate Court as the reason for his request. A reform of the state's judicial system over two years ago is responsible for much of the increased workload being handled in Twin Falls, according to responsible officials.

The judge's letter suggested the addition of two new judge's chambers, one courtroom one jury room and restroom, all to be contained in an addition to the northeast of the present building.

Most of the work load increase is in the magistrate court which was created as of January, 1971. At the time the county built the judicial building all city police and justices cases were being handled in city police courts and justice courts located elsewhere in the county. But the reform brought the cases together in one magistrate court in the county seat.

County clerk and recorder Harold Lancaster said today the county knew the new system would increase the workload in Twin Falls but was unable to determine how much until the system had been in operation.

"When the county built the judicial annex we had only a probate court to house in the county building. The space designed for one probate judge and a maximum of three girls, now serves two magistrate judges and seven girls. They are almost sitting on one another's laps," Lancaster said.

Commissioner Merl Leonard said Thursday Judge Ward was "just advising us of the future needs" of the court. He said there should be a "meeting of the minds" between the commissioners and court judges.

In his letter, Judge Ward advised the commissioners: "As you are aware, the ever increasing case load in Magistrate Division of this Court has necessitated additional deputy clerks to perform her clerical functions. This, plus the fact that traffic cases and attorneys must proceed through actual working area has created a very difficult and congested situation which seems impossible of relief with the present facilities."

Hostages held by gunman

Seen...

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—A gunman reportedly expelled from the United States earlier this year threatened "as a last resort" today to blow up a bank where he has held four employees hostage and kept police at bay with a submachine gun for more than 24 hours. The gunman, 22-year-old Kay Robert Hansson, was holed up in the bank today with the hostages, three women and a man in their 20s, as hundreds of police in bulletproof vests, helmets and armed with submachine guns encircled the building. Clark Olofsson, 26, convicted in a 1966 police slaying and bank robbery who on Hansson's orders was released from prison and brought to the bank Thursday, said in a telephone interview from within the building today the robber is desperate.

Olofsson said police told Hansson he was free to leave if he released his hostages, but that Hansson refused. "Hansson was then offered to leave with two of the hostages and myself, but again refused," Olofsson said. "My job is to negotiate with the robber and to prevent a massacre," he said. "I don't want anyone to get hurt. The police have not got a chance. The man will never give up. The best thing to do would have been to let him leave and then deal with him somewhere in the country."

Astros prepare for spacewalk

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Skylab 2 astronauts donned their spacesuits today for their second spacewalk, a repair mission to install a new set of gyroscopes to keep the space station under control and to reload cameras which have been studying the sun. "Everything's going fine," said mission commander Alan L. Bean. "We're moving right along." Mission Control told the pilots all environmental systems and cooling lines looked fine for the walk.

Rookie astronauts Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma will make the spacewalk while Bean remains inside to assure that the orbiting station stays on course while the gyros are out of service. Flight controllers said Lousma would float out of the 100-ton orbiting ship first, inspect the faulty gyros and then return to the station and drag out a 22-foot long cable connected to the fresh set which are mounted inside. He'll unplug six of the original nine gyros and plug in the new ones.

Shellings kill S. Viets

SAIGON (UPI)—The South Vietnamese government, in the first such report since the Jan. 28 cease-fire, today listed its 24-hour battle deaths as double the total inflicted on the Communists. Military command spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien reported 38 South Vietnamese combat deaths and said most apparently resulted from shellings. Hien said more than half of the 83 truce violations in the 24 hours ending at noon today were Communist shellings. In addition to the 38 government soldiers and 19 Communists killed in combat during the period, six civilians were killed. Three government soldiers were killed and 15 wounded Thursday when their truck convoy struck land mines on Highway 1.

Bomb exploded in London

LONDON (UPI)—A parcel bomb hidden in a hollowed out book exploded with a white flash on the 22nd floor of London's new stone, glass and steel Stock Exchange today. It was the sixth day of London bomb attacks attributed to an extremist wing of the Irish Republican Army, and the two victims were the first persons injured by the 35 bombs stores, offices and subway stations since Sunday. It was a bright sunlit morning and an army of secretaries, clerks and bowlerhatted bankers had just arrived from the subway and railroad stations to fill the City of London, the capital's inner enclave housing Britain's major financial institutions. In a gray-carpeted executive office, room 2201, Miss Joanna Knight, 25, began sorting the day's mail. She reached for a large white envelope addressed to the Stock Exchange's Secretary General, George W. Brind, and slit it open.

TF school bond proposal to meet needs

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — The proposed Twin Falls School District bond election is designed to meet essential needs of newer buildings and more space, according to School Supt. George Staudaher.

District trustees unveiled a new, $3,249 million six-point proposal early this week. A public meeting has been set for Thursday, at the Vera C. O'Leary Junior High at 8 p.m. with the bond election tentatively set for mid-October, according to Staudaher.

The bond, Twin Falls first since 1962, proposes the following:
— A new 24 classroom elementary school just north of the High school. Estimated cost of the school to hold 600 students is $1,453,500.
— A four-classroom addition to Morningside and Harrison Elementary Schools, each costing $240,000. The walls of the four classrooms would connect to create a common "resource center" housing materials used by all the classrooms in the addition.
— A four-classroom addition to Robert Stuart Junior High including two project rooms, costing $180,000 total.
— A 5,950 square foot physical education (P.E.) teaching center, similar to a gym without lockers and showers, costing $178,500.
— Depiction of the old portion of Lincoln School and replacement of 12 classrooms at a total cost of $557,000.
— Speaking of the need for more space, Staudaher said some of the upper level elementary grades have as many as 38 students per classroom and that in the junior high school 35 students per classroom is "not uncommon."
He said the proposed expansion was not only to meet present needs, but also to meet projected needs five to 10 years ahead. Twin Falls has been growing at a steady pace of two to three per cent per year, he added.

Regarding the need for the P. E. teaching station the bond calls for, Staudaher said 626 students had pre-enrolled for gym classes at Robert Stuart this year, while the present gym is only designed for 550 people.
The portion of Lincoln School which is to be demolished was built in 1908, Staudaher said. He added the bond proposal was a composite of plans made by community patrons, a citizens committee, architects, school administrators and the district board of trustees.

In addition to construction costs, the bond will include an undetermined amount of money for purchase of property for an anticipated new junior high school. Staudaher said the site purchase is likely to cost around $250,000, raising the bond to nearly $3.5 million.
Dr. Howard Ronk, chairman of the school board, said a few people had advocated construction of a new junior high school to be included in the school bond proposal.
The bond proposal will be presented to the school board for adoption Sept. 11.

Ronnie and friend

Puppet show slated at TF library on Saturday

TWIN FALLS — A highlight of the Saturday puppet show at the Twin Falls library this week will be a 13-year old ventriloquist, Ronnie Pearey. He and his friend, Winchell, will participate in the weekly program in the children's section of the library with performances at 9:30 and 11 a.m. A student at O'Leary Junior High School, Ronnie has been working with ventriloquist acts for several years having made his first "dummy" from wood and having now graduated to the more professional appearing "Winchell." The two participated in the talent show at O'Leary last spring and have made other appearances in the area. They plan a career in entertainment.

Other features of the Saturday program include the puppeteers, Abbey and Lance Carpenter with a number of presentations adapted for puppet programs.

A limited number of free seating tickets is available for the event. All pre-school or grade school children are invited to attend. Due to the limited seating space in the picture book section, only those children with seating tickets will be admitted to this area. Others must view the show from outside the picture book section. The area will close promptly at 9:30 and 11 a.m. with no admissions during the performances.

Suit filed over alleged debts

TWIN FALLS — A suit to collect about $42,000 in alleged back debts has been filed in Fifth District Court against Sun Valley Processors, Inc., Twin Falls.
The suit was filed by Seacrest Industries of Idaho, Inc., the parent company of Royal Catfish Industries, Inc., which operates a trout and catfish farm on the north bank of the Snake River west of Twin Falls.
In the suit it is alleged that Sun Valley Processing purchased $89,685.85 worth of catfish and trout from Seacrest during the "past year or so."
To date, Seacrest alleges, it has received $47,458.61 but is still owed $42,227.24.
Sun Valley Processors president Edward N. Bailey is named as a co-defendant in the suit. Seacrest alleges that "on several occasions Edward N. Bailey has personally guaranteed the payment of said debt."

In addition to the alleged remaining debt, Seacrest seeks interest and costs of the suit.

Sen. Sam rejects Nixon's rhetoric

SHELBY, N.C. (UPI) — Senate Watergate committee chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said Thursday President Nixon has failed to provide the nation with an adequate answer to questions raised by Watergate.

"The President's statements so far have consisted of rhetoric and denials," Ervin told a news conference. "They have not been helpful to the investigation."

Rejecting Nixon's call for an end to the hearings, the senior North Carolina senator said he could think of "no more important business" than searching for the truth behind the break-in and bugging of Democratic national headquarters.

"We have received evidence indicating men entrusted with political power undertook to destroy the process by which the President of the United States is elected," Ervin said. "Watergate is one of the most important aspects of the business of the people," he said in an apparent reference to Nixon's call to get on with the "people's business" and ignore the incident.

"I cannot think of anything more important."

In a news conference here Ervin said he does not believe Congress will attempt to change Nixon's mind on the issue of turning over tapes of Watergate conversations by adopting delaying tactics or refusing to confirm presidential appointees. He will vote for Henry A.

Kissinger as the new secretary of state, he added.

Ervin also rejected a Nixon assertion that the work of Watergate was bogging down the wheels of Congress. Only a few senators, he said, were involved with the committee and even these had continued with their Senate work.

Nixon's contention that his ability to govern, or that of his successors, would be hampered by releasing evidence to a congressional probe, said Ervin, was "absurd."

Houston teenagers indicted

HOUSTON (UPI) — A grand jury returned three more murder indictments Thursday against two teen-agers accused of taking part in the nation's worst mass murder of the 20th century. A county official said the jury has not completed its investigation into the deaths of 27 boys.

The indictments were returned against Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, and David Owen Brooks, 18, who are charged with assisting Dean Arnold Corll, 33, in the sex-torture slayings of 27 boys. Henley said he shot and killed Corll, ending the three-year string of murders.

The grand jury indicted Brooks for the deaths of James Eugene Glass, 14, Ruben W. Watson, 17, and Johnny Delome, 16, all of Houston. The grand jury also indicted Henley in connection with Delome's death.

The indictments said Glass was killed New Year's Day of 1961, Watson was slain Aug. 20, 1972, and Delome was murdered May 15, 1972.

Watson, Glass and Delome are among 13 bodies identified,

Barricaded airman responds to talk

EDWARD AFB, Calif. (UPI) — Four persons have talked to Airman Carl Williams by telephone in an effort to persuade him to give up a five-day vigil in a barricaded barracks room.

Williams, 19, of St. Louis, locked himself inside the barracks with a gun Monday, fired several shots that day and the next and has refused to leave.

Williams' sister and brother-in-law, the base psychiatrist and a noncommissioned "equal opportunity monitor" have been speaking off and on with the airman.

UAW pushes pension increases

DETROIT (UPI) — United Auto Workers Vice President Douglas Fraser, now negotiating a new contract with Chrysler Corp., said Thursday his union will push pension increases for those already retired, and for protection of those pensions with a cost of living allowance.

Fraser also said the UAW will place heavy emphasis on the 30-and-out retirement pension plan, whereby auto workers can quit after 30 years of service, no matter what age, and receive pension.

"We're going to lay the whole thing out on the table," said Fraser. "We think it's going to be a very important day."

Fraser said UAW President Leonard Woodcock and Chrysler's vice president of personnel, William O'Brien, would both be present.

Caril Ann Fugate may be paroled

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — The state parole board today recommended that the life sentence of Caril Ann Fugate be commuted to a definite term, paving the way for her possible parole.

Miss Fugate, 30, was 14 years old when she accompanied Charles Starkweather on a murder spree in which 11 persons were slain in Nebraska and Wyoming. Starkweather was electrocuted in 1959 and Miss Fugate sentenced to life imprisonment.

Miss Fugate will immediately be eligible for parole, though it will not be automatic. The state pardon board still will have to act favorably, and the parole board will then have to make a final decision following the pardon board's action.

Miss Fugate appeared at a three-hour hearing before the parole board Wednesday. At the hearing, 33 persons testified in favor of her application for a reduced sentence while five, including four relatives of two of the victims, appeared against.

Her attorney, A. James McArthur, reformatory officials and fellow members of the Church of the Nazarene in York testified that she was an excellent example of how prison rehabilitation works.

McArthur said Miss Fugate's continued imprisonment would serve no purpose.

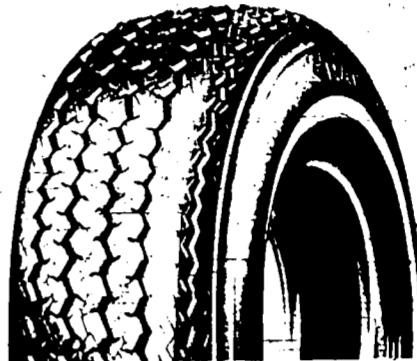

Nebraska state Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha sent a letter Thursday to the parole board recommending a commutation of Miss Fugate's sentence.

He told the three member board she could adjust to the outside world, with the help of church members.

Relatives of two of the victims appealed to the board to keep her in prison for the rest of her life, saying that was clearly the intent of the trial jury.

Leveling of prices seen after freeze

By C.W. ORR
 By United Press International
 One expert believes beef prices will not necessarily rise when the freeze ends Sept. 12. Another says an increase in food prices should follow the freeze, but then level off.
 Gary I. Seevers, top aide to the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said Thursday cattlemen are overstocked because they are withholding beef during the freeze. This beef will come to market when the freeze ends, he said. Seevers would not say flatly that beef prices would go down—but "it would not be impossible." He said it "would take a number of weeks to work off" the backlog of cattle. Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz predicted a leveling off after an initial price rise when the freeze ends. He said higher production of crops and cattle and reduced inflation would help ease food price increases. Increases in 1974 should be 5 per cent or less, Butz added. Butz' forecast was disputed by Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers. He pointed out that the Agriculture Department's projections are subject to error. The final 1973 food prices now are forecast to run 20 per cent over 1972 prices, compared with an original department forecast last fall of 3.5 per cent.

 John T. Dunlop, director of the Cost of Living Council, said "There are still a number of elements in the equation that are still unknown." He cited weather as one and noted that many crops have not yet been harvested.

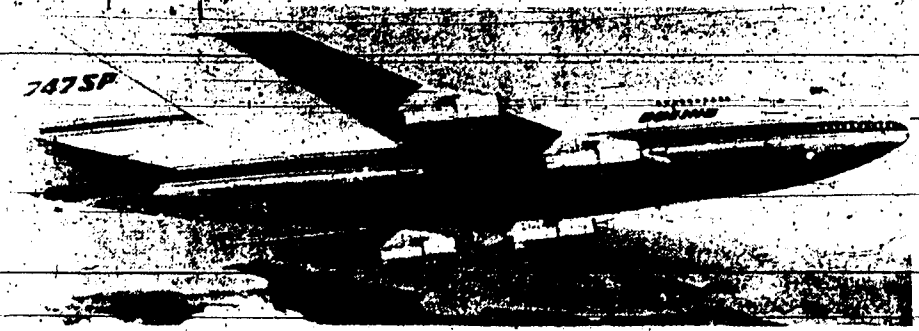

In other news of prices, New York City school officials have dropped plans to serve only three meals with meat a week and will continue serving four in school cafeterias, Walter Kraus, director of supportive services for the Board of Education, said a new budget allowing for higher food costs would be made for submission to the City Council.

Agriculture Department economists predicted that livestock feed grain reserve stocks would fall to 30 million tons in the fall of 1974. That would be the lowest in 21 years. They blamed heavy domestic and export sales.
 At the same time, department officials announced that high demand may force cuts to about one-third of the 1972-73 level of wheat in the food for peace program.

Uncertainty slows farmers

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—As long as the Nixon administration keeps farmers guessing about economic strategy, no "all out" effort to produce more food can be expected, according to American Farm Bureau Federation President William J. Kuhfuss.
 "Farmers and ranchers do not know from one day to another whether the Nixon administration, responding politically to uninformed consumer pressure, will announce export controls on wheat and feed grains," Kuhfuss told the Charles Town Chamber of Commerce Thursday night.
 Kuhfuss said the President's Food Advisory Committee to the National Cost of Living Council, of which he is a member, did not know what new methods President Nixon planned to employ until they were reported by the news media.

 "Farmers are by nature risk takers, but with the government controlling the odds through price manipulation, agricultural producers are operating under a major handicap," he said.
 The Farm Bureau head warned that overseas purchasers would look elsewhere for food if the administration elected to place import restrictions on crops, such as the one imposed on soybeans.

Boeing readies jr. jumbo jet

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—The Boeing Co. is ready to manufacture a junior jumbo jet which would fly higher, faster, farther and at less cost than the 747 or any other wide-body airliner.
 Boeing said Thursday that the new 747SP (special performance) would be 47 feet shorter than current 747s and would carry 288 to 360 passengers, 100 less than the basic 747.

Steaks pawned

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—It had to happen—a pawnshop says a man pawned three steaks.
 Donald Vingino, co-owner of the Arizona Traders Pawn Shop, said Thursday he gave the man $5 for three U.S.D.A. choice T-bone steaks and promised to hold them for 30 days in a freezer at the shop.
 "We'll take most anything of value," said Vingino. "If he doesn't come back I'll eat them."

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone LDS Seminary class will begin Tuesday, Aug. 29, at 7:25 a.m. at the church.

All high school age youths are eligible and welcome to attend the class, according to Bishop LaMar Duffin.

Seminary classes are held each school day, prior to the public school opening hour. Vacation periods will correspond with the public school system.

Jerome church bid opening set

JEROME — The LDS Church of Jerome will open bids Aug. 31 for the new LDS church which will be built southeast of Jerome, according to Ross Lee, co-chairman of the building committee.

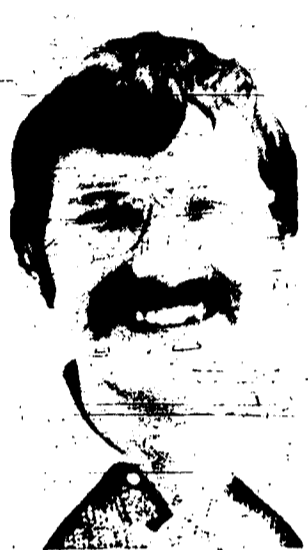

Lee said they have received bids from Arrington Brothers Construction, Neilsen and Company and Miller Construction Co.

The First ward has raised about $50,000 and the Second ward $45,000 for the building fund, Lee said.

He noted that the total cost of the project will be considerably higher than the originally estimated cost due to the increase in the price of building materials as well as labor. The first cost estimate was $160,000.

The new church will be built on six acres of land between East Avenues B and C which were purchased as the site after three years of negotiating and several complaints were raised by Jerome area residents who objected to the location of the church.

Lee explained that the streets will be extended to the Sunday evening a communion service will be offered members and friends during the 7 p.m. worship service. Small groups will be served communion by the pastor at the altar of the church.

'Rough' bulletin issued by clergyman

By REV. LESTER KINSOLVING

EAST BRIDGEWATER, MASS. — It was without a doubt the most unique church bulletin in modern ecclesiastical history.

How many other church bulletins have been printed on sandpaper?

It was mailed from the venerable (founded 1723) First Parish Unitarian Church here, and it advised that minister Paul John Rich's Sunday sermon topic would be: "The Abrasiveness of Life."

The Rev. Mr. Rich, an elfin young Harvard alum, has an absolute genius for generally hilarious abrasiveness.

He had hardly arrived in 1962, for example, when he publicly proposed to a generally thunderstruck populace (8,000) that the town change its name, so as to honor early town father Myles Standish.

"Besides, some people refer to us as East Bilgewater!" he remarked cheerily and apparently oblivious to the massive Yankee resistance.

Then there was the matter of the mural, a 25-yard-history of the town which was installed just in front of the church, adjacent to the town common (city square). This intrigued everyone — initially.

Then, someone asked about one of the scenes in the town's early history, which showed a young boy seemingly wrestling with a pig. "Oh, that was the boy that the town fathers burned at the stake for beastiality," explained history-buff Rich. "At least they didn't burn the sow!"

Almost immediately after arriving here, the Rev. Mr. Rich made the discovery that the town common had been owned by his church for 240 years. On this common is the large Civil War memorial in front of which the local American Legion post has for years been holding Memorial Day services.

On Memorial Day of 1972, however, the Legionnaires were rendered near-apoplectic by the large granite tombstone which the Rev. Mr. Rich erected just five yards from the Civil War memorial.

"VIETNAM AN AMERICAN TRAGEDY AN APOLOGY FOR WHAT WE DID"

Also enraged by this unique memorial was Boston's Admiral J. C. Wylie, who abruptly canceled a concert by the U.S. Navy Band, which was scheduled for the bandstand on Rich's Unitarian Common.

Undaunted, Pastor Rich substituted his church's own excellent 25-piece brass band — which opened the concert with "Anchors Aweigh."

This rousing number, announced the Rev. Mr. Rich, was dedicated to Admiral Wylie, because: "I guess after you've been told you're God for 20 years you begin to believe it!"

Rich's congregation has grown from 10 to 200 and the church's property from one to fifteen buildings, on 200 acres. Most of these buildings are combination museums (including perhaps the world's most extensive Boy Scout museum) and residences for the elderly, giving the area the appearance of a cross between Colonial Williamsburg and Knotts Berry Farm.

Most of the townspeople are fascinated (or enraged, or terrified) in wondering what on earth this uninhibited clergyman will do or say next. For among other pithy public statements, the Rev. Mr. Rich, (who is perhaps the only Unitarian minister in the nation who is active in both the Boy Scouts and the Masonic Lodge) has delivered himself of the following:

"Most Unitarians around here believe that if God ever did have a son, He certainly would have sent him to Harvard."

"Our heritage as Unitarians includes the Lutherans of Iceland — who, you know, don't believe in the Trinity either."

"I run this church and I have never made any secret of it. I doubt very much if we would all feel more a part of it if it was run by a junta of five families, as it was when I came here. Should nurses aides run the hospital?"

A thought for the day: American author Albert Perhune said: "Win without boasting, lose without excusing."

Graham urges President to increase conferences

LONDON (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham said Thursday President Nixon should hold more news conferences. He said he doubts Nixon or anyone knows or ever will know the whole truth about the Watergate affair.

"But I believe it will have a great cleansing effect on the United States," he said.

Graham made the comments at a news conference called to announce "Spree '73" — a Bible training event he will lead here next week.

Graham at first said he would not answer questions about Watergate or other political matters. But when one British reporter asked, "Do you think Nixon has come unstuck?" Graham retorted, "No, I don't think he has come unstuck. One certainly did not get that impression from yesterday's press conference."

Graham said he saw part of it on British television after his arrival in London Wednesday evening.

DEAR ABBY: I am serious about a young man I've been dating for nearly a year. Since we've been dating he has been slowly losing his hair. He is far from bald, Abby. His hairline is receding a little, and he's getting a bit thin on top, but he certainly doesn't give the impression of being bald. I knew he was rather self-conscious about it, but I never realized how much until last evening when he showed up in a full topset. I nearly fell over.

It is so full and unnatural looking it looks ridiculous. He thinks it looks great, and it has given him so much confidence, I hate to tell him the truth. But I want the old HIM back. What should I do?
MISSING HIM

DEAR MISSING: I don't care if a man wears a rug he can fly to Bagdad on, if HE thinks it looks great and it has restored his confidence, keep quiet. In time, you might suggest he have it "trimmed" a bit—or replaced with a more natural-looking one. But for the moment, don't undermine his confidence.

DEAR ABBY: Something bothers me. Whenever I clean out my closets and drawers I have a lot of clothes, shoes, purses, and lingerie I want to discard because I know I'll never wear them again, but I honestly don't know what to do with them. I hate to throw them away so I just pack them in boxes and store them in the attic. Most things are good as new. Some I hardly wore—they are "mistakes" I made by buying them.

I don't want to offer them to friends, relatives, or neighbors because I don't want them to think I think they are "in need." Don't recommend Goodwill or The Salvation Army. I want to give my things away on a more personal basis.

I'd like to hand them over to the people who can use them so I will feel that I have been personally charitable. Can you help me?
THINGS TO GIVE

DEAR THINGS: You don't say how old you are, or what size you are, but every church auxiliary is aware of "needy" families who could use whatever you have to give. (So is your local County Welfare Department.) Trust their judgment to give your things "directly" to needy people, and forego the satisfaction of personally handing it to one who is in need. (Accepting things can be humiliating.)

DEAR ABBY: I am doing time in Napanoch, N. Y. Finally I have been granted permission to write you! It took a year and a change to another facility to do it.

This letter is typewritten. I learned to type in prison. Besides this, I have learned that I am not the only one in my little world who wants a better life for himself. But some inmates are not yet awake to the fact that even in the worst of prisons there are programs for education and improvement for those who want them. I have been in the worst of prisons, and I found that as long as I behaved myself and respected the rules, I was fairly treated.

Much to my amazement, I got less respect from some of my fellow inmates! These are the same guys who spoke of getting it together and being concerned for one another. Some who called for brotherhood, and being treated like men—not animals, forget what being a man was when it came to riots—and I've been in several. I never was responsible for any of the uprisings in prisons, but I do know that most of them are lead into a blank wall!

There is an old saying: "If you can't do the time, don't do the crime!"

I have bid it to a much slam. Playing in clubs, he would have to lose a trump trick in addition to the heart trick taken by West at trick one.

Playing in diamonds, he simply ruffed the ace and bid it. Led a club to dummy, king, ace, and club back to his hand, and a third club to be ruffed by dummy's king of trumps.

On the third dummy's six of trumps, and led his first club to him. Should be play East for four trumps. Go the third time, a big one or should be ease with a high trump.

The correct percentage play was to ruff and bid. Not that it was affected. Either play was going to work for him and he rather fully slim was gain in total success from the start.

18th-hole provides key to L-M tournament success

CARY, N.C. (UPI)—Allen Miller said the fans crowded around the 18th tee at MacGregor Downs Country Club were like "a bunch of buzzards."

The fans huddled around the tee at the top of a long hill and watched golfer after golfer smack balls into a lake below. Miller's description was apt. The fans witnessed more misery in one afternoon than they would see on a week of TV soap operas.

Three of the men able to finesse the 18th Thursday were Brian "Buddy" Allin, Dave Stockton and Dave Eichelberger, who also finished the entire course with four-under-par 67s to share the first round lead in the $100,000 L&M Open. Miller and four others were just one shot back.

After today's second round, the top eight men in the L&M will leave the tournament for the $150,000 U.S. Professional Match Play Championship, which is to be played simultaneously with the final two rounds of the L&M on the same course Saturday and Sunday.

The 431-yard, par-4, 18th has a lake standing between the tee and a small peninsula fairway, which takes a severe dogleg right to the hole.

In Thursday's first round, the 18th hole recorded 29 bogeys, 21 double bogeys, one seven, one eight, one 12 (or 13, depending on whom you talk to), 11 birdies and 79 pars.

Stockton, a former PGA champion who won the Greater Milwaukee Open earlier this summer, said he's eager to get into the match play. He did it last year but was beaten in the second round by Babe Hiskey.

"I'd like another crack at it," he said, adding that playing the first two rounds of the L&M and then jumping into match play might give him an advantage over the eight prequalified players, including Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf, Lee Trevino and U.S. Open champ Johnny Miller.

"He said the 18th is 'not a bad hole if you learn how to play it.' Eichelberger, who parred it en route to his 67, said, 'I don't think it's a very good hole, I think it's really a good golf course until you get to that hole.'

"There are only two players in the field who can consistently make it and that's Nicklaus and Weiskopf," said Eichelberger, whose last win was at Milwaukee in 1971.

"Eighteen scares me to death," said Allin, who has been slumping since his run-away 23-under-par victory in the Florida Citrus Open. "If I play it the rest of the tournament and make three bogeys, I'd be happy."

Allin, Stockton and Eichelberger were one stroke ahead of Miller, Dan Sikes, J.C. Snead, Bert Greene and Lee Wykle, who toured the course with three-under 68s.

Two strokes off the pace was another group of five headed by Ken Still, Byron Comstock and Roger Watson, the host pro and a man who knows how to play the 18th—he got one of the birdies.

Larry Ziegler recorded a grotesque 12 at the 18th and promptly withdrew from the tournament. Some observers said it could have been 13, but that they could have lost count.

Rentzel suspension upheld by judge

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A Superior Court judge Thursday upheld NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle's suspension of wide receiver Lance Rentzel of the Los Angeles Rams.

"It is clear that the defendants have sought for years to establish a standard of public conduct for professional football participants, including players," ruled Judge David A. Thomas, who added:

"This standard includes the portrayal of players as high type, admirable young men who are worthy of the respect and emulation of the young."

Thomas said Rentzel "long has been aware of the standard" and was not denied due process by the NFL.

Rentzel, 29, was suspended by Rozelle for conduct detrimental to professional football following his conviction on a marijuana possession charge.

The former Oklahoma University star asked Thomas to overturn the suspension on grounds Rozelle, the NFL and the Rams "conspired to monopolize, control and restrain trade and commerce in the major league professional football industry."

"I'd almost rather play my way in," Stockton said. "The guys that have to qualify will know this course. It's not a course that you learn in one practice round. I think those that have to qualify have a good shot at it."

Stockton birdied the 18th in a round that included two missed putts of three feet or less for bogeys, an eagle and four birdies.

Pastorini's late TD pass lets Houston surprise Dallas 27-24

HOUSTON (UPI)—Dan Pastorini threw a desperation 24-yard touchdown pass to Fred Willis on fourth down with 1:12 left Thursday night to give the Houston Oilers a 27-24 victory over the Dallas Cowboys and their first triumph in 15 games.

Pastorini had scrambled seven yards to the Dallas 24 on third down to set up the winning loss, which came under the pressure of a heavy Dallas pass rush.

Pastorini, the Oilers No. 1 choice in 1971, tossed TD passes of 26 and 16 yards to former Cowboy Billy Parks and Skip Butler hit field goals of 25 and 42 yards for Houston.

Craig Morton came off the Dallas bench in the second half and threw an eight-yard touchdown pass to Otto Stowe and set up a 25-yard touchdown run by Robert Newhouse with a 50-yard strike to rookie wide receiver Drew Pearson.

Larry Robinson scored from eight yards out and Toni Fritsch booted a 26-yard field goal for the other Cowboy points.

Morton relieved Roger Staubach in the second half with Houston leading 13-10 and quickly sparked a scoring drive, capped by an eight-yard TD pass to Stowe.

Later in the second quarter Pastorini hit running back Lewis Jolley with an 11-yard pass and Billy Parks with a 20-yard toss. Two plays later tight end Dave Parks caught a 37-yard Pastorini pass on the Dallas 31. Pastorini followed with a 26-yard touchdown pass to Billy Parks in the corner of the end zone.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) In the morning plan how to make your life more worthwhile and successful. Later you can get the backing you need from an associate. It's important to answer a letter without delay.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make your collections and payments early so that you have free time later in the day for the activities you enjoy. Increased happiness is possible with loved one tonight. Keep sober.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make new arrangement with an associate before putting joint project into operation. Use more diplomacy with one who is apt to be very difficult to handle. Then you get right results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take care of routine duties early and then come to a better understanding with a partner who is important in your future plans. Don't give in to a temptation to do nothing today.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can get much accomplished in the morning, so keep busy, and relegate fun to some other time. In the evening show others that you have a charming sense of humor. Be more cheerful.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those clever young persons who likes to acquire valuable property, and there could be a tidy fortune built up early in life. Later generosity will be great and others will benefit by your progeny's activities. Teach early to respect the feelings of others. Give ethical training at an early age.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Dieters, please note. To cut calories, choose vegetables that: 1. Grow above the ground. 2. Are green. 3. Need no paring or scraping. Got that? Such as cauliflower, cucumbers, broccoli, asparagus, green beans, green peppers, lettuce and cabbage. So advise a medical fellow who specializes in obesity cases.

Deeply regret to report that correspondents, reporters, authors, editors and critics the younger. Researchers for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company report that younger than professional fellows in other lines, at any rate. Reporters and correspondents are particularly vulnerable, it's said. Authors and critics live almost as dangerously as for editors, they survive the risks only slightly better than their crewmen.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS

Q. "Who's the most decorated American soldier of the Vietnam war?"

A. Lt. Joe Hooper. Besides other citations, he won the Medal of Honor in 1968, then went back into combat. Killed about 115 of the enemy.

Q. "How much of the Salvation Army's money comes to it through small donations in those street corner kettles at Christmas?"

A. About a nickel out of every dollar.

Q. "How fast does a newborn blue whale gain weight?"

A. Picks up about 200 pounds a day.

Q. "Who's the highest paid man in the country?"

A. Salaried man? Henry Ford II, it's said. Record indicates he pulled down wages plus bonuses to total $874,567 last year.

Q. "Is there a Santa Claus in China?"

A. There is. His name is Lau Khoong.

DOLPHINS

That dolphins can be trained to herd schools of fish has been reported. Big argument now is whether said dolphins should be rigged out with radio transmitters on their backs so men in boats can direct them. Some ecologists say no, such a technique would let fishermen strip the seas shortly. Other ecologists say yes, those dolphins could protect the fish from predators, the way dogs protect sheep. What's your stand on this matter?

Question repeatedly arises as to whether a woman dresses to please her husband, to interest other men, to satisfy herself, or to show off to other women. Researchers now say none of these reasons apply in many cases. Numerous women after age 30, they say, subconsciously pick dresses they think their fathers might have approved.

Was none other than Richard Wheeler who described the household cat as "A purring pet who sleeps away a goodly portion of the day -- so he can prow around and fight when we would like to sleep at night."

MAJOR HOOPLE

A MAN claiming to be James Cameron is led by Edmonton City detectives from the Edmonton Journal Newspaper, Alberta, Canada, Thursday afternoon, after claiming he would blow up the paper if they did not publish a written manifesto. (UPI)

Threat a Hoax

Paper threatened

EDMONTON, ALTA. (UPI) — A man who took over the Edmonton Journal and threatened to "blow the place to hell" with a bomb, was ordered to undergo medical examination today to determine if he can stand trial. "It was nothing but a hoax. I'd never hurt anybody," police said the man told them as they hustled him out of the newspaper building after a three-hour stand-off. Journal editor Andrew Snaddon evacuated 500 staff members from the building after the man said he would blow up the newspaper unless it published some articles he had written. Police said a man invaded the Journal library and told employees he had a bomb in his satchel and would blow up the newspaper unless his articles were printed. Police said later the bag contained only "a few books." Journal production director Chad Ames said the man told him he had "enough dynamite to blow the place to hell."

Kidnap case may be hoax

ROME (UPI) — The attorney for the family of oil billionaire J. Paul Getty's grandson, missing since he was reported kidnaped six weeks ago, conceded for the first time Thursday the whole thing may be a hoax. Lawyer Giovanni Iacovoni said the boy's mother, Mrs. Gail Getty, still believes her son has been abducted. But Iacovoni said in a telephone interview, "we also are considering many other hypotheses. He may have kidnaped himself to get money from his grandfather or it may be a joke or it may be for the publicity." J. Paul Getty Sr., the eccentric billionaire believed to be the richest man in the world, has refused to pay any ransom for his grandson and namesake, J. Paul Getty III. He said it would subject his 14 other grandchildren to the danger of kidnaping. The 16-year-old Getty, a ninth grade dropout, belonged to Rome's hippie set.

Newsprint delay reduces papers

By United Press International Shipments of newsprint that are arriving as late as four weeks behind schedule have forced some of the nation's newspapers to reduce the size of their editions and others to cut out entire issues. Ted Duffy, advertising manager of the Laramie (Wyo.) Daily Boomerang, said the last shipment of newsprint for his newspaper arrived a week late because of strikes against paper mills in Canada. "We thought we were going to be in a real bind," he said. John Lake, publisher of The St. Petersburg, Fla., Times Publishing Co., said the daily average of 200 columns of news in the St. Petersburg Times and the Evening Independent could be cut to 130 columns. Kenneth Fleming, general business and production manager of the Tulsa Daily World and Tulsa Tribune, said, "We hope we don't have to cut back on size, although it is getting real tough again. Shipments are running three-four weeks behind." The editor of the Sacramento Union, Pete Hayes, said, "We haven't been immediately affected by the newsprint shortage, but we are taking steps to reduce the waste of paper." The Arizona Republic and the Phoenix Gazette last Sunday discontinued their earliest edition and cut the number of papers available on newsstands and in vending machines. Several smaller Arizona newspapers said they were down to two weeks' worth of paper. John G. Trezevant, executive vice president for publishing for Field Enterprises Publishing in Chicago, said Field has reduced newsprint consumption by 10 per cent this year. William F. Landsey, executive director of the Colorado Press Association, said the Greeley Tribune, founded in the late 1800's by Horace Greeley, is not publishing on Saturdays to save newsprint. "One of the problems was new subscribers. The paper was averaging 40 pages more a week than last year, so the Saturday paper was given up," he said.

S. Viet orphans to be adopted

(c) New York Times Service NEW YORK — Two religious social service agencies, one Protestant and the other Roman Catholic, have begun programs to arrange the adoption of South Vietnamese orphans by American couples. The agencies are the Holt International Children's Fund, an evangelical Protestant organization in Eugene, Ore., and the Catholic Committee for Refugees of the United States. Catholic Conference, the administrative arm of the American bishops. The new programs are the latest in a series of recent efforts by public officials and private individuals to regularize procedures for the intercountry adoption of Vietnamese orphans. They bring to four the number of American agencies licensed by the South Vietnamese ministry of social welfare to arrange such adoptions. The others are Travelers Aid International Social Service of America, which has been operating in South Vietnam for several years and is now stepping up all of its programs there, and Friends of Children of Vietnam which was started by a group of housewives in Boulder, Colo. The old Hangtown Bell that was used to call vigilantes still hangs in Placerville, Calif.

Botulism poisoning 'scares' TF home canners

By BARTQUESNELL
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — Botulism poisoning has killed two people in Idaho in the past two months. The few cases that have been reported are scaring people from home canning, according to Twin Falls County economist Pat Maughan.

"Misinformation and ignorance are the causes of botulism," she said. "The few cases that have been reported are blown out of proportion. You never hear about the thousands of successes." During the 19-year period from 1950 to 1969 there were 14 cases of botulism reported in Idaho. Three people died during this period, all of them from the same outbreak in 1959 when contaminated beets were eaten by six persons.

State Health officer, Dr. John Mather, is worried that additional problems with botulism poisoning will appear with the increase in home canning.

Mather advises that all vegetables preserved by canning should be cooked in a pressure cooker. Only in a pressure cooker does the temperature rise enough to kill these bacteria in a reasonable period. Tomatoes are an exception to the rule because they have a high acid content. It is the low acid foods which can produce the botulinus toxin content. It is the low acid foods which can produce the botulinus toxin during storage. Pickles are safe because they are canned in an acid solution.

Mather also says that even though the pressure cooker has been used to process low acid foods, these products should be boiled before they are tasted. Foods which heat through quickly should be boiled 10 minutes and those that heat through slowly (spinach, other greens, and cream style corn) for 20 minutes.

Above 300 feet elevation the boiling time should be increased by one-third.

"Botulism is a silent killer,"

Ms. Maughan said. "It is tasteless and odorless and an amount the size of a pin head can be fatal."

Ms. Maughan says that she has received an increase in callers wanting information on home canning. Many of the calls come from out-of-staters who have moved here and who are canning for the first time.

"Most of the farm families here have canned for years," she said. "It is most economical and being afraid to can is like being afraid to drive a car — it's ridiculous."

She reiterated that if people just follow the directions issued by the USDA found in several booklets in her office available free there would be no problems. She also recommended that pressure gauges should be checked every year.

"The only trouble develops when a woman reads where corn should be cooked at 55 minutes at 12 pounds of pressure and decides to cook it only 25 minutes," Ms. Maughan said. "She is asking for trouble, then."

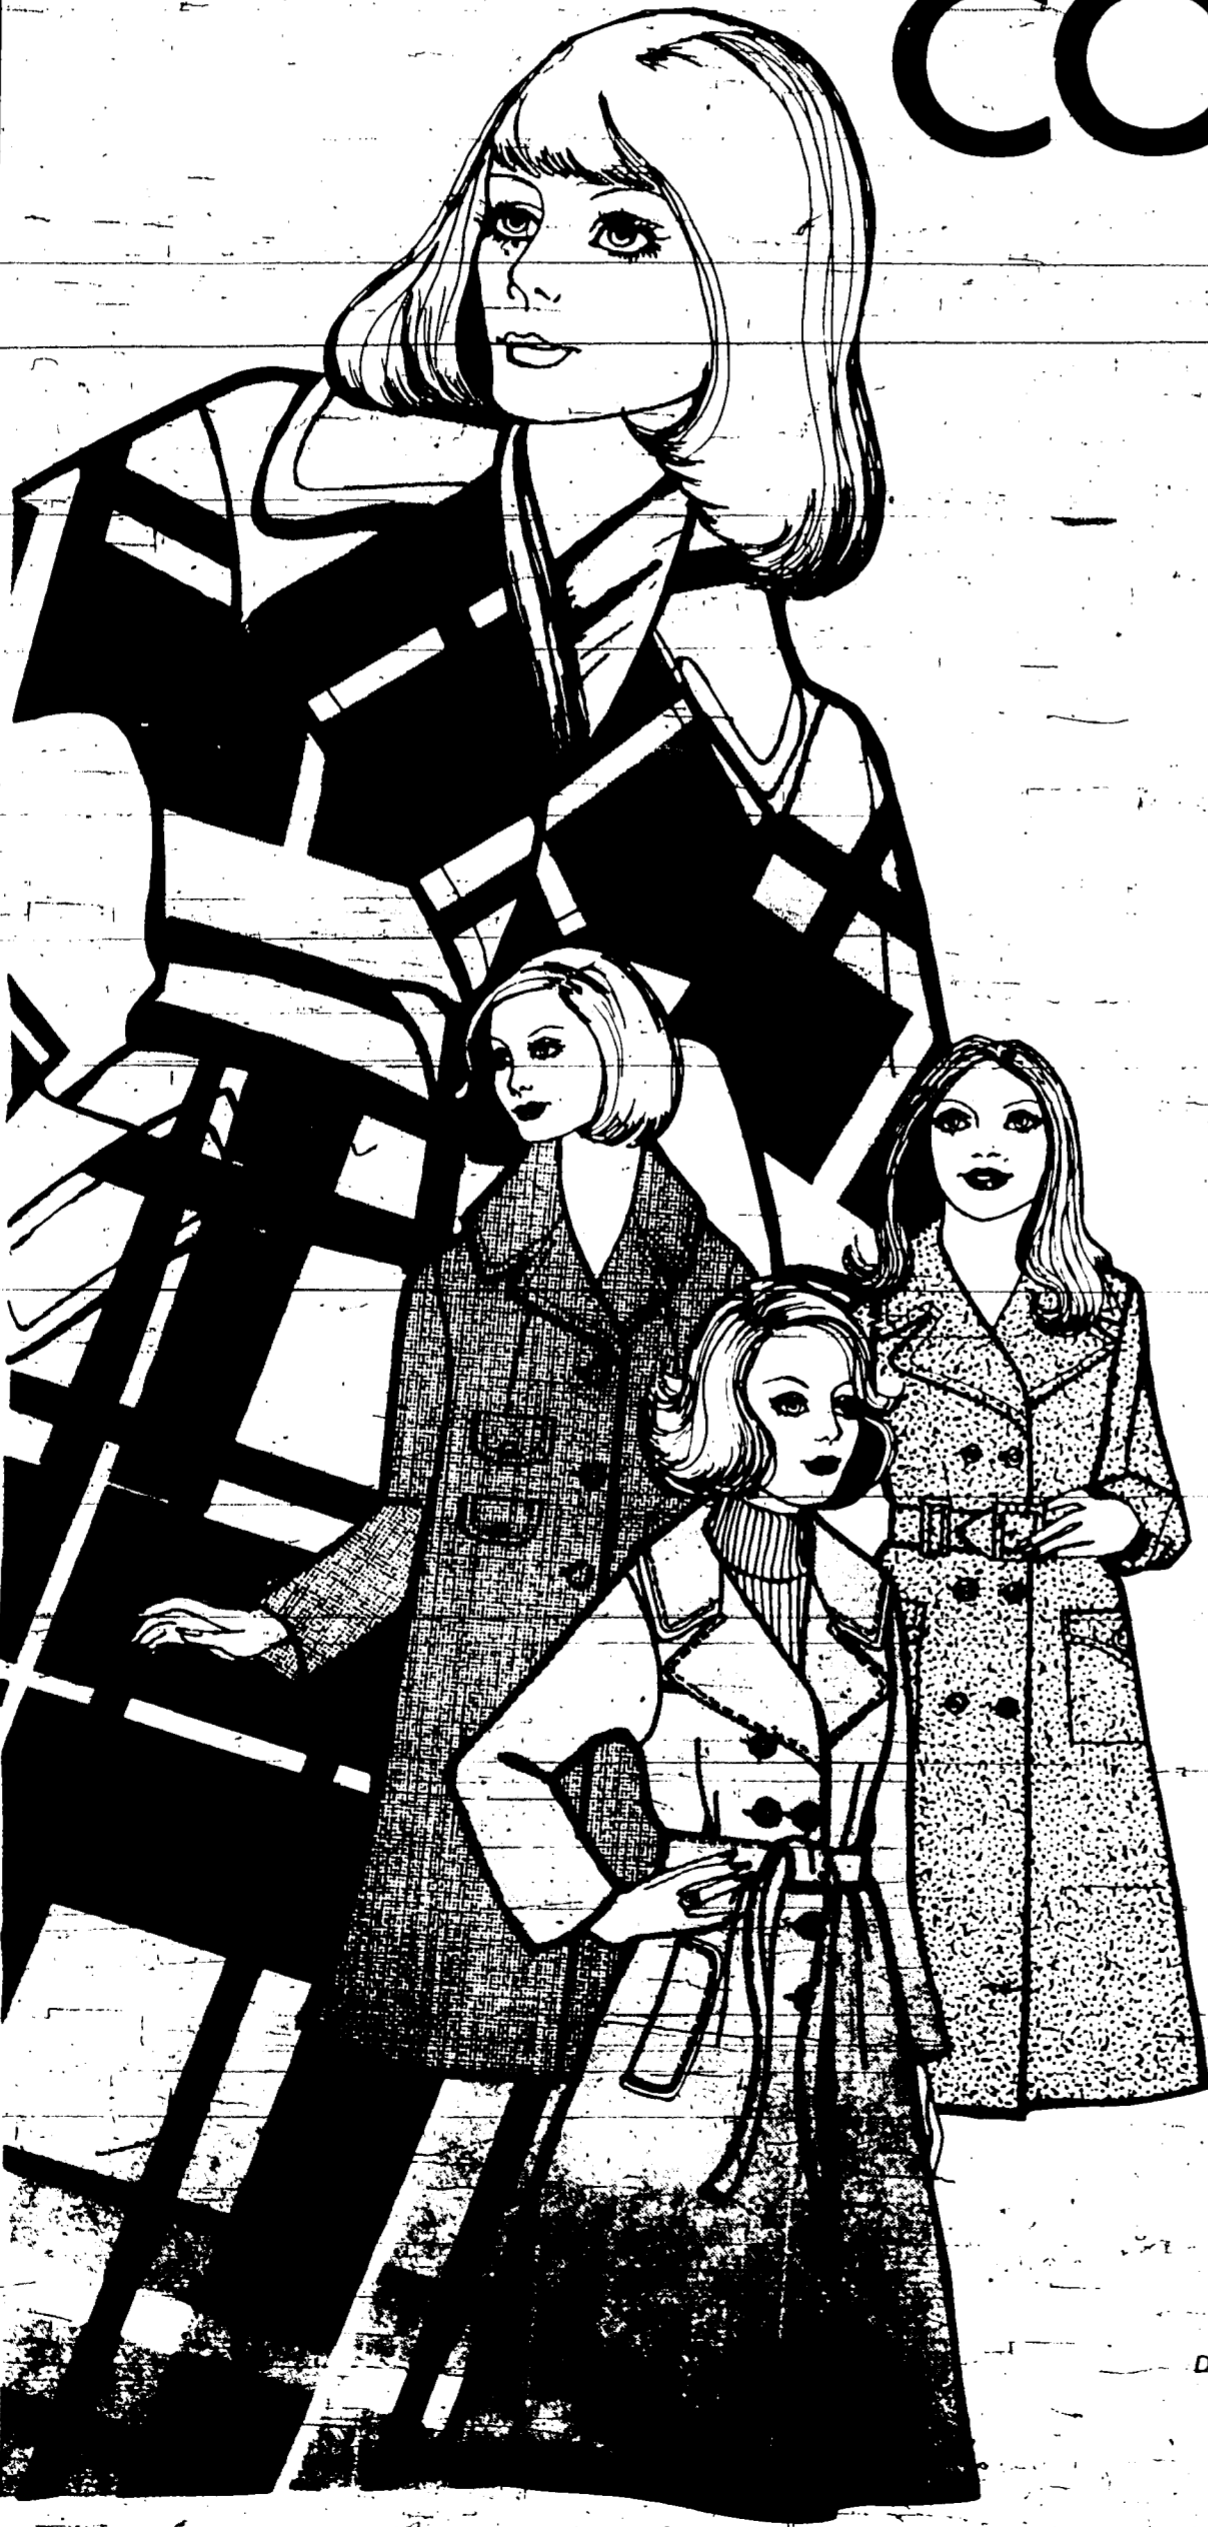

Dr. Mather stressed botulism poisoning is extremely deadly for both man and animals and cautioned people when disposing of spoiled foods one should keep in mind the botulism may be present. Boiling for 10 minutes in water containing one tablespoon of lye to each quart of water will destroy the botulinus toxin.
