Quake toll skyrockets

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The death toll in Tuesday's earthquake mounted steadily today and by dawn the Mexican presidency was reporting "about 500 dead." One Mexico City newspaper put the toll as 924 dead.

The Mexico City daily El Heraldo said 600 died. The El Sol said 924 were dead. Other counts ran between 400 and 600. At least 2,000 persons were reported injured and tens of thousands were left homeless.

As dawn broke survivors dug through the ruins of their homes. The dead were laid out in private homes, local hospitals and blankets under the streets. Some of them were still under the debris.

The death toll rose as reports came in from outlying villages and crews continued to clear the wreckage.

Rain ripped the area Tuesday night but cleared by dawn. Residents took little notice of it.

In the quake-stricken area surrounding the 18,700-foot Orizaba volcano debris stood still scattered on the street in several large towns and a multitude of villages.

Ambulances ran from the Orizaba Valley, Ciudad Serdan and other heavily-hit areas to hospitals in nearby state capitals. Traffic in the area was packed with volunteer cars carrying the Red Cross banner.

Orizaba officials were coordinating reports from outlying villages. Those who lost their homes stood in line outside the building waiting to report the losses.

Waverly Person of the National Earthquake Information Center in Boulder, Colo., said the quake appeared to be the worst in Mexico's modern history in terms of loss of life.

Interior Ministry spokesman Enrique Mendoza said 393 people were killed but that more could be added to the list of dead when rescuers finish digging through the rubble.

The early morning quake, centered in fault lines deep under Mexico's mountainous central spine, registered 7 on the Richter Scale—more powerful than the December, 1972 quake in Managua, Nicaragua that killed 5,000 persons. The Managua quake had a Richter intensity of 6.2.

Hardest hit in Tuesday's quake was the town of Orizaba, which was caught in the epicenter of the giant tremor. A three-story apartment building in the community of 50,000 persons 150 miles east-southeast of Mexico City collapsed, instantly killing more than 100 tenants asleep inside.

Thousands were left without homes. Red Cross officials said about 800 persons were injured. They estimated 100 persons died in Quecholac in Puebla State; 80 in Ciudad Serdan, 178 in Orizaba; two in Puebla and two in Cordoba in Veracruz State. Others died in scattered areas.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Abbie Hoffman, a Chicago Seven defendant and founder of the Youth International Party (Yippies), was jailed Tuesday night on charges of trying to sell $500,000 worth of cocaine. Jet crash kills 24

MADRID (UPI) — A U.S. Air Force C141 jet transport plane crashed and burst into flames Tuesday night on a landing approach to the huge Torrejon airbase near Madrid. The Air Force said today 24 of the 25 persons aboard died instantly in the fiery explosion. An Air Force spokesman said the sole survivor suffered a fractured leg and cuts, but had a good chance of living. It identified him as the plane's navigator, 1st Lt. William H. Ray, 25, of McGuire Air Force Base, N.J. The news agency said the passengers were families of U.S. servicemen living abroad and that they were on their way home.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Quarterback Joe Namath of the New York Jets, filed a $2.3 million suit against Sports Illustrated and Time Inc., for using his name without permission in advertisements for the magazine. Namath's suit, filed Tuesday, says from June, 1969, to the present, Sports Illustrated used his picture and name to advertise the magazine in other publications.

Agnew daughter threatened

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Susan Agnew, 26-year old daughter of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, cut short a trip she was making on the hospital ship SS Hope and returned home because of threats on her life in Brazil, it was disclosed today. Marsh Thompson, a spokesman for the vice president, said the family made "a judgment ... not to take any further risks" and to have Miss Agnew return home.

Nixon defenders blast Watergate investigators

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's lawyers charged today that the Senate Watergate Committee was conducting "a criminal investigation and trial," exceeding its authority.

In their latest legal brief supporting Nixon's refusal to turn over tape recordings of his Watergate-related conversations to either the committee or federal prosecutors, the President's lawyers said that to do so would violate Nixon's confidentiality with his advisers. The brief was made public at U.S. District Court this afternoon, prior to a ruling by Judge

John J. Sirica on a suit by Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox for access to the disputed tapes.

The White House brief was filed only a few minutes before the Senate committee formally asked Sirica to issue a declaratory judgment ordering Nixon to produce the tapes for perusal by the committee to try

In their answer to the committee's demand for the tapes, the President's lawyers once again contended that the courts lacked the power to compel Nixon to turn over the tapes.

Further, the lawyers said, the committee had exceeded the powers given when it was created by the Senate to investigate campaign practices in general, including the Watergate affair—the 1972 break-in of the Democratic national headquarters at the Watergate office building. "The investigation by (the committee) has been, in fact, a criminal investigation and trial conducted for the purpose of determining whether or not criminal acts have been committed and the guilt or innocence of individuals..." the White House brief said.

Consequently, the Nixon lawyers said, the resolution authorizing the investigation and the investigation itself "exceed the legislative powers granted to the Congress in Article 1 of the Constitution."

Samuel Dash, the Watergate committee chief counsel, indicated he expected Sirica to schedule arguments on the committee's request for a summary judgment, as he did before taking the Cox suit under advisement.

Arab extortion paid by airlines

By United Press International The Jerusalem Post said today four European airlines may have paid Arab guerrillas millions of dollars in protection money to prevent hijackings on their planes.

"The airlines have made a purely commercial calculation that it is cheaper to pay the terrorists for immunity than to employ effective, expensive security measures," the Israeli newspaper said.

Elsewhere, diplomatic sources in Cairo said today King Faisal of oil-rich Saudi Arabia has pledged unlimited money to bolster Egypt in the confrontation with Israel. And U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim, who arrived in Beirut, Lebanon, Tuesday on a Middle East tour, called the Middle East crisis "one of the most dangerous problems in the world."

"It is our duty to help solve this problem," Waldheim said, "but I cannot perform miracles."

Mao holds on

HONG KONG (UPI) — The Communist Party of China, meeting in secret session in Peking, held its 10th National Congress and unanimously reaffirmed the leadership of Mao Tse-tung and Premier Chou En-lai, according to a Communiqué issued today.

The congress, in effect, endorsed the Mao-Chou program aimed at improving relations with the United States and took the unusual step of denouncing the Soviet union by name.

The Congress, rumored for the past few weeks, was held from Aug. 24-28. It was unusual for two reasons: It was held in secret and it was much shorter than party congresses of the past.

The congress unanimously adopted a political report—a sort of state-of-the-nation address—by Chou, adopted a new party constitution and elected a new Central Committee, consisting of 195 full members and 124 alternates.

A communiqué broadcast by Peking Radio and the New China News Agency (NCNA) said 1,249 delegates, representing more than 28 million party members, attended the congress.

The lineup of the party leadership appeared little changed from what it had been since the downfall of the late Lin Biao almost two years ago, in September, 1971.

Lin, former Defense Minister and party vice chairman, was named specifically in the constitution adopted at the 9th Party Congress, in April 1969, as "close comrade-in-arms and successor" to Mao as party chief.

PAUL OSTYN seeks re-election

Ostyn will run; Gray may resign

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls City councilman Paul Ostyn said Tuesday he would seek a second term on the city's ruling body. At the same time, Mike Gray, mid-way through his first term on the council, acknowledged he was "thinking about" resigning from the position he won in an election two years ago. He said he would make a final decision this week.

Ostyn's announcement makes him the first incumbent to seek reelection. Mayor John Christoffersen has already said he will retire at the end of his current term, and newly-appointed councilman Henry Woodall hasn't yet announced his future political plans.

Ostyn said he wanted a second four-year term on the council because "we have begun certain proposals that I would like to see through to their completion."

Specifically, Ostyn placed "highest priority" on construction of a secondary sewage treatment plant and building a new fire station and police complex. He also said street reconstruction and maintenance and sidewalk improvement were projects he would like to help the council follow through on.

Ostyn said the council has been effective because the individual councilmen have been able to work well with each other. "We have had a very compatible council. We don't always agree, but we always have respect for one another's opinion," he said.

Gooding residents fight subdivisions

By BILL LAZARUS Times-News writer

HAGERMAN — Fearing contamination of springs and spoilage of the countryside, 70 Gooding County residents are going to court to fight the development of two Hagerman subdivisions.

Gooding County Commissioner John LeMoine plans to build 13 houses on 25 acres while a Twin Falls firm, Newton and Schafer, wants to construct 11 houses on 15 acres within miles of the proposed Malad Gorge State Park and Horse Fossil National Monument. Gooding County commissioners approved the subdivisions last May with LeMoine abstaining in the vote.

Opponents of the subdivision propose in a petition agricultural zoning prohibiting subdivisions less than five acres for the Snake River Valley between Malad River and the Bliss bridge. At present, Gooding County has no zoning ordinances although a committee was established in 1966 to draw up a zoning plan for the county.

Gooding County Commission Chairman Ben Glaumer said last week the "comprehensive zoning plan" probably will be ready this year. He said it had taken a long time to develop partly because local citizens drew it up on a volunteer basis without expert help.

Possible pollution of springs used for drinking water is the primary reason for the court challenge, according to Robert M. Brown, an initiator of the petition which 70 persons from the Bliss area have signed.

"Our feeling is that with a whole pile of septic tanks (in the valley) the chance of polluting drinking water is tremendous," Brown said. He said that the valley between Hagerman and Bliss has an underlying clay layer.

When sewage reaches the clay layer it will no longer be absorbed, but will run laterally toward the Hagerman springs, Brown said. Because of the clay peculiarity the area's soils, housing developments pose a threat, even though Idaho's sewage disposal requirements may be met, he added.

"According to the state board of health it is possible to install (in Hagerman Valley) sanitary systems according to present state regulations... (but) the board will not say what will happen within a few years if the valley is unsaturated with houses," Brown said, maintaining that no one really knows to what degree the water supply is threatened.

Soap car adviser faces prosecution

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — District Attorney Alex Hunter said Tuesday he may file charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor against a man who admitted he helped his nephew cheat to win the National Soap Box Derby.

Robert Lange Sr., whose son Robert Jr., 18, won the national derby in 1972, said he convinced the 1973 winner, James Gronen, 14, to install an electromagnet in his car to get a better start in the race.

Gronen was disqualified two days after he won the Aug. 18 finals held in Akron, Ohio.

Hunter said he and Summit County, Ohio, prosecutor Stephen Gabalac would decide if they would each file their own charges in their own states or whether one joint charge would be filed in Boulder.

"We're on the way to filing charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor," Hunter said.

Lange issued a five-page statement Tuesday in which he said cheating in soap box derbies is almost mandatory if a youngster has any hopes of winning.

"Anyone participating in derby races with eyes and ears open would soon learn that in order to get cars to Akron for the all-American derby and to seek to win the all-American derby the derby rules have been consistently and notoriously violated by some participants without censure or disqualification," Lange said.

"I determined that (Gronen) should build and install a magnetic nose so as to be competitive with the professional cars he would be racing against," Lange said.

He said he knew when he made the decision that the electromagnet violated Derby rules and "I consider it now to be serious mistake in judgment."

Soap box Derby cars start from a metal gate at the top of a steep hill. The magnet was installed in the nose of Gronen's car. When the metal plate was depressed, releasing the cars, Gronen allegedly activated the electromagnet by pushing a switch in the headrest with his helmet. The magnet's reaction to the metal starting gate had the effect of pulling the car out of the starting gate instead of it rolling freely down the hill.

Court may decide fate of Hagerman subdivision

"I would like to see all of Hagerman Valley on a centralized sewer system, but with the present population, this does not appear economically feasible," Bob Amoureux, environmentalist for the South Central District Health Department, said.

Amoureux said the Hagerman Valley has a wide range of soils including fine clay, coarse sand, fine silt loam, gravel and sand. In places the soil layer is 50 feet deep and well suited for sewage disposal.

A thin mantle of soil cover over lava rock in many parts of the valley does create a problem, Amoureux said. He maintained in these areas there is not enough soil for the sewage to cleanse itself as it "percolates" or sinks into the ground.

Regarding the proposed subdivisions, Amoureux said the sewage disposal plans are adequate, at least for the present. He said the grounds for disposal had been carefully surveyed and that in the two or three instances where lots were close to springs, the sewage would be piped away.

He maintained the board of health is more concerned with changing the "great number" of sewage systems in the Hagerman Valley which are not meeting regulations than with stopping developments which plan to meet the requirements. Because of current violations, a "goodly number" of the Hagerman springs are already polluted, he added.

Amoureux was unwilling to predict what would happen to the springs if many subdivisions are built in the valley. If a rapid increase in population occurs, he said, it would be "beneficial and highly desirable" to install a centralized sewage system.

Besides pollution worries, Brown and his fellow petitioners are concerned with preserving the beauty of the valley's rolling farm lands.

"People from everywhere come through the valley," Brown said, explaining why 40 Bliss area residents who do not live in the valley signed the petition. "If it was a straight row of developments I don't

A TRACTOR-TRAILER rig is wrapped around a tree that has lost all its branches from the force of the tornado that completely destroyed a truck stop and restaurant in western Massachusetts. Four people were killed and 43 were injured at the truck stop complex. (UPI)

Massachusetts twister destroys truck complex

WEST STOCKBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — A tornado tore through this resort and farming community Tuesday, killing four persons and ripping several homes and buildings to pieces. At least 43 persons were hurt, including two critically.

Three of the dead were trapped in a small roadside restaurant destroyed by the rare twister, the first tornado to cause death in Massachusetts in 20 years. The fourth person killed was a man in a house two miles away, which was also destroyed.

The tornado jerked trees out of the ground, tore down power lines and wrecked at least 10 houses in the West Stockbridge area.

John A. Pons, 56, of West Stockbridge, said he was looking through a window in the Berkshire Truck Plaza, where three persons were killed, when he saw the sky darken.

"I said, 'My God, it's a tornado! Get under the desk!' My daughter was half under when it hit. I hit the floor. My daughter was yelling, 'My leg, my leg!' and I pulled the cinder blocks off her. I picked her up and carried her out front where my car was parked. But it was gone," Pons said.

Another witness at the diner, Fred Galiti, 35, a college professor, said he saw his friend Louis Pasquale, 28, a student from New York City, crushed by a wall. Pasquale was killed.

"I ran. All of a sudden, I was airborne. I blew around and I hit a wall. Louis was behind me, but then suddenly I was alone. He was about three feet away from me. A wall fell over on him. I could see his legs sticking up," Galiti said.

Besides Pasquale, those killed at the diner were truck driver Robert K. Hovag, 56, of New Hartford, N.Y., and an unidentified man thought to be the operator of a truck found nearby.

Constantine Delmolino, 62, died from injuries he suffered when the twister destroyed his house, two miles north of the truckstop. His wife was hospitalized in fair condition.

July meat same

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. meat production during July totaled 2.851 billion pounds, down 5 per cent from June but about the same as July a year ago, the Agriculture Department reports.

A department spokesman said Tuesday meat shortages "may be easing" soon.

Officials said August figures, to be released a month from now, probably will be down sharply because of slowdowns in cattle marketing and temporary plant closings, but they added that beef production now appears to be moving up from the low levels of early August.

The report said part of the meat production drop from June to July may have been due to normal seasonal factors mainly affecting pork. One expert pointed out, however, that some beef plants, finding their selling prices still frozen while live cattle prices were rising, closed during the last two working days of July.

The July report covered a month in which rising livestock prices pushed retail beef and pork prices to new records. Wholesale and retail controls on all meats and other foods, except beef and whole-sale - retail beef ceilings will end Sept. 12.

Federal officials verified the closing of 70 beef processing plants in early August. They said fewer than 50 plants are closed today.

Public meet set Thursday on bond

TWIN FALLS — The proposed $3,249 million school bond will be presented for public discussion in a meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School.

The bond proposal was made public early last week at an informal Twin Falls School Board meeting. If it is adopted by the board Sept. 11, a bond election will be held in mid-October.

The bond, Twin Falls' first since 1962, proposes the following:

- A new 24 classroom addition to Morningside and Harrison Elementary Schools, each costing $240,000. The walls of the four classrooms would connect to create a common "resource center" housing materials used by all the classrooms in the addition.
- A four-classroom addition to Robert Stuart Junior High including two project rooms, costing $180,000 total.
- A 5,950 square foot physical education "teaching center", similar to a gym, without lockers and showers, costing $178,500.

— Demolition of the old portion of Lincoln School and replacement of 19 classrooms at a total cost of $557,000.

Twin Falls School Supt. George Staudaher said today that in addition to construction costs the bond will include an undetermined amount of money for purchase of property for an anticipated new junior high school. He said the site is likely to cost about $250,000, raising the bond to nearly $3.3 million.

Staudaher described the purpose of the meeting tomorrow night as "just to present information to the public" and allow public discussion.

'Richard' movie set tonight

TWIN FALLS — The movie "Richard" will be shown at CSI tonight at 8 p.m. This film, a satire, is about the dubious character Richard M. Dixon, who decides to run for congress after seeing a want ad in the paper. Eventually, Dixon winds up President.

Next month "Skin Game" will play Sept. 12 and "Super Fly" Sept. 26.

Two Idaho Republicans considering entering '74 gubernatorial race

BOISE (UPI) — Two Republican state officials Tuesday said they are considering seeking the party nomination for the 1974 Idaho gubernatorial race against Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy said "I haven't ruled out the possibility at all. I certainly am reviewing this thing and I will have an expression of intent sometime before Oct. 15."

Secretary of State Pete T.

Cenarrusa said he has toyed with the idea of running for the nomination but so far has not indulged too seriously in such thought. He said he would like some expression from those in the GOP itself before jumping into any campaign.

"If the Republican Party would rather have me stay where I am or move into the lieutenant governorship, as some have stated, or run for governor, I don't know," he said.

Cenarrusa said he does not think he and Murphy "should hit head-on" when asked about the prospect. He indicated Murphy's plans may have considerable bearing on his own.

Both Cenarrusa and Murphy said the actions should be taken to sort out the potential candidates.

Murphy said there are unusual pressures this year to have potential candidates "identify themselves" at an earlier date.

For himself, he said, "If I am to keep faith with the party regulars, a decision will have to be made" by mid-October.

Cenarrusa assessed Andrus as chief executive who would be tough to beat "but not impossible."

Idaho is a conservative Republican and rural-oriented state he said, and Andrus can be beaten.

Andrus is a very personable man," Cenarrusa said. "He has a good personality and a sense of humor, and he has political moxie."

Cenarrusa said to place a Republican in the governor's office, the GOP will have to unite behind the best candidate they can field. He added such a candidate could be one of those already mentioned as potential candidates or someone not at present closely associated with politics.

Negligence suit filed in court

TWIN FALLS — Karen Wood has filed a $53,000 negligence suit in Fifth District Court against Mike Stayner and Andy Cappel.

In the suit Miss Wood alleges that Cappel and Stayner were negligent in allowing her to fall down a set of concrete basement steps which resulted in a fracture of her right arm.

Stayner's alleged negligence resulted from his failing to provide lighting or a door or guard rail at the top of a set of basement steps on property which he owns.

Cappel was allegedly negligent in bumping into Miss Wood, causing her to take a step backwards in a darkened vestibule, lose her footing on the edge of the stairway and fall.

According to the suit, Cappel invited Miss Wood to an April 9 party in the rear apartment of a building owned by Stayner. While Cappel was attempting to open the door to the apartment, according to the civil action, he bumped into Miss Wood and caused her to fall down the unlighted, unguarded steps.

Highliners will meet tonight

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Highliners 4-H Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the home of their assistant leader, Mrs. Tom Turner.

Club members are making preparations for participating in the Twin Falls County fair which opens next week.

In a meeting earlier this month the 12 members of the club gathered at the home of Mrs. Turner with their horses for a practice day of fitting and showing in preparation for fair competition.

Mrs. Turner served cake and punch and fried chicken was provided by other mothers of club members.

New barns

FILER — Horses belonging to 4-H Club members will be stabled this year in the new 4-H horse barn and the Queen's barn.

Fairgoers who wish to view the club horses and their displays will find them in these barns in the northeastern part of the fairgrounds. The rest of the 4-H livestock will be in the regular 4-H barn.

Produce time set

FILER — Filer Grange members bringing produce for the booth at the Twin Falls County Fair are asked to have all produce there by 10 a.m. Monday.

Mrs. Alfred Theener requested that all members make special efforts to have their produce there by that time so the booth may be finished for judging.

Only 2 needed

TWIN FALLS — The Children's Theatre upcoming production of "Pied Piper" is threatened by lack of two adults, Mrs. Beverly Sturgill, director, says.

She said there is a large group of eager children and youths, waiting only two adult roles — one man and one woman — to complete the cast.

Final tryouts are scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday at Mrs. Sturgill's home, 567 Polk St., and any adult interested is urged to come and help complete the cast. Help also is needed backstage, the director said, for the October production.

In the suit Miss Wood seeks $50,000 in general damages resulting from possible permanent disability, $3,000 for lost wages, $150 for medical expenses and court costs.

Stockholm gunman ousted

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Six days of terror for four hostages ended at the point of a bandit's submachine gun in a downtown bank Tuesday when he and his convict friend surrendered under a storm of police tear gas.

The gunman, Jan-Erik Olsson, 32, fired one last hail of bullets at police from the 40-by-10-foot bank vault where he was holding the hostages. Then tears streaming down his face as gas flooded the chamber—he cried: "I give up. I give up."

The 131-hour ordeal that at one point had the hostages pleading for their lives was over.

Police said Olsson's companion, convicted bank robber Clark Olofsson, 26, also surrendered without a struggle. Olofsson was released from prison and brought to the Kreditbanken bank on Olsson's orders Thursday, the day he botched an attempt to rob the bank and took the hostages instead.

Looking tired and dirty, both men were led away handcuffed to officers still wearing their gasmasks.

The bedraggled victims — three women and a man — bank employees — walked through the door of the vault and were loaded on stretchers, then taken to separate hospitals.

The hostages — Mrs. Birgitta Lundblad, a 31-year-old mother of two, Kristin Enmark, 21, Elisabeth Oldgren, 23, and the man, Sven Saefstroem, 25 — were all unharmed, hospital spokesmen said.

"I've told the kids and they are waiting for mommy to come home soon," said Mrs. Lundblad's husband with tears in his eyes.

Olsson and Olofsson, blinded by tear gas before they surrendered, were also hospitalized with armed policemen standing guard by their bedsides.

One police officer, who would not identify himself, said hours before the capture that Olsson and Olofsson "have turned the vault into a torture chamber. They are extremely brutal. What's happening down there makes me want to throw up." He would not elaborate.

Stockholm Police Chief Kurt Lindroth told newsmen: "Olsson surrendered in the end when we injected tear gas. He screamed 'I give up, I give up' and threw up his submachine gun through one of the holes in the roof."

Olsson had repeatedly threatened to kill the hostages throughout the saga. Police called off the first attempt to gas him out Monday when he warned he had roped the hostages in such a way they would strangle themselves if they slumped into unconsciousness from the gas. Police said Olsson at that point had the hostages "begging for their lives."

The saga began Thursday morning when Olsson burst into the government-owned bank pulled the submachine gun from under his coat and demanded money.

Papers grow thin

United Press International
It's not that there's been less news lately, it's just that there's less paper and so some newspapers have been thinner.

The Wall Street Journal said this week it was forced to trim the number of pages and cut its printing run because of the newspaper shortage which is caused by strikes against Canadian paper mills and Canadian railroads. The Journal cut its editorial page in half, eliminating the daily cartoon, humor section and reviews. The right-hand part of the editorial page has been used for news stories and definitions of front page matter.

Elsewhere around the nation, newspapers with short supplies of paper have taken measures ranging from reducing the size of comic strips, to putting limits on advertising, to eliminating Saturday editions, a United Press International survey shows.

Canada's Parliament will consider legislation today to order an end to the six-day-old strike against the Canadian Pacific, Canadian National and nine smaller lines.

Canada's third largest paper producer, Abitibi Pulp and Paper Co., has resumed contract talks with the United Paperworkers International Union. The company is not struck, but union and industry observers believe a settlement at Abitibi could set a pattern for other companies that have been shut down by strikes.

Two Minneapolis papers, the afternoon Star and the morning Tribune, began reducing their edition sizes last week. The Sunday Tribune cut down on Sunday.

Star and Tribune publisher Robert W. Smith, in front page statements, said comic and advertising sizes were being reduced and the syndicated bridge column eliminated.

The Pittsburgh Press said it would suspend or curtail some editorial features, restrict advertising volume and limit newsstand sales.

In Boise, Idaho, publisher Robert Miller Jr. of the Idaho Statesman, asked his staff for lighter editing, smaller headlines, less art and fewer features to reduce the number of pages.

The Bellefontaine (Ohio) Examiner dropped its Saturday edition last week because of the shortage, but has received a shipment since.

The Cuero (Tex.) Daily Record said that after Sept. 1 it would eliminate its Saturday editions and publish only Monday through Friday because of the shortage and higher newspaper costs.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer dropped some Sunday features because of the shortage and used leftover holiday color rolls for some Tuesday editions.

The Milwaukee Journal said its paper would be smaller and fewer copies would be sold.

The Milwaukee Sentinel reduced its size.

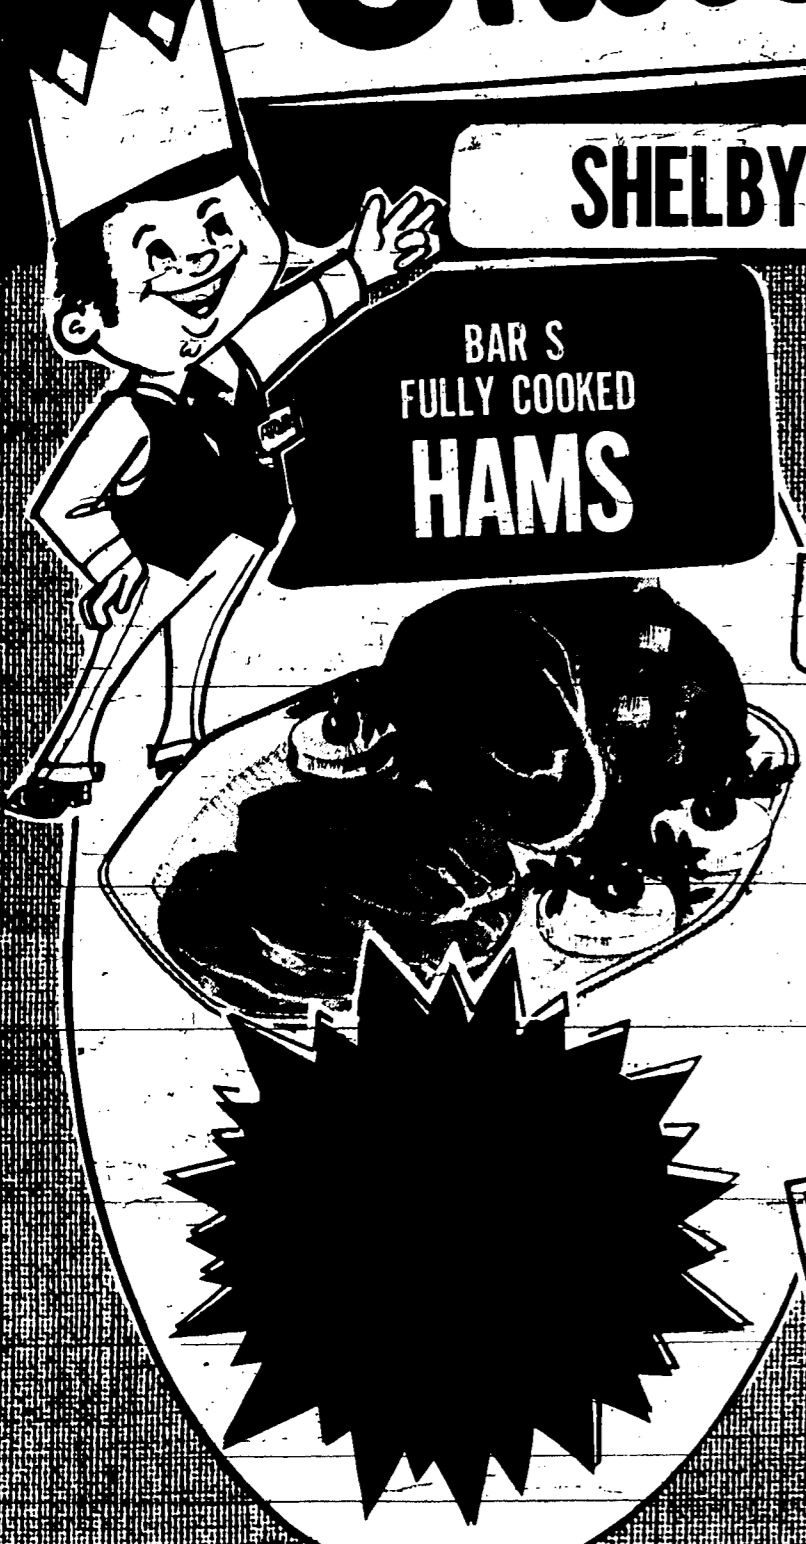

Madison Newspapers Inc., publisher of the Wisconsin State Journal and the Madison Capital Times, said it had not received a paper shipment since Aug. 10. The papers restricted ad sizes, eliminated some features and cut down newsstand sales.

Iran readies truce team replacement

SAIGON (UPI) — An Iranian advance team arrived in Saigon today to prepare for replacing Canada on the international truce team, but ran into a series of stumbling blocks characteristic of the stalled peace-keeping operations in Indochina.

The five Iranians, led by Staff Col. Soltan Mohammad Etemad, arrived late at Tan Son Nhut airport and had to wait in their plane another half hour while a special lounge was cleared.

The Iranian officers were then whisked away from the airport without stopping in the lounge and before a waiting U.S. Embassy representative had a chance to greet them.

The visitors were taken by mistake to the Iranian ambassador's residence, and finally arrived at their hotel two hours late.

The advance team was expected to remain in Saigon for two to seven days working out details for the arrival of Iran's full 250-member contingent to the International Commission of Control and Supervision (ICCS). Truce team officials at Tan Son Nhut airport expressed hope the Iranian arrival would get the commission back to work. The panel has been stalled for a month since Canada pulled out claiming the group was ineffective.

A South Vietnamese Foreign Ministry spokesman said earlier Iran's delegation to the commission will be headed by Ambassador Assab Hungri. Iran will join Hungary, Indonesia and Poland on the ICCS, whose cease-fire and prisoner exchange supervision duties have been suspended since Canada left the organization.

Canada left the team after six months of frustration and disappointment with the progress of peace-keeping in the country. The ICCS was created to supervise the truce under terms of the Jan. 27 Paris accords ending the war.

Fadri, 51, is a veteran diplomat who currently is serving on the staff that coordinates U.N. volunteer programs in Geneva, informed sources said.

Overcome with smoke

RESCUE WORKERS team up to carry a woman to a waiting ambulance after she was overcome in the smoke-filled Grand Central Station in New York Tuesday. (UPI)

Hundreds trapped in NY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Part of the concrete ceiling crumbled on top of a subway train Tuesday, causing a fire, trapping hundreds of rush-hour commuters in the smoke-filled tunnel and killing one man.

About 200 persons trapped in the damaged train waited an hour and a half before they were carried or led back to the Grand Central Station terminal, 500 yards away.

The man killed was Robert Beyer, 35, of suburban West Islip, N.Y. He was standing at a subway door crushed by a huge chunk of concrete.

Twenty-two other persons suffered smoke inhalation, heat exhaustion, cuts or other injuries. The temperature inside the tunnel was 115 degrees. It was 98 at ground level, hottest day of the year in the city.

The man killed was Robert Beyer, 35, of suburban West Islip, N.Y. He was standing at a subway door crushed by a huge chunk of concrete.

Miss Mayher said, "You could hardly breathe. You could hardly see. There was a lot of screaming at first, a lot of crying, a lot of fainting."

The subway, which runs from Times Square in Manhattan to Shea Stadium and the 1964 World's Fair site at Flushing Meadows, was out of commission from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. The accident site was near the United Nations building on the East River.

The falling concrete struck an electrical power circuit, causing a small electric fire that belched black smoke so thick it disrupted street traffic near the United Nations building.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, who climbed down the narrow stairs of an escape passage to view the scene, ordered an investigation.

Robbed at grave

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Four members of a saddened family returned to a cemetery a few hours after a burial service and were robbed of $400 in cash by bandits posing as gravediggers.

Police Capt. B.R. Myers said "this is the worst sort of incident of this kind I can recall."

Mrs. Paul Dupree told him the robbery occurred Monday when she, her husband and two other family members returned to the cemetery where her mother-in-law had been buried earlier in the day.

"They (the robbers) looked like gravediggers or employees of the cemetery," Mrs. Dupree said. "One came up to one side of the grave and the other to the opposite side, then one drew a pistol."

She said the bandits took $100 in cash, car keys and other belongings.

"We had so much money on us because we had no idea how much all the funeral expenses were going to be," she said.

Air pollution tax requested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A coalition of eight environmental organizations has asked the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to impose a tax on air pollution.

"We believe that there is ample evidence to indicate that emission charges could make a very significant contribution to preserving the quality of the nation's atmosphere," said Leonard Lane, coordinator of the Coalition to Tax Pollution at an EPA public hearing Tuesday on air quality standards.

Members of the coalition are the Sierra Club, Environmental Action, The Environmental Policy Center, The Federation of American Scientists, The Federation of Western outdoors Clubs, The Wilderness Society and Zero Population Growth.

Lane said the tax probably would be passed on to consumers however it worked. Suggested methods include taxing all sulphur oxide and particulate emissions by an industrial operation or taxing only those emissions above acceptable levels.

Raised repeatedly at the hearings, which end today, was the question of how much the public is willing to pay for clean air.

The EPA is holding hearings on four alternative proposals to prevent the "significant deterioration" of air quality in lesser populated areas where the air is cleaner than required by federal standards. Public hearings also are scheduled next month in Atlanta, Denver, Dallas and San Francisco.

The rules were proposed in response to a federal court ruling, affirmed by the U.S. Supreme Court on June 11, that the Clean Air Act requires not only air quality standards to protect health and welfare but also the prevention of "significant deterioration" of air quality in areas already clean enough to meet the standards.

Kennecott Copper Corp. joined the nation's coal industry Tuesday in charging that EPA lacks the authority to issue such rules. But it broke ranks with industry spokesmen in supporting nationwide standards on how much dirtier the air can get in these areas, if the EPA later is shown to have the rule-making authority.

Family of 6 shot in Virginia home

ROANOKE, Va. (UPI) — A family of six was found shot to death in their home Tuesday night, and police said it appeared to be a murder-suicide in which the father killed his wife and their four children.

The victims were Charles M. Nail Sr., an unemployed locksmith, his wife Sharol, both about 29, and their four children. Their bodies were found in their three bedroom home in the northwestern part of this Virginia mountain city by a relative who had gone to check on them.

Detective Lt. James L. Vlar said, "We're investigating it on the presumption it was a multiple murder-suicide."

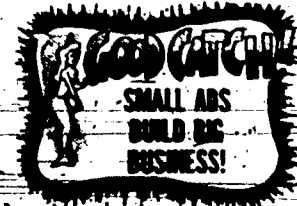

Vlar said all of the victims had been shot in the head with a large-caliber weapon. He declined to identify the type weapon used but said it was found at the Nail home.

children slain as Charles Jr., 10; Michael Eugene, 8; Pamela Charlene, 5, and Kimberly, one and a half years.

The police detective said Nail and his wife were found in the bed of their bedroom and the children were in their respective bedrooms.

He said an autopsy would have to be conducted to determine the time of death, but estimated the victims had been dead more than 24 hours.

Although the Nails lived in a densely populated neighborhood, Vlar said police had been unable to find anyone who heard shots at the residence.

Power shortage, stifling heat paralyze Midwest

By United Press International A stifling, late summer heat wave paralyzed the Midwest and East Tuesday, sending thousands of workers home early. Straining air conditioners pushed most cities close to power shortages or cutbacks.

more than 12.4 million volts. In New York, the nation's largest city, Consolidated Edison placed the city on a "power alert," warning it may have to cut-back power use by 8 per cent if torrid temperatures continue.

Monday night. The Omaha, Neb., Public Power District appealed to homemakers to serve dinner that did not require cooking and to postpone dishwashing, washing, drying and ironing chores until the day's peak-use periods were past.

More of the same was expected today.

A tornado swept down on the tiny town of West Stockbridge, Mass., late Tuesday night, killing four persons and injuring 40 others, several critically.

Tuesday was the third consecutive day of sweltering heat. Commonwealth Edison Co. ordered a 5 per cent voltage reduction in the Chicago area Monday and asked for voluntary power cutbacks Tuesday. The Tuesday power demand for the nation's second largest city was slightly less than Monday's record breaking peak load of

Power officials in several cities express grave concern at the present situation.

A utility company official in Cincinnati said excessive use of air conditioners and other appliances was the reason for a power blackout in that city

A spokesman for the Omaha power district, reporting its reserves "very low," said the Mid-Continent Area Power Pool (MAPP) advised that electricity utilities in St. Louis, Mo., Minneapolis, Minn., Chicago and throughout a 10-state area were having critical problems.

The National Weather Service said Tuesday was "hot, humid and hazy" from the central and southern Plains to the Atlantic. Only northern New England escaped the extreme heat—expected to be around until at least Thursday.

Chile president forms new 'crisis cabinet'

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — President Salvador Allende, plagued by middle class opposition, military unrest and labor strikes, formed a new crisis cabinet Tuesday night and threatened "drastic measures" against the opposition press.

Allende, in a tough speech at the swearing-in ceremonies, threatened "the most drastic and serious measures" against members of the press opposing his regime.

"In Chile, there is more than liberty of the press—there is libertinism of the press as well," he said.

He accused critics of distorting news reports about his leftist regime, but said his threat of a press crackdown "does not mean that I am going to deprive anyone of his rights."

Thousands of leftist workers held a peaceful rally in downtown Santiago during the speech to demonstrate support for the president.

Allende swore in his 20th cabinet in more than two years in office, but the latest musical chairs switch of ministers indicated little change, if dealing with the the increasing troubles facing his Marxist government.

Allende's old cabinet fell apart last week with the resignations of three military members under intense pressure from fellow officers.

Allende kept 11 of the previous 15 cabinet members and appointed four new ministers, including three military men to replace the departing officers.

Political sources said top Allende advisers had been hesitant about including military men in the new cabinet, but agreed in the end as a concession to centrist and rightist opponents.

"We don't know why the ceiling fell," Dr. William J. Roman, chairman of the Metropolitan Transportation Authority, said. "It's a very old tunnel."

Spud, corn soil tests revamped

MOSCOW — A new method has been developed for testing phosphorus needs of corn and potatoes.

University of Idaho soil testing laboratory technicians have developed the test to cover a wide variety of soils.

Dr. Preston Jones, associate professor of soil science, University of Idaho, said the new testing method can determine phosphorus deficiencies by finding how much phosphorus is tied up by the soil.

In this way, a farmer can be told how much phosphorus must be added to a particular field for a good soil balance for such crops.

Dr. Jones said tests at the U of I show Idaho sweet corn needs 0.1 parts per million of phosphorus in solution for a maximum yield. Potatoes need 0.2 to 0.25 parts per million, he said.

Conventional testing methods can determine a phosphorus deficiency in soil but cannot indicate the amount needed for correction, Dr. Jones said.

These new soil tests will cost about $15 per sample, compared to only $4 for the previous method with the additional amount covering the greater number of tests run on each soil sample under the new method.

Samples for the new test should be taken in a pattern similar to that for the conventional method. Sampling done in the spring or fall will be more accurate than those in mid summer when plants are actively growing, he said. The new tests should be repeated every few years, he said, with phosphorus used for plant growth being replaced each year.

CAROL SKINNER
... 4-H winner

TF girl takes 4-H auto title

TWIN FALLS — Carol Skinner, Twin Falls, was selected recently as the Idaho State Automotive Award Winner.

The competition was based on her achievements in the automotive project in 4-H. She filled out a lengthy report form and prepared a story containing information on what she had done and learned in this project. The story included pictures of Carol changing a tire, greasing a car and other varied activities dealing with automobiles.

As a part of the recognition, Carol's report form will be forwarded to Chicago to be considered for the national award in automobiles.

Carol, as the state winner, will receive an expense paid trip to the National 4-H Congress to be held in Chicago, Illinois, Nov. 25-29.

A thought for the day: Ernest Hemingway wrote, "The world is a fine place and worth fighting for."

Reservoirs low

IDAHO FALLS — Only minor amounts of precipitation have been recorded in Idaho thus far in August, leaving many irrigation reservoirs low and the demand for irrigation water high.

Arthur L. Larson, Snake River Watermaster, said Jackson Lake contains 687,500 acre feet of useable irrigation water. White Pajons Reservoir has about 640,490 acre feet of useable irrigation water. Other reservoirs include Island Park Reservoir, 87,535 acre feet and Americans Falls Reservoir, 218,700.

Saake River stream flow reports show 3,440 cubic feet per second at Milner in the South Side Canal system, 2,590 in the Northside canal, 7,355 cfs at the Heise to Shelley diversion; 8,050 cfs at Minidoka on the Snake River; 99,400 with a gage height of 45.35 feet at Lake Walcott, 7,790 cfs at Heise; 1,370 cfs Gooding Project. Stream flow at most measuring point is above normal.

US milk shortage warned

By United Press International
A milk shortage could spread across the nation unless dairymen get an average increase of 3 cents a quart, the president of the National Milk Producers Federation told federal officials Tuesday. In other economic developments, Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., complained about price increases of sourdough bread in San Francisco, and a newspaper publisher in Virginia said government controls on advertising rates should be lifted because of the paper shortage.

In Washington, the Agriculture Department said its new milk pricing plan proposed this week for 39 federally regulated milksheds will leave overall returns to farmers and prices to consumers basically unchanged.

But in St. Louis, Glenn Lake of North Branch, Mich., testified that dairy farmers need an average base price hike of $1.35 per hundredweight of milk, or about 8 cents a quart. "If we don't get this increase, I can only foresee a severe shortage of milk throughout the country as dairy farmers sell out completely or sell to our competition for beef production when the price freeze is lifted in September," Lake told an Agriculture Department hearing.

Cranston addressed newsmen in a San Francisco bakery and blamed Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz for a rise in the price of a pound of sourdough bread from 50 to 59 cents.

"The price of bread is a stunning example of the bust that Butz has made of food policy," he said. "The entire reason for the rise in the price of French bread is the cost flour."

DEAR ABBY: I recently became very much attracted to a gentleman who proudly admits to being 73. He's a snappy dresser and is full of fun. I am a middle-aged woman, but this man leaves me in the dust when it comes to dancing, tennis, golf, and any other physical exercise you can name.

He seems very much interested in me. My question: At his age, is he harmless?

JOYCE

Is swinger harmless

DEAR JOYCE: If you mean what I think you mean, if he's "harmless" he won't be able to do you any good. But whether he can do you any good without doing you any harm will depend on YOUR condition.

DEAR ABBY: You were wrong when you advised against reporting the fraudulent welfare recipient. If someone told you that he had witnessed a robbery, would you advise him to "judge not"?

Welfare agencies welcome legitimate complaints, and each complaint is objectively investigated. The complainant may remain anonymous if desired, and his name is never revealed to the client. However, vague statements such as, "I know 10 people on welfare who drive Cadillacs and have $1,000 in the bank," are stupid and useless. A person making such a comment usually cannot name a single person who even comes close to that description. Complaints should be as specific and factual as possible.

We find that most complaints are not well-founded because the complainant is trying to "get back" at the recipient, or that he has drawn a wrong conclusion by not knowing all the facts in the case. But it is worthwhile to investigate each complaint.

If fraudulent and ineligible cases can be eliminated from the welfare roles, more resources will be available to help those who are truly in need, and the burden will be lighter on Mr. Taxpayer.

WEST VIRGINIA SOCIAL WORKER

DEAR W. V. S. W.: Thank you for your fair and helpful letter. Your answer was much better than mine. I believe all witnessed crimes should be reported, but encouraging every American to "inform" on his neighbor for an assumed wrongdoing would lead us uncomfortably close to becoming a police state, and that I abhor.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding that lady who wants to be spanked on her bare bottom: I will gladly oblige her. I am a 68-year-old widower, I am also a retired upholsterer with 50 years experience on seats and bottoms.

Open house set for Buhl woman

BUHL — Mrs. Effa Owen, who taught school in Indian territory before it became Oklahoma, will be honored Sunday in observance of her 90th birthday.

The open house, slated for 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, will be held at the Lincoln Courts recreation hall in Buhl, by members of her family.

Born Sept. 1, 1883, in Indiana, she lived in the territory which later became Oklahoma. Mrs. Owen recalls the school where she "taught" was "very primitive" with nothing but long benches to sit on. She also taught one term in the panhandle area of Texas.

On Dec. 19, 1907, she and her husband-to-be, Archie Owen, drove 36 miles in an open wagon to the town where they were married, and had to return home in a blinding snowstorm. The couple homesteaded a claim in New Mexico and the patent on the land, signed by President William Howard Taft, is among Mrs. Owen's prized possessions.

They farmed 18 years in Oklahoma before moving to Buhl in 1930 where Mr. Owen also farmed. After he retired they moved into Buhl. He died 16 years ago.

Mrs. Owen has six living children, Mrs. Gordon Bennett, Mrs. Frank Partin and Mrs. Estle Edmons and C. D. Owen, all Buhl; Willis Owen, Castleford, and N. W. Owen, Bellflower, Calif. She also has a "daughter-in-law," Mrs. Mayme Owen, Buhl, 30 grandchildren and 82 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Owen, who still lives alone, says she can't handle a garden anymore, but she keeps her lawn and home and also has written poetry as a hobby. She requests no gifts.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID MOLYNEUX

Miss Anderson weds Molyneux

TWIN FALLS — Sandra Lynn Anderson and David Allen Molyneux were united in marriage Aug. 12 at the First United Methodist Church, Twin Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Gleason D. Anderson, Burley, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Molyneux, Kimberly.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Herbert E. Morris in front of an altar flanked by candelabra and baskets of white gladioli, yellow and white daisies and purple statice.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a Bridal Original gown of dacron polyester organza with scalloped cotton Guipure Venise lace outlining the neckline and forming a redingote effect in the skirt that swept to a Venise edged Watteau chapel train. A Venise edged organza camelot held her four tiered fingertip veil of English nylon illusion.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies, statice, baby's breath and baby yellow roses. She also carried an embroidered handkerchief that belonged to her grandmother. The bride wore a diamond pendant, a wedding gift from the bridegroom.

Maid of honor was Jana Anderson, sister of the bride and bridesmaids were Carole, Chris, and Lois Molyneux, sisters of the bridegroom.

Vickie Schomburg, cousin of the bride, Hillsboro, Ore., was flowergirl. Susan Schomburg lighted the candles before the ceremony.

Wick Roberts, Carey, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Jeff Williams, Twin Falls, Rick Lee, Kimberly, and Mike Anderson, brother of the bride, Burley. Mark Schomburg, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

Mrs. Francis Rider, Twin Falls, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Jack Hyder, Jerome, soloist.

The couple was honored at a reception immediately following the ceremony in the church fellowship hall.

The bride's table was covered with a white cloth and embroidered nylon flounce. The three tiered white cake was flanked by candelabra trimmed with daisies and natural greenery, and holding yellow tapers.

Peggy Bartome, Twin Falls, registered the guests. Debbie Weeks, Bobby Waldron, and Pattie Harris, Pocatello, were in charge of the gift tables. Special guests were Mrs. James C. Luak, Osage City, Kan., grandmother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schomburg, Hillsboro, Ore., aunt and uncle of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Martyn, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Clyde Molyneux, Kimberly grandparents of the bridegroom.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at their home in Kimberly.

The bride was honored at a prenuptial shower given by Judy Hagan, Hazelton, and Peggy Bartome.

Following a trip to Yellowstone National Park, the couple is at home in Twin Falls. The bride is employed by Mountain Bell and the bridegroom by Bert Collins and Sons, Kimberly.

We watched our old friend the unlucky expert at work the other day. He had been holding good cards, was winning and happy. Then he picked up the South hand shown in the box.

His face lit up like a Christmas tree. He studied a while and chortled a happy six no-trump North raised to seven.

West opened the nine of hearts, dummy hit the table and there was our friend flying blind in a fog with over 2,000 points riding on the location of the queen of spades.

He studied a while, played low from dummy, won the trick with his ace and played out diamonds and clubs. His exact sequence was ace of diamonds, ace-king of clubs, king-queen of diamonds, queen-jack of clubs; jack of diamonds.

West, a lucky expert, had to make six discards while all East had to do was to follow suit. West also had plenty of time to visualize the unlucky expert's problem.

His first five discards were hearts. His sixth was a quick, carefree seven of spades. South cashed the king of hearts and when both opponents followed South knew that West had started with four spades and East with three and that his correct play was to finesse against West.

Then our unfortunate friend thought about that seven of spades, looked like a man with the queen of spades. He finessed the wrong way and paid off as usual.

Cassia board finds bids higher than budgeted

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News writer

BURLEY — The Cassia County school board did some fast figuring and found a discouraging answer Tuesday night after bids were opened for the first of five district construction projects.

The lowest of four bids for the construction of an auditorium at Raff River High School, the first of five projects approved in a $3.9 million bond election last spring, was one-third over the amount budgeted for the project.

The board took the bids under advisement, pending a meeting with the architect and the contractors. A decision on the bids will be made at a special meeting Monday night.

To remain within the funds provided for in the bond and to complete all projects, "the next projects will have to be cut down in programs and in scope," architect Keith Richardson, of Richardson and Richardson Assoc., Salt Lake City, said.

The apparent low bidder was Mitchell Construction, Pocatello, with a base bid of $194,400 plus $5,250 for basic electrical work. Jones Construction, Burley, was next in line with a base bid of $197,196 plus $662. Mitchell gave a completion date of June 1, 1974 and Jones of Feb. 1, 1974.

The other two bidders were Neilsen and Co., Twin Falls, at $197,862 plus $4,589 and Shippen Construction, Idaho Falls, at $228,500 plus $10,536.

The use of stud walls instead of block, placement of auditorium seats, carpet installation, case and cabinet work and stage lighting were listed as options to the basic bid.

It is doubtful the board will take up any of the options because the funds budgeted for the project amounted to only $150,000.

Richardson said he had contacted 26 bidders in Utah and nearly 20 in Idaho and the four bidders listed were the only ones interested in the project.

"The only way you're going to cut out is to cut down on the building," Richardson said.

Any delay in accepting bids, he said, could add one to two per cent monthly to the cost of construction "the way things are going now."

The board could accept the low bid and then make cuts in the construction project to help hold costs down, however, he said.

Board members discussed the possibility of postponing the project and rebidding at a later date in conjunction with another district project but any decision was left up in the air until next Monday's meeting.

Revised preliminary drawings for another project, the DeClo gymnasium, were presented to the board by Richardson. The plans had been revised to try and bring the building within the budget.

The board unanimously voted to cut the addition of moveable seats and wall tables from the project budget in order to expand the multi-purpose space above the gym floor at the south end of the building. The space had been cut back to save money.

"Let the community buy the moveable seating and let's put the money in the building," board member Charles Ward, Malta, said, "what we need today is space."

A request by the Burley High School pep band to practice marching in the streets was denied by the board. Permission will not be given to any group to march on city streets until a court ruling has been given on a suit stemming from a band accident last year, the board said.

Last summer, the Burley High School Band was hit by a car when it practiced on a Burley Street and several students were sent to the hospital. A suit was filed early this year by parents of the injured students against both the board and the band teacher for damages suffered in the incident.

Supt. Harold Blauer told the board the district would face "no real problems" in the upcoming investigation by the Office of Civil Rights. This district and the Idaho Falls district were chosen in the state of Idaho for a routine investigation, he said.

Mrs. Mary Wrigley, Burley, asked the board to provide an additional teacher for the special education students and to try and set up a vocational education program for the older students.

Mrs. Wrigley said there were currently 20 students in the class and there could be up to 25 shortly, with only one teacher.

Blauer said that a special education class with 15 students was required to have a teacher and an aide.

No action was taken by the board, but the possibility of hiring another special education teacher will be explored.

Special task force set to revise criminal code

BOISE (UPI) — Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park Tuesday appointed a special task force on original code revision to help devise something more acceptable in the present code.

Idaho's legislature revised the criminal code in 1971 but repealed the action a year later because of vigorous opposition by various groups responsible for administration and enforcement of the new laws.

Park said the law enforcement planning commission, which he chairs, has authorized creation of a special task force to revise the present code. He said those he named to the task force were active opponents of the code th lawmakers repealed but still feel the old code is not doing the job.

"In spite of the fact that the new code was not successful, almost everyone who is involved in Idaho's criminal justice system is in basic agreement that the old criminal code structure is really inadequate and in desperate need of modernization and revision," Park said.

"To this end, the special task force members will have a statewide geographic distribution and will comprise a board base of persons vitally concerned with the various aspects of the criminal code."

He named the task force Fourth District Judge J. Ray Durtschi, who will serve as chairman; Washington County Sheriff Jim Johnson, Weiser; Kootenai County Prosecutor Gary Haman, Coeur d'Alene; Fred Kennedy, a Boise attorney; Ben Cavaness, power county prosecutor, American Falls; Martin Ward, Pocatello, sixth judicial district magistrate and trial court administrator; Eli Rapaich, Lewiston attorney; police chief Bob Nettleman, Coeur d'Alene; and Lorr Davis, director of continuing education for the supreme court.

Park said the public, the news media and the legislature will be kept fully apprised of the progress of the revision efforts.

"Input will be sought from such groups as the Prosecuting Attorneys Association, the Idaho Sheriffs Association and the Chiefs of Police Association, as well as the public at large," he said.

Injunction against firm taken under advisement by judge in TF

TWIN FALLS — Fifth District Court Judge Charles Scoggin Monday took under advisement a defense counsel's draft of a preliminary injunction against Master Distributors, Inc.

The injunction would prohibit the company from using alleged high pressure sales tactics and misleading incentive programs in the sale of water conditioners.

The Idaho Attorney General's office filed a complaint against the company Aug. 1 alleging violations of the Idaho Consumer Protection Act and the Uniform Consumer Credit Code.

In the stipulation Monday, defense counsel Lloyd Webb outlined a seven-point injunction to which he said Master Distributors would consent.

Webb noted, however, that "we expressly want it understood that we are not conceding that these activities (the alleged violations) have, in fact, taken place nor are we conceding that if they did take place, they would be violations of two laws which are subject of the Complaint in this action."

After listening to Webb's stipulations, assistant Attorney General Wayne Meuleman told the Court the statement was "sufficiently specific to constitute an enforceable preliminary injunction and in that respect, the plaintiff (the State) is prepared to accept."

The seven points of restraint outlined by Webb were: — Restraint from the use of "high-pressure sales tactics." — Restraint from "offering discounts to buyers, contingent upon any contributions or activities on their (buyers) part toward our sales efforts."

— Restraint from not indentifying the company and the purpose of telephone calls in calls to prospective buyers.

— Restraints from disclosing the real purpose in bringing out a free gift. Webb said the company would further agree to be restrained from failing to advise the prospective buyer that the purpose in bringing out the free gift "is to show our product and make a sales presentation."

— Restraint from making second calls for appointments with the same customer. Webb added that the company wished to make an exception where the customer indicated that the first appointment was not convenient and suggested that the company call at another time.

— Restraint from refusing to leave if the customer is not interested in buying. "However," said Webb, we would think that that would have to be something expressed by the customer such as "I'm not interested." Then I think we should be obliged to leave, but I don't suppose we can read his mind as to when he is not interested."

— Restraint from offering incentives to salesmen. But Webb added, "unless — and we think this is a proper condition — unless we are, in fact, offering those incentives."

The company had run newspaper ads prior to the State complaint reading in part, "Would you believe . . . We guarantee $1,000 per month, furnish a new Cadillac or Lincoln, give monthly clothing allowance and free hospitalization . . . and allow a two week all expense paid vacation to the men who can qualify for our unique 'M' Squad."

Judge Scoggin asked Webb if the restraint stipulation in incentives was in reference to "promising and guaranteeing a monthly income or new Cadillac?"

"Yes," Webb answered, "Now our position has been that that has never been a guarantee to all salesmen, but this was if they made so many sales."

Ostyn to seek office

"I take pride in the new ordinance on building curbs and gutters which I spearheaded," Ostyn said adding "You can't build good streets without good foundations."

He said many Twin Falls Streets are in bad condition because they were built without curbs and gutters, and that until the ordinance was passed new curbs and gutterless streets were going in simply because other streets in the area were in that condition.

Ostyn said that he has been the only councilman to serve as counselor on the youth advisory council. This youth council, he said, has been preparing long range plans on the Dierkes Lake park, identifying areas where sidewalks are needed, and recommending a set of priorities for street reconstruction.

If Gray should decide to resign, he would be the second councilman to do so in the last several months. Tom Nelson resigned his post after three and a half years of his first term when he moved his residence outside the city limits. He was replaced by Woodall.

Gray said if he did resign, he would do it soon enough to make sure his appointed replacement would have to stand for reelection this fall.

Memorial

HAILEY — A memorial to the late Ezra Pound, famous Hailey-born poet is being planned by the Chamber of Commerce.

In a meeting of the Chamber Monday, Roberta McKecher, Chamber secretary-treasurer, read a letter from John Jones, Jr., administrator of the Ezra Pound estate, acknowledging the chamber's desire to erect the memorial, possibly in the city park.

Jones' letter suggested the memorial reflect Pound's love of nature and asked the Chamber to send him the dimensions and a description of the city park area.

New officers of the Hailey Chamber were announced. They include Wally Young, president; Jerry McGrath, vice-president, and Mrs. McKecher, retained as secretary-treasurer. William Shaw is retiring president.

In other business Young reported on the merchant committee which has been expanded to include all merchants. The committee will meet the first Tuesday of each month.

Escapee gets execution stay

FORSYTHE, Mont. (UPI) — One of two Idaho men convicted of murdering a Hardin, Mont., jeweler in 1972 has gained a stay of execution from Forsythe Dist. Judge Alfred B. Coate.

Wallace Rhodes Jr., 25, was scheduled to be hanged here Sept. 13.

The stay order by Coate came Tuesday after attorneys for Rhodes filed a notice of appeal.

The other man convicted of killing 48-year-old Donald Kalberg has not filed any appeals so far. He is James M. Shields, 21.

He and Rhodes were sentenced last month after being found guilty of shooting to death Kalberg last September near here.

Shields and Rhodes escaped from a jail at Mountain Home, Idaho, kidnaped Kalberg, and then killed him.

The two Idaho men were each sentenced to 10 years in prison for kidnaping and 10 years for robbery, in addition to receiving their sentences to die for the murder.

At the time of the sentencing July 30, Coate recommended that the two appeal to the Montana Supreme Court.

Tuesday's action by Rhodes was the first appeal by either of the convicted killers.

Montana's last legal execution was 30 years ago. A man was hanged in Missoula in 1943.

Hagerman society story inaccurate

HAGERMAN — A story in the Tuesday Times-News about the Hagerman Emergency Rescue Society is inaccurate. The reported society does not exist.

The Times-News regrets the story, and any inconvenience its publication might have caused.

Construction set next year for AF crossing

BOISE (UPI) — Construction of the initial two lanes of an American Falls crossing of the Snake River is planned for next year, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus announced Wednesday.

Andrus said the decision to proceed with the construction will permit utilization of approximately $900,000 available from a special federal fund earmarked for replacement of bridges on dams.

He said construction of the two lanes, down stream from the present American Falls dam crossing, will begin Dec. 1 with completion expected Jan. 1, 1975.

Emergency action will be required by the legislature when it meets in January, however, to provide the necessary funding for the state's share of the initial two-lane highway crossing.

Under a plan adopted at a meeting Tuesday, Andrus said, the two-lane facility to be constructed below the dam will become a one-way couplet when the replacement dam is successfully completed. That dam will carry two new lanes on its crest, he said.

Effort successful

KETCHUM — Members of the new Blaine County Search and Rescue squad chalked up their first major search operation today as a "total success" but had to admit it was not too dramatic.

The night long effort began when Rev. Theron Piper, Caldwell, called the sheriff's department at 1:40 a.m. to report a companion, Irvin Davis, Emmett, had failed to meet him at their base camp in the Placer Creek area.

The four-member search team, headed by W. D. Martindale, worked until 5:20 a.m. before locating the missing Emmett man asleep in a jeep.

Rev. Piper said they had gone to Placer Creek to repair and recover the jeep which was damaged in a roll over accident July 21. Rev. Piper left earlier for the couple's base camp and Davis was to follow but he did not arrive. Rev. Piper walked from the camp to Ketchum to report him missing.

Sheriff's officers said in spite of the fact the missing man was not actually lost or in any danger, the search and rescue squad is due a sizeable amount of credit for responding and bringing the search to a successful conclusion.

Bellevue pond captures evening light

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices opened higher Wednesday in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average had risen 0.07 to 872.14, shortly after the opening. Advances were nearly double the declines, among 345 issues traded. Stocks continued to rebound, apparently attracting some bargain-hunting after a month of steady losses. The Dow climbed 1.36 to 872.07, but with little in the news background to encourage a return to a normal level of trading, volume remained sub-par.

A number of comments on the economy were forthcoming from top administration figures. Deputy press secretary Gerald Warren said late Tuesday that President Nixon is confident there will be no recession next year, and does not contemplate a tax increase. Treasury Secretary George Shultz said early Wednesday the nation still faces inflationary troubles, but added "there are good spots on the horizon."

The dollar, lately an occasional source of outside encouragement to stock investors, moved sharply downward at Frankfurt, Zurich, London and Paris.

US said willing to convert dollar

(Washington Star-News) — The Nixon administration, optimistic about this country's ability to compete abroad, indicates a new willingness to restore convertibility of the dollar. This attitude was expressed in a white paper, released by the Treasury Monday, outlining the United States' position in negotiations to reform the international monetary system. A significant concession to foreign demands was implied.

Convertibility is an obligation assumed by a country to redeem amounts of its currency held by foreign central banks. Redemption can be through payment of the foreign country's currency, or payments of reserve assets — mainly Special Drawing Rights issued by the International Monetary Fund, or gold. Because it spends, lends, invests and gives away more money abroad than it earns — its currency accumulates in foreign central banks. Convertibility, in effect, is a method of paying a country's debts by redeeming its currency in I.O.U.s.

President Nixon suspended convertibility of the dollar in August, 1971, when he halted sales of government gold for dollars and transfers of S. D. R.'s and other reserve assets. U.S.-dollar obligations abroad exceeded reserve assets by several multiples. Unredeemable dollars piled up abroad as the United States continued running payments deficits. Restoration of convertibility became a key foreign demand, but until now the United States has been most reluctant to pledge such action.

Politics brings together game's best for U.S. open

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — Politics within the game has kept the world's top tennis players from competing together for the past 12 months but all of them, including the two top seeds, Stan Smyth and Ilie Nastase, will be at Forest Hills today for the start of the richest U.S. Open championship in history.

This year's prize money amounts to $227,000 with both singles titles worth $25,000 to the winner. Smith and Billie Jean King are the respective favorites. It is the first time in history the women have played for a similar prize as the men, something which has not gone down too well with the men. Last year, Forest Hills was the only tournament of the world's big four which drew a top field and tournament director Bill Talbot has again achieved his aim of presenting "the best there is in the game today." The top stars bypassed the Australian Open due to the lengthy travel involved and because of the poor prize money offered; many skipped the French titles in Paris because of a dislike of clay courts and a heavy winter indoor schedule, while Wimbledon saw over 70 of the top males stay away because a fellow pro, Nikki Pilić of Yugoslavia, had his entry rejected.

FILER — The Filer Wildcats put their hopes for a good season on the line this year and it will require some newcomers to pick up the slack and make it all work.

Coach Ray Berryhill notes "we have a good experienced backfield. But graduation hurts us from tackle to tackle. The boys' attitude is good but we'll be fairly small this year." The backfield has good size, however. The four returning veterans are Bruce Lincoln, 6-1, 205 pound halfback; Steve Thaele, 6-0, 170-pound quarterback; Lonn Thaele, 5-11, 170-pound halfback and Tony Nice, deep back, at 5-10, 175 pounds.

tackles Dan Denton, 6-2 and 185, and Kelly Flinn, 5-9, 180 pounds. They are supplemented by Ted McBurney, a 5-10, 190-pound sophomore has been showing well at fullback.

The Wildcats finished with a 5-5 record last year and lost six notables off that squad, including Ron Griff who was the second leading ground gainer in the South Central Idaho Conference.

The Wildcats will play all their home games in the afternoon this year due to problem with lighting. They open at 1:30 p.m. Friday at home, entertaining the Shoshone Indians. The remainder of the schedule was not available.

Siebert's pitching helps Texas end Oriole win streak

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Toby Harrah singled home the tie-breaking run in the fifth inning Tuesday night as the Texas Rangers ended the Baltimore Orioles 14-game winning streak, 5-3, behind the clutch relief pitching of Sonny Siebert.

Harrah's fifth inning single scored Ken Suarez to snap a 3-3 tie, ending the major league's longest winning streak this season as well as losing pitcher Dave McNally's streak of 17 consecutive wins over the Ranger-Senator franchise, which spanned the last four seasons.

Angels keep NY on skids

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — Bob Oliver drove in three runs with a homer and a single and Lee Stanton hit a solo homer to pace the California Angels to a 5-2 victory over New York which handed the Yankees their seventh straight defeat.

The Yankees got only five hits off southpaw Clyde Wright, who walked one and struck out four to notch his 10th victory against 17 losses. The only runs he allowed came on a two-run homer by Thurman Munson in the seventh inning.

Buhl builds around overall quickness

BUHL — With graduation and transferring taking 16 of the top 22 from last year's team, the Buhl Indians will be presenting a new look to the Gooding Senators Friday night in the first meeting of the season.

and Gooding. Buhl has only eight lettermen returning, including quarterbacks Hepworth, 5-10 and 170 pounds, and Rolkinga, at 6-0 and 164. Pat Hamilton is 6-0 and 180 while his senior brother, Mike Hamilton, at 6-3 and 181, will go at split end.

Legion finals open in Lewiston

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — Teams from as far away as Puerto Rico and as near as Portland, Ore., gathered today for the annual American Legion baseball World Series.

The series opens Thursday morning with West Hartford, Conn., meeting Richfield, Minn., but even before the tournament begins there has been a blot on it. Numerous dignitaries, including Idaho Gov. Cecil Andrus, have said they will not cross picket lines at the Lewiston Elks Temple for the kickoff banquet tonight.

Indians hang 4th loss on KC

CLEVELAND (UPI) — John Lowenstein singled in the first run and triggered a three-run sixth inning with a single Friday night to pace the Cleveland Indians to a 4-3 victory over Kansas City that extended the Royals' losing streak to four games.

Denver and Viks swap receivers

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — The Minnesota Vikings Tuesday traded veteran wide receiver Gene Washington, who has been hobbled the past two seasons with a foot injury, to the Denver Broncos for wide receiver Rod Sherman and an undisclosed 1974 draft choice.

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI) — Mike Siani, starting wide receiver for the Oakland Raiders, was missing from the club's training camp Tuesday, reportedly demanding a pay raise.

Chicago drops Milwaukee 6-4

CHICAGO (UPI) — Tony Muser's two-run double in the eighth inning drove in what proved to be the winning runs Tuesday night as the Chicago White Sox stretched their winning streak to four games with a 6-4 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Twins blank Detroit 5-0

DETROIT (UPI) — Joe Decker won his sixth straight game on a five-hit and Joe Lige drove in a pair of runs with a single and a homer Tuesday night to lead the Minnesota Twins to a 5-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Broncos cut BSC's Marshall

DENVER (UPI) — Denver Bronco coach John Ralston reached the National Football League's 49-player limit Tuesday by cutting five rookies — including fifth-round draft choice Charles McTorry, a defensive back from Tennessee State.

Tapering off

TOKYO (UPI) — World heavyweight champion George Foreman and challenger Joe "King" Roman of Puerto Rico both took a rest from sparring Tuesday as they toned down their training for Saturday's heavyweight title bout.

A's increase league lead

OAKLAND (UPI) — Ray Fosse's two-run triple and a run-scoring single by Dick Green in the second inning gave Jim Hunter all the help he needed Tuesday night for his 17th victory as the Oakland A's widened their lead in the American League West to 5 1/2 games with a 6-1 triumph over the Boston Red Sox.

Favorites easily advance past U.S. amateur opening

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — Former champion Billy Campbell, British Amateur champion Dick Siderowf and veteran William Hyndman III all advanced to the second round of the 73rd U.S. Amateur golf championship with impressive victories in Tuesday's first round.

Campbell, the 1964 champion and last man to take the title in match play competition, wasted little time in eliminating young Mack Murray of Jacksonville Beach, Fla., 7 and 6. Campbell, 50, of Huntington, W. Va., birdied two of the first three holes against his 23-year-old opponent, won the first six holes and made the turn on the par 71 6,816-yard Inverness Club course with a seven-hole margin. The match ended on the 19th hole after both players parred the first three back nine holes. Hyndman, 57, of Huntington Valley, Pa., disposed of Bruce Dobbs of Ypsilanti, Mich., in only 13 holes, winning 6 and 5 and never losing a hole. Siderowf, 36, who won the British Amateur title at Royal Borthwick in Wales, had a rugged time with young John Sutter of West Springfield, Mass. Sutter, 21, led Siderowf going to the eighth but the veteran Walker Cup player birdied both the eighth and ninth holes to make the turn in 35 and hold a one-hole lead.

Sutter evened it with a bird on the 11th but Siderowf took the lead for good with a par five on the 12th. He won the 15th with another par and locked up the match with a birdie three on the 17th when he hit his second shot to within 18 inches of the pin. The most lopsided win of the day was turned in by Rodney Foster, a member of the British Walker Cup team who buried John Tuft of Seattle, Wash., 8 and 7, winning eight of the last nine holes after the two players halved the first two.

Another Britisher, veteran Mike Bonallack, five time British Amateur champion, also had an easy time in eliminating Henry Russell of Miami Beach, Fla., 5 and 4.

Cubs' Carty haunts ex-Brave teammates; Aaron cracks 706

ATLANTA (UPI) — Rico Carty, a former Braves' star, returned in triumph to Atlanta Stadium Tuesday night by driving in four runs as the Chicago Cubs beat Atlanta 9-6 despite Hank Aaron's 706th lifetime homer.

Aaron's homer in the first inning for Atlanta, a towering drive over the 375-foot mark in left field, knocked in three runs. Carty, 33, drove in four runs as the Cubs beat Atlanta 9-6. Carty, who was traded to the Cubs last season, had a career-high four hits and four runs scored. He also drove in four runs.

Garrett started things off in the sixth when, with one out, he hit his 10th homer of the year on a 3-2 pitch off loser Clay Kirby (7-15) over the right field wall. Consecutive singles by Felix Millan, Rusty Staub and Cleon Jones brought home the inning's second run.

Wendell to be down in speed and size for football season

WENDELL — For the first time in five years the Wendell Trojans won't have the blazing speed that have made them all-the-way threats on every play. And this is the lightest team Wendell has put on the field in several seasons. Coach Yogi Behrens is building around nine lettermen in pointing to this Friday's opener with the Tigers at Jerome.

The loss of Kip Dennis and Alan Stevenson to graduation took that track-type speed and some size and experience went with them. However, the Trojans will have two of the starting backfield returning in fullback Matt Bunn and quarterback Kent Sisson. The Trojans also have some speed possibilities in junior halfback Pat Higgenbotham who ran on the state champion quarter-mile relay last spring.

Wendell isn't overloaded with size and the non-lettermen generally are among the lightest. Bunn is 6-1 and goes 190 pounds while Sisson is 5-10 and 174. Higgenbotham is 5-11 and 157. The biggest man in the line is Robert Fabella at 5-11 and 250 pounds but he is the only one listed over 200. Additionally, only three Trojans will top 175 pounds. Returning in the backfield with Higgenbotham is 5-8, 147-pound junior Tracy Scott at

Rubber plastic mold to create synthetic heart

CHICAGO (UPI)—A mold of rubber or plastic, a soft, spongy substance with the feel of living tissue, and a dose of radiation, could be the breakthrough scientists have been looking for to create a totally synthetic human heart.

Dr. Buddy D. Ratner and Allen S. Hoffman of the University of Washington, in a paper presented Tuesday at the American Chemical Society's 66th national meeting, outlined a method of reducing rejection of synthetic materials implanted in the human body.

"Hydrogels"—soft, synthetic substances which feel like living tissue—can be grafted to silicon rubber and other materials to render them more compatible with blood and tissue fluids, the doctors said.

A series of hydrogels have been produced for biological testing.

"The ultimate result might hopefully be a new generation of trouble-free biomaterials which could be creatively used by the medical profession to prolong lives and ease pain without adverse reactions," the authors said.

One of the chief advantages of hydrogels, the doctors said, is that they may be washed thoroughly with water, removing all traces of chemical used in their manufacture which might interfere with their acceptance by the body.

The hydrogels also contain a large amount of water and may present a false water surface, fooling the body's defense mechanisms into thinking the hydrogel is not really there.

Ratner and Hoffman said the hydrogels by themselves are not strong enough for artery sections or an artificial heart. The heart would be flexed millions of times while in the body, and the soft, spongy hydrogels would never stand up to such a test.

But the doctors outlined a procedure to harden the finished product by grafting hydrogels onto rubber or plastic with radiation.

"The radiation grafting procedure consists of immersing a rubber or plastic material in a solution which contains the components needed to form the hydrogel, and then exposed to Cobalt 60," they said.

This process coats the harder material with hydrogel while leaving no trace of radiation in the final product.

"These materials are viewed by the body as hydrogels since only the hydrogel surface is exposed," they said. "Yet the core of the material serves as a 'strong support.'"

Testimony ends in trial of 8 Vietnam veterans

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Testimony ended in the conspiracy trial of eight members of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War (VVAW) Tuesday and one defendant predicted "at least a hung jury."

"I'm apprehensive, but I would be apprehensive if we had put on a month-long case," said the former VVAW national coordinator, Peter P. Mahoney.

Mahoney, 24, a former seminary student from New Orleans, faces a possible five-year prison sentence if found guilty of conspiring with other VVAW members to disrupt the 1972 Republican National Convention at Miami Beach with riots and armed raids on police and communications targets.

"I feel we have at least a hung jury," Mahoney said.

His comment came after the defense, in a surprise move, rested its case after calling only one witness, a bomb expert.

The defense had been expected to question a string of witnesses to try to discredit the testimony of two government informers—William H. Lemmer and Charles H. Becker—who infiltrated secret Gainesville meetings in defendant Scott Camil's attic.

In a strategy meeting Monday night, the defendants and their lawyers and research assistants voted 10-7 to rest the case after questioning Dr. Steven Stellman, a University of Colorado chemist.

"We felt if the jury doesn't believe the informers, we're lying now, there really was no more we could do," one defendant said.

U.S. District Judge Winston F. Arrow recessed the jury until 9:30 a.m. Thursday morning and huddled with lawyers today to discuss his instructions to the jury and lay out ground rules for final arguments.

NRA will honor private lands

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News Writer

BURLEY — "Private land rights will be honored" in the Sawtooth National Recreation Area (SNRA), Gray Reynolds, SNRA superintendent told the Burley Chamber of Commerce Monday.

Gray told chamber members that the law which established the 754,000-acre "Recreation area on the Salmon River in central Idaho required that it be managed to protect the natural, scenic, historical, pastoral and fish and wildlife values" of the area.

The law also provides for the enhancement of the area through other uses such as timber harvesting, mining and livestock grazing as long as they don't "substantially impair" other values of the area, he said.

The land use plan being drawn up by the SNRA now is based on an extensive resource inventory including social, political, economic and environmental aspects of the area's development, Reynolds said.

"This isn't the government in there with the big arm trying to take land away from the people," he said. The SNRA put the proposal before the public to get and use their feedback in developing a final plan, he said.

Viewpoints had been presented by individuals that the SNRA had not considered, Reynolds said, and these would be studied. We will evaluate the input, he said, and the proposed regulations "will be altered."

Ken Dittmer, SNRA official, said that the recreation area included 25,000 acres of land owned by 1,100 private landowners and a "function normally assumed by state and local governments is now under federal control."

"I don't like to see the federal government step in either," he said.

The legislation talks about "undesirable developments and subdivisions" Dittmer said, and "someone has to define what that is."

"There isn't any way we can satisfy everyone in every respect," Dittmer told the group, but "I can assure everybody that the input we have received will have a big effect on what we do with the private land."

Dittmer said he saw some uses which did not conform and expected "relocation of some existing uses and acquisition of scenic easements on a volunteer basis to maintain the status quo."

"We want to maintain as much land in private ownership as possible," Reynolds said, "we are not looking for more acres to manage. The problem is meeting the law's charge to preserve the pastoral."

Forming a balance "is what we are really interested in getting too," he said.

"Acquisition is not taking place and may not," Dittmer said.

The SNRA proposal will be sent to the regional office then to the Washington, D. C. office, Reynolds said, and when it is approved will be made public, probably about November.

The proposal will "have quite an effect on all of Idaho and especially southeast Idaho," he said and must be flexible so that it can be revised as things change.

The plan will be set up for 20 years with provisions for revisions every year, Reynolds said.

Reynolds said currently the NRA is reviewing between 5,000 and 7,000 mineral claims in the area and testing their validity. Those which are not valid will be challenged in the courts he said. But if they are valid and don't hurt wildlife, visual or fishery resources will be allowed to operate, he said.

Restrictions made earlier this year on the use of off-road vehicles are "working well," he said.

The snowmobile rules will be changed this year, he said, as they can be classified a "valid use." They will, however, be banned from key winter game areas and would be regulated to reduce conflicts with cross-country skiers and other winter recreationists.

Big puff

MRS. ARNOLD (ELDORA) SCHOLKOWSKY of Salmon displays 14 pound puff ball mushroom found near Salmon on Geertson Creek during an outing with friends. The mushroom is 16 inches wide and 10 1/2 inches high and will be displayed at the Lemhi County Fair.

Gasoline bombs hurled at ambassador's house

ROME (UPI) — Self-styled film censors hurled gasoline bombs in the courtyard of the residence of Danish Ambassador Hans Tabor today in protest against a film supported by the Danish government but criticized by Pope Paul VI as "blasphemous." Police said one bomb exploded in the courtyard of the ambassador's residence and another against a car owned by a Pakistan servant of the ambassador, Ismail Parnais, 23. Leaflets found on the sidewalk in front of the residence said: "Catholics against the Danish government who financed the blasphemous film."

Non-Meat Protein Possibilities!

By the time you read this you might find the meat cases in our stores a little like Old Mother Hubbard's cupboard! Canned foods, too, have been more in demand. With the new pack coming on in the near future, we should realize some relief in canned food supplies! This week, I thought perhaps I could be more helpful in suggesting other sources of protein you might want to consider besides meat.

Take Cheese—did you know 1/2 cup of cottage cheese or 3 ounces of natural cheese will give you the same amount of protein as a 3-ounce serving of meat? And remember, there is no waste to cheese. When you buy a pound, you have a full pound, ready to eat. And you can save money by slicing, shredding, grating or cubing your own cheese.

Cheese can be frozen, too. Because it may crumble slightly when thawed, it certainly can serve as an ingredient in any casserole. Frozen cottage cheese would also be a better casserole or "dessert ingredient" than served as a salad after thawing.

Use every bit of cheese! If it has dried out, just grate it and refrigerate in a lightly-sealed jar. Then it's handy to shake on casseroles and vegetables.

Another protein bonus is eggs. Two large-size eggs are equivalent to the protein value in a 3-ounce serving of meat. Even when egg prices fluctuate toward the higher level, they are an excellent protein and mineral value for the money.

Peanut butter or peanuts can substitute for meat occasionally, too. A 1/2 cup of peanut butter in sandwiches, or 1/2 cup shelled peanuts, provide 1/2 of the necessary daily protein. Consider peanut butter in muffins, desserts and soups, too!

Cooked dried peas, beans or lentils are also good meat substitutes. About one cup would provide a serving of your daily protein allowance. When you serve any of this with an animal source of protein, such as a glass of milk, cottage cheese or bits of ham or pork with the beans (or peas or lentils), you will improve the value of the protein.

I sincerely share your concern over rising food costs and food supply shortages, and do hope these suggestions will be of help to you. Have a safe holiday!
