SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—Chile's armed forces demanded Marxist President Salvador Allende resign today and sent jet bombers to attack the presidential palace where he was holding out.

The air attack on the palace came after Allende's presidential guard and his civilian aides surrendered to a military ultimatum which Allende defied.

The ultimatum came after Army and police units besieging the palace fired more than 300 rounds into the sprawling edifice. Casualties were not immediately known.

The military dynamited transmitters of radio stations supporting Allende to knock them off the air.

The armed forces declared martial law throughout the country, imposed a curfew and banned the carrying of guns.

The Chilean cities of Valparaiso, Quillota, Quintero and Talcahuano were placed under naval control.

At least 17 bombs were dropped in the attack on the palace, one of which scored a direct hit. Troops and police outside launched a frontal attack on the palace after the bombing.

Fighting was heavy between the soldiers surrounding the palace and snipers supporting Allende hiding in neighboring buildings. The UPI office was raked with machinegun fire aimed at what was believed to be a sniper's nest in offices above belonging to Allende's political coalition.

Allende refused to resign when the heads of the armed forces and national police rose in revolt announcing he had been "dismissed."

Allende called on his followers to support him and the military chiefs ordered a combined air and ground attack launched against the palace. Aerial bombs quickly touched off a small fire in the presidential offices.

The ground attack on the palace was confined to light and heavy machinegun fire. However, tanks and armored cars were deployed within a block of the palace.

Allende and a few of his closest aides were reported inside the palace. But with the exception of snipers in adjoining buildings, there appeared to be no organized resistance to the attack.

The revolt was touched off in early morning when the armed forces broadcast a proclamation demanding Allende "immediately" resign and turn over the office to them. They said they were "united to initiate the historic mission of freeing our country from the Marxist yoke."

Hammett woman killed
HAMMETT — Mrs. Ann-Marie Garza, 21, Hammett, died Monday afternoon at Gooding Memorial Hospital of injuries received in a farm accident near Hammett.

Mrs. Garza fell from a potato combine on a field where she was working on a farm owned by Oro-Verde Farms, Hagerman, hospital officials said. She was brought to the hospital by ambulance and died in less than an hour.

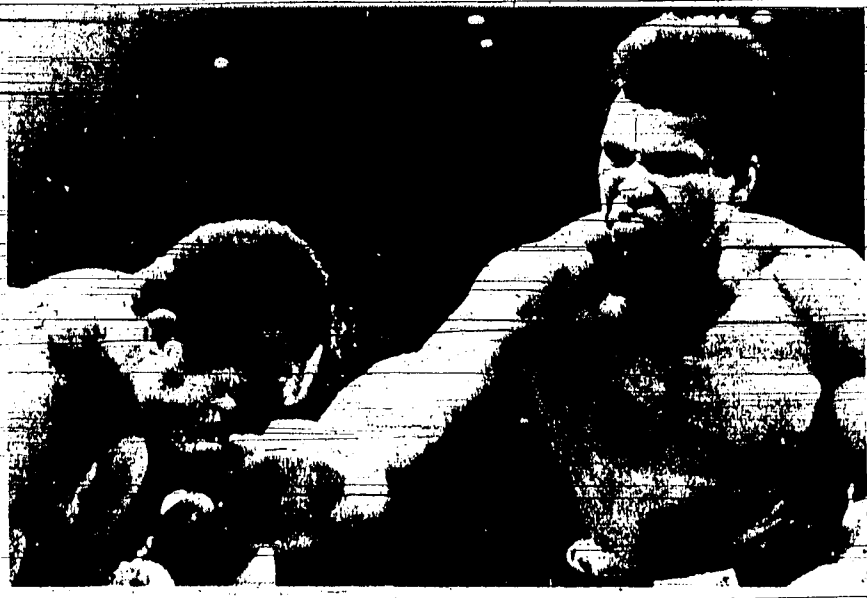

Mrs. Garza is survived by her husband, Gilberto Garza, Hammett, and two small boys.

The body will be sent to Fair, Tex., for requiem mass and final rites. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Thompson Chapel, Gooding.

Gooding man bound over
GOODING — Magistrate Charles Shaw has bound Juan Ruiz, 52, Gooding, over to Fifth District Court on murder and attempted murder charges in the death of his son-in-law and wounding of his daughter.

Ruiz was accused of fatally shooting Don Wooten, 18, Gooding, Aug. 30 and wounding Mrs. Eva Wooten, 18, in the arm in an apartment above a Gooding cafe.

Ruiz surrendered to police after he was wounded during an hour-long gunbattle with officers.

Ali connects

MUHAMMAD ALI scores with a solid right to the head to Ken Norton as he goes on to win a split decision in Inglewood, Calif., Monday.

Norton beat Ali five months ago when he broke Ali's jaw.

Laotian peace pact due
VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Premier Souvanna Phouma announced today that a peace pact ending more than 10 years of war in Laos would be signed by the government and the Communist-led Pathet Lao by the end of the week.

The 73-year-old neutralist leader told a political gathering this morning that a "modified" draft protocol of the Feb. 21 Laotian cease-fire agreement was acceptable to the Laotian military leadership.

Patman urges credit rationing
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Wright Patman, chairman of the House Banking Committee, suggests the government ration credit so average people can compete with corporations when they want to borrow from banks.

Patman made his proposal—under which banks presumably would be required to set aside a portion of their lendable funds for small businesses, homebuyers and consumers—at the start Monday of two weeks of hearings into the credit squeeze.

The Texas Democrat spelled out no specifics and did not offer a bill. The administration successfully fought off credit allocation—or rationing—last spring when Congress extended the Economic Stabilization Act.

Nixon goals added to bill list
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield broadened a list of bills Congress will consider this year to include six President Nixon wants and which were not under consideration previously.

The six added by Mansfield at a meeting with Senate committee chairmen Monday were tax reform, a program of community development; a campaign reform commission; tough new penalties for heroin traffickers; and a restoration of the death penalty for certain crimes; construction of deep water ports; and deregulation of natural gas.

New York adds drug judges
NEW YORK (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller swore in 16 new judges Monday to help handle an expected increase in drug trials because of the state's strict new antidrug law.

He said the new law was designed "for people—and aimed against the pusher. But the law is just a tool until you put it to work."

Mitchell, Stans ask delay

NEW YORK (UPI)—Attorneys for John N. Mitchell and Maurice Stans made a last-ditch effort today to win a delay of the two former cabinet members' trial on perjury and conspiracy trials. A federal appeals court reserved its decision until later in the day.

Appeals Judge Henry J. Friendly said the decision on whether to begin the trial as scheduled today would be announced in open court at 2 p.m. EDT. The three-judge panel heard 55 minutes of argument on the issue during the morning.

When asked if he thought the reserved decision was a good sign, Mitchell replied, "I don't know. That's what I hire lawyers for."

The defense argued that it had insufficient time to prepare and adequate defense for Mitchell, former attorney general, and Stans, a former commerce secretary.

The prosecution denied that contention and said there was no legal basis for the appeals court to interfere in the ruling made by a lower court. The trial judge, Lee Gagliardi, had previously denied defense motions for a delay or dismissal of the charges.

Stans' attorneys, Walter J. Bonner and Robert Barker, asked the court to delay the trial until January. Bonner said it was not an ordinary case and there would be a miscarriage of justice by a premature trial.

The courtroom was packed with spectators and newsmen as defense lawyers began their arguments.

Mitchell was a surprise spectator as his lawyer, Peter Fleming, Jr., told the three-judge appeal court that to go to trial as scheduled this afternoon would be a "perversion" of the speedy trial rule.

"I am not ready and that is a candid statement," Fleming told the court.

The attorney said that much of the defense time has been spent in matters unrelated to trial issues, namely the nationally televised Watergate hearings.

If the court rules against Stans and Mitchell, their trial will begin as scheduled later today.

Youth Ranch aid dives

BURLEY — Donations to the Idaho Youth ranch have plummeted to about $400 from $3,000 per month since the recent "upheaval" at the ranch.

James Worsley, executive director, told Burley Chamber of Commerce members Monday it costs nearly $600 per month to keep a boy at the ranch, with $150 provided by the state.

The director blamed lack of communication for the problems which culminated in dismissal and resignation of most of the staff earlier this year.

In accordance with the ranch's philosophy of "honesty," Worsley explained the background of recent ranch investigations and their causes and told the chamber that "we're on the right road now."

Worsley listed several changes at the ranch designed to provide a better program for the boys.

The age of eligibility for admittance has been dropped to those boys aged 8 to 14. The ranch personnel and facilities will be better able to serve boys in this range, he said.

Hanoi warned by US

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States and South Vietnam warned North Vietnam today against reconstructing abandoned U.S. air strips in Communist-occupied South Vietnam, and the Saigon government said it would take "appropriate measures."

The United States said Hanoi was running "grave risks."

According to the South Vietnamese, the reconstructed air strips could be used by North Vietnamese MIG fighter bombers. Saigon said North Vietnam was preparing to wage a "new war" by refurbishing the airfields.

A U.S. protest note was delivered to the North Vietnamese embassy in Paris and made public here. It said the United States "wishes strongly to emphasize the grave risks which the DRV (North Vietnam) would run by violating the airspace sovereignty of the Republic of (South) Vietnam."

The U.S. note also called on Hanoi to remove missiles and anti-aircraft weapons "which it has illegally introduced into South Vietnam since Jan. 28."

Nguyen Bich Mac, spokesman for South Vietnam's foreign ministry, said, "This is a serious warning," but he avoided answering the question whether he would rule out South Vietnamese air strikes against the airports and other military complexes if the warning were not heeded.

South Vietnam also announced it had asked the International Commission for Control and Supervision (ICCS) to make an immediate investigation of the charges. Mac declined to say what the government would do if the ICCS were unable or unwilling to make the investigation.

(A communique signed by the South Vietnamese, North Vietnamese, Viet Cong and the United States on June 13, intended to clarify the January Paris peace agreement, said the stated prohibitions against military activity "shall not hamper or restrict...the use by each party in areas under its control of military support elements, such as engineer and transportation units, in repair and construction of public facilities and the transportation and supply of the population.")

Cassia official axes food stamps

BURLEY — Cassia County commissioner Weldon Beck told Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS) officials Monday he would "refuse" to sign any document returning the county to the food stamp program.

DECS Region Eligibility Director, Theo Murdock, met with the commissioners Monday and told them the status of the food commodity program is still in question following recent national legislation.

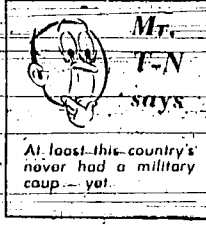

A bill, signed by President Nixon last month, requires each state to develop a plan, prior to Jan. 1, 1974, to operate the food stamp program in "every political subdivision of the state" unless it can be proven unpractical in a given area.

Murdock said his agency had received conflicting reports on the status of the commodities program from the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and he could not say what the future of the program was.

Cassia County changed to the commodities program last January.

County officials said the cost to the county of the commodities program is about the same as the food stamp program.

Before the commodities program was adopted, officials reported receiving numerous complaints about the alleged abuse of food stamp buying. These complaints have almost completely disappeared under the commodities plan, they said.

Ehrlichman faces Watergate probers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John D. Ehrlichman, former chief domestic adviser to President Nixon, went before the Watergate grand jury today while lawyers for Nixon, special prosecutor Archibald Cox and Federal Judge John J. Sirica hounded for an appeals court battle on the President's Watergate tapes.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, with all nine judges sitting at Nixon's request, scheduled a three-day argument on an appeal of Sirica's order to the white house to turn over to him tape recordings by Nixon with presidential aides.

Ehrlichman, indicted last week in a Watergate-related case, had no comment to reporters as he entered the U.S. courthouse.

Ehrlichman's lawyers sought unsuccessfully last week to quash a Cox subpoena for Ehrlichman to testify about the 1971 brekin of the offices of Daniel Ellsberg's Los Angeles psychiatrist.

Ehrlichman was indicted by a Los Angeles County grand jury a week ago in connection with that brekin. Published reports said Cox intends to ask for further indictments stemming from the Ellsberg case.

Ehrlichman's lawyers said Cox also wanted to question Ehrlichman further on the Watergate bugging, among other things.

Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., who severely criticized Nixon's handling of Watergate last spring, said the scandal "has been allowed to go on too long and occupy too much valuable time..."

In an article in the New York Times, Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential candidate, said that it was unfortunate that Watergate came on the heels of the nation's preoccupation with the Vietnam War.

Goldwater said that as a result, the government's attention was turned from "the many and grave problems" that the war had left.

He also said Watergate demonstrated "how impossible it is for a Senate committee to obtain cooperation from the Chief Executive in a matter of equal national importance by beating him over the head week in and week out in a public forum."

Goldwater recommended that the committee finish its work in closed session and allow the courts to take over control of the affair.

In other Watergate developments:

Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, Jr., making his Washington debut as a Republican, said he believed "there are times when the President would be right—in not obeying a decision of the Supreme Court."

The Senate Watergate committee meets Wednesday for the first time since televised hearings ended Aug. 7 and is expected to decide to resume hearings next week on the "dirty tricks" and campaign financing aspects of its probe.

Church seeks 7 per cent SS increase

By LESTER KINSOLVING
Times News Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON D.C. — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, introduced legislation in Congress Monday to raise Social Security benefits 7 per cent within the next four months.

As chairman of Special Senate Committee on the Aging, Church conducted a public hearing which led off with a Ralph Nader denunciation of the hearing aid industry.

Regarding his proposal to raise Social Security benefits 7 per cent Jan. 1, 1974, rather than the present 5 1/2 per cent July 1, Church noted:

"All age groups have felt the harmful effects of spiraling inflation, but older Americans, living on fixed incomes, have been harder hit than anyone else... about 27 per cent of their budget goes for food, in contrast to approximately 16 per cent of the rest of the population... five million elderly Americans have incomes below the poverty level as designated by the federal government."

But another member of Church's committee on the

Sodium nitrites may contribute to cancer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government researchers are looking for possible contributing cause of cancer in bacon and other cured meats but have reached no definite conclusions, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said today.

The study, which began several months ago and is now at the mid-way point, centers on the use of sodium nitrite as a preservative in hot dogs, hams, fish, bacon and a long list of other meat products.

The chemical has been used for decades to give cured meat its red color and to prevent the growth of bacteria which can produce deadly botulism poisoning.

Recent studies, both within and outside the government, have suggested that sodium nitrite may be responsible for the formation of nitrosamines—chemical agents which have been proven to cause cancer in some test animals.

One possible solution under study is a theory that large quantities of vitamin C ascorbic acid can somehow prevent sodium nitrite from triggering nitrosamine formations.

The nitrosamine question has been under study by a panel of experts formed by the Agriculture Department and the FDA. The health problem was last in the news on July 19, when the two agencies revealed they had found nitrosamines in some U.S. meat products where sodium nitrite was mixed with spices before being placed in some prepared meat products such as sandwich meats and sausages.

The government ordered the nation's meat packing industry

Allende first Marxist named in free election

By United Press International

When Dr. Salvador Allende Gossens was elected Chile's president on Nov. 3, 1970, he shattered the Cold War myth that a Marxist could never be freely elected.

Allende, a physician and leader of Chile's Socialist party, had put together a winning coalition of leftist parties, including the Chilean Communist party.

Since then, Allende has tried to move Chile in the direction of a socialist economy, through legislative means — only to be frustrated by the Christian Democrats' control of Congress.

Born in the southern city of Valparaiso July 26, 1908, Salvador Allende is a member of Chile's upper-middle class.

He excelled in his studies at the school of medicine of the University of Chile. He was active in student politics, and readings in Marxism and Leninism convinced him that revolutionary measures were needed to solve Chile's severe social and economic problems.

Like most Latin American countries, Chilean society was sharply divided between a wealthy middle and upper class and a large number of poor and landless peasants.

In 1933 Allende founded the Socialist party of Chile as an alternative to the Communist party's adherence to Soviet party line. He was first elected to office — a member of the Chamber of Deputies — in 1937.

Allende made his first bid for the presidency in 1951 in an alliance with the Communists, then outlawed. He was defeated and tried again in 1958 with strong backing from the Communists. He was narrowly defeated by a candidate from the Conservative-Liberal party coalition.

In 1964, Allende ran again. This time he was defeated by Eduardo Frei, the Christian Democrat. Allende received about 39 per cent of the vote to Frei's 56 per cent.

In January, 1970 Allende was nominated by the Popular Unity, a coalition of Socialists, Communists, middle-class radicals, dissident Christian Democrats and others. Frei was barred from running for a second term and Allende's main opposition came from conservative former President Jorge Alessandri.

It was during the election of 1970 that the International Telephone and Telegraph (ITT) reportedly approached the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency with an offer for funds to sabotage Allende's election.

Allende's platform called for ending inflation and unemployment; nationalization of "monopolies" (such as the ITT-owned Chilean telephone system); extensive agrarian reform, revisions in the judicial system and replacement of the two-house Congress by a "People's Assembly."

He displayed his revolutionary Marxist doctrine, instead of pumping for "Chilean Socialism."

Allende's coalition won 38.3 per cent of the vote, narrowly defeating Alessandri's 34.9 per cent.

Subsequent withdrawals of funds from Chile by wealthy individuals who fled the country put the Chilean economy in a squeeze. A long series of strikes, student demonstrations and riots, and most recently a crippling transportation strike by owner-drivers of trucks, paralyzed the economy and brought most activity to a halt.

Repeated efforts to settle the strikes, including bringing military leaders into the government, failed, apparently resulting in today's military rebellion.

Hospital studies completed

By BONNIE HAYD JONES
Times News-Writer

TWIN FALLS— Architects have completed building needs studies for the proposed expansion of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and should have preliminary sketches in about 10 days.

The developments were reported Monday night by R. W. Pierce, building committee chairman, during the September board meeting.

He said representatives of the architect firm, under the direction of Dale Hall, have interviewed heads of various hospital departments for ideas on location of various facilities and services for the best possible convenience to the staff and patients and for best efficiency.

Hospital Administrator James Rosenbaum read a three-page letter he has sent to Hall explaining the hospital's financial limitations and the need to trim some of the less essential items from the proposals. Rosenbaum said he does not feel it would be possible to pass more than a $3.5 to $4 million bond issue and expansion would have to stay within this figure, taking into consideration the probable building cost increases, six months from now.

Pierce also stressed the problems to be encountered in the expansion work while keeping the hospital in operation.

Rosenbaum told the hospital board that in spite of streamlining of the collection program and an all out effort to collect hospital bills, the hospital may have to borrow money to keep operating. He said probably in November it will reach a point where funds must be borrowed to meet operating costs. Rosenbaum said the hospital is still being held to the six per cent rate increase which does not cover the operating cost increase of 10 to 40 per cent on various items.

John Hayden, hospital controller, presented a report for August, showing to date this year the hospital has recovered $39,079 on overdue accounts compared to $10,250 at the same time last year. The uncollectable accounts for the year stand at $123,372 as compared to $139,281 a year ago.

Hayden also discussed some new plans for collection and billing methods the hospital is considering. Rosenbaum told the board the only revenue the hospital has to anticipate is the unpaid accounts and every effort is being made to collect these and it may seem harsh to some of the hospital customers.

Rosenbaum said the hospital has been getting by this year in spite of the extremely high cost of operating because "we have had a full house all year."

He said one month of below capacity occupancy could put the hospital in a "most unfavorable financial position."

Dr. Ben E. Katz, president of the hospital medical staff, reported on new by-laws the staff is drafting and which will become part of the new hospital by-laws.

Program planned

WITH THE forthcoming Sweet Adelines show nearing, Judy Freeman, left, Twin Falls show chairman, and Maxine Trout, costume chairman, examine the new costumes to be used during the show at 8 p.m. Sept. 22 at the CSI Auditorium. The program, "An Evening With Irving Berlin," will be sung in four-part harmony, barbershop style.

TF music program set

TWIN FALLS— The Twin Falls Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., will present their first annual show, "An Evening with Irving Berlin," at CSI Auditorium Sept. 22 at 8 p.m.

The chorus and quartet members will appear in several costumes and present a program of popular song hits written by Irving Berlin, and will be sung in four-part harmony, barbershop style.

The entertainment committee, regional quartet champions, from Bountiful, Utah, will be featured guests.

Also, the Intervals, a newly formed quartet from the Twin Falls Sweet Adelines Chorus, will sing several numbers.

The Magichords from Magic Valley, the men's barbershop chorus, will also entertain and join the Sweet Adelines to present the finale.

The Sweet Adelines, Inc., is composed of women from all walks of life — housewives, secretaries, and professional women who share a common desire to sing and to promote harmony among all women.

The Twin Falls Chapter is one of over 500 chapters of Sweet Adelines, Inc., which exist throughout the United States (including Hawaii and Alaska), Canada and the Panama Canal Zone.

Hospitalized

TWIN FALLS— Karl T. Chamberlain, 10, Twin Falls, was undergoing examination and treatment today in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital with injuries received when his motorcycle was demolished.

State Patrolman Julio Pena said the Chamberlain youth's motorcycle collided with a car driven by Kenneth R. McCracken, also 19, Twin Falls, when McCracken was attempting a U turn at the intersection of Eastland Drive South and Highland Avenue at 6:59 a.m. today.

The patrolman estimated damage to the McCracken vehicle at $450. McCracken was believed not injured, the officer said. Citations are pending.

TF exceeds blood quota

TWIN FALLS— The 150-pint quota for the Red Cross Blood Drawing in Twin Falls Monday was exceeded by 15 pints when 165 pints were drawn.

Blood drive officials said the amount over the quota was needed because quotas across Idaho have not been met.

The extra blood keeps the Twin Falls Red Cross Chapter about even, drawing against quotas.

Those who completed their first gallon of blood donations included Mrs. Linda Hite, Alfred Olson, Larry Sackett, Edward Thompson, Darold Johnson, Ken L. Schmidt, Rev. Robert VanNest and Tom Mort.

Two gallon donors included Brother Sylvester Sanien, Mrs. Kathy Burgess; three gallon donors, Richard

Four Candidates For Mayor

Freeing Fuel

Heating oil is to be freed for home use under a federal decision to allow burning of coal by power-producing utilities and factories in some areas.

that research be stepped up into ways of making coal suitable generally as a short term solution to U. S. energy needs.

It's a compromise, based on the theory that the primary standards are good enough to satisfy health requirements.

Meanwhile, don't throw away any warm sweaters you may have lying about the house.

This has what some observers describe as a geometric effect. At such a level of pollutant quality — say 3 per cent sulfur — so much usable is available.

But the individual really won't pay any attention to suggestions of this sort until the price of fuel oil has reached a point where it makes a difference to him.

(c) New York Times Service NEW YORK — Coming out of the political pressure-cooker that is Washington, D.C. it is a welcome relief to spend a day enjoying the serene, stately pace of New York City politics, where four candidates for Mayor, yawning and rubbing their eyes, have sauntered out of the starting gate.

Topic here is not politics but gambling. On the way to Manhattan from the airport, the traveler is smitten with billboard advertising urging him to buy a ticket in the state lottery: "It takes so little to win so much."

In the state-operated off-track betting parlors — separate but similar state gambling enterprise — bettors are chatting angrily and amiably about the "superfecta scandal," in which the order the first-four horses finished in some races was alleged to have been fixed.

The gambling fever, of course, is not limited to New York: since New Hampshire led the parade into state lotteries in 1964, six other states have followed suit and to date more than 12 billion dollars have been bet through these official get-rich-quick schemes. Roughly half that money is used by the states for worthy causes, the other half paid back to lottery winners.

State officials love to raise revenues spinlessly. Conservatives grumble that it is immoral, tax reformers call it regressive, but politicians usually point out that "the gambling instinct" is in some people anyway, so why not take the gambling profits out of the hands of racketeers and steer them into schools and hospitals?

Prohibition of liquor, which also went against human nature, led only to the enrichment of racketeers and public disrespect for law — why not legalize gambling? We are beginning to see why not right now. A ship is built for the sake of the passengers, but after a while, passengers discover that the ship is being run for the sake of the ship.

Lotteries in New York and elsewhere have shown that they cannot operate profitably on the customers they win away from illegal gambling. That is why we do not see advertising that says "switch over to us, if you must gamble."

On the contrary, we see advertising doing exactly what advertising does best: creating a new market. Whipping up a demand that did not exist before.

The ads for the lotteries are superb, prize-winning advertising examples; if you have never gambled before, you soon find yourself dying to plunk down your fifty cents to win a million dollars.

But that was not the deal when the lottery idea was sold. "Show me the first numbers racketeer or a bookie who ever built a school," said the lottery lobbyists and OTB enthusiasts.

But the lotteries and betting parlors are not replacing the bookies and racketeers. Instead, the state agencies are struggling to create new markets among nongamblers. The numbers racketeers (private enterprise) are doing embarrassingly well against the state lotteries (bureaucratic enterprise) by offering better payments, 25-cent bets and credit. The more gamblers that state lottery advertising creates, the more business numbers racketeers do.

Beyond building new legions of suckers, state lottery advertising has effectively legitimized and destigmatized the illegal playing of numbers. Seated at a typewriter in an unaccustomed office in New York, I called the telephone operator to let her know my extension. She replied cheerfully: "That's a good number, I think I'll play it." (I hope she wins, I'd like to keep getting my calls.)

The noble experiment of state-operated gambling is failing. Having lost sight of its goals, which is the definition of nihilism, the lottery will no longer justify its existence, so it is raising the advertising budget. Similarly, the off-track betting public servants are making it possible to bet by telephone — a thing that people who have saved up for a rainy day — and filling the pockets of the public with gimmicks like Exactas, Perfectas and superfectas.

The scandal is not in the fixing of a few races. The scandal is in insisting that failure is success. If the cover-up of its failure to steal gambling from the gamblers, the state betting bureaucracy is corrupting and degrading not only the advertising business, but all the people who are being deliberately misled — led to — by their state government — into believing that gambling pays off.

The federal Trade Commission, which sternly insists on cigarette advertising truthfulness, is not interested in directing states to print in their lottery advertising the exact odds against winning. And the four candidates for mayor in this town say nothing for fear of upsetting the political superfecta — the seemingly preordained order of their finish.

JAMES RESTON

Should The Press "Slow Down"?

There has been little news from Castro's Cuba recently, leading to conjecture by Cuba watchers whether conditions on the island are worse than usual. There has been no estimate of the size of the sugar crop, and nary a word about the tobacco crop, if any. No contact between Washington and Havana has been reported since efforts to stop plane hijackings to Cuba succeeded. Passengers on those planes were put up at a hotel and a steep bill for their accommodations sent to the State Department in Washington. This was one way to boost tourism, but it came to an end.

(c) New York Times Service The press has been severely criticized lately for publishing news that Vice President Agnew was being investigated by a Baltimore grand jury on charges of criminal action, and that John Ehrlichman had been indicted by a Los Angeles grand jury in connection with the burglarizing of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office.

The charge is serious and the criticism fair, but the remedy is elusive. Everybody is surprised to know that investigations are not proof of guilt and indictments are not convictions, but once you publish the headlines: "Agnew Investigated For Extortion And Tax Evasion," or "Ehrlichman Indicted In Ellsberg Burglary Case," both men have obviously been damaged.

It's a little like a bad rumor about a good woman: she may be cleared in the end, but the headline is a drop of poison, and doubt remains in many minds.

The press can, of course, make a good argument for its skeptical probing of the secret actions of these powerful men. They have obviously misused their power. They have waged war while concealing it from the Congress of the United States. They have spied and subverted in the 1972 elections, or at least have had all these things done in their names.

And they have even been distrustful of one another. The main charge, therefore, against the press in general, though not against the few papers that exposed the deceptions of Vietnam and Watergate — is not that the press was too aggressive, but that it was too timid or lenient or lazy.

Nevertheless, there is obviously a difference between exposing the dirty tricks of politics and the peculiar activities of the White House staff on the one hand, and revealing the secrets of grand jury investigations and indictments on the other.

The American Press, or more precisely a few American newspapers, are really on the hunt now and rightly so. Watergate has made them realize what is really meant by the corruption and danger of power and secrecy. Also, the new investigative reporters are now competing with one another to be first with whatever happens, even in grand juries, and this is the problem.

The White House and the courts are not the same. There is plenty of evidence that the White House has abused the secrecy and power but none that the courts have been fiddling with the facts.

Still, the press is now probing into the secrets of the grand juries as if they were political committees, and — if one newspaper does it, all the rest feel that they have to follow.

Thoughtful people in the press are worried about this problem. They are worried about invading and corrupting the secrecy of grand juries, but they are faced with a very hard reality.

This is that if even one newspaper or radio or television station reports that Agnew is under criminal investigation, or that Ehrlichman has been indicted by a grand jury in Los Angeles, that report is immediately put on the wire services, and on the air within an hour and therefore is all over the country.

Now then, unless you can get all papers, all radio and television stations, to ignore the Wall Street Journal when it reports that Agnew is under criminal investigation, or the Los Angeles Times report of the indictment of John Ehrlichman, do you deal with the problem.

In these days of modern communications, any local report is national and even international within an hour. The readers of every newspaper hear it on the air before they go to bed. Once it is on the radio it cannot be ignored and this is the problem the press has not been able to resolve.

It is easy to understand why the Agnews and the Ehrlichmans resent all this, for they are condemned even before they can state their own case, and obviously they have a justifiable grievance.

The newspapers have not resolved or even grappled with this problem effectively. They know that they ought to try to do something to protect the grand jury process, but they don't.

Even they admit that this is too bad, because they know that America needs, not a more cautious, but a more aggressive and skeptical press in dealing with both the White House and the congress. Somehow they ought to be able to deal with the privacy of the judicial process before grand juries, and that they have not been able to do.

The press is ducking this problem, but it can't do so much longer. It cannot insist on policing the power of government without policing itself. It cannot deny the right of outsiders to monitor the power of the press unless it establishes some professional standards of its own.

The single standard of "publish and be damned" is a romantic notion but not good enough in this complicated age. It may be okay for Watergate and Vietnam — though even that is in dispute — but disclosure of Grand Jury secrets is much harder to justify, and the fact is that we in the press have not even thought through that problem.

Actually, the big cake was from Kiwanis to Art because he observed his 60th birthday and because he has been a Kiwanis member — and active participant in all the projects — for 35 years. In the picture we see Art getting ready to fivide up the cake. And we might point out that because Mr. Spectator took the picture, he was close enough to get the first bite. Art, incidentally, is a Twin Falls businessman of long standing, being owner-operator of the Globe Seed and Feed Co.

shirts three days instead of changing every day. This would cut down the use of the electric washer and drier.

4. Stay at home nights instead of driving around the countryside, going to the bar, eating downtown or what have you. In this way the bars and restaurants could close at night and you (by not driving) would save gasoline.

5. Eliminate stores being open nights and cut out the 24 hour a day places, thus cutting down on more use of electricity.

6. Never look at TV after 6 p.m. Read the Times-News only by candlelight. When you go to bed, go to sleep at once with the lights out.

7. Never use the home radio at any time.

8. And convince the powers that be to turn off the lights in the Times-News building, especially when all the workers are gone, rather than leaving them burn brightly for 24 hours a day.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE:

Any man who wants his wife to listen to him should try talking to another woman.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Her "Jackpot"

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Perhaps you can advise me on the beauty of a diagnosis I picked out for myself. After 30 years of X-rays, examinations, hospitals, etc., I've finally hit the "jackpot." It's called achalasia of the esophagus.

I have been advised against surgery and been told to try to live with it. I'm living with it and know things could be much worse, but I am tempted to go through surgery for fear that, as the years go by, I will get older and worse. I am 65 now and in good health in every other way.

Would like your opinion or advice on making living with it easier. C. B.

This is a disorder of the involuntary nerve mechanism at the lower end of the gullet — that's where the gullet, or esophagus, connects with the stomach.

Food, whether liquid or solid, is passed through into the stomach very slowly. In other words, the lower end of the esophagus constricts; does not let food pass readily.

It is an exasperating condition, which may be putting it too mildly, such a nuisance that some patients with the condition even reach the point of not wanting to eat. The result, obviously, can be malnutrition and loss of weight.

It is really very difficult for me to advise you because I am not familiar at first hand with your condition, but since you tell me that otherwise you are in good health, I take it that you are getting satisfactory nutrition.

Surgery is possible for this condition. While not a dangerous type of operation, it is a major undertaking.

I presume that it is your doctor who has advised against surgery — which would indicate that you're coping well with a situation that isn't exactly easy to live with. I interpret this as evidence that your case isn't as severe as some.

If necessary, surgery can, as I said, be performed, and in about 80 per cent of patients conditions are improved to some extent. But it does seem to me that the decision for or against surgery has to rest between you and your physician, and my opinion, at this distance, can't be of much validity.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there such a thing as optical shingles? Our office has a big argument about this — G. G. P., H. W. and E. J.

I think you have reference to Herpes zoster, or shingles. That disease can strike in various parts of the body, most commonly on part of the trunk but it can be elsewhere. It depends on which nerve trunk it happens to attack.

It can involve the area around an eye, and in that case must be watched very carefully. Test the eye be permanently damaged. I presume that is what you mean by "optical shingles." It isn't a separate disease; it's just a question of where it attacks.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: There are two different kinds of hemorrhoid operations. One is injection. The other is a "tie-up." Which is better? — P. J. They both have their place in correcting hemorrhoids. The injection method will suffice if the hemorrhoids (distended veins) are not too advanced. But when they have passed the injection stage, surgical removal is necessary.

There is no way for the patient to judge. You must rely on your doctor to decide which will be best for you.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching, and other rectal troubles, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper requesting a copy of his booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters.

"Here Come the Judge!"

Norway vote close

OSLO (UPI) — The opposition socialist bloc won a narrow 76-77 majority in Norway's parliamentary elections Monday and Premier Lars Korvald immediately announced his government would resign.

New parties on the fringes scored the biggest gains and some of the established parties, particularly Labor, suffered major setbacks.

The biggest loser paradoxically turned out to be the winner under Norway's multi-party political system, an array of alliances bewildering to voters accustomed to a two-party system.

The Labor party, which held 74 seats in the 155-member parliament known as the Storting, lost 11 seats, the party's biggest defeat since World War II.

Labor, however, was the biggest party in the winning socialist bloc and will wind up forming the new government. Labor's junior partner in the coalition, the newly formed Socialist Election Alliance, was made up of the Socialist People's Party, the Communists and a collection of leftist splinter groups.

The alliance won 15 seats and leaders said it would combine with the 63 Labor seats to produce a narrow, one-vote Storting majority.

Labor leader Trygve Bratteli, a former premier who will presumably be the next government chief, said, "We don't feel there is any basis for a non-socialist government after the election."

Spending records short

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A quarter-million-dollar air traffic control facility was built at President Lyndon B. Johnson's Texas ranch, according to a Pentagon report.

Rep. Andrew J. Hinshaw, R-Calif., disclosed incomplete reports Monday that he received from the Secret Service as well as the Defense Department in response to his request for an accounting of expenditures on the homes of presidents dating back to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Unlike report documentation showing $10 million was spent on President Nixon's Key Biscayne, Fla., and San Clemente, Calif., homes, "there is a lack of total documentation for monies expended and security projects completed in the cases of our former presidents," Hinshaw said.

The brief—Pentagon listing showed only the air traffic control facility and $200 for "radio maintenance" at the LBJ Ranch between 1963 and 1969, when Johnson left office.

The Secret Service said it spent $10.625 in the same period for technical security equipment at Johnson's offices in the federal office building at Austin, Tex., and $53,656 at the LBJ ranch.

The service also said that after Johnson left office in 1969, "security systems were updated and new fire detection alarms, electric gates, anti-intrusion alarms and closed circuit television systems" were installed at the LBJ ranch. The cost was not listed.

The Pentagon told Hinshaw the only expenditure for which it has records covering the Kennedy administration showed $96,996 for a fallout shelter at Palm Beach, Fla., where President John F. Kennedy occasionally vacationed.

The Pentagon had no figures for Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower, Harry S. Truman or Roosevelt. The Secret Service had incomplete reports.

Battles with wife

ATLANTA (UPI) — Police used tear gas Monday to flush out a man who had barricaded himself inside his apartment for four hours, threatening to "come out shooting."

Instead of shooting, however, Earl Bush Jr., 32, rushed out walling that the gas was killing his dog and his bird. He left a hunting rifle with a telescopic sight inside the apartment.

After bawling, Bush kicking and screaming to a police van, officers went into his second-floor apartment and brought out his puppy and carried the bird away in its cage. Neither appeared harmed.

Bush locked himself in his apartment after his former wife called to tell him she was planning to marry another man.

Sgt. J.D. Hartley responded to a report that Bush had a hostage and was shouting inside the apartment. Police later said both reports were apparently false, and no shots were fired during the incident.

Hartley said when he knocked on Bush's door "He opened it and aimed the rifle at me. I got out of there and called for help."

ATLANTA Police Department Tactical squad members, dressed in black, struggle to free Earl Bush's estranged wife from his grip Monday after Bush barricaded himself in his apartment with a high powered rifle. Bush succumbed to tear gas and was taken into custody. The struggle between Bush and the woman occurred after Bush was captured. (UPI)

Capt. Gary Shepherd talked to Bush for two hours on the telephone. Members of Bush's family also urged him to surrender.

"He indicated he was coming out, but he was coming out shouting," Shepherd said. "Finally police shot three tear gas canisters through a window of the apartment forcing Bush to surrender."

Steel request okayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has given the steel industry the full $360 million a year price increase it sought but stretched it out over three months to minimize its inflationary impact.

The increase will affect prices of thousands of products made with steel, for example increasing by up to $16 the cost of steel used to make a new car and by 1 cent the steel in a tonner.

John T. Dunlop, chairman of the Cost of Living Council (C.L.C.), announced the decision Monday. He said steel's request was "fully cost-justified" and characterized as "tough" the council's decision to divide the approximately $9-a-ton into two steps.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who had testified at a hearing to ask the council to set an example by rejecting the request, called the decision "directly inflationary and completely unjustified."

"Having granted an increase to an industry which had an increase in profits last year of 62 per cent, the council can hardly now say no to other industries when they apply," Proxmire told a reporter.

The action affects only flat rolled steel, which accounts for about 40 per cent of the industry's annual output of around 150 million tons.

Steel firms will be able to charge about $4.50 a ton more on Oct. 1 and post another $4.50 increase on Jan. 1, 1974. The price now ranges between $150 and $200 a ton.

The increase amounts to 2.2 to 4 per cent more each time.

The order applies only to 10 major firms, which together produce 70 per cent of the nation's flat-rolled steel. But the 26 other producers are likely to apply for an increase before Oct. 1 and to receive it.

Dunlop said the increase was justified because the industry had not had an increase in 26 months, because its rate of return on investment is unusually low and because it needs capital for expansion and modernization.

In recent years, the industry lost some of its market to imported steel but the current boom has led to production at full capacity.

Dunlop said steel would not be permitted to increase prices before Jan. 1 for other products, representing 60 per cent of sales.

Affected by Monday's order were these firms: Armco Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Cyclops Corp., Inland Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Kaiser Steel, National Steel, U.S. Steel, Republic Steel and Wheeling Pittsburgh.

Pompidou to China for conference

PEKING (UPI) — French President Georges Pompidou arrived to a noisy welcome by thousands of cheering children today for top-level meetings with Chinese leaders in the first official visit of a Western European chief-of-state to China.

In the center of Peking, more than two miles of children crowded four deep along the streets. With pink ribbons in their braids, they clapped, waved and cheered as the presidential motorcade moved down the wide boulevards of the city.

Multi-colored streamers and lines of mixed French and Chinese flags were strung across both sides of the Great Hall of the People, where Pompidou will hold the bulk of his talks with the Chinese leadership.

Interspersed with the decorations were huge red banners in both French and Chinese wishing Pompidou a warm welcome and proclaiming: "We firmly support the fight of the European people against hegemony."

Less than an hour after his arrival, Pompidou began official talks with Chinese leaders. Meeting in the State Guest House at Jiao Abyss Pool Park, he had what Chinese officials termed "a brief but cordial conversation" with Premier Chou En-lai and China's acting president, Tung Piao. Foreign Minister Chi Pong-foi, who visited France earlier this year, was also present.

Tonight Pompidou was to be feted at an official banquet in the Great Hall of the People which seats 5,000. Talks will begin Wednesday afternoon.

Pompidou scheduled meetings with key Chinese leaders, including Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

Diplomatic sources, however, said he would spend most of his time with China's number-two man, Premier Chou En-lai. Diplomatic sources said Pompidou-Chou conversations would revolve around the problems of European unity and security in line with French and Chinese fears of possible Soviet expansion in Europe and Asia.

Chou, in his address to last August's Chinese Communist Party Congress, charged the current Soviet "foet to the East" was only preparatory to an actual move against the West.

Hundreds of workers labored through the night stringing decorations on both sides of the Great Hall of the People in Peking's Tien An Men Square.

By morning, the workers were putting final touches on huge slogans of "warm welcome" hung on major buildings throughout the city.

Consumers find beef prices remain stable

United Press International — Consumers who went to the supermarket Monday probably did not pay any more for beef than they did last week.

The beef price freeze ended at midnight Sunday, but retailers said it would take a week or more for prices to start going up.

"We have had no price increases on beef," said Bill Davila, advertising manager of Von's Grocery Co. in Southern California. "Our prices today are at or below ceiling. Right now the supply is adequate to fit the demand."

"The big key will be how much beef consumers buy this week," Jerry Sigolassi, vice-president of another Southern California group, Lucky Stores Inc., said. "It will depend on supply and demand."

Wholesale prices of beef in New York rose 6 per cent, less than was expected. In Houston, the wholesale price dropped about one and a half cents a pound.

In addition to consumer demand, price will be affected by the amount of additional

Energy shortage predicted

By United Press International — President Nixon's adviser on energy problems, John A. Love, predicted Monday the fuel shortage will last for at least three more years, and probably cannot be helped except by further development of U.S. coal and oil.

In Washington, Dr. Cyril L. Comar, chairman of a National Academy of Sciences panel studying the effects of radiation, said Americans basically have three choices: build more nuclear power plants, use more pollution-causing oil and coal, or use less energy.

He recommended development of nuclear power. The panel said the pollution from oil and coal generators may be more biologically damaging in the long run than nuclear power plants.

In Denver, Love, director of the U.S. Energy Policy Office, told the American Mining Congress the United States must change its "energy supply patterns." He said tight energy supplies may not be eased for three to five years, and then only through shale oil and coal development.

Comar said the only alternatives to burning more nuclear plants are either not to provide the necessary electricity at all, or provide it with fossil fuel.

"I would maintain that each of these two options probably has more biological cost than the option of providing it with nuclear power," he said.

Allies clear way for Nixon's visit

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UPI) — America's major Western allies cleared the way Monday for President Nixon's visit to Europe this fall by complying with a White House demand for a declaration of transatlantic principles.

The declaration, which calls for talks on trade, oil, money, defense and inflation, takes the place of a "New Atlantic Charter" proposed by Nixon five months ago.

The President suggested the charter as a guideline for Western unity in the 1970s and linked the accord to this November's summit trip.

Foreign ministers of the nine European Common Market nations assured the President's visit by drawing up a 10-point list of topics they want to discuss and a draft declaration on transatlantic principles.

The foreign ministers meet today in the Danish Parliament to put finishing touches on the draft, which then goes to Brussels for final approval by Common Market ambassadors.

Ministerial sources said the declaration covers topical issues, such as monetary reform, and more philosophical points, such as the purpose of U.S.-European relations.

Western diplomats sent part of the declaration to Washington Monday night within hours of the meeting. Officials said the rest, dealing with economic matters, would be polished up by Common Market ambassadors in Brussels before being sent on to Washington.

Conspiracy charged to former WH aides

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Memos submitted to the county grand jury indicate four former White House aides charged with burglarizing the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist developed an "overall game plan" to weaken Ellsberg's image, the Los Angeles Times reported Monday.

The three memos are dated less than a month before the break-in at the Beverly Hills office of psychiatrist Lewis J. Fielding during the Labor Day weekend of 1971.

White House aides indicted a week ago on various charges associated with the break-in include John Ehrlichman, Egil "Bud" Krogh and David Young.

The first of the three memos, from Krogh and Young, to Ehrlichman, recommended "a covert operation" to examine all the medical files still held by Ellsberg's psychoanalyst covering the two-year period in which he was undergoing analysis.

Ehrlichman initiated his approval to the memorandum and added, "if done under your assurance that it is not traceable."

The second memo, from Young to Ehrlichman, said "The plan was to slowly develop a very negative picture around the whole Pentagon study affair (preparation to publication) and then to identify Ellsberg's associates and supporters on the new left with this negative image."

UAW officials plan walkout Friday night

DETROIT (UPI) — Top United Auto Workers officials mapped plans today for a Friday midnight walkout against Chrysler Corp., a crippling strike that would shatter two years of U.S. labor peace.

But there were indications a strike might be averted. Both General Motors and Ford, in a conciliatory gesture, agreed to extend their contracts with the UAW past Friday night on an indefinite basis. Extending the contract with GM and Ford makes it easier for the UAW to collect money to finance a strike, if one comes.

The companies will continue to collect dues from employee paychecks and pay them to the union and will also continue to pay insurance premiums.

Union officers from 60 Chrysler plants from around the nation assembled in Detroit today to receive strike assignments. If contract talks that began in mid-July break down, 127,500 U.S. and Canadian auto workers will strike Chrysler at 11:59 p.m. Friday.

Ford and GM are the next targets of the UAW once it completes talks with Chrysler.

How many things in life, these days, can you go to again and again with the same expectancy of pleasure and never be disappointed?

J&B, we're happy to say, is one of those things. And, in that sense, a rare pleasure.

But J&B is also one of the most popular scotches in the world. And, in that sense, a very frequent pleasure.

Which just goes to prove once again that life is full of beautiful contradictions.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for asking us senior citizens what our biggest problems are, and if we have none, how we manage to enjoy life.

Just had my 74th birthday and never felt better in my life. I walk a mile a day, stay away from boring old people, desserts, and redheaded women. I enjoy a little nip every evening before dinner, but never touch a drop before noon, no matter who's celebrating what.

ART IN SIOUX CITY

DEAR ABBY: My biggest problem is finding enough time to do the many interesting and helpful things that retirement makes possible. I've been retired for two years and I am busier now than when I was working fulltime.

Happy seniors

The secret of a happy old age is to try to forget the years, the infirmities, and to bury yourself in the service of others. Churches and community organizations are begging for help. Everyone can be a volunteer—even if he's bedfast. There is always someone worse off than you!

MRS. J. W. H., PHILADELPHIA

DEAR ABBY: I am 67 years old, and I am crazy. I got this way taking care of my mother who is 92. She is positively the most impossible woman who ever lived. Unfortunately, she is in better health than I am. I'd sign this but she'd kill me.

STUCK IN ENCINO

DEAR ABBY: My problem wasn't mentioned in your list. It's impotence, which causes many of us men to feel depressed and dejected. We love our wives, but we can't perform. After the doctor completes our checkups, he smiles and says: "Sex is all in your head." That's Mum-bug!

Here we are in Florida, home of the Fountain of Youth, but like Ponce de Leon, we can't find the well.

READY, WILLING, BUT NOT ABLE

DEAR ABBY: Now that I'm retired, I've never been happier. I went back to school and took Gorman and typing and even a course in electricity. I've studied handwriting analysis, too. I re-roofed my own home, ran the concrete and made my own patio, put up my own fence, and did my own landscaping.

I do temporary office work, not because I need the money, but because I like to get out and see what's going on in the world. I've taken genealogy jaunts and compiled 23 notebooks on my family tree. One's mental attitude has a lot to do with one's energy. And having a great-grandmother who lived to be 101 didn't hurt either. (P. S. I'm a woman.)

MAKING OUT IN ORLANDO

DEAR ABBY: I'm only a kid of 92. Do I qualify for senior citizenship? I don't have any problems; but I've got a lot of relatives who are going to have plenty when I die. I'm leaving everything to the church.

GRANDPA IN PHOENIX

DEAR ABBY: My problem is controlling my anger when people refer to me as a "SENIOR CITIZEN." Who ever thought up that ridiculous label? I am 89 years old, and I'm still active. I keep my aches and pains to myself, take an interest in my home, my church, and my community, and do what I can for the other fellow. That's all it takes to stay young.

HAPPY IN SUN CITY

DEAR ABBY: I am 83 and have no problems. Death took my two good wives. Did not dare to try for a third. Afraid I'd get a lemon. I bowl in four leagues and enjoy church. I give better than one tenth of my income to God because He lets me live well.

ANDY IN JOHNSON CITY, N. Y.

DEAR ABBY: You ask senior citizens to tell you their troubles. Money? It's not stretching as far as it used to. Health? Even machines wear out. I live alone and make the best of it. Boredom? Not really. I sew, play cards, work crossword puzzles, watch TV, read a lot, and love to write letters. I also do my own housekeeping and take the bus to go places. I am only 82. I am also your late mother's cousin.

BERTHA RUSHALL MACFARLAND

DEAR ABBY: I'm an "older woman" who stands 5 feet 8 inches tall, and I cannot find a dress to cover my knees!

C. P. IN ILLINOIS

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 78-year-old lady, living alone. And my biggest problem is finding someone to turn my mattress.

that little card, declarer will have time to knock out your ace of diamonds before you can cash more than three heart tricks and will make his contract.

If you overtake your partner's queen and play the nipe spot you will set up two more heart tricks and beat the contract unless declarer can collect eight tricks in the black suits. What do you do?

The answer is that you should overtake. You will look mighty silly if your play gives him the contract, but the odds are against his being able to take eight tricks in the black suits and you want to beat him if you possibly can do so.

Fiscal audit given at Jerome school board meet

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — The Jerome School board Monday night heard a fiscal audit of the Jerome School District showing a cash reserve balance of $134,117.

Ron Rogers, certified public accountant, presented the report on the 1972-73 audit of the district. He told the board that the district's general fund budget had been set at $1,107,131.12, and that actual expenditures had amounted to $1,084,341.10, leaving over $22,790 in the general fund.

Rogers said the actual revenue received by the district was more than had been anticipated. "The extra revenue, coupled with the fact that the district budgeted $91,000 of its cash reserves last year and underpent its anticipated budget, left a cash reserve of $134,117," Rogers said.

Superintendent John Campbell told the trustees the district maintains a $100,000 cash reserve to cover operational expenditures and give the district capital to work with during the year until revenues are received.

A special slide presentation was given by Warren Van Camp, high school biology teacher, on the summer biology trip. Van Camp told the board he took 29 students on a six week biology tour of Oregon, Nevada, California, Utah and Idaho, this summer. He said five students from Jerome participated in the tour this year.

Van Camp asked the trustees to once again sponsor a biology trip for next summer. He said the trip would be for seven weeks and would be through Mexico. Van Camp said the district's cost would be about $228 to sponsor it and that the students would pay the rest of the cost. No formal action was taken by the board.

The board did approve a motion to apply to the Jerome County Commission for a 3 mill emergency levy. Campbell told the board that the district's average daily attendance (ADA) for the last nine days of school showed an increase of 143 students over the same period a year ago.

"Because our ADA is up so much, we are entitled to the maximum three mill levy, which will amount to roughly $43,000," Campbell said. He said the money will be used to help pay the cost of the additional students.

He noted, however, that as of Monday, the district had 165 new students, over last year's enrollment. He said the ADA can only be figured on the first nine days of school. Because of the Labor Day weekend, the ADA is sometimes lower than it actually should be, Campbell said. He said some students don't enroll until after Labor Day and some take extra days for the weekend.

Campbell also said he may ask the board to consider beginning school after Labor Day and shortening some of the school vacations so school would get out at the same time.

Campbell reported to the board that he has sent in an application to the Bureau of Land Management for 120 acres of land east of Jerome, a possible site for a new high school. He said a received form letter from the state saying the application had been received and would be processed along with other applications.

"I have also written to Sen. Frank Church and Rep. Orval Hansen asking their assistance in obtaining the land. Church has notified me that he has sent a letter to the BLM asking that the school district's application be considered as soon as possible," Campbell said.

The trustees approved the hiring of Mrs. Laura Baird, who will work with emotionally disturbed children under the Title I project and Virginia Etc. Spanish teacher at the Junior-High. Campbell said that with the hiring of Mrs. Baird the district has three specially trained teachers who will work under the Title I project. They will help students in the district who have special learning disabilities, Campbell said.

Upheaval causes havoc with ranch donations

The ranch program has been separated from the boy program, as suggested in the investigation report of the State Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS), Worsley said.

A total of 1,200 acres of ranch land is being leased and administered by a special board of directors committee, he said. The net income from the farm is given to the boy program.

The DECS report told the ranch's directors that boys could no longer be used in the operation of the farm program, unless they requested the work and were paid for their time, he said.

"We hope to get DECS to change that theory," he said.

Currently, Worsley said, he hopes to improve 400 acres of land around the ranch to maintain cattle, horses and gardens to support the ranch. The boys would be involved in this program, he said.

For the last four years, no staff personnel at the ranch were ever investigated and no records were kept on them, Worsley said. The ranch is now investigating all personnel and keeping up-to-date records on them, he told the chamber.

A new education program, he said, would bring the boys into social contact with the community through attendance at local schools. The ranch is planning construction of a new physical education building with the hopes of bringing people from outside the ranch in for competition. In another two years, he hopes to have an indoor swimming pool for the boys, Worsley said.

Speaking of three alleged incidents of brutality at the ranch, discussed in state reports, Worsley said it was "a close hairline whether it was brutality or compassion."

In the case of a boy being used against a boy, he said, the house parent involved was permitted to use force in California where he was trained. The boy threatened the man with a broken bottle, he said, and was subdued with the mace. The boy who was handcuffed to the bed, received the treatment only after he had run away four times, the last in below zero weather with only his underwear on, he said. He was handcuffed "comfortably" to his bed until the caseworker picked him up in the morning, Worsley said.

Worsley said he "could not defend" the case of the boy who was struck by the teacher, although he was immediately given medical attention and was not injured.

The investigations and consequent resignations of ranch personnel and administration "gave us a chance to put the brakes on and take a look" and a chance to make some changes, Worsley said.

"In administration, there has to be accountability and it failed at the youth ranch," Worsley said. "The administration in Rupert didn't know what was happening at the ranch," he said.

"We must meet the needs of the boys," Worsley said. "Boys who don't have the advantage of a good home, religious background, or a philosophy of right and wrong."

Blood drawing set

WENDELL — A Red Cross blood drawing will be conducted from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday at the American Legion Hall. The quota for the drawing is 75 pints. Mrs. Harold Holsinger, Red Cross blood drawing chairman said Wendell area patients have used 71 pints of blood since the last drawing in Wendell.

She said special collections of blood were necessary during part of the summer due to communities not meeting their quotas. She urges Wendell residents to give blood Wednesday to help their friends and neighbors.

Ketchum theft probed

KETCHUM — Investigation is continuing into the theft of about 40 bottles of liquor from a Ketchum residence.

According to the Ketchum police department, the theft at the Ben Winters residence was reported Monday afternoon and was believed to have occurred sometime within the past five days. A window had apparently been broken to allow entrance into the residence.

Value of the liquor was undetermined.

Baker hints '76 candidacy

CHICAGO — Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. says he may consider running for president after concluding the Watergate hearings, which he said "the public wants conducted properly but ended quickly."

Lincoln aides set tax levy

SHOSHONE — Lincoln County Commissioners have set the 1973 property tax levy at $2,775 compared to $3,268 per $100 assessed valuation for 1972.

This is based on an 1800,000-anticipated assessed valuation increase. Exact data on the levy will be prepared by the county clerk after levy requests of taxing units in the county are received and tabulated with the county levy.

In other business Monday, the board of county commissioners heard a report from Dr. Wayne Card, South Central Idaho Health District, explaining the district budget proposal of $2.25 per capita for participating counties. He also gave an explanation of services offered by the Department of Environmental and Community Services office in Gooding.

Naomi Brown, eligibility supervisor, and George L. Strayer, eligibility examiner, were present to give an explanation on the health program.

Plans for expenditure of the July 1, 1973 to July 1, 1974 revenue sharing funds were announced. Anticipated during that time is $80,969 in quarterly payments.

Sandra Jerome was sworn into office as deputy county treasurer. She replaces Mrs. Jeff Rapp who has resigned. Mrs. Norma Flores was hired as secretary for the county weed department. She will work part time.

Judge's OK not needed

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Fifth District Judge Theron W. Ward said Monday his approval was not needed to enact amendments in county revenue sharing budgets.

Ward said an earlier statement by Twin Falls County Commissioner Merl Leonard that his (Ward's) signature was necessary for budget amendments, especially amendments in the County revenue sharing budget, was in error.

Ward said he was responsible for expenditures out of the "prosecuting attorney's revolving fund, and that's all."

The revenue sharing statutes, Ward said, provide that budgeting and expenditures of revenue sharing funds be handled in the same manner as other County funds. "So I'm positive there isn't anything (requiring approval of the Judge) under that."

Ward also said the commissioners have to set their own priorities for the use of revenue sharing funds. "If they asked me, I might have some recommendations or opinions," Ward said, "but they would carry no more weight than yours or the Clerk's."

The question of approval by the District Judge arose about two weeks ago when Commissioner Leonard told a representative of the Twin Falls Humane Society that the County could not budget revenue sharing funds for the society without the approval of the District Judge.

Leonard also questioned the legality of budgeting for the Humane Society under existing federal revenue sharing priorities. The Commissioner said he would want a "judicial interpretation" before budgeting the funds.

"Told Monday that Judge Ward had said he had no authority to set or amend County budgets or to determine priorities, Leonard said while it was true the Judge "has no particular authority" he still thought it prudent to consult the Judge on budgeting and priorities.

"I think the Judge was very modest," Leonard said. "I personally would discuss it (an amendment to the budget) — I don't say that he would have to approve. . . I'm just speaking for myself there. I like close communication with all concerned."

Asked if Judge Ward's statement would alter the County's decision of providing no funds for the Humane Society, Commission Chairman William Chaney said, "not at this time. No

Gooding tax drop aired

By PEGGY CHU
Times-News writer

GOODING — Gooding County taxes may be reduced slightly as a result of an increase of $281,706 in county assessed valuation over last year.

County Clerk Vivian Burden made the statement to the Gooding County commission when she presented this year's total county evaluation of $17,986,665 at Monday's county commission meeting.

The county's current expense levy is 13 mills, the maximum allowed, she said. A Union Pacific fund and tax agent met earlier with her and recommended that the county leave the levy at 13 mills in order to build up a surplus. By doing this, the county may not have to operate on tax anticipation notes next year, Mrs. Burden reported.

In reviewing levies Monday, the commissioners voted to reduce the junior college levy from .1707 to .1500. There are fewer students attending the College of Southern Idaho from Gooding than in the past, the clerk told the commissioners.

Other questionable levy items will remain the same as last year, the commissioners decided. The indigent levy will remain at .2750 and solid waste at .0400.

In other commission action, the board decided to drop participation in the Federal Civil Defense program. Bill Bunn, county civil defense co-ordinator told commissioners the county is prepared to take care of its own civil defense in case of an emergency. The county has previously contributed $40 per month to the program.

The commissioners studied a request from county employees for a cost of living raise. If passed, the commission would have to petition the district court for an increase in the county budget set in February. It may be possible to include elected officials in the salary increases, Mrs. Burden reported.

Tom Wilford, auditor of the county books, met with the commissioners to recommend changes in the county bookkeeping procedures. According to Wilford the county's accounting procedures should be strengthened and updated and co-ordinated with the new bookkeeping computer the county has purchased.

The commissioners delegated authority to the sheriff's office in their districts for determination of what should be done with transients coming into the county as the result of an inquiry by Sheriff Earl Brown.

"We have to keep a finger on these things so they won't get away from us," Glauder said.

Valley finances good

VALLEY SCHOOLS — The year-end financial status of the Valley School District is good, according to the district fiscal year audit.

Trustees Monday night heard a report from Thomas P. Mahan, Jerome accountant. The board approved payroll deductions for teachers of the district if they wish to participate in the Idaho School District Cancer Care Insurance program.

Budley told trustees the enrollment had dropped the 586 students, compared to 611 last year.

The board discussed how the high school library has been arranged to accommodate a more modern media center. Book stacks have been moved from one central location at one end and placed around the walls, making books more accessible to the students, Bodily told trustees.

The board hired Mrs. Joy Hunnan, Hazelton, as a teacher's aide to assist the fourth grade teacher. Enrollment in that grade has risen, despite the overall attendance drop.

Contract details firmed in Minico

RUPERT — Final details of the contractual agreements for the recently completed city-county law enforcement building were ironed out Monday at a meeting of the Minidoka County Commissioners.

Both Rupert police chief Ed Culver and Minidoka County Sheriff Thero Johnson met with the commissioners to discuss details of the contract between the county and the city of Rupert.

The group agreed that Culver would be in charge of hiring personnel for the communications center. The city, which previously paid the salaries of communications personnel, would continue doing so, in order that the employees could retain the same retirement plan. Rupert would then bill the city for their share of the cost, about $11,000, or half the total.

Johnson, however, would supervise the communications center as stipulated in the agreement, drawn up over a year ago. County prosecuting attorney Robert Nielsen will draw up contracts between the county and the cities of Haysden, Paul and Mindoka, outlining their share of the costs in the operations.

The cities had previously agreed to pay a percentage of the communications personnel salaries but no agreement had been made for equipment and supply costs.

The three cities will not be required to share expense of rent or janitorial services.

Project director for the law enforcement building, Larry Buff, and contractor Larry Wright, will inspect the building Tuesday to go over the plans and come up with a solution for chimneys and replacing door locks, which had been installed improperly.

Asst. Minidoka District school superintendent Doyle Lowder presented the commissioners with the district's proposed mill levy for the coming year.

Lowder said an increase in assessed valuation which made an expected emergency levy impossible, in addition to a lowering of the weighted Average Daily Attendance in the district, removed an expected $104,000 from the district's income.

The district originally authorized a 28.88 mill levy. The state allows up to 27 mills.

The commissioners will study the possibility of authorizing the full 27 allowable mills for the coming year.

Ther. Murtick, District V Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS) official, told the commissioners that increased employment and a doubled staff to investigate eligibility had cut welfare costs nearly in half during the past year for the eight county Magic Valley area.

The amount spent on welfare dropped from $220,657 in August, 1972, to $126,018 in June, 1973, he said. All eight counties have about the same percentage of welfare recipients, he said.

The commissioners signed a two year contract with the District V Mental Health Service for the services of a psychiatric social worker and a psychiatrist in the county.

The county will pay the center $300 a month beginning in September, in addition to supplying $30 for each evaluation and support services and $15 for each treatment of county residents or individuals referred to the center by the courts.

Muhammad Ali scores split decision over Ken Norton

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Former heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali wiped out the stain of a broken jaw and an upset loss to Ken Norton 5-4 months ago by scoring a split decision over the former Marine musclem in a 12-round rematch Monday night to put himself right back into the title picture.

A 5-2 favorite, Ali, 212, was the winner on points—7-5 on referee Dick Young's card and 6-5 on the card of John Thomas, Judge George Latka voted for Norton 6-5.

Under California's simplified five-point must system, UPI had Ali the winner 9-2.

A disappointing crowd of 10,500, which paid a gross gate of $525,000, saw Ali avenge one of the only two losses in his career—a split decision upset at the fists of Norton, then a 5-1 underdog, at San Diego last March 31.

On Thomas' pivotal card, Ali won the 12th round and the fight by getting back on his feet again after appearing dead three times in the middle rounds.

Milwaukee edges Detroit 6-5

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Jim Colborn scattered 11 hits for his 10th win and George Scott and Dave May each drove in two runs to lead the Milwaukee Brewers to a 6-5 win over the Detroit Tigers Monday night.

Colborn allowed Detroit single runs in the first, third and seventh innings and improved his record to 19-9.

Lerrin LaGrew making his second start of the season, allowed the Brewers four runs on four hits and five walks in the 4-2-3 innings he worked to take the loss. He is now 1-4.

Detroit led 2-0 when May tied the game with his 23rd home run into the Brewers' bullpen in right center in the third inning following a walk to Bob Coluccio.

Cleveland slips New York 3-2

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frank Duffy knocked in two runs with a sacrifice fly and single Monday night as the Cleveland Indians defeated the New York Yankees, 3-2.

Duffy topped in the deciding run with a single in the ninth after Dave Duncan had doubled. Duffy's first RBI of the night scored Ted Ford tripled in the fifth. Ford singled in the Indians' first run in the second inning.

Both Yankee runs came on solo homers. Mike Hegan hit his fifth, a two-out shot in the fifth inning and Ron Blomberg led off the ninth inning with his ninth of the year.

The loss put the Yankees at the 500 mark which was the first time they were that low since June 1.

Red Sox defeat Baltimore 4-3

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Carlton Fisk ripped run-scoring singles in the fourth and sixth innings as the Boston Red Sox sliced the Baltimore Orioles' Eastern Division lead in the American League to 4 1/2 games with a 4-3 victory Monday night.

Luis Tiant, 17-12, didn't survive a two-run Orioles seventh inning rally but relief help from Bob Bolin, who picked up his 12th save, helped Boston defeat Baltimore for the 11th time in 17 games this season.

Grabbing a 3-0 lead, the Red Sox defeated rookie Jesse Jefferson for the first time after losing to him twice. Reggie Smith and Cecil Cooper knocked in the other Red Sox runs.

Instead, it was Norton, 206, who looked the worse for wear as the former Cassius Clay opened with a flurry of lefts and rights to the head.

Ali, who had pronounced himself in shape "for the first time in my life," thus put himself in line for a crack at new heavyweight champion George Foreman, probably sometime next year since Foreman tentatively is scheduled to face Jerry Quarry, the No. 4 contender, in November.

All appeared to have won the fight more easily than the official verdict had it. On the UPI card, the former champion won the first six rounds, assembling the All-of-old who knocked out Sonny Liston for the heavyweight title almost a decade ago.

Foreman will fight Quarry

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — World heavyweight champion George Foreman's next title defense will be against Jerry Quarry in the first week of November, the champion indicated Monday night.

Quarry's fourth-round knockout of Tony Doyle Monday evening apparently assured the meeting.

"We should have a contract signed and sealed for the fight by the end of the week," Foreman said. "The only thing in the way now are minor difficulties."

An elated Quarry danced around his dressing room after pile-driving left and right at a beaten Doyle.

Angels drill White Sox 7-1

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Rookie righthander Dick Lange restricted Chicago to four hits and Charlie Scahler doubled in two runs Monday night to lead the California Angels to a 7-1 win over the White Sox.

The Angels tagged old nemesis Stan Bahnsen (18-17) for 13 hits in his 7-2-3 innings.

Lange, making only his fifth major league start, was lashed for a first inning homer by Tony Muser. Three singles by Jerry Hairston were the only other Chicago hits.

Sands sparked a three-run Angel rally in the second as he went three-for-four in the game.

Caldwell man wins at Gooding

GOODING — George Sweet, Caldwell, shot a two-day score of 151 to win the low gross prize in the Bob Lyons seniors golf tournament in Gooding on Sunday.

Bob Bacon, Jerome, was second in the gross division with 154 followed by Bob Amende, Twin Falls, at 156 and Dick Ludovic, Boise, at 157.

Lowell Willis won the net prize at 132. There was a four-way tie for second at 133. Those players included Forest Strickling, Dick Clements and Forest Bristow, all Gooding, and Ken Stratford, Pocatello.

In the ladies division Helen Spradling, Buhl, won the low gross prize at 177. In second place was Blanche Reay, Gooding, with 185. Juanita Henderson, Bliss, was third.

Winner of the net division was Melba Aslett, Jerome, with a 141. Dorothy Powers, Riverside, Calif., and Lois Carrico, Gooding, tied for second at 144. Pansy Jensen, McCall, had 145.

He said all three would be held out of contact work this week and should be ready for the Saturday clash.

Robbins also announced Idaho's weekly award winners, led by running back Marshall Brantley for the offensive award.

Hank Aaron hits 710th home run

ATLANTA (UPI) — Hank Aaron hit his 710th career home to close to within four of Babe Ruth and Dave Johnson in the 40th of the season to take over the major league lead as the Atlanta Braves beat the San Francisco Giants Monday night, 10-4.

Aaron's homer, the 37th of the season for the 39-year-old Atlanta outfielder, was a two-run smash over the centerfield fence in the third inning. Aaron, who also had a single in the first, retired from the game a half inning later complaining of stomach disorder.

Johnson's homer came in the seventh and put him one ahead of Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell and just two shy of the major league record for home runs by a second baseman held by the late Rogers Hornsby.

Rookie righthander Wently Ford, making his first major league appearance after eight years in the minors, blanked the Giants on just one hit over the first five innings and had a three-hitter going through seven. Ford wound up a five-hitter.

The Braves jumped out in front with three runs in the first inning with five straight hits as Durrell Evans, Dusty Baker and Johnson all singled in runs. The Braves added two more runs in the third after Aaron's homer to take a seven-run lead.

Seattle racer wins top Firebird event

BOISE — Frank Hall, Seattle, became the new champion at the second annual Night-Fire 500 Funny Car championship at Firebird Raceway in Boise this past week-end.

Hall defeated a field of nationally-known racers. Hall also recorded top time of the night at 212.00 miles per hour in 6.99 seconds.

The injected funny car portion of the event was won by Don Enriquez of Los Angeles at 170.57 miles per hour. An all-time top speed for injected funny cars was recorded by Ken Veney of Los Angeles when he toured the quarter at 189.40 miles per hour in his 1973 Vega. Veney's car runs on a combination of nitromethane and nitrous oxide.

Dave Austin, Twin Falls, was the most successful of all Magic Valley participants. Austin earned his way to the semi-finals in the mint eliminator bracket in his modified 1957 Chevrolet.

No Seasoned Citizen considering retirement should forget that Titan was pointing on his 99th birthday, that Goethe was writing in his 80, and that Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes was still putting together his philosophical notions for posterity at the age of 94.

Worry is said to be the most common symptom among all the mental ailments. The sayant who reports this fact contends worry indicates ignorance. People don't worry about what they understand, only about what they can't figure out, says he. Maybe so. The other common symptoms of trouble in the head are said to be insomnia, excessive shyness, inability to make decisions, absentmindedness, chronic fatigue and headaches. Wait, those don't indicate insanity, that's not what's meant. Rather, they just suggest what this expert likes to call nervous instability.

The Graham cracker was named in honor of a temperance lecturer called Sylvester Graham. In numerous speeches, he advocated total abstinence, hard mattresses, three baths a week, chastity and meals of fruit and Graham bread aged at least 12 hours. Numerous citizens bought his line early in the last century. Boarding houses did, too. A lot of them advertised themselves as Graham homes therefore.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Much activity present early. The remainder of the day and evening favors completing tasks already started, but not good for beginning anything new or taking chances that might upset any conditions now in operation.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) Get at all those tasks ahead of you early so you, free time for a romantic and happy evening. Sit down with an adviser who understands your new plans, and can give right pointers. Control your temper.

TAURUS (Apr 20 to May 20) Make those plans early with close friends and attachment for some important activity, then get into the details thereof. Make sure you know what some new contact really wants of you. Think along very logical lines.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make sure you keep promises made to others whether in your regular occupation, in personal matters, or with the public. Show you are conscientious. Don't begin that new civic venture till yet.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Listen to the ideas of others and see where they can fit into your own particular setup. You may get that information you need through the mail and can use it quickly. Then study other letters later.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Attend to all obligations efficiently and please those concerned. Follow your early intuition for greater success in the future. Later your hunches are not so good, so forget them. Forget radical ideas, too.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept 22) Listen carefully to what a partner has to suggest, since it could prove most profitable to you both. Do not listen to what one who opposes you has to say, or you could lose your temper. Keep adroit.

LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct 22) Get into all those duties ahead of you early and they are soon completed successfully. Add to present prestige. Any difficult problems can be solved easily and you can benefit much from them.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov 21) If you plan early, you can have that recreation you have been seeking for some time. You have to whittle those creative ideas down to a workable level now. Make sure you do not spend extravagantly tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) Do those things that will improve home conditions, make everything there more functional. Handle any public or philanthropic matters efficiently. Show you are an excellent citizen. Use logic in all you do.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) Plan early and then go about seeing those key persons who can help make your future brighter. You can gain some personal goal now that has been difficult before. Do more talking.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) You now know just how to add to present income as well as cut down on expenses, so full speed ahead on that. Talk affairs over with experts and bankers and get their advice. Follow to the letter.

PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar 20) If you state diplomatically what you desire of others, you find they cooperate very readily. Entertaining bigwigs can bring excellent backing. Avoid one who is jealous of you and save yourself trouble later on.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those young charmers whose early life can be most happy and carefree, so be sure to provide excellent courses of instruction, give musical lessons or art, and an opportunity to compete in sports. So this clever mind will be kept busy and much will be learned, and the right foundation for life will be properly laid. Anything of an investigative, research nature is good, for there is a really fine scientist in this chart. Teach early not to criticize others. The Stans impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!!

Feud over co-op exemptions surfaces

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration officials in an unusual gesture have deliberately hauled out for public view their dispute with the Justice Department over antitrust exemptions for cooperatives and the use of farm commodity marketing orders.

Usually such arguments are kept inside the family to be handled in conferences and letters, allowing the administration to present a united front whenever possible. But last week, in a speech to a dairy cooperative at Louisville, Ky., Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter announced publicly that his department "respectfully disagrees" with recent Congressional testimony on co-ops and marketing orders by the Assistant Attorney General in charge of the antitrust division.

The antitrust official had labeled marketing orders as producer dominated mechanisms designed to maintain higher than competitive prices. The orders, which regulate minimum farm prices for milk and set "orderly marketing" terms for many fruits and vegetables, were criticized as leading to reduced competition. Yeutter replied that the marketing order program, first adopted in 1937, is still needed because perishable farm commodities are still subject as much as ever to "boom and bust cycles."

"Marketing orders provide for an orderly flow throughout the marketing season so that there are supplies available to consumers at relatively stable prices. This is a desirable goal from the point of view of consumers as well as producers. It is no less relevant in the current period of increasing food prices, and is preferable to the chaotic effects of a volatile supply situation," the agriculture official added.

The second basic phase of the Agriculture Justice split grows out of the Justice Department's suggestion that Congress should re-study the scope of antitrust immunity granted to farm co-ops by the 50-year-old Capper-Volstead Act. This law, a basic operating charter for cooperatives, allows agricultural producers to act together in processing, handling and marketing their products without running afoul of antitrust law. It provides, however, for government crackdowns if co-ops use their immunity for "undue enhancement" of commodity prices.

In the 50 years of Capper-Volstead operation, Justice officials have pointed out no secretary of agriculture has ever used his legal power to issue an injunction against a co-op on charges of monopolizing supply to drive up prices.

Yeutter replies that agriculture has looked at many cases on alleged co-op price boosting.

"The fact that adverse action has not been taken should not be surprising in view of the historically depressed level of prices in agriculture compared with other sectors of the economy," he said.

The agriculture official warns, however, that as co-ops expand they can "expose increasing public scrutiny of their operations."

"When a cooperative gets big, its members need to make sure they don't lose sight of their reason for being. If any cooperative gets to the point where it dominates the market, questions are going to be raised as to whether the public interest is being served," he said. The Justice Department has already filed several suits challenging some operations of a number of big dairy co-ops, the official noted.

Farm debt record seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Farm mortgage debt spurred by rising land values, could jump a record $3.6 billion or so this year, an agriculture department report has indicated.

The report said mortgage debt on farm land as of last Jan. 1 had reached $34.5 billion, up more than 10 per cent from the previous year. The percentage gain was the sharpest since 1965 and an increase in dollars, $3.2 billion, was the biggest on record.

The department's Economic Research Service (ERS) added in its report that farm mortgage lending boomed at an even faster rate during the first half of 1973. If the first half trends hold through the rest of the year, experts said, the mortgage debt increase this year "will probably equal or exceed the 1972 increase of 10.2 per cent." This could push the dollar gain to about $3.5 billion or more.

Experts said one factor in this year's mortgage lending increase was the fact that federal land banks now can lend a bigger proportion of a farm's value than in the past. During the first half of 1973, those banks made $1.4 billion in new farm mortgages, up 60 per cent from a year earlier.

But another major factor affecting all lenders, the report added, was a substantial rise in land values attributed to factors including high farm prices, relatively easy availability of credit, and interest rates early in 1973 at levels below the 1968-70 peaks which had slowed mortgage lending.

Crop studies to be issued

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The first of a new series of agriculture department reports designed to share previously secret long range crop forecasts with farmers and the general public will be issued Friday, the Agriculture Department has announced.

Plans to release the "working projections" of new year's crops had been disclosed to newsmen and published last week. A formal department statement on Saturday filing in details, said the first report would focus on corn, other feed grains, wheat, soybeans and soybean products, upland cotton and rice.

In the past, big trading firms with the ability to piece together information available in scattered pieces from the department and other sources have been able to produce their own projections. Department officials said they decided to make their working estimates public so small operators could get up-to-date commodity facts as quickly as the big dealers.

The department's new reports would give latest estimates of acreage, supply, use and prospective carryover reserves of major commodities.

"Coordination, approval and release of the report will be handled by the department's outlook and situation board. The report will augment and update the board's forecasts as regularly published in its outlook and situation reports," the department said.

The report minimized the novel nature of the decision to release interim working projections on year-ahead crops, which previously were used only as planning aids by government officials, and

Dairymen to ask milk price boost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pleas from dairymen who want a continued increase in government minimum floors for milk sold under federal marketing orders will be aired when an Agriculture Department hearing on the issue reopens Sept. 18 at Clayton, Mo., the Agriculture Department announced.

The hearing's first session, held late last month, was followed by an interim order early this week boosting minimum prices 60 cents per hundredweight, or about 1.3 cents a quart, from Sept. 9 through Sept. 30.

The new hearing session will consider requests for setting a higher floor under the basic "formula price" used as a starting point in calculating minimums for bottling-grade milk all through the fall and made no mention of the reportedly sharp internal debate over whether to make the information public. It said the Friday report would be drafted after study of a government estimate of 1973 crops, and said future reports in the new series would follow other crop reports, grainings estimates and other developments "which would significantly alter supply and demand prospects."

The official announcement said the new reports were being issued because Assistant Agriculture Secretary Carroll G. Bruntthaver and Don Piarberg, Director of Economics, had agreed that the public should be informed "as quickly as possible, whenever new market-sensitive estimates are developed."

Sheep-killing lion hagged

LOA, Utah (UPI) — A government trapper has hagged a killer mountain lion that slaughtered 59 sheep during a 25-day rampage on Hildgard Mountain in central Utah.

Phillip Taylor shot the 200-pound male lion after it was freed by hounds. He said the lion's mate and kitten were still at large.

Sheepmen, trappers and forest rangers had been after the rogue cat since it moved into the lush summer range last summer. Taylor said the seven-year-old lion only ate 2 to 3 small portions of the animals he killed.

The old cat was credited with killing 364 deer in his lifetime, an average of one a week.

The sheep killed during the past month belonged to Ralph Lund of Gunnison.

Ranchers in the same area were looking for a bear which they said had killed 47 sheep belonging to John Madson of Maun.
