

Chile coup bloodied; Allende feared dead

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Fighting broke out today between soldiers and factory workers opposing the military coup which ousted President Salvador Allende on Tuesday.

First unofficial estimates said as many as 1,000 persons may have been killed since the bloody coup started 24 hours ago. There were no official casualty figures given by the military junta which seized power and clamped a state of siege on the country, declared martial law, instituted press censorship and disbanded the Congress.

There was no official confirmation that Allende had died, although a photographer for El Mercurio, the only newspaper permitted by the junta to publish today, said he saw Allende's body on a bloody couch in his office.

The reporter said Allende committed suicide with a machine gun.

Sniper fire and government return fire was heard in the deserted streets of the capital early this morning. Some of the snipers fired from buildings, others from trees. Reporters touring the streets said the military executed the snipers who were captured.

A UPI reporter said an intense gun battle was fought between troops and workers in a suburb early today. Like most South American cities, the suburbs are the poorest districts and it was from the ranks of industrial workers in the suburbs that Allende derived his greatest support.

Groups of professional associations, including doctors, nurses, chemists, pharmacists, dentists and engineers and the employees of the national electro-company told the government they would return to work.

Their strike precipitated Allende's downfall. The capital was rife with unconfirmed rumors. Among them was a report that Allende's wife Hortensia was killed when Chilean air force jets bombed Allende's personal residence. The ruling junta said Russian-made arms were stored in the house.

In Valparaiso, Chile's chief port city, reports said a Cuban ship was strafed from the air, but there were no confirmed versions of the fate of the ship.

(The official Cuban news agency, monitored in Mexico City, said the merchant ship Playa Larga was strafed when it was several miles outside the port. The Cuban agency said the ship was hit in the stern and bridge by cannon fire but was proceeding back to Cuba.)

Troops stationed near the Defense Ministry, only yards from the UPI offices, were mistaken for snipers by other troops and shots were fired until a telephone call to the Defense Ministry confirmed that the troops were guards.

Soldiers who searched the UPI office expressed surprise and shock at the news of Allende's death, which has not been broadcast over the military-controlled radio.

A military communique said 15 high-ranking officials and ministers in the Allende government had surrendered. The list included the former foreign minister, the former defense and interior minister, agriculture minister, and the former director of the "civil" police.

All activities — commerce, industry, schools — were paralyzed today and it was difficult to bury the dead, although the military promised to aid persons properly identified who ask for help.

JOHN MITCHELL wins delay

CSI shuns consumer aid

By BILL LAZARUS
 Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Apparently fearful of alienating local businessmen, College of Southern Idaho administrators are reluctant to permit an on-campus Consumer Protection Board (CPB).

CSI is hoping to support the proposed program with work-study funds, but also wants the CPB at the South Central Idaho Community Action Agency, where it will not be "identified" with CSI, according to one administrator. Similar consumer offices, operated in conjunction with the Idaho Attorney General's office, are located at Idaho State University and the University of Idaho.

The idea of establishing the CPB took root during recent talks involving CSI Student Body President Ted Argyle, CSI student Stan Wachstetter and Deputy Attorney General James Reid, according to Wachstetter.

Wachstetter said Reid was enthusiastic about setting up a CPB, and when he visited the campus to discuss the project, Reid was in favor of the student government deciding how the program would be staffed.

Wachstetter said that, when first approached, David Perkins,

CSI director of student personnel, was also "in favor of establishing the on-campus CPB."

However, at the Student Senate meeting last Thursday Perkins expressed doubts regarding the project.

"I have myself some reservations about us being connected with the (attorney general's) office. Dr. Taylor has the same reservations. Principally, because of the fact that we rely upon the support of all the businesses in the Magic Valley... we do not want to give the impression that CSI is telling them how to run their businesses," Perkins said.

"People, realizing that we are supporting the agency on campus with work-study funds, will identify us with that agency," Perkins said. "I can't understand why it's not located in the Community Action Agency. It's the perfect place for it," he later added.

Perkins reported that David Blackwell, assistant to the Attorney General, described the CAB as a "very delicate" operation and that he said the college should have complete control over the functioning of the program and the hiring of its staff.

Burns asks tax increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns called anew today for a federal tax increase to cool off the economy despite President Nixon's rejection of his advice last week.

In a statement at a House Banking Committee hearing, Burns said his agency was virtually powerless to counter the tight credit situation and rising interest rates.

Burns indirectly criticized Nixon's economic policy by saying too much reliance has been put on the Federal Reserve Board's ability to fight inflation by tightening the money supply and too little on fiscal policy — taxing and spending.

Report aids Kissinger

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of two senators to read a secret FBI report said today it "completely supports" Henry A. Kissinger's description of the role he played in wiretapping of some government officials and newsmen in 1969-71.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., told UPI that the report showed Kissinger's only connection with the wiretapping operations by the White House "plumbers" was to pass on a list of names of individuals with access to highly classified information. "I know of nothing beyond that," Sparkman said.

Allende successor hinted

NEW YORK (UPI) — The flight of former Chilean Foreign Minister Gabriel Valdes from New York to Peru Tuesday night triggered reports he would be appointed the new president of Chile, replacing ousted Marxist President Salvador Allende. Valdes denied it.

"That is absolutely false," he said. Valdes said his trip to Peru had been planned for 15 days and had nothing to do with the coup in Chile.

Although most schools in the district experienced a drop in enrollments, he said Tuesday, the decline was felt hardest in the west end of the district where most migrant students attend school.

The drop in expected-weighted average daily attendance could cost the district up to $80,000 in expected revenue, he said. Although figures are still incomplete, enrollment seems to be holding steady in the Cassia County school district, instructional supervisor Norman Hurst said Tuesday.

The district is, however, experiencing a decrease in free lunch applications in head-start students. The head start program in the Burley area is down to a critical point in enrollments, he said.

Andrus supports Gem wilderness

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus recommended today that the Idaho Primitive Area and the Salmon River Breaks Primitive Area be reclassified as Wilderness Areas.

At the same time Andrus proposed some immediate inclusions to existing areas recommended for Wilderness designation. He indicated other contiguous areas should be studied for inclusion also.

Then he told newsmen he will propose later additional classifications for Wild, Scenic and Recreation designations for Idaho rivers.

Andrus stressed that the quality of the Middle Fork of the Salmon and the Main Stem of the Salmon "is totally dependent on the preservation of the tributary streams."

TF bond OK'd

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls school district trustees Tuesday night unanimously approved a $3.5 million school bond and set the election for Oct. 16.

The bond, Twin Falls' first since 1963, proposes a new 24-classroom elementary school north of the high school at an estimated cost of $1.65 million.

The bond also proposes four-classroom additions to Morningstar Elementary, Harrison Elementary and Robert Stuart Junior High schools. It also calls for a 5,950 "teaching station" to supplement Robert Stuart Junior High's gym, demolition of the old portion of Lincoln School and replacement of 12 of its classrooms.

MAURICE STANS faces charges

Mitchell, Stans perjury trial delayed

NEW YORK (UPI) — John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans won a last-minute delay Tuesday in their trial on conspiracy and perjury charges.

Mitchell and Stans, the first former cabinet secretaries to be tried since the Watergate scandal of the 1970s, are charged with conspiring to influence a fraud investigation of financier Robert L. Vesco.

A federal appeals court recommended, but did not order, that the trial judge reconsider a defense motion that the case be postponed because lawyers did not have time to prepare a defense.

The trial judge, Lee Gagliardi, followed the recommendation and told attorneys for both sides to confer on a "mutual satisfactory trial date." "This court adopts the suggestion of the Court of Appeals," Gagliardi said.

The defense attorneys maintained that because of the Watergate investigation, Mitchell, former attorney general who became President Nixon's campaign director in 1972, and Stans, former commerce secretary, were not yet able to defend themselves.

"We are not ready for trial, sir," the defense lawyers answered when Gagliardi asked if they were prepared to go to trial.

Mitchell, 60, and Stans, 65, are accused of conspiring to influence a Securities and Exchange Commission investigation into Vesco's activities. They also are charged with perjury before a grand jury.

Vesco, a defendant, has been out of the country for at least six months. Harry L. Sena, a prominent New Jersey Republican and lawyer, is a fourth defendant. He will be tried later.

The 16-count indictment filed May 10 charged that Vesco made a secret $200,000 contribution to Nixon's re-election campaign last year. This allegedly was in exchange for pressure by Mitchell and Stans, who then acted as the reelection campaign's finance director, for favorable treatment in the SEC investigation.

Statehouse secretaries wilt in heat

By MARGARET BAILEY BOISE (UPI) — Hairdos melted, deodorants failed and dripping suits crumpled as state officials and secretaries made their way through a 90-degree day with air conditioners adjusted to conserve electrical power.

Thermostats in all statehouse offices were set up to 78 degrees as one of the steps in meeting Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' request to conserve electricity by 10 per cent.

A breeze blow through the office of Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park where there was a return to "old-fashioned air conditioning" known as open windows. Park said he did not think it would hurt anything to have windows open.

Secretaries in the State Planning and Community Affairs Office sweltered in an office made stuffy by the decreased air conditioning. June Mather, administrative secretary for the planning office, said the staff is getting along with the heat.

Secretaries in some offices have offered to turn off electrical typewriters or go home earlier in the day as steps to save electricity in the face of the power shortage in the northwestern states.

Suggestions from agency heads included posting signs to remind employees about turning off lights and turning off business machines when they are not in use.

Lloyd Howa, executive secretary, Department of Commerce and development, said lights in his office will be removed from non-critical work areas and pointed specifically to the bank of

Nixon appointees hear tapes case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Of the seven judges of the U.S. Court of Appeals who heard arguments on the President's Watergate tapes Tuesday, two were appointed by Nixon.

The others are evenly distributed among recent Democratic administrations — two appointed by President Lyndon B. Johnson, two by John F. Kennedy, and Chief Judge David L. Bazelon appointed by Harry S. Truman.

The Nixon appointees are

Judge Malcolm R. Wilkey, 54, who was an assistant attorney general in the Eisenhower administration; and George E. MacKinnon, 67, a former Republican congressman from Minnesota.

Chief Judge Bazelon, 64, of Chicago, was an assistant attorney general, has been a federal judge since 1949 and chief judge since 1963 by virtue of his seniority on the circuit bench.

Allende regime troubled

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — The young medical student, a fervent Marxist militant, stood by his father's grave 41 years ago. He was given an hour's leave from jail to attend the funeral.

"From this moment on I consecrate my life to the social struggle," the young Salvador Allende said before returning to prison for taking part in disorders by a group of students, that inter-founded Chile's Socialist party.

Allende, who became president of Chile in 1970 after three unsuccessful races for the post, found it even harder running the country than getting to be its leader.

His regime was beset by increasing woes with daily demonstrations calling for the ouster of the 65-year-old president in recent weeks.

The massive middle class protests were sparked by a strike by the nation's 45,000 truckers, who walked off their jobs last July to demand higher pay and guarantees against nationalization.

Tens of thousands of small businessmen, professionals and blue collar workers joined the walkout — in recent weeks, bringing a virtual halt to the economy in this nation of 10 million and critically curtailing food supplies.

The protestors blamed Allende for Chile's rampant inflation, which rose 300 per cent over the past year alone.

Two other Nixon appointees on the nine-judge court, Edward A. Tamm and Roger Tanb, assumed the case from the case without saying why.

According to court observers, Bazelon, Wright and Robinson are members of the liberal bloc; MacKinnon is conservative; and McGowan and Tamm are swing members. Wilkey is considered the most liberal of the Nixon appointees.

Clergy asks equal time

Mobile van part of VA outreach program

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS
Renewing faded memories of the Scopes Monkey Trial, teaching of evolution was discussed at the Twin Falls School District Board meeting Tuesday night.

Board chairman Howard Honk reviewed a letter from an unnamed local minister, who said that since the schools teach the evolution theory, equal time should be given to the biblical creation story.

The minister maintained that there is no proof of the evolution theory and therefore it should not be the only theory taught.

After describing the letter, Honk asked for opinions from students at the meeting about whether the evolution theory was being unfairly taught.

"I don't feel that it is being pushed on me," Lonny Hendrix, Twin Falls High School student body president, said. He added, however, that one teacher had been "pushing" the evolution theory.

"I don't see anything wrong with the way that it is presented as long as it is presented as a theory," Honk said. "When you get into the discussion of the creation theory, you are touching on a sticky subject."

Taking action on the issue, the trustees approved sending a letter to the protesting minister explaining that evolution is taught only as a theory and that different scientific theories on the creation of the universe are, in fact, taught.

Other action, J. P. Anderson, school district clerk-treasurer, reviewed the budget on local taxes for the schools. A total of $1,075 million in local taxes is budgeted for the schools this year, he said. The district has been certified to levy 27 mills against an assessed valuation of $32 million, resulting in $864,000 for the district.

The district also will raise $140,000 in local taxes to help pay off the 1953 unit 1962 bonds, $24,000 for plant facilities, and $2,000 for liability insurance.

In other matters the board approved buying a new $4,500 bus. District Superintendent George Staudaher reported the bus is needed because of an increase in the number of students moving out of the city. He hired three new teachers.

VA counselors set TF visit

TWIN FALLS — Assistance for veterans who need help in GI bill education, home loans and other problems will be available Monday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the fountain on Main Avenue in Twin Falls.

The Veterans Administration counselors will come via a mobile van which is part of the VA's "outreach" program to reach veterans not making full use of their benefits.

The VA counselor will explain and help with variety of problems and services for veterans, including educational benefits, home loans and medical care.

The red, white and blue VA office on wheels will be touring southern Idaho through Sept.

No order

TWIN FALLS — Fifth District Judge Theron W. Ward said this week he will not at this time order expansion of the County Courthouse Annex.

Ward wrote a letter to the Twin Falls County Commissioners last month suggesting that county revenue sharing funds be used to add four rooms to the northeast end of the present annex to ease crowded conditions in Magistrate Court.

Ward said Monday that while he has statutory authority to order the expansion of the building, he did not consider the need "that vital" now.

Machines missing

TWIN FALLS — An inventory of Community Action Agency offices has revealed a typewriter and two adding machines missing over a period of the past one to two years.

Nancy Kreft, CAA representative, told Twin Falls city police the loss was discovered in an inventory which ended Aug. 20 and efforts since that time have failed to produce information as to the whereabouts of the equipment.

The typewriter, a non-electric type, was valued at $77 and the adding machines at $300 and $352 each. Investigation is continuing.

Nurses class scores high

TWIN FALLS — CSI's first nursing class graduates have scored higher than the state average on four of five standardized nursing examinations — this fall, according to a school official. Judy Roberts, chairman of the nursing department at CSI, said CSI students ranked higher than other students around the state in the medical, surgical, obstetrical, and child nursing examinations. Only the psychiatric nursing tests did CSI students score lower than the state average.

"We have attempted to put a little more into our program because we felt our students would be doing a little more due to the lack of nurses in this area," Mrs. Roberts said. Another reason for the nursing program's success, Mrs. Roberts said, is the new

"module" curriculum which has been implemented. Nursing students now study between three and fifteen classes each semester instead of just taking one course.

Because the classes are more specialized, "students don't have to repeat things they already know," Mrs. Roberts said. Also, because the program makes use of tapes, films and worksheets to enable students to study at their own pace, teachers are freed from much classroom instruction and can better provide individual help, she said.

CSI students scored 525 in the medical, 518 in the surgical, 527 in the obstetrical, 408 in the psychiatric nursing and 511 in the nursing of children examinations. Statewide average scores came near 500 in each of the tests.

Special classes scheduled at CSI

TWIN FALLS — Special classes in business administration, sponsored by the College of Southern Idaho, Small Business Administration and Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce will open Thursday.

The course will be offered in six seminar sessions from 7 to 10 p.m. Thursday evenings through the current school year. The purpose of the program is to help area businessmen better operate their businesses by informing them on new and important aspects of business operation and management. Each seminar will consist of three consecutive classes with the first to begin Thursday. This will cover insurance and business risks. The second class Sept. 20 will cover legal forms and business ownership.

The third class of the first seminar will be held Sept. 27 covering business taxation.

The classes will be held in Room 110 of the Shields Building on the CSI campus. The three class seminar is available at a fee of $15.

Further information is available from Marvin Glascock, CSI, 233-9554 or the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Barracks, auxiliary convene for potluck

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Barracks, 500, Veterans of World War I had a potluck dinner and business meeting Monday at the IOOF Hall.

Mrs. Ralph Elliott, president, conducted the meeting.

Mrs. Ethel In Drannan, a new member, was welcomed and given the obligation. Cards are being sent to several ill members. Mrs. Roy Gaskill read a thank you letter from the Veterans Hospital for surgical articles made and sent by the group.

Articles to be made in October were discussed. Surgical squares, restraining bands and lap rolls are needed.

The next dinner and meeting will be Oct. 8.

TF homemakers meet

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County Extension homemaker's council met Monday at the CSI mini-auditorium.

Marlene Butler, senior citizens' program director, addressed the Homemakers in a talk on "Family Life." The program was presented by Helen Melton.

The state convention will be held Oct. 9 and 10 in Moscow with the program set for "Adventures in Fulfillment."

The next county meeting will be Nov. 12 when the Homemakers will discuss candy-making and Christmas craft.

The "Pyramids"

The Last Rose Of Summer

WASHINGTON — In all honesty, it is hard to share Thomas Moore's melancholy over the "last rose of summer, left blooming alone," and not only because there's not even a last rose left in a garden.

Yet, Washington's misery set no record. National Weather Service statistics showed that the capital city sweltered through 18 days of temperatures above 90 degrees in 1972 and endured several 12- to 15-day periods of 90-plus heat in the past 16 years.

reason for the standstill. The other is that Americans have decided it's too uncomfortable to venture out-of-doors when Nature turns nasty.

School plans okayed

WENDELL — School board members approved a rezoning plan Monday night. The rezoning proposal will equalize the population within each trustee district, according to Superintendent Lawrence J. Rine. The plan will be sent to the State Board of Education to be considered.

Each trustee will continue to represent his present zone, if the plan is approved, Linton said.

The fourth Monday of each month was set for the teachers to meet with the board on items of mutual concern. We hope this will open communications with the school board and staff," Linton said.

The meetings will be open to the public.

Board members viewed recently completed summer projects at last night's meeting. The projects included the elementary school library and high school lounge, a new lighting system in the music room and recreation improvements at the elementary school.

Board members approved a request by Linton that the district apply for migrant education funds for next year. Federal funds are provided for the migrant education program in Wendell.

All athletic transportation costs will be incurred by the school district this year as the result of a one-year trial approval by the board. Costs have been shared by the district and the athletic department previously.

The district had been paying $750 per year. Under the new arrangement, the district will incur an additional $500.

Richard Eaton, Wendell, bus contractor, met with the board to request that his bus contract be studied on a one-year basis, instead of present five year contract, due to accelerating costs. The matter was taken under advisement.

The board decided that all student organizations needing financial assistance from the district will be required to meet with the board to discuss their plans before any debts are undertaken.

Student number declines

TWIN FALLS — Enrollment in the Twin Falls School District shows a slight decline this year, the second consecutive such dip.

District enrollment is 6,256 students compared with 6,275 last year. Total enrollment in the high school and elementary schools is down slightly, while enrollment at the junior high school has increased.

Camden Meyer, assistant district superintendent, said the drop is so small that no clear trend is evident. "We'll probably hold our own ... (but) things change so fast, I've given up predicting," Meyer said.

Commenting on the significance of the loss of 17 students for the school district he said, "If we lose just a few students, why that's a part of the school. If we lose two or three hundred, why that would hit us pretty hard." The district receives state funds on the basis of average daily attendance (ADA) in the schools.

Meyer termed the drop in elementary school enrollment "a sign of the times" because fewer babies have been born in recent years. He said the same trend has recently become evident in Boise and in other school districts around the country.

SS pay action hiked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has voted to speed up a 5.9 per cent increase in Social Security benefits, hiking the benefits immediately instead of waiting until June 1974.

The Senate voted 83 to 21 Tuesday to add an amendment to the Civil Service Retirement Annuities bill which would put the increase into effect upon the bill's enactment into law.

The Social Security Act was approved by Congress last July. The annuities bill, which passed 71 to 10 and was sent to the House, would impose a minimum civil service retirement annuity equal to the minimum Social Security benefit which is currently $43.30 per month.

The Social Security amendment was offered by Sen. Robert H. Humphrey, D-Ill. The Senate also added, 70 to 20, an amendment by Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Fla., which would increase annuities by $20 for civil service employees who retired prior to Oct. 20, 1962.

Opponents of the Humphrey amendment said it would cost $1.5 billion a year. The cost of the Humphrey amendment was estimated by Sen. Wallace Bennett, R-Utah, at $2 billion a year.

"I will break the President's budget," Bennett warned.

"There is enough money in the trust fund to pay for it," Humphrey shot back.

"Don't worry about the budget," he added. "We're going to take the money from other areas and give it to the people who need it."

"Old people need this cost of living increase now more than ever before," Humphrey said.

Bridge fatal lure

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Golden Gate Bridge, spectacular in the setting sun, has become a fatal lure for the depressed and lonely. It soon will record its 500th-known suicide.

The 498th and 499th known suicides leapt to their deaths from the Golden Gate Bridge Monday, again raising questions about why the red bridge is a macabre attraction.

"The ghastly, the mystique, the publicity connected with jumping from the bridge are part of a fairly complicated answer," Dr. Richard H. Seidler, a University of California public health professor, said in an interview.

"People who kill themselves quietly at home don't get much attention. When you jump from the bridge, you become part of a running box score. It gives you a certain kind of glory."

It is a 200-foot fall, and rarely has anyone survived.

One of the latest victims was Mrs. Nancy Christman, 55, a socialite from nearby Atherton. The other was a man seen hurtling over the rail. His identity is not known and the Coast Guard has failed to find his body.

The California Highway Patrol has not intensified its surveillance to prevent more self destruction from the 36-year-old bridge. Officers readily admit these efforts would be futile. Besides, they are much too busy monitoring traffic on the busy bridge. Officials are studying the possibility of erecting suicide barriers.

One officer said as many as 5,000 people may have jumped from the bridge, unseen and uncounted.

The late engineer Joseph B. Strauss, who devoted nearly 20 years in making the bridge a reality, released a poem on May 27, 1937, the day the bridge was opened. Those lines were in it:

"No selfish urge shall stain its life,
Nor envy, greed, intrigue or strife,
No false, imbecile creed."

Julie takes job

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower, 25, President Nixon's younger daughter, said she got her father's permission before accepting a $10,000 job Tuesday with the Curtis Publishing Company.

"He said okay, go ahead. He knows the company and thinks it is a very fine one," she told newsmen.

A reporter asked what the President would have said if she had taken a job with the Washington Post, the newspaper whose staff did much of the investigative reporting that brought Watergate to public attention.

"Listen, I just wouldn't have gone to the Washington Post, and that's the answer to that," Mrs. Eisenhower said. "I don't think he would have needed to say anything."

Bert Ser Vins, president of Curtis, said Mrs. Eisenhower's job includes writing and editing, as well as participating in planning for a new television show for children.

Starts new job

Mrs. Eisenhower said she has tried to find a job where people cannot feel I am taking a position of being the daughter of a President and where, if I write an article on the Middle East, a foreign nation could not interpret that I am speaking for my father, even unofficially. In children's literature, you do solve some of those problems."

JULIE NIXON EISENHOWER laughs during a Tuesday news conference at Curtis Publishing Co. where she started work on a "full-time" job as an assistant editor. She said she will do much of the work from her home near Washington, D.C. Her salary? About $10,000 a year to start. (UPI)

Chile reactions vary

World reaction today was divided, in some cases along ideological lines, to the news that a military coup had toppled the government of Salvador Allende in Chile.

Thousands of youths in Buenos Aires demonstrated in front of the Chilean Embassy with placards that proclaimed "Allende lives forever" and "against the fascists and the United States."

In San Juan, the editor of the anti-Castro newspaper "Republica" said Allende had "unilaterally violated the Chilean constitution by trying to impose a Marxist system against the will of the Chilean people."

Brazil's largest daily newspaper, O Estado de Sao Paulo, commented that "the Chilean armed forces... would not have tolerated it if it had not been solicited of them by the immense majority of the people."

The United States and many other governments withheld comment on the news from Chile, calling the action an internal affair.

The New York Times said in an editorial entitled "tragedy in Chile," that "any military coup is a tragedy, representing a breakdown of civilian authority, and usually the collapse of government by consent. It is especially tragic for Chile, where sturdy democratic machinery had functioned for many years and the armed forces had a strong tradition of keeping to their barracks."

Enrico Berlinguer, leader of Italy's Communist party, the largest branch in the West, said "it is an attempt by fascist and rightwing forces and seditious military men to wipe out, by means of reactionary violence, the conquests of social justice, freedom and independence the Chilean people have achieved under the popular unity government."

Berlinguer expressed "full and brotherly solidarity" for Chile's democratic forces.

President Luis Echeverria of Mexico offered political asylum to Allende, if he survived, and his family.

He said "the Mexican government profoundly laments the events that took place in the Republic of Chile against the constitutional regime of President Salvador Allende."

X-ray warning issued

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A government researcher warns there are three relatively uncommon types of X-ray examinations that have a high risk of damaging the embryo in a pregnant woman and causing birth defects.

Dr. Roberts Rugh said there also are seven questionable diagnostic X-ray procedures. Fifty-six other types of X-ray examinations now appear relatively safe although they too could expose a developing child to some radiation. Many more X-ray tests would not affect an embryo.

Most of the procedures as far as we can tell at the moment, are either harmless or relatively harmless," Rugh said at a news conference. "There are only a few that should be restricted."

"The physician must therefore consider and balance the benefit to the mother against the risk to the fetus," he said in a paper written with Dr. William Leach and presented Tuesday to the International Radiation Protection Association. Rugh and Leach are research scientists with the International Radiological Health.

They said the earlier in pregnancy a fetus is exposed to radiation, the greater the chance the unborn child will be affected. The most crucial time is the first 42 day period after conception.

Rugh said the mother's health should have priority. He said he personally would recommend a therapeutic abortion if the fetus were exposed to one of the three high radiation X-ray procedures.

They are abdominal-ray filming of the aorta, a large artery; similar X-ray photography of an abdominal artery; and X-ray filming of the urinary bladder. Rugh said each procedure could expose an embryo to a radiation dose of 20 rads.

Danish physicians routinely recommend abortions if a pregnant woman is exposed to a 10-rad dose. Rugh said there is no such policy in the United States but he said radiation tolerance standards should be set.

Rugh also said that x-rays could harm an embryo when a pregnant woman realizes she is pregnant. He and Leach recommended that abdominal X-ray procedures be performed, if possible, during the 10 day period of each month when a woman is unlikely to conceive.

Writer reports time of terror

Editors Note: UPI correspondent Steven H. Yolen was in the UPI bureau 300 yards from the presidential palace in Santiago when the armed forces began their coup. Following is his first-person account of those terrifying hours.

STEVE YOLEN UPI Staffer

STEVEN H. YOLEN SANTIAGO (UPI) — For six hours, the thunder of bombs and bullets sounded the death knell for the Marxist government of Salvador Allende.

I thought at times those hours Tuesday would be my last.

This dispatch was written under a desk — I am on the floor, face down in rubble and concrete blown to dust.

The office has been practically destroyed by the impacts of what must be no less than 400 bullets.

At one point, the incoming bullets were so intense that the office was full of concrete powder and we were unable to see from one side to the other in the news rooms.

That was nothing compared to the 15-minute bombardment of the Presidential Palace which is located about three hundred yards away from our office.

Air force jets streamed low directly above our office and dropped what I estimated as 24 high explosive bombs. We all prayed the airplanes would make no mistakes because we are on the top floor.

Every time one of us would dare to get off the floor to try to get a glimpse outside we were shot at by soldiers.

The buildings shook repeatedly with explosions from tank fire directly beneath us.

The floor of the office was covered with broken glass, chunks of concrete and hundreds of spent bullets.

Our radio receiver took a direct hit. All of the windows have been shot away.

Miraculously none of us was hit, although there are bullet perforations everywhere.

The firing by soldiers on the street seemed like the end of the world. We could do nothing except lay flat on our stomachs and hope that the bullets would pass.

Xrays hot

Anything can happen in match point games. Here is an example of a brilliant series of plays to make the difference between top and bottom.

East's double of one club was erratic. South's jump to three no-trump pure whimsy.

South won the first trick with the ace of hearts over East's king. He noted that the normal result would be four spades bid and five made.

He needed to make five no-trump for a good score and worked out a play for it based on the assumption that East held the king of diamonds and king-queen of clubs. He led his jack of hearts right back. West took his queen and led a third heart.

Dummy's 10 won and South discarded a diamond. Then he proceeded to run off six spades while discarding two clubs from dummy.

When West showed out on the second spade, East could see the end play that was due to come off.

He also found a way to foil it. His first discard was his last heart. His next two were small diamonds to leave his king unprotected. Finally he chucked the deuce of clubs.

Now South led a club to dummy's ace. East followed with the queen. It was obvious to South that East was holding the king of clubs and king-small diamonds. He led dummy's jack of clubs. East cashed two club tricks to hold South to four no-trump!

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1♣	2♠	3♣	4♠
Pass	4♠	Pass	5♠
Pass	5♠	Pass	Pass

What do you do now?

A—Bid a conservative six or an optimistic seven clubs. Your guess is as good as ours here.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of passing West has bid two diamonds over your one spade. North doubles. What do you do now?

Cadillac '74

More than ever...
America's Number One Luxury Car.

It is a matter of record that in the model year just ending more people chose to own Cadillacs than ever before in history—more than double those of the nearest competitor. And it is true that Cadillac traditionally leads all U.S. car makes in both resale value and owner loyalty. It's a record without equal. Yet in many ways the Cadillacs of 1974 are superior to the cars that established this record.

It's what you expect of Cadillac and something more.

More choice. And what a choice it is—the greatest in the luxury field. There are the three you see here: The classic Fleetwood Brougham, the magnificent new version of America's only luxury convertible—Eldorado. The newly styled Coupe deVille. Plus six other basic models. Plus New Special Edition Cars. Luxury versions of DeVille. A new Brougham d'Elegance. And the new ultra-elegant Fleetwood Talisman. More elegance. Inside every 1974 Cadillac is a new instrument panel. Interiors are more luxurious than ever. More flair. The smart new styling of the Coupe deVille is a case in point. Its top lines, highlighted by the private quarter window, accent its youthful flavor. More driving pleasure. Finer engine performance... from start to stop. Due in part to a new combustion chamber, a new camshaft, a choke reinducer to provide quick starting, a snorkel to supply the engine with cooler air. And something less. Even less engine noise with high damping by the pistons, a fan clutch, and a muffler for air intake. Inside the car, a virtual network of acoustical materials including double seals on doors—silently does its job. After all, it's a Cadillac. To own or lease the 1974 Cadillac of your choice, see your Cadillac dealer now.

Now on display by your authorized Cadillac dealer.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN P. BRENNAN

Sandra McMullin, Brennan say vows

TWIN FALLS—Sandra Lea McMullin and John Patrick Brennan were married in an Aug. 25 ceremony at the Twin Falls Grace Baptist Church.

Rev. Robert Seamon conducted the nuptial rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McMullin, Twin Falls. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John V. Brennan, Baker, Ore.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown of satin in an A-line style featuring an empire waistline and short sleeves. The bottom of the dress and the edge of the train were scalloped. The train was covered with lace. The bride made the gown of satin from her mother's wedding dress.

She wore a keepsake diamond cross necklace, loaned to her by Mrs. Tom Norton, sister of the bridegroom. Her handmade veil was borrowed from Mrs. Gary Gillert, cousin-of-the-bride.

She carried a cascade styled bouquet of blue gladioli, white baby roses and white chrysanthemums.

Pamela McMullin, Twin Falls, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Janice Biggs, Twin Falls; Mrs. Gary Gillert, Athens, Tex., cousin of the bride; and Sally Johnson, Baker, Ore., cousin of the bride.

John Clark, Baker, Ore., was best man. Ushers were Steven McMullin, Twin Falls, brother of the bride, and Paul Johnson, Baker, Ore., cousin of the bride. Tim Pope, Baker, Ore., was a groom's man. Candelighters were Dan Johnson, Baker, Ore., cousin of the bride, and David McMullin, Twin Falls, brother of the bride.

The couple was honored at a reception after the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with light blue satin with a floor-length skirt of lace tied with blue bows. The four-tiered cake had the bottom layer in the shape of a cross with the other three tiers made in the shape of a heart. Lattice hearts with blue roses trimmed the edges. The cake had a golden cross with a miniature bride and groom on top. A cake shaped like a Bible had the wedding vows written on it. The cake was created by Alberta Seaman, Filer. Blue rose mints were made by Ruby Walter, aunt of the bride.

Assisting with the reception were Mrs. John Walter, Spanish Fork, Utah, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Don Elliott, Jerome.

Mrs. Larry Jensen was in charge of the guest book. Gifts were opened by Mrs. Glen Kerral, Jerome, and Mrs. Robert Moore, Twin Falls. Larry Weeks, Twin Falls, was gift carrier.

Ruby Walter and Pam McMullin presented a flute and vocal duet. Ruby Walter, Mrs. Gary Gillert and Pam McMullin, a vocal trio, also performed.

After a wedding trip to Sun Valley, the couple resides at 204 E. Kimberly. The bride is employed at the Red Caboose and the bridegroom is employed by Green Kimberly Seed.

Out-of-state guests attended from Oregon, Utah, Kansas and Nevada.

Couple marries

FILER—Ann Pratt and Alvin Allen were married in Aug. 20 rites in the Salt Lake City LDS Temple.

President Kiefer performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Pratt and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carson Allen, all Filer.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts at a luncheon after the ceremony.

The couple was honored at a reception Aug. 25 at the Twin Falls West Stake building.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of polyester, oroprimed with a lace collar and ruffio and featuring full-length bishop sleeves.

She carried a cascade bouquet of blue, yellow and pink baby carnations tied with blue satin streamers.

Attending the bride were her sisters, Lawana Palmer, Marie Bryant and Jane Page, and a friend, Mona Morrison. Angela Palmer and Michelle Bryant wore flower girls.

Gary Allen, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Paul Ellidge, Bruce Kuhl, and Kim Berger.

Baskets of pink, yellow and white gladioli with blue satin bows decorated the hall.

Leona Gorringer registered guests at a circular table covered with white lace. A blue plumed pen was used and an arrangement of carnations and framed picture of the bride couple completed the setting.

Jana Hansen and Jolene Beck were in charge of the gifts. Chris Pratt, Hal Preston and Clint Palmer received the gifts.

The bride's table, covered with white lace with an overlay of blue satin trimmed with blue bows, was centered with a four-tiered chocolate wedding cake. A miniature bride and groom couple topped the cake.

Connie and Ruth Allen, sisters of the bridegroom, served cake and punch. Bertha Reynolds, Cindy Carlson, Linda Neal, Sandra Wasden, Sharla Egbert and Nina Hansen served guests at the tables.

A trumpet solo was played by Dave Tippet who was accompanied by pianist, Ralph

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In regard to a letter dealing with X-rated movies, you replied, "If the morals squad would just ignore their mission of stamping raids, confiscating film, and arresting exhibitors and patrons, thereby giving millions of dollars worth of free advertising to these trashy movies, they would die a slow death."

Now, Abby, you know I am a fan of yours, but in this case, if you pardon me, you are nuttier than a fruitcake!

There are a lot of people whose minds never got above their waists, and these movies only encourage more of that attitude. When it comes to trying to put a stop to this type of filth, I believe they should shoot the people who exhibit these films!

Publisher's solution

The problem has flourished because honest, sensible, sound people like you have refused to take a vigorous stand on this matter.

Best wishes, just the same.

WILLIAM LOEB,
PUBLISHER, MANCHESTER UNION LEADER,
MANCHESTER, N. H.

DEAR MR. LOEB: I appreciate your classifying me among the "honest, sensible, sound" people, but if you think I haven't taken a vigorous stand on this matter, you, sir, are nuttier than a peach plantation.

The U. S. Supreme Court has ruled in favor of leaving the matter of setting acceptable standards up to the local communities and states.

In Albemarle County, Virginia, recently, a special grand jury of five men and two women were asked to recommend "acceptable community standards." They couldn't do it!

In your opinion, Mr. Loeb, WHO should decide what the adults of Manchester, N. H. should be allowed to see? The city council by ordinance? The chief of police? The sheriff? The PTA?

So far, there has not been a shred of evidence to support your allegation that these movies encourage others to emulate those "whose minds never got above their waists."

Finally, if there is ever a law in this land which requires its citizens to look at X-rated movies you can count on me to take a vigorous stand against it!

DEAR ABBY: A good friend of mine met a very attractive couple at a party at my home one evening. (They were newcomers to town.)

Next thing I heard, my good friend invited this couple to her home for a party, and she didn't invite me! I never would have done such a thing and claim this is not cricket.

Is this ethical behavior? No etiquette book I have ever seen covers this situation.

DEAR WONDERING: It's NOT cricket to invite someone you met at a friend's party without including the friend on the first invitation. After that, you have no obligation to the one who brought you together.

DEAR ABBY: I've read your column for years, and have often said: "These can't be real letters from real people. Nobody could be that dumb." After what happened to me, I will never say that again. Here is my story.

Our son brought home a very pretty foreign girl. They were married. We treated her like our own daughter. At first she was quiet and shy, but it didn't take her long to learn the American ways.

She and our son lived with us. Before long we could tell that they were having trouble. She would leave the house early in the morning and not come home until late in the evening. She didn't have a job, and no one knew where she went. My son objected to it, but my husband would defend her.

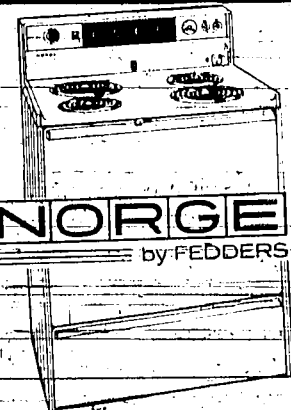

When the truth came out, it was my HUSBAND who was seeing on the sly. He is self-employed and can set his own schedule. My son was brokenhearted, but he gave her the divorce she wanted, and I gave my husband his freedom (after 28 years, and four children!) and now my ex-daughter-in-law is married to my ex-husband!

Now, I can believe anything.

Officials to change world trade rules

TOKYO (UPI) — U.S. Treasury Secretary George Schultz appealed to a high-level meeting of economic officials today to write "rational" trade rules to permit more American food to reach the hungry people of the world.

Schultz also proposed a gradual but substantial expansion of tariff-free trade, and a parallel reduction of tariffs on other items subject to trade barriers.

His speech came at the opening session of a meeting of economic diplomats from 82 nations representing the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). The officials were preparing an historic overhaul of world trade rules.

"The current shortage in agricultural supplies and the danger it will be repeated in the future gives great urgency to the need to find a more rational pattern of production and trade in agricultural commodities," Schultz told the conference.

"If we expand opportunities for world trade in agriculture, we will be able to make available more food at cheaper prices for everyone."

Schultz also warned that the amount of authority Congress gives President Nixon to negotiate new rules for world trade may depend on settlements of American trade disputes with foreign countries this year.

The Tokyo meeting was the ceremonial opening of the seventh round of GATT trade negotiations since World War II. The talks will be conducted in Geneva, starting in October, and are expected to last two years.

The big economic powers like Japan, the United States and the European Common Market were expected to trade away some of the protections they give their farmers and industrialists in return for the chance to sell more in other nation's markets.

The meeting began with the United States and France, a key member of the Common Market, in open disagreement about rules for the GATT talks. France wants the talks tied directly to international currency reform and the United States does not.

Military misses enlistment goals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The quality and racial balance of U.S. military enlistments improved in August, but for the seventh consecutive month since the draft ended the armed forces failed to attract the needed number of volunteers, the Pentagon says.

Total enlistments for August, defense officials reported Tuesday fell 11 per cent short of the 37,527-man goal for the month. This was slightly better than the record for July, when recruiters missed their 37,259-man goal by 13 per cent.

But the Army reported its percentage of black recruits was 29.7 per cent, down from a record high of 35 per cent in July — much higher than the black percentage of the U.S. population. Its percentage of recruits in the lowest mental category was 19.7 per cent, down from a July level of 31.5 per cent.

U.S. Gen. Robert Tabor, a top defense manpower official, said the outlook for achieving an all-volunteer U.S. military was brighter than the enlistment figures alone would indicate.

"Taken in total context, the experience is not discouraging," Tabor told a Pentagon news conference. "We see improvement all the time. One of the bright spots has been reenlistments."

The Pentagon produced figures for July, the latest month for which reenlistment statistics are available, showing an overall total of 5.8 per cent more men in uniform than expected signed up for another hitch in the armed forces.

New York grocers drop prices as beef sales fall

United Press International

Several New York grocers announced a reduction in beef prices beginning today to revive drooping sales. Elsewhere, grocers and processors predicted any nationwide increase in beef prices will be much smaller than expected.

And as for the future, government economists predicted meat prices nationwide could drop later this year or in 1974.

A spokesman for Pathmark Supermarkets in New York said round roasts and steaks will be sold beginning today for 15 per cent below the price ceiling. Another group of grocers, Daitch Shopwell, said it will drop prices on some beef items 10 per cent below the freeze level next week, and other New York stores announced competitive reductions.

An Agriculture Department report said today that between October and December, increased cattle marketings and seasonally larger pork supplies probably will hold live cattle prices well below recent levels. And looking into 1974, the report said, there are enough cattle ready for finishing to allow a "significant increase" in production, indicating a "favorable price trend."

For the more immediate future, the feeling around the country was the price boom on beef that was expected after the price freeze was lifted Monday will not come this week, and when it does come, it will be far below previous predictions.

Walter Johnson, packing house manager for Armour Co. in Little Rock, Ark., said he expected prices to be 5 to 8 per cent higher rather than the 20-30 per cent some had predicted because "there are more cattle ready to hit the market than we had thought."

Prices in supermarkets showed little change from last week before the ceiling was lifted at midnight Sunday. Many retailers said they did not expect any major change until at least next week.

Edwin Siveking, a vice president of Kroger Co., said, "We don't foresee any drastic price changes. It's going to be a supply and demand thing in the end. Ultimately the consumer will make the decision."

William Hamady, president of Big Star food markets in West Virginia, said his stores would start raising prices in a few days to test consumer reaction.

African police kill striking black miners

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Police opened fire to put down a riot by striking black miners at a gold mine near Carltonville Tuesday night, killing 11 men and wounding nine others. Another miner was hanged to death by the mob.

Police Commissioner I. Gen. Johannes T. Crous said about 80 striking miners fought back by hurling stones. He said 11 of them died in a hail of police bullets and a 12th striker caught up in the confusion was hanged and slashed to death as the mob moved on the 100-man police contingent.

Crous said police called to the Deep Levels Gold Mine about 60 miles west of Johannesburg were forced to open fire "under the most extreme provocation."

"The latest information is that 12 Africans are dead," Crous said, correcting earlier reports from the mine's management that ten blacks had been killed and 12 wounded.

Crous said the trouble started when the mine's manager told a group of striking machine operators he could not meet their demands for more pay.

"When their demands for higher wages were rejected the mine workers threatened to burn down the offices and other buildings on the property," Crous said. "Police were called in when the situation was obviously getting out of control. When they saw the police, the Africans went berserk."

MPG labels on new cars

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New car shoppers visiting showrooms this fall will be told something they probably already suspect: If they buy a big car they'll use a lot of gas.

The three biggest U.S. car makers and eight major foreign firms agreed Tuesday to start putting miles-per-gallon information on the windows of new cars right next to the price stickers.

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), which asked the industry to start using the stickers voluntarily, to help ease energy consumption by raising the public's consciousness of the issue, said it expected most manufacturers would eventually participate.

The firms which announced their participation Tuesday represent 90 per cent of all new cars sold in this country. They are General Motors, Ford, Chrysler, Datsun, Alpha Romeo, Daimler-Benz, Volvo, Toyota, Kogyo, Saab-Scania, British Leyland and Subaru.

Only Pougot refused outright to take part, the EPA said. Robert L. Sampson, an assistant EPA administrator, said other firms, including Volkswagen and Honda, indicated their support for the idea but had not yet formally committed themselves.

There are two types of labels involved, either one of which may be used. Both contain miles per gallon data developed from EPA tests.

One type, really a chart, will be the most prevalent, appearing by EPA estimates on about 65 per cent of all U.S.-made cars. It lists vehicle weight categories from 2,000 to 5,500 pounds and lists in each category a range for expected mileage as well as a dollar figure for fuel costs for each 10,000 miles of operation.

Jew emigration issue pushed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ever since President Nixon negotiated an agreement in 1972 for a vast increase in Soviet-American trade, pressure has mounted in Congress to withhold approval until Moscow permits Soviet Jews to emigrate to Israel.

A showdown on that issue is nearing in the House Ways and Means Committee.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., acting as chairman in the absence of an ailing Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., has introduced a "compromise" bill, but opponents say it goes too far and claim they can defeat would seek to hold the Russian's foot to the fire on emigration.

He would require an annual report from the President on whether the Russians were making "reasonable progress" toward respecting "internationally agreed upon principles of human rights" including free expression and emigration.

After three years, Congress could rescind MFN status, but the President could veto that bill. Then it would take a two-thirds vote in both houses to overrule him.

Nearly two-thirds of the House and over two-thirds of the Senate have cosponsored an amendment denying MFN status to the Soviets until the Kremlin drops the heavy exit fees which have prevented Jews from leaving.

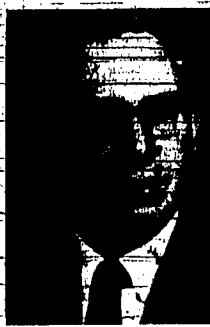

"The Russians call this interference in domestic matters. The administrations say concern over the plight of Soviet Jews is a separate issue from expansion of trade."

speaker

TWIN FALLS — Jack McCarthy, New York City, one of six partners in Lord, Abbott Co., will address interested Magic Valley investors at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 21 in the Shields Academic building at CSI.

Gene Sturgill, of Sinclair and Co., Twin Falls, said McCarthy is portfolio manager for the $7 billion dollar Affiliated Fund, Inc.

His address will be entitled "The stock market now and where it is headed." His appearance in Twin Falls follows speaking engagements in San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

McCarthy joined Lord, Abbott firm as senior securities analyst in 1960 from the trust department of the First National City Bank of New York. He was promoted to director of research in 1970 and became a partner and responsible for Affiliated Fund in 1972.

Mr. McCarthy is an outstanding speaker, but more importantly his respect on Wall Street gives him an insight into financial happenings that bring New York money matters to Magic Valley, Sturgill said. "The public is invited and they will not be disappointed."

TF club honors leaders

TWIN FALLS — All instructors of the cultural arts in the Magic Valley were honored at the fall tea of the Twin Falls Music Club held Monday afternoon at the YM-YWCA.

Teachers of voice, piano, organ, art and dance were present as guests.

The program, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Roger Vincent, opened with a tribute to teachers by Mrs. W. B. Wilkison, a past president of Twin Falls Music Club. Mrs. Wilkison began her speech by relating events which led to the organization of the Twin Falls Music Club in 1950.

Many individual teachers were recognized such as Olaf Molar in art, Fran Tanner in drama, and Tele Bellini in piano.

Mrs. Lloyd Walker, Twin Falls voice teacher, and well known for her singing roles such as Carmen in the opera "Carmen" and Eliza Doolittle in "My Fair Lady," sang three French songs by Francis Paulene.

Don Boystar, who accompanied Mrs. Walker, is native to this area and has recently returned to teach piano and organ.

Lawrence Curtis, professor of music at the College of Southern Idaho, played.

The Past Presidents' Assembly served refreshments and handled the table decorations.

The Twin Falls Music Club is an affiliate of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

MV BPW meets

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Business and Professional Women's Club met Monday at the home of Dr. Adele Thompson for a "pitch-in" picnic.

Mrs. Frances Buhler, president, presided and introduced other officers elected at the last meeting of the club.

Holly Langdon, Girls' State representative, spoke to the group, describing her experiences at Girls' State this summer.

Plans were made to attend the district meeting at the Holiday Inn, Sun Valley, Sept. 18.

Guests included Dr. Thompson and her family.

The next meeting is at 8:30 p.m. Sept. 24 at the Colonial House.

Way down

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The deepest foundation of the Golden Gate Bridge is located 110 feet underwater at the mouth of San Francisco Bay.

'Y' fall events listed

TWIN FALLS — If your game is table tennis, judo, archery, or whatever, chances are it will be included in the series of activities announced for the fall and winter schedule of the YM-YWCA.

An open-house sign-up for all fall programs will be held today (Wednesday) from 4 to 5:30 p.m. for youngsters and 7 to 9:30 p.m. for adults at the "Y" Building.

Activities announced today by Charles Upton, YMCA executive director, include a third annual Y-Letterman's contest beginning Sept. 18 and scheduled each Tuesday and Thursday from 4 to 5:30 p.m. The program includes games, sports and contests with a 30 minute craft period. It will continue a nine week culminating Nov. 20 with an awards program. It is open to boys 6 to 11 years of age.

Archery classes will begin Sept. 17 and be offered each Monday and Wednesday from 4 to 5:30 p.m. with Bill Ward as instructor. The classes are open to both boys and girls, ages 6 to 14.

Wrestling programs begin Sept. 19 and will be held on Wednesdays from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Boys 6 to 12 are invited to participate.

Table tennis classes begin Sept. 17 and will be held Monday and Thursday from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Y. Boys and girls from 9 to 14 may participate.

The Judo program has opened its 12th season with the initial class held Tuesday. Classes continue Tuesday and Thursday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the basement of the Lincoln Elementary school. The sport is open to boys nine years and older.

A soccer league will also be featured this year with sign-up Saturday at 9 a.m. in the Lincoln School athletic field. The league is open to fourth through sixth grade boys.

Additional information on all of the programs is available by calling 733-4384.

He's assured sky is falling

ALPENA, Mich. (UPI) — Everett Smith was sure the sky was falling Monday.

Smith was minding the store at an auto muffler shop he owns when a wrecking ball suddenly crashed through the roof.

The ball had snapped off a crane that was demolishing the building next door.

There were no injuries, but Smith said he is out quite a few matters.

Local control requested on state land planning

By GEORGE WILEY
Times News Writer

TWIN FALLS — While local control was a recurrent theme at legislative land use hearings in Twin Falls Tuesday night, some Magic Valley officials and residents voiced approval of a state land use plan.

Local residents were invited to the meeting at CSI to present testimony to members of the Interim Legislative Land Use Planning Committee to guide the committee in drawing up a statewide comprehensive land use plan. One bill, SB 1111, introduced this year never got out of a Senate committee. It led to the formation of the committee.

Twin Falls County Zoning Administrator Ed Woods, speaking as a private citizen, told the legislators that a comprehensive state plan, as proposed under SB 1111, gave the state a "blank check" in originating controls. "It may be okay if everybody wears a white hat," Woods said, "but it certainly puts the State in the driver's seat."

Woods said he also questioned the advisability of a state appeals board to rule on local land use conflicts, as proposed in the legislation.

A state appeals board, Woods said, would work against the interests of localities by allowing developers to "sneak" to the State everytime they did not agree with a local ruling, causing confusion and delay in local development.

"Should appeals be written in (to a State bill, Mr. Woods?" asked committee member Sen. A. L. White, D-Orofino.

Woods said he thought the local appeals procedure — from the County Zoning Administrator to the County Zoning Commission to the County Commissioners — would suffice.

Ben Morgan, Wendell, representing the Magic Valley Contractors Association, said his group strongly favored land use planning, "but the farther we get from the local source, the harder a time we have with these things."

Art Rathburn, a Twin Falls Community resource specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service, advocated inclusion of regional Councils of Government in the state planning process to help resolve planning conflicts between counties.

Rathburn also said the state legislation should be in one bill, not a flurry of separate bills. He urged the legislators to take their time in coming up with a workable plan.

Tom Mahan, chairman of the Jerome Planning Council, urged the legislators to come up with a State plan at the next session of the legislature. He said a State plan was necessary to allow localities to go ahead freely with their own planning.

Asked by Rep. William C. Onweller, R-Boise, whether he favored statutory separation of planning and zoning as two different functions, Mahan said planning and zoning administrations spent all their time zoning and not planning. "We can put months and years on a plan and it may never be legally adopted," he said.

Jerome County Land Use Committee Chairman Forrest Hymas told the legislators there must be a statewide plan for the coordination of planning between common boundary counties. He urged that any State plan remain "flexible." He also called for the use of soil surveys as a basis for planning, urged that land areas in cities be developed prior to development of land outside cities, and advocated thorough schooling for local officials on any State plan.

Gooding Planning Commission member Allan Irwin told the legislators to "scrap the whole idea."

Opinions asked would be trying to get work-study students for the job," Perkins added.

Commenting on the proposal to locate the consumer board at the CAA, Blackwell said it would be "an outstanding idea provided that there will be a faculty supervisor." He said the supervisor would be necessary to ensure students work the hours they report.

Blackwell then said he does not know whether the entire program should be located at the CAA because some people might be willing to bring consumer complaints to the college and not want to go to the CAA.

Establishing a CAB at CSI poses a "unique" problem, Blackwell said, because the students younger and perhaps less mature than the upper classroom, graduate and law students whom the research groups at Idaho State University and the University of Idaho.

JEROME — Hubert Fletcher, 26, Jerome, said today he will run for the city council in the Nov. 6 election.

Fletcher, a native of Jerome said he is interested in the council position because he feels the younger residents of Jerome need to be represented and have not been in the past. "I don't feel that enough progress has been made over the years by the council and I feel that because I am 26 my age might create a little more interest in city government by the younger residents of Jerome," Fletcher said. "I think the town has been behind the times as far as city government is concerned. We are not keeping up with the situations at hand," Fletcher said.

Fletcher has been employed at Volvo Inc. since April in sales personnel. Previously he worked at Northside Lumber Company for seven years, until the firm was purchased by Volvo.

He is a 1966 graduate of Jerome High School and has served with the Idaho National Guard for the past eight years. He is married to the former Deann Callen and the couple has one child.

Consumer aid shunned at CSI

Asked whether CSI administrators are worried the CAB will alienate businessmen from the college, Perkins said, "Not only that, but I don't think we should be in a position of telling them how to run their business."

Perkins affirmed the college would cooperate to the extent of making work study funds available for the project, but it would prefer the project not be on campus. He said that through word "indirectly received" he knew President Taylor does "not want to house the agency on campus."

The next step will be to contact the Community Action Agency to see if it will headquarter the CAB and then to meet with businessmen to discuss the program, Perkins said.

The administrator said if CAB were located on campus, CSI would have to have institutional controls and full-time supervision over it.

"If it is off campus, the only responsibility we would have

Hagerman awards contracts

HAGERMAN — A contract was awarded at the Hagerman school board meeting Monday night to Gooding Coal and Lumber for coal at $19.25 per ton.

The board reviewed preliminary drawings of the new elementary school, which was approved by voters last week in a bond election. Plans were discussed for land acquisition. The board plans to purchase the land on which an option was taken last fall.

Trustees took under advisement a request by agricultural students to attend the Portland International Livestock show in November.

New teachers named

BLISS — New teachers in the Bliss school district were announced at the trustee meeting Monday night.

They include Mrs. Susan Olin, first and second grades; Alan Peteraen, high school science; Steven Sorenson, social studies and coach; Larry Olin, mathematics, and Mrs. Delores Lovett Smith, music and French.

Supt. Burton Lenker announced the Department of Labor inspection of school facilities showed the school is in good condition.

A new policy manual was distributed to trustees. Policies were approved this summer and do not reflect any major differences in policy, Lenker said.

Jerome 'feed' set

JEROME — The Jerome Booster Club will have its annual fish fry and spaghetti feed from 6 to 9 p.m. tonight.

The feed, which is open to the public, will be at the Elks Club in Jerome with the coaches doing the cooking. Proceeds from the dinner will be used to finance activities for junior and senior high school students.

Arraignment scheduled

BELLEVUE — Arraignment was scheduled for today in Blaine County Magistrate Court for Steve Shipman, 23, Bellevue, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Shipman was arrested Tuesday night by Blaine County sheriff's deputies in connection with an alleged incident earlier this month near Bellevue.

Notices changed

BOISE (UPI) — The state land board plans to use a combination of display and legal advertisements for future land sale notices.

The change of advertising was encouraged by the success of a recent land auction in Southeastern Idaho.

Land Department Commissioner Gordon Trombley said the increase in bidders and the substantial prices obtained for the land could be attributed to the use of display ads and the breaking up of land into smaller units.

4-H'ers compete at annual fair

JEROME — The annual South Central Idaho District 4-H fair opens today in Jerome at the county fairgrounds.

Over 300 4-H members from nine counties are expected to compete in the four-day event which runs through Saturday. Counties participating include Jerome, Twin Falls, Blaine, Elmore, Gooding, Lincoln, Camas, Casola and Mindoka.

Contests checked in beef entries in the morning but contest at 2 p.m. today. At 3 p.m. the live steers were evaluated. On Thursday, all projects with the exception of beef and hogs, will be checked in from 1 to 4 p.m.

Friday's schedule of events begins at 9 a.m. and will include horse judging, exhibit judging and home economics as well as agricultural demonstrations.

Saturday the home economics judging contest will begin at 8:30 a.m. The livestock judging contest begins at 9 a.m. The junior style revue, ages 9 to 15, will begin at 10:30 a.m. dressing time with show time set for 11:30 a.m.

The senior style revue for girls 14 and over will begin at 2 p.m. dressing time with the show to begin at 2:30 p.m.

A special awards assembly is tentatively scheduled for 3:30 p.m. Saturday. All trophies and awards will be presented to top 4-H winners at the assembly.

Migrant number low at Burley

Cassia County Farm Bureau President Wayne Book said there were fewer migrant workers in the area than a year ago because of increased mechanization, but "I don't think there will be any problem" with harvest labor.

"I am not convinced there will be a labor shortage this fall," W. F. (Bill) Whitton, director of information for the Idaho Farm Bureau said Wednesday, "but there could be problems in individual fields."

Whitton attributes the lower number of migrant workers to "labor problems" forcing farmers to greater mechanization for stability in their harvests, to federal "handout" programs, removing incentives for manual labor and to better educational systems preparing migrants for more skilled work.

Because of the high price of grain and hay, farmers are taking beets, a crop requiring a great deal of hand labor, out of the crop rotation sequence, he said. "The more beets they eliminate," he said, "the fewer jobs there will be."

The Idaho Migrant Council (IMC) in Minidoka County said the number of migrant workers should be about the same as last year.

The influx for the fall harvest is expected within the next few weeks. Jaime Alvarado, job developer for the IMC, said Wednesday. Alvarado expects all the labor camps in the area to fill to capacity and all harvest jobs in the area to be filled.

The Amalgamated Sugar Company in Paul, which previously contracted migrant labor in advance and paid travel expenses to the area, did not do so this year, Santos said, which reduced the number of migrants coming to the area.

A lot of people were unable to afford transportation to the area, he said.

Whitton said the increased use of sprinkler systems for irrigation eliminated many laborers from summer employment in the area, decreasing the number who remain for the fall harvest.

But apparently many farmers in the area are anxious about the employment situation. Dr. Hatfield said he had been contacted by several farmers this week asking if school would be closed for the harvest so the students could help with the work.

Attendance hits 59,244

FILER — The total attendance for the four days of the Twin Falls County Fair was 59,244, according to fair office officials. The four night rodeo was attended by approximately 13,250 people.

Workmen scale TF canyon wall

JEROME — Workmen began to scale the wall of the Snake River Canyon on the north and south sides of the Perrino Bridge this week.

A spokesman for the construction company working on the bridge to replace the present structure said workmen are being lowered on ropes over the edge of the canyon rim in order to remove loose material from the sides of the canyon. He said the loose rock and other debris must be cleared in order to protect workmen who will soon begin working below in the canyon.

The north side approach to the bridge is nearly completed and it is anticipated that steel for the bridge will not be brought into the area until spring. In the meantime, work will continue on the scaling of the south side approach and on the foundations.

Hailey street progress aired

HAILEY — Progress on an about $22,210 street improvement project was outlined before the Hailey City Council Monday night.

Councilman Neal Nyblad, said beginning Friday pentaprime will be installed on Myrtle, Spruce and River Streets with a tack coat and gravel chips to follow.

The councilman said the anticipated cost for the work on the three streets compared to about $53,000 bid to install asphalt on River Street alone.

In other action the council: — Approved a $8,950 allocation toward the city's share of construction costs for the new National Guard Armory in Hailey. The city had previously paid $3,500 leaving a balance of about $1,500.

— Heard a progress report on the 650-acre McCulloch Properties Inc. Woodside Development by project manager, Horacio Self. He told the council plans for the second half of the development will be submitted to the city planning and zoning commission and the council for consideration in October.

The first half of the development which was previously approved will probably be ready for sale in December, he said. Presently, he said, negotiations are in progress with utility firms for plant installation of underground power gas and telephone lines next spring; and that key roads within the development are being graded.

Self said the initial architectural plans for the tennis club came in 20 per cent over the budget and are now being reworked.

— Discussed with Self but tabled for further study a proposal to install water meters in the Woodside Development.

— Approved a plat change for Plat 8 in the Woodside Development, necessitated by a boundary revision.

— Tabled for further research a request by the Hailey Days of the Old West Committee and the Sawtooth Rangers Riding Club for a lease on the city owned rodeo grounds.

Councilman Claude Porter said he feels the Council is in favor of such a lease. The council agreed to have the City Attorney Stephen W. Boller determine feasibility of a lease and requested the groups to present a proposal.

Wally Young, representing about five persons at the Council meeting said the groups plan to conduct repair work on the grounds, but said this work is not possible unless a lease is obtained.

6 Blaine aides named in suit

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — Six Blaine County officials and two private couples have been named as defendants in a suit brought in connection with the sale of a Magic City cabin under a warrant of distraint.

According to a complaint filed in Fifth District Court, the plaintiffs, Mr. and Mrs. Artie O. Barker, Boise, have had a leasehold interest in Lot 8, Magic City, and a fee simple interest in a cabin since July 9, 1971.

Cited as defendants were the following County officials: Assessor, Dalmer Nicholson; Treasurer, Dorothy Povey; Sheriff, Orville Drexler; and Commissioners, Andy Gardner, Jack Bennett, and Ray Sweet.

Also named as defendants were Mr. and Mrs. David C. Myers, Bellevue, and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Hatch, Paul.

The complaint contends that the County assessment of the plaintiffs' real property, an $18.82 levy for personal property taxes, the issuance of a warrant of distraint, and the subsequent Sheriff's sale are "illegal, invalid, and without force and effect, and deprive the plaintiffs of their real property to their great and irreparable injury."

Gooding board denies requests

By PEGGY CHU
Times-News writer

GOODING — Several requests were turned down Monday at the Gooding School board meeting. They ranged from tax shelter annuities and power of attorney to attendance at a showing of "Romeo and Juliet."

The trustees refused to reconsider a request by various insurance agents that the school provide tax shelter annuities for its employees. Elmer Meyer, Vaughn Egan and W. G. Stocking met with the board to tell members of the annuity program which they said is a savings and retirement plan which would benefit the teachers.

The principal objections to the proposal were the extra bookkeeping work involved and a lack of expressed interest by the teachers in the plan.

In other board action, the trustees elected not to recognize a power of attorney proposal from Jim Faulkner, Illus, which would have the effect of admitting his three children to the Gooding schools' tuition free. Faulkner planned to give the power of attorney to his father, Ralph Faulkner, a Gooding resident in order to avoid paying tuition of $100 per month so his children could attend Gooding Schools.

The Faulkners have been sending the children to Gooding for several years despite the tuition charge of $17.17 per child.

The trustees moved to disallow a trip to Twin Falls by students to view a special school showing of "Romeo and Juliet." The English teachers had requested that all classes be permitted to attend.

High School principal, William Bade, recommended that freshmen and sophomores be bused to Twin Falls to see "Romeo and Juliet," which is studied by those two grades. The principal objections raised were the cost of transporting the students, absence from school for an entire day and the PG rating of the film, which some trustees felt would bring criticism from parents.

Superintendent James Muscut announced a 40 student increase in enrollment over last year.

Ballot okayed

HANSEN — Hansen City Council members Monday night voted to place a question on the November election ballot to determine whether residents favor a dog ordinance.

The councilmen made no statement concerning dog leash laws. Instead, they voted to ask residents if they would like them.

The councilmen also appointed Dorothea Steelsmith, present assistant city clerk and bookkeeper, as registrar in the city elections.

Three councilmen's terms expire this year and will be open for election. The councilmen, John Brashler, George Urle, and James Hopkins, have not indicated whether they will seek re-election.

In other business the council: — Accepted the audit report of Auditor Helen Cannon.

Authorized Idaho Power Co. to install three lights at the Northwest Mobile Estates Trailer Court. The lights will be placed at the corner of each of three streets in the trailer court where they intersect with Rock Creek Road.

— Issued a beer license to the Round Up Tavern on Highway 30 in Hansen.

— Head for the first time a uniform Idaho Building Code, which had been previously adopted.

— Adjourned and then reconvened to read the building code ordinance a second time.

Morton asks to be traded

DALLAS (UPI)—Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry Tuesday named Roger Staubach his No. 1 quarterback...

Landry said he would attempt to work out a trade for Morton. But he said he was doubtful such a trade could be made with the season opener just five days away.

"I don't think anybody who follows the Cowboys does not recognize what a fine job was done by both quarterbacks during the preseason," Landry said.

Rogor will be the starting quarterback for the Chicago game. It was a tough decision but I feel it was a good decision.

Montreal drops Cardinals to tighten east-division race

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Ted Sizemore's throwing error in the seventh inning allowed two runs to score Tuesday night and capped Montreal's four-run rally as the Expos beat St. Louis, 4-1, to move within 1 1/2 games of the first-place Cardinals in the National League East.

Montreal's big inning started with consecutive singles by Mike Jorgensen, Jim Lytle and Bob Bailey for the first run to tie the score.

Larry Lintz then grounded to second baseman Sizemore whose throw went past first base for a two-run error.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Burt Hooton shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates on four hits and battered Randy Hundley homered to ruin pitcher Steve Blass' comeback try Tuesday as the Chicago Cubs posted a 2-0 triumph.

Phillie homers sink New York

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Greg Luzinski hit two home runs and Mike Schmidt and Billy Grabarkewitz one each Tuesday night to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to a victory over the New York Mets.

"Craig is disappointed with the decision," said Landry. "He would like to be traded to another club. I told him I would see what I could do. I told Craig that I wouldn't check the league thoroughly. But it is difficult to trade a player at this time of year."

Braves nip SF in 11th 6-5

ATLANTA (UPI)—Dusty Baker singled home Ralph Garr with one out in the 11th inning Tuesday night to give the Atlanta Braves a 6-5 victory over the San Francisco Giants despite two home runs by Willie McCovey.

"This was the third time Landry has had to make a decision between Staubach and Morton and each time he has gone with the Heisman Trophy winner from Navy."

Congressmen protest site of Olympics

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Forty congressmen sent a letter to the International Olympic Committee protesting the proposed designation of Moscow as the host city for the 1980 games.

"The APC trading deadline is passed. So the only clubs we could trade with now are in the NFL. And it is a difficult task for a team to trade for a quarterback at this stage of the season. I just don't know if it is possible."

Holding out

CHICAGO (UPI)—Bob Love still forward of the Chicago Bulls failed to report to training camp Tuesday as scheduled, and said, "I'm a holdout."

"I don't have to be Jewish to believe in fair play and decency for the world's sportsmen," Koch said in a statement. "In retrospect that the Olympics were held in Nazi Germany in 1936 was regrettable. Let's not make another mistake."

ABA blasted over management of Tams

DENVER (UPI)—The executive director of the American Basketball Association Tuesday called the situation with the ABA's Memphis Tams franchise "utterly ridiculous."

"I can't believe the way Charles Finley is handling the franchise," said Arlan Prebudd. "He has invested money in the team and ballplayers and he is letting them sit down there like cows in a pen without telling them what he is going to do with their future."

Prebudd said he understood the ABA officials gave Finley until Wednesday to make a decision on what he was going to do with the Tams.

Prebudd said he recommended that the Tams' players begin workouts on their own.

the first item on the negotiation table came Thursday morning in New York," said Prebudd. "If this league is going to be professional it better require its owners to run the teams in a professional manner."

Memphis has signed no contracts this year. The Tams have no staff, except trainer Don Sparks, and their office consists of a box of records in the basement at Sparks' home.

"When we go into collective bargaining I want to make sure those ballplayers (the Tams) are protected and if something like this happens in the future nobody will go to camp," he said.

Prebudd said he recommended that the Tams' players begin workouts on their own.

Norton at the Forum here Monday night.

"I want him right there in Madison Square Garden where I fought him the first time. I want to clean the slate."

All's razor-thin victory over Norton, a tough 28-year-old former Marine from Carson, Calif., took care of half the slate. Norton scored a split decision — and broke Ali's jaw — in their first meeting at San Diego March 31.

"I realize my fight days are numbered," Ali continued at the morning after news conference at the new Marriott Hotel where he trained five days for the second Norton bout.

"I've been going since I was 12, punching people and being punched. Another couple years at the most I'll be saying farewell to you all. Then I'll go somewhere and rest and raise my family."

All's triumph over Norton's his 32nd in 44 starts — came in his 15th start since returning to the ring in 1970 after a 3 1/2 year layoff. He fought twice in 1970, four times in 1971, on six occasions last year and has had three bouts this year.

His March 8, 1971, loss to Frazier who lost his title to George Foreman Jan. 22 in Jamaica — came in his bid to regain the championship that was stripped from him during his forced retirement.

The former Cassius Marcellus Clay II expressed worry over his hands.

"It scares me," he declared. "My hands are getting bad. Every time I hit a man they hurt. I'm going to the doctor to have them checked."

"After the sixth round against Norton, every time I hit with my right hand I wanted to quit."

CCA places block in front of NIT

CHICAGO (UPI) — Eight major college conferences will be represented next March in a new postseason basketball tournament sponsored by the Collegiate Commissioners Association (CCA). It was announced Tuesday.

Wayne Duke, Big Ten commissioner and president of the CCA, said each year eight of the nine conferences in the association will send teams picked by the CCA for the tourney.

"It will be an eight-team tournament," Duke said. "We will pick teams from eight of the nine conferences each year, but if one conference is left out one year, it is guaranteed to be in the tourney the following year. We want to pick an even number."

Duke said he hopes the new tourney does not "bump heads" with the National Invitational Tournament (NIT), which often sends bids to the runners-up of college basketball conferences.

"We believe now that schools would prefer to play in our tournament," he said.

Duke said the nine conferences have pledged their support of the tournament and have assured the commissioners' group first pick of teams other than the champion, which automatically qualifies for the NCAA tourney.

The CCA includes the Big Eight, Big Ten, Mid-American, Missouri Valley, Pacific 8, Southeastern, Southern, Southwestern and Western Athletic conferences.

Duke said the tournament will be held at Vanderbilt, Dayton or St. Louis universities in a four-day period between March 13-18.

He said a selection committee hopes to pick a definite site shortly.

Lakers missing three stars

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers held their first training session Tuesday and notably missing from the workout were Wilt Chamberlain, Jerry West and Keth Erickson.

Chamberlain and Erickson have yet to come to terms with management but West is currently on the second year of a two-year contract he signed last season.

Laker General Manager Pete Newell said West, who reportedly may quit pro basketball this season, was in violation of the contract.

"It is the Lakers policy not to renegotiate any contract," Newell said in a statement. "We will stand firm with this policy."

This dental specialist scales teeth, polishes them, and brushes on a sodium solution. Then, he aims a controlled laser beam at them, generating just enough heat to put a permanent glass on said teeth. Entirely painless. He is identified in the scientific periodicals as Dr. Frederick Johnson of California. Observers claim his technique can put a permanent bright white shine on our nippers.

How do you account for the fact there's no particular designation for the male and the female boayer? Such as buck and doe, Bull and cow, Boar and sow?

Boater got down the fact, too, that it takes just about a year to tan an elephant hide.

Q. Among railroad signals, what's a blue light mean?
A. That's set out on each end of a car or a locomotive undergoing repairs. Generally means a siding. Or a work track. It announces: "Don't move for any reason." This to safeguard such souls who might be tinkering with the innards beneath said car or locomotive. A blue light means the same.

Maybe you didn't realize that 46 out of every 100 Christmas presents are bought in November. "Those men for whom women is the main interest in life are seldom very masculine," says Theodor Reik. "And doctors are still trying to figure out, too, why it is people with high blood pressure rarely get cancer."

Next time you decide to give a girl some perfume, young fellow, our Love and War man advises you to "consider" her personality. If she's a Valley-sweat sort, don't send her a light floral. If she's an outdoorsy type, don't pick one of those spicy scents. Still, get her some sort of fragrance. You know what old Spinoza said: It's a wise man who takes his pleasures with perfumes.

INVENTORS
Age 34 and age 43, these are two peak times in the life of the professional inventor when he is most apt to come up with a patentable notion. Or such, he indicates, at any rate, from a statistical study of bright ideas submitted by engineers and scientists to the U. S. Patent Office. The researcher who dug up this data points out an inventor appears to have two most productive periods, not just one. Remember that, young fellow. If your first creation doesn't take, your second might.

At present, grocery stores still were more numerous than restaurants, restaurants still more numerous than gas stations, gas stations still more numerous than clothing stores, clothing stores still more numerous than hardware stores.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1973
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is an interesting day, and evening. Changes just around the corner are coming into view and give you an indication of what you can do to quicken the activity. You will become aware of the additional information you need to succeed.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): You now know what is expected of you by associates and can quietly state your own expectations. There is more cooperation in the future. Many situations break now, so you know what to do about civic duties.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Being more cooperative with co-workers improves production and benefits. Make your surroundings more charming by using that artistic Venusian quality you have. Use more courtesy with mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Stepping out with good friends for the recreation you want is good now. First be sure to handle important obligations. Don't cause enmity between a close friend and another, or you are the loser. Don't stay out too late in the night.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Try a new approach with those at home so more harmonious relations result. Do some entertaining with a sincere heart so you please your guests. Dress in fine style.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Much contact with regular associates can bring new friends of value into your life, as well as new ideas that are worthwhile. Put a new idea into operation quickly with the aid of fellow workers. Try not to impose on another.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Handle those outstanding responsibilities quickly instead of procrastinating and lagging, or them. A little self-sacrifice for mate can bring fine results now. Show you are a master at your craft.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Don't start an argument with an associate but try to make the future more pleasant by more cooperation and understanding. Keep silent when another is fretting and fuming. Keeping the peace is very important right now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21): You need to think and act constructively now if you are to solve those problems in the proper way. Forget the fun things and stick to whatever is in the air. Evening is best spent at home.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Getting into some new form of entertainment is good today since it could be delightful and interesting. A fine day for creativity and gaining the favor of buyers. Avoid one who does not appreciate you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You have to see to it that all is handled efficiently yet tactfully at home. Know what kin expect of you. Showing a cooperative spirit starts the day off in the proper manner.

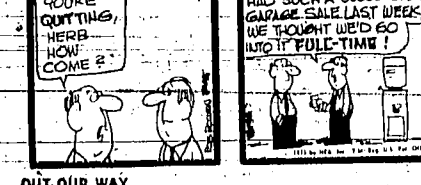

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Ideal day for getting into those philosophical or other ideas that could lead you in the right direction for the future, since you have support of a higher up. Show some interest in other problems.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Cement better relations with one who has power over your monetary affairs and you get more support for the days ahead. Converse with the one you love and reach a more harmonious relationship. Think constructively.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY - he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will want to serve others later in life, so be sure to teach to complete whatever has once been started and to wait until asked before trying to help anyone, or your child could use energies in wrong directions, aiding the unworthy, and lessen both the success and usefulness possible here. Teach early to act more quickly also, after sufficient thought. Give a good grounding in psychology.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks opened narrowly higher Wednesday in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones Industrial average had risen 0.53 to 886.29, shortly after the opening. Advances held a slight edge over declines, among 338 issues traded.

On Tuesday, concern over record high levels in yields on short-term treasury bills—and the Federal Reserve's tight money, policies in general—halted stocks for the second consecutive day. The Dow fell 5.57 to 885.76. Analysts also said profit takers had entered the scene following two weeks of solid gains.

In Wednesday's economic headlines, some analysts predicted a rise to 6 percent in the Federal Reserve's discount rate—possibly this week. One reason they cite is fed chairman Arthur Burns' recent statement determination to tighten the reins on the nation's money supplies.

A Commerce Department report showed manufacturers expect a rise of $2.6 billion in their inventories in the third quarter, and a slightly smaller increase in the fourth period. Such increases often signal an economic slowdown, analysts say.

Geothermal lease asked

BOISE (UPI)—The State Land Board heard Tuesday about geothermal leasing from public power spokesman and from the Aerojet Nuclear Corp. Jack Barnett, a consultant to public power interests in Eastern Idaho, asked that his client be considered when the geothermal energy potential of the area is developed.

Former Sen. Ray Rigby, D-Rexburg, an attorney, asked on behalf of electric cooperative that the board not hand over all geothermal lands to one company. He also urged the board to conduct public hearings on the rules and regulations it promulgates for such leases.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus assured Barnett, Rigby and Lowell Miller, an official of Aerojet, Nuclear, the board will look in part from all sources before adopting the rules.

In other business, the board: — Agreed to conduct public hearings in Coeur d'Alene, Lewiston, Idaho Falls, Pocatello and Boise on proposed navigational and regulations for navigable lakes.

— Gave the attorney general authority to sue Owen Simpson for alleged trespass because of a landfill from his property near Ketchikan on an island in the Big Wood River.

— Approved "in lieu" land selections of 2,000 acres in the Sun Valley-Halley area and 4,500 acres in the Priest River area to replace state land taken by the federal government, bringing to about 20,000 the Board approves policy on sale

BOISE (UPI)—Over objections of the auditor and secretary of state, the State Land Board today adopted a lease and land sale policy to guarantee recreational access to state and endowment lands.

The policy states that sale or lease applications should be individually evaluated by the land department to protect recreational, fishing, hunting or access values.

If the department deems the land in question has public value, it must give fish and game, parks, environmental and com-public access for hunting, fishing and other recreational pursuits unless danger to crops can be shown to the land department.

— Voted 3-2 to require state land lessees to agree to allow community services and other agencies a chance to evaluate it prior to sale or lease.

"Each parcel of state land bordering a lake or stream should automatically be considered for public interest values," the policy states. "Such parcels of state land with a significant spring should automatically be considered for public interest values."

In addition each parcel must be evaluated on the basis of its relationship to adjoining parcels of state or federal lands.

Burley confers on truck route

BURLEY—The Burley Chamber of Commerce truck route committee had a "very indefinite, but very promising" meeting with state and federal highway officials Monday evening.

About eight highway officials met with the special Chamber committee to discuss possible routes and procedures for establishing a truck route around Burley.

The officials said, Burley could "definitely expect some aid" from the state for the truck route project, according to Gary Asson, committee chairman. The department would work with the city in the surveying of different routes and in final planning.

Asson said the committee was told that projects of this magnitude often take five to 10 years to get moving. The community would have to solve the immediate problems, he said.

"If anything is going to happen, we must keep this committee in force," Asson said. The committee should try to get the city to make a more thorough study of the immediate traffic problems at the corner of Main Street and Overland Avenue, he said.

The meeting "brought problems to them (the highway officials) that they were basically unaware of," Asson said. Some special problems discussed included the Snake River Interstate Highway 80 and the railroad.

Asson said the officials told the group they are currently studying traffic at Highland Avenue and Main Street for consideration of a traffic light at that corner.

Establishment of a truck route "is going to be a long process," Asson said.

Negotiating

BURLEY—Cassia County Commissioners are negotiating for a lease of about 10 acres of land near Albion for sanitary landfill purposes, they said this week.

An Albion delegation, headed by Mayor O'Deen Redman, met with commissioners Monday. He said city residents are complaining they have no place to take their garbage.

Several illegal dumps were developing in the area, the group said.

The new dump will not be used for "wet" or household garbage, which will continue to be hauled by a contracted sanitation company to the Burley landfill, where the garbage can be covered every day as required by state law, commissioners said.

Training sessions slated

SHOSHONE—The Shoshone School board Monday night approved plans presented by the Shoshone Teachers Association for holding district "in-service" training sessions.

Joe Nishimoto, president of the teachers organization, met with the board and explained the in-service sessions will be held in lieu of the teacher institute sessions. Teachers will attend training programs in their own communities instead of leaving to attend state institutes Oct. 12.

Dates of the in-service training sessions will be announced later.

School trustees made plans to attend the fourth district meetings in Twin Falls Thursday in the Robert Stuart Junior High School.

Approval was given a proposal of the elementary school for a nine week instead of six week grading period.

In addition to report cards being issued at nine-week intervals, a mid-quarter evaluation progress report will be issued for each pupil. This grading system now corresponds with one adopted earlier for the senior and junior high schools.

Movie at CSI tonight

TWIN FALLS—Students at the College of Southern Idaho will have the opportunity to see the movie "Skin Game" at 8 p.m. tonight at the CSI Fine Arts auditorium.

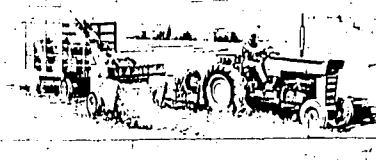

The Marine recruiter will be on campus from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the multi-use lobby. The student senate will meet from 1 to 3 p.m. in the student conference room.

The CSI high school invitational cross-country track meet is scheduled for Friday at the CSI campus. Also listed for Friday is a performance by the "D's" at 8 p.m. at the West State House, 600 Harrison Street.

On Saturday, CSI will meet Hicks in cross country track at Rexburg.

Buttreys PRODUCE is Trucked DIRECT!

Janie Reports
JANIE ARMSTRONG, Consulting Home Economist for Buttreys Food Stores

Did you know that Buttreys has its own team of fruit and vegetable buyers living in growing areas such as California? Last summer, I visited with our produce experts there and learned how Buttreys can provide you with such a fine selection in the Produce Market!

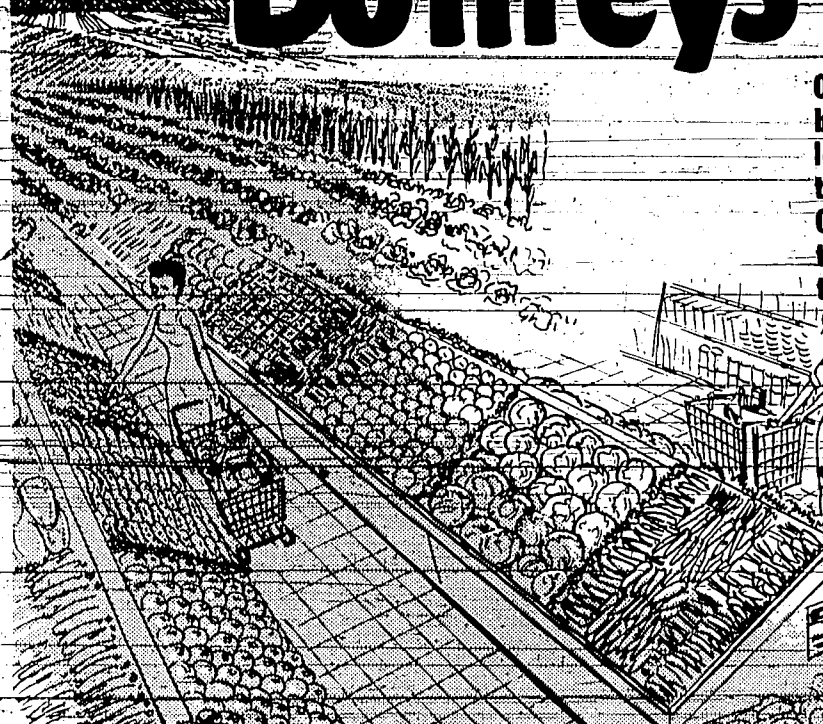

These produce specialists devote their time to selecting the finest fruits and vegetables possible, in the quantities we need, at the best time for certain varieties. While I was with them in August, they were buying peaches, nectarines, plums and cantaloupes for us... to be packed and shipped the same day and to reach your Buttreys Food Store within the next two days. It amazed me to see them look at one after another fruit, passing up most until they saw and tasted those that had been picked at the right degree of maturity so they would be ideal for you when they were displayed in the store. And, these experts are so familiar with the range of taste for each fruit and vegetable, they can quickly recognize differences not only in samples from different growing areas, but from the same ranch!

By being in the growing areas all the time, Buttreys buyers know which growers and shippers are using the most modern methods of growing, harvesting and packing. For example, fruits and vegetables that are hydrocooled are superior to those that are not. Hydrocooling is the process of removing the field heat (necessary to slow down ripening) with the use of temperature-controlled treated water. I watched, for example, peaches brought straight from the field (after being hand-picked) at 90 degree interior temperature, pass through a 30-foot hydrocooled bath for 30 minutes, resulting in a 30-degree drop in temperature. From then on they never leave refrigeration from the shipper's storage coolers to refrigerated trucks, to the storage cooler at your Buttreys Food Store. The same buyer who was selecting our peaches last summer, is now looking carefully at vegetables and fruits that are nearing the proper peak for harvesting. Each buyer is responsible for certain produce items, and each comes through like the professional he is.

Of course, some crops may be better than others, but it's no wonder Buttreys offers you such a fine variety of high quality fruits and vegetables!

Once fruits and vegetables are harvested, time and temperature become their natural enemies. Buttreys Foods solved the problem years ago: by-pass warehousing and re-distribution, and truck those perishables directly to each Buttreys Food Store! Cuts down on excessive handling, too. That's why we say Buttreys' produce is "days fresher"... and you can see and taste the difference!

Adult courses begin

TWIN FALLS — Persons 18-75 wishing to earn a high school diploma have done so with the aid of the College of Southern Idaho Adult Basic Education (ABE) program.

Following a summer recess, ABE started Monday at CSI, according to Marvin Glascock, administrator of continuing education at the college.

Glascock said that the program provides free, individualized instruction to adults who need help in passing the five standardized, equivalency examinations necessary to earn a diploma without graduating from high school.

The tests involve math, English, science, social studies and literature. Each student is tutored in the subject in which he has difficulty until he can pass the exam. ABE also offers a semester long class in U.S. government to those wishing to gain their diploma.

When a person comes in for help, the first thing ABE teachers do is test him to pinpoint his needs. Then, the student can come into the adult education study room to work on his specific problems Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and noon, and Tuesday and Thursday between 6:30 p.m. and 10 p.m.

"Students can enroll anytime and can attend any hour that is open," Glascock said stressing the flexibility of the program. He said 12 people showed up at the program Wednesday morning.

St. James and Ascension parishes in South Louisiana form the Acadian Coast, named for the historic settlement of that area along the Mississippi River by Acadian exiles from Canada.

By WILLIAM MCGOFFIN (c) Chicago Daily News WASHINGTON — Watergate is only one of its worries as the Republican National Committee meets here for the first time in months.

Also of concern is the problem of working out a way of improving the representation of women and minority groups in the delegations at future Republican national conventions.

The Rule 20 Committee, which is the party group assigned to handle this matter, got into it Tuesday in keeping with the regulation adopted by the 1972 Republican convention.

Rep. William Steiger, (R-Wis.), chairman of the full committee, had planned to keep not only its meetings open to the press but also the meetings of the five subcommittees. However, the chairman of the subcommittee on delegate selection, Ray

Bliss, announced its meetings would be closed.

This was an indication of how controversial the issue is regarded by Bliss, who has served in the past both as GOP national chairman and Ohio state chairman.

Bliss made no secret of his dislike of a "quota system" as he confided to a reporter that he did not know how it could be made to work. His main concern in keeping the meeting closed, he said, was to avoid a "McGovern-like confrontation" in front of the press of subcommittee members holding opposite views.

On the subject of the Watergate scandal, Bliss expressed the view seemingly held by a majority of the national committee members here — that it has hurt not just the Republicans but the Democrats as well.

But the general theme being sounded about Watergate in the three-day planning session for 1974 campaign, was that Watergate is receding as an issue.

"If this country is going to survive and face the basic challenges, we are going to have to move beyond Vietnam and Watergate," said Melvin R. Laird, presidential counselor for domestic affairs, in a speech to the committee.

Congress is showing a spirit of co-operation "the likes of which I have not seen in Washington in many a month," he continued, "because the members learned during the August recess that 'the American citizens want these issues faced and solved'."

He said that "as the President moves around the country and continues to have press conferences, all these issues will be better understood." Laird, it is known has been pushing Nixon in private to do just this.
