United Fund goal set at $125,000

TWIN FALLS — Goal for the Twin Falls United Fund campaign which began this noon with a luncheon for all workers, is $125,000.

Ten agencies are supported by the one community-wide drive, according to Earl S. Gleed, executive director.

About 300 workers are involved in the campaign this fall, under the leadership of Dr. Terry Smith, College of Southern Idaho academic dean. Less than 10 per cent of the campaign funds are used for campaign costs, he said.

Today's luncheon was provided for all fund workers by the banks, savings and loan companies and Sierra Life Insurance Co., the chairman said.

Other campaign leaders are Blue chips division headed by Earl Faulkner. This division handles all members of the United Fund board of directors and their businesses.

The Chapter plan, headed by Rob Palne, includes eight loaned executives, individuals loaned by their respective businesses to the United Fund for half their working day for four weeks during the campaign to solicit major business and corporations and their employees.

Ross Prather heads the professional division which includes all city, county, federal and state employees, as well as all professional persons and all school and college employees.

Kenneth Newman, heads the special gifts division which solicits a special group of individuals on a high level giving basis.

Other officials include Jack Muldoon, kickoff and report meetings; Fred Frazier, special tasks; Marvin Jensen, speakers bureau; Bill Howard, public relations; Pat Harder, personnel, and Ruth Ainsworth and Nancy Brown, special events.

The 10 agencies and their needs for 1974 include YWCA, $19,252; YMCA $14,800; Twin Falls County Mental Health Association, $2,400; Camp Fire Girls, $7,200; Arthritis Foundation, $1,800; Salvation Army, $20,000; Boy Scouts, $1,252; Red Cross, $17,627; USO, $720; Silver Sage Girl Scouts, $600, and United Fund expenses, $8,349.

The Red Cross, whose blood bank program is widely known, provides disaster services, home nursing, water safety and special services for members of the Armed Forces.

The Camp Fire Girls program provides opportunities for growth through constructive, character building experiences indoors and out. These include music, games, sports, hiking, camping, cooking, sewing, service to others, science and citizenship.

The Salvation Army in Twin Falls, is often the only place available for homeless men, destitute travelers and needy children. The Army provides this vital service for the community as well as conducting worship services. It also provides a drop-in youth center which is open two nights a week.

The YWCA is a Christian organization serving women and girls of Magic Valley. It tries to meet needs of the community for both low income and middle class, with a wide variety of classes such as art, knitting, sewing, bridge, gymnastics and T-teen clubs.

Girl Scouting helps to build character and develop ideals of service and citizenship. Many members serve community agencies as aides in libraries, hospitals, family welfare organization school on churches.

The Snake River Area Council of Boy Scouts serves more than 2,700 boys and adults in Twin Falls with its program of citizenship training, physical and mental fitness and character development. Scouting continues to have a vital impact in the lives of young men and is the free world's largest youth organization.

Twin Falls Mental Health Association promotes education and workshops for the public in the interest of better mental health, and has promoted establishment of regional mental health facilities.

The Arthritis Foundation provides wide range, creative programs developed to help every patient in every stage of their need. The foundation seeks to expand community services for chronically ill persons in addition to continuing research for a cure.

The USO goes wherever our troops have gone overseas. Some call it "America's home-town responsibility on a world-wide scale." There are still nearly 3,000,000 men and women in uniform, of which an estimated one million are stationed overseas.

The YMCA is a voluntary membership group serving youth and adults through programs, classes and activities to develop the individual's social, mental, physical and spiritual well being, including volleyball, judo, jogging, scuba diving, ballet, chess, model building and many others.

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian insurgents forced the evacuation of two more government positions on Phnom Penh's shrinking southern defense perimeter today and sent government troops fleeing for their lives by swimming across the Prek Thnot River 11 miles from the capital. At least nine wounded government soldiers were left behind when the defenders abandoned the towns of Kompung Kontout and Kompung Tuol, leaving the entire south bank of the river in rebel hands. Field reporters said some of the 100 government defenders drowned. The towns were abandoned by the government in July but later recovered. In the past four days, however, the rebels have mounted a new offensive around Phnom Penh, and the capital's southern defense perimeter has been ably pushed back toward the capital. Fighting was also reported to the west, north and east of Phnom Penh. At Sala Lekpram, about 33 miles up Highway 5, government reinforcements arrived, including armored personnel carriers, and immediately engaged rebel forces on a fierce fight only several hundred yards out of the town. To the west, a government pincer operation to clear rebels from two hills about 12 miles northwest of the capital was stalled, field reporters said.

US-Soviet trade opens in Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI) — U.S. Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz met for two hours today with Foreign Trade Minister Nikolai S. Patolichev to open the third meeting of the U.S.-Soviet Trade Commission. One of the primary purposes of the Shultz trip is to reassure the Soviets that President Nixon is still pushing to grant Russia trade concessions despite a House committee vote rejecting it. But it was mentioned only briefly today. "The subject of most-favored-nation came up, but only in passing," an American official said. "They'll sure be talking more about it later." The Shultz visit was arranged long before the House Ways and Means Committee voted last Wednesday to deny granting the Soviets most-favored-nation status unless it eased its emigration policies. Talks got under way over a 35-foot green-felt covered table in a palatial government guest house in Lenin Hills overlooking the Moscow River. Bert F. Raynes, chairman of the U.S. National Association of Manufacturers, said today his group is worried that most-favored-nation trade status may not be given the Soviet Union soon. "We've told them (the Soviets) they must be prepared to be patient on this issue because we were apprehensive (about its immediate passage)," he told a news conference. He said the group's president, E. Douglas Kenna, are on a nine-day visit here. The National Association of Manufacturers has been lobbying strongly for most-favored-nation status for the Soviet Union.

Spain celebrates Franco's 37 years

MADRID (UPI) — Spain today celebrated the 37th anniversary of the inauguration of Generalissimo Francisco Franco as chief of state with church and civil ceremonies. Wearing the gala uniform of a captain-general of the armed forces, the 80-year-old Caudillo (leader) received the compliments of government, church and diplomatic officials in a ceremony at the Palace de Oriente, Madrid's vacated Royal Palace.

Constantly moving at Franco's right was Juan Carlos, the 35-year-old Borbon prince whom Franco picked as his successor and future king of Spain three years ago. Recent speculation that Juan Carlos might soon assume the throne has been discounted by diplomatic and political circles. The reception was preceded by a thanksgiving mass officiated by the Cardinal-Archbishop Vicente Enrique Y Tarancón at the Basilica of Francisco el Grande.

Question...

Is it possible that the incidence of teenage suicide is increasing or am I just more sensitive concerning these situations?

Answer...

Suicide is increasing among children, young adolescents and older teenagers. Dr. Ragnold S. Lourie reported in an issue of the St. Louis Children's Hospital publication "Clinical Proceedings" Child suicide, he said, is not a new problem but it is a growing one. Impulsiveness, aggressiveness and revenge or spite are the primary motivating factors in adolescent suicides according to Dr. Lourie. Dr. James Jan-Touch reported to the American Association of School Administrators that his findings indicated loneliness, lack of participation in group activities and failure to identify with a close friend to be major factors in this unnecessary waste of human lives. Both men agree that in every case of suicide among children, the suicide had given ample warning evidence of his distress. With community effort and understanding the incidence of suicide among adolescents in the future should eventually show a significant downturn.

'Gate burglars due short terms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Judge John J. Sirica said today he would reduce sentences of up to 40 years he previously imposed on E. Howard Hunt and four other men who pleaded guilty to the Watergate burglary.

Sirica, chief judge of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, said that forcing them to serve long terms "would not only be unwarranted but unjust."

At a brief court hearing, that Sirica called because of "what appears to be a widespread misunderstanding" about the temporary, maximum sentence he gave the five men, the judge noted he would be lenient in determining their final punishment. Sirica gave no indication when the final sentences would be imposed, noting that all five had asked to withdraw guilty pleas they made last January shortly after their trial began.

Sirica sentenced the men, Hunt, Bernard L. Barker, Frank A. Sturgis, Virgilio R. Gonzalez and Eugenio R. Martinez to provisional, maximum terms of up to 40 years in prison last March. He stressed then that their final sentences would depend on the cooperation they gave to Watergate investigators.

He declared: "It was never my intention — and again I repeat with emphasis — that the maximum terms of the provisional sentences should become the terms of the final sentences. In this case, such a disposition would not only be unwarranted but unjust."

Attorney Daniel G. Schultz asked for and received a week's extension of a Wednesday deadline to file "affidavits of fact" supporting the contention of his four clients that they were lured into crime by high government officials and then pressured to plead guilty and remain silent.

Hunt's attorney, Sidney Parks, was granted permission to file a motion by Friday asking Sirica to reconsider his order demanding supporting affidavits.

The judge said if he denies the motions to switch their pleas from guilty to innocent, final sentences will be determined according to information in pre-sentence reports he receives on each man.

"And it will be perfectly apparent, at that time — if that time comes — that such disposition was predicated, as it should be, upon fairness, compassion, understanding and justice," Sirica said.

Hunt testified last week at the Senate Watergate hearings. A CIA agent for more than 20 years before retiring, he was regarded as one of the masterminds of the break-in of the Democratic headquarters at the Watergate complex.

5 Points project wipes out school

Editor's note: This is the first in a series of articles concerning needs of the Twin Falls school, the Times-News will carry prior to the Oct. 10 bond election.

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Washington School will be "economically unfeasible" to operate when the Idaho Highway Department widens the intersection of Blue Lakes Boulevard North and Addison Avenue East, according to George Staudaher, Twin Falls school district superintendent.

To replace Washington, the $3.5 million school bond proposes a new 24-classroom elementary school be constructed north of the high school near the corner of Pals Avenue and Locust Street, at an estimated cost of $1.65 million.

The state highway department has made no definite plans as to when the intersection will be widened. Everett Kidner, assistant highway district engineer, said the widening is not now listed in departments five-year plan because of lack of funds. However, plans for the widening are being developed, he said.

When the intersection is widened, four classrooms will be "knocked off" the sides of Washington, which will then have only 16 classrooms. No school in Twin Falls now has fewer than 20 classrooms.

TF council races open

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — With the deadline one week away, only two persons have filed candidacy papers for the Twin Falls City Council.

Four council seats will be filled in the Nov. 6 city election. Incumbent City Councilmen Paul Ostyn and Henry Woodall have filed petitions of candidacy, according to City Clerk Edythe Koozts. The filing deadline is Oct. 9, the clerk said.

Ostyn will seek a second term on the council. Woodall was appointed to the council in April to complete the term of Tom Nelsun, who resigned to move outside the city limits.

Council seats presently held by Richard Tuninga and Mayor John Christoffersen will also be decided in the election.

Christoffersen announced in June he will not seek re-election. Tuninga was appointed to the council in September to replace Mike Gray, who resigned to devote more time to his business and family.

Tuninga has taken out a petition for a council seat, according to the city clerk. The signatures of at least 40 registered voters are required on the petition before filing.

Tuninga said today he is "still evaluating" his position "to see if I can handle the job and am compatible with the council." A news announcer with television station KMVT, Tuninga said he would "voluntarily leave the air" if he files candidacy.

He said he would stay off his job until the city election. Although the Federal Communications Commission does not require that a television broadcaster leave his job while campaigning for public office, Tuninga said, he added he would step down to avoid conflicts concerning "equal time" on the air for all candidates.

Tuninga said he would be "the big loser" if other candidates were given television time equal to his news broadcasts. He said they would discuss election issues while he would be restricted to news reports.

No other petitions have been taken out at the city offices, according to the city clerk.

HEW panel starts probe in Cassia

BURLEY — Three members of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare Civil Rights office arrived in Burley this morning to begin a week long investigation of district schools.

This morning they conferred with Supl. Harold Hurst. The HEW aides were scheduled to meet with instructional supervisor Norman Hurst for several hours this afternoon. Hurst said this morning the group planned to discuss personnel policies, curriculum, special services, transportation and other topics with school district administrators. They also plan to visit each of the four Burley elementary schools during the week, Hurst said.

The Cassia County school district was one of two chosen in Idaho for investigation by the office of Civil Rights.

Inquest transcript not filed

BURLEY — The transcript of a coroner's inquest conducted a month ago which ruled as suicide the death of a woman found shot three times in the chest still has not been filed at the Cassia County courthouse.

A coroner's jury declared Mrs. Delilah Mae Bowden's death a suicide after about an hour's deliberation on Aug. 31. She had been found dead in her home on June 7 with three gunshot wounds in her chest.

Cassia County coroner C. Bruce Young said Monday, "I don't know why it hasn't been filed yet," but since the death had been termed suicide and no insurance company or other interest needed to review the transcript the court reporter may not have rushed its completion.

Aid funds recovered

BOISE (UPI) — Recovery of nearly $450,000 in support money owed by fathers whose families were forced to turn to welfare aid was reported Monday by Attorney General W. Anthony Park.

Park said that when the fathers defaulted in their legal obligations, the state stepped in to aid the mothers and children.

He said his office, in cooperation with the Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS), then went after the fathers to collect the money the state had paid out.

He said the figures for eight months of 1973 exceed monies collected for the entire calendar year of 1972 by more than $210,000.

Park said he and DECS initiated the program last year to recover welfare overpayments, prosecute welfare fraud cases and collect child support owing to mothers on welfare.

"Previously, fathers who refused to pay child support frequently were able to avoid doing so and their families in many cases had no recourse but to receive state assistance," Park said.

He said the state is making the father live up to his responsibilities and relieving the state of that obligation.

"I think it is an extremely effective program and will pay for itself many times over," he said.

Report source denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said today Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson has denied that Henry F. Petersen was the source of a report that the Justice Department had enough evidence to convict Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald J. Warren told reporters that the White House initiated a telephone call to Richardson concerning Agnew's allegation that Petersen, assistant attorney general, was responsible for news leaks concerning charges that the vice president was involved in a kickback scheme while Maryland governor.

Agnew, while not referring to Petersen by name, made clear who he was talking about Saturday in condemning "malicious and outrageous" news leaks.

Petersen had been quoted previously by CBS as saying, "We've got the evidence. We've got it cold."

Warren said Richardson from the White House that Petersen had not talked to any of the news media concerning the Agnew case.

Momentous cases face US justices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today formally opened a new term that may include momentous rulings on President Nixon's stand on the Watergate tapes and grand jury action against Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Neither the Watergate nor the Agnew cases was on the prospective docket — the court's largest ever — but they are before lower courts and could come up for high court review early in the session.

As is customary, the opening day of the court's 1973-74 term was entirely ritualistic. The only business was the introduction of Robert M. Bork as new U.S. senator general and admission of attorneys to practice before the Supreme Court.

The opening session lasted but five minutes with all nine justices on the bench. Mrs. Warren E. Burger, wife of the chief justice, and other members of the justices' families were present.

"I have the honor to announce that the October, 1973, term of the Supreme Court of the United States has now convened," Burger proclaimed after the marshal's gavel signaled the court was in session. He then recognized Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson who introduced Bork.

The main constitutional issue developing over Watergate is whether Nixon can claim executive privilege in refusing to give Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox and the Senate Watergate committee his taped conversations with aides and others about Watergate.

The dispute is now being considered by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Agnew raised another constitutional issue in an effort to block a federal grand jury in Baltimore from proceeding with its inquiry into charges of bribery and kickbacks against him while he was a county executive and governor of Maryland.

His attorneys have filed suit at the federal district court level in Baltimore, claiming that no court criminal action can be instituted against him while he is still vice president.

The sin of illiteracy

Christian Science Monitor

One out of every three of the world's population above the age of 15 can neither read nor write.

The figures were given by Rene Maheu, director-general of UNESCO, in a recent speech in New Delhi.

The most radical solution, he says, is "to dry up the source of mass illiteracy by making primary education universal and compulsory."

Mr. Maheu's figures show that many developing countries have only begun to scratch the surface of the illiteracy problem. Latin America is the only developing region where both the absolute number as well as the percentage of illiterates has shown a slight drop.

In some of the ex-colonies of Africa the problem is complicated by the multiplicity of tribal languages, many of them not yet transcribed in written form.

In the meantime every effort made by international organizations, educational foundations and private individuals, including such projects as the late Dr. Frank Laubach's remarkable "Each one, teach one" program, is helping to chip away at the "sin and shame" of which Mr. Maheu has just so needfully reminded us.

The latest shortage

WASHINGTON Everyone in the government refuses to talk about it, but the United States faces the most severe tennis ball shortage in its history.

I confronted an official of the Office of Emergency Planning and asked him, "What are you doing about the tennis ball shortage?"

"You can't keep any secrets in this town," he said disgustedly.

"I'll be very honest with you, but I must warn you if the story gets out you could throw the country into chaos. At the rate Americans are using tennis balls, we will be out of them by 1974."

"How did it happen?" I asked.

"Five years ago there were 5 million people playing tennis in the United States. Today there are 30 million. In another year there could be 50 million. There just aren't enough tennis balls to go around."

"Does the President know about this?"

"He's been kept informed. The trouble is not only that the United States is using tennis balls up at a phenomenal rate, but there is a worldwide demand for them. The Japanese and the Germans are buying up all the tennis balls they can."

"The Soviet Union has been negotiating for tennis ball futures. If the Chinese ever start playing tennis, that's the end of the game as we know it."

can make them. But people are using them faster. We've already had reports of riots from several tennis clubs because people have refused to return tennis balls to the next court after the balls were hit onto their courts.

"When the situation gets desperate in the spring of next year, this country could have tennis players in the streets."

"That's your big fear?"

"It certainly is. If you know anything about tennis players you know they can be really mean people. That's why they play tennis in the first place. You take your tennis balls away from them and heaven knows what will happen. We're not talking about poor people now. We're talking about the establishment in this country. They're not used to doing without. When they get their backs up there is no telling what they'll do with their rackets."

"Do you have any contingency plans for the tennis ball shortage?"

"The President is considering rationing tennis balls - one can to a person per week. He is also going to ask Congress to pass a law making lobbying illegal."

"Why?"

"More balls are lost on lobbying than on any other shot. If the situation deteriorates further, the President will order refineries to stop making fuel oil and devote their entire production to synthetic tennis balls."

"We are also asking countries to pay us for our exports in tennis balls instead of gold."

"Well, at least you're on top of the crisis," I said.

"We've got to be. President Nixon has promised the nation a generation of tennis. He can't keep his promise if he doesn't have any tennis balls."

Talking a little shop

Down in Florida, the State Supreme Court has upheld a compulsory publication law. In neighboring Alabama, Governor Wallace has signed a bill to bring certain reporters under a new ethics act.

The American press is in trouble. A part of this trouble is perhaps the natural consequence of the times we live in. The polls indicate that American institutions generally are caught in a kind of bear market of confidence.

We of the press do have a special problem not shared by other troubled institutions. It is a part of the very nature of news that much of the news we report is "bad news."

Yet many of our problems are of our own making. We have left undone those things we ought to have done, and we have done certain things we ought not to have done.

It is ironic: We are engaged in selling, throughout advertising columns and commercials; we are engaged in the arts of explanation and advocacy in our news and editorial endeavor; but when it comes to the one value we love and cherish most of all, we have failed to sell the concept of press freedom and to explain how it works.

Thus we get that incredible 6-1 decision in Florida upholding a forgotten state law of 1913. The act says that if a newspaper assails the personal character of any candidate for office, or charges a candidate with guilefulness or otherwise attacks his official record, the newspaper "shall upon request of such candidate immediately publish free of cost any reply he may make thereon in as conspicuous a place and in the same kind of type as the matter that called for such reply."

To those of us who live by the press, the Florida statute is so flagrantly unconstitutional as not to merit argument. Yet if the proposition were put to public referendum, it probably would win by a landslide. What we see as pure positively be able to leave." Last month the authorities again rejected the Panov's visa applications. Two weeks ago Panov was told that he might still be allowed to go - alone, if he abandoned Galina. He said no.

Henry Kissinger is fighting in Congress against any conditions on American trade concessions to the Soviet Union. In answer to questions at his confirmation hearings he suggested that the United States, rather than trying to "transform the domestic structure of societies with which we deal," should aim to affect "the foreign policy of those societies."

The Panov story indicates one major fallacy in that Kissinger proposition: It is not possible to divide a system like the Soviet Union's into neat "domestic" and "foreign" aspects. A powerful government that "breaks its word at home, that practices vindictive cruelty toward its own citizens without any moral or political constraints, can hardly be trusted abroad.

It is of course not only the arbitrary barriers to Jewish Emigration that arouse concern about the U.S.S.R. The violent suppression of dissent, the fearful inhibitions on contacts with foreigners - these things are disturbing in foreign policy terms precisely because a society so isolated is not likely to be a rational and reliable partner in international life.

For those very reasons, opening the Soviet system to a freer flow of ideas and persons has been a major aim of Western policy for years. It is, for example, at the current European Security Conference, those who feel strongly about pursuing that goal are not against detente; they only fear what Andrei Sakharov, the Soviet scientist, has rightly called "the danger of seeming detente, not accompanied by increased trust or democratization."

One idea that should be got out of the way is the notion that strong public action may hurt the victims of oppression, that appeals for them should be left to "quiet diplomacy." We know by now that Soviet officials are moved not by deferential politeness but by firmness - and fear of embarrassment.

We know by now that Soviet officials are moved not by deferential politeness but by firmness - and fear of embarrassment.

It is still more difficult to explain why the new Alabama law is intolerable. On the surface, the act appears to be no more than a serving of the sauce for a goose that is sauce for a gander. Reporters and state legislators alike will be required to file certain statements with a State Ethics Commission, disclosing their sources of income. Only those reporters approved by this commission would receive press passes, admitting them to committee meetings, pressrooms, and press conferences.

Here in Washington, press credentials are handed not by a governmental agency, but by committees of correspondents themselves. There is a world of difference. The Alabama law smacks of the despotic licensing laws of the 18th Century. If the law were upheld, and doubtless popular opinion would uphold it - the reporting of state news would come not from reporters chosen by editors but from reporters approved by politicians. How do we explain why this is wrong?

It was Ovid's sound advice, laid down 2,000 years ago, that to be loved, one must first be lovable. We ought to keep it in mind. If a free press is to survive, a free press must incessantly sell itself. No one else, we may be certain, will ever do the job for us.

No time for moderates

WASHINGTON An attempt by six gifted Congressmen to head off emotionally charged antibusing legislation by promoting a compromise has been shattered by inflexible civil rights leaders.

The bipartisan, biracial coalition of six House members has been virtually disbanded less than two months after its formation, diminishing any hope for a middle ground. Rather, prospects are that the House next month will pass a tough antibusing amendment to the school aid bill in the closing days of the current session.

To realistic proponents of high quality, racially integrated education, such an outcome would be tragic. That is why there is melancholy among them over the apparent message of the last few weeks: This is no time for moderation.

The first serious attempt at compromising the school busing issue came last year when two highly regarded Democratic Congressmen - Richardson Preyer of North Carolina, a Southern moderate, and Morris Udall of Arizona, a Western liberal - introduced compromise legislation. The bill, drafted by Prof. Alexander M. Bickel of Yale law school, seeks gradual integration in local schools without court-ordered busing and with a minimum of federal coercion. The reaction: mostly yawns.

out two prestigious Republican moderates with good civil rights records: John Anderson of Illinois and Albert Wile of Minnesota. More important, they went to the swelling Black Caucus for help.

Two freshman Black Congressmen considered less dogmatic than their senior colleagues - Georgia's Andrew Young, a one-time lieutenant of Martin Luther King, and Texas's Barbara Jordan, a former state senator - were asked to join in seeking a compromise. Without committing themselves to the Preyer-Udall bill, they agreed.

The result was July 31 statement signed by the six Congressmen. While opposing antibusing legislation and supporting "the objectives of integration," the statement has asserted that "the nation's educational problems... are continually inflamed by court-ordered busing" and complained about "disruptive judicial interference. Began that statement was the promise of Republican moderates, liberal Democrats and Black Democrats joining in a new civil rights coalition.

But dogmatic civil rights lobbyist Clarence Mitchell of the NAACP saw no such promise. Whatever the purpose of the July 31 press conference, he telegraphed the six Congressmen, "it is difficult to conceive of anything that could create greater mischief." Furthermore, Mitchell thundered, the statement "is clearly designed to undermine court decisions."

Udall warned, Democratic Congressmen from Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York may join their colleagues from Michigan in the antibusing camp.

That next weekend, Rep. Young invited distinguished civil rights leaders to Arlie House at Warrenton, Va., to try to talk out the problem. The experiment failed.

Udall began on Friday night by warning, as he had in his letter to Mitchell, that it was time to take a hard civil rights line when pro-integration forces had 260 votes in the 435-member House in the early 1960s. Now, he said, the civil rights vote against antibusing legislation is 130 votes - and fading.

His listeners were unimpressed. Dr. Kenneth Clark, the distinguished black psychologist from City University of New York, replied coldly that he would rely on the courts and not interfere with them. He was seconded by Joseph Rauh, the veteran white civil rights leader. On Saturday, Young received much more of the same.

Junior black politicians such as Young and Miss Jordan are properly reverent about the distinguished role played by Kenneth Clark and Clarence Mitchell in the great civil rights triumphs in the courts and Congress. They are not prepared to clash head-on with them. In effect, Young and Miss Jordan have left the newly formed coalition.

In fact, Udall fears that the coalition has been aborted. To build a congressional majority for a moderate integration program, support from the civil rights lobby is essential. Refusal to give that support invites regressive legislation which would end busing without providing a less obnoxious alternative.

Prisoners escape

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN (UPI) — Two maximum security inmates at Utah State Prison saved their way through their cell bars, overpowered a guard and escaped early today.

Warden Samuel Smith said Dennis H. Baker, 27, and William A. Sampley, 28, used the bar sections they cut as weapons to overpower guard Dennis Newton.

They tied Newton and climbed through air ducts to the outside of the building where they lowered themselves three floors to the ground with blankets tied together.

Salt Lake County Sheriff's officers combed the fields surrounding the prison with dogs and guards searched the prison grounds on the chance the two had not made it over the fence.

Smith said Baker and Sampley have both escaped from the prison before.

Baker and another inmate, Edward E. Pass, hatched elaborate escape plan that won them a few hours freedom a year ago. The two used a forged court order to get guards to drive them to Brigham City.

Enroute they pulled a derringer on the guards — a weapon made in the prison's machine shop. The two escaped, but were captured a few hours later in the foothills east of Centerville.

Claim interest low

SALMON — A Bureau of Land Management official here says that ranchers in Lemhi and Custer counties have shown little interest in claiming wild horses and burros.

A meeting held in Salmon to outline claiming procedures failed to attract a single person while one at Challis drew only two ranchers.

Both meetings have been advertised in advance.

The BLM's Salmon district manager, Harry Finlayson, said:

"Even though we know of branded horses in the Challis herd we have not received any claims to date. If at a later date, any of these branded horses are gathered under the law they will be turned over to the state brand inspector for disposal in accordance with Idaho state law."

Energy saving program slated

POCATELLO (UPI) — The Idaho State University Physical Plant hopes to reduce thermal and electrical energy consumption by 25 per cent on a permanent basis at the university.

The department is embarking on an in-depth program to determine where and how energy-saving procedures can be implemented.

Department employees are being organized to contact faculty members and school officials for ideas on how to conserve energy.

Students and faculty members are asked to cooperate during the colder weather by keeping windows closed and opening them only slightly when necessary for ventilation.

Temperatures in the buildings will be kept a few degrees lower. All persons using the university buildings during the winter will be asked to dress warmly and are encouraged to turn off lights and electrical appliances unless they are essential.

The physical plant also is:

- Using timing devices on heating systems and electrical systems to cut down on the output of heat or electricity;
- Lighting inside buildings in corridors and other areas will be reduced if not essential;
- A survey will be made of buildings to see whether additional insulation can be installed to reduce heating needs;
- During the summer months air conditioning will have settings to produce less cooling;
- Solar sun screens and solar control devices are being installed on buildings.

The university also will have more bicycle and motorcycle racks installed to encourage the use of these vehicles instead of cars to conserve on petroleum fuels.

Worker killed

NYSSA, Ore. (UPI) — An employe of the American Fine Foods Canning Co. was killed when a safety cover on a slicer blew off and hit her on the head.

Nyssa police identified the woman as Valine Harris, 35. She was killed instantly, they said, after the ensilage slicer blew off and flew 20 feet through the air and struck her.

The accident Saturday morning injured another woman worker slightly.

Solar sun screens and solar control devices are being installed on buildings.

The university also will have more bicycle and motorcycle racks installed to encourage the use of these vehicles instead of cars to conserve on petroleum fuels.

$ habit

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — New intelligence information received by Canyon County Sheriff George Nourse indicates there are some 200 heroin addicts in Treasure Valley with habits costing between $100 and $200 each day.

Nourse said the addicts use about $30,000 worth of heroin daily in southwest Idaho.

He said addicts generally steal twice what they spend because stolen goods can be sold only half their worth.

Prison move slated

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's old, gray-walled penitentiary along Warm Springs Avenue on the outskirts of Boise is expected to be phased out within the next three months with a move to the new site south of Gowen Field.

So far, 110 inmates have been moved to the minimum security farm dormitory and another 25 have been taken to the maximum security section at the new prison.

On Nov. 1 50 more inmates and some of the 125 staff members will move to the new site. Between Dec. 1 and Jan. 1, possibly even before then, the rest of the some 250 inmates will be taken to the new penitentiary eight miles south of Gowen.

Timing of the move will depend in part on the weather. Raymond May, state director of correction, said there still are some critical construction phases which will depend on favorable weather to complete.

Fruitland woman killed in crash

EMMETT (UPI) — Kathleen Woodhull, 41, Fruitland, became Idaho's 201st traffic victim of the year Sunday in a one-car rollover four miles west of Emmett on Highway 52.

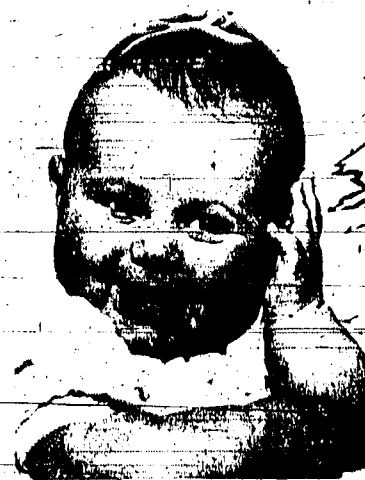

Her death boosted the toll to 29 more than at this time a year ago.

Charles D. Zinn, age and address unavailable, was identified as the driver of the car.

He was taken to Knux Memorial Hospital in Emmett for treatment of injuries and his condition was described as satisfactory.

Investigators said the car in which the two were riding went off the road on a gradual curve and then careened down a borrow pit for about 600 feet before rolling over 2-1/2 times. Both occupants were thrown from the vehicle.

Golda raps terror aid

STRASBOURG, France (UPI)—Israeli Premier Mrs. Golda Meir said today Austria's decision to end the flow of Soviet Jews in the face of Arab guerrilla demands was "the greatest encouragement to terrorism throughout the world."

"Terrorism must be wiped out. No deals with terrorists," the 75-year-old Israeli leader told the 17-nation Council of Europe in an impassioned off-the-cuff speech.

"What has happened in Vienna is the greatest encouragement to terrorism throughout the world," Mrs. Meir said in a booming voice.

"I am not bringing to this forum the question of the Austrian government, but a higher principle."

"I sincerely hope this is not the final decision of the Austrian government. I hope there was some misunderstanding, some misinterpretation, otherwise some will say: then why only Austria?"

In Beirut, the "Eagles of the Palestinian Revolution," the guerrilla group which carried out Friday's seizure of Austria against going back on its promise to close down the Jewish transit facilities. The warning was accompanied by a widespread campaign in the Arab press aimed at countering Israeli government pressure on Austria.

Although Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky said on Saturday he was bowing to Arab terrorist demands and closing a way station for Russian Jews traveling to Israel, indications today in Vienna were that the station, Schoenau Castle, was still operating.

At least one trainload of Soviet Jews arrived in Vienna Sunday and were taken to the castle although Kreisky said he would close it to win freedom for three Jewish hostages and an Austrian official seized by Arab terrorists. The guerrillas released the hostages and were allowed to fly to Libya.

Mrs. Meir, dressed in a blue suit and speaking in English, said she rejected her prepared speech at the last minute to speak verbatim. In the prepared speech she said decisions such as the Austrian one amounted to "casting a vote for war."

She said in the Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip of Egypt "terrorism has been stopped, doors are open, bridges are open, there is a constant flow of Arabs." Mrs. Meir spoke out against governments who denounce Israeli reprisals as well as Arab guerrilla actions.

"Between the man who threatens with a gun and those who strive to stop the gun from going off there is a difference," she said. "To say 'a plague on both your houses' is a great injustice."

She said what happened in Vienna highlighted the problem of the Jewish people.

"There are three large centers of Jews remaining in the United States, the Soviet Union and Israel," she said. "The state of Israel can only exist if it can welcome every Jew who comes to it. Many of the more than 2-1/2 million Jews in the Soviet Union want to come to Israel."

She said Palestinians wanted to blow up Schoenau Castle — the Austrian transit center — then added sarcastically "but of course eliminating Schoenau Castle eliminates terrorism."

"This is our land," Ami, wearing a dashiki and knit turban, said as he stepped out of the beachside embassy. "We don't intend to leave it."

The Blacks, who say they are descendants of the original Israelites, have been living here from three to five years without the required residence visas. They support themselves by handcrafting leathers goods and African-style clothing.

"They (the Israelis) can't depend on us because we are the original people in this land," said Ami, whose name was Carter in the United States.

He said U.S. Embassy officials accepted his passport after counseling him on the consequences of his action.

"I understood it all perfectly and I have given up my citizenship," he said. "Now I feel good."

An embassy official said later formal renunciation of U.S. citizenship requires a final decision by Washington and that no such decisions had been made yet in connection with the Black Hebrews.

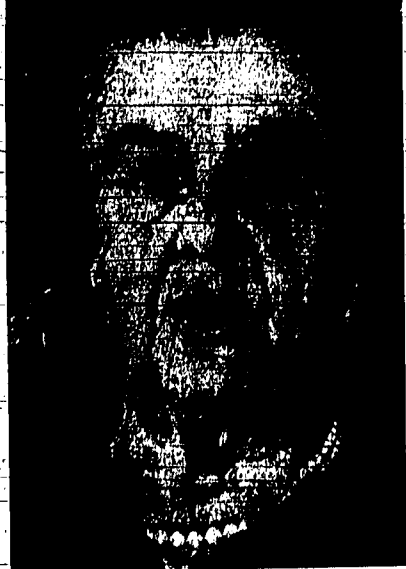

"Nobody walked out of here today having given up his U.S. citizenship," the spokesman said.

Ami said he and his group would press embassy officials to deal with more than four blacks a day.

"We are not Americans," he said. "We are Hebrew Israelites and this is what we are showing today."

They attacked the newspaper said two men threatened a receptionist with a submachine gun while three others entered a side door leading into the pressroom and tossed bottles of a flammable liquid over the newspaper rolls, setting them afire.

The attackers identified themselves only as Peronists, a term with little specific meaning.

75 renounce US citizenship

TEP, AVIV (UPI)—Seventy-five self-styled "Black Hebrews" faced with possible deportation from Israel, went to the American Embassy today to renounce their U.S. citizenship. Embassy officials said they could handle only four of the blacks a day.

Ben Ami, originally of Chicago and now leader of between 300 and 400 Black Hebrews living in the Negev Desert settlement of Dimona, said the action was taken to show that Israel, not the United States, was their homeland.

"This is our land," Ami, wearing a dashiki and knit turban, said as he stepped out of the beachside embassy. "We don't intend to leave it."

Wood stove firms thrive

(c) N. Y. Times News Service PORTLAND, Ore. — With winter on the way and oil and gas shortages threatened, the wood-burning stove is making a comeback.

People across the nation appear to be turning back to wood in large numbers to provide extra security against the coming cold. And as they buy up cast-iron heaters and cord wood, they may be creating yet another shortage.

"It's unbelievable," said Harold McMurray, a sales man for the King Stove Co. of Sherfield, Ala., one of the nation's largest manufacturers of wood-burning stoves. "We have more orders on file than we can possibly manufacture and ship between now and Dec. 31. There's no way we can meet the demand."

Smith, vice president for sales at a large stove distributor in Portland, reports a 700 per cent increase over last year, with more than seven car loads of stoves on back order.

"It's a boom for anything that burns wood," Smith said. McMurray agrees. "A number of people have been referred to us by our competitors, he said, "and when that happens you know it's a boom."

Firewood supplies seem slightly threatened. Although McMurray said that most stove orders seemed to come from areas that had a good supply of wood, some wood dealers report excessive demand.

A spokesman for Sears Roebuck & Co., which markets four types of stoves, including a popular Franklin Fireplace, called the increased sales "a real boom thing, without doubt one of the best years for wood stoves."

On the West Coast, orders have doubled and tripled. Bob

Peronists burn newsprint rolls

MAR DEL PLATA, Argentina (UPI)—Five men invaded the building of La Capital, an independent morning newspaper, and burned 14 rolls of newsprint Sunday, the paper said.

La Capital, which has a circulation of about 40,000, said it would still be able to print Monday's editions.

Killed were the pilot, Arthur Myllymaki Jr., 23, Phoenix, Ariz., and seven persons from Stamford, Mont., Myllymaki's former home.

Bodies recovered

MEINA, Ark. (UPI)—A military spokesman said today all 11 bodies had been recovered from the wreckage of a Texas International airliner that plummeted into the side of a densely wooded mountain last Thursday night.

"Our latest information is that all 11 have been recovered," said B.J. Brewer of the Red River Army Depot. "It's on Rich Mountain in a very remote area."

Brewer denied that the Army had sealed off the crash site in order to search for a colonel's briefcase reportedly carrying secret military documents.

"There are some Army personnel there," Brewer said. "We have no reason to seal it off. To the best of our knowledge it is absolutely untrue."

Charges reduced

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (UPI)—A Superior Court judge has reduced felony real estate fraud charges against Dr. E. Mortimer Gherman, father-in-law of Rep. Barry Goldwater Jr.

Gherman still faces trial on 12 counts of false advertising, eight counts of grand theft and one of conspiracy in connection with the sale of 135 lots in the Big Bear Lake area in 1969-71.

The charges dismissed included one count of conspiracy and nine counts of selling property after issuance of a cease-and-desist order from the state Real Estate Commission.

Investigators say Gherman and two real estate brokers sold the lots for about $9,000 each, falsely claiming that utilities had already been installed in the area.

11 injured on LA thrill ride

POMONA, Calif. (UPI)—Eleven persons were injured; two of them seriously, when a high-speed thrill ride at the Los Angeles County Fair broke down Sunday, throwing the occupants of the fast-moving cars onto the ground.

Police said an arm of the ride called "The Hurricane" snapped while it was spinning around, sending many of the cars crashing to the ground.

Most seriously injured was Margaretta Howell, 40, of Los Angeles, who suffered a fractured skull and a broken back, leg and arm. Gerardo Pompa, 20, of El Monte, was treated for a possible broken back.

The accident occurred on the last day of the fair's run. Cause of the incident was under investigation.

Coast rocked

FERNDALE, Calif. (UPI) — A stretch of Northern California coastline was rocked by a mild earthquake during the weekend.

The tremor, which registered 3.0 on the University of California seismograph, jolted residents late Saturday night but caused no damage.

It was centered near Cape Mendocino in Humboldt County and was felt from Ferndale to Eureka, a 75-mile area, a UC spokesman said.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The gasoline that now costs 40 cents a gallon will cost between 44 and 48 cents within the coming year, predicts President Nixon's energy advisor.

But John A. Love said Sunday, "As painful as it may be, I don't think it will be necessarily a bad thing."

He said he thought all gasoline price controls would be lifted soon, resulting in a 10 to 15 percent increase at the pumps, explaining that the higher prices would both stimulate development of more supplies and keep people from driving as much.

"We're going to have to find ways to cut back on our use of gasoline," Love said. "I don't think we have near the sense of urgency as yet that we do need to have."

He appeared on ABC's Issues and Answers.

Love predicted the nation's energy supply would remain static for at least three to five years, and urged consumers to curtail their demand.

The former Colorado governor told homeowners to "keep that thermostat set a little lower this winter," and promised that the administration will "do what we can to as fairly as possible distribute" fuel if Nixon approves a proposed mandatory allocation plan now on his desk.

The fuel shortage, he said, "is not just the result of a temporary situation that will go away soon. Our demand has outstripped our ability to produce domestically."

The winter necessities of adequate foreign imports, full capacity operation of refineries and mild temperatures are "potentially not going to fit together," he warned.

Gasoline price increases, on top of the 1 1/2 to 2 cent a gallon increase approved Friday by the Cost of Living Council, would be caused by both increasing demand and higher prices charged by oil-producing nations, Love predicted.

JOHN A. LOVE predicts price rise

Angry dealers boost prices, lock pumps, demand relief

By United Press International

Angry gasoline dealers reacting to new government price formulas either boosted prices the 2 1/2 cent limit or locked their pumps Sunday, demanding additional government relief.

At the same time, retail gas dealers meeting in Las Vegas mapped strategy for the first attempt at a nationwide shutdown.

In Fresno, Calif., angry independent dealers shut their nozzles Sunday through a wide area of Central California to protest price controls set by the Council Friday.

Ninety per cent of the 350 service stations in the Fresno area alone were expected to observe a "protest" closure Sunday through Tuesday, said Phil Hudson of the California Petroleum Retailers of Central California.

In Las Vegas, leaders of gasoline dealer associations from Western states held their first meeting with Eastern dealers, and one California association official, who asked not to be identified, said, "It looks like there will be a nationwide lockup starting next Friday."

"The people from the East came here ready to go. They came here with the authority to act and to sound us out in the Western states," said one representative from San Francisco.

"We are still under Phase IV controls and they are illegal as well," said a spokesman for several hundred California stations. "We want an end to Phase IV controls."

US agency starts anti-disease push

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government today launched a campaign to encourage immunization of millions of pre-school children against polio, measles and other diseases. It warned that an "alarming decline" in immunizations has raised fears of epidemics.

The Center for Disease Control CDC said the problem is especially acute among black children aged 1 through 4 living in city slums. But it said in different areas a red immunization also endangers children in the suburbs.

"As a result, health experts fear that epidemics of polio and other childhood diseases could occur," the government agency said.

The campaign focuses on polio, measles, rubella, German measles, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus. The federal government is providing publicity and coordination. Most of the immunization would be by private doctors or state and local health groups.

The federal government's own immunization program faces money problems. CDC said federal funds for buying vaccine for needy persons and other immunizations activities have been cut from $17 million in fiscal 1972 to $6.2 million this year.

"To be very honest with you, there's not going to be enough federal vaccine available in all areas, but a small number of states are getting more money for vaccine from their legislatures," Jack Kirby, program operations chief in CDC's immunization branch, said in an interview.

The campaign's goals are to have 2.3 million pre-school children vaccinated against polio during the next year, in addition to the 9 million normally vaccinated; 2.7 million more against measles; 2.5 million more against rubella; and 2.3 million more against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

Carrier cost zooms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy has announced a delay of five to 11 months for delivery of the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Nimitz and confirms that it, and its sister ship, the Eisenhower, will run $273.6 million more than first expected.

The Nimitz originally was scheduled to join the fleet next month as America's second nuclear-powered aircraft carrier. But a spokesman Sunday estimated that delivery will not take place until between March and September of next year.

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., charged that the delays and other cost-adding factors would result in a $273.6 million cost overrun on the Nimitz and the Eisenhower, which was scheduled to be delivered 21 months after the Nimitz. Defense officials did not dispute this figure.

Aspin also said the total cost of the Nimitz and the Eisenhower and a third unnamed carrier to be delivered in 1980 "will be at least $2.3 billion."

PC trustee plan hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interstate Commerce Commission said today the Penn Central railroad can continue operating at least through March without government subsidies.

The ICC urged rejection by a Philadelphia bankruptcy court of the Penn Central trustees' plan to liquidate the bankrupt railroad, and said the line could be rebuilt into a usable railroad, with substantial federal and state assistance.

Because of recent freight rate increases and other additional funds, the Penn Central probably can continue operation without help through the rest of 1974, unless it is hit with a major disaster, the commission said.

Penn Central's trustees had said the line would be unable to operate on its own resources beyond next January.

U.S. District Judge John P. Pullam has scheduled a hearing for Oct. 12 to determine whether the railroad should be liquidated and sold off to satisfy claims of its many debtors.

Catholic woman slain

BELFAST (UPI) — A Protestant extremist group claimed responsibility today for the shooting death of a 20-year-old Roman Catholic woman in Belfast's first sectarian assassination in two weeks, police said.

A spokesman for the Ulster Freedom Fighters (UFF) telephoned local newspapers and said she was killed because she was a Catholic.

The woman, Eileen Doherty, died in a hospital early today after being shot in the head and stomach in a taxi as it passed through the Protestant Stranmillis district shortly before midnight Sunday.

Brandt faces party clash over Berlin

(c) Chicago Daily News

BONN — West German Chancellor Willy Brandt will face an inner-party confrontation this week with international implications in the still tangled problem of who represents West Berlin.

Officially, Brandt returned Sunday from his United States visit to "win two extra working days" for a busy week. He was not due back in Bonn until today.

But West German sources feel Brandt is girding for an inevitable showdown with his own Social Democratic Party's parliamentary floor leader Herbert Wehner. Wehner jarred the Bonn government last week by saying the West Germans are exaggerating the Berlin problem.

Wehner said Brandt knew his position contradicts the government view that West Germany has broad rights to represent West Berliners. But what really hurt was that Wehner made his remarks in the Soviet Union, while Brandt was in the United States. Wehner is expected back in Bonn tomorrow.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices opened mixed in moderate trading Monday on the New York Stock Exchange.

Minutes after the opening, the Dow Jones industrial average was off 0.76 at 996.34. Advances outnumbered declines 276 to 223 among 671 issues traded.

Profit taking ended seven consecutive advances in the Dow on Friday, when the popular market barometer closed off 6.17 at 947.10.

Institutional buying played a significant role in the market's rally, but the number of large block trades fell off on Friday.

Some analysts said the decline in block trading indicated the institutions had completed their portfolio dressing for third quarter reports.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A doctor's wife said: "The shoemaker's kids always go barefoot." I know what she means.

All my friends envy me because my husband is a hairdresser. They don't know that he hasn't touched my head in years. I have to shampoo and set it myself. He promised to give me a cut and perm last year. I even went to his shop for it, but something went wrong with a color job he had done on one of his prized customers, and he never got to me! I finally got so disgusted I went to the neighborhood shop and paid somebody else to do it.

People are always telling me how nice my hair looks. And then they add: "But why shouldn't it—you're married to a hairdresser." Ha, ha, and ha! ROLLS MY OWN

DEAR ABBY: When the doctor's wife complained to her husband about not feeling well, he told her to take two aspirin and go to bed!

MRS. EDITH LEEPER, left, now president of the Over 60's Group at Filer, hosted a planning meeting at her home for Mrs. Marie Greenwood, center, secretary of the group, and Mrs. Elma Fouts, treasurer.

Mini-Reviews

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Public Library officials have released mini-reviews for some of the new books recently received by the library.

"Rabbit Boss" by Thomas Sanchez. This novel is about the doomed hunter, Gaybac, whose first sight of the white man is his witness to the great disaster at Donner pass.

"Foreign Devils" by Irvin Faust. A story ranging from upper Manhattan to Brooklyn to the forbidden city of Peking, from now to the Boxer rebellion of 1900 and back again.

"Laughing All the Way" by Barbara Howar. "Laughing at myself is what I do best." Lord knows, I have had practice, there not being any city like Washington for laughable situations.

"The New Families" by Ross V. Speck. A searching professional analysis, for, a growing social phenomenon, whose impact on our future cannot be underestimated.

"The Megastates of America" by Neal R. Pierce. A political, governmental, geographical, industrial, ethnic, metropolitan history and overview of 10 states.

"Yes, Married" by Judith Viorst. You'll laugh and laugh if you read about this wise and witty approach to married life.

"Somewhere Within This House" by Jean Francis Webb. When the kingdom of Hawaii erupts into revolution in a night of flames and riot, Ellen comes face to face with her true enemy.

"The Man Who Cried, 'I Am'" by John A. Williams. The inner conflicts of Max Reddick caught-up in the bitter struggle against bigotry and duplicity, make this a highly topical book.

Lots of misery

Are you ready for this? My husband is an electrician and I have a toaster that's in pieces. He took it apart two months ago, but he hasn't had time to put it together yet. Last Christmas he promised to fix my hair dryer, but he hasn't gotten around to it yet. And I've been trying to get him to put some flood-lights around our house for two years, and all he's done so far is get the lights, but they're still in their original boxes.

I give up!

ELECTRICIAN'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: I'm a plumber's wife. Without delving into the details, I found myself desperately in need of a plumber! I phoned my husband at his shop, and he said he was tied up all day; one of his men was out sick, and the other one was on vacation.

Know what I did? I called another plumber. And in case you don't know it, a plumber gets paid more for a housecall than a doctor.

PLUMB OUT OF LUCK

DEAR ABBY: I laughed (with tears in my eyes) when I read about the doctor's wife who couldn't get her husband's ear long enough to tell him what was wrong with her.

My wife is a masseuse, and a darned good one. In fact, she's trained in physical therapy, but every time I ask her to give me a rub, she tells me she's tired.

NO RUBS IN ROCHESTER

DEAR ABBY: Tell the doctor's wife she has company. My husband is a professional photographer. He photographed our first child when she was one hour old. And he took thousands of pictures of that little girl until she was about 4.

Our second baby came along and my husband didn't go quite as crazy with his camera over No. 2, but we do have some pictures of him. No. 3 was lucky to get her picture taken on her fifth birthday.

Now I have to start nagging him in July to get a family picture for our Christmas cards.

PHOTOGRAPHER'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: "The shoemaker's children always go barefoot," applied to me, too. Only my husband is a grocer. I had to plead for groceries, which we, as the owners of the store, may take home at wholesale prices. But believe it or not, our cupboards were usually bare.

My own children didn't see much of their father because he was always too busy at the store to give them much time.

It took a complete nervous breakdown for me to get the time and attention from my husband I needed for so many years.

Jim: "The problem is how to get there after the no-trump opening. It is easy with Jacoby transfer. North's two-heart bid guarantees at least five spades and asks South to bid spades. South does this and North rebids to two no-trump. He has told partner that he holds at least five spades, 8, 9 or maybe 10 high card points and a balanced hand.

Washington school 'unfeasible'

Besides the traffic situation, Stover believes there are a number of reasons why a new school is needed. Washington's 4.5 acres of playground space is not half the 10-acre playground space required at new elementary schools.

Sports suffer because of the small playground, according to Stover. Only one football game can be organized on the playing field while enough children for two games usually want to play. The school also has only three basketball courts and "could use six to eight easily."

Another important consideration is the population shift away from the Washington School area, according to Staudaher. Because of this shift Washington School enrollment has dropped from 530 last year to roughly 473 this fall. Meanwhile, more students are being bused from the northeast and southern suburbs of town. One school bus driver, Dick Kirkman, estimates the district will be able to cut out three buses if the new elementary school is built — at a savings of $13,500 per year, Staudaher said.

US losses said small in Chile

By RONALD SNIDER
(c) Washington Star-News
WASHINGTON — The government corporation that insures private investments overseas said it will have "very little loss" in Chile if the new government there honors its obligations.

The Overseas Private Investment Corp. (OPIC) has paid $25.4 million to U. S. companies whose properties have been expropriated in Chile, and could be held liable for claims of $327.9 million more.

Marshall T. Mays, who was confirmed by the Senate last week to succeed Bradford Mills, as president of OPIC, said the agency's insurance reserve as of June 30 stood at $126.6 million, an increase of $28.3 million over last year.

Mays said the increases were made despite "a period of severe testing, especially in dealing with inherited problems in Chile."

OPIC was created by Congress in 1969 to consolidate overseas investment programs administered by a series of agencies. It began operations in January, 1971.

OPIC has settled 24 claims worldwide since 1971 totaling $116 million. This is almost three times the number paid by predecessor agencies during the first 23 years of investment insurance programs.

Staudaher said the school's design would stress "flexibility" so that classroom structure would be able to adapt to changing educational methods. Specifically, the classrooms will be constructed with removable walls to that "open space" teaching techniques, involving large indoor areas could be implemented if the community wants them. Staudaher added that the removable walls themselves would be quite solid.

Air conditioning, which does not exist at any Twin Falls schools now, is a high priority for the new school. "The one thing I want to use this building year 'round," Staudaher said.

With construction of a new elementary school, Staudaher believes there will be enough space to start a kindergarten program. "We feel we could accommodate them by 1975 (when the new school is built)," he said.

This summer, if expected TIEC funds come through, Staudaher plans to run "a real program."

Supreme Court opens under shadow

By JACK C. LANDAU
(c) Newhouse News Service
WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court, now firmly controlled by a new conservative majority — opens its 1973-1974 term today dominated by the constitutional shadow of the Watergate scandal.

Although no Watergate cases have reached the Supreme Court yet, there are three suits expected within the next 35 days and three more Watergate-related cases which might reach the justices by spring.

The Watergate court dramas — with their novel cases of presidential and vice presidential immunity — will tend to take the legal spotlight away from other constitutional controversies on appeal this term — cross district school busing; impoundment of federal funds; consumer and environmental cases; equal rights for women; press censorship and wiretapping.

There will be a drama of different sort on Oct. 30 when Justice William O. Douglas becomes the longest sitting justice in history with service of 34 years and 196 days, surpassing the record of Justice Stephen Field who served from 1863 to 1897.

For at least one day, the justices will put aside their law cases and philosophical conflicts to attend an all-day convocation and dinner honoring Douglas. Chief Justice Warren Burger and former Chief Justice Earl Warren will preside at the ceremonies for the controversial liberal, four-times married senior justice.

The three Watergate cases, which will probably reach the high court by next month are the Washington, D. C., grand jury subpoenas for President Nixon's tape recorded conversations, the Senate Watergate committee subpoenas for the same tapes and Vice President Agnew's attempts to block the Baltimore grand jury investigation and any possible indictment.

The other Watergate cases involve demands for the tapes by defendants such as former Attorney General John Mitchell, indicted in New York for perjury; former White House aide John Ehrlichman, indicted in California for conspiracy to commit burglary; and the original seven Watergate defendants in Washington, D. C., who want new trials.

Watergate has already touched the Supreme Court with justice William J. Rehnquist's argument earlier this month that the American Bar Association canons of ethics are too strict on when justices should disqualify themselves from hearing cases.

The court, which opens its formal session on Monday, has agreed to hear 75 cases. Another 600 have been submitted for review.

Budget official meets with solons

WASHINGTON — Roy Ash, director of the Office of Management and Budget, said he will begin meetings this week with congressional leaders to hear their suggestions for the 1975 budget.

These sessions mark the first time Congress has been directly consulted about the budget before the President receives the OMB recommendations and makes the final decisions.

These meetings will include the chairmen and ranking Republicans of each authorization committee as well as the heads of the Ways and Means and Appropriations committees, Ash said.

"Obviously," Ash added, "we're not going to negotiate line item by line item" with the congressmen. Rather, the OMB will present its general view on the main issues of the next fiscal year's budget to the bill leaders and elicit their views so the President will have them before him" when he makes his decisions.

Among the key issues Ash foresees in the next budget are money for housing programs, education and health, including the question of a national health insurance plan.

Justice Rehnquist is the focus of informal discussions by lawyers and law professors. As a former assistant attorney general under former Attorney General John Mitchell, there is some feeling that he should disqualify himself from the Watergate cases.

It has also been pointed out that Justice Rehnquist was the chief administration spokesman for broad presidential powers of "executive privilege" and "national security" — the very issues which President Nixon is raising in the Watergate tape law suit.

Blaine fire protection project set

KETCHUM — Trenching work is expected to begin immediately for a loop water circuit to increase fire protection at the Ernest Hemingway Elementary School, Ketchum.

According to Ray Jefferson, assistant superintendent of the Blaine County school district, the circuit will tie into the Ketchum Spring Water Company system and will include about 4,200 feet of eight-inch pipe and two fire hydrants.

Ketchum fire chief, Bill Brand had earlier stated that four chemical extinguishers were the only equipment immediately available at the school in case of fire.

Jefferson said the project is expected to cost about $7,000. He said a group of interested area citizens had pledged their efforts to defray project costs if district funds were not available.

The assistant superintendent said the project will hopefully be operative before freezing weather.

The circuit is expected to supply a 2,000 gallon flow per minute — which Jefferson said would be "more than adequate" for the two hydrants.

Project planning was conducted jointly by the school district, the Ketchum Volunteer Fire Department and Royce Asher, owner of the water system.

Meet in Ketchum

Gem mental health group meets

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News Writer

KETCHUM — Thanks to the Idaho Mental Health Association, mentally ill persons now must be informed of their legal rights. Association executive director James Manser, Boise, told the group's annual meeting here that the association's accomplishments during the past year included passage of an improved commitment bill.

He said mentally ill persons now must be told their rights, but "there is no assurance they will get them."

Manser urged delegates from local mental health chapters to utilize the VISTA workers the state group is sponsoring. Two are located in Boise and one in Twin Falls.

The state official urged local mental health association members to use these persons as "catalysts to get new programs going."

A Caldwell woman was elected state president during the Sunday-morning business meeting, Sharon Hubler, succeeds Dale Huger, Boise, in the post.

Other officers named were Marilyn Laening, Hailey, vice president; Wilma Armstrong, secretary, and Daryl Weyen, treasurer, both Boise. The report of the nominating committee was given by Ms. Laening.

Also discussed during the sessions was the new publication, "Hope" which the state organization initiated with the first issue published in August. Purpose of the magazine is to reach many persons not now associated with any mental health activity with information about the subject, Manser said.

Other topics included a report on special gifts by Brad Scudder, Boise; popularity of bus trips to Blackfoot for relatives of patients there; reports of local chapters in Boise, Nampa, Twin Falls and Weiser; and the problems arising from the recent inclusion of mental health centers into the administration of the Department of Environmental and Community Services.

Wallace aides close 2 houses

BOISE (UPI) — As a result of an investigation by state agents, local officials have closed down two houses of prostitution in Wallace, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus told a news conference today.

Andrus said the state probe was triggered by reports last June of a suggestion by a state employe that prostitutes in the Wallace area are hired by the state as mental health counselors.

Although the Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS) rejected the suggestion from an employe in the Coeur d'Alene area the Department of Law Enforcement began an inquiry because of it, Andrus indicated.

"They did investigate and with the result the place was closed last week with a sign on the door 'closed and out of business,'" Andrus said.

He said that while the state opened the inquiry the action was taken by local officials. He said he learned of the closure of the establishments from the "Republican prosecuting attorney" in Shoshone County.

Sandpoint man killed

ANACONDA, Mont. (UPI) — A Sandpoint, Idaho, man was killed and three other persons injured in a one-car accident on Highway 10A this weekend.

Vern Shaffer, about 21, was killed in the Saturday accident. Dick Shaffer, 23, Sandpoint was hospitalized, and Ruth Hoss, 18, McCall and Don Wolford, 20, Boise received minor injuries.

Meet set tonight

JEROME — The Jerome school board will have a special meeting at 8 p.m. today to open bids on a steel classroom to be built at the junior high school.

The new building, which will be built behind the junior high school building, will contain four classrooms and will provide room for the extra students in the junior high. The junior high now has over 50 students more than state department of education recommendations for student capacity, school officials said.

About six weeks will be required for construction of the metal building.

Besides classroom facilities, the new structure will provide lunchroom facilities for the junior high students, eliminating the necessity for them to go between the junior and senior high school buildings at lunch time.

Gem realtors back land use zoning

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

SUN VALLEY — The Idaho Association of Realtors has backed local determination of land use zoning.

The three day, 27th annual Association convention, attended by over 300 persons and hosted by the Sawtooth Board of Realtors ended Saturday in Sun Valley.

The resolution on land use planning adopted by the Association endorsed Rep. Steven Symms' position on pending federal land use legislation which Symms had termed "an erosion of constitutionally guaranteed property rights."

Secondly, the Association opposed what it called "the use of federal money to influence or coerce the states to develop statewide land use policies which would limit the power of local governments to zone the use of land within their jurisdictions."

A third portion of the resolution rejected "as wholly unnecessary" federal and state government limitation of local control in determining matters of local concern.

Special speakers at the Association convention included news correspondent John Mugley; Betty Kissock, vice president of the National Association of Realtors; and George E. Haney, Twin Falls, chairman of the Idaho Real Estate Education Council.

Named as Realtor of the Year was Ross Reese, Rexburg. Reese was selected from 18 other candidates chosen by local boards on the basis of civic activity, business

ISU complex bids to open

POCATELLO (UPI) — Bids on a new 40-unit student apartment complex for Idaho State University will be opened Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Physical Plant Department Office building.

Boise man heads Idaho Realtors

SUN VALLEY — Local involvement in solving local problems has been stressed by B. Dale Duffy, Boise, new president of the Idaho Association of Realtors.

Duffy was elected during a three day Association convention which concluded Saturday in Sun Valley.

Duffy expressed concern about the federal government's role in solving "purely local problems" and "problems which the private sector should be solving."

More involvement "on the lowest unit of government possible" was needed, he said.

"The new president said the Association will emphasize legislation and that the state organization has been 'streamlined and strengthened' to more effectively represent homeowners and private property owners."

The Association, he said, was the "closest organization to act as a union with the private property owner." The Association intends to fulfill "that responsibility and stand up and be counted on matters of crucial importance," he said. Duffy said the Association has been concerned with the present high interest rates in the home building field. He said the group "will put forth its best efforts to allow everyone in the state the opportunity to have decent housing."

The new president also said the Association has expressed strong interest in local, state and federal land use planning efforts. He said the group "feels it is entirely possible to protect the ecology of the great state of Idaho and at the same time allow the area to develop economically."

Accident hurts three TF women

BOISE — Three elderly Twin Falls women were injured slightly Sunday when their car collided with a bean truck on U. S. 30 four miles east of Buhl.

Agnes Hayborn, 72, and Esther M. Brown, 73, were reported in fair condition this morning at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. The driver of the car, Anna Marie Stevens, 72, was treated and released from the hospital Sunday following the accident.

A hospital spokesman said today the Hayborn woman suffered lacerations in the accident and is being held for observation, while the Brown woman is being held for observation only.

According to Idaho State police officers, the accident occurred about 4:15 p.m. Sunday when the Stevens vehicle was struck by a truck driven by Ernest P. Thaele, 64, Buhl. Thaele was not injured.

The three women were heading east on U. S. 30, police said, when their vehicle was struck by the Thaele truck which was heading north on a county road and failed to stop at the highway.

A brake failure was given as the reason for the Thaele truck's failure to stop, police said.

The accident caused an estimated $2,000 damage to both vehicles.

Third bomb threat made

BOISE — The third bomb threat in the Magic Valley in a week was made here early this morning.

Dexter Rogers, office superintendent at Green Giant, reported someone called in around 9 a.m. and said a bomb had been planted in the factory.

"We handled it as a routine matter," Rogers said police and a specially trained bomb-squad team of Green Giant workers searched the factory for about an hour before normal work was resumed.

Rogers said even though the company has had no such bomb threat before, it has had an action plan in case such a threat were to occur because "there's a lot of nuts running around."

Police probe TF hit-and-run

TWIN FALLS — A hit-and-run accident late Saturday caused about $900 damage to vehicles belonging to two Twin Falls men, police reported today.

According to the reports, autos belonging to Peter McLann and Michael J. Burke, both Twin Falls, were parked in front of Maxie's Pizza Oven in the 100 block of Blue Lakes Boulevard when they were sideswiped by a light-colored station wagon which reportedly continued without stopping.

In other police activity over the weekend:

Clarence Rapp told police that two magnesium wheels and four other tires and wheels were stolen during the night Saturday, from his garage and back yard at 302 6th Ave. E. Rapp told police the items were valued at about $240.

Cindy De Board, Twin Falls, told police a stereo tape deck and tapes valued at about $150 were stolen from her car as it was parked in front of the Alley Cafe late Saturday.

Rodney Lee Hushon, 25, Twin Falls, was arrested on a charge of first degree burglary after he was apprehended breaking into Vera O'Leary Junior High School. Police surrounded the building before apprehending Hushon, but, according to reports, a second suspect in the burglary escaped. Hushon is being held on $2,500 bond.

Kenneth L. Folk, 27, Filer, was arrested on a charge of embezzlement and accused of stealing about $30 in merchandise from D & B Supply Co., where he was employed. The arrest was made early Sunday.

Burglary probed

BLISS — Gooding County sheriff's officers are investigating a burglary at the Circle Bar Cafe and Lounge which took place Saturday after closing.

According to Deputy Bill Bunn, there are no suspects but several leads are being checked. He said an undetermined amount of money was stolen from cash registers in the cafe and lounge.

There is no evidence of a break-in, he said, and the method of entry is unknown.

There is access to the building without breaking in or the persons could have been inside at the time of closing, he said.

He said he believes more than one person was involved.

SHOSHONE — About 43,000 acres were burned this season in the Shoshone District of the Bureau of Land Management.

BLM officials reported 122 blazes during the season. They said man-caused fires and equipment operated by man accounted for 69 per cent of the fires.

The total number of fires for the year was above average, the agency said, but the total acreage burned was below average.

Two fires were controlled in the district Saturday and Sunday, officials said.

A 170-acre blaze was contained Sunday 11 miles south of Fairfield. A 95-acre fire five miles southeast of King Hill was controlled Saturday night.

Fire destroys Filer farm house

FILER — A farm house belonging to a Vietnam veteran was destroyed by fire early today.

Jim DeVall, Filer volunteer fire chief, said his department was called out this morning at 2:30 a.m. to the farmhouse four miles south and one-quarter mile west of the US 93-highway 30 junction, but were unable to save the house which was burning on all four sides when they arrived.

The house and 40-acres of land on which it stood had just been purchased from the Veterans Administration by Russell Briggs Jr., Twin Falls.

Briggs had purchased the house from its owner who lives in Las Vegas, Nev. and was planning to move into the house in a room of the former tenant, Richard Jones, finished moving out. Part of the Jones furniture was in the house and was destroyed.

Briggs said the house was valued at around $16,000.

Cause of the fire was unknown, DeVall said.

Grange leaders

DICK CARRIER, Murtaugh, left; George Sutherland, Mountain Rock, and Clinton Dougherty, Pomona, right, were installed into office Saturday evening at the Filer Tom Parks Pavilion with Glenn Kunkel, Pocatello, past state officer, in charge of the ceremonies. Twelve area granges installed their new officers in the joint ceremonies.

That remark most irritating to the female, I'm told, is "Isn't that just like a woman?" Query arises as to what remark is most irritating to a male. Matter of opinion. But our Love and War man names as a candidate comment any question that begins with the three words: "Why didn't you..."

LANGUAGE MAN
Am asked the origin of that phrase "son of a gun." Another maritime expression, that one. Years ago women were permitted passage aboard warships. Some engaged in amorous activity, it's averred, particularly in those hidden places near the ship's cannons. Clapping resulting therefrom were sometimes of uncertain paternity. And in allusion to that reality, the old sailors referred to this unfortunate fellow or that one not as the son of some specific man, but "the son of a gun." Or so reports our Language man.

A Zero. He predicts sports historians will regard Foreman, but not Ali, as one of the three greatest heavyweights of all time.

Chiefs shock Oakland 16-3 with field goals, defense

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Three field goals by Norwegian Jan Stenerud, a stout defense and a 17-yard pass interception return for a touchdown by linebacker Willie Lanier carried the Kansas City Chiefs to a 16-3 upset victory Sunday over the Oakland Raiders. The victory elevated the Chiefs to a 2-1 record in the Western Division of the American Football Conference, while Oakland fell to 1-2 before a crowd of 72,631 and a national television audience. The Raiders' offensive unit still has not scored a touchdown this season.

Field goals lift Viks over Green Bay 11-3

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Fred Cox kicked three field goals and the Minnesota Vikings defense scored a safety and kept the Green Bay offense out of scoring range Sunday for an 11-3 victory over the Packers.

The victory, Minnesota's third in three games, strengthened the Vikings' hold on first place in the Central Division of the National Football Conference. They now lead Green Bay by a game and a half.

Marshall and Carl Eller, wrecked the starting debut of Green Bay quarterback Jim Del'Gaizo, frustrating his passing efforts all day and holding the Packers to 160 yards total offense. Green Bay's deepest penetration was the Minnesota 26-yard line.

The Vikings' defense, led by tackle Alan Page and ends Jim Cox, who has now scored in 143 straight games, kicked field goals of 22, 13 and 14 yards. The Vikings led 5-3 at halftime and Cox kicked two field goals in the second half for insurance.

serious threat in the first quarter, but a pass interference call on the Vikings helped put Green Bay in position of its only score of the day, a 42-yard field goal by Chester Marcol early in the second period.

Lapier sealed the Raiders' doom with 1:52 left in the game when he intercepted a pass by reserve quarterback Ken Stabler and raced 17 yards untouched for the game's only touchdown.

So aggressive was the Chiefs' defense in the second half that the Raiders did not cross midfield after halftime until there were only 15 seconds remaining.

Oakland's best chance came in the third quarter when a 25-yard pass from Daryle Lamonic to Marv Hubbard and a five-yard run by Hubbard moved the ball to the 50.

Cowboys topple Cardinals 45-10

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) — Roger Staubach and Craig Morton picked the porous St. Louis pass defense to pieces Sunday for 335 yards and four touchdowns — three of them by tight end Billy Joe DuPree — in guiding Dallas to a 45-10 decision over the Cardinals that put the Cowboys atop the NFL's Eastern Division.

St. Louis, high-scoring in its first two games, could manage only a 16-yard field goal in the third quarter by Jim Bakken and a one-yard run by Donny Anderson in the final period.

Staubach directed the Cowboys to a 24-0 lead in the first half when the Cardinals bobbled away their chances for victory.

Staubach connected on 17 of 22 passes for 276 yards, while Morton threw three passes and completed them all for 59 yards. Neither threw an interception.

He hit DuPree — the Cowboys top draft choice — with an 8-yard pass, and scored himself on a one-yard run, Calvin Hill romped for a 19-yard touchdown and Tony Fritsch kicked a 24-yard field goal.

The Cowboys victory, their third without a loss, left them on top of their division with a game lead over the Cardinals and the Washington Redskins. Dallas meets Washington a week from Monday night.

Staubach hit DuPree again in the third period on a touchdown pass of two yards before Morton came on in the final period to throw a 53-yard scoring pass to rookie flanker Golden Richards, and another for one yard to DuPree.

St. Louis had but trouble and the costliest mistake of all came with Dallas leading only 14-0. Hart hit Lee Metcalf with a 30-yard pass, but Jackie Smith ran into Metcalf at the Dallas 20 and Metcalf fumbled and lost the ball. Hart, who gave way to Gary Keithley in the last period, hit on 19 of 34 passes for 202 yards and threw two interceptions.

Field goals let Browns top Giants

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Don Czekroft kicked four field goals in the second half, the last a 10-yarder with 2:54 to play, to lead the Cleveland Browns to a comeback 12-10 victory over the New York Giants Sunday.

Walt Sumner intercepted New York passes on its last two possessions to preserve Cleveland's win. He picked off one pass near midfield, then grabbed the other on the last play of the game.

Czekroft, who missed a first-half try from 30 yards out, hit from 11, 27, 30 and 10 yards in the second half as the Browns, playing their best football of the year, allowed the Giants no first downs in the third quarter.

The Giants had a 10-0 lead at the half with Pete Gogolak kicking a 20-yard field goal five minutes into the second period. On New York's next possession, Norm Sneed threw a 20-yard touchdown pass to Bob Tucker.

The touchdown pass climaxed an eight-play, 61-yard drive with Joe Orduña running four times for 22 yards as the Giants nipped the ball well.

Bengals beat Chargers 20-13

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Ken Anderson and Essex Johnson teamed on touchdown pass plays of 7 and 38 yards Sunday as the Cincinnati Bengals eased past the San Diego Chargers 20-13 although losing quarterback Johnny Unitas became the first NFL passer to reach the 40,000-yard mark.

Both TD passes were short ones with Johnson sneaking unimpeded up the middle and then outracing the Chargers' secondary after catching the ball from Anderson, the Bengals quarterback.

The win gave the Bengals a 2-1 record in the AFC Central Division and a tie for second place with Cleveland, while San Diego's mark dropped to 1-2.

Trailing 20-3 entering the fourth quarter, the Chargers scored on an early 13-yard field goal and an 8-yard touchdown pass from Unitas to Bob Thomas with six minutes left. But the Bengals ran out all but 47 seconds of the clock before missing a field goal.

Bears thump Denver 33-14

DENVER (UPI) — Bobby Douglass threw five yards to Earl Thomas and 34 yards to Jim Harrison for touchdowns and Harrison scored another on the ground Sunday to lead the Chicago Bears to a 33-14 victory over the Denver Broncos, the first win of the year for the Bears.

The Bears also scored on field goals of 12 and 10 yards by Mac Percival and 47 and 32 yards by Czechoslovakian Mirro Roder.

Denver scored both its touchdowns in the fourth quarter after falling behind 30-0.

John Hadl leads Rams to easy win over 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — John Hadl connected on his first five passes, including a 39-yard touchdown toss to Harold Jackson, and Cullen Bryant dashed 93 yards on a kickoff return for another TD Sunday to spark the Los Angeles Rams to a 40-20 demolition of the San Francisco 49ers.

Division of the National Football Conference with a 3-0 record. The 49ers dropped to 1-2.

Hadl alternated his pinpoint passing with the running of Jim Bertelsen and Larry McCutcheon in an explosive 17-point second period that gave LA a 27-0 bulge at intermission.

Los Angeles rushed for 223 yards with Bertelsen netting 61 yards in 16 carries. Hadl finished with 8 of 11 completions for 118 yards to keep him the NFL's No. 1 passer.

It was the sixth straight victory for the Rams over their upstate rival and placed Los Angeles solidly atop the West.

The Rams' tough defense, meanwhile, intercepted three of John Brodie's passes to blunt 49er drives. They turned one of them into a field goal and another into Tony Baker's one-yard TD plunge with 3:34 remaining.

Redskins throttle Eagles 28-7

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Sonny Jorgensen fired two touchdown passes to Charley Taylor Sunday to guide the Washington Redskins to a 28-7 triumph over the Philadelphia Eagles.

After Vic Washington's touchdown gave the 49ers a 7-3 lead, Bryant took the ensuing kickoff and dashed 93 yards for a TD to give the Rams a 10-7 lead on the final play of the opening period. Bryant took the ball on the seven, ran up the middle, and then veered to his left down the sidelines.

Linebacker Chris Hanburger returned a pass interception 55 yards to set up the third Redskins TD on a one-yard smash by Larry Brown, who carried the ball six straight times for 19 yards after the interception, and Ted Vector returned another interception 34 yards for the final touchdown with 30 seconds left in the game.

David Ruy of the Rams booted field goals of 16, 19, 27 and 25 yards. Vic Washington tallied the 49ers first TD with two seconds remaining in the opening period on a one-yard plunge and tight end Ted Kwalick hauled in a 20-yard scoring pass from Steve Spurrier with 1:55 left for the other 49er touchdown. Bruce Gossett kicked field goals of 35 and 24 yards.

In addition to his touchdown runs, Morris scored set a Dolphin team record with his total of 108 yards on 15 carries. Cypriot kicker Garo Yepremian, who carried Miami to its only other victory this season two weeks ago against San Francisco with four field goals, scored with kicks of 40, 40 and 36 yards.

San Francisco's first score was set up when John Watson recovered Bertelsen's fumbled punt on the Ram 36. Brodie then hit Gene Washington for 35 yards on the next play to place the ball on the one and set up Washington's TD.

Colts edge winless New Orleans

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Running backs Don McCauley and Lydell Mitchell ground out a game total 242 yards, eating up the clock in the second half, as the interception-prone Baltimore Colts held on for a 14-10 win over the New Orleans Saints Sunday.

McCauley picked up 105 yards in 40 carries and Mitchell went for 133 yards on 22 carries for a personal single game high in the Colts' first win in three games. The Saints' record dropped to 0-3.

Colts quarterback Bert Jones, 7-for-16 in the air for 91 yards, was hit for four interceptions and raised the season total against him to nine. All four pickoffs came in the second quarter, one of them setting up a Saints touchdown with 3:39 remaining in the first half. Jones threw only two passes, both incomplete, in the last half.

Norm Bulanch, an 80-yard TD pass that pulled the Eagles into a 7-7 halftime tie. The Redskins defensive line sacked Gabriel six times in the second half and kept the Eagles from mounting any other scoring threat.

Jorgensen pressed into the starting role after the Redskins lost to St. Louis last week, moved his team 65 yards for the go-ahead touchdown the first time Washington had the ball in the second half.

Steelers score easy victory over Oilers

HOUSTON (UPI) — Terry Bradshaw ran for one second half touchdown and tossed a 26-yard scoring pass to Ron Shanklin to spark the undefeated Pittsburgh Steelers to a 38-7 victory over the hapless Houston Oilers Sunday.

Dan Pastorini tossed a 7-yard touchdown pass to Mack Alston in the second quarter for the winless Oilers' only score.

Glenn Edwards raced 86 yards with an interception of a Lynn Dickey pass to score the final Steeler touchdown late in the final period. The alert Steeler defense which led the NFL with 20 interceptions last year, nattered three stolen passes into 134 yards and two touchdowns.

Behind 7-6 at the half, Pittsburgh scored on its first possession after the intermission. Pastorini, who had a 40.1 punting average, booted 27 yards to the Steeler 44. Bradshaw hit Frank Lewis with a screen pass and the wide receiver stumbled to the Oiler 11. Bradshaw picked up 10 on a keeper before his one yard scoring burst.

Bradshaw scored on a one-yard keeper and hit Shanklin with his fourth touchdown pass of the year 3:36 later in the final period. Roy Gereln booted field goals of 20, 47 and 26 yards and linebacker Andy Russell rambled 45 yards with a pass interception for the other Steeler scores.

The victory gave Pittsburgh a 3-0 record and dropped the Oilers to 0-3.

Bills upset Jets 9-7 with kicking

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (UPI) — John Leybold kicked two field goals of 42 yards each and one of 20 yards Sunday to lead the Buffalo Bills to a 9-7 upset over the New York Jets before a sell-out crowd at the Bills' new Rich Stadium.

Leybold's final field goal at 13:06 of the fourth quarter proved the winning points for the Bills as the Jets tallied their touchdown with only two seconds left in the game when Al Woodall hit on a 34-yard scoring pass to Jerome Barkum.

Buffalo had driven from its own 20 to the Jets' 35 to set up Leybold's final field goal. With fourth down and about a foot to go, coach Lou Saban chose to go for the field goal instead of the first down.

Leybold missed a 34-yard field goal attempt in the second quarter and the Jets' Bobby Howfield missed a 39-yard attempt in the third quarter.

Leybold hit his first field goal from 42 yards out at 4:41

The Jets missed a chance to score in the first period when Rich Caster, who was all alone deep in Bills' territory, couldn't hang on to a Woodall pass.

Sam Adams wins at quad cities

BETTENDORF, Iowa (UPI) — Sam Adams became the first lefthander to win a tournament on the PGA tour in five years when he took the $100,000 Quad Cities Open by three strokes Sunday.

Adams, 27, from Boone, N.C., scored a final round 68 for a 72-hole total of 16-under-par 268, three strokes better than Kermit Zarley and Dwight Nevil.

The last southpaw tourney champ was Bob Charles of New Zealand in the 1968 Canadian Open. As it happened, Adams' best previous finish on the tour also came in the Canadian Open, last year when he was second.

The diminutive Adams picked up a $20,000 check for his efforts after entering the tourney, with only $7,000 in earnings this year.

Adams vaulted into the lead Saturday with a second straight seven-under-par 64, one of the best back-to-back performances in the history of the PGA tour.

Mets split twin bill to clinch division tie

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ron Santo's first-inning throwing error helped the New York Mets to a three-inning game and a 2-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday.

Santo was there for the Cubs in the eighth of the doubleheader, driving in Dave Rosello from second base with

Pirates remain in title race

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Richie Zisk and Jim Rooker each drove in three runs and Rooker pitched a nine-inning Sunday as the Pirates rocked Montreal, 16-2, eliminating the Expos from the National League East race and keeping their own flogging hopes alive.

Pittsburgh will play the San Diego Padres in a makeup game here tomorrow at 1:35 pm while the first-place New York Mets will play in Chicago.

Cardinals still have slim hope

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Rick Wise's four flawless innings of relief and Bernie Carbo's run-scoring double powered St. Louis past the Philadelphia Phillies 3-1 Sunday and kept the Cardinals, who closed the regular season with five straight wins, alive in the hectic National League's East Division race.

Giants edge Cincinnati 4-3

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Bobby Bonds hammered and singled and drove home three runs as San Francisco Giants' left-hander Ron Bryant notched his 21st victory with a 4-3 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds in the season finale for both clubs Sunday.

Sox fire Kasko as manager

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox fired Eddie Kasko Sunday and named former big league catcher Darrell Johnson to manage the club for the 1974 season.

Tigers defeat Yankees 8-5

NEW YORK (UPI) — Yankee Stadium closed its gates Sunday after the Detroit Tigers scored six runs in the eighth inning to defeat the New York Yankees, 8-5.

Chicago blanks Oakland 1-0

OAKLAND (UPI) — Bucky Dent walked with one out and the bases loaded in the top of the 10th inning Sunday, forcing across the game's only run and giving the Chicago White Sox a 1-0 victory over the playoff-bound Oakland A's.

Angels shutout Twins 3-0

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Young Frank Tanana pitched a two-hit shutout in only his fourth major league start Sunday as the California Angels closed out the season by blanking the Minnesota Twins 3-0.

an eighth-inning single for a 1-0 Chicago triumph, keeping alive their slim hopes for a tie for the division crown. But the Mets' second game win eliminated the Cubs.

The Mets' victory guaranteed them a tie with St. Louis and possibly with Pittsburgh if the Pirates can beat San Diego Monday for the lead at the end of the regular season, and the Mets could win it alone by taking one of the two season-ending games scheduled with the Cubs Monday.

If there had been any doubt that Santo's throwing error wouldn't give the Mets enough to win, Glen Jones hit his 10th homer after a walk to John Minner in the sixth.

Gene Cline started the rally by reaching first on Pohl's error, stealing second and scoring on Al Oliver's double. After Willie Stargell struck out, Rich Hebner was purposely walked and Zisk singled to score Oliver.

Manny Sanguillen walked, hitting the bases and pinch-hitter Dave Parker singled for two more runs knying losing pitcher Ernie McAnally, 7-9. Rooker's punt single off loser Steve Renko scored the fifth run before Dave Cash's single brought in another.

The Pirates added three more in the fifth on an error, a sacrifice and singles by Zisk, Sanguillen and Rooker. A hit batsman, a walk, and Zisk's third single produced a run in the fifth.

The Expos scored their second run in the eighth inning on a single by Hal Breeden, Singleton's double and Bocacella's run-scoring single. Rooker got out of the inning by getting Pohl on a fielder's choice and striking out Larry Fantz.

Bruce Kison, 3-0, will pitch for the Pirates tomorrow while the Padres will pitch Handy Jones, 6-1, who was recalled from the minors on June 16, pitched against the Pirates on July 20, but was not involved in a decision.

Wise, normally a starter, picked up the victory to improve his record to 16-12 by pitching hitless ball over the last four innings to protect a slender Cardinal lead in his first relief appearance of the season.

Lou Brock got things started for St. Louis when he led off with a double in the first inning and stole his 70th base, the second time in his career he has reached 70. After Phillies' starter Jim Lonborg walked Ted Sizemore, Bake McElreidy lifted a high sacrifice fly to right field to score Brock.

Bryant was working on a no-hitter with two out in the seventh inning when Tony Perez homered and Johnny Bench and Andy Kosco followed with doubles for the fly first two runs for the Reds, who passed the two million mark in attendance with a paid turnout of 50,776.

Dent walked with one out and the bases loaded in the top of the 10th inning Sunday, forcing across the game's only run and giving the Chicago White Sox a 1-0 victory over the playoff-bound Oakland A's.

Carlos May singled to open the 10th and went to second on another single by Billy Sharp. Ed Herrmann moved them along with a sacrifice and after Brian Downing was passed intentionally to fill the bases, Dent worked Darold Knowles, the last of four A's pitchers, to a full count before walking to score May.

Steve Stone went the first nine innings for Chicago and struck out 12. He retired 24 batters by a row before Gene Tenace beat out a hit to third leading off the bottom of the 10th. When Pat Barque followed with a walk, Cy Acosta relieved Stone and set the Sox's down.

Kasko, who has one year remaining in his current two-year contract, has accepted a scouting position in the Boston organization. He sat out Sunday's final game of the season against Milwaukee in owner Tom Yawkey's field box at Fenway Park, while coach Eddie Popowski directed the team.

In four years as Red Sox manager, Kasko directed the team to second place twice, including the runner-up position to Baltimore in this year's American League East race. The Red Sox finished third twice under Kasko.

Johnson, 46, first became a minor league manager in 1963, following a lengthy major league career as a catcher with the New York Yankees, St. Louis Cardinals, Philadelphia Phillies, Chicago White Sox, St. Louis Browns, and Baltimore Orioles.

Hank Aaron fails in bid to break home run record

ATLANTA (UPI) — Hank Aaron managed three hits but lost in his race to catch Babe Ruth's home-run record this season Sunday when he was stopped in the homer derby by Dave Roberts and Don Wilson, who pitched the Houston Astros to a 5-3 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Although he failed to hit a homer, the crowd of 40,317 received a small consolation in watching Aaron finish the season with a .301 batting average. His three hits in four at bats enabled him to reach the 300 mark for the 14th time in his 20-year career. He had 98 runs batted in for the season.

Ralph Houk decides to resign as Yankee head

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ralph Houk, who won three straight pennants in his first tour as New York Yankees manager but went 0 for 2 the second time around, resigned Sunday with two years to go on his contract.

The crowd gave Aaron a standing ovation when he went to his leftfield position to start the ninth inning and Aaron acknowledged the warm reception by waving to the fans.

Red Sox edge Milwaukee 3-2

BOSTON (UPI) — Danny Cater scored from first base after catcher Charlie Moore threw the ball away in disgust following a disputed play at the plate in the eighth inning Sunday as the Boston Red Sox tripped the Milwaukee Brewers, 3-2, in the final game of the regular season for both clubs.

Roberts, who has given up five career homers to Aaron, was not at all enthused about the prospects about giving up the historic one and pitched the Braves' slugger accordingly. The victory was Roberts' 17th of the season, a club record for left-handers and he had said after Saturday night's game that he would pitch around Aaron if he had to in order to protect his win.

Tommy Harper tugged up from third on a short fly to center with two out in the eighth and slid around Moore's tag on the peg from outfielder Wilbur Howard. Moore turned around to argue with home plate umpire Bill Kunkel then threw the ball toward the third base dugout and Cater came all the way home from first.

The Astro players tried to make a joke of Roberts' challenge against Aaron by posing a clipping of Roberts' picture on his locker with an inscription, thanking Roberts for all the home runs he had hit off him. It was signed by one of the players who forged Aaron's name to it.

The victory was managed by coach Eddie Popowski, who took over the club for the final day after Eddie Kasko was promoted to the post of executive scout.

Roberts, however, did not take too kindly to the jest and in the first inning, he glared out to right centerfield when Aaron came to bat and motioned to Wilson to go back to the Astros bullpen. Wilson had walked out near the right centerfield scoreboard in hopes of catching an Aaron homer.

US imports more Australian beef

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American cattlemen and consumers, who look at imported beef supplies with different eyes, can expect a stepped-up flow in coming months from the nation's largest foreign supplier, Australia, an Agriculture Department report indicated Saturday.

Just how much impact the gain could have remains uncertain, since overall imports of beef amount to only about 7 per cent of U. S. consumption. Also, most imported beef is a lean "manufacturing" type, used mainly in hamburger and processed foods.

But whatever the effect may be, the new report said the U. S. can expect a bigger proportion of Australian exports this fall and winter than earlier in the year.

From last November through May, the report noted, total Australian beef exports boomed to 686 million pounds, 43 per cent ahead of a year earlier. But within that total, exports to the U. S. increased only moderately, rising 8 per cent to 318 million pounds. As a result, the U. S. share of Australian shipments fell to 46 per cent from 61 per cent a year earlier.

Phillip L. Mackie, trade specialist for the Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS), said the shift came because Australian shippers moved away from the U. S. in some cases to higher-paying markets in Japan and Europe.

Recently, however, Australian exporters have been turning back toward the U. S.

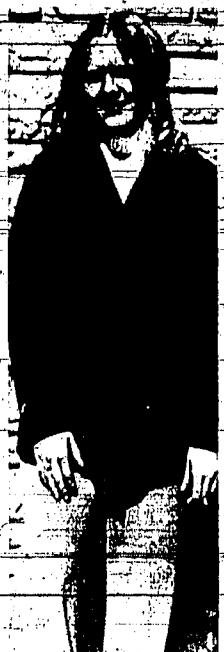

market, Mackie said this is partly because a larger supply of current Australian production is coming from areas producing "manufacturing" beef. But a slackening of European demand and possible revival of import controls in the European Common Market have also been factors, he said.

"It now looks as if the United States will receive a total of 700 million pounds of Australian beef in the 1973 season, or 51 per cent of total exports, compared with 669 million pounds, or 62.5 per cent, in 1972," the report predicted.

Overall, U. S. beef imports this year are currently expected to total about 1.45 billion pounds. Mackie's report added that imports from New Zealand, which had been running above year-ago levels earlier in the year, were likely to slacken in the next few months.

Both countries currently have an open door to the U. S. market, since government import controls on fresh, chilled, and frozen beef have been suspended for the year in an effort to help hold down prices for American consumers.

U. S. cattlemen oppose the wide-open policy, but they have been comparatively quiet about the import issue in recent months, with cattle prices soaring to record levels through August. On the heels of recent sharp declines in cattle prices, however, complaints from producers about the rising imports may increase.

New uniform

TWIN FALLS High School Pep Club vice president, Jan Casperson, models the new blue-blazer uniform which the group will appear in at homecoming activities Friday. Game time with the Nampa Bulldogs will be at 8 p.m. The homecoming parade, which will be routed through the downtown mall, will start at 2:30 p.m.

Sugar quotas raised

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Moving to hold down domestic sugar prices, the Agriculture Department Friday raised the 1973 U. S. sugar consumption quota by 100,000 tons. Officials said they will seek most of the extra sugar by an unusual first-come first-served marketing invitation to foreign countries.

The action brings the 1973 quota to 11.6 million tons. Under normal circumstances, this country accepts foreign sugar only from countries holding import quotas in the regulated U. S. market. But officials said Friday's action allows importation of 82,773 tons of raw sugar by November 16 "on a first-come, first-served basis from any sugar producing country other than Cuba and southern Rhodesia."

Officials said countries which have quotas will get priority if they seek it. But they said the unusual procedure was needed to assure prompt shipment of extra foreign sugar to help stabilize U. S. prices.

Part of the increase in the marketing quota will be filled by boosting the quota for the Louisiana-Florida sugar cane growing area by 17,333 tons. Officials said the U. S. sugar beet area would be unable to fill its share of the consumption quota increase, and 47,667 tons "deficit" became part of the 82,773 tons to be sought from foreign countries.

In addition, the department said, a deficit of 106 tons was declared in quota shipments from Paraguay. That, too, became part of the 82,773 tons which may be shipped by other foreign suppliers.

Sugarbeet curly top studied

KIMBERLY — A new research center established here by Betaseed, Inc., will work on methods of combating "curly-top" disease in sugar beets.

Dr. John R. Stander and Karl-Holm Korston, who have recently joined the center's staff, have the assignment of breeding beet hybrids with improved resistance to the disease.

Standar has farmed and raised beets in the Blackfoot area. He holds a doctorate in plant breeding from Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., and bachelor's and master's degrees in agriculture from Utah State University.

Korston, from Neldersachsen, Germany, comes to Kimberly from Germany where he has worked in polyploid beet breeding. He is a specialist in techniques involved in chromosome doubling in plants.

Ag group supports motions

CHEYENNE (UPI) — A land-use policy to "preserve and protect agricultural lands" was one of several recommendations passed by the National Association of State Departments of Agriculture (NASDA), State Agriculture Commissioner Jack Hertzler said Friday.

"Resolutions dealing with land-use policy, predator control, exporting of agricultural products and fuel shortages were prepared by leaders of state departments of agriculture from the 50 states," Hertzler said.

Hertzler said in addition to the land-use policy, the NASDA meeting at Portland, Maine, urged the Environmental Protection Agency to "act immediately to approve registration on M-44 coyote control devices, including use of cyanide, 10-40 and astyehnine."

The organization also encouraged agricultural exports to help offset trade deficits and balance of payment problems, and asked the U. S. Department of Agriculture to develop and issue exporting information understandable by the "average consumer."

"To help the fuel shortage," Hertzler said, "the group gave strong support to immediate construction of a pipeline to Alaska."

Gem wheat farms find ears short

BOISE (UPI) — Eastern Idaho farmers are finding a shortage of rail cars is causing problems in getting their produce to market.

"The rail car shortage has plagued much of the Pacific northwest and many cars were shifted to the Great Plains to take care of soybean and corn transport to Gulf Coast ports."

In the Idaho Statesman Saturday, a story quoted Idaho Wheat Commission administrator Harold West as saying farmers in the heavy production area from Rexburg north are "still trying to harvest."

The story said although there was no fear now that the strong wheat market will fall, the shortage of storage space has added to the problem of moving eastern Idaho wheat to Portland to meet contract provisions for delivery.

West said that while much eastern Idaho wheat is usually shipped to California, there is a tendency this year to ship it to Portland because of the big export market.

Wild mustangs transferred

LOVELL, Wyo. (UPI) — Thirty wild horses and five colts will be removed from the Pryor Mountain wild horse range and transferred to private land, Rex Cleary, Bureau of Land Management (BLM) official, said Friday.

A selection committee will meet Oct. 12 to select applicants to care for the horses which will remain the property of the federal government.

"All successful applicants must agree to transport the horses from the Pryor Mountain range to where they will be kept, and to provide proper care and feeding," Cleary said.

The BLM official said excess horses are currently being rounded up to correct what he termed "severely overgrazed conditions."

Cleary said the capacity of the range is between 110 and 120, but the wild horse population currently stands at about 140 to 150.

Oil shale lease letting planned

DENVER (UPI) — The Interior Department will begin issuing oil shale leases in three Western states this fall, Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton said Friday.

However, Morton told a press conference that full-scale development of the nation's oil shale resources may not begin until the United States reaches the end of its "75-year fossil-fuel dependency period."

"I have no feeling of urgency to develop this (oil shale) resource," Morton said. He predicted the next 10 years would see only limited development to aid in research in the area. The lease-letting in Colorado, Wyoming and Utah could begin when a 60-day review period ends Oct. 30. Morton rejected demands from environmentalists Friday that the Interior Department extend the review period.

The secretary also turned down an earlier suggestion by Colorado Gov. John D. Vanderhoof that the federal government provide more help in dealing with social and economic problems connected with oil shale development.
