VP pick due tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon made his choice today for a new vice president and he will reveal the highly guarded secret on national television tonight.

The White House announced shortly before noon that Nixon had made his choice and would announce it in a national radiotelevision address at 7 p.m. MDT.

The nominee must be approved by Congress and the house leaders today rejected Senate recommendations for joint hearings.

Members of Congress, the Cabinet and the diplomatic corps — and possibly the nominee himself — will be on hand, Ziegler said.

Nixon spent the night at his Camp David retreat — where he has made some of his most important decisions. While there, he narrowed a long list of recommendations to succeed Spiro T. Agnew to five names, Ziegler said.

After seven hours' sleep, he made his choice this morning before returning to Washington, Ziegler said.

Informed sources said that among the final five names considered up to the last minute were John B. Connally, Nixon's former treasury secretary and former Democratic governor of Texas; New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and former Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

While identity of Nixon's choice was kept secret, it was learned that it definitely would not be House Republican Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan, a favorite of many GOP congressmen. Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott told reporters that Nixon advised him that his choice was a person who "may not jump to mind at first thought."

Zoners to rewrite ordinance

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — The proposed new Twin Falls County zoning ordinance reportedly will be referred back to the zoning commission for amendment.

When the county commissioners will take the action appears to be the only question remaining.

In a meeting of the zoners Thursday night, county officials stopped just short of conceding that the controversial ordinance will be put back in the lap of the zoning commission.

"I think it's obvious it's going to happen," said L. James Koutnik, chairman of the zoners. County Commission Chairman William Chancey first said, "I think this will come about." He later said the commissioners want to attach the "pros and cons" of public input "when we send it back."

The zoning commission is already gearing up for the return of the ordinance.

Koutnik read a letter in the public meeting

Thursday calling for the formation of a citizen's advisory committee to aid the zoners in amending the ordinance.

"We are asking you (committee members) to submit a set of specific recommendations for our consideration as to exactly how this problem of the canyon rim and development in the area can and should be solved," Koutnik's letter stated.

Proper use and development of the Snake River Canyon Rim is the most controversial issue that must be resolved in the new ordinance.

"For the purposes of your preliminary organization, I am asking Dave Mead to act as temporary chairman of this group," Koutnik said.

Koutnik asked 11 other persons to set on the committee: Ella Nelson, Anne Swope, Eleanor Burkhardt, Paul Detweiler, Charles Brumbach, Warren Barry, Lyle Frazier, Dale Riedesel, Dave Armstrong, Lee Barnes and Bob Willis.

Koutnik said the committee will represent a "cross section" of opinion on the rim issue.

Israelis threaten Damascus outposts

By United Press International

An Israeli armored spearhead drove steadily forward on the road to Damascus today in bitter fighting through a battlefield bathed in smoke from artillery, tankfire and aerial bombardments. Israeli pilots reported shooting down 26 Arab MIGs in the biggest one-day kill of the war.

An official Israeli spokesman said the Israeli tanks, moving down a winding, two-lane highway, had broken through Syrian defense lines and were moving "at a high speed." A later report said they were advancing slowly but "permanently" against heavy resistance.

Syria maintained a virtual blackout about the armored battle and communications said merely that "fierce tank and artillery battles are now going on between our forces and enemy forces in the northern sector of the front." But one Beirut newspaper's front-page headline called it "The Battle for Damascus."

Unofficial reports said the lead tanks had pierced to within less than 30 miles of the 4,000-year-old Syrian capital and almost to within artillery range of the army base at Katana, described as a large military installation protecting the city.

"Our breakthrough threatens the road to Damascus," an Israeli spokesman said. Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said Thursday the offensive might all but knock Syria out of the war by nightfall but that was "before today's heavy resistance."

The Syrian communiques reported many Israeli planes shot down today — they and the Egyptians had claimed 391 out of Israel's estimated 488 combat aircraft by late afternoon.

Israeli military spokesmen said the Syrian pilots were having trouble finding places to land because their airfields were shattered.

EPA backtracks on TF sugar plant standards

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — The Federal Environmental Protection Agency has retreated from its earlier stringent zero discharge standards for the Amalgamated Sugar Co. here.

Whereas the EPA had previously required Amalgamated to achieve "zero discharge" of pollutants into Rock Creek by July 1, 1975, the requirements have been changed to permit only an 80 per cent reduction.

Late last June Amalgamated officials protested in a public hearing that enforcement of the zero discharge standards would mean closure of their Twin Falls plant. They characterized the standards as "impossible."

Johnson said the new requirements follow new national guidelines for the sugar industry and would begin to take effect Oct. 21, unless Amalgamated requests another hearing to challenge them.

The standards, based on the number of beetles sliced by the plant, require that "biological oxygen demand" — a measurement of waste that uses up oxygen and suspended solids discharged into the river by Amalgamated be reduced 80 per cent from a current total of 15,000 pounds per day.

By Sept. 1, 1974, Johnson said, the daily maximum waste discharge standard will be 7,500 pounds and by Sept. 1, 1975 it will be 3,000 pounds.

Alan Hainline, publicity director for Amalgamated Sugar Co., told the Times-News the industry plans to comply with the new EPA standards.

Hainline said construction of settling ponds, installation of an experimental water treatment pilot plant and use of a clarifier were steps the company has taken or is now taking to come up with an eventual "closed" water system which will comply with EPA regulations.

Crowded TF classrooms hinder teacher effort

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls teachers increasingly find crowded classrooms here a hindrance to effective teaching.

"Now-a-days the youngsters are used to more freedom. In order to teach the children you must be able to hold their attention," said Norma Hellewell, fifth grade teacher at Morningside School.

But, Mrs. Hellewell believes, crowded classrooms make it difficult to teach in a manner that holds the pupils' interest.

The individual creativity stressed by our culture is difficult to achieve in packed classrooms where discipline must be emphasized to retain order.

The school bond, up for the vote Tuesday, proposes addition of 12 new elementary classrooms. Two four-classrooms would be added to Harrison and Morningside elementary schools at a cost of $600,000 and four classrooms effectively would be added by building a new 24-classroom elementary school north of the high school to replace Washington School.

Inability to give individualized attention to students is the primary result of overcrowding, according to Mrs. Hellewell and other teachers at Morningside and Harrison elementary schools where 36 to 38 students per class is common in the upper grades.

"Aside from the physical fact of not having as many bodies (in the classroom), I manage to help every student for a significant period of time every day," Harrison teacher Marsha Eden said, describing the advantage of teaching a smaller class. Mrs. Eden taught a sixth grade class of 30 students last year and is now teaching 22 second graders.

Everyday Mrs. Eden is able to check each child's work to see if the child understands the day's lessons. When she had 36 students, there was not enough time to do this, she said.

Also, the smaller class makes flexibility more possible. Fewer students means there is room in the class to change desk patterns. "We don't teach them to think in a straight line all the time... changing the desks every once-in-while lets them use their imagination and initiative," Mrs. Eden said.

Gen board agrees to reinstate 5 aides

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho State Board of Education Thursday agreed to the reinstatement of five University of Idaho College of Agriculture workers terminated because of a "financial exigency" at the school.

Three worked in Twin Falls.

The board's action is contingent upon the school's receipt of either federal or state supplemental funds by Jan. 1, 1974.

The five men are part of a group of nine that was terminated last spring. According to university officials, the other four men have been reassigned other college jobs or have secured outside employment.

The board action apparently ends an appeals process initiated by part of the group last spring. A special appeals board at the University of Idaho recommended last month that five of them be rehired. It made its recommendations to University President Dr. Ernest Hartung, who made his recommendation to the board Thursday.

The five men who would be reinstated, according to the board motion include Gene Carpenter, Twin Falls, assistant research professor; John J. Kolar, Twin Falls, associate research professor; Dr. Norman Waters, Parma, assistant research professor; Fred H. Gilbert, Twin Falls, former livestock specialist; and Floyd Gephart, former Idaho County agricultural extension agent.

Of the five, only Carpenter, Kolar and Waters entered formal appeals to their terminations.

One other man, Gene Rinebold, was excluded from reinstatement in the board's action because university officials said he had been offered another research position — with the university and turned it down.

Rinebold sent a telegram to board chairman Dr. John Swartley, Boise, however, disputing that claim. "This is to notify you that I protest the statement in Dr. Hartung's recommendation that I was offered a position with the University of Idaho and rejected it," he wrote.

But Hartung and college of agriculture Dean Dr. A. M. Mullins both said a registered letter had been sent to Rinebold earlier this year offering him the position.

The board action would reinstate the five personnel at rank, salary and status they enjoyed at the time of their termination.

Also part of the board's action was a recommendation that the university present it next June with a plan of budgeting for the fiscal year 1975-76, for the Agricultural Experiment Station and Cooperative Extension Service.

Information made available to the board also indicates the university has "moved" to implement some of the other recommendations of special appeals board that convened last May to discuss the case.

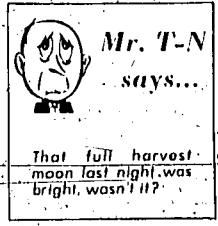

The college dean has been asked to review the processes of faculty consultation in the decision making at the college.

Study time sought

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho public utilities commission today requested more time to study a $4.5 million annual rate increase application from the Intermountain Gas Co.

The commission held a hearing on the matter earlier this week at which commissioners said they would most likely have a decision on the application within two weeks.

The commission said it has now determined that it should make a complete investigation of the application which cannot be completed prior to Nov. 15 — the date when the proposed new rates would have gone into effect.

Western Montana lawmen look for accused killer

HELMVILLE, Mont. (UPI) — Western Montana lawmen continued their search for Roger Caryl, 17, Decatur, Ill., who is accused of slaying four persons at a dude ranch north of here six days ago.

Powell County Sheriff David Collings said Thursday there have been no substantial clues, uncovered so far, but reports of stolen vehicles and sightings of Caryl from throughout this mountainous area are being followed up.

CSI to give up work study funds

TWIN FALLS — The college of Southern Idaho is going to give up about $5,000 of its federal work study funds this year to help out the state's other junior college.

Dr. Barry Shuler, North Idaho College president, told the Idaho State Board of Education Thursday that due to an error in application, his school was short about $15,000 in work study funds this fiscal year. Shuler told the board the shortage was due to advice a federal official gave one of the school's officials, but nevertheless the government would not permit reimbursement of the money.

As a result, Shuler said, he is seeking to make up some or all of the funds from other state institutions. The College of Southern Idaho, he said, has agreed to make $5,000 available, while Eastern Idaho Vocational School has agreed to "deobligate" about $3,000.

Shuler asked for and received board permission to speak with representatives of other schools in the state to see whether he could make up the $15,000.

He told board members work study money was appropriated to states and divided among the institutions. The result, he said, is that the state's other schools are receiving part of North Idaho's share.

bed, lawmen said. A "cache" of weapons was discovered Wednesday at the whitetail Dude Ranch where Caryl allegedly shot the four persons.

Caryl is still armed with a high-powered rifle with a scope which "could blow a man's head off at 500 yards," a deputy said.

The change in footwear apparently threw gunman shepherd trucking dogs off the scent and they have been relatively untraced. Planes and helicopters have been employed in the search, but to no avail.

Caryl is accused of shooting Samuel Atkins, 42, and his son Steven, 18, with whom he shared a cabin.

Then, according to authorities, Caryl walked the half-mile to the main house Sunday morning and shot ranch operator John Miller, 23 and the cook, Ruby Judd, 62.

Authorities have not released any solid information on a motive for the slayings.

INVENTORY REDUCTION 1/3 SALE! 1/2 OFF ALL MERCHANDISE!! EAST 5 POINTS STANDARD 840 Main Ave. South, Twin Falls

Remember last spring? Fall fertilization saves Springtime woes! Here's why... 7 Practical Reasons: 1. Fertilizer stocks are better, and faster delivery can be obtained. 2. You'll even up the spring rush work load, both in manpower and spreader equipment. 3. You'll save time, labor and money by combining fertilization with fall tillage. 4. You can take advantage of good fall weather and not have to worry about those spring storms and muddy fields which often delay fertilization for weeks. 5. You'll avoid compaction and rutting of the soil which often occur in the spring if fields are wet and boggy (the kind that bog down your tractor too!). 6. You can take advantage of lost, economical broadcast application. 7. Soil tests are easier to take in the fall, with results returned more quickly, allowing your Simplot dealer to give you better service. 8. And remember that fall fertilization expenses are deductible on this year's income tax return, even though the benefits will apply to next year's crop!

7 Scientific Reasons: 1. You will be sure of the quickest crop response in the spring with fertilizer already in the soil, dispersed evenly, immediately available to root systems. 2. The danger of seed damage at germination will be minimized. 3. You will be assured of maximum late fall and early spring growth on many crops — you'll utilize every day of the growing season. 4. Winter kill will be reduced by increasing root reserves. 5. Decomposition of crop residue will be hastened, adding additional nutrients to the soil and improving tilth. (Undecayed residue often interferes with seedbed preparation and planting, too.) 6. You'll be getting necessary N into fruit tree root zones at bloomtime when they need maximum fertility for early fruit maturity. 7. Fall fertilization, plus plow-down organic matter, will conserve moisture and aid in disease control. See him today!

When not to fall-fertilize: There are several instances in which fall fertilization is not recommended: Do not fall-fertilize steep, bare or frozen fields where topsoil might wash off or erode. Do not apply N in the fall to coarse, sandy soils. Do not fall-fertilize areas which water-log or pool in the spring when temperatures are warm. Do not fall-fertilize areas which slope more than 12%.

How much fertilizer should be applied? The amount type and rate of fertilizer to apply in the fall depends, of course, on such variables as the kind of crop, soil deficiencies, moisture level, management practices, etc. Your individual situation.

Fortunately, you do not have to figure out the technical details. You have a friend who will do it for you, gladly. Your Simplot dealer. It will do more than you realize. Help you test your soil, evaluate the results, and then, custom-plan a fall fertilization program for you, with YOUR crop, YOUR yield, and YOUR profit in mind. See him today!

THE PUPPET RAT and "being in a picture" vie for popularity at the conclusion of the Children Theatre's Family night performance Thursday night. The children all are in the cast of the "Pied Piper" which will be presented three times Saturday and Oct. 20 and at 4:30 p.m. Oct. 19.

Enthusiastic

'Pied Piper' off to good start

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — For a magical hour and a half the audience no longer was in the Vera O'Leary Junior-High School Auditorium, but transported to Hamelin town by famous Hanover city.

The boisterous audience, mostly guests of the Twin-Falls Altrusa Club, responded to the charm of the first Children's Theatre production of the season — a hearty theatre version of Robert Browning's famed "Pied Piper of Hamelin."

Oct. 20, again at 10 a.m., 2 and 7:30 p.m.
Donny Wentworth charms both rats and children with his graceful portrayal of the Pied Piper and Matt Frantz touches the heartstrings as the orphaned cripple boy shunted from one home to another for a week at a time.

Unlike the poem, which is a standard item in most children's collections, the theater version expands on Browning's preachy ending wherein the town loses its children because the council repines on paying the piper and shows as the townspeople become less selfish and begin to think of others the Pied Piper returns with their children.

While the Piper provides just the right magical touch, "freezing" the adults in their tracks and causing Willie to walk again, the real "true life" here is Mr. Kurt, the school teacher, played by Bryan Smith, who successfully forces the councilmen into action, then vainly tries to keep from them shunning their obligation to pay the thousand guilders, searches sadly for the Piper, but at last is rewarded not only with the hand of the councilman's daughter, but the red mantle symbolizing the office of mayor, played by Dr. Art Frantz.

Elaborate costuming and sets provide a rich background for the enthusiastic troupe which performed during Thursday night's "Family night" under the able direction of Beverly Sturgill, who not only directs but capably plays the part of one of the town's matrons.

First three performances are scheduled for 10 a.m., 2 and 7:30 p.m. Saturday, and again at 4:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 19, with the final three performances

$300,000 invested in oil well

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News writer
MALTA — About $300,000 has been invested in development of an oil well near Malta by a Texas firm, according to company officials.

Standard American, headquartered in Ft. Worth, Tex., has reached the 4,200 foot level in drilling efforts to find gas or oil beneath the ground about one-half mile north of Strevell.

The success of this well will determine further development in the area by the firm. "I can tell you, if we find gas or oil here, we'll have many, many rigs in the area," Al Griffith, Standard American official, said Thursday.

Griffith said the firm, which develops oil, gas and geothermal sources, expects to find either gas or oil in the area. The same drilling rig can be used for either fuel source, Griffith said.

Standard American has been surveying the area for about a year, he said, and it "looks really promising."

Anticlines, or folds in the earth's strata, are visible in the area, Griffith said, indicating pockets or traps beneath the earth's surface where oil or gas might accumulate.

The area probably hasn't been developed before because there was little need for new fuel sources, according to Griffith. Because of the current fuel shortage and energy crisis, "we are getting out and looking for new places which we didn't do before," he said.

The firm drilled two wells near Mountain Home but has plugged both of them before reaching the 10,000 foot level. One well was begun in December, 1972, and the other in April, 1973.

The drilling rig used in the Mountain Home operations has been moved to the well near Malta, Griffith said.

The firm plans to drill as deep as 8,000 feet in its search for the fossil fuels near Malta, according to drilling superintendent Ray Cottrell.

Yes vote urged on school bond

TWIN FALLS — Five speakers Thursday urged members of the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club to vote favorably for the school bond issue Tuesday.

The speakers were Dr. Howard Runk, chairman of the school board; George Staudaher, superintendent of schools; James Sinclair and Jack Muldoon, Kiwanis Club members, and Dan Slavin, a member of the citizens committee for the bonds.

The speakers said the $3.5 million would provide a much needed building program including a school to replace Washington school. The new school would be located on property north of the high school.

In other club business Dr. Julian O. Nicholson, M. D., and Richard H. Casper, CPA, were inducted as new members by past president Armour Anderson.

An announcement was made the club's annual peanut brittle sale, which provides more than $1,000 yearly for use in the organization's dental program, for needy youth, will be Oct. 25.

The Unpredictable Consequences Of The War

WASHINGTON — U.S. authorities fear that embittered Israeli forces may carry the war deep into Egypt and Syria, with unpredictable consequences for the inflamed region as well as for world stability.

The fear has been partly confirmed by Israeli air raids on the Syrian capital of Damascus, which apparently destroyed a Soviet cultural center, and led to a bitter Russian denunciation of the Israelis in the U.N. Security Council.

Authorities here cling to the belief that the Kremlin values detente with the United States too much to intervene in the spreading conflict, despite what might have proved to be an intolerable provocation under other circumstances. But they acknowledged it will make SEC. of State Henry Kissinger's task of seeking a big-power consensus to halt the war more difficult.

Foreign policy specialists detected a hint that the United States is seeking more than a mere end to the fighting in President Nixon's remarks in welcoming Ivory Coast President Felix Houphouet-Boigny. He mentioned "building a new structure of peace in the Mideast," and in the absence of concrete information about U.S. efforts, the vague statement led to widespread speculation that Kissinger might be working on a plan including proposals that go beyond a cease-fire. But the delicate diplomatic labors would be futile if the assessment of the Israeli attitude and spirit coming from Tel Aviv and Jerusalem is an accurate one.

It pictures the Israelis as being seized with a Biblical wrath for being attacked on a Holy Day and determined to retaliate with a vengeance. The Israeli "hawks," or hard-liners, who spurn any suggestion of compromise in the enduring conflict, have been strengthened by what the Israelis consider an infamous action by the Egyptians and Syrians. They will be doubly intransigent in the future, according to analyses available here.

The heavy cost being suffered by the Israelis on the ground and in the air could impose, restraints upon the Israeli commanders, some authorities believe. And stern diplomatic pressures from Washington and other friendly capitals might discourage Israel from carrying the war to Arab civilian centers, it is thought.

But authorities are not sanguine about Israeli willingness to stay within its borders when they clearly believe they may be in a fight for survival. When the Israeli military began to rule out a "rapid conquest," on the order of the six-day war in June, 1967, it suggested to officials here that the war could harden positions of both sides and set back peace attempts for another decade or two.

But the immediate worry is that Israel might put the United States and other friendly countries in an acute bind by expanding the war indiscriminately in an effort to break the will of the Arabs to continue the fight.

Foreign Aid Reality Shunned

WASHINGTON — On foreign aid, Congress continues to shun reality. It still refuses to give even a courtesy hearing to Arkansas Sen. Bill Fulbright, a man with an idea whose time came years ago.

For more than a decade Fulbright has been arguing against bilateral, or country-to-country, aid on the grounds it is a Cold War relic and notoriously inefficient. With steely logic, Fulbright has campaigned for a system whereby the "have" countries get together and jointly contribute financial assistance to the "have-nots."

The Senate snubbed him again the other day in passing a $1.2-billion foreign economic aid bill. It is hard to understand why even those knuckleheads who still believe Uncle Sam should save the world are not moved by Fulbright's aging proposal, especially this year. Never before has the United States been under such serious economic pressure from our foreign friends and enemies.

Quite literally, the United States no longer can afford to keep sending dollars to the so-called underdeveloped countries — some of which use the dough to develop the bank accounts of their rulers and kinfolks thereof.

Washington Monument and four-letter words, in print, why not make it an international project? Almost every other country in the world is now throwing its weight around to squeeze the American dollar by currency manipulations, oil politics and anti-U.S. votes in the United Nations.

If they've gotten all that big, they should be yearning to increase their international influence by helping to play Santa Claus. A multilateral assistance program would put an end to charges, some of them founded, that Uncle Sam uses foreign aid to shore up friendly governments and buy their cooperation against the Soviet Union and other nations with whom the U.S. does not always see eye-to-eye.

If, as President Nixon claims, we are approaching detente with both Russia and Red China, there is less need to keep foreign aid in our weapons arsenal. Besides, an international foreign aid consortium would give the Soviets and Red Chinese an opportunity to lend credibility to the claim that their role is to play beneficent Big Brother to the world's poor.

Multilateral aid also would be much more economical because the governments involved are a lot tougher than Uncle Sam. Washington tends to substitute mercy for justice when some tinpot dictator in Vietnam or Africa embezzles a few million dollars for deposit in a Swiss bank account. The jerk would not get away with that if some of the foreign dough was coming from Moscow and Peking and Paris.

There would be a consortium vote and the ayes would carry a motion to cut off funds forthwith, and maybe hustle the offender off to the hangman. Some critics have suggested that the foreign aid package be turned over to the UN. I shudder at the thought, and so I imagine do the Russians and Chinese and even the Albanians. As a body, the UN is too fond of spending other people's money, and the swollen bureaucracy required to get that outfit moving would bankrupt the whole program.

No, the solution obviously lies in a consortium of governments with an eye cocked to results. If enough countries are tapped for contributions, it might take a little longer to agree on the annual appropriation, but when the poor countries started spending said dough they'd find some hard-nosed cops looking over their shoulders.

Justice Douglas

Greta Garbo looks like a frantic publicity-seeker compared to Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

When Douglas agreed to give a lecture recently at a branch of Miami University of Ohio, his contract reportedly specified that there be no cameras or tape recorders present. If he so much as spotted one of these devices, said his agent, he would walk off the platform.

Not only that, there would be no news conferences before or after and no newspaper, radio or TV interviews — in fact, no media coverage or publication of his speech of any kind, though Douglas would permit note-taking.

The justice's topic, incidentally, was "Participatory Democracy."

MR. SPECTATOR

Christmas Tree?

The question is Christmas Tree? The answer is no — at least so far as the annual Christmas lighting contest is concerned in Twin Falls this year.

Due to the tight energy situation facing Northwest utilities this winter, the Idaho Power Co. has decided to refrain from participating in Christmas lighting promotions in all districts and divisions.

This request has been brought about, according to E. E. Haroldsen, division manager, not because of Idaho Power shortages, because they quite obviously have energy for Christmas lighting, but rather because of the extreme winter-shortages-affecting-winter-peak companies which should become most acute near the holidays.

So the annual Christmas lighting contest in Twin Falls, sponsored jointly by the Idaho Power and the Times-News and offering some $150 in awards, will not be held. Mr. Haroldsen and Mr. Spectator have done the "leg work" for the contest in past years so at least, in this case, it will mean a Yuletide rest for both of us.

In making the announcement, Mr. Haroldsen said the rule means the company WILL NOT participate in any of the following ways:

1. Endorsement or encouragement of lighted Christmas displays.
  2. Prizes for winners of lighting and lighted display contests.
  3. Decoration of Company offices except unlighted displays. The rule is in effect for the Christmas season this year. It might be different in 1974 but that's some 15 months away so we will just wait that one out.
- Now Mr. Spectator will be interested in — all things being equal — on how merchants handle lighted Christmas displays this year — and if, in downtown Twin Falls — the lighted displays on the Mall are on or off. Likewise as the shopping centers.

It really isn't too early for the merchants to make some kind of ruling or statement so we would all know what to expect.

Will the merchants — and those folks who in past years featured outdoor displays — keep it up this Christmas season or will they take note of the energy crisis and tone it down?

ANTI-DRUG WATCH

Amid much controversy, New York's tough anti-drug laws — the toughest enacted by any state — already are showing some positive effects. A survey of students attending eight colleges in the state revealed drug use has been curtailed, admittedly out of fear of getting caught.

The possibility of facing a life sentence for dealing in hard drugs such as cocaine, heroin or LSD has caused what few dealers remain on campus to switch to marijuana or other soft drugs. There are reports also that major dealers are beginning to transfer their business to other states where the climate may not be so hot.

That is the initial reaction. The new drug laws have been on the books only since Sept. 1, and they have not yet been tested in court. When they are, as they are certain to be, the eyes of the nation will be on the outcome.

If New York is successful in upholding its no-nonsense approach to narcotics selling, a stamped in the same direction by other state legislatures will be expected.

ART BUCHWALD

A Bushwacked Time Machine

WASHINGTON — Americans are groggy from keeping up with all the things happening to their government in the past year. So far, the people being blamed for this are the press, overzealous aides in the Nixon Administration, the Justice Department and the Senate Watergate committee. But Teobald Ratameyer, a computer expert, has another theory. He thinks the Time Machine is out of synchronization. He feels that unless someone gets it back in order we will never be able to sort out our troubles.

"As far as I know," he told me, "the time Machine was working perfectly up until the election. Nixon received his mandate and the machine has been programmed to give us a peace with honor soon afterward. But then someone fed Watergate into the machine and it's been acting erratically ever since."

"How do you mean?" "Well, for one thing, this is the first time in history that you've had gasoline rationing after a war was over. In fact it was only after we stopped fighting that we had shortages of any kind."

"That's correct. You have the question of the President being forced to give up his tapes, and you have the question of whether a Vice President can be indicted for a crime before he's impeached. In the past, the Time Machine has only given us one constitutional crisis every 20 years."

"That, in itself is a constitutional crisis," I said. "We've gone to the moon, but we can't heat our homes. And the higher the standard of living gets in this country, the more chance you have of choking to death."

"It's been weeks since King beat Riggs. If you don't stop talking about it, I'm going home to Daddy!"

(C) N. V. Times Service
 WASHINGTON — As early as Sept. 13 — and despite vehement later denials — Spiro T. Agnew informed the Justice Department through his lawyers that he was prepared to resign the office of vice president in exchange for an end of the government's criminal prosecution of him, sources close to Agnew said today.

Before that, he had vowed to keep his office and vindicate himself.
 After that, when stories were published that Agnew's lawyers were negotiating — or "plea bargaining" — for lenient treatment, Agnew broke off the talks and declared in an emotion speech in Los Angeles, "I will not resign if indicted."
 But for the last four weeks

Agnew's lawyers have been talking to the Justice Department with the explicit understanding that a vice presidential resignation would be a key element in any settlement of the criminal case against Agnew.
 The sticking point in the negotiations apparently is on questions of how much of the evidence against Agnew would be published, and how much wrongdoing Agnew would have to admit.
 In addition, it was not clear until last Tuesday morning that Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson would support Agnew's campaign to stay out of jail — or that Judge Walter E. Hoffman would concur and let Agnew go free.
 For Agnew and his lawyers, one of the principal virtues of the settlement was that fact that he was not forced to plead guilty and remains at least technically free to continue claiming his innocence of the corruption charges that the Justice Department was prepared to bring against him.

 After admitting tax evasion and making no resistance to a criminal conviction for that crime, Agnew's "innocent" claim is perhaps just a point of pride. But apparently it was an important one to him, one that he will insist upon publicly.
 Throughout the talks with the justice department, Agnew's lawyers represented that they were speaking for an innocent man. Again today, some of his lawyers were saying that the government had a thin case against him — based not on documents but on the testimony of barely credible witnesses. If the case had gone to trial, Agnew's lawyers claimed, he would have been acquitted.

FRANK MANKIEWICZ tells of split

Company 'tricks' Demos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern might well have carried California in 1972 if Republicans had not secretly owned a computer firm used by the Democrats, McGovern's campaign manager contends.
 Frank Mankiewicz told the Senate Watergate committee Thursday the McGovern campaign used a firm called Computer Idens because it had regularly done work for Democrats.

He said he did not know at the time that it had recently been bought by a group of businessmen headed by Herbert Kalmbach, President Nixon's personal lawyer.
 McGovern used the firm in the California primary. Into it he plugged the names and addresses of 95 per cent of the Democratic voters in the state, showing on a scale of one to five how they felt about McGovern.
 "That firm was either incompetent or worse," Mankiewicz said. "We found so much of our mail sitting around undelivered, and they made us a refund."

 The Democrats didn't use the firm for the November election and they left behind their computerized list of registered voters.
 "Now you can't win in California as a Republican without a lot of Democratic votes," Mankiewicz said. And, he said, the Republicans hid the lists of Democratic voters unfavorable to McGovern.
 Mankiewicz said he does not know if the lists were used by the Republicans. But he added "I believe quite firmly that possession of that list made the difference in November."
 Mankiewicz said he was convinced that either his telephone or McGovern's was bugged because within hours of their conversations "it would be public."
 He said there were more than 40 cases throughout the campaign of persons calling the news media, local business and political leaders and meeting halls falsely cancelling McGovern appearances.

 The committee recessed for two weeks.
 Meanwhile, a federal grand jury indicted Egil Krogh, a former aide to President Nixon who headed the White House "plumbers" unit, on two counts of perjury in Watergate testimony.

'Plumber' Krogh faces charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox got his first indictment Thursday when a federal grand jury charged former White House chief "plumber" Egil Krogh Jr. with two counts of lying under oath.

Gordon Liddy went to Los Angeles in September, 1971, to burglarize the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.
 Krogh later admitted ordering the burglary as part of the White House effort to find out more about Ellsberg, who leaked the Pentagon Papers to the press.
 Krogh's lawyer said he would plead innocent next week to the charges, which carry a maximum penalty of five years in jail and a $10,000 fine on each count.

For Agnew and his lawyers, one of the principal virtues of the settlement was that fact that he was not forced to plead guilty and remains at least

Mitchell's bid rapped

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Attorney General John Mitchell's request that the White House produce any tape recordings that might help him is a ploy to get the charges against Mitchell dismissed, the government said Thursday.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Thomas Edwards argued in federal court that the request for the tapes was made in the expectation President Nixon would refuse to turn them over on the grounds of executive privilege. Then, Edwards said, the charges would have to be dismissed because the government would have failed to provide material that could help a defendant.
 It is expected that many of the figures charged in the Watergate case will make the same argument about White House tapes.

Mock launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Less than one month away from their trip into space, the three Skylab astronauts participated in a mock lift-off Thursday afternoon.
 The scheduled Nov. 11 launch will be the third and final manned Skylab mission, ending another phase of the U.S. space venture begun a decade ago by President Kennedy.

Gem board agrees to reinstatement

 A member of the president's staff has been designated to work with the Agricultural Experiment Station to insure adequate budgetary and policy review at the university level before final recommendations are made by the college dean to the university president.
 The academic vice president has been designated to work with the director of the Cooperative Extension Service to assure adequate review at the university level.
 The faculty council has been asked to come up with recommendations which might eventually lead to greater clarification and administration of financial exigencies.
 In other business Thursday afternoon, board members resisted a move to rescind its policy on continuing to pay higher education employees who serve as state legislators. But they did agree to deduct a legislator's $10 per diem pay from his institutional salary.
 The board approved a policy several months ago that permitted instructors to draw their pay while serving in the legislature. Board member J. A. Alford Jr., Lewiston, told the board he thought it unfair to have persons serving the public interest needing to go to a "loan shop" at the end of the legislative session.
 Board members also approved requesting an amendment to existing state law dealing with out of state tuition for college and university students. Deputy attorney general James Harjris said the amendment will mean students are no longer barred from using their time in school to establish residency within Idaho, but that attending school won't itself qualify a student for residency.

 Harjris also said the amendment did not deal with residency within a junior college district.
 Board members also agreed to shift their priorities on the request for construction from the Permanent Building Fund Council.
 At the recommendation of board member Ken Thatcher, Idaho Falls, they halted their class 1 priority request of $1.7 million for a vocational building at North Idaho College, leaving a total of $981,000. They also included $2.5 million as first phase funding for a new Idaho State University Library in their class 1 priority.
 The request for second phase construction funds totalling $1.6 million for a CSI vocational technical building is further down the list, in the class 2 priority.
 The only other construction request directly affecting the Magic Valley is one for $548,000 for a new University of Idaho Twin Falls Extension and Research Building. That building is far down on the priority list, however.

Appeal made for war end

(c) Chicago Daily News
UNITED NATIONS — Sec. Gen. Kurt Waldheim, after a five-day silence has made a mild appeal for an end to the Middle East war as Israel and the Arabs exchanged bitter accusations that each side was killing civilians indiscriminately.

The "terrible war" that has caused "appalling human losses," Waldheim said at a U. N. Security Council meeting Thursday night, could be turned into a "starting point for a new effort at a real settlement" if the combatants agreed to stop fighting.

"None of the parties," he said, "is prepared to concede its objectives either military or political." But, he warned, the "gravest consequences" for the "world community as a whole" could result if the fighting is not soon stopped.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban, while reporting his country's troops were making deep incursions into Syria and holding their own on the Egyptian front in the Sinai Desert, offered to accede to a cease-fire with troops pulling back to the positions held before the new war broke out Saturday.

But Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohamed El-Zayyat, speaking for the Arab world, raised his voice in indignation before the 15-member council: "This is humiliation and this is domination... Egypt finds no serenity in military occupation. There is never going to be serenity for Egypt or Syria if their lands are occupied."

He accused Israel of "deliberately aiming its bombs and 'booby traps' at civilian targets, charging the Israelis with responsibility for at least 500 Egyptian civilian deaths in the Nile delta area."

Syrian Deputy Foreign Minister Zakaria Ismail bolstered the Egyptian charges with accusations that Israel was using napalm bombs against the Syrians, a report supported by the U. N. truce supervisory organization military observers.

Press critical

(c) N. Y. Times Service
BEIRUT — Reports of new American shipments of arms to Israel have touched off critical comments about the United States in the Arab press.

There are no signs of a hate campaign similar to that waged during the 1967 Middle East war that led to riots and the evacuation of Americans from Lebanon and Iraq. In fact, the censored press and broadcasting stations in Cairo and Damascus, as well as the uncontrolled outlets here, have been moderate in their tone since the outbreak of war last Saturday.

In the last few days, however, criticism of the United States, some of it subtle, has begun to appear, even in the politically independent and usually pro-western publications here.

From the beginning almost every element of the Arab press has praised the Soviet Union's support of Egypt and Syria and arms, and in the United Nations.

UN hears appeal

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — More than 20 countries appealed to the United Nations Thursday to "seat the exiled Cambodian government" of Prince Norodom Sihanouk and expel the Phnom Penh government.

The 25-nation General Assembly steering committee rules today on whether or not to send the proposal to a full assembly session for consideration.

Panel overrides defense cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House-Senate conference committee has wiped out nearly all of the cuts in defense spending which the two branches of Congress, acting separately, had voted in recent weeks.

The conferees Thursday approved a $21.3 billion arms procurement budget for 1974 that was almost a billion dollars above what the House had voted, and $300 million over the Senate figure.

Major items restored after being cut by one house or the other included:

- $300 million cut by the House, from a $917 million force troop cuts in Europe if the allies refuse to pay more to support them.
- The measure, which still needs the approval of both houses before it goes to President Nixon for signature, gives the administration nearly all it asked for, including $1.1 billion to buy arms for Indochina.
- As a whole, it is only $650 million less than the original Pentagon request of almost $22 billion.

request to buy 77 F15 fighter bombers for the Air Force.

- $75 of $100 million slashed by the Senate from the Air Force B1 supersonic bomber program. It now stands at $150 million.
- $29.3 million cut by the Senate from the Navy sea control ship program.
- In addition the conferees succumbed to hard lobbying by the Texas delegation and approved $70.1 million the Air Force had not even asked for to buy 24 A7D attack jets. The Texans sought the money to keep a Ling-Temco-Vought production line in Dallas from shutting down.

Services set

TWIN FALLS — Beginning Tuesday, nightly evangelistic services will be conducted at the Eastside Southern Baptist Church, 204 Eastland Dr. N. Services continue through Oct. 21 with Rev. E. W. Jenkins, Asheville, N. C. Each night's service begins at 7:30 p.m.

Dedication services will be held Oct. 19 for the new church building. The public is invited to attend all of the services and especially the Oct. 19 dedication program.

Fuel oil shortage aired

BEIRUT (UPI) — Petroleum sources warned today of possible critical fuel oil shortages in the United States and Western Europe if the Arab states decide to brandish an "oil weapon" in the latest Middle East war.

The sources said fuel oil shortages had been expected in the United States and Western Europe this winter even before the new Arab-Israeli war flared up.

harded oil terminals at Baniyas on Syria's Mediterranean coast although the sources said pumping of Iraqi crude to the port is continuing.

Iraq has nationalized the 25 per cent share of the Basra Oil Co. held by two U.S. companies Exxon and Mobil Oil.

Kuwait has called for an urgent meeting of the Arab oil-producing nations "to reassess" their attitude toward oil deliveries to the West.

however, The oil-producing countries have a lot more money in the bank now than they did in 1967. They also find the United States the country they really want to hurt—in a more vulnerable position.

They said oil deliveries from the Arab world are already slowing. The pipeline that delivers oil from Saudi Arabia to a terminal in South Lebanon is carrying 50 per cent less since the outbreak of fighting.

Officials of Tipline, which runs the pipe system, said the reduction was ordered because of potential losses if cut during the fighting.

Israeli gunboats have ham-

A three-month cutoff of supplies in 1967 hurt only the Arab states. Supplies were resumed because the West had not suffered and the Arab countries, frankly, needed the money.

The situation has changed.

Peace not seen

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union said today it had done its "utmost" to keep the Middle East from erupting into war but peace was "unthinkable" now unless Israel gave up the occupied Arab lands.

An article in the Communist party newspaper Pravda was written by "An Observer," commonly considered to be a statement of policy by the party Central Committee. It reiterated the Soviet condemnation of Israel's "expansionist policies."

The Soviet Union and other Socialist nations did their utmost to put out the smoldering flame of fire and liquidate the consequences of Israeli aggression and to establish a just peace in the Middle East, the article said.

Floods kill 4 in Oklahoma

ENID, Okla. (UPI)—Four persons, including a retired Air Force sergeant who drowned in his living room, have died as the result of floods caused by 15 inches of rain falling in less than 12 hours.

Officials believe more bodies may be found in today's search.

The damage to houses and businesses is believed to be in the millions of dollars from the rains that struck Wednesday night and Thursday.

Officials said more than 65 persons are missing in this town of 43,000.

Gov. David Hall made an aerial survey of the area Thursday and immediately asked President Nixon for federal disaster funds to help rebuild the city.

The Red Cross and police led a survey Thursday morning showing 28 houses destroyed, 270 others with major damage and another 250 with minor damage, four mobile homes destroyed and 30 businesses destroyed. Police Capt. Dennis McFadden said 75 percent of the homes in the city received some water damage.

Three drowning victims were found by Thursday night and an Illinois woman was killed in a hit and run traffic accident during the blinding rain storm.

Much of the devastation occurred along the normally dry bed of Biggley Creek, which in places rose to the rooftops.

The creek normally is more like a dry gully. A diversion channel built around the normal creek channel in the late 1950s helped prevent more flood damage.

Cars were stacked three and four deep in the parking lot of St. Mary's Hospital. One car was in a tree, and others were turned upside down.

A large oil field pumper truck was used to remove water from the basement of the hospital, where 180 patients were treated by candlelight after power was knocked out.

Administrator John McMillen obtained emergency rations for his patients by rousing a supermarket manager from sleep before dawn Thursday.

Controls cause problems

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (UPI)—A high level panel of business economists said today that wage-price controls "are producing many serious economic disruptions."

The economists, who act as consultants to the prestigious Business Council, also forecast a major slowdown in the economy next year but one that would fall short of an outright recession.

The Business Council consists of chief executives of about 150 of the nation's biggest corporations. In its semiannual economic outlook, the council said it expected the economy to expand by only 2.5 per cent in 1974 compared to an estimated 6.1 per cent in 1973.

"An actual recession is not anticipated," the council said. The estimated growth rate next year, however, would be less than the 3.5 per cent average increasingly counter-productive and are producing many serious economic disruptions. They did not cite examples, but complained that the government stabilization program has aggravated supply shortages and discouraged expansion in industries operating at capacity in the business community.

On the price side, the economists predicted only a modest slowdown in the inflation rate—5 per cent for all of 1974 compared to 5.7 per cent this year, as measured by the Consumer Price Index.

The chairman of one major corporation said action the Federal Reserve Board takes to regulate the money supply "in the next 90 days will determine whether we have a recession."

The businessman, who asked not to be identified, said the central bank's policy of keeping money plentiful while allowing interest rates to soar has been a key source of inflation.

In their report, the economists expressed "a strong conviction that government price controls are becoming

The action came after nearly three years of consideration of proposals from several meat processors and a West Coast trade association.

Cosmetics must list ingredients

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) today ordered cosmetics makers to list all ingredients, except for trade secrets, on product labels so consumers with allergies or other problems will know what they're buying.

Shoppers may not notice much difference for some time, however, since the agency gave the industry until March 31, 1975, to use up its present stock labels without such lists.

The FDA also announced that it had established a system whereby cosmetics manufacturers will be able to tell the FDA of complaints they received from consumers about their products.

The reporting, however, is entirely voluntary on the part of the industry.

And in a further development, an FDA spokesman said the agency is working on a proposal that may require cosmetics labels to carry warnings if some of the ingredients have not been safety tested.

The warning label would probably advise buyers that the overall safety of the product had not been determined.

No definite timetable for that proposal, however, has been established, the spokesman said.

TF woman gives trip review

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: For the last year I have employed an excellent clothing woman who has also done my laundry. She is immaculate, quiet, and hasn't missed a day's work. She is the sole support of several fatherless children, so I have been extremely generous in giving her leftover food and even collecting children's clothing from my friends for her youngsters.

From time to time I've missed a few items. Panties, hosiery, towels. Nothing very valuable.

Suddenly she shows up wearing a pair of silver hoop earrings which looked familiar. I went to my drawer, and sure enough, mine were missing!

I asked her where she got the earrings, and she said she couldn't remember. Abby, I know they are mine! Now I am wondering if I should ask her to give me my house key and tell her why I don't want her to work for me any more.

Employer wonders

I feel so guilty considering such a thing because I know how much she needs the money. So what should I do?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: The woman is apparently simple-minded or she never would have worn in your presence the earrings she stole from you. Tell her you know she has been stealing, but if she returns the stolen items and promises not to take anything else, you will give her another chance. If she accepts those terms, keep her. And if she flips again, send her on her way.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister lost a full-term baby. He was born dead. We sent a sympathy card addressed to her and her husband. They were offended.

My father in law told me you shouldn't send sympathy cards in a case like this. Tell me, Abby, were my husband and I right or wrong?

DEAR UNION-TOWN: You were right.

DEAR ABBY: When our children misbehave, which isn't very often, my husband spansks them severely. And I mean he really lays a heavy hand to them.

Worse yet, for a long time afterwards he keeps threatening to give them the same treatment if they don't behave themselves. This causes the children to feel nervous and frightened most of the time, which makes them resent him. I've noticed the resentment growing lately.

Abby, how can I let him know that the spanking alone is sufficient punishment and his constant threats are neither wise nor necessary?

And how do you like this kind of behavior from a man who has two college degrees and a father who used to beat him up?

HISTORY-REPEATING ITSELF

DEAR HISTORY: History need not repeat itself. Tell father that his punishment is cruel and excessive and it is damaging the relationship between him and his children, so to cut it out. And it might not hurt to have your husband examined physically and mentally. Two college degrees don't give one immunity from illness.

CONFIDENTIAL TO OLD-TIMER IN PALM BEACH: Before you put down the youth of today, read this: "Our youth now love luxury. They have bad manners, contempt for authority; they show disrespect for their elders, and love chatter in places of exercise. They no longer rise when elders enter the room. They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up their food, and tyrannize their teachers."

[Socrates wrote that in the 5th Century, B. C.]

The duplicate game was over and for once the unlucky expert had won. Even more remarkable was the fact that he had been playing with his wife.

"It was all due to the Jacoby transfer," he explained. "There were three hands where I opened no-trump and was able to play in my wife's major suit, but the real clincher was board seven."

"We looked at board seven. Four spades down one, played by either North or South, was the final contract at every table but the one where Mrs. Unlucky Expert had played and made three no-trump.

"For once we were interested. 'Please explain,' we asked.

He was all too happy to oblige. "She opened one no-trump. We were playing Jacoby transfer and there was no way that I could get to play the hand in spades. She really mangles suit contracts and since four spades appeared to be a normal contract I decided to put her in an abnormal three no-trump. Maybe something good would happen to me for once."

"It certainly did this time. In spite of the 8-4 spade fit there are exactly nine tricks for declarer at either spades or no-trump. We can't recommend our friend's bidding for everyday practice but it certainly worked this time.

Episcopal church makes confirmation voluntary

By WILLIAM WILLOUGHBY
(c) Washington Star News
LOUIS, Ky. — The bishops of the Episcopal Church have voted to alter the church's practice regarding the 400-year-old sacrament of confirmation — a ceremony in which a bishop prays that a church member will be "strengthened for Christian service by God's Holy Spirit."

Confirmation has been the means by which an individual became a full member of the Episcopal Church. As recent as three years ago a Christian was not permitted to celebrate communion in the Episcopal church until after confirmation. This practice had been followed for some 400 years.

The bishops approved an entire new rite for trial use. It makes confirmation voluntary rather than mandatory as a prerequisite for admission to holy communion. Confirmation also may be repeated.

The action is expected to gain the concurrence of the House of Deputies and thus become an official part of the church's practice.

Under the old rite, Christians confirmed in the Roman Catholic and Eastern Orthodox Churches were "received" into the Episcopal Church instead of being reconfirmed since their rites were understood to mean essentially the same thing.

Under the new trial use, baptism alone will be regarded as "full initiation" into the life of the church. Unlike in the past, no new spiritual gifts or graces are considered to be imparted at confirmation. Confirmation thus becomes merely a time of Christian commitment.

In another action the lay and clerical orders which make up the House of Deputies endorsed the bishop's action on liberalizing the marriage canons, but refused to go along with the bishop's retention of the excommunication proviso of the current canons.

The clergyman and laymen, by a margin of 4 to 1, asked that the bishops reconsider excommunication.

Zoners OK rim request

By DAVE HORSMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Convinced of Lynwood Development Corporation's good intentions, Twin Falls County zoners Thursday recommended commercial zoning of the firm's planned 33-acre canyon rim development.

The zoners previously had planned to recommend the Lynwood project as a Planned Unit Development (PUD) under the proposed new county zoning ordinance.

The PUD designation would have required Lynwood to follow detailed, county-approved specifications in all stages of construction. No deviation from initial PUD plans would be allowed in the future.

But in recommending a commercial zone for the development, the zoners gave Lynwood wide latitude in allowed project uses.

Under the current zoning ordinance, commercial zones permit, in part, light manufacturing facilities, trailer courts, second-hand furniture stores, bars and beer parlors, farm and contractor's equipment sales yards, and carnivals, penny arcades, rodeo grounds and other similar amusement businesses.

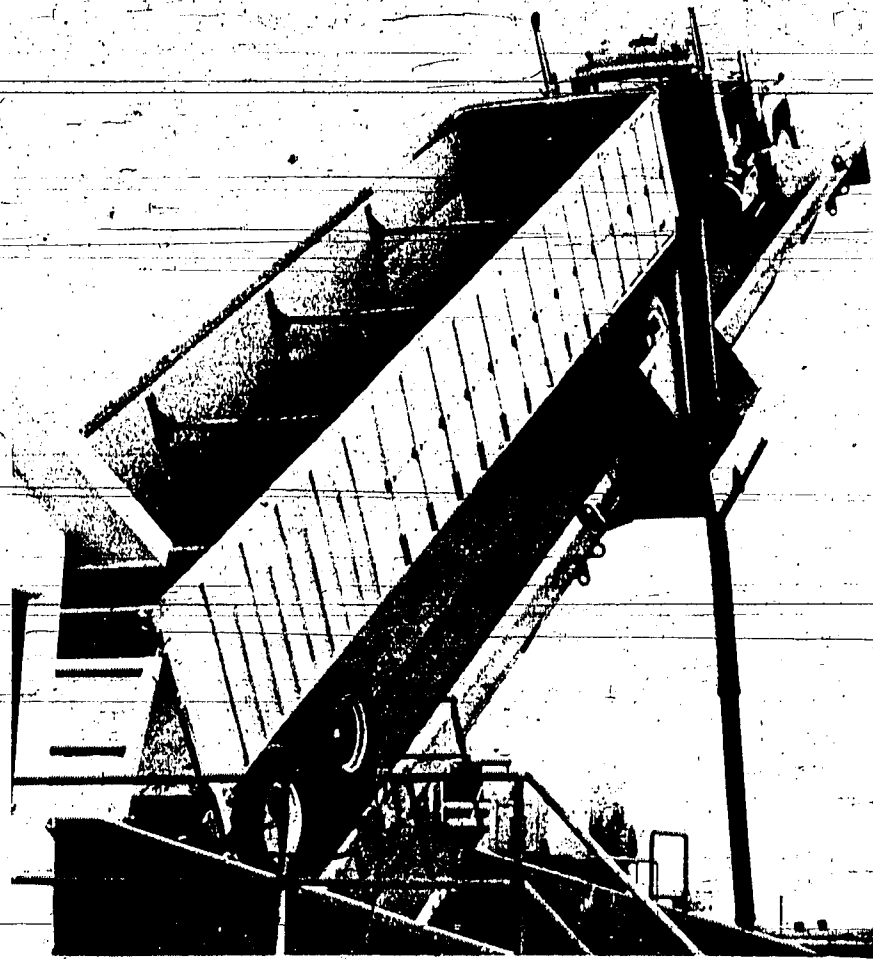

The move on Lynwood's project marked the first snag in county zoning since action on the proposed new zoning ordinance was stalemated by procedural mistakes.

The Twin Falls County Commissioners are holding the new law, considering methods of incorporating public sentiment on development of the Snake River Canyon Rim.

John Bishop, president of Lynwood Corp., assured the county zoners that announced plans for the development would be closely followed.

He reviewed a blueprint of the 33-acre project with the zoners Thursday. The plans call for a large motel on the rim, with condominiums to the south and commercial offices along Blue Lakes Boulevard.

The county zoners voted 8-2 to recommend commercial zoning of the Lynwood property to the county commissioners. James Brennan and Corning Lanting dissented in the vote.

Heyburn reinstates p.m. curfew

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News Writer

HEYBURN—The Heyburn City Council decided to reinstate a 10 p.m. curfew in the city following receipt of a petition Wednesday night.

About 20 Heyburn residents had signed the petition asking that the curfew, which has recently been discontinued, be reinstated. No specific problems were listed leading to the request.

The council voted unanimously to begin ringing the siren at 9:50 Monday night to warn youngsters 16 and under to be off the streets by 10.

Reflecting energy conservation measures being adopted in other area towns, the council decided the city Christmas lighting would be used only on a limited basis this year.

The lights will be turned on only from 5 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. each day. The lighting will be used between Dec. 26 and Jan. 2.

Energy conservation papers, distributed by local electrical utilities, will be made available in the city office to encourage residents to conserve energy in their homes.

Councilman Bob Hamilton reported that the new city building and post office are expected to be finished by the end of this year.

City employees are helping with the addition to the present city office, which will house the new city offices, and the remodeling of the present building, which will be used for the post office.

The council unanimously accepted a revenue sharing check of $7,886 for the first quarter of the fourth period. No discussion was held on use of the funds.

The first reading of a new city ordinance closing I. Street next to the Riverside Cemetery was held.

The street has not been used for several years and will revert to the cemetery if the ordinance passes on the third reading.

Residents of Heyburn are being billed for irrigation water through the city this year instead of through the county. Bills have been sent out, it was reported, and are due to the city by the end of the year.

Certified public accountant Neil King presented the 1972 audit to the council, which accepted the report unanimously.

Beet truck unloaded as Amalgamated season begins

MV sugar 'campaign' under way

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Amalgamated Sugar Co.'s sugar production got into full swing Thursday after a shaky start.

According to district production manager Bob Day, Amalgamated's shift from gas to coal in its pulp drying plant, electrical problems and other "normal" season starting difficulties delayed the company's operation from scheduled full production Tuesday to Thursday.

Day said the company's production "campaign" this year will run about 100 days, compared to 144 days last year.

He pointed to a 13.5 per cent reduction in sugar beet acreage as the reason behind the cutback.

In addition to the regular sugar production season, he said, the company will operate another 30 days on the production of syrup.

Day said the reduction in sugar beet acreage was the result of other crops being more lucrative to the farmer.

With the end of the price freeze on Sept. 10, Day said, the company increased its sugar prices by 14 per cent. He estimated that the price increase would allow the company to be competitive with other crops again, with a corresponding rise in sugar beet acreage next year.

Days said the Twin Falls plant is now bringing in all its beets by truck, eliminating the need for scarce railroad cars. He said the Twin Falls area is suited to the use of trucks, allowing the company to transfer railroad cars normally used in Twin Falls to other factory sites.

Day said by Monday the company will complete its conversion to coal in its pulp-drying operation. He said the conversion was necessary because of allocations by gas suppliers which would have put Amalgamated in an uncertain position.

Day said the coal will be crushed and burned in suspension and that the smoke from the furnace will be cleaned by newly installed wet scrubbers.

Day said a soda ash shortage which has required the factory to go on allocations for the syrup purifying agent will not slow the company's production.

Crowded classes hinder learning

Margaret Hawksworth, who teaches a large class at Morningside, believes overcrowding, both stymies student participation and encourages goofing off. "A lot of work in the classroom is geared toward small groups," she said. Working in small groups enables every student to join in discussion.

However, in classrooms bulging with desks, physically setting up the small groups is difficult.

Crowding increases the discipline problems, Mrs. Hawksworth said, because the kids sit so close together that "they are constantly poking each other." Also, she said, there is no place to move a child so he can be by himself.

"If you are happy to just stand up in front of a group, you can teach 100 students and it won't make any difference. You can toss out knowledge by the bucketful. . . . But if you care about the children you want to get it down to a small enough level to know whether they are learning or not by the look on their faces," Frances Anderson, principal at Harrison Elementary, said.

Crowding at Harrison School is especially bad for fifth graders who are packed into classes with 30 students, Miss Anderson said. Class size averages around 25 students for first and second graders because there are four classrooms available for each grade. However, because only three classrooms are available for each of the four other grades, class sizes become significantly larger.

The situation at Morningside school is quite similar: the upper grades are filled with as many as 38 children in a class, according to Dennis Messenger, Morningside principal. The first and second grades are not so crowded because four classrooms are available for each grade.

Twin Falls District Supt. George Staudacher said the bond's proposal to add four classrooms to both Harrison and Morningside schools would make it possible to achieve class size averages of 27 students throughout all six grades. With four more classrooms Morningside and Harrison would each have 24 classrooms total, or four classrooms for each grade.

Four additional elementary classrooms would be gained by building the 24-classroom new elementary school to replace 20-classroom Washington school, another bond proposal. With a planned enrollment of 600, about 25 students per classroom would be the average.

Classrooms crowded with 38 children are common at Harrison and Morningside elementary schools.

Grant approved

WENDELL — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, today announced approval of a $160,500 grant to the city of Wendell from the Environmental Protection Agency.

Sen. Church said the grant will be used for the expansion and upgrading of the city's existing lagoon facilities as part of a water and sewer project.

City engineer Hugh Hedges said specifications for the project will be drawn up and bids called for about Nov. 8. Work will be done in stages as long as weather permits. Hedges said the project has been held up over a year waiting for the federal funding.

Hedges said the water tank, recently installed, is ready for painting the week of Oct. 22. Installation of water mains will be done next, he said.

He will draw up specifications for labor involved in placing the mains. These bids will also be opened Nov. 8. The city already has the necessary materials.

Mayor Eugene Soares reported receipt of a $5,040 Revenue Sharing check which has been budgeted for the water tank, water main project.

Bliss water 'fowled'

BLISS, Idaho (UPI) — Pigeons in the drinking water?

A report confirmed just that Thursday about Bliss water tank. But a district engineer for the Department of Environmental and Community Services said the tank had been drained and flushed.

Jim Runsvold said the old Union Pacific Railroad tower from which the city gets its water supply had breaks in the roof and pigeons had apparently died and fell in.

The city bought the tower from the railroad company 20 years ago for $1.

Runsvold said a lab analysis of the water in July had revealed high levels of bacteria.

"They've been drinking it for years, and it's evidently been the same," he said.

Hailey accepts property deed

HAILEY — An about 22.1-acre school site was added to the Blaine County School District Thursday with a presentation of the property deed by McCulloch Properties Inc. officials.

The school board had formally accepted the donation, valued at about $300,000 by a unanimous vote Monday night. The site is located in the northeast corner of the 650-acre Woodside development, Hailey.

The district has also applied for about 40 acres of Bureau of Land Management land adjacent to the newly deeded acreage for possible combination for use as a new high school site.

Participating in the presentation ceremony, conducted at the school site, were Robert P. McCulloch Jr., president of McCulloch Properties Inc.; Horace Self, Woodside project manager; Supt. Wayne Fagg, Blaine County School District, and board member Mark Patterson; Hailey Mayor Lawrence Heagle and councilman Charles Dunn, and John Barton, Wood River High School principal.

Supt. Fagg said with the present property prices in Blaine County the donation was "a tremendous asset to the proposed high school building program."

McCulloch termed the site an "ideal location" for a high school because of its level ground and good access. The development, he said, will also provide utilities — including underground power, water and sewage — to the property line, which would normally cost a district about $250,000.

Junior miss named

RUPERT — Ronda King won the crown and a $300 scholarship at the Minidoka County Junior Miss pageant Thursday night before a capacity crowd.

Teri Harding was named first runner-up and will be awarded a $100 scholarship; Toena Knodel was second runner-up with a $75 scholarship, and Susan Klepper was third runner-up with a $50 scholarship. Julene Garner was chosen Miss Congeniality and will receive a $50 scholarship.

Sixteen girls participated in the contest, competing in poise and appearance presentations, physical fitness routines and talent presentations before a capacity crowd at the Minico High School auditorium.

Miss King will represent Minidoka County at the Idaho Junior Miss Pageant in Moscow on December 8-15, trying for a chance to compete next spring in the national Junior Miss contest.

Miss King is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern King. She presented a vocal solo at the pageant.

Review maps

HORACE SELF, left, manager of the Woodside project, and Robert P. McCulloch Jr., president of McCulloch Properties Inc., review maps of a 22.1-acre school site and present the deed for the land to Blaine County School superintendent Wayne Fagg and Mark Patterson, far right, board member.

Paul man listed good

PAUL — Daniel Stapelman, 29, Paul, is reported in good condition today at Cassin Memorial Hospital of injuries received in a two-vehicle accident Thursday morning a quarter mile south of Paul.

Sheriff's officers said the collision occurred on State Highway 27 when Emil Reidlinger, 67, Paul, pulled out of a driveway into the path of Stapelman's car.

Reidlinger was cited for failure to yield the right of way. Damage to his pickup was estimated at $800 and to the Stapelman car, $1,200.

Man charged

KETCHUM — A Boise man has been charged with driving while intoxicated and possession of a controlled substance. Ketchum Police officers said James Ivan Thompson, 19, was arrested early today by police. He remained in custody this morning in the Blaine County jail.

6 nominated

KETCHUM — A slate of six candidates has been nominated for one-year terms on the Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

The floor will be open for additional nominations and an election will be conducted during the November chamber meeting. After the election, the board will select a new president who will be announced during the annual installation program in December.

The nominees include Ed Pilkerton, Lamar Tobias, Ernest Bengoechea, Ruth Lieder, Gilbert Farr and Bill O'Neil. Retiring president serves as the seventh board member.

Gooding man hurt

KETCHUM — Robert R. Fredericksen, 34, Gooding, was treated and released from Moritz Community Hospital after being involved in a one-vehicle accident north of Ketchum.

A Blaine County deputy said the accident occurred about 5:30 a.m. Thursday one-half mile south of the Galena Tourist Center. The officer said Fredericksen apparently fell asleep. His truck left the roadway, struck an embankment and came to rest on its side.

A passing motorist pulled the unconscious man from the vehicle and notified authorities, the deputy said.

Fredericksen was cited for inattentive driving. His 1960 truck was demolished.

Albion depends on write-in

ALBION — Albion voters will have to elect their new mayor on a write-in ballot Nov. 6.

Joe Carlson, the only candidate for mayor of Albion, withdrew his name Wednesday. Carlson signed an affidavit authorizing his name to be taken off the ballot. He was not available for comment.

Present mayor ODeen Redman had announced earlier that he would not seek re-election.

In Devo, voters face a no contest election. Only three candidates have filed for the three open council seats.

Incumbents Gale Gillette and Claude Valette will seek re-election to four years terms on the council. Arvil Voyce has filed for the remaining two years of the late Myrl Riddling's term.

Hunter pitches A's to AL championship

OAKLAND (UPI) — Iccman Jim Hunter, cool in the heat of a must situation, pitched a brilliant, five-hit shutout Thursday night to lead Oakland's old pros delivered the key hits as the A's won the game they had to once again, 3-0, over the Baltimore Orioles for their second straight American League pennant.

Mtn. Home harriers win title

BUHL. — The Mountain Home Tigers ended the long dynasty of Jerome and Wood River by winning the South-Central Idaho Conference cross country championship Thursday afternoon. Mountain Home won with 35 points, followed by Jerome at 41, Buhl 73, Wood River 85 and Filer 140. Mark Tappen of Buhl was the individual thist in 11:35.1 over the 2.1 mile course located in Snake River canyon. The other top 10 finishers were Singleton of Mountain Home; Walter, Jerome; Meyer, Mountain Home; Hoover, Mountain Home; Walker, Wood River; Nuss, Mountain Home; Weigle, Jerome; Marshall, Jerome, and Bartholomew, Jerome. Jerome took the jayvee division at 25 points while Wood River had 34 and Mountain Home 108. Wood River girls defeated Jerome 26-29 in the distaff division.

Rockland topples Dietrich

DIETRICH — The Rockland Bulldogs pined the sixth loss of the season on the thin Dietrich Blue Devils 44-18 Thursday afternoon. Rockland picked up four touchdowns in the first half, opening on a 30-yard pass from Blaine Ody. After that Dennis Dahlb scored on runs of three and six yards and Kent Walker scored on another three-yard burst. Dietrich got on the board when Ron Sorenson picked up a fumble and went 45 yards.

U.S. golfers reach semis

WENTWORTH. — England (UPI) — Americans Tom Weiskopf and Johnny Miller, respective holders of the British and U.S. Open titles, scored comfortable first round victories to reach the semifinals of the Bicentennial World Match Play golf championship at Wentworth today. Weiskopf, defending champion in this $75,000 event, beat Larry Wadkins 3 and 2 in their 36-hole clash, while Miller streaked home 4 and 3 against British Ryder Cup player Peter Oosterhuis.

man affectionately referred to as the money man by his teammates, was just that while sending the A's onto the World Series against the "miracle" New York Mets starting Saturday in Oakland.

Joe Rudi, one of Oakland's hottest hitters in the final month of the regular season, delivered the only run Hunter was to need on this day with a single to left in the third and then Tenace, last year's World Series hero, and mid-season pickups Vic Davallilo and Jesus Alou came through with consecutive hits after two outs in the fourth for two more runs.

The A's managed only five hits, all off young Doyle Alexander, but they proved more than enough and overshadowed a brilliant 4-1-3 two-hit relief performance by Jim Palmer, who shut out Oakland on five hits in the first game of the best-of-five Championship series.

For the A's, it was a revenge victory of sorts, making up for 1971 when they lost three straight to the Orioles in the playoffs.

A crowd of only 24,265 turned out for the deciding game of this year's playoffs and when Tenace squeezed the last out, many among them poured onto the field to congratulate their heroes.

Unlike the crowd in New York Wednesday, which caused a near riot following the Mets' clinching of the National League flag, the Oakland fans used to patting the A's good-naturedly on the back and dancing and singing in the infield.

Hunter, a 21-game winner this year, allowed only four base runners to reach as far as second. He struck out only one batter, walked two and hit one.

Buchanan rips Otero

TORONTO (UPI) — Scottland's Ken Buchanan, combining a stiff jab and devastating right cross, scored a sixth round technical knockout over American Frankie Otero in a scheduled 10-round lightweight bout, at Maple Leaf Gardens Thursday night.

Otero, game but thoroughly beaten, did not answer the bell for the sixth round. He had been knocked down in the first round and repeatedly staggered in every other round but the fourth.

T.F. sophs rip Pocatello

The Twin Falls sophomores breezed to their fifth win against one loss Thursday night by ripping Pocatello 46-6.

Gene Turley scored on a 36-yard jaunt and Earl Starry ran 11 for another TD in the first period. Turley opened the second period with a 26-yard run and Jeff Osborne threw to Joe Ward for nine yards to make it 26-0 at halftime.

In the third period Turley got his third score from 24 yards away and Tom Iik added another touchdown from the 18 to open the last period.

Pocatello then scored but Dale McFarland burst six yards for Twin Falls to wind up the evening. Turley kicked four points after.

Orioles root for A's in world series

OAKLAND (UPI) — The season is over for the Baltimore Orioles but they sound more optimistic than depressed.

Cursing in hushed undertones mainly because of their ineffectiveness against righthander Jim Hunter of the Oakland A's, the Orioles filed into their dressing room beneath the Coliseum Thursday and stripped off their uniforms for the final time in 1973.

"They proved they're the best club," said 22-game winner Jim Palmer who made only the second relief appearance of his career in hurling a 1-3 shutout innings

Thursday as the A's won the American League championship, 3-0, behind Hunter's five-hit pitching.

"I can't begrudge the A's anything. They won the game they had to win. They got the tough pitching when they needed it and they had guys like (Vic) Davallilo and (Sal) Bando pick them up. There's not a better club to represent the league in the World Series."

Manager Earl Weaver, who had guided the Orioles to four Eastern Division titles in his five years at the helm, will miss his first World Series after appearances in 1969, 1970 and 1971.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Certainly girls are more body conscious than boys. How many boys know offhand their chest measurements? Or their hip measurements? Not so many as the girls who can cite such statistics of their own, I'll warrant. Polls show the average man is more likely to know his hat size than his chest measurement.

Anything wrong with the notion that a girl ought to be able to ask a young fellow for a date? When the pollsters of Purdue put that query to numerous high school students, exactly 61 out of 100 frowned on the idea. And 69 out of 100 said they were opposed to the proposition that girls ought to pay half the expenses of a date.

COUNTERFEIT

Japanese experts claim their money is hardest of all to counterfeit. A municipal bus driver of lengthy experience insists the most ungracious and ill-mannered riders as a group are elderly women. Keys are left in the ignition of about half the stolen cars. Statistically, the older the women get, the less likely they are to think they look their age, surveys show. In Sweden, list the liquor business, too, as completely government owned.

Young lady, how much time everyday do you devote to fixing your hair, putting on makeup, that sort of thing? Exactly 28 minutes is average, I'm told.

Those car parts, expected to last only about three years include batteries, brakes, carburetors, clutches, generators, shock absorbers, starters, voltage regulators and water pumps. Or so an automotive expert tells me.

FLIRTING

As for flirting, listen, please, to Frederic Morton's observation on the matter: "What this country needs most is a return to the lost art of flirting. Yet flirting, while strictly a do-it-yourself project, lies outside the scope of how-to treatment. Unpredictable, irresponsible, it is beyond recipe. It thrives on the absence of elaborate intention. Full blown, it springs from the confusions of a spilled handbag on a jolting bus. But the flirt is not an operator looking for a pickup. At most he wants to make the girl on the next park bench smile. Flirting, to be quite precise, is an intimate game played by two strangers who have the imagination to linger over the prelude to desire."

Understand you don't have a single red cell in your blood that was there four weeks ago. Nor a single white cell that was there a week ago.

Remember, just $2,750 worth of pennies weighs a ton, about 17 1/2 crims in New York City to pawn a United States flag. Average household washes about a ton of laundry a year.

Warm Springs road responsibility resolved

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer
HAILEY — Contention over maintenance and snow removal responsibility for about a one mile unpaved stretch of the Warm Springs road west of Ketchum has apparently been resolved. The solution came after an hour-long meeting Wednesday between Blaine County commissioners; Clair Baldwin, US Forest Service, and about 10 Board Ranch residents. Also attending the session were Stephen W. Boller, county attorney; Wayne Fagg, school superintendent; Stratton Luggis, attorney for the district, and Wayne Loveless, Pocatello attorney representing the Board Ranch residents. The contention culminated when the district discontinued bus service to the ranch after the county and the forest service said they would not be responsible for snow removal. The road is owned by the forest service, but the county had plowed it for the last two years, with the plowing costs paid by the residents. At a Monday night meeting, the school board reinstated bus service through Oct. 22. At that time the board will review the matter and determine whether the service should be continued. An agreement reached Wednesday included the following points: — that the county will plow the road, subject to avalanche hazards. Commission Chairman C. W. (Andy) Gardner said the plow driver, with consultation with the forest service, would determine when such hazard existed and would discontinue plowing until the hazard abated. — That the parents of the school children sign an assumption of risk agreement with the school district and that all Board Ranch residents sign such a statement for the county. Gardner said road maintenance will continue to be conducted by the forest service.

Child abuse series set for TF faculty

TWIN FALLS — Discussion of child abuse is prominent among faculty in Twin Falls schools these days. The school district, together with the Department of Environmental and Community Services, and the state's attorney general's office, is sponsoring a series of workshops at each Twin Falls school on child abuse. According to the district's school psychologist Larry Watson, "This is one of the first cooperative efforts in the state between DECS and the school district to deal with this issue more effectively." The purpose of the workshops is threefold: to better acquaint teachers with how to deal with suspected cases of child abuse; to develop a referral system between the school district and DECS, and to help reduce the number of child abuse cases in the Twin Falls area. Begun in mid-October, the workshop sessions should be completed the first week of November. Besides Watson, the workshop team consists of Paul Smith, an assistant attorney general, and Kent Henderson, a DECS administrator. Topics being covered include the role and responsibility of the teacher and school, legal aspects of child abuse, identification techniques, referral procedures and the treatment program provided by DECS. Last year 200 cases of child abuse were reported in Idaho. Watson hopes a new state law making failure to report such cases prosecutable will make the problem more recognizable and easier to deal with.

TF burglaries solved by arrest of juveniles

TWIN FALLS — The arrest of two juveniles, ages 15 and 17, have cleared up some 19 burglaries in Twin Falls and Twin Falls County during the past two months, city police said Thursday. Detective Capt. Tim Qualls said the two young boys have been connected with home, business and car burglaries with the merchandise taken amounting to about $400 to $500. He also said a burglary of a vehicle parked near Maxie's Pizza Parlor and involving the theft of money was admitted by one of the boys but the department has no report of such a theft.

The 15-year-old allegedly committed five automobile burglaries, one house burglary, two business burglaries and a petit larceny in the city of Twin Falls, and a burglary and a grand larceny in the county. The 17-year-old, officers said, is alleged to have been involved with four business burglaries, one automobile burglary in Twin Falls, two automobile burglaries in Jackpot, Nev., and one at Pitzer during the fall. Both have been released to their parents and petitions filed in magistrate court under the Youth Rehabilitation Act.
