Percy offers compromise bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., Tuesday proposed a compromise bill allowing either house of Congress to prevent President Nixon from firing a new special Watergate prosecutor.
Percy said at a news conference he has doubts about the constitutionality of a competing bill enabling Federal District Judge John J. Sirica to appoint a successor for Archibald Cox as prosecutor.

House lifts DDT use ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House Agriculture subcommittee today unanimously voted to lift the ban on use of DDT on crop and forest lands to combat the spreading damage to trees by the tussock and gypsy moths.

Heart specialist White dies

BOSTON (UPI) — Dr. Paul Dudley White, 87, the world famous heart specialist who treated President Dwight D. Eisenhower after his 1955 heart attack and whose ideas revolutionized modern cardiac care, died today of the effects of a stroke.

Saxbe, Nixon confer about job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, conferred with President Nixon today and Senate sources said the senator would be offered the job as new attorney general.
Saxbe had conferred extensively previously, started last weekend, with presidential aides about the job and today for the first time talked directly with Nixon, starting at 10:10 a. m. EST.

Red grenade attack kills 8

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Guerrillas tossed a hand grenade into a crowded marketplace in downtown Phnom Penh today, killing eight persons and wounding 37.
It was the fourth attack in two days by the Communist-led Khmer Rouge rebels against predominantly civilian targets in the Cambodian capital.

Auto union sets GM strike date

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers has set a 10 a. m. Nov. 19 strike deadline at General Motors Corp., the last of the automotive "big three" without a new national contract.
Strike deadlines also were set for Nov. 16 at Ford of Canada and for Nov. 26 at GM of Canada. Woodcock said the deadlines were set so close together so none would fall near Christmas.

Carl Fugate term commuted

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Carl Ann Fugate, convicted as the accomplice of Charles Starkweather in a 1958 killing spree that left 11 persons dead in Nebraska and Wyoming, Tuesday won commutation of her life sentence though relatives of some of the victims objected.
The Nebraska Pardon Board reduced her sentence to 30 to 50 years, making her eligible for parole in 1976.

Aussie PM visiting China

HONG KONG (UPI) — Prime Minister Gough Whitlam of Australia arrived in Peking today on a state visit to China, according to the New China News Agency (NCNA).

Mideast combat fund bar asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., introduced legislation Tuesday to prevent the use of any federal funds to finance "directly or indirectly" any combat activity by the United States in the Middle East.

'Tricks' damage details told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's 1972 campaign manager said today the White House made political use of FBI telephone taps on telephones of two former Muskie advisers.
Bert Bernhard, a Washington attorney who served as the Maine senator's manager during his unsuccessful Democratic presidential campaign, told the Senate Watergate committee Republican "dirty tricks" were more damaging than the GOP has admitted.

Bernhard said the telephone tapping occurred when the Muskie advisers, Anthony Lake and Morton Halperin, were aides to Henry A. Kissinger, and continued when they later went to work for Muskie.
Bernhard said the taps were turned over to H.R. Haldeman, then White House chief of staff, and said Haldeman used them for political purposes.

The administration has acknowledged it wiretapped a number of Kissinger's aides for the purpose of finding the source of news leaks regarding U.S. positions on arms controls and other security matters.
"We were never able to understand how it was that there was so much conjecture in the press which seemed to relate to staff discussions on the issue of Vietnam," Bernhard said. "It is only now that some of it makes sense."

In 44 pages of testimony, Bernhard told of what he said were other dirty tricks including the theft from Muskie's files of a document so secret only two copies were made. He said the document drawn up in 1971 "reflected our entire political strategy."
Bernhard disputed previous testimony a presidential speechwriter, Patrick J. Buchanan, that the campaign of sabotage made no difference in the long run.

Halloween celebrants in full cry

TWIN FALLS — Small children will be out in force tonight for their annual Halloween trick-or-treat excursions. Police are urging motorists to watch for the small pedestrians.
Officers will also be watching for some "not so small" trick-or-treaters who observe the Halloween with such pranks as egg throwing and other vandalism.
This year United Nations International Childrens Emergency Fund (UNICEF) children will be seeking donations instead of candy to help less fortunate children in other countries.
High school officials said they have no plans for Halloween dances or special events because the day falls during the week and they do not want to encourage youngsters to stay out late on a school night.
Twin Falls Police Chief Frank Barnett said Twin Falls has a fairly good record involving heavy damage or accidents on previous Halloween nights. He said his department will attempt to retain that record this year with a number of additional officers on duty.
Barnett said seven National Guard vehicles with two men each will assist in Twin Falls. He of safety, rather than law enforcement, said their services will be largely in the interest Guardsmen will be on duty in other towns as well.
Barnett urged parents to make certain their small children are not wearing masks and costumes which obscure vision or hinder their ability to walk and run.
He also asked motorists to keep in mind the unusual number of small children who will be crossing streets and that some may not be able to see in all directions because of their masks.

Buhl crash kills TF woman

TWIN FALLS — One woman was killed and another is in critical condition today as the result of a head-on crash on U. S. Highway 30 three miles east of Buhl Tuesday evening.
State police identified the dead woman as Mrs. Nettie Hanes, 71, Twin Falls, driver of a four-door sedan traveling east toward Twin Falls. A passenger, Nellie Connerley, 74, Twin Falls, is listed in critical condition with a fractured pelvis, fractured leg, fractured elbow and crushed windpipe. She is being treated in the intensive care unit at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.
Cpl. Don Hiebert of the state police said Mrs. Hanes died shortly after being taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.
Listed in fairly good condition is the driver of the second vehicle, Norman Benham, 30, Challis.
Officer Hiebert cited Benham had passed one westbound vehicle and apparently pulled out to pass a second when his car collided head-on with the eastbound Twin Falls car. He said both cars came to rest in the center of the highway. None of the occupants was thrown out. Both vehicles were demolished.
The accident occurred about 6:30 p.m. directly in front of the Cedar sugar beet dump.
Cpl. Hiebert cited Benham for driving while intoxicated and said investigation of the accident is continuing.
Twin Falls sheriff's officers and Buhl police assisted in the accident investigation.

Idaho Head Start aides reject MV fund request

By BILL LAZARUS

TWIN FALLS — State officials have rejected a local request for funds to run next year's Head Start programs in Twin Falls, Cassia and Jerome counties.
The state cited program faults as the reason for the cut-off.
If funding can't be obtained before next year, the program, which now provides pre-school training for about 270 children in the three counties, would be discontinued.
In a four-page letter to officials of the South Central Community Action Agency (CAA), which is responsible for Head Start programs here, Head Start State Director Glenn A. Karn detailed numerous faults with the present program application and warned that until these "are rectified and justified, we cannot further process your grant application or recommend funding."
CAA Executive Director Bob Russell said if application is not accepted by the state office by (Continued on p. 13)

$1,300 in Jerome pay vanishes, audit shows

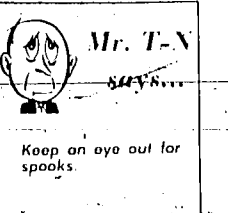

By DAVID ESPO
T-N Boise Bureau
BOISE — The Jerome School District claimed $1,300 for salary payments for its driver education program last year that "was not paid to anyone," according to a State Department of Education audit.
The audit also makes findings that are highly critical of the district's bookkeeping system and handling of the driver education program in general.
"The fiscal record keeping system was inadequate for accurate reporting for reimbursement as required by law," the conclusions said.
In addition, "Students' records were inadequate to verify actual classroom and behind-the-wheel hours as required by law."
Duane Kirk, head of the department's driver education program, said the district would be denied $1,300 this year to compensate for the improper claim it made a year ago. But he acknowledged he didn't know where the money went.

Kirk said he was told by one person in Jerome it had gone into the district's general fund account. But his supervisor at the Department of Education, Helen Werner, said a complete audit of the district's books would be necessary to find where the money went. She said the responsibility of the driver education audit had ended.
Kirk, who audited the department, spent three days in Jerome early this month. His report notes several "audit exceptions," most of them minor. The total amount overclaimed by the department, the report said, was $1,367.43, of which $1,327.50 was in three claims for salary payments.
The money was claimed as payment for 265 hours of driving instruction during evenings, mornings and on Saturdays at the rate of $5 an hour, according to the report. It also says district Supt. John Campbell "would assume full responsibility for the error," noting that he blamed the claim on a new driving instructor and new clerical staff.

Isaacs lose it all

HOLLISTER — Two trailer houses containing all the belongings of the John Isaacs family were destroyed by fire today.
None of the six family members was at home when the fire broke out from undetermined causes inside the larger of the two trailers.
Isaac, his wife and four children lived in the larger trailer. A smaller trailer beside it was used for family storage. Included in its contents were 600 jars of food recently put up by Mrs. Isaac.
A Filer Volunteer Fire Department truck was called to the scene, but the trailers were destroyed by the time it arrived.
Chester B&B, Mrs. Isaac's father, attempted to extinguish the flames with a garden hose but was unable to do so.

Real spook chills Illinois town's Halloween

(c) New York Times Service
MURPHYSBORO, Ill. — Mrs. Nedra Green was preparing for bed in her isolated farmhouse near here the other night when a shrill piercing scream came from out by the shed.
"It's it again," she said.
Four-year-old Christian Baril was in his back yard chasing fireflies with a glass jar. He ran in the house. "Daddy, Daddy," he said, "there's a big ghost out back."
Randy Creath and Cheryl Ray were talking on her darkened porch when something moved in the brush nearby. Cheryl went to turn on a light; Randy went to investigate.

At that moment it stepped from the bushes.
Towering over the wide-eyed teen-age couple was a creature resembling a gorilla. It was eight feet tall. It had long shaggy matted hair colored a dirty white. It smelled foul like river slime.
Silently, the trio stared at each other 15 feet apart. Then, after an eternity of perhaps 30 seconds, the creature turned slowly and crashed off through the brush back toward the river.

It was the Murphysboro Monster, a strange creature that has baffled and frightened police and residents for weeks now in this Southern Illinois town on the sluggish Big Muddy River.
It is a creature that has brought a real kind of Halloween to Murphysboro's 10,000 citizens. And although the hobgoblin is so far benevolent, no one here is taking any chances. Many have armed themselves and a good number of God-fearing families decided to curtail tonight's traditional Halloween trick-or-treating rounds.

"A lot of things in life are unexplained," said Toby Berger, the police chief, "and this is another one. We don't know what the creature is. But we do believe what these people saw was real. We have tracked it. And the dogs got a definite scent."

Agency asks help from 8 counties

SHOSHONE — Council of Government planners are trying to persuade eight counties to participate in road construction for the west side of Magic Reservoir.

According to C. J. (Whitey) Price, coordinator for the Wood River Resource Area Council of Governments, the project would be the first involving all eight counties.

Earlier plans for the road had involved only three counties through which the road passed.

But reasoning that hunters from all eight counties are the main road users, the COG has drafted an agreement that would involve all member counties in the project.

Approval must be given by each county.

"Funding for the Magic Reservoir road project is suggested over a three-year period at $1,000 each year from each county. Revenue sharing funds could be used in place of a line item in county budgets and regular budget funds used for funding joint county projects," the agreement says.

"Blaine County would act as the local organization to construct the road. The $1,000 from eight counties, or $8,000 could be matched with $8,000 from the State Department of Parks and Recreation to begin work on the road through the lavas in the Cottonwood area.

"Other segments of the road could be tackled each of the next two years. These costs over the three years ($24,000 from the counties and $24,000 from the State Parks and Recreation) could build quite a base for the road from Highway 93 to Magic Reservoir Resort."

The road, covering 10 miles from the Highway 93 cutoff to the Magic Reservoir Resort winds in and out of three counties, Lincoln (with just the first one mile section), Blaine and Carnas.

Due to lack of funds within the specified counties and a feeling that the counties themselves receive little financial benefit from the roadway has resulted in no action being taken to improve it.

Sportsmen have voiced extreme displeasure with the existing road, many men with boats complaining that the rough road was actually damaging their vehicles. They seemed to lack organization to get anything done.

Two years ago, upon suggestion of the North Side Communities, Inc., the Wood River Resource Council adopted this road as one of their projects.

New cards for 'seniors'

JOHN SIMS, CSI Director of Student Activities, Nancy Taylor, RSVP director, James Van Lelshout, student actor, and Mark Stinson, student senator, announce CSI's new "Gold Cards" for senior citizens program.

'Senior' cards available

TWIN FALLS — Senior citizens throughout the Magic Valley are finding some advantages.

The College of Southern Idaho, in cooperation with the CSI associated student body and the Retired Senior Volunteer program, is issuing "Gold Cards" entitling the bearer to all student privileges at no cost to persons 60 years of age or older.

These privileges include free admission to basketball games and drama productions and reduced rates for many movies, concerts and other activities on campus.

Senior citizens will also be able to attend academic classes without paying tuition.

Last Sunday 104 senior citizens used their gold cards to attend "The Diary of Anne Frank" presented by the CSI Drama Department.

Persons interested in more information about the gold cards may contact Mrs. Kent Taylor, 733-9554, ext. 223 at CSI.

Consumer office delayed for TF

(Special to the Times-News) BOISE — The Idaho attorney general's office has put off for several months efforts to put a consumer affairs office in Twin Falls.

David C. Blackwell, administrative assistant to Attorney General W. Anthony Park, said Monday the decision was due to the situation at the state's two existing offices rather than to any response from local Twin Falls officials.

One plan that has been proposed would have established the office at the College of Southern Idaho and funded it in part from some of the school's work study money. But college officials balked at having the office on the school campus and suggested the Community Action Agency as a more suitable spot.

Blackwell said the decision not to try to establish the office was because of some problems in Pocatello and Moscow, where two campus-based consumer offices are located. We decided that right now it probably would not be the best thing," Blackwell said, "we were not in a solid enough position with the office in Pocatello and Moscow to branch out. We had problems in the other offices and didn't feel we could branch out."

He said it might be as much as a year before the efforts begin again to put an office in the Magic Valley area.

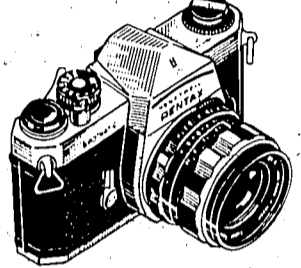

Blackwell also said the initial reaction from local businessmen in Twin Falls was similar to what the attorney general's office had found elsewhere in the state.

Eventually, he said, he would like to see developed a regional "full service" consumer affairs office in each of several regions around the state. For the present, though, he added the cost is prohibitive. He said he was "kicking around the idea" of asking the legislature for more money to set up the program, but the office hadn't reached any decisions.

Grandma boarded without present

BOISE (UPI) — A little old grandmother was turned back by security police at Boise Airport until she checked her slingshot in with her luggage.

"It was an armed slingshot," said A. V. Cox, United Air Lines station manager. "And it falls into the category of unacceptable items not allowed aboard an aircraft."

The unnamed woman, believed in her 70s, said it was a present for her grandson in Denver. But the guards were adamant after they found the weapon in her purse when she triggered the electronic warning signal Tuesday.

Rifle taken from vehicle

TWIN FALLS — Theft of a rifle and scope valued at $400 from an unlocked pick up truck at the Alley Cafe on Shoshone Street South was under investigation by city police today.

Ralph Faught, Route 3, told officers he left the vehicle unlocked, planning to be in the cafe only a few minutes. He said the parking lot was well lighted and the rifle was on a rack across the rear window and he thought it would be safe.

The theft occurred about 1 a.m., he told police.

Motion dismissed

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — A motion for a temporary injunction filed by former Idaho State University professor Rufus Lyman was dismissed by federal Judge Ray McNichols, along with a defense move to dismiss the case.

Judge McNichols ruled after a preliminary hearing Tuesday the motion for an injunction failed to show sufficient cause for the action.

Lyman three months ago filed suit for $2 million damages — $1 million for punitive damages and the rest for damages to his reputation and salary benefits denied him while being suspended from the ISU faculty.

Lyman is being represented in the case by Joseph De Raismes, regional for the American Civil Liberties Union.

As a subsequent action of the hearing, three of the defendants named in the case were withdrawn.

On a defense motion to dismiss the action, Joseph Hearst and Thomas Bond, dean and assistant dean of the College of Liberal Arts, and Allan Linder, biology professor, are no longer defendants in the case.

One Land Without Inflation is a good observation point. China's only two foreign banks have kept offices open here ever since the Japanese occupation ended in 1945.

Beirut. The people's bank gives interest rates of what appear to be 2.7 per cent and 1.9 per cent on long-term and short-term deposits.

Cheng-Rel, Hsu Li-Chang and Miss Cheng-Li. Li said: "Unlike the West, our money mostly relied on commodities produced by our own national industries."

occasionally the Bank of China buys gold in London, apparently as a hedge against foreign devaluations. The state owns everything, except citizens' few personal possessions like clothing and except private peasant plots in communes, amounting to about 6 per cent of arable land.

This system ignores the fluctuation of world market economics and limits China's vast population to very small amounts of cash. But unlike Russia, once a breadbasket which now heavily imports grain, China has become self-sufficient in food and is also now a major giver of aid to developing countries.

Independence

Although the Middle East war once again demonstrated the ease with which world powers can be brought into confrontation, the United Nations has a problem of an entirely different nature.

Of the 135 present members of the UN, six contain more than half the world's population. But they have no more voting or debating privileges than the other 129.

Whether this is good or bad on balance depends upon the perspective. Dissipating UN influence among small states with little or no military might may have lessened the chance for superpower threats.

More than one-fourth of the UN membership consists of countries with populations smaller than the states of Mississippi or Oklahoma. Prospects are good that more members will be coming into the UN with populations no larger than those of moderate to small American cities.

Among independent states not yet members are at least seven with populations of less than 100,000. Another new country will be formed next February when Grenada, an island in the West Indies, is scheduled to mark its independence from Britain.

As indicated by the number of newly emerging small states, the dream of independence is stronger today perhaps than it has ever been. If that spirit can be used as a leveling influence in world politics, it may be worth the difficulty many of the new nations are experiencing in self-government.

Whew! Events To Be Studied

Students of detente will study the events of the last week for many years. Herewith a humble contribution.

1. For a while, the Arab military machine was working with great effect. The pressure exerted on Israel by the Syrians at the Golan Heights was very nearly crucial. Clearly the intention was to overwhelm the Heights and march on through to Haifa, cutting Israel in half.

European nations threatened by the 'Arabs' oil diplomacy. Accordingly we put pressure on the Israelis to cease fire.

2. The Israelis' counterattack proved brilliantly but not conclusively successful. They succeeded in forcing their way back across the Suez Canal, and they were headed south to cut off communications lines that fed the Egyptian contingent to the east of the Canal when the cease fire resolution was voted by the UN Security Council.

Not enough pressure. Because after a short respite, the Israelis, examining the prospective advantages of marching on and consummating their victory, began to do so.

3. Certain kinds of pressure Israel does not understand, and in a matter of hours, she complied: leaving a Soviet diplomatic corps visibly pleased with the success of its maneuver, and the United States exhausted by the strains of the engagement.

few airborne units, announced that if the United States did not care to join the Soviet Union in a common enforcement of the cease fire, why the Soviet Union would do the job by herself.

This move seared the living bejesus out of the United States, which as we all know ordered a general military alert, and the sum total of these intricately balanced events was (and this is conjecture) to cause the United States to put irresistible pressure on Israel to STOP THIS MINUTE.

strain is to the policy of detente, to which our government clings with near superstitious fidelity. One wishes there were an Archie Cox in the State Department who could do to detente what was done to the Nixon Tape Doctrine. All of which reminds one,

5. That the military strength of the United States, so casual a concern of Congress, was the under-pinning of whatever success we had. Reminds one that the relative improvement of the Arab military over the Israeli military in the years since 1967 is at least reflected in the relative strength of the Soviet Union over the United States in the Mediterranean. One hopes that President Nixon, in addressing Congress, will be orderly and direct in describing what he could and couldn't do, because of the impoverishment of our military. That is the unsung scandal of the season.

Defusing Controls

How to dispose of wage and price controls once they have been imposed upon an industrial economy now poses an economic problem for both the President of the United States and the Prime Minister of Britain.

Inflation has not been contained in either nation by the imposition of artificial restraints. Contrary arguments of how much worse inflation might have been or how much faster it might have subsided had free market forces been permitted to prevail are moot questions.

The point is that controls are a fixture to contend with. Both governments say it is one of their goals to remove the controls as soon as possible.

Washington and London both remember well the price jolts which followed the Phase 3 relaxation of controls in the United States.

Britain was so impressed by what happened that it skipped its own version of Phase 3 to go directly into a plan similar to America's Phase 4. But with the imbalances and injustices continuing to emerge under the control program, neither nation wants to continue phasing indefinitely. The sad fact both face is that controls are much easier to impose than to dispose.

BRUCE BIOSAT

On Presidential Check-Bouncing

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The U. S. Constitution itself, plus a long series of Supreme Court decisions, seems to point unmistakably to the notion that the checks and balances among the three branches of government should be broadly interactive.

President Nixon is acting, however, as if the power of Congress to impeach him were the only valid and necessary check upon him in the conduct of his office.

But the U. S. Court of Appeals already has told him, in supporting the U.S. District Judge John Sirica's order to the president to turn over the tapes for judicial study. That he has no such immunity.

Certainly the double check applies to the powers of Congress. The Supreme Court, by early historic precedent, may declare acts of Congress unconstitutional and hence invalid.

Congress. Though lower court rulings are mixed, presidents have often defied Congress by inaction or impoundment of voted funds. And it is entirely conceivable that the Supreme Court may, when the issue is presented starkly, sustain such impoundment.

The double check upon the court system itself is plain, even if it be conceded that it works more slowly. Congress may institute amendments to the Constitution which, if supported by the legislatures of three-fourths of the 50 states, can alter the rules governing court decisions. Most presidents, especially if they serve two terms, get more than one chance to alter the makeup and legal orientation of the Supreme Court by making new appointments, though these, of course, are subject to Senate confirmation and this now and then modifies their influence.

balances would be incomplete if the Presidency were to be exempt from judicial constraint. Nothing in the historical record suggests that it is.

Mr. Nixon's legal arguments in the Watergate tape issue thus have been twice rejected. Furthermore, his and his aides' behavior in the out-of-court phases of discharged Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox's Watergate inquiry offers potent evidence of the dangers of presumed immunity.

According to Cox, whose integrity has not been challenged, Nixon's aides reneged on promises to produce certain logs and other pertinent memoranda and turned over files on some suspected wrongdoers only after removing key documents and placing them in an unsearchable 'presidential file.' The result: unbridled, unacceptable executive arrogance.

MR. SPECTATOR

Perhaps — Neighbors?

Scientists now — at least a good many of them — believe we might just have neighbors on some other planets.

Man has pondered the question of life beyond Earth for only a few hundred of his one million years. In the last two decades scientists have been forced to realize that stars surrounded by planets are common — the rule rather than the exception. Conditions favorable to life must also be fairly common.

In addition to man's imperfect knowledge of other planets, he is hampered by relative ignorance about conditions under which life can exist.

For example, living organisms thrive in boiling hot springs, bacteria live in hot water inside nuclear reactors, algae survive well enough in salt pools at 59 degrees below zero and trees, buried and charred by lava from volcanic eruptions, soon put our new shoots and bloom again. Life is even found at the bottom of deep ocean trenches, under tons of pressure per square inch.

The dry valleys of Antarctica were once considered the only sterile spots on Earth. They teem now with microorganism carried there by visiting scientists.

So, you can see, life is tough. So, you also see, it could be other places than on this old Earth.

Perhaps something more about the possibility will be found when Pioneer 10 speeds into the vicinity of Jupiter. Man will get his first closeup, as a result, sometime in December. Life might not be found — but we will get our first real look-see at conditions out there.

The exact date is December 3 — so hang in there.

Mr. Spectator wonders if life is found someplace someday will it be Republican or Democrat?

Eisenhower raps media

WASHINGTON (UPI) — David Eisenhower said today there has been unfairness and irresponsibility on the part of news media, particularly the television networks, in reporting President Nixon's Water-gate-related problems.

Eisenhower, 25, son-in-law of the President, echoed a White House contention that many news accounts concerning Nixon's problems were not placed in proper perspective. He said there was too much "reporting without applying any perspective to it at all," and that this was unfair to the President.

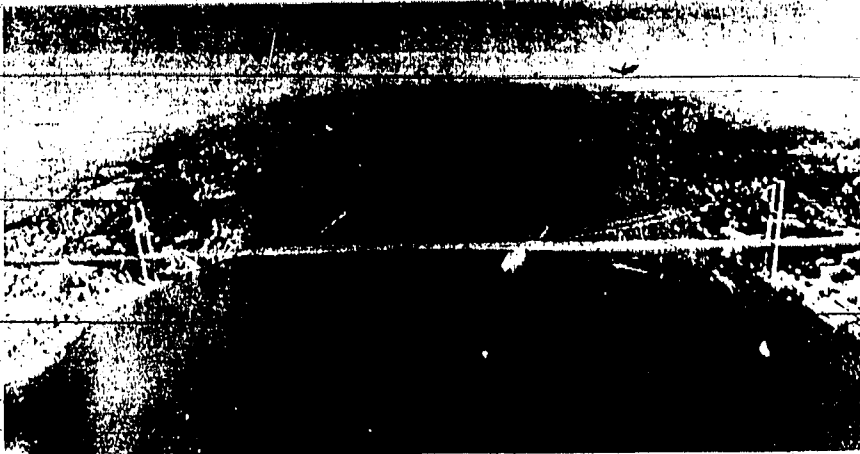

to be an adverse impression throughout the land... White House aides were reported exploring the possibility of giving specific instances to backup President Nixon's charges Friday of "outrageous, vicious, distorted reporting" by the TV networks.

Patrick J. Buchanan, a Nixon speechwriter, said Monday he believed the three major television networks should be broken up—at one point suggesting there should be as many as eight—because he said they have too much power.

Eisenhower said he did not think that Nixon, in his news conference attack on "vicious" reporting by the networks, was referring "to any one anchor-man or any one reporter."

"I think he was referring to the selection of news. This is the power of the network to control the selection of news and the presentation of news. I think it was a valid point."

Buchanan, in a CBS-TV interview Monday, said "every constitutional means ought to be considered in order to break up (networks) dominance and spread it out so that you decentralize the power in this area."

FDIC action on Rebozo delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) voted Tuesday to delay action on a request by Sen. William C. Proxmire, D-Wis., for removal of Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo as chief executive officer of the Key

Biscayne, Fla., Bank and Trust Co. FDIC Chairman Frank Wille said the three-member board of directors decided unanimously to await the completion of two investigations by the FDIC staff. Wille said the investigations were started after Proxmire raised charges that Rebozo should be removed from the bank's executive staff because of his alleged involvement in the cashing of stolen securities. Wille said the FDIC had no legal authority to investigate circumstances surrounding Rebozo's holding of $100,000 donated to President Nixon by billionaire Howard Hughes.

Work begins at arsenal

DENVER (UPI) — Technicians guarded by a thick wall and a special gas-leak warning system have begun the dismantling of 120,115 nerve gas bombs stored at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal.

An Army spokesman said Monday detoxification will take nearly three years. The spokesman said 18 bombs will be destroyed each week.

She said the metal containers holding the nerve gas and mustard gas, scheduled to be destroyed simultaneously, will be placed in a furnace and heated to a temperature of 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit. She said the metal will be sold as scrap.

Professional pressure for destruction of the gas began earlier in the year when Arsenal commander Lt. Col. Gerald C. Watson confirmed internal leaks in the bombs.

Lampoon recalls unsold copies

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Lampoon, a humor magazine, has agreed to call back all unsold copies of a special issue that showed a floating Volkswagen in a phony advertisement with a caption reading: "If Kennedy drove a Volkswagen he'd be President now."

The German automaker had sued the magazine for $30 million, but there was no mention of monetary damages in the settlement announced Monday.

Federal Judge Charles L. Beteant Jr. permanently barred the Lampoon from any unauthorized use of the Volkswagen symbol. The magazine was ordered to print a Volkswagen statement on the settlement in its next edition.

The phony ad referred to the accident in July, 1969, in which Mary Jo Kopechne drowned when a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D. Mass., plunged off a bridge on Martha's Vineyard island.

The magazine issued 450,000 soft cover copies of the issue, called the National Encyclopedia of humor. A total of 315,000 were sold before Volkswagen sued last Tuesday.

The auto firm said the ad was "coarse, insensitive and cruel... a tasteless publication of a tragic event." It asked the court for a recall to protect its "reputation and good will."

An additional 100,000 hard cover copies were printed, of which 1,000 were sent to bookstores. Under the ruling, book dealers are required to remove the full page mock ad before selling the edition.

Loafing up

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — If you're an average American, you spent about 14 per cent of your income last year on leisure and recreational activities, according to Mrs. Georgia Skinner. She is Extension Family Economics Specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. She says also that the amount spent on leisure has risen faster than incomes.

RICHFIELD — Richard R. Golcochen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Golcochen, Richfield, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force.

He graduated from the school of military sciences for officers at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

He graduated from the school of military sciences for officers at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

The lieutenant received his bachelor of science degree in 1972 from the University of Idaho.

SHOSHONE — Gold leaves were pinned on newly promoted Maj. Roy G. Kennington, Adjutant, Headquarters, European Exchange System, Munich, Germany, recently.

Major Kennington is the husband of former Shoshone resident, Martha Munster. They have two children, Paul and Michael and reside in Germany at this time.

SHOSHONE — Yeoman Third Class Leonard A. Romano, husband of former Shoshone resident, Carla Bertocchio, was selected Pilot Composite Squadron Five (VC-5) Sailor of the Quarter at a recent ceremony in Okinawa, Japan.

For the honors, he received a squadron plaque, a certificate of merit, a $15 money award and 96-hour liberty pass, in addition to having his portrait displayed in the squadron quarters.

He was recognized for outstanding performance of duty, excellent military bearing and exemplary conduct from a field of over 150 eligible candidates.

MALTA — Cadet Roger C. Neddo Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger C. Neddo, Malta, is among the 824 cadets who have entered their senior year at the US Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo.

He will serve as a project officer. He was selected for the position because of his leadership abilities and effectiveness ratings. This past summer he was among the superclassmen who served as senior staff officers for the basic training program for incoming freshmen.

The cadet also served as a staff instructor at the Boy Scout Philmont ranch, Cimarron, N. M. Upon graduation next June, he will be commissioned a second lieutenant and receive a B.S. degree. He is a 1970 graduate of Ralt River High School, Malta.

SHOSHONE — Army Pvt. Glen R. Jacobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reed J. Jacobson, Ogden, Utah, completed the first phase of training under the modern volunteer army program at Ft. Ord, Calif.

The program combines basic and advanced individual training (AIT) into an average 16-week program, depending on the AIT the soldier receives after completing basic. Decentralized instruction at the unit level and a reduction of formations and inspections give the soldier more time to train and increased off-duty time. Fewer restrictions on off-duty travel and improved living facilities are other benefits of the program.

His wife, Jolene, lives in Shoshone.

JEROME — Army Pvt. Richard A. Dilka, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dilka, Jerome, completed nine weeks of advanced individual training at the U.S. Army Infantry Training Center, Ft. Polk, La.

He received general training as a light weapons infantryman and as a mortar and recoilless rifle crewman, in addition to specialized weapons instruction.

He also was taught the proper use of high explosives and the placement, detection and clearing of mines.

Teamwork was emphasized while he learned to work as a member of a rifle squad, mortar squad or direct fire section. Each team member completed the training well qualified to perform other jobs in case of casualties.

SEATTLE, Wash. — More than 6,000 Vietnam veterans are employed in Veterans Administration hospitals and clinics according to the VA information service.

The veterans are working as licensed practical nurses, nursing assistants, physicians assistants, drug rehabilitation technicians, dentists, physicians and chaplains.

Shoshone gathers tin cans

SHOSHONE — The first pickup load of empty aluminum cans was taken to Twin Falls this week for sale by Frank Carothers.

The cans were collected in a continual effort to help promote the summer pool fund.

Carothers, a city commission, said many children, as well as some adults were responsible for collection of the cans.

A good many of the cans were collected from the Columbia Lounge, he said.

Fiddlers perform at Filer

FILER — A program presented by the Idaho Fiddlers Association, the Friendship Night of the Order of the Eastern Star Saturday night in the Masonic Hall.

A trio, composed of Beulah Hildes, Terri Thurman Lawson and Sylvia Walters, presented musical selections. Lon Clayton, past grand patron, was a special guest.

Introduced and welcomed by Mrs. Wilbur Matthews, worthy mistress, were Mrs. Richard MacLachlan, grand marshal and Mrs. Clayton, grand warden. Members of related fraternal orders introduced were Mrs. William Matney, Joe Jean Fingering and Herb Gaudill. Mrs. Clyde Vanatsdon and Mrs. Luther Piere greeted the guests who attended from Twin Falls, Filer, Rupert, Burley, Idaho Falls and Holbrook. Mrs. Everett Bunnichen attended the guest book. Mrs. Arthur Beem and Mrs. Helen Taylor, Twin Falls, both 50-year members, were hosts of the evening. Mrs. Duane Hawkins, Mrs. William Elliott and Mrs. Harry Sharp decorated the dining tables in an autumn motif.

Mrs. Rattseyer and Mrs. Hawkins headed the refreshment committee, assisted by Mrs. Bob Blass, Mrs. Iva Shearer, Mrs. Estelle Godardholm, Mrs. Margaret Powers, Mrs. Margaret Luk, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Herd, Mrs. Marjorie Vincent, Pat Johnson, Mr. Elliott, Mr. Rattseyer and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rattseyer.

The school carnival will be held at the Shoshone Elementary School building at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. This will feature all types of games and prizes for the public is invited.

'Ultimate cover-up' hit

'7' in court again

Drop contempt charge, attorney for '7' asks

CHICAGO (UPI)—The defense has asked a federal judge to throw out contempt charges against the Chicago Seven and their lawyers, contending the tumult at the 1970 conspiracy trial resulted from Judge Julius J. Hoffman's "insults and harassment."

"The ultimate standard of conduct in a courtroom is created by the judge himself," defense attorney Morton Stavis told U.S. District Court Judge Edward Gignoux Tuesday. He said Hoffman started the trial with "insults and harassment and the most petty kind of unfairness" which set the tone for the entire 4 1/2 month proceeding.

More arguments on the motion to dismiss the contempt charges were scheduled today and Gignoux indicated he would probably rule on the request Thursday.

The contempt charges against the Chicago Seven and attorneys Leonard Weinglass and William Kunstler were handed down by Hoffman after the conspiracy trial, with jail sentences ranging from two months to four years.

A federal appeals court overturned the sentences, and ordered a trial on the contempt charges before another judge. The government, to avoid a jury in the retrial, has agreed that no defendant will be sentenced to more than six months in prison if convicted.

In asking for dismissal of the charges Tuesday, Stavis said, the government has not proved its case, since the only evidence it offered was the 23,000-page transcript of the original proceedings.

The defendants, besides Weinglass and Kunstler, are Abbie Hoffman, Jerry Rubin, Tom Hayden, David Dellinger, John Froines, Hennie Davis and Lee Weiner.

During the original trial, Hoffman, Rubin, Hayden, Dellinger and Davis were convicted of crossing state lines to incite riots at the 1968 Democratic National Convention but the convictions were reversed by an appeals court due to trial errors.

Ex-aide claims report 'false'

(c) Chicago Sun-Times
WASHINGTON — Former White House adviser John D. Ehrlichman declared in Congressional testimony released Tuesday, that President Nixon put out false information in one of his major statements on the Watergate scandal.

Ehrlichman, who until last spring was one of the President's top two assistants, was quoted as citing two key errors in Nixon's lengthy explanation of May 22.

The President said he called L. Patrick Gray, then acting FBI director, shortly after the Watergate break-in to "congratulate him on the successful handling of a hijacking" on the West Coast. But Ehrlichman testified that Nixon actually made the call to sound out Gray on his "concern over the FBI role in the WASHINGTON (UPI)—Archibald Cox says refusal by President Nixon to turn over additional Watergate tapes or documents would amount to a "cover-up" of possible wrongdoing.

When Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., asked the ousted special prosecutor Tuesday whether that could be called the "ultimate cover-up," Cox replied: "I have no quarrel with your characterization. I think it would in effect cover up things that can be wrong."

Cox, who was fired by Nixon after he refused to stop seeking Watergate material through the courts, appears again today before Senate Judiciary Committee hearings on legislation to establish a new, co-appoints special prosecutor.

The Senate's Democrats, meeting in caucus Tuesday, urged that such a prosecutor be independent of both the executive and legislative branches of government.

The sponsor of the Democratic resolution was Sen. Sam J. Ervin, Jr., chairman of the Watergate committee. "Somebody has got to get to the bottom of these things," Ervin said.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield tried to get the caucus of Senate Democrats to formally recommend that the life of the Ervin committee be extended beyond next Feb. 28 and that its mandate be broadened to include the Cox firing. But the caucus took no action on those proposals.

In the House there were signs that preliminary steps toward impeachment of the President, much talked of after he fired Cox, will not move very fast. The House Judiciary Committee plans an "inquiry" into whether grounds for impeachment exist, but it appeared unlikely this would be completed until well into 1974.

"Any responsible American would view the prospect of impeachment with a deep sense of sadness and abiding concern for the future of our democratic system of government," said the chairman of that committee, Rep. Peter M. Rodino Jr., D-N.J.

Rodino's committee is expected to move quickly on the nomination of House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford to be vice president.

The administration is expected this week to name a special prosecutor of its own. Cox has said Congress should legislate that prosecutor out of existence. U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica and the President's lawyers reached at least partial agreement Tuesday on turnover of the nine Watergate tapes which Nixon has agreed to surrender. Sirica will hear arguments on possible "executive privilege" for portions of them before he actually listens to them.

The President searched for a new attorney general, and sources said he would offer that job to Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio.

Court suits delay food rule effects

(c) Washington Star-News
WASHINGTON — Ever since early August, when the Food and Drug Administration published regulations on foods and dietary supplements, their full implementation has been delayed by a rash of court suits.

The FDA and Congress have been deluged by letters from a nutrition-conscious public concerned that its access to vitamin pills may be curtailed. Tuesday, as hearings on the matter began before the House Health and Environment subcommittee, FDA witnesses tried to calm such fears, but critics of the regulations outnumbered advocates.

Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., appeared on behalf of a measure that he and about 200 other congressmen have sponsored saying the FDA should have no jurisdiction over vitamins except in those instances when questions of safety are involved. Other witnesses, while not going as far, presented counterproposals.

In most cases, FDA Commissioner Dr. Alexander M. Schmidt told the subcommittee, the products would be available without prescription and if consumers chose in formulations containing greater quantities than the daily allowance.

Coercion rejected

(c) New York Times Service
TULSA, Okla. — Caspar W. Weinberger, secretary of health, education and welfare, told a convention of American Indians here his department will not use federal programs for Indians as a tool for exploiting natural resources on their reservations.

Alluding to the fears of tribal leaders that the government, facing an energy shortage, would grab reservation holdings of coal, oil and natural gas without adequate compensation, the secretary said:

"We can assure you that our delivery of HEW services will never depend on the fulfillment by you of any of those natural resources."

GOP funding level high

ATLANTA (UPI) — Republican National Chairman George Bush said Tuesday that despite President Nixon's troubles the GOP is in strong shape financially and will make a good showing in the 1974 and 1976 elections.

"I would not be inclined to take the confusion of the moment and translate that into the demise of Republicans," he said before addressing a party fund-raising dinner.

Bush added, however, that most of the GOP's big campaign contributors have deserted the party because of the Watergate scandal.

Ante up, Waldheim requests

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary General Kurt Waldheim put a request for $30 million before the General Assembly today to pay the U.N. emergency force's peacekeeping operations in the Middle East for six months.

The request for the appropriation, representing about 13 per cent of the current U.N. budget, went first to the 25-nation steering committee as a formality and was scheduled to be debated by the full 135-nation assembly later in the day.

China has announced its refusal to pay anything toward the force's costs and the Soviet Union declared cautiously it would pay its 12.9 per cent assessed share as long as the operation is "lawful," meaning strictly under control of the Security Council in which Moscow can veto what it does not like.

The United States' share is 25 per cent. Canada became the fourth country to agree to join the emergency force but Romania was reported to have balked at a proposal by the Soviet Union that it become part of a Warsaw Pact contingent.

Trucking industry bias under attack

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department says the trucking industry is discriminating against black employees and in a precedent setting move threatened legal action against the entire industry.

The Justice Department, in letters to 514 trucking firms, said Tuesday its Civil Rights Division found "a pattern of discriminatory employment practices against blacks and Spanish surnames" trucking employees.

"A civil suit may be necessary to correct those practices," it said.

Benefit boost law moving through mill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite the threat of a presidential veto, legislation to increase Social Security benefits by 7 per cent for all 29 million recipients is moving ahead in both houses of Congress.

By a 95 vote, the House Rules Committee has agreed to permit House liberals to offer an amendment to a bill to extend the legal ceiling on the national debt when that measure comes before the House today.

The amendment would increase Social Security for retired workers and their widows, survivors and dependents and for disabled workers by 7 per cent effective Jan. 1, 1974, and payable in checks received the first week in February.

In the Senate, the Finance Committee Tuesday sent to the floor a minor measure to which a 7 per cent increase in benefits was attached. The Senate increase would take effect upon enactment.

Watergate investigation." The President also declared that the White House special investigation unit — the so-called "plumbers" — was set up the week after the Pentagon papers were leaked to the press in June, 1971. But Ehrlichman testified that Nixon's assertion was "not accurate" and implied that the unit had been created much earlier.

There was no indication in the partial transcript released by the House intelligence subcommittee of whether there has been a falling out between Ehrlichman and Nixon or whether still secret testimony reveals further conflicts in their versions of the events.

In the portion made public, Ehrlichman seems to blame the "drafter of the statement" for having "stumbled in a few places." He suggests Nixon was only "nominally" responsible for the statement.

Illinois town has real Halloween creature

It all began shortly after midnight June 25. Randy Needham and Judy Johnson were conferring in a parked car in the town's parking lot down by the Big Muddy.
At one point the couple heard a loud cry from the woods next to the car. Many were to describe the sound as that of a greatly amplified eagle shriek.
Needham looked up from the front seat. There, lumbering toward the open window was a light-colored, hairy, seven-foot creature matted with mud.
Needham, the police report calmly notes,

"left the area." He proceeded to the police station and filed an "unknown creature" report.
"I was leaning over when there was the most incredible shriek I've ever heard," he said. "It was in those bushes. That was no bobcat or screech owl and we lightened it out there."
The next night came young Christian Baril's encounter with the "big ghost," and the experience of Cheryl Ray and Randy Creath, who drew a picture of the creature.
That did it for Chief Berger. He ordered his entire 14-man force out for a night-long search.

And Jerry Nellis, a dog trainer, brought Reb, an 80-pound German shepherd.
With floodlights officers discovered a rough trail in the brush. Reb found jobs of black slime, much like that of sewage sludge, on a direct line between the river and the Ray house.
Quickly, Reb was off down the hill, around the pond and into the woods toward the old Buller farm.
There, Nellis and officer Nash, his .357 magnum drawn, approached an abandoned barn. Then, at the door the dog yelped and backed off in panic. Nellis threw it in the door. The dog crawled out whining. The men radioed for help.

Fourteen area police cars maneuvered the mile-long rutted, overgrown road. But the barn was empty.
"These are good honest people," said Chief Berger. "They are seeing something. And who would walk through sewage tanks for a joke?"
"I know it's out there," said young Randy Creath. "It would be fascinating to see it again and study it. But, you know, I kinda hope he doesn't come back. With everyone running around with guns and sticks, he really wouldn't have much of a chance, would he?"

Talks favored

BEIRUT (UPI) — The Palestinian resistance movement favors participation in any international peace talks on the Middle East, the newspaper Al Moharrer said today.
The newspaper, which has close contacts with the resistance movement, said the Palestine National Council may be called into session soon to discuss the participation issue.

212 MAIN WESTE NORTH TWIN FALLS

US proposes troop cutback

VIENNA (UPI) — The United States proposed today that America and the Soviet Union begin a troop cutback in Central Europe as the first step toward reducing East-West forces there to a smaller but equal level.
The American plan, presented by U.S. negotiator Stanley R. Resor, received full backing by U.S. allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).
The plan was presented to Western and Eastern bloc countries meeting at a European troop cut conference in Vienna.
"We consider that an ultimate goal of these negotiations should be approximate parity in the form of a common ceiling for the ground forces of each side in Central Europe," Resor told the conference.
"It would be logical if the two largest powers with forces in the area should take the first step," he said.
The chief aim of the West was to level down the opposing forces in Central Europe to the same strength—allowing both for a pullback of some forces on each side and at the same

Charged

THE MIAMI Herald reported today on an investigation it has made into the finances of Sen. Edward Gurney, a Florida Republican. The newspaper said Sen. Gurney used an unreported $300,000 "booster" fund to pay for office, travel and other expenses in 1971 and 1972. (UPI)

Boycott honored

BEIRUT (UPI) — The Arab oil nations do not intend to set up special machinery to police their boycott of petroleum shipments to the United States, it was disclosed today.
Arab oil sources said they were confident the big Western oil companies, even American firms, would generally stick to the boycott and avoid any major secret petroleum shipments to the United States.
Nine Arab states—Saudi Arabia, Libya, Algeria, Iraq, Kuwait, Qatar, Abu Dhabi, Bahrain and Dubai—have ordered a halt in oil shipments to America because of U.S. support of Israel during the 1973 Middle East war. Eight of the countries have also boycotted oil sales to Holland.

Brush fire threatens LA

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The most threatening city brush fire of the season burned out of control today over hills and through canyons of an expensive seaside neighborhood, forcing evacuation of about 500 persons.
Although the fire surged unchecked through more than 1,500 acres, leaping streets and roads and closing two major highways, firemen appeared to be winning the battle to save homes.
No houses or other structures had burned by early this morning, 12 hours after the blaze began. Firemen fought off flames from the backyards of homes in the $100,000 range, as home owners stood on the roofs with garden hoses, extinguishing floating embers.

generated its own air currents of up to 40 mph, fire officials said.
The California Highway Patrol closed a one-mile stretch of the Pacific Coast Highway, U.S. 1, north from Sunset Boulevard, and Topanga Canyon Boulevard from the Coast Highway to Mulholland Drive, because of the fire.
The flames jumped fire breaks and leaped across Topanga Canyon Boulevard, and drove down both sides of the canyon to within 100 yards of the ocean.
In the Castellamare area, fire officials said 51 homes were immediately threatened. Sheriff's deputies went from house to house, urging evacuation of the area, and estimated about 200 persons left.
An estimated 300 persons were evacuated from the heavily populated Fernwood area on the fire's western front.

Council to check Nixon's claims

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National News Council said Tuesday it will look into President Nixon's claims that he gets unfair and inaccurate television coverage.
The council, a nonprofit corporation funded by a number of foundations, said it had invited the three commercial television networks and the White House to take part in the study.
"The charges brought by the President against the media, particularly against the electronic media, are so serious that the National News Council believes they warrant a public airing," said Roger J. Traynor, a former chief justice of the California Supreme Court who is the council's chairman.
The President charged in a news conference last Friday that he was the victim of "outrageous, vicious, distorted reporting" in network television news programs.
The council said it invited the White House "to furnish specific examples of ... distorted reporting" and asked the networks for their cooperation "in reviewing tapes and transcripts of news programs relating to the administration.

There was no immediate response to the council's invitation.
During the course of the news conference last week, Nixon said: "I have never heard or seen such outrageous, vicious, distorted reporting in 27 years of public life."

Kissinger disgusted

(c) N. Y. Times Service
WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Kissinger was quoted by congressional sources today as having said he was "disgusted" with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on the ground that its European members did not support United States policies in the Middle East crisis.
Testifying yesterday at a closed session of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Secretary of State Kissinger reportedly criticized the administration's criticism of the Western Europeans begun publicly last Friday, when President Nixon chastised them as did the defense and state departments.
Then after Kissinger was finished a congressional aide said, the secretary remarked in an aside heard by a committee member, "I don't care what happens to NATO. I'm so disgusted."
Kissinger is also said to have voiced his irritation yesterday at a meeting with a group of Western European members of parliament.
In London today, Prime Minister Heath pointedly declined in the House to Commons to endorse President Nixon's decision last week placing United States forces on a worldwide alert.

The great HEAT HEIST

There go your hard-earned dollars! Out the window, out the door, out the attic... gobs and gobs of warm air you've already paid for. The great heat heist goes on night and day in homes with inadequate insulation.

Stop this robbery with thorough insulation. We suggest Idaho Power's Gold Medallion standards: ten inches overhead (R30); six inches in the floors (R21); four inches in the walls (R12)*.

Lewiston awards contract

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — The city has awarded a $1,329,000 contract to a Seattle firm to build pumping stations along the Clearwater River here.

The contract was awarded Monday to Lenbrook Construction Inc.

The pumping stations will be used for the city's new sewage treatment process.

Lewiston grants FAA permit

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — The City of Lewiston has issued a building permit to the Federal Aviation Administration for a 78-foot high control tower at the Lewiston-Nezperce County Airport.

The city said construction on the tower, valued at $178,000, was to begin later this month with completion set for next March.

The FAA has also approved $194,946 for other developments at the airport, including extension of a terminal apron and construction of a new service road and security fencing.

Andrus speaks for granges

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus told a Grange convention farmers last year earned a well deserved profit for the first time in a long spell but price changes have them worried.

"Of course the good year last year was long overdue and the good year this year is well earned," Andrus told the 65th annual session of the state Grange.

The governor said his administration is working with the farmer to see that he receives the credit and support he deserves and needs.

Salmon backs redistricting

SALMON, Idaho (UPI) — The Salmon Chamber of Commerce has voted unanimously to support a legislative redistricting concept that would keep Lemhi and Custer counties together.

The chamber says it supports a simple member legislative district to include at least the two counties.

The Idaho Legislature will be faced with reapportionment in its 1974 session.

Aging program awarded grant

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A $16,755 grant has been awarded from action for the Western Regional Council on Aging in Emmett, Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, announced Tuesday. The program will operate for one year.

Body found

SALMON, Idaho (UPI) — The body of 11-year-old Tim Porter was found in the Salmon River today, Salmon police said.

Chief of Police Frank Evans said the youth had been playing above the river and was reported missing Monday. A search there was unsuccessful.

City policeman Jim Tarkalson found the boy's body partially submerged in the water at the edge of the river. He had fallen 50 yards down a steep incline.

The boy, the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Porter of Owl Creek, had been residing in Salmon while attending the sixth grade.

Halley meet set

HAILEY — The meet-the-candidates night for contenders in the Hailey City Council race has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday at the Liberty Theater.

The event is sponsored by Ralph Rutter, candidate for mayor, and council candidates William Whitaker and Robert Ward.

According to a group release, their opponents, incumbent mayor Lawrence Heagle, and council candidates Don Angell and incumbent Charles Dunn, have been invited to discuss election issues.

Sid Lindsay, Bellevue, will serve as a non-partisan moderator.

AEC head, Andrus to meet

(Special to the Times-News)

BOISE — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus has scheduled a meeting Wednesday with the new Idaho Operations Manager of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

R. Glenn Bradley is expected to discuss the governor's request for information about any "unusual increases in the amount of atomic waste being transported or transferred to Idaho for purposes of interim storage."

When Bradley took over as the chief AEC official in Idaho, Andrus sent him a letter detailing past understandings with William L. Ginkel, past AEC manager.

Andrus' letter, dated Oct. 5, also requested a monthly report from the AEC office on the amount of on-site generated waste at the Nuclear Reactor Testing Station west of Idaho Falls.

Grant announced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, has announced the awarding of $14,688 to the Idaho Law Enforcement Commission for a project to develop a central criminal justice information file for state agencies.

Idaho votes split

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho and Utah senators followed party-line voting as the Senate failed to override President Nixon's veto of a bill authorizing the U.S. Information Agency Budget. The 54-42 roll call vote was 10 shy Tuesday of the necessary two-thirds majority.

Sens. Frank Church of Idaho and Frank E. Moss of Utah joined with 45 fellow Democrats and only seven Republicans in the effort to override Nixon's veto.

Sens. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah and Idaho's James A. McClure were among 35 Republicans supporting the President. Seven Democrats also voted with the President. Four senators were absent.

Nixon reportedly vetoed the bill because he was displeased with a provision that would have forced the USIA to provide any confidential information asked by Congress or face an automatic cutoff of funds.

Jerome funds misplaced

Campbell said today the $1,300 overclaim "is quite a common thing to happen" in finance management.

"If the people knew something about money management they would be much more understanding of mistake making," he said.

Campbell confirmed that the overpayment was placed in the school district's general fund account.

Asked why the overclaim was not returned, Campbell said the school district depends on the Department of Education audits to point out discrepancies and the latest audit was completed this month.

Campbell said he had not received the formal audit report but expected to receive it in today's mail.

"We were not surprised when it was found there were some mechanical discrepancies," Campbell said.

But "it's a matter of bookkeeping and not a matter of skulduggery," he stressed.

Although he accepts "full responsibility for the error," Campbell indicated that inept work by the driving instructor caused much of the "mess."

The instructor has been relieved of driver training duties, according to Campbell.

"The reason I don't have the driver education man who got me into this mess is because we were not satisfied with his work," Campbell said.

In addition to calling for more accurate bookkeeping and student log records, the report makes several other recommendations:

- enrollment in the programs should not exceed what the instructor can teach "and still meet all requirements of law."
- every effort should be made to avoid damage to driver education vehicles. The report states that over $600 was spent on cars before they would be accepted back by the dealers.

Campbell said today he had received a letter from an auto dealer who refused further car loans to the district "if the same man ran the driver education program."

Kirk said in an interview Monday the district had already complied with some of the recommendations he made in his report. He characterized as "unusual" the overclaiming of funds by the district. The figure represents almost 10 per cent of the program.

He said he didn't recommend any court or disciplinary action against the district because "I can't see any point at this time."

When Kirk did the audit, there were reports that he was investigating charges that the district was diverting driver education funds by certifying students for class completion without giving them the required amount of instruction.

The report notes that in 18 interviews with students, only one positively said she hadn't received the proper amount of instruction. One other student said he thought he hadn't received what he should have but also said he had missed a few classes.

adequately explained and the "maintaining a Head Start program for five-year olds in an area that has public school kindergartens available is not a valid expenditure of federal dollars." (Russell said the Head Start money in this area paid the kindergarten tuition fees of children from low-income families).

- A low, $120 budget for training Head Start workers.

Russell said Head Start here will now try to spur parent involvement in developing a new program application. He said that rewriting the program and having it approved by the state Head Start office will take six weeks to two months "on a rush basis." Meanwhile, the $255,000 program grant will remain in jeopardy.

Regarding his recommendation to fire the local director of Head Start, Russell said that the application decision was just one of the reasons for his decision. "I can't tell you any of the reasons before I go before the personnel committee," he added.

Mrs. Jensen's dismissal will first be considered by the Head Start Personnel Committee, which is comprised of parents and staff members, next Monday at an executive session. Then, the CAA board will decide on the firing.

Meanwhile, Candy McElfresh has taken charge as acting director.

Head Start loses funds

Dec. 25, next year's Head Start will be stopped at least for some period of time. Partly in response to the funding problem, Russell has recommended the dismissal of Barbara Jensen, Head Start director for this area.

Head Start is a federally funded pre-school program geared to give children from low-income families a breadth of experience before they enter grade school. Russell said the tri-counties application for the program here have been accepted for about the past seven years with no problem. This year, he said, the program is being revamped on a nationwide basis.

Curriculum regimentation is one of the problems of the current Head Start program, according to State Director Kirk.

"The individualities of the children do not seem to be of prime importance," he wrote, advising that Head Start should provide experiences taking into account individual needs of the students.

Kirk also criticized the administration of batteries of checklists and tests to Headstart children and parents here. He maintained the grand application did not adequately describe how the results of this testing would be used, and he linked arbitrary testing to lack of consideration of individual differences.

"The plan (application) does not specify that staff or community aides will act as advocates on behalf of Head Start families . . .," Kirk wrote, maintaining that in addition to teaching children, Head Start staff should work closely with the families to insure their needs are met.

Kirk further criticized the following aspects of the program:

- The reduction of the "full-day-full-year" program to only eight months. He maintained this reduction abrogates the responsibility to give "comprehensive developmental services to low-income pre-school children."
- The location of Head Start children in public school kindergartens. Kirk said this "rather unorthodox approach" was not

Coin flip elects aide for Jerome soil unit

JEROME — Gordon Hagler was elected by the flip of a coin Monday night to serve as supervisor for the Northside Soil Conservation District.

Hagler tied with Everett Ahrens for the position during an election conducted in August and the tie was broken with the flip of a coin at the Northside Soil Conservation District meeting Monday night in Hazelton.

For the first time in the history of the Northside Soil Conservation District, the board confirmed the appointment of a woman, Mrs. Wesley Rose, as a supervisor to the district. Members also appointed Roy Murphy, Alvin Chojnacky, board member, said the appointments of Murphy and Mrs. Rose are subject to final confirmation from the Idaho Soil Conservation Commission.

Chojnacky explained that in the last legislative session, a bill was passed permitting soil districts to expand the number of supervisors from five to seven if the additional personnel are needed.

Other supervisors elected in August included Roger Flala and Albert Lickley. Chojnacky said the re-organizational meeting has been tentatively set for 1:30 p.m. Dec. 17 at the Jerome Soil Conservation office.

Resolutions to be presented at the state convention Nov. 14-16 at the Rodeway Inn, Boise, were discussed at the meeting.

Gem welfare payment cutbacks to end soon

(Special to the Times-News)

BOISE — State cutbacks in welfare payments made a year ago will be re-instated effective Dec. 1, Governor Cecil D. Andrus announced today.

Andrus told a press conference the re-instatements of last year's cuts would come "without any increase in cost to the taxpayer" and were the result of a program of fraud prosecution in pursuit of deserting fathers initiated a year ago.

The Governor said recipients of Aid to Families With Dependant Children (AFDC) would be receiving grants equal to 90 per cent of the June 1971 standards. A year ago, they were cut back to 80 per cent.

Andrus said current welfare figures show Idaho with 2.7 per cent of its population receiving AFDC support, compared to five per cent nationwide. California's case load, he said is about seven per cent.

He also said the state's case load had declined in the past year and stood at 5,600 cases in October compared to 6,500 a year ago.

The re-instatement of the cutbacks will mean an average of $25 per grant, the Governor said, bringing the average monthly welfare check to just over $200.

The total amount involved for the state is $100,000, Andrus said, which will be matched by an additional $900,000 with federal funds.

The Governor said the enforcement program initiated a year ago had resulted in collection of $500,000 from absent fathers who had not been supporting their families and recovery of $150,000 in money accepted fraudulently by welfare recipients.

Andrus also estimated the program had resulted in an additional $1 million turned over voluntarily by persons who "knew we were enforcing" the law. The collection program cost the state $140,000, he said.

Andrus said the money that would pay for the increases had already been appropriated by the legislature. He said he had no plans at this time to ask the legislature for money to increase welfare payments past the June, 1971 level.

Andrus said his announced increases were not the result of any pressure brought by welfare recipients.

In making his announcement today, he said the state had cleaned up its welfare house. He said the decision a year ago to cut back the payments was "not a pleasant choice." At the time, he said the cutbacks were necessary because of a rapid increase in case load that would exhaust the state's appropriation before the end of the year.

Shenanigans questioned

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners in Twin Falls took exception today to accusations of "shenanigans" to maneuver Joslin Field to a permanent regional airport status.

A Times-News report of the Regional Airport Authority Board said board members "expressed fear that the 'shenanigans' of the Twin Falls County Commissioners" would do all possible to create a permanent regional airport at Joslin Field.

"We would be interested in finding out what 'shenanigans' we have called," Commission Chairman William L. Chancey said.

"If working to maintain the airport in our county as an air-carrier field with jet service for residents of the Magic Valley constitutes 'shenanigans' we will continue to maneuver in this way," Chancey said.

"We will continue to work with other county commissioners of the areas we have in the past to provide the best possible air service and to work in the best interests of the taxpayers of our county," he said.

Fire guts Hansen home

HANSEN — Fire gutted a vacant farmhouse southeast of Hansen Tuesday morning.

According to Hansen City Clerk Dorothea Steelsmith the fire destroyed a house belonging to Clyde Johnson located about one mile south and one mile east of Hansen's Rock Creek corner.

Mrs. Steelsmith said the fire was reported about 10:15 a.m. Tuesday. Kimberly volunteer fire trucks responded to the blaze.

According to owner Johnson, the fire was thought to have started in faulty wiring next to a water heater.

Johnson told Mrs. Steelsmith the five-bedroom, adobe brick house was a total loss. He said the back part of the roof and the attic were destroyed and the inside of the house gutted.

Johnson refused to place a value on the house, which was built before 1917, but he described it as "not too valuable."

The fire was brought under control about 11:15 a.m., Mrs. Steelsmith said.

Walnut trees flooded

TWIN FALLS — Olen Genn, Twin Falls, who planned to introduce a new type of tasty and productive English walnut tree for the Twin Falls area, has some bad news. No trees.

Genn, who arrived in California a few weeks ago, found the small trees a nursery had planted for replanting in Idaho were flooded under a flash flood of water and mud.

Scion wood he took to Modesto, Calif., in February was not grafted immediately and allowed to dry out.

"I now have only eight trees," Genn said, but he added he plans to start all over with more grafted wood cut from the tree in his lawn in Twin Falls. Genn said it will be a longer process but he plans to begin grafting and producing the trees for a number of Twin Falls residents who have been promised the trees.

"These people will have to wait a few years," Genn said.

He said he plans to plant the eight remaining trees which have been started by grafting, from California to Maine to check their adaptability to various climates.

Vote machines readied

TWIN FALLS — County Clerk Harold Lancaster spent most of the day Tuesday behind closed doors at the county Weed Bureau programming voting machines.

The County is loaning 18 of its voting machines to Twin Falls City for use in the City Council election next Tuesday. Lancaster, one of two local men trained to program the machines, worked through the day Tuesday resetting counters and arranging ballot panels.

"I wouldn't think a bald-headed man would be a very good programmer — you need a comb," Lancaster said jokingly in a special demonstration for the Times-News. He took out his pocket comb and fiddled back a catch on the mechanism which holds the paper roll used for write-in votes.

Lancaster said the County is loaning the voting machines to the city "to be good neighbors."

"After all," he said, "the city composes about half of the residents in the county."

He said the use of the voting machines will save the city time and money and will have the added benefit of familiarizing voters with the use of the machines, which the county hopes someday to be able to use in all elections.

The city is furnishing supplies for the city election, as well as hiring necessary election officials, Lancaster said. The county will deliver the voting machines to the city's ten precincts next Monday morning and pick them up after the election.

In programming the machines, Lancaster placed metal bars between connectors in the back of the machine to prevent a voter from being able to vote for more than the proper number of candidates in each category.

The county purchased 102 voting machines in 1969 at a cost of $1,785 per machine. They were used for the first time in the 1970 primary elections.

Seaver receives Cy Young award for second time

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Mets' Tom Seaver, baseball's most celebrated pitcher the past few seasons, today was named the 1973 Cy Young Award winner for the second time in five years. Seaver, a 28-year-old overpowering righthander, outpitched Mike Marshall, the record-breaking relief pitcher of the Montreal Expos, and the San Francisco Giants' Ron Bryant, the only pitcher in the NL to win 20 games this season. Seaver, who had a 19-10 record and a 2.07 earned run average, finished with 71 points in a poll of 24 veteran writers conducted by the Baseball Writers' Association of America. Marshall finished with 54 points and Bryant received 50. Seaver was the first non-20-game winner to capture the award. Others receiving votes were Jack Billingham of the Cincinnati Reds (30), Don Sutton of the Los Angeles Dodgers (7), Fred Norman of the Cincinnati Reds (3) and Dave Giusti of the Pittsburgh Pirates (1). Seaver, who captured the award in 1969 when he won 25 games as he led the "Amazing" Mets to their first world championship, admitted he was surprised the writers chose him this year. "I really didn't think I'd win it," said Seaver as he met newsmen in the Mets' clubhouse at Shea Stadium. "I was really surprised. I thought it would be between Bryant and Marshall. Because of the 19 wins and I figured I hadn't done enough. But a lot of people remembered what I had done earlier in the season. I thought I pitched exceptionally well. Up until the last few weeks of the season the amount of work and fatigue caught up with me, I felt I had pitched better than ever before in my career."

Cy Young winner

Brown says Steeler fans must be 'sick'

(CINCINNATI) (UPI) — Cincinnati Bengals coach Paul Brown said Tuesday that some ardent Pittsburgh rooters at the Steelers' 20-13 win Sunday must have been "sick" because "they apparently were happy to see (Terry) Bradshaw get hurt" during the game. Brown also said the 45,000 fans at the Three Rivers Stadium sometimes roared so loudly when the Bengals broke from their huddle that quarterback Ken Anderson had to walk away because his teammates could not hear the signals called. "The din was tremendous," Brown recalled at his Spinney Field office. "The crescendo of the din always came to a peak when we came to the line. We didn't have a sporting chance. There's probably a reason why the Steelers have won 12 in a row at home. It's a tough place to play. The tip-off on these people is that they cheered when their first string quarterback was hurt," said Brown, getting out of his chair to show how Bradshaw walked from the field in pain. "These kind of people are sick. Even their own guy they apparently were happy to see get hurt." Brown explained he was "not crying about the game — it's over, we lost it and that's it — only analyzing the game the way I saw it." But the Bengals head coach added he wanted to defend Bill Bergey from what he understood Pittsburgh sports writer had said Brown was upset the writer had indicated Bergey made a late tackle on Steeler quarterback Terry Hanratty. "I'll step in here to defend Bill because I've seen the films and it was a legitimate hit," Brown said. "It came just in the midst of letting the pass go. This type of thing involves Bill's character. I'll defend him because the vindication of his character isn't deserved."

Brown said he believed anyone who saw films of the tackle would agree it was a fair hit. The Bengals play at Dallas Sunday, with the Cowboys trying to rebound from an upset loss to the Philadelphia Eagles last weekend. "We don't like it that they were upset," Brown said. "It makes it tougher on us. We'd prefer that they had just creamed somebody and not been stirred up for us."

It will be the first meeting ever between the teams. Both clubs are 4-3.

Bucks batter Omaha 112-78

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Lucius Allen and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, scoring 26 and 22 points respectively, led the Milwaukee Bucks to their ninth victory in 10 games Tuesday night, a 112-78 blitzing of the crippled Kansas City-Omaha Kings. The Bucks, down by five points in the first quarter, rallied for a 44-40 halftime lead and pulled away to 78-60 after three quarters. The Kings, who lost their sixth game in 10 outings, played without Nate Archibald and Sam Lacey, who are injured. John Block led Kansas City-Omaha with 25 points.

Seaver's latest honor bound to draw reaction from some

NEW YORK (UPI) — Charlie Finley gives the world a break, decides he'll take a rest for one day, so guess who goes and stirs up another controversy? Tom Seaver. He does it without even really trying. The Mets' clean-cut righthander doesn't say anything wrong, do anything wrong or even help smuggle anybody on the disabled list. Still, he gets this new controversy going beautifully anyway, and when you get right down to it, his only sin is being named the National League Cy Young Award winner for the second time.

This is the award bestowed annually by the Baseball Writers' Association of America upon the individual they vote the outstanding pitcher in the league. No sooner had the result been made official Tuesday when it immediately produced two diametric reactions. "Tom Seaver won it? No surprise. He's the best there is, isn't he?" That was from one group. The bleat from the second was altogether different. "You mean to say they gave it to Seaver? My God, how could they possibly do that? He didn't even win 20 games!" True enough.

Tom Seaver won only 19 games for the Mets this year, plus the final and deciding playoff game with Cincinnati, but that doesn't count except at the bank. "I'm delighted he got it," said Williams. "He's everything they told us he was, and more. He's as good a pitcher as we've seen all year." Tom Seaver is many things, but he's not insensitive. When he hears such drivel as "Seaver chokes up" and "Seaver never wins the big ones," he never overreacts, but the charges certainly bother him. Naturally they do. Few people realize how hard he is on himself, how rigidly he disciplines himself. "If I can give my team a consistent effort every time I go out there, I feel I'm doing my job," he says. Buddy Harelson, the Mets' shortstop, is Seaver's roommate. He takes nothing away from Montreal's Mike Marshall, San Francisco's Ron Bryant, or Cincinnati's Jack Billingham, who followed in the Cy Young balloting, but he can't see where there's any question about who's the best pitcher in the league. "Go ask all the other managers in the league," says Harelson. "Anybody who follows him (Seaver) regularly has to vote for him. He's certainly the most consistent pitcher in the league. I enjoy playing behind him. I know I won't have to play his position. I don't have to worry about charging the balls around the mound. "Partial? Sure I am. I love the guy. I'd walk a mile for him on nails. I think as much of him as I do my own brother."

N. Illinois back tops NCAA rushing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Northern Illinois' Mark Kellar used a 246-yard day against Illinois State Saturday to vault into first place in the national rushing rankings with a 156.9 yards-per-game average. Kellar, a 232-pound senior fullback, moved past Jim Jennings of Rutgers, who dropped to 147.2 when held to a 100-yard day against Columbia. Kellar also has an outside chance to assume the No. 2 position on the career total yardage list, with 3281 yards and three games left to play. With 108 yards Kellar would move past Mercury Morris into the No. 4 spot and 604 would put him into No. 2. Arizona State's Danny White took over the lead in total offense with a 246.3 yards-per-game average. White is also in line for assaults on two NCAA records. His 10.5 yards per attempted pass is ahead of the 9.5 by San Diego State's Dennis Shaw in 1971 and his career 7.78 yards per total offensive play puts him ahead of the 7.16 by Drake's Johnny Bright, set in 1949-51.

Idaho Staters to travel to Portland State

POCATELLO — The Idaho State-Portland State football game Saturday will be an all-out battle between sophomore quarterbacks. The game will be played in Portland's Civic Stadium starting at 8:30 Mountain Time.

Portland, with a 1-6 record, the same as ISU's, has five sophomore quarterbacks with the healthiest one generally getting the starting call. ISU's Gary Wood is also a second-year man.

Anthony Stoudamire directed Portland's only win of the season, a 28-12 defeat of Eastern Washington two weeks ago, but last week the Vikings were beaten 3-0 by Eastern Washington and Rich Grace looked better than Stoudamire, that one, so either could start against ISU.

"They have had offensive troubles this year," says ISU Coach Bob Griffin. "However they have had good defensive performances, especially from their line. Tommy Cole, a defensive end, was Little All-Conference last year." Cole and middle linebacker Bill Taylor are the top PSU defenders.

Idaho State lost to Weber State 38-23 last week, after trailing 30-0 at one point and Griffin was not kind in referring to ISU's performance. "We had an extremely poor first half performance, with mental and physical mistakes, and a questionable effort. We had hoped to avoid turnovers since Weber is an opportunistic team, but we gave them the ball eight times, enough for Weber to win the game. We had a good offensive effort in this second half but it was too late."

"We got good efforts from our running backs Rene Garnett, Jim Witkowski, Ken Monroe, and Kevin Crocker. And our wide receivers Tom Hoffmann and Dave Shulz played well."

Middle linebacker Joe Mattie continues to stand out on defense. He made 20 tackles Saturday to earn Big Sky Conference Defensive Player of the Week honors for the second time. Mattie now has broken the school record for tackles. He has 131 in seven games, with the old record 120. Mattie has four games remaining and has a good shot at breaking 200. He has made 23 per cent of all ISU tackles this season.

Kimberly gains semi-finals

KIMBERLY — Kimberly moved into the championship semi-finals Tuesday night by defeating Dietrich in two straight games in the western division of the class-B district girls volleyball tournament.

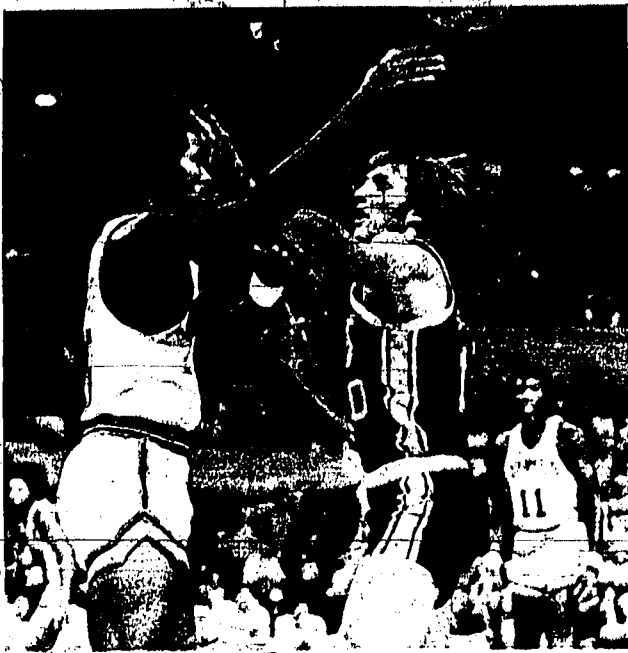

Valley went to the sidelines, losing to Richfield 2-1 and to Hagerman 2-0. Camas County defeated Declo 2-1.

Bruin girls stay unbeaten

The Twin Falls girls remained undefeated in the class A girls volleyball tournament Tuesday by defeating Filer in two straight games.

Filer then rebounded to oust Minico two games to one, taking the decisive third match 15-11.

Action continues at the Twin Falls gymnasium Wednesday night with three games slated, highlighted by a match of undefeateds, Twin Falls and Jerome.

Dallas followers restless but Landry plans no major changes

DALLAS (UPI) — Spoiled by seven straight playoff appearances by their heroes, Dallas Cowboy fans are getting restless.

The Cowboys have lost three of their last four games, have allowed 95 points in their last three contests and this week face a hard nosed Cincinnati Bengal club which itself is fighting for a playoff berth.

Speculation was running heavy that coach Tom Landry would make wholesale changes — maybe Craig Morton for Roger Staubach at quarterback, a replacement for Charlie Waters at cornerback (Dallas has allowed 10 touchdowns passes the last three weeks) and perhaps some alterations in the defensive line.

Landry had an answer for all this talk Tuesday. The people who have been playing, he said, will continue to play.

"There has been a lot of speculation this week as to what is going to happen," said

Landry. "I've been getting a lot of coaching help, I notice."

"I'm concerned. I'd be foolish if I was not concerned. But our club is trying and not quitting."

"We are not going to make any changes in the team. This team is capable of doing it and it is the responsibility of the coaches and players to get it done. But we have to start getting it done now."

"We will have our hands full in bouncing back and being a contender. Most people don't recognize yet that we are a new team."

"We are back in the pack (with a 4-3 record) and one of the teams back in the pack is going to emerge and get in the playoffs. Whether or not it is us we will have to wait and see."

"We must be better if we are to win, and I think that is within our capability."

"Our options are unlimited. We could make changes all over the place if we wanted to. But as long as our players are trying like they are I'm with them 100 per cent."

One change Landry is forced to make, however, is at flanker, where Otto Stowe will miss at least five weeks with a broken ankle. Former running back Mike Montgomery will fill in for Stowe, who along with NFC leading rusher Calvin Hill had provided almost all of the Cowboy offensive spark this season.

"Roger (Staubach) had great confidence in Stowe," said Landry. "You can look at the statistics and see that by the number of touchdown passes he had caught (six)."

Elsewhere on the injury front Landry said place kicker Toni Fritsch, who missed the loss to Philadelphia last week with a pulled hamstring muscle, would probably return to duty against Cincinnati.

"The Dallas coach also said he thought offensive tackle Rayfield Wright would be back after missing two games."

Hanratty plans to be ready when Steelers meet Redskins

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — When Terry Hanratty, grimacing with pain, walked off the field last Sunday after he led the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 20-13 victory over Cincinnati, the first player to console him was the one who hit him.

Linebacker Bill Bergey, who blitzed Hanratty in the third period, put his arm around the quarterback.

"He wanted to know how I felt and he asked me if I thought he had taken a cheap shot at me. I told him he didn't — that it was a clean shot all the way. He seemed relieved."

Sophs play

The Twin Falls sophomores will host Boise at 4 p.m. Thursday in Brulu Stadium for their final outing of the season.

Twin Falls carries a 6-2 record into the fray while Boise is believed to be 5-3.

Braves set win mark with four

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Randy Smith's two free throws with one second left lifted Buffalo to a 105-103 NBA victory over Seattle Tuesday night, extending the Braves' victory string to four, longest in the four-year history of the team.

The victory also pushed the Braves into first place, a half-game ahead of idle Boston in the Atlantic Division.

With the score tied at 103, Smith, a hometown star from Buffalo State College, intercepted Dick Gibbs' pass in the Buffalo foul circle as the clock showed five seconds to play, streaked the length of the court and lofted a shot near the basket.

"Roger (Staubach) had great confidence in Stowe," said Landry. "You can look at the statistics and see that by the number of touchdown passes he had caught (six)."

Elsewhere on the injury front Landry said place kicker Toni Fritsch, who missed the loss to Philadelphia last week with a pulled hamstring muscle, would probably return to duty against Cincinnati.

"The Dallas coach also said he thought offensive tackle Rayfield Wright would be back after missing two games."

Hanratty said. "Bill and I have been friends ever since we played on the College All-Star team in 1969."

Hanratty said his two bruised ribs on the right side have improved.

"I can raise my arm above my head now," he said. "I hope to start throwing the ball in practice Thursday."

The Steelers have no drills scheduled today and will view films of the Bengal game and of the Washington Redskins, their opponents next Monday night here.

Last year Hanratty saw limited action because he suffered from a hamstring injury. He will start for the first time in two years when he faces Washington.

Hanratty moved up to the starting role because Terry Bradshaw will be out for six weeks with a partially separated right shoulder sustained when he was hit shortly before halftime in the Cincinnati game.

"I don't consider starting a big problem — it's something I must do, it's my job," Hanratty said.

The two Terrys have been roommates on the road for four years and naturally most of their conversation centers on football.

"Bradshaw and I help each other, mostly in the game," he said. "When he comes out of the game he walks over to me and asks 'What do you think? I tell him if I saw any flaws. He does the same for me. You can see better from the sidelines than you can in the game."

Memphis drops ABA Cougars

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Reserves George Thompson and Jim Ard combined for 37 points and 21 rebounds to pull the Memphis Tams to a 110-99 victory over the Carolina Cougars Tuesday night in American Basketball Association play.

Memphis out rebounded Carolina 58-39 while snapping a five-game Carolina winning streak.

Ard, pressed into a starting roll when Tams' center Randy Denton missed the game due to a strained back, scored 14 points and led both teams with 17 rebounds.

Pheasant limits go up Thursday

Bag and possession limits on pheasants will increase Thursday and Friday, Magic Valley hunters are reminded by Biologist Dale Turnipseed of the Idaho Fish and Game department.

The bag limit will go to four roosters as of Thursday with the possession limit going to eight as of Friday. The opening five days limits of two and two evidently accomplished their purpose of taking early pressure off deeded lands.

Turnipseed said license checks at the Acequia station (the only one conducted by the department) showed the number of non-resident vehicles decreased from 39 per cent last year to 19 per cent this season.

The average success was .95 birds per man with the hunter needing an extra hour per kill to accomplish that.

"The figures for this year and last aren't comparable because of the reduced limit," Turnipseed pointed out. "But we feel that the success was pretty good, just about what we predicted. I would guess that if we had the four-bag limit the success last weekend would have been around 1.5 birds per man against two last year."

The department will continue to check the Minidoka area this weekend for non-resident data to see if the first week-end reduced limit accomplished its purpose or merely delayed the problem a week.

Boston college slates Texas

BOSTON (UPI) — Boston College, working to upgrade its football program, announced Tuesday it will host the University of Texas Longhorns in a season opening game next Sept. 14.

Athletic Directors Bill Flynn of Boston College and Darrell Royal of Texas said the two schools were trying to work out a return match at Texas, possibly by 1977 if the details can be worked out.

Flynn and Boston College Coach Joe Yukien have been working for the last several years to build the Eagles into a national power.

Boise State climbs to sixth in rating

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tennessee State, still pursued by a trio of unbeaten, retained its No. 1 position in the latest small college football ratings of the United Press International Board of Coaches.

Led by huge defensive tackle Ed Jones (thought to be the No. 1 pro prospect this season), Tennessee State swept to its seventh straight win last week, 24-6 over Southern. Thus the Tigers, who took over the No. 1 spot, when "Delaware" was finally beaten two weeks ago, remained on top with 21 first place votes and 312 total points.

Hawaii, Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo and Western Kentucky, all unbeaten but unable to gain ground, remained in the No. 2, 3 and 4 spots respectively. Louisiana Tech, however, moved up a notch to sixth as Delaware was beaten by a major college for the second straight week and plummeted all the way down to 13th.

Delaware's 31-8 loss to Temple coupled by Grambling's 35-21 upset at the hands of Texas Southern enabled three teams to move up two notches. Big Sky leader Boise State advanced from eighth to sixth, South Dakota moved up from ninth to seventh and North Dakota State climbed from 10th to eighth.

Unbeaten Wittenberg of Ohio, 14th a week ago, jumped up to ninth, while Elon of North Carolina, another unbeaten, completed the top 10.

The remaining five spots in order went to Lone Star conference power Abilene Christian, Montana State, Delaware, Grambling and Emporia State of Kansas.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United Press International Board of Coaches top 15 small college football teams with win-loss records and first-place votes in parentheses.

Team	Points
1. Tennessee State (21) (7-0)	312
2. Hawaii (24) (7-0)	298
3. Cal Poly (23) (7-0)	241
4. Western Kentucky (21) (4-1)	240
5. Louisiana Tech (18) (7-0)	179
6. Boise State (14) (6-1)	134
7. South Dakota (13) (6-1)	122
8. North Dakota State (12) (7-1)	77

Lyle and Middleton put pro ring careers on line

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A slug-ging ex-convict and an accomplished boxing artist will battle it out at the Baltimore Civic Center Wednesday night with the future of both as professional heavyweights at stake.

The ex-con, fifth-ranked Ron Lyle, says he wants and needs a victory in the scheduled 10-rounder to continue toward his goal of becoming heavyweight champion of the world.

Larry Middleton, ranked ninth by the World Boxing Association, says if he wins he may be only two or three fights away from the same goal, hinting he may retire if he loses.

But Middleton is loudly predicting victory over the

"That's how he's going to look when I'm through with him," boasts Middleton, who is predicting a seventh or eighth round knockout.

If Lyle does go down for the long count, it will be the first time in his career.

Middleton's prediction has to be seriously questioned, however, since Lyle floored him in the third round of a scheduled 10-rounder in Denver last December.

Lyle, who's become a model citizen working with juveniles and in charity drives since his release from prison after serving 7 1/2 years for second degree murder, is making no predictions other than, "I have my plans for defeat."

The match is expected to be an interesting one, with Lyle's raw power challenging Middleton's speed and quickness.

Lyle likes to attack his opponent, wear him out, then knock him out. His 2-1 record boasts 19 knockouts.

Hawkins, Erickson traded by NBA clubs

PHOENIX (UPI) — Forward Connie Hawkins, who twice led the Phoenix Suns in scoring and helped them into the NBA playoffs four years ago, was traded to the Los Angeles Lakers today for Keith Erickson and a second round 1974 draft pick.

The 6-8, 220 pound Hawkins a late-comer to the NBA because of a college gambling scandal, averaged 20.7 points and 9.1 rebounds during his four years with the Suns and was named to the BA all-star team each year. He was a first team all-pro selection in 1969-70, his first year with the team.

"We're fortunate to acquire a player of Connie's skill and ability," Lakers coach Bill Sharman said in Los Angeles. "He's a welcome addition to our club and we expect him to give us a little more scoring balance than we've had thus far this season."

Hawkins, who will join the Lakers Wednesday and play for them Friday against the New York Knicks, said he was excited about joining Los Angeles.

"I've had trouble in the past sustaining concentration for really long periods of time," he said. "I'm going to try concentrating more and be more serious about basketball."

Suns' General Manager Jerry Colangelo said Erickson, who had been unable to reach terms with the Lakers this season, had signed with Phoenix and would join the Suns in time for Friday night's game at Detroit.

"With the acquisition of Keith Erickson, we have added a needed dimension to our basketball team—a proven winner who brings leadership to a club in need of additional leadership," said Colangelo. "His ability to swing between guard and forward and to handle the toughest defensive assignments strengthens us immeasurably on defense."

Colangelo said the trade of the popular Hawkins was "made with thorough consideration of our fans' reactions and thoughts and I hope they can appreciate the reasoning behind the trade."

The general manager said he was "grateful for the job Connie Hawkins did in the early years of our franchise, but we felt the trade was in the best interest of our future. I wish Connie the best."

The 6-foot-8 Hawkins came to the Suns in 1969 from Pittsburgh of the American Basketball Association.

Opposing coaches swap views

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pitt's weekly football luncheon was a contrast in winning and losing styles.

Syracuse's venerable Ben Schwartzwalder sounded like a weary football coach with an 0-7 season. Pitt's Johnny Majors displayed the enthusiasm of a coach who has turned around a team that went 1-10 last year.

Pitt will be hoping to improve on its 4-2-1 record when it meets Syracuse here Saturday. Syracuse hoped to send Schwartzwalder into retirement next month with at least one victory.

"After seven losses, I just don't have many good things to talk about," said Schwartzwalder. Syracuse head coach for the past 25 years, via long distance. "It has to be more of a drag when things don't turn out so well."

"Consistency is a word we don't know much about. We just aren't capable of doing anything aggressive as far as our offense is concerned. Our defense has made a lot of errors and turnovers on fumbles and interceptions."

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I want to express my gratitude to you for having the courage to repeat your statement that homosexuality is NOT a "sickness."

I am the director of Adult Ministries for the United Methodist Church in the Hawaii district, and am long past the age when I might appeal sexually to either a female or another male.

Abby, you put to shame some of my so-called "fellow Christians," who have so completely forgotten the teachings of Jesus, that they would deny God's love and compassion for the millions of people who live a lifestyle different from their own.

Thank you, Abby. Whether you believe in Jesus or not, his love shines on you when you write such columns.

FRED R. METHERED

Lifestyle defended

MY DEAR REV. METHERED: Thanks. I needed that!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl who has just started to date. I don't go steady with any one guy, but there is one I see more of than the others. I like him a lot, but this dude's hands are quicker than the eye and if I let him kiss me, before I know it, his hands are all over me.

How do I handle such an aggressive guy? CAREFUL

DEAR CAREFUL: When he gets busy with his hands, tell him to cut it out. And if he doesn't, get busy with your foot, and kick him out.

DEAR ABBY: About the girl who wanted to have her nose pierced over her parents' objections: I say, let her! It isn't painful, and if it is properly done, no infection should result.

I spent two years in India on an assignment, and while I was there I had my nose pierced in order to wear a small gold ring in it. It is the custom for women and girls in India.

After I returned to the States, wearing the ring in my nose, I was the object of curious stares and many rude remarks, so I removed it. However, I still have the tiny hole in my nose, and will wear the ring in it if it ever becomes the fad or fashion here.

HOLE IN MY NOSE IN LONG BEACH

DEAR HOLE: Of course, one never knows, but I doubt if nose rings will ever catch on in the States.

DEAR ABBY: My husband (I'll call him "T") took his life and left me with three minor children. Before "T" was buried, the vultures moved in to pick the bones.

A friend called the morning of the funeral and said if I planned to sell the house to please give him a chance to bid on it.

At the funeral parlor, another "friend" asked me what I was going to do with T's gun collection. Imagine the

It's been only a week and I have had offers for every thing from his clothes to his garden tools.

Thanks for letting me get this off my chest I was ready to explode. I don't have to sign my name. Everybody in town knows who I am. BEREAVED

CONFIDENTIAL TO "23676" in the Missouri State Penitentiary, Jefferson City: I have faith in you. Please don't let me down!

Musical rehearsed

Filer High School plans 'L'il Abner'

FILER — Two performances of the comedy "L'il Abner" will be presented Nov. 9 and 10 by the school's drama department at the Filer High School.

This will be the first full musical to be presented by the students and will include a large cast of characters as well as dance troupe, the high school chorus and members of the orchestra.

Janet Collins, drama teacher, is directing the play which is based on the famous comic strip and is built around a plot in which L'il Abner wants to present his famous "elixir" to the United States government. All the well-known characters of Dogpatch will be included in the play and a Sadie Hawkins Day race will be a highlight.

Dan Denton plays the part of Abner and Angela Ward is Daisy Mae. Mary Nell Pastoor and Roger Iverson are Mammy and Pappy Yokum, and Rick Webb is Marryin' Sam.

Other characters include Brent Thauto, Bullmoose; Jan Hedger, Appassionata; Shirley Reed, Moonbeam McSwine; Rockne Lammers, Earthquake

McGoon; Paul Allen, Senator Dawgmont; Ron Luker, Senator Phogbound; Jim Routt, Romeo Scragg; Steve Ridley, Clem Scragg, and Mike Gentry, Alf Scragg.

Also appearing on the cast are Allen Pierce, Pam Kalbfleisch; Gary Thompson, Patti Davis, Nikki McCormick, Betay Pastoor, Hayden Watson, Jim Hundley, Voyne Reinke, Benny Jones and Wayne Ingram.

Large cyst

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — A 460 pound woman died over the weekend from complications four days after a 176-pound ovarian cyst was removed from her body, hospital authorities say.

The woman, Maria da Gloria Perelra, 27, died of pulmonary embolism, according to a spokesman for the Getulio Vargas Hospital, where the operation took place. The spokesman said the cyst, removed last Wednesday by Dr. Euris Dalama, contained 110 pounds of liquid and 66 pounds of solid matter.

South won the club in dummy and played dummy's ace of hearts. He assumed that if anyone held four hearts it would be East. When East followed with the 10, South paused a while and then led a heart to his king. East showed out and the heart slam which would have been a lay down against a 3-2 trump break became a tough one to make, but South saw a way out of his troubles.

He simply played his ace and queen of diamonds. West was on lead with the king and for want of anything better to do, led a third diamond. South ruffed; finessed against the jack of trumps; pulled West's last trump while discarding a losing club from his hand and claimed the rest.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

As avid Western story fans we like to see the desperado get what is coming to him at the end of the story.

Most North-South pairs in the duplicate game reached six notrump and went down one since in all instances West made a safe lead and there was no way for declarer to collect 12 tricks.

Top score went to the South player who struggled into six hearts after a desperado's three-diamond overcall.

We mean struggle. North and South were playing together for the first time. North wasn't sure if his partner's five-heart bid was a response to Blackwood or an effort to show a second four-card major suit, but he did bid six hearts on the theory that if South did not hold four

Couple says vows

TWIN FALLS — Elsie Louise Snyder and John R. McCallister were married in Oct. 13 rites at the LDS Fifth Ward Church, Twin Falls.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop Jim Dodds.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Snyder, Twin Falls. The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Winnie McCallister, Kimberly, and the late John McCallister.

The bride wore a gown of blue and white nylon lace over white in an empire style with a scooped neckline and bell sleeves. The gown was made by the bride.

Her fingertip veil of tulle was held by a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones, made by the bride's mother.

Mrs. Donna Krefl was matron of honor.

Donald Snyder, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Bill and Gary Krefl.

Mrs. Carol Newman was organist. Mrs. Del Slaughter played a violin solo, accompanied by her daughter, Kathryn.

The couple was honored at a reception after the ceremony in the LDS Cultural Hall.

The bride's table was covered with a lace tablecloth. The four-tiered cake, decorated with blue roses and silver leaves, was topped with a satin bell, love birds and a miniature engagement and wedding ring. The cake was made and decorated by the bride's mother.

Guests were served at oblong tables decorated with bowls of blue and white flowers with miniature bridal couples as centerpieces.

Lanny Nally served as master of ceremonies for the program.

Mrs. Betty Morris, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the gift table. Carol Snyder, sister of the bride, and Carol McCallister, sister of the bridegroom, carried gifts.

Cake and punch were served by Mrs. Marlene LaBoucane, Mrs. Gordon Bjorn, Mrs. Dick Elliott, Mrs. Carl Newman and Mrs. Mary Chatterton.

Marion Swenson gave the benediction.

The bride will continue her studies at Twin Falls High School. The bridegroom is employed in Twin Falls.

The couple resides at the California Apartments, Second Avenue North, Twin Falls.

Janie Reports...

JANE ARMSTRONG, Consulting Home Economist for Buttrey Food Stores

Nutrition experts have come up with "A Daily Food Guide" as a basic guideline to "balanced" eating. This plan groups foods according to their major contributions of essential nutrients. Let's consider some ways to save cost while selecting the foods your family needs.

The Meat Group — Choose economical alternatives for meat... fish, eggs, dried beans, peas and lentils, and peanut butter, keeping in mind the protein content in each (A 3 ounce serving of cooked lean meat offers 20 grams of protein, while 3 eggs offer 20 grams of protein.) So, the true way of comparing costs in the meat group is to figure the cost per protein equivalent, or per 20 grams. Because proteins from non-animal sources don't contain all the components in sufficient amounts necessary for growth, combine them with animal-protein foods, such as eggs with bacon, or milk with a peanut butter sandwich.

The Milk Group — For drinking, try mixing whole milk with equal amounts of reconstituted nonfat (dry milk. In recipes, substitute reconstituted nonfat dry milk or evaporated milk for whole milk.

The Fruit and Vegetable Group — Check seasonal fruit and vegetables available, and compare them with their canned and frozen counterparts for the best buys. Frozen vegetables in 20 to 24-ounce bags usually cost less per serving than smaller packages. Save all leftover vegetables and their cooking liquid to add valuable nutrients and flavor to stews, soups or sauces. When you buy citrus fruits, select those that are heavy for their size; they'll have more pulp and juice.

The Bread and Cereal Group — Combine enriched or whole grain cereals, breads, rice, cornmeal, grits, pastas, with small amounts of animal-protein foods (meat, cheese, eggs, etc.) to increase the protein value of this group. Hot cereals cost less per serving than ready-to-eat cereals and offer extra nutrition as well.

Keep in mind these cost-saving tips as you buy from the four basic food groups.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES A day when you find yourself in the position to make considerable headway with specific items of a governmental nature. Be sure future plans are on a sound and secure structure. Try to be calm if tensions arise later.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are full of enthusiasm and determination to get things done today, so schedule your time and activities well. Show devotion to mate.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Have a good talk with a trusted associate and you get excellent results today. Have patience with ally who deliberates too much.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make sure you go through with the work you have promised to do. Use common sense methods. Engage in recreations after work is done.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take a little time for recreation early and then handle responsibilities awaiting your attention. Avoid one who is a troublemaker.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can handle the situation at home nicely provided you keep your cool. Don't forget to pay an important bill. Take it easy tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Do whatever will make your regular routines more efficient. Call your friends and relations and show that you are thinking of them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) A good day to think about adding to your present abundance and begin the new month wisely. Obtain the support you need from a bigwig.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Keep rooted at plans you have started, though they may seem difficult to push through. Friends will give the cooperation you need.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Not a good day for research work so take time for recreation you need to clear your head. Don't argue with loved one over money.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You find that a good friend can help you more than kin today, since this person has the power of the planets. Attend the social.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Go to the proper sources for information you need to get ahead faster instead of wasting time. Find the right appliances you need.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Search for the information you require in order to be successful in your project. You get a message from out of town that is helpful.

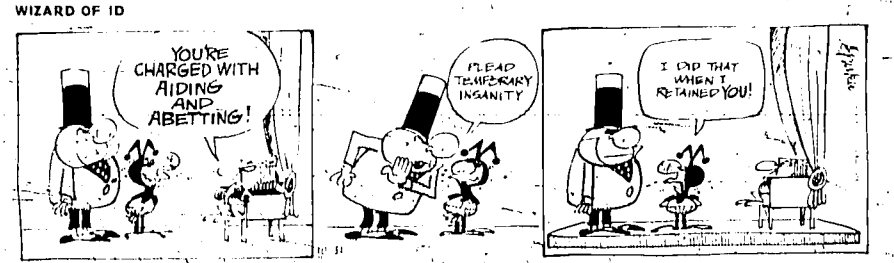

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who will be very much interested in persons of all walks of life. Give the finest education you can afford which will equip your child for an unusual and rewarding career. Sports are not of much interest here, but religion could be the key.

FUNNY BUSINESS

OUT OUR WAY

What's What

L. M. Boyd

What do you do when you realize the party on the other end of the telephone line is an obscene caller? Hang up immediately? Likewise Surveys show, however, that 72 per cent of the citizens who get such calls don't cut them short without a word, click, but bear them out, at least for a minute or so, and comment, too. That's bad. Very bad.

Consider this big blanket. Spread out, it measures 56 by 84 inches. Folded up, it packs into a 2-by-4-inch shirt pocket. Weighs less than two ounces. Excellent for outdoorism. The space boys came up with that, too. It's an offshoot of the aluminum-coated skin of Echo balloon satellites.

OF HUMANS
Q. "Wasn't it Beaumarchais who described the human being as 'an ingenious assemblage of portable plumbing'?"
A. No, Christopher Morley said that Beaumarchais said. We drink when we're not thirsty, and we make love at any old time - these are the only differences between us and the other animals."

Did I tell you the average cow spends 9 hours 20 minutes out of every 24 hours lying down? Or so the US Department of Agriculture reports. When grazing, it reports further, said cow takes 90 bites per minute.

Another thing I can't savvy is why the recent comics so frequently ridicule Kate Smith. No one lady singer ever has introduced us to more of the songs of our lives, certainly. Nor sung them better, possibly. Those of us in middle age and beyond regard her with an affection that's pretty personal. I think. She's family, no?

BRAINS
Body of a man weighs 35 times more than his brain. Body of a chump weighs 75 times more than his brain. Body of a cat weighs 110 times more than its brain.

No, I don't know who's doing all the killing, but according to the medical examiners, most of the murder victims now in the big cities are black.

If all the pop pills manufactured in one year nationwide were divided up equally among the citizenry, everybody would get about 40.

Gorillas snore, abominably.
It's not enough just to be a good pilot in order to write with smoke in the sky. You've got to know how to write those letters in reverse so they'll appear right side up to the citizenry below. The skywriter is a little bit like a left-hander. Apt to smudge. That's why he climbs about 50 feet after each letter. So the prop wash won't spill on his dandy work. This comes to mind because a client asks how fast a skywriter flies while spelling about 140 mph.

Posses search for cattle rustlers

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
COUNCIL (UPI) — Sheriffs' posses once again are riding Idaho's back-country trails in search of cattle rustlers.

Fearing an increase in thefts because of high beef prices, Sheriff Jim Hileman of Adams County organized cattlemen into a protective association to help him head the rustlers off at the pass.

So far, Hileman's back road patrols and roadblocks have turned up only drunken drivers, game poachers and similar violators.

But he believes their presence and the publicity he gave it just before hunting season is going to cut down the illegal beef harvest in his county this year.

"We haven't had near the traffic on these back roads this year as we did last year," he said, adding this reduction has occurred despite a heavy turnout of deer and elk hunters.

Once a capital crime and still a felony if the livestock is valued at $150 or more, rustling always has been a problem for Idaho sheriffs. But rising retail beef prices in recent years have made it a major instead of minor one in the big cattle counties.

"It's been a problem every year but last year one rancher had 12 head taken right out of his lot after he's brought them in off the range," Hileman said.

With this year's skyrocketing beef prices, Hileman went to the cattlemen and talked them into assessing themselves 10 cents a head to form special, deputized patrols. They travel in two-wheel-drive vehicles — two men per car — and patrol the back roads day and night.

Called "range deputies," they travel continuously. They have arrest powers and they are bonded. They are paid out of the fund raised by the cattlemen's assessment.

"We kind of spearheaded this thing," said Hileman, whose idea has been adopted by at least six other counties in Idaho and is being considered by three more.

"I've always been concerned about the loss of cattle and thought there was a way of curbing it. From the first night it snowballed."

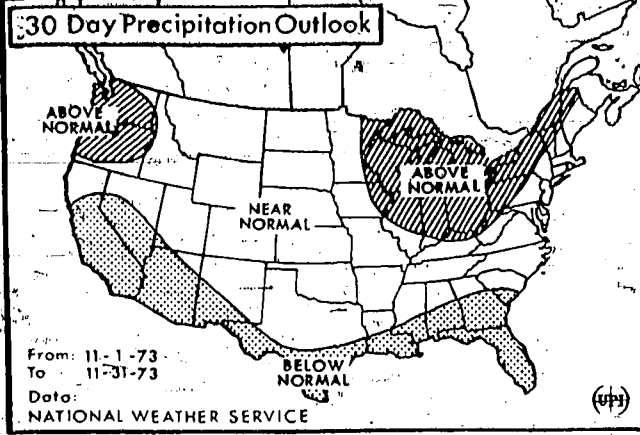

"We're into it hook, line and sinker now and we're looking into the possibility of going into it a little deeper next year. We've got to improve communications for one thing. Radios are scarce and we've got to rely on them getting out to a telephone to call us."

On the opening weekend of the general big game season in this area eight, two-man teams prowled the dirt and gravel roads through the mountains just east of Hells Canyon, keeping rustlers and hunters honest. They put up spot roadblocks, too, to check those with a nocturnal urge to travel

And most persons, surprisingly, have taken it well."

"They've accepted it real well," Hileman said. "We've had no problem at all. The only people who are going to give you any static are the ones with something to hide."

Accurate statistics on beef thefts are not available. But State Brand Inspector J. Burns Deal estimates at least $100,000 worth of cattle have been stolen by rustlers in Idaho this year.

Precipitation expected near normal

THE NATIONAL WEATHER Service's 30-day outlook for November for temperatures to average above seasonal normals in the northeast and southwest. Below normal averages are indicated for the Gulf and south Atlantic coast states as well as the upper Mississippi Valley and eastern portions of the northern Great Plains. In unspecified areas near normal temperatures are in prospect. "Precipitation is expected to exceed normal in the northwest and most of the northeast part of the nation. (UPI)

Soviet wheat harvest good

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Brighter wheat harvests expected in the Soviet Union mean world wheat reserves may turn up this year instead of declining from the current dangerously low level, reports from U.S. Agriculture Department experts indicate.

The news came in two installments. Department officials issued a formal report stating that global 1973 wheat production prospects have improved since August but remained below estimate world needs. Simultaneously an agency specialist cautioned newsmen that another upward revision of U.S. estimates of the 1973 Soviet crop is expected momentarily.

Monday's report put the Soviet harvest at 100 million tons compared with a previous U.S. forecast of 95 million tons. But on the heels of Soviet claims of even greater yields, a spokesman says the Agriculture Department probably will raise its estimate of the Russian harvest again — this time to as much as 110 million tons.

On the basis of Monday's report, global wheat production this year is put at a record 354.8 million tons, about 5.6 million tons below estimated world consumption for the 1974-74 marketing year ending next June 30.

But if 10 billion more tons are added to the Soviet estimate, the global figure would rise to 364 to 365 million tons, or slightly above the consumption estimate of 360.4 million tons.

The forecast of nearly 365 million tons issued Monday was 6.8 million tons above August estimates and about 24 million tons bigger than last year's small crop.

The drop in production last year left the harvest some 24 million tons below 1972-73 consumption. This drastically reduced world stocks, triggered a price boom, and led to fears of widespread hunger in developing nations. In a reaction to those fears, the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization next month will urge its member nations to adopt formal food reserve programs to guard against future crop shortfalls.

Farm

Degraded

MOSCOW (UPI) — A University of Idaho graduate student says an extensive study of the Palouse River shows the water in the heart of one of the nation's richest wheat producing areas is "generally degraded."

Mark Buettner, a graduate student in plant physiology from Cottonwood, contended agriculture practices along the river have caused an increase in sediment.

He said animals feeding along the riverbanks are wearing down the banks.

No killing frosts

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Utah farmers have nearly completed their 1973 harvests with virtually no losses this October from killing frosts, the Utah Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said Monday.

In its final weather, crops and livestock report of the season, the agency said the potato harvest was 95 per cent complete, sugar beets 97 per cent, dry onions 96 per cent, dry beans 100 per cent, and corn for grain only 20 per cent.

Corn is usually the last crop to be harvested in Utah, the service said, with corn for grain harvests as late as January some years.

Wheat stocks down

BOISE (UPI) — Total wheat stocks in Idaho as of Oct. 1 were 31,324,000 bushels. The stocks were down slightly from a year ago, according to the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The service said the decline in on-farm stocks, down 14 per cent, more than offset the increase in off-farm stocks, up 12 per cent.

Idaho's supply of major feed grains totaled 1,050,377 tons. This compares with 1,156,416 tons in 1972.
