Saxbe new Justice pick

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, who suggested last December that President Nixon had "taken leave of his senses" for ordering the bombing of Hanoi, was chosen by the President today to be his new attorney general.

Saxbe, a 57-year-old first term senator who announced recently he would not run for re-election next year, was the nominee to succeed Elliot L. Richardson, who resigned Oct. 20 after refusing an order by Nixon to fire Archibald Cox as special Watergate prosecutor.

Saxbe is a lawyer and a former state attorney general of Ohio, where he had intended to return to his cattle farm after his current term expires.

Nixon went to the White House press center to personally announce the nomination, while Saxbe stood by his side smiling.

Nixon said Saxbe "is an individual who wants to take this position to do everything he possibly can to serve the nation as the first lawyer of the nation."

Saxbe has been a frequent critic on some issues, including Watergate, and was quoted as saying the President "must have taken leave of his senses" when he ordered the bombing of Hanoi at Christmas time last year.

'Gate talks untaped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House offered today to let a federal judge listen to one of President Nixon's Watergate tapes to hear for himself that a crucial part of a conversation in April between Nixon and John W. Dean III, about the scandal never was recorded.

The White House also recommended that electronics experts be called in to certify that Nixon's remaining secret tapes "are complete and have not been tampered with" in any way.

White House lawyer J. Fred Buzhardt made the offer at a hearing before Chief U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica about stunning disclosure that two of the nine tape recordings Nixon has promised to produce under court order apparently never existed.

The schedule posted outside Sirica's courtroom said the hearing, recessed from Wednesday, was "to ascertain the reasons, if any, relative to the nonexistence" of the critical tapes.

The two conversations that the White House now says do not exist involved a telephone call from Nixon to John N. Mitchell on June 20, 1972, three days after the Watergate bugging arrests; and an hour-long meeting between Nixon and Dean on April 15 shortly before Dean was fired as White House counsel.

Buzhardt said the Nixon-Dean meeting was not recorded because the recording machine ran out of tape. He said he would submit the recording that does exist for April 15 "so the judge himself can hear the tape running out." The Mitchell-Nixon telephone conversation, the White House said Wednesday, was not recorded because the call was made from an extension in the residential wing of the White House that was not plugged into the recording system.

Buzhardt said he would call three witnesses and submit documentary evidence to prove that the tapes do not exist.

But, he said, all the rest of the tapes "are still in existence in their entirety." He said the two tapes turned up missing several weeks ago, but searches continued and it was not until last weekend that White House officials concluded they never existed. He said the search continued as late as Wednesday.

The news of the missing tapes brought immediate questions from Capitol Hill. (Continued on p. 5)

The sealed indictment, which was filed last July 20, charged that Vesco defrauded $50,000 from the International Controls Corp. of Fairfield, N.J., a firm he once controlled.

The previous indictments, which alleged attempted fraud, were ruled by a Costa Rican court to deal with nonextraditable offenses. Bahama's courts never acted on them.

Jaworski gets 'Gate probe job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Leon Jaworski, a Texas lawyer who formerly served as president of the American Bar Association, was appointed today to replace Archibald Cox as the special Watergate prosecutor.

Acting Attorney General Robert H. Bork in announcing the appointment, said Jaworski would be unrestricted and independent in his freedom to pursue the Watergate investigation.

Bork also said Nixon will not discharge the special prosecutor, as he did Cox, without first consulting with congressional leaders and obtaining their majority agreement.

"There will be no restrictions on his freedom," Bork said.

The announcement was made at the same time that President Nixon nominated Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, to be the next attorney general.

Jaworski, 68, a former special assistant to the attorney general under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson and a member of several presidential commissions, was not present at the announcement. He was in Washington Wednesday but had to return to Houston on business.

Bork said he expected Jaworski to "be on dock" Monday.

When asked if Jaworski would have the authority to initiate legal action against the President to obtain legal documents in his job, Bork said "absolutely."

Fuel price hike hint of future?

By DALE STEWART Times-News City Editor

TWIN FALLS — In what may be a portent of the future, one major oil company serving the Magic Valley boosted gasoline and heating oil prices three cents a gallon today.

Higher prices were posted by Phillips 66 dealers after receiving notice from company officials of the boost in wholesale prices for gasoline and distillate products.

The increase was passed along to retail customers.

Most other major oil companies in the area had apparently received no notification of price increases. One distributor, for Texaco, said a 1.5 cent per gallon hike in fuel oil was passed on to the retail level effective today.

However, some dealers hinted they anticipate price increases by other major oil firms.

A spokesman for Phillips Oil Co. in San Mateo, Calif., said the price increase was to partially offset the higher cost of crude oil.

Joe Clements, a Twin Falls oil dealer whose product comes from Phillips, said his price raised 3.6 cents a gallon, going from 17 cents to 20.6 cents. He said the raise amounted to 19 per cent.

At Fields Oil Co., Buhl, the posted price for stove oil went to slightly over 23 cents a gallon and the price on furnace oil went to slightly over 22 cents. Full service gasoline pump prices were posted at 44.9 cents for regular and 49.9 cents on premium gas.

Langie Nally, Phillips district manager in Twin Falls, referred inquiries to John Rock, director of employee relations in the company's San Mateo office.

Rock said W. F. Martin, Phillips president in Bartlesville, Okla., issued a statement that 25 per cent of the company's crude oil requirements are met with imported oil and the price of that oil had risen 70 per cent since May. Little of that cost had been either recovered or passed on, Martin said.

The price hike required approval of the Cost of Living Council.

Turbine generator planned at Hailey

By O. A. (Gus) KEIKER Times-News Editor

HAILEY — Idaho Power Co. plans to install a 50,000 kilowatt gas turbine generating unit near Hailey.

Earl Paige, Hailey district manager for the firm, said the $5.8 million unit, planned for the Wood River Substation near here, would "strengthen continuity of service" in the area and would also include boosting the energy-carrying capacity of an existing line between the Wood River and Ketchum substations to 138,000 volts.

The new generating facility would be Magic Valley's third largest. It would be slightly smaller than the Bliss generating unit's 60,000 kilowatt and Lower Salmon plants' 70,000 kilowatt capacity.

Its capacity would be five times as large as the Twin Falls power plant.

Company officials said today the generating unit would use the same power plant as is used in a Boeing 747 jumbojet.

Company officials said noise would be drastically reduced because the jet's exhaust is used to drive electrical generating turbines.

According to Paige, the turbine will produce about 45 decibels of sound, which he said was below the acceptable noise standard of 90 decibels. This is comparable to a business office's sound level.

Paige said the turbine would be located on the north side of the Wood River Substation, which is about two miles north of Hailey on a 1,000 to 400 foot piece of ground. It is set back about 400 feet from U. S. Highway 93.

The turbine site will be fenced and trees will be planted for outward appearance, he said. (Continued on p. 15)

Ford welcomes close panel scrutiny

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford told the historic congressional hearings into his vice presidential nomination today that he is "not a saint" and that he welcomes the closest scrutiny of his fitness for the job.

Ford, 60, the Republican House minority leader from Michigan, was leadoff witness as the Senate Rules Committee opened hearings into his nomination to succeed Spiro T. Agnew as the 40th vice president of the United States.

"I recognize and welcome the fact that this committee, as it should will inquire fully into my worthiness to have the trust of the nation," Ford said in a prepared opening statement.

"I am not a saint and I am sure I have done things I might have done better or differently or not at all," Ford said. "But I believe and hope that I have been honest with myself and with others."

"Through my testimony it is my intention to replace misunderstanding with understanding and to substitute truth for untruths."

Ford also defended his consistent support of the Nixon administration and said "for that I have no apologies. If being for his President and for his party and for its candidates disqualified anyone from becoming vice president, then we'll never have another Truman, Nixon, Johnson or Humphrey."

"There were only small clouds on Ford's horizon amid indications he would win congressional approval by the end of this month," but Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the committee, made it clear on the eve of the hearings that his panel will scrutinize the Ford nomination closely.

"I have seen things that will certainly raise questions that we will bring out with Mr. Ford," Cannon told newsmen Wednesday after reviewing FBI investigative reports.

Included in those "things," said Cannon, are allegations that Ford traded political favors in exchange for political contributions, charges made in a book "The Washington Payoff" by former lobbyist Robert N. Winter-Berger.

"Truth is the glue that holds government together, and not only government, but civilization itself," Ford added.

Rain dampens TF Halloween activity

TWIN FALLS — Halloween activities in Twin Falls ranged from one person report to throwing eggs and garbage, city police said today.

In general, officers said they believed rain dampened the enthusiasm of some young pranksters; but there were enough activities to keep city officers and seven National Guard units busy most of the night.

City police received 11 calls on egg throwing and egg fights, including one report of a broken windshield from an egg.

"A Molotov cocktail" was thrown against the front door of the Shufflo Inn about 11:30 p.m. causing minor fire damage. Officers said the incident was reported by M. D. Jopper and C. E. Kimball, who said they were preparing to enter the building when the incident occurred. Officers found a broken soft drink bottle which had been filled with gasoline.

Another establishment, The Fook Ball Parlor, was closed by officers when numerous egg throwing and other vandalism occurred as young people began gathering there. Officers said the operators agreed to close down to help control the situation.

Other destructive activities included a number of incidents of garbage being thrown as passing vehicles and at homes. One resident of Duvall Courts reported an evergreen tree was cut off by a group of youngsters. A mother called in to report a loquacious boy was taking candy away from a child's trick or treat children.

A pickup truck carrying a passenger in the open bed was seen driving down a sidewalk in the 1400 block on Maple Avenue. The vehicle swerved into one driveway, crossed four lawns, then swung back into the street.

Generally, residents reported fewer "trick or treat" children calling at their homes than usual — probably due to the rain and gusty winds.

6 Egyptians dead in truce flareup

By United Press International
A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said today Israeli troops killed six Egyptian soldiers in two flareups along the shaky cease-fire line Wednesday. And in Cairo government sources said Egypt had reneged on its troops along the west bank of the Suez Canal to drive the Israelis back behind the Oct. 22 cease-fire line, if necessary.

The sudden tension along the canal came as Israeli Premier Golda Meir was in Washington for talks with President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy also was in Washington but there was no indication the Egyptian and Israeli leaders would meet.

Egyptian government sources said President Anwar Sadat will order a military offensive only as a last resort and failing a voluntary pull-back by Israeli forces on the Egyptian mainland. "He threatened Wednesday to resume the war if the Israelis do not withdraw."

Egypt has made the start of peace talks and the release of war prisoners contingent upon an Israeli withdrawal, and Sadat reaffirmed that position Wednesday. Israel has asked an immediate exchange of POWs before any peace talks begin, and the issue is so volatile in Israel there have been demonstrations in front of the U.S. Embassy protesting U.S. pressure on Israel.

The Egyptian viewpoint is that the Israeli task force which stabbed into Egypt across the Suez canal Oct. 15, continued its advance after the Oct. 22 cease-fire and encircled Suez City, cutting it off from the rest of Egypt. Israel said it struck after Egypt violated the cease-fire and that it has encircled the 20,000-man Egyptian 3rd Army. It is supplying the 3rd army with water, food and medicines under U.S. pressure.

Egypt, with Soviet backing, also wants the United States to apply pressure on Israel to force an Israeli withdrawal to the positions of Oct. 22. Fahmy was reported to have discussed this with Nixon and Kissinger and Mrs. Meir was discussing it with Nixon today.

Kissinger is due in Cairo on Tuesday for talks with Sadat and the sources said the question of an Israeli withdrawal to the Oct. 22 lines will top the agenda if it remains unresolved until then. In Tel Aviv a military spokesman said combat erupted twice on the truce lines Wednesday with both incidents caused by Egyptian cease-fire violations.

MRS. GOLDA MEIR arrives in U.S.

Israeli leader talks to Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir today sought clarifications from President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger about U.S. policy in the Middle East.

Mrs. Meir, who arrived from Tel Aviv Wednesday evening looking tired and drawn, was the guest of Kissinger at a working breakfast at Blair House, the official guesthouse across the street from the White House. Nixon planned to meet her at the White House at high noon.

Upon arrival here Mrs. Meir told newsmen "There is a real and basic friendship between our two countries." But she added: "Naturally from time to time problems and questions arise for which we seek answers and clarifications."

"I am looking forward to these discussions with the President and secretary with the certainty that they will be clarified, and I hope, as before, there will be common ground between our two countries," Mrs. Meir said.

"It would almost be unnatural if the United States, as friendly as it is, would see things exactly in the same light as Israel sees it," she said.

In obvious criticism of the Soviet Union, Mrs. Meir said the United States "is the one big power that really and sincerely is interested in peace in the area."

"At the same time nobody can say that the United States is an enemy of Arab countries," she said.

Before leaving Tel Aviv, Mrs. Meir told reporters she would give the prisoner of war issue top priority in her discussions with Nixon and Kissinger.

Poling team tells concern

(c) Chicago Daily News
CHICAGO—Concern over corruption in the Nixon administration, and not just the Watergate scandal, is responsible for the President's plunging popularity, according to a three-city study by a nationally-known polling firm.

The company, Social Research Inc. of Chicago, found in its survey that a plurality still favors retaining Richard Nixon in office—with 42 per cent opposing resignation or impeachment, 37 per cent urging his removal, and 21 per cent undecided.

However, officials of the firm said that among the 42 per cent "pro-Nixon" voters were many who said they would favor the President's replacement except that "a replacement would be no improvement."

Equally significant, the firm said, was the fact that its 372 in-depth interviews, conducted in Philadelphia, Oklahoma City and Chicago, found that Nixon's declining popularity was not related simply to the current developments in the Watergate affair.

Among those favoring removal, the firm said, "the most frequent reason given was the assumption that this administration has been a party to financial deals and favors."

The tapes controversy, along with the departure of special prosecutor Archibald Cox and Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson, appears only to have added fuel to the fires of discontent, said the firm.

The survey found that if Nixon is replaced, those polled would prefer the new president to be a man of "independent wealth," and "a man who doesn't need the job" and who "can't be bought."

Social research officials said those questioned also appeared to give little credence to the President's charge that much of his trouble has been caused by attacks from the news media.

Why Resort To Cheap Shots At Nixon?

WASHINGTON — God knows that in recent months Nixon has done little to invite favorable comparison with a Lincoln, or even a Hoover, but there are even legitimate issues at hand without resorting to cheap shots at the man.

I refer to the gambit much savored by certain fashionable critics of poking fun at the President's practice of wearing an American flag pin on his lapel. The implication at once is that doing so is square and, in Nixon's case, hypocritical. One half anticipates a petition for an injunction requiring Nixon to cease and desist exhibiting the Stars and Stripes.

Well now. Even if Richard Nixon were convicted of stealing the Washington Monument, he would still be entitled to wear that lapel pin en route to the calaboose. Displays of patriotism may be the last refuge of scoundrels but they are not yet against the law. A President may be permitted to claim that this is as much his country as mine and thine, although mobs cry for his impeachment and his friends are disparaged for owning the wrong kind of yacht.

I expect those who chide Nixon for wearing his flag are merely seeking to belittle him as an old-fashioned River City yokel and thus unworthy of moving in chic society. After a full, they are taking up again the campaign of a few years back to persuade their social inferiors that flag waving is not only old hat but possibly a subtle form of subversion.

Yes, Bob, subversion. The words fascist and totalitarian creep into the conversation of Presidential critics on Sandburg's little cat feet when they call attention to his lapel pin. Implicit in the murmur is that in the highest levels of the world's governments flag waving has always been a device of tyrants and would-be dictators. Watch that Nixon, say the murmurs — not because he would defy the courts or hire third-rate men, but because he wears a flag.

It is another curious phenomenon to add to history's collection. Harry Truman wore his Masonic pin and John Kennedy gave away thousands of PT boat tie clasps, but no one accused Truman of plotting to hand the nation over to his lodge brothers or complained that Kennedy was a ship-rattling militarist. Black Power's upraised fist in some quarters is regarded as being as American as apple pie. Millions of Americans wear emblems hailing the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Sons of Italy, the English Speaking Union and the Polish National Alliance without risking indictment for treason. But when in 1968 the nation's so-called hardhats stuck American flags in their lapels they were denounced as vigilantes and worse. At that time, the hardhat's chief sin seemed to be that they worked for a living.

Unfortunately for Nixon, the flag is "out" in the ideological hault monde of the Far Left and the Beautiful People. Teach the kids how to have meaningful sex lives in the second grade, but don't let them salute the Stars and Stripes. Prayers are banned in the public schools, but not the obscene verses of the black poet Le Roi Jones. Professional civil rights lawyers hurry to the defense of those who burn, rip and defecate on the flag, arguing that their clients are merely exercising their right of dissent.

The flag defilers are dissenting, all right. They are saying the flag is unworthy of their reverence or respect if it is also the flag of politicians with whose views they disagree. To the dissenters, patriotism is possible only if an American happens to agree with the administration in power. And God help a President if he is also impeached for lacking "style."

On The Endings And Beginnings

SCRABBLE, Va. — Several days ago a massive moving van lumbered away from the town house I have occupied in Alexandria these past six years, and brought six tons of stuff to my home here in the Blue Ridge Mountains. I mark the occasion as my last remove, save one. Life is always a process of endings and beginnings, all flowing together, but the act of moving from one domicile to another has particular meaning — like graduation, or marriage, or the birth of a child, or death in the family, moving is a pivot point. Nothing is exactly the same thereafter. So my wife and I spent two days packing up the Alexandria place, musing as we always do on such occasions on the amount of sheer junk that somehow accumulates.

They say that a love of property is rooted in the conservative philosophy, but a love for jelly glasses? Souvenirs of Atlantic City? Last year's Congressional Record? Eighty-two wire coat hangers? Like mountain climbers, we traversed a terminal moraine of shirt-closets, broken panes, and fountain pens beyond repair. Out with them all! Now work begins anew in the office that Peter Kramer designed and Joe Williams built, at the end of the stone walk that Joe Calindro laid. These are the craftsmen we have lived with over the past three months. They created a book man's dream come true — shelves and shelves and shelves above a wainscoted and paneled cupboard to conceal new junk below. We sit tailor-legged on the floor, reveling in the rediscovery of books that had been half forgotten: fat books of essays, slim books of poems, books on the Congress, books on the presidency, books on education and foreign affairs and the writing art. One whole section is set aside for Supreme Court opinions. How worn are the years of John Marshall! How little touched are the others! After a time, discouraged by the leaning towers of books, we go outside for a breath of autumn. This year has produced a slow ending and beginning. The trees have turned imperceptibly day by day, with little of the flaming brilliance we marked a year ago. Our hills are mostly garnet and topaz and jade: fine stones in their way, but not much to dazzle the eye. Even so, autumn in the Blue Ridge is always a weaver's bazaar. It is as if some master maker of rugs had flung his works across the hills in prodigal display. When we walk toward Woodville, we walk through tapestried halls; live quail and bounding rabbits emerge from God's own warp and wool. The ending and beginning are more personal than professional. I will be in Washington several days a week, making the rounds, talking with sources, covering a newsman's beat. It is a 90-minute drive, and no big thing. But there will be no doubt, hereafter about where home is and where the books are. Home is here in the hills, looking toward Red Oak Mountain and the books are just at the end of Calindro's walk. This move to the hills — still speaking professionally — is motivated by a need I have felt with increasing urgency over the past two years. Every writer will know what I mean. It is a need for perspective, for the vision that keeps foreground, middle distance and background in orderly arrangement. Washington offers everything but perspective; the city is exciting, fascinating, stimulating, and exhausting, but it is a poor place for thinking. The line blurs between endings and beginnings. Love affairs, school years, jobs, retirements — these often are remembered in a context of terminations. Yet they bring beginnings, new routines, fresh outlooks, other occupations. It opens the windows of the new office and look to the time ahead, and see that it is good.

Teens On Business

Despite a lot of noises to the contrary emanating from various quarters, the American business system commands broad public support and credibility.

By and large, the public believes that large corporations are doing a "pretty good" job of improving the country's standard of living and that business is meeting its social responsibilities while making modest profits.

That is, if 2,058 teenagers, and their opinions constitute "the public."

The young people, from all 50 states, were polled recently by Junior Achievement, Inc.

As delegates to the 30th National Achievers Conference held in Bloomington, Ind., in August, the 2,058 represented a cross-section of 170,000 other high school students who operated 7,200 small companies in nearly 1,000 communities across the United States during the past year.

Junior Achievement, as everyone ought to know by now, is a nonprofit education organization, started in 1919, whose purpose is to teach high school students the principles of business and the benefits of private enterprise by helping them organize and manage their own small-scale businesses under the guidance of adult supervisors from business and industry.

It is this experience and firsthand exposure to business that apparently explains why the probusiness opinions of JAers conflict so sharply with similar surveys showing deep-seated antibusiness attitudes among adults, suggests Richard Maxwell, president of Junior Achievement.

For example, the JAers were asked to "rate the job business is doing in bringing better quality goods to people."

The response was: Excellent 15 per cent; Pretty Good, 42 per cent, and Only Fair, 30 per cent.

Another question was, "How do you rate the job business is doing in offering young people a chance to get ahead?"

The response was: Excellent, 17 per cent; Pretty Good, 50 per cent, and Only Fair, 23 per cent.

By contrast, in June, 1973, Business Week magazine reported that "since the mid-1960s, Americans have been turning sour on America — on its dreams, its promises, its leaders. Every major poll of public opinion has shown that."

In August, 1973, the students were asked what they believed to be the average profit on sales in industry. Fully 56 per cent answered that it was between 3 and 6 cents on the sales dollar.

By contrast, the public at large believes that the aftertax profits of corporations average 28 cents on a dollar of sales.

The actual figure is 5 cents!

President Is Not Pressure Proof

WASHINGTON — Having released the Watergate tapes, President Nixon will be forced, in the end, to give up all other documents and tapes the courts from time to time may request in the future on matters seeming to involve the President and his staff with criminal activities.

Nixon may raise objections. There may be initial refusals and lengthy negotiations. But the courts and Congress will get their way.

The President's opponents have now learned for certain what they have suspected for some time — that Nixon succumbs, finally, to extreme pressure. He puts up a strong facade, but succumbs. The pressure will be mounted, therefore, whenever it is needed. This is a fact of politics.

Some time ago a friend who spends much of his time studying chief executives, past and present, noted that this sort of pressure would never have fazed President Truman. His opponents and his friends knew he could not be budged. They never were able to get Truman on the run despite evidence of heavy corruption among his close associates. Nixon is a different type. He cannot stand confrontations.

This is not to imply that every prosecutor or defendant in any court action involving some decisions made at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue will be able to secure a new opening of White House file cabinets. But the President's action in regard to the tapes does mean that Nixon will not be able to seal off any evidence of crime the Sirica court believes to be connected with the President himself, with present or former members of his immediate staff or with others closely associated with the White House.

There is much concern in some quarters whether Assistant Attorney General Henry E. Peterson will conduct future investigations with the determination shown by Archibald Cox. This concern seems unfounded. As one attorney experienced in such matters told this writer "Judge Sirica has a sense of history," by which he meant the judge will not let up or allow the grand jury to let up.

Investigators of the type required to dig into the Watergate and associated matters take money — a lot of money. But the mood in Congress, among both Democrats and Republicans in both the House and Senate seems to insure that all the funds necessary to carry out these investigations to their ultimate conclusion will be available. It would seem to this reporter the creation of a special prosecutor responsible to the grand jury and to the court, independent of both a partisan Congress and partisan White House, is an essential. Though eminent legal authorities, for whom this writer has great respect believe a new independent special prosecutor could be set up under the Department of Justice, it would seem that this system, tried in this instance with Cox, is inherently unworkable. There is a conflict of interest and of authority that carries within it its own seeds of destruction.

Busy Japanese

Japan's economic invasion across the world continues. Its trade teams are engaged in every worthwhile market, and some smaller ones. Other teams of Japanese emissaries are scouring the four continents for raw materials. Japan has very little in resources, but it requires mountains of ingredients of all kinds to keep her factories humming.

Investors from the islands also are looking for opportunities in other lands, and finding them. They are buying into numerous enterprises, many of them related to land or land resources. The Japanese purchase very little in finished goods, preferring to maintain an influx of raw materials and exports of manufactured goods.

Canada is one of the nations the Japanese have shown an interest in, raising their business investments to an estimated $310 million this year, up almost a third from 1972. Japan is now Canada's second best customer, behind only the United States, but takes only 3 per cent of its purchases in finished goods.

In some countries — Ecuador for one — Japanese traders go in after others have given up. Undiscouraged by the stringent terms offered by the Ecuadorian government for crude oil, the Japanese accepted the terms which had been rejected by others and now have a firm oil contract — recognition of the importance of oil to Japan.

Wherever the building blocks of industry can be found, Japan is making sure it is found, also, with deals other countries may find it difficult to meet.

In the United States Japanese purchases of many things — even great hotels — have been noted. They have only recently purchased several in the Hawaiian Islands. And when you travel you find Japanese everywhere. Not necessarily family groups, but groups of men — businessmen — fanning out everywhere. Many members of the last trip to Hawaii sponsored by the Times-News spoke of this fact. Local residents returning from Europe speak of it.

In fact in Hawaii one of the "pet" phrases is: "They couldn't lick us so they are going to buy us out."

MR. SPECTATOR

Well, You Might Say That It Made The Day

It might be called an embarrassing moment. It started out to be a routine "pickup." Coming back downtown from a visit to the "lab" for a blood sample excursion, I spotted my friend, the former Probate Judge and now retired Claud Steward, walking down the street's edge, braving the cold wind.

You see, the Judge is 80 and lives out at Heritage Manor. He looked cold and it was cold so I drew up alongside. I offered him a ride and he climbed in. "Where are you going?" I asked. "To the hospital," he answered. "Sick?" I asked. "No," he answered, "I'm going over to pick up a newspaper."

"Kind of late, isn't it? The Times-News was published last night," I said. "Not going to pick up the Times-News," he said. "Going to pick up the Statesman." Like I said at the start — it was a little embarrassing to think that an old friend like the judge would read anything but the Times-News.

But then, being made of stern stuff and believing that a friend is a friend — regardless — I waited while he put a dime in the gadget which holds the Statesman in the lobby of the hospital and then gave him a ride back to Heritage Manor. It made my day — I guess.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE: A secretary writes: "If every wife tried to please her husband as a secretary does her employer, there would be no divorce courts. All the men would be perfectly content, and all the women would wish they were dead, and everything would be just dandy."

NOW AND THEN Every now and then we read an interesting advertisement — not trying to sell anything — but, rather, telling you something. Such an advertisement is a page taken in U.S. News and World Report by The Warner and Swasey Company, makers of truck chassis. The advertisement, headlined "You Think America Has Troubles? What's nightmare to us would be Utopia to the world."

For instance: "In 1968, Japan, the best beef costs $35 a pound; pollution is bad in Tokyo that traffic policemen take an "oxygen break" every hour — three minutes of breathing bottled oxygen.

Britain, France, Spain, Italy, Denmark and Finland have worse inflation rates than we do, and controls have failed. Gasoline in one country costs $1.03 a gallon. In Brazil, less than half the cities have high schools. In Rio de Janeiro as many as six companies have to share one telephone.

In Cuba the per capita income is down to $37 a year.

In Mainland China workers live in huge apartments where 6 to 12 families share one kitchen.

Calcutta has a population explosion — it's 9 million now and was 2 million just 20 years ago. People crowd cities to get better jobs and live twice the Indian national scale.

We have only 6 per cent of the World's population but we produce and consume 30 per cent of the World's goods and services, making us better fed, better housed, better educated, with better medical care than virtually any other people on Earth.

So there you have it — all because Mr. Spectator reads an advertisement.

WE BELIEVE The other night, after not counting the candidates, members of the families and those running the thing, there were just six people out to hear what the candidates for the city council in Twin Falls had to say.

Terrific, isn't it? But do you know why it has come to that? It is because the media covers such events so thoroughly that people stay home to read, or go someplace else at that time because they know they can hear all about it over TV or read all about it in the newspaper.

So why waste your time going to a political meeting? It's not like the old days when it took West coast residents days to learn Lincoln had been shot. Might just be better all around if we were back to the point where we couldn't read or hear or see so much, while seated in the easy chair with our feet on the footstool.

Tapes 'don't exist'

There's no way on God's green earth anybody's going to believe that," said Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, which has looked into peripheral Watergate matters.

The White House appeared concerned over the possible impact of the news on an already skeptical American public. Press spokesmen called reporters at home to explain carefully why the two tapes didn't exist. When asked if the public would accept the story, presidential counsel Fred Buzhardt shrugged and said, "I don't know."

Slirion said the missing tapes was a recording of a four-minute phone call between Nixon and Mitchell on June 20 last year, three days after the Watergate bugging arrests, and would have shown how much, if anything, Mitchell told Nixon about the bugging at that time. The president says he did not learn of any White House involvement in the Watergate affair until March, 1973. The other tape was of a 36-minute meeting between Nixon and Dean April 15 this year, shortly before Dean was fired as White House counsel.

From what has been said publicly about the tapes, it was possible they might have supported President Nixon. Mitchell has said he gave no Watergate details in the conversation. Dean has said he believed Nixon recorded the second conversation "to protect himself."

Buzhardt told Slirion said there were no recordings of the two conversations because the phone call to Mitchell "apparently was made from a phone extension" in the residential section of the White House, not plugged into the taping system, and because there was a "malfunction of the system" the night of the Dean meeting.

He then put Raymond C. Zumwalt, a Secret Service expert who helped install the system, on the witness stand to explain its technology. Zumwalt said he had never known the taping system to malfunction until Buzhardt refreshed his memory earlier in the day about the April 15 incident.

He also said that while the Secret Service logs on who took the tapes out of a locked cabinet, and for how long — until July 18, when the system was discontinued and the tapes taken out of their control — there were no checks made to see if the tapes had been tampered with.

Cleared

BREAKING usual silence on political matters, Charles G. (Duke) Tetrozo said in Miami Wednesday intensive scrutiny by the Internal Revenue Service has cleared him of any impropriety in the controversy over a $100,000 Republican Campaign contribution by Howard Hughes. He also denied any wrongdoing in other financial and campaign matters. (UPI)

Worried Kleindienst talked on ITT

(c) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — Former attorney general Richard G. Kleindienst told Archibald Cox about President Nixon's order to delay the appeal of an anti-trust ruling involving the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation only after he became convinced that he might be indicted, according to sources familiar with the circumstances.

Before going to Cox, who was then special Watergate prosecutor, Kleindienst told friends he was sure he would be indicted for perjury in connection with his testimony before the Senate Judiciary Committee during its 1972 hearings on his nomination as attorney general.

Kleindienst, in a statement issued through his attorney's office Wednesday, denied having made false statements to the committee and said that he had threatened to resign if the President "persisted" in his orders to drop the appeal.

According to people familiar with the circumstances of Kleindienst's dialogue to Cox, however, the former attorney general reached the conclusion that his indictment was likely after hearing reports that the special prosecutor's staff had recommended indictments against several persons. These included Harold S. Geneen, the chairman of ITT, who had testified at the Kleindienst confirmation hearings, and Charles W. Colson, former special counsel to President Nixon.

These reports indicated that the prosecutor's staff had recommended that Geneen be indicted for giving false testimony to the judiciary committee, and that Colson be indicted for his role in financing the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Colson's attorneys have said publicly that he expected to be indicted; this expectation was the reason before his refusal to appear before the Senate Watergate committee, as scheduled, when it reopened its hearings last month.

Operation 007' grabs Irish prison inmates

(c) N. Y. Times Service
DUBLIN — A hijacked helicopter airlifted three provisional Irish Republican Army men to freedom from a prison exercise yard here today.
They escaped from Mountjoy jail, close to the city center. One of them is Seamus Twomey, 54, a Belfast man, formerly the provisionals' chief of staff and until his capture three months ago one of the most wanted men in the republic as well as in Ulster.
The two others, also from Ulster, are Kevin Mallon, 36, and Joseph O'Hagan, 51. Twomey recently received a three-year sentence from a special criminal court here and the others are serving sentences of one year.
The Alouette-helicopter was owned by Irish Helicopters Ltd., and according to the company it was hired by an American named Mr. Leonard for filming work.
It was arranged that the helicopter should fly to the village of Stradbally and when the Alouette landed there it was immediately surrounded by armed men. Two of them boarded it and forced the pilot to fly to Dublin, where it landed in the prison yard just after 3:30 p.m.
The three prisoners struggled free from guards and were bundled into the helicopter by the hijackers, who held the guards at bay by pointing guns at them, according to witnesses. The operation took less than a minute, according to one visitor to the jail.
The helicopter then flew about six miles northward to an abandoned racecourse at Droichead, where a car was waiting. The pilot flew his helicopter back to base at nearby Dublin airport.
Late tonight there was still no sign of the escaped men despite joint police and army roadblocks all around the city area and on roads leading towards the Ulster border.

6 die in assault

PHNOM-PENH (UPI) — Rebels firing rockets and tossing grenades killed six persons and wounded 13 others early today in an attack against a suburban Phnom Penh hamlet housing disabled war veterans.
Residents said the Communist-led Khmer Rouge guerrillas attacked the hamlet of Kambaul, nine miles southwest of Phnom Penh, shortly after midnight, opening fire on sleeping veterans and their families.
They said the guerrillas began puffing back when told Kambaul was a hamlet of disabled veterans, indicating the raiders might have hit the wrong target. The hamlet is 300 yards from a national military training center.
Witnesses said the insurgents killed six persons, including the mother and two sons of Prach Chhuon, a blind folk singer, and the daughter of Pek Kuork, a dwarf clown.
The two entertainers, who had been living at the hamlet while entertaining troops at nearby bases, were among 13 persons wounded in the attack.
Government troops launched a land, sea and air attack today along the Gulf of Sihan in an attempt to oust insurgents from the waterfront town of Kop.

Smuggling assailed

BERLIN (UPI) — Erich Honecker, first secretary of the East German Communist party, warned today that smuggling refugees through the Berlin Wall could damage East-West relations.
Honecker, in an interview with the Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland, accused West Germany of encouraging the abuse of routes running through East Germany to West Berlin.
The interview appeared as an East Berlin court tried three West Germans charged with smuggling refugees to the West over the transit routes in violation of the Big Four Agreement on access to Berlin.

Nixon, aides studied news media harassment

(c) N. Y. Times Service
WASHINGTON — During a one-month period in the fall of 1969, President Nixon made 21 separate requests to his top aides to take action to counter what the President saw as unfavorable news coverage, according to a memorandum made public by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn.
The memorandum, written by Jeb Stuart Magruder, then a White House assistant, to H. R. Holdeman, who was the presidential chief of staff, complained that "shotgunning the media" was not effective.
It suggested that the administration could better "defend the media" if it used such tactics as harassment by the Internal Revenue Service and the antitrust division of the Justice Department.

Attached to the memorandum was a log of the President's requests between the middle of September and the middle of October, 1969.
Magruder suggested that "a major impact" could be made in the following ways:
— By having the Federal Communications Commission begin "an official monitoring system" to prove bias on the part of the networks.
— By threatening antitrust action against various news organizations.
— By threatening an IRS investigation of "the various organizations that we are most concerned about."
— By providing favorable newsmen with exclusive information.
— By conducting "major letter-writing efforts" through the Republican National Committee.

Peace unit backs Reds

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Moscow-sponsored World Congress of Peace Forces ended Wednesday night by calling for a peace program that ignored the issue of dissent in the Soviet Union and other Communist countries.
Although a few delegates had accused the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia of persecuting dissidents and had appealed for amnesty for political prisoners, the communique did suggest there had been differences of opinion in the 14 working commissions by saying that more than 3,000 delegates had reached "large consensus" rather than unanimity on the subjects under discussion.

Thieu eyes US aid

SATIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen-Van Thieu said today there has been no progress toward peace in Vietnam since the Jan. 28 cease-fire and indicated he may ask for U.S. air power if the Communists launch a new offensive.
Thieu, speaking at National Day ceremonies, said the only advances in South Vietnam since the cease-fire have been "in war, by the Communists, not progress in peace."
Later, in a national television speech, Thieu claimed the number of North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam has risen to 400,000 since the cease-fire and charged Hanoi has sent in "500 tanks and 600 artillery pieces of all types" while doubling its anti-aircraft capabilities.

Estimates by Western diplomatic sources place the number of North Vietnamese regulars in South Vietnam at the time of the cease-fire at 125,000 to 175,000. They estimated that 20,000 to 30,000 have entered the country since Jan. 28.
"Since the day the cease-fire went into effect," Thieu said, "the Communists have brought into South Vietnam 100,000 more troops while many tens of thousands of others are on their way."

F grade passes

DAVIS, Calif. (UPI) — Professors have decided overwhelmingly to continue giving flunking students an "F" grade at the University of California at Davis.
The professors voted Tuesday 46-158 against a proposal to substitute the designation "no record" for the "F" grade.
The vote rejected a proposal backed by the school's chancellor and a faculty committee.

Nets give panel tapes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two television networks Wednesday said they will give the National News Council copies of the tapes or transcripts of specific news broadcasts that President Nixon has said he considers unfair.
The council, a privately funded corporation, Tuesday invited the White House and the networks to participate in a study of the President's charges last week that he was the victim of "outrageous, vicious, distorted" television reporting.
A spokesman for the National Broadcasting Co. said it would probably provide the council with tapes of specific programs identified by the White House.

Change set at Valley

VALLEY SCHOOLS—A new system of parent-teacher conferences will be initiated in the Valley School District No. 207 this year, according to Supt. Arlyn Bodily.

The move is being taken in order to create a climate of understanding and communication between parents and teachers, Bodily said.

The conferences will be held on the afternoon of Nov. 8 and 9 from 1 to 4 p.m. and the evening of Nov. 8 from 7 to 9:30 p.m. All conferences will be coordinated through the superintendent's office. This will make it possible for parents to visit as many teachers and schools as they wish in a limited time. All conferences will be held on an appointment basis.

Parents are urged to call 829-5333 as soon as possible for an appointment. "We will try our best to give the time they request," Bodily said.

School will be dismissed at 12:15 p.m. Nov. 8 and 9.

Check presented

SENIOR CITIZENS in Twin Falls received a $650 donation from the Junior Club Wednesday.

Funds donated

TWIN FALLS—The Junior Club has donated $650 to the Twin Falls Senior Citizens to purchase trays for the seniors' mobile meals program.

The club raised the money in a "Good as New Sale" Oct. 20.

The serving trays will be used for hot meals prepared and delivered daily to Senior Citizens in the community who are unable to prepare their own meals. A one-year supply of trays will be provided. Any remaining funds will be used for Senior Citizens who are unable to pay for meals.

Moisture sets off school fire alarm

TWIN FALLS—Three Twin Falls fire trucks responded Wednesday afternoon when an automatic alarm was set off at Lincoln School about 2 p.m.

Firemen reported the building was emptied within about one minute's time with children waiting outside in the rain while firemen checked the building.

No fire was found and it was determined the alarm was set off by moisture from a cleaning process underway in the building.

Lincoln Elementary School has been termed a fire hazard by fire inspectors and in view of the recent school fire in Burley firemen expressed concern about any threat of fire in the building.

Pencil awarded

TWIN FALLS—Kenneth Shew won the blue pencil at the I. B. Pergine Toastmaster's meeting, officers announced today.

Table topics were conducted by Bob Holloway, with Bill Foster winning the event.

Speakers for next Monday's meeting include Kent Kirk, Charles Green and Art Selin. Bob Holloway will be toastmaster, Dwight Shaw, in charge of table topics, and Shew, general evaluator.

Filer 'seniors' plan potluck

FILER—The Senior Citizens Association of Filer will hold a potluck dinner at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the American Legion Hall. All interested persons are invited to attend. Covered dishes and table service should be brought for the meal.

Valley Briefs

DEAR ABBY: I'm going to have to disagree with you on this one. Obedience to one's parents is not the highest and greatest good, not even for a 13-year-old.

Anyone, even a child, is morally obligated to disobey authority when authority demands something that violates the conscience. This principle was brought home to me by my eldest daughter when she was seven, upon her hearing the story of Abraham and Isaac for the first time. "It's wrong to kill," declared my precocious moralist, "and you should never do what you know is wrong, even if God tells you to." By the same principle, it is similarly wrong to refrain from doing good because one has been forbidden to do it.

Susan's friend, if she is sufficiently courageous, should tell her mother that she regrets the necessity of being disobedient, but that she cannot conscientiously be obedient in this instance. She should then offer to accept whatever reasonable punishment the mother may care to impose, and then endure the punishment with as much courtesy and stoicism as she can muster.

The kind of obedience you advocate for Susan's friend is qualitatively the same as that of the Nazis who were "only obeying orders" when they slaughtered Jews. The matter involved is not so serious as murder, that's all.

DEAR FOOD: Your letter is more than "food for thought" — it's an intellectual banquet.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has the women in his office running errands all over town in his 1973 limousine. When I tell him it looks bad, he says their own cars are either falling apart or their gas tanks are empty.

I suggested that he buy a company station wagon and put the name of his company on the door, and have the girls run his errands in that. He says: "I'm not letting the small town gossips run my business just because they have poisoned your mind about how it looks." I told him I poisoned my own mind on the subject. Meanwhile, I drive a small economy car to run my errands.

THE POORER HALF
DEAR POORER: I can understand your annoyance at having your husband's women employees driving his 73 limousine all over town on errands, but there's a better reason for suggesting he get a company car. It would be a legitimate company expense — and save gasoline!

DEAR ABBY: A mother wrote saying she was "AT WITS END" because her 10-year-old widowed daughter let her housekeeping go while she did "useless" things like writing poetry, planting flowers, taking ballet lessons. And she dragged her six-year-old son to museums and art exhibits. "What can a six-year-old learn from an art exhibit," she asks.

I endorse your reply in which you defended the daughter, and would like to add that my parents "dragged" me to concerts, museums, and art exhibits when I was a toddler.

I was awakened one night to "come see the Northern Lights," and told of the Aurora Borealis I saw Sôyû in one of his last concerts, and heard Mark Twain in his last appearance in his native state. I was reading at the age of four, and soon afterwards my father opened his entire library to me, showing me how to handle books carefully — they were precious.

Abby, I bless my parents for showing me the beauty of the world. I continue to find life interesting and exciting. I am 79.

Three cheers for daughter! MRS. M. D. IN MISSOURI at trick two. East takes his ace and considers what suit to return. He knows from the jack lead that his partner doesn't hold the queen. Therefore the automatic false carder who played the ace is now marked with both king and queen and a heart return is hopeless. He slaps down his queen of clubs and it will be a hot day in January before South makes his three notrump.

He might shift to a club if South had won with the king or queen, or he might return a heart on the theory that his partner had led from A-J-10.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSOCIATION

By Oswald & James Jacoby

There may be some bridge player somewhere who never false cards. We haven't met him yet, but he must be there. On the other hand there are plenty of players who false card as a matter of habit. They don't recognize that there is a real art in false carding.

Now look at the South hand. West opens the jack of hearts. East follows with the ace. The automatic false carder wins with the ace. The nonfalse carder wins with the queen. The artful false carder wins with the king two-thirds of the time and with the queen the other third. He never considers playing the ace!

Let's see why. He leads a diamond to dummy's queen

A - If you have confidence in your partner, bid seven clubs. His bidding should have guaranteed the ace of hearts, either four clubs to the queen or five small clubs and second round diamond control and generating interest in the grand slam.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of responding one heart your partner responds one spade and bids three hearts over your three clubs. What do you do now?

THE IDAHO DEPARTMENT STORE — ON THE MALL — DOWNTOWN

By MARY ALICE FLORENCE
Twin Falls Public Library
TWIN FALLS: Restoration of the Cataldo Mission is among Idaho's considerations for the bicentennial of our nation. This has brought about the reprinting of a very small book with a very long title, "History of the Coeur d'Alene Mission of the Sacred Heart."
 It was written in 1930 by Father Edmund Cody, a young priest who was a history teacher at the now defunct St. Joseph's Boys' High School, Boise. That Father Cody is the same H. Rev. Msgr. Edmund R. Cody who served as pastor of St. Edward's Catholic Church in Twin Falls from 1959 to 1971.
 When Msgr. Cody was in Twin Falls, he was a member of the Twin Falls Public Library Board. It seemed only fitting to the board that Twin Falls should have an original copy of his out-of-print book — this, in addition to the two reprints recently obtained from the Bicentennial Committee. Idaho, through its Regional Library System, has a very fine inter-library loan network.

But that is just what kids — a loan network — and none of the Idaho libraries with an original was willing to permanently part with it. Then the board contacted Msgr. Cody in Clearwater, Fla., where he has been living since his retirement. He was very happy to donate his last copy to Twin Falls. Monsignor wrote that he had long since forgotten his little book until he was asked permission for the reprinting.
 This 45-page booklet occasionally reflects monsignor's delightful wit, or even his irony, which endeared him to so many of us; but, much more, it displays his recognized gift to tell it like it is with sincerity and compassion. What better recommendation could a history work have?
 On an elevation of some 200 feet at what was once the head of navigation of the picturesque Coeur d'Alene River, stands the Church of the Sacred Heart — the last remnant of the old Coeur d'Alene Indian Mission and a monument to the Jesuit Fathers, or the Black Robes as the Indians called them.

Father Peter Desmet, the apostle of the Indians of the Northwest, first chose the site for the mission about 1846. But the history of the mission was in the making almost 30 years before that.
 The actual building of the church was commissioned to Father Anthony Ravalli, a priest who gave 40 years of his life as a missionary among the Indians. For tools he had a broad ax, an auger, some ropes and pulley, and a pen knife. For workmen he had two brothers and a handful of Indians. Plans for a building 90 feet long, 40 feet wide, and 30 feet high were drawn by Ravalli and faithfully followed. Calling upon his skill learned in the art studios of Europe, Father Ravalli and Brother Huybrechts completed the interior of the church.
 Father Cataldo, the man for whom the Union Pacific Railroad station about a mile from the Mission was named, came to the Coeur d'Alene Indians in 1865. He became Superior of the Rocky Mountain Missions in 1877 and made the mission his headquarters. But in that same year the United States government set the bounds of the reservation and the mission was outside.
 After the Indians' and departure, the old church was seldom used. The Jesuit fathers from Gonzaga University, ministering to the miners in Wallace and Burke in the late 80s and the 90s, said mass in the old mission on their way back and forth from Spokane. The Jesuits and the students of Gonzaga still have not forgotten Sept. 29 and 30 they made their annual pilgrimage — 240 strong — hiking 30 miles through the Coeur d'Alene forest to mass and a spiritual renewal at Sacred Heart Mission at Cataldo.
 In 1924 the Jesuit Order decided the property to the Diocese of Boise, Idaho. The old mission was restored in 1927 under the direction of Father H. E. Heitman (This is another name with special meaning to long-time Twin Falls residents. Father Heitman was pastor of St. Edward's in the 30s). The restoration was accomplished with the enthusiastic support of the Kellogg Kiwanis Club, the Board of Trade of Wallace, the Coeur d'Alene and Spokane Chambers of Commerce and the Knights of Columbus of Idaho.

 No doubt we will see more in print about Cataldo before 1976. Ann Gowans, president of the U. S. Society of Architectural Historians and chairman of the Department of History in Art at the University of Victoria, B. C., came to Boise in mid-September to discuss his newest project — a book about the mission — with the director of the State of Idaho Bicentennial Commission, Dr. J. M. Neil.
 But "History of the Coeur d'Alene Mission of the Sacred Heart" is the first and Twin Falls Public Library has an original copy by a former chairman of the board!

TF stamp collectors club to organize

TWIN FALLS: A stamp collectors club is being formed by the YWCA next week. Mrs. Lonore Kadlec, a stamp collector for many years, will be the adviser of the group.
 To begin with, a club for youngsters, grade school and older will be started. The group will meet for the first time Monday at 4 p.m. at the Y building, 1751 Elizabeth Blvd. There will be no charge for Y members, $2.50 for non-members.
 Philately, the collecting and study of postage stamps, is a most rewarding hobby. It includes the study of history and geography while collecting stamps of foreign countries, the United States, famous people, animals, flowers, etc. A new field just opening up for stamp collectors are the all stamps put out by many of the foreign countries.
 Mrs. Kadlec belonged to a large stamp club in Omaha, Neb. before coming to Twin Falls to make her home. Her collection of stamps covers many things. Her most recent interests in space stamps. She has over 400 first day covers relating to space since 1969, the beginning of our space age.
 Anyone wanting to become a part of the stamp club should call the YWCA, 733-4384, by Monday. Adults interested should make their interests known to the "Y" office so perhaps a club for them could be formed in the near future.

Gas mileage better

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — Passenger cars from the National Reactor Testing Station motor pool have averaged 15 per cent more mileage per gallon since the Atomic Energy Commission put in "under 60" speed restrictions.

Pickup truck mileage, the AEC's Idaho operations office said, has shown a 21 per cent improvement.

Records as of Sept. 30 show that passenger-car miles per gallon increased to 17.1 from an average of 14.8 in July, the month before restrictions went into effect. Average pickup truck mileage increased to 14.6 miles per gallon from 12 in July.

BSC head against benefits

BOISE (UPI) — Boise State President John Barnes today recommended that Big Sky Conference Commissioner John Roring stop receiving state employee benefits.

Barnes wrote the State Board of Education with his recommendation after an attorney general's opinion said Roring is not an Idaho state employee and thus is ineligible for retirement and other employee benefits that he has been receiving.

The board of education will probably act on the recommendation at its next regular meeting.

Jordan speaks in Portland

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Retired U.S. Sen. Len B. Jordan of Idaho considers the development of remaining hydro potentials a solution to meeting both energy and environmental requirements.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Pacific Northwest Waterways Association Meeting, Jordan said it is not necessary to make a choice between a clean environment and enough energy for individual and national needs.

Winter comes to Yellowstone

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Mont. (UPI) — Yellowstone National Park has buttoned up for the winter, although some roads will remain open until snow makes them unsafe.

Superintendent Jack Anderson said Wednesday anyone planning a visit to Yellowstone should have tire chains in his car in case of a sudden storm.

The only facilities available in Yellowstone after Wednesday are self-service gasoline pumps at Old Faithful, West Thumb, Fishing Bridge, Canyon and Tower Junction.

Police without leads

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — Almost a week has gone by since Debra Alice Prety, 15, Coeur d'Alene, was raped and murdered, and police are still without any solid leads in the case.

"We are intensifying the investigation but there is nothing new we can report," according to Police Chief Robert Nuttelman. Miss Prety was last seen alive at a teen-age dance Oct. 27. Her body was discovered early the next morning by a neighborhood youth in the back yard of a home near her residence.

Area residents have expressed shock at the death of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Prety and all say closer supervision of children was needed until a suspect was found.

Nuttelman said the force investigating the murder and rape of the high school sophomore has been enhanced through the cooperation of state and county law enforcement departments.

"We have nobody in custody but we are following leads," the police chief said.

Statutes liberal

BOISE (UPI) — Chief Deputy Attorney General Clarence Suttler believes there may be a lot of people in Idaho who are married and don't know it.

Suttler said Idaho's 1877 common-law marriage statute is "one of the most liberal common-law marriage statutes in the country."

He said apparently society has generally accepted the fact that a man and a woman can live together without an official license.

Supreme Court upholds ruling

BOISE (UPI) — The Supreme Court of Idaho has upheld a district court ruling allowing a home buyer to deduct costs of defects from the total bill for a new home.

The Supreme Court also remanded the case back to Fifth District Court for further consideration of the method for computing damages and calculating the judgment.

The case developed from a 1969 contract W. R. Hafer had with Mr. and Mrs. Russ Horn of Ketchum to build a house.

The new owners when the house was completed said there were defects in the construction and wanted the total cost reduced to take the defects into account.

Indecision

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Indecision over the use of DDT to control the Tussock moth caused extensive damage to Northwest forests and U. S. Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho says a repeat of last year's indecision "would be criminal."

McClure said Forest Service figures show the preliminary cost of not using DDT totaled $48,770,000.

He said the figure included the loss of marketable timber, cost of reforestation and fire losses tied to the moth damage.

Candidacy not certain

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — State Superintendent of Public Instruction D. F. Engelking wants to wait and see what the legislature does with reorganizing the state school system before he decides on seeking another term in office.

In an interview with the Lewiston Morning Tribune Engelking said he wants to see the system set up "properly."

"I will make up my mind about running again after the legislature."

Mojava summer camp set

BOISE (UPI) — Seventeen-hundred Idaho men can look forward to a 17-day paid vacation in the Mojava Desert next June — compliments of the Idaho Army National Guard.

Gen. James Brooks, chief of staff of the Idaho Army Guard, said the Idaho Armored Cavalry units will join 800 Nevada troopers for camp the first two weeks of June at Fort Irwin, Calif.

"The reason is to take advantage of their terrain, the size of the training area, to conduct large scale army training tests," said Brooks.

"This is a part of the program for a higher degree of readiness required of National Guard units. We've never undertaken this level of training before," he said.

Cliett trial slated

TWIN FALLS — Trial in Fifth District Court has been set for Nov. 29 at 9 a.m. for Charles Cliett, 41, Twin Falls, charged with the theft of 86 feeder and weaner pigs.

Cliett entered a plea of innocent to the grand larceny charge when arraigned in district court this week. He is charged with taking the animals from the Jack Smith farm between Sept. 14, 1973 and Dec. 19, 1972. Value of the animals was set at $1,760 by the owner.

200 more register

KETCHUM — Over 200 new voters have registered for the Ketchum city election Tuesday.

According to city clerk Betty Coles, by Wednesday afternoon the city had 690 registered voters, an increase of 226 voters over the 1971 election.

Voter registration will be conducted at the city clerk's office in the city hall from 7 to 9 p.m. tonight. Registration will be conducted on Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Coles said residents who voted in the 1971 city election were registered for Tuesday's election.

Polling Tuesday will be conducted on the second floor of the city hall from noon to 8 p.m.

Charged

GOODING — Bryce Cheney, 18, Gooding, has been charged with "malicious destruction of property" at Gooding High School last week.

He was arrested by Gooding city police.

Cheney allegedly broke several windows at the high school, causing damage of less than $1,000. He is being held in the Gooding County jail in lieu of $300 bond.

According to Police Chief Lyle Clifford, Cheney has not been charged yet with breaking and destruction at the elementary and junior high schools.

Schedules for Burley students altered

By MARILYN ELLIOTT, Times-News Writer

BURLEY — Previously announced schedules for Burley students have been altered to cut down on busing expenses in the wake of a fire which leveled the Burley Junior High School Monday.

A schedule for split sessions was adopted in an emergency school board meeting Monday night but following a meeting with state department of education officials Wednesday, the schedule was changed.

The earlier schedule would have tripled busing costs and time, while the newly revised schedule will only double the costs, instructional supervisor Norman Hurst said Wednesday.

Increased costs will have to be paid out of an approximately $900,000 in insurance money recovered from the junior high school.

Friday, Burley High School students will have a vacation while eighth and ninth-grade students attend orientation sessions at the high school.

The eighth-graders will meet at the high school at 8:30 a.m. and return home at 11:30 a.m. Friday. Bus transportation will be provided to school, but students will have to provide their own transportation home.

Ninth-graders will attend an orientation session at the high school from noon until 3:00 p.m. Friday. Students will have to provide their own transportation to school, but bus transportation will be provided after school.

Monday, split sessions will begin. The Burley High School, Miller, Southwest, Springdale, and Dworshak elementary schools will attend morning sessions from 7:45 a.m. to 12:55 p.m. The high school students will have six 45-minute periods with a 20-minute break for lunch from 11:00 a.m. to 11:20 a.m.

Monday afternoon, junior high school teachers will be preparing their classrooms and the junior high students will not attend school.

Tuesday, eighth and ninth grade students will begin their new schedules. They will attend school from 1:10 p.m. to 5:50 p.m. The day will be broken into six 40-minute periods with a 20-minute break for lunch from 4:05 to 4:25 p.m.

Seventh graders will return to school Wednesday from 1:10 to 5:50 with the same schedule as the other junior high students. They will meet at the high school auditorium at 1:10 p.m. Wednesday but will be attending classes in the remaining outbuildings of the old junior high school.

The Overland and Opportunity schools will remain on their present schedules.

Hurst said the district was trying to fit as much into the school day as possible and still provide a "full educational program" in the face of this week's disaster.

The Burley schools will operate under this schedule until at least the end of the semester when the program will be reevaluated and possibly revised.

Junior-High School students are urged to bring all the books and school materials that they saved from the fire to school with them next week.

Wednesday afternoon the cornerstone at the junior high was opened but officials found the small tin box had rusted away and nothing could be salvaged.

'No question where to start'

By GEORGE WILEY, Times-News Writer

HOLLISTER — Nearly obscured by a billow of smoke and steam, John Isaac wiped a soot-blackened forehead across his face and adjusted the nozzle of the hose to throw water on a spot of lingering flames.

"We'll make do," said Isaac as he stood looking at the charred wood and crumpled, smoky-shot metal which a few hours before had been his family's trailer house.

"One thing, it doesn't leave you any question as to where to start."

Isaac's trailer house caught fire early Wednesday morning, while Isaac was at work in Filer. By the time he got to Hollister there was nothing left of his house, or a smaller adjoining trailer he had used for storage. Luckily, his wife and four children were not in the trailer when the fire broke out.

According to Isaac's father-in-law, Chester Bess, who lives just across a field from where Isaac's trailer was parked, Mrs. Isaac and the children had come over about 9 a.m. to catch a ride into Twin Falls with Mrs. Bess.

Isaac's five-year-old son, Angus, had gone back by the trailers to feed the family dog when he saw smoke coming from the smaller trailer. The boy ran back and told his grandfather the trailer was on fire.

"I ran over as fast as I could and took the little garden hose and started spraying, but I couldn't do much," Bess said.

He said as soon as the water hit the window of the small trailer the window broke and flames burst up. Bess ran home and called the Filer Fire Department.

According to Filer Fire Chief Jim DeVal, the trailer house was lost by the time the fire truck arrived in Hollister. DeVal said he didn't know why the fire started. Isaac said there was no electricity in the small trailer, no stove, DeVal said the fire could have started through spontaneous combustion.

Isaac lost his furniture, and the family's clothes and belongings burned. Tools and parts of tools Isaac was planning to use to open a machine shop were destroyed, as were 600 jars of canned goods Mrs. Isaac had put up.

In another glass jar on a shelf in the main trailer's kitchen, Isaac had several hundred dollars in cash which he was saving to buy three small lots next to his own. The money burned.

"Nothing was insured," Isaac said.

"While a bulldozer plowed the smoldering remains of Isaac's home into a pile, Isaac stood thinking about what he would do. "We've got money...to rent a house," he said.

The bulldozer operator got off and pulled a fairly intact toy tractor out of the rubble.

"I've still got the wife and kids and lots of time," Isaac said. "That will teach me to put my money in the bank."

Blaine generator planned

Paige said the turbine would be utilized during peak loads or if a breakage occurred on the about 72 mile long transmission line from Hagerman.

He said, however, he did not foresee any power shortage this winter and that the firm was still adding new customers.

The turbine will produce power at about two cents per kilowatt hour, Paige said. It can be operated on either gas or oil and the firm presently has guaranteed oil delivery to serve the turbine.

Paige said the turbine will be operated from either Boise or Twin Falls by remote control. It will require no additional personnel other than the usual firm's maintenance crews.

Company officials said two large fuel storage tanks would be installed, holding a total of about 191,000 gallons. The tanks would be "about 60 feet in diameter and about 35 feet high."

Paige said the company would ask the Public Utilities Commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing construction of the facilities.

At the same time Paige said the utility will also apply to the Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commission for approval.

The "relatively small" unit will be 117 feet long, 61 feet wide and 32 feet high. The proposed generator, which would be in commercial operation next May if approval is given, will be similar to units already in "successful and environmentally acceptable" operation in Denver and other metropolitan areas, he said.

The manager said the area is now served by a single 138,000 volt line extending 72 miles from King substation in Hagerman Valley to the Ketchum substation. Because of the high desert and mountainous terrain which is subject to storms, fires and slides, outages could occur at any time and could last for hours, he said.

Paige said "a majority of the homes in this entire area" are heated with electricity and an extended outage would have a detrimental effect.

The Hailey-Ketchum power load, he said, has increased drastically because of area developments and is expected to peak at about 40,000 kilowatts this winter.

The transmission phase of the proposed project, he said, will use existing highway and street right-of-way. It requires reconstruction and conversion of Idaho Power's existing 46,000 volt transmission line from the Wood River substation to a point near Gimlet and of the existing distribution line from Gimlet to the Ketchum substation. Cost of line construction, included in the overall project, is estimated at $35,000. The generator would be operated with either oil or natural gas, depending on their respective availability.

The new generator would, he said, also serve as a "standby" for area customers in case of line failure from the main source of supply.

Registration ends Saturday

HAILEY — Voter registration for Hailey's general city election Tuesday will end Saturday evening.

According to city clerk Virna Allred, by noon Wednesday "the city had about 535 registered voters; compared to about 430 for the 1971 city election."

The clerk said if city residents voted in the 1971 election they were registered for Tuesday's election. She also said residency has to be established within the city before persons are qualified to register.

Registration will be conducted at the city hall from 7 to 9 p.m. tonight. Registration hours for Friday and Saturday will be from 10 a.m. to noon, 1 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Polls will be open from noon until 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Residents of precinct one, which includes the area south of Bullion Street, will vote at the city library. Precinct two residents — the area north of Bullion — will vote at the city hall.

Public meet set in Hansen tonight

HANSEN — All interested residents of School District 415 in Hansen are invited to a public meeting tonight to discuss the proposed school bond issue election of Monday.

Members of the school board and the superintendent will answer questions from taxpayers and other electors of the district. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Hansen high school.

The bond issue is proposed in the amount of $380,000 for the construction of a new elementary building to accommodate 225 students of grades one through six.

Polls will open Monday at noon and remain open until 8 p.m. with voting in the high school building. Registration is not required and voters need only be qualified electors, age 18 or more and residents of Idaho, Twin Falls county and School District 415. In lieu of registration, each voter signs a voter's oath as to his qualifications prior to casting a ballot.

Aquifer called problem

By DAVID ESPO, Times-News Capital Bureau

BOISE — The Atomic Energy Commission's newly appointed Idaho Operations Manager said Wednesday the underground Snake River aquifer was an "obvious disadvantage" in the way of the establishment of a waste depository at the National Reactor Testing Station.

R. Glenn Bradley met for about 45 minutes with Gov. Cecil D. Andrus at the statehouse and commented after the meeting if the NRTS were to be a "candidate" for an interim storage site "it would be a logical sequence of steps to assure ourselves that in no way would the aquifer be put in jeopardy."

Andrus and Bradley met for the first time since Bradley succeeded William L. Ginkel as the AEC's Idaho manager.

Andrus had sent Bradley request for information on an ongoing basis about the NRTS program. His letter also said he "cannot and will not permit Idaho to become a de facto repository for a considerable portion of the nation's waste."

Andrus said following the meeting Bradley had deferred answering his direct request because similar questions had been asked the AEC chairman Dr. Dixie Lee Ray. But the

Meeting set in Ketchum

KETCHUM — A "Meet the Candidates Night" for contenders in Ketchum's mayoralty and council contests has been scheduled for tonight.

Sponsored by the Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce, the event will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Ernest Hemingway Elementary School, Ketchum.

governor said he was "assured" the answers are forthcoming.

Bradley also said the AEC had "no quarrel" with the state's interest in independent monitoring on the NRTS and pledged the commission's assistance wherever possible, but he also noted that the AEC was prohibited by law from contributing funds to the cost of any independent monitoring.

Bradley said the purpose of his meeting with Andrus was to "have a chance to get acquainted with the governor to establish a vehicle for continued close rapport."

No person denied

HAILEY — No person in need of hospital treatment and without funds to pay for such treatment will be turned away from either Blaine County Hospital or Moritz Community Hospital.

Jerry Steinbach, administrator of both the hospitals, told the Times-News Wednesday that he had received many calls from people who had the impression that charity cases would not be accepted at either Blaine County Hospital in Hailey or Moritz Hospital in Sun Valley.

Steinbach said the misconception followed an earlier article in the Times-News on uniform credit collection policies adopted by the boards of the two hospitals in which reference to treatment of charity cases was deleted.

"Hospital care will never be refused to individuals in need who are unable to pay for necessary hospital services," Steinbach emphasized.

TF health meet Nov. 29

TWIN FALLS — A former mental health patient will speak at the annual meeting of the Twin Falls County Mental Health Association Nov. 29.

Tom Sealey, Boise, editor of Hope, the state publication of the Idaho State Mental Health Association, will address the local group at a dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 29 at the Turf Club.

Officers will be elected and year reports given, according to Lotus Joy Schmucker, chapter president.

Sealey, who quit school in the 10th grade, had five stepmothers and tended bar at age 10, has served time in prison and was hospitalized for mental illness six times before complete recovery.

His remarkable story, as lived by the speaker and insights he gathered from it, provides the impact of two cultural works smashing together — Miss Schmucker and Hope.

He is now employed part-time by the state mental health association and in addition to editing the new publication, Hope, speaks widely in schools and to civic groups about the mental health problem.

Since one person in 10 will know mental illness from personal experience, in Idaho this represents 70,000 people. Many do not receive help, the president said, even though facilities are available, because of ignorance or fear of the stigma associated with having succumbed to stress.

Sealey's speaking engagements throughout the state are aimed at helping solve both problems, Miss Schmucker said.

Two politicians on loan board

(Special to the Times-News) BOISE — The board of directors for the proposed new First Intermountain Savings and Loan in Ketchum includes one Republican state legislator and the state Democratic National Committeeman.

Papers on file with the State Department of Finance list John Peavey and James Donart among the seven-member board. Peavey, who lists his occupation on the papers as a rancher, is also a Republican state senator from Blaine and Minidoka counties.

Donart, a lawyer who recently moved to Ketchum from Weiser, is also the state's Democratic National Committeeman.

Other board members include William R. Rupp, Robert A. Sims, Craig Sorenson, David H. Olson, all Halley, president, and P. Charles Duryea, Grand Blanc, Mich.

A spokesman at the Department of Finance said no recommendation had yet been made to Commissioner of Finance Thomas D. McEldowney about the application for a state charter for the institution.

A public hearing was held last week in Boise into the request, with the information presented generally favorable to those applying.

Police Department had presented a program on drug abuse.

Boller said he was "one of the few in the state" who favored the district attorney system, which he said would place a district attorney on the judicial district level and deputy district attorney in each county.

The district attorney, Boller said, would be a "full time professional" paid by the state, who "runs on efficiency" factors rather than "partisan factors."

In response to a question to compare the present prosecuting attorneys system to the proposed district attorney system, Boller said, "the system works fairly efficiently now." However, he said, "the courts are extremely clogged now."

Boller said he felt that a full time district attorney for the eight-county area would "allow more efficient administration" and would "speed up administration."

In describing his job, Boller said the prosecuting attorney is elects to a two year term and receives about $541 per month.

The prosecutor, he said, serves as a county attorney, advising county bodies and handling civil matters which are before these groups.

Boller said the prosecutor also serves in the dual function of the chief law-enforcement officials of the county and an officer of the court with the "primary duty to protect the rights of the accused" as well as the rights of the state.

Boller said the prosecutor's ultimate question in trying a case was whether he could "convince the court or jury beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty."

The prosecuting attorney said that plea bargaining was an "essential element of the administration of justice."

In response to a question, Boller said criminal cases were normally "handled very speedily." After the meeting, he said cases in which the defendant had pleaded not guilty took a maximum of four to five months from the time of arrest to the time of trial.

Jerome man files appeal

JEROME — Gay Dean Standlee, 33, who was sentenced to two concurrent 10 year terms after the shooting death of his ex-wife, has filed an appeal with the Idaho supreme court.

Standlee pleaded guilty to charges of voluntary manslaughter and assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder on Sept. 25, two days prior to the beginning of his scheduled trial for first degree murder and attempted murder.

The charges lodged against him stem from the death of Sharyn Woodall, 26, Silverton, Ore., his ex-wife, and the wounding of Thelma Woodall, 42, her husband, in a shooting incident Aug. 17, 1972, at the home of Standlee's parents near Greenwood, east of Hazelton. Mrs. Woodall died from two gunshot wounds in the head. Woodall received a single wound in the chest.

Diesel fuel theft eyed in Jerome

JEROME — The Jerome County sheriff is investigating the theft of diesel fuel from the Bill Mobley farm six miles north of Jerome.

Elza Hall, Jerome County sheriff, said he received a call about 11:25 p.m. Tuesday from Mobley, reporting that a car containing four or five youths pulled up to the gas pump located on his farm and mistakenly filled their car with diesel fuel rather than gasoline.

Hall said Mobley reported he shot at the car with a shotgun from a distance and then attempted to follow the youths, but lost them.

Hall said he located the car the youths had been driving and that a 16-year-old juvenile had been picked up for questioning but was released pending further investigation.

'Snack' subsidy for milk starts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bowing to a congressional directive, the administration has agreed to revive full-scale operation of a special "snack" milk subsidy program for school children, the Agriculture Department disclosed today.

The federal subsidy involves payments for extra servings of milk in addition to the half-pints which are the standard part of regular school breakfasts and lunches.

The department began the 1973-74 school year with the program operating at an annual rate of $25 million, about one-fourth of last year's $97 million rate.

Congress, however, voted in its farm appropriation bill to restore the full $97 million.

After getting permission from the White House Office of Management and Budget (OMB) to spend the extra funds, the Agriculture Department announced today the full program is being revived.

Suspension of the "special" program in many schools this fall had not eliminated servings of milk as a regular part of school lunches and breakfasts.

Officials said subsidy rates now will be the same as in the past. Schools participating in the federal lunch and breakfast programs can get subsidies of up to four cents per half-pint for extra milk sold under the "special" program. For other schools and child care institutions the subsidy ceiling is three cents per half-pint.

Nixon supported by Florida FB

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — The Florida Farm Bureau Federation voiced support Tuesday of President Nixon and criticized the news media for its treatment of the President.

Delegates to the 32nd annual convention of the federation overruled arguments they were venturing into partisan politics and approved a resolution supporting Nixon and his policies.

"He has our prayers and full support in his efforts to heal the wounds inflicted upon our home front to help reunite our people and give the world confidence in our government and the people, by the people and for the people," the resolution read.

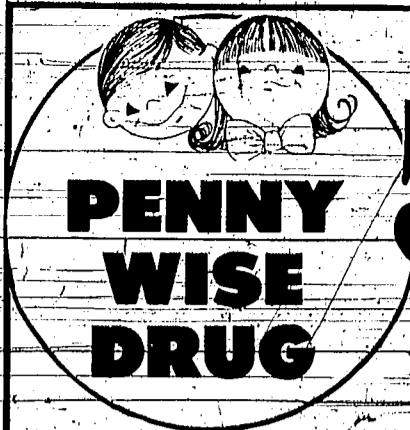

"We, the members of Florida Farm Bureau Federation, strongly protest the lack of respect shown toward the highest office in our land, namely that of the President of the United States, by certain segments of the news media," the resolution said.

"We believe in the basic principles that all men are innocent until proven guilty and that the highest degree of respect should be shown toward the highest office in our land. We further believe justice in our courts of law, as well as judgment by public opinion, can be served through fact and opinion rather than opinionated reporting."

Some delegates questioned whether the resolution was meant to deal with the office of the presidency or the man. Objections that the news media being criticized should be identified were defeated.

Some 45 women are enrolled in the Stanford Business School Master of Business Administration program this year, compared with one woman 10 years ago.

Tiger-Gooding, Wendell-Pilot games will decide loop titles

It's Mountain Home at Gooding and Wendell at Glens Ferry with playoff berth riding on the outcome Friday night as most of Magic Valley's football teams wind up their 1973 season.

Defense and a passing game that utilizes both Ron Folkings and Charlie Hepworth. Situations, fresh off its biggest offensive game of the year, will be at Wood River where the Wolverines, after a long season sweep, apparently revived some of that decision over Wendell. Still, this one should be a defensive battle. If it explodes, Wood River has the quicker men and trusty, the better shot. Valley will travel to Declo where both teams are propping for playoffs. Valley will be checking for Wendell to get ahead of Glens Ferry in the Little Five rankings while Declo already is a clinch to go against Westside in the mountains next Thursday. It starts at 7 p.m. Castileford, with just one win, and Kimberly, with two, will try to end things on a winning note at Kimberly. The Bulldogs have sustained three key injuries in the past two weeks. Castileford is trying to find someone to catch the ball after last weekend when a couple of apparent bombs were flat dropped. North Cam, which hasn't received too gracious treatment from Magic Valley teams this far, might find the Red Devils at Murlough a little ornery, too. Murlough is preparing for a playoff in the dome against Grace next week. In the other night battle, the Higginman Pirates have a last chance to get their first win but it comes against Hansen which has all the advantages based on scores against common opponents.

The Minico Spartans will host a rare afternoon SIC battle against Boise Friday while the Twin Falls Bruins moved to Meridian for a night clash. The Boise Spartans thing was moved up due to possibility of cold weather, it says here, but the prospect of being only 80 miles away from the title confrontation between the league undefeateds, Capital and Lightning, in the minicome may have been a contributing factor.

Both Magic Valley teams face difficult tasks. Neither team was particularly inspiring in the early going but have become very tough in the second half of the season. Meanwhile, Twin Falls' hopes of getting back to a .500 season with two closing wins sustained a big loss when eight men, including five starters, were dropped from the team for breaking training rules. Twin Falls faces a team that has shown an ability to win in a couple of ways. While the Warriors were expected to be a passing team with quarterback Jerry Parks coming back after a fine junior year, things didn't work out as planned. Coach Stan Honglun, with big Dave Bertsch at fullback, since has rebuilt a strong running game. In addition, Meridian's defensive statistics have become increasingly more impressive.

About the same is true for Minico. Boise's defense is among the best statistically right now. The Braves have good running in quarterback

Nine college teams remain undefeated but six still seeking first victory

By FRED McMANE
UPI Sports Writer
There are nine major college football teams with perfect records in the college football season enters its final month, but a more staggering statistic is that there are six major teams which have not won a game.

decide the Big Ten champion and the Rose Bowl representative. Michigan (7-0) See above paragraph, substituting Michigan for Ohio State. The Wolverines host Indiana Saturday.

pl. Tulane (6-0)—The Green Wave has two games remaining, three of which come under the same category. The tough ones are with Kentucky (away) on Saturday, Maryland on Nov. 24 and LSU on Dec. 1.

The Losers
Texas-El Paso (6-8)—If the Minors win any of their remaining three games they should have the football honored for posterity. UTEP has been outscored an average of 49-13 per game this season, and their next three opponents are Arizona, Arizona State and Brigham Young.

Iowa (0-7)—The Hawkeyes' chances for a victory are pretty slim also. They have four Big Ten Conference games remaining and only Michigan State, which meets Iowa on Nov. 24, looms as a possible win. Purdue is Iowa's opponent Saturday.

Florida St. (0-7)—The Seminoles have virtually no chance at a victory this year either. Three of their remaining four games come on the road, starting with once-beaten Houston Saturday. After the Cougars, the Seminoles face Virginia Tech, South Carolina and Florida.

Long Beach St. (0-7)—The Forty Niners get a bye this weekend but then face San Diego State, Wichita State and Cal Poly (SLO) on successive weekends.

Of the nine clubs with perfect records, at least five stand a better than average chance of finishing the campaign that way, and of the six winless clubs it appears doubtful if any will be able to squeeze out a victory before the end of the season.

Notre Dame (6-0)—The Irish should be home free. They have Navy Saturday followed by Pittsburgh, Air Force and Miami (Fla.) and should win all four.

Arizona State (7-0)—The Sun Devils have four games left, all with Western Athletic Conference opponents, and only Arizona on Nov. 24 figures to stand in their way from completion of a perfect season. The Sun Devils are at Utah Saturday.

Minico hosts Boise, TF travels

The Minico Spartans will host a rare afternoon SIC battle against Boise Friday while the Twin Falls Bruins moved to Meridian for a night clash.

Boise Spartans thing was moved up due to possibility of cold weather, it says here, but the prospect of being only 80 miles away from the title confrontation between the league undefeateds, Capital and Lightning, in the minicome may have been a contributing factor.

Both Magic Valley teams face difficult tasks. Neither team was particularly inspiring in the early going but have become very tough in the second half of the season.

Kuhn places Finley under probation for series row

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bowling Kuhn, the baseball commissioner, finally has flexed his muscles.

He has placed Oakland owner Charles O. Finley on indefinite probation and pointedly warned him that next time he may come down on him with both feet.

Kuhn has not only fined Finley $7,000 and put him on probation for three separate actions during the world series, but has threatened him with much stiffer punishment if he commits another misdeed.

Next time, Kuhn has notified Finley he may hit him with Article 1 of the Major League Agreement.

One of the provisions of that article gives the commissioner the power to remove any officer of a major league club if he "becomes a disgrace to the best interests of baseball."

"Yes, I have paid the $7,000," acknowledges Finley. "I have sent him (Kuhn) a check with a letter of protest, and I'm requesting a hearing before the executive council of baseball as soon as possible."

"I have been notified about my probation and have no comment on that at this time. Nor do I have any comment about what the commissioner says he might do next time."

Finley, however, did have some comments about his fine, probably the largest against any owner in all baseball history.

One of his comments dealt with reserve second baseman Mike Andrews, who cost the A's the second world series game with the New York Mets because of a pair of errors. For the manner in which Finley tried to place Andrews on the disabled list, Kuhn fined him $5,000.

"They said I fired Mike Andrews, but I didn't," insists Finley. "We had waivers on him. Last Friday we asked unconditional release waivers on him—Any club can claim him for a dollar. Those waivers expire at noon today. If nobody claims him, he's a free agent."

What it means is Andrews has no job anymore.

"This is further proof that the A's are disabled, and that's all we really were saying when we asked for a substitute," said Finley. "For that I was fined $5,000."

Kuhn did not announce

Colonels bomb Q's

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The free-lancing Kentucky Colonels ran up their highest score of the season Wednesday night as they bombed the San Diego Conquistadors, 146-105, behind 25 points by Dan Issel and 23 by Mike Gale.

The Colonels also tied an American Basketball Association record with 60 defensive rebounds.

Celtics drop Cavs 128-110

BOSTON (UPI)—Jo Jo White and Dave Cowens scored 27 points apiece Wednesday night as the Boston Celtics put seven Celtics in double figures and outkicked the Cleveland Cavaliers, 128-110, in a National Basketball Association game.

The Celtics, making amends for a last second loss to the Cavs Sunday, never trailed after Don Nelson scored the first two baskets. Boston opened a 25-8 lead with just 5:07 gone and coasted from that point.

Finley's probation publicly. He revealed it instead in a letter he wrote to Finley last Friday. The commissioner also sent a copy of the letter to Joe Cronin and Charles "Chub" Eeceney, the two league presidents; all the major league owners and presidents and all the general managers.

The Oakland club is hereby to remit the sum of $7,000, its check to be received here no later than Nov. 1, 1973," Kuhn said in the letter mailed to Finley from his office.

"I also determined that you personally shall be placed on probation until further notice and warn you that further conduct not in the best interest of baseball may lead to disciplinary action against you as provided in Article 1 of the Major League Agreement."

Another provision of Article 1 empowers the commissioner to deprive a major league official from attending the joint meetings. The provision was used to force out a former National League owner 30 years ago after he had been found to be associating with known gamblers.

Kuhn now has fined Finley three different times. He fined him during the players' strike two years ago for remarks Kuhn considered uncalled for and shortly thereafter again for Finley's actions during a lengthy bitter holdout session with A's left hander Vida Blue.

This time Finley drew three separate fines, two for $1,000 apiece plus the one for $5,000 over his handling of Andrews.

"One of those $1,000 fines, according to the commissioner, was for the sole purpose of trying to embarrass the New York (Mets) club," says Finley.

"We didn't try to embarrass the New York club. We simply made an announcement that the Mets were playing with 25 players and we were being allowed to play with only 23. We had asked permission to place (reserve second baseman) Manny Trillo on our roster as a replacement for one of our other injured players, but we were denied permission to do so. For merely announcing that we simply letting our fans know, we're fined $1,000."

Finley says Bob Scheffling, the A's general manager, actually had no objection to the A's using Trillo. The Oakland owner says Scheffling told him he had to say no to the request though orders from Eeceney. Scheffling denies saying that.

Finley drew the second $1,000 fine for taking it upon himself to have the lights at Oakland Coliseum turned on as his team was coming to bat in the bottom of the ninth inning of the second World Series contest.

"It was for the safety of my players and not to gain any lifting advantage," insists Finley. "It was getting very dark at home plate."

As for Andrews, Finley had him examined by Dr. Harry H. Walker after the second baseman cost the A's the second game with his two errors.

"Dr. Walker examined Andrews and in his opinion the player's shoulder was disabled," says Finley. "I asked Mike Andrews if he was willing to sign a statement agreeing to that. He said, 'yes, Mr. Finley, I will sign if you will guarantee me a major league contract for 1974.'"

"I told him, 'Mike, there is no way I'd agree to such a thing. There is no way I would place such an imposition on my manager or my team. You'll have to make the ball club.'"

At first, Andrews, whom the A's picked up as a free agent during the summer, balked at signing a statement saying he was disabled. Later he did sign and the club tried to place him on the disabled list, which technically doesn't even exist after the regular season is over.

"All I did was make a request of the commissioner to replace Mike Andrews," says Finley. "I did not fire Mike Andrews. All I asked for was a substitute. For that I'm fined $5,000."

"I'll be glad when I retire. All I talked non-stop for close to 45 minutes Wednesday as he denied the story earlier in the week that said he had reinjured his jaw, broken eight months ago by Ken Norton. When he had finished no one doubted his jaw was in fine working order."

An examination by Dr. Harry Kleiman of the New York State Athletic Commission found Ali's jaw to be in good condition.

Ali discounts talk about jaw injury

NEW YORK (UPI)—Muhammad Ali's jaw is not broken again. Just listen.

"If there was something wrong with my jaw I'd be in a hospital. I just chewed a steak dinner. How can I chew a steak dinner with a broken jaw? What's all this fuss about anyway?"

"People got their jaw broke everyday. People die everyday in Israel and Egypt. But the whole world wants to know if I hurt my jaw. Two people are dead on the street in Philadelphia. Sixteen die on the George Washington Bridge and my tooth hurts and the whole world's got to know. It shows you what this country is all about. I feel guilty. I don't have mercy."

"All this attention, for what? This shows you how messed up the world is. A plane crashes with 96 people on it—and some little colored fighter like me gets all the headlines. People die in wars. This is serious. All this attention over a boxing match. This shows you how much the people of the world are interested in me."

Ali had traveled to Jakarta, Indonesia, and defeated 17 opponents on Oct. 20 in a warm-up for his return with Joe Frazier at Madison Square Garden on Jan. 28.

"The fight itself isn't nothin'," said Ali as he turned his attention to Frazier. "One win and one loss."

As easily as Ali talked about defeat, his pride wouldn't let him get too carried away with another loss to Frazier.

"I've got to give Joe Frazier a good whuppin'," said Ali. "Get him in that ring and whup him good—I made him famous."

He's got an excellent bite," said Kleiman. "It appears that a permanent bridge came loose."

Rumors began to circulate Monday that the reason Ali's exhibition tour of Asia had been canceled was because the former champion had reinjured his jaw. Ali had been bothered by a bad tooth but the real reason for the cancellation was because promoters were talking a bath at the gate.

Lyle gets decision over Middleton

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Non-Lyle, the Denver ex-convict, slugged out an unanimous 10-0 round decision over Baltimore's Larry Middleton Wednesday night in a battle of two of the world's top 10 heavyweights.

Middleton, 31, now 20-4-1, was able to outdance Lyle, but clearly could not outblitz him. Lyle cut Middleton's nose in the early rounds and blood splattered from the wound throughout the fight.

The fight was a rematch of a bout in Denver, just December in which Lyle knocked out Middleton in the third round. There were no knockdowns in the fight, although Middleton stumbled to the canvas in the third round.

Once-a-month gas price hike okayed

United Press International The Cost of Living Council Wednesday decided to allow once-a-month increases in the cost of gasoline. The change from the earlier freeze on prices was made after a months-long campaign by gas station operators who complained that theirs was the only industry in the country that was forced to absorb increases in wholesale costs without being able to pass them on to the consumer.

John T. Dunlop, director of the council, said the price hikes would only be permitted to pass on increases in the price of production. The move applies to all segments of the petroleum industry.

The airline industry, which buys about 10 billion gallons of jet fuel a year, said Thursday that it will try to cut more than 100,000 flights a year from its schedules in an effort to conserve fuel. The cuts, scattered throughout the air route system, would total about 300 daily from the current 14,000-a-day schedule.

Pan American airlines asked the Civil Aeronautics Board Wednesday for permission to open talks with other airlines on reducing the number of cross-Atlantic flights, claiming the "critical scarcity" of aviation fuel for international flights "is already reflected in sharply rising fuel prices."

Trans World Airlines was expected to do the same in a few days.

In other developments: The Massachusetts House of Representatives passed an initial measure for year-round daylight saving time by a 215-7 margin. Its sponsors say the change would save energy in the winter by providing for an extra hour of daylight at the end of the day.

Sixteen per cent of the voters in three areas of Bakerfield, Calif., were to be turned off because voters turned down measures that would pay for the increased cost of electricity.

The Senate Commerce Committee approved a $340 million bill to subsidize the development of a smog-free alternative to the internal combustion engine. Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., sponsor of the measure, said the alternative engine would mean cleaner air without strict government controls on how cars are used.

Officials said schools in East Providence, R.I., and 91 districts in Indiana might be left without enough gas to run their buses this winter.

The Chase Manhattan Bank said it appears the Soviet Union may become the world's largest producer of crude oil within two years, with production approaching 10 million barrels a day.

In Tokyo, officials of the Ministry of International Trade and Industry said they were working on plans for rationing that would keep basic industries running but provide for closing freeways to private motorists; shutting down gas stations on Sundays; and a ceiling on the amount of gasoline available for private cars.

They said the regulations are based on the belief that Japan will have 17 or 18 per cent less oil than anticipated during the last six months of the current fiscal year, ending March 31, 1974. There was no indication when the controls actually would be imposed.

California fire

A LOS ANGELES County Fire-Department helicopter makes a drop on a flareup in the worst brush fire of the season that flamed through 2,550 acres. The blaze, now under control, is believed to have started by an arsonist. (UPI)

US will push for troop cut

VIENNA (UPI) — The United States plans to push for quick reductions in American and Soviet troop levels in Europe during East-West talks on military cuts in the region, U.S. officials said today.

Delegates from the Warsaw Pact and North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) nations opened the negotiations two days ago and agreed to begin detailed talks on force reductions next Tuesday.

The U.S. officials said the first phase of the talks will concentrate on force cuts by the superpowers in Central Europe followed by negotiations on troop reductions by East and West European nations in the region.

The officials said America would like an early agreement enabling Washington to pull some of its troops out of Europe by next year. The Russians have suggested 1975 for a start of the withdrawal.

Arson probed in big LA fire

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — County Fire Department investigators believe that the worst brush fire of the season, which flamed through 2,550 acres in a seaside neighborhood and forced evacuation of hundreds of expensive homes, was fanned off by a teenage arsonist.

A ranch worker saw a youth running from the scene where the blaze began, only minutes before it was discovered, officials said.

The sheriff's arson squad believes it has learned the youth's identity, law enforcement sources said, and an arrest was expected.

The blaze was damped off by fire lines that will prevent further spread Wednesday night. Hot spots still burned, and a reduced crew of firefighters still fought the flames, but officials said no further serious outbreaks were expected.

A Fire Department spokesman said it was astonishing that a blaze of such size and fury destroyed no homes. Scores of homes have burned in past fires.

The fire broke out Tuesday afternoon in the Topanga Canyon region, just inland from the wealthy Malibu district.

Campaign funds used for tricks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Watergate committee staff says more than 25 paid agents, financed by $110,000 in Nixon campaign funds, played dirty tricks on Democrats in the 1972 election campaigns.

Mark Lakritz, a committee lawyer, said during hearings Wednesday that those funds did not include an estimated $250,000 used for the Watergate break-in and related activities, or an estimated $400,000 spent to pay lawyers fees and other expenses of Watergate defendants.

Lakritz also reported the total figure for Nixon campaign expenditures on such activities in 1972 will just about reach the $1 million mark when totaled up. But he did not give a breakdown of that figure.

During the hearing, Lakritz produced a chart listing 25 key operatives he said were hired by agents of the Nixon reelection committee. But he said that as many as 60 persons may have carried out the activities.

In one instance, Lakritz said that $1,200 in Nixon campaign

Countdown nears

CAPITOL CANEVAL (UPI) — The countdown moved methodically today toward a muck-lift-off-Friday morning of the last crew to man America's Skylab space station. Officials reported no problems arising.

Engineers were completing stowage of the hundreds of pounds of extra food and equipment the Skylab 3 crew was to take with them aboard a converted Apollo command module they will ride into space Nov. 10 for a mission that could last 12 weeks.

Astronauts Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue were near the end of their 2 1/2 years of training in the Johnson Space Center in Houston for the record-breaking orbital research mission.

Launchpad workers Wednesday closed off panels around the Saturn IB booster rocket that will fire the men 270 miles up to Skylab and installed individual couches in the command module, where the astronauts sit on launch day.

They also removed miles of wiring used for testing parts of the rocket and crew ferry ship, a converted moon capsule.

Flight canceled

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI) — The first powered flight of the X24B, forerunner of a new generation of aerospace craft, was canceled Wednesday because of a possible engine malfunction.

The flight was tentatively rescheduled for Friday. A pre-flight check turned up the engine problem.

The X24B is intended to pave the way for development of aircraft capable of operating at the edge of space and flying back to earth to land like conventional airplanes.

It has undergone a series test flights through the summer, but without power. The 8,000-pound plane was dropped from a B52 military ship and allowed to glide to earth.

In the first powered test, the ## Council to finalize agreement

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Diplomatic sources said the Security Council would attempt to hammer out an agreement today on the use of African and Asian troops in the Middle East peace-keeping force.

The sources said council delegates would meet in a closed-door session to work out the final details for the prospective 7,000-man U.N. force to supervise the nine-day truce.

The General Assembly Wednesday received U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim's request for $30 million to finance the force's initial six months. It referred the request to the 15-nation administrative and budgetary committee.

Albania joined China Wednesday in refusing to pay the force's costs. Albanian Deputy Foreign Minister Reiz Mafise said the force had been set up on the initiative of the United States and the Soviet Union without consulting the small powers.

Waldheim proposed the $30 million be considered part of the regular U.N. budget. China's defaulting would leave a gap of $1.05 million. Albania's assessed share would be $60,000.

Dellinger appeals

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago Seven defendant David Dellinger, in an appeal Wednesday asking for dismissal of contempt of court charges, said U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman "goaded" the antiwar protesters into the courtroom behavior that brought the citations.

Dellinger's appeal came as defense attorneys wound up their arguments for a judgment of acquittal for the seven defendants. The court was recessed today, and the attorneys present arguments Friday for acquittal for Chicago Seven attorneys William Kunstler and Leonard Weinglass, who also were cited for contempt by Hoffman during the 1968-70 conspiracy trial.
