Acid-filled plane crashes; 3 killed

BOSTON (UPI)—A Pan American cargo plane, carrying cylinders of nitric acid, crashed and burned Saturday trying to make an abbreviated landing at Logan International Airport. All 11 crewmen aboard were killed.

Wallace satisfactory after surgery

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, crippled in an assassination attempt last year, was in satisfactory condition Saturday after undergoing minor surgery to improve the function of his bladder.

The 30-minute operation called an external sphincterotomy, was performed by Dr. George H. Myers without anesthetic as a followup to prostate surgery the governor had last January.

Forbes claims balloon record

HARTWOOD, Va. (UPI)—Malcolm Forbes, the magazine publisher traveling across country in a hot-air balloon, landed on a farm near this rural community Saturday, claiming to have set a record for the longest balloon flight.

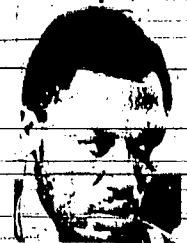

Forbes, publisher of Forbes Magazine, covered 416 miles in eight hours after leaving Connersville, Ind., Saturday morning. Forbes will take off Monday on the final leg of his journey to Norfolk, Va., and the Atlantic coast. His trip began Oct. 4 in Coos Bay, Ore.

Harassment of Demo chief reported

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—The St. Louis Post-Dispatch said Saturday that former Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien has been the victim of a campaign of harassment and investigation under orders "from the highest levels in the White House."

Washington correspondent Thomas W. Ottenad said the newspaper had pieced together the story from a number of secret White House memoranda and from an interview with O'Brien.

Frazier opens clinic

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Frazier announced the establishment of a new clinic Friday which will treat sickle cell anemia and other blood diseases affecting Negroes. The clinic, named after Frazier's manager the late Yancey Durham Jr., will continue the efforts begun two years ago by the National Sickle Cell Anemia Foundation.

Bus crash kills 'dozens'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—A Greyhound bus carrying 46 persons was "totally demolished" Saturday night when it slammed into a bridge abutment on Interstate 680, killing and injuring dozens of passengers.

The California Highway Patrol said "approximately 17 persons" were killed in the crash and "at least a dozen more injured."

NY Times asks Nixon resignation

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Times said Saturday night that President Nixon should resign because a "surging torrent" of events has stripped him of his "capacity to act as chief executive."

In an editorial in its Sunday editions, the Times said Nixon would be "performing his ultimate service to the American people by resigning before this nation is forced to go through the traumatic and divisive process of impeachment."

Fuel allocation may hurt farmers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. W. B. Poage, D-Tex., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said Saturday farmers may be penalized rather than helped by the administration's mandatory fuel allocation program.

Poage said the system used to allocate fuels such as diesel fuel and home heating oil "could even mean fuel going to power a merry-go-round in an amusement park while a tractor stood idle in the middle of a farm 10 miles away because it ran out of diesel."

Egyptian breakout fails

By United Press International

Units of the trapped Egyptian 3rd Army tried Saturday to smash out of the Israeli stronghold on the Sinai Desert, but the attacks—one lasting three hours—were repulsed by infantry, artillery and mortar barrages, Israeli reported.

Egypt denied the Israeli report but complained to United Nations observers Saturday that Israel had violated the cease-fire four times in the past 24 hours, an Egyptian military spokesman said.

The Egyptian spokesman said Israel was attempting to create a pretext to break the cease-fire and launch widespread military operations.

The battlefield moves came during intense diplomatic negotiations in the United States and the Middle East aimed at resolving the four-week-old crisis. The United States appeared to be acting as the middleman between Arab and Israeli diplomats in Washington.

Diplomatic sources in Cyprus said the Israeli and Egyptians would exchange prisoners of war "possibly with the next 24 hours." The Israeli military command said Saturday that Israeli and Egyptian officers met on the West Bank of the Suez Canal to discuss POW issue.

State Department sources indicated Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was shuttling between separate meetings with Israeli Premier Mrs. Golda Meir and Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy to break the deadlock over the cease-fire lines along the Suez Canal and the release of prisoners.

State Department sources said Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir might extend her visit in Washington one more day. She was expected to leave to Tel Aviv late Saturday, but may put off her trip until Sunday, the sources said.

State Department spokesman Robert McCloskey said Kissinger met with Mrs. Meir from 10 p.m. Friday until after midnight, and is expected to meet first with Fahmy and again with Mrs. Meir late Saturday.

Sources said Kissinger's continuing diplomatic effort was "intensive."

Oil pinch jolts US

United Press International

The Arab oil squeeze reached around the world Saturday. In the United States fuel prices jumped and energy shortages threatened to put a crimp in Christmas light displays.

Some states relaxed restrictions on the use of high sulphur fuel oil. Airlines were asking for permission to cutback flights to conserve fuel.

In Europe, Common Market country members were scheduled to meet Tuesday to discuss a joint-European stand on the Arab oil embargoes. The Netherlands has already put a partial ban on Sunday driving.

Saudi Arabia turned the oil value tighter Saturday by banning oil deliveries to any country known to habitually deliver crude or refined oil products to the United States, oil sources said.

In addition to the United States and Holland, Saudi Arabia's embargo list also includes Canada, the Bahamas, Trinidad, the Antilles, Puerto Rico, Guam and South Africa.

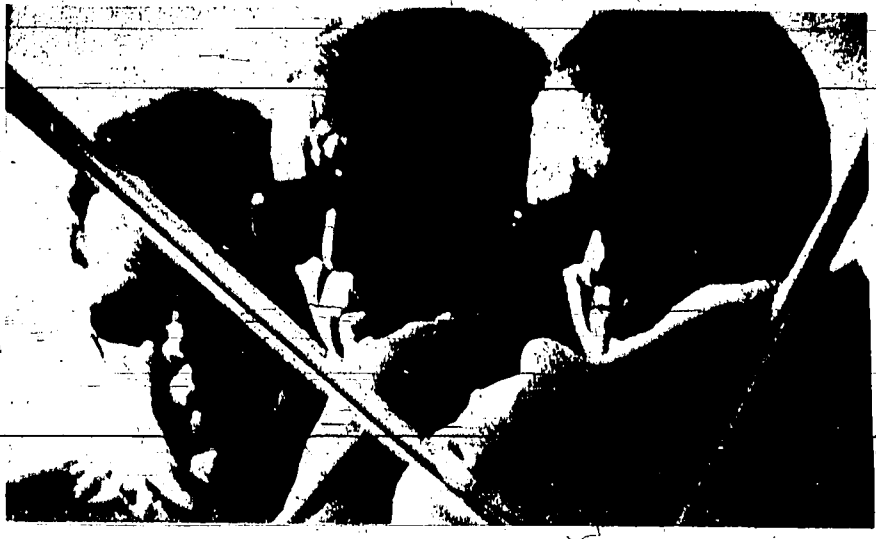

The Arab oil producing states have said they will stop deliveries to the United States until Israel withdraws from occupied Arab territories and there is a settlement of the Palestinian refugee problem.

In Asia, the Philippine government has ordered a series of measures to conserve fuel including mandatory daylight saving time and the printing of gas rationing cards in case rationing becomes necessary.

In a move to cut consumption, the Indian government hiked the price of gasoline 60 per cent—up to $1.61 a gallon.

In the United States, gasoline and fuel oil prices jumped sharply Saturday in areas across the country. Standard Oil of Ohio raised gasoline prices 10 per cent, pushing the price of premium to 47.9 cents a gallon—believed to be the biggest increase of any refinery since the new price regulations went into effect Thursday.

In Houston, Texaco and Exxon announced fuel hikes. Texaco raised gasoline prices to retailers and wholesalers 2 cents a gallon; tractor and diesel fuel to retailers by 1 cent a gallon and home heating oil by 2 cents a gallon. Exxon increased the price of all its gasoline by 3 cents a gallon, heating oil and kerosene by 1.7 cents a gallon and propane by 1.6 cents a gallon.

PRESIDENT NIXON, right, with friends G. "Gene" Rebozo, center, and Robert Abplanalp, seemed a little miffed Saturday when discovered by press photographers as the trio took off in Rebozo's houseboat at Key Biscayne. They turned back 20 minutes later after spurning several more boatloads of photographers. (UPI)

All three are seeking reelection this month. The three incumbents are candidates of the Halley Council for Responsible Government, a pro-development group which supports the controversial McCulloch project in Halley. Ketchum Tomorrow Editor Steve Stovel opposed the three candidates in the editorial. He asked "whether the government of Halley will be permitted to continue to abuse the will of the citizens in a spirit of arrogance and usurpation." The paper backed Heagle's opponent, Ralph Rutter. Lathrop said the editorial essentially stated that the record of the Halley city government "was one of abuse of the citizens and disrespect of their opinions and concerns." He called the seizure of the newspapers, "an ironic example confirming what the editorial states."

Ketchum paper seized

By TERRY CAMPBELL, Times-News Writer

HAILEY—About 300 copies of Ketchum's free weekly newspaper, Ketchum Tomorrow, were seized in Halley Thursday and Friday, apparently in protest to editorial comment in the paper.

The newspaper carried a blistering editorial criticizing Halley Mayor Lawrence Heagle and City Councilmen Charles Dunn and Don Angell.

The newspaper carried a blistering editorial criticizing Halley Mayor Lawrence Heagle and City Councilmen Charles Dunn and Don Angell.

The paper had about 250 copies left and a group of Halley residents volunteered to distribute them door to door according to Lathrop. Beverly Angell, wife of the council candidate, said she removed an undetermined number of the papers from the Triple S grocery store and Troy's pharmacy Friday morning. The papers were destroyed, she said.

Mrs. Angell said she knew of other persons, not necessarily connected with her husband's campaign, who had taken similar action but preferred not to disclose their names.

'Gate panel calls Connally

WASHINGTON (UPI)—

Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally has been subpoenaed by Senate investigators seeking the possibility of a link between dirty industry contributions for President Nixon's re-election and two administration actions favorable to the industry, it was disclosed Saturday. Samuel Dash, chief counsel for the Senate Watergate committee, said Connally and his successor at Treasury, George P. Shultz, were asked to appear before staff investigators "possibly some time next week," although they have not been summoned to testify at public hearings. "This is part of our ongoing investigation of campaign financing," Dash said. A portion of the milk producers' $427,500 contributions in 1971 went to Democrats for Nixon, the 1972 campaign group that Connally headed after he resigned from the cabinet. White House memos and lawsuits have indicated that as much as $2 million in donations was promised. The dairy industry contributions began in March, 1971, the same week the administration ordered an increase in milk price supports that resulted in an estimated $500 million boost in industry profits and higher prices for consumers. No money was contributed in 1972, when the contributions became a matter of public controversy.

Bald, dog-eared Joe

Can Joe (a lamb) survive a dog's life?

By BILL LAZARUS, Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS—A Twin Falls lamb named Joe recently became a dog—or, he thought he did.

Unfortunately for Joe, two dogs—Sadie and Sagebrush—thought differently.

When Joe first came to Chris and Martha Bolton's farmhouse just south of Kimberly Road he was a normal lamb. "At first he was very typical—he followed like a sheep," Bolton said.

Young Steve Harris, Twin Falls, who formerly owned Joe, also described the lamb as "ordinary." Except, Harris did remember he had been able to teach Joe some tricks like jumping on a picnic table and over fences.

Bolton thinks Joe's very sheepishness led him to become a dog in spirit, if not in looks.

"People are considered sheep when they are followers," Bolton said. "Well, Joe just followed Sadie and Sagebrush and started picking up their habits one by one."

Chasing cars was one of the more notable habits Joe developed. Every time a vehicle drives from the house towards Kimberly Road, Sadie and Sagebrush dash down the long dirt road in front of the dog barking furiously all the way.

"After two days, Joe too began bounding down the road, bawling with the most dog-like voice he could muster. Not as quick as the dogs, Joe would run behind the car all the way to the highway.

Fearful the lamb might pick up dangerous street habits, the Boltons kept driving Joe back and fencing him up. But everytime he got a chance Joe took another dash.

Attacking strangers and particular friends was another habit Joe developed, Bolton said. Although Joe did not bark and leap up like the dogs—"he ran up and butted" the visitors.

Eventually, Joe even took a liking to dog food. Describing Joe's customary diet, Bolton said, "He cropped all our weeds for us. He is also very fond of the alfalfa in the field."

"It took us quite a while to realize that he was eating Sagebrush's and Sadie's dog food. Previously the dogs didn't eat all their dog food each day. Then, we just noticed the dog dish was empty every day. I went out one morning about a week and a half ago and saw Joe eating the dog food," Bolton said.

"Because dogs normally just lie and walk around, Joe did the same as he tagged after Sagebrush and Sadie. When the dogs burrowed in the ground by the fence bushes, Joe nudged in too.

At first the Boltons were scared to let Joe mix with the dogs. But, figuring that keeping them apart would be near impossible, they decided to let them mingle.

Bolton described Joe as "a natural." "He picked up on the dogs immediately. He wanted to be friends right away, which is more than you could say for the dogs." They were scared to death of him—mutilated!

"The first night the Boltons let Joe out, Sadie sniffed her tail. He reciprocated right away," Bolton said. "It was weird—the speed with which he picked up their habits."

RAYMOND WALLANDER
... confesses fire killings

'Drifter' admits setting fatal fire

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A husky, bearded 32-year-old drifter who told police he set a fire in a French Quarter bar which killed 33 persons, Saturday was brought back to Louisiana from Sacramento, Calif., where he confessed while in jail on shoplifting charges.

Raymond Wallander was under heavy guard when escorted through the crowd of newsmen. He attempted to hide his face with his hands, and then muttered obscenities in an attempt to stop photographers from taking pictures.

Wallander is officially charged with 32 of the 33 murders. Twenty-nine victims burned to death in the fire last June 24. Four others died of injuries as a result of the fire.

Police said that friends of the fire victims had made threats against Wallander, who waived extradition from California.

While facing shoplifting charges in Sacramento, Wallander summoned police to his cell and confessed that he poured gasoline onto the steps leading to the upstairs lounge and ignited it with a cigarette lighter.

Wallander told police he did it for revenge, because a "cheap" was in the bar. He said the man reneged on a $200 deal regarding a sex act.

Arab oil embargo widened to hit US

BEIRUT (UPI)— Arab oil sources said Saturday Saudi Arabia has banned oil shipments to all countries known to habitually deliver crude or refined oil products to the United States.

The aim of the broadened embargo, the sources said, is to close all loopholes through which oil might be reshipped to the United States to fill its consumption gap.

Besides the United States, Israel and Holland, Saudi Arabia's embargo list also includes Canada, the Bahamas, Trinidad, the Netherlands Antilles, Puerto Rico, Guam and South Africa, the sources said.

Saudi Arabia supplies just under 10 per cent of eastern Canada's oil, but Persian Gulf nations supply 25 per cent of all Canadian oil imports.

In Ottawa, a government spokesman said the report "seems to be in conflict" with information given the Canadian ambassador in Beirut earlier this week. The ambassador was told Canada would be considered a "neutral" in the Arab cutbacks, the spokesman said.

Under the cutbacks, neutral countries receive a gradually less oil, but friendly countries receive their full supplies while "hostile" countries like the United States and the Netherlands are cut off completely.

In Cairo, the Arab League delegates of the oil exporting countries said "all friendly countries will continue to receive their needs of Arab oil" under these priorities:

- Countries with no diplomatic relations with Israel;
- Countries who had diplomatic relations with Israel, but have severed these relations; and
- Countries who have condemned the Israeli aggression on the Arab states and have called for Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab lands.

RUSSELL BAKER

Yes, And Mostly Out When You Need Them

The congress is 535 people, mostly men, mostly white, mostly lawyers and mostly out when you need them.

An even 100 of these people constitute the Senate, or "the upper body" as journalists call it for no reason at all. It is not an upper body. True, it breathes, as upper bodies do, but the metaphor collapses there. It is passive, sedentary, indolent and self-pleased, and these are traits centered in the lower body.

The remaining 435 persons belong to the House of Representatives. The House of Representatives exists largely for the purpose of getting re-elected. Anything that endangers the process of getting re-elected is commonly regarded in the House of Representatives as a threat to the American Republic.

For this reason, the House rarely trafficks with such matters. This is why it has agonized so pitifully over all the discussion about impeaching President Nixon. Getting involved in such serious government business makes getting re-elected so much more complicated.

Life in the House of Representatives is negligible. The tyranny of the seniority system insures that members can have little or no consequence to the business of government until they have spent a 20- to 40-year sentence getting re-elected. This means they have to arrive young and use their best years to get old in.

This leaves them with a lot of years on their hands. They do what people commonly do if sentenced to uselessness. Some drink, as Herr Ehrlichman noted for the national television audience. One embittered young member, explaining the great power of a celebrated Methuselah, told me, "it is because he is the only person in the place who doesn't get drunk until 3:30 in the afternoon."

This is surely too cynical. There are famous totalers in the membership. For almost everyone, pickled or fresh, the routine drudgery of getting re-elected is the great debilitator. What does this require? It requires that a man spend his whole youth, probably his whole middle age, and maybe much of his declining years, swatting at gnats. This is called constituent service. Phoning up bureaucrats on behalf of back-home moneybags, assuaging tears, getting the gravy, checking the mimeographed newsletter.

It is government work, all right. Somebody has to do it. Somebody has to pick up trash, laundry, deliver the paper, sit with the baby, too, and they are all honorable jobs, too — like carrying bedpans, as President Nixon reminds us.

Honorable jobs, yes, but they do not involve conferring with Professor Kissinger, or consulting with the Secretary of Defense, or amending the Constitution, or even rebuilding shattered cities.

Swatting gnats must get into the blood, because in the end it is gnat-swatting that the House of Representatives usually chooses when bigger work is offered. Presidential votes are almost invariably upheld by the House. The House is temperamentally unfit for strife with Presidents. Presidents are big game, horsefly-size. In the House of Representatives, better to stick to those gnats. Nobody back home will notice you out of line, getting yourself all worked up about big horsefly-size things, about — well, GOVERNMENT.

And, as some aging gnat-swatter invariably intones, with pulpit unction appropriate to invocation of deceased giants, "as Sam Rayburn always said, 'If you want to get along, go along.'"

Sam Rayburn was a big, big man, and his famous advice was a big man's pep talk designed to keep gnat-swatters from bothering him while he helped Presidents run the country. Nowadays, the House of Representatives goes along and gets along and wishes the country would learn to do the same thing instead of annoying it with these problems about government.

It is uneasy with such problems. Government is for Presidents to worry about. The House of Representatives feels remote from it and endangered by people who insist on bringing it up. "No horseflies!" they cry. "This is not where horseflies are done! Bring us gnats!"

The Senate is grave. It breathes. It talks. Yes, it talks very gravely. But there are no shoulders, no arms. Having talked very gravely, it sits — passive, indolent, pleased about being the upper body, and so thoughtful, so grave, so articulate.

Yes, the Senate is grave. It is Congress as usual. Everybody out when we need them. Next year we shall all go to the polls and indulge in the re-election process.

ANDREW TULLY

The Posture Was Unrealistic

WASHINGTON — Those of us who were around in the crazy years immediately preceding World War II can be forgiven if we are seized by a sense of "deja vu" in contemplating the unrealistic posture of our Western European allies during the Middle East crisis.

Except for Portugal, those allies issued "neutrality" declarations and refused to let the United States use their facilities or airspace for resupply of arms to Israel.

West Germany went a step further and demanded that the U. S. stop sending American military equipment based on its soil to the Israeli forces.

As in the Munich years, when Europe was afraid to call Adolf Hitler's bluff, our allies were bound not to get involved in any action which might adversely affect their economic well-being. In the Middle East crisis, of course, they were determined not to offend Arab governments whose countries supply Europe with 80 per cent of Europe's oil. This was understandable from a short-range viewpoint, but not if Europe were willing to take a realistic look at the future.

Never mind whether one is pro-Israel or pro-Arab. In geopolitics, sentiment is good only for giving the emotions a workout. The fact of life our European allies refused to face is that the Arabs — who, parenthetically, have their own case — cannot possibly push Israel into the sea without massive support from the Soviet Union. If that should happen, Moscow would control the Arab world's oil policies, with or without Arab consent (the Russians are not much for sentiment), and Moscow would be in an excellent position to blackmail Europe into a quid pro quo hardly designed to further European interests.

Put another way, a united Western Europe presumably could force the Arabs by threats of economic sanctions to keep the oil flowing. But the allies would try to bully the Soviet Union only at the risk of precipitating World War III. Indeed, even if U. S. support of Israel is a ruddy nuisance that yet could result in a Soviet-U. S. confrontation, it could be argued that the support in effect is also a means of protecting the Arab world from Soviet domination.

Meanwhile, Congress might well take a hard look at Western Germany's claim that the U. S. has no right to send American-owned war materiel based in Europe to Israel. It is Bonn's argument and that of our other allies, that the Atlantic Alliance was conceived and maintained solely as a defensive posture against potential Soviet attacks on Western Europe. Thus, goes the argument, Washington may not use the alliance as a base of operations in the Middle East.

It is true, as our European allies maintain, that none of the covenants on stationing of American forces in Europe provides for their transfer or transfer of their tanks and other arms to other areas. However, it is also true that none of these covenants prohibits such transfers.

American interests also are involved, and those interests are worldwide. When the Europeans claim that our stocks of war weapons can be used only for Germany and NATO, it may be time to consider keeping some of those weapons elsewhere. After all, they were bought with American tax money. If diversion of those tanks and other weapons to Israel weakened NATO's military readiness — which is a claim, not a fact — then how about the military readiness of Moscow's Eastern Europe satellites, from whose arsenals Moscow transferred large numbers of similar weapons to the Arabs?

Western Europe had best watch out for its real interests. Sen. Mike Mansfield's campaign to bring home immediately some of our troops stationed in Europe was beaten again this year, but the issue is far from dead. Some of those members of Congress who successfully opposed Mansfield's proposals are liberals who strongly support Israel's cause; and changing your mind to accommodate a changed situation is a way of life on Capitol Hill.

"Of Course, I was Just Trying It on for Size!"

The Prisoner

The Nixon administration over the past six months has found itself in one Watergate-spawned crisis after another.

It has turned about, backed off, made a concession here, a concession there, each time thinking it had done all that was necessary to resolve the problem but actually leaving itself weaker and in a worse position to meet the next crisis.

It is as if a general, pressed by a relentless foe, were to let himself be nibbled to death in a series of useless tactical maneuvers dictated by the situation of the moment rather than by any grand, over-all strategy.

Such a process can continue only so long, and like a retreating army the administration may very well be reaching the point where it will have no more room in which to maneuver and no more power with which to command events.

President Nixon had an excellent opportunity, in the setting of his most recent press conference, to regain some of the ground he had lost.

His decision to release the Watergate tapes, while it had been forced upon him, had taken much of the steam out of the impeachment movement in Congress. In the background was the near confrontation with the Soviet Union in the Middle East — a graphic lesson in the vital necessity of having a strong commander in chief guarding the international interests of the nation and one which the President understandably took pains to point out.

If there was ever a time during the entire course of the Watergate affair that the President should have seized the initiative, it was at that moment. It was incumbent upon him to go the whole mile, and more, to convince the American people that he truly shared their desire, to get to the bottom of Watergate. At the very least, what was required was a no-strings pledge of total co-operation with Congress and the courts in the continuing investigation.

Instead, the President defended his actions as he repeatedly has in the past, as if unaware of their tremendous cost to him. He impugned the motives of his supposed enemies. He attacked the straw man of a "vicious," hysterical, lynch-minded press. He emphasized his coolness, his toughness, his ability to stick it out under fire.

Perhaps most fatefully of all, he set the stage for a serious showdown with Congress by announcing that a new "independent" special Watergate prosecutor would be appointed within the Justice Department to whom he would continue to deny full and free access to White House documents in the name of presidential confidentiality.

It is obvious that the President has not even now gauged the full depth of feeling among Americans over this Watergate business. Either his advisers are tragically insensitive to the mood of the people or the President himself is. He has become the prisoner of Pennsylvania Avenue.

His seething attack on the news media, particularly television reporting, may have scored him some short-range advantage. The press is always a popular target, if only because no one likes bad news.

But the sad fact is that there has been no need for anyone to lie about or to distort the events of the past few weeks. Straightforward, factual reporting has been damaging enough.

Congress and the President are now on a collision course for a new crisis over the issue of a Watergate prosecutor. Who is to blame for that?

How many more battles wracking the highest level of its government can the country tolerate? How many more defeats can the President endure?

MR. SPECTATOR

Halloween? Everyone Knows It's Halloween

We shouldn't tell this one — but the truth will out! Mrs. Spectator was in Salt Lake City visiting and we were holding down the roost after a day at the paper. We all have some loose ends to complete, though, so we went into the office at home to type a Spectator column for the next day and do a brief story.

Then up to the family room where we filled a large bowl with small candy bars and put it on the dining room table where we could easily reach it from the front door.

You see it was Halloween night and we wanted to be ready. Really, we wanted to take a shower and wash our hair but we had visions of being in the shower, while kids were knocking at the door for tricks or treats.

So we sat in the family room and waited for the activity. We sat and we sat and we sat. Finally two hours had passed and not one knock. It was after 9 o'clock when the telephone rang.

It happened to be Bill Chaney, the commission chairman who had been out of town that day. He had heard I was trying to contact him and after a discussion about this and that I asked:

"Bill, are there many tricks and treats out your way?"

"That won't be until tomorrow night," Bill said.

"How come?" I asked.

"Halloween is tomorrow," said Bill.

And you know something — he was right!

Like I said — this story shouldn't be told, but with Bill knowing it, it would get out anyway.

But you know, I still don't see why Halloween isn't on the 30th instead of the 31st.

He came over to our desk dragging a dispatch from UPI which concerned the various famous remarks made by Will Rogers during his lifetime.

"I figured there had to be someone around here who could remember back 50 years and recall the events mentioned," he said — without even a smile, either.

OH, COME NOW
 Dear Mr. Spectator: In a recent column you were reflecting on the possibility of daylight saving time being on a full-year basis. You commented that the biggest howl of the farmers was their CATTLE — and you hadn't received a complaint from a cow!

Now really, Mr. Spectator, that's not our only problem. The cows can fully adjust to the hour change, but have you ever tried to irrigate in the early morning hours, by flashlight or lantern? We can Call Mrs. Cathy Gould, 551 Fourth Avenue East, Twin Falls at 733-0819.

GRATEFUL
 We were grateful for a piece of news the other day. On the same page which had Watergate stories, a murder, two fatal accidents, a robbery and a slam at the President, was the story of Honolulu which told of two 13-year-old boys who had rescued a drowning tourist.

The tourist — a Japanese man from Tokyo — bought a watch for one boy and a cassette tape recorder for the other. He took the boys to lunch.

But above that — he is giving them a free two-weeks vacation at his home in Tokyo in December — paying their air fare over and back and picking up the tab for everything.

It doesn't happen often — but there is good news once in awhile!

TIMELY QUOTES

The people of all countries are interested not in military victories but in peace and security, in respect for the rights and hopes of all nationalities, in tolerance and in freedom.

Soviet Physicist Andrei Sakharov in an interview with a Lebanese correspondent on the Middle East war.

We think the man who could solve the Vietnam war, the man who could have settled the peace all over the world, can easily play a good role in settling and having peace in our area of the Middle East.

Omar Saqqaf, Saudi Arabian foreign minister, after meeting with President Nixon at the White House.

I believe we should be ready to give back territories for peace. Everything has happened so fast I haven't had much time to think right now. But I still think we should be willing to give territories for peace eventually.

It's the only way we can avoid something like this happening again.

Ehud Amir, a 22-year-old Israeli soldier, severely injured in the Sinai fighting.

If one freezes to death, it doesn't make any difference if the air is clean or dirty.

President Nixon, saying that the pollution effects of certain kinds of fuels must be weighed against other considerations.

UF campaign hits $70,000

TWIN FALLS — United Fund collections in Twin Falls broke over the $70,000 mark Friday.

Dori Glead, executive with the campaign committee, said workers are most encouraged by the way funds have been coming in during the past 10 days.

"We have hit a peak momentum this week and there is a lot of enthusiasm and hard work on the part of our volunteers," he said.

Glead said the Special Gifts division of the campaign will be launched Monday with a luncheon meeting. Under the direction of Kenneth Newman, this division is aimed toward persons with special interests or financial means for making extra sizeable gifts to the community through United Fund.

Goal for the 1973 United Fund campaign is $125,000. Glead said the committee hopes to wind up the campaign by Thanksgiving with a clean up date just prior to the Thanksgiving holiday. A special meeting will be held with some awards and free turkeys for hard working campaign workers.

Marble winners

BOB ELLIS, head of the Kiwanis Club's marble shooting contest, Thursday presented trophies to the two division winners. Ellis stands with Darren Holman, 11, right, a sixth grader at Harrison School, who won the senior division competition, and junior division champion John Rasmussen, 8, a second grader at Harrison School.

CSI activities given for week

TWIN FALLS — Coffeehouse entertainment Wednesday featuring "Jay Boy" and a Magic Valley Community Concert Sunday will highlight the coming week's activities at the College of Southern Idaho.

Events include the Alcohol Safety program Monday from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Student Conference room; a student program board meeting at noon; and the Magic Valley Guidance Association meeting at 2 p.m., both in the Student Conference Room on Tuesday.

The coffeehouse entertainment, "Jay Boy" will be shown at 8 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in the Eagle's Nest. Intramural bowling will be held at 4 p.m. and the Alcohol Safety program from 7 to 10 p.m., all on Wednesday.

On Thursday the student senate meets at 1 p.m. in the Student Conference Room and the Ski Club will meet at 4 p.m. On Saturday the cross country track team will attend the National Junior College Cross Country meet in Georgia.

A movie, "The Point" will be shown at 1 p.m. in the Mini-auditorium. On Sunday, the "Harpischord" group will perform at 3 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium, sponsored by the Magic Valley Community Concert Association.

Hot lines

TWIN FALLS — Hose lines not forest fires were on the minds of four Twin Falls firemen when they flew to Creston, Canada, recently. The men competed in the annual hose coupling contest and ranked high: fifth out of 29 competing teams. Earlier in the year the Twin Falls Fire Department held its own hose coupling contest here for the first time. Fire Chief Bobby Bopp hopes the contest, long a tradition in the East, will become an annual event here.

The trip to Canada was made possible at very little cost to the fire department (around $50) because local flier Keith Silgar flew the men over for only the price of gas. Don Barnhill, Bill Windsor, Larry Wahl and Donald Egbert were the Twin Falls men who participated in the Canada event.

"It's a real morale booster and it gives the fellows a lot of spirit and pride in their department," Bopp said, regarding the competition.

Council to hear land use plans

TWIN FALLS — The second of three readings of an ordinance to grant conditional use of land on Eastland Drive for a mobile home park will be heard Monday by the Twin Falls city council.

The city council will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Twin Falls city hall. At 8 p.m. a public hearing will be held on two zoning matters. A request from Frank L. Cook and H. T. Morrison for a change from commercial to medium residential density on property near Rock Creek Canyon at the west entrance of Twin Falls will be heard.

Another application for rezoning from commercial general to residential medium density will be reviewed. This request involves property at 181 Morrison Street, adjoining the first parcel. Plans are to develop a residential subdivision in the area.

Three annexation ordinances will be heard and a youth advisory board member will be appointed.

The council will review a fund transfer for the public library to allow the library to operate the remainder of the year.

Also on the agenda are a resolution on airport funding jointly with the county; a report on bid opening for the new city fire station and an agreement with the Twin Falls housing authority.

Mrs. Jensen wins pencil

TWIN FALLS — Doris Jensen received the blue pencil award in the Friday morning of the Twin Falls Toastmistress Club.

Spottches were also given by Carolyn Noel, Rogerson; and Oriette Shelar, Twin Falls. Table topics were conducted by Dolores Silver, Jerome, and Marguerite Hartley.

Dolores Brawley, Kimberly, meeting at a recent council meeting at Jerome. General evaluator for the day was Eddie McFarland and lexicologist was Mrs. Hartley. Guests were Jeanie Sores, Frances Heusselhoff, Darlene Bramon and Mary Ostrander. Twin Falls, Verda Shufeldt, Rupert, and Jillian Jensen, Darley, were guests from Council.

The next meeting will be Nov. 16 in the Colonial House.

Solans invited

TWIN FALLS — Area legislators have been invited to attend a meeting of Idaho Alcohol Safety Action Project representatives Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Rogerson Restaurant.

The meeting will be in the Colonial room and is designed to familiarize legislators with the purpose of the project prior to the coming legislative session.

Zoning aides hear of land donation

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County Commissioners, interested landowners and several members of the county zoning commission heard Northwest Director of the Nature Conservancy speak on the possibilities of land donation to preserve beautiful areas.

Margolis spoke Thursday at a meeting at the Holiday Inn of tax advantages to be gained through such "donation" and described flexible agreements whereby landowners may continue to use their property after giving up developmental rights.

Margolis also described the Nature Conservancy, a private, non-profit organization dedicated to the preservation of ecologically and environmentally unique land. Some 400,000 acres in 1000 projects throughout the United States have been saved since 1954.

On a related matter Tom Mahan, chairman of the Jerome County Planning Commission, discussed the proposed open space zoning for Bureau of Land Management land along the north side of the Snake River Canyon.

Offspring boost UNICEF

TWIN FALLS — When the offspring of people who head fund raising drives catch the spirit and want to participate, the enthusiasm must be contagious.

Children of both Mrs. Joe Citek and Mrs. Paul Newton, who annually head the UNICEF trick or treat project in Twin Falls at Halloween to raise funds for food and health supplies for deprived children throughout the world, take their own section of town.

The most vigorous participation comes from the youngest in the group, the mothers say, Joe Citek and Joel Newton, both sixth graders, backed up by Peter Newton, ninth grade; Jeff Citek, sophomore; Jim Citek, junior higher, and Matt and Phil Newton, high school junior and senior.

Mrs. Newton said many school children volunteered to assist this year under leadership of teachers at Washington, Harrison and Lincoln schools. This is the first year elementary students have offered to ask for pennies instead of treats for themselves, she said. Lincoln students apparently worked the hardest, bringing in $95.59, much of it in pennies.

Other groups participating included the Methodist youth in Twin Falls who have turned in the most money to date, $119.79, followed by Interact Club at the high school, $113.50; Valley Christian, Episcopal, Presbyterian and First Baptist youth groups in Twin Falls; Kimberly and Murtaugh Methodist youth; Future Homemakers, Key Club and Cadette Girl Scout troop 511. More groups participated this year than in previous years, Mrs. Newton said, but the total collected to date, $742.69 is not as much as last year. She urged leaders having UNICEF collections to turn them in.

Anyone not contacted during the Halloween solicitation and donations to Mrs. T. M. Robertson, Box 525, Twin Falls, made out to UNICEF.

Teachers told of their duty in reporting abuse

By JOYCELYN CLOWARD Special to the Times-News

TWIN FALLS — Teachers at Twin Falls High School were told this week in a workshop session that they have a legal responsibility to report suspected cases of child abuse.

Speakers at the session which is one of several being conducted in district schools, included Larry Watson, district 411 psychologist; Kent Anderson, children's consultant for the Department of Environmental and Community Services, (DECS) and Paul Smith, assistant Idaho Attorney General.

Smith told the group of educators, "if we don't get to these cases, they just keep going."

Now, he said, "if you report a child abuse case, the law protects you."

The responsibility for reporting extends to all members of the community, especially those involved with children, Anderson said.

Laws amended in the 1973 legislature, Smith said, "have also made it possible for the courts to ask for testimony from parents against each other, from physicians, lawyers, and others who were previously holders of privileged information."

Twin Falls county authorities receive 35-40 reports of child abuse each month, Smith said. "We try 8 to 10 cases each month," he said, "usually as civil, not criminal cases."

However, he said, "Our society is not yet ready to give the child equal rights with his parents. We don't defend a child's rights."

In explaining methods of handling child abuse cases, Anderson said, "Our ultimate goal is to reunite the family and to help the family work out difficulties."

"We at DECS are now developing a system of services not provided before," Anderson said. "We have also established a child abuse hotline 734-2700 as a 24 hour answering service on child abuse and neglect problems."

"The main problem we have is identifying the causes and getting cooperation. People are afraid," he said. "These new laws may help to change that."

"The middle and upper classes get away with more child abuse," Smith said. "Their explanations are more believable and the lower economic groups are under closer scrutiny from the law, welfare personnel and schools."

"Abuse of children exists in schools too," Watson said. "The schools have justified using discipline under the legal doctrine of "in loco parentis," serve as parent. This may get out of hand," he said. "Sometimes a student is abused." Secondary teachers he said, "may unconsciously verbally assault a student. This is a form of abuse."

"We shouldn't in our schools put more emphasis on interpersonal relationships rather than focusing entirely on subject matter," Watson said.

"We always treat physical and mental damage already inflicted on the child," he said. "We need to be able to predict abuse situations and thus prevent them from occurring."

"Unless something is done about child abuse at the local level," Watson said, "nothing will happen."

Changes versus continuation is key issue in Rupert mayoral race

By MARILYN ELLIOTT

RUPERT—The only real issue in the Rupert mayoral election is the push for change versus the desire to maintain the status quo.

Incumbent Mayor Wendell Johnson is being challenged in his bid for re-election by councilman W. F. (Bill) Whitton.

"People are ready for a change in all government, from the national on down," challenger Whitton said Wednesday. It is important "for government to be revived and for people to have complete confidence," he said. Whitton said if elected he would "keep the people informed," represent all areas equally, be fair to all religions and races, suggest long range plans for streets, water and sewer; attempt to prevent duplication in government agencies and work for year round pick-up of leaves, grass and tree limbs by city trucks. If elected, Whitton said, he would meet as soon as possible with Union-Pacific Railroad officials to discuss improvement of railway crossings and the possibility of buying track switching done outside the city limits. Whitton advocated citizen involvement to prevent "cramping things down people's throats." City employees should be given more consideration through training of the police body and in adhering to it, he said. Employees should have written pay increases and annual cost of living increases, he said.

Johnson said he had spent "a lot of time that was very valuable to Rupert, and I would like to stay in and continue with the projects we have going now."

Long range planning has been exercised with street development and sewer system projects in the last eight years, he said.

Johnson said he would continue working with the citizens' committee which "provides a lot of input into city government" and with the city employee's committee which gives the employees "a chance to express their opinions."

Johnson advocates controlled spending and close cooperation with other governmental agencies in an attempt to "cut down" on duplication.

Four candidates seek two seats on the Rupert council in a basically issueless campaign. Edwin S. Catmull stressed the need for planning "for now and for the future. I foresee a growth beyond what local residents expect."

Rupert needs a better and larger supply of drinking water with more pressure and improvement of the railway crossings, which, he said, are "unbelievable."

Traffic problems on A and H streets must be taken care of, he said, because that area is the fastest growing section of the city.

"Rupert is a hotbed for dissent," Catmull said, and he would like to see "a toning down of the council and to see the city business done a little more formally."

president Dwinelle Allred stressed that he was committed to no group or individual and would promise to "fairly represent all city residents" and help them with their problems.

"I feel that a cooperative atmosphere is essential in being able to transact the business of the city and I will do my best to handle the city council obligations," he said.

"The city residents should expect representation from men who are dedicated to seeing that the needs in the community are met without infringing their rights and privileges," Allred said.

"Because the financial needs of Rupert are enormous," he said, "unnecessary expenditures should be curtailed and long range plans should be set in motion to see that our growth is orderly and controlled."

Blaine Jensen said: "I am against the personality conflicts that apparently exist with some of the members of the city administration" and against "the sectionalism that has arisen in some areas" especially in regard to curb and gutter and storm sewer improvements.

Street improvements should "be an individual option" and not a city-wide expense, he said.

Jensen advocates "the definition and upgrading of some of the technical and vocational positions of the city departments."

"Some departments do need long range planning and job definitions for the employees," he said.

Incumbent Councilman George MacDonald said he would like to see more citizen involvement in city government in Rupert. He said involvement through citizen committees such as the traffic safety, parks and recreation and newly formed irrigation and sub water committees should be encouraged.

"Good things are happening in Rupert," he said.

The city has been involved in long range planning for about 10 years, MacDonald said. A new storm drain and sewer system for the city awaits only federal approval before construction begins, he said.

As the city's problems and financing become more complex, he said, Rupert is "in the time where experience and knowledge of city operations are of paramount importance."

"While the material things of the city must be maintained and improved, we must look out for the needs of the people.

"We must continue to offer proper and adequate facilities and programs for our use. We must continue to see the needs of our people and to look for additional things we can do for them," MacDonald said.

MacDonald has served on the Rupert council since 1961.

Why does Rupert Need Mayor Wendell Johnson

EXPERIENCE AND KNOWLEDGE:

EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) has set required standards for sewage treatment by cities. Every city sending effluent to the Snake River has to meet these requirements. Mayor Johnson has been actively involved with state and federal planners in order to properly consummate this project for the city of Rupert. State and federal monies have already been appropriated for this undertaking and it will be carried out in three phases over a three year period. Upon the completion of this project one of the benefits would be additional trunk lines that would better serve our residents' needs. Additionally, the clean water standards related to the Snake River would be met. The broad dimensions of this project demand the experience and knowledge of Mayor Wendell Johnson.

SPECIAL ABILITIES:

In order to lead a city governmentably and efficiently, a mayor must fully know and understand budget organization and preparation as well as city audits. A mayor must be fully knowledgeable about city service systems such as electric department layout, sewer system lines, irrigation lines, etc. A mayor must be fully knowledgeable of total city operations to be able to make proper recommendations to a city council. A mayor must have a total grasp of city administration in all of its aspects. Mayor Johnson's 17 years with the City of Rupert have given him all of these advantages and make him very valuable to the City of Rupert.

TIME FOR THE JOB:

All of Mayor Wendell Johnson's activities are closely tied to our local area. The job of Rupert's Mayor demands daily availability. Mayor Wendell Johnson is able to offer this kind of service to the city. City business is big and Mayor Wendell Johnson handles the job well.

Egyptians beaten back

Kissinger also met Friday with Syrian Deputy Foreign Minister Mohammed Zakaria Ismail, who also was in Washington to participate in the talks. It was the first high level meeting between the U.S. and Syria since the 1967 Mideast war. The Israeli military spokesman said the meeting on POW issue came before the fighting. He said the general in charge of the prisoner exchange program, Maj. Gen. Shmuel Eyal, took part.

The 3rd Army, about 20,000 men strong, is encircled on the East Bank of the Suez Canal. It was trapped by Israel's spearhead across the canal's West Bank on mainland Egypt.

Col. Nachman Karni, the Israeli military spokesman, said the Egyptians succeeded in throwing a small infantry bridge westward across the Canal at mid-afternoon, but saw it knocked out by Israeli artillery.

Karni said Egyptian troops under the cover of artillery began building the bridge at 2 p.m. and the Israelis informed U.N. truce observers of the action before opening fire.

The spokesman said the Egyptian thrust was "a breakout attempt on a small scale," but it took three hours of infantry, artillery and mortar attacks to repulse the Egyptians.

The bridge incident came after an attempt by 3rd Army troops facing west towards Israel to improve their position. The move was called a ceasefire violation by the Israelis who opened fire, also turning back this Egyptian effort, Karni said.

Karni said about 13 more truckloads of relief supplies reached the surrounded 3rd Army across the canal as the latest fighting flared, bringing the total to 68 since the effort began a week ago under U.N. supervision.

After the fighting, Israel said it filed three complaints to the U.N. truce supervisory organization.

The latest flareup came as U.N. personnel in nearby Cyprus were alerted for a possible exchange of wounded Israeli and Egyptian prisoners. However, in Cairo, the Egyptian government spokesman announced there would be no POW transfers—wounded or otherwise—until the Israelis withdraw to the Oct. 22 ceasefire lines. Such a withdrawal would free the trapped 3rd Army and the city of Suez.

But diplomatic sources in Cuzco said Israel and Egypt would exchange wounded POWs, possibly Sunday, using Red Cross jet transports to carry out the exchange between Cairo and Tel Aviv.

Egypt has demanded the Israelis withdraw from the West Bank and said that if it is not done voluntarily, Egyptian forces on the West Bank of the canal would push the Israelis off the Egyptian side. Sadat said, however, he will wait to see the fruits of the diplomatic efforts in Washington, Damascus, Beirut and other Arab capitals.

Fuel prices soar as shortage hits

Phillips 66 raised its retail gasoline prices in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area 3 cents. Clark Oil Co., a discount gas outlet, raised prices 2 cents.

In Tomawanda, N.Y., Ashland Oil Inc., which gets all its crude oil from Canada, increased its wholesale gas prices 2 cents a gallon, and fuel oil 1 cent a gallon and kerosene 2 cents. The hike followed Canada's 27 per cent hike in the export tax on crude oil shipped to the United States.

Shell Canada Ltd. Saturday raised the price of its gasoline, aviation and diesel fuels by 9 cents a gallon for customers in eastern Canada. Shell also raised the price of furnace, stove and heavy fuel oil by 8 cents a gallon.

In Texas, cotton and grain farmers, in the midst of harvesting, are running short of diesel fuel, Gov. Dolph Briscoe announced. Briscoe said the shortage was the result of a strict interpretation of the rules of the Nixon administration's new fuel allocation program. He said he hoped the situation would ease in a few days, with federal officials spelling out more clearly how the fuel may be distributed.

Some local governments were cutting back on public lighting, including Christmas displays. In Houston, Christmas planners said they may have to cut down on street ornaments. In Maryland, the state government ordered all public outside lights turned off, except those needed for safety.

The Federal Power Commission said that some areas of the country could have "brownouts" or "drastic shortages" of electricity, but that the nation should get through the winter without serious disruption.

Protesters take Ketchum paper

Mrs. Angell said she read the editorial the previous night and felt it was "highly insulting to the mayor of Halley, who is a respectable man."

The editorial, she said, accused Heagle of "despicable things that are not true" and said it "insulted Dunn."

Dunn said Saturday he was unaware of any seizure of the newspaper. Heagle said he had no knowledge of the matter.

Angell said, "I do not know who picked up the papers," but he assumed the collection had been made by "citizens who are tired of the nonsense the Ketchum paper puts out to influence the people of Halley."

Angell said his supporters who collected the papers did it on their own and not at his request.

"I thought it was a neat idea," he said.

The candidate said not all the papers distributed in Halley were picked up.

The papers that were removed, Angell said, were "just a representative token display of our concern with Ketchum's interference in the civic affairs of Halley."

He said he doesn't feel personal property was taken. "The paper is free and there is no limit in the number a person can take."

The candidate said he was "outraged" with the editorial and did not feel it was fair.

Connally subpoenaed

Shultz said Friday the price supports were increased over the unanimous recommendation against such a move by the Council of Economic Advisers, the Office of Management and Budget and the Treasury and Agriculture Departments.

According to Saturday's New York Times, Shultz said the administration ordered the increase because it felt that Congress, under intense lobbying pressure from the dairy industry, would have raised the supports even higher.

At a breakfast with reporters at which direct quotation was banned, Shultz said he was sure the milk industry contributed a lot of money to the Nixon campaign but that he was not personally involved.

The secretary confirmed previous reports of a meeting in the Cabinet Room of the White House between industry representatives and administration officials. Before the meeting, Shultz said, he felt 80 per cent right in opposing price support increases, but afterwards he thought he was only 60 per cent correct.

STEPHEN BULL

Nixon knew tapes didn't exist

Nixon knew talks were not taped

(c) Chicago Daily News
WASHINGTON — President Nixon realized last Sept. 29 that two key Watergate conversations were not recorded by his secret taping system, a White House aide has testified.

The account by Stephen Bull, special assistant to the President, indicated that Nixon delayed for one month any public disclosure of his findings.

The President gave no hint that two of the nine tapes under subpoena never existed when he agreed Oct. 21 to furnish them to Federal Judge John J. Sirica.

Bull gave no explanation of why Nixon remained silent so long after listening to many Watergate tapes with his personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods, at his Camp David, Md., retreat on Sept. 29.

The White House first announced Wednesday that no tapes were made of the President's showdown session with his former counsel, John W. Dean III, last April 15, or of a telephone call between Nixon and former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell on June 20, 1972.

It says the tape run out in mid-sentence in the afternoon of April 15 — before the Nixon-Dean meeting — and the President talked to Mitchell over a telephone that was not tapped.

The President told him at Camp David that he recalled making the Mitchell call on a phone in the west hall of the executive mansion, Bull said. The only mansion phone that was tapped was in the Lincoln sitting room, the Secret Service has said.

When the President could not find a tape of his talk with Dean, Bull said he listened and heard the April 15 recording "trail off" in the middle of another conversation. He told the President then that a breakdown in the system probably accounted for it, he said.

A later search for tapes by John Bennett, another White House aide, failed to produce the Dean tape, Bull said. In a gesture of conciliation, Nixon offered to provide Sirica by United Press International. Some Republican congressmen and conservative supporters of President Nixon speculated openly Saturday, despite White House denials, that Nixon might resign.

The Detroit News, once one of the President's strongest backers, urged in its Sunday editions that Nixon resign and spare the nation "three more years of domestic turmoil."

The News, expressing "deep regret" over its change of position, said Nixon's credibility has reached an all-time low with the latest controversy involving the Watergate tapes. If the President does not resign, it said, Congress must seriously consider impeaching him.

"Somebody in this White House is guilty either of unbelievable stupidity or outright lies," said the News, which has the largest circulation of any daily afternoon newspaper in the country. "In other cases, public confidence in this administration suffers the final shattering blow."

Rep. Robert H. Michel, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, acknowledged that House and Senate cloakrooms are full of talk of a possible Nixon resignation. He said most legislators are primarily concerned at the moment with disposing of House GOP Leader Gerald Ford's confirmation as vice president.

ABC News anchorman Howard K. Smith urged Nixon's resignation or impeachment earlier this week in a commentary, while two prominent columnists — Joseph Alsop and Jack Anderson — said Nixon must step down because of lack of public confidence.

Alsop, long a supporter of Nixon's Indochina and defense policies, said Nixon had been "ruined by Watergate" and that the presidency had "broken down."

Impeachment move 'slow, secret'

WASHINGTON (UPI)

White sentiment builds behind a House Judiciary Committee inquiry into possible grounds for impeaching President Nixon, committee aides say the process will be slow, cautious and highly secretive.

The committee was assigned the task two weeks ago. It has already hired staff and started to compile data, but it cannot devote full time to the inquiry until December, postponing the possibility of actual impeachment proceedings until some time in 1974.

Committee aides said the pace cannot be increased although Nixon has done nothing in the past two weeks to change the minds of the 11 congressmen who introduced impeachment resolutions immediately after the President fired Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Pressure for impeachment

meanwhile has been building with the number of telegrams and letters sent to the committee. At the end of business Thursday, an aide said, the committee had received 49,291 letters and telegrams calling for impeachment and only 1,177 against.

Rep. John B. Anderson, leader of the House Republican Conference, said this public sentiment has caused some skeptical congressmen to change their attitudes and they are now forced to consider impeachment on an evolutionary basis. "I think the entire burden of proof has shifted to the administration," Anderson told a news conference in Chicago. The resignations of Vice president Spiro T. Agnew and the firing of Cox have contributed to the delay.

Nixon ponders waning support

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon, seemingly braced to "tough it out" against a deluge of demands for his resignation, conferred with close aides Saturday on ways to recover his steadily deteriorating support among the American public.

Deputy White House press secretary Gerald L. Warren said Nixon was preoccupied Saturday with the Middle East and emergency measures he was expected to announce next week for meeting expected fuel shortages this winter.

But other White House officials said Nixon was "fully aware" of growing questions about his credibility with each successive revelation in the Watergate scandal. They insisted again, however, that the President is giving no thought to resigning.

US business eyes big spending hike

By EDWIN DARBY
(c) 1973, Chicago Sun-Times
Commerce Sec. Frederick B. Dent puts it this way: "It means we will be able to produce more, and do it more efficiently, and this will help reduce the upward pressure on prices."
Dent is talking about the latest government check on the plans of businessmen to lay out money on new plants and equipment. The survey indicated that for all of 1973 business will increase its spending by more than 13 per cent. In dollars that would be a jump from $80 billion last year to $100 billion this year.

The idea is that a new factory loaded with the latest and best machinery can turn out products at lower costs, making it possible for the company to hold down price increases and maybe even reduce a price.
But, of course, things are not that simple, starting with the fact that the tendency is to charge what the market will bear.

Beyond that very human trait, large economic issues are involved.
You can start with that $100 billion. Or the $12 billion increase over 1972. Before the new plant goes into production to turn out more goods at better prices — next month, or next year, or in 1975 — a lot of money is spent. Possibly bidding up local rates for skilled labor. Possibly putting new pressure on prices for scarce materials like steel and plastic.

Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, is one man of authority who does not share Dent's delight over the capital spending figures. In fact, that $100 billion makes him shudder. He'd like to see Congress take some fast action (unlikely as that may seem) to temporarily curb business spending. (Through a reduction in the tax writeoffs for new spending.)
He sees the billions as now and immediate inflationary pressure. Next year may be the time, Burns thinks, to encourage business spending. Then the economy may need a multi-million-dollar jolt in the arm.

That may be a little short-sighted. The sooner the new and efficient plant gets into operation the sooner the benefits in terms of holding down prices at home. And, of no small importance these days, — the better — the corporation can compete for markets against European and Japanese companies.

There's another significance to the capital spending figures. Academic economists watch them closely for clues to the future. It seems the economists think businessmen are usually wrong.

In their view, top business management has usually goofed in the following fashion: The economy starts picking up steam, the public starts buying more and more, factories begin to get behind on orders, studies are made and the board of directors approves plant expansions or new factories — just when things start to go floozy. By the time the plant is in production, or even before, sales are dropping and the company no longer needs the added capacity. So the company curtails production and that includes laying off people. And there we go.

There's some reason to believe that this unfortunate cycle is not under way this time. First off, corporations have not built up big inventories of goods at this stage in the business cycle. In fact, there are severe shortages. So new plants may be needed just to catch up with a normal inventory level.
Second, big as it is, the increase in capital spending for 1973 is not gargantuan. In past booms, business has often scheduled increases that ranged from 20 to 25 per cent.

Twin Falls, Burley, Rupert, northside areas: Continued cold variable clouds and a few snow showers mainly over the mountains tonight. Occasional light snow late today and continuing Monday. Highs both days mid 30s to mid 40s. Lows tonight in the teens to mid 20s. Probability of snow 30 per cent today and 50 per cent tonight and Monday.
Halley, Camas Prairie, Lower Wood River Valley: Continued cold occasional light snows developing late today continuing tonight and Monday. Additional local heavy accumulations possible by late Monday. Highs both days in the low 30s. Lows tonight in the teens. Probability of snow 30 per cent today and 60 per cent tonight and Monday.
Synopsis: During the next several days a low pressure system just off the Washington coast will tend to deepen and circulate increasing moisture into Idaho. A general snow is possible and at present the best timing appears to be late today. In the meantime enough moisture will continue to move across the state keeping light snow activity in the mountains. Also the increased moisture will slowly modify temperatures with night times rising during the next several days.

Train salesman

DICK MCKINLEY, 43, stands in front of his five car railroad train in Denver, which he is offering for sale. The price: $80,000. McKinley bought the train three years ago with the idea of starting at Ft. Collins, Colo., to Denver run, or a ski recreation train to Steamboat Springs, Colo. (UPI)

Train brings headaches

DENVER (UPI)—If you have $80,000 and access to some railroad track, Richard McKinley of Denver has just the thing for you: a locomotive and five passenger cars.
McKinley bought the train from the Burlington Railroad three years ago and has been plagued with headaches ever since. So he has decided to sell the train—lock, stock and locomotive.
McKinley has tried several schemes with his train, including passenger service from Fort Collins to Denver; a train from La Junta to Denver; and a ski excursion train from Denver to Steamboat Springs.
But McKinley, 43, has been refused permission by several railroads to operate on their tracks, even though he personally arranged all necessary financing and has offered to pay for use of the tracks.
"I guess the railroads have just soured on passenger service," McKinley said. He said he felt now was the opportune time to re-establish passenger service, what with pollution, the fuel crisis and the high cost of maintaining a car.
The train, the second one purchased by McKinley, formerly made its run from Lincoln and Omaha, Neb., to Chicago under the name of the Nebraska Zephyr.
McKinley feels the train, which includes a dining car and kitchen, a lounge car, a generator car and two coach cars, would make an ideal restaurant.
McKinley, who says his wife thinks he's "crazy," bought the Denver Zephyr in 1968. He subsequently sold it to a banker who uses it for Boy Scout excursions around Kansas City, Mo. He also says his current train is his last.
McKinley expects to receive numerous offers to buy his train.
"I've got a file three inches thick of letters from kooks from the last train I sold," he said.
One organization wanted to paint it red, white and blue and tour the country exposing communism.

Gem building climbs

NEW YORK, N. Y. — September construction in Idaho is up 10 per cent from 1972 levels, according to a report of the F. W. Dodge Division of McGraw-Hill Information Systems Co.
The report lists a four per cent increase in nonresidential construction, $14,621,000 in September, 1973, compared to $14.12 million last year. Residential construction is up 74 per cent, at $13.92 million compared to a year ago. Non building is down 41 per cent at $4.77 million compared to $8.04 million for last year.
Construction for the year to date is up 11 per cent from a year ago. The report lists the 1973 total at $268.18 million, compared to $241.48 million for a year ago.
Non-residential construction in 1973 totals $81.53 million, compared to $64.78 million up 26 per cent. Residential construction is up 49 per cent from a year ago with the 1973 total $95.27 million and the 1972 figure $64.14 million. Non-building construction is down 19 per cent for 1973 with the total $9.37 million, compared to $12.56 million a year ago.

Hansen PTA date set

HANSEN — Because of Thanksgiving the regular November PTA meeting will be held on the third Thursday.
Members will provide baby sitting service for all parents during future meetings of the Hansen PTA.
Marilyn Mehan, director of the study skill center at CSI, was guest speaker Thursday night for PTA members. Ted Crockett led the salute to the flag, James Stoddard gave the prayer.
Freshmen mothers were hostesses.

Congress eyes rail system bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A $1.4-billion bill to create a profitable rail system out of six bankrupt northeastern railroads has been approved by the House Commerce Committee.
The bill, product of months of painstaking negotiation, is designed to prevent either liquidation or nationalization of northeastern railroads.
Its success or failure could determine the fate of all American railroads.
The bill is likely to result in abandonment of thousands of miles of track, perhaps one-third to one-half of present mileage, changing patterns of industrialization and population growth in some areas.
It would establish a federal corporation called the Federal National Railroad Association (FNRA), with $1 billion in federal loan guarantees, to finance and oversee development of the new rail system over a 20-month planning period.
It would include $250 million to pay railroad men out of work by the new corporation, $50 million to assist states and communities in maintaining branch line service, $65 million in interim funds to keep bankrupt railroads running during the planning period and $36 million in start-up and administrative costs for the new corporation and for planning.
House leaders are expected to push for floor action on the bill by late next week, sending it to the Senate where it is likely to be adopted in the same general form because of the short time left between now and adjournment for the year.
Most observers feel some legislation must be passed this year, because the giant Penn-Central could run out of operating cash as early as this winter.
Over a period of 20 months, the new corporation, the Transportation Department, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the public and eventually Congress will hammer out the details of the new system.

PROMOTED to branch operations officer of the Blue Lakes Branch of Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co. is Carmen Keagy, Twin Falls Route 2. A bank employee for 25 years, she was formerly in the commercial lending and investment department at the main office. Curtis Eaton, bank president, said.

Business briefs

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan's foreign currency reserves stood at $14,000 billion at the end of October, a drop of $746 million from September, the finance ministry announced.
The ministry attributed the drop to brisk imports and the increasing amount of spending by the export-import bank. It was the eighth consecutive monthly decrease.
MOSCOW — Soviet-American trade in the first eight months of this year reached $1.012 billion more than for any entire year previously, the U. S. embassy said today.
U. S. Treasury Sec. George P. Shultz predicted here earlier this month that trade for the year might go as high as $1.5 billion. This would probably be enough to make the United States the Soviet Union's largest non-Communist trading partner for the first time.
BOISE (UPI) — Norman Schoonover has announced his resignation as vice president of the Idaho First National Bank to pursue personal endeavors.
Schoonover indicated that he intends to continue his interest in the activities of the bank, serving as a member of the board of directors.
He began his employment at the bank in 1948 in his position as vice president. He has been in branch administration.

Chrysler to boost car prices

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. notified the Cost of Living Council today that it plans to raise the prices of its 1974 model cars and trucks by an average $63.25, the second increase on the 1974 models.
Chrysler was granted an average $51 increase when it introduced the new models in September, but was denied a second request for an average $71 hike shortly after it negotiated a new contract with the United Auto Workers.
Chrysler said the new hike would cover the increases in cost to the company of the new wage benefit contract with the UAW and other labor and material costs. It said the price increase includes no profit for Chrysler Corp.
Chrysler claimed the higher prices are "fully justified" and in accordance with Phase IV economic regulations. The higher prices will become effective in 30 days unless turned down by the Cost of Living Council.

Franco critics jailed

(c) N. Y. Times Service. BARCELONA, Spain — Organized opposition in the northeastern region of Catalonia to Generalissimo Francisco Franco's regime has been dealt a heavy blow with the arrest of 114 leaders. The opponents, representing a wide variety of political forces from Communist to conservative, were surprised by the police a half hour after the start of a meeting in the parish house of a Roman Catholic church in Barcelona last Sunday. The participants were attempting to prepare the second assembly of Catalonia, two years after the first assembly succeeded in grouping 300 anti-Francoists in a Barcelona church to the complete surprise of the police. Opposition militants in what is Spain's second-biggest city and the capital of the region Catalonia, acknowledged that the movement had been partly "decapitated." They appeared to be perplexed as to the next move. The Communists were understood to be pushing for the organization of the new assembly as if nothing had happened despite the loss of a large number of their representatives. Others appeared fearful of the dangers from what they called the "latest" wave of repression.

Final Skylab readied

CAPE CANAVERAL, UPI — With their launch date just one week away, America's third and final Skylab crew spent Saturday boning up on the hundreds of complex systems they will be called upon to operate in their eight room orbiting space station. Astronauts Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue are scheduled to lift off at 11:40 a.m. EST Nov. 10 on a record 60-day flight that could be stretched further to 85 days, if all goes well. The all-rookie crew is training at the Johnson Space Center in Houston, and will remain there until later this week. The Saturn booster rocket and the command module they will ride to their 270-mile high home in the sky were put through a mock launch Friday and all systems were reported working smoothly. The astronauts were given Sunday off, but will remain in semi-isolation to guard against illness.

US, Soviet peace troops hinted at UN

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The United States and the Soviet Union may be asked to airlift troops into the Middle East for the U.N. peace-keeping force, a spokesman for the world body said Saturday. The prospect of a U.S. and Soviet role in getting the U.N. Emergency Force (UNEF) in place between Egyptian and Israeli troops was raised after Secretary General Kurt Waldheim met with Canadian Foreign Minister Mitchell Sharp to get badly needed logistical support organized for the peace-keeping force. Waldheim also consulted with representatives of six other countries added by the Security Council to the list of UNEF forces. A U.N. spokesman said the additional troops might be airlifted and deployed within 10 days. Because of the problem of getting the troops to the scene, the spokesman said, Egypt might give "final clearance" within 24 hours for U.S. planes to land with the new forces. Canada, Britain and France were also approached for airlift assistance, he said, and Soviet aircraft may also be used to transport the Poles. A force of 801 men consisting of Finns, Swedes, Irishmen and Austrians, has already been deployed on both sides of the Suez Canal between the two sides, but logistic problems are hampering its work, the spokesman said.

Shultz hits price board

(c) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz would like to see the present price controls system replaced by a small federal inflation-monitoring agency with virtually no powers to intervene in the economy.

He doubts that generalized "jawboning" or exhortation by Washington does much good, and he does not support the idea of a price-wage review board, long advocated by Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur P. Burns.

The first thing a review board would do, Shultz says, is set price-wage guidelines. "They become targets," he says, and industry and labor quickly find ways to exceed them.

Illustratively, Shultz says that the present pay guideline is 5.5 per cent a year in wages plus 0.7 per cent in certain fringe benefits — is being skillfully circumvented by contracts, as in the auto industry, that are heavy on the benefits side.

Although official administration policy on the future of price-wage stabilization is still open, the views of Shultz are regarded as centrally important. In addition to being chairman of the Cost of Living Council, Shultz, a loyalist who has been with Nixon since January 1969, holds the rank of Assistant to the President.

The secretary discussed the future of wage-price stabilization at a breakfast news conference Friday and later in an interview in his office.

Despite the good news about an October drop in unemployment, Shultz's mood was subdued. Persons who have been in contact with him recently report that he, like other senior members of the Nixon administration, is depressed by the political firestorm that is raging around the President and by the events that led to it.

However, the secretary denies that he plans to resign and says the right thing to do is stay on the job and work harder.

Shultz has never liked price-wage controls and so he says only half facetiously that he is a little alarmed that the government has learned to administer them relatively effectively and with a small controls bureaucracy.

He continues to express interest in gradual, selective decontrol — peeling it off, he calls the process — but he also talks about preparing the public to accept a post-controls price surge. Such phrasing, plus the fact that Shultz is not talking about extension of the economic Stabilization Act beyond its April 30, 1974 expiration date, suggests that he may be thinking about sudden termination of remaining controls sometime in early 1974.

Those who feel that the government should play an active wage-price role may swing behind the review-board idea rather than the small, monitoring unit favored by Shultz and originally outlined to him by John T. Dunlop, the director of the Cost of Living Council. On the side of Shultz and Dunlop is the fact that a review board couldn't be created without legislation, which would take months, whereas a monitoring unit could be established by executive action.

Amtrak bill penned

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon, overruling the recommendation of his own transportation secretary, signed into law Saturday an Amtrak money bill that will give the passenger train corporation greater independence from the administration.

The bill allows Amtrak to spend $154.3 million in federal funds, including $107.3 million in new money and $47 million left over from last year. It also increases Amtrak loan guarantee authority from the present $200 million to $500 million.

Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar recommended that the bill be vetoed because it would take away much of his department's power to control how Amtrak spends the federal funds. He also was reported to have objected to a provision giving the Interstate Commerce Commission expanded power over quality and adequacy of passenger service.

Chicago Seven charges tossed out

CHICAGO (UPI) — A federal judge Saturday freed the Chicago Seven of 19 of 38 contempt charges imposed by U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman during their tumultuous riot-conspiracy trial four years ago.

U.S. District Court Judge Edward T. Gignoux announced his ruling after four days of arguments on defense motions for a blanket dismissal of charges and for acquittal.

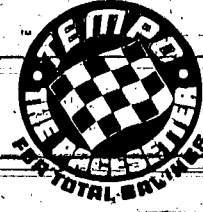

Gignoux denied the dismissal demand but acquitted the one-time unruly Chicago Seven defendants of 19 charges and dismissed another one. The ruling left Lee Weiner and John Froines free from further prosecution.

The judge said he would announce Monday his ruling on motions to dismiss 14 counts of contempt against the Chicago Seven lawyers, William Kunstler and Leonard I. Weinglass.

Five of the seven defendants were left to face contempt citations during a trial to begin next week.

The defendants and number of citations against them:

David Dellinger, eight; Ronnie Davis, two; Thomas Hayden, one; Abbie Hoffman, five, and Jerry Rubin, three. Gignoux made one exception in Saturday's ruling.

MV Little Theatre sets TF dates

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley theater goers are in for a real treat this week when the Magic Valley Little Theatre presents "Come Blow Your Horn."

Show time is set for 8 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the YM-YWCA building.

Under the direction of Roy L. Nicholson, Neil Simon's comedy will be presented in three acts.

The original idea of the theatre group was to present its plays in the round (seating on all four sides). Some variations of the arrangement have been tried but the main purpose leans toward intimate theatre.

According to Mr. Bradford Hickerson, publicity chairman for the group, the Magic Valley Little Theatre is grateful for the cooperation of the YMCA director, Chuck Upton, and the use of the 'Y' facilities.

In appreciation, Wednesday evening's performance will benefit for the 'Y', with all proceeds going to the swimming pool project.

Tickets for this performance are available at the YMCA. All other tickets can be purchased by calling 733-6027 or at the door the nights of the performances.

The Magic Valley Little Theatre actually began its productions in the fall of 1969 with a production of Agatha Christie's "Mousetrap." Prior to that first production, seven members of the Magic Valley community started the wheels going towards the formation of the new group. From that, meetings were announced as the first enthusiastic group of 25-30 people elected Helen Gee as the first president.

The 1969-70 season produced "Mousetrap" and "Sight Unseen." Plays which followed included "Odd Couple," "Thurber Carnival," "Waltz of the Toreadors," "Bus Stop," and now, "Come Blow Your Horn."

Past presidents of the group include, besides Helen Gee, Dr. Art Frantz and Buzz Langdon. Past directors were Neil Barth, Mrs. Gee, Mrs. Hickerson, Phil Rayher and Brent Blackburn.

This year's director, Roy Nicholson, teaches speech and drama at Robert Stuart and Vera C. O'Leary Junior High Schools. He received his degree from Idaho State University in 1972.

All person interesting in joining or participating in any of the Magic Valley Little Theatre's productions are urged to contact Mrs. Hickerson or other members of the group.

You swear to all of this?

By MIKE ROYKO
(c) Chicago Daily News

All right, gentlemen, the court is in session. Have you brought in those seven remaining tapes?

"No, your honor."

"Why not? I so instructed you at the last hearing."

"We have found that those tapes do not exist either."

"I find that difficult to believe."

"Cross my heart."

"But what is your explanation?"

"The tapes were stolen by a stereo nut in one of the White House tours. He has since erased the conversations. Now they contain nothing but guitar music by Ravi Shankar. You may have those tapes if you enjoy such music, your honor."

"The President, frankly, doubts not."

"Does that include the tapes containing conversations with H. R. Haldeman?"

"Yes. And H. R. Haldeman doesn't exist either."

"What are you talking about?"

"We have discovered that the man we always believed to be H. R. Haldeman is really an impostor named Barney Slugg."

"But where is the real H. R. Haldeman?"

"There never was an H. R. Haldeman, your honor. All along it was Barney Slugg and he had us fooled."

"But Haldeman has been close to the President for years."

"I can assure you, your honor, that he wouldn't have been if the President had known he was really Barney Slugg, an impostor. The President wouldn't associate with that sort."

"Didn't John Ehrlichman realize this?"

"John Ehrlichman does not exist, your honor. We have found that he is an impostor named David C. Sparrow."

"This is extraordinary. I'm going to subpoena Haldeman and Ehrlichman to testify."

"How can you, your honor, since they do not exist."

"Then I'll bring in John Dean."

"You mean Rudolph Mitt, your honor."

"Rudolph Mitt?"

"Yes, that is the name of the man who has been posing as John Dean. He is not even a lawyer, either, which means he could not have ever been the White House counselor."

"This is incredible."

"Cross my heart, hope to the parties involved do not exist. Therefore the case doesn't exist."

"Buy somebody broke into that building."

"What building, your honor?"

"The Watergate building."

"There is no such building. It does not exist."

"Of course it does."

"No, your honor. That which used to be known as the Watergate building has been named Richard's Retreat by the new owner. So there is no Watergate Break-in, since there is no Watergate building."

"Who is the new owner?"

"A Mr. Rebozo."

"You swear to all this?"

"Cross my heart, hope to die, St. Paul's honor."

"Ain't your fingers crossed?"

"The next thing you will be telling me is that John Mitchell is really Popeye the Sailor."

"No, your honor. John Mitchell is really named Donald Duck, another impostor."

"But how could the President have hired those kind of men?"

"Had he known, he would not have, your honor. The President is a keen judge of men, and if there had really been an Ehrlichman, a Haldeman, a Dean, a Mitchell, and all the rest, they would surely have been the kind of men he could trust."

"Well—I don't know what this does to the case."

"The president has instructed us to make a motion to have all charges dismissed, your honor, on the basis that

'Panning' fever mounts

IDAHO CITY (UPI) — It's a sport. It's a fever. It's just for fun. For whatever reason, prospecting is sweeping Idaho and reviving interest in long-deserted gold fields.

"The price of gold has proffered interest and activities all over the state," said W. R. Bondurant, technical aide for the Idaho Inspector of Mines. "We see a lot of one or two men out panning but whether they are getting anything or not, we don't know."

Bondurant said his agency has received inquiries about gold hunting in Idaho from all over the nation.

Bill Mullins, Boise, a wholesale dealer in gold pans, said the interest in gold prospecting has swelled orders for pans from 720 in 1971 to 1,344 so far this year.

Much of the prospecting centers in the 18-square-mile area called Boise Basin surrounding Idaho City. The basin in the hills 50 miles northeast of Boise, according to the Idaho City Historical Foundation, delivered $250 million in gold during the rush.

Lee Grimes, Boise, who claims descent from an early basin prospector, George Grimes, is a Sunday gold panner along Grimes Creek seven miles from Idaho City.

"He believes it takes skill to get results with a gold pan but 'the better you get the more you find. And the more you find, the more fever you get.'"

"Anybody can get the fever," said Grimes. "I've got the fever. I can see how those old time miners got the fever."

Grimes' enthusiasm for panning occasionally has him hauling a bundle of gravel home to work under the running water of his kitchen sink.

Another Grimes Creek prospector bitten by the gold bug wanted enough of the precious metal for a crafts project at Boise State College.

Dave Boehke, an art student at BSC, said his labors produced "about a penny weight," worth perhaps $10, but not enough for his art project.

cow or horse. When she returned to the home of her father, stepmother and brother, Bert, in Western New York State it all seemed foreign for her. One weekend when her parents were away, she was awakened on a cool September night when she heard a soft murmur of voices in the kitchen. "This is Martin, Martin Paide, he's had a long, hard trip from North Carolina," Laura was puzzled and frightened when she heard her brother say "It's Laura we have to worry about, until we find out for sure how she feels about slaves and understands about the station." It became painfully clear that the fugitive in the kitchen, Martin Paide, was a runaway slave and that her father, Bert, their friend, Joel, belonged to the Underground Railroad that Uncle Jim and Aunt Ruth hated so much. Laura, much to her amazement, finds Martin an ambitious young man eager to learn and full of spirit. She finds herself deeply involved in the search for a safe hiding place for Martin while the slave catchers are looking for their slaves who were trying to escape to Canada since the Fugitive Slave law was passed. The scars on Martin's back were proof that all plantation owners were not kind. When she heard the angry voices of the strangers demanding to search their house. Martin's wide frightened eyes were convincing enough for Laura to allow him to hide in the secret chamber under a trap door in her bedroom. There are many interesting developments which follow. Laura develops a conviction that it would be wrong to return Martin to his former owner. It is through her efforts that Martin is able to escape across the Niagara River to Canada to the freedom that was waiting for him. This is one of many new books that are found in the Children's Department of the Twin Falls Public Library.

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls United Methodist Women will hold a church bazaar on Friday, Nov. 9, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the basement of the Methodist Church at 360 Shoshone Street East. The bazaar will include handmade quilts, needlework, baked goods, Christmas gift items, plants, fruits and vegetables and other items. Proceeds from the sale will be used to support church missionary work. Styled after a county fair, the bazaar will feature several displays and will also have a luncheon concession stand on the "midway" to serve soup and sandwiches, homemade pies and cakes. The concession stand will be open from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Mini Reviews

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Public Library officials have released mini-reviews for some of the new books recently received at the library.

"Jesus on Horseback" by John Reese. Rolf Ledger turns from gunman to Christian preacher in this historical setting of the American nineteenth-century frontier.

"Zhang's Culture" by Victor G. Lee. The narrative and extensive interviews tell the true stories of the Chinese in America.

"The Fire We Can Light" by Martin E. Marty. The author speaks hopefully of a movement back to basics, tempered by the growing self-awareness of our age.

"The Judas Gospel" by Peter Van Greenaway. The disbelieving reader will be dazzled by this perfectly devilish vatic double cross.

"Who Men is My Father" by William Edward Wilson. "In this country, we have inherited the whole damned human race, Clayburns no better than the rest; in America, Sam, every man is our father."

"The Mountain Lion" by Jean Stafford. A wonderful novel about a brother and sister and their journey from childhood to maturity and tragedy.

"Who Came by Night" by Nicholas Roland. If you were a sophisticated western man, or a cultivated Greek or Roman, living in Judea in the time of Jesus, what would you have made of the events that transpired which challenged ordinary logic?

"Night of the White Bear" by Alexei or Knox. A frightening Arctic Odyssey of hunter and the hunted.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Someone signed "FATHER OF SIX DAUGHTERS" wanted to know if there was a foolproof way for him to get a son, and you replied, "Yes. Adopt!" I can't resist sending you this. We received it following the birth of a son after having had four girls.

Dear Abby and Bill: SO YOU FINALLY HAD A BOY? The only thing you can be congratulated on is your perseverance.

You can't be congratulated on your morality or unselfishness. Adding three "extra" children to a world already teeming under its population load can't be called either moral or unselfish.

You can't be congratulated on your fertility. After all, any clam, chicken, or small furry animal can beat you at that.

MR. AND MRS. RANDY L. AUSTIN

Miss Jestadt, Austin recite nuptial vows

TWIN FALLS — Mary Jo Jestadt and Randy Lane Austin were united in marriage at 4 p.m. Oct. 20 at the First United Presbyterian Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert D. Van Nest before an altar decorated with white chrysanthemums, aqua carnations, greenery and baby's breath.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John J. Jestadt and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Austin, all Twin Falls.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore an original gown made by Mrs. Shuku Butts. The floor-length dress, made of peau de sole, featured a fitted, bolice and A-line skirt with a draped bustle back and separate train. French re-embroidered alencon lace and clusters of simulated pearls were hand sewn to the dress. A pleated organza flounce edged the skirt and long train.

Her tiered veil was held by an alencon lace cap embroidered with simulated pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Audrey Jestadt, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Angie Holcomb and Kimberly Austin were candlelighters. Laurie Clark was flower girl and John D. Austin Jr. was ringbearer.

The bride wore a floor-length empire-styled gown of pale pink organza with white flocking. The gown featured lace trim at the high neckline and on the bodice front. The long full sleeves were gathered to lace ruffled cuffs. The skirt and gown was finished with a self fabric ruffle trimmed with lace.

Her fingertip veil was held in place by a headpiece of ribbons, bows and lace petals. She carried a cascading bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Mrs. Denny Naylor, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Richard Schumacker, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridal attendant.

Robert Langdon was best man. Ushers were Duane Allen and Richard Schumacker. Keith Carlson was groomsmen. Carrie Schumacker was flower girl. Chig Schumacker was ringbearer.

Jenny Peterson was in charge of the guest book. Holly Langdon passed out thank you notes to each guest.

The couple was honored at a reception after the ceremony. The three-tiered white wedding cake was decorated with pink daisies and frosting trim. It was topped with a cherub wedding arrangement. Mints served at the reception were made by the bride.

The bridegroom's table was decorated with bouquets of pink and white carnations. The silver coffee service and punch bowl used for the reception were loaned for the occasion by Mrs. Marion Langdon, grandmother of the bridegroom.

Guests were served at tables centered with brandy snifters holding flaming pink roses. Reception assistants included Mrs. Denny Naylor, Mrs. Dorothy Peterson and Mrs. Kent Paynter, aunts of the bridegroom, and the women of the United Methodist Church.

Out-of-town guests attended from San Francisco, Calif., Moscow, St. Maries, Rupert, Salmon, Payette and Boise.

After a honeymoon trip to Southern California, the couple resides at 1304 Seventh Ave. E., Twin Falls. The bride is employed by Idaho First National Bank. The bridegroom, a 1973 graduate of Idaho State University, is employed by Southern Idaho Pipe and Steel.

Miss Allen, Langdon exchange promises

HANSEN — Connie Allen and David Langdon were married in an evening ceremony Oct. 20 at the United Methodist Church, Twin Falls.

Rev. Darwin Secord performed the candlelight ceremony. The sanctuary was decorated with bouquets of pink and white chrysanthemums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O'Wynn E. Allen, Hansen, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Archie Langdon, Twin Falls.

The wedding admonition was given by Mrs. Darwin Secord. Mrs. Richard Greene was organist. Rex Reed and Mrs. Carl Gergens were soloists.

The bride wore a floor-length empire-styled gown of pale pink organza with white flocking. The gown featured lace trim at the high neckline and on the bodice front. The long full sleeves were gathered to lace ruffled cuffs. The skirt and gown was finished with a self fabric ruffle trimmed with lace.

Foolproof program

You can't be congratulated on your fine family. A fine family is one which sets an example, and your example may kill us all in a few generations.

You can't even be congratulated on being able to afford five children, because you're not paying for them. Oh, you provide their food and clothing and shelter, but the rest of the world pays for their roads, schools, hospitals, air, water.

You can't be congratulated on being a patriotic citizen, for if anything destroys the United States it will be our "growthman" spiral thru which this country even now gulps over 50 per cent of the world's resources.

You can't be congratulated for carrying on the family name. Family names mean little unless people mean much, and your kind of growth rate guarantees that people mean less and less.

Unless, of course, three of those children are adopted.

In that case,

CONGRATULATIONS

Rick and Sue

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man I love with all my heart. He says he doesn't love me any more and wants a divorce. We have three children. At first he said he had it with married life and all he wanted was to be free; then after I begged and pleaded with him to reconsider, he admitted that there was another woman.

I would get down on my hands and knees if I thought it would do any good. I tried to tell him how much I loved him. I even kissed him, but he stood there like a statue with his hands in his pockets. Oh, Abby, I am desperate. How can a woman get a man to love her again? The divorce is coming up soon in court. No fault. No chance. Help me. I don't want to live without him.

ALONE AND CRYING

DEAR ALONE: You aren't alone. You have three children, which are three good reasons for living.

Since there is another woman in the picture, your chances for making him "love you" again are slim. Furthermore, there is nothing less appealing to a man than a begging, prideless woman. So dry your tears, square your shoulders, and chin up. Concentrate on making a new life for yourself. Sometimes good luck comes disguised as disaster.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

Miss Decker bride of Arnold Hall

GLENN'S FERRY — Yvonne Decker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Decker, Glenns Ferry, became the bride of Arnold Hall Oct. 20 at the home of the bride.

Arnold is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hall, King Hill.

Rev. James Burton of the Glenns Ferry Baptist Church officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given by her father, wore a floor-length lavender print gown with a white yoke and draped collar. She carried a rustic family heirloom handkerchief.

Her bridal bouquet was of lavender, coachwoods, white daisies and baby's breath, accented with satin streamers. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion net was held with a cap decorated with seed pearls and sequins.

Mrs. Walter Trail, Moscow, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Paul Heath, Glenns Ferry, was the best man.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill at King Hill. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered white wedding cake. It was decorated with lavender roses and topped with small cherubs. The cake was flanked by bouquets of lavender roses, white daisies and greenery.

Mrs. Ted Lake, King Hill, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Michael Chafin, Hammett, sister of the bridegroom, cut and served the cake. Mrs. William Arbaugh, aunt of the bride, presided at the coffee service, assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Starkey, both Glenns Ferry.

Chauda Decker, sister of the bride, registered the guests.

The bride is a 1971 graduate of Glenns Ferry High School. The bridegroom is a graduate of Glenns Ferry High School and is presently employed at the Sailor Creek farm project. The young couple resides in Glenns Ferry.

Overseas holiday mailing dates set

TWIN FALLS - David R. Mead, Twin Falls, local United Service Organization chairman, said today the organization is again reminding U. S. citizens to remember overseas servicemen.

Mead said the service men and women appreciate small gifts not only during the Christmas holiday season, but during other holiday periods and throughout the year.

Mead said the Postal Service has issued a list of mailing deadlines which, if observed, will help insure receipt of Christmas parcels by overseas personnel by Christmas.

For personnel in all areas of Europe, including Iceland, mail airmail by the second week of December; PAL parcel post, first week of December; SAM parcel post, end of November; and surface parcel post, second week of November.

To mail to servicemen and women in the far East, including Thailand and Korea, airmail by the first week of December; PAL parcel post, end of November; SAM parcel post, third week of November; and surface parcel post, before the end of November.

Mead said the USO has available information to aid in selecting and mailing a gift to overseas service personnel. The information kit is available from USO Christmas Program, 237 East 52nd St., New York, N. Y. 10022.

Playing at six notrump South needed to bring in that club suit. He won the diamond lead, led a club and finessed dummy's king. If East had won with the king, South might have tried a sacrifice finesse or he might have played the ace next and dropped the jack.

We'll never know because East dropped the jack. It became obvious to South that West still held king and one club. He returned to his hand, took a second club finesse and watched the whole hand collapse.

Did East know what he was doing? He claimed that he did when everyone around congratulated him, and since East is an old friend we will join in the accolades.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The most effective bluff in poker is when the bluffer has misread his hand and doesn't know that he is bluffing. The same principle applies at bridge. If a player doesn't know that he is false-carding, the false card is very likely to succeed.

South would have been better advised to let his partner play in six clubs, but South suffered from that form of bridge-player's astigmatism that completely blinds the victim to the possible advantage of being dummy.

Playing at six clubs, North would use the well-known safety play of playing his ace of trumps to see if an honor might drop. One would drop and there would be no further problems.

Current Cues

By HELEN WALKER
TWIN FALLS — No doubt about it — there's lots of discussion about energy consumption.

It's a complex, wide range topic that affects each of us. Residential or home energy use is less than 20 per cent of the entire picture and home appliance accounts for only about 8 per cent of the total, a pretty small role in the total energy problem.

There are many articles being written about energy saving tips. This is good because efficient use of your appliances is important and each of us should make some contribution to lessening the energy crisis.

Appliance manufacturers are very aware of the energy problem and are dedicated to designing appliances that are efficient in power usage.

There are many ways you can make more efficient use of your appliances.

It begins when you make your selection to buy. Select an appliance to perform the tasks you want accomplished.

Use the appliance for the purpose for which it was designed. For example the range is designed for cooking food — not heating the room, drying hair or clothes.

Use appliances to their full capacity. Example, run full loads in the dishwasher. Use a rinse and hold cycle until you have an entire load.

Operate the appliance according to the manufacturer's instructions. Save the booklets for reference. They can mean your equipment will perform better, last longer and require fewer repairs.

Be sure the wiring system in your home is adequate. Many home owners have not brought wiring up to date, even though they keep adding new appliances. If the circuits are not heavy enough their efficiency drops and they produce less work. As a result, it takes longer to do the job, uses more electricity and appliances wear out faster. Be sure your house wiring is adequate for present needs with room for adding appliances in the future.

Use will vary in each individual home. It depends on family size, how often you use individual appliances, utility rates and other factors. Appliances provide you with real value for the energy consumed. Use them wisely.

Sewage, water systems issues

By DIXIE DIXON
Times-News Writer

HAZELTON — All candidates for the Hazelton city election Tuesday agree the top priority project is to get work under way on the proposed sewage system and upgrade the water system.

James N. Dryden is running unopposed for the mayor's post and four candidates are seeking the two four-year seats to be filled in the city council.

Candidates include incumbent Don E. (Eddie) Crumrine; Mrs. Floyd Bowlin, her brother-in-law, Kenneth Bowlin, and Harry O. Kurtz.

Dryden has served for six years on the council in past years part of this time as chairman of the board. Even though he was "drafted" he said he will be willing to "work with the people of Hazelton to accomplish the things they desire."

Crumrine, the incumbent, has lived in Hazelton all his life and presently is employed on the construction of the new Perrine bridge. He and his wife have one small child.

He feels unless steps are taken immediately that the water system for Hazelton will not be up to standard in a few years.

Kenneth Bowlin, partner in a trucking business in Hazelton, feels the council should get started on the sewage system and purchase the land it had previously agreed to purchase. Costs are rising and "if we don't get started soon it will cost more than the people will want to pay," he said.

Mrs. Floyd Bowlin, sister-in-law of Kenneth Bowlin, says "it is a challenge to me and if elected I will do the best I can for the interests of the community." She feels it is good for voters to have a choice of candidates. She is a housewife and has three school children. Her husband is affiliated with his brother in the trucking business.

Kurtz has had previous experience on the council, serving for two terms. He said "I am proud of the community and feel it my civic duty to serve the people whenever I can."

He has served as teacher and principal in the Valley school district the past 26 years. He now teaches mathematics at the high school and was principal in the grade, junior high and high school.

People's choice

KETCHUM — Ketchum Mayor Kenneth Richey has announced that he will appoint the third highest vote getter in Tuesday's councilman election to replace Jo Ann Algiers Levy on the council.

Richey said he felt "the people should have a chance to make the selection" of the councilman to complete Mrs. Levy's term, which expires in January, 1975. The appointment he said will be subject to approval of the council.

However, residents will still vote for two candidates in the councilman contest.

Meet on dying set at hospital

TWIN FALLS — Two open meetings on the subject, "Living with Dying" have been scheduled at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

The meetings will be held Nov. 13 at the hospital and are open to all interested persons.

John J. Dawson, counselor for Mountain States Tumor Institute in Boise, will lead discussions geared toward hospital and public health personnel, clergymen, psychologists, social workers or others who in the course of their work are called on to deal with terminally ill patients and their families.

The programs will be presented in the hospital auditorium from 1 to 2:45 p.m. and from 3:30 to 5:15 p.m.

Block moms

NEW YORK (UPI) — Does your block have a block mother? This is a Mother who usually is home when children are going to or from school. She has a sign in her window to tell children she is a block mother.

If any children have trouble with a bully, molester, illness or other problem, they go to the block mother's home for help.

Polls open at noon

TWIN FALLS — The polls will be open from noon to 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Twin Falls City election.

Polling places are first precinct, Twin Falls County court house, 425 Shoshone St. N.; second precinct, Twin Falls City Hall, 421 Second Ave. E.; third precinct, Willis Motor Co., 238 Shoshone St. W.; fourth precinct, Robert Stuart Junior High School, Caswell Ave. W.; fifth precinct, Harrison School, 650 Harrison St. Sixth precinct, Bulfrey Food Store, Blue Lakes Shopping Center, Blue Lakes Blvd. N.; seventh precinct, Washington School, 116 Blue Lakes Blvd. N.; eighth precinct, Twin Falls Senior High School, 1015 Filer Ave. E.; ninth precinct, YM-YWCA Building, 1751 Elizabeth Blvd.; and 10th precinct, Morningstar School, Morningstar Drive.

Questionnaire sent

JEROME — Questionnaires from the school needs assessment project (SNAP) will be mailed to 3,000 families living in the Jerome School District.

Roy Parton, project director, said he expects the questionnaires to be mailed today. "The questionnaire is a vital part of SNAP which is underway in Jerome schools. It will help to more clearly identify those needs of students which the schools are expected to meet," he said.

The two main purposes of the questionnaire are, one, to find out what the patrons think are the most important responsibilities the schools have to the students and two, how well the patrons think the schools are presently meeting the responsibilities.

Meeting slated

TWIN FALLS — An organizational meeting of a Nutritional Education Council will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Twin Falls.

Plans to organize the council are under the direction of the USDA Food and Nutritional Service and the South Central Community Action Agency.

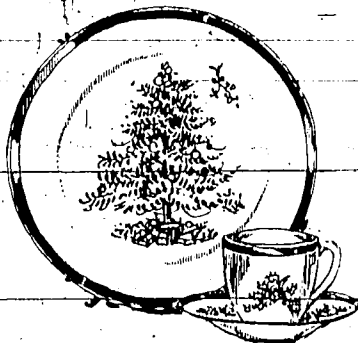

The meeting will be held in the Head Start building, 136 Sixth Ave. Topics to be discussed include nutritional needs of children and nutritional requirements of senior citizens.

New TF business readied

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — It's all organized confusion out on Addison Avenue East where the new K mart is preparing its grand opening Thursday.

The large one-story building, which contains 68,000 square feet, is believed to be the largest Twin Falls business building in terms of footage all on one floor. It is located on land long owned by the late Mike Stronk, former Twin Falls postmaster, and more recently by his daughter, Agnes Stronk, Ketchum.

When asked what kinds of merchandise his nationwide discount store handles, John Nance, manager, replied it was a little difficult, as the firm handles more than 40,000 items, including everything from thread clothing to hot hold and sporting goods to an auto shop and a variety of ice cream.

In addition shoppers will have a small cafeteria available for refreshment when they tire of shopping.

Nance said approximately 100 new stores are being opened this year throughout the nation by the Kresge Co. parent firm for K marts. The company also has the traditional Kresge dime stores and Jupiter stores which, according to Nance, are smaller discount stores located in "carefully selected" locations, such as inner-city areas where a discount operation helps shore up sales.

Many of the new K mart stores are located in the Southwest and West, Nance said, but plans are to continue growth in the East as well over the next five years.

The firm, which operates in all but one of the 50 states, plus Canada, Puerto Rico and Australia, is the third largest non-retailer in the world, Nance said.

Fast turnover of merchandise, resulting from the discount prices, and smaller sales personnel are the key to the firm's growth. Although Nance said there always are sales people on the floor, he conceded at the price of merchandise, "We can't afford to overstaff."

The new Twin Falls store received 600 applications for the 135 positions which are now filled, Nance said.

He said the firm located in Twin Falls because research conducted by the company indicates the Magic Valley area is one of continued growth.

Suit filed against bureau

WASHINGTON — The Ada County Fish and Game League of Boise has filed suit along with the Natural Resources Defense Council, Inc. (NRDC) against the federal Bureau of Land Management in a federal court here.

The groups charge the BLM with mismanagement of livestock grazing programs on over 150 million acres of publicly owned lands in 11 western states.

The suit is an outgrowth of a year-long NRDC investigation into the BLM's management of these lands and the effects of livestock grazing, the most extensive commercial use of these lands.

NRDC staff scientist Terry Lash said the adverse effects of the grazing practices permitted by the BLM include the reduction of fish and wildlife populations, accelerating erosion, deterioration in water quantity and quality and impairment of recreational uses of the land.

The lawsuit demands the BLM prepare environmental impact statements in connection with the issuance of permits to private stockowners to graze livestock on these lands.

Don't lose your shirt heating a drafty house

For the house that's drafty enough to dry the laundry, heating costs can take you to the cleaners. As energy prices increase (and there's no escaping the fact that they will), a wasteful heating system can be a drain on the budget.

One helpful answer is thorough insulation. We recommend Idaho Power's Gold Medallion standards: ten inches overhead (R30)*; six inches in the floor (R21)* and four inches in the walls (R12)*. Then install double windows and doors and you'll add to your comfort and savings.

As you save your shirt, you'll save energy, too. It's the wise thing to do in these energy-short times.

For assistance in your insulation improvement plans, call your local Idaho Power Company office.

Andrus opposed

TWIN FALLS — The president of the Magic Valley Trail-Machine Association strongly opposes Gov. Cecil Andrus' position on wilderness preservation.

The governor recently supported placing all of the state's present wilderness and contiguous areas into wilderness classification. This would prevent more trail bike paths and roadways being allowed in the Idaho Wilderness Primitive Area and in the Salmon River Breaks Primitive Area.

"These resources belong to all of us," Richard Boyd, president of the association, stated in a letter to Andrus. "Shall the needs of 95 per cent of our citizens be subordinated to the demands of the five per cent who fly-in, float-in or carry a pack? Leaders with courage and foresight would welcome the opportunity to manage God's gifts so the resource will last forever while utilizing his bounty to meet the needs of all creation, including the common myth."

Hansen aide urges affirmative vote on school building proposal

By BILL LAZARUS
Times News writer

HANSEN School may find itself with no school if voters do not approve a new school building soon, according to Bob Pettigrove, school district board chairman.

"If we don't build an elementary building, the future of a school in Hansen is in jeopardy," Pettigrove said Thursday night at a special informational meeting on the $380,000 bond issue to be voted on Monday.

The bond proposal calls for the construction of a new "open space" elementary school to replace the school now situated together with Hansen's junior high and high schools.

Pettigrove said Hansen's elementary and high school buildings, built in the early 1920's, would eventually be up for condemnation and if there are no new school buildings by that time the children will be bussed away to other towns for school. He also said, however, there has been no serious consideration of condemnation yet.

"It scares me," the board chairman said, regarding the fire danger at the school. He said Hansen School recently received a "clean bill of health" following a fire hazard inspection by its insurance company, but that "if an elementary grades in an old frame building on two floors is 'not a good situation,' Pettigrove predicted serious classroom space problems in the near future unless a new school is built.

He said classes on all grade levels are already filled to capacity and that with the new trailer courts and Regal homes being in, Hansen will soon have an estimated 150 more students.

In grade school about 25 children are crowded into each classroom now, Pettigrove said. In junior high there are about 30 students, many of the smaller classrooms are now overcrowded, he said.

"Open space" schools was a prime topic at the sparsely attended meeting, which besides the five school board members — only 10 persons came to.

In open space schools no permanent walls separate different classes. One major educational advantage of this situation is that students can easily participate in different classes in line with the skill they have in particular subjects, according to Dist. Supt. Percy Christensen. Christensen said another advantage is that classroom space can easily be fitted to needs simply by moving the visual barriers such as chalkboards and closets separating classes.

But the major advantage of the open space school is that it is comparatively cheap to build and to maintain, both Christensen and Pettigrove said. Pettigrove estimated the $380,000 planned open space building would probably cost $100,000 if it were built with walls in the traditional fashion.

Christensen emphasized that although the open space structure would bring flexibility to teaching, no changes in teaching methods are planned. "We basically do not want to change our educational process greatly. It's been too successful," he said.

He said most of the younger teachers are enthusiastic about the open space school while some of the older teachers are hesitant. For those teachers who prefer the traditional walled classroom, the school would provide substantial visual barriers to set the classroom off.

Because of special acoustical tiling and rugs, noise is not a great problem in the classrooms without walls, Christensen added. He said the problem is really not so much noise but sound fading away unless the teacher talks directly to the class.

Pettigrove said there is no specific plan on how the vacated elementary classrooms will be used, but said that growth is also expected in the junior high and high schools, which will then be able to make use of the rooms.

Asked about establishing a kindergarten if the new elementary school is built, Pettigrove said "if you can read the mind of the legislature, then you can know the answer to this question."

He said state monies for kindergartens have not come through yet because legislators believe it is more important to bring the rest of Idaho's educational program up to par with that existing in other states.

The proposed school would be 13,14 square feet in size and would be adequate for up to 225 students. Hansen Elementary's present enrollment is 145 students. The $380,000 structure would cost district patrons $10.04 for every $10,000 of property owned.

Commenting on the cost, Christensen said, "it's expensive, but it's never going to be cheaper." He said the elementary school proposal is "really not a new or sudden thing," mentioning that it had been recommended by a citizen's committee in 1971 and was voted upon last year.

Europe grain harvest high

LONDON — A 106.4 million ton estimate of the European Economic Community grain harvest released today is 1.4 million tons above expectations a month ago.

The harvest is 2.5 million tons above the bumper harvest reaped last year and compares with the recent average of 99.0 million tons.

The increase is due to higher maize production which more than makes up for a slightly lower wheat crop.

Trade sources here said the revised estimate reflected the ideal harvesting conditions experienced during the past month and caused the sharp upward revision in the Soviet crop.

The breakdown of the latest harvest estimate (1972 drops in brackets) is wheat 41.2 million tons (41.5), including hard wheat 32.1 (33.5) rye and mixed wheat 3.2 (3.0), barley 34. (33.7) oats and mixed cereals 9.8 (10.4) maize 10.3 million (13.6) rice 842,000 (832,000) and other grains unchanged at 500,000 tons.

In addition, rapeseed production in the five leading nations — Denmark, France, Holland, Belgium and the United Kingdom is placed slightly lower at 226,000 tons against 1.03 million tons.

Cotton crop dips

The United States cotton crop, estimated at 13.1 million bales (October estimate), is about 4 per cent smaller than in 1972-73. The south-central crop is 20 per cent smaller than last season because of early season flooding which reduced the area planted. Crops are also smaller in several southeastern states and in Arizona and New Mexico. Crops are significantly larger than a year earlier in Texas, Oklahoma, and California. The US crop is being harvested from 12.4 million acres. The average yield per acre is expected to be 509 pounds.

Egg mix purchased

WASHINGTON — Purchase of 1,000,000 pounds of egg mix at a cost of $1,414,000 and end of the program was announced today by the US Department of Agriculture (USDA).

Supplies purchased are sufficient to meet distribution needs this fiscal year.

The egg mix, purchased with funds authorized under Section 32-a of Public Law 74-320, will help supply high quality protein food in diets for USDA's direct food distribution programs.

Study contest

NEW YORK (UPI) — High school seniors this academic year will compete for $1,000 and $500 Kodak college scholarship grants and a Scholastic International Study Travel Scholarship. High school juniors will vie, too, for cash prizes and recognition in the 1974 Kodak Photo Awards. The program, conducted annually by Scholastic Magazines, is sponsored by Eastman Kodak Company.

Students can submit entries only through their schools. Winning pictures will be exhibited in the Kodak Gallery, New York City, next summer. Information is included in rules folders available on request to Scholastic Photo Awards, 50 W. 44th St., New York, N. Y.

Speculation ban eyed

WASHINGTON — Continuing its straw votes on suggested legislation to remodel the Commodity Exchange Authority, the House Agriculture Committee has refused to rule out the possibility that it may consider banning foreign governments from speculating or hedging on US commodity markets.

A second day of opinion gathering on CEA change possibilities initially showed committee members in general agreement that it would be almost impossible to identify foreign government futures market activity.

Representative John Parck, D-Tx, however, talked the committee into not abandoning the trading prohibition suggestion, but into turning it over to a select committee named to come up with special legislative proposals.

Meat imports drop

WASHINGTON — Total US meat imports in September amounted to 110,327,000 pounds compared with Sept. 1972 imports of 163,783,000 pounds, USDA reported Friday.

Australian meat exports to the US in September showed the greatest drop — 58,802,000 lbs. vs. 94,273,000 lbs. last year. Total US meat imports from January to September, 1973 dropped three per cent compared to the same period last year.

Vandals grind out win over Montana

MISSOULA, Mont. (UPI) — The Idaho Vandals put aside their passing game and used an effective rushing attack to jump Montana 20-7 in 23 seconds Saturday.

The Vandals scored on their first possession, driving 28 yards on nine plays capped by Mark Fredback's one-yard scoring plunge.

In the third quarter Idaho took the opening kickoff and drove 48 yards to the Montana three before settling for a 2-yard field goal by Steve Tanner.

Nebraska rebounds on Colorado errors

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Tony Davis rained in for two touchdowns Saturday to power Nebraska to a 28-16 Power Eight victory over mistake-prone Colorado.

The Huskers jumped off to a 7-0 lead when Dave Humm connected to Brent Longwell in the end zone with only 12 minutes gone in the first quarter, capping a 75-yard scoring drive in seven plays.

The Vandals completed their scoring with a 40-yard field goal by Tanner with seven minutes remaining.

Houston keeps Fla. State winless 34-3

HOUSTON (UPI) — Billish Legnard punched across for two touchdowns and steady D. C. Nobles passed, for 189 yards and another score Saturday night to lead the Houston Cougars to a 34-3 victory over winless Florida State.

Nobles rushed 56 yards on a keeper to set up Parker's first touchdown. On the second drive Nobles hit Willingham with a 20-yard sideline pass and followed with a 13-yard toss to Miller Dussler to the FSU 10.

Fla. stops Auburn for first win

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — Senior tailback Vince Kendrick bulldied his way five yards for one touchdown and sprinted 44 yards to set up another Saturday as Florida whipped Auburn 12-8 in the Gators' first Southeastern Conference win of the season.

Kendrick, shedding tackles as he burst through Auburn's vaunted defensive line, raced 44 yards to the Tiger 22 in the second quarter and on the next play quarterback Don Gaffney lined a scoring pass to flanker Joel Parker for Florida's first score. The kick was wide.

Auburn's only score came on the final play of the game when quarterback Randy Walls tossed a one-yard scoring pass to flanker Thomas Gosson.

Alabama explodes past Miss. State

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Four running backs scored touchdowns for Alabama Saturday night and the unbeaten second-ranked Crimson Tide routed Mississippi State 35-0 in a Southeastern Conference game.

Alabama drove 91 yards midway through the third quarter, including a 42-yard pass from quarterback Gary Rutledge to Wayne Wheeler.

Bobcats thump N. Arizona 15-0

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (UPI) — Montana State University closed out its Big Sky Conference season and assured itself at least second place with a 45-0 win over Northern Arizona University Saturday.

The Bobcats, now 5-1 in conference play and 7-2 overall, marched for touchdowns three or the first four times they had the ball.

CSI places third

COOS BAY, Ore. (UPI) — Defending national champion Lane Community College of Eugene, Ore., placed three men in the top ten Saturday to win the Region 18 junior college cross country championship.

But individual champion was Kim Taylor, 19, of Benton Community College, Albany, Ore., in a time of 29:04.

Lane CC had only 40 points, followed by Clackamas CC with 82 and College of Southern Idaho with 88.

Reno scores on last play to upset BSC

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — The University of Nevada at Reno scored a touchdown with no time left on the clock to upset sixth-ranked small college power Boise State Saturday 29-21.

A tripping penalty away from the ball on the last play of the game gave Nevada-Reno new life with the ball placed on the Boise State seven-yard line.

Boise State had overcome a Nevada 17-0 lead, taking a 32-17 edge on Ron Emry's 72-yard run return midway through the fourth quarter.

Crenshaw regains lead in Texas open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Rookie Ben Crenshaw, fired up by a large gallery and the thought of winning his first tournament as a PGA tour member, Saturday broke open a four-way tie for first place and regained the undisputed lead in the $125,000 Texas Open golf tournament.

Vista, Tex., also posted a 67 for a 205 and third place. Fred Marti of Baytown, Tex., who hit a hole-in-one on the 185th hole, par-3, 18th hole, was deduced at 208 with Bob Erickson, Steve Melnyk, Bruce Fleischer and defending champion Mike Hill.

Okla. St. draws with Jayhawks

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) — Freshman Mike Love, making his first appearance on the varsity, kicked a 34-yard field goal with 10:26 left Saturday and Kansas held on for a 10-10 tie with Oklahoma State, which missed a chance to win it all in the last five seconds.

Michigan opens up offense

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Fourth-rated Michigan, starting to hone its offensive game for its showdown with Ohio State three weeks hence, showed a consistent wide-open, big play offense for the first time this season Saturday in a 49-13 thrashing of Big Ten foe Indiana.

Michigan's offense was firing on all cylinders from the start. Quarterback Dennis Franklin ripped off a 49-yard scoring run as Michigan operated behind its top offensive lineman for the first time this season.

The Cowboys took the ball at their own 19 with 4:51 to go and used 13 plays to drive to the Kansas 13. Oklahoma State called time out with 12 seconds to play and inserted field goal kicker Addy Daigle. The center snap from Randy Flood to Ed Daigle was mishandled and Daigle's kick, which might have been topped.

Camas County cops third consecutive 8-man title

NEW MEADOWS — The Camas County Musers captured their fourth consecutive title in the second quarter Saturday afternoon to rip New Meadows 52-19 and claim their third straight state eight-man football championship.

In claiming their 20th straight victory over a three-year span, the Musers were held to a 12-12 deadlock midway through the second period on a field that was close to being a quagmire. But once Brent Geisler and Layne Osborne learned to trend on the mud, New Meadows was out of the game.

New Meadows drew first blood when their offense ruled a punt that hit Osborne and gave the ball to the third district crew at the Muser five. Three plays later Dallas Wilmarth punched in from the one.

That lasted quickly, however, as Osborne took the ensuing kickoff, reversed the ball to Larry Lee and he sailed for yards.

The Musers then took the lead early in the second period on a 35-yard pass from Geisler to Lee but then it was New Meadows' turn. Barry McDaniel returned the kickoff 70 yards to fashion the last tie.

On its next possession, Geisler broke a 50-yard run and the Musers quickly forced New Meadows to punt. Osborne shook away on 55 yards seconds later and Geisler and Lee hooked up on a 30-yard bomb just before the half ended to make it 30-12.

New Meadows took the second half kickoff and marched downfield, before sending Wilmarth in from the two. After that it was all Camas County.

Geisler replied with a 30-yard touchdown ramp and Osborne came up with a 10-yard scoring dash. Geisler threw to Lee for the first conversion of the game.

ISU turns early fumbles into 21-13 win over Portland State

PORTLAND — The Idaho State Bengals capitalized on three fumbles for 21 points in the first six minutes Saturday night, then held off a last-quarter rally by Portland State for a 21-13 victory.

The win, coming in a driving rainstorm, let ISU end a five-game losing spell and run the Bengals season record to 2-6. It also left them facing arch-rival Boise State in the mindome next Saturday night.

The rain made things tough, particularly for the Portland State ball carriers. In the first half the Vikings dropped the ball 10 times and ISU came up with it on nine occasions. ISU also intercepted a Viking pass making the halftime score 21-0 entirely plausible.

But both teams dropped badly in offense through the second half until Portland struck for its two touchdowns in a 54-second span. ISU then came up with its only sustained effort of the nine, moving from its own 27 to the Portland 26 before running out of downs. More importantly, however, was the wasting of six minutes on the clock. The Bengals then stopped Portland on a fourth and two at their own 35 just seconds before the game ended to clinch it.

Rene Garnet capped a short ISU drive in the first three minutes after recovering the first Portland State fumble. He went in from the six and Steve Bellar added the first of three extra-point kicks.

The next one came easy. Portland muffed an ISU punt, the ball bouncing into the end zone where Bob Furness fell on it for the score. Just two minutes later, after another Portland fumble, Gary Woody hit Tom Hoffman on a 21-yard slant-in pattern to run it to 21-0.

Portland's comeback started with Ron McDonald's interception and return to the ISU 30 early in the fourth period. Anthony Stoudamire picked it all up on the next play on a quarterback draw. Two plays after the kickoff, Portland recovered a Bengal fumble on the ISU 39. After an incomplete pass, Stoudamire kept on an option and ran 30 yards, then went the other way on the next play to score from the nine. But Lynch's point-after kick was wide.

and win the world bantamweight title. Taylor, the South African bantam and featherweight champion, delighted 20,000 fans at Rand Stadium with a remarkable comeback after being decked three times in the eighth round and once in the 10th by the rugged Anaya. The Mexican was always on the attack although a looping right from Taylor floored him in the fifth.

Arizona rips UTEP to take WAC lead

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Jim Upchurch scored once and set a school rushing record of 232 yards and sophomore Derral Davis scored twice Saturday to give Arizona a 35-10 victory over Texas-El Paso and sole possession of first place in the Western Athletic Conference.

Upchurch, a junior fullback, broke the 10-year record of 228 yards set by Art Lipano in a workhorse role — 27 carries — for the Wildcats.

Davis scored his touchdowns on runs of 50 and seven yards. Sophomore quarterback Bruce Hill passed 10 yards to Tom Bell for one touchdown and scored another on a one-yard sneak. Upchurch's touchdown was a one-yard plunge early in the game.

Arizona improved its WAC record with the victory and remained alone in first place following Utah's 35-31 upset of Arizona State, the other front runner, earlier Saturday. Arizona has a 7-1 season mark.

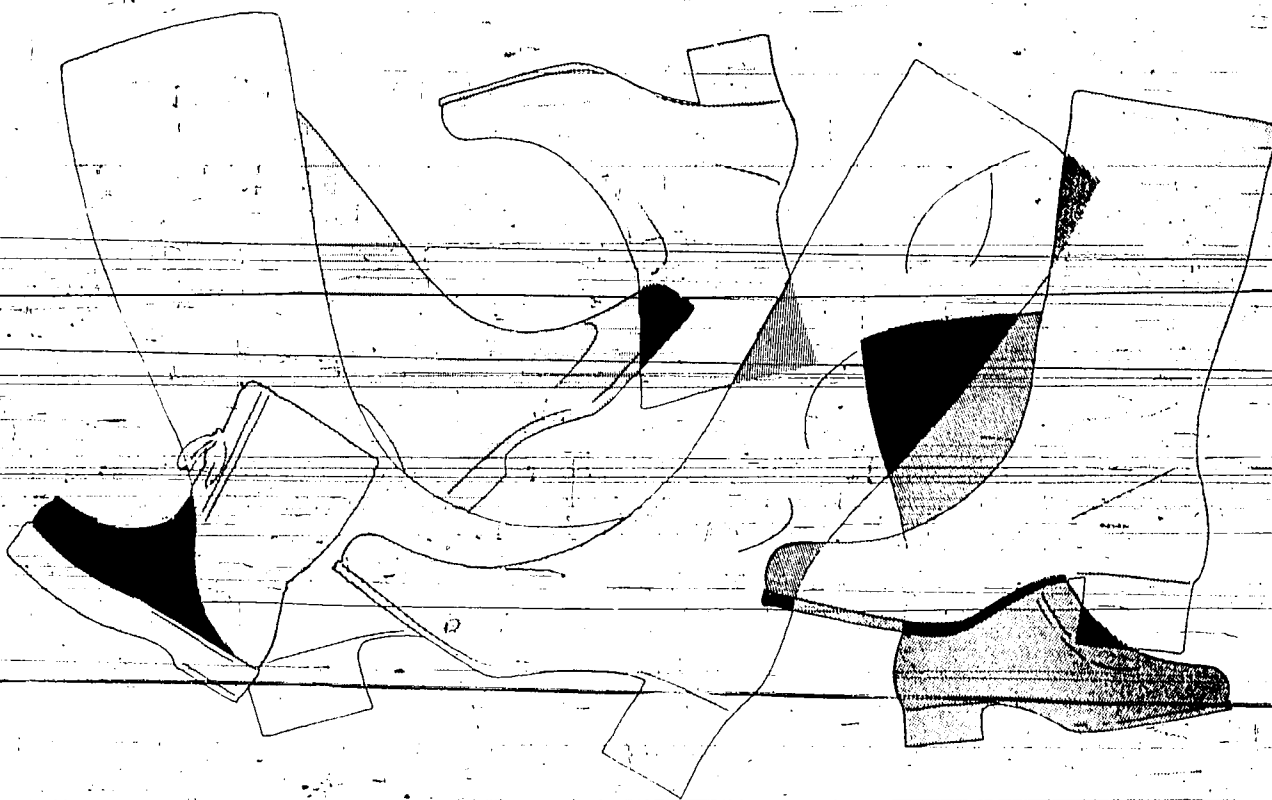

UTEP, which never led in the game and was outclassed in all but the passing yardage in the statistics, fell to 0-0 for the season and 0-5 in the WAC.

The Miners scoring came on a 31-yard field goal by Bronko Belichesky, a one-yard run by Ken Petty and a 31-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Frank Duncan to flanker Lonnie Crittenden.

Arizona built up a 21-3 first half lead by taking the opening kickoff for a score.

NOISE POLLUTION is just one of the ways our modern society has found to keep our nerves on edge. Researchers are now saying that excessive noise has a great deal to do with health, fatigue, and frazzled tempers.

If you've lived in a house without carpeting, you've been exposed to some of this excessive noise. Sound bounces off exposed floors and is increased. Whether it's a crying child or running footsteps, everything is magnified.

So just one of the easiest ways carpeting has in the home is its quiet beauty. Carpeting, especially installed over the proper padding, muffles all sounds, from footstep to shouts. Many sounds, like dropped toys, disappear completely on carpeting. Others are toned down.

Carpeting has other quiet ways to make us feel more relaxed, more comfortable. The softness underfoot, the appealing color and texture, work. Its psychological wonders. So surround yourself with peace and quiet — with carpeting!

Right now you can have a deep, sound muffling, velvety plush nylon carpet installed in your home from our collection of captivating colors, for a square yard price you won't believe. Come in... compare. You can't buy better!

Utes knock A-State from unbeaten list

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Utah quarterback Don Van Galder, working with 10 turnovers forced by the Ute defense, ran for two touchdowns and passed for two more Saturday in a 30-24 upset of fifth-ranked and previously undefeated Arizona State.

The Western Athletic Conference win for Utah ended the Sun Devils' 12-game winning streak. Until Saturday's slumber, Arizona State had had the longest winning streak in college football.

Van Galder's final touchdown came on a nine-yard pass to flanker Steve Olson and capped a 95-yard drive.

The Ute defense held Arizona

State four-straight times with the Sun Devils on first-and-four and the score 30-24, limiting Arizona State to a one-yard loss in four efforts and gave Van Galder the ball for the final touchdown drive.

The quarter quarterback went to Olson three times in the final drive for a total of 30 yards and the winning TD.

The Utes picked up seven of the Arizona State turnovers in the first half to take a 30-10 lead. But the Sun Devils came back with two touchdowns by fullback Woody Green to narrow the Ute lead to 30-24.

Green scored on a 12-yard pass from Danny White and on a one-yard run with 26 seconds left in the third quarter.

The Utes got only one first down in the third quarter when Van Galder suffered a loss of vision after being hit by a Sun Devil defenseman just as the half ended. He sat out the third quarter and Utah went to Lou Onofrio, the second-string signal caller.

With Van Galder back in the fourth quarter, the Ute defense produced three more turnovers and a punt line stand to halt Arizona State.

Utah came back with a 65-yard scoring drive and entered the final minutes of the game with a comfortable 30-24 lead.

But White hit Greg Hudson with a 51-yard scoring pass as the gun sounded to cut the losing margin.

White went into the game as the nation's total offense leader and passed for 301 yards and the two touchdowns.

But the Utah defense picked off four of his passes and recovered six of the Sun Devils' eight fumbles.

The Homecoming win gives the Utes a 5-3 record and a 3-1 WAC mark. Arizona State is now 7-1 overall and 3-1 in the WAC, tied with Utah for second place behind Arizona.

From all angles

By Larry Hovey

More than one college representative and a lot of high school coaches have made a special point about the current football season.

Basically it goes that Idaho has fewer good high school football teams than usual but probably a bumper crop of outstanding individuals. In fact, some are comparing the potential major college caliber of this season to the vintage crop of 1962-63. And that isn't shabby because several of those youngsters got into the pro-ranks at least for a cup of coffee or two.

What the footballers are talking about are the "big numbers," the ones who look like they could play anywhere.

This is by no means a full list and not intended to give you more than an idea of the large number around. But here goes.

They are saying that Ernie Hughes of Capital might be the best middle linebacker who ever played in the SIC. He's about 6-2 and 215 pounds and runs at fullback when he isn't carrying one of the other guy's ball carriers. Also at Capital is Willy Bennett, about 6-4, built with great hands, good blocking ability and good speed.

They are saying that Mike Falash, currently the Highland signal-caller and son of ex-Twin Falls and Idaho "stickout" football-basketball player Bob Falash, is the best quarterback the state has produced. Mike is about 6-2, 165 and last year ran the 100-yard dash in 10.2. Throws it a mile.

Closer to home, they've put a can't miss label on Brent Watson, who started two years at Buhl and this year at Twin Falls. He's 6-4 and goes 240 and has hit five-flat in the 40-yard dash.

Minico's Ritchie Donner is drawing several looks both as a possible passer and a running back. He's 5-11 and 175 or thereabouts. Burley's contribution is Fletcher, a 6-2, 180-pound end who catches the ball pretty good but is regarded foremost as a defensive player.

Skyline has quick Gary Moss, not a real big one but a real fast one. Moss is the defending SIC punt and kickoff return champion and this year is threatening to break all SIC passing records in number of catches, yards gained and touchdowns scored.

There are some other linemen around whose names we can't recall.

But we'll tell you something else. At a recent Bruin Booster meeting, the Twin Falls line was asked to comment on the caliber of teams and individuals they've played this year. The two that got the majority of nods were Juniors, Norm Cochrane of Jerome and a junior tackle from Borah.

That gives the recruiters something to start on next year.

You know that the University of Idaho Vandals were hoping to kinda sneak up on University of Washington next week. There are a lot of Idahoans around who remember that Coach Steve Musseau did but proclaimed the Huskies dead in that grid opener several years ago — but the Huskies proved him wrong. In the hotel where the Vandals were staying, the management, with a little more than a little tongue in cheek, had a sign waving in the lobby "Coach Musseau, please take it easy on our Huskies."

It's all part of the pro-gamesmanship that supposedly sets the emotional pitch.

Well, anyhow, Idaho was hoping to come into Seattle with a hang-dog expression and a losing record — which it still can do. However, the University of Washington students miffed with the ineptness of their Huskies in the season thus far, have announced they will cheer for the Vandals at next week's game. The campus supposedly will be decorated with "Go Vandal!" and "Win Idaho!" signs.

None of which is calculated to endear the Vandals to the Huskies Saturday afternoon.

Still, lose or tie, Idaho will come back with a check for about $50,000 and that's what scheduling Washington is all about now.

for seventh in row

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Fluid-running Kermit Johnson scored two touchdowns, one of them on a 57-yard sprint early in the second half Saturday, as ninth-ranked UCLA reeled off its seventh straight victory by battering Washington's hapless Huskies 62-13.

Freshmen Wendall Tyler, a reserve halfback in the powerful and deep Bruins' wishbone, scored three touchdowns in the final quarter on runs of four, five and nine yards.

Johnson, the Bruins' all-time career rushing leader, tallied on a one-yard carry in the second period and then dazzled the Huskies' defense with his 57-yard sideline romp with only 6:01 on the third quarter.

For Johnson, UCLA's Heisman Trophy candidate, the scores were his 11th and 12th of the season and 20th and 21st of his Bruin career.

Improving his season's record to 7-1 and the Pacific-8 mark to 4-0, UCLA beat Washington, now 1-7 for the season and 0-5 in the conference, for the first time in four years.

Efren Herrera, a native of Guadalajara, Mexico, and UCLA's senior placekicking ace, converted on eight of the Bruins' nine touchdowns to move past Joe Fleming and become the school's No. 2 all-time scorer with 175 points. Only Gary Beban with 214 points is in front of Herrera.

Sophomore Chris Rowland replaced starter Danny Fitzpatrick as Washington's quarterback after Fitzpatrick suffered cracked ribs on the fourth play of the second quarter and threw two touchdown passes. However, he also was intercepted five times, two by cornerback John Nanoski.

Receiving record set by BYU end

PROVO, Utah (UPI) — Brigham Young wide receiver Jay Miller caught an NCAA single-game record 22 passes and scored three touchdowns Saturday in the Cougars' 56-21 victory over New Mexico in the Western Athletic Conference.

Miller, a sophomore, went into the game leading the nation in pass receptions. He picked up 263 more yards in catches Saturday to break the BYU single-game record.

Gary Sheide directed the BYU offense, passing for 408 yards on 32 completions including three TD passes to fullback Wayne Bower. Sheide flipped six touchdowns passes to tie a WAC record.

Sheide also scored on a one-yard plunge in the final quarter to have a hand in all of BYU's TDs.

Sheide and Miller went right to work in the first quarter as BYU moved 80 yards in eight plays with Sheide passing the final 33 yards to Miller. After Dave Atkinson intercepted a Don Woods pass, BYU moved 29 yards for their next score with Sheide passing 13 yards to Bower.

LSU shreds Mississippi 51-14

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Quarterback Mike Miley passed for one touchdown and ran for another Saturday as unbeaten, seventh-ranked Louisiana State devastated Dixie rival Mississippi 51-14 in a nationally televised battle.

The Bengals kept the Ole Miss defense off balance all afternoon with a stable of powerful running backs, led by tailback Brad Davis, whose 13-yard touchdown run in the first quarter sent LSU winging into a lead it never lost.

LSU, aiming for a Thanksgiving showdown with Alabama, never let up against the fumbling Rebels. Joe Parker passed 78 yards to Norm Hodgins and Miley threw 10 yards to Brad Boyd for a 21-7 halftime lead.

Steve Rogers scored from the 10 and Lora Hinton went over from the one in third quarter Bengal tallies. Then LSU blew Ole Miss right out of the stadium with two more touchdowns and a 48-yard field goal by Juan Roca in the fourth period. Miley ran five yards for one touchdown and Jimmy Clayton hit Ben Jones on a five-yard pass for the other.

Late Stanford field goal beats Beavers

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI) — Rod Garcia, whose field goal beat Michigan in the 1971 Rose Bowl, kicked a 30-yard field goal with 4:19 left Saturday to give Stanford a 21-20 victory over upstart Oregon State to keep the Cardinals' hopes alive in the Pacific-8 Conference.

Stanford had to come from behind twice on a rainy afternoon in the see-saw battle with the underdog Beavers, who lost their seven game in eight starts. The Cards are 5-3 on the season and 3-1 in the Pac-8 race.

What was touted as a battle of passers turned into a contest of kickers when Oregon State's Rick Kulaas had three field goals and his third early in the fourth period gave Oregon State a 23-21 lead.

Talented Mike Boryla, Stanford quarterback, had two touchdown passes, but generally had an off-day in the victory.

Oregon State moved in front of Stanford 6-3 on Kulaas' second field goal from 31 yards in the first quarter. Garcia hit his first field goal from 22 yards out with just seven minutes left in the first period.

Oregon State quarterback Alvin White, who went to OSU instead of Stanford because he would have had to red-shirt behind Boryla, moved the Beavers 60 yards in four plays and a 13-3 lead in Dick Mauer's three yard touchdown run and Kulaas' conversion kick.

Wyoming falls to Utah State

LOGAN, Utah (UPI) — Utah State safety Bob Fuhrman picked off two Wyoming passes, running one 44 yards for a touchdown and grabbing the second in the end zone as the final gun sounded in the Aggies' 31-20 win over Wyoming Saturday.

Fuhrman's first interception came in the fourth quarter, when Wyoming had pulled ahead for the only time in the game and seemed to have the momentum to keep going.

But Fuhrman's score put the Aggies back on top, and his last-second interception in the end zone put an end to Wyoming's chances of getting back in the game.

Utah State jumped to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter of its homecoming game on a six-yard run by fullback Jerry Cox and a 49-yard bootleg run by quarterback Tom Wilson.

Davis-led Trojans rout Cal by 50-14

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Anthony Davis, held to 55 yards a week ago in Southern California's only loss, ran for five touchdowns Saturday in leading the favored Trojans to a 50-14 rout of California.

Davis rushed for 106 yards in 20 carries and running mate Rod McNeill added 164 in 24 carries as the Trojans improved their Pacific-8 Conference record to 4-0 and remained in a tie for first with cross-town rival UCLA.

California now is 2-3 in Pac-8 play and 3-5 overall.

Davis' touchdowns came on runs of six, 16, 20 and one yard and he ran back a kickoff 80 yards for a TD on the final play of the game as Southern California chalked up its sixth victory against one loss and a tie.

Quarterback Pat Haden threw 16 yards to J.D. McKay and Allen Carter ran seven yards for two of the Trojans' other scores.

Chuck Muncie ran four and one yards for California's two touchdowns. Muncie's first score came with 2:19 left in the third quarter and left California only 14 points behind the Trojans. But USC exploded for three scores in the fourth quarter to make it a rout.

WSU drops Oregon on late drive

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI) — Quarterback Charlie Peck guided Washington State in a 30-yard touchdown drive through driving snow in the final minutes to beat Oregon, 21-14, Saturday and all but destroy the Ducks' slim Rose Bowl hopes.

The Cougars trailed by one point late in the game when defensive back Joe Daniels fell on an Oregon fumble at midfield. Peck then took the Cougars to the end zone in 10 plays with running back Andrew Jones scrambling the last three yards for the score with 75 seconds left.

The loss evened the Ducks Pac-8 record at 2-2. The Cougars picked up their first conference victory against three losses.

Bostron and Harder spark Bruin win over Meridian

MERIDIAN — Sparkling touchdown runs by Mike Bostron and Mel Harder were backed by a surprisingly tough defense Friday night when the Twin Falls Bruins dropped the Meridian Warriors 30-7.

The Bruins, down to a 3-5 record and believed in bad trouble with the dismissal of eight players earlier in the week for disciplinary reasons, came up with perhaps its best defense of the season.

Meridian went rapidly to a touchdown to open the game but after that Twin Falls held them well. In the second half the Warriors managed only 15 yards on the ground and just two first downs.

Meridian's points came on the kickoff. The Warriors marched 64 yards in big chunks, beating the Bruin defense badly around end. Big Dave Bortch ended it with a 10-yard run and took an 11-point after.

Jerome tops Burley for share of Cross State league crown

BURLEY — The Jerome Tigers exploded for 200 yards and 22 points in the first half Friday night to drop the Burley Bobcats 28-8 and claim a share of their third straight Cross State — Conference Championship.

The Tigers, who pulled out of a midseason swoon to claim a 6-1 record, share the title with Burley.

Kelly ran for the two-pointer. Later in the first quarter Camp scored again on a nine-yard burst and Kelly added the extra points.

But Twin Falls then came back with a grinding march that covered 60 yards and took up much of the first quarter. The Bruins showed a preference for passing, and Rod Shaffer hit a couple of timely ones to keep it alive and set up Harder's one-yard drive. Rod Finlayson tied it with the first of two points after.

Wood River blanks Indians in finale

HAILEY — The Wood River Wolverines broke away from a tight 7-0 halftime head to roll past the Shoshone Indians 34-0 Friday afternoon in the season finale for both clubs.

Shoshone was stymied on the ground most of the afternoon by Wood River's defense but the Indians did pick up some overhead yardage. However, three pass interceptions, one returned for a touchdown, killed the Indians' hopes there.

bolit by Randy Collier. Minutes later, Wayne Smith scored the first touchdown of his career in his last game, by buling in from the four-yard line.

Jerome's defense then moved it out of reach when Brad Diehl intercepted a Burley pass and returned it 22 yards to wind up scoring.

Boise grabs 13-8 victory over Minico

RUPERT — The Boise Braves, frustrated by fumbles and interceptions throughout a dominating second quarter, exploded for two quick third period touchdowns Friday afternoon and defeated the Minico Spartans 13-8.

Minico's next punt went to the 42 and Sam Miller went on two rollouts that carried to the Minico 12 before Boise fumbled that chance away. After another Minico punt Boise got close enough for another field goal attempt but it strayed two feet to the left.

Bill Hartley for 26 yards and Jack Baldwin converted to make it 13-0.

Richfield's passing beats Bliss 40-14

BLISS — The Richfield Tigers turned loose a series of scoring passes to defeat the Bliss Bears 40-14 Friday afternoon and wind up the season for both clubs.

Richfield's final touchdown came on a one-yard plunge by Holland with Brown passing to Phil Aja for the conversion.

MURTAUGH — The Murtaugh Red Devils tuned up for their Thursday playoff in the minidome with an effortless 48-7 decision over undermanned North Gem Cowboys Friday night.

Air Force was held to a 10-10 halftime tie as at three-yard touchdown by Haynie and a 48-yard field goal by Dave Lawson were matched by a one-yard scoring dive by Army quarterback Kingsley Fink and a 27-yard Jim Barclay field goal.

The Braves pretty well contained Minico excepting one early drive, which ended in a fumble, and one late one which got the Spartans' score. But Minico also contributed to its woes by fumbling the ball seven times in the first half. It lost possession only twice, but yardage on all.

Boise similarly had fumble trouble and in the second quarter saw four bids inside the Minico 15-yard line end unprofitably.

Jaimie Anderson took scoring passes of 73 (from Mike Robinson) and 13 yards (from David Brown) to send the Tigers ahead and late in the second quarter Brown hit Kent Piper with another 50-yard bomb. Brown threw to Gaylen Edwards to a two-pointer that made it 20-0 at halftime.

Jay Tenker's 27-yard spring, followed by Quigley's two-point play, wound up Bliss's scoring.

After a scoreless third quarter, Perkins narrowed the game to 27-12 with a one-yard drive. But Murtaugh rebounded immediately on a 19-yard jaunt by Dille. Steve Stamer and Scott Perkins combined on a 20-yard scoring pass play and on the last play of the game a Sanger to Dille screen clicked for 40 yards and the final points.

Lawson added a 29-yard three-pointer in the fourth quarter and defensive end Paul Dehart ran 32 yards with an interception for the Falcons' final score.

Minico took the opening kickoff and drove well, a pass to Pat Warburton getting the most yards. But the fumble struck at third and two at the Boise 18. The Braves immediately replied with a drive to the Minico 13 but that ended in a missed field goal.

From that point on, Minico had its back against its goal line. The Spartans fumbled near midfield trying to get out and Boise quickly marched to the 10-yard line. Spartan Dean Harding killed that on a pass interception but Minico had to punt out, getting the ball to the 37. John Hawk broke a long run to the Spartan 11 but a bad pitchout was recovered by Minico at the 20.

Sooners rally by Iowa State 34-17

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI)—Halfback Joe Washington rushed for 136 yards and scored two touchdowns for third-ranked Oklahoma Saturday in a 34-17 come-from-behind victory over Iowa State in a Big Eight Conference game.

With 45 seconds left in the half, quarterback Steve Davis hurled a 68-yard touchdown pass to split end Billy Brooks to put the Sooners in the lead 20-17 at intermission.

After a scoreless third quarter, Perkins narrowed the game to 27-12 with a one-yard drive. But Murtaugh rebounded immediately on a 19-yard jaunt by Dille. Steve Stamer and Scott Perkins combined on a 20-yard scoring pass play and on the last play of the game a Sanger to Dille screen clicked for 40 yards and the final points.

It was a tough day for Fink, ranked as one of the nation's top 20 passers. His first five passes went incomplete, but then he hit the next night in a row, including four for 55 yards to set up his touchdown.

On their first possession, the Sooners drove 57 yards in three plays, capped by Washington's 30-yard scoring jaunt, to give indications another rout might be in the making.

Tight end Wayne Hoffman caught a five-yard touchdown pass from Davis at the close of the third quarter.

Wendell tips Pilots for Little 5 crown

GLENN'S FERRY — The Wendell Trojans grabbed the Little Five Conference championship Friday night by beating Glenn's Ferry 13-0 on two first-quarter touchdowns.

Late Kimberly TDs beat Castleford

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly Bulldogs struck for two touchdowns in the closing four minutes to break open an airtight game and drop the Castleford Wolves 32-20 Friday night.

Kimberly drew first blood when Mid-Tandy capped a drive with a short run and Rick Garner added the two-pointer. Castleford bounced eight back on a 45-yard touchdown pass play between Dave Wiggins and Alan Schultz. Just before the first quarter ended, Jandy again punched in for Kimberly and Garner converted to make it 10-0.

Unbeaten Buckeyes whip Illinois 30-0

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — Quarterback Cornelius Greene scored two fourth quarter touchdowns after Illinois errors to lead No. 1 ranked and unbeaten Ohio State to a 30-0 Big Ten victory Saturday.

The win left OSU tied for the Big Ten lead with fourth-rated Michigan. Both have 5-0 records. The Illini, tied for the conference lead going into the game, dropped to 4-1 in the Big Ten.

Illinois, this year's Cinderella team in the conference, was trailing OSU 10-0 when Illini halfback Jim Phillips fumbled at his own 16-yard line on the first play of the fourth quarter.

The Buckeyes recovered and two plays later Greene ran seven yards for a touchdown. On Illinois' next play from scrimmage, quarterback Jeff Hollenbach's pass was intercepted by OSU linebacker Randy Gradisher at the Illinois 31.

Vols' late gamble lets Georgia win

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Thrice-beaten Georgia, given a big break when Tennessee fumbled and lost on its own 26, scored on an eight-yard dash by quarterback Andy Johnson with 1:09 left in the game Saturday to upset the 11th-ranked Vols 25-31.

Tennessee, ahead 31-28, faked a punt on fourth and two with 2:27 left in the game. The ball was snapped short to fullback Steve Chancey, who was dropped for a two-yard loss.

The Vols, losers only to Alabama in seven previous games, trailed 21-14 at the half but roared back for 17 points in the third quarter to apparently take command. Haskel Stanback's one-yard blast with 51 seconds remaining in the third period put Tennessee in front 31-21.

Leaks sets mark as Texas batters SMU

DALLAS (UPI) — An overpowering, Southwest Conference record-setting 342-yard rushing performance by bullish fullback Roosevelt Leaks revived the frustrated 14th-ranked Texas Longhorns to a runaway 42-14 victory over Southern Methodist Saturday.

Leaks came within eight yards of setting an NCAA one-day rushing record and finished his afternoon with a 53-yard touchdown bolt up the center of the SMU defense.

Texas had turned the ball over five times in enemy territory and was twice stopped at the Mustang one-yard line on fourth down, and thanks to two long distance SMU touchdowns in the second quarter found itself trailing at the half, 14-0.

But the startling, relentless performance by Leaks in the second half, combined with an interception by the Longhorns' Terry Molanop just as SMU was threatening to take a three-touchdown lead, and a 95-yard punt return by Jimmy Moore turned a potential upset into a Longhorn romp that kept them atop the Southwest Conference entertain Middleton in the third-fourth district A-3 playoff. Both games will start at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 12.

Tracy Scott started the victory surge in the early going when he rambled 71 yards on a punt return.

Just minutes later Glenn's Ferry fumbled the ball away at its own three-yard line, setting up a one-yard sneak, by quarterback Kent Sisson. Matt Bunn tacked on one extra point.

Glenn's Ferry's best drive ended in a fumble inside the Wendell three-yard line and that doomed the story of the game. The Pilots lost five fumbles during the night.

The defeat dropped Glenn's Ferry out of playoff consideration for the third straight year, the Pilots dropping to one play, one-half game behind Valley.

Notre Dame Gooding blanks MH to ice title share

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Unbeaten Notre Dame split its touchdowns six ways Saturday to coast to a 44-7 triumph over Navy, protecting its No. 5 national ranking with its seventh win of the season.

Coach Ara Parseghian yanked his first offensive unit from the game with 8:21 to play in the third period after the Irish had earned a 20-0 lead. He pulled his defensive unit from the game with 12:00 left to play.

Thereafter, it was a series of repeated mistakes by both teams. For instance in the second half Notre Dame had possession 11 times, scored four times, punted once and lost the ball six times on seven fumbles.

To make up for this generosity by the Fighting Irish, Navy gave up the ball on its own 49 on a pass interception by Greg Collins, setting up a one-yard touchdown run by Tom Clements.

Another Notre Dame score came on a seven-yard run by Al Samuel after Navy's fumble was recovered by Reggie Barnett on the Navy 30.

Mich. St. shuts out Wisconsin

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Junior tailback David Brown scored three touchdowns Saturday, one on Michigan State's first scoring pass of the season, as the Spartans rolled past Wisconsin 21-0 in a Big Ten game.

Brown scored his first two TDs in the first half, one in each quarter, on runs of 11 and three yards.

On his first play, he gathered in a seven-yard scoring pass from backup quarterback Tyrone Williamson, who replaced the injured starter, Charlie Baggett.

Widnell was injured on the final play of the first quarter when he suffered torn knee ligaments when he was knocked out of bounds at the end of a 19-yard run.

Though Brown picked up 80 yards on the ground in the first half, he did not enter the game in the second half until one minute before the end of the third quarter.

Buhl topples Filer 28-6 for eighth victory

BUHL — The Buhl Indians romped to their eighth victory in 10 starts Friday afternoon in dropping the Filer Wildcats 28-6 in a traditional west-end rivalry.

It was a final tuneup for the Indians, who will play the second place team from the fifth district in a doubleheader at the mindrome Saturday afternoon.

Buhl's defense took control of the game early and Filer couldn't muster a scoring punch until the Indians had all their points on the board.

Rick Lauda gave the Indians a big chance when he returned the opening kickoff to the Filer 26-yard line. But a few plays later Filer killed that on a pass interception.

But minutes later Buhl came driving back downfield and Gail Polson shoved the Wildcats behind on a two-yard burst. Scott Walden booted the first of two conversions.

Early in the second quarter Lauda capped another Indians drive by diving for the last yard and on the final play of the half Ron Folkings hits Pat Hamilton with a 25-yard scoring strike.

Paul E. Ostyn, executive secretary of the Idaho Interscholastic Activities Association, will define the new rule changes and modifications. Coaches attending are asked to bring their schedules to facilitate assigning of officials.

Gooding blanks MH to ice title share

GOODING — The Gooding Senators capped one of the all-time weird seasons Friday night by shutting out the Mountain Home Tigers 12-0 and claiming a share of the South Central Idaho Conference title and the playoff berth that goes with it.

Immediately after the game, Gooding won the flip with co-champion Buhl and will play the feature game of the fourth-district A-2 playoff in the mindrome at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Buhl will play at noon. In this miracle year, Gooding wound up 4-5 and won only one non-league game. In league, it lost only to Buhl.

Gooding's defense, battling off three strong Mountain Home bids, provided the springboard for victory Friday night as pass interceptions led to touchdowns. But until the final eight minutes, Mountain Home, playing without its top two ground gainers, had the best of it.

But Larry Patterson returned an interception from his own one-yard line to the Tigers 46 and Don Bellamy capped the ensuing drive on a five-yard pitchout.

Patterson's next interception stopped Mountain Home, but led to no points. However, Todd Mink then stole a third Mountain Home aerial, returning it to the Tiger five and this time Bellamy capitalized on it.

Mountain Home had the first chance, Gooding fumbling the first punt of the game. That led to a first down at the Gooding 11 before a fumble killed that. Late in the second period Gooding's defense met a stiffer challenge.

A Senator fumble set Mountain Home up on the 10-yard line but four plays later Gooding took possession at the two and ran the last minute off the clock.

Late in the third period, Gooding, kicking from its end, gave up possession on its own 27 and Mountain Home immediately came th first down at the 11. Patterson made his key interception there and came within an eyelash of breaking the return all the way. Gooding then put together its first three consecutive first downs and on fourth and five Bellamy went in on the pitchout. The two Gooding interceptions followed as Mountain Home went into a shotgun formation. Bellamy's second score, following Mink's interception, came with 3:46 remaining.

Kentucky ends Tulane win skein

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Sophomore Sonny Collins, leading ground gainer in the Southeastern Conference, scored three touchdowns on one yard runs and surpassed the 1,000-yard season rushing mark Saturday to power the surprising Kentucky Wildcats to a 34-7 upset over previously unbeaten Tulane.

Kentucky dominated the contest to such an extent that 130-ranked Tulane never crossed mid-field until the end of the third period.

The victory leveled Kentucky's record at 4-4, the first time in eight years that the Wildcats have achieved as many as four wins in one season.

Tulane, being scouted here by representatives of the Sugar and Liberty bowls, suffered its first loss after six victories.

Spurred on by a homecoming crowd of 49,300, Collins shredded the Tulane defense for 176 yards in 26 carries and tipped off a 63-yard scamper in Kentucky's final 65-yard scoring drive to set up his third touchdown.

In a portent of things to come, Kentucky recovered a Tulane fumble by Wyatt Washington on the opening kickoff of the game and scored four plays later on a 27-yard field goal by Ron Steele, who had shaken the ball loose and recovered the fumble.

A nine-yard punt by Tulane's Howard McNeill led to Collins' first touchdown, capping a 33-yard drive at 5:51 of the opening period.

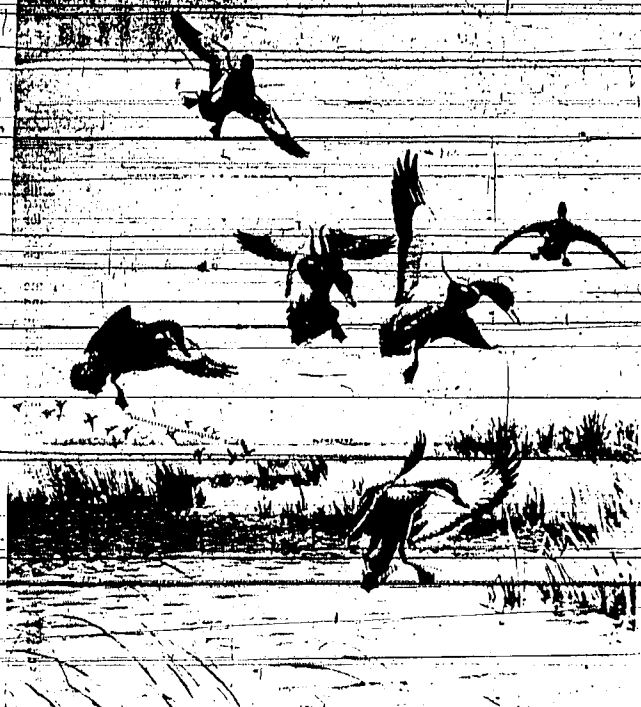

Quarterback Mike Parnazzi, whose deft handling of the option play earned him most valuable player honors in the name, clinched a 60-yard march with a one-yard keeper to send the Wildcats ahead 17-0.

Painting, shotgun auction to feature Ducks Unlimited fete

The third annual Magic Valley Ducks Unlimited banquet will be held Nov. 15 at the Turf Club, announces Paul Beck, event chairman.

The banquet, which will feature door prizes, a Ducks Unlimited film, an auction of a special duck painting plus the special edition Remington 12-gauge pump, will open with a social hour from 6:30 to 8 p.m. The banquet will be served at 8 p.m.

Beck noted the group is restricted to 250 persons. The $20 banquet fee includes a year's membership in Ducks Unlimited.

This year's lithographed auction painting is the "Marshlanders Mallards," painted by Maynard Reece, Des Moines, Ia. Reece, who had designed a record five duck stamps, is DU's artist of the 1973-74 year.

The print, of which only 600, each numbered and personally inspected and signed by the artist, is 17 by 23 inches on high quality paper.

The Remington shotgun will be part of a special edition of the model 1100 autoloader, commemorating the completion of DU's 1100th habitat project.

All are 12-gauge with 30-inch barrel and ventilated rib. On the left side of the receiver is the official DU crest centered in gold scroll work. The one on auction at the Magic Valley banquet will be one of 600 special run presentation models. These are serially numbered DU-1 through DU-500 and feature high quality "B" grade American walnut stock and fore end and a fold-plated trigger and scroll work. Each comes in a hard case.

Beck noted the evening should be special enough to warrant the full support of all Magic Valley hunters. But he added the festivities will be only a small portion of the satisfaction they should receive from supporting DU.

He said the non-profit conservation group is now in its 35th year, of preserving, maintaining and creating wetlands for brood purposes in Canada, where 70 per cent of the continent's migratory waterfowl originate. It has raised over $30 million, constructed over 1100 water control projects, which encompass nearly two-million water acres and 9,541 miles of shoreline.

Mississippi Southern tips Weber

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (UPI) — Southern Mississippi turned a fumble and a pass interception into scores Saturday as the Golden Eagles romped to a 28-7 homecoming victory over Weber State.

Fullback Wilson Plunkett blasted over from the three-yard line for Southern's first touchdown after the Eagles had recovered a fumble by fullback Brian Gladwell on the Wildcats' 28.

Sophomore defensive back Morris Thomas picked off a pass by Wildcat quarterback Blain Church and dashed 40 yards for another touchdown. Other scores came on a four-yard run by fullback Carlos Montgomery to cap a 79-yard drive and a 17-yard pass from quarterback Jeff Bower to split end Barry Gibson.

Texas Tech rolls past Rice 19-6

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Fullbacks James Mosley and John Garner scored one touchdown each to pace the 17th-ranked Texas Tech Red Raiders past the Rice Owls 19-6 Saturday in a Southwest Conference battle.

Mosley dashed around left end for 12 yards and Garner blasted for the middle for two yards for the scores. Don Griggs added a 29-yard field goal, quarterback Joe Barnes ran a two-point conversion and defensive tackle Ecomet Burley blocked a final period Rice punt out of the end zone for a safety for the rest of the Red Raider scoring.

Rice, stymied by the Tech defense until the final eight minutes of the game, scored its first touchdown against the Raiders in four years when quarterback Tommy Kramer kept around right end for the final five yards of a 68-yard drive.

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Although the early part of the day brings an unwelcome awareness of true conditions, you have an opportunity later to see more clearly than you have in the recent past. You can then gain your cherished desires.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You may get a disturbing communication today, but quietly get in touch with right persons and all is well. Don't panic. Be more thoughtful.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) First get a matter cleared up with an associate and then go after your personal aims. Go to a social affair and make new friends.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Provided you have your facts straight you can meet with a bigwig and get the backing you want. Evening is for entertaining friends.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have an opportunity to get out of a ratty situation in which you find yourself. Get the data you need from a newcomer.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have fine ideas now that can be whittled down to a workable level. Plan just how to handle financial matters better in the future.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Entertain associates who have been good to you. You can come to a better understanding with close ties. Make this a productive day.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are able to improve conditions around you at this time. Rearrange your wardrobe. Take health treatments. Keep cool tonight.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) There can be much happiness in store for you today if you go after recreational activities that really appeal to you.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try to please those at home and get rid of whatever displeases them. Find new appliances that make abode more efficient-running.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Ideal day for attending the services of your choice. Reading fine books can elevate your consciousness. Engage in favorite hobby.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan just how to make your home more challenging and comfortable. Find the most practical methods to build up present income.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You find it difficult to get what you want in the morning but later all works to your benefit. Attend social gathering in afternoon.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those highly intuitive young people who can be helpful to parents. There is much compassion in this nature and your progeny will bend over backwards to help others. Any occupation of a research nature is especially fine here. Give religious training early in life.

Merry Pet

Linda Merry, DVM

Question: What do you do with a pet you can't pet? My son bought a baby skunk from a pet shop (it was quite expensive). It had been descended but it still has teeth and it bites anyone who even touches it.

The only one-to-profit is the pet store, — and what a price both you and the skunk have paid!

If you have a question about your pet, send it to The Merry Pet column in care of the Times-News.

We thought maybe with enough love and attention it would outgrow this but it hasn't and it is almost 6-months old. The pet shop refused to take it back, we can't give it to anyone else this way, we don't have a zoo in our town, we can't let it go because it can't protect itself.

We hate to have it put to sleep but we may have to unless something can be done with it. Please, do you have any suggestions?

Answer: Nothing constructive. He may indeed have to be put to sleep — as many many wild animals are every year.

I agree with anyone who says that skunks are cunning, roly-poly guys with a fine sense of humor and a lot of zest for good food, night life and sleeping in.

Unfortunately, they also tend to have unpredictable tempers, expensive life-styles (requiring special food, supplements, both cat and dog distemper vaccinations, etc.), AND they are the prime carriers of a social disease — rabies.

Reports in 1970 showed that for the 10th consecutive year skunks were the animals most frequently reported with rabies, accounting for 38 per cent of all animal cases and 48 per cent of all wildlife cases.

Skunk rabies has increased while dog rabies has decreased in the U. S. since 1955, probably due to development of improved dog vaccines.

Now to case histories... During the 5-year period 1963 through 1967, rabies was confirmed in 10 pet skunks in Illinois. As a result of exposure to these pet skunks, 14 persons were given antirabies treatments.

In 1970, an Illinois couple were severely bitten by the pet skunk which they had kept in their city apartment for about 6 months. The skunk was given to them when it was very young.

Rabies was confirmed on laboratory exam, and antirabies treatment given to both persons.

Also in 1970, officials in Oregon and Washington reported that a pet skunk which bit its owner was laboratory positive. This skunk was 1 of 70 sold to pet stores in Oregon and Washington.

A total of 15 persons were given antirabies treatment as a result of contact with them.

Because of incidents like these, officials in several states have placed restrictions on keeping skunks as pets. California prohibits sale or export of skunk as pets; Illinois prohibits sale of skunks as pets by persons licensed under its Pet Shop and Dog Dealer Licensing Act; Indiana prohibits descending of skunks and Idaho and Washington prohibit the importation of skunks without a written permit from the director of agriculture or state fish and game department.

In view of the growing threat skunks pose to people, the American Veterinary Medical Association has urged its members not to descent skunks, to tell prospective owners of the danger they present, and to urge legal action to prohibit sale of skunks as pets.

While the skunks cause pain, sorrow and danger to people, the selling of these creatures more often results in death for the skunk. They become the unwanted sort of flossam' yours is, with no place to go except Skunk Hollow.

Class sees rocketry

RICHFIELD — The Richfield High School football field was the scene of a rocketry demonstration recently.

The demonstration was performed by the advanced math and physical science classes and was sponsored by the Aero-Tronics Rocketry Shop at Twin Falls. The subject is of state-wide interest because rockets are now considered fireworks which is illegal in Idaho. A bill is before the state legislature to separate rockets from fireworks making them legal to operate.

$800 raised

TWIN FALLS — Annual peanut brittle sale of the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club resulted in a profit of about $800 for use in the youth project fund. Club Treasurer Claude Brown, Jr., told members Thursday that the response from residents was "very good." The money is used for special projects including the dental program providing corrective care for youngsters whose parents are unable to pay.

Richard Wheeler was inducted as a member. The program was provided by Bart E. Queanell and Ed Collins, sponsor of a new artist magazine for Magic Valley.

TF judge lists sentence

TWIN FALLS — A 19-year-old Twin Falls youth who waived his right to enter court under the Youth Rehabilitation Act was committed to the Idaho Board of Corrections for 120 days.

Tommy Edward Livingston, 17, was charged with grand larceny in the theft of $500 July 3 from Jordan's Market in Filer. He pleaded guilty in Fifth District Court and elected to be treated as an adult rather than a juvenile.

Judge James Cunningham sentenced him to the state prison for 120 days and "retained jurisdiction" during the sentence.

Edward Allen Reinkens, charged with one count of burglary and one count of grand larceny, pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Judge Cunningham to three years under commitment to the State Board of Corrections.

Charges involved the theft of a 1970 automobile owned by Dave Monroe and burglary of Mary's Union 76 service station by Buhl, owned by Marvin Bartlett.

John Anthony, 10, Twin Falls, charged with participating in the theft of beer from Jan's Lounge was placed on 18 months probation after pleading guilty to second degree burglary charges. He was also ordered by the court to repay a portion of the lounge for his share of the loss.

What You're Saying —

What do you see as major issues in next Tuesday's municipal elections?

Frank Echavarren, Kimberly: "I don't see any big problem in our election, but I haven't followed it too closely."

Karen Wood, Twin Falls: "Parking is one problem I've noticed in Twin Falls. It is a lot worse than it used to be. Also pay scale for women is low. But it is safer to live here than in a big city."

Lois Wolfe, Twin Falls: "I don't see any big issues and don't know for sure if I'll vote."

Rip Gerdes, Twin Falls: "One of the biggest things I see was the school bond election which was passed. Also the controversy over the canyon. I'd like to see it stay as it is, but I can see the value to others who live there."

Vance Petersen, Twin Falls: "I probably won't stay in Twin Falls much longer because the pay scale for my field (electronics) is so far below the national average. I read in your paper it is 16 per cent below the national average and I happen to know I could get 30 per cent more money in Boise. Twin Falls employers won't get skilled labor here because they aren't willing to pay for it, yet living costs are as high here as other places I've lived."

Joan Slevers, Twin Falls: "I haven't followed the election coverage enough to have any comment, but I plan to vote."

George Abraham

HORSES CLEANER THAN AUTOS: A whimsical engineer points out that if we were to return to horses and get rid of all the automobiles city street cleaners would have as big a job as every trying to keep streets clean.

New York City was estimated to have 120,000 horses around the turn of the century. Sanitary engineers estimate that these horses contributed over 1,300 tons of manure a day to the street environment.

Contraat this to a situation of modern day where a horse might be substituted for each auto and truck in the US. The environmental contribution arising from this situation would produce a staggering 10 million tons of manure a day.

The big question is: Which is better for our environment — the byproduct of horses or the byproduct of a car? We'll take the brown stuff sparrows squabble over in the road.

At least you can use horse manure to benefit a stubborn clay soil or a light sandy one. With 80 million gardeners in America alone, we shouldn't have any trouble getting rid of manure.

Dairymen make good use of their cow byproduct. A 1,400 pound cow produces about 10 tons of manure a year. U. S. livestock collectively produces more than a BILLION tons of manure annually. They put this byproduct to good use — on their land.

But the byproduct of automobiles (about 50 per cent of our air pollution comes from transportation) is harder to get rid of than horse manure. It kills our trees, scars our lungs, and if we don't halt it by 1985, the amount of sunlight reaching the earth will be reduced by one half!

Today air pollution shuts out 45 per cent of the sunlight over Los Angeles, and 25 per cent of it over New York City. An estimated 5 per cent is shut out over rural areas.

Conclusion: If we had less auto pollution and more horse manure, we'd all breathe a lot easier!

ONIONS OVER WINTER: Onions are hardy and can be left in the ground over winter. The large hamburger onions are lifted, and stored. Many gardeners sowed onion seeds in summer and will leave them in the ground all winter for spring "scallions."

Here's an idea for next spring: Plant onion seeds in April or May, then transplant when 4 or 5 inches tall, to about 4 inches apart. Give them lots of water. By September you'll have onions 2 to 3 inches across — from plants started from seed.

By the way, did you know that brassware polished with water in which onions have been boiled will remain sparkling and tarnish-free? Also, a hunter tells us that onion juice is great for cleaning the inside of a gun barrel.

VEGETABLES WITHOUT GARDENS: If you haven't a garden spot and want to grow winter squash try this trick next spring: "We sowed seed of Golden Delicious winter squash near our evergreen tree.

"As the vine grew we directed it toward the tree. The vine climbed up the tree and was loaded with beautiful bright orange squash. We recommend growing squash and pumpkins up an evergreen for folks who have no garden space.

"Incidentally, the Golden Delicious winter squash is a dandy. It was developed especially for baby food, and this special strain has a richer orange flesh color and higher vitamin C content than any other squash. The fruit is fairly large and pointed, bright orange outside and thick orange flesh inside. It is fine-grained and well-flavored, recommended for commercial processing, as well as home use."

GREEN THUMB NOTE: For our friends who want to raise grapes and don't want to build a fence or trellis for them to climb on, try this trick: Plant grape vines near the base of your shade tree and let the vines climb up. It works great for us.

COMPOST PILE: A reader writes: "We have practiced organic farming on our small garden for two years. Instead of an unsightly compost pile, we clear the garden and everything is buried. When the corn is harvested, the stalks are cut in 3 or 5 inch pieces, bean vines, etc. are chopped (run through a shredder) and buried.

"Tomato vines, beet tops, all peelings, melon rinds, bell pepper stalks, etc., are all put in a trench no more than a shovel deep. We dig a couple extra holes for winter and put an ornamental fence around to keep out animals.

"We think this is easier than taking care of a compost pile and our garden couldn't be neater. What is your opinion of this?"

Good way to use up the refuse. The trench is the only part to benefit, whereas material composted in a pile can be spread over the entire garden.

POISON IVY CURE: Fall is poison ivy time. Here's a good cure: "We have found that hydrogen peroxide — the regular 2 per cent solution obtainable at any drug store, when applied freely to poison ivy blisters, will dry them up very soon."

Another reader tells us that dry Fels Naphtha soap will also dry up the blisters. Does anyone else have other suggestions? Please send them along.

QUESTION BOX

C. F. of Hansen: "I was surprised to read that somebody wanted to know how to eradicate the beautiful violet from their lawn. It's a fair prediction to make that the violet will some day be the national flower of this great republic."

"Why? Because it is the only flower that is native to all 50 states. In addition, it is free to the people, is not malodorous in either flower or foliage, transmits no fevers, has no thorns, and is beautiful in structure and can be easily reproduced on coins, metal and architecture.

"In fact, this gracious plant has so many virtues we can't name them all!"

Green Thumb Note: The so-called "Johnny Jump-Up" or "wild violet" is a close relative of the sweet violet or florist's violet. It's highly aggressive and spreads by seeds and rootstocks. We don't mind them in our own lawn and also feel they are quite handsome.

Nothing bothers them and we enjoy their small flowers and let them grow.

Is It Sweet Charity Or Is It A Racket?

By LESTER KINSOLVING
(Inside Religion)

In 1968, the income of the Christian Childrens Fund, Inc. of Richmond, Va. (CCF) was $10 million.

By 1971, that income had more than doubled to $20,578,416.

This remarkable accomplishment had its beginning in advertising placed in church magazines. The ads show large photographs of adorable little girls placed just above such heart-rending captions as:

"HUNGER IS ALL SHE HAS EVER KNOWN"

As the income mounted over three years, these same appealing photographs of little girls began appearing on TV as well as in such purportedly respectable magazines as Time and Reader's Digest. The little girls now adorn highway billboards as well.

"Why do these ads always use little girls?" asked the Rev. Jerald Huntzinger, a Richmond Methodist minister.

His question was of course, rhetorical. For the Rev. Mr. Huntzinger, as advertising manager of CCF, knows full well why. And he says so, in a news-worthy article he wrote for Fund Raising Management magazine:

"Because the person most apt to become a CCF sponsor ($12 per month for a guarantee that your child will write to you) has a well-defined profile:

She is 50 years old, her family is grown up, she has a normal residue of guilt... Her happiest days were when her babies were in diapers — and now she is just plain lonesome...

Not all CCF's prospective sponsor are going to fit into an exact profile, but if every ad is slanted for this profile, the people on the fringe of this profile will be most apt to respond. Because, let's face it America, the problems of the woman in middle age are the problems of us all."

The handsome young minister also writes in his article (which is enthusiastically entitled "$25 MILLION YEAR IN OFFING AS ALL-MEDIA DRIVE SCORES") that: When anyone answers these CCF ads, his name goes into a computer, which provides an immediate, responding letter as well as a follow-up letter 30 days later, if there is no reply. Then the "regular cycle" of what Huntzinger describes as "Mailings professionally created to appear non-professional" includes six additional appeal letters.

"When a sponsor gets behind in giving, he receives a series of four computer-written collection letters — starting with a soft reminder and getting firmer as the series progresses... This 'collection' program generates enough back payments each year to more than pay for the entire cost of the data processing system."

"The technique is direct marketing... the income has now moved from arithmetic to geometric growth."

Besides the computer, advertising and administrative costs, there is a considerable expense involved in getting all those letters translated so that "your child will write to you."

This touching, but expensive technique has been resisted by such respected relief agencies as the American Friends Service Committee in Philadelphia as well as the Catholic Relief Services and the Church World Service (Protestant) in New York. These agencies, who keep their overhead at less than 10 per cent, can feed entire villages, promptly, because they do not have to spend time and money looking for photogenic children and translators of their letters.

But the Rev. Mr. Huntzinger's geometric gold mine of computerized children will probably continue to thrive. For the donors to CCF apparently prefer written appreciation from one child, as translated, to the unheralded satisfaction of feeding and clothing several children.

New Spain And Portugal Are Tourist Oriented

Garden of Royal Palace At Queluz

Court: Palace at Queluz

Cone-Chimneys At Sintra

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Editor, Times-News
ALGECIRAS, Spain — You look across the wide — and blue harbor and there is Gibraltar — The Rock.

You turn around and there is the beautiful and colorful boat anchorage and behind that, stark against the low-lying hills, the great new hotels stretch upward like so many extended fingers into the blue sky. (See cover picture).

Algeciras is typically Spain — but a new Spain which is tourist-oriented. Coming from Torremolinos in the heart of the Costa del Sol — the Miami beach of Spain — is a change to be noted but like most landlubbers from the United States we were drawn to the water — to the blue of the Mediterranean. The sandy beaches which stretch for miles along the Sea are overshadowed only by the scores of new hotels just built and building. Both the hotels and the beaches are filling with tourists from many lands.

But then after passing Gibraltar the mood changes as you head for the Atlantic side of Spain and inland to the ancient city of Sevilla — we spell it Seville. Here the old mingles with the new but the old dominates as church after church and building after building with ages dating back several hundred years, are numerous. Here, of course as we mentioned in the first of this two-part story, Christopher Columbus and Queen Isabella sleep the eternal sleep.

The trek over the stark hills of Spain — looking much like the dry hills of Idaho but without sagebrush — leads to Badajoz where customs is cleared to leave Spain and a few blocks further on cleared again to enter Portugal, the tiny nation clinging to the peninsula and looking out over the broad Atlantic.

At Lisboa (Lisbon) and Estoril the pulse of this awakening nation is felt. Lisboa the busy port and Estoril the busy beaches, and the gambling casinos — the Monte Carlo of Portugal.

And in Queluz the Royal Palace (see pictures on this page) is known as "Little Versaille" but although the similarity is there the Royal Palace is more spectacular than France's great building because the original furnishings dominate all the rooms. And tourists flock there for the trip. Likewise the grounds at the Palace and the great statues are never to be forgotten.

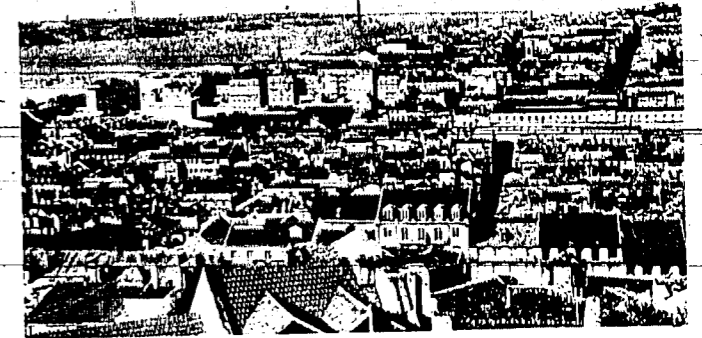

Like many cities in the "old country" the old and the new are being divided as if a street were cleared between them. Entire areas are witnessing the erection of new hotels — strictly modern, and around these hotels great shopping areas are springing up. Yet across the street you enter the "old" section. As a result the tourists are pampered but the merchants are happy.

Nearby at Sintra are the spectacular cone-chimneys of the Central Palace, through which swirled the smoke from the great fires which cooked royal food to perfection. But now the palace is only for the tourists. The pomp and ceremony of years past is gone.

Portugal and Spain are alike and yet are different. Both have personalities as different as day and night. But both have great department stores, small shops, great restaurants and small cookeries, wide avenues and streets where even small cars cannot go, great highways and country roads.

That's how it is in Spain and Portugal today. And from the International Airport at Lisbon, where you board the great jet-birds of the world's major airlines, it's all hustle and bustle as scores of languages announce flights to everywhere.

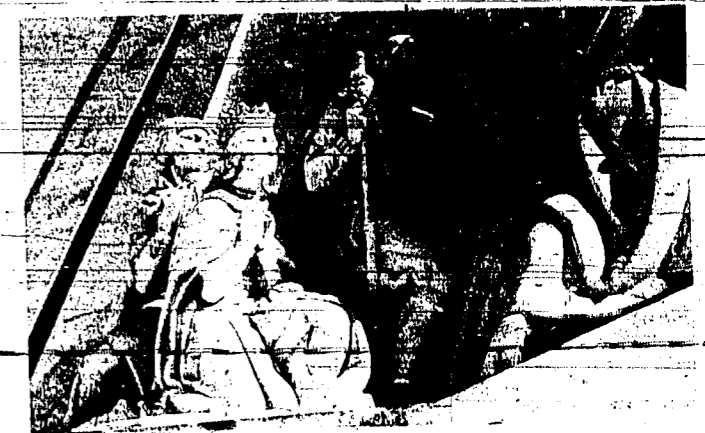

Ours went to New York City. Five and one-half hours after leaving the "old" world we were in the "new." It took Columbus 70 days.

J.L. Seagull Speaks Via Jim Franciscus

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — When you see the movie version of "Jonathan Livingston Seagull," the voice of the narrator may sound familiar. He gets no billing — or didn't in the rough cut. James Franciscus is the man.

director husband, Blake Edwards, are currently living in England and eyeing a home in Switzerland. It looks like it will be a long time before we see them back here again.

Everybody was out for the taping of Frank Sinatra's return-to-action special. Even Nancy Sr., Frank's ex, was there and so were the Sinatra daughters, Nancy Jr. and Tina.

Betty says Danny, 14, is beginning to notice girls. One recent evening he showed up with a scratch on his chest. She asked him what had happened. "Stacy did it," he said. She knew that Stacy was a girl about his age. "She can't be very nice if she did that," she said.

But all eyes — including Frank's — were on his latest heartthrob. She's Barbara Marx, the widow of the fourth Marx brother, Zeppo. She seemed like a charming girl and they made a striking couple.

Jack Lord sees to it that all his Hawaii Five-O scripts, together with everything else (call sheets, sketches) connected with the show, are sent each month to the University of Southern California.

All About The 3-Way Light Bulb

By RUSSELL BAKER
(c) New York Times Service
Why things don't work — 1. (The three-way light bulb).
Actually, I don't know if it is accurate to call it a three-way light bulb, but that is what we call it at our house, usually modified by adjectives of a pejorative nature. (Does anybody know what pejorative means? It is always being used these days in combinations like that — "adjectives of a pejorative nature" — and it seems smart, but who knows? In any case, all I mean to say is that we rarely speak well of three-way light bulbs.)
A three-way light bulb is a single bulb that is supposed to burn at any of three intensities. A common type is the 50-100-150 watt bulb. You twist the little button on the lamp and it gives you 50 watts of power, or light, or whatever it is watts give you. There is no need to get bogged down in electricity manuals yet.
As everyone knows — as everyone has known for the last 30 years — the three-way light bulb doesn't work. Shortly after being screwed into the socket, it suffers one of two failures.

(1) One of the settings — usually the highest light intensity — fails. This triggers a delayed blowout mechanism for a second setting, which goes off a few days later, leaving you with a three-way bulb that has suddenly become one-way. Since the surviving way is usually the 50-watt way, you must buy a new three-way bulb for reading, or elect blindness, or use your lamp ohly for (A) dozing by or (B) sitting near when you are hung over or badly wrinkled and want to look more seductive to somebody.
(2) Instead of blowing out soon after the bulb is installed, the three different settings begin switching themselves off and on as the mood strikes them. If you are reading at 150 watts, the lamp will abruptly shift down to 100 or 50. If you are sitting in 50 watts looking seductively through the thing will suddenly turn itself up to a disastrous 150.
Some three-way bulbs become very sophisticated about using their self-switching mechanisms to torment people. If, say, you are trying to read at 150 watts, and you have had ugly experiences with a lamp so that you know it may suddenly switch itself down to 50, the bulb will emit little warning sounds — a kind of low sizzling noise — to suggest that it is getting its self-lowering switch ready to cut your light down.

But it never actually follows up the sizzle with a cutdown when you are expecting it! This is the beauty of the torment: It just keeps you worrying that it is going to darken down — just enough so you can't concentrate on your book.
You think, the bulb may be a little loose. (For some reason, sizzling three-way light bulbs always sound a little loose.) You reach to tighten it and, of course, the heat burns your fingerprints off.
Why are three-way bulbs made like this?
The three-way bulb was invented during World War II as a secret weapon to be used against the Nazis. The idea was to flood Germany with three-way light bulbs and, thus, not only destroy the Nazis' morale, but also ruin their seductions. Instead, there was a shipping mixup. The three-way bulbs all ended up in American groceries. The Americans, unable to resist any new gadget, loved them, and business has been booming ever since.

No manufacturer, of course, can possibly make a light bulb that is capable of giving three levels of illumination, changing them at a touch of a finger, and burning at a steady intensity at any of its three settings for a very long time.
The idea itself is crazy — like the Penn Central Railroad and the refrigerator, which don't work any better than the three-way light bulb. No sensible people would put money into such things. Their improbability would doom them in the normal marketplace.
This is depressing. The reason the three-way light bulb doesn't work is because it is made in the first place. And the reason it is made in the first place is because we keep on buying new ones because, the old ones didn't work.
It is beautifully illogical. At the supermarket I patiently buy my usual three-way light bulb, and go to make a scene at the meat counter about the price of beef. "Why complain about the meat and not about that junky light bulb?" I ask myself.

"Don't be silly," comes the answer. "There's no nourishment in a three-way light bulb."

Airport Drama On

"Airport," the box-office sensation that the New York Times called "the sort of movie most people mean when they say Hollywood doesn't make movies the way it used to," comes to television as an ABC Special Motion Picture Presentation Sunday, Nov. 11.

Based on Arthur Hailey's best-selling novel, and retaining almost all the characters and crises that dramatized this exceptional night of danger and romance at a major American airport and on board a jetliner in flight, the movie earned ten Academy Award nominations, including an Oscar for Helen Hayes as best supporting actress.

The 1970 film was written for the screen and directed by Hollywood great George Seaton ("Miracle on 34th Street") and produced by Ross Hunter, ("Magnificent Obsession," "Limitation of Life") for Universal Pictures.

The New York Times also noted that "it evokes our nostalgic feelings, not only for the innocence of old movies but also for the innocent old times in which we saw them." It will probably entertain millions of people who no longer care very much about movies." Quoting attempts made it clear that "the guess was right."

The all-star cast of "Airport" is headed by Burt Lancaster, Dean Martin "in a rare straight dramatic role," Jean Seberg and Jacqueline Bisset.

The other stars are George Kennedy, Helen Hayes, Van Heflin, Maureen Stapleton, Barry Nelson, Lloyd Nolan, Dana Wynter and Barbara Hale.

The suspenseful tale of survival and grace under pressure, which sold more than 4 million copies in its paperback version after 65 weeks on the best-seller lists, takes place during a seven-hour period at an international airport in the Midwest during one of the worst blizzards in local history.

The airport manager (Lancaster) must find a way to keep the airport open and with the help of a determined maintenance chief (Kennedy), moves a jetliner that is blocking a critical runway. Along with these vital working decisions he must also cope with his crumbling marriage (to Miss Wynter) and his growing relationship with a co-worker (Miss Seberg).

The pilot of a jetliner due to leave for Rome (Martin) also has personal problems. He has just learned that his girlfriend (Miss Bisset) is carrying his child and he has no desire to divorce his wife (Miss Hale).

The passengers are also living their private dramas. A psychotic (Heflin) has decided to blow up the plane, leaving $150,000 insurance to his wife (Miss Stapleton). A perennial stowaway (Miss Hayes) has smuggled herself aboard — and is seated next to the potential bomber.

The pilot learns of the danger, grapples with the bomber — and an explosion is set off which reduces all problems to the simple one of life or death.

ABC To Sell 123 Theaters

We interrupt for this important message — a game of question-and-answer from the Mail Box. But you can't get ten right! Just answer yes or no.

1. Everytime I think Hollywood has a decent marriage, I read that they're separated. Now it's Howard Duff and Ida Lupino, right.
2. Was insulter Don Rickles joking when he said Buddy Hackett insulted him?
3. Has Dinah Shore been married three times?
4. Is Elizabeth Baur worried about what she'll do after "Ironside" is over?
5. With all the wild stunts he's pulled, does James Farentino (last season in "Cool Million") spend a lot of time with a shrink?
6. Is Lawrence Welk's show as big as it was on the network?
7. I never hear any new Roger Miller tunes. Does he have any new ones?
8. Did Sally Quinn (CBS "Morning News") really make that statement about a hand on her fanny?
9. Peter Falk ("Columbo") does not speak good English. Does he have a high school diploma?
10. Is Steve McQueen ("Bullitt") still just "Living with" Ali MacGraw?
11. You'd think CBS was getting enough out of Carroll O'Connor with "All in the Family." Are they going to keep putting him in Specials too?

12. Is Richard Roundtree ("Shaft") married?
13. Do money Laurence Olivier gets from those Poliroid commercials — does it go to charity?
14. James Brolin, "Marcus Welby's" assistant, seems such a different type from good friend Bob Reynolds. Do they have much in common?
15. Has Bette Midler ever appeared on Broadway?

- Okay, let's check your Box Score.
1. YES. Ida Lupino and Howard Duff recently separated, but their 22 year marriage has weathered such storms before. And remember, Hollywood couples take up separate residence no more than other couples might if they had the money.
  2. NO. Not a joke. Long ago, Buddy Hackett said, "Don Rickles will never be funny until he stops making audiences hate him." Rickles remembers.
  3. YES. Dinah Shore was married once to George Montgomery and twice to Maurice F. Smith, a building contractor.
  4. NO. "I'll miss 'Ironside,'" says Elizabeth Baur, "but there are so many areas of the theatre I've never had a chance to do that in some ways I'll enjoy the freedom."
  5. NO. James Farentino gave up psychiatrists. "You talk and talk," he explains, "while he puffs on a pipe, charges you 50

- bucks, and changes nothing."
6. YES. The Lawrence Welk show now has greater US coverage than it did on the ABC network!
  7. YES. Roger Miller composed three tunes for Disney's new "Robin Hood."
  8. YES. Sally Quinn said, "If a Senator puts his hand on my fanny while telling me how he's going to vote on impeaching President Nixon, I'm not sure I'm going to remove his hand, no matter how demeaning."
  9. YES. Peter Falk has a high school diploma, also one from college and a master's degree. He speaks that way on purpose.
  10. NO. Steve McQueen and Ali MacGraw were married last July.
  11. YES. Carroll O'Connor will keep appearing in Specials, but only because he wants to. He's afraid his image will get frozen as Archie.
  12. NO. Richard Roundtree, star of "Shaft," is divorced. He has two daughters, 7 and 5, who live with their mother in Chicago.
  13. NO. Payment for those Poliroid commercials goes to Laurence Olivier, not charity.
  14. YES. James Brolin and Bob Reynolds, good friends, have much in common such as their love of motorcycles, sports and attractive, positive women.
  15. YES. Bette Midler appeared on Broadway for 3 years in "Fiddler on the Roof." She was Tzeitel.

Leonard H. Goldenson, Chairman of the Board, and Elton H. Runic, President, of American Broadcasting Companies, Inc., announced today that ABC has reached an agreement in principle for the sale of its Northern Group of motion picture theatres to Platt Theatres, Inc., a corporation newly formed by Henry G. Platt for a cash consideration of $25,000,000. Mr. Platt is currently President of ABC-Great States, Inc., one of the Company's Northern theatre circuits. The transaction is subject to the preparation and execution of a definitive agreement and to approval by ABC's Board of Directors. It is expected that the sale will be completed in early 1974.

ABC's Northern Theatre Group consists of 123 motion picture theatres located in the following states: Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, South Dakota, Idaho, Nevada, Utah, Arizona and California. Mr. Goldenson and Mr. Runic said that—

1. Provision has been made in ABC's fiscal third quarter ended September 29, 1973, for an estimated net extraordinary loss of approximately

$2,175,000 or 13 cents per share of ABC common stock in connection with the proposed disposition of the Northern Theatre Group, which is offset by net extraordinary gains of $2,699,000 or 16 cents per share reported in the first six months of the year.

2. Loss of income from the sale of the ABC-Northern Theatre Group will not affect future earnings of the Company and the sale will provide additional funds to assist the Company in its plans for future growth.
3. Martin Pompadur, President of ABC Leisure Group, said that ABC Theatre Holdings, under its president, Harvey Garland, will concentrate its efforts to further develop the efficiency and profitability of ABC Southern Theatre Group, which presently consists of 264 theatres and provides more than 80 per cent of the Company's theatre profits. These theatres are located in the following states: Florida, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

O'Connor Special Set For Nov. 5

The concept behind the CARROLL O'CONNOR SPECIAL — "Three for the Girls" wasn't developed overnight. O'Connor has been working on it for years.

The special, to be broadcast Monday evening Nov. 5 on the CBS Television Network, looks at three important women in a man's life — wife, daughter, and mother, each dealt with in separate one-act plays.

The plays show these ladies dealing with the enigma of the male, a subject O'Connor first dealt with several years ago when he wrote "Ladies of Hanover Tower." The dramatic piece presented in the special, entitled "Haincheek," is based on this original work and rewritten by O'Connor.

O'Connor explains his purpose thusly, "I want to capture the important influence women have on the men in their lives, not just their surface presence as a stable platform for man to stand on, but the much deeper effect they have on everything a man does or feels."

O'Connor further explains his concept in the opening segment of the special. "It is an odd and purely habitual belief that this is a man's world, but the belief is fading fast nowadays," he says, "and perhaps the plays you are about to see will help verify that the belief was never a very sound one."

O'Connor says his purpose on the special is to bring to the forefront — in an entertaining fashion — feelings that may have been unspoken because of society's dictation of what a man is supposed to and not supposed to express.

NBC's fall schedule holds a comedy-variety hour starring comedians Don Adams and Don Rickles and titled — what else? — "A Couple of Dons."

— Jack Gayer

Dramatization Of Shakespeare In 10-Part Series

The most comprehensive dramatization of the life and works of William Shakespeare will be presented in a 10-part series of one-hour specials on the ABC Television Network beginning in the 1975-76 season. The United States, Italy and England are joining in this major project, which was announced jointly by Martin Starger, President of ABC Entertainment, Sir Lew Grade, Chairman of Associated Television Corp. Ltd., and Dr. Angelo Romano, President of Entertainment Radio-Television Italiana (RAI). ATV and RAI will coproduce the series.

Each one-hour special in "The Life and Times of William Shakespeare" will contain dramatized elements of Shakespeare's life as well as scenes from his most important plays, performed by the world's finest actors.

Filmed entirely on location in England, Italy, Scotland and Denmark, the cameras will show the places where Shakespeare lived and worked and which he used as backdrops for his plays.

Famed author Anthony Burgess will write the series of 10 one-hour scripts. Burgess is the author of over a dozen novels including "A Clockwork Orange" and an extensive and highly-regarded biography of Shakespeare, on which this series will be based.

Executive producer of the programs is Cecil Clarke, whose television credits include the Emmy Award-winning National Theatre production of "Long Day's Journey into Night," starring Laurence Olivier, for ABC last season; the upcoming ABC presentations of "The Merchant of Venice," starring Olivier, and the Royal Shakespeare Company's production of "Antony and Cleopatra," as well as the Emmy Award-winning television production of "Hamlet" starring Richard Chamberlain.

Director of the series is Peter Wood, long associated with England's National Theatre and the Royal Shakespeare Company, at Stratford-on-Avon. Among Wood's many directorial credits are the theatrical productions of "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" and "Incident at Vichy," and for American television, the Emmy Award-Winning production of ABC's "Long Day's Journey into Night" starring Olivier, and the Emmy Award-winning "Hamlet" with Richard Chamberlain.

Independent Television Corp. — a wholly-owned production distribution subsidiary of ATV, will distribute the 10-part series.

Education Series On The Tube

By ROBIN ADAMS SLOAN
Q: I hear that Nelson Rockefeller is selling his paintings to finance his next Presidential campaign. How can anyone that rich have to do such a bizarre thing?
A: M.E.M., Washington, D.C.

A: It takes a lot of lucre to run for any important political office these days, and Presidential campaigns require almost as much money as building a jet airliner. Further more, the governor's family refuses to cough up any more because the other Rockefellers do not like the limelight as much as he, and are admittedly embarrassed by his row of political setbacks in the national scene.

Rigged for Tennis: Would ABC-TV have permitted any of Bobby Riggs' fanatical girlfriends to act as commentators in the Billie Jean King-Bobby Riggs match in Houston? Of course not. So likewise, a lot of soreheads are now saying that ABC-TV shouldn't have let Billie Jean's over-adoring close friend, Rosemary Casals, act as a commentator either. (And wow, does ABC every wish they hadn't. The mail is irate and the inside gossip is even worse.)

Q: A couple of weeks ago you carried an item about the Hare Krishna sect. I've seen these people on the street and am fascinated by them. Do you have anything new on them? — E. K. Zanesville, Ohio

A: We are fascinated by them, too. Hare Krishna's negotiations for the Columbia University Club and the Overseas Press Club building have apparently fallen through, but they are building an entire university near Calcutta, India. These folks, who pursue an ascetic way of life, are active in a number of commercial enterprises (including publishing and the sale of incense) and gross more than $6,000,000 each year. They trace their religious roots to ancient Hindu scriptures.

Q: I read in McCall's that Truman Capote is the only person to whom Martin Brando has "broken his silence in 20 years" to give an interview. Is this true? I have a bet that says no! — H. E., Cincinnati, Ohio.

A: You win. McCall's was bragging just a little. The Capote interview took place in the late Fifties and Brando was enraged by it. Far from Capote being the only reporter Brando has seen, he more recently was interviewed by three people at Newsweek, including Charles Michener, and prominently by Shanna Alexander for Life. He also appeared on the Dick Cavett TV show.

Q: Why did Agnew protest his innocence so loudly only to give up days later? What did he hope to gain? — M. E., Miami, Okla.

A: Well, the ex-VP hoped public opinion might swing to his side and influence Congress to take up his case, thereby removing it from a jury trial. But pragmatically, he also hoped to hold out the three more months needed to qualify for his $15,000 a year civil service pension. Instead, he has a $22,000 refund coming on what he paid into the uncompleted retirement fund.

WYATT AND: Your were expecting Earp?

implicating for him in those damned tapes, why won't President Nixon let the Senate Watergate committee hear them? — H. E., Fort Wayne, Ind.

A: Speculation in Washington is growing that although the President claims he is holding out on access of executive privilege, his real reason is that he fears the result of the senators' hearing his all-too-frank Oval Office talk—Nixon—likes the only-lingo-of-politics, a first cousin to the locker-room chatter of the sports world. He is colorfully quotable about many prominent figures and, believing the Senate incapable of keeping a secret, he would prefer not to make any new enemies at this point in time.

BEAUTIFUL PEOPLE DEPT.: Is the Gloria Vanderbilt-Wyatt Cooper marriage rocky? (She's the New York heiress and he's the model-turned-writer.) Let's put it this way: it hasn't been smooch sailing for these beautiful people for more than two years.

Q: From remarks in your column and elsewhere I gather that Britain has not been captivated by the forthcoming marriage of Princess Anne and her Captain Phillip. Why is that? — D. L., Fort Worth, Tex.

A: Well, Anne, you know, has always been very snippy to the press, rather like her father Prince Phillip, so there's not much love there. In some circles there's the feeling that young Mark gets too much time off from the army and also should do a stint with the British Army in Northern Ireland. The latest fuss arose when officers and enlisted men were asked to ante up for a wedding present.

Q: Have you heard that the Maharaj Ji, 15-year-old guru, is ill? — H. E., Long Beach, Calif.

A: The teenage leader of the Divine Light Mission has an ulcer and is suffering from overweight. Too much money and too little exercise.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: How do Spiro Agnew's close buddies feel about the cave-in of their friend? Why, they are absolutely stunned and watched his resignation with as much surprise as the rest of the country. There's not a man among Spiro's backers and pals who didn't believe in his original protestations of innocence. He had taken absolutely no one into full confidence about his guilt, his plea bargaining, nor his intentions.

Q: I read in a book that Mick Jagger's wife Bianca was once in love with Martin Brando. Is this true? — J. W., La Jolla, Ill.

A: No. The 28-year-old Bianca met and dated Brando a few times, but denies she ever had so much as a small romance with him. She doesn't deny, however, that she lived with actor Michael Caine for a year. (They are still friends.) Also she almost wed wealthy French record executive Eddie Barclay.

Xerox Corporation's Education Group will begin distribution of the educational film properties of ABC Media Concepts under the terms of an agreement announced today by Alfred R. Schneider, Vice President of American Broadcasting Companies, Inc., and David Culbertson, President of the Xerox Education Group.

"We are very pleased to announce this important distribution agreement," Mrs. Schneider said. "The Xerox Education Group is one of the nation's leading educational materials distributors. Through their efforts, the excellent film materials in our ABC Media Concepts catalogue will continue to be available to the audio visual marketplace throughout the United States."

"Under the new distribution agreement," Mr. Culbertson said, "Xerox will distribute, for a period of seven years, the major portion of the film properties of ABC Media Concepts. In addition, over the next three years Xerox Films will have the first option for distribution on all future news documentary and public affairs programs produced and owned by ABC News and the ABC-owned television stations."

The films to be distributed for non-theatrical direct exhibition under the ABC-Xerox agreement include documentaries on current social, political and scientific subjects, as well as films on cultural and sports topics.

ABC Media Concepts is a department of ABC Merchandising, Inc.

Hazardous West Endured By Star In Debut

For a woman who lived in the same house all of her young life, the peripatetic life of a performer is a terrifying existence.

At least it is for Judy Kahan who made her first journey away from the secure environs of the East Coast for a trip to Hollywood to make her television debut as a guest star in Lily Tomlin's second comedy special, "Lily," Friday evening on the CBS Television Network.

"California scares me to death," the youthful singer admits. "Not only is it 3,000 miles away from New York, they have earthquakes!"

"To underline her feelings about the area, she can cite dates and times of several tremors felt on the West Coast during the two weeks she was there taping the hour-long comedy special. The fact that all occurred many miles from Hollywood doesn't matter to Miss Kahan. The West is rife with hazardous for an urban girl who finds security only in the neighborhood of New York.

Her only other extended excursion away from her home ground was to study voice at Boston University. She stuck it out for two years, joining the cast of the improvisational group "The Proposition" during the second year and never returned to the campus. Instead, she followed the group to New York and spent, in all, four years with the show.

She was playing a 13-year-old girl in Harold Prince's "A Little Night Music" when she received the call from Miss Tomlin for her television special. Miss Kahan now had a decision to make. She chose to withdraw from the Broadway production, even though she was tied to Prince for another year. "He was wonderful, wished me luck and let me go," she says.

If Miss Kahan had known that it ~~was not going to be~~ made in New York, she might have made a different choice. In addition to going west for the taping, she had to leave her new husband, musical director John Forster, Piglet and Piglet's four puppies. (Piglet is an untrimmed poodle and looks like her name," she explains.)

It was the farthest she had ever been from the house in Long Island
