ELY, Nev. (UPI) — Henry E. Bretz, 78, Gooding, Idaho, was killed Thursday when his pickup truck sideswiped another vehicle on U.S. 93 about 30 miles north of here. The Nevada Highway Patrol said Bretz's vehicle crossed over the center line and hit a truck driven by Steven Jackson, 31 of Ely.

Bunker Hill strikers return

KELLOGG (UPI) — Employees at the Bunker Hill Co. reported for work today, ending a three-day strike against the firm. The strike by United Steelworkers union Local 7854 began early Tuesday after a contract between the firm and the union expired at midnight Monday. Union officials said negotiators early today approved a new contract for the nearly 1,800 Bunker Hill employees at the firm's smelter, zinc plant and two mines in the Coeur d'Alene mining district.

Lost cycle

DIVERS dragged the Snake River north of Twin Falls Thursday in a futile search for Evel Knievel's jet-powered "motorcycle" which plunged into the river Saturday. Stuntman Knievel had sent the cycle on an unmanned test flight over the canyon in preparation for his planned jump of the canyon next year.

'Gate terms fixed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — E. Howard Hunt was given a minimum sentence of 2 1/2 years in prison and five other original Watergate defendants were assessed lesser terms today by Judge John J. Sirica for their roles in the break-in at Democratic national headquarters. James W. McCord, like Hunt one of the leaders of the burglary, drew a one to five year sentence, the same minimum sentence as three Miami area men. Hunt's maximum sentence was eight years, plus a fine of $10,000. Since the three Miami men have been behind bars nearly 11 months, their sentences may expire in time for their release before Christmas.

Bernard L. Barker, a fourth member of what their lawyers referred to as the Miami area "soldiers," received a sentence of 18 months minimum and six years at the most, apparently because he recruited the other three.

Sirica said it was his intention that McCord spend at least a year in jail. McCord, unlike the others, has been free on bond for the past year.

Two months after his conviction, he wrote Sirica that he wanted to tell what he knew of the Watergate break-in on June 17, 1972, and the subsequent cover-up.

Minimum sentences of one to four years were given Frank A. Sturgis, Virgilio R. Gonzalez and Eugenio R. Martinez.

The Miami area men and Hunt pleaded guilty early in the January trial. McCord and G. Gordon Liddy, like Hunt a former White House employee, were convicted.

Liddy presumably received heavy, final sentences from Sirica. Liddy who has refused to talk, was given a minimum term of 6 years, 8 months and fined $10,000.

He was given an additional sentence of 8 to 18 months for refusing to testify before a federal grand jury. He also faces contempt of Congress charges.

Hunt's lawyer, Sydney Sachs, told Sirica that Hunt's health is deteriorating and that forcing him to spend any more time in jail might do further harm to him.

Both Sachs and lawyers for the other defendants pleaded with Sirica for leniency, saying all believed they had been part of a legitimate government operation.

"If it was a crime, it was a crime of patriotism," Sachs said.

TF man injured

TWIN FALLS — Dell Webb, 52, Twin Falls, was taken to the Twin Falls Clinic Hospital by Magic Valley Ambulance this morning following a tractor accident at the City County Airport.

Clyce Edwards, ambulance operator, said Webb was apparently operating the tractor in the airport parking lot. He was near the tractor when it rolled over him, the wheels passing over his chest. It then rolled into a car parked in the lot. City police were investigating the accident. Webb was reported in "fairly good condition," pending X-ray and other examinations.

TF zoners back PUD measure

By GEORGE WILEY Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County planners Thursday night recommended approval of the county's first ordinance governing development of large "planned unit developments."

The proposed ordinance now goes to the county commission for final action. Planned unit developments are large-scale projects which can be built within any zoning category.

Under the ordinance, persons wishing to develop a PUD must have detailed plans approved by the county. Any major change in plans would have to be approved again by the county.

The move followed a request by the county commissioners that the zoning board move

"expeditiously" on the PUD ordinance in light of the application by Lynwood Development Co. Inc., to construct a large PUD-type commercial/residential complex along the Snake River Canyon rim west of the Perrine Bridge.

Zoning board member C. M. Lanting moved that the PUD ordinance be approved by itself, apart from the rest of the proposed new zoning ordinance. Lanting's motion carried by a slim 7 to 5 margin.

In approving the PUD ordinance, the board stipulated that "necessary revisions" suggested by the county commissioners to remove "ambiguities" in some wording be made.

Following action on the PUD ordinance, the zoning board went to work on another ordinance revising county zoning.

"Do you think we could have it ready for a Christmas present to the public?" chairman L. James Koutnik asked board members.

The zoning board then approved all residential-medium zones as "permitted use" zones for subdivisions. The move followed a suggestion by the county commissioners that some zone be designated in which subdivisions would be permitted without public approval.

Another request by the county commissioners, that a zoning board of appeals be considered as part of the new ordinance, was rejected by the zoning board.

The zoning board also approved revisions in some of the controversial "fingers" and spot zones which had been included in the published draft of the new zoning ordinance.

A portion of the commercial strip zone proposed along U. S. Highway 30 between Twin Falls and Piler was eliminated and returned to an agricultural designation.

Hitches hold up peace

By United Press International

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today announced Israeli and Egyptian acceptance of a six-point truce plan that would lead to a formal peace conference, but a last minute disagreement developed in Israel and the cabinet met in emergency session to study the snags.

An Israeli spokesman said the government would issue a communique later on Kissinger's compromise solution, but in the meantime there was no official comment on his announcement which apparently took Prime Minister Golda Meir by surprise.

Israeli sources said the hitches involved Israeli control or inspection rights to supplies reaching both the surrounded Egyptian 3rd Army and the city of Suez, and the lifting of the Egyptian blockade of the Bab el-Mandeb Strait at the entrance to the Red Sea.

The Kissinger communique contained no mention of the lifting of the blockade, something that government sources said Israel had demanded, and received, in its negotiations on the settlement. It also provided for checking supplies for the 3rd Army but not for the city of Suez.

Even as the Israeli government was making its decision, the military command reported three incidents on the cease-fire lines:

A plane on a reconnaissance mission along the Egyptian front was shot down by a SAM missile. The command would not say if it was in Arab air space but said the two crewmen bailed out into Egyptian territory and their names were given to the Red Cross. Egypt said two Israeli Phantoms were shot down.

Elements of the Egyptian 3rd Army moved westward during the night from their positions on the east bank of the Suez Canal. Israeli troops noted the movement at dawn and warned U.N. observers they would open fire unless the Egyptians withdrew. They did.

Syrian troops on the northern front repeatedly opened fire at Israeli patrols with small arms and sporadic artillery fire during a three-hour span during the morning. Israel answered with small arms fire and no casualties were reported.

Richardson defends Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Elliot L. Richardson said today that despite his resignation as attorney general over differences with President Nixon on Watergate, he believes Nixon has been fully truthful in denying complicity in the scandals.

But Richardson and William D. Ruckelshaus, who resigned the same night as Richardson after both refused to fire Archibald Cox as special Watergate prosecutor, urged Nixon to make a full disclosure of any material bearing on the affair.

Richardson was asked in an interview on the NBC-TV Today Show if he felt Nixon had told the "whole truth" in his repeated denials of any knowledge until last spring that high-ranking aids had been involved in the Watergate cover-up.

"Everything I know supports the conclusion that he has," Richardson said. "I've found him personally convincing on this ... In my very first meeting with him on the subject of my nomination as attorney general, he was at pains himself to assure me that he had not had any direct knowledge of these things or any part in them ... and he was very emphatic in saying in effect that I not believe that or I shouldn't take the job."

Cassia bus mishap hurts boy

BURLEY — A school bus with five youngsters aboard slid into a ditch and ended up in a field southwest of Burley about 2 p.m. Thursday, but no one was seriously injured.

The bus, driven by Dean Pratt Baker, 37, Burley, was apparently traveling too close to the shoulder of the road at about 300 south and 450 west of Burley when the shoulder gave way, letting the bus slide off the road.

Pratt thought the bus was going to roll over so he drove into the ditch to avoid it. The bus struck a driveway culvert and went into a field.

One youngster, Richard Bandy, was thrown from his seat. He was taken by ambulance to Cassia Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released.

Students riding on the bus, in addition to Bandy, were Maria Christopherson, 8; Shane Beck, 8; Debby Brian, 11, and Sherry Bandy, 10.

No estimate of damage to the bus was available. Idaho State Police investigated.

Park says 'mob' plans may focus on Gem land

By TERRY CAMPBELL Times-News writer

KETCHUM — Idaho Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park warned Thursday organized crime may try to "launder" money through Idaho real estate developments.

But Park said there was no indication that organized crime had been involved yet in the state.

"Idaho is singularly fortunate in not having an organized crime problem in the classic sense," he said.

He warned the Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce Idaho is a potential target for criminal "laundering" operations because "if Idaho has anything to sell, it's land."

"This should be a warning for those who are involved in government and business to be on the alert," he said.

He said one warning signal of organized crime involvement in real estate may include the sudden materialization of a client with large amounts of cash and without visible means of support.

In response to a question, Park said under present Idaho laws nothing could be done to stop a legitimate sale between a willing seller and a willing buyer.

However, he said, if organized crime does become a problem in Idaho, new laws will be needed, including immunity statutes and provisions for investigative grand juries.

W. ANTHONY PARK warns of crime

Two charged in California slaying of 9

STOCKTON, Calif. (UPI) — San Joaquin County Sheriff's deputies adopted extra security measures today for the arraignment of two suspects in the massacre of nine persons in the dream home of a country grocer.

Willie L. Steelman, 28, an admitted heroin user, ex-mental patient and parolee, and Douglas E. Gretzler, 22, New York City, were to be escorted here under heavy guard from the County Jail in nearby French Camp to be charged in Municipal Court.

They were captured Thursday in Sacramento, 30 miles north of this Central Valley farm community, and booked into the jail on nine counts of murder.

Authorities said Steelman and Gretzler might also be linked to a double slaying and the disappearance of two others in Arizona.

Gretzler was arrested in a downtown hotel by Sacramento police armed with shotguns. A short time later officers hurried tear gas into an apartment, forcing Steelman from the room where he was holed up with a girlfriend.

Police said that weapons which might have been used in the slayings in the small town of Victor near here Wednesday were also found in the hotel.

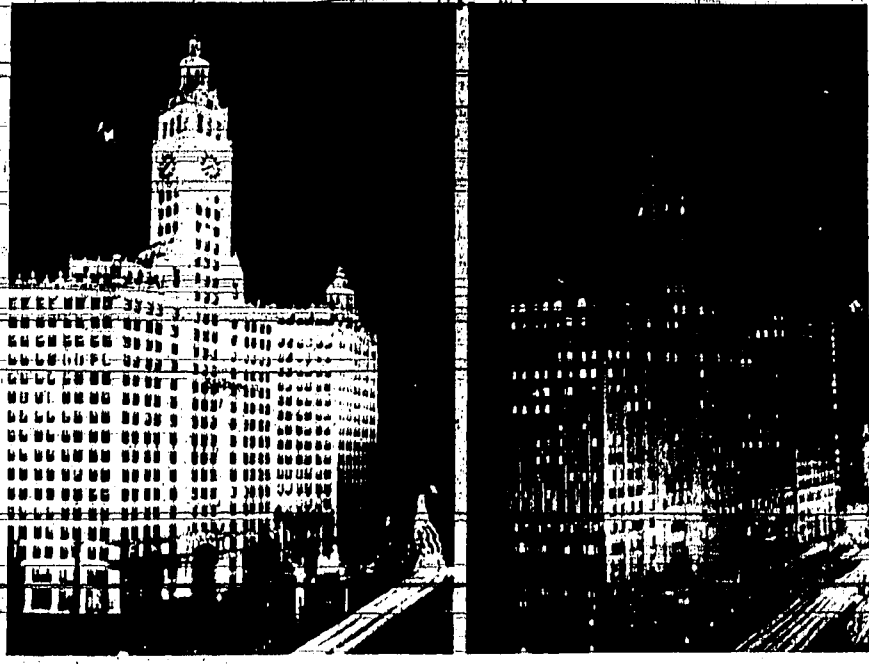

The victims in the slaying were the grocer, Walter Parkin, 33; his wife; their two children and five friends. The bodies of the two Parkin children were found in a bed in the Parkin home. The rest of the bodies were found neatly stacked in a closet. All had been bound and shot in the head.

Parkin's neighbor, Bill Peterson, said his friend had dreamt of building a home, raising his family and planting grapes. Peterson said Parkin was "illuminating" those goals.

Parkin's home was a sprawling $63,000 structure tucked into vineyards. Investigators theorized that the killers burglarized his store in Victor and then went to the home. An estimated $4,000 was taken from the grocery's safe.

Deputies said at least 20 bullets were fired at the victims. And the killers, according to investigators, even took time to "reload" their weapons.

The suspects were arrested after a clerk at Gretzler's hotel recognized the suspect from published photographs. A resident of Galt, a Sacramento suburb, saw the two in a small foreign station wagon with Arizona license plates, and they were tracked to the hotel.

Arab King Faisal courts Kremlin

LONDON (UPI) — King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, one of the most conservative, anti-Communist and pro-American Arab leaders, has put out an unexpected feeler to Moscow that has taken Western diplomats by surprise.

The official Saudi News Agency reported that the king cabled the Kremlin congratulations on the anniversary of the October revolution and good wishes to Soviet leaders.

The move, coinciding with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's goodwill visit to Faisal, has taken Western diplomats completely off guard. Saudi Arabia has no diplomatic relations with Russia or any of the Soviet bloc members, and Communism is more taboo in the oil-rich kingdom than in any other Arab country.

Faisal's calculated gesture was seen by diplomats as a warning to the United States and a feeler to Moscow that the Kremlin is unlikely to miss. A Saudi shift toward the Soviet Union could, in the view of Middle East experts, have very serious political and strategic implications. It would be a valuable feather in Moscow's cap and a new advance in its attempt to consolidate its hold in the Middle East.

Squirrel fur indicates bad winter

CRAB ORCHARD, Tenn. (UPI) — Helen Lane says it's going to be a bad winter. She knows because the squirrels are wearing heavy furs, the crickets are hollering and the wooly worms are dressed in black.

Mrs. Lane, a 53-year-old mother of four, has been making weather forecasts publicly since 1959, when she was right in predicting 12 snow storms. She said her forecasting technique came through two family generations.

"It's surprising how accurate Mrs. Lane has been over the years," said Nell Holloway, mayor of this tiny town.

"I'd say it's going to be a cold, bad winter with a good deal of sleet and rain," Mrs. Lane said. "It's going to be a dandy — we could get five snowstorms."

"We had a fog in August about every morning as I drove to Crossville to work," said Mrs. Lane, who manages a snack bar. "There was five heavy fogs in which I had to turn on my headlights."

"That means we could get the five heavy snowstorms. There are also other things that bear out my prediction that it's going to be a tough, hard winter."

Lower speed limit urged

BOISE (UPI) — The State Parks Department has asked the Highway Board to reduce speed limits on State Highways 54 within Farragut State Park to 25 miles per hour from 50.

William G. Hagdon, chief of resources development for the agency, also asked the board to install stop signs at the junction to campground roads and a kiosk at the park entrance to guide and control visitors.

Hagdon said he felt the control feature especially was necessary during the off-season because the park has suffered from vandalism.

He also asked a 50-50 sharing with the Highway Department in a 10-year program to bring the roads in state parks into better condition. He said the Parks Department has fallen behind in being able to give adequate attention to the roads.

Chairman Carl C. Moore, Lewiston, said the Highway Board will consider the 50-50 road improvement proposition. But he said residents of Bayview Road improvements proposition. But he said residents of "check-in" points on state highways in Farragut State Park and added they have a right to access by a state highway.

Farmers facing problems

BURLEY — Although farmers face many problems in the future, Dr. Don Parrlberg, agricultural economist for the United States Department of Agriculture, refused to paint a totally bleak picture Wednesday.

Some of the problems facing farmers, Dr. Parrlberg said, are uncertainty regarding price prospects, difficulties with regard to Environmental Protection Agency requirements, lack of understanding on the part of consumers and loss of political power.

Dr. Parrlberg said the energy situation was "particularly difficult" and predicted it would be a long-range problem. The fertilizer shortage, brought on as were many other shortages by the price control program, is "difficult but not critical," he said.

Distortions in product availability will continue "until the side of the farmer," he said.

The rising costs of products needed by farmers will be a continuing problem, he said.

On the hopeful side, there is a growing ability of people throughout the world to improve their diets, bringing on increased demands for agricultural products, he said.

New export opportunities, improvements in agricultural sciences which reduce production hazards and better living conditions are all on the side of the farmer, he said.

of his three best years," Dr. Parrlberg said.

He predicted that the U. S. would be exporting a lot of farm products "for a long time" and said the government should not interfere with the exports.

"We ought to negotiate with other countries regarding trade programs," he said, but should be insured compensation for opening new trade routes.

Robber prefers to 'test drive'

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — A very ugly man walked into a used car lot during the normal lunch hour Tuesday and just sort of browsed around.

Salesman Garland Shepherd approached the man, who said he liked one particular late model car the best but wanted to test drive it just to make sure.

Shepherd gave him the keys and the man drove off the lot and over to the Southeastern State bank. He walked inside and over toward the first of the four tellers' windows, took out a pistol and told the woman he wanted all the large denomination bills she had. Two other tellers' windows were occupied and he got money from them also.

He then drove back to the used car lot and told Shepherd he liked the car but that his wife would also have to like it before he could buy it. He said he would bring his wife in around 5:30 and left.

The robber was described by all witnesses as a "very ugly man," between 5-7 and 5-8 and about 28 to 32 years old.

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Frank Reed of Erickson's Hobby Shop presented "Gifting and Sharing" at the Twin Falls Garden Club meeting Wednesday at the YWCA.

Introduced by Mrs. Gabriel Nuttle, program chairman, Mrs. Reed displayed Thanksgiving and holiday decorations made from styrofoam, chenille pipe cleaners and costumed dolls.

Mrs. Reed also demonstrated transferring a picture to a small plaster of paris plaque and showed Christmas tree ornaments made from a six pack ring. Other gift ideas were small dry flower arrangements in gift frames.

Founded in November of 1938, the club observed its 35th anniversary with a special guest day. The meeting opened with a collect read by Mrs. Mark Knoll. To point up the occasion, Mrs. Sam Porter read the minutes of the November 1940 meetings.

Mrs. John Foldhusen, Sr. past president and charter member, spoke briefly on formation of the club. Mrs. Donald Bolton, Juneau, Alaska, state recording secretary of the Alaska Federation of Garden Clubs described club activity in Alaska and presented a corsage gift to Mrs. Kenneth Hodder, president.

Other guests were Mrs. Ina Schreiber, Mrs. G. Reed Lewis, Mrs. Charles Mattice, and Mrs. Leonard Albee, past president.

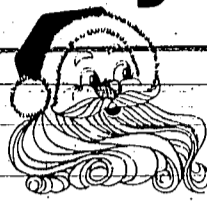

New members welcomed were Mrs. Carl Blickenstaff and Mrs. Loyal Perry. Mrs. Edward Reichert was registrar.

Mrs. Thelma Edmondson, ways and means chairman, showed stationary items and said flower arrangement calendars are available. Mrs. Victor W. Nelson, convention chairman, named committee chairmen and said the state convention will be June 11-13 at the Holiday Inn.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Russell Miller; Mrs. Leo Geper and Mrs. L. H. Porrino. Mrs. Foldhusen and Mrs. Bolton poured. Yellow chrysanthemums and candles arranged by Mrs. Porter enhanced the birthday cake centerpiece.

The next meeting will be Dec. 5 at the YM-YWCA.

Tourist season traffic decreases

CLAYTON — Traffic on U. S. Highway 93 in the upper Salmon River area was down about 25 per cent this past tourist season.

Dan Pence, Yankee Fork District forest ranger, said the probable cause was the gasoline shortage.

"An early salmon run started the recreation season off with heavy use in early June, but this run tapered off rapidly and fishing was quite poor by mid-July," Pence said.

Road construction on the Yankee Fork apparently discouraged visitors to historic sites in that area. The road was passable but a lot of persons were afraid to try crossing sections under construction.

"Visitor use dropped from 15,388 last year to 13,800 this season. Improvements in guided tours, artifact arrangement and other programs caused visitors to spend over twice as much time at historic sites as they have in the past."

The road construction is to be completed this fall.

Davis to head Dietrich council

DITTRICH — Mayor Clifford Davis was elected to head the Dietrich City Council for another term. He received a write-in vote of 32.

Also elected were Sid Edwards, with 30 write-in votes; John Sabala, 20 votes; Carolyn Costello, 27 votes; and Roger Stoddard, 10 votes, all also write-in.

Davis, Edwards and Stoddard had been serving on the council, though they, nor the other two, had not filed officially for the election. Councilmen moving from the community had necessitated filling the entire slate of officers at this election.

The "write-in" method of voting was really no problem for the community, though, as this has been the custom for a number of years.

Word is circulated that "so and so" will accept the write-in election and no formal filings are not necessary.

Nobody next in disability

Entangled President

Devoted to the citizens of Magic Valley
Al Westergren, Publisher
Friday, November 9, 1973

By DONALD SMITH
Congressional Quarterly
WASHINGTON — In the crush of Watergate and Middle East events, the problem had hardly been noticed.

EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK
Shaw carries big stick

Concerning the deteriorating situation, a few observations.
1. It is unlikely that the support for Mr. Nixon in the Gallup Poll will go much lower.

WILLIAM BUCKLEY

Rim decision...

The Twin Falls County commissioners made a good decision Thursday when they denied a request to rezone a choice piece of canyon rim property.
The commissioners unanimously declined to change the zoning designation of 33 acres on the south side of the Snake River Canyon just to the west of the Perrine Memorial Bridge.

...and another

The Twin Falls County Commission decision not to rezone Lynwood's canyon rim development also demonstrates the need for prompt action on the pending county planned unit development ordinance.
The decision to refer the Lynwood project back to the planning and zoning commission for consideration under the PUD ordinance was risky.

The question is: what would happen if Nixon were to become physically or mentally incapable of continuing his duties as president?
The answer, these experts say, is clear: until Ford is confirmed, there is no provision in the Constitution for removing the President from office on grounds of disability.

TEHERAN — When Soviet Prime Minister Alexsei Kosygin on his recent visit here complained to the Shah about Iran's soaring armaments program, which he said was costing $2 billion, the Shah smiled a chilly smile and murmured: "Three, not two."

best combat force between the Soviet Union and India is very good news for the West.
A cursory glance at the Shah's inventory, either in place or on order, makes pleasant reading for friends, among whom the U.S. stands high.

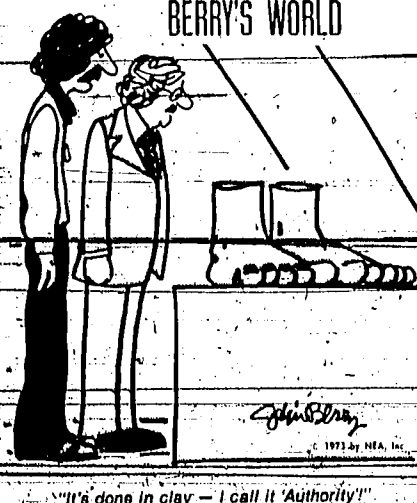

JAMES RESTON
Imperial presidency ushered fall

(c) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — On the first anniversary of Richard Nixon's spectacular re-election victory, this city is still trying to analyze what it was in his character that brought about the greatest fall since Lucifer.
History suggests a partial explanation: Landslide victories tend to distort men's judgments.

There were other personal aspects to this tragedy. The desire to avoid the frustrations of dealing with the congress or answering the awkward questions of the press led to the seclusion of the White House, to the isolation of the President with a small staff and a few friends.
This, of course, has always been his way. He has always seen himself living in a hostile world, surrounded by subversives, and conspirators.

Even a move transparently directed to the public interest meets now with presumptive opposition — the delay over the confirmation of Gerald Ford being a case in point. In this sense, the loss of the people's confidence translates into a palpable loss of presidential power.
It is an exaggeration to say that Mr. Nixon can't govern. It is not an exaggeration to say that he cannot govern as effectively as once he could.

Nixon again narrows circle of advisors

(c) Chicago Daily News
WASHINGTON — President Nixon has narrowed the circle of trusted advisers around him as his Watergate problems have widened and deepened.
Far from reaching out to old political associates, Republican Party leaders, Congressional supporters or friends in the legal and corporate world, Nixon has chosen to remain insulated while he ponders a personal answer to demands for his resignation or impeachment.

It has become a daily litany for Warren to list Chief of Staff Alexander Haig, Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler, personal secretary Rose Mary Woods, and when he is in town, Sec. of State Henry A. Kissinger, in vouching the names of those with whom the President is consulting.
Warren rarely mentions Presidential Counselors Melvin Laird or Bryce Harlow, two veteran political advisers who were ostensibly brought into the White House to open lines and to end the isolation imposed on Nixon by former aides H. R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman.

Archibald Cox.
One or both would have been sufficiently informed to have advised the President that Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson would resign rather than accept a compromise in which Cox's activities would be severely proscribed.
But both would have been attuned enough to Congressional and public sentiment to have predicted the "firestorm" of protests which came after Cox's resignation and the resignation of Richardson and Deputy Atty. Gen. William French Smith.

DR. THOSTESON
Sounds of dinnertime

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a 17-year-old girl and I have had this problem for at least eight years. I cannot stand the sound of people eating.
It absolutely drives me up the walls. I actually want to turn and slug the person in the face, and it is all I can do to control my emotions.
During lectures at school I find it impossible to concentrate when there is someone chewing gum nearby. I have really been hard on my family and they've become quite disgusted with me.

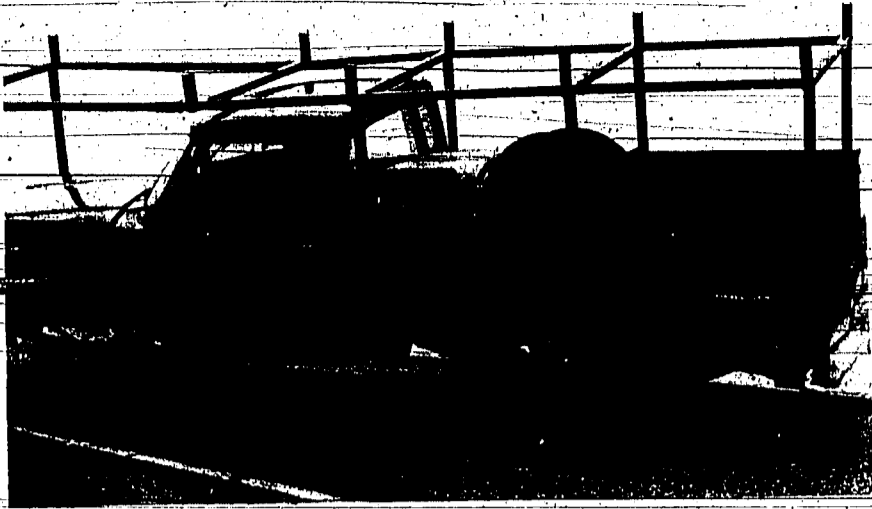

PETER LISAGOR

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald Warren says the President's advisors have had discussions with GOP leaders and others, but he refuses or is unable to identify them.

Haig, a West Point graduate who went from a colonel to a four-star general in record time as an assistant to Henry A. Kissinger on the National Security Council staff, is regarded as a hard-working, intensely loyal and dutiful aide to the President. But his sensitivity to public opinion or Congressional reaction is thought to be negligible by those who know him well.

Some will reason that rectitude demands speaking out against Mr. Nixon irrespective of whether doing so would merely result in increasing his ineffectiveness, while leaving him unbudged as President.
Oh what a tangle, and how difficult it is, and how great are the stakes.

No injuries

Wheels torn from vehicle

JEROME — Driver of a 1972 pickup truck and flatbed trailer narrowly escaped injury or death Thursday morning in a spectacular accident southeast of here on I-80.

State police reported Thomas Elmer Howell, 57, Hurst, Tex., was traveling east when he swerved into a guard rail of an overpass taking out five I-beams supporting the railing and tearing the wheels from the pickup truck. The truck wheels and parts of the truck dropped to the highway below the overpass but somehow the truck stayed on the interstate. It had to be carried from the scene.

Officers said the driver was uninjured but was charged with driving while intoxicated. The accident occurred at 11 a.m. about five miles southeast of Jerome.

DEMOLISHED TRUCK resulted when vehicle struck the guardrail of an overpass on I-80 in Jerome County. The driver escaped injury but the scene is that of a fatal accident earlier this year.

Late payment

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — An elderly Tucson woman apparently had misplaced a bill from a local hospital and when she discovered it she scurried over to make payment.

The original bill was $19, but the woman reached into her purse and placed $250 on the counter.

"When were you in the hospital?" the cashier asked.

"In 1936," replied the woman.

Forest service to honor 3

TWIN FALLS — Three transferring Sawtooth National Forest employees will be honored tonight with a dinner, Supervisor Ed Fournier announced Thursday.

Those leaving the Sawtooth include Philip V. Cloward, fire and timber management staff officer; Carol Jones, business management, and Michael R. Bridges, purchasing agent.

Fournier said Cloward is transferring to the Okanogan National Forest in Okanogan, Wash., where he will have staff responsibility for fire management and lands programs. He has administered fire and timber management activities on the Sawtooth National Forest since May, 1967.

Cloward received a degree in forest management from Utah State University in 1959. Since then he has served on the Fishlake National Forest, the Ogden regional office, the Payette National Forest and the Sawtooth National Forest.

He has been active in ski patrol work and is a member of the National Ski Patrol. He is also first aid instructor and has conducted many classes in the Magic Valley area.

Jones is being promoted to the post of contract specialist with the branch of asministrative services in the Ogden regional office. He has handled various business management responsibilities for the Sawtooth National Forest, since joining the staff in October, 1962. He began his forest career on the Dixie National Forest in Cedar City, Utah, in 1958.

Jones has maintained an interest in restoring antique automobiles for a number of years and owns a 1917 Cole which he drives in parades and other special events. He and his wife, Carol, have one daughter, Mary K. Jones.

Bridges is transferring to a procurement clerk position with the Department of Interior Office of Aircraft Services at the Boise Interagency Fire Center. He has been purchasing agent on the Sawtooth National Forest since July, 1972.

He began his business management career on the Halley ranger district of the Sawtooth Forest in June, 1966. He was stationed in Halley until November, 1969, when he transferred to the Wasatch National Forest supervisor's office in Salt Lake City.

He is an officer of the Twin Falls Knights of Columbus Council. He and his wife, Jo Ann, are the parents of two sons and a daughter.

Offices close Veterans Day

TWIN FALLS — City, county and state government offices will close Monday in observance of Veterans Day.

Federal offices closed for Veterans Day on Oct. 22, but the Idaho legislature voted this year to maintain closings in the state on the workday nearest the traditional holiday, Nov. 11.

Veterans Day ceremonies will be held Monday at noon in the Twin Falls City Park, according to City Manager Jean Miller.

"Spearheaded" by the Disabled American Veterans, the ceremonies will include a flag raising, a color guard from the joint recruiting stations in the city, a short address by DAV member Harold Metz, and music by the College of Southern Idaho band.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion and World War I Barracks group will participate in the flag raising.

Miller said all city employees would get the day off, except those in "emergency" departments, including firemen and policemen.

Early ski run opening possible

SUN VALLEY — An early opening of several Sun Valley ski runs may be a likelihood.

According to Ed Pilkerton, vice president of Sun Valley Company Inc., several runs may be open for weekend skiing beginning Nov. 17 if about an additional one foot of snow falls.

Thursday, the Ketchum Ranger Station reported about 28 inches of snow on the top of Bald Mt., with about 20 inches at Roundhouse. However, they reported that the snow pack was settling because of warmer temperatures.

Pilkerton said several runs are presently being packed on Dollar and Bald Mt. He said that although several runs may be opened early the general resort opening date — Dec. 15 — would remain in effect.

2258 Addison Avenue East (Corner of Eastland Drive and Addison Avenue) Twin Falls

Hey, Bourbon Drinker.

You drink it because, among other things, it's got character. Right?

Well listen. For 10 years now America has been producing a whiskey with a character so unique, nobody's copied it yet. It's 86 proof and tastes it. It's 86 proof and acts it. It does, in fact, anything any whiskey can do.

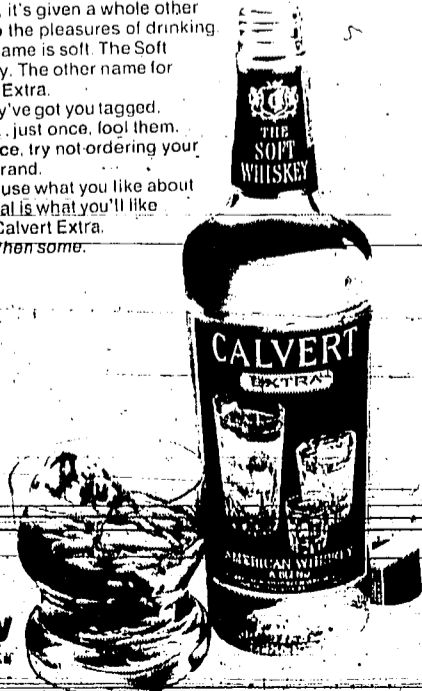

But with a difference. This one's so beautifully smooth, so easy-sipping, it's given a whole other name to the pleasures of drinking.

The name is soft. The Soft Whiskey. The other name for Calvert Extra.

If they've got you tagged, friend . . . just once, fool them. Just once, try not ordering your usual brand.

Because what you like about the usual is what you'll like about Calvert Extra.

And then some.

Soft Whiskey is your drink.

Whether you know it or not.

Fire warden plan adopted

By United Press International
 Milwaukee Mayor Henry W. Maier Thursday declared a state of emergency and announced a plan to assign fire wardens to the city's firemen after the city's firemen rejected a final offer in their contract dispute.

In New York, the head of the 30,000-member not-medical hospital workers union signed a five-day walkout against 48 hospitals and nursing homes to continue at least until Sunday, despite a federal court order to return to work, a fine of $500,000 and the city's declaration of a health emergency.

Trans World Airlines said it would temporarily reduce the salaries of 15,300 non-union members from 20 to 50 per cent of a strike by stewards and stewardesses does not end by Nov. 19. The strike has grounded the firm's planes since Sunday night.

Maier said his plan called for 7,000 individuals 18 years of age and older to use their own vehicles in scouting neighborhoods, checking out false alarms and evacuating people in the event of a fire. Negotiations resumed again late Thursday after recessing earlier in the evening.

A fire department spokesman said 114 firemen called in sick Thursday, leaving 107 to answer seven minor calls with one station of 200 National Guardsmen. There have been no major fires in Milwaukee since the strike began.

Sporadic violence and vandalism by pickets plagued New York hospitals Thursday and today. Police said about 60 demonstrators have been arrested since Monday, when Local 1190 of the Drug and Hospital Workers' Union began picketing the cost of living council into approving a 7.5 per cent wage increase that was granted by a state arbitration panel last July. The Council delayed action in approving the hike because it exceeds the 6.5 per cent federal guidelines.

Federal Court Judge Robert Carter Thursday called the strike "deliberate, irresponsible and inexcusable," and ordered the hospital employees to return to work. When they did not, Carter fined the union $500,000. Carter also directed that the council meet by Saturday to consider the increase.

Impeachment campaign starts

(c) New York Times Service
 WASHINGTON — The American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations began a formal nationwide campaign today to demand the "immediate" impeachment of President Nixon.

Officers of the organization issued a strongly worded statement urging their 19.5 million members to make the House of Representatives "aware of the need for urgency" in the effort to remove Nixon from office.

The statement cited 19 grounds for impeachment, charging that the president had "consistently lied to the American people," and contending that "until Richard Nixon is removed from office we will not be able to get Watergate behind us."

The White House declared tonight in response that the labor organization's action was "ill conceived and can only result in harming the nation at home and abroad."

Haldeman's memory fuzzy

(c) Chicago Daily News
 WASHINGTON — When H. R. (Bob) Haldeman was President Nixon's chief of staff, he had a reputation for machine-like efficiency and a file-cabinet mind.

On the witness stand at the Watergate tapes hearing yesterday, Haldeman's memory was as fuzzy as the crew cut he had abandoned for a medium-length hairdo.

Questioned about his access to the tapes before and after he left the White House, Haldeman said: — "I'm not sure," — at least seven times. — "I don't recall" — at least eight times. — "I don't know" — twice. — "That's my general recollection but I can't be positive" — once.

Haldeman stuck to his Senate Watergate testimony that he listened to only two tapes — a March 21 conversation among the President, Deputy White House Counsel John W. Dean and himself and a Sept. 15, 1972 talk with the same participants.

He did not challenge secret service logs which indicate he received 22 tapes the week before he resigned and nine in mid-July shortly before his senate appearance.

Haldeman said he could not even recall if President Nixon, the man he served for more than five years, asked him to review the tapes in mid-July or if he reported what he found to the chief executive.

"This is all part of the same genesis and I don't know what the genesis was," he explained. A frustrated Richard Ben-Veniste, of the Special Watergate task force, asked which tapes he received. "I don't remember," Haldeman answered.

DeBoer suspension asked

(c) New York Times Service
 WASHINGTON — The staff of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation has decided to recommend the suspension of Franklin S. DeBoer, a vice president of the Key Biscayne Bank and Trust Co. headed by Charles G. Rebozo, according to sources close to an investigation of the bank.

The FDIC staff recommendation against DeBoer will be made at the next meeting of the corporation's board, perhaps as early as tomorrow, the sources said. The FDIC declined to comment on the report.

The Key Biscayne bank had come under the scrutiny of a number of investigative bodies, including the senate Watergate committee.

It was disclosed recently that Rebozo, President Nixon's close friend, had accepted two $50,000 campaign contributions from Howard Hughes in 1968 or 1970, through an intermediary. He subsequently said that he kept the money in the bank until 1973, before returning it.

Rebozo was acting at the same time as a partner in an investment company that held title to Nixon's Florida properties.

Temps go down

(c) Washington Star-News
 WASHINGTON — White House thermostats were turned down to 66 degrees today in line with one of President Nixon's recommendations for conserving energy.

The new coolness extended to the White House press room, and an official of the press office came in occasionally to make sure the thermostats stayed at 66 degrees.

In his speech on the energy shortage last night Nixon asked home owners and business offices to set their thermostats at 68 degrees and ordered federal buildings to keep temperatures between 65 and 68.

Idaho markets

Maine Mixed
 After a moderately active day which saw 3,107 cars traded, Maine potato futures closed mixed 1 point loss to 16 gained.

Sources felt the day's action was mainly influenced by Wednesday's Canadian stocks on hand report which are closely associated with Maine potato production.

Meanwhile traders are anxiously awaiting two key events on tap today. First is a USDA report on fall potato production while the second is the expiration of November contracts.

Senators ask meet

(c) 1973 New York Times News Service
 WASHINGTON — Lawyers for the White House and the Senate Watergate Committee met Thursday night to discuss the committee's request for a meeting with President Nixon.

Neither side would discuss anything that may have been resolved at the meeting.

Some committee officials said that the lack of response might be an indication that the committee's path was not completely blocked, but others said there was no reason to be encouraged.

In the past, the White House has rejected overtures from the committee, contending that the doctrine of executive privilege protected the president from being questioned by the senators.

Samuel Dash, the committee's chief counsel, and the Republican counsel, Fred D. Thompson, met for about 45 minutes with the president's top lawyers, Leonard Garment, the White House counsel, and J. Fred Buzhardt Jr., the special counsel, in Buzhardt's office at the White House.

More than a third of a million sheep, cattle and horses graze in national forests in California each year, the National Forest Service says.

Fertilizer use gains

(c) BOISE (UPI) — Idaho farmers used 21 per cent more primary fertilizers in the year ending last June 30 than in the previous year, a federal-state report said today.

Fertilizer consumption of primary nutrients in the United States and Puerto Rico during the year, the report said, was up three per cent.

SEN. HENRY JACKSON pushing bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional machinery has begun to move swiftly on President Nixon's call for new legislative authority to deal with the energy crisis.

Following up the President's announcement of his fuel-saving program to the nation Wednesday and a presidential message to Congress Thursday, members of the Senate Interior Committee were meeting today to set a date for a vote.

Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said he hoped to complete "markup" of the bill today. He expected the only big fight would be from some senators, chiefly from oil-producing states, to get a clause in the bill taking federal control of natural gas prices at the point of production.

"Our target is to get the bill to the floor of the Senate this week or the next," Jackson told UPI after a nonstop 11-hour hearing Thursday.

The bill will be a combination of the President's proposals and Jackson's views in a bill he introduced Oct. 18.

One decision Jackson made Thursday was to make the bill's language stronger on bringing the nation to the brink of gasoline rationing to consumers. Nixon regarded that as a last resort, but Jackson considers it inevitable.

Nixon and Jackson agreed on the main points of the legislation, but the President to cut down on use of energy in the private and government sectors, order a national highway speed limit, force power plants to stop converting from coal to oil, and ease air quality rules so that high-pollution fuels can be used until the emergency passes.

Nixon said in his message to Congress: "It is my hope that rationing of energy products will never be required, but if circumstances dictate, there should be no impediment to swift action."

Lee C. White, former FCC

chairman and now a spokesman for some consumer groups, told the committee he was acting in too much haste.

"You are about to enact a bill giving sweeping authority to the President. I think you ought to look very carefully at each provision even if it is a day's delay," White said.

"I am not trying to ram it through," Jackson told UPI. "But this could have gone wrong every day we lose the war and the economy would be later."

"I don't like it myself. Jeez, all this government control," Jackson said. "But this is an emergency."

Initial congressional statements on the President's proposals were mostly favorable, although some Democrats resented the President's present a free-market Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. called the proposals "common sense measures," but said the President's reference to Congress not having moved fast enough on energy proposals previously was "an attempt to divert attention from his personal problems."

'Eclipse' Saturday

MIDDLE-TOWN, Conn. (UPI) — A partial eclipse of the sun will be visible in the Eastern half of the United States Saturday, but it will not be visible without at least a small telescope and it doesn't have anything to do with the moon.

The planet Mercury passes between the sun and Earth "eclipsing" about 1:20 p.m. of the solar disc. Scientists technically call it "a transit of Mercury." There won't be another visible in the United States until May 7, 2003.

The mountains that border Salt Lake city on the west are called the Ogulrrhs. The name, from the Plute Indians, means "shining mountains."

Saudis retain embargo

By United Press International

Saudi Arabia, leader of the Arab oil boycott, refused Thursday to lift its petroleum embargo despite the Middle East peace accord and the personal intercession of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

U.S. officials accompanying Kissinger on his 14-hour trip to Riyadh said Saudi Arabia, America's major Arab oil supplier, declined to resume normal oil shipments until Israel returns all occupied Arab territories.

They said the Saudi refusal came despite the Arab-Israeli peace settlement arranged by Kissinger and said Saudi Arabia was prepared to hold out for years if necessary.

The United States received 10 per cent of its oil from the Arab world before the boycott. The Arab nations also boycotted all oil shipments to Holland for its pro-Israeli stand and curtailed supplies to other Western nations.

European newspapers issued bitter denunciations Thursday of this week's nine-nation Common Market declaration condemning Israel's "acquisition of territory by force."

The developments came as the Arab boycott forced the United States, Europe and Asia to restrict the use of fuel oil.

Japan, the latest victim Thursday, ordered the gaudy neon signs in Tokyo's famed Ginza Strip turned off for the duration of the boycott.

The government also asked people to give up pleasure driving and turn off gas cooking stove pilot lights.

Amin lauds Nixon

KAMPALA (UPI) — Ugandan President Idi Amin Thursday praised President Nixon's handling of the Watergate scandal and said a weaker man would have resigned or committed suicide.

"I wish to congratulate you and compliment you most sincerely for this courageous stand," Amin said in a telegram to Nixon. "I am sure any other weak leader would have resigned or committed suicide after being subjected to so much harassment because of the Watergate affair."

Controversy swirls around aide Haig

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig has become a central figure in the controversy over the independence of the special Watergate prosecutor.

Leon Jaworski, the administration's prosecutor, told a House Judiciary subcommittee Thursday that Haig was the man who gave him assurances he would have free rein and could sue President Nixon for information if he felt it necessary.

In another hearing room, former Attorney General Elliot Richardson told the Senate Judiciary Committee that Haig had been the bearer of a warning last July that prosecutor Archibald Cox should limit his investigation or he would be fired.

The House subcommittee voted tentatively to write a bill to have the 19 judges of the U.S. District Court select three of their number to appoint a special prosecutor for a three year term.

Jaworski testified that Haig told him Nov. 1, the day before his appointment, that "I would have the right to sue the President for anything needed to carry out the investigation."

Boyle won't fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Recovered from an overdose of barbiturates, former United Mine Workers president W.A. "Tony" Boyle reportedly has elected not to fight extradition to Pittsburgh on a murder-conspiracy charge.

Boyle, 71, who was hospitalized after taking the overdose Sept. 24, the eve of a court extradition hearing, was scheduled to leave George Washington University Hospital to appear in U.S. District Court for that hearing today.

The government wants to remove him to Pittsburgh to face charges he conspired to murder his union rival, Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski.

Boyle's attorney, Charles Moses, has told U.S. Magistrate Arthur Burnett that Boyle plans to waive any attempt to block the transfer.

The fiery former union official, who was ousted from office in a special court-ordered election last year, was indicted by a federal grand jury in Pittsburgh on charges he

Red, Saigon units fight in highlands

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops clashed with government forces today in the fifth day of infantry, armor and artillery battles for control of the southern Central Highlands. Saigon and Viet Cong spokesmen have called the fighting the start of a third Vietnam war.

The military command said government forces, who have lost three outposts since Sunday, fought early today to halt a Communist push toward the province capital of Gia Nghia, 110 miles north of Saigon.

The command said two government armored troop carriers (APCs) were heavily damaged in the fighting. A spokesman said there were no immediate casualty figures available on the pre-dawn clash.

The command said the fight was the third in 24 hours within a dozen miles of Gia Nghia, a key province capital on Highway 14 which runs from Saigon to the major Central Highlands city — Pleiku, 230 miles north of the capital.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: If you use my letter, please don't use my name. I already feel like a first class fool. I am a 58-year-old widow who signed up with a computer dating service four months ago.

After four months without one suitable date, I asked this company for a $200 refund. They turned me down. I saw my lawyer, who said I was an idiot for having gone for a date like this in the first place.

I could sue them, but I don't want to publicize my foolishness. I ask you, are all these mating and dating services just out to take people? And where does a respectable woman go to meet a decent man?

DEAR BEEN: I've had both bad and good reports on computer dating and mating services. (Mostly bad, which don't surprise me since people write to me about their bad dates—not their good.) I agree with your lawyer. Respectable women meet decent men thru mutual friends, or in decent places like volunteer organizations, church groups, adult education classes.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 years old and am still a virgin. This guy I'll call Randy asked me to go all the way with him. I told him I was saving myself for marriage, and he said I was foolish because no guy wants a virgin anymore. Is that true?

Randy signed up for the Navy for four years and he is leaving soon. Do you think a girl should get that serious with a guy before he goes into the Navy? He probably just wants somebody to write to, but I am afraid to get involved with him knowing he'll be tied-up with the Navy for so long.

Please tell me what to do as I am all mixed up.

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN DOUBT: Slow up, young lady, or you will be in TROUBLE. Plenty of guys want their brides to be virgins, so don't let Randy sell you a bill of goods. He sounds an immature, irresponsible kid who would do well to get away from.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 30-year-old woman whose mother told her she is "blockheaded and stubborn" because she refuses to try to make friends with a large dog that attacked her two years ago.

Being attacked by this dog was a traumatic experience for me. I can still remember the bleeding teeth marks on my wrist, and the large scar on my leg which took a year to heal.

My mother claims that this dog is friendly to anyone who isn't afraid of him, so I should pet him thru the fence to make friends with him, and act like I am not afraid of him. I claim that under the circumstances it is normal for me to be afraid, and even foolish to be otherwise.

This dog was trained as a watchdog. Am I being stubborn?

DEAR J. W.: Yes. But intelligently so. They say, every dog is entitled to one bite. And that dog has had his.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69706, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

three spades and two diamonds and that this play is not going to work.

It worked for Terence. He played the ace and king of trumps and ran diamonds but he found a way to persuade East not to ruff the third one.

It wasn't really difficult. He cashed his ace of diamonds, led a diamond to dummy's king and continued with the jack. It appeared to East that West was holding the queen so East discarded. Now Terence went back to dummy with the ace of hearts, got the club discard he needed and wound up losing one trump, one heart and one club.

No series of articles on deception by declarers would be complete without the inclusion of a little gem played by England's Terence Reese.

Reese ducked the first club. He didn't like the lead and hoped that West would shift, but West continued the suit which Reese won with the club ace. It isn't hard to see the correct continuation by declarer. He must play two rounds of trumps and then lead diamonds. If the player with the high trump holds three or more, declarer will be able to discard his last club on the last diamond. You can also see that East holds

Sibling Helpers to meet

TWIN FALLS — The first meeting of the Twin Falls Parent-Sibling Helper Service will be held Monday, at 8 p.m. at Robert Stuart Junior High School.

The Helper Service, sponsored by the Idaho Association for Retarded Children, is being initiated to provide better communication between parents and siblings in families who have just learned that a member of the family has a developmental disability.

The Helper Service will provide those families who have adjusted to having a retarded child in the family "reach out to new families just learning or acknowledging that they have a handicapped family member," according to Julian Lutes of the Twin Falls Adult Development Center.

FHA housing project being built

Hazelton units progress

JEROME — One of the last farm housing complexes approved for the state of Idaho is now under construction west of Hazelton.

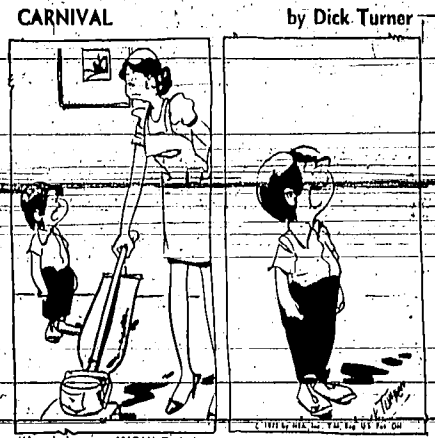

The new complex of 48 units when finished in April of 1974 was by the Farm Home Administration.

The complex is being constructed with federal grant moneys. According to Vern Yeats, Boise, rural housing Specialist with the FHA, the government is not at this time providing any grant money for farm housing projects.

Yeats said the Hazelton complex was fortunate enough to receive additional funds after its allocation had been approved because of the increased cost of building.

Ground preparation work was finished at the site in October and construction is now under way on some units with the foundations for others having been poured.

When completed the Valley Agricultural Housing Complex will contain 24 duplex units, built in a park type setting with parking for trucks and family vehicles. The units will serve both the benefit of people making a living from agricultural work.

Fresh union trouble crop due in California

(c) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — Frank E. Fitzsimmons, president of the Teamsters Union, said Thursday his union would continue to honor contracts with grape growers in California despite tentative agreement with AFL-CIO President George Meany to get out of the vineyards.

Under the agreement with Meany, reached in late September, the Teamsters Union would have abandoned its contracts with grape growers immediately and would give up its lettuce contracts when they expired, leaving Cesar Chavez's United Farm Workers Union free to negotiate with the growers. However, Fitzsimmons told reporters the Teamsters would honor their "moral and legal" obligations to the growers with whom they had contracts. Fitzsimmons did not say flatly he would repudiate his tentative pact with Meany. At a seminar of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service here, he said he would make a formal announcement in a week or so after consulting with Meany.

Meanwhile, it was learned that the California growers and Teamster officials would meet in San Diego, Calif., next week.

If the Teamsters continue to honor their grape contracts, however, it would mean that Fitzsimmons has repudiated his agreement with Meany, an agreement reached after long, arduous negotiations between the Teamsters and AFL-CIO. It would also mean continued strife between Chavez's union on one hand and the Teamsters and growers on the other in the farmlands of California.

When told of Fitzsimmons' statement, Chavez commented: "We are not surprised. We had no trust in the Teamsters. We've been down that road with them too many times. We knew right along that they never intended to keep their agreement with Meany. They were just trying to buy a little time and take the pressure off them."

In a telephone interview from his California headquarters, Chavez said he was glad Fitzsimmons had stated his intentions because that "cleared the air."

Now that the agreement appears dead, Chavez said, he hoped for new support both in money and pickets for the United Farm Workers' boycott of grapes. The boycott of iceberg lettuce, which had been "de-escalated" because of the possible pact between the two unions, will now be resumed, and new strikes will be called against grape growers starting next spring and possibly lettuce growers this winter, Chavez said.

When told of Fitzsimmons' statement, Chavez commented: "We are not surprised. We had no trust in the Teamsters. We've been down that road with them too many times. We knew right along that they never intended to keep their agreement with Meany. They were just trying to buy a little time and take the pressure off them."

Jerome girls due Chicago 4-H trip

JEROME — Two Jerome County girls will participate along with other Magic Valley girls in a week long 4-H Congress Nov. 25-29 in Chicago. Karin Hollifield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hollifield, and Jeannie Stigle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Stigle, were selected to attend the 52nd National 4-H Congress. The girls who were chosen on the basis of their 4-H club activities will compete with top winners of all the state for six top scholarships of $700, according to Mrs. Sharon Allred, extension home economist.

Mrs. Allred said this is the first time in some time that Jerome County youngsters have won the all expense paid trip to Chicago. "The girls have been judged on their record books which have been sent to Chicago. Miss Hollifield was selected under her food preservation (canning and freezing foods) projects and Miss Stigle under the dairy foods division," Mrs. Allred said.

Livestock tax ruling rescinded

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service is having second thoughts about taxation of deferred-payment livestock sales.

The IRS in September ruled that if a livestock owner sold animals to a marketer on a deferred payment basis, he could include the payment in his gross income for the year in which it was made.

Now the IRS has rescinded that ruling, and taken the matter of spreading payment over several tax years under review.

The result, the IRS says, is that deferred payments may have to be reported as gross income the year the contract is made, and not the year the payment actually changes hands.

"Because this matter is now under further consideration, taxpayers who enter into this kind of transaction do so without any assurance that they may be able to report the income from the transaction in a later year," the IRS warned livestock owners.

WASHINGTON (CNS) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture has forecast agricultural exports in fiscal year 1974 will reach a record of $10 billion.

Of that, grain and feed exports are expected to reach about $10 billion; exports of oil seed and products, $4.5 billion; cotton exports about $5.7 million; livestock and meat products about $1.2 billion; fruits and vegetables up to nearly $1 billion.

A strong southwesterly moist flow aloft continues to bring periods of precipitation and mild temperatures to most of the Pacific northwest. No change in the current pattern is expected through Tuesday.

However, precipitation amounts and the time interval between periods of precipitation will vary across the state of Idaho due primarily to the north south movement of the jet stream. Earlier this week, the storm track or jet stream was located over central Idaho and one-half to three-fourths of an inch of precipitation fell in the Magic and Treasure valleys with 12 to 18 inches of new snow in the central mountains.

The jet stream shifted slightly north Thursday and is expected to fluctuate between central Idaho and the Canadian border for the next several days.

Joint soybean research asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A leading American economist has suggested that the United States and China create a Sino-American soybean research institute to boost production and ease shortages of soybeans in protein starved parts of the developing world.

Lester Brown, a senior economist at the Overseas Development Council, believes the combination of American technology and know-how combined with the wide variety of soybean germ plasm in China could boost production to meet the protein needs of the developing nations in Asia and Africa.

The United States and China account for 90 per cent of the world production of soybeans, a major staple in the diets of Asians and Africans. Soybeans also are the dominant source of protein for livestock and poultry feed in North America and Europe.

But although American farmers are planting increased acreage in soybeans, the yield per acre has remained almost static. Scientists have increased per acre yields of soybeans by only 1 per cent, compared to increased yields of 4 per cent for corn.

With nearly all the idle farmland in the United States being put back into food production, increased production of soybeans has about reached the maximum under known methods. This limit is being reached at a time when demand for more protein, particularly the high quality protein contained in soybeans, is sharply rising.

In an editorial in Science Magazine, Brown said, "These difficulties in raising soybeans yields in a land-scarce world suggest the need for a much greater research effort in particular for the creation of a Sino-American soybean research institute."

"Since the soybean originated in China, it probably has the most diverse available collection of germ plasm, a vital asset in an expanded soybean research effort."

"On the other hand, scientists in the United States have expanded a great deal of effort to devise better cultural practices and to make the soybean plant more productive."

"The critical importance of the soybean to both economies, not to mention mankind as a whole, and the pressing need to achieve a breakthrough in yields of soybeans, argues for a pooling of germ plasm, the coordination of research efforts and the sharing of research results."

Brown said while worldwide demand for protein is growing, "the supply problem is somewhat less promising."

Although one in every six acres of American cropland now is planted in soybeans, the Department of Agriculture projects a decline in the soybean crop in 1974 as other crops compete for acreage.

Wendell traffic surveyed

WENDELL — An Idaho Highway Department survey of traffic by Wendell Elementary School resulted in a recommendation for "better control of students," Wendell City councilmen were told Thursday.

A letter from the state highway department said the survey, requested following a council meeting at which Sen. James Yost, R-Wendell, asked for the study, was conducted between 2:30 and 3:10 p.m. Oct. 29. It was found that pedestrian traffic is light and there are about 262 vehicles per hour travelling along Highway 25 in front of the school during the time school is dismissed.

The survey reported children crossing the highway randomly instead of using crosswalks and making several trips back and forth across the street. A traffic safety program in the school was suggested.

A "bouncing ball" warning light controlled from the principal's office could be installed along with the existing school zone signs, the report said. Cost of the light, estimated at $1,000, would be borne by the city and/or the school.

The council will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday to open bids for the city sewer system. An aerator, chlorinator and lines to carry water from the lagoons to city property will be constructed.

City engineer Hugh Hedges was asked to prepare specifications for water lines for the new water system.

Mayor Eugene Soares told the council that the city may have to extend sewer lines to the Marcus Koll subdivision because of receipt of a federal sewer extension grant. Soares said the Environmental Protection Agency will not approve the septic tank applications the Koll subdivision plat calls for.

Re-investment of sewer bond funds will be considered at the next council meeting. Currently $15,000 is invested in a long term treasury bond and $5,000 is in a short term certificate of deposit. The city must reserve $10,000 and may reserve $20,000. The entire amount may be put in long term treasury bonds. The sewer bond will be paid off in 1985.

Wendell's Christmas lights will be turned on Christmas eve only.

The next council meeting falls on Thanksgiving and will be changed to Nov. 26.

CONCRETE abutments are nearing completion over the Mulud River Gorge on Highway 25 in Gooding County as part of the Interstate 80 project. After the abutments are finished, the project will be delayed until steel can be obtained in April, according to Howard Johnson, Shoshone, district highway engineer.

Tax notes okayed

BOISE — The Board of Examiners gave State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon permission Thursday to issue tax anticipation notes for the current fiscal year.

Mrs. Moon said between $4 and $5 million in notes would be issued. She said this was the first time in several years the notes had been issued so late in the fiscal year. The notes are necessary because the state's general fund has to make expenditures that exceed the amount of revenue it receives early in the fiscal year.

The treasurer said the notes were being issued later this year than in previous years because the first quarterly transfer of public school funds from the general fund had been partially taken care of with federal revenue sharing money.

Road extension approved

BOISE (UPI) — The State Highway Board has approved a 15.9-mile extension of state highway 78 from the junction of highway 51 northeast of Bruneau to a junction with U. S. 30 at Hammett.

Subject to approval by local road units involved, the move will become effective Dec. 1.

Meantime, the board voted unanimously to drop from the state system that portion of Highway 75 which joins U.S. 93 and 92A by way of Trail Creek pass east of the Sun Valley City limits.

Firearms prohibited

BOISE (UPI) — Firearms will be prohibited in the Snake River birds of prey natural area during certain portions of the year, according to Robert Krumm, Boise district manager of the Bureau of Land Management.

He said the closure will be in force each year between March 1 and Aug. 31 and that hunting in the area, under Idaho Fish and Game Department regulations, will be permitted between Sept. 1 and the last day of February.

Organizations praised

BOISE (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy, told members of the Altrusa Club of Boise Thursday night the influence of civic organizations working independently of government or private enterprise are more needed than ever.

Murphy was a speaker at the group's 50th Anniversary celebration.

"The country's 975,000 noncommercial, nongovernment organizations perform a blinding variety of functions," he said.

Flying routes told

MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho (UPI) — Officials at Mountain Home Air Force Base have announced flying routes at 500 to 1,000 feet above ground for F-111 fighter bomber crews that will pass over parts of Idaho, Utah, Nevada and Western Oregon.

Col. Howard W. Teaf, Commander, 366th Tactical Fighter Wing, said the low level routes are coordinated with and approved by the Federal Aviation Administration. They are used to train aircrews and maintain their flying proficiency.

Permits needed

BOISE (UPI) — An estimated 2,000 waste disposal wells in Idaho are operating without permits, and Water Administration Director Keith Higginson says requirements must be met or the wells will be closed by Jan. 1.

Legislation enacted in 1971 provides that wells existing by July 1, 1971, must have permits to operate after Jan. 1, 1974.

He said applications for permits have been received for only seven of the 2,000 waste disposal wells.

Recount asked

SODA SPRINGS, Idaho (UPI) — A 16-year-old veteran of the Soda Springs City Council lost his bid for the mayor's seat by one vote and has asked for a recount.

Art Kelly lost to Milton Gambles by a vote of 352 to 361. The day after elections Kelly said he was interested in a recount.

The Soda Springs City clerk plans to have the recount completed in time for certification by the City Council at its meeting tonight.

Hearing set Dec. 6

BOISE — The Public Utilities Commission has set a hearing for Dec. 6 into the Idaho Power Company's request to construct a turbine generator and other facilities in Blaine County.

The utility had requested permission to construct and install a 50 megawatt combustion turbine generator and related facilities at its Wood River Substation between Hailey and Ketchum. The application proposes to rebuild and convert company transmission lines in the area.

The hearing will be at the Grange Hall in Hailey beginning at 9 a.m.

Charter okay seen

BOISE — The State Department of Finance is ready to approve an application for a state savings and loan charter in Blaine County.

Commissioner Thomas D. McEldowney said Thursday the bylaws and the papers had been returned to proposed institution's officials so they could rename the bank.

Earlier, a department hearing was held on the proposed name, First Idaho Savings and Loan, would possibly be harmful to the new institution because an institution with a closely related name had failed in the county several years ago.

As a result, the new name is expected to be First Intermountain Savings and Loan.

But McEldowney said his department was "ready to go" with granting the charter once the change had been made.

Education aides meet

TWIN FALLS — Northwest state vocational education directors met with federal vocational education officials at the College of Southern Idaho Wednesday and Thursday.

Roy Irons, Idaho director of vocational education, said one purpose of the meeting is to "get out and see what's going on in various states on vocational education."

He said the directors meet bi-annually in different northwest states to see various programs and to discuss vocational education in general.

Irons described CSI vocational programs as "real good" and said he looked forward to the day when there would be enough funds to centralize all the programs on the campus.

Sam Kerr, northwest director of occupational and adult education, said he was "favorably impressed" with both high school and college vocational programs in Twin Falls. He said the programs offer a wide variety and a high quality of classes.

Legislative plans heard

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — Salary adjustments and plans for the 1974 legislative session were the major topics of discussion during the annual Idaho State Employee's Association legislative banquet here Thursday night.

More than 400 people attended the banquet. Area legislators attending included representatives William Lanting and Ralph Olmstead, Twin Falls; Earl Greenawalt, Jerome; James Yost, Wendell, and Vernon Ravenscroft, Tullite.

The Magic Valley chapter of ISEA holds a banquet each year for area legislators to acquaint them with proposed legislation involving state employees and which ISEA plans to introduce.

Bill Roden, Boise, executive legislative consultant for ISEA, spoke on proposed salary adjustments for state employees.

"The ISEA personnel commission and the ad hoc committee has been meeting monthly with Gov. Cecil Andrus in an attempt to work out a usable salary adjustment program for state employees that can be introduced in the coming legislative session.

It will be proposed to

It will be proposed the state employees' minimum wage be increased above the federally established non-farm poverty level.

The proposal which will involve more than 300 state employees calls for an increase of the minimum wage from $325 per month to $385 per month. This would be $16 above the poverty level.

"The Idaho personnel commission has recommended a 2.5 per cent cost of living increase be given a state employee. The ISEA feels the 2.5 per cent should be raised to a 4 per cent across the board cost of living increase for the 1974-75 fiscal year. Gov. Andrus has indicated he would consider both proposals to see if they could be implemented into the state budget," Roden said.

He said the ISEA has also recommended on July 1, 1974, state employee salaries be raised to levels being paid in private business based on June, 1973, salary information.

Olmstead said he feels state employees should keep in mind that "we don't want them to lead the rates, but have a position of keeping up."

Lanting said he does not feel he should make a commitment on the ISEA proposal until all facts and figures are down on paper.

Greenawalt said the mail he received indicates all agencies are concerned about salaries. "I don't feel I can make an evaluation of the matter until I get to the legislature and see what the other needs of the state are," Greenawalt said.

He indicated he feels ISEA is on the right track when it comes to improving salaries in the lower brackets.

Ravenscroft said while the state budget had a $5.3 million surplus it will only generate $20 million in demands and requests.

Yost said he is more in favor of the ISEA proposal this year than last year, but he would like to study it further before making commitments.

Don Baugh, president of the ISEA said he believes state employees have too much confidence in their leaders and staff and less than a majority of state employees are members of the ISEA.

"We should have more than 50 per cent membership because the size of our organization has a great deal to do with the voice we have in the legislature. It will carry more weight if we can go to the legislature and say 'we represent the thinking of more than half of the state employees and this is what they want,'" Baugh said.

KETCHUM — Arraignment on a complaint and summons in Blaine county magistrate court was scheduled for today for Greg Allehandri, Ketchum.

'Mob' eyes Idaho land?

Another major organized crime business, the attorney general said, was narcotics traffic.

Although the risk was considerably higher, a drug trafficker can turn over his money five times in three months.

In the 1950s and early 60s narcotic usage was primarily confined to the ghettos, Park said. "Now it's right in the middle of Middle America," he said.

He said law enforcement cannot handle the problem alone and said a three-pronged effort is needed, including law enforcement, rehabilitation and education.

"Until we begin to make an evenly balanced effort, we will continue to run these people through a revolving door," he said.

In response to a question, Park also discussed the proposed transfer of federal lands located between Trail Creek and Lake Creek, north of Ketchum, to the state.

The Blaine County commissioners earlier had opposed the transfer because they felt that if the lands came under state jurisdiction they might be sold at auction and go into development.

Park said the land board feels they will continue to keep the property in lieu lands status because of the number of safeguards existing.

If the land does come up for auction, Park said, "The commissioners will have opportunity to state their attitude on the sale." If they express serious misgivings and strongly recommend that the land not be sold, he said, the land board will listen very carefully to their statements.

TF planners OK ordinance

The residential-agricultural zone west of Washington Street was dropped and the adjacent residential-medium zone extended one-half mile to the west of Washington Street, with the remainder of the R-A zone reverting to agricultural.

A motion by Lanting that any subdivision be required to have central sewage and water was called "restrictive and completely unenforceable" by chairman Koutnik and failed 5 to 4 with some abstentions.

A second recommendation by Lanting that all land north of Pole Line Road be designated agricultural until the Snake River Canyon question can be studied further was not acted upon.

The zoning board tabled all action on canyon rim zoning until its next meeting on Dec. 6 awaiting recommendations by a specially-appointed canyon study committee.

Koutnik said the special committee, composed of landowners and preservationists, "better come up with something fast or we're going to bypass them."

County Commissioner William Wiseman told the zoning board the commissioners would like to have the zoning ordinance completed as soon as possible. Wiseman suggested that the ordinance might be revised within a month.

TF aides award contract

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County commissioners Thursday awarded contracts to operate county landfills to T and W Excavating and A. R. Bailey.

T and W was awarded a contract for $32,440 to operate the main Twin Falls landfill and the east landfill at Buhl.

Bailey was awarded a contract for $6,600 to operate the small landfill at Murtaugh.

Bailey was the low bidder on the east landfill, but the low bidder on the main and west landfills was C. B. Eaton and Sons, $88,499.

The Eaton firm holds the current landfill contract with the county, but had exercised an option to withdraw from the contract, which at about $60,000 was said to be unprofitable.

Commission chairman William Chancey said Thursday that the Eaton bid on the landfills was passed over by the commissioners because his work had not been "up to standard."

"Due to his (Eaton's) performance in the past," Chancey said, "we couldn't accept his bid, so we took the next lowest bid."

County landfill director Darrell Heider said the contract with T and W, while not excessive, would not leave enough in the landfill budget to make improvements at the sites.

Rally Day ends church promotion

TWIN FALLS — A month-long Sunday school promotion at the First Christian Church will be climaxed with Rally Day Sunday.

The congregation will seek to match the Rally Day attendance of 40 years ago, in 1930, and members are urged to wear their old-fashioned attire.

A prize will be given to the most authentic costume, according to Rev. Ray Jones, minister.

He said Paul Moseley gave prizes to winners of the best promotional posters. They include Jim Bolton, high school class; Pam Moseley, intermediate department; Kami Henman, junior department; and Kurt Henman, primary department.

Pictures of the combined Sunday school classes will be taken on the church steps. This is the first picture to be taken in more than 40 years.

A souvenir will be given everyone attending as a memento of this 1973 Rally Day, the minister said.

Church school teachers will be honored during the morning worship—with a special dedication service.

Rev. Jones will preach on the topic, "And He gave some to be teachers."

Movies will be taken as the congregation leaves the worship service. These movies will be shown later, as were the 1930 movies enjoyed by the future generation, the minister said.

A HUMBLE and wild chase across ghetto rooftops leads to a gang member's death in this scene from "The Cross and the Switchblade." The film was adapted from Rev. David Wilkerson's best-seller of the same title based on his struggle to help ghetto youth.

Death scene from film

FILER — Rev. Roy W. Watson announces "The Cross and the Switchblade" will be shown at the Filer High School Auditorium Sunday through Wednesday. There will be two showings on Sunday; at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Showing on the other days is at 8 p.m. The film is being sponsored by a number of concerned Christian people in Filer, Rev. Watson said.

The book "The Cross and the Switchblade" has sold over nine million copies in 15 languages and is recognized by religious leaders as a classic work.

In the 1950s religion was still experiencing a post-war boom with high church attendance, much new building and increased funding. This was before the popular awareness of the severe urban crisis, growing drug use and deep racial problems that afflict our society, according to Watson.

However, during that period, a then unknown minister, David Wilkerson, was tormented by the plight of urban youth in particular, and the many wasted lives of young people that would never realize their potential.

The pent up energy of youth crowded into ghettos that so often exploded into gang warfare and violence, could be creatively transformed and the only way he knew how to prove it was to go out on the street.

His message was simple, "God's love and Spirit for anyone, absolutely anyone, who would follow Jesus Christ." At first this seemed ridiculous to hardened youth for whom day-to-day survival was all of life.

Constant danger and repeated threats did not scare Wilkerson off, Watson says, and the God that Wilkerson talked about on the street brought him, as he sees it, through one crisis after another—eventually he won.

Youth were changed, some of the most violent and deformed. His work spread from city to city, now in over 40 cities in the United States and Europe, which has given new life to literally hundreds of thousands of people.

In the ensuing years since Wilkerson started on the streets, the institutional church has come across much difficulty. Attendance is shrinking, building has almost stopped, and giving is down, but a new manifestation of the church has caught on—the gospel on the streets.

This movement which is now blossoming in the most unexpected places can best be understood by looking at the daring lives of some devout men who brought the gospel out of the cathedrals into the stench and tensions of life at the extremity.

"The Cross and the Switchblade" depicts the seemingly impossible transformation—from hopelessness to joy—from hate to love—from waste to fulfillment, Watson said.

Nursery facilities will be available for parents of small children. Special music will be provided each night.

Dr. Brock has served as pastor of various churches from 1932 until 1964. The past nine years he has served as president of the Western Baptist Bible College, Salem and is now chancellor at the college.

Dr. Brock has written a series of adult Sunday School lessons for Regular Baptist Press, and is a frequent speaker at youth rallies, summer conferences and family life conferences.

Pastor Robert Seaman, Grace Baptist Church, said the conferences are open to all members and other interested residents of the community.

JAMES T. BOHL evangelist

Singer appears in Filer

FILER — James T. Bohl, song evangelist, will present a special program at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Filer Church of the Nazarene.

Bohl has been called America's great revival-time singer. A farm boy from Iowa, he decided upon full-time evangelism in the open fields he loves so well and he has appeared in every part of the United States and in 16 foreign countries.

A graduate of Olivet Nazarene College, Bohl is at home whether in a tin-roofed camp meeting shed, London's top recording studios, or with a local congregation.

In 1969 in competition with every religious record made that year, his record was nominated for the honored "grammy" award and was voted number two in the nation as the best gospel record of the year.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to hear this well-loved singer, according to Rev. Gernie W. Iwersen, pastor.

Movie adaptation of book planned for Filer

FILER — Rev. Roy W. Watson announces "The Cross and the Switchblade" will be shown at the Filer High School Auditorium Sunday through Wednesday. There will be two showings on Sunday; at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Showing on the other days is at 8 p.m. The film is being sponsored by a number of concerned Christian people in Filer, Rev. Watson said.

The book "The Cross and the Switchblade" has sold over nine million copies in 15 languages and is recognized by religious leaders as a classic work.

In the 1950s religion was still experiencing a post-war boom with high church attendance, much new building and increased funding. This was before the popular awareness of the severe urban crisis, growing drug use and deep racial problems that afflict our society, according to Watson.

However, during that period, a then unknown minister, David Wilkerson, was tormented by the plight of urban youth in particular, and the many wasted lives of young people that would never realize their potential.

The pent up energy of youth crowded into ghettos that so often exploded into gang warfare and violence, could be creatively

Declo tops Westside but Murtaugh bows to Grace

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—Texas El Paso basketball coach Don Haskins Thursday described as a "feeble attempt at humor, at best" a remark he made about an unnamed Western Athletic Conference coach paying $500 to prospective recruits.

Utah beats Nets 124-109

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The Utah Stars raced away from New York in the second period and easily defeated the Nets 124-109 in American Basketball Association action Thursday—hunting New York its eighth straight loss.

Grace used a fake flea flicker to slip past Murtaugh in the final 31 seconds after the Devils spent almost the entire second half on Grace's side of the 50-yard line.

Declo started its battle blazing when Randy Brackenbury took the opening kickoff and zipped 80 yards for a quick, 6-0 lead. Randy Oatorhout converted for two points.

Malad likes to throw the ball and has a good quarterback in Steve Edwards. He has several good receivers with the fastest A-2 sprinter in the state, Blaisdell, as the most potent weapon.

Buhl coach Jon Jund watched the Dragons play last weekend. They throw just about every down and they send four and five receivers out on patterns. We are going to try to copy with it with a strong pass rush because if our line can't force them to at least hurry a little, our secondary is going to be facing the toughest job of the year.

Conch Jund said his Indians seem in pretty good condition for the encounter. Charlie Hepworth, who is a runner-thrower-receiver, should be at near peak condition after being held out of Buhl's last game.

The youngster—re-injured a knee and although available for at least spot duty against Valley, sat the game out.

On his own offensive game plan, Coach Jund said the Indians would stick to what they've been doing all year. "We went into the season figuring on throwing about 50 per cent of the time and with (Ron) Folkings and Hepworth we can throw the ball about as well as anyone."

The matchup for the doubleheader seems ideal. Marsh Valley is described as a team very similar to Jerome with an offensive look reminiscent of Burley.

Marsh Valley has a good sized team that prides itself in defense. It likes to work on the ground, favoring the fullback pitchout and the student body left and right off tackle. They have a little hesitance in throwing the ball.

That fills Gooding's bill quite well. The Senators have been a defensive team and have shown good ability to stop ground attacks, particularly when the other team is threatening.

The offense has been the continuing frustration of the season for Coach Rod Rutherford. Don Bellamy is a gummy, determined runner and twice in key games been able to get the Senators into the end zone on most situations.

Foreman to defend his world title against Bugner in London. I promoted a world title fight with Ali in the open air at Highbury in 1966 and it is my ambition to do this again.

"I would make Foreman a considerable offer and since he does not seem to have signed for a fight anywhere I think he would meet Bugner."

Bugner lost decisions to both Ali and Frazier earlier this year. Levene stressed that his plans for Bugner rested on the Briton winning his fight against American Mac Foster at Wembley on Tuesday.

Bugner's manager, Andy Smith, was confident that Bugner would do better than last time against both Ali and Frazier the next time they met.

"It's always nice to have the opportunities put our way. I would prefer Joe to fight Ali, because if he can last 12 rounds with a cut eye as he did in Las Vegas last February, he must stand a chance. But I would only take a fight against any one of them, if and when, I think Bugner is ready for it, not before."

Smith did not write off the coming fight with Foster.

Westside immediately moved, on two pass completions and a pass interference call that killed a Declo interception, to a first down at the pino. Declo stopped that bid, taking over on the 18-yard line. But two plays later, a Declo fumble bounced back into the end zone and a Westside lineman fell on it for the touchdown.

Westside took the lead in the second-quarter when Larry Thomas and Kevin Leak hooked up on a 40-yard bomb. Leak took the ball on a 30-yard strike and no one was around as the Declo secondary was caught playing half zone and half man-to-man.

The Pirates started back on the 60-yard line in the half but Thomas tried one too many passes. Robby Riding picked it off at his one-yard line and romped 90 yards. Brackenbury threw to Dan Kidd for the conversion hat made it 10-12 at halftime.

Westside took the lead for the last time on a weird play, capping a good drive. The Pirates were looking at a fourth and 14 at the 14 when it appeared a fumble had stymied the last shot.

However, Thomas got to the loose ball and, with all the Declo defenders coming up, lofted a short strike to Rod Cornia.

Declo bounced back downfield for the winning score, but it also came on a little extra action. Brent Webb broke into the line from about a yard out and fumbled into the end zone when hit. However, Dan Kidd was there to fall on it and nail down the Declo win.

The first game was about as tight as the 12-12 deadlock Murtaugh and Grace played two weeks ago.

Statistically, though, Murtaugh had by far the best of it. Until the decisive play, Grace had managed only a net four yards in total offense in the second half.

After a scoreless first period, Murtaugh mounted a solid drive and Steve Stanger capped it on a one-foot quarterback sneak. But the point-after kick was blocked.

From then on Murtaugh was threatening all the time but couldn't muster the knockout punch. At one point the Devils went with a field goal attempt, but it too was blocked.

Grace had been using the flea-flicker all night with little success. But with 25 seconds left, the short forward pass went out to the end. Murtaugh's defensive back came up and went for the trailing back when the end failed the pitch back. But the end kept and sailed 45 yards for the tying points. Grace then booted the point-after to win it.

Pistons drop Hawks 129-115
ATLANTA (UPI)—The Detroit Pistons defeated the Atlanta Hawks for the second time in as many games Thursday night, 129-115, scoring the most points Atlanta has given up this season.

The Pistons' individual scoring was spread out, with forward Don Adams, a former Hawk, leading with 13 points. Center Bob Lanier had 21, guard Dave Bing had 20 and guard Stan Lantz came off the bench for 17.

Lou Hudson led Atlanta with 33 points and Pete Maravich, the NBA's leading scorer with a 29.6 average, had 28 points. Atlanta missed starting guard Herm Gilliam who will be out for several games with a pulled hamstring muscle. The win made Detroit's season record 0-5 while Atlanta slipped to 8-6.

LSU won't play just anyone in any bowl

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—The undefeated, seventh-ranked Louisiana State Tigers voted Thursday to meet a higher-rated opponent in a post-season bowl game.

Coach Charles McClendon said he polled his team after reports that Alabama seniors voted earlier Thursday to play Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl should an invitation be extended. The earliest bowl bids can be issued is 6 p.m. Nov. 17.

LSU's vote opened the way for a New Year's night meeting between the Tigers and sixth-ranked Penn State in the Orange Bowl. The Nittany Lions would be the only team rated above LSU available if No. 2 Alabama and No. 5 Notre Dame go to the Sugar Bowl.

The winner of the Nov. 24 match between top-ranked Ohio State and No. 4 Michigan will meet the Pacific Eight Conference champion in the Rose Bowl.

Third-ranked Oklahoma is ineligible for post-season play because of NCAA disciplinary action, leaving only Penn State above LSU.

"I left the decision up to the squad and I am gratified that they have the intense desire and determination that they wish to play an opponent which has, at this time, a higher ranking in the wire service ratings," said McClendon.

"I'm glad to get this decision by my squad and since the invitations may be extended after 6 p.m. Saturday Nov. 17, we will have this entire matter resolved prior to the 7:30 p.m. CST kickoff of our game with Mississippi State," he said.

"Now we can concentrate on a fine Mississippi State team."

The 8-0 Tigers meet Mississippi State Nov. 17 and then host Alabama in a nationally televised Thanksgiving evening battle before closing the season against 17th-ranked Tulane Dec. 1.

DePaul airs eligibility question

CHICAGO (UPI)—Bill Robins and Andy Panulz, starters on De Paul's basketball team, were declared permanently ineligible by the University Thursday for playing in a post-season tournament last March.

However, the university promptly filed an appeal of its own decision with the National Collegiate Athletic Association seeking a ruling to restore eligibility to the players.

Robins is a junior and Panulz a sophomore. Donald Rose, chairman of the board of athletic control, said the ineligibility ruling had to be made in order to obtain NCAA action.

Boise State nears Big Sky loop title

BOISE — The Boise State Broncos have gotten a taste of the Big Sky football championship and they will be after all of it Saturday night when they face the Idaho State Bengals at 8 p.m. in ISU's Minidome.

Boise State has a 5-0 Big Sky, and needs to defeat the Bengals to win the championship outright. The only other conference team that can tie the Broncos should they lose is Montana State, who finished the conference play with a 5-1 mark, having lost 27-17 to the Broncos early in the year.

Commenting on Boise State's 23-21 loss at the hands of the University of Nevada Reno last Saturday coach Tony Knap said "We ran into an inspired football club — they really zeroed-in-on-us." The Broncos' season record is now 6-2.

"Work is a great doctor and we have to work hard for Idaho State. We have to forget what happened in Reno. Our players showed great self-control, it was hard to take," Knap said.

It appears that every time the Boise State Broncos face the Idaho State Bengals, it comes at a crucial point in the season. Last year the Broncos knocked the Bengals out of the league championship in Boise with a 31-28 win. The previous year Idaho State won in the Minidome to erase any Bronco hopes for a little. The Bengals can take some of the glitter away from the championship by making Boise State share it with Montana State.

Idaho dreams about beating Washington

MOSCOW — Fresh from a 20-7 win over the University of Montana in Missoula last week, the University of Idaho Vandals will jump into action against the Pac-8 Washington Huskies in the Husky Stadium Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

The Vandals have only two victories to show in the 33-game series dating back to the early 1900's. The last Idaho win was 64 years ago when they downed the Huskies 6-0. The University of Washington has 29 wins and there have been two ties.

In 1969, the last time the teams played, the Huskies won 37-7. Tom Manke, Idaho's assistant coach, was a member of that Washington team.

Against the Huskies, the Vandals showed a fine running attack that controlled the game. With the temperature in the high teens and a brisk wind, the chill factor was below zero when the teams took the field. Despite the cold, the Vandals fumbled only once during the game, bringing the season total to 28 fumbles, tying an Idaho record set in 1949. Coach Robbins has hopes the record will stay right there and that the "fumbllies" on the part of the Vandals is over with for this year.

Robbins said Dave Comstock would get the call again at quarterback for Saturday's game as he did a fine job against Montana. "He directed the team to two touchdowns and two field goals and scored once himself. He ran well on the option and his play-calling followed the game plan. I feel he is going to be one fine quarterback before he leaves Idaho."

Comstock got some fine running from Darrell Mitchell, with 23 carries and 143 yards, and Rich Brown, 19 carries and 94 yards. In addition, Mark Fredback picked up 44 yards and Marshall Brantley, who ran only one play, scampered for 44 yards before he left the game with a sprained ankle. Robbins said Brantley's ankle injury was not serious and he would be ready for the Huskies.

"This week will be a different story when we meet the Huskies as they are a much better team than their record shows. They are well coached by Jim Owens and they are hungry for a victory and would like to take this one from the Vandals. However, I feel that if we can put out one of our best efforts and hold down the mistakes, we could give them quite a battle," Robbins said.

"Pete Taggaras is a fine runner. I have counted more than nine players on their roster that we recruited. They all have excellent credentials to play Pac-8 football and they will be tough," Robbins said.

The Huskies will probably look at Chris Rowland or Jim Anderson at quarterback as Denny Fitzpatrick is on the sidelines with injured ribs.

"They will have plenty of play-action type passing and they like to run the football right at you. We must be ready and if we play one up for this one, something must give on the artificial turf of the Husky Stadium," Robbins said.

BSC soph eager may miss year

BOISE — Boise State's 5-0 sophomore guard Alonzo Goggins will be a doubtful participant for the 1973-74 basketball season, according to Bronco head coach Bus Connor.

Goggins has been hampered with a knee injury and could be redshirted for the upcoming season. "The injury to his knee was not serious at first, but it keeps hurting him. I would have to say that it is doubtful that he will play this year," Connor said.

Assessing the first full scrimmage of the year Connor said "Offensively we did a good job, we had a better than average selection of shots. George Wilson, Scott McIlhenny and Pat Hoke played well," Connor said.

"Defensively we are starting to play better. We need to be more intent on our rebounding because of our physical strength. We do have the physical strength and need to use it. The team has not jelled as a team offensively and defensively and we are not anticipating the shots or moves by our own teammates. That's what we are working on now," Connor added.

Gilbert shatters course mark for five-stroke tourney lead

PINEHURST, N. C. (UPI) — Sweet-singing Gibby Gilbert, so disgusted with his game that he was ready to quit three months ago, destroyed a legend at fabled Pinehurst Thursday with a record-breaking nine-under-par 62 that left him with a five-stroke lead after the opening round of the $500,000 World Open Golf Championship.

On a course that had his fellow pros struggling simply to reach par, the 32-year-old Gilbert fired eight birdies, five of them in a row, and one eagle against a single bogey. Far back in second, at 67, was Allen Miller.

The 62 was the lowest ever registered on the No. 2 course, which dates back to the early part of this century but has been renovated a number of times. The previous record of 65 was shared by Ben Hogan, Johnny Palmer and amateur Charlie Palmer.

"I figured it was all over after the American Golf Classic," said the soft-spoken Gilbert, who has notched only one victory — the 1970 Houston open — since joining the tour five years ago, "and already had another job lined up as a sales representative. I'd been playing real bad for three months. But I was paired with Jack Nicklaus in that tournament and he gave me some help and he also suggested I see Jack Grout (Nicklaus' old teacher).

"Grout helped straighten out my hook and in seven of the next eight tournaments I finished in the top 25. Now I have to play some more."

Despite stable weather conditions and a not-too-troublesome wind, only 12 of the 240 pros were able to break par on the No. 2 and 4 courses, both par-71s. Another nine equaled par on the first leg toward a first-place prize of $100,000, the highest in golf history.

The 25-year-old Miller, a graduate of the University of Georgia and a member of the 1969 U. S. Walker cup team and the 1970 U. S. World cup team, also is seeking his first tour victory. Playing the 6,905-yard No. 4 course, he had five birdies and one bogey.

"I was scared of playing No. 4, everyone is," Miller said. "It's a hard golf course. But I'll be playing the greatest course in the world tomorrow and I'm really looking forward to it."

Along at 68 was veteran Miller Barber, and at 69 were Tom Kite, Gay Brewer, Ron Cerrudo and Mike McCullough. Barber and Kite played No. 4 and Cerrudo and McCullough No. 2.

Only five other pros were able to better par. Rick Rhoads and Joe Porter got their 70s on No. 2 while Ken Still, Romero Blancas and Wally Armstrong all shot 70 on No. 4.

Among a group of nine who equaled par were Tommy Aaron, Babe Hisey and Jim Ferrell and included among a huge list of players at one-over 72 were Doug Sanders, Charlie Sifford, Orville Moody, Al Geiberger, Butch Baird, Kermit Zarley, Jerry Heard, George Archer, J. C. Snead, Rik Massengale and Jerry McGee.

South African Gary Player, one of the top favorites for this event, opened with a double bogey and then fought back for a 71 on what he called one of the toughest courses he has ever played.

At 73 were: Giddy Gibbs 30 32 71; Allan Miller 22 25 49; Miller Barber 34 34 68; Goy Deems 35 34 69; Ron Cerrudo 33 36 69; Tom Kite 35 34 69; Mike McCullough 35 34 69; Wally Armstrong 35 37 72; Romero Blancas 34 36 70; Joe Porter 33 37 70; Rick Rhoads 36 34 70; Ken Still 35 37 70; Tommy Aaron 35 36 71; Tom Evans 34 37 71; L. Edson Harris Jr. 34 37 71; Lon Hinkle 34 37 71; Gabe Mickley 34 37 71; Jim Jewell 35 36 71; Bill Johnston 34 37 71; Steve Hensell 33 37 71; George Archer 33 37 71; Butch Baird 34 37 71; Dick Crawford 46 26 72; Jim Doni 35 37 72; Jack Ewing 35 37 72; Mike Feiler 35 37 72; Al Geiberger 35 37 72; Dave Graham 35 37 72; Dale Hayes 35 37 72; Jerry Heard 35 37 72; Larry Hinson 35 37 72; John Manley 35 37 72; Rik Massengale 35 37 72; Jim Mastaglio 35 37 72; Bobby Mitchell 38 34 72

A's divide record world series pool

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Oakland A's victory in the world series resulted in a record prize package worth $24,760.97 per man for those receiving a full share, it was announced Thursday by the baseball commissioner's office.

Twenty-seven members of the A's, including equipment manager Frank Cienczyk and trainer Joe Romo, received full shares while 34 members of the New York Mets received $14,950.18 each as a runner-up prize.

The A's shares were more than $4,000 higher than their winning shares of last year, which were also a record.

The total player purse for the world series and the two league championship series was a record $1,992,411.17, topping the previous high of $1,882,178.15. Twelve clubs — six from each league — carved up the prize money.

The attendance at the World Series and league championship series set a new combined record of 643,641, with total receipts from the two events reaching a record $5,337,281.25. Of that total $3,923,968.37 came from the World Series and $1,413,312.88 from the league championship series. The attendance for the World Series was 358,289 and the league championship series was a record 285,352.

The A's received $717,286.02 to distribute among themselves and they voted full shares to 20 players, manager Dick Williams and coaches Irv Noren, Jerry Adair, Wes Stock and Vern Riffe as well as Cienczyk and Romo.

Celtics drop Knicks 94-84

NEW YORK (UPI) — John Havlicek and Jo-Jo White led a balanced Boston Celtics attack Thursday night as they defeated the New York Knicks 94-84 in an NBA game.

The Celtics scored the first six points of the game and never lost control of the game. Their largest lead was 52-32 at 4:03 of the second quarter before the Knicks, led by Dave DeBusschere's six points and Dean Meminger's four, went on a 12-3 break to narrow the deficit to 55-44 at the half.

Vikings can clinch NFL division title

By United Press International

The Minnesota Vikings are making a shambles of the Central Division race in the National Football League, and have a chance on Sunday to clinch the divisional title in the ninth week of action.

But to accomplish this feat they will need a little help. The Vikings host the Detroit Lions, against whom they have been installed nine-point favorites, and a victory for Minnesota would eliminate Detroit from title consideration. Should Green Bay, which hosts St. Louis, and Chicago, which travels to Kansas City for the Monday night contest, also tie or lose their games, the Vikings would win the NFC Central title.

Against the Lions, the Vikings have won 11 in a row, dating back to 1969, including a 23-9 decision earlier this season.

Last week in their 26-3 victory over Cleveland Minnesota had to make do without the services of running back Chuck Foreman, who gained 114 yards against Detroit in the earlier game, but it appears that Foreman will be available for Sunday's game.

The Lions' offense will have to play against the defense which has allowed the fewest points — 87 — and the fewest TDs — 6 — in the NFL.

In other NFL contests Baltimore is at Miami, Cincinnati visits Buffalo, Houston entertains Cleveland, New England is at the New York Jets, Pittsburgh visits Oakland, San Diego is at Denver, Philadelphia hosts Atlanta, Dallas is at the New York Giants, Los Angeles hosts New Orleans and San Francisco is at Washington.

At Oakland two AFC division front-runners square off against each other. The last time these two teams met was in a post-season game last December — the famed "deflected pass" game — which put the Steelers into the AFC title contest.

Both teams come off victories — Oakland shut out the New York Giants 42-0, while Pittsburgh defeated Washington in the Monday night contest.

The Steelers' big problem will be to contain the Raiders' offense, which has produced over-400 yards in each of their last three games. But to counter this Oakland threat is the Pittsburgh defense, which has allowed just over 13 points a game while leading the league in interceptions with 21. The Steelers have also scored over 25 points per game, second in the conference to the Denver Broncos.

Andrews awaits call

BOSTON (UPI) — Mike Andrews is beginning to feel like the forlorn soldier in the old USO commercial.

In both cases the question is, "Does anyone know I'm here?" Andrews, 30, is looking for gainful employment so that he won't be remembered only as a trivia question about the 1973 World Series.

The seven-year veteran second baseman was a little-used pinch hitter for Oakland last season after coming over from the Chicago White Sox. But Andrews, used as a late inning replacement in the second game of the Series, made consecutive errors that allowed the New York Mets to win the contest.

That was when A's owner Charles O. Finley made Andrews sign a release form stating that he had a sore arm and could not play. A chain reaction of events brought Andrews into the limelight and eventually back into uniform to finish the series.

"There is absolutely nothing wrong with my arm," Andrews said the other day from his home in Peabody. "But I have to prove it."

What's What

L. M. Boyd

It's a proven sociological fact that the widower leads a lonelier life than does the widow. At least, until such time as either remarries. If the widower is to get remarried again, however, he is apt to do so more than twice as speedily as is the widow. Specifically, he waits about three years, if average. She waits an average of seven years.

A recognized medical journal reports three out of five women on the Pill are single. Our Language man says no society in history has talked without cuss words. You can count on about 22 pounds of bacon, sir, in a 200-pound hog. Why whites are far more susceptible to pinworms than are blacks I just don't know. If you want a pound of popcorn to lose a little of its weight, pop it. Was none other than Buckminster Fuller who insisted, "God is a verb, not a noun."

DRIVERS
Q. I say the most common handicap among automobile drivers is poor eyesight.
A. That's clear. But the traffic safety boys say an even commoner handicap is the illusion among car operators that they're better than average drivers. Incidentally, that erroneous notion is said to be the most widespread erroneous notion of all among men. More widespread even than the erroneous notion among women that they're better than average cooks.

Q. "Where does the cocker spaniel rank on that list of most popular dogs?"
A. It's No. 9. Right after No. 8, the miniature schnauzer, and just before No. 10, the Bassett hound.

Q. "What kind of piece of furniture is a setae, Louis, my lad?"
A. Furniture, sir? Setae is another name for cat's whiskers.

WORDS
What words are you most apt to remember, those you hear or those you read? Those you hear, I'd say. Consider some familiar quotations. "How dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood." That's commonly said. It's wrong. Was originally written: "How dear to this heart." Or take: "Alas, poor Yorick, I knew him well, Horatio." That's wrong, too. "I know him, Horatio," that's how it was first written. And of course, "I could care less" is the spoken phrase now in wide usage. The authentic written original was "I couldn't care less."

It has been reported that men who marry in their 30s select brides five years younger on the average while men who marry in their 50s choose women approximately eight years younger. Client asks the relative difference for brides of men who marry or remarry in their 70s. Those ladies average 12 years younger.

Energy shortage serious

'In the red'

BOISE (UPI) — The state's leading energy watcher said today the people of Idaho should begin taking seriously a possible energy shortage in the state this winter.

"I hate to cry wolf and nothing happens," said Robert Lenaghan, a member of the State Public Utilities Commission and the director of the state's Office of Energy. "But I think the energy crisis potential here is far more serious than people think."

Lenaghan at present is gathering information from at least one power company concerning the amount of power used by private and municipal Christmas lights and other seasonal decorations.

"Most likely we would not issue an order curtailing the use of Christmas decorations," Lenaghan said. "But by Christmas we could be in an energy crisis."

Wednesday night, Lenaghan reacted coolly to President Nixon's plan to curb the nation's energy shortage, saying the chief executive should set up rations on energy use if he wants to deal with the problem.

Lenaghan, who was appointed head of the energy office this fall, said Idaho is confronted with a winter as cold as the last one, there is a possibility of severe shortages and even a blackout.

He said Idaho generators feed electricity into a power circuit developed by the Bonneville Power Administration.

If generators along the coast (which are included in the circuit) find they can not contribute electricity to the pool and continue to take it out, there is a possibility they could cause low voltage in the system—causing it to trip out. This could cause the blackout.

On the other hand, Lenaghan said if the state has another cold snap as it did last December, this could reduce the amount of water flowing over dams and in turn reduce the power output.

He contends that Idaho is in a unique situation. The state produces much of its electricity by water generators. Lenaghan said when customers conserve electricity—it can not be equated as a pound of coal or a gallon of oil.

He said dams either produce the electricity when the water moves over the dam or they do not.

This puts a little different light on conservation, he said. He feels if there is a shortage the PUC and his office will issue an order to the power companies to reduce the amount of power offered to customers.

For example, Lenaghan said the order could require power companies operating in the state to reduce output to 90 percent. Then customers would have to begin conserving to make up the decrease and Christmas decorations might be one way of doing it.

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Two Denver, Colo., men came looking for $2 billion in lost treasure, but wound up more than $1,000 in the red.

Arthur D. Neblett, 30, and Robert F. Mikel, about 40, arrived about two weeks in search for the legendary "treasure of the Guadalupe," supposedly left by Jesuit priests in the Tumacacori Mountains near here 400 years ago. Their equipment cost them more than $1,000 and the U.S. Forest Service fined them $90 for building an illegal campfire and falling to obtain a treasure hunting permit.

Early storms strand vehicles

GRANGEVILLE, Idaho (UPI) — About 40 hunters are going to have to wait until spring to get their vehicles out of Remount Camp in the rugged Selway area of Northern Idaho.

The vehicles were snowed in the area over the weekend when exceptionally early winter storms dropped 30 inches of snow on the back country area.

Idaho County Commissioner Eugene Olmstead said the country does not plan to clear the road to retrieve the hunters' vehicles. He said groups of men had gone in to rescue the hunters but not their vehicles.

Olmstead said it was not the policy of the county to keep the back roads open in winter and, while the roads were not officially closed, winter weather is allowed to block traffic.

Idaho County Sheriff Gene Fuzzell said the hunters, who still had not been rescued early today, were apparently in no real danger since they had food and shelter.
