Cool oyster demand, Goldwater asks

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News Writer

Saturday night, at the 10th annual Cabaret Internationale fund-raising dinner for the Snake River Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America, there is no way that the Senate would ever impeach the president without some concrete charge, Goldwater said, "and there is none" at this point. "If there was," he said, "I would be the first one to ask for his resignation." "I'm only one American and there were over 40 million who voted for President Nixon," he said. Goldwater said he did not feel qualified to ask for President Nixon's resignation. "That period of close personal introspection would have to come from the President, Goldwater said, and if there were some concrete reason to resign he would in order to save the country from further division. "I'm not trying to defend the President," Goldwater said, "but I want the American people to play it cool and let's wait and see." "I didn't agree with the President in not releasing the tapes that involve Watergate. I believe he was wrong in that and many things," he said. The President was wrong in standing on privilege in regard to the release of the tapes because "there is no such thing as this country," he said. The President was "on weak ground" in pleading confidentiality "when everything in his office is on tape," he said. Referring to "this little problem about Mr. Cox and Mr. Richardson," Goldwater said, "Cox's treatment of his responsibility all along was a little lacking. He was the only one who disagreed on how to handle the tapes." "Cox is just as partisan a Democrat as I am a Republican," he said. (Continued on p. 17)

Accident outbreak injures 4
TWIN FALLS — Three accidents occurred almost simultaneously Saturday evening, injuring four persons. None of the four were in serious condition late Saturday. The flurry of accidents occurred about 7:30 p.m. State Patrolman Everett Waddell said Donald K. Eckley, 19, Route 2, Hansen, was slightly injured when the vehicle he was driving crashed into the rear end of another vehicle at the Jackson Corner, two miles west of Twin Falls on U. S. Highway 30. Driver of the other vehicle, Kathy Ann O'Keeffe, Twin Falls, was apparently uninjured. Eckley was charged with driving while intoxicated. He was treated and released from the hospital.

Two Kimberly women, Mary Tate, 72, and her daughter, Mary Dickson, 49, were taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital following a three-car accident in heavy traffic at the intersection of Addison Avenue East and Eastland Drive. Mrs. Dickson was hospitalized with head cuts and possible fractures. Her mother was treated and released. City Patrolman Jim Mildon said Mrs. Tate was driving east on Addison without headlights when a vehicle driven by Mark Clayton Howard, 16, Twin Falls, pulled in front of her off Eastland. Blue Top damage from blaze heavy TWIN FALLS — The Blue Top Lounge, 701 2nd Ave. S., was extensively damaged by fire Saturday night. Capt. Roger Bolton of the Twin Falls Fire Department said the entire interior of the bar, including bar equipment and games, was destroyed. Bolton said the fire started about 8:05 p.m. and spread quickly. The building was evacuated without injury. One police officer at the scene said, "Everybody got out with their glasses of beer." The fire was brought under control a "few minutes" after firemen arrived on the scene, Bolton said. He said two trucks from the main fire station and a third from the Falls Avenue substation responded to the alarm. Bolton said wiring could have been responsible for the fire, although no direct cause had been established. However, he did not rule out arson as a possible cause. Bob Hopkins, the owner of the Blue Top, also owns the Shuffle Inn. Bolton said, noting that a "Molotov cocktail was hurled against the door of that establishment a few days ago." Fire Inspector Clare Hargis said there was no indication that the fire was set. "I don't think there's anything to say that it was arson," he said. Hopkins said firemen may be sifting ashes for some time to determine the cause of the fire.

'Spy flights' charged
SAIGON (UPI) — Hanoi charged Saturday that American aircraft, including the surveillance SR71, made at least 10 "spy" flights over North Vietnam in the past four months in violation of the peace agreement. The United States denied the charge. The Communists said some of the reconnaissance missions were made by the SR71—successor to the U2 spy planes—as late as last Thursday over the North's two major cities of Hanoi and Huphong. A U.S. government spokesman in Saigon said: "We do not conduct reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam."

TF heads list for funds

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Capitol Bureau

BOISE — Twin Falls has the highest priority for municipal sewage treatment construction funds in the Upper Snake River Basin, according to an official state publication released Friday.

The report, Water Quality Management Plan for the basin, was compiled in draft form in October by the Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS). It contains a management plan for the 28,400 square miles of the river basin, running from the headwaters of the Snake River in eastern Idaho to the King Hill area in the Magic Valley. According to the report, DECS plans to fund nine separate municipal sewage treatment facilities during the fiscal year that began in July. Aside from Twin Falls, the cities include Wendell, Rupert, Castelford, Hazelton, Albion, Heyburn, Kimberly and Jerome.

The municipal treatment projects are part of the department's proposals to clean up "point sources" pollution of water resources in the river basin. It lists major point sources of pollution as municipal and industrial wastes.

The report includes plans to eliminate some of the pollution as part of the requirements of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act. The list of priorities for municipal treatment facility funding is the result of a ranking system approved by the Board of Environmental and Community Services that takes into consideration user costs, public interest and public benefits to be derived by the project. Also included as criteria, according to the report, are the applicant's financial need and readiness to begin construction. Of the nine facilities at the top of the funding list, Castelford alone has no existing treatment facility. According to Orlando Dalke, the municipal coordinator at DECS, Twin Falls should get its first phase grant sometime in the third quarter of fiscal year or early in 1974. Dalke said the Twin Falls project is expected to cost $4.6 million and be operational by the summer of 1975. It is designed for a "population equivalent" of 288,000 people, Dalke said, because of the industrial connections that are being made. (Continued on p. 8)

(c) New York Times Service
PEKING — Secretary of State Kissinger turned his attention away from the Middle East as he arrived in Peking Saturday. He pledged to Premier Chou En-Lai publicly the United States was determined "to complete the process" of normalizing relations with China as rapidly as possible. Twice during a short banquet toast, Kissinger seemed to be hinting at an intensified American effort in the three days of talks here to surmount the obstacles still blocking full diplomatic relations between Peking and Washington. "My colleagues are here with an open heart to speed the progress of normalization of relations with China," Kissinger said from the stage of the Great Hall of the People. After citing the progress already made in developing ties, he said: "But we are determined to do much more and to complete the process we started two years ago as rapidly as possible." A key aide to Kissinger cautioned American newsmen after the nine-course meal not to expect that by the time Kissinger leaves Peking on Tuesday morning any decision will have been taken to upgrade relations beyond the quasi-diplomatic liaison offices set up this year in each other's capitals. Full relations have been blocked so far by Washington's continued diplomatic ties to the Nationalist Chinese government on Taiwan. But there are other possibilities such as setting up consular offices, trade missions, or information bureaus which could widen the contacts but still fall short of complete normalization.

The five-hour flight from Rawalpindi, Pakistan to Peking aboard the blue and white Air Force jet marked the start of the Far Eastern phase of Kissinger's around-the-world trip which began last Monday in Morocco. It has carried him to the capitals of Tunisia, Egypt, Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Iran and Pakistan, and will conclude in Tokyo. While in the Middle East, he had intensive discussions with leaders there, and he succeeded in getting an Egyptian-Israeli agreement on new measures to strengthen the Middle East cease-fire. Pipeline bill facing delay
(c) Washington Star-News
WASHINGTON — "Eleventh-hour" maneuvering by private business interests and administration officials may hold up the entire Alaska pipeline package, key Congressmen have warned President Nixon. In a letter seeking backing for the Alaska pipeline-Federal Trade Commission bill, Capitol Hill leaders asked Nixon to take an unqualified stand on the energy measure, scheduled for a House vote Monday. "An effort is being mounted by certain private interests and by some members of your administration to send the measure back to conference for deletion of two provisions which they find objectionable," the letter said. Concerned that the campaign might succeed, the Congressional leaders warned the President, "We will be faced with the likelihood of substantial delay in obtaining passage of the President, to hold up the pipeline at a time of a severe energy shortage just because of proposals that would grant 'modest but much needed new authority to the FTC.'"

Middle East truce due today

By United Press International
Israel agreed Saturday to sign a truce agreement with Egypt Sunday, formally marking the end of the 1973 Middle East war. It will be the first agreement between the two enemies since the armistice that ended the Israeli war of independence a quarter century ago. American diplomats said the signing would be followed, probably in a few weeks, by a Middle East peace conference, where Israel, Egypt and probably Syria would sit down for the first time to settle their differences peacefully instead of by war as they have done four times since 1948.

U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim said the signing ceremony, held under the auspices of the U.N. Emergency Force (UNEF) overseeing the cease-fire, was scheduled for 1 p.m. (6 a.m. EST) Sunday at the 101-kilometer marker on the road from Cairo to Damascus, where Israeli and Egyptian officers have sat together before to work out details of the current U.N. cease-fire. Despite the agreement, the Israeli military command accused the Egyptians of five truce violations during the day, none of them considered major. The command also said the Syrians in the north, committed two, one involving an artillery barrage that was answered with small arms fire. The agreement, drafted by U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger during a week of intense personal diplomacy in five Arab capitals, provides for the exchange of all prisoners of war as soon as United Nations peace observers replace Israelis at supply check points on the road to Suez City and to the entrenched Egyptian 3rd army on the east bank of the Suez. TF PTA-PTO school feud dormant

Bus schedule

Course to begin

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — No one wants to rock the boat in the dormant feud between the nationally affiliated PTA and the locally oriented PTO in two Twin Falls elementary schools.

Both groups maintain at least skeleton organizations in Bickel school, while at Harrison only the PTO, a parent teacher organization with no connection beyond the school, is functioning.

There apparently is no open dissension at Bickel, but while the local PTO has mostly taken over normal activities such as sponsoring an open house and planning for a fund raising event, the PTA is maintaining a "holding action," according to Mrs. DeVern Fuller, unit president.

She said efforts to bring the two groups together this fall with a planned ballot so parents could vote on which organization they wished failed to materialize, so the PTA unit, which has a slate of officers, holds board meetings and keeps in touch with the state organization through the Twin Falls PTA council.

"At least we are in a position to let the whole thing go on," Mrs. Fuller said.

While the idea of two conflicting parent groups with its always present possibility of eruption into emotion-packed controversy is understandably a headache for the school principals, it actually generates little interest among the majority of parents.

Clarence Parker, Bickel principal, admitting he "wants to see the dissension," said most parents don't pay any attention to the ideological difference — they just "come to school to see what their child is doing, talk to his teacher and don't care who is sponsoring the meeting."

The division occurred in the spring of 1972, and while there were overtones of political conflict, with some PTO members allegedly John Birch Society members, the overriding cause was wanting local control of money.

One of the principal objections to continuing affiliation with the Idaho Congress of Parents and Teachers, according to Mrs. Tom Lane, Bickel PTO president, was that 60 per cent of the local unit's money goes for state and national support, leaving only 40 per cent for the local school.

"There are lots of things Bickel can use," she said, "and what money we make on projects we use for the school. We have purchased tumbling mats with money which would have gone to the state, if we were still with the PTA."

Many of the officers in the Bickel PTO are former PTA officers, according to Mrs. Lane. She said the group worked hard on a telephone urging passage of the school bond election last month, sponsored the annual open house and is now planning a fund raising event in the spring. She said the feeling among the PTO members is that they received no services from the state organization and neither saw nor heard from state officers until efforts were begun to form a separate group.

Harrison school also has operated with the PTO all last year, after a general membership vote the spring of 1972. The action was described as legal and not "a by-by-night" move by Frances Anderson, school principal.

"Our feeling is that we're not anti-PTA. We're just for our school and we went to cooperate with the parents," she said.

The principal said there has been no discussion of the relative merits of the PTA vs. the PTO this year and the PTO is simply "doing the job."

Similar reasons were the cause of the Harrison group disaffiliating with the state Congress of Parents and Teachers, she said, with members resenting having to send funds to state and national — and seeing no tangible results.

There was some effort by area PTA officials to dissuade the Harrison group, but since the decision was made there has been no issue made of it, she said.

In fact, Miss Anderson feels more parents are being reached through PTO membership this year than previously. The group also sponsored the fall open house and plans a fund raising event — typical PTA functions.

The feeling has been expressed that the "matter was handled better" at Harrison, than at Bickel, which accounts for the fact there is no quality of organization at Harrison, as there is in Bickel.

But everyone concerned seems to agree that the conflict, which has hardened into lines of local vs. state control of the local unit, is far from a hot issue. In fact, few parents probably would know or care which organization their school is associated with.

It is ironic that the two local schools withdrew from the state the same year that a court suit, brought by the Idaho Congress of Parents and Teachers against the State Land Board, resulted in more endowment funds being channeled into education use, so that each local school will benefit indefinitely from this action.

Approval delayed on PUD ordinance

TWIN FALLS — According to Twin Falls County Commission Chairman William Chaney it will be at least a week before the commissioners approve the planned unit development (PUD) ordinance.

The Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Commission last Thursday reapproved the PUD ordinance and sent it back to the county commissioners for final approval.

Commissioner Merl Leonard said the commissioners will meet this week with planner Ross Fasolino of Idaho State University to remove ambiguities in the wording of the ordinance.

Fasolino, a professor of architecture at ISU, drew up the original ordinance for the country.

The commissioners have said they hope to move "expeditiously" on the ordinance so that Lynwood Development Co. which plans a commercial-residential complex on the Snake River Canyon rim near the Perrine Bridge, may go ahead with planning site preparation this winter.

Boise specialist offered TF job

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — A Boise community planning specialist has been offered the job of comprehensive planner for Twin Falls city and county.

David M. Richey, was picked early this week as the first choice for the planning post by the Twin Falls Joint Planning Council.

Merl Leonard, chairman of the joint council, said Richey was considered the best qualified of the five finalists interviewed for the newly-created job.

City Manager Jean Milar, who serves as secretary-treasurer of the joint council, said Richey was picked unanimously by all council members as the first person to negotiate with over the professional planner's job.

"He's somewhat local and I think that was really a strong point with members of the joint planning council," Milar said.

Other well-qualified applications, Milar added, would have taken longer to become familiar with problems and procedures peculiar to Idaho.

If Richey is named as Twin Falls' first professional planner, he will be responsible for developing a comprehensive land use and resource plan integrating Twin Falls city and county.

Leonard said salary and other job factors are now being negotiated between Richey and representatives of the planning council.

Leonard said the salary range being discussed with Richey is from $12,000 to $14,000.

Should Richey accept the job, Leonard said, he will be on probationary status for six months after which salary adjustments may be made.

Richey is now employed as a planner for Tudor Engineering Co., Boise. He recently helped design a comprehensive plan for the city of Wells, Nev.

Prior to joining Tudor last year, Richey was planning director for Jefferson County, Oregon.

An architecture graduate of Idaho State University, he is working on a BA in economics at Boise State College.

From 1968 to 1971 Richey was associate planner for Boise and as such worked with the Model Cities program. He also served as zoning administrator for Boise.

In 1967 and 1968, Richey served as city planner for Moses Lake, Wash. Prior to that he was an engineering aide for Pocatello and for Ontario, Ore.

Tool thefts probed

TWIN FALLS — Two tool thefts were being investigated Saturday by Twin Falls city police.

Phil A. Bates, Edon, told officers someone entered a large toolbox in the back of his 1966 pickup truck and removed a smaller tool box and its contents valued at about $400.

The vehicle was parked at the Depot Grill parking lot at the time, Bates said.

W. M. Kepner, 472 Elm St., told police he discovered the theft of a tool chest with three drawers and an assortment of mechanic tools from his garage Saturday. He said the theft apparently occurred between Nov. 6 and Saturday. He estimated the loss at $500.

Hospital board names physician

TWIN FALLS — Dr. Benjamin Katz, chief of the medical staff at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, was appointed Friday to the hospital's board of directors.

Dr. Katz' appointment marked the first time that a physician has served on the MVMH board. Prior to 1973, Idaho law prohibited physicians from serving on the boards of hospitals at which they practice medicine.

The Twin Falls County commissioners picked Dr. Katz to replace retiring board member Robert Steinhilber. Dr. Katz was named to a three-year term.

A pediatrician, Dr. Katz is a member of the Idaho State Medical Examiner Board.

In nothing the departure of attorney Stephan from the board, county commission chairman William Chaney said, "We appreciated the years of service that Mr. Stephan has given on the hospital board."

In addition to appointing Dr. Katz, the commissioners also reappointed four current members of the hospital board to new three-year terms.

Reappointed were William Davis, Twin Falls; Everett Norris and Clarence Hollifield, both Hansen, and Ralph Assendrup, Buhl.

TF crash injures drivers

TWIN FALLS — Both drivers in an accident in the 1200 block of Blue Lakes Boulevard North suffered minor injuries Friday afternoon.

City police reported Donnie Kay Black, 24, Twin Falls, suffered minor cuts and bruises when his 1966 pickup truck was struck from the rear by a vehicle driven by Glenn McCleary, 22, Stanley.

Officers said McCleary had face-cuts and a passenger, Chris McDonald, 22, also received minor cuts and bruises.

The Black vehicle had reportedly stopped to make a turn or wait for traffic to clear when the other vehicle, approaching from the same direction, was unable to stop. Damage was estimated at $800 to the Black vehicle and $500 to the McCleary vehicle.

Tractor mishap at airport hurts man

TWIN FALLS — Delbert M. Webb, 52, Twin Falls, remained in the Twin Falls Clinic Hospital Saturday after suffering injuries in a tractor accident at the City-County airport.

City police said Corbridge was injured when a flat tire broke out at D.J. Bar on Blue Lakes Boulevard North early Friday morning. He was hospitalized following the incident and his doctor ordered immediate surgery to save his eye.

City police reported he was operating a tractor and loader unit and had apparently dismounted from the machine when it began traveling and ran over him. It then continued on across the east roadway of the airport entrance, entered the parking lot and crashed into two parked vehicles.

One of the vehicles was a 1971 sedan owned by Mr. and Mrs. Will Fulbright, Twin Falls, causing about $150 damage. The impact forced the Fulbright vehicle into the third car, owned by Barbara Lakehart, Kimberly, Park of the loader, also struck the Lakehart vehicle.

Officers said the accident occurred about 9:47 a.m. while Webb was doing some work adjacent to the parking lot area. He was taken to the hospital by ambulance and listed in fairly good condition.

Nixon admirer urges impeachment to 'clear air'

Devoted to the citizens of Magic Valley

Al Westergren, Publisher

Nixon's friends

Idaho people have been among the best friends of President Nixon. They preferred him over John Kennedy in 1960. They gave Mr. Nixon his highest percentage of the vote in the nation in 1968.

The percentage of support for the President in Magic Valley has been even more supportive, as the Valley has given him higher margins than has the remainder of the state.

So it must come as something of a shock to find that a poll of Magic Valley people shows that only 40 per cent were willing to say they approved of the President's conduct in office.

Even more sobering was the fact that 31 per cent of polled Magic Valley residents said the President should resign in the best interests of the country.

It would be misleading to suggest that the survey showed anything other than an expression of support for the President in Magic Valley, as majorities of those expressing opinions favored Mr. Nixon.

But the results surely must be ominous for the President.

For if the people of Magic Valley who have been the President's best friends have moved so far away from him, what must be the judgment of the rest of the nation.

Mr. Nixon's presidency appears to be in grave trouble with the people.

Rededication

Fifty-five years ago today, at 11 a. m., the guns fell silent in Europe as an armistice ended the "war to end war."

The event and the date have been celebrated since by the veterans of that war - now graying and their ranks dwindling - as Armistice Day.

In the half century and more since, the United States has been involved in three other major wars - World War II, Korea and Vietnam.

Attitudes toward celebrating the end of a major war changed, as the surrender at the end of World War II followed by three weeks the wild celebrations of VE-Day and earlier, the cheers of VE-Day. Inconclusive cease-fires ended the Korean and Vietnam wars.

After the Korean War, Armistice Day was designated Veterans Day, as a means of recognizing the men and women who served their nation in wartime.

Many clung to some manner of observance of Armistice Days on Nov. 11 even after federal legislation shifted it to an October date.

No matter which day is observed as a tribute to the millions of Americans who have served and died in the nation's wars, perhaps this year a fitting remembrance would be a rededication by this nation - Idahoans and Magic Valley residents included - to strive for the establishment of a lasting peace and an end to the destruction and waste of war.

BERRY'S WORLD

LESTER KINSOLVING

Press as cage of trained animals

You look tired and pale, Henry. Have the bureaucrats finally caught up with you?

WASHINGTON - The time has come, much as a long time admirer regrets to say it, to proceed with the impeachment and trial of Richard Nixon.

To avoid misunderstanding: I am not urging or predicting that two-thirds of the Senate vote for conviction and removal from office. I am saying simply, after long and hard reflection, that the House of Representatives should perform a service to the country, and perhaps to Nixon as well, by voting a bill for impeachment.

That recommendation comes hard. I have known this president for 25 years, supported him, defended him, praised his general philosophy while criticizing particular actions, and I happen to like him as a human being.

Impeachment is our country's last political resort. It is a course to be taken only at a point when no other course will suffice. We are at that point now.

Inconceivable that the president would resign under circumstances that would transfer the White House to the Democratic party under a President Carl Albert.

But even if Gerald Ford had been confirmed as vice president, thus assuring a Republican succession, the President's resignation would come as one more unilateral act on his part: He alone would be controlling the sequence of events.

The fact of Ford's presidency would then be Nixon's sole responsibility. If the most powerful office in the free world is to change hands, under the traumatic conditions that now obtain, the change should reflect the solemn deliberation of the Senate.

Two weeks ago I said it was nonsense to suppose the Senate would vote to convict Nixon and thus to remove him from office. That column was written just as news was breaking of the firing of Archibald Cox and the removal of Elliot Richardson and William French Smith.

It seems evident that for many Americans, a breaking point abruptly has been reached. No action that Nixon himself might take - no speech, no statement, no explanation through his aides - could quell the national doubt and distrust.

His one chance to salvage his administration, it seems to me, now lies in submitting his conduct to the formal judgment of the Senate. His acquittal would put an end to the obsessive attacks; his conviction equally would permit the nation to resume a normal course.

A resolution of impeachment, if it is to accomplish the desired end, should cover the whole gamut of charges brewed about in the past two years.

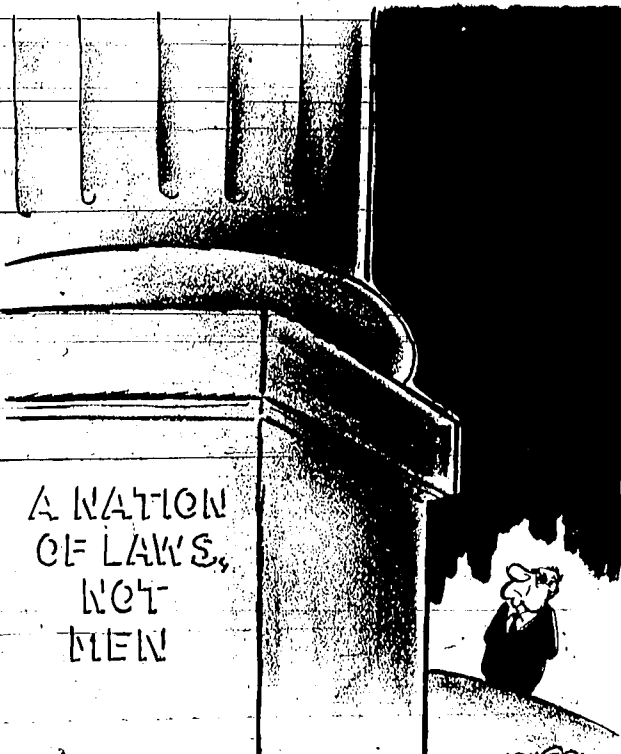

The president should be indicted by the House; in effect, for criminal misconduct in the ITT case, the milk deal, the Ellsberg affair, the Watergate burglary and cover-up, the improvements to presidential property in Florida and California, and for general obstruction of justice in the matter of the tapes. The trial of such a comprehensive impeachment would tie up the Senate for months. It would take the Chief Justice away from the Supreme Court for this same period. So dramatic an event would exhaust an already weary country and compound the partisan turmoil.

But there would be this tremendous advantage: We could look to the one thing that is most desperately needed now, and that is an ending. Trials are finite. The day would come when the Senate at long last voted to convict or to acquit. In one ultimate tick of the clock on the Senate wall, it would be all over.

No such finality is in prospect now. The President is a man under siege. He is still capable of governing, but his own blunders have cost him heavily in terms of public confidence and respect. I am not certain that even his acquittal would restore his leadership, but I am convinced of this much at least: We must not drift along much longer on the rudderless course our ship of state is taking now.

Old allies add new rebuffs for President

WASHINGTON - This city is always looking for clues to the future - particularly now clues to the future of the President - and in the last few days it has been two events of considerable importance.

First, the Congress of the United States, by a two-thirds vote overriding his veto, has insisted on limiting the President's power to make war without its consent.

This, the White House said, "seriously undermines this nation's ability to act decisively... in times of international crisis."

Second, the European allies and Japan have refused to follow the President's lead in the Middle East, and while approving Secretary of State Kissinger's compromise, to save the cease-fire, have insisted on defining and publishing a pro-Arab peace settlement even before the Israeli-Arab peace talks have begun.

Speeches against the President and polls showing a steep decline in public confidence do him no good, but these are serious actions - almost personal rebuffs - which limit his authority and challenge his leadership, both at home and abroad.

Eight times before on substantial issues of policy, the Congress had failed to override the President's vetoes.

Earlier, the Senate had refused to confirm his nominations of Clement F. Haynsworth, Jr. and

G. Harrold Carswell to the Supreme Court. Also, the Congress had refused to approve his policy of building a supersonic transport plane, and it had forced him to stop bombing Cambodia last Aug. 15.

But the vote against his authority to make war in accordance with his interpretation of his power as commander in chief was a direct challenge to the President's interpretation of his constitutional rights, and the challenge came, not only from the Democrats, but from members of his own party, and his normal supporters in the Conservative Democratic south.

Eighty-six Republicans in the House of Representatives and 25 in the Senate voted against him. Though Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona called the vote "the most dangerous thing that has happened to this country since before the Constitution was written... totally illegal, totally wrong," the Congress insisted.

In the Senate, faithful defenders of the military and the powers of the commander in chief such as Senators Eastland and Stennis of Mississippi, and Jackson of Washington, voted against the President.

In the House, Mississippi voted 5-0 to override his veto. Georgia voted 8-2, Alabama 5-2, North Carolina 9-2, Texas 11-9, Missouri 8-2, West Virginia 4-0.

Congress is troubled, resentful over Watergate and all the President's maneuverings and deceptions, and it wanted to send him a message. It doesn't have the heart to impeach him, or force his resignation, but it wants to warn and rebuke him, and so it did.

Japan and the allies in Western Europe, with less reason are also giving the President a hard time.

They don't want to take any responsibility for trying to settle the Arab-Israeli struggle in the Middle East. They don't even want to cooperate with the United States in trying to get arms to Israel to hold the balance of power against Moscow's arms to the Arab nations.

They just want oil to keep their factories going, and it doesn't come from Israel.

A year or so ago, even a few months ago, it would have been inconceivable that the Japanese or the European allies would have opposed President Nixon or American policy so directly and so publicly in the middle of such delicate negotiations by the Secretary of State.

Or the congress of the United States in the middle of a crisis, would have over-ridden the President's veto, limiting his freedom to make, or threaten war. But spectacular events over Watergate and the other scandals of the last few months have weakened his authority both in the congress and in the allied capitals, and this is now his problem.

It is no longer a question of his critics in the press or his political adversaries in the Congress. His own Republican and Southern Democratic allies in the Congress vote against him and overrode his veto, and his own allies in Japan and Western Europe didn't support his efforts for peace in the Middle East.

In many ways, they were unfair to him, but this is the way it is.

He has lost their trust, and they are following their own interests and doing as they please.

DR. THOSTESON

Temperature

'Dear Dr. Thosteson: How far can temperature vary from 98.6 and still be considered normal? When I am feeling fine and take my temperature, it is 98.0 or 98.1.

Recently, after I had an attack of flu with a high of 101.4, my temperature dropped to 97.6 for a day. - A. G.

For starters, I'd suggest you take your temperature only when you feel ill, because you seem to have developed a "thing" about temperature. Read on and you'll see why. Meantime, think of all the money you'll save on thermometers.

In a healthy person, body temperature usually remains within a narrow range - but with some fluctuations. There'll be a little difference, say, between temperature when you get up after a good night's sleep and your temperature by 6 p.m. after a busy day.

This variation can be as much as 2 degrees without meaning anything in particular. Certainly nothing to worry about.

To get right down to figures: a temperature as low as 96.5 or as high as 99.2 can be considered perfectly normal - keeping in mind that rest, activity and metabolism have their effect at various times.

A variation of 1 degree or even two degrees between people is quite expectable.

So your readings are well within normal limits, and your 101.4 with the flu wasn't out of line for that condition.

If you want to talk about extremes - which you have not remotely approached - convulsions may occur (but not always) at about 106 degrees, and brain damage occurs at 108.

At the other extreme, a person loses consciousness at 91 degrees, and heart problems develop at about 83.

Valley opinion split on Nixon resignation, performance

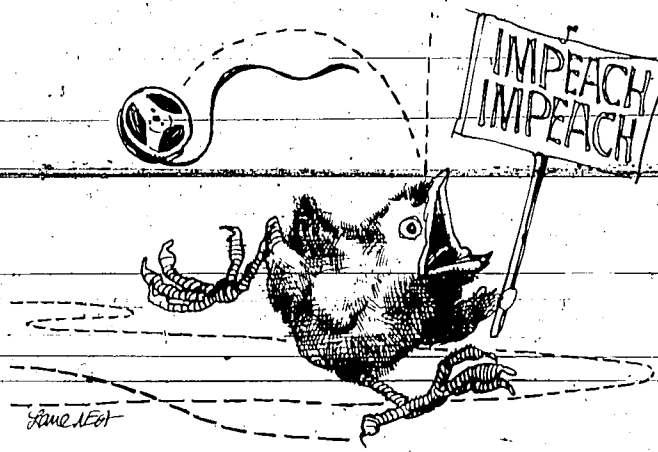

By JOYCE CARPENTER Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — About one third of 100 Magic Valley residents surveyed by phone this week said President Nixon should resign.

Several themes were repeated again and again in the answers. Watergate was mentioned most often as the reason for disillusionment with the President, both by his supporters and detractors.

A Buhl opinion was: "I don't know enough about it to express my thoughts. I just don't understand it."

Another answer was typical: "No he shouldn't resign, because he is an elected officer and right or wrong, we should have enough respect to do what he says."

this is an ideological realignment where the working class will again have a party to represent them. The Democratic Party should, but they can't do it using Republican ethics.

Principal areas for truce plan

MIDDLE EAST peace agreement expected to be signed today by Israel and Egypt includes six points: (A) Egypt, Israel to observe cease fire called by UN Security Council; (B) talks to begin at once on return to positions of Oct. 22; (C) town of Suez will receive daily supplies of food, water, and medicine, with all wounded civilians being evacuated; (D) no impediment of non-military supplies to the east bank; (E) UN will take over checkpoints on Cairo-Suez road with Israeli supervision at Suez; (F) exchange of prisoners to follow establishment of UN checkpoints on Cairo-Suez road. (UPI)

Mideast truce signing set by Israel, Egypt

It also provides that the two sides will scrupulously observe the Middle East cease-fire and Israel agreed to let supplies through to Suez City and the Egyptian 3rd army.

Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir announced that Israel would sign the agreement just before she left for London to attend a Socialist convention. The signing was delayed by 24 hours until Israel received clarifications from the United States on several issues in the six-point document.

Israeli government sources said the two points were:

—The omission of any mention of the Egyptian naval blockade at the southern end of the Red Sea.

—A reference to negotiations to return to the Oct. 22 ceasefire lines which Israel says are impossible to determine.

Standing in the glare of television lights beneath the wing of her jet, the gray-haired 75-year-old grandmother made the historic announcement:

—The government has authorized Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv, who has already met several times with the Egyptians, at a meeting tomorrow, he is authorized to sign the cease-fire agreement.

—As far as Israel is concerned, we will do everything within our power to see that this agreement is implemented in word and spirit.

We are glad of this opportunity that we can do as directly with one of our Arab neighbors.

—As far as Israel is concerned, the greatest thing that we hope for and wish for is that there should be no shooting.

Apparently anticipating the next step in negotiations, Arab diplomats and politicians were on the move throughout the Arab world Saturday, consulting each other on Arab negotiating strategy.

President Hafez Assad of Syria met with Amer Khammash, political adviser to King Hussein of Jordan. President Houari Boumedienne of Algeria met with Ashraf Marouane, a special Egyptian envoy, in Algiers. The foreign minister of Morocco, Ahmed Eltayeb Berhama, went to Kuwait for talks and was scheduled to visit Cairo, Damascus, Amman and Riyadh, and Palestinian guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat met with King Faisal of Saudi Arabia.

American diplomats also were on the move. Assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco, who acted as Kissinger's spokesman in Israel while Kissinger was persuading Egypt's President Anwar Sadat to accept the plan, arrived in Lebanon for talks with government leaders. Another Assistant Secretary of State, David Newsom, flew to Khartoum, the Sudan, to discuss the Middle East with President Jaafar Numeiry, the Sudan news agency said.

Normal relations goal with China, Henry says

Kissinger also was able, while in Cairo, to get the consent of President Anwar El-Sadat for the restoration of diplomatic relations between Egypt and the United States.

Kissinger, shortly after his arrival in Peking, joked to Chinese foreign minister Chi Peng-Fei that "it's a pleasure to be in a country for an hour without anyone mentioning Resolution 242."

He was referring to Security Council Resolution 242 which was passed in November, 1967, outlining the framework for a Middle East settlement.

But despite his efforts to put the Middle East aside during his talks here, Kissinger nevertheless asked Alfred I. Atherton, a top State Department Middle East specialist, to come to Peking with him to keep him abreast of Middle East developments.

In Rawalpindi this morning, assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern affairs Joseph J. Sisco, and a team of Middle Eastern experts, broke off from the Kissinger party and started on a swing back through the Middle East and to Europe to discuss future diplomatic prospects.

—The Chinese were well aware of Kissinger's

Middle East activities, and officials privately were asking newsmen who accompanied Kissinger about the results of the trip. During a picture-taking ceremony this evening before the start of talks, Premier Chou advised Kissinger that the Japanese were now calling him "the Mideast cyclone."

Prior to Kissinger's arrival, American officials said that the primary purpose of this session was Kissinger's desire to have a full exchange of views with Chou and other Chinese officials. This is the first time that they have gotten together since an important Chinese Communist Party congress in August.

On specific issues, officials said efforts would be made to increase the contacts between the two countries in the already established cultural, trade and governmental fields.

On international issues, Kissinger was reportedly concerned about the situation in Indochina where, despite last January's Vietnam cease-fire agreement, the North Vietnamese seemed to be preparing for another large-scale offensive against South Vietnam. Moreover, in neighboring Cambodia, the insurgent forces were threatening to launch a major attack to overthrow the government of President Lon Nol.

HUD appointments draw double probe

(c) N. Y. Times Service WASHINGTON — A federal investigation has begun into charges that high officials of the Department of Housing and Urban Development violated the law by appointing political favorites to career civil service jobs.

Two teams of investigators, one from the Civil Service Commission and the other from within HUD, have been interrogating employees across the country and securing the files for incriminating memorandums and letters for the last five weeks.

Employees of the department have charged that departmental officials, including W. Stanley Armstrong, special assistant to the secretary, have secured high salaries and influential jobs in local housing agency offices for political favorites of the Nixon administration.

Minority aid program bribe charges probed

(c) N. Y. Times Service WASHINGTON — The Nixon administration's minority capitalism program is under federal investigation for alleged bribes and kickbacks. The Department of Justice is looking into the charges of political and criminal activity, and agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation have already interviewed some of the program's present and former officials and staff members.

The charges, mainly involving the Office of Minority Business Enterprise, which administers the bulk of the program, have been turned over to the office of the special Watergate prosecutor.

In addition, the Senate Watergate Committee heard testimony this week that the minority capitalism program had been used to reward supporters and punish non-supporters of the administration in the minority business community. Other Congressional committees are also investigating the program.

The criminal investigation centers on allegations that applicants for federal funds and recipients of aid under the program were the targets of persons seeking illegal payoffs ostensibly in return for pushing through contracts and grants.

Administration sources said that investigators were looking into reports of robbery, extortion and fraud.

An investigation by the New York Times over the last several weeks found evidence suggesting attempted extortion and fraud in the program; applicants for funds and recipients of aid said they had been approached with direct solicitations for money.

This week Benjamin Fernandez, one of the men under investigation by the FBI, testified before the Senate Watergate committee. Fernandez, a California businessman who worked for the re-election of President Nixon last year, denied any wrongdoing. In an earlier interview with the Times, he denied allegations that he had sought payoffs for delivering contracts to members minorities.

But several businessmen reported they had been told to "see Ben Fernandez" to get action on contracts.

Porno shop blaze 'hot'

OGDEN (UPI) — A fire, which started in a pornographic movie arcade, where the fire chief said they must have been showing "hot stuff," gutted three downtown businesses Saturday.

The blaze erupted in the movie section of the Salt and Pepper Adult Book Store shortly before midnight Friday. Firemen thought they had it under control, but flames crept through false ceilings into neighboring establishments.

Assistant Fire Chief Darwin VanderGraaff said the book store, the Red Coach Inn restaurant and Peet's cafe were gutted. It took crews two hours to bring the blaze under control.

Farenthold sets ISU talk

POCATELLO (UPI) — The president of the Women's National Political Caucus, Frances (Sissy) Farenthold, Corpus Christi, Tex., will speak at Idaho State University Tuesday.

"Opening up political jobs for women at every level" will be one of her main concerns. "There is not one United States senator and I think there are only four federal judges," she said. "These barriers need to be broken down." The talk will begin at 8 p.m.

Gem rights panel divides top offices

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Writer

BOISE — The Idaho Commission on Human Rights agreed to a major reorganization of its staff Saturday, creating twin positions of administrative director and commission attorney.

Linda Gonzales, who has been the commission's deputy director, will become administrative director in charge of running the commission office. Fred Grant, who has been serving as attorney-director, will handle the legal workload.

Grant recommended the reorganization because he said it was impossible for one person to handle the administrative and legal workloads.

Completing two days of meetings in Boise, commission members scheduled public hearings in eastern Idaho next month to find out whether textbooks used in Idaho schools discriminate against minority groups of women. The commission held one hearing on the subject in north Idaho and members held out the possibility of filing complaint charges if their hearings determine textbooks portray attitudes of discrimination.

The commission also set a public hearing into two charges of discrimination filed against the J. R. Simplot Corp. by two Pocatello women. They charged discrimination in wages on the basis of sex. In one case, according to Grant, the company has filed no response to the commission, and in the other case responded with a letter denying the charges but not including any information.

Commission members also dismissed several cases, including one complaint filed by a Kootenai County deputy sheriff who was fired when a new sheriff was elected to office. The man had worked for another candidate during the election campaign, but commission members said they had no jurisdiction in the case and dropped it.

The commission also agreed it would ask for $8,000 to the fiscal year, including money to increase the pay of the administrative director. Hero Shjosak, Blackfoot, was named chairman for the coming year and Sue Reents, Boise, vice chairman.

Holy year opens

ROME (UPI)—Pope Paul VI opened the Roman Catholic Holy Year within the Diocese of Rome, a year ahead of the rest of the world, Saturday night and prayed for its success in promoting spiritual renewal and reconciliation.

The pontiff celebrated mass in the Basilica of St. John in Lateran, the parish church of popes, who also are the Bishops of Rome in Holy Year opening ceremony. The world-wide Holy Year begins on Christmas Eve 1974 and continues until Christmas, 1975.

Posse seeks more crime spree dead

STOCKTON, Calif. (UPI)—A mounted posse hunted along the rainswept California coast Saturday for two more possible victims of the two accused mass killers of nine persons in a country grocer's home.

Deputies said the suspects may have killed 16 persons in a two-state crime wave that began last month. The two accused killers, Willie L. Steelman, 28, and Douglas E. Gretzler, were arraigned Friday on murder and kidnaping charges.

Sonoma County Sheriff Don Striepke said deputies in Stockton told him the two bodies may be lying close to a road or in weeds between the coastal towns of Bodega Bay and Jenner, 15 miles apart.

The search was centered in the area where a van used by two missing Arizona men was found Oct. 21.

Nixon relaxes at Camp David; 'Gate tapes release hinted

CAMP DAVID, MD. (UPI)—While President Nixon relaxed for the weekend at this mountain retreat, there were signals Saturday that he may be preparing to make public the content of the controversial White House tapes and other memoranda.

Shortly before leaving Washington Friday with his family, Nixon conferred with Republican congressional leaders for two hours on the Watergate situation.

"We were assured the President is prepared to meet all charges that have been made and prepared to refute them," Senate GOP leader Hugh Scott told newsmen.

The next major development was expected Monday when Judge John J. Sirica resumes hearings on the White House claim that two key conversations Nixon held with former Attorney General John N. Mitchell and ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III were never recorded.

They were among nine purported taped conversations which Nixon agreed to turn over to Sirica for possible submission to the Watergate grand jury.

The White House has suggested Nixon is willing to turn over to Sirica personal memoranda he dictated after a meeting with Dean on April 15—one of the two purported untaped conversations. It was not known whether the President dictated such a memorandum after the situation.

other conversation, a telephone call with Mitchell on June 20, 1972.

The first step in the White House strategy to try to rebuild the President's shaken prestige apparently, will be to provide Sirica with whatever Watergate material is available.

There was strong speculation that once that is done and the grand jury has studied the tapes and other evidence, Nixon may move to make much of the material public. He has insisted throughout that he had no prior knowledge of the bugging break-in of Democratic headquarters on June 17, 1972, nor any awareness of cover-up attempts that followed.

Scott said after the leadership meeting with Nixon that the President "came very close" to stating that if Sirica permits, the tapes will be made public.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said Saturday he thought it would be "a good idea" for Nixon to make public portions of the Watergate tapes.

"I think it's in his own best interest to clear up these doubts," Mansfield said.

White House lawyers and members of the Watergate prosecution staff held several whispered bench conferences with Sirica at the close of Friday's hearing on the tapes.

The chief U.S. district judge ordered the transcripts of the bench conversations sealed and said he planned to rule Monday on questions raised during them.

There seemed little likelihood that the President would agree to a request by members of the Senate Watergate Committee that he meet with them in the near future to answer direct questions about the scandal.

Chief committee counsel Samuel Dash and minority counsel Fred Thompson conferred during the week with White House attorneys Fred Buzhardt and Leonard Garment, but Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said specific arrangements for a meeting were not discussed.

Marchers back Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nearly 75 persons, braving a 30-degree chill and occasional jeers from passing motorists and pedestrians, held a "Support Nixon" rally Saturday on the sidewalk in front of the White House.

The predominantly youth demonstrators waved flags, carried signs and chanted as they marched in a circle alongside Pennsylvania Ave., just beyond the White House fence. President Nixon was at his Camp David, Md., retreat for the weekend.

Stay home and shiver, solon asks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. William R. Cotter, D-Conn., thinks public officials, including President Nixon, shouldn't escape the effects of a fuel shortage this winter by flying south.

Cotter wrote President Nixon Saturday asking him to remain in Washington "and forego the warm sunshine of Key Biscayne and San Clemente during this winter."

"If our people must shiver this winter, our public officials cannot be expected to do less," Cotter said.

Judge cuts damage sum

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UPI)—Federal Judge A. Sherman Christensen Saturday trimmed $93 million from a mammoth antitrust judgment against International Business Machines, leaving damages awarded Telex Corp. at $250.5 million.

The senior federal judge left untouched a counterclaim award of $21.9 million which Telex, a Tulsa, Okla., computer maker, was ordered to pay IBM for industrial espionage.

Christensen originally awarded Telex $352.5 million in treble damages in a suit filed by Telex charging the computer giant with violating the Sherman Antitrust Act through its computer marketing methods.

Six-war veteran, 91, prefers holiday observance Nov. 11

WEISER (UPI) — A veteran of six wars wants to see the rest of the nation join Idaho and other states that have returned to the traditional Nov. 11 observance of Veteran's Day.

C. G. "Jack" Lattimer doesn't like the idea of designating the fourth Monday in October for the celebration just to provide another three-day weekend for the working man.

"There's a lot of people in this country who don't know what a veteran is," the 91-year-old warrior said.

"A fellow at the bank asked me the other day, 'you mean you risked your life in six wars?'" he said. "I said, 'I didn't risk it any more than anybody else did.' Everybody owes something to his country."

Lattimer first saw military service with the Army in the Spanish-American War. Later, he served in the Boxer uprising in China, the Philippine Insurrection, on the Mexican border with "Black Jack" Pershing in the World War I and World War II.

He was wounded twice in the Philippine Insurrection and twice in France during World War I.

Although he was not a "career" military man in the usual sense, Lattimer spent 24 years in service to his country — including the Army, the Marine Corps and — in World War II — in the Navy lighter than air unit.

Proud of his country, he'd do the same thing over again were he to live his life over.

"Yes," he said, and with a twinkle in his eyes, added, "I'd do it right now if they needed me."

Born in Winnebago, Minn., Aug. 12, 1882, Lattimer was reared on a farm. In his long life he has served as a deputy sheriff in King County, Wash., as a cook and as a logger among other pursuits.

He shot a mean game of pool until just a few years ago when his eyesight began to fail. He walks about a mile into the Weiser business district when he wants something from the store.

When he was past 60 he built a house from scratch on the shore of Lake Shasta, Calif., and once ran a restaurant in that area. He still loves to cook but his wife, Mabel, sometimes runs him out of the kitchen because his taste buds aren't quite what they used to be and he tends to oversensitize his food.

But when you sit and talk with Lattimer you quickly learn that the highlight of his life has been service to his country. He is proud to have served in six wars and he keeps the campaign medals, ribbons and other mementoes wrapped in velvet. He still has an old 45-caliber automatic from his service days. Lattimer put up a flagpole in his front yard and he flies the Stars and Stripes with pride whenever the weather permits and especially on holidays such as Veterans Day.

As a man who enlisted in the armed forces he prefers a volunteer army. He thinks the president's war powers should be enhanced to meet emergencies — not curbed. And he thinks the United States should stay out of war unless it goes into a conflict to win it.

American involvement in Vietnam baffled him.

"I think we made an awful mistake when we went over there," he said. "I would have done it like we did in the Philippines... when we went in there we should have gone after them, cleaned them up and been done with it."

"I don't know why they played around with it," he said. "Although he prefers volunteers to draftees, he thinks all physically able young men should spend some time in the service. First, he thinks they owe it to their country. But he also thinks it's good for them. He said youngsters not only are able to mature faster in military service but they better are able to select their life goals and occupations."

Besides that, he says, the money they are paid in the service these days is far better than the few bucks a month he got at the turn of the century.

Show off

TYNDALL AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (UPI) — National fuel shortages have led Air Force officials to cancel the Sunday exhibition of the Thunderbirds, the famed Air Force precision flying team.

The Thunderbirds were scheduled to appear at an open house program at Tyndall Air Force Base near Panama City.

Stops cut

PARIS (UPI) — Air France said Saturday it has canceled a number of stopovers in Montreal for its flights from Paris to Los Angeles and Chicago because of lack of kerosene supplies in the Canadian city.

TF priority tops for sewage funds

Wendell's plans, according to Dalke, include updating and expanding of the existing facility. The report issued by DECS lists the cost of the program, ranked as the second highest priority, at $142,000 and sets its date of operation for late 1974.

Rupert, the third highest priority on the list in the river basin area, is trying to upgrade its facilities, as well, and is currently studying to see how large an expansion is needed, according to Dalke. The plant is scheduled for completion in mid-1975 at a cost of $1.9 million.

Castleford, which has no current treatment facilities, is at work on a quarter million dollar facility, set for completion in mid 1975, according to the report. Dalke said the city is still trying to complete the requirements for the grant, even though it is fourth on the priority list.

Hazelton's proposed $116,000 project is scheduled for completion in about a year. Dalke said there is a problem at the present with site selection for the work that needs to be done.

Albion, the sixth top priority, is at work on its preliminary grant application, according to Dalke. The estimated cost of the construction is $160,000, according to the report, with completion expected in mid-1975.

Heyburn, the seventh top priority for construction funds, is having a "disagreement" over site selection for a new facility and the application is expected in one to two months, Dalke said. Envisioned is a $211,000 operation that will begin working sometime during the fiscal year that begins July 1, 1975. Funding will come in three stages beginning in the current fiscal year and stretching to the next one.

Kimberly's current plan is to construct an interceptor to carry the city's waste to the Twin Falls treatment facility, Dalke said. It is currently in the design phase, but is expected to cost slightly over $500,000 and be operational in about a year.

Jerome, the only other project in the area scheduled to receive construction funds during the current fiscal year, has submitted a preliminary application, Dalke said, but still has more studies to perform before it gets any money. It is planning a $2.1 million sewage treatment system that will also be funded over a two-year period. It is expected to be ready sometime during the fiscal year that begins in July, 1975.

Dalke said all the proposed treatment plants would give the municipalities secondary treatment, which will mean removal of 90 per cent of pollutants from the water before it leaves the plant.

The priority list for construction funds in the area includes 42 cities and towns, according to the report.

(c) New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Top officials of the Nixon administration are seriously discussing the possibility of asking Congress to enact a large tax on gasoline as an alternative to rationing, according to informed sources.

A tax of from 5 cents to 40 cents a gallon is being considered, they said.

The possibility of such a tax to discourage gasoline consumption arose as Congressional committees pushed to complete a bill that would give President Nixon emergency powers to deal with the energy crisis.

The tax under discussion would definitely discourage the use of gasoline, in the opinion of government economists. However, officials who are considering the tax are aware it would give rise to these other problems that must be solved:

- Relatively low-income individuals would be forced to cut back their purchases of gasoline the most.
- The tax would take so much money from consumers and put it into the treasury — roughly $1 billion for each penny of gasoline tax — that some means would have to be found to replace the purchasing power withdrawn from the economy.
- Under consideration, therefore, is the idea of making the gasoline tax rebateable as a credit against income taxes.

44 pollution permits due for plants

BOISE — The federal Environmental Protection Agency will issue water pollution permits to 44 industrial polluters in the southeastern Idaho during the current fiscal year, according to a state publication.

The Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS), in its draft of proposed Water Quality Management Plan for the Upper Snake River Basin, identifies the polluters and arranges them on the basis of the "magnitude of the water quality control problems."

The two top water pollution problems in the area, according to the report, are the Amargosa Sugar Co. plants in Paul and Twin Falls. The two plants, as well as a third company operation in Nampa, received air pollution compliance schedules from the Board of Environmental and Community Services last month.

They called for installation of equipment at the plants to reduce air pollution in a series of steps lasting to October, 1977, at the Paul plant and October, 1975, at the Twin Falls site.

The water quality report outlines DECS strategy for the current fiscal year in dealing with water pollution in the 26,400 square mile Upper Snake River Basin. The area stretches from the headwaters of the Snake River in Eastern Idaho to the King Hill area in the south central part of the state.

The draft study was prepared as part of the state's requirement under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act and will be the subject of two public hearings before it is considered for adoption by the Board of Environmental and Community Services. The hearings have been scheduled for Nov. 28 in Pocatello and Nov. 29 in Twin Falls, according to DECS.

Of the 44 identified sources of industrial pollution, 26 are in the Magic Valley area. Aside from the sugar plants, those with relatively high priorities include the J. R. Simplot processing plant in Heyburn, Ore-Ida in Burley, Colonial Concrete in Twin Falls, and the Green Giant Co. processing plant in Buhl.

In addition, the report lists a number of trout farms that will receive EPA permits. They include Clear Springs Trout Farm, Buhl; Rangan Trout Research, Hagerman; and a total of four sites of the Thousand Springs Trout Co., Hagerman.

The report also lists the Twin Falls Idaho Fish and Game office, Green's Fish and Game in Twin Falls; Blue Lakes Trout Farm, Twin Falls; Rim View Trout, Wendell; the Hagerman Fish Hatchery, Hagerman; White Water Ranch, Bliss; the U. S. Department of Interior site in Hagerman; Idaho Fish and Game Dept. in Hagerman, and Idaho Fish and Game Dept. in Bellevue.

Air cleanup to continue

(c) Chicago Daily News

CHICAGO — President Nixon's call for greater use of coal to ease the energy crisis will not necessarily mean an end to efforts to maintain relatively clean air, according to an Environmental Protection Agency official.

James McDonald, enforcement director for the EPA's midwestern region, said the federal government is working out a system for allocation of low-pollution coal and fuel oil for use in areas where there is normally high pollution.

Under the plan, fuels that cause greater pollution will be allocated for areas of the Midwest — such as rural regions — where the pollution normally is lower.

McDonald said major users of high-sulphur coal, such as utilities, "must be persuaded to install control devices" on their smoke stacks.

He said this plan would allow "high-sulphur midwestern coal to be used with an adverse health effects."

McDonald said exceptions would be made for areas where no low-sulphur fuels are available, although state or city regulations require its use.

"In those areas where current regulations do limit the sulphur content of fuels, the EPA can approve and encourage short-term variances where necessary to ensure that fuel is available to meet society's needs."

Local environmental groups stated earlier that such regulations were needed if the country is not to lose the progress it has made in cleaning up the air.

TF marching band foregoes marches

By MARY QUINN
Special to the Times-News
They'll come at you first with a rock fanfare, slow up and play a Janis Joplin tune, "Move Over," then into "Abdons Bolero," then "Fire and Rain," another recent pop song.
The Twin Falls High School marching band hasn't played a traditional march tune in three years. The audience seems to like it, the director couldn't be happier and the students who have to play the stuff enjoy marching to a new beat.
Rich Thorne, director of the band, also plans to combine the Minico band and Twin Falls' 60 members Monday during halftime of the football game and play "McCarthy Park."
The Minico game will be the fifth game the band has marched this year. Each program has been different. Two have been written from scratch by Thorne.

He estimates 5,600 man hours plus 80 hours of his own go into the makeup of each new show.
"It's a great haul for first of all. It's outside, there's a schedule when it's got to be done and there's 140 people to tell what to do."
"But if you can pull it off and the people enjoy it and the students enjoy it then they know they've pulled off something that was difficult."
"The kids feel good about the way they perform and they feel they're doing something for the school."
The drill team with 80 members make the visual part of the show come alive and in Thorne's words can "actually make the music stand out."

Although Thorne writes all of the initial material, the drill team, with Mary Almquist and Mary Otto directing, work up their own routines for segments he wants done in the show.
Several 7-a.m. practices five days a week seem grueling, Thorne said. "It's a high pressure thing. It's involved. I can't be the humanist I'd like to be. We have to be able to perform around an extremely demanding time table."
Students have accepted for the most part his demand on their time.
"They have to try hard. They know the position I'm in and they're in," he said.
Thorne says the music is his prime concern with the band. Too many schools try to compete against each other, he said. Many bands start during the summer and devote all of their school time to marching band.

"We're looking for entertainment and quality but we're not usurping time from other band projects," Thorne said.
In addition band instructor Del Slaughter teaches pep band, high school symphony orchestra, symphonic band, plus a group for all state band tryouts and being president of the fourth district music clinic.
The whole program is involved and working according to Thorne.
"School board members," said Thorne, "have supported the band. Most have appeared at games and watched the show," he added.
The board supported us monetarily as well," Thorne said. "New band uniforms were purchased this year but have failed to arrive in time for the last performance."

During this year audiences have listened to "Rock Cocoon," "Live and Let Die," "Scorpio," and "Stake Lake Rock Entrance."
They'll hear more of the same, see intricate drills and see somewhat of an oddity. After "McCarthy Park" is completed with Minico the two bands with members interwoven will march off the field together unlike most high school rivalries.

Cow hoisted

By United-Press International
VERDI, Nev. (UPI) — That wasn't the cow jumping over the moon.
What some people saw on the horizon was a 1,200-pound cow being lifted by helicopter from a crevice where she had become stuck.
Borsy was strapped in a harness and hoisted over the hill to the pasture.

Conferences conducted

JEROME — For the first time parents and low conferences have been conducted at Lincoln Elementary School.

According to Mrs. Betty Hyder, school administrative trainee, this was the first time the conferences have been conducted for the third and fourth graders and they were well received not only by the teachers but the parents as well.

We have 339 students enrolled at the school and a total of 318 parents attended the conferences, Mrs. Hyder said.

Counterfeit Watergate bills taken

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The Secret Service has confiscated four stamps in caricature. He will display them at the gallery.

An "80 stamp" has a drawing of President Nixon above the word "Truth." A "2-3" stamp with drawing and the name Ehrlichman bears the word "Sincerity." The Holde-man stamp of 4-5 denomination proclaims "Clarity," and a 6-7 stamp with a drawing and the name Mitchell is labeled "Honesty."

When he went to consult with the Secret Service, Wagner said, he got into "something of a hassle" and an agent grabbed his "bill" and kept it. A trip to the U.S. District Attorney's office was little better.

"An assistant D.A. was nice to me—he's really a nice guy, but he said he couldn't give me any legal advice because he might have to prosecute me. That's when I got a lawyer."

Arthur Benson II of the American Civil Liberties Union. "The Secret Service," Benson said, "maintains that Wagner's bill is a similitude of currency although it's 30 inches long and besides the San Clemente White House it shows President Nixon's face and bears the words 'Inflationary Note' instead of 'Federal Reserve Note.'"

AEC studies ways to speed N-power plants

(C) New York Times Service
NEW YORK — Since June, the Atomic Energy Commission has had a special task force studying how to cut four years from the more than nine it now takes to build and license nuclear power plants.

President Nixon urged the four-year speed-up Wednesday in his televised speech about reducing long-term energy shortages which have been aggravated by this fall's cutoffs in petroleum supplies from Arab nations.

According to L. Manning Muntzing, the AEC's director of regulation, the task force has estimated the four-year reduction could be accomplished by two basic steps:

— Selecting and setting aside potential power-plant sites, on which environmental studies and hearings for local citizens would be conducted in advance, as is already done in New York and a few other states.

— Settling on a small number of standardized nuclear plant designs, now being drafted by all major suppliers under rules already issued by the AEC.

Most of the impact of these two steps, Muntzing noted in a telephone interview, would come with power stations which have not been ordered yet, that is, for stations which will begin operating well beyond 1980.

In that year, which is President Nixon's target date for ending U.S. dependence on oil from Arab states, it is estimated that approximately 150 nuclear power plants will be delivering between 130 and 150 million kilowatts of electricity, nearly one quarter of the total national capacity estimated for 1980.

All of the plants to be operating in 1980 have been ordered, and their designs are virtually complete, Muntzing noted. He added that steps have been taken to reduce delays for these from the peaks of a few years ago.

One of these steps concerns the operating licenses the AEC prints at the end of nuclear power plant construction, after carrying out the environmental review required under the 1971 U.S. Appeals Court decision in the Calvert Cliffs case. That decision, which the AEC did not appeal, halted all operating licenses for 18 months.

In March of this year, Muntzing said, the AEC's regulatory staff was enlarged and procedures were smoothed to the point where the AEC could grant operating licenses when construction of a power plant was completed, not months later as had been the rule.

The total of nuclear power stations now operating is 39, with a capacity of 23.6 million kilowatts.

Edmund Kemper sentenced to life

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — Edmund E. Kemper III, a hulking 6-foot-9 giant, was sentenced today to life in prison for murdering and dismembering eight women.

The 24-year-old, mild-mannered young man, appeared relieved at the sentence and quietly thanked the judge and the county prosecutor before he was taken away to spend the rest of his life in prison.

While Kemper stood handcuffed and manacled before him, Judge Harry E. Brauer read the life sentence and said to him:

"May God have mercy on your soul, Mr. Kemper. But you have to understand that I have to protect the rest of the people from people like you."

Kemper had confessed the killing of six coeds, his own mother and another woman. He turned himself in to stop further killing and told officers he was sure if he were ever freed he would become a killer again.

"I know you were not bragging, but you were speaking in anguish and remorse," Judge Brauer said.

Psychiatrists who testified during the trial said Kemper was sane under the law because he knew what he was doing and that it was wrong.

Kemper is exempt from a new California law restoring the death penalty, which becomes effective Jan. 1. He was taken to the state medical prison at Vacaville until assigned a permanent place of confinement.

Jerome questions mailed

JEROME — Jerome school patrons have been given an opportunity this week to voice their likes and dislikes with the school system.

A total of 3,000 questionnaires was mailed to patrons. They contained three pages of questions dealing with the working of the Jerome school system. Those receiving the questionnaires were asked to rate on a one to five scale which areas they felt needed more or less emphasis to what is not the responsibility of the school.

The questionnaire contains questions on what the school is providing such as if adequate library materials, textbooks, counseling and proper education for college-bound students, gifted and slower learners are being provided by the school and to what degree more or less of these should be improved or not improved.

The questionnaire also asks for opinions on how the school is doing in developing the skills learned in grades from pre-school to senior in high school and to what degree the school needs to help the young people learn in the areas of intellectual development, citizenship and human relationships, mental and physical health and career and occupational guidance.

Roy Parton, project director for the School Needs Assessment Committee (SNAP) who sent the questionnaires, said "this opinion survey is a vital part of a project now underway in our school system which will help to more clearly identify those needs of our students which we expect our schools to meet."

He urges all Jerome residents who received one of the questionnaires to fill it out and send it back to the school as soon as possible.

Magnuson predicts daylight time near

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, predicted Friday Congress may send legislation to President Nixon next week to put the nation on year-round daylight savings time as an important fuel savings step.

At the outset of hearings on legislation endorsed by Nixon in his energy conservation package, Magnuson said he was assigning "top priority" to the matter. He noted that the House Commerce Committee was considering similar legislation.

"It is entirely possible that we can get a bill down to the White House by next week," Magnuson commented. "Year-round daylight saving time will contribute directly to energy saving."

Transportation and Interior Department witnesses, giving their support to the proposal, said it would result in "important fuel savings."

The nation in recent years has switched from standard time to daylight saving on the last Sunday in April and then returned to standard time the last Sunday in October.

The all-year proposal is based on the theory that offices and other business places should be able to reduce their electricity and fuel demands during the winter months when the days are shorter.

Price hikes proposed by automobile makers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Cost of Living Council (CLC) said Friday it would hold public hearings Nov. 20-21 to determine if a new round of price increases proposed by the Big Four auto makers fell within government anti-inflation standards.

The council asked General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors to justify higher prices announced for 1974 cars and trucks.

The complaints have said they need the price boosts to offset higher costs for labor, materials and overhead. In September, the council granted each company an increase on 1974 models to cover the cost of installing safety bumpers, seat belt alarm systems and other government-required safety and environmental equipment. In each case, the increases were less than requested by the company.

CLC Deputy Director James W. McClane said, "The council will be examining closely the potential impact that further auto price increases could have on the economy as well as the cost justification furnished by each auto company."

Nixon press 'unfair'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Televised presidential press conference has become little more than a tool of skillful, peddlawise presidents, two prominent journalists said in a debate on news coverage of President Nixon Thursday night.

At the same time, two other publishers complained the press has been "hysterical" and "unfair" in its coverage of the President.

Benjamin Bricker, executive editor of the Washington Post, said "I think televised press conferences may be over the hill. Any president with any skill plays the press like a harp. Kennedy did it... so does Nixon."

Tom Wicker, associate editor of The New York Times, made the same point when he criticized pre-Watergate press coverage of the White House as much too soft.

"If there's any shock at the questions asked at the last press conference, it's because most Americans have never seen reporters ask tough questions before," said Wicker. "By and large... the press does not ask follow up questions, does not put the president on the spot."

"The president can turn the press conference into an instrument of presidential policy."

Their comments came at a panel discussion on the question "Has the press been fair to Richard Nixon," sponsored by the Columbia Graduate School of Journalism.

The other two panelists—Francis Dale, former publisher of the Cincinnati Enquirer and founder of the Committee for the Re-election of the President, and William Rusher, publisher of the National Review—answered that question with an emphatic yes.

"We are in such a hysterical mood now, whipped up by the press," said Dale. He quoted Seymour Hersh of The New York Times as having said: "We've got Nixon on the run."

"Is that the watch dog of the press," asked Dale, "or the attack dog?"

"Of course the press is unfair," said Rusher, referring again to the President's last press conference. "It was one of the great moments in American theater. Hatred was seeping from 100 different faces. The voices were tant with anger."

Bradlee and Wicker argued that the press had gone out of its way to be fair to President Nixon, who—like any president they said—had a tremendous advantage in dealing with the media.

Said Bradlee, "The president can command television time, can hold a press conference, can command page one space, the lead of the paper—even when in your heart you know he's wrong or at least that the truth is clouded."

Soviets claim Tibetans slain

MOSCOW (UPI) — The weekly newspaper of the Soviet Writers Union says China, which overran Tibet 14 years ago, killed 12,000 Tibetans last year while putting down a revolt.

"During the new insurrection of the Tibetans in 1972, there were 12,000 dead and thousands of Tibetans sent to jail or hard labor camps," Literaturnaya Gazeta (Literary Gazette) said in its current edition.

China forcibly took over Tibet in 1959 and made it an autonomous region in 1965.

The weekly also claimed that in recent years the Chinese forcibly suppressed national liberation movements in five other regions.

From 1967-1972 the Maoists have through iron and fire put an end to the agitation of non-Chinese people in Shikiang, Inner Mongolia, the Chiang area of Kwangsi, Hainan Island and Hunan," the weekly said.

The newspaper said the aim of Peking's policy was to "colonize the lands of peoples who have never been Chinese, and the forced assimilation of such people."

Miss Rodeo America named in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Donna Howsley, 19, a 5-foot-2 green-eyed blonde from El Paso, Tex., was crowned Miss Rodeo America Thursday night to reign over the year.

Miss Howsley won the five days of competition in which 27 contestants vied for the title. The Texas Technology University student was awarded $6,000 in stocks in a cosmetic company. She will represent Miss Rodeo throughout the country at parades and rodeo events.

Miss Howsley also won the horsemanship award in competition at the Frontier Hotel. She entered the contest for the national award with the previous title of Miss Rodeo Southwest Texas.

Teri, Holscher, 19, Miss Rodeo Nebraska, of Scottsbluff, Neb., was first runner-up. The 5-7 blue-eyed blonde is a student at the University of Nebraska.

Pam Green, 20, Miss Rodeo Wyoming, of Laramie, Wyo., was second runner-up. She is a junior at the University of Wyoming.

Gale Perry, 20, Miss Rodeo Arizona, of Phoenix, was third runner-up. Sherri Dawn Ross, 19, Miss Rodeo Utah, of Hooper, Utah, was fourth runner-up.

Microwave ovens fail stringent FDA tests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said Friday that some microwave ovens failed to pass more stringent test conditions than have been proposed by a consumers' group to reduce radiation leakage.

The FDA said it tested 200 microwave ovens in actual use in homes and commercial establishments; it said all of those tested met current FDA standards for how much radiation may leak. But it said there was a much higher failure rate when the ovens were subjected to tests proposed by Consumers' Union.

The group, which publishes the "Consumer Reports" magazine, has urged the government to raise its safety requirement and to warn users that there may be a radiation hazard.

Of 100 ovens subjected to the tests suggested by Consumers' Union, 88 leaked radiation at levels higher than the group advocates, the FDA said.

Montana rancher charged

BROADUS, Mont. (UPI) — First-degree murder charges were filed today against a young rancher, described as a "loner," accused of bringing on the death, apparently by a heart attack, of a 60-year-old man while firing on the man's ranch-house.

John Trusler, in his late 20's, was arrested early today after a see-saw battle with lawmen which began Thursday afternoon when Powder River County authorities approached his Pumpkin Creek ranch with complaints Trusler had cut barbed wire fences on neighboring ranches.

County Attorney Robert Brooks said that Trusler fired on Sheriff Grant Gatlin and deputies and then escaped from the ranchhouse where he was barricaded to fire on a ranch 1 1/2 miles distant belonging to William Gaskill, 60, who apparently died of a heart attack.

Brooks said that the first-degree charges were filed because Trusler had been engaged in murderous attacks with intent to kill upon law enforcement officers and Gaskill.

Under a "felony murder" rule, Brooks said, Trusler can be charged with murder when he is responsible for a death which occurred during the commission of a felony.

Brooks said that Trusler had shot out the windshield from two law enforcement officers' cars and narrowly missed hitting Sheriff Gatlin. Brooks also describe the shooting attacks as "premeditated."

"Trusler is a loner. He has no friends. He is kind of a hermit," Brooks said.

Law enforcement officers surrounded the Trusler ranch and used tear gas to flush the man, but he was lost first, Brooks said, when Trusler fled into rough country behind the house.

Snow brings damage at Hailey

HAILEY—The Wood River High School at Hailey has incurred about $1,000 in water damage as melting snow caused roof and wall leaks.

According to Principal John Barton, the roof leak resulted from the gradual working loose of small metal circles — used to fasten the tarpaper onto the roof — through expansion and contraction. Temporary roof patching has been conducted.

Major leaks were reported in the third floor library and study hall, with water from leaks in the Spanish room seeping through the floor to a classroom below.

In the rear of the gymnasium water traveled down the wall, buckling the stage floor and depositing about two inches of water on the boys and girls dressing room floors underneath the stage.

Wall leaks in the basement classrooms were also reported and the faculty room floor also was damaged.

Oil company pays ransom, man held

BUENOSAIRES (UPI)—The Argentine subsidiary of a U.S. oil company paid a $1 million ransom two weeks ago for the release of a kidnapped American executive, but the hostage was not freed, business sources said Thursday.

The sources identified the ransom victim as David B. Wilkie Jr., president of Amoco Argentina Oil Co.

Wilkie, 48, the father of five children, was abducted Oct. 23 as he left his home in a northern Buenos Aires suburb on his way to work.

The report coincided with an official spokesman's statement in the company's Chicago office that the abductors who took Wilkie from his car were "not following" the plans they set out in telephone conversations.

The company spokesman in Buenos Aires said there had been "delays" in the negotiations.

Kurt Schmid, Latin American director of Swissair was kidnapped in the same area a day before, Swissair said Thursday. It had no information on the case.

Boyle to face charges

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle, recovering from an apparent suicide attempt, was ordered extradited to Pittsburgh Friday for trial on charges he conspired to murder his union rival, Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski.

Boyle, 71, who took an overdose of barbiturates Sept. 24, remained in custody of U.S. marshals at George Washington University Hospital.

Secretary wills her million

MIAMI (UPI)—Evelyn Mitchell had lived the life of the ideal secretary. She once said she did everything for her boss during the 20 years she worked for him except empty the cuspidor and that only "because the firm didn't have one."

Miss Mitchell's boss happened to be a man who knew how to repay loyalty. He left her $1 million in his will.

After a long heart ailment, the millionaire "girl-Friday" to the late Arthur Vining Davis died Thursday at Miami Heart Institute.

Davis at his death at age 95 in 1962 was one of the world's wealthiest men. He also left her his $300,000 mansion, "Journey's End," in a Miami suburb.

Miss Mitchell stayed in the mansion for three years but sold it when taxes became too high, insisting, "If there's one thing I can't stand, it's genteel shabbiness."

Polluted oysters cause hepatitis

HOUSTON (UPI)—A city health official thinks strict supervision of oyster harvesting beds can prevent conditions that led to a hepatitis outbreak that could afflict as many as 1,000 persons.

"There is nothing like an outbreak to bring this problem into focus," said Dr. Robert MacLean, director of the communicable disease office.

"We need similar activities to what is going on now—regular inspection and surveillance of oyster culture sites."

MacLean said the liver disease was the worst outbreak he had seen in five years. He said 120 people had been infected so far in cases as far away as Spokane, Wash.

The Federal Food and Drug Administration traced the contaminated oysters to a Louisiana house. Untreated sewage apparently spilled into the Gulf oyster beds and caused the contamination.

"Perhaps more vigorous activities along these lines will prevent things like illegal harvesting in contaminated waters, which apparently goes on occasionally," he said.

State health departments in areas where raw sea food is harvested are aware of the potential problems of contamination and most have developed good inspection programs to prevent things of this nature happening, MacLean said.

The contaminated oysters arrived in local restaurants in late September and the disease has an incubation period of up to 50 days.

Hepatitis causes an inflammation of the liver and results in fatigue loss of appetite, nausea and fever.

Gas supply short at TF service station

TWIN FALLS—One service station in Twin Falls was out of gasoline Friday, but suppliers indicated it was an exception rather than regular condition.

Officials of the Texaco distributing center here said only the one station was completely out but others were running low and they have no gasoline at this time to deliver.

Allocations for the month so far were for the first ten days only, but more is supposed to be coming, one official said.

He said other stations may be out of gasoline before a supply is available as there is no indication at this time how soon more will be available in Twin Falls.

Burglars work overtime in TF

TWIN FALLS—A rash of burglaries occurred in Twin Falls city and county Thursday night and Wednesday.

City police reported the theft of a number of antique items from a vehicle left at Magic Valley International Inc. for repairs.

Owner of the vehicle, John Pastillas, Klamath Falls, Ore., told city police someone took an antique railroad lantern, a box of antique glasses and dishes and other items valued at $285. He said the theft occurred between Nov. 4 and Thursday afternoon.

Leon Ellis, 112 Elm St., told police someone entered his garage while it was unlocked and removed a box of tools and a number of boxes of canned goods.

Ray Althouse Sr., 27 Holly Lane, told officers someone entered his house Thursday and took $254 worth of records and stereo equipment.

A battery, valued at $30 was taken from a pickup truck owned by Keystone Seed Co. while it was parked at Magic Valley International Inc.

County officers today were investigating the theft from two homes near Murtaugh.

Sheriff Paul Corder said someone entered the Charles Bailey home and took a pistol which was later found in a ditch near the home. They also removed a number of food items and jacket from the home.

At the Douglas Bailey home, one half mile to the west, a 1960 pickup truck was taken along with a chain saw and a half case of motor oil.

Mrs. Ray Jackson, Berger, told sheriff's officers someone entered her home while she was away and took a carton of cigarettes and a $20 bill from the kitchen. Nothing else in the house was bothered.

Investigation in all of the burglaries continues.

In Piler, city police today were checking reports of a break-in at Mary's Cafe.

Teach safety

NEW YORK (UPI)—If your children walk to school, walk with them now and then to be sure they are going the safest way. Some schools suggest safe routes. Parents should explain to a child why one route is best, and warn of any dangers—blind intersections, grouchy pooches, heavy traffic, deserted buildings or construction sites.

X-rated movie not shown at TF theater

TWIN FALLS — On Halloween night Twin Falls County Prosecuting Atty. Robert Galley entered the Orpheum Theater Main Avenue and informally asked the management to stop showing "The Cheerleaders," an X-rated, fleshy "documentary."

Galley said he made the request for shutting down the film after receiving a number of complaints from persons who had seen the X rating and poster advertisements and who had seen the film itself.

He said that he sent a police detective and a deputy prosecutor to see the film and that they said the film should not be shown, even though it was "not as bad" as other films which have been shown.

The police detective who saw the film refused to comment.

Galley emphasized that no individual sets standards on what is pornographic — that the community standards were violated by its showing.

Although Galley had made clear he was not taking formal action that night to close "The Cheerleaders," but just making a request, he did identify himself as the county's prosecuting attorney when he walked in, Mrs. George said.

Manager Jane George later said she complied even though the movie had been popular and the basis of the prosecutor's request was "unclear" to her.

"It's not the intention of the owners or the management here to start showing slinky flicks of X movies," Mrs. George said. She maintained the Orpheum shows films produced by major film companies and shown throughout the United States, rather than featuring underground movies.

Mrs. George also asked why Galley has chosen "The Cheerleaders" to crack down on. She said there have been movies for months and months in town that were more "exposing" than "The Cheerleaders."

Mrs. George said "The Cheerleaders" had been enjoyed by persons aged 18 to 70 who "left the theater smiling." Out of thousands of tickets sold, only four tickets were refunded because people were dissatisfied with the nature of the film, she said. She said apparently a full week passed before anyone complained about "The Cheerleaders."

"I can't say whether I had made up my mind completely or not" on whether to take the case to court if the manager refused to discontinue "The Cheerleaders," Galley said. "Voluntary compliance" is the best way to solve these matters, he added.

Rolling his eyes upward, Galley remarked that a power outage caused the theater to stop showing the film that night and said with a smile he guessed "someone" was helping out.

Galley said this was the first time the county had received any complaint on offensive media since the Pussycat Bookstore was closed last winter. He said he would "keep an eye" on the theater to ensure it did not show films that "fall below community standards."

Nixon message 'strong medicine'

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho said Thursday President Nixon's plan to save energy was "strong medicine," but also warned that "even tougher measures will be needed to avoid the worst effects of the energy crisis we are facing."

Hansen said the situation with energy was more serious than the president had described it and even with energy-saving measures proposed "there will likely be some severe shortages of electricity and fuel in some parts of the country this winter."

"The only remedy for the next few years lies in energy conservation," Hansen said, adding that his home thermostat "would be set at 60 degrees. The congressman also said to achieve the goal of energy self-sufficiency the president has set would require an "accelerated program of research and development. The executive branch could help a great deal by moving quickly to release funds approved by Congress months ago for high priority energy program."

4-day work week studied

(c) Washington Star-News
 WASHINGTON — The possibility of a four-day government work week to meet the national energy crisis has been raised by administration officials.

President Nixon has not asked for such standby authority in his request to Congress for emergency legislation, but administration sources said such a proposal may be forthcoming if the suggested measures do not solve the energy crisis.

A top administration official directly involved in government personnel matters said it was hoped the measures outlined by Nixon to deal with the energy shortage would be sufficient.

But if the energy crisis worsens, then a four-day federal work week would be a distinct possibility, he said.

The topic has been discussed by Civil Service Commission officials and those in the White House's office of management and budget. The present inclination is to wait and see how effective the immediate measures outlined by the President are before considering any further move.

Such a work-week would consist of four 10-hour days, Monday through Thursday, or Tuesday through Friday.

This would permit the government's buildings to remain closed three days consecutively each week, resulting in considerable energy savings. There are many thousands of government buildings throughout the country.

Most, but not all, government employees would be on a four-day work week if the plan were adopted. Some federal functions would remain on a five-, six- or seven-day basis, such as some defense units, law enforcement activities, air traffic controls and hospitals.

In order for a four-day work week to be effective, Congress would have to waive the law that provides overtime for government workers for all work in excess of eight hours a day. Otherwise, the cost in overtime would be prohibitive.

BB Rebozo's bank officer removed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) said Friday it was prepared to order the removal of a key officer of a Key Biscayne bank headed by C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo, one of President Nixon's closest friends.

But FDIC chairman Frank Wille said he would delay the disciplinary action pending confirmation that the officer, Franklin S. DeBoer, had resigned his post effective today.

Wille said the FDIC's Board of Directors ordered DeBoer's suspension and removal as vice president and head of the trust department of the Key Biscayne Bank and Trust Co. on an agency staff recommendation "based on certain of DeBoer's activities as an officer and director of National Home Products Inc. and as a partner of Baerwald & DeBoer," a stock brokerage firm.

The license of the brokerage firm was revoked by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) in 1971 following charges of fraud against DeBoer in connection with the sale of unregistered stock between 1965 and 1970. DeBoer accepted the commission's findings without an admission of guilt.

Indian complaint rejected

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Human Rights Commission rejected a complaint Friday that Indian symbols used by Pocatello High School are discriminatory to Indian students at the school.

At the same time, the commission continued a hearing on a charge that a man was fired from the Bogus Basin Ski Area in Boise because his hair was too long.

The commission voted to send the opinion to high school officials urging the use of special cultural classes to ease prejudicial attitudes among students.

Boise couple sues

BOISE (UPI) — A Boise couple has filed a $50,000 lawsuit against Dr. Curtis A. Jones for alleged side effects of an anesthetic administered during a tonsillectomy.

Tommie Corn and his wife, Toni, have filed the action in Fourth District Court. The suit says Mrs. Corn went to Jones in August, 1972, for treatment of tonsillitis, and when the doctor decided a tonsillectomy was necessary, a local anesthetic was administered.

Ex-candidate hired

BOISE (UPI) — Department of Environmental and Community Services Administrator Dr. James Bax has hired the professional services of a former U.S. Senate candidate, Dr. Glen Wegner.

Astoria in Saturday's Idaho Statesman said Bax, a former appointee of Democratic Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, hired services from Wegner, a possible Republican U.S. Senate candidate next year. He was hired Sept. 25 under a contract which "apparently bypassed" the established review procedures, the story said.

The story said Wegner — a physician-attorney who last year ran for the U.S. Senate in Idaho — and Bax signed a $3,000 contract for professional services. Wegner has been mentioned as a likely contender for Democratic Sen. Frank Church's seat next year.

Pocatello man elected

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — Garry Morris, a Pocatello farmer and school board member for 11 years is the new president of the Idaho School Boards Association.

Morris was elected at the closing session of the association meeting at Idaho State University. Dr. Ted Comstock, Nampa, is the president elect and Steve Mahaffey, Leadore, vice president.

Boise man burned

BOISE (UPI) — The Ada County Sheriff's Office and the county coroner have released the identity of a Boise man who burned to death early Friday in a fire at his two-bedroom trailer near the Barber Mill on Highway 21 east of Boise.

The sheriff's office said the man was John Ray Guskill, 22. Sheriff E. C. Palmer said the coroner and deputies used dental charts in efforts to identify the badly-burned man, the lone occupant of the trailer when it burned.

Palmer said the possibility of arson was being investigated. Sheriff's officers said the fire also could have been caused by an exploding butane gas tank.

IF man killed

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — The latest Idaho traffic fatality victim was Oscar Johannessen, 60, Idaho Falls, killed Nov. 3 in a car-pedestrian accident near Idaho Falls.

The Idaho state police said the man was hit by a car on U.S. 91 in Bingham County. The vehicle was driven by Merlin Franzsen, 50, Shelley. The traffic toll stands at 316, compared to 298 on this date one year ago.

Hay burns at Buhl

BUHL — About 50 tons of hay burned Friday night at the Emil Hahn farm four miles south of Buhl.

According to Raymond Hahn, part owner of the hay, the fire was thought to have started about 11 p.m. by a short in the electric fence.

The Buhl Volunteer Fire Department battled the blaze from 11 p.m. Friday to 3 a.m. Saturday. The burning hay was pushed by a bulldozer away from the farm buildings so there was no loss to the structures.

A passerby notified the fire department about the blaze. Hahn said the hay was covered by insurance.

Cancer Society elects

BOISE (UPI) — The new president of the Idaho division, American Cancer Society, is Dr. Warren T. Sutton, Idaho Falls, chosen during an annual meeting in Boise.

Other officers elected included John T. Orr, Idaho Falls, board chairman; Dr. A. A. Krueger, Ashton, president-elect, and Dr. Al W. Klotz, Boise, vice president.

Man dies in jail

BOISE (UPI) — Daniel Quitman West Jr., 30, Seattle, arrested in Boise early Friday on a disorderly conduct charge, died Friday night in the Boise City Jail minutes after arrangements were made to have him hospitalized.

Police said West was arrested at 4:20 a.m. at 508 North Twentieth Street after complaints were called in from women in the neighborhood about the man's behavior.

Arrest reports said the man showed "obvious signs of withdrawal symptoms..." and when picked up, he "was talking to the door and himself."

The man died before he could be transferred to a hospital. Time of death was about 7:50 p.m.

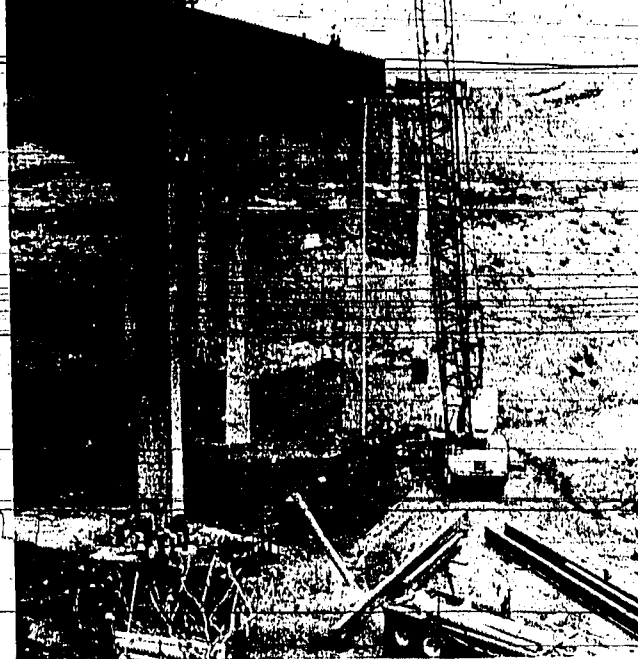

Officers said an autopsy is to be performed to determine cause of death.

(Continued from p. 1) Millard said the Howard vehicle then struck a car driven by Jay A. Brown, 32, Gooding, as it was stopped at a stop sign.

State Patrolman Larry Holland said Betty Jean Lee, 46, Twin Falls, narrowly escaped serious injury when she apparently fell asleep while driving five and one half miles east of Twin Falls on Addison Avenue East at 7:40 p.m. Her vehicle left the highway, rolled over and came to rest on a farm house lawn. She was treated at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for minor injuries and was cited for inattentive driving.

Magic Valley Ambulance Service answered all three accident calls.

Feedlots given deadline to quit polluting river

BOISE — Feedlots along the Snake River will have to eliminate direct pollution to surface waters by July, 1977, according to a state publication released Friday by the Department of Environmental and Community Services.

One department estimate places the number of such feedlots in the Upper Snake River basin at 309.

The draft study of the department's Water Quality Management Plan for the river basin in southeastern Idaho identifies feedlots as one of the major sources of "non-point" pollution in the entire 28,400 square mile area.

The feedlots are located the entire length of the portion of the river in the state, reaching from eastern Idaho to the Colorado border in the south central part of the state.

The draft study will be the subject of public hearings Nov. 28 in Pocatello and Nov. 29 in Twin Falls before the Board of Environmental and Community Services considers it for adoption as the state's strategy to upgrade water quality for the river basin for the current fiscal year.

The report lists three basin types of feedlot operations in the region. They include beef cattle feedlots, the most serious polluters, dairies and livestock overwintering operations, including those for calving and lambing.

In addition, the report says many of the lots are located near surface water drainage systems. During the spring runoff period, "the surface layers of the lots begin to thaw while the subsurface remains frozen, thus allowing the winter accumulations of animal wastes to flow easily off the lot into adjacent watercourses as spring rains and upland drainage flush across the lots."

A second pollution problem according to the report, is when "accumulated manure is inadvertently or deliberately dumped into nearby watercourses."

DECS and the federal Environmental Protection Agency are developing compliance schedules for the feedlots in the area and will begin issuing them on a priority basis during the current fiscal year, according to the report.

In addition, DECS will have responsibility under the plan to monitor progress of the feedlots in eliminating pollution and will ask the Soil Conservation Service and the Cooperative Extension Service to assist feedlot operators in meeting the standards.

Awareness

BOISE — The Idaho Commission on Human Rights is going to ask for public service advertising to make the public aware of its existence.

Attorney director Fred Grant told commission members meeting in Boise Friday, other state commissions had public service advertising.

The topic of visibility for the commission came up when Dorris Blough, Nampa, chairman, asked how one person had found out about how to file a complaint.

Grant agreed it was sometimes difficult. He noted the commission does not have a separate phone listing, because it is under the Department of Special Services, and its name isn't listed on the sign in front of the building where its offices are housed.

Cool ouster cry, Goldwater asks

Goldwater said Richardson "did the right thing" in quitting, because anyone on the President's council who can't agree with him should quit.

"I think the President's credibility went to an all-time low," he said, following recent incidents in Washington. Polls have shown the President is supported by only 23 per cent of the American public and that is "as low as it can be" because 23 per cent of the people would probably uphold the President under any circumstances.

"I don't know if the President will be able to get out of it," Goldwater said, but for the first time in months the Senator's mail is turning in favor of the President.

"There is no way in the world" a presidential candidate could know all of what his campaign workers were doing, he said.

Referring to his own presidential campaign, Goldwater said he didn't "know this day how many people were working for me or where my Washington, D. C. campaign office was located."

Goldwater said his apartment was bugged during his campaign and "if I had not caught that, I feel my group in their enthusiasm would have bugged someone else without my knowledge."

"I think we have seen something we won't see again" in the Watergate affair, he said. Goldwater emphasized that "no elected Republicans had anything to do with Watergate, but that it was all done by a bunch of 'rank amateurs.'"

"I think we should give this man the benefit of the doubt and remember he is our President," Goldwater said.

It was the "fundamental strength of the American people" that kept the country going in a crisis, and "when you start to lie and cheat and think more of power than of honor you disassociate yourself—from everything that makes America great," he said.

Referring briefly to the energy crisis, Goldwater said, "I think we'll be glad this energy crisis came because it takes a crisis to get the people in this country going again."

Sen. Baker sets TF date

TWIN FALLS — U. S. Sen. Howard Baker, vice chairman of the Watergate Committee, has confirmed plans to be in Twin Falls Friday.

The Republican from Tennessee will meet with representatives of the press, radio and television at the College of Southern Idaho on Friday afternoon and will be featured speaker at a fund raising dinner Friday night honoring Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho.

Former Idaho senator, Len B. Jordan and U. S. Mint Director Mary Brooks are sharing co-chairman honors for the Hansen dinner.

Jordan said events such as the one which brings Baker to Idaho have a two-fold purpose. "They provide an opportunity to express appreciation for a public official and for his constituents to raise needed campaign money free from the back room atmosphere which characterizes special interest politics," Jordan said.

As a member of the Watergate investigation committee, Baker has had the difficult responsibility of investigating members of his own party. Jordan said Baker has followed the tedious details of witnesses' direct testimony recounting events which have precipitated the current crisis in the nation's capital.

Cassia trustees plan construction

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News Writer

BURLEY — The Cassia County school trustees discussed building plans and construction schedules Friday as they worked to alleviate space problems created by the fire loss of the Burley Junior High School.

The board, in a special noon meeting, decided to enlarge plans for the new Burley Junior High School, include a possible additional classroom in the plans for the Declo Elementary School and begin developing plans for a new Burley Elementary School.

The new Burley Elementary School became a necessity when the junior high school, which was scheduled for remodeling for use as an elementary school, burned to the ground about two weeks ago.

The board unanimously approved a site, already owned by the district, south of 27th Street and just west of Overland Avenue for the school.

The architects who had completed preliminary sketches of the building estimated the size of the school at about 30,300 square feet. The district has available $450,000 approved in a $3.0 million bond election last spring for the remodeling of the junior high school, which may be used in the construction of the new elementary building.

The administration hopes to make up the additional funds out of the nearly $1-million expected in insurance payments for the loss of the junior high.

Supt. Harold Blauer said the district currently has a bonding capacity of $600,000 which could be utilized if, needed, and approved by the district voters.

Blauer said he would like to see the budget held down on the elementary school so up to $200,000 more could be spent on the new junior high school.

Board members instructed Richardson and Richardson and Associates, Salt Lake City, Utah, architects to develop plans for the new elementary school with a minimum of 18 classrooms and a maximum of 22.

The architects were also instructed to add four classrooms to the plans for the new junior high school buildings. Junior high school principal Lovell Turner said the original plans had been cut back too severely in the district's fight to keep inflating construction costs within the budget.

The plans for the new junior high building had already been expanded to provide more locker space and a gymnasium area.

The budget allocates $2.1 million for construction of the junior high building. Architects hope to be ready for a call for bids about the first of February.

The board decided the bleachers and the dividing curtain in the gymnasium would not be included in the bid specifications but would be purchased by the community as the auditorium seats in the Taft River auditorium will be, in an effort to hold costs down.

Bids for the 306-Taft-River auditorium seats will be opened Dec. 13. Trustee Charles Ward said he believes the seats costing over $12,000 could be purchased by the community for installation next spring in the auditorium can be built with a sloping floor. If the seats cannot be purchased for installation by then the building will have to be constructed with a tiered floor for use with temporary seating.

Construction on the auditorium began over a week ago and completion is scheduled for the spring.

Following receipt of approval from the Idaho Department of Education the board unanimously voted to have the new Declo Elementary School constructed south of the elementary cafeteria and music room on present school owned property.

Negotiations for an additional eight acres of land, required by the state for construction of the school, has held up finalization of construction plans for more than a month.

School attorney Herman Bedke was not present at the meeting to report on the negotiation status but plans for the school will continue while negotiations are being conducted.

Bids for the Declo Elementary School and the gymnasium will be opened Dec. 13. The bid specifications will include an alternate for hook-up to the Declo sewer system in the event it is completed in time for use by the school.

An alternate for an additional classroom will be included. Blauer said the room was not originally included in the plans because he felt the district could bring extra students to Burley, which is now in a space crunch following the loss of the junior high school.

Blauer reported a check of $200,000 was received by the district Friday morning in partial payment by Farm Bureau Insurance for the fire loss.

The district has already spent $5,000 of the funds for a boiler for an old junior high shop building which is still being used, $10,500 for the cleanup of rubble and dirt at the fire site, $1,300 for file cabinets and a secretary's desk, $1,700 for 20 teacher desks, $2,880 for space heaters for the old junior high lunch building which is still in use and $20,000 for the replacements of textbooks lost in the fire.

A request by bus superintendent Kirby Wilson for the district's purchase of five buses, available immediately from Kirksam Brothers in Indiana, for about $2,500 each was denied by the board.

The board questioned the legality of buying the buses without asking for bids. Even though state superintendent of instruction, D. F. Engokling, had told the administration the "emergency purchases" following the fire could be made without bidding.

Wilson said because of doubts existing in the Burley schools an additional 1,200 miles per day are being added to bus routes.

Grazing capacity boosted

Range work boosts capacity

By BONNIE BAIRD-JONES

TWIN FALLS — Voluntary rest-rotation programs and other improvement work by members of the Western Livestock Association has eliminated a scheduled 20 per cent carrying capacity reduction on range land allotted to the association.

Twin Falls District Ranger Lewis Munson, said a period of several years has been utilized in a range improvement program between the Forest Service and the cattle association.

A study was made several years ago calling for a 20 per cent reduction in cattle herds grazing on the 70,000 acre unit in the South Hills area. Munson said the association, under the direction of Ted Crockett, president, began a voluntary rest-rotation program to allow portions of the allotment to go ungrazed for one or more seasons.

Spraying of 1,700 acres of sagebrush was undertaken by the Forest Service at federal expense. The land is now producing a heavy stand of native grasses which re-established as the heavy sagebrush stands died out.

The aerial spray, Munson said, resulted in about a 65 to 70 per cent kill of sagebrush. Cost of the helicopter spray project was about $5.50 per acre, Munson said.

"We no longer strive for a 100 per cent kill," Munson said. "Some sagebrush is retained in an ideal spray program to provide game habitat and protection for sage grouse or deer during bad weather and for protection against predators."

He said the area is an important one for sage grouse nesting and habitat.

Munson said the spray project was done by helicopter which is a highly accurate method. No spray is applied within 100 feet of trees, including quaking aspen in order to conserve the trees for game habitat.

Another part of the project involved installation of 13 miles of new fence in connection with the rest-rotation program.

Munson said the fence has some special specifications. Studies show deer will jump a fence which is no more than 42 inches high and fawns will crawl under the lower wire if it is 16 inches above the ground.

Because of the heavy use of the unit by deer during winter months, the fence is built to this specification. To keep it as obscure as possible so as not to stand out in the environment, silver posts were used. Wire for the fence was furnished by the Forest Service and the fence was built by association members. Munson said the 250 pound rolls of wire were dropped along the fence location by helicopter.

This year in addition to avoiding any reduction in numbers of stock on the range, it was possible to extend the grazing season about a month.

"The season is normally from May 15 to Sept. 2. Cattle this year remained in the area through the month of September.

The association grazes 3,240 head of cattle on the allotment.

In another area of the district on sheep allotment, the Forest Service railed brush from the range in a large section of land using a giant chain pulled by crawler tractors.

Adjoining this, spray was used for a comparison of the two methods. Both are costly, Munson said, and the chain project kills the large brush but leaves the small plants. Native grass has been re-established in both areas without the need of replanting and that not grazed this year is nearly chest high throughout the summer.

Munson said a stand of this type will be able to maintain itself despite small sagebrush plants left behind by the chaining.

Here again, Munson said, outstanding cooperation by the permittee, Laird Noh, has resulted in re-establishing natural vegetation. The area has been grazed late in the season only, he said, after the plants are well established and sturdy.

Food price rise looms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The current decline in grocery prices will continue until early next year, predict Agriculture Department economists; but by spring they will begin rising moderately.

But the experts say that the predicted increase in food prices between January and June will not reach the record levels of the past August.

Per capita food consumption in 1973 will fall about 1.5 per cent below 1972 levels, the sharpest decline in 15 years, because consumers are getting into the habit of eating less to save money, officials said. Meat consumption will be off 6 per cent, the sharpest drop in 25 years, they said.

The "food situation" summary said prices for the last three months of 1973 will be "relatively stable" and probably a bit lower than last summer, primarily because of a drop in meat and poultry prices.

One expert estimated the January-March increase would be 1 to 2 per cent as meat supplies decline temporarily and other prices continue to advance. But he described that as "rather moderate" compared to the 5.7 per cent increase during the same period this year.

The report said retail prices may level off again in April-June 1974, as meat and poultry supplies increase to offset higher prices for other foods. By June, the specialists said, prices may be about the same as this year's July-September quarter, which means they will be below the all-time peak reached last August.

VIA, Ore. (UPI) — Harold and Violet Jenkins have sold their ranch at Westfall, about 40 miles west of Vale, to George and Helen Schroyer of Philomath, Ore., for an estimated $1 million.

Flying Realty, Inc., Vale, officials said the buyers are in the lumber business in Oregon.

They said they also own a ranch on the Salmon River with 2,000 cattle and another in the Eugene, Ore., area.

John Ross, Vale, will manage the ranch which includes 8,000 wooded acres. The ranch borders Bully Creek for about 15 miles.

Prices up on turkeys

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With consumers having gobbled up more turkeys than usual during the year because of high beef and pork prices, Thanksgiving shoppers will find their traditional holiday fare more expensive this month than they did last year.

Although turkey production this year is slightly larger than a year ago, Agriculture Department economists reported Thursday in an "Outlook Digest" report, lower slaughter weights have offset the increase and left consumers with about the same number of pounds of turkey as last year.

Despite the flat production trend, an unusually high demand for turkey in recent months has reduced back-up stocks of turkey in cold storage. Heavier demand, experts added, has boosted turkey out of the "lower-priced alternative" class.

Sugar control end eyed

NEW YORK (UPI) — An Agriculture Department official today urged sugar industry leaders to give serious study to the agency's controversial new proposal to abolish the government's 40-year-old sugar control program after 1974.

The current system of regulated marketing allotments for domestic producers and a favored list of about 30 foreign countries was designed in an era of constant world sugar surpluses and low prices; Arthur B. Calaginnini said in a speech prepared for delivery to the Sugar Club.

"This surplus no longer exists," said Calaginnini, who moved from an industry post recently to become head of the Agriculture Department's sugar division. Many experts, he contended, believe that the currently tight world sugar situation will stretch into "a world sugar economy of scarcity for the rest of the present decade."

Under the Agriculture Department proposal the current sugar control law, after it expires in 1974, would be followed by a plan allowing all domestic areas and all foreign producers except Cuba free access on an open, competitive basis to the $3 billion a year American sugar market.

For domestic growers, the protection they now get from regulated market prices and supplemental direct subsidies would be replaced by a new "target price" system. Under that plan, the proposed, new law would set price targets around current market levels and growers would get federal payments only if open-market returns fell below the targets.

The plan has not yet been adopted as a formal administration policy. But Calaginnini, who first revealed it in a closed meeting with industry leaders a week ago, said it is surfacing now to provide ample time for discussion before Congress begins work on new sugar legislation early next year.

The proposal so far has drawn a cool reception from many sugar leaders. Chairman W.R. Ponge, D-Tex., whose House Agriculture Committee will be in charge of drafting new legislation next year, termed the plan "damn foolishness" recently because it could lead to heavy government spending if world sugar supplies rise as some industry officials expect.

BSC turns back ISU 21-17 in final 1:45

Two late TDs erase Bengals' 17-7 lead

POCAHEON — The embattled Boise State Broncos, their title and playoff hopes squarely on the line, marched 89 yards in the final four minutes Saturday night to run back the inspired Idaho State Bengals 21-17.

The victory came after ISU, ranging from a two-to-five touchdown underdog, had mounted a 17-7 lead. And it could have been more since the Bengals missed on four field goal attempts. But senior Ron Autele marshalled the Broncos downfield and threw the go-ahead touchdown pass to Don Hutt with 1:47 left to ice BSC's first Big Sky Conference championship. It also kept alive their faint hopes for selection to the college II playoffs.

Autele actually took BSC to two touchdowns in the final six minutes. And thanks to a late interception by Clint Sigmund, BSC was on the ISU one-yard line when the game ended. But that was superfluous even if Harry Reiner had scored on the last play of the game.

The game finally boiled down to the final 5:54 when Autele, sneaked into the end zone from a yard away to pull BSC to within 17-14. That was set up on a 31-yard pass interference call of the ISU line. It culminated an 80-yard, six-play march for the Broncos.

ISU's Rene Garnet, who rushed for 118 yards in 16 tries, gave the Bengals a good chance to get field position with a 20-yard kickoff return to the ISU 38. But three plays later, ISU looked at fourth-and-seven and sent Steve Beller into kick. He booted it 48 yards to the BSC 11. Then Autele took over.

He hit Terry Hutt for 13 yards, sent Chester Gray 14 more on a draw, came back to Hutt for eight yards and then turned to Ron Nicely for a 15-yard gain on a swing pass. Prosh Terry Hutt caught the next one for 10 yards and a swing to Reiner took to the ISU nine. There it was third and one when Autele floated the ball over two defenders and Hutt snagged it between them.

Utah rallies with 16 points in last quarter to nip N.M.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — Quarterback Don Van Gilder rallied Utah from behind with two fourth-quarter touchdowns and tossed a two-point conversion pass that lifted the Utes to a 36-35 Western Athletic Conference victory over New Mexico Saturday.

Trailing 35-20 earlier in the fourth period, Utah scored 10 points as Van Gilder hit Roosevelt Hutchins with a 38-yard scoring strike and plunged in himself from the one-yard line with 1:57 left in the game.

The Utes, who kept alive their WAC title hopes with a 4-1 league record, elected to go for two-point conversions after both final period scores. Fullback Steve Marlowe plunged in for the first two-point and Van Gilder found tight end Lance Robbins alone in the end zone for the winning points.

Utah, now 6-3 overall, also got a 15-yard touchdown run by Marlowe, a 45-yard blocked punt return by Mike Stevens and field goals of 24 and 35 yards from Dan Marelli.

New Mexico, which led until Van Gilder's final conversion pass, appeared to pull out the win behind the passing and running of quarterback Don Woods.

Woods, coming off an injury which sidelined him for three weeks, ran for three touchdowns and passed for a fourth to spark New Mexico's offense. He scored on runs of one, one and seven yards and hit halfback George Anderson with a 56-yard scoring pass as the

Tulane staggers to 17-15 win over Navy

NEW ORLEANS — (UPI) — Steve Foley fired two touchdown passes in the first two-and-a-half minutes and sophomore David Falgout kicked a 41-yard field goal as 37th-ranked Tulane staggered to a 17-15 homecoming win over Navy Saturday night.

Foley's early heroics offset a dazzling second-half passing performance by Navy quarterback Al Glenny at Tulane Stadium.

After Marty Mitchell returned the opening kickoff 91 yards before stumbling at the Navy nine, Foley hit Jaime Garza with an eight-yard scoring strike.

Tulane, now 7-1 on the season, then recovered a Navy fumble on the first play and Foley hit his older brother Mike with a 35-yard scoring bomb.

After Falgout's third-period field goal gave the bowl-hopeful Green Wave a 17-0 lead, Glenny began driving the Midshipmen back.

The senior quarterback pitched four completions for 47 yards and ran a keeper for 13 yards to the six before fullback Ed Gilmore cracked over from the three for the first Navy touchdown.

Navy, which now has a 3-6 record, drove to its second score with just over two minutes to go on a nine-yard strike from Glenny to wide receiver Bert Calland. Glenny then hit Calland for the two-point conversion, drawing Navy within two at 17-15.

But, Tulane ran out the clock aided by a 32-yard kickoff return by the fleet Mitchell, and a personal foul penalty that gave the Greenies a first down instead of a fourth and long yardage.

Representatives of the Fiesta and Gator Bowls were at Tulane Stadium to scout the Green Wave, which still must play tough Maryland and Louisiana State. The Sun and Liberty Bowls also were reportedly interested in Tulane which is off to its best start since 1939.

Utah State trounces N.M. State

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (UPI) — Utah State scored three touchdowns in a four-minute span of the second quarter Saturday night to break open a tight game and rolled on to a 40-12 win over New Mexico State.

Jerry Cox scored his second touchdown for Utah State on a two-yard run early in the second period to break a 6-6 deadlock. Then quarterback Tom Wilson connected on a 44-yard touchdown pass to Craig Clark and scored himself on a one-yard plunge with nine minutes still left in the quarter.

Halfback Jack Collins scored both NMSU touchdowns, diving in from the one-yard line to open the scoring in the first period and scrambling into the end zone from 24 yards out in the second period.

Other Utah State scores came on a seven-yard run by Cox, a four-yard run by Cliff Kemp and field goals of 41 and 25 yards by Al Knapp.

Utah State tailback Archie Gibson, who is averaging 109 yards per game rushing this year, got off to a fast start in the first half by picking up 113 yards in 13 carries. He suffered a slight leg injury, however, and didn't return for the second half.

Gibson's replacement, freshman Lou Tiammona, didn't let up the pace, however, as he rushed for 98 yards in 20 carries.

Utah State now 7-2 this year, complemented its strong rushing game with a 10 for 13 passing performance by Wilson, including a string of seven straight completions in the first half.

New Mexico State concluded its season at 6-4.

Knicks beat Cavs 100-90

NEW YORK (UPI) — Walt Frazier and Dave DeBusschere, New York's only 20-plus average players, combined for 40 points Saturday night as the Knicks ripped Cleveland 100-90 for their 17th win in 18 games with the Cavaliers.

For a brief time, the Knicks appeared destined for their third straight setback as they trailed Cleveland 30-26 midway in the second quarter. Bill Bradley then scored nine of New York's first 16 points in the third period in leading the Knicks from a 43-37 halftime deficit to a 53-48 lead.

Frazier had a game high 24 points and DeBusschere netted 22 for New York, while Bradley finished with 16. Austin Carr paced Cleveland with 23 and Lenny Wilkens netted 17.

VPI batters Florida State

BLACKSBURG, Va. (UPI) — Running back James Barber scored two touchdowns and defensive back John Bell scored a third and set up a fourth with two interceptions Saturday as Virginia Tech overpowered winless Florida State 36-13.

Barber paced Virginia Tech's offense with 124 yards in 21 rushes but it was Bell who kept the Gobblers ahead with three pass interceptions. His second interception in the second quarter, set up Barber's second touchdown, a one-yard plunge, giving the Gobblers a commanding 22-7 halftime lead.

Barber's first touchdown, a 19-yard run, was set up by a 45-yard punt return by Billy Hardee, which gave the Gobblers the ball at the Florida State 37.

From all angles By Larry Hovey

The other night the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles staged a little scrimmage with Mountain Home Air Base.

Since Mountain Home had no one taller than about 6-2, it was no contest. But afterward, a bunch of longtime Eagle watchers discussed the 1972-73 team. It was decided it was not the best team the school has ever had and probably won't be for at least another couple weeks of practice.

Oh my, will you have fun watching Arnold Dugger, the New York frosh, and Ron Fryson, the New York sophomore, play offense. Dugger, if anything, is more fun to watch on the penetration pass off than Vic Kelly — and most of you aren't going to believe that right now.

Then with 7-0 Tom Barket standing in the middle, the CSI defense gets pretty pesky outside because things are pretty safe behind them. Newcomer Lon Trotter is probably the most aggressive rebounder the school has had in a couple-three years.

All of the Eagles performed well. Two, however, are ailing, both Twin Falls grads, sophomore Darrell Groves is a few days from getting a cast off a badly sprained wrist and frosh, Bob Durham is in a walking cast with some stretchy ankle tendons. Lon Frazier, Valley and Burley product, wasn't able to play due to flu, which is currently running through the club.

All we can really say is that if this team develops a killer instinct, it should be pretty devastating.

Catching up on some other Eagles. Vic Kelly is playing "redshirt" ball at University of Hawaii, probably the team CSI will play at least once in that Hawaii tour next February. There are seven or eight on Kelly's alignment and the other day in a scrimmage the redshirts beat the Hawaii varsity by 27 points.

Rick Sobers, a first-year CSI grad, debuted in a University of Nevada-Las Vegas full dress scrimmage and came out with stats something like 18 points, 10 assists and 12 rebounds. No bad for a guard.

Kansas nips Colorado 17-15 to keep title, bowl hopes alive

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) — Quarterback David Jaynes' four-yard touchdown run in the third quarter allowed the Kansas Jayhawks to squeeze past stubborn Colorado Saturday for a 17-15 victory in a regionally televised Big Eight contest.

Set up by a pass interference call at the Buffalo six, Jaynes handed off once and then weaved through the middle on

European filly cops international win

LAUREL, Md. (UPI) — Dahlia, displaying the form that made her the darling of Europe in midsummer, unleashed a powerful rush down the stretch at Laurel Saturday to win the 22nd running of the $150,000 Washington D.C. International by three and one-quarter lengths to become the first filly ever to win the global classic.

Just as she was the first member of her sex ever to win the King George and Queen Elizabeth stakes at Ascot in July, Dahlia was the first distaff runner ever to make it to the winner's circle in this mile and half classic.

Dahlia's victory gave France its sixth triumph in the race. Big Spruce from Elmendorf Farms finished second in the field of eight thoroughbreds from four countries. Scottish Rifle from England was third with Card King, another French entry, fourth.

Tentam, the 3-5 favorite and America's biggest hope for victory, finished fifth.

With jockey William Pyers of Australia in the saddle, Dahlia dropped to the tail-end of the field right from the very start and there the stretch running daughter of Vaguely Noble stayed while Tentam set the early pace. Rounding the final turn into the homestretch, Dahlia still was last and there was a wall of horses in front of her. But she responded gallantly to Pyers' urging and threaded her way through the horses to finally break into the clear with only about a sixteenth of a mile to go.

Carrying 118 pounds since Pyers could not make the assigned 117, Dahlia finished the mile and a half in 2:31.4-5. That was far off the stakes record of 2:23.4-5 set by mighty Kelso when he won the event in 1964.

WSU field goals beat Oregon St. Longhorns overpower Baylor 42-6

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI) — Joe Danelo, a 5-9 junior, kicked field goals of 30 and 31 yards Saturday to give Washington State a 13-7 Pacific 8 victory over Oregon State.

It was the second conference win for the Cougars, who are now 3-6 on the season. Oregon State's record dropped to 1-8.

Washington State, led by running of Andrew Jones and Ken Grandberry, dominated most of the game, but was hurt by costly fumbles.

Grandberry climaxed a 72-yard drive with a six-yard sweep around right end to put Washington State ahead 7-0 less than three minutes after the game started.

Danelo's first field goal came on the last play of the first half when the Cougars were apparently touchdown bound. Grandberry ran to the three on a first down play with about 40 seconds left.

Cougar coach Jim Swoonoy ran on the field to protest that Grandberry was out of bounds and the block should have been stopped. The result was a 15-yard penalty and Danelo's 30-yard field goal followed.

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Roosevelt Leal, scored three touchdowns off a mediocre rushing performance Saturday and defensive back Jay Arnold intercepted two passes to lead the Texas Longhorns to a 42-6 victory over the Baylor Bears.

Fleet freshman halfback Raymond Clayborn picked up 111 yards on 16 carries in a reserve role for the Longhorns. Fullback Leake, the nation's leading collegiate rusher, left the game in the third quarter with 77 yards on 17 carries against a stubborn Baylor front line defense. He scored Texas' first three touchdowns on runs of 23, one and nine yards.

Starting quarterback Marty Akina scored once on a 15-yard run and his second half replacement, Mike Presley, ran for a nine-yard touchdown, and Clayborn ended the point production on a one-yard run. Baylor retained its SWC cellar position at 0-4.

Ohio State shellacks Mich. St.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Safety Neal Colzie ran a punt back 43 yards for a touchdown and set up another with a 46-yard return and sophomore sensation Archie Griffin rushed for 130 yards in 21 carries as top ranked Ohio State crushed Michigan State 35-0 Saturday.

Fullback Bruce Eila scored three of the Buckeye touchdowns on short yardage bursts and freshman Pete Johnson, his understudy, got the other with a two-yard plunge.

The Ohio State defense, which has now allowed only 20 points eight games—tops in the nation—didn't allow the Spartans past their own 37-yard line until midway in the fourth period. The Spartans' longest march of the day carried from their 34 to the Ohio State 35 where quarterback Tyrone Willingham was dropped four yards short of a first down on a fourth and seven situation.

An 18-yard punt return by Colzie, who had 170 yards in eight returns for the day, gave the Buckeyes good field position on the Spartan 48 early in the first quarter.

Arizona St. rolls over Wyoming

TEMPE, Ariz. (UPI) — Woody Green and Ben Malone each scored a pair of third-quarter touchdowns to lead 15th-ranked Arizona State to a 47-0 Western Athletic Conference win over Wyoming Saturday.

The two senior running backs had identical rushing statistics of 147 yards on 22 carries and sat out the fourth quarter after staking the Sun Devils to a 34-0 lead.

Green's scores came during the first 5:18 of the second half when he took a pitchout from Danny White seven yards around left end. Then, on ASU's next possession, he broke through the line on a 44-yard romp.

manned Vandals.

The game was played before the smallest Husky home crowd in five years — only 47,000 — which was reflective of Washington's poor 2-7 record on the season. The student section was less than half full. The stadium hasn't had less than 50,000 on a football Saturday since 1968.

But those that came saw Rowland and some newly indoctrinated freshmen put on a pretty good show.

Rowland passed 17 yards to flanker Mark McDonald for one touchdown in the first period and scored one himself on a six-yard run in the third quarter.

Freshman signal caller Cliff McBride made his debut in the varsity by throwing a 43-yard touchdown pass to flanker Ken Conley in the first period.

Another frosh quarterback, Brent Miller, also got into the act for Washington.

Sophomore Rowland and the two freshmen threw for 251 yards.

The Vandals drew first blood, scoring on a 46-yard run by Mark Fredback. That was matched by Rowland's touchdown pass to McDonald.

Idaho was driving for another score in the second when Rick Brown fumbled on the Husky 18 and Washington took over 10 move to a 14-7 lead just before the half ended with Glen Bonner busting across over left tackle from one yard out.

Washington went ahead 17-7

When another freshman, Gustavo Clark booted a 35-yard field goal. Then the Huskies made it 24-7 on Rowland's touchdown run.

Clark put three more points on the Washington score with a 36-yard kick in the third quarter.

Idaho tried to get back into the act but all the Vandals could muster was fourth period touchdown by Darrell Mitchell from one yard out.

Rowland set up another touchdown a few minutes later with a 24-yard pass to Greg Thornsbury. Pete Taggares moved the ball to the one and Bonner bulldozed for another six points. McBride's 34-yarder to Conley completed the rout.

TF hosts Minico, Wendell and Valley face playoffs

Minico and Twin Falls play for the "A-1 championship" of Magic Valley Monday while Valley and Wendell go after inter-district laurels in the final three games of the high school football season.

All three games begin at 1:30 p.m. with Minico at Twin Falls, Middleton at Valley and Wendell at Homedale.

Minico and Twin Falls really don't have much to play for except whatever prestige accrues from this game. The Minico boys students used it as a point in last year's basketball season through a made-up cheer.

Minico is 3-0 looking to get a little closer to .500 while Twin Falls could go an even 5-5 with the victory. Since Minico earlier defeated Burley, the winner would be the mythical "Magic Valley A-1" champ, it is assumed.

It isn't an easy game to pick. Last year's easy victory for the Spartans was only the second of the series and first since 1959. (They haven't played every year, however).

Despite the poorer record, it would appear that Minico is the more consistent team. Twin Falls has defeated teams that dropped Minico. But against other opponents, Twin Falls has been beaten considerably worse.

The key, as always with Minico, will be Ritchie Donner. The youngster, who now is fighting a personal problem, handles the ball most of the time and ranks second in the SIC total offense. He is the fourth best passer in the league with 794 yards, most of them to the two-three receivers in the SIC, Pat Warburton and Micky Hanks. He also has run for 542 yards. The other strong point of the Minico offense is Frank McCleary who has picked up 540 yards in 143 carries.

Minico is aware that Twin Falls defensive secondary has allowed over 1,000 yards worth of completions this year and can be expected to go after that. That is where the Spartans did most of the damage last year.

Twin Falls offense can't match those individual statistics, excepting sophomore Mike Allison who has run for more than 700 yards. That's because the Bruins have switched quarterbacks during the year and haven't had much in the way of a passing attack. Last week, however, junior Rod Smifler threw well against Meridian and that figured prominently in a 20-7 upset.

Both lines are big. Both can be rugged against the rush. But both lines also can bog down. Twin Falls and Minico have had trouble getting points inside the 20-yard line.

On the two A-3 playoffs, the third district seems to feel they can continue the dominance started three years ago. Both Homedale and Middleton have put out some huge scores and played nearly even.

On the home front, neither Wendell—or Valley—have enjoyed the luxury of many three-touchdown games. But that also could mean the defense was a little stronger among the Little Flye also-rans than the SRV losers.

BURLEY FULLBACK Ken Harper breaks through a hole in the Madison line to pick up some of the 200-yards plus he garnered Friday afternoon in leading the Bobcats to a 28-14 victory and the Eastern Idaho Conference championship.

Harper turns upfield

Harper sparks Burley past Madison, into EIC crown

BURLEY — Burley senior Ken Harper romped for three touchdowns — one on a 90-yard run — and well over 200 yards Friday afternoon to lift Burley past Madison of Rexburg 28-14 and into the Eastern Idaho Conference football championship. Harper had to share the spotlight with Burley's goal line defensive unit which three times turned back Madison inside the 10.

Madison's scoring came in the final half of the last quarter when Coach Bob Mathews cleared his bench. A little prematurely, it

Golden Eagle boosters begin annual season ticket drive

Hopes for a record-breaking season ticket campaign have kicked off the 1973-74 College of Southern Idaho basketball season.

Dr. Thad Scholes, president of the Golden Eagle Boosters, reports all boosters currently have tickets available. His crews are reporting good success among area businesses.

"We feel we have a lot of offer with this ticket," Dr. Scholes said. "First off, it represents a good savings over the single game admission price. Secondly, I think Coach Jerry Hale has put together a team and a schedule that will provide the best competition and entertain we've ever had here."

The Eagles will have 16 home games, starting with a pair of doubleheaders Nov. 26 and 27.

An early season home feature will bring the University of Nevada-Las Vegas junior varsity here for a two-game set. Coach Jerry Tarkanian, now the Las Vegas mentor, took Long Beach State to national prominence and the NCAA tournament the past two seasons and this is believed to have been one of his best recruiting years.

The usual, traditional hard-fought battles with Utah State JV and North Idaho, featuring a 6-10 post man, also will come in the first-half of the season.

This season also inaugurates a new method for selecting the Idaho representative to the regional play-offs. The team with the best record in a home and home situation among CSI, Big Bend, Wash., Treasure Valley, and Ricks College will get the bid. If CSI wins it this season, the Eagles will host regional.

The Fish and Game Department has been receiving a number of inquiries concerning the hunting opportunities available for the remainder of the year in Magic Valley or nearby regions.

Many of the general hunt areas closed on November 4th for deer in this locality but we have a number that are still open within a reasonable distance from Magic Valley. Unit 30 should be good for the bucks only season from November 10-18 since hunters during the earlier, either-sex season, had good success.

The Bruneau area, Unit 46, has some good hunting but it is a rugged area to travel and usually a 4-wheel drive is needed this late in the season. Deer season closes November 18th in Unit 46. Copper Basin remains open for deer until November 25th and recent snows should help to make the animals more accessible to the hunters. Two eastern Idaho units (74 and 75) remain open until December 2nd which is the latest closing date in the State.

The pheasant hunting has shown a reduced population this year but there are still adequate numbers to make hunting worthwhile. The basic limit in the Magic Valley region is four cocks per day and eight in possession until December 1st when one hen per day is allowed until the season closes on December 9th. Try the sagebrush areas around the irrigated lands with a large group of hunters to drive them into waiting rindrods for best success.

The recent storm has pushed thousands of ducks into Magic Valley and the Hagerman Wildlife Management area has had an influx of 30,000 to 40,000 birds in the past week. Hunting should be excellent in this area during periods of storms or windy weather when the ducks fly low upon leaving or entering the refuge. This management area also supplies ducks for field shooting in surrounding farmlands.

There will be a change in the Outer Lakes shooting boundary this year. Starting on December 10th these lake areas will be closed to waterfowl hunting. It was opened for the first time last year in an attempt to provide some additional decoy and jump shooting. However, it was felt the Oster Lakes provided more shooting by holding additional ducks in the area when it had been closed. The open and closed boundaries will be well posted for hunters information. The remainder of the Hagerman Wildlife Management Area will have the same boundary for the firing line as in the past.

seemed, since Madison immediately struck for 14 points in just under three minutes. The first team returned to stop Madison the last time it had possession.

A short punt set Burley up on the Madison 40-yard line just four plays into the game and the Bobcats immediately moved to a score. It came hard, however, as Harper had to get the last three yards on fourth down. The point-after pass failed.

Early in the second period, after seeing another thrust end in a pass interception, Burley uncoiled a 60-yard drive. Much of it came on a long sweep run by Trent Martindale. He got the score from a yard away on a one-yard dive and Harper booted the point-after.

Madison's only bid came after a two-handoff, lateral forward pass play that carried them 35 yards to the Burley 20 but that ended in a fumble.

Early in the third quarter Madison recovered a fumble at the Burley 16 and the visitors moved to a first down at the six. Burley denied that chance at the one-foot line four plays later. The Bobcats, after Jim Baker gave them some room with a 28-yard run, punted and got a break seconds later when Dave Funk recovered a Madison fumble at the 43. After one first down, Harper broke loose on a 32-yard scoring dash and also converted.

Another fumble gave Madison a chance at the Burley 11 as the fourth period began but Burley shut that one off at the three-yard line. On the second play, Harper swept right, shook through one tackler and cut back to sail 96 yards and ice it with 9:14 to play.

Madison then replied with a passing drive — that double handoff, lateral, pass thing again working for good yardage. Duane Smart cracked in from the two. Madison then forced a Burley punt and on the first play Ryan Tibbitts hit Brad Coles on a 70-yard bomb to complete scoring.

Michigan outlasts Illinois

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Game-breaking junior Gil Chapman went 33 yards for a touchdown on a fourth down play and tight end Paul Seal scored a freak 20-yard touchdown Saturday in a 21-6 Michigan victory over Illinois.

The Illini showed the fourth-rated Wolverines some new stuff on offense and defense. Field goals of 41 and 29 yards by freshman Dan Beaver put Michigan behind, 6-0, for the first time in a season.

Coach Bo Schembechler, who always finds something to be dissatisfied with, had been worried because Michigan had not been tested and its big game with top-rated Ohio State is now just two Saturdays away.

But the Wolverines showed their poise as expected when big senior fullback Ed Shuttlesworth followed an exchange of fumbles by scoring on a one-yard run with just 73 seconds to go in the first half. That put the Wolverines back into the lead and they never trailed.

Chapman, who was on the bench most of the first half while Chuck Henter ran from the tailback position, came in at the start of the second half. He took a pitchout from Dennis Franklin on a fourth-and-two situation and swept left end for 33 yards on Michigan's first possession of the second half.

Bucks outlast Omaha 84-83

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — The Milwaukee Bucks' defense forced Kansas City-Omaha to rush a shot in the closing seconds and the Bucks escaped with an 84-83 National Basketball Association victory over the Kings Saturday.

The Bucks had to battle back from a 79-76 deficit late in the fourth quarter for their 11th consecutive win.

Milwaukee took the lead 82-81 on a layup by Lucius Allen and, following a Jimmy Walker basket, Mickey Davis sank two free throws to make it 84-83.

Undefeated Notre Dame drops Pitt

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame, facing their sternest test of the season, capitalized on three turnovers to defeat Pitt 31-10 Saturday and extend their perfect season to eight games.

Wayne Bullock scored four touchdowns for the Irish, three on Panther miscues. Pitt quarterback Billy Daniels was the victim of three turnovers which bulwarped the Irish victory. In the first quarter, Daniels' fumble was picked up by Jim Stock on the Pitt 24 and five plays Bullock dashed 11 yards up the middle.

But Pitt tarnished the Irish defense, ranked No. 1 nationally, when Pitt tailback Tony Dorsett rushed for 200 yards on 29 carries for the best performance ever against Notre Dame. He surpassed the previous individual rushing mark of 195 yards against Notre Dame set by Billy Vessells of Oklahoma in 1952. It was the first time a back ran more than 100 yards against Notre Dame this season.

Miller ties Gilbert for tournament lead

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI) — Wise-cracking Allen Miller, wearing borrowed longjohns and a raincoat to ward off the freezing morning cold, warmed up enough to shoot a one-over-par 72 Saturday and move into a tie with Gibby Gilbert at 210 for the third-round lead in the $500,000 World Open Golf Championship.

Gilbert, who virtually destroyed the legend of Pinehurst's invincibility with an opening-round 62 to enjoy a five-stroke advantage over the field on Thursday, suffered putting miseries Saturday as he missed putts of one, two, five and six feet en route to his second straight 74.

Three shots behind Miller and Gilbert was Jerry Heard, who matched par of 71 although he said "my hands were so cold I couldn't make a putt." Another stroke farther back at 214 was Gay Brewer, following a 73, and in a group at 215 were Bobby Mitchell, with a 70, Miller Barber, with a 73, and young Tom Kite with a 74.

With the leaders of this marathon, eight-round tournament starting off early in the morning when the temperature was in the upper 20s, the scores were generally high and only Mitchell was able to break par among the top players, all of whom played course No. 4.

However, one notable scoring feat was accomplished when four sophomore Lanny Wadkins fired the first hole-in-one of his life. Wadkins, who went to school at Wako Forest, just 70 miles north of here, and already has earned more than $300,000 during his brief career, got the ace on the 172-yard, par-three 13th hole.

"The ball ran into the hole on one hop," said Wadkins, who had a 71 for a 216 total. "My caddy got real excited but there wasn't anyone else around to enjoy it."

The freezing weather left the No. 2 and 4 courses covered with frost and the start of play was delayed a half-hour to allow thawing. Many of the golfers had to wear heavy clothing and some wore stocking caps.

"It was really too cold out there," said Wadkins, whose group at 216 included George Archer, who had his third consecutive 72, and Rick Rhoads, who had a 74. "There were icy greens, icy fairways and icy traps. It's too late in the year to be here."

"I figured with these conditions if I shot a 68 or a 70 today I'd pass the world."

Miller, still seeking his first victory since turning pro two years ago, borrowed the longjohns of a friend's wife to start the day, later discarding them when it got uncomfortable. Staring on the back side in the same threesome as Gilbert, Miller bogeyed two of his first four holes, the 461-yard, par-jour 10th when his drive carried into the woods on the left and he two-putted, and the same 13th that Wadkins aceed as his tee shot hit the green.

The 25-year-old former Walker Cupper from San Diego, Calif., got one of those back with his only birdie of the day, putting in from 30 feet on the fifth hole.

A little too late

Nebraska smothers Iowa State 31-7

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Quarterback Dave Humm ran for one touchdown and passed for two more Saturday in a 31-7 Big Eight Nebraska victory over Iowa State.

The victory kept the Cornhuskers' slim hopes for the conference title alive and enhanced their chances for a major bowl bid.

Nebraska struck twice for touchdowns in the first six minutes of play. Each time, a 21-yard scoring march was set up by a recovery of an Iowa State fumble.

A 49-yard field goal by Rich Sanger boosted Nebraska's lead to 17-0 early in the second period. And a 67-yard pass play from Humm to end Frosty Anderson moved the margin to 24-0 two minutes before the end of the half.

Iowa State, which never threatened in the first half, scored early in the third quarter on a 56-yard drive after Barry Hill picked off a Humm pass at the Cyclone 42.

Freshman quarterback Buddy Hartman, who replaced the injured Wayne Stanley in the first half, fumbled in from one yard out to give the Cyclones their only score.

On the ensuing kickoff, Jerry Moses fumbled on the Cyclone 21. Humm hooked up with Ritch Babe on a 25-yard strike throw over the Cyclone middle.

Tech drops TCU to clinch bid to bowl

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Freshman tailback Larry Isaac started Texas Tech on a comeback Saturday with a three-yard touchdown run in the second period and then clinched a 24-10 Texas Tech victory over TCU with a 52-yard scoring gallop that all but wrapped up a bowl berth for the 14th-ranked Red Raiders.

Tech surprisingly trailed 10-0, after the first period, but quarterback Joe Barnes began going to the air for the crucial yardage and rolled the Raiders to their eighth victory against a single loss.

Barnes hit halfback George Smith with a 32-yard pass that set up Isaac's first touchdown in the second quarter and then put Tech ahead for good with a nine-yard scoring toss to tight end Andre Tillman.

Don Grimes connected on a 30-yard field goal on the second play of the final period for Tech to give the Raiders a seven-point lead, but the game was not decided until Isaac dashed around left end on the way to his 52-yard touchdown.

TCU's first quarter lead came on a 28-yard field goal by Bert Simmons and a one-yard quarterback sneak by Kent Marshall.

In the losing effort, Horned Frog running back Mike Luttrell, the key to the TCU offense, gained 100 yards on 32 carries—the best performance of his career.

The loss lowered TCU's season record to 3-5 and the Horned Frogs are now 1-3 in Southwest Conference play. Tech is 4-1 in league action and remained one game behind the Southwest Conference leading Texas Longhorns.

Oklahoma gives up outside attack, still beats Missouri

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Missouri shut off Oklahoma's outside running game. But Joe Washington found a way to make himself useful anyway.

The fleet Sooner halfback scored two touchdowns, one on a dazzling 80-yard punt return Saturday, and fullback Waymon Clark pounded out 153 yards on 26 bone-rattling carries as third-ranked Oklahoma blitzed 10th-ranked Missouri 31-3, before a record Faurot Field crowd of 68,831.

But, in truth, it was defense that carried the unbeaten Sooners to their seventh victory against a tie. Missouri made only six first downs and 48 rushes netted only 44 yards.

"We weren't able to dominate the game offensively," said Oklahoma coach Barry Switzer. "The big thing was the way our defense dominated them. That way we were able to pick away at them despite our mistakes."

Oklahoma put the game out of reach with two touchdowns in the last two minutes of the third quarter. That boosted the Sooners' lead to 22-3. Washington's punt return with 5:51 to go proved to be the icing on the cake.

Washington gained 107 yards on 13 carries, including a 41-

Webster and BSC harriers tie

MISSOULA, Mont. (UPI) — Boise State and Weber State tied for the Big Sky Conference cross-country championship Saturday in Missoula with defending champion University of Montana placing fifth.

Boise and Weber State each compiled 47 points during the run, with Boise losing its chance for the championship when Dave Lockman accidentally took the wrong fork of the course and let a Weber runner move up one slot.

Idaho State took third place with 75 points, Northern Arizona had 83, University of Montana 100, Idaho* 150, Montana State 16, and Gonzaga trailed the pack with 242 points.

Penn State scrapes by N.C. State 35-29

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — John Cappelletti ran 27 yards for his third touchdown with 4:38 left to play Saturday to give desperate Penn State a narrow 35-29 victory over North Carolina State and preserve a certain Orange Bowl bid for the unbeaten Nittany Lions.

Cappelletti, who also scored on runs of 34 and eight yards in becoming the first Penn State back to gain 1,000 yards in consecutive seasons, was a one-man gang with 220 yards on 41 carries but needed plenty of help to spoil N.C. State's bid for an upset.

Gary Hayman returned a punt 83 yards for another Penn State touchdown, fullback Bob Nagle plunged 10 yards for a score and Chris Bahr kicked a 23-yard field goal in lifting the Lions to their ninth victory of the season, 18th in a row at home and 11th in succession against the Wolfpack.

For North Carolina State, Stan Fritts scored two touchdowns on one-yard plunges, quarterback Bruce Shaw bulled five yards for a score and fullback Charley Young dashed 69 yards for a fourth-period touchdown that produced a 29-29 tie. The loss left N.C. State with a 6-3 record, but it still was in the running for a bowl bid.

Chairman Bill Ward of the Orange Bowl selection committee confirmed it probably would be Penn State versus Louisiana State University in the New Year's night classic in Miami. Both teams likely will accept the invitation next Saturday.

"We have a pretty good idea LSU wants to come," said Ward, "and from the impressions we've received up here, we believe Penn State wants to come."

With scouts from six bowls and nearly 60,000 fans watching in 20-degree weather and light snow, Penn State marched 60 yards in six plays for the winning touchdown, with Cappelletti carrying on four of the plays. He burst through center with 8:38 showing on the clock for the winning score.

Before the game, N.C. State coach Lou Holtz warned the Wolfpack would come out running against the nation's No.

1 defense against the rush and they did. N.C. State finished with 245 yards running against a Penn State defense which had surrendered less than 49 yards rushing per game.

Gooding, Buhl drop grid playoffs to fifth district

POCATELLO — Marsh Valley dropped Gooding 27-0 and Malnd drilled Buhl 40-13 Saturday afternoon as the fifth district A-2 conference swept a playoff doubleheader against the co-champions of the South Central Idaho league.

In both cases the fifth district teams jumped into the lead and never were threatened. Buhl, after falling behind 14-0, poked up an early second quarter touchdown to cut the margin to seven points; but that was as close as it could get. Gooding was blanked until the final period, Marsh Valley scoring its 27 points in the first three quarters.

In the opener it was a matter of Malnd's defense taking the ball away from Buhl, six times during the game and five of them on interceptions. The first interception — coming on Buhl's first pass of the game — set up a nine-yard off tackle burst by Malnd's Jeff Thomas. Just a few minutes later Malnd pushed to 14-0 when Steve Edwards hit flanker Scott Alder with a 22-yard pass.

Buhl reduced the count just before the period ended on an eight-yard run by Gayle Poulson. But Thomas nullified that almost immediately when he sacked 55 yards to paydirt on a pitchout. Buhl came right back with a passing drive, culminated on a 35-yard bomb from Ron Falkinga to Pat Hamilton.

Arizona beats BYU to cinch title tie

PROVO, Utah (UPI) — A pair of 80-yard touchdown runs led Arizona to a 24-10 win over Brigham Young Saturday, assuring the Wildcats of at least a share of the Western Athletic Conference title.

For good in the third quarter on their other big play, a 38-yard interception return by defensive back Leon Lawrence. Randy Litchfield, Shelde's backup at quarterback, was trying to pass to Jay Miller when Lawrence stepped in to pick off the ball and waltz in untouched.

USC scores in final 3 seconds to overhaul Stanford 27-26

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Little Chris Limahelu kicked a 34-yard field goal with only three seconds left Saturday as ninth-ranked University of Southern California came back to nip Stanford's Cardinals 27-26 and stay neck-and-neck with UCLA in the race for the roses.

Limahelu, a 5-foot-5, 135-pound senior from Covina, Calif., culminated a USC drive that started on the Trojans' 30-yard line with just 33 seconds on the clock.

goals, including kicks from 50 and 52 yards out, to become the all-time NCAA field goal kicker with 39 in his career. Garcia's 59-yard shot with only 3:27 gone in the game was the third longest in collegiate history.

Gooding broke the shutout in the final period when Echieta hit Larry Patterson on a 42-yard pass and run play. But Marsh Valley stopped the conversion.

HELMET HIGH TACKLE is applied to Burley's Trent Martindale by Perry Beckley of Madison while Wade Nelson comes in to help on the play. Martindale lost yards here but Burley won the game 26-14 and the Eastern Idaho Conference championship.

Montana State bows

BOZEMAN, Mont. (UPI) — The North Dakota Sioux, behind the running of halfback Dale Kusowski and the pin-point passing of quarterback Jay Gustafson, came from behind to snap Montana State University's six-game winning streak, 41-30, Saturday.

MSU jumped to a 10-0 lead on quarterback Mike Dunbar's two-yard run and a booming 52-yard field goal by sophomore Pat Bolton.

UCLA drops Oregon, sets USC showdown

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — Mark Harmon scored two touchdowns and directed eighth-ranked UCLA one step closer to the Rose Bowl Saturday with a 27-7 Pac-8 victory over Oregon.

Harmon, son of former Michigan great Tom Harmon, got his first score in a diving keeper from the four to culminate an 88 yard drive in 13 plays with 21 seconds left in the second period. That gave the Bruins a 6-0 halftime lead.

Montana shuts out Weber 10-0

OGDEN (UPI) — The University of Montana used an awesome rushing game to crush Weber State 10-0 in the Wildcats' homecoming contest Saturday.

The Grizzlies ground out 307 yards on the ground to just 160 for Weber. Despite dominating the game Montana didn't get on the board until late in the third quarter on a 30-yard field goal by Robert Turnquist.

Houston nips Colorado St.

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI) — Senior fullback Leonard Parker ran for 200 yards and two touchdowns to raise his season rushing mark to 1,014 yards and D.C. Nobles threw for two scores Saturday as 13th-ranked and bowl-hungry Houston beat stubborn Colorado State 28-20.

Two fumbles recovered by Fred McNeill and Kent Pearce were converted into third period UCLA touchdown drives of 32 and 29 yards, with Harmon scoring from the three and James McAllister from the two-to give the Bruins a 20-0 third period lead.

Montana State bows

Both teams are now 2-4 in Big Sky Conference play.

L. M. Boyd

Artist Howard Chandler Christy wanted Mrs. Calvin Coolidge to wear a red dress when he painted her portrait to contrast with her white collar, "Rob Roy" But President Coolidge, who preferred white, said nuts, or words to that effect, and, "Dye the dog." Excellent, excellent.

"Gardeners and farmers always seem to me to be wiser than other men," writes a feminine customer, "but I don't know why." Interesting! I've thought that, too. Discussed it the other day with a rancher in a barn full of hay. And he said, "Cultivating crops in the weather keeps a man humble. He wakes up every morning, knowing he's at the mercy of the wind and the rain and the sunshine and all God's bugs."

The fact that leathers 500 years ago were used as military decorations explains how "A-leather in your cap" came into the language.

POVERTY

A government expert on living standards contends you exist in partial poverty if your household has fewer than six sheets per bed. That is, two in the closet, two in the wash, and two on the mattress.

Q "How many hairs in the average grownup human body?"
A About a half a million.

A jungle lion sort of authority says almost any African animal with hooves can get up to about 120 feet from a lion without danger of attack, but closer means a race.

Report here is 25 per cent of the pet food manufactured in this country is eaten by people! I believe it.

NEVER DIETS

Writes a San Francisco subscriber: "Just amazing, my wife. She never diets, eats all day long everything she can get her hands on, and never gains an ounce. She'll polish off a plate of spaghetti, half a loaf of garlic bread, three beers, and then make dessert out of a whole pizza with the works. True, she weighs 362 pounds, but..."

Tobacco smoke will cure earache. No, I don't believe that. Don't imagine any doctors do, either. But it was a serious contention put forth in the 1925 edition of the White House Cookbook. That's the same publication that prescribed a mixture of brown sugar and cobwebs to stop bleeding wounds.

That year of life in which a man is most likely to exhibit symptoms of alcoholism, it's said, is age 24. Find that surprising? Likewise. But the medical experts now contend that such young men, who appear to be healthy otherwise, come up with far more obvious drinking troubles than the older fellows.

Family affair

MEALTIME is a family affair with the home's family of 11 including house parents, Bob and Jan Stone, and their own three children joined by the Harbor House residents for a hearty evening meal. Appettites are always good at Harbor House, says Bob Stone.

HOBBIES differ for the individual residents of Harbor House and they are encouraged. One of the girls, above, is on her way to becoming a karate champion and works out daily.

MV Harbor House reopens with full 'family'

By BONNIE JONES
Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Harbor House of Magic Valley is back in full operation with a capacity "family" of 11 leading busy lives in the new facility. After being closed briefly while the board of directors searched for suitable house parents, the home and its residents are now under the care of Bob and Jan Stone, a young couple who came here from the Idaho Youth Ranch where they served one year as house parents. In addition to their own three teen-age children, obtained through legal guardianship, they are the mother and father of six teenage Harbor House children.

organizations of the community such as the Junior Club and Magic Valley Country Music Association, the building has been remodeled to add recreation facilities and bedrooms for the Stone children in the basement and a large bright dining area. Youngsters in the home are those who have been taken from their own homes or for some other reason could not be cared for in their own homes. The house parents operate the facility under direction of a board of directors chairmanned by Mrs. Larry (Judy) Watson. Two magistrate court judges and other community representatives are on the board. Financing for Harbor House comes partly from the county commissioners. A budget of $10,000 has been asked from the county for 1974. Remaining money comes from generous donations of citizens and organizations in the Magic Valley area and from the Department of Community and Environmental Services for children placed there by that agency. Bob and Jan, with a long history of foster parenthood, recently had a visit from one of their foster sons and grandchildren. The foster son, just five years younger than Jan, was the first of many they have provided homes for in their married life. The Stones came to Idaho from California where Bob worked as a senior counselor with the California Youth Authority. He said he learned to be a disciplinarian there, but like Jan, feels the youngsters should be disciplined only when needed. At Harbor House there is a relaxed family atmosphere with children watching television, joining in the kitchen to raid the refrigerator after school or do the dishes after dinner. Each child is encouraged to develop his or her own hobby and talent with ideas and instruction in skills and crafts supplied by Jan and Bob. A Fozz ball machine, a kitten and the family dog, chess board, leather work, candle making and many other family type activities and items help keep the youngsters busy and happy. Everyone has a work detail and responsibility. Bob hopes to develop some fishing, hunting and camping programs next year and a garden on the acre of Harbor House land donated by Our Savior Lutheran Church will augment the programs. Jan said this summer many persons called at Harbor House to donate fresh produce from their gardens. "I think that is wonderful," she said. "It makes us feel like part of the community and we hope to increase community acceptance." Many other community donations are being given constantly to help keep the home going. Needs are many, however, says the board chairman, and include a fruit cellar, a kiln for pottery, a mower for the acre of lawn and arts and crafts items. Board members are currently making plans for an open house after the first of the year to show the community the Harbor House program. By that time, landscaping donated by the Civitan Club is expected to be in good condition, replacing the mud now predominant on the new property.

Practices karate

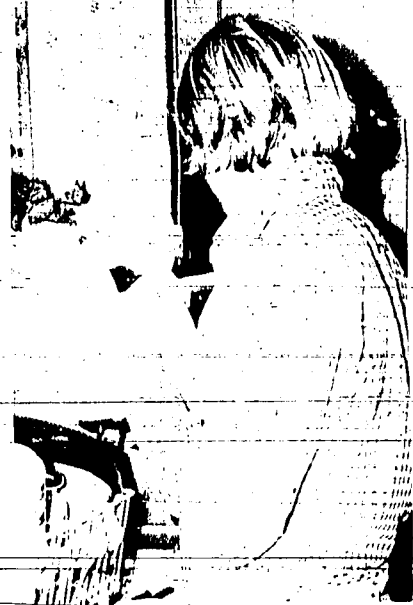

FAVORITE pastime for many of the youngsters at Harbor House is Fozz ball. A Fozz ball machine in the recreation room in the newly remodeled basement area is nearly always busy.

DISH WASHING is one of the chores Harbor House residents share in with name drawing usually deciding the crew for the day.

Typical evening

RELAXED atmosphere at Harbor House resembles that of many other families in the area. Watching television is part of a typical evening after homework and the dishes are completed. One of the two Harbor House pets, a kitten, "Sunshine," joins two of the residents.

EVERYONE helps with household chores. Here, house father Bob Stone posts the names of those who will have dishwashing detail for the evening as one of the "winners" look on.

Music should start early, world traveler says

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Music should be started in the first grade, not when students are struggling with problems of adolescence.

"Our children have a deep need of music," according to Marion Downs, Los Angeles, an accomplished soprano who has concertized in Europe and now spends much time singing in churches throughout the U.S.

She is in "Magle Valley" this week for appearances in several Methodist churches and will sing Sunday morning in Paul, and at 7:30 p.m. in the Rupert United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Downs, whose musical credentials give weight to her opinions, believes "we do it backwards in America" — in contrast to Europe, where music is much more a way of life and incorporated into the school system from the lowest level.

"I'm convinced that young people want music," she said, "based on her many appearances in schools throughout the country. 'And I'm glad to see we're getting over the silly idea that for boys, music is sissyified.'"

She said Europe is so much more open to music and it is not uncommon for shoeshine boys to whistle operatic arias while they work. The charming Negro lady, whose life experiences give her a quiet assurance resulting from professional competence plus a contagious warmth of spirit, grew up in Baltimore, Md.

The Italian-Americans there used to tell her children back home know "all the operas." She thought they were kidding until she studied in Italy, under a Fulbright scholarship.

Boards of education in America won't "buy" fine arts, she believes, as they will "buy" sports or physical sciences. However, she said school administrators welcome her visits to schools where she works with music and English students, — using music, including Negro spirituals, as therapy for "drawing together" a group.

She prefers to work with these classes instead of general school assemblies, which are too large for effective work. The singer, who wants to be thought of as a musician and performer instead of a representative of her race, enjoys coming into small communities after her years in Europe where as part of a four-member American cultural team, she sang in many villages and towns.

The State department asked her to play on after completion of her school tour, she concertized throughout the continent. The team included a German American who was a baritone; a Nisei-American pianist, an Italian American who sang arias; and Mrs. Downs who did Negro spirituals.

They sang in local opera houses, schools or town halls, wherever arrangements were made by the U. S. State Department which sponsored them.

While she grew up in a musical family and formed a choral group with her sisters while in high school, Mrs. Downs' professional career was triggered by tragedy. After graduation from Teachers College in Baltimore and one year of teaching in public schools — there she married Karl Downs, and they moved to Pasadena, Calif., where he was a Methodist pastor.

When only 28 years old, Mr. Downs was elected president of Samuel Huston college, Austin, Tex. Four years later he died, leaving his young widow with a 6-year old daughter. Stunned by her loss, she first thought she could never sing again. Mrs. Downs told her Twin Falls audience Thursday night, but gradually she felt led to return to New York to attend Juilliard School of Music. After earning her master's degree from Columbia University on scholarship, she was awarded the Fulbright grant for study in Milan, Italy.

Returning to America in 1962, after four years in Europe, she found the professional concert circuit in America wanted "young-young" singers, and even though Mrs. Downs was in her 30's, she found this was too old. "I stayed 25 for 10 years," she laughs. After receiving the usual "put-offs" by booking agents, she became incensed when one agent said for $1,000 he would put her name on his list. When asked how many concerts this would guarantee her, he replied "None."

Undaunted, Mrs. Downs marched to the library, got a list of all Methodist colleges, assembled her own biographical material and became her own booking agent. After all, she was widely acquainted in her denomination through her husband's position, why not contact every Methodist college president she knew? Soon she had many engagements, including a successful tour in Mexico arranged through a youth she met in the New York International House.

She has since expanded her tours from colleges to Methodist churches and uses pastors as her booking agents to arrange other appearances. At Buhl, this past week she sang for the Kiwanis club, where she received repeated encore requests. She concertized — two weeks in Oregon this fall and is spending three weeks in Idaho. A Lenten tour is planned in Texas.

Mrs. Downs feels divinely guided into her present endeavors, and says when asked why she sings in churches when she could sing operas, she replies, "But I love to sing in churches."

And all who have been privileged to hear her presentation which includes group participation, flawless solos, plus short dialogues, combining personalized experiences with a joyous faith, would agree.

least that would have been a reasonable contract. Then Hal settled down to bring home three notrump.

East played the 10 of hearts at trick one and Hal was careful to win the trick with the queen, not the jack. He felt that West would play him for the jack in any event and he wanted to look like a man who was deliberately falsecarding.

Then Hal led a diamond to dummy's ace, returned a diamond, covered East's nine with the 10 and let West win with the queen.

West was now sure that Hal was trying to get him to lay down the ace and king of hearts. West wasn't going to fall for that. He led his 10 of clubs and Hal romped home with game and rubber.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The late P. Hal Sims was undoubtedly the greatest auction bridge player of all time. He carried his card playing skill over into contract, but when the bidding began to get better Hal just refused to go along with the younger experts who had begun to dominate the new game.

Hal did have his moments of success. Here we see him bidding three notrump with no justification except his confidence in his own dummy play.

When Hal looked over dummy, he wished he had settled for the part score. Not that he was sure of making even two notrump, but at

TWIN FALLS — The Antique Festival Theatre has returned to Magic Valley after a two-week sweep of northern Idaho. The six-member company of Fall Players will appear at Rati River High School at Malta Tuesday; Halley on Wednesday; Twin Falls High School Nov. 26; Richfield High School Nov. 27; East Minico Junior High Nov. 28; Minico High School, Nov. 29, and Shoshone Dec. 5.

The north Idaho trip included stops at Craigmont, Kendrick, Elk River, Weippe, Troy, Lapwai and Grandville. The two company members who double as bus drivers, Betsy Bidwell and Peter Marshall, were thankful they had negotiated the Lewiston grade for the last time when snow caught up with them in Lewiston on Halloween.

It was then they discovered that the tire chains for the gaily-painted Antique Festival Theatre bus had been left in their rehearsal hall, the Hagerman American Legion building.

After the fall tour, which ends Dec. 5, the company is looking forward to a winter-quarter residence at the College of Idaho, Caldwell, and a spring tour of Idaho grade schools.

There may be two companies — Eastern Oregon has requested a spring tour, which plans still to be formalized, according to theater officials.

TWIN FALLS — The best suggestion for cleaning a range is to not let it get too dirty. Wipe up food spills immediately with a dry cloth or paper towel.

To clean up after each meal use a soft sudsy cloth or sponge on the outside surface. Be sure all controls are turned OFF before cleaning.

If the situation is already beyond the "maintenance stage," the outside can still be cleaned with soap or detergent, after removing the control knobs and dropping them in a dishpan to soak. Be sure to do all the vertical surfaces as well as the top.

Abrasive cleaners are not recommended for the exterior, particularly for chrome trim. Round switches and handles that are not removable a sudsy pipe cleaner, percolator brush or old toothbrush will clean the crevices.

The electric surface units are self-cleaning. Remove rings and drip pans frequently, wash in sudsy water or in the dishwasher with pots and pans. Routine maintenance is the key. A small bowl containing water and ammonia placed in a cold, closed oven and left overnight, helps to loosen soil. Removable oven doors and removable oven-lining panels make the job easier too. Don't forget the storage drawers.

To make cleaning the broiler rack easier, sprinkle detergent on the hot rack immediately after each use and cover with a damp paper towel. Pour off grease and soak the broiler pan in hot sudsy water. This is easier than scrubbing a pan after heat has set the fat soil.

More and more homemakers are purchasing ranges with self-cleaning or continuous-cleaning features. But remember, these only affect the oven. Routine cleaning is still necessary for the rest of the appliance.

The new smooth-top ranges are considerably easier to take care of, but they still need to be kept clean. Special cleaners have been designed to keep the tops in good condition.

A clean range does not waste energy. It lasts longer and of course, looks better.

Basketball play helps apprentice linemen develop skills and confidence during training program.

Start with a mature, intelligent, healthy man. Put him through a rigorous schedule of classroom training and on-the-job experience. Teach him basic electric theory, safety, construction standards, pole climbing techniques and the use of highly specialized tools and equipment.

With a little bit of luck you'll have a top lineman in five years, perhaps longer.

Meanwhile, each time another automobile knocks down one of our power poles, a line crew needs to be on the job promptly. As shopping centers and residential developments are constructed, Idaho Power linemen must be at work.

Today Idaho Power Company has 55 line crews with their trucks and equipment on the job. In addition, we are using the services of outside electrical contractors. Their combined efforts, hampered by delayed deliveries and unavailability of critical materials and supplies, are falling short of the demand for new services.

It all adds up to the need for more lead time when new installations are required. Talk with our local manager while the job is in the planning stage. Patience and understanding will be necessary... at least until linemen start growing on trees!

DEAR ABBY: Recently I gave a party for my husband. I planned the entertainment, which included games with prizes for the winners. One of the prizes was dinner for two at our finest restaurant.

I did not set a limit on the amount to be spent on the dinner because I didn't think it would be proper.

Well, I just received a bill for two dinners, and it was $120. Thinking there must have been a mistake, I called the restaurant and was told there was no mistake.

That man and his wife had ordered four appetizers, and THREE lobsters for the two of them, plus $50 worth of drinks which included 15 bottles of imported beer! They even charged the "tip" on the bill!

JEANNE COLE
mime artist

Theatre class will perform

TWIN FALLS — "The Comedians" with mime Jeanne Cole and O'Leary Theatre arts classes will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Monday at O'Leary Junior High.

Mrs. Cole, who has performed with the Albuquerque Mime Theatre for the past six years and has had her own television show, has been training O'Leary Junior High students for the past six weeks.

Costumes and mime makeup will be used by the students and Mrs. Cole for the performance. Mime, stories without words, has been a popular form of entertainment for centuries. It is still popular, but not as many mime artists are available now as formerly.

Planned for the show by Mrs. Cole are "Generation Gap," "Death of An Ant," "Cowboys and Indians," "Eve and Adam," "Big Rover" and "The New Driver." Other mimes will also be presented.

The Monday night performance is open free to all who would like to attend. The troupe will also give student performances at O'Leary, Bickel, Lutheran, Harrison, Washington, Morningside, Kimberly, Lincoln and Robert Stuart schools.

The mime performance is being sponsored by a theater arts project in this area by Community Children's Theatre and the Idaho Arts and Humanities Commission.

Annette Lloyd, Hansen marry

HAGERMAN — Annette Lloyd became the bride of Kim Hansen in rites at the LDS Temple, Salt Lake City, Nov. 1, with Pres. George R. Wooley officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleave Lloyd, Hagerman, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Hansen, Dietrich.

A reception was held in their honor Nov. 3 at the Hagerman LDS cultural hall. Lana Lloyd, Idaho Falls, presided at the guest book.

The bride wore her floor-length wedding gown of rose designed white brocade fashioned with an Empire waistline accented with a white satin ribbon tied at the front. Her finger-tip veil of bridal illusion was edged with scalloped lace and held by a crown of fabric petals.

She carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations and white rosebuds with baby's breath. She also carried a lace handkerchief, a gift from a former MIA teacher, Mrs. Ed. Larson.

Chapel baskets of pink roses and fern flanked the bridal party in the receiving line.

Lucy Jenks, Hagerman, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Lloyd, Hagerman, sister of the bride, and Tawnn Hansen, Dietrich, sister of the bridegroom. Kovan Hansen, Dietrich, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

A four tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table. The bottom tier was formed by four small cakes on pedestals. The cake was leed in white and decorated with pink roses and white doves. An arrangement of white feathered doves topped the cake which was baked by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Carl Lloyd, Border, Wyo.

Quartet tables for the guests were covered with white linen cloths and were centered with silver bells under domed glasses and tied with pink bows.

Women of the Primary organization of the church assisted with the serving and in the kitchen. They included Mrs. Lee Cluff, Mrs. Bob Evans, Mrs. Aaron Bowen, Mrs. Blaine Hulme, Mrs. Wall Inst, Mrs. Kenneth Moyes, and Mrs. Dennis Andrus.

Mrs. Mike Owley and Mrs. Colita Slatter, Twin Falls, sister of the bride, arranged the gifts. Carrying the gifts were niece of the bride, Debbie and Sherry Slatter, Twin Falls.

A program was presented with Dolbert Rasmussen, Rupert, uncle of the bride, master of ceremonies. Nancy Rasmussen, cousin of the bride, presented a vocal solo, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Evans, Hagerman, played a piano solo and Mrs. Kenneth Moyes, Hagerman, sang, accompanied by Mrs. Floyd Marsh.

A quartet composed of Blaine Hulme, Everett Cox, Jack Francis and Gerhard Luttmir sang several selections, and a modern dance was presented by a cousin of the bride. The new couple spoke briefly.

Among the special guests at the reception was the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Jonette Rasmussen, Burley, who also accompanied the couple to the temple.

Selfish guests

I feel that we were taken advantage of, but I am at a loss as to what I should say to this greedy, gluttonous couple.

Any suggestions?

TAKEN IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR TAKEN: I would say "Goodbye," after telling them that they had eaten themselves out of your good graces.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of an 81-year-old man and a 70-year-old woman who met in an old folks home four months ago, and decided to get married to save expenses? It's true, one double is cheaper than two singles, but isn't that a silly reason to get married?

LIVES HERE

DEAR LIVES: It's as good a reason as any to get married. And better than some.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a guy for nine months. We have been together every night since we met. He is 24 and I am 18. He talks about long-range plans, such as the two of us going to Europe together next summer. Our relationship is a good one, but it would be perfect if we were married. He has not mentioned marriage at all, except to knock it. He was married for two years and is now divorced.

Should I just wait until he brings it up? I would hate to go on like this for a couple of years and then find out he doesn't want to marry me.

WANTS TO WED

DEAR WANTS: If he doesn't mention marriage, the chances are he isn't considering it. If you want to know for sure (and I can't blame you), ASK him. But be prepared for a let down. If your relationship is, as you say, a "good one" now, it's probably good enough for him—definitely.

DEAR ABBY: I notice the word "promiscuous" is used only to describe women.

A man who does the same thing is called (with the wink of an eye), "a ladies' man." And it sounds like a compliment! Why?

WONDERING IN YAKIMA

DEAR WONDERING: Because men have always enjoyed sexual freedom, while women have not. But Women's Lib is out to change all that.

The money is to be used for a fetal heart monitor, $2,600; an IVAC monitor, $750; a vacuum oven, $395; and a blood mixer, $97.

The money to fund the gifts was raised by several auxiliary projects, including making and selling flower arrangements, proceeds from television rental to patients; baby originals, making and sale of pictures of newborn babies; and the hospital cart, sale of stationary, stuffed toys and small personal items for patients.

The auxiliary's pediatrics committee meets twice a month to make "pinkie puppets" which are given to each child admitted to the hospital. The committee also makes the puppets in other designs for gift items and a rummage sale has been an annual event.

Energy Coming To Our Valley

Pages 8-9

Valley comment.

Thelma Swartz, Twin Falls:
"Keep the furnace down instead of up and down and just try to be more conservative overall. I do think there is a fuel shortage."

Ron Wiedenheft, Twin Falls:
"I think it ought to be a standard practice for everyone to be more conservative. Turn down the heat if you're going to be gone on the weekends and turn down the heat in the evenings. I don't think everyone realizes that eventually we're all going to be affected by this."

Jerry Martin, Jerome:
"Our house is all electric and I don't have any definite plans. Turn the heat down during the day but this is to save on the cost of electricity just as much as conserving energy. We don't leave lights on that are not being used. We're fairly conservative already. I think that, perhaps the fuel shortage could have been avoided by better planning by the people that regulate the public utility companies."

Steve Antone, Rupert:
"We're talking about further insulation. Also leaving the outside lights off and the lights inside that are not being used. I feel also that there will be more of a problem later on. We've been fighting a diesel fuel shortage on the ranches all summer."

Doug McGee, Twin Falls:
"I think the fuel shortage is a big put-on. If I were to be more conservative it would be to save on money rather than to save on energy."

Ramona Peterson, Filer:
"I've given this some thought and I really don't feel that there is a fuel shortage. It's a big hoax. We have however made some plans. We have put away extra wood, wood for all winter, which is something that we don't usually do. We have also put away fuel for a Coleman stove."

Wardrobe problems new for Green

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) —
Three of Universal's costume men hovered around Lorne Greene, playing him with sports shirts and slacks and sports jackets. This was something new for Greene. Something he hadn't bargained for when he signed to do a new series called Griff for ABC-TV.

For 14 years, as Bonanza's Ben Cartwright, Greene didn't have to worry about wardrobe.
Week after week, year after year, he wore basically the same outfit. Now, playing a modern-day private eye, and a well-heeled one, he must have a modern well-heeled wardrobe. It's added work.
After Bonanza bit the dust,

Greene was faced with the problem of what to do. He didn't have to worry about financial things. The series made him a millionaire but he isn't the type to sit around and do nothing.
He gave some thought to stage and movies. He couldn't find a play or a musical he liked. And he found most of the movie offers verging on the pornographic.
"That's not for me," he says.
"The closest I could come to porno acting would be 'Deep Handshake.'
Anyway, he likes TV and four studios were bidding for his services. Two had no specific property in mind. One wanted him to play Nero Wolfe. He couldn't see himself as the famous fictional fat detective.
So he went for the Universal deal, because he liked the Griff property.

will shake down and become what he wants it to become, a dramatic show with a philosophy, not merely be a whodunit.
"I remember a line from a play," he says. "It went: 'I had it all in my grasp, and it began to slip away.' And another line:

'I searched for the beast and found it within me.' I feel that both of those lines have the germ of an idea in them, the kind of idea we should explore on Griff.'

LORNE GREENE shuns movies with hard core sex themes. "The closest I could come to porno acting would be 'Deep Handshake.'"

Looking back, Greene feels his career has, thus far, been a happy and fulfilling one. He divides it up into three sections. There were 14 years in Canada when he did everything — radio, stage, TV, teaching — and those were good years.
"I made more money than the prime minister of Canada," he says.
Then came a six-year period when he freelanced as an actor all over the world, including in England, New York, Hollywood and again in Canada. He did three Broadway plays, many movies, hundreds of TV and radio dramas, and most recently, the 14-year stay with Bonanza. Now he looks forward to whatever the future holds.
He hopes Griff eventually

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Horatio Alger was an American writer who penned about 135 books which sold about 30 million copies. In 1867, "Ragged Dick" became his first successful boy's "rags-to-riches" plot novel. His heroes dramatized the ideal that any poor boy could become wealthy if he was intelligent, hard-working and honest. The World Almanac notes Alger's books made a great impression upon America's youth during a period of great economic expansion.

Physician urges patients to meditate on cancer

By JAMES H. BOWMAN (c) 1973, Chicago Daily News
CHICAGO - A physician who specializes in cancer therapy says he uses mind-over-matter techniques in treating his patients.
Dr. Carl Simonton, of Fort Worth, Tex., told how he combines conventional therapy, such as radiation, with meditation by the patient.
He addressed a symposium on "new dimensions of healing" presented by the Academy of Parapsychology and Medicine and Spiritual Frontiers Fellowship here.
Simonton gave examples of the technique taken from his recently ended two-year career with the U.S. air force at

A 38-year-old flier pictured his white cells as navy frogmen - "disloyal of him," said Simonton. Another patient saw her cells as a swirling snowstorm.
This imagining and sort of cheering on one's own body as it employs its healing mechanisms is only part of Simonton's technique, which he now employs in private practice.
The first and most difficult problem approached in enlisting the patient in his own healing process is to break through the notion that cancer means death, he said.

Simonton accepts the theory that we all have cancer many times and get over it, fighting it off ourselves before it comes to our attention, a position he said is endorsed by 75 to 90 per cent of cancer specialists.
After doing his best to convince the patient of his own usefulness in the healing process, Simonton prescribes a two-minute daily relaxation period.
This is followed by another two minutes in which the patient "pictures" his cancer as it appears to him, together with his image of the white, healing cells.

Blue Knight

WILLIAM HOLDEN makes his television dramatic debut as Bumper Morgan, a 20-year veteran of the Los Angeles Police Department facing retirement in Joseph Wambaugh's "The Blue Knight" to be colorcast as a four-part mini series on NBC-TV beginning Tuesday evening. The three remaining segments will be seen Nov. 14, 15 and 16 on evening schedules.

Fonda in new show

Henry Fonda will star in the title role of "O. W. Street," an ABC Television Network "Movie of the Week" which will serve as the pilot film for a projected series. It was announced today by Michael D. Eisner, Vice President of Prime Time Program Development-Production, ABC Entertainment.

The 90-minute Spelling-Goldberg production begins filming in late November at 20th Century-Fox Studios.

In the title role, Fonda plays a sheriff from the Texas panhandle who teaches criminology at the local university. One of his students, now a district attorney in a large California city, seeks his help in solving the murder of that city's captain of detectives and hires him as the man's replacement.

Goldberg will produce the film from the original screenplay by Jack B. Sowards.

Henry Fonda, who recently starred in the "ABC Suspense Movie" titled "The Alpha Caper," was an Emmy nominee last season for his performance in "The Red Pony." One of America's most highly regarded actors, his screen career spans over 70 films, among them such classics as "The Grapes of Wrath," "The Ox Bow Incident," "Twelve Angry Men" and "Mr. Roberts." On stage his numerous credits range from "Mr. Roberts" to the just-announced one-man show, "Clarence Darrow."

The Spelling-Goldberg organization produces "The Rookies" for ABC, plus a number of "Movies of the Week."

New Power Heading For Magic Valley In 1975

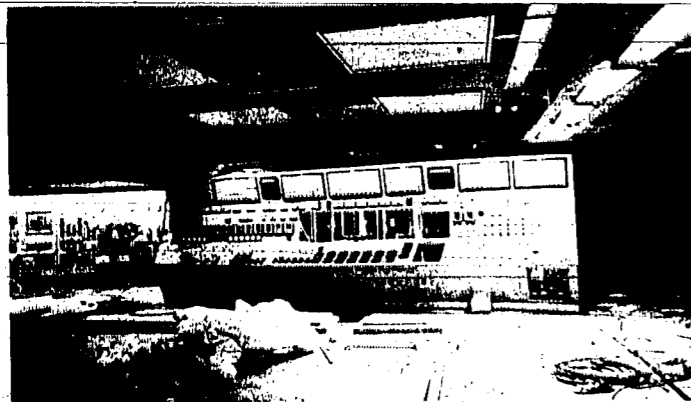

Birds-Eye View

TWO OF THE three stacks which will pierce the Wyoming skyline at the Jim Bridger plant are nearing completion. Each will have a separate generating plant as a part of the electrical energy complex.

Really Big

JEAN MILAR, Twin Falls city manager, is dwarfed by one of the many "scoops" which will put coal in position for burning. It is part of what will be a gigantic moving machine.

Connections Plus

PUSH BUTTON control will feature all operations at the automated plant generating vital energy for Idaho.

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. — Everything at the Jim Bridger steam-electric project is big — and the electrical energy which comes from it as a result of all the planning, and all the work, and all the investment will be big, too.

If all goes according to plan — and schedule — the first generating unit will be under tests starting in September 1974 and the energy will be coursing through the lines and headed for Idaho Power Co. customers in January of 1975.

This initial burst of energy, coming from one of the biggest steam-electric plants ever constructed, will assure Magic Valley customers of Idaho Power they will have all the electric energy they need because the amount available will be one-third more than is available in the entire system at the present time.

And yet this plant — with the second unit expected to be in commercial operation in 1975 and the third late in 1976 — will have a "life" of only about 35 years. There's 50 years of coal available to run the project but in 35 years engineers anticipate all things will change and operation will no longer be profitable.

So that's the way it is. Millions of dollars to build a plant which will last but half a lifetime.

But the designers see it as necessary and beneficial. Without it progress would stop in this area and even operating businesses would die. So the work goes on.

Right now there are 2,450 people working here — building the thing. The overall payroll is running $1 million a week.

A tour of the plant — from top to bottom and from end to end — makes one wonder if everything can be tied together so it all will work. It is so vast that only the trained mind can comprehend.

Five citizens from Twin Falls — all vitally interested in the project which will supply the electrical energy needed to keep the Valley humming — toured the area with Wes Kluckhorn, project accountant, filling in the details.

Spending a day in the area were Jean Milar, Twin Falls city manager; George Staudaher, Twin Falls superintendent of schools; Ray Rostron, manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce; Willard Rees, vice president of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co., and Earl Haroldson, division manager of the Idaho Power with headquarters in Twin Falls.

They discovered many things. They learned there is a 150 foot overburden on the coal supply which will be removed to get at it and that the overburden will all be replaced when the job is done. They learned the coal field stretches on for more than 15 miles and will last for 50 years as a plant supplier. They learned that the big motive-haulers — in other words rucks — will each carry 120 tons of coal, against the 80 carried by a large railroad coal car.

They learned that conveyors will put the coal in great storage hoppers. They learned that the steam turbines are bigger than most any power generating equipment. They learned that water for use at the plant is piped in from 41 miles away on the Green River, coming across naked Wyoming in 36 inch pipes.

They learned that plant employment has doubled the population of Rock Springs and that all nationalities are finding work on the project.

And they learned one unusual thing — women work as laborers and truck drivers and what have you right alongside the men. Women's lib has arrived. The female laborers take home more pay than their office counterparts serving as top secretaries.

And we talked to a few of these "laboring" gals and they love it — especially the money. One was pert and blonde Kathy Autry who makes the round trip daily from Green River to hold down her job. (See picture).

If Jim Bridger, the mountain man whose name the plant carries, was to return to his haunts of 146 years ago, he wouldn't know the place. But, then, neither would anyone who walked across the area only four or five years ago. The ground for the project was broken June 10, 1971. There should be a big celebration sometime after September, 1974 and before January, 1975, to "welcome" the energy into the lines to Idaho.

We said everything was big! From the Rock Springs airport, about 30 miles away, you can see the two nearly-completed stacks pointing into the stark sky. They are 500 feet high. And when the three plants are done you will be able to see them too — because they will be as tall as a 25-story office building, they will be 710 feet long and 310 feet wide.

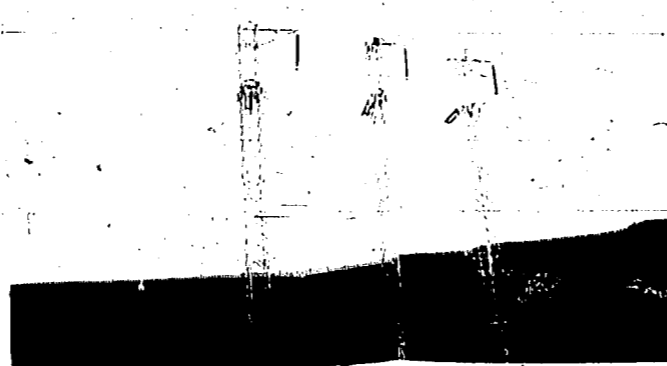

And if you need something else to convince you as to the size of the Jim Bridger spread — operated jointly by Idaho Power Co. and Pacific Power and Light Co. — we will let out the fact there will be more than half a thousand 500-horsepower electric motors in the plant, making things tick.

You see, it will be computer operated with a regular labor force of 250 individuals.

Women's Lib

Poles in Place

POLES WAIT for final connecting lines which will be placed when the initial generator goes commercial.

By ANN DAILY
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Federal beef inspection has opened the door to interstate markets for Independent Meat Co., according to President Otto Florence.

The company, slaughter-processors and distributors of meat products to retail and wholesale markets, became the fourth Idaho plant of its kind to be federally inspected. Formerly the plant had operated under state inspection. Federal inspection will allow interstate meat shipments, as state inspection did not.

Future markets will be in states bordering Idaho, many with national food concerns which wish to redistribute company products. The plant had previously been federally inspected during 1943 and 1944.

Inspection insures health and wholesomeness, with animals guarded from the time the animal is offered for slaughter to the point of sale.

The meat inspector's responsibility is to oversee processing methods and procedures to comply with federal regulations. They oversee the proper formulation, labeling and packaging of all meat products to guarantee the consumer gets what is listed in the package.

Although state and federal inspections yield the same quality of product, procedures are different resulting in increased bookkeeping, Florence said.

Formulas are submitted and reevaluated for federal inspection. All Independent Meat Co. formulas have been accepted or are being processed. The change-over from state to federal inspection takes several weeks. Continual changes are made as formulation and labeling regulations change.

Independent Meat will have two resident federal inspectors. Dr. Glen Overturf, D. M. M., Twin Falls, is in charge, currently at the plant. Other inspectors from surrounding areas assist Dr. Overturf until a second resident inspector arrives.

Federal meat inspection is one step in many toward increased marketing. In the last year and a half the company has added an additional 30 per cent floor space aimed at increased efficiency.

The additional space will not at present increase slaughtering but make processing and shipping more efficient. Approximately 50,000 head of hogs and cattle will be processed in 1973. Most of the livestock comes from Southern Idaho.

A new order, assembly and shipping department with pallet and power conveyor systems were installed with additional storage area. Included are two beef coolers, with temperatures held between 33 and 35 degrees, for carcasses and fabricated cuts, and a low temperature freezer from zero to minus five degrees which holds approximately 80,000 lbs. of meat product. New refrigerator compressors were added, providing 150 tons of additional refrigeration capacity. New general and private offices and meeting rooms were built and existing departments received extensive remodeling.

A new wastewater treatment system is being installed which will include an anarobic lagoon system with a mechanical arobic system. Final discharge will be into city sewage. Sprinkling systems after treatment will eventually irrigate company farm land.

The original plant was founded in 1905 as the Twin Falls Meat Co. by Herman Bross and Frank Terrill. The company was managed by Otto Florence Sr. in 1919 and became a family concern during the depression. The senior Florence is not semi-retired and chairman of the board of directors.

Otto Florence Jr. is president and general manager. Ted Florence, livestock procurement, and Frank Florence, sales and distribution, all Twin Falls. The plant currently employs 85 people.

Carcasses inspected

Marcus Welby Aids Medicine

"Thank you for helping save my life."

Robert Young looked up in surprise into the pretty face of the airline flight attendant speaking to him.

His raised eyebrows asked the obvious question and Martha L. Flugar explained.

The Santa Monica (Calif.) girl had always had a mole on her right calf. It was visible and men would make flirring comments about "the girl with the cute mole on her leg."

Then one night she was watching the ABC Television Network's "Marcus Welby, M. D.," and in the episode there was a girl with a mole on her leg. The description was the same as Martha's, and it was growing larger, as hers was. In a scene, Dr. Welby began discussing the potential danger of such a mole if it was not taken care of properly. The discussion really shook Martha and she turned off the set, not wanting to know what happened to the girl.

Clark to produce series

Dick Clark, pioneer, preserver and producer of rock on television, has been named executive producer of the ABC Television Network's "In Concert" series, it was announced today by Edwin T. Vane, Vice President, National Program Director, ABC Entertainment. The appointment will become effective with the "In Concert" programs airing in December. Clark will head an ABC production team which will include Bill Lee, Joshua White and Sunny Schner. Individual programs will be produced by Lee, co-produced by Miss Schner and directed by White.

In making the announcement, Mr. Vane stated: "Dick Clark has been a major force in the rock music world both in television and on stage. His past involvement with 'In Concert' has contributed to its enormous success and we look forward to his leadership as executive producer."

In the past year, Dick Clark has created several "In Concert" programs which were produced by Bill Lee and starred such leading contemporary music artists as Billy Preston, Loggins and Messina, B. B. King, Melanie, the Guess Who, Rare Earth, Deep Purple, Buddy Miles and Rory Gallagher.

Elderly 'sitting ducks' for theft or assault

By PATRICIA ANSTETT
(c) Chicago Sun-Times

CHICAGO — Mary Herrick, 78, was robbed and shoved to the pavement outside a Chicago bank two years ago. She broke her hip in the fall, and today she drives, not walks to the bank.

Mrs. Edna Wind, of Cicero, Ill., was not so lucky. Last July, the 75-year-old woman was attacked and raped outside her home. She died later in a Chicago hospital from injuries she received in the assault.

In cities and suburbs, in public housing developments and private homes, senior citizens like Miss Herrick and Mrs. Wind are finding themselves victims of a nationwide problem—crime against the elderly.

Though difficult to document statistically because police departments often do not record the age of crime victims, purse snatchings, burglaries and assaults of senior citizens are common, say law enforcement, social service and senior-citizen groups.

Far less frequent, but a major concern to all senior citizens, are the bizarre crimes — the rapes and violent attacks — that come to the public's attention.

Last week, for example, a 30-year-old Chicago man was arrested for raping and robbing four elderly widows at knifepoint in the cemeteries where they were visiting their husbands' graves. The man, a former high school valedictorian, had a previous record of molesting children.

In Philadelphia last year, an 84-year-old woman also was subjected to five days of terror in which four youths, ages 10-13, raped, tortured and burned her. Many similar serious crimes against senior citizens have occurred in cities across the nation.

"Crime is a problem for everyone," said Miss Herrick, "but I think it's a greater one for old people because they're sitting ducks — they're less able to defend themselves."

Diane Dietmann, a social worker with senior centers of metropolitan Chicago, agreed: "Most of the older people I know won't even go out at night. The fear is there, whether they have had trouble before or not."

The major crime against the elderly is theft; purse snatching, pickpocketing, or even stealing groceries.

Frequently, these thefts, as in the case of Miss Herrick, involve a person sneaking up from behind. "I thought someone was playing a prank at first," Miss Herrick said. "It never occurred to me someone was trying to hold me up."

A common problem in all metropolitan areas is the theft of money from seniors who recently cashed their social security and welfare checks.

Similar problems have been reported in New York, Louisville and Oakland, Calif. In all these cities police are beginning to accompany senior citizens to check-cashing locations on certain days each month.

Burglary also is a common problem for the elderly, in Minneapolis-St. Paul, a study by the Metropolitan Council of the Twin Cities area found that 50 per cent of all crimes against the elderly occurred in their own residences.

Many of these burglaries, the Minnesota study found, resulted from inadequate locks on doors and window or poor design or security in public housing buildings.

The location of elderly public housing project in itself is a problem. In most cities, many public housing projects for the elderly are concentrated in high crime districts and senior citizens continually are victimized, particularly on nearby streets.

PLANTS THAT KILL MOSQUITOES: Although we're heading into winter, you'll be interested to know that some plants actually kill the mosquito—the world's most useless insect. Certain aquatic plants kill mosquitoes by producing poisons fatal to the larvae or "wrigglers." Such plants include the stoneworts. Stoneworts are a type of algae which occur commonly in quiet waters (both fresh and brackish). They are easily cultivated and transplanted and the cost for using this method of mosquito control could be low, according to some literature I received from Dr. David Pimentel, Professor of Insect Ecology, Cornell University.

Certain carnivorous plants such as the bladderwort (Utricularia) capture and "eat" small organisms such as mosquito larvae. Bladders on parts of a single plant (about 7 feet long) have been found to contain some 150,000 organisms, including mosquito larvae.

Here's another interesting fact worth looking into for mosquito control: When the seeds of a few plant species, especially of the Cruciferae (cabbage and mustard family) are placed in water, a sticky goo exudes from the seedcoat. If a mosquito wriggler (larvae) touches these mucilaginous seeds, their mouthparts are entrapped, and if held long enough, the wrigglers drown or starve to death. As many as 27 mosquito larvae have been observed attached to a single mustard seed. If 5 larvae per seed were captured, 55 million larvae per kilogram (about 2 lbs.) would be destroyed if the small seeds of weed such as Capella were used.

This may all sound far-fetched, but if we had more research on this it might be possible to identify the poisons secreted, and these by synthesized (or mimicked) and these in turn can be "planted" to trap mosquitoes.

CHINESE LANTERNS: A reader tells us Chinese lanterns should be hung upside down for 10 days, on a dry, warm location before using. She also reminds us that the Silver Dollar (Honesty) seeds should be sowed in the ground for next year's plants. When ripe the silver dollar looks like "real" money. Hope no one breaks a wrist diving for it. Silver Dollars do not change color, and can be used well with other dried materials.

COFFEE GROUNDS: By all means, use coffee grounds in the compost, around trees and shrubs. Don't believe the notion that they are too acid. They are valuable as a soil conditioner and mulch, low in nutrients (2 per cent nitrogen); 4 per cent phosphoric acid and 5 per cent potassium. True, they are acid, but not enough to harm your plants. They are valuable around acid-loving plants such as azaleas, rhododendrons and laurel.

THE MONARCH

BUTTERFLY: If there's one butterfly you should tell your children about, it's the Monarch, the most common species in the milkweed butterfly group. You've seen the Monarch butterfly. I'm sure. It is reddish-brown with black veins in the wings. Markings on the wings include a black marginal band with two rows of small white spots. The "Viceroy" butterfly resembles the Monarch, but it has one row of small white spots. The Monarch is one of the few butterflies that migrates. Large numbers migrate from north to south and west in the fall.

The longest flight known for an adult monarch (based on a tagged individual) is over 1800 miles, from Ontario, Canada to Mexico. The butterflies which migrate south from the north overwinter in the warmer climate. Here's an interesting note: they reproduce in their wintering grounds. The butterflies which arrive in the north in spring are not the same individuals that left here the preceding fall, but are the offspring of the parents that reproduced in the southern wintering grounds or enroute north. How did the offspring, which never saw the north country, know in which direction to fly?

The adult monarchs are "protected" by a distasteful body fluid obtained from the larval stage feeding on milkweed plants. They taste so bad birds don't like them. So, if someone offers you a meal of chopped butterfly livers, don't accept. Oddly, the "viceroys" butterfly does not have a bad taste, but it looks so much like the Monarch butterfly that birds avoid it. The Monarch feeds solely on the milkweed and is not a pest crop or a food supply for wild life. It's just one of nature's wonders and provides immeasurable beauty to our environment.

THOSE LARGE CUCUMBERS: Most people toss out those extra large cucumbers, but a reader tells us you shouldn't! She says: "Just follow the watermelon rind pickles recipe and you'll find the old cucumbers are delicious. You can't tell the difference!"

GIANT PUMPKINS: One of our followers produced a pumpkin weighing 201 lbs, measuring 93" around. The second largest was 175 lbs. Does any one have a larger pumpkin? Please write and tell us.

CURE FOR POISON IVY: We mentioned the juice of the Impatiens plant for curing poison ivy. Another reader suggests using "Hot vinegar," as a sure cure and while it may sting at first, the final relief is well worth the treatment. Put it on with cotton, all over.

She adds: "We use the ice cube method for watering our hanging baskets as mentioned some time ago. It won't drip like it does when the plants are watered regularly. Just put some cubes on the soil surface.

Doesn't harm the plants one bit."

QUESTION BOX
QUESTION OF THE WEEK: E. D. of Twin Falls: "I have 10 geraniums bought in May. They flowered fairly well, and now are quite stringy. How can we keep them over winter?"

Many methods have been suggested for keeping geraniums over winter. Your best bet for a few geraniums is to handle a few this way: Bring them indoors, pot and all, cut them back about half, and place them in a tub packed with moist peat moss. Set tub in a basement where they can get a little light from the basement window. Keep the peat just slightly dampened, enough for the plants to remain alive during the winter. In spring, take the pots up and repot each plant, using a fresh soil mixture one part each of sand, peat and loam. Trim the plants back to within 4 inches of the pot and grow in full sun.

Some hobby gardeners remove the geraniums from the pots and insert the plants in a plastic bag (with holes). To keep them going all winter they slip a moist rag or cotton inside the bag periodically. The geraniums fare well inside the tent, and sometimes even send forth a blossom or two during the winter storage. Other indoor gardeners put their potted geraniums on the window sill and let them bloom their top heads off during the winter months.

Thanksgiving Drama Set For Nov. 18

A 90-minute drama special for the entire family, "The Thanksgiving Treasure," starring Jason Robards, Mildred Natwick, Lisa Lucas and Barnard Hughes, will be presented Sunday Nov. 18 (7:30-9:00 pm, PT) on the CBS Television Network.

Note: This special broadcast, followed at 9:00 10:30 PM, PT, by the musical-comedy special "Once Upon a Mattress," starring Carol Burnett, will preempt "The New Perry Mason" and "The Mystery Double Feature: Mannix-Barnaby Jones on the Network on this date.

This drama was written and performed by the same team that created the acclaimed special "The House Without a Christmas Tree," presented last season on the Network. The new special was produced by Alan Shayne and directed by Paul Bogart from a script by Eleanor Perry, based on a story by Gail Rock and Shayne. Miss Perry won an Emmy Award for her treatment of "The House Without a Christmas Tree" last season.

"The Thanksgiving Treasure" is the story of a very special little girl whose friendship for a lonely old man and love for a horse prove stronger than adult grudges. Ten-year-old Addie Mills (Miss Lucas) shares her Nebraska home with her stern widowed father (Robards) and gentle, compassionate grandmother (Miss Natwick). Despite a long-standing feud between her father and a hermit-like old man (Hughes), Addie is determined to share her family's Thanksgiving dinner with the old man on the sly. She involves her best friend (Frannie Michaels) in the adventure, and they find that their gesture of friendship is far from welcome — at first.

The crusty old man's heart is soon thawed by the precocious child's warmth, and he allows her to care for and exercise his horse Treasure. The relationship grows, still unknown to Addie's father until, tragedy intervenes. Then Addie, her father and grandmother learn a poignant lesson in giving and in human understanding.

Director Bogart has won Emmy Awards for his direction of the "CBS Playhouse" production of Reginald Rose's "Dear Friends" and an episode of "The Defenders" series. He also directed John Gielgud's outstanding single dramatic program of the 1965-66 season. Bogart collaborated with Shayne on the Network's "Look Homeward, Angel" and "The House Without a Christmas Tree," and has to his credit motion pictures which include "Marlowe," "Halls of Anger" and "Class of '44."

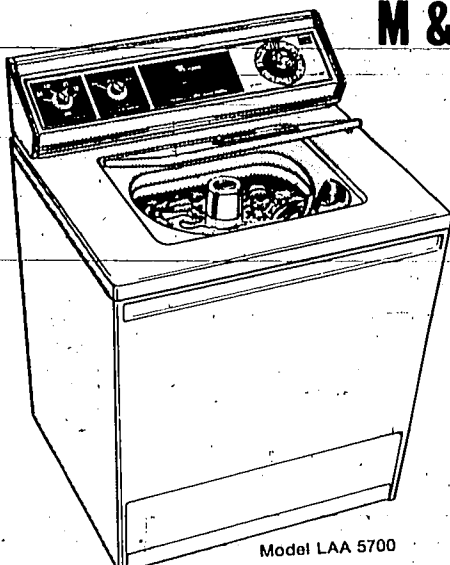

Robard's distinguished theatrical career ranges from Gilbert and Sullivan on Broadway to motion pictures such as "Long Day's Journey Into Night," "Any Wednesday" and "A Thousand Clowns," in which he recreated his Broadway role.

Miss Natwick in a long and brilliant acting career, has appeared in numerous state and motion-picture roles. Hughes, a familiar figure on both stage and screen, has appeared in such films as "Cold Turkey," "The Hospital" and "Midnight Cowboy." She also starred last summer with George C. Scott in the acclaimed New York production of "Uncle Vanya."

Miss Perry won both an Emmy and a Peabody Award for her television dramatization of Truman Capote's "The Thanksgiving Visitor," and has scripted such films as "David and Lisa," "Last Summer" and "Diary of a Mad Housewife."

Students applaud hypnotist

By LIZ NUTTING and MEG RAYBORN Pictures by Don Swenson
(Twin Falls High School Students)

Assembly performer, "put to sleep" Twin Falls High School student body and faculty in a Halloween assembly.

The performance was termed by most students one of the most interesting assemblies they had attended. "I try to show students what hypnotism is, and that it's not 'black magic,'" Lythgoe said. "I got interested in hypnotism in a college class. I had played two years of professional football, had trouble sleeping and learned the technique of self hypnosis or auto-suggestion."

Lythgoe has been hypnotizing audiences professionally for 27 years.

"My first school program was about 23 years ago, in Meridian," he said.

During this time he has travelled extensively throughout the United States.

"Over a period of years I've probably done over 10,000 shows," he said, "some years about 500 a year and the last six years about 200-300 per year."

At the high school assembly, Lythgoe conducted an hypnotic experiment with the audience. He instructed the student body to close their eyes and clasp their hands behind their necks. Then they were to sway with their eyes closed back and forth twice, and on the third time fall back.

After they were "awakened" Teresa Kramer, a senior, could not unclasp her hands until Lythgoe helped her. She said, "I felt scared because I didn't follow directions. I rocked back and forth but instead of falling back, I opened my eyes. My hands were stuck and I started crying but no one could help me."

Denny Wentworth, a volunteer, felt "a strange tingling sensation," when during the show Lythgoe woke his subjects and then put them back to sleep.

"When he put us back to sleep, my hands and arms fell into the exact position they had been in before," Wentworth said. "When Mr. Lythgoe told me to imagine that my arm was a steel rod, I could not even feel a joint and could not bend it at all."

Lisa Gerber, another student at the assembly, said afterwards that she felt "restful" while she was under the hypnotic suggestion. Afterwards she felt "drained." At the end of his assembly, Lythgoe told Lisa that when she awoke she would see that his bowtie was crooked and would feel an urge to untie it.

"I don't remember him telling me that I would do this, but when I saw the crooked tie, I felt a compulsion to untie it," Miss Gerber said.

Patty Schuler, a volunteer, said "I felt like I was watching Truth or Consequences. When the audience laughed, I laughed. At first I didn't feel like I was hypnotized."

When Mr. Lythgoe told me to imagine a round soft spot on the inside of my forehead, I didn't see one. I felt like I could imagine it was pink and be hypnotized. Then all of a sudden there was a green spot there."

Bill Sweet, a subject, said afterwards that he felt "weak and very tired." At the end of Lythgoe's program he told Bill that he would not be able to walk off stage. Sweet said, "He touched my legs when he said this would happen and before he asked me to leave, my muscles began to tighten. Sweet said that he was aware of the audience during his trance when they laughed, but the sound didn't really penetrate.

When interviewed by the Twin Falls High School Bruin News about the assembly and his work, Lythgoe said that six years ago he his wife and assistant for six years, Richy, and their family moved to the Twin Falls area. According to Lythgoe, the "comfortable atmosphere" is one of the main reasons for the move.

"When I first started," Lythgoe said, "there were three or four outstanding hypnotists in the country, but it's hard to label anyone now who is outstanding. There are hundreds giving shows, and some of those trade on sensationalism," he said.

In recent years Lythgoe at times found it somewhat difficult for people to accept hypnotism as more than black magic. As a result of this stigma placed upon hypnotism, some of his performances have been cancelled, he said. For this same reason, Hypnotism is not taught by many universities or researched by many institutes. Very few doctors have accepted hypnotism as a form of anesthesia although it is a very good one, Lythgoe said.

Lythgoe has had some experiences in working with age regression on subjects. Age regression is recovering from the subconscious the memory of past lives. Perhaps the most famous case of age regression was that of Bridey Murphy in the 1950s.

Lythgoe however believes that regression does not have any connection with reincarnation. Rather, he believes people who do experience this are sometimes calling experiences from their genetic memory things that happened to their ancestors. Other times it is the sending and receiving of very strong thought waves, he said.

According to Lythgoe anyone can be hypnotized, providing he wants to be. However, children and mentally deficient people cannot be hypnotized with much success because of their inability to completely follow the directions, he said.

The Gossip Column

...is it true that the great British writer, Virginia Woolf, had a love affair with another woman? — D.G., Boston.

A: Yes, the details of her affair are contained in "Portrait of a Marriage," by Nigel Nicolson, which recounts the story of the marriage of his parents, two gifted writers — Harold Nicolson and V. Sackville-West. The son's biography tells of his mother's affair with Virginia Woolf and also touches on his father's homosexuality.

Q: Is Liz Taylor's mother English? I say yes; my girlfriend says no. Wasn't she very ill? What does she think of her daughter now? — H. E., Cleveland.

A: Sara Taylor was born in Kansas, but moved to London where her famous daughter was born and brought up in Hampstead and Kent. (Thus, many people assume Mrs. Taylor is English.) She was quite ill last year, but has recovered. Sara thinks whatever her Elizabeth wants to do must be okay since she and her child are devoted to each other. Mrs. Taylor is planning her own marital surprise. A widow since the death of Liz's father, Francis Taylor, some years ago, Sara will soon marry old friend Elmer Tammlist.

...The wedding will be in Hawaii with son, Howard, and daughter, Liz, in attendance.

VIRGINIA WOOLFE

Onassis in his altogether. This is from the same Italian magazine that published the nude photos of Jackie last year shot from long-lens cameras. Skeptics are saying Onassis did nothing to keep from being photographed nude, since he knew from experience it was possible he could be seen. But since The Golden Greek looks rather slimmed down and splendid in his photo, maybe he didn't care.

LITERARY DEPT.: Why is Norman Mailer turning down all those lucrative journalistic assignments he usually loves? Mailer, stung by some of the criticism of his Marilyn Monroe book, is working hard on his new novel. He just said no to covering the Israeli-Arab conflict and the story is that he's desperate to finish his book and prove to the world that he really is one of the great American writers.

THEM THAT GIVES, GETS: Avery Fisher, who recently donated millions to New York's Philharmonic Hall, which has been renamed after him, requested that all printed matter — including programs and stationery already printed up through spring — be destroyed and replaced with the concert hall's new name: Avery Fisher Hall.

Q: Who gets the money from the sale of the movie version of F. Scott Fitzgerald's "The Great Gatsby"? — G. E., Roanoke, Va.

A: Zelda and Scott Fitzgerald's daughter, "Scottie" Smith, of Washington D. C., gets $350,000 from producer David Merrick as well as a percentage of the gross over $10,000,000. This would be heartfelt revenge for his late father, who spent much of his professional life struggling and being panicky about money.

... playing around?

Q: You mentioned Buzz Aldrin going to the moon with Neil Armstrong. I hear he has written a book about playing around. Is this an example for our youth? — H. J., Boerne, Tex.

A: Col. Edwin Aldrin's book isn't just about "playing around." It's about the joy and pain of his work in the NASA program, his military background, his over-achieving ambitions, his experiences going to the moon. Aldrin was the first man to take communion on the moon's surface, but he frankly reveals his post-moonflight depressions, his infidelity in a marriage that lasted despite the strains, and the telling fact that astronauts are — after all — only human.
