Death penalty law rule stands

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court let stand today a ruling that its 1972 decision against capital punishment voided New York State's death penalty law.

In a brief order the court rejected an appeal by Oneida County District Attorney Richard D. Enders of a ruling, which was handed down June 19, 1973, by the New York Court of Appeals, the state's highest tribunal.

Jackpot lights go out

JACKPOT — A wind and rain storm struck late this morning, knocking out electric service when a power line between Twin Falls and Jackpot was cut. Casinos used candles to combat the blackout.

Miss Wyoming title to black

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI) — Cheryl Johnson, 20, inherited the Miss Wyoming crown Sunday. She became the first black to hold the title in Wyoming.

Laotian summit proposed

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma has invited the leader of the Pathet Lao to a "summit meeting" in an attempt to expedite the formation of the new coalition government, official sources said today.

Souvanna made an invitation to Prince Souphanouvong, his halfbrother and titular head of the Pathet Lao, through two high-ranking Pathet Lao officials, Gen. Phou Sipaseuth and Col. Sath Phetrasy, who were present Sunday night at a buffet dinner given by King Savang Vatthana.

Baker prefers impeachment

CRANSTON, R. I. (UPI) — Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., ranking GOP member of the Watergate committee, said he would rather see impeachment proceedings against President Nixon than a resignation under fire.

An impeachment inquiry in the House would be a preferable course of action, Baker said. Sen. Baker is scheduled to appear in Twin Falls Friday, speaking at a dinner for Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho.

Rebels cut Cambodia lifeline

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Rebel troops cut Phnom Penh's tenuous lifeline road to the sea just hours after a 193-truck convoy rolled into the capital with vital rice for the refugee-swollen population, the Cambodian military command reported today.

Col. Am Rong, the command spokesman, said the Communist-led insurgents blocked Highway 4 Sunday about 37 miles southwest of the capital.

Black ballot use endorsed

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Mrs. Coretta Scott King told 400 Negroes at a meeting of the Alabama Democratic Conference black political leaders can return morality to the government by using the power of the ballot.

She called for unity among blacks and said that if the ballot is not used wisely, Dr. Martin Luther King — her slain husband — "will have died in vain."

Quake shakes Pacific coast

FORT BRAGG, Calif. (UPI) — A 5.0-mile area of Mendocino County was rocked by a moderate earthquake Sunday night but no damage was reported.

The earthquake was centered near Fort Bragg and measured 4.5 on the Richter Scale at the University of California seismograph in Berkeley.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon agreed today to give Judge John J. Sirica additional White House materials so that he could determine the substance of two of Nixon's key Watergate conversations, and also prove they were not recorded.

In a lengthy statement, Nixon expressed confidence that the added material consisting of other tapes and dictated memoranda would show "that these new conversations were never recorded" and that "any public doubt on this issue will be completely and satisfactorily removed."

At issue were conversations on Watergate Nixon had with puffed White House counsel John W. Dean III last April 15 and former Attorney General John N. Mitchell on June 20, 1972, three days after the break-in of Democratic national headquarters.

The White House said that because of inadequacies of special apparatus in Nixon's White House offices, those conversations were not recorded.

Sirica in conducting hearings on the absence of direct tapes of those conversations.

"There is no question in my mind but that the open court hearing, now being conducted, will demonstrate to the court's satisfaction truth of our statements that these two conversations were never recorded," Nixon's prepared statement said.

"In fact there is no affirmative evidence to the contrary. I believe that when the court concludes its evaluation of the testimony and documentary evidence, public doubt on this issue will be completely and satisfactorily removed."

Nixon said he would submit notes he made of the meeting with Dean and recordings of two conversations with him the next day.

HK, Mao exchange greetings

PEKING (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger met for nearly two hours, 45 minutes today with Mao Tse Tung in which they discussed a wide range of subjects, and the Chinese Communist Party Chairman passed on his regards to President Nixon.

Kissinger went to the residence of the 80-year-old Mao, on the edge of the Forbidden City, after a three-hour meeting with Premier Chou En-lai.

Kissinger was accompanied on the visit by Ambassador David K.E. Bruce, chief of the U.S. liaison office in Peking who was meeting Mao for the first time, and Winston Lord, another State Department representative who formerly was a White House assistant to Kissinger.

The lengthy meetings by Kissinger with Mao and Chou fueled speculation that broadened Sino-American contacts would result from the Kissinger visit, but no details were immediately forthcoming.

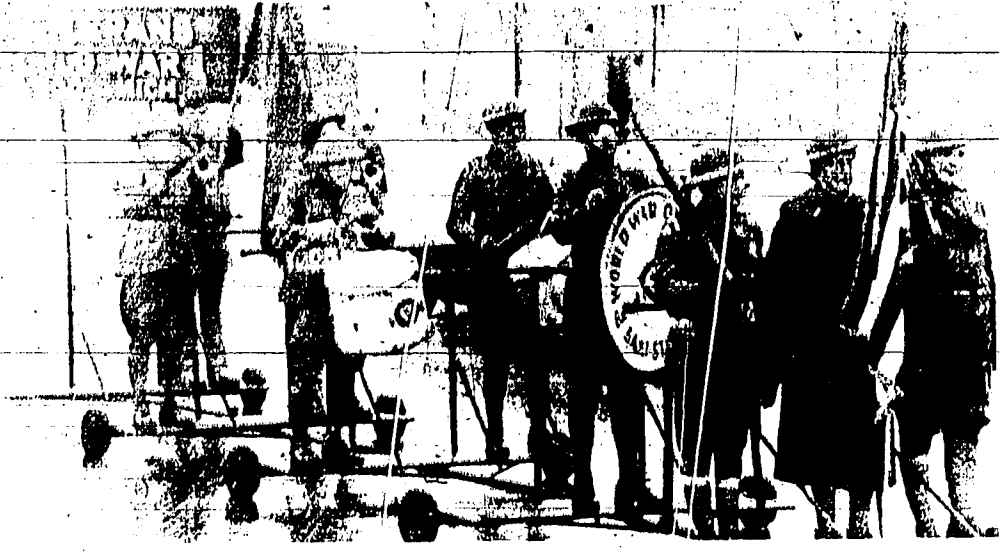

It was Kissinger's third — and longest — meeting with the revolutionary Chinese leader. Chou took part in the discussions on the Chinese side, along with Foreign Minister Chi Peng-fai, Assistant Foreign Minister Wong Hsi-jung, who has emerged as the No. 3 Chinese official since the Communist Party Congress last September, and two Chinese translators.

Ambassador Robert J. McCloskey, serving as chief State Department spokesman during the Kissinger visit to the Chinese capital, which winds up Wednesday, told reporters after the Kissinger-Mao meeting:

"Chairman Mao expressed his welcome to Dr. Kissinger — on his revisit to China and had a conversation with him on a wide range of subjects in a friendly atmosphere.

"At the end of the meeting, Chairman Mao asked Dr. Kissinger to convey his regards to President Nixon."

McCloskey, who coordinated the brief announcement with his Chinese counterpart, told reporters under questioning that Kissinger also had expressed the President's best wishes to Mao.

TRADITIONAL PARADE of World War I veterans in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sunday commemorated end of World War I on first Armistice Day. Average age of surviving doughboys marching on parade and bugle corps is 77. Their "march" was assisted by wheeled vehicle drawn through streets. Event was also marked in Twin Falls and other Idaho towns with ceremonies today. (UPI)

War's end marked

By United Press International

New difficulties arose today in carrying out terms of the Egyptian-Israeli-Middle East agreement but the Israeli National Radio said Israel handed over to the United Nations its Kilometer 101 checkpoint on the Cairo-Suez road as the first step of putting the agreement into force.

The difficulties arose over Israeli insistence and Cairo reluctance to exchange prisoners of war at the same time Israel permitted the U.N. Emergency Force to take control of a supply corridor to Suez City and Egypt's trapped 3rd

Army. The decision taken today at an Egyptian-Israeli meeting at the checkpoint 60 miles from Cairo indicated some of the difficulties were being cleared up.

Both sides appeared ready to go to Geneva next month for formal peace negotiations aimed at a lasting peace to end a quarter-of-a-century of Arab-Israeli warfare but whether the two sides would actually meet face to face still had not been decided.

A six-point Egyptian-Israeli agreement was signed Sunday in a green army tent in the Egyptian desert at Kilometer 101, about 60 miles from Cairo, and the two generals who signed it returned to the scene today to try to straighten out the latest difficulties.

The latest snag came over interpretation of the agreement. Israeli dispatches said the agreement called for immediate exchange of prisoners of war but that Egypt was giving priority to opening of a relief corridor to Suez City and the trapped 3rd Egyptian Army. Israel also was reported raising some questions over exact operation of the supply corridor.

Syria has accepted the U.N. cease-fire but has not taken direct part in the peace negotiations.

Mideast peace path thorny

Atomic waste disposal harms Gem water quality

By DAVID ESPO Times-News Writer

BOISE — Disposal practices of the federal government at the National Reactor Testing Station (NRTS) west of Idaho Falls have degraded groundwater quality, according to a publication of the Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS).

A draft of the department's Water Quality Management Plan for the Upper Snake River basin reports the "degradation has been primarily the result of injecting wastes directly into the Snake Plain Aquifer by means of deep wells.

However, disposal of chemical and radioactive wastes in seepage ponds has also produced some shallow ground water contamination."

The study incorporates DECS' plans for cleaning up water pollution in the 28,400 square mile river basin area from eastern Idaho to the King Hill area. It will be the subject of two public hearings, in Pocatello Nov. 28 and in Twin Falls Nov. 29, before the Board of Environmental and Community Services considers it for adoption for the current fiscal year.

The report also states there is "a potential environmental radiation hazard due to on-site storage of high-level liquid and solidified radioactive wastes directly above the aquifer."

The potential for more radioactive contamination according to the report is great.

The study reports no surface discharges by the NRTS.

DECS has proposed a plan for independent monitoring of the NRTS by state authorities and the Atomic Energy Commission has said it has no objection to such a plan but is forbidden by law from helping to finance it.

The report also commits DECS, the federal Environmental Protection Agency and the AEC to compiling an inventory showing location and quantity of waste discharges and of hazardous materials stored at the NRTS.

TF man's trek nears end

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls man and four companions are nearing the end of their 3,800-mile trip retracing the path of explorers Lewis and Clark from Astoria, Ore., to Kansas City, Mo.

Clay Asher, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Asher, Twin Falls, is one of five people who set out on their own June 7 on the Columbia River. They began by traveling by canoe about 470 miles to Lewiston, Idaho.

Mrs. Asher said she and her husband met them in Lewiston and picked up the canoes as the five started there on a 435-mile hike across the Rocky Mountains. This section of the trip ended in Dillon, Mont., where they returned to their canoes.

Mrs. Asher said her son, a 1973 graduate of the Twin Falls High School, met Bob Miller, Albuquerque, N. M., while on a Boy Scout trip a year ago. Miller is an expert on Lewis and Clark and with the help of other members of the party mapped the route the two early explorers followed in 1804 to 1806. Wherever possible, the team stayed on the original trail by following early records.

Morton hints New Year may bring gas rationing

(c) New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Secretary of the Interior Rogers C.B. Morton said Sunday "the odds are better than 50-50" that the federal government will institute a system of gasoline rationing "within the next two or three months."

At another point during an interview on American Broadcasting System's "Issues and Answers" program, Morton said:

"I don't think we could implement it (gasoline rationing) much before the first of the year, though pressure may get great enough that we will have to go with it even before the first of the year."

On a local television program, Charles D'Elona, deputy to John H. Love, the White House energy chief, came close to duplicating Morton's prediction. He said that if the present cut-offs of oil supplies by Arab nations continued, "the probabilities of having gas rationing before the winter is over are very high."

In his nationwide address on the energy crisis, President Nixon mentioned gasoline rationing as a possibility "if the shortage persists." On the same day Love said gasoline rationing would be a horrendous exercise for the government.

But, from what Morton said, it was plain that the administration, even before the Arab boycott, had been doing some advance planning on a rationing system. Before the boycott, supplies were expected to be at least 10 per cent short of the national requirement of 17 million barrels of oil a day. The Arab boycott, if continued, will mean a further shortfall of 6 per cent of national need.

FBI sells old files

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI is selling historical information from long-closed files — such as the Hiss and Rosenberg cases — but some of the researchers are finding the price is too steep, a spokesman said Monday.

Under a regulation issued last February by former Attorney General Richard Kleindienst and amplified last July by his successor, Elliot Richardson, the FBI is opening its criminal investigation files for the first time.

But it is reserving the right to decide what files will be opened, what information will be released and who can buy it, the spokesman said.

The files requested thus far include the cases of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, the American spies convicted and executed in 1953 for disclosing a bomb secret and Alger Hiss, the former government official accused of giving secrets to the former Communist, Whittaker Chambers.

Another file that has been requested is that of the late Ezra Pound, the poet who was accused of treason but never tried.

Skylab count set to resume

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—Launchpad workers were on a tight schedule today to strap the last of eight replacement tail fins onto the Skylab-3 launch rocket and get the delayed space station mission under way Thursday.

Skylab program manager William C. Schneider said the first four new fins were bolted to the base of the Saturn 1B booster Sunday and the other four would be in place by Monday night, clearing the way for launch at 7:37 a.m. MST Thursday.

Officials planned to start the countdown clock on Friday at 12:30 a.m. MST Tuesday.

Astronauts Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue were "well-trained and eager" to start the record-breaking orbital research trip of at least 60 days. If all has gone well for the crew after eight weeks, they could get approval to stay 85 days.

"We have a tight schedule ... but we fully expect to be able to do it," Schneider said in a briefing. "The crew is ready, eager and well-trained."

The trio of rookie astronauts making the last plan to head voyage to the three-bedroom on flying space house, were to fly their personal T38 jets from the Johnson Space Center to the Florida spaceport at midday Tuesday.

Replacement of the 30-square-foot tail fins, delaying the launch five days, was necessitated by 14 little cracks, 1-1/4 inches long by 1/4 inch deep, found in the brackets that attach the fins to the body of the rocket.

Schneider said if any problems developed in getting the last fins into place, the crew would be fired 270 miles into orbit Friday.

He said winds blustering across the ocean-side launch pad at 25-30 m.p.h. over the weekend had been "an inconvenience" but had not held up the 30-man crew working on the 28-story-tall rocket.

Space agency officials have blamed the "hairline" cracks on the stress put on the rocket during a fueling test and corrosion from the Atlantic Ocean's salty winds blowing across the launch pad. Without new fins, they said, the booster would have veered off course to abort, forcing the crew to launch the mission.

The astronauts have passed their final major physical examination, and Sunday spent a final day of watching pro football on television, relaxing and doing exercises to keep in shape for the journey in weightlessness.

OFFICES OF Watergate special prosecution team were sealed on orders of Alexander M. Haig, President Nixon's chief of staff, Acting Atty. Gen. Robert Bork said in a television interview Sunday. Bork said he and Haig discussed the move because of uncertainty about what happened. (UPI)

Oregon town marks day 'right'

By United Press International

Despite what they decided down in Washington, D.C., about Oct. 22 being Armistice Day, the folks in Albany, Ore., are going to do it right.

The Oregon legislature decided this year that the best date to remember Nov. 11, 1918, the day World War I ended, would be Nov. 11, or as close to it as they could get, so all state offices, public schools and liquor stores will be closed today. A parade in Albany will feature 150 winners of the Congressional Medal of Honor, Bob Hope and Gen. Omar Bradley, the nation's only five-star general.

Other states that honor Armistice Day on Nov. 11 are Mississippi, Wisconsin, and Louisiana, where the town of Mamou, population 1,000, has a sort of hoary-for-Fall celebration, with rides, drinks and music.

Congress decided that Veterans Day would be the fourth Monday of October, which fell on the 22nd this year, as part of a general rejiggering of holidays designed to spread them out more evenly during the year and also to make for more three-day weekends.

In Roswell, N.M., Saturday, there was a military parade sponsored by the Marine Corps, and there's a one-hour observance in Silver City, N.M., today, featuring speeches.

T.W. Marshall of Indianapolis, one of 11 surviving members of a World War I veterans "last man's club," said, "November 11th will always be our Veterans' Day." His group held a 38th annual dinner meeting at Plainfield, Ind., Sunday.

Nov. 11 is still officially Armistice Day in England, where Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip Sunday laid wreaths at the Cenotaph in London to mourn the dead of the two world wars.

Police led away two elderly women who chanted, "what about the war widows?" during the ceremony. A spokesman for the two said they were protesting the small size of the war widows' pension, which is about $25 a week.

Question...

What does your membership in the National Selected Morticians mean to me?

Answer...

It used to be said, "What you don't know won't hurt you." But, in today's economy, and especially in the realm of social benefits, what you don't know can be very costly to you! It is to your advantage if your funeral counsellor is a cadre of benefits due you from Social Security, Veterans Administration, Workmen's Compensation, Civil Service, Public Employees Retirement, Railroad Retirement, and perhaps others.

Our membership in the National Selected Morticians is your assurance that we are qualified to safeguard your entitlement to certain death benefit allowances. Changes are being made continuously in these benefits, and through the National Selected Morticians we are able to maintain a constant awareness of their importance to those we serve.

Impeachment would settle charges at last

WASHINGTON — In urging that the House get on with the impeachment of Richard Nixon, I have in mind chiefly what seems to be the good of the country.

The nation deserves a formal resolution, which resignation could not provide, of the poisonous stream of charges brought against the President over the past 20 months.

If two-thirds of the Senate failed to vote for his conviction and removal, he would have survived the crisis and regained a position on leadership not likely to be challenged again.

There is yet a third consideration: The good of the Republican party. It is a consideration, to be sure, not likely to lend itself to the support of professional Democrats, but it is a concern that Republicans of every philosophical persuasion should take to heart.

A recent Harris poll turned up a shocking statistic: If Congressional elections were held right now, and the choice were simply between Democrats and Republicans, the Republicans would lag 27 points behind. That is the Watergate measure.

One may respond to the Harris poll, of course, by observing that such hypothetical questions bear little relationship to real world politics.

All the same, in a close race between evenly matched candidates, the Watergate measure plainly could prove decisive.

causes them to vote Democratic, the GOP loss in the House and Senate next year could spell disaster for the party.

Some of the prospective damage could be minimized, it seems to me, if House Republicans themselves would now join in a movement to get this misery settled, once and for all, by the formal procedures laid down by the Constitution.

The impeachment process, once set in motion, would bring order out of disorder. It would restore this wild and formless struggle to a context of ground rules acceptable to the people.

The decisions of an umpire, a referee, or a judge may not be popular, but their authority and finally are respected.

This would be true, I submit, of the President's trial by the Senate. Nixon would be defended by counsel; he would have the right to cross-examine witnesses who have yet to be cross-examined by anyone; he would be protected by all the familiar safeguards of due process.

For Republicans, as a party, to resist such a disposition is to enhance the image of a party unwilling to have the charges of Presidential corruption proved or disproved.

If party leaders are concerned about that image, they had better stop mulling about resignation, which resolves nothing, and get behind impeachment instead.

Impotent

Lewiston Morning Tribune

The Watergate Waterloo of President Nixon has reached the astonishing point where few would be astonished if he resigns.

Perhaps unjustly, his administration may have reached the juncture where it no longer matters whether he is innocent. Unless there is some sudden resurgence of confidence in Mr. Nixon, he has declined to the point in public trust where his presidency has become impotent and therefore potentially damaging.

The nation is so obsessed with a falling president that the President is falling because of the obsession. The nation needs leadership but will no longer trust his president enough to follow him.

The issue has grown larger than the actual integrity of the man in the White House. The question now is whether he can survive, even though he may still be unknown to the millions who doubt him — a man of integrity. He has become by definition a dangerously weak president, whether he deserves to be or not.

Functionally, Mr. Nixon has become as much a presidential vegetable as Woodrow Wilson in the closing months of that presidency. Wilson was physically incapable of directing the nation. Mr. Nixon is still physically capable, but is pointless to give marching orders to a nation of people with their backs turned.

And as if the situation were not dreadful enough, the nation is afflicted with a nearly comatose Congress which plods along on the confirmation of Vice President-designate Gerald Ford like it was dealing with the nomination of an undersecretary of Interior.

Even if Mr. Nixon were now inclined to throw up his hands and give the nation another chance with a fresh face, the replacement isn't ready — because of Congress, not because of Mr. Nixon.

Armed judges

Portland Oregonian

The U. S. Supreme Court has armed federal judges with a dangerous power: That of forbidding or at least delaying public knowledge of public trials or hearings.

Two years ago, a federal District Court Judge in Louisiana summarily fined two Baton Rouge, La., reporters $300 for reporting the proceedings of a public court hearing despite the judge's order against such reporting.

Tuesday, the U. S. Supreme Court refused to hear the reporters' appeal, thus leaving intact the ruling of the Circuit Court of Appeals.

In short, it appears that the high court sanctions use of the power of contempt charges even though they be patently unconstitutional or outrageous. Appeal in such cases, which would be necessary under these rulings, would cause delay, thus reducing the value to the public of reports on what transpires in supposedly "open" federal courts.

That principle should not be allowed to stand. It may be necessary for Congress to act in this matter.

TV wifery

Blade-Tribune, Oceanside, Calif.

When did this business start of having the wife of the principal actor in a political scene present on the podium, or in the courtroom, or wherever, while her husband plays out his bit of drama for the cameras? Was Mrs. Burr there when Aaron was tried for treason?

We admit that in the light of the mind-boggling (an intolerable descriptive) events of the last few months that our thoughts should be on weightier subjects. But, in spite of having weathered a period when anything you wrote before ten o'clock was torn up at noon, we cannot escape curiosity about this particular sociological phenomenon.

Our first recollection of the faithful wife at televised affairs is, perhaps, Pat Nixon looking strained, and then thoughtful and then happy, as her husband concluded a well-done State of The Union message.

Did Mamie Eisenhower attend events like that and lend the General moral backing and show the world that here was a family whose solidarity transcended any vicissitude which the world might bring its way? We don't remember.

Certainly Bess Truman never was in evidence when Harry was firing General MacArthur, or giving "them Hell" in the triumphant victory of '48. Bess was probably busy baking an apple pie for the Friday night social at the Methodist church and not paying too much attention to Harry's goings on.

When FDR was giving his famous "Fireless chats" was Eleanor there beaming? Probably not. She could have been in a coal mine or leading a parade on her own. But, there wasn't any television then, was there?

At former Attorney General Richardson's post-resignation press conference, Mrs. Richardson preceded him to the platform — which, of course, was the gentlemanly thing for him to do. She was very nicely dressed, as your wife could tell you. But, why was she there? Mr. Richardson wasn't accused of anything and she didn't have to demonstrate that here was a couple whom no man should rend asunder. Perhaps she had a cancelled hair appointment and wanted to see what was going on.

A Little Light Would Help!

Nixon moves to restore support base

WASHINGTON — Some White House spokesmen, hinting vaguely of reassuring Presidential actions, insist that in the "weeks of months ahead," President Nixon will clear up the widespread doubts about his personal integrity and restore public trust in his presidency.

Nixon obviously feels he can ride out the storm of demands for his resignation or impeachment — and will schedule appearances before selected audiences — to dispel an impression that he is "hiding" or is not fully on top of his job.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler, in words displaying more confidence than his solemn demeanor conveys, says the President has not made "any specific decision" on how to proceed to clear up questions about Watergate and kindred allegations.

Efforts to elicit from Ziegler whether the President will accept a bid from the Senate Watergate Committee to meet with its member and submit to questioning, prompted the comment that "I can only be as precise as the facts will allow me to be." The facts apparently didn't allow him to be very precise.

He said it would be an "incorrect interpretation and conclusion" to say that an offer has been made by the committee and turned down, but he did not clarify why the committee counsels, Samuel Dash and Fred Thompson, had conferred with White House lawyers. The presumed reason for the meeting was to try to work out an encounter between the President and the committee.

US allies haven't helped

It is said, here and there openly but for the most part in whispers, that the disadvantages of our Mideast position are gravely damaging to us, and that as the results of the oil embargo begin to hit us, the public will rise in wrath against the foreign policy that brought it all on.

And what — they say — of our allies? How can we justify what we are doing to them? What will be the cost to use of the loss of their friendship?

In that reasoning, it would appear to me, is implicit much of the weakness of the American position over the past years. It is a weakness that shows up in the defensive character not only of our deeds, but of our attitudes.

Begin, for instance, with the matter of our allies in western Europe. Why do we think of them as our allies, when it is more accurate to think of ourselves as their allies? A learned strategist recently asked, "What has Israel ever done for us?"

Posed just that way, it is hard to come up with the name of a single nation in western Europe that has "done anything for us" in this century. Consider England — long may she wave, and while I am at it I wish Princess Anne great happiness — what has she done for the United States? The question is historically naive.

The most obvious favor done in this century by one great country for another is the intercession by the United States in the Second World War, without which intercession Hitler would probably be giving away the bride at Westminster Abbey.

Yet that intercession is also explainable in terms of self-interest: the prospect of a Hitler-dominated Europe was frightening to us.

But in the current situation, our allies surely need the United States more than the United States needs them? They need our investments, our products, our tourists, our navy, and above all our nuclear umbrella.

West Europe is far gone in the enchantment of what its leaders are pleased to call practical diplomacy. "Even if Russia were presided over by Stalin, I would seek Ostpolitik," Willy Brandt is quoted as saying, exaltedly.

Detente is pleasing to the Europeans, whose concerns these days are primarily economic; and it is not plain how they would inconvenience themselves merely in order to accommodate the United States.

The Arab powers, however, are punishing western Europe for America's role in the Mideast as principal supplier to Israel, the perennial target of a military machine deployed by the Soviet Union in Arabia.

Everyone seeks nowadays to impose pressure through intermediaries. The question arises why the intermediaries do not assert themselves. It mystifies me that western Europe should think of itself as defenseless against the "watts" use of blackmail.

To deprive a country of that which it absolutely needs in order to survive is quite simply an act of war. It is both a moral question and a legal question whether the Arab embargo has reached the point of asphyxiation that warrants belligerent reprisals.

But the talk is that it is headed towards that, and the question arises: why should west Europe tolerate it?

DR. THOSTESON Too fat

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 65 pounds or more overweight, which may not sound hard to lose, but it's not easy if you're Hungarian and love Italian food also.

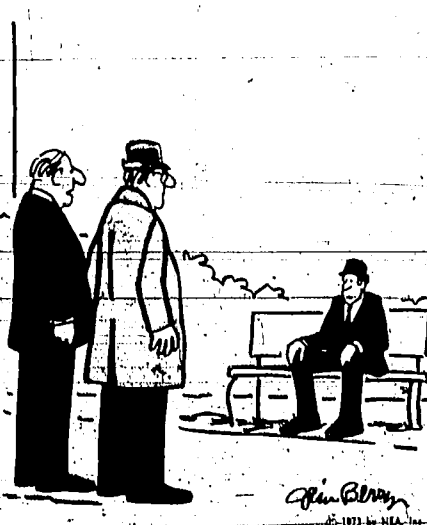

I am 22, and my husband and I want children, but the doctor says I am too fat and the extra fat is probably the reason I don't ovulate every month.

This may sound funny but I believe it will eventually ruin my marriage. Doctor, please help me. I don't want to lose my husband. — Mrs. R. H.

It doesn't sound funny to me. You have a problem — but it's a problem you can solve, once you get your thinking on the right track.

People have lost more than 65 pounds, and you can, too — once you convince yourself that you can and that, since you can, you will.

Abortion foes press cause

By ELIZABETH BOWMAN

Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — Outraged by the January Supreme Court decision upholding a woman's right to an early abortion, opponents of abortion are trying to convince Congress to overturn the ruling by constitutional amendment.

But most members of Congress, anxious to remain neutral on the explosive issue, would prefer that the proposed amendments stay right where they are — buried in committee.

Rep. Don Edwards (D-Calif.), chairman of the House Judiciary subcommittee dealing with constitutional amendments, has made it clear he plans to sit on the proposals.

Rep. Lawrence J. Hogan (R-Md.), sponsor of the principal amendment in the House, is trying to bypass Edwards with a "rarely successful parliamentary maneuver."

This thing sees the light of day." Given Edwards' stand, anti-abortionists expect their proposals to get a better reception in the Senate. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.), chairman of the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Constitutional Amendments, has indicated that he would hold hearings, without committing himself to any definite timetable.

"I think there's a good chance of Senate action first," commented an aide to Sen. James L. Buckley (Cons-R-N.Y.), leading sponsor of a Senate proposal similar to Hogan's.

Despite slow going on the constitutional measures, anti-abortionists have forced both the House and Senate to vote on related issues this year.

Congress has banned federal funding by the National Science Foundation of research on live human fetuses outside the womb. On what abortion opponents consider test votes, the House has approved three amendments of this sort.

The Senate has been more cautious, maneuvering to reduce the scope of such amendments or to avoid roll-call votes. "The general reaction up here is they want the issue to go away," said one Senate aide.

Harpsichord show charms TF audience

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — If you think the harpsichord is an old-fashioned instrument only popular back when George Washington was dancing his minuets, you're wrong.

According to Ilse Foeratel-Bliss, whose masterful playing of her own harpsichord charmed a Sunday afternoon Community Concert audience at the CSI Fine Arts Auditorium, "There are harpsichords everywhere."

However, she admitted, "everywhere" means more in Europe, New York and in places like USC, Drake University in Des Moines, and UCLA, which all have harpsichord departments. This revival of interest in the instrument, sometimes termed the forerunner of the piano, has been underway the last 20 years, the artist said.

It's only in what she politely termed "smaller states" where people think of the harpsichord, also called a harp lying down, as not part of the real world.

After the concert Sunday several dozen persons from the audience crowded around the instrument, which resembles a grand piano, and received a brief, but informative informal lecture from Ms. Bliss. She said it takes an hour to tune the strings and while it isn't hard, it's "nerve-racking" before a concert, recalling once she had it all tuned, went home to dress only to discover it had got out of tune while she was gone.

She is understandably concerned about her instrument which is insured for $10,000 and asked some boys on the stage not to lean on it. She transported it across the country in the back of her station wagon into which it fits perfectly after the legs are removed.

Her last concert, in Des Moines, Iowa, also elicited the same interest; after the performance. Response to the two-keyboard-instrument is "marvelous," she said.

While the harpsichord looks like a piano it has an entirely different mechanism with the strings plucked, while on a piano they are hammered. In olden times leather and quills were used, but now plastic is employed.

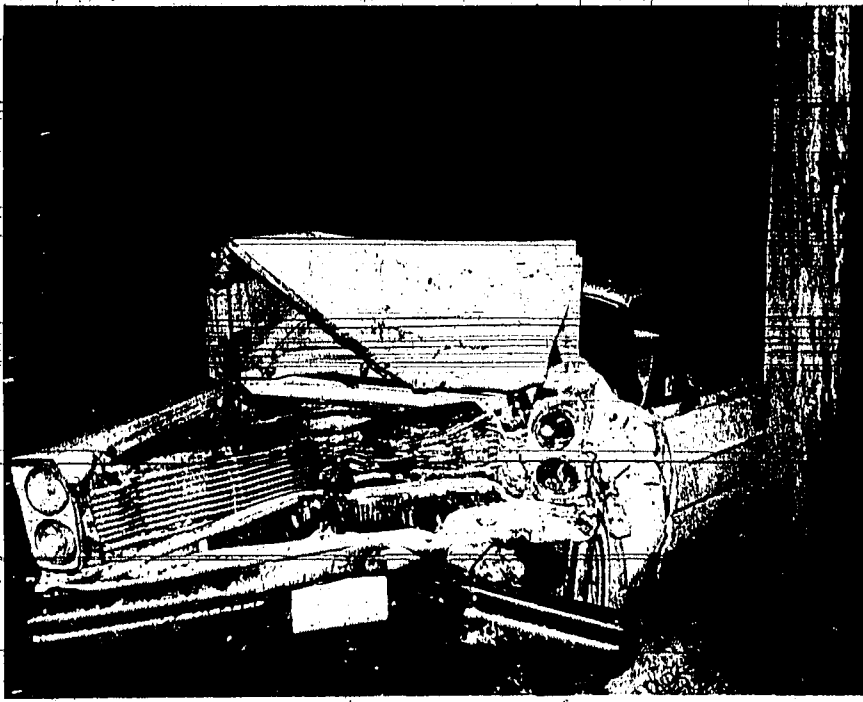

Though she was born in Leipzig, Germany, where her family had many musical connections, Ms. Bliss is somewhat of an adopted Idaho Valley resident, since her late mother, Charlotte Duggan, was a well-known artist in the Wendell area before her death last June.

Ms. Bliss has visited in Wendell many times and came to care for her mother in her illness. She is now the houseguest of her stepfather, Bill Duggan, Wendell, until her next concert, at Claremont College, Pomona, Calif., next week.

She received her musical education in piano, with a B. S. degree from the Manhattan School of Music in New York and her master's from Columbia University, then raised her family and taught school. Her son is now studying in Europe and her husband also teaches music.

She always wanted to play harpsichord, but the price of an instrument kept her from it, until she earned the money teaching in the public schools. It was just 10 years ago she was able to finance the purchase and "then the work began," as the charming, feminine appearing artist puts it.

She has since concertized extensively in Europe, and is now on tour in the U. S. As so often happens, once an artist concertizes in Europe, she is then accepted on the concert circuit in America.

'Gate meetings planned

(c) N. Y. Times Service
 WASHINGTON — President Nixon plans to meet this week with all 234 Republicans in Congress and answer all their questions on Watergate and related matters.

A spokesman for the President confirmed a series of six meetings on Watergate was planned in the White House after Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., disclosed the President's plans and said, "I think this will be the beginning of full and total disclosure" on the part of Nixon.

The spokesman said there was no plan at present for similar meetings with Democrats, even though Percy said he understood Nixon would meet with "every member of Congress, Democrat and Republican."

The meetings are part of a White House promise to make more information on Watergate available to the public, Congress and courts in an effort to stem a rising tide of demands for the President's resignation and a steady decline of the President's standing in public opinion.

White House officials have confirmed that they did not anticipate the extent of adverse public reaction that followed the firing of Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox and the disclosure that two of the Watergate tape recordings sought by the courts never existed.

The latest poll, disclosed today, showed that less than half the people, 49 per cent, wanted Mr. Nixon to continue in office. The poll, based on telephone interviews with 778 adults last week, was conducted by Daniel Yankolovich Inc., for Time Magazine. A similar poll in August showed that 60 per cent wanted to see Nixon continue as President.

Republican leaders in Congress, meeting with the President Friday, were told he would try to make information from the Watergate tapes available to the public after they have gone to the grand jury. There was little indication so far, however, to show that documentation or detail would be made public from White House papers and tapes.

Percy, appearing on the National Broadcasting Company's "Meet the Press," said that to restore public confidence Nixon would have to make "total and complete disclosure . . . everything relating to the possibility of criminal activity."

"I think the President is preparing to do this now," he said. "I think he is moving in this direction. The fact that we have now been invited, every member of Congress, every senator, every Congressman, Democrat and Republican, to meet with the President next week in six unusual sessions where at least nine hours will be spent by the President being interrupted by the congress, explaining his position, I think this will be the beginning of full and total disclosure."

The White House, however, seemed to be caught by surprise by the Senator's disclosure. A spokesman said planning for the meetings had not been completed but it was the President's intention to meet with representatives at three breakfast sessions and with senators at smaller gatherings, probably in the White House library or other rooms less formal than Nixon's oval office.

Life theory aided

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — New support for a theory that life may exist on the giant planet Jupiter was announced Sunday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

NASA is interested in the new discovery because its Pioneer 10 spacecraft will make man's first close encounter with Jupiter — which is 11 times the diameter of Earth — on Dec. 3.

Pioneer will be 81,000 miles from Jupiter and is not intended to determine the existence of Jovian life, but its mission includes gathering much information relating to the question.

The new support for the theory of the existence of life on Jupiter consisted of the discovery of rod-shaped bacteria in an isolated alkaline spring in Northern California by two NASA biologists, Paul Deal and Kenneth A. Souza of the Ames Research Center. They immersed the bacteria in a sodium hydroxide solution 10 times more alkaline than the level thought possible for living organisms. Sodium Hydroxide is the main constituent of lye, but the bacteria continued swimming, growing and reproducing.

SBA probe could cut loans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House investigation of alleged criminal conflict of interest in the Small Business Administration (SBA) could cause curtailment of new agency loans and "serious economic injury" to its clients, say officials.

The House Small Business subcommittee said Sunday that "serious problems" possibly leading to criminal prosecution, have been discovered in some SBA district offices.

As a result, the panel announced it would ask the full House Banking Committee to hold up legislation that would increase the SBA's loan authority, thus jeopardizing new loans.

Bid lack costly

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon paid as much as five times more for weapons and electronic equipment by failing to ask for bids, according to Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

He released a study Sunday detailing 20 cases in which the Defense Department on average spent twice as much buying materiel from single suppliers than it would have laid out under competitive bidding.

The study, said Proxmire, "raises the most serious questions about the willingness of the Pentagon and the defense industry to cut costs."

US gas rationing seen by early '74

 Morton said "for a couple of months" the administration had been working on a coupon system similar to that used during World War II.

"We are not ready to publish the guidelines," Morton said, "and we are not ready to publish the regulations, but this will have to be a rationing system that deals with priorities, and we will have to make sure that certain bases are covered and we will have to make sure that the shortage is equitably distributed, across the board. But to go into the actual numbers of gallons a person is going to get or what a coupon is going to represent, it is a little too early for us to tell, but we are getting close there."

Morton appeared to throw cold water on a so-called two-track system, under which a person would be given a ration and pay heavy tax — perhaps as much as 40 per cent — on gasoline above his ration.

"I think study is going to probably show that the tax, the excise tax on gasoline is not the best way to go," Morton said. He added that "a lot depends on how the cost of living council will react to pressures to increase the price of gasoline."

Morton thought that rationing, once imposed, would continue "a year or two years." Russell E. Train, Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency who appeared on the program with Morton, was less optimistic, saying that he believed the nation faced "five to ten years of chronic shortages."

Morton was positive in opposing a rationing system for heating oil. The administrative difficulties, he said, were too great, and he thought the shortage of heating oil should be handled through the allocation system already set up.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for Sen. Henry M. Jackson, chairman of the interior committee, said that the committee should complete action today on a comprehensive energy bill that would give the President wide powers to cut and direct energy uses.

Killings show number 18

STOCKTON, Calif. (UPI) — Two bodies tossed carelessly among tall water reeds in the remote Sierras brought to 18 today the number of killings linked to masspore suspects Douglas E. Gretzler and Willie Steelman.

Arizona and California detectives investigating a two-state murder spree found the bodies Sunday in the tules near Knights Ferry, at a location pinpointed by the jailed suspects.

Gretzler, 22, and Steelman, 22, were definitely linked with the cold-blooded "execution" murders that began in Arizona in mid-October and climaxed last Wednesday with the slaying of nine persons in the tiny Northern California town of Victor.

The slashed bodies found Sunday were believed to be those of Mike Adshade and Ken Unrein, both 21, who were kidnapped in Phoenix, Ariz. Oct. 16.

Gretzler, a baby-faced New Yorker, and Steelman, a drifter with a long delinquency record from Los Angeles, were captured in Sacramento last Thursday.

Their capture came two days after the pair allegedly lined up grower Walter Parkin, his wife and two children and five other persons and shot them at Parkin's ranchstyle home near Victor. Police said the killings were to eliminate witnesses to a $3,000 robbery of Parkin's store.

Arraignment of the suspects was postponed until next Friday. They are being held under heavy security at the San Joaquin County Jail in Stockton.

DAVID AKEMAN found dead

Grand Ole Opry star, wife shot

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The lanky "Stringbean" of the Grand Ole Opry and "Hee Haw," David Akeman, and his wife were shot to death early Sunday when they returned from a performance and apparently surprised burglars at their isolated farm home.

The bodies of Akeman, 58, and his wife, Estelle, 60, were found by another Opry star, Louis "Grandpa" Jones, who arrived just after dawn to pick them up for a fishing trip.

Akeman was sprawled on the living room floor, his wife lay in weeds about 20 yards from the red frame house that sits on a 300-acre lot at the end of a country road.

They had been shot to death by burglars, police said.

"From all indications, he came home and surprised them in the act and was shot," said Detective Lt. Tom Cathey. Akeman had been shot once. Mrs. Akeman, who apparently was in the car when her husband entered the home and fled when she heard the shot, was felled by three shots.

"We believe he had several thousand dollars on him," the detective said. "The house had been ransacked and they apparently were looking for money which Mr. Akeman, 'Stringbean,' was thought to have been carrying."

Cathey would not say what the thief or thieves made off with, but what they did not get was a priceless banjo willed to Akeman by the legendary Uncle Dave Macon. The five-string instrument was found sitting on the porch of the farm house.

Cathey said detectives were questioning four persons Sunday, but he declined to call their suspects.

He said seven bank books were found in the Akemans' three-room home. Sources said the books showed the simplifying Stringbean had salted away more than a half a million dollars.

Akeman put in what was to be his last performance at the Grand Ole Opry, which he joined in 1942. Saturday night his wife drove him home because he did not drive.

Nixon's ratings decrease by 11%

NEW YORK (UPI) — Time magazine Sunday said a survey taken last week showed that only 49 per cent of those polled answered that they want President Nixon to continue in office, a drop of 11 from the 60 per cent support reported in August.

Time said the survey also showed that 60 per cent of those asked believe "the President knew about or participated in the cover-up of Watergate."

The poll showed that 29 per cent said they think the President should resign, 10 per cent think he should be impeached and 12 per cent are not sure, the magazine said.

Last August, only 20 per cent said Nixon should resign. The impeachment figure held steady at 10 per cent, largely, Time said, because "three out of five Americans fear that impeachment would tear the country apart."

In Amherst, Mass., the Amherst College newspaper said 84 college and university newspapers with a combined circulation of nearly 700,000 have signed a joint editorial calling for impeachment.

In Raleigh, N.C., the News and Observer said in an editorial Nixon should be impeached, whether he is innocent or guilty.

"If he is indeed innocent of wrongdoing, Nixon needs the cleansing power of impeachment and the Senate trial that would follow to recapture the moral authority to govern."

Grieved mother

MRS. GAIL Getty, mother of J. Paul Getty III, the 17-year-old grandson of oil billionaire Paul Getty Jr., is reported today to be almost sure a human ear mailed to a Roman newspaper and a lock of blonde hair was her son's. Getty disappeared from a Rome piazza last July 9.

Prison term starts

LOMPOC, Calif. (UPI) — Donald H. Segretti, the Nixon campaign's political trickster, enters a federal prison today to begin a six-month term for writing a phony letter aimed at sowing discord among Democratic presidential candidates with false sexual accusations.

It marks the first imprisonment of a Nixon campaigner since the sentencing of the seven Watergate break-in conspirators.

Segretti, 32, was under orders to report to the Federal Correctional Institution in Lompoc by noon (1 p.m. MST).

McGovern tells Nixon ouster

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern, buried one year ago by the landslide re-election of President Nixon, has predicted that Nixon will be forced out of office by impeachment or resignation after the confirmation of vice president-designate Gerald R. Ford.

"I'd be very surprised to see Mr. Nixon in the presidency at this time next year," McGovern said in a UPI "Washington Window" interview Sunday.

McGovern brushed aside concern that Ford might not measure up to the presidency. "Those same charges were leveled against Mr. Truman," he said.

He labeled Ford as probably the "logical" choice because of his wealth of experience with Congress and the similarity of his political views with Nixon.

Once Ford is installed as vice president, McGovern said, he favors impeachment as "the best way to deal with the problem—either to clear the President or to find him guilty and remove him from office."

"That gives the President his day in court," the South Dakota senator said. "But I would predict that either we're going to get an impeachment or a resignation."

Royal wedding rehearsal set

LONDON (UPI) — Workmen putting up decorations today, two days before the royal wedding of Princess Anne and Capt. Mark Phillips at Westminster Abbey.

Guests were scheduled to begin arriving today and a full-scale technical rehearsal of the wedding, complete with understudies, was set for the afternoon.

In the middle of it all, Britain's poet-laureate, who gave the country an ode for the wedding on Sunday, promptly announced he didn't like it.

The decorations for Wednesday's royal wedding procession were to be put up along the route and Parliament Square was to be lined with Union Jacks bearing monograms "A" and "M."

Late Sunday, the Royal Mews put out its final order of the day—giving its final team selection of horses, footmen, harness and uniform in minute detail.

Messengers brought gifts, telegrams and best wishes to the gates of Buckingham Palace from governmental bodies, friends, acquaintances and strangers.

Poet Laureate Sir John Betjeman, commenting on the lines he wrote while riding on a train from Manchester to London, said "I still don't think they're very good."

But a colleague, Sir John Fuller, who has just finished a five-year term as Oxford's Professor of Poetry, defended the ode.

"Don't be too hard on the old boy," Fuller said. "Public poems must not be looked at too harshly."

the general weather pattern is taking place. Following the mild temperatures of the past several days, cooler air was spreading over southern Idaho this morning. Additional cooling is expected Tuesday and Wednesday.

Synopsis: A major change in a strong frontal system extending from northwest Montana to near Boise and on to California this morning was bringing the change to cooler temperatures. Occasional showers and possibly a few thundershowers will accompany the cool front as it moves across the state today.

Lean years could follow 1973 record farm income

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A high-ranking Agriculture Department official warns that the current fat years of record income for American farmers could be followed by some lean years.

The comment from Don Paarlberg, the department's director of economics, comes on the heels of a department forecast that 1973 net farm income will jump to another new record of $25 billion.

This is $1 billion above earlier government estimates for 1973, and is $5 billion above 1972 net farm income. The new 1973 estimate is a whopping 66 per cent above the net farm income level of $15.2 billion reported in 1971.

Although some farmers, including dairymen, have not shared fully in the current burst of prosperity, the estimates indicate that 1972 and 1973 have been the two most profitable years in history for American farmers as a group.

Next year, according to current Agriculture department estimates, will also rank as a boom season. Department forecasters last week said 1974 net farm income may dip slightly from this year's record, but probably will exceed the $20 billion 1972 figure. That would make 1974 the second-best year in history.

Looking further down the road, however, Paarlberg is warning in a series of speeches that inflationary cost increases and softening farm prices could take some of the bloom off the farm economy.

Like many other economists, Paarlberg says that rising world grain production over the next several years will bring prices down to the relatively low levels of early 1972, but will drop them below the high rates of the current season.

At the same time, the official points out, farm production costs have risen steadily through the past two years.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have two daughters who are pregnant and not married. One is 15, and the other is 18. The 15 year old is just entering 10th grade, and I don't want her to marry so young. I think she should finish high school first. The boy is 18, and plans on going to college. I spoke with his mother, and she said after the baby comes, if it looks like her son, MAYBE he will marry my daughter.

The 18 year old is expecting first. Her boy friend said he didn't have any plans for marriage right now because he has five more car payments to make, but when he is free and clear he will pay something toward the baby's support. Meanwhile, he hardly ever comes around anymore, but he's been seen out with other girls. My daughter is so dumb, she thinks he will marry her when he's out of debt.

Double trouble

Now that you have the facts, here is my question: Do you think I should give my daughters baby showers? UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: It isn't proper for a close member of the family to give showers. They are usually given by friends.

DEAR ABBY: My mother was a young widow with three children when she remarried. Abby, not all men can accept stepchildren as their own. My stepfather has been good to me (the only girl) but he's been awfully hard on the boys. One ran away years ago, but the other is sticking it out until he finishes school. Mom and I have always tried to give the boys lots of love to make up for the lack of fatherly love.

However, Mom is now destroying the child she's trying to protect. He can't get up in the morning himself, so she wakes him four or five times and has breakfast waiting for him. She drives him to and from work, otherwise he'd be late. He's refinanced when he overspends, and Mom runs up his errands—the latest being payment of a traffic ticket. He didn't even say "thank you."

I am seven years older than this brother, self-supporting, and live in the same town. I would like to see the kid allowed to mature. I know he would, if Mom would only let him. Watching her wait on him constantly infuriates my stepfather. If I say anything to Mom, she says I'm jealous. I don't think I am. I am only concerned because the boy will be 20 next month and he's incredibly immature and irresponsible. I'd do anything to get my mother-off-his-pick. Should I talk to a friend she respects? We have no clergyman.

BIG SISTER

DEAR SIS: Yes! If the friend makes as much sense as you do.

CONFIDENTIAL (AND MANY THANKS) to all who wrote to inform me that the poem I was trying to track down is: "Which the Chicken, Which the Egg." And it goes like this:

"He drinks because she scolds, he thinks. She thinks she scolds because he drinks. And neither will admit what's true. That he's a sot and she's a shrew."

(Ogden Nash)

And the first person to get the facts to me was Carol Jitter, the gracious, wide-awake librarian of the Woonsocket R. S. D., Public Library. (Woonsocket's population is 835!)

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

Mini-Reviews

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Public Library officials have released mini-reviews for some of the new books recently received at the library.

"The Mission" by Hans Habe. A tragic, haunting story of a long suppressed chapter in the history of a people. It is a fictionalized account of the crucial Evian Conference.

"Limmerston Hall" by Hester W. Chapman. How far would Neville Quarendon go to pass on the decaying Limmerston Hall? Here is an uncommonly gripping historical suspense novel.

"Forever Island" by Patrick D. Smith. By what right did the developers lay claim to the swamp? This is the question of Charlie Jumper, an 80 year old Indian.

"The New Inflation: Causes, Effects and Cures" by G. L. Bach. A leading economist's non-technical discussion of the economics, politics and ethnics of a major social phenomenon.

"Oregon Trail" by Ingvald Henry Elde. A linking of works from the past with the talented photography of Ingvald Henry Elde makes "Oregon Trail" a significant contribution to the history of the opening of the west.

"Potential" by Hugh Downs. Here in Hugh Downs' well-known and pleasant style, is a book that speaks about the meaning of value and morality, and the ways we can achieve it.

"Collecting Autographs and Manuscripts" by Charles Hamilton. An intensely readable and entertaining book on almost every conceivable kind of autograph material.

"The Voice at the Back Door" by Elizabeth Spencer. It is the sudden and unexpected death of Sheriff Travis Brevard that brings the townspeople of Lacey, Miss., face to face with crisis.

"Voyage" by Peter Najjarin. A moving book about a young Armenian-American and his difficulties in coming to terms with a second homeland that isn't always welcoming.

"The Lean Land" by Agustin Yanez. The theme of this highly powerful novel is the impact of modern technology and science on a few isolated, tradition-bound communities in the aftermath of the Mexican Revolution of 1910.

Memorial set for hospital

TWIN FALLS — Students and faculty members of the College of Southern Idaho involved with the nursing program have established a memorial at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital's infant intensive care unit.

The $44 contribution given in memory of Lisa Erin Roberts, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Roberts, will help pay for equipment to save the lives of other infants. Equipment in the intensive care nursery is used to increase the survival rate in babies born with respiratory or other difficulties.

Mrs. Judith Roberts, mother of Lisa Erin, is chairman of the associate degree nursing department at CSI. Her baby died of respiratory complications earlier this year.

Eating habits changing in US

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The traditional eating habits of Americans are rapidly disappearing in this age of fast foods and convenience meals and as a result a nutritionist says we're not getting all the vitamins and minerals we should.

"The three times a day meal eating pattern of yesteryear (pre World War II) is vanishing," said Dr. Paul A. Lachance, of the Rutgers University, Department of Food Science.

The ideal pattern is envisioned as breakfast, lunch and dinner with coffee breaks or after school snacks and a snack before bedtime, he said. The real situation is that many eat little or no breakfast, Mom may skip lunch because she is on a diet; Dad may eat a heavy business lunch, the children may eat heavily after school and the main evening meal may be small. Then there may be heavy snacking of all kinds of food while the family watches television at night.

"The sacred meal is dinner and theoretically it is eaten seven days a week," said Lachance. "In reality, it can be as seldom as three days a week or less."

As a result, he said dietary surveys have revealed that a significant percentage of Americans, both poor and well-to-do, do not consume all the vitamins and minerals they need. In particular, he said tests reveal marginal insufficiencies of vitamins A and C and the minerals iron and calcium.

"The housewife is at a total loss in how to meet nutritional needs in the reality of today's individualized eating patterns with foods that fit these patterns," Lachance said at a dinner sponsored by the Vitamin Information Bureau.

He said the responsibility for providing the necessary nutrition is shifting to the food manufacturer and the food service establishments. They should put the nutrition into some of the convenience foods, Lachance said, by adding vitamins and minerals in small amounts to foods that would be expected to have that kind of nutrition.

"If the housewife thinks she gets vitamin C out of jam, she should get it," he said in an interview.

Lachance said the knowledge and technology is now available to provide the "most nutritious components for three square and fast food meals ever." But he said many food companies are not doing this.

"Currently, the food industry is catering to the American way of life but not aggressively catering to the betterment of the consumer."

The Federal Food and Drug Administration recently directed the nation's bakeries to double the iron content in white bread. The order was issued at the request of the American Bakers Association and Lachance said it was a step in the right direction.

Authorities said the men, in their 20s, took the couple, drove off the reservation into Bingham County, robbed the man of $4 and dropped him off. Crew nears trek's end

In some cases, Mrs. Asher said, they traveled along highways because these have been built in the footsteps of the two explorers. "In only one area, she said, where the trail appeared to go 'straight up and straight down,' did the five young men switch to a nearby highway for travel.

Most of the time they slept in the open, crossed wilderness areas and forest trails and have had a "close look at the real America."

Mrs. Asher said at first she was somewhat concerned about the group's plan but it has worked out well and arrangements were made for Clay to call home about once a week except during the 435-mile hike which began in Lewiston July 6 and ended in Dillon, Aug. 18.

During that time, she said, they heard little from the crew. They have also been able to send mail to various points along the route and to get mail from the expedition.

Each of the travelers contributed some of their own money to make the trip and they are not sponsored by any organization, college or governmental group.

"The idea was their own and I think they are getting a lot out of it," Mrs. Asher said.

The expedition is scheduled to end Nov. 19 in Kansas City with celebration by the five travelers.

Mrs. Asher and Mrs. Asher plan to bring Clay home following a reunion in Kansas City Nov. 19.

Meeting slated

Tonight's agenda calls for a report from board members on the school board association convention.

Some discussion of the administrative rules for using the junior high school auditorium will be conducted. The moving of the 100 bed civil defense hospital to provide needed storage, will also be discussed.

Reports on resource room status will be given by elementary school principals.

DECS to back legislation

Special to the Times-News
BOISE — The Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS) will back minimum stream flow legislation during the 1974 legislature, according to a state publication released today.

The proposed Water Quality Management Plan, contains the department's intentions to control water pollution within the 28,400 square-mile Upper Snake River Basin during the current fiscal year.

It says DECS will involve itself in the preparation of a recommendation to the state legislature that "water quality, fish, wildlife and water-based recreation be legally recognized as beneficial uses and that minimum instream flows be protected to serve these uses."

The report goes on, "If the flow is not available because of senior water rights, it will be recommended that water rights be purchased or acquired as necessary to serve these purposes."

The draft study will be the subject of public hearings Nov. 28 in Pocatello and Nov. 29 in Twin Falls before the Board of Environmental and Community Services considers it for adoption.

Several other legislative proposals are endorsed by DECS in the report, all as part of the strategy for pollution control. They include:

— A state sediment control act to establish statewide guidelines for the "control of erosion and sediment from land-disturbing activities, including construction sites and urban development."

— Revision and resubmission to the legislature of a State Forest Practices Act, similar to the one which failed the 1973 legislature.

The DECS report calls for help with the legislative committee assigned the task of drafting the sediment control act, noting the main sources of sediment in streams are overgrazing, dryland farming, irrigation return flows, logging, construction sites and urban development.

DECS also wants to see legislation requiring persons responsible for spills of oil and other hazardous materials made responsible for removal of the material.

As part of this program, according to the report, DECS will prepare notification requirements so responsible state and local authorities can be notified of spills. "Stringent enforcement statutes will also be developed and included as part of this program."

The report also notes there has been one confirmed "pipeline oriented oil spill in the basin and a 'transportation oriented spill' in February, 1973, near Ashton.

Both appointments were under merit selection procedures authorized by the Postal Service in legislation enacted by Congress and signed by President Nixon.

Request OK'd

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County commissioners Friday unanimously approved a zoning variance requested by a Buhl school bus firm.

The commissioners granted a change in zoning from agricultural to commercial for LeRoy Fleener, operator of D and L Bus Co., to erect a bus barn to house his school buses.

The variance request had been opposed by property owners adjacent to Fleener's tract northwest of Buhl. The opponents said Fleener's school bus operation, which serves the Buhl School District, would be a "nuisance" to the raising of livestock.

Fleener had said earlier he would stop his business operation if the variance was not granted.

Burley workshop slated

BOISE — An association of state officials responsible for equal opportunity has scheduled a workshop in Burley next month to find out why Chicagos aren't involved in the Office on Aging programs in the area.

Tim Byrd, Aging's Equal Opportunity Officer, said Friday he was dissatisfied with what he termed "stereotyped answers" to the questions that arise from non-participation. He cited language barrier as one such answer, labeling it a "cop out."

According to Milton Tybo, head of the state Equal Opportunity Officers Association, the group is composed of about 25 members, and meets bi-monthly. The two day workshop in Burley, scheduled for Dec. 11 and 12, was set up to try to help the program in the area.

According to Byrd, the group will try to suggest changes in the program's outreach efforts, will make inquiries into how the media in the area are viewed by the aging Chicano citizens try to determine areas of possible cooperation between the news outlets and the senior citizens.

In addition, the workshop participants will look into the relationship between senior citizens and local governing bodies like the county, commissions and city councils, and will discuss some of the problems of the board of directors of the senior citizen projects themselves.

Pack snaps losing streak with victory over Cards

GREEN BAY (UPI)—The Green Bay Packers, behind second-year quarterback Jerry Tagge making his first start as a pro, broke a four-game winless streak Sunday by beating the St. Louis Cardinals, 25-21.

The Packers—58 yards in the final minutes to set up a nine-yard Chester Marcol field goal to ice the victory. Marcol's fourth-quarter field goal was the only score the Packers could muster in the second half while they opened the doors twice for St. Louis touchdowns. Jim Hart, using pin-point passing accuracy, took the Cardinals 91 yards in 12 plays to bring St. Louis to within 22-14 on a 23-yard scoring strike to Ahmad Rashad with 1:22 gone in the fourth quarter. The drive came after a Packer fumble and an exchange of punts. The next time the Cardinals got the ball, Hart led a drive of 58 yards in eight plays—and two interferences—calls on the Packers totalling 113 yards in penalties—before culminating in a two-yard touchdown run by Terry Metcalf. The Packers wasted no time in getting on the scoreboard. They marched 74 yards after the opening kickoff with John Brockington going the final yard for his first touchdown since the season opener. Less than three minutes later, Marcol got the first of his four field goals, a 12-yarder, after Dave Purofory blocked a Gary Keithley punt and Larry Hepler recovered and carried the ball to the St. Louis three. St. Louis closed the gap to 12-7 when Hart capped a 58-yard drive with a 30-yard TD pass to Donny Anderson with less than a minute left in the first quarter. Tagge put the Packers ahead 16-7 when he went in from the one following an 80-yard drive in the second quarter. Marcol's try for point was blocked, however, breaking his string of 38 successful conversions since he became a pro. Marcol then added six more Packer points on a 32-yard field goal and another from 24 yards out in the final three minutes of the half.

Cowboy defense holds New York to 10 points

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—Off-maligned Charlie Waters, the one-time pitch-in in the Dallas secondary, intercepted two passes and picked up a fumble Sunday to spark an alert Cowboy defense that subdued the New York Giants, 23-10.

The Cowboys, who clobbered the Giants, 45-20, three weeks ago, were listless on offense but utilized four pass interceptions, two fumble recoveries, a blocked punt, and a blocked field goal to hand New York its seventh straight loss. Dallas is now 6-3.

Walt Garrison scored both Dallas touchdowns, on a four-yard pass from Roger Staubach in the second period and a one-yard run in the final period but both scores were set up by the blocked kicks. Tony Fritch accounted for the other Cowboy points with field goals of 13, 37 and 17 yards.

Waters, the Cowboys' left cornerback who's often been the target of opposing quarterbacks since he replaced Herb Adderley midway through last season, intercepted a Randy Johnson pass the first time the Giants had the ball to set the tempo of the game. He grabbed it on the Cowboy 42 and returned it to the Giants' 11 to set up Fritch's first field goal. The Giants marched to the Cowboys' three the next time they had the ball but Waters thwarted that drive by picking up Johnny Roland's fumble on the five and returning it to the 20.

Field goal lets Bengals triumph

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (UPI)—Horst Muhlmann kicked a 33-yard field goal with three seconds left to boost the Cincinnati Bengals into a 16-13 victory over the Buffalo Bills at Rich Stadium Sunday.

Harrison intercepted a Ken Anderson pass. Jim Braxton took it to the 32 and on the next play Simpson dodged two Bengals defenders in the backfield and took it in for the score. Anderson hit Isaac Curtis for a 44-yard pass play in the second quarter to set up a one-yard run by Charles Clark for the only touchdown in the first half, giving Cincinnati a 13-3 lead at 6:57.

The Cowboys boosted their lead to 6-0 at the end of the second period when Lefty Jordan's interception set up Fritch's second field goal. Jordan fumbled after intercepting but Cornell Green recovered on the Giants' 41. The Cowboys got their first touchdown after Benny Barnes blocked a Tom Blanchard punt and it rolled out of bounds on the Giants' 22. Five plays later, Staubach threw the touchdown pass to Garrison that made it 13-0.

MIAMI (UPI)—Mercury Morris burst through the line for touchdown runs of 48 and 53 yards Sunday to ignite a 44-0 victory by the Miami Dolphins over the badly-outplayed Baltimore Colts.

Jets take advantage of mistakes to win

NEW YORK (UPI)—John Riggins and Emerson Boozer each ran for first-half touchdowns and third-string quarterback Bill Demory passed 31 yards for another Sunday as the New York Jets took advantage of New England mistakes to defeat the Patriots 33-13.

Buffalo closed the gap to 13-6 on a 39-yard field goal by Leyboldt with eight seconds left in the half. The Bills drove from their own 26 to the Cincinnati 32, picking up 13 yards on a Dennis Shaw to Bob Chandler pass and 15 yards on a personal foul call against the Bengals. Muhlmann had given the Bengals a 3-0 lead with a 35-yard field goal at 6:13 of the first quarter. The score was set up when Cincinnati's Neil Craig intercepted a Joe Ferguson pass at the Cincinnati 45.

The Dolphins' reserves threatened to score again in the fourth quarter but the Colts held twice at the one yard line. So complete was the domination of the game by Miami's defense that the Colts managed only three first downs, two in the first half, and got into Miami territory only twice.

Philadelphia (UPI)—Quarterback Bob Lee, throwing for one touchdown and setting up two others, directed surging Atlanta to its fifth straight victory, 44-27, over Philadelphia Sunday to improve the Falcons' chances for a playoff berth.

Jets take advantage of mistakes to win

NEW YORK (UPI)—John Riggins and Emerson Boozer each ran for first-half touchdowns and third-string quarterback Bill Demory passed 31 yards for another Sunday as the New York Jets took advantage of New England mistakes to defeat the Patriots 33-13.

Demory replaced the injured Woodall at the start of the second period and took the Jets 36 yards in four plays for a score, following Steve Tannen's interception and 50-yard return. Boozer burst 17 yards off left tackle to give New York a 14-6 lead. Howfield's 44-yarder, his longest of the season, and a 22-yarder with 1:12 left to go in the half gave New York a 20-6 lead. He kicked his third field goal in the third period and added his final one with 64 seconds left in the game. Plunkett threw 21 yards to Windsor with 3:50 to go for New England's other score. The Patriots were able to gain only 34 yards total offense in the first half as they dropped to 2-7. The victory was New York's third against six losses and second this season over New England.

The Jets threatened in the third period when they marched to the Cowboys' 12 but Waters intercepted a Johnson pass in the end zone to kill that drive and set the stage for a Dallas march that resulted in Fritch's third field goal. Jethro Pugh blocked a Gogolak field goal attempt in the final period that set up Garrison's second touchdown and led the game.

Atlanta (UPI)—Mercury Morris burst through the line for touchdown runs of 48 and 53 yards Sunday to ignite a 44-0 victory by the Miami Dolphins over the badly-outplayed Baltimore Colts.

Gibby Gilbert holds 5 shot lead in tourney

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI)—Gibby Gilbert, winner of only $20,000 in six years on the tour, propelled himself into excellent position to walk away with golf's richest prize by shooting a one-under-par 70 Sunday to assume a five-stroke lead at 280 at the midway point of the marathon $500,000 World Open Championship.

Another four rounds on Wednesday-Saturday. When the last putt is sunk, the winner will receive a whopping $100,000. The cut was made at 288, 14 strokes over par. Among those falling to make it, and thus setting for a mere $500, was Australia's Bruce Crampton, the second-leading money winner this year with better than $273,000. Crampton had a 76 Sunday for a 299.

With his lead, Gilbert said he would change his original plans and would stay here and put in some practice rounds on Monday and Tuesday. "With the weather conditions changing every day the course can change," he said. "The green could get crusty or slow. In case the course does change, I want to be ready."

Allen Miller, who had shared the third-round lead with Gilbert at 210, suffered very costly putting problems under a bright sun and asked to a five-over 76 that left him five strokes off the pace with a 285. Miller blew three putts of three feet or less on the first four holes, and after settling down somewhat he bogeyed the 13th and the 14th holes.

Veteran Al Geiberger, the 1968 PGA champion, and Tom Watson, a tour sophomore, both shot three-under-par 68; the best round of the day, to share second place with scores of 285. Geiberger finished his round with three consecutive birdies, including a 70-foot chip on the final hole.

Among those grouped at 290 were Billy Casper, Homero Blancas, Gary Brewer, Rick Rhoads and Larry Thompson, and another stroke farther back were Jim Jamieson and Tom Kite. Larry Wadkins, a local favorite, was at 292 with

After Roman Gabriel threw his second of three touchdown passes to pull the Eagles to a 20-20 tie, Eddie Ray put Atlanta ahead to stay with his second short TD burst from inside the three-yard line with 12:20 left to play.

After spotting New England a quick 6-0 lead on a 22-yard pass from Jim Plunkett to Jim Windsor, the Jets roared back with two touchdowns and a pair of Howfield field goals to take a 20-6 lead at the half.

Mac Herron fumbled a punt on his own nine and New York's Phil Wise recovered. Riggins blasted eight yards for the one and then squirmed over for the score on the next play. Howfield's conversion gave the Jets a 7-6 lead at 10:02.

Demory replaced the injured Woodall at the start of the second period and took the Jets 36 yards in four plays for a score, following Steve Tannen's interception and 50-yard return. Boozer burst 17 yards off left tackle to give New York a 14-6 lead.

Howfield's 44-yarder, his longest of the season, and a 22-yarder with 1:12 left to go in the half gave New York a 20-6 lead. He kicked his third field goal in the third period and added his final one with 64 seconds left in the game. Plunkett threw 21 yards to Windsor with 3:50 to go for New England's other score. The Patriots were able to gain only 34 yards total offense in the first half as they dropped to 2-7. The victory was New York's third against six losses and second this season over New England.

Defense leads Pittsburgh past inept Oakland 17-9

OAKLAND (UPI)—Pittsburgh's defense, with Dwight White and Mike Wagner picking off a pass and a fumble that led to touchdowns, sparked the Steelers to a 17-9 victory over the Oakland Raiders.

White, along with linemates E.C. Greenwood and Joe Greene, constantly harassed Oakland quarterback Daryle Lamonica, sacking him an injured Ken Stabler, and forced the Raiders into five turnovers, four of them interceptions. Stabler injured his left knee early in the second quarter and did not return to the game.

In addition, the pressuring Steuber front line forced Lamonica to fumble twice and sacked him five times.

Lamonica, who passed 33 times in three quarters of play, finally hit Fred Biletnikoff from 27 yards out with 5:03 left in the game for Oakland's lone TD.

The victory gave the Steelers an 8-1 record in the AFC's Central Division and kept them three games ahead of Cincinnati with five games left on the schedule.

For the Raiders, the loss dropped their slim lead to half-game over the Kansas City Chiefs.

White, charging in to block a pass, picked off Lamonica's poorly thrown lob and returned it to the Oakland 36 with 1:02 left in the first half.

With 41 seconds left, Terry Hanratty, who had a cold 4-0-13 in the first half, passed to Ron Shanklin over the middle from 14 yards out to give the Steelers their first score.

Forty two seconds later, with one tick remaining on the clock, George Blanda booted a 40-yard field goal to make it 7-3 at the half.

In the third period Wagner recovered Charlie Smith's fumble at the Oakland eight and three plays later Franco Harris ran it over from one yard out.

In the fourth quarter Roy Gerela kicked a 17-yard field goal to give Pittsburgh its final points.

Blanda and Gerela both were having difficulty kicking field goals because of the soft turf caused by two days of heavy rain.

Redskins drill San Francisco

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Bill Kilmer threw for two second half touchdowns and Greg Owens set up two of Curt Knight's four field goals with an interception and fumble recovery Sunday to nail down a 33-0 Washington Redskins victory over the San Francisco 49ers.

The Redskins held only a one-point lead at halftime but at the outset of the third quarter, Kilmer directed them on a quick 48-yard scoring thrust that culminated in his 23-yard scoring throw to Charlie Harroway.

On the ensuing series of downs, Owens intercepted Joe Reed, the third-string quarterback who started for San Francisco, and Knight hit for three points from the 32.

On the next series, Owens grabbed up Ken Willard's fumble and raced it to the 46er 43 and Knight came through from the 24 a few plays later to boost Washington's lead to 23-0.

Two more fumble recoveries led to 10 more Redskin points in the final quarter. The first by Pat Fischer produced Knight's fourth field goal from the 31. The second, on the following kickoff by Bill Mallinck, resulted in Kilmer's two-yard touchdown pass to Mike Hancock to complete the rout.

The victory kept the Redskins in a tie with the Dallas Cowboys for the division lead with a 6-3 record while the loss dropped San Francisco to a 3-6 mark.

The Redskins scored first on a drive after the opening kickoff when Sonny Jurgensen, replacing a shaken up Kilmer for one play, fired an 18-yard touchdown strike to Larry Brown.

On the first play of the second period, Bob Hoskins returned a Kilmer fumbled 40 yards to set up Bruce Gossett's 200th career field goal from the nine. Gossett hit another from 27 yards later in the quarter but Knight retaliated with a 42-yarder. With 1:27 left in the half Gossett pumped his third field goal of the period from the 38, to cut the Redskins' margin to 10-8.

Johnson also hit wide receiver Gene Washington with a 19-yard pass in the back of the end zone midway through the third period and Denver scored in the opening quarter on a 39-yard field goal by Jim Turner and an 11-yard run by Floyd Little who also dove over from a yard out with :46 seconds to play and wound up with 100 yards.

Turner had his consecutive extra-point string, the third longest in NFL history, stopped after Johnson's first TD pass, when Johnson fumbled the snap from center and Chris Fletcher blocked the feeble kick attempt.

Los Angeles easily defeats New Orleans

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Balding John Hadl connected on an 18-yard scoring pass to second-year back Laurence McCutcheon and David Ray booted three field goals Sunday as the Los Angeles Rams rebounded from two successive losses to manhandle the New Orleans Saints, 29-7.

Remaining a game in front of the red-hot Atlanta Falcons in the NFC West, the Rams broke the game open by scoring all three times they had the ball in the third quarter after leading 16-7 at halftime.

Ray, the five-year pro from Alabama, kicked a 19-yard field goal for Los Angeles' first points in the second period and booted three-pointers of 11 and eight yards after two Rams' drives stalled on the New Orleans four and one in the third quarter.

Beaten by a total of three points the past two weekends by Minnesota and Atlanta, the Rams made it 29-7 with 11 seconds left in the third quarter on a one-yard blast by Tony Baker.

Hadl, the 33-year old veteran acquired during the off-season from the San Diego Chargers, hit McCutcheon with the 18-yard scoring pass with just 55 seconds remaining in the opening half.

McCutcheon, who returned last week in Atlanta after missing two games with a hamstring pull, caught the ball on the goal-line. The Rams' No. 2 ground gainer led his club in rushing against the Saints.

Defensive tackle Fred Dryer, a former New York Giant, recovered two fumbles and sacked New Orleans quarterback Archie Manning once to key the Rams' defense, the best in the NFC.

Bertelsen put the Rams ahead 10-7 with 1:40 left in the opening half on a two-yard run over right tackle to cap a drive of 40 yards in eight plays that started after Bertelsen's 21-yard punt return.

McCutcheon carried the ball 21 times for 115 yards as the Rams outgained the Saints in total yards 433-247. Hadl completed 13 of 25 passes for 221 yards and threw one interception.

The Ram defense limited New Orleans to 124 yards on the ground.

Johnson also hit wide receiver Gene Washington with a 19-yard pass in the back of the end zone midway through the third period and Denver scored in the opening quarter on a 39-yard field goal by Jim Turner and an 11-yard run by Floyd Little who also dove over from a yard out with :46 seconds to play and wound up with 100 yards.

Turner had his consecutive extra-point string, the third longest in NFL history, stopped after Johnson's first TD pass, when Johnson fumbled the snap from center and Chris Fletcher blocked the feeble kick attempt.

San Diego, playing its first game under head coach Ron Waller, turned Bronco breakdowns into three first half scores and a turned a 10-0 deficit into a 16-10 halftime lead.

The Chargers scored on a 28-yard field goal by Tay Wersching, an 80-yard interception return by defensive tackle Coy Bacon and an 18-yard Robert Holmes run in the first half. Wersching also had a 38-yard fourth quarter field goal.

Bacon's score, the second touchdown of his six-year career, came when Johnson fumbled the snap from center on a 15-yard field goal attempt, Turner picked up the ball under a heavy rush and tried to pass to Johnson.

Johnson also fumbled a snap from center later in the second quarter at his own 35 to set up Holmes' run.

Little's first period touchdown came on the third play of the game, after the Chargers tried a razzle-dazzle play and wide receiver Ron Holliday threw an interception to Calvin Jones who returned the ball from the 42 to the 11.

Pair leads Browns to win over Oilers

HOUSTON (UPI)—Steady Don Cockroft booted three field goals to boost his season's total to 16 and Mike Phipps scored on a one-yard sneak Sunday to pace the Cleveland Browns to a solid 23-13 triumph over the Houston Oilers.

Cockroft hit from 20 and 32 yards out and his 45-yard boot early in the final period was his longest shot of the year. He missed from 41 yards.

Phipps scored with 3:50 left in the first period on his one-yard sneak and then Greg Pruitt broke through right tackle and raced up the sidelines for a 53-yard touchdown to give the Browns a 17-0 first quarter lead.

Houston, 1-8, was held without a first down until early in the second period and had minus nine yards offense in the opening period.

Skip Butler hit field goals of 27 and 46 yards for Houston and missed from 36 and 45 yards out. Lynn Dickey hit Mack Alston with an over-the-shoulder 39-yard touchdown pass with 6:44 left to play for the sluggish Oilers' only touchdown.

Cleveland moved to a 5-3-1 record when it won for the first time since it defeated Houston, 42-13, three weeks ago.

Phipps completed 8 of 17 passes for 113 yards in the first half. On the Browns' first drive, he hit Mill Morin on passes of 12 and 15 yards to set up Cockroft's 30-yard boot.

Houston's Dave Green wobbled a 30-yard punt on the exchange as Cleveland set up on the Oiler 44. Phipps, dumped only once during the game, hit Leroy Kelly with a 23-yard toss, and five plays later punched across from the one.

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI)—The first-half running of veteran back Bill Brown plus John Gilliam's pass receiving led unbeaten Minnesota to a 28-7 victory over the Detroit Lions Sunday as the Vikings clinched at least a tie for the NFC Central Division title.

The Minnesota defense was superb as the Vikings won their ninth straight game of the season and their 12th over the Lions, dating back to 1968.

The 35-year-old Brown, who started his first game of the season, rushed for 80 yards in 15 carries and scored a touchdown in the first half when the Vikings took a 14-7 halftime lead.

With Minnesota trailing 7-0 late in the first period, the 12-year veteran, who gained 102 yards in 19 rushes in the game, carried six times for 52 yards which climaxed with Brown punching over from the one.

Eight plays later the Vikings'

10-man rush forced Herman Weaver to attempt a punt on the run from the Lions' two after he took a high snap from center from Ed Flanagan. Weaver's punt was blocked by Terry Brown and former Lion Wally Hilgenberg picked up the ball on the two and ran in for the score with 1:28 left in the half.

Gilliam, Fran Tarkenton's favorite receiver all day, caught four passes for 102 yards and a TD in the second half.

Gilliam snagged a 44-yard bomb at the Detroit 27 to set up the Vikings' third touchdown early in the third period. Four plays later, Ed Marinaro scored on a seven-yard run up the middle.

After stopping the Lions at the Minnesota 10, the Vikings marched 83 yards in nine plays with Gilliam catching three Tarkenton passes for 63 yards; the final one, a 31-yarder, as Am asked what three animals are killed most for their furs. The rabbit, the muskrat and the mink. Another thing that women can do for their hair is to wear a wig. A wig is a cap that is worn over the hair and is usually made of synthetic fibers. It is a popular choice for women who want to change their hair color or style without committing to a permanent change. Wigs are also a great option for women who have thinning hair or are recovering from a hair loss condition.

Those ladies in Brazil are just as eager to undergo facelift surgery as are some ladies hereabouts, I'm told. But the cost is pretty steep there, too. However, a lending company in Sao Paulo has set up an intriguing facelift finance plan: Members pay a little loan every month. And every month a member's name is taken out of the hat. Said member gets to go to the surgeon, oh boy, then stop paying. Quite an oddball lottery, that one.

Argument continues as to whether that lamine homebody who calls herself a housewife rightfully should receive a regular salary plus sick leave pay. Why not? Nothing new about the notion, certainly. It's quite common, in fact, in Scandinavia for housewives to be awarded one half their husbands' wages as well as specific vacation allowances. If this becomes the practice hereabouts, our Love and Wai man recommends time and a hall for Thanksgiving week and double time for the entire month of December. A proper consideration, I think.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) Handle routine work in a most clever way and then give home and family more of your time and attention. Entertain lightly this evening.

TAURUS (Apr 20 to May 20) It is better to use diplomacy with others instead of pinning them down and you get better results. Be alert when you go shopping.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Not a good day to make any financial investments. A financier is not up to par today so wait until a better day to consult with him.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Your associates may be disappointing to you today, but this is due to the planetary positions. Take treatments to aid your health.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Don't plan future activities hurriedly. Seek the advice you need. Try to help those who are having a difficult time. Show that you have wisdom.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept 22) Steer clear of group meetings that could lead to unpleasant arguments. Keep active at business matters that are important to you.

LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct 23) Use tact when dealing with bigwigs. Make sure you handle a credit affair without further delay. Do more of your own thinking for a change.

SCORPIO (Oct 24 to Nov 21) First complete matters at hand, then look into a new and fascinating outlet. Making new contacts at this time is wise. Be diplomatic.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) Show that you are expert at your work. Some humoring of mate who is out of sorts now is wise. Don't lose your temper.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) Listen carefully to what associates are saying and go along with their ideas. Use tact when a difficult situation comes up.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) There is much work to be done, although not to your liking, but it's your duty, so go ahead with it. Plan new ventures this evening.

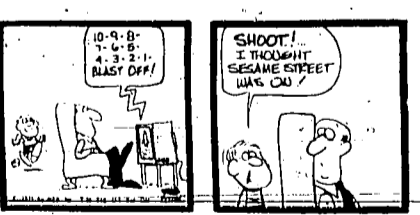

PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar 20) You want to have an amusing day, but don't rely on others who have different ideas. Take in those pleasures you enjoy doing alone.

Heart attack told by new urine test

(c) New York Times Service
NEW YORK — A new urine test that can detect a heart attack moments after onset has been developed by a Hartford physician.

The physician Dr. Stanley H. Bernstein, reported favorable results in a study using the urine test to cardiologists attending the annual scientific meeting of the American Heart Association in Atlantic City Friday.

Bernstein said in a telephone interview just after presenting his scientific report that the urine test is in routine use on an experimental basis at the Mt. Sinai Hospital in Hartford, Conn. Bernstein is chief physician of the hospital and is on the faculty of the University of Connecticut Medical School.

If doctors elsewhere confirm the findings that show the urine test to be more sensitive, more specific and an earlier diagnostic aid than the laboratory tests now used, Bernstein said the new test could have a significant impact on the practice of clinical medicine.

It could help a doctor improve his ability to distinguish chest pain due to heart attacks from that caused by many other conditions.

Bernstein said the test can be done quickly on a sample of urine as soon as the patient is able to void. If the patient is unable to pass urine, then a sample might be obtained by catheterization depending on the circumstances in each individual case.

But, he added, the urine test can now be done only in a clinical laboratory, but is potentially applicable for bedside use in the home, a doctor's office or even on the street in helping to diagnose many of the estimated one million heart attacks that strike Americans each year.

Bernstein said that he was working with Hyland Laboratories of Costa Mesa, Calif., to market such an instant test in about one year's time.

A spokesman for the Food and Drug Administration said such a diagnostic test could be marketed without prior FDA clearance.

Richfield egg firm effects automation

RICHFIELD — Over 100 persons attended the grand opening this week at the new egg producing business, the Fairview Poultry Farm here.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ross, owners of the business, explained the functions of the completely automatic equipment.

Ross showed how the 6,000 pounds of feed, which he mixes himself each week, is kept continually before the chickens.

The chickens are housed in wire cages 15 inches by 15 inches. There are five chickens in each cage and there are three layers of cages.

At the present time there are 6,500 chickens and the building is equipped to hold 12,500. They expect to have it filled to capacity by March.

Mrs. Ross, who used to spend five to six hours a day gathering, washing, grading and candling and boxing the eggs, says they can process the same amount of eggs with their new automatic equipment in one hour.

Presently they get about 4,000 eggs a day. Ross sells the eggs directly to stores and restaurants in Magic Valley, making two trips a week with his van.

There were refreshments served at the open house and a free dance at the Stockade Lounge climaxed the evening's activities.
