Chicago train crash kills 2

BARTLETT, Ill. (UPI) — A truck loaded with gravel crashed through a fog-shrouded railroad crossing gate and struck a commuter train bound from Elgin to Chicago today, derailing two cars and pushing them into the path of another commuter train. Authorities said two persons were killed and at least eight others required medical attention. A railroad spokesman said sparse holiday travel may have held down the toll.

Berrigan gives Henry 'prize'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An anti-war group led by the Rev. Phillip Berrigan tried to present Henry A. Kissinger with an "alternative" to his Nobel peace prize Thursday but the secretary of state wasn't home to receive it. The gift, a carved replica of the globe, was left on Kissinger's doorstep after a brief prayer service. About 20 persons participated in the presentation.

German air controllers back

BONN (UPI) — West Germany's 1,200 air controllers today called off their 23 week "sick-out" strike that caused daily delays and forced the national airline Lufthansa to cut domestic flights by almost 40 per cent. A spokesman for the Air Controllers Union in Frankfurt said the union accepted Chancellor Willy Brandt's promise of a just and impartial settlement.

Gregory seeks sentence repeal

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (UPI) — Civil rights activist Dick Gregory Thursday appealed for the life of Trinidad Black Power leader Abdul Malik, sentenced to hang for the machete murder of his cousin. Gregory said in a news conference he proposes to create worldwide support for Malik, even going to the United Nations with his appeal for the man's life.

Red rockets batter Pleiku

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops fired 25 Soviet-made rockets into the Pleiku air base in the Central Highlands late today, the second rocket attack against a government air base this month, military sources said. Military sources in Saigon said 21 people — 13 soldiers and eight civilians — were wounded in the four-hour attack on the Pleiku base 230 miles northeast of Saigon. One aircraft of unspecified type was destroyed along with two fire trucks and a warehouse, the sources said.

Greeks lift Athens curfew

ATHENS (UPI) — The Greek government today relaxed a nighttime curfew in Athens, and army tanks pulled out of the city in a move to heal the scars left by a three-day student rebellion. Government sources also predicted the curfew would be entirely lifted by the weekend. The government pulled army tanks from the city Thursday after nearly a week-long presence in the city.

No clues in Argentine slaying

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Police reported little progress today in the search for a gang of gunmen that killed an American executive and his two Argentine bodyguards in a Thanksgiving Day ambush. Authorities said they have found no clues so far to the men who gunned down John A. Swint, 56, general manager of the Ford subsidiary Transax, near his home in the industrial city of Cordoba.

N. Ireland security tightens

BELFAST (UPI) — Authorities stepped up security across Northern Ireland today to combat an outbreak of violence apparently aimed at smashing an agreement by Protestant and Roman Catholic moderates to form a coalition government. Police blamed militant members of the breakaway Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) for the latest fighting, but both Catholic and Protestant extremists have issued threats against moderates accepting the accord. The bomb, rocket and bullet attacks came after Northern Ireland Secretary William Whitelaw's announcement Thursday of a Protestant-Catholic coalition "executive" to run the strife-torn province.

Suez pullback talks deadlocked

By United Press International
Senior Egyptian and Israeli military negotiators met today for the second consecutive day in efforts to break the deadlock over the crucial issue of troop withdrawals on the Suez front. Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said he did not agree with optimistic reports on the negotiations. Egyptian Maj. Gen. Mohammed Gannassy and Israeli Maj. Gen. Abaron Yariv met for two hours in the tent at Kilometer 101 on the Cairo-Suez highway. Another meeting was scheduled for Saturday. Gannassy said Thursday the two sides would meet daily if necessary to work out an agreement on the last—and most controversial—point in the six-point cease-fire agreement signed Nov. 11. U.N. officials in Cairo said today that "slight progress was made" at Thursday's 4½ hour meeting in the tent 60 miles from Cairo while a sandstorm raged outside. The U.N. officials said both sides were "getting down to practical details, with maps on the table." The point at issue is to settle the question of a return by military forces to their positions of Oct. 22 when the first United Nations ceasefire was to go into effect. Fighting, however, continued for another 36 hours and the Israelis contend it would be impossible to establish the Oct. 22 positions. After the meeting today, Finnish Maj. Gen. Ensis Sillanpaa of the United Nations, who is presiding at the talks, emerged from the U.N. tent flanked by Gannassy and Yariv and told newsmen: "The two sides continued discussions on disengagement and separation of forces and many details were clarified. The talks are continuing tomorrow."

United Nations sources said the meetings are expected to go on for several days. They said the two sides have been putting questions to each other but that no commitments have been made by either side. Dayan, speaking to a bar association meeting in Tel Aviv, said: "I do not think that the so-called optimistic reports from Kilometer 101 are correct. Far from it. The Arabs are very tough and they want us to withdraw past the previous

State aide hints ranch due license

By DAVID ESPO
T-N Capitol Bureau
BOISE — The state's director of family and children services hinted Wednesday she would recommend granting a license to the Idaho Youth Ranch near Rupert. The ranch had been on a provisional status with the Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS) for the past six months. The provisional license expires Nov. 25. Rita Blackaller, said in an interview she had sent a recommendation concerning the ranch to DECS administrator Dr. James A. Bax. She said she wouldn't reveal its contents until Bax had seen it, however. But she said she was "most impressed" with the new ranch director and superintendent and said she was "anxious for the ranch to run at full capacity." The ranch was rocked earlier this year by a series of staff resignations and firings and the report of an investigator of the attorney general's office that race and other forms of corporal punishment had been applied to the boys who lived there. Since the incidents of the spring and summer the state license has been provisional, and ranch board members and the new staff have been trying to come up with a new program. They are hoping to cut back on the number of boys who live at the ranch at the same time they regain their non-provisional license from DECS. Mrs. Blackaller said she had traveled to Rupert last week and had met with the ranch staff, board members and Region-V DECS officials who are involved with overseeing the program. She said there had been negotiations "almost on a daily basis for the past six months" about the future of the ranch. Mrs. Blackaller said ranch and DECS officials were in agreement about the direction the ranch ought to take.

Zoning rules test hinted

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County zoning regulations may be put to a court test soon. Charles Brumbach, attorney for the preservation-development Canyon Inc., group, said Wednesday that he and the county's attorney for zoning advice, Robert Alexander, will meet with the county zoning board soon to attempt to "explain" current and proposed zoning laws. If the session with the zoning board does not result in revisions in zoning policies, Brumbach indicated, then a lawsuit to test the zoning laws is likely. The discussion of a lawsuit follows the filing of a petition by Canyon Inc., asking the county commissioners to reverse their approval of Harold Frazier's Meander Points subdivision on the Snake River Canyon rim east of Rock Creek. The commissioners said they would decide whether or not to accept the petition today. Should the petition be accepted, commissioner Merl Leonard said, then the commission will set a date for a public hearing on the request to abandon the subdivision approval. Canyon Inc. is betting, Brumbach said, that the commission will turn down the petition. (Continued on p. 11)

Skylab gyro fails

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab 3 flight controllers said today one of the space station's three controlling gyroscopes had failed and, while it did not endanger the three-man crew, it could cause some minor problems in a planned study of the earth and comet Kohoutek. Flight director Philip C. Shaffer said evaluation of the malfunction was underway and it "is still too early to tell" what all the effects will be. "We believe we can handle this problem," he said. Skylab 3 astronauts Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue, who made a record-breaking Thanksgiving Day spacewalk to repair an earth sensing antenna, were told of the problem when awakened at 5 a.m. MST. Shaffer said the gyro cannot be repaired but that it will not cause problems in controlling the normal flight of the space lab during its 84-day mission. (Continued on p. 11)

He said, however, that if another gyro failed, then the flight would probably have to be curtailed within 20 days. He said there was little likelihood of that occurring. Shaffer said maneuvering for earth resources or comet photography could be accomplished by use of a reserve system of thrusters on the side of the station. He said the maneuvers would be made cautiously and take more time. Officials had hoped to make up to 50 earth resources picture-taking sweeps and at least six comet photography passes, both of which require maneuvering the vehicle out of its normal plane. The failure was discovered about 1 a.m. MST by Mission Control when signals indicated the bearings in the gyro were overheated. Flight controllers shut down the gyro by radio command and did not wake the crew because of the long spacewalk Thursday.

New Cassia well starts

MALTA — Drills were to penetrate the earth's surface near Malta for the second time today in a continuing probe for gas or oil by a Texas firm. The drilling rig, set up about five miles south of Malta, was put into operation Tuesday. Al Griffith, president of Standard American, the firm drilling the wells, said the drill should "be out from under the surface today." The firm's first drilling attempt in the area, about one-half mile north of Strevell, was plugged near the 7,000 foot level nearly two weeks ago. At the time the well was plugged, Griffith said a second well would not be attempted unless the weather improved, but today he said although "we've had bad weather out there, I made up my mind we'd get this one down this year." The weather will not deter the firm from finishing this well, according to Griffith.

Dollar soars in Europe

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar today reached heights on European foreign exchange markets it had not touched in 10 months. Gold fell slightly as the dollar gained everywhere. The biggest gain was in London, where for one brief period the British pound became cheaper in dollar terms than at any time since January. The pound's price sank to $2.3570 at that point. A slight recovery took it up to $2.3580 by late afternoon. This was still 2.30 cents cheaper than the pound's price Thursday night. In Brussels the dollar's rate was the best since mid-May. In Frankfurt it touched its highest point since June 7. In Paris it rose above its fixed parity price for the first time, a price reached Thursday for the first time since March. The dollar gained in every European money market — up to 2.753 guilders in Amsterdam, up to 19.45 schillings in Vienna, up in all three Scandinavian exchanges, up half a percentage point to 39.54 Belgian francs on the Brussels official market. In Zurich the dollar gained as well, up to 3.2175 Swiss francs at the market's close. In France the financial dollar used by tourists reached and then climbed above the official exchange rate parity of 4.6014 francs. It closed at 4.61 francs, up from Thursday's 4.5775. The officially-used commercial dollar moved up to 4.5075, another gain. The dollar broke the 600-lire level in Milan, closing at 601.56 lire compared with Thursday's close of 598. Frankfurt's currency exchange fixed the dollar's value at 2.6450 marks, the highest fixed price since June 7. By the close it had inched up to 2.65 marks, the highest since May 30.

No clue on tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is spending the Thanksgiving weekend at Camp David, Md., so far giving no clue how he will answer a judge's request for immediate surrender of his Watergate tapes.

First minimum income checks ready for mails

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government is preparing to mail in early January the first checks providing a guaranteed minimum income to 3.2 million aged, blind and disabled Americans. But that is only half the number earlier expected to get them. Officials said a program to locate eligible recipients was behind schedule but that the planned level of 6.2 million Americans still could be brought into the program during 1974. The program, called Supplemental Security Income (SSI), involves a federal takeover of 1,152 differing state and local welfare programs for needy persons who are 65 years or older, blind or disabled. About half the states provide higher welfare payments than the new federal amounts, but the law passed by Congress last year guarantees that no recipient transferred to SSI rolls will suffer any cutbacks. In place of state and local benefits will be a minimum federal cash payment of $130 a month for individuals and $163 for couples. These are scheduled to rise to $140 and $210 each next July.

Cambodian troops recapture village

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Fast-moving government troops backed by air strikes, artillery and armored personnel carriers today recaptured the town of Mohasang on Highway 4 despite continuous intense rebel mortar fire, according to a UPI front-line reporter.

Mohasang, 36 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, fell to the rebels Thursday when the government garrison was surrounded and forced to fight its way two miles up the road to safety.

Soldiers said today at one point during Thursday's evacuation the insurgents mounted a machine-gun on a captured government truck and chased retreating troops straight up the highway.

But a force of 1,000 government reinforcements, led by units from the crack 28th Brigade, launched an immediate counteroffensive and today rolled through Mohasang and

Until the counterattack, rebel troops had held a 12-mile stretch of the highway from O Veng, 34 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, to Talat.

Cambodian High Command spokesman Col. Am Rong said today another government assault was launched at Talat but there was no report on its progress.

A UPI reporter at Mohasang said the government assault came so quickly that rebel troops left behind sacks of rice and cases of ammunition that had been abandoned by government soldiers in their retreat Thursday.

Even toothbrushes, shoes and other personal items belonging to the rebels were scattered along the road in the wake of their retreat, the reporter said.

But the advancing government units came under very heavy mortar fire and at one point the rebels unsuccessfully tried to circle behind the government forces and cut the road in their rear, the reporter said.

"The mortar shells were just like rain," he said. Four government soldiers were killed and 10 wounded, almost all by the mortar fire.

On Highway 5 leading to the rice growing districts of northwestern Cambodia, another UPI reporter said rebel soldiers today increased their attacks on government positions.

TWIN FALLS — City police reported a quiet Thanksgiving Day as far as crime is concerned.

Only two crime reports were filed. John Nussbaum reported the theft of a studded snow tire and rim from the back of a pickup truck while it was parked in the 100 block of Fourth Avenue South. He estimated the value at $70.

William McKean told officers someone entered his 1971 Triumph while it was parked in the 300 block of Third Avenue North and tore out the electrical wiring under the dashboard. He said nothing was taken.

Jobs Daughters elect TF queen

TWIN FALLS — Sue Thompson was elected honored queen of Bethel No. 43, International Order of Jobs Daughters at a regular meeting Wednesday.

Other newly elected officers include Suzanne Guthrie, senior princess; Nancy Graybill, junior princess; Debbie Wiedenheft, guide and Gaylynn Griffin, marshal.

Pro tems for the evening were Becci Harmon, outer guard; Shauna Detweiler, senior custodian, and Joyce Fellon, treasurer.

Introduced were Sue Thompson, senior princess of Bethel No. 43; Suzanne Guthrie, junior princess of Bethel No. 43 and grand Bethel representative from the state of Idaho to Iowa; Mrs. James Beal, guardian of Bethel No.

43; James Beal, associate guardian of Bethel No. 43; and Mitzi Bryan, past honored queen of Bethel No. 43.

Paula DePew invited members to a party at her home prior to the formal dance at Bethel No. 14, Jerome, Saturday.

Laurie Beal, honored queen, reminded members to sell tickets for the painting to be given away at the Dec. 19 meeting.

Gaylynn Griffin gave the Hybrant's report. Becci Harmon was robbie jobbie. Jobbie of the meeting was Audrey Fuller. Gladys Griffin was jobbie booster.

Mrs. Beal served refreshments. Nancy Graybill did the cleanup work. The Dec. 5 meeting will be secret fathers night.

ROBERT SMITH

TF address set by Smith

TWIN FALLS — U. S. Senate hopeful Robert Smith will be speaking at the Holiday Inn here Monday at a meeting of the Twin Falls County GOP Women's Club.

Smith announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate in Idaho Falls last week. Originally from Rupert, Smith is a Nampa attorney.

He managed the campaign of Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, in 1972, and went to Washington with Symms where he served as administrative assistant to the congressman. He characterizes himself as a strong advocate of free enterprise and being committed to reducing the size and power of the federal bureaucracy.

Snowmobilers warned in Cassia

BURLEY — Because of an increasing number of violations, the U.S. Forest Service and the Cassia County sheriff's office have issued a joint warning to snowmobilers against riding in restricted areas.

Citations will be issued to those found traveling on public roads or in areas listed as restricted by the forest service, the warning said.

Sheriff's officials will be patrolling roads, particularly in the Pomerelle area, and forest service officials will be patrolling the forest lands beginning this week.

"Land had been set aside in January, 1971, as a restricted area for the Pomerelle ski area. Snowmobilers are not permitted in the restricted area," Bill Price, district forest ranger said.

"We are concerned about the safety of the snowmobilers, and it is not safe to ride on the road as well as being against the law," he said. "We want the snowmobilers to enjoy the outdoors, but they MUST RIDE IN AREAS THAT HAVE BEEN SET ASIDE FOR snowmobiler use."

Plans have been proposed to construct a 60 vehicle parking lot for snowmobilers. Price said, but the project will not be completed for use this winter.

BLM board to meet

BURLEY — The advisory board for Burley District No. 2, Bureau of Land Management, is scheduled to meet at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, according to Nick J. Cozokos, district manager for the Burley office.

The meeting will be held in the conference room of the district office building, two miles south of Burley on the Oakley Highway.

The matters which the board will consider and recommend action upon include grazing applications for the 1974 season, Section 7 transfers, the Cassia County and Pocatello Management Framework Plans.

Advisory Board members are John A. Pierce, Malta; Jaye B. Wrisley, Burley; Ray

W. Lincoln, Twin Falls; Edwin D. Crockett, Hansen; William E. Barkdull, Jr., Burley; Milton T. Jones, Milad; Conrad C. Alder, Malad; Orval Davis, Arbon; and Herman J. McDevitt, Pocatello.

Nixon's Watergate problems keep multiplying

(c) Chicago Daily News
WASHINGTON — While President Nixon campaigns to shore up eroded public support, his Watergate-related problems here stubbornly multiply.

The nomination of Sen. William Saxbe, R-Ohio, to be attorney general has run afoul of a serious constitutional problem, and he has opened a dispute with former attorney general Elliot Richardson, in which Richardson's veracity has been impugned.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., assistant Democratic leader, said the constitutional obstacle to Saxbe's confirmation was such that the President ought to withdraw Saxbe's name and find another nominee.

The administration is seeking legislation that would set aside a constitutional provision that prohibits a member of Congress from being named to any post for which the salary was increased by legislation during his elected term. Saxbe was among those who voted in 1969 to raise the attorney general's salary from $35,000 to $40,000.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is considering a bill that would reduce the attorney general's salary back to $35,000, and thus pave the way for Saxbe's confirmation. But constitutional scholars have argued that the bill would be a violation of the constitution.

The quarrel with Richardson, which erupted last week but has only begun to gather real steam, involves presidential chief-of-staff Alexander Haig, as well as Nixon. The Senate Judiciary Committee has been urged by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and others to call Haig, Richardson and former special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox to clear up the dispute.

The ruckus developed when the President met with Republican senators last week in a series of White House meetings, and suggested that Richardson had approved a compromise plan for revealing the gist of the Watergate tapes through Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., and for halting Cox's attempt to get additional presidential documents and memos through the courts.

Nixon had Haig explain to one group of senators, including Maryland's Charles McC. Mathias, just what role Richardson played. Haig was reported saying that Richardson had in fact proposed that Cox be limited in his activities.

When Mathias interrupted to note that Haig's account was in direct contradiction to Richardson's testimony under oath before a Senate committee, the President said his former attorney general was not telling the truth, according to those in the room.

The President was charging Richardson, in effect, with perjuring himself, despite White House statements denying that Nixon had accused Richardson of lying.

Veteran observers believe that the President can ill afford a public airing of unsuspected

"dirty linen" involving a man generally hailed as "Mr. Clean" before the dramatic events of last Oct. 20, the date of the so-called "Saturday massacre." Richardson has been quoted as saying the version given the senators by the President and Haig was not true.

Cox also has been charged as favoring the so-called "Stennis compromise" at first and then changing his mind because he distrusted the integrity of the Mississippi Democrat. This Cox has denied, citing papers and letters he released to prove his account, and letters he released to prove his account.

Administration officials agree that, as the President continues his campaign to restore his credibility and recover from his low standing in public opinion, the last thing needed is an open controversy between him and Richardson. But there it is, festering and demanding a public airing.

Idaho school equality

A landmark decision by an Idaho district judge — if intelligently applied — should go a long way toward establishing equality of educational opportunity throughout the state.

Although the Idaho Legislature has moved far toward equalized funding for school districts, full equalization has not yet been achieved.

So children who are fortunate enough to live in a wealthy school district have more money available for their education than do children in poorer districts.

The ruling by Judge J. Ray Durtschi of Boise would move to end the inequality. He ruled unconstitutional the existing connection between the highly variable property tax base and per-pupil expenditures.

However, the judge made clear his decision did not require equal per-pupil expenditures. "The state may recognize differences in educational costs so long as the differences are based on relevant economic and educational factors," he wrote.

That will limit the damage to many small wealthy school districts. The cost of an education program in small schools can be much higher than the same program in larger schools. For this reason, the current school-funding equalization formula provides for such variables in per-pupil cost.

Under Durtschi's ruling, children from a rich small district should receive equal financial support as do children from a poor small district. Similarly, rich and poor large districts should get the same per-pupil support.

The big winner in Twin Falls County will be the Twin Falls School district, which is one of the state's poorest.

It now spends the least per pupil of any large district in the state.

Other districts with a comparatively high tax base per pupil, such as Hansen and Murtaugh, would be hurt by the decision.

As a general rule, city school districts have a smaller per-pupil tax base than do rural districts. So as a practical political matter, a legislative struggle between rural and urban school districts is likely to develop. In general, money will be shifted away from wealthy rural districts toward poor city districts.

The wealthier rural districts usually happen to be thinly settled and have smaller schools. These districts probably will lobby to increase "sparsity factors" or their equivalent to give additional funds to compensate for inefficiency of small school operations.

The judge's decision probably will add further financial pressures on smaller districts to merge into larger more efficient units. This pressure would be nearly irresistible, if the small districts cannot increase their "sparsity" differentials significantly.

Sadat wins Faisal aid

CAIRO — In a private talk with the British and French ambassadors one day after the Oct. 6 war started, President Anwar Sadat gave a careful definition of his war aims: first, a short advance into Israeli-occupied Sinai followed by defensive action to hold his position; next, a ceasefire; and finally, diplomacy.

"We could go on fighting forever if we had to," Sadat said, "but we don't want to. We want to get our own land back by diplomacy. If we can't, we will have to fight."

The contrast with the late Gamal Abdel Nasser was stark: no threat to "drive Israel into the sea," typical Nasser hyperbole before the 1967 Six-Day War which, one Sadat intimate told us accurately, "cost us so much."

But the most significant contrast between the two Egyptian leaders is Sadat's brilliant courtship of King Faisal of Saudi Arabia. If Sadat is to come close to achieving his goal of "getting our land back," the reason will be his clarity in understanding how essential Faisal's backing is to his own purpose.

Nasser exuded charisma and spouted revolutionary rhetoric which always played the grand theme of an Egyptian crusade leading the Arab death struggle against Israel. He talked himself and his country into deep trouble, feeding the skillful propaganda maw of his enemy in Tel Aviv. With enemies like Nasser, Israel scarcely needed friends.

By contrast, Sadat is manifestly, unashamedly bourgeois, non-revolutionary and Western in habit and thought, characteristics quite apparent in the current crisis. Last year he kicked the Russians out of his country, then intensified his courtship of the Arabian king, started in 1971.

That campaign culminated in a rare display of respect. Greeting the king on his trip to Riyadh in the middle of the war, he kissed the tip of Faisal's nose and his forehead — the highest mark of Arab respect.

A few eyebrows were raised here, but the gesture made exactly the point Sadat wanted: that the peninsula Arabs and the Mediterranean Arabs, so different in character and history, must hold together.

Likewise, when Libya's radical leader, Col. Muammar Qaddafi, came here several weeks before the war in a frenzied effort to force his union with Egypt, Sadat was conveniently in Riyadh. Qaddafi's discomfiture was taken here as an amusing joke — just right for an upstart.

Before the 1967 war, in contrast, Nasser had his best divisions in Yemen supporting

EVANS & NOVAK

Communist-backed radicals against the Royalists allied with Faisal. Little wonder that when Israel launched its invasion and smashed Nasser's Sinai force few tears were shed by Faisal.

This time, Sadat's courtship of the King, whose oil reserves mean unequalled national power, has cemented the Egyptian-Saudi alliance, bringing into being something approaching the vague dream of Arab unity. It would be foolhardy to predict that this unity will outlast the next phase of the moon, but it exists in rare form today. Faisal, whose oil has more useful clout than America's nuclear arsenal, is playing the leading role.

It was Faisal who strongly urged Sadat to get rid of the 14,000 Soviet military advisers last year and it was Faisal who predicted, wrongly as it turned out, that doing so would bend White House policy from totally pro-Israel to something closer to evenhanded. That error strengthened Faisal's determination to give Sadat what he badly needed in the present round: the oil option.

Sadat's plan to storm the Suez Canal, move east a few miles, hold and gain the rest by diplomacy and oil was weakened by the masterful military counterstroke that put Israeli forces on the west side of the canal.

But the plan still holds: force the U.S. to come to grips with Israel and repossess most of the Sinai peninsula; guarantee the new borders with credible guarantees working both ways — against Egyptian invasion of Israel (which has not happened since 1949) and Israeli invasion of Egypt (which has happened twice) — and a peace.

But Sadat may once again be underestimating Israel's influence over Washington, a subject for a subsequent column.

Mirage?

GOP leaders concerned

WASHINGTON — Despite his outbursts against the media, some of them justified, President Nixon can survive almost any number of attacks printed or broadcast.

But the President cannot continue to govern effectively if the leaders of his own party desert him, and he had best take seriously the concern of those leaders trenchantly expressed the other day by Gov. Robert D. Ray of Iowa.

"Mr. President, I must say this," Ray told Nixon. "You have not been candid with the American people."

Ray's statement was significant for two reasons. First, he represents a moderate-to-conservative constituency. There are few well-eyed ideologues in Iowa. Second, Ray went to the White House as a member of the Republican Coordinating Committee, composed of prestigious GOP governors, senators, members of the House and party officials. It is a group which could have the power of political life or death over the President.

Thus, Ray's bluntness was not so much a complaint as it was an accusation and a warning. In effect, he was saying Nixon must come clean or else. Later, he put it more softly to reporters: "The American people, Ray said, 'want to know and deserve to know what happened at Watergate and after Watergate,' and the President had the responsibility for giving them the answers. 'We can't give you the answers,'" Ray added, "because we don't know them."

Ray and his colleagues didn't know the answers because the President didn't tell them what they were.

Courtesy, I suppose, prevented the President's audience, from pressing him for specifics of his "offensive." Obviously, however, they weren't satisfied with the meeting because they met and unanimously passed a resolution favoring "full disclosure of all facts arising from the so-called Watergate affair."

These men may reasonably be worried about their own political necks. But Ray's charge went deeper than that. It said that leaders of his own party harbored dark suspicions of their President and implicitly put Nixon on notice that only by telling all could he be assured of their continued support.

Sen. William Brock of Tennessee clearly was expressing the committee's dissatisfaction with

Voter card

Idaho Statesman

A voter registration card, suggested by Twin Falls County Clerk Harold Lancaster, seems like an idea to be considered by the next session of the Idaho Legislature.

Voter registration, in large and small counties, requires countless hours of work by county employees and anxiety on the part of the voters. Lancaster estimates his office receives as many as 400 telephone calls per day the week preceding an election.

He has suggested a uniform plastic card which would give the voter's name and precinct and signature. Around the edge of the card would be numbers for the years of the elections. Each time this voter went to the polls the year would be punched.

Lancaster has proposed the card be treated much the same as a driver's license and if the card was lost, the voter would be responsible for paying a small fee to have it replaced. However, he would like the clerks' offices to be able to change precinct number on the cards without a charge, in the event the voter moves.

His proposal would include an initial cost of 10 cents per card and about $3,500 for the equipment necessary in each county to instate the card system. The card could probably be used for about 10 years before being replaced.

Similar systems with cards have been successfully used in Washington, New York and Pennsylvania.

Gold — is it in or out?

By LEONARD SOKL

(c) New York Times Service

NEW YORK — First came the announcement by Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, that the United States and six European nations had agreed to end the two-tier gold system that had prevented governments from buying or selling gold on the free market since 1968.

Then came the statement by George P. Shultz, secretary of the treasury, that American citizens might soon be able to buy or sell gold — something they have not been able to do since 1933 when Congress raised the buying price from $21 to $35 an ounce and called in all private gold holdings.

Does all this mean that gold is on its way out? Or does it mean that gold is on its way out as a monetary instrument — even for governments?

The United States has contended that the metal is on its way out as a form of international money. But Europeans, on the whole, think the opposite. They have insisted that for the foreseeable future gold must remain an integral part of the world monetary system.

Gold had been effectively demonetized by the 1968 two-tier system. With the official gold price set at $32.22 an ounce and the free-market price in the neighborhood of $100, no government was willing to settle its debts with another government in gold at the official price.

At the Nairobi, Kenya, meeting of the International Monetary Fund in September, West German Finance Minister Helmut Schmidt said a crucial question for the common market countries was how to make gold useable again.

What the Europeans said in Nairobi has how come to pass. Or has it? In announcing the end of the two-tier system, Burns said it was his understanding that governments were free only to sell official gold on the free market but not to buy it.

"The United States maintains that" under Article 4, Section 2, of the IMF Articles of Agreement, nations are not permitted to buy gold from the free market as long as its price there is above the official $32.22 rate.

The initial reaction of the marketplace was to accept Burns' interpretation.

But if such confusion exists on what the end of the two-tier system means, why did the United States agree to its termination?

Washington appears to have had no good alternative.

From the United States' standpoint this was a good time to accept the European demand that the two-tier system be liquidated. The dollar has been strengthening — thanks to a dramatic improvement in the American balance of payments.

With world currencies floating, any system of enforced official gold prices would be hazardous for the world monetary system. When the market price of gold was above the official price, gold would once more be immobilized, as it was under the two-tier system. And it would be impossible to set the official price of gold high enough to avoid that contingency — without creating inflation and giving a huge bonanza to the gold producers and holders of the world.

A floating gold price is in fact the necessary accompaniment of a floating exchange-rate system. And that is the way the world seems to be evolving, because of the necessities of politics and economics.

Hard skin' troublesome

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told that I have scleroderma but nothing was explained except that it is sometimes called "hard skin." I am losing weight fast and also have Reynaud's disease. I have muscle cramps. Is this the Reynaud's or the scleroderma? I take pills for circulation. Is there no way I can gain weight? — A.N.C.

I don't know any way to explain scleroderma in simple terms except to say that it is one of the collagen diseases. These diseases have this in common: they attack supporting fibrous tissues and the jelly-like material (collagen) in the cells.

Different type of collagen diseases tend to attack specific parts of the human system, although there can be some overlapping. Scleroderma — the word itself — means a hard, thickened skin, since that is the primary area attacked by scleroderma. However, the Nixon approach to date. Asked whether the President was "out of the woods," he replied tersely, "By no means." Brock undoubtedly had the same thoughts that prompted Illinois Sen. Chuck Percy to say he wanted answers to "those questions . . . that I, and other members of Congress, have been receiving in the mail."

None of this means that Nixon is guilty of anything — indeed, although the evidence is strong that he has sought refuge in the tactics of evasion — as in the tapes controversy — the jury must be considered still out on even that count. But the ball is in the President's court, and this time it has been put there not by Democrats or professional Nixon-haters, but by his own party.

Raynaud's disease, which involves spasm of the arteries, often accompanies scleroderma. (Arthritis also is common with scleroderma.) Your muscle cramps are probably due to the spasms of the arteries and the resultant faulty circulation.

While scleroderma chiefly affects the skin, it can also affect other structures, particularly the digestive tract, and some patients have trouble swallowing. You didn't mention that in your letter, but it could explain your loss of weight. The way to correct that would be to eat more frequent meals, and to concentrate on high-calorie foods to get the most nourishment from a given volume of food.

The cause of scleroderma is not known, but women in their 50s are most often afflicted. Treatment usually is with steroid drugs (of the cortisone family). The use of potassium para-aminobenzoic acid gives favorable results.

Haig plan turned down

(c) N.Y. Times Service
 WASHINGTON — Elliot L. Richardson says Alexander M. Haig Jr., President Nixon's chief of staff, told him he had unsuccessfully tried to dissuade the President from ordering Archibald Cox of Oct. 19 to stop all court actions to bring White House tape recordings and related documents.

The former attorney general said in an interview "Haig said that he had tried, but that the President wouldn't yield on that."

Haig, in an interview last night, made it clear that he was not denying the Richardson account but declined to discuss the matter. Sitting before the fireplace in his office in the west wing in the White House, he said, "I don't discuss what discussions I had with the President."

Cox's refusal to comply with the President's order led to his dismissal on Oct. 20 as the special Watergate prosecutor.

The order led as well to Richardson's resignation as attorney general and to the dismissal of William D. Ruckelshaus as deputy attorney general. In the wake of Cox's refusal to comply, the President directed first Richardson and then Ruckelshaus to dismiss the prosecutor, and each in turn chose to leave office rather than obey.

Richardson recounted Haig's statement during an interview this week at his home in McLean, Va.

Richardson said that Haig made his comment on Friday afternoon, Oct. 19.

"It was the end of a week of negotiations involving the White House, Cox and Richardson, regarding the manner in which the President should respond to Cox's subpoena — which had just been upheld by the United States Court of Appeals — for tape recordings of nine Watergate-related conversations.

Much of the discussion had centered on the proposal under which Sen. John C. Stennis, D. Miss., would prepare an "authenticated" summary of the contents of the tapes, and the summary would be presented to the courts rather than the tapes themselves.

Richardson said he had become increasingly aware that the White House wanted to link the Stennis proposal to a limitation on Cox's ability to go to court in pursuit of any other presidential tapes or documents.

So, he said, he tried to devise some way to "handle the relationship" between the basic Stennis proposal and the White House view that Cox would be foreclosed from pursuing other documents.

ROBERT H. BORK
 ... job illegal?

Proxmire says AG 'illegal'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D. Wis., said today Robert H. Bork is holding office illegally because, as Proxmire sees it, the law limits the tenure of an acting attorney general to 30 days.

In a letter to President Nixon, written Tuesday and made public today, Proxmire expressed fear that any action Bork now takes as attorney general may be invalidated by the courts.

He cited a General Accounting Office opinion of Feb. 22, 1973, which held that L. Patrick Gray's tenure as acting director of the FBI had expired.

Proxmire cited a law providing that "a vacancy caused by death or resignation may be filled temporarily ... for not more than 30 days."

The Justice Department disagreed. Assistant Attorney General Robert G. Dixon Jr. said Proxmire was quoting an 1868 law but that the 1870 act setting up the Justice Department specifically excluded an acting attorney general from the 30-day rule.

Dixon said acting attorneys general have served more than 30 days six times since 1881 without challenge in the courts.

Bork, former solicitor general, took temporary command of the Justice Department on Oct. 20, after Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson and his assistant, William D. Ruckelshaus, resigned rather than carry out a presidential order to fire Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox. The 30-day period following that ended Nov. 19.

Wallace aide sees open path

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Aides to Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace say he has finally been recognized as "a genuine candidate" by the Democratic party and the path has been opened for him to win the Democratic presidential nomination in 1976.

Wallace's representative to the party's delegate selection committee, Drayton Pruitt, said "major concessions to the Wallace viewpoint" were made by party leaders when the rules were drawn up for the 1976 National Convention.

Pruitt said the rule changes approved by the committee do not mean the party has given in to Wallace, but that his growing influence in the state and the nation has been recognized.

"They now see him as a genuine candidate," Pruitt said.

Wallace has not said whether or not he will seek the presidential nomination in 1976. But his doctors say his health continues to improve, his national campaign organization is operating and collecting funds and more and more of the governor's speeches are dealing with foreign policy and national problems.

Among the rule changes that Wallace advocated were the elimination of the "winner-take-all" primaries, the abolition of all quotas on race and age and the end of the "unit rule."

The suggestions made by Wallace and accepted by the committee mean that in the future delegates will be divided among presidential contenders based on their proportion in the primaries, that delegations will be evenly divided between men and women and entire delegations won't be forced to vote with the majority.

Mutual troop cuts in Europe sought

VIENNA (UPI) — Western delegates at the Vienna troop cut talks have proposed a reduction of allied and Communist ground forces in Central Europe to about 700,000 men on each side, it was disclosed today.

North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) sources said the proposal — "consistent with the allied approach" — was made Thursday at the troop reduction talks, but they declined to give further details.

Conference sources said American delegate Stanley R. Resor, a former U.S. secretary of the army, put forward the allied proposal at the eighth session of the Vienna talks with the Warsaw Pact, the Communist official of NATO.

The official allied position on cuts insists forces in Central Europe must be reduced to approximately parity — eliminating the Communists' current military superiority in the area.

Soviet delegate Oleg N. Khlestov, however, said in an interview Monday the Warsaw Pact's numerical lead in forces must be maintained despite the cutbacks.

According to the Independent Institute of Strategic Studies (IISS) the Warsaw Pact ground forces in central Europe total 871,000 men compared with 777,000 troops for NATO.

Tax loopholes aid rich, panel claims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Ralph Nader group says a congressional report, drafted with help from the administration, slanted statistics in an effort to show that tax loopholes help middle-income families more than the very rich.

It's actually the other way around, the Tax Reform Research Group said Thursday.

The group attacked a report published last June by the House Ways and Means Committee in consultation with the Treasury Department.

Robert Brandon, director of the Nader-backed group, said the committee reported that taxpayers with adjusted gross incomes between $7,000 and $10,000 a year saved $10 million in mortgage interest deductions in 1972, while those with incomes over $100,000 saved only $55 million.

But he said, the committee report failed to mention that the $310 million savings was spread among 12 million taxpayers, while only 91,286 people shared the $55 million in the higher bracket.

"The average taxpayer actually saved only $24.50 from the mortgage interest deduction last year, while the wealthier taxpayer saved $602.50.

Richardson backed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., has defended former Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson against a reported charge by President Nixon that Richardson lied about the circumstances of his resignation.

Referring to Richardson, Cox and former Deputy Attorney General William D. Ruckelshaus, Weicker said: "These men don't tell lies. They make mistakes, I suppose, like we all can, but they don't tell lies."

Speaking of the White House, Weicker said: "I've had it with that group down there insofar as the reverence in which they hold the concepts of honesty, integrity and ... the position of the presidency of the United States.

"The fact is, I haven't seen one person walk in and out of that mess who doesn't come out bespattered or dead or anything in between," Weicker said.

Reports that the President accused Richardson of lying came from Republican senators who attended briefings by Nixon and his aide, Alexander M. Haig, on Watergate last week.

The common spring mechanism locks found on many front doors can be opened with a screwdriver or a credit card.

Plumbers assailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The AFL-CIO says President Nixon committed an impeachable offense when he created the White House "plumbers."

The "plumbers" were a White House group set up ostensibly to investigate the leak of the Pentagon Papers in 1971.

Vesco lawyers seek dismissal

NASSAU, Bahamas (UPI) — Attorneys for Robert L. Vesco worked today on a motion for dismissal to be presented at a Bahamian hearing into a U.S. request for extradition of the financier.

Vesco's principal attorney,

Eugene Dupuch, told the magistrate he is preparing a motion to dismiss the case on grounds the United States failed to prove Vesco should be extradited. The lawyer indicated Vesco would not testify.

The hearing, which began

Nov. 13, is scheduled to resume Monday, when the defense is expected to seek the dismissal.

The United States is attempting to extradite Vesco, 38, on charges he embezzled $30,000 from the International Controls Corp.

Rich nations' buying may boost hunger toll

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Today's high wheat prices will "without doubt" cause hunger-related deaths in many poor nations abroad in coming months, an economist warns.

Lester B. Brown, a specialist in studies of world food problems, adds that more trouble may be building up as rich consumers buy a tight food supply away from the poor.

"In the coming year, it appears likely that massive rice purchases by the increasingly affluent oil-rich nations of the Middle East and North Africa will help drive international rice prices still higher, reducing the purchasing power of many poor African and Asian nations which badly need rice imports," Brown said.

The comment came in an article due for publication in the winter issue of "Foreign Affairs" magazine. The article noted that because of light supplies of many crops, prices of staple foods like wheat and rice soared this year and left countries like India hard pressed.

"When one spends about 80 per cent of one's income on food, as a sizable segment of mankind does today, a doubling in the price of wheat or rice cannot possibly be met by increased food expenditures. It can only drive a subsistence diet below the survival level.

Today's wheat prices of $5 per bushel will, without doubt, be reflected in higher death rates in many poor nations in the months ahead.

The economist, a former Agriculture Department official now on the staff of the Overseas Development Council, said affluent people around the world can ignore hunger tragedies because of a change in the way famine appears.

In the past, famines often struck whole nations or huge regions. "Today the advancements in distribution and transportation systems have insured that famine is generally more evenly spread among the world's poor rather than concentrated in specific locales."

More than half the population of Afghanistan are members of the Pathan race.

Teamster affirms contracts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teamster President Frank E. Fitzsimmons Wednesday said the union would honor its contracts with California growers rather than repudiate them to clear the way for the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers of Cesar Chavez.

He accused AFL-CIO head George Meany of treating farm workers as "chattels" to be exchanged between unions without asking the workers what they want.

The Teamster leader denied Meany's charge last week that Fitzsimmons had reneged on an agreement to abandon the contracts so that Chavez could negotiate new ones for the UFW.

Fitzsimmons said the tentative settlement between Meany and the Teamsters was contingent on resolving "the contract obligation question," especially threats by the growers to file multimillion dollar damage suits against the Teamsters Union if it cancelled the contracts.

"Representatives of the AFL-CIO were never willing to agree to any resolution of this vital question, and therefore there never was an agreement," he said.

Saudi Arabia defies US, warns more oil cutbacks

By United Press International
Saudi Arabia has apparently decided to defy Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's warning that the United States would consider taking unspecified "countermeasures" unless the Arab states ended their oil boycott.

Saudi Arabian oil minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani said Thursday he would reduce oil production up to 50 per cent if the United States, Europe and Japan take any countermeasures.

Kuwait also issued a statement Thursday indicating the boycott of oil shipments to pro-Israel nations will continue.

In other energy developments Thursday, Italy raised gasoline prices to a record $1.32 a gallon, banned Sunday driving and took other fuel-conserving measures. Canada assured the United States it has no intention of stopping shipments of oil, and in Washington several consumer and environmental groups urged the government to accelerate anti-trust action against major oil companies, discourage the licensing of nuclear power plants and promote more underground, rather than surface, mining.

Yamani spoke in Copenhagen in apparent response to Kissinger's statement Wednesday that if pressures continue unreasonably and indefinitely, then the United States would have to consider what countermeasures it would have to take." The Saudi Arabian oil minister, speaking on a Danish television interview warned Europe and Japan against joining American in any countermeasures "because your economy would collapse in a short time."

He said if the United States tried to use military force to occupy oil producing areas, Saudi Arabia would blow up its oil fields.

The foreign ministry of Kuwait asked Thursday for "clarification" of Kissinger's statement. Kuwait radio reported. In Paris, Kuwait Oil Minister Abdel Rahman Salem Atiki, said Europe will suffer terribly if it does not help the Arabs in their dispute with Israel.

PIERRE TRUDEAU
... 'distressed'

US critics 'distress' Trudeau

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau said Thursday he was "deeply distressed" at statements by some U.S. congressmen critical of Canada's oil export policy toward the United States, and including one by President Nixon.

"Friends care about each other's problems," Trudeau said in a nationwide address. He said Canada will continue to ship as much crude oil as possible to the United States after domestic needs are met.

Canada produces about 2 million barrels per day of crude oil, of which about half is exported to the United States, mainly for use in the New England States. It represents about 5.5 per cent of total U.S. consumption.

Trudeau referred to statements by U.S. congressmen and a remark by President Nixon, who said that "even our Canadian friends can be pretty tough when they're looking down our throats."

The prime minister told Canadians he was "deeply distressed, as I know many of you are, to hear charges that Canada has been kicking the U.S. while it's down."

Israel charges Arab atrocities

(c) Chicago Daily News
TEL AVIV — Israel is accusing Egypt and Syria of having committed atrocities against its prisoners of war captured after fighting broke out on Oct. 6.

The charges against Egypt came from Defense Minister Moshe Dayan as soon as the last Israeli POW listed for repatriation by the International Committee of the Red Cross set foot on Israeli soil.

Syria was assailed for barbaric treatment of POWs in a public statement issued by the head of a parents' committee, Moshe Barzani, himself a survivor of Auschwitz.

This coincided with a declaration over Damascus' official radio that Syria will not identify its Israeli POWs or exchange them for captured Syrians until Israel withdraws from occupied Syrian territory.

"One can say that there were cases of people captured in good health, or only slightly wounded, who in the end did not return to us," Dayan said in a Hebrew language interview given to Israel's state-run television.

"Either they were murdered on the way, or perhaps during interrogation — I don't know," Dayan said.

"But I have not the slightest doubt that some of our men who were captured in perfect health were not returned — and I do not think that they are in prison or alive anywhere else in Egypt."

"Thus, at some stage or another they were killed, murdered."

"There are those who died of wounds while under medical treatment, but there are probably also cases where they died under interrogation."

Dayan conceded, however, that the higher echelons of the Egyptian army and hospital personnel were decent to the Israeli POWs.

'Energy hysteria' slapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A coalition of consumer and environmental groups says the administration is creating an "energy hysteria" in which industry is achieving long-sought goals at the expense of the public.

In an energy counter-message Thursday, the group urged the government to accelerate anti-trust action against major oil companies, discourage the licensing of nuclear power plants and promote more underground, rather than surface, mining.

To encourage industrial conservation, it said industries should be charged the same utility rates as homeowners, who now pay one-third to one-half more.

The message was published by the Center for Science as a Public Interest, the National Consumers League, National Clean Air Coalition, Friends of the Earth, Environmental Action, and by individuals working for such citizen organizations as Common Cause and the Consumer Federation of America.

It called government appeals for homeowners to lower thermostats and make other sacrifices "a pretext to avoid making hard decisions regarding corporate practices and structures."

It said the energy scare is helping industry achieve controversial goals such as the trans-Alaskan pipeline, "lux" regulation of surface mining, offshore oil drilling, oil shale development and relaxation of air quality standards.

The coalition urged these other measures: — Low-cost government loans or tax deductions to help homeowners and small businesses improve heat-saving insulation in buildings.

— Mandatory efficiency standards for cars and home appliances for the best use of available energy.

— Limits on advertising of products that consume large amounts of energy.

Marcos pledges to push reforms

MANILA (UPI) — Pledging to push all the reforms initiated under martial law, President Ferdinand E. Marcos said today, "I would rather die than see them discontinued."

Marcos, 56, who has been wielding strongman powers since he proclaimed martial law on Sept. 21, 1972, told a convention of the National Council of Churches at Malacanang palace he would "step down" as soon as Filipinos decide he should go.

But as long as he was president, Marcos said, "it is my moral obligation as president to see through all the reforms and I would rather die than see them discontinued."

Marcos said he had no other recourse than to proclaim martial law 14 months ago. He cited "the pressure of the urgency of events," referring to the threat of rebellion from the Communists, the right wing and Muslim secessionists.

He said his program of reforms, including nationwide land reform for tenant farmers, the dismantling of political warlords and criminals and the purge of corrupt government workers, were all aimed at removing seeds of rebellion.

Getty probe told

ROMA (UPI) — Police disclosed plans today to call in scientists to help identify the background of photographs purportedly showing the mutilated grandson of American billionaire J. Paul Getty.

The photos, which showed a young man with a missing right ear, were in a packet sent to a Rome newspaper Thursday with a note threatening to cut him up "piece by piece" unless a $4-million dollar ransom was paid.

Another newspaper received a human ear in the mail earlier this month with a note in the handwriting of missing J. Paul Getty III. Police experts said it was impossible to identify the ear positively, but it might be the young man's.

The 17-year-old youth's mother, Mrs. Gail Harris, pleaded with the kidnapers by radio Thursday to contact her, but she did not specifically mention ransom.

School aid 'wasted'

(c) Washington Star-News
WASHINGTON — Much of $48.8 million in federal funds spent to develop new classroom curricula and teacher training courses over the last decade may have been wasted, a General Accounting Office study indicates.

The G.A.O. found that the new approaches developed by federally funded regional educational laboratories and centers have mostly never gone beyond an experimental stage into widespread regular classroom use.

The laboratories and centers that devised the new programs failed to determine first whether there was a market for their products, GAO said. Under government policies, the new programs were expected to be packaged and circulated by commercial publishers and educational product companies. But, G.A.O. said, private companies generally have been uninterested because the new approaches were either too costly, overly complicated for classroom use or designed for two small a potential market.

The G.A.O. criticized the U.S. Office of Education, as well as the laboratories and centers, for failing to determine the "marketability" of their output.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please set me straight. Do you think it's wrong for a father to allow his eight-year-old son to win once in a while?

Father says he is going to play to win because that's what his father did to him. The child gets very upset when he loses to his father all the time. The child loves games like Monopoly and chess. What is your opinion?

A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Father should play to win. But for a better reason than the one he stated. Children need to learn how to accept defeat with grace and good sportsmanship until they develop the skill to win fairly and squarely.

Plays to win

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years to a "Mama's boy." Willie was 35 years old when I married him, and I should have seen the signs then, but I was young and "in love" and not too sharp.

Every Sunday of our married lives, no matter what we were doing, at 2 p. m. Willie would leave me and the children, and go to visit his mother. Then he would come home and throw up, saying my attitude toward his mother had caused it.

When I married Willie, his mother accused me of everything in the book, so I just stayed away from her. She has told me to my face that the quicker Willie gets rid of me and our children, the better off he will be. Also, she could not die happy knowing her son is married to me.

I did leave him three years ago, but I came back after two weeks because he came crying and begging, saying he couldn't live without me. Meanwhile he never told his mother we had reunited, but was forced to when she decided to move in with him.

Willie still calls her every morning, and visits her every evening after work. I am tired of Willie's running to her every Sunday at 2 p. m. and coming home to throw up.

HAD IT

DEAR HAD IT: Your husband needs help, but from your description of him and his sick attachment to his mother [who also needs help] I doubt that he will seek it. In the meantime, your Family Service Association can provide you with the kind of counseling you need to understand, and hopefully handle, your Mama's boy.

DEAR ABBY: My mother has been running to doctors all her life. Her complaints run from chronic stomach trouble, migraine headaches, high blood pressure, back trouble, to a variety of skin trouble. (Shingles, eczema, psoriasis, and you name it.)

To make a long story short, my mother has become a self-appointed "expert" on everything pertaining to medicine and treatment. She doesn't hesitate to give out medical advice to her friends, and worse yet, she has a pill or ointment for everything.

When I tell her that she could cause more harm than good by giving her friends pills and salves, she says: "Relax, you need a tranquilizer," then she tries to force one on me.

Will YOU please tell her to quit practicing medicine and pharmacology without a license? Thanks.

THE "DOCTOR'S" DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: I'll tell her, but I can't guarantee a cure.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 68700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Adventist group elects leader

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Davo Wonenberg, of the Twin Falls Seventh-day Adventist Church, has been elected president of the Federation of Adventist Community Services in the Magic Valley area.

The federation consists of local chapters of officers and members from the Seventh-day Adventist churches located in the areas of Ellet, Gooding, Jerome, Rupert, and Twin Falls.

The Adventist Community Services supply emergency needs for families in the Magic Valley when disaster strikes. Recently three families in the Twin Falls county have been burned out of their homes. The Twin Falls Community Services Center offers their services which include bedding, clothing, food, and other items that may be needed.

Needy families are also cared for in the Magic Valley area by the local Community Services Center located at 238 Falls Ave. W., and is under the direction of Esther O'Dell, and assisted by Ethel Hughes and Elsie Thompson.

Last year over $16,000 in help was given to needy families in Magic Valley. Community merchants and business men as well as residents of Magic Valley contribute funds for this needy area.

Not only do they help in their own area, but clothing is sent to overseas depot for people over all the world.

"We do not limit membership in our society to Adventists," added Mrs. O'Dell. "We are happy to have others in the community join us in this work of community service. Our center is open Tuesdays from 1 to 4 p.m. Those having clothes or other items to donate are asked to drop their items in the center door of the welfare center building.

DOCK CATTON

Free Will churches set talks

TWIN FALLS — Rev. Dock Catton, the first Baptist missionary appointee to Spain by his denomination, will speak at several Free Will Baptist churches in Magic Valley beginning Sunday.

He will speak at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Jerome church and at 8 p.m. Monday at the Buhl church. He also will talk Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Rupert church and Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Twin Falls Free Will Baptist church.

He will describe the planned thrust by the denomination into Spain. A graduate of the Free Will Baptist Bible College, Nashville, Tenn., he and his wife, Norma, served one summer in Brazil as summer missionaries.

They have completed intensive training at Missionary Internship in Farmington, Mich., and have one daughter, Debbie. They will travel on deputation about one year and tentatively plan to begin language study in mid-1974.

LDS 'Know your religion' series launched

TWIN FALLS — The "Know Your Religion" series of lectures was launched for the season in this area, sponsored by the LDS Church.

First of the six lectures was held at the Twin Falls Stake Center, 421 Maurice St. N. Saturday night, featuring Leon R. Hartshorn as speaker.

Elder Hartshorn is the 1967 professor of the year at Brigham Young University. He is author of seven books and many articles. He served as an institute director at Stanford and Boise and has been the chairman of the department of religion at the Church College in Hawaii. He received his doctorate from Stanford University in 1965 and is presently on the religion faculty at BYU.

The Dec. 14 meeting will also be in Twin Falls, with A. LaVyr Thornock speaker. Elder Thornock is the district coordinator of the Snake River Seminary District. He has served as a seminary principal, as director of religious education and counseling at the Utah State Industrial school.

'For Pete's Sake' set Dec. 2 in TF

Gospel Singers set concert

TWIN FALLS — "For Pete's Sake," a film termed "unique in its capacity to reach-out-to meet the problems of people" will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 2 at the Eastside Baptist church, 284 Eastland Drive N., Twin Falls.

The full-length color film was filmed on location in Denver and the Colorado Rockies and tells the story of Pete Harper, a family man and service station owner, who is knocked flat by unexpected problems, but finds the strength to stand and face life anew.

"For Pete's Sake" has been seen nationwide by more than three million persons in theatre premiers and has been termed by critics as "the perfect mixture — drama at its boldest, comedy at its lightest and action at its liveliest. It is a family film, not only because it is good-family-entertainment, but because through its storytelling, families can see and feel exactly what is needed to develop understanding and build stronger ties."

"I guess I didn't have to bid six-oddmond" — muttered South. "Still, it was only bad luck that made me lose the trick."

"Bad luck is right," replied North. "However, a real cause of your defeat was bad play."

South had won the spade lead at trick one and promptly led a trump to dummy's king and East's ace. East had led back a spade and South had no way to keep West from collecting a trump trick.

It was bad luck that West had opened a singleton spade and more bad luck that East had won the trump trick with his singleton ace, but nevertheless South had played badly.

At trick two he should have led a heart to dummy's singleton ace. Then he could lead a low trump from dummy. East would win with the ace and lead back a spade but now South could ruff with a high trump, draw West's last two trumps and claim the slam.

Blackwood group sets Filer date

FILER — The Blackwood Brothers, Nashville, Tenn., well-known gospel singers, will sing at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Filer High School auditorium.

The group, composed of eight men, has traveled more miles, sung to more people and sold more records than any other gospel singing organization, according to Danny Edwards, Twin Falls.

The Blackwoods are winners of four Grammy awards and

No. 1 recording stars of the year. James Blackwood, the only one of the original group, is winner of four Dove awards by GMA as the No. 1 gospel singer.

Tickets will be available at Magic Valley Christian Book Supply or at the door, according to Edwards. Additional information may be obtained from Edwards, 734-3708.

DECS official welcomes inquiry

BOISE — A top official in the Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS) said Wednesday he welcomed the inquiry of the legislative auditor into charges of irregularity in the department.

Mark Litvin, director of field operations in DECS, said there was "nothing to hide" in the department. "We've been in existence for only six months," Litvin said, "and we've made a long way."

Legislative auditor Clyde Koontz said Tuesday he had been authorized by a co-chairman of the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee to conduct preliminary interviews into allegations at the department.

Gen cattlemen slate meet

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Cattlemen's Association will hold its 60th annual convention Dec. 2-4 at the Rodeway Inn with attendance expected to reach 800 persons.

Speakers will include Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, J. Wilson Kellogg, Idaho commissioner of agriculture; Dr. Dick Schermerhorn, Department of Agriculture Economics, University of Idaho; and John Trotman, Montgomery, Ala., president of the American National Cattlemen's Association.

There also will be representatives from agricultural equipment companies and the executive director of the Japanese Trade Center in San Francisco.

Crashes claim two

By United Press International
A two-vehicle accident in Boise and a one-car wreck near Rigby claimed two lives in Idaho over the Thanksgiving Day holiday. State police said latest victims were Stanley David Yanke, 15, Boise, and William J. Lavery, 65, Rexburg.

Yanke died en route to St. Alphonsus Hospital after the car he was driving and another vehicle collided at the intersection of Rose Hill Road and Owyhee Street in Boise.

William R. McPheerson, Boise, a passenger in the Yanke car, was treated for injuries. Dawn Boyce, 17, Boise, driver of the second vehicle, escaped injury.

Lavery died Thursday when the car in which he was riding careened from U.S. 20 three miles north of Rigby and struck a canal abutment.

Services held for judge

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — Funeral services were held today for long-time Idaho Second District Judge Thomas H. Felton. Felton, 67, died Tuesday at a local hospital of cancer. Felton was appointed to the second district judgeship in 1963 by then Idaho Gov. Robert E. Schalte.

Inclusion of areas asked

BOISE (UPI) — Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park called Friday for inclusion of the Big Creek and Monumental Creek areas in the Forest Service's proposed wilderness system.

Joining Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and Sen. Frank Church, Park said he felt the Idaho Primitive Area and the Salmon River Breaks Primitive Area are unique, "irreplaceable assets" both for Idaho and the nation.

He said they should be preserved through inclusion in the National Wildlife Preservation system.

Research money asked

SEATTLE (UPI) — The Audubon Society and a spokesman for the Wood Products Industry at a U.S. Environmental Protection Agency seminar on the Tussock moth agreed to join in seeking additional research money to combat the infestation. EPA Regional Administrator James Agee, who opened the seminar, said discussions of the moth problem generally remained on a scientific level and the tone of the meeting was cooperative, including the Audubon Society and Wood Products Industry agreeing to work together for seeking additional research money.

Name changed

BOISE (UPI) — The organization publishing the Idaho Challenge, a monthly publication dedicated to protecting the state's moral environment, has adopted the name the Idaho Allied Christian Forces.

The organization previously was known as the Idaho Allied Civic Forces.

The 40th annual convention of the IACF approved the change on the recommendation of Dr. Chester Hill, Rexburg, who said it would more correctly identify the people and interests of the association.

The convention also elected Rev. Orion W. Gillinsworth, Boise, an ordained minister of the Church of the Brethren, as president for the coming year, and Reb. Jackie Marshall, pastor of Calvary First Assembly of God in Boise, as vice president.

Vice presidents in charge of organization are Rev. Don Gibbons, Sandpoint; Frank Benson, Boise; H.H. Burkhardt, Twin Falls; Dr. Chester Hill, Rexburg; and legal counsels, Ronald G. Carter and Stanley D. Crow, both of Boise.

Oil lease program studied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Department staff members are reported working overtime on an oil shale "prototype" leasing program, and Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton might approve the plan next week.

After years of controversy and delay, the project is being pushed by the energy crisis.

The leasing program would involve six 5,200-acre oil shale tracts, two each in Colorado, Wyoming and Utah. If Morton's decision does come as expected the leases may be put up for bid one at a time beginning in December.

Barring any large environmental problems, including possible lawsuits, the oil shale industry is planning on the production of one million barrels a day by 1985.

Key gyro fails aboard Skylab

The malfunctioning gyro is located in the solar observatory module mounted piggy-back on Skylab. It controls the craft by shifting one direction or another to, in turn, shift the spacecraft's attitude.

The large gyros are automatically controlled by a set of smaller ones that sense the ship's attitude. Mission Control can intervene by sending a computer command to the smaller gyros to change the large gyros' position.

The smaller gyros gave controllers numerous problems during the first two Skylab flights this year, but the last crew made a spacewalk to install a special six-pack of gyros to replace the faulty ones.

The failures in the two systems were apparently unrelated. The malfunction will not affect the comet photography made through the station's windows because the ship doesn't have to be moved. The pilots were given a light load today to let them rest from the spacewalk, but did not include taking photos of Kometek from the window as the Apollo command ship docked at the nose of Skylab.

FAIRFIELD — Sagebrush stretches for miles on the ranchlands at the base of Soldier Mountain where New Jersey entrepreneur Roger Crandlemire recently has purchased 3,071-acres of property, purportedly only for ranching purposes.

Could such barren but beautiful territory be desirable for tract homes and recreation?

Fairfield forester Bob Martin thinks so. Although a long time off if developed at all, a ski area has been outlined in a local land use plan as a possibility for Soldier Mountain, Martin said.

The US Forest Service is keeping this potential in mind when approving timber cutting on the mountain, he added.

However, the ski area would be on the north side of Soldier Mountain. The "most logical" place for a housing and recreation development would be on the east side of the mountain at the Soldier Creek drainage, not on the southern side where Crandlemire's ranches are located, Martin said. Even so, Martin believed Crandlemire was probably buying land for development purposes.

The area is dotted with hot springs, easily available on private ground, rancher Mike Randall said. Randall believed these hot springs would be "conducive" both to recreational development and to geothermal industry.

Unlike any other mountain in Idaho, Soldier runs from east to west, Randall said. This unique formation lets residents see both sunrise and sunset, he maintained. This is another important geographical factor promoting development, he believed.

Doug Hallowell, who now leases 610 Ranch which his father recently sold to Crandlemire, said the weather is 10 to 12 degrees warmer on his property than it is on the Baldwins to the south and that the wind is much more mild.

Hallowell said Crandlemire mentioned these features as being good for cattle ranching when he bought the property. The lack of wind and the warmer temperatures would also be good for development, Hallowell said.

The Camas County Zoning Commission, which is drawing up plans for the county, has designated the Soldier Mountain foothills and creeks for possible development.

Jack Frostenson, chairman of the commission, said "developmental type zone" was planned for the foothills and a "higher density recreational development type zone" was designated for Soldier, Willow, Elk and Chimney creeks. He said the commission had not determined exactly what type developments might be put in these zones.

Meanwhile, Roger Crandlemire, a brother George has been busy putting in a cross-country motorcycle run, a lake, a 10-acre horse breeder stable and a housing development on property which he owns around Fairfield.

On an 810-acre parcel, George has bulldozed hillside brush ground for motorcycle grounds which go up and down hills and across ditches and other obstacles, Hallowell said.

George Crandlemire said the run would be for competition and that the annual Peacock Hills Race would be held there next summer.

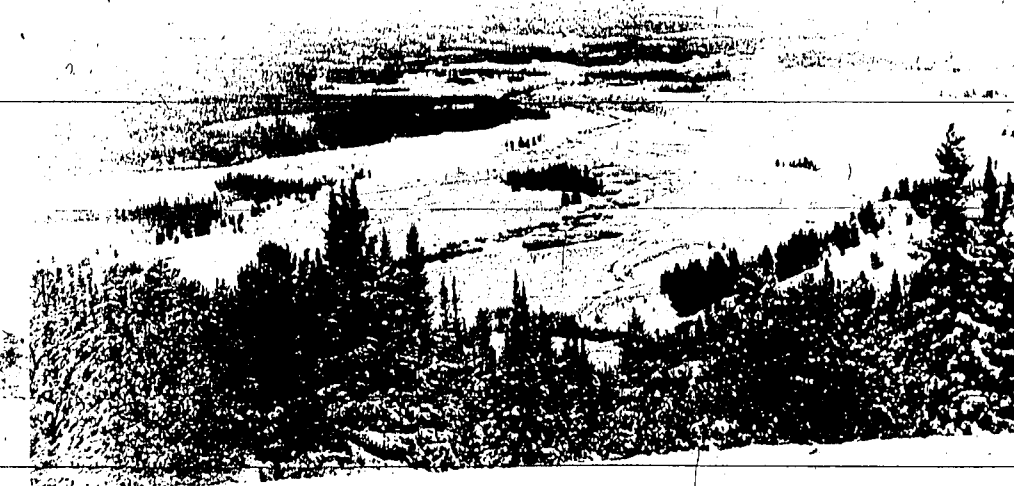

Camas County has approved Crandlemire's Smoky Dome Ranches Subdivision on 160-acres of land. The land will be divided into 16 parcels of 10-acres each.

Randall believes that features like artificial lakes, stables and motorcycle runs would attract tourists and recreation home buyers, raising the monetary value of the property.

"I love horses," George Crandlemire said, maintaining that his introduction of a lake, a stable and a motorcycle run was not to make Fairfield a development center. He said that putting in a motorcycle run also stemmed from his personal interest in cycles.

Roger Crandlemire is planning to drill for water allegedly for irrigation purposes, Randall said. Such irrigation would permit him to raise more alfalfa. But, the wells might also be useful as a water source for a development, Randall maintained.

"Generally large corporations play it close to the vest because they don't want to see land values go sky high," Peter Janms, who shares ownership of Three Mile Ranch with Randall, said. Janms did not know if the Crandlemires are planning development but he wondered "why anybody would go to the trouble of tying up that much land."

Student rivalry reported to Minidoka school board

RUPERT — Problems created from fights between the Spanish-American students and other students has been brought to the attention of Minidoka school trustees.

Mrs. Mary Ann Bohlen, PTA president, suggested that bilingual parents be urged to help tutor students who have insufficient English to enable them to learn according to their capacity. She suggested this may be one reason for the tension.

Ray Jarvis, deputy sheriff, reported problems with students bringing switchblades to school. He said he believes when a student is removed from school by a law enforcement officer, both parents should be required to bring him or her back. The officer said it is too easy for a student to return to school after being suspended.

It was pointed out it would help if the Spanish-American children had more bilingual teachers during grade school. Lack of communication also is part of the problem.

"We on the outside don't see the whole picture," Earl Carlson, West Minico Junior High School, said. "Too many parents don't care if their children make it to school or not. Parents need to take more responsibility with their children."

Several concerned parents appeared at the board meeting to express their views.

In other business the board:

— Heard a report on problems with the water taps at Minico High School.

— Took under investigation a request from Jim Kline and Kenneth Grester from the Jehovah Witnesses to use the high school for two days next October. They want to use the gymnasium, cafeteria and four classrooms.

California couple hurt

GOODING — A California couple was reported in good condition this morning at Gooding County Memorial Hospital following an auto accident early Thanksgiving Day.

Joyce McNeas, 28, and her husband, Lee, 29, were injured when their car left the end of Interstate 80 near King Hill and rolled over twice before coming to rest on an embankment.

According to Idaho State Patrolman Richard Wills, Mrs. McNeas received a broken pelvis, while McNeas suffered a deep laceration to the abdomen. An infant belonging to the couple was not injured, Wills said.

Wills said the accident occurred about 1 a.m. Thanksgiving morning. The McNeas vehicle was westbound on I-80 and had gone into the single lane at the end of the freeway south of King Hill when McNeas apparently lost control on black ice.

The car went off the right side of the road and rolled over two times, coming to rest on its wheels, Wills said. He said Mrs. McNeas was thrown from the vehicle as it rolled.

The McNeas vehicle was completely demolished.

borders and afterwards to give the Palestinians their "legitimate rights."

Dayan said Israel maintained superior strength over the Arabs but "we have problems connected to both the military war and the political struggle."

"The fact that the Arabs cannot wait any longer and they must have the peace conference is not because peace burns through their bones but because they are waiting for us to withdraw," Dayan said.

"The question, to my mind, is not whether we go or not—the question is whether we will go there to struggle on this matter... "Otherwise this will be a conference of withdrawal and surrender because the Americans want us to withdraw and the Arabs want us to surrender."

Dayan said "the principal subject is the struggle on what will be the borders of the State of Israel." Opposing Israeli withdrawal from most territories captured in the 1967 Middle East war, Dayan said the Americans "are telling us that we can, that we must depend on security guarantees. Why do we need security guarantees, because our borders then won't be worth anything."

The Israeli National Radio said Yariy and Gumassy talked privately part of the time, with Finnish Maj. Gen. Rinsio Sillanvuo, chief of the U.N. peace-keeping force in the Middle East, sitting in only part time.

The radio also said the talks were interrupted frequently to permit the chief negotiators to consult by telephone with superiors in the respective capitals.

Gumassy told newsmen Thursday that each side had submitted two alternative proposals in the attempt to reach a compromise. He did not disclose any details. Unlike Thursday, Egyptian officials did not allow correspondents in Cairo to visit Kilmeter 101 today. There was no explanation for the ban.

Court test eyed for TF zone laws

"The Canyon Inc. group, in anticipation that the county commissioners will not unfavorably on the petition to vacate," Brumbach said, "met at a noon luncheon Tuesday to discuss what further action, if any, would be taken. It was generally suggested that I and David Mead (Canyon president) approach the county and the planning and zoning commission to see if there was some way short of legal proceedings that could remedy the situation."

Brumbach said he and Mead then met with the county commissioners Wednesday.

The commissioners stated that they were as much in the dark as anyone in regard to the zoning laws as to the extent of their authority," Brumbach said.

"The commissioners indicated a judicial determination to clarify the situation might be welcomed," Brumbach said.

If a lawsuit is forthcoming, Brumbach said, it will be a "friendly" lawsuit where the commissioners and their attorney and Canyon Inc. and, I suppose, the planning and zoning commission decided upon issues that needed clarification and then brought a legal proceeding to have those issues decided with some degree of finality.

The planned meeting between Brumbach and Alexander and the zoning board is "a step in that direction," Brumbach said. If the meeting produces satisfactory clarification of the zoning law a lawsuit may not be necessary, Brumbach said.

He said that clarification of and adherence to the law is the key to ending controversy over zoning for the canyon rim.

"A lot of people on both sides have great ideas on planning and zoning, but the trouble is, these people don't realize they have to temper their ideas with the existing zoning laws," Brumbach said.

The county commissioners are "not at liberty to do anything with the land that they control that they desire," he said. By the same token, he added, developers are not free to do just what they want with the land they own, nor are the people who object to developments.

"That's probably the biggest problem in this whole thing," Brumbach said. All parties are bound by the law, and the law must have its limitations defined.

Developer Harold Frazier said Wednesday he thought "the real question here is individual rights."

Asked if he felt that the petition filed by Canyon Inc. was an infringement upon his rights as a property owner, Frazier said, "I certainly do."

SHOSHONE — Light snow continued to create hazardous driving conditions in most of the Magic Valley district today.

Department of Highways officials in the Shoshone district office said snow was falling this morning in Huley through Stanley on U S Highway 93 with the storm also hitting the Fairfield area.

Snow was reported from Carey to Arco with only a light skiff of snow in the Twin Falls and Burley areas.

About an inch of snow covered the ground in Shoshone and a broken snow floor with icy spots were listed as conditions throughout the district.

State police and county officers reported a slow down in accidents compared to the past few days. No serious accidents occurred in the area during Thanksgiving in spite of heavy traffic, officers said today.

On Wednesday, however, some 30 county and state accident reports were on file in the area. A large truck, one of several to skid on icy Interstate 80 in the vicinity of Burley and Rupert, jackknifed on the interstate causing traffic tie up for some time.

The truck was driven by Robert Schuler, Twin Falls. It did not overturn as stated in a Times-News story Thursday.

Fund tops $100,000

JEROME — C. J. Marshall, president of St. Benedict's Hospital Foundation, said today that the Fund Development has gone over the $100,000 mark toward the foundation goal of $350,000.

He said individual giving accounts for 75 percent of all gifts in communities served by St. Benedict's. He said, "the help from the communities served by St. Benedict's has been most gratifying" and stressed that continued support of the foundation will enable the hospital to keep pace "with the rapidly growing population of our service area."

Marshall said interior development, including enlarging the X-ray area, new laboratory facilities, a larger emergency operating room and increasing the size of the nurses station and intensive care areas is right on schedule.

He said the administrative offices, medical records and medical library have been moved to the hospital's first level. He invited members of the area served by the hospital to visit and observe the "interior development."

Marshall said fund development support from communities served by St. Benedict's is being supplemented by contributions from the Boise and Twin Falls areas.

Smith runs North Arizona past Idaho State 36-7

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — Workhorse tailback Jim Smith galloped for 143 yards and three touchdowns to lead Northern Arizona to a 36-7 Big Sky Conference game over Idaho St. in the Mini-dome here Thursday night.

Smith was joined in the NAU running feast by fullback Jim Bullard who piloted 130 yards rushing.

The game was marked by ISU middle linebacker Joe

Mattie's 207th tackle of the season, an unofficial Big Sky Conference record.

Smith broke the game open with a 67-yard run on the first play of the second quarter and that was all the Lumberjacks really needed as they held the Bengals scoreless through the second half. Smith added two more of his one yard runs and Gary Galati led two field goals.

NAU defensive end Kino Flores keyed a vicious pass rush which dropped ISU quarterback 10 times for 81 yards in losses.

The win leaves NAU with a 4-0 record and a fourth place finish in league play with a 2-3 mark.

The Bengals ended the season in last place with an 0-4 mark and a 2-9 season overall.

Notre Dame belts Air Force; 'Bama passes to win over LSU

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Notre Dame's Sugar Bowl-bound Fighting Irish shocked Air Force with 21 points in the first 12 minutes Thursday to set up a convincing 40-15 triumph over the Falcons in a nationally televised contest.

The No. 5-ranked Irish recovered four Air Force fumbles and intercepted one pass. They turned four of the turnovers into touchdowns to run their season record to 9-0 while ending a four-game winning streak for the Air Force, which closed its season with a 6-4 record.

Texas cops conference grid title

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Quarterback Marty Akins punched in three short range touchdowns and freshman Raymond Clayborn added two others Thursday to lead 11th-ranked Texas to a 42-13 victory over the stubborn Texas Aggies and give the Longhorns sole possession of the Southwest Conference crown.

Texas fullback Roosevelt Leaks, who surpassed the SWC single season rushing record a week ago and accounted for 87 yards in 16 carries against the Aggies, suffered what doctors described as a severe sprain of his left knee. Akins went out in the third period from heat exhaustion in the sultry Thanksgiving Day battle.

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Alabama quarterback Gary Rutledge shocked previously undefeated Louisiana State with two long touchdown passes to give the second-ranked and unbeaten Crimson Tide a 21-7 win Thanksgiving night and the Southeastern Conference championship.

Rutledge, a 6-1, 170 junior from Birmingham, threw a 49-yard scoring pass to tight end George Pugh and later connected on a 77-yard bomb to Wayne Wheeler.

Rutledge also got Alabama's other score on a 19-yard run as the Tide moved to within one game of a perfect regular season record.

The victory before a crowd of 67,000 and a national television audience, gave Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant his seventh SEC title in his sixteen years at Alabama.

It was the second consecutive year in which Alabama ruined LSU's unbeaten record.

Safety Ricky Davis stopped two LSU drives with interceptions, one at the 5-yard line, and the other in the end zone, as the Tigers lost what coach Charles McClendon had described as "probably the biggest game I've had as far as a team is concerned."

LSU's only score came on a 40-yard fourth quarter run by tailback Brad Davis.

Rutledge's first score was set up when LSU backup quarterback Billy Broussard fumbled and Mike Rains recovered for the Tide at the Tiger 19-yard line. Rutledge moved the Sugar Bowl-bound Tide 57 yards in three plays, the score coming on his pass to Pugh.

In the third quarter, Rutledge threw to Wheeler at midfield as defensive back Mike Williams fell down with a leg injury. Wheeler outran all the other LSU defenders to the end zone.

It was the Tigers' first loss since Tennessee beat them in the last Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl and extended Bryant's record to 8-2 over McClendon.

McClendon played under Bryant at Kentucky.

Notre Dame's reserves played all of the last period after the Irish starters had kept the Falcons in check while contesting to a comfortable lead. Eric Penick scored twice on runs of four to six yards after the Irish recovered Falcon fumbles on the Air Force 11 and 29.

Wayne Bullock ran eight yards for a touchdown to wrap up a 46-yard drive and quarterback Tom Clements passed 14 yards to Dave Casper for a touchdown after the Air Force had fumbled again to nullify its efforts.

The reserves accounted for the last two Irish scores as Cliff Brown passed to Pete Demerle for 22 yards and one tally and Al Samuel ran five yards for another. Bob Thomas converted extra point kicks after all six Notre Dame touchdowns and contributed field goals of 32 and 36 yards as well.

E. Michigan routs Weber

YPSILANTI, Mich. (UPI) — Senior quarterback Frank Kolch hit Reggie Garrett on touchdown passes covering 34, 21 and 38 yards and flipped a 41-yard scoring pass to Jim Grace as Eastern Michigan routed Weber State of Utah, 41-7, in a Thanksgiving Day game that ended the season for both schools.

Kolch's four scoring passes set a single game record for Eastern Michigan and Garrett, who also hauled in an eight-yard scoring pass from Steve Raklovitz, set another record with his four TD receptions.

Garrett, a senior from Silsbee, Tex., scored twice in the third quarter and twice in the second as Eastern Michigan closed with a 6-4 season record. The loss made it a 3-8 season for Weber.

Argentines lead tourney

MARBELLA, Spain (UPI) — Argentine veteran Roberto de Vicenzo, who won the original Canada Cup back in 1953, and his budding partner Fidel Deluca made it a triumph of experience over youth Thursday by taking the lead after the first round of the 72-hole World Cup.

De Vicenzo, 50, sank an eight-yard putt for a birdie on the 18th hole to finish with a four-under-par 68. Deluca, 51, added a 69 on the tricky 6,905-yard Nueva Andalucia course to give Argentina a first day score of 137.

S. Miss. batters Utags 32-8

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (UPI) — Doyle Orange scampered for two touchdowns Thursday afternoon to lead the Southern Mississippi Golden Eagles to a 32-8 win over favored Utah State before a sparse Thanksgiving day crowd.

Orange took a pitch from quarterback Jeff Bower on the Utah State nine for a second period touchdown and went in from the four for the final score.

The Golden Eagles scored on their first possession when Wilson Plunkett took a Bower handoff over from the four.

In the second period the Eagles recovered a Utah State fumble on the Aggie 42, setting up a 34-yard field goal by Ricky Palmer.

Palmer then took the ball 19 yards for a touchdown and a two-point conversion on a pass from Bower to tight end John Sawyer put the Eagles ahead at the half 25-0.

After a scoreless third period, Utah State prevented a shutout when Aggie freshman quarterback Bill Swanson directed an 80-yard drive, hitting junior Kelley Deist with a 26-yard scoring strike. Swanson then added two points on a keeper through center.

Kings okay resignation of Cousy

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The resignation of Kansas City-Omaha-Kings coach Bob Cousy was accepted Thursday night by the Kings' owners, and assistant coach Draft Young was named interim coach.

Cousy announced his resignation Wednesday night after dropping a 103-90 decision to Philadelphia at Omaha.

Club president Joe Axelson said following a meeting Thanksgiving day with the owners that a decision on a permanent coach would be made "in the near future."

Miami damages Dallas playoff dreams with 14-7 decision

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) — Miami seized on an interception by Jake Scott and a 45-yard scoring pass from Bob Griese to Paul Warfield for 14 quick points Thursday and then held off Dallas for a 14-7 victory that badly damaged the Cowboys playoff hopes.

It was the first victory ever over Dallas for the Dolphins, who already have clinched the A.F.C. East title and who won their 10th game against a single loss.

Dallas, with a 7-4 record, fell one game behind the Washington Redskins in the NFC East and now must win its last three games — including one against Washington — to have a chance at its eighth straight playoff berth.

Miami scored on a one-yard run by Larry Cagan following an interception by Scott which he ran from the Cowboys 25-yard line to the 9.

The next time Miami had the ball, Griese found Warfield behind Dallas cornerback Mel Renfro for the 45-yard touchdown.

Dallas kept the ball all but 10 plays of the second and third quarters but could not score any points. The lone Cowboy touchdown came on the second play of the final quarter.

'Skins top Lions, take division lead

DETROIT (UPI) — Charlie Harroway went over 100 yards rushing for only the second time in his eight-year career and caught one of two touchdowns passes thrown by Bill Kilmer Thanksgiving Day when the Washington Redskins took over the undisputed lead in their division with a 20-0 drubbing of the Detroit Lions.

The victory gave Washington an 8-3 record and left the Redskins a game ahead of Dallas, beaten 14-7 by Miami Thursday, in the NFC East. Detroit dipped to 4-6-1.

Harroway gained 106 yards on 18 carries and contributed 16-yard runs to each of the Redskins' two touchdown drives. The only other time the San Jose State graduate had gone over the 100-yard mark was against Dallas in 1971, when he gained 111 yards.

Washington limited Detroit to less than 100 yards rushing and did not allow quarterback Bill

Munson to gain over 100 yards with his passing until they were less than three minutes to go in the game.

Kilmer, who completed 12 of 22 passes for 113 yards, drove the Redskins 74 smooth yards the first time they had the ball and flipped four yards to Harroway for the touchdown.

Curt Knight kicked his 10th straight field goal the later missed three from 25 yards and then added a 23-yard field goal when the Lions gave up the football.

Rookie Ken Stone, picked up earlier in the week from Buffalo, blocked a Herman Weaver punt and Bob Brunet ran 11 yards to the Detroit 33 to put Knight in position for his second field goal.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

The whole town of Hamburg, Germany, caught fire in May of 1942. The heat created great drafts which set the hundreds and hundreds of church bells to ringing. But that same heat expanded the metal of the bells, so untuned them. Thus, the mighty, melodious, harmonious ringing all over the stricken city was described by people there as something like a chorus of moans and whimpered screams. It was said to be as though the entire structure of the place was bowing in pain. Accounts indicate citizens covered their ears and tried to hide and played for silence.

No chess player should remain ignorant of the fact that the first book ever printed in England was "The Game of Chess". "Thumble" in German translates "honor hat".

COOKBOOK
Q "When does the Better Homes and Gardens Cookbook rank on that list of most popular volumes ever published in the United States?"
A It's No. 2 just ahead of No. 1, the Pocket Atlas. And right behind No. 1, Dr. Benjamin Spock's Baby and Child Care Pocket Book.

Costs about $82,000 now to put an officer through four years at West Point, Annapolis or the Air Force Academy, I'm told.

Ever heard of King Mausolus? His tomb at Halicarnassus in what's now Turkey was quite a structure. The most beautiful marble building ever, in fact. His name is where we get our "mausoleum".

FLORIDA
Now, two families move into Florida for every one family that moves out. Inbound traffic to no other state is the equal. Arizona, Hawaii and Vermont come close, but not quite. As for the states where more families exit than enter now, New York and North Dakota rank highest.

CAR REPAIR
A new needle valve and seat for a carburetor cost $7 maybe $8. And in most cases, that's all an out-of-kilter carburetor really needs. "But a mechanic of lengthy experience tells me those occasional auto repair boys who are naughty will quote you the cost of a new carburetor, then promise to save you money with a rebuild job for about $35. And said needle valve plus seat along with a little steam cleaning is what you get. Add the labor rip off. Depressing. At least two years of "Automotive Repair, Theory and Practice" ought to be required for high school graduation.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Wind up work by noon so you can then start afresh to go after what you want for you can project better now than for some time in past.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Look into new, more profitable outlets after lunch. Some new personalities can give you a new approach. Evening fine for the social.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Reach right decisions with associates early so you can get into important work connected with them. Devote p.m. to home and mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): First get work done, then come to better understanding with allies. Do some relaxing later that will restore your energies. Take more interest in public matters.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Plan recreations early before going out. Talk your ideas over with fellow workers and gain their cooperation. Your creativity is high now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Handling home problems in a.m. makes it possible to get out to the business or practical matters you like. Buy new gadgets. Have fun in p.m.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Work efficiently at regular routines in a.m., then improve dwelling. Make out important reports, statements. Home can be a joy tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Hasty money affairs wisely in a.m. so you can go out to recreations without worry. Pay more attention to facts, figures. Make no demands on others tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21): Handle personal affairs well in a.m., then concentrate on the practical. Get property or abode in better condition. Don't neglect necessary repairs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Discuss the future with experts in a.m. for greater success. Improve health and then step out socially and meet interesting persons.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Most analysts figured there would be little action in the market Friday since the market had been closed for a day for Thanksgiving. A long weekend is in store, they said.

The market opened slightly higher in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange. The Dow Jones industrial average was up 0.31 to 859.29. Advances led declines, 205 to 160, among the 489 issues crossing the tape. Turnover amounted to more than 510,000 shares.

There was some bargain hunting late Wednesday, with many stocks down in price sharply. The question of how long the rally would last, however, was moot. Many analysts noted there was a narrow margin between advances and declines in the trading.
