TF gasoline pump prices jump

Dow average skids sharply

NEW YORK (UPI) — Concern over the energy crisis and the possibility it could trigger a recession today toppled the Dow Jones Industrial average below the critical 800 level for the first time in more than two years and sent stock prices still lower. The widely followed average of 30 blue chips dropped to 799.29 by 11 a.m. and continued downward to 799.22 shortly before noon.

Teamsters want 60 mph limit

CHICAGO (UPI) — Teamsters president Frank Fitzsimmons today proposed a 60 mile an hour speed limit for trucks and cars on U. S. highways instead of the 55 mph limit under discussion. Fitzsimmons said diesel powered trucking rigs "operate more efficiently at higher speeds" in a letter to the Nixon administration. On Tuesday, he said the union was not associated with truckers' highway blockages in several states.

French move against unrest

PARIS (UPI) — The French government announced sweeping anti-inflation measures today to ward off spreading labor unrest and safeguard the French economy against recession. Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, outlining the emergency plan on the eve of a 24-hour general strike, said, "We are entering difficult times. An economic slowdown and a world oil crisis are looming."

Bombs wreck Belfast store

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen exploded three bombs in a department store in downtown Strabane today, causing widespread damage and engulfing the building in flames, police said. It was the third bomb incident along the border with the Irish Republic since midnight in what political sources called an Irish Republican Army (IRA) response to talks opening Thursday to try to bring peace to Northern Ireland.

Viets zero in on key town

SAIGON (UPI) — A South Vietnamese military spokesman warned today that North Vietnamese troops on the offensive along the Vietnam-Cambodian border 110 miles north of Saigon may try to capture the town of Gia Nghia, capital of Quang Duc Province. Military sources said reinforcements were flown into Gia Nghia today in case the North Vietnamese moved on the city. Gia Nghia has a small air field which can be used by light planes and helicopters. The Communists hold a number of district towns which are similar to county seats in the United States. The North Vietnamese troops overran one of these Tuesday, Kien Duc, inflicting the worst defeat of the 10-month-old cease-fire on government forces. "After they overrun Kien Duc we think Gia Nghia is the next target of the enemy," Command spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien said. Gia Nghia is 12 miles east of Kien Duc.

US attorney leaps to death

NEW YORK (UPI) — Robert A. Morse, 45, U. S. attorney for Brooklyn and Long Island, leaped to his death from his fifth floor apartment window Tuesday. Court attaches said Morse had been depressed recently. He submitted a scrawled, incoherent letter of resignation Tuesday morning. A note was found in his apartment but its contents were not disclosed.

Henry's itinerary set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will visit six Middle East countries Dec. 13-17 in an effort to get a Geneva peace conference going as hoped on Dec. 18. The State Department said Kissinger's tight agenda calls for him to be in Egypt Dec. 13-14, Saudi Arabia Dec. 14-15, Syria Dec. 15, Jordan Dec. 15-16, Lebanon Dec. 16, and Israel on Dec. 16-17. A department spokesman, George Vest, declined to say specifically that the United States was counting on the Geneva Conference to start Dec. 18. However, officials said privately that announcement of the pre-conference Kissinger schedule could be reasonably interpreted to mean that the 18th is still the target date for the peace conference.

Rebels attack key bridge

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — A 30-man rebel commando force rowed across watery swamps at the south edge of Phnom Penh early to attack a bridge linking the capital to its suburbs. Soldiers who fought off the attack against the Highway 1 bridge over the Bassac River told UPI the insurgents fled in boats after the two-hour battle.

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Runaway oil costs. have come to Twin Falls. A Times-News survey of seven gas stations shows that local gas prices have risen 7.0 per cent on the average during November. Between the beginning of June and the end of October, gas prices increased 4.5 per cent. The cost of premium gas rose most dramatically. While a gallon cost an average of 45.6 cents Oct. 31, it costs 49.8 cents Dec. 1, a 9.1 per cent increase. Regular gas prices rose 6.4 per cent from 43.5 cents to 46.3 cents per gallon during November. Some dealers think these rises are just the beginning. "Personally, I think that gasoline will go to $1 a gallon," Jerry Gasser of Jerry's

Conoco said. Gasser maintained the only way "to stop this flow of gasoline" effectively is to charge high prices. Black marketing would make rationing "a mess" and halfway measures such as banning gas sales on Sunday do no good because people stock up on gas beforehand, he said. Gasser said two things might be done with the huge profits on gasoline sales: The government could take the money in taxes or companies could use the money to develop new technology to produce more gas. "I expect them (gas prices) to rise again, C. C. Benton of South Park Chevron said. "I think they'll go higher by two or three cents within the next two months." But, Benton maintained, there is no way for dealers to know about future price rises because companies do not inform them anymore. Previously, the distributors gave a few days warning of price increases and dealers could stock up on less expensive gas, he said. "Theoretically, I'm rationed now and I have to ration my customers somewhat," Benton said. He now receives 10 per cent less gas than he did last year and he believes there will be another 15 per cent cut by next spring. The gas shortage leaves "some unanswered questions," Benton said. Basically, he wondered why the shortage should come "all of the sudden in 1973." One dealer, who asked not to be named, believed that two oil companies just raised 3 cents per gallon in price. "I've heard (distributor) company people say we'd see 60 cents a gallon before too long," he said. He said that oil prices have just jumped 10 cents a quart — from 76 cents to 86 cents for a quart of regular oil. Prices rose considerably slower at the self-service than at service pumps. On Dec. 1 self service was 41.9 cents per gallon, up 3.7 per cent from 40.4 cents a month ago. Premium gas cost 45.4 cents per gallon the first of this month, up 4.6 per cent from the 43.4 cents per gallon price at the end of October. While the lower self-service prices are rising slower, however, there are fewer self-service pumps operating. Whereas five of the seven stations surveyed had self-service at the beginning of summer, only two of the stations maintain these pumps now.

Home heat oil price boosted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Cost of Living Council today gave refiners permission to increase the price of heating oil by 2 cents a gallon, but ordered them at the same time to cut gasoline prices by a penny a gallon. The two-part action, to take effect in January, is intended to provide petroleum companies with a financial incentive to produce more so-called "distillate fuel"—such as home heating oil, diesel fuel used by trucks and small boats, kerosene and aviation fuel—and less gasoline. The objective of the government is to assure an adequate supply of heating oil for Americans this winter while reducing gasoline consumption and possibly thereby avoiding direct rationing. In a separate action aimed at maverick truck drivers who have been clogging some key highways, the council said it had begun a survey to determine if trucksters were selling diesel fuel at prices above those permitted under the federal stabilization program. The administration's philosophy on gasoline is to take every step short of outright rationing to discourage driving. The boost in heating oil will increase the average price about 7 per cent from 20 to 30 cents a gallon. However, motorists will not realize the benefits of the penny a gallon rollback in gasoline prices. That is because of continuing increases in crude oil prices that are allowed to be passed through the distribution system from refiner to retailer under stabilization rules. Director John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council said talks with industry officials had convinced the council that refiners now "are operating substantially below the physical limits of their capacity to produce heating oil." The President is expected to make a decision within a month on the rationing question.

Power hearing Thursday

HAILEY — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission will conduct a hearing Thursday on the Idaho Power Co. request to construct a turbine generator and other facilities in Blaine County. The hearing will begin at 9 a.m. at the Grange Hall, Hailey. The utility has requested permission to construct and install a 50-megawatt combustion turbine generator and related facilities at its Wood River Substation, north of Hailey. The application also proposed to rebuild and convert company transmission lines in the area. The Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commission has scheduled a Dec. 13 public hearing on Idaho Power's application for a variance to construct the generator and related fuel storage facilities. That hearing is set for 8 p.m. in the county courthouse.

AF dam bill over hurdle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs unanimously voted today to approve a bill authorizing replacement of the American Falls Dam. The action came at a meeting of the full committee. Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said the approval put the bill over a major hurdle. He said the measure will likely be approved by the entire house in the next few weeks. Hansen said he will ask the House leadership to schedule the bill on the calendar for debate and a final vote on the first day that bills may be considered under suspension of the rules. Such a vote could come Dec. 17, he said. The legislation would authorize replacement of the deteriorating dam using a bond issue by water users to finance most of the work. Idaho Power Co. has proposed repayment of up to $10 million in bond retirement funds in return for falling water to generate power. Estimated cost of the dam replacement is about $25 million, with the proposed new power plant costing an estimated $30 million more. The plan would also provide for a dual crossing of the Snake River on and below the new dam. Similar legislation passed the U. S. Senate in June.

Crash kills Shoshone man

SHOSHONE — A North Shoshone man, Roy F. Walker, 71, died about 1:50 a.m. today of injuries suffered in a traffic accident north of Shoshone on a county road. Shoshone City Officer David Swarner, who investigated for county authorities, confirmed the accident occurred about 12:30 p.m. on a county road west of Johnny's Country Store. He said the victim was apparently the driver of the vehicle. His son, Larry Walker, 32, was treated by a Shoshone physician and taken to St. Benedict's Hospital by Bergin ambulance in fairly good condition. The driver died in the office of a Shoshone physician where he was taken for emergency treatment following the accident. Officer Swarner said no other details of the accident could be given until he has had time to complete the accident report.

PROTESTING truck drivers tie up traffic along Interstate 80 near Blakeslee, Pa., Tuesday night. They objected to 45 mile an hour speed limit. Similar tie-ups occurred in Ohio, New Jersey and other states today, with some drivers calling for a national strike. (Story, p. 8.) (UPI)

Secretary can't tell more about blank tape

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rose Mary Woods, President Nixon's personal secretary, testified today she had no knowledge of how 18 minutes were obliterated from one Watergate tape or whether there was any deliberate tampering with the tapes. Miss Woods, suddenly recalled to the stand on order of U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, said she had no additional information to give regarding the mystery of Nixon's tapes. "Do you have any knowledge that anyone tampered with, altered, erased or obliterated any portion of those tapes?" asked Jill Volner, as an assistant special prosecutor. "No, ma'am I don't," Miss Woods replied. Miss Woods testified twice previously in Sirica's hearing on the White House tapes—once on Nov. 8 when she did not mention an 18-minute gap on a taped conversation between Nixon and his former aide H.R. Haldeman on June 20, 1972, and again on Nov. 26 when she said she may have caused part of the gap. Sirica, saying he wanted to "get to the bottom" of the problem, ordered Miss Woods recalled. "We want to find out the truth in this matter," Sirica told Miss Woods during her 65 minutes of testimony. "Do you know anything that would throw light on this very serious problem about what caused that 18-minute gap?" He told Miss Woods his hearing into the tapes case was "the greatest forum you'll ever have the opportunity to speak in" but stressed "this is not a trial." "I think it is a trial," Miss Woods replied. "I have been tried by a jury of newspapers, radio and media."

Wendell mayor's car stolen

WENDELL — Wendell mayor Eugene Soares' car reportedly was stolen Tuesday from behind his business in downtown Wendell. The car was parked behind the Cash Grocery about 8 p.m. Tuesday with the keys left in it. The police were notified about noon when Soares' found his car missing. It is a dark blue 1972

Chevrolet four door sedan. The theft is being investigated by the Wendell City Police and the Gooding County sheriff's office. Deputy Sheriff Jim Burke said there are no leads or suspects and "we will just have to wait until the car shows up."

More clashes

By United Press International
Israel and Egypt reported a dramatic increase in cease-fire violations along the Suez Canal cease-fire line today. A senior Israeli military officer, said Israeli troops had been placed on an "alarm status" on the Egyptian and Syrian fronts and were prepared for fighting on the Jordanian front as well.

McClure against supplying Israel

By LESTER KINSOLVING
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Idaho's Republican Sen. James McClure, who returned Tuesday from a visit to five Arab nations, told a press conference he will urge the U. S. government: "To continue to support Israel's right to exist as a nation, but no longer supply her with military weapons so she can maintain control over Arab lands. She must pull back to the pre-1967 borders."

Sen. McClure also said: "I hope a flow of Arab oil to the west can result. It is quite possible to be a phased result in this regard if there is a phased Israeli withdrawal."

"I do not want to see Israel destroyed, pushed into the sea, and for this reason I oppose massive military aid. Give her what she needs to defend her borders, surely, but not what she needs to escalate war. . . . Time is not on the side of three million Israelis against nations of 100 million Arabs.

"King Faisal stated to me the embargo will be lifted when two conditions are met: Israeli withdrawal of all lands occupied during the 1967 war, and the rights of the Palestinians must be recognized.

"My ultimate goal is to avoid that day when the U. S. finds itself with no option left but to send troops to the Middle East — which is a most likely outcome if Israel doesn't withdraw and the rights of the Palestinians are not recognized."

When asked if he had visited Israel, McClure said, "I planned to, but I thought five nations were enough for this one trip."

The Idaho senator was asked about 1956, when under intense pressure from the United States, the Israelis evacuated Sinai only to have it filled with Nasser's tanks 11 years later — and whether he believes it is at all realistic to expect the Israelis to turn over Golan Heights to the Syrians.

SHOSHONE — Incumbents were re-elected in all four Lincoln County highway districts Monday.

In the Shoshone Highway District, George Dewey, with 26 votes, and Morris Gerard, with 31 votes, were elected for additional four-year terms.

Dick Ward received 12 votes and Joe Thompson received 16 votes to recapture their seats on the Kimama Highway District Board of commissioners. Gary Johnson received 5 write-in votes in the contest.

In the Dietrich Highway District, Ralph Towne received 39 votes in winning re-election to his board post. Towne defeated write-in candidate John Stoker, who received 11 votes. Martin Jauregui also retained his seat when he received 37 votes to beat write-in candidate Jim Burgoyne, who received 12 votes.

Richfield Highway District incumbents F. M. Crowther and Kenneth Johnson were re-elected. Crowther received 30 votes and Johnson 29.

In the Glens Ferry Highway District election in Elmore County, Dan Irons was re-elected to a four year term. Irons defeated George Withers 165 to 64 in winning reelection. Neither Wilson Steen nor George Willis, the other two members of the Glens Ferry board, were up for re-election.

In the Lincoln County Cemetery Maintenance District election also held Monday, George Young and Frederick Struchen were re-elected to the district board. Young received 22 votes and Struchen 19.

Burley Council okays mobile home ordinance

BURLEY — Most of the agenda for the Burley City Council was tabled Monday due to the absence of both the mayor and city clerk.

The council did approve a mobile home ordinance following the third reading. The ordinance will be in effect following publication.

An ordinance outlining regulations for street excavation will be studied and reworked for presentation at a later date.

According to city attorney William Parsons, a rough draft of the ordinance had been in circulation for over a year but no action had been taken.

Otis Orton said he would sell about one acre of land to the city for a water well and tank at a cost of about $5,000.

In addition, Orton said he would contribute one or two acres in the same area for a small park.

It was pointed out that the land being offered was outside the city limits but, according to Parsons, the council can go outside the city limits for water and recreation.

The council took no action but will study possibilities for the park and investigate the area to determine if enough water is available.

Councilman Les Morgan reported that the present fire department property had been appraised at $40,000 retail value. It was earlier reported that the cost of remodeling the old National Guard Armory building for use as the new fire station would be about $36,150.

Parsons told the council that in order to sell the present property the council would have to pass an ordinance of intent to sell. If 10 per cent of the people who voted in the last mayoral election, or about 170 people, protested the action, it would have to be voted upon, according to Parsons.

In effect, it would take the council at least 90 days to dispose of the property.

The council discussed budgeting funds for remodeling of the armory building in the interim budget so work could begin as early as Jan. 2.

No decision was made. Councilman Jerry Vegwert was instructed to discuss remodeling procedures with an architect and report at the next meeting.

The council authorized Parsons to spend up to $2,000 in obtaining air rights in the glide path of the Burley Municipal Airport. The air rights must be obtained before the city can utilize a $40,000 FAA grant for improvements at the airport.

The council adopted an ordinance required to convey and from the city to the county for a planned city-county law enforcement building.

The original agreement was made in March, but Parsons told the council the ordinance was necessary to make the exchange official.

If construction on the building is not started by January of 1976, the property will revert to the city, according to Parsons.

The council instructed street superintendent Jess Norton to draw up specifications for a new road grader for the city in preparation for bidding. According to Norton, the present road grader is over 20 years old.

'Mulligan Stew' program discussed

TWIN FALLS — Vicki Tverdy, new extension urban aide in Twin Falls, discussed the upcoming "Mulligan Stew" program before the Twin Falls County 4-H Council Tuesday night.

She said the television program is designed for young people, ages 9 through 12, and encouraged those interested to contact the extension office for the necessary forms to sign up and receive the packets that have been prepared to go with the program.

She said the program is planned to make young people more aware of good nutrition.

Lynn Merrick, county 4-H agent, told members that there will be a western regional 4-H leaders conference in Hawaii in March and said anyone interested in attending should come to his office for more information. He also said information. He also said wishing to participate in the exchange program to Japan next summer must be submitted to the state office by Dec. 10. The forms are available at Merrick's office.

Kurt Daw and Carolyn Jesser presented a program of slides and a talk about their experiences as 4-H exchange members in Japan last summer.

DON'T GET GAS HYSTERIC!

We're not trying to change your life style — if you have been driving a standard size car and are enjoying it, continue to do so. Trading for a compact automobile is not the answer and you may not like it. Also your gas savings will not be as much as expected.

According to the United States Auto Club the following information was gathered after extensive mileage tests. These tests were run to find out what kind of gas mileage automobiles are getting if they run at 50 miles per hour.

Luxury Car	18.2 Miles Per Gal.
Reg. Size Car	18.2 Miles Per Gal.
Intermediate	20.7 Miles Per Gal.
Compact	20.3 Miles Per Gal.

The only thing President Nixon has suggested to us in connection with the gasoline shortage is to slow down to 50 Miles Per Hour. And by doing this you will accomplish many things, most of which is saving you money. First, you will have a substantial increase in gas mileage as soon by the report from the United States Auto Club. Second, your maintenance cost will decrease by 50%. And third, there will be fewer accidents.

SO, DON'T GET GAS HYSTERIC. . . CONTINUE TO DRIVE THE AUTOMOBILE YOU ENJOY AND ARE USED TO DRIVING!

Equal education urged

Times-News Capitol Bureau
BOISE — One of the state's top education officials said Tuesday he hoped the state legislature would do more than satisfy a district judge when it reestablishes the state public school financing system.

Roy Truby, administrative assistant to the state superintendent of public instruction, said in an interview the legislature should "have" toward true equalization of education opportunity.

"I hope the standard set by the criteria that are necessary to satisfy Judge Dartsch," Truby said. "The standard set should be to equalize educational opportunity for children and not just to meet the scrutiny of the court."

Truby made his remarks when asked about the effect of Judge J. Ray Dartsch's recent ruling on the state system of education. Two weeks ago, the Fourth District Court judge ruled the present method of funding schools in Idaho unconstitutional because it violated a provision in the state constitution calling for a uniform system of schools.

The legislature has until July, 1975 to put the system into compliance.

Truby said some of the long-range effects of the decision would be to add course offerings at some schools because it would lead to "putting the money where the children are."

In addition, he said, while most of the larger districts will probably benefit as a result of any changes in the system, some small districts would benefit — as well — because the state distribution formula would compensate for their size.

Truby also said the court's ruling probably would not lead to uniformity of course offerings at schools around the state. He said Dartsch's ruling mentioned finance — as contributing to inequality, but said nothing about what some schools offered their students.

The only uniformity, the Department of Education enforces, Truby noted, are "minimum accreditation standards."

Truby also said he didn't think the court ruling would provide any impetus for consolidation among the 115 school districts in the state. He acknowledged that consolidation would help equalize the value of property which supported children in the schools, but said there were other means by which that equalization could be achieved.

For the past two and a half years, there has been talk of restoring rail passenger service across southern Idaho.

Sen. Frank Church and others have repeatedly asked Amtrak to bring back that service. Delegates to the Idaho Education Association have endorsed reinstating passenger travel.

So far, it's all been talk. It appears the next move — which is up to Amtrak officials — is to take some action toward reinstating service.

So, Amtrak, let's quit talking and start working on it.

For public's sake

Christian Science Monitor

Court decisions in Massachusetts and Florida bolster an alarming trend toward requiring reporters to identify confidential sources — and thus fettering their pursuit of facts.

The overriding reason is not to protect the reporter — but to protect the public.

It is not to elevate newsmen as an elite with rights beyond those of other citizens — but to help all citizens maintain their rights through being accurately informed.

Running against the apparent trend toward whittling away confidentiality are such hopeful signs as these:

The American public, alerted by Watergate cover-up and disclosure, seems to be recognizing its need to know by increasing its support for newsmen's confidentiality.

Acting Attorney General Robert Borck has given assurances that he would maintain former Attorney General Richardson's order putting teeth into Justice Department guidelines for dealing fairly with the press.

The Supreme Court earlier this year let stand a Chicago decision that a reporter could preserve the confidentiality of his sources in a civil suit.

By contrast — in the wake of last year's Supreme Court decision requiring reporters to reveal sources before grand juries — other events have tended to erode the First Amendment spirit.

The Supreme Court let stand a lower court ruling in a Louisiana case — which came to the strange conclusion that reporters could be required to obey a court order that was itself judged unconstitutional.

The Florida supreme court has upheld an old law requiring in effect that newspapers give "equal time" to political candidates criticized in their pages.

In the crucial realm of confidentiality of sources, a St. Petersburg (Fla.) Times reporter was sentenced to five months for refusing to divulge a source under state subpoena.

The difficulty of writing legislation to shield reporters is suggested by the varying views held even within a blue-ribbon panel favoring it. Such a panel was sponsored last summer in Cambridge, Mass., by the Roscoe Pound-American Trial Lawyers Association.

Digging out becomes tougher task

WASHINGTON — "The deeper they probe into those damn tapes, the worse things look." With that pained remark, an administration official has mirrored the growing apprehension in Congress, among Republican Party leaders, and within the White House itself that President Nixon's task of excavating himself from the rubble of Watergate is becoming more difficult by the day.

The White House apparently has embarked upon a reshuffle or purge of its Watergate legal staff, displaying open displeasure with the performance of J. Fred Buzhardt Jr., erstwhile head of the battery of lawyers handling the case.

And evidence produced in Federal Judge John Sirica's court in recent days, far from clarifying the mystery of an 18-minute erasure in a key tape recording of a presidential conversation three days after the Watergate crime, has created fresh confusion.

The evidence also has revealed a raw and growing rift between the lawyer for Rose Mary Woods, the President's personal secretary, and the White House lawyers engaged in the Watergate case.

Courtroom spectators were startled Thursday when Charles Rhyne, Miss Woods' lawyer, sought confirmation from Buzhardt that two other lawyers working with Buzhardt, Samuel Powers and Lenard Garment, had spent hours "rehearsing" Miss Woods' when she first testified before Judge Sirica last Nov. 8.

The judge ordered the word "rehearsing" stricken from the record when Garment objected. But the exchange revealed a treak in White House ranks which was mystifying and potentially portentous.

It has not yet been explained why Miss Woods, who has been with Nixon for nearly a decade, was told last Thanksgiving by the President's chief of staff, Gen. Alexander Haig, that she could not be represented by White House lawyers. Haig advised her to get her own lawyer, according to Miss Woods. She engaged Rhyne, a longtime friend of the President and a WASHINGTON — The reporter who comes off his beat now and then with the dreamy feeling that he has spent his day in Alice's Wonderland.

In support of that thesis, one might offer the FTC's Docket No. 8830, known as the HI-C Case. HI-C is not, as you might suppose, a note-beloved of mezzo sopranos. It is a fruit-flavored drink, manufactured by the Coca-Cola Company and sold in 10 delicious flavors.

What was involved in this monumental litigation? You would not believe it. You would not believe it in 10,000 years. The whole might, majesty and sovereign authority of the most powerful government on earth were brought to bear on the makers of HI-C because they dared to advertise their product as — brace yourself — as "the sensible drink."

There were other allegations, to be sure, such as the charge that it was unfair and deceptive to say in the ads that children "can drink as much as they like."

To these lowering questions of semantics, all the arts of philology were brought to bear. At some point in time, as we say in Washington, a preliminary conclusion was reached that "sensible" was intended to mean either "sensible economically" or "sensible nutritionally," or possibly, both.

JAMES J. KILPATRICK

The samejmad deliberations were devoted to "high." How high was high? Indeed, the hearing examiner concluded, in an opinion that ran 62 single spaced pages and 144 numbered paragraphs, that the complaint was altogether groundless. The charges had no merit to begin with. The FTC's counsel appealed to the full commission, which on Oct. 5 delivered another 21 single spaced pages, buttressed by 60 footnotes, affirming Judge Jackson's opinion. Two years and seven months after the last ad had appeared, a complaint was thereupon dismissed.

LETTERS Lines asked

Editor, Times-News: With the new speed limit of 50 mph, possibly there will never be another fatality at the junction of highways 30 and 93. Even so, I wonder if it might not be worthwhile to ask our highway departments to consider painting squiggly lines on the approach from the south and installing "wake-up-bumps" across highway 93 to prevent drivers from running the stop sign.

For drivers coming from the east (Twin Falls) and attempting to turn left on the highway to Hollister-Jackpot, there is also jeopardy. Since there is already a regulatory caution light there, might it not be a good idea to program it to a stop (red) and go (green) light?

As population increases in our valley, some changes are going to have to be made, and what better time to train drivers in a new habit than now when they will be going slow enough to observe the change?

To date, there have been three fatalities at that corner, and more than 15 accidents, according to highway patrol records, for 1973 alone.

One answer

Editor, Times-News: Just read the stupidest news item I have read in the paper for some time — Fish May Be Worst MV-Polluters.

No, I'm not blaming the reporter, he only reports what he is told or hears.

We have government agencies designing and building the finest kind of fish ladders and fish hatcheries to keep up our fish population which was getting a bad beating by various high and low rise dams built for flood control and the development of hydroelectric power plants on the Columbia River water shed and other water sheds in the U. S.

Maybe we should make another government agency (They work so well.) to build a fish outhouse. Ops, I mean a fish out pond along every stream along every lake shore, along every reservoir bank, even along the ocean beaches so when a fish wants to go he will have a place to go.

These should be placed at one half mile intervals so a fish will have to swim to each fish out house, ops, I mean fish out pond, as he will have no other means of transportation. The only question is how will he get there at night when it is too dark to see.

We certainly could not install any lighting system with the energy problem we now have which was also somewhat created by EPA, and ecology.

Remember their fight in Congress to stop the Alaska pipe line which could have stopped this fuel shortage.

No, I'm not totally against the EPA and ecology but when they upset the economy of the nation, we the majority of the people better get off our backsides and let this "yapping" minority know how we feel about the situation. I realize we need a certain amount of EPA and ecology, but let's not let it get out of hand. Too many government controlled agencies sure can ruin the best country in the world and that day is coming if we don't watch out.

'Fast heart' worries man

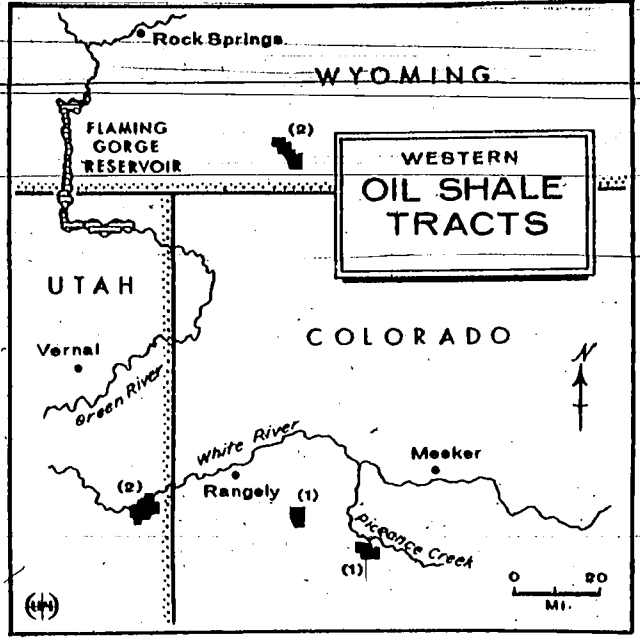

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a 35-year-old male and the doctors say I have a fast heart. I have checked it many times at rest and it beats slightly over 80 beats a minute.

The doctors will not confirm my suspicion, but won't a heart wear out faster at the faster rate? If so what difference would it make on a life span or am I more susceptible to heart trouble? — R. W.

Why should your heart "wear out faster"? Do your legs "wear out faster" if you happen to walk briskly?

The heart beat can speed up a bit because of anxiety, as when you are having it checked, and the rate is likely to be faster, for the same reason, when you check it yourself. And you are, as your letter so clearly indicates, a man who is inclined to be overanxious about his health.

Even at the rate of about 80-plus, I doubt that you have anything to be concerned about. If the somewhat rapid rate were due to some such condition as an overactive thyroid or other organic disease, then the underlying condition should be treated, but that's another matter.

Impact of shale oil on US market still year off

DENVER (UPI) — The United States, a nation thirsty for oil, has not yet gone to the well to draw upon the more than 600 billion barrels of oil locked into the Green River shale formation of Colorado, Utah and Wyoming.

Despite growing demands for oil and increasing problems in getting it, it will be years before shale oil makes an impact on the market. Hollis M. Dole thinks the lack of a marketable product borders on the criminal.

Dole is general manager of the Colony Development Operation, a consortium of four oil firms which has been at work since 1965 studying the problem of removing oil from shale.

"Here we have a resource — certainly one of the great energy resources of the world — and right now we aren't doing anything about it," Dole said. "I think it borders on being a crime that it hasn't been developed before now."

"If for no other reason, the United States should be developing an oil shale industry because we have such a large amount of it," Dole said. "We ought to know what we can do with it. We ought to know how we can handle it, what the costs are and what the technological problems are."

Colony wants to be in the forefront of the commercial development of shale. It has operated a so-called semi-works plant in the Parachute Creek area of northwest Colorado, near the small community of Grand Valley. Now it wants to move on to something bigger.

"We know on a laboratory scale and on a pilot plant scale how to get shale oil," Dole said. "But going from the pilot plant scale to a commercial size plant will involve a lot of technical problems we will only know how to handle when one is built. And that is what borders on being a crime — we have not built a plant before now."

Colony would like to begin construction of a plant in the next year or two, but Dole admits there are many obstacles, among them getting federal, state and local approval to go ahead.

Dole said he knows of at least 38 permits which will be needed, including road and river crossings, air and water discharges and pipeline construction.

Environmental problems admittedly are a headache, but Dole thinks the choice may be between some environmental degradation or alternatives that a mobile nation — which depends upon oil to run its factories and its transportation — would find unacceptable.

"We have to take a lot better care of our earth than we have in the past, no question about it," Dole said. "We must be committed to a quality environment. But we think there is a happy trade off, that there should be, there has to be, a trade off between what is best for the country, what is best for the people, and how much degradation can be suffered."

"We think it can be done and still end up with a quality environment," he said.

Among the environmental problems is the mining of the shale, much of it located on federal lands. Although shale is found on every continent and in at least 39 states of the United States, the world's largest reserves are found in the relatively virgin 17,000-square-mile Green River formation of Colorado, Utah and Wyoming.

Then there are air pollution problems. To get the oil from the shale-rock, it must be heated, then brought back from a vapor state into a liquid state. The end product is a material quite similar but not exactly like conventional crude oil.

One of the most difficult problems is what to do with the spent shale — that which is left after the oil has been removed. Processed shale expands to 10 to 15 per cent greater volume than the original product.

"So on a volume basis, although you might remove a cubic yard, you would end up with more than a cubic yard," Dole said.

Possible solutions include some underground disposal in sections opened by mining, but that would require a lead time of about five years to develop room to move the material in for disposal.

Colony claims to have had success in surface disposal of the processed shale. After dumping the processed shale in a valley, it can be revegetated or covered with natural soil or crushed rock.

Rebozo story of Hughes money sought by Senate 'Gate panel

Big aid bill OK'd

Soviets' cars bugged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's close friend Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo will almost certainly be asked to testify about a $100,000 Nixon campaign contribution from Howard Hughes when the Senate-Watergate committee hearings resume next month.

Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said Tuesday "there's very little doubt Mr. Rebozo will be called."

Ervin made the statement after an aide to Hughes opened a brown attache case before the startled committee and dumped $100,000 in $100 bills on the table, saying "here's the goddamned money."

Chester Davis, general counsel for the Hughes-owned Summa Corp., said the money was that which Rebozo returned to Davis last June. Another Hughes aide has testified he gave the money to Rebozo for Nixon three years ago.

Alexander M. Haig was expected to testify in federal court today about flaws in the Watergate tapes. Administration lawyer Samuel J. Powers told Judge John J. Sirica Tuesday that Nixon's secretary, Rose Mary Woods, may have been responsible for 5-minute of an 18-minute gap in one tape, but he couldn't explain the other 13 minutes.

The bill was inflated by a $2.4 billion administration request for emergency military aid to Israel and Cambodia submitted by President Nixon Oct. 19.

Israel's share of the bill actually comes to $2.6 billion, because other sections give it an additional $400 million in military and refugee resettlement aid.

The full House, meanwhile, passed an authorizing bill for regular foreign assistance Tuesday on a 210-193 vote and sent it to the Senate, where it faces a possible floor fight.

The surveillance operation — code-named Gamma Guppy — was halted, the Post said, after some details of the operation

Tape erasure mystery grows

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite its assurances to Judge John J. Sirica last week, the White House now apparently isn't so sure a secretary's mistake erased 18 minutes of one of President Nixon's crucial Watergate tapes.

Sirica will continue to look for answers to the mystery today when Gen. Alexander M. Haig, who succeeded H.R. Haldeman as White House Chief of Staff, is called to testify at the hearings on the tapes case.

At issue are White House claims two subpoenaed tapes never existed and recent disclosure a third is marred by an 18-minute "hum" obliterating a Nixon-Haldeman discussion about the scandal June 20, 1972—three days after the bugging arrests.

Tuesday, White House lawyer Samuel J. Powers acknowledged on the witness stand that no more than five minutes of the June 20 tape may have been erased accidentally by Rose Mary Woods, Nixon's personal secretary.

He said he and J. Fred Buzhardt, another presidential lawyer, had been "surprised" to discover Nov. 14 that the gap ran 18 minutes and 15 seconds.

"Did you reach any conclusion about the (other) missing 13 minutes?" asked Jill Volner, an assistant special prosecutor.

"Not really; not at that time," Powers replied.

"How were you explaining the 13-minute erasure that you couldn't explain?" Mrs. Volner asked.

"We couldn't explain it," Powers said.

A week ago Monday, when Nixon's remaining tapes were surrendered to Sirica under subpoena, the White House also submitted to him a detailed analysis that contained an explanation of the gap.

The analysis said "it is believed" the entire 18-minute hum was caused by "the depression of a record button during the process of reviewing the tape, possibly while the recorder was in the proximity of an electric typewriter and a high intensity lamp."

Miss Woods, testifying last week, said she apparently punched the "record" button by accident Oct. 1 as she turned to take a telephone call while transcribing the tape.

The Phillips Petroleum Co. and its retired chairman, William W. Keeler, pleaded guilty to making an illegal contribution of $100,000 in cash to President Nixon's 1972 campaign. U.S. District Judge Howard F. Corcoran fined Keeler $1,000 and the company, $5,000.

—President Nixon is considering asking a joint committee of Congress to review his tax returns and financial papers, according to Sen. John C. Tower, R-Tex., who, along with other GOP congressional leaders, met with Nixon Monday.

—The Watergate grand jury, due to expire today, was extended to June 4, and the Senate voted another $500,000 in expenses for its Watergate committee, bringing its total to $1.5 million.

Davis was questioned in executive session by the committee for nearly four hours. Ervin said the witness "cooperated fully" and answered all questions.

Davis and a dozen other Hughes associates subpoenaed by the committee had refused to testify in executive session, claiming the law only required them to appear in public. Ervin said he overruled Davis' argument on this point and he agreed to the private session.

A spokesman for the Summa Corp. said: "From the beginning of this matter, we have sought only one thing—to tell our story in public so that the public can hear all the facts. The committee has repeatedly denied us this right."

When the money was dumped before them, the startled senators scrambled to find a Senate sergeant-at-arms to guard the bills. The bills were photo copied for their serial numbers and returned to Davis.

The committee had subpoenaed the bills to obtain their serial numbers, which will now be investigated to check Rebozo's statements that he kept the money in a safe deposit box at his Key Biscayne, Fla., bank for three years and never gave it to Nixon.

The committee is reportedly investigating the possibility the money was among that given Nixon by Rebozo and another

JANIE ARMSTRONG, Consulting Home Economist for Buttreys Food Stores

About this time each year, cooks start thinking about turkey: how much to buy, how long it will take to thaw, how to roast and at what temperature. So, let's talk about turkeys.

With a self-basting turkey, you needn't continually check the oven and baste if as needed. You see, a limited amount (3%) of basting solution is injected into the bird during processing, so later on you roast it; this solution is released throughout the meat. This results in having a turkey that is moist, tender and flavorful throughout — whether breast meat or drumstick!

You may prefer a fresh turkey that has never been frozen, over a frozen one. The weekend before Christmas you'll find a good selection of fresh turkeys at Buttreys; though if you need a particular size, it's a good idea to order it ahead, by December 8th.

Both fresh and frozen turkeys are available in a wide range of weights, so even small households can enjoy a traditional turkey dinner. Turkeys range from 6 to 9 pounds (Beltsville type), 10 to 14 pounds (Hens), and 18 to 22 pounds (Toms).

You'll find turkey prices higher this year than last. But turkey, compared to some other meats, still represents a good value, economically and nutritionally.

Now, to answer those questions:

How much to buy: If less than 12 pounds, plan on 1 pound per serving; if the turkey weighs more than 12 pounds, allow 1/2 pound per serving.

How to thaw: Thaw in bag in refrigerator 2 to 4 days (about 24 hours for each 5 to 7 pounds). Or, thaw in unopened plastic bag in COLD water, changing water frequently, 6 to 8 hours (about 1/2 hour for each 1/2 pound).

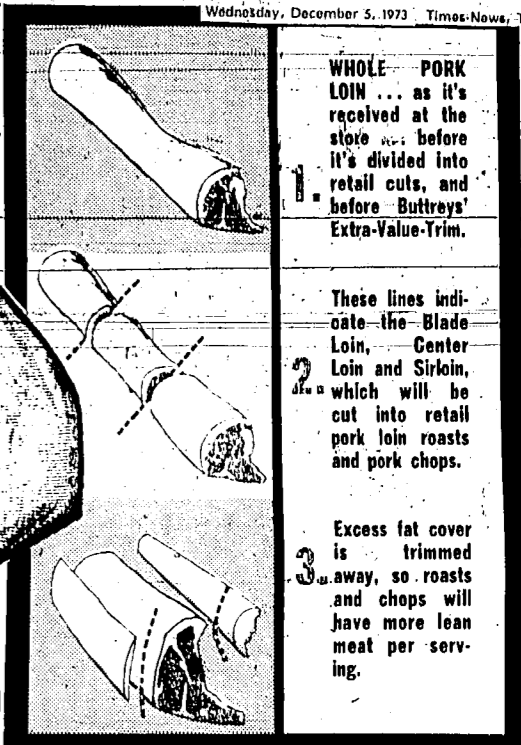

How to roast: There are several ways to roast a turkey and it's really your decision, but whatever — the oven temperature should be 325° and the turkey should be cooked to an internal temperature of 180° to 195°. This means the best advice to you is to use a meat thermometer. Choices of roasting include open or uncovered, covered pan, foil tent, and brown paper bag method. The self-basting turkeys take relatively less time than regular turkeys.

If you have further questions, don't hesitate to ask your Market Manager.

IT CAN CUT PER-SERVING COSTS GREATLY!

You can pay less per pound, but more per serving portion, if the meat you buy hasn't been properly trimmed of excess fat and bone. Buttreys' Extra-Value-Trim offers extra value, through proper trim. When you consider the amount of meat you buy in a year, for instance, the way costs meats are cut and trimmed can be very important in realizing the most value (more usable meat) for your money spent. To cut your per-serving costs on meats, carefully consider the trim when you compare price. Try to think "cost per serving."

WHOLE PORK LOIN ... as it's received at the store ... before it's divided into retail cuts, and before Buttreys' Extra-Value-Trim.

These lines indicate the Blade Loin, Center Loin and Sirloin, which will be cut into retail pork loin roasts and pork chops.

Excess fat cover is trimmed away, so roasts and chops will have more lean meat per serving.

DST measure wins Senate nod

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Both houses of Congress have passed bills to put the country back on Daylight Saving Time, and perhaps save 1 to 1.5 per cent of the fuel it would otherwise consume.

If Congress hurries through the rest of the legislative process, clocks could be pushed an hour ahead for the next two years before New Year's Eve.

Differences between the House version and the version the Senate adopted Tuesday by a 68-10 vote must now be reconciled by a House-Senate conference committee.

The chief difference is a Senate provision to permit the legislatures in states with divided time zones to exempt one zone from daylight time.

Sen. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., said without that provision children in eastern Kentucky would go to school in the dark.

If that region is under saving time in the winter, it will be 9 a.m. EDT before the sun is seen in early January, Cook said.

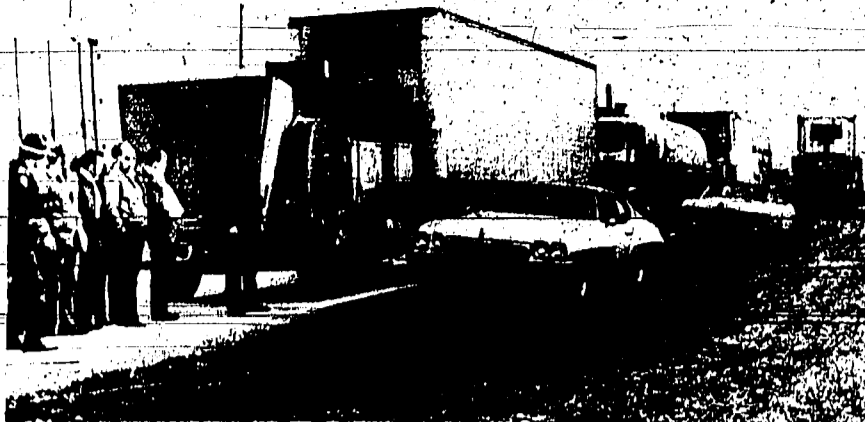

He said his amendment would affect these states: Alaska, Arizona, Florida, Hawaii, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, North Dakota, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas and Utah.

In addition, the entire areas of Alaska and Hawaii could be exempted by their states legislatures under Cook's amendment.

Proponents of the bill said the bill would reduce traffic accidents, reduce street crime and aid business by extending the amount of daylight time for shopping.

A Senate amendment permits the Federal Communications Commission to consider adjusting the power and hours of sunrise-to-sunset radio stations which would otherwise be required to stay off the air while the audiences arise.

Cars edge past truckers' blockade in Ohio

Trucks block key roads

By United Press International

Truck drivers protesting lower speed limits and higher fuel prices caused by the energy crisis blocked major roads in several states Tuesday.

Trucking unions disavowed the action, but further protests seemed likely.

Drivers of the big rigs claimed the 50-55 mile an hour speed limits being imposed in state after state were hurting them badly. They claimed salaried drivers paid by the mile covered less ground, while independent owner-drivers taking extra time to finish runs were losing income from other jobs.

Teamsters Union President Frank Fitzsimmons said the union was "in no way associated with nor do we support" the deliberate traffic snarls. However, he agreed that trucks "fueled with diesel operate more efficiently at higher speeds" and pledged to go to Washington today to urge President Nixon's fuel advisers to set a nationwide speed limit of 60 mph instead of 55 mph, as proposed.

William A. Bresnahan, president of the American Trucking Association, said his membership had "absolutely nothing to do with this disruption of traffic. We do not condone it and in fact deplore it." The ATA said the protests were being staged by non-union independent owner-drivers.

But "Overdrive" magazine, a trucking publication in Los Angeles, supported the blockades and called for a national shutdown by independent drivers on Dec. 13-14.

Michael Parkhurst, editor and publisher of the magazine, told a news conference his shutdown call reflected the "disgust" of independent operators at the speed restrictions. The magazine predicted as many as 50,000 trucks would participate in the shutdown.

Truckers' actions were reported in Pennsylvania, Ohio,

New Jersey, Connecticut and West Virginia Monday night and Tuesday. They put their big rigs across major highways for varying lengths of time, badly tying up traffic in several cases.

A state-by-state breakdown: Pennsylvania — State Police said "hundreds" of drivers used their rigs to block east and west bound lanes of Interstate 80 near Blakeslee in eastern Pennsylvania for nearly six hours Tuesday morning, backing up traffic for 10 to 15 miles. Later in the day drivers of about 100 trucks used their vehicles to block Interstate 80 near the Lamar Interchange in western Pennsylvania. State police said 50 to 60 drivers blockaded Interstate 80 near Lock Haven, Pa., Tuesday night, and 20 to 30 rigs were halting traffic on the same highway near Bartonville in the eastern part of the state.

Ohio — In Cambridge, about

50 tractor-trailer drivers parked their rigs for 90 minutes on Interstate 70, backing up traffic for 2-1/2 miles.

New Jersey — In Blairstown, a lone trucker pulled his rig across two lanes of Interstate 80 in northwestern New Jersey and blocked traffic for two hours. The driver was arrested and fined $25, plus $10 costs.

West Virginia — A truck driver jackknifed his rig on Interstate 70 near Wheeling Tuesday and tied up traffic for about an hour in another protest demonstration. Sheriff's deputies arrested Walter Barclay of Bellevue, Neb., and levied a small fine against him before releasing him.

Connecticut — Twelve truck drivers blocked Interstate 84 along the Connecticut-New York state border for 35 minutes Monday night. They moved on at the request of Connecticut police, saying that New York officers were abusive.

Police receive court backing

(c) Washington Star-News

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court indicated Tuesday that a solid majority of the nine justices would continue to support police and prosecutors in criminal cases.

The court, in the first ruling during the term on a criminal case, split 6-3 in the same fashion it had on numerous criminal matters in recent years.

Supporting the position of authorities in an Oregon case were the four justices appointed by President Nixon — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Harry A. Blackmun, Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist — along with Justices Potter Stewart and Byron R. White.

The dissenters favoring the defendants' side were Justices William O. Douglas, William J.

Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall.

The ruling today came in a relatively minor criminal case involving a judge's instruction to jurors that there was a "presumption of truthfulness" about the testimony of witnesses. The only witnesses at the trial appeared for the prosecution.

The 9th United States Court of Appeals overturned the robbery conviction of a defendant charged with holding up a Portland, Ore., grocery store on the ground that the instruction placed the burden on the defendant to prove his innocence.

"This is so repugnant to the American concept that it is offensive to any fair notion of due process of law," the appeals court had asserted.

Danish chief quits

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Prime Minister Anker Joergensen resigned today, the victim of a shattering election defeat by an iconoclastic coalition led by a millionaire lawyer vowing to end the income tax and abolish the armed forces.

Joergensen submitted his resignation to Queen Margrethe but agreed to head an interim caretaker government until a new one is formed.

His Social Democratic party won a plurality in Tuesday's elections despite suffering the worst defeat in its century-old history.

The aquat, bearded former union leader spent 15 minutes at Amalienborg Castle briefing the queen on the outcome of the voting. Afterwards, flanked by two towering palace guards, Joergensen told newsmen:

"My cabinet took the consequences of the poor election returns and resigned. The queen asked me to head a caretaker government."

Asked if he would accept the job of forming a new government, Joergensen said, "I don't think that is realistic after the election outcome (but) I'll work out something."

Romania aid due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon and Romanian president Nicolae Ceausescu will sign a joint declaration today pledging cooperation between their two nations in the political and economic fields.

The document will be signed when the Romanian leader arrives at the White House for a farewell meeting with Nixon.

The two leaders have already signed mutual aviation, fisheries and taxation pacts.

Ceausescu broke the news that a "document of historical importance will be signed" in his toast at a state dinner in his honor Tuesday night.

"It is going to be a document of historical importance in its own way and by the mere fact that it expands the relations and the principles that govern the relations between countries that are different in many ways but which are united in their desire to cooperate in building friendship between them, and in building a world of cooperation and peace," Ceausescu said.

Auto sales show mixed pattern

DETROIT (UPI) — With about 200,000 auto workers either idled or facing layoff in the coming month, U.S. automakers today reported November sales were up 13 per cent as Americans search for economical small cars.

General Motors and Chrysler said sales for the month were down 16 per cent from a year ago and Ford was expected to report a drop of about 13 per cent. Only American Motors bucked the trend by reporting a 12-year high for November as sales were up 14 per cent from last November.

It was the second consecutive month that U.S. automakers have reported a drop from a year ago, something that hasn't happened in the auto industry since the 1970 recession. It also marked the seventh straight 10-day period since 1974 models were introduced in mid-September.

The threat of gasoline rationing and the uncertainty over the economy has kept many prospective customers out of the market, said one analyst. Also affecting sales was the demand for small cars which the automakers haven't been able to meet.

"The current sales levels are a reflection of the uncertain market conditions that have existed in the marketplace for the past few weeks that are causing some customers to defer their buying decisions," said Mack W. Worden, GM vice president for marketing.

One Chicago-area dealer observed the same thing during the past week.

"The consumer is becoming quite cautious," he said. Our economy line is under good demand. The only trouble is that the factory is not producing them fast enough."

Ironically, the luxury cars are bucking the slump. Cadillac dealers in November set their seventh straight monthly record and "smashed" their all-time calendar year sales mark established in 1972.

But the standard-sized cars — the Fords, Plymouth Furys and regular Chevrolets — are down sharply from last year. "People who might have bought them last year are going for intermediates or small models now," said one Detroit Ford dealer.

The effects of the sudden downturn in sales still haven't been felt completely. The "Big Three" automakers have announced more than 200,000 workers face layoffs during December and early January, but some economists predict the big layoffs will peak during the first three months of 1974.

French labor strikes

PARIS (UPI) — Thousands of rail workers began their own three-day walkout today on the eve of a 24-hour nationwide strike to protest soaring prices. The walkout caused mile-long traffic jams and made commuters hours late for work.

Railroad officials said only one train in four was running in the Paris suburbs and only occasional trains were leaving Paris on the mainline networks to provincial cities.

The railmen went on strike at 4 a.m. and announced they will stay out until 2 p.m. Friday.

The resulting traffic snarl coincided with lowered speed limits imposed by the government to economize on oil.

France's major labor unions and several left-wing political parties called for Thursday's strike last month when government officials disclosed France's inflation rate was running at an average 11 per cent a year.

In the midst of today's rail walkouts, President Georges Pompidou's cabinet met to approve an emergency package of anti-inflation measures.

France faces still more chaos Thursday with expected road and rail problems, electric power cuts, shutdowns in many industries and stagnation in the ports. No newspapers will publish and few schools will be open.

Expected to add to the chaos will be cuts in bus services and a shortage of taxis.

Officials of the state electricity board have said they will try to maintain power to private users, but labor leaders said there will be cuts in industrial supplies, further hitting factories whose own workers plan to strike.

New method cuts Skylab fuel use

HOUSTON (UPI) — One astronaut said its like putting a garbage can over your head and having someone thump it from the outside. But it worked and the Skylab astronauts used less of their precious fuel than planned during their latest maneuvers.

Astronauts Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue used 18 per cent less of the gas needed to stabilize their eightroom space laboratory than was expected Tuesday. Their accomplishment earned them praise from flight director Milton Windler.

"They're probably not as proficient at this point as the Skylab 2 crew was, but they're getting ahead," he said.

During one spin around the Earth, the astronauts flew Skylab upside down. Mission control kept track of every time the astronaut fired a stabilization rocket, but the pilots could also hear the noise.

"They vibrate the walls down there a little bit," Gibson said. "It's like having your head in a large can and someone is whacking it on the outside."

Carr said every time the engine fired he put a mark on the wall.

"When you've got the whole wall covered with marks, it's time to come home I guess," ground communicator Story Musgrave said.

Engineers are still trying to determine what is wrong with one of the astronauts' Earth study devices that failed to work during Tuesday's picture taking sweep.

Windler said while "we certainly would have lost a lot" if the instrument can't be fixed, other devices can collect much of the same data.

House snubs SBA lending

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Small Business subcommittee has put off indefinitely consideration of a bill increasing the lending authority of the Small Business Administration by $2.3 billion.

But Chairman Rep. Robert Stephens, D-Ga., says that if satisfactory answers to charges raised against SBA lending practices are obtained next week from SBA Administrator Thomas S. Kleppe, the subcommittee may consider a temporary increase of the loan ceiling.

The original bill would have increased loan making authority by $2.3 billion — to $8.6 billion — but the subcommittee delayed action while they examined the charges.

Stephens said the decision to explore a temporary authorization of funds was reached during an executive session of the subcommittee Tuesday after Kleppe appeared.

"We are going to meet at 10 a.m. on Monday and ask Kleppe to respond to questions," Stephens said in an interview.

"At the conclusion of our testimony sessions with Mr. Kleppe, the subcommittee will then take up the question of whether or not we will recommend a temporary increase of the SBA ceiling."

4 guilty of contempt, 3 free in Chicago case

CHICAGO — A federal district court judge Tuesday found David T. Dellinger, William M. Kunstler, Jerry C. Rubin and Abbie Hoffman guilty of contempt of court charges resulting from their conduct during the tumultuous "Chicago Seven" conspiracy trial here four years ago.

At the same time, Judge Edward T. Gignoux acquitted Leonard Weinglass, Rennard C. Davis and Thomas E. Hayden of all contempt charges.

Sentencing was set for 2 p.m. Thursday.

The decision was the latest step — but definitely not the last — in the lengthy legal battle that began with the riotous demonstrations and arrests here during the Democratic National Convention in 1968.

The decision came four years to the day after the government called its last witness before Judge Julius J. Hoffman in an attempt to prove that the defendants, the so-called "Chicago Seven," crossed state lines with the intent of inciting a riot.

On Feb. 18, 1970, five of the seven defendants were convicted of conspiracy.

They and two of their attorneys — Kunstler and Weinglass — were also cited for a total of 175 contempt charges for misbehavior during the trial. The contempt sentences handed down by Hoffman then ranged from four years and 13 days to two months and 18 days.

The United States Court of Appeals later reversed the conspiracy convictions and ordered a new trial on the contempt charges. Judge Gignoux of Portland, Me., was chosen to hear the case, which began Oct. 29.

The number of defendants and contempt citations has been reduced several times through various agreements and judicial decision.

In marked contrast to the first trial's sometimes bizarre courtroom activities that included shouts, chants and one defendant being shackled in his chair, this latest trial was a model of decorum.

'Rebellion' inaccurate in Kent State deaths

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When courts used terms "rebellion" and "insurrection" to describe an antiwar demonstration at Kent State University before four students were slain by Ohio National Guardsmen, they had an erroneous idea of the scene, according to an attorney for the families of two of the victims.

Attorney Steven A. Sindell told the Supreme Court Tuesday that the May, 1970, demonstration actually was "a peaceful gathering on a college campus."

He said the National Guardsmen called out by then Gov. James A. Rhodes were more than a football field away when they opened fire on the students.

The high court, after two hours of argument, took under advisement the appeals of three victims' families seeking several million dollars in punitive and compensatory damages from Rhodes and National Guard officials.

A federal district court first dismissed the suits on grounds the officials were immune under the 11th Amendment, which forbids federal court action against states. An appellate court later upheld that ruling by a 2-1 decision.

Savings bond interest rate goes to 6 per cent

(c) N. Y. Times Service By EDWIN L. DALE JR.

WASHINGTON — The treasury will shortly announce an increase from 5 1/2 to 6 per cent in the interest rate paid on government savings bonds, authoritative officials said today.

The pending move was made possible by Monday's passage of a bill increasing the national debt limit. Although the bill did not change the legal ceiling on the savings bond interest rate, both Senate and House committees in their reports on the bill approved an increase in the savings bond rate to 6 per cent.

The secretary of the treasury, George P. Shultz, is expected to recommend an increase to 6 per cent shortly to President Nixon, who must give final approval.

If past practice is followed, as is likely, the new 6 per cent rate would apply retroactively to all outstanding bonds as well as newly issued bonds.

The full interest is received only if the bonds are held to maturity. A 6 per cent bond would have a maturity of 5 years, compared with 5 years 10 months for the present bonds with a 5 1/2 per cent effective interest yield.

The treasury raises the effective interest rate by shortening the maturity of the bond. This preserves the traditional system under which a bond purchased for $18.75 is worth $25 at maturity, and a bond purchased for $75 is worth $100 at maturity.

Gains speed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The comet Kohoutek is gaining speed on its swing toward the heart of the solar system and is now about 72 million miles from the sun.

The space agency said Tuesday that the comet is not quite as bright as was expected for this date, but astronomers expect it to get brighter as it approaches the sun and solar radiation turns much of its frozen nucleus into gas and dust.

Kohoutek, which now has a tail 9 million miles long, will pass the sun at a distance of 13 million miles on Dec. 28 and cruise within 76 million miles of earth Jan. 15 on its course back out of the solar system.

AMA declines to define death

(c) N. Y. Times Service ANAHEIM, Calif. — Officials of the American Medical Association decided today not to set a precise professional definition of the word death.

Members of the AMA's 244-member policy-making house of delegates voted against settling the definition, feeling that if a precise definition were set, as it has been in Kansas and Maryland, it would open doctors to an increased threat of malpractice suits.

The delegates again opposed mercy killing, but agreed that a terminally ill person should be allowed to die if he or his family wished it.

The House of Delegates also approved a suggestion that the various state medical societies urge their legislatures "to postpone enactment of legislation defining death by statute."

The delegates adopted the following policy statement:

"The intentional termination of the life of one human being by another — mercy killing — is contrary to that for which the medical profession stands and is contrary to the policy of the American Medical Association.

"The cessation of the employment of extraordinary means to prolong the life of the body when there is irrefutable evidence that biological death is imminent is the decision of the patient and/or his immediate family. The advice and judgment of the physician should be freely available to the patient and/or his immediate family."

Kennedy prepares course

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has placed himself on a preparatory "course" to seek the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination but has made no final decision to run, Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., said today.

Tunney, in an interview with United Press International, said Kennedy was the "odds-on, overwhelming favorite" to win the nomination and predicted that "there will be tremendous pressure on him to run."

"I think he is going to have to make his decision in early 1975," said Tunney, one of Kennedy's closest friends in the Senate.

"I think," Tunney said, "he is doing everything now which would be necessary to be a viable candidate in the event he wants to be."

"I think clearly it puts him on that course if you are looking at it in a preparatory fashion," he said.

"For him the arguments against — running — are overwhelmingly personal," the California senator remarked. In view of his legacy of 1966 assassinated brother, many members of Kennedy's family are reportedly against his running.

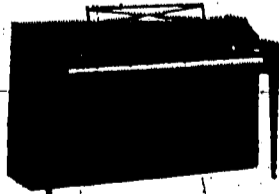

"Politically there are no reasons why he shouldn't run," Tunney added. "Personally there are all kinds of reasons. If this were a normal political decision, Ted Kennedy would be a candidate and would go on to win the nomination," Tunney said.

But Tunney stressed that Kennedy is "keeping his options open" and remains "very much in doubt as to what he'll do."

Eden, Hazelton attorney opposes courthouse plan

JEROME — S. A. Kolman, city attorney for Eden and Hazelton, says he is opposed to the addition to the Jerome County Courthouse which includes new jail facilities.

Kolman said he felt that a public meeting should have been held in the Eden-Hazelton area so that residents of the east end of the county could have an opportunity to voice their opinion on the proposed new addition.

Kolman said Monday he could not understand how the Jerome County commissioners could ask the people to build a $400,000 courthouse addition and say that only $100,000 of the funds required would be tax money, when $400,000 would come from revenue sharing money and the remaining $100,000 from the Department of Law Enforcement.

"The revenue sharing act was passed by the Congress to help taxing units meet their needs in an effort to reduce ad valorem taxes and property taxes. Once that check is received, it is all tax money," Kolman said.

"When Twin Falls County built a new courthouse addition, the Idaho Supreme Court ruled that a county cannot accumulate funds in its budget. Obviously the Jerome County commissioners have been, in light of the $100,000 matching money they have," Kolman said.

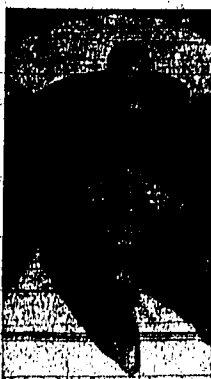

Kolman said he didn't think the majority of Jerome County residents wanted to spend that much money on new jail facilities. "While the people in the east end of the county are in favor of a 24 hour sheriff service, I question whether or not we need a new building in order to provide it," Kolman said. He noted that Jerome jail facilities are adequate. He said there has never been a complaint of prisoner neglect due to the jail facilities.

"The county commissioners have just spent a great deal of money remodeling the present courthouse. Part of the work done was on the present courtroom which is more than adequate. Now the commissioners say we need another courtroom. We haven't got enough cases to keep the one we have busy. Furthermore the last three rows of seats in the courtroom haven't been used in 20 years. If they need more room, the present room could be divided in half," Kolman said.

He said he didn't think there was any need for the public defender or the prosecuting attorney to have offices in the courthouse. "The commissioners have stated that more office space is needed, while at the present time, office space, which could be used by county employees is being rented to the state. If the space is needed, the commissioners can tell the Health Department, the Welfare Department and the Department of Environmental and Community Services to find office space elsewhere," Kolman said.

He said more public hearings should be conducted or the people should be allowed to vote on the matter. "The public has the right to voice its opinion in this matter," Kolman said.

Murphy warns against dependence on others

SHOSHONE — "We should never become dependent on other countries for energy or food. Petroleum will become more expensive. We must economize," were emphatic statements made Monday night by Lt. Gov. Jack M. Murphy.

Murphy spoke at the annual election dinner meeting of the Shoshone Chamber of Commerce at the Manhattan Cafe.

In discussing the energy crisis, agricultural problems and related economic concerns, the lieutenant governor referred to what he called "trade-offs" the things we by choice have taken rather than guarantee needs and equity. He said "we need not be dependent upon other countries for these needs."

His proposed solution on the short range for the energy crisis was cutback in use by the American public while the long range solution, he said, would be to allow oil companies, natural gas companies, electric utilities, all energy suppliers to structure their prices so they can carry out needed exploration and development and still make a profit.

"Interior Secretary Rogers Morton noted recently that this country has finite energy reserves, that there is enough natural gas under the American soil to power the country for years. There are known oil fields of great potential that have never been tapped. It is just a question of getting it out of the ground," Murphy said.

In agriculture, he said, "shall we allow food products to seek their own price level, though that might mean higher prices for the consumer, or do we regulate agriculture as we have, denying the farmer the same kind of profit the rest of American industry takes, thus encouraging farmers to go out of business and leaving us with a great dependency upon foreign imports."

"A lot of farmers and ranchers consider they have had a good year, if they make back two or three per cent on their investment. They could double that profit by liquidating their investment and putting their cash in the bank."

The welcome address was given by retiring president Reid Newby, who also introduced Mrs. Murphy. The annual secretary's report was given by Mrs. Newby. A brass quartet from Shoshone High School played Christmas selections. They were Brian Kinghorn, Allen Garrett, Terry Curry and Steve Kelly.

At the directors meeting following the dinner, Roger Maxwell was elected president for the coming year, with John McKenzie, vice president. The secretary will be appointed by officers and directors.

Newly elected directors include McKenzie, Howard Adkins, Roy Hubert, Francis Bergin, Leo Senten and Kenneth Blackburn. Holoover directors are Newby, Myr Johnson, Robert Miller, Douglas Hansen, Maxwell and J.R. Churchman.

Hey, Bourbon Drinker.

You drink it because, among other things, it's got character. Right?

Well listen. For 10 years now America has been producing a whiskey with a character so unique, nobody's copied it yet. It's 86 proof and tastes it. It's 86 proof and acts it. It does, in fact anything any whiskey can do.

But with a difference. This one's so beautifully smooth, so easy-sipping, it's given a whole other name to the pleasures of drinking.

The name is soft. The Soft Whiskey. The other name for Calvert Extra.

If they've got you tagged, friend... just once, fool them. Just once, try not ordering your usual brand.

Because what you like about the usual is what you'll like about Calvert Extra. And then some.

Soft Whiskey is your drink.

Whether you know it or not.

Blaine studies 3 firms

HAILEY — Three architectural firms are being considered for selection to design the planned new Wood River High School. The three firms — narrowed down from 45 applicants by the Architects Selection Committee for the school program and facilities study — include CTA Architects, Engineers and Planners, Twin Falls; Cline Small Hamill Associates, Boise, and Dropping, Kelley, Hosford and LaMarche, Boise. According to a news release from study co-ordinator Ray Jefferson, firm representatives will be interviewed at an early date by members of the selection committee and the Blaine County Board of Trustees. Final selection of one firm is expected "in the very near future," the release said, to facilitate work on developing floor plans and elevation drawings to reflect the work accomplished by the instructional committee. CTA Architects has had extensive experience in designing both elementary and high school plants, with its work including the recently completed Gooding High School.

Improvement district set

GOODING — The Gooding City Council received a petition for a local improvement district in the Monday night council meeting. Residents of the Rice subdivision submitted the request for a LID, the first in Gooding, in order to install sidewalks, curbs and gutters and pave Rice Avenue. Mayor Harley Crippen Instructed Atty. Cecil Hobday to draw up a resolution of intent to create the LID. Representatives of the city council plan to meet with the school board next Monday night to ask for school district support of the city winter basketball program. Bob Eckles met with the council to ask for additional funding for the program which he said has enlarged from last year. The basketball has a budget of $280 for the city. The council will not act on Eckles' request until after meeting with the schoolboard. Councilman Don Simis requested a new street light at Fourth Avenue and Idaho Street. The council discussed the need for replacement of lights and installation of new mercury vapor lights. Police report showed 20 arrests during November and the council approved five building permits totaling $56,800.

Twin Falls led almost all the way and appeared a winner when it moved ahead 49-42 with just over four minutes left. But Grammer and John Hunter gunned the Redskins into a 40-49 tie just two minutes later.

Gary Miller gave Twin Falls its last lead with two free throws but Grammer regained it and then sent Gooding State ahead 52-51 with a free throw. The Redskins iced it with a court-length pass to Mickes for an easy crumple with 12 seconds remaining.

Santo nixes Angel trade; Reds, Orioles swap five

HOUSTON (UPI) — Outfielder Merv Rettenmund and left-handed pitcher Ross Grimsley switched clubs in the big five-player swap of the day between Baltimore and Cincinnati Tuesday, but the deal that generated far more comment was the one involving Ron Santo, which didn't come off.

Rettenmund, who became expendable with the emergence of Al Bumbry, the American League Rookie of the Year, was sent to the Reds along with minor leaguers Junior Kennedy and Bill Woods in exchange for Grimsley and minor league catcher Wallace Williams.

The Reds-Orioles deal was the second five-player trade of the day. In the first, the Kansas City Royals, trading "tomorrow for today," obtained veteran pitcher Nelson Briles and infielder Fernando Gonzalez from the Pittsburgh Pirates in exchange for catcher-outfielder Ed Kirkpatrick, infielder Kurt Bevacqua and minor league first baseman Winston Cole.

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Only lord Perry's value to the Cleveland Indians may be headed in the same direction batters claim his best pitch does — straight down — as a result of Monday's ruling allowing umpires to arbitrarily call a suspected greasball or splitter illegal on sight.

Another old Perry protagonist, Billy Martin, also thinks the rule will hurt the former Cy Young award winner.

"If the umpires enforce the rule, the greaser should be eliminated and Perry might have a problem," Martin said while admitting that Perry didn't throw the pitch all the time.

N.C. State unconcerned about UCLA's flirt with first loss

NEW YORK (UPI) — North Carolina State basketball coach Norman Sloan, whose Wolfpack team was generally conceded to have the best chance of knocking off UCLA during the 1973-74 regular season, professed no boost in confidence by the scare thrown at the Bruins by Maryland, a team State beat three times last year.

"I don't think it's going to have any effect on our team," Sloan said in a telephone interview of Maryland's near-dormant of UCLA's 77-game winning streak. The 65-64 UCLA victory was the Bruins' tightest contest since a 1971 win over Long Beach State in the Western Regionals, 57-55.

Sloan conceded the Bruins' phenomenal winning streak may have built up a mystique of invincibility around UCLA, but not as far as the Wolfpack is concerned.

"It (the streak) may have had an effect on some people," said Sloan. "But I don't think any mystique would have an effect on anyone playing in this league."

Priddy coercion coerced

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former major league baseball player Jerry Priddy will admit he made threats to bomb a cruise liner but only because his family had been threatened, the defense said at trial opening Tuesday.

The one-time second baseman for four top teams pleaded not guilty to charges of extortion against the Princess Lines last June when he told their executives that time bombs were set to go off aboard the Island Princess sailing off Mexico.

Attorney Paul Caruso, in an opening statement to the jury and U.S. District Court Judge Irving Hill, said Priddy would freely admit he made the threatening calls and arranged for a pickup of a quarter million dollars in cash last June 5.

Caruso said Priddy, 53, became involved in the extortion attempt because a mysterious man had threatened Priddy's life and that of "his wife, his two daughters, and his five grandchildren" if he did not act as a front in the plot.

Louisiana tells baseball it's now or never

HOUSTON (UPI) — Representatives of the soon to be completed Superdome in New Orleans, in thinly-veiled threat, told baseball officials Tuesday their stadium would be unavailable to the sport unless assurances were given by next April that a major league franchise would be awarded to the city for the 1975 season.

"We met with baseball's executive council today, but no assurances could be given," said Bernard Levy, executive director of the Superdome. "However, the council gave us the authorization to talk with the league presidents about the possibility of transferring an existing franchise."

"That will be our course of action."

"We definitely think we are eligible for a franchise. If none is forthcoming, the Superdome will be used for purposes other than baseball. We've already scheduled events through 1980 and we have to know by next April whether we're getting a franchise."

Syracuse staff fired

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — Newly named football coach Frank Maloney fired the entire football coaching staff at Syracuse University Tuesday, saying "a totally new and fresh look was needed."

Maloney inherited an Orange squad with a 2-9 season record from retiring Floyd "Ben" Schwartzwalder when the former University of Michigan defensive line coach was named SU head coach.

Maloney said he would need "a young staff because of the many changes" he intends to make in Syracuse football.

Cappelletti runs away with Heisman trophy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tailback John Cappelletti of Penn State, who almost quit football a year ago because of a lack of "mental toughness," Tuesday was named winner of the 1973 Heisman Trophy—awarded to the best college player in the nation—in a surprisingly one-sided triumph.

The 6-foot-2, 206-pound senior, called by his coach, Joe Paterno, "the best football player I've ever been around," was a runaway winner in the balloting of 819 sportswriters and sportscasters around the country as he received 229 first place votes and 1,657 points. John Hicks, a senior offensive tackle from Ohio State, finished a distant second with 524 points while Roosevelt Leaks of Texas, a junior running back, was third with 482 points.

Hicks' finish marked the highest placing for an Interior lineman since Tom Brown of Minnesota, an offensive guard, finished second to Joe Bellino of Navy in 1960.

Senior quarterback David Jaynes of Kansas was fourth in the voting followed by sophomore running back Archie Griffin of Ohio State, senior linebacker Randy Gradishar of Ohio State and senior defensive lineman Lucious Selmon of Oklahoma.

Cappelletti, who rushed for 1,522 yards and scored 17 touchdowns this season while leading Penn State to an 11-0 record, was a slight favorite to win the award, but the outcome of the voting was much more one-sided than expected. The senior tailback was the top vote-getter in three of the five geographical sections of the country—East, South and Far West.

"I am surprised that I won," said Cappelletti, who played defensive back as a sophomore but was switched to running back his junior year. "I was with some of the other All-Americans just today and I saw big John Hicks walk in and I thought he might scare some people into voting for him.

"I'd like to see all of my teammates share in this award, and I'm going to see if something can't be done along those lines. Maybe I could get some smaller replicas of the trophy made up and give one to each member of the team. It's something I'm going to look into."

Cappelletti, who is the first Penn State player ever to win the award, admitted that winning the Heisman Trophy was especially gratifying for him, since he had seriously thought about quitting football early in his junior year.

"It was last year after the Iowa game. I thought I didn't have it any more," said the husky youngster from Upper Darby, Pa. "I gained only 96 yards in that game and fumbled a couple of times and I was confused about my ability as a player. We weren't playing well as a team and I questioned if I could get the job done. I thought about going to Coach (Joe) Paterno and telling him I'd had it. I couldn't concentrate on football. I didn't have the mental toughness a running back needs to excel.

Paterno, who accompanied Cappelletti to the Heisman luncheon at the Downtown Athletic Club, said he considered his prize running back a sure first-round professional draft pick and likened him to Franco Harris, a former Penn State now an all-pro with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

"It's a reward for a very outstanding young man," said Paterno. "He is a winner in every sense that the trophy stands for. He's the best football player I've ever been around. He's got that something the great ones have. I can't put my finger on it, but very few players can do all the things he can. He's a fine pass receiver, he can throw and he has strength and speed.

"People keep saying how great Franco Harris is. Franco is a fine player, but John is faster than Franco and every bit as powerful. If I needed a running back, John would be my number one pick."

Cowboys kickoff 7-points down to 'Skins due to playoff rule

DALLAS (UPI) — Tom Landry conceded Tuesday his Dallas Cowboys kickoff Sunday's game against the Washington Redskins with the equivalent of a seven-point deficit in their battle for the NFC's Eastern Division title and a playoff berth.

"Basically that's true," Landry said. "But you can't concern yourself with that type of thing. I'm really not even thinking about the point difference. It could dictate some decision late in the game but if we worry about the point spread, that's the worst thing we could do. We just hope to win and be ahead by seven or more when it's all over."

The Texas Stadium scoreboard will show an 0-0 start before the Redskins-Cowboys encounter, but a very real factor in the game will be the seven point-margin that separated Washington and Dallas after their first contest.

The Skins won 14-7 Oct. 8 in Washington in a game that the Cowboys thought they had wrapped up. Since then both clubs have played about even with the Redskins moving to an overall 9-3 record while Dallas stands 9-4.

But if Dallas wins Sunday the two clubs will be even in the standings, even within their division, even within their conference and with only St. Louis standing in the way of the Cowboys and a 10-4 season while Washington could post a 10-4 mark with a win at home over Philadelphia in the finale.

The playoff berth, expecting wild card consideration, would be determined by the point difference from the two Washington-Dallas games.

"When you don't have a week to play it off, you have to have the tie-breakers," Landry said. "But I'd rather break it on performance than the flip of a coin."

If Dallas whips Washington and does it by exactly seven points the division champion would be determined by the team which had the best overall statistical rating offensively and defensively.

Going into Sunday's game the Cowboys rate third in the NFC offensively and fourth defensively. Washington is second on defense, but is a poor 10th on offense.

Landry sees the two teams as about equally matched and says Washington is really performing about as well as this time last year.

IOC eyes year-round training

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI) — Lord Killanin, president of the International Olympic Committee (IOC), said today he hoped a new rule allowing amateur athletes to train full-time would be ready for the next IOC executive meeting in February.

Killanin and three IOC vice-presidents are meeting this week with 25 international sports federations to hear suggestions for a new rule defining amateurism.

He said the new rule (number 26) would be "fairly short and simple."

"There will be no limit on the time an athlete can train," Killanin said. "This will be left to the individual federations. The new rule will not mention 'broken time.'"

This means an athlete can receive his normal pay, while he is competing at his sport and absent from work.

Bean effort wins award

MOSCOW — Dr. Leslie Dean, University of Idaho plant breeder and pathologist at the Twin Falls Branch Experiment Station, has been honored for his accomplishments in bean research.

Cooperative, a worldwide organization of plant scientists and seed company and bean industry representatives. The other award recipient was a Dutch plant breeder.

The award was "in recognition of outstanding scientific accomplishment relating to bean improvement."

Information presented during the award ceremony acknowledged that Dean's "contributions as a bean breeder, pathologist, advisor, and leader have had a pronounced and permanent influence on bean science and industry, nationally and internationally."

It was also noted that "in a prolific University of Idaho breeding program, he (Dean) is a leader in the development of disease resistant dry beans and snapbeans" and he is a "key man in the successful Idaho and industry-wide sanitation effort to control seed-borne bacterial blight."

The UI plant scientist began his career in 1942 with the Idaho Crop Pest Control Commission. In 1950 he began working for the University of Idaho as plant pathologist and bean breeder at the Twin Falls bean laboratory.

Blame due people

BOISE (UPI) — The president of the Idaho Cattlemen's Association told the 60th annual convention the American people have to take some of the blame for the country's problems.

Ralph Steel of Idaho Falls told the convention Monday leadership, lack of foresight and the human element of greed are responsible for most of the national problems.

"The uncertainty and fluctuations of the livestock market are at times overshadowed by the seemingly bottomless drop of the stock market, by the violent gyrations of the commodity markets which has probably given forward pricing of our products a set-back we will be a long time overcoming."

He said agriculture is the only "bright spot" in trade relations and added the country has priced itself out of the manufacturing market by the loss of will to work.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus indicated to the convention at the Roweway Inn that support would be forthcoming to aid in education of veterinarians if that was the desire of cattlemen.

Collapse predicted

FARGO, N.D. (UPI) — The U.S. sugar control program will collapse in a few years because foreign countries, facing an era of scarcity, will refuse to make their scheduled quota deliveries to this country, an Agriculture Department official predicted today.

Because of this prospect, Arthur B. Calcagnini said, American sugar beet growers should consider backing an Agriculture Department proposal to eliminate sugar quotas after 1974 and throw the U.S. market open to virtually all comers on a free competitive basis.

Calcagnini said the 40-year old government sugar control program is now obsolete. It was designed for an era of surplus world production, he asserted.

Dairy meets planned

TWIN FALLS — Dairy breeding seminars will be conducted in this area by the University of Idaho Cooperative Extension Service in two locations, said Donald F. Youtz, Twin Falls County extension agent.

The Twin Falls meetings will be in Room 144 of the campus Vo-Tech building in cooperation with the College of Southern Idaho on Thursday, Dec. 13.

The Burley meetings will be at the Ramada Inn on Monday, Dec. 10.

No-host luncheons will be at both locations. Meetings will begin at 10 a.m. and end at 3 p.m.

Dairymen and any interested livestock men are invited, said Youtz.

Topics that will be discussed include: diseases of the genital tract, nutritional breeding problems of the cow, new concepts of animal production (estrus cycle control, induced parturition, ova transfer, induced lactation) physiology of artificial insemination and a report from the Idaho Dairy Products Commission.

No rules

WASHINGTON — The Food and Drug administration will not regulate the level of aflatoxin in animal feed because detected levels are not high enough to merit action, FDA's deputy director, Sherwin Gardner, said today.

FDA surveyed aflatoxin levels across some areas of the country because high levels in animal feeds often result in detectable levels of aflatoxins, showing up in food produced or obtained from those animals.

Travel slenderizing

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Reduced speed limits could slenderize cattle and result in profit losses to cattlemen, the vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association said.

"Stress and strain on cows being transported over long trips" at 50 miles per hour could reduce animals' weights, R. B. Carothers told members of the group Monday on the first of their two-day meeting here.

Carothers, of Paris, Tenn., said cattlemen are already losing about $100 per animal at the market due to beef surpluses and lowered beef prices in grocery stores.

Compromise reached in timber hassle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department and two congressional subcommittees reached a compromise today designed to avoid a threatened slowdown in timber production from National Forest lands, it was announced.

Under the agreement, the Forest Service will be allowed to proceed with its original plan to require timber buyers to locate, survey and design access road into National Forest cutting areas.

Earlier this year, appropriations subcommittees headed by Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., and Rep. Julia B. Hansen, D-Wash., had voted to prohibit the requirement the firms engineers their own access roads.

However, Forest Service officials said they recently told these subcommittees if the service had to do all the engineering work it would not be able to offer enough timber for sale to reach its 11.8 billion board feet target for the 1974 fiscal year ending next June 30.

These subcommittees then agreed to drop the restriction for the balance of the 1974 fiscal year in order to facilitate federal timber sales," the Agriculture Department explained in a statement.

In return for the congressional retreat, the department said it agreed the Forest Service will handle road engineering work on at least 75 per cent of its timber sales in the 197 fiscal year beginning July 1, 1974, and will retain control of location and design work.

Officials said this agreement will have two helpful results — it will make the Forest Service responsible for overall performance on road engineering, but it will preserve a broader opportunity for bids on federal timber from small companies which cannot do engineering work.

Nixon moves rapped

attempts to overcome emergency situations have been inefficient and ineffective," he said. Stencil said the time is ripe for the development of a national system of food production and marketing. He also called for food policies based on maintenance of stability, and complemented the membership on its support of Farmer's Union programs.

SOMETHING NEW! 1973 DODGE CLUB CAB 4 Wheel Drive PICKUP

Especially Built For Magic Valley

DELIVERED IN MAGIC VALLEY

$2788

The Dodge Club Cab was first introduced in 1973. It revolutionized the pickup truck field by providing an extra 34 cubic feet of in-cab storage space behind the front seat. Buyers found it ideally suited for use on the job during the week and as a recreational vehicle with a slide-on camper on weekends. Its versatility, styling, and roominess make it a popular choice in the Dodge pickup line. Now for 1974 we still added another popular accessory... the 4 wheel drive, to make it the most popular pickup combination on the road today.

GAS SAVING TIP!!
Continuous stopping and starting of your vehicle considerably reduces your vehicles miles-per-gallon performance. Whenever possible, try to avoid streets with heavy concentration of traffic lights and stops signs. Also look ahead to upcoming traffic lights. In approaching a red light, slow down if possible and give the light a chance to turn green. In this way you don't have to stop and then waste the gas needed to get the car in motion again.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. V. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for trying to get parents to accept their homosexual children as they are. Mine never would, and I almost had a nervous breakdown trying to keep it from them.

Abby, we need love and acceptance from our parents even more than heterosexual children do. But how can children ever hope to educate their parents? They read your column. Can you help?

GAY AND HURTING

DEAR HURTING: Perhaps if your parents read the classic letter Dr. Freud wrote to the mother of a homosexual on April 9, 1935, it would help them to understand. I hope so. Here it is:

Freud aids homosexuals

"Dear Mrs.: I gather from your letter that your son is a homosexual. I am most impressed by the fact that you do not mention this term yourself in your information about him. May I question you, why you avoid it? Homosexuality is assuredly no advantage, but it is nothing to be ashamed of, no vice, no degradation. It cannot be classified as an illness; we consider it to be a variation of the sexual function produced by a certain arrest of sexual development.

Many highly respectable individuals of ancient and modern times have been homosexuals, several of the greatest men among them (Plato, Michelangelo, Leonardo da Vinci, etc.).

It is a great injustice to persecute homosexuality as a crime, and cruelly, too. If you do not believe me, read the books of Havelock Ellis.

By asking me if I can help, you mean, I suppose, if I can abolish homosexuality and make normal heterosexuality take its place. The answer is, in a general way, we cannot promise to achieve it. In a certain number of cases we succeed in developing the blighted germs of heterosexual tendencies which are present in every homosexual, in the majority of cases it is no more possible. It is a question of the quality and the age of the individual. The result of treatment cannot be predicted.

What analysis can do for your son runs in a different line. If he is unhappy, neurotic, torn by conflicts, inhibited in his social life, analysis may bring him harmony, peace of mind, full efficiency, whether he remains a homosexual or gets changed.

If you make up your mind he should have analysis with me! I don't expect you will! He has to come over to Vienna. I have no intention of leaving here. However, don't neglect to give me your answer.

Sincerely yours with kind wishes
Freud"

First in Idaho

Cammack weds

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Meadows, Los Alamos, N.M., and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Cammack, Twin Falls.

The couple was attended by their parents.

The couple resides in Moscow, where the bride is working for a master's degree in guidance and counseling at the University of Idaho and is employed by the University Advisory Office as a graduate intern.

Tips on saving energy

(c) New York Times Service
NEW YORK — Sitting around thinking up ways to save energy and maybe some money? Well, you could wrap up the house in plastic like the Alfred Paulys did in Belle Plain, Minn. All it took them was $5.60 worth of plastic — "plastic," clear plastic that you see in the supermarket — Ten-foot rolls. They made it 10 degrees warmer inside but a little harder to get outside with the front door wrapped. "We used the back one," Mrs. Pauly said.

Christo — He's the celebrated wrap artist who specializes in big jobs such as art museums or mountains — wishes the Paulys had wrapped the roof, too. "If the roof is not winterized," he warned, "then water gets in between the plastic and the house."

Suppose you cannot bring yourself to wrap your house, to chain your car to the garage, to shoot your major appliances. Here then, from the experts, are less spectacular ways to cope.

In the home: "You cannot save the world by throwing away your electric toothbrush," says Russell W. Holt.

Holt is director of corporate communications for Con Edison in New York City. Embroider his words on a sampler. Because, as the chart shows, gadgets that brush teeth, whittle hips or grind garbage don't use lots of watts. The real energy eaters are the classic appliances that produce heat or cold.

Water heater. Everybody out of the tub. The Long Island Lighting Co. says shower and save five gallons of water. Set thermostats at 140 to 160 degrees Fahrenheit. Use warm-wash, cold rinse cycle in washing machines. Better still, cold water detergent.

Washing machine. Pack it in there, no small loads. For normally dirty clothes, a 10-minute wash cycle is plenty and Con Edison would love it if you use less.

A match point duplicate player should take this same precaution—with this hand. The reason is that he should see that very few pairs will land at six notrump. Some will have reached a grand slam. They will all outscore him if the diamonds break. Someone might even fail to reach a slam. Those players will beat him if he goes after all the tricks and the hand collapses.

In addition there will be quite a few pairs at six diamonds. Six notrump bid and made will beat six diamonds bid and seven made.

How about the other pairs at six notrump. They won't be proud of their bidding, but if they are good players they will make the same safety play.

Barricade plan earns honors

HANSEN — A new design for a highway barricade has earned Ralph Robison, former Hansen resident, a merit award from Nevada Gov. Mike O'Callaghan.

Robison, a brother of Mrs. Virginia Wilson, Hansen, is employed by the Nevada Highway Department at Elko.

Robison was commended for designing a plastic barricade which comes apart when struck with minimum damage to the vehicle striking it. The barricade is being used in place of wooden barriers. A grant of $10,000 has been made by the National Research Board for testing the barrier in all 50 states.

Former TF man gets award from NASA

MOFFETT FIELD, Calif. — Norman S. Johnson, former Twin Falls resident and scientist and aeronautical engineer at Ames Research Center, has received the exceptional service medal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Johnson, Twin Falls.

He is a graduate of Twin Falls High School and the University of Idaho.

He was cited for his work on designs to improve short-haul transport planes and systems, reducing their safety hazards, congestion and environmental impacts. Johnson is assistant chief of the flight systems research division at the center. He has been with NASA over 20 years.

Gets award
RUSTY JESSER, Kimberly, received a $600 scholarship from Ford Tractor and Implement Operations, North American, as one of 12 4-H national achievement winners. He was presented the award at the 52nd National 4-H congress in Chicago.

Top rating

HANSEN — "The Diary of Adam and Eve," a one act comedy given by Hansen High School students won superior ratings at the state drama festival.

Hansen was one of only three Idaho schools to receive the superior award at the state drama festival at the College of Idaho in Caldwell.

Students participating in the production included Kurt Daw, Jennie Hill and Carl Merkle. Margaret Neiwirth directed the play.

The play also received superior ratings in district and regional competition.

Aerosol sprays studied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer-Product Safety Commission said today it will hold a public hearing early next year on a request from a private research group to impose tight controls on aerosol sprays.

The privately-financed Center for Science in the Public Interest asked the commission Nov. 8 to begin a public education program on the dangers of aerosol sprays used in the home and said all poisonous or unsafe sprays should be banned and removed from store shelves. It also said the government should test all spray ingredients for possible cancer-causing and birth defect potentials.

Grace Hanel bride of Dean Bennett

TWIN FALLS — Grace Hanel and Dean Bennett were married in a double ring ceremony at the Lady of Snows Catholic Church, Sun Valley, Nov. 3.

Mrs. Clyde Lewis, Twin Falls, was matron of honor. Jack Troutman, Boise, was best man.

Dennis Hanel flew from Yokohama, Japan, where he is serving with the U.S. Navy, to escort his mother.

The bridegroom is employed by the Idaho State Police in Boise and the bride is employed by First Federal Savings and Loan Association, Twin Falls.

The couple resides at 216 Polk, Twin Falls.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Today's hand is a variation on an old theme. South finds himself in a very sound six-notrump contract. He wins the spade lead and sees that there are 13 top tricks looking him right in the face.

Is there any problem? Yes! Diamonds have been known to divide 4-0. In that case if South goes after all the tricks he will wind up behind the eight ball.

Can he guard against this? Yes! He simply ducks the first diamond and settles for his contract.

A rubber bridge player should make this safety play automatically. What's 30 points against 1440?

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES Take no chances with your possessions for judgment may not be at its best. However, a sensible plan can be worked out by carefully analyzing all factors of any course. Avoid the tendency to force issues or to take issue with those who do.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) See how you can build a reserve for the future. Contact an expert if wondering how to handle some important matter. Please mate in p.m.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May. 20) Take beauty or other treatments to make yourself healthier and more attractive. Postpone social matters and handle business affairs.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't fret about things you don't like but quietly eliminate them from your life. Close ties are having rough sledding. Help them.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't rely on that friend who is usually helpful since this person has own concerns to handle now. Forget the social and work.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Not the right day to approach one in authority for favor you want. Make collections, pay bills and handle other important matters.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get into further study that will help you make some new plan workable. Not the right day to make that new contact so await a better time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Pay bills and clear decks for bigger operations. Use a different approach with mate for better results. Avoid one with eye on your assets.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may not like ally's new plan, but only because you don't understand it, so don't upbraid associate. Give it time to prove itself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get work behind you instead of fretting about it. Relax in p.m. and restore your waning energies. Prepare for better days ahead.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You want to have a good time but it is best to travel alone since there could be trouble with others. Drive carefully.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't be forceful with anyone at home, or there could be serious arguments. Others are tense, not really themselves. Catch up on your reading.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Much care must be exercised in motion of all kinds to avoid damage and expense. Think before you speak. Check reports carefully.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will think that by fighting for everything wanted it can be had, so teach early the importance of using tact and a kind word for better results. Slant the education along trouble-shooting lines so your child will know how to handle both people and property. Give tasks to perform early in life. Sports are a natural here.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

It's generally conceded that the saddest word in the English language is "good-bye." The saddest two words, "insufficient funds." What, requires a client, are the saddest three words? "Fried liver tonight." I think.

Argument continues over which vehicle has the right of way when a fire engine, a police car, and an ambulance and a U.S. mail truck converge at an unmarked intersection. Thought we'd settled that. Technically, the mail truck is boss.

Do you spend 50 days a year - that's 24 hours a day - watching television? If average, you do. Or do you contend? An scholar who has made a study of the matter.

Now the hardware store boys report that women buy four out of every 10 screwdrivers.

Q "Louie, what quality is most necessary to be successful?"
A. Successful at what? Overall, I'd say, the ability to concentrate. For a race car driver. Or a cook. Or a surgeon. Or a seamstress. Look, this could be a whole essay. You don't want a whole essay, do you? What quality would you name?

Q "How long was Lyndon Johnson expected by the insurance statisticians to live at the time of his inauguration?"
A. To age 74. He died at 64. On the day of his death, his longevity expectation called for another 13.4 years.

Average girl in Chicago reaches puberty at age 12 years 6 months. In New Orleans, at 13 years 6 months. In Panama City, at 14. In Manila, at 15. Or so the medical researchers contend. Contrary to popular belief, they say these statistics prove girls in tropical climates don't mature as early as do the young ladies up north.

BLONDE

This accountant and his wife strolled along the boulevard. A blonde with a smile like a lightning match waved warmly at him in passing. "Look, honey," he said to his silent wife, "she's just a professional acquaintance." After one long moment, his wife replied "Of course, but whose profession? Yours or hers?"

Client asks the number of the various Fuller brushes. About 700, last I heard. And some are pretty specialized, too. One is designed solely to clean railroad switches. Another, to whack the sand out of spunch.

New Blaine County armory at Hailey

Armory nears completion

HAILEY — Construction has been 88 per cent completed on the new Blaine County National Guard Armory, Hailey.

First Sgt. Lyle Breneman, administrative and supply technician, said interior finishing work primarily remained to be completed. He said the unit may be able to move into the facility about Dec. 21 if hardware for the doors and windows is received.

Ormond Construction Co., Idaho Falls, holds the $226,995 general contract. The cost share schedule is as follows: federal funds, $164,000; state, $42,284, and county-city, $23,940. Located between Third and Fourth Avenues off Maple Street, the new armory will serve the 39 member Blaine County unit — Detachment 1, Troop F, Second Squadron, 116 Armored Cavalry.

Facilities at the new armory include two offices; a combination classroom and library; a large classroom; locker room; kitchen; restrooms; supply room with a vault; a 75 by 48 foot drill hall, and a 25 by 48 foot combination rifle range and maintenance room.

Breneman said the armory will be available for civic use if the activities do not interfere with unit training. Landscaping will be installed around the perimeter of the building next spring, he said.

Women's equality supported at CSI

TWIN FALLS — The chairman of the board of the College of Southern Idaho supports equalization of women faculty members' salaries, but said the college's position on the matter could only be made by the board of the college.

The Boise State College Affirmative Action Committee is expected to take a proposal to the State Board of Education this week to equalize salaries for women and minority staff members.

The BSC proposal would prevent a class action suit from the U. S. Department of Labor against state educational institutions and departments on the basis of investigations of salaries underway.

CSI board chairman John Hepworth said he did not know how a proposal calling for equal salary payment for women and minority teachers would affect CSI.

Statistics presented to the Human Rights Commission by the college earlier this year showed some discrepancies between the salaries of men and women faculty members at CSI in recent years. The college had presented the material to show it did not discriminate against women.

Hepworth said he would support salary distinctions on the basis of merit, but not on the basis of sex. Because of recent absences, Hepworth did not know if the college's trustees had considered taking a position on salary equalization.

A report by Boise newswoman Paul Crook of KBOI Radio said Thursday all federal funds for Idaho will be in jeopardy as long as any of the state's affirmative action programs are not in compliance with federal regulations.

DENNIS PETERSON ... policeman

New aide at Hailey

HAILEY — Dennis Peterson, Burley, has joined the Hailey Police Department, replacing former patrolman Ron Wyatt. For the past two years, Peterson has served on the Burley Police Department as a full-time officer and prior to that time was a special patrolman for three years. He has attended the Peace Officers Standards and Training Academy, Pocatello, and holds a basic law enforcement officer certificate.

Peterson has taken part in various police schools.

Hepatitis strikes Filer elementary pupils

FILER — Hepatitis cases have been reported at the Filer Elementary School, but not at the Filer High School, according to Ray Baker, superintendent of Filer schools.

Six elementary school children and one teacher have come down with the disease, he said.

He said all but two are now back in class.
