

today in brief

Fuel crisis takes job toll

Cadillac recall urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government said today there was a dangerous steering problem in 1959-1960 Cadillacs and urged General Motors to fix the defect in the 14-year-old cars at no cost to the owners.

An estimated 60,000 of the 1959-60 models are still on the road. James B. Gregory, head of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), ordered GM to notify owners of the defect. GM immediately announced it would contest the agency's findings in court.

Under law, the safety agency cannot force GM to recall the cars although it can order notification of all owners of a safety defect. In practice, the manufacturers have generally accompanied such notices with a recall for repairs.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the United States warning of worldwide economic hazards from the energy crisis, Americans were told today that unemployment at home began rising rapidly in early December because of fuel shortages.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics released a report showing about 100,000 persons lost their jobs because of actual and threatened gasoline shortages in the week of Dec. 9-15 alone. Since then, tens of thousands more workers have lost jobs, particularly in the auto and airline industries.

The jobs report today was based on payroll data collected from employers.

About half of the 190,000 were at the service station and automobile dealer levels. Other areas hit included hotels, motels, transportation, entertainment and utilities.

The airlines have announced furloughs for 15,000 employees while layoffs due to the energy crisis have reacted 61,000 in the automobile industry.

United Air Lines, the nation's largest airline, today announced it would furlough 490 employees effective Jan. 26, bringing the total number of layoffs tied to the energy crisis to 1,440.

The latest manpower cuts would be centered among the airline's maintenance, food service and customer service employees, United said.

Walt Disney World, the giant entertainment complex near Orlando, Fla., cut 2,000 workers from its staff this week, citing a decline in tourist attendance.

The announcements came a day after President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger pressed appeals for a global solution to the energy crisis.

Nixon said it "threatens to unleash political and economic forces that could cause severe and irreparable damage to the prosperity and stability of the world."

As a shortage of gasoline has grown tighter in some areas of the United States, federal officials have been giving greater attention to price gouging and various price-raising gimmicks.

Charles E. Owens, the Federal Energy Office official in charge of price and tax matters, said today that station operators cannot charge for special services — such as wiping windshields — if they did not do so before price controls.

"As far as we are concerned, they amount to a price increase," he said. "If as of the date of price controls, the station operator was not charging to clean windshields, for instance, he cannot now."

Stennis to run in '76

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim said Thursday he believed chances were good that Israel and Egyptian forces along the Suez Canal could be separated "within the next few weeks."

He warned, however, that bringing peace to the Middle East will be "a long and hard task."

Wheat import boost eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is prepared to suspend wheat import quotas as a hedge against possible domestic shortages, according to an administration official.

The prediction followed warnings from the bakery industry Wednesday that exports would deplete U.S. wheat supplies by next spring and possibly force the price of bread to $1 for a large loaf.

The official, who asked not to be identified, said he had no doubt a Tariff Commission study expected Feb. 15 would recommend suspension of the 33-year-old import quotas. The commission began its study at Nixon's request.

Sewage funds impounded

WASHINGTON (UPI) — State environment officials are generally opposed to President Nixon's impoundment of $3 billion in federal sewage treatment funds, even though some states are getting more money in Fiscal 1974 than before.

President Nixon, in a letter to Environmental Protection Agency Administrator Russell E. Train released Thursday, said he was cutting the $3 billion allocated by Congress to $4 billion. Nixon had refused to spend $6 billion of the $11 billion authorized by Congress in each of the two previous years, effectively cutting the three-year, $18 billion program to $9 billion.

Colson says Nixon will stay

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., who was wounded by robbers in Washington last year, Thursday said he will be a candidate for re-election in 1976.

"One of my purposes in being here is to show the people of Mississippi that I am on my feet and am already working on 1976," the 73-year-old senator told reporters. "My health is good with no complications."

Japan due WW II darkness

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan, an industrial giant hard hit by the energy crisis, today ordered a strict new fuel-saving program. Officials said it would plunge nighttime Tokyo into darkness reminiscent of the era after World War II.

The order for industry to reduce its electricity and oil consumption by 25 per cent was taken, despite the expectation that oil shipments from the Middle East would increase this month because of Tokyo's shift to a pro-Arab policy.

Waldheim hopeful for Suez

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former White House Counselor Charles Colson said Thursday President Nixon will not resign, but will "serve out the rest of his term and insure his place in history."

Colson, here to appear in a civil trial as attorney for record producer Phil Spector, told a radio interviewer, "No President in history has disclosed as much 'about' his personal financial affairs and the conduct of his presidency as this President."

Gas explodes, firemen killed

WEST ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — At least four persons, three firemen and one civilian, were killed and several injured early today in a gas explosion at the Charleston Park apartments in suburban St. Paul.

Staff support cut

HOSE — Two Republican co-chairmen of the legislative Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee withdrew committee staff support today from three Democratic committee members meeting in pre-budget sessions.

Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, said that he and Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls, decided to withdraw the staff support Thursday because "this group of three fellows started to take too much time away from the staff."

"It became obvious that our staff was simply prevented from doing the work that the whole committee of 18 had decided to do," Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls, said.

High said the committee had provided staff support for four days but that it "reached the point that other members simply were denied the staff assistance they had requested and one part-time budget analyst out of the committee's three analysts were provided to the three representatives, High said."

Saturday the co-chairmen cancelled pre-session budget hearings, blaming Gov. Cecil D. Andrus for failure to cooperate. Andrus, a Democrat, denied allegations that he had released budget officials' replies about their agencies' money needs until after his budget message Jan. 17.

Despite the cancelled pre-session hearings, Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee members Sen. James Stolleff, D-Sandpoint, Rep. Marlow Davidson, D-Bonners Ferry, and Sen. Mike Mitchell, D-Lewislaton, met this week to carry on hearings.

British rails near normal

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's 29,000 railroad engineers ended a crippling 24-hour walkout Friday and got nearly normal rail services rolling again under a four-day truce with management.

Their return to the job, even if temporary, was the first lucky break for London's 300,000 commuters since the railmen began a slowdown for more pay a month ago.

At the same time, Prime Minister Edward Heath and government ministers studied a union plan that offered the first slender prospects of peace in a two-month-old slowdown by 200,000 railmen.

The slowdown has reduced fuel stockpiles, forced the government to put industry on a three-day work week, threw nearly one million workers out of jobs and plunged Britain into what Heath called its gravest industrial crisis since World War II.

Kissinger takes 'urgent' flight

By United Press International

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew to the Middle East today with a new "sense of urgency" to try to save the faltering Israeli-Egyptian troop withdrawal negotiations, Egypt indicated it would reject a reported Israeli withdrawal plan worked out by U.S. and Israeli leaders.

New artillery and mortar duels were reported along the Suez Canal front between Israeli and Egyptian troops, and Israel reported two of its soldiers killed and five wounded. Tension remained high, but the Israeli Chief of Staff, Gen. Moshe Gombouria said Egypt cannot permit the current situation to continue indefinitely.

Syria reported that its artillery shelled Israeli troops trying to improve their positions on the Golan Heights today and said there were artillery duels and patrol clashes. Israel denied a Syrian report that 10 Israeli soldiers were killed or wounded in clashes during the night.

Kissinger arrived in Madrid today for two hours of talks with Spanish Foreign Minister Pedro Cortina before flying on to the Egyptian resort city of Aswan for talks with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. Kissinger will consult Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir in Jerusalem and may pay visits to Jordan and Saudi Arabia. Whether he would visit Syria was not known; Syria has refused to join the Geneva peace talks.

The most authoritative statement of the Egyptian position came from Mohammed Hassanein Heikal.

Oil firm disclosure shows more oil, gasoline in 1974

NEW YORK (UPI) — Figures released by Texaco, the first major oil company to reveal its inventories, show the firm has more fuel — oil, gasoline, home heating oil, aviation fuel and diesel fuel — than it had on hand a year ago.

But the firm, announcing its stocks apparently in response to criticism that the major oil firms are trying to keep the American public from knowing exactly how much oil it has at present, said it has less crude oil than it did last year.

The figures for crude oil were 17.6 million barrels at present, compared with 19 million barrels Jan. 1, 1973. Texaco said it was this reduction in crude stocks that is causing the energy shortage.

"Due to these crude oil shortages, Texaco's refineries are currently operating at about 85 per cent of maximum capacity," a company statement released Thursday said.

Texaco said gasoline production is likely to be cut further due both to government directives to maximize the manufacture of heating oils and to the lack of adequate supplies of crude oil to keep our refineries running at maximum capacity.

Texaco said one reason it had more finished fuel than last year was "inventory levels of Jan. 1, 1973, were dangerously low because of a very cold fall season; and this year, to prevent a run-out of supplies during the winter months, it has been necessary to build up inventories."

The inventory figures released by Texaco said the firm had on hand Jan. 1, 1974: Gasoline — 23.3 million barrels, compared with 15.7 million barrels on Jan. 1, 1973. Middle distillates (home heating oils, aviation fuels, and diesel fuels) — 22 million barrels, compared with 10.2 million barrels on Jan. 1, 1973. Heavy fuel oil — 7.6 million barrels, compared with 7.4 million barrels a year ago. Crude oil — 17.6 million barrels, compared with 19.0 million barrels on Jan. 1, 1973.

Horse bites Declo man

DECLO — Crandell S. Dunn, 57, Declo, was treated for severed artery at a local hospital Thursday after a serious misunderstanding with his horse.

Dunn was exercising the quarterhorse stallion on a lead rope when the horse bit his arm, picking him from the ground and shaking him. Heavy clothing worn by Dunn may have prevented more serious injury, Dunn said.

Dunn excused the horse's behavior calmly. "The horse was just having a bad day like the rest of us. He was just grouchy," he said.

CSI meets federal audit requests

BY BILL HAZARUS

Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho has implemented all but one of numerous recommendations by federal auditors on the college's work-study program, according to CSI President James L. Taylor.

U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare auditors made public a report Thursday critical of the college's administration of its work-study program which is funded mostly with federal help.

The audit showed that $25,000 in work-study moneys was either missed by paying ineligible students or overpaying eligible students. This money was missed between Jan. 1, 1970 and June 30, 1973, not during a one year period as reported in the Times-News Thursday.

The misadministered funds equaled about 23 per cent of the $98,208 in financial aid awards reviewed.

The audit also reported the college had exceeded grant authorizations by $8,750 during one grant period and had $25,887 excess cash on-hand at June 30, 1973, contrary to federal guidelines.

In addition to recommending numerous administrative changes to insure that eligible work-study students are awarded appropriate amounts of money, the audit called for a refund of $8,750 to the federal government and recommended that $25,887 not be drawn from current grants.

The audit also found that $3,191 had been made in improper advance payments to students and recommended a refund of this money.

In a letter to the associate commissioner of the Bureau of Higher Education in Washington D. C., Dr. Taylor reviewed the audit's recommendations and said the college was working out or had implemented all but one.

Taylor objected to refunding the $8,750. In response to the other recommendations, the college president wrote that the college had done the following:

- Reviewed all current financial aid files to insure that all student income and parental contributions have been considered. Made appropriate adjustments.
- Identified students receiving non-federal aid and, if receiving assistance, adjusted awards where appropriate.
- Established a "firm line of communication" between the CSI business office and the Office of Student Financial Aid to insure that the latter (which handles the work-study applications) is informed of all non-federal educational aid received by students.

Temps up at Ski areas

TWIN FALLS — Temperature inversions, or has been giving higher elevations such as ski slopes warmer temperatures than valley areas this past week. Ski resorts are reporting daytime readings up to 20 degrees while valley communities have been some 10 degrees cooler in some cases.

Reports from the resorts include Rotarun near Halley with a 16 inch base with several inches of new dry powder snow on top. The area is operating each Saturday and Sunday. Sun Valley lists 55 inches of snow at the top of Bald Mountain, 41 at the Roundhouse and 18 on the valley floor. All facilities at Sun Valley and Elkhorn operate daily with helicopter skiing in the back areas available. Roads are generally clear.

Magic Mountain reports 3 inches of new snow this week for a total of 70 inches at the top of the mountain and 55 inches on the bottom. Roads are plowed but chains and snow tires are recommended. No uphill traffic is permitted in the canyon from 3 to 5 p.m. The area operates Wednesday through Sunday.

Pomerelle has 4 inches of new snow since last weekend with total depths reported at 72 inches on top and 61 inches at the lodge. The road is plowed but chains or snow tires are recommended. The resort operates daily from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Forest officials list cross country skiing as excellent in the Galena Summit area where 5 feet of snow covers trails. Snowmobiling is listed as excellent in the South Hills, Howell Canyon, Conner Flats, Thompson Flats and Little Smoky near Fairfield. The area west of Halley, Baker Creek and Boulder Flats are also excellent. In the Smiley Creek, Stanley and Cape Horn areas it is reported fair with very cold temperatures and dry snow. Snowmobilers and cross-country skiers are advised to be alert for avalanche hazards, especially during changing weather conditions. Winter recreationists are also advised to watch for frostbite.

Gray Reynolds, Sawtooth National Recreation Area Superintendent, said areas closed to over-the-snow vehicles are posted with prominent signs and recreationists are asked to observe these closely and cooperate. Copies of off-road vehicle maps are available at the SNRA headquarters in Ketchikan.

Chamber banquet set Jan. 22

TWIN FALLS — Chamber of commerce members will meet Jan. 22 for its annual banquet at the Holiday Inn. The event will feature an address by James Duffy, president of ABC Television. A Times-News story Thursday omitted the date.

Solons face DST issue

TWIN FALLS — Daylight savings time will be the emotional issue in the Idaho Legislature which opens Monday, according to an experienced Twin Falls legislator. Rep. Ray Lincoln, R-Twin Falls, discussed issues facing the legislature Wednesday at the Twin Falls Rotary Club meeting.

He suggested straightening boundaries of the present time zones so that Idaho would be divided on a north-south line running approximately through the middle of the state. Legislative District Reorganization of the executive branch of the state government will be another major topic, Rep. Lincoln said. He also discussed the problem of providing equal education placed in District 7, would never be able to elect a legislator because of primitive area between the county and the rest of the proposed district.

Goodwill approves donation

TWIN FALLS — Members of Goodwill Club voted "I Shall Not Pass This Way Again" at a Wednesday meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Mattice. Mrs. Chloe Carr, president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Ronald Scherupp led the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Lloyd Kelley led the flag salute. Nellie Orndorff acted as pro-tem treasurer. Members voted to give a donation to the March of Dimes. The thought for the day was given by Martha Wildman and Mrs. Ronald Scherupp. Mrs. Lloyd Kelley received the white elephant. Myrna Wambolt received a secret-pal gift. The next meeting will be at the home of Martha Wildman.

Story list in error

TWIN FALLS — A list of directors of the Southern Idaho Livestock Industry Hall of Fame in Thursday's paper was in error. H.H. Haslam, listed as representing the Idaho State Bank in Glens Ferry is actually co-owner manager of Globe Seed and Food, Twin Falls. Jim Kevari, who is an officer at the Glens Ferry Bank, was omitted from the list as was O. A. (Gus) Kelker, of the Times-News. The firms the directors represent are among sponsors of the annual hall of fame awards banquet set for Feb. 26 at the Holiday Inn. The board is made up of 20 individuals and the others were correctly named in the story.

December girl cited

TWIN FALLS — Diane Newton was named "Girl of the Month" for December at a Wednesday meeting of Sigma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi at the home of Mrs. Marlene Nelson. The cultural for the evening was on "How Is Your Conversation?" Bonnie Gillespie gave the lesson. It was announced that the annual Valentine's dance will be at 9 p.m. Feb. 2 at the Elks Lodge. Members voted to donate $20 to the Presbyterian Church in appreciation for the use of the gym for the Elks Market. A donation of $20 was also made to the YM-YWCA.

Simple solution

BRUCE BURRIS, a freshman economics major at North Carolina State University from Charleston, S. C., finds a simple solution to the rain as well as the transportation problems as he peddles to his classes Thursday. (UPI)

Railroad program studied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration has given its answer to the problems of American railroads; more government aid and less government regulation.

Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar, outlining the administration's proposed legislation Thursday, said railroads are not earning enough to finance their own modernization.

But the energy crisis and the series of major railroad bankruptcies in the Northeast apparently has convinced the administration that major changes are needed in the government's policies toward railroads.

Jackson bill set

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., plans to introduce legislation requiring that government-appointed members on the board of directors of every major oil company to pitch out for the public interest.

when it returns Jan. 21 to clear the way for passage of emergency energy legislation which would give President Nixon sweeping powers including gasoline rationing.

Jackson, chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, told a news conference Thursday that major oil companies would be chartered because they "have enormous impact on every man, woman and child in this country."

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and several assurances that the legislation would get immediate action.

Jackson also predicted that the Senate will move quickly

Defense aide scraps policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger has scrapped the decade-old U.S. nuclear policy of massive retaliation and proclaimed a new policy of aiming missiles primarily at military targets away from Russian cities.

Schlesinger Thursday described massive retaliation as the "bashing of cities from the other side." He told newsmen, "It is our intention that this not be the only option and possibly not the principal option."

Defense officials later indicated the new targets include such points as airfields, dams, railheads and oilfields—targets far from population centers but necessary for a nation to wage war.

A decade ago then Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara decreed that the best way to deter the Soviet Union from attacking the United States was to threaten an instant rain of nuclear bombs on Russian cities.

Schlesinger suggested that if it were failed and the Soviets started a war, they might not hit American cities but only the 1,000 minuteman missile silos scattered across the U.S. plains.

The re-targeting has been discussed since Schlesinger took office. Critics have generally questioned whether it would really make any difference—either by increasing deterrence saving lives if there were a nuclear war.

Schlesinger said the chances of nuclear war are small, "approaching zero." He said the new targeting policy was designed to keep it low.

The re-targeting doesn't involve any great expenditures. Basically all it takes is a change—in the directions fed into the computerized navigational system of the missiles.

Schlesinger said this was not a move toward a first strike strategy in which the United States would be able to demolish Russia's missile force.

He indicated that neither side has such a capability partly because nuclear submarines can hide in the ocean and could not all be destroyed.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Revenue from tourism in Arizona increased from $500 million in 1968 to an estimated $700 million this year, an increase of 40 per cent.

TAOS, N.M. (UPI) — Investigators say they are positive a 35-year-old unemployed farmworker killed three of his children and wounded a fourth but they are at a loss to explain why the children were shot.

Jerry Warren of Costilla, N.M., charged Thursday with three counts of murder and one count of aggravated assault, refuses to talk to police about the incident.

The children were shot Wednesday night as they sat in their living room playing and watching television.

"I don't think the kids knew what hit them," investigator Ernest Trujillo of the Taos County district attorney's office said.

Jury hears Kent facts

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Robert E. Matson, former vice president of student affairs at Kent State University, Thursday said a federal grand jury questioned him about a meeting with then-Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes the day before National Guardsmen killed four students during an anti-war demonstration.

Another witness was one of the nine students wounded in the May 4, 1970, incident, Donald MacKenzie, 25, who said he had been instructed to return today for further testimony. He declined to say what he told the jury Thursday.

"Questioning covered my activities for that particular tragic weekend," said Matson, now president emeritus of Rucker College, Holton, Maine.

The questioning included all activities and that was one of them," Matson said of the meeting, at which Rhodes was said to have told guard officials to use any force necessary to keep the campus open. There had been a series of demonstrations against the U.S. invasion of Cambodia.

Michael Delaney, former public information officer for the Ohio National Guard, told the jury earlier this week that Rhodes was in an "illuminatory" mood at the meeting and did not rule out the use of firearms.

He refused to elaborate on what he told the jury and declined to speculate about the aims of the federal investigation.

John R. Cleary, 22, Scotland, N.Y., another of the wounded, was summoned to testify Thursday, but was to return today to begin his appearance.

He said Justice Department officials interviewed him two months ago.

"The basic thing is that they want to know exactly what happened at the time of the shooting, where the crowd was in relation to the guard."

Article on Castro

NEW YORK (UPI) — "An incredibly wild scheme" to assassinate Fidel Castro and invade Cuba a second time was set in motion by the CIA in 1964, but then cancelled when a rebellion broke out in the Dominican Republic according to a writer on Cuban affairs.

In an article for the February issue of Esquire magazine, to be published Jan. 17, Saul, a former correspondent of the New York Times and author of several books dealing with Latin American problems, says the CIA disbursed $750,000 a month for six months between 1964 and 1965 to finance the second invasion attempt.

The article says the new invasion was to be on a smaller scale than the unsuccessful 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion and was to bring ashore some 250 armed Cubans at the crucial moment when Castro would be dead and inevitable chaos had developed.

TAOS, N.M. (UPI) — Investigators say they are positive a 35-year-old unemployed farmworker killed three of his children and wounded a fourth but they are at a loss to explain why the children were shot.

Jerry Warren of Costilla, N.M., charged Thursday with three counts of murder and one count of aggravated assault, refuses to talk to police about the incident.

The children were shot Wednesday night as they sat in their living room playing and watching television.

"I don't think the kids knew what hit them," investigator Ernest Trujillo of the Taos County district attorney's office said.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 10 years and have two children. My life is my husband, home and family, but I know that my husband isn't turned on sexually with me as he should be. (I have to make all the advances.)
Lately, he shocked me by telling me that when we make love, he has fantasies about Sylvia—the girl he went with all thru college. He says that's the only thing that turns him on. I feel hurt knowing he has to think of another girl to get something out of making love to me.
I've never had sex with anyone except my husband and wouldn't want to have.

I feel somehow that he is being "disloyal" to me; if not in actuality, in his thoughts. I also feel if Sylvia were to become available, he would have an affair with her.
Sometimes I wish he weren't so honest. I am so confused, I need someone to explain this whole thing to me. Please try.
NOT SYLVIA

DEAR NOT: Almost everyone has fantasies. They are an important part of lovemaking. But it's unkind and up-side to disclose fantasies which are harmful. Your husband may rate an "A" in honesty, but he flunks "common sense."

DEAR ABBY: Several weeks ago our daughter was married. We invited 150 guests to her wedding. After checking all the wedding gifts, we found that we did not receive a gift from one of the couples who attended the wedding.
How does one go about finding out whether a gift was given or not? We don't want to embarrass anyone.

DEAR WORRIED: I can't imagine anything more needless than asking someone if he brought a gift or not. Just assume that you got a pretty good return on your investment, and let it go at that.

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and my husband is 36. We've been married for two years and have a 3-month-old boy. When the baby was only a month old I had trouble with my nerves, so Children's Service took him from us. They still have him, and I'm still being treated for my nerves.

I hate to say this, but I'm afraid if the baby comes back it is going to interfere with our life. Every time we want to go someplace we have to worry about getting a baby-sitter, and baby-sitters don't come cheap.
Besides, we just bought a new mobile home, and the expense of that plus caring for the baby just don't fit our budget.

Maybe I'm not ready to settle down yet. I feel terrible telling you all this, but you said, "If you have a problem, you'll feel better if you get it off your chest," so I did. Can you help me?
FEELS BETTER

DEAR FEELS: Don't make any decisions now. When you have finished with your treatment, you may feel entirely different. God bless you.

a club with dummy's ace of trumps. Led the nine to his jack, ruffed another club with the queen, drew trumps; ran the rest of the clubs and dummy's ace-king of diamonds and conceded the last trick.

The bidding is worthy of more comment. After North's cue bid South bid three clubs to show the long suit. North bid three-diamonds and South went to three notrump. He didn't know about the spades at that time. Then, when North bid four spades South knew his partner had been heading for that spot all the time and South just bid the slam.

(NEWS-PAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

★CARD Sense★

By Oswald & James Jacoby

After a negative double a jump bid is strength showing, but not forcing. If either partner wants to force to game he does so by cue bidding the enemy suit. This cue bid does not indicate any specific holding; it merely forces to game.

The negative double by North made it easy for South to become declarer in spades. There was no slam anywhere else. With North as declarer the defense would grab the first two heart tricks.

Careful play was required to bring the slam home, but South was equal to the task. He won the club lead; ruffed

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	5 ♠	Pass	7

You, South, hold:
♠ K J 6 5 ♡ 2 A Q J 10 6 5 ♣ K 4 3

What do you do now?
A — Bid six diamonds. Your partner has made a fancy spade bid to warn you that he has two quick club losers, but that otherwise his hand is very good. Your king of clubs should insure the slam.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding five diamonds your partner has bid four notrump over your three spades and five notrump after you show ace ace. What do you do now?

Religion TV said 'poor relation'

(c) Newhouse News Service
WASHINGTON — The first major statistical study of religious programs on television has found such broadcasts generally are a "poor relation" to more lucrative shows on the nation's networks.

The report by the non-profit Broadcast Institute of North America in New York found "religious programming is of little interest to top management" of TV stations and therefore the people who operate the stations also adopt a "passive attitude."

In talking with station managers, researchers learned that "in no instance did they actively solicit candidates for religious air time."

Furthermore, they seemed largely unaware of the range of programs available, "their willingness to consider programs offered, but there seemed to be no clear standards or procedures beyond a passive yes or no, and initiative is left to the producers."

The Broadcast Institute said management's disinterest is revealed through lack of any written policy and acceptability of religious programs at many stations, lack of community consultation and lack of audience research on the subject.

Its analysis of a sample broadcast week — that is, what religious programs there were, ran in the 100 largest TV markets.

More programs appeared in the southeast and east central parts of the United States than elsewhere.

The Sunday ghetto time of broadcast was evident. Network religious shows are broadcast almost exclusively on Sundays. "Over half the total religious telecasts were between 8 a.m. and noon Sundays and the next highest grouping came between 11 p.m. and 1 a.m. on Saturdays."

The survey, entitled "Religious Programming on Television: An Analysis of a Sample Week," concluded that syndicated religious programs independently produced and sold — religious programs far exceed both network and locally originated shows.

Of 55 syndicators studied, 20 have budgets of less than $50,000 a year; only eight have budgets of more than $200,000.

Their favorite program technique is dramatization. The syndicators gave as reasons for their programming, persuading people to act or to stimulate new thought, providing "religious information and education," reinforcing religious beliefs, emphasizing Bible study and promoting religious unity.

The survey also indicated that two-thirds of the nation's commercial-TV stations sell time for religious programs while the others make it available without charge. "The larger the market, the less likely the station serving it is to sell time for religious broadcasting."

LDS Relief Society lesson topics told

SHOSHONE — A Lesson on food will be given at the January LDS Relief Society for the homemaking course.

Title of the lesson is "Food to Supply the Body's Need for Protein, Meat and Meat Substitutes."

Semester begins at institute

TWIN FALLS — Institute of Religion, 526 Falls Ave. announces the beginning of its spring semester.

Classes will begin on Monday and will include the following subjects: Life and Teachings of Jesus, Churchship, and Marriage, Missionary and Leadership Training, Book of Mormon, Teachings of Living Prophets and Choir.

The institute is available for all college age students regardless of religious affiliation and a warm welcome is extended to all according to DeLores Webb, 733-9118.

The Latter-Day Saint Student Association (LSSSA) is led by Scott Smith, president, Dick Aslett, vice-president, and Gale Stocking, secretary. LSSSA plans to hold weekly social activities throughout the opening social to be held on January 19 at the institute.

The institute is available for all college age students regardless of religious affiliation and a warm welcome is extended to all according to DeLores Webb, 733-9118.

In addition to a study of the country in general, there will be discussions of the culture, music, life and work of women particularly.

TWIN FALLS — Pioneer Revival Center, 454 Highland Ave., will hold services Tuesday and Friday night and Sunday morning and evening, according to Rev. C. Gene Andrew, pastor.

TWIN FALLS — Subject for Sunday's Christian Science lesson-sermon will be "Sacrament." Services are held at 11 a.m. at 160 Ninth Ave. E. The KTFI radio program will be heard at 6:30 p.m. Monday on "Do You Label Yourself Sinner?"

TWIN FALLS — The old Grace Baptist Church, 211 Fourth Ave. E., is for sale. Church officials, said they have a few prospective buyers, but the building located south of the Twin Falls Public Library is available for church use or any other purpose requiring a good sized building.

The new Grace Baptist Church building under construction on Eastland Drive is expected to be completed in March or a bit later.

Program promises spiritual uplift

(c) New York Times Service
NEW YORK — "Religious America," produced for the Public Broadcasting Service by WGBH-TV in Boston, begins a run of 13 weekly installments Sunday evening.

Each episode is a half-hour in length, and each attempt to distill the peak essence of some variety of religious experience, that can be found somewhere today in America.

The two episodes that I have seen so far would indicate that the series is exceptionally effective. Intelligent and valuable. Religion, or the religious experience, on television has generally been relegated to the "Sunday morning ghetto," where, dedicated producers have been limited to small budgets and, almost inevitably, panel discussion.

However interesting, the discussions remain on the periphery of experience.

Philip Garvin, the producer of "Religious America," and Joan Carlson, WGBH-TV's producer, spent more than a year going to the sources of that experience and, after careful preparation, recording their results.

What emerges strongly in their work is not so much objectively as open curiosity, overlaid with a determination not to distort.

The first episode, this Sunday, "Meeting in the Air," enters the Faith Tabernacle Church in Riverside, Calif. for a Pentecostal church service.

Interviews with some of the more prominent participants — Reverend Yarborough, Judy the organist, Mrs. Salisbury a middle-aged housewife — are used to punctuate the recording of a typical service, attended by old and young, black and white.

The ingredients are standard: speaking in tongues, laying on of hands, rhythmic and sometimes militaristic songs ("God Has Got an Army that is Marching Through the Land"). The participants, who appear to be quite ordinary members of the lower middle-class, edify to forward to be "slain under the power of God."

As Rev. Yarborough himself a poor boy from the Granges "saved" from alcohol and drugs, explains: "Man has to be submissive" before he can be "full of the spirit."

The observer, no matter how skeptical can only be fascinated at witnessing what one participant describes as a "lifting up of the spirit, an exuberance." A basic need is, quite obviously; there, and, just as obviously, the Pentecostal service satisfies it for these people.

The third episode offers an entirely different form of religious experience, one that is rooted not in a special service but in a carefully self-contained way of daily life.

"Lubavitch" examines Brooklyn's Chabad Lubavitch community, mystic and orthodox sect of Judaism that was founded in Russia 180 years ago and firmly rooted in Brooklyn around 1940.

In a series of stunningly beautiful vignettes, the program simply records some of the ordinary practices and rituals in the life of a Lubavitcher. The only narration is provided by Leibel Bistrinsky, a member of the community and owner of a dairy grocery store.

He explains the significance of midday prayers, held with a proper program in a convenient store and designed specifically to tear the participants away from earthly concerns. He describes the purpose of the tiffin, a special meal boxes containing words from the scriptures and bound to the head and chest during prayers.

ARTHUR LICKEY, speaker

Adventist speaker scheduled

TWIN FALLS — Arthur B. Lickey, Portland, Ore., will be the guest speaker at the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, addition at Grandview Drive, at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday evening.

Lickey is public affairs director of the Adventist Church in Alaska, Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Washington. Speaking on the topic, "Divine Legacy of Religious Freedom," he will outline trends in church-state relationships for the local congregation.

Son of a minister, Lickey graduated from Union College, Lincoln, Neb., and began his pastoral ministry in Kinross City, Mo. He served pastorates in Grand Rapids, Mich.; Portland and Denver, Colo., before being named public affairs director for Colorado. He assumed his present post in July, 1973.

Assembly meetings planned

BUHL — Buhl-Calvary Assembly of God will present a week of meetings Tuesday through Jan. 20.

The emphasis of the meetings will be facing today's problems — in the context of contemporary living.

Some practical aspects toward helping with the everyday problems of life will be discussed each night. Speaker for these special, youth-oriented meetings will be Loren Hamer, a recent graduate from Northwest College in Seattle who has served as youth pastor in Twin Falls.

He has a very good insight into today's life style as well as an understanding of human nature and the needs of people. His refreshing and somewhat unorthodox style attracts many of today's young people, according to Rev. D. Jerry McFarland, pastor.

This type program has been carried out in many areas of the church for years, to accommodate attendance of women who work during the regular weekly meeting hours.

Mrs. Kenneth Blackburn, president of the Shoshone group, said the first of a "second series" of meetings will be held at 9 a.m. Sunday at the church.

The meetings will then follow each Sunday at that time, and will also be held as usual at 10 a.m. Tuesdays at the church. The same teachers will present lessons for both sessions.

Spokane couple will speak

JEROME — The Altons of Spokane will be featured speakers at special services tonight through Sunday at the Bible Baptist Church in Jerome.

The couple are much in demand speaking to youth across the country. Duane Altan, a Christian businessman, speaks while his wife, Blanche, illustrates the message with chalk drawings. Service will be held at 8 p.m. today and Saturday. The couple also will appear at Sunday school at 9:45 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m., and the Sunday evening service, also at 8 p.m.

A nursery is provided for every service.

Planner disclaims credit for proposed TF county zoning ordinance

TWIN FALLS — Ross Fasolino still disclaims any credit for the proposed Twin Falls County zoning ordinance as it stands and will do so until they get the ordinance and maps to literally do what was hired to do.

Fasolino, an Idaho State University instructor who was hired by Twin Falls County to revise the current zoning ordinance, said he would "disclaim" the use of his name on the new measure until it is "professionally right." He issued a similar statement in October concerning an earlier draft of the ordinance. Twin Falls County Chairman William Chaney said today the commissioners will take action "pretty shortly" on the revised ordinance, "probably within the next two weeks."

Chaney and county zoning administrator Ed Woods met with Fasolino in Pocatello Wednesday night. Woods said Fasolino has completed a review of the ordinance.

The commissioners Tuesday said they were waiting for Fasolino's recommendations before taking final action on the ordinance. "He still wants a few changes before he will attach his name to it," Woods said. "He still recommends that (house) lots be larger than those in the city."

Woods said Fasolino also "still thinks he was correct that (Twin Falls City) should normally expand to the rim. He doesn't think Pole Line Road is the natural place to stop growth."

But Fasolino said "it's entirely up to the planning process that will take place from now on," according to the ordinance. "In a telephone interview with the Times-News Wednesday, Fasolino said the ordinance doesn't "allow enough development around the major cities."

"What they are talking about right now is very conservative," he said. "Some poor principals of planning and zoning are still present."

"I think their real intention is to try to get development in closer to cities. But when you make the city of Twin Falls very restrictive the developers will go out into the county."

Although the zoning maps are "certainly not final, generally speaking, they are light in the amount of land they allow for subdivisions," Fasolino said.

The maps have been "cleaned up as far as finger types of zones," he said.

Fasolino would not comment on specific recommendations he will make, citing a "multitude" of problems that have to be settled.

He attributes many of the problems to the Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Commission, which "lacks professional expertise."

"Unfortunately they have no professionalism" and "are not using good sense as to what the county needs over the next few years," he said.

"I have found the county commissioners inclined to listen and discuss this thing," he said, "but some of the zoning commissioners are hard-core agriculturalists wishing nothing but to retain good agricultural land."

"The planning and zoning commission has done this (caused problems) not the (county) commissioners," Fasolino said.

The zippers want to "draw in" the subdivision areas "so close that future developments may be hindered," he said. "Given time the areas will fill up."

Commissioners said the zoning should have incorporated public suggestions into the ordinance only after seeking professional advice.

Fifty people at a meeting are not the 40,000 people in the county," he said.

Winter classes beginning at Y

TWIN FALLS — A wide variety of activities will be featured in the winter classes at the YMCA/YMCA beginning Monday and the following week.

Some of the events for which boys may register this Saturday include ski fitness, boys tumbling and wrestling, arts and crafts for both boys and girls, model building, square dancing for the whole family and basketball for boys.

Maurice Clifton, YMCA program committee chairman, said those interested in any of these programs should sign up as early as possible.

The ski fitness program is the second in a series and is open to men and women and teen-age skiers. Classes will be Monday and Wednesday evenings in the "Y". Exercises to get the skiers in condition for winter sports will be offered.

Tumbling for boys is a new class for these through the sixth grade and will cover basic skills. The class will be offered Tuesday and Thursday from 4 to 5:30 p.m.

Wrestling, under the direction of Dallas Wilts, will be offered Monday nights for the first through third grade boys and Wednesday nights for fourth through seventh grades. Both groups meet at the Y at 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Arts and crafts for boys and girls is a four week program on Monday and Wednesday afternoons beginning at 4 p.m. Model building will be offered four times each week.

The younger and experienced boys meet Monday and Wednesday after school and more experienced and older model builders meet Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 4:15 p.m.

Wilson Clifton will instruct square dancing on Friday evenings from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Clifton said final sign up and team organization day will be Saturday for those wishing to take part in the boys basketball program. Boys may register at the Presbyterian Church in any of three different leagues available.

These include first and second graders; third and fourth graders and the fifth and sixth grade all American basketballers. Boys may also register by calling the "Y" 733-4384.

Warfield's injury puts super bowl in new light

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Miami Dolphins without Paul Warfield are bread without butter or bacon without eggs. "He's their big play man," Minnesota Vikings coach Bud Grant said Thursday. "It would make a big difference if he wasn't in there."

With Super Bowl VIII less than two days away, the Miami Dolphins today face the unhappy prospect of losing their biggest game of the season without Warfield. The gifted wide receiver suffered a pulled hamstring muscle in his right leg Wednesday and the Dolphins wouldn't really speculate on his chances of playing Sunday. Coach Don Shula, who has been tossing quips all week while Grant has been doing the complaining, let a bit of irritation show in his voice for the first time this week when newsmen pressed him on the chances that Warfield would be ready. "I'm not holding anything back," he snapped. "I wish I could tell you more. But it's a wait and see situation."

Warfield could do nothing more Thursday than walk around the Houston Oilers' practice field in a sweat suit or shoulder. "Our big worry is a lightning storm," Scott quips. But the key question is how long Warfield can go if he does try to play and how effective he will be. The Dolphins don't pass that. He's been backing up Briscoe only 29 passes although 11 have gone for touchdowns but the coverage Warfield gets helps to open things up for the running game. Grant said, "Miami doesn't usually have too many third-and-long plays so his absence might not hurt them as much as it would another team but he's obviously a key player."

ISU hangs first league home loss on Weber in two seasons

OGDEN, Utah (UPI) — Defending Big Sky Conference champion Weber State dropped its first home conference game in two years, a 71-67 overtime loss to league-leading Idaho State Thursday night.

The Wildcats held a 13 point lead, 58-45, with 9:51 to go in the game, but the Bengals steadily chipped away at that margin and finally knotted the game 64-64 with 30 seconds remaining. Weber had a chance to grab the win when ISU guard Kevin Hoyt threw the ball away with seven seconds left, but the Cats couldn't hit a final shot. In the extra stanza, Weber was hurt when it missed three one-and-one opportunities. Altogether the Cats missed their last six one-and-one tries. Jay Anderson led the Bengals with 19 points and Dan Spindler chipped in with 13. Tom Devita and Steve Fleming led the Wildcatters with 13 each.

Miller's 19 points help BSC drop Northern Arizona 73-64

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (UPI) — Freshman Terry Miller scored 19 points to lead Boise State College to a 73-65 Big Sky Conference victory over Northern Arizona University Thursday night.

The Broncos were outshot from the field, but were able to convert 25 of 41 attempts with Miller scoring 19 of the charity shots. NAU made only five of 10 attempted free throws.

Boise State pulled out to an 11-2 lead in the first five and one-half minutes of play, but NAU tied the score, 27-27, with 6:08 left in the first half before the Broncos came back with a run of 11 points. Boise State held a 41-31 advantage at halftime and allowed the Lumberjacks to

George Wilson with 17, Clyde Dickey with 13 and Pat Hoke with 11. Nate Payne of Northern Arizona paced all scorers with 21 points, while Emerson Gordon had 14 and Ken Jacobs 10. The win left Boise State with a 3-0 conference record and a 7-4 season mark. Northern Arizona fell to 0-3 in conference play and 2-11 on the year.

Regents move to equalizing athletic programs in state

BOISE (UPI) — The state board of education called for equalizing athletic programs at Idaho's three major institutions of higher education. After listening to a proposal worked up by the board's higher education, the board turned instead toward an alternative suggestion from its president, Dr. John Swartley.

One member of the board, P. Deaton, Pocatello, expressed concern about the Swartley plan — saying he felt it would destroy the incentive of booster clubs to support the athletic programs. But public instruction superintendent D. F. Enselking said he felt the booster clubs can help money into their activities at colleges and universities if they do not want to put it all into athletics.

Dr. John B. Barnes, president of Boise State, who is also a trustee of the board from which to draw spectators and a strong booster organization stands to lose most, said he could go along with the plan. But he said he hopes eventually the board treats the academic areas in the same manner — mentioning specifically graduate programs.

Dr. James Todd, associate director for higher education, put forth a lengthy study of intercollegiate athletics in Idaho. He suggested that personnel — be paid — from other intercollegiate athletics costs come from gate receipts and booster donations. This, the board appeared to reject in favor of the Swartley plan.

Williams heads for sidelines

RIVIERA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Former Oakland Athletics baseball manager, Dick Williams announced today he would pass up baseball this season to accept an administrative assistant to Florida multimillionaire developer John D. MacArthur.

Williams resigned from the A's after they won their second world championship last October but owner Charles O. Finley refused to free him from his contract to become manager of the New York Yankees. Former American League Commissioner Joe Crain backed Finley's position.

"I am being held out of baseball for perhaps as long as two years by Mr. Finley, but I am happy about this agreement. I have made with Mr. MacArthur," Williams said at a joint press conference with MacArthur, who made millions as founder of the Bankers Life & Insurance Company.

Drake stuns Memphis 91-80

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Forward Larry Haralson scored 30 points to give the Drake Bulldogs their first road victory of the season Thursday night, a 91-80 upset of the Memphis State Tigers.

Haralson, a 6-9, 210-pound junior, hit 11 of 17 field goal attempts and eight of eight free throws as Drake handed the Tigers their fourth loss in 15 games. Drake is now 4-8 with all their previous wins on home ground. Craig Davis had 17 points for Drake, Terry McNeill had 15 and Andy Graham had 14. Davis led all rebounders with 15.

Dr. James Todd, associate director for higher education, put forth a lengthy study of intercollegiate athletics in Idaho. He suggested that personnel — be paid — from other intercollegiate athletics costs come from gate receipts and booster donations. This, the board appeared to reject in favor of the Swartley plan.

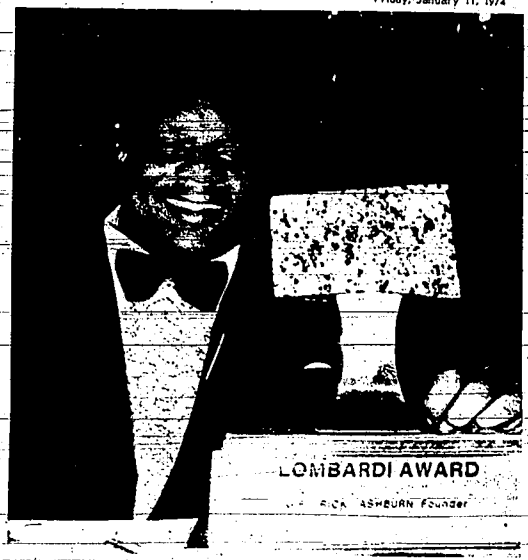

Finley's pal would buy A's

OAKLAND (UPI) — If Charlie Finley is serious about wanting to sell his World Champion Oakland A's he might have a built-in buyer. Ed Daly, his friend and chairman of the board of World Airways.

Daly, who once was interested in buying the Seattle Pilots and later withdrew when he became aware of the club's financial problems, confirmed Thursday that if Finley is interested in selling the A's he would be interested in talking to him about it.

"I haven't talked with Charlie about the club since returning home from a long trip abroad," Daly said. "If Charlie is serious about selling the club I'd be interested."

A Chicago newspaper reported two days ago that Finley, who suffered a heart attack last summer, has been ordered by doctors to divert himself of his sports interests, which include the National Hockey League Scouts and the American Basketball Association's "Basketball Association" teams as well as the A's.

John Hicks of Ohio State Ohio State's John Hicks adds Lombardi award to collection

HOUSTON (UPI) — Ohio State University offensive tackle John Hicks Thursday night was presented with Vince Lombardi Award, symbol of the nation's outstanding collegiate football lineman.

Hicks, 27, of Cleveland, was runner-up to winner John Cappelletti of Penn State in the Heisman Trophy competition but captured the Outland Trophy from competition exclusively among linemen.

The Lombardi trophy — a 45-pound block of granite — is named in honor of the late Green Bay Packer and Washington Redskins head football coach who died of cancer in 1970. Lombardi, during his collegiate days, was a member of the Fordham University line, the legendary "Seven Blocks of Granite."

Newcomers share lead in Phoenix tourney

PHOENIX (UPI) — Rookie Mark Hayes and second-year pro Archie McNeikle overcame damp and bumpy greens Thursday to share the first round lead in the $100,000 Phoenix Open with four under-par scores generally were higher than expected as the Phoenix Country Club course played hard due to rain early in the week. The round started 30 minutes late because of fog but finished under sunny skies.

Five players were grouped at three-under 69, including veteran Miller Barber, a 1971 winner of the Phoenix event. Tied with him were hometown golfer Paul Purzner, Bob Wynn, Fred Martz and Larry Wood.

Gooding to host AAU ring card

GOODING (UPI) — Boxers from eight western states will converge here Jan. 19 to compete for top honours in "the largest amateur boxing card ever staged in the United States," promoter Bud Gobdy said Thursday.

The main highlights of the 18-card event will be a special appearance of Archie Moore, former world light heavyweight champion, and a contingency of eight AAU champion fighters from San Diego, Calif.

There will be two main events. One features 138-pound Dyrk Gobdy, Gooding, the western U.S. golden glove champion, against Dean Baker, 135 pounds, San Diego, Calif. Gobdy will be seeking his 39th win and Baker is 35 and 3 in his career.

Buhl cops wrestling crown

BUHL — The Buhl-Indians proved ungracious hosts Thursday night as they ran off with the championship of their own invitational wrestling tournament.

The Indians, with seven individual champions, amassed 132 points in the one-day event. Wood River was second with 76 points, one-half point ahead of Valley. They were followed by Kimberly 65, American Falls 50, Wendell 36 and Gooding 21.

Ron Estes perplexed by draft

Ron Estes, CSI pitcher drafted by the Philadelphia Phillies in Wednesday free agent draft, Thursday night had no idea what was going on. "The first time I heard about it was when coach (Bob) Bantfield told me over the telephone this morning," Estes said.

Two city councilmen sworn in at Heyburn

HEYBURN — Two city councilmen took oaths of office at the first Heyburn City Council meeting held Wednesday night in its new city offices.

Incumbent councilman Earl Rose and newly-elected councilman Wilford Wilcox were sworn in by attorney Peter Snow acting for city attorney Thomas Church.

Councilman Rose was elected president of the council.

The meeting was attended by the Emerson Ward Boy Scout Troop as part of its citizenship merit badge program.

The council began the new year with an interim first quarter budget of $200,000.

An ordinance closing one block of Idaho Street north of the Heyburn Cemetery was read for the third time and approved.

Larry C. Burbank, city electrical superintendent, told the council that city electricity use was higher than had been expected until several years from now. He cited use of electric space heaters in homes and engine warmers for cars as the main reasons for the unexpected loads.

Mayor Harold Hurst said that's the history of the city of Heyburn. We plan ahead for ten years and it catches up to us in two or three.

Burbank said that some of the transformers at the Heyburn substation would be replaced — when weather conditions permit. He also said that qualified help was needed for the work but that there is presently "no help to find."

Mayor Hurst asked the news reporters present to "tell Heyburn people they should top their trees."

High ground water conditions in the area do not allow trees to grow as deep a root system as in other areas, he said. High winds recently toppled trees onto power lines in the area.

There have been several power outages in Minidoka and Cassia counties in the past few weeks.

Closer

DIETRICH — Between 75 and 100 head of antelope are moving closer each day to the John Anderson ranch five miles east of Dietrich.

Anderson said the animals are apparently looking for water. Other years, they have always gone to the Dietrich canal for their winter water supply.

This year, water was shut out of the canal because the canal structure is damaged by having water left in it during freezing weather, according to canal company officials.

The animals apparently don't realize that about 10 miles away, they would find water in the river, Anderson said.

Anderson has observed this herd for several years. He said they don't move very far away even in the summer.

Agreement sought for stockyard and city

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls humane officer today issued a call for the city to institute a working agreement with a stockyard for the care of stock animals.

Keith Saville said the two large animal stalls at the Blue Lakes Veterinary Clinic, where owner Dr. C. L. Manners operates the city pound, are seldom vacant for placement of stray horses or cattle. The stalls are also used by blunners for private work, Saville said.

Saville pointed to the case of four stray horses as an example of the need for a working agreement between the city and a stockyard.

Twice in the last four days, Saville said, four horses have escaped and have been eating hay in pastures along Floral Avenue. He said the horses escaped from a field owned by Enoch Wall, who lives west of Buhl, but he added that the owner of the horses has not been located.

For now, the horses have been put in a nearby pasture on Floral Avenue and are being fed by the pasture owner as an act of goodwill, Saville said. He said they have eaten eight bales of hay in the last four days.

"At least they (the horses) would be fed at a stockyard," Saville said. "Shoving them in somebody's pasture is an imposition on the people. They don't mind it for a little while."

Saville is still trying to locate the owner of the four stray horses. "Whoever he is," he said, "he's not paying any attention to them."

Turning from the subject of large animals, Saville urged pet owners not to dump animals in the cold weather. He cited a case where eight black and tan Labrador shepherd pups were left in a box near the Twin Falls Livestock Commission close to the Twin Falls Humane Society.

Gooding thinks of fair

GOODING — Members of the Gooding County Fair Board are looking toward warmer temperatures and making plans for the Aug. 5, 6 and 7 county fair program.

In a meeting, members discussed plans for the three night rodeo show this year to replace a drill team contest usually held on one of the three nights.

John LaMoyné, board chairman, said he had received a request from the Antique Festival Theatre to perform during the fair. Members said they would attempt to work the shows into the fair schedule. Plans were also made to revise the exhibit classes to eliminate those which do not have sufficient entries and to add new classes, in which exhibitors may be interested.

The "Sicbrand" Shows Carnival will be featured this year and board members are planning to increase premiums in paid exhibits and to provide additional display space for 4-H women's and other domestic displays. The women's display building, where women's and 4-H items were previously displayed, will be converted to a poultry and rabbit display building.

Use of the old army building for "action displays" such as pottery making, weaving and other arts was suggested by Andrew James. Another board meeting will be held in February or March at which time interested exhibitors and other county residents will be invited to attend and discuss fair plans.

Club elects

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. James Hamby was elected president of Squilla Club at a meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Delvern Fuller.

Other newly elected officers include Mrs. Rodney Davis, vice president; Mrs. Maurice Fuller, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Ellis Fuller, reporter.

Roll call was answered with "old time beauty aids." Greeting cards were exchanged by 1974 secret pals. The project for the day was tying quilts for a convalescent home.

The next meeting will be Feb. 13 at the home of Mrs. Maurice Fuller for a quilt luncheon.

Individualized plan

TWIN FALLS — Business training at the College of Southern Idaho is changing with the times and now offers individualized training.

The department has nine instructors who are able to work individually with the students during most of the time. Audio-visual aids, practical experience, individual study packets, team teaching and self paced instruction are all part of the new business training procedure at CSI.

A student may enter as a beginner, intermediate or advanced business enrollee and each course or an option to it is offered every semester.

Wanda Sorensen, coordinator, said the training houses to build skills for use in case of financial emergencies, is helping grandparents to re-enter the job market and working people up to better jobs.

Those interested in the course may take a single class or a complete course in the secretarial field. Both day and night classes are available.

Pre-registration is in progress now and will continue through Saturday. Miss Sorensen said some classes begin Monday. Additional information is available by calling the CSI business department 733-9554, Ext. 272.

DR. ROBIN DREW sets talk

Speaker slated Saturday

BURLEY — "Russia... The Unrepentant Imperialist" will be the subject of Dr. Robin A. Drew's address to the Burley-Rupert-Kelley and Fork Club meeting Saturday at 7 p.m. at the Ponderosa Inn.

According to Dr. John Head, club president, Dr. Drew has just returned from a comprehensive tour of the USSR where he collected material for his forthcoming book "Cosacks and Indian-Killers."

In addition to discussing the life pattern and living standards of Russia, Dr. Drew will comment on the nature of communism and will analyze future developments in the Soviet Union.

A recognized authority on cultural anthropology, Dr. Drew, who as a young man lived in China, is a graduate of the University of Oregon and has received a doctorate of philosophy from the University of Michigan.

His visits to Moscow, Leningrad and such little-known Soviet cities as Bokhara and Khabarovak have prepared him to discuss the present day conditions inside the Soviet Union and its republics.

His primary interest lies in the relationship of the native peoples, such as the Burias, Yakuts, and Gilyaks, to the bureaucracy of the Russian government. Dr. Drew will also comment on how far China can be expected to follow the Soviet example.

Regional plan unit to meet

BURLEY — Members of the South Idaho Resource Planning and Development Association will meet in Burley Wednesday at 1:30 p.m.

On the agenda for this month are discussions of the 1975 fiscal budget for the four-county group and further discussion of a Jerome County proposal for Bureau of Land Management land. Development of a SIRPDA policy will also be discussed.

In the December meeting Jerome County representatives listed a proposal covering 500 acres of Bureau of Land Management land in that county which the county is seeking for recreational development.

It was pointed out the BLM wants the land back so they can use it for wildlife habitat in conjunction with a cooperative program with Cassia County.

Jerome County has approved the BLM request, Jerome County representatives said.

Because no member of the Jerome County Commission was present in the December meeting to discuss the commissioners' position, SIRPDA officials tabled further action until Wednesday.

SIRPDA members have also agreed to work with the Twin Falls County Canyon Rim study group and to make SIRPDA information, largely provided through the Soil Conservation Districts, available for the study group.

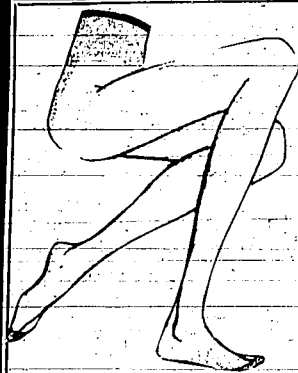

David Head from the study committee said there are some 12 different studies being made on the canyon rim land.
