Floods recede in North Idaho
By United Press International
Flood waters that sent hundreds of homeowners scurrying for higher ground in North Idaho's Silver Valley began to recede today, but conditions worsened on the St. Joe to the south.

While not as serious, flooding in southwestern Idaho also forced evacuation Wednesday, and some families were reported stranded today.

Two families 30 miles west of Council Bluffs, Iowa, were stranded when Wild Horse River washed out a bridge on a country road.

To spend the money, the governor recommended $2.3 million in supplemental appropriations and $1.5 million in "one-time" expenditures.

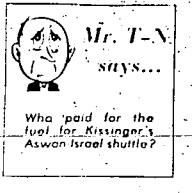

Gem junior college assistance meager
BOISE — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus recommended meager increases in state aid to junior colleges in his 1975 fiscal year budget.

Delivering his annual budget address to the combined House and Senate, Andrus asked — he promised in his State of the State address — for special property tax relief for the state's senior citizens.

The College of Southern Idaho and North Idaho College together would receive $1,800,000 if the 1975 legislature adopted Andrus' budget proposal.

For public schools, Andrus proposed an increase of $7.7 million in all state funds, of which $7 million comes from the

MV hospital said full

TWIN FALLS—A waiting list has been established at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for the first time since the present building went into service, administrator James Rosenbaum said today.

With a total of 128 beds in the hospital, there were 132 patients being cared for as of midnight Wednesday, Rosenbaum said. A number of surgeries of elective nature were canceled because beds were located in all available treatment rooms and other areas.

Rosenbaum said persons needing hospital admission not of an emergency nature are being placed on a waiting list. One man, needing traction, has been waiting five days, Rosenbaum said.

If he were in pain or in a serious condition he would be taken care of somehow he said, but since there is no emergency, he will wait until the present condition subsides.

"It has now been 48 hours that we have operated beyond the 100 per cent capacity," the administrator said.

Trout farmers air pollution guidelines

T-N Capitol Bureau
BOISE — Representatives of Magic Valley trout farmers held a private breakfast meeting Wednesday with members of the Idaho Congressional delegation and top state pollution officials to discuss proposed federal pollution guidelines for the fish industry.

Following the meeting Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said the discussion had centered around the search for "realistic standards of water quality which will permit the trout industry in Idaho to continue to operate." Hansen said more information was needed before final federal guidelines should be implemented to control pollution from the trout industry.

The Congressman said the federal law that governs water quality requires the Federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to look at the pollution that is permitted into water supplies, rather than its effect after natural dilution. He said preliminary studies indicate the result of the industry's pollution in the Magic Valley area is a "minimal" source of degradation.

He said guidelines should be developed to require the industry to come up with the best technology that is "economically-feasible" to achieve the water quality standards the country needs.

John Hepworth, a Bull attorney and one of the trout industry representatives at the meeting, said the purpose of the gathering was to bring the Congressional members and others current with the proposed guidelines.

Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, said the trout representative had said at the meeting — the proposed guidelines are "economically-impossible to fully comply with."

McClure said it reported their feeling that, if implemented, the regulations would put them out of business.

McClure said he, like Hansen, wanted some more technical information before coming to a final decision about what to do with the proposals EPA has made. "I don't think any of us wants to see the industry destroyed," he said.

The EPA has proposed guidelines for the fish industry, like others in the country, as part of its responsibilities for water quality standards. The EPA is operating a permit system to insure water quality, with "best practicable" and "best available" equipment by 1983.

The trout representatives met with federal officials in Portland after the proposed guidelines were made public to protest them.

One person who attended the meeting Wednesday in Boise said it appeared the industry had been caught by surprise when the federal government issued its proposed guidelines and "wasn't able to make their case" before the Congressional delegation. He said the Congressional reaction was "non-committal."

Return to small towns

You remember the many stories about the bright and diligent young people, who finding their small home towns lacking in opportunity moved to the city and made it big. There even was a title for it, "Small Town Boy Makes Good."

Well the trend is reversed. A lot of young, intelligent and diligent people are finding out that you can live in a small and neighborly community and make money and not be culturally disadvantaged either.

Accurate statistics show that the trend of population to metropolitan areas has been reversed in the last decade in almost all areas of the country except the South, which never was highly urbanized anyway.

Many people are staying in their native communities or nearby, others have tried the metropolitan mode and found it not to their liking. There's a title for it, too, "Getting Out Of The Rat Race."

With many small towns within easy driving distance of large cities, there is no lack of first class entertainment or cultural advantages such as museums, zoos, entertainment, symphonies, etc.

And with today's communications, it is perfectly possible to run a large and progressive business from a small community while still enjoying the many attributes of living close to nature.

Small town schools can be very good, and free of many disturbing elements which are plaguing metropolitan schools. There's usually good community law and order, too, and freedom to move around in daylight or dark, without fear.

And what we are talking about is not suburbia, which is entirely metropolitan oriented, or satellite cities about a metropolis. These are genuine self-contained small towns, and the kind of a place where you'd like to raise children.

It is a very healthy sign of a return to an American way of living which was one of the richest. Perhaps, if it continues, it may help solve some of the problems of the great cities.

Certainly it will help many families to a much happier way of life than they could ever enjoy in the metropolises.

Humiliation Day?

Portland Oregonian

In proposing that April 30, 1974, be set aside as a National Day of Humiliation, Fasting and Prayer, Sen. Mark Hatfield is in essence asking Congress to establish religious observance—a day of repentance—as a means of restoring unity and purpose to the national body politic. The request obviously grows out of deep religious conviction and will strike a responsive chord with many citizens in Oregon and around the nation. But it reveals a lack of sensitivity to the Establishment Clause of the first Amendment to the Constitution.

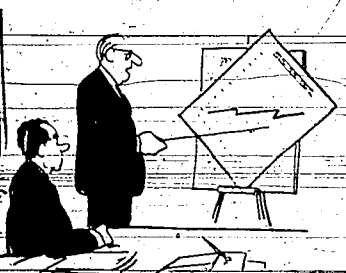

Congress should reject Hatfield's resolution because our constitutional tradition has wisely determined that when a religious act is compelled by Caesar, it becomes an act to be rendered unto Caesar, even when Caesar compels it as ostensibly an act to be rendered unto God. From the vantage of the future, it is an intrusion into the province of religion. From the vantage of religion, the observance can be seen as idol worship insofar as it is impelled or made ambiguous by the action of government.

Let there be no doubt that Sen. Hatfield proposes establishment of religion rather than a less specific spiritual "awakening." We tend to put our country beyond the reach of God's judgment," Hatfield said to the Senate. And, "Our refusal to acknowledge our dependence and need for a Power beyond ourselves has severely damaged our national soul. I believe that only a national confession of corporate guilt can save us from the worship of our own finite power and the tragedies that this worship creates."

The senator hopes that government and other institutions of our society "would all cease business as usual" so that everyone "would be free to consider actions appropriate to a time that would symbolize national repentance." The element of compulsion here is unmistakable. It is not only the non-believer but the believer who must insist on being excused from what amounts to state-orchestrated religious exercise.

Sen. Hatfield's goals are noble. He seeks to heal wounds that divide us. Yet, the editors believe his resolution, if passed, would be found to be unconstitutional, because it proposes to use essentially religious means to serve governmental ends, where secular means would suffice.

BERRY'S WORLD

As you can see, the profit picture for oil companies isn't THAT bright.

"Let's Get to the Bottom of This!"

Now let's see — when is that bill due?

Getting so every day or so we find a story in the paper commenting on the "slow" service of the post office department.

With every "today" of getting home where with a new subject, today we would discuss the telephone company — better known hereabouts as Mountain Bell.

We received a bill from that concern the other day. It comes once a month although it actually seems it comes every week because we no sooner get one paid than another crops up.

But now we have apparently won a reprieve from paying this bill we just received. Why?

Well, the billing date was Jan. 1, 1974 down at the bottom of the statement, under the line reading "due and payable by" — there is a shocker.

It reads that our bill is due and payable by 11-06-40.

Now, we must assume that the legend of Nov. 6, 30, does not mean Nov. 6, 1940, because that would have made this bill overdue by some 34 years. We're sure the telephone company would by Nov. 6, 2040.

Let's see now, that gives us about 66 years to pay. Which really isn't too bad, considering we will never be around that long.

And we thank our friend Ken Munn, the big mogul over at Mountain Bell for giving us all this time. We promise, Ken, that we will pay it on the day it is due — say, November 6, 2040. OK?

MR. SPECTATOR

never have let us get away with anything for that long. So we must assume that it is due and payable

Affectionate canine risky

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please settle an argument with my grandfather. He claims that when my dog licks my face I'm in tremendous danger.

I have tried to explain that while it may not look good, a dog's mouth is actually cleaner than a human's mouth due to a different cell and bacteria-fighting make-up. — Mrs. M. N.

You are technically correct that dogs manage to keep their mouths cleaner than humans do — but I still have to go with grandpa-in-that-dogs sniff and lick at so many things it's safer to forego the canine affection. Why take unnecessary risks?

Dean questions pose dilemma for Jaworski

WASHINGTON — The previously undisclosed fact that John W. Dean III quietly returned to Washington last weekend and immediately entered the offices of the special prosecutor for more questioning poses new dangers for Richard M. Nixon and a deepening dilemma for Leon Jaworski.

The interrogation of Dean picked up where it stopped several weeks ago when he left for the West Coast. It is expected to continue for some time. That would scarcely be the case if the secret White House tape recordings heard so far by the prosecutor's office proved that Dean's accusations against President Nixon are lies.

But if the prosecutors think Dean is telling the truth, it would follow that they must also suspect that the President is criminally culpable — and therein lies the dilemma for special prosecutor Jaworski. He publicly committed himself against handing over any evidence to the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment proceedings. At the same time, many legal scholars feel he cannot and will not seek a criminal indictment against the President prior to impeachment.

In that case, his evidence against the President, buttressed by deposed White House counsel Dean, at least temporarily would fall between indictment and impeachment. So, unless he can work out some arrangement with the House, Jaworski will face accusations of abetting yet another White House cover-up. At the heart of this is whether Dean told the truth in sworn testimony before the Senate Watergate Committee. For months, White House aides have been claiming the tapes would show Dean lied under oath.

If so, Dean would be in deep trouble. When he pleaded guilty last Oct. 19 to a one-count prosecution in return for immunity, the deal made this exception: no immunity from perjury.

Yet, though the prosecutors have heard the Nixon-Dean tapes (except, of course, the two missing tapes), they are resuming interrogation of Dean. The conclusion is that they do not feel differences between the tapes and Dean's Senate testimony are amazing his creativity.

A credible Dean equals a vulnerable Nixon. Despite this, the President might be immune for some time to come, thanks to two points made to us by Jaworski during an interview this week in his Washington office.

First, Jaworski reiterated his public declarations that his evidence would not be made available for the House impeachment of Solzhenitsyn is that his indictment isn't of the man Stalin, or even of the man Lenin, whose atrocities figure greatly in this book.

His indictment is universal: an indictment of totalitarian society. Brezhnev can no more convincingly denounce Stalin than he can denounce his own aorta. The governors of the Soviet Union cannot break with their own past without walking, unmanacled, to Red Square, to set a torch upon themselves.

This is the moment not for bureaucratic responses, but for gallant response, and those of us who know Henry Kissinger pray that he will take the initiative — no one could be better. If a frail of the head of Solzhenitsyn is harmed.

One. The United States of America will suspend all cultural exchange with the Soviet Union beginning immediately.

Two. An absolute embargo, for a mourning period of one year, will be imposed on commerce of any kind with the Soviet Union, and against any purchase of goods of any kind from the Soviet Union.

Perhaps Solzhenitsyn requires martyrdom, fully to annual his work to the service of humanity. Perhaps, even, he desires it. But we cannot willingly play the role of Pontius Pilate.

BEAUTIFUL! COMPARED TO THE RIGHT-WING STUFF...

Throughout universe, Kohoutek draws scorn

(c) New York Times Service
Kohoutek has failed its promoters. It is a nothing act.

It is the biggest flopper since "Kelly" hit Broadway at a cost of $700,000 and folded on the first night. It is the Ezzel of the firmament.

Kohoutek may be brighter than the full moon space agency people said in November. New Kohoutek is nothing. A pimple between Jupiter and Venus would be easier to find. Some full moon? What a joke! It is the funniest letdown since John Gilbert first opened his mouth for talking pictures.

Kohoutek is the John Gilbert of the celestial spheres.

Kohoutek is a bigger disappointment than Thomas E. Dewey's failure to be elected president of the United States in 1944. Dewey could at least be seen. Out there in the infinitudes of space when the comets get together after their long loops around the stars there must be a good bit of laughter about Kohoutek's great fizzle.

Do they say, "Kohoutek is the Thomas E. Dewey of the evening sky?"

RUSSELL BAKER

Halley's comet, with its famous tail is doubtless capable of such cruel wit. Its grandeur remains unchallenged after all, despite predictions that Kohoutek would shine with such a glory that people would forget Halley's comet.

A similar thing was once said of a fellow named Ferruccio Tagliavini. Tagliavini, it was said, would make people forget Caruso. Kohoutek is the Tagliavini of the cosmopolitan scene.

When things go wrong Americans demand an investigation. Witnesses were assembled in the highly disappointing and, therefore, suspicious matter thereafter known as Kohoutek. The findings were contradictory, predictable and routinely self-serving, and are recorded in deference to journalistic tradition that findings must always be recorded even when there are none.

A great deal of testimony led no doubt that television and the press had deliberately set out to destroy Kohoutek by undermining people's faith in it.

Kohoutek races away from the sun at unmeasurable speed. It is on an outward loop which will take it out of the planetary theater for a time that amounts to forever, for those of us who saw its humiliation this time around the sun.

It is lovely to think of its long trip around and round this black and endless universal cavern lit here and there at intervals with flickers of light which shine on tiny bits of rock lying through the void and, on the bits of rock, moving forms.

Kohoutek brushes us with dust from distances measureless to man here on this rock, and we are now aware, but only let down. A marvel occurs and we hoot because the buildup had promised us a miracle. It is a familiar story done here on Earth. Of Kohoutek, what will probably be said most often when it is long gone is, "It couldn't cut the mustard."

Gooding divided by remap measure

T-N Capitol Bureau

BOISE — A reapportionment measure that would split Gooding County into two legislative districts was introduced from a House Committee Wednesday.

Despite objections from the legislator, the plan was approved after the committee chairman assured members the leadership wanted the proposal introduced.

The House Senate Affairs Committee agreed 11-2 to introduce the measure that would change legislative districts in three parts of the state but permit each of the current 105 lawmakers to continue to run for election in the district he now represents.

Rep. Earl Greenawald, R-Jerome, protested the measure because it would split Gooding County, placing it into two separate legislative districts. He said after the committee meeting he would try to keep all of Gooding County in one district and would try to put Lincoln County back into a single district, as well.

Chairman Harold Snow, R-Moscow, said leadership had met the first day of the legislature and agreed it wanted to see a reapportionment plan that did least violence to the existing districts. The bill was drafted originally at his request, he said, and had already undergone changes suggested by members of leadership.

He urged committee members to introduce the proposal, saying that any other changes could be introduced through amendment in either house of the legislature.

The three basic areas of reapportionment in the proposal include:

- taking the western part of Gooding County, including Bliss and Hagerman, and the northwestern tip of Twin Falls County, and placing them in the district with Elmore and Camas Counties. The eastern part of Gooding County would remain in the district with Jerome County and a part of Lincoln County; — inserting the Star area of Ada County into a legislative district that now includes part of Idaho County and Valley, Gem, Boise and Adams counties;
- removing the southern part of Madison County from its present district and putting it into the district that now includes part of Bonnevile County and all of Teton County; switching part of one of the Bonnevile County districts into a legislative district with Butte County.

A member of the Legislative Council staff told committee members that if the proposal were adopted it would mean a population deviation of slightly over ten per cent between the most heavily populated district and the one with the smallest population.

The current deviation is nearly 20 per cent, and the federal court which has ordered the state legislature to reapportion itself to decrease the population variance has indicated it would accept one plan that would reduce the deviation to only about 15 per cent, a greater difference than the bill approved by the committee involves.

Greenawald said after the meeting he would have to oppose the measure on the House floor unless it were changed to leave Gooding County as part of one district.

Dam bills ready

BOISE (UPI) — House lawmakers voted Wednesday to introduce two bills for Cecil D. Andrus says are necessary to complete the American Falls Dam project.

One measure adds a new chapter to the Idaho Code allowing for reconstruction and repayment of a new dam and related facilities at American Falls in accordance with the plan approved by Congress.

It also allows for execution of contracts and provides that alter bond elections interim money can be borrowed.

The second measure sets out notice requirements for hearings conducted to appraise benefits by irrigation boards and district courts.

Hearings dropped as savings move

BOISE (UPI) — The Joint Finance — Appropriations Committee was told Wednesday pre-session budget hearings were canceled last week because it would be a waste of time and money.

Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, committee co-chairman, said he and Rep. William Roberts, R-Idaho, learned too late to lay alternative plans when hearing schedules were modified by the governor. As a result, the committee would not have been able to put in a full week's work, High said.

Three North Idaho Democrats showed up in Boise anyway and held a "rump session."

Rep. Marion Davidson, D-Bonners Ferry, one of those who arrived for the hearings, said he and the other two — Sens. James Stolcheff, D-Sandpoint, and Mike Mitchell, D-Lewiston — would present the committee with their findings and recommendations Friday.

High told the committee it had been agreed in December that budget hearings would begin Jan. 7 and include general fund agencies. "We canceled the hearings because it would not have been good use of time or money," he added.

High said what was left of the hearing, schedules could have been completed in three days.

Rules asked

BOISE (UPI) — The House Health and Welfare Committee voted Wednesday to introduce legislation establishing licensing and standards for social workers.

At the same meeting, the committee also voted to introduce a bill to repeal the advertising ban on contraceptives but held a bill that would hike the attorney general's salary to $27,500 from $18,000.

Reyamp may threaten funds

T-N Capitol Bureau

BOISE — The administrative director of the Idaho Commission on Human Rights said Wednesday some of the commission's federal funds may be threatened by state government reorganization.

Linda Gonzales told members of the Idaho Press Club that the reorganization commission's proposal to put the Human Rights Commission under the proposed Department of Employment could mean loss of some Equal Employment Opportunity Commission money. She said the HRC is currently getting $21,000 a year from the EEOC.

As a result of the possible loss of funds, Mrs. Gonzales said, the commission has petitioned the reorganization commission to place it either directly under the office of the governor or within the proposed Department of Labor and Industrial Services.

Mrs. Gonzales, an HRC staff member since its creation in 1969, also said the past four years had seen a shift in the types of complaints filed with the office. Initially, she said, persons were filing complaints charging discrimination on the basis of race. Now, she said, sex discrimination is charged more frequently. Of 143 complaints filed in the last year, she said, 58 have involved sex discrimination. The "most blatant" type of discrimination practices within Idaho, she said, is on the basis of sex. Normally, racial discrimination is more subtle, according to the director.

DST question hearing called by House panel

T-N Capitol Bureau

BOISE — The House State Affairs Committee voted Wednesday to call a public hearing on daylight saving time — an issue so emotional an lawmaker said it had prompted talk of impeachment of Cecil D. Andrus.

Committee members agreed to the public hearing scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 24, at the Statehouse, because of the intense controversy that surrounds the issue.

"I don't know of anything that has brought up more controversy" than which time zone southern Idaho should fall into, said Rep. Russell Fogg, R-Idaho Falls. The committee action came when it was considering a proposed bill to extend southern Idaho from daylight saving time until April, 1975. The bill has been proposed by Rep. Lee Barron, R-Corral and Rep. Walt Little, R-New Plymouth.

No money value on audits

BOISE (UPI) — Several members of the Joint Finance — Appropriations Committee declared a monetary value can't be placed on legislative audits.

James Stolcheff, D-Sandpoint, asked the committee Peavey changes bill

Wednesday if "dollars and cents balance sheet" could accompany the audits.

"I would like to know how much is saved," he added.

Stolcheff has introduced a bill in the senate to put cost auditing into a bureau of public accounts. He feels they are too costly.

Both Sen. Walter Yarbrough, R-Grand View, and Rep. E. V. Melan, D-Ketchum, said that "dollar value" could not be placed on audits. In fact, Yarbrough said, he felt it would be "dead wrong."

Rep. William Roberts, R-Idaho Falls, joined Melan in stating that the audits uncovered irregularities which could be corrected by the agencies.

Peavey changes bill

BOISE (UPI) — The sponsor of a returnable container bill introduced in House told the Idaho Senate Resources and Environment Committee recycling was important as an energy saver.

"Recycling would result in a tremendous savings in energy," Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, said. Peavey said he wasn't completely satisfied with the bill he had prefiled and the committee voted to have Peavey refine it.

Guilt narrows on tape erasure

(c) New York Times Service WASHINGTON — The search for the person or persons who erased minutes of a key Watergate tape recording was narrowed Wednesday when the special Watergate prosecution established in court that the erasure must have been made between last Oct. 11 and mid-November.

This disclosure means that if the segment had been erased purposely, as suggested yesterday by the report of a court-appointed panel of technical experts, the Watergate cover-up continued into the fall.

Meanwhile, the White House denied today that President Nixon had personally made the tape erasure, but otherwise refused to discuss yesterday's testimony by the technical experts.

The panel's report touched off new moves toward additional investigation of the Watergate case by the special prosecution and the Senate Watergate Committee, and provided increased impetus for the House inquiry into the question of impeaching the president.

The day's developments in the U.S. District Court, where Judge John J. Sirica is holding hearings into the circumstances surrounding the gap in the tape, added to the pressure.

Judge Sirica said that he was considering recommending that the prosecutor submit the whole matter to a Grand Jury. Other testimony, moreover, provided more conflicts with the testimony last fall by Rose Mary Woods, the president's personal secretary.

The White House had originally tried to place the full responsibility for the gap on Miss Woods, saying that she had caused it by accidentally pressing the wrong button on a tape recorder while listening to the tape to type out a transcript.

Miss Woods, for her part, had testified that at most her "accident" could have caused only four or five minutes of the gap.

The tape recording in question, one of those subpoenaed last summer by the Watergate prosecution, covers a conversation that President Nixon had on June 20, 1972, with H. R. Helms, then his White House chief of staff. The Watergate break-in of the Democratic National Headquarters had occurred three days earlier.

According to the prosecution, the tape of that meeting should have shown "the extent of the knowledge... the illegal activity by the participants, or any effort to conceal the truth" from the prosecution.

Haldeman's hand-written notes of the meeting, discussed in an earlier stage of Judge Sirica's hearings, stated that one of the items discussed was President Nixon's order for a "public relations" offensive to counteract the effect of the break-in.

That portion of the conversation does not appear on the tape.

The court-appointed panel of technical experts reported yesterday that the gap had been caused, not by one accidental erasure, as the White House had contended, but by at least five separate erasures and re-recordings.

WH denies Nixon's part

(c) N. Y. Times Service WASHINGTON — The White House denied today that President Nixon had personally erased part of a key Watergate tape but otherwise refused to discuss yesterday's technical testimony by six technical experts indicating that the tape may have been tampered with.

In a statement, the White House noted that the federal court hearing on the report by the Technical Advisory Committee, which concerns an 18-minute gap in a White House tape recording of June 20, 1972, has not yet been concluded and that other testimony concerning the tape is still to be heard.

The statement then said that "further discussion would be improper while this matter is in court." The deputy White House Press Secretary, Gerald L. Warren, told reporters at a regular morning briefing that he could make no comment on the tape issue other than to refer them to the statement.

But after being asked whether Nixon had erased the tapes, Warren replied with an emphatic "no."

Later he elaborated slightly on his reply, saying that his "no" included both deliberate and accidental erasures of the tape by the president.

When asked how he knew, Warren replied that "there have been many discussions about his matter in which he had participated.

Panel elaborates on campaign funds

(c) New York Times Service WASHINGTON — Amid White House enlists that such an arrangement, ever look there — Senate Watergate Committee sources elaborated today on their evidence that President Nixon indirectly solicited a campaign contribution from the Howard Hughes organization during his 1968 campaign for the Presidency.

The New York Times reported today that Richard G. Danner, an official of Nixon's 1968 campaign who is now an employe of Hughes, has told the committee "in a secret session on Dec. 18, 1972, he had personally asked him to determine the willingness of the billionaire industrialist to contribute to his campaign."

"We have denied the whole thing," Gerald L. Warren, deputy White House press secretary, said today. "We have denied that the president discussed (with Danner) a possible contribution of any amount from Hughes."

But otherwise Warren sought to "clarify" the source of questions about the tape erasures buried at him in the crowded White House briefing room.

The strategy of silence adopted toward the tape issue today indicated that the White House may have been thrust back on the defensive just as it was opening what appeared to be a planned, concerted counterattack against those seeking the impeachment of Nixon.

One Senate source, however, said that Danner's testimony referred to a meeting, probably in Washington, between himself, Nixon, and Charles G. Rebozo during the summer of 1968 at which the possibility of a Hughes donation was raised by both Nixon and Rebozo.

Neither man, the sources said, mentioned a specific amount that should be solicited from Hughes, according to Danner's account. Other reports today described Nixon as having suggested the figure of $50,000.

Danner denied last night that the president had personally solicited, through him, a $50,000 donation from Hughes. His office in the Hughes-owned Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, which Danner manages, referred requests for comment on an unspecified contribution to a Hughes representative in Las Vegas.

Danner is understood to have told the Watergate Committee staff that both Nixon and Rebozo had expressed the desirability of attempting to obtain a donation from Hughes.

Industrial works down

(c) N. Y. Times Service

WASHINGTON — A sharp decline in automobile production, combined with a historically unusual drop in the output of electric and gas utilities, brought in December the first significant dip in the nation's industrial production in two years, the Federal Reserve Board reported today.

Both declines were associated with the energy shortage and consumer reaction to it. With autos and utilities left out, the industrial production index rose slightly last month, today's report said.

The industrial production index, which covers the output of the nation's factories, mines and utilities, declined five-tenths of 1 per cent in December, which is a sizable change. The only other monthly dip in the long boom that began in late 1971 was a small one in August, 1973, when special factors were at work.

The decline in automobile production, which today's report said would be even deeper in January, probably will make the feature of the report well publicized. The striking feature of the report was the drop in the utilities sector of the index, which has had a long tendency to rise month after month, after allowing for normal seasonal changes.

The utilities index in December was 5.9 per cent below November and, even more surprising in the historical context, was 2.7 per cent below December a year earlier. Officials said the only obvious explanation is the response of both consumers and industry to the appeals to conserve energy.

Automobile assemblies last month, reflecting the drastic drop in sales of the larger cars, were down 14.6 from November, and the report said preliminary January output schedules indicate a further decline of about 15 per cent.

Wage-benefits hike seen

(c) Chicago Daily News
WASHINGTON — Chairman John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council has predicted that rising prices will raise the average major wage-benefit settlement in 1974 to eight per cent or so.

Dunlop said his forecast indicates a bigger labor-contract gains than in 1972 or 1973 — but would hold true whether wage-price controls are in effect beyond April 30 or are allowed to expire.

He also foresees higher food prices in the first quarter of this year and a continuing rise in the wholesale commodity markets through April.

Dunlop, who was a top labor-management troubleshooter before he took his economic stabilization post, said he would "not be surprised" if there were more strikes this year.

But he reminded a group of reporters that the loss of jobs because of labor disputes was at a record low in 1973 although the size of major contract settlements was reduced from 1972.

Dunlop based his prediction of larger wage-benefit settlements in major negotiations, affecting 1,000 or more workers, on the rising price level, higher profits and the relative tightness of the labor market, even if unemployment rises to up to 5.5 per cent or more.

4 charged in killings

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)

Four men, including three brothers and a cousin, were arrested Wednesday on charges of killing David Stringbean, Akeman, a star Grand Ole Opry and the "Hillbilly" television show, and his wife.

John A. Brown, 23, and Marvin Douglas Brown, 23, each were charged with two counts of murder. Charles Brown, 31, and Roy Brown, 26, were charged with being accessories to murder and receiving and concealing stolen property.

The three brothers and their cousin John were raised in the tiny community of Greenbrier, a few miles from the scene of the shootings at the modest Akeman farm.

Akeman, 58, was killed when he apparently surprised burglars on returning home from a night performance Nov. 11. Police speculated his wife, Estelle, was shot as she was parking the car and attempted to flee. Akeman did not drive.

Hailey council honors N. Nyblad

HAILEY — Outgoing Councilman Neal Nyblad was honored for his past four years of service during a Hailey City Council meeting Monday night.

Nyblad, who declined to run for re-election, was replaced by Don Angeli. Also sworn into office were Mayor Lawrence Heagle and councilman C. W. Dunn, who had been re-elected to their posts.

"Heagle said Nyblad, during his first year as councilman, headed the city clean-up project which resulted in the removal of about 65 tons of junk and about 100 abandoned cars. The mayor also said that Nyblad was instrumental in the Main Street sidewalk improvement project.

In response, Nyblad termed the post council "the most working council I've seen since I've been in Hailey."

In other action, the council:

- heard Heagle announce his appointments of councilmen to city commission positions. These include: Dunn, council chairman and sewer and water; Claude Corrier, streets, sidewalks, alleys and translator stations; Angeli, recreation, parks, playgrounds and the city's representative on the county planning and zoning commission; and Lyle Bretneman, police and fire departments, planning and zoning and the city's representative on the library board.

— allocated $200 as the city's share of a learn-to-skate program; at Rotarun for Bellevue Elementary and Wood River Junior High School students.

Blaine County School District trustee Dr. Art Richards said the program will run six Friday afternoons beginning Jan. 25, with the school district providing transportation and teachers donating their time for skating instruction. Bellevue had previously donated $100 to the project.

— approved a resolution granting the Sawtooth Rangers Riding Club and the Days of the Old West Committee use of the city owned Wertheimer Park to enable the clubs to conduct rodeo grounds improvements.

Stayman Convention not pushy

whereupon South goes to two spades and plays the hand there.

What does he use Stayman and not a transfer to two spades? Because if his partner does hold four hearts he would have the hand play in that suit instead of spades.

The play at two spades is simple and successful. South wins the diamond lead in dummy and plays a trump to his contract. If he shifts to his doubler heart and East ducks, otherwise, South will score an overtrick by losing just one club, one heart and two trumps.

Tomorrow we'll show how to respond with a good hand and 2-4 in the majors.

China paces wheat trade

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor
WASHINGTON (UPI) — China has emerged as the largest single foreign buyer of American wheat in the current 1973-74 season, Agriculture Department estimates indicated.

Government review of the booming wheat export trade which has produced a potentially severe temporary pinch on domestic supplies also show however, that the overall gain in foreign wheat sales so far in the season is spread to practically all corners of the world.

A summary covering the first five months of the marketing season which began last July 1 shows exports for the period reached nearly 643 million bushels compared with about 392 million a year earlier.

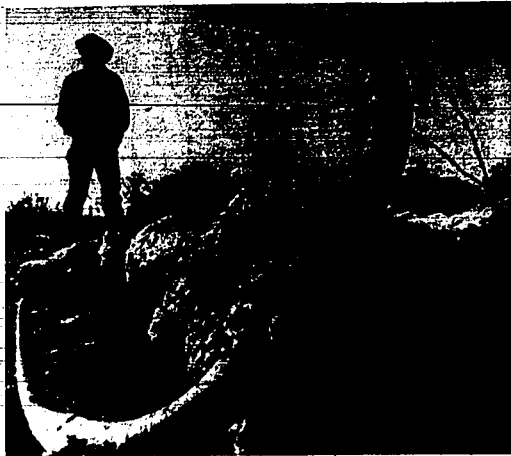

Chinese purchases showed a sharp leap, but there were also major increases for the Middle East, North Africa, Italy, India, Brazil, Argentina, Colombia, Poland, Chile, Indonesia, South Korea and Taiwan.

Shipments to the Soviet Union were also about a year earlier, but not because 1973-74 statistics include some wheat which had been scheduled to move in 1972.

73 but which was delayed by shipping difficulties. Agriculture Department trade experts said they now estimate that China will import about 150 million bushels of American wheat in 1973-74, compared with about 125 million bushels for Japan and 121 million bushels for the Soviet Union. For the first five months of the season, Chinese shipments amounted to nearly 89 million bushels valued at $249 million — a sharp contrast to the same period a year earlier when Chinese imports of all-U.S. farm products were valued at only $43 million.

Overall, U.S. wheat sales abroad in the July-November period brought some $2,270 million in receipts, compared with $688 million a year earlier. The increase in the volume of wheat shipped was accompanied by a doubling in average prices — from $6 a ton in the first five months of 1972-73 to $12 a ton in the same period of the current season.

As a second line of defense against the possibility of a short domestic supply, the administration currently is moving toward possible suspension of control — which would prevent the flow of Canadian wheat into the United States.

Cattle herd hit

OREGON HEALTH officials are investigating death of about 100 head of beef cattle on ranch near Monmouth, Ore., earlier this month. Here two ranch hands examine some of the carcasses. Humane society personnel arranged to feed about 300 head in herd on the ranch. (UPI)

Farm labor force down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of persons working on farms in the United States edged up slightly last year after a 25-year decline, an Agriculture Department report showed today.

The report estimated an average of 4,295,100 persons worked on farms during 1973, compared with 4,373,400 in 1972. That broke an uninterrupted 25-year slide, which began in 1947 when the total number of family and hired workers on farms stood at 10,382,000.

Price line sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Concerned about the effects of higher fertilizer prices on America's grocery bill, Director John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council urged the fertilizer industry Wednesday to hold the line on prices at least through mid-summer.

In telegrams to 53 fertilizer producers, Dunlop asked the manufacturers not to raise prices until at least June 30, from the level they reached on Dec. 31.

Since price controls were lifted on the industry Oct. 23, prices for fertilizer have skyrocketed. Dunlop threatened to reimpose controls if prices continued to soar.

Last week, Dunlop called in several major fertilizer industry executives for some tough talk. He told reporters today he had received commitments from three or four of them that they would not boost prices from present levels for the next six months.

The price of fertilizer, like prices of diesel fuel, seed and labor, is a basic cost to farmers that eventually filters through the marketing chain and is reflected in the retail price consumers pay for groceries at the supermarket.

No bread worry: Butz

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz said Tuesday Americans will never have to pay $1 for a loaf of bread.

and maybe even 2.2 billion bushels of wheat in another two months from our present crop," Butz said. "We are going to get through the next few weeks okay."

"The American housewife will never have to even worry about paying $1 for a loaf of bread in our supermarkets," he said.

Grower aide fears for fuel supplies

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — The president of the National Association of Wheat Growers says even though Energy Secretary William Simon has given "unqualified assurance" to farmers that they will receive the fuel they need this year, it's questionable that Simon can keep his promise.

Meet set

TWIN FALLS — The 14th national Weed Science Society of America meeting is scheduled Feb. 12-14 at Las Vegas, Nev., Robert E. Higgins, extension weed control specialist here, said today.

Higgins said the 1974 meeting, to be held at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas, will include special emphasis on pest-control specific areas of knowledge about the science of weed control.

loud and clear with respect to farmers' fuel needs."

"If farmers plant the 10 million additional acres that the Department of Agriculture is predicting," Davis said, "the 1974 needs will exceed 1973 usage by more than a million barrels of gasoline, about 12 million barrels of diesel fuel and two to four million barrels of gas."

Davis commented in his presidential report to the more than 400 delegates attending the association's 24th annual convention.

In responding to a national call for all-out production of wheat in 1947 when the price accepted drastically reduced prices because of over production.

"We must not allow our market development programs to be de-emphasized because of current supply situation," Davis said. "they must be maintained to sure long-range needs and to strengthen our balance of payments."

The wheat growers have recommended a decontrol of prices for their wheat products.

Couple exchanges promises

TWIN FALLS — Linda M. Lewis and Newell R. Roche were married in an evening ceremony Dec. 31 at St. Augustine's Church, Pleasanton, Calif.

The bride is the daughter of Garner A. Lewis, Twin Falls, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Roche, Newark, Calif.

Father Dominique Desjardins conducted the double ring candlelight ceremony. The church was decorated with baskets of pink chrysanthemums, pink carnations and red roses.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a style gown of burgundy velvet. Her full-length veil of pale pink chantilly lace was held in place by a burgundy velvet pill box.

She carried a nosegay of pink carnations and red rosebuds tied with pale pink velvet ribbons.

Gay Keen, Salt Lake City, was maid of honor. Joe Canale, Fremont, Calif., was best man.

The Jim Santo trio provided music for the ceremony and song.

The couple was honored at a reception at the Fremont Elks Club, Fremont.

Tammy Thompson was in charge of the guest book. Wendy Thompson cared for the both girls are nieces of the bride.

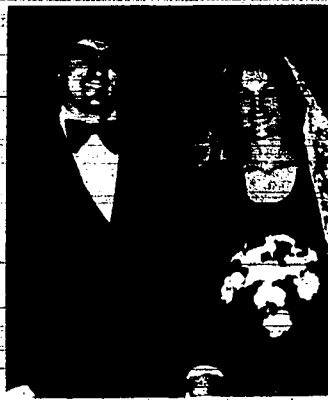

Champagne, punch and hors d'oeuvres were served preceding a buffet dinner for guests attending.

The bride's table was covered with white linen and was decorated with chrysanthemums and carnations.

The three-tiered wedding cake was cut and served at a separate table following the dinner. The cake and table were decorated in red, burgundy, pink and white.

The Latest Motion band furnished music for dancing. After a brief honeymoon, the couple resides in Pleasanton, where the bridegroom is employed.

The bride will continue her studies at California State University, Hayward, Calif., where she will be graduated in June. The bridegroom is a student of Utah State University.

Hunt rites unite MV couple

HUNT — Janice Fern Nelson and Bradley Doran Kurtz were married in ceremonies performed Dec. 24 at the Hunt LDS Ward Chapel by Bishop Charles Barnes.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Nelson, Hunt. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Kurtz, Hazelton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin and lace, styled with an empire waist and long A-line skirt. Her veil of bridal illusion was caught in a cap of fabric daisies.

Mrs. Debra Parr, Burley, served her sister as matron of honor. Another sister, Mona Nelson, Hunt, and a sister of the groom, Christina Kirtz, Hazelton, were bridesmaids.

The best man was Scott Grant, David Grant and Gaylen Parr were ushers. Carol Ann Grant registered the guests. Phyllis Ann Stewart served punch and wedding cake.

The couple honeymooned en route to their home at 1913 1/2 B Eighth Street, Wichita Falls, Texas, where the groom is stationed in the US Air Force.

Class starts Thursday

TWIN FALLS — attend the night class in identification of learning difficulties. Psych. 250, will be taught at 3:15 p.m. on Thursdays at the Head Start building. DEAR ABBY: The University of Minnesota's Entomology Department agreed to help your readers identify the insects they found in their cereals. We thought you would be interested in the summary of the kinds of insects found as submitted.

Sawtooth grain beetle	80
Merchant grain beetle	39
Cigaret beetle	30
Red flour beetle	15
Miscellaneous cereal pests	20
Drugstore beetle	9
Indian meal moth	2
Insects other than cereal pests	210

Cereal products often become infested right in the home. Only glass and tin containers are insect proof, so any package of cake mix, flour, etc., can be penetrated by insects if left standing long enough. DAVID M. NOETZEL

Cereal pests

DEAR DR. NOETZEL: Thank you for providing my readers with the service. Now, if others are bugged by undesirable insects in their cereals, please send the little creatures to your own university.

DEAR ABBY: You wrote in your column that a woman is pregnant for 200 days. Who said so? I carried my baby for 10 months and five days, and there is no doubt about it because I know the exact date my baby was conceived. My husband is in the Navy and it couldn't have possibly been conceived any other time because I saw him only once for an hour, and I didn't see him again until the day before the baby was born.

I don't drink or run around, and there is no way this baby isn't his, so please print a retraction about that 200-day carrying time because otherwise I am in a lot of trouble. SAN DIEGO READER

DEAR READER: The average gestation period is 266 days. Some babies come early; others come late. Yours was late.

DEAR ABBY: I have a kind of strange problem. My parents are divorced, and I live alone with my father. His name is Charles, and my name is Katherine, so I sent out Christmas cards signed "Kathy and Charles Smith."

My mom was very upset because some of her friends thought that my dad had gotten remarried. So please tell me how to sign our cards next time so my mom won't be upset. Thank you. KATHY SMITH

DEAR KATHY: Sign the cards, "Charles Smith, and daughter, Kathy."

DEAR ABBY: With all the "hippies, hoppers, homos and harlots" you've got writing to you, you could start a new "4-H" club! ED IN DURHAM, N. C.

Miss Huey, Houston marry in Jerome

JEROME — Terry F. Huey and Edward L. Houston were married in 2 p.m. files Dec. 29 at the Jerome Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Anthony Gamley, Wendell, formerly of South Africa, performed the double ring ceremony before two beauty baskets of white chrysanthemums and red carnations. There were two gold candelabra with white tapers in the background.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McClure, Jerome, and the daughter of Marie Huey, Redondo Beach, Calif., and the late Jack Huey. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bob Houston, Twin Falls.

The bride, escorted by her grandfather, wore a gown of white almona polyester. It was designed and made by the bride. The skirt was of empire style and floor length with a deep ruffled hem. The dress featured a mandarin collar and long pleated sleeves. The dress was trimmed with nylon lace. Her elbow length veil was held in place by a cap beaded with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of baby red roses and feathered white carnations with white streamers.

Kathleen Huey, Ingleswood, Calif., was maid of honor. Mrs. Gracie Parker, Wendell, was bridesmaid. Both are sisters of the bride. Judy Kohntopp was flower girl.

Ray Houston, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Greg Houston, brother of the bridegroom and Kent Holsinger, cousin of the bridegroom.

Janet Houston, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest book.

Karleen Dillingier was organist and Keith Johnsen was soloist.

The couple was honored at a reception following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a long full sheer nylon marquisette cloth over a gold.

The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with red roses and golden leaves. It had columns with three white bells decorated with lace and seed pearls on top.

Small brandy sniffers holding gold bows separated the layers. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Joe Klimes, Wendell.

The cake was flanked by two antique silver candelabra holding red roses. They were loaned by Lavina Wind, Montona, aunt of the bride.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Norman Wilson, Montona. Mrs. Marvin McClure, Gooding, served punch and Mrs. Gene McClure, Caldwell, poured coffee.

Ellie Evans and Given Mofford were in charge of the gifts. Carrying the gifts were Tony and Brent McClure and Jim Wilson, cousins of the bride.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for a rehearsal dinner at the Holiday Inn.

The couple resides in Pocatello where both attend Idaho State University.

60th anniversary open house slated

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Joe Horn, Twin Falls, will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday with an open house at the home of Leland Olson, Burley.

The Olson residence is four miles south and two miles east of Burley or one and one-fourth mile south and one-half mile west of the Unity LDS Church. The open house will be from 10 to 5 p.m.

Horn was born Dec. 24, 1883, at Sublett, and celebrated his 60th birthday at the couple's home, 229 Third Ave. N., Twin Falls, with all of his children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren present.

Mrs. Horn was born June 4, 1886, at Moreland. She moved to Logansport, Ind., with her parents at the age of 4 and lived at the Northwestern LDS Mission for 12 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Horn met while attending school at Union, Ore. They both later moved to Burley with their parents and were married in the Salt Lake City LDS Temple Jan. 21, 1914.

The couple has four daughters, Mrs. V. C. (Zylpha) Wade-Goodings, Mrs. Leland (Gladys) Olson and Mrs. Wilburn (Eva) Roberts, both Burley, and Mrs. Leslie (Delva) Thompson, Jerome. 20 grandchildren and 37 great-grandchildren.

The couple farmed north of Rupert for four years before moving to Cove, Ore., where Horn worked as a barber. They then moved to Medical Springs, Ore., and farmed on his father's ranch for nine years. They moved back to Burley, and lived in the Unity area where they farmed Mrs. Horn's father's farm.

The couple bought a ranch at Logan, Utah, where they farmed for eight years. After selling that ranch, they moved to Rupert in 1931 and bought a ranch two miles south of Rupert where they raised registered Panama sheep. They retired in 1968 and moved to their present home.

They have both been active in the LDS Church. Horn has served as Sunday school superintendent, secretary of the Stake Elders, scoutmaster and in other positions.

Mrs. Horn has been active in Primary, Relief Society, Genealogy Library, has served as a Sunday school teacher and worked in other ward and stake positions.

Horn served 31 years on the Rural Electric Co. board and was assistant chairman. When he retired he had been a board member longer than any other member.

In 1912, he helped build the Burley sugar factory and later helped build the first electric line in the city. He dedicated the new Rural Electric building April 6, 1963, in Rupert.

All friends of the couple are invited to attend the open house. The couple requests no gifts.

Gooding School Board withholds funds

GOODING — The Gooding School Board voted to withhold financial contribution to the city basketball program at a meeting Monday night.

School board policy will remain the same regarding use of the school gymnasium. The $5 per hour fee will continue to be charged.

Organizers of the basketball program had requested that the board share the cost of the program with the city.

According to Supt. James

Muscat, participants in the basketball program should bear its cost. In refusing the request, the board said since the school has asked teachers to tighten their belts, the line should be held on other items.

Muscat read a letter from the attorney general's office stating that no official opinion could be rendered concerning whether or not a non resident parent may issue a limited power of attorney to a resident of the district to enable a non-resident child to attend district schools. Such action has been taken to avoid payment of tuition.

The board had requested an opinion from the Idaho Department of Education and the attorney general's office since at least one parent had followed this course of action. The board had earlier voted to accept the power of attorney.

Following an executive session, the board voted to issue letters of intent for one year contracts to Muscat, elementary principal Eugene Gibbons, junior high principal Louis Durtee and high school principal William Bade.

Muscat previously had a three year contract which expired. His contract was coincident with principal's contracts, according to trustee Richard Graves.

10 Jerome County men get EMT certificates

JEROME — The Jerome Ambulance Service welcomed 10 specially trained emergency medical technicians to its staff Tuesday night.

The 10 Jerome County men received certificates from the Idaho State Board of Health attesting to their ability to serve as medical technicians.

The certificates were presented by Jerome County commissioner John Van Orman, who is also board chairman for the Department of Environmental and Community Services, at the special dinner Tuesday at Wood Cafe.

The new team members have completed an 80-hour course given at St. Benedict's Hospital on emergency medical techniques. The classes were taught by local doctors and were supervised by the Idaho State Board of Health.

The Jerome Ambulance Service is under contract to Gerald Ostler, who assumed the contract in September from W. L. (Bud) Howe, who retired after 23 years of service.

The contract with Ostler will be reviewed this month by the county commissioners. Jerome Ambulance Service has two ambulances fully equipped and with adequate personnel available on a 24-hour basis, according to Ostler.

The emergency medical technicians who will be working for the ambulance service include Grant Wellard, Layne Hall, Bob Amoureux, Paul Schwabach, John Glick, Byron Hacking, Gary Lawson, Bob Hite and Bill Kersey. Ostler has also completed the course.

Certificates of appreciation were presented by Magic Valley Ambulance Service to the teaching team which includes Dr. Harold Holsinger, Dr. Maurice Schell, both Weidell; Dr. Jon Wilmoth, Dr. Lauren Neher, Sister Mary Matthew, board of directors St. Benedict's Hospital, Sister Mary Virginia, assistant director of nursing, St. Benedict's, all Jerome; and Mrs. Cora Lentini, nursing house supervisor Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Van Orman said it was a milestone in the development of Jerome and shows what a town on its own initiative can do to improve the quality of its services.

Ostler, who officially welcomed the newly trained men to the team, gave high praise to the physicians and hospital personnel who donated their time and efforts to train the emergency medical technicians (EMT).

"We must remember that the EMTs provide a critical service at the scene of an accident or illness. With the training these men have received, they are better equipped to alleviate a victim's suffering and provide proper transportation to a hospital," Ostler said.

Everett Perry, Department of Environmental and Community Services emergency health service regional coordinator, Boise, said that the 80-hour course was strictly voluntary and that the men were not required to take it.

Under Idaho law, all you need to be an ambulance driver is a valid Idaho driver's license. No medical training is required, Perry said. He said that a statewide volunteer program is underway in an effort to upgrade the ambulance service for the whole state.

Idahoans in east favor DST

PRESTON (UPI) — A half-hour poll conducted by radio station KPST at Preston Wednesday showed local residents favored daylight saving time by a margin of more than three to one.

The station said the vote was 62-26 in favor of DST and that there would probably have been a higher margin but many people were not able to get the line to call.

"It's the hottest issue down here," the station said. "People aren't concerned with any other issue such as legislative reorganization and reapportionment."

Last week, Preston merchants voted to go on daylight saving time. In nearby Soda Springs, industrial firms also went on DST.

Preston's economy is tied to that of neighboring Utah.

Burley supports DST

BURLEY—The board of directors of the Burley Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution Wednesday supporting the adoption of Mountain Daylight Savings time for southern Idaho. At the chamber's regular meeting Monday, the members failed to come to an agreement about which time designation southern Idaho should adopt although they overwhelmingly turned down a resolution for adoption of Pacific Daylight Saving Time. The resolution passed by the chamber board will be presented to the regular membership Monday and will be forwarded to the state chamber office.

Arson probe continues

BURLEY—Cassia County prosecutor, Gordon Nelson, said yesterday that his office's investigation of possible arson in the Burley Junior High School fire will be completed "in a week or so."

Nelson said his office had not been involved immediately after the Oct. 29 fire because there had been no suspicion of arson at the time. "The ground was pretty cold by the time we got it," he said.

Chairman elected

SHOSHONE—The Lincoln County Cemetery Maintenance District held a reorganization meeting at 4 p.m. Tuesday. Frederick Struchen was elected chairman of the board for the coming year. J. Oscar Simpson and George Young are other board members. M. E. McKendrick, who has served since 1955, and Floyd Sprakes did not run for re-election last fall.

Jerome meet set

JEROME—Members of the School Site Evaluation Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight at Wood Cafe. Sub-committees are expected to give progress reports on the different study categories being evaluated as well as other aspects relating to seven different sites should a new high school be located on any of them. The committee is also searching for other possible sites that the proposed high school could be located on.

Banquet set

JEROME—The Jerome County Farm Bureau will have its annual banquet and dance Friday night at the Elks Club. Bob Smith, candidate for the U.S. Senate will be the guest speaker. There will be a no host cocktail hour from 6 to 7 p.m., with the banquet to follow. Music for dancing will be provided by Slim Dossey and the Gem State Gents. The annual event, which is open to the public, will welcome the new county Fair Board president in office. Jack Bell will assume the position. Gordon Hollifield is the outgoing president.

Church raps administration

RUPERT, Idaho—Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, criticized the Nixon administration before a Rupert audience for considering giving credit to Arab governments for construction of a new pipeline through Egypt. Church said he thinks the administration must be "out of its mind" to consider extending the $100 million in American credit. Recent newspaper reports said the federal export-import bank was favorably disposed to make such a loan. Church said the loan would be tantamount to "caressing the hand that chokes you." He pointed out that Saudi Arabia and Kuwait would accumulate $100 billion in hard currency reserves by the end of this decade and that Kuwait already is "the world's richest country," while King Faisal of Arabia is the richest man in the history of the world.

Truckers accept contract

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—Trucker truck drivers in Utah and southern Idaho have voted to accept a new three-year contract proposed by trucking firms. Fred Hamilton, secretary-treasurer for the Teamsters Union Local 222, said Wednesday the settlement "is the largest in the history of the tank industry." Increases in wages and employer contributions toward health plans came to $2.06 in the contract, he said.

BSU building approval

BOISE (UPI)—Plans for $3 million worth of construction on the Boise State College campus were approved Wednesday night by the Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council. The council also approved $42.5 for recreation and hobby craft equipment at the Idaho Penitentiary, and granted permission for the institution to proceed with planning for $180,000 in road and street construction at the new prison site.

Deputies join union

CADWELL, Idaho (UPI)—Canyon County Sheriff's Dept. deputies, in disagreement with the county commissioners over budgets for the next year, have voted to join the National Police Association Union.

TF budget shows 10.8% spending increase

By BONNIE BAIRD-JONES
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS—The tentative Twin Falls county budget for 1974 shows a 10.8 per cent spending increase over last year. The budget, including a $4.5 million housing budget, totals $7.3 million, compared to $6.5 million last year. Both figures include revenue sharing money which must show in the budget if it is to be spent. Harold Lancaster, county clerk, said he believes the 1974 budget can be accomplished without a tax increase. "This isn't to say the taxpayer's bill will not be higher, this can't speak for the cities, highway districts, school districts and state levies which make up the total tax bill along with the county costs," he said. The county portion of the annual property tax bill will probably not show an increase because of anticipated growth, despite the climbing tax

Gem gas firm well supplied with reserve

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS—Intermountain Gas Co. officials said here Wednesday their firm is well supplied with gas reserves when compared to other gas companies. Nevertheless, President R. D. Grimm said, there is a "very large shortage" of natural gas in terms of demand. But he said, "Idaho is in an excellent position to take advantage of future gas wells in Utah, Colorado and New Mexico." Grimm said Intermountain Gas Co. has 25 years supply of natural gas available for use while the nation as a whole has 11 years supply left. He estimated that 75 more years of probable supply exist in the United States, mostly in the Rockies and the southwest. Because fuel is scarce, Intermountain Gas is "changing emphasis," Grimm said. While the company should be able to maintain a "normal" expansion, it has "played down" the amount of gas available in order to not attract too much energy hungry industry.

For the long term, Grimm's energy hopes were higher. He foresaw the development of a nuclear "hydrogen economy" bringing limitless amounts of clean energy to Americans. Scientists are now working on methods for taking the hydrogen out of water. When this hydrogen is used to work automatically converted back to water, Grimm said. Earlier in the week the vice president of Idaho Power Co. predicted a "nuclear electric economy" in the future. For the present, Intermountain Gas will justify expense possible gas fields with other gas companies and is building storage equipment to enable more complete use of the gas on hand. The company is now finishing construction of a liquefied natural gas (LNG) facility near Boise. This plant, which liquefies gas to 1400-0 of its size by cooling it to 260 degrees below zero, will be able to store 600 million cubic feet of gas. Intermountain Gas will be able to make use of this stored supply during the peak coldest days in the winter. By storing in the summer months when demand is low, the company will have more gas on hand to supply customers with in the winter, Grimm said. Through encouraging customers to cut down on gas use, the company will be able to realize more profits, Grimm maintained. He said gas conservation would enable the company to serve more customers, meaning a larger utility plant on which the company can make a greater profit. The Idaho Public Utilities Commission (IPUC) determines fair customer rates largely in terms of the monetary return the company makes on total plant investment. "The era of cheap energy is gone," Grimm said. In December, Intermountain Gas asked for two rate increases averaging a total of 30.7 per cent. One increase, which would raise a total of $6.9 million in new revenues, was intended to pass on the rising costs of natural gas. The IPUC also "threw out" increases to be passed on to the customer on a dollar for dollar basis. According to the company's vice president, A.

W. Smith, Intermountain's Canadian supplier has increased the price of natural gas at the border from a pre-November price of $2.87 cents to $1.34 cents per thousand cubic feet. "The other rate increase, which would cost customers $4.5 million, is designed to meet other inflationary operating and expansion costs." Grimm said Intermountain Gas had a rising rate of return on plant investment following rate increases granted in 1969 and 1971. However, the cost of money needed for expansion and the rapidly rising cost of gas has caused the rate of return to drop recently. If the proposed rate increases are approved, the equity return to the company will jump from 12.5 to 14.5 per cent, Grimm said. Between 1967 and 1971 the gas company's rate of return leaped from 5.1 to 8.9 per cent of plant investment, according to IPUC figures. In 1972 the company's return rate dropped slightly to 8.4 per cent, the commission's figures show. Intermountain Gas estimates, not yet verified by the IPUC, show the rate of return through March 1973 at 5.6 per cent.

JAMES ROSENBAUM
...boosts hospital

MV hospital plan backed at Buhl meet

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News writer

BUHL—Twin Falls is ahead of the state in the regional concept of community facilities, Fred Decker, attorney for Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, told Told Kiwanians Tuesday. Decker and James Rosenbaum, hospital administrator, spoke to the club about the need for the $4.6 million hospital bond vote set for Feb. 12. Decker said "Whether we like it or not, Magic Valley Memorial Hospital is a regional center, serving the entire valley, just as we support an airport which serves the whole area." Both he and Rosenbaum pointed out in their presentations on the hospital issue that the hospital is prohibited by federal law from charging more to non-county residents. During the question period following their presentations, the question was raised about possibility of obtaining "financial relief" from users outside the county. Decker said the regional concept of financial support for hospitals is something the legislature "hasn't taken care of. Apparently the state is not ready for regional hospital districts, even though we do have regional health services." It's a political problem, he said. But Rosenbaum said the fact the hospital is a referral center, with referrals comprising about 15 per cent of the total patient load has advantages also. It means the hospital attracts specialists and can provide much better service than a hospital supported only by the population of one county. "The hospital currently has specialists in every branch of medicine except neuro-surgery and open heart surgery," the administrator said. He said the proposed bond issue, if approved by two-thirds majority vote, will provide space for 20 urgently needed additional beds and new emergency room facilities to offer a full range of outpatient services. Changes in doors and with the automatic fire alarm system to comply with federal safety codes also are included in the proposed improvements. Rosenbaum said the design of the new wing, to be connected to the north side of the main hospital building will be planned to take full advantage of the site. But he stressed the state health officials say it is not good planning to "overbuild" or plan for more than the next five to eight years because of the rapid changes in medicine and treatment practices. "We need $1 per cent of the hospital financing comes from inpatient services, 14 per cent from outpatients and the remaining 3 per cent from county hospital tax funds. The county is limited by law to levying 3 mills for hospital support." Stephen Asendrup, hospital board member and Buhl Kiwanis club member said another benefit of having the hospital serve the larger population area than included in the tax base is the nursing classes now operating in conjunction with College of Southern Idaho and the economic value to the community of a 400-employee payroll.

4-county planning agency survives hot meeting

Kelly's proposed budget totaled $38,826. It would have set the following county payments (current payments in parentheses): Twin Falls, $2,281 ($4,521); Cassia, $3,778 ($1,050); Minidoka, $3,491 ($9,501); and Jerome, $2,276 ($600). Chancy was adamantly opposed to the big budget increase, as were representatives of the other three counties. "To say that (Twin Falls County) is going to be bound by 22 cents per capita is the wildest imagination," Chancy said. "We are not." A lively debate erupted between county and city interests when Cassia County Commissioner Weldon Beck said "cities ought to put in a little bit of the input financially." Twin Falls Mayor Winston Jones disagreed. "Twin Falls city is paying half of the cost for a joint planner in the county and half of all county taxes," he said. Burley City Councilman Les Morgan said,

"Burley participates in all (county) taxes. We pay our fair share." "You probably do carry half of the taxes, damn it, but all the grants seem to be going to the cities," Beck replied. Hebyburn Mayor Harold Hirst asked, "What services have cities received other than belonging to SIRPDA?" Kelly answered "Hirst, saying SIRPDA had applied for and had received extensions in federal comprehensive planning requirements for the four counties." The extensions permitted several cities, including, Twin Falls, Kimberly, Jerome, Hazelton, Rupert and Declo, maintain eligibility for federal water and sewer improvement grants, according to Kelly. County representatives caucused during a recess and came back in with an offer to boost county payments by four cents per capita. The increase would raise county participation to 10 cents per capita and provide another $3,392 based on the four-county population of about $5,000. The county offer, which was accepted, will not cover the anticipated loss of $5,000 in federal funds. It also wipes out Kelly's request for another $200,000 in federal expenses and a pay raise, according to Robert Johnson, an administrative assistant for SIRPDA. Kelly challenged the board of directors to take a "more active part in policy making for SIRPDA." "I get the feeling that myself and a few others are the only ones who know what is in the work program," Kelly said. He read a few "work elements" of the current program and said, "You have a program right here that cannot be filled unless you have staff." The SIRPDA staff is currently a two-person operation.

"You're going to have to sit down and redefine what you want to do," Kelly said. According to Kelly the current work program was drafted last year when SIRPDA was without an executive director. The program is, he said, "a plan and a purpose, a qualification" of the Wood River Resource Area Council of Governments, (WRRA/COG) work program. Planning group composed of Lincoln, Gooding, Blaine and Cassia County officials and participation by Ray Mickelson, district representative for the State Planning and Community Affairs agency. Mickelson said, "I support what Paul has said in that you should be able to define the program." The board agreed to the larger role and appointed a four-man committee to work with Kelly in revising the current work program and drafting a future one.

Assume duties

ratio, Lancaster said. The revenue sharing budget, which has not yet been completed by the county commissioners, amounts to $28,700 this year compared to $12,540 last year. Commissioners granted a blanket 40 per cent month cost of living increase to all county employees which increased the salary division of department budgets this year, and have also budgeted increasing costs of fuels, supplies and equipment the county must purchase, commission chairman William Chancy said. He said in view of national trends in cost increases the budget is pretty well in line. One of the largest department increases is that of the sheriff's office where Sheriff Paul Corder was granted an additional deputy for the coming year and given some $17,000 worth which is being paid by other law enforcement departments around the state. The sheriff's department budget is up from

2 Burley employees injured

BURLEY—Two Ore Ida employees were injured in separate accidents yesterday at the Burley plant number one. Eva Winnett, 38, Declo, received severe lacerations yesterday afternoon about 11:30 a.m. when she reached into a clogged packaging machine. The machine stops automatically when a carton becomes jammed. She apparently reached into the machine to remove a sticking carton; and the machine started again. The obstruction was removed, pulling the woman's arm into the works, up to the elbow.

BURLEY—Mrs. Winnett underwent surgery last night at Cassia Memorial Hospital. She is reported to be in satisfactory condition. Dr. Nelson, plant manager, said that the injury to Mrs. Winnett, a long time employee of Ore Ida, was "quite bad." He said he feared she might not regain full use of her arm. He expected Mrs. Winnett to stay "a couple of weeks" in the hospital. Ronald Goin, 27, Burley, a recent employee at Ore Ida, lost part of a finger in a case sealing machine accident during the graveyard shift at the plant, according to Nelson. He was treated at Cassia Memorial Hospital and released.

Andrus stresses building

Increases to vocational education would come to $5.7 million under Andrus' proposals. "Idaho fares well at the junior college and vocational level," the governor said. "It is an asset to the young men and women of Idaho which must not be diminished." The governor also asked for $2 million from his "one-time-only" expenditures for a "major garden program." Paid-in-out portions for one year from accumulated revenues for the state. The next legislative session, Andrus staff "will set the program, and assess its acceptability by school districts and the people." Andrus asked for a $1.8 million supplemental for the remainder of the current fiscal year for the Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS) for the Supplemental Security Income program. He set the department's 1973 fiscal year budget at $29.3 million, increased over $28.5 projected for the current year. Speaking of DECS in his speech, Andrus said, "The other agency workers' better the social conscience of men and women who govern. The poorest of the poor, the sick, the disabled, the aged — for these and others like them, often there is only the Department of Environmental and Community Services." Andrus said that the elements of the Andrus general fund budget include: An increase in state employee salaries of $5.3 million, with $2.7 coming from the general fund; Andrus requested exemption of the purchase of groceries from the state sales tax in his speech, but advised against it.

Hepworth said the college is "at the end of the line" for expansion and hoped the legislature would appropriate money to help bring all of CSI's vocational education program into the state's general fund. Hepworth said to improve the college's academic program. Andrus discussed health care for public schools, colleges and universities and vocational education, citing figures in each of those areas. At the same time vocational education is raised to $5.7 million, up substantially over last year's, and the state's share in funding junior colleges increases the number of dollars available per student enrolled," he said.

Wendell schools pay bus costs

WENDELL — Wendell school trustees approved a maximum $120 per month increase in the school bus contract to counteract the rising cost of gasoline.

According to Supt. Lawrence LaRue, the district had been paying $25.25 per bus per day to contractor Richard Eaton.

Children in elementary classes 1-3 will no longer receive letter grades. The board approved a grading system change which provides for satisfactory, unsatisfactory or needs improvement marks.

Additional parent-teacher conferences and a year-end evaluation will be held.

The board will meet with teachers Monday to discuss building plans for a physical education and vocational education complex, a possible addition to the elementary school and site locations, LaRue announced.

Members of the board-teacher negotiating team were selected. Board representatives are Frank Orth, Joe Leeper and George Serr. Representatives from the Wendell Hub City Education Association include Joanne Powell, Les Snyder and Jon Moore. Supt. LaRue will also serve on the negotiating team.

School attorney Jack Varin is instructed by the board to develop a written policy which will restrict students from driving on the pedestrian route to the hot lunch facility during lunch hour. According to LaRue the restriction will eliminate the possibility of accidents on the heavily traveled route.

The trustees denied 11 students with excessive absences credit for their classes. The students may appeal the board decision at the February meeting.

The school board voted not to pay a 25 per cent increase in dues to the Idaho School Board Association. The board currently pays $400 per year.

'Doonesbury' appears in TN

TWIN FALLS — "Doonesbury" makes its first appearance on the Times-News comic page Friday.

The feature is one of several new ones which will be appearing regularly on that page.

Drawn by G. B. Trudeau, the strip is based upon topics drawn from current events taking place in the United States and elsewhere around the world.

The new strip joins an old favorite of Americana comics readers, "Blondie," which began appearing in the Times-News this week.

Originated more than 60 years ago by the late Chic Young, the characters in "Blondie" — Dagwood, Blondie, Mr. Dithers, Daisy the pup — have become a part of Americana through newspapers, radio, television and movies.

Gem outfitters, guides seek Andrus' support

SALMON — The Idaho Outfitters and Guides Association has gone to Gov. Cecil Andrus for support of its continued operations should the primitive areas of Idaho be classified wilderness.

Norman Guth, president of the association from Salmon, said the delegation meeting with the governor Jan. 4 was very pleased with their reception.

"He was real sincere in wanting to help us and was emphatic in expressing his feeling that established uses that existed in primitive areas should also be allowed to exist in wilderness."

The delegation included Guth, Martin Capps and Dave Giles, all of Salmon; Al Tice, Boise, and Maxine Larkin, association secretary, also Boise.

The delegation discussed new US Forest Service

The association has supported wilderness designation for the Idaho and Salmon River Breaks Primitive Area if present uses are permitted to continue.

Guth said the forest service "is going to regulate us out of business."

TFHS senior honored with science award

TWIN FALLS — Mike Fuller, a senior at Twin Falls High School, is the recent winner of the Bausch and Lomb Science award.

Fuller was selected by the TFHS science faculty as an outstanding student of science.

The award, a bronze medal, will make him eligible for a four-year Bausch and Lomb Science Scholarship at the University of Rochester, New York.

Bausch and Lomb is a world wide manufacturer of ophthalmic, analytical, scientific instruments and products. Its headquarters are in Rochester.

Fuller plans to work toward his doctorate in veterinary medicine after he graduates from high school. He is interested in research, but feels he would like to come back to Twin Falls and set up a private veterinary practice.

"I want to work with animals, right here in Twin Falls," he said. He will specialize in treating larger animals, because he has had the most experience with them.

Cattle feeding tie clarification due

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department today proposed to amend Packers and Stockyards Act regulations to clarify its position on the relationship between custom feedlots and meat packers, and announced a public hearing on the controversial proposal.

USDA wants specific language in the regulations to make sure meat owners may not own, operate or control meat packing firms. A custom feedlot, as defined in the proposed amendments, is any facility which is used for the purpose of feeding livestock for the accounts of others, excluding feeding incidental to the sale or transfer of livestock.

Packers from feeding not be prohibited from feeding their own livestock for their own slaughter purposes.

The USDA also emphasized the requirements that custom feedlot operators who buy or sell livestock on a dealer or market agency basis must register and provide a reasonable bond.

The public hearing will be Feb. 26-27 in Des Moines, Iowa.

Fishing start due

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department today said experts report there should be renewed anchovy fishing within limits of the entire Peruvian coast by March, a time it says the ministry of fisheries is likely to decide on the scale of commercial fishing for 1974.

In its Foreign Agriculture Magazine, the department said sporadic fishing in the south and other selected areas will probably continue from now until March to satisfy local meat and oil consumption needs and to provide fishery resource information.

The department cited reports from Peru as saying anchovy fishing surveys show sea conditions about back to normal and, according to some experts, a gradual reproduction recovery is occurring in anchovy numbers.

The experts calculated anchovy population in the sea at 6.9 million tons — an improvement over early 1973 but only equal to one-third the normal sea stock.

Groves, Barker spark CSI to victory over Big Bend

MOSES LAKE, Wash. — Darrell Groves turned to larceny and Tom Barker went on a 12-point three-minute binge Wednesday night to hoist College of Southern Idaho to an easy 72-42 decision over Big Bend Community College.

The victory points the Eagles toward a Thursday meeting with University of Idaho officials for a 5:30 p.m. followed by a crucial test at North Idaho of 'Coeur d'Alene Saturday night."

In winning their 15th game in 16 outings, the Eagles couldn't shake away from 3-10 Big Bend until the final 7:06 of the first half. Then Groves made his first appearance and immediately came up with three or four steals. Arnold Dugger and Ron Fryson joined the larceny as CSI finally felled the slow-footed of Big Bend. After 15-14 with 7:06 left, CSI reeled off 13 straight points.

Barker hit seven straight points to open the breakout and Groves, Dugger and Fryson all hit two-pointers. After Freuss hit for Big Bend, Barker got a three-point play and then four straight free throws. Dugger's shot at the buzzer made it 38-21 at intermission.

CSI opened in a zone and Big Bend replied with a very slow game, not really looking to go inside. A couple of turnovers and a Fryson steal let CSI move ahead 8-0 over the first six minutes. Then Big Bend, with CSI shifting to the man game, started shooting a little more and Ramsford and Markham hit buckets that closed the gap to 12-10. CSI stayed ahead by two to four points over the next three minutes, then zipped away.

Ready for Gooding bouts

Archie Moore's students spice Gooding ring card

GOODING — Part of a 35-year dream goes on display at Gooding Saturday night while former world light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore puts five of his prodigies on display in an amateur boxing card.

The matches will open at 8 p.m. Saturday and feature at least 16 bouts, perhaps 18 if a couple of late details can be worked out, reports Promoter Bud Godby.

The five Californians participating in the meet are members of Moore's Any Boy Can program that is designed not to fill the world with championship contenders but with good citizens.

Moore, who is a member of Governor Ronald Reagan's community relations board, said his program tries to "dissuade youths against things that could destroy them or give them prison records." He said boxing was his vehicle for making the first contact with them. Then, through boxing instruction and association, the program hopes to help them find direction.

"All you need to do is get them thinking and give them some direction," Moore said. "From there they'll find their own goals and work toward them."

Boxing still, however, remains fun for Moore. "If any of the boys thinks he'd like to try a professional career, of course, give them the best evaluation I can. If they look promising, they go into the ring with my blessing."

Moore has no ambitions of finding a likely candidate and managing him to the top. "He doesn't miss the action. I had a very long and happy career, but no, I don't miss it." The program keeps him close to the fun aspect of the sport, working with the boys.

"This (Any Boy Can) is a 30-year idea of mine but one I couldn't implement until 1965."

Moore said: "We work on a pyramid basis. I instructed the first 10 or 15 boys. A few of them decided to stay with the program. They have 10 to 15 boys. In that way we pyramid to a point where we can have hundreds in the program. I think we've had something like 350 boys over the past eight years."

Moore believes all parts of a good amateur boxing program are instructional and educational. Traveling is part of boxing and through trips such as these to Gooding, Moore's boys see a lot of the country and different ways of life.

Wednesday in Twin Falls he told a woman that he took his boys on a lot of trips.

"I hope," the woman primly replied "none of those are LSD trips."

"Oh yes," Moore quickly assured her. "When do archers here, eyebrows by styling that for us LSD means love, sincerity and direction."

Godby is excited with the prospect of continued boxing relations with Moore and his group. It started with a nothing ventured, nothing gained attitude on his part.

"I was down in Las Vegas for the western regionals with my son Dyrk," Godby recalls their first meeting. "Archie was there with some of his boxers. One night I told him we were planning a big amateur card and asked him if he would bring some of his boys up for it."

"He said 'yes' and I said

"what? Godby recalls with a laugh. "That was all there was to it."

Moore then injected something new into the relationship that Godby didn't know. It turns out Moore is a rodeo fan and gets to as many as he can. He saw Godby ride in some RFA events back east and the name — not exactly a household one, as Moore points out — "stuck" with him.

Therefore he didn't consider Bud a complete stranger when they first officially met in Nevada.

"I feel that Bud has one of the best amateur boxing programs in the country," he praised Godby. "And I believe we are fortunate to be invited to be part of something like this. We couldn't let this invitation go by."

Colleges make ten grid rule changes

PHOENIX (UPI) — The NCAA football rules committee Wednesday announced 10 "major" changes in rules for the 1974 season.

John Waldorf, supervisor of officials for the Big 8 Conference and committee chairman, called a change in the penalty procedure on running plays "the most sweeping in a number of years."

The changes, conforming to those of the High School Federation, make personal fouls on running plays, previously assessed from the point of infraction, now enforceable from the point where the running play ends.

This excludes personal fouls which might be committed by the offensive team behind the point of advancement.

Waldorf said this would eliminate such things as the cheap shot downfield from the play, loss of possession on a free ball foul and safeties which personal fouls are committed while the ball is free in the end zone.

The committee also decided to ban blocking below the waist on kicking plays, downfield beyond the legal clipping zone. Waldorf said this would result in cutting down on knee injuries.

Standards for footballs used in collegiate games were adopted, providing they must be tan with white stripes around the ends. The offensive team will continue to be entitled to use its choice of an ball conforming to the standards.

A pivotal weekend in the South Central Idaho Conference championship chase highlights a 23-game high school weekend in Magic Valley.

Buhl is the team under the gun to the larger degree with Jerome and Wood River also participating. Jerome will be at Buhl Friday night with the Indians going up the hill to play Wood River Saturday. A Buhl sweep would give Coach Jerry Koester's charges the conference lead. A loss to Wood River would put the Wolverines on top by themselves. And Jerome definitely must win the Friday contest to stay in contention. A defeat would put two losses on them and in an eight-game race, that's a very big deficit to make up.

Statistically the games stack up more interest. The Buhl-Jerome game brings together the two best offensive teams in the league. However, Buhl has allowed 17 points per game less than Jerome defensively.

On Saturday night the two best defensive clubs get together. Buhl has allowed 14 points while Wood River's average is 46.7.

In earlier Friday play, Wood River will be at Wendell while Piler is at Shoshone for a pair of non-conference battles. Gooding also leaves the SGC to meet the Pilots at Glenns Ferry.

In the Little Five loop, Kimberly goes to Valley to make up that game snooted out a couple of weeks ago. Undeclared Castleford goes against the winless Pirates. Hagerman in a Magic Valley Conference title while Delco will be at Murtaugh. Oakley plays host to Raft River in the third game.

On the Northside, Carey and Gooding State try to stay on the heels of unbeaten Camias County. Carey makes the long trip to Rockland while Gooding State is home to Dierich. Richfield will be at Bliss in the third game.

Saturday night finds Jerome returning home to play Piler, marking a renewal of meetings between Piler Coach Charles Farmer and Jerome Coach Bill Emerson. They've been playing each other off and on for the past seven years, representing five different schools.

Gooding leaves the district to play the Tigers at Mountain Home.

A highlight should come at Glenns Ferry where the Pilots will be hosting undefeated New Plymouth. Most observers feel New Plymouth is the best A-3 team in the state. Glenns Ferry has proved the best around here thus far.

Valley stays in loop play, traveling to Shoshone while Wendell goes down the hill to Hagerman for a no-count game.

Oakley will be at Hansen for the only Magic Valley Conference game of the night but the Northside Conference has three on tap. Gooding State will be at Camias County in the future, so far as standings are concerned. Hat Carey and Richfield have a good little rivalry going and they are getting together at Richfield.

Dierich leaves the district to play Clark County, Dubois.

The next pro ski tour race will be the McDonald's Cup at Buck Hill, Mann.

IMPORTANT CAR BUYING ANSWERS

Should you buy a family size car...or a small car? Here's some important help from the man who has both:

Buying a family car five years ago was easy. Today things are a lot more confusing. The dollar seems to be shrinking down to nothing, and added to the fear of inflation is the tough criticism that's being leveled against the family-size car. What do you do? We can't make the decision for you, but we can give you our point of view. And what we have to say about family-size car buying might make your decision easier. Let's take a look at some logical considerations before you make a move.

Be logical about family size.

When you buy a family size car, you are buying a car that will last longer, give you more space, and be more comfortable. It's a car that will give you more bang for your buck.

Be logical about gasoline.

When you buy a family size car, you are buying a car that will give you more bang for your buck. It's a car that will give you more bang for your buck.

Be logical about upkeep.

When you buy a family size car, you are buying a car that will last longer, give you more space, and be more comfortable. It's a car that will give you more bang for your buck.

Be logical about comfort.

When you buy a family size car, you are buying a car that will last longer, give you more space, and be more comfortable. It's a car that will give you more bang for your buck.

Be logical about safety.

When you buy a family size car, you are buying a car that will last longer, give you more space, and be more comfortable. It's a car that will give you more bang for your buck.

Ford has built in that kind of durability and strength that make our cars tough hedges against inflation and good investments in the family-size and the small-size field.

One new pro league cancels for 1974

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — The founder of a fledgling professional football league, admitting his organizational efforts have been hurt by the progress of another new league, dissolved his search for franchise buyers.

Razzano, who has been working on his new league for more than a year, was unhappy when organizers of the World League announced their formation last October. Razzano publicly announced his league two days later, but later complained he had been forced to "show my hand" too soon.

Arnsperger links NY pact

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Arnsperger, known as the master craftsman of Miami's devastating defense, left his banks wide open Wednesday when he left the security of a champion to accept a three-year contract as coach of the stumbling New York Giants.

In giving up a comparatively pressure-free position as defensive coordinator for the two-time Super Bowl champion Dolphins, Arnsperger takes over one of the NFL's most trouble-ridden franchises, one without a permanent home and one that was able to win only two games last year.

"I think it's a great opportunity for me from the standpoint of being involved in all phases of football," said the 41-year-old Arnsperger, who has turned down a chance to lead the Baltimore Colts.

Twin Falls hosts Highland, Minico invades Pocatello

The Twin Falls Bruins, buoyed by their biggest win of the season at Capital, host the highly regarded Highland Rams Saturday night while the Minico Spartans make a pair of trips to Pocatello in an effort to find some consistency.

Minico will be at Highland Thursday night and then return to play Pocatello Saturday.

The Bruins are looking forward to a three-game set at home having been on the road — and running into some of the tougher teams — during the past few weeks.

The Highland game will match height against speed and should be one of the quicker-paced games in the league this winter. The Rams are just about the same size as Minico.

Highland boasts top scorers in Wally Foster (18 points per game) and junior Scott Good (13 points) and has picked up more rebounding and scoring punch with the return of E-2 Mike Falash to the lineup after being sidelined during December with a broken bone in his hand. The Rams' real speed is found in Chris Frost, Larry Kemp and Wally Kelly and Coach Ron Kress uses it with a pressing defense.

Pocatello's two major concerns for Minico will be G-Rance Tademey's outside shooting and the Indians' home court advantage. Tademey is one of the leading scorers in the league at 19.7 and gets just about all of them from the outside.

He dislikes putting the ball on the floor and consequently isn't much of a driving threat. Dyk Sanborn and Bill Winn, both good rebounders, are Pocatello's backup scorers.

Being on the road for two straight comes at a bad time for the Spartans, who now have lost four straight — and check that, one out — in your record book. The real surprise, however, came last Saturday when Meridian slugged the Spartans. The fortunes of the weekend may portend the remainder of the Spartan season.

The one encouraging note was the double figure scoring of Scott Morehouse, indicating the 64 senior continues to improve after knee surgery.

The one-game weekend will help Twin Falls' Eric Hovey and Kim Nielsen, both of whom have had a rocky couple of weeks. Hovey sustained a deep thigh bruise against Minico, saw only a few minutes of crippled action against Skyline and missed all of Meridian before returning against Capital. The last effort stove him up again and through Wednesday he was at about 70 percent effectiveness. Nielsen, laid out of two games by illness, had a reaction to medication last weekend but still performed well, although he tired quite quickly.

The lastely two-game absence dropped Hovey out of the SIC scoring lead to third place (second in total score) but he remained in the top five in free throw shooting at .829. Lardy-Haynes also climbed over .800 with those two free throws that closed Capital out.

Jim Lash remained second in rebounding with 155 takeaways while Kent Schmidt and Dennis Boyer, credited with the best game of his career against Capital, stayed over .500 in field goal shooting.

Yankee buddies Mantle, Ford put in baseball hall of fame

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle and Whitley Ford, one time roommates and warm buddies ever since their first meeting as New York Yankees players in 1951, made it "frustrating on the cake" Wednesday by becoming the first two players from the same club ever to be elected simultaneously to the Baseball Hall of Fame.

Mantle, 42, who hit 536 career homers to place him sixth on the all-time list and won the triple crown in 1956 when he hit 365 and socked 32 homers, became only the seventh player to gain entry into the Hall in his first year of eligibility. He received votes on 322 of the 365 ballots cast by 10-year members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Other first-time eligibles elected were Warren Spahn, Ted Williams, Stan Musial, Jackie Robinson, Bob Feller and Sandy Koufax.

Ford—his blond hair tinged with grey at 45, was named on 284 ballots as writers remembered the southpaw's 236-106 pitching record and his two 20-game victory seasons. He won 25 in 1951 and 24 in 1952.

Only two others drew more than 200 votes, but they weren't enough to reach the 272 necessary for election. Robt. Roberts, a Philadelphia Phillie pitching ace, was third among the 45 candidates with 224 votes and Pittsburgh Pirates home run king Ralph Kiner led 215.

Ford and Kiner passed out his votes; Whitley by 29 votes and Kiner by 49.

"This has to be my biggest thrill in baseball," said Mantle, no longer the Commerce, Okla., "aw-shucks" kid who broke into the majors with the Yanks in 1951. "It's probably the greatest because both Whitley and I made it. I thought he should have elected last year."

Ford said a year ago he was having lunch when Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn walked into a midtown restaurant and told Whitley he had come close, but no cigar.

Sun Valley racers grab seven firsts

SUN VALLEY — Sun Valley ski team internediate, novice and pee wee racers captured seven first places at the Jackson Hole Slalom Derby last weekend.

Sunday, the intermediate girls' competition was won by Alex Dibbler, second place was taken by Laurel Hazen, and third was captured by Kelly Simpson, all Sun Valley.

In the novice girls' competition, Stephanie Shumway won first place and Dede Meyers placed second. Mike Fitzpatrick won the novice boys' competition, with Matt Lamm in second place. All are Sun Valley — Ski — Team members.

In the pee wee boys' competition, David Koonce took first and Deter Peterson took third. Another Sun Valley racer, Chris Bedell, finished seventh in the intermediate boys' competition.

Sun Valley racers' placings on Saturday were as follows.

Novice girls: Miss Shumway, first, and Miss Meyers, second. Novice boys: Lamm, first, and Fitzpatrick, eighth.

Intermediate boys: Berry Peterson, seventh; Tyler Norris, tenth; Tod Skinner, 14th, and Bedell, 27th. Miss Hazen placed fourth in the intermediate girls.

The next race for the 10 to 15 year olds will be conducted at Grand Targhee on Jan. 26 and 27.

W. Thurber leads ski standings

SUN VALLEY — Sun Valley Cross-Country Ski Team member Wendy Thurber has moved into first place in the Intermountain Division Cross-Country standings.

Miss Thurber placed first in the Junior I girls' competition last weekend at Pinedale, Wyo. Other Sun Valley cross-country racers who also improved their divisional standings include Doug Swanner, second; Gary Swanner, fourth; Chris Falco, seventh; Mark Slemmon, ninth, and David Lister, 13th.

Divisional standings for Miss Thurber, first; Liz Richards, fifth; Enleigh Allart, sixth; Bridget Sewell, seventh; Sue Shay, eighth; Sue Ward, tenth, and Patti Syms, 13th.

This veteran of World War II was obsessed with one wild compulsion in particular. Every now and then he got the terrible impulse to strangle his wife. Recoid shows he was hospitalized almost a dozen times for psychiatric treatment. Finally, one savvy doctor solved it. He directed the man to keep a thick rubber band on his wrist. When that strangling impulse came upon him, he was ordered to snap that rubber band hard enough to sting his wrist, and to keep snapping it until the impulse faded. Medical records now say it took him less than a year to snap himself out of that recurring notion. He is well.

A The lady, sir. It all depends on the etiquette experts' decree.

RATS
In an alcoholic manufacturing contest between a rat and a hummingbird, bet on the rat. The female librarian outwitted the male librarian by 100 to 11. Am now informed we got that word "housewife" from the Spanish "jugado" meaning "tribunal." Abe Lincoln always moved his lips when he read. Dady realizes that honey made from stock market blossoms is somewhat poisonous, but such is said to be the case.

Claret asks why the killer whale is so-called. Inasmuch as it has a no known instance wherein said beast ever killed anybody in a school of fish, the animal kills its grub in last succession, then swings back to eat the whole shabang. That's why.

FIRST LIBRARIAN
First of the women librarians probably was a lady named Aspasia who lived in old Greece. She was a freetiger; there is no certain history. A Greek. She didn't care. She became a companion. Called a hetaira. That's not why her name survives in history, though. Why is she broad? The astonishing notion that women were as good as men.

Was none other than old Judge Craig of Casper, Wyo., who once said "In the early days of this state, it was the custom to turtle neck, and if a hat could be compiled of all the men who had necks started in life by this method, it would make a large catalog.

MAJOR HOOPLE

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—A reported agreement on Middle East troop disengagement helped stocks open sharply higher in heavy trading on the New York Stock Exchange Thursday.

Minutes after the opening, the Dow Jones industrial average was up 1.75. Advances topped declines by more than three-to-one among the 396 stocks across the tape.

Analysts felt that an expected announcement to come at 3 p.m. EDT of a troop disengagement formula for the war-torn Suez Canal could spark a market rally Thursday. The deeper significance of such an agreement for Wall Street would be a subsequent decision by the Arab states to ease their current oil embargo. But no concrete sign of such an easing has been forthcoming as yet.

The disengagement announcement, according to Israeli officials, will take the form of a joint communique to be issued by Israel, Egypt, the United States and the Soviet Union.

On Wednesday, stocks climbed on a broad front, largely due to bargain hunting. The Dow was ahead 9.65 to 856.09.
