More blanks on key tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Testimony before Judge John J. Sirica disclosed today that President Nixon's personally recorded conversations with two key Watergate participants contain blank stretches. Fred Buzhardt, White House counsel, acknowledged gaps in the tapes of the President's dictated accounts but suggested they were the result of normal dictation practices. He denied the blank stretches were caused by deliberate erasures. The tapes, subpoenaed by Watergate investigators, were Nixon's accounts of a telephone conversation the President had with former Attorney General John N. Mitchell June 20, 1972, three days after the Watergate break-in, and of a discussion he had with John W. Dean, then White House counsel, on March 21, 1973.

Sirica unsealed a 30-page transcript of Buzhardt's first disclosure of a 18-minute gap in a June 20 Watergate tape of a conversation between Nixon and H. R. Haldeman. The transcript was taken of a conference in Sirica's chambers on Nov. 21. The transcript showed that Buzhardt said of the gap during the conference: "It looks quite serious. It doesn't appear ... it couldn't have been accidental." Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski said today it would be difficult to conclude that the erasure was accidental. Sirica ordered the conference transcript unsealed over the objections of James T. St. Clair, recently hired to be new head of the White House Watergate legal team.

House prober concludes impeachment possible

(c) WASHINGTON Star-News
WASHINGTON — House Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino, Jr., D-N.J., says he believes President Nixon can be impeached for offenses that do not violate criminal statutes. That view conflicts with the one held by White House officials. In an interview, Rodino said he has reached that preliminary conclusion after careful personal research on the subject of impeachment. He cited two specific cases — one, the successful impeachment in 1868 of President Andrew Johnson — to support his belief. The other case cited by Rodino was the impeachment in 1936 of federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter of Florida. While the judge was impeached on charges that included criminal offense, he was convicted by the Senate on a noncriminal article that he had brought his court into "scandal" and disrepute. The White House and some Republicans in Congress argue, on the other hand, that the President can only be impeached on charges that are also indictable in the courts. Rodino, head of the panel investigating whether Nixon's "committee impeachable" offenses stressed that his opinion of what may constitute an "impeachable offense" is not firmly fixed and that it could be altered by recommendations of his committee's special impeachment staff. That staff, headed by former assistant attorney general John M. Doar, is expected to report possible next week the results of its research.

North Gem flood cost $17 million

by United Press International
NORTH IDAHO flood damage estimates climbed over the $17 million mark today and threatened to move much higher as residents downstream from the present flood areas brace themselves for the anticipated surge of high water. The Coeur d'Alene River ravaged Shoshone County's Silver Valley, dropped another two feet overnight, and a one-foot drop of the St. Joe caused flood danger at St. Maries. However, flood waters from the Coeur d'Alene and St. Joe rivers continued to flow into Lake Coeur d'Alene, pushing the level up another three feet. Conditions generally eased at critical flood locations in southern Idaho as cooler temperatures slowed river flows. The community of Rigaux was without power today as mud slides destroyed lines along U.S. 95. Movement of earth in the highway on the major north-south roadway in Idaho, was also hampered. Flood damage in Washington County in southern Idaho was estimated at $100,000 as about 600 acres of farmland were heavily damaged.

TF board endorses hospital operation

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners, in a statement today, declared they do not intend to contract for church operation of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. A statement signed by the three commissioners, William L. Chaney, Merl E. Leonard and W. D. Wiseman, said no changes in hospital management are being considered. "We want to state we are pleased with the operation of the hospital under the present hospital board and administration. They are doing an excellent job and there is no reason to consider any change," the statement said. "We were contacted in December by a Seventh Day Adventist representative about the possibility of contracting the operation of the hospital. The information was communicated to the hospital board which rejected the suggestion expressing its full support and satisfaction with the present administration of the hospital. Nothing more was done about the Seventh Day Adventist suggestion. "We have a fine hospital in Twin Falls and we urge all county voters to support continued excellence in Twin Falls County medical care by voting for the hospital bond issue on Feb. 12," the commissioners said.

Crash impact crushes truck

SHOSHONE — A Jerome man was killed early today in a truck-train collision on U.S. 93 involving a Shoshone Sheriff's office car. Sheriff's officers said John Florrigo, about 27, was traveling north in an empty gravel truck, apparently on his way to work at 7:30 a.m. Officers said he stopped at the crossing for an eastbound train. When it cleared the crossing, he pulled into the path of a westbound train which had been held from his view by the first train. The impact tore the truck apart. Officers said they were involved for hours on the ground but did not know if he was thrown or pulled from the truck. He was dead at the scene, officers said. The train collided with the tail of the truck. This is the second railroad crossing death in Shoshone in the past four months. On Oct. 4, Mrs. Jeanette Minor, also Jerome, was killed when her vehicle collided with a train at the Apple Street Crossing. A cattle truck was struck on the U.S. 93 crossing earlier last year killing a number of cattle. Shoshone citizens have petitioned the railroad and city to reduce the speed at the crossing to 25 miles per hour for trains. The present limit, 35 miles per hour, is set by city ordinance. The Union Pacific Railroad has proposed raising the Apple Street crossing with making bicycle and pedestrian crossing safer and improving the U.S. 93 crossing with drop arms and flashing lights, reducing the number of trucks and allowing trains to move through Shoshone at 60 miles per hour.

Andrus budget message brings mixed reaction

By DAVID ESPINO
Times-News Capitol Bureau
BOYLI — Magic Valley legislators responded with mixed reaction to Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' budget message today. The governor's proposed tax relief bill was met with mixed reactions. Sen. John Barker, R-Boji, said Andrus delivered a speech that was "rough" but had a good message. He said he personally felt he should give "tax relief." Barker said property tax relief was more appealing to him than exempting grocery purchases from the state sales tax. Barker said he was "pleased" the governor had asked for an appropriation to construct a lodge and approaches to the American Falls Dam Barker, who chairs the Senate Health Education and Welfare Committee, said he agreed with Andrus' proposal to supplement the budget of the Department of Environmental and Conservation services under the federal Supplemental Security Income program. Rep. Vernon Haversorn, R-Tuttle, and Rep. William Roberts, R-Boji, both said they were glad to see Andrus' economic program. Haversorn said he was not sure if the governor wasn't enough. Haversorn said two bills he would be "impressed" in light of a court ruling ordering equalization of state school funding and supported four bills was a better target. (Continued on p. 5)

Striker's death triggers riot

SAIGON (UPI) — An American woman drove her car through a group of striking Vietnamese employees at the official U.S. supermarket today, killing one striker and triggering an anti-American demonstration. U.S. sources said another Vietnamese striker was injured. A woman identified as Mrs. Billie Stewart, of Tacoma, Wash., whose husband William works in the American aid mission in Saigon, was detained by Vietnamese police in the incident. American employees of the supermarket, known as the U.S. commissary and operated by the Defense Attache's Office of the U.S. Embassy, barricaded themselves in the market's compound as strikers milled outside.

Historic Suez accord signed

By United Press International

The chiefs of staff of the Israeli and Egyptian armies met today at the Kilometer 101 post on the Cairo-Suez road and signed an agreement to disengage their armies on the Suez Canal.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger announced he would seek a similar agreement between Israel and Syria.

At almost the same moment the agreement was signed in a yellow Israeli tent at Kilometer 101, Kissinger arrived in the Egyptian resort city of Aswan from Jerusalem and began talks with President Anwar Sadat on the disengagement of Israeli-Syrian forces on the Golan Heights, another prerequisite for peace in the Middle East.

"I plan to visit Syria, probably Sunday," Kissinger told newsmen shortly after arriving from Israel.

"Our view is that disengagement talks with Syria should start and the United States will work on them with the same dedication and the same good will as it did on disengagement between Egypt and Israel, and President Sadat has strongly urged us to make this effort."

Newsmen asked Kissinger if he expected to shuttle between Damascus and Israel the way he has shuttled between Aswan and Israel for the past week.

"We will make the same effort for Syrian-Israeli talks as we made for the Egyptian-Israeli talks," Kissinger replied.

Sadat paid warm tribute to President Nixon and Kissinger, who he said had been in the garden of the government rest house before an agreement was signed (U. A. m. EDT) for their talks and a working lunch.

The agreement will lead to resumption of the Geneva peace conference to seek a political settlement that President Nixon expressed hope would lead to a permanent peace in the Middle East.

Syria boycotted the start of the Geneva conference but might attend if the troop withdrawal problem is solved.

"This is a great day and a day we all hope will be the beginning of peace in the Middle East," Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir said in Jerusalem. On the front lines where one Israeli and one Egyptian soldier were killed in fighting Thursday Israeli soldiers fired rifles, fireworks and flares and shouted with joy at the thought of returning home.

Kissinger's Air Force Boeing 707, which has been shuttling between Aswan and Tel Aviv all week, flew in to Aswan for the fourth time at 12:30 p.m. (6:30 a.m. EDT) to begin the last phase of what for him has been a personal diplomatic triumph.

Official Egyptian sources said Sadat telephoned Syrian President Hafez Assad Thursday night to explain the agreement with Israel. And Assad said Sadat to open talks with Kissinger on a Syrian-Israeli disengagement on the Golan Heights front.

The sudden Syria interest in disengagement talks appeared to stem from fears that Israel could concentrate its might against Syria once it was free on the Suez Canal front. On Wednesday, when the Egyptian-Israeli agreement appeared near, Syrian Vice Premier and Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam warned in a Beirut newspaper interview against a separate Egyptian-Israeli agreement.

"A y disengagement of forces must take place simultaneously on both the Egyptian and Syrian fronts," Khaddam said. "This is because the separation of forces on one front means the front will be able to concentrate his forces on the other front."

No official details of the new Suez agreement were immediately announced. But both Egyptian and Israeli officials said the main provision called for an Israeli withdrawal to Sinai mountain passes some 20 miles east of the Suez canal, a drastic reduction of Egyptian forces on the Sinai and the stationing of U.N. troops between the armies.

The State Department said Kissinger would fly Saturday to the Jordanian port city of Aqaba for talks with Jordan's King Hussein and then to Damascus for talks with Syrian President Assad. In between he planned visits to the ancient Egyptian temples at Karnak and Luxor.

Dino Martin charged in machine gun possession

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dean Martin's 22-year-old son was arrested Thursday afternoon by federal agents who said they found five machine guns and a cannon in his Beverly Hills home.

Dean Paul Martin Jr., a member of a teen-age rock-and-roll group a few years ago and who recently has been a pre-med student at UCLA, was accused of illegal possession of an unregistered machine gun. Other charges were likely, federal sources said.

He was arrested at his home when agents of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, a division of the Treasury Department, went to his home with a search warrant after an undercover agent reported buying two automatic weapons from him on Wednesday.

Federal officials stressed that his enthralling father had no knowledge of his son's activities.

Federal sources said Dino, the name he used, apparently obtained the weapons, including a .50-caliber anti-aircraft cannon with a spare barrel, for resale. The objective was unclear, but one source expressed doubt it was "for profit."

An undercover agent reported buying from Martin for $625 an M16 rifle, the kind issued to U.S. combat troops in Vietnam, and an AK47, the most advanced type used by North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops.

Both the M16 and AK47 are automatic rifles and fall in the classification of machine guns, officials said. The AK47, a Soviet designed weapon, was made in North Korea, officials said.

A spokesman for the ATF bureau said these weapons were taken from young Martin's home.

One M2 carbine, one British Sten gun, one Thompson submachine gun, two Belgian FMS machine guns, and the cannon, together with an assortment of ammunition, magazines, clips and drums.

An ATF spokesman said young Martin "cooperated" with agents in their search, which took place at 2 p.m. PDT in his home—which had a "for sale" sign out front. The spokesman said Martin's asking price of the house was $290,000.

A few years ago, Martin, together with Lucille Ball's son, Desi Arnaz Jr., and another boy were members of a rock group called the Dino, Desi and Billy Trio.

Young Martin is married to Olivia Hussey, who a few years ago played the role of Juliet in a "Romeo and Juliet" movie with teen-agers in starring roles.

Warming trends bring changes

TWIN FALLS — Warming trends this week have meant changes in a warning to snowmobilers and cross-country skiers of increased avalanche danger in back country areas.

Most ski resorts report warm trends and lowered snow levels. Cooling trends and several inches of new snow, however, Thursday brought improvement.

Sun Valley reports 2 to 4 inches of snow at the top of Baldy with 54 inches at the Roundhouse and 28 on the valley floor. About 4 inches of new snow had fallen Thursday. Elkton closed temporarily Thursday by warm temperatures.

Magic Mountain lists 3 inches of new snow this week for about 4 inches at the top and 60 inches at the lodge. The road is plowed but chains or snow tires are required. Uphill traffic is prohibited from 3 to 5 p.m. The road is closed Wednesday through Sunday.

Pomerelle received 3 inches of new snow as of Thursday with total depths ranging from 60 at the lodge to 66 at the top of the mountain. Runs are packed and the road clear but snow tires or chains are recommended. Pomerelle operates daily from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. with a junior three-day ski program opening Saturday.

Soldier Mountain has 2 inches of new snow with depths of 50 inches at the top and 45 at the lodge. Runs are packed and the road is plowed but chains or snow tires are required. The area is open Wednesday through Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Rotan has a 16-inch base with a trace of new snow. The area is open Saturday and Sunday and is now operating Tuesday and Thursday from 10 to 10 p.m. for night skiing.

Rain in lower elevations has left some snowmobiling and cross-country skiing poor. Conditions for snowmobiling are fair to good except in the Smiley Creek area which reports excellent conditions.

Little Smoky near Fairfield lists 40 inches of snow, Stanley 22, Cape Horn 30 and Smiley Creek 30. Galena Summit has 60 inches.

TF City budget not yet complete

TWIN FALLS — While the 1974 Twin Falls city budget will not be completed until April 1, City Manager Jean Milar said figures are being prepared for various city projects.

The annual meetings with Twin Falls Fire Fighters to set salaries for fire department workers began this week and will probably continue several weeks.

Milar said the city clerk's office has begun closing out the 1973 books now that all of the year's bills have been paid. He said by Feb. 1, the figures should be pretty well complete on 1973 spending.

This year the city will budget some $500,000 in revenue sharing money including the final 1973 payment which has not yet been spent. Milar held a workshop meeting with city council members this morning to discuss possible revenue sharing projects.

High on the list, Milar said, is a new police department building. On his list of projects and estimates of cost, Milar set $275,000 as the amount for a new police building. In view of building cost trends, he said, by the time bids could be opened this figure might be far too little, but as with the fire station building, it could be covered in a two-year budget plan.

House agriculture committees also were told Thursday a veterinary school program was a must because state students were getting it more difficult to get into vet schools. Members of the Senate and

The city budgeted only $350,000 for the fire department building but costs will run beyond $400,000. Because of the time needed to complete a building, most of the payments will be made in 1974.

Other proposed revenue sharing expenditures include street improvements, paving of city hall parking lots, purchase of computer equipment and numerous smaller capital improvement items.

The city has received one check in the amount of $85,135 in revenue sharing money this year with three more in the same amount anticipated. Money budgeted last year and not spent must be rebudgeted this year.

TF police probe burglaries

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls police today were investigating three minor burglaries.

Orval F. Bradley, Twin Falls, reported the theft of about $80 in tools from his pickup truck Wednesday evening while the truck was parked at the Bowdoincamp at Eastland Drive.

Dick Dean, an employee of Twin Falls Tractor Co., reported that a tractor radio worth about $70 was stolen from a hay stacker parked on the company's storage lot.

Dean placed the time of the theft between Jan. 4 and Jan. 16.

Beatrice Ralph, Twin Falls, reported that a $50 pistol was stolen from her residence last Saturday.

Jerome budget delayed

JEROME — Final Jerome county budget figures, anticipated to be 11.5 percent higher than last year, will not be available until the first of the week.

County auditor Mrs. Virginia Ricketts said the preliminary budget was completed this week by the county commissioners, but that final figures for each department would not be available until after Monday.

"The tentative budget includes a $40 per month pay increase for Jerome County employees with the exception of the two sheriff's deputies who will receive $60 more per month," Mrs. Ricketts said.

She noted the raise amounts to about a 7.7 per cent increase in the employee's yearly wage.

The largest increase in this year's budget is in the sheriff's department where the total budget figure is $10,140 over the previous year. The increase will provide for an extra deputy and car for the department.

Also included in this year's $5,000 for a part-time deputy prosecuting attorney, two part-time field men were also allowed for the assessor's department for personal property assessments.

Mrs. Ricketts said it is estimated the budget will be 11.5 per cent higher than last year, however, the increase does not take into consideration the proposed new addition to the county courthouse. "The revenue sharing funds will mostly be used for the new courthouse addition. A total of $20,000 has been allocated," Mrs. Ricketts said.

In the budget, remaining revenue sharing funds have been allocated as follows: $5,000 for refuse disposal; $8,000 to replace a micro-film camera; $10,000 for recreation; and $10,253 for Jerome County's share to the South Central Idaho Health Department's new building.

Mrs. Ricketts said the allocations will take all or most of the revenue sharing funds Jerome County will receive until 1975.

The commissioners have set a public hearing on the budget for 2 p.m. Feb. 11 in the county courthouse. Mrs. Ricketts said the commissioners have set inside the $10,000 for recreation in anticipation of establishing a county park.

"The commissioners wanted to be prepared for any eventuality," Mrs. Ricketts said.

Quade Bernard, commission chairman, said the commissioners have stated they would assist the Jerome School Board in locating possible available money to establish a park and recreational facility in conjunction with the proposed new high school if it were located on BLM land, east of Jerome.

The commissioners cannot furnish the school district with money from the county budget to build a school operated recreational facility, Bernard said.

John Van Orman said the commissioners had met with members of the State Parks Committee to discuss the possibility of building a park in Jerome County. "We have been informed by the committee that a 50-50 fund proposition is available where by the Parks Department will pay 50 per cent and the county will pay 50 per cent," Van Orman said.

He said no commitment of county funds has been made to the school district. "We are, however, willing to assist them in locating possible monies available from other sources should they request it," Van Orman said.

SHOSHONE — The Fourth District Artisan, Legion District contest will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, at the Lincoln school auditorium, Shoshone.

Idaho legislators make gains on problems

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Capitol Bureau

BOISE — In the four days it has been in session, the legislature has begun to make clear, visible progress in solving some of the toughest problems it faces.

It has established procedures for effecting executive reorganization, by adopting necessary resolutions to permit creation of a select committee to handle the 1,000 pages of legislation. Copies of that legislation now sit in black binders on the desks of each lawmaker. House and Senate pages dropped the thick books on the legislative desks near the end of the day Wednesday, as promised.

There hasn't been any tackling of the differences of opinion that lawmakers have, but the educational sessions that legislative leadership wants before action on the bills have been started.

The House State Affairs Committee, moving against the single most pressing problem the legislature faces, set Jan. 28 for a public hearing on daylight saving time. The legislature has until Feb. 2 to notify the federal government that it does, or does not, want to go on DST.

That issue is more emotional than anything else, with one representative telling his committee members there had been talk of impeaching Gov. Cecil D. Andrus for his stand on time zones.

Another committee member, like his colleague from eastern Idaho, calls DST the single most emotional issue he has seen since entering state politics. Considering the hue and cry over equal rights for women in 1973, that is a great deal of emotion.

Presumably, the committee will hear the public later this month and then make its own recommendation on a bill to exempt the southern part of the state from daylight saving time. Rep. Walt Little, R-New Plymouth, tipped the hand of some of the lawmakers when he urged his committee colleagues not to table the bill he and Rep. Lee Barron, R-Corral, are sponsoring but to report it to the House floor where the full membership will have an opportunity to vote on it.

There had been some talk, as little mentioned in an aside, that opportunity in this case might be denied and that the longer the committee could sit on the bill the better off some lawmakers would be.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, who has already changed his mind once about DST, did a little finesse of his own when he delivered the State of the State address Monday. "My views are already known and I can assure you that your decision will not meet with widespread public support regardless of what you decide," he said to the assembled legislators.

On the third major question the legislature must handle early, leadership appears to have a basic agreement on the shape of reappointment. The same House committee that set the public hearing Wednesday voted to introduce a reappointment plan after its chairman, Rep. Harold Snow, R-Moscow, told the members leadership wanted it out of committee onto the floor.

Snow also carried leadership concern that violence to existing districts be kept to a minimum and that any changes in the plan could come through amendatory efforts on the floor.

The main attraction of the plan is that it doesn't rob any incumbent of his existing district. That would ordinarily put the 106 lawmakers in at least general agreement.

For Magic Valley lawmakers, the plan contemplates a few changes, with the dividing of Gooding County, now entirely in Hagerman District 23, between 23 and 22. Bliss and Wadsworth would move into District 22, along with the northwestern tip of Twin Falls County, but Twin Falls would remain in the district where it now is.

That would permit Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, R-Tuttle, to continue to represent the district he now lives in. That doesn't mean the lawmakers in that part of the state are pleased with the plan. Those concerned with Gooding are making it known they don't want to see the county divided and it is also understood that the lawmakers from District 22 would prefer to see their district grow at the expense of Ada County, thereby chipping into urban strength instead of Gooding County.

A shot at amending the basic plan seems certain, and anything that cuts Gooding County in half is impossible for lawmakers from that area to support.

Tax leaks pose dilemma

The fate of the Internal Revenue Service employee who leaked information about President Nixon's tax returns poses an interesting moral dilemma.

On the one hand the man reportedly gave the Providence, R. I., Journal-Bulletin the information that President Nixon's tax returns had totalled only about $1,670 for 1970 and 1971, while the President received refunds totalling $131,000.

The employee, of course, was bound by law and his professional ethics to keep individual tax information confidential.

On the other hand, the public has a right to know whether the President is bending the law, as suggested by the circumstances surrounding his large deduction for the gift of his vice presidential papers.

Presidential conduct in all areas has a bearing on his conduct in office. This is the reason voters consider such difficult-to-assess personal qualities as integrity, and personal conduct.

In other instances personal conduct affects public conduct.

For example, Chappaquiddick and the Princeton cheating case will have an important bearing on the presidential prospects of Sen. Edward Kennedy. This is as it should be.

In Nixon's tax case the IRS and the Justice Department — apparently — decided — considerations both of privacy and public need to know had weight, for they chose a compromise.

The employee, who remains unidentified, was given the opportunity to resign before being fired, and criminal charges were dropped. He lost his job but is out of jail.

Perhaps the way out of this moral dilemma is to redefine the nature of the financial operations of high governmental figures. Perhaps the President's tax returns, along with those of congressmen and Supreme Court justices, should be made matter of public record.

Candor should not be inconsistent with public service.

Avoid oil blackmail

Portland Oregonian

The United States will be making a grave mistake if it ever again allows the unrestricted importation of foreign oil and gas and thereby makes its economy and national security vulnerable to blackmailers.

The nation should have learned a vital lesson when King Faisal of Saudi Arabia did the unthinkable last October and ordered an oil embargo on the United States and other nations to Israel after it was attacked by its neighbors.

Up until that time, three quarters of the soaring Middle East oil imports into the United States had come from Saudi Arabia. Middle East oil production continued and prices doubled and tripled, despite the incredibly low cost of producing Persian Gulf oil.

The only way these prices are going to come down is for the Congress to enact legislation limiting oil imports, which will have the effect of strengthening the dollar and lowering the price of foreign oil as a world surplus that existed only 15 months ago builds back up.

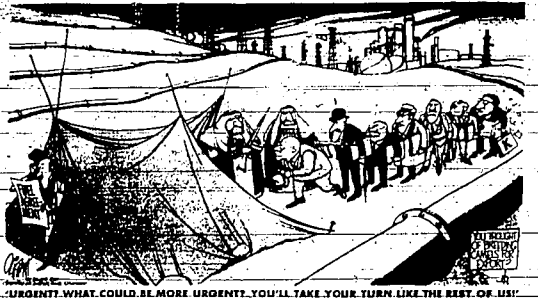

Tight restrictions on oil imports would not only protect American currency from the manipulation of the oil producing nations, but would make oil available to poor nations that face a disastrous future if energy costs continue to soar.

If American imports are not sharply restricted, the lifting of the oil embargo will blunt the urgency of the administration's proposals to make the nation self-sufficient in energy needs within a decade. Better than any nation in the world, the United States can afford to keep a tight belt on its fuel consumption. More than any other nation, it can afford the huge investments needed to develop alternate sources and to pay the higher energy bills.

It is ironic that an administration that did not want a pipeline across Canada because it might prove vulnerable to regulation by a friendly nation permitted a few sheikhs and several large oil cartels to stand the nation on its head. Arab oil profits, gained from this country and other nations, were used to rearm Egypt and make possible the Yom Kippur war.

One way to prevent future wars in the Middle East is to see that the oil producing nations do not have an enormous supply of dollars with which to buy tanks, rockets and airplanes.

It is vital to the nation's security that it never again permit itself to be drenched in foreign oil. George Kennan, our former ambassador to the Soviet Union and one of the nation's distinguished foreign policy scholars, said recently in the New York Times that he was "amazed" there were those who automatically assumed the Arabian oil tap would be turned on after the embargo is lifted.

URGENT: WHAT COULD BE MORE URGENT, YOU'LL TAKE YOUR TURN LIKE THE REST OF US!

Non-experts better

WASHINGTON — Good news is wherever you can find it these days, so Herbie Stein says let's hear it for hides, skins and leather.

It seems wholesale prices of all three commodities declined last month.

Of Herbie, in chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors and he is talking us to keep a stiff upper lip — again.

Unfortunately, hides, skins and leather prices were the only ones that dropped in December of 13 different groups of goods measured by the government's industrial commodities index.

Put another way, the price of everything else climbed, pushing the government's index up another 2.2 per cent last month. For the full year, the rise was 18.2 per cent, the largest single-year increase in the wholesale index since the after-effects of World War II caused a 31.7 rise in 1946. For all of 1972, the price rise was a mere 6.3 per cent.

Everybody from Nixon down to the second assistant janitor at the Agriculture Department has been telling us that things were going to get better, while they continued to get worse. All we had to do was wait a month or six months and the economy would recover.

Stein noted 40 per cent of the wholesale price increase in December and about 55 per cent during the whole year represented the cost of energy.

Well, all right, but we had also been told that the worst was over in the food department.

Carrots and feed prices, which had declined for three consecutive months started climbing again in December. They rose 1.4 per cent, foreshadowing a new spiral in prices at the supermarket. Suddenly, according to Stein, we are again faced with "relatively short food supplies."

Nothing seems to work, which may bear out the warnings of all those unheard prophets who have been saying for years that the government just cannot manage the economy.

Or, in cold figures, Washington has done an impressive job of stepping back from bad to worse. In 1971, prices had been going up at what now seems a jolly annual rate of 3.9 per cent. During the past six months prices have gone up 9.7 per cent.

Obviously, adjustments are going to have to be made. But I'd feel a lot better if the job of making them was assigned to a panel of non-experts who flunked arithmetic. The country is being bled white by its economists, and their determined optimism.

In the meantime, mink anyone?

Greek base bid pends

(c) N. Y. Times Service

WASHINGTON — Worry about the durability of the new military leadership in Athens and its foreign policy has caused the Nixon administration to defer discussions on basing a new carrier task force in Greece, American officials reported today.

The officials said the pause was ordered last month by Secretary of State Kissinger after the coup in which a group of rightist Greek army officers overthrew President George Papadopoulos Nov. 25.

An agreement for establishment of a homeport for a carrier task force — a squadron of six destroyers, an aircraft carrier, its air wing and a hospital ship — was signed by Greek and American military officials one year ago.

The initial phase — the anchoring of a destroyer squadron at Eleusis, 15 miles west of Athens and the lodging of about 1,500 Navy dependents in the Athens metropolitan area — had already been completed by then on the basis of an earlier agreement in principle.

It is the second and more controversial phase, the stationing of a Sixth Fleet carrier in Megara Bay, beyond Eleusis, that is being held up mainly for political reasons, the officials said.

While technical discussions with Greek military authorities continue on unresolved details of the plan, the decision whether to go ahead with the stationing of the carrier has been postponed until the political situation in Greece becomes clearer, the officials said.

Kissinger has met twice with American officials concerned with Greece since the November take-over by the government of Lt. Gen. Phaedon Giatikas. After the first meeting, Kissinger said he was disposed to go ahead with the home port arrangement for the carrier. The second time he recommended a pause.

The officials said Kissinger had become disturbed over reports that the New Greek leadership was likely to face the kind of unrest that precipitated the November coup.

In addition, the Nixon administration was described as being wary of an increasingly nationalistist strike by the Greek military leaders.

An official cited as evidence a declaration Jan. 6 by the new foreign minister, Spyros Tetenes, relating to Greece's membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Tetenes said while Greece remained devoted to her international obligations and alliances she was "at the same time demanding fulfillment of obligations stemming from our alliance by others." The American official commented: "They have become a shade more nationalistic."

The administration officials also noted that during the Arab-Israeli war in October Athens forbade U. S. Air Force planes to fly in and out of their Greek base to help resupply Israel while permitting Soviet supply planes to fly over Greek Cyclades Islands on the way to Syria and Egypt.

At the State Department, an official concerned with the homeport issue said: "We are being close-mouthed about it because it is time to decide and we haven't decided yet."

New suspicions aroused

By JOHN HERBERS
(c) N. Y. Times Service

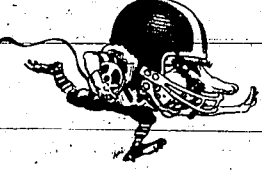

WASHINGTON — Once again, as it appeared that President Nixon was wounding the Watergate crisis, another startling disclosure has aroused suspicions of further criminal acts in the White House and inflicted new damage on the President's credibility.

The testimony of technical experts in U. S. District Court — that the 18½-minute gap on one of Nixon's Watergate tape recordings was caused by erasing and re-recording five and perhaps as many as nine times — strongly suggested that someone in the White House deliberately destroyed evidence at some time during the summer or fall of last year.

This would mean that the White House cover-up of the Watergate burglary continued after President Nixon said he had first become aware of it, took steps to investigate and correct the matter and accepted the resignation of his two principal aides, H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman. That was in March, 1973. The White House sought to suspend the public's judgment, saying the technical report is only a summary and there has been no judicial conclusion in the matter.

And the first reaction from Capitol Hill and from political leaders elsewhere was that this was another damaging development for Nixon. In that part of the state are pleased with the plan. Those concerned with Gooding are making it known they don't want to see the county divided and it is also understood that the lawmakers from District 22 would prefer to see their district grow at the expense of Ada County, thereby chipping into urban strength instead of Gooding County.

A shot at amending the basic plan seems certain, and anything that cuts Gooding County in half is impossible for lawmakers from that area to support.

THOSTESON, M.D.

Vitamin C nosebleed remedy

"Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please give me information on nose bleeding in older people, which comes on at night. What treatment is there instead of having a physician burn it out? Should saliva or petroleum jelly be put in to soften the lining? Would it be sinus? Is there a vitamin or food to use for it?" M.E.N.

Let's forget about sinus — that isn't usually what bleeds. But nosebleed in an older person is a nuisance and if extensive and repeated can be dangerous sometimes.

Bleeding is usually in the forward portion of the septum, the partition between the two nostrils. If the septum is crooked, an ulcer may form and cause recurring bleeding. But there are several other causes.

Picking the nose can cause an ulcer. Or if the bleeding is at night, it may be because you bump the nose in your sleep. Excessive use of aspirin can contribute to easy bleeding. So can lack of vitamin C, which is common in older people who too often say, "At my age I don't need it!"

Or, finally, there are blood disorders that can make one prone to bleeding and bruising — so do you have any sign of easy bruising elsewhere? That would be indicative.

Project OK'd

(c) Washington Star-News

WASHINGTON — The Wilderness Society and other environmental groups have decided not to challenge the constitutionality of the law authorizing construction of the Alaska pipeline.

The Interior Department intends to issue permits soon for construction of the pipeline across Alaska from the rich North Slope oil fields. The action appeared to reduce the chances that the pipeline would again be blocked by court action.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Wallace Johnson, head of the Justice Department's Division of Land and Natural Resources, said he had notified the Interior Department it could issue construction permits.

Relief moves ready

BOISE — Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, said Thursday he would introduce legislation providing almost $1 million in property tax relief to make up for what he said was "unnecessary" taxes that followed Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' ordered general fund holdback in 1972.

Roberts said the holdback had forced the State Board of Education to order taxes levied on the local level to make up for the money lost to education. The Buhl Republican, co-chairman of the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee, said his bill would refund the money to the 44 counties in the state and order the county commissioners to cut back on next year's levy. The result, he said, would be to repay the taxpayers for the money unnecessarily levied against them by a reduction in the mill levy.

Roberts said the legislation would provide $1,000 in property tax relief and would be funded from the state's multi-million dollar general fund surplus.

- Figures available in the State Department indicated over $100,000 would result in tax relief to Magic Valley property owners if the measure passed. The amount of money raised to make up for the holdback in each of the Magic Valley counties includes:
- Blaine, $17,565;
- Camas, $2,776;
- Cassia, $2,164;
- Emore, $18,399;
- Gooding, $15,074;
- Jerome, $15,500;
- Lincoln, $7,214;
- Mitchell, $18,560;
- Minidoka, $52,043.

One-shot proposals outlined

BOISE — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus recommended spending $13.5 million in surplus state funds on special one-time only expenditures in his annual budget message to the legislature Thursday.

- Included in Andrus' proposed projects are:
- Public kindergartens trial period, $2 million;
- American Falls bridge and approaches $3,280,000;
- Hayburn $1,200,000 Park sewage system $1,142,000;
- Joint veterinary medicine facility $319,000;
- Idaho State Penitentiary Chapel $200,000;
- Agriculture, Research Equipment $200,000;
- Park acquisition and development $95,000;
- Bi-centennial commission restoration projects $100,000;
- Industrial commission rehabilitation study $75,000;
- Alcohol safety action program $21,400;
- Permanent building fund projects $2,818,491.

Bill offered

BOISE (UPI) — The House Resources and Conservation Committee introduced a bill calling for a state erosion and sediment control program Thursday.

Rep. Vernon E. Bakken, R-Twin Falls, told the committee the program would cost about $50,000. The measure is to strengthen and extend present erosion and sediment control activities and programs for both rural and urban lands.

Roberts 'amazed'

BOISE — Rep. William Roberts said Thursday he was "amazed" Gov. Cecil D. Andrus had recommended only a $500 general fund increase for junior colleges for the next fiscal year.

Roberts noted following Andrus' speech the governor had referred to a big boost in funding for higher education, and "requested what is actually only a $500 increase." Roberts said the governor had requested $35,000 additional money to operate his own office.

Good progress seen by House speaker

BOISE — House Speaker William Lanting, R-Holister, said Thursday he believes the legislature had made "exceptionally good" progress thus far.

Lanting said he was pleased with progress made on both government reorganization and reapportionment. "The attitude is much better than I expected to find," the speaker said.

The legislature, after four days in session, has printed for each lawmaker the 1,000 pages of proposed legislation to reorganize the executive branch of state government.

The House State Affairs Committee had introduced a proposed reapportionment bill to equalize the population among the legislative districts in the state.

Lanting said he still expected some "rough spots" to develop with reorganization, but overall, he said, "we're progressing extremely well."

Members of both houses were assigned to study groups Thursday so they could familiarize themselves with the specifics of the proposals and ask questions of legislative staff members.

Valley reaction to Andrus budget mixed

Roberts said two mills relief was "taken" that will never be recognized by the legislature. He said more relief was needed.

Ravencroft also complimented the governor for his caution in spending anticipated surplus money for one-time expenditures. He also said he was "disappointed" that Andrus didn't ask the legislature to extend the $15 refund from state income tax for another year. He also labeled the governor's plan to fund kindergartens for one year as "silly."

Ravencroft said the problem with kindergartens falls in the past has been that the poorer districts won't be able to afford them but will nevertheless help support them for larger districts.

Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, said his reaction to the speech was "basically favorable." He praised the governor's choices for spending surplus money but he said some figures he had seen estimated the surplus to be about $10 to $15 million higher than Andrus estimated it. If that is the case, he said, the legislature can give more tax relief or give an even greater shot in the arm to the state's building program.

Sen. John Peavy, R-Rupert, said Andrus made a "good budget presentation." But he repeated his support for exempting the purchase of groceries from the state sales tax before granting property tax relief.

Sen. Ralph Olmstead said he agreed with many of Andrus' proposals, especially with one calling for senior citizen property tax relief, and increases for higher education.

Olmstead disagreed with the governor on the size of the increase to public schools. He said the $7.7 million Andrus mentioned in his speech was "too large." In addition, Olmstead took issue with Andrus proposal to fund public kindergartens for a year. He applauded the governor, though, for calling for a State Veterinary School. Rep. Steve Antone, R-Rupert, said the budget presentation was "very reasonable." He especially praised Andrus' plan to raise the salary of lower paid state employees more than those earning higher wages.

Limit asked

BOISE (UPI) — Urging a 50-60-40-40 limit for Idaho Law Enforcement Commissioner John Bender said Thursday if a maximum limit of 55 was set, he doubted it would ever go up because of the reduction in highway deaths.

Bender told the Senate Transportation Committee, which is considering a bill to comply with the new federal act of 55 miles per hour, that statistics were proving that the "horrendous slaughter" on the highways was being reduced.

from my area," Mitchell said. He said he did not know whether the measure would be enacted but "it is our responsibility to voice concern."

The bill was referred to the judiciary and rules committee. The constitutional proposal would provide that justices of the supreme court would elect the chief justice.

Confidence top issue

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said Thursday topping the list of issues in the nation was confidence in government and it must be restored.

Speaking to the Idaho Senate, Hansen said there had "been a great erosion in confidence."

At the start of his talk, Hansen quipped to the senators that he was happy the legislature was in session because "it takes the heat off us" in Congress.

Class bars loom

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, in his budget message Thursday, urged state support of public kindergartens. He suggested spending $2 million in accumulated funds on an experimental program, and, if it works out, appropriating recurring funds for the program next year.

Sen. Mike Mitchell, D-Lewis-ton, said this was a dangerous period to do economic forecasting and the state should go slow with spending surplus money.

US economy growth slows

(c) Washington Star-News
WASHINGTON — The United States economy may be on the brink of the Nixon administration's second recession, government statistics indicated today.

Economic growth slowed sharply to an annual rate of 1.3 per cent in the fourth quarter of last year, while the inflation rate surged to 7.9 per cent, its fastest pace in more than 22 years, the commerce department reported today.

The slowdown in growth was measured in terms of "real" gross national product — the total volume of goods and services produced as distinct from the inflated dollar value.

The 1.3 per cent growth rate in the fourth quarter was down from 3.4 per cent in the third quarter and was the smallest gain since GNP declined in the fourth quarter of 1970, at the end of the last recession.

Most economists expect real GNP to decline in the current quarter, and many also predict a further drop in the second and perhaps the third quarter.

Although there are no hard and fast rules, the conventional definition of a recession is a decline in real GNP for two consecutive quarters.

The economy had been expected to show slow reaction to the boom of 1972 and 1973, but the Nixon administration had hoped for a "soft landing" — less than normal growth — but not an actual decline. However, the energy crisis had led most economists to lower their 1974 growth forecasts.

The inflation rate measured by the broad GNP index was up from 7 per cent in the third quarter of last year. It was the sharpest rise since early 1961, during the Korean war inflation.

In dollar terms, including the effects of inflation, GNP increased at a 9.4 per cent annual rate to $1,334 trillion in the fourth quarter of last year, following a 10.6 per cent rate in the third quarter.

For all of 1973, GNP totaled $1,288 trillion, up 11.5 per cent from 1972. This was the sharpest rise since 1961.

Real growth accounted for 5.9 per cent of the advance, compared with a 6.1 per cent gain in 1972.

The inflation rate for all of 1973, as measured by the GNP price index, rose to 5.5 per cent from 5.2 per cent in 1972. Last year's inflation was the sharpest since 1970.

Consumer spending the dominant item in GNP, increased $13 billion in the fourth quarter, to an annual rate of $629 billion, following a $20.4 billion rise in the third quarter.

The life expectancy rate in 1973 was 62 years.

SEN. MONDALE '76 candidate Mondale to seek top post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., has authorized a group of his supporters to raise money and begin exploring the liberal Minnesota's chances for winning the 1976 Democratic Presidential nomination.

Mondale's announcement Thursday put him in the same ball park as Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., an unannounced candidate who late last year authorized a similar venture by his supporters aimed at the GOP nomination.

In St. Paul, a committee spokesman said it would raise probably less than $100,000 this year to explore Mondale's appeal.

Mondale, like Percy, instructed his committee to file periodic reports of all its finances with the Office of Federal Elections, a procedure that is required under the 1971 Campaign Finance Disclosure Law.

Mondale has asked his committee to abide by a Senate-passed bill placing limits on campaign contributions, although the measure has not been acted on the House.

Thus, the committee will not accept contributions larger than $5,000 from any one source, nor cash contributions larger than $50.

"Our purpose in forming this committee is to raise sufficient funds to enable him to travel to confer with political and other leaders, to test his ideas on a national level, and ultimately, as a result of these activities, to make a realistic decision about whether to seek the nomination in 1976," the group said.

No explosion

LINCOLN, England (UPI) — The red box lying by the road was ticking so the elderly gentleman threw it into the river, William before it could explode.

Police said later Thursday they wanted to ask him to pinpoint the spot — so the gas company could recover the $200 equipment used for detecting gas leaks.

EPA asks probe of 'false' ads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has asked the Federal Trade Commission to investigate "false and misleading" ads by automobile dealers.

EPA Administrator Russell E. Train said Thursday he was prompted by advertisements

Health asks TUC meet

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Edward Heath said today he had invited leaders of the 10 million-member Trades Union Congress (TUC) to meet him again Monday for a new attempt to end Britain's crippling industrial crisis.

The talks broke down last Monday when the TUC refused to guarantee that other unions would not seek higher wages if the government gave pay hikes to 280,000 coal miners in excess of its anti-inflation limits.

Crosby's condition satisfactory

BURLINGAME, Calif. (UPI) — Bing Crosby, 69, was released from the intensive care unit of Peninsula Hospital and Medical Center Thursday after undergoing lung surgery.

On Sunday a large abscess was removed from his left lung, and a hospital spokesman said tests on the removed tissue indicated no malignancy.

Crosby entered the hospital New Year's Eve for what was believed to be pleurisy. Later examination showed he developed the abscess while on a hunting safari in Africa.

Foundation tax returns audited

(c) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service is auditing the tax returns of the Richard Nixon Foundation, in addition to President Nixon's personal tax returns, Arthur Blech, the president's accountant, disclosed today.

The foundation, created in 1969 to finance and construct a library to house Nixon's Presidential papers, is a relatively small operation so far, according to its tax returns. Its net worth at the end of 1972, the latest year which figures are available, was $114,076.

Unlike individual returns, the tax returns of foundations are not public information. One part is kept secret by the Internal Revenue Service, but another, containing information about income and output, is available for public inspection at IRS offices.

The public portions of the tax returns of the Richard Nixon foundation raise a number of questions about its operations. The returns also appear, on their face, to contain errors and to omit a considerable amount of information required by law to be included.

No return at all was filed by the foundation in 1969, despite what revenue officials said was a clear statutory requirement that a return be filed for the first year of any organization which has been granted tax-exempt status.

Among the many other failures to report what appeared to be required information on the tax returns was the omission of any mention of the $20,000 paid by the foundation to Nixon's brother, Edward, asserly for his services in inspecting site for the library. The payments to Edward Nixon were disclosed in a separate report that the foundation was required to make to California authorities.

The tax returns for the foundation were prepared by Frank Demarco Jr. and Arthur Blech, the same lawyer and accountant, respectively, who worked on the president's personal tax returns.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 26-year-old single black man. I played pro football for a few years, have a degree in business management and a good job.

I am 6 foot 5 inches, weigh 240 pounds, and have been told I'm handsome. I neither smoke nor drink, am in excellent health, and work out in the gym three times a week. I'm a good dancer, own a late model car, and have no skeletons in my closet. I know many young ladies, but some of the married ones are too friendly, and a relationship with a married lady is not my thing, so that's out. All the single chicks I know have boy friends, and I am not the one to break up a romance, so that's out.

Pass the word

I'm clean, well-dressed, polite, and use the mouthwash people hate, but I can't seem to get a girl. Why?

WANTS COMPANIONSHIP

DEAR WANTS: You must be kidding! Pass the word to your friends. [married or single] that you are interested in meeting a nice ebick-object companionship, and you'll need the Pittsburgh Steelers to run interference for you.

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for a man to love two women at the same time? NETTIE

DEAR NETTIE: Yes, but it would be very intriguing.

DEAR ABBY: "Eggs Bank Pogo" wrote to you saying she cured her husband of using objectionable language by getting a piggy bank and making him put a quarter in it every time he used a swear word, and a dollar every time he used a really dirty word.

Seeing as how I had the same problem with my husband, I tried it. It didn't work. He got mad, used a swear word, and asked me for 75 cents change, saying he had a "dollar" word in mind but used a 25-cent word instead.

LITTLE OLD CHANGE-MAKER

CONFIDENTIAL TO ANYONE FOR WHOM IT IS NOT YET TOO LATE: Don't make the mistake so many parents [who can afford it] make—giving their children expensive gifts instead of time and thoughtful guidance. The only real security children will ever have in this life will come from whatever ability they develop to get along with each other and to make their own way, not from material things.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 387, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

There is a strong temptation to rebid three notrump with North's 4-3-3-3 distribution but North is wise enough to see that the club suit may hurt a notrump contract so North raises to four spades.

Four spades turns out to be a mighty good contract and makes easily. South worries about a possible 4-1 spade break, but since he doesn't rain into one he winds up losing one trump, the ace of hearts and one club.

Three notrump would not be a bad contract. East would open a club and the best North could do would be to collect eight tricks and wind up one trick short.

Harbor House chairman named

TWIN FALLS — Helen Henderson was named chairman of the board of directors of Harbor House Wednesday afternoon in the annual meeting in the county judicial building.

Serving with her will be E. E. Jellison, vice chairman; Betty Cline, re-elected secretary, and Corinne Stafford, treasurer.

Mrs. Henderson succeeds

Judy Watson who has served as chairman the past year.

Plans were discussed for an open house at the new building as soon as weather is agreeable and mud on the road and around the building has dried.

Maggie Sinner was named chairman of the open house program, probably in April. Committees were named to handle various details of operating the house and a vote of appreciation was given Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stone, house parents, for their outstanding efforts.

The board is seeking substitute house parents or a house parent who will be available for days off and vacation time for Mr. and Mrs. Stone. Anyone interested is asked to contact Bonnie Baird Jones.

Harbor House is also in need of recreational equipment and is hoping for assistance from a service club to build a storage cellar for products.

The next meeting will be Feb. 19 with a discussion of bylaws as to length of terms for directors and meeting dates scheduled.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock prices opened mixed in light trading Friday on the New York Stock Exchange. Minutes after the opening the Dow Jones industrial average was off 0.24 point to 871.92, but advanced on outpouring declines by a margin of about 3-1/2.

The market moved upward strongly in the previous session on the basis of the Egyptian and Israeli agreement to disengage their troops. The Dow added 16.07 points in its third consecutive gains, and advances were broadly ahead of declines.

The Middle East agreement, which is expected to be followed by further peace moves, has been considered the key to ending the Arab oil embargo.

Ambulance late, woman, baby die

ELK GROVE VILLAGE, Ill. (UPI) — Two men agonized Thursday over two spur-of-the-moment telephone calls and what might have been.

One call summoned a Fire Department ambulance to aid a dying woman and her unborn child. The other called the ambulance back moments after it started its merry run.

"My wife and child are dead," Gary Pettie said. He said "there is no bitterness in my heart," but he said Elk Grove Village fire officials made "a serious mistake... a heartless decision."

"They must live with it, he said."

"My God," Fire Chief Allen Hulet said, "why didn't he tell us his wife was dying? He didn't, and I made a decision that it was not a life or death situation."

Hulet said "that decision has ruined my life and my reputation and subjected my family to harassment in the form of hate mail, phone threats and obscenities."

Mrs. Jean Pettie, 36, eight months pregnant with her sixth child, died of a massive blood clot Jan. 6. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Alexian Brothers Medical Center, three blocks from her home, and a girl delivered by Caesarian section died a short time later.

Her husband, John, told their stories of anguish Thursday in side-by-side interview stories published by the Elk Grove Village Herald and other Peacock Publications newspapers.

Pettie, who lives in an unincorporated area whose residents have feuded with Elk Grove Village, said he knew he had a contract for $2.1 a year with the Hazelle Fire Department, stationed six miles away, to provide fire and ambulance service. But Elk Grove Village was closer. So he called Elk Grove Firemen.

"All I know for sure is that I panicked when my wife fell to the floor and she believed she was dying," he said.

"As my wife was struggling on the floor I didn't remember the years of bitterness, arguments or harassment between her and the fire and village officials. I just knew I needed their help."

"People are saying I didn't contract with nearby Elk Grove Village because of a price difference or because I'm a miser. I'd have paid anything to save my wife," he said.

'Empty Cities' showing in TF

TWIN FALLS — Pastor Robert Seaman of the Grace Baptist Church at 211 Fourth Ave. E. announced Thursday that "Empty Cities," the newest of the Moody Science films, will be shown at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

"Empty Cities" explores the jungle-covered remains of cities with such exotic names as Chichen Itza, Tikal, Machu Picchu and Palenque. It is a photographic in the beautiful tropics of Southern Mexico, Guatemala and the Peruvian Andes.

"Empty Cities" examines the amazing achievements of the Mayan and Incan cultures in such areas as medicine, mathematics, engineering, architecture and astronomy.

Observing the present day descendants of these accomplished civilizations we ask the question "Can they be accurately referred to as 'primitives' — untouched by the progress of civilization all around them? Would not 'descendants' be a more valid term?"

Seaman's objective is to show that what happened to the Mayas and Incas also

Team searches for Noah's Ark

(C) N. Y. Times Service SAN DIEGO — A Baptist research organization reported recently that it had received "unofficial approval" from the Turkish government to send an expedition up the slopes of Mount Ararat to search for ice-locked remains of Noah's Ark.

"It now appears that our team may be able to leave for Mesopotamia in June or July to conduct explorations during the midsummer melting of the glacial ice pack near the summit of the 16,916-foot mountain," said Dr. Henry Morris, president of the Institute for Creation Research here. The institute is supported by the Baptist Church.

The eight-man expedition, headed by Morris's son John, a 26-year-old engineer, hopes to find timbers and possibly structural portions of the biblical ship preserved in the ice and snow near the 14,500-foot level on the northeast side of a 60-foot long ark, as the last summer seeking sanction of the expedition. The Ankara government granted, then withdrew, a permit for the expedition.

"However," the younger Morris said in a recent report from the institute's agent in Turkey on discussions with the new regime was "extremely favorable."

Mount Ararat lies in a highly militarized zone of easternmost Turkey, between the Black Sea and the Caspian, near the borders of the Soviet Union and Iran, and foreigners are rarely permitted into the area.

Guided by the book of Genesis account of Noah's escape from the great flood, the Ararat expedition is part of the institute's program of studies designed to discredit modern scientific theories of evolution and prove that the Old Testament version of creation is historical fact.

The expedition will search for physical evidence that the patriarch Noah did in fact build a 60-foot long ark, as the animals he collected "two by two" to save them from the great deluge.

According to the Old Testament, all the world's people are descendants of Noah and his family, who, along with the animals, were the only survivors when the ark rested near the top of Mount Ararat after the flood waters receded.

In addition to obtaining proof that the ark existed, the Morris team hopes to confirm the evolutionists' view that the earth is not millions of years old, as scientists contend, but has existed no more than 10,000 years, and that the flood was a universal one that inundated the entire globe.

The "universality" of the flood has been the subject of theological debate. Morris and his son accept literally the words of Genesis 7:19 that "the waters prevailed exceedingly on the earth, and all the high mountains that were under the heavens were covered."

Murder victim's widow grieves

HOUSTON (UPI) — Deborah Cobble Elliott is sad. She has light red hair that she parts in the middle of her head, and pulls tightly behind her ears, and it bangs down her back. She is 5-foot-3 and weighs 100 pounds.

Her skin is soft and she looks as sweet as her age says she should be.

But Deborah is sad and sorry and bitter: She is the widow of one of the 27 victims of the Houston mass murders last year.

She married Charles Cobble March 12, 1972. She was 14 and he was 18. They separated last summer, and two weeks later, on July 25, Cobble vanished.

His body was dug up in a mass grave in a boat shed Aug. 9.

Thursday, Deborah sat in a courtroom behind Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, who is charged with killing her husband. Deborah goes there every day.

"It's so hard to sit here in court with Wayne only a few rows ahead of me, knowing I can't say anything to him," she said.

"I can't even ask him why."

Deborah feels no compassion for Henley.

"I blame myself for his death," she said. "If he had been separated, maybe it had been there. It wouldn't have happened."

"But what gets me down, deep in that, is that I know he was dead for two weeks. And then his body was uncovered in a paper sack."

All three groups are in great demand around the state for church programs and other special events, sponsoring officials say.

New comic strip added

TWIN FALLS — Beetle Bailey has more than 10 million readers a week in his grade as a comic strip private soldier than any other real-life military men have in the chow line.

But he's still a favorite with readers of comic strips, whether or not they are military men or civilians.

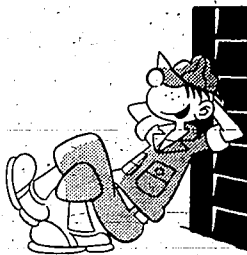

And Bailey — along with his barracks mates from Camp Swampy — will be appearing on the comic page of the Times-News beginning Sunday.

The strip, drawn by Mort Walker — a native of El Dorado, Kan. — has been appearing in newspapers throughout the United States for about two decades. Walker is an award-winning cartoonist whose byline has also appeared on several other comic panels and strips.

Bailey is the perfect example of the unwilling soldier — he was obviously a draftee during the Korean fracas — whose principal aim in his military hitch is to avoid all work possible.

Serving up laughs along with Bailey are Sgt. Gravel, Smokey, his pet dog Otto, Killer, Rocky, and Pinto, Capt. Scabbard, Lieut. Fuzz, and Gen. Amos Haltack, whose roving eye for the girls isn't hampered by being benepicked at home.

Beetle Bailey is among several new comics scheduled to appear in the Times-News.

TF officer accepts post

TWIN FALLS — The juvenile officer in the Twin Falls Police Department's detective division has resigned to accept a position with the State Police Academy.

At the same time, the Twin Falls department has made some realignment in its detective operations.

Ron Stroberg, a detective assigned mainly to juvenile cases for the past three years, resigned from the Twin Falls department about the first of the year. He accepted an administrative position with the Police Officers Standards and Training Academy in Pocatello.

According to Twin Falls Chief of Police Frank Barnett, Stroberg will oversee some aspects of funding and coordinate training procedures for the police academy. He will probably teach some courses, too, Barnett said.

Stroberg began as a patrolman with the TFPD in 1967 and was promoted to detective in 1971. Prior to joining the police department, he worked as a parts man for a local farm implement firm.

Barnett said today no arrangements had been made for Stroberg's replacement "at the present time." He said juvenile cases are being handled by all of the officers in the detective division.

In a departure from past procedures, patrolman Gene Ritchie has been promoted to the detective division and assigned to nearly full-time laboratory work.

Barnett said Ritchie's appointment marks the first time the department has assigned one man to handle the bulk of lab work. Prior to making the change, each detective did his own lab work, the chief said. He said the change was made to free detectives to work full-time on cases, including the juvenile cases handled by Stroberg.

An increased lab workload was also behind the move, Barnett said. He said individual detectives will continue to gather evidence on their cases, but the evidence will be processed by Ritchie.

All of the officers in the detective division are trained in the different phases of investigation, Barnett said. "There isn't anybody up there indispensable."

TF youth sentenced

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls youth was sentenced to 14 years in the state penitentiary Monday following a conviction for grand larceny.

Michael A. Parrott, 19, was sentenced by Fifth District Court Judge Theron W. Ward. Parrott was found guilty on the grand larceny charge by a jury on Jan. 10.

The sentence imposed by Judge Ward will run concurrently with an earlier 3-year sentence imposed following an arson conviction. The arson sentence had been suspended and Parrott placed on probation, but the probation was revoked by Judge Ward in imposing the sentence for grand larceny.

Parrott was arrested on the grand larceny charge on Nov. 6. He was accused of stealing a pickup truck belonging to a Flier couple in Nov. 4.

In court action last week, Judge Ward ordered a presentence investigation for Johnny Lee Branson, 19, Twin Falls. Branson pleaded guilty to first degree burglary on Jan. 11. He was arrested Dec. 26 and accused of burglarizing Gem State Oil Co., 1316 Highland Ave. E.

Judge Ward also set a trial Jan. 28 for Johnny Gale Potter, 30, Twin Falls. Potter had earlier pleaded innocent to a charge of "delivering" a controlled substance. He is accused of taking barbiturates to an inmate in the county jail.

Rehab group accepts 35

TWIN FALLS — Thirty-five persons were welcomed as new members of the Magic Valley Rehabilitation Services at a banquet Thursday night at the Holiday Inn.

David Church, contract specialist for the non-profit group, said the members are like stockholders in the firm and will help accomplish the goals of valuation, training and employment of the mentally retarded.

David Whitaker, Idaho Falls, president of the Idaho Association of Rehabilitation Facilities, was the speaker, substituting for Dr. James Bax, Boise, head of the Department of Environmental and Community Services, who was unable to attend.

Whitaker said he was impressed with the number of new members the firm's board of directors has interested in the work and said rehabilitation offers toward employment of the handicapped is a "continual problem."

The Magic Valley firm is one of five such non-profit facilities in Idaho working to provide training and placement for the retarded. The facilities work closely with both DECS and the state vocational-rehabilitation agency.

Jeff Crumrine, director; Bill Galley, vocational evaluator; and church all spoke briefly to orient the new members and indicate their responsibilities. The group includes both business and professional people, parents of retarded children and interested citizens.

Church said:

Jerome contract eyed

JEROME — The Jerome School board has voted to offer a contract to a Payette firm for design of a new four-year high school building.

In a special school board meeting Thursday afternoon, trustees voted unanimously to offer the architectural contract to Johnson, Prohart and Gowland. Negotiation meetings will be held with the architects prior to signing the contract.

The architects will meet Wednesday night with the school site evaluation committee to answer committee members questions on what should be considered in evaluating a site for the building and to offer an opinion on the sites that are now under study. Johnson, Prohart and Gowland have designed over 100 schools in Idaho and Oregon.

Trustees instructed Superintendent John Campbell to check into possibilities of hiring Maggi Fuhrman to instruct a special art and crafts class.

Mrs. Chyril Hymas, board member, reported she has received a communication from Miss Fuhrman regarding the special class. Campbell said the Idaho State Commission of the Arts has a program in which they match funds provided by the school district.

"Funds available from the commission could be used to pay salaries and purchase supplies. The district would have money available to bring in consultants in different arts for demonstrations," Campbell said.

He said the program would be for grades one through 12 and for special education classes and handicapped children classes planned at the Appleton School.

"Under this program the district can hire a non-certified teacher for the class. The person selected must be considered a craftsman in their field and able to earn their living from their art," Campbell said.

Reduced budget okayed

BURLEY — Southern Idaho Regional Airport Authority members have approved a reduced budget for 1974 with the total figure adopted here this week being $29,000 compared to $31,500 for 1973.

The counties will continue to contribute to the budget on the same ratio as in the past. Cassia has 33.5 per cent; Minidoka, 31.5 per cent; Jerome, 20.6 per cent; Gooding, 10.5 per cent and Latah, 4 per cent.

Authority members also voted the addition of Blaine County to the authority on grounds that area would benefit most by a large centrally located airport facility. Contact will be made with Blaine County officials to determine if an election to join the authority could be held there sometime in March.

Members also discussed the environmental impact study being made on proposed sites with the one known as Site 2, located south of the interstate highway where it joins U. S. 33 in Blaine County, but located east of Highway 33.

The study is being made by Barton, Stoddard, Millhollin and Higgins, engineering firm, Boise, and will be submitted to the Federal Aviation Agency, Seattle, on completion.

The FAA has already been advised of the selection of Site 2 by the authority and if the FAA concurs this will be designated on the master plan for the construction of a regional airport.

It was announced the new matching fund basis will be 81.65 per cent federal and 18.35 from the airport authority with industrial tax. The state aeronautics commission for about half of the local share to be provided by the state.

Estimates run to about $35,000 for preparation of the master plan with the authority having funds on hand for the local share.

Bids will be accepted for the master plan design.

Ambulance rates increase

BURLEY County contracts with Minicassia Ambulance Service were extended for three years with a $10-a-month increase in pickup charges.

The county commissioners met with Joyce Edwards, owner of the ambulance firm, Wednesday morning to discuss proposed rate hikes. When a representative of the firm told the commissioners about the planned request Monday, Weldon Beck said the county would accept a large increase.

Under the new agreement, the firm will be subsidized by the county for $400 a month. The same figure currently being paid. Pickup charges, paid by those using ambulance services, will increase to $35 from the previous $25.

The agreement with Minicassia Ambulance was set for a period of three years.

Cassia food adequate

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News Writer

BURLEY Cassia County will have enough commodities to last until June, despite earlier predictions the welfare program's food would run out in March.

According to Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS) official Tom Murdock, region eligibility director, because several area counties are changing to the food stamp program in March, Cassia County will have sufficient commodities to distribute to welfare recipients until June 1, the date set by the federal government for all counties to change to the food stamp program.

Last month Murdock had told the Cassia County commissioners that the local food storage warehouse was running low on the foodstuffs because processors and retailers were reluctant to bid on food items for federal programs because they could sell their goods at higher prices elsewhere.

Last summer, Congress passed a bill requiring all counties in the country to change to the food stamp program by June 1, 1974.

Cassia County changed from the food stamp program to the commodity program in January, 1973. The commissioners say that

Blaine budget up 26.6%

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News Writer

HAILLEY — Fast paced Blaine County growth has pushed the total proposed county budget over the $1 million mark for the first time.

The 1974 total tentative budget of $1,133,211 constitutes a 26.6 per cent increase over last year's $894,803.

The 1973 budget figures include an about $80,000 court approved increase last fall to cover unexpected expenditures.

This year's budget contains an anticipated about $132,672 in revenue sharing funds compared to about $81,230 last year. In the sheriff's department proposed budget, about $17,000 for a new co-operative patrolling program will be covered by US Forest Service funds and about $3,700 of one deputy's salary will be covered by Law Enforcement Planning Commission grant funds.

Two new budgetary categories have been added this year. A proposed $12,000 is budgeted for the new youth services worker program and $77,000 for the treasurer's office's share of construction costs on the new jail.

Commission chairman C. W. (Andy) Gardner said "excessive county growth" is creating extra work loads and burdens on county services and agencies. Two agencies — the assessor and the treasurer's offices — had requested additional personnel this year because work loads had doubled over the past three years, Gardner said.

"This year's tentative budget is designed to adequately take care of the separate offices and operations within the county and at the same time be equitable and fair with the taxpayers," Gardner said.

With the county's increased assessed valuation, no mill levy increases are anticipated.

A hearing on the proposed budget will be conducted Feb. 11. At that time, the commissioners may lower, but not increase, the budget.

Most overall increases in the tentative budget stem from salary increases. These increases include $50 a month each for the assessor, treasurer, and clerk, and $75 a month for the sheriff.

Generally, all county employees will receive a 4.5 per cent raise, with road and bridge employees receiving a 4.75 a month raise. Gardner said these increases were made to cover cost of living increases as well as to bring salary levels up to those of comparable jobs.

Proposed 1974 revenue sharing allocations include $10,000 for the Stocker Creek bridge; $13,000 for the Glendale bridge; $40,438 for the new county abut; $50,000 for interior and possible exterior renovation of the courthouse; $57,700 for the new Central Idaho Health District building remodeling project; $1,500 for parks and recreation; and $1,200 for road oil.

The 1974 proposed sheriff's budget of about $119,245 constitutes an about $28,000 increase over last year, including the $17,000 new federally funded patrolling program.

Center reopening studied

By LOUYSE SMITH
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS The Twin Falls Recycling Center has been closed because of financial difficulties.

Jaycee officials say they are seeking a way to reopen the pioneering aluminum can recycling operation.

Tom Lane, Jaycee president, said management had to close the local store to be opened by the state.

"Since the operation began almost two years ago, Jaycees have invested hundreds of hours and a great deal of their own money," he said, "but the size of the business required the group to hire two fulltime employees."

The employees were paid more than fair wages for their time, but according to Lane, they did not share the costs for the operation. "If I've got the Jaycees' and their property, my management subtracted from the potential profit or break even point."

Another big problem was that people continually brought other kinds of trash, such as concrete and steel objects along with the cans to be recycled, creating expensive repairs on the shredding equipment.

Lane said, "We have gone through five sets of members on the shredder, when we shouldn't have used more than two sets at most." Each set costs in excess of $600, he said.

He said it is impossible to open and inspect the contents of each sack when people bring large blocks of material to the recycling center.

"Although most people who utilized the center were honest and had good intentions, others did not. Many times what we paid for as aluminum in plastic or burlap bags turned out to be batteries, bottles, chamber of street items filled with concrete and broken up and many other items of debris which not only heated the center but caused costly damage to the equipment," Lane said.

He said another example of the problems is that one of the two large conveyors for which the Jaycees paid $1950 with an additional $600 in repairs is now sitting idle, an unworkable condition.

Lane said the future of the Jaycee operation will depend on the outcome of state legislation proposed by Sen. John Fraker. If that legislation would require deposit on all cans and bottles and thus the Jaycees' effort would nearly eliminate use of aluminum cans because it would not be feasible for firms to buy deposits. This would leave only reusable bottles as the only thing to recycle. The Jaycees organization statewide was instrumental in killing the Frayer bill last year.

The Jaycees do plan to man the operation again, probably using their own members. They will sort all the aluminum which is already on hand, which Lane estimates is enough for a 60-year load of 60,000 pounds or 1,600,000 cans and once the shredder is repaired they will recycle the material on hand.

However, the organization is faced with debts as well as uncertainty about the future of the project which, Lane says, is dependent upon the Frayer bill.

CSI thumps Vandals, moves to North Idaho

MOSCOW — Sophomore Ron Fryson scored 16 points in the first half on Thursday night to point the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles past the University of Idaho Jayvees 74-53.

It was the second straight road victory for the Eagles who now face a "must" situation at North Idaho of Coeur d'Alene Saturday night. Hopes for heating the regional tournament in March could ride on the outcome now that the Eagles have been limited to a split with Blacks.

CSI returns home Monday night to open a two-game stand with the Montana State Vandals.

The Eagles had some trouble with the young Vandals through the first nine minutes of the game, managing only a 17-16 lead after trailing most of the time to that point.

Fryson hit the Eagles' first eight points to keep them in. But at the 10-minute mark the Eagles took off. Tom Barker, Fryson and Bob Durham collected CSI points for a seven-point bulge and it stayed like that through four field goal exchanges.

Fryson started another binge. Ron Trotter followed with a field goal and Fryson and Barker then came up with the free-point plays. Trotter, Dagger and Barker wound up the flurry that moved CSI ahead by 21 points.

Throughout the second half Coach Jerry Hale used a lot of men in an effort to keep his first-timers rested for the Saturday night battle.

A LITTLE EAGER for Saturday night's amateur boxing card, ex-moor square off against a protesting Bud Godby. Moore and five of his fighters will participate in the 18-man boxing card Saturday night at the Gooding High School gymnasium.

Idaho survives late Santa Barbara rally

MOSCOW (UPI) — Idaho took over the lead late in the first half but had a last minute scare before downing UC Santa Barbara 49-26 in a non-conference game Thursday night.

The Gauchos scored the final six points of the game as they battled to come back, but they ran out with Idaho turning on a stall.

The Vandals were led by forward Art Blackwell's 21 points, and Steve West had 20. Santa Barbara is now 7-6 on the year.

the floor to only 41 per cent for Santa Barbara.

Clarence Allen led the comeback in the second half. He topped all scorers with 23 points. But the next high man for the Gauchos was Steve Becker with 12 points.

Idaho grabbed the lead for good, 29-27, on a jumper by Fitzpatrick. He finished with 14 for the Vandals.

The win upped Idaho's season record to 6-5. Santa Barbara is now 7-6 on the year.

Japanese team signs Howard

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Big Frank Howard, who hit 382 home runs during his 14-year major league career, today signed a one-year contract with the Tokyo Lions of the Japanese Baseball League.

Terms were not revealed.

The 6-8, 275-pound Howard, 47, drew his release from the Detroit Tigers at the conclusion of the 1973 season after hitting 12 homers, driving in 29 runs and batting .256.

"I am serious about playing in Japan," Howard said after signing the Taiheyo contract. "I am not going there on a lark. I don't want to be one of those one-year ballplayers in Japan."

Marty Kuehnert, an executive with the Taiheyo club, said Howard more than likely will play first base next season. "However, don't forget that most of the Japanese parks—hey, small-outfield areas," Kuehnert added. "Howard probably could play the outfield if necessary."

With Taiheyo, Howard will join another American player, Don Buford, who played several seasons with the Baltimore Orioles.

Howard, a former Ohio State University basketball star, was signed originally by the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1958 for a reported $400,000 bonus.

Howard was high man on the floor with 22 points, and Medley added 17 before he fouled out.

The Aggies fired 50 per cent from the floor to take their eighth win in 14 games. Utah hit a poor 38 per cent from the floor and managed only 23 of 37 free throws.

The loss dropped Utah's record to 10-4. They have not lost at home but remained winless on the road.

Torrid Broncos top Puget Sound 75-67

BOISE (UPI) — Boise State shot a stinging 63 per cent from the field to take a non-conference win 76-67 from the University of Puget Sound Thursday night.

The Broncos were paced by the 22 point effort of senior guard Clyde Diekey and 20 points from team mate George Wilson.

The Broncos took an early lead in the first half but saw that taken away from them by the inside work of the Loggers Sam May and Rick Brown.

UPS had a 33-27 halftime lead but the Broncos jumped back on top 37-33 on two straight buckets by George Wilson and two free throws by freshman Terry Miller.

The Loggers Fred Cain knotted the score at 37-37 on a driving lay-in with 13:30 remaining in the ballgame and that was as close as they came. The Broncos retook the lead on a Jim Keyes lay-in 10 seconds later and won going away.

The Loggers shot 49 per cent from the field.

Utags drop Utah in intrastate battle

LOGAN, Utah (UPI) — Utah State overcame the loss of four players on fouls and three technical fouls to edge Utah 84-79 Thursday night in a battle-royal between the instate rivals.

Three Utes also left the game with five personal and a fourth technical was called on Utah coach Bill Foster, as the officials whistled 63 infractions.

USU led by 14 points in the game but had to battle with reserves to stay ahead as Utah came back to trail 73-72 for four minutes to go. But the Aggies rattled off the next seven points to put the game away and hand the Utes their fourth road loss of the year.

The loss of center Mike Sojourner three minutes into the second half nearly killed the Utes. But as the parade to the bench began for the Aggies, Utah moved back into contention.

Jim Bontwicht was high for the Aggies with 16 points before fouling out with 8:13 to go. Rich Haws added 14 points, and Jimmy Moore had 12 when he left the contest with 5:26 left. Blair Reed and Mark Tenhove both had 11. Tenhove was the first Ute to leave the game with five fouls.

Utah State led by 42-28 late in the first half, and 44-32 at the break before the Utes came back on the scoring of guards Tony Burden and Ty Medley. Burden was high man on the floor with 22 points, and Medley added 17 before he fouled out.

The Aggies fired 50 per cent from the floor to take their eighth win in 14 games. Utah hit a poor 38 per cent from the floor and managed only 23 of 37 free throws.

The loss dropped Utah's record to 10-4. They have not lost at home but remained winless on the road.

Boxers from seven states to clash in Gooding ring card

GOODING — Boxers from seven states will participate in an 18-bout amateur boxing card at Gooding High School Saturday night, marking the high water mark for Bud Godby's long endeavor to re-establish the sport in Southern Idaho.

Archie Moore, owner of the world's professional ring knockout record and former light heavyweight champion, adds prestige to this program, which is expected to draw about 3,000 fans. In addition, Moore brings five fighters from his Any Boy Can program in California to participate on the bill.

Godby said, "Thursday advance ticket sales had been brisk but expected a fairly good number of tickets to be available at the gymnasium door. He noted by putting chairs on the gymnasium floor of the capacity of the gymnasium can be raised to over 3,000.

Although Godby believes all the bouts will be close, four bouts are featured.

At 175 pounds, Earl Shields, Twin Falls, former Intermountain AAU champion, will meet Tyrone Starck, San Diego, who has won 23 of 37 fights and pooled 27 knockouts. Shields also is rated a strong puncher, giving this match some KO overtones.

Jerry Keene, 156-pounder from Buxton, comes up in the junior Olympics, will go against 152-pound Wayne Beale, who has won 18 and lost six in his Southern California career.

Former Intermountain middleweight king Bill Muniz of Burley will meet Tom Brooks of San Francisco who has a 25-4 mark.

The local favorite, Dyrek Godby, a 15-year-old, who already holds the Western U.S. junior Golden Gloves championship at 138 pounds, will go against Dean Baker, 140 pound San Diego product, who is 17 and has won 27 of 30 fights.

Buhl beats Jerome for SCIC mat crown

JEROME — The Buhl Indians grabbed the South Central Idaho Conference wrestling championship Thursday night by defeating the Jerome Tigers 27-24 in a dual meet.

Buhl took a big lead by winning five straight matches after 101 points. But the Tigers battled back in the upper weights and it all boiled down to the heavyweight match between the two undefeated clubs.

Murray Meier pinned Crozier in the foot-stomping final to decide it.

Buhl also won the Jayvee match 35-15.

Results of the matches, Jerome men listed first, include 101, Callen detsanded Woll; 108, Van Hooser detsanded by Fultz; 115, Graves detsanded by Douglas; 122, Weigle detsanded by Yturbe; 125, Hart detsanded by Hopkins; 135, Thomason pinned by Barett; 141, Brad Derrl pinned Waldon; 148, Larson detsanded by Parton; 158, T. Gillman stays as Oiler coach

HOUSTON (UPI) — General manager Sid Gillman, acting at the request of his players and anxious to provide stability, Thursday said he had reluctantly decided to remain coach of the Houston Oilers for the 1974 season.

Gillman said he hoped his replacement could rank as the Oiler coaching ranks.

"If you try to guess who you'll be wrong," Gillman said, "I haven't designated anybody."

Burnie Minter, defensive backfield coach; Bruce Beatty, defensive line coach, have resigned to seek other positions; Gillman said.

Gillman fired Bill Peterson last Oct. 15 because of his overall 1-18 record and assumed the post while scouting for a permanent replacement.

Walton-less UCLA belts Iowa 68-44

CHICAGO (UPI) — Top ranked UCLA, playing without All-American center Bill Walton, used tremendous rebounding strength Thursday night to coast to its 83th straight victory, 13 this year, with a 68-44 triumph over Iowa.

Oral Roberts outscored Loyola of Chicago 18-3 in the final 4:40 for a 105-90 victory in the opener of the Chicago Stadium doubleheader, which drew 12,680 fans.

UCLA, starting 7-foot-1 sophomore Ralph Drollinger at center in place of Walton, never trailed Iowa, which lost for the eighth time in 12 games UCLA held a 33-23 lead at the half.

The Bruins controlled both halves and Iowa rarely had a shot as UCLA wound up with 54 rebounds—30 of them in the first half. Iowa had 23 rebounds; 13 in the first half. UCLA Coach John Wooden used 10 players and eight of them scored with starter Keith Wilkes and Drollinger sharing scoring honors with 12 points each.

Iowa's Candy LaTrince was the game-high scorer with 18 points.

UCLA's pressing defense and 2-1-1 zone kept Iowa outside and the Hawkeyes couldn't shoot accurately enough to break the Bruins' zone. Most of the UCLA baskets came on tip-ins and layups as they frequently got three or four straight shots on rebounds.
