WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon asked Congress Monday for $13.6 billion in veterans benefits during the next fiscal year, including increases in GI bill payments and higher pensions to offset the climbing cost of living.

But he asked for an 8 percent increase in schooling benefits and for cost of living adjustments to VA pension payments which now go to 1 million veterans and 3 million survivors of veterans.

The President also claimed to have reduced unemployment among Vietnam War veterans through cooperation with the business community from a high of 11 percent in 1971 to 4.4 percent by the end of last year.

Under Nixon's proposal, that would be increased 8 percent, or $17.60 per month. Although educational benefits for individual veterans will increase by 8 percent, it was estimated that cost will decrease from $12 billion in the current year to $2.6 billion next year because of a 200,000 decrease in the number of veterans enrolled in educational programs.

Nixon also asked for an overhaul of the pension program to provide more money to poorer pensioners. He said some veterans now receive less total income than some welfare recipients.

Russians test new missile

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Union tested a new intercontinental missile with multiple warheads for the first time Friday and Saturday, a Pentagon spokesman said today.

The missile, the SSX-19, is one of the four new ICBMs with an advanced "MIRV" capability for sending warheads to independent targets. The new Soviet missiles have caused the Pentagon a certain amount of concern over the last several months.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said the missile was tested twice Friday and Saturday over a range of 4,500 miles from a Soviet test station to an area about 850 miles northwest of Midway Island in the mid-Pacific.

Steady oil prices due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government will move this week to end the price fluctuation in home heating oil that has caused some homeowners to pay 50 percent more than their neighbors, energy chief William E. Simon said today.

Simon also told the Senate subcommittee on Intergovernmental Relations that the home heating oil crisis has been manageable so far but that the crunch is far from over.

TF road plan ordered

TWIN FALLS — J-U-B Engineers, Inc., Twin Falls, has been commissioned to develop a transportation plan for the Twin Falls City area, including a proposed "belt route" around the city.

The engineering firm proposed studies of the following transportation elements:

Twin Falls city and county and the Twin Falls Highway District have agreed to pay $9,200 for the study. They will contribute $3,067 each. County Commissioner Merl Leonard, chairman of the Twin Falls Transportation Planning Committee, said today the completed study will be submitted to the State Highway Department for approval.

A belt route "concept" for the area surrounding Twin Falls City was presented in a public hearing last July. Joseph Haynes, a J-U-B engineer, outlined plans for a one-half-mile-wide corridor surrounding the city with the "idea" of a four-lane expressway along the route in the future.

New land could enrich farmers, area

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — Two giant reclamation projects planned in western Twin Falls county could have a huge impact on the Magic Valley economy.

The prices assumed by the developers are significantly lower than current prices. The feasibility study assumed—potato prices at $3 per hundredweight; dry beans at $11 per hundredweight; alfalfa hay at $40 per ton; wheat at $3.50 and barley at $1.80, and sugar beets at $16.

From there an underground pipe network would feed the project's sprinklers.

The economic impact of this money as it is circulated through the local economy would be from two to seven times as great, according to estimates of various economic analysts.

The two projects, Tuana and Canyon View, would occupy 47 square miles of desert land west of Salmon Falls Creek between Glenns Ferry, Buhl and Castledorf. A total of at least 27,600 acres would be farmed.

It shows that irrigation labor costs would be light, ranging from $10 per acre for sugar beets to $6 per acre for beans.

The Tuana group proposes to pay Twin Falls Canal Co. to convey 33,000 acre feet of Milner Dam spillover water to near the east side of the Salmon Falls Canyon.

Camas doctor dies

Fairfield's Dr. Kerns dies at 67

FAIRFIELD — Dr. Marion J. Kerns, 67, who served a generation and more of Camas Prairie residents, died Sunday morning at a Boise hospital.

Dr. Kerns was one of a vanishing breed, a country doctor whom residents could depend on to come when called — "no matter what or when." Kerns, also a registered pharmacist, and his wife Gladys, a registered nurse, took care of Camas Prairie medical needs from 1941 until ill health forced him to retire about two years ago.

It was a "good life" for Kerns, who was an avid fisherman and hunter. Between delivering most of the Camas Prairie residents who are now between the ages of 15 and 35, Kerns also had time to be one of the biggest boosters of Fairfield youth, attending almost every football game played, according to one Fairfield resident.

The Kerns' stay in Fairfield began after the death of Idaho State University's pharmacy school, told the couple about the position, they liked the looks of the area and decided to stay. The doctor's offices were back of the pharmacy the couple opened in 1940. With no specialists or laboratories to "back him up," Kerns was responsible for everything — operations, babies, blood tests. Kerns had also served as the Camas County coroner.

Practice 10 years ago, Kerns sealed down his practice — still taking care of minor illnesses from Hainley on Tuesdays and Fridays, calling on two Hainley doctors if a serious problem arises. With no in-town physician or nurse, residents often call on Mrs. Kerns when an emergency arises.

Kerns is survived by his wife, two daughters: Suzie Kerns, Boise, and Kathleen Lee, Fairfield; and a son, Jim Kerns, Boise. Funeral services will be announced through Thompson Chappel, Gooding.

No DES ban appeal due; FDA may ask new airing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said today it will not appeal a court decision overturning its ban on DES, a cattle growth stimulant that is suspected of being a cancer cause.

DES was banned in April, 1973, from injection in cattle and has been outlawed from use in cattle feed since August, 1972. The cattle industry had complained the shutoff had resulted in animals that weigh less, citing the ban as a factor in beef shortages.

Question . . .

Why is a casket required for cremation?

Answer . . .

Propriety and good taste have always required that the body of a deceased person be given the same respect after death that was accorded in life. Religious groups have evolved their funeral and burial customs from those used in the biblical days and as a result the treatment of a deceased person follows established religious customs.

The Boise District of the Bureau of Land Management has received ownership claims for 15 horses running on national resource lands (formerly public lands) in Idaho. The horses, seven horses are located in the vicinity of Juniper Mountain, 50 miles south of Grandvalley, Idaho and eight horses are located in the Gramere area approximately 100 miles south of Idaho Falls, Idaho.

The purpose of the claiming program is to provide owners of unlicensed horses or burros the opportunity to recover their animals and to insure protection of wild horses and burros inhabiting non-ferrous resource lands.

Based on the evidence submitted, such as detailed descriptions of the horses and in most cases registered brands, it appears that the claims are valid and that permission to gather the horses should be granted. Gathering operations would be conducted in a humane manner with representatives of the Bureau of Land Management and State Brand Inspector's Office present to insure compliance with FWS (Wild Horse and Burro Act) and the State Brand and Estray Laws.

However, before further action is taken, the Bureau of Land Management is inviting public comment on the claims and suggestions on gathering methods to be used. Comments and suggestions should be submitted by February 10, 1974 to the District Manager, 230 Collins Rd., Boise, Idaho (Ph. 342-2711, Ext. 2582). The names of the claimants, and all evidence submitted in support of the claims is available for public review at the above address.

If you are a smoker, then of course Pocatello Rep. Wayne Loveless' proposal to ban smoking in some public places is unconstitutional... BUT IF YOU are a non-smoker, or perhaps an ex-smoker, being forced into meeting rooms, cars, closed buses and other confined places with two-legged Vesuvii is real punishment.

Self-interest draws US eyes to Britain

Hammond, Ind., Times

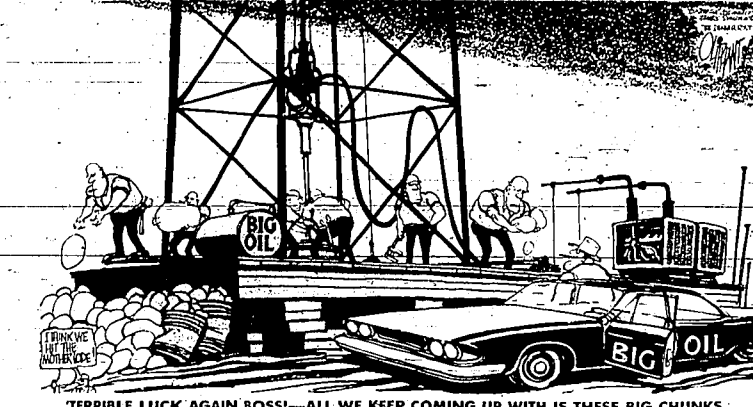

Americans staggered by inflated prices, short supplies, the energy crisis and unresolved questions of high-level political smoking are prone to shake their heads woefully and speculate on the nation's ability to survive... But the situation could be worse. Ask any Briton.

WASHINGTON — For the first time since the President's troubles began two years ago, Richard Nixon's remaining friends find themselves face to face with the monstrous idea... It is a possibility that no longer can be evaded — the monstrous idea that their President is indeed a crook.

monstrous idea. The tape in question was evidence. It contained a conversation between the President and H. R. Haldeman on June 20, 1972, just two days after the break-in at Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate.

Watergate conspirators may have been a high crime — it involved subornation of perjury, among other things — but I find it believable that the cover-up was kept from Nixon himself.

destroyed by one of perhaps a dozen persons who had access to the tapes in the critical period... It can be proved that this tampering was done at the direction of the President, express or implied, Nixon is done for.

Democrats' unity flimsy fabric

WASHINGTON — Democratic national chairman Robert S. Strauss paid a secret visit to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Capitol Hill Tuesday to patch up a misunderstanding that has exposed a chasm of problems seething beneath the flimsy lid of party unity.

tragedy made it "problematical for Sen. Kennedy to run in the wake of Watergate," and asked Strauss: "Would you care to comment on it?" Strauss should have ducked. Instead, he gave his reply (quoted here in full): "I think that's a concern and I think it's going to be written and talked about more and more. I primarily think mind, so it's silly for me to try to speculate about him... But the account distributed by the Associated Press gave a far different impression. Strauss was quoted as calling Kennedy "questionable as a candidate" for president and contending there is "a valid concern" about his candidacy.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR. It is the impact of television journalism, and there isn't anyone in the United States who denies its importance, primarily in establishing a public mood.

How far should she go?

WASHINGTON — The Rose Mary Woods tape incident has raised a moral issue — how far should a secretary go to protect her boss? I posed this question to my secretary, Ellie Coby, the other day. "Ellie," I asked her, "would you lie for me to keep me out of jail?"

"If you couldn't erase it with your foot, yes." "Wouldn't that produce a hum?" she wanted to know. "Possibly," I said. "But we could explain away the hum by pointing out that you had your electric typewriter and a lamp on at the same time."

But top-level Democrats talk in private every day about Kennedy's political debts, including Chappaquiddick. It is now clearer than ever these debts cannot be alluded to in public, even indirectly, by a party leader.

But in the last analysis you need to count on the viewer's knowledge of some of the basic actions of economics, about supply and demand, and resource allocation, and the function of price rises.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Both houses of Congress plan on taking final action this week on a bill giving President Nixon emergency powers to deal with the fuel shortage, possibly before the Chief Executive delivers an energy-oriented State of the Union address Wednesday.

Five-thousand miles away, the 50th state today became the first to impose mandatory gasoline rationing, and halfway around the globe, diplomatic talks in Tokyo produced first a hint of an oil price cut by Saudi Arabia and then a warning against joint action by Western Europe, Japan and the United States against oil-producing nations.

In addition to final action on the energy bill scheduled Tuesday by the Senate and Wednesday by the House, a Senate subcommittee on multinational corporations and national firms opens hearings Wednesday on the history of the oil industry's dealings with foreign countries.

In testimony last October before the Senate foreign relations subcommittee on multinational corporations and made public only Saturday, a former State Department official said the Nixon administration secretly gave U.S. oil firms "broad" anti-trust exemptions starting in 1970.

The purpose, according to James Akins, now ambassador to Saudi Arabia, was to help the companies form a solid front against expected nationalization of their operations by Arab countries. He said the agreement was basically written by the oil companies.

The emergency energy bill came out of a House-Senate conference committee late last month but was left hanging in the windfall profits tax controversy Dec. 22 when the first session of Congress adjourned.

The bill contains provisions giving Nixon power to impose gasoline rationing and would set a tax of up to 85 per cent on oil companies' crude oil sales receipts above a ceiling set by the Cost of Living Council. It was the most disputed section of the measure.

"I think there probably is evidence of a punitive mood" in Congress, said American Petroleum Institute head Frank Ward in an interview with UPI Saturday he said. "You see all these charges and counter-charges made in a very shrill voice, and not getting to the real basic question," he said.

Richard Sunday on NBC's Meet the Press that the biggest mistake the oil industry made was failure "to project for the demand, which has been absolutely unbelievable during the past few years."

He said it was unfortunate that Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., had repeated charges "simply not true," that oil companies were disloyal by cutting off the U.S. military from oil before the Arab embargo became fully effective.

"It is a real unfortunate thing to imply that these people were in some way disloyal," he said.

On Jigger's profits last year, Ward said "oil companies have not been performing as well as almost any other segment of the economy...The Washington Post and New York Times had a 'percentage' of growth that outperformed the oil industry."

Jackson Sunday predicted gasoline rationing "may well be a reality" by June and called for "federal licensing of oil companies. He appeared on CBS' Face the Nation.

The Hawaii rationing plan starting today is similar to Oregon's voluntary system under which motorists with license tags ending in even numbers can buy gas on even-numbered days, turning the pumps over to motorists with odd numbers the other days.

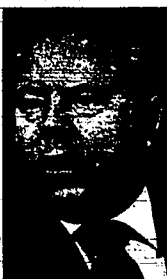

In addition, motorists must have no more than one-quarter of a tankful of gas before they attempt to buy more.

In Tokyo, Saudi Arabian Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani today warned Japan and European countries not to join the United States in a confrontation against oil producing nations.

Commenting on the meeting of oil consumer nations called Feb. 11 in Washington by the Nixon Administration, he said:

"If the idea is to unite them for a confrontation, it will be a serious matter for both consumer and producer nations. It will be an especially serious matter for Japan, which depends almost 100 per cent on imported oil."

"We have no objection to dialogue," Yamani said. "But if they (America) are having this conference for political reasons hillee —to have a confrontation—we won't cooperate."

Give opinion

HOUSE-MINORITY-LEADER John Rhodes, claiming that "the sword cuts both ways," said Sunday that Republicans who have said the President can never be impeached should not vote on the question if it comes to the House floor. Rhodes was a guest on the television show, "Issues and Answers" (UPI)

Fuel price cut promised

By United Press International

The architect of the Arab "oil weapon" promised today eventual cuts in fuel prices, but petroleum sources saw no end in sight to the boycott of shipments to the United States.

Saudi Arabian Oil Minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani said today in Tokyo, his country favored reductions in recent oil prices hikes in view of their adverse impact on the world economy.

Yamani, the man most responsible for designing the Arab oil cutbacks and boycotts imposed during last October's Middle East War, said, however, the price drops would not take place immediately.

In Beirut, diplomatic sources predicted Arab oil producers—with Saudi Arabia taking the lead—would turn down an appeal by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat for lifting the fuel embargo of the United States.

Sadat recently called for a "gesture" by the Arab oil states because of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's efforts in working out the Israeli-Egyptian troop pullback accord.

At the same time, a group of Arab and non-Arab oil specialists from producing countries met in Vienna today to stabilize steeply rising oil prices and prevent economic chaos for buyers and sellers of petroleum.

Sources said the first task of Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) would be to establish future prices. The current levels were frozen until the end of March.

Yamani said any decision to slash the prices—which have tripled in recent months—would be initiated by Saudi Arabia and its Per Gulf oil-producing neighbors —Iran, Iraq, Kuwait, Abu Dhabi, and Qatar.

"We try always to do these things as members of a group," he said. "As to future price levels, it would be premature to talk about it."

He made a similar announcement of possible reductions Sunday, saying the cuts were being studied by Saudi Arabia, America's major Arab oil supplier.

"King Faisal is deeply worried about the oil problems and is currently studying necessary steps to carry out the price cut," Yamani said.

Arab diplomatic sources in Beirut said Arab oil ministers meeting in Tripoli, Libya, Feb. 14, would turn down appeals to lift their boycott of the United States.

The sources said, however, the Arab oil states would consider raising production and deliveries to the rest of the world—a move likely to ease fuel shortages in the United States.

Earl Warren hospitalized

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Earl Warren, former chief justice and California governor, was in satisfactory condition today after being hospitalized for what was described as tests and observations for an undisclosed illness.

Warren, 82, was admitted to the Daniel Freeman Hospital Saturday and had to cancel a guest appearance at Long Beach State University that night.

Warren, who retired from the Supreme Court in 1969, was a chief justice for 16 years.

He was appointed to the bench after serving as a California governor, attorney general and county prosecutor. He was also a Republican vice presidential nominee in 1948.

Aide against meet

TOKYO (UPI)—Saudi Arabian Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani warned Japan and European countries today not to join the Feb. 11 Washington meeting proposed by President Nixon if they were seeking a confrontation with the oil producing nations.

He said the interests of Japan, France, Britain and Germany were best served by bilateral deals, in which they help backward, oil-rich countries to industrialize, in return for assured supplies of petroleum.

"If the idea is to unite them for a confrontation, it will be a serious matter for both consumer and producer nations," Yamani told a news conference at the Japan Press Club. "It will be an especially serious matter for Japan, which depends almost 100 per cent on imported oil."

The first Japanese comment came from Kiichi Miyazawa, a former minister of international trade and industry, and an influential Conservative party member of the lower-house of the Diet. He said Yamani's statement is "a headache" for Japan.

"Actually, the statements made by Mr. Yamani today concerning this conference are a great headache to Japan," Miyazawa said.

Prime Minister Tanaka has said that Japan will join the meeting but he has stressed that the oil producing countries approve this move. Actually, the Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries' overall opinion is against the meeting.

Disarmament stressed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington said Sunday the United States should press for "disarmament, not arms control" at the second stage of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT).

"We have forces that we do really need to maintain at that level only because of the Russian level. What's wrong with both of them coming down and saving these billions? This would be a real test of their sincerity and of their alleged interest in world peace."

"I want the whole world to know that we want disarmament, not arms control, disarmament at new and lower levels of equivalency," Jackson was interviewed on CBS television: "Face the Nation."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William Simon may be appointed treasury secretary and stay on as head of the Federal Energy Office, according to administration sources.

The sources said President Nixon has considered allowing Simon, to hold both posts, because the energy chief feels it would "only confuse the nation if it is given a new energy czar just as the Federal Energy Office is getting off the ground." Simon replaced John Love late last year.

Viet warships surround isles

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese warships have surrounded the "Parrot Islands," which were lost to China last week during a sporadic battle, but there were no reports of further clashes with the Chinese, military sources said today.

The sources said the Saigon military command had ordered a substantial number of the country's naval forces to steam to the archipelago lost to China after days of fighting more than a week ago.

Both China and South Vietnam claim the archipelago.

although it is located more than 200 miles away from each country of the South China Sea.

The islands were lost in a battle Jan. 19 and 20 left either killed or captured about 200 South Vietnamese soldiers stationed in the islands and sailors who came to their rescue.

One South Vietnamese patrol ship was sunk with more than 80 men aboard and three others were seriously damaged. China had 14 ships involved in the battle.

One of the damaged ships, the Tran Khanh Du, will be brought to Saigon Tuesday for public exhibition, the command said.

Aid revamp asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although riddled with over-payments, errors and frauds, the nation's welfare system should be improved and not scrapped for a guaranteed annual income for needy families, according to U.S. Welfare Commissioner Robert B. Carleton, who as California Welfare Director purged state welfare rolls of 265,000 persons, opposes anything connected with a guaranteed annual income for the needy if it would not require recipients to work and tended to keep them on government handouts.

"I think that most Americans believe that we should help people who are in need to the extent that they are in need and for as long as they are in need," he said. "But we should expect them to do what they can to help themselves to become self-supporting and to become independent of the welfare system."

Death trial delay asked

HOUSTON (UPI) — Defense attorneys Sunday said they will ask for a half-year delay in the trial of Elmer Wayne Henley, a high school dropout charged with six of 27 sex-torture murders of young boys.

If he fails to win the delay, attorney Will Gray said he will seek a change of venue.

District Judge William M. Hatten is expected to rule this week on the admissibility of Henley's statements.

Skylab's cameras snapping

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Skylab 3 astronauts, every man working overtime going into the final two weeks of their flight, made the longest single earth photography pass of any of the space station crews Sunday.

The sources also said the South Vietnamese air force moved many of its supersonic jets north to Da Nang air base west of the Parrot Islands for a quick intervention in case fighting is renewed.

The sources did not say how many warships or planes were involved in the battle.

On the battlefield, the Saigon high command reported Communist war casualties soared today as the country entered its second year of a so-called cease-fire.

The command said 143 Communists were killed during the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today. Government losses were set at 15 killed and 24 wounded in the same period.

Vet job lack rapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., said today that unemployment among Vietnam-era veterans was "a national disgrace" and they were being short-changed in GI educational benefits.

"They hear rhetoric about a 'grateful nation,' but they seek in vain for jobs," he said. "The unemployment level among Vietnam-era veterans—about 10 per cent—is nothing short of a national disgrace."

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The other night, after a fairly calm evening with friends, my husband offered me to one of his friends. You can't imagine how much this hurt me. I did the only thing I could think of doing. I refused in no uncertain terms, even tho he tried his best to talk me into it. My husband and I finally went to bed, and made love before going to sleep. I love my husband, but I doubt that he really loves me. He has tried to get-me to go-to bed with his friends before, and every time I've told him no, and not to ask me again, but he keeps on trying.

She's no sex object

I have told my husband that if I want sex outside of my marriage, I will do the choosing, but so far I am satisfied with him alone. I get depressed every time I think about my husband's wanting to pass me around to his friends, and lately I've been taking it out on our 2-year-old son. I am open for suggestions.

DEAR NOT: My suggestion would be leave him, and look for a man who would respect his marriage vows as you respect yours. But first I would give him an opportunity to get his head together. If he refuses counseling, then leave him—unless you want to continue to live with a man who regards his wife as his personal property—and a sex object to pass around to his friends.

DEAR ABBY: I am "one woman who is against" women's lib because it advocates free love for women as well as for men. Maybe I'm peculiar, but I don't want any free love before marriage. What I do want is a man whose moral standards are just as high as mine.

DEAR ABBY: If you've reached 20, and are still holding, hooray for you! Women's libbers are pushing for the same privileges for women as men. That doesn't necessarily mean they advocate promiscuity for everybody, they simply want one standard for both sexes, which is what you want, do?

DEAR ABBY: The barking dog problem can be solved, and very easily. Our neighbors simply would not believe that their dog, which they kept outside on a chain day and night, barked and howled constantly when they were not home. Our patience grew thin, especially on Sundays when they drove off somewhere for the entire day. One Sunday we put our tape recorder—out under our bedroom window, and made a two-hour recording of the canine concert. When they returned after their Sunday jaunt we hid the recorder in our bushes, locked our patio gates, turned up the volume, and went to the movies. In two days the dog had disappeared.

DEAR TRANQUIL: This may not have helped your friendship with those neighbors, but it certainly did improve the neighborhood.

Minidoka school reopens today

RUPERT — Minidoka County High School is open today.

Water contamination, which forced the school to close Friday was cleaned up Saturday, according to school officials.

Rupert city water crews installed a city owned chlorinator Saturday to purify the water supplied by the school's well.

The well was found to be contaminated Thursday in tests made by the Department of Environmental Services.

today in brief

Ada approves plant

BOISE (UPI) — The Ada County Planning and Zoning Commission has approved an animal rendering plant for the county.

The plant will be operated by Beatrice Food Co., which has also conducted rendering operations in Nampa.

According to Commission Chairman Ed Siebe, the firm moved from Nampa because of pressure from residents who objected to the odor from the operation.

Hearings urged

BOISE (UPI) — An Idaho veterans auxiliary group has asked that hearings continue into the fate of Americans missing in action.

The women's branch of the Idaho American Legion, the American Legion Auxiliary, approved the resolution to be sent to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The resolution asks that "Congress use every means at its disposal to make sure that all men listed as missing in action be fully accounted for."

Volunteers assigned

BOISE (UPI) — Action volunteers working on projects in Idaho have been assigned to eight counties to aid flood relief efforts of the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration in Idaho.

Marjorie Lynch, Action's associate director for domestic operations, said the volunteers have been drawn primarily from the Vista program. She said they will be working as disaster center managers, counselors, and interviewers.

The federal volunteer agency workers have been trained in disaster relief by Action and the FEAA.

Rate hike sought

BOISE (UPI) — The Capital Securities Water Corp. has applied to the Idaho Public Utilities Commission for authority to increase charges by $1 to residential customers for water service in Ada County.

The water company proposed an increase in flat rates to residential customers to $6 from $5 per month. It would increase its residential sprinkling rate to $15 from $3 per month and its commercial metered rate by 30 per cent annually.

The commission scheduled a hearing on the application at 9 a.m. Feb. 22 in the commission conference room in Boise.

Convicts still free

EAGLE, Idaho (UPI) — Two convicts from Idaho State Penitentiary remained at large today after walking away from the Eagle Island prison farm Sunday.

Law enforcement officers identified the pair as Robert Michael Wilcox, 19, who was being held for grand larceny, and Lloyd Elroy Broncheau, about 20, who was serving time for burglary.

Accident kills 3

NYSSA, Ore. (UPI) — A man, woman and six-month old child died Sunday when the car they were riding in struck a utility pole two miles north of Nyssa.

The victims were identified as Joe Luis Berries Gallegos, 22; Mary Canas, 18 and Irene Elizabeth Coates, six months. They all lived in Ontario.

Oregon State Police said Gallegos was driving the car when it left the road and struck the post.

Suit filed

BOISE (UPI) — The M&F Packing Co., Inc., and Ray Valdez Rodriguez have filed suit for more than $1 million damages as a result of a company truck, disabled by one accident, being hit by two loaded grain trucks.

The action filed in Fourth District Court names Keith Skaur, Alton J. Skaur and Gary W. Rainey defendants.

Rodriguez was driving the semi-truck for M & F when it was disabled by a collision with a pickup truck.

TF man charged

TWIN FALLS — Ronald Kowitz, 20, Twin Falls, was charged with leaving the scene of an accident after being arrested this morning at his home.

He was arraigned in Magistrate Court and fined $300 and costs and given a ten day jail sentence. City police charged him with damaging a vehicle parked in the 300 block of Buchanan Street during the night.

Officers said the automobile was demolished and it appeared the vehicle had spun around in the street and driven onto the top of the parked automobile.

TF theft probed

TWIN FALLS — City police in Twin Falls are investigating the theft of a small safe from Smith's Pancake Restaurant on Addison Avenue West.

Detective captain Tim Qualls said someone entered the building between 5:30 p.m. Sunday and 6:30 a.m. today and chipped the small safe from the concrete platform in which it had been set.

He said the safe contained about $1,400 in cash. The safe was about 18 inches in diameter and about 14 inches high, he added. Qualls said there was no indication of a forced entry having been made in the building.

Employees of the restaurant discovered the missing safe when they reported for work today. The establishment closed about 3:30 p.m. Sunday but workers were in the building until about 5:30 p.m., employees told police.

Burglaries investigated

TWIN FALLS — A home burglary and an automobile burglary were being investigated today by Twin Falls city police.

William McPherson, Pioneer Trailer Court, told officers someone broke into his mobile home and removed about $225 in guns and jewelry from the home. He reported the theft Sunday.

Linda Shriver, Twin Falls, said her purse was taken from her parked automobile Saturday night in the Ailey Club's parking lot. She estimated the loss at $110 including about $78 in bills.

Women's role detailed at Burley meet

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News Writer

BURLEY — More than 30 women and one man spent five hours in Burley Saturday evening speaking, explaining the position of women in society, their legal rights and methods of organizing to expand and insure those rights.

Dr. David Austen, Cassia County health officer, told those attending the women's workshop, "because of the way we function, we tend to see differences more than likenesses. Men and women are much more alike than different."

"Physical needs for men and women are really about the same," he said, "though in a socially defined way their emotional needs are different. Boys are given less love as they are growing up which makes them tough, he said, while girls are given more love and made to feel more fragile."

Previously, women were without the right to vote, could not make contracts, depended upon the man they married for status and were taught to remain chaste and aloof, leaving them weaker politically, economically, socially and sexually, he said.

Currently, a major reversal is taking place, he told the group.

Women cannot base their pride on beauty alone, he said, because that is the result of genetics and not something that has been accomplished on their own. Women used to fill their needs by being "charming," he said, but now they are realizing they are more capable and "competent" to accomplish things themselves.

"Women for a long time have been taken for a ride on this business of chivalry," Dr. Austen said.

"Chivalry consists of things that strong people do for weak people and that is condescension. I am not sure that teeing of weakness is best for a person's image of himself."

Dr. Austen said some militant women's liberationists are restating women "just like men did." Women should learn "they have many options, that life is not closed and narrow."

"I would like to see the doors opening instead of closing," he said.

Mari Slotten, Twin Falls, president of the Idaho League of Women Voters, explained the equal rights amendment to the group.

"I do not think the ERA is any threat to men or women," she said.

"The passage of the amendment should insure joint human rights and responsibilities, would require all levels of government to treat all people as individuals with no discrimination on the basis of sex, should hopefully diminish private sexual discrimination and would eliminate laws which prohibit wives from setting up businesses or signing contracts, she said.

"The amendment should not jeopardize the homemaker," Mrs. Slotten said. "No one will be worse off."

"The ERA would provide real equality in job opportunities, pay and in vocational training, she said.

"It's passage will not be any panacea. It's benefits may be kind of intangible," she said.

"The ERA will not prove chauvinism. It will not liberate women, but will provide a means for their liberation," she said.

"The symbolic significance may be the most important," she said.

A total of 32 states have ratified the amendment and only six more must ratify it before 1977 to add it to the Constitution. If it is passed, it will not be implemented for another two years, Mrs. Slotten said.

Barbara Jensen, director for the tri-county Head Start program, told the group there were 6,000 children in Twin Falls, Jerome and Cassia counties age 6 or under with low income working parents needing the services of the Head Start program. About 90 per cent of the children in the program come from this group, she said.

"The parents come expecting the center to do all the children's" she said. "They are concerned we'll judge them and think they are not good parents."

"They generally don't want 'just babysitting,'" she said.

"Ask if the government was trying to take children away from their parents through the Head Start program, Mrs. Jensen said, "I think it's the opposite." The program tries to involve parents in all levels and is overseen by a board of those parents, she said.

Mary Mitchell, from the Rupert Child Development Center, said the center provides help for children with psychological, speech and hearing, family and social problems.

"Most people think the center is mostly for retarded children, but it isn't," she said.

"The center can help children with problems and then send them back to the mainstream of the educational system," she said.

The center can also help children already within the educational system by having trained people assist the teachers in working with a child who has a problem, she said.

"Some teachers are afraid to work with these kids because they haven't been taught how."

"The whole (educational) system has been slow in getting involved. We're feeding positive, the schools are feeding negative, and the kids are cracked up in the middle," she said.

Ann Martinez, state coordinator, Idaho Women's Political caucus, outlined the women's movement from 1776 when Abigail Adams told her husband women would not obey laws they did not have a say in, through the 1960s and the establishment of many diversified women's liberation groups.

Beverly Benson, also with the Idaho Women's Political Caucus, told the group women "have been in politics for a long time but have been out of the mainstream."

Although women comprise 54 per cent of the voting force, their representation in government is low.

Only 441 women have seats in the 50 state legislatures and there are no women governors or lieutenant governors, she said.

In Idaho, there are five women in the House of Representatives and one in the state Senate.

Terrell Castañeda, Tri-county Community Action Agency director and former professor at the College of Southern Idaho, said sexual discrimination in the educational system comes in the form of wages, preferences, personnel policies and nepotism regulations.

In Idaho the situation is bad, she said, many complaints have been filed and there are currently cases pending against both the state's junior colleges, Idaho State University, the University of Idaho and all the school districts as a whole.

"For a long time women have been organizing for other issues and not for themselves," she said. "This is the first time women have made a concerted effort over a period of years to move out of isolation and to enter the mainstream."

"University educated mothers must train their children there is not a distinction sexually inborn, that all people have equal opportunities and equal capabilities," she said.

Developments would enrich area economy

With a $200 per acre price for sprinklers included, Weiser estimated that the total per acre costs would be $550. Including the complete costs of the Tuana project at $600 per acre, the total cost would be $1,150 per acre. A 25 acre farm would cost $177,000 to develop. For a husband and wife both filling desert entries the development cost would be double to $234,000. By law, persons filing for desert land have to obtain loans individually for the development. How is this done?

According to Kenneth Marshall, Twin Falls farmer and a director of the Canyon View project, about five or six major insurance companies in the nation give long term loans on an individual basis for the development of such projects as a whole.

Under this arrangement, a major insurance company would put up about two-thirds of the money for the development at a 9 to 9.5 per cent interest rate over a 25 year term. Farmers would then be responsible for paying for the rest of the project with their own finances or with local borrowings.

Before a national insurance company will finance the bulk of the project, however, the farmers need title to the land. Marshall said the Bureau of Land Management gives title after the irrigation water begins to flow.

To develop the project often involves both local loans and deals with construction companies, Marshall said.

He said that although it will not give the money until title to land is acquired, an insurance company will commit itself to loaning money before construction begins.

With the loan promise, Marshall maintained, the project can work out a deal with construction companies to pay for the job after the irrigation water flows. He said that most construction companies are not paid until a job is done.

Also, the project will tax its members for the funds needed to begin construction. If a member is not able to pay his share he likely will be replaced with a new member in a stronger financial position.

Marshall said that to insure that prospective farmers do not get over their head in debt as well as to insure that the desert lands do not wind up in the hands of a few individuals, the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) reviews the financial status of those filing entry.

At the 25,000 acre Bell Rapids project just north of the proposed Tuana site, the BLM objected that some individuals filing entries did not have the money to back their goals. As a result other entrants were brought in, Marshall said.

Marshall said that two insurance companies have already expressed interest in financing the Canyon View project. He would not name the companies.

The Tuana project's economic feasibility statement shows that on a long term bonded indebtedness loan of $450 per acre at a 10 per cent interest rate the stockholders would pay $45 per acre for each of 25 years.

The total loan payment for a 25-acre farm would then be $13,275 each year.

"If a farmer or the project as a whole was not able to repay the borrowing," Marshall said, the insurance company would probably wait one year and if the situation repeated itself, the company would take over the individual farm or the whole project.

Contrary to common belief, insurance companies do not want to take over farms after debts are not paid off, Marshall said. "Their business is loaning money. If they thought they would get the farm, they probably would not loan the money," he said.

No one has sought to borrow money to pay his share of the Tuana or the Canyon View projects yet, Marshall said that the BLM will have to complete an environmental study approving the use of the territory for farming and that the water conveyance contract with the Twin Falls Canal Co. will have to be made before this stage is reached.

Twin Falls Canal Co. stockholders are deciding if they want to convey water for the two companies at a price. The proposal will need a two-thirds majority to pass and much opposition to it has arisen, particularly around the Castleford area. The last ballots will be cast Feb. 15.

If the vote does not pass the two projects would be delayed indefinitely. Without the water out of Twin Falls Canal Co. canals there is no economically feasible way to develop the projects according to the presidents of Canyon View and Tuana Irrigation companies.

Even if the money to start an environmental study is not available, the project's environmental concerns might delay the project another year, Dave Baker, BLM reentry specialist for the Jarbridge Resource Area, said that an update on the 1971 environmental analysis report for the area may have to be made before land title could be granted.

The update report would probably take 8 to 12 months to complete, he said. He maintained, however, that these projects are "one of our top priorities."

Marshall said he believes that everyone on the Canyon View project is "agriculturally oriented." He estimated that about one-third of those individuals staking farms would operate them as part-time businesses. Farms are traditionally rented on a 50-50 profit and expense sharing basis or sometimes on a 25 per cent of the net gain to the tenant basis, he said.

According to project president LeMayne and other project officials, the filing entries for the project lands are from the Magic Valley, with the great majority from Twin Falls County. LeMayne said that about half the persons in the Tuana group are farmers.

Area construction set

WENDLELL — Construction of the Wendell City sewer system should begin the first week in February, according to City Engineer Hugh Hedges.

Hedges announced a pre-construction conference Wednesday with representatives of the "Environmental Protection Agency, contractor City Council and Citizens."

The council authorized Hedges to advertise for bids for material to be used in the city water project. The city has about one half of the material needed on hand. City crews may begin work on the project at any time, Hedges said. He estimated at least $5,000 will be needed for remaining pipe and joints to complete the work.

A resolution permitting dog catcher Charles Freeman to collect dog license fees was approved Thursday night. Mayor Otto Lemke reported several calls concerning dogs running at large. "If one person pays a fine everyone should pay—and it doesn't matter whose dog it is," he said.

License fees are now due, he reported.

The city's assessed valuation has increased since last year, City Clerk Given Collett said. The valuation this year is $779,177 compared to $688,000 last year, she said.

Ed Olan has been named chairman of the McGinnis Park board, former chairman Lloyd Little advised the council.

Resignations were accepted from Little and Lowell Shafer from the park board.

The council approved a $10 per month donation to the Gooding County Senior Citizens Center at the request of Elmer Hansen who was asked for the funds to help defray cost of gasoline for the center's mini-bus. Councilman Bud Bitterli reported on improvements at the city dump. Junk cars are being removed. Bitterli requested Wendel residents with junk cars on their property take them to the dump for removal.

A street vacation and street extension ordinance for the legal Homes addition on Sixth and Fifth streets was read. The new ordinance was necessary due to a difference in measurements between the original ordinance and the plat.

The council took under advisement a request for a raise by city superintendent Claude Strickland.

The City Council will begin work on the city budget Thursday.

Police probe area shooting

TWIN FALLS — Sheriff Paul Corder said today he is continuing the investigation of a shooting in the Hansen area late Saturday.

Larry Fennewald, 17, was treated at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for a flesh wound in his right side before his hip and ribs, Corder said. The sheriff's office was called about 11:45 p.m. Saturday to the home of some friends of the Fennewald youth. He was found wounded.

Fennewald told officers he stopped to help a stuck vehicle on Highway 30 near a canal bridge and the man in the vehicle shot him without saying anything or asking any questions. He said he drove to the home of some friends, three miles east and three-quarters of a mile north of Hansen.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harney Fennewald, Hansen.

Elks conduct paper drive

BURLEY — A month-long paper drive is being conducted in Cassia County by the Burley Elks Club.

Gale Keen, chairman of the drive, asked county residents to "save newspapers, magazines, and letters. The papers should be tied or boxed in bundles weighing about 30 pounds. Corrugated containers should be cut into flat sheets and be handled separately from other paper. Since photo copy paper and plastics cannot be recycled they should be discarded, he said.

"Residents are asked to put their bundles of paper on the curb in front of their homes on Feb. 16. The Elks will make a pick up of all the bundles in the city on that date," according to Keen.

"People who reside outside the city limits may deposit their paper in a box outside the Elks lodge in Burley. People who live in the Oakley area are asked to take their paper to Rainbow Hall.

Residents of the Declo area can leave their paper at the building next to Leonard's Service. Arrangements for Alton and Malta have not been completed. The drop locations for these areas will be announced as soon as possible.

WASHINGTON — Cumulative mobile home shipments from manufacturers to retailers were up eight per cent over 1972. Deliveries for the first nine months of 1973 totaled 465,500 homes compared to 427,200 in the same period last year, according to Jack E. Dahl, board chairman for the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association.

"September was the first month in 1973 that shipments dropped below deliveries during 1972. However, a per cent over last year's cumulative shipment figure the mobile home industry had another plus year," Donald W. Tenenhus, MHMA marketing committee chairman said.

Soviet industry perks up

(c) N. Y. Times Service

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union disclosed recently that its industrial performance for the first nine months of 1973 recovered from its poor showing in 1972 although the consumer sector was still lagging.

Economic statistics reported an overall industrial growth rate of 7.3 per cent over the same period in 1972. This exceeded the approved target, but was lower than earlier goals.

Labor productivity, a key factor in the Soviet economy, increased 5.8 per cent over the first nine months of 1973, but nonetheless fell substantially short of the target originally set for 1973 in the 1971-73 five-year plan. The 5.8 per cent figure did equal the target under the reduced plan for 1973.
