Trucker shutdown spreads

By United Press International
A nationwide shutdown of the trucking industry planned by independent truckers slowly began spreading today in a protest over high fuel costs and low freight rates. A truck driver was killed in Pennsylvania and another kidnapped in Ohio.

Truck drivers in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the center of the protest, roamed the states' highways in private cars and gathered at truck stops in an effort to gain support for the shutdown. There were numerous incidents of drivers being forced off the road.

Three other trucks were hit by gunfire in Pennsylvania and windshields on several other trucks were smashed and a truck loaded with meat overturned in Allentown after it was separated from the cab.

In Barberton, Ohio, Fred Ast, 50, driver of a CCC truck, was forced off the road by a car and kidnapped.

Another trucker saw the incident and alerted police, who forced the car off the road in a high speed chase.

Terry Boyard, 30, Brimfield, Ohio, was charged with abduction, willfully fleeing arrest and reckless operation of a vehicle.

The highway patrol in Southern California, however, reported no decrease in traffic and no incidents.

In Pennsylvania, a tractor-trailer crashed early today on the Lehigh Valley Throughway, killing its driver. State police said there had been a number of reports of brakes being thrown at truck windshields, but it was difficult because of the extent of the damage to determine if that was the cause of the crash. The victim was unidentified.

A tractor loaded with meat overturned in Allentown after it was separated from the cab. W.J. Usery Jr., a special assistant to President Nixon, said Wednesday the government would increase fuel allocations for the trucking industry by 110 per cent of 1972 consumption and reimburse truckers for rising fuel costs.

Leonard Fleet, attorney for the Council of Independent Truckers, said in Akron, Ohio, the group was shutting down despite the proposal from the government.

"The government made some proposals but we have questions and until those questions are answered we are not going to work," Fleet said. Fleet said that at 1:15 a.m. EDT today, according to his information, the truck stoppage was 80 per cent effective.

In northeastern Ohio, where truckers have been gathering support for the nationwide shutdown for two weeks, traffic was reported very light but no incidents of violence had occurred.

Joe Rosa, a spokesman for striking drivers in East Liverpool, Ohio, said the one or two trucks that were occasionally seen on the road were escorted by state highway patrol cruisers.

Chemical, tire price lids lifted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Cost of Living Council has dropped price controls on tires and scarce petroleum materials, while leaders of three major industries want all the government's wage and price controls to expire April 30 as scheduled.

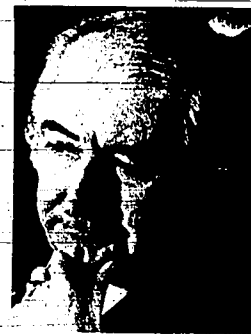

John Dunlop, director of the council, said Wednesday the industry agreed to limit price increases for tires until just before the 1975 model cars come out. Dunlop said controls were dropped from petroleum chemicals because of shortages of the crude oil from which they are made.

The five largest tire companies—Goodyear, Firestone, F.F. Goodrich, Uniroyal and general—agreed to limit wholesale price increases to 5 per cent and to hold retail hikes on prices of tires to small cars to 4 per cent until Aug. 1.

Oil boycott end hinted

Court throws out Hughes charges

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Stock manipulation charges against billionaire recluse Howard Hughes were thrown out of court Wednesday by an annoyed federal judge who called the grand jury case against Hughes the worst he had seen. "In all my experience," said U.S. District Judge Bruce Thompson, "this is the worst criminal pleading I've ever encountered. It would be a perversion of justice to require any of the defendants to go to trial under the indictment."

Hughes, who has been in hiding almost 20 years ago and now lives in the Bahamas, the billionaire's attorneys argued successfully that the indictments were without substance. "There isn't the remotest sign of anything unlawful," said

Hughes attorney Moses Lasky of San Francisco. "The indictment fails to state the essential elements of a criminal offense." The judge agreed, saying the indictment was replete in listing specific facts and failed to adequately apprise the defendants of the charges they would be facing. But U.S. Attorney DeVoie Heaton said he planned to go back to the grand jury for another try at indicting Hughes and four others on the same charges.

"If we deem it necessary," he said, "We'll do more investigation. The arguments of counsel and the comments of the judge indicated that we did not have sufficient facts in the indictment. If defense counsel wants facts, they will be in the next indictment." At the opening of the Wednesday session, carried over from last Friday when Hughes failed to show up for arraignment, a document signed by Hughes was filed stating three attorneys would represent him in the case. Although Hughes remained out of the country, the document listed his address as the 25th floor, Exxon Bldg., Houston, Tex., the headquarters of the Hughes-owned Summa Corp. The quashed indictment also had charged David Charnay, president of Four Star International Inc., Chester Davis, legal counsel of the Summa Corp., James Nall, real state director for Hughes' Nevada operations, and Robert Mahon, former $500,000 a year head of Hughes' Nevada operations who serving his former boss for firing him.

TF Elks scuttle new lodge plans

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Order of the Elks will decide Feb. 7 whether to undertake a $300,000 remodeling of their lodge on Shoshone St. N.

Because of unforeseen difficulties in obtaining land, former plans to build a $300,000 to $400,000 new lodge near the city's golf course have been scuttled, according to Howard C. Tippin, lodge secretary.

Despite six month effort with Globe Realty and a lawyer, the Elks Club was not able to obtain title to the building site which is owned by an Arizona firm, Tippin said. Instead of the new building, Elks trustees have proposed extensive remodeling of the bottom floor of the club to turn it into "a real fancy supper club," he said.

The Elks Club now has slightly more than $100,000 to go towards the remodeling, which should not exceed $225,000.

At the Feb. 7 lodge meeting, club members will vote on the remodeling plan and will discuss ways to raise the necessary funds.

Funds for TF designated

TWIN FALLS — How Twin Falls county will spend $500,000 in 1974 revenue sharing money has been decided by the county commissioners.

Some allocations for such items as "capital outlay" or "public safety" or "recreation" will be designated for definite projects as the year progresses.

County Auditor Harold Lancaster said the biggest item is $200,337 for capital outlay. It will be available to pay off existing contracts for the purchase of equipment. It will also provide for two new computers in the clerk's and assessor's offices for tax computations. These will require about $18,000 and $25,000 respectively.

This fund will allow the county to expand or at least start plans for expansion of the judicial building, fall-county buildings or other major projects.

Solid waste is allocated $67,000 for such items as a new backhoe, roads and sanitary landfills and sewer improvements.

BOISE (UPI) — The Boise Young Republicans will host the 1974 state convention and the northwest leadership training school March 28-30.

The leadership training school will offer seminars covering the entire spectrum of campaign politics. There also will be banquets, luncheons, receptions, and a number of speakers.

Other portions include $30,000 for the city-county airport and $12,500 to assist four senior citizens' groups in various parts of the county.

An $80,000 item is earmarked for Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for such needs as new parking space, and an additional entrance or exit to the grounds.

Other allocations include $40,000 for transportation studies; $20,000 for public safety, and $50,000 for new parks or improvements to existing county parks.

Architect hired by TF library

TWIN FALLS — Architect H. Richard Heindel, Twin Falls, has been employed by the Twin Falls library board to prepare plans and building specifications for the library expansion.

Arlan Call, librarian, said today the architect believes he can have plans ready for a call for bids by May or shortly thereafter so construction can begin this summer.

Call said the formal application has been submitted to the state librarian for federal funds with which to build a three-story addition. Plans call for 8,500 square feet of floor space to be located on the south side of the library. This property is owned by the library.

Twin Falls has been given the first priority in Idaho for federal funds and expects to obtain about $15,000 in federal money to combine with the local budgeted $40,000. It is hoped some funds will also come from the regional library program.

With state, federal and local funds and the property, which has already been obtained the project will represent a total cost of about $190,000.

Board vote set by CFG council

TWIN FALLS — The Southwest Idaho Council of Camp Fire Girls will hold its annual dinner meeting to elect the 1974 board of directors at 8 p.m. Friday.

The meeting will be held at the Rogerson Restaurant and will be preceded by a social hour and dinner. Mrs. Ethel Martin, chairman of the dinner, states that besides electing the new board of directors, there will be adult recognition awards given to members who have given outstanding service to the organization during the past year.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Jack Muldoon, Twin Falls business man.

Members will be attending from Mountain Home, Air Force Base, Gooding, Euhl, Filer, and Burley, as well as from Twin Falls.

Progress slowed

TWIN FALLS — Progress on the new Twin Falls Fire Department building adjacent to city hall has been slowed by cold weather but is continuing. City Manager Jean Millar said the contractor has been tying steel and doing other preparation work which can be completed and added to the site when weather permits.

Concrete poured earlier is still extremely cold and additional concrete work will have to wait for better weather, Millar said he doubts if the contractors, Willis Inc., will be able to do much more on the building site until April or so.

No difficulty has been experienced as yet in obtaining materials, including steel, he said, except for some slow shipments.

The building is scheduled for occupancy sometime during the summer of 1974, but no firm completion date is set due to anticipated difficulties in getting some of the major equipment items such as generators.

Shoshone Cub Scouts set fete

SHOSHONE — Shoshone Cub Scout Pack 57 Blue and Gold banquet will be held Feb. 26 and the Pinewood Derby is slated for March 26.

Rusty Warbis, Warren Surgeon and Kirk Duffin told of activities and requirements in the Webelos den to earn engineering pins. Mrs. David Porter is den leader.

TF share vote eyed

TWIN FALLS — One decision for the Twin Falls City Council Monday night will be on voting the city's Twin Falls Canal Co. stock in the controversial water delivery issue.

The city has 2,700 shares of stock in the canal company, much of it remaining from when Snake River water was used as a domestic supply. The city obtained the shares on property within the city limits in order to deliver water to homes.

City officials will instruct one council member to vote the shares on behalf of the city, either for or against the proposal for delivering off season water to new development lands beyond the canal company's boundaries. The vote must be cast by Feb. 11.

Privacy right merits support

President Nixon's request for a "right to privacy" in his State of the Nation Address Wednesday night should gain wide support.

A whole range of new technological developments has been pressed into the service of the government and private groups or firms who benefit from knowing too much about individuals with whom they deal.

The incursions on personal privacy, while generally legal, have evoked a growing outcry from the public.

The President was vague, however, on what he intends to do about the quest for privacy; referring to efforts by high administration officials in the matter.

There are a number of areas of abuse or potential abuse of information about individuals that should be clarified by law:

- 1. What kind of information should be gathered in the first place? Is it appropriate to relay information about personal bank accounts? Juvenile criminal records? Past bad debts? Personal habits and preferences? "Reputation?" Arrests for which no conviction was obtained? Income? Opinions of neighbors? Military or academic records?

Clearly there are certain kinds of information that are public or that private individuals should not resist being transmitted, such as criminal convictions or past bankruptcy. Other, more private areas, should be protected forcefully.

- 2. What method is there for assuring accuracy of the information transmitted? Anyone who has argued with a computer about an incorrect bill would vouch for the difficulty of taking incorrect information out of an information system once it has been put in.

What kind of followup is there? For example, is notice of an arrest followed by notice of acquittal?

- 3. Who receives the information? Altogether too often, information collected for one legitimate purpose is distributed widely for use for unrelated purposes. A person who donates to a political candidate suddenly may find himself on the mailing lists of a number of like-minded candidates and causes.

Perhaps most important, is the individual notified when information involving him is transmitted?

Is the individual told exactly what information was transmitted? Is he given a chance to correct misinformation before the information is sent? Can he veto the shipment of information in the first place?

These are difficult questions. Satisfactory answers require fundamental shifts in the way many organizations do business.

It is our fear that public outcry about abuses of information-gathering systems will not be loud enough or sophisticated enough to effectively curb the abuses. There are many powerful interests which have a need to know.

In a general sense, Big Brother is watching you. It is 10 years away from 1984.

Pushing breeders

Portland Oregonian. In a little more than a decade warnings may be going out that there is a world uranium shortage developing, threatening an electrical shortage as nuclear power development is curtailed. The estimates of the amount of uranium ore available are questionable. The idea there is a 20-year supply is doubted, particularly in light of the rapid construction of worldwide nuclear power plants in the wake of the petroleum shortages and price increases.

This problem has put a spur to the development of the breeder reactor that produces more fuel than it consumes. But a report of a panel headed by Hans Bethe of Cornell that was commissioned by the Atomic Energy Commission has reaffirmed the importance of the breeder program while calling for its reorientation.

The reorientation's two major breeder projects, the Fast Flux Test Facility now being built at Idaho Falls, Wash., and designed to test new forms of uranium fuel, and the demonstration breeder planned for Oak Ridge, Tenn., have been seriously questioned by the panel.

The Bethe report endorsed the liquid metal-cooled fast breeder reactor as the most logical first choice for industrial use. But the study was highly critical of the design of the Oak Ridge demonstration model, saying it would not be economical and not a very effective breeder.

Fuel production doubling times of 10 years or less for the breeders have been the goal to meet the doubling of electrical demand every 9 years. But the panel found the demonstration plant might take between 30 and 60 years to double the initial inventory of fissile material. The study also urged the Fast Flux Test Facility to study other fuel forms, including uranium carbide and uranium nitride, and to find improved alloys to clad the fuels inside the breeder's reactor. So urgent are these tests that the AEC sought unsuccessfully to borrow space in French and British breeders, but neither was any assistance in helping because of the comfortable lead these two nations have in the power breeder field, the report said.

What is encouraging about the report is that the AEC has recognized its problems and is moving to solve them. It is also encouraging that the study indicates the AEC has returned to earlier practices of seeking independent judgments. This may encourage the academic community to return to an active role of advising the government on its most pressing nuclear problems.

Krogh learns to ask 'Is this right?' hard way

(C) N. Y. Times Service. WASHINGTON - At 4:35 a.m. on the morning of May 19, 1970, as the nation's capital was besieged by demonstrators after the Cambodian incursion, a 30-year old aide to John Ehrlichman was on duty at a Secret Service command post. He heard an amazed voice call out on the police squawk box: "Searchlight is on the lawn!" This meant the President of the United States had appeared on the White House lawn, to mingle with the demonstrators. The aide telephoned his boss, and asked what to do.

That night, Egli (Bud) Krogh met Richard Nixon for the first time. In the pre-dawn hours at the Lincoln Memorial, Krogh - a "straight arrow" by all accounts - was profoundly impressed by the attempt of the President to communicate with and reassure some young people. After his sentencing last week an older and differently illustrated Krogh put out a 2,500-word statement that should be required reading for anyone thinking of entering government service. "The invocation of national security stopped me from asking the question, 'Is this the thing to do?' ... to invade (citizens' rights) unlawfully is to work a destructive force upon the nation, not to take protective measure. "When contemplating a course of action," Krogh wrote to young people who may enter government, "I hope they will never fail to ask, 'Is this right?' The justification for an immoral or an illegal act is often "the big picture," the righteous cause, which seems to transform transgressions into necessary and noble disobedience to unjust or uncomfortable restrictions. The lesson Krogh learned, and is anxious to pass along, goes beyond an understanding that the only national security comes from lawful vigilance. It is senseless to plead "I was only following orders" as in Krogh's case, "I was only following what I interpreted my orders to mean." Taking his medicine without complaint and without passing the blame up or down - Bud Krogh is saying the moral buck ends with each one of us. "As the jogs around the prison yards, he can take some comfort from the fact that "Is this right?" will be emblazoned across the forehead of every aide to sign on at the White House.

Ford's defense still right idea

WASHINGTON - The fellows were whooping it up at Duke's the other night and the consensus was that Vice President Gerald Ford should stop defending President Nixon because it makes Ford look foolish. Specifically, the boys took umbrage at Ford's recent announcement that he knew Nixon was innocent of complicity in the Watergate case because he had personal assurances from the President. Their reaction was an incredulous "So what?"

President should be presumed innocent until a verdict is rendered, and although I have certain reservations about Nixon's conduct in various areas, I am not prepared to join any mob of vigilantes set on taking the law into their own hands. I suspect that we will have in Gerry Ford an honorable man. Not brilliant maybe, but a man who seems to subscribe to the old virtues. As such, he has a right at this date to assure that other men are honorable and to take them at their word when they offer "personal assurances." Besides, what Nixon told Ford is supported by the testimony of Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott. Scott, whose credibility is pretty good on Capitol Hill, and in press rooms, has said he looked at a resume and partial transcript of some recorded tapes and that he was convinced of the President's innocence in the Watergate cover-up.

He is able to cite some "encouraging" developments. Congressional leaders, he notes, recently decided to make special efforts to keep the House in session longer each week, to reduce the number of recesses, and to intensify committee activity. "But in a meantime of indeterminate length, according to the Congressman who predicted the first 'Nixon recession' (in 1970), the Nixon wage-price controls and their shortcomings, the outlook is gloomy indeed.

After all, we can hardly expect Ford to take such operations unless a matter of life or death as concerns the mother to be. What hurts our feelings is not the critical notes but the use of a descriptive word. In each case the two women said we were asking for our remarks.

Obviously, they are not. Ullman anticipates "tremendous new opportunities for growth" once new economic considerations are fitted into a readjusted economic framework.

Ready to join a car pool because of the energy crisis? Ready to start picking up these people walking along the highways and waving for rides?

Better not do it before you have a talk with the fellow who has your automobile insurance. Of course, in the first place you had better be sure you do have insurance. In the second place, you better be sure it's high enough to cover the increased liability because you are carrying people - more people - who are not family members - in your auto. And then, third, be sure you have more than enough for the hitchhiker who could sue you for everything you own if you have an accident and he is injured.

Insurance men caution to investigate before you leap. You might be asking for trouble, or violating a law in the case of picking up hitchhikers in certain areas while trying to do your part.

And, above all, be careful not to operate a car pool for profit.

As we said, talk to your insurance people before you make your move. It will only take a few minutes to be sure just what you can - or should - do with the insurance coverage you have.

A PERSONAL NOTE. This is a note to Mrs. Charles Voegel of Jerome, and Shannon J. Tyree of Twin Falls. Both wrote letters to the editor (not to Mr. Spectator) complaining and being critical of mention we had made of abortions.

MR. SPECTATOR

Our mention of abortions was made not as an approval of them. We have never advocated them and didn't in our column mention. The two women missed the point of the comment. It was meant in jest - as satire. Many mentioned the column to us in that light.

In fact, we go along with hospital people hereabouts who have said they will have no part of such operations unless a matter of life or death as concerns the mother to be.

What hurts our feelings is not the critical notes but the use of a descriptive word. In each case the two women said we were asking for our remarks.

We could be many things to many people but really, now, we have never been accused of being asinine. With freedom of expression, and all that, both women have the right, we suppose, to brand us anything they want but we, likewise, have the right to differ with them. And inasmuch as we have never met either one of them it is difficult to express any opinion as to why they might have used that particular word. Really, it leaves us cold.

One thing is unfortunate. Ms. Tyree wrote she will never read Mr. Spectator again so she will never know we disagree with her description of our character.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE: A bargain is something that would cost a lot of money if you had any use for it.

"DON'T WORRY... I'VE GOT HIM ON A LEASH"

Suggestions on candidate picking offered

(C) New York Times Service. WASHINGTON - President Nixon has been asking for suggestions about how to improve the way we pick presidential candidates in the United States, and if it hadn't been for falling down a flight of stairs, we'd have had the list in sooner.

prosperous world without war or inflation should be hooted out of town. 4. All candidates should have a valid driver's license. 5. Norman Mailer to a ninny who adores her spouse and tells him he's always right should even be considered. 6. Let each state propose at least one nonpartisan for the job. Politics may be too serious to be left to the politicians alone. 7. Endict George Gallup and Lou Harris for running popular polls and obstructing individual judgment and common sense. 8. Draft Elliott Richardson of Massachusetts and Bill Ruckelshaus of Indiana into the race. Also Kingman Brewster of Yale and Father Theodore Danne and Cy Vance and Bill Moyers of New York - all of them better than most of the characters of the present list. 9. Amend the rule against foreign-born candidates and give Henry Kissinger a chance. 10. Eliminate any candidate who says he knows there is evidence that will send up the Watergate mysteries but can't find what the evidence is and hasn't had time to read it. 11. Make both parties pick their vice presidential candidates at least 15 minutes before they're shoved out on stage. 12. Forget about "charisma" and look for a few straight characters who simply know the difference between right and wrong and yes and no. 13. Amend the Constitution to get rid of any president who loses the confidence of the people before his four years are up. 14. Look for somebody who has read a book. 15. Eliminate any man who is obviously running for the presidency but says he's not and won't even think about it for another year. Give the governors and other forgotten men a chance to be seen and heard. 16. Form a Society for the Prevention of Financial Extortion and help finance campaigns out of public funds. 18. Don't look at the candidates. Listen to them and think.

SV Sun issues halted

SUN VALLEY — The "Sun Valley Sun" magazine has discontinued publication and has been succeeded by "The Sun Valley Center" magazine. The new monthly magazine will be published by the Sun Valley Center for the Arts and Humanities, formerly the Sun Valley Creative Arts Center. The first issue is tentatively expected to be available early next week.

Staff heads include the editor in chief, James Belson, who also serves as program director for the center; managing editor, Jean Terra; associate editor and graphics co-ordinator, Evan Logan, and associate editor and photography director, Cheryl Hiser.

Belson said the center had initially planned a monthly newsletter. At the same time, he said, the Sun Valley Co. was reviewing the format of the bi-weekly "Sun".

The company decided that the proposed publication could complete part of the function of the "Sun," Belson said, and agreed to purchase a number of copies.

However, Belson said, the new publication will retain editorial integrity and will be a "completely independent magazine."

Terra said the magazine will contain articles "that will reflect not only the interest in sports in the community but also the growing interest in intellectual and cultural pursuits which the Sun Valley Center is providing."

"Sun" subscribers will receive copies of the new magazine until their subscription expires.

Engineer tells Agnew kickbacks

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Engineer Lester Matz told a Federal court Wednesday he gave State Gov. Agnew $40,000 in kickbacks in return for contracts while Agnew served as Baltimore county executive, governor of Maryland and vice president.

Matz testified about the payoffs in the corruption trial of N. Dale Anderson, Agnew's democratic successor as county executive. Anderson is accused of extorting $43,000 from engineers and architects for influencing the award of contracts and evading $67,000 in Federal income taxes.

"While Agnew was vice president I paid him $30,000 for two State Roads Commission jobs I got," said Matz, the second witness to directly link Agnew to the alleged kickback scheme. "I made it in two payments."

"One was July 1, 1962, of $20,000. The second was Feb. 2, 1963, and I'm not sure if it was $10,000 or $1,000," Matz said.

Agnew was Maryland governor in 1968, not vice president, but Matz' testimony was not corrected.

Agnew pleaded no contest to an income tax evasion charge and resigned from office Oct. 19 in return for Federal prosecutors agreeing not to seek a jail term or criminal indictments on kickback allegations against him.

The prosecutors, however, had a 40-page summary of evidence read into court records that alleged Agnew took more than $1 million in kickbacks and bribes while in public office.

"I just paid off the vice president in his office and I'm shaken," Matz was quoted in the summary as telling his partner, John C. Childs Sr.

Matz testified he made five or six payments totalling $10,000 while Agnew was county executive. I gave the payoffs to a close associate of Agnew's.

While Matz did not identify the associate in his testimony, the summary quoted him as saying the man was prominent Maryland banker-developer J.H. "Bud" Hammerman, a close Agnew friend.

Last week in the trial, Jerome Wolff testified he, Hammerman and Agnew split $114,000 in payoffs. He said he and Hammerman each kept 25 percent while Agnew took half, the first time a witness under oath has testified in open court about Agnew's involvement in kickbacks.

"It was a clearcut kickback arrangement we had with Agnew," Wolff testified. "The payments were in return for state work."

Matz said between 1962-72 he made $210,000 in cash payoffs to public officials, including Anderson and Agnew, and saw the likeness of Matz, Childs Associates increase from $750,000 in 1962 to $8.5 million in 1973.

2,000 squatters ousted

TIJUANA, Mexico (UPI) — A show of force by 500 police armed with submachineguns drove 2,000 homeless squatters, led by university students, off a federally owned hillside Wednesday and freed nine hostages, including two newsmen and a policeman.

There was no violence and no arrests were made. The squatters lost their homes in 'cartolandia,' a river-bred slum of shacks built of cardboard, 'carton,' when authorities razed the shacks to make way for construction of apartments and lining the river channel with concrete.

The dispossessed squatters then began throwing up new shacks on a federally owned hill four miles northeast of the

Meanwhile, there was a robbery Tuesday near the campus of the University of Baja California. Police said one armed man shot and killed a student-squatter "headquarters."

Police said they found rifles and molotov cocktails in the student-squatter "headquarters."

Police said they had three times in recent weeks they have cleared the area and razed the squatter's makeshift buildings.

Most of the squatters are peasants from the interior of Mexico who flock to Tijuana in search of jobs or a chance to slip across the border to the United States.

City officials said they oppose the spread of "cartolandias" because of the danger of disease from lack of sanitation facilities.

Oil prices aired

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soaring United States fuel prices result from an oil industry effort to raise refining and marketing profits as Arab nations take a greater share of crude oil revenues, according to an oil industry analyst.

Dillard P. Spriggs, a partner in the New York investment house of Baker and Weeks, told a Senate hearing Wednesday the 1972 Arab demand for direct ownership of production had unhinged the traditional profit structure of the industry.

Spriggs said for many years the major oil firms made most of their profits from sales to themselves or others of crude oil they essentially owned in the Mideast fields.

They operated their own refineries and market networks at low profit or even at a loss, in competition with smaller independent firms. This assured they would reap most of the profits from the independent operations as well, since the independents had to buy crude from them.

But since early 1973, when the first participation agreements were signed with Saudi Arabia, Spriggs said, the cost of crude to the oil majors has risen tremendously and the profit outlook on it has become "uncertain."

As a result the industry is seeking ever greater profits "downstream" — and must charge more at retail to attain them.

Imported car quota asked

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers union has called for quotas on imported cars, warning that unemployment in some sections of the auto industry is worse than at any time since the Depression.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock said Wednesday a conservative estimate is that more than 100,000 auto workers have lost their jobs already — about 15 per cent of the U.S. auto work force.

Solons reactions vary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Carl Curtis has been listening to State of the Union addresses for 38 years, and the Nebraska Republican thought President Nixon's speech Wednesday night "is the best one I've ever heard."

But second-term Massachusetts Democrat, Rep. Robert P. Drinan, who introduced the first impeachment resolution last year, said his reaction "would be very negative. There was nothing new there at all," and called Nixon's Watergate conclusion "brevard."

In both those two views, congressional reaction was mixed, splitting generally along party lines.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford and Speaker of the House Carl Albert, who both sat behind the President as he spoke, had different assessments.

Ford said, simply, "It was a great speech," Albert, in a prepared statement, said: "I noted no new initiatives... only generalities and platitudes."

Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., House Democratic leader, said he was disappointed with Nixon's remarks on Watergate. "I think it's a sad commentary on our country when a President of the United States in his State of the Union message must plead to the public like he did tonight," he said.

But House GOP leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona, promising to say more later, told newsmen "I thought he did a great job... a very good job."

To House Republican whip Leslie K. Arends of Illinois, it was "a good down-to-earth statement of the real issues this country faces." And Senate GOP leader Hugh Scott called the speech "substantive and positive and a blueprint for a stronger—and more cohesive—America."

Most reaction, both pro and con, dealt with the President's request to Congress to put the Watergate scandal behind and raise to top priority the issues he spoke of earlier—the economy, the energy crisis and improved medical care.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., chairman of the Senate Watergate committee, said: "The Watergate affair would have been over long ago if the President had been willing to let the committee have the evidence in his possession."

Asthma sprays recalled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two brands of nonprescription aerosol asthma sprays squirt too much medicine into a patient's throat, and the Food and Drug Administration says they should not be used.

The two brands involved were identified as Asthma Nerfin and Vapoverin using small aerosol canisters with mouth pieces.

Asthma victims spraying the mist into their lungs to relieve an attack.

The FDA said anyone who "may have bought such a product should stop using it and see their druggist for something comparable."

The FDA said USV Pharmaceutical Corp. of Tuckahoe, N.Y., is making the recall of several thousand canisters because tests by both the FDA and the FDA show the sprays may deliver too much medicine—the active ingredient—Ephedrine—an attack of asthma.

It said no deaths or injuries have been linked to the products, but "FDA considers use of these defective aerosols a potentially serious health hazard."

Sen. Howard Baker thought the closing remarks "served him well. I think it's time for the Senate side to close down and pass the gavel to the House" on Watergate matters.

Rep. Charles Wiggins, R-Calif., a member of the House Judiciary Committee, said Nixon "came across good in the public's eyes. The President was further ahead now than when he started his speech."

"He sought to be conciliatory without being craven," said Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., chairman of the House GOP conference. "It was a speech that will play well in Peoria, but also to the people in the chamber."

Mother convicted of scalding child

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — Geraldine Layne, the mother of four small children, was convicted of fatally scalding her 3-year-old daughter and sentenced to 18 years in prison Wednesday.

The woman's surviving three children testified they saw their mother pour water over their 3-year-old sister, Tammy Layne.

Mrs. Layne, 25, was convicted of second degree murder and sentenced by an all-male jury in Madison County Circuit Court. She was tried on a charge of first degree murder.

Her husband, Maynard Layne, will go on trial in two weeks on a first degree murder charge in connection with the death of the child. Maynard is a farm laborer.

Gerald Layne, 9, testified that her mother poured a pot of boiling water over Tammy Sept. 8 and that her mother said, "That'll teach her not to get up on the table again."

Annie Layne, 7, and Randy Layne, 5, offered similar testimony.

Witnesses said the Laynes waited a day before taking Tammy to a hospital, although she was scalded over 90 percent of her body. She was taken first to a local hospital and transferred to a Birmingham hospital, where she died Sept. 13.

Doctors testified they found evidence that Tammy had been beaten and burned on occasions before the scalding incident.

Annie, Randy, and Gloria have been placed in foster homes.

Nixon wears 'gift'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon honored 30 sixth grade pupils in Newport, Ky., when he delivered his State of the Union message by wearing their specially made "red, white and blue cufflinks and a tie clasp bearing the American flag."

The sixth graders had sent Nixon "the cufflinks and tie clasp along with a letter saying 'our teacher gives us a special chance. So we think a 2nd Americans should give you a second chance."

Their teacher, Steve Schwein, said the youngsters had bought the gifts with whatever money they could scrape together. This assured they would reap most of the profits from the independent operations as well, since the independents had to buy crude from them.

Time, appointment thwart solon plans

Pay hike asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, is co-sponsoring legislation that would provide 34 Idaho counties with increased federal payments on national resource lands within their borders.

Hansen explained that the bill would provide each county with two options.

Home aid proposed

BOISE (UPI)—Rep. William Onweiler, R-Boise, offered legislation Wednesday that would encourage home owners to improve their residences.

Onweiler put into the House hopper a bill to phase out the property levy on real property improvements over the next 10 years after which the property also would be taxed at its highest and best legal use.

Church aid report out

BOISE (UPI)—A total of 1,326 people contributed $97,912 in individual contributions to the Frank Church Banquet Committee and the Idaho for Church Committee in 1973, according to Carl P. Burke, Boise, chairman of the Idaho for Church Committee.

Burke released copies of the income and expenditures of the Idaho for Church Committee and the Frank Church appreciation banquet committee.

The report released Wednesday, covers the financial activities of the two committees through Dec. 31, 1973.

Burke said a summary of the reports show that the end of 1973 the Idaho for Church Committee had on hand a total of $111,387.70. The Frank Church Appreciation Banquet Committee had a balance of $160.43 which was left to take care of any remaining bills from the Oct. 20 1973 banquet.

Lenaghan and Thomas early in the session seen, in retrospect, to have stalled debate on other problems that legislative leadership and the courts want to receive early attention.

The courts gave the legislature 30 days, until Feb. 12, to reappropriate the state. It now appears, simply on the basis of time remaining, that the only bill that can clear the entire legislature is the one that has emerged from the House.

Analysis

The other versions, including those sponsored by Sens. Walt Yarbrough, R-Grand View and J. Wilson Steen, R-Glenns Ferry, while they may be sounder plans, will develop enough antagonism to make passage in both houses by mid-February impossible.

It is more likely that the House version, which makes no changes in eastern Idaho, will be offered up at the last as a compromise measure, and win Senate approval. At that point, of course, it becomes a gubernatorial problem.

Even assuming the governor would sign the bill into law, several lawmakers are convinced the courts will reject it. Among that group is Sen. H. Dean Summers, R-Boise, chairman of the committee which handles reapportionment legislation and one of the persons who brought the lawsuit that has resulted in the court-mandated reapportionment.

Summers would not be at all opposed to the courts rejecting the measure, since he favors a court-approved plan to redistrict Yarbrough out of the legislature. With time increasingly a factor, Summers won a seemingly insignificant point in his committee Wednesday. He got the members to agree to public hearings on reapportionment—adding five more days of dead space in the 30 the legislature had to begin with.

Not that the senators will have nothing to do for those five days. The Lenaghan confirmation is expected to come up for a vote Friday. The 12 Democrats look set for Lenaghan's favor, and there appears to be enough support from the Republican side of the aisle to win the day for the Andrus-Lenaghan forces.

Magic Valley is divided on the question, three senators indicating support and three opposition to the confirmation—but several say they really haven't made up their minds.

Everyone does agree it will be tougher to get Thomas through the Senate, especially since a Democrat, Sen. C. C. Chase, D-St. Maries, is leading the opposition.

If he fails, he will be the first gubernatorial appointment to lose confirmation since former Sen. Don Fredrickson was denied seat on the State Tax Commission in 1969.

BOISE — Plans to devote the first 30 days of the legislature on the momentous questions of reapportionment and government reorganization have been thwarted.

The culprits are something as normal and routine as sunlight and darkness and someone as controversial as a former labor organizer.

The question of whether Idaho should exempt the southern part of the state from daylight saving time consumed more energy, it is safe to say, than anything else in the early days of the session. Not even reorganization, with its study groups, public hearings and committee decisions, has spawned as many variations on a single theme as the time question.

Memorials to and defiance of Congress have become daily conversation topics. And time spent on time was not spent on reapportionment—a much more important issue.

The appointments of Robert Lenaghan to the Public Utilities Commission and Robert Thomas to the Fish and Game Commission have also required a great deal of time.

There is no question that they are more important to the state in the long run than daylight saving time—especially the appointment of a new PUC commissioner—but also hardly as important as the questions of one-man one-vote and more efficient delivery of services to the taxpayers of the state.

The decisions to have the Senate fight over

AF Dam measures head for Andrus' desk

Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, chairman of the American Falls Reservoir District, gave the Senate a comprehensive history of the American Falls dam. He asked for swift passage of the bills so work could proceed with replacement of the crumbling 50-year old structure.

One of the measures approved in the Senate clarifies the authority of existing districts to fund replacement of existing facilities. The other clarifies the election procedures irrigation districts must follow.

Barker read from the Congressional record to buttress his arguments for the

the federal government to provide all the funds.

Sen. Charles Bilyeu, D-Pocahontas, said the measures were examples of the "best in American government." He said he hoped their passage could help dispense a cloud of suspicion he said hangs over American politicians and government.

Lenaghan nomination tangled

BOISE (UPI)—Confirmation of Robert Lenaghan to the Idaho Public Utilities Commission became more entangled in the Senate Wednesday with new accusations and denials made.

The Senate State Affairs Committee was tossed a bombshell by Richard W. Hirst, Boise, a former employe of Intermountain Gas Co.

Hirst told the committee in sworn testimony that Lenaghan told him Intermountain Gas "had engaged in illegal farming and ran a house of ill repute."

Lenaghan, however,

Barker said the Idaho Supreme Court will be asked to rule on the proposal to permit all qualified electors to vote in the bonding election necessary before the reconstruction can begin.

He also said a decision has been made tentatively not to limit voting to spaceholders in the dam. To be sure the procedure is permissible, however, the Court will be

Remap bills reach floor

While the committee agreed quickly to send three separate bills to the Senate for a vote sometime next week, its members quarreled over whether public hearings should be called.

Yarborough said the legislature had reapportioned itself twice previously while he has served, but no public hearings had been called. "This is nothing more than a delaying tactic," he said.

But Chairman J. Dean Summers, R-Boise, said any question "important enough to go to the Supreme Court of the United States has a right to go to the people so they have a chance to see what's going on."

Summers was one of those who participated in a law suit challenging the most recent reapportionment. It resulted in the court's ordering the legislature redraw the legislative district boundaries within 30 days of the Jan. 14 convening of the session.

That deadline had some of the senators concerned over the question of public hearings, but Sen. Art Murphy, D-Mullan, said there was still enough time "to hold hearings and then handle" the bills under suspension of the rules.

Under suspension, business which normally takes several days on the House or Senate calendar is speeded up.

Sec. Vernon Brassey, R-Boise, appeared before the committee and labeled some of the reapportionment proposals "somewhat of an abortion" because of their effect on the legislative district. Brassey said he wanted a change to "bring forth my rendition" of what changes should be made in the district, number 14.

At one point, in the debate over hearings, Sen. John Evans, D-Mald, suggested Summers contact the courts about a possible extension of the 30-day time deadline. No further discussion of Evans' idea took place, however.

After arguing about whether to hold the proposed hearings Monday night or Tuesday night, the committee agreed Tuesday afternoon was a good compromise.

Limit proposed

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. C. L. Otter, R-Caldwell, introduced Wednesday a concurrent resolution to limit state agencies to a 5.5 per cent increase in spending during the next fiscal year.

Otter said later that this would be an $8 million increase in general fund spending for fiscal 1975 and "I think that's adequate."

Beyond that any money coming in from present tax sources should be returned to the people in the form of tax relief, he said.

He noted the federal government limited the public to 5.5 per cent increases in wages. "Why can't we limit the government?" Otter asked.

Panel approves DST exemption

BOISE (UPI) — A bill to exempt Southern Idaho from daylight saving time next winter won approval from the House State Affairs committee Wednesday.

Introduced by Rep. Walter Little, R-New Plymouth, the bill for a return to standard time in Southern Idaho next Oct. 1.

Rep. John Eyre, D-Pocatello, tried to have the bill sent to committee of the whole for amendments — to make it effective on the fourth Sunday in October. He was outvoted and the committee then sent the bill to the floor with a 40 pass recommendation.

Under normal procedures the bill will come up for final consideration of the house either Saturday — if the legislature meets this Saturday — or next Monday.

At 2 a.m. Sunday Idaho joins the rest of the nation on daylight saving time under the federal emergency act that cuts for year-around daylight April 27, 1975.

Congress has said a state cannot go on fast time just for the summer but must do so both winter and summer.

Little's bill ties in the face of that edict.

Little said perhaps his bill will add pressure to Congress to repeal the year-around daylight.

Conservatives win tag battle

BOISE (UPI) — House conservatives won their fight Tuesday to force the reorganization committee to put a price tag on government reorganization.

After a three-hour Republican caucus, Rep. Russell Fogg, Idaho Falls, reported that the committee will attach its best estimate of fiscal impact to each of the reorganization bills.

In addition, the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee will be asked to attach comparative figures showing the appropriation for certain functions of government last year and the governor's request this year to help give legislators a better picture of what is happening.

Part of the deal was the withdrawal — by the printing committee — where the whole battle started last Friday — of a letter to the house.

This letter, which the committee originally wanted printed in the Journal, disavowed any responsibility of the printing committee for examination of the content of the reorganization bills.

It said merely that for "expediency" all reorganization bills will be automatically printed without thought to whether they might have a fiscal impact on the state or local budgets. Joint rule 18 of the House and Senate requires fiscal impact notes on bills affecting budgets.

Right after the caucus the printing committee met and formally withdrew its letter and rescinded the action it took Tuesday to print the bills automatically.

Panel gets relief bill

BOISE (UPI) — House Republicans decided Wednesday to send back to committee for revision a bill setting up a disaster relief fund in Idaho.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and other Democrats have objected strongly to the measure on grounds advance monies from the state will be allocated by a Republican legislative committee headed by the lieutenant governor and the speaker.

In re-drafting the bill the committee is expected to remove the lieutenant governor from the committee and presumably to put a Democrat on it. However, the GOP caucus indicated it still wants the funds controlled by a legislative rather than executive body.

GOP ball set

BOISE (UPI) — The annual Republican legislative ball will be Saturday, Feb. 16, at the Rowdew Inn in Boise.

The semi-formal dance is considered to be a chance for Republicans from all over the state to relax, have a good time, and meet with their elected officials on a social basis.

Tickets are $25 a couple and are available at state headquarters or at the door.

Time zone change memorial offered

Times-News Capitol Bureau

BOISE — The Senate State Affairs Committee voted to introduce a joint memorial Wednesday asking for a reworking of the time zone line through Idaho.

Offered by Sen. J. Wilson Steen, R-Glenns Ferry, the memorial asks Congress to draw the division between two time zones east of Burley and Rupert.

Steen told the committee the line would leave 13 eastern Idaho counties in the mountain time zone, where they have been, and leave the rest of the state in the Pacific time zone.

The effect would be to move Burley, Rupert, Twin Falls and Boise, Nampa and Caldwell into the Pacific time zone.

Steen said the memorial was a "compromise" to the question of time zones which has occupied the legislature for the first three weeks of the session.

The committee also agreed to introduce a second joint memorial asking congress to redraw the time line, but not specifying where it should be drawn. Sen. Phil Batt, R-Wilder, was the measure's sponsor.

Health units asked

BOISE (UPI) — The House Health and Welfare Committee Wednesday agreed to introduce legislation permitting formation of health maintenance organizations (HMO) in Idaho.

Dr. John Marks of Sculpin, Inc., drafted the proposed act. He told the committee Idaho is at present bars formation of HMO's.

The bill defines an HMO as a public or private organization which makes health care services available to those enrolled in the program. Physicians are employees of an HMO or partners in it. Marks advocates consumer-owned and operated HMO's.

Man rescues woman from Chicago robber

CHICAGO (UPI) — Good news came in bunches Wednesday for Raymond Williams, an unemployed Navy veteran from Dayton, Ohio, who rescued a woman from being robbed on a city elevated train.

"I believe that people should help each other," Williams said. "This would be one hell of a world if no one cared about others."

Williams, 23, received Chicago's Medal of Honor from Mayor Richard J. Daley. He has already received job offers plus the offer of a car from people who read Williams' bravery on a crowded "el" train Monday night. Williams was standing near the door of the car when a man grabbed the purse of Marjorie Lipke, 52, who was on her way home in suburban Oak Park.

Williams is 5-foot-9-and weighs 150 pounds. The purse snatcher was about 6-foot-2 and weighed 170 pounds. But Williams holds a green belt in judo.

He leaped on the man, threw him into a vacant seat and held him with a judo collar grip until police arrived. Police charged William Bolden, 19, of Chicago, with robbery.

Bop your spouse with a batacas

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI) — Bopping your spouse can be a good way to solve marital problems, according to a representative of a Venice firm which sells special bats just for that purpose.

The bats are made of foam and cloth-covered. "Husbands and wives can have fights and no one will get hurt as long as they avoid striking the head, crotch and breasts," Richard Epstein told members of the 27th annual California State Psychological Association convention here.

Epstein said the clubs are called batacas and make a loud noisy whine which adds to the satisfaction in using them.

His firm, Uniquity of Venice, is attempting to sell psychologists on the idea that they might be prescribed for therapy.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, 39, and since my husband's death three years ago, I've been stuck taking care of my aged parents, 82 and 84.

I do everything for them, and get no salary. I am just about broke, and really should have a paying job.

Dad is senile and almost totally blind and deaf. Mother is diabetic and bedridden. Both are weak and failing.

My problem is this: I want to visit my married daughter in California. Her baby is 2 years old and I haven't even seen him yet. I haven't had a day off in three years. My sister works and I can't get anyone to stay with my parents for two weeks. I am all worn out, and need to get away. My daughter will pay for my trip if I can make it. Please help me.

CHAINED IN N. Y.

'Unchain' sister

DEAR CHAINED: Your parents also are your sister's parents, so why not ask sister to request a two-week leave of absence and give you a long overdue, much needed respite? Or contact County Welfare and ask if they can help you. I wish you luck! P.S. I hope your parents don't know that you feel "stuck" with them. Knowing that they're a burden would make their miserable lot more difficult to bear.

DEAR ABBY: A 22-year-old, graduate student in whom I have more than just a casual interest tells me that she is married "in name only" to a Japanese student. She says he has been in this country for four years and he wants to remain longer, so in order to keep from being sent back to Japan he had to marry a citizen—so she married him.

This girl insists that she has never had anything to do with him sexually even though they live together. She swears up and down that she's telling me the truth, and she married him because she likes to "help" people.

—Abby, doesn't this strike you as being somewhat unusual? Or can this girl be for real? SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: It's a rather bizarre situation, but anything is possible. Even if the girl is telling you the truth, she's still a married woman, so if you're smart, you'll regard her as somebody else's wife.

DEAR ABBY: I am being married soon and am planning my wedding. My older sister was married two years ago in the most beautiful wedding gown and veil I ever saw. I always dreamed of being married in it.

Now I have second thoughts about wearing it because I am very superstitious, and my sister has had terrible luck in her marriage. Her husband got pregnant right off the bat and ran off, saying he was joining the Marines. She found out he never joined the Marines. He went back to an old girl friend who lives in a nearby town.

Anyway, Abby, I would feel creepy wearing my sister's bridal outfit. Do you believe if I wore it it would bring me bad luck? SUPERSTITIOUS

DEAR SUPERSTITIOUS: No. But if you do, don't wear it.

Problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

JEFF WARD, left, and Robert Allrad, who operate Joff's Taxaco Service in Richfield, pose with their new friend—owl. This large horned owl was discovered by Lyle Roundy on the loading dock. It appeared to have a broken wing. Ward and Allrad, assisted by Clyde Paulsen, caught the bird. The bird was turned over to the conservation officer from Carey who says after his wing is healed he will be turned loose.

Blood pressure clinic set Friday

CAREY — The Idaho Heart Association will sponsor a free blood pressure clinic at the LDS Church in Carey at 11 a.m. Friday, to launch the month-long nationwide heart fund campaign.

Wardell Rainey, chairman of Blaine county's heart fund drive, said the year's goal is $1,500.

"Heart and blood vessel diseases kill more than one billion Americans annually," Rainey said. "The toll is greater than all causes of death combined."

During February local heart fund volunteers will visit their neighbors to distribute heart-saving information and collect contributions for research, educational and community service programs dedicated to combating cardiovascular diseases, Rainey said.

Castleford woman injured

TWIN FALLS — A Castleford woman was seriously injured Wednesday when her car struck a car driven by a county sheriff's deputy which apparently pulled in front of her.

Hazel Bishop, 61, was in fair condition this morning at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital after suffering a broken arm, knee and ankle in the collision with the deputy sheriff's vehicle.

According to Idaho State Police reports, Mrs. Bishop was northbound on the county road to Castleford one mile south of Buhl when a police car driven by Sgt. Fryor, 67, apparently attempted a left turn or a U-turn in front of her vehicle at an intersection of two county roads.

Mrs. Bishop's vehicle struck the patrol car in the right side and then went into the borrow pit and struck a power pole. Her husband, Bradley Bishop, 73, was a passenger in the car. Neither he nor Buhl Deputy Fryor were seriously injured. The impact of the collision also apparently forced Fryor's vehicle into the borrow pit. Fryor had been southbound prior to making the turn in front of the Bishop vehicle.

The accident is still under investigation by Idaho State Police and no citations have been issued. There was no indication on the police reports why Fryor attempted the turn in the path of the oncoming vehicle.

TWIN FALLS — An "interesting" and possibly crucial meeting is planned here Tuesday between Magic Valley's two councils of governments (COG) and the State Planning and Community Affairs Agency.

State planners called the meeting to "discuss the relationship and funding level" of the two COGs: The South Idaho Resource Planning and Development Association (SIRPDA) and the Wood River Resource Area Council of Governments (WRRACOG).

Most sources say the discussion will probably boil down to the controversial issue of whether SIRPDA and WRRACOG should merge.

The state planning agency has 32 per cent less federal money to dole out to Idaho's seven COGs for fiscal 1975. The funding cut makes a strong point-for-pooling-manpower-and-resources-in-regional planning.

Both Magic Valley COGs are less than three years old. And both get most of their operating funds from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development through the state planning agency.

SIRPDA takes in Twin Falls, Cassia, Minidoka and Jerome counties. WRRACOG includes Gooding, Blaine, Camas and Lincoln counties.

Prior to announcement of firm federal funding levels, state planners told both COGs they could expect some cut. They estimated about 25 per cent.

The COGs incorporated the estimated loss into their proposed budgets for presentation to the individual counties, which pick up the entire tab for local matching money.

The counties made up at least some of the federal funding cut in their budgets.

But now the COG's federal aid may be cut 32 per cent and replacement of the loss is practically impossible since county budgets are nearly completed.

"There's a question now as to whether we can even operate on these funds," said Paul Kelly, executive director of SIRPDA.

"We very well may be in the position now where the state may force" a merger of SIRPDA and WRRACOG, Kelly said Wednesday.

State planners "just won't say" what they intend to do in Tuesday's meeting, according to Kelly. "If I knew what they are going to say, I would feel a lot more comfortable."

He said the merger question will surely come up, but there has been no indication whether it will concern a "forced" or "voluntary" union. Ray Mickelson, regional director for the state planning agency, said Wednesday the meeting will include a discussion of "how they could operate separately or together with available funds."

"I would hate to say" how firm the state agency will be in its merger talks, Mickelson said.

In an interview last week, Mickelson said the state could force a merger by limiting federal funding to one COG in the Magic Valley.

The state agency has already announced plans to make the COGs develop a joint work program before passing on the federal money.

In any event, the meeting Tuesday "should be interesting," Kelly said. It will be in the Twin Falls County courthouse at 1:30 p.m.

Poor fund drops in TF

TWIN FALLS — Federal and state programs to assist the poor have helped cut Twin Falls County poor fund expenditures from $400,000 per month a few years ago to $6,075 in December, 1973.

County Auditor Harold Lancaster said at one time the poor fund was a major portion of the county budget but it has shown a steady decline over the past few years. For 1974, $138,000 is budgeted, compared to $149,000 in 1973. Lancaster said if present trends continue, the full amount will probably not be used.

Such federal and state programs as Medicare, food stamps and increased Social Security benefits have lessened the taxpayer's load at the county level, Lancaster said.

Lancaster said in addition, the commissioners are frugal in handling out assistance. Where some type of help other than money can be substituted this is done. Frequently a local or transient individual will be asked to work several hours with the janitorial department at the courthouse to pay for the assistance. This discourages those who may not have a genuine need, he said.

Most of the county's poor fund goes to help local families who have temporary emergency needs and a check for rent or to buy fuel. It also provides help for transient families or individuals temporarily stranded here enroute to a job or family help.

County funds no longer go to pay nursing home costs, formerly a large expenditure. It is one time the county operated its own nursing home for indigent aged persons. All nursing home costs for needy persons are now covered by state and federal programs and even part of the drug and medicine costs come from these sources.

County funds must pay some of the hospital bills for indigents and frequently, burial costs are paid by the county when there is no family or no money left by the deceased.

Minico sewer changes set

RUPERT — Immediate measures are being taken by Minidoka County high school administrators to deal with the school's sewer problems.

Dr. Darrell Hatfield, superintendent of Minidoka County schools, said today the school is following recommendations made by Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS) official James Runsvold at a meeting with the school board Tuesday night.

Dr. Hatfield said Runsvold's recommendations were "very much in line" with the school's problems. "We were given no date for a cut off time, so we have some time to investigate other possibilities," he said.

A sign warning of possible health hazards has been placed at the school's sewage drain field, as recommended by Runsvold.

The district is hiring a consulting engineer from the Pocatello firm of "Hottel, Hays, Hamilton," another recommendation from DECS.

District officials are scheduled to meet with the engineer Friday morning to discuss a system of chlorinating the discharge from the school's sewer system.

The school has had sewer problems over a long period of time. Most of the sewer systems in Minidoka County are being revamped to deal with the high water table conditions in the area.

"We had thought we would go in with the Heyburn sewer system, but we had some legal problems there. It hasn't moved as fast as we had thought it would," Dr. Hatfield said.

Sewage plans finalized

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Final plans and specifications for Twin Falls city's secondary sewage treatment facility are scheduled to be delivered Friday morning by engineer Daniel Fouldapour.

City Manager Jean Milar said Fouldapour advised the city he will deliver the plans in person. He represents the firm of Hamilton-Voelker, Boise and Moscow.

The $5 million project will convert the city's primary treatment plant in Snake River Canyon north of town to a secondary facility as required by health and environmental protection standards.

Studies for the improvement began in 1968. The design contract was signed in October, 1972.

Rights retained

TWIN FALLS — A typographical error in the Times-News Wednesday altered the meaning of a sentence.

The sentence which read, "Kramer, however, had returned partial shoreline rights," should have read, "Kramer, however, had retained partial shoreline rights."

The error occurred in the story on the opposition to the Twin Falls Canal Co.'s plan to convey water to the Canyon View and Tuana Mutual Irrigation Companies.

Former Twin Falls Canal Co. Vice Chairman Al Kramer had sold about 600 acres of his pump irrigated farm at the Blue Gulch Reservoir site to the Canyon View Co. for $175,000, while retaining partial shoreline rights.

The Times-News regrets the error.

Shoshone bus routes set

SHOSHONE — The new bus routes for the North Shoshone area will go into effect Monday, school board members decided at a special meeting Monday night.

The original three routes will be combined to eliminate one of the buses. From Monday on there will be just two buses, each taking part of the students from the one bus being eliminated.

Preliminary plans for the new route plan were made at the earlier January meeting, and finalized at the meeting this week. Parents are to be notified by mail of the changes.

The resignation of Mrs. Bobbie Sloan as sixth grade teacher was accepted and Mrs. Ellen Stechlein was hired to complete the school year.

Lengthy discussion centered around the released government funds, from Title III, National Defense Education Act. The State Department has notified local school officials that the money is now released and since Shoshone had qualified to participate they may realize up to about one-half of an approximate $4,000 amount for instructional equipment in science, math and music.

4 of 5 TF canal directors support water plan

Rosholt says he cannot "project whether the court would overlook a sound legal argument to say no" to any request by Tuans or Canyon View for Twin Falls Canal Co. water during a water-short year. But the court's ruling would affirm the canal company's long established priority.

In any case, there would be plenty of water most years for Canyon View and Tuana. While the two projects expect to use nearly 100,000 acre feet of off-damson Millner Dam spillover yearly, reports show that about 1 million acre feet of water go over the dam each year, Rosholt says.

In his view any decision to increase the amount of water conveyed to the two projects for expansion would be the prerogative of the canal company board of directors.

The company's directors in the past had considered the possibility of undertaking expansion into new lands but had rejected the idea because of the $5 million to $15 million development risk involved. Conveying the water, Rosholt says, "We don't take the risk."

According to Emery LeMoynes, president of the Tuana group, the U. S. Bureau of Land Management has designated lands west of the two projects for cattle grazing, preventing expansion of the projects.

Dave Baker, BLM really specialist for the Jarbridge Resource Area, says expansion of farmlands to the west of the two projects "has to be decided upon later."

He says the lands are now classified for multiple use, but that this non-farm designation could be reconsidered. Even now the BLM has not given final approval for making federal land available for the Canyon View and Tuana projects.

"If the water's there then the potential (for farms) is pretty good. But it's real difficult to say that the water is there and just what environmental factors are involved," Baker says. Any consideration of changing the multiple use lands would involve consideration of the effect on all the land's resources as well as the availability of water.

Emery Wisler and LeMoynes, presidents of the Canyon View and Tuana projects, believe the developments will bring wide benefits to Magic Valley. Besides bringing $116,000 in added income to the Twin Falls Canal Co., they say the projects will:

- Provide desperately needed water to well-water farms southwest of the Canyon View project.
- Improve the operation of Twin Falls Canal Co. in late fall and early spring.
- Provide an outlet for excess water flows.
- Generate additional gross annual farm income of at least $10 million for the Magic Valley.
- Create a prime recreational area with varied types of wildlife.
- Keep Snake River water in use in Idaho.

According to LeMoynes, the land in the Blue Gulch area has been labelled as a "critical ground water area" by the State of Idaho. He says the water table has been sinking and that many of the well water farmers have had to reset their pumps.

By bringing surface water through canals and to reservoirs in the area the Canyon View and Tuana projects would help alleviate this problem, LeMoynes says. Some of this water would sink underground, improving the water table, he says.

The projects also would provide a needed spill on the west end of the Twin Falls Canal Co. system. In the late fall and early spring the canal company at times has difficulty providing a limited amount of water to farmers for stock purposes because a substantial flow in the canal would be necessary to reach the farmers' headgates.

With the west end spill, the canal company could maintain a steady 600 cubic feet per second flow through its Highline Canal during these seasons. This would enable the company to serve its stockholders as well as being paid for the extra water spilled, LeMoynes says.

At present the company cuts off its water at Milner Dam during cold spells in the irrigation season. When warm weather returns farmers immediately want water but have to wait three days for the flow to travel from Milner. LeMoynes says the west end spill also would improve this situation.

The spill would be ecologically beneficial because it would prevent excessive return flows to the Snake River, LeMoynes said. He said these flows pick up magnesium and sodium salts, making the Snake too saline.

LeMoynes said creation of two reservoirs would be another environmental and recreational benefit. He said two reservoirs would be well-stocked with fish and would supply resting places for waterfowl and upland birds such as quail, pheasants and partridge, he said.

The projects will help insure that Idaho's water resources are kept in the state, according to Gale Conner, Castleford farmer and a director of the Canyon View development.

Conner said California utility firms have shown they could pump Snake River water to the 6,000 foot level in the South Hills. From there it would flow all the way to California by gravity. On the way, electric plants would harness the water generating enough electricity to pay for the system, he said.

Conner said if Idaho wants to keep its water it should use it. Also, Conner said a charge made by opponents that people filing on project lands would be paid for the extra water, it was false.

He said individuals involved in the project are mostly farmers and "to our knowledge all of these individuals are interested in farming the land themselves."

"I don't believe that there's a half a dozen out of the 60 filings we have in Canyon View that aren't engaged in farming at the present time," Conner said.

He said the project "certainly has not been organized with corporate farming in mind."

Consider elementary schoolteachers. Those researchers who check out the drug statistics use one out of every seven such teachers use tranquilizers, one out of every 10 occasionally smoke marijuana. The tranquilizer statistic may be right, but I certainly question that marijuana figure.

QUESTIONS FROM CLIENTS

Q "In what states can you legally ride a motorcycle without a helmet?"

A California, Mississippi, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Utah. At least reportedly.

Q "Didn't Joe Namath want to go to Notre Dame rather than Alabama?"

A Until he found out Notre Dame was all boys, he did, says he.

Q "What's the prescribed salutation in a letter to an archdeacon?"

A "Venerable Sir."

Q "What's the cost of a phone call from hereabouts to Great Britain?"

A About $1.25 a minute.

Q "How come chickens roost so early?"

A Because their night vision is bad. Vary bad. Terrible.

LOVE AND WAR

Question arises as to whether hair on a man's chest really denotes a more vigorous masculinity. Don't know, don't know. Can only report that surveys prove the ladies think so. "As far as sex appeal goes," says Lou Love and War man, "studies make it clear that a hair on the chest is worth 10 on the head."

Wildlife notes: Remember, it's a male firefly that does the flying; not the female. But the female does the firing. Did you know a single bird would completely fill his midsection with live insects just about four times in every 24 hours? Never saw a hummingbird without his feathers, but an advised such would be no bigger than a bee.

Nixon predicts sharper slowdown from embargo

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has predicted the American economy will suffer a sharper slowdown than originally anticipated and continue to be plagued by rising unemployment and persistent inflation.

"The very mild slowdown which we anticipated for 1974 now threatens to be somewhat more pronounced because of the oil embargo, the resulting shortages and the oil price increases," Nixon said in his State of the Union message to Congress.

"He said the worst will come during the first half of the year with economic conditions improving later.

"Should there appear to be a serious threat of a severe slowdown, then we will act promptly and vigorously to support the economy," he promised.

Everyone knew for some time "that a slowdown in economic growth is inevitable in 1974," Nixon said, but it "now threatens to be somewhat more pronounced" because of the oil embargo, shortages and price rises.

"We expect, therefore, that during the early part of this year, output will rise little if at all, unemployment will rise somewhat and inflation will be high," Nixon said.

Nonetheless, he proposed few new economic initiatives. He said he would continue a policy of "gradual, selective decontrol" of wages and prices, "except in particularly troublesome areas."

And he conceded that although inflation has persisted for a decade, it "got worse in 1973."

Nixon made these points on other economic topics: —Taxes: He reiterated his 1973 proposal for minor tax reform and simplification of tax forms, and again called for a tax cut for elderly families whose property taxes exceed 5 percent of their income and for comparable relief for tenants.

Wheat planting gain seen in '74

DENVER, Colo. — The Agricultural Marketing Service reports farmers' planting intentions for 1974 show that wheat plantings this spring may be over 19 million acres.

A year ago, wheat plantings totaled 15.7 million acres. The report also says corn plantings may increase a tenth to 78.8 million acres. The market service will run another planting intentions survey March 1.

Crop production estimates are based on planting intentions and assume trend yields and adequate supplies of fuel, fertilizer and other inputs. Total wheat production could reach 2,060 million bushels a year. The corn crop may increase 18 per cent to 6.7 billion bushels and the total feed grain crop, including corn, could amount to 235 million tons, up 20 million from 1973.

Prospective spring wheat plantings of 19 million acres together with winter wheat acreage of 81 million acres indicate a 1974 wheat crop of about 2,060 million bushels, up from 1,711 million in 1973. The 1973-74 export estimate has been raised to 1,200 million bushels because shipments from other exporting countries have lagged, indicating a somewhat larger requirement of U. S. wheat. Together with some adjustments in domestic use, a July 1, 1974, carryover of 162 million bushels is indicated. With the projected total supply of 2,243 million bushels for 1974-75 and utilization at 1,758 million bushels, the July 1, 1975, carryover could rise to about 485 million bushels.

Choice feeder steers were fully steady and choice feeder heifers were strong to 1.00 higher. Choice steer and heifer calves were active and strong with good demand.

unchanged and barley acreage prospects are down 15 per cent. The indicated corn acreage would produce a crop of about 6.7 billion bushels, 18 per cent above 1973. The corn supply could total 2.3 billion bushels, 15 per cent above 1973-74. That volume would exceed projected domestic and export requirements and would provide a recovery in carryover stocks from the low 600 million bushels expected this year.

District proclaims sole all-star game control

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor
JEROME — The Fourth District Interscholastic Activities Association board of control proclaimed complete control of the Magic Valley all-star basketball game and gave the district A-4 teams a sanction to conduct a similar event in starting shortly thereafter.

The board said control of the Magic Valley all-star game, started two years ago by a group representing Easter Seals Society was needed for two reasons: Money to support the district extracurricular activities and protection of the graduating high school seniors.

The group stipulated the previous committee had run an excellent program.

Since the first all-star game was run without sanction from anyone (the state board of control voted 8-1 against it), how the district board assumed it had control over boys who had already used up all their prep eligibility wasn't immediately discernible. The area group said it "received control" of the game through endorsement of the state board. No action was taken on the Magic Valley outlaws tournament in Filer which usually "bloods" area seniors.

However, the board said its requirements probably would not exceed a 10 per cent sanctioning fee this year and the bulk of the money would be turned over to a worthy charity. Bob Donnelly, Twin Falls athletic director, was appointed chairman of the event to make all arrangements and negotiate with a charity to sponsor the thing. It later was pointed out the interscholastic activities association might require more of the gate in future years and the 10 per cent this time around was established as a minimum.

Board secretary Frank Charlton, Twin Falls principal, noted the district will "end in the red" this year and reported the state association currently is being forced to withdraw money from its savings account to cover increasing costs. He said this surplus had dwindled from $57,000 to $38,000 in the past three years.

Meanwhile, the state sponsored functions are taking in more money while the state itself is supporting less variety. Music, drama and debate plus girls athletics were labeled as the big money drawers within the district. The state no longer offers any financial support for any of these and doesn't carry them to a state level. Nor does it financially support participation in track, cross country, wrestling, golf or baseball other than providing trophies. It retains all gate receipts from these plus all state tournaments.

It also taxes each district basketball tournament 10 per cent of the total gate receipts.

Visiting trustee Cecil Stanger, Hansen school district board member, suggested all entities should be self sufficient and basketball not be made to pay the freight on over-riding.

Probability of this year's star event being moved from College of Southern Idaho gymnasium loomed large since only Tuesday is available for use in the week following state tournament conclusions.

In other action, Gooding Superintendent James Muscat sought district-wide support in controlling loss of school time for extra curricular activities. Muscat was particularly critical of the one-day wrestling tournament held by several schools in this area during weekdays, generally Thursday.

He said Gooding has embarked on a stringent scheduling format that will preclude loss of school time. "If we had attended all these events, some of our students would have missed eight days in January and February," he said.

He was appointed head of a committee of superintendents to study the matter.

Florin Hulse, Murtaugh superintendent, presented the A-4 all-star matter to the board and after early passage of that motion, clarified the position that any A-4 athlete selected to the All-Star Valley lineup would be allowed to play in both. He said for that reason his group would plan the A-4 game one week following the districtwide event.

A committee representing Easter Seals Society originated and conducted the first area all-star game, then went through the formality of district sanction last spring.

Sports

From all angles

By Larry Hovey

Practically as soon as the money showed everyone fell in love with all-star basketball. From being called a "Machiavelian" plot designed to destroy the future amateur status of every lad in Magic Valley, the area all-star game has been called a "worthwhile" event by the very people who voted 8-1 against it two years ago.

Of course, we refer to the usurpation of the district in proclaiming itself king of the all-star trade. At least they had sense enough to jump on a good thing when they saw it. Boy, did they jump.

Not only will they have a Magic Valley all-star game, we also get an A-4 all-star game. It also was suggested at the meeting that sooner or later the state would step in and run an all-star show.

It is a logical step. It defies history. The basic glamour of the all-star game was the competition of quality kids not usually thrown against each other. More importantly, it was done within a geographical outline that would draw support within easy driving distance. It was done quickly. A three-game series of all-state all-star lost money in the early 1950s.

The proliferation of all-star competition was predictable if allowed to roam in a financial sense, rather than one of athletic bloom. The proliferation was predictable if all-star games were turned from a one-night opportunity for the youngsters who spent the most time beating a hall off a garage-hung basket to be honored to a method of raising deficits.

It is a sentence, the continuation of this — there are a million possibilities — will ultimately result in the death of all-star games. The proliferation from all-star game No. 1 to all-star game No. 2 dropped $2,000.

We don't want to knock the A-4 idea of putting their good boys on display. We would love it even more, dearly if they put them on display without any admission charge.

We can't really get awfully mad at the local group either because this district, for the past five years and under—considerably more so than the others, has become more progressive. The one vote favoring the first all-star game on the state level did not come from the coaches' representative; it came from Earl Carlson, the fourth district representative. It was not this district that sent the only full time paid executive in the association's employ to Twin Falls for two days to verbally attack every phase of it and cost the thing two full days of implementation. It was the state.

It was this district that opened the gates for football playoffs by sacrificing one regular season game to stay within the state-enforced 10-game limit. It was not this district that last week waived a rule and allowed a 20-year old "boy" to play basketball at an A-1 school the rest of this season. It was the state.

It will also be the state that soon will be hit by a court suit that will force usmen, mesvete rule.

We are disappointed. The thing was handled cavalierly at best. That may be okay because they were flat bludgeoned two years ago, so just that sometime, we'd like to hear of the interscholastic activities association doing something just for the kids, not just for the administrators. And is this a moot question? Are music, drama and debate any more important than Easter Seals help for our unfortunate Magic Valley child?

But so long as we definitely appear headed that way, how about a few suggestions. March 25, district A-1 champion against all-stars of the year, for three years, east and west; April 7, over six-footers east and west. And the crowner, April 14, lefthanders against righthanders.

Drafting completed, now pro football bidding war begins

NEW YORK (UPI) — The preliminaries are over and now the main event begins.

The National Football League completed its longest college player draft in eight years Wednesday and the battle lines are now drawn with the new World Football League.

The fledgling league held a preliminary draft of 72 college players last week and the NFL picked its usual 442 players Tuesday and Wednesday in a 22-hour session. Included in that group were the three "name players" reportedly signed Monday by the WFL—UCLA running backs Kermit Johnson and James McAllister and Southern California guard Booker Brown.

All three reportedly signed with the Southern California franchise.

Now the battle to sign players begins and it could result in a renewal of the costly bidding war that forced the AFL and NFL to merge in 1967.

The New York Giants locked up Ohio State guard John Fluke, the Elineman of the year, for three years and $150,000 on Tuesday and Dallas reportedly is ready to announce the signing of No. 1 pick Ed Jones, the defensive tackle from Tennessee State. But it's wide open after that and the WFL soon will conclude its draft of collegians and NFL players whose options have expired.

The NFL clubs inched through the early rounds, fearful of errors in selecting a player already committed to the WFL, but Al Davis, one of the AFL firebrands in the war days of 1960-68, finally fired the first shot.

Davis, once AFL commissioner and now the managing front runner of the Oakland Raiders, selected McAllister in the sixth round, and Sid Gilman, another man instrumental in getting the AFL off the ground, quickly followed by taking Brown. Johnson went to San Francisco a round later.

East ABA all-stars drop west 128-112

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — A fleet, young East squad, paced by most valuable player Artis Gilmore's rebounding and defense, outaced the more experienced West Wednesday night for a 128-112 victory in the American Basketball Association All-Star game.

Gilmore, the 7-foot-2 Kentucky star was the overhelming selection over San Antonio rookie Sven Nater for MVP honors after scoring 18 points, pulling down 13 rebounds in 24 minutes and leading the East on scoring tears in the first and third quarters.

San Diego coach Will Chamberlain, who helped announce the game on national television, after watching Gilmore said, "this guy's got the potential to be as good as anyone."

Gilmore and Nater both gave powerful performances in the pivot in the first half.

Gilmore scored nine points, snared nine rebounds and blocked four shots while playing only the opening period to help the East take a 35-25 lead into the second quarter. Nater played 11 minutes of the first half and tallied 16 points while grabbing eight rebounds.

Nater finished with a game-high 29 points and 22 rebounds in 28 minutes of action while Dan Issel of Kentucky contributed 21 points for the East and rookie Larry Kenon of the New York Nets had 18.

The East took off on a 9-0 lead at the start of the game and the West never recovered, shooting 32 percent for the first quarter from the field.

Nater helped the West come back to within seven at 62-55 at halftime but the East tore away again with a 16-4 burst at the end of the third quarter. During that spurt, Kenon hit two jump shots and thrilled the capacity crowd of 10,624 with a dynamic dunk shot.

New York's Julius Erving played his usual good game with several twisting shots but did not outshine the other stars as many fans thought he would before the game. Erving finished with 14 points and 11 rebounds.

Utah's Ron Boone was second high for the West with 15 points and Indiana's George McGinnis added 14.

Padre deal will be concluded

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI) — Ray Kroc, 71-year-old millionaire owner of the McDonald Corporation who always dreamed of owning a baseball team, will be formally approved today as the new head of the San Diego Padres.

National League club owners met with president Charles (Chub) Feeney to approve Kroc's purchase last week of the financially-troubled Padres from C. Arnold Smith. The meeting is scheduled at a resort hotel for 2:30 p.m. PDT and acceptance of Kroc as a N.L. owner is expected to be a mere formality.

"It'll be strictly a confirmation meeting," said San Francisco Giants owner Horace Stoneham, who makes his off season home in Scottsdale. "There is no other business to discuss as far as I know."

Jerome-WR, GF-Wendell games highlight weekend

Jerome has reached its first decision point Friday and the Little Five Conference title may hang in the balance when Glenns Ferry goes to Wendell

Saturday in highlights of this week's basketball action. Jerome will travel to Wood River in a South Central Idaho Conference game which finds

Wood River holding a one-game lead over Buhl while Jerome is two back—and out of it if it loses this one. Also riding this one is the first-round matchup for the district AA tournament next month. Wood River, giving up a height advantage but showing a strong closing free throw punch, topped Jerome in their first meeting. It was considered a "surprise" at the time, but the Wolverines since have progressed to the point they have to be favored this time around. Still, giving away all that height around the boards, the Wolverines shouldn't win by much.

Minico entertains Twin Falls, travels to Burley on weekend

Minico Coach Gary Swan feels like the lower man in a collapsed pyramid. His Spartans will be hosting Twin Falls Friday night and going to Burley Saturday. Those are the only games his two arch rivals have scheduled this week. "Do you think they're preparing for us," he asked with a smile. But the Spartan mentor isn't feeling the trepidation he would have 10 days ago. "All of a sudden we're doing the things in a game we've been practicing during the week," he said in referring to two SIC wins last weekend. "We're getting some real leadership out of our guards. We could make it interesting."

Foreman okays title defense with Norton

NEW YORK (UPI)—And now the official world heavyweight champion is committed to a title defense with the unofficial, self-designated "people's champion" walls. George Foreman, the champion on a stunning two-round KO of Joe Frazier last January, agreed in full Wednesday to put the crown on the line March 26 in Caracas, Venezuela, against the man who broke Muhammad Ali's jaw, Ken Norton.

in there, with me again." But how about the fact Norton beat Ali and broke his jaw. Does that concern you? "Nuttin' about Norton concerns me," Foreman grinned. Asked about his reaction to Muhammad's fight with Frazier, Foreman said: "I was bored."

Foreman said: "I was bored." For his part, Ken talks quietly and convincingly about his own approach to the title match.

The money will be nice for George and Ken—$700,000 guarantee for the champion, $200,000 for Norton—but that's chicken feed to the winner who will draw against Ali. In the euphoria of Ali's narrow 12-round decision over Frazier Monday night, men who ran the fight said Ali and Foreman could draw $5 million, or $10 million, or name any figure you want—but the same men and Ali quickly admitted that it was far, far too early to get serious about negotiating.

George and two different thoughts," he said. "Against Ali, it's like a chess match. Look for the opening—don't make mistakes. Against George, well, he is the classic slugger. You can't fight him the way you would an Ali. I have to find a way to nullify George's power."

Meanwhile, Twin Falls Coach Don Haynes is looking for the early punch. He wanted to set the tempo in the first game and succeeded. He also remembers that Minico has shown a very deliberate offense at times—so deliberate that once last year it went as mutes without a shot against Borah.

Foreman, all 247 impressive pounds-of-him, said he was looking forward to facing Norton, although he is totally confident he can not only beat the ex-Marine, but put him away for good as well. "Everybody who fights Ali fights him again and again, always saying 'next time I'll get him.' With me, there ain't no next time. When they lose to me, they don't wanna go back El Palero de Caracas," and before the hoped-for capacity closed TV watchers, it probably would pit Norton in his first defense against Ali, whom he beat once officially, lost once on a close verdict.

Coach Charles Farmer takes his Filer Wildcats, who he says are steadily improving in all phases of the game, to Gooding where the Senators have fallen on hard times. These two have the poorest shooting percentages in the league, according to official stats, so the result, probably, lies in rebounding and turnovers.

Buhl can cinch mat title today

BUHL—The Buhl Indians will get after sole possession of the South Central Idaho Conference wrestling championship in hosting Mountain Home in a dual meet Thursday night.

Norton will go into his title dream without his guiding light, the line trainer Eddie Futch. Ken stressed Wednesday that he missed Futch and that there was no trouble between them "but there was friction between my backers and Futch" and the trainer will not be present at Norton's camp in Hot Springs, Calif.

Coach Ivan Davis' Bobcats played to win five points of Minico just before the holidays at Rupert and the coach has promised a maximum effort to win the rematch.

The Indians hold a one-mat-edge-over-runner-up Jerome. Buhl warmed up for the event by beating Valley 40-12 Tuesday night and its Jayvees bowed to Twin Falls 44-14 Wednesday. Results of the matches, Buhl men listed first, include: 127, 101, K. Wolf pinned Childers; 108, K. Fultz decimated by Kincaid; 115, M. Douglas decimated Juchau; 121, Yurbe pinned Harral; 129, Hopkins decimated M. Sellers; 134, John Hays decimated W. Stewart; Scott Walden decimated Harral; 148, Paron pinned F. Howard; 149, Butterworth pinned by Syc; 170, Watson decimated Baker; 188, Hoffman decimated by Rust, and heavyweight, Meier won by forfeit.

Going into the weekend Eric Hovey has regained the SIC scoring lead by average at 20.5, thanks to his 56-point weekend. However, having missed two games his chances of the total point seem very dim.

Here, too, the tempo of the ball game will be at stake since Filer faces an up-downer. Murtugah bunch at Oakley and must win to stay in the race. Glenns Ferry can't possibly be guilty of overlooking its own game plan, as Wendell's Pilots will be home to Buhl, which is running on a 12-2 record and soundly thumped Glenns Ferry 68-31 in the season opener. No one is looking for a repeat of that lopsided score, rest assured.

Twin Falls 64, Buhl 11. Lrapay decimated Foller; 108, Ball pinned by Pulpisler; 115, O'Brien pinned by Dobbs; 121, Hays drew with Murphy; 128, Chaffar decimated by Powlas; 135, Overturf decimated Teatas; 148, Monroe decimated by Beltra; 155, Butterworth pinned by Gambrell; 170, Henderson decimated by Starry; 188, Hoffman pinned by Finlayson, and heavyweight, Meier pinned Hillman.

CSI jets off for two games in Hawaii

The Golden Eagles of Southern Idaho will be banking on the beach in Hawaii today, just about the time you come home from work.

The Eagles jetted off Thursday morning for Hawaii, leaving Jolin Field at 12:55 and reaching Hawaii at 4:55 (their time). While looking Hawaii over, CSI will play the University of Hawaii Jayvees on Friday and Saturday night, returning to Twin Falls Monday morning.

The game times are 6:15 Friday and Saturday in the Valley of the Rainbows, which should put Ed Prater on the air over KLIJ radio about 8:15 to 8:30 p.m. here.

Actually the trip comes at a rather fortunate time for the Eagles who need a little break after trying to regroup from a disastrous post-holiday start. "We've got a lot of little nuisance injuries and problems," Coach Jerry Hale said Wednesday night. "I'm afraid right now we're never to get where we should be."

Idahoans drafted

Three Boise State Broncos and two each from University of Idaho and Idaho State football teams were drafted Wednesday in the second day of the NFL draft.

From Boise State Hal Davis was taken by Atlanta, Dan Dixon by Houston and Don Hunt by Los Angeles.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices were higher in moderate trading Thursday on the New York Stock Exchange. Minutes after the opening the Dow Jones industrial average was up 15 and the S&P 500 index was up 3.45, with most of the gains in prices outnumbered those declining by a margin of 3-to-1.

The current session was significant for the first investor assertion that there will be no recession, and to his announcement that he is seeking a 100 percent increase in government spending in a budget of $104.4 billion for fiscal year 1975, a $9.4 billion deficit.

The market responded with some buying enthusiasm Wednesday to published reports that the crack oil embargo would be lifted. The Dow was up 10 points to 867.32, its first gain in a week. Volume of 16.8 million, although moderate, also was heaviest in a week.

over a few words and his hand motions were choppy. When he took his place at the podium, he was welcomed with a roar of prolonged applause. At times, he read his speech in a perfunctory manner until the last few minutes when he ended his formal remarks and spoke extemporaneously on the "investigations of the so-called Watergate affair," the moment most of the audience appeared to be waiting for.

Hisses could be heard mixed with the applause when Nixon laid down the conditional terms of his cooperation with the Judiciary Committee.

Most of his legislative proposals were rebuffed but he did unveil his long comprehensive "400-billion-year plan for national health insurance with private coverage to be financed mostly by employer-workster payroll premiums.

He appeared to be signaling his intention to fight over the health program by scathingly referring to Sen. Edward M.

Nixon asks new focus

Predicting that the nation could meet the back of the energy crisis in 1974, Nixon also vowed to everything in his power to avoid gas rationing.

"I have renewed energy the 'high-technology' problem facing Congress but also dwell heavily on the 'difficult period' the economy is passing through."

"Inflation, he said, could be checked by a combination of holding down government spending. "There will be no recession in the United States," he promised.

"I separate 22,000-word document, Nixon outlined 10 major legislative goals for this year and disclosed that the federal budget for fiscal 1974 would total a record $394.4 billion.

But he said no new tax increases would be sought to make up for an expected $3.4 billion deficit for the year ending July 1.

The budget appeared confident, although he stumbled

Secret ruling aided oil firms

(C) Washington Star-News

Thanks to a treasury ruling, ordered by the National Security Council in a secret decision in 1950, the Arabian partners (Exxon, Standard of California, Texaco and Mobil) paid $6 million in taxes to the U. S. government in 1951 compared with $50 million the year before, and the U.S. tax dropped to zero.

The Saudi government, at the same time, gained $110 million in 1951 and oil production compared with $66 million the year before.

Church disclosed that a former assistant secretary of state involved in the 1950 decision told the committee at a closed hearing Monday that the ruling was "the brainchild of the N.S.C." and was decided on specifically to ensure stable oil prices in the Middle East oil-producing region.

The basic decision was never deliberated or debated by Congress, Church said. As joint ventures which had direct bearing on today's energy crisis, the committee released a series of hitherto secret communications between the U.S. and Saudi Arabia in recent months.
