Truckers' strike spreading

By United Press International
Armed - National Guard - troops - patrolled Pennsylvania highways and scouted for snipers by helicopter in Ohio Saturday in an effort to stem violence in a strike by independent truckers threatening to choke off food supplies and paralyze industries.
Governors of nine states were called to an emergency meeting in Washington Sunday to discuss with congressmen, federal and state officials and representatives of the trucking industry efforts to reach a settlement in the dispute.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield sent telegrams to federal energy chief William Simon and Senate Commerce Committee Chairman Warren G. Magnuson Saturday calling for immediate action to settle the truckers' strike. He said the strike "could have disastrous effects on the entire country." If it continued.
Gunfire, beatings and other violence, widespread in three days the strike has gone on so far, were reported Saturday in 12 states—

Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Alabama, West Virginia, Iowa, Tennessee, Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, Texas and Kentucky.
Less than a half-dozen injuries were reported all told.
The big rigs blocked truck stops in Southern California and Georgia, but fuel tankers began moving out of oil depots in New Jersey Saturday after a strike-caused delay in deliveries of gasoline in the New York metropolitan area.
About 1,500 Pennsylvania National Guardians patrolled highway overpasses to prevent sniping and bulldozers being dropped on top of trucks still operating. Lt. Gov. Ernest Kline said Guard helicopters would keep an eye over the highways Sunday and the state's entire 21,000 guardsmen would be called out if necessary.

Guard choppers were scouting over major roads in neighboring Ohio with orders from Gov. John J. Gilligan to search out snipers and report potential trouble buildups to the highway patrol.

MV goes onto DST

Most Magic Valley residents appear to be taking daylight saving time in stride.
"It may be a little early to say for sure, since it became effective at 2 a.m. today, Idaho shifted to DST after a bill exempting the southern part of the state was killed in the legislature.
But in the Minidoka area of Minidoka County, some parents say it is complicating a bad situation. Mrs. Maria Stanley said her son, age 9, leaves home at 6:45 a.m. in the dark and with a flashlight signals the school bus to pick him up. Some children six and seven are doing the same, she said.
Mrs. Stanley, who operates a cafe in Minidoka, said it is difficult to take her son to school or to the bus stop because of her own hours.

With DST, she said, children will be on the road at what has been 5:45 a.m. and parents are upset about the situation. "I, for one, plan to keep my son home Monday and I hope others will do this to help bring about a solution," Mrs. Stanley said.
Six similar petitions are also being circulated and other efforts made to have the school district—and bus—or change—the route.
The question reportedly will be discussed in a special meeting of the school board Monday night. Mrs. Stanley said she and other parents plan to attend.

Elsewhere, schools do not plan to adjust class time because of the darkness. Most officials say the situation will change in a few weeks as morning light comes earlier.
Residents will be able to watch their favorite television programs at the usual hour and plane, train and bus schedules will again conform with those in other states.

I-80 guard rail rips car, kills 2 men

Guard rail impales car, 2 die

JEROME — Two men died late Friday when their car was impaled on a guard rail on Interstate 80.
Dead at the scene were the driver, Perry Douglas, 43, Naples, and his passenger, Deane Ervin Shelton, 47, Twin Falls, and formerly of Naples and Buhl.
The accident occurred two miles east of the junction of US 93 and —80 N.

Elza Hall, Jerome County sheriff, said the county coroner, Dr. Lauren Neher, said both men died instantly. The driver was struck by the guard rail section as it entered his side of the car and left through the trunk. The passenger was thrown out.
Sheriff Hall said it appeared from tracks at the scene the vehicle dropped off the edge of the pavement and traveled for some distance with one wheel on the pavement and one on the dirt shoulder, then hit the guard rail.

The two men were the only occupants of the vehicle, Hall said. The accident occurred at 11:54 p.m. Friday in the left hand lane of the freeway. Officers said the vehicle was traveling east at the time.
Hall said investigation is continuing to determine the cause of the accident.

Oil ceiling asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., asked federal energy chief William E. Simon Saturday to explain an "apparent violation" of federal law to his failure to impose ceilings on domestic crude oil prices.
Jackson, chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, released a letter to Simon during his committee's third day of hearings. In Jackson's proposal for a rollback of uncontrolled crude oil prices which are now bringing as much as $10.35 a barrel.

Food staple prices keep spiraling

By United Press International
Prices of some food staples are continuing to spiral upward according to a survey of supermarkets in 10 major cities.
Eggs and milk lead the way, costing more in most of the cities than they did in the second half of 1973.
Egg prices have dropped in as many cities as they have risen, and the price of chicken varies sharply.
The prices of bread, eggs, milk and chicken were surveyed by UPI in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, Columbus, Washington, D.C., Chicago, Atlanta, Dallas, Boston and New York.

The survey found that the price of a dozen AA large eggs jumped 22 cents to $1.05 in Boston, and 15 cents to 91 cents in Washington for the steepest rises since the last check on Nov. 11. Only two cities reported a drop in prices, down 6 cents to 83 in Atlanta and a drop of 3 cents to 74 cents in Los Angeles.
Milk prices jumped in six cities, with a 7 cent hike to 84 cents a half-gallon in New York the highest of all, remained unchanged in San Francisco (66 cents) and Los Angeles (64 cents), and fell by 6 cents to 78 cents in Dallas and dropped 3 cents to 81 cents in Atlanta.

The price of bread showed the sharpest increase in Washington where it was 18 cents higher at 40 cents a loaf, but in Columbus dropped 16 cents to 33 cents. Prices rose by 10 cents a loaf in Boston, and 2 cents in New York and San Francisco. Atlanta's price was down by 14 cents, Dallas by 6 cents and Pittsburgh, 1 cent.

Arrest record release limit asked

(C) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — In the first administration action to implement President Nixon's "major initiative" toward protecting individuals' rights of privacy, the Justice Department proposed Saturday new legislation that would restrict the dissemination of arrest records and other information held in law enforcement data banks.

The proposal would permit individuals to review their records and to correct inaccurate information and allow them to bring lawsuits against anyone who disclosed their records improperly.
It would also require the "sealing" of records after specified times, forbid the disclosure of information for employment and credit checks unless specifically authorized by statute or executive order and impose one-year prison terms of persons who gave out or used the information in an unauthorized manner.
The draft legislation does not answer all the complaints that critics have made about the misuse of criminal justice information systems.

However, the subcommittee in the Justice Department are cooperating to get some kind of bill enacted, with Ervin co-sponsoring the department bill, according to Lawrence M. Baskir, a subcommittee counsel.

Senate confirms Lenaghan, 18-17

By DAVID ESPINOZA
F-N Capitol Bureau
BOISE — The Senate confirmed former labor official Robert Lenaghan to a term on the Public Utilities Commission Friday. The vote was 18-17.
Sen. Lyle Cobbs, R-Boise, who passed on the first roll call, was the deciding vote in Lenaghan's favor, calling it the "toughest vote" he's had to cast in nearly a decade in the legislature.
The confirmation is a victory for Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, who personally appealed for support to a number of senators, and a defeat for Senate President Pro-Tem James E. Ellsworth—R-Leadore, who led the opposition.
The confirmation was Lenaghan's second in three years by the senate. He was named acting director of administrative services in 1971.

Tuana waste water application not withdrawn, Gem aide says

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News Writer
BUHL — The Tuana Mutual Irrigation Co. has not withdrawn its application for Deep Creek waste water, according to Idaho Department of Water Administration.
However, during the past two weeks Tuana president Harry LeMoine repeatedly told the Times-News that he had withdrawn the filing.
A written statement issued by LeMoine on Jan. 21 said, "Tuana Mutual Irrigation Co. has withdrawn its application for waste water filing."
Twin Falls Canal Co. stockholders are now voting on a hotly contested proposal for the canal company to convey water to Tuana and Canyon View Irrigation companies.

The proposal needs a two-thirds majority vote of stockholders to pass. If it fails, the Tuana and Canyon View projects — which plan to irrigate around 47 square miles of land west of Salmon Falls Creek Canyon — will not be possible, according to LeMoine and Canyon View President Emery Wisner.
One of the sources of stockholder opposition had been Tuana's intent regarding Deep Creek water.
Asked Friday why he had not yet withdrawn the Deep Creek application, LeMoine hedged his earlier written statement.

"I agreed to withdraw the waste water filing pending a decision of the water administration as to the amount of waste water available from the Twin Falls Canal Co. system," he said.
LeMoine said, "I've just withdrawn it here or asked them to withdraw it here in Twin Falls (at the Twin Falls DWA district office)."
"As far as I'm concerned when I went in there I asked them to withdraw the legal advertising," LeMoine said.
But Mike Steele, Twin Falls waste resource technician for the DWA, said advertisements must be made two consecutive weeks following a water filing.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Leroy Bailey, a faceless and sightless Vietnam veteran whose treatment by the Veterans Administration drew the concern of President Nixon, has turned again to a private doctor for help. But this time, the VA says it will pay the bills.

Bailey hopes that if he undergoes a series of painful operations by Dr. Charles Furlow, a plastic surgeon in suburban Oakbrook, he might be able to chew solid foods again. Besides being blind and having only the traces of an eye, Bailey has been on a liquid diet since his face was "shot off" by an enemy rocket in 1968.

Doctors at Hines Veterans Hospital say they can perform similar surgery on Bailey, but they are not as optimistic as Janda. Bailey is reluctant to return to Hines.

After he was injured, he underwent dozens of operations there for three years. Then doctors discharged him, saying there was no more they could do, and Bailey went on feeding himself by squirting liquids into the cavity where his mouth used to be.

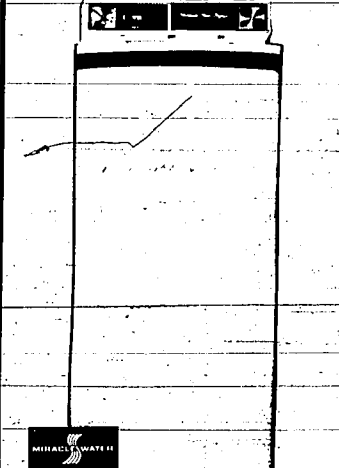

In 1971, Bailey got surgical help from Janda, who also heads the plastic surgery unit at Chicago's Morry Hospital, but the VA refused to pay the bills because it said Bailey's injury was not "service-connected."

p.m. on a request from Floyd O. Small for rezoning of his residential-medium density property to commercial-generals. The zone change is for two parcels of land owned by Small.

The council will also consider an agreement with the Twin Falls Highway District; approve the golf course schedule for 1974; present a certificate to Fireman Floyd Gambrel, consider acceptance of the Hillcrest Meadows plans, discuss requests from Keith Peterson for water service outside of the city and that Mr. Huff— for sewer service outside the city.

The council will also discuss an ordinance change requested by the Twin Falls Planning and Zoning Commission.

One advantage of a convention like Flannery is that the opponents are not likely to know how to bid against it. So for the benefit of those duplicate players who may run into it we suggest the following:

1. Be sure to remember that the two-diamond opening shows five hearts, four spades, and 12-16 high-card points.
2. Double to show both minor suits.
3. Bid two hearts to show both minors and spades.
4. Bid two spades to show a strong spade suit.
5. Bid two notrump to suggest game in notrump.
6. Bid a minor suit normally bearing in mind that you are bidding it at the three level.

When you do play a dummy against a Flannery bidder you may be able to profit from your knowledge of the Flannery hand.

East played the seven of hearts at trick one and South was in with the king. A quick count showed him that he needed four spade tricks, if he wanted to score his game. The best way to collect them against the four spades he knew were in the East hand, would be to finesse twice against East. So he led a spade to dummy's king and led the 10 back. East's jack fell in his own hand when he entered dummy again, with the king of diamonds and finessed against the nine spade.

Detection unit work explained

GOODING — Idaho has been given instructions on how to give themselves a breast examination. Mrs. Loewen told the group that 95 per cent of the women discover their own condition, a lump in the breast.

Too many times these self-breast-examinations are not done regularly with the result that about 60 per cent of those who do discover the lump find it after it has spread to the auxiliary lymph nodes, she reported.

Following the breast examination X-rays are taken by the latest method and a clinical examination is given by a registered nurse.

If the tests disclose the possibility of growth or other abnormality, the woman's family doctor is advised, according to Mrs. Loewen.

The trip through the Breast Cancer Detection Center is free to women of at least 35 years of

Credibility key to huge projects

A series of recent statements has led to a credibility gap which could threaten two large reclamation projects planned for western Twin Falls County.

Harry LeMoyno, a Twin Falls realtor and president of Tuana Mutual Irrigation Co., has made contradictory statements regarding his organization's intended source of water to irrigate large tracts of land west of Salmon Falls Creek Canyon.

On the one hand, LeMoyno has told the Times-News repeatedly that he had withdrawn applications for water from Deep Creek in the western sector of the Twin Falls tract. The statement was made in writing on Jan. 21.

But a check of Idaho Department of Water Administration files showed that by Friday the application had not been withdrawn.

Moreover, Tuana's plans call for use of 33,000 acre feet of water but provide storage for only 23,500 acre feet. Under such a system it is clear the additional 9,500 acre feet of water must be replenished during the irrigation season.

This suggests strongly that Tuana's intention is in fact to use Deep Creek water or water from another source during the irrigation season despite statements to the contrary.

Additionally, LeMoyno has repeatedly said the Deep Creek water applications involved only off-season water and not water during the irrigation season.

He said Jan. 21 and later that the applications mistakenly had claimed water during the summer irrigation season.

However, as of Friday, the application dates — the erroneous ones — had not been changed.

We have no way of knowing what Tuana's true intentions are, nor can we say LeMoyno is misleading the public.

Nevertheless, discrepancies in statements and actions taken are the stuff that could kill what may be a sound project.

Shareholders of the Twin Falls Canal Co. currently are voting on an agreement in which the canal company would transport water to Tuana and another larger project, Canyon View.

Tuana officials should clarify their position and bring their actions into conformity with what they say, or skeptical canal company shareholders surely will scuttle the proposed water transport agreement.

The stakes are too high — 47 squares miles of new farmland with likely income of over $10 million a year — to see the projects undercut by lack of confidence.

Bright month

February is the bright month of the winter. First of all, there are the two "fun"-days of the month — when the groundhog — or perhaps in this country, Magic Valley's rockchucks — come out to look for their shadows and foretell the length of the season, and St. Valentine's Day, the time for friends and lovers to exchange tokens of esteem.

It's the something of a patriotic month, with the observance of the birthday anniversaries of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington.

But most of all, it's the month when the promise of spring's approach becomes a reality. When morning and evenings are clear, the days are somewhat milder and noticeably longer, the light seems brighter, and — daylight saving time notwithstanding — sunset seems a good deal later than when the year turned only four weeks or so in the past.

And every fourth year, there's the unique benefit of an extra day, just to put planet Earth back on its orbital schedule.

Short but enjoyable — that's February.

Twin challenges hurled

(c) Chicago Daily News
WASHINGTON — The time has come to 'get off my back'!

That, in effect, was President Nixon's answer last night of the charges of corruption and abuse of power that have engulfed the White House.

He also said "one year of Watergate is enough" and that he would never "walk away" from his job.

With the message, contained in a postscript to his State of the Union address, the embattled chief executive has thrown down challenges to the House Judiciary Committee engaged in an impeachment inquiry — and to the special Watergate prosecutor.

Nixon, tense but firm, appeared to be advising prosecutor Leon Jaworski that he has turned over all the White House files, documents and tapes he intends to yield. And while he pledged to cooperate with the Judiciary panel, he imposed a limitation which threatens a potential confrontation with the House committee.

The address itself was a grab bag of campaign-tested political appeals, which drew some 33 bursts of applause, some sustained and fervent and most of them from the Republican side of the aisle.

Nixon repeatedly emphasized peace as his overriding priority. But he ranged across the spectrum of domestic issues with more optimism than his associates have been willing to display.

"There will be no recession," he stated, with coin-like certainty.

The President ended his prepared text with a brief, reminiscent note about himself and the late John F. Kennedy as two former Congressmen who never dreamed they would become president.

He closed the manila folder on the rostrum, and the escorting members started forward to accompany him out of the chamber. Putting his left hand in his pocket, he began his peroration on Watergate.

He said he thought the time had come to bring the investigations to a close. As GOP members began to applaud, he declared:

PETER LISAGOR

"One year of Watergate is enough." The special prosecutor had been provided with "all the material he needs to conclude his investigation — and proceed to prosecute the guilty and clear the innocent," Nixon said.

As for the Judiciary committee, he would cooperate "in any way that I consider consistent with my responsibilities" as President. He said "one limitation was that he would do nothing that 'weaken' the office of the presidency or 'upstairs' the ability of future presidents to make "the great decisions."

It was the same argument he has used before to resist requests for additional material from the special prosecutor's office, and from the Senate Watergate committee.

First reactions to the President's performance was that he had possibly defused the impeachment drive. This was the studied opinion of Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill.

But when asked if he thought the President was "out of the woods" on Watergate, Percy replied, "Oh, no. If he refuses the Judiciary committee a reasonable request for material needed to prove innocence or guilt of alleged criminal activity, he would have broken or pledged that he made to the American people."

THOSTESON, M.D.

Try wool socks

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For the past year my husband, who is 69, has increasingly complained of cold feet. A recent physical revealed nothing, all tests proving normal. Have you any suggestions? — Mrs. F. M. S.

At his age, there may be a gradual decline in circulation. I would suggest that wool socks and "buerger's exercises," which his doctor can readily explain to him.

Thought for today

A thought for the day: Horace Greeley advised 19th-century young men, "If you have no family or friends to aid you, and no prospect opened to you there, turn your face to the great West and there build up a home and fortune." It was John Bunker's office of the presidency or "upstairs" the ability of future presidents to make "the great decisions."

Brandeis statement still holds

WASHINGTON — Federal Judge Gerhard Gesell cited the late Supreme Court Justice Louis Brandeis when he sentenced Egil (Bud) Krogh to six months in the jug for Krogh's part in the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

To wit: "If the government becomes a lawbreaker, it breeds contempt for the law; it invites every man to become a law unto himself; it invites anarchy."

That says it all. Krogh worked at the White House and he pleaded guilty to a conspiracy to violate the rights of Dr. Lewis Fielding in a search for the medical records of Ellsberg, who had worked for the Defense Department and subsequently was charged with leaking the secret Pentagon Papers to assorted giants of the media.

But the irony is thick. Thanks to the tactics of the prosecution, Ellsberg went free, although the judge noted he was not finding Danny Boy innocent. Indeed, Ellsberg had admitted he passed the Pentagon Papers on to practically every reporter who would accept them.

Like Krogh, Ellsberg took the law into his own hands. Krogh did so out of a notion that any action was permissible in the name of national security. Ellsberg did so out of the elitist notion that certain people in the United States are more qualified intellectually to decide what government documents should be labeled secret.

Well, nothing can be done about that now except to hope no future President will decide that Danny Boy is just the guy to sit in, ex officio, at National Security Council sessions as an ombudsman for the people's right to know. But at least the Krogh case shows that the system sometimes works.

ANDREW TULLY

Krogh of course made a deal with the prosecution. He got a lighter sentence than he might have because he'll be testifying before one of the Watergate grand juries in behalf of the state.

That's another helping of irony. Ellsberg's act was his own. On the other hand, it is clear that Krogh was acting under somebody's orders. Thus what he did is perhaps understandable, especially in a White House atmosphere Krogh said was characterized by constant "invocations of national security."

Which of course leads to the question: Who have Krogh those orders?

Krogh said in a written statement that he "thought" the break-in had been authorized by John D. Ehrlichman, former White House domestic affairs adviser. Ehrlichman, said Krogh, gave the "plumbers" authority to "engage in covert activity to obtain information on Dr. Ellsberg." He said he assumed that a break-in was within the authority of the "plumbers."

—However, Krogh also quoted Ehrlichman as saying after the burglary that he (Ehrlichman) considered it "in excess of what he thought he had approved." That poses another question: Does an order to "engage in covert activity" suggest approval of burglary? Certainly breaking into a doctor's office cannot be done overtly.

It is still a part of worms. Krogh has said he personally received no orders from President Nixon, either directly or indirectly, to carry out the break-in.

That figures. No President would issue such orders; Presidents do not "just" expose themselves.

But the burglary was committed by a White House unit. In considering impeachment, the House must decide whether a President is personally responsible for the actions of his appointed assistants. There was "no such question in the Ellsberg case.

Oldest TF barber 90

It was a big day last Thursday for Gerald T. (Jerry) Hunt, Twin Falls' oldest living barber. He hung out his shingle here in 1908 (about May 15) and Thursday observed his 90th birthday anniversary.

His son, Skip, was unable to come up for the event but his grandson, Jerry D. Hunt and wife Leannah, flew in from San Francisco to help Mr. Hunt (whose nickname is Jerry) celebrate. Thursday morning it was a coffee crowd at the Rogerson with old friends and then that evening a family dinner at the Golden R. His grandson and wife flew back to the Bay area Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Hunt's story about early Twin Falls was one of the features of last year's history edition of the Times-News in June. A highlight we remember is that a runaway horse went through Mr. Hunt's barber shop, located where the J. C. Penney store is now.

Those were the days — and many happy returns to you, Mr. Hunt!

ASAVING We are not sure that we are helping the energy crisis — but we must be helping some crisis — perhaps the paper shortage. Whereas we used to use two pieces of Kleenex each time we blew our nose, now we only use one. Of course, we have had to cut down on the force of the blow, but that's a little better. But come to think of it, that lighter blow could be classed as saving energy, couldn't it?

ON THE BEACH

Had a note the other day from Bill and Margaret Carter of Gooding fame. Now retired, they are living the hard life by a little tugging of the old-oakies-of-our-kind. Right now they are at famed Vero Beach in Florida and are enjoying every minute of it. They were with us on the Times-News trip to Hawaii last year and just wanted to let us know that it was also nice and warm down in Florida — adding something about hearing how our winter weather was holding on up here. In any event — regardless of the slay dir — we are glad they are enjoying things. More power to them!

MUST BE SPRING

It just has to be spring — or mighty close. Was having lunch at home and just as I got ready to take a big bite of whatever the food was Mrs. Spector had prepared — there was a real, live fly looking up at me and stretching his wings. Really!

REMEMBER AGNEW

Remember former Vice-President Agnew? One laughing thing I remember involving him was noted while watching TV coverage of one of his talks at the time the students were giving him a bad time. He shouted remarks against him were a little uncelled for and he said: "I hope you students will remember there are six young ladies in the front row down here and I wouldn't want you to embarrass them."

Only thing the "young ladies" were actually "young men" with long hair. With color television you could note the redness in Agnew's face.

New canyon access possible

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — Expansion of the Twin Falls sewage treatment plant could result in a new public access to recreation sites in the Snake River Canyon.
Officials from city, county and federal agencies met Friday with private landowners to discuss widening of Taylor Grade into the canyon.

City Engineer George Michael said the road from the canyon rim of the Perrine Bridge will have to be widened when the city completes its expansion of its sewage treatment plant this year or next. The widening will be necessary, he said, to allow the passage of heavy trucks transporting chemicals to and from the plant on the Snake River. Cost of the work is estimated at $400,000.

But the issue with the Taylor Grade goes beyond treatment plant access. While federal funds will probably be available to partially offset the costs of widening the road as a treatment plant access, the question is whether the road will widen only as needed for treatment plant traffic or whether it will be widened to allow public access to the canyon bottom. That could mean the development of recreation sites on parcels owned by the Bureau of Land Management.

Just how and by whom the road is to be widened and maintained involves the interest of private landowners, developers, the city, the county, the BLM, the Twin Falls Highway District and possibly the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

Currently, Taylor Grade is maintained by the city in return for a right-of-way to the sewage plant. The gravel surface allows only one-way traffic at its narrowest point, and property owner Joseph McCollum discourages public use of the road, although it is not barred.

Dingwall said Friday he is opposed to public access through his property, which he called "ideal" for raising cattle. "I've got a typical farmer's idea of what the public does," Dingwall said. He said at least three head of cattle have been stolen from his property recently, two of his horses were shot, and a portable cement-mixer was carted away.

All its going to cost us is harassment (to let the BLM in)," he said. At the same time, engineers planning the treatment plant want a decision, so they can send cost estimates to the environmental Protection Agency, which could pick up 75 per cent of the tab.

Twin Falls Mayor Winston Jones suggested Friday the Taylor Grade be made part of a road to tie in with a north rim access currently available to the public at the western end of the Jerome Country Club golf course. No decisions were reached Friday. Engineers for the treatment plant were asked to approach the EPA from the point of view of a paved road.

Nixon, Gromyko meet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon Saturday arranged a short weekend at his Camp David mountain retreat in Maryland before meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at the White House. The President may set a tentative timetable for another trip to Moscow when he sees the Russian. Gromyko was to arrive today from Havana, where Soviet Communist chairman Leonid I. Brezhnev is visiting Cuba for the first time.

Syria, Israel clash

By United Press International
Syria and Israel fought a three-hour artillery battle Saturday amid reports the United States had sent "new ideas" to the Syrians and Israelis on disengagement of their troops from the Golan Heights cease-fire lines.

Syria said its forces killed or wounded about 25 Israelis and knocked out several tanks in the artillery clash on the Golan Heights, but Israel said it suffered no casualties.

In shelling exchanges at four points. In the latest of daily clashes on the Golan Heights, a military spokesman in Damascus said that Syrian anti-tank weapons scored a direct hit on an Israeli armored personnel carrier, destroying it and its occupants.

Skylab winds down

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Skylab 3 astronauts, wearing the suit and helmet space flight, Saturday found and corrected a minor problem in the Apollo spaceship, which will return them to earth later this week.
Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue, in the 79th day of their 84-day mission, checked the Apollo's electrical and fuel systems. With only five full days left in orbit, the pilots have few research tasks left and Sunday begin to store their treasure chest of film, tape recordings and other data in the Apollo.

Tuana waste water bid not pulled, aide says

The price of making the application for Deep Creek waste water was $725, LeMoynes said. Because of the cost, he said he did not want to withdraw the application until the water administration decides whether waste water for Tuana exists.
LeMoynes said he discussed with Haynes the possibility of the DWA making such a study when he requested stopping advertisements.
"I'm going to try to get in touch with the Water Administration later this afternoon to find out if such a determination has been made yet," LeMoynes said Friday.
However, Haynes was in North Idaho Friday and could not be reached, LeMoynes said later.
DWA chief investigator Sheri Chapman told the Times-News Friday DWA has not considered the question of excess water in Deep Creek since July, 1971.
He said he has not been contacted about making such a study, but said DWA staff members soon will be considering whether to research the matter next summer.
The water administration's findings may well depend on whether LeMoynes is applying for irrigation-season or off-season waters.
The application shows that LeMoynes filed for 200 cubic feet per second of Deep Creek waste water to be taken from March 15 to Nov. 15 — during the irrigation season.
LeMoynes repeatedly has told the Times-News that the dates in the application were in error.

"This filing was intended to cover the period from November to March, when excess waters flow through Deep Creek and are wasted into the Snake River," LeMoynes said in his Jan. 21 statement.
The dates on the application officially had not been changed by Friday.
LeMoynes said Friday that if Tuana could obtain the Deep Creek waste water the company's reservoir storage wouldn't have to be as big.
Engineering plans for Tuana's Yahoo Creek Reservoir call for storage of a maximum of 23,900 acre feet. The project intends to use approximately 33,000 acre feet of water annually to irrigate about 10,000 acres of land.
LeMoynes said Tuana is considering the possibility of either enlarging the Yahoo Creek Reservoir or reducing the number of acres to be irrigated.
But he said the reservoir storage could be supplemented by Twin Falls Canal Co. waste water dumped into Deep Creek.
LeMoynes emphasized that the Deep Creek waste water filing in no way jeopardizes the rights of those using Deep Creek water.

He said Tuana has only applied for excess water spilled into Deep Creek by the Twin Falls Canal Co. Water from irrigated fields which seeps into the creek is not included in this filing, LeMoynes said.
According to Tuana's application the "source of water would be 'waste water from Twin Falls Canal system.'"
But Steele could find no definition of "waste water" in the Idaho Water Laws and Regulations manual.
"I think a definition of waste water would have to come from the director of the DWA," he said. He pointed out that if an individual's waste water runs into a drainage where there are several users it is not automatically his water.
Bob Corrie, Buhl farmer, said there is plenty of excess water in Deep Creek during the flood period when fields are not being irrigated.
"But I do not think there is excess on season water," he said. During July and August he said there is "very little spill" in Deep Creek after water is diverted past Canal No. 10, the last taking waters from the creek.
Corrie said that at numerous public meetings, LeMoynes and other representatives of Tuana stressed they wanted to use their own Millner Dam spillover water and that "nothing was said about using on-season water."
However, because of the limited size of the Yahoo Creek Reservoir, Corrie believed that Tuana wanted to make use of on season water.

Counts eliminated

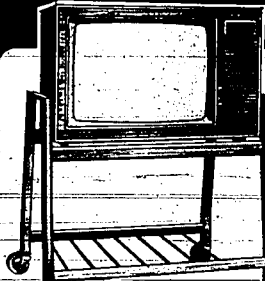

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some members of the House Judiciary Committee said Saturday they have eliminated at least two possible grounds for impeachment of President Nixon — the impoundment of appropriations and the secret 1970 bombing of Cambodia.
Several Republicans and some Democrats on the committee said Nixon was unlikely to be impeached for these reasons. But they hesitated to rule out any of the other issues raised in an impeachment resolution listing over 20 possible impeachable acts.
The committee, which is conducting an inquiry into possible grounds for impeaching Nixon, has instructed the staff to submit a legal brief by Feb. 20 with conclusions on what constitutes an impeachable offense. Among the other possible grounds were obstruction of justice, knowledge of a felony and accepting favors for campaign contributions — most of them related to Watergate.
"Impoundment and bombing are not impeachable acts on the border on being frivolous," said Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif.
One Democrat who asked not to be identified added: "We've got 30 or 40 other things we can impeach him on."

Lenaghan wins PUC job on 18-17 Senate vote

Senate Minority Leader John Evans, D-Malad, led the fight on the floor for Lenaghan. He termed the appointee a man of integrity and ability, and said he would make a "great commissioner." He read the Senate a list of previous work Lenaghan had performed, citing it as evidence of selfless public service in the state.

Evans said he wanted a man on the PUC "who knows that labor, industry and agriculture working together have built Idaho." Evansworth called into question a management audit performed by Lenaghan's Department of Administrative Services, a controversial issue in the legislature a year ago.

The president pro tem said the communication he had received from his constituents had been in opposition to Lenaghan. "If you want to return government to the people the first place to start is here," he said.

Sen. Walt Yarborough, R-Grand View, said he regretted having to appease Lenaghan's appointment.

But he said the "easy way" was to vote to confirm Bilyou and said he had never seen so many people so concerned about an appointment." Sen. Charles Bilyou, D-Pocatello, said Lenaghan was once his greatest political enemy after helping defeat him in an election. Subsequently, he said, Lenaghan had supported both him and his wife, a former state senator with the result that he is now "a very good friend."

Lenaghan, he said, would stand up to the "special interests" in the state, and was "bright enough" to represent the public on the commission.

"Every man woman and child in the state of Idaho will receive fair treatment from a commissioner by the name of Robert Lenaghan," Bilyou promised.

Sen. John Peavey, one of six Republicans to vote to confirm Lenaghan, said Lenaghan had been fair in a Commission hearing in Hailey last summer in protecting the rights of a Farm Bureau representative at a telephone hearing.

In a period of shortages of energy, Peavey said, "we need someone who is going to make them (industries) prove they need these increases."

Lenaghan, who first took his seat last spring on the Commission, will serve until January, 1979.

MV votes split

(Times-News Capitol Bureau)
BOISE — Magic Valley senators split 3-3 on the confirmation vote of Robert Lenaghan to the Public Utilities Commission Friday.

The three voting in Lenaghan's favor included two Republicans, Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls and John Peavey, R-Rupert, and Democrat Robert Saxvik, D-Burley.

The three senators who opposed the confirmation were Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, J. Wilson Steen, R-Glenns Ferry, and James Yest, R-Wendell.

Idahoans ignoring drainage well law

(Times-News Capitol Bureau)
BOISE — The Department of Water Administration is faced with massive non-compliance with a 1971 state law requiring permits for drainage wells.

R. Keith Higginson, department administrator, said permit applications have been received for about 450 existing wells, mostly in southern Idaho. There are an estimated 3,500 wells in operation, according to Higginson.

Despite the violation of law, Higginson said he was "not contemplating any massive closure of wells or lawsuits. That would be unthinkable."

The law passed by the 1971 legislature required permits for construction of new wells and required applications for permits on existing wells effective Jan. 1, 1974. The legislation also required the department to adopt plans and regulations to control irrigation drainage wells.

The department is conducting studies to determine the effect of wells on the underground aquifer.

"Before you tell someone they can't use a well you have to show an effect on the water supplies," Higginson said.

The federal Environmental Protection Agency has awarded the state a $100,000 grant to permit "very specific studies" by the department over a three-year period.

"It is unlikely that any action will be taken against persons not applying for wells until at least some of those studies are complete," Higginson said. In addition, action will be delayed on the permit applications that have been received.

Higginson emphasized the studies wouldn't require any additional state funds to complete.

Data sharing OK'd

(Times-News Capitol Bureau)
BOISE — The Forest Service has agreed to share information with the state about stream channel alteration work it does on federal land in Idaho.

R. Keith Higginson, administrator of the Department of Water Administration said the federal government and his agency have worked out the agreement to let the state know what alterations the federal government has planned. The agreement would also permit state engineers to view the plans.

Higginson said the department has been seeking such an arrangement since the 1971 Stream Channel Protection Act was passed.

Symms panel lists funds

(Times-News Capitol Bureau)
BOISE — The State Symms for Congress Committee has reported only minor receipts and expenditures for the last reporting period.

A report filed with the Office of the Secretary of State indicates total receipts of $2 for the reporting period from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31, 1973. Total expenditures were $6.44.

Gem revamp rolling along

BOISE (UPI) — Both houses of the Idaho Legislature are starting to move on government reorganization and, barring roadblocks not now foreseen, the voter-mandated job should be done on time.

Two bills went through the House Friday, reorganizing the office of Secretary of State and creating a Department of Correction — with but a whisper of opposition.

Explaining his negative vote on the first bill, Rep. Lee Barron, R-Corral, said the people approved the constitutional amendment forcing reorganization with the understanding it would lead to fiscal reform. Three more bills are up for final consideration in the House Monday.

In the Senate, passage of the first bill — setting up the Department of Education — ran into some flak on the floor but got through 25-5.

House members wrangled about disaster relief for nearly two hours before passing a bill 40-25 and shipping it to the Senate. It sets up a permanent disaster fund administered under a legislative committee.

Rep. Perry Swisher, R-Pocatello, talked the House State Affairs Committee into introducing

Oil probe hints yield cut back

(C) Washington Star-News
WASHINGTON — Senate investigators pressed strongly Friday major oil companies deliberately slowed down production during the late 1960s even when they were beginning to realize that a world-wide energy shortage was coming.
 Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, chairing the investigation of oil industry policies, asked pointedly, "Was the industry planning for a scarcity? It leads me to wonder if this scarcity wasn't thought to be a good thing for the industry?"
 The questions were directed at George T. Percy, a senior vice president of Exxon, the world's largest oil company, and chief price negotiator in the Middle East.
 Asked to answer for the Exxon position on the sharp oil price increases in the Middle East in recent years, Percy produced an industry chart showing world oil demand increasing sharply after 1960 and spare production capacity leveling off and declining during the same period.
 Members of Church's Subcommittee on Multi-National Corporations immediately pointed to the chart as evidence of "industry incompetence, or worse."
 And Church, backed by committee counsel Jerome

Levenson, made two points: Turning 1969 through 1970, the Shah of Iran presented unsuccessfully for increased production from the Iranian Oil Consortium, an international industry group of which Exxon is a part.
 During 1973, the Arabian American Oil Company (ARAMCO), in which Exxon also is a major participant, planned to increase Saudi Arabian oil production from 5.7 million barrels a day to about 10 million barrels. But during the late 1960s, when world supplies began to tighten, Aramco kept Arabian production relatively level.
 Only after 1970, when shortages began to develop and prices began to increase sharply did the producing companies begin to press for sharply increased production.
 "Aramco is not the whole industry," Percy tried to explain several times.
 But Church brushed that explanation aside. "Aramco is four of the largest companies (Exxon, Standard of California, and Mobil, in addition to Exxon). The whole industry is tied together out there," he said.
 "All the companies are tied in together in ownerships and consortia which control the production of that whole region."

Demo pledges 'Gate pursuit

(C) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — The Senate democratic leader, Mike Mansfield, declared Friday night that Congress and the courts must pursue their Watergate investigations "in order to cleanse the political processes of this nation."
 The senator from Montana, responding on behalf of the Democratic majority in Congress to President Nixon's State of the Union address on Wednesday, pledged that his party would put "the regular business of the nation" ahead of Watergate.
 "But Mansfield said that Congress would deal 'fully' with the inquiry into the possible impeachment of the President and he specifically rejected Nixon's plea for an end to the Watergate investigations.
 Mansfield said pointedly that the Watergate special prosecutor, Leon Jaworski, and the federal courts must take "however long may be necessary" to complete their criminal investigations.
 In his prepared remarks, Mansfield appealed to the President to join the Democratic leadership in pressing for public funding of federal elections.
 "The senator also said Congress would attempt to reduce the $30.4 billion budget request that Nixon would lay out to the House and Senate Monday. Among other major priorities set by Mansfield was a system of national health insurance "which covers all Americans," expanded federal housing assistance, reform of private pension systems, a raise of minimum wage levels, tax reform, a national program of "no-fault" auto insurance and "a renewed commitment to excellence in education after years of administrative indifference."

 In a counterpoint to Nixon's declarations of diplomatic and domestic achievements of the last five years, the Democratic leader contended that Congress had been able last year to halt "an ominous shift to one-branched government."

North side assembly elects new president

SHOSHONE—James Muffley, Gooding, was elected president of North Side Communities Inc. at the Thursday night meeting at the Manhattan cafe.

Retiring president Claude Bowman, Rupert, announced that Mrs. LaVonne Colbert, Rupert, will continue to serve as secretary-treasurer for the organization.

Gifts of appreciation for their past year's service were given to Bowman and Mrs. Colbert by Merle Hanna, Rupert. The plaque given Bowman was made by Hanna, in three-dimension with a gavel and gaveling.

Speaker for the evening was Odell Frandsen, manager of the Shoshone office, Bureau of Land Management, who outlined the multiple use management of public lands administered by the BLM.

Frandsen explained that the bureau is committed by law and regulation to a program of multiple use of the public lands. Multiple use requires a careful combination of uses and activities on the same land area to best serve the public.

He outlined the steps taken by the bureau, "direction, information, planning decisions, action programs, evaluation," under objectives to provide resource conservation, community, industry and user stability and growth along with regional development.

"Economics must be considered along with uses, environment, individual planning units set up and action programs initiated to consider the plan a success.

During the business meeting conducted by President Bowman, Clyde Peterson, Wendell, and G. J. Price, Gooding, reviewed work that has been done to date and needed further promotion to secure improvement of the West Magic Reservoir road.

The members voted to support the improvement project and to take definite steps as soon as committee members are appointed to spearhead the work.

Community reports were given by representatives from Gooding, Dietrich, Wendell, Jerome and Shoshone.

TF Jaycees launch project on car theft

TWIN FALLS — Finding your car has been stolen can be a shattering experience. Police reports show 91 persons experienced the problem in Twin Falls last year. In most cases it could have been avoided by a simple precaution.

The Twin Falls Jaycees, working with Twin Falls police, are currently campaigning to avoid the costly and unnecessary loss of property represented in the annual car theft toll.

"Lock It and Pocket the Key" is the theme of the campaign. All Twin Falls parking meters will be marked with small red and white stickers reminding motorists to lock their cars and pocket the keys. Posters, newspaper and radio advertising are also being used.

Cpl. Bill Green, Idaho State Police, met with the Jaycees to assist in planning the anti-car theft program. He presented statistics on the car theft situation nationwide and the need for a public information campaign.

Jaycees, under the chairmanship of Dave McCleve, hope to educate the driving public to the importance of locking their vehicles and not leaving the key in the unlocked automobile if they wish to reduce the car theft and protect their own property.

Randy Roberts is chairman of the parking meter portion of the program.

McCleve said nationally 850,000 vehicles are stolen annually, based on the 1972 figures. In 1972 the increase was 30,000 vehicles over the previous year. The total is expected to climb to 900,000 when all 1973 statistics are available.

Even though 93 per cent of the stolen vehicles are recovered, the loss from those not recovered amounts to $17 million, an amount reflected in insurance rates around the country.

Police Chief Frank Barnett said there were 91 thefts in Twin Falls in 1973, compared to 55 in 1972. In addition, he said, there were "109" thefts of merchandise and articles from automobiles, representing a value of $150 per case and another 68 thefts in which the loss was under $150.

Cooperation from automobile owners in locking their vehicles and locking merchandise in the trunks of the cars while shopping would not only save the owner trouble and loss but would also assist police, McCleve said.

Posters distributed

DAVE McCLEVIE, Jaycee project chairman for anti-car theft campaign, holds one of the posters being distributed throughout the area.

Public mental health services available

By LORAYNE O. SMITH, Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Quietly and with no fanfare, mental health services have become available to the public in several Magic Valley communities.

What the public probably is not aware of is the efforts which have been carried on in a concentrated way for at least five years to obtain a federal staffing grant for comprehensive mental health services.

Word is still pending on the staffing grant, but in the meantime the state of Idaho, through the Department of Community and Environmental Services (DECS) allocated $150,000 of state money obtained, according to Milt Klein, regional DECS director, from savings made through the reorganization of the new, more inclusive agency.

This state money, which has nothing to do with the federal grant, was "freed," Klein said, to provide limited mental health services in Region 5, which is made up of the eight Magic Valley counties.

He said through consolidation of several state agencies, including the former Social and Rehabilitation Services and the Child Development Centers, enough money was "squeezed" to provide an increase of from 15 to 20 per cent in services, with an increase of only 7 per cent in expenditures. And not all the 7 per cent comes from state money.

So, beginning last July when Klein was transferred to the regional post from Pocatello where he was associated with the Gateway Mental Health Center, several new positions of master social workers and psychologists were added. The former Child Development Center became "Clinical Services," which is how the telephone at the facility on Harrison Street is answered.

The agency still is listed in the phone book under the old title, which further emphasizes the demand for mental health services. For, without any type of publicity whatsoever, the Clinical Services staff has more than its members can do.

As Klein laughingly put it, "My father always said 'Don't pull a cow's tils if you don't want any milk.' We had all the "milk" we wanted so we never thought about publicity."

Where do the clients come from?

Many are referrals from other state agencies dealing with social services, but many also come from the so-called "prominent" people, according to Paul Burnett, who headed the former Child Development Center. He now has the title of director of personal and family services.

Burnett said a surprisingly large number of "customers" come because a friend or someone they know has received help and recommends the services.

This is happening more and more, Burnett said, "and probably one of the best indications we have that we're really helping some people."

As Klein said, "there is an empirical way of validating the success of mental health services."

He said a sliding scale is charged at the Clinical Services facility, dependent upon the person's financial situation. He said the main purpose is to serve everyone, whether they are on welfare or earn $50,000. He estimates less than half the patients are DECS clients.

What kinds of services are offered?

Family counseling, marriage counseling, personal and intra-personal and severe emotional problems all are among the kinds of problems dealt with through counseling and referrals to other resources in the Community.

Confidentiality is the first premise of such counseling. Klein said, noting that Clinical Services also receives referrals—from physicians, lawyers and ministers as well as agency staff personnel.

National estimates are that 50 per cent of the patients in any hospital are there because

TF doctor to retire after 34 years in TF, Dr. David Croasdale purchases practice

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES, Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Dr. Wallace Bond, who has practiced medicine as an ear, eye, nose and throat specialist the past 34 years in Twin Falls is retiring and has sold his practice to Dr. David Croasdale, formerly of Ohio.

Dr. Bond announced his retirement effective March 1 but will continue to be available on a consultant basis.

He has practiced medicine for more than 50 years having started his career in Canada. A native of Canada, he practiced in Winnipeg, Saskatchewan, Chicago, Ill. and Boise before coming to Twin Falls in 1940.

Dr. Bond received his schooling at the University of Manitoba, University of Saskatchewan, Rush University in Chicago, and Northwestern University, Mich.

He is a member of the staff of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, member and past president of the Idaho State Medical Association, member American Medical Association and International College of Surgeons.

For 30 years Dr. Bond has provided free examinations and care for the children at the Idaho State School in Gooding. He was one of the original members of the Idaho State Hospital Board, serving as chairman for three years.

During that time the board worked to improve what he termed "snake pit" conditions in the state mental institutions. Dr. Bond is also a member of the Rotary Club, Shriners, Masons and of the Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Bond and his late wife, Dorothy, have one son, Dr. J.W. L. Bond, Walla Walla, Wash., a daughter, Mrs. H. P. (Beverly) Potter, Philadelphia and six grandchildren. He plans to continue making his home in Twin Falls.

"The decision to retire was not easy. The wonderful loyalty and often affection of many hundreds of boys and girls and men and women who have been patients—some here—give the feeling of deserting a family," Dr. Bond said.

Dr. Bond said the one compensation in leaving his practice is the full satisfaction of the kindness and competence possessed by Dr. Croasdale.

Dr. Croasdale is a native of Ohio. He attended Washington and Lee University, completed medical school at the University of Virginia and interned in Saginaw, Mich., and trained in ophthalmology at the University of Virginia.

Dr. Croasdale, who is unmarried, served two years with the U.S. Navy in Yokosuka, Japan, as chief of ophthalmology at the U.S. Naval hospital there. Prior to coming to Twin Falls he practiced in Washington, D. C.

He said while in Japan he was so surrounded with overpopulation and pollution

he decided his practice would be in the northwest states. Idaho, he said, was selected because of his interest in back-packing, skiing, sailing, and other outdoor recreation.

Counseling session

PAUL BURNETT, left, director of personal and family services for the Department of Environmental and Community Services, and Dr. Fred McCobe, psychologist, typically a counseling session in the Clinical Services facility of DECS in Twin Falls.

Specialist retires

DR. WALLACE BOND, left, who is retiring after 34 years practice in Twin Falls, has sold his practice to Dr. David Croasdale. Dr. Bond announced his retirement effective March 1.

Mental health services available

(Continued from p. 13) when it comes to taking a $3,000 to $4,000 salary cut, many of them can't or won't do it," Klein said.

A year ago, professionals in the social services field were more readily available due to cutbacks in such services in California and other places. Now they are harder to get.

A psychologist position, for example, which requires a Ph.D. degree and five years' experience, pays $4,000 to $5,000 less in Idaho than in the Midwest.

Klein said he hopes his agency can continue in its present status with no new name change. There has been much confusion over continuing organizational changes in the past few years.

Mental health used to be a division of the State Department of Health, which then became the Department of Health and Environmental Protection and Health. Then the former Department of Public Assistance, and Child Development Centers became the Social and Rehabilitation Services (SPS).

As of March, 1973, the former SRS, the former health department and Youth Rehabilitation services were lumped into a new organizational "pot" known as DECS.

Some positions and overlapping services were eliminated thereby "freeing" the additional state funds to initiate the mental health services in Magic Valley, the last area of the state not having comprehensive mental health services.

Now most of the organizational adjustments have been completed, and the staff at the "old" Child Development Center, already attuned to providing whatever services are needed for their clients, have simply expanded their work to include anyone requesting it.

Satellite services have been provided for communities throughout the Magic Valley, with a social worker, Robert Snow, added at Gooding, and a psychologist to be added at Burley. This post is still vacant.

A recreational specialist, Lance Hayes, Twin Falls, serves the entire region and there are social workers at Boise and Rupert. There are two psychologists in Twin Falls, Larry Burman and Phillip Grover, as well as a full-time psychiatrist, Dr. Richard Wozniak.

Blaine, Mindoko and Lincoln counties, which formerly contracted with Gateway Center, are now under Region 5 administration.

Most of these positions have been added since July, with only three professionals offering services before that time.

The grant is to write up the new personnel will be integrated into the present DECS regional setup.

Klein said it has been difficult to fill the positions for while it is widely believed professional persons in big cities all year for the clean air and other advantages offered in southern Idaho, many of them are reluctant to take the accompanying decrease in salary.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You said that "Man is the only animal that blushes. Or needs to."

Your observation caused me to recall what David Elton Fineblood wrote in his "Philosophy of Religion."

"It has been said that man is the only animal who laughs, the only one who weeps, the only one who prays, the only one who waits fully erect, the only one who makes fires, the only one who can invent, the only one with a written language, the only one who is proud, the only one who can make progress, the only one who guides his own destiny, the only one who is penitent, and the only one who needs to be."

Only man 'blushes'

DEAR MR. P.: Thank you for giving me the opportunity to say that I'm not the only one who made that observation about man and his need to blush. Mark Twain also said it. First.

DEAR ABBY: I am a secretary and I love my job. My boss is the original "Mr. Wonderful" — the considerate, generous and easy-going. My hours are ideal, and the pay is excellent. Of course there is one problem, or I wouldn't be writing to Dear Abby.

I am asked to pick up the cleaning woman and/or the baby sitter. I frequently am asked to drop my work and go to school to pick up the children. I also have been asked to do "a little marketing," or to return the boss' wife's giraffe which she purchased on a sale several months ago. Well, I think you get the picture.

I hate to complain to my boss because I really love this job, but I was hired to do secretarial work, not the above mentioned errands. So, Dear Abby, how would you handle this problem?

DEAR JILL: Candidly, openly and with no pussyfooting. Tell "Mr. Wonderful" exactly what you have told me. How else can he know what's on your mind?

DEAR ABBY: This is my third marriage and I want to make it work. I MUST! But my husband has a failing that has me at the end of my rope.

He says he will be home for supper at 6 p.m., and doesn't come home until 8 p.m., or even 9 p.m., most of the time. Of course the rice is ruined, and I am not in the mood to even speak to him by then.

I have tried to be a "good sport" about it, but my patience is exhausted. Please tell me how to handle it.

THREE TIME LOSER

DEAR LOSER: If he is late getting home... expect it. That's his habit. Serve him the overcooked roast for supper, and make a stew out of it the next day.

DEAR ABBY: I take public transportation to and from work every day, and many times I have sat with people who must be very tired and sleepy, because they bob and nod until they are half on my shoulder or in my lap.

Yesterday a woman fell fast asleep on my shoulder and awakened her because she was quite a load, but somehow I didn't have the courage. Have you any suggestions?

DEARBORN HEIGHTS, MICH.

DEAR DEARBORN: The moment you notice your seat partner nodding and bobbing, smile and say: "I hope you aren't going to fall asleep on me. That happened to me once, and it was very embarrassing." [And if it happens anyway, screw up the courage to administer an effective poke.]

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 9700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Soap operas, anyone?

By MARGIE MORRIS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A young California housewife who watches 12 soap operas daily may change the lives of television viewers in Twin Falls and across the nation.

She notes the story line and prepares a monthly newsletter briefly outlining the developments of each "heart stopping drama."

A recent issue of TV Guide featured a story about Bryna Laub, Mountain View, Calif. Mrs. Laub, mother of a five-year-old son, wanted to remain at home and, at the same time, be productive.

A serial fan, she decided to embark upon her marathon viewing and turn it into profit at the same time. Subscriptions to her newsletter are increasing at the rate of over one thousand per month.

In a Times-News telephone interview, Mrs. Laub called her operation a one and three-fourths woman operation. She said recent publicity in The Stars and Stripes, TV Guide and on the BBC have increased her readership to the point that she has found it necessary to go to computer labeling for her newsletters.

She said her son learned to tell time by television and when asked by a reporter what time he left for school, he replied, "Right after Search for Tomorrow."

A soap opera newsletter could change the lives of many people — for better or worse as the case may be. This sudsy saga will release housewives from the chains of the television set during the day to cook, clean, run errands and may even help with the energy crisis if the set is off during the day.

Women can leave the "drudgery" of homemaking for "new horizons" and join the "working women" of America while knowing whether Lisa will ever find true happiness with Wally, the doctor-minister, or with Grant, the lawyer, even though she is harboring a pyromaniac in her rental apartment.

Those who profess great disinterest in soap operas can subscribe to the newsletter to learn if Alice will be able to remarry Stephen if he's able to divorce Rachel who may be involved in litigation because Iris bugged Elliot's apartment to see if Elliot was having an affair with Alice!

The newsletter "could" arrive in a plain brown wrapper so the postman will not suspect a secret serial addict exists. Addicts will no longer have to suffer through 12 minutes of commercials on soap, toothpaste, deodorant and cleansers in order to thrill to 16 minutes of "The Doctors Burn a Guiding Light Leading to General Hospital."

Join us in our dedication to guarantee continued quality medical care in a hospital designed for high level patient care and latest medical techniques.

VOTE "YES" FEBRUARY 12

Magic Valley Memorial Hospital urgently needs more hospital beds. It is presently operating at and above capacity on its medical and surgical floors. Conservative estimates by reliable, recent surveys anticipate a growth factor (for this area) of 50% or more by 1980. The demand for hospital services will increase. Constant over-crowding directly affects the quality of patient care the hospital can provide. One out of eight people residing in this area will require hospitalization this year.

A newly modernized hospital will be designed, equipped and staffed to respond to the human health needs through inpatient, outpatient and emergency services. It will be designed to encourage its use on an outpatient basis, where possible, to slow the worrisome escalation of medical care costs, and will assure continued participation in the Medicare and Medicaid programs.

Over 3,000 citizens of Twin Falls County has indicated by their signatures - a desire to support the hospital bond issue February 12th. The public service messages (this is the fourth in a series) are sponsored and paid for by private firms and individuals. We urge our friends and neighbors to give us their support in voting on this important issue.

Cassia bureau hears hopeful

By ED MITCHELL
Times-News Writer

BURLEY — Most of the critics this country experiences aren't real critics but the inventions of politicians. Robert Smith, former campaign manager for US Rep. Steve Symms, told the Cassia county Farm Bureau Friday night.

Smith started his campaign for the Republican nomination for US senator last November. He was guest speaker at the annual Cassia County Farm Bureau banquet held Friday in Burley.

"Some day we will run out of oil but we haven't yet," Smith said. "We haven't run out of energy. America is a storehouse of energy. We have enough coal to last 600 years. Surely we will find a way to cure our energy problems in that time," Smith told the group.

He said that alternative methods of producing energy are "just around the corner." "Americans should not panic," he said.

Much of the reason for our present energy problems was caused by government control of energy producing companies and environmental concerns, according to Smith. He said the environmentalists had caused the Alaskan pipeline project to be held up until now even though the pipe was already in Alaska four years ago. He also said that the US Senate had recently voted to "lock up almost 50 per cent of the coal reserves in the United States because of the environment."

"We have to pay attention to the environment but we must use common sense. We can have both," Smith said.

Smith told the farm group that there will be no food shortage "unless the government fouls up in some strange manner." He said, "The American farmer can produce more, cheaper than anyone else in the world."

Smith said "There will be great new vistas of opportunity and creativity in America. We must go with the way we started, allowing people to own property and run their own businesses and keep the politicians in the background where they belong."

Three new members of the board of directors of the Cassia Farm Bureau were elected at the meeting. They were Earl Christiansen, Declo Roscoe Ward, Raft River, and Lyman Adams, Oakley.

Gem International, Inc., Burley, gave a new pickup for the outstanding young farmer of the year, William Garrard.

Death probe continues

JEROME — Investigation is continuing into the death of Earl D. Lewis Jr., 17, Jerome, early Friday at the Tupperware plant here.

Dr. Lauren Neher, Jerome County coroner, said it is presumed the youth died of electrocution. However, blood samples have been taken and other tests are being made to determine the cause of death. Results of these tests are not expected for three weeks, he said.

Jerome County Sheriff Eliza Hall said Lewis was working on a molding machine at the plant. The machine carries about 220 volts of power, he said. Hall said Lewis was working with another employe at the time of the accident when he slumped over the machine and was pulled away by the co-worker.

Hall said there is some question about possible electrocution because no electric shock was felt when other workers pulled Lewis from the machine. There were no burns on the body, Hall said.

In addition to Hall, Idaho Department of Labor officials are investigating the death.

Camas girl hurt

FAIRFIELD — A Camas High School girl was listed in good condition in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital in Twin Falls Saturday after suffering a cracked vertebrae in a school bus accident.

Supt. Harold Stroud said Christine Thomason, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Thomason, was the only one of the 10 students on the bus to require medical attention.

He said the accident occurred at 8 a.m. Thursday when a bus driver was blinded by poor visibility. His bus left a small bridge and dropped into a 10 foot deep wash.

Stroud said there were no rollings on the bridge and it was snowing so hard at the time the driver was unable to see the road. He apparently did not know he was approaching the small bridge.

The driver, Chuck Packham, Fairfield, has been driving for the Camas County School District the past four years. He was uninjured. Seven of the 10 children aboard the bus suffered minor bruises, bloody noses or other minor injuries, Stroud said.

Valley Comment

Question: Should the schools begin an hour later in the morning when daylight saving time resumes this week?

Mrs. Jacque Chambers, Twin Falls: For the younger kids it's a very good idea. But the older kids and many teachers have part-time jobs after school.

Mrs. Joe Chastain, Twin Falls: If I had children school age, I would want them to go an hour later. It would be dark then (at the regular hour).

Robert Odum, Twin Falls: Yes. Several children were killed in Florida because of going to school in the dark and it could happen here in Twin Falls.

Mrs. Lynn Nelson, Twin Falls: I do. Because it'll be completely dark when my little boy has to catch the bus.

L. Grauer, Twin Falls: I think it would be a good idea.

Earl Moreland, Filer: I don't see why it would hurt. It looks like they could drop that hour easily without hurting anything.

TF woman hurt

TWIN FALLS — An elderly Twin Falls woman was in good condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Saturday following a three-car accident Friday afternoon in southeast Twin Falls.

Ether M. O'Dell, 68, was undergoing tests at the hospital Saturday to determine the extent of her injuries. She was injured when she apparently pulled her car into the path of a car driven by Stephen B. Armstrong, 26, Burley, at the intersection of Eastland Drive and Kimberly Road.

According to police reports, Mrs. O'Dell was southbound on Eastland crossing Kimberly Road when her vehicle was struck by the Armstrong car, which was eastbound on Kimberly Road. The impact of the collision forced the O'Dell car into a car driven by Joseph F. Rhodes, 70, Kimberly, which was northbound on Eastland and had stopped at the stop sign at Kimberly Road.

Mrs. O'Dell's husband, Charles, 71, was riding with her at the time of the accident.

He was treated for minor injuries and released from the hospital Friday. Neither Armstrong and his passengers nor Rhodes sustained injuries, according to police.

Jerome plan unit formed

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — More Jerome area residents will be given a voice in the proposed improvement of the city and county through the newly organized Jerome City Planning Committee.

An organizational meeting of the new planning group, which will coordinate efforts with existing groups, was held Thursday night.

Glenn Emerson, acting chairman, said the committee has been selected by Jerome officials as part of the Jerome Planning Council. The council is made up of volunteer citizens interested in community and county improvements.

Emerson said the council's steering committee appointed the Jerome City Planning Committee. Emerson said the purpose of the committee will be to maintain the best type of city possible and have as many people as possible involved in planning the future direction of city growth.

Emerson told committee members attending the Thursday meeting, all possible effort should be made to obtain at least 27 residents to help develop a master plan for the city.

"Also we need to recruit members from Eden and Hazelton, as well," Emerson said.

Arthur Rothburn, University of Idaho community development specialist, recommended the committee form element committees rather than sub-committees.

"The element committees would work on specific elements relating to the master plan such as public buildings, street design, transportation and playground," he said.

He said the city committee should also work with the county in order to bring about a workable comprehensive plan.

"What is needed is an area influence study and not just a city study," Rothburn said.

Members of the city committee include Dr. Charles Parker, former mayor John Hosenman, Kennedy Stuart, Mrs. Dave Forsyth, H. B. (Duge) Pharris and Cathy Reddick. Three other members are yet to be selected.

When the list is complete it will be presented to the Jerome City Council for their approval, Emerson said.

Emerson added a drive will then be conducted to recruit volunteers to work with the committee.

The city committee will take part in the comprehensive workshop Feb. 19, being sponsored by the Jerome Planning Council. William Hart, who will assume the chairmanship of the Jerome County Planning Council from retiring Tom Mahan, said the main concern of the council is whether outside federal and state agencies will be allowed to shape the future of Jerome county or whether the people of the county will take the responsibility of orderly developing the county.

Numerous individuals and resource groups will take part in the workshop. Included as supporters of the workshop are Jerome county commissioners, and city officials from Jerome, Eden and Hazelton.

Jerome County Commissioners have allocated $2,000 for the council's work in developing the proposed plan.

Acupuncture treatment successful

By LORAYNESMITH
Times-News writer

HAGERMAN — "I don't think they know themselves why it works, but it does."

This summarizes the opinion of Mrs. James Barlogi, Hagerman, about the acupuncture treatment she received last summer which has freed her from arthritic pain.

It wasn't that she was an enthusiastic believer when she went to Tahoe Paradise, on the California side of Lake Tahoe, or even hopeful that anything could be done to relieve her suffering.

But the pain from her arthritic condition which resulted from an earlier auto accident had become so bad she "hadn't had a good night's sleep" in months.

Her family doctor didn't think it would help either, but Mrs. Barlogi decided anything would be worth a try. She was getting distressing side effects from the medication she was taking for her pain, suffering both a sore mouth and stomach.

The first effect she noticed after receiving the first treatment in the scenic little resort town on Lake Tahoe was that she could sleep better.

She received three treatments the first week and four of the next. A "treatment" means the gentle Chinese doctor at the clinic inserted needles in her back and hands, where she had had muscle spasms.

The needles were left in the skin for 20 minutes and connected to low voltage electricity — just enough to keep the needles vibrating.

If there is too much voltage the needles would sting, Mrs. Barlogi said, and the doctors don't want that. Use of the electropuncture technique is a combination of the ancient Oriental treatment with Western medicine, she said.

Some doctors who follow the Oriental custom completely turn the needles by hand. A German-trained doctor practicing the technique in Boise, where she has gone for subsequent "pickup" treatments, follows the hand procedure, she said.

"Contrary to widespread belief, acupuncture does not involve hypnosis, according to Mrs. Barlogi."

"But it isn't medicine, so no wonder so many doctors don't believe in it," she said.

Asked if there was any emphasis on metaphysical or spiritual aspects of the treatment, the Hagerman woman said no, but she commented on the kindness and gentleness of the Chinese doctor.

"He cared," she said, noting the contrast to many "regular" doctors who often are too busy to show much concern while prescribing medicine almost routinely.

Another "bonus" effect was that her eyesight was also improved after the acupuncture although she did not even ask help for her eyes. She has glaucoma and while this chronic ailment was not cured her vision has cleared.

She said she used to see specks, dots and cobwebs but has not had any visual disturbance since the treatment, and pain she used to experience behind her eyes is gone.

Since last summer, when the weather changes and she feels her arthritis beginning again, she goes to the Boise doctor for brief treatments. So far she has remained free of the old pain.

The treatment also brought the Hagerman woman a $50 prize from the National Inquirer. She won a contest the weekly periodical conducted, asking readers to write them about any important event in their life resulting from reading the paper. She first read an article about acupuncture in the periodical, so she wrote them of her experience.

The Barlogis had a "good vacation" while she was receiving her treatments. They said between 200 to 300 persons come to the little lake-side town every day for treatment, many of them children. It was impressive to see some come on wheelchairs and be able to leave on foot, Barlogi said.

Mrs. Barlogi said the Chinese doctor then at the clinic in association with a Western physician has now left since it is difficult for local doctors to obtain licenses to practice in California.

She said the seven treatments in two weeks are as close as that doctor liked to give them, but the frequency varies with doctors.

Jerome mom, son sign up

BOISE (UPI) — When the U S Army said "today's Army wants to join you!" a Jerome mother took it seriously. She joined and so did her son.

Mrs. Ann Loy Stowell, 33, and her son, James C. Andrews, 17, raised their hands in Boise Friday, enlisting for active duty in the all-volunteer Army.

Army officials said it is the first time in the nation that a mother and son have joined together.

Her husband, James Stowell, will join his wife and son at Fort Huachuca, Ariz., after they complete basic training and advanced individual training.

"This is the best education for our interests that we could possibly ask for," Mrs. Stowell said. She has been guaranteed an assignment in military police and her son chose radio communications. Their contract guarantees duty together at Fort Huachuca.

"Mrs. Stowell said her husband was 'quite surprised at first' when she told him she wanted to join the Army.

"But we talked it over and now he thinks it's a great opportunity for us."

She said her husband hopes to return to college and study drafting when she finally settles in Arizona.

Mrs. Stowell said she hopes her joining with her son paves the way for mothers joining the Army.

"The hope mothers will realize what a variety of alternatives are available. They don't have to end up on welfare or with jobs that are less than their abilities warrant," she said.

Aide rules on Nixons' residency

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — A state tax official said Friday President Nixon and his wife, who vote at San Clemente, are not considered residents of California for personal income tax purposes.

Martin Huff, executive officer of the State Franchise Tax Board, said the board's legal staff had reviewed the President's income tax status and concluded: "President Richard M. Nixon and Patricia R. Nixon are nonresidents."

The White House announced Dec. 8 that Nixon had paid no state income taxes during the first four years of his presidency. Officials said the decision not to pay the tax was entirely legal and based on California statutes which differentiate between a "domicile" and a "residence."

But Huff said the legal staff ruled strictly on the question of the President's residency and said it did not necessarily follow that if a person was a nonresident that he would escape taxation. He said that issue would be dealt with subsequently.

The White House had said the decision not to pay California taxes was based on law which differentiates between domicile, which is required for voting, and a citizen resident, who is liable for income taxes.

Huff told a news conference that it is "deemed appropriate for elected public officials who are domiciled in this state to be residents for personal income tax purposes, then the revenue and taxation code should be amended to so provide."

Huff said the President had issued a "waiver of confidentiality" which allowed Huff to discuss the question of residency.

We understand that in the not too distant future, the Congressional Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation will make a determination on additional issues affecting the President's tax status," he said.

"Prior we have had an opportunity to evaluate the committee's data and determination, we will be in a position to proceed further to make our own determination on those issues that are relevant to California income tax law," he said.

"When our review is complete, we have been advised that an additional waiver will be issued by the President in order for our determination to be made known to the public."

Announcing the President's findings Dec. 8, White House officials based the decision not to pay California personal income taxes on state statutes.

CARPET COSTS seem to be one of the few things a homeowner can choose that haven't skyrocketed over the last generation or so. The reason is not that manufacturing costs haven't gone up along with distribution and sales costs. They have, just as they have in every area.

Technology has created a whole new family of carpets in low and moderate price ranges that did not exist a generation ago. So there is a new choice in just about every price range.

The very top grade of wool carpeting, for instance, costs more than it did, say, twenty years ago. Technology has made possible treatments to create richer colors, mildew-proofing and other qualities to make that wool carpet better, however, and for those who cherish its warmth and luxury it remains a happy choice even at a higher price.

But there's a whole new selection of space-dyed nylons, solution-dyed acrylics that are resilient, stain-resistant and sunfast, polyesters and polypropylenes unheard of until recent years, priced so that daughters can carpet a home for about what Mom did when she was starting out.

Visiting our showroom now is a good way to keep your carpet costs within your budget without losing beauty or quality. See us for selection, service and satisfaction... at the right price!

Farmer scores Gem wheat unit

BANCROFT, Idaho (UPI) — The Idaho Wheat Commission has been criticized by a Bancroft farmer for its power to levy taxes without representation and give little recognition to the desires of growers.

Delmar A. Whitney has operated a dry-land farm near Bancroft since 1942. He told the Pioneer County Press in an article published Thursday that he hopes to arouse enough farmer interest in the "unfair and undemocratic" commission to gain the attention of the legislature.

The Idaho Wheat Commission recently voted to request from the legislature a tax levy increase from one-half to one cent per bushel of wheat harvested in Idaho.

"And one commission member suggested 10 cents a bushel would be too much," he said. Whitney, who lives in Brigham City, Utah, when not farming, said this is an "arbitrary form of taxation that may be subject to attack on grounds that it is unconstitutional."

"The wheat tax levy is fundamentally unfair," Whitney said, "because all individual growers are not afforded a vote on the levy. The Idaho Wheat Commission never makes a direct report to individual growers — who pay the tax — on how funds are expended," he said.

Whitney said a number of other growers are interested in his proposals and they hope to offer opinions to the 1974 session of the legislature.

"The commission's financial statement for 1972-73 showed the commission had receipts totaling $162,875.07, it received $181,995.49 and took $19,120.42 from "previous reserves" to make up the difference.

Expenditures included more than $50,000 for university projects such as the wheat breeding at Moscow and more than $11,000 for wheat laboratory studies.

Whitney said he was not convinced such expenditures were proper when growers already support the universities through other taxes. As government expenditures slip, listed as "public relations, $4,893.27" and $8,250 for National Association of Wheat Growers and $10,866 for Wheat Grower News and fair displays should be justified to the growers in detail.

"I never receive any communication from them," he said.

Whitney feels that an amendment to present statute creating the commission should provide that all existing levies and or subsequent proposed increases should be subject to a two-thirds affirmative vote by all wheat growers of Idaho, to be determined by a referendum vote.

"The legislature listens to the wheat commission, Whitney said, "so in effect the decision whether or not to increase the tax levy is left essentially to a governor-appointed commission."

"In addition," he said, "the commission does not provide for remission of annual reports and summaries of events and proceedings to all growers." Therefore, "it is likely that most growers are ill-informed, if informed at all, as to such review and their intended purpose."

Dairy foods usage decline reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans are eating less butter and more cheese, according to Agriculture Department figures.

The latest report, which tells what dairy farmers are producing, reflects the nation's eating habits.

Figures released Thursday show butter production in December fell to the lowest monthly level in 28 years. But America's cheese output reached the highest December rate in history.

Butter production for December was 67.5 million pounds, 17 per cent below a year earlier and the smallest December total since 1946: Butter production for the entire year was 10 per cent below 1972.

Overall 1973 milk production was down 3 per cent from the previous year, and since there was less milk available for manufacture of dairy products, a larger proportion of what was available was channeled into higher-demand products such as cheese.

December production of American cheese rose 17 per cent over November. Production totaled 141 million pounds, a new monthly record which was 18 per cent above a year earlier.

The report also showed ice cream output in December was 51.2 million pounds, unchanged

Grain stockpile eyed as high price guard

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration officials are considering creation of a grain stockpile to help protect consumers against the kind of food price increases they had in the past year, President Nixon's economic report said Friday.

The report said the issue "remains unresolved," but the administration is exploring several domestic and international stockpiling plans.

The administration supports the examination of multilateral approaches to the stockpile issue. It also recognizes that this country has an interest, as the world's major exporter, in maintaining necessary levels of stocks since otherwise we could not be a reliable supplier of food.

"It is also in this country's interest to have adequate stocks to provide a measure of domestic price stability," the report said.

In the past, Agriculture Secretary Earl B. Butz has publicly welcomed discussion of U.S. cooperation in building reserve stocks for needy nations abroad but has consistently frowned on proposals for a domestic government stockpile, saying such reserves are best carried in the commercial market.

The economic report appeared to show the administration ready to at least consider a shift in that stand. It said preliminary studies indicate a U.S. reserve of grain "would not have to be large or costly in order to offset most instances of poor harvests or abnormal demand."

The report said other approaches being explored included United Nation guidelines for stockpiling in all nations, greater use of multi-year forward sales contracts for grain by private governments, and creation of an international grain stockpiling agency. The report indicated little enthusiasm for the international agency plan.

Nixon's report said grain stockpiling has become an issue because surging world food demand has eliminated the surplus capacity which had plagued U.S. agriculture for many years.

New government programs can protect farmers because they provide standby support payments if prices drop below "target" levels, the report said. But there are no comparable systems to protect consumers against accelerating food prices.

The report said rebuilding of grain reserves should get underway beginning in the 1974-75 marketing year.

Retail food price rise looms for US

Live cattle futures skid

CHICAGO — Live cattle futures slumped across the board Friday in a day of jumpy and somewhat sporadic trading.

Commodity News Service reported prices were down in a range of 15 cents to 20 cents with declines spread about evenly in all options. Trading was sluggish with 7,515 carlots changing hands, compared with 10,150 on Thursday.

Prices opened mixed but mostly lower with traders uncertain about the market's direction. Futures fluctuated nervously throughout the trading session with strong pressure coming at the news of Armour's closing of seven packing plants.

Packers apparently have the meat but are unable to ship products. The trucking strike has virtually halted meat deliveries to Eastern points. Action in the pit was mostly local with shorts reportedly applying most of the pressure

Idaho State drops N. Arizona 88-61

POCATELLO (UPI) — Freshman center Steve Hayes, with 17 points and 14 rebounds, powered Idaho State to an 88-61 Big Sky conference win over Northern Arizona Saturday night.

Hayes, substituting for the injured Dan Spindler in the first half, came in the first minute of the game and from there on it was easy for the Bengals as they led 43-26 at halftime and stayed comfortably ahead in the second half.

With the 6-foot-11 Hayes blocking up the keyhole, ISU also controlled the backboards, 50-37, as they stayed one game ahead of Boise State and Gonzaga at the halfway point in the Big Sky race.

Guard Nate Payne, as usual, led the NAU Lumberjacks with 27 points, but only one other player among the visitors finished in double figures in scoring as NAU lost its eight straight Big Sky game.

Kevin Hoyt had 12 points for ISU, and Frank Krahn 11 as he filled in for hobbling Jim Anderson.

ISU is now 6-1 in the Big Sky and 14-5 overall. While the loss dropped NAU to 0-8 in the conference and 3-17 overall.

Woods wins but misses new mark

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — Shot putter George Woods, who set a new indoor world record Friday night in San Francisco, won the event Saturday night at the Albuquerque Jaycees Invitational Indoor Meet with a 69-6 1/2 toss.

Woods' toss fell well short of the world mark of 70-4 1/2 he set at the San Francisco Examiner Games Friday.

Al Feuerbach, who held the old meet record of 68-10 1/2, finished second at 68-4.

Steve Williams of San Diego State captured the men's 60-yard dash in 6:11. He nipped Chris Garpenborg of the University of Texas-El Paso at the world mark of 7:0-4 1/2 he set at the San Francisco Examiner Games Friday.

Al Feuerbach, who held the old meet record of 68-10 1/2, finished second at 68-4.

Steve Williams of San Diego State captured the men's 60-yard dash in 6:11. He nipped Chris Garpenborg of the University of Texas-El Paso at the world mark of 7:0-4 1/2 he set at the San Francisco Examiner Games Friday.

STRETCHING Jim Lash of Twin Falls comes down with a rebound against Minico during Friday action. The Bruins topped the Spartans 46-39.

Wottle wins tight mile and sprinter drops out of meet

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Dave Wottle, 1972 Olympic gold medal winner, nipped Irishman Eamonn Coghlan by one-tenth of a second in the mile run and sprint champion Herb Washington angrily pulled out of the finals of the 50-yard dash Saturday night in the Cleveland Knights of Columbus track meet.

Wottle, former Bowling Green runner, passed Coghlan in the last lap and finished in 4:53.3 to the Villanova runner's 4:54.0.

Coghlan, 21, of Dublin, Ireland, said he had not run the mile since high school and this was his first year of indoor competition. With two laps to go, he burst past veteran runner Juris Lustin and Wottle barely caught him on the last lap.

Washington, co-holder of the world record in the 50-yard dash, pulled out of his specialty in a dispute with the starter.

Spencer Whitley of the University of Alabama won the race in 5.3 seconds, three-tenths of a second off the record held by Washington and two others.

Washington said he pulled out of the race because the starter, Charles Martin, fired the gun before he had come into the "set" position.

"That's why I haven't been to Cleveland for three years," he said, "because this starter you have tonight doesn't give the time to get set that I need to win the race."

Martin said angrily, "Ask any other runner in the race if he thinks I'm a rookie starter? I've been here seven or eight years and I started the NCAA nationals last year."

William Mason of Kent State University was second in the sprint and Angelo Nutall of the University of Chicago third.

Tom Hill of the U.S. Army team edged Willie Davenport in the 60-yard high hurdles in 5.9 seconds, one-tenth second off the world indoor record; they share with three other runners.

Clarence Musgrave of Catholic University won the men's special 440-yard dash in 50.3 seconds; the Sports International Track Club won the women's one-mile relay in 3:54.4; and Jenny Gill of the Panther Track Club won the women's 50-yard dash in 6.1 seconds.

Stan Vinson of Eastern Michigan won the 600-yard run in 1:11.3, nearly four seconds off the world record.

Ashland College (Ohio) and Catholic University won the two sections of the university twomile relay; and Byron Dyce, former Olympian from Jamaica, won the 1,000-yard run by one-tenth of a second over Lowell Paul of Chicago with American Olympian Marty Liguori third. Dyce's time was 2:09.8.

Robin Campbell of Sports International won the women's 800-yard run in 2:12.6.

UCLA streaks past Southern Cal 65-54

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Top-ranked UCLA exploded for 14 straight second half points Saturday night to post a come-from-behind 65-54 victory over Southern California of the Southern California Conference.

The Bruins, down 46-40 with 15:39 remaining, reeled off seven field goals in just over five minutes to run their season record to 16-1 and conference mark to 5-0.

The Trojans, who had shot a blistering 84 per cent from the floor in the first half, went 7-30 without scoring a point.

All-America's Keith Wilkes and Bill Walton had 20 and 19 points, respectively, to pace the UCLA attack while Southern Cal guard Dan Anderson led the Trojans with 18.

Southern Cal, employing an effective slow-down offense, had gotten off to a 4-0 lead and was ahead through most of the first half. They led 36-34 at intermission.

The Trojans, who own the only two wins scored over UCLA in nine seasons at Pauley Pavilion, held the Bruins to just 11 field goals in the first half and almost rebounded the fielding national championship 16-12.

Wilkes knotted the score at 46-46 with a layin with 12:57 left, then put the Bruins ahead to stay with another layin at 11:35.

Walton, who missed three games with a back injury, led all rebounders with 15, while teammate Dave Myers added five rebounds and 14 points.

Sophomore forward Bob Trovbridge was the only other Trojain in double figures, hitting 15 points, although he was limited to four in the second half.

UCLA, which had its record 88-game win streak snapped Jan. 19 by Notre-Dame before reversing the loss a week ago, committed numerous first half errors and seemed flat after its awesome trouncing of the Irish.

The victory narrowed Southern Cal's edge over UCLA in their rivalry to 78-76 in a series dating back to 1928.

The Trojans are now 14-3 overall and 3-2 in Pacific-8 play.

Both UCLA and USC play host to Oregon and Oregon State next weekend in conference play. The victory set up a match between UCLA and Oregon next weekend as co-conference leaders.

Seattle denies bidding on Walton

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — "If we're lucky enough to get Bill Walton, we just might make Dick Motta put the Chicago Bulls franchise where his mouth is," Portland Trail Blazers Executive Vice President Harry Glickman said Saturday night, denying the Blazers are a party to bidding for Walton already.

Motta, Chicago coach, said earlier that last place team in the National Basketball Association had begun bidding secretly for the UCLA superstar. He had said Walton could turn any franchise around and he would be willing to "give away the Chicago franchise" for him.

"I think his remarks are ludicrous," Glickman said. "What he has done is set up a ready-made bargaining position for the UCLA player."

Walton's agents, certainly, will say now he's worth a whole franchise in the NBA. We certainly don't believe that at Portland. Even Kareem Abdul-Jabbar needed an Oscar Robertson to make Milwaukee a champion."

Glickman said, "Motta also has forgotten the bottom teams in each conference toss a coin for first draft choice."

Sandra Palmer leads Burdines golf tourney

MIAMI (UPI) — Sandra Palmer, who hopes juggling will keep her on top of her golf game this year, fired a four-under-par 69 Saturday to take a four-stroke lead into the final round of the $25,000 Burdines Invitational golf tournament.

Tied for second place in the first tournament of the LPGA tour, four strokes behind Miss Palmer's two-round 139, were third-year pro Carolyn Kertzman from San Diego and four veteran Donna Caponi Young.

Miss Kertzman fired a 71 Saturday and Mrs. Young shot a 70 for a 143 total. Mary Mills shot a 74 for a 144 total, five strokes off the lead.

First round leader Pam Higgins scored to a 77 and wound up the day trailing the leader by six strokes at one-under-par 145. Also six strokes back were 1973 Player of the Year Kathy Whitworth, Jane Blalock and Laura Bough.

Miss Palmer, a Texan who spent the three-month break since the last event of the 1973 tour at Delray Beach, Fla., working on her game and her physical condition, fired six birdies and two bogeys.

At one point, she was five-under-par, heading for a tie of the course record of 68 tied by Miss Higgins Friday.

But she bogied the 13th by overshooting the green on her second shot and on the par five 16th went one over when she drove under a tree and had to chip onto the fairway.

The former North Texas State homecoming queen, who won five tournaments last year and finished third on the money list, said she plans to continue to run at least three days a week.

"I jog to get my legs strong for golf," she said. "I want to keep my legs strong because that's the key to my swing." Miss Higgins said her collapse was caused by fatigue.

"I played badly, and on the back nine I lost my concentration," she said. "I didn't make my putts and I just didn't have my thinking cap on."

Mrs. Young, who came back last year from a slump in 1972 to win $25,000, said she had a lot of near misses for birdies, but I didn't let it get to me. I just kept plugging along."

Miss Kertzman, whose best finish in more than two years on the tour was sixth, is recovering from an abdominal operation last November and has been unable to do much practicing.

"What I was doing was playing on memory from three months ago and I guess it worked out for me," she said.

Lindsay Hairston led the Spartans with 26 points and 23 rebounds while Robinson, the conference's two-time scoring champion, hit for 25.

The defeat left Purdue with a 6-1 conference record while Michigan State is now 5-2.

Nicklaus turns Hawaii tournament into runaway

HONOLULU (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus all wrapped up the Hawaii Open Saturday when sweeping across the fairways of Waialae Country Club, he shot his third straight sub-70 round and opened up a six shot lead. About the only way Nicklaus could lose the tournament (Saturday) is if he gets lost some place among the palm trees on the back nine. Competing in only his second tournament of the year, Nicklaus made his chances for his first victory almost certain by shooting a three-under-par 69 to go with his previous rounds of 65 and 67. That put Jack at 15-under-par 201 for the tournament, and in the minds of most of his competitors left them playing for second place.

McNamara seen as new manager of Padres

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — John McNamara, the good-guy manager who helped mold the Oakland A's into a world championship ball club only to get fired by Charlie Finley in a moment of pique, gets his second chance Sunday when the San Diego Padres name him their field leader.

Buzzie Bavasi, the Padres' president, has called a news conference in San Diego Sunday to introduce the 41-year-old McNamara to area media. However, around the San Francisco Bay Area, and throughout most of baseball, McNamara needs no introductions. That hasn't worked out either and Ray Kroc, the millionaire head of the McDonald Corporation who purchased the club outright last week, has put Bavasi on notice to give him a solid contender within two years. While the Padres in 1974 will be basically a young club they have such solid veterans as slugger Willie McCovey, picked up from the San Francisco Giants where McNamara was the third base coach the last three years, Bobby Tolan from the Cincinnati Reds and Glenn Beckert from the Chicago Cubs.

They can't get a better man as manager than McNamara, said McCovey when asked about the Padres' managerial situation. "He's a very approachable man—the kind of man everyone likes."

From all angles

For Castleford Coach Bud Watkins, a winning streak is nothing more than winning that many games. It has nothing to do about the game next week or the one Tuesday night.

This moves Coach Watkins a little away from the rest of the world's thinking. In fact, most coaches prefer to lose sometimes rather than go into a tournament with the burden of a long winning streak and giving every opponent the extra incentive.

"I don't think any kind of record will make any particular difference in the district tournament. We could win it if we had a 15-5 record going into it just as easily as being 2-6. It is my philosophy in this game that you go out there to win. If you don't think you can or if you're a little afraid of not being able to win, then a streak will hurt you," he continued.

Switching to the College of Southern Idaho scene, the Eagles are hurting a little more than expected since some of the boys haven't come along as expected.

"But we'll just play. If it (the 200 year) comes, it comes. If it doesn't it doesn't. It would be a nice thing to have because a perfect season is basketball is very rare. But if we don't get it, we aren't going to worry about it — just try to get ready to win the next one," he concluded.

Coach Hale said in explaining his decision, "But we brought in some fine young men last fall with the idea of helping them become good basketball players in addition to getting a good education. I don't think it would have been right if one of these men lost his chance to play because of my bringing in new players."

Simpson will receive the Hickok belt—valued at more than $15,000—at a special awards luncheon here Monday.

Idaho signs trio

MOSCOW — University of Idaho head football coach Ed Troxel announced today that three football prospects from junior colleges have enrolled at the university for spring semester.

Troxel said the three prospects had been highly recruited by many colleges and universities and will be given a solid opportunity to make the varsity team in the upcoming spring drills.

Sam Reed, 6'2", 240-pound offensive tackle from Spokane Falls Community College and a graduate of West Valley High School in Spokane, Wash., has also joined the Vandals.

Schmidt and Hovey shoot Bruins past Minico 46-39

RUPERT — Eric Hovey kept Twin Falls in the game through the first half and Kent Schmidt shot the Bruins away midway through the second half as they defeated Minico's Spartans 46-39 Friday night.

Hovey, hitting 60 per cent from the field for the night, scored 19 of the 28 points. Twin Falls managed against the deliberate offense of Minico in the first half. Schmidt reeled off four straight shots to close the third and open the fourth period and Hovey came back with eight points in the final four minutes to ice it.

Although Minico was deliberate, Coach Gary Swan indicated this definitely was not his idea of a slowdown. However, the Spartans played well throughout the night and led from the early second quarter until Schmidt's volley in the fourth period.

Jerome hangs first loop loss on W.R.

HAILEY — The Jerome Tigers turned to a passive game, hit their only three field goals in the final quarter and converted on free throws to hand Wood River's Wolverine their first conference loss of the season Friday night.

Shaw's shot lets Minico slip past Burley 57-51

BURLEY — Blaine Shaw's short jumper with 1:32 left, backed by four free throws in the last 14 seconds, lifted the Minico Spartans past Burley 57-51 Saturday night.

Shaw's jumper, from just inside the free-throw line, ended a wild fourth period that saw three ties and nine lead changes. Up to that time four points was the biggest margin.

The overthrew was Burley's downfall as the Minico height advantage proved much too much. That became particularly true when jumping Jack Brent Bodily picked up three fouls in the first five minutes and wasn't available much thereafter to help.

The fourth quarter was pretty much the overthrew.

Nyle Keller hit six points and Scott Morehouse four points on that play while Burley was replying with howitzer from Taylor and Ed Rasmussen. Then the Bobcats became overthrew conscious and started leaving Shaw alone at the "high post." He was uncontented from there for the winner.

The teams switched defenses throughout with both being most effective in the man game. Minico tried a zone to open the second quarter and Paul Jackson quickly shot them out of it with two 20-footers. That also gave Burley a 15-12 lead, its biggest of the night.

Minico came back for a 24-22 halftime lead, which Burley quickly erased as the third period opened. It was tied from 28 through 28 the rest of the period until Jackson closed it with two more field goals and a 60-58 Burley lead.

From then on the gymnasium rocked until Shaw hit his field goal. Minico regained "possession" and immediately went into a one-three-one holding pattern. It missed a couple of foul shots but got the rebound back once and Burley missed on its last chance. Then Keller and Steve Virtue hit from the foul line to close it out.

Utags smothers South Mississippi

LOGAN, (UPI) — Utah State shot a sizzling 61 per cent from the field to crush Southern Mississippi 121-84 Saturday night in a lopsided game between the two independents.

With the Golden Eagles behind 51-45 early in the second half, Jim Boatwright, Jimmy Moore and Rich Haws ignited the Aggies and they outscored USM 35-14 over the next 10 minutes to put the game away. Boatwright led all scorers with 24 points before leaving the game with 10 left. Moore had 23 points and 10 rebounds, and Haws tossed in 16 points, 14 of these in the second half.

The 121 points scored by USU is a spectrum record and the most points the Aggies have scored against an opponent in four years.

Steve Greene had 14 points for the Golden Eagles. Glenn Mason and Greg Prater both added 12. USM had trailed 48-39 at the half before cutting USU's lead to six points early in the final half.

The taller Aggies controlled both halves of the game, outrebounding Southern Mississippi 49-26.

Declo splits two games

DECLO — The Declo Hornets split a two-day home stand over the weekend, dropping Hansen 58-53 Friday night and then bowing to Westside 75-54 Saturday.

BYU nips Wyoming in overtime

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UPI) — The Wyoming Cowboys sent their Western Athletic Conference game with Brigham Young University into overtime Saturday but the Cougars came out on top 78-75.

The Cowboys didn't get their first lead of the game until 2:41 left, but only had one lead during the overtime.

Doug Richards hit five of the ten Cougar points in overtime to end up with 18 points. Belmont Anderson was high for BYU with 20.

BYU led throughout the first half, by 13 points at one point, and held a 36-34 edge at intermission.

The Cowboys are in the cellar of the WAC with a 0-7 record and 7-15 for the season. BYU is now 8-11 for the year and 34 in the conference.

Indiana rips Iowa 85-50

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Indiana buried Iowa in a closing first-half charge as the defending Big Ten basketball champion clobbered the Hawkeyes, 85-50, Saturday.

No. 13 rated Indiana raised its league mark to 5-1 and chalked up a sixth straight win since an opening conference loss at Michigan. Iowa tumbled to 1-5 in the league and 4-12 overall.

A sticky defense aided Indiana's surge after Iowa pulled to within 14-12 after falling behind 8-0 at the start. The Hoosiers steamed into a 46-20 halftime lead and built up the margin to 52-20 as the Hawkeyes went more than 10 minutes without scoring.

Indiana's biggest spend was at 7:30 with just under eight minutes left.

Steve Green led the Hoosiers, now 13-3 overall, with 18 points and Scott May added 14. High for Iowa and the game was Candy La Prince with 19 and John Hairston scored 10.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A weird sort of one that rebounds from upsetting and annoying conditions to some sudden oasis of clear thought. Schedule communications, appointments for a.m. and family matters for p.m.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Follow gently along with ideas of associates and you accomplish much. Take advantage of opportunities now ripe for your advancement.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make arrangements of a monetary nature early, then handle correspondence, reports. Later, get okay from associates on ideas of mutual benefit.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Improve health, looks early, then get into financial plans for greater security. Be sociable at right places in p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get the support you need from others during day, but show independence in p.m. Avoid a hypocrite. Make plans for improvement.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) The offer of a friend to help you should be accepted during day, but go at it alone in p.m. Be sure you know what you want before taking action.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Handle important duty well in a.m., then be with friends socially. Pay bills. Arrange to economize.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study brochures, journals, travel folders, that give information needed to help you get ahead faster. A long-distance phone call brings data desired.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Put important obligations behind you early before going off to social pleasure. Try to please more for happier future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A good day to gain backing of an associate which is impossible during work days. Carry through with your part of any agreement.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Discuss work early for greater future efficiency. Then off to activities that are important. Improve health.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Change your attitude for a happier rapport at home, then off to entertainment. Look around for comforts that will please kin. Be generous.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have a life full of changes, but only because a variety of activities is enjoyed and there is a gambling quality in the nature. There is much gentility here, though, that attracts others. The ability to solve problems is great because the mind is very clear. "When is the prime of life?" inquires a customer. Depends on the beast. Among men, it's said, the physical prime is in the early 20s, the mental prime in the early 30s. Among brutes, the prime is about age 10. That's no physical or mental, it's gastronomic! They taste best then. A Norwegian told me that.

While on task, Am asked to name the coldest luxury dish of the day. Shark fin soup probably listed up to $50 per serving in some fine Chinese cafes. Takes four days to fix. And only the white sharks of the Indian Ocean provide the luxury.

LINCOLN
Argument continues over whether Abe Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was highly regarded by the people of that day. No, it wasn't. Every newspaper editor but one tossed it into the trash. Name of that sole savior fellow who printed it is unknown. But it ought not be.

Five years ago, one out every 100 wives between 18 and 24 years of age said she expected to have no children. Today, one out of every 25 wives in that age bracket states likewise. Significant.

Some of the science boys predict they'll be able to juggle genes in such a manner within a few years so as to influence the color of a baby's skin.

Client asks if you ever swallow while asleep. You do. Exactly 7 1/2 times per hour if average. Dr. Clement S. Lear of the Harvard School of Dental Medicine in Boston found that out. He also discovered you swallow 48 times while eating a 10-minute lunch, 34 times during one hour reading a fairly dull novel, and 31 times an hour just lying awake wondering why you can't drop off. More about swallows will be forthcoming as the demand warrants.

Earnings rise seen

NEW YORK — Howard Boyd, chairman of the board of El Paso Natural Gas Company, said today the firm expects to report earnings from operations of approximately $205 per share for 1973.

This compares with restated earnings of $164 per share for the previous year.

Boyd said 1973 earnings will include the effect of rate increases covering the last two months of the year, which will be subject to some refund.

Boyd said that each of the company's subsidiaries contributed to profit in 1973.

Boyd said El Paso plans capital expenditures at a record level of $45 million in 1974. This compares with capital spending of $220 million in 1973.

DQ group sets TF conclave

TWIN FALLS — Operators and owners of Dairy Queen establishments from Southern Idaho will meet in Twin Falls Tuesday and Wednesday for their annual state convention.

The meeting will be in the Holiday Inn with registration Tuesday morning followed by a business meeting. A dinner planned in the evening. Don Hutchinson, representing the headquarters office in Minneapolis, Minn., will address the convention.

The Magichords will provide entertainment Tuesday evening. Topics to be covered during the two day meeting will include new techniques in food handling, new equipment, production and promotion.

The Dairy Queen Drive-in on Blue Lakes Boulevard will be visited by the group. Each year the convention is held in a community where a new drive-in facility has been built.

Delegates are expected to attend from Rexburg, Pocatello, Burley, Buhl, Mountain Home, Boise, Caldwell, Nampa and surrounding areas.

Jenkins, Nielsen installed

ALBION — Jay L. Nielsen, Albion, and Venna Jenkins, Mildred, were installed as directors of the D. L. Evans Bank at the company's annual meeting.

Nielsen, a former Twin Falls resident, is executive vice president of the bank. He will remain in that position while serving on the board. He has been with the bank since 1966. Mrs. Jenkins has a long family background in banking. Her husband was a pioneer in Mildred and Albion banking.

Shipments, orders off

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Shipments of manufactured products dropped 1.9 per cent in December, while unfilled orders increased 1.0 per cent, the Commerce Department said Saturday.

The report indicates manufacturing supplies still are tight, which could lead to continued shortages of consumer goods and higher prices this spring.

Business Briefs

TWIN FALLS — Sherry L. Olson, Twin Falls, attended a clinic at the home office of the Insurance Mutual Life Insurance Co. in Milwaukee, Wis., this past week.

TWIN FALLS — Two showings of a farming business plan are planned in the Magic Valley. Fred Wanzeneid, Twin Falls implement dealer, said Saturday.

"Farming Frontiers 74" will be shown at the Buhl-American Legion Hall at 7 p.m. Monday and at the Twin Cinema Theatre in Twin Falls at 11:30 a.m. Feb. 8. Farm management and implement developments will be shown in the films offered.

BURLEY — Abigail Van Buren, the "Dear Abby" radio, newspaper and television personality, will speak at the International Association of Hardware and Implement Dealers in Reno, Nev., Saturday through Monday.

Ed Elliott, Burley, is president of the association. Hardware and implement dealers from Idaho, Utah, Wyoming and Nevada are expected to attend.

BURLEY — Garth Condit, Burley, representative for United Farm Agents, has been named a member of the Founder's Award Group in recognition of sales volume.

Some sun, few clouds, may rain

Twin Falls, Burley, Rupert, Northside area: Partly sunny today, increasing clouds with chance of showers tonight and Monday. Little temperature change. Highs 33 to 43 both days and lows 25 to 35 tonight. Probability of precipitation 10 per cent today and 20 per cent tonight and up to 30 per cent Monday.

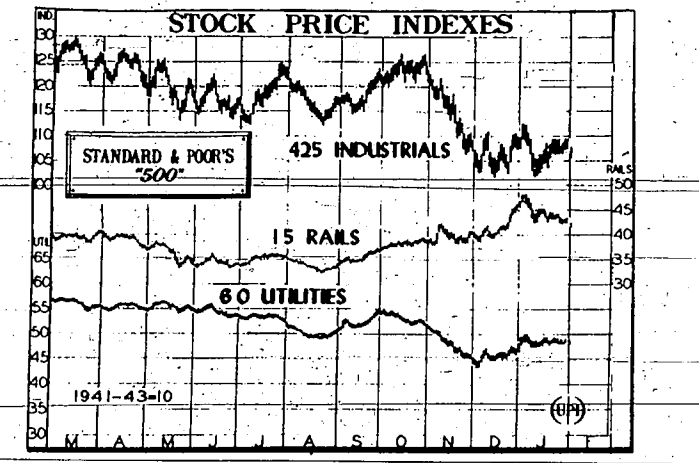

Camas Prairie, Halley and lower Wood River Valleys: Partly cloudy this morning with increasing clouds and a chance of showers tonight and Monday. Little change in temperature. Highs near 30 both days, lows near 20 tonight. Synopsis: The groundhog saw his shadow Saturday in Twin Falls but not in all parts of Idaho. A cloud cover was reported in the Boise area and some eastern areas.

Locally a series of "waves" extending far out into the Pacific has brought cloudiness to the region and snow showers over the mountains. The next front probably will reach the area Sunday evening at the earliest and will be weak.

On Saturday some high temperatures around the state ranged from 44 at Salmon to 31 in Idaho Falls.

Mullan reported the only measurable precipitation from reporting stations Saturday with .16 of an inch.

High pressure, both at the surface and aloft will keep the jet stream and associated stormy weather mostly to the north of the southern Idaho alleys for the next few days.

Gem sales tax setup rapped

MOSCOW — Idaho's present sales tax structure is "about the most inequitable in the country" and merits change, according to Dr. S. M. Ghaznar, University of Idaho associate professor of economics.

Presently, he said, Idaho allows a 15 per cent tax credit against state income tax liability granted as an alternative to exempting food purchases from the state's three per cent sales tax.

The 15 per cent credit exempts $500 of consumer spending per person and is considered "neutral" because the spending can be on any item.

However, he said, the 15 per cent credit means the sales tax burden is heavier on lower income groups than on higher income groups because the credit is allowed only to those who have a state income tax liability. Anyone whose income is low or family too large to pay any income tax does not have the advantage of the 15 per cent credit.

"The money most get a refund for sales tax paid during the year."

"Regardless of the amount of credit, it must be available especially to those with less ability to pay taxes," Ghaznar said. "Without such a change in the law, the tax credit is undesirable."

Alternatives which would make the tax credit more equitable, he said, include fixing a rate of declining credit per person as income increases, allowing larger credit to lower income groups and those with larger families, or allowing credit to vary by family size only. Another possibility would be to lower the sales tax rate to two percent or 2.5 per cent and at the same time extend the tax base to include services, which currently are exempted.

Ghaznar said that while the credit exemption of food from the sales tax "is most visible and may seem appealing," there are several arguments against exempting food.

He said the program would be difficult and costly to administer, "food" would be difficult to define, the equity effects would be haphazard since persons with high or "luxury" food preferences would be available to all retail purchasers, residents as well as non-residents, whereas the credit method benefits Idahoans only.

Oil surplus seen for US

NEW YORK — A group of top university economists says high prices for oil could result in surplus supplies within four years, and they warn against expensive energy development in the meantime.

The economists met at a forum in New York sponsored by a research organization.

The economists said domestic price controls were partially to blame for supply problems. They opposed further interference by the federal government.

Air guard aide named

BOISE (UPI) — Lt. Col. Samuel E. Orr has assumed command of the 124th Fighter-Interceptor Group of the Idaho Air National Guard.

Lt. Col. Leland J. Bernason will assume new duties as director of operations for the 124th Fighter-Interceptor Group, and Major Carl W. Goodwin will command the 190th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron.

IDAHO AUTOMOTIVE NEWS

23rd YEAR, No. 1 701 MAIN AVENUE EAST, TWIN FALLS, EXTRA

1973 Was A Very Good Year!!

"1973 was our best year ever" according to Jules Harrison, left, and Dave Gietzen, pictured above, both men, Sales Managers at Theisen Motors. Dave attributes the success to the ethic of hard work, having the best product, and a great group of enthusiastic sales personnel which have been with Theisen Motors for many years. We are proud of everyone: Larry Arbaugh - Continental specialist, 3 time Inner Circle Winner - Marlin Askew, Elvin Brown - Leasing manager, matured and well know from Buhl - Lee Bybee, always one of the top men on the board - Wiley Godby, Lamar Childs - 5 year Lincoln-Mercury division veteran, John Graybill - one of the finest, most honest, and trustworthy young salesmen in Magic Valley, Ken Brown - experienced with many years of selling, Jack Walton - we are very fortunate to have Jack on our staff, and Barry Harvick - one of the newest of our sales force.

1973 Good Year For Idaho Automobile Dealers

Today, Idaho Automobile Dealers Association announced there were 22,678 passenger cars sold in the state of Idaho for the year 1973. This was compared to a high in 1971 of 19,002 and 1972 of 20,698 passenger cars. There were 2199 passenger cars sold in Twin Falls County for 1973 with 1869 sold in 1972 and 1632 sold in 1971. Of the 2,199 cars sold in Twin Falls County, Theisen Motors sold 702 or over 31% of the cars registered in Twin Falls County. Out of the 1784 Mercury's sold in the state of Idaho, Theisen Motors registered 628 of that total. This put Theisen Motors selling over 35% of the Mercury's sold in the state of Idaho.

AND 1974 LOOKS JUST AS GOOD!!

Parts & Service Go Hand In Hand!!

John Baisch, parts manager and Bill Roemer, Service Manager for Theisen Motors both agree it has been because of the effort of each that Theisen Motors has gained the acceptance of the people of Magic Valley they now have. Every Customer has the satisfaction of knowing once they sign the purchase papers on a new Lincoln-Mercury they are assured of getting the finest service available anywhere in Magic Valley if not the United States and at the same time if by chance there is a problem, John Baisch is there to back them up with every part needed.

Service Is Still A Big Part Of The Growth Of Theisen Motors.

Whitey Jones, Customer Relations Manager for Theisen Motors knows the importance of excellent service to the customers of Theisen Motors. And once you have acquired new customers along with the many old it is a constant deep desire of Whitey's to provide the service everyone wants and deserves. He prides himself and Theisen Motors in being able to keep more and more customers coming back for the same excellent service they received on the previous car. Theisen Motors has a 92% repeat business in sales and this has to be accountable to excellent service.

Harrison Thanks Automotive Buyers!

TWIN FALLS—Theisen Motors owner Emmett Harrison said today he is supremely happy Mercury has continued as the number one passenger car in Twin Falls County. Not only has Mercury been the top seller this year, Harrison said, but Theisen Motors has outsold its competitors for the last ten years.

Harrison said he wished to extend his gratitude to the people of Magic Valley for the confidence and loyalty they have shown Theisen Motors and the Mercury Lincoln line of automobiles.

Theisen Motors Service Manager, William Roemer, said he attributed much of last year's line showing in Mercury sales to the excellent service department. "I think we have the finest automobile specialists in Magic Valley if not the entire State of Idaho," Roemer said.

"Look at the caliber of personnel," Roemer added, "and you'll agree, Charles Armstrong, master of the tune-up, Ben Badd, front and rear axle specialist; Dennis Kirsch, transmission and air conditioning wizard; Dennis Kirsch, transmission and air conditioning genius; Larry Eastman, crackerjack electrical and rear axle specialist; and Marzell Lewis, unqualified lubrication expert. You won't find a more qualified department."

"Plus, let's not forget Whitey Jones, customer relations manager," Roemer added. "He has contributed greatly to our overall customer service."

John Baisch, Theisen Motors parts manager, said his parts inventory has increased nearly 20 per cent. He also noted that the parts department has added to its staff to accommodate a significant growth in business. "Even with as large an inventory of parts as we carry," Baisch said, "if we don't have a particular part in stock, which we nearly always do, we can make a phone call and have it here in a matter of hours."

Whitey Jones, body shop manager for Theisen Motors, said Theisen's naturally repairs more Mercury's than any other car because there are more Mercury's sold in Twin Falls County than any other.

"We do a job quicker," Brown said, "because we have all the parts. And Abby Baylard, our paint specialist, guarantees he can match any paint and color on any make of automobile."

Every one of Theisen Motors department managers said they would not mind to personally take credit for the tremendous popularity of Mercury in Magic Valley, but Emmett Harrison said he thought it was all departments.

"I think it's a combination of the excellent service which Magic Valley residents rightly deserve and should expect," Harrison said, "a large parts department that eliminates all chance of your automobile being tied up for repairs for days on end, plus all-around excellence of facilities."

"Not only this," said Harrison, "but we carry over 100 new cars in stock at all times, and we have one of the largest used car inventories in the Northwest."

"Then, consider the friendly atmosphere and salesmen that have been with us for many years. Also, we offer local bank financing with the lowest bank rate possible, an excellent location with space to make looking for a new car a pleasure."

"This is why Mercury is known and accepted as absolutely the finest buy in Magic Valley," Harrison said. "Mercury is Magic Valley's most loved car."

Harrison said he felt this was due to Theisen Motors being accepted for its particular brand of service, skill and care in doing business.

"We will continue to provide excellent service to Magic Valley residents," Harrison promised, "not only in the gracious manner which people have come to expect from Theisen Motors, but with a little extra touch of hospitality. We put ourselves in our customer's shoes."

John Harrison, Theisen Motors new car sales manager, confessed the firm has been a little short of 1974 Camaros in the past few weeks, but he said this is no longer a problem.

"We now have a complete stock on any model you may desire, and at the price you want to pay for it," he said.

The Pledge

The Scouting Story

IF YOU ARE A SOARHEAD

MORE POWER TO YOU!

Take the Pledge

Pick up your bait packages: cold drink cans, lunch bags.

Equip your boat with litter bags and holding tanks.

Put out ALL campfires.

Don't use the lakes or rivers for a wash tub.

Take a few minutes to clear away debris from streams.

Do not disturb nature's environmental surroundings.

TURN ABOUT IS FAIR PLAY . . . Let's do a good turn for the Scouts and take the pledge today.

The original SOAR heads are the Boy Scouts of America who have been working on Project SOAR (Save Our American Resources) for the past several years.

Last year, on one day, 4 million Scouts and adults cleaned up 470,000 miles of highway and shoreline, 1,300,000 acres of park and public lands and planted 300,000 trees.

So, if you are one of 128 million fishermen, campers and boating enthusiasts and want to be a SOAR head: welcome to the group.

You are one who really appreciates the beauty of the great outdoors. When you head for Idaho's beautiful mountains this weekend, take the pledge, check up on yourself.

New Scout program offers choices

TWIN FALLS — An Eagle Scout who doesn't complete a life saving program in swimming or earn a camping merit badge is a new concept in Magic Valley but it may not be that way in the future. In areas such as Idaho there is an emphasis on outdoor activities in Boy Scout programs. But a new concept has been adopted making it possible for a boy to work to attain Eagle rank without these things.

Known as the Improved Scouting Program, it is expected will allow boys in metropolitan areas to achieve the same high ranks by utilizing facilities at their disposal, including such things as consumer buying.

As Darl Glead, Scouting executive, explains it, the boy with no swimming facilities close at hand may achieve Eagle honors by substituting the new Emergency Preparedness merit badge. Through this new merit badge work, he learns other ways of providing life saving skills.

In areas where it is a long way to the summer camps or outdoor-camping areas, boys may substitute environmental science, communication or several other of the new merit badges.

Under the Improved Scouting Program, it is no easier to become an Eagle; in fact it requires 24 merit badges rather than 21 under the old program, but it offers a greater choice to boys.

In Magic Valley Boy Scouts have some unique opportunities, says Glead. Where else is there an opportunity to make the White Water trip down the Salmon River? Where else can the boys earn their hiking awards on a high mountain trail in an area such as the White Cloud wilderness? About 125 boys now make the Salmon River run each year and 50 or more hike the Ma-I-Shu trail of the scenic White Clouds.

For this reason, Glead said, there will be less change in Boy Scouting under the new program for Magic Valley Scouts than in some of the metropolitan areas.

Some boys, however, may be competing in such sports as events as judo, skating, skiing and arm wrestling instead of earning badges on the basis of their participation in basketball, football or baseball.

New merit badges now offered toward Eagle honors include atomic energy, general science, genealogy, metals engineering, pulp and paper, citizenship in the world, communication, emergency preparedness, environmental science, personal management, skating, sports (instead of athletics), American cultures, consumer buying, dentistry, law, orienteering, and wilderness survival.

Blaine Shaffer, another Boy Scout executive in Twin Falls, said this may be one of the reasons Idaho and the Snake River Council have always done so well in membership. About 57 per cent of the boys of Magic Valley who are eligible to hold membership in the Boy Scouts do so. Nationally, the average runs around 26 per cent. About five per cent of the Magic Valley Boy Scouts achieve the Eagle rank, while the national average runs about one per cent.

Goals in Scouting point toward building better citizenship and the new concept is still in this direction. It gives boys a greater number of ways in which to achieve the goal, Shaffer said.

Leadership development; the new term for training programs for leaders, is also changing. "We take the program to the adult leaders," Glead said, "and we give them new techniques and skills."

As an example of Boy Scouting gone modern, a national space program this year will see the names of thousands of Boy Scouts launched into space with the satellite, "The Scout," scheduled to depart this month. This "First in Space" project served as a fall recruiting promotion. The names of all boys holding current membership and who chose to sign scrolls from their troops will be aboard the space ship, Derald Fitzsimonds, executive for the Falls District, said names of between 3,500 and 4,000 Snake River Council boys will be on the microfilmed scrolls.

There are 5,562 Boy Scouts who have current membership in the council. Fitzsimonds said. This includes 2,144 Cub Scouts in 84 packs; 2,252 Scouts in 95 troops and 117 Explorers in 92 Posts.

The council camping program saw 391 Scouts at Camp Bradley near Cape Horn last summer, and 327 participating in the day camp, Saufola Mala Tosi. Another 118 Scouts completed the White Water trip on the Salmon River and 50 hiked the 50-mile Ma-I-Shu trail. There were 199 Scouts and leaders at the National Jamoree.

Leaders vital to scouts

TWIN FALLS — Scouting executives in Magic Valley say the area's successful Boy Scout program depends on the large corps of volunteer adults who make it all possible.

The Snake River Area Council is headed by Coly Parrish who will serve as council president until about the middle of February, Boy Scout month.

Parrish, along with Robert Day, council commissioner, and Darl Glead, Scout executive, comprise the "key three" of the council.

All three are former Boy Scouts. Parrish has been in Scouting 30 years, including his Cub Scout days. He is a former Scoutmaster, having served at the district level and has been a member of the council executive board since 1968.

Day, a former chairman of the Camp Development committee, was in charge of Scout activities during the raising of $250,000 to finance Camp Bradley improvements, and to help develop Camp 4-Roach in the Hagerman Valley area. He is a former council vice president and has been commissioner the past year.

Glead, a paid employe of the council, began as a Boy Scout in Malad, served as Scoutmaster and commissioner while a volunteer in 1957, he became a professional, serving in Medford, Ore., Seattle, Fairbanks, Alaska, and in Twin Falls since 1968.

Other officers for 1973 include John Roper, Garth

Eames, Rupert, D. A. Taylor, Burley, and Clair Ricketts, Jerome, as vice presidents; James Kinney, national council representative; Gordon Beckstead, treasurer.

Chairman of operating committees include John Coleman, Cub Scouting; Les Jones, Scouting; E. J. Morgan, Exploring chairman; Ed Fortier, camp facilities; Roy Roper, finance; Jack Muldoon, special events and Gordon Neilson, Burley.

District chairmen are George E. Haney, Jr., Falls District; D. A. Taylor, Burley, Cassia District; Floyd Phillips, Rupert; Minidoka District; Jerry McGrath, Hailey, Wood River District; and Bill Hart, Jerome, North Side District.

Children brattier today

NEW YORK (UPI) — If today's children are brattier than those of yesteryear, Dr. Benjamin Spock, author of the book on "Baby and Child Care," is ready to admit that he must share part of the blame.

"Inability to be firm is, to my mind, the commonest problem of parents in America today," Spock said in an article in the February issue of Reader's Digest magazine, released Monday. Spock laid the blame for the parenting "brattiness" of America's children at least in part on the experts — "the child psychiatrists, psychologists, teachers, social workers and pediatricians, like myself."

"In the 20th century parents have been persuaded that (these are) the only people who know for sure how children should be managed."

"This is a cruel deprivation that we professionals have imposed on mothers and fathers. Of course, we did it with the best of intentions. We didn't realize, until it was too late, how our know-it-all attitude was undermining the self-assurance of parents."

As a result, says Spock, parents who are afraid of alienating their children are letting them get away with not coming in for lunch on time, not wearing snowfluffs when they should and eating candy when they shouldn't.

Spock concluded that parental submissiveness only encourages children to be more peaky and demanding which, in turn, "makes the parent increasingly resentful, until this finally explodes in a display of anger — great or small — that convinces the child (to) give in.

"In other words, parental submissiveness doesn't avoid unpleasantness; it makes it inevitable."

He recommended parents should be neither cross nor overbearing when they tell their children what to do, but "clear and definite."

"A firm, calm approach makes the child much more likely to cooperate — politely, promptly and completely," Spock said.

Q: Where is that mysterious lady, Greta Garbo? What and how is she doing? — J. E. Perth, Amboy, N. J.

A: Miss Garbo, who retired

... waited too long after "Two-Faced Woman" in 1941, is now 68. She lives in New York on 52nd Street near the East River, and Garbo-watching is a popular Manhattan sport since the star is always out walking around alone. Her closest friend is Gaylord Hauser, the diet expert, whom she often visits in California. Garbo will probably never make another film, saying, "I waited too long."

RUMOR OF THE WEEK: Singer Bob Dylan has refused to confirm or deny the rumor that he plans to donate to Israel all the money he makes on his current smash-hit tour. Dylan also won't comment on the story that he intends to begin using his real name, Bobby Zimmerman.

Q: Why did Laurence Harvey's widow have to go back to work before he was hardly cold in the ground? — N. F., Baltimore.

A: Because Larry left no will and model Paulene Stone needs money to see that she and Harvey's young daughter, Dornay, survive.

Q: Now what's happened to the Getty boy who was recently released by those Italian kidnapers? — G. B., New Bedford, Mass.

A: J. Paul Getty III is living with his mother and her other children in a village in the Austrian Tyrol. He's been going to school mornings and planning to take an afternoon job. The 17-year-old has made a remarkable recovery from his five-month ordeal and the only reminder now is the ski cap he constantly wears to hide his mutilated ear.

WHERE THERE'S SMOKE THERE MAY STILL BE DIVORCE: John Wayne and his 45-year-old estranged wife Pilar (mother of his three kids) have decided to see a marriage counselor in an attempt to patch up their separation. Most of the problem stems from the Duke's refusal to give up smoking 100 cigarettes a day even though the 66-year-old actor has already lost one lung to cancer. Mrs. Wayne says the Duke has now promised to "give up even the occasional cigar." He is trying so hard to beat the habit that pals think the Waynes will make it back together.

BUTTERING UP THE PRESIDENT: A special staff in the dining room of the US Treasury in Washington is kept busy after every meal just scraping the pats of butter off President Nixon's official portrait. The irreverent diners seem to get a kick out of splattering the portrait with their butter pats.

Q: Where is Twigg's old boyfriend now that they are no longer sweethearts? — J. E., Boston.

A: Justin de Villeneuve, her former manager, is still friendly with his Twigg-like protegee, but nobody else feels very warmly toward him. Director Mel Ferrer banned Justin from the set of Twigg's milder mystery film "W," saying "he was behaving very badly, being rude to everyone and, restricting Twigg's development."

Q: Is Elizabeth Taylor sore at Richard Burton over his flirtation with Sophia Loren? — K. E., Addison, Ill.

A: If she is, she is keeping up a good front. Recently Elizabeth visited the Rome set where her husband and Sophia are filming "The Voyage." She rushed over and kissed the Italian actress and raised a glass of wine to Sophia's marriage. Richard, commenting on his reconciliation with Liz, said: "I don't know. People leave me and then they come back and then they leave and come back again."

ANNE AND MARK
... just like everyone else

Q: Not long ago you mentioned Princess Anne shopping while on her honeymoon with Mark Phillips, and we wondered how she does in department stores. Do sales people recognize her and just pat her purchases on her palace account, or what? — H. I., Memphis, Tenn.

A: The royal family has charge accounts just like the rest of us. And they sign charge slips just like everyone else.

GAY GOTHAM DEPT.: Just how liberated are video audiences today? That's the question the producers of a hit family TV series would like answered. One of the young stars of their hot show acts like a charter member of Gay Liberation. The producers would like to head off all press interviews with the star since he literally flutters into restaurants carrying a handbag and kisses everyone in sight, including the male reporters.

LIKE MOTHER LIKE SONS: Romance seems to run in the Elizabeth Taylor family. Her second son, Christopher Wilding, 18, is about to marry Josy Schaefer, whom he introduced to his mother at Christmas in Switzerland.

Q: Is it true that Faye Dunaway is temperamental? — J. P., Burbank, Calif.

A: Faye is somewhat in the old-fashioned movie star tradition. She kept her costume-fitter on the film "Chinatown" waiting for an hour and a half. Director Roman Polanski says: "Faye is tremendously temperamental. When working she is professional and easy, but I find her impossible off the stage. It's hardly worth it working with her, but it's worth it."

ACHTUNG! TIGHTEN YOUR BELTS. The German government canceled a huge official party in an economy move and instigated a new luxury tax on private swimming pools, which happens to be Germany's latest status symbol.

TOO HOT TO HANDLE: A pretty Hollywood writer is trying to sell an "abuse screener" of a book about all the male movie stars she has had love affairs with. Most of the actors were and are married. The book is read avidly at each publishing house, but so far no publisher has had the nerve to accept it.

PATIENCE: Those of you who sent off for the Lincoln penny with JFK's profile stamped on it should eventually get your order filled. The company has been swamped with requests. But don't forget: if you think that your mail order — on any item at any time — is not receiving proper attention, contact your postal inspector.

Q: Is it true Diana Rigg married one of those celebrity-bound type people? — R. E., Baltimore.

A: Diana's husband, Israeli painter Menachem Guffen, is a serious artist whose works sell very well. And quite contrary to nobodies who marry stars, he's quite arrogant about his work and thinks of himself as the star in the family. You wouldn't ever think of calling him Mr. Rigg.

Top Scout district

TF area achieves goals

TWIN FALLS—The Spencer Award, reserved for the few Boy Scout districts which achieve 100 per cent of their goals for a year, has been awarded the Falls District of the Snake River Boy Scout Council.

This district, which covers Twin Falls County and Jackpot, Nev., is one of six in the local Council. It is the only district in the council to achieve the award in 1973 and one of only 12 or 15 to be so honored in the 12 state region.

George Haney, Jr., Twin Falls, is the chairman of the district; John Massey, Twin Falls, is vice chairman, and Derald Fitzsimonds, district executive.

To accomplish the successful completion of all goals, the district was judged on a basis of weekly and monthly statistical reports.

These goals include total membership in the re-registration for the year; total units in re-registration; all registration in on time; all leaders completing required training and required number of boy receiving and reading Boys' Life magazine.

As of Dec. 31, there were 2,048 boys in the 89 units including Cub, Boy Scout and Explorer units. Of the re-chartered units, 55 completed charters on time and 70 of the leaders completed necessary training. A total of 827 boys are reading "Boys' Life" magazine.

The district was organized in 1971 by consolidating two smaller districts.

Tips given for best indoor window box

By GEORGE ABRAHAM
INDOOR WINDOW BOXES:
 A reader tells us her husband is going to make her an indoor window box, and wants to know if it would be wiser to fill the box with a drainage material such as gravel, charcoal, etc., and then put the plants directly in the soil.

We've tried several different methods for filling indoor planters and here's what we recommend: (1) Make the box at least 8 inches deep. (2) Place a layer of gravel in the bottom for drainage. (3) Fill the box with moist peat moss up to within an inch from the top.

(4) Place pot and all in the peat moss. Do not knock the plant out of the pot and plant directly. The reason: If a plant should die in the box, all you have to do is lift the pot without disturbing the plants nearby. (5) When you apply water, just add a little to the surface of each pot and also keep the peat moss slightly dampened at all times.

A common mistake some gardeners make is to plant "dry" plants along with those which need a fair amount of water. The same goes for light. Some plants can tolerate a lot of light while others need very little light.

Incidentally, it's a good idea to line the bottom of a planter with some water resistant material to prevent dripping and leaking.

BLACK FUNGUS GNATS:
 You've probably noticed those little black flies which swarm around your house plants in homes and in greenhouses. These are fungus gnats, sometimes called mushroom or manure fly.

Usually a few flies do no damage, but the larvae of maggots can cause damage to plant roots. They feed on the feeder roots, and may chew larger roots on just about all indoor plants.

CONTROL: Take a bar of laundry soap and mix it with a batch of suds. Pour ¼ cup of the solution around the top of the pot and it should kill all your underground pests. Cigarette or cigar butts soaked in water makes a good solution for killing maggots of the fungus gnat.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BARGAIN: Your seed catalog is the world's best bargain. A few pennies or a postal card is the only investment needed for getting some useful and tempting seed and nursery catalog.

These catalogs contain much useful information gathered by knowledgeable people. Months of planning go into the catalog. Best companies will be in planning next year's catalog as soon as the current year's supply is distributed.

These catalogs are costly to the seed or nursery—running anywhere from $1 to $4 each. Some catalogs list from 1,000 to 3,000 different items, some rare and some not so rare.

It's a good idea for parents to spend some time with their children, studying a seed catalog. Help them make out a seed order and watch your children sprout into worthwhile citizens.

FIREFLY IN WINTER:
 Recently we mentioned how a lady became ill after drinking a tea in which a firefly ("lightning bug") had fallen. She recovered after treatment in a hospital from fire bug poisoning.

A veterinarian writes: "One of my customers had a cat which died from poison after drinking milk in which a lightning bug had fallen. Her other cat drank milk with a fire fly in it; but recovered after consuming a mixture of orange juice and epsom salts."

"You people who work with plants and bugs have some real riddles, but here's one just as tough. See if you can figure it out. It's a known fact that cattle will die from alfalfa biot. If you administer internally, equal parts of Neatsfoot oil and mineral oil, it has no effect.

"But if the same mixture is applied externally in a strip from the shoulder to the flank, the animals recover. Solve that one!"

 Green thumb note: I can't. Is there a horse doctor in the house?

NEWSPAPER LOGS:
 A reader asks us how to make newspaper "logs" dipped in a detergent and dried. We've made the logs without using a detergent. Does anyone have information on making newspaper logs? Treated with a detergent? Please tell us how and why detergent is used so we can pass this information along to fellow readers.

MEALYBUGS AGAIN:
 We've already told you about using a systemic insecticide for checking mealybugs.

Here's another letter: "Four years ago I was given a dozen fine African violets which unfortunately were loaded with mealybugs. I treated them twice, one week between treatments, using Isolex insect spray made by Ortho.

"I didn't spray the plants but watered them with the recommended strength (about 1 teaspoonful to a quart of water). The mealybugs disappeared and the systemic action prevented hatching of any eggs. To date no reappearance of the bug has occurred on the violets or adjacent plants."

BUILD A HOTBED: Now's a good time to build yourself a hotbed for starting seeds. Hotbeds were once heated with rotting fresh manure, but today it's simpler to heat them with special lead or plastic coated heating cables purchased from garden stores or seed catalogs.

The cable should be distributed uniformly over the bed area. It should then be covered with about two inches of sand. Next, place a sheet of hardware cloth over the sand to prevent cutting the cable while working in the soil. Over the hardware cloth add a layer of about four inches of rich garden soil.

The cables are therm-statically controlled and can be set to keep the soil at a uniform temperature. Seeds may then be planted in the soil at a uniform temperature. Or, you can start seed in box placed on top of the soil.

Dining facility slated at camp

TWIN FALLS — Construction is expected to begin in the spring and continue through the coming two summers on a new dining room building at Camp Bradley near Cape Horn.

The camp, serves the camping program of the Snake River Area Boy Scouts, provides summer camping facilities for some several hundred boys. At peak camping periods the dining facilities may have to serve as many as 300 persons. Scout Executive Darl Glead said existing facilities will accommodate only about half that number.

As a result they eat in shifts and utilize cafeteria methods and in other ways stretch the space.

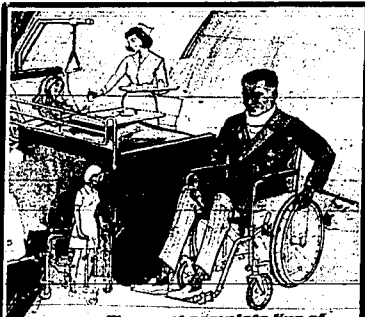

When completed the log building will have a stone fireplace and kitchen. It will also provide year around accommodations, allowing Scouting to expand in winter camping and snowmobiling programs.

Glead said some of the building cost is raised locally through generous donations and some comes from foundations such as the Dixie Food Chain, headed by A. D. Davis, a former Burley Boy Scout. This firm started the building fund with a gift of $13,000. Max C. Fleischmann of the yeast firm's board of directors donated another $10,000 and the Skaggs family also assisted.

Seating for between 250 and 300 persons be available with the building greatly enhancing the camp facilities. Plans for the building were drawn by Harold Gerber, Twin Falls architect, working with the National Council engineers.

Plans for adding the building started in 1971, Glead said.

SUPPORT THE MAGIC VALLEY MEMORIAL HOSPITAL!
IT NEEDS YOUR HELP, BECAUSE . . .

Federal controls plus spiraling inflation have made it impossible for hospitals to update facilities and equipment out of operating income. No federal funding is available to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital at the present time for construction and remodeling.

A county hospital cannot borrow money or take out a mortgage on its property. Therefore, after thorough exploration and deliberation, the Hospital Board decided to ask that the modernization program be financed through a public bond issue to be paid off in regular installments over 20 years from tax monies.

Although it is a county hospital, Magic Valley Memorial receives most of its operating income from patients. For example, of the hospital's total budgeted income for 1973, over 95 per cent represents fees for service to individuals, less than 5 per cent County tax dollars.
