WASHINGTON — President Nixon asked Congress today to approve a record $304.4 billion budget that he said would check inflation and reverse a slowdown of the economy in 1974.

Confronted — by fast-rising prices and spreading layoffs as a result of the energy shortage, Nixon promised even more government spending if necessary to stop a slump.

He projected a deficit of $3.4 billion for the year starting July 1 but his advisers cautioned that uncertainty about oil supplies made all forecasts less reliable than usual.

"The President is determined and he's not going to tolerate a recession," said deputy budget director Frederic W. Mahk.

"It means busting the budget, he'll bust the budget rather than have people out of jobs."

Without spelling out his contingency spending plans, the President said he was readying measures that would be tailored to offset the job-reducing impact of the energy crisis.

"Some slowdown in the amount of demand is appropriate to help check inflation," he told Congress. "But this slowdown should not be permitted to go too far."

The President's spending request was $29.8 billion — more than the $273.7 billion the government is expected to cost in the year ending June 30. This year's deficit was estimated to be $4.7 billion.

Federal revenues, estimated at $270 billion in this fiscal year, were projected at $285 billion in the new budget.

Despite the anticipated deficit, Nixon said his budget would apply "moderate restraint" on the economy because spending would fall $8 billion short of the revenues that would be raised if unemployment were at 4 per cent, creating a "full employment surplus."

The jobless rate stood at 5.2 per cent in January and the President's advisers believe it will rise in the next few months as high as 6 per cent before declining in the second half of the year.

The President ordered Contingency Plan No. 1 into effect last week, adding another 100,000 units to the low-income housing program.

His action — taken after the budget was printed — would add little to spending right away but would help the depressed homebuilding industry by authorizing $210 million in construction contracts to be signed in the new fiscal year. Eventually, the added 100,000 units would lead to spending of $3.6 billion over the next 20 years.

Crash near Hollister kills TF man, hurts 3

TWIN FALLS — A head-on collision early Sunday north of Hollister killed a Twin Falls man and hospitalized three other persons.

Idaho State Police Lt. Roy Thomas said Robert D. Beer, 57, who was employed at Kregel's Hardware, was killed when his car was struck by a 1974 car two miles north of Hollister at about 5 a.m. on US Highway 93.

Beer was the driver of a northbound car which was struck by a southbound car driven by Warren T. Smith, 19, a serviceman stationed at Hill Air Force Base, Utah.

Smith was listed in serious condition this morning at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. He is in the intensive care unit, being treated for fractures of both arms and a compound fracture of the femur.

State police said the Utah car apparently crossed the centerline of the highway as it rounded a curve just north of Hollister, colliding with the Beer car.

Also hospitalized were Mrs. Nellie May Beer, 55, Twin Falls listed in good condition today, and a passenger in the Smith car, Stanley Coffman, 20, Ogden, Utah. He was listed in fair condition with a spine fracture.

A second passenger in the Smith vehicle, Joseph E. Garcia, 20, Hill AFB, was not hospitalized.

County Coroner Cloyce Edwards said Beer had of internal injuries shortly after being admitted to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

All the victims were taken to the hospital by Magic Valley ambulance.

Beer's death brings to three the Magic Valley highway deaths of the weekend. Two men, Perry Douglas, 43, Naples and Deane Shovell, 47, formerly of Twin Falls, were killed early Saturday in a single car accident in Jerome County.

Truckers' strike violence growing

By United Press International
Violence in the independent truckers strike picked up momentum today with new incidents reported in Ohio, Missouri and along the Minnesota-Wisconsin border.

The National Guard was being used in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Michigan to help control the militant strikers.

Five trucks were hit by gunfire in Ohio, three in the Columbus area and two in the northwestern part of the state.

On the truckers' demands, Simon indicated that government red tape was a major stumbling block in solving the strike.

The Ohio National Guard was ordered out to stand guard at truck stops, overpasses and other critical traffic points.

In Michigan, National Guard helicopters were keeping watch over major truck routes. State police said they would form an escort service for truckers who wanted to form convoys.

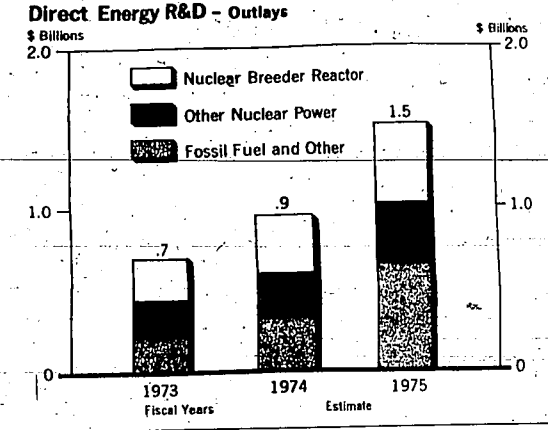

Shooting incidents were reported in Missouri involving a mail truck near Fredericktown, a Campbell Freight Co. truck in New Madrid and three in the food distributing firm of Sikes-ton.

The Minnesota State Patrol reported one trucker shot near a truck stop. Another trucker reported being fired upon just over the Minnesota-Wisconsin border. State patrol officials called an emergency meeting to map plans for handling the problems.

Mart nations set for meet

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The European Common Market nations, criticized by their own leaders for their "weakness" and "dependence," worked today on a joint position for the Washington oil conference later this month.

Eight of the nine — all except France — have accepted President Nixon's invitation to the conference Feb. 11-12 to begin work on an "energy action group" to meet the long-term oil crisis.

Strike relief law predicted

By United Press International
Independent truckers who have seen fuel prices double since May.

"Something had to give and nobody would talk to them," he said. "Now at last they're getting some cooperation from top leaders in Washington."

Of the negotiations which went on for six hours Sunday before a recess until midday today, Shapp said: "Our greatest progress is we're starting to talk. By the end of the day, we may have a good idea of where we're going to go."

There were these other energy developments:

— In Detroit, U. S. automakers reported "70" of their assembly plants — closed and 75,000 workers idled for the first week of February because of the impact of the energy crisis on passenger car output.

About 100,000 other workers were unsure when they would return to their jobs.

— President Nixon proposed in his new budget to spend $1.5 billion during the fiscal year beginning July 1 to spur the discovery and development of more coal, oil and atomic energy to make the United States "independent" in the years ahead. He noted however that "higher prices will be necessary to stimulate development of adequate supplies of fuel through the mechanism of the free market."

— Simon announced today a proposal aimed at preventing wide discrepancies in the prices of home heating oil paid by individuals even when they live in the same neighborhood. The Federal Energy Office, he said, would try to equalize the situation by apportioning the amount of foreign and domestic heating oil sold to suppliers.

$3 limit asked

By United Press International
Federal energy chief William E. Simon urged motorists today to purchase a minimum of $3 worth of gasoline to stop panic buying that he said is overhauling service stations.

Simon said he would consider making the minimum purchase limit a mandatory one.

Energy officials have said a main reason for panic buying is motorists buying small amounts just to keep their tanks full. There are indications that as many as 50 per cent of the current purchases are less than five gallons.

Simon was given a relinquishment form and told he could sign it pending a decision from the state office of the department whether he could amend the application with "different points of diversion and different seasons of use," Haynes said.

As of this weekend, LeMoynes had not signed the relinquishment form, even though he had informed the Times News he had withdrawn the waste water filling.

"This filling was made for the express purpose of legally using waste water from the Twin Falls Canal Co. system that could be dumped throughout the year when the canal company stockholders do not use the water in the canals. This water is then wasted into the various canyons and drainages. This could be dumped," LeMoynes said in a statement presented to the Times-News this morning.

"A waste water filling does not establish a right against the owners of the water," LeMoynes added. He said the intent of the filling was discussed with the Twin Falls Canal Co. before it was made.

Twin Falls Canal Co. stockholders are now voting on a hotly contested proposal for the development of water to two proposed huge farm developments west of the Salmon Creek Falls Canyon.

If the stockholders do not approve the conveyance plan with a two-thirds majority vote, the conveyance plan will not pass and the developments, which would irrigate 47 square miles of farmlands, will not be possible, according to project officials.

One source of stockholder opposition to the plan was the fear that Tuana planned to take Deep Creek water.

LeMoynes said the filling for Twin Falls Canal Co. waste water has been "misinterpreted." He said Tuana is only asking for water dumped by the canal company and not for Deep Creek seepage water.

Tuana would pay the company for the water provided, he said.

Tuana amends filing on TF Canal waste water

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — The Tuana Mutual Irrigation Co. is now amending its filing on the Twin Falls Canal Co. waste water, according to company president Harry LeMoynes.

Instead of diverting the water at lateral canal No. 9 off Deep Creek, Tuana will take the water from laterals on the No. 5 and No. 3 at two points on the Salmon Falls Creek canyon rim about 1.5 miles directly west of Hill, LeMoynes said.

Also, Tuana will file for diversion of the waste water year round. The original application filed showed the company planned to take 200 cubic feet per second out for irrigation purposes from March 15 to Nov. 15.

By diverting the water at the canyon rim, the Twin Falls Canal Co. will have total control of the amount of water it will supply Tuana with, LeMoynes said. "The season of use (delivery) is year-long to encompass any time the water is available," he said.

LeMoynes said the water filed on is not Deep Creek water, but only water which the Twin Falls Canal Co. decides to spill. Water to Tuana would be taken out of Deep Creek at canal laterals No. 5 and No. 9, LeMoynes said.

Depending on the determination of the waste water supply, LeMoynes said that the Yahoe Creek Reservoir capacity may be enlarged or the acreage of the project irrigated decreased.

LeMoynes said there is "lots of water yet" in Idaho and that there is "no reason why distribution of this water" should be dumped on water or irrigate nearly 10,000 acres of land.

LeMoynes said there is "no reason why" reasonable people can't work out this intelligent distribution of this water. He said that Tuana had never intended to use Deep Creek water.

As of 11 a.m. today the amendment to the waste water filing had not been made official yet.

Bob Haynes, manager of the Twin Falls district office of the Idaho Department of Water Administration, reported that on Jan. 21 LeMoynes did request a withdrawal of the waste water filing made on Jan. 9.

Skylab crew takes last walk, starts packing

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Skylab 2 astronauts retrieved thousands of rare pictures of the Sun and Comet Kohoutek Sunday during America's last planned spacewalk for almost a decade, and today started packing to come home.

Flight Commander Gerald P. Carr and scientist Edward G. Gibson worked almost ceaselessly for five hours and 19 minutes outside the big space station that has been their home for almost three months, while pilot William R. Pogue stayed inside to keep the lab under control.

The recording-setting crew of spacemen splashed down at 9:17 a.m. MDT Friday near

San Diego in the Pacific Ocean, ending another era of U.S. space flight.

The men have completed almost all of the thousands of hours of biomedical, Earth and Sun study and comet watching experiments of the 84-day flight. Biomedical tests and packing the results of their research work filled today's flight plan.

The next American space mission, an orbital link with a Soviet crew in mid-1975, won't include a spacewalk as planned now, so the next outside stage will be the Shuttle, program is underway in the 1980s.

In addition to lugging the big film cassettes full of Sun and comet photos, Carr and Gibson retrieved two samples of "material used to make the big sunshades that have kept the space home cool since last May.

The astronauts' time outside, although it wore them out, wasn't close to their record-length, seven hour and one minute spacewalk they made Dec. 29.

"You've done a phenomenal amount of work in a short period of time," Pogue told his fellow crewmates just before they came inside.

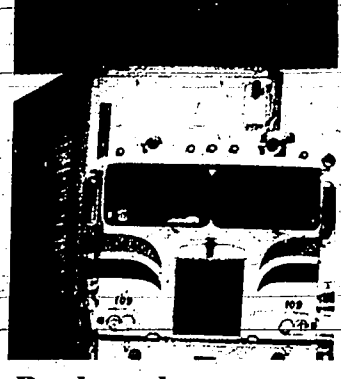

"Yeah, and I'm beginning to feel the effects too — tired and hungry," Carr said.

The fliers were rubbernecking like tourists, looking at the Earth below them and pointing out landmarks they recognized.

"They look there's the San Joaquin Valley over there," Carr said as he sailed 270 miles above his native state of California. "And there's the Salton Sea. Beautiful, Beautiful. We've sure got a pretty country."

Flight officials said the space station's infamous controlling gyroscopes, which had performed erratically during spacewalks before, showed no signs of disturbance during Sunday's activity.

Minister says oil lid stays

KUWAIT (UPI) — Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Khalid Khaddam said today that nothing has happened since the October Arab-Israeli war to justify the lifting of the oil embargo against the United States.

On progress toward troop disengagement with Israel on the Golan Heights front, Khaddam said Syria had kept U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger informed of its position and said he had no information that Kissinger might return to the Middle East to discuss the question in Damascus.

Khaddam spoke to newsmen at Kuwait airport before leaving for home with Syrian President Hafez Assad after visits to Saudi Arabia and Kuwait, the two oil-rich states that have led the "Arab oil embargo."

He said the Arab summit conference in Algiers in November "took a clear and frank decision not to list the oil embargo on any state until that state shows clearly it is supporting the Arab cause."

"There is nothing new in the situation which justifies the a decision to lift the embargo."

(c) Chicago Daily News WASHINGTON — The only high-level federal official who does not get a raise under recommendations — President Nixon sent Congress today is the President himself.

More than 10,000 officials, including Congressmen, federal judges, top political appointees and career federal workers, are in line for the raise — the first they have had since 1969.

The rate will go into effect automatically within 30 days unless Congress votes it down. The President, in his budget message, recommended these raises:

For Congressmen and senators, who now are paid $42,500 a year, an increase to $45,700 this year, $49,100 next year, and $52,800 the year after that.

For all federal judges except the supreme court, the rate will rise over three years. Judicial salaries vary. Judges of the circuit court and court of claims and comptroller, as Congressmen, $42,500 a year. For the Supreme Court there would be one raise of 7.5 per cent over the chief justice's present $62,500 and the eight associate justices' $60,000.

For members of the President's cabinet, who now are paid $60,000 a year, a once-only 7.5 per cent raise to $64,500 a year.

For political appointees in executive level 5, now paid $36,000 a year, a 7.5 per cent raise over three years, up to $44,700. This will trigger a raise for several thousand career federal workers — and foreign service personnel who are now held by law to the "political" level 5 pay of $36,000.

The President is required by law to recommend or reject a raise for congress and other high officials after considering the suggestions of an independent commission. The commission this time proposed a raise of 25 per cent in one lump, presidential aide Frederick V. Malek said.

The President has recommended instead a three-stage, 7.5 per cent raise. It was stated, to lessen the inflationary effect.

5 states face 'bias' charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Civil Rights Commission issued a report today charging that Mexican-American children are discriminated against in the public school systems of five southwestern states.

"The Spanish language and Chicano culture are often excluded from the curricula of school in the southwest," said the 269-page report, based on a five-year study.

As a result, the commission said, "Chicano students far too often find themselves retained in grade, placed in low-ability groupings or designated for educable mentally retarded classes."

Most of the report's 51 recommendations are aimed at education officials in the five states studied: Arizona, California, Colorado, New Mexico and Texas.

The report was released simultaneously in Los Angeles and San Antonio, Texas, by commission members.

Much of the bias is caused, the report said, on the scarcity of Mexican-American school teachers and administrators.

The recommendations are based on three principles: — "The language and culture of Mexican-Americans should be an integral part of the education process."

"Mexican-Americans should be fully represented in educational decision-making."

"Federal, state and local governments should provide sufficient funds to implement these recommendations."

Among the recommendations are that state legislatures: — Prohibit at-large school board elections so that board members would represent specific areas.

— Outlaw long-term ability grouping.

— Restrict "retarded" designations to pupils who are not adaptable to the home environment so that school performance is not the only criterion.

Lawmakers to consider 9 reorganization bills

BOISE (UPI) — Nine government reorganization bills are up for final consideration in the Idaho Legislature today as the state's lawmakers settle down for their fourth week of the session.

House members will have five of the proposals on their third reading calendar, while their Senate colleagues will look at four.

With problems over the fiscal impact of reorganization already settled for the present, reorganization is expected to move more smoothly than it has. House Speaker William Lanting, Buhl, said last week he was pleased with the progress the session had made on the reorganization measures. He said before the session started he hoped the job could be done within 30 days. Today is the 22nd day of the session.

Themes ready for House consideration include those to create a reorganized Board of Examiners and reorganized Departments of Fish and Game, Agriculture and Parks and Recreation. A new department, Revenue and Taxation, would be established by the fifth measure pending in the House.

Senators have a chance to approve legislation creating a Department of Self-governing Agencies, as well as one for transportation, also on their third reading calendar. Measures to set up reorganized Land and Employment Departments.

For either legislative action scheduled for this week, the Senate State Affairs Committee has scheduled a public hearing for Tuesday afternoon on reorganization. The committee has already sent three separate reappointment proposals to the floor so they can be acted on Wednesday after the hearing.

Energy research urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon proposed today the government spend $12 billion for science and technology in the next fiscal year. This would be 9 per cent greater than the current year, primarily in the area of energy research.

The proposed research and development funding is spread over 13 agencies, with the Defense Department allocated nearly half. The space agency, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Atomic Energy Commission would receive $7.2 billion.

The President's budget message said increased funding in technical fields reflected recognition of the larger potential contribution of science and technology to the solution of critical national problems.

In addition to accelerated work on solutions to the energy crisis, the budget called for money to maintain the strength of the nation's strategic military forces, continue a balanced space program and finance research in such social areas as medicine, environment and transportation.

H. A. Guyford, steward of the President's science adviser and director of the National Science Foundation, said he believed increased support for government research represented a change in sentiment of the public toward the technical community. "The science and technology area as a whole has reached a bottom of affection in society," Stever told reporters. "I personally think we're through that period."

TF police probe weekend burglaries

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls police investigated a series of burglaries today, including the theft of a small safe from Winchell's Donut House.

Detective Capt. Jim Qualls said someone entered the shop between 10 p.m. Sunday and Monday morning, pried the small safe from the wall and removed it from the building. Qualls said it contained about $100. A similar incident occurred recently at the Smitty's Pancake House where a small safe was pried from a concrete footing and removed.

Officers also reported a service station burglary, and thefts from an automobile and a home during the weekend. Enal Armstrong, night security officer, reported a break-in at the Conoco service station on Main Avenue South Saturday. Officers found a cash register had been pried open and its contents removed. Jack Spencer, manager, estimated loss at $130.

Virginia Mosher, Route 4, Rupert, told officers someone broke into her car while it was parked in the Alley Cafe lot Sunday night. She said two leather coats, valued at $75 and $125 each, were taken from the vehicle.

Two cameras, one a movie camera, were taken along with a quantity of women's clothing from the home of Lavonne Clandist, 838 Greenwood Drive. Officers said a window glass was broken out to gain entry to the home. The burglary was discovered Sunday.

Energy crash program

Idaho Falls Post Register

After all too many years of ignoring it, it appears the US is about to embark on a genuine crash program to develop a complete energy package.

A study commissioned by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission has called for expenditure of $22.5 billion dollars in an all-out research and development effort on several energy sources.

President Nixon and presidents before him have really shied away from an all out effort. Even President Nixon's latest energy message fell short of what is considered necessary to make this mission self sufficient in energy.

Cong. Orval Hansen, one of the most listened-to members of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, is worried, moreover, over President Nixon's latest interest in joining the administration-sponsored Energy Research and Development Administration (ERTA) with the Federal Energy Office.

Because of the large complement of experienced scientists and engineers in the AEC fold, it is only logical that the AEC apply this experienced expertise to our energy needs.

It was interesting consequently to hear Dr. Charles Rice, former manager for Aerojet-General Corp. here, and now leading up a successful high-technology private firm in Idaho Falls, say last week that it is likely that the National Reactor Testing Station will be eligible for some $100 million of the $180 million proposed for allocation to the geothermal energy research phase of the program.

And, the Idaho site will unquestionably serve in a key role in the liquid metal fast breeder reactor program. Reactor safety, for both the conventional water reactors as well as future reactor concepts, can be another specialty of the Idaho station.

Boise State qualifies

Idaho State Journal, Pocatello

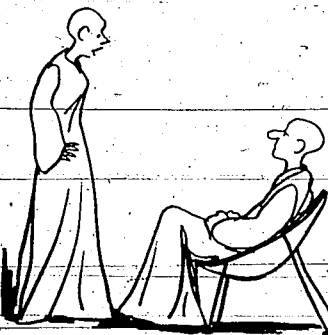

Boise State College wants to be known as Boise State University, which is understandable.

If a university is a collection of colleges, or schools, then Boise State qualifies. It has 9,000 students (including part-timers) in six schools — business, education, arts and sciences, health sciences, vo-tech, and graduate school.

If there is any opposition in the legislature to changing the name, it probably is based on fears that Boise State as a university would demand higher appropriations than Boise State as a college. Perhaps, but the State Board of Education should be able to guide the course of higher education in Idaho on the basis of how well the state's three major institutions serve the people — not on whether two are "universities" and one is a "college."

Changing the name to Boise State University won't cost anything, and will make people there feel more important (whether or not they actually are).

BERRY'S WORLD

"I hate to tell you this Fred, but I'm afraid we guessed wrong. The unisex look is out. This year, the F. Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald look 'S in"

Editor's note: A proposed contract between the Twin Falls Canal Co. and two land development firms to convey water to large tracts of land west of Salmon Falls Creek has sparked controversy among canal stockholders.

The canal company trustees, themselves split on the proposal, have called for an advisory election of canal company shareholders on the proposed agreement.

The trustees have said a two-thirds majority favoring the plan would be required to proceed with the agreement.

The plan would designate 47 square miles of land to be occupied by 47 square miles of land. Tuano and Canyon View-owned off-season spill water at Milner would be conveyed through the Canal Company's highline canal in the fall and winter to the west end of the Twin Falls tract; where the development companies would convey the water to storage reservoirs in the west end of the county.

The text of the proposed contract is reprinted here. Blank spaces in the contract would be filled in at the time of signing.

AGREEMENT

THIS AGREEMENT, made and entered into this ___ day of ___, 1973, by and between the TWIN FALLS CANAL COMPANY, a mutual non-profit irrigation operating company, incorporated under the laws of the State of Idaho, party of the first part; hereinafter called the "Company"; and the CANYON VIEW IRRIGATION COMPANY, a non-profit irrigation company, incorporated under the laws of the State of Idaho, party of the second part, hereinafter called "Canyon";

WHEREAS, the Company is the owner and operator of an irrigation system, and is responsible for the conveyance and delivery of water to approximately 202,000 acres of land in Twin Falls County to which the water rights held by the Company are appurtenant;

WHEREAS, the Company has developed a comprehensive system of irrigation canals, ditches, laterals, coulees, and other necessary irrigation structures to facilitate the delivery of said water; and

WHEREAS, there are times during the fall, winter and spring months that the Company does not operate its canal system at maximum capacity; and

WHEREAS, it would be possible to convey water, to which Canyon holds right, through the Company's system to an agreed diversion point at certain times during those periods when the Twin Falls Canal Company system is not operating at full capacity for the benefit of its landowner-stockholders; and

WHEREAS, it is the intention of the Board of Directors of the Company to protect, in every way possible, the rights of the member-stockholders, and to be incumbent upon them not to allow any other person or entity to establish a property right in the Company's system; and

WHEREAS, this agreement must provide that conveying of water for delivery to Canyon shall be made at times and in amounts as determined in the ultimate discretion of the Company's manager and the Board of Directors; and

WHEREAS, it will be necessary to charge a conveying fee per acre-foot of water conveyed so as to cover the increased operation and maintenance expenses and other expenses which will be incurred by the Company; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Directors have determined that this agreement will require ratification by the member-stockholders of the Twin Falls Canal Company as a prerequisite to the operation of this agreement; and

WHEREAS, Canyon is interested in the irrigation of up to ___ acres of desert lands, some of which are under Desert Land Reclamation and certain lands during those periods when the Twin Falls Canal Company system is not operating at full capacity for the benefit of its landowner-stockholders; and

WHEREAS, Canyon contemplates the construction of an irrigation system which would be capable of accepting water at a mutually agreeable point from the Company's system and conveying the same to a reservoir site located West of Salmon Falls Creek, Idaho; and

WHEREAS, Canyon has made application for a permit to divert the waters of the Snake River at the Twin Falls Canal Company's diversion located above Milner Dam; and

WHEREAS, Canyon needs this agreement executed by the Company so as to proceed with Desert Entry proofs and construction of irrigation structures; and

WHEREAS, parties hereto wish to set forth in detail their agreements and the conditions upon which said agreements shall become effective;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants and agreements herein contained, of the good and valuable consideration, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged; and further consideration as specified hereafter in this agreement; the parties hereto agree as follows:

1. Condition Precedent: It is understood and agreed by the parties hereto, that this agreement shall not be effective or binding on either party hereto until such time as ratified by two-thirds of the stock voted, at a stockholders' meeting called for the purpose of determining whether or not the Board of Directors of the Company should execute this contract.

2. Waiver: It is understood and agreed by and between the parties hereto, that the Company and its Board of Directors intends to do whatever is necessary for the protection of its member-stockholders; and Canyon herein agrees that this agreement is merely a water conveying arrangement, and on behalf of its landowner-stockholders, Canyon herein waives any right to a property right in any of the Company's system for all time; and Canyon further waives any right which they might otherwise be entitled under the provisions of Article 15 of the Constitution of the State of Idaho and any statutes passed pursuant to said constitutional sections; and Canyon further agrees that the provisions of this agreement shall control as to the relationship between the Company and Canyon.

3. Water Rights: It is understood and agreed that the water which is the subject of this conveying arrangement shall be represented by rights which are held by Canyon for the benefit of its member-stockholders and it is herein acknowledged that Canyon shall establish its rights in and to the water represented by water rights held by the Company in trust for, and for the benefit of, the Company's member-stockholders. Any water which is conveyed pursuant to the terms of this agreement shall be water to which Canyon has a water right independent and separate from any water right held by the Company.

4. Term of the Agreement: The term of this agreement shall be for a period of fifty (50) years, the first year to begin after Canyon shall have given the Company sixty (60) days prior written notice that their system will be operable and capable of receiving water. In the event that such notice is not given by Canyon to the Company within five (5) years following the execution of this agreement, this agreement shall terminate and be of no further force and effect, except that Canyon shall have an option for an extension for another period not to exceed an additional five (5) years, if written notice of the exercise of said option is provided to the Company within sixty (60) days prior to the end of said first five-year period; provided further that the Company herein reserves the right to change any and all of the terms and provisions of this agreement at the time such extension is requested.

5. Conveyance of Water: The Company agrees to convey the water to which Canyon has a right from a point of diversion at Milner Dam more particularly described as follows: NE 1/4 SE 1/4 of Section 29, Township 10 South, Range 21 East, Boise Meridian, Twin Falls County, Idaho.

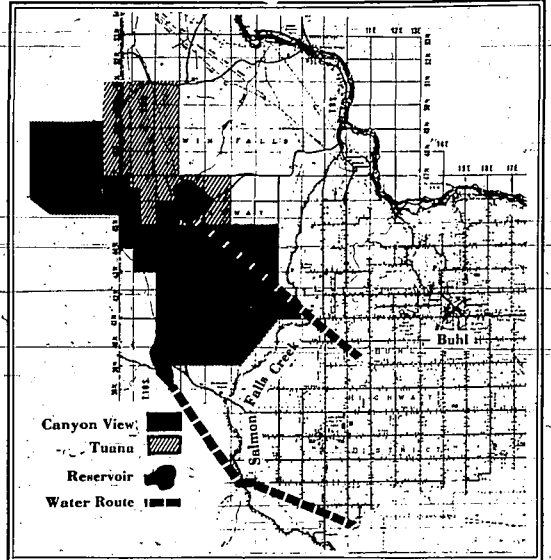

to the diversion point of Canyon, more particularly described as: to which said latter point water can be conveyed through the Highline Canal of the Company. Said water of Canyon shall only be conveyed at times when the Company's system is not running at capacity, principally in the non-irrigation months. The Company agrees to convey Canyon's water, if available, for the purpose of maintaining the 46 cfs during the 1974-75 period at 400 cfs per day, it being recognized that it is to the advantage of both the Company and Canyon if additional amounts of water can be delivered by the Company to Canyon. The Company reserves the right to stop conveying water to Canyon through the Highline Canal for such periods as that said canal must be shut down because of icing or when conveyance of water in said canal would be detrimental to the operation and maintenance of said canal.

6. Measuring Device: Canyon shall install at their own expense, at the above described point where the water shall be taken from the Highline Canal of the Twin Falls Canal Company, an adequate measuring device which shall record the total volume of water taken in Canyon's system in terms of acre-feet. The Company shall control access to said measuring device and may require an easement for ingress and egress. The Company's records in regard to the amounts of water delivered to Canyon shall be conclusive and binding on the parties hereto and Canyon herein agrees that the Company's measurements shall be the agreed basis for the charges for said water conveyance as hereinafter provided.

7. Water Charges: As a further consideration for this agreement, and for the conveyance of water through the Company's system, Canyon shall pay to the Company annually for each acre-foot of water delivered to Canyon measuring device, an amount per acre-foot which shall be equivalent to two hundred and fifty per cent (250%) of the Company's cost for the delivery of an acre-foot of water to the Company stockholders. For the purpose of computing said costs, it is agreed that a delivery of five acre-feet per share is made annually to Company stockholders. In computing Canyon's annual cost, the sum total cost of operating the Company, less the amount paid by Canyon during the previous year, shall be divided by the total number of Company shares and again divided by 5 to determine the theoretical cost per acre-foot. That figure shall then be multiplied by 250 per cent to determine Canyon's cost per acre-foot for each calendar year, i.e. Total cost $875,000 minus Canyon's previous year's payment $70,000 equals $805,000.

FORMULA
Total Cost $805,000
Total Shares 400,000 equals
$2.01 per share divided by 5 equals $.40 per a- to Twin Falls Canal Company Stockholders.
Canyon's cost per a- equals 1.60 times 250 per cent equals $1.30 per a-
In computing said Company costs, the formula shall not take into account any outside income of the Company which allows them to assess a lesser charge per acre-foot to their own stockholders because of the utilization of the Company's surpluses and reserves to keep their stock assessments lower.

Projects would water 47 square miles

After the Company has been notified by Canyon that the delivery of water is requested for their measuring device, Canyon shall advance to the Company, an amount which would equal the number of acre-feet, which would fill Canyon's 66,000 acre-foot annual requirement; said first advance shall assume equal amounts delivered each month, i.e. 1st request is made for delivery on September 1st, advance payment of 11,000 acre-feet, based on an initial rate of $1.25 per acre-foot cost to Canyon. Said first payment shall be made by Canyon to the Company prior to the delivery of any water. On January 1st of the year next following, a supplemental billing will be sent by the Company for water amounts delivered over and above the amount of the advance payment. If the advance payment exceeds the amount owed, Canyon will receive a credit on the following year's advance payment, which shall be made for the full 66,000 acre-foot requirement on the previous year's rate, for each and every consecutive year thereafter during this agreement.

9. Hold Harmless: Canyon agrees to hold harmless and indemnify the Company against any claim or claims of any member-stockholder of the Company or Canyon or any third party who might be injured or damaged by reason of the operation of the system of Canyon.

10. Control of Delivered Water: It is anticipated that water pollution restrictions will be imposed upon the Company in the future in regard to waters which are returned to the natural streams. Upon delivery to Canyon as set forth in Paragraph 5, Canyon assumes all responsibility for the waters delivered to the system of Canyon and herein agrees to indemnify and hold harmless in regard to any subsequent action which may be brought by any Federal or State water pollution authority.

11. Agent of Canyon: It is further understood and agreed, by and between the parties hereto, that the Company shall designate its engineer or manager, or other qualified person, to guide and direct Canyon in the performance of such construction work which involves the Company's system and said construction work shall be done and performed in conformance with said directions. It is expressly understood and agreed that such person, while guiding and directing the performance of said construction work shall be solely the agent of Canyon; and any mistakes or omissions made or suffered by such persons in guiding and directing such construction work shall not be regarded as the mistakes or omissions of the Company, but shall be mistakes or omissions of Canyon and Canyon shall be liable for any and all damages resulting therefrom, and Canyon shall be liable for any and all damages which may at any time hereafter result to the Company, or the stockholder-waterusers entitled to the delivery of water from the Company's distribution system, through or out of Canyon's maintenance and operation of said facilities and appurtenances; provided further that before any work shall be commenced, the person designated by the Company shall meet with the engineer or representatives of the Company, and agree upon the manner in which the work shall be performed.

12. Termination: In the event that it is determined that any of the Company's rights, either in contracts with the State of Idaho, the United States, or any other right including water rights are jeopardized by reason of this agreement, the Company may terminate upon six months notice in writing to Canyon.

13. Default: In the event of a default in payment by Canyon as agreed in Paragraph 7 hereof, the Company shall terminate water deliveries immediately and shall not deliver water to Canyon until said payment has been made. Thirty days' notice of the Company's intention to terminate shall be deemed communicated to Canyon upon delivery of the annual billing in accordance with Paragraph 7 hereof. No further notice shall be necessary.

In the event of a default in any of the other provisions of this agreement by Canyon, the Company shall have the option to terminate this agreement upon thirty days' notice in writing. Service of said notice shall be deemed given when mailed to the Board of Directors of Canyon at their then current mailing address which Canyon shall be required to supply to the Company on an annual basis.

In the event that said default is not corrected within said thirty days, and the Company initiates legal action for the collection of the amount due or to terminate the agreement or for any other default, the Company shall be awarded a reasonable attorney's fee.

The parties hereto bind their successors and assigns forever. IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we have executed this agreement the day and year first above written.

Troop pullback in 2nd stage

By United Press International
 Israeli troops and armor rumbled out of a narrow strip of desert deep in the heart of Egypt today to wind up the second phase of the Middle East pullback agreement worked out by U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.
 On the northern front, opposing armies duelled for the eight straight day along the Golan Heights cease-fire lines in what Syria called a "war of attrition" to paralyze Israel.
 Military sources in Tel Aviv said Israel would finish the second stage of its troop pullback at dusk today, handing over a 30-mile-long strip of land on the west bank of the Suez Canal to U.N. peacekeeping troops.
 The sources said Egyptian troops would move in six hours later, taking control of the horizontal strip, which runs from the canal to within 50 miles of Cairo—Israel's deepest penetration during the 1973 Middle East War.

 In the first stage of the withdrawal worked out by Kissinger, the Israelis abandoned the Cairo-Suez highway and positions to the south.
 The Israelis were scheduled to give up all their positions on the canal's west bank by Feb. 21 and withdraw into the Sinai Desert 13 miles east of the waterway by March 5—the target date for ending the 40-day troop withdrawal.
 In return, Egypt was to thin out its force along the east bank of the 102-mile-long canal and pull all surface-to-air missiles out of the Sinai.
 Political sources in Cairo said the Egyptians have already started cutting their forces on the east bank. They said the reductions carried out so far were on a small scale, but would increase as the Israelis pull back.

LEON JAWORSKI ... ponders request

Special prosecutor awaits more facts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski says he is seeking more tapes and documents from the White House, even though President Nixon said only last week that the prosecutor had been given all the information he needs.
 Jaworski said Sunday the White House has promised him an answer today whether the additional information will be handed over.

 The President said in his State of the Union message Wednesday: "I believe that I have provided all the material that the (Jaworski) needs to conclude his investigations."
 But Jaworski said Sunday that while he may have enough information to "indict certain individuals" sometime this month, he needs more to complete his investigation "with care and with thoroughness."
 He would not identify the additional material he wants except to say, "there are documents and some are also in the nature of tapes." He did not pinpoint just when he had asked for this information but said the White House informed him Friday it would "make a final decision today whether to furnish it."

Jaworski, who was interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers," also disputed in part a comment made earlier Sunday by Vice President Gerald R. Ford on just how much information the White House has given the prosecutor.
 "The administration has supplied more tapes to the special prosecutor than the prosecutor asked for," Ford said on CBS "Face the Nation," according to a transcript made by CBS.
 Jaworski said that if Ford referred to "tapes" the statement was not correct, "because I have some requests outstanding for tapes." He said that if Ford referred to "material" "then I would say on one occasion something was handed me that I had not expressly asked for."

 Ford urged that the White House make public as quickly as possible the documentary material which Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott has said shows Nixon had no knowledge of Watergate prior to last March 21—contrary to testimony of former aide John W. Dean III.

 "I do believe myself that it would be advantageous to get out the tape or transcript or whatever the document is that has convinced Sen. Scott beyond any doubt that the President is right and Mr. Dean is wrong," Ford said. "I would hope that that would be made available as quickly as possible."

Detailed report backs up panel

SAIT LAKE CITY (UPI) — An expert appointed to examine the Watergate tapes says a detailed technical report will refute allegations that the investigation was shallow and specifically aimed at President Nixon's personal secretary.
 Thomas G. Stockham Jr., professor of electrical engineering at the University of Utah, and a member of the six-man investigative team, said the full report would be back up the panel's findings presented Jan. 15 to U.S. District Court Judge John Sirica in Washington.
 Stockham said in an interview Saturday that the report would prove the panel—which concluded manual erasures caused an 18-1/2 minute gap in a critical tape—did not do a superficial job.
 Charles S. Rhyne, attorney for presidential secretary Rose Mary Woods, complained Friday that the experts worked for two months and "only came up with a few little pieces of paper in the form of a press release."

 The experts "were given the job to prove it was her (Miss Woods) and they went out to do it," Rhyne said. "The findings they don't come forth with what they did is that they're ashamed of what they did," he said.
 Stockham denied that the panel set out to blame the erasure on Miss Woods or anyone else.
 "We weren't asked to go out and prove anything," he said. "We were explicitly asked to investigate the authenticity and integrity of the tapes for the White House and for the Watergate special prosecutor. Nothing else."
 Stockham said the delay between the testimony on the panel's findings and the issuance of the technical report "is the next couple of weeks" was due to the unique situation and the difficulty of running the tests.

Facts must be shown, Ford says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford says President Nixon should make public "as quickly as possible" the evidence which allegedly clears the President but meanwhile Ford doesn't want to see it himself.
 Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott has said he has seen evidence that could clear the President of charges by his former counsel, John W. Dean III, that Nixon was aware of the Watergate cover-up effort.
 "I do believe myself that it would be advantageous to get out the tape or the transcript or whatever the document is that has convinced Sen. Scott beyond any doubt that the President is right and Mr. Dean is wrong," Ford said Sunday. "I would hope that would be made available as quickly as possible..."

Here are highlights of President Nixon's fiscal 1975 budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Highlights of President Nixon's budget for fiscal 1975:

- TOTAL SPENDING — $304.4 billion.
- TOTAL REVENUE — $255 billion.
- TOTAL DEFICIT — $49.4 billion.
- TAXES — No major new taxes anticipated.
- DEFENSE — A record $77.7 billion, up 9.7 per cent mostly due to the effects of inflation. Includes ballistic missile submarines for Navy; new fighter aircraft; and the Army wants to increase its combat forces by about 3,000 men; $1.5 billion investment through Atomic Energy Commission on nuclear explosives.
- HEW — $11.1 billion, largest share of budget for any department. Includes $83.8 billion for federal welfare program, Medicare and other Social Security and welfare activities; $7.6 billion for education.

- TRANSPORTATION — $9 billion including 50 per cent boost in mass transit spending.
- FOREIGN AID — $4.7 billion, only a $250 million increase. Includes $1.5 billion for military assistance and $648 million for Indochina postwar reconstruction.
- INTEREST — $29.1 billion for interest on the national debt.
- FOOD — Nearly $6 billion for feed needy families, school children — up 17 per cent from this year and 41 per cent above 1973. Proposed transfer of food stamp and related programs from Agriculture to HEW.

- SPACE-NASA spending budget of $3.27 billion — up $25 million — for space shuttle development, joint US-Soviet manned orbital trip in 1975, two Viking spacecraft to explore surface of Mars in 1976.
- FARM — Federal farmer subsidies cut 89 per cent to lowest since 1955, two-thirds of $9.2 billion goes to food stamps, school lunches, other aid to the general public.
- WELFARE — No funds for new welfare system because Nixon believes whatever Congress enacts will not be ready to go into effect in fiscal 1975.

- ARTS — Cultural activities get $164 million compared with $95 million this year.
- HEALTH — Promise to push national health insurance, odds against House passage and in Senate it likely will be embroiled with Kennedy plan to finance with federal funds instead employer-employee contributions.
- CONSUMER-FDA gets double — $195 million — to crack down on food plants which chronically violate cleanliness laws. Consumer Product Safety Commission gets $1 million despite independence from White House.
- CIVIL RIGHTS — No new major programs but $15 million more for HEW to intensify its watchdog role over discrimination in federal social - services and health programs.

- ENVIRONMENT — Despite energy crisis, environmental safeguards should keep air cleanup going though temporary setbacks likely. Otherwise, scant mention of environment.
- ENERGY — $1.5 billion to find and produce more oil, coal and atomic energy to assure the United States of "energy independence." But the day of cheap energy is over.
- HOUSING — Continue pilot programs to see whether direct cash payments for housing works. No new programs, but slight increase of $200 million to $5.7 billion.

Defense Outlays

Budget may spark US spending debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Details of President Nixon's fiscal 1975 budget got to Congress at noon today, setting the stage for what is expected to be a major new debate on spending priorities.

President Nixon motored back from Camp David, Md., in rainy-sleeting weather late Sunday. He was to put his signature on the massive document this morning. Its total—$304 billion—has already been revealed.

Meanwhile, the House of Representatives is to decide this week whether to give sweeping subpoena powers to the House Judiciary Committee for its impeachment inquiry, including power to demand any material from the White House and testimony by President Nixon.

The vote is tentatively scheduled for Wednesday. The resolution requesting broad subpoena powers was approved by the committee last week on a simple voice vote.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford said Sunday that the subpoena power should be granted, but he added that the panel has "no right to go on a fishing expedition" for White House tapes and documents.

"To let them go through all of the files of the White House or any of the executive branches I think is unreasonable," he said. "I think there would have to be a logical explanation (by the committee) for the seeking of any individual documents." Ford spoke on CBS' "Face the Nation" Sunday.

Senate conferees resume work today on a new emergency energy bill seeking some new compromise in the dispute over whether and how to limit windfall profits by oil companies.

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash. and Rep. Harley Staggers, D-W.Va., managers of the bill, said they would urge inclusion of a price roll back and ceilings on crude oil and petroleum products.

The Senate scheduled a vote Tuesday to close off debate on whether the United States should sign a 1949 treaty that would have the effect of making genocide by any nation an international crime punishable before a world tribunal.

Bus bomb kills 11

BATLEY, England (UPI) — A bomb believed planted by the Provisional IRA of the Irish Republican Army exploded today inside a military bus packed with servicemen and their families, killing 11 persons and wounding 14 others. The bus was blown in two.

Security officials in Belfast, Northern Ireland, said British Army intelligence were convinced the bomb strike was carried out by a team of Provisional IRA terrorists sent from Northern Ireland to step up attacks in Britain.

Record budget offered

As part of the anti-recession program, Nixon called for higher jobless benefits and asked Congress to approve $600 million for temporary public service employment in the next 18 months.

The new budget allocates $85.8 billion for the Pentagon to bring defense outlays to what Nixon termed "minimum prudent levels." Rising pay and inflation, he said, accounted for the $6.3 billion increase from last year's military outlays.

There is $100 billion allocated for "income security," including social security benefits, medicare and medicaid, welfare, unemployment insurance and similar programs. Such spending accounts for one-third of the budget.

The President launched his "Project Independence" to make the United States self-sufficient in energy by 1980 by requesting $2 billion for the start of a five-year $10 billion research effort.

In contrast to his 1973 call for abolition or reduction of many long-established federal programs begun by his Democratic predecessors, Nixon took a much more conciliatory approach to Congress.

"He again advocated an end to the Hill-Burton hospital construction program on grounds that the nation has an over-all surplus of hospital beds.

The President also urged scaled-down federal aid to school districts based on the number of children whose parents are US government employees. But he proposed that not school district should lose more than 5 per cent of its total budget each year if Congress kills the highly popular program.

A breakdown of spending and revenues for the president's new budget showed:

- Revenues of every dollar, 42 cents will come from individual income taxes, 16 cents from corporate taxes, 28 cents from social security payroll taxes and 14 cents from other sources.
- Spending, Of every dollar, 29 cents will be spent for defense, 37 cents for benefits to individuals, 17 cents for state-city grants and 17 cents for all other purposes.

Viets still seek islands

SAIGON (UPI) — The commander of the South Vietnamese Navy said today he would use peaceful means to regain the Paracel islands lost to China in a sporadic two-day battle late last month.

On the battlefield, a South

Vietnamese spotter plane detected a heavy Communist force Sunday three miles northwest of the town of Kien Duc, 110 miles north of Saigon, military sources said.

Dragonfly aircraft were called in and knocked out an anti-aircraft gun position and killed 23 Communists, the sources said.

In Phnom Penh, a cache of arms and ammunition was discovered near the homes of Cambodia's armed forces chief of staff and a high-ranking government official, military police sources said today.

The sources said the weapons, hidden in a nearby home, included rifles, boxes of ammunition, grenades and carbines. The owner of the house was not identified.

Refund rules listed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has published new rules under which a consumer usually will be able to get his money back if he is stuck with a product that has been banned as hazardous.

The regulations, published Sunday by the Consumer Product Safety Commission, also allow the consumer to recover the cost of returning the product to the store or factory. They require stores to keep lists of banned items that have been sold and to post signs advising customers of the bans and how they can get a refund.

The rules are effective March 6. They do not guarantee every buyer a refund since the store has the right to demand proof of purchase. If that happens, the commission said, the manufacturer will be encouraged—but not required—to give the buyer his money back.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fresh reports that gasoline rationing may be imposed coupled with fading hopes the Arabs will soon lift their oil embargo sent stock prices sharply lower Monday on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was moderate.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 20.02 at 822.43 shortly before noon EDT. The average of 30 leading stocks was weighted partially because six of the issues were dividend-paying, a factor accounting for 2.35 points in the decline. Nevertheless, the selloff was broad and heavy. Of the 1,617 issues traded, those declining in value led those gaining, 1,143 to 194—a margin of almost 6-to-1.

Volume after two hours of trading totaled approximately 7.85 billion shares, compared with 5.71 billion during the corresponding period Friday.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 years old. My mother has a health problem so she and my Dad go south from November until April. That means I have to change schools, leave all my friends, and go to Arizona with them. I went last year and hated it! I told them I wouldn't go again, but here I am in Arizona and I despise it. I have a boy friend up north and we are extra close.

I told my parents if they don't send me home to stay with a friend [relatives are out, they are like prison guards!] I will kill myself, but they don't believe me.

14-year-old hates parents

Abby, if I run away, will they lock me up? I would rather be in an orphanage than live like this. Can't somebody help me? When I see my boy friend I am going to get pregnant right away so they'll have to let me get married. Please don't tell me to listen to my parents. They hate me. And I hate them. I wish I was dead. Tell me what to do. I trust you. TORN APART

DEAR TORN: You have a lot of bitterness and resentment to unload. Tell your parents you want to get your head together and would like to express your feelings to an objective, qualified third party. A psychiatrist or psychologist can help you and your parents develop a better relationship. Tugging, away, or getting pregnant will only make a bad situation worse. Talk to your parents today and make a deal: Good luck. And let me hear from you again. I care.

DEAR ABBY:—Something happened again last night which practically ruined my evening, and I'd like to know how to handle it if it should happen again, which I'm sure it will.

There is an extremely overbearing, obnoxious woman in town who insists that she is related to me, and every time she sees me, she greets me loudly with, HELLO, COUSIN!

In the first place, she is NOT my cousin. In three some way I can get this loud-mouthed woman to quit calling me "Cousin" without coming right out and insulting her?

My first cousin, once removed, was briefly married to this woman's second cousin, twice removed.

NO COUSIN

DEAR COUSIN: People who insist on claiming you as a relative will do so, no matter how many times you "remove" them. There is nothing you can do about it, so grin and bear it.

DEAR ABBY: I can usually handle my own problems, but this requires advice that only you can give.

I am a single fellow and find myself very much attracted to Jane, and I think Jane is also attracted to me. About a week ago Jane and her husband separated. I don't want to hurt my chances with this very special lady so here's where you come in. When would it be proper for me to ask Jane out? WAITING WITH BAITED BREATH

DEAR WAITING: Wait a little longer. Couples usually separate in order to think things over. If your hunch is right and Jane is interested in starting up with you she'll get the message to you somehow.

Oswald: "One of the modern devices in the use of an artificial forcing-club bid. We have Neapolitan, Roman, Precision, Orange, Blue-Texas and what-have-you club systems galore."
Jim: "It may well be that a forcing-club convention gives an expert with a developed partnership an advantage. The people who try to sell their club systems to the public claim that it is simpler than standard American. Nothing could be further from the truth."
Oswald: "Today's hand illustrates one weakness of forcing-club systems. The bidding in the box is standard American."
Jim: "The bidding in all normal-club systems would start with the same one spade opening and would end right there."
Oswald: "The 4+ spade break does not keep South from making four hearts with an overtrick. It holds the one spade declarator to three."
Jim: "It is quite likely that some standard-American bidders will hear the heart suit and at least they would all get into the heart contract while club bidders would be left in spades. Of course, we see slight chance that club bidders reach good games that standard bidders miss. No bidding system is perfect."

Moscow ballet to perform Feb. 10

TWIN FALLS — Ballet Folk Dance Company, Moscow, Idaho's only professional touring dance group, will perform Feb. 10 in Twin Falls. The ballet, "Beauty and the Beast" will be presented at 3 p.m. in the Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School auditorium. Choreographed especially for the Ballet Folk by Jeannette Allyn, the ballet tells the story of the three beautiful daughters of the merchant. Only one of the daughters called Beauty, combines goodness and loveliness. The dance combines ballet talent with drama and assures dance enthusiasts of all ages an entertaining afternoon program, local dance teachers say. Jessica Bennett will be featured as "Beauty" while Michael Hyslop will portray the Beast. An especially inventive and unusual aspect of the ballet are the dances of the monkey servants of the Beast. These are performed by Paula Brenner, George Bohn and Michael Hurt. Also included in the two hour program will be "The Rainmaker," one of the most popular of the Ballet-Folk Western ballets and "Shone Nacht" a classic waltz ballet. Ballet Folk, Idaho's first such group, is sponsored by the Idaho State Commission on the Arts, the National Endowment for the Arts and the Idaho Bicentennial Commission. The company is on its second tour of Southern Idaho, with performances in Boise, Sun Valley, Arco, Shoshone, Grand View and Twin Falls. Additional information is available from Beverly Hackney, 733-5321 or Willy Dean Nielsen, 733-6343. A dance workshop is planned for Feb. 9 with members of Ballet Folk. TF man has major role in USU play

TWIN FALLS — Richard Arrington, graduate of Twin Falls High School, and son of K. R. Arrington, Route 3, Twin Falls, is playing one of the major roles in "Man of La Mancha" for Utah State University Theatre. Richard is the bumbling but loyal follower of the chivalrous Don Quixote. The internationally acclaimed musical play, adapted by Dale Wasserman from the 1605 Cervantes novel, "Don Quixote" and with a musical score by Mitch Leigh and Joe Darion played—this past week and again Feb. 7-9 at 8 p.m. with a 2 p.m. matinee Feb. 9, at the Chapman-Price Center on the USU campus in Logan, Utah. The role of Sancho Panza in "Man of La Mancha" is not Richard's first venture into musical theatre. He has been associated with several musical productions for Utah State Theatre — last year he appeared as Benjamin Franklin in "1776." "Man of La Mancha" weaves together the high points of the Don Quixote story with details from the life of its author, Cervantes. Richard, therefore, has a dual character to portray today in brief

No time change
HAILEY, Idaho (UPI) — Children in the Blaine County School District will continue to go to school at the usual times this week. Superintendent Wayne Fagg said school officials had thought about changing the times of school sessions because of daylight saving time, but decided against it. He said it would have caused too many hardships for working parents.

Irrigation studied
HAILEY, Idaho (UPI) — Studies have begun in several Blaine County irrigation districts to see how irrigation patterns have changed. According to County Extension Agent James Alkins, the study will correlate the flow of water from irrigation districts north of Bellevue; the baseline district; and the flows of Silver, Crystal and Spring Creeks. Alken said the changing real estate use patterns have meant a non-free-flowing loss of 100,000 acre-feet of water. He said the water was once used for irrigation but some of it now goes to sprinkler systems.

Remodeling nears end
JEROME, Idaho (UPI) — Delivery of new equipment over the next few weeks will end the $350,000 remodeling project at the St. Benedict's Hospital. President Leon Felder said the remodeling was begun last year to update the hospital and provide more patient care services. He said improvements include enlarging and modernizing the emergency room, a larger X-ray area, a new laboratory, an enlarged waiting room, a new location for education and administrative offices, installation of a fire sprinkling system in a long-term care area and remodeling of doctors and nurses' locker areas.

Age listed wrong
TWIN FALLS — City police reported today that Vera E. Wilson, Twin Falls, driver of the Head Start bus which was side-swiped Friday, is 57 years old, not 77 years old as they had reported Friday.

Tuition up
REXBURG, Idaho (UPI) — Ricks College President, Henry B. Eyring, says I.D.S. students will have to pay $20 more per semester in tuition. The $20 fee will include a medical insurance policy. Tuition for non-I.D.S. students at the two-year college owned and operated by the Mormon church will increase from $375 to $400 per semester.

Idahoans polled
BOISE (UPI) — A survey taken for the Idaho Water Resource Board shows Idahoans endorse funding the development of water resource projects and programs if user charges are not adequate. The poll, conducted by Opinion Research West, Boise, also showed fishing to be the most popular outdoor-water activity of more than half the Gem State population. People continue to believe that water pollution is a serious problem in Idaho, according to the survey. The report indicated there has been a slight eroding or moderating of the "strong preservationist" stance compared with a year ago. "Preserve" drew a 48.5 per cent response in 1973 against 55.0 per cent previously. "Develop" increased from 16.3 per cent to 19.4 per cent.

NFO speaker set
CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — Brynolf Grahn, a field staff department director for the National Farmers Organization (NFO) will speak in Caldwell Tuesday night. Grahn will speak at a dinner at the national guard armory.

Location hearing planned
BOISE (UPI) — The Highway Department has decided to proceed with a new location hearing to select a final design alternative for U.S. Highway 20-101. V. N. Richardson, state highway engineer said, the department has been advised by the Federal Highway Administration that they could either hold another hearing to select a design alternative or bring the six alternative alignments being considered to the same level of design detail.

Levitt budget aired
SALMON, Idaho (UPI) — The proposed 1974 Levitt County budget comes up Feb. 11, after a public hearing scheduled the same day at the court house. The proposed budget totals $659,395, an increase of $94,577 over the 1973 outline. Salaries and wages are increased $33,272 over last year while other expenses are increased $61,704.

Interest grows
BOISE (UPI) — State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon estimates idle funds will generate over $4.5 million in interest this fiscal year through investment. Miss Moon said the first seven months of the fiscal year had meant $1.3 million earned from the funds. She said the figure for January was $72,500, a decrease over last year.

Citizens approved
SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The Utah Legislature passed a bill that will allow police to issue citations to motorists who don't comply with the new no-fault insurance law. The House passed the amendment to the no-fault law after beating down an attempt to remove the requirement that motorists carry a no-fault identification card in their automobile. The bill cleared up an ambiguity in the no-fault insurance law passed by the 1973 legislature, which went into effect Jan. 1,

Coach waxes skis for more kilometers

Skiers earn funds

By TERRY CAMPBELL, Times-News Writer
ELMORE — Members of the Sun Valley Junior Nordic Ski Team logged the equivalent of a round-trip to Salt Lake City to earn $6,734 in the first annual "Ski-A-Thon" Sunday at Elmhurst at Sun Valley. Stamina paid off for the 29 young racers as they put in a total of 396 kilometers during the all-day event. The top distance of the day — 39 kilometers — was tallied by several skiers.

The event capped about two weeks of "hustling" by the skiers as they fanned out through the Wood River Valley to enlist sponsors. The proceeds, contributed by the residents and merchants, will enable continuation of the Nordic program as well as enable the team to travel outside the local area to gain points toward the National Junior Championships, March 8-16, at Steamboat Springs, Colo. Polly Sidwell will be awarded a prize for signing up the most sponsors and Wendy Thurber won a prize for earning the most money. Other prizes for outstanding racers of the day will be announced later.

The skiers' parents provided the necessary chili, cookies and beverages to keep the racers' strength up during the endurance contest.

Decline eyed

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho sheep industry, following a national trend, is on the decline, according to L. M. "Lew" Williams, secretary of the Idaho Wool Growers Association. "There's no doubt numbers are on the decline," Williams said.

Student project under way in Cassia

By SHARON MITCHELL, Times-News Writer
BURLEY — A needs assessment study conducted last year found that an important need in Cassia County schools was an improvement in the students' concept of themselves. This year an Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) Title III project, Parent and Teacher Involvement in Counseling, is underway in an attempt to improve the students' self-concept. Dr. David Austin, Cassia County school psychologist and director of the project, says that in our society "we spend the first 20 years of our life being dependent, which causes feelings of inadequacies. The privileges of adults are reserved for adults, and children are kept in a dependent status. Often the sense of inadequacy is revealed in a child's behavior. "People always do the things they do for reasons," said Dr. Austin. Children "want to belong, feel worthwhile and adequate." Through this project we hope to "help teachers and parents find more effective ways of dealing with kids in our changing culture." Teachers are cast in the role of counselors whether they realize it or not. "They are in constant contact with students and probably know individual students better than any other school personnel," said Dr. Austin. Students are particularly responsive to the behavior of teachers. Research has shown that students when asked to whom they would turn with a problem, selected parents and teachers before counselors for many of their concerns. "Traditionally education has been structured on an adversary basis—it is too often the teachers against the students and the students against the teachers," Dr. Austin said. Teachers treat students as objects to be manipulated, and students treat teachers and education as an enemy to be defeated. "Since student cooperation is the vital ingredient in accomplishing the avowed ends of education, the existing situation—all but guarantees the failure of our schools, the frustration of our teachers, and the alienation of our students," Dr. Austin said. Teachers sometimes believe the answer to the Expert cites Gem energy 'gold mine'

By DAVID HORSMAN, Times-News Writer
IDAHO FALLS — Geothermal resources in the Snake River plain could supply Idaho's electricity needs for the next 5,000 years, an expert said here Friday. But methods harnessing the underground energy are "not all that safe," according to Dr. Jay Kunz. "I don't know how we're going to do it and make it safe." Kunz, director of reactor technology and geothermal projects with the Aero Jet Nuclear Corp., spoke at the annual winter meeting of the Idaho Society of Rural Appraisers and Farm Managers. The Atomic Energy Commission has hired Aero Jet to research the potential and feasibility of geothermal power in Idaho. "We hope the (federal) government will finance a demonstration plant" in the Raft River area, Kunz said. Aero Jet is currently working with Raft River Electric Co.-op. Inc. in developing plans for the plant. The power firm serves 10,000 square miles in Idaho, Utah and Nevada. "It's a pretty good guess that we have all the ingredients for a good geothermal area," Kunz said. "The heat is closer to the surface here than any other place in the western United States." He estimated that heat taken from one square mile of the Raft River area could generate 100 megawatts of electricity for 10 years, after which the underground water temperature would drop to a non-productive level. One-hundred megawatts is the maximum output of generators at Pallsades Dam, according to Kunz. It also equals the energy of 60 million barrels of oil. The United States currently uses about 17 million barrels of oil per day. Both Idaho Power Co. and Utah Power and Light Co. have "considered" geothermal exploration, Kunz said. But high development costs may prevent them from taking any action. Kunz said it would cost $19 to $25 million to construct a 100 megawatt plant. The Bureau of Land Management Friday received applications for geothermal leases on more than one-half million acres in the state. Most of the 84 applicants asked for exploration rights on eastern Idaho lands. Sixty of the 265 applications requested leases in the Raft River area and another 116 asked for leases in the Yellowstone area. "The noncompetitive bids were for priorities for exploration and development in the regions.

Gem feels truck strike

By BILL LAZARUS, Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Idaho trucks are still rolling, but the nationwide trucking strike is beginning to affect the state's commerce. While all local truckers contacted said they are staying in business, many reported that their truckers have encountered difficulties which driving through neighboring states. Shotgun blasts hit a Consolidated Freightways truck in Morena, the Twin Falls Consolidated office reported. Several instances of sniper shootings have prompted the company to offer a $10,000 reward for persons giving information leading to the arrest and conviction of assailants. Roger Wagner, Wagner Livestock and Trucking Co., Twin Falls, reported that Sunday night one of his drivers could not unload his produce in Los Angeles because the produce market had been blocked. "It hasn't affected us yet. But, then, the day is still early," said Al Carney, safety supervisor at Ida-Cal Freight Lines in Twin Falls. Carney said that truck drivers joined the strike Sunday. Four major truck stops closed their pumps as 40 to 50 truckers blocked their stations. Other stop operators said Sunday night they will cooperate with the strike.

"I guess we're kind of expecting it anytime," Hurmon said. He said the majority of the station-owning employees to be on the lookout for truckers ready to block the station. "If this were to occur, Hurmon said he would just "sit tight" and call the sheriff. He said one trucker recently came in from Denver with his window shot out and another had three bullet holes in his truck cab. "Yeah, they're kind of edgy. They don't want to drive unless they have to," Hurmon said.

Tubing accident injures TF man

TWIN FALLS — A 20-year-old Twin Falls serviceman was listed in fair condition today at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital where he is being treated for a fractured spine suffered in a tubing accident. Cloyd Edwards, Magic Valley Ambulance Service, said the man was injured Sunday in the South Hills home on leave. He was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital by ambulance.

Biju Canjo, 20, stationed at San Diego, Calif., was with a group of friends on a Forest Service tubing area near the Magic Mountain Ski area when the accident occurred. Edwards said this is one of several tubing accidents he has transported to the hospital this year. He said there are more serious neck and back injuries from tubing than any other sport. There are no provisions for first aid care at the tubing areas unless the people using the recreation sites provide their own. Edwards said. Because of the remoteness of the tubing area, he said frequently a seriously injured person must wait several hours for attention or be transported in an automobile which can result in improper handling and more serious injury. Edwards said statistics show there are more serious accidents on a percentage basis of participation in tubing than in such other sports as skiing, motorcycling or football.

Lone gunman robs market

WEISER (UPI) — A lone gunman held up a Weiser market Sunday night and escaped with an estimated $400. Police said the gunman was armed with what appeared to be a .38-caliber revolver when he held up the Park Street market.

Citizens award presented

TWIN FALLS — Bill Moran, Twin Falls, was named Citizen of the Year at the Snake River Leo Club's first annual community service awards program Saturday at the Fern C. O'Leary Junior High Auditorium. Moran was honored with a "This is Your Life" format program featuring about 40 men and boys who have trained in Moran's gym at one time or another. Guests congratulating Moran included Winston Jones,

Twin Falls mayor and Wayne Ramseyer, Filer schools. Tributes were also received from Pete Cantrasso, Idaho's secretary of state and Dick Adams, Idaho's attorney general. Moran, who began boxing as a youngster in Mickey, has had boxing clubs in north and south Idaho and has been affiliated with amateur and AAI boxing. He serves as vice president of the Intermountain Association. He has taken men to about a dozen national tournaments.

Moran, maintains a gym in his backyard and says "I have no idea how many youngsters have passed through my life. Some of them have stayed only a few days, some six months and many several years. It has never been compulsory, and they drift in and out of the program." The Snake River Leo Club presented Moran with two gift certificates and an engraved plaque in appreciation of his dedication to the youth of the community.

The Title III project includes the following activities in Cassia County.

1. Teacher workshops given by visiting educators on Attitudes and Behavior toward Children, Self-Esteem Training and Parent Involvement.
2. A graduate course taught by Dr. Austin and offered to parents and teachers through the ISU continuing education program.
3. Parent-Child clinics designed by Dr. Austin to make parents more effective in communicating and dealing with their children, and
4. Two high school students, acting as consultants, are available in Malta to present lessons in the elementary school on personal growth and human relationships through the Developing Understanding of Self and Others (DUSO) program.

THE WORRY WART

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Lowest hand a man can hold in ordinary draw poker is a seven high, dance low with an pair, straight or flush. And such a hand in the lingo of yesterday's jazz musicians was known as a tiger. You recall that jazz piece called "Tiger Rag"? It refers not to the big striped cat, but to the lowest possible poker hand. So reports our Language man.

Do you realize there's only about 8 cents worth of corn in a $1 worth of cornflakes?

Cervantes was the fellow who defined the proverb as a short sentence derived from long experience, beat in mind.

Three standard sizes of lead pellet shot are the B, BB and BBB. Which is why the BB gun is so called. Because that's the name of what it shoots. Never saw a B gun, though. Nor a BBB gun, either. Odd.

JOCKEYS

"How many of the country's jockeys make more than $100,000 a year?"

A. Maybe 25. And about 200 of them make more, than $50,000 a year. That's out of approximately 2,400 jockeys in all.

"How many checks does the average family write per month?"

A. Exactly 43, one banker tells me.

Anthropologist Ashley Montagu says he questions whether children can grow up with a wholly normal outlook on life if their parents sleep in twin beds. Our Love and War man, Joe, knows has held an opinion on this matter, as you may know. He believes twin beds are for twins.

BLUE EYES

As people with blue eyes grow older, the blue in their eyes gets lighter. Maybe you didn't realize that Canadians used playing cards as money for more than 70 years. Now as for the peanut, put the emphasis on the pea, and not the nut, because that's what it is, a pea. Teachers get more valentines than, sweethearts, certainly. The moon, you know, does a lot of its grazing on its knees. Has to. Short neck.

MAJOR HOOPLE

Nicklaus wins Hawaiian open by three strokes

HONOLULU (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus, who has won PGA tournaments almost every place in the continental United States, picked up his first in the mid-Pacific Sunday with a three-stroke victory in the $200,000 Hawaiian Open.

It wasn't quite as easy as everyone had predicted — on Saturday afternoon — but nevertheless it came to pass, as Jack, after a shaky start, finished strong on the back nine with a two under par 34.

That gave him a final round two under 70 for a 72-hole score of 271, 17 under par and the first place check of $44,000 — which will buy a lot of malais or whatever Jack uses to celebrate his victories.

Nicklaus, who saw his six-stroke lead trimmed to two by Eddie Pearce, managed to finish three ahead of Pearce, who came flying out of the palm trees with a six under 66 at Waialeale Country Club.

Eddie, with a 72-hole score of four under par 274, grabbed second place by a stroke over Snead, who looked very much the part of an island native by playing in a white, straw-plantation owner's hat.

Pearce, who a month from his 22nd birthday is the youngest player on the tour, won $25,000. It was by far the best payoff ever for Pearce, who after qualifying for the PGA Tour last fall, had earned only $1,100 this year.

Snead, who could have tied Pearce by holing an 18-foot birdie attempt on the final hole, finished third with a 275 after shooting a four under 68 Sunday. Earlier in the round, he had trimmed Nicklaus' lead to two, going 12 under par while Jack, losing a shot to par, was only 14 under. Jack began the day at 15 under 201.

Hale Irwin, who shot a hole-in-one on his 16th hole, finished fourth at 12 under 276, five shots behind Nicklaus. Snead won $15,000, while Irwin and Nicklaus earned almost $10,000 apiece.

Tied for sixth place, at 17, were Bobby Nichols, winner of last weekend's Andy Williams-San Diego Open, and Gibby Gilbert, Andy North, a second year pro, was another shot back at 278. Dewitt Weaver and Tom Watson tied for ninth at 279.

Johnny Miller was in a group at 281, seven under par, so for the first time in four tournaments this year Miller failed to come home a winner.

But John did keep intact one incredible mark. He shot a two under 70 which gave him 15 consecutive rounds under par — every one he's played this year.

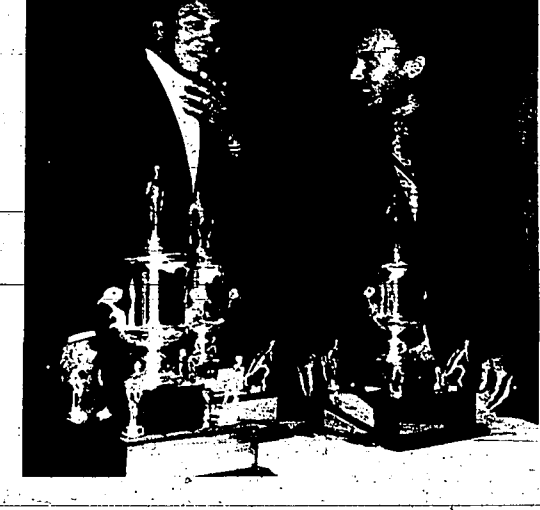

Defending champion John Schless shot 255, finishing with a 70, while Lee Trevino was at 285 and Arnold Palmer, in his first start of the year, wound up 21 shots behind Nicklaus at 292.

Nicklaus said Saturday, after shooting his third straight sub-70 round, that his fate was in his own hands — "and I like it that way."

"If I play well then no one's going to catch me," said Nicklaus, "but if I don't, then I might lose it and it will be my own fault. At least I can control what's happening."

He seemed well in control after birdying the second hole, but then he bogled the fourth and sixth — making as many bogies in three holes as he made in the first three rounds — and appeared to be wobbling slightly.

However, the problem was not as great as feared. Jack birdied the par-five ninth hole, the par-five 13th and par-four 15th to pick up the 52nd victory of his illustrious career.

Gilmore gains rebounding mark

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Towering Artis Gilmore set an ABA record with 40 rebounds and Dan Issel pumped 26 points as the Kentucky Colonels routed the New York Knicks 123-91 Sunday.

Gilmore, 7-foot-2, took advantage of New York's weak center spot with Billy Paulz still nursing a sprained ankle and 6-8 Willie Sojourner unable to effectively fill in.

Kentucky outran and outshouted New York after the teams finished the first quarter in a 25-25 tie. Sparked by Gilmore's defense and Issel's shooting, the Colonels raced to an 18-point lead in the first three minutes remaining in the second quarter. They took a 59-45 lead into the third period and never were threatened again.

After some early unfamiliarity with the Kentucky offense, new acquisition and former Net leader, finished with 26 points in the second half. Gilmore helped out on offense, too, with 21 points.

A genuine surprise for Kentucky was 6-10 Jim Bradley, playing in only his fifth professional game after being signed two weeks ago from Northern Illinois State. Bradley, 21, started against New York's Julius Erving and held De J to a subpar performance while guarding him.

Erving scored only seven points in the first four minutes of the game and then held the score for the rest of the first half. He finished with 21 points — high for the Nets — most of them when the game was already out of hand.

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — What did the Bobby Riggs-Pete Rose tennis match prove?

"Well, for one thing the Saturday night encounter here showed that a 55-year-old tennis hustler can beat a hustling 32-year-old baseball player on the tennis court."

Serrat is winner in ski event

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (UPI) — Skiing sisters Barbara and Marilyn Cochran Sunday both cracked the top 10 in the first race of the World Ski Championships — the women's giant slalom — but couldn't find that extra speed to get into the medals.

Fabienne Serrat, a 17-year-old French girl with the Hollywood look of a young Ali McGraw, took the gold. She sliced through a snowstorm that had many of her rivals in trouble to clock 1:43.19 for the 1,110-yard course, which dropped 1,320 feet through 65 gates.

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — What did the Bobby Riggs-Pete Rose tennis match prove?

"Well, for one thing the Saturday night encounter here showed that a 55-year-old tennis hustler can beat a hustling 32-year-old baseball player on the tennis court."

But — more importantly — for Riggs, it seemed to show that his "gimmick" hasn't died out yet.

The Riggs-Rose exhibition was played during the intermission of a regular season — a pro-tennis tournament here. Seven previous sessions had drawn slim crowds, but the Riggs-Rose affair attracted a sellout crowd of 10,000.

Riggs claims his popularity has helped promote the game of tennis, but Boro Jovanovic of Yugoslavia, a touring pro who watched about half that crowd at the Riggs exhibition while a regular match was getting underway, was burned by Riggs' antics.

"This is a disgrace for tennis," Jovanovic complained. "People don't come out to see us all week, then they come out for something like this."

"What the crowd saw was seven games between Rose and Riggs and a well planned bit of pre-game frivolity."

Rose, the Cincinnati Reds outfielder known for his hustling style of play, insisted that Riggs play him "straight, regular" tennis before clowning around.

Riggs accommodated and promptly beat Rose — three straight games. Rose chased down many of Riggs' spinning shots, but usually returned them right to Riggs, who then would hit another twisting shot to the other side of the court.

For the final four games, Riggs reached into his bag of tricks and pulled out a dress, a raincoat, a heavy fur coat and a baseball catcher's gear-musk, chest protector and shinguards — to wear.

At times he played while carrying a beach umbrella and a brief case, and even dragged a half dozen chairs onto his side of the court as an obstacle course.

Rose, wondering "if I look as silly as I feel," managed to win two of the four games in which Riggs clowning.

After the match Riggs said his gimmick of clowning on the tennis court with celebrities hasn't faded in popularity and insisted his role of the "male chauvinist" challenging top women players has a long way to go.

"I'd like to play women from all the world," he said. "But I want Rosie Casals for my next 'big' match."

Riggs also insisted his gimmick was not pushing sport out of perspective because he considers himself more of an entertainer than a sportsman.

"I look at myself and what I'm doing in the perspective of show business," he said. "I'm an entertainer. People pay money to see a movie star. People pay money to see me."

McNamara is happy to manage again

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — It's a big thrill to get another chance to manage in the big leagues, John McNamara said Sunday upon being named field skipper of the San Diego Padres.

McNamara, who helped mold the Oakland A's into a world championship club in one year at the helm in 1969, said he was informed by Padres president Buzzie Bavasi that he had the San Diego job.

"I'd heard a lot of rumors and had been getting phone calls from friends who said I had the job," said the 41-year-old McNamara, "but until Buzzie called me Friday I wasn't sure of anything."

McNamara, who served as third base coach of the San Francisco Giants the last two seasons, said he flew to San Diego Friday to talk with Bavasi and the contract — a one-year pact for an undisclosed amount — was signed.

McNamara, 41, who coached the San Diego ball park to tell him what had happened," said McNamara. "I hate to be leaving Boston where I was very good to me, but I'm happy at the same time to be getting an opportunity to manage a big league team. I consider myself fortunate."

McNamara said his first order of business is to line up a coaching staff, probably of four.

"I certainly would like Bill Posedel as my pitching coach," McNamara said. "Bill was my coach with the A's and he did a tremendous job with the pitching staff. It's all to his credit those fellows (the A's pitchers) who did so well."

Posedel gave up active coaching after the 1972 season and concentrated last year as a special coach for the A's. He's 67 now but has indicated he'd like to go back into a regular coaching job.

McNamara said he was happy to have Willie Mc Covey on his side again. The Padres fired Mc Covey from the Giants during the off season.

"You can't believe what an asset Willie is to a club unless you are there every day," said McNamara. "Besides his hitting, he's a fine leader, and with a young club such as the Padres Willie figures to be a help in many ways."

Bavasi said his choice for manager narrowed down to McNamara and Maury Wills and that he took McNamara because of his wider experience.

Mayer defeats Clark Graebner

TOWSON, Md. (UPI) — Alex "Sandy" Mayer defeated Dick Cup veteran Clark Graebner Sunday to win the singles crown in the $20,000 Baltimore International Tennis Championships.

Mayer, 21, won the final round in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1, disposing of the 31-year-old Graebner in less than an hour.

The young winner, from Wayne, N.J., is a Stanford University undergraduate and the defending NCAA tennis champion. In order to preserve his amateur status, Mayer will turn over his $5,000 first prize money to the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association.

"I enjoy playing tennis and want to finish out my college career before I turn pro in June," Mayer said after his victory.

"I don't even want to know how much the prize is because I don't want to know how much money I'm giving up. I'll start keeping track when I turn pro."

Graebner earned $2,800 for his second place finish, and made no excuses for his poor showing.

O.J. Simpson is honored today as Hickok pro athlete of year

NEW YORK (UPI) — O. J. Simpson finally receives a bell worthy of all the notches he carved out on the football field last season when he is honored today as the Hickok "Professional Athlete of the Year."

Simpson, the superlative, record-breaking running back for the Buffalo Bills, ran away with the Hickok award voting to outdistance runner Henry Aaron by 506 1/2-2 points to 213.

It was the biggest winning margin in the 24-year history of the award and Simpson's total of 149 first place votes was the most ever.

The former Heisman Trophy winner from USC earned this recognition after becoming the first runner in National Football League history to break the 2,000-yard barrier for a season, winding up with 2,003.

Jim Brown set the previous record of 1,863 yards for the Cleveland Browns.

As a result, Simpson will be awarded the Hickok Belt, valued at more than $15,000, at a special awards luncheon today.

Aaron, who hit 40 home runs as a 39-year-old, but fell just one homer shy of matching Babe Ruth's all-time record of 714, received only 17 first-place votes. However, with one of baseball's most cherished records at his mercy, the Atlanta Braves' slugger already ranked as an early contender for the 1974 Hickok award.

Nolan Ryan of the California Angels, who set a major league record with 383 strikeouts last year, was third in the balloting with 86 points, followed by heavyweight champion George Foreman (78), golfer Tom

Tiny Sandra Palmer wins sudden death

MIAMI (UPI) — Tiny Sandra Palmer knocked a six iron within a foot of the pin on the fifth sudden death hole Sunday to defeat Player of the Year Kathy Whitworth for first place in the $35,000 Burdines Invitational Golf Tourney.

Palmer had gone into the final day of the year's first LPGA event six strokes ahead of Whitworth but she faltered for a 76 while Whitworth was changing to a three-under par 70 and a tie at 215 for the regulation 54 holes.

Both women parred the first four holes of the playoff, but on the fifth, Palmer, a former North Texas State cheerleader, fired her birdie while Whitworth hit a seven iron into a trap and bogeyed.

"I played like a hot dog," the winner of the $4,650 in first prize money said. "I scrambled all day but I don't care how I win as long as I win."

Porter, Hayes lead Capital to victory

BOSTON (UPI) — Kevin Porter scored 16 points in the third period Sunday and Kevin Hayes clipped in another 10 as the Capital Bullets defeated the Boston Celtics 112-99 in a nationally televised NBA game.

Down 52-48 at the half, the Bullets outscored Boston 36-21 in the third period to take a commanding 84-72 lead. Baskets by Mike Riordan and Hayes wiped out the four-point deficit for Capital and set the stage for a 20-0 run by Porter that gave the Bullets the lead for the first time in the game with 8:17 remaining in the period.

After a basket by Dave Covens, the Celtics scored 11 points in four minutes, nine of them by Porter and Hayes.

The Celtics grabbed an early 12-4 lead and went from there to a 25-19 edge after one period.

The Bullets were kept in the game early by the shooting of Phil Chenier, who had 15 points in the first half, and a game high 29.

Porter had 23 points, Hayes 25 for the Bullets. Boston was led by Jo Jo White and John Havlicek who had 26 and 23 points respectively.

THE SMALL CAR VS. THE SMALL CAR

You can buy a Volkswagen OR you can buy a small car that's great as well as the VW's most popular model.

You can buy a Chevrolet Nova OR you can buy a small car that can beat it in gas mileage.

You can buy a Ford Maverick OR you can buy a small car with up to 20 miles more total horsepower.

You can buy a Chevrolet Vega OR you can buy a small car that seats an extra person or two.

You can buy a Ford Pinto OR you can buy a small car with two to three times more trunk space.

You can buy a small car that doesn't affect electrical ignition standard OR you can buy a small car with the latest ignition standard that can save you up to $80 on the first 24,000 miles alone!
