Supporters of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital offer two central reasons for backing a major hospital expansion:

- They want to improve quality and quantity of care to stay abreast of current medical knowledge.
- They want to improve efficiency of medical service delivery to help hold costs down.

— Add the need to comply with state and federal safety and fire codes and you have the main reasons the hospital's trustees, administrators, staff doctors and the county commissioners have called for a $4.6 million bond election next Tuesday.

The hospital board and administration have considered seriously such a major building program for about four years.

The steady trend toward more crowded conditions at the hospital, combined with their awareness that the expansion program would take up to three years to complete, have caused the hospital trustees to decide now is the time to put the issue before the voters.

What most concerns hospital officials and staff physicians is the crunch they see coming in the near future.

Dr. Birsdall Carl, chief of pathology, sums up the commonly expressed concern for the future:

"It's down the pike that's important — unless we build now, in five years the hospital will be obsolete."

Veteran newsman Kelker announces retirement

TWIN FALLS — O. A. (Gus) Kelker today announced his retirement from the editorial staff of the Times-News, effective the end of February.

Kelker, who has been editor of the newspaper for the past seven years, has served as reporter, photographer, engraver, farm editor, feature editor and city editor during the more than 20 years he has been associated with the paper.

He came to Twin Falls on Thanksgiving Day, 1935, as a reporter for the Twin Falls News. When that paper was purchased by the Idaho Evening Times he was transferred to the latter publication and remained on the staff when the two combined as the Times-News. He started his newspaper career on the Pocatello Tribune.

After World War II, in which he served as a flight instructor, he founded the Kelker Photo Shop and operated the retail outlet and a studio until returning to the Times-News as feature editor some 10 years ago. He originated and writes the "Mr. Speculator" column.

He has been and continues to be active in community programs. He is a member and past chairman of the Twin Falls City-County Airport commission, a 22 year member and past president of the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club, a member of the board of the Southern Idaho Livestock Industry Hall of Fame, and a member of the Oregon Trail Review Board of the Department of the Interior.

2 key reasons for MVMH expansion

The $4.6 million bond issue — the largest ever proposed in Magic Valley — would increase the floor space of the existing hospital by about half with an addition of 53,000 square feet.

Extensive remodeling would be undertaken in much of the existing 22-year-old structure.

Major changes proposed are:

- Expanded emergency room
- Organized and centralized outpatient department
- Expanded and relocated surgery department
- Expanded radiology and pathology departments
- Addition of approximately 30 beds
- Expansion and modernization of laundry, kitchen, boiler room, storage, shop facilities
- Relocation and expansion of administrative offices
- Relocation of lobby and main entrance

Overcrowding is a major pressure behind the proposed expansion and remodeling program. For the past 15 to 16 months demand for services and beds has threatened to overwhelm available facilities.

The 1972 rate of occupancy for all beds was 76.4 per cent, with an increase to 78.3 per cent in 1973.

The American Hospital Association considers 80 per cent occupancy as "full," according to James Rosenbaum, hospital administrator.

Seventy-five per cent occupancy is an optimal level of operation, Rosenbaum says.

Demand for specialized services has increased even more than demand for beds: The number of patients treated in the operating room increased from 2,111 in 1956 to 4,376 in 1972 and 4,812 in 1973. Outpatient visits increased from 22,280 in 1972 to 23,329 in 1973, with 1970 records showing a total of 20,980 outpatient visits.

Demand for medical and surgical beds (not counting pediatrics and obstetrical-gynecological beds) is especially high, Rosenbaum says, occupancy here is running around 85 to 90 per cent.

First in a series

With the high occupancy rate, the hospital has on many recent occasions filled all available rooms.

Beds had to be put in treatment rooms, as patients wanted to be transferred to a regular room at the first opportunity. If an emergency demanded more bed space, beds would be placed in the halls.

According to Rosenbaum, in a large scale disaster the hospital could take only about 30 more patients, using cots, and attempting to discharge non-critical patients early. Other area hospitals then would be asked to pick up excess load.

Overcrowding reportedly is due to several factors. For one thing, Rosenbaum says, nursing homes in the area are full or crowded and some patients who might better be in a nursing home stay in the hospital because of the difficulty of obtaining admission to a nursing home.

The total number of beds used this way fluctuates rapidly, going from a minimum of about 2 to 3 per cent of hospital capacity of the total to a maximum of 10 to 15 per cent, according to Rosenbaum.

Also the growing role of government programs has increased bed demand. When bills were paid by the patient or his family, cost concerns often forced the earliest possible discharge of the patient.

Now, the Medicare and Medicaid available, hospital officials say, patients and patient families tend to feel that coverage by Medicare for 90 days, for example, entitles them to 90 days of hospital care.

"People used to beg the doctor to let them take care of old Dad at home. Now they can't possibly handle it, they're both working, and so forth," comments Dr. Ben Katz, a pediatrician who is the first physician to serve on the hospital board.

A general population increase is expected to add to the overcrowding at the hospital. Although census figures for 1960 to 1970 showed a steady decline in Twin Falls County population, predictions of increased population in the 1970s indicate the possibility of a growing hospital patient load.

But another population explosion is adding to the problem of overcrowding at the hospital now.

"A physician population increase caused the problem at Magic Valley Memorial," administrator Rosenbaum says.

In the past eight years, the number of doctors on the hospital staff has increased by 59 per cent, from 39 to 62 doctors.

More doctors can lead to more patients being treated and more beds being used.

Pay hikes scored

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho is trying to halt recommended pay increases for high government officials.

Church introduced a resolution in the Senate Monday to stop planned pay hikes for members of Congress, the federal judiciary and other government officials.

He said the increases were recommended by President Nixon and will go into effect automatically unless Congress takes action to halt them.

Senate may cut crude price

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Leaders of both parties said today there was a good chance the Senate would vote for a rollback in the price of crude oil. But both in this country and abroad, there was little relief from the energy crisis.

Federal energy chief William E. Simon warned that unless the public believes there is an energy crisis and takes necessary conservation measures, the fuel shortage could turn into a catastrophe.

A strike by independent truckdrivers protesting high fuel prices spread across the country, bringing reports of food shortages, closing of some meat packing plants, and a prediction that the strike could cost the American public hundreds of millions of dollars in a week.

Tourists were stranded in Florida, the New Jersey legislature approved the first statewide gas rationing in the Northeast and a bitter cold wave continued to eat up heating fuel across the Eastern United States.

Strong opposition to any rollback came from Sen. James Buckley, CR-N. Y. He said such a move would be "a fraud on the American consumer" and would discourage investment needed for the United States to become self-sufficient in energy.

Truck strike grip on nation tightens

By United Press International
A strike by independent truckers protesting high fuel prices threatened a crippling blow at the nation's economy today.

There were numerous reports of food shortages and of housewives raiding supermarkets for necessities that soon may be in short supply. Scores of plants were shutdown because their production and distribution facilities are serviced by trucks, throwing thousands out of work.

As the militant independents sought to keep all truck traffic off the highways, there were increasing reports of violence. In Pennsylvania, Gov. Milton J. Shapp declared "a state of emergency. He said it was prompted by violence which

Governor signs AF Dam measures

BOISE — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus today signed into law two bills designed to facilitate construction of a replacement dam at American Falls.

He praised the cooperation which led to swift passage of the law through the legislature in a signing ceremony in his office.

But he also reminded lawmakers present for the ceremony he was awaiting another measure dealing with the American Falls area — an appropriations bill for construction of a bridge across the Snake River at the damsite. The estimated cost of the bridge is $3.2 million.

Andrus presented souvenir pens used in the signings of the bills to the lawmakers from the American Falls area. Among those present in his office was Sen. Robert Saxvik, D-Burley.

"endangered the safety, health and welfare of a substantial number of citizens."

In Washington, officials were meeting in lengthy sessions to consider the truckers' demands.

Reports of frenzied buying of groceries and the closing down of food suppliers cropped up in most parts of the country.

The nation's largest chicken processor, Holly Farms Inc., Wilkesboro, N.C., stopped operations indefinitely at three plants causing the layoff of 3,700 employees.

At a Kroger store in Cincinnati weekend sales were almost doubled. The manager said the normal purchase of $12,000 worth of foodstuffs had jumped to more than $22,000.

Stockyard owners in Amarillo and Fort Worth, Tex., said no cattle had been shipped in four days while the Interstate Producers Livestock Association said all 48 of its buying points in Illinois, Iowa and Missouri have been closed "until we are able to make sure that livestock can be moved to slaughtering plants."

The truckers' strike caused shutdowns of widely different consumer products ranging from roof bolts to glass products. Plants in Illinois, West Virginia and many industrial states announced shutdowns.

Amoco cuts fuel prices

CHICAGO (UPI) — Amoco Oil Co. announced Monday it will reduce gasoline prices by 2 cents a gallon and heating oils and diesel fuels by a penny a gallon, effective today.

Cutsback of 2 cents a gallon will be for regular and premium grades of gasoline. Penny a gallon decreases will cover No. 1 and No. 2 heating oils, diesel fuels and residual fuels.

Mrs. Alloto home again

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Angelina Alloto, the wife of Mayor Joseph Alloto, returned home early today after a two-week disappearance which touched off a statewide search.

Mrs. Alloto, who had been vacationing in Palm Springs when she was last heard from Jan. 20, telephoned home late Monday after her disappearance was publicized. She returned to the family residence early this morning.

Prober receives message

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski said today he had received a lengthy communication from the White House but refused to say what action was taken on his requests for more presidential tapes and documents.

"This office has received a lengthy communication from White House counsel which will require clarification and further discussion," Jaworski's office said in a statement. "We will have no further comment until those discussions are held this week."

'Sissy' enters '74 race

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Frances (Sissy) Parenthold plans to try again for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

She will oppose Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Steve Alexander, Waco advertising man. Mrs. Parenthold decided to run less than two hours before Monday's filing deadline. She lost in 1972 to Briscoe in the primary runoff, then made a strong bid for the party's vice presidential nomination, losing to Sen. Thomas Eagleton of Missouri.

Bulgarian trawler sails

NEW YORK (UPI) — It cost the Bulgarian government $225,000, but the fishing trawler Linzoa is sailing again this morning, 10 days after it was seized for illegally fishing off the U.S. Coast.

The Bulgarians paid the fine and posted a $65,000 bond in federal courtrooms in Manhattan and Brooklyn Monday, enabling the vessel to head back out to sea.

Gen fuel allocation set

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho will receive 665,800 barrels of gasoline for general motor use in February — 12 per cent less than for the same month in 1972.

Regional officials of the Federal Energy Office released the figures Monday.

Mid-East fight heats up

By United Press International
 Syrian and Israeli artillery battled in the Golan Heights today for the tenth consecutive day and Israeli military sources said Syria was beating up the sector in hopes of a timing concession in its forthcoming negotiations. It said Israel had adopted a policy of vigorous retaliation there.

A Syrian military spokesman in Damascus said Syrian and Israeli forces exchanged artillery fire along the central sector of the front and that the Syrians inflicted several casualties in today's fighting.

In similar incidents Monday, military spokesmen said Syrian troops put 20 Israeli artillery and four heavy mortar positions out of action and destroyed six tanks. The Israeli military command said one Israeli soldier was killed and two wounded in an artillery exchange on the Golan Heights front Monday.

With the Egyptian front quiet and Israel in the third phase of its troop withdrawal from captured territory, new diplomatic efforts were reported underway to try to solve the impasse that has seen Syria refuse to join the Geneva

Middle East peace talks.

A dispatch from Damascus said President Yassir Arafat was flying there tonight, and Arab press commentators said he may be trying to persuade Syrian leaders to attend the Geneva conference. President Nicolae Ceausescu of Romania flies to Damascus Sunday, apparently for similar talks.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger scheduled new meetings in Washington with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and the Middle East was believed the main topic. Middle East sources in London reported Monday that Kissinger may fly to Damascus, Jerusalem and Cairo next week.

Sect leader, two gunmen slain in NY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gunmen burst into a Black Muslim mosque in Brooklyn Monday night and opened fire, killing the leader of the sect, police said. Four persons, including both intruders, died in the shooting.

Elhaj Abdullah Rahman, minister of the Yasin Mosque, was the target of the attack in what seemed to be an internal dispute. He died of multiple wounds in the foyer of the crumbling brick building on the border of the seamy Bedford-Stuyvesant section.

His followers raced from the top floors of the building and returned the fire, killing the gunmen, whose names were not released. The fourth victim was identified as Mohamed Ahmed. A fifth Muslim, known as Jamil Haqq, was in critical condition at Brooklyn Jewish Hospital.

"I opened the front door and there they just bodies sprawled out everywhere," said Officer Mike DiDonna of the Union Avenue Stationhouse. "Blood all over the walls and the floor. The people in the mosque just stood there. They showed no emotion, they wouldn't say anything. God, I just couldn't believe it."

Americans believe US now in recession

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Louis Harris poll Monday said a majority of Americans it surveyed believe the country is in a recession, and they don't see things getting any better in a year.

"The key to this public estimate about the economy is the widespread perception that inflation is continuing unabated and unemployment is on the increase," Harris said, noting that the number who said unemployment has risen in their immediate area jumped from 22 per cent to 44 per cent since last November.

Hoover said the burglary occurred between 12 p.m. Saturday and 6 p.m. Monday while his car was parked on a street company lot awaiting repairs.

The polling sample, 1,494 families across the nation, was asked last month, "Do you feel the country is in a recession today or not?" Harris said 54 per cent answered that it is, 32 per cent said it was not, and 14 per cent were not sure. The last time a majority said there was a recession was in a sample taken in November, 1971, Harris said.

"Despite this overall sense of gloom about the state of the economy, there are signs that individuals and families are not cutting back on their buying of products and services," Harris said.

Action on bill tabled

TWIN FALLS — After discussing collective bargaining legislation before the Idaho Legislature, the Twin Falls City Council Monday evening decided to take no action on it at this time.

A motion to oppose the bill until negotiation units as called for in the bill are more clearly defined was voted down by the council. Councilman Leon Smith said he did not believe the city should go on record against collective bargaining because parts of the bill were not entirely clear.

The council also called for specific language in the bill not to require a closed shop. The Association of Idaho Cities, which is interested in the bill, asked for an expression from the city either for or against the bill, or as a third alternative, no action pending further policy establishment by the AIC. This the city approved.

A public hearing on a request by Floyd O. Small for a commercial general zone on two parcels of land was cancelled when the request was withdrawn by the property owner.

The council accepted for publication and filing the annual certification of the street revenue and expenditure.

report. This covers about $1 million in street work including local improvement district programs. It must be filed in connection with the one cent per gallon gasoline tax allocated to cities.

A certificate was presented by Fireman Floyd Gambrel for completion of special training in fire fighting techniques. He is now qualified to teach other members of the Twin Falls Fire Department.

Approval was given the Eastland Estates, plat and the Hillcrest Meadows plats. The council approved water service to Keith Peterson for property south of the old filter plant, and sewer services to the developer of a mobile home court north of the city on the former Bostenab property.

Action was delayed on an agreement with the Twin Falls Highway District pending a meeting with the district board.

The council approved appointment of William H. Bosworth, Buhl, as a member of the City-County Airport Commission.

A bid from Airport Construction Co. for gravel was accepted by the council. The firm's basic bid including hauling costs was $46,572, the lowest of three bids received last week.

The council will meet Tuesday, Feb. 19, because the regular meeting date falls on Washington's "Birthday," a holiday.

Share votes favor plan

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS—Water shares owned by Twin Falls City will be voted in favor of the proposed water transportation plan of the Twin Falls Canal Co.

The city council approved the plan Monday night and instructed Henry Woodall to vote favorably on the issue. He will ballot the city's 2,700 shares of water.

In the motion to approve the proposal, the council attached some strings—saying their "yes" vote was contingent upon the guarantee of prior rights on any water deliveries made.

The council voted to amend the zoning ordinance to allow small animal hospitals in the commercial general zone as requested by Dr. Roger Collinson. He proposes a professional building with indoor facilities only for small animals such as dogs and cats. The city council instructed city attorney, Charles Brumbach to prepare the ordinance change. It will require advertising and public hearings before both the planning and zoning commission and city council. Members of the planning and zoning board recommended this action.

Dr. Collinson had hoped to be able to go ahead with a building construction without the delay for public hearings. He said he could amend his plan and raise and sell dogs with outside runs as this is presently allowed as a conditional use, but his plan for a professional building with a completely enclosed operation cannot be approved without an ordinance change.

Following the regular city meeting agenda, councilman Dr. Stephen Lincoln questioned the council's vote saying it is not a fair route to take in view of Dr. Collinson's plan. Mayor Winston Jones suggested the ordinance be prepared for the next meeting, Feb. 19, at which time the council could either vote to proceed or vote it down and agree to allow the building.

Dr. Collinson plans to build the facility on Greenwood Drive, behind the new business building which houses a number of federal agencies on Blue Lakes Boulevard North.

Dr. Lincoln also questioned another zoning action the council has taken. He asked the council to request a legal opinion from city attorney Brumbach regarding the council's denial of a mobile home court on Eastland Drive.

"I would like to know if our attorney feels the action we have taken will stand up in court and can be defended. If it can not, for one would not longer be willing to subject the taxpayers to a costly court battle," Lincoln said.

The council has denied plans for a mobile home court by Hubert and Arlie White on property they own just south of K street and in the vicinity of the television station.

Take note, savers. Here is a unique savings system that has a little bit of everything good in it.

Equitable is calling it: The Having Your Cake and Eating It Too plan.

Because you get just that. High 7% interest (like a Certificate of Deposit). Cash flow flexibility (like a passbook account). Plus a lot of extra personal benefits.

There's not another program like it anywhere.

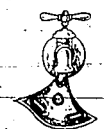

Compare.

INTEREST THAT SOARS

All you do is agree to deposit a lump sum of money for a period of time between 56 to 108 months or save a certain amount each month. You will receive a whopping 7% interest per year on all earnings at maturity... much like a Certificate of Deposit Savings plan.

CASH THAT FLOWS

Any amount deposited beyond the agreed amount each month, may be used as a kind of savings reservoir which can be added to or subtracted from... much like a passbook account (as long as you maintain the specified monthly balance). You still collect the high 7% interest on the extra amount.

$10,000 BY ACCIDENT

Unless you are a race car driver, lion tamer or in some similar hazardous occupation, you are eligible under the Having Your Cake plan to receive $10,000 in accidental death and dismemberment insurance. Best of all; it costs practically nothing ($1 per month).

TAXES YOU CAN PUT OFF

It is also possible under the Having Your Cake plan, to defer a portion of your interest earnings from taxes, should you decide this is to your advantage.

EVERY SAVER NEEDS A FRIEND

Equitable Savings and only Equitable Savings offers each saver thoroughly experienced savings counselors to analyze your savings needs. This loyal Savings Officer will even come out to your home (through rain, sleet or snow) to explain this and other savings programs, as well as answer questions. World energy cooperation outlook bleak

(c) N. Y. Times Service

WASHINGTON — In mid-February, most of the leading oil-producing and oil-consuming countries will confer here to see what can be done about the supply, price, and distribution of fuel in the short run, and the development of nuclear energy for civilian purposes in the long run.

This could be a critical and even historic meeting for all the countries concerned, but unfortunately the outlook for cooperation is bleak for a variety of reasons:

1. Almost all the major industrial nations now have weak governments and grave internal political and economical problems. This is as true of Japan and the nations of Western Europe as it is of the United States and Canada.
2. The major oil-producing countries of the Middle East are also divided, for while they can combine against Israel and its needs, and against the price of oil, the short range advantages of this policy hurt their chances of getting the advanced technology of the West in the coming nuclear energy age, and their price-gouging has created a terrible crisis in underdeveloped countries.

3. In these circumstances, weak and divided governments with conflicting interests are in no position to enter into new cooperative efforts for the solution of the energy problem in the decade — and they don't know whether their governments can survive the pressures of 1974.

The present condition of the Nixon administration illustrates the point: It has, in effect, offered a compromise to the oil-producing countries: lift the oil embargo and lower your prices, and the United States will help you develop enriched uranium for use in nuclear-power reactors for the modernization of your industries.

The administration has also said to the other advanced technological nations: let's look beyond the present fuel shortage to the days when all nations will be depending, not on fossil fuels but on nuclear, solar and thermal energy, for this is a world problem and can be solved in the long run only by cooperative action on a worldwide scale.

This was the basis of the US invitation to the Feb. 11 energy conference in Washington, but there are several hitchhikes. First, the French government, for one, felt that Washington published the site and terms of the invitation without adequate consultation or preparation. More important, the Nixon administration is deeply divided about the wisdom of offering to share its nuclear scientific and technological knowledge with other industrial nations of the world.

There is some support for a long range cooperative effort suggested by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, but there is also opposition in the Congress and within Nixon's official staff. Don't you have enough trouble in the stock markets as it is? Why give away America's special knowledge and skills in the nuclear field, which is the major coming source of energy, in order to ease the crisis in the dwindling supplies of fossil fuels?

These are the questions that are bubbling under the surface in the administration right now, and they have not been resolved. As a result, the energy conference is likely to end with gaily groups and proclamations of good will, but not much more. The French and the British don't want to give up their immediate advantage with the Arabs, and the Arabs don't want to give up their high profits for nuclear promises from an administration that will not be in power in 1978.

Years of worldwide cooperation make good speeches, but all these governments are living from week to week. So you shouldn't expect too much from the February conference. It may define, but it is not likely to solve either the short range or the long range energy problem.

Narcotics tragedy

Idaho State Journal, Pocatello

White Idaho narcotics agents have been living it up on expense accounts, frequently behaving in a manner that made it difficult to tell the cops from the crooks, the real tragedy is that little progress was made in stopping the flow of illegal drugs into the state.

Attorney General Tony Park has accepted resignations of Robert King and Gene Lee, his top two lieutenants in the narcotics bureau, fired two other supervisors in the Pocatello area, and promised a major shakeup.

But these drastic steps come only after a performance audit conducted by the Idaho Law Enforcement Planning Commission which was disclosed in the Lewiston Morning Tribune and showed, among other things:

- Cash shortages in money given to agents for investigations and drug purchases.
- Three break-ins at state offices which resulted in the loss of nearly $3,000 in state funds.
- Buy tabs as high as $1,800 for one agent during a four-month period.
- Numerous examples of unallowable expenditures and duplicate payments to agents.
- Half the "buy" money spent in North Idaho went toward purchase of marijuana.

About $25 in operating expense was required for each dollar's worth of narcotics seized, all that during the first 18 months of bureau operation.

— Agents received pay for compensatory time in titbits in excess of 400 hours.

— Drug analysis was taking up to three months.

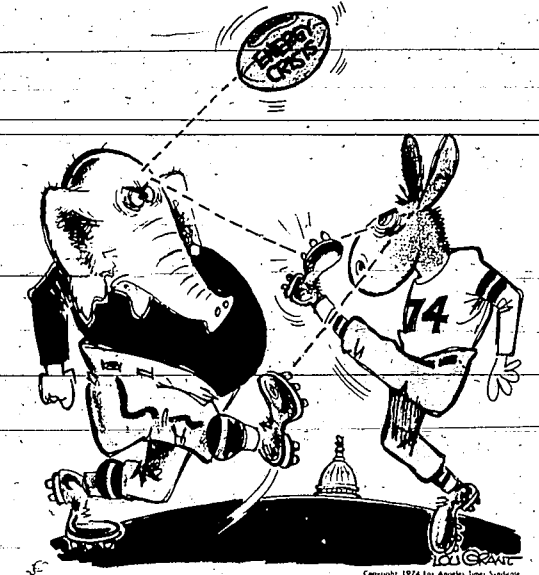

— King retroactively approved hiring of female operatives as long as 24 months after his control, he promised to declare war on illegal drug traffic. It is a shame that worthy crusade deteriorated into a siphoned and ineffective operation which has drawn severe public criticism.

In Parks' defense, the attorney general has much to do besides supervise the narcotics bureau. And narcotics operations are unlike other police work. In that it is necessary to have undercover officers who can infiltrate the drug culture and win the confidence of pushers before they can be arrested. That is why local police forces in Idaho usually can't succeed.

But the disastrous experience of Parks' Narcs indicates some changes must be made. The general feeling is that the Department of Law Enforcement is the logical next home for the Bureau of Narcotics. That may, or may not be the best solution, but more important than a change in departments is change in the methods of operation.

From now on, the people of Idaho want a professional performance and results against the filthy merchants who deal in human misery. Spare us any more of the antics which recently came to light.

More jingle for pockets

The old West just has to be returning. Not only are spurs "jingling" on some boots worn by the cowboys but the common folks are having more of a jingle in their pockets these days. It's not that all of us have more money to carry around or are getting more of a salary or are saving money — nothing like that — it is all because more coins are needed in our daily life. The authority for such a statement is none other than the Salt Lake City branch of the Federal Reserve Bank. In an official statement it was announced that, although 90 per cent of all purchases are paid for by check, more people are carrying those pesky coins.

Worker scores hiring policy

Editor, Times-News: I have lived in this town of Twin Falls for over 15 years. The past six years I have tried to find work in my trained occupation, which is secretarial work.

After hounding the unemployment office day after day and getting nothing knowing a local advertising placement business was available to pay them part of your salary to get a job, I finally resorted to doing motel maid work for five years. Six months ago only by knowing someone, I acquired an office job.

The point of this letter is how unconstituted and unfair can "businessmen, be who need help and will not go through the state unemployment office whose purpose is to help people get jobs.

Instead they get through agencies who charge a fee to help a person get work and some of these agencies are very desperate for work while an agency is making money just telling someone where to go for a job interview.

After six months on my present job, I am making $20 to $50 a month less than most other employees here at. I would not doubt go to this agency, pay out from 4 to 4 1/2 of my wages and get a higher paying job, but I work to earn money for myself and my family, not to give to someone who happens to know a business that needs help. I believe these agencies should be outlawed.

Hospital bond turnout asked

Editor, Times-News: The hospital bond vote has not, and should not, arouse controversy. The entire project should pass the most critical professional inspection as to timing, need, structure, purpose and controls.

The method of financing (tax) is consistent with community standards, and the hospital itself and the county government which is behind it have enviable reputations for competency and unbiased public service.

It would seem a matter of routine for the vote to pass, so why bother to vote?

Situations like this do happen, and the vote is very light, and there are always enough "no" votes lying around the challenge a sure thing.

What this situation calls for is a vote-of-confidence. The professional people behind the project are doing people work, and as such, they are conscious of your support and endorsement.

It is suggested that everybody make it a point to vote, especially in a situation like this where there is so little controversy.

Controls speed inflation

By PETER S. NAGAN
(c) Newhouse News Service

WASHINGTON — Both the government and private economists are convinced price controls have accelerated inflation they were designed to slow.

They feel controls have been a national economic disaster. Counter-productive in the industry and consumer goods sectors, the Nixon administration is quietly dismantling the apparatus, though officials may call for extension of presidential authority to impose controls beyond April 30.

Not all the analysts say controls don't ever work. Phase II was deemed successful — until it was junked by President Nixon in January, 1973.

But it is clear, controls cannot cope with the kind of inflation that became dominant last year. It wasn't the ordinary demand surge type, but a huge surge that generates inflation in the government and services that the economy can produce.

The problem lay in world-wide inflation of commodity prices which burst upon the scene last year.

The demand-supply situation showed up most clearly in agricultural commodities. Prices zoomed as crops failed and an increasingly affluent world demanded more and better food. There were shortages of metals, too, and there was price-escalation by oil-producing states.

Why is the administration likely to go along with extension of its controls authority? One answer: to be on the safe side — just in case a situation arises in which controls are really needed for a job they can do.

Filer man tells water view

Editor, Times-News: The water conveyance question: Should the Twin Falls Canal contract to convey water to the projects of Canyon View and Tuana?

This question is of major importance to the stockholders of the Twin Falls Canal Co. I present the following points for consideration and urge all stockholders to be sure and vote.

1. Canyon View and Tuana already have title to all the water that will be conveyed.
2. The T. F. Canal Co. directors and attorneys have made sure that the stockholders are well protected against any infringement on their water rights.
3. If this water is not conveyed it will waste down the river.
4. There is a 10 year moratorium against transferring water out of Idaho and more than half of this time is already gone. Also Colorado has suggested the moratorium be ended now.
5. All available water is going to be used in the near future either in Idaho or by other states such as California, Colorado or Arizona.
6. If these states get their feet in the door, where will it all end?
7. The opponents of this agreement say that in a short water year we would give some of our water to these projects. Just what do these people think will happen if this water is going to other states.

8. According to canal company records during October, November and December of 1960 approximately 105,000 acre feet of water was spilled at Milner which would have satisfied the irrigation needs of these new projects for 1961, which was a short water year for Twin Falls Canal Co. From January to May 15, 1962, approximately 230,000 acre feet of water was spilled at Milner, which would have satisfied their needs for 1962.

It is a dramatic television appearance he gave in 1960, which would certainly give Idaho's economy a big boost.

10. This agreement will help keep Idaho water in Idaho.

If you have voted and wish to change your vote you can obtain new ballots at the canal company office. The ballot with latest date will count. It is very important that every stockholder cast a ballot.

Tragedy touches all system

Editor, Times-News: The tragedy of Richard M. Nixon is above all a tragedy of our entire political system.

Here is a man whose entire adult life was devoted to fulfilling his youthful dreams of becoming president of the United States.

For years he schooled himself in the science of outwitting, outmaneuvering an opponent, of evading, of distorting with accusing, of crippling in insinuation and of following a disloyal path by using an untruth when honesty would not gain the desired results.

In short, he learned to evade when the truth would have been easier spoken. And that, my friends, is the very essence of politics.

Today we share a summit course in the graduate of that school, so immersed in the tolls of his own making, so trapped in futile attempts to avoid admission of wrong doing that he has become the victim of his own evasions.

Any trial lawyer can confirm the fact that the witness who can be impeached by changing or materially altering previous testimony has impeached his own impression of honesty.

In that apparent welter of charges and denials that is Watergate the great accomplishments of his life in a sense, overshadowed when he was impeached by Congress but he stands impeached in honesty and forthrightness by the American people.

Did his nature or his training bring him to this low estate?

His first venture into the higher realms of chicanery came with the defeat of Helen Gahagan Douglas for a seat in Congress: Right or wrong he destroyed her by saying, "She is soft on communism." No accusation of disloyalty, just an insinuation repeated over and over.

In the House he came face to face with a new source of power, MONEY. With it he could move forward, without it he was doomed to stagnation. To attain it financial backing he must attract attention.

The Alger Hiss interlude with all its cloak and other states.

7. The opponents of this agreement say that in a short water year we would give some of our water to these projects. Just what do these people think will happen if this water is going to other states, who have many times the representation in Washington as we in Idaho have.

8. According to canal company records during October, November and December of 1960 approximately 105,000 acre feet of water was spilled at Milner which would have satisfied the irrigation needs of these new projects for 1961, which was a short water year for Twin Falls Canal Co. 'Gate woe spreads

Portland Oregonian

Watergate and its related affairs have spread woe. Consider, for example, the 23 members of the Watergate Grand Jury. They have been on duty or on call for 19 months, and face more months of service. Most of them do so at considerable financial and professional sacrifice.

The 11 members of the jury who are government employees receive their regular government compensation as jurors, but the other 12 members are on their own. Two of them say they have lost their jobs because of the demands of jury service. Others have suffered financial losses and missed promotion opportunities.

Federal jurors pay in the District of Columbia is $29 per day of service, with a higher rate of pay, $25 a day, for extended service. But officials have declared these jurors ineligible for most such extra pay.

Meanwhile, more than half the Watergate jurors are making important sacrifices to do their duty. Jury duty is honorable; its compensation should also be so.

MR. SPECTATOR

Where does all the coin go? Information explained that the increase is not only due to an expanding population and consequently a greater volume of transactions, but to heavier reliance on coin operated equipment. These include such commonplace applications as vending machines, parking meters and newspaper dispensers. And, they didn't mention it, but we would add pay tolls to this list. And pay telephones, of course.

There has also been a gain in currency use and together — coin and currency — totaled about $22.8 billion during the past year with just over $24.8 in 1972.

So there you have it. From now on it is not only spurs which jingle, jangle, jingle!

National mines shutdown set

LONDON (UPI) — Leaders of Britain's mineworkers have ordered a national mines shutdown from midnight Saturday (6 p.m. MDT), a member of the union executive committee said today.

The government said the strike would mean a 2 1/2-day or even two-day work week, power blackouts, cold homes and millions jobless. About 70 per cent of Britain's electric power is produced by coal.

The union leaders met after final peace talks Monday between Prime Minister Edward Heath and the 10-million-member Trades Union Congress (TUC) broke down in deadlock.

The mounting crisis sparked a new wave of speculation that Heath may soon have to call a general election to seek a new mandate from the voters.

"Election on bust" headlined the newspaper, The Guardian. "Election pressure increases," said the Financial Times. "March 7 election on the cards as pit talks fail," headlined The Times.

The political editor of The Times of London said the miners' leaders gave the strike go-ahead. "Conservative ministers and trade unionists reluctantly reconcile themselves to the likelihood of an early election."

The 27-man mineworkers union executive met with the backing of a landslide 61 per cent rink-and-file vote last week for a national coal shutdown.

Union leaders spurned a last minute invitation by Employment Secretary William Whitelaw to see him before the executive's meeting started at 9:30 a.m.

"There is no time," said union general secretary Lawrence Daly.

"Anyhow we will have no more abortive meetings. There must be more cash on the table."

Share prices slumped on the London stock market for the second day. Within minutes of opening time they dropped 4 1/2 to 13.8 cents.

Railroad services on the western region of the state-run rail system were halted for 24 hours by a one-day strike by locomotive drivers.

'Attendants' arrested

HOUSTON (UPI) — One of four "attendants" of the Petro-Trail service station was in jail today but his three associates were still on the loose, several hundred dollars richer.

The Petro-Trail usually closes for the weekends but it was open for business Sunday and business was booming.

The four men, who had earlier broken into the station, sold $200 worth of gasoline and 10 cases of beer for several hours until suspicious neighbors called police.

By the time police arrived, however, only one man was left manning the pump.

Sentence appealed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — E. Sirica initially had rejected Howard Hunt Jr.'s offer to plead guilty to just three counts of the indictment.

"The approach taken by the district judge towards the present case has been, as we see it, more that of a crusading district attorney than that of a judge whose duty is to do justice between parties to the case," Hunt's brief said.

The attorney, C. Dickerson Williams of New York, argued that Sirica had no right to force Hunt into cooperating with investigators by threatening a prison term if he did not.

Nixon commanded to testify

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A California judge today sent President Nixon a voucher for $790.48 and commanded that Nixon spend it on travel expenses to testify at the burglary trial of John Ehrlichman and two other former White House officials.

The unprecedented subpoena for "the Honorable Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States, a resident of the White House, Washington, D.C.," was signed Monday by Superior Court Judge Gordon Ringer.

It embarked the judge on a head-on collision course with Nixon, and could lead to important decisions on the scope and limitation of the powers of the judiciary and executive branches.

The White House has already announced Nixon will "respectfully decline" to obey and Attorney General William French Smith said he would fight it to protect the stature of the presidency.

No president has ever been compelled to testify in any court, as Ringer's subpoena was the first for a president in 156 years and only the third in the history of the republic.

Presidents Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe compromised with federal court summons. Jefferson turned over a subpoenaed letter. Monroe answered questions in writing.

It was Ehrlichman's lawyer who asked the judge to subpoena Nixon, contending the President's testimony is vital to Ehrlichman's defense.

Ehrlichman, G. Gordon Liddy and David Young are awaiting trial on charges of burglary and conspiracy for allegedly giving the orders that led to the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist by the White House investigators known as the "plumbers."

Part of their defense is that they were acting as federal officers at the time.

Ringer's subpoena declared Nixon "a material and necessary witness" to Ehrlichman's defense. Ringer said he was "persuaded" that Nixon was a key witness by the President's own public statements admitting he ordered the investigation of Ellsberg and the formation of the "plumbers" and put Ehrlichman in charge.

The subpoena and expense vouchers—round-trip coach class air fare from Washington to the subpoena, legal sources indicated—were sent by registered mail to the clerk of the Superior Court in Washington.

Ringer's jurisdiction does not reach outside the state of California, but under the Uniform Witness Act—to which both California and the District of Columbia are signatories—a corresponding judge in the other jurisdiction can order the subpoena served.

When Nixon's lawyers object to the subpoena, legal sources said, a hearing will be called in Washington before either Chief Judge Harold Greene or Judge John F. Doyle, who sets the court's criminal calendar. Appeals could go all the way up to the U.S. Supreme court.

Bedroom hides victim 12 days

BERRIEN CENTER, Mich. (UPI) — Police questioned neighbors and relatives again today in attempts to solve the "confusing, messy" slaying of a man apparently killed and hidden for 12 days in his own bedroom.

Berrien County police said that as the body of Carroll D. Johnson lay in his room wrapped in a mattress and rug as his wife and seven children carried on "normal" lives.

"It's a confusing messy case," Det. Fred Reeves said. "We're trying to piece it all together."

Reeves said Johnson, 34, a native of Kennel, Mo., apparently was shot in his bed on Jan. 22.

His body was found Saturday night by a contractor working for the Johnson family during a party. Reeves said the couple entered the bedroom, flicking on a cigarette lighter to find a light switch and spotted the body beneath a rug.

Johnson's wife Joyce, 33, was placed in a hospital in this hamlet of 100 in southwestern Michigan for observation. Reeves said police have not questioned her yet.

But Reeves said questioning of other persons turned up "many details" of the case.

Two of the seven Johnson children, who range in age from 3 to 15, apparently discovered their father's body on Jan. 28 Reeves said. But he said Mrs. Johnson told them they were mistaken.

Reeves said Mrs. Johnson apparently moved the body to a porch and told the children what they saw was a dummy with a note reading "Ha ha, a joke on you" pinned to its chest.

Then, Reeves said, after the children inspected the bedroom, Mrs. Johnson moved the body back into it and wrapped it in a rug. She sealed the door and the children stayed away from the room, Reeves said.

He said no charges have been filed in the case yet, but said he expected such action within a day or two.

Two autopsies, he said, showed Johnson was shot twice in the head.

Budget 'too fat'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats have begun denouncing President Nixon's $30.4 billion red ink budget as too fat and inflationary.

"I am somewhat shocked at the $30 billion in increased spending (over this year's $27.7 billion budget)," said Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga. He said it would mean "continued deficit spending and continued inflation."

"I'm alarmed and discouraged that the budget projects another smashing deficit," said Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va.

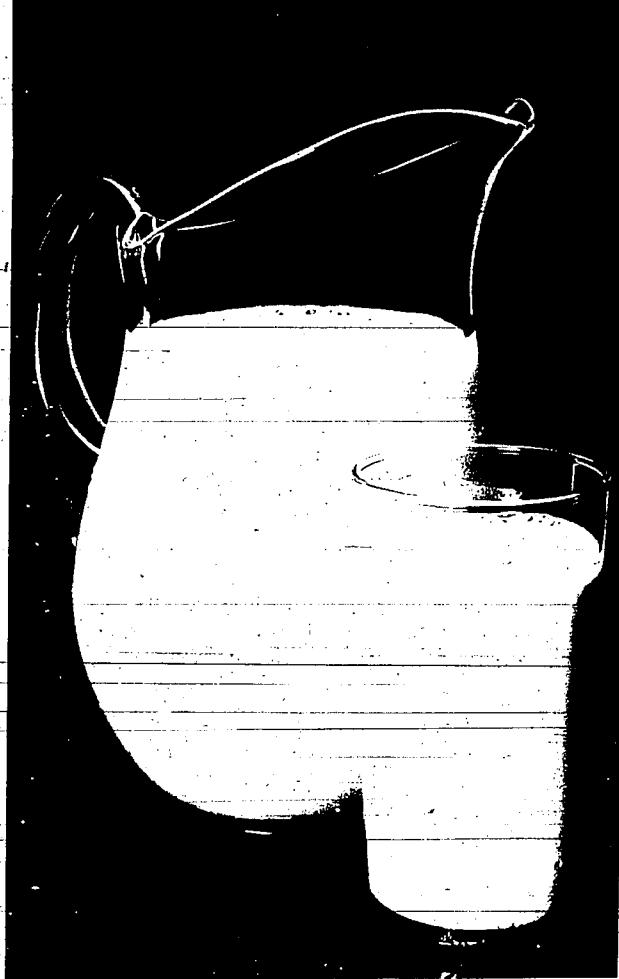

Nixon, submitting the budget to Congress Monday for the fiscal year starting July 1, asked congressional cooperation to keep its $9.4 billion deficit from going even higher.

Kissinger plans Mideast 'wrapup'

LONDON (UPI) — Middle East sources said today Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is expected in that area by mid-February, amid indications that Syria may be ready for disengagement talks with Israel. The presence of Kissinger will be required to clinch any arrangement. He would go to Damascus and probably again to Jerusalem, according to information reaching the sources. Kissinger by then will have conferred with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in Washington on the whole Middle East complex, including plans for the Geneva conference for the next phase of the projected settlement. Syria's alleged readiness to enter into disengagement talks was seen as the result of considerable combined pressure from Cairo and Moscow. The latter has been reportedly reported to have urged Syria to "start talks" on disengagement so as to allow the Geneva negotiations to get under way. The informant said it will be no easy matter to get the Syrians to negotiate constructively in the light of the toughness of their stand. But there was "diplomatic speculation" of a possible compromise between Israel's demand for the presentation of a list of their war prisoners, so far withheld by Damascus, and the latter's insistence on the return of Syrian villagers to Israeli occupied areas in the Golan Heights. Syria also was said to be maintaining its demand that any disengagement of forces on the Golan Heights must be tied to a firm timetable for complete Israeli withdrawal from the Golan Heights. Kissinger may also have received some encouraging reports from Gromyko, the sources said. The Russians want Syria to end the boycott of the Geneva peace talks.

'Need' divides nation truckers

DALLAS (UPI) — The independent truckers still hauling poultry to the West Coast, steel pipe to the Deep South and carrying produce into Texas, are not defying the nationwide boycott because they want to. Their families still must eat. Truckers passing through Dallas despite violence and threats all along their routes say they agree with the demands of the boycotters but have to keep their trucks moving to make their payments and keep food on their families' tables. It is a decision they say will keep truckers divided for months. Charles Mooney of Lufkin, Tex., stocky, deep voiced and carrying two days growth of beard, held out his quivering hand. "That, just nerves," he said. "I came in here last night about 9 o'clock. Now, ordinarily I'd stop out there somewhere and get a nap in the sleeper. But not now; who's going to lay down on the road knowing what's going to happen to the truck?" "I can't pay for my rig if I let it sit, but I can't pay for it in normal times either. What are you going to do. These guys not running, they have kids too, I know that, but their kids got to eat too. Maybe they're just not as concerned about the truck as hell, maybe they're more concerned."

Industry probe launched by FTC

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission has launched a broad-scale investigation of the nation's energy industry, focusing among other things on companies engaged in more than one aspect of the business, according to FTC Chairman Lewis A. Engman. "The investigation," Engman said in an interview, "covers the whole waterfront" beyond the agency's pending antitrust complaint against the big oil companies and its congressionally ordered look at competition, or the lack of it, in the energy business. Engman also revealed that the FTC will soon announce new policies aimed at opening up its files and operations to the public "to an extent beyond that which is now characterized by any agency in the government."

US, Cuba relations not part of talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko so far has not discussed U.S. relations with Cuba during his visit here despite Soviet public demands that the Western politician end the economic blockade of Cuba. Gromyko came here late Sunday from Havana, where he had accompanied Soviet Communist party chief Leonid A. Brezhnev on an official visit. "The fact that Gromyko came here direct from Havana touched off speculation the Soviets might play an intermediary role to thaw relations between the United States and Cuba."

Senators dispute research by profs

By DAVID ESPO
T-N Capitol Bureau

BOISE — Two members of the Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee Monday over the role of research in higher education.

Sen. Reed Budge, R-Soda Springs, told the committee he was concerned about finding "more and more high-priced individuals away from the classrooms," performing research or other duties.

"The best people are not the people teaching students in a classroom," he said.

But Sen. Dick Smith, R-Tetbury, responded that Budge was going after a "golden goose" many people have gone chasing after when they didn't know very much about it. Smith, a former member of the State Board of Education, said Budge's point of view would be sound if higher education were only an "upward bound" program.

But, he said, if professors aren't permitted to conduct their research, adopting Budge's position, "We should only allow people to teach and only allow them to teach what we already know."

Dr. John Swartley, chairman of the state board, also responded by citing research, and public service as essential functions for a professor at a state institution of higher education.

"The function of research or public services is every bit as important as the teaching aspect," Swartley told the committee.

The committee also questioned the practice of permitting faculty members to serve in the state legislature while receiving their full state salary minus only what they receive for legislative compensation.

Budge said every member of the legislature made a financial sacrifice to serve, and Sen. Leon Swenson, R-Nampa, said faculty members received their pay, but public school or private institution instructors don't, "disharmony" might result.

A member of the board—challenged—the committee, however, Janet Hay, Nampa, asked "I'd like to know how many people serve in the legislature and lose every bit of the salary they have."

Mrs. Hay said she thought the question of legislators receiving their regular pay while serving should be between them and their employers. As employers of faculty members, she said, the board had decided on its own policy.

Fund ban noted

T-N Capitol Bureau

BOISE — Rep. E. V. Mellan, R-Keetchikan, reminded his House colleagues Monday of an Idaho constitutional prohibition against appropriating state funds for sectarian purposes.

He made his remarks in reference to proposed state funding for a religious chapel at the new state penitentiary.

Mellan read to the House from Article IX, Sect. 5 of the state constitution, which outlines sectarian appropriations, and then said he agreed with the principle of a separated church and state.

"I agree with it and I think we should abide by it," he said, even though he prefaced his remarks by saying he was not opposing "at this time" the construction of the chapel.

Rep. John Beardon, R-Boise, suggested the public interests in the state could donate sufficient materials for a chapel, and the inmates themselves could construct it.

Time dispute snags Senate

T-N Capitol Bureau

BOISE — The Senate got its turn to become embroiled in a time dispute Monday, rejecting a proposed memorial to Congress asking for a redraft time line between the Pacific and Mountain time zones.

Sen. J. Wilson Steen, R-Glenns Ferry, offered the memorial asking Congress to leave 13 eastern Idaho counties into the mountain time zone, while shifting the rest of the state, including the entire Magic Valley, into the Pacific zone.

A move to put the memorial back into a committee to permit public hearings failed on a 16-16 tie vote, then the Senate killed Steen's request, 15-19.

Sen. Robert Saxvik, D-Burley, opposed the memorial, claiming a "cohesive economic tie-in" across southern Idaho that would be disrupted if the eastern part of the state were on a different time.

The time separation between northern and southern Idaho is not new, but Steen's proposal is justified, but in southern Idaho, he said, "we have a togetherness that doesn't need to be split by time."

Sen. Dick Smith, R-Tetbury, called for a public hearing on Steen's proposal, noting that not all southern Idahoans are "necessarily in favor" of it.

Senate Minority leader John Steen, R-Boise, proposed a different boundary for the new time line. He suggested including Custer, Lemhi, Butte and all Magic Valley counties except Elmore in the mountain time zone, and the rest of the state in Pacific time. He termed his proposal "more realistic," but an effort to amend Steen's memorial was ruled out of order.

Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, said the memorial was an effort to correct a "ridiculous" situation where the sun can rise in Los Angeles earlier in the morning than it does in more Idaho. He said putting the time line near the Raft River, as Steen's proposal would, would recognize an existing "terrace watershed."

Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, told the Senate there was no "ideal solution" to the problems of time zones, but said he favored Steen's as the best advanced so far.

Five other senators including High, Steen, Peavey and Sens. John Barker, R-Butt and James Yost, R-Wendell, supported "the memorial" to the state's long area lawmaker to oppose it.

Term limit proposed

BOISE (UPI) — State Rep. Maurice Clements, R-Nampa, introduced constitutional proposals Monday to limit legislators to three consecutive terms and the governor to two.

Under Clements' proposals nobody elected to either House of the legislature for three successive terms would be eligible for legislative office until two years after expiration of his term.

His other joint resolution says that no person who has been elected governor for two successive terms again shall be eligible for that office for four years.

Revamp pushed ahead

BOISE (UPI) — Legislative leaders demonstrated Monday they have the horses to push through a government reorganization substantially in the form outlined in the interim commission.

Both houses passed three reorganization bills each with a minimum of debate except for the house where a move to amend the Parks and Recreation bill was beaten 23-45.

Unless there are some serious substantive errors or omissions it appears both the House and Senate are going to approve reorganization substantially as it is put before them.

One such potential omission — in the fish and game bill — prompted its floor sponsor to serve notice of possible reconsideration Tuesday.

Rep. Ray Lincoln, R-Twin Falls, served the notice when it was discovered the drafters of the bill may have exempted a large number of fish and game employees from the merit system. Lincoln's action helped the bill at the desk for a day so a thorough check could be made.

Senators approved reorganization bills covering the industrial commission, department of insurance and the self-governing agencies. The House okayed bills setting up the board of examiners, fish and game and parks and recreation as executive departments.

In the Senate, the bill to create a department of self-governing agencies received the most debate.

Sen. Phil Batt, R-Wilder, said he felt the "poorest job" was done on the self-governing legislation. He was a member of the commission that drafted it. "I think we could have done better," Batt said.

Rep. Gary Ingram, R-Post Falls, objected to some apparently conflicting language in the parks bill and thereby triggered a move to "try" to amend the bill. A leadership view that the problem was not serious enough to delay the bill for amendment prevailed, however, and the bill passed 40-29.

Ingram did complain that the rank and file legislators are stuck with taking reorganization bills as presented to them. Subsequent actions indicated he was correct.

Williamette National Cemetery near Portland, Ore., covers 201 acres and has a total capacity of 120,000 gravesites.

Guard recruiting assistance sought

BOISE (UPI) — To induce young men to join the National Guard, the House Transportation Committee called today for introduction of a bill providing partial payment of student fees for Guardsmen.

Maj. Gen. George B. Bennett, Idaho Adjutant General, told the committee that recruiting has become very difficult nationwide since the end of the draft.

He said a number of six-year Guard enlistments will be expiring this year and the Guard needs some sort of incentive to offer young men to join and replace them.

The bill, which would not take effect until next July 1, would authorize payment of up to 50 per cent of the student registration fees for Guardsmen in good standing who are attending a junior college, state college or university in Idaho.

Bennett said the bill is aimed at full time students.

"We're not interested in supporting some joker who is going to school for a year taking one hour or two hours of (college work)," Bennett said.

He said the Army National Guard is short about 100 men and the Air National Guard is down about 50. He estimated a maximum of 450 persons would take advantage of the program at a cost of $78,750.

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Senate Monday unanimously confirmed two gubernatorial appointments.

It confirmed the appointments of Calvin Wright to a five year term on the soil conservation commission and D. E. Chilberg as director of the department of administrative services.

Fuel supply asked

BOISE (UPI) — The House approved 68-1 and sent to the Senate Monday a memorial asking the remote areas of the state continue to receive the same fuel allotments they received last year.

Rep. Steve Antone, R-Rupert, said a dealer in the Burley-Rupert area pulled out last year and his fuel allotment went with him.

That created, he said, a hardship locally because the customers served by that dealer had nowhere else to get fuel. The other dealers could not take on any more customers, he said.

Rep. C. L. Otter, R-Caldwell, cast the only negative vote on the memorial. He said the "energy office is not a panacea" for the fuel problems and that the government's death grip on private enterprise "has created many of the fuel shortage problems."

'Strike rights' bill debated

BOISE (UPI) — Spokesmen for teachers and other public employees disagreed Monday on a bill which would give public employees a "limited right to strike."

At a hearing before the House Local Government Committee in Albany, N.Y., executive director of the Idaho Education Association, said teachers will support the bill. "It is a pretty good bill," he said.

A member of the interim committee, Rep. Ralph Wheeler of American Falls, said the strike provisions gave the committee more trouble than any other single issue.

He said the committee decided to allow strikes under restrictive guidelines rather than prohibit them outright.

Historical panels measure approved

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate State Affairs Committee agreed Monday to introduce a bill to create city and county historical preservation commissions.

Also approved by the committee was a motion to hold a public hearing next Friday at 8 p.m. on a bill to establish a system for sale of products manufactured at the Idaho State Penitentiary.

Under the historical preservation measure, any tax levy required at the local level would be subject to a vote of the people. It also provides that commissions do not have the right of condemnation.

Regarding the penal betterment bill, manager Fred Abrams of the correctional facilities at the prison explained that the penal betterment fund would be created by the measure. He said that the prison-made products would be sold on the open market and the monies would be put back in vocational education.

In other action, the committee voted to introduce a bill to create an incentive allowance for widows over age 65 of U.S. senators, Congressmen and governors. The retirement allowance would be equal to 50 per cent of the current annual salary for the office last held by the widow's spouse, less any other retirement allowance.

Public still guessing about Watergate data

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's chief defense lawyer says tapes and other "evidence" support Nixon's version of when he first learned of the Watergate cover-up, not that of former aide John W. Dean III.

But Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, who has examined much of the same material as the White House, has said he has seen no basis for a charge of perjury against Dean.

Since the public has not seen the tapes nor the documents in question, it was left to guess which side the evidence supports.

As of last weekend, when Jaworski declared that prosecutors "are aware of no basis for a perjury charge" against Dean, Jaworski still hadn't seen all of the White House's evidence. He said Sunday there were still some tapes and documents he wanted but hadn't yet received. He didn't say what they were about.

Jaworski added that the White House had promised him an answer Monday whether it would give him the additional material. But Monday passed with no public indication from either presidential spokesman or the prosecutor's office as to what the White House answer was.

Dean, who has since pleaded guilty to conspiracy to obstruct justice in the Watergate bugging case, testified at Senate Watergate hearings last summer he believed Nixon was aware of the Watergate cover-up as early as Sept. 15, 1972, and became an active participant.

Nixon has said he learned of the cover-up plot for the first time March 21, 1973, when Dean told him about it.

In other Watergate developments:

—Herbert W. Kalmbach, Nixon's former personal attorney, said in a newly released court deposition that a trust fund was set up in mid-1969 under White House direction with a $100,000 secret contribution from milk producers. He said he closed out the trust before the 1972 election and turned over the balance to campaign finance director Maurice Stans.

—President Nixon's legal defense has cost $290,418 in public funds over a six month period, according to presidential counsel J. Fred Buzhardt.

—Lawyers for E. Howard

Hunt Jr. charged that U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica "improperly" forced Hunt to plead guilty in the Watergate bugging and asked that his 2 1/2 to 5 year sentence be set aside. Hunt is presently free on appeal.

—Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., introduced a bill requiring that all official papers of an elected federal official be turned over to the National Archives within 180 days after he leaves office.

Printing roadblocks delay bills

BOISE (UPI) — Four more bills ran into roadblocks in the House Printing Committee Monday.

Committee members held up a bill to revise the recall law by an attorney general's opinion on its constitutionality. They then held over for an extra day to examine its content a measure to shorten the payment period and increase the interest rate on state land loans.

Because of the wording in its statement of purpose they held up a bill whereby a portion of student college fees could be paid by the state as an incentive for young men to join the national guard.

And the committee held for clarification of its statement of purpose a bill to exempt physicians and those working directly under them from felony provisions of the anti-contraceptive advertising law.

Mini Reviews

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Public Library officials have released mini-reviews for some of the new books at the library.

"One Woman's Arctic" by Sheila Burnford. The record of two Arctic summers spent close to the North Pole in the Eskimo community of Pond Inlet.

"Fortune Made His Sword" by Martha Rabeart. Spell-binding reading bringing to life Henry V in the 15th century.

"The Inn" by Julian Strykowski. Set in East Galasia, this novel relates the events of one day and one night shortly after the outbreak of World War II.

"A Treasury in the Wall" by Enid S. Candlin. A treasury of memories — a panorama of a vanished land, a China since disappeared into the mists of history.

"Mental Institutions in America" by Gerald N. Grab. The author interprets the mental hospital as a social as well as a medical institution and illuminates the evolution of social policy toward dependent groups such as the mentally ill.

"Strangers in Company" by Jane Alken Hodge. A novel of suspense and romance about Marion Frenche, an attractive divorcee, and her rich, unstable companion, Stella Marten.

"Carriage Trade" by Robert Thomsen. This novel poses the question of whether the sensual immorality of the body is not innocuous when compared to the immorality of war.

"Red House" by Derek Lambert. A story of a Russian career diplomat who was unprepared for the callous use his government planned to make of him.

"Survive the Savage Sea" by Douglas Robertson. At 10 a.m. June 15, 1972, the 43-foot schooner Laeche was attacked by killer whales in the Pacific and sank in 50 seconds. An incredible story of survival.

"Aswan" by Michael Heim. One of the best thrillers of the year. A brilliant "polio" novel about the dam, Egypt, Israel and the great powers.

JANEEN DIXON
...selected

Selected to attend symposium

VALLEY SCHOOLS — Janeen Dixon, Valley High School Junior, has been named to attend the Intermountain Junior Science and Humanities Symposium at the University of Utah March 6-9.

Miss Dixon has kept up the family tradition. She is the fourth member of her family to be selected to attend the annual symposium that has been sponsored for the past 12 years by the US Army and the university.

Her brother, Mark, and sisters, Dusty and De Ann, all attended the symposium when they were students at the Richfield High School.

Other students from Magic Valley who are among the 22 students named to attend the symposium from Idaho include Rick J. Weickum, Rupert; Melva Nussbaum and Ken Annold, both Twin Falls; Gonda Edwards and Weitzstein, both Buhl, and David Brown, Richfield.

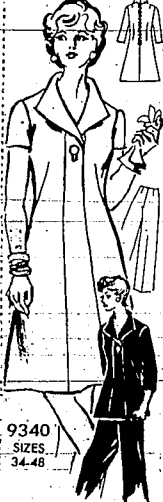

Special instruction in the sciences and mathematics fields will be given the students, as well as tours of the university laboratories and facilities and lectures on scientific subjects. All expenses are paid.

wound up in clubs. Some stopped at a part score; others bid to game. Barry Crane of Los Angeles, the number one man on the master-point list, reached six clubs playing with Dr. John Fisher of Dallas.

The slam depended on locating the queen of hearts. As you can see Barry could finesse for it either way. Experts expect to handle a two-way finesse correctly most of the time and Barry is one of the best in this department.

He could not be certain, but he did find out that East was long in hearts. Hence he was more likely to hold the queen. Barry finessed successfully against him and made the slam.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

WORLD CARD SENSE

The reason club systems are too difficult for ordinary players lies in the problem of what to do when your suit is clubs. Of course you can open two clubs to show a normal one club opening, but experience has shown that this is inadvisable when your hand is in the minimum range.

Believe it or not, we watched a pair of expert club bidders pass this hand out in a duplicate game. Another pair did even worse. South passed; North opened one heart. Eventually, he played at four hearts and managed to find a way to get set after East opened the king of diamonds.

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♣	Pass	1♥
Pass	3♥	Pass	3♣
Pass	4♣	Pass	4♥

You, South, hold:
 ♠ A K 7 6 ♣ A K 7 5 + 2 ♣ K 10 4 3

What do you do now?
 A - Bid four diamonds. If your partner is showing club support you don't want to be in a slam. If he is showing the club ace he will make a strong bid over your four diamonds.

TODAY'S QUESTION
 He continues to five diamonds. What do you do now?

Charity ball set at SV

SUN VALLEY — The Sun Valley Lodge Dining Room will be studied with gold candelabras for the annual Moritz Hospital Auxiliary Charity Ball Feb. 9.

The event will begin with a no-host cocktail hour from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., with a background of trio music. A gourmet dinner with wine will be served at 8:30 p.m.

The Sun Valley Orchestra will provide dance music until 1 a.m.

In addition to the candelabras, the room will be filled with greens, set with tiny white lights for a starlight effect. These decorations will be contrasted with vivid reds and pinks carrying out the Valentine theme.

Ticket prices will be $15 per person and are tax deductible. Ticket reservations may be made by calling 726-4243 or 726-4237, Ketchum; or by writing to "Charity Ball," Box 564, Sun Valley, 83353.

Dress will be semi-formal, with business suits for the men. All Magic Valley and Wood River Valley residents are invited to attend.

Charity ball set

Get-together set

DEAR ABBY: Alho I am in prison, I am a loyal reader of your column. Mostly because I miss sharing life with people.

At times you have expressed faith in God. Deep in the night I am restless and unable to sleep because the memory of my crime [murder] haunts me. I have sought God's forgiveness and believe that Jesus died for our sins, but I am unable to find relief from my troubled conscience.

Abby, is murder a forgivable sin? I find no reference to it in the Bible, but there is reference to an eye for an eye. If you can give me the answer, you will do much for my peace of mind. Thank you.

Forgive oneself

A FRIEND IN RALEIGH, N. C.

DEAR FRIEND: All religions endorse the concept of forgiveness to one who is sincere in contrition and repentance. It was expressed in the Old Testament in Isaiah 55:7. "Let the sinner abandon his way and his thoughts and let him return unto the Lord for he will have mercy upon him and fully forgive." In fact, so strong is this feeling in the Bible it is repeated seven times in the Old Testament. If a misdeed was committed, it can be fully atoned by paying one's debt to society and also by examining one's conscience and thru self-understanding changing one's ways and returning to the path of goodness. A beautiful expression of Divine forgiveness and mercy was given by Nathan of Bratslav, an 18th-Century sage: "There is no sin that will not be forgiven by sincere repentance."

To this may I add that the hardest person to forgive is oneself. God Bless.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother. She shoplifts. I know this for a fact because I have seen her in action. She takes only small things that will fit into her purse. I'm the only one in the family who knows about it. I really can't understand why Mom would steal. She can afford to buy anything she wants. Besides she picks up things she has no use for, like cheap sunglasses, and orange lipstick! She stole a can of cat food, and we don't even have a cat!

My mother and I aren't very close, so I can't talk to her about it. She'd probably deny it anyway.

It would kill my father if he knew. He is a highly respected elected government official. I am 15. Please don't use my name or town, but tell me what to do.

WORRIED FOR MOM

DEAR WORRIED: This type of shoplifting sounds like kleptomania. It's an illness and can be cured with treatment. First tell your mother what you have told me. And if she denies it, tell your father. It won't "kill" him. He'd appreciate learning it from you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HURTING DOWN DEEP IN PHILLY": Don't be ashamed of an honest emotion. There are no good losers. Only good actors.

Kicky socks top '74 list

NEW YORK (UPI) — For years the hosiery industry has tried to sell men on the idea of wearing livelier socks and for years men have resisted, preferring solid black, navy blue or brown. The industry is beginning to win and predicts that 20 to 35 per cent of spring hosiery will be in patterns.

The youth of America, the blue jean generation, already has started wearing wild and kicky socks with their wild and kicky high-heeled shoes or their faded sneakers, but the prediction now is that come spring the more mature man will take a timed step toward pattern and color.

Such famous designers as John Weitz have been producing lively patterns for the past five or six years, and although the fashion-conscious men snapped them up, the great silent majority stayed with the solids, perhaps wearing an argyle on weekends since they could remember them from their childhood.

The manufacturers are turning out vibrant plaids, checks and argyles and in bright combinations such as deep green, rust and beige, but they also are knitting some muted designs that are both new and stylish — simple tone-on-tons or solids with knit-in texture like ribbing suitable for the most conservative banker.

SV mulls gliding classes

SUN VALLEY — A team of Sun Valley executives has investigated the possibility of initiating a "hang gliding school" by obtaining first hand experience.

Following an afternoon of gliding off Sun Valley's Dollar Mountain, Bill Janss, chairman of the board of the Sun Valley Co., Inc., Wally Huffman, director of recreation, and Ken Zimmerman, director of mountain operations, discussed the feasibility of forming the first hang gliding school in the United States. After taking a few spins, the team realized that under controlled conditions on Sun Valley's teaching mountain, the sport could be taught with less danger than skiing.

Gliding exhibitions of Baldy during the exhibition skiing regional championships, March 13 to 15, already have been planned as well as numerous other exhibitions throughout the season. If the school is formed, an area in Filders at Sun Valley will be designated specifically for teaching purposes.

AEC given more funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, reported today that the Atomic Energy Commission operations in Idaho are scheduled to receive more than $125 million under President Nixon's budget for the next fiscal year.

Hansen said the proposed increase in spending in Idaho is 14 percent above the current year's estimate.

Moth localized

MISSOULA, Mont. (UPI) — An entomologist for the US Forest Service northern regional headquarters believes the Douglas-fir tussock moth infestation will remain localized this year in the Worden Creek drainage near Lolo and south of Frenchtown.

William M. Cicels based his statements on the results of a joint egg-mass survey completed by the state foresters' office and the forest service during the summer of 1973 in western Montana. It indicated two areas totaling about 350 acres on private, state and national forest lands were infested.

'73 safety award for TF terminal

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Terminal of Browning Freight Lines, Inc., has received the firm's first place safety award for 1973.

Roy Sorenson, terminal manager, received the award at a quarterly managers' meeting in Salt Lake City. It was presented by Clifton M. Browning, line president.

Sorenson said the firm's drivers had only one reportable accident in more than 200,000 miles driven in the Magic Valley and only one non-chargable accident in 1.6 million miles driven in Idaho by the line's over-the-road drivers.

Among the firm's drivers those with more than three years of safe driving include: Frank Carroll, 16 years; Lewis Huether, 13 years; Sorenson, 9 years; Don Norris, 6 years; Ronald Nelson and Elmer C. Hegg, both 4 years.

Indian fund power grows

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Indians of the United States will have more power over the federal dollar sent their way in fiscal year 1975, President Nixon said today.

In his budget requests for the coming fiscal year, Nixon listed $60,000,000 in budget authority for the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

He said the money would be spent with "special emphasis on contractual and grant arrangements for tribes to directly administer federal activities when they prefer to do so." That means added independence of planning for the Indians, with continuing federal presence in their source of funds.

"The government ... in fulfilling its responsibilities to the American Indians provides opportunities for Indians to develop and utilize their complete potentials and capabilities," Nixon's budget outline said.

The budget request listed $219 million for Indian education, which would provide help for some 100,000 Indian students attending public schools, as well as operation of federal schools and provision of boarding money for Indians in public school near reservations. Direct payments to Indian tribes and organizations would total $158.9 million for grants and contracts for services to the Indian people. The amount is $27.9 million higher than the current fiscal year, the President said, "and represents an administration decision to offer Indian tribes a real opportunity — completely at their discretion — to participate in the direct administration of Indian programs."

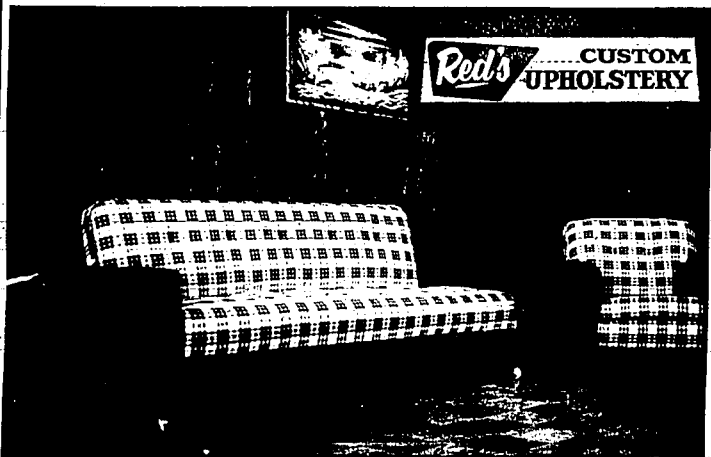

Landing spill

HANG GLIDING off Dollar Mountain is fun and not dangerous, says Bill Janss, chairman of the board of the Sun Valley Co., after a spill. The possibility of forming the first hang gliding school in the United States is under discussion at Sun Valley.

"Lovely trip, Captain! And DO thank your pilot for being so navigational!"

Fire destroys house

MURTAUGH—A vacant house belonging to a Murtaugh man burned to the ground early this morning, along with a small trailer house parked beside it.

Fire chief Robert Rice said the blaze which destroyed a house belonging to Ralph Buxton began sometime before 2 a.m., when the fire department got the call.

The house, an unoccupied rental unit, was burned to the ground. Rice said he had no estimate of the dollar value of the loss.

One tanker from the Murtaugh Fire Department responded to the blaze. The fire was brought under control by the five volunteer firemen who responded to the call by about 3 a.m. There were no injuries, Rice said.

ISU enrollment up

POCATELLO (UPI)—Student enrollment is on the rise at Idaho State University.

School officials report a record spring semester enrollment of 8,607 students for classroom activities the highest enrollment recorded for any single semester.

The enrollment includes nearly 5,000 students in daytime or evening academic courses; one thousand in full-time vocational-technical course and 2,125 enrolled in other vocational-technical programs.

ISU officials said the total enrollment tops last spring's by 542 students, an increase of about 6.5 per cent.

Gunman sought

BOISE (UPI)—Boise Police are searching today for a gunman who held up the State Street Beverage and Sporting Goods store shortly after 10 p.m. Monday night.

There were no details available Monday night about what was taken in the incident.

The suspect was described as being in his 20s and wearing Levi pants and a jacket of similar material.

K-2 open slated

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI)—Three-man teams will be competing in the first annual K-2 open on the Elkhorn Ski Area Saturday.

First place winners will take home 40 per cent of the purse for the event, which will have racers matched against equally handicapped racers. All competitors will race each course.

Rules of the race will require each participant to submit two current NASTAR handicaps current to within 30 days previous to race day.

Solar energy aired

BOISE (UPI)—The future of solar energy in Idaho is up to the state, according to two southern California experts.

Dr. Marshall P. Alper, manager of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory and Dr. Edgar Davis, project manager for solar activities at the Lab in Pasadena, Calif., were in Boise Monday to discuss the future of solar energy in the state.

They held a meeting of state lawmakers and representatives of private industry Southern Idaho is a logical site for developing a solar energy resource. They suggested beginning with an experimental installation at Boise State College.

Budget approval needed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Construction of the Tylon Dam would continue if President Nixon's proposed federal budget were adopted, Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, has learned.

McClure said Nixon's proposed budget includes requests for $15.6 million for reclamation projects affecting Idaho.

Housing loan eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Owyhee Housing Development Corp. has a federal loan to construct housing for the elderly, according to Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho.

Symms said the loan, from the Farmers Home Administration, is for $250,700. He said the money will be for 16 one-bedroom rural rental units, each one based on the essential needs for the elderly.

Gooding audit approved

GOODING—The audit of the Gooding City books was approved at a meeting of the Gooding City Council Monday night.

Councilman Duane Clemens was placed in charge of the airport and fire department.

Five building permits were approved, totaling $44,900.

Chamber conclave set

SALMON (UPI)—The spring meeting of the North Idaho Chamber of Commerce is scheduled May 21.

Among the speakers will be John Trotman, Montgomery, Ala., immediate past president of the American National Cattlemen's Association.

Others scheduled for the Salmon meeting include Curt Bickford, Washington, D. C., national director of the Bureau of Land Management, and Patrick J. Sheehan, division of information and education, US Forest Service, Oiden.

Jerome sets board meet

JEROME—The Jerome County Airport Board will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Wood Cafe.

The curtailment of airport funds by the county commissioners will be discussed.

According to Phyllis Sullivan, airport manager, the county commission has cut airport funds to $1,650 this year, compared to $5,400 for last year. She said the new budget is not large enough to provide for any improvements at the airports. Proper maintenance cannot be accomplished with this year's budget, she said.

Claude Bernard, county commission chairman, said earlier the airport budget was cut because runway improvements and land acquisition are complete.

School site hearing slated

JEROME—A public hearing is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday by the School Site Evaluation Committee.

The public hearing, which will be in the Junior High School auditorium, is planned to give citizens a chance to state their views about several suggested sites for the proposed new high school that have been under evaluation by the committee.

School patrons will be told about favorable and unfavorable aspects of each site being considered.

Lefroy Craig, chairman of the School Site Evaluation Committee, urged district patrons to attend the hearing to learn the facts about the sites and to "feel free to offer suggestions that will aid the committee in its final presentation to the Steering Committee of the Jerome Planning Council," Craig said.

The complete report is to be presented to the Steering Committee by Feb. 16. The report will then be given to the school board where a final decision on the site will be made.

Craig said each subcommittee member will attend the hearing to answer questions. Also, members of the school board and the architectural firm will be present.

Drifting snow closes roads

SHOSHONE—Three roads were reported closed by the State Highway office in Shoshone as a result of wind and drifting snow Monday night.

They include State Highway 46, six miles north of Gooding to Fairfield; State Highway 68, from the junction of Highway 83 to Mountain Home; and State Highway 77 from Allion south to Mills.

According to William Thomason, state highway official in Shoshone, the roads were closed around 9 a.m. and were closed at the time the morning report Tuesday. He said visibility was practically zero because of the wind and blowing snow.

In the remainder of the district this morning, from Sublett to the Utah line, a snow floor with drifting is reported, with similar conditions in the Burley, Shoshone south, Timmerman Hill, Ketchum and Galena areas.

In the Craters of the Moon area, a snow floor with cloudy skies is reported.

Andrus signs AF dam bill

Andrus said the bill he signed this morning was "very significant not only for the American Falls area but also for the entire state of Idaho."

The measures signed were similar to ones Andrus sent to the lawmakers a month before the session began in January. One of them clarifies the authority of irrigation districts to fund replacements of existing facilities. The second clarifies the procedures to be used in a bond election called by irrigation districts.

No time change planned in Minidoka school hours

By SHARYN MITCHELL
Times-News Writer

RUPERT—School hours will not be changed, at least at the present time, in Minidoka County schools.

A delegation of about 25 Minidoka County parents met with the school board Monday night, asking for later school opening hours and revised bus routes.

"This is it. We want our children out of the darkness," one of the parents said.

The group of parents asked school officials to open schools one hour later than the present 8:30 a.m. to offset the effects of daylight saving time.

The board told the group it would wait to see what happens in the state legislature on the issue. They suggested parents ask their representatives to let them know how they feel.

Dr. Darrell Hatfield, superintendent, said bus schedules can be set back in some cases to pick up children 10 to 20 minutes later and alleviate some of the problem. But many people in the business and farming people would oppose changing school hours, again he said.

The board delayed until its next meeting, two weeks away, final decision on a possible time change.

Parents in the Minidoka community area say daylight saving time is not the major problem, but simply compounds a problem of long standing. Small children there must leave home in some cases at 6:45 a.m. to catch a bus to the Acquin grade school.

They then wait an hour or more before classes open, since the same bus which picks them up must also have high school students in Rupert prior to 8:30 a.m.

Sewage funds approved

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News Writer

KETCHUM—The Ketchum City Council Monday night agreed to pay two contractor's estimates on the sewage treatment plant modification project, subject to approval by the city attorney and a sewer commissioner.

The action came after the council discussed possible damages owed to the city because of alleged project completion delays. The matter had previously been discussed at a December meeting between Ketchum officials and Sun Valley water and sewer district officials.

The payments to Hunter-Saucerman Construction Co., Idaho Falls, which holds the $228,700 contract to increase plant efficiency, include contractor's estimate five for $10,000 and estimate six for $37,200.

Jim Koonce, representing JUB Engineers, said the payments covered work that had been completed and materials which had been delivered to the site. He also stated that a standard 10 per cent retaining had been made throughout the job.

In other action:

Councilman Jack Corcock submitted for the council's study, a list of proposed amendments to the 1973 Uniform Building Code which had been prepared by a seven member committee.

Corcock said the proposals clarify times which could "lag" issuance of building permits; provide "flexway" for construction of single family residences; and clarify floor loads and footing depths.

The amendments include that the maximum time for plan checking will be 14 days on a single family residence, 20 days on buildings valued over $100,000 and 42 days on buildings over $250,000; no plan check fee be charged for buildings under $100,000 in value; and that the city building permit fee have no bearing on the plan check fee.

City Building Inspector John Jacoby said the plan check fee had been part of his wages. He said he "couldn't possibly do it" without the fee.

Agreed, on Corcock's recommendation, that the proposed new city zoning map and ordinance be thoroughly reviewed in a meeting to be scheduled between the City Council, the city attorney and the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Tabled for further study an ordinance to enable the city to recover costs and expenses for fire fighting from the property owner.

Approved the appointment of members of the City Building Board to Appeals to serve as the Fire Board of Appeals. The board include George Loomis, Phil Ritzau, Joe Polterin, Joe Koenig, and Glen McRoberts.

Secretary of the Building Appeals Board and fire chief Bill Brand serves the same role on the Fire Appeals Board.

Gave preliminary approval to Fred Jenkins for a building permit to construct two apartment units, subject to the city attorney's verification that the action would not violate the city's present 120 day moratorium on additional sewage hookups.

The proposed units would be located at Second Street and First Avenue and would replace a residence which had been destroyed by fire.

Attorney E. Lee Schlender, representing Jenkins, said under the city's equivalent sewage connection system, the two, one-bedroom units would equal the pre-existing two bedroom residence.

Tabled a request from Steve Abbey for final approval of a Snow Valley condominium plat until the next council meeting and until a recommendation is received from the planning and zoning commission. The project includes conversion of 18 apartment units into 12 condominium units.

Fill 'er up!

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—There is an old saying that you get what you put for. Sometimes it doesn't quite work out that way.

An attendant at a downtown area Standard Oil gas station locked all but one of his pumps Saturday night, subjecting the city attorney's motorist's happily discovered the error.

It didn't take long before he filled his tank before another car drove up. The driver did the same thing ... and the process continued.

Several curious cars were making out into the street waiting for the attendant to finally pair of friendly policemen arrived and shooed the drivers away.

It was not immediately known how much gasoline the station owner lost.

Trial moves to Hailey

BURLEY—An $813,836.46 suit against the Cassia County School District and several individuals filed in Burley or last year in connection with a school bus accident in 1972 will be decided in Blaine County this month.

Fifth District Court Judge Sherman Bellwood said Tuesday the trial will begin Feb. 20 in Hailey. Time has been set aside at the courthouse for the jury trial to run through March 8, "but I don't think it will take that long," Bellwood said.

The suit was filed by the parents of five former high school students against the school district's former band director Michael Chesley, and Milo Hatt and his parents Mr. and Mrs. Jay Hatt.

Milo Hatt, a high school student at the time of the incident, allegedly crashed a car he was driving into the marching band as it practiced on a city street in June, 1972.

About 18 students were sent to the hospital following the incident. One student, Debbie Flowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Flowers, Burley, was not yet completely recovered from injuries she sustained in the incident.

R-Tuttle, said they were necessary if backers of the dam construction were to meet "day by day deadlines," they faced.

He said if the federal government were relied upon for funding of the dam, it would require as much as 15 years to replace the existing facility.

Sen. John Barker, R-Idaho, who carried the bill on the Senate floor when they were approved said at the time the next step would be at the Idaho Supreme Court. He said a ruling would be sought on permitting all voters in the American Falls Reserve District to vote on the bond election, instead of only the spaceholders in the reservoir.

A request by some of the defendants and Bellwoods last fall for a change of the location of the hearing was denied at that time by Judge Bellwood, because he felt there was not sufficient evidence of bias and prejudice toward the case in the Burley area, according to William Parsons, attorney for the plaintiffs.

The plaintiffs charge that band leader Chesley and the school district were negligent in allowing the band to practice on the city streets. Since the incident, the school has adopted a policy banning school organizations from practicing on the streets.

Hospital expansion based on 2 key reasons

Patients who formerly would have gone to larger medical facilities can now be treated at Magic Valley Memorial, along with more patients from outlying areas.

Specialized procedures unheard of 10 years ago are now performed routinely at the hospital, adding to the patient load.

Also, with a good farm year, many people are in a better financial position. "When people have money, they do medical care options they don't otherwise," Fred Decker, hospital attorney says.

Statistics show the increase. For example, the number of patients treated in operating rooms increased $3.9 per cent from 1968 to 1972.

Five years ago, Rosenbaum estimates, the average wait for elective surgery was 5 to 8 days. Now, according to Dr. Mark Grefenson, chief of surgery, the wait runs between 23 and 27 days.

Elective surgery is often cancelled now to take care of emergency surgical cases.

How can the hospital deal with increasing patient demand? The total number of beds can be increased, or attempts made to decrease the need for beds, by advancement in medical methods, or different means of treatment.

One trend which has reduced bed demand is the reduction in the number of days a patient spends in the hospital.

At Magic Valley Memorial, the average length of patient stay declined from 5.1 days in 1970 to 4.8 days in 1973.

Another way to decrease the need for beds is to treat more patients on an outpatient basis—that is, a walk-in basis, with no need for an overnight stay in the hospital.

In more and more hospitals, the trend is towards performing minor operations on an outpatient basis. A patient can have his tonsils removed in the morning and be home by evening providing the hospital has adequate outpatient facilities.

The reduction in cost to the patient is significant. Insurance companies, which used to favor outpatient procedures are now moving towards them because of the considerable savings involved, Rosenbaum says.

Magic Valley Memorial has no facilities at the present time for outpatient surgery. If the plans for an organized outpatient department are implemented by the passage of the bond issue, Rosenbaum estimates, demand for in-hospital beds could be reduced as much as 15 per cent.

Rosenbaum bases his estimate on reported experience of other hospitals. He said such reports indicate a decrease in bed demand ranging from 10 to 20 per cent, with an average drop of 14 to 18 per cent.

Included in the general move towards relieving overcrowding and modernizing hospital facilities is the emergency room, scheduled to be completely remodeled. The emergency room of the emergency room has increased tremendously, from 786 treated cases in 1956 to over 5,809 this past year, Rosenbaum said. Equipment and space allotment have not kept pace with this increase.

In its present state, the emergency room is "an intolerable situation," a comment made by Dr. Bruce Buck, general surgeon, and echoed by many other medical and administrative personnel. Lack of proper lighting, space and equipment makes the present emergency room unfit to deal adequately with a serious accident or heavy patient load.

The lack of facilities is felt in legal terms, also. The hospital suffers a "horrible exposure" to law suits because of inadequate facilities, according to Decker.

Another thrust of the proposal is compliance with federal and state safety requirements. These building improvements are necessary to meet licensing requirements set up by the health department and to obtain adequate insurance, according to hospital officials.

The present hollow core doors—about 1,300 in the estimate of the chief engineer—must be replaced with solid doors to prevent the spread of fire and smoke. In addition, smoke detection equipment must be added, and exhaust and venting equipment in the laundry and kitchen supplied with hoods provided with automatic fire extinguishing devices. The present cost for these improvements is about $120,000, according to Rosenbaum.

Scheduled for removal are dumb waiters used to carry linen and dinner trays between the basement and patient rooms. The water shafts are fire hazards, Rosenbaum said, because they could act as chimneys, conducting smoke and flame into every floor. Replacement is recommended because of the extreme fire hazard.

Other outmoded equipment to be replaced is located in the kitchen and laundry, which are both using machines bought for the new hospital 22 years ago. Both the dishwashing machine and the large 300 pounds clothes washer are at the point where a breakdown would be serious because of the scarcity of replacement parts. Some new equipment is already on order—the need was too great to wait for passage of the bond issue.

Another purpose of the bond issue is to provide for needed replacement or purchase of equipment to keep pace with technology.

"Things are developing so rapidly, there are so many new techniques, that the minute an invention is made it starts to become obsolete," Dr. Carl said.

The hospital administration estimates the total cost for replacement of equipment that is currently outmoded or unfit to be $225,000.

Mexican immigrant movements hearing topic

(C) Chicago Sun-Times
 WASHINGTON — The movement of Mexican immigrants — both legal and illegal — will be the subject of hearings scheduled for early next month before the Senate subcommittee on Immigration and Naturalization.
 Considerations before the panel will converge in two central issues:
 Whether, for the first time in U. S. history, to limit the number of immigrants who can enter locally from Mexico — and if so, by how much?
 What to do about the hundreds of thousands who are already in the country illegally, some of them for many years?
 Two controversial bills were passed by the House and referred to the Senate last year. The first would apply the standard 26,000 of the country's annual immigration quota to Mexico and Canada, traditionally exempt from numerical limitations. And the second would subject employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens to fines.

 Since 1965, when the law was rewritten, the rate of immigration from Mexico has almost doubled to 70,000 a year. About 26,000 of these immigrants are immediate relatives of American citizens and therefore eligible to come in without a job certificate and are outside the overall quota of 120,000 immigrants a year for the entire Western Hemisphere.
 In setting the Mexican limit at 20,000, the House overrode the manager of the bill, Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N. J., and most liberals. At that level, the present 44,000 immigrants a year from Mexico who would fall under the quota would have to be trimmed by more than half.
 Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and the Nixon administration (represented by the State Department) favor a higher figure of 35,000 a year from Mexico.

 Kennedy and the AFL-CIO are pressing for legislation that would remove illegal aliens from the labor force, particularly in the southwest where their presence is thought to depress wages.
 Nobody knows how many illegal aliens there are. The immigration and naturalization service apprehended 430-213 Mexican aliens in 1972. Immigration has estimated there could be more than 1 1/2 million Mexicans in the country illegally. There are known to be many other illegal aliens — from the Western Hemisphere — 250,000 Haitians for example, according to immigration estimates.
 Naturally the Farm Bureau and corporate growers object to civil penalties for employing aliens. As a practical matter, the measure would eventually require proof of citizenship to hold a job. This would be feasible if the government made it more difficult for illegal aliens to obtain a social security card, which is part of the plan.

 Kennedy, organized labor and the Zero Population Growth movement want even more stringent sanctions against employers than those in the House bill.
 Cesar Chavez, leader of the United Farm Workers Union and usually a staunch Kennedy ally, takes a contrary view. He said the House legislation would "encourage discrimination against brown-skinned people and break up families who had long-standing roots in this country, and who, for lack of a piece of paper (a visa), are subjected to embarrassing and burdensome practices and rules enforced by government bureaucrats unconcerned with the plight of poor people."

Horse group sets TF meets Feb. 16

TWIN FALLS — The state meeting of the newly formed Idaho Junior Quarter Horse Association will be at 2 p.m. Feb. 16 at J.B.'s Big-Boy Restaurant.

There will also be a central district meeting at 1 p.m. the same day at J.B.'s. The central district includes residents between Rupert and Mountain Home.

During the state meeting, a constitution for the organization will be drawn up and representatives from each of the four districts will be elected.

Officers of the organization include Janie Stillwell, Boise, president; Zane Howe, Rupert, first vice president; Doug Roloff, Boise, second vice president; Pam Nicholas, Oreana, secretary; Loretta Conrad, Murtaugh, treasurer; and Julie Conrad, Murtaugh, first vice president; Doug Roloff, Boise, is the adult advisor for the association.

Pea, lentil prices told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bakers Association, submitted a table which he said showed that if wheat prices go from the current level of about $5.75 a bushel to $12.50, retail prices for a 1.5-pound loaf of bread would rise to $1.45 — a 43-cent hike over recent prices in New England.

The table showed that the cost of flour to the loaf would rise 20 cents, and that other cost increases including sales commissions set on a percentage markup would add another 20 cents.

Administration officials pointed out that what would have to hit $3 a bushel to justify $1 bread on the basis of wheat increases alone.

"There will be no bread priced at $1 a loaf," testified Don Paarlberg, of the Agriculture Department's chief economist.

He conceded that booming exports are pulling U.S. reserves this spring to the lowest level in 27 years. But he said a combination of voluntary government steps including "safety valve" authority for temporary wheat imports from Canada — will prevent any shortages or "disastrous" price increases this spring.

No bread shortage, USDA aide insists

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate farm leaders, listening to a new round of claims and denials of possible $1-a-loaf bread prices this spring, Monday urged the administration to head off future wheat shortages by backing proposals to create grain stockpiles.

Bakery industry spokesmen, at a Senate agriculture subcommittee hearing, renewed their claim that the price of bread could climb to $1 for a 1.5 pound loaf this spring unless the government heads off potential new rounds of wheat price jumps by temporarily limiting wheat exports.

"An administration official rejected the forecast."

"There will be no bread priced at $1 a loaf," testified Don Paarlberg, of the Agriculture Department's chief economist.

PREPARING HOOF for attaching the shoe is an important part of the horseshoeing procedure, says Kenneth Kimball, left, as the assista student Bill Baldwin, Fairfield.

CSI teaching horseshoeing

TWIN FALLS — Since the village blacksmith vanished from the scene, professional horseshoeing or farriery, if you prefer — is not always readily available.

The horse breeder and owner, it is often well to know how to handle the average horseshoeing tasks.

To — help — the horseman develop such skills, the College of Southern Idaho, working with Kenneth Kimball of the Bigwood Equitation Center, Ketchum, offers special classes.

The horseshoeing program is part of a training program in "horse related studies" now in progress at CSI. Enrollment includes horse owners from as far away as Fairfield and Halley as well as from throughout Twin Falls County. Initial classes covered horse confirmation to help the horse owner select suitable animals for breeding or performance.

The horseshoeing program, which concluded Jan. 22, covered both hot and cold phases with Dan Tucker, Ketchum, directing the use of a forge and hand to shape the shoe for a particular type foot.

Other courses will include horse care beginning Feb. 7 and continuing through Feb. 14; lameness in horses which began Tuesday and will conclude Feb. 5, and a final class on breeding and foaling scheduled for March 21 through March 25.

Meat paces climb in farmers income

(C) New York Times Service
 WASHINGTON — Prices received by farmers rose sharply again in January, reaching a point exactly twice the average for 1967 and signaling further increases at retail counters in the weeks ahead.

Most animals accounted for the biggest part of the increase, according to an expert at the department of agriculture but the agency's monthly report, issued today, also showed substantial increases for potatoes, grains and fresh vegetables.

The biggest increases came in cattle and hogs, according to the monthly report issued today by the Department of Agriculture, but potatoes, grains, and fresh vegetables also rose.

"Cattle and hogs are in short supply, partly because of the price freeze of last summer," said Dr. Don Paarlberg, the Agriculture Department's chief economist, explaining the rise of 12 per cent for meat animals in the month ended Jan. 15. He added, "Now we're paying for it."

This was the second consecutive month of increases after a three-month decline. It came as no surprise. Beef producers have been warning for a month to expect more of the same, and President Nixon advised the nation in his state of the Union message more food inflation was due in the next few months.

The overall increase for the month was 9 per cent, compared with a rise of 1.5 per cent for the month before, and it continues to rise to the record level reached last August.

Paarlberg warned, however, that the increase in grain prices, especially corn, could be offset by long-term impact of prices of pork. Corn was up 20 cents a bushel, to $2.59, a level exceeded only by the $2.68 recorded last August.

When corn prices have been high, historically, farmers have been less inclined to feed it to hogs and to breed more pork animals.

He doubted, however, that the same result would occur in beef cattle because of the longer cycle between breeding and slaughter.

Hog prices for Jan. 15 were up 10 cents, to 40.00 a hundredweight, to $40.10, and beef cattle were up $5.80 a hundredweight, to $44.40.

"Food grains, principally wheat and rye, were up 3 per cent but these increases were likely to silt more slowly through the wholesale, milling and baking processes into higher prices at bread and pastry counters.

Wheat rose 51 cents a bushel during the month to $5.25, a record, from $4.78 a month earlier and $2.38 at the same time last year.

ATTENTION ALL POTATO GROWERS

POTATO GROWERS OF IDAHO IN THEIR EFFORTS TO SERVE ALL POTATO GROWERS ARE NOW IN THE PROCESS OF NEGOTIATING THE 1974 PRE-SEASON POTATO CONTRACT.

SOME OF THE FACTS THAT ALL POTATO GROWERS SHOULD KNOW ARE AS FOLLOWS:

- 1 - PROCESSORS ARE NOW PAYING $7.00 PLUS FIELD RUN FOR THE 1973 CROP OF POTATOES WITH A TWO PERCENT PENCIL TARE FOR IMMEDIATE DELIVERY. THIS FIGURE IS TWO AND ONE HALF TIMES THE AVERAGE PAID ON THE 1973 POTATO CONTRACTS.
- 2 - POTATO GROWERS OF IDAHO'S PROPOSED CONTRACT FOR 1974 REFLECTS AN INCREASE THAT WILL COVER CURRENT INCREASED PRODUCTION COSTS AND BRING POTATO CONTRACTS IN LINE WITH OTHER COMPETITIVE CROPS.
- 3 - YOU AS POTATO GROWERS ARE WELL AWARE OF THE PRODUCTION COST OF POTATOES. THE BIG FACTOR IS THE RISK INVOLVED. WHEN TALKING TO YOUR LENDING INSTITUTION IT WILL BECOME APPARENT THAT THE DOLLAR FIGURE RISK ON POTATOES IS FAR GREATER THAN OTHER MORE LUCRATIVE CROPS.
- 4 - WE FEEL THAT THE POTATO GROWERS OF IDAHO PROPOSED FIGURE ON THE CONTRACT IS A FAIR PRICE FOR THE GROWERS WHO NEED THIS INDUCEMENT TO CONTRACT.
- 5 - WE ARE STRIVING FOR EARLY SETTLEMENT OF THIS CONTRACT IN ORDER TO ALLOW GROWERS TO MAKE UP THEIR MINDS WHETHER TO CONTRACT, GO OPEN, OR RAISE OTHER CROPS THAT HAVE LOW PRODUCTION COSTS, LOW RISK FACTORS AND EQUAL OR GREATER NET RETURNS.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield asked the Defense Department Monday to cancel its proposed testing of a nuclear missile over the North-western part of the country.

Mansfield and three other Northwest senators wrote Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger and charged that "benefits from such a test will not be commensurate with potential dangers to lives, properties, and international implications."

Mansfield, joined by Sens.

Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., asked Schlesinger to withdraw the $26.9 million budget request for the tests.

Under the plan, the Minuteman missiles would be launched from Malstrom AFB. Previous tests have been carried out at Vandenberg AFB in California. The four senators said it was unlikely the proposed tests would contribute anything that had not already been determined and added "our constituents have expressed grave concern with regard to lives and property."

They conceded that the danger would be relatively small but added "should something go wrong, however, the risks would be far more serious on one or more of our states. "A disaster of this nature would have severe repercussions for domestic attitudes toward the military."

The four senators said the test as a "show of strength" was questionable and added "should in the inland test fail, it would erode U.S. confidence in, and reduce Soviet respect, for the U.S. nuclear deterrent."

Budget figures, price increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal budget is up, but so is the price of buying it. The budget in detail, printed in paperback by the Government Printing Office and for sale to the public, ran 1,119 pages and cost $10.70 last year, postpaid. This year's 1,071-page detailed budget carries a $15.05 price.

Bikers give blood

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Blood flowed when the Hell's Angels and Wood Lane motorcycle gangs roared into town during the weekend.

More than six gallons worth, according to the tally at the blood bank, where the bikers left their own blood go at a pint each.

The Modified Motorcycle Association, which says it has 7,500 members, called the blood-giving rendezvous.

One of the cyclists, who would only identify himself as Dawg, said he was not giving blood solely to improve the public image of his clan. "I'm donating the blood for a good cause," declared the 23-year-old from Richmond, who was flying Hell's Angels "colors."

The 50 pints went into the account of the Modified Motorcycle Association, but members said other nonmembers in need could use it.

Tourists at the golden-domed state Capitol expected the worst Saturday when the riders lined up their chrome-studded "choppers" in front of the 106-year-old building.

But police were notified in advance by the association and provided an escort to the blood bank for the San Francisco bay area Hell's Angels and the Wheel Lords, who were from San Jose.

Ron Roloff, business manager of the association, said he hoped the blood donations would help change the "archaic stigma about motorcycle riders being rowdy."

Wooden expects rugged loop game with Ducks

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — UCLA and Oregon will decide the undisputed leader in the Pacific-8 basketball race Friday night, and Bruins coach John Wooden, quite literally, expects a rough time.

"Because of Oregon's style of play," he told the weekly news column in Southern California basketball writers, "they are perhaps the most physical team in our conference. They really like to give and strip for the loose balls."

"We can't let their style of play bother us, though. As long as we play our game, I think we'll be all right."

The No. 1 ranked Bruins host the Webfoots at Pauley Pavilion and then they are home against Oregon State Saturday night. UCLA and Oregon lead the Pac-8 standings with 5-0 records.

The Bruins ran their season mark to 16-1 during the weekend with a 65-54 victory over University of Southern California at Pauley.

After the USC game, Bruin All-America Bill Walton was limping.

"For the first time this season, Bill's knees bothered him after the game," Wooden disclosed. "He got bumped. But I think he'll be all right this weekend."

"I've never had to take him out of a game because of his knees."

USC coach Bob Boyd said 6-9 Junior Clint Chapman, the Trojan's starting center who has missed three games because of a strained knee ligament, will return to action Friday and Saturday nights. The Trojans exchange opponents with the Bruins on those nights.

Status quo is held in ratings

NEW YORK (UPI) — The status quo was maintained in the United Press International Board of Coaches' major college basketball ratings this week with UCLA keeping well ahead of the rest of the status-seekers.

The only change among the top five in the rating was North Carolina State's wrestling away from No. 1, a sign from UCLA and depriving the Bruins of their accustomed unanimous acclaim as No. 1.

However, the Bruins received a boost in the place balloting as the overwhelming No. 1 selection.

Alabama moved up a notch to replace Providence as No. 8, followed by Pittsburgh and Southern California.

Indiana was 11th with Providence, Louisville, Long Beach State and Texas El Paso following in order.

Kansas remained No. 16, while South Carolina dropped from 12th to 17th after defeating Niagara.

Creighton, with a 10-4 record, made its first appearance among the top 20 teams in the No. 10 spot, while Pennsylvania (15-1) also debuted in the ratings by tying Syracuse for 19th.

"I thought our game against UCLA was our best effort of the year," said the Trojan mentor. "We really have a tough assignment this weekend."

"We have to play well to beat our competition. We can't be even a little flat. We can't take our loss to UCLA too heavily. We have to play inspired basketball."

"If we win both our games this weekend, we'll be 6-2 and we'll be back as a contender in our league."

Walton accepts Sullivan award

Bill Walton is 1973 winner of Sullivan award as best athlete

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — UCLA's Bill Walton, college basketball's Player of the Year the past two seasons, was named Monday as recipient of the 1973 Sullivan Award as the nation's top amateur athlete.

At a news conference at Pauley Pavilion on the UCLA campus, the 6-11 Walton received the award from AAU President David Hivens of Miles City, Mont.

Walton edged 1972 Olympic 800-meter champion Dave Wottle, of Bowling Green by 46 points in the AAU voting. The La Mesa, Calif., athlete drew 228 first-place votes to 216 for Wottle.

"Walton, who has stayed strictly away from the news media in his senior season, showed up with UCLA Athletic Director J. D. Morgan and his coach, John Wooden."

"It's a great honor," Walton told a jammed packed news conference. "This is just not for me as an individual though. I'm not receiving it just for myself. We all understand the media tends to pick out individuals. I happen to be 6-11 and I'm one of the ones picked out."

Walton was asked if he was surprised by the honor and said, "I wasn't really thinking about it. I've been too busy with school and basketball."

"I didn't set out to win this award. But the AAU considered it appropriate to honor the team. I'd be in real trouble out on the court alone."

Walton, a free-thinker, showed up in a blue work shirt, blue jeans and wearing sandals and socks. After meeting with the media, he put on his backpack and rode away on his 10-speed bicycle.

Walton is the 44th recipient of the award named in honor of James E. Sullivan and presented annually since 1930 when golfer Bobby Jones was honored. It is emblematic of outstanding performance both on and off the field of competition.

He is only the second basketball player to win the prestigious award, which is done on voting by members of the AAU Board of Governors representing all of the 50 states and each of the AAU's 20 sports.

Wooden, who has directed

UCLA to nine NCAA championships in the past 10 years and seven consecutive national titles, said he was "immensely pleased" with Walton's selection.

"Bill is one of the most unpretentious people you'll ever find," he said.

Walton was the second UCLA athlete to receive the award. Rafer Johnson, who also played two years for Wooden, was the recipient in 1959 after his Olympic gold medal decathlon performance in Rome.

Walton received 1,902 points—five points for first place, three for second and one for third—to Wottle's 1,856.

Also receiving votes were: Track's Rodney Milburn, 1,120; Swimming's Melissa Belote, 761; Wrestling's Lloyd Kenest, 581; Swimming's Teresa Andersen, 460; Track's Jeff Bennett, 444; Diving's Phil Boggs, 388; Basketball's David Thompson, 379; Track's Patty Johnson, 338.

Northwest cars win at races

LOS ANGELES — Northwest cars frequently appearing at Fireway Raceway, where Boise dominated much of the top fuel dragster and funny car action this past weekend in the 14th annual winter nationals at Los Angeles.

Over 95,000 persons watched the racing. The racers took home $281,000 in prize money.

The top-fuel event was won by Gary Beck of Edmonton, Alberta, when he set a new record speed of 243.24 miles per hour in 5.94 seconds. In the final run—he defeated Jerry "The King" Ruth of Seattle, Wash.

The funny car action was won by Dale Emery of Columbus, Ohio, with a speed of 227 miles per hour in 6.53 seconds. In his last run he topped Frank Hall's "Green Elephant" as his engine exploded.

Twig Ziegler, Portland, Ore., just missed a new world's record for funny cars when he turned a speed of 232.55 miles an hour and an ET of 6.30 seconds. Ziegler went to the semi-finals during the final day's action.

In the pro stock event Bill Jenkins won in his '73 Vega with an ET of 8.93.

Jim Waldo, Idaho Falls, set a new super stock-E class national record in his '66 Ford with an ET of 10.97.

O.J. not surprised at winning Hickok

NEW YORK (UPI) — O. J. Simpson admitted he wasn't the least bit surprised at winning the 24th annual S. Rae Hickok "professional athlete of the year" award for 1973.

Asked by newsmen for whom he would have voted if he had been able to participate in the balloting, the Buffalo Bills star "rattling" back "chucked" and said in his rich baritone voice, "me!"

"It's not just a matter of cockiness," said Simpson, who this season smashed Jim Brown's single-season rushing record in the NFL by gaining 2,003 yards. "I felt I accomplished a lot this season and I've been looking over the accomplishments of other players and I felt I had done more."

Simpson, who received the $15,000 diamond-studded Hickok belt at a special awards luncheon, said the award held special meaning for him.

"I would look at the Hickok award in the same way as the Heisman trophy," said Simpson, who was the Heisman winner in the senior year at Southern California. "It signifies the best athlete of the year. I've always been aware of the Hickok award and knew that it meant. It's been around for many years and therefore carries more significance to me than many of these more recent awards that have been started."

The congenial Simpson talked to newsmen for nearly 20 minutes prior to the luncheon and discussed various subjects, in particular the hedging world football league.

"I sincerely hope that the league catches on, especially for the players' sake," said Simpson. "Of course, I have no intention of leaving since I've tied up with the Bills and am satisfied. But I tell any player who asks me, 'If your contract is about up, I would sign another one until I checked out, the other league. I'd hate to lose any of the guys on our team, but we're in this business to make money and they should be able to get the best offer they can. I hope the league makes it, even if it takes a Reggie McKenzie to go over.'"

McKenzie was one of the standard liars for the Bills this season, with whom Simpson credited much of his own success.

Simpson said he felt the future of the NFL would be decided the week of May 1.

"That's when the option clauses are over and the players can negotiate with the new league. I think there are enough football players to make another league work."

Simpson admitted he wasn't the least bit surprised at winning the 24th annual S. Rae Hickok "professional athlete of the year" award for 1973.

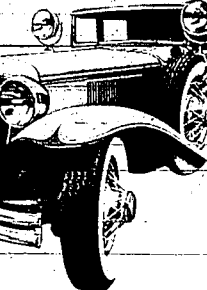

Asked by newsmen for whom he would have voted if he had been able to participate in the balloting, the Buffalo Bills star "rattling" back "chucked" and said in his rich baritone voice, "me!"

Jack Gotta is new WFL coach

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Jack Gotta, who coached the Ottawa Rough Riders to Canadian Football League Grey Cup titles in 1972 and 1973, Monday was named head coach and general manager of the Birmingham entry in the new World Football League.

"I'm young enough to accept a challenge," said Gotta, a 42-year-old Oregon State graduate who played pro ball nine years and coached nine years, all in the CFL.

Bill Putnam, who heads the Birmingham franchise, announced Gotta's appointment at a news conference.

Gotta, CFL coach of the year in both 1972 and 1973, declined to reveal terms of his contract but did say the contract was for more than one year and that he would receive more pay than he did with the Rough Riders.

"I think if you're ever going to make a move, you should make it when you can go on your own terms," Gotta said. "It's going to be a good move on my part."

He said he had turned down coaching offers from American colleges, National Football League teams and other WFL teams but took the Birmingham job because "this is going to be one of the strong franchises in the league."

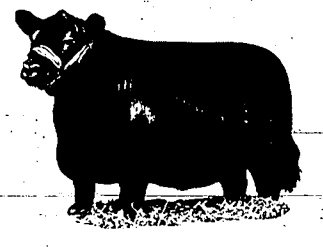

Gotta said he expected the franchise to flourish, citing good leadership at the top, good physical facility (70,000-seat Legion Field) and a population interested in football.

"Where you're going and who you're going to be with makes the difference," he said.

WFL plans to hold final 30 rounds

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The new World Football League will hold the remaining 30 rounds of its college draft at league headquarters here Tuesday.

The draft will be conducted by a conference telephone call beginning at 7 a.m. PDT. Six rounds were conducted Jan. 22.

The WFL's draft of current professional players will be held Feb. 18-19 at Chicago.

Henry Lee Parker, 48, former director of player personnel with the New Orleans Saints of the National Football League, has been named director of football operations of the WFL, league president Gary L. Davidson announced Monday.

For the past month, Parker has served as player personnel consultant for the WFL in preparing for its draft.

A native of Holy Springs, Miss., Parker's duties will include establishment of the WFL's centralized scouting system, hiring and evaluating of game officials and organization of the draft.

"His knowledge of the game and evaluation of personnel will be most important to us as we begin operations," Davidson said.

Parker was a scout with the Saints for two years and an assistant coach at Mississippi State University for 11 years prior to joining New Orleans.

Indiana coach thinks team may lack drive

DENVER (UPI) — Indiana coach Bob Leonard said Monday this may be the season his team doesn't come up with the needed stretch drive to claim a third straight American Basketball Association title. "I just don't think we are concentrating on basketball hard enough," said Leonard, whose team was second to Utah in the ABA western standings the past two seasons and then won the championship playoff series. "It has been this way the past three years but this year is probably the worst."

Right now, Indiana is sitting in third place in the ABA West, 7 1/2 games behind Utah and a half-game back of second-place San Antonio. Sunday night the Pacers won their first game since the All-Star break, a 111-102 decision over Denver, and Leonard was glad about that. "The way we have been playing, I'm just glad to win," he said. "Maybe we finally busted out against Denver. We haven't played too well lately."

Indiana as a solid veteran club. Only two of the Pacers have not played two complete years and six of the team members are in their fifth year or better. "We've had success and success has spoiled them a little bit," said Leonard. "If we're going to have a year where we aren't going to come out at the end this is going to be the year. If nothing else, the competition in the league is a lot tougher."

Not only is it tougher in the league, but it's tougher on the Pacer squad. Indiana has five guards averaging between 18 and 25.3 minutes a game. Sunday night at Denver two of those backcourt men—rookie Kevin Joyce and four-year veteran Bill Keller—didn't even play. "We've got five top guards and have to try to work them in somehow," said Leonard. "All of them are capable."

The Pacers tried to alleviate part of their backcourt stockpile by sending seven-year veteran Freddie Lewis to Denver for forward Willie Long, but Lewis has a no-trade clause in his contract and vetoed that. "The deal was made, but I have a clause in my contract that I have to agree to any trades," Lewis said. "My attorney talked to (Denver coach) Alex Hannum about the trade but they didn't seem that interested."

"They didn't want to give me a no-cut," added the former Arizona State star. "I have got one now and I'll be damned if I am going to play without one."

Girl files suit for basketball

CHICAGO (UPI) — A girl, described as a "great shot and playmaker," filed suit today in U.S. District Court seeking to play basketball on the varsity team at Chicago's Madier High School. Rachel Lavin, 17, a junior at the school on Chicago's northwest side, said she tried out for the team last October but was denied because she was a girl. "This is only one of many examples of young women being denied equal opportunities and being socialized into thinking themselves different and inferior, in many unreasonable ways, from men," Miss Lavin said. "Any contention of this sort must be tested anywhere at any place."

The class action suit challenges regulations of the Illinois High School Association, the Board of Education, the school's athletic director and principal, barring girls from competing with boys in athletic contests. Lawrence Schlam, the Chicago attorney who filed the suit for Rosemary Lavin, 16, a 5-foot-8, 115-pound junior who is "sturdy, very athletic and agile" and a "great shot and playmaker," she's got a great lay-up. Through her suit, Miss Lavin said, she hoped "to encourage other young women, as well as women of any age, to demand equal rights to fulfill themselves in any physical or mental way."

Irish slip by Michigan St.

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Freshman Bill Palermo pumped in a 19-foot jump shot with one second left in the game Monday night to give the underdog Notre Dame a 91-89 win over Michigan State. Notre Dame led by as many as nine points in the second half but lost the edge with 6:12 left when Terry Fuenwo scored after a missed free throw, to give the Spartans a 79-78 lead. Michigan State did not trail again until Palermo's final shot. "John Swamy led the Irish to their 33th win in 17 games with 27 points while Gary Brokaw scored 21. Michigan State, now 11-7 for the season, was led by Mike Robinson, who got 31."

Players vie for rebound

ATLANTA (UPI) — Hank Aaron, the Atlanta Braves outfielder who needs only one more major league home run to tie Babe Ruth's career record, will be 40 years old Tuesday. According to the Braves, Aaron's only public celebration will be at a party being held in his honor by students at local Douglass High School. Aaron, who finished last season with 713 career major league home runs, is expected to go to the Braves' Spring camp at West Palm Beach, Fla., on Feb. 24.

Notre Dame's Adrian Dantley (44) and Michigan State's Terry Furiow (25) try for the rebound during first half action Monday night in a game in East Lansing, Mich. Freshman Bill Palermo pumped in a 19-foot jump shot with one second left in the game to give the underdog Irish a 91-89 win over Michigan State. (UPI Telephoto)

Hank Aaron ponders next season as he celebrates 40th birthday

Now, 20 years later, Aaron holds 13 major league records, including most total bases (6,424) and most extra base hits (1,393). In addition to the two home runs he needs to eclipse Ruth's record, Aaron also needs 77 more runs batted in to move ahead of Ruth to the top of that list. Aaron will surpass Ty Cobb (3,033) in total major league appearances when he plays in his 70th game this year and needs only 144 at bats to move ahead of Cobb (11,429) to the No. 1 spot in that department.

ATLANTA (UPI) — Hank Aaron, the Atlanta Braves outfielder who needs only one more major league home run to tie Babe Ruth's career record, will be 40 years old Tuesday. According to the Braves, Aaron's only public celebration will be at a party being held in his honor by students at local Douglass High School. Aaron, who finished last season with 713 career major league home runs, is expected to go to the Braves' Spring camp at West Palm Beach, Fla., on Feb. 24.

Miller continues to lead PGA list

NEW YORK (UPI) — Johnny Miller continues to lead the PGA tour money-winners, with $94,054 won in the first five weeks of 1974, but the new face in the top 10 money-winners is an old one. Nicklaus, who often mistakes the golf for fun for his personal piggy bank, tired of watching Miller rake in all the profits and unexpectedly entered last week's Hawaiian Open.

Erving leads over Issel. NEW YORK (UPI) — Julius Erving of the New York Nets scored a total of 80 points in three games last week, increasing his lead to 85 of a point over Kentucky's Dan Issel in the American Basketball Association's individual scoring race. Official statistics released by the ABA show Erving with a 27.28 point-per-game average and Issel with a 27.27 average. Issel scored 72 points in three games last week.

Carolina St. trips Duke

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Second-ranked North Carolina State recovered from a sluggish start behind the united efforts of David Thompson, Tommy Burleson and Morris Rivers Monday night to roll past Duke 92-78 in an Atlantic Coast Conference game. Thompson finished with 23 points, Burleson had 19 before fouling out and Rivers had 18. Five-foot-7 guard Monte Towe added 12. For Duke, Edgar Burch had 20 points and Bob Fletscher 18. State, winning its 25th straight ACC game, is 7-0 in league action and has lost only once in 17 games, to UCLA. Duke is 1-5, 8-9.

Carolina St. trips Duke

The Wolfpack jumped to a quick 4-0 lead at the outset, but Duke came back to tie it at eight, then marched on to lead by as many as six points at 22-16. "I realize that everyone is thinking these days about my hitting my 714th and 715th home runs," Aaron said the other night at a dinner in his honor. "But I want much more than that. I want to close out my career with a season like I had last year."

Gophers topple Ohio State

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Dennis Shaffer, the Big Ten's leading scorer, hit to a 56-51 Big Ten basketball victory over Ohio State Monday night. The Gophers won their third straight for a 3-3 mark in the Big Ten, led for all but 45 seconds of the second half. The final margin of five points was the largest of rebounding with Freshman Larry Bolden with 5:07 remaining to give Ohio State its only lead of the second half at 45-41.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES Today's full moon finds you eager to get along better with other persons. You can help associates gain their wishes by giving them your support. However, after aiding them avoid expecting appreciation or a battle ensues.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you do favors for good friends, you gain goodwill and deeper relationships. Take part in some group affair. Don't be so timid.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) The planets are favorable now and you should go after your fondest aims. Civic involvement can be successful. Show more true devotion.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Forget regular routine and branch out into more lucrative and fascinating fields now. You can put those plans to work and get good results.

CANCER (June 22 to July 22) Handle those duties facing you in a most practical way and make plans for the future in a similar fashion. Surprise mate with a gift.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23) Use diplomacy if you want an associate to carry through with a plan you have in mind. Tone down on that temper of yours. Be wise.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Delve into those duties that will clear the slate and bring you benefits. Take health treatments and become a more active person.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) A good day to get together with persons you admire. You can gamble on something successfully now. Improve your surroundings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Home is best place to use your energies now. Make repairs to property and add to its value. A good friend has very good advice.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can be more efficient at regular duties now and derive more benefits. You can easily convince others to your way of thinking.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you use more up-to-date methods, you can improve monetary affairs very easily now. Consult business credits for data you need.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you concentrate on how-to-help-you-ally with their affairs, you can benefit greatly yourself. Attend group meeting tonight.

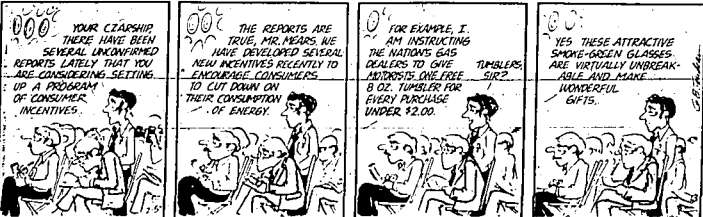

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) If you meet with experts and gain the best education you can afford. There is a real humanitarian in this chart, and one who will be of great help to the masses.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

He was a poet who didn't know it was William Whitwell. In his "Elementary Treatise on Mechanics," he simply meant it as noise when he wrote: "And so to force, however great, can stretch a cord, however fine, into a horizontal line which shall be absolutely straight!" It's the best known example in the English language of unconscious but perfect rhyme.

A dry martini with an olive is apt to inhibit your sense of smell, but a gin and tonic tends to enhance it.

Reports Henry J. Malinowski, "Everybody knows who the great Stan The Man 'Musical' is. But how many know the name Musical in Polish means 'He had to die'?"

LOVE AND WAR

"A woman without coquetry is as insipid as a rose without scent, champagne without sparkle, corned beef without mustard." Winthrop said that. And you may recall that our Love and War man concurs. Now a feminine customer asks, "How can a girl flirt with a man without inviting some insolent proposition?" Nothing to it, just look the old-boy straight in the eye and say, "Don't speak. You might break the spell!" Then smile old.

Q: "In a horse race, how much credit should go to the horse, how much to the jockey?"
A: Figure 80 per cent to the horse, 20 per cent to the rider. At least, that's the common notion among the track boys.

Darker the greens in the salad, the more vitamin A said salad contains. Remember that, if you drive much at night. Vitamin A helps your night vision.

LILI MARLENE

Was reported that the lyrics entitled "Lili Marlene" were written in 1917 by a German soldier named Hans Leip. Inspired by two of his Berlin girlfriends, one named Lili, the other Marlene. Please note, our spelling of the song title differs from the spelling of the name of the original Berlin girl. Why? Because the English copyists identified it with Marlene Dietrich, none other. So mightily was Miss Dietrich's influence, in fact, that the only popular versions of the song have been sung by women, even though the essence of the words demands it be sung by men.

Most popular-narr subject by far among physicians who go back to school after entering practice is psychiatry.

Almost but not quite 50 per cent of the women who wear girdles are dissatisfied with the way said girdles fit them. The undergarment makers came up with that fact. Can you use it?

MAJOR HOOPLE

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock prices opened in moderate trading Tuesday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 141 to 809 crag was lifted. Many analysts predicted a 3-to-2 margin.

The market appeared to be continuing a retreat that had gained momentum at the end of last week when there was a flurry of gloomy reports about the nation's economy.

The oil embargo, a major factor in the current bear market, was reaffirmed again when the Saudi Arabia oil minister said in Lebanon that the Arab nation has told President Nixon the embargo would be lifted. Nixon and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger have indicated in the past week that the embargo will be ended or eased within the next two months. The end of the Arab oil embargo has become a factor in the market, brokers said. The auto and steel industries already have been affected, as have some other businesses. The truckers are protesting higher fuel costs.

Cattle futures decline

CHICAGO—Live cattle futures closed with limit and near limit losses across the board Monday.

Prices opened lower across the board with weakness most apparent in the near months. Throughout the session prices traded in relatively narrow ranges with dropping noticeably in later session. Action was a little more commission house oriented with locals reportedly perplexed as to which direction the market is headed.

Heavy pressure applied by the trucking boycott overcame positive factors such as nearly 8,000 fewer slaughter steers than expected, steady to higher live cash prices and a 2 1/2-cent gain in the dressed beef market.

Gem spuds show gains

CHICAGO—Idaho russet potato futures scored limit gains Monday, closing at 13.63 per hundredweight on the May option.

Commodity News—Service reported trading was active as prices moved over a wide range during the day. Gains appeared technical in nature, the effect of the truck strike was unclear. Chicago wholesale market sources said fresh produce deliveries, including Burbank russets, were down about 50 percent.

Cash prices were steady with 4 ounce minimum Idaho russets selling for 12.00-12.50 per cwt.

Rogers Brothers' sales, income up

IDAHIO FALLS—Rogers Brothers Co. today reported net income of $77,500, or 81 cents per share, on net sales of $22.45 million, for the six months ended Dec. 31.

In the comparable period in 1973, the company reported net income of $20,900, or 34 cents per share, on sales of $11.7 million.

Net income for the three months ended Dec. 31, was $39,400, or 49 cents a share, compared with $17,000, or 20 cents per share, in the prior year second quarter. Sales for the period increased to $12.24 million from $5.82 million.

Robert B. MacLean, president, said that operating performance reflected the continuing strong demand for all Rogers' products.

"While costs of fresh potato supplies have advanced sharply, we have maintained our margins by having contracted for a relatively large portion of our needs at pre-season prices and have adjusted our selling prices consistent with current price control regulations."

Deal off

IDAHIO FALLS—Rogers Brothers Co. and Alexander & Baldwin, Inc. (OTC), Honolulu, Hawaii, today announced that the agreement in principle for the acquisition of Rogers by A & B has been terminated.

Rogers Brothers is a leading food processor and developer and producer of quality vegetable—seeds with production facilities in Idaho, Washington, California and North Dakota.

Silver

NEW YORK (UPI)—Handy and Hartman Monday said silver at 42.5 cents per fine ounce up 17.7 cents.

"Our price estimate of an increase in frozen french potato sales from $2.8 million in fiscal 1973 to about $10 million in fiscal 1974 still appears reasonable. Existing orders for our premium pen, bean and corn seed for shipment this spring, indicate another profit improvement in this sector of our business," MacLean said.

Rogers-Brothers Co. is a leading food processor and

Nixon asks $33 million for Gem projects

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon asked Congress Monday for more than $33 million for the construction of water-resources-development projects in Idaho.

Funds were allocated for continued construction of four major projects in the President's $204-billion budget for the 1975 fiscal year beginning July 1.

An $11,675,000 request for the Bureau of Reclamation provides for continuing work on the Teton Dam and other features of the Lower Teton Division of the Teton Basin Project. A total of $13,382,000 was earmarked for the project in the current fiscal year.

A total of $3,890,000 — up from $2,295,000 — was budgeted for the East Greenacres Unit of the Rathdrum Prairie Project, another bureau project.

The Corps of Engineers was allocated $10 million to continue work on the $302 million Dworshak Dam and $7.4 million for the Ririe Lake Project. Both are nearing completion.

Minor construction proposed by the Bureau of Reclamation includes $20,000 for basic health and safety facilities at the Cascade Reservoir in the Payette Division of the Boise Project, $30,000 for similar work at the Mann Creek Reservoir.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs also was allocated $222,000 for work on the Michaud Irrigation Project on the Fort Hall Indian Reservation.

In addition to construction funds, the budget includes more than $2 million for the study of proposed projects.

Funds allocated for studies by the Army engineers include: Big Wood River and tributaries flood control, $65,000; Boise metropolitan region and Upper Snake River and tributaries flood control (including Wyoming), $300,000; Columbia River and tributaries (including four other states), $570,000; Metropolitan Spokane and Spokane River tributaries (including Washington), $375,000; and the Pacific Northwest River Basin Study (including Montana, Oregon and Idaho), $208,000.

Funds allocated for studies by the Bureau of Reclamation include $25,000 for the proposed North Side pumping division extension of the Minidoka Project and $100,000 for the Southwest Idaho water management study. Allocations shared with other states include $150,000 for the Upper Snake River management study and $200,000 for Pacific Northwest regional planning.

ROCKY MCCLYMONDS
... bureau editor

McClymonds appointed

Twin Falls High School junior, Rocky McClymonds will serve as Press Bureau editor for the Brain News, with editor Scott Smith taking over the job of editor for the paper.

The change occurred when former editor, Liz Nutting, graduated at the semester.

John Larradon will continue his work as radio program director for the Journalism department.

Nixon cuts 'special' fund

(c) Washington Star-News WASHINGTON — The $1.5 million White House "special projects" fund, once used to pay E. Howard Hunt for his work as a presidential consultant, has been abolished by President Nixon.

In his budget request to Congress, the President sought to "special projects" money, marking the first time since the fund was established almost two decades ago that the White House had not sought an annual appropriation of $1.5 million or more.

At the same time, however, Nixon asked Congress to increase his principal operating fund, identified in the budget as "the White House office," from $11.2 million during the current fiscal year to $16.5 million in fiscal 1975.

That 47 per cent increase is attributable, in part, to higher salary levels and inflationary costs. But there is a 10-fold increase, accounting for more than $3.3 million, in proposed White House expenditures on what is described only as "rent, communications and utilities."

According to the budget figures, the White House spent $331,000 on those costs in fiscal 1973, plans to spend $335,000 during the current fiscal year — and is seeking $3,680,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1.
