Syria, Israel clash in Golan

By United Press International
Syria and Israel clashed again in several areas along the Golan Heights front today and Syrian military spokesmen accused Israeli gunners of shelling three inhabited Syrian villages.
The spokesmen in Damascus said Israeli and Syrian forces exchanged artillery fire in the northern and central sectors of the Golan Heights. He said the exchange started at 9:15 a.m. in the northern sector, and later spread to the central sector. Fighting continued into the afternoon, the Syrian communique said.

Jackson takes grim view

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., had some grim news for American motorists and truckers over the weekend.
Jackson said he feared nothing "short of a miracle" could prevent the government from rationing gasoline, and that he doubted striking truckers would receive the rollback in diesel fuel prices they are seeking. The rollback would be blocked by the "cartel price" set by Arab nations, Jackson said.

Agnew counsel asks suspension

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Attorneys for Spiro T. Agnew urged Maryland's highest court today to suspend the former vice president as a lawyer rather than "dishonor" him recommended last month by a special three-judge panel.
The three-judge panel, named by the Maryland Court of Appeals to hear a request by the state bar association for disciplinary action against Agnew, recommended that Agnew be expelled from the law profession for his no contest plea Oct. 10 to an income tax evasion charge.

N. Viets lose 119 in battle

SAIGON (UPI) — Government troops, backed by tanks and warplanes, killed 119 North Vietnamese troops in a four-day battle around a besieged government base in the Central Highlands, the Saigon military command said today.

Philippines take over

SAIGON (UPI) — Troops from the Philippines have taken control of two more Spratly Islands, threatening a showdown with South Vietnam and Nationalist China over jurisdiction of the island group, Vietnamese navy sources said Monday.
Vietnam has landed troops on six of the 15 major islands and Taiwan garrisons another. The Philippines now control five.

Judge upholds strike ban

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A circuit court judge refused today to quash an injunction against the eight-day old strike by city public school teachers and said instead he would sign an order extending the injunction for another 60 days.
Judge James W. Murphy, who signed the original injunction against the walkout last Monday, repeated his belief that the strike against the nation's eighth largest school system is illegal.

Protests disrupt Pope's talk

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Catholic youths protesting dismissal of exiled Cardinal Josef Mindszenty disrupted Pope Paul VI's traditional address in St. Peter's Square Sunday.
Vatican security men detained two youths who attempted to distribute leaflets protesting the action last week. The Pope later said concern for leaderless Hungarian Catholics prompted the action.

TF hospital bond election Tuesday

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — County voters go to the polls Tuesday to decide the fate of the $4.6 million Magic Valley Memorial Hospital bond.
The bond proposes a major expansion and remodeling of the hospital. Briefly, the construction plans call for:
— Expanded emergency room service.
— Organized and centralized outpatient department.

— Expanded and relocated surgery department.
— Expanded radiology and pathology departments.
— Addition of 25 to 30 beds.
— Expansion and modernization of laundry, kitchen, boilerroom, storage and shop facilities.
— Relocation and expansion of administrative offices.
— Renovation of lobby and main entrance.
Additions will be made to the north side and the administrative wing, with a newly-excavated area for a basement addition.

The polls will be open from noon until 8 p.m., according to Harold Lancaster, county clerk.
Any person who is 18 years of age or older, a county resident and citizen of the USA is eligible to vote. Registration is not required; but voters must sign an elector's oath. Neither property ownership nor a minimum time of county residency is required to vote. Lancaster said he would prefer that everyone who proposes to vote would go to his own polling place. It would make a much smoother election.

However, voters may cast their ballot at any precinct's polling place in the county.
Absentee balloting will continue until 5 p.m. today in the county clerk's office at the courthouse for those who will be out of the county.

Canal proposal vote ends today

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — With polls closing at 5 p.m. today, about 33 per cent of Twin Falls Canal Co. stockholders had not voted by this morning on a hotly contested water conveyance plan.
Since mid-January stockholders have been casting ballots on the proposal for the Twin Falls Canal Co. to convey off-season Milner Dam spillway water to two huge private reclamation projects west of Salmon Falls Creek Canyon.
By 8:30 a.m. today about 2,000 out of about 3,000 canal company stockholders had voted on the proposal, according to manager Al Peters. Peters said at least 100 ballots have been recast since the votes first started coming in Jan. 18. He said he has "no sense" of which way the election will go.

The two irrigation companies plan to irrigate about 47 square miles of desert sagebrush and cheat grass land directly west of Buhl and the Salmon Falls Creek Canyon.
Canyon View would take 400 cubic feet per second of water from the end of the Twin Falls Canal Co. Highline Canal. From this point the water would be carried through about seven miles of canal and through a seven foot wide pipe running under Salmon Falls Creek Canyon to Blue Gulch Reservoir.
Conveyance of this water for 85 days would fill the 66,000 acre feet reservoir. In spring the stored water would irrigate about 20,000 acres of Canyon View project lands.
To take effect, the water conveyance plan needs a two-thirds majority support vote.

Stockholders may cast or recast ballots at the Twin Falls Canal Co. office, 163 Second Avenue West, Twin Falls, until 5 p.m. today.
For the delivery of the water, the Canyon View and Tuana Mutual Irrigation company would pay 20 per cent of the Twin Falls Canal Co. annual cost of delivering an acre-foot of water to its own stockholders. Based on last year's costs, the project's payments would have amounted to $18,000.
The Twin Falls Canal Co. board of directors unanimously endorsed the plan before sending it to the company's stockholders for a vote. A newly elected board member, however, opposes the proposal.

Safety crews, striking British miners battle

LONDON (UPI) — Striking mineworkers clashed today with safety crews in the second consecutive day of violence in Britain's coal strike, and Prime Minister Edward Heath charged that the Labor Party had moved too far left.
"The whole axis of the Labor Party has swung to the left wing," Heath said at the first of a scheduled series of daily news conferences leading up to the Feb. 28 elections. Heath called the snap election last week to seek a mandate from Britons to deal with the strikers.

Former Prime Minister Harold Wilson, the Labor leader, and Liberal leader Jeremy Thorpe also scheduled daily press conferences.
Wilson denied the charges of leftist infiltration in his party, saying "I haven't found any Reds under my bed." He accused Heath of "disastrous and divisive" tactics in calling the election at this time.
Mine pickets today fanned out to blockade power stations, coal stockpiles and steel plants to tighten their grip on British industry.

Rodino claims wide powers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The man in charge of the House impeachment inquiry says his committee has authority to seek information from the "secret recesses of the presidency" and if necessary to summon President Nixon himself to testify.

Chairman Peter Rodino of the House Judiciary Committee, which is conducting the impeachment probe, claimed powers beyond what the White House and even Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski so far have conceded.

Unity appeal issued

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger opened a conference of 13 industrialized nations today by warning that the Arab oil embargo could cause "a collapse of world order."

Kissinger appealed for unity of action in the face of the Arab embargo. In a barely veiled attack on go-it-alone views of France and Japan, he said, "These global dilemmas cannot be avoided through exclusive bilateral arrangements."
Even before the meeting began, France opposed the U.S. call for a "code of conduct" to prevent the Arab states from playing off oil-consuming nations, against each other.
Some nations—far more dependent on Arab oil than the United States—also urged a go-slow policy toward any action likely to antagonize the Arab states.
Japan's foreign minister, Masayoshi Ohiri, expressed sympathy with the Arab "flood of insecurity" arising out of fear of the eventual depletion of their sole resource—oil.
The conference was conducted at the State Department—behind closed doors—with the foreign ministers of Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, West Germany, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Britain and the United States attending.

Kissinger, speaking first as chairman, said failure to resolve the world's energy problems "would threaten the world with a vicious cycle of competition, autarky, rivalry and depression such as led to the collapse of world order in the '30s."

Autarky is defined as a national policy of economic independence and isolation from trade.
Kissinger presented a U.S. program, based on American willingness to make "a major contribution in effort, in science, technology and in resources, to a common solution to the energy problem."

The program called for cooperation in these areas: conservation, developing alternative energy sources, research, emergency sharing of energy sources, international financial cooperation to solve balance of payment problems, aid to less developed nations and an "ultimate goal" of cooperation between oil-producing and oil-consuming countries.

Kissinger said producer and consumer groups on a long-term, fair-price for both nations should agree at a new conference. But he said this could happen only "if the consumers have first constructed a solid basis of cooperation among themselves."

Kissinger and William E. Simon, U.S. energy chief, offered to share American oil with other countries in times of emergency.

"The United States declares its willingness to share available energy in times of emergency or prolonged shortages," Kissinger said. "We would be prepared to allocate an agreed portion of our total petroleum supply provided other consuming countries with indigenous production do likewise."

Rebel barrage kills 30 in Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian guerrillas fired 39 rounds from captured American-made 160mm artillery into Phnom Penh during the six-day today, hitting a residential section jammed with refugees, a crowded market and apartment houses.

At least 30 people were killed and 80 others wounded in various parts of the sprawling city.

Another shell exploded near the U.S. embassy but caused no casualties.

The shells started fires, which quickly consumed scores of fragile wooden stores thrown together by the refugees.

The host of the Press International reporter-photos grapher Uon Sing Sphy also burned down in the attacks but his wife and child were away at the time and escaped injury.

Hundreds of people fleeing the rockets and the flames crowded into the streets, preventing the fire trucks from reaching the blazing dwellings. Rescue workers combed the ruins as soon as they could get in. Twenty bodies were carried from the Phsar Doum Kar market on Liberty Street, formerly Mao Tse-tung Road. Cambodian Boy Scouts carried the dead men, women and children on dirty, bloodstained stretchers to a waiting Red Cross truck where they were dumped unceremoniously one atop the other.

An apartment house across the street, six bodies were carried out, including that of a young girl.

Government forces almost immediately began massive retaliatory shelling.

US newsmen freed

MOSCOW (UPI) — Police today detained two American newsmen covering a street demonstration, accused them of taking part in a "provocation" and confiscated film they took of the incident.

The newsmen, Ray Moseley and Christopher Ogden of United International, were released after three hours and 35 minutes during which they were denied permission to telephone the American consulate.

They protested the seizure of their film cameras. The demonstration outside the headquarters of the Communist Party Central Committee involved about 17 Russians of German origin protesting the refusal of authorities to let them emigrate to West Germany.

Quake jars Los Angeles

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — A mild earthquake rumbled through Pasadena and other nearby cities early today but apparently caused no damage.

The tremor, which registered 3.5 on the Richter scale, struck at 5:21 a.m. P.D.T. and was felt in Glendale, Burbank, Sherman Oaks and other cities near Los Angeles and in the San Fernando Valley.

Border battle kills 41

TEHRAN (UPI) — Iranian soldiers killed 41 of the 41 wounded, raising the total number of known casualties on both sides to 145 in Sunday's artillery, mortar and infantry battle with Iraq.

Iraq had earlier reported 23 men killed or wounded in the border clash, the most serious of a series of skirmishes between the two Moslem oil nations.

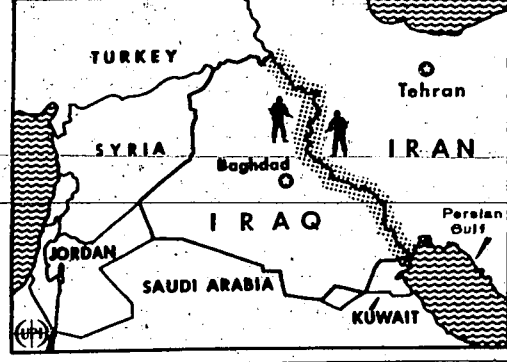

An Iranian general staff spokesman said the fighting began in the afternoon when Iraqi tanks and infantry with heavy artillery support, attacked the Mehran border outpost, about 100 miles east of Baghdad, and Reza Abad village nearby.

"Iranian defense repulsed these attacks and forced the aggressors back to Iraqi territory," the spokesman said, adding that Iraq left behind 14 killed, several wounded and arms and ammunition.

The general staff spokesman said repeated Iraqi forces tried to cross the border in the past few months had "created problems for border inhabitants."

The battle in the Mehran region was the second there in as many weeks. Iran accused Iraqi troops of opening fire there Feb. 3 and 4, killing one of its soldiers and wounding several.

Following the previous clashes, the Foreign Ministry filed a protest with Iraq against what it called Iraqi aggression and warned that the consequences of continued action would be severe. The two countries resumed diplomatic relations after an earlier round of border fighting only last October.

Public views asked on study

TWIN FALLS — Another important step in efforts to conserve and develop the Oregon Trail's priceless combination of historic and recreational resources will be taken in Twin Falls Tuesday evening, Feb. 26.

O. A. (Gus) Kelker, member of the Oregon Trail review board for a study being made under guidance of the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, said a public information session would be held at 7:30 p.m. on that date in the Idaho Power Co. auditorium.

Any citizen interested in preserving portions of the trail is urged to attend. The study was made and is being continued, under provisions of the National Trails System Act of 1968 and is designed to determine the suitability of including the portion of the Oregon trail in the National Trails System.

The meeting in Twin Falls is one of 10 being held in Oregon and Idaho for the purpose of seeking public comment on the study and on efforts to preserve portions of the route which passed through this area.

A public information brochure is available, free of charge, at several locations including the Twin Falls Public Library, the Cassia County Historical Society at Burley, the Three Island Crossing State Park at Glens Ferry and also the Idaho State Historical Society Museum at Boise. In addition to the meeting at Twin Falls Feb. 26, additional area sessions will include one at the historical society building in Burley Feb. 27 at 7:30 p.m., and the headquarters building at the Three Island Park in Glens Ferry March 1 at 2 p.m.

Kelker said the Oregon Trail stretched 2,000 miles from Independence, Mo., to Oregon's Willamette Valley. It was critically important to the history of the American West. During the development of the frontier more than 250,000 pioneers migrated west along its route. Today the Oregon Trail provides a multitude of opportunities for historic and recreational activities and outdoor recreation.

The Idaho study is being shared by the Idaho State Historical Society, the Idaho Department of Parks and the Idaho Department of Highways. Federal agencies participating include the Bureau of Land Management, the Bureau of Indian Affairs, the National Park Service, the US Forest Service and the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

A communication from Maurice H. Lacey, director of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation's Northwest Regional Office at Seattle, said the main purpose of the meeting is to inform the public of the progress made to date on the study and to get local reaction and suggestions.

In each instance a slide presentation will be presented illustrating the study approach and the Oregon Trail possibilities and potentials, and the brochure will be examined.

In the Burley, Twin Falls and Glens Ferry sections, according to Kelker, segments of the route are still visible. It is hoped that these and other portions can be preserved and made a part of the national trails system. He said all meetings will be informal. Although the brochures will be available the evening of the meeting, he urged interested citizens to secure an advance copy at the locations listed so that prior study will permit their suggestions to be recorded at the session.

This is a real opportunity to have segments of the Oregon Trail preserved, Kelker said. "As a portion of the National Trails Act it will assure future generations of Americans to view and even travel over the trail which opened the West."

Painting donated

HELPING fellow high school students who wish to attend Girls' State this year is Vicki Curt, Twin Falls artist. She has donated this painting to the American Legion Auxiliary to help with Girls' State expenses. Admiring the painting are Betty Dameron, fund chairman, and Marjorie Hoops, auxiliary president, right.

Girls' State outlined

TWIN FALLS — Girls interested in competing for Girls' State sessions from Twin Falls will meet Feb. 24 at 1:30 p.m. at the Immanuel Lutheran Church.

The competition is open to the public, Orriette Sinclair, Girls' State chairman, said.

She is assisted in the project by Laverne Koutnik and Marjorie Ashenbrenner. From all Idaho, 278 delegates will be selected from 126 high schools. They will meet at the College of Idaho June 9-15 for a training session on "government in action" sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. Nominations, selected by the Twin Falls High School faculty and all members of the Junior class include Shawna Alford, Beth Arnold, Sharon Blandford, Jan Caspersen, Shelley Charlson, Kathy Coleman, Kathy Doerr, Karra Florence, Suzanne Guthrie, Pam Nielsen, Melva Nussbaum and Sally Soran.

Community organizations including the Kiwanis Club, Rotary Club, Business and Professional Women, Sorority, and Twentieth Century Clubs, will assist in financing the delegates.

Another project to assist delegates with Girls' State expenses will be the donation of an oil painting by Vicki Curt, Twin Falls High School student. Marjorie Hoops, American Legion Auxiliary president, said the painting will be given away prior to the June event. Betty Dameron is chairman of the fund raising event.

Deadline nears on reapportionment

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Legislature returned to work today with only two days left in which to reapportion the state under a court order.

A senate-passed reapportionment bill is in the House State Affairs Committee, and another measure is awaiting final action in the senate.

The real interest, however, is expected to concentrate on a memorial that asks for more time from the courts. An effort to run the memorial through the senate Friday afternoon under speed-up procedures failed, however.

The measure is still on the senate calendar.

The courts have given the legislature 30 days to reapportion the state along one-man, one-vote lines, and are threatening to do the job themselves if the lawmakers can't.

The senate has passed one version of a reapportion bill, and the house has approved another version. Agreement seems far off, especially with the deadline only two working days away.

In other legislative business today, the house will get a final crack at four more government reorganization bills. They include measures to establish departments of health and welfare, transportation, lands and employment. A fifth proposal, establishing a department of finance, will be up for final house consideration Tuesday.

Aside from reapportionment, the senate has a chance today to approve a house-passed measure creating a disaster relief fund for the victims of the worst floods in the history of Northern Idaho. The bill also sets up a committee to oversee the fund.

New location

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation has moved from 556 Blue Lakes N. in the Lynwood Shopping Center to 1061 Blue Lakes Blvd. N., according to Robert W. Evans, Butte, Mont., special agent in charge.

TF police probe weekend thefts

TWIN FALLS — Several burglaries were reported to Twin Falls City police over the weekend.

Capt. Tim Qualls, chief of detectives, said a color television set was taken from the Holiday Inn, according to a report from the management. Valued at $450, it was reported missing at 12:25 a.m. Sunday. Officers said it disappeared from a hotel room which may have been left unlocked.

Officials of Meadow Gold Dairy reported a truck was forced open and the ice cream compartment entered but it was not known if any of the contents were taken.

Karen Harshman, Twin Falls, told officers someone broke into her automobile while it was parked at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and removed a box of stereo tapes. The loss was estimated at $100.

Officers were investigating a break-in at the Trailhound restaurant building near the Union Bus Depot. Officers said someone had removed a small box containing some silver dollars and change amounting to about $7.

Voters' bus slated Tuesday

TWIN FALLS — Do you have some last minute questions about the hospital bond issue or need a ride to vote?

A voters' bus will make two circuits Tuesday afternoon, to carry voters to the Twin Falls Court House for balloting. Beginning at about 2:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m., the bus will depart from Sixth Street South and Second Avenue South to Blue Lakes boulevard, then east on Addison Avenue around the residential area between Washington and Piler.

The bus will return to Addison and go west to residential areas north of the hospital. It will return via Addison and Main to Shoshone, stopping at the courthouse. The circuit will be continued by following Sixth Avenue East to Fifth Street and back to the starting point where the entire route will begin again.

Those voters who need assistance with transportation can call the United Fund telephone number, 733-4922 all day Tuesday.

Also the following people in outlying areas will help secure rides to and from the polls for anyone needing them:

West Side: West Side Senior Citizens, until 5:00 p.m., 543-4577, and after 5:00 p.m. Rex Gainsforth, 543-6288; Joyce Harding, 326-4893 or 326-4568; and Mabel Barron, 326-5148.

East Side: Dolores Brawley, 423-5180.

If you do have some last minute question, about the bond issue or the hospital, the following members of the Hospital Board or hospital administration are available for calls.

Myra born too soon

WASHINGTON — Alas for Myra Bradwell! She was born too soon.
One of these days, when the U. S. Supreme Court completes its judicial ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, perhaps the women's libbers will revive her name and pay her posthumous honors.

These reflections are prompted by the court's action the other day in cases involving three pregnant school teachers, two of them in Cleveland, the third in Chesterfield County, Va. All three had been suspended from their jobs under school board regulations. With Justice Rehnquist and Chief Justice Burger dissenting, the court ruled the suspensions unconstitutional and laid down new guidelines.

It was a notable victory for women's liberation. The majority opinion, written by Justice Stewart, further buttressed a judicial structure that has been under construction since November, 1971, when the court nullified an Idaho statute which said this "males must be preferred to females" in certain probate cases.
Subsequently, the court has held that single women in Massachusetts are entitled to obtain contraceptives; that Louisiana and Texas cannot discriminate against illegitimate children; that the U. S. Army must treat women officers like men; and that the Pittsburgh Press cannot classify help-wanted ads by sexual preference.

Whether the court sails under the flag of Equal Protection or Due Process, or Privileges and Immunities, the course is clear: The court itself, sub silentio, is ratifying the pending Equal Rights Amendment.

One supposes that Myra Bradwell would be pleased. All that I know of this pioneer libber is that she was born in Vermont, moved to Chicago, got a legal education, married, and in 1872 applied for a license to practice law. The Illinois Supreme Court flatly turned her down, and on April 12, 1873, the U. S. Supreme Court voted 5-4 to affirm.

Justice Samuel F. Miller spoke for the court, saying that if a state wants to prohibit women from practicing law, nothing in the fourteenth Amendment stands in the way. Justice Joseph P. Bradley added a concurring opinion in which he rang all the bells of male chauvinism: "The civil law," said Bradley, "as well as nature herself, has always recognized a wide difference in the respective spheres and destinies of man and woman. Man is, or should be, woman's protector and defender. The natural and proper timidity and delicacy which belongs to the female sex evidently unfits it for many of the occupations of civil life."
It is reassuring to the concept of family, Bradley went on to say, for a woman to adopt "a distinct and independent career from that of her husband." To be sure, many women are unmarried, but they are exceptions to the general rule: "The paramount destiny and mission of woman are to fulfill the noble and benign offices of wife and mother. This is the law of the Creator."
Now, this is our thought for today: Not one comma of the Fourteenth Amendment has been changed since the day when this Illinois Puritan judge said so. Only the judges have changed. It is a fair assumption that the eight justices who concurred in Bradwell v. Illinois in 1873 had a clear understanding of what the Fourteenth was intended to accomplish.
Well, Justice Bradley is dead, but Justice Stewart lives. The Constitution is what the judges say it is. It doesn't greatly matter, in any event, in that expanding citadel of jurisprudence which ought to be known to memorialists hereafter as the Myra Bradwell School of the Law.

Simon's road rougher

WASHINGTON — A sure sign the honeymoon is over for federal energy czar William Simon came when Ronald Ziegler, President Nixon's press secretary, telephoned Simon's office sizzling with anger.

Ziegler demanded a transcript of the press conference held by John Sawhill, deputy administrator of the Federal Energy Office (FEO), warning that the country cannot "break the back of the energy crisis" this year — contradicting Nixon's State of the Union "hyperbole" two days earlier.

There are other signs the bloom is off Simon's rose: flagging morale at FEO reflected by the departure of two key aides; Simon's power struggle against both the White House and the Office of Management and Budget; and — most important — those long lines of angry motorists at gasoline stations.
Although no one claims anybody else could have done as well as Simon, it is now clear he is only human — a czar, perhaps, but certainly no wizard. He is entangled in Byzantine mysteries of the oil industry and palace politics of the Nixon White House.

Actually, Simon's biggest problem is more substantive than political. He and his staff are baffled about how to shift gasoline supplies from pipes of the South and Great Plains to the big cities, where long lines at service stations make for short tempers. Although Simon once vowed such lines would bring coupon rationing, that is now unlikely, thanks to gas riots, anti-rationing sentiment.

The one easy corrective — switch refineries to more gasoline and less fuel oil — has been made. But even Simon's allies on Capitol Hill think he is being too cautious about possible cold weather and should have moved sooner, since the lead time for the switch is around one month.

That sense of futility contributes to the declining esprit de corps at FEO which was so high Dec. 4 when Simon replaced former Gov. John Love of Colorado. His aides have soured on seven-day weeks, 7 a.m. staff meetings and endless night-time conferences.

Since they now question whether all this work is accomplishing much, middle-level officials are starting to quit. So are some top officials, including assistant administrator John Hill, who has returned to OMB. Frank Zarb, head of FEO's allocations office, has returned to OMB as originally scheduled, but bureaucrats feel he would have stayed had all gone well.

EVANS & NOVAK

Although Simon has been resourcelled in whipping bureaucratic rivals, energy policy remains a three-cornered struggle between him, OMB and the White House.

Private grumbling at the White House about Simon is faintly reminiscent of complaints there in late 1972 that Pete Peterson was too big for his britches. Noting the comic strip "Doomsday" satirizing Simon as a despotist czar in the Russian imperial tradition, one presidential aide noted: "Whoever draws that must know Bill Simon."

But Simon still has bipartisan Congressional supporters who fear any alternative would be much worse. Moreover, the days of the Haldeman-Ehrlichman palace guard, when any outsider was susceptible to sudden decapitation, ended with Watergate.

Canyon View tells stand

Editor, Times-News:
The facts concerning the Canyon View proposal are quite clear. They were expressed objectively in the Times-News editorial Friday and by L. C. Van Ausdine in his letter to the editor Feb. 5.

I sincerely believe this proposed development to be in the best interest of Twin Falls Canal Co. and the Magic Valley.
The board of directors of the Twin Falls Canal Co. ought to be commended for the hard line they have held in protecting the interests of their stockholders.

Canyon View has water rights applied for to cover the entire requirements of their project. Our research shows that adequate water can be delivered under the proposed conveyance agreement without damage to in-season flows or any existing water rights.

Having a reservoir in the right location is the unique feature which makes this project feasible and sets it apart from all others.
We wish to thank the Twin Falls Canal Co. stockholders and the board of directors for the consideration extended to Canyon View. Our position is one of asking for your consideration in this project. Your position is that you can either accept or reject our proposal.

If our proposal is rejected we take no offense although we will be truly disappointed. In this event we trust that you will not be offended if we make an alternate proposal at some future date.
If our proposal is accepted we propose to show our gratitude by dealing fairly with those individuals whose property we must cross and in every other possible way.

We invite all stockholders to take pride with us in the development of this project and its recreational facilities for the benefit of all.

EMERY L. WISER
President, and the Board of Directors of the Canyon View Irrigation Co.

Russians push for own goals

(C) Chicago Daily News
PARIS — The Russians now good reasons for quietly helping American peacekeeping efforts in the Mideast, Western officials here point out.

Soviet influence on prodding Syria to the conference table was one the topics President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger had in mind when they discussed the Mideast, with Andrei Gromyko, the Russian foreign minister in Washington.

On a strict dollars-and-cents basis, Moscow expects to be paid by Egypt for the billions of rubles of Soviet aid that it up in the October war and now fully repaid.

If Arab-Israeli peace is strengthened, the Russians can hope for a flow of Persian Gulf oil dollars to Cairo where some of the money would be diverted to pay Russian arms bills.
Tough luck for Western Europe, because the higher-cost Arab oil will be helping to finance Soviet weapons development long before new arms orders from the gulf nations benefit British and French factories.

Reopening of the Suez Canal as a result of the Israel-Egypt pullback is another bonus for Moscow. The new all-ocean Soviet navy will be able to move easily from European waters to Asia.

This worries China, which has nightmares of a Soviet attack in the next few years before Peking's long-range nuclear missiles are ready, according to some European analysts.

Getting the canal open will help Western Europe most directly, however, cutting delivery costs on oil and other commodities from East of Suez.

Public needs open meetings

The American system of representative democracy requires that the people know what is happening at all levels of government. Among other things, this means citizens have a right to observe at first hand the process of reaching public decisions.

Too often citizens find they are unable to observe the debate or negotiation leading to public decisions. One of the major areas of difficulty involves meetings closed to the public; usually called "executive sessions."

Idaho has a toothless law requiring all meetings of local governmental units be open to the public. However, the law also provides for unrestricted "executive sessions." There is no limit on the number or place of such meetings or definition of subjects suitable for consideration at them. The law fortunately does require final actions be taken in public, not during executive session.

It is possible for a group of officials to conduct most of its business in private, emerging into the public only to record final votes.

The reasons some governmental units meet in private is understandable enough.

For one thing a private process tends to be more efficient than a public one. "Red tape" can often be cut to smooth the flow of business.

A public official may be more willing to admit error, or change his mind, or ask what may appear to be a foolish question in private than in public.

Moreover, many cases involve correcting errors or disciplining employees, a touchy business when handled in public.

The danger is that public agencies enter executive sessions when there is no reason to do so. Convenience then takes precedence over the public's right to know.

A bill before the Idaho Legislature would correct some deficiencies of the existing open meeting law. The bill would place some, but not enough, limits on the use of executive sessions.

The bill would require public notice of time and place of regular and special meetings.

I would require minutes be taken of all meetings with votes of individual members recorded by name.

To put teeth into the law, the bill would void any nonconforming action taken by a public body, and provide fines for offending officials.

The bill is better than the one now on the books and should be approved.

Principle upheld

Portland Oregonian

The U. S. Supreme Court has reaffirmed a long-standing principle of the law in declaring unconstitutional the barring of a political party from the ballot for refusal to sign an oath renouncing violent overthrow of the government.

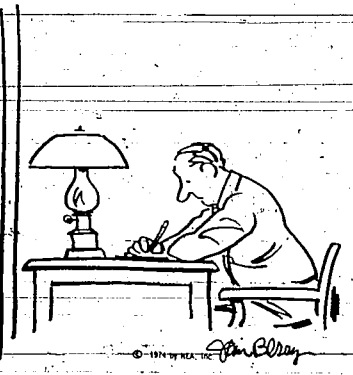

The high court has long made a distinction between a belief in the right to overthrow the government under certain circumstances, on the one hand, and actual action toward such overthrow, on the other.

There have been decisions on that point with respect to oaths to obtain public employment, to practice law and in other contexts.

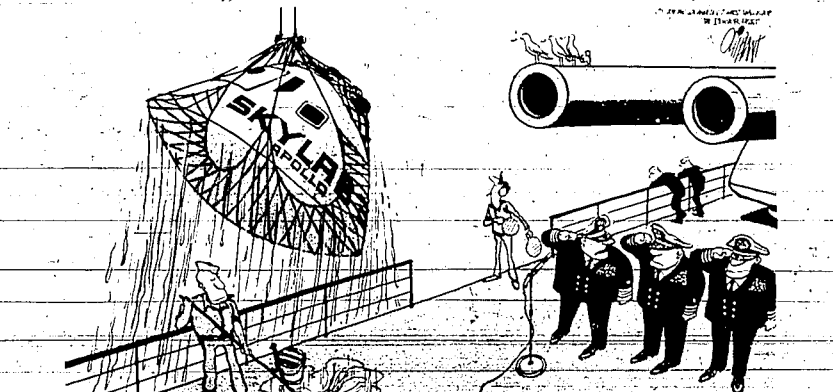

In declaring that the First Amendment (freedom of speech) and the 14th Amendment (equal protection under the law) such-loyalty oaths, Justice William Brennan quoted from a decision by an earlier court: "... the mere abstract teaching of the moral propriety or even moral necessity for a resort to force and violence is not the same as preparing a group for violent action and stealing it to such action."

Therefore, those who may think that the unanimous decision of the court gives comfort to those who would, indeed, prohibit the government by force and violence should disabuse themselves of that idea. The decision says that the idea is protected, but it does not grant protection to the sort of acts that were fashionable a few years ago in pursuit of the idea.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I set my thermostat low to conserve gas. Now, they say, because of reduced usage the price of gas has to be raised. Goodbye, cruel world!"

Lack of clear leader worries some Israelis

By NEA-London Economist News Service
TEL AVIV — (LENS) — Most Israelis are prepared to make a gesture of faith towards the Arabs, they are not so sure about their own leader.

In the Knesset Mrs. Golda Meir's policy statement on the disengagement agreement was approved by 76 votes to 35. But during the debate one speaker after another rose to declare that, although disengagement was desirable, the way the government went about it was not. This fairly reflects public opinion.

The triumvirate of ministers that negotiated with Henry Kissinger in Mrs. Meir's absence, Allon, Dayan and Begin, has been giving interminable interviews to protest the advantages of military disengagement and the sincerity of President Sadat's desire for peace.

They are largely preaching to the converted. All the same, most people believe that their government got bad terms that point more to war than to peace; in particular, the government is blamed for failing to obtain an Egyptian declaration of non-belligerence in return for Israel's retreat.

The government's credibility is weakened day by day. The latest issue is also the most painful: Israel's preconditions for discussions with Syria. These started out as the exchange of prisoners of war; they then dropped to the provision of a list of prisoners, and permission for Red Cross inspections.

Now, as Kissinger disclosed at his Washington press conference, the Israeli government has promised to give the United States some sort of reply to Syria's disengagement proposals next week, even though there is still no word on the prisoners.

Many Israelis unhappily feel that they are enduring the worst leadership crisis in their country's history. They express amazement that with foreign, military and domestic policies in shreds, the same leaders can carry on unperturbed.

The election for new faces is gaining volume inside the Labor party as well as outside it. Amid this turmoil, the attempt by Pinhas Sapir to create a new coalition on the same lines as the outgoing one seems a mission impossible.

The National Religious party is battling for a national front cabinet including the right-wing opposition, Likud; this Labor cannot countenance without admitting its own impotence.

Alternatively, the NRP wants to make Israel a more religious place; this will not be tolerated by Labor's other potential partners, the Independent Liberals, now allied with the new Civil Rights List. Likud, making hay, is pressing the NRP to join it in openly declaring its determination to block any Israeli withdrawal from the West Bank of the Jordan River.

In desperation, Labor is proposing that a coalition should be formed without any guidelines at all; this would at least postpone the day of reckoning. Another proposal is to leave out the religious parties and set up a coalition just with the Independent Liberal alliance.

But this would mean a majority of only one, resting heavily on the three Labor-associated Arab members. Either coalition could fall easy prey to Likud attack.

Popular dissatisfaction has not bypassed the army, among whose serving soldiers Likud came top in the election. It is all the stronger since it became clear that disengagement with Egypt will not send the boys marching home but at the most will mean longer leaves.

And a new row has broken out between the military establishment and General Ariel Sharon. On the day he retired from active service to take his seat in the Knesset on the Likud benches, General Sharon made some swinging comments on the way the war was fought.

The chief of staff then withdrew his appointment as a reserve division commander, which led General Sharon to denounce what he saw as a "politically motivated campaign against him." Vicious back-biting of this kind erupts easily. Responsible Israelis are increasingly concerned that Israel has no clear leader to match Henry Kissinger and Anwar Sadat.

Kennedy slates decision in '75

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., says he won't decide until 1975 whether to run for president. He said most of his family have "reservations" about his doing so.

Kennedy, in a Sunday television interview (CBS, "Face the Nation"), ruled himself neither in nor out of the 1976 presidential race. He repeatedly used phrases such as "were I to be a candidate..."

Asked whether the 1969 Chappaquiddick auto accident which claimed the life of secretary Mary Jo Kopechne would disqualify him as a successful candidate, Kennedy said if he does decide to run that question would be up to the American people to "make a judgement" through presidential primaries.

"I would expect that people are going to have to make a judgement about it, and I'm prepared to go to the people, were I to be a candidate, and be judged," he said.

Nixon plans short visit to Florida

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon will fly to Key Biscayne, Fla., in midweek for a series of public appearances in the South and a vacation in the sun, according to White House aides.

The President planned to depart Wednesday evening and was expected to return here the following Monday, Washington's birthday, after a stop in Huntsville, Ala.

Aides said he will dedicate a hospital in Miami during his Florida stay and will make one other undisclosed speaking appearance during the trip.

Since the Watergate scandal broke, Nixon has confined his public appearances outside Washington to the South where he has more popular support than some other areas. He took another working-vacation at San Clemente, Calif., just after Christmas.

Nixon is giving a dinner here tonight for the foreign ministers attending the international conference of major oil consuming nations which opens here today.

"I think in 1976 people are going to be looking for a candidate that's going to provide inspirational leadership in this country," Kennedy said. "They are going to be looking for one that has a healthy sense of respect for the public trust. They are going to be looking for one that will stand up on the issues, someone that has a sense of confidence in the American people, and that they have a sense of confidence in. But were I to be a candidate, I obviously will be judged—that's where it's going to be, and there's a very little that I can do about it now to alter it."

"As far as my own decision, and that will be made in 1975, it's basically of personal considerations, responsibilities to my family, and that's the overriding consideration," Kennedy said. As to his family, he said, "most of them are—have reservations about my running."

If he does run, he said, he would make public his net worth and income tax returns, even though "the relationships of our family are so intertwined" that this would involve making public some of the finances of other members of the family.

He said he is not urging Nixon to resign. "I'm not one urging him to do so," he said, "adding that the President is entitled to have his case weighed through the procedures which have been established under the Constitution, and that are being worked out now in the House Judiciary Committee."

New rocket tries wings

CAPE CANAVERAL, (UPI)

The new Titan Centaur rocket, a combination of two reliable rocket stages, tries its wings for the first time today to prepare for important missions of the future.

Liftoff was scheduled at 9:03 a.m. The rocket will send two Viking spacecrafts to Mars in 1975 to investigate whether life exists on the planet and examine other features after landing on the surface. Before that time it will be used by West Germany to launch a scientific satellite called Helios into orbit around the Sun. This launch is expected next September with a second one to follow in 1975.

In 1977 the rocket will fire a Mariner Two spacecraft on a mission to take television pictures of Jupiter and Saturn.

Flu virus B cuts wide swath in US

(c) N. Y. Times Service
NEW YORK—The Influenza B virus is rampaging across the country, hitting mainly school children and causing school closings in many rural areas, the National Center for Disease Control reported today. Nationally, said Dr. Robert J. Rubin, chief of the influenza surveillance unit at the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta. "The disease appears to be confined to school children. Or else, it's not severe enough in adults to cause much absenteeism."

However, in Albany, two cases of Reye's Syndrome, a very serious disease that sometimes occurs in the wake of Influenza B outbreaks; have been reported in junior high school children. This disease causes brain and liver damage and severe vomiting, often resulting in death.

Rubin said that throughout the country there has been a striking similarity of symptoms among influenza cases: fever for two to four days, achiness, sore throat, headache, dry raspy cough and occasionally nausea, vomiting and diarrhea. Recovery from the acute illness is generally followed by "a period of lassitude for about 10 days," Rubin said.

The B virus, a new influenza virus variant, has been identified as the cause of outbreaks in Illinois, Iowa, Louisiana, Michigan, Missouri, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Ohio, Georgia and Tennessee, as well as New York.

We just got a haircut, a new set of clothes and a shoeshine. We hope you like our new look.

It's more like an up-dated look. One that better reflects what's been happening at Idaho First for some time now.

In the pressure to provide for today's financial needs, progressive banks have been going to increasingly sophisticated modern machinery. We're no exception.

But, we also recognize that people want to talk to real live people when they come in. Not machines. So, you'll always find one of us between you and the blinking lights and whirring sounds.

We're people-oriented because financial needs are people needs. Whenever you see our new signature, remember...

Black woman still missing

FULTON, Mo. (UPI) — Searchers for Willie Edwards, a proud loner who has disappeared from her Central Missouri hometown, stared with apprehension Sunday at the frozen lakes and clay pits thawing under warm, clear skies.

They had searched the woods and ditches all weekend without success for the 79-year-old poor black woman who lived in a dirt-floor tent in a vacant lot in the town for 40 years.

"We can't do anything more," said Jack McBride, president of the local chapter of the NAACP. "We're waiting until the lakes and clay pits thaw out to see if we can find her body."

Her neighbors say they have not yet searched the remains of the tent, where five cats still abide. They are reluctant to disturb her effects until they are sure she is dead.

"Whenever you got onto the subject of trying to get her to move into a house, the conversation ceased," McBride said, "because that was something she didn't want to do. And we had to respect that."

"She was a woman that had a keen mind, she was well educated. She was up on current events, read a lot. She told me she dropped out of college in New York a year before getting her degree."

McBride had organized the search for the woman, whom he characterized as a proud loner, an intelligent woman who kept to herself in her shabby little tent.

The tent, a seven-by-four-foot canvas affair with a small stove, blankets and rags scattered on the floor dug three feet into the ground, has disappeared since she wrapped in a long dark coat and clutching a large oak stick she used as a walking cane, was last seen wandering through neighboring woods unfamiliar to her. Then she vanished.

Residents of this clay mining town of 12,000 have been told the bell along city hall will ring three times when Miss Willie, or her body, is found.

Woman missing

MRS. WILLIE Edwards, 79, Fulton, Mo., has been living in a tent on a vacant lot for 40 years. Last Jan. 25 Mrs. Edwards disappeared and Fulton police have not been able to locate her. Mrs. Edwards did undergraduate work at New York University and came to the University of Missouri to complete her degree. (UPI)

Author won't obey summons

MOSCOW (UPI) — Author Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn said today he has been summoned for a second time to the state prosecutor's office.

Solzhenitsyn told Western newsmen he would refuse to go.

He said a second summons arrived this morning, but did not specify why he was wanted for questioning.

Solzhenitsyn said he handed the plainclothes policeman who brought the summons a written reply which said:

"I refuse to recognize the legality of your summons and shall not appear at an interrogation in any state institution."

He said he will not undergo questioning because of the "complete and general illegality ruling in our country for many years."

Control support lost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With inflation increasingly part of the American economic fabric, the federal wage-price controls expire this spring, having lost the support of nearly all who called for them two and a half years ago.

Few in government, business or labor think the Phase IV anti-inflation campaign did much good, especially in recent months. Hardly anyone thinks it ought to be continued through 1974.

The administration, for example, wants controls on a few specialized areas, such as petroleum and health care, and a scaled down Cost of Living Council to act as an inflationary watchdog.

Controls failed for three main reasons: Inability to dampen inflation, economic injury to both labor and business and old age.

"The controls have not

Space program lauded

HOUSTON (UPI) — Astronaut Gerald P. Carr, commander of man's longest stay in space, said Sunday he hopes the Skylab 3 mission is not going to be the end of this country's manned space program.

Only one other U.S. space venture is on any upcoming agenda—the joint American-Russian space flight in 1975.

"The mission we flew was the culmination of a dream," Carr said upon his return to the United States following Friday's splashdown.

"We proved that space is not just a place to be relegated to machines or robots," Carr said. "Skylab has laid to rest that theory."

Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William P. Pogue, returned home Sunday night and were welcomed at Ellington Air Force Base by their wives, space officials, an Air Force Band and 500 friends, neighbors and others who wanted to get a glimpse of the three rookie spacemen who broke every conceivable space endurance record during their 84-day flight.

Most US truckers back on road

United Press International

Twelve days after it began on the Ohio Turnpike, the nationwide truckers' strike appeared to be ending today—but not without dissension among the participants.

Striking drivers wheeled their rigs onto the country's highways in increasing numbers Sunday, while others defied President Nixon's plea to end their strike.

Scattered violence continued, spreading to the West Coast for the first time in the work stoppage.

In Pittsburgh, a spokesman for the Truckers Unity Committee, an umbrella organization which claims to represent most of the striking factions, said drivers were "voting overwhelmingly" to accept a tentative agreement reached in Washington last Wednesday.

William J. Hill, national chairman of the Fraternal Association of Steel Haulers (FASH) and the unity committee's chief negotiator, said:

"A vast majority of the members of organizations represented by the Truckers Unity Committee have voted in favor of the agreement...and want to return to work."

"I am of the opinion we have reached the best agreement possible and should go back to work starting at 9 a.m. Monday. I expect all FASH members to leave any picket lines as we will continue our efforts to further explain the agreement. So that dissident groups will realize the benefits being offered."

The agreement freezes diesel oil prices, provides a surcharge to offset spiraling fuel costs and guarantees fuel supplies for truckers. It does not include a roll back in the price of diesel fuel or provide for increased speed limits on the country's highways, two of the truckers' major demands.

Nixon, in a nationwide broadcast Saturday, urged the drivers to end their strike "to provide food, fuel and other supplies to all Americans."

But in Ohio, a hotbed of the work halt, George Rynn, president of the Council of Independent Truckers (CIT), said about 500 members of his group "voted 100 per cent" Sunday to reject the government proposal.

Jim: "Experts have gone back to limit raises with various means of handling the forcing raise. Once more, you have been instrumental in this change which is definitely for the better."

Oswald: "When you use limit raises you want to go on to the major-suit game most of the time. Thus, South's 5-4-2-2 distribution with all point count concentrated in this suit warrants going on to game after the limit raise. A diamond lead would hold him to one. # Now you can have your cake and eat it too.

Take note, savers. Here is a unique savings system that has a little bit of everything good in it.

Equitable is calling it the Having Your Cake and Eating It Too-plan.

Because you get just that. High 7% interest (like a Certificate of Deposit). Cash flow flexibility (like a passbook account). Plus a lot of extra personal benefits.

- There's not another program like it anywhere.
- Compare. INTEREST-THAT SOARS. All you do is agree to deposit a lump sum of money for a period of time between 56 to 108 months or save a certain amount each month. You will receive a whopping 7% interest per year on all earnings at maturity... much like a Certificate of Deposit Savings plan.
- CASH THAT FLOWS. Any amount deposited beyond the agreed amount each month, may be used as a kind of savings reservoir which can be added to or subtracted from... much like a passbook account (as long as you maintain the specified monthly balance). You still collect the high 7% interest on the extra amount.
- $10,000 BY ACCIDENT. Unless you're a race car driver, lion tamer or in some hazardous occupation, you are eligible under the Having Your Cake plan to receive $10,000 in accidental death and dismemberment insurance. Best of all, it costs practically nothing ($1 per month).
- TAXES YOU CAN PUT OFF. It is also possible under the Having Your Cake plan, to defer a portion of your interest earnings from taxes, should you decide this is to your advantage.

EVERY SAVER NEEDS A FRIEND. Equitable Savings and only Equitable Savings offers each saver thoroughly experienced savings counselors to analyze your savings needs. This loyal Savings Officer will even come out to your home (through rain, sleet or snow) to explain this and other savings programs, as well as answer questions. Let him help you find out how to have your cake and eat it, too.

Equitable Savings is people

*In order to receive full interest, you must keep an agreed amount in for a period of time between 56 and 108 months. In other words, you'll get 4 1/2 % interest if you decide to take it out—a big 7% (anticipated rate) if you leave it in!

Our Savings Officers have something cooking for you. To find out how you can have your cake and eat it too, clip out this coupon.

By ROBERT L. ROSE
(Chicago Daily News
BERKELEY, Calif. — They kill. They kidnap. But who are they and what do they want? They call themselves the Symbionese Liberation Army and the law says it doesn't even know what the name means. But they know by now the SLA means trouble of the worst kind — assassination of a highly respected black educator, the kidnaping of the 19-year-old daughter of a San Francisco publisher, and maybe half a score of whites shot down in the streets, for no reason at all, except they were there. "It's baffling," said William H. Saxbe, the US attorney general, the chief law enforcement officer in the country. "They're a fanatical group." Saxbe added, talking to newsmen, that "there are indications — but no hard evidence — that this group extends beyond the San Francisco Bay area.

"People familiar with this group warn that it could show up in Washington or elsewhere." The attorney general said that "one of the baffling things" about its name, the Symbionese Liberation Army, is that "nobody knows what they want to liberate."

The SLA's existence first came to light last month when two whites, Russell J. Little and Joseph Remiro, were arrested after a shootout with a policeman. Officers checked Remiro's gun and said it was the one that killed Oakland school chief Marcus Foster last November. Both were charged with his murder and await trial.

Police found stacks of leaflets in the van driven by the two men with the imprint of the Symbionese Liberation Army and its seven-headed cobra symbol. The previously unknown group had already sent letters to area newspapers boasting of its responsibility for the Foster murder. Saxbe said local authorities, who won't say so for publication, also believe the SLA may be responsible for eight or more other killings on the streets of San Francisco. Those victims, according to witnesses, were shot to death by blacks who just drove up and cut them down. They were all whites.

One woman, Roxanne McMillan, 23, the mother of a 4-month-old boy, said she was just walking up to her house when the man walked up and said, amiably, "Hi, howya doin'?", fired his gun, and left her paralyzed with a bullet in her spine.

On the night of the Little-Remiro arrests, tremorists responded to a routine alarm nearby and found a deserted house doused with gasoline and burning. Police said they discovered a new cache of SLA literature inside plus a mass of weapons, some cyanide and a bundle of the original letters which the group had sent publications about their activities.

What convinced police the SLA was indeed responsible for the shooting of Foster, a respected educator, was the group's three-page letter "Communique No. 1" in which it announced a "shoot on sight" order with the words: "Warrant Order: Execution by Cyanide Bullets."

"They learned" from the Alameda County coroner that Foster had been shot by bullets "drilled at their points and packed with potassium cyanide."

In its new note, "Communique No. 3," the SLA said its agents "armed with cyanide loaded weapons served an arrest warrant on Patricia Campbell Hearst." "Should any attempt be made by authorities to rescue the prisoner or to arrest or harm any SLA element the prisoner is to be executed," the note warned.

The Symbionese have depicted themselves as revolutionary shock troops dedicated to fighting "members of the rich ruling class and big business." Police said a list of wealthy area businessmen was found in the burned out SLA headquarters and they believed the men were targets for kidnaps and high ransom to finance the group's "war of liberation."

"The SLA leaflets are topped by a drawing of a seven-headed cobra which the document says stands for goals of the group:

self-determination, cooperative production, creativity, unity, faith, purpose and collective work and responsibility." The name Symbionese apparently is derived from the word symbiosis, meaning a living together of diverse elements.

"The seven memberships of our federation are men and women who are black, brown, yellow, red, white, young and old."

"Each member lives and speaks and fights for the best interest of all within the body, just as no one head of the cobra can be attacked without the others rising to strike with venom in self defense to destroy the attacker."

"The SLA will build and fight for the social unity of all oppressed people from any one of us will echo in the body of our common ear and we will attack out of instinct and in self defense for our survival.

"And with the venom of our seven heads we will destroy the head of the serpent who preys on the life of the people."

Echoing the phrase, the Miss Letter, finally delivered to SLA Hearst's father, Randolph, publisher of the San Francisco Examiner, closed with the statement, in capital letters: "SLA death to the fascist insect that preys upon the life of the people."

"The SLA will build and fight for the social unity of all oppressed people from any one of us will echo in the

Oil well drilling delayed

(c) N. Y. Times Service
NEW YORK — The drilling of hundreds of oil wells in the United States has been delayed because of a shortage of tubular steel, according to the independent producers who do most of the nation's drilling.

The government says, however, that unusually large inventories of tubing are being maintained by the major oil companies. As a result, it says, the independent companies cannot obtain what they need.

Ironically, the squeeze on drilling activity comes at a time when the major oil companies are "citing a shortage of crude oil" as the reason for their cutbacks in the production of gasoline and heating oil. Refineries are now operating at only about 65 per cent of capacity.

"We have at least 12 refineries that would be ready to drill," said Earl F. Burke, president of Pol-Tex Inc., a small independent oil producer in Houston. "We have the money, but we don't have the pipe, and the only place I can get it is on the black market — for three times the going price."

According to Burke, the major oil companies snapped up all the available tube months ago, when it became apparent that there would be a shortage.

The Federal Energy Office, in its own investigation of the situation, concluded that the inventories of pipe of the 22 largest American oil companies, as of last December, had soared 30 per cent higher than their monthly average had been since early 1972.

Further, it said, eight of the companies held 75 per cent of available inventories of tube. "The effect of this maldistribution of available supplies is compounded by the fact that the majority of drilling activity is performed by the independent operators," the office said. It concluded that there had been "excessive stockpiling and unnecessary forward buying" by the major oil companies.

The federal agency refused to identify the major tube buyers by name. Inquiries made last Friday to a number of majors, asking for details of their current inventories of tube compared to past levels, went unanswered. Those questioned included Exxon, Mobil, Richfield and Continental Oil.

Julian G. Martin, research director of the Texas Independent Producers and Refiners Association, said that the tube shortage had resulted in a market-in-high priced used pipe.

"The used steel, pulled from old wells, now is selling for $2.50 a foot, he said, whereas new steel is priced at only $2.30 to $2.50 a foot."

A shortage of drilling rigs and training manpower for them has added to the problem of bringing in new wells, according to Martin and other industry officials. The oil industry believes that the tube shortage could be cleared up within three or four months, as more pipe comes on the market and as the government takes an increased interest in the problem. The Federal Energy Office said that despite a sharp increase in drilling activity, it expected the supply of tubular pipe for 1974 would meet projected industry demand.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for that woman in Boston whose husband wears his pants. My husband did, too, but he refused to see a urologist. After two and a half years, ruined furniture and mattresses, I told him if he didn't see a doctor, I was going to put him in diapers and rubber bloomers to protect the furniture. They have them for adults, you know. To my surprise, he agreed, and now I realize that part of his problem was the desire to be "babied." So I "babied" him, but it's saving my furniture and my sanity.

For the record, Abby, there are 16 million bed-wetters in the United States, and a million chronic ones. These figures are from Time magazine. R. P. D.

Hubby enjoys baby's role

DEAR R: Thanks for the statistics. It will be a great comfort to those who are swimming against the tide.

DEAR ABBY: Our son (22) recently married a nice 21-year-old girl. They invited Dad and me to dinner, and she served a meal of Chinese food. Well, his mother and I ate it anyway so as not to hurt anyone's feelings. The next time they invited us, she made a Hawaiian dinner. Abby, this was worse than the Chinese dinner. My poor husband was up all night with heartburn.

They invited us again, and I called my son and asked him what she was making this time. He said, "Hawaiian food." Well, maybe I shouldn't have said it, but I asked him when his wife was going to learn how to make American food. He got mad and said when people are invited to dinner they eat whatever is served, and don't complain about it.

Am I wrong? How can I make up for that remark? My husband and I are both Italian, and we can eat anything, but this girl's cooking is murder. Maybe I need mother in law lessons. MOTHER IN LAW

DEAR MOTHER IN LAW: You don't need mother in law lessons—your daughter in law needs cooking lessons. Invite her over and offer to give her a few. But never criticize her cooking, no matter what she serves. [At least she invites you, which is more than some brides do.]

DEAR ABBY: Apropos the letter from "Bereaved": Years ago when I was "bereaved" I had the following experience: My husband [a physician] had died after a long illness. I started writing my letters of thanks for condolences almost immediately after the memorial services.

When I was about midway through my letters I had a telephone call from a woman I hardly knew who had sent flowers. She had been a patient of my husband's. Her side of the conversation went like this: "How are you getting along? ... Did you get my flowers? ... Exactly what did the doctor do?"

I'm sure her flowers were an expression of sincere sympathy, but what of the telephone interview? Honestly, now! What is this notion that it is perfectly all right to inquire into the nature of a person's illness, terminal or otherwise? APPALLED

DEAR APPALLED: People with tact, sensitivity and good manners do not have this notion. But unfortunately those qualities are not taught—they're "caught."

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 6790, L. A., Calif. 90063. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Overseas US forces keep fuel supplies

(c) N. Y. Times Service
NEW YORK — Fuel supplies for United States forces in Europe and Asia have been maintained at approximately normal levels despite the Arab embargo and subsequent fuel cutbacks by American oil companies, according to senior military and civilian officials in the Defense Department.

This has been achieved by transferring some of the fuel allocation for forces in the United States to the Seventh Army in Germany, the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean and the Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific, the Air Force in Europe and the Air Force in the Pacific. This means that the training of "volunteer forces" in the United States has been reduced. The Army's senior officer said, has cut back on "mobility fuels" — aviation

ISU engineer studies wind generators

POCATELLO (ISU) — The harnessing of wind energy to produce electricity for users of relatively small amounts of power in remote areas or for individual homes is being explored by an Idaho State University electrical engineer. Tim Yoxthelmer, an instructor of engineering. "The system is the type that can be used on farms or at other remote locations," Yoxthelmer said. "There are a lot of areas around here that have little or no energy supply now. The intermountain area is reasonably good for wind energy use because we do have consistent winds. "The idea is not new, even for remote areas. Wind power was used 30 to 40 years ago to furnish lights on farms but these systems were strictly direct current with a storage battery arrangement," Yoxthelmer noted that energy sources — large capacity generating plants and secondary units — small in size or at remote locations." The simplest system to build is the DC-battery storage system where any excess energy generated is stored in the latter for use at times of little or no wind, the electrical engineer said. "Because the output is DC, separate wiring and equipment must be used from that operated on conventional 60 cycle AC," he added. He cautioned potential windmill users not to try to install these generating units and make the necessary wiring changes unless they know what they are doing. Yoxthelmer plans to construct a small AC windmill generator to examine the effects of constant velocity drive mechanisms and energy storage. A shortage of drilling rigs and training manpower for them has added to the problem of bringing in new wells, according to Martin and other industry officials. The oil industry believes that the tube shortage could be cleared up within three or four months, as more pipe comes on the market and as the government takes an increased interest in the problem. The Federal Energy Office said that despite a sharp increase in drilling activity, it expected the supply of tubular pipe for 1974 would meet projected industry demand.

today in brief

GOP principles unchanged

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — Folks shouldn't let such events as Watergate discourage them, according to Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho.

Symms told a group of Kootenai County Republicans Saturday night, while the Watergate affair involved the error of the people involved. It does not change the basic republican principles.

The basic principles of free enterprise, freedom, and the representative republic form of government are just as valid today as they were at the time of Lincoln or Jefferson, Symms said.

No wooden coffins

SALMON — Salmon is a nice place to live but chances are you wouldn't want to die there — the cost is going up.

After July 1, anyone "laid to rest" in the Salmon City Cemetery can no longer be buried in a wooden coffin. Because graves eventually settle when wooden coffins are used, the City Council this week acted to require all graves to have concrete liners or a steel vault.

Applications increased

BOISE (UPI) — Applications for food stamps have increased in number in the last two months, according to the state's food stamp program director.

"Jim Wilson said the increase is not entirely due to seasonal factors. 'All of a sudden it's gone up like mad,' Wilson said. Wilson also said some proposed amendments in the food stamp regulations may benefit some people but will make it tougher on others.

3 remain in custody

KETCHUM — One Rupert and two Paul youths remained in custody this morning in the Blaine County jail after they were arrested early Sunday morning in Ketchum.

According to Ketchum police, the youths are charged with possession of a controlled substance and possession of beer by a minor. The Rupert youth was listed as 16 years old and both Paul youths are 17.

Truckers idle

BOISE (UPI) — About 75 Northwest and Idaho truck drivers decided at a meeting Saturday night not to let their trucks roll, according to Ray Paxton, a member of the group.

Paxton said the drivers won't drive their rigs until at least next Saturday, when another meeting is scheduled. Paxton said most of the truckers at the meeting were independent.

GF meet planned

GLENN'S FERRY (UPI) — Construction will begin within two weeks on a new grain and bean processing plant in Glenn's Ferry.

The Twin Falls firm of Hance Seed Co. Inc., is constructing the new facility to handle grain and beans, according to Glenn's Ferry Mayor Doyle Messerly. Messerly said the investment of the firm would be at least $200,000.

A company spokesman, Joe Fix, said the firm would employ four to five persons the first year of its operation to handle receiving, shipping and storage. Fix said the target date for completion of the plant is July 1.

Eden Council meet set

EDEN — Eden City Council will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at City Hall.

The council will discuss the city's water problems, with reports from engineers scheduled to be presented to council members.

Project 55% completed

NEWDALE (UPI) — Construction of the $91 million Teton Dam is about 55 per cent complete, according to Rod Vissia, regional director of the Bureau of Reclamation.

Vissia said all work on the construction project is halted because of winter weather. He said the bureau has requested $11.6 million for the coming fiscal year to continue work on the project.

He said the first phase of the project is scheduled for completion in 1978. The second phase has not yet been authorized, Vissia said.

Contest winner named

BOISE (UPI) — An 18-year-old Lewiston girl, Debra Brunel, is the winner in the graphic arts poster contest sponsored by the Idaho Optometric Association for Idaho high school students.

Miss Brunel was chosen from over 165 contestants from all parts of the state. The poster will be used in connection with "Save Your Vision Week" March 3-9. Gov. Cecil D. Andrus will present Miss Brunel with a $100 savings bond and a plaque for her poster.

Hazelton meet slated

HAZELTON — The Hazelton City Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at the City Hall.

The council formerly met on Tuesday nights, but changed to Monday as a convenience for council members. The change in the meeting night will be permanent, councilmen said.

Caldwell man dies

CALDWELL (UPI) — Nolan Grant, Caldwell, died Saturday in Caldwell following a car-motorcycle accident earlier in the day.

Caldwell police said Grant suffered his injuries when his motorcycle and a car collided at 3:51 p.m. at the intersection of Twentieth and Blaine Streets.

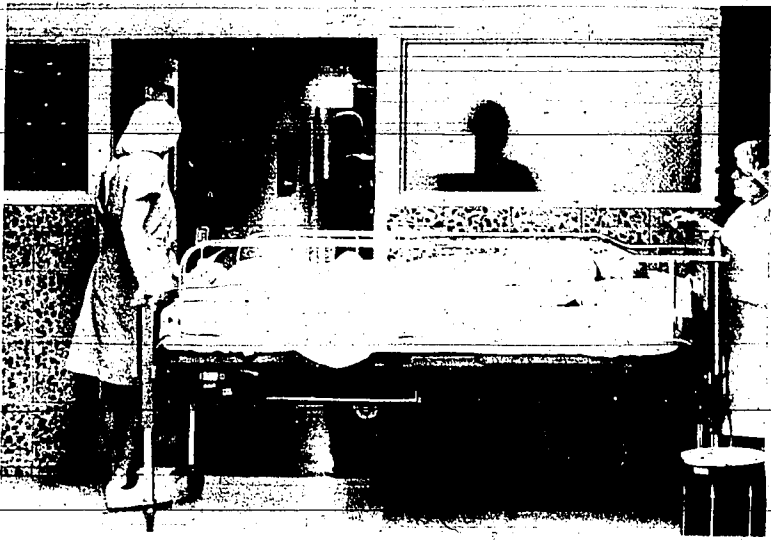

Police said the accident is still under investigation. The name of the driver of the car was not available.

Impeachment eyed

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, said Sunday he expects the House Judiciary Committee to recommend impeachment for President Nixon.

Inter-viewed on the KTVB interview program, viewpoint, Symms said he is "going to keep my mind open" on the impeachment question. Symms also said he was among a group of conservative congressmen who met with President Nixon last week. He said the group urged the president to start eliminating some agencies and to veto some bills.

"I made the point that we (conservatives) were his friends," Symms said, "working people don't want government to continue to grow, to increase its intervention in their lives."

Wife of TF serviceman wins another skirmish

TWIN FALLS—Lynette Johnson, wife of a Twin Falls serviceman, has won another skirmish in her campaign to stay in the United States with her husband.

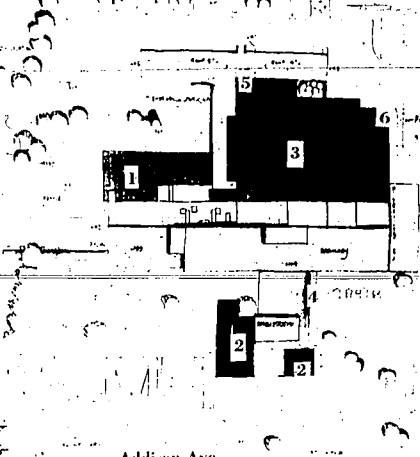

An English citizen, she faced deportation or flight to avoid arrest earlier this month under U.S. immigration officials granted her a 10 day grace period while she appealed for a visa extension.

"Her mother-in-law, Mrs. Wesley Stewart, said today the extension has been granted. That means Lynette can stay in the U.S. until Aug. 1 without fear of arrest or deportation. That threat has faced her since arrival here on a temporary visa a few weeks ago.

She plans to continue her battle to correct the immigration law, not only for her own benefit but to aid others who may face the same problem.

2 more sought in kidnapping

(C) New York Times Service
SAN FRANCISCO — The Federal Bureau of Investigation today linked two more persons to the kidnapping of 19-year-old Patricia Hearst.

But Thomas Druken, assistant special agent in charge of the investigation, said that the underground "radical group" that "says it" is holding the daughter of Randolph A. Hearst, the newspaper executive, had failed again to make its expected ransom demand.

"There's nothing new as far as I know,"

Druken said. "We haven't heard anything."

The group, which calls itself the Symbionese Liberation Army, said that it was responsible for abducting Miss Hearst from her Berkeley apartment on Monday night. The group passed word, in a letter to a Berkeley radio station, that it was involved in the kidnapping.

The FBI said today that it was seeking two more persons — a white man and a white woman — as potential witnesses and possible suspects in the abduction of Miss Hearst, a student.

4 states, DC start gas ration systems

By United Press International

Four states and the District of Columbia began gas rationing systems today based on the Oregon plan, calling for alternate day distribution of gasoline according to odd or even license plate numbers.

In the states of Washington, New York and Massachusetts and in Washington, D.C. the plan was voluntary. In New Jersey the system was mandatory. Early reports indicated mixed results, not only from state to state but from service station to service station.

In New Jersey, the state hardest hit by the gas shortage, some communities reported lines "as long as they've always been" while other areas appeared to be faring better under the new system.

Newark police said there was little gas for sale in the Essex County area, and service station owners confirmed that they haven't received deliveries since last week.

"There is no gas in this area," an Amoco service station attendant said. "I don't see anyone pumping gas. I think everyone is out. They'll give us more gas whenever they feel like it."

Police in Hackensack and Teaneck reported reduced numbers of cars in line for gas in those Bergen County communities.

Gas lines in the greater Paterson area were reported cut in half.

Trenton area service stations reported reduced lines, but Camden County police said service station lines were lengthened by Pennsylvania motorists who are not regulated by the state's mandatory controls.

— Massachusetts Consumer Affairs Secretary John Verani said early indications were that the new alternate day sales system was working well.

Verani said station operators called in to report that lines were substantially shorter at most stations. In some cases, they were "one-half to one-quarter" shorter than pre-rationing, he said.

"I am very encouraged by the results of the first day," Verani said. "But I will withhold final assessment of the plan's effectiveness until a later date." Frank's Shell station in Billerica, Mass., said the lines were "exactly the same as before."

A spokesman said cars were backed up for nearly a quarter of a mile this morning. The station sold only 100 numbers, he said.

However, Drum Hill Gulf in Chelmsford and Lesard's Mobil station in Lowell reported shorter lines. A spokesman at Drum Hill said the line is "considerably shorter—it's hot going out into the street like before."

Hard-hit eastern New York reported some gas lines shorter than a week ago.

But, while some service station operators were cautiously optimistic, many—particularly in western New York—said they would not go along with the system.

While some lines at gas stations in the Albany area seemed as long as they were a week ago during the morning rush hour, several stations reported shorter lines.

One spokesman reported the line at his local station was only what it was last Monday. The man at the cash register said he thought most drivers were going along with the system but the man at the pump said he hadn't noticed.

"I just pump for whoever's in line," he said, "and I don't have time to check number plates."

Water vote ends at 5 p.m.

Persons supporting the plan point to the economic and ecological benefits of developing farm land. They maintain it in no way jeopardizes Twin Falls Canal Co. stockholders' water rights because it calls for mere conveyance of Milner Dam spillover water.

Tuana and Canyon View have both filed claims in recent years on the off season spillover.

The two projects would create annual incomes in the neighborhood of $10 million at conservative estimates that farmers in the projects can expect $30 per acre gross incomes.

The impact of this money would be two to seven times as great as it is circulated through the local economy, according to varying estimates of economic analysts.

Environmentally, the projects would create a prime recreational area with varied types of wildlife, on the new farmlands and by the project's proposed reservoirs, proponents say. Also, they maintain, more water for drying apple well water farms in the area would be available.

But opponents believe the projects would threaten their water rights. They point to court decisions overlooking established water rights in support of rights based on beneficial use. And they question how Twin Falls Canal Co. stockholders rights can be guaranteed over the 50 year contract period.

Opponents say the canal company might not be able to convey water for the stipulated 25 days in harsh weather years. They believe the projects may try to expand west in the future, making their water needs greater. They say the project may try to use Twin Falls Canal Co. water in a water short year like 1961.

But project developers, along with Twin Falls Canal Co. officials, say that under the terms of the contract the canal company can provide only Milner Dam spillover, not Twin Falls Canal Co. water.

Tuana for 85 days would take 200 cubic feet per second of off-season water from the west end of the canal company's system (original plans to divert this water at the junction of Latta and Deep Creek are being reconsidered), and convey it to the Yahoe Creek Reservoir three miles north and 10 miles west of Buhl.

Original plans called for storage of 23,000 acre feet of water for the irrigation of 2,600 acres of Tuana lands. But Tuana president Harry LeMoine said the number of acres irrigated may be decreased or the storage capacity increased, depending upon the availability of on season waste water from the Twin Falls Canal Co. system.

If the proposal is not approved, the projects will be impossible, according to Canyon View President Emery Wiser and LeMoine. But, Wiser said, any such conveyance proposal may be presented stockholders.

River trip signing eyed

SALMON, Idaho (UPI) — The U.S. Forest Service announced today that reservations will be needed by all private parties planning to float the main Salmon River next summer.

Supervisor John Emerson, Salmon National Forest, said permits will be issued on a first-come, first-served basis. Reservations can be made through the North Fork Ranger District, Salmon National Forest, Banger Fork, Idaho.

Emerson said that plans for the main Salmon are similar to those already in effect on the popular middle fork of the river.

Restrictions include limiting private parties to one trip per month on either river, a maximum of three private groups will be limited per day, private groups will be limited to 20 persons, commercial boaters will be limited and assigned certain days of the week to begin their trips.

It was noted that by scheduled boaters the river can be enjoyed in an uncrowded condition and the impact on the river environment will be lessened.

CITY WIDE GEORGE WASHINGTON BIRTHDAY

Sell-a-bration

This is the biggest city wide sale of the year, and it all happens MONDAY FEBRUARY 18th, 1974.

'George' is getting along in his years and decided to choose a Volkswagen as his means of transportation around the city of Twin Falls, visiting stores, shopping centers, and schools.

Gary Fraelich, General Manager of Blue Lakes Volkswagen, has donated the use of a 1974 Volkswagen Beetle for this city wide event. "George Washington" as portrayed by Hardy Bond slides into his red Volkswagen Beetle, and readies himself for the journey around town in preparation for his city wide Birthday Sell-a-bration. George Washington was overheard saying, "This is the kind of Bug I needed in that cold winter on the Delaware. WOW! '74 is going to be the biggest and best Birthday Sell-a-bration I have ever had!"

Hubert Green fires 65 for victory in desert classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Hubert Green, who has had identification problems, became an instant hero Sunday when he closed out veteran Bert Yancey with birdies on four of the last five holes for a two-shot victory in the $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

The 37-year-old Green, often mistaken for Bert Greene, even by tournament sponsors, started the final round of the 90-hole Hope event three shots behind Yancey but shot a seven under par 65 for a 19 under par total of 241.

Yancey had problems throughout the round but was still in the running when he charged up Green's bank birdie puts of 25, three and three feet from the 14th through 16th holes for what proved the margin of victory.

Yancey finished with a birdie on the 18th for a two under 70 and a 90-hole score of 243, 17 under par. Young John Mahaffey came out of the pack with a 67 to grab third place, another four shots back and two ahead of Johnny Miller, Mike McCullough, Mark Hayes and Bob Murphy. Murphy finished with a 66, McCullough and Hayes had 67s and Miller a 70.

Green, winner of three events in three previous years on the tour, won a prize of $32,048 that jumped him to second on the money list with $47,386. But he is a long way behind Miller, who won $6,240 plus another $100,000 in prize money to top the $100,000 figure with $109,943.

It's the earliest any golfer has won that much money in any year.

Yancey collected $18,267 for second while Mahaffey won $11,877 for third.

Green said he went into the final round figuring he had nothing to lose but he wanted to play well because it was his first opportunity before national television cameras.

"It was pretty important for me to win on national TV," said the native of Birmingham, Ala. "I had a fairly decent record for a man only in his fourth year on the tour but no one knows me. There is nothing like television exposure. I'm sure a lot of people now know me."

Hubert Green and not Bert Greene.

George Knudson and Dwight Nevil finished with 67s for 350 totals. Knudson had a double eagle two on the par five, 462-yard 18th hole when he holed out a four wood.

Brian Allen, Labron Harris and David Graham came in at 351, nine under par and 10 shots behind Green, while Billy Casper wound up at 354 and defending champion Arnold Palmer at 362.

Green, who won two tournament titles a year ago and more than $114,000, went ahead when he sank consecutive birdie puts on the third, fourth and fifth greens. Yancey, playing in a threesome behind Green, tied it with a birdie on the seventh and both birdied the eighth to remain tied at 16 under.

Both bogeyed the 10th to stay deadlocked and it still was tied when both birdied the 14th.

Then Green holed a three-footer for a bird on 15, a two-footer for another bird on 16 and a tap-in on 18 for his fourth birdie on the last five holes and his 65.

Thoeni wins slalom in world alpine ski event

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (UPI) — Gustavo Thoeni of Italy pulled the World slalom title out of thin air Sunday to end the World Alpine Skiing Championships with two gold medals and the finest exhibition of skiing in the week-long event.

Austria took top honors with three gold, three silver and two bronze medals after David Zwilling upped the favorites to win Saturday's downhill, and then finished second in the slalom and Franz Klammer won the combination event after coming second in the downhill.

Thoeni, who Tuesday retained his second giant slalom crown, came from ninth place after the first heat with a display of precision skiing nobody could match to win the gold he narrowly missed at the Sapporo Olympics.

"It was the finest piece of skiing I have ever seen," said Zwilling, the silver medalist. "Only Thoeni could come from behind like that."

The championships proved a graveyard for the Swiss team as they had walked away from the Olympics two years ago with seven medals. It gained one — a bronze — when Lise-Marie Morerod came third in the women's slalom.

The first heat of today's slalom proved a killer. Only 92 of the 114 starters managed to complete the course and among the notable casualties were three of the four Swiss team, the entire U.S. four-man squad, West Germany's Max Rieger, Austria's Johann Kneiwasser and Italy's Erwin Stricker, who lost any chance of a combination medal.

Piero Gros of Italy set the pace on the icy 75-gate first course with 57.49, followed closely by Zwilling and Hinterseer. Thoeni lagged 1.42 seconds behind. The pressure was heavy on the second run, however, and Gros missed a gate while Zwilling and Hinterseer, whose father Ernst set the other 68-gate course, made sure they consolidated their position.

Thoeni skied as though he had nothing to lose. He clocked the fastest intermediary time and flashed down two seconds faster than Zwilling and Hinterseer, which is an eternity in slalom racing. But the jury then announced Hinterseer had missed a gate on the first run and gave the bronze — to the — Sapporo Champion, Francisco Fernandez-Ochoa of Spain.

Thoeni's overall time was 109.58 seconds to Zwilling's 110.76 and Ochoa's 111.52.

Klammer skied safely in the slalom to ensure his gold in the three events combined with the silver going to Poland's Andrzej Bachleda and the bronze to West Germany's Wolfgang Junginger.

Zwilling's victory in the downhill came as a surprise even — to himself. — Two days before he had seriously thought of not running in the downhill but my practice times were good so I decided to go ahead."

The blond 24-year-old Austrian had never won a downhill race before and beat Klammer, the specialist on his team by more than a second. Lichtenstein picked up his third medal in two days when Willi Frommelt gave the 24,000 strong principally a bronze to prevent an Austrian sweep of the event.

Roland Collombin, the pre-race favorite, fell at the exit to the S bend to the misery of more than 30,000 Swiss fans who lined the 3,400 meter course ringing their cowbells in support.

Joining the Swiss among the less notable performances of the championships was the U.S. team which failed to get a medal only for the second time in 18 years.

76ers rally over Capital

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Fred Carter scored four points in the final 15 seconds Sunday afternoon to give the Philadelphia 76ers a come from behind 95-94 victory over the Capital Bullets in a National Basketball Association game.

Capital led 94-91 with 22 seconds left when Carter hit a jumper to make it 94-93 with 15 seconds remaining. Fred Boyd then stole the ball to set up Carter's winning basket with seven seconds left.

Capital called two timeouts to set up a final play, but Phil Chenier missed with four seconds left, and then there was a scramble under the boards with the clock finally running out.

The Bullets had led throughout the game. Philadelphia did not get its first lead until there was 10:36 remaining in the game when Roy Ellis made two free throws to give the Sixers a 74-73 edge.

Monzon is planning to retire

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — World middleweight champion Carlos Monzon said he will retire from boxing without defending his title again, La Razon newspaper reported Sunday.

In a dispatch by its special correspondent in Paris, the newspaper quoted Monzon as saying, "I'm retiring, keeping my promise to my wife and children."

Monzon successfully defended his title Saturday against Jose "Mantecilla" Napoles of Mexico.

"This fight with Napoles was a matter of honor," Monzon was quoted as saying. "This is all over for me. I'm going to spend my time in the country with my cattle, and taking care of my family."

Monzon has a non-boxing role in a movie to be filmed in Argentina.

"I don't want to do as some others have done, who took up acting while still active as boxers and wound up defeated," Monzon was quoted as saying. "I'm leaving (boxing) all in one piece."

Cougars rally past Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The Carolina Cougars hit four free throws in the final four seconds Sunday to come from behind for a 96-93 American Basketball Association victory over the Indiana Pacers.

Ollie Taylor hit on a pair of free throws with four seconds left to give the Cougars their first lead since the second quarter and Mark Calvin added two more charity points with one second remaining to clinch the win.

The Pacers blew a 15-point lead late in the third period and Carolina reeled off 10 straight points in its rally to move back into contention.

Chicago tops Lakers 96-86

CHICAGO (UPI) — Bob Love poured in 30 points Sunday to lead the Chicago Bulls to a 96-86 triumph over the Los Angeles Lakers in a nationally televised National Basketball Association game.

It was the Bulls' first win over the Lakers, playing without Jerry West, in four meetings this season and only their third in 14 regular season games with Los Angeles in the last three seasons. Overall, it was the Bulls' sixth win ever in 27 games with Los Angeles.

Erving leads Nets victory

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Julius "Dr. J." Erving rebounded from a rugged bachelor's party and a nine-hour delay in his wedding to score 18 points and lead the New York Nets to a 121-91 romp over the Memphis Tams on his honeymoon Sunday.

Erving, whose marriage Saturday to Turquoise Brown was delayed until after midnight by the late arrival of the bride's mother from North Carolina, had a late start himself against the Tams.

While taking a jump shot in pre-game warmups, Erving twisted his left knee and hobbled to the dressing room.

Tim Berra inks pact with Colts

COCKEYSVILLE, Md. (UPI) — The Baltimore Colts Sunday signed 17th round draft choice, Tim Berra, the son of New York "Yogi" Berra.

The Colts' manager attended the ceremony at which his 5-foot-11 son, a 184-pound receiver from the University of Massachusetts, formally signed a contract with the Colts.

Asked about his son's plans to pursue football rather than baseball, Yogi commented, "I don't know much about football, played it as a kid and all I cared about was tackling people. I liked defense."

Colt General Manager Joe Thomas said he scouted young Berra in the North-South game and recalled that what impressed him most was that "Tim will catch anything thrown near him. He has excellent hands."

Bucks topple Celts 95-86

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — With Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scoring 20 points and grabbing 21 rebounds, the Milwaukee Bucks scored a 95-86 National Basketball Association victory over the Boston Celtics Sunday afternoon at the Providence Civic Center before a crowd of 11,671.

Jabbar gave the Bucks the lead of the first basket of the game and Milwaukee never trailed. The Celtics tied the score at 16 with less than five minutes to go in the first period, but the Bucks were on top 27-20 at the period's end. Milwaukee opened up a 51-39 lead at the half and 77-42 lead at the three-quarter mark.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES. Take part in discussions or other activities that will place you in a secure position with powerful persons and the general public. You want to produce results — make them worthwhile.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Analyze reports and be sure they pass muster with higher-ups. Show devotion to loved one for peace harmony, happiness. Avoid a troublemaker.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Discuss mutual aims with associates and clear up most points. Ignore those who oppose you and all is fine.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Improve your relationship with fellow workers. Get into policy matters that add to benefits of all concerned. Make your home a haven of content.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Recreation you like can tone up your system and make you more efficient. A few persons have good advice for you in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A good day to make your home more charming and to check utilities for good condition and safety from fire hazards. Please kin at home.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make sure reports are accurate. Then help an associate who is having tough sledding. Evening can be fine from the social standpoint.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Get advice from expert on planning better, financially, for easier life. Avoid some situation that could get you into trouble.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Concentrate on personal matters. Attend only those social functions that can be of help to you. Show that you have true charm.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Quietly analyze ways to make your life more ideal and to increase income. Listen to what an adviser has to suggest.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Join with clever friends at a meeting that can be most helpful to you. Avoid one who has a sadistic viewpoint.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Listen to what higher-ups have to suggest and further your career activities. Join in a public affair that can help you and your community.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get the right approach to activities to become more successful in them. Forget business and concentrate on fun in p.m.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will have fine abilities that they have to be made workable through proper educational courses. Teach not to be so sensitive and to learn to work with others cooperatively for real success. Give the child — while young — so the important habit of taking responsibility and carrying through wisely is formed early.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

"In love, there's always one who kisses and one who offers the check." The French say that, proverbially. Comes to mind because of a sad line in a note from a San Francisco subscriber. Writes he: "I really thought I had the key to my girl's heart, but it just didn't fit her temperament."

Things that never come out even: Envelopes and stationery. Spaghetti and sauce. Pencil and eraser. Hotdogs and rolls. Stamps and valentines. What else? A hole and its rell dirt.

Was none other than Harry F. Harlow who said, "Man is the only animal capable of speaking and woman is the only animal incapable of not speaking."

KILLER WHALES

Recently reported there is no known record of a killer whale attacked against a man. Chase that, R. E. Sinton of Acme, Mich., piloted Air Force planes over Alaska during World War II. He describes the ditching of a C-54 between Adak and Cold Bay by one Capt. Johnson, a squadron leader he admired greatly. "A follows," Johnson pulls a perfect setdown and gets into his dinghy. About then, a pack of killer whales surrounded him. We circle at wave height trying to scare them off. We have no ammo for the guns. One whale knicks him out of the dinghy, but he swims back and tries to climb again. Then another whale leaps out of the water and comes down on top of him. In a few seconds, the dinghy pops back up. The whale and Johnson are gone.

Clear, sunny weather to continue

Twin Falls, northside area, Burley-Rupert. Continued fair today through Tuesday, with increasing clouds late Tuesday. Lows tonight $to 10. Highs Tuesday mid 30s to near 40. The outlook for Wednesday, variable cloudiness and a little cold.

Synopsis: The high pressure at the surface and aloft which maintained fair skies and mild temperatures over western Idaho most of last week and through the weekend shows signs this morning of slow deterioration. The storm system approaching the northwest coast of Washington will move inland with the associated clouds and precipitation reaching northern Idaho Tuesday, spreading cloud cover to the southern part of the state late Tuesday and Wednesday.

Fair conditions with seasonal conditions will continue through Tuesday. The extended cold, Wednesday through Friday, for southern Idaho calls for an increasing chance of rain Wednesday and Thursday. Temperatures call for highs mostly in the 40s and lows in the 20s and 30s.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — John Connally, former governor of Texas and former adviser to President Nixon, said Sunday the soaring price of oil could cause a famine in many areas of the world.

He said, in expressing hope the Arab embargo would soon be lifted, that the price of oil could cause an enormous burden on developing nations.

"How are they going to pay for it, they have no way to pay for it, they have nothing to sell to get the revenue to pay for their oil needs, they can't even buy fertilizers to grow food.

"This carries with it the fear that we may see a food shortage and a famine in much of the world," Connally told in news conference.

Connally, a newly organized group called "New Nevada."

"The Denver-based Republican said the energy crisis was one of tremendous magnitude but one that could be solved. He expressed his belief the Arab embargo would be lifted in 90 days and the price of oil would drop from highs of $17 a barrel to $5 or $5.50 a barrel which he termed "acceptable."

Arabs view conference as threat

BEIRUT (UPI) — The Arab petroleum kings have had no doubt of what they think of the oil consumers meeting in Washington today — their message is read softly.

The Shah of Iran, the second biggest oil producer on the Persian Gulf, said in a recent interview if the conference gave the slightest evidence of wanting confrontation with the oil producers they will regret it very dearly.

All the Arab oil producers have indicated they view the conference with suspicion, and the Libyan state oil described it as an "aggressive net against the oil producing states, particularly the Arab states.

"It is an American trap to sanction American tutelage in Europe, on the one hand, and to internationalize resources by means of force on the other," the radio said.

Algeria's President Houari Boumediene, in an interview with the Paris newspaper Le Monde, told European countries "if they yield before the American big stick, they will once again — return — to the sidelines of history."

74 OLDS OMEGA

BIG CAR FEATURES & SMALL CAR PRICE

MAKE (2 door hardtop)	Engine Cu. in.	Cylinders	cubic wt. lbs.	Wheel base (inches)
Olds Omega	250	6	3227	111
Toyota Mark III	137.5	6	2670	101.8
Datsun 610	108	4	2380	96.4
VW Super Beetle	96.7	4	1918	95.3
Comet	250	6	2867	103
Vega	140	4	2441	97
Maverick	200	6	2893	103

When Oldsmobile's big-car people give you a little car, you can be sure Omega isn't going to be just another compact. It sure isn't. Omega is more car than some of the other compacts. Its wheelbase is longer — the tread is wider, too. A smooth-running 250 cubic inch engine is under the hood. You can see the big-car thinking built in — and feel it, too, because inside, it's surprisingly roomy and quiet. Omega uses the same kinds of sound insulators put into big Oldsmobiles. And they're used generously. Add it up, and Omega is indeed a lot of little Oldsmobile. Small enough for tight bays and for tight parking spots — but in driving satisfactions, it doesn't feel small at all. It's just about what you'd expect from Oldsmobile, isn't it?
