Syria, Israel clash on Golan Heights

By United Press International
Syrian and Israeli troops clashed with tanks and artillery on the Golan Heights front today and the Israeli force took to the skies, SYRIA and Israeli military spokesmen reported. It was the first clash since Israel went on a high state of alert two days ago.
A Syrian military spokesman said the clash started at 10:15 a.m. (2:15 a.m. MDT) and continued for seven hours. Then at 12:30 p.m. (4:30 a.m. MDT) Israeli artillery opened up on Syrian positions and concentrated heavy artillery fire continued for 25 minutes, Syria reported.
The Syrians said the Syrian fire silenced three Israeli artillery batteries, destroyed two other batteries and destroyed an engineering unit.
Israel said Syrian gunners today fired several antitank rockets and artillery shells at Israeli forces on the Golan Heights front line. Israeli's warplanes scrambled into the skies over Israel and the front line areas, military correspondents reported over the national radio.
Neither the Israeli nor the Syrian press has demobilized from the October war and both were in a high state of readiness. Israeli troops were ordered to observe a strict no-shoot-back policy of the possibility of a Syrian attack to try to regain territory lost in 1967.
The Syrians opened initially with antitank fire and 45 minutes later pounded Israeli positions with the Israeli front line with shells within the space of an hour, an Israeli military spokesman said.
The military command said the antitank fire caused no casualties. The spokesman said the Israelis returned the artillery (UPI) said there was a ceasefire today.

that following the initial Israeli attack at the Golan Heights.
It is a warning of an Israeli military source of a possible Israeli military attack on the Golan Heights.
Aviv: "More shells were fired after the initial attack. But at this point it is too soon to tell just where the war will end. It is too soon to tell just where the war will end. It is too soon to tell just where the war will end."
Israel has been in a state of alert since Wednesday following reports that Syrian military had pulled up and speculated as to whether to retake territory lost in October 1973. It is unclear as to whether the Syrian military is in a position to retake territory.

Postage increase discussed

Editor, Times-News: I have just purchased my first roll of recent postage stamps and I must say the first one comment on the postage increase is a part of the reason we sorely need this raise.

The General Accounting Office furnished the following information on the cost of furnishing the postmaster general's office: The postmaster general's office—office to Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, according to a recent publication—$18,200 to furnish the postmaster general's office, another $10,000 for the reception area (press conference room). The postmaster general's secretary's desk—$1,200; boss telephone table—$127.50; sofa—$821.08; convertible couch—$1,143.74; marble top office lavatory—$100; office carpeting—$11,666; two sets of walnut doors—$200 with Postal Service seal—$1,741; office draperies—$5,999; pantry—$5,200; kitchen—$4,800.

Contents of other rooms—drum table—$1,585; sofa—$1,526; sideboard—$1,900; chandelier—$1,177; chandelier—$2,700; paring, $12,000; and $1,700 worth of draperies. The postmaster general also spent $12,000 for travel outside Washington, D. C. during fiscal year, 1972.

Now you add all these up and figure a 2 cent increase in postage that takes a lot of stamps to cover all those costs. Someone has to pay for all of this luxury and are elected to office to really cover the business and bank and trust man outfits to pay for this when the general public is stupid enough to accept it.

Defense offered for sugar industry

Editor, Times-News: I would like to make a comment on the article in the Thursday news, Feb. 23, titled "Sugar control not proposed by group."

As my husband is an employee of one of the major sugar companies in Twin Falls I feel as though I should say a few words in defense of the sugar industry. It is a known fact that until recently sugar has been for many years one of the most profitable commodities we could purchase if not the greatest stores, but the soaring prices of all other food items have forced the sugar companies to raise their prices also so that they in turn can pay the farmers more incentive to raise beets through higher prices for raising them. If our government, both past and present, in favor of the sugar industry in these United States, and the sugar companies are forced out of business, our government would be putting our country in the dire position of exporting to all other countries for the purchase of sugar on a world wide market that has already made it a known fact that there is a world wide sugar shortage. It is so easy to put ourselves at the mercy of other nations for this commodity when we can raise it ourselves.

Our dependence on other countries to supply our sugar has shown how they can throw our economy all out of balance. I have noticed of late a warming up attitude on the part of our government toward Castro's Cuba. Didn't we used to be in the habit of buying our sugar from the purchase of sugar?

We would be paying a much higher price for sugar under these circumstances than we are at the present time. My husband has been employed by the United Fruit Sugar Co. for 22 years. I think we can honestly say that the company has always paid a fair wage. They have good benefits which include a life and health insurance program and also a good retirement program which they have every moment.

MRS. J. H. A. BAER, Twin Falls.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Collodion aids recovery from shingles

By GEORGE THORSTEN, M.D. Dear Dr. Thorsten: One subject of shingles—herpes zoster—as a teenager many years ago. I had a bad bout. Our old G. P. had my mother point my chest with several blisters of flexible collodion. I believe this was to eliminate contact with the air. At any rate, relief was prompt and I made a speedy recovery. W. N. McC.

Thank you, will pass the idea along for what it is worth. Frankly, I don't understand why it should be curative, but perhaps it can't if it didn't work for you.

The young, of course, usually recover from shingles, as well as most other things, more rapidly than an older patient will. Maybe you got the collodion just about the time you had the attack beaten anyway. Or it may have given you a psychological boost. No real relief, I suspect. Or perhaps it did indeed speed your recovery. All your do is speculate, and I have long since found that if you know to be a fast possessor about such things.

Dear Dr. Thorsten: What are the symptoms of low blood sugar? My sister, 15 and mother of two children, as a driver her good husband and all of us crazy with me erratic behavior. She later moved her home is fifth her children crossed during period, except her husband's friends who shut out it didn't work for you.

into tantrums that leave her little family and all of us shaken for days. No real relief, I suspect. Or perhaps it did indeed speed your recovery. All your do is speculate, and I have long since found that if you know to be a fast possessor about such things.

$50,000 ransom paid, boy free

DIX HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — The 8-year-old son of a well-to-do Cuban immigrant was released today but the money in his father's pocket was still unaccounted for. The boy was abducted by kidnapers early today, 2 1/2 hours after his father paid $50,000 in ransom, the FBI said.

The boy, John Calzadilla, was abducted Wednesday by three persons who walked home from school in this New York suburb. He was released in New Jersey shortly after 1 a.m.

Today, the kidnapers escaped with the money. The boy's father, Michael Calzadilla, 38, put the money in a bag as instructed by the kidnapers and tossed it from his car just outside the Lincoln Tunnel, which runs underneath the Hudson River between New York and New Jersey.

The child was released from a dark-colored sedan at a service area in Secaucus, N.J., according to the FBI. Authorities said the boy appeared to be dazed, after having apparently been drugged, but was otherwise unharmed.

Police, Kelly, police commissioner of Suffolk County, N.Y., where the Calzadillas live, said the boy told police his abductors put "a white cloth around his mouth and nose that made him sleep."

Calzadilla and his son were taken to the FBI's offices in New York City and then flown home by helicopter.

Kelly said the boy's family raised the ransom "through a number of friends and relatives."

The police commissioner would not say how much ransom was paid, but an FBI spokesman in New York City gave the amount as $50,000.

The police made a telephone call to the Calzadilla family Thursday night, giving instructions on how to deliver the money.

Kelly said the boy's father was told to put the money in a bag, drive through the Lincoln Tunnel into Weehauken, N.J., head north and then toss the bag out the car window.

Calzadilla was then to go to a certain phone booth in New Jersey and get further instructions. But when Calzadilla called the kidnapers from the phone booth, they told him they could not find the money and asked him to return in the dark and try to find it, and then go to a nearby motel.

Calzadilla went back to where he dropped off the money, but could not find it.

He went to the motel and was told there by authorities that his son had been released.

Solons face amnesty issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After allowing the amnesty issue to simmer for a year after the Vietnam cease-fire, Congress is ready to face the troublesome issue head-on.

Rep. Bob Kastenmeier, D-Wis., has announced his subcommittee on courts, civil liberties and the administration of justice will begin hearings today on the more than half dozen amnesty proposals that have been introduced in the House.

With passage of more than a year since our direct involvement in Vietnam, Kastenmeier said, it is hoped that Kastenmeier added "the cause of the raw nerve these hearings will touch in many Americans, I believe, it would have been unwise to attempt them earlier than now."

The subcommittee has before it a bill pending before the Senate, which grants amnesty to all draft resisters and military opponents of the war, including our deserters.

The bill also contains provisions for conditional amnesty of the subject agrees to perform alternate service to the country.

The bill will also support both these sides as well as from those who like President Nixon, oppose the granting of amnesty in any form.

The government has said there were 5,500 outstanding indictments for draft law violations as of mid-1973.

There were 3,000 reported draft resisters but only 1,000 yet reached the indictment stage.

4th food giveaway under way

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Directors of the food program to win freedom for kidnaped Patricia Hearst intensified security today for the fourth distribution, which brought to more than $1 million the amount spent for the poor.

A Ludlow Kramer, director of "People-In-Need," said the number of guards at the center has doubled since the incident four to eight and all trucks were equipped with communications devices.

Kramer said the action was taken because of the hijacking of a truck with 12,000 pounds of meat and poultry and the theft of trucks from another truck. He added there has also been food pilfering but this amounted to less than 1 per cent.

Kramer told reporters that $150,000 had been spent for the first three giveaways and $300,000 was used for today's giveaway. He said the $2 million mark.

The Hearst family put up $2 million for the program with the Hearst Foundation providing the other $1 million.

House kills pure food, drug, cosmetic proposal

TN Capitol Bureau
BOISE — On a 21-11 vote, the House killed a measure Thursday to establish a State Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act to parallel federal law.
 Rep. Herb Fitz, R-New Meadows, said the proposal would insure food is pure and properly labeled.
 "In the protection of the consumer... has health and pocketbook. I think this bill should pass," he said.
 But 7 series of representatives spoke against the measure.
 Rep. C. L. Otter, R-Caldwell, said the act would give an inspector of the Department of Health and Welfare an "unlimited power" to confiscate merchandise without going through the courts.
 The bill also failed to define the qualifications necessary for the inspectors.
 Otter said he further maintained that the bill would allow "legal by new power" that the department "to disseminate information regarding food, drugs and cosmetics if consumers harmful. He said there are two bills now being considered by the US Congress which would change the US Food and Drug Administration's jurisdiction.

Other read a letter from Dr. James Cox, administrator of the Department of Environmental and Community Services saying DECS did not sponsor the bill and that he does not have a position on it.
 But Fitz said his letter shows the lack of cooperation within the state agency because a DECS attorney drew up the proposal.
 Rep. Allan P. Larsen, R-Blackfoot, said he was disturbed by the definition of "dealer" to include what is eaten by animals.
 He said the U. S. Department of Agriculture already has authority over the area and that appointing two departments to look after this would be wasteful.
 Rep. Wayne Hobbits, D-Loreno, was harsh in his criticism. "This bill would create a complete police state over the whole state of Idaho administered by the Department of Health and Welfare," he said.
 Many opponents to the measure were taking part of it out of context. He said only the labeling of food products, cosmetics would be inspected. Also, he said adulterated or dangerous food products should be taken off the shelves without months of court battles.

Senate OK's pay raise for aides

TN Capitol Bureau
BOISE — The Senate passed a bill Thursday to raise the pay of House members' aides to all the state's elected officials since the 1970 election.
 The raises would be effective beginning in January 1976. However, next fall's election would be the first raises for the elected officials since the 1970 election.
 Under the proposal, the lieutenant governor would receive an increase to $3,000 from the present $7,000. The secretary of state, state auditor and state treasurer would jump to pay $42,500 from the current $37,000. The superintendent of public instruction would receive $27,000 a year under the plan instead of $18,000.
 The attorney general would receive the biggest pay boost under the plan, up to $25,000 from the current $18,000.
 "The governor would maintain an annual salary of $40,000 under the bill," Majority Leader Phil Battley said.
 The bill should pass because it has passed twice in the past year, he said. The House passed the bill last week and the Senate passed it last week.

He said the figures in the measure were the results of "negotiations" between House and Senate leadership. Evans, D-Malden, also urged passage of the bill. He termed the raises "very reasonable."

Aid for guards delayed

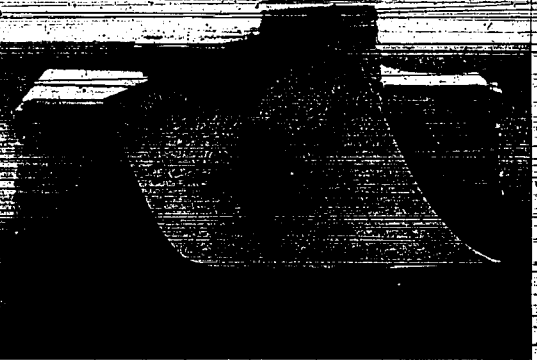

BY BILL CZARUS
TN Capitol Bureau
BOISE — A proposal to help finance the education of Idaho National Guardsmen may be in trouble.
 The bill, which would provide payment of up to 50 percent of the guardsman's college registration fees, was held up in the Senate Transportation Committee Thursday.
 Committee Chairman Reed W. Smith, R-Spokane, does not know when the bill might be considered.
 He said the Senate members of the committee, including himself, are hesitant about serious consideration of the bill because of an education fund with such a specific purpose. He said the bill would provide a "subsidy" to individuals attending college. He said that on the present pay scale, National Guardsmen receive through sergeant's pay about $25 daily with a $10 minimum.

 But Hulse said he has not decided whether to back the proposal.
 He said that there is "no way" of knowing the exact impact of the measure because the need for numerous guardsmen would occur only during emergencies.
 The bill had been law when the recent flood disaster in North Idaho occurred; the additional pay would have cost the state $3,000 to $1,000, said

Land change opposed

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Land Commission on Thursday opposed a proposed legislation which would allow sales of school and agency lands.
 The joint resolution came out of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee Wednesday and was sent to the Senate Thursday.
 The bill would allow one state Board of Land Commissioners to transfer granted lands to another state agency for public purposes upon payment of the market value of such lands.
 The board's opposition said the public lands involved are in effect being taken out of public ownership and transferred to private hands.
 Both Strohoff and McLean said the bill would result in public lands becoming involved in private ownership.

By MRS. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Not so long ago a friend of mine telephoned and asked if she could come to my home to hear me speak. I had just heard that her husband was not going well and I was sure she wanted to talk about it.

She was a young woman, successful in her job, married to an energetic and equally successful man. So far as I knew, neither of them was involved with anyone else, but clearly there was something wrong between them.

When she arrived, she came straight to the point. "I'm not sure I can do this," she said. "I'm not sure I can do this."

She looked up sharply. "I'm not sure I can do this," she said. "I'm not sure I can do this."

wife puts lovability back in marriage

I have cancer. The doctors think it may be terminal. My husband doesn't know this, and I don't want him to worry. I don't want him to worry.

Norman promised he would believe the message. When he did, the husband said, "She thinks I'm going to die and she's just trying to spare me. She never thinks of herself."

The third component of lovability was decided, honesty—especially self-honesty. It's almost impossible to love a person who's arrogant or domineering, but it's easy to love a person who has faith and confidence in you.

The fifth requirement for lovability, we concluded, was the capacity for appreciation. We also felt that this is the quality most likely to be missing in shaky marriages.

"I'm afraid that's been true of ours," Florence said ruefully. "I've been so busy putting myself on the back about my contributions that I haven't bothered to appreciate Jack."

"Really," I said. "I think it can happen with any marriage. Most housewives do far more work than they're usually given credit for."

"Likewise, most men spend only a tiny fraction of their income on themselves. The rest goes to support their families. Wouldn't it be wonderful if married partners now and then could say spontaneously to each other, 'I just want you to know that I think you're marvelous, that without you I couldn't begin to be happy. I'd never get by'?"

All that happened weeks ago. Jack and Florence are still together. I don't know whether their marriage will make it or not, but my hopes rise every day.

Bruins meet Rams for state title tonight

BOCATELLO - The Twin Falls Bruins broke away in the fourth quarter Thursday night to drop Skyline 49-37 and claim the right to meet Highland's Rams at 8:30 p.m. Friday for the state championship.

The Bruins, trailing by eight points in the first quarter, battled to protest meager leads through most of the middle quarters. Then, Kim Nelson came up with five points to open the final period and the Bruins quickly ran to a 21-point margin and coasted home.

Friday night's game will mark Twin Falls' fourth chance to win a state champion. The Bruins were runners-up in 1936, 1964 and 1965. Ironically, Bruin Coach Don Haynes now has a chance to win a title with a team he coached in 1964. He was coaching Kellogg that year and relegated the Bruins to second.

Highland earned the title by defeating Moscow 71-59, 13. Lash also picked up 17 rebounds.

Hovey had an overpowering floor game as he fouled out Skyline's quick defensive ace, Gary Moss, in five playing minutes. He and Haynes combined on the guard line to handle Skyline's three-quarter duration press without a turnover. In the final quarter, 69 Kent Schmidt came up with great scoring rebound and a remarkable blocked shot when the outcome was still in the balance.

Twin Falls wound up hitting 29 of 61 attempts against 20 of 47 for Skyline.

In the early going, it appeared Skyline was playing on the right night as Dave Gill waxed hot from 20 feet and hit eight points as Skyline blew away from an 8-4 lead to 14-11. But Lash, Haynes, switched, and Haynes switched, and Haynes followed a shot and Hovey rolled inside for a 4-11 lead.

had a closing free throw for Skyline.

Nelson opened the fourth quarter with a three-point shot and scored what might have been a jumper around a 44-34 lead.

Haynes, Hovey and Lash reeled off six straight Bruin points for a 48-36 lead.

Twin Falls became more deliberate at that point and four free throws by Hovey and Lash field goal finally lifted the Bruins to a 49-37 victory over the Rams letting this season for an unblemished trip to the state finals.

In the other semifinal, Highland came up with a comfortably over the first three quarters. Moscow pulled a rally in the fourth period and cut the deficit to seven. Highland's Russ Freppie, which could have reduced the margin to five, marked the winning point of Moscow's charge and Highland then spent the next enough to lose in consolation play. Steve Connor staged a 11-point exhibition in leading the Bruins' past Nampa 78-68.

Highland's first round game was a 60-50 win over a team that had a 10-point lead in the first quarter. Highland's Steve Connor was the star, scoring 12 points and making 10 of 12 free throws.

First pact signed

CHICAGO (UPI) — Richard C. Galt, executive vice president of the Associated Bakers of America, warned Wednesday there will be bread lines as long as gasoline prices before a summer government does not act unilaterally to limit wheat exports.

There has been a debate about whether the price of bread will rise if the wheat export ban is lifted. The real question is whether there will be bread at my price, said Galt.

The American Bakers Association is using scare tactics to get attention, said Galt. He said the reason for the wheat export ban is to protect the domestic market from a glut of wheat.

Stockman defends industry

WASH. (UPI) — Richard Galt, executive vice president of the Associated Bakers of America, defended the industry Wednesday.

Galt said the industry is not responsible for the price of bread. He said the price of bread is determined by the price of wheat and the cost of production.

Cattle sell lower

TWIN FALLS (UPI) — Cattle with a yearling calf sold at a low price in the Twin Falls market Wednesday.

The market was down from the previous week. The price of a yearling calf with a cow was $1.50.

Beef price cut asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl Butte urged supermarkets Thursday to cut retail beef prices by reducing their costs.

Butte said the price of beef has risen sharply in the past few months. He said the price of beef is up 20 percent since January.

Meat yield drops

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Department of Agriculture reported Thursday that the yield of meat from a cow has dropped 1.5 percent since January.

The report said the yield of meat from a cow was 11.35 percent in January, down from 11.5 percent in December 1973.

Gains told

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The Olsen-Cole Co. has reported record earnings of nearly $213 million for the first quarter of 1974.

The company said its earnings were up 14 percent over the same quarter last year.

Links expand

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The energy crisis has led to the expansion of links between the petroleum industry and the electric utility industry.

The expansion is being done to reduce the cost of electricity and to increase the efficiency of the power industry.

Produce Prices

Produce prices are generally stable in the Twin Falls market. The price of potatoes is up 5 percent, while the price of onions is down 2 percent.

Grain

Grain prices are generally stable in the Twin Falls market. The price of wheat is up 10 percent, while the price of corn is down 5 percent.
