Jury acquits Garrison
NEW ORLEANS, La. (UPI) — Jim Garrison, colorful New Orleans district attorney, was acquitted Tuesday of income tax evasion by a US District Court jury which deliberated only an hour.
Garrison was charged with failing to pay federal income taxes on $69,000 in unreported income in 1965-67, $48,000 of it in bribes. He quipped after the trial he might not pay more than $600 this year "until I see what happens to President Nixon."

Ex-Beatie won't be charged
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Former Beatle John Lennon will not be charged as a result of a night-club fracas, although he is accused of punching a woman photographer in the eye.
The district attorney's office said there was insufficient evidence for an assault charge. The incident began when Lennon allegedly began heckling the "Smother's Brothers" who were performing.

UFO probes Condon, 72, dies
BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Physicist Edward U. Condon, 72, who concluded flying saucers were either imaginary or common objects, died Tuesday at a hospital here of complications resulting from heart trouble.
A New Mexico native, he headed the US Bureau of Standards for six years, quitting in 1951 because of harassment by the House Un-American Activities Committee. He headed the Air Force's investigation of UFO's from 1966-68.

Shultz off to Latin America
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz flew to South America today for monetary, trade and energy talks. His first stop will be Caracas to discuss oil with Venezuelan officials.
"Venezuela clearly wants to lower oil prices," Shultz told a news conference Tuesday. He will also visit Brazil and Chile and head the US delegation to the Inter-American Development Bank meeting.

Moscow meeting postponed
MOSCOW (UPI) — Communist party General Secretary Leonid Brezhnev canceled a scheduled meeting this morning with US Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger without explanation but agreed to meet him later in the day.
Kissinger told newsmen he saw nothing ominous in the cancellation of the morning meeting to continue talks on the issues to be resolved before President Nixon visits Russia in June.

Littering charged
HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Robert Spears, 27, acquitted Monday of murdering a "motorcycle" gang leader whose body was weighted and dropped into the Ohio River, was charged with littering—the river—with the carcass of a dead animal, to wit, Rocco Thompson.
Spears was freed on $500 bond pending arraignment April 11. He admitted he could be fined with the $20 to $50 for littering a public stream with the remains of a dead animal.
He had been accused of shooting Thompson, a member of "The Avengers" motorcycle gang, Spears admitted he killed Thompson last July when the cyclist threatened to shoot a woman. Spears and two other men then allegedly tied a 30-pound metal grate to Thompson's body and dumped it in the Ohio River. The body was found several days later.

Forest aid urged
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church is urging the Transportation Department and Budget Office to release nearly $1.5 million in impounded funds destined for Idaho's forest highway construction program.
The Idaho Democrat said that the Nixon administration was illegally impounding the funds and urged Secretary of Transportation Claude Brinegar and Budget Director Roy Ash to release them.
Church cited court decisions which have ruled the administration has no authority to impound funds appropriated by Congress for highway projects.
The Idaho Highway Department has informed Church that unless the funds are released by June 30 they may be permanently lost to Idaho.

Idaho auto registrations show 2-year jump

By BILL LAZARUS
TWIN FALLS — There has been a sudden increase in the number of cars on Idaho's roads during the past two years.
Car registration in Idaho has shot up nearly 17 per cent in the past two years according to the Idaho Department of Motor Vehicles.
The increase in registered cars greatly exceeded increases in previous years.
And the sudden jump in the number of Idaho cars may lead to additional pressure on gasoline supplies available in the state.

According to Jack Farley, director of the Department of Motor Vehicles, the registration rise is due mostly to an influx of people in Idaho.
Related editorial, p. 4.
In 1972 motor vehicle registrations, including trucks and buses, was 324,005, up 8.1 per cent from the year earlier. Last year, the number of vehicles showed an 8.8 per cent jump, to a total of 349,409.
The two-year period showed a net gain of 25,404 vehicles in Idaho, an increase of a net per cent.

In contrast, during the latter half of the 1960s, the average yearly rise in the number of Idaho vehicles rose less than 3,000 cars a year.
The increase was not explained by additional new car sales. Since the mid 1960s new car sales have averaged just over 20,000 cars a year.
During the latter 1960s the number of new car sales ranged from 10,000 to 25,000 yearly—but was always far greater than the increase in vehicle registrations.
This trend was reversed in 1972 and 1973, when the increase in vehicles on the road greatly exceeded the increase in new vehicle sales.

Idaho may face a gasoline shortage due to a burgeoning car population.
While the amount of gas Idaho received was 4.1 per cent greater in 1973 than in 1972, the number of cars registered in the state was a 9 per cent increase.
Idaho had 8.1 per cent more in 1972 than in 1971, but only 6.8 per cent more gas.
In previous years the state's gas consumption outstripped the rise in vehicle registration.
When allocating to the states a percentage of the gas received in 1972, the Federal Energy Office adjusts the 1972 base figure to account for the rise in vehicles registered.

Valley plan groups near merger

By DAVID HORSMAN
TWIN FALLS — A merger of the Magic Valley's two National planning agencies was effectively accomplished here Tuesday night.
The union will take effect on July 1.
The northern unit, the Wood River Resource Area Council of Governments (WRHACOG), adopted articles of association and bylaws for the eight-county coordinating committee which will oversee planning in all eight Magic Valley counties.
WRHACOG includes Canyon, Blaine, Lincoln and Camas counties.
The southern unit, the South Idaho Resource Planning and Development Association (SIRPDA), adopted the same set of articles and bylaws Friday. SIRPDA takes in Twin Falls, Cassia, Minidoka and Jerome counties.

Endorsement of the two agencies' action by all concerned municipalities in the eight-county region is all that is needed for the merger to become official. Since representatives of most of the units sit on the SIRPDA and WRHACOG executive boards, endorsement is considered a formality that should pose no problems.
The eight-county coordinating committee will have 14 members, including a representative from each of the counties, a representative of the soil conservation districts from the north and one from the south.
According to WRHACOG Chairman Don Frederickson, the merger calls for pooling federal and local funds on July 1. Together, the two agencies will get $20,000 in federal aid for fiscal 1975.

WRHACOG counties had budgeted 10 cents per capita for the planning agency. SIRPDA counties had set aside 10 cents per capita.
In order to equalize local funding support during the first year of the merger, WRHACOG counties will knock 20 cents off their per capita assessment.
After the first year, assessments might rise but will remain equal to a county basis.
Frederickson said no decisions were made Tuesday concerning a permanent executive director for the new planning committee or the location of an office in the eight-county region.

Idaho payroll impasse broken

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and the legislative leadership worked out a solution today to an impasse over state employee pay raises.
House Majority Leader H. Ferd Koch, R-Boise, said it now appears the Legislature will be able to provide an extra $1 million for pay hikes to general fund employees.
He said the leadership is uncertain at this point which avenue it will follow but that it has some clear indications of what the governor will accept.
"When we left we understood what he undoubtedly will not object to," Koch said.
Koch said Andrus indicated he would go along with opening revenue projects to a limited extent—especially to reconsider how much interest the state treasurer may derive from her investment of idle funds.

Albion passes bond

ALBION — Voters of Albion voted 75 to 27 Tuesday in favor of a $195,000 bond issue for construction of a sewer system.
The project, the first sewer system capable of serving the entire community, will cost an estimated $245,000. Of that $150,000 will come from federal funds.
It is a good thing it is something that is needed by the people of Albion, he said.
Mayor Odean Heaman following the election tabulation.
He said construction will begin Aug. 1, according to the present schedule. A small number of homes in Albion had been served by a sewer system constructed for the former college, but this was adequate for only a small area.

19 TF students puff way to suspension

TWIN FALLS — A crackdown against smoking has resulted in the suspension of 19 junior high school students in the last three weeks.
Jack Watts, principal of Robert Stuart Junior High said the students were suspended for five days for smoking or for violating school administration rules.
The school has had a tobacco-free zone since beginning of the year. Watts said beginning with a group of about 10 smokers which has since grown to 25 or 30. Smoking takes place primarily on the playground but also occurs in the restrooms, Watts said.

Pullback in Golan hinted

By United Press International
Hundreds of shells fell again today in the Golan Heights, Israeli newspapers reported Israel is ready to withdraw from most of the new territory it captured from Syria in the October war but not the larger part she occupied in 1967.
On the 16th consecutive day of artillery exchanges on the west Golan Heights, an Israeli military source said the shelling was the heaviest since Saturday. It forced settlers in the 17 Israeli outposts there to seek safety in shelters.

One Israeli soldier was wounded, Syrian shells also damaged a United Nations outpost and vehicle in the southern part of the Golan Heights occupied in the October war, the Israeli military command said.
The daily shelling appeared to be pressure in advance of the indirect negotiations between Israel and Syria for a troop disengagement. American Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will be the go-between.
Israeli newspapers said the Israeli plan calls for withdrawal from about three-fourths of the Israeli-occupied Golan Heights, but not the highly populated area captured in 1967.

The newspapers' Ha'aretz and Yedioth Ahronoth said Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan will take the proposal, with a detailed map to Washington Friday for presentation to Kissinger.
As a first step, the newspapers said Israel proposed an exchange of about 400 Syrian prisoners of war for 65 Israelis captured by Syria.
Israeli forces would withdraw from 11 of the 17 Israeli-held Syrian hills, handing most of the territory back to Syria and the remainder to United Nations troops for a buffer strip.
An additional thinning out of forces to a depth of 10 miles on each side would be expected to make it impossible to shell the Golan Heights settlements on the one hand and the outlying areas of Damascus on the other," Ha'aretz said.

Further, a strip one to three miles deep would be established on the Israeli-west side of the area.
While the daily shelling continues on the northern front between Israel and Syria, the southern front between Egypt and Israel has been calm since Kissinger arranged a troop disengagement there in January.

Amendment OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Having brushed aside objections that it may be unconstitutional, the House Tuesday approved a strong anti-busing amendment and moved today toward a final vote on the bill.
The House adopted the anti-busing amendment Tuesday and beat efforts to provide more money for urban and affluent schools as it pushed forward to final passage of an aid to education bill substantially different from any before.
The bill has the strong support of President Nixon.

Controversial Burley cop fired nare

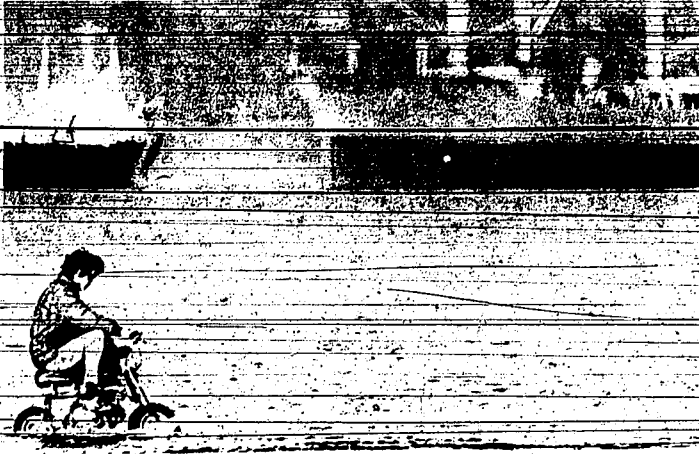

By DAVID ESPO
TWIN FALLS — The Burley policeman who his chief called "a fire" turned out to be a former state narcotics agent who was fired "for the good of the bureau."
State records indicate John T. Walsh was fired from his position in the Ponatello area office of the Bureau of Narcotics and Drug Control in December, 1972.
Walsh currently is serving as a Burley city patrolman until April 10, when he will complete one full year on the force. At that time the city has agreed to sponsor his state certification and transfer him from its force.
Police Chief Ken Barry had tried to fire Walsh earlier this month, but Burley Mayor Charles Shaddock reinstated the officer and the City Council later unanimously supported the mayor's fire.

Chief Barry then resigned, claiming he could not run his department under such circumstances.
Mayor Shaddock told the Times-News Tuesday he had not been aware Walsh had ever been fired from the state narcotics squad.
Walsh declined comment.
A spokesman for the Idaho Police Academy said Walsh would probably receive state certification if the city sponsored him, and the papers were in order.
Walsh's firing from the state narcotics force came at a time when Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park was involved in a major shakeup of the agency was adapted. If one student in a group was found smoking, the whole group could be suspended, Watts said.

Referring to the policy of group punishment for one individual's action, Watts said: "In theory I disagree with it, and I use it very rarely." But he added that he felt necessary in some cases.
If the school feels the need to suspend a student for more than five days, it must take the case before the school board. At this time, Watts said, he has no concerns he feels need the attention of the school board.

office's operation. The shakeup included firing several employees and the prosecution by local authorities of several of the former employees.
Sources familiar with the events at the time indicate that, while Walsh was never prosecuted for any of his activities while he was a state employee.
Sources also indicate Walsh cooperated fully with the investigation of Park and his efforts to clean up the operation of the bureau.
Nevertheless, in October 1973, Walsh wrote Park asking for his old job back.
A month later, Park turned down Walsh's request, according to sources, citing a possible unfavorable public reaction.
At the time he was seeking his job with the state squad, Walsh was already at work on the Burley force.

Grangers complete project

TWIN FALLS — A community service project, the Twin Falls Grange has completed a concrete cellar at Harbor House to help store produce and fresh vegetables. Clark Kleinkopf, chairman of the Grange's community service committee, said about five members worked to dig the small area required for the cellar on the east of the existing basement of the building. A concrete wall of the original building was then cut to provide an opening. All of the excavation was done by hand, Kleinkopf said. Peter Creed, who assisted with arrangements for the project, said two banks, Twin Falls Bank and Trust and Idaho First National, provided funds for the concrete which was poured Monday morning. Creed said the Grange also plans to provide a tool storage building behind Harbor House and will pour concrete flooring for this at a later date. Grange members assist in numerous projects to help worthwhile community organizations and projects.

TF paint store rezoning denied

BY DAVID HORSMAN, Times News writer
TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls City Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday recommended denial of rezoning requested that would allow construction of a retail paint store on Filer Avenue East. Most of the zoners said that a residential professional zoning of the site is an excellent "buffer" between dense commercial development on the west and residential uses to the east. The zoning also said rezoning to a commercial local designation might encourage strip commercialism eastward along Filer. The rezoning request was made by Duard and Mary Lawley for property on the south side of Filer between Perrine Coulee and Elm Street North.

...yard setback requirement, be reduced from 45 feet to 40 feet and that the parking space requirement be reduced by 300 square feet. In their action Tuesday, the zoners recommended approval of a preliminary plan for the Casa Grande-Batafian subdivision. The subdivision site is west of Immanuel Lutheran School between Shoup Avenue West and Heyburn Avenue West. The zoners recommended approval subject to several changes in the plan suggested by city engineers. The recommended approval of industrial zoning upon annexation of two lots south of Twin Falls. The property owned by Thomas Doy is east of Locust Street South between Highland Avenue East and Ehridge Avenue.

No special cleanup day slated for TF

TWIN FALLS — There will be no spring cleanup day, week or month in Twin Falls. Although the city will lend support to the countywide Johnny Horizon Day May 4, city residents are not being asked to set aside any special day to clean yards, homes, basements and garages. City sanitation superintendent Joe Koon and city manager Jean Miller said Twin Falls City residents are now cleaning yards and buildings and are urged to continue at their convenience. "We would like to see the spring cleaning collections spread over a period of several weeks so the sanitation contractor will be able to handle them without having to make special pickups," Miller said. In the past few years this has been a special week known as "and it saves the city having to use special trucks and crews to handle the heavy amount of trash." The county has already paid for their regular monthly garbage assessment fees to cover all debris, trash, lawn clippings and tree trimmings. Miller said. Providing these are properly packed so they can be picked up by the trash trucks, they will be removed on the regular collection schedule by the contractor. Miller said. "Miller said Twin Falls City will furnish several trucks and workers during Johnny Horizon Day and will help the county and volunteer workers during the day to collect litter from residences and public rights of way."

The zoners also recommended residential use (R1) density zoning upon annexation for a three-acre tract east of Park Street and northeast of Harrison School. The property of the Rev. S. W. Sullivan, Lutheran Church, requested residential medium (R2M) density zoning for the site. A church spokesman said a bid has been received for the land, contingent upon annexation and RM zoning. The bidder plans to construct multiple-family dwellings, he said, including 20 apartment house units. Zoner Max Mueller recommended that the church property be annexed under the R1 designation, ruling out high density apartment construction. He said RM zoning might promote uses that would conflict with existing housing in the area. "The church is further recommended approval of zoning variance requests for commercial property on Addison Avenue East near North Five Points. The site is south of Washington School and immediately east of the Pav-Less Shoe store. An auto parts business is planned for the property, according to owner W. Ray Brown. He asked that the front

Physicians take test
TWIN FALLS — Physicians in Twin Falls began a two-week national self-assessment test Monday. The test is designed to evaluate the physician's ability to diagnose and treat infectious diseases and its treatment with antibiotics. Physicians here joined more than 20,000 colleagues at almost 100 other hospitals around the country in the televised test on the diagnosis of infectious disease and its treatment with antibiotics. The test is one of the largest medical quizzes ever given in the United States and is designed to elicit judgments similar to those the physician must make in actual practice. The 30-minute program called "The National Antibiotic Therapy Test" is being given on videotape by the Network for Continuing Medical Education, an independent television service linking medical schools and hospitals around the nation. Local physicians will participate in the televised test at the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Idaho now imports people

There is strong evidence that Idaho has changed from a people-exporting state to a people-importing state.

The movement of people into Idaho may be a flood, not a trickle.

Until recently many people suspected there had been a shift toward immigration, but there has been little evidence to support such a notion.

According to the only solid census data available, the state lost people throughout the decade of the 50's. The net out-migration during that period from the Magic Valley was 11 per cent, or about one per cent a year. That meant there were about 1,000 more people who moved out of Magic Valley during the '60s than chose to move in.

Clearly, any prolonged period of out-migration tends to drain the community of many of its most vigorous people, particularly the young.

Any change from out-migration to immigration would have the most profound impact on a community.

The best evidence to date of the shift to immigration is the sudden unprecedented rise in car registrations in the state.

Ordinarily each year a number of new cars are added to the state's total and each year some old cars are junked. Because there has been a gradual trend toward multi-car families, there are fewer cars junked than purchased, leading to a gradual rise in the number of cars per capita.

Additionally, used cars may be brought into on taken out of the state for sale elsewhere.

In such a normal system, the number of cars would gradually rise.

State figures suggest that this outline roughly describes what happened in Idaho during the 1960s.

During the last half of the decade there were about 20,000 new cars added to the total each year on the average. But because some cars were scrapped, and because some people moved from the state, the total number of cars on the road increased by only about 7,000 per year.

But something changed dramatically during the past two years.

The number of new cars sold remained constant at just over 20,000 cars a year. Presumably, there were some cars scrapped, perhaps 10,000 a year. Under normal circumstances, that would have led to an increase of perhaps 10,000 cars per year.

Instead, the number of car registrations increased by more than 40,000 cars in each of the last two years.

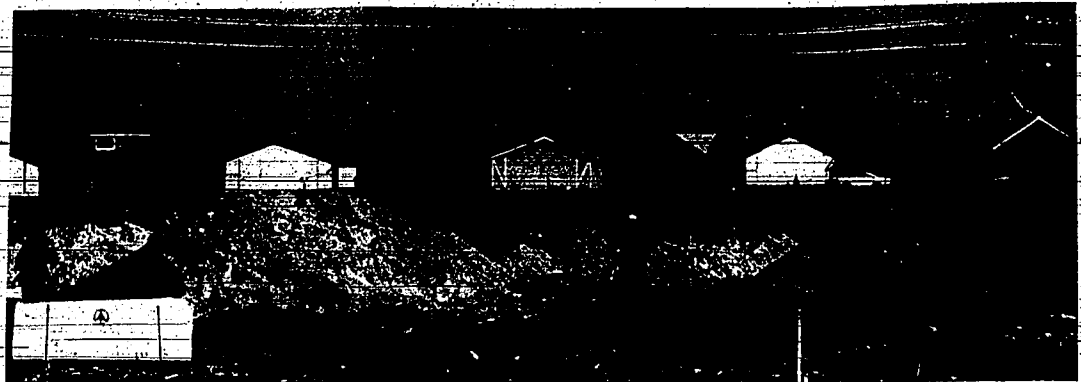

Clearly about 30,000 unaccounted-for cars were coming into the state each year.

If all of that increase were from people moving into the state with their cars, that could represent a movement of about 60,000 people a year into the state, or an unprecedented in-migration of perhaps eight per cent a year.

Were that trend to continue for a decade, the state's population would have more than doubled from imported people, not even counting the natural increase from the people already here.

There are other possible explanations for the movement of cars into the state. It is possible, but unlikely, that cars are being scrapped at unusually low rates, which could raise the number kept on the road. It is possible, but unlikely, that large numbers of Idahoans are suddenly going out of state to purchase new or used cars.

Most likely, we are experiencing a remarkable movement of people to Idaho.

Eastern Twin Falls - Can choice farmland be saved from leapfrog subdivisions?

Can Twin Falls learn from Boise's mistakes?

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS - Can Twin Falls County profit from the land use and zoning mistakes of Ada County?

Two experienced planners are sure of it. They drafted a land use plan for Twin Falls County, they bought an insider's knowledge of Ada County's foibles, and they spent the last four years of the Boise City planning staff. He was recently named Twin Falls City County planning director.

Ted Garrabranti, 28, was Ada County zoning administrator for about five years. He has joined Richey as a planning assistant.

Both say they stepped into a "mess" when they took the Ada County positions. They arrived after unwieldy, ill-conceived planning and zoning ordinances had been adopted for Boise and Ada County.

"Things have got out of control here, there's no doubt about that," Garrabranti said.

There's also "no doubt" that both planners were attracted to Twin Falls County by its higher, almost "virgin" planning potentials.

"The people here are at, at least generally cognizant of what can happen to them if they don't plan," he said.

Asked to name the major land use problem in Ada County, the two planners immediately answered "Urban sprawl."

Garrabranti defined urban sprawl as "new developments which require services and utilities to be extended through and beyond undeveloped land."

The projects are located several miles outside a city, eventually forcing the city or county to take out their concern about population densities to bring services to them, especially sewer service.

Why do housing developers abandon the cities, primarily because of land prices and the tax structure, according to Garrabranti.

They buy land as far as possible from cities because "generally, the further the land is from a city or town, the cheaper it is," he said.

They are also driven out of the city limits by property taxes that "penalize" land developers. But increase when the land is improved. Why buy more expensive land in a city and then pay higher taxes when it is developed?

Also, "taxing the land according to its use and improvements instead of its potential for development discourages the holding of vacant land in and around a city for speculation."

Garrabranti said. The land isn't for sale, so developers go elsewhere - into the county.

The costs of urban sprawl are immense, the planner said. And, to make matters worse, they are usually paid, at least partially, by the general public - those who have no direct interest in the housing projects.

City residents have already paid for their sewer systems, but they sometimes have to pay again when the outlying subdivisions require the sewer lines.

"Subdividers still can't afford to bring out the sewer lines," Richey said. "So, when the area becomes so dense that they must have sewers, the whole community ends up paying for that specific sewer."

It seems that the handwriting is on the wall. Both from the federal and state levels we're going to be required to provide sewers to urban developments," Richey warned.

Garrabranti had a long list of other unnecessary costs generated by "leapfrog" housing projects.

The frequent loss of valuable agricultural land is obvious. But he also included lesser known "evils" such as increased charges for fire and "police protection" and garbage collection.

County fire districts might be forced to build additional stations. And insurance protection might be impossible if fire trucks are required to make excessively long trips to reach a subdivision.

Extraordinary sheriff's deputies could be required to patrol the outlying projects. And garbage collectors might hike their rates because "every extra mile they have to go increases their costs," Richey said.

Expenses for assisting public utilities, including electricity and natural gas, also would be passed on to the general public through higher rates.

So Ada County is infested with urban sprawl and all its costly hangups, the two planners said. But its major city, Boise, is being forced to absorb and cope with those headaches.

"The City of Boise has inherited a massive problem and the City of Twin Falls could also inherit a rather massive problem..." Richey said.

The Ada County commissioners "failed... to fully recognize the extent of their responsibility" not only to rural residents but to Boise citizens, he charged.

Why was runaway urban sprawl allowed in Ada County? It was "all caused by land prices and tax structures, the planners said. The county actually encouraged sprawl by adopting a poor land use plan in 1968. The plan encompassed way too much residential area for future growth," according to Garrabranti. Subdividers immediately "bought land in outlying areas for development and speculation purposes," he said.

Then, in 1971, the fledgling Ada Council of Governments realized they had taken up too much area and "tried to bring it in," Garrabranti said. "Of course, once they had spread out this far, and the land had been divided up or was being held for speculation, it was just about politically impossible to bring the boundaries back in."

And there was an overpowering reason for speculation.

Between 1969, Boise and Ada County received a tremendous economic impact from the West Coast, according to Richey. Boeing Aircraft and several large defense contractors started cutting back employees, and many of them flocked to Idaho in search of jobs and homes.

criticism. In the case of the Twin Falls City area, the homes or subdivisions must be at least two miles outside the city limits on the east and more than one mile out on the west and south.

The same "outside-the-city" rules applies to all communities the size of Twin Falls or larger. The FHA spokesman said nearly $3 million was loaned to Twin Falls County home buyers last year. No loans were made to developers, he said.

A Twin Falls subdivision told the Times-News Monday that FHA loans are currently the easiest to obtain for low-cost housing. Other federal home loan agencies, especially the Veterans Administration, are "tightening up," he said.

There's no question that it does encourage urban sprawl," Richey said. "The developer has a certain guarantee that he will have buyers."

In his opinion, "it's terrible because they're

"The only way to get the same volume of traffic through was to widen that road section. That's of course a public cost that could have been avoided," Richey said.

But Boise also did its share of spot zoning that turned land strip commercialism. "All the zoning we had would up with a business on each corner of the block, and vacant land in between," according to Richey.

"Who wants to build houses between two commercial enterprises on a busy street?" he asked.

We spotted a tremendous amount of land that way. "Twin Falls City has already allowed some strip commercialism, the planners said. "It seems to me that Addison Avenue West, Kimberly Road and Blue Lakes Boulevard North, speak for themselves," Richey said.

"I think anyone who drives those knows what is happening. Traffic is always moving someone wants to turn on or off and it might take three or four changes of the light to get through an intersection."

"Twin Falls' new planners know all about Ada County's mistakes, but how do they intend to avoid them here?"

To prevent urban sprawl, Richey has appealed to the county commissioners to hold down the amount of land they zone for residential development, at least until he can complete a two-year land use study. The commissioners are considering a new zoning ordinance that would allow about 6,000 acres around Twin Falls City for housing projects. Richey wants that temporarily reduced to about 2,000 acres.

Ideally, land use planning should precede all zoning. But Richey realizes that the new ordinance is too far down the line to stop now. And, even without a basis in professional planning, it's better than nothing.

In his recommendation to the commissioners, Richey stressed that new developments in the reduced area should be serviceable by existing sewer lines. That guideline would probably send the projects south and northwest from Twin Falls City along truck routes to the city-county airport and the Snake River Canyon.

"That alone will prompt a certain amount of sprawl or strip-type development," Richey said. "A more compact type of growth would be more economical, but at least it's certainly a 'very' good start."

What's the alternative to strip commercialism? Shopping center complexes, according to Richey.

The big commercial centers will "definitely be encouraged by the land use plan, to start with, although there will be a 'little different approach' in picking locations."

"We will have large areas circled and say, 'Somewhere within this area, we have sufficient dwellings and residential uses' to support a shopping center or we anticipate that growth in this area will be sufficient to support one shopping center," Richey explained.

Then, when somebody proposes a shopping center, "he said, 'they would have to come in for zoning and the land and the commission would have to determine whether or not it's a suitable use for the specific location requested.'"

"We would be identifying service areas for shopping centers, but not specific locations for them," Richey said.

Richey hinted at several other provisions that

The Farmers Home Administration encourages sprawl by loaning only well beyond the city's limits.

We were impacted, primarily from the Seattle area," Richey said. The layoffs "tended to bring a lot of growth in, and once you get something like that started, it usually escalates."

The land had already been purchased for speculative purposes, so when these people came in, that prompted the development of the land," Richey said.

"It changed speculative land into active development," he added.

The same adverse impact could hit Twin Falls County and City under certain conditions. If industrial salaries are raised in the Magic Valley, if a work slowdown occurs again on the West Coast, and most importantly, if land use and zoning "policies" allow "sprawly-type" developments, "then you could see it here too," Richey said.

There's another "real ironic" contributor to urban sprawl, according to Richey. "One of the biggest financiers of urban sprawl," he said, is a federal agency - the Farmers Home Administration (FHA).

The FHA provides loans to home buyers and can give "business and industrial" loans to developers, an agency spokesman told the Times-News.

But there's a big hitch that prompts Richey's using federal money to do something that is against nationally accepted planning guidelines."

Poor commercial development ranks close behind urban sprawl as an Ada County and Boise problem, according to Richey and Garrabranti.

Primarily because of "spot" zoning, "strip commercialism" grew along major arterial roads in the county, Garrabranti said. The county initially placed small commercial zones at intersections of the main streets. But in some areas, were filled with businesses, applications for rezoning the "in between spaces" commercial poured in.

Eventually, the streets were lined with stores that attracted more and more stop-and-go, entering-exiting traffic. "It diminished the capacity of the arterials for carrying traffic and increased accidents," Garrabranti said.

Again, Boise suffered because of the county's mistakes, according to Richey. "We realized that the county was expanding commercial zoning along arterials," he said. "Consequently the streets that formerly carried traffic from outlying residential areas could no longer do so because we had an entry-exit conflict, parking problems and other hazards, so traffic had to move slower."

HANOI (AP) — North Vietnam in a major policy reversal that is only now beginning to surface, has written off plans for a full-scale offensive in the South in the foreseeable future.

That is the conclusion of Hanoi watchers here who are convinced the North Vietnamese leadership has opted for more of the same — continued small-scale warfare coupled with political struggle.

This doesn't mean that Hanoi won't attempt an all-out offensive if and when the time is ripe, say a couple of years from now, according to analysts.

A massive North Vietnamese military buildup coupled with road building program and reconstruction of abandoned U.S. airfields led some observers to believe in the past that Hanoi was pushing ready for another major push to finish off President Nguyen Van Thieu's Saigon government a year after the cease-fire.

But the offensive has not come, despite lively fighting in the central highlands.

Meanwhile as the rainy season approaches, time is running out for the Communists.

Communist documents point to the conclusion that military conquest of the South has taken a "back seat" to a postwar reconstruction of the North, development of the northern economy and what the Communists call "socialization."

North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh said as much in a recent article in the party's leading theoretical journal, Hoc Thap.

In a wordy list of chores now facing Hanoi, Trinh left annexation of the South until next to last in his list of priorities. What he said, in effect, was that North Vietnam comes first.

A variety of factors accounted for the policy switch, analysts say among them: the North's economic bleak, war-ravaged economy, a gloomy outlook for foreign economic aid and perhaps most important of all, pressure from Moscow and Peking.

Some analysts are convinced that despite their own differences, Peking and Moscow are as tied up with

Sterilization technique questioned

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to have a tubal ligation after I have my second child. Is it possible to have it done after the baby is born while I am still in the hospital?

I am only 22. Will a doctor refuse to do this so young?

Will the hospital stay be any longer than the usual five days?

How is this surgery done? Does it require any cutting of the skin at all? — Mrs. A. M.

The tubes can be tied shortly after the baby is born and while you are still in the hospital. It will not prolong your stay at all.

You are pretty young for sterilization and the doctor will doubtless consider your age. A step such as this should be taken only with the understanding that it is probably permanent and the chief negotiator, Dr. Duc Thieu, and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Kissinger's desire was passed to Kissinger by Prime Minister Chou En-lai during the U.S. secretary's visit to Peking last November according to these sources.

Kissinger, at the time up to his ears in search of a "White East peace" was according to reports, supremely unenthusiastic about getting involved in Vietnam again.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am wondering if I have anemia. I have a blood test done every 50 degrees. Would a blood test give the answer? — J.D.B.

A blood test would show whether you have anemia.

Another type of blood test would tell whether you have a very rare condition which involves the blood in thickened form even rather mild chilling, hence retarding circulation.

Of course still other conditions, besides those relating to the blood, can be involved.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to will my body to science or some institution doing research and would appreciate it if you would let me write to write for information. — Mrs. A.

Write to the dean of any medical college of your choice preferably of course, one that is reasonably close to where you live. They'll tell you what is required.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is a cataract operation serious? I am 71 and nervous about the operation because I have a heart condition. Would this make it more serious? I have been told it would not be serious at all on the heart. Is that correct? — H.W.

No, not serious in the sense of life-threatening, but it is an important operation in the sense of restoring vision. The amount of tissue that is disturbed is extremely small.

Envoy denounces claim

WASHINGTON (UPI) — French ambassador Jacques Kosciuszko-Morizet denounced as "pure fabrication and at the very limits of slander" a published report that France advised the Syrian government not to lift an oil embargo against the United States.

In a letter to the Washington Post, Kosciuszko-Morizet expressed "surprise and indignation" at the charge published by syndicated columnist Rowland Evans and Robert Novak. The columnist's picture stood by their story.

The French, intrigued with the Syrians to continue the anti-U.S. oil boycott, they said.

The analysis Monday called on Deputy Secretary of State Kenneth Rush to express his government's strong displeasure at press reports on the alleged French-Syrian exchange.

Rush told him that the United States had no evidence to support the charges.

Kosciuszko-Morizet objected particularly to a caption above a photograph of French Foreign Minister Michel Jobert which accompanied the column.

Press role talk given GOP unit

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Republican Women Monday heard a talk by Richard G. High, Times-News managing editor.

High compared the role of the press to that of a political party which is out of power, noting that both often function in a supplementary role to the party and individuals who hold power.

He said this was one of the checks and balances unique to the U.S. political system.

He said the role of both press and political party can be important in strengthening and weakening the society which has society together and build a sense of community.

He said that the adversary role of press and political parties is a healthy thing unless carried to extremes when it can undermine awareness of community at both national and local levels.

The Republican Women unanimously voted to publish a monthly bulletin for members which Orlette Sinclair will edit.

The next meeting will be April 22.

Valley PTA sets slate

VALLEY SCHOOLS — New officers for the 1974-75 Valley PTA were elected Monday at a regular PTA meeting at the PTA school.

Mrs. Rex Gardner, Hazelton, will be the new president, replacing Mrs. Larry Anderson, Puka. Other officers elected were: Mrs. S. Eugene Hazelton, first vice president; Mrs. Ruth Olson, Eden, second vice president; Mrs. Terry Stiglic, Hunt, secretary; and Mrs. Boyd Bruning, Hunt, treasurer.

Winners of the contest held to advertise the stew dinner and auction were presented prizes. Winners included Michelle Kaserman, first grade; Jill Michley, second grade; Roselle Clark, third grade; Doug Schwarz, fifth grade; Jill Dixon, sixth; John Havens and John Ross, seventh; and Cathy Gates, high school.

Mrs. Anderson said that the dinner and auction sale netted approximately $300 which will be divided among the three schools to be used for playground equipment and other equipment of their choice.

Dean's credibility challenged

(E) N. Y. Times Service — NEW YORK — The defense of the Mitchell-Stans trial used a tactic today to impugn the testimony of John Dean. The tactic was to say that Stans' charge in his way as a prizefighter, between the witness and lawyers for the defense.

It was the first time that any of the Watergate tapes had been used in a trial anywhere, and they were used in an attempt to destroy the credibility of Dean, the former White House counsel, whose testimony is the foundation of the government case against Dean.

John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans. On Monday, Dean, under direct examination, testified that Mitchell had tried to get him to persuade Richard M. Klindienst, then the attorney general, to interfere with the Grand Jury deliberations of this case. The very Grand Jury that ultimately indicted the defendants.

But today Peter Fleming Jr., Mitchell's chief defense lawyer, was able to use the transcript of a portion of a tape recording made March 20, 1972, to attack Dean. The tape was of a conversation between Dean, then White House counsel, and President Nixon.

"Did you tell the President that Mr. Mitchell had called you on March 20 and had asked you to call my attorney general, your friend, Mr. Klindienst?" Fleming asked Dean.

"No, that part, not the latter part, the former, yes," the witness replied.

"And you spoke to the President about this conversation with Mr. Mitchell?" Fleming asked.

"Correct," snapped Dean in reply.

"And you never mentioned to the President any request by Mr. Mitchell that you, Mr. Mitchell, the person of little clout, call the attorney general, Dick Klindienst, did you?" Dean answered.

"No," Mitchell testified Monday. "The Grand Jury considered the Grand Jury 'runaway Grand Jury' were your words to the President, weren't they?" he was asked, and once again he replied, "That's correct."

Mitchell, the former attorney general, and Stans, former secretary of commerce, are charged with perjury, conspiracy, and obstruction of justice for allegedly attempting to impede a Securities and Exchange Commission investigation of the person of little clout, a secret $200,000 cash contribution, that Vesco, a financier, made to the President's reelection campaign in 1972.

Education vote set by House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The two biggest hurdles behind it, the House moved today toward a final vote on a new federal aid to education bill substantially different from any before.

The House, working efficiently despite spirited debate, Tuesday adopted a strong antibusing amendment and rejected moves to provide more money for schools in urban and affluent areas.

On a vote of 238-177, the House accepted the idea of "busing" its neither good educational policy nor good social policy" and voted to prohibit busing beyond a student's second nearest school.

The amendment, which was originally proposed by the administration in 1972, allows seven acceptable remedies — excepting — to end school segregation.

It also:

- Prohibits busing from one school district to another.
- It is to prove the district was intentionally drawn to perpetuate segregation.
- Prescribes a standard definition of equal educational opportunity and imposes its use.
- Allows court-ordered school desegregation plans already in effect to be reopened and modified to comply with the new act.

Rep. Bill Abzug, D-N.Y., the most outspoken opponent, called the bill "a assault upon our children."

Extension bill defeated

(E) N. Y. Times Service — WASHINGTON — The Senate Banking Committee disapproved today an extension of a one-year extension of controls which expire as scheduled at midnight April 30 on all sectors of the economy except petroleum products.

Republicans defeated the extension bill by a vote of 11-4.

Moments later, the committee voted unanimously not to take up any other price-extension bill on the Senate floor as an amendment to another measure.

But John T. Dunlop, director of the Cost of Living Council, said later in the day that he had every expectation that some form of legislation will be reconsidered by the Senate prior to April 30.

Sen. J. Bennett Johnston Jr., D-La., and one of the sponsors of the one-year extension bill told a newsman after the vote that he would probably offer an

Death penalty restored

By United Press

The Pennsylvania state Legislature, overriding the governor's veto, restored the death penalty for murder Tuesday.

The Massachusetts House also in a resounding slap at gubernatorial objections, sent a capital punishment bill to the Senate.

At Harrisburg, Pa., the legislature took only 40 minutes to override Gov. Milton S. Eisenhower's veto of a bill providing death by electrocution.

discontinued when he took office nearly four years ago. He had vetoed the new death penalty bill last Friday just 15 minutes before it would have automatically become law.

In the Massachusetts House, the roll call was 158-72 to put down Gov. Francis W. Sargent's veto against restoring the death penalty, a bill the House had overwhelmed earlier by an overwhelming margin.

Foods approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department today authorized school cafeteria officials to serve two new engineered foods but deferred a final decision on new meat substitutes.

The foods approved as "alternates" in federal school lunch and breakfast programs and similar government-aided programs include enriched macaroni products with fortified protein and formulated grain-fruit products.

The macaroni can be served as a replacement for up to half the meat in school meals but must be combined with one or more ounces of cooked meat, poultry, fish or cheese when served.

Officials conceded there was substantial opposition to use of the new products in school meals, but said they decided after thorough study they should be approved for local use on a voluntary basis.

"These alternate foods are an economical means of providing nutritious foods to a greater number of children and they also increase flexibility in menu planning," officials said.

Spokesmen said, however, they would call for additional public comment on a proposal

Medically indigent persons defined

T-N Capitol Bureau
BOISE — The Senate Health Education and Welfare Committee sent to the floor Tuesday a measure that defines "medically indigent" persons entitled to receive medical attention.

The committee voted unanimously to send the measure to the floor without recommendation after the hospital spokesman for the Idaho Hospital Association assured the members it was designed to permit hospitals to collect the costs of the care from counties who had responsibility to pay for it.

public expense in one county had been transferred to another hospital for further care, and the initial county had refused to pick up the cost.

The proposal, which was already passed by the House, defines "medically indigent" as a person "who has been hospitalized or is in need of hospitalization and who, if an adult, together with his or her spouse, or whose parents or guardian if a minor, does not own assets of one thousand and five hundred dollars; and who doesn't have other income in excess of certain limits.

The proposal also authorizes county commissioners to levy up to five mills on local property to care for medically indigent persons and an additional three mills to construct any necessary buildings.

The committee also voted to hold a proposal to cancel all existing liens on the property of persons who are entitled to old age assistance from the state.

Rep. Herb Fitz, R-New Meadows, appealed to the committee to send the legislation to the floor because he said it discriminated against some people not receiving assistance.

He said recent law prohibits establishing liens on property as a condition for receiving assistance, so persons who only recently became eligible are exempt while those who have been eligible are not.

"What's fair for one is fair for another," Fitz said.

But several of the senators were concerned about the cost to the state of the proposal, and vote to hold it in committee.

MV solons' vote list

BOISE — Here is the roll call of Magic Valley lawmakers on the bill to permit bars to stay open to 2 a.m. in Idaho. The measure was defeated in the House Tuesday, 58-43.

Multiple land use sought for Gem wilderness areas

T-N Capitol Bureau
BOISE — The Senate Resources and Environment Committee voted Tuesday to send a memorial to the floor for final consideration of the bill drawn opposition from environmentalists in the state.

The memorial, addressed to the US Forest Service and the state's conservation agencies, asks that certain areas now under consideration for wilderness classification be turned over for multiple use management.

Rep. Vernon Ravnicroft, R-Tuttle, and Rep. David Little, R-Emmett, appealed to the committee to send the memorial to the floor. It has already been sent from the Senate floor back to the committee once this session. The vote to send it back out for debate was 6-4.

One Mags Valley senator on the committee, Sen. Terry, voted with the majority to send it to the floor. Sen. John Penney, R-Hunter, voted to hold it in committee.

Ravnicroft, who worked hard for the memorial in the House, said "the original primitive areas created in the state weren't created with any great care, but consisted of drawing lines on a map."

He appealed for the request to turn some of the lands over to multiple use management instead of holding all lands as candidates (for wilderness) indefinitely," Ravnicroft, a lumberman, said.

One million acres of land in the state is currently being managed under certain restrictions by the forest service, included in that total is 1.8 million acres in areas currently designated as wilderness.

He said the areas that were set aside 10 years ago as primitive areas involved some that should not have been, and "should be selected back out."

Sen. Robert Kinghorn, D-Pocatello, who had initially agreed to serve as floor sponsor of the measure when it was on the floor, said he now opposes it. "The more I read this memorial the more I am against it," he said.

Kinghorn said the problem that resulted in the drafting of the memorial was poor management of natural resources in the first place. The forest service, he said, first allowed overcutting of timber, permitting local lumber mills to build up an unbalanced high level of business.

Then, when the allowable output was reduced, mills found themselves without work, but he said the solution to that

Senate OK's fish, game license fee increases

BOISE (UPI)—Senators gave final approval Tuesday to a House bill raising fish and game license fees by $1.4 million a year.

Effective next New Year's Day, the bill would hike basic resident hunting and fishing licenses by $2 and a combination license by $4. The bill goes now to the governor.

It took more than an hour of debate and defeat of a move to amend the bill before the Senate passed it. The measure drew opposition for its new concept in placing the heavy increases on big game tags instead of the basic license fee and for dedication of a portion of combination fees for acquisition of property.

Floor sponsor David Bivens, R-Payette, said the measure does, recidly to a degree the license structure. But he said, it was done to "develop a needed management tool for the department."

House approves bill to finance project

BOISE (UPI)—Rep. Lardy Jackson, R-Boise, Tuesday talked the House into approving a bill to impose a two per cent surcharge on liquor to finance the Alcohol Safety Action Project.

Jackson explained that ASAP is losing some of its federal funds the first of July and needs state money to replace it and retain the 26 extra state patrolmen used in the project.

Of 13,182 arrests made by these patrolmen last year, Jackson said, 8,619 were for moving traffic violations. These included 4,059 for speeding and 2,560 for drunk driving.

Jackson said the half per cent surcharge placed earlier on liquor expires as of July 1.

Lawmakers to finger illegal lobbyists

T-N Capitol Bureau
BOISE — Commission of enforcement John Bender is going to arrest any illegal lobbyists in the statehouse until lawmakers point them out to him.

Bender said Tuesday he had written a letter to a dozen senators asking them to let him know about specific acts of illegal lobbying.

The dozen senators wrote him last week, charging unlawful activity is being practiced in the state capital.

One of the letters, John Bender said, was from Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, who received Bender's response by late Tuesday afternoon.

Bender said in an interview he would take no action against the alleged illegal lobbyists until — and unless — some lawmaker could point them out to him.

Ada County prosecutor James Riach, who would have to prosecute the charges against any lobbyist, said he had discussed the situation with Bender. Riach said his duties do not include prosecution of alleged law breaking. He said he would prosecute any charges that resulted from any of Bender's letters.

Riach had been mentioned as a possible candidate for the state senate in the November election.

Speaking of lobbyists, Riach said, "If they arrest them, I'll prosecute them."

The dozen senators who sent Bender the letter last week included Penney and Sens. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, and Robert Saxvik, D-Burley.

The new state commissioner of law enforcement said the Senate had taken a negative action on a bill which would have made the practice of lobbying legal. He said the bill was completed with the fact that nothing has yet been introduced to repeal the old law leads us to the conclusion that the Idaho Senate at least expects your department to enforce the anti-lobbying law.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

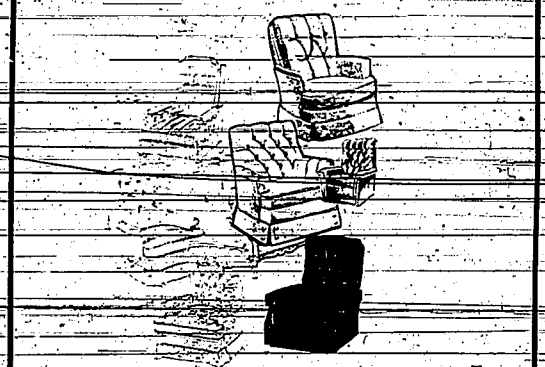

Here is another hand from the Culbertson Sims match of 1935. The bidding in the box is how the hand might be bid to day. South merely rebids in three spades after his partner's jump rebid in hearts. North just goes to the spade game. For all he knows, South may have six spades to the king and a side queen or so.

South bids five clubs to show that ace. North bids five notrump. This is the grand slam force invented by Culbertson shortly after the match and now a part of most expert bidding. Kite South has two of the three top spade honors and goes right to seven spades.

He wins the diamond lead. With diamonds ace leads the three of spades to his eight, puts a diamond on the jack.

Hagerman miss, Hendrix recite vows

HAGERMAN — Cynthia Louise Grimes and Michael Eugene Hendrix were married in a double ring ceremony March 9 in the United Methodist Church, Hagerman.

Rev. Carl O. Wilde of the Gooding Church of the Nazarene performed the afternoon ceremony before an altar flanked with baskets of spring flowers and candleabra holding white tapers. A three-petaled candleabra holding white tapers was used during the unity ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood D. Grimes, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hendrix, Gooding.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white organza over satin featuring a high neckline and ruffled hemline with a short train.

The long, sheer sleeves were gathered to lace cuffs with pearl buttons. Her three-tiered chapel-length veil was fastened to a headpiece of lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red rosebuds and white spider-chrysanthemums tied with white streamers.

The gown was designed by the bride and made by her mother.

Maid of honor was Darla Shaffer, Hagerman, college roommate of the bride. Bridesmaids were Christine Grimes—Hagerman, sister of the bride, and Becky Hendrix, Gooding, sister of the bridegroom. Flower girls were Kim and Kelli Stockham, Caldwell, nieces of the bride. Tannie Hendrix, Twin Falls, sister of the bridegroom, was best man; Ronald Wilde and James Byrd, both Gooding, were groomsmen. Revolving gifts were Jani

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL HENDRIX

Stockham, Caldwell, niece of the bride; Margie Lage, Twin Falls, a college classmate, and Corinne Henrich, Twin Falls, cousin of the bridegroom.

Brenda Blades, Gooding, was in charge of the guest book. Care for coats of the guests was Jeff Stockham, Caldwell, nephew of the bride.

Hubert Hendrix, Twin Falls, uncle of the bridegroom, was soloist. Mrs. Warren Berry, Hagerman, was organist.

The couple was honored at a reception in the church fellowship room immediately after the ceremony.

The bride's table was covered with a white organza cloth with full-gathered skirt. The three-tiered cake was decorated in white with red roses and was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and white wedding bells. On either side were heart-shaped cakes inscribed with the names of the bride and bridegroom, and red candles decorated with white icing. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Earl Leatham, Hagerman.

It was cut and served by Mrs. Richard Stockham, Caldwell, sister of the bride. Presiding at the coffee service was Mrs. Roy Eddings-Newberg, Ore.

After the bride and bridegroom punch was Mrs. Hubert Hendrix, Twin Falls, aunt of the bridegroom. They were assisted by the Women of the United Methodist Church.

Special guests were Mrs. Walter Ziegler, Mountain Home, great aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mondragon, maternal grandparents, and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Grimes, paternal grandparents of the bridegroom, all Twin Falls.

Out-of-town guests attended from Oregon, Caldwell, Mountain Home, Gooding,

Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Cokesy, Tribune Co., New York, N.Y., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: It will not surprise you to learn that my attention has been called to your column in which you answer a correspondent who quotes me at length. (It deals with the fact that man is the only animal that blistles on his nose.)

What you notice the amusing fact that I was given a new name: The alleged author was called "David Elton Fine blood."

Faithfully,
DAVID ELTON FINEBLOOD
Earhart College, Richmond, Ind.

Name change

DEAR MR.—TRUE (NOT FINE)—BLOOD: The scholar David Elton Fine, who sent me your brilliant column of good advice, is a very interesting character. He has a very unusual name right, and so did I: How your blood became "fine" from "true" baffles me. The transformation no doubt occurred in the composing room, causing my own blood which is a positive 100% bull-bristle when I saw the error. My apologies to both you and Arthur Prince.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks to you, we have made provisions for leaving our eyes, kidneys and glands. But what can be done about recovering the thousands of dollars in gold invested in crowns, bridges, inlays, etc.? At today's gold prices, it seems too wasteful to be buried or cremated with all that gold in our mouths.

LOADED IN THOUSAND OAKS

DEAR ABBY: Eyes, kidneys and pituitary glands are of better value to the recipient than the few people who have sufficient gold in their mouths to justify leaving it to their heirs. It's the dentist's time and skill—not the cost of the gold—that runs up the dental bills.

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the letter from the 15-year-old girl who made a pledge to save herself for marriage. You replied "Good."

I'm a 19-year-old girl, too, and I'd like to know what is so "lovely" about saving yourself for marriage. A guy is expected to "sow a few wild oats" and have some experience before marriage. This is somewhat of an accepted thing in society, but what about the girl he gets "this experience from"? She is considered a "loose" girl, looked down upon. What about the "nice" girls?

Whether adults like to admit it or not, twin puberty comes also a developing sex drive in girls, too. This is a normal, biological function. Why must we suffer the frustration of restraint for society's sake? Remember, though, pre-marital sex is not condoned. Legitimate pregnancy for there are many ways of prevention. I also am not condoning the practice of sex with just anyone either. I'm talking about the enjoyment of a fully satisfactory relationship between a girl and a guy who love each other.

Finally, there would probably be far fewer frustrations on the part of the girl and the guy if the girl didn't hold herself to a pledge she made long before she really knew the score.

Thank you for your time.

A NORMAL GIRL

Problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 6970, L. A. Calif. 90009. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Miss Hatch, Mower exchange promises

TWIN FALLS — Faye Hatch and Donald B. Mower were united in marriage on March 15 at 7 p.m. at the Immanuel Lutheran Church, Twin Falls. Rev. Donald Winterrowd performed the double ring ceremony before the girls, which was decorated with arrangements of pink and orchid carnations, gladioli, and roses, and two candelabra. The pews were decorated with lavender bows.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Hatch, Twin Falls. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Mower, Worland, Wyo.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother and father who were celebrating their 29th wedding anniversary. The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown styled in Victorian. A line of organza and alien lace regendered with mother of pearl accents, it featured an empire waistline and long sheer sleeves.

Her cathedral length veil was held by a crown made from matching organza and alien lace accented with the mother of pearl. She carried a cascade of pink and lavender carnations, cornflowers and roses. Her only jewelry was a necklace of matching wedding rings, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Michael Scott was the matron of honor, Donald Clough and Mrs. Subbs were bridesmaids. Terry Hatch, brother of the bride, was best man. Male attendants were Jim Ruffing and Bob Hanger, brothers-in-law of the groom.

The bride's table was decorated with a white tablecloth with a white chiffon overlay accented with an orchid bow and orchid and pink candelabra. It was centered with a fountain of pink water.

Reception attendants were Mrs. Jim Ruffing, Hyattville.

Club members watch shearing

TWIN FALLS — The Top Livestock Feeders 4-H Club traveled to the Domingo Sologan Sheep Ranch northwest of Jerome to watch sheep shearing Monday.

Wyo. Mrs. Bob Hanger Worland, Wyo. served the cake. Patty Koto and Mrs. Glen Brown served the punch and coffee. Mrs. Robert Brown, Mrs. Lonnie Brew, Livermore, Calif., Nanette Ruffing, Hyattville, and Jan Stearns, Thelma Burun and Amelia Hawkins, all Boise, opened and displayed the gifts.

Mrs. Chuck Good acted as rehearsal director. Special guests were Mrs. Thelma Gratiot, Pinole, Calif., grandmother of the bride; Mrs. Stella Cameron, Twin Falls, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Freda Reiber, Worland, grandmother of the groom.

The bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Ben Eldredge and a canned food shower given by Donita Clough and Mrs. Michael Scott prior to the wedding.

Following a honeymoon trip to Nevada the couple are at home at 137 Ash. The bride is employed at Miss Elaine's Hair Fashions. The groom works for Bodson's Distributing.

Romantic ringtails raiders

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (UPI) — Park rangers are explaining to guests at the Ahwahnee Hotel these days that the articles, usually underwear, which vanish from their rooms are taken by "cat burglars"—ringtailed cat burglars.

The ringtails look something like a cross between a squirrel and a raccoon, and this, it seems, is the height of the ringtail mating season. In the grip of romance the animals feel compelled to build nests. In their passion to complete the ritual equivalent of a gas-covered cottage, they will climb anything that appears to be suitable nesting.

That explains, the rangers said, the thefts including one nylon stocking and a man's set of underwear and shoes. A man's athletic supporter also disappeared, but apparently fell short of the ringtails' building code requirements because it was abandoned outside the hotel. The rangers also have a warning for future guests at the hotel. Sometimes, when the mating season is over and the nests have served their purpose, the ringtails' reaction is to bring back their human property, including underwear and shoes, to occupy the subsequent occupants.

Hailey studies 93 path

HAILEY — Local governmental and public comment as well as right of way availability will play a large role in determining the location of US Highway 93.

State officials — Howard Johnson, district engineer; Everett Kline, assistant district engineer; and Dick Sorenson, district location engineer, answered questions Monday about proposed Highway 93 location in the Wood River Valley during a Hailey Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Highway Department personnel also will answer questions at four information center sessions. These sessions are scheduled for this Thursday and April 10 in the Ketchum Lodge, Ketchum, and this Friday and April 9 in the Hailey City Hall. The centers will be open from noon to 5 p.m.

Public hearings on the location of Highway 93 and State Highway 75 will be conducted on April 23 in Ketchum and April 24 in Hailey. During Monday's meeting, Wayne Faste, member of a special chamber committee for study location proposed route, expressed the impression there were two choices: "Leave the highway as it is, or construct a four lane highway."

Johnson said the purpose of determining the highway location is to enable advance purchase of rights-of-way.

In this purchase, he said, the department is "interested in ultimate development" of the highway.

The highway as it is built will be determined by availability of funds and traffic demand, he said.

"We are not going to build any more than we have to," Johnson said. He added that the highway will probably be two lanes.

The district engineer also said requirements for federal funds stipulate widths, lane requirements based on the number of vehicles per day and load carrying capacity.

Later, Johnson said, the department of highway will conduct a four-year highway study when traffic counts reach 400 cars per hour during the 30th highest hour per year.

Projected highway traffic between Hailey and Ketchum is from 300 to 500 cars in the 30th highest hour by the year 2000.

In response to another question, Johnson said the "do nothing" option is "essentially nothing more than continued heavy maintenance of Highway 93 with a possible widening and safety improvements."

Johnson said the highway project will be conducted over a 20-year period, with some projects hopefully beginning in five to 10 years.

In the interim, he said, department officials "haven't quit looking" at major repairs on Highway 93.

Questions in the chamber meeting also centered on a proposed alignment in east Hailey as opposed to having the highway remain in its present alignment down Main Street. Chamber president Warby Young said he felt "lots more" merchants are beginning to feel retaining the present alignment would be impossible in view of parking and other problems.

Johnson said the department has not been able to accumulate figures to show businessmen how many customers are local residents and how many are traveling through the area.

He said the east Hailey proposal was predicated on the abandonment of the Union Pacific Railroad tracks.

VIC COBURN IS COMING!

Election held

Cycle group places 3 TF men in top offices

TWIN FALLS—Three Twin Falls men were elected to the top offices of the Idaho Trail Machine Association at the group's annual meeting in Boise March 23. Victor Deahl was elected president, Jerry Clark was elected vice president and Jack Spencer was named secretary-treasurer of the 1,000-member motorcycle club. Clark and Spencer operate service stations in Twin Falls. Deahl is the Twin Falls area sales representative and manager of a Sacramento-based auto parts firm.

According to Deahl, the Trail Machine Association sponsors an annual statewide trail ride for all members, while local chapters in American Falls, Pocatello, Boise and Twin Falls hold local bike outings. This year's state ride will be held near Porcupine Springs in the hills south of Twin Falls, Deahl said. He said the bulk of the trail riding club's membership is from Magic Valley, explaining why all the new officers are from the Twin Falls area. The group deals with, in addition to holding rides, also lobbies the state legislature for measures favorable to trail riders. He said the group supports motorcycle registration and has supported keeping noise pollution from motorcycles within allowable legal limits. The group heads speakers from the Sierra Club, the Idaho Motorcycle Association and a major manufacturer of snowmobiles and motorcycles at its annual convention, Deahl said.

Lincoln plans clinic

SHOSHONE—A free hypertension screening clinic will be held at three locations in Lincoln County April 3-5. The clinic is being sponsored by the Mountain States Regional Medical Program, Idaho Heart Association, South Central District Health Department. From 1 to 5 p.m. on April 3, the clinic will be set up at the Shoshone City Hall. It will be at the Dietrich City Hall from 1 to 4 p.m. on April 4 and at the Richfield Library building from 1 to 4 p.m. on April 5. Mrs. Dorothy Alexander, Lincoln County public health nurse, said "It is estimated that more than 250,000 persons in this country will this year from complications brought on by hypertension. There is only one way to be sure if you have high blood pressure and that is to have it measured periodically." Mrs. Alexander urges "If you haven't had your blood pressure checked lately, now is the time." High blood pressure (hypertension) is described by some medical authorities as a "hidden" time-bomb—licking away to its moment of detonation.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MARCH 28, 1974

GENERAL TIPS: Your day and evening hours between being logical and reasonable and being ill-tempered and unkind to others. You may have your car in conjunction with an important person and then carry through calmly.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — You don't know how to take care of a complaint, get the advice of an expert. Use caution in new different areas.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) — You get fine ideas now, but study them well and consult with experts. Fix a better plan. You may have more for the future.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — A day when you are quite active at one time, then find it difficult to do anything well at all. So take it philosophically. Use common sense.

Leo (June 22 to July 22) — You know what you think and are sure of your own opinions. You are interpreting with some of them. Avoid a fresh new group.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) — Handle right matters well and don't anger one who has power over you. Avoid unwise action and any personal matters.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — You will have new ideas and must share them. You will be in a position to be in a position. An upsetting news will work out fine if you cooperate.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Knowing what others really expect of you and pleasing them is your best course. Like in matters of losing one in a hand. The planets will be in a position.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Carry out any promise made, especially to make. Be happy to spot and publicize news.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Make sure your strenuous work, your eager to do is constructive. Don't let your own ideas get in the way of a good plan, but don't be uncomformal. Stay within the limit of your powers.

Pisces (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You may be in a position to help others. You may be in a position to help others. You may be in a position to help others.

Cattle futures leap limit

CHICAGO - Limit gains were reported in both live cattle and feeder cattle futures Tuesday in the wake of the federal announcement of plans to purchase 25 million pounds of red meat.

near limit down positions. Commodity News Service reported Futures opened weaker and flourished through most of the day's trading. Cattle futures scored gains in May and October and rose 37 cents in nearby April—despite light volume. After opening lower and with thin pit activity, the late session rally by fat cattle futures led to a futures-to-the-day's high.

Meat spurs wheat rise

CHICAGO - Wheat futures closed sharply higher Tuesday after dipping in early trading. September reported a limit bid and the five session rally of red meat futures was seen as a factor in the sharp surge by wheat futures, Commodity News Service reported. That surge was triggered by the announcement, the federal government will spend $45 million for meat purchases.

Hope fades

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) - Newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst and his wife returned here today from a meeting in New York where Mrs. Hearst said she was losing hope for the safety of their kidnapped daughter Patricia.

The 28-year-old granddaughter of William Randolph Hearst, late founder of one of the country's first giant media groups, was abducted from her apartment on Feb. 4—51 days ago—by persons calling themselves the Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA).

Latest development in the case was that two jailed members of the SLA were expected to make a statement this week about the kidnaping.

Idaho spuds post losses

CHICAGO - After trading lower most of the session, May Idaho russet potatoes posted a net loss of 48 points Tuesday, Commodity News Service said after futures prices.

The May potato bid at 15 1/2 cents hundredweight. Steady Chicago cash markets and slightly improved Idaho markets failed to add any noticeable support.

T. F. girls collect track win

The Twin Falls girls picked up their first major track and field victory in the opening meet of the season Tuesday afternoon.

Twin Falls piled up 114.5 points while Buhl, which accounted for the rest of the first places, was second at 57.2. They were followed by O'Leary at 32.1, Filer 25.5 and Stuart 14.5.

Twin Falls' Miss Scott turned in a sharp 66.2 in the quarter-mile for perhaps the best time of the day, relegating second Miss Hollings to a strong bid for a double victory as she opened the program by winning the hurdles.

Another good mark was 11.8 in the 100-yard dash, posted by Miss March of Twin Falls, who participated in a couple of winning relays and was second in the high jump.

Twin Falls dominated the field events and relays and doubled up in four events.

Aparicio and Cepeda released by Boston

WINTERHAVEN, Fla. (UPI)—Luis Aparicio and Orlando Cepeda, two of baseball's brightest stars for more than a decade, left Boston Wednesday after being released by the Boston Red Sox to make room for younger men probably means the end of their baseball careers.

Cepeda, one-time "Baby Bull" of the San Francisco Giants who has been reduced in recent seasons to just a batting role by two younger men, needed several operations, blamed Johnson directly for his release and complained that the new Red Sox skipper "did not give me a fair opportunity."

"He only played me in four innings, and then he said, 'Cepeda, all winter long he said he did not want me on his ball club. I don't know why.'"

Johnson, who succeeded Eddie Kasko as manager of the Red Sox this year, said releasing Aparicio was a special job.

Kansas-WSU game shifted

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI)—Washington State University announced Tuesday its season opener Sept. 14 against the University of Kansas has been moved from Lawrence to Pullman, Idaho.

Ray Nagel, WSU athletic director, made the announcement at a news conference in which he said the Kansas game would be played Saturday night Sept. 14 at the Spokane's Joe Albi stadium.

Nagel gave much of the credit for the switch to officials of the Expo '68 World Environmental Exposition. "The Expo people were very helpful in getting the idea," Nagel said, adding their were contractual problems in the WSU which had to be overcome.

Little faith, hard right took victory

CARACAS (UPI) — A modest George Foreman said "a little faith" and a hard right under Ken Norton's heart helped him knock out the man who had a notion to relieve him of his world heavyweight title.

Foreman said medical treatment for his swollen right knee 12 hours before Tuesday night's fight "didn't seem to help me, so a little faith got me through here tonight."

Calmly answering a barrage of questions from newsmen in the crowded, steamy dressing room, the champ said Norton's prime error was trying to trade punches with him.

"He was thinking he was a puncher," Foreman said, "so he started to load up on a couple of hooks and I went under him and took a little of his heart. Once I softened him up with a couple of body punches, the fight was mine."

When questioned about his aggressiveness, Foreman said, "as you know, when I hurt a guy I have to go out and finish him—that's my job."

The champ said some of the punches Norton threw were important, but "quietly" added, "I don't think they hurt me."

Displaying "unexpected modesty over his quick victory, Norton admitted "I got hit, and a good fighter probably wouldn't have gotten hit."

He said "Norton has a surprisingly good jab—that's the only thing I didn't expect him to have."

When questioned about his next opponent for title, Muhammad Ali away as quickly as he did Norton, Foreman replied, "I think I was wrong. Right now, it was the second round with Norton and I got confused to bless me like he has, I think I'll be able to get the other people also."

The champion said that he had no immediate plans for his next title defense although he is scheduled to put his crown on the line against Ali in September in Kinshasa, Zaire, former Belgian Congo.

"I need some rest," Foreman said. "I'm really in bad shape."

He said that when he entered Tuesday night and began to exercise by jumping he was "faking it." "But one drew laughter, but Foreman was great serious."

Who could possibly believe him though, after what he had just done to Norton?

Foreman keeps title with early TKO over Norton

CARACAS (UPI) — Dynamite-listed George Foreman's most destructive force in all boxing today, successfully defended his world heavyweight title by devastating Ken Norton in five minutes flat Tuesday night, knocking down the 28-year-old ex-Marine three times before the referee mercifully halted the fight and awarded him a

Norton didn't use fight plan

CARACAS (UPI) — Challenger Ken Norton blamed failure to follow his fight plan for his second-round technical knockout loss to champion George Foreman.

"I had a battle plan, but I didn't follow it," the beaten challenger told newsmen after the fight.

Norton never explained what his plan had been, although he had said repeatedly before Tuesday night's fight he hoped to use speed and deception to beat Foreman.

"I tried to think him out of position, I should've boxed," Norton remarked ruefully.

This was the advice trainer Bill Glynn had given the challenger between the first and second rounds.

Norton also partially blamed his "mistake" on his "highness" for his defeat. The 28-year-old ex-Marine seemed tired but was somewhat "worn" for a bruise below the right eye.

In the dressing room across the hall, Foreman was claiming a first-round blow to the heart, while Norton's Norton conceded this was a punishing blow, but insisted it hit him below the rib cage.

The challenger added he was surprised by the quickness of the champion's jab, and the comment has some aspects of being an echo because Foreman also remarked Norton's jab had surprised him.

The defeated challenger had intended to rely heavily on his own jab but "it didn't work out that way."

The knockout won't be the end of the road for Norton. He still has three more fights to quit a loser.

second-round technical knockout.

There was some doubt whether the contest would be held after Norton finally did get under way, there was no doubt whatsoever which of the two fighters was the superior one.

Foreman, using sheer brute power, hammered Norton into compliant submission in two minutes of the second round, referee Jimmy Rondeau halting the fight.

The challenger, barely able to defend himself after three quick trips to the canvas in Polidoro Arena.

The end came quickly, so suddenly, it was readily reminiscent of Foreman's two-round knockout of former heavyweight champ Joe Frazier in Jamaica last March.

Foreman didn't waste much of Norton's time.

He dropped the 212 1/2-pound challenger for a mandatory eight-count with a punishing right to the head in the start of the second round. Norton looking defenseless as he slid off the ropes onto the canvas.

The rubber-kneed challenger had hardly gotten up when the massive 24 1/2-pound Foreman sent him sliding again for another mandatory eight-count. By this time the champ's handlers were referring to him from his corner that he already had beaten Norton.

Sensing the end, and as he said later, when Frazier was down, "I have to go out and finish him," Foreman stepped in and stopped it.

Thus, Foreman set up a September fight with the massive 24 1/2-pound Ali in Kinshasa, Zaire, former Belgian Congo, and although the beaten Norton called his punches "devastating" after their fight, he senses the opinion that Ali would be the ultimate winner in theirs.

The TKO made it two out of two for the massive 24 1/2-pounder, who has knocked out all Joe "King" Roman in one round in Tokyo in his only other title defense last Aug. 31 after winning the championship with a second round knockout of Joe Frazier in a dramatic Kingston, Jamaica.

More than a dozen white helmeted police immediately jumped into the ring at Polidoro Stadium after the TKO, putting out their might sticks and their stinging them in order to clear the ring of well-wishers who wanted to congratulate the champion.

Foreman said he knew early in the second round that he had the 212 1/2-pound Norton beat.

"I hit him under the heart with a right hand and I hurt him good," said the champ. "I couldn't. Once I softened him up with a couple of body punches, the fight was mine."
