today in brief

Syria, USSR set arms deal

BEIRUT (Chicago Daily News) — Syrian President Hafiz Assad is reported to have concluded a major arms deal with the Soviet Union.

Washington Post reported that the Labanese arms package will include supersonic MIG-23 fighter bombers and short-range tactical missiles. The Beirut daily newspaper Al Anwar claimed today that Russia has already supplied Syria with a few MIG-23 jets. Al Anwar said Syrian pilots will be trained to fly the Mach-3 fighter in Russia.

Heavy turnout in Michigan

SAGINAW, Mich. (UPI) — Heavy turnout was reported from Michigan's 11th Congressional District, where a special election was held here today.

Republican James Spaulding (left) and Democrat Robert Alexander are seeking election to the House of Representatives from that district. The voting has become a referendum on President Nixon's leadership following an invitation to him to visit last week during the campaign.

Firing provisions upheld

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A divided Supreme Court today upheld provisions for the firing of federal Civil Service employees when they make public statements which their bosses regard as harmful to the "efficiency of the service."

In its only other decision today, the court ruled that the end of a labor strike does not necessarily mean that all legal issues raised during the strike are moot and out of reach of the courts.

Geneva talks convene anew

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States told the 25th disarmament conference today it still favors a ban on all nuclear tests and the outlawing of chemical weapons.

U.S. chief negotiator Joseph Martin Jr. outlined the U.S. position at the opening of the 1974 session of the conference which convened here after a seven-month break.

Reds sink Cambodian ship

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist troops sank a government ship and forced Cambodian troops to withdraw from some of their positions near the rebel-held city of Udong today, field reporters said.

Rebel Communist gunners hit the American-made LSM (Landing Ship Medium) while it was anchored in the Tonle Sap River at Kompong Leung—the government beachhead for the drive to recapture Udong. It was the third LSM sunk by the Communists in a week.

Ho says he's healthy

BELGRADE (UPI) — President Tito today denied Western reports he has suffered a stroke and returned Yugoslav's position on a current border dispute with Italy.

Tito, 81, told Bosnian Communist party leaders in a televised "briefing" that newsman who had reported his paralysis "changed their opinion" after seeing him.

French independence vowed

PARIS (UPI) — Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing said today that if elected president of France he would defend the country's independence as vigorously as Foreign Minister Michel Jobert has done.

Jobert has been in the center of acrimonious exchanges recently involving France and the United States. He spearheaded the Paris boycott of the Washington oil conference called by President Nixon.

High court returns case

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court has returned to district court a case involving a $35,000 judgment in favor of Hans R. Sulik filed against the Elah Power & Light Co. and Central Valley Farms.

'Hard' facts pledged

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon will turn over "hard" evidence to the House Judiciary Committee which will prove his innocence in the Watergate cover-up, a high ranking White House official said today.

But the official, who declined to be identified, strongly indicated that Nixon will not fully comply with the subpoena for more than 40 taped conversations sought by the impeachment panel.

He also said that even if the House brings impeachment charges against Nixon, the President intends to travel to a summit meeting in Moscow the last week in June. He confidently predicted Nixon will not resign or be removed from office by impeachment.

"We're going to turn over everything that we think to be the hard evidence of all the foul play of the President's knowledge and actions," he said. "There will be verbatim transcripts of materials directly from the tapes in extensive quantity."

Nixon intends to respond to the subpoena early next week, when Congress winds up its summer recess. The committee set a deadline of April 25 for the reply.

The official described the present period as a "key juncture" and said the upcoming Judiciary Committee deliberations are "of paramount importance."

He expressed the hope that all parties involved, as well as the Judiciary Committee staff, and the White House staff too, never permit these "issues" to be "determined on an emotional test-of-manhood, but rather to focus on the facts, hard evidence."

"After all," he added, "that is what this exercise is all about — to permit a hard-nosed assessment and not to be influenced by emotional tests of virility or petty tactical maneuvering. That would be doing the country a disservice."

The only real question, he said, is that of the President's involvement.

"We are in the process of compiling and we will provide comprehensive and concise documentation of his innocence — to the degree that the tapes ever provide it," he said, adding: "I'm confident the tapes will provide it. I am personally confident if these materials to be turned over are objectively assessed, these matters can be disposed of quickly."

James D. St. Clair, the President's chief Watergate counsel, is in the process of making a legal assessment of the tapes to be released, and "he's very confident the hard evidentiary material" will clear Nixon, the official said.

The official conceded that the White House response might not be satisfactory to the impeachment investigators but insisted it will represent "all evidence available that deals with the President's actions."

"If the compulsion is to get the President, everything that is a compulsion is not going to be satisfactory," he said. "They're going to be looking for more and more."

"I don't think the President has any reservations about his role," he said, adding that in retrospect he might have "taken someone's tail" or "taken a different legal approach."

Henry, Latin envoys meet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger conferred today with foreign ministers of Argentina and Brazil to lay the groundwork for a meeting Wednesday of Latin American nations.

As part of his announced effort to open "a new dialogue" in the Americas, Kissinger arranged separate sessions with Argentina's Alberto J. Vignes and Brazil's Antonio F. Azeredo in the groundwork for a session of the Organization of American States (OAS).

The ministers go to Atlanta for further sessions later in the week.

New executive strata directing Jerome plant

By CHARLOTTE BELL, Times News writer

JEROME — Changes executive shakeup at the Jerome Tupperware plant will leave the plant under a new strata of top executives.

The plant manager, personnel manager and plant security officer resigned and the quality control officer requested a transfer.

According to John Ansley, Tupperware International president, the following executive changes were made at the 900-employee plant.

— Plant manager, Robert A. Bussiere, who

Suez war threat issued

By United Press International

An Egyptian newspaper hinted today that Egypt might open a second front in the Sinai Desert if the Israel-Syrian fighting continues. The fighting in the Golan Heights entered its 30th consecutive day today with intensive SYRIAN artillery bombardments of Israeli positions and Egyptian shelling of Israeli positions.

Al Akhbar also warned that continuing Israeli aggressive policies constituted a hurdle in the path of current efforts for a lasting peace in the Middle East. Similar fears were expressed Monday in New York at a meeting of the U.N. Security Council.

Plea to save ballpark made by TF councilman

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES Times News Writer

TWIN FALLS — A plea to save Cowboy field and charges it has been deliberately allowed to deteriorate were heard Monday night.

At a Twin Falls City Council meeting, Councilman Paul Ostyn took the city parks department to task after a proposal was presented by City Manager Jean-Michel for demolition of the grandstands and stadium.

Ostyn said it is as good a baseball diamond as there is and something Twin Falls could once be proud of as a community project. He said it is used for American Legion, high school and college baseball games.

Ostyn agreed with Miller when he said the buildings are deteriorating and the stadium last week tore away a fence section and toppled part of the wall of the old press box into the concession area.

"It is true the buildings are in sad shape but I think the parks department planned the deterioration from the time the professional baseball club left. I think we should remove the old buildings but at the same time we should plan to restore the field," Ostyn said.

He said many times he has called the department's attention to the need to repair grounds, but "none" understood.

Councilman Henry Woodall joined in urging the stadium be retained for community baseball programs and said unless the fence is retained or replaced the trend will be lost.

Miller's proposal was denounced by the city parks and recreation commission, called for demolition of the wooden stands and fence by city crews.

Limited legal counsel OK'd for CSI students

By BILL LAZARUS Times News Writer

TWIN FALLS — College of Southern Idaho students soon will have limited legal counsel available free of charge.

But, with the added services and the higher cost of other student activities, a student activity fee has been raised by $2 a semester.

The CSI Board of Trustees approved raising the full-time student activity fee from $13 to $15 per semester on the request of student body president Ted Argye.

Argye said that with some of the added funds the students will hire an attorney on campus. The lawyer would answer phone calls free of charge to any individual student, he said.

Students would have to pay if they have questions requiring much of the attorney's time.

"It's just a service that we'd thought we'd try out and see if the students would use it," Argye said. He said a number of students had requested some basic legal help in dealing with car titles and problems with landlords.

The student leader also said a bus system for students without transportation to and from campus might be established.

He said the system has not been planned in detail, but the program may start next year. Details to be discussed at a meeting in the near future at Falls Avenue, Addison Avenue, and Blue James Boulevard. A van already purchased for student trips would be used as the bus.

Final TF zone meet tonight

By United Press International

TWIN FALLS — A final public meeting on the proposed Twin Falls County zoning ordinance will be tonight at the College of Southern Idaho.

The information session probably will be the final opportunity for citizen input on the controversial law before its adoption. County commissioners will review the latest draft of the ordinance at 8 p.m. in CSI's Fine Arts Auditorium.

Adoption of the law should come soon after the public meeting. The commissioners haven't discussed the possibility of final action Wednesday.

The vote will mark the end of about two years' work on the new zoning law.

County voters effectively drafted two ordinances during the period. The final version sent to the county commissioners zoned much more land around Twin Falls City than the current draft. It also allowed residential development along the Snake River Canyon rim north of the city.

In responding to a public outcry for protection of the rim, the commissioners sent the ordinance back to the voters.

The panel drew an entirely new map for zoning around Twin Falls.

The entire rim was designated agricultural and a single residential zone was established around the city.

The commissioners have maintained the rim zone but completely changed residential designations.

The zoners found their recommendation for a single housing zone around Twin Falls permitted mobile home parks as an outright use. The commissioners, with the zoners' blessing, quickly added two more residential zones.

S. Viets end Paris talks

By United Press International

Saigon (UPI) — South Vietnam called off the Paris peace talks today as government troops repulsed some of the heaviest North Vietnamese attacks of the year in the Central Highlands.

The Saigon military command said 182 North Vietnamese attackers were killed Monday, many by air strikes, in a battle at a government-ruled and armored cavalry position 18 miles south of Hieuks city, 20 miles north of Saigon.

He termed the Bussiere resignation "unfortunate," but said it was Bussiere's decision to leave Tupperware.

He said he is "aware of the fact that there are rumors in town that the whole plant was being changed over," but said the changes affected only the four positions.

The new manager has been with Tupperware for 17 years, serving as vice president and plant manager for six. He had supervised the opening of plants in Belgium, Mexico, Canada and Japan before requesting the Jerome post.

Family unsure of find

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Mrs. Jerri Betz is still unsure of the purpose of her mysterious stainless steel ball, but anyone who wants to examine it will have to come to her home.

Mrs. Betz decided Monday against air freighting the 25-pound sphere, which is about the size of a bowling ball, to a flying saucer investigator—Dr. J. Allen Hynek, an astronomer at Northwestern University. It would have been "too much risk" to fly the ball to Chicago, she said.

Another scientist, Dr. James A. Harder of the University of California, research director for the Aerial Phenomenon Organization, was uncommitted about examining the ball.

"It seems to have some remarkable properties but of course we have not yet determined whether it is terrestrial," Harder said.

Mrs. Betz turned the sphere over to the U.S. Navy for tests last week. She said the Navy sent a team of high grade stainless steel and X-rays showed it had the size of four smaller spheres. She said the Navy also found the ball was surrounded by magnetic field, but was neither radioactive nor explosive.

The Navy inspection team at Jacksonville Naval Air Station made the ball in 1970, more than a year without cutting it open, Mrs. Betz rejected that idea.

Mrs. Betz and her husband, Maurice, said the ball last week on their 20-acre tract on Fort George Island, 15 miles north of Jacksonville. They observed that it did strange things, such as rolling around the edges of a table by itself without falling off and making their dog whimper.

Mysterious ball

WAYNE BETZ, 12, examines a mysterious metal ball which his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Betz, found in a wooded area on their property north of Jacksonville, Fla., recently.

US Navy tests show that the ball is made of stainless steel and non-radioactive. Mrs. Betz says she is flying in an expert to tell whether the ball is from this earth or extra-terrestrial. (UPI)

It's true. Just a couple of glasses give you more than one third of the protein most of us should have each day. And we're not talking about just any protein. It's the protein called high quality protein, like the kind of protein you find in meat.

High quality protein, for a few cents more. That's just one of the things milk gives you. And one more reason you should drink milk for all its worth.

Dual role demanding more skill

WASHINGTON — In a presidential Nixon's new survey this morning, Treasury Secretary Schlesinger may outpace a number of articles in the New Republic entitled "Ford's Future," by John Osborne.

Osborne, who has earned his reputation for integrity, prefaces his account with a classic nonattribution: "This report is presented solely on my authority, and readers will just have to assume and believe that I haven't made it up out of nothing."

Then Vice President Gerald Ford's innermost thoughts are revealed. As president, he would certainly keep Secretary of State Kissinger and probably fire Secretary of Defense Schlesinger.

The "new Haldeman" at the White House would either be William Salant, or Philip Buchan, both cronies from Grand Rapids; counselor Bryce Harlow would be retained and press secretary Ziegler dumped.

The crowning touch: "The hours that he is to spend with the President," writes Osborne, "are to be spent listening to Mr. Nixon talk about this and that, have on a few occasions driven the vice president close to distraction."

WILLIAM SAFIRE

Reached by telephone, the vice-president admits being the source of most of the "storied" and during a flight from Florida to Washington, D. C. The cabinet changes are "generally my views," he says, but the crack about the presidential conversations distresses him.

"I get somewhat embarrassed as I'm talking too much of his name," Ford explains. "I know he's busy, and I don't want to sit there until he throws me out. That's what I meant, and it was uncharacteristic."

Evidently the vice president confused "deep background," which can be used without attribution, with "off the record," which cannot be used at all.

In both his finger-pointing and his predictions of how he would reauthorize the cabinet and White House, Ford betrays a lack of understanding of the uniqueness of his role: he is living off the country's own actions could help make him president.

He must be at once loyal and independent; both his own man and the President's man; a defender—uncorrupted by the defense. This quality requires more political skill than we have recently seen in Ford; he will lack the brass ring if he grabs it at all.

Good jobs; a little levity is not out of place. But the larger matter of understanding one's own dual responsibilities as "air and pretender, seamstress is next to godliness."

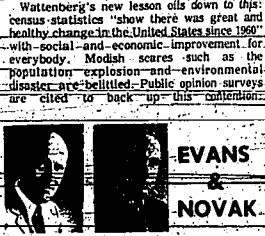

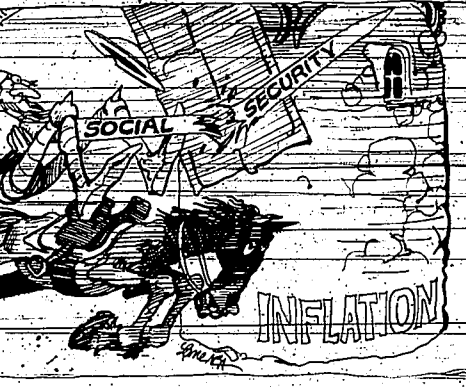

New book may touch off struggle

WASHINGTON — At a moment when the Democratic party is threatened more by upsurge than Republicans, a manuscript has started circulating to begin an internal struggle whose results could profoundly influence the 1976 presidential election.

The manuscript, to be published as "The Real America" by Doubleday in September, is written by centrist Democratic legislator Ben J. Wattenberg. "The Real Majority" co-authored by Wattenberg and Richard Scammon, was effective in pushing Democratic candidates toward the center in 1970 and blunting Republican attacks.

But 1974 is not 1970. With "benefits" from Watergate blotting out memories of the 1970 election, many Democrats have grown more liberal than when they agreed with the Wattenberg manuscript's political lessons doubt they will be heeded.

A single book has seldom been so influential as "The Real Majority," published Sept. 1970. It urged Republicans to law-and-order candidates; Democratic candidates heeded Wattenberg-Scammon's advice to show concern about crime, drugs and violent disruptions while maintaining the party's bread-and-butter liberalism.

EVANS & NOVAK

Wattenberg's new lesson oils down to this: census statistics "show there was great and healthy change in the United States since 1960" with social and economic improvement for everybody.

His data contradicts what Wattenberg calls liberals and culminating in Sen. George McGovern's disastrous campaign for president. Moreover, he argues that traditional liberalism even Lyndon B. Johnson's Great Society, is not failure but has built a better society.

Wattenberg is suggesting a novel approach by Democratic candidates: brag about how good things are, thanks to liberal Democratic government. What makes this realistic are vast numbers of Americans hungering for good news and words of hope.

But Wattenberg's optimism may carry him too far. Nothing widespread acceptance of many new ideas (particularly women's rights) while demands for more possible ideological unity within the Democratic party.

Beyond this, a whole shelf of Democratic literature is building the argument that the only thing wrong with 1972 was George McGovern or Walter Mondale — could win on the same issues in 1976. In short: McGovernism without McGovern.

Wattenberg attacks the point with vigor. American voters felt McGovern "was fronting on us" by saying they had come to hate in the previous half a decade. So Wattenberg's warning: "If some Democrats, feeling their pulse from Wattenberg, may not be so sure they are ready for what they rejected in 1972, they may not be so sure they are ready for what they rejected in 1972."

In 1970, Democratic candidates read Scammon and Wattenberg and took their advice. They may feel so secure this year because of Nixon's "sign-off" they will shun Wattenberg's advice to aird their future and Guilt Complex.

Streaking, Kohoutek top flops

WASHINGTON — No one will admit it publicly, but Kohoutek, the biggest flop of 1974 is streaking.

It was a media happening for two weeks and then flamed out to nothing.

Stanley Steiner, a university sophomore, who started the whole thing.

"I'm not sure I understand." "Well, in order for streaking to catch on we had to convince students they were doing something against the Establishment. The fun of it for them was to horrify their parents, their professors, the alumni and of course the board of trustees."

"Well, when I started streaking we expected howls of protest from the press and a tremendous counteraction from the police. But no one got sore. Everyone just said 'Look at those nice kids running around with no clothes on.'"

"I guess I can't blame the parents. The older generation has been through a lot. They've seen students march on Washington protesting the war, sit-ins for civil rights, screaming against the Establishment, not only refused to get sore at streakers, they welcomed us with open arms."

"You are victims of a permissive age," I said sympathetically.

"I think the thing that hurt us the most was Walter Cronkite," Stanley said. "Why Walter Cronkite?"

"Well, when the craze first started, Cronkite got on television and said streaking was in. Now as far as college students are concerned when Walter says something is in that means it's out. I can date our demise to the night Walter said 'in'."

"You haven't mentioned this, I said, 'but is it possible that one of the reasons streaking failed was that no one was turned on by seeing a model of flesh and the stars?'"

"I've thought about that a lot," Stanley said. "It's true that when you've seen one streaker you've seen them all. Perhaps I could have kept my thing going a lot longer. It's that program that's better. Each week we could have streaked with one less piece of clothing, like a striptease. At the end the boys would have been in their shorts and the girls in bras and panties. Then the final week would have had the top girls and the boys would have given Cronkite something to talk about. Our mistake was showing the landing on the moon before the takeoff from Cape Canaveral."

"So it's all over Stanley?" "Yep. We tried to revive it by having someone streak on television at the Academy Awards, but that was a big nothing. Sixty million people just sat there and yawned. When I saw that, I decided to hang up my socks. A man has to know when he's through."

BERRY'S WORLD

"I try to think of the pins as the House Judiciary Committee"

Odd man out era closes for Hungary

By NADA London Economist News Service BUDAPEST (ENSI) — It looks as if Hungary's career as the odd man out in the Soviet world is drawing to an end.

Since the overthrow of the Dubcek liberalization in Czechoslovakia in 1968, Hungary has been the one East European country apart from Yugoslavia, with genuinely radical elements in its economic system — above all, some real freedom of decision for industrial managers, and a fair range of prices set by the market.

The dismissals announced on March 21, remove four senior men closely associated with János Kadar's reform policies, and put a questionmark over the future of Hungary's nonconformist liberalism.

The most prominent of the victims, Rezső Nyer, was generally regarded as the principal architect of the economic reforms introduced in 1968.

Last year he presided over a singular achievement for a communist country: Hungary's first-ever surplus in trade, with the West. Now he has lost his position as secretary of the party's central committee and has been pushed off into the political backwater of the Hungarian Academy's Institute of Economics.

The other central committee secretary who has disappeared is István Árkai, who had been in charge of Hungary's relatively liberal cultural policy for many years.

The trouble is that one result of the 1968 reform — which loosened the central planners' incentives for efficient firms and collective farms — was to generate hostility among workers in firms that could not stand up to even a mild wind of competition.

There had already been retreats: the number of free prices set by the market was reduced in 1972, and some of the complaining industrial workers were bought off with large wage increases last spring.

The new men who have replaced the sacked leaders say there will be no abrupt changes. But it is announced in West party newspapers that they will be put into leading posts, which is always a sign of ideological retreatism in communist countries.

Nyer's successor, Karoly Nemethi, is a conservative and now a strong candidate to replace Kadar at the party congress in March next year. An un-Hungarian caution is going to be the watchword of these closing months of the Kadar era.

Agree or not, odd ideas should be aired

WASHINGTON — The shocking thing in the matter of William Shockley is not that he is propounding some shocking ideas.

It is that he is being treated shockingly. In the name of free speech, which is the unique right of liberals and conservatives alike should object.

The Columbia Broadcasting System devoted a part of its "60 Minutes" program last Sunday to the Shockley affair. The network's treatment was even-handed, but CBS' quality will be judged by black apologists, anyhow. A large part of the liberal community views Shockley as a devil, and one is not expected to treat devils with civility.

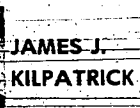

By way of background: William Shockley is the youngest son of a long-attached-to-Stanford University, who in 1966 won the Nobel Prize for his pioneer work in transistors. Some eight or ten years ago, he turned his attention to racial differences in what may be termed, nonofficially, "intelligence."

Shockley perceived that Negroes, as a group, uniformly score lower than whites, as a group, on standard tests intended to measure aptitude, learning, and intelligence. He specific postulations. National Review magazine's Oswald Chambers, Dr. Shockley in "Intelligence," considered judgment, as a nu-

A couple of observations are not in dispute. First, the facts themselves are not in much dispute. The testing of "intelligence" goes back many years. The first "massive" use of standardized tests occurred in World War I, with the "Army Alpha" and "Army Beta" tests.

Shockley's political proposals, which appear to involve some kind of point-and-bomb system of rewards for sterilization, sound a little like me. But if free speech is to survive, free speech must be preserved for those who propound ideas that others regard as execrable ideas. These ideas can be challenged, accepted, ridiculed, proved or disproved, but in a free society they must never be suppressed.

JAMES J. KILPATRICK

James J. Kilpatrick

When Shockley first got into this field, he was wrong only that — the genetic possibility be responsibly explored. Overnight he became an intellectual leper. In the emotional hot-house of a racially conscious society, hostility grew like a tropical vine. At one university after another — Princeton, Yale, Dartmouth, Harvard — Shockley was shouted down or "disinvited."

Program enjoyed

Editor, Times-News:—
 Many of us in this area, and especially of Castleford, were treated to a delightful experience this past few weeks as they followed Jan Quigley to the first College Girl of the Year Pageant that was held in Washington D.C. We heard that she was among the seven finalists for the honor of being college girl of the year 1974. Many of us stayed up very late Thursday night to see our Idaho girl on the televised program. We were greatly moved to realize that she was going so great.
 Jan, who was born on a farm north-west of Castleford and who attended school at Castleford all of her grade school and high school years, was so natural and poised she almost left us awestruck. Aside from our natural "home town pride" we were pleased to see that the caliber of representation was so special. The College Girl of the Year Pageant was not a prime fact, nor expensive clothes, a must. The girls had a rap session of the television program into which she was revealing that their colleges are experiencing changes. The main subjects being discussed on their campuses were the "women's liberation" trend was evident as to tuition and cited this as a concern on her college campus.

Other girls mentioned college. The student apathy and not getting involved in campus events, as well as national events. Much was deleted from the show on TV due to the time element and advertising. Jan enjoyed the experience of the pageant and felt that it was a worthwhile trip. She enjoyed meeting—and being with the girls, and she told me of the judges and of their interest in Idaho and in Castleford and its size. She mentioned that there were more people in the hotel by far than in the Castleford area.
 Thank you, Times-News, for the write-up. Jan, for the information of Jan, and for letting us know when we could see her and the pageant. Why do we have to miss these events or watch at such awful hours, when so many hours of TV time is given over to inane, movies or stupid nothingness? Many of our older people would enjoy seeing this program — many cannot stay up that late due to health reasons. It is a pity, that events of our own people are not valued over violence and the gang wars.
 How inspirational to the other young people should be that our young people do so often represent us so well. Congratulations to Jan and her family.
 MRS. JOE WISEGAVER

(C) New York University Law School pirated it. That's my feeling. I don't know how to prove it.
 The statement that many lawyers make in support of this view is, in fact, a statement against the opening view. As noted by Norman Dorsen of New York University, "There's no affirmative support in history or in case law or in expressions of privilege" by the President against the subpoena.
 Archibald Cox, the former special Watergate prosecutor, made a similar statement in a recent speech at the University of Pennsylvania.
 Both he and Dorsen cite two main factors to support the view that the subpoena is "entitled to the information it is seeking: statements by various presidents on the duty of a president to cooperate with impeachment inquiries, and the constitutional provisions giving the house the sole power to impeach."
 The most commonly quoted presidential statement on the matter is one by James K. Polk in 1846:
 "If the House of Representatives as the grand inquest of the nation, should at any time have reason to believe that there has been malversation in office by an improper use or application of the public money by a public officer, and should think proper to institute an inquiry into the matter, all the archives and papers of the executive departments, public or private, would be subject to the inspection and control of the committee on the part and every facility in the power of the executive be afforded to enable it to prosecute the investigation."
 Other presidents, too, have spoken of the special situation posed by impeachment. President-Ulysses S. Grant specifically acknowledged that the House may require as a right to its demand upon the executive "the information it needs to carry out its powers of impeachment."
 The Nixon case is a different matter. It is the course of refusing information about the day treasury, explained himself thus: "It does not occur that the inspection of the papers asked for can be relative to any purpose under the cognizance of the House of Representatives, except that of impeachment, which the resolution has not expressed."
 Of course, as one Harvard law professor pointed out, the presidents who made these statements generally made them in the course of refusing to turn over information for other, non-impeachment purposes. Their responses might have been somewhat different had they been asked for the material in connection with an impeachment inquiry.
 The second argument based on the House's constitutional power to impeach may thus be put this way: "On principle, the House should have a right to the evidence. The House cannot serve as the grand inquest of the nation, as the constitution envisages, if every president whose conduct of its affairs turns its under investigation can bank the inquiry by withholding the

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Vagus nerve reacts to variety of stimuli

BY GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 59 and my doctor tells me my occasional heart palpitations are caused by the vagus nerve. What is this and how does it cause palpitations? Since I switched from coffee (and I only drink one cup a day) to tea, my heart seems to behave better. — R. L. K.
 Dear Doctor: Please write something about the vagus nerve and how it sometimes causes palpitations. — B. F.

The vagus is a highly specialized nerve originating in the mid-brain and extending down to the lungs, heart and intestinal tract. It has a variety of functions. One of them is to control heart beat, flow of intestinal secretions, and muscle tone of stomach and intestine. In other words, it deals with organs over which we have little or no voluntary control. (Severing a branch of the vagus nerve sometimes is done to reduce the metabolic activity of stomach and duodenum for patients with ulcers that are aggravated by too constant activity.)
 At any rate, stimulation of the vagus nerve slows the heart rate but can do the opposite for slow other organs. And though today this may, under some circumstances, result in heart palpitation.

 Next to what can stimulate the vagus nerve? A variety of things including even deep breathing. And vomiting. In a healthy person drugs and factors such as tobacco, coffee, tea, alcohol, and various other medications can do so. Likewise certain drugs can block the control so. Likewise certain drugs can block the control so. Likewise certain drugs can block the control so.
 Since caffeine in coffee, tea or cola drinks can affect the vagus, it is not fairly common element in casual eating. However, some folks are more sensitive to this than others, so it's entirely possible for as little as a single cup of coffee to have such an effect on some individuals. For others, even a lot of coffee won't do it. It's one more instance of no two people being alike.
 Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could there be varicose veins in the arms, too? I know about legs. I have pain in my left arm that goes up to the armpit and chest. Is it dangerous? — M. M. K.
 Veins in the arm (and hand) can become fairly large and dilated but are not "varicose" in the sense of varicose veins in the legs in which the blood becomes relatively stagnant and the valves in the veins are damaged. Thus I suspect the pain in your arm is due to something else.

 Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you write about the difference, if there is any, or similarity between hives and shingles. — C. G.
 A great difference between hives or rash or well that comes and goes, and is usually the result of an allergy or "contact dermatitis," meaning coming in contact with something which causes an allergic reaction. This can be rubber, paint, and might of common things, but not hives. Hives also can result from food allergies.
 Shingles, on the other hand, is inflammation of a nerve trunk caused by a virus infection. It doesn't come and go as hives; the pain and infection leaves.
 Hives may itch but don't hurt. Shingles is painful.

Pay issue haunts capitol

(BOISE, UPI) — One of the funding issues of this last session of the legislature — pay raises for state employees — still haunts the State House.
 Because the Legislature refused to vote on the executive pay plan in a bill to raise salaries, the attorney general says the executive branch may have to initiate their own pay plans.
 Dr. A. J. Chibberly, director of administrative services, said today this will take additional $3.2 million in general fund money and another $3.5 million in dedicated funds to do it.
 "The money just isn't there," Chibberly said. "He said he and State Personnel Director Richard Barrett were conferring with the governor to see what could be done about the problem."
 "It's not realistic to expect we could pick up that much money by attrition," Chibberly said. "State services would have to be cut and in many cases it's required work load that can't be cut."
 "The first thing we have to get to definite legal decision as to where the salary situation stands," Chibberly said.
 "The courts that we have to try to get both plans — one on top of the other — we have two alternatives."
 "Reduce services

"Or the other would be to have the law changed. In order to change the law so both pay increases could be made as scheduled July 1, the executive branch would have to call a special session of the Legislature."
 Last October the Personnel Commission approved a revised compensation schedule for state employees, making it effective July 1. This was approved by Chibberly on behalf of the governor on Dec. 10.
 This schedule:
 — Raised the minimum salary to be paid to state employees to $28 per month.
 — Increased the salaries of employees in classes lagging furthest behind prevailing rates.
 — Provided for a general salary increase of 2.5 per cent effective July 1.
 While the Legislature voted to give the state employees a pay increase and appropriated the money specifically for that purpose, it adopted a somewhat different plan than the executive branch came up with.
 However, the bill also referred to the executive branch's pay plan.
 Because of the differences between the two plans, the Legislature plan may not be implemented in lieu of the executive schedule but in addition to it.

Panel slates Boise meet

(BOISE, UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus will chair a panel of the telecommunications council of the Federation of Rocky Mountain States in Boise Wednesday.
 The meeting will get under way at 10:30 a.m. in Room 306 of the Len-B. Jordan Office Building in the Capitol Mall.
 Andrus, a member of the federation's board of directors, is chairman of the six-state organization's telecommunications panel.
 The meeting will involve a review of the federation's satellite technology demonstration history. A first widespread use of a telecommunications system for education.
 This summer the STD will begin broadcasting educational programs via satellite to remote areas in eight western states.
 Andrus will be assigned by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus to chair the all-bicentennial platter which the commission plans to offer for sale.

South Central Idaho Health District building

Public Apartment tour slated

TWIN FALLS — A ribbon-cutting ceremony and public tour of the new South Central Idaho Health District building is planned here Wednesday.

Dr. Wayne Carl, medical administrator of the district, said a ribbon-cutting is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. with William L. Chancey, Twin Falls, chairman of the district health board, and John Van Orman, Jerome, state health board chairman, doing the honors.

From 1 to 5 p.m. the public is invited to call at the new district office building on Third Avenue East and inspect the facilities.

The former American Legion building was purchased by the district and has been converted to modern office and clinic facilities.

Dr. Carl said all functions of the district are now being conducted in the new building but the state laboratory is still in the city hall awaiting arrival of some of the furnishings for the laboratory area in the new building.

Apartment problems

MOSCOW (UPI) — Pravda reader A. Dolbinov had serious problems when he moved into his new state-supplied apartment in the Ukrainian city of Kharkov.

He told the Communist party newspaper that the apartment, which had been passed as okay by a government inspector, had no flooring, water connections on ceiling, no gas stove and partial whitewashing, he said.

Patricia's mother stunned by news

LA PAZ, Mexico (UPI) — The mother of Patricia Hearst said today she cannot believe her daughter took part in the $10,000 "holiday" of a San Francisco bank.

"I'm so upset I can't talk to you," Mrs. Randolph Hearst said. "We just heard it over the radio. It's so bizarre. I can't believe it. Please tell us alone."

Earlier, Miss Hearst's mother, Catherine, said she and her husband "were still as convinced as ever that our daughter has not been converted to the revolutionary philosophy that those terrorists represent."

Mrs. Hearst was with her husband, President and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, two other daughters, a son-in-law and a grandson.

The Hearsts were expected to return soon to their home in Hillsborough, Calif.

Authorities said they identified some photographs taken of four rifle-toting women by a hidden camera inside the bank.

Teen shootings linked to 'zebra'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The wounding of two teen-agers near a bus stop was linked by police Monday to the "zebra" case.

They have left it persons dead on the city's streets in the past six months.

Chief Inspector Charles A. Barca said preliminary ballistics tests on four shell casings found at the scene of Sunday night's shooting indicate the same weapon was used in prior cases.

Barca said patrolmen in an unmarked car on the "zebra" squad, which was launched following the shooting of four persons within one hour at separate locations Jan. 27, had seen the latest victims, Ward Anderson, 16, of Mesa, Calif., and "Terry" White of San Francisco, at the bus stop.

Kidnap victim part of heist?

(c) Chicago Daily News — SAN FRANCISCO — Newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst, missing and feared dead, suddenly turned up alive in a black and white version of Bonnie and Clyde, holding a submachinegun in a $10,000 bank robbery. The FBI promptly put her on its wanted list.

Soaked authorities said they didn't know what to make of it. Up until her kidnaping Feb. 4 — 10 weeks ago — by the terrorists, Symphonie Liberation Army, she was a mild-mannered co-ed who only gave her parents the normal poor-little-rich-girl amount of trouble.

But think this is the first time in the annals of legal history that a kidnap victim has shown up in the middle of a bank robbery, said US Atty. James L. Browning Jr.

But he said automatic pictures taken of the robbery by the Elberna Bank showed that while a woman identified as Miss Hearst was holding a submachinegun, there was another somebody else, an SLA member, was holding a gun on her.

"It's clear from the photographs she may have been acting under duress," Browning said. "But if she was involved, and an investigation shows that, we're going to charge her as a bank robber."

The FBI got a federal warrant for her arrest, as a material witness.

"This warrant has an criminal charge behind it," Browning explained. "I judge that's a federal authority to go out and arrest her and bring her in to see whether she will talk and what she will say."

The catching, indicated officials didn't have an idea in the world where to serve the arrest warrant. Local FBI Chief Charles Bates was unaccustomedly silent.

The father, Randolph A. Hearst, editor and president of the San Francisco Examiner, and her mother, Catherine, were scheduled to head back to their apartment home today after a week in Mexico, where they had tried to get away from the ordeal.

The FBI said three other women were with Patricia and a black man, apparently the leader, who bolted into the bank waving guns. They forced a score of bank employees and half a dozen customers to lie on the floor and two of the women efficiently scooped up the money from cashiers' cages.

The stubby bearded man, who wore black-and-floppy hat, dark-bell-bottoms and carried a carbine, disarmed Security Guard Edward Shea, 66.

At least four other gang members were cut off, authorities said — probably male and white — keeping watch, carbines at the ready, in a red sports sedan.

There was a flurry of shots when the robbers left the bank and sped off in the 1973 American Motors Sportabout and a 1973 green Ford station wagon.

Two passersby were shot down.

They are Peter Markoff, 59, a neighborhood liquor merchant, and Eugene Brennan, 70, a nearby resident.

Both men were hit in the stomach but were reported in satisfactory condition at San Francisco General Hospital.

The sudden raid occurred at 9:50 a.m. It was over in a few minutes. Police discovered the getaway cars only a few blocks away.

The FBI said it had identified one of the women, SLA members with Miss Hearst and obtained bank robbery warrant against them.

They are Patricia Mitchell Spitzak, 24, known as "Marilyn"; Nancy Ling Perry, the SLA theoretician, who calls herself "Fahziah"; and Camille Christine Hall, 29, a former social worker known as "companion" at Mission.

Just 12 days ago, in a taped message sent to a San Francisco radio station, Miss Hearst said she had adopted the revolutionary name "Tania" and had decided to stay with her abductors and "fight for the revolution" even though offered her freedom.

Neither her parents nor authorities would buy the statement as uncensored.

Penny hoarding brings ban on melting, export

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hoarding pennies as a hedge against rising copper prices appears to be catching on as a get-rich-quick scheme, and it's got Treasury officials in a dither. Shoe boxes, cookie jars and play banks are fattening up on the copper coins, and the government's money machines are hard pressed to keep up with the demand.

Twenty-two billion pennies have dropped out of circulation in the past 15 years. In the first three months of 1974 alone, the nation's monetary system ordered 2.5 billion more pennies, more than twice the amount as in the same period last year.

The problem is so serious that Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz Monday signed regulations prohibiting the export of melting of pennies and ordered the U.S. Secret Service to enforce the law.

According to Mary Brooks, director of the mint, there don't appear to be any "big-time operators" behind the disappearing coins — just a lot of average citizens hoping for a windfall if copper prices continue to rise and the government decides to switch to aluminum pennies.

The penny hoarders are in for a disappointment on both counts, she says. For example, should the price of copper rise to $150 a pound (it's now about $120 a pound), it would take 240,000 pennies, melted down, to furnish $100 worth of copper.

It's pretty ridiculous to be hoarding pennies for the copper content, Mrs. Brooks says. And don't plan on cooking up a do-it-yourself smelting operation on the kitchen stove or in the backyard, Mrs. Brooks warns. That technique was popular with silver hoarders before the government eliminated the silver content in U.S. coins.

Mitchell denies call impropriety

(c) N.Y. Times Service — NEW YORK — John H. Mitchell testified Monday that while he was attorney general, he "willingly contacted" the chairman of a federal agency in behalf of a man that agency was investigating.

Commission, the call was made after their chairman, William J. Casey, and it was made in behalf of Robert L. Vesco, a financier whom the agency was investigating.

harassing Vesco. He wanted to arrange a meeting between the financier's representatives and Casey before the commission took "precipitous" action, Mitchell said.

for a secret $250,000 cash contribution that Vesco made to the re-election campaign. Vesco and 41 others have been accused of defrauding investors of $224 million.

Shutdown supported

WILMINGTON, Nev. (UPI) — A weekly newspaper publisher's call for a national business shutdown this week to protest energy shortages and big government got off to a hectic start Monday.

He had planned to go fishing but now "I'll probably spend most of the week shoveling manure in the garden, which probably isn't too much different from my normal work activity."

Earlier in the day, Mitchell completed his direct examination when his lawyer, Peter Fleming Jr., asked him, "Are you guilty or not guilty?"

The University of Maryland elevated its journalism department to college status in 1972.

Sandpile escaped

BURIED IN sand for half an hour, Steve M. Seely, 24, holds on to an oxygen mask as firemen work to free him. Seely, a worker at a Denver, Colo., ready-mix concrete plant, was trapped Monday. Firemen said a hooded outer garment he wore apparently prevented him from smothering in the sand. (UPI)

Food sellers off list for controls

(c) N.Y. Times Service — WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Cost of Living Council removed the last controls over food retailers and wholesalers that largest segment of the economy still subject to price and wage restraints.

The Cost of Living Council acted in 1973 to freeze all sections of the economy except those involved in energy production and distribution. It followed a series of recent actions that decontrolled various segments of the economy, including a move April 1 affecting 165 categories of goods and services.

The decision thus frees the food-distribution industry to charge whatever consumers are willing to pay, but John T. Dunlop, director of the council, expressed confidence that competitive pressures would prevent sharp increases. "The commodities of the industry" and other factors "combine to provide reasonable assurances that decontrol will not result in inflationary price increases."

MR. AND MRS. CHRIS ANDERSON

Jerome couple plans golden observance

JEROME — A Golden Wedding Anniversary open house is planned in honor of a Jerome couple for April 21 at the Jerome American Legion Hall. The reception for Mr. and Mrs. Chris Anderson will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. The Andersons were married at Cheyenne, Wyo., on April 18, 1924. They moved to Shoshone in 1928. From 1942 to 1949, the couple lived in California and Oregon before returning to Ketchum. The Andersons were both employed at Sun Valley until they retired in 1965 and moved to Jerome. Hosts for the open house are the four Anderson daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth (Barbara) Olson, Ketchum; Mr. and Mrs. Barney (Elsie) Bell, Ketchum; Mr. and Mrs. Herb (Mary) Walters, Jerome, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill (Bernadine) Thomas, Henderson, Ky. All friends are invited. The Andersons request no gifts.

8 guests introduced by TF Bethel No. 56

TWIN FALLS — Eight guests were introduced at the Thursday meeting of Job's Daughters - Bethel No. 56, officers announced Saturday. Honored queen Candy Bragley introduced Andrea Skaggs, honored queen of Burley-Bethel No. 18 and Angie Skaggs, inaugural queen of No. 18. Cheryl Armstrong, Grand Marshal of the Order of Idaho and member of Bethel No. 56; Nancy Wandersich, past honored queen; Pat Breeding, Bethel guardian; Paul Massey, associate Bethel guardian; Carlee Wylie, past guardian; and Tom Matthews, worthy matron of the Order of the Eastern Star No. 46, Piler. Lisa Gerber gave the librarian report entitled "The First Easter of All." Under the direction of senior princess Kim Breeding, Lori Sompe and Linda Rudd passed their proficiency work. Paula Wright was named queen of the meeting and Nancy Wandersich was named rosette. The jobbie booster was Ollmie Armstrong, Laura Bowman's birthday was announced. A Bethel breakfast will be held April 28 for members and their mothers. Following the breakfast, everyone will attend church.

Jerome meet stated

JEROME — La Leche League will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Irene Peters, 528 East Ave. in Jerome. Discussion topic will be "The Art of Breastfeeding and Overcoming Difficulties." All women interested in breastfeeding are invited, and babies are welcome. For more information, telephone 456-4100 to the meeting, call Adrienne Thomas at 734-4213 or Judi Bean at 724-2410.

Bare facts

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Striking dates mark the American Revolution, according to papers uncovered by the Rhode Island Historical Society. Gen. Nathaniel Greene, in orders to his two Rhode Island regiments, camped on Long Island, wrote on May 18, 1776: "Complaints having been made by the men that they were tired of the heat of the sun, the order of the soldiers come there to go swimming in the open view of the women and that they come out of the water and run to the houses naked with a design to insult the modesty of the female sex." The papers are being prepared for publication in conjunction with the state's bicentennial celebration.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 40 years, and I definitely have made up my mind that I do not want any children. My husband says if that's the way I feel about it, it's all right with him. The problem is that I want him to have a vasectomy—an operation which will make him sterile. (My brother-in-law had one, and he says it is a breeze.) My husband says he doesn't want that kind of operation, and he thinks it's up to me to either take the necessary precautions or have an operation to make me sterile. I would like your opinion. NO CHILDREN THANKS

DEAR ABBY: Since it was your decision to have no children, I think it's up to you to take the precautions instead of insisting that your husband subject himself to a vasectomy. Be realistic. If you were to divorce your husband (or die) and he were to marry again, he and his next mate might want children. As for a vasectomy being a "breeze," one man's breeze is another man's pain.

DEAR ABBY: I am so heart sick this morning after getting very little sleep last night. My sister-in-law informed me yesterday that my husband (her brother) plays golf just to get away from me! I was so crushed I couldn't find the words to answer her. I've been married for 35 years and always thought I had a good marriage—and now this. Please tell me how to handle it. MRS. M.

DEAR MRS. M.: Is there a possibility that she was joking? If not, she clearly meant to hurt you. The only way to deal with someone who intentionally hurts you is to stay as distant and as infrequently as possible.

DEAR ABBY: I've been dating this nice young man exclusively for seven months. He didn't ask me to go steady, I just don't care to go with anyone else. He doesn't go with anyone else either, so I guess you'd say we are going steady. My problem is my mother. She has told me that she doesn't want me to date him anymore. Just like that! The reason, he's too short. (He's exactly my height—5 foot 6.) I'm not a child. I'm 20 years old, but I live at home with my parents. I'd move out, but they need the money. I pay for my room and board.

My mother is an outstanding person. Abby. He's an assistant professor, and although he doesn't make much now, he has a promising future. Besides, he is good to me, and I care for him. I'd appreciate your opinion. NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO: Your mother is short on common sense. Tell her that her objections to the young man are not valid, and that you measure a man from his eyebrows up.

CONFIDENTIAL TO T. P. C.: Urge him to put his affairs in order. He may LIVE.

Health met set

TWIN FALLS — South Central Health District board members will hold their April meeting Wednesday. The meeting will be in conjunction with an open house and ceremony at the new district building. Because of the afternoon program, beginning with ribbon cutting at 1:30 p.m., the board has changed the business meeting to 9:30 a.m. Reports from the environmental and sanitation officers will be heard and routine business transacted, board chairman William Chaney reported.

Church urges improvement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho's senior senator is urging the Internal Revenue Service to improve special programs available for helping senior citizens with the preparation of their federal taxes. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, Monday told the subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee Monday that many elderly citizens cannot afford assistance in preparing their tax forms.

Reporter misinterprets wording

BOISE, (UPI) — A Boise, Idaho newspaper said today that a reporter misinterpreted the wording in an amended suit filed on behalf of the survivors of 56 miners killed in the Sunshine Mine disaster. It was just a little mistake — $10.3 billion. The Idaho Statesman said in this morning's edition that the suit was for $700 million, not the $11 billion as reported earlier.

Fire claims woman

BOISE (UPI) — A mentally handicapped Boise woman died Monday in a fire while her family members were away at funeral ceremonies for her grandmother. Ada County Sheriff's deputies said Darlene Jones, 25, was found unconscious by the family when they returned home. Her body was pronounced dead on arrival at a Boise hospital.

Heroin confiscated

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — Canyon County Deputies confiscated an estimated $30,000 in heroin during the arrest of three persons involved in a heroin business. The deputies Monday evening arrested Ramiro Zamora, 37, and Ramiro Orpessa, 36, no address given, and an unidentified Boise woman. Sheriff George Nourse said he conservatively places the street value of the heroin at $30,000.

2 men sought

By United Press International
The Federal Bureau of Investigation and police in Idaho and Oregon are searching for two men who abducted an Ontario, Ore., teenager and abandoned him locked in the trunk of his car in Mountain Home, Idaho. Richard Jones, 17, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jones, was picked up about 8 a.m. in Ontario and robbed of $4. He was found about three hours later Monday by a caretaker at the Campfire Park in Mountain Home when the attendant heard the boy knocking the inside of his auto trunk.

Group wants Nixon out

BOISE (UPI) — A group calling themselves Idahoans for the Removal of Nixon (IIRON) have begun a petition drive seeking removal of President Nixon from office. Prime sponsors of the petition drive are the Covered Wagon in Mountain Home and the Boise coalition. Circulars were distributed on downtown Boise streets Monday. The drive will end with a rally on the Statehouse steps at 1 p.m. April 27.

Senior registration urged

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's governor pleaded today the need for senior citizens to register by May 1 for property tax exemptions if they qualify for the tax relief. Gov. Cecil D. Andrus Monday reminded Idahoans that so called hard-ship cases are still covered by Idaho statutes but the circuit breaker property tax relief bill enacted at the last session provides relief for other persons.

Waiver rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho says the U.S. Treasury Department rejected a request for an emergency waiver of law preventing foreign ships from hauling freight between United States ports. McClure and other Senate Northwest congressmen had asked for the waiver to help farmers in their states get shipments of 'anhydrous in the Northwestern states and a shortage of ships equipped to transport the product from Alaska. The administrative waiver denied by the Treasury Department was requested on the grounds that starvation abroad threatens national security.

Break-in probed

TWIN FALLS — Police are investigating a break-in at the office of Dr. Werner H. Kramer, 151 Addison Ave. Chief of Detectives Tim Qualls said the office was entered on the back side and a doctor's office in adjoining building was apparently taken from the office. Damage was estimated at $35.

TF variance draws delay

TWIN FALLS — Plans for developing vacant property on Heyburn Avenue at the end of Madrona Street were delayed Monday night following a public hearing before the Twin Falls City Council. Owners of the property, David Ward and Carl Curtis, requested a zoning variance to allow more than two apartment units per acre. The variance was requested by Ben Wilson, who has been a tenant since an earlier plan for development was dropped when Walton died. Councilmen said they have no objection to the zoning variance but would like more time to study location of the building for possible extension of Madrona Street as some future date.

A large coulee meanders through the property making it difficult to plan for utilization of the land. The plan called for council members to provide a plan for an executive type apartment complex with landscaping to beautify and utilize the coulee.

The council approved delay of a bid opening on the secondary sewage treatment plant in Twin Falls last May 3. Originally bids were to be opened April 26. City Manager Jean Millar said the specifications are imbricate and bidders are having any need more time to prepare the bids. He estimated 72 sets of specifications have been taken out by contractors, sub-contractors and suppliers.

The council authorized a bid opening May 3 for six separate projects and items. These include resurfacing of the Harmon Park Tennis Courts, building rest rooms for Harmon and Drury parks, a storage building for Harmon Park, a tractor with loader and backhoe attachment and a station wagon for the recreation department. Millar said all of the improvements will be possible with revenue from the Harmon Park. The Bureau of Outdoor Recreation funding program.

The council adopted an ordinance on third reading under suspension of the rules to allow Roy Brown parking variance on his property at 4th and 7th streets. He plans an automobile car wash business there.

Councilman Paul Ostyn voiced against a revised animal ordinance which was adopted on third and final reading. It had been placed on first reading last week. The new ordinance requires all animals to be kept in a dog pound and requires all animals from the shelter be neutered or spayed.

Ostyn said he thinks this will prevent the owners who need a dog the most from having one. "No child is going to be able to pay $37 for spaying, pound fees and other charges to get a pet," Ostyn said.

He said he felt this requirement against the principals of the Humane Society which advocates humane treatment of animals and attempts to find homes for them instead of having them killed.

Other council members argued this is one of the means of reducing the high population of unwanted pets.

The council authorized Mayor Winston Jones to sign an agreement on behalf of the city for the Airport Commission to recommend Doyle Enterprises, Ketchum, as the lessee.

Approval was also granted for a zoning variance at 725 Northriver Drive. Owners of the property, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Jewsbury were given approval for a zoning variance to house supplies for their wedding reception business. It was suggested the city sign ordinance be revised to deny the use of signs for home occupations in low density residential areas.

CSI legal service set

CSI President James J. Taylor agreed with the student rate hike proposal and proposed a registration fee hike of 21.

The board approved the fee increases. The new rate structure approved by the new Twin Falls County Planning Plan. The plan puts a limit on the number of residential medium and large college. It also specifies a one-fourth mile buffer area around CSI preventing a mobile home parking.

The board approved 150 scholarships recommended by the trustee department to students Laura Brandon, Twin Falls; Thelma Cloughlin; Bellevue; James Shew, Twin Falls; and Clay Zlatnik, Gooding.

Dr. Taylor told the board the college might be able to build the new vocational building in one project instead of two because of the likelihood of getting more funds from the Permanent Building Fund Council.

TWIN FALLS (television station KMYT has resumed broadcasting of local programs despite vandalism over the weekend destroyed station equipment, estimated in excess of $500,000. Above, KMYT news reporter Jerry Velt films an interview with Idaho-US Congressman Orval Hansen. The station resumed local broadcasts Monday after partial repair of equipment damaged or destroyed in the Saturday morning, television Sheriff Paul Cowley said today his deputies are interviewing everyone connected with the station in an effort to solve the case.

KETCHUM — The Ketchum City Council could only hear testimony objections to segments of a city zoning plan presented Monday night. The zoning plan and map being considered have been amended from the original proposal in an attempt to satisfy the objections of city residents.

Meeting without quorum, the council could not act and decided to have another meeting tonight to vote on the zoning plan.

Council members present at the meeting were Jack Cornejo and Glenn Brannen. Several objections were raised to a proposed 30-foot setback for all major arterial highways in the city including Highway 93.

Lloyd Walker, a Twin Falls attorney, said zoning was an act of condemnation. Bill Benjamin, attorney for the city of Ketchum, argued the right-of-way would give the city enough room so we don't get in trouble when the plan goes through there.

The city has a 15-foot setback requirement now. The zoning plan is asking for an additional 15 feet.

Almost all property owners argued the zoning plan had "down-scaled" their land. Most landowners asked why their land use was proposed low density when it had originally been high density use.

Bill Cornejo, councilman, answered the question. "Of course, we can't do that in every instance," Puchner said.

Allie Scherthauer, another Warm Springs resident, argued against the zoning plan. "Property would make it unfeasible to build 'the kind of housing people want'."

The council will consult with attorneys today to determine whether or not to retain an old interpretation of AP (agricultural-forest) land zones within the city.

The council will vote tonight on the new zoning plan. Amendments, however, can be made after the plan is approved.

The council meeting will begin at 7 p.m. at Heringway Elementary School.

Wage increase top priority

BY CRICKET BIRD
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — A salary increase for county hospital employees has top priority in the government's fiscal health-care program controls.

James Rosenbaum, Magic Valley Memorial administrator told the hospital board Monday that job turnover is greater than expected primarily because of low wages.

If Congress makes no move to extend the controls on the health care industry, the controls will expire on the last day of April.

Rosenbaum sent the board a letter from Idaho Sen. Frank Church which termed the outlook "more and more encouraging" that controls would not be continued.

The proposed salary hike is a move to catch up with other industries, Rosenbaum indicated. "General industry has gotten seven to 10 percent while the hospital has been held four to five percent since 1970. All we're trying to do is catch up," Rosenbaum said.

He indicated that the straight-line average salary of hospital personnel, including technicians, housekeepers, custodians, nurses and others, is $2.81 an hour.

The hospital board moved to approve construction of an additional ambulance unloading pad to the north of the present covered loading area. The roof will be added to the driveway, will be widened, an arched doorway built in the present, north wall of the ambulance area to allow access to the hospital.

Rosenbaum said the cost is estimated at about $2,500.

Rosenbaum told the board that he was accepting applications for the position of chief of nurses. Mrs. Ruth Malone, presently filling the position, wants to extend out of the position. Rosenbaum said, Malone indicated she will stay until the post is filled.

The hospital board also gave its approval on the appointment of Dr. Cyrus J. McDonald of California as assistant radiologist. A Georgetown University Medical School graduate, Dr. McDonald received his radiology training at Stanford University.

Council asks extension for zone

By ED MITCHELL
Times-News Writer

BURLEY — The extension of the commercial zone of northeast Burley was recommended by the city council at its meeting Monday night.

The area is currently zoned residential but contains several commercial establishments. The recommendation that the commercial zone be extended two blocks east will be made to the Burley Zoning Commission, allowing new businesses in the area.

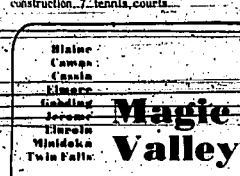

The council approved a motion for a resolution to be drawn up to install stop signs at the northeast corner of 22nd Street and Almo, and on both sides of the railroad crossing Highland Avenue.

In continuing agreement, the council approved a plan to sell the difference between installing a 14-inch sewer line and a 6-inch sewer line planned for the connection of the new elementary school to city sewer lines. The six-inch line would be sufficient only for the school's needs but if the city pays $700-$800 in addition to install the larger line, other connections could be made at a later date, according to Leon Burke, city engineer.

The council also approved drawing up an ordinance to allow the city to sell the city's old fire station. It will be sold in public auction for a bid of at least its appraised value. The building will be vacated by October 1. Ten per cent earnest money will be required until possession by the buyer.

Bids for the following will be opened May 1: two-inch street sewer, 2, 1974 three-quarter ton pickup, 3, backhoe loader, 4, surfacing material for streets, 5, fire station door, 6, airport construction, 7, tennis courts.

Burley project gets go-ahead

BURLEY — The new Burley Junior High School will be built by the low bidder for the project after all.

Fifth District Court Judge Sherman Bellwood ruled in favor of a motion by attorneys for the Cassia County School District to dismiss an injunction against the school board by Nielsen and Company, Twin Falls, to keep Mitchell Construction Company, Pocatello from building the school building project.

Nielsen Construction alleged in its petition that it was the responsible low bidder because Mitchell had failed to name a mechanical subcontractor with proper licenses. The sub-contractor, J and R Plumbing, Idaho Falls, held an AA license at the time of the bid opening.

Judge Bellwood ruled that the "naming law" is an industry law and need not be the basis for the school district rejecting a bid from a general contractor. It is unreasonable to require the naming law so that it requires the rejection of a bid which appears to be advantageous to the district and its taxpayers. Bellwood said in his ruling.

Wendell to fill 5 trustee posts

WENDELL — All five Wendell trustee posts will be up for election May 21.

The reason for filling all the posts at one time is because of the recently approved trustee rezoning election, according to Supt. Lawrence Latta. Ballots from the rezoning vote were canvassed at Monday night's trustee election and approved as certified by the election judges.

Trustees reappointed themselves Monday night to serve until the regular trustee election in May. Frank Orin was retained as board chairman and Joe Leeper as vice chairman.

Supt. Latta said none of the board members have indicated whether they will seek reelection.

Trustees also finalized plans for the April 30 bond election when voters will be asked to approve $900,000 for new physical education complex and vocational building. The vocational building, which will contain the vocational agricultural and industrial arts departments at the high school.

A four-room classroom addition also is planned at the grade school. If the bond issue is approved, and the present school building would be expanded for the arts and crafts department as well as providing additional locker space for the junior high students.

Supt. Latta said trustees discussed the possibility of all four school districts in Gooding county going together to hire a psychologist for 67 weeks.

There will be a vote in the House regardless of whether the committee takes it. If the committee votes to postpone the decision, the House will vote to impeach.

He said he has "not seen any real evidence that the executive branch has been hampered by the Watergate or impeachment investigations." He warned of "a potential paralyzing effect on the function of the office of the President" during an impeachment trial.

He said he opposes legislation to pay campaign costs from governmental funds. He said such legislation could concentrate too much power in the hands of the people in power holding the purse strings of the campaign fund.

Hansen said he supported a consumer protection bill which has passed the House and will be approved by the Senate. He said the compromise bill does not set up a consumer regulatory agency, but does provide for consumer interests to be represented in governmental decision-making processes.

Hansen claims inflation foremost US problem

TWIN FALLS — Rep. Orval Hansen said here Monday that inflation will be the nation's foremost problem during the next few years.

But the Idaho Republican congressman said wage-price controls are not the way to control the inflationary spiral.

Instead, he proposed a combination of restrained governmental spending and efforts to improve workers' output.

Rep. Hansen said the current inflation was a world-wide occurrence, beginning in the United States with use of deficit spending to pay for the Vietnam War.

Since then rising demand worldwide has led to a "demand-pull" inflation which threatens to rise far above earlier inflationary levels.

The situation is dangerous for the nation as a whole, but provides opportunity for Idaho's agricultural-oriented economy, he said.

Within two to three years, he will guess, we will hit a 20 billion export in farm commodities — about the cost of imports of oil. Hansen said the Congress would let wage-price control legislation expire at the end of this month. The only exception would be controls on petroleum products covered in separate legislation.

In answer to a question, Hansen said medical and medical care price controls would be allowed to end despite the Nixon administration's recommendation that they be maintained.

The wage-price controls, Hansen said, are not an effective mechanism.

In other comments, Hansen said the immediate energy crisis is over, but the greatest test still faces us. He said if the nation cannot "curb its appetite" or have the government do so, the nation will continue importing more and more of its oil.

Reliance on foreign oil would provide a "great temptation for someone, the Russians or the middle east, to make mischief."

He said it is unclear whether the House will impeach President Nixon. He said he has been told the House Judiciary Committee staff will be ready to begin presenting evidence to the committee by May 7, a process expected to last

People who are overweight don't earn as much money as people who aren't. How's that for a blunt question? Comes from a personal report who analyzed the weights and wages of a batch of executives. Among men in the $25,000-to-$50,000 category, says he, only about 10 percent are carrying too much heft. But among men in the $10,000-to-$20,000 range, 40 percent weigh in much too heavy. Job discrimination, he calls it.

HYSTERIA

Mass hysteria has been offered as another explanation of the phenomenon known as streaking. Peculiar contagion, that mass hysteria, it cropped up in Africa's Uganda 11 years ago. Almost 1,000 people, each with a white checkered sash under the armpits, were seen streaking. It kept it until they dropped from exhaustion. Hysteria seemed to know why. This was the situation that sprung a school at Barry, Ala. Reportedly, about 125 students, plus a few teachers, all began to cry and complain they itched in some places and were unable to cry and much vomiting ensued. forgive me, Nobody could explain the cause. And way back in the 1800s, the cure in a French convent for so-called peevishness was suddenly closed to gather for several hours daily to move like cats. Each of the Jorgensons is said to be a classic case of mass hysteria.

Europeans regain marathon mastery

BOSTON (UPI)— Mastery of the Boston Marathon has returned to Europe with a machine-like performance by a young Irish runner who could figure prominently in international track.

Neil O'Shea, a slim, brown-haired Limerick native who attends East Tennessee State College, took a commanding lead Monday early in the 26-mile, 35-year-old race, and maintained it with the aid of a slight tailwind and despite a brutal stretch of pavement known as Heartbreak Hill.

It was the third-fastest time ever recorded in the 26-year history of the international event, three minutes and nine seconds off the record set by England's Ron Hill in 1970.

That was the toughest part of the course. Other than that, it wasn't too bad. But it was bad enough. The only thing I thought of when I reached the hill was to get the hell over it and go on with the race.

Turkey supplies said 'generous'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department said today that turkey supplies are "generously abundant" to "unusually generous" volume.

A department economist said he believed prices were down to or below last year's levels. The price of turkey supplies, economist William E. Cathcart said, grew at least partly out of high prices last fall when retail prices approached $1 a pound. The price boom touched off an increase in turkey production. At the same time it apparently led to a slowdown in consumer buying.

Another department report said Americans may soon be getting increased supplies of Australian beef because Britons and Japanese are buying less, the Agriculture Department reports.

Department trade specialists said today U.S. beef imports, which come chiefly from Australia and New Zealand, dipped sharply in February and were 2 percent below a year earlier for the first two months of the year.

The report said that American offering prices for Australian beef had declined, but Australian shippers might try to increase sales anyway because Japan, normally a big buyer, has suspended imports and orders from Britain also down.

More Aussie beef due

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American consumers may soon be getting increased supplies of Australian beef because Britons and Japanese are buying less, the Agriculture Department reports.

Department trade specialists said today U.S. beef imports, which come chiefly from Australia and New Zealand, dipped sharply in February and were 2 percent below a year earlier for the first two months of this year.

But they said that although American offering prices for Australian beef have declined, Australian shippers may soon be trying to increase sales to this country because of problems in other major markets. Japan, normally a big buyer of Australian beef, currently has suspended imports, and orders from the United Kingdom are also down, a report said.

Idaho speed processors sign pact

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (UPI)—Most major potato processing plants in the state today signed a contract with the Growers of Idaho calling for the doubling of last year's prices.

The pact calls for $10.25 per hundredweight for U.S. No. 2 with 50 percent cut below it, according to Max Huntsman, secretary-manager of PGI.

Last year's contract was for $2 per hundredweight. It was the most generous processor agreement in Idaho, according to PGI.

Huntsman said they are continuing negotiations with PGI. He blasted "skyrocketing expenses of the grower" for the increase.

"There are so many competing crops this year if contracts with PGI had not been offered, there would have been a reduction in potato acreage with resulting increase in prices," he said.

Idaho panel states vote

BOISE—A new member of the Idaho Dairy Products Commission from District 1 will be elected in May.

Robert B. Gierke, Wendell, is the present representative from the district, which includes Blaine, Camas, Gooding, Jerome and Lincoln counties.

Three nominees will be chosen by Joe P. McKay, Gooding, chairman of the nominating committee. Dee Wolverton, Richfield, and Ronald Taylor, Wendell. Nominations may also be made by petition by May 1, to the Idaho Department of Agriculture.

Ballots will be mailed to eligible dairymen by May 15 and to be returned by May 21.

Additional information available from the nominating committee, the state agriculture department or the commission, in Boise.

Farm pay rises

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Farm wage rates on April 1 were up 1.1 percent from a year earlier, an Agriculture Department report shows.

The agency's monthly farm labor report said wage rates for workers who do not get board and room rose to an average of $2.21 an hour April 1—24 cents or 11.1 percent above a year earlier. The report said the annualized department index of farm wage rates was about 10 percent higher than a year earlier.

The report said the nation's farm labor force in the last week of March totaled nearly 3.5 million persons, about 1 percent below the same week a year earlier. Records showed the number of hired farm workers—874,500—was at the same level as in 1967.

Light gain for spuds

CHICAGO—Idaho sweet potatoes gained a light gain of 10 points Monday, Commodity News Service said today. The price was below the previous closing level through most of the day as the May option, settled at $17.05 per hundredweight with 105 contracts traded.

Cash markets were stronger in Chicago and Idaho, with Chicago prices at 15.50 and 18.75-15.00 per cwt.

Maine potato futures in New York closed with losses of 4 cents to 56 cents on 3,188 trades.

Sooner aid word asked

WASHINGTON—Oklahoma Gov. David Hall has not yet received an answer to the plea he made Friday for low interest government loans to cattle producers caught in a financial bind due to high cost and low market prices.

Agriculture Department officials said Monday they have not received word of any statement and sources in USDA's Farmers Home Administration agency, which makes emergency loans to producers, claim they have no information yet on Friday's request. The office of Secretary Bellmon, Oklahoma, contacted Monday morning, said he was not aware of the situation.

Hall called the situation a "severe economic impact" area.

Product re-named

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Carnation Co. acknowledged today that its powdered chocolate drink is not the nutritional equivalent of regular milk and agreed to drop advertising to that effect.

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) said Carnation already changed the name of the product to "Milk Chocolate Flavored Drink" instead of "Instant Chocolate Flavored Nonfat Dry Milk" as it was called when the FTC accused the firm of false advertising. The agency said use of the word "milk" was misleading.

Under a consent order tentatively accepted by the commission, the firm, headquartered in Los Angeles, agreed to stop advertising the product or any similar item as having the same vitamin and mineral content as regular milk or reconstituted non-fat dry milk.

4 zone changes tabled

HAILEY — Four zoning change requests have been tabled and a fifth denied by the Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commission.

Request # 1, attorney-requested a "definite" decision from the commission sought by Dawson Enterprises that may be tabled also.

Dawson Enterprises asked for a change from R-1 to C-1 on approximately 12 acres bordering U.S. Highway 93 between Halley and Ketchum. The request would have changed that area to a highway commercial zone. It was denied.

Del Panting asked for a reclassification of one and one-half acres just north of Halley from high density residential to highway commercial.

Panting has plans for building a turnyard there but is unable to do so until an insurance company settles with him on a dilapidated metal structure on the property.

Panting withdrew his request after the commission decided to table the action.

Another zone change request was tabled on 29 acres situated between Mountain Meadows Mobile Home Park and Chated Mobile Home Park.

After sensing the commission's attitude not to change the zone without further study the group requested the commission to table the action.

The commission did table the request, along with a reclassification request by Gordon Beckstead on 5.8 acres on the LeBaron Estates south of the Scott Boot Factory.

Request # 4 requested a zone change on property bordering Highway 93 between Halley and Ketchum. Bodner has plans to build a bowling alley and small restaurant and wanted the zone changed from residential to commercial.

The commission also tabled that request after explaining a definite yes or no decision would mean a year's wait before another request could be made.

Then he led his king of trumps. East won with the ace and led a trump back South won in his own hand and played his ace of clubs. Then he ruffed his last diamond and led a club from dummy.

The dear old Aunt Emma type sitting East had been paying attention to their play and followed with her first low club. Now South put up his king and led his last club.

East won with the queen and South had the rest of the treble since East had led a diamond to give a ruff and discard of a spade away from his king.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

North and South reached their heart game by means of the classic bidding method called "Poppa-Nomina."

The contract was a fairly good one but it made because East played the defense like dear old Aunt Emma.

South was defeated with the diamond opening since it eliminated the obnoxious hunking for the enemy ace.

He won the second trick with his king and saw that in all probability he would not be successful in stalling the defense to make his contract.

Blaine summer program outlined

SUN VALLEY — Blaine County is in the process of raising $1,700 for an outdoor summer program for young people.

Region 6 of the Department of Environmental and Community Services is sponsoring the program.

The purpose of the program is to place young individuals in an environment which offers direct threats and challenges. Hopefully the individual can find a new way to relate to life in facing the challenges.

Mack Reynolds, Blaine County youth services worker, said two trips each month are planned. These excursions will offer survival camping advice on the three-day trips.

Building, shelters, cooking meals and generally coping with the outdoor environment will possibly help an individual with a poor self-image of himself to acquire a sense of reliability and success, said Reynolds.

The program will work through the court system, counselors and schools to get to youth who are having problems.

A 50-50 balance of leaders and friends will accompany the group to offer incentive and guidance to the program.

Lloyd Curtis, Ketchum Chamber of Commerce executive director, said some of the money is collected already. The money will go to provide backpacking gear for about seven individuals.

Casino lights go on again

RENO, Nov. (UPI) — The huge sign that lit up the sky over Nevada's gambling casinos, turned off last fall because of the energy crisis, went back on again during the weekend.

Signs on the hotels and casinos in Reno, Las Vegas and Lake Tahoe can now be turned on from 9 p.m. to midnight Fridays and Saturdays, Gov. Mike O'Callaghan said.

Rupert workshop slated May 7, 8

RUPERT — An inter-denominational religious education workshop concerning the mentally handicapped will be held May 7 and 8 in Rupert.

Sister Anne Renigill and Father David Linehan, who have had wide experience with the mentally and physically handicapped, will conduct the workshop.

Parents of the mentally handicapped and teachers, clergymen and other interested persons in the Magic Valley are invited.

The location of the workshop has not been determined. Tuesday's session will run from 7:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. and Wednesday's session from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The organizing committee met April 8. The group, composed of George MacDonald, Mrs. Warren Stutzman, Irene Gerleman and Sister Grace Stang, were joined by Leigh Ingersoll, representing the LDS Church, and Rev. Fred Meier, representing the Minidoka County Ministerial Association.

Spike site engines sold

BRIGHAM CITY, Utah (UPI) — The Golden Spike National Historic Site is losing its rail-road engines.

The two iron horses, which mark the spot where the first transcontinental railroad was completed in 1869, have been sold to the Nevada State Park System, according to site administrator Glen Church.

He said the engines were loaned to the National Park Service by Paramount movie studios but they were sold to the state of Nevada for $75,000.

Church said the park service has already contracted for two more engines which will probably be working models. He said the original engines will remain at the site, 32 miles west of here, for "a couple of summers" before being moved to Nevada as part of the bicentennial celebration.

While there will be a time lag between the removal of the old engines and the delivery of the new one, Church said he will seek additional funds from the Park Service to restore the old Promontory Village at the site.

In 1948, Michael won the neighborhood Soap Box Derby. He's been hungering for a roadster ever since.

It was the thrill of a 12-year-old lifetime! Streaking across the finishing ahead of the other neighborhood kids in a homemade rader. Forever after, Michael had vision of his very own sports car. Even at 55 miles per hour.

Finally, one day he walked into The Bank & Trust installation loan department and explained that recurring dream. Instead of the loan he expected about "reasonable transportation," he got his loan. In a few days, he was buzzing around the Magic Valley in a bright red, well-tuned roadster — in third gear most of the time, but enjoying it all the time.

That's how we do things at The Bank & Trust. We don't make loans according to suit, corporate policies. We're independent home town people, and we know our neighbors need money for a lot of different reasons. We're willing to listen to all of them. Changes are, if your reason makes sense to you, they'll make sense to us.

Next time you need money for any worthwhile purpose, see an installment loan officer at The Bank & Trust. You'll get a sympathetic ear. And a quick answer.
