Judge dismisses Jacobsen charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge today dismissed an indictment against Texas lawyer Jake Jacobsen, accused of lying about milk producers' efforts to get a 1971 price support increase from the Nixon administration.

Chief U.S. District Judge George L. Hart said a statement by Jacobsen cited as the basis for the indictment was literally true.

A Watergate grand jury on Jan. 25 had accused Jacobsen, a 54-year-old resident of Austin, Texas, who once worked at the White House during the Johnson administration, of lying when he answered "yes" when asked if he testified that he did not inject $10,000 that had been put into a safe deposit box in 1971 after the administration increased the price support for raw milk.

Chicago aide indicted

CHICAGO (UPI) — Alderman Thomas Keane, Chicago's second-most powerful political figure, was indicted Thursday by a federal grand jury in connection with allegedly illicit land deals involving the city.

The 21-count indictment charged Keane, whose influence is second only to that of his longtime associate, Mayor Richard Daley, with mail fraud and conspiracy.

Steel prices boosted

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Major steel producers, including No. 1-ranked U.S. Steel Corp., today began raising prices on steel products.

Other steelmakers announcing various price increases after the expiration of federal price controls included Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., National Steel Corp., and Wheeling Pittsburgh Steel Co.

The upward price trend was expected to be adopted by industry-wide within the next few days. The companies cited rising costs of labor and materials as the reasons for the price hikes.

Fonda gets pacemaker

NEW YORK (UPI) — Actor Henry Fonda Thursday had a pacemaker implanted in his chest as a "precaution against a heart rhythm disorder," a spokesman for Lenox Hill Hospital said.

The 68-year-old Fonda, who collapsed following a performance of his one-man play "Clarence Darrow," was admitted to Lenox Hill April 23 for what an associate called "exhaustion."

Hag shuns questions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig invoked executive privilege on President Nixon's orders Thursday and refused to answer all questions put to him during a closed session of the Senate Watergate committee.

Committee sources said the former army general refused to answer more than 100 questions in a half day. Most of them involving Howard Hughes' $100,000 campaign contribution which Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo kept in a safe deposit box for three years.

AG says fund shift at BSU not criminal

By DAVID ESPO
T.N. Capitol Bureau

BOISE — The Idaho attorney general's office has concluded there was no criminal wrongdoing in unauthorized diversion of revenue bond funds at Boise State University.

In a letter to the Idaho Board of Education, deputy attorney Gen. James Hargis wrote a review of the charge made about the diversion and other allegations at BSU indicated neither criminal nor civil liability.

"There is no evidence, of course, that irregularities and improprieties did not occur at the institution or that the allegations of certain improper activity were not based on fact," Hargis wrote.

He further warned the board diversion of funds from bond issues "could cause a fall on the credibility of all future issues" that may result in a lower bond rating and higher interest rate than Boise State now enjoys.

The diversion of funds involved $129,000 in money raised from the sale of the revenue bonds and earmarked for certain construction projects. It was used to pay for remodeling of BSU administration offices. Neither the expenditure nor the remodeling was approved by the board of education.

TWIN FALLS — Sierra Life Insurance Co. Thursday abandoned a major portion of its plans for a giant building development in northeast Twin Falls.

The firm's withdrawal included all of the proposed commercial section that sparked heavy opposition from homeowners in the region north of Twin Falls High School.

The action came in a letter from Sierra Life President Fred Frazier to the Twin Falls City Council.

Frazier said his firm "heretofore withdraws." Its application for annexation and rezoning of about 33 acres. A commercial zoning designation had been requested for about 20 of those acres. Residential zoning was asked for the remaining land.

In the same letter Thursday, Frazier told Sierra Life "simply requests" the annexation of about 17 acres and that they be given "residential low density" zoning designation.

The 17 acres are between Locust Street North and Madrona Street North, directly north of the Esquire Estates subdivision.

Tom Schaefer, an engineer for Sierra Life, said the firm retained plans for residential development of the 17 acres because the tract has immediate access to public utilities and is situated between current residential uses on the north and south.

The total 50-acre parcel initially represented the first phase development of a giant, 172-acre residential and commercial complex. About 35 acres would have been used for commercial purposes.

The City Council will consider Sierra Life's sharply reduced annexation and zoning request at its regular meeting Monday evening. The public hearing scheduled on the firm's previous application for rezoning of about 5 acres has been cancelled, according to City Manager Jean Millar.

Sierra Life's abandonment of most of its development plans came two days after a public hearing on the project before the city planning and zoning commission.

A standing-room-only crowd of homeowners jammed the hearing room and protested the commercial section of the Sierra Life proposal.

After the hearing the zoning, in a 4-1 vote, recommended annexation of the firm's property with a residential low density zoning designation. The recommendation, if adopted by the City Council, would have ruled out all commercial uses.

RURAL — fire department crews are equipped could do little more than contain the fire within the old York Packing plant building of Twin Falls Thursday afternoon. The building had been vacant for some time.

TF blaze Fire destroys abandoned plant

TWIN FALLS — Fire destroyed most of an old York Packing Co. plant north of the city Thursday, just one day before it was to be demolished.

Bob Vawser, assistant fire chief, said the abandoned packing and butchering section which made up the main part of the facility was destroyed.

A storage area and offices in the back of the plant were saved, Vawser said. There was no estimate of loss. The plant was due to be demolished and hauled away today, Vawser added.

The fire was apparently started when a workman cutting up an old iron boiler for removal and salvage prior to the demolition cut the end off a hot and red steel pipe which fell into a puddle of oil in an old elevator shaft.

Vawser said his department received the call about 4 p.m. Thursday and by the time the Kimberly fire truck arrived the main part of the building was engulfed in flames.

Murtaugh levy OK'd

MURTAUGH — Murtaugh school patrons approved 10-mill override levy Thursday by an overwhelming 86 per cent.

The vote was 70 yes with only 11 no votes against the levy which Supr. Florin Hulse had said was needed to "just run the schools." The Murtaugh district has lost anticipated state money this year because of reduction in enrollment and Supr. Hulse said this trend continues next year will be worse.

Trustee chairman James Perkins today issued a statement, thanking patrons for supporting the levy.

Patrons will have considerable choice in their selection of new trustees in the May 21 trustee election, with five men seeking the two posts to be filled.

There is a three-way race in zone 3 where Warren Fowler is opposed in his bid for re-election by Rev. McFarland and Paul Pickett, both farmers.

Perkins, incumbent in zone 5, will be opposed by Gerald Siebers, also a farmer. Polls will be open at the Murtaugh High School from 1 to 8 p.m. May 21.

Job index better

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unemployment edged down in April for the second month in a row, falling from a March level of 5.3 per cent to 5 per cent as joblessness declined among teenagers and black workers, the government said today.

After reaching a 3 1/2 year low of 4.6 per cent last October, unemployment rose to 5.2 per cent in January and February before starting down in March.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the number of employed workers remained unchanged at about 85.8 million while the number of persons out of work fell by about 100,000 to 17 million.

The unemployment rate for teenagers dropped from 16 per cent in March down to 13.6 per cent last month, while the rate for black workers declined from 9.4 per cent to 8.7 per cent.

The BLS also said the average work week and pay checks for rank and file workers decreased in April.

The average work week last month was 36.6 hours, which was 12 minutes shorter than in March.

Recall vote set today

HAZELTON — Residents of Hazelton were voting on the recall of Hazelton City Councilman, Ellsworth Henley.

Date has been set for a special election to recall the city's mayor, Jimmie Dryden, and the city's councilman, Ellsworth Henley, and Henley's recall petition was filed against Henley and Henley's recall petition charging them with refusal to cooperate with the mayor in seeking solutions to the sewer problems of the city and refusal to vote to confirm anyone appointed by the mayor as city attorney.

Signatories of the recall petition filed a recall petition against the mayor, charging him with not taking the time or effort to listen to the councilman's side of the sewer problem.

The petition against the mayor also charges the mayor with not being concerned about city business other than the sewer project and the housing authority.

Questions over the sewer project have not only led to the recall efforts against Dryden, Henley and Hamilton, but have resulted in the resignation of a former city councilman, Hazelton city councilman Kermit Douglas last year and the resignation of the city clerk, Jackie Christopherson, who says she was "fed up with the whole mess."

Signatories of the recall petition and the mayor have caused city business in Hazelton to come to near standstill with the mayor attempting to appoint a new city clerk without the approval of the City Council, and attempting to formulate a city budget without the assistance of the Council.

Polls will be open from noon to 8 p.m. today in the city hall.

Flood danger down

BOISE — The weather bureau is predicting cool temperatures which will decrease the danger of flooding in the Big Wood River basin.

Considerable cooling aloft will tend to retard snow melt in the higher basins the next two to three days.

This cooling will tend to slow runoff, with stream levels near to, or slightly above, flood stage. Minor flooding has been observed on the Big Wood River at Halley.

Flood stage for the Big Wood River at Halley is 4.5 feet. Level observed Thursday was 4.5 feet.

Ranchers and residents along this stream should be aware of rising water for protection of property.

TF teacher pay increases agreed

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Final agreements here give teachers pay increases ranging from 11.35 per cent to 15.9 per cent.

In special cases salaries will jump up to 22 per cent.

Top teacher pay would rise to $15,100 from $10,115.

The new schedule provides new incentives for teachers who pursue their education and gives additional pay to teachers with high levels of seniority.

Salary increases at the bottom of the scale in both experience and education begin at 11.35 per cent. A first-year teacher with a bachelor's degree would make $7,500 this year, compared with $6,735 last year.

Toward the top of the scale, increases range about 13.5 per cent. A 16-year teacher with a bachelor's degree would make $10,200 on the new scale, compared with last year's salary of $8,355, a 13.9 per cent increase.

Several changes in the structure of the salary scale result in lower and higher increases.

Last year's salary schedule had included a pay level for 17 years of experience, but this year the schedule runs in yearly steps only to 16 years experience. However, two extra categories, for 20 and 25 years of experience, were added.

A teacher with 17 years experience and a master's degree could only get paid for 16 years on the new scale. This salary increase would be from $11,115 to $12,175 on the old scale — to $11,340 — 16 years on the new scale, about a 12.1 per cent increase.

High salary jumps are seen when teachers have 20 to 25 years experience. Former schedules provided no financial compensation for more than 17 years experience.

For instance, a teacher who has a master's degree and 20 years experience would have been paid at the 17-year level last year, $10,115. This year, the teacher will receive $11,040, a 9.17 per cent raise.

And a teacher who has a master's plus 25 years experience, also paid in preceding years at the 17-year salary $10,115, will be paid a salary of $12,940 this year, a jump of almost 22 per cent.

In addition, two whole new categories have been added to provide for teachers with more education. One new rank is for teachers with a master's degree plus 15 graduate hours, or for teachers with a bachelor's degree and 90 credit hours. Salaries range from a low of $9,020 the first year employed, to $12,720 for 25 years experience.

Education board orders transfer

BOISE (UPI)—Over the objections of a child's mother, the State Board of Education Thursday ordered transfer of an 11-year-old boy to the Idaho State School and Hospital for training.

The boy, Reay of the school for the deaf and blind recommended the transfer of Kenneth Edwards, deaf son of Mrs. Mary Edwards Boise, to the Nampa institution.

He said the boy could remain in his home that way, could receive one-to-one training from the teachers. He said the boy is unable to adjust to group situations such as are necessary at the Gooding institution.

Reay cited psychological, educational and audiological evaluations of the child in making the recommendation.

Mrs. Mamie Oliver, an assistant professor of sociology at Boise State University, challenged the psychological evaluations and urged the board to obtain more information.

She said the person who made the evaluation lacked proper qualifications.

Board members called for an independent psychological evaluation of the child after his mother, formerly requested a hearing.

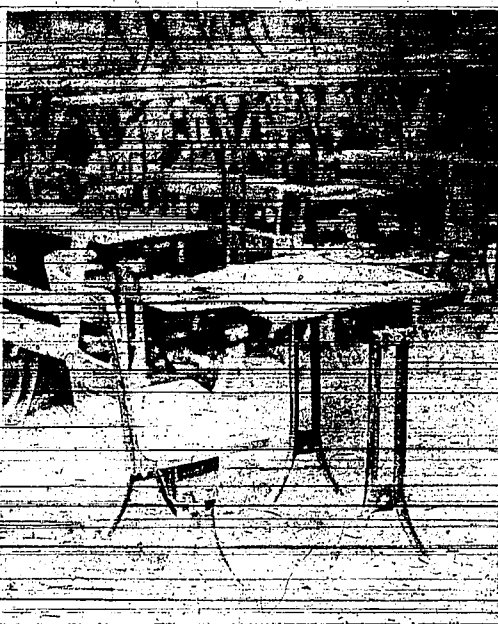

The results of this evaluation will be made to the board at the hearing.

When Mrs. Edwards objected to transferring her son to the Nampa institution and asked first for further evaluation of him, Board President J. P. Munson, Sandpoint, explained the board had to approve the transfer and she had to ask for the hearing before this could be done.

He added that a hearing may bring out some other problems, which could be avoided in the future.

Reay in making his recommendation, said it was put forth strictly for the educational reasons and had nothing to do with race.

This brought a blast from Mrs. Oliver, who is black.

WOOD and cast-iron desk, complete with inkwell, is set in front of piles of others like it to be auctioned off by the Twin Falls School District beginning at 11 a.m. Saturday at the Lincoln Field.

Teacher training improvement eyed

BOISE (UPI)—Spokane-area school boards urged the State Board of Education Thursday to improve the quality of teacher training in the colleges and universities.

At the same time, the trustees asked the state board to assist them in formulating an "accountability" plan whereby the public can be insured children are achieving desired skill levels in school.

They also asked for and not from the board two seats on the state textbook selection committee.

Meanwhile, the board:

- Okeyed an affirmative action program for the State Department of Education and promised and created an umbrella plan for all school districts by July 1, 1976.
- Denied for the present a request to create a new high school district to serve rapidly growing Horseshoe Bend, but agreed to have its public school committee discuss consolidation of Horseshoe Bend with Garden Valley.
- Present high school students from Horseshoe Bend must go to Emmett or Garden Valley for instruction.
- Refused to drop study of American government as a requirement for a General Educational Development (GED) school equivalency certificate.

Saturday auction

School auction slated

TWIN FALLS—Expect an generation of school children now grown, the old wooden desks sit empty, piled in long rows behind Lincoln School.

Saturday beginning at 11 a.m. the desks will be auctioned off by the Twin Falls School District, perhaps to be claimed by a former occupant.

The antiquated school desks are just part of the pile of equipment which fills much of the playing field behind the school.

A glass-faced adding machine, a couple of pianos, various and assorted wooden chairs, typewriter or two, and lawnmowers, lots of them, are among the items ready for the auction block. There are several desks and long wooden work tables, and even a metal bed, presumably used by a long-gone nurse for her small patients.

One corner is taken up by a pile of white glass globes that once lighted long school halls. Metal poles, pipes, ladders, stoves and mysterious boxes and wheels are spread neatly by category around the field.

Appraisers are still at work evaluating the equipment. They set bottom prices for the items, which the school district legally can't go below. And custodians are still carting yesterday's school furnishings into a nearby storage area.

For a bit of school-day nostalgia, take in the auction tomorrow. Proceeds go to Twin Falls School District.

TF County officials ask re-election

TWIN FALLS — Most of the Twin Falls County office holders whose terms expire this year have indicated they will seek re-election.

The first two announcements came today from William L. Chaney, chairman of the Twin Falls County Commission and representing the second commission district, and from Harold Lancaster, veteran county clerk, Chaney is a Republican and Lancaster is a Democrat and has held office since his appointment in 1963. He is a former county commissioner and has served one term in that office prior to his appointment as clerk 11 years ago. Since that time he has been re-elected by a large vote, frequently unopposed.

Lancaster is a former member of the Filer School board and Filer Highway District. He is a native of Filer and a life-long resident of Twin Falls County.

Since becoming clerk and auditor, he has introduced microfilming of county records, a project extending over several years and with the cooperation of the county commissioners obtained voting machines for the county.

He has also streamlined other accounting and record keeping and is currently working with other county officials to convert accounting to computer equipment.

Chaney also serves as chairman of the South Central Idaho Health District board and has been active in state, district, and national county officials organizations. He is past Idaho representative and representative on the committee of the National Association of County Officials.

He is a member and former president of the Twin Falls Lions Club and has been active in many state and district groups on county government and planning. He has served the past eight years as county commissioner and as chairman the past six years.

Chaney said he is proud of the county's economy record even during the greatest inflation in history, the county has operated free of bonded indebtedness and been able to provide services and many improvements.

"Accomplishments while in office of which he is proud include renovation of the old hospital and nurses home buildings, renovation of the courthouse, consolidation of the road department office and warehouse, and purchase of youth machines, he said.

Chaney is a former businessman having operated a service station until he assumed full-time county commissioner.

Other incumbents who have indicated they plan to seek re-election, Robert Galley, by assisting attorney Donald Taylor; Kimberly, assessor; Ruth K. Jones, treasurer, and Cloyce Edwards, coroner.

Commissioner William Wiseman, third district, has not made an announcement as yet and county prosecutor Robert Galley, who was in office today, said he will seek re-election but will make a formal announcement within a few days.

Mrs. Jones, a lifelong Democrat, was appointed in 1967 as county treasurer and has been in office since that time. One of the major vote getters for her party on the ballot each time.

She is the only woman elected official in the county and has more than 30 years experience in tax work. She served as deputy county assessor for 18 years before becoming county treasurer and prior to that worked as a clerk in the assessor's office.

Taylor, a Republican, was also appointed to office, taking over the assessor's office from Clifford Thompson on Jan. 10, 1973. Prior to that time he was in the real estate business and did land appraisals for the firm, headed by his father, Don Taylor, Kimberly.

He has more than five years in real estate work as well as his two years in the assessor's office. Taylor has been active in the Republican Party, 4-H, Boy Scout and real estate organizations.

Edwards, who owns the Magic Valley Amusement Service, has served as coroner the past six years. He is a Republican and prior to entering business for himself was a member of the Twin Falls Police Department.

Sheriff Paul Corder and first district commissioner Merle E. Leonard, Filer, both Republicans, are the only two elected officials whose terms do not expire this year.

Hansen cites 'freedom' issue

TWIN FALLS — "The main issue in this year's national election is freedom," said candidate George Hansen in the Twin Falls Rotary Club Wednesday.

"Specifically we're talking about freedom from the oppressive laws and high costs of big government. The heavy hand of many new federal laws has caused many people to feel they're having to fight their own government to stay in business and that's a sad state of affairs."

"I think there's still time to save the ship of state, if enough people start fighting back," the Pocatello candidate said.

Just a few properly dedicated men, in the right places, can turn things around. I urge you to get on somebody's team and back a political candidate you feel will help preserve the American system of freedom — enterprise — and individual liberty.

"If a businessman, the farmer, the state and local government official and the private citizen are fast losing their rights to a rapidly expanding federal bureaucracy," Hansen said.

Hansen cited examples of recent national legislation passed in Congress by margins as small as one vote.

Criticizing what he called the "bitter attitude in Congress," Hansen complimented Idaho's first congressional district representative, "Steve Symms," for his continuing effort to repeal the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA).

Elaborating on the "OSHA attitude," Hansen said OSHA inspectors, certain activities of the IRS and EPA, along with some — recently passed legislation dealing with consumer protection, are all part of a new attitude in Washington which reverses the basic constitutional right of innocent until proven guilty.

This is high handed, big brother government," Hansen told his audience. "Citizens must reverse the trend by either changing the attitudes of their lawmakers or changing their lawmakers."

J. Horizon Day slated

TWIN FALLS — The annual Johnny Horizon Day cleanup will get underway in Twin Falls County at 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

William Chaney, co-chairman of the event, said Johnny Horizon Day is sponsored by the county commission and the Bureau of Land Management. He said trash will be cleaned up along roadways, in public parks and in other public rights-of-way.

Convention planned

TWIN FALLS — Plans for the state Federation of Garden Clubs convention in Twin Falls June 12 and 14 were discussed Wednesday by the Twin Falls Garden Club.

Boldness many pay off in latest Nixon crisis

WASHINGTON — In the great crises of his political life, Richard Nixon has been almost recklessly bold. He saved himself from charges of corruption in the presidential campaign of 1952...

gave them that part of the evidence he thought they should have, and interested it sedulously in his TV address to the nation before the Judiciary Committee had even had a chance to read the partial evidence he had provided.

All this was presented by the President to the nation as an exercise of unprecedented generosity. It is odd that such a speech should have to be made in America by the President of the United States, and even traggic that he felt he had to do it.

proceeding, the President should be able to select the evidence and the people who should check and confirm it. Meanwhile, the controversy will not be resolved as the President predicted...

Ford as own man

(Christian Science Monitor)

Vice-President Gerald Ford seems determined not to repeat the experience of former Vice-President Humphrey, whose eventual move to separate his views from those of President Johnson came too late to save his own presidential hopes.

Mr. Ford begins by denying presidential intentions, but is increasingly combining support for President Nixon with defining differences in their views. Almost every day he seems to lead a little more credibly to his assertion that month that "I shall remain my own man."

Now Mr. Ford says for himself the White House "will cooperate to the maximum" in supplying evidence called for by the House impeachment inquiry, and the special prosecutor. Instead of totally unqualified support of the President's innocence, he says he is convinced it is constitutionally deferred terms.

Soviet aims clarified

Brian Crozier of London, head of the Institute for the Study of the Soviet Union, has written an analysis for the London Times of the strategic meaning of the reopening of the Suez Canal.

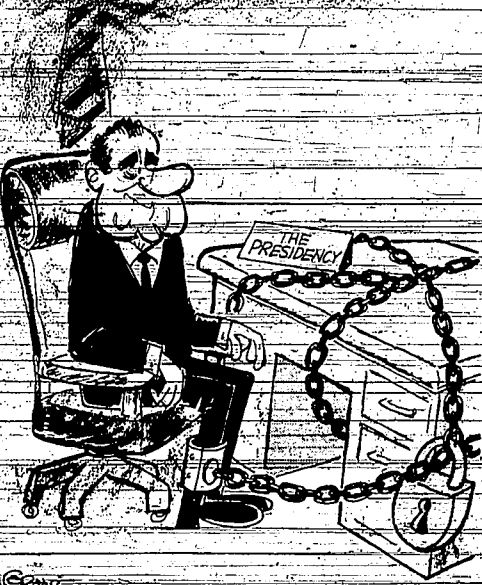

In layman's terms, it means that the distance between the Black Sea and the Indian Ocean will be reduced to 1,000 miles. So why should the United States be so concerned about it?

patiently explaining to the Kremlin the strategic benefits of dominating the seas around the Persian Gulf. It was most probably the demonstration of last fall that brought around the unbelievers.

Everything points towards that blissful peace we all desire, but meanwhile, the strategic leverage of the Soviet Union increases. So that one, two, three years hence, when the moment comes for the Soviet Union to attempt to defy the United States, it will make this possible?

One could imagine Admiral Gorshkov... "I have not yet seen grounds for formally impeaching President Nixon, but if ever the terms were acceptable as metaphor, I'd be ready to ask if he could tell us how, under his leadership, we got into this mess."

No fixed criteria for office scandals

WASHINGTON
A presidential scandal with unprecedented political scandal in his administration. How should he respond? What is expected? What is acceptable? What is right? There are of course, no fixed criteria to use in answering these questions, if only because the Watergate scandal has no precedent in our history.

But the survival of Richard Nixon, as an effective national leader or as a leader at all, depends on how these questions are answered in the next several weeks by the Congress and by the American people.

For all the new insight the Watergate probe provides into the White House world of "hanging tough," they offer no easy answers to the verdicts.

Nowhere does the record show Nixon simply saying, "We're guilty, but let's obstruct justice and cover the whole thing up." That would be too easy.

And as the President has extended the presidential pardon in which he is clearly arguing for laying bare the whole sordid story. When, for example, John Ehrlichman tells him on April 14, 1974 that "the public has a right to know the truth," Nixon replies, "It's the right thing. We'll have to do the right thing, damn it! We just cannot have a kind of Watergate, John, just cannot be."

Would John Ehrlichman and H.R. Haldeman have to resign? And, of course, there are other passages earlier that seem to show Nixon coolly assessing the feasibility of using hush money and promises of executive clemency to keep the lid on.

So the record is ambiguous. With this book, you can teach it round or flat.

What this means is that Congress and the public are going to have to make a judgment by weighing the tone, the nuance, the implications of the more than 200,000 words that few people—and probably few Congressmen—will read in their entirety.

That the White House is well aware that this subjective judgment is crucial has been obvious in the public relations office, often clinaxed by the release of the transcripts Monday night. It was the President on national television on Tuesday morning it was his counsel, James D. St. Clair, presenting his brief—both summarizing the news with their coloration of the record that would be made available later.

The White House emphasis, understandably, was on a President "probing to find out what happened" on Tuesday morning it was his counsel, James D. St. Clair, presenting his brief—both summarizing the news with their coloration of the record that would be made available later.

How to bring warring factions to the peace table or how to move necessary legislation through Congress?

Analysis

The implication was that it was simply a record of a President and his advisers soberly discussing the substance of a problem and judiciously weighing the alternative methods for dealing with it.

But the record itself shows some striking differences in tone and nuance between the White House characterization of the material and the reality. In his brief, for example, St. Clair described a meeting of Nixon, Haldeman and Ehrlichman April 14 as "an in-depth discussion lasting more than 2 1/2 hours" and said "the obvious purpose was to review the results of three weeks' investigation on the part of Ehrlichman and Haldeman and determine what course of action they would recommend."

This description conjures up a picture of dispassionate, perhaps selfless analysis of a troubling situation. In fact, whether John Mitchell should go before the grand jury and talk to officials with only an official interest.

But the account shows the conversation was neither so bloodless nor so selfless. Much of it dealt with the public relations of the matter. At one point, for example, Ehrlichman says "I'm convinced that if Mitchell testifies it redounds to the administration's advantage."

Nixon: "How does it redound to our advantage?" Ehrlichman: "That you have a report from me based on three weeks' work; that when you go to it, you immediately acted to call Mitchell in as the probable wrongdoer, and you say, 'My God, I've got a report here, and it's clear from this report that you are guilty as hell. Now, John, for (expensive deleted) sake, go on in there and do what you should. And let's get this thing cleared up and get move on," and Haldeman: "Plus the other side of this is that that's the only way to bear it now." So how is this fragment of the record to be assessed? Were they trying to get Mitchell to talk to break the case? Or were they trying to get Mitchell to talk so that he would take the responsibility for the case? Ehrlichman's scenario, an account of what was really going on, or a suggestion for how it might be made to appear? The preoccupation with public relations is one of the most striking features of the total record. And although Nixon conceded he had been "concerned with 'political ramifications' of the case, the President's characterization of the transcripts did not dwell heavily on that point.

Data study slated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's refusal to provide actual tape recordings made of his Watergate conversations subpoenaed by the House Judiciary Committee means the committee will have to use only material it already has to use for its impeachment inquiry.

This evidence, from the White House, the grand jury, federal agencies, the Senate Watergate Committee and its own investigation, will be examined at hearings beginning next week, some of which are likely to be closed to the public and reporters.

The committee previously decided not to try to enforce its subpoena through the courts. It felt its power to impeach comes directly from the Constitution and cannot be subjected to possible modification by the judiciary.

Likewise, the committee by a decisive vote rejected another possibility, to hold Nixon in contempt of Congress because that would have the effect of trying to impeach Nixon twice—once on a contempt citation and again on a resolution of impeachment.

We'll Be Happy To Explain Value and Economy For Your Tire Dollars.

These days we all like to make sure we're getting the most for our money. That's why we'd like you to know the facts about why we believe the Michelin 'X' is the best tire buy.

Every Michelin 'X' tire is backed by a 40,000-mile warranty for tread wear on domestic cars. That's just about twice the mileage you'd expect from a conventional tire under the same driving conditions. Also, because of its radical design, the Michelin 'X' rolls with less road resistance than conventional tires, and that means you can save up to 10% on your present gas consumption (pretty good considering today's fuel crisis). Plus, every Michelin 'X' tire gives you all the driving advantages over conventional bias-ply tires: smoother ride, easier handling, better traction and longer road holding. And, they add up to a lot of comfort and safety.

Invest in better driving. Stop in and have a set of Michelin 'X' radials installed today.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., told an audience Wednesday night he would accept a presidential challenge to President Nixon, according to the latest polls.

"But I have challenged him to a debate, and I will debate him if he shows up," Mondale added.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Some medical terms better unseen

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a woman of 31 and seem to be in perfect health. I have been getting yearly checkups and everything is always fine.

On my last checkup I noticed on my chart under the electrocardiogram the wording "first degree blockage." The doctor told me it was nothing to worry about and I should forget about it.

I never had any heart trouble and I am very puzzled as to what first degree blockage means. — Mrs. S. R.

An excellent example of why many doctors are reluctant to let patients get a peek at their charts.

time for the impulse to beat to travel from the auricle to the ventricle; that is, from an upper chamber to the lower chamber of the heart.

This can occur in either men or women without the presence of a heart disease, and without meaning there is any weakness in the heart. It is a variation.

There are no symptoms. It is a condition which is diagnosed only by the tracing of an electrocardiogram.

What else about it? Do exactly what your doctor advised. Forget it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Recently my wife and I have found out that we are expecting our first child. Of course we are happy, but at the same time it seems that she has been talking to one of her friends (who had had several children) and he's been told that if you have ever had any kind of surgery around the area of the child, that child and any other children will have to be taken by Caesarean. She had an appendectomy about three years ago.

I have tried to talk to her and persuade her to ask her doctor, but she doesn't want to ask him such a dumb question. Being an adult leader of your own life, she would believe you and I am asking your help. — L.B.M.

Having had an appendectomy or any similar operation would have no bearing at all on a decision to have a Caesarean birth.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 67 and have lived with only one kidney since 1939. I like to drink tea and was disappointed recently hearing a doctor on TV make the statement that the tannic acid in tea is bad for the kidneys. I hope you can give me an explanation on this. — W.S.

Seems to me it ought to be up to whoever it was on TV to do the explaining, because I would not have said any such thing.

It is true that tea leaves contain tannin or tannic acid, but even the strongest tea leaves depends on how long the tea is steeped.

You have survived over 30 years with one kidney and your tea drinking and I hope you should believe you can't do any harm has come from your tea. So keep on drinking and enjoy yourself. — Col. Eldred Enterprises, Inc.

Henry in Damascus

DAMASCUS (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger brought his shuttle diplomacy to Damascus today to seek an end to the Israeli fighting on the Golan Heights but ran into a Syrian "visit to Damascus in January, and security" today was unprecedented. He also was traveling through the city in a bulletproof Cadillac (from the United States; a bulletproof car also was down in Israel).

Kissinger had a last-minute conversation in Tel Aviv with Prime Minister Golda Meir before flying here for his talks with President Hafez Assad. Five, seek security and peace, and not the imposition of views by any party on any other party," Kissinger said after the meeting with Mrs. Meir.

Mr. Kissinger said he was commander of the special troops fighting Israel's on the Golan Heights are liberated completely. The fighting will not be abandoned until a full land is led of the Zionist even he said, Israel has said there must be a cease-fire on the Golan Heights before there can be any negotiations on the troop disengagement program.

Nixon tied to milk 'chain'

(c) N.Y. Times Service
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Investigators for the House Judiciary Committee have apparently constructed a chain of circumstantial evidence that may connect links President Nixon's decision in 1971 to raise government milk price supports to a pledge by dairy industry groups to give $1 million to the President's 1972 campaign for reelection.

Syria, Israel duel on Golan

SYRIA said its artillery knocked out Israeli armor today while Israel reported one of its patrols killed two Syrians in a fresh outbreak of fighting prior to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's negotiating visit to Damascus.

The Israeli command said a patrol encountered a Syrian unit in the eastern sector of the area captured in the October war and "in the exchange of fire two Syrians were killed. The patrol returned with no casualties."

Authorities raid SLA apartment

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Police Thursday night raided an abandoned apartment apparently used as a hideout by the Black Liberation Army, and found terrorist slogans scrawled on the walls, a signed car, the name of a kidnapped Patricia Hearst and a ground group used in an April bank robbery.

Police and FBI agents discovered clothing and other articles that indicated the SLA members lived in the apartment less than a week ago. Police found the keys in a rented car which the underground group used in an April bank robbery.

4 suspects released

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Police Thursday night released four of the seven black suspects arrested in the Zebra slaying because of insufficient evidence. A spokesman said those released were Tom Mammey, 31, Douglas Burton, 29, Clarence Jernerson, 37, and Dwight Stallings, 28. "They just didn't have the evidence and I would say they don't have it in the other three," said attorney Clinton White of Oakland, representing the seven black men. "We feel we have the Zebra killers," Barca said before the after-police lineup. "But we still need someone that we can say this is it, we have them all."

On one wall was scrawled "Freedom is the bread of the people." On another wall was "Patria O Muerte, Venecia nos Tania." The slogan, roughly translated, means "Fatherland or death, we will overcome." Eight SLA members and Miss Hearst are being sought in connection with the April 15 $40,000 bank robbery and the shooting of two bystanders. The owner of the apartment building in San Francisco's Western Addition section had called police to investigate a "suspicious occurrence" at a third-floor apartment which was abandoned last Friday. One woman who lived near the apartment house on Golden Gate Avenue told KGO radio that she identified an FBI photograph of "Cinque," the head of the SLA, as one of the persons she had seen in the area. "Cinque" has been identified as Donald De Freeze, 30, an escaped convict. The apartment is not far from the bank in the Sunset district which was robbed by the cashiers-carrying terrorists. Authorities said they recovered materials showing the SLA had been in the apartment until recently. The apartment was rented March 20 and abandoned last Friday. Officers investigating the raid were sent to the FBI crime lab in Washington for analysis.

President tests public reaction

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon took off on a two-day Western swing today aimed at demonstrating his still as a reservoir of grassroots support despite the Watergate scandal. While Congress is weighing what evidence of presidential complicity is contained in the excerpted transcripts of his private conversations, Nixon will be testing public reaction in appearances at Phoenix, Ariz., and Spokane, Wash. Accompanied by sons Barry Goldwater and Paul J. Fannon and three other members of the Arizona congressional delegation, President and Mrs. Nixon are scheduled to arrive in Phoenix in mid-afternoon in an evening rally at the 14,000-seat Phoenix Coliseum. The speech before an audience raised by Arizona Republicans is his first appearance outside Washington since publication earlier this week of the transcripts of 48 conversations with key aides on the Watergate affair.

The President has claimed the excerpts show he knew nothing about plans for breaking into the Democratic National headquarters and did not participate in efforts to cover up the complexity of his key aides. He is hoping for an outpouring of support which will demonstrate the country still believes in him on this critical matter. The only member of the Arizona delegation not accompanying Nixon is Democratic Rep. Mark Udall, who will be addressing a Phoenix meeting of Democrats from nine western states shortly after Nixon's speech. In remarks prepared for the group, Udall said neither the nation nor the presidency will be destroyed if Nixon is kicked out of office. Following an overnight stay in Phoenix, President and First Lady will fly to Spokane to officially open Expo '74, a world's fair beginning a six-month run.

Man accident prone

SINGAPORE (UPI)—A television mechanic who survived a five-story fall seven years ago was knocked down by a bicycle Thursday and then run over by an automobile. He died instantly. Police said Kooi Kim-ke, 47, outfitted with a wooden leg since his 1967 fall, lost his balance when a bicycle bumped into him. He fell to the road and was hit by a car.

6 killed, 19 wounded

BELFAST (UPI)—A British tank attacked a militia outpost with rockets and machine guns early today, claiming a night of violence in which six persons were killed and 19 wounded. The dead included the first policeman slain in more than 4 1/2 years of Northern Ireland violence.

DEAR ABBY: Can you or anyone in your vast reading audience provide a solution to a problem which adds to my anxiety of the frightening increase of crime, in order to protect myself, must I now refuse to lend a helping hand to a brother or sister in apparent need of help? If I am driving along the road and see a car stalled by the roadside, and a woman tries to flag me down, afraid I ignore her plight and keep going because I fear it might be a trap to rob me? Or if a stranger, apparently hysterical, rings my telephone and asks to use my phone to call the police and ambulance to report an accident, must I say, "Sorry, no," because he might be trying to set me up for a holdup or kidnaping?

I have always felt that I was my brother's keeper. Not anymore. I and millions of others await your reply.

TAKING NO CHANCES

He takes no chances

DEAR TAKING: If someone tries to flag you down on the road, keep going. But stop at the first telephone and report it to the police or highway patrol. Under no circumstances should you open your door to a strange man, woman or child. Don't ignore them. Offer to make a call and summon help.

DEAR ABBY: My father wants to get a motorcycle. My mother and I—the only daughter—think he wants the fun of being a teen-ager again, but he claims a motorcycle is the answer to the gas shortage. I am more afraid of his getting hurt than anything else. He's 47 and has to drive 100 miles on the freeway every day. He got to work and back. My brothers are on his side, and my mother and I are against it. This is causing a lot of arguments in our house. How do you feel about a man Dad's age buying a motorcycle when he's never ridden one before in his life?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Same as you, but your father is an adult and must be aware of the dangers as well as the advantages. You've spoken your mind, now be quiet. And for heaven's sake, if he should get into an accident, resist the urge to say "I told you so."

DEAR ABBY: How can I open up my son's eyes to something before it's too late?

Sonny is 28, and he's marrying Sally, a 25-year-old widow with a child. Sally was married at 20, and had a baby at 21, and her husband was killed in an accident when she was 22.

Because Sally was orphaned young, she never knew her mother, so she became very close to her mother-in-law. After Sally's husband was killed, she and the baby moved in with the in-laws and they've lived there ever since.

I have told my son that since I can't proper for a widow to have a gala wedding, he should treat it as a small quiet ceremony with none of Sally's in-laws present, but he said whatever Sally wanted was all right with him. Well, Sally is having all her first husband's family, and I'm afraid with all the memories of their dead son they will turn the wedding into a funeral.

I don't want to be a meddling mother-in-law, but I want my son to realize that unless Sally breaks those strong ties with her past, their marriage doesn't stand a chance. So how should I go?

TOUCHY SUBJECT

DEAR TOUCHY: If you don't want to be a meddling mother-in-law, the advice from here is—don't meddle.

The code word ARCH can be used successfully by the defenders as well as the declarer. If you don't think so, look at this play made by Bud Reinhold of Chicago, who helped his team to win the 1973 Spingold Cup.

Sitting East, he analyzed the lead as top of nothing. That was easy. He reviewed the bidding to note that South had opened and that North and South had not yet opened four-card majors.

Further thought told him the partner might well hold an ace. There were 17 high-card points available to West and South.

CHURCHES

Episcopal ministers gather

Open house planned at Nazarene center

TWIN FALLS — A baby dedication is planned for the Twin Falls Adventist Church at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, May 11. Each mother who comes will receive a corsage, and a special honor will be bestowed upon the oldest mother in attendance.

S.O. Francisco, pastor of the Twin Falls Seventh-day Adventist Church, prepared remarks for the 11 a.m. Saturday service. "The world needs mothers who are not mothers not merely in name but in every sense of the word. We may safely say that the distinctive duties of woman are more sacred, pure holy, than those of man."

"No work is greater, no career more important, than that of a mother. It is a God-given and God-ordained homemaker," the pastor declares. "But motherhood appreciates her own work and frequently gets so low an estimate upon her labor that she regards it as domestic drudgery."

Mother and families of all churches are invited to share in Saturday's tribute to "Household's Queen."

TE Way Station offers concerts

TWIN FALLS — The Way Station offers live music through Friday and Saturday night at 7:30. Randy Davis will be back again on both nights. Davis is a CSI student known throughout the area as a young gospel singer with a powerful message. He sings current popular gospel songs as well as a lot of material he has written.

The Way Station located one-half mile west and one-fourth mile north of the hospital in Twin Falls. There is nothing for sale there, are no "cash registers." Refreshments are free and a relaxed atmosphere is offered where old friends meet and new friendships are made, according to Ron Hicks, Bible study teacher.

Bible teaching will be the subject of "How to Recognize God's Answers to Prayers." The study is centered around a short cassette tape by Lloyd Oclivie, the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Hollywood, Calif.

Next Thursday night the Way Station offers a free chili supper beginning at 6:30. Youths are invited and then asked to stay for the Thursday night Bible study. Hicks featuring answers from the Bible to current problems. This study is entitled "The Magnificent Seven."

The Way Station radio program "One Way Street" was not heard Sunday due to an error at the station. One Way Street, a half-hour program featuring contemporary gospel music, will be heard this Sunday at 9 p.m. on KCEP Radio.

The program is directed and narrated by Wayne Hoag.

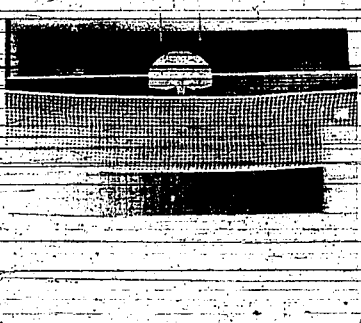

TWIN FALLS — Episcopal lay ministers from all over Idaho are to gather at Ascension Parish for a two-day conference Saturday and Sunday.

The theme for the annual workshop is "The Role of Organized Lay Ministry in the Church in the Present and Future."

Resource leaders for the conference, which begins at 9 a.m. in the Bishop Rhea Auditorium, are Dr. John Bogard, director of continuing education, Church Divinity School of the Pacific, Berkeley, Calif.; Rt. Rev. Hanford L. King Jr., bishop of Idaho; Rev. Paul Tracy, rector of St. James' Church, Payette, and Rev. Albert E. Allen, rector of Ascension and head of Idaho's Commission on Ministry.

General chairman is Jack Robertson of Idaho Falls, while the local chairman is Patti Lois Natziger. The Eucharist is scheduled at Ascension Sunday at 10 a.m., with Fr. Allen as celebrant and preacher. Fr. Allen's sermon is entitled, "Let us Pray — a Response to the Congressional Call for a Day of Prayer."

Church school is at 10:30 a.m. and a nursery is provided at 10 a.m.

Lamb bait formula 'turns off' coyotes

(C) New York Times Service
SALT LAKE CITY — Preliminary studies conducted by the University of Utah indicate it may be possible to poison the sheepman's problem with coyote predation by "turning off" the coyote's taste for lamb.
 The experiments, which have been conducted with enthusiasm by biologists and veterinarians at Utah's animal research center, involve feeding the coyote lamb bait laced with a chemical that makes the animals vomit.
 The effect is dramatic: that after one such feeding, the coyote reduces its attacks on a farm of sheep. The current issue of the Journal of Science, and after one or two exposures to the treated bait, the coyote won't have anything to do with a live lamb and actually hides from rather than attacks a lamb in the same pen with it.
 The method certainly seems to work satisfactorily under controlled conditions, said Marcellus Palmer, director of the Utah Wool Growers Association, which provided financial support for the experiments. "Now if we could get the field to see if it is practical and economical," if field studies bear out the initial experiments, Palmer said, the method would be vastly preferable to the current control measure of shooting coyotes — "a time-consuming and expensive process that doesn't even work well to save our lambs."

 The coyote predation problem became a national issue two years ago when President Nixon banned the use of poisons to control predators on public lands. Shortly thereafter, the Environmental Protection Agency lifted the regulations on poison control methods and banned their shipment in interstate commerce. The poison methods include bait containing a lethal toxin and bait traps that shoot cyanide bullets into the animal. Since the ban, sheepmen have complained that they are losing a third of their lambs each year mainly to coyotes.
 The ban on poisons resulted largely from the complaints of conservation groups that, not only were the poisons vastly depleting the coyote population, but they were also killing off unwanted and in some cases endangered wildlife, including the bald eagle. There were also serious questions raised about the effectiveness of killing coyotes as a means of reducing the loss of lambs.

 The approach studied in Utah offers the possibility of saving both the prey and the predator, according to the report by Dr. Carl R. Gustavson, psychologist at the University of Utah, and Dr. John Garfield Walker, Sr., Hankins and Kenneth W. Rasmink of the departments of psychology and psychiatry at the University of California, Los Angeles.
 The experiments are based on a well-established behavioral principle of mammals in which the palatability of food is defined by its after-effects. Garcia said, "That's why people get peculiar aversions to foods they consumed before getting sick," he said.
 The psychologists said it was also possible that a mother coyote who had developed a distaste for lamb would pass on her aversion to her pups. Such an effect has been established in rats.
 The emetic used in the Utah tests — lithium chlorate — is safe over a wide dose range, the scientists said, and it would not kill other predators, such as eagles and hawks that might feed on the treated bait.

Bovine appetites for grains scored

Live cattle mixed on futures market

Fertilizer short

WASHINGTON — The latest fertilizer index report verified that depletion of the US fertilizer inventories last fall and earlier this year, has made it impossible to supply the heaviest spring demand ever generated by farmers. Fertilizer Institute president Edwin Wheeler said.
 The March report showed a seven per cent drop in March deliveries compared to a year ago.
 Wheeler said that "producers" March ending inventories were still at rock-bottom level, 47 per cent below those a year ago. He said over half of the US producer-high stocks were at production points and not at terminals or warehouses throughout the country. For these reasons, the remaining shipments this spring will be largely from plant production to dealer.

EPHRAATA, Wash. (UPI) — Crops with a total gross value of $199,716,000 were harvested from the 473,854 acres irrigated by Columbia Basin Project farmers in 1973, according to project manager John S. Unbewust.
 Unbewust said this was the highest return ever recorded in the Bureau of Reclamation project's quarter century of agricultural production.
 He said the previous record high was in 1972 when crops worth $120.3 million were grown.
 Unbewust said the average gross crop value per irrigated acre increased from $258.48 in 1972 to $421.47 in 1973, another high.

 The use of grain to feed cattle to obtain protein is "enormously wasteful," she said.
 Miss Ward referred to "The old cow: Technologically a very unimproved animal." The remark drew a laugh from committee members.

TWIN FALLS — According to 1970 census figures, children not in school ranged from 3 percent to whopping 14.5 percent in Magic Valley counties.

But at least two persons connected with Idaho education have disputed the figures, calling them very out of line with reality.

The figures are being used as a rough base for Idaho Child Find, a project launched Wednesday by the Idaho Department of Education. The program is designed to locate these children not in school, who by right of law, deserve a free public education, whether they're handicapped or not.

Highly percentage in children 7 to 13 years old not attending public or private schools is Camas County, with an estimated 14.5 percent non-enrolled.

Percentage figures for other counties are: Lincoln, 7.2 percent; Blaine, 7.2 percent; Minidoka, 5.3 percent; Jerome, 4.8 percent; Gooding, 4.7 percent; Twin Falls, 4.4 percent; and Cassia, 4.1 percent.

Idaho Child Find's Dr. Judy Schrag, a special education consultant to the department of education, and Allen Jeffries, also of the department, cautioned against accepting the figures without question.

"I think there are no more than 2 percent out of school," he added.

Dr. Schrag said, "We don't have updated figures from 1970, we just have 1969 rough estimates. We may find that very few children are out of school as of 1974."

Children may not be attending school for various reasons, according to Dr. Schrag. Many of the children are handicapped — emotionally, physically or mentally. Some girls may be out of school for pregnancy, and other children because they belong to a migrant family or certain religious groups.

Where the 30 plus children supposedly not in school in Camas County are to be found is a usual school question, he said.

"I would venture to say that there isn't one single student between the ages of 7 to 13 that isn't enrolled, with the exception of one boy in the Shriners' Hospital," he said.

Dr. Schrag said that Camas County was too small to miss that many students. "People tell me if somebody's not in school," he said, adding,

"Somebody's away off."

Estimates of children out of school were forwarded to the department of education from the Children's Defense Fund in Washington, D.C. according to the statistics, also based on census figures, Idaho ranks 11th to 13th in the nation for children out of school. Topping this state are Idaho's neighbors — Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi, and northern states like New Hampshire and Maine.

Jeffries questioned the methodology used by the Children's Defense Fund, and Dr. Schrag said the figures for children out of school who are in institutions, possibly not counted as being in school.

The figures are estimated from a 10 percent sample, which gives a "good indication" of the total population, according to a government

Cassia receives 2 petitions

BORLEY — Cassia County school central office has received two petitions for school-board seats.

John Adams, Oakdale rancher, has filed for the zone 1 seat. Three other candidates have been taken from the school central office for zone 1, but have not been filed. The incumbent is W. B. Whately, who has a petition out, but his not filed it yet. Dr. A. Paul Brown, incumbent, and chairman of the board, has filed a petition for the zone 2 seat. No other petitions have been taken out for that zone.

Petitions must be filed by 4:30 p.m. today for the May 21 election.

Minico sees 2 petitions

RUPERT — Two petitions have been filed for Minidoka County School Board elections.

Dr. Gerald Hale, Rupert, has filed for the zone 3 seat. Hazel Peterson, Paul, has filed a petition for zone 2.

School officials say the petitions were taken out for Leonard Martin, incumbent, and chairman of the board, but Dr. Peterson's name is not on the board. The petitions must be filed by 5 p.m. today for the May 21 election.

Castford gets choice

CASTFORD — Castford voters will have a choice of candidates for the one post to be filled in the May 21 school trustee election.

They also will vote on a 1-mill special levy to be used to help finance kindergartens which are run for half days the first semester of the school year.

Incumbent Jack Kinyon is opposed in his bid for re-election by Maurice Quarry, local farmer.

It was earlier reported to have started if insulation materials. Firemen said the blaze was caused from sparks from an acetone torch in unprocessed papers in the warehouse basement.

Deadline today in Kimberly

KIMBERLY — Kimberly school officials said today there are still some petitions for school trustee candidates not turned in. They consider this almost the deadline for filing.

Most other districts in Magic Valley said Thursday afternoon was the deadline. The law states the deadline is 18 days prior to elections, which will be held throughout the state on May 21.

Considerable interest is being shown in the trustee race with two posts to be filled in voting from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Kimberly Elementary School auditorium.

Four persons have filed in zone 3 that the latest filings at least two persons seeking the zone 4 post. They are William Lyde, insurance salesman, and George T. Noonan Jr., construction worker.

Filing earlier for zone 5 were David Brown and Dale Dohse, both farmers. Mrs. Robert Pressnell, housewife, and Jeff Rollins, Kimberly High School senior.

Teacher pay hike OK'd

The other new category is for teachers with a master's degree and 30 graduate credit hours, or for those with bachelor's degrees and 75 credit hours. Salaries here range from a low of $9,400 to a 25-year high of $13,100, the top salary on the scale.

Also new on the salary scale this year is a fraking a bachelor's degree plus 45 credit hours equal in salary terms to a master's degree. Previously, the category included only teachers with master's degrees, making no provision for those with bachelor's degrees and more than 30 hours of advanced credit.

One category has been removed at the lower end of the scale, in line with the present district hiring policy. Formerly, there was a rank for teachers with three years of training who didn't have a bachelor's degree. Now the lowest rank on the salary schedule is for teachers with a bachelor's degree. The district hires only teachers with bachelor's degree at the present time.

The district will have two teachers next year without bachelor's degrees, according to school administration. Those two teachers will receive an increase of 13.5 percent over their last year's salary base, school officials say.

Additional benefits received by the teachers include an increase in the yearly increment for experience. On last year's salary schedule the increment varied from $73 at the low end of the scale to $145 and $150 at the high end. This year, teachers across the board will receive a yearly increase of $152. This means a 4-year teacher with the same educational level as a 3-year teacher will be receiving a salary $180 higher.

Health and accident insurance benefits, formerly provided by the district for the teacher only, were extended to cover the families of teachers. Other matters of policy, concerning leave of absence, are still under determination by the school administration.

A second section of the ceremonial at 3 p.m. at the Burley High School gym; a social hour at 4 p.m. at the Ponderosa; a banquet at 7 p.m.; and tea presentation at 8 p.m.

The Black Light Patrol of El Korah will present a drill at 8:30 p.m. Dining will follow at 9 p.m.

4 survive river falls, 1 disappears

By BOB JOHNSON

SALMON — "We came upon a fallen lumber tree in the river and by the time we had paddled around it, we were committed to the falls," said Ken Collins of Salmon made the statement in detailing the first accident in which a female member of the party was lost.

The Bruneau River incident occurred about 10 miles from the falls. Collins said, "We were there it was too late, we had to jump in."

Ken Collins, chairman of the group survived the plunge but Julie Wilson, 26, Atlanta, Ga., disappeared.

Collins and Miss Wilson were with Dr. Walter Blackadar, Salmon physician, the first kayaker ever to run the Bruneau River in southwestern Idaho; Vane Jones, a former Salmon resident now of Halby,

More funds requested

WASHINGTON — An additional $100,000 in federal funding for the Salmon Falls Reclamation Project has been requested of Congress.

The sum was included in a request for $21 million in additional funds for resource development projects in Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Washington during fiscal year 1975.

The Pacific Northwest Waterways Association, headquartered in Walla Walla, Wash., made the request in hearings Thursday before subcommittees on public works, Montana, Oregon and Washington Appropriations Committee.

The association also requested extra funding for the following Idaho projects under Corps of Engineers jurisdiction: Boise — metropolitan area $150,000; Placer Creek $100,000 and Cottonwood Creek $100,000.

H. Calvert Anderson, ENWA executive vice president, said the recommended budget increases were largely to advance hydro power producing projects and to increase the region's food production capacity due to national and worldwide needs.

Strike still idles plant

By ED MITCHELL
Times-News writer

HEYBURN — The strike which has closed the Heyburn and Caldwell Simplot potato processing plants continues to impede negotiations reported no progress in breaking an impasse in talks between Simplot and union bargainers.

The impasse was reached after two days of meetings with federal mediators when the company would not agree to "cost items" requested by the union; according to the statement, joint negotiations meetings were held for 11 days prior to calling in federal mediators, union officials said.

A vote of 724 to 10 to reject the company's final offer came at a meeting last Sunday in Heyburn. The vote at the Caldwell plant was 939 to 92, union figures said.

The union statement said, "Some of the major issues that have not been resolved to this date are an 8-hour day, deletion of the exempt weeks, overtime pay provision for Saturday and Sunday, rest periods, vacations, insurance, pension and wages."

Actual wage increases for employees would range from 14 cents to 20 cents per hour for the first year on a $3.20 wage, an increase of about 7.9 percent.

According to the union, this statement was made Monday following a session by Simplot spokesman Hugh D. Larkin. The 40-cent-per-hour first year increase in the proposed three-year contract would include all cost items, the company to Social Security contributions, a campaign, administration costs and "roll up."

I TF race contested

TWIN FALLS — In school board trustee elections here, one race will be contested; in the other, the incumbent is running unopposed.

Zone 3 incumbent Ruth Day faces a race with August B. Egbert; employed as a custodian at the local high school.

Zone 4 incumbent Tom Kiehl has no opponent in his bid for re-election to the District 411 school board of trustees.

An additional petition taken out from the school administration was not received by Thursday's 5 p.m. deadline. Apparently the unknown candidate decided not to run. The election is set for May 21.

Area cleanup day Saturday

BURLEY — Saturday will be Johnny Horizon Cleanup Day in both Cassia and Minidoka counties.

The event will begin about 8 a.m. in both counties and will end at noon when a picnic for participants will be held at the meeting points.

The project will be undertaken with the help of the Bureau of Reclamation and the Bureau of Land Management in Minidoka County and the Bureau of Reclamation in Cassia County.

About 250 to 300 people are expected to participate in Minidoka County. Cassia County expects to have 500 to 700 people take part in the event. Local clubs and organizations as well as individuals will make up the work force for the clean-up project.

time, getting off the river Wednesday. He returned to Salmon Thursday and indicated he will return to the river in a few days after getting some rest.

Collins said that during the search Sunday they had found Miss Wilson's life jacket three miles below the falls. It was fished up and still tied, "he said."

Immediately after the mishap, Dr. Blackadar paddled some 10 miles below the falls searching for Miss Wilson while the others scoured the area of the falls where she was last seen.

The five in the group were considered expert kayakers. It was Dr. Blackadar's second trip on the river and the first for the others.

Dr. Blackadar had kayaked with Miss Wilson in Georgia and on the Selway in Idaho.

"The search party erected a warning sign fashioned out of Miss Wilson's kayak to warn others of the falls which the group named 'Julie Wilson Falls.'"

Miss Wilson, who held a master's degree in psychology, was previously employed by the Georgia Mental Health Institute in Atlanta.

Search halted

MURPHY, UT — A search for Julie Ann Wilson, 26, Atlanta, Ga., who disappeared last Saturday while kayaking the Bruneau River, has been called off.

Owyhee County Sheriff Tim Nettleton said the river would be checked periodically, but that an organized search was being halted.

Nettleton said the woman's body was probably lodged against a juniper tree or a boulder.

He said that all of Miss Wilson's personal belongings and life vest were found in the area where she was last sighted.
