LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — The Nixon administration is hiding $90 million for foreign aid in the Defense Department budget, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said today.

A Defense Department budget item of $400 million labeled "DEFENSE MATERIALS" is for foreign arms use, but is destined for use by foreign forces in Asia, Fulbright said.

The plea took place at a brief hearing before Chief U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr., who has accepted most of the approximately one dozen such pleas obtained by the Watergate special prosecutor's office since last fall.

Cox favors thorough probe

HOUSTON (UPI) — Former Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox says the House Judiciary Committee should "go forward until the last stone has been turned" in its probe of President Nixon's involvement.

Cox said in a Law Day Dinner the committee should be able to hear unedited tapes of White House conversations as part of its investigation.

Officers investigate incidents

HEYBURN — Minidoka County law enforcement officers were investigating two weekend incidents at the J.R. Simplot Co. processing plant today, as the strike against the firm entered its 11th day.

Company officials were prepared late this morning to try to operate the plant with supervisory personnel on their way from Caldwell.

Union officials also said no negotiations had been called between the company and representatives of the Striking American Federation of Grain Millers Union. Union workers walked off their jobs at one minute after midnight last Thursday. The walkout has affected Simplot Co. plants at both Heyburn and Caldwell.

Minidoka County Sheriff Theo Johnson said this morning his department was looking into a weekend fire and incidents of fire flattening at the Heyburn plant.

According to Johnson, roofing tanks were sprayed at the plant's main gate and inside the parking area Saturday night. He said "a few were found this morning."

The sheriff said that the tires of several of the company's large trucks and cars belonging to plant personnel had flat tires due to the tanks. Two tires were punctured on a sheriff's department car Saturday night. Those responsible for spreading the tanks have not been identified, he said.

Union officials said the union "does not condone any actions set by union members while on picket duty." Persons who commit such acts are "absolutely on their own," according to the union.

Larry Ott, union official, said he had "no idea how the tanks got there." He said that this type of action might be done by either side or a neutral party which wants to see trouble.

The break in negotiations came when the union and the company could not agree on a wage hike, working conditions and benefits.

Charges are pending against a suspect in connection with the fire which flared up behind the freezer plant in a pile of wooden pallets.

Blonde charged in theft

DUBLIN (UPI) — Dr. Brigit Rose Dugdale, 33, a blonde English heiress turned revolutionary, was formally charged by a special criminal court today in a $2 million art robbery and ordered held without bail for 10 days.

Miss Dugdale, a former debutante who once robbed her millionaire parents of their art collection, remained silent during the 15-minute court session. But she raised her fist and shouted to the public gallery when she was being led out.

"There are four hunger strikers still in Britain," she shouted. "And there is still an army of occupation in Northern Ireland. Ireland will be free some day!"

Buzhardt summoned again

(c) N. Y. Times Service

WASHINGTON — Investigators for the Senate-Watergate committee, meeting a clash over President Nixon's newly revived claim of executive privilege, have again summoned J. Fred Buzhardt, the White House counsel, to testify in secret about a controversial $100,000 campaign contribution, informed sources said Sunday.

The sources said Buzhardt would appear this week.

Last month, Buzhardt testified before the Senate panel for more than three hours about the cash contribution from Howard R. Hughes, the billionaire, reclusive, without invoking either executive privilege or attorney-client privilege, the sources said. The money, in $100 bills, was given to Charles G. Roboz, one of the president's closest friends, in 1969 and 1970.

Aide vows 'Gate data sufficient

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A high White House official insisted today that the House Judiciary Committee has the "full story" and should proceed to focus on the "impeachment" before they escalate "demands for more tapes and documents concerning President Nixon's handling of the Watergate scandals."

At the same time, Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary who in recent months has become one of Nixon's leading advisers, said top presidential aides "now have become reluctant to make 'extensive notes and put things down on paper' as the result of Watergate disclosures.

An official, who asked not to be identified, followed the line taken by Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, James D. St. Clair, and Alexander M. Haig, White House chief of staff, on Sunday when the impeachment inquiry panel has enough materials to meet the requirements of the probe.

The official said that he found "from the standpoint of our political adversaries there is an excessive amount of heavy emphasis on the East-India, diabolical, 'conspiracies' of the Watergate 'conversations' which were made public last week.

Ziegler commented about presidential aides' attitude in response to a question on whether release of the transcripts of tapes of Nixon's Watergate conversations had inhibited his staff from providing advice and indulging in free and open discussion with him.

While saying aides now were being more reluctant to put their personal thoughts in writing, Ziegler said "I don't think it has moved to the point where it is affecting decisions or serious activities" now, he said, but added: "I think that there is a possibility of serious erosion of the President and Presidents in the future."

The White House announced some time ago that the automatic tape system that recorded presidential conversations in certain of his offices, as well as some of his telephone conversations, was no longer in operation.

The House committee begins later this week examining privately evidence gathered by its 140-member staff before opening the impeachment hearings to the public, including live television in about two weeks.

The committee has asked for scores of additional tapes and documents, beyond the 42 presidential conversations it subpoenaed.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, suggested today it would be a mistake for the White House to withhold further materials.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told reporters today that "everything requested by the Judiciary Committee should be forthcoming so there can be no more further delay."

Muskie, an early Democratic presidential candidate in 1972, suggested that it was a mistake for the White House to withhold any materials.

"I think that only the truth and the whole truth will help the President. If the truth is indeed of his side, as he says," Muskie said in an interview on the NBC-TV Today show.

"To the extent that the material is withheld, to that extent, (his) credibility is undermined."

The press release is a position to judge for themselves the accuracy of the transcripts, and they are, I find, interpreting his interpretation," Muskie said.

Kissinger, Gromyko set Cyprus meeting Tuesday

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will break off his Middle East shuttle diplomacy between Israel and Syria to meet Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in Cyprus Tuesday, U.S. sources announced today.

Gromyko had been in Damascus conferring with the Syrians while Kissinger has been in Israel, an Amman, Jordan, source said.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and Soviet Foreign Secretary Andrei Gromyko have agreed to meet in Cyprus on May 7 for a continuing review of U.S.-Soviet relations including the situation in the Middle East," the announcement said.

"We express appreciation to the government of Cyprus for arranging the meeting on short notice," State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said. "It was worked out with the full approval and approval of the government of Israel." He added that the date for the meeting had jelled in the past 24 hours.

Kissinger is expected to take off for Cyprus sometime Tuesday morning and to be back in Israel sometime in the late afternoon. He then goes on to Damascus Wednesday to continue his efforts to bring about an Israeli-Syrian troop disengagement in the Golan Heights.

The announcement of the meeting with Gromyko came shortly after he arrived here from Amman.

The meeting on Cyprus will deal mostly with the Middle East 331, with such questions as the Strategic Arms Limitation Agreement, the European Security conference and other issues leading up to President Nixon's scheduled trip to Moscow in June.

Kissinger and Gromyko met in Geneva a little over a week ago when Kissinger received a letter of Soviet cooperation in bringing peace to the Middle East. Gromyko, co-chairman with Kissinger of the Geneva-Middle East peace conference, flew to Damascus Sunday for talks with President Hafez.

Reinecke perjury trial set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke of California will be tried July 15 on three counts of lying to the Senate Judiciary Committee during testimony concerning financing the 1972 Republican National Convention.

U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker set the date today. It means the trial will take place after the June 4 primary in California, in which Reinecke is a Republican candidate for governor.

Reinecke, 50, originally had asked the trial be held before the primary, but changed his mind and last week said he would like to be tried after the election.

Reinecke was indicted on perjury charges for testimony played before the Senate Committee on the Telephone and Telegraph Corp. (TTC) to help finance the GOP convention — then scheduled for San Diego. His testimony came before the Senate on Oct. 10.

Reinecke pleaded "absolutely not guilty" to the charges April 10, and predicted the trial would be a "long haul." He said he thought the indictment was "politically motivated. Reinecke observed it came "very close" to the perjury.

Bickel pupils watch installation

More fun on Bickel playground

TWIN FALLS — Bickel School pupils are now enjoying eight new units of playground equipment.

Mrs. John Kozintz Jr. and Mrs. Dale Newby Jr. head of the Bickel School PTO which raised the money for the equipment last fall, presented the equipment to school Principal Clarence Parker and school district Supt. George Stauder in an informal ceremony last week.

In a unique arrangement, six of the pieces of equipment were set up to form an obstacle course for the students. Beginning with a climber, the students can progress to a balancing beam, concrete climb-throughs, gymnastic rings, parallel bars and overhead hand-walking bars.

In addition to the obstacle course set-up, two buck-abouts have been installed on the playground.

An auction conducted by the PTO in December brought in about $900 for the project. The school district then donated an additional $400.

Only three of the playground items were bought out-of-state, the rest of the equipment was bought or made locally, Mrs. Newby said. The school maintenance department installed all of the equipment and an addition, constructed the gym set.

Stauder told the PTO heads Monday, "I think it's good for your kids. Please relate my appreciation to the PTO."

First reaction hope; second reaction deleted

(c) N. Y. Times Service
WASHINGTON — "I'll stir-up quite a storm," a drained President Nixon told a caller a few hours after his television address releasing tape transcripts.
"There's some rough stuff in there."
"And why hadn't he released them months earlier? He had to wait until the indictments were in," the President explained, the then until the Stans-Mitchell trial was over—and, "it took time to get all this together."

But the primary reason for withholding the transcripts until survival demanded their release dawned on the caller after reading the quarter-million words in the sky-blue binder: some of the stuff is damnably rough.
The tape-and-tell memoirs illuminate a dark side of Richard Nixon. His need to hide the sleazy wiretaps and break-ins that took place before Watergate; his desire to appear candid while remaining circumspect; his fear of personally confronting John Mitchell, passing that unpleasant job along to John Ehrlichman with instructions to secretly bug the room.

The transcripts show the man in the Oval Office to be guilty of conduct unbecoming a President. The language used in private is not the problem—but the President's reluctance to recognize reality is incredible—and the weakness displayed in not taking charge of events so as to build a firewall between the presidency and the scandal is inexcusable.

When Nixon realized how isolated an executive he had been, he compounded his mistake by getting too much in touch. By allowing loyalty to his old friends and hatred for his enemies to cloud his judgment; he failed to execute ruthlessly, as a chief executive sometimes must.

The President's defense is that he was groping in the dark. In the weeks after March 21—the mystery slowly unraveled, the transcripts showed his agonized amazement. To his post-speech caller this week, the President laid stress on how much had been withheld from him by John Dean on the 21st. "What he didn't tell me was more important than what he did."
Just as the transcripts answer the famous Senate committee question—"What did he know and when did he know it?"—in a way that show the President to have been wrapped in an innocent cocoon, they call attention to his damaging acquiescence in the payments to Howard Hunt. This is "tough stuff," and although the President equivocates toward the end in a way that makes it hard to prove him guilty of a crime, it is hard to read that transcript without a sinking feeling.
"Oh, they'll pick out a line here and a line there," Nixon tells his friends, but he believes that the totality of the evidence will enable his presidency to survive. And so it might; perhaps the Congress will be satisfied with the personal humiliation of the President.
His friends always knew there was a dark side to Nixon; seeing it so vividly in this excruciating excavation, it is hard to keep in mind that there are other sides to the man, with phony nobility.
That is why the first reaction to his temperate speech was one of hope, and the reaction after reading the poisonous fruit of his eavesdropping tree is a "respective" delusion.

Decisive questions loom in coming 3 years

(c) N. Y. Times Service
WASHINGTON — History refuses to adjust to the convenience of men or nations.
"I keep asking the most crucial questions in my mind," says President Nixon, who is preoccupied with Watergate and everywhere there is political disruption and a longing for quiet to sort things out, but it will not wait for a new political order.
In fact, the next three years are likely to be decisive on four fundamental questions:
1. Whether there will be peace or war between the Soviet Union and China.
2. Whether the race in strategic arms purchases — multiple nuclear warheads on intercontinental missiles — will get beyond control.
3. Whether there will be a new order or war in the Middle East, threatening the existence of Israel.
4. Whether Europe will move forward toward a political union and a trusting partnership with the United States, or fall back into nationalism and economic American isolationism.

Later, of course, there is a way of going on but there is something special about these coming three years.
JAMES RESTON
The danger of war between Moscow and Peking is not a Sunday supplement nightmare. Nothing troubles Secretary of State Kissinger more than this question.
But right now is the dangerous time—not three years from now. By then China will have an offensive nuclear arsenal of its own, which the Soviet Union could not attack without risking nuclear retaliation by the Chinese.

This same time frame applies to the arms race, and this is why Henry Kissinger talks with such urgency and passion about it. If there is not agreement to limit the production and dispersal of the MIRV's in the next year or so, there will be so many of them on both sides by 1977 that only hope then will be to try to agree to destroy what has been produced at such enormous risk and cost.
"Agreeing to the Middle East, there is now a better chance for a compromise peace than there is likely to be in the foreseeable future."
Kissinger has won the confidence of President Sadat and King Faisal. The domination of Arab policy by the Soviet Union has been broken and the dignity of the Arab states, which always existed even during the last war, is now "apparent."

It is the worst time in many ways for the Soviet government and its awkward for the US government, but it is the only time we have right now and it looks better than any other prospect of the next three years.
Anyway, "the combination" of all these problems at this time obviously places on Henry Kissinger immense responsibilities. He is fighting not only political weakness but time, which he fears is carrying events beyond rational management.
This is why he is so irritated with Senator Jackson and others who seem to think that if Kissinger cannot solve all these problems, now the next US administration will be able to do so.
"But they will be different problems by then," Kissinger says, "and far more difficult to control."

A better mouthtrap

The best news we've heard from Washington in some time is that Attorney-General William Saxbe will have no further statement about the Patricia Hearst kidnaping.
Saxbe sat in his Washington office and in a marvelous piece of deduction reminiscent of Sherlock Holmes concluded that the SLA were nothing but a bunch of criminal criminals and that Miss Hearst was also a criminal having been a "willing participant" in the robbery of a San Francisco bank.

Clarence Kelley, FBI head, does not agree with Mr. Saxbe and thinks her a victim of the SLA. This, of course, will not be known until she is free to say whether or not she was forced to participate in the robbery and make the tape in which she said she was joining the SLA.

Saxbe studied the evidence and came in with a verdict without the benefit of trial. He has been censured already by the president of the American Bar Association for his prejudicial and irresponsible statements.
He was wrong, too, in labeling the SLA as a common criminal. They are uncommon in that they are enemies of society, who kidnaped not for gain, but for political goals.
Their quasi-social goal of feeding the "poor" was unmasked when they turned down the $4 million which the Hearst corporation would have paid for Miss Hearst's return.
We are glad to read that Randolph Hearst has said, in effect, that the FBI is free to act. This band should be brought to a quick end.

No doubt about enemies

(c) New York Times Service
A woman who has been reading about the Symbionese Liberation Army's devotion to "The People" writes to ask, "Who are The People?"
"Am I," she wonders, "one of The People, and if not, does that make me an enemy of The People or worse, one of The Unpeopled?"
These questions betray a serious misunderstanding about the people. Consider the first question: "Who are The People?" asking, "Who are The People?" is like asking, "Who are the automobile" or "Who are the weather."
The People is not a who, and The People is not plural. It is a single thing. The People, usually pronounced THE PEOPLE.
"The first question then, should be: 'What is THE PEOPLE?'"
This is not easily answered, for nobody has ever seen The People. Please continue pronouncing it with loud, respectful emphasis; it is exhausting making all those capital letters. I should say that nobody has ever been able to prove that he has seen The People, for the world is full of men who claim to have seen it, but their descriptions vary so wildly that only the quibble will believe their.
"A notable case occurred in Philadelphia in the late 18th Century when some high-bred gentlemen, mostly lawyers, asserted that they had seen The People and that they were it. 'Saw The People...' they wrote, 'in order to form a more perfect union.'
All we heard in Philadelphia was a group of rich men knee breeches. In fact, their claim was so absurd that politicians ever since have avoided their error.
Nowadays, no Democrat, Republican or Symbionese liberator would dream of trying to pass himself off as The People. These birds are cunneters: 'We are in touch with The People,' is all they will tell you, 'and we know what The People want.'

Curiously, what The People want always coincides happily with the wishes of those who claim to be in touch with The People. This creates problems for the human being, or person, who doesn't know how to get in touch with The People.

RUSSELL BAKER
While we can only guess about what The People really looks like — my own guess is that it resembles a large-wet puddling laced with frozen fruit and chopped hamburger — there is no doubt about what its enemy looks like. It is a lined with one nose, two eyes, a navel and a mind.
With this background we can answer our correspondent's other questions. No, Madam, you are not one of The People, unless you are a frozen blueberry in a pudding. Indeed, Madam, the impertinence of your questions raises suspicions that you may be a Person. In which case, madam, you are most definitely an enemy of THE PEOPLE!

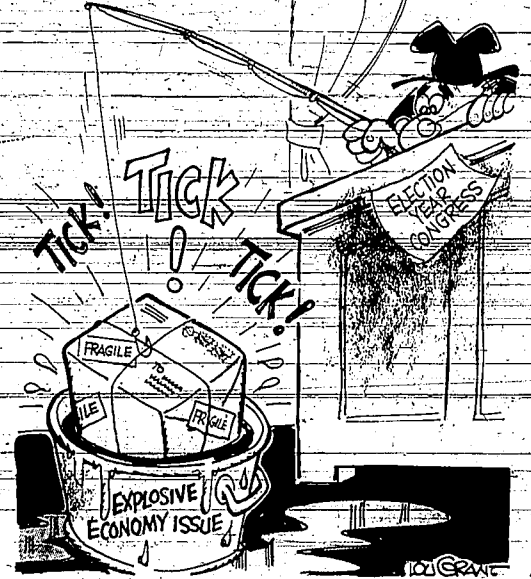

Nation's mood scorns bums in both parties

WASHINGTON — Nobody asked me, but I'll say it anyway: "I'm glad I'm not a Republican and I'm also glad I am not a Democrat running for Congress next November."
The way things look, it's almost as if the citizens had decided not to vote for anybody but Mugwumps and Free Silverites.
Specifically, it looks this way: Republican candidates have Watergate and President Nixon dogging them except probably in the South. Democrats, especially incumbents, must try to convince the electorate that the Democrats are controlled Congress, that is, either, a bunch of lazy and ineffectual slobs.
Anyone who takes a few minutes to be able to observe the national scene should be able to reach this conclusion independently. But comes now the latest Gallup poll, which shows that Democratic voters interviewed disapprove of the Congress and disapprove as strongly as they disapprove of Richard Nixon.

To wit, only 30 per cent responded affirmatively to the question: "Do you approve or disapprove of the way the U.S. Congress is handling its job?" Only 25 per cent said they approved of the way the President is handling the job. Hara-kiri, anyone? George Wallace for President? McGarry?
What has happened to the Democrats on Capitol Hill is the high cost of living. They have done a lot of yapping since Nixon moved into the White House, but not a single Democrat of any stature has come up with a program for dealing with inflation. Voters are not dumb animals.

A horror story to both parties is the response of the independent voters, who account for about one-third of the electorate and who have swung most national elections in the past 10 years or so.
According to Gallup, only 47 per cent of the independents think the Democratic Congress is doing a good job, and only 24 per cent think Nixon is up to snuff. Given results like that, no wonder so many Congressional incumbents have decided to retire to private life.
A poll is not comparable to a good cigar or an especially dry martini at day's end. But the polls have been amazingly accurate over the past decade because they have been more politically scientific. Besides, the latest Gallup job is supported by the mail crossing this desk and personal telephone surveys of voters across the country.

Watergate is lit lit, but there is only one big issue this year — the high cost of living. Main Street's majority is sore at both parties because it's paying through the nose for everything it buys.
At the Republican National Committee meeting here several days ago, the press of the party admitted privately their worry over the state of the economy.
It was also sufficient that White House Counselor Dean Burch was greeted with total silence when he told his audience Nixon and the Republican Party are "indistinguishable" and the GOP must win or lose with the President.
But Democrats can find only minimal comfort in this. With Watergate in the headlines, they thought they'd have a breeze this year. Now they face a national mood which seems to profligate there are too many bums in both parties.

Ohio, Alabama, DC home rule top Tuesday voting

United Press International — Although he is practically certain of an easy win in Tuesday's primary election, the prestige of Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan is at stake in another primary battle for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Howard Metzenbaum.

Even though he isn't running for office, the prestige of Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan is at stake in Tuesday's primary battle for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Howard Metzenbaum.

And even though Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace appears headed for easy re-nomination, to a third term, he, too, has prestige on the line. In the nation's capital, where nobody will be elected in Tuesday's balloting, the size of the turnout could be as important as the issue—a referendum on the city's first home rule in a century.

Other voting occurs in Indiana, where all 11 congressmen are expected to be renominated without trouble and in North Carolina where 10 candidates are vying for the Democratic nomination for the seat of retiring Sen. Sam J. Ervin.

Both Gilligan and the Democratic state committee are backing Metzenbaum over former astronaut John Glenn, trying for a Senate seat for the third time, and making "bossism" a main issue.

Glenn may have his best chance this time around. State leaders and labor officials had been unable to persuade Glenn to abandon his senatorial goal and seek the lieutenant governorship instead.

As a result, Glenn campaigned against "bossism" and a victory by him would embarrass Gilligan and the party professionals.

Gilligan himself is expected to walk away with his party's nomination for another term, but he may face a hard race in November's general election.

Wallace, who has spent more than $300,000 in his primary campaign in an effort to win by a huge margin, now has unprecedented support from black politicians.

Campaigning from a wheelchair, the governor crisscrossed the state telling overflow crowds that his previous three bids for the presidency have brought them national prominence. His campaign is seen as an attempt to prove his voicing ability in advance of a possible presidential candidacy in 1976.

The Charlotte Observer, North Carolina's largest newspaper, endorsed the Chicago Board of Trade, Sunday for Rev.'s seat.

Most polls have Wilson, who returned to his native Monroe, N.C., last year after a 12-year absence, running third behind State Attorney General Robert Morgan and former congressman Nick Galifianakis.

Washington, D.C., stands on the verge of an elected government for the first time in 100 years. A charter, calling for an elected mayor and 13-member city council, is on the ballot. Its adoption appears certain, although a low voter turnout could embarrass civic and congressional leaders, who fight for home rule for years.

Opposition to the charter stems from Congress having final authority over the budget and from the requirement that at least three Republicans serve on the council in a city overwhelmingly black and Democratic.

St. Clair sees impeachment

No court challenge for impeach vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — James D. St. Clair, President Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, says if the House votes to impeach President Nixon, the White House will not challenge the final outcome in the Supreme Court.

St. Clair said in a broadcast interview (NBC's "Meet the Press") that he did not think Nixon would be impeached. But he indicated if the President was found guilty in a Senate trial the verdict would "not realistically be subject to Supreme Court review."

He said the White House decided to issue its 32-page analysis of Watergate testimony of former White House lawyer John Dean because Dean is Nixon's chief accuser.

The analysis, released Saturday, cited 16 contradictions between sworn testimony by Dean and the transcripts of recorded conversations released last Tuesday by the White House.

John Dean sort of epitomizes the Watergate story as far as the President is concerned — the first public impressions of the President's role in Watergate were testified to by Mr. Dean, and he, as you know, is the only one who has in any way implicated the President," St. Clair said.

Democrats debated the Boling proposal for two days in a

Committee reform on tap

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Democrats are set this week to consider the first legislation since 1946 to reform the committee system.

The Democrats vote Thursday on whether to accept the reform proposals or refer them to another committee. If the changes are approved, their passage would be practically assured in the Democratic-controlled House.

But because the bill — the "Committee Reform Amendments Act" — would realign the existing power structure, the resolution is in trouble with some Democrats.

Not since the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 has anyone come up with a serious plan for restructuring the House committee system — where the real legislative spadework of Congress is done and bills are fashioned to attract a majority of votes on the House floor.

Speaker Carl Albert set the machinery in motion early in 1973 and the House created a 10-member committee, five from each party, which was headed by Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., a 26-year veteran.

He is considered the leading expert on House procedures and rules.

Democrats debated the Boling proposal for two days in a party caucus last week, and will caucus again Thursday to vote on a move by Rep. Philip Burton, D-Calif., to refer the whole resolution to another study committee for further "refinement."

Referral of the resolution for further study, Bolling contends, is the same as killing it. But he is still confident of sufficient votes in the caucus to keep the measure intact once it is on the floor.

The Bolling committee proposals would create major and minor committee categories and limit the number of subcommittees. The changes could serve at one time. Some jurisdictions would be transferred and the Education

Vietnam stalemate seen

(C) N.Y. Times Service — WASHINGTON — The North Vietnamese and the South Vietnamese continue to build up their military forces in violation of the 1973 cease-fire agreement, but the American intelligence community still sees military stalemate ahead — at least for another year.

Several officials said that intelligence estimates showed that Saigon's forces had a big lead as of January, 1973, and are improving, but that Hanoi's forces are improving faster and closing the gap.

American officials believe that Saigon's real problem for the next year is not the likelihood of a major Communist offensive, but inflation. Running at the 1973 rate of about 80 per cent, inflation could create serious morale problems and undermine political support for the Thieu government.

Those nonmilitary factors are seen by the intelligence community, the officials said, as central to the outcome of renewed large-scale fighting.

In the meantime, military sources and other officials said the key military issue was which side could bring more combat forces and firepower to bear on particular battles.

The latest intelligence report lists communist combat forces in South Vietnam at about 120,000, including 30,000 to 40,000 Viet Cong. In addition, there are about 80,000 North Vietnamese soldiers in Cambodia and about 90,000 in Laos, as well as 50,000 in North Vietnam.

They are opposed by about 350,000 South Vietnamese. This does not include the large number of South Vietnamese fighter aircraft and helicopters.

The South Vietnamese forces, the sources said, are spread throughout the country, defending villages and highways to cities. The North Vietnamese forces, on the other hand, do not have much territory to defend and are free to concentrate their forces in specific places when they are ready to fight.

Nixon TV bid cost support

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Gallup poll reported Sunday that President Nixon's televised appeal on Watergate last Monday lost him substantial ground with the public.

A telephone ballot of nearly 100 persons made Thursday revealed that 42 per cent of the viewers and readers of the speech thought worse of the President as the result of his plea, while only 17 per cent were favorably impressed.

The interviewees, by a margin of 41 to 21 per cent, held that there was sufficient evidence against the Chief Executive to justify an impeachment vote in the House. However, by a division of 49 to 38 per cent, they concluded that Nixon's actions were not serious enough to warrant his conviction and removal from office by the Senate.

This vote, conducted before the release of the Watergate transcripts, showed that 59 per cent of the public thought that the President should resign or be impeached. Previous Yankelovich polls revealed that 29 per cent favored his resignation in November, and 30 per cent last August.

The new poll found that, if slipping in public opinion, Nixon favored his remaining in office and 43 per cent wanted him impeached. Thirteen per cent said they were not sure.

Nixon also was seen as being favored by Daniel Yankelovich, Inc., disclosed Sunday by Time magazine.

Aide says 'full picture' told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig says the edited transcripts of the Watergate tapes contain "very very few deletions" and indicated congressional investigators will get no more evidence from the President.

Haig said the materials already furnished by the White House provide "enough evidence to make the raw assessments on Watergate that have to be made."

Asked if he meant that Nixon would not supply any more material to the House Judiciary Committee, Haig responded, "No, and I think the answer to that question (is) obviously the President has determined that with respect to Watergate he has turned over the full picture."

"Anything that was related to the President's state of knowledge or actions that the President may have taken were scrupulously left untouched," he said. "There has not been any tampering with the contents (and) in most instances there has been very very few deletions."

Haig, interviewed on ABC's "60 Minutes" Sunday, said he also said he approved of Nixon's refusal to allow him to testify before the Senate Watergate committee last week and indicated more White House personnel will invoke executive privilege in the future.

Last summer's "parade" of White witnesses before the Senate panel was "an exception," Haig said. "I think the time has come for us all to ask ourselves a pretty fundamental question."

"What point in the review of wrongdoing does the review itself involve injustice, excesses and distortions which in effect result in the cure being worse than the illness itself?"

Nixon refused to comply with the House committee's subpoena for tapes of 42 presidential conversations for its impeachment inquiry.

They rushed him to Incalls Memorial Hospital, where he died three hours later of a massive skull fracture and multiple internal injuries.

Records credits Maurice Rose Kirby of Indianapolis, Ind., with setting the world record for pole sitting of 211 days, nine hours in 1969.

Karl Lakes of Dayton, a friend of Blandly's for about 20 years, said Blandly claimed a world flagpole sitting record of 107 days about seven years ago in Sweden.

Lake's wife said Blandly was able to make his living through flagpole sitting since the late 1920s, and once was paid $900 a day for 45 days in a promotion in Tennessee. "At about 15 years ago, sometimes, he even pedaled a bicycle nonstop throughout the promotion."

When the weather got nippy, Blandly would just zip up a transparent tent around his chair for protection. He was using the tent in gusty winds Sunday, police said.

Blandly's son, Richard, 5, said his father started pole sitting since the late 1920s. Richard said he disapproved "for safety's sake."

Mrs. Lakes said Blandly "has been seen struck by lightning several times while he was up there. And once in Texas, tornadoes blew down his pole and he spent some time in the hospital."

"He liked it up there," she said. "It was his life. He said he felt near God."

Tragedy claims life of record pole sitter

CHICAGO (UPI) — Since the Denver-based 71-year-old Richard "Dixie" Blandly was a fixture on a flagpole, a friend said flagpole sitting "was his life."

Sunday, it ended in tragedy. Blandly, who claimed to be the world champion flagpole sitter, was killed by a lightning bolt while sitting on a 50-foot pole in south suburban Harvey, early hours of a "four-day" lightning center promotion.

He asked through a communications unit attached to a trucker below that a security guard move the trailer aside to make room for equipment which would whisk Blandly to the ground at day's end.

But when the trailer moved, the wire became taut. The pole snapped eight feet above the ground and crashed — along with Blandly — to earth, police said.

ambulance paramedics tried to help Blandly, of Dayton, Ohio, as he lay conscious, writing on the parking lot at the Dixie Square Shopping Center. They rushed him to Incalls Memorial Hospital, where he died three hours later of a massive skull fracture and multiple internal injuries.

France slates runoff election

(C) New York Times Service PARIS — Voters Sunday in France will elect a socialist and Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, a conservative, as the two contenders for the presidency of France.

Jacques Chaban-Delmas, the candidate of the Gaullist Party, which has ruled France for 16 years, ran a weak third in a field of 12 candidates.

With about a third of the vote, he is considered the front-runner.

Mitterrand, a socialist, candidate of the Socialist-Communist alliance, 5,173,933 votes, about 42.6 per cent.

Giscard d'Estaing, a conservative, 4,100,000 votes, about 32.5 per cent.

Chaban-Delmas had 1,867,231 votes, or 15.5 per cent.

French showing as the standard-bearer of the ruling party indicated that Gaullism, as such, had lost its magic.

There is no candidate received a majority of the vote, there will be a runoff election May 19, in which Mitterrand and Giscard d'Estaing will fight a classic left-right battle for power, a reversion to French political tradition after a nearly a generation of unequal combat between the followers of Charles De Gaulle and the strong but isolated Communist Party.

Defense budget hike eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon will need budgets at least 4 per cent higher each year or the country will see "gradual erosion" of defense capabilities, according to Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger.

In an interview published Sunday in the U.S. News & World Report, Schlesinger also said that debate with the Soviet Union will not mean disarmament, and that an "equilibrium of force" is needed to assure that peace can continue.

"If that equilibrium of force is lost, détente and hopes for improved political relations with the Soviet Union will disappear," Schlesinger said.

Schlesinger said that because of inflation, budgets for defense and other government programs will keep growing.

"Unless the American public is willing to tolerate gradual erosion of our defense capabilities, they will have to expect to spend about 6 per cent more on the Department of Defense each and every year just to obtain the same general defense posture as in the previous years."

He also estimated it would take $2 or $3 billion a year to match Soviet technology and weapons.

Mayo man charged

MAYO, Fla. (UPI) — Sheriff's deputies arrested a Mayo man Sunday night and charged him with the murder of a state wildlife officer in an apparent shootout that started over a poached deer.

Lafayette County Sheriff Stanley Cannon said Colon Russell, about 30, was arrested and charged with the murder of Don B. Crowder, 28, an officer for the State Game and Freshwater Fish Commission.

Russell was arrested after witnesses told investigators they had seen him in the area about the time of the shooting, Friday night.

"We subsequently broke him down and he gave us a full statement that he did kill the man," Sheriff Cannon said.

Military targets hit inside Syria

By United Press International Israeli warplanes struck across the Golan Heights ceasefire line today and hit military targets inside Syria, the Israeli army command reported. There also was heavy tank and artillery battles on Mt. Hermon and along the 45-mile ceasefire line.

Syria reported earlier that its air defenses had shot down one of two Israeli reconnaissance planes over Mt. Hermon. Israel denied that claim and said all of its planes also returned safely from the later strike across the ceasefire line at targets south of the salient Israel carved into Syria in the October war.

The flare-up of the air war coincided with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's return to Jerusalem for more peace talks and a report in Israeli papers that Israel had tried to scale down the scope of the fighting, now in its 36th day.

Land-use law hit by John Bircher

TWIN FALLS — A John Bircher Society speaker on Thursday in the Valley said zoning is just another measure of depriving the individual landowner of his rights.

"A member of the American Opinion Speakers Bureau for the society, Ron Wright came to Magic Valley to speak against all federal land-use laws and regional government."

In an interview Friday afternoon, Wright said the society opposes all land-use planning and zoning.

"There are laws already in effect which are used to protect other property owners in case of a junkyard or other nuisance and I think the landowner should be able to decide what he does with the land he owns," Wright said.

He said there can be no land-use planning on the federal level without federal aid and federal control.

Wright is filling a speaking schedule arranged by local John Bircher organization members. He appeared in the Holiday Inn here Thursday night, in Jerome at the Junior High School Friday night and in Boise Saturday.

He is scheduled to appear in Cozelle and Treasure Valley before returning to California, a resident of Los Angeles, he said. Wright also has given a speech in addition to speaking for the American Opinion Speakers' Bureau. He is paid by the Birch Society for each appearance.

Wright also has given a speech on the subject of land-use planning as a whole, he said. The planning aspect is the goal of the local level if the people retain control of it.

Idaho's first district congressman, Steve Symms, R, has termed federal land-use planning a step toward socialism, Wright said. On the other hand, Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, and Frank Church, D-Idaho, voted for land-use laws, although Sen. Church denied having done it, the speaker said.

"Another thing, just as bad as federal land-use planning," Wright said, "is our new regional government."

He said Pres. Richard Nixon violated the Consultation in 1972 when he created 10 regions, putting Idaho in the tenth region along with Alaska, Washington and Oregon.

"You are not Idahoans. You are Region Tenners," Wright said.

Wright said Bernard Kelly, U. S. Health, Welfare and Education Department, is the political commissar of the region and through such programs as the Environmental Protection Agency, Housing and Urban Development and others with other members of his council operates the region.

"They hand out federal funds only to the communities that have complied with their orders for land-use planning and other," dictated requirements, Wright said.

These trends, Wright warned, are bringing the entire country into social dictatorship form of government.

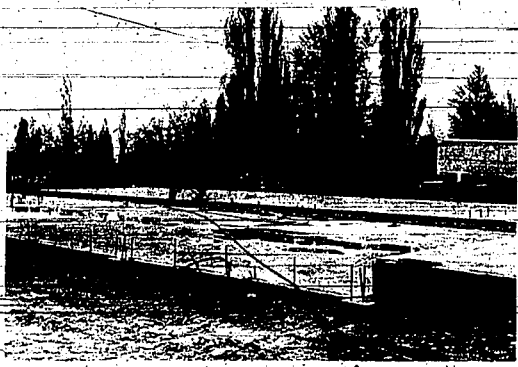

As for Watergate, Wright said it is "just a cover-up for what is really going on in our government today." He said President Nixon should be impeached but not for his Watergate activities.

"He should be impeached for treason — giving help and comfort to the enemy and for having Henry Kissinger, a proven Soviet agent, representing the country in world negotiations," the speaker said.

Wright said in his own opinion, the land that the Birch Society, President Nixon will resign by the end of this year or early next year. He will then be replaced by Gerald Ford, vice president, who will step down in favor of the appointment of Nelson Rockefeller, who can then run for the office of president as an incumbent.

Wright said in his opinion it is the Rockefeller versus the Nixons and the Watergate is simply a power struggle issue between the two.

"Nixon was beginning to take himself apart and had to be put in his place," he said. He said the Kennedys are not a figure in the power struggle.

Tussock moths infest timber near Fairfield

FAIRFIELD — A decision must be made by May 17 whether to spray 1,300 acres of tussock moth-infested timber north-west of Fairfield.

The infestation is in a dormant stage now but warming weather will bring to life a large population of moths which could take most of the Douglas fir over here," according to Larry Weeks, district ranger.

The application of DDT is the only proven method of effectively controlling this insect but there is considerable public concern about the environmental impact of the chemical.

The Environmental Protection Agency has given its okay for one-time use. All uses of the chemical have been banned since December 1972.

To be most effective, the treatment should begin within three days after 60 per cent of the egg masses begin to hatch. It can be applied during a ten-day period after this date.

About 11,000 acres of tussock moth infestation were found last year in south-central Idaho. The affected areas were detected primarily along an east-west line from Littlewood Reservoir to Featherhorne.

Mrs. Dalton weds Southwick in KH

KING HILL. — Mrs. Betty Dalton became the bride of Dwight Southwick on April 24 at the home of the bridegroom's Bishop Dale Shelby, King Hill, LDS Church, performed the double ring ceremony at 8 p.m. before baskets of spring flowers. The bride is the daughter of Myron Stewart, Salt Lake City, Utah. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Clyde Southwick, King Hill.

A Loveliér You MOTHER IS A GIRL

By Mary Sue Miller

Fathers, sons, and even daughters forget an important point about mother when Mother's Day rolls around: That she's a feminine female. Sure, she's good at everything from fixing bikes to running a carpool. She can hold down a brassy job and a household with equal efficiency. But, in the gift department, she's not keen on "snips and snails." So when you think of Mother's Day think of the most feminine gift going.

What comes to mind? Hairbrushes, hairpins, scarfs, yards long and inches narrow, to twirl the throat and float behind in the breeze? It might be as pale as moonlight or a flame like "Mame." In the latter instance give her Mame's flaming lipstick, too. Just to spark your ideas, consider an out-sized gardenia to tuck in her belt; circle earrings, glittered with pretzel diamonds; a straw hat; the rustic sort; and/or "mother's" the apple's fragrance with a fresh touch of herbs and grasses; for Mame's sake a spectacular set of patio pajamas.

Or you might serve her breakfast in bed and fix her a party lunch. You might drop by the florist and send a plant or bouquet. Do see to it that when you do "mother's" the apple's fragrance with a fresh touch of herbs and grasses; for Mame's sake a spectacular set of patio pajamas.

Some women age before their time; some retain their youthful beauty and charm. Why? The secret of non-stop attractiveness is revealed in DEARLY KNOWN, NO AGE. Aids in skin and hair to flatter makeup, hairstyles and fashions. For your copy write Mary Sue Miller, P.O. Box 1000, Twin Falls, Idaho 83401. Self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

DEAR ABBY: This is to inform your correspondent, Barbara G. in Wilkes Barre, Pa., that she is not losing her mind—she did read that it was Edward V. Coof, and a technical paper explaining the method was authored by him and V. C. Harris of San Diego State College.

If one changes the rules slightly, he can trisect angles and square circles. Using the kind of curve they do, they are able to solve three ancient problems—(1) trisecting the angle, (2) squaring the circle, and (3) duplicating the cube—with just one method.

Squaring circle

I hope this helps your correspondent. I enclose a copy of the article, which was published five years ago in the Pittsburgh Press.

HENRY G. GOULD, PROF. OF MATHEMATICS
W. VA. U., MORGANTOWN, W. VA.

DEAR PROFESSOR: Barbara will bless you for your prayers. Now, if anyone out there has a mathematical problem, those with license numbers ending in an ODD number please write to Professor Gould on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. And those with EVEN numbers write on the remaining days. Thanks, Henry. I needed you.

DEAR ABBY: Knowing that our cross isn't the heaviest is small consolation. There are many of us, but those who aren't in our positions rarely give us a second thought. We are single fathers caring for small children.

The cost of day care and maintenance of the household is going flat together. In today's days, it causes us to lead semi-holstered lives. If we should meet some attractive lady, we can't ask to take her out to dinner and a movie because the budget doesn't allow for that plus a sister to stay with the youngsters. An invitation to spend an evening at my home is given awkwardly, and is sure to be misunderstood. Nobody is going to call me, and nobody is going to visit me, so after the kiddies are in bed, I sit there wishing away the best years of my life.

Can you put in a good word for us, Abby? I have a nice little home, two pretty little kids, over 200 bottles of homemade wine in the basement, and time on my hands. BILL

DEAR BILL: Haven't you ever heard of Parents Without Partners? They are looking for men like you—so start looking for them.

DEAR ABBY: The U. S. Post Office is the most used, yet the least understood office in this country. A reader wrote, "Here's how I succeeded in getting my name off junk mailing lists: I simply cross off my name and address, and write 'REFUSED—RETURN TO SENDER' on the envelope, then I drop it in the mailbox. It costs the company money to receive this mail, so they quickly drop my name from their lists."

Abby, for heaven's sake, NO bulk mail is returned to the sender unless it bears specific instructions, "RETURN REQUESTED," or "ADDRESS CORRECTION REQUESTED," or "RETURN POSTAGE GUARANTEED."

All bulk mail which does not bear one of these instructions, is returned to the Post Office by the carrier, inspected by the supervisor, and then thrown in the trash. This extra handling makes extra work for the mail handlers, for which the public must pay!

Please print this, Abby: I've been employed at the Post Office for 17 years and know whereof I speak.

HARLEY D. WINNERY, LYNWOOD, CALIF.

DEAR HARLEY: Of course I'll print your letter. It's the least I can do for the U. S. Postal Department. They've done so much for me.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get 'em off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Oswald: "South usually does so well in bridge columns that it might be a good idea to name the kind-to-do carders. West."

Jim: "Here's a nice simple one to start with. It is more an example of how to lose than to win."

Hints

Foreign influences on summer fashions come from China and India. Many shapely will have a vaguely Mandarin or Chinese look with little stand-up collars and roll-back sleeves.

The classics in sportswear for summer are very soft, without hard lines. Softness is the word. Fabrics include the old softies—cresy and soft knits. Anything bright—narrow darts, holes, close-to-the-skin necklines, or tight waistlines—is out.

US Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho who announced approval of the application, said it is long overdue and will permit the Twin Falls firm to carry LDS Church members on their excursions to the LDS Temples in Logan, Ogden and Salt Lake City.

"Being deprived of this transportation in the past has resulted in extreme inconveniences and hardships which now, happily, have been resolved by the ICC decision," Hansen said.

Mrs. Robert McBride, 139 Madison St., told officers someone broke into a Lynn Wilson Foods truck her husband operates. The truck was entered Saturday night while parked in front of the McBride home. A number of food items was taken from the truck, she said.

The owners estimated about $50 in bills and $20 in change were taken.

At about the same time the Opnoo Service Station, near the Trucking firm was also entered. Here a rear door was pried open and the cash register was forced open. There was no money in the cash register and the only missing items were two gallons of anti-freeze and a carton of cigarettes.

Hagerman 135,000 attend opening sentence date set

GOODING — Two men charged with arson at the home of the Hagerman police chief will be sentenced May 17.

District Judge Charles Scoville has ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Dan Rousevel, 19, and Mike Smalley, 23, who first were charged with first degree arson in connection with a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, Hagerman, April 14.

Sheriff's officers reported the house caught on fire after gasoline was thrown on a hedge some five feet from the house.

The men pleaded innocent to the first charge, but later pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of third degree arson. Smalley is out on $5,000 bond and Rousevel was released on his own recognizance to the jurisdiction of Asahel Griffin, Hagerman.

The sheriff's office also reported sentencing of two other men involved in the fire throwing incidents April 14, Ronald Paul Jones, 18, and Patrick Bryan, 20 — both Hagerman, were among the group throwing fire bombs but not directly connected with the Johnson home fire.

They were each sentenced to seven days in the county jail on charges of throwing a flaming substance.

Levy vote slated

SHOSHONE — Anticipating enrollment increases, Shoshone school officials have added a three-mill override levy vote to the trustee election slated for May 21.

Voters also will cast ballots on a two-mill plant facilities levy. The school board decided to ask for the override levy after parents of first and second grade students requested two teachers for the two classes. The parents cited large enrollment increases expected in the two grades.

The plant facilities levy has been in effect for the past 10 years. Two mills will be dropped from the basic school levy next year because the district will pay off its bonded indebtedness this year.

The levy with the override and plant facilities levies included, the total levy would be 24 mills next year, a one and one-half mill drop from the current level. All school district residents can vote in the election.

Hearing scheduled

TWIN FALLS — Idaho Power Company's request for a 12.8 per cent rate increase will go before the public at a hearing Tuesday.

The Idaho Public Utilities Commission will hold a public hearing on utility's request beginning at 1 p.m. at the district courtroom in Twin Falls.

The Idaho Power rate increase, if approved by the Public Utilities Commission, would raise average residential customer bills by about $2.19 monthly and would raise about $9.7 million in additional annual revenues.

Idaho Power President Albert Carlsen said earlier the raise was necessary to help raise more than $300 million in new construction by 1976.

Testimony before the PUC may be either written or oral.

Ketchum cited for insurance

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The City of Ketchum has been added to the list of towns now eligible for flood insurance through the US Department of Housing and Urban Development, according to US Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho.

Beginning May 9, all structures used for residential, business, religious, agricultural purposes, structures occupied by nonprofit organizations and structures owned by state or local governments or agencies there are eligible for flood insurance coverage.

Each community qualified under this program when it agreed to adopt land-use and control measures that will minimize flood damage to future construction.

Local insurance agents may obtain policies and other information from the National Flood Insurance Association's servicing office, the All Insurance Co., 830 River Division, 1845 Federal Way, Boise 83701.

Special equipment eyed

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls sheriff's office has ordered special equipment to be used in rescuing trapped or injured persons from wrecked automobiles.

The equipment, to be purchased for about $850 will include an air cutting gun which can quickly and safely cut through metal on the roof or body of an automobile and give rescuers access to the "trapped" victim. It includes other necessary equipment and special stretchers.

Order said it will be used by the Sheriff's Search and Rescue unit and will be kept at the sheriff's office in the special ambulance which will be used for rescuing. The ambulance will also be equipped with special ropes and equipment necessary for rescuing persons from cliffs or canyons.

Order said four men from the unit attended a seminar at Long Beach, California, Saturday conducted by the Department of Environmental and Community Services to train officials in the use of the extractor equipment. Several other officers and search and rescue personnel have attended previous schools held in this area.

BLM measure advances

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Bureau of Land Management Organic Act, "extremely important" for management of Idaho's 12 million acres of BLM land, has moved out of committee.

Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, a member of the Senate Interior Committee, said the comprehensive measure "will charter the BLM to manage the nearly 470 million acres to which it has been entrusted nationwide."

Further, the bill, subject of intensive committee discussions and hearings, provides "an orderly inventory of the management of public domain lands — something the BLM will not have until this measure becomes law," McClure said.

"I am especially pleased that we were able to retain provisions of the Desert Entry Act in the final draft of the bill," he said. "The original bill would have eliminated this method where it is public land for agricultural purposes."

"This provision," McClure said, "is a key to the needed development of agricultural lands in Idaho and I feel it is a major victory for Idahoans that we were able to retain it in the final bill."

economic growth on our terms — terms which would not degrade the values why so many of us have chosen to live, work and play in Idaho."

During the next four years, Andrus said he hopes for more property tax relief, increased state support for public education and more diversification of Idaho's economy.

"Most of all, I want the next four years to see a strengthening of local and state government across Idaho in an effort to show the federal government that in almost all areas we can better do for ourselves what they constantly try to impose on us," he said.

Gov. Andrus to seek 2nd Demo term

In his announcement, Andrus said he had not made any promises when he ran for office four years ago but that those he did keep.

"I've said we would have a fiscally responsible government," Andrus said. "We have."

He said Idaho's bills all are paid and that the state has a surplus that may be as much as $20 million. For all practical purposes, he said, state government is free of debt.

"We said education would be a top priority," he said. "It is."

Andrus elected a 72 per cent increase in state support for public schools during the past four years — to $84.5 million from $49.2 million. He added he has fulfilled his commitment to reduce property taxes, too, adding his administration also ushered in the circuit-breaker tax relief proposal for elderly homeowners.

The governor also cited from this administration: "Economic reorganization of state government into 10 agencies."

— Strong support for farmers.

— Maintenance of Idaho's "quality of life."

"This has been a balanced and reasonable approach that recognized the need to support

Milwaukee Bucks even series with 97-89 win over Celtics

BOSTON (UPI) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 34 points and the Bucks' defense shut down the Boston running game Sunday as Milwaukee evened the NBA championship series at two games apiece with a 97-89 victory over the Celtics.

Spuzich captures Tara playoff

ATLANTA (UPI) — Sandra Spuzich beat Donna Cipolit Young and Kathy Whitworth in a sudden-death playoff Sunday to win the Lady Tara Golf Classic in a race against Karlene.

Miss Spuzich won a spot in the unexpected playoff with a crucial 12-foot par putt on the final hole of the regulation play after Mrs. Young, who had held a four-stroke lead with four holes to play, took a double bogey on that final hole.

Miss Whitworth, all-time leading women's amateur prize winner, was eliminated on the third hole of the playoff when she missed the green and two putted on a par three. Miss Spuzich wrapped it up two holes later when she sank a six-foot par putt after Mrs. Young was in and out of the hole on an eight-foot par putt.

11-year-old Miss Spuzich, a 10-year veteran from Indianapolis, seven hours and a half to win the $5,000 first prize in the $35,000 Lady Tara. She teed off in the last threesome at 12:30 p.m. EDI. By the time slow-and Jim McGlocklin, making his first appearance in the series because of a leg injury, added 10.

The victors used the forwards successfully in the corners and at the top of the key to exploit Boston's man-man defense. The Celtics, however, had great difficulty getting the ball inside and were forced into numerous bad shots from 25 feet.

The closest Boston came in the third period was within three points at 74-71 on a Dave Covens set shot. But the Bucks ran off 8 of the next 10 points to seal the victory.

David Pearson wins Winston 500 race

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UPI) — Pole-sitter David Pearson won the Winston 500 stock car race for the third straight year Sunday, outdueling Benny Parsons in the final lap of the rain-ravaged 500-mile event.

Pearson, driving a 1973 Mercury, streaked across the finish line only 17-hundredths of a second ahead of Parsons. Richard Petty finished third, Charlie Glotzbach fourth and Leslie Ponder fifth.

Pearson, who earned $23,845 in prize money, averaged 130.22 miles per hour. The race was slowed by caution flags which flew over 30 of the 148 laps because of a wet track and various debris from blown-out engines.

Pearson, a 15-year Grand National veteran from Spartanburg, S.C., took the lead for good on the 173rd lap. He had held the lead from the 161st lap game in the second period when it scored just 12 points, converting only 5 of 21 field goal attempts. The Celtics had trailed 28-27 after one period but found themselves down by 10, 59-49, at the half because of their anemic shooting.

In contrast to the two Boston victories, the Bucks spread the scoring out, putting five players in double figures.

The Celtics however, got little help offensively as Paul Hogue and Covens, who finished with 24. Jo Jo White had just 10 points, but was 0-7 in the first half when the team most needed the ball to fall into the basket.

through the 169th lap before yielding it to Parsons for three laps.

None of the other 40 cars in the race had a smaller engine than Pearson's 351 cubic-inch Mercury. Three others, though, had similar sized engines.

Rain delayed the race twice for a total of nearly two hours. In the only accident, Grant Adcox of Chattanooga, Tenn., slammed his 1974 Chevrolet into the rear of a 1974 Matador driven by Tony Bettenhausen as the two cars entered the pit area in the 105th lap.

Neither driver was injured, but three of Bettenhausen's crewmen were hurt, one of them seriously.

Donald Miller of St. Louis, Mo., suffered a crushed right leg, which surgeons planned to amputate below the knee.

James Hardwick track physician, said.

Adding even more power to the Funny Car field are the entries of Kenney Goodell from Eugene, Oregon, and Twigg Ziegler who now lives in Seattle. Both Northwest professionals have really been "burning" in recent weeks with ET's in the low 6.0's and speed's right at 230-miles-an-hour.

"The Northwest Terror" Herli Peterson has changed his radical new streamliner which gained him Runner-up at the recent Ignitor for a conventional rear engine Dragster. Peterson felt the streamliner "needs" more testing before entering it in major events.

Full fields are expected in all categories insuring the North American to be the biggest Championship Drag Race to ever take place in the Intermountain region.

Gary Hulbert survives playoff for Buhl crown

BUHL — Gary Hulbert, Twin Falls, birdied the fifth hole of a 20-hole playoff Sunday to win the 22nd annual Buhl amateur golf tournament.

Phil McRoberts, Twin Falls, and Billy Carter, Boise, tied at 150 in the regulation play at 179. Carter dropped out of the playoff on the first hole.

Fourth place in the championship flight went to Nevit Carter, Boise, father of Billy Carter, and George Sacret, Boise, was fifth with a 187. The championship flight played 27 holes Sunday on the Clear Lakes course.

Ed Peterson, Jerome, and Don West, Twin Falls, tied at 150 in the first flight. Bill Heaps, Filer, was third at 153. Ver-Mecham, Filer, was fourth with a 155 and Will Spaulding, Wendell, was in the fifth position at 156.

In the second flight Bill Brake, Filer, shot a 157 to edge Paul Ellinger, who was in second spot at 160. Andy Anderson, Buhl, was third with a 161 total and L. Von of Boise was in fifth with 162. Fifth place was shared by Bob Hayden, Parma, and Gay Krain, both with 163.

Earl Bent, Buhl, won the third flight with 159 followed by Dave Davenport, Sun Valley, and Jerry Perante, Buhl, who tied at 166. Grady Spradling, Buhl, was fourth with 167 while George Suz, Mountain Home, shot 169 for fifth place.

In the fourth flight first day leader Bob Skrederstr shot 169 to win the flight. Chuck DeLoach, Mountain Home, was second with a 172. Richard Roberts, Buhl, tied with Lee Popplewell, Buhl, at 175. J. C. Cramer, Twin Falls, totaled 176 for the fifth spot.

The two-day annual tournament was the second largest field with 134 players.

Oosterhuis captures French open event

CHANTILLY, France (UPI) — Peter Oosterhuis of England won the French Open Golf championship Sunday for the second consecutive year, shooting a final round, two-over-par 73 for a total 284 in this historical championship, oldest on the continent.

The 6-foot-5 British star won by two strokes over Peter Townsend of England, with Vincent Fernandez of Argentina and Donald Swanson of Belgium tied for third; two strokes further back.

7 missed, a former British Ryder Cup and Walker Cup Player, closed with 72 for a total 288.

Flyers edge New York for Stanley cup finals

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Flyers scored two goals and tucked MacZelishaw a goal and two assists to power the charged-up Philadelphia Flyers to a 3-2 victory over the

New York Rangers Sunday and propel them into the Stanley Cup Finals for the first time in their history.

In winning the semifinal series, four games to three, the Flyers became the first expansion team ever to eliminate an older club from the playoffs.

"They will be at Boston Tuesday night for the opening game of the first round against the Bruins," Philadelphia, younger and stronger than the younger team which may have gambled away the future in an effort to solidify the present, thoroughly overwhelmed the Rangers while building a 3-1 lead after two periods.

Utah's Mullaney is worried about Stars

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UPI) — Utah Stars coach Joe Mullaney has two worries — one immediate problem and one that could wait a couple of days.

"First, we've got to win the next two games in the ABA championship series so we can get back into the playoffs," Mullaney said. "Then we need to figure out a way to win in New York."

involved in scoring. I'm sure they're not happy that Erving is doing most of the work.

"Beatty has been out of action for two weeks now, but he's been working out on his conditioning to get back into playing condition, and he will join us Monday night. He's got to be a little weak, but just giving him in there for a while will help us emotionally.

"It wasn't until the final period that the Rangers, trying to give away a 'hot cut' injury that has plagued them, began to open up their artillery."

Steve Vickers and Petu Stenkowski both scored in the third period as New York applied its first real pressure of the game against Bernie Parent, but it wasn't enough as Dornhorfer's second goal of the game, at 9:01 of the final session, closed up as the winter.

The Nets overpowered the Stars 116-94 Saturday night to take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven playoffs — for the American Basketball Association championship. Now, the two teams play games three and four here Monday and Wednesday nights with the all-time Stars hoping to scramble back into the race.

Julius Erving, New York's DP, 3-2, powered the Nets to the first two wins, scoring a total 79 points.

But the Nets raced into the playoff lead, mainly because Utah center Zelmo Beaty was out with an infection and fever that soared to as high as 105 degrees.

The Stars problem at center was compounded in the first game when 6-6 Gerald Govan went out in the fourth quarter with a sprained ankle and injured knee. Govan failed to recover by game two, limping slowly up and down the court and playing ineffectively.

"New York has its problems, too," Mullaney said. "They're going to have to get everyone

New York killed whatever chance it had to pull out the game when it was penalized for having too many men on the ice for only 51 seconds remaining.

The persistent and close-checking Flyers took charge from the very beginning of their good luck rebound. Dornhorfer scored first for the Stars, but MacZelishaw's "God Bless America" sent them charging. Never the less, it was Billy Fairbairn who scored first for New York at 13:43 of the opening period. But MacZelishaw got that one back less than a minute later and until the Rangers put on their last period effort it was simply a question of how many goals New York netminder Ed Giacomin could prevent as the Flyers bombarded him with 37 shots in the first two periods.

Orest Kindrachuk scored an unexpected first goal of the second period, getting in his own rebound to put the Flyers ahead for good and Dornhorfer made it 3-1 at 11:26 as he poked the puck over a fallen Giacomin.

Homer lets Sox win in AL slate

By United Press International

Rookie shortstop Rick Burleson's first major league home run in the seventh inning of the second game of the Boston Red Sox vs. Oakland Athletics split a 1-1 tie.

Boston led 7-6 after 6-1/2 innings when Dick McAuliffe opened the Red Sox seventh with a single and moved up on Bob Montgomery's bunt. Burleson, playing in his second major league game, squared to bunt on a 2-0 count and then blasted a Jim Sheltonback pitch over the left field wall.

Jeff Burroughs provided the power in the Rangers' first game win with three hits and doubled in one of two eighth inning runs to put the game beyond Boston's reach. Tom Grifone singled in the other Texas run in the eighth.

In other games, Kansas City ripped New York 8-2, California shredded Baltimore 6-2, Minnesota defeated Detroit 8-3, Chicago stopped Milwaukee, 4-3, and Oakland split a twobill with Cleveland, the A's winning the opener, 3-0.

Uta broke a two-run home run streak of the season, broke a seventh inning tie and started the Kansas City Royals to victory over the New York Yankees behind the six-hit pitching of Steve Busby.

The Royals put the game away with four runs in the eighth on a three-run double by Brian Harty and a run-scoring single by George Brett.

Dave Chalk blasted one out home run in the bottom of the ninth inning to give California a win over the Baltimore Orioles, the Angels' sixth straight victory.

The Minnesota Twins slugged four home runs, two by Harmon Killebrew, to defeat Detroit, Killebrew, who now has 550 and ranks fifth on the all-time list, opened the scoring in the first with a 392-foot homer-off loser Woody Fryman after Rod Carew had singled.

The Twins made it 3-0 in the second inning when Bobby Darwin led off with a 443-foot shot to center. Larry Hise led off the fifth with a home run to left to make it 4-0, and two outs later Killebrew slugged one to left.

CSI will wind up season

The College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles will wind up their baseball season with five games this week, four of them on the road.

Coach Paul Ostyn's crew will travel to Idaho State Tuesday where the Bengals are fresh from winning the southern division of the Big Sky race.

The Eagles return home Thursday for one game with NWC and then close the year with a doubleheader at Treasure Valley Saturday.

The Eagles split a twobill at Utah Tech Saturday, the hitting of Mike Fries and Joe Rubin giving the Eagles their first one 7-0 but Utah Tech bounced back in the nightcap 3-0.

Sunday doubleheader, after the Padres won the opener, 5-4, on Derrel Thomas' two out ninth inning single.

Milner's blast off reliever Larry Hardy plated Rusty Sauer who had singled, Hardy, who won the opener, was handed the loss.

Mets' relief pitcher Ray Sawicki (1-1), had the victory with an inning of one-hit ball.

San Diego scored himself on a wildpitch by Montreal reliever Steve Henke.

Jack Billingham pitched Cincinnati's only complete game this season, continued his mastery over the Cubs in leading the Reds to a decision against one loss when he blanked the Expos on just six hits in the first game.

Ontiveros and Dave Rader had RBI doubles while Sauer scored himself on a wildpitch by Montreal reliever Steve Henke.

Jack Billingham pitched Cincinnati's only complete game this season, continued his mastery over the Cubs in leading the Reds to a decision against one loss when he blanked the Expos on just six hits in the first game.

The win gave Billingham a 4-2 record. Borbon, who yielded a two-run single to Carmen Fanzone in the eighth inning, notched his fifth save of the season.

Atlanta hurlers Ron Reed and Tom House, combined to stop the Pirates on six hits and Dave Johnson delivered a two-run home run to lift the Braves past Pittsburgh and salvage the final of a three-game series.

Johnson's home run, his third of the season, highlighted a second inning rally. The Braves scored all their runs in that inning to back the victory for Reed.

Los Angeles Relief pitcher Mike Marshall walked, home the tying and winning runs in the ninth inning, after Mike Schmidt had singled off losing pitcher Tommy John (who had a 10 game winning streak) as the Phillies beat the Dodgers.

And now from Canadian Club the My-Favorite-Tavern Award.

It's the friendliest place in town. Your neighborhood tavern. There's always a warm welcome from old friends here. And it's a great place to make new ones.

To help you show your appreciation for all the good times you've enjoyed — Canadian Club has created the My-Favorite-Tavern Award.

It gives you the chance to thank your tavern keeper in a very special way. With an elegant scroll — inscribed with his tavern's name.

To get your favorite tavern an award just fill out the entry blank on the right. Then, a representative of Canadian Club will notify your tavern and arrange the award presentation.

When it comes to the whisky taverns serve — of course, Canadian Club is a favorite. It has a taste that never stops pleasing. A taste not matched by any whisky anywhere. Canadian Club — "The Best in The House" in 87 lands.
