Military research funds clear Senate panel; warheads cut out

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate Armed Services subcommittee has approved a $1.9 billion military research and development program for fiscal 1975 but denied Pentagon requests for bigger and more accurate nuclear warheads.

It also reduced requests for a standby anti-ballistic missile system and the B-1 bomber. The research and development subcommittee Tuesday pruned $35.5 million from the administration's request for $3.3 billion in fiscal 1975.

The parent Armed Services Committee must still give its approval before the bill is sent to the Senate for action. The House Armed Services Committee has approved a $9 billion budget. The subcommittee's recommendations were unanimous, with the exception of two programs.

On a 3-2 vote, the subcommittee deleted $77 million for improving yield and accuracy of strategic missiles.

On a 4-1 vote, the subcommittee reduced from $160 million to $110 million funds for a standby anti-ballistic missile system (ADM).

A major fight is expected in the full committee on the recommendation to disallow the high yield missiles.

The subcommittee also cut the $499 million request for the B-1 bomber by $44 million, limiting the program to three prototype aircraft.

The full request for $16 million to begin research and development of a new nuclear-powered, missile-firing submarine was eliminated as was the $11.2 million requested for Pershing II, an improved tactical missile.

More gaps hinted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The tape recordings of presidential conversations from which the White House prepared transcripts for use in the House impeachment inquiry contain several segments of unexplained silence, the Washington Post reported Tuesday. Quoting "informed sources" and persons "involved in preparing the edited transcripts," the Post said some of the periods of silence lasted as long as several minutes each. "Only source told the Post that in dozens of instances, the silences occur inexplicably in the midst of conversations. During the blank spots, the source said, no sound is heard."

Treadmill described for aides

TWIN FALLS — Dr. Roy Shaub, Twin Falls physician, spoke about the cardiac treadmill machine at a meeting of the Magic Valley Hospital Auxiliary Monday. He explained its diagnostic use and thanked the auxiliary for financing it this year's project. He said it is used at the hospital and is useful for patients confined to the hospital and for outpatients too.

Mrs. E. B. Hicks conducted the meeting. Mrs. Marvin Jensen was program chairman. Mrs. Hicks said the total of $10,200 pledged by the treadmill fund has been reached and that any help will be appreciated. Mrs. Dale Gould, Route 4, Buhl, 543-4131, is service chairman.

League drops sex bar, admits men

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The League of Women Voters dropped a sex barrier Tuesday to allow men to become full voting members. Delegates to the league's biennial convention voted 963-433 for the change in by-laws. A total of 235 "yes" votes was needed for approval. Men in the past were allowed to become associate members. However, they could not vote, serve as officers or directors and could not be delegates to conventions.

In 1972 eight local leagues and one state board proposed that men be given voting status but the proposal failed to win the needed majority.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Helen Brooding. The thought for the day was given by Mrs. Goldie Ridgeway.

Go-to-Church Sunday was set for May 19 at 10:45 a.m. at the First Christian Church, Twin Falls. Street and Sixth Avenue North. Memorial services will be held at the next regular meeting set June 3 at the Buhl Odd Fellows Temple.

TF officials accept bid

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners Tuesday accepted a bid from Northwest Crane and Rigging Co., Twin Falls, for providing and placing fill dirt in Rock Creek on the west side of the building.

The project cost could run to nearly $5,400, according to officials.

The bid was the only one received and was for $2.25 per yard as needed.

Commissioner Chairman William Chancy said the county will probably need about 1,500 yards of dirt. Part of the dirt will also be used to fill where county crews are building a new entrance into the hospital grounds on the west side of the building.

Chancy said the roadway will provide a new access to the hospital and will be brought around the northwest corner of the building, by removing a brick wall, aboutmen, which extends beyond a rear driveway entrance to the building.

The county will also hire Northwest men and equipment at $22.50 per hour to grade and level the base as the dirt is brought in. Chancy said he hoped both projects "will be completed by fall."

"We could have saved money by negotiating in this case as we only received one bid and the firm had given us a low figure during discussions but we were bound by law to accept the bid price," Chancy said.

Somewhere, there's a mistake about documents

(N.Y. Times Service)
WASHINGTON — There must be some mistake about all these spectacular documents on the Watergate.

These conversations can't have happened in the White House. It's ridiculous to suppose that the President would beg himself and then publish his own indictment.

Consider the facts. For over 25 years, Richard Nixon has been complaining bitterly about his enemies who have criticized him as a shifty opportunist. Why, then, would he publish a document that makes him look more shifty and opportunistic than anybody ever charged?

Nixon came to power arguing for law and order. So how could he possibly have agreed to pay blackmail money to burglars, or agreed that the attorney general of the United States should arrange the pay-off, or instruct his aides on the arts of avoiding perjury before a grand jury? This is all too bizarre.

All sorts of charges have been made around here against Nixon, but everybody agrees that he is an intelligent man and an experienced lawyer. But in these Watergate documents, if they often comes out confused, inarticulate, indecisive, and even vague about the elements of the law. The documents have to be wrong.

Besides, the personal conversation in these White House excerpts of the tapes is not unexcusable. Outside of John Mitchell, who addressed him as "Mr. President," there are no manners, and certainly no discussion of right or wrong. Even John Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldean, whom he regards as his closest advisers, talk on these tapes like equals to the President. That makes it all the harder to comprehend.

There has to be a mistake about all this and particularly about the President's approach to the Congress. If the news is right, he has treated the House and the Senate, particularly the Judiciary committee of the House, with contempt. He will live or die with the House and the Senate do, but he argued his case on television before he gave his documents to the Judiciary committee and in about run he lived the Judiciary committee along partisan lines, and made some progress.

But members of the House are beginning to read the transcripts now, and thinking about who will restore the integrity of the government, if they don't. The President has won the first round, but his tactics, his language and his contempt for the Congress are beginning to create a new situation.

Obviously, it must be a fantasy. Nothing like this could happen in the White House. The President couldn't lose his honor or order to save his job. There must be something wrong. For when he first ran for the presidency in 1960, Nixon insisted on the moral imperative: "I see mothers holding their babies up so that they can see a man who might be president of the United States. It makes you realize that whoever is President is going to be a man that all children in America will either look up to or look down to, and I can only say that I am very proud that President Eisenhower restored dignity and decency and frankly, good language to the conduct of the presidency of the United States.

"And I only hope that, should I win this election, that I could approach President Eisenhower in maintaining the dignity of the office, in seeing to it that whenever any mother or father talks to his child, he can look at the man in the White House and whatever he may think of his policies, he will say, 'Well, there is a President who maintains the kind of standards personally that I would like my child to follow.'"

Nobody who said that could possibly have said all those things in the oval room or published all these "undeniable" or "explicitly deleted" documents. It is "unintelligible" so there must be some mistake.

TF school trustees should make policy

The Twin Falls School trustees should take a more active role in the financial affairs of their school district.

There is a tendency to delegate entirely too much authority to school administrators in areas of basic policy determination.

A recent example is instructive.

Last week the school district proposed a tentative school budget. Incorporated in that budget were a number of major policy assumptions.

For example, the budget assumes there will only be enough money available next year to meet anticipated inflationary costs of existing programs.

That is questionable. More likely, the district will have enough extra money to begin thinking about tax cuts, or as an alternative, establishing new programs such as kindergartens or curriculum enrichment.

But what is most interesting is the fact that the tentative budget reportedly was drafted with only casual input from trustees.

According to Supt. George Stauda, school administrators met informally with the trustees last week at which the budget was briefly discussed. It was an unannounced, closed-to-the-public session and no formal action was taken by the trustees.

Stauda later said he questioned whether the trustees even had copies of the proposed budget.

So, as Stauda reports, the school district administrators went ahead on their own to order legal publication of the proposed budget without formal input — or more than cursory informal input — from trustees.

What makes the current budgetary situation particularly awkward is the fact that Idaho law requires the trustees to prepare the preliminary budget.

Stauda's answer to the apparent noncompliance with the law is to say that the trustees had long delegated preparation of a budget to administrators.

If so, the trustees might be acting legally, but surely would have been careless in delegating such policy-making functions to their assistants.

The importance of this delegation is made clear when the history of budgeting is checked. Only rarely in the past has the school board made any change of a proposed budget.

In one case, during Mr. Stauda's first year as superintendent, a $60,000 error was discovered after preparation of the preliminary was not corrected by the trustees when they took final action. The preliminary budget, errors and all, was approved as proposed.

If trustees delegate preparation of preliminary budgets, and then don't check that preliminary formulation, they have effectively delegated the entire budgetary process to their aides.

A better policy would be for the trustees actively to participate in the budget drafting process. They should do so in public work sessions, at which time members of the public would have a chance to make suggestions at an early stage of the process.

Then both the public and the trustees would know what is going on. Perhaps the public and the trustees then would share more fully in the decision making process.

The Truth, the Hole Truth...

Broad damage transcripts' ultimate outrage

(N.Y. Daily News)
WASHINGTON — The thing is embarrassing and ridiculous, as President Nixon said it would be.

It is also outrageous and humiliating, stripping a private man of his moral responsibilities. Ever everyone associated with Watergate and its aftermath repents and is forgiven, the 1,300-page document of censored conversations between the President and his aides defrocks those high priests of "law and order" — in the White House — and Justice Department, who posed as guardians of the national soul.

The document has little of everything in it. A morality play gone sour, a siege mentality laid bare, a glimpse into the bloodless alliance among these elite young men around the President, and a recital of the political cannibalism that was widely suspected but never documented.

Depletion in dairy proposed

Editor, Times-News: The dairymen, like Big Oil that contributed so generously to the committee for the reelection of what's his name, should not cut out their herd; they should reclassify them as strippers, like Big Oil does their slower oil wells.

The dairymen would be eligible for the "large benefits" called 25 per cent depletion; then the dairymen, like Big Oil, could produce less and enjoy it more.

Also it's quite possible that Nixon's trip to Russia, about the time our grain harvest starts, can be called "grain drain number 2." What a relationship!

From Russia we get L.O. U's for our grain and from China we get "fortune cookies", (ping pong balls filled with opium).

My guess is that if Kennedy and Johnson would have given our grain to Russia and paid the Vietnamese what we are paying them now, we would not have had a war with them.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH
Alcohol causing symptoms

By GEORGE THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible for my 27-year-old husband to become an alcoholic by drinking 10 or more bottles of beer a day? He has numbness on one side of his body and his vision is blurred at the end of the day. He is under a doctor's care for hiatal hernia but he doesn't tell him about the drinking. The doctor blames the numbness on nerves. — Mrs. S.M.

Item 1: Yes, there are beer alcoholics, because beer contains alcohol and some drinkers become dependent on it.

Item 2: His doctor should be made aware of the drinking. Item 3: I am not sure that the numbness and visual disturbance are from the beer, but they must be caused by something and I would have a neurologist do some examining to find out what is happening. There is no reason for the hiatal hernia to cause those symptoms. The alcohol in that volume of beer could.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to know about these white pimple-like things under my eyes, what causes them, and if there is anything I could do about them. They don't seem to go away and I don't believe they are whiteheads.

You haven't given me much to go on, but one common possibility is that they are deposits of cholesterol. My advice is get a dermatologist about removing them. There is no way I know to prevent them, and they are nothing for you to monkey with on your own hook, especially since they are near the eyes.

Bear activity listed in book

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Bears are like skunks in that they have few enemies — except for man — and those enemies often live to regret any aggressive actions.

Noted wildlife photographer Joe Van Wormer is no enemy of the bear and has collected some remarkable photographs of black bears.

The author includes pictures of "bear animals," such as cougar, raccoon, elk, and ground squirrels, but most of the book is about the black bear.

He tells the story of the black bear from irascible cubhood to maturity and tells it both in words and pictures.

All types of bear activity are represented in the book — including the all-arounder about the black bear.

Third time win

FORMER astronaut John Glenn accepts congratulations as his wife, Anita, smiles during victory celebration in Columbus, Ohio, Tuesday. Glenn defeated incumbent U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum.

Home rule plan easy DC winner

WASHINGTON (UPI) — District of Columbia voters will elect their first municipal government in 100 years next fall after overwhelmingly approving a home rule charter Tuesday.

There will be a Sept. 10 primary and a regular November general election. The elected city officials will replace the current presidentially appointed officials.

Walter E. Washington, appointed mayor by President Johnson in 1967 and reappointed by Nixon, is expected to seek election to his post but will not announce his candidacy Tuesday.

The city government will have the power to levy taxes without prior congressional approval for the first time on anything but federal property and the income of commuters from the suburbs.

The President retains the power to appoint city judges and the federal government keeps jurisdiction over national monuments and other federal installations.

The District had various forms of elected city governments until 1874 when Congress put the city under the control of a three-member board of commissioners appointed by the President.

The vote total at midnight, representing what city officials said was an unknown percentage of the total vote cast, was 49,884 in favor and only 11,445 against.

Glenn scores triumph

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Former astronaut, John Glenn Jr. beat Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, by more than 100,000 votes in Tuesday's state primary election, making the only record in an otherwise perfect recount for the state Democratic Party organization.

Glenn's win over the incumbent senator turned him the right to run for a full six-year term in November against the Cleveland Mayor Ralph J. Perk.

With 91 per cent of the votes tallied, Glenn had 513,207 votes to Metzenbaum's 412,858, winning all 98 of the state's congressional seats.

Gov. John J. Gilligan was easily nominated for re-election over Cleveland and two other candidates endorsed by the Democratic party came through with victories in tough contests for state office.

All seven Ohio incumbent Congressmen facing opposition breezed to victory in the elections.

In a Glenn-Metzenbaum battle, the former astronaut showed the popularity he gained as an astronaut in 1962 had not diminished despite a pair of defeats in previous Senate bids.

Glenn told a jubilant throng of 400 supporters at a victory party at the Sheraton-Columbus Hotel.

ROBERT MORGAN, Ervin successor

Wallace piles up easy win

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — With black voters publicly behind him for the first time in his life, Gov. George C. Wallace won a landslide victory for re-election Tuesday.

Wallace led by a record 60 per cent of the vote in his campaign as if the White House lay within his grasp.

Wallace's Democratic primary victory is tantamount to election since the passage of a new Republican constitution in the general election from former U.S. Sen. Elvin McCarry of Jimston.

McCarry won 23.272 per cent of the vote in the election, compared to 147,749 votes or 23 per cent for his nearest competitor.

Carolina Demos select Morgan

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI) — North Carolina Attorney Gen. Robert Morgan apparently won the Democratic nomination to succeed retiring Sen. Sam J. Ervin, chairman of the Senate Watergate Committee, without a runoff Tuesday night, despite a 10-man field.

Morgan held a 90,000-vote edge over runnerup Nick Gallifianakis with 97 per cent of the ballots counted.

The remaining votes, scattered among hamlets in the Blue Ridge mountains and crossroads in the tobacco fields, were expected to provide the fractional percentage that would give him the 50 per cent plus one vote needed for nomination.

With 2,117 of 2,303 precincts reporting, Morgan had 259,062 votes, Gallifianakis 170,542 and former White House aide Henry Hall Wilson 6,077.

The remainder of the field combined for 30,237. William E. Stevens, 52, of Lenoir, the choice of Republican Gov. James E. Holsinger Jr., was an easy winner for the GOP senate nomination, picking up 65 per cent of the votes in competition with two little-known candidates.

Freshman Democratic congressman Ike F. Andrews, 48, of Siler City and Charles G. Rose III, 35, of Fayetteville, posted surprisingly strong victories in their bids for re-election.

Morgan, 48, of Lillington, state attorney general for the past five years, was an early and strong favorite for the nomination to succeed Ervin. First elected to public office in 1954, Morgan built a strong organization of party regulars in the rural-eastern and western sections of North Carolina.

And to capture the loyalties of the often-fickle voters in the industrial, urban Piedmont area, he spent heavily, buying out 400,000 more than twice the combined "bankroll" of Gallifianakis and Wilson.

Morgan jumped as expected to a strong lead almost as soon as the polls closed after a day of light voting by the state's 2.2 million registered voters.

To run for much of the night with slightly under 50 per cent of the vote, then surged ahead with a solid majority on the basis of returns from his rural redoubts.

Indian rail force out

NEW DELHI (UPI) — India's 1.7 million railway workers launched a nationwide strike today, threatening to halt vital food shipments and cripple the economy.

The walkout, which followed the arrests of 6,000 trainmen and sympathizers for planning the strike, began at dawn following a week of sporadic rail shuttings.

The British-built rail system, India's economic lifeline, carries more than 7 million passengers and a half-million tons of goods daily.

In a nationwide broadcast on the eve of the strike, Railway Minister L.N. Mishra promised the government "will run the trains and ensure that the common man is not out to too much hardship."

Brademas defeated a woman, Dr. Helen Calvert, who supports Gov. George Wallace of Alabama for President, and will battle another woman, Mrs. Virginia Black, a parochial high school teacher, in the fall election.

Witness list scored

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A group of feminists Tuesday attacked the "hostile male witness list" of a Senate subcommittee reviewing two constitutional amendments that would outlaw abortion on demand.

In a telegram to Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chairman of the Senate subcommittee on constitutional amendments, the feminists demanded equal representation for women on an issue they said will affect "our reproductive lives."

The telegram, released by the National Abortion Rights Action League, which represents more than 90 pro-abortion groups, said male witnesses have dominated the five hearings conducted so far.

'Tax-loss farming' law would reap big harvest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A law cracking down on "tax-loss farming" would affect few farmers but would reap a rich harvest of extra collections from high-income taxpayers on Agriculture Department study indicates.

The study by two department economists was based on a growing number of proposals in recent years aimed at eliminating or limiting the use of farming as a tax haven for lawyers, doctors and others with high nonfarm incomes.

Current tax rules have created a subsidy for the wealthy to use as a tax shelter, the report said. The shelter is built by using real or fictitious losses in farming enterprises to reduce the tax due on nonfarm income.

While high income tax-loss farmers may not be typical, their losses are probably motivated more by tax than real economic considerations.

If special farm tax provisions are intended to benefit taxpayers primarily dependent on farming for their livelihood, these special rules appear to be abused by taxpayers seeking tax shelters.

Economists Thomas A. Carlin and W. Fred Woods estimated in the report that 2.3 million persons filed farm income tax returns in 1970 with losses of more than $100,000, or 43 percent, showing losses.

More than 50 percent of the taxpayers showing losses had deficits of less than $5,000, Carlin and Woods said. The concentrated their study on the 41,000 taxpayers, accounting for less than 2 percent of all farm returns, who had losses of $10,000 or more.

If taxpayers were forbidden to use farm losses of more than $10,000 to offset other taxable income, the study showed the 41,000 individuals affected would have to pay an additional $250 million above the $408 they paid in 1970.

If the ceiling on allowable farm losses to offset taxes was set at $20,000, the report estimated, only 14,500 taxpayers would be affected. They actually paid about $260 million in 1970, but would have to ante up an additional $166 million if the limitation was adopted.

With a $30,000 ceiling, the report continued, only 7,300 taxpayers who actually paid $179 million in 1970 would be affected. The change would cost them an additional $122 million, Carlin and Woods calculated.

The study noted that disallowing farm losses as an offset against other earnings could also hit some low income taxpayers hard. For example, only 1 per cent of farm taxpayers with basic incomes under $3,500 a year would be affected, but those involved would have their tax bill increased 14-fold, the report said.

Idaho farm prices show April decline

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho farmers received for grain crops and most meat animals during the month ending April 15, the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today.

Thegenycysaid prices declined from both a month earlier and a year ago were recorded for best cattle, calves and hogs.

At the same time, the service said, lamb prices were off from a month earlier but slight ly above a year ago. Wheat, oats, barley, mixed grain and dry bean prices dropped during the month but continued above a year earlier.

Meanwhile, the price growers were receiving for potatoes continued upward and were more than double April 15, 1973.

The service said lower prices were recorded than a month earlier for milk, eggs and wool with egg and wool prices also below a year earlier.

Fungus marker

Lost fungus dismays farm group

DENVER (UPI) — The head of the Rocky Mountain Farmers Union says his organization is appalled at recent disclosures that the Army buried 70 tons of antifungal fungus on the grounds of the Rocky Mountain Arsenal and can't find the substance.

The fact that such weapons were buried is especially disturbing, wheat germ agents in wheat country is a black chapter of our nation's history, that we hope to be behind us, said John Stenepl in a letter to Army Secretary Howard Callaway. The Army has admitted that it does not know where the fungus was buried, but said a search of the arsenal's grounds has been narrowed to a 30-acre tract on the 17,000-acre reservation.

The Army buried the fungus between 1955 and 1969. In 1971, the Army adopted a new process for destroying the agent, including chemical treatment followed by burning temperatures up to 1,900 degrees. Stenepl's letter called for an all-out effort to locate the material and then testing of it to make sure it was destroyed.

The material is now believed to be totally inert, but references like relatively and probably are insufficient, Stenepl said. We must be absolutely sure that this material isn't alive because any accidental discharge of live spores

House panel takes up sugar bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Agriculture Committee began consideration Tuesday of a bill to extend the federal sugar control program but with a sharp reduction in subsidies for domestic growers.

It also proposes a bigger voice for Congress in terms to be laid down for any future restoration of a U.S. sugar quota for Cuba.

The bill would extend for five years, beginning next January, the system under which the Agriculture Department decides each year how much sugar can be sold in the United States and then would carve the total into supply quotas for domestic growing areas and more than 30 foreign countries.

The measure, drafted by a special subcommittee following weeks of hearings and debate, is subject to possible amendment in the full Agriculture Committee. It would cut subsidies to U.S. beet and cane growers from the present $50 million a year to an estimated $27.5 million.

That would be done by reducing the basic subsidy rate and by putting a $9,490 a year lid on payments to individual farms which now get, in a few cases, more than $1 million a year.

Cuba was the largest foreign source of U.S. sugar before relations were broken in 1960. Since then, quotas for Cuba have been maintained in law, but suspended and parceled out to the western hemisphere countries. The new legislation would divide the Cuban quota under all foreign quota holders. If U.S.-Cuban relations are restored, the bill would allow the President to restore Cuba's quota. But specific terms of restoration would be subject to veto by either the House or Senate. Current law does require congressional review

Weather farm aid

BOISE (UPI) — The weather cooperated with Idaho farmers the first week of May, the National Weather Service and U.S. Agriculture Department reported today.

The agencies said farming operations made rapid headway throughout Idaho during the week ended May 2.

Planting of spring grains and sugar beets neared completion in Southern Idaho while potato planting passed the three-quarter mark in the Southwest, reached 69 per cent in the southcentral and got underway in the east, the agencies said. They noted that emerged stands of spring crops were generally average to good although cool nights slowed crop development in North Idaho.

It also was reported that topsoil moisture was in short supply in southeastern and south-central Idaho but adequate to surplus in the north and east.

Corn and dry bean planting is underway at lower elevations in Southern Idaho, the agencies said.

Eggs

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wholesale egg prices as reported by USDA fell 1 cent per dozen to 49 cents for fresh large eggs delivered to Chicago. Prices for fresh large eggs in other areas ranged from 45 to 53 cents a dozen, according to USDA.

Organic cleaners created

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI) — An all-organic soap created from potato processing waste has potential cleaning abilities equal to or better than soaps and detergents now on the market, says Dr. Srinidhar Bhagat, head of the Washington State University environmental engineering section.

Dr. Bhagat says problems surrounding disposal of cooking oils, potato culls and peelings from potato processing plants can be reduced significantly or eliminated with installation of high-speed soap concentrate systems at potato processing plants.

The process developed by Baker and Ady Corp., Kennewick, results in a potato soap that is not only organically based, but also effective in solid removal in conventional municipal waste water treatment systems, Dr. Bhagat said.

An estimated 24 soap products from potato waste show feasibility in laboratory studies by WSU researchers. Dr. Bhagat said projected formulas include liquid, powder bar and paste composition which offer potential substitutes for phosphates in washday cleansers.

US metric system loses by mile in House

(C) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON—The House of Representatives Tuesday rejected an attempt to pull the American system of weights and measures up into the 20th Century by again defeating legislation to adopt the metric system—a bill stalled in Congress for over 100 years.

Failure to pass the metric conversion bill, by a vote of 240 to 153, came only a day before the Department of Agriculture is to start using the global standard of measurement in its regular crop reports.

Many federal agencies, ranging from the Defense Department to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, already employ the metric system as a standard of measurement for science, medicine and technology.

Foremost among the critics of the bill, as it has been for over a decade, was Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, who at first stated, and then began shouting his objections that adoption would cost $60 billion to $100 billion.

Referring to a study by the Commerce Department endorsing adoption despite a conversion cost of several billion dollars, Gross said the "document is a blueprint of how to deceive the American people and Congress."

At one point Gross demanded that Rep. John W. Davis, the Georgia Democrat who at that moment was speaking in favor of the bill, "convert two inches into metric, quick-like."

Davis replied: "About 50 millimeters, I thought about it a moment, then said he was wrong when he was actually right, to roars of laughter from both proponents and opponents."

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., got another round of gutters when he said if he passes the measure would place the United States with "Trinidad, South Yemen and 'Tobago'" as countries that haven't converted to the metric system.

The bill's wording said it would "declare a national policy of converting to the metric system in the United States, and to establish a voluntary conversion board to coordinate the voluntary conversion to the metric system over a period of 10 years."

The bill's floor manager, Rep. Olin E. Teague, D-Texas, stressed that "there wasn't a dime in the bill" except for the board's expenses, which have been estimated to cost $14 million during the first five years.

Illegal tax return use probed

(C) N.Y. Times Service
WASHINGTON—Congressional investigations into the relationship between the Nixon administration and the Internal Revenue Service have shifted the focus to the question of the possibility of illegal use of tax returns as a source of politically valuable information for the White House.

The change in emphasis of the inquiries, which previously focused on the treatment by the revenue service of "enemies" and "friends" of the White House, is based on information that has only recently come to light about White House pressures on the agency.

For example, in a conversation on March 27, 1973, H. C. Baldwin, the former White House chief of staff, warned President Nixon that a former internal revenue official who was later promoted to Commissioner of Customs by the administration, has been involved in a political intelligence operation of the White House.

The involvement "is a potential source of fascinating problems," Hademan said.

The official, Vernon D. Acree, denies that he was even involved in political intelligence.

Other relatively new information includes various memorandums about tax matters that were made public a few weeks ago by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn.

Among these is a memorandum to John W. Dean III, the former White House counsel, from John J. Caulfield, a former White House employee, which includes photocopies of the charitable deductions claimed for the three years—1968-70 by Lawrence V. Goldberg, who has just become the head of Jewish activities for the Committee for the Re-Election of the President.

Caulfield's memo notes that the pattern of contributions "portends an extremely heavy involvement in Jewish organizational activity."

"I don't wish to raise this issue again," the Caulfield memo continues. "However, in my judgment, the attorney general (John N. Mitchell) should be discreetly made aware in this regard."

The Caulfield memo covering Goldberg's charitable contributions is considered by some of the congressional investigators to be potentially significant evidence of illegal use of confidential tax-return information by the Nixon-White House. The reason is that Goldberg was being investigated as a potential appointee to a Republican party job, not a government job.

Refund due

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Amtrak has been ordered to refund $66 to a passenger who spoiled a lounge-out on the Zephyr to Chicago and found none.

Stephen Q. Lannes appealed to the small claims court because he felt Amtrak trains should have a lounge car when they advertise it.

Judge H.L. Schwartz of the small claims court ordered the refund.

CARRYING torches and huge portraits of ex-West-German Chancellor Willy Brandt, demonstrators march through streets of Bonn Tuesday, protesting against the circumstances that led to the sudden resignation of Brandt, who resigned abruptly Monday in the wake of publicity that a Communist spy was one of his close associates. (UPI)

Schmidt party choice

(C) N.Y. Times Service
BONN—Helmut Schmidt, the 55-year-old West German finance minister, was chosen by the Social Democratic Party Tuesday as the government candidate to succeed Willy Brandt, who resigned unexpectedly as Chancellor Monday.

Schmidt, who is the deputy of the party that Brandt leads, has been waiting for the chance to assume a more active role for years. But, he said in Hamburg this morning before returning to Bonn that he regretted Brandt's decision to resign, which was brought on by the uncovering of a spy on Brandt's staff.

The decision, which appeared today to be final, created a political new shock and disbelief when the public learned about it. The news broke about midnight here, and a group of supporters carrying torchlights chanted "Willy Brandt Don't Go" in front of his darkened house before dawn. Demonstrations of support for Brandt took place in several major German cities today.

Brandt said he resigned because of the scandal about the confessed East-German Communist spy, Gunter Guillaume, who was on his staff as assistant for party affairs until his arrest April 24.

The election of a new chancellor will take place in the West German lower house, the Bundestag, on May 16.

Schmidt, as the candidate of the ruling Social Democratic Free-Democrat coalition, would almost certainly be elected by the government majority there. It is considered unlikely that he would initiate any major domestic or international policy shifts.

Brandt's resignation became effective Tuesday morning, when the retiring Federal president, Gustav W. Heinemann, flew back to Bonn from Hamburg and officially relieved him of his duties, as the 60-year-old chancellor had requested in a two-paragraph handwritten letter last night.

Shortly after 9 a.m. Tuesday, the foreign minister, Walter Scheel, who is acting as chancellor at Brandt's request until the May 16 elections, presided over a 17-minute cabinet meeting and informed his colleagues there that his resignation and that of Schmidt's would become effective with their leader's.

Brandt did not attend, and Schmidt was still in Hamburg.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The space agency plans to launch a new type of satellite this week to maintain an around the clock storm watch over the Atlantic Ocean.

The satellite will be fired into a stationary orbit 300 miles high where its telescopic viewing system will be able to see all of the tropical Atlantic and much of the United States.

The spacecraft, called a Synchronous Meteorological Satellite (SMS), will take a picture every 30 minutes. At night, a heat-sensing infrared radiation sensor will provide the images.

SMS is scheduled to be launched May 16 from Cape Canaveral. It will be propelled into an orbit above the equator just off the coast of Brazil.

Hearings slated

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Department of Environmental and Community Services has scheduled hearings May 29 for two changes — an Idaho Falls firm has proposed for the state public swimming pool regulations.

The hearings will begin at 9 a.m. in the Statehouse.

Two changes in the regulations have been requested by the Three Fountains Condominium of Idaho Falls.

Hearing set in TF

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, announced Tuesday he will conduct a hearing of the Senate Special Committee on Aging May 16 in Twin Falls.

Church, who is committee chairman, said the hearing is part of an on-going investigation by the committee into future directions of the social security program.

The Idaho senator said the Twin Falls hearing is designed to provide Magic Valley senior citizens the opportunity to present testimony on the social security system from first-hand experience.

Access to records ordered

BOISE (UPI) — District Judge J. Ray Durtch has ordered the Idaho Endowment Investment Board to provide access to certain records by May 15 or show cause why they should be confidential.

Durtch's order came as a result of a suit filed by the Idaho Statesman, a Boise newspaper, asking that the board be compelled to disclose state investment records.

The suit contended that board manager William Hepp had denied requests by the Statesman for access to certain records in connection with the state investments.

Search for Boise youth resumes

BOISE (UPI) — A search resumed early today for Harry O'Bryan, 19, Boise, who disappeared when an inflatable raft he was riding overturned.

The youth was traveling the Boise River Tuesday with two companions, Kris Ludlum, 18, and Mike Grisham, 18, both Boise, when the raft spilled the trio into the river.

A search until dark Tuesday failed to find any trace of O'Bryan.

Low bidder named

BOISE (UPI) — A Springville, Utah, firm and a Pocatello company were apparent low bidders for two State Department of Highways projects in Southern Idaho.

W. W. Clyde & Co., Springville, offered a bid of $2,624,008 for construction of a roadway, drainage, two 113-foot prestressed concrete overpass structures and two 136-foot prestressed concrete box girder overpass structures on 6.25 miles of Interstate 15 from the Utah line north in Oneida County.

Jerome officials approve contract

JEROME — The Jerome County commissioners Monday approved the contract of Mrs. Phyllis Sullivan, county airport manager.

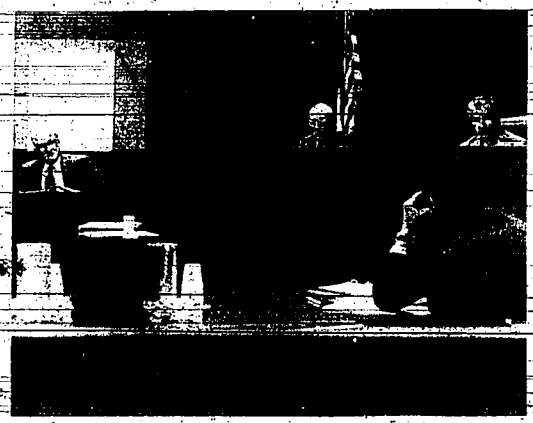

The contract approval was delayed from the first of the year because of complaints by area residents and J.P. Kelley over Mrs. Sullivan's harassing Kelley with her plane.

Claude Bernard, commission chairman, said the commissioners approved the contract because Mrs. Sullivan has agreed to cooperate and avoid flying over Kelley's residence which is next to the airport.

Bernard said that work has been started at the airport on a loading pad for spray planes and is expected to be completed shortly and in use in time for spraying operations. Bernard explained that the loading area was necessary in order to get the planes off of the main runway during the loading procedure.

Bernard said that an agreement was also reached Monday with Neilson and Co., Twin Falls, contractor for the new addition to the Jerome County Courthouse, for the removal of rock which was found during the digging of the basement for the new addition.

Bernard said it was agreed to raise the basement a foot from the original plan. "This will cut the cost of removing the rock will have no major effect on the building," Bernard said.

Bargain table sessions begin on plant strike

HEYBURN — Union and management representatives sat down at the bargaining table today for the first time in the six-day old strike at two J.R. Simplot Co. processing plants.

Spokesmen for the striking American Federation of Grain Millers Union and Simplot refused comment on the content of the negotiations. Negotiating teams went into one closed session after another at the Heyburn Inn in Burley.

The strike has shut down Simplot's Caldwell plant and affected 500 workers at the Heyburn facility. About 40 supervisory personnel were brought in to an apparently successful effort to maintain some production.

The strike began at one minute after midnight May 2 after negotiations were declared at an impasse by federal mediator Jack Garvey. There have been no official negotiations since May 1 and the plants have been continuously picketed by union members since the strike was announced.

A complaint asking for a permanent injunction against the union was filed by the company Tuesday in Fifth District Court as a result of alleged mass picketing by strikers on Monday.

The court issued an order for the union to show cause why order should not be issued to restrain union pickets from "engaging in mass picketing to the extent that the free ingress and egress of employees, vehicle traffic of all kinds and third persons having business with the plaintiff company is obstructed and impeded in any degree."

The complaint also asks that cause be shown why the number of pickets "should not be reduced to a fair and reasonable number" and why they should not be temporarily restrained from committing acts of intimidation and violence.

Defendants in the complaint would be restrained from the use of "abusive, profane, vulgar and offending language against the plaintiff."

The company is asking for unspecified damages resulting from the alleged mass picketing.

Simplot spokesman William Maxwell issued a statement on the court action, which said, "We are not trying to prevent picketing. We ask only that it be peaceful and orderly. We respect the right of the union to picket, however, the safety and welfare of Simplot employees, as well as the preservation of our property, must be maintained."

Company officials have not revealed the type of product being run at the plant during the strike but have reportedly attempted to keep french fried potato line in operation.

"Production was going more smoothly Tuesday, according to Maxwell, but no details concerning the volume were given."

River up 6 inches

KETCHUM — Big Wood River rose nearly six inches Tuesday as 70 degree weather dropped high elevation snow into the river.

The river measured 5.7 feet this morning at Ketchum, up from Tuesday's 5.2 feet. Officials in the area, however, said the runoff is normal and few express any real concern.

Small water channels are cutting through low-lying soil areas south of Ketchum and water is running freely through gravel pits in that area.

This area always receives flood waters during high runoff years, according to officials.

Small patches of pasture are receiving some overflow in the Broadford area near Bellevue, another low area along the river.

Ground water combined with some high water overflow, is nearing a house foundation at Gimlet. Several houses in that area are built in the flood plain however and may receive some flood water, officials said.

W. R. Walls, deputy watermaster on the Big Wood River, said the river was "getting high in some places."

The National Weather Service predicted some flooding by the end of this week if temperatures continue high. However, a recent forecast is calling for cooler weather which should slow the runoff.

High elevation water content still measured 160 to 185 per cent of normal a week ago but recent runoff has reduced that substantially.

The National Weather Service office in Burley said the measurements at Halley this morning averaged 5.2 feet. Flood stage at that point is 4.5 feet.

Weather officials said they have been informed by Blaine County sheriff's officers there is no damage with the possible exception of some flood pasture but the Deer Creek Bridge, 2.5 miles above Halley, could be endangered if the rise continues.

The forecast this morning called for a drop in the Big Wood River at Halley to 5.1 feet by Thursday.

5 acres burn at Bellevue

BELLEVUE — A fire of undetermined origin burned about five acres of sagebrush east of here Monday night.

Officials from the Bureau of Land Management are investigating the fire, which burned a hillside overlooking Canyon about three miles east of Bellevue.

The fire originated about 8 p.m. and spread rapidly. The blaze could be seen clearly in Bellevue, B.L.M. and US Forest Service crews were contacted but the fire burned itself out in about two hours.

BLM personnel said if the fire was started on private land and then spread to BLM land the private owner would be held liable. There were no lighting storms in the area.

The closed fire season begins May 10; the BLM officials have announced.

Colorado man charged

BURLEY — A Colorado man is being held in lieu of $2,000 bond in Burley on a charge of issuing $5,300 in no-account checks.

Tim T. Taylor, 52, was arrested Tuesday in Burley by detective Sgt. James Higney and patrolman Kevin Kelly, after he allegedly attempted to pass two checks, one for $5,000 and another for $300, at the Jeff Parsons Real Estate Agency in Burley.

Taylor was arraigned before Magistrate Glederson Anderson on the two felony counts.

According to Higney, Taylor has allegedly purchased numerous properties in Colorado and other states with no-account checks. He allegedly tried to purchase the Oregon Trail Cafe in Burley before he was arrested.

Jerome project begins

JEROME — The Bannock Paving Co. Inc., Pocatello, has begun construction on an aggregate stockpile area in Jerome County.

The Jerome County Commission in March approved an acquisition of 12.68 acres of land bordering the west side of US Highway 93 and the old Barmyore Road. The land was reclassified zone F-heavy industry from zone A-agriculture.

Dunne Kern, Pocatello, representative of Bannock Paving, said the Jerome site was chosen because of accessibility to the county road and the railroad. The company plans to stockpile aggregate for shipment and sale.

Future plans call for the development of a hot-mix plant, Kern said.

Under construction is a 2,000 foot spur on the Union Pacific Railroad, needed by the firm for loading and unloading of materials.

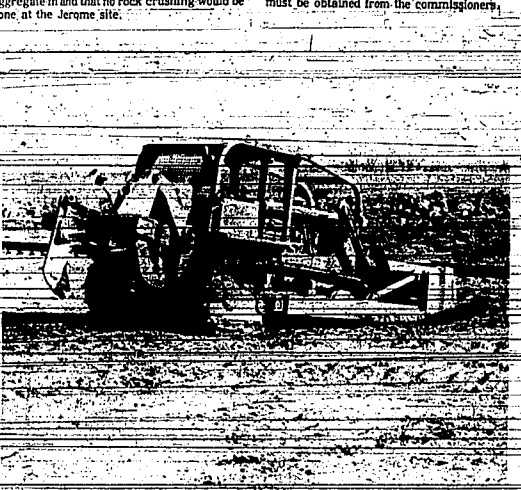

Kern said that the company plans to haul aggregate in and that no rock crushing would be done at the Jerome site.

"We will observe all Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) regulations, especially in regard to air pollution. A complete sprinkler system will be installed to spray the aggregate to keep the dust down," Kern said.

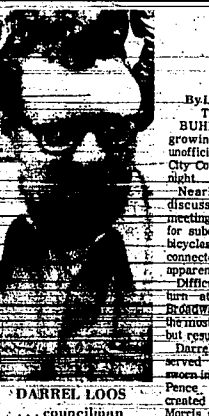

He explained that aggregate which is used in highway construction is critically short in the area and high priced for a lower quality.

The county commissioners, in approving the reclassification of the land stipulated that Bannock Paving Co. would have to conform to the request of the Good Roads Highway District and maintain a 500 foot right-of-way and place a sign at the crest "the hill west of the access to the property."

The commissioners also retained the right to insist upon immediate compliance with the EPA standards if complaints are received concerning air pollution. Also if changes in the operation of the business are made approval must be obtained from the commissioners.

Construction under way on Jerome County project

DARREL LOOS, councilman

Buhl aides air 'growing pains'

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
TIMES-NEWS SERVICE

BUHL — Community growing pains were the unofficial theme at the Buhl City Council meeting Tuesday night.

Nearly all the problems discussed in a three-hour meeting, ranging from plans for subdivisions to too many bicycles on the sidewalks, were connected in some way with apparent growth.

Difficulties of making a left hand at the town's center, BROADWAY AND MAIN, caused the most animated discussion, but resulted in no change.

Darrel Loos, who previously served on the council, was named into office by Mayor Ode.

Peace to fill the vacancy created in March when Don Morris moved from the city.

Pence said there is no official way to determine population growth between the 10-year government census but agencies are investigating the activity and services needed in the community. Buhl, the mayor has said previously, is growing as a "bedroom town."

Information on basic requirements prior to presenting definite plans, La Vern Boyd told of plans for what he termed a "mini-mill" in town where three spaces would be provided. He will meet with city officials Thursday on legal points.

Gene Hopkins, Buhl, and

LeRoy Atwood, Meridian, plan an 18-home subdivision beyond the present Maple Street. Their firm, A.W.B. Industries, plans to develop four acres for future annexation.

Rick Teney, community relations chairman for the Buhl Recreation Association, reported on a summer recreation program jointly sponsored by the school, city and the association.

He said four committees have been formed to include John Cato, activities; Dr. Tom Tappan, finance; Dr. Con Annett, long range plans; and Tunney, community relations.

Ton-School is chairman of the association.

Tennis courts are planned with revenue sharing funds and the summer program will include golf, tennis, swimming, horseshoes and softball.

In other business, councilmen:

— approved a request from Coall-Golgor to purchase a vacant lot and upon payment of $250,000 release the land to him.

— heard a written report from Dale Christensen that five new trees had been planted by Scouts and FFA.

— approved investment of $5,000 in survey bills at the discretion of the city clerk, Peggy Macarthur.

Instructed Councilman Dick Thomset to call for bids on the tennis court.

— heard complaints from police Councilman Jerry Hawkins on commercial truck traffic in alleys. He was instructed to study the problem and also that of traffic congestion caused by left turns at the main intersection. The Idaho Highway Department will be asked to make a traffic count.

— hired John Conrad as summer recreation director and Linda Hendrix, Connie Hendrix and Sharon Tappan as lifeguards. All the youths worked in the program last year.

— decided to call for bids until June 4 on 7,000 square yards of street repaving.

— discussed the problem of thefts of city equipment at the park. Home plates and pitcher mounds, as well as signs and irrigation pipe have been stolen. Councilmen discussed offering a reward, but reached no decision.

87 write-in votes elect mayor — then he resigns

EDINA, Mo. (UPI) — They held an election for mayor April 2 and nobody ran. Alderman Leslie Karhoff was elected with 87 write-in votes, but before he could be sworn in, he resigned, saying his furniture store job kept him too busy.

blonde 51-year-old grandmother who has served five years as alderwoman wants to be mayor — to get involved and to help her town of 1,200 survive.

"I don't call myself a hell-raiser, but people know I express my opinions," she said Tuesday. "I feel like I have to participate in whatever is going on."

And what if she gets the job in the May 21 election as the only candidate? "There are a lot of things that should be done, but nobody should expect any miracles," she said.

Her flare for public-life stems from her singing career in the 1930s and 1940s. Newspaper clippings carrying her professional name of Pauline Small report performances in numerous popular magazines of the day. At times she sang with big bands led by Ted Lewis and Buddy Rodgers.

Mrs. Campbell and other council members are angry at the citizenry's lack of interest in local government. Lame-duck mayor Leroy Anderson blames local businessmen for not getting involved.

"Everyone sees everybody else's faults but they don't see their own," he said. "When a businessman complains that no one takes an active part and then turns down a chance to run, it looks funny. It's too easy to say you don't have the time and then sit on your rear and do nothing."

Anderson warned Mrs. Campbell, whose husband is an insurance man, that routine problems might dampen her enthusiasm as mayor.

Scout troop strength drops

STAFFORD, England (UPI) — New long-pant uniforms, are causing a shortage in Boy Scout troop strength, says chief scout Oliver Finlow.

Finlow said the movement did not consider the extra cost for extra length when the scouts dropped their shorts.

Boston drops Bucks 96-87

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Oscar Robertson was in any mood to talk Tuesday night. The Milwaukee Bucks guard, who did not play exceptionally well in the first four games of the National Basketball Association's championship series, had just delivered a virtuoso performance—and watched as it went down the drain.

ON THE DRIVE, Boston's John Havlicek outlasted a Dan Nelson screen on Milwaukee's Mickey Davis for a two-point play Tuesday night in the NBA championship series. Boston won 96-87 to take a 2-2 lead in the series. (UPI Telephoto)

Nets hope to become first to sweep ABA championship series

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Kevin Loughery wants to end the American Basketball Association season Wednesday night. The players are really high for this one," said the first-year coach of the New York Nets. "We know we can become the first team in the league's history to sweep the championship finals. Every

The Bucks lost 96-87 to the Boston Celtics, falling behind three games to two in the best-of-seven series. The Celtics can sew up their 12th NBA title with a victory in Boston Friday night. "It doesn't make any difference how well you do if you lose," Robertson said. Tuesday night, he shined almost everyone else on the Bucks went into a slump. Or fell victim to Boston's pressure defense. "We played the same way we've played all series, only

Red Chinese certain to be in Olympics

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Chinese athletes are almost certain to compete at the 1976 Olympics in Montreal as a result of Peking's latest drive to join the International Olympic Committee, according to IOC officials. China has completed the first hurdle in getting back into the Olympic fold 11 years ago and could be voted into the IOC by the end of the year, the officials said. To join the IOC, China needs to be affiliated to five international sports federations. The announcement last week that the International Weightlifting Federation has wanted Peking provisional membership means that hurdle has been cleared because China already belongs to the rowing, ice hockey, archery and ice skating federations. A spokesman at IOC headquarters in Lausanne, Switzerland, said China had not yet contacted the IOC "either officially or unofficially" for membership. But IOC President Lord Killanin is eager to have China join and the Chinese are anxious to complete as soon as possible. "Frankly I think it is wrong that a country of more than 800 million people is not in the Olympic movement," said Killanin.

Economists tell NFL players WFL shaky

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A panel of economists predicted the sports field, vested Tuesday that the new World Football League faces an uncertain financial future to survive in competition with the National Football League. At a conference sponsored by the NFL Players Association, the five college-based economists experts said that the rival new league must hope for a positive response from the NFL and depend on obtaining stadiums in which to play to be successful. The five, however, claimed that NFL owners are pursuing monopolistic practices which work to the detriment of both pro football players and fans alike. They also said the competitive inroads made by the NFL in signing players from the NFL will bring about drastic changes in player economic status. The participants in the seminar, conducted by the California Institute of Technology, James Koch of Illinois State University, Gerald Scully of Southern Methodist and Henry Demmert of the University of Santa Clara. Quirk said of the prospects of the WFL: "I think unless they can get a merger, they might be in trouble." Scully noted that the backers of the new WFL franchises might find a new league a profitable personal venture because they are in a tax bracket that would allow them to claim depreciation on players and capital investment breaks.

Orioles bury Oakland 9-3 under 21 hits

OAKLAND (UPI) — Paul Blalock had four singles Tuesday night to lead a 21-hit Baltimore Orioles attack that buried the Oakland A's 9-3. Enos Cabell had three hits and every other player in the Baltimore lineup as Boss Grimsley pitched a seven-hitter to gain credit for his fourth victory in six decisions. The Orioles jumped Oakland starter Ken Holtzman for 11 hits and five runs in three plus innings and sent him down to his fourth loss against two victories.

Decker, Twins blank Brewers MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Joe Decker hurled an eight-hit shutout and Harmon Killebrew drove in Minnesota's first two runs to lead the Twins past the Milwaukee Brewers 3-0 Tuesday night. It was the fourth straight loss for the Brewers, their longest of the season. Only four Brewers reached second base off Decker, who upped his record to 3-2. He walk one batter in the 35-degree weather and struck out six.

Wood shuts out Detroit 1-0 DETROIT (UPI) — Ed Herrmann led off the 11th inning with his third home run of the season and second in almost five months Tuesday to back Wilbur Wood's two-hit pitching and give the Chicago White Sox a 1-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Wood, 45, had given up only a single to Mickey Stanley in the fourth inning before he sandwiched his third and fourth walks of the game around Willie Horton's single to load the bases with one out in the 10th.

Boston edges Flyers by 3-2 BOSTON (UPI) — Even for superstar Bobby Orr, one of the swiftest blurs on ice, the quick transition from apparent defeat to sudden victory came too fast to comprehend. At one end of the ice, with only 55 seconds left, in regulation Tuesday night, Orr was certain his Bruins had lost the opening game of the Stanley Cup finals to Philadelphia as Flyer Bill Flett had the puck and an almost empty net in which to shoot it. But just 33 seconds later it was Orr, who delivered the winning shot as Boston squeezed out a 3-2 victory.

Error helps Indians tip Cat

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — A throwing error by shortstop Dave Chalk enabled the Cleveland Indians to score two runs in the ninth inning Tuesday night and defeat the California Angels 5-3. Oscar Gamble opened the ninth inning for the Indians with an infield hit and two outs later, Frank Duffy also singled.

Yankees edge Texas in 12th

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — Ex-Ranger Elliot Maddox scored a run-scoring double with one out in the 12th inning to lead the New York Yankees to a 4-3 win over Texas Tuesday night. Thurman Munson led off the inning with a grounder that second baseman Dave Nelson bobbed for an error, and scored on Maddox's lead-off center. Nelson, ironically, had been the hero in the ninth when he hit a two-out single to rightfield.

Minico and Buhl gain semi-final

Minico trumped Buryl 12 and Buhl capped for seven runs in the last inning to rip Twin Falls 10-4 in the opening round of the district baseball tournament Tuesday night.

The results send Twin Falls to Burley Wednesday afternoon with the loser going out while Minico is slated to play Buhl with the winner advancing to the finals. At stake is one week in the state playoffs next week.

Minico ravaged Buryl for six runs in the second inning and took the lead with seven Bradshaw fanning 12 batters. The verdict wasn't in doubt.

In that frame, Ron Dietz led off with a triple and scored with James Dean's doubles. After Bradshaw singled Russ Tremayne singled in two runs and Van Avery doubled with a run-scoring double. Ragdy Jensen tripled in the sixth tally.

In the top of the seventh Pat Warburton delivered a two-run single while Larry Stoffe Tremayne and Jensen played approach with hits to wind it up.

Straining both ways

First accident, veteran trio highlight Indianapolis trials

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The Speedway holds its first fender-bender of the season Tuesday and "Ol' Tex" A. J. Foyt, Bobby Unser and Johnny Rutherford appeared to be the early favorites for the 500-mile triennial competition.

This trio of veterans of United States Auto Club closed-course competition stole the show in the first two days of practice for the May 26-31 million chase, with three days left for suspense before they'll shoot for the pole Saturday.

Although speedsters expected to be down considerably from last year because of fuel changes and a cutback in fuel allotments, practice averages in the 100-mile per-hour bracket had not been expected until late this week.

But Foyt, the three-time 500-champion from Houston who sat on the pole for Ontario for the "California 500" in March, hurtled his 8-cylinder Coyote around the famed 2.5-mile oval at a speed of 192.349 m.p.h., about a mile faster than Unser's best lap Tuesday.

Rutherford, another Texan who sat on the pole here last year, wasn't far behind Unser, the Albuquerque, N. M., speedster who won the 1974 Ontario-chase and the Memorial Day classic here six years ago.

Rookies Tom Bigelow, Whitewater, Wis., and Leo Bryerton, Coldwater, Mich.,

collided in the southwest turn and both cars kissed the outside retaining wall. Both drivers walked away unscathed.

Observers said the accident was triggered when Bigelow, 35, slid entering the turn and then was struck broadside by Bryerton's car. Both machines sustained extensive damage.

Thirty-six cars made practice runs under near ideal weather conditions but light late afternoon rain after the wreck closed down the track.

Fourteen other drivers led by Mike Mosley, Clermont, Ind., and Gary Bettenhausen, Mansfield, Ind., were also in the pack.

Bigelow and Bryerton were also clocked in that range before their collision.

Duane "Pancho" Carter, Jr., Huntington Beach, Calif., son of the former veteran "500" driver, became the first rookie to pass his test and Jigger Slocum, Hammond, Ind., passed his refresher test.

Quarry's rival, a native of Thornsville, Ga., is unranked among the top 20 heavyweights, while Quarry is second and third in the various ratings.

The ultimate target for Quarry is yet another title shot. He has lost twice to Muhammad Ali, once to Frazier, but points out his youth and inexperience at the time of those meetings, as well as a number of personal problems.

"That's all over and done with," Quarry says today. "I've matured. I'm not a kid anymore."

FENDER-BENDER-type accident was reported but Indiana racing was held up at Indianapolis Tuesday. Lee Bray in car No. 23 flies over the top of the racer piloted by Tom Bigelow when the two collided on the first turn at 175 miles-per-hour. (UPI Telephoto)

Consecutive homeruns carry Padres past Phillies in 13th

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Reliever Dave Wallace was pitched back to base by Fred Winfield and Russ Kendall in the 13th inning Tuesday night enabling the San Diego Padres to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies 5-3.

The Phillies scored three times in the seventh to tie the score at 3-3. Dave Cash was hit by a Steve Arlin pitch and Larry Brown singled. Both runners scored on Del Unser's double to right-center. Greg Lutzinski beat out an infield single for his fourth hit of the game and Willie Montanez brought in Unser with a sacrifice fly.

Cardinals nip Cincinnati 1-0

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Reggie Smith led off the ninth inning with a single, took second on pitcher Fred Norman's walk, pickoff, throw moved to third on an infield out and scored on a sacrifice sacrifice fly to give the St. Louis Cardinals and Lynn McGlothen a 1-0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday night.

The victory was the fourth in five decisions for McGlothen, who restricted the Reds to four hits while striking out nine and walking two. It was a "three-out" inning for Norman, who struck out 13 and walked only one while being tagged with his third loss in four decisions.

Houston drops Pirates 2-1

HOUSTON (UPI) — Tom Griffin allowed only one hit—a second-inning single by Willy Stargell—and battermate Mike May drove in the winning run with a triple in the eighth inning Tuesday night to lead the Houston Astros to a 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Three consecutive errors produced the Pirates' run in the fifth and spoiled Griffin's shutout attempt. After Griffin struck out the first two batters, third baseman Doug Rader bobbled consecutive grounders by Robin Zisk and Mmmmy Sanguinetti to put runners on first and second.

Cubs outlast Atlanta 3-2

CHICAGO (UPI) — Steve Stone gave up six hits before being knocked out in the ninth inning and picked up his first National League victory Tuesday in leading the Chicago Cubs to a 3-2 triumph over the Atlanta Braves.

Stone's triumph from the cross-town White Sox last December, walked five, struck out four and had a 3-4 lead before Horacio Pina took over in the ninth inning following a double by Darrell Evans and a walk to Dave Johnson.

Phil allowed one run on a driving error by first baseman Billy Williams and another

Players sign with all-stars

LOBUCK, Tex. (UPI) — Joe Barnes and Kenneth Wallace, who helped key Texas Tech to an "11" season and a "Gator Bowl" victory last year, have signed to play in the 14th annual Coaches-All-America game along with Texas All-American center Bill Wyman.

The game is set for June 22 in Jones Stadium and is expected to draw a record crowd.

Other outstanding players signed include: Auburn wide receiver Paul Williams, wide receiver Abilene Christian College's Paul Velazquez, defensive lineman Maryland's Billy Howard, defensive lineman Alcorn A&M's Barry Smith, running back, Richmond—Jackson State's Rod Kirby, linebacker, Pittsburgh and Tony Bell, defensive back, Bowling Green.

Barnes, Wallace, Wyman and Williams will play for coach Barry Switzer's West team and the rest will play for coach Johnny Major's East squad.

Trickey signs with Rams

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI) — Colorado State University Athletic Director Perry C. Moore said Tuesday that Ken Trickey, head basketball coach at Oral Roberts University, has accepted a job as assistant basketball coach at CSU.

Ken has been recommended by several highly regarded individuals, including Dr. Oral Roberts," said Moore of the Western Athletic Conference School. Coach Jim Williams picked Ken from a list of outstanding candidates, and I support his recommendations."

Mini-Reviews

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Public Library officials have released mini-reviews for some of the new books recently received at the library.

"No More Reunions" by John Bower. A novel, set in the 40s about Bone and his friends approaching graduation with a fear that they will be unable to compete on a new turf.

"Amigo, Amigo" by Francis Clifford. A subtle and searing novel — of psychological suspense as a journalist searches for a major Nazi war criminal who escaped the judgment of Nuremberg.

"Elizabeth and Catherine" by Robert Coughlan. A dramatic narrative event centered on the astounding lives of two remarkable women of the 18th century, one, Catherine the Great, and the other, Elizabeth, daughter of Peter the Great.

"Across the Bitter Sea" by Ellis Dillon. The story of two families caught up in the tumultuous events of martyred Ireland from the bitter days of starvation in the 1850s to the climactic Easter Rebellion of 1916.

"Wild Rivers of North America" by Michael Jenkinson. A guide to river running plus in-depth biographies of eight outstanding rivers and a voyagers route.

"Fathers" by Herbert Gold. The hero of this novel is a genuine life-sized hero and tells that most American of stories; of how one American transplanted from Europe makes his success in the new land.

"The Violent Land" by Jorge Amado. Set in Brazil during the "cacao rush" this is a lusty, credible, sometimes breathless picture of a new lost way of life.

"Armageddon in the Middle East" by Dana Schmidt. An authoritative behind-the-scenes view of this explosive region. Its politics, economics and ideologies, its past, present and possible future.

"The Biography of a Mind" by Myra Friedman. No mere rock and roll biography, "Buried Alive" will move and impress those who loved Janis and those who never heard her song a note.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't laugh when you read this because Lam sings. I love all animals, but I am especially fascinated by chimpanzees. I go to the zoo and watch them for hours.

I would like to own a chimp as a pet, but don't know where to buy one. How much would a young chimp cost? Are they hard to care for? What do they eat? Would I need a heated cage to keep one in Ohio? Any information you can give me on chimps would be greatly appreciated.

LOVES CHIMPS

Chimps costly

DEAR LOVES: According to John Fletcher, head zoologist at the Cedar Park Zoo in St. Paul, Minn., chimps are presently very hard to come by. When available, for chimp, zos or behavior research, a young chimp costs between $500 and $1,000.

Dr. Fletcher informs me that a single chimp would not make a very good house pet, because when a chimp reaches sexual maturity he becomes frustrated, ill-tempered and unpredictable. So the word from here is, don't monkey around with chimps or you'll have nothing but problems.

DEAR ABBY: Billy and I have been married a year, I am 20 and Billy is 17. We get along fine. The problem is Billy's mother, who likes to see us. Billy gave her a key to our house so she can get in in case of an emergency or if we go out of town, she can come in and water our plants. We have never had an emergency and we don't go out of town that much.

Several times after we've gone to bed his mother has walked right into our bedroom without even knocking. She says she got "onesome" or she had something to tell us. What she had to tell us could have waited until the next day.

I didn't expect our honeymoon to last forever but I can assure you it had better because all I have on my mind is worrying that his mother will come walking in on us. I have told Billy to ask his mother for our housekey, but she says he doesn't want to hurt her feelings. I don't want to ask her for it because I don't want her mad at me. Can you help me?

FRAIDY CAT

DEAR CAT: Don't be afraid. You are entitled to your privacy, so if Billy refuses to ask his mother for the key, you ask her. Tell her if you leave town you'll give her the key, and if you can't do that, get a bolt and chain for your bedroom door.

DEAR ABBY: Magazine readers is for is it? My problem is I operate a beauty salon and keep up-to-date magazines for my patrons. It takes only one or two magazines to get into the bedroom without even knocking. She says she got "onesome" or she had something to tell us. What she had to tell us could have waited until the next day.

I have put up signs asking people to please leave the magazines whole. On the other hand, they can't live without them, so they go to buy one at the store, or ask me to save it for them, and I will.

I'm sure many businesses have this problem. I just hope the attenders will read this and maybe you can add something to help out.

DISTRESSED IN WASHINGTON

DEAR DISTRESSED: If you've posted signs you've done all you can do, but as one who has been the frustrated victim of magazine peepers, may I add my plea? PLEASE, either copy the recipe you want or buy another magazine. If it's still available, I'll look ask the manager to please save it for you. If you see a sign, please also clip this and post it where it will be seen. Good luck!

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply write to: ABBY, Box No. 67106, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope. Please.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

A Lovelier You... How effective are exercise machines in reducing weight? I am wondering whether to invest and, if so, in what type of machine. I am more than 20 pounds overweight.

The Answer: The value of this kind of machine depends upon the amount of exercise it requires of you.

Rowing machines and stationary bicycles offer resistance against which you must put up a good fight. The effort results in weight loss and improves muscle tone, the shape's shaper. Machines that jiggle or shake the body — work while you rest — cannot disperse entrenched pounds. The reducing process depends on a lowered calorie count, lowered in relation to the amount of exercise taken.

A one pound loss occurs for every 3500 calories eliminated from your diet. Thus, if you cut your calorie intake by 200 calories per day, you would from one pound per week, and in 17 weeks you would have lost 17 pounds. Usually you add to more than 500 calories and be all that you have to forego. Exercise — walk or bike for one hour each day — you will lose an additional 1000 calories. Or you may spend up on the 500 calorie cut. Where a weight loss is concerned, this column has always advocated a sensible lowered calorie intake and an increased activity output. Recent studies at Mount Holyoke College, and other prestigious places, come to the same conclusion. And that should bolster your will-power when you undertake our reducing regimen.

LEANER, LIGHTER AND LOVELIER

Here's a painless way for men and women to reduce! Just send for my booklet, LEANER, LIGHTER AND LOVELIER. It includes menus for delicious meals and snacks, calorie counts and nutrition pointers for delicious spot-reducers. Also you can write to Mrs. Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed envelope and $2 cents in coin.

Damage suits filed

TWIN FALLS — A death and damage suit for nearly a quarter of a million dollars has been filed in Fifth District Court here.

Cora Hatch, Pocatello, filed the suit on behalf of herself and her minor son, Odell Russell Hatch, seeking damages in the death of her husband in a traffic accident in the summer of 1972.

Named as defendants in the action are Donald E. Gutz and Ida-Cal Freightliners Inc. Mrs. Hatch claims that her late husband, Elmer O. Hatch, was killed in an accident on Interstate 20 west of Burley on June 22, 1972, when his car was struck by a vehicle owned by Ida-Cal which was negligently driven by Butts.

She seeks $250,000 in general and punitive damages and $1,051.79 for burial and funeral expenses for her late husband. The Hatch suit was one of several injury and damage suits filed in district court in the last few days.

Lewis Parish has also filed suit for himself and on behalf of his minor daughter Carey Parish against Phyllis Evelyn Britt and her father, Dean Britt.

In the suit Parish claims that on March 8 Carey Parish was crossing Main Street in Kimberly when she was struck by a car driven by Phyllis Britt. Parish claims the accident was the result of negligence on the part of Miss Britt.

Parish seeks general damages of $25,000, future medical expenses of $3,000, past medical expenses of $3,000 and costs of the suit.

Attorneys for the Britts on May 2 filed an answer to the Parish complaint denying negligence and denying that Carey Parish was injured in the amount claimed or at all. They seek dismissal of the case plus court costs.

In a third negligence and damage claim, Darrell E. Gilliland and Karen Gilliland have filed suit against Lonnie Minsky.

The Gillilands allege that on Dec. 10, 1973, their vehicle was struck from the rear by a vehicle driven by Minsky at the North Elm - Points intersection. As a result of the collision, which involved negligence on the part of Minsky, the Gillilands claim.

They seek current medical costs of $400, plus future medical costs as may be determined at the time of trial; $500 in lost wages, plus future lost wages; $250 for car damage; $12,500 in general damages; and further relief as

'Guitar Player' recovered

LONDON (UPI) — Scotland Yard announced today the recovery on a phone tip of the $1.8 million Vermeer painting 'The Guitar Player,' found propped against a gravestone, wrapped in newspaper and tied with string in an ancient London churchyard. The painting was formally identified by experts from Kenwood House museum from where it was stolen Feb. 23 by a gang of men who smashed into the museum with sledgehammers, a police spokesman said. The thieves ignored a Rembrandt painting worth $1.4 million to take the higher-valued work of Jan Vermeer.

After it was stolen a strip of Times newspaper with a letter demanding the transfer of two jailed Irish sisters to prison in Northern Ireland.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Of all the animals in the world, including man, that mammal which can throw a baseball the fastest, if properly taught, is said to be the elephant. A Ceylonese pachyderm named Susie at the zoo at Independence, Kan., can throw a projectile with the speed of a bullet. I make special reference to a baseball because a baseball is the most obvious thing you're supposed to throw fast. However, it's expected that pitching elephants in the future will do for the game of baseball what boating has done for the future of the sport.

MOST CHURCHES?
A "ketchical" parody on a Hec Ramsey TV show recently was only paid a penny a word for a story he submitted to a small town editor. Was that the standard rate for writers? A. Was reasonable enough. Don't believe there was a whole darn exactly. But it's a fact that much earlier Sir Walter Scott was only paid a penny a word for his stories.

Hard to believe the Las Vegas continent that it has more churches per capita than any other town in the world. Takes 10 live geese in the spring to produce one pound of the best pillow leathers. Most popular resort area in the United States at the Grand Smokey-Second most popular, Cape Cod. Just about one-out-of-every-1000-pilgrims-smells-the-best-of-a-skunk even though all sorts of other odors are detectable. If the sport who lures through the water for that fisher's name: 60 lake trout in Minnesota.

VETO WAR
Few realize that the women among the Iroquois Indians possessed "an most significant piece of power in the tribal councils." They were always represented there. And under Iroquois law, they were permitted if they did not wish to veto any law the men might make.

That garden pest known as the slug is known to be fond of beer. Agriculture Department scientists say: "The taste of beer, set out in your garden, may possibly attract more slugs than the usual commercial bait in the experiments, hundreds of slugs crawled onto such beer traps. And literally released to death."

Recent study in Washington, D.C. indicates the youthful soul on drugs is 15 times more likely to attempt suicide than the average youngster.

TF mayor appoints history chairman

TWIN FALLS — Arlan Call, Twin Falls librarian, has been appointed by Mayor Winston Jones as city bicentennial chairman.

Jones announced the appointment Monday night, saying Call will be able to work with other organizations and individuals in the city to develop some special events and displays to commemorate the event.

The council also approved appointment of Denair Maughan to the city's youth advisory council. He was recommended for the council by Councilman Paul Ostyn.

Council members approved two agreements Monday night. One will allow the US Forest Service to lease space at the city-county airport for fire-fighting operations. The agreement is the same as a year ago, giving the agency 104,912 square feet of space for $2,750 per season.

The other agreement is for cost to the city for its prisoners housed in the county jail. The new rate is a fee of $2 per hour rather than $1.75 per hour and a prisoner is kept under guard. Food fees are 85 cents per meal per prisoner.

In other action, Mayor Winston Jones proclaimed "The King to Animals" week, called for special recognition through citizen support for Reserve Company D, 321st Engineering Battalion, named May 11 as Coronation Day for American War Mothers, and May 17 and 18 as American Legion Poppy Day.

Council members also authorized Jean Millar to protest the proposed 12.5 percent increase. The increase would cost city taxpayers about $15,000 more annually for street lighting and water pumping alone, Millar said.

Absentee voting begins Monday in TF

TWIN FALLS — Absentee voting in the May 21 school trustee election for Twin Falls District 411 will begin Monday.

Board Clerk J. T. Anderson said the law requires absentee balloting open not more than 30 days prior to election, making Monday the first business day for accepting votes.

Persons may vote absentee at the school district office on Main Avenue West during business hours prior to election day.

Two positions on the board will be filled incumbent Ruth Day is seeking re-election in zone 3, opposed by Douglas E. Egbert. Running unopposed in zone 4 is Tom Kieley, incumbent.

On May 21 voting will be from noon to 8 p.m. Voters of zone 3 vote at the Harrison Elementary School and those of zone 4 will vote in the Twin Falls High School.

School rodeo set for May 29-June 1

FILER — This year's Fifth District High School Rodeo is expected to be the largest ever held in Idaho, committee members said today.

The young cowboys and cowgirls will compete for district honors in the Filer fairgrounds arena May 29, 30, 31 and June 1. Winners will go to the state championships in Burley later in June.

Filer Kiwanis Club members have taken on the job of sponsoring Magic Valley's largest high school rodeo. John Woody will be chairman of the four-day event. There will be 19 high school teams taking part.

Some outstanding contestants from Magic Valley high schools will be seen in action during the Fifth District event.

Bessie Isaacs, Wendell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Isaacs, is the 1973 Idaho all-around cowgirl and will be defending her records of the past season. Randy Daines, Gooding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Val Daines, the 1973 district all-around cowboy, will be back as will Perry Fender, Jerome, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fender. She is 1973 district all-around cowgirl.

Betty Schnell, Rogerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Schnell, is the Idaho State High School rodeo queen and first runner-up in the national queen contest. She will appear during the district event.

Zeb Bell, rodeo committee member, said many people and business firms in Magic Valley are helping promote this year's district event.

US Steel's farm service and Elanco are "buying the gate" for the first performance May 29 and everyone will be admitted at no charge.

Each night's show will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Burley City Council opens bids

By ED MITCHELL
Times-News writer

BURLEY — Several bids for city equipment and contracted projects were opened at the Burley City Council meeting Monday night.

Holmes Construction Co., Hoyburn, was the apparent low bidder for an airport improvement project at Burley Municipal Airport with a bid of $24,500.

The bid will not be accepted until the city's engineers have time to check specifications; Holmes' bid was about 10 percent over engineer's estimates.

Tri-Bits Inc., Burley, was awarded the bid for a backhoe loader for the city electric department in the amount of $14,300.

The city purchased a new three-quarter-ton, four-wheel-drive pickup truck from Hanzel Motors Inc., Burley, with a low bid of $4,247.50.

Gordon Paving Co., Burley, was awarded the bid for a two-lane overlay on airport runways at a price per square yard of $1.20.

Gordon Paving Co. was the low bidder on the Burley City tennis court project, bidding $34,400.

The City Council had only budgeted $15,000 for the project but will consider the bid at the next council meeting. The council must work out budgetary limitations before a contract can be awarded.

The council approved the advertising of a public auction at 2 p.m. May 29 for the sale of the old city fire station and lot.

The council decided to purchase a new Cushman pickup for use by the city parks and recreation department. The vehicle will cost $1,985.

The council approved Mayor Charles Shaddock's appointments:

— Safety committee — Leon Beckle, Gary Beach, John Eberline, Jake Hodge, Thomas Grewell, Charles Krum and Garth Payne.

— planning commission — Cleo Criffield, Raymond Brown, Sylvan Burgl, Charles (Chuck) Skiggs.

— appeals board — Richard Bly, chairman, Clifford Clegg, Ted Stoffield, Mrs. Gerald Wyant and J.L. Salmon.

The council approved $400 for fireworks for the annual Fourth of July display. The fireworks will be set off from the river island near Scholer Park. The city did not have a fireworks display last year. Three new patrolmen were hired to the Burley City Police force. They are S. Paul Young, Gene Stern and Gene Rapp.
