Julie defends President

Careful choice

(New York Times Service)
WASHINGTON — President Nixon told his family Friday night he would not resign from office so long as at least one member of the Senate supported him, his daughter Julie Eisenhower said at a news conference Saturday.

Mrs. Eisenhower's statement was the first indication from the White House that Nixon had entertained a belief that the house might vote to impeach him. The President and his spokesmen have consistently said Nixon does not believe he will be impeached.

For the Senate to remove him from office after an impeachment trial, a two-thirds vote would be required. In other words, Nixon needs the support of 31 Senators to remain in office.

Mrs. Eisenhower, who with her husband, David, strongly defended the President in 40 minutes of questions, said the family met for dinner aboard the presidential yacht, the Sequoia, as Washington was swept by rumors that Nixon's resignation might be imminent. Asked if the crisis was discussed during the two-hour cruise on the Potomac, Mrs. Eisenhower said:

"Last night there were very great quotes, okay? He said he would take this Constitutionally down to the wire. He said he would go to the Senate and he said if there were one Senator that believed in him, that that is the way it would be."

The Eisenhowers spoke as Nixon was preparing to fly to Stillwater, Okla., to continue his public campaign against impeachment. He chose as a speaking forum this weekend Oklahoma State University, which is reported to have a conservative student body and which is situated in a state with two conservative Republican Senators, Henry L. Bellmon and Dewey F. Bartlett, both Nixon supporters whose help could be crucial in the impeachment battle.

Today's events were against a backdrop of an increasing erosion of support among Republicans who previously had supported Nixon. The President's remarks may well have been in response to a statement by Milton R. Young, R-N.D., who spoke of growing anti-Nixon sentiment.

Sooners greet Nixon warmly

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) — President Nixon flew to this college town Saturday night amid mounting demands for his resignation and told a friendly crowd greeting his arrival, "We never give up."

A crowd of perhaps 3,000 greeted Nixon at nearby Vance Air Force Base where the presidential party switched to helicopters to fly to Oklahoma State University.

"To go by and have people say, 'Hang in there, we're with you.' Believe me that does your heart good," the President told the air base crowd. "I have the old Okla. spirit — I got it deep down inside — we never give up."

After a 25 minute helicopter ride, the presidential party arrived at a practice field adjacent to Lewis Stadium where graduation exercises were held for OSU. One in the crowd manifested a sign saying, "Pope and Kennedy are usurping U.S. aid."

A crowd of 25,000 cheered as the President entered the stadium to address the graduating class of about 2,500. It was Nixon's first venture to a college campus in six months.

Portugal to push campaign
LOURENCO MARQUES, MOZAMBIQUE (UPI) — Portugal will continue to prosecute the 10-year-old war against black guerrillas in Mozambique and does not plan to grant independence to the East African territory, a visiting junta leader said Saturday.

Gen. Francisco de O. Gama, the Portuguese junta's number two man, told a news conference during his tour of Mozambique that the colony could expect autonomy only in a federation under the Portuguese flag.

Union asks nationwide Simplot goods boycott

By ED MITCHELL
Times-News writer
HEVYBURN — A nation-wide boycott against J. R. Simplot Co. products has been called by officials of the AFL-CIO.

The boycott is effective immediately, according to Larry Jackson, vice president of the American Federation of Grain Millers, a member union of the AFL-CIO. The union has been on strike at Simplot's Hevyrburn and Caldwell potato processing plants since May 2.

According to a statement by Jackson, Saturday, the boycott action was initiated by the Grain Millers' international office in Minneapolis, Minn., through the national AFL-CIO office, Washington, D.C., to establish a nation-wide boycott against Simplot products manufactured in Caldwell and Hevyrburn.

The statement said, "The current work stoppage is a direct result of the labor dispute between the American Federation of Grain Millers and the J. R. Simplot Co. involving disputes over wages, benefits and conditions of employment. The union requests cooperation from the public by not purchasing Simplot products at the above named locations until a respectable settlement is reached.

No negotiations are presently scheduled, Jackson said. Simplot and union officials met Wednesday in Burley but failed to reach an agreement.

Members of an independent union, the American Processing-Workers Union, crossed picket lines at the Hevyrburn plant Friday night to work the midnight shift. Pickets did not challenge the strike-breakers, but did photograph cars entering the gate. The number of members in the union has not been released by its officials.

Hazelton ousts councilman

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer
HAZELTON — A second Hazelton city councilman was recalled, and the mayor retained in voting Friday.

Councilman Hamilton lost his city council seat in a recall vote. The 68 vote margin exceeded the required simple majority for recall of the elected official.

Mayor Jimmy Dryden was retained by a 14 vote margin. In the special election 81 votes were cast for his continued service and 67 votes were cast to recall him. In a similar recall election May 3, Ellisworth Hershey was removed from his council post by a 14 vote margin.

A total of 148 votes was cast Friday, one of the largest totals recorded in any Hazelton election.

The recall elections climaxed opposing positions taken by the council members over a proposed city sewer project and the housing authority program.

Dryden said Saturday he was pleased with the vote and was glad "the situation is now resolved — officials called down to conducting city business."

"I am also grateful to Councilman Harry Kurtz who helped keep the city business going and accepted a great deal of responsibility that the two councilmen who were recalled refused to do," the mayor said.

Dryden said it was too bad the differences could not be resolved among the council members and the recall had to be held.

Mishap kills farmhand

HAZELTON — A farm worker was killed near here about 5:30 p.m. Saturday when the tractor he was driving overturned.

Isidro Rodriguez, 21, Mexico, was apparently driving a tractor down a steep hill pulling a load of sprinkler pipe when the tractor and trailer jack-knifed. The tractor overturned on top of Rodriguez who died instantly, according to Twin Falls County Coroner Cloyd Edwards.

The incident occurred about 25 miles north of Buhl in the Bell Rapids project. Rodriguez was employed by Ronald Isak, Twin Falls.

Edwards said it was not known if an inquest would be held into Rodriguez' death.

Riot ends celebration

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Annual "Human Kindness Day" festivities on the grounds of the Washington Monument ended Saturday night with a rock and bottle-throwing, looting of concession stands and beatings as a crowd which had numbered in the tens of thousands turned angry.

U.S. Park Police armed with tear gas pellets formed a line of men and horses and moved across the monument grounds to break up crowds of youths who threw bottles and shouted obscenities.

TF boy, 5, electrocuted

TWIN FALLS — A 5-year-old boy was electrocuted Friday night when an electric comb fell into the bathtub while he was bathing.

Christopher David Storm, 5, son of Mrs. Sue Stoner, was pronounced dead at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital by a physician on duty.

County Coroner Cloyd Edwards said the child was electrocuted when the comb, attached to a wall plug, either fell or was pulled into the bathtub by one of the children.

Mrs. Stoner had just put the child and his 3-year-old brother into the tub to take a bath, the family said, and stepped outside of the room when the younger boy screamed.

The Twin Falls Fire Department and the police department were called but officers and firemen were unable to save the child. Edwards said he believed the little boy was dead before he left the home by police car for the hospital.

The accident occurred about 8 a.m.

Members of the family said both boys were in the tub of water at the time but the younger child was apparently far enough away to escape the current.

Edwards said such tragedies frequently occur in homes and said all electrical appliances and even light switches and radios should be out of reach of the bathtub at all times.

Mrs. Stoner had just moved back to Twin Falls and was making her home temporarily with her mother, Peggy Laley. The child's father was killed in a traffic accident in 1969.

Plea bargain ban proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Ogden Reid, D-N.Y., said Saturday he will introduce legislation next week barring President Nixon from plea bargaining to escape possible prosecution in exchange for his resignation.

Mishap kills ex-MV child

BOISE — Scott Zimmerman, 7, former Magic Valley resident, was killed Thursday in Boise when a pile of ceiling joists weighing about a ton, fell on him.

Zimmerman, the son of Mrs. Shirley Olsen, Boise, and Jeff Zimmerman, Jerome, was apparently playing on a pile of joists at a construction site with some friends when a pile tumbled over, pinning the boy to the ground.

Funeral services and burial will be in Buhl Monday. (Obituary, p. 2)

Burley boy, 2, killed

BURLEY — A 2-year old boy died Saturday when he was run over by a car.

Cassia County sheriff's officers identified the boy as Jason Woodbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orin Woodbury, Burley. Officers said he was playing in the driveway of the home of his grandparents when the accident occurred about 12:30 p.m.

The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Woodbury, live in rural Cassia County.

Officers said a member of the family, visiting at the Woodbury home, backed a car from the driveway without seeing the child and accidentally drove over him. The name of the driver was withheld by officers.

Deputies said the child apparently died instantly when the vehicle passed over his head; the body was taken to Payne Mortuary.

There's a special kind of remembering Mom today

By ZEDRO ARANOW
(c) Newhouse News Service

There is a special kind of remembering on the second Sunday in May for mothers-in-the-middle.

It has nothing to do with the carefully cultivated commercial reminders that have made Mother's Day a highlight on business charts. It's unrelated to flowers and cards, slippers and pant suits — all the pat little presents that quiet a conscience that reproaches for the too little time spent with a mother during the year.

It is in the middle that you remember. When you are in the middle, you remember. When you are in the middle, you remember. When you are in the middle, you remember.

It looks so different from the other side. She was so lucky, you thought then. She could stay up as late as she wanted to at night. You could hear her going downstairs in company, after she firmly turned out the bedroom light without letting you finish the story you were reading.

And you could hear footsteps down the stairs and laughter drifting up from the living room.

Now you know most of her evenings were spent finishing up kitchen work, putting up a last load of laundry, mending one more torn jacket, and suddenly being too tired to finish her own book.

She could dress any way she wanted to, buy a new dress whenever she felt like it, even though she hadn't outgrown her old dresses.

Now you know how long she weighed the merits of new sneakers for rapidly sprouting young feet against the importance of her own shabby coat, and how often she decided the coat could serve another season.

Nothing was beyond her reach: When Dad came home from work, the family car could take her anywhere.

Now you know how carefully she pieced together food shopping and dentist's appointment with a visit to the repair shop because the car had to be bailed along. There wouldn't be money for a new one.

'Won't quit,' Nixon repeats

Addressing the graduates in what was repeatedly stressed as a nonpolitical occasion, Nixon spoke of his hopes for lasting peace, prosperity and independence for the nation in coming years.
He made only one reference to his Watergate problems, saying in the introduction to his speech that he was aware Americans "have been concerned, as I have been deeply concerned, by the political problems that we have had in Washington."
His voice trembling as he was briefly interrupted by catcalls, Nixon declared: "I can only say on this nonpolitical occasion, this—that having presented all of this evidence to the Congress of the United States, that I trust that the House of Representatives will reach a decision so that the President, the Congress agree on with the people's business as we should."
His comment was loudly cheered.
The crowd of 25,000 gave Nixon a solid, warm reception.

as he entered Lewis Stadium for the commencement speech to Oklahoma State's 2,500 graduates.
He was introduced by U.S. President Robert D. Kumm and said he assumed everyone present was "aware of the current problem" now confronting the President, Kamam told Nixon. "We accord you the affection and respect that is due one who has given so much of himself to public service."
A few years waited down from the University of Idaho started to speak, and he took note of them by saying, "There are some here who obviously disapprove of the speaker and some who approve." The loud applause.
After the speech, Nixon returned to the AFBI for the return flight to Washington aboard the presidential jet.

Honored graduate

JAN R. OLSEN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Olsen, Twin Falls, has graduated from the University of Idaho with top honors in French and music. He received a special music award, has written several musical scores and played with the University Jazz Band.

Jerome farmers query Hansen

JEROME — About 90 Jerome County residents, including some critical National Farm Organization members, met Friday with U.S. Congressman Orval Hansen, R-Idaho.
Hansen, accompanied by Dr. Walter A. Guntharp, head of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Development Service, were in Jerome for an informal meeting with farm groups.
This was one of a series of meetings with agricultural representatives around Idaho.
Several NFO members in the audience asked Hansen about reports the Russians and for the American wheat with American money. NFO members "charged" the American dollars received in exchange for the wheat were "not worth anything."
Asked why the payments were not made in gold or silver, Hansen said he could not answer the question.
He said the wheat deal was not handled by the federal government, but rather by a number of large dealers.
Another question in which an NFO member alleged the federal reserve banks, "representing only a few rich people" are being allowed to run the country. Hansen said at this time the federal reserve banks are not subject to political pressure.
"I would be nice if the banks never made any mistakes and could keep inflation down, but the problems are not that simple," Hansen said.
John Miller, NFO member, asked about the loss of some 8 million farm families from the agricultural scene in the past 25 years.
Dr. Guntharp said poor farm prices were the farm's larger "problem" because it is less expensive to use machines than people.
Dr. Guntharp said a farmer with a $10,000 gross income must look to off-farm income for 64 per cent of his livelihood and there is a need for stronger relationships between the rural and urban elements of Idaho communities.
Hansen told the farmers meat imports do not appear a real threat to the local livestock industry and prices for Idaho cattlemen. He said meat consumption is increased in all countries and the United States has been importing a small percentage of total meat consumption.
Hansen also said he was not aware of difficulties holding up reconstruction work of American Falls Dam, but said he would check into the matter to see if the problems can be resolved.

ADA repeats call for impeachment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), the virtual left wing of the Democratic party, Saturday reaffirmed their call for President Nixon's impeachment and added that if he resigns, he should not be granted any immunity from future prosecution.
Charging that Nixon should be impeached for "gross offenses against the Constitution, and in particular for crimes punishable under the criminal code of the United States," ADA said in a resolution that in the event the President resigns, neither state nor federal prosecutors should extend any form of immunity to Mr. Nixon.
"In order to devote his full time and energies to defending himself before the Senate," ADA said.

Andrus speaks at CSI event

TWIN FALLS — Gov. Cecil Andrus will address graduates of the eighth annual commencement at the College of Southern Idaho at 2 p.m. today.

Graduates will receive their degrees during exercises in the health and physical education building on the campus. A total of 281 students are eligible for graduation but only about 200 to 250 will receive the degrees, college officials estimate.

John Hepworth, chairman of the CSI board of trustees, will welcome graduates and guests. Dr. Paul T. Smith, academic dean, will present candidates for associate of arts and associate of science degrees; Cyril L. Bradley, vocational director, will present candidates for associate of applied science degrees, and Dr. James L. Taylor, president of the college will confer the degrees.

Refreshments for the graduates, parents, friends and faculty members will be served in the multi-use building cafeteria immediately after commencement exercises.

Other participants in the service include Phyllis E. O'Leary, secretary, professional; Laura Brandon, soloist who will sing the national anthem, and Rev. Albert E. Allen, Episcopal Church of the Ascension, invocation. (See list of graduates on p. 10)

Tickets needed

TWIN FALLS — Tickets are required to attend commencement exercises at Twin Falls High School this year.

Senior class members will be given tickets for parents, relatives and friends attending the ceremonies.

People in the community who would like to attend the exercises may pick up tickets from Dean Richard Batson's office at the school. Tickets are not necessary for baccalaureate services.

Graduation slated at TF high school

(See related story p. 16)

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls High School graduating class of 1974 announces commencement exercises May 20 at 8 p.m., in Bruin Stadium, weather permitting.

L. L. (Buzz) Langdon, KMYT television, will address the graduates at commencement. Tammy Casperson and Lorri Mink will lead the pledge of allegiance. District 411 Supt. George Staudacher and Assst. Supt. Casander Meyer will present the valedictory and salutatory awards. Members of the board of trustees will present the diplomas.

Senior class president Pat Keegan will close the ceremonies by giving a response for the class.

Baccalaureate services will begin May 19 at 2:30 p.m. in the senior high school gymnasium. The baccalaureate speaker will be Father John Kocich of the St. Nicholas Rectory, Rupert.

Invocation will be given by Lorri Mink, treasurer, with Scripture reading by Tammy Casperson, secretary. The Madrigals, under the direction of Richard Snack will sing. Pat Keegan, class president, will introduce Father Kocich. Benediction will be given by Gary Stuart, vice-president. Processional and recessional marches will be played by the Twin Falls High School Symphonette, under the direction of Del Slaughter.

Senior citizens set 2 TF events

TWIN FALLS — More than 1,000 senior citizens are expected in Twin Falls Thursday and Friday for two events.

They are the Festival of Heritage Arts Thursday and the annual State Conference on Aging Friday.

The events are being sponsored cooperatively by the Idaho Office on Aging, the Idaho Arts Commission, Boise State University, the College of Southern Idaho and various senior citizens programs, according to Nancy Taylor, director of the Helmed Senior Volunteer Program.

The second annual statewide senior citizen talent contest is scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday in the CSI Fine Arts auditorium, with exhibits of handicrafts and paintings to be on display in the CSI gym both days.

The Arts for Idaho's Senior Citizens project of Boise State University has arranged for special entertainment at the CSI auditorium at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Thursday as part of the Heritage Arts festival.

The 1974 State Conference on Aging begins at 9 a.m. Friday with Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, the speaker in the morning session. Gov. Cecil Andrus will speak in the afternoon and chair the workshop. Summary presentations. Rep. Orval Hansen R-Idaho will be the luncheon speaker. Workshop sessions will be held on legislation, transportation, nutrition, health, employment, legal services, information and referral and biennial plans.

CSI and the Jerome Senior Citizens have arranged for bus tours to points of interest both Thursday morning and afternoon. Breakfast, lunch and dinner will be served in the dining room of the students union building. Books of poetry and recipes will be on sale in the lobby of the fine arts building.

Senator sets talk

TWIN FALLS — U. S. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, will address the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club luncheon Thursday at noon.

The club meets in the Turf Club. Church will be in Twin Falls for a US Senate special committee hearing on aging. Sen. Church is chairman of the committee.

Blaine school plans readied

HAILEY — Site plans, building specifications and final drawings can hopefully be completed next week on the proposed Wood River High School.

Ed Peterson, CETA Architects, Twin Falls, presented several high school site plans to the Blaine County school board last week outlining advantages and disadvantages.

A bond proposal for the new high school plus additions to Hemingway Elementary, Belleme Elementary, Carey School, plus remodeling plans on the Wood River Junior High and Elementary School, passed this spring.

Target date for completion of the high school has been set for fall of 1976. Peterson said his firm could set designs and complete on-site surveys in about three months on all the schools.

Weather, drainage and construction factors were presented to the board last week. CTA architects will work in Blaine County to get the plans into working condition by the end of next week.

Peterson said a special effort has been made to get the plans completed.

Recently the Bureau of Land Management notified the Blaine County school district that "its" request for reclassification of BLM land adjacent to the Woodstie development has been given initial approval.

If the reclassification passes administrative review, the school district may purchase acres of BLM land at $2.50 an acre.

Tour set

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners will tour public lands in Twin Falls County May 23 with the Bureau of Land Management.

Purpose of the tour will be to inspect landfills, check their use and possible future landfill locations.

Commissioners said they would like the BLM officials from Burley and Boise to inspect the county's landfills and see what kind of operations are being conducted.

Chairmen named

TWIN FALLS — Division chairmen have been appointed for the 1974 United Way Campaign.

Tom Stivers, campaign chairman, announced.

This year's chairmen include: Fred Frazier, special gifts; Marilyn Jensen, speakers bureau; Jack Muldoon, report meetings; Bill Hanes, special gifts; Pat Harder, personnel and organization; Buzz Langdon, special events; Hazel Wilder, commercial division; Bob McElfresh, loaned executives; Ross Prather, professional; and Clayton Rind, public relations.

Fred Frazier, president of this year's United Way campaign, expressed his appreciation for progress made on the time schedule this year at a planning session of the steering committee last week.

He said the overall organization was about 30 days ahead of last year's schedule.

Alcohol abused

BOISE (UPI) — The state drug-abuse plan shows that alcohol is the most widely abused drug in Idaho and accounts for two-thirds of all drug-related deaths.

Marijuana is the second most abused drug.

It estimated there are about 33,000 alcoholics in Idaho and 36,000 persons who occasionally or regularly use marijuana.

The 1,125-page report was prepared by the Department of Environmental and Community Services in quality control federal project for drug related programs.

Surveys conducted to prepare the report said that transient and tourist populations present a significant drug abuse problem in the state, particularly in Sun Valley and other ski areas where young people congregate.

The surveys indicated marijuana is the second-most abused substance in the state, followed by LSD.

The report said the social and health problems associated with alcohol abuse affect the greatest number of persons who receive services of DECS.

Alcohol was listed as a significant cause for families seeking welfare as a result of legal separation, desertion or divorce.

Schedule given at county dump

TWIN FALLS — Summer hours are now in effect at all Twin Falls County sanitary landfills.

Darrell Heider, county sanitation officer, said all sanitary landfills of the county will open at 8 a.m. and close at 2 p.m. on weekdays. On Saturdays the facilities operate from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sunday from noon to 3 p.m.

Heider said the landfills close on holidays with the next closure being May 27.

Memorial Day. He said residents are using the landfills and the only major problem has been failure of persons hauling trash and debris to the landfills to cover their loads.

He said many roads along the routes to the landfill sites are being littered as the yards and fields of those living along the roads.

Heider urged persons to cover their loads to prevent scattering trash.

This year's chairmen include: Fred Frazier, special gifts; Marilyn Jensen, speakers bureau; Jack Muldoon, report meetings; Bill Hanes, special gifts; Pat Harder, personnel and organization; Buzz Langdon, special events; Hazel Wilder, commercial division; Bob McElfresh, loaned executives; Ross Prather, professional; and Clayton Rind, public relations.

Fred Frazier, president of this year's United Way campaign, expressed his appreciation for progress made on the time schedule this year at a planning session of the steering committee last week.

How to get twice as much heat as you put in

IT REALLY WORKS WITH AN ELECTRIC HEAT PUMP

Talk about saving energy! The technical explanation is rather complicated, but it's true that efficiencies of 200 percent are not unusual in our area for the electric heat pump.

That's because the heat pump, working on the same principle as your refrigerator, pumps heat from outside air—even when temperatures are below freezing—and uses it to warm your home. In the summer the process is reversed for cooling. Sounds crazy all right, but it works.

The result is not only energy saving, but the right kind of energy saving! In our area electricity comes almost entirely from hydro power. Later some of it will come from coal. Both of these energy sources conform to national goals to save scarce petroleum based products.

With every heat pump installation, insulation should be brought up to Idaho Power's recommended energy saving standards. There are now several reliable heat pumps on the market. To learn whether this exceptionally efficient method of heating and cooling would serve your needs, call your local Idaho Power Company office.

Richard Nixon

Richard Nixon must leave the Presidency of the United States. He must leave voluntarily, or be removed.

Richard Nixon is not at home in America. Americans, warts and all, are a decent people. They make up a community of people who, despite their differences, share values, traditions, customs and a sense of history.

Americans often fall short of their high goals. Their naive good intentions and wholesomeness often are ridiculed by others, but seldom denied. American is a society with shared bonds of decency.

Richard Nixon is not at home in this America. As revealed in edited transcripts of White House conversations he has chosen to let us see, the private Richard Nixon does not share in the common American dream.

His countrymen may not have a right to expect their President to be much better than they, but they will not long tolerate a President who is much worse.

Despite his important achievements, Richard Nixon steps from the pages of the transcripts as a morally empty man following an alien code of conscience. The central value demonstrated in his White House is "what can we get away with - how will it look."

We encounter a weak, shifty man who adjusts himself to the standards of his assistants.

We meet a suspicious and vengeful man who seeks to punish his enemies with the agencies of government.

We find a scheming man who suggests how others may commit perjury in his defense.

And we discover a man who approves large criminal payments to silence a dangerous witness.

Consider a few glimpses of the private man set forth in just one of the transcripts. It covers a White House meeting on March 21, 1973, at which payment of hush-money is under consideration.

NIXON: How much money do you need? DEAN: I would say these people are going to cost a million dollars over the next two years.

NIXON: We could get that. On the money, if you need the money, you could get that. You could get a million dollars. You could get it in cash. I know where it could be gotten. It's not easy, but it could be done. But the question is who the hell would handle it? Any ideas on that?

DEAN: That's right, Well, I think that is something that Mitchell ought to be charged with.

NIXON: I would think so too. DEAN: And get some press to help him.

NIXON: Let me say there shouldn't be a lot of people running around getting money.

NIXON: Just looking at the immediate problem, don't you think you have to handle Hunt's financial situation damn soon?

DEAN: I think that is I talked with Mitchell about that last night and...

NIXON: It seems to me we have to keep the cap on the... DEAN: That's right.

NIXON: Either that or it all blows right now.

DEAN: Well I have been a conduit for information on taking care of people out there who are guilty of crimes.

NIXON: Oh, you mean like the blackmailers?

DEAN: The blackmailers. Right.

NIXON: Well, I wonder if that part of it can't be I wonder if that doesn't - let me put it frankly, I wonder if that doesn't have to be continued? Let me put it this way: let us suppose that you get the million bucks, and you get the proper way to handle it. You could hold that side?

DEAN: Uh, huh.

NIXON: It would seem to me that would be worthwhile.

DEAN: What I am coming in today with is: I don't have a plan on how to solve it right now, but I think it is at the juncture that we should begin to think in terms of how to cut the losses; how to minimize the further growth of this thing, rather than further compound it by, you know, ultimately saying these guys forever. I think we've got to look...

NIXON: But at the moment, don't you agree it is better to get the Hunt thing that's where that...

DEAN: That is worth buying time on.

NIXON: That is buying time, I agree.

DEAN: They're going to stonewall it, as it now stands. Excepting Hunt. That's why his threat.

HAL DEAN: It's just opportunity.

NIXON: That's why for some immediate things you have no choice but to come up with the $120,000, or whatever it is, right?

DEAN: That's right.

NIXON: Would you agree that that's the prime thing that you damn well better get that done?

DEAN: Obviously he ought to be given some signal anyway.

PRESIDENT: (Expletive deleted); get it.

We have met a vacant man, empty of the morality shared by most of his countrymen. Americans sensitive to the values and traditions of their society will read the Nixon transcripts with revulsion and disgust.

Again and again one question comes to mind: "Is this really my President?" America is not at home with Richard Nixon. The Office of the President of the United States has become a moral wasteland, a court of hollow men. America deserves better.

White House appears out of touch with reality

WASHINGTON - Suspicious that the Nixon White House is dangerously out of touch with reality in its handling of the impeachment issue, reached a new high just before the President's April 29 televised address...

In an elaborate presentation in the cabinet room, undisclosed until now, Gen. Alexander Haig, the White House chief of staff, played a segment from one of the tapes to astonished members of the Nixon cabinet.

It was a fantastic meeting, one official told us. Haig said release of the 1,300-page transcript would prove the President's innocence in any Watergate cover-up role. Then, after a thumbnail description of what Nixon would tell the nation, Haig flicked on a White House tape machine, turned up the volume and let the tape run for two minutes. He did not identify the tape.

Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz, solemn-faced, while the Nixon cabinet was treated to what one called "a series of unintelligible screaming noises."

Haig said the tape, in question had been prepared by White House technicians for maximum audibility.

EVANS & NOVAK

Around the table there was silence. One cabinet member whispered a question about the release of the tapes: "Why didn't they do this months ago?"

But Haig himself was asked no leading questions.

That cabinet meeting, with the President himself not there, marked only the second time the cabinet had been briefed in advance of a Nixon Watergate statement. The first was April 30, last year, just before Nixon fired H. R. Haldeman, John Ehrlichman and John Dean.

This appearance inside the White House of being out of touch with reality, moreover, led to major confusion about the President's decision on the release of new Watergate tapes to special Watergate prosecutor J. Edgar Hoover.

Then on Monday, St. Clair's request for a postponement of court action on Jaworski's subpoena for 64 more Watergate-related tapes convinced the prosecutor's office that a deal was in the works.

Granting the postponement, Federal Judge John J. Sirica said its purpose was to give St. Clair more time to arrange "possible compliance" with Jaworski's subpoena.

But the House is uncertain, possibly because House members are more susceptible to the wiles of lobbyists for special interest groups.

But the House also will hear from lobbyists for the bill, including Aetna and State Farm insurance companies, and the AFL-CIO. From here, no-fault seems to have a fighting chance.

But one day later, St. Clair made a bitter reversal, reiterating the original White House rigidly on "no choice" Watergate tapes to Jaworski or any "other" compliance.

In short, the tape playback for Nixon's cabinet was only one more ominous shadow of the unruly pervading this presidency. It marked a new high in fantasy.

Taping should be crime, all tapes destroyed

It was back when Harry Truman was resisting Congressional committees in 1949. A Justice Department official named Herman Wolkinson drafted memoranda under the general title "Demands of Congressional Committees for Executive Papers."

It became, when a few years later, President Eisenhower was resisting the demands of Senator McCarthy's investigating committee, the authoritative source for all arguments exempting the executive from certain kinds of cooperation with the legislature, and the term "executive privilege" was born.

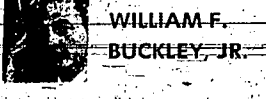

The trouble is the legal memoranda were, on the whole, historical flounders, as Professor Raoul Berger points out in his book, "Executive Privilege."

The guys are trained now, and every time Richard Nixon opens his mouth to say something about the sacred presidential precedents he is observing, he is quickly and, sad to say, most conclusively, shut down. It turns out now that every President since Washington has taken the position that his papers are immune to inspection by Congressional committees looking into possible grounds for impeachment - but exactly the opposite from that. Every president before whom the subject of impeachment arises had certain kinds of confidentiality except when the question of impeachment has arisen.

But it is not too much to say, with some confidence, that men as keen-minded as "Jay" Jefferson and Madison, would have drawn a distinction between a obligation to furnish all documentary evidence necessary to deliberate the question of impeachment and such evidence as we now have before us: the stammered musings of a president, in association with his closest associates, is soon shuffling the cards over and over again trying to deal out an orderly deck.

Permit me the thought that it was monstrous to ask that Nixon's tapes be made public. And that it was monstrous for Nixon to make them public. The assault on the private man is not worth it.

Such is the general exaltation, I am waiting to hear it said now by an inflamed presidential prosecutor that henceforth it should be required that presidents tape all their conversations so that future committees on impeachment can satisfy themselves should the question arise that presidential consideration of this or another problem was conducted according to standards deemed seemly by Congress. Now that we have the technology for recording presidential conversations why has it not occurred to anyone to suggest that Nixon take a lie detector test? They talk about the "best evidence" rules, is there better evidence than the objective intentions of the President? If we are willing to tape his conversations, why not his mind?

Anthony Lewis, probably the premier prosecutor of Richard Nixon in the world of journalism, would of course run into his own tracks going the other way on this invitation to the violation of privacy: Richard Nixon is his Mobey Dick, and my own guess is that if Captain Abah had disposed of tactical nuclear weapons, he'd have stuck one in his harpoon and fired it off at the white whale without a moment's hesitation.

But then, of course, Captain Abah didn't have to reveal the tracery of his thought three times a week before a large audience. When in a pinch he would just set his jaw and look out philosophically over the poop deck.

The direction to take, surely, is back towards the restoration of a degree of presidential privacy. To tape presidential conversations should be made a felony if done by someone other than the president, and if done by him, an impeachable offense.

All bill tapes should be destroyed, like poison gas, and chemical warfare pellets - with which the tapes are aptly compared.

Scenario for setback proposed: basement fire

WASHINGTON - The key word that keeps popping up in the transcripts of the presidential tapes is "scenario."

The President and his aides kept coming up with a "scenario" for every setback in the Watergate case.

The one scenario they never constructed, and the most vital one in my opinion, is what they should have done when Alexander Butterfield disclosed the Oval had taped everyone who came into the Oval office. If I had been the President I would have advised this is how I would have handled it: I'll be a-D and the President will be P.

B. Mr. President, Butterfield just blew the whistle on the tapes. P. (Oh, fudge, deleted) B. I think we better game plan this right away. P. (Gee willikers! deleted) What do you suggest we do? B. They're going to demand those tapes. You can let your sweet (in)audible on that. We have the following options: (A) We turn them over; (B) we refuse to turn them over or (C) we have burning some old cables. P. (Golly gumdrops! deleted) Suppose the boiler comes out and says he smells smoke also? B. You tell him to mind his own (expletive deleted) business and go back to bed. P. Hmmm. You know there are a heckuva deleted lot of tapes in the basement. What happens when the fire department is called? They could put out the fire right away and save the tapes. B. You stall them in the Rose Garden and tell them how proud you are of the fire fighters of America and how much it means to you to have them come to the White House at that hour in the morning. P. So while I'm reading the speech the fire in the basement is going full blast? B. Right. Now for safety, what we ought to do is have you present each fireman with a scroll expressing the gratitude of this nation for the work they are doing. You could sign each one in front of them. This should give us enough time to burn up every thing you ever made. P. (Yipped dee doo dat deleted) I could go on television the next day and say how distraught I am that these tapes, which would have proved my innocence, have gone up in smoke. But I can promise to turn over all my notes of these conversations which will show I knew nothing about Watergate or the cover-up. Without the tapes we've got the darn Watergate committee by the tail's whiskers deleted.

Good work, Art. Oh, there is one more thing. How'd the fire start in the first place? B. John Dean was sneaking a smoke in the basement, and he threw his cigarette on the tapes. P. (Laughter) I like it. Let's see how it plays in (blinky deleted) Phoenix.

Few hints appear roughest times may be past

By NEA-London Economist News Service
WASHINGTON — (I.E.N.S.) — Taking all things together, the first three months of 1974 were the worst quarter for the American economy since the Second World War.

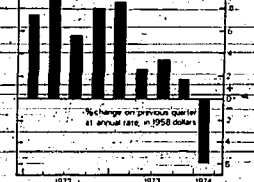

Total output, as measured by the gross national product, has occasionally declined during recessions by more than the 5.8 per cent, at an annual rate, of the quarter just ended.

The unemployment rate has frequently been higher than the 5.1 per cent of the labor force now being registered.

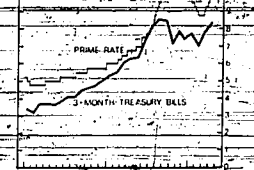

Inflation has, once or twice during wars, even exceeded the 14.3 per cent annual rate of consumer price inflation that marked the first quarter of 1974.

But never before have all these things coincided as they have just done. And to round off the picture, some interest rates, such as the prime lending rate of the commercial banks to large business borrowers, have reached record levels: the United States now has "double-digit" interest rates, with the prime at 10 1/2 per cent, to go with double-digit inflation.

Changes in gnp

Short-term interest rates

Consumer prices

No one is yet generally sanguine about the economy and the outlook for it, as just measured by the University of Michigan survey, has taken its biggest drop on record.

There is also a fair degree of uncertainty among economists, government officials and others who try to look ahead. But the prevailing view is not gloomy.

While everyone, from liberal Democrats in Congress to the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, is generally and deeply troubled by inflation, among the professional economic forecasters the predominant view is that the decline in output, at least, will be brief and limited largely to sectors affected by the oil shock and the price of energy.

This school includes, but is certainly not limited to, the official forecasters in the government, who see no need for new stimulus to the economy.

For inflation, while forecasts differ and forecasters have a new humility, the prevailing hunch is that there will be some improvement in the picture before the end of the year, and possibly a reduction in the rate of inflation to well under half that of the first quarter.

Aggressive declines in car sales and production was the dominant factor in the decline of the GNP in the first quarter, with a reinforcing element, the drop in house building that began last summer as interest rates rose. But both of these sectors apparently have, to use the largest, "bottomed out."

Gasoline is once again fairly easy to buy and this has apparently begun to spur car sales, including even those of the larger models; several of the producers have reopened once.

The evidence on housing is not conclusive, and the surprising upward spurt of interest rates clouds the outlook further. But the figures for the past four months suggest that the number of houses on which work has begun has hit bottom with annual rate of about 54,000.

With underlying demand strong for demographic reasons alone, the general forecast is that residential construction is more likely to rise than to fall further.

Consumer spending, after that last oil crisis and buy-outs have been slugged but not downright weak. Investment by business in plant and facilities continues strong, though not as strong as the inflation-swollen dollar figures might suggest. Government spending is on the rise, but the rate of increase is slow, and it will not be as good as last year's, is not likely to provide a pronounced negative effect. All this has led government, and also many private, forecasters to the conclusion that the second quarter will be approximately flat and that the second half will show a recovery of sorts.

Fairly typical is the latest forecast of Data Resources, Inc., headed by Otto Eckstein, who was a member of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers: "The new evidence on the American economy suggests that this business cycle is near its trough and that the economy may already be beginning its upturn."

While everyone, from liberal Democrats in Congress to the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, is generally and deeply troubled by inflation, among the professional economic forecasters the predominant view is that the decline in output, at least, will be brief and limited largely to sectors affected by the oil shock and the price of energy.

AMERICAN ECONOMY

The problem of inflation is another matter. Even those who look for significantly less inflation later this year are deeply troubled by the longer-term outlook. The most encouraging part of the immediate situation is the stabilization of the price of many commodities, with an actual decline since February in the prices of farm products.

With any kind of luck in this year's harvests, not only will there be record crops but there should be a significant slowdown in the terrifying rise of food prices; in March they were 21 per cent above those a year earlier.

Many problems remain. The prices of hundreds of things people buy still do not reflect fully the huge increase in costs, particularly of raw materials, last year; this is partly because price control did exert at least some restraining effect. The price controls ended on April 30.

Decontrol will bring a huge, of unknown magnitude to the price indices; to a considerable extent this has already begun.

Possibly more ominous is the wages picture. Neither side in the recent peaceful settlement in the steel industry will publish any figures on its cost and, indeed, with a cost-of-living escalator clause for wages included in the three-year contract, no exact figure is possible. But it is estimated that the increase in total costs to the employer for each hour of work may rise 40 per cent by the end of the three-year period.

If the Administration and the Federal Reserve Board have their way, and they probably will, there will be no new attempt to stimulate the economy by a tax reduction, by higher government spending or by significantly easier monetary policy.

Some leading Democrats in Congress, supported by several prominent economists, such as Walter Heller, have urged an early cut in taxes but this seems unlikely to occur.

As for the central bank, it is showing great courage if nothing else. Because of inflation, which the chairman of the Fed's Board of Governors, Arthur Burns, terms of "the Latin American type," it has been forced to follow the expansionary policy which is customary at a time of falling output and rising unemployment.

This cautious policy, together with an unexpectedly large demand for credit from business, has led to the steep run-up in short-term interest rates in the central bank. It may be that the money market has overreacted to the Federal Reserve policy — which is certainly not overly restrictive — but in any case it is evident that curtailing inflation is the central bank's top priority.

The best that can be hoped for is, apparently, an inflation rate in the range of 5 per cent by the end of the year, which, in former times would have been considered downright dreadful. It would still be much better than what is happening just now.

Emperor's words unveil humor, new image

TOKYO (UPI) — Emperor Hirohito said defeat World War II that his fleet could not even defeat the U.S. Navy in war games played on maps, according to a book published in Japan this week.

"Record of the Emperor's Words" (Tenno Gokoku) is a book of hundreds of quotations attributed to the Japanese monarch during his 47-year reign.

Compiled from old newspapers, aides' diaries and testimony at postwar trials of Japanese leaders, it contains Hirohito's observations on the war, the atomic bombing of Hiroshima and the problems of buying presents for his children.

"It unveils a 'dry, sarcastic sense of humor, that is not part of his public image in Japan."

"I hear that every time they have a war on maps over at the Navy college, we usually lose to America," Hirohito told a cabinet meeting in September, 1940, more than a year before the Pearl Harbor attack. The meeting had touched on the possibility of war with America.

The book later quotes the emperor as telling Gen. Douglas MacArthur that it would have been impossible for him to check the Japanese army's war schemes.

"If I hadn't given permission, they quickly would have set up another emperor," Hirohito is quoted as saying.

When a general in September, 1941 promised victory in three months in a war with America, Hirohito reminded him that Japan already had been fighting China for four years.

"You say the interior of China is a big place, but isn't the Pacific Ocean even bigger?" the emperor retorted.

Several of the quotations disclose worry over the jealous rivalry between the Japanese army and navy.

"We can't help it that things have turned out this way," he said to an aide one week before the Pearl Harbor bombing. "Now please try somehow to get the navy and the army to cooperate with each other."

Hirohito's vein of sarcasm was at its richest when Gen. James Doolittle's B-29 bombers struck the emperor's first raid on Tokyo at noon on April 18, 1942.

"Maybe this ought not to be happening," the emperor told an official who rushed in with the news. "The navy minister was just over here, and said if there were any air raids they'd be at night. The navy minister was being bombed. Let's get out of here quickly."

Hirohito's initial reaction to the Hiroshima atomic bombing was: "Since weapons of this type are now being used, it is more than ever impossible to continue the war."

The Hiroshima attack found Japan's government divided between politicians who wanted to surrender and army diehards who wanted to fight to the end.

And the dramatic conditions created by the atomic bombing, the emperor's role was not dominant, the emperor said MacArthur about a month after the 1945 surrender ended the war.

When Crown Prince Akihito graduated from primary school seven months after the war, Hirohito said he should be given an old camera from the peace phage at the central bank.

"For the crown prince, that will be suitable," the emperor said. "He shouldn't be given expensive or splendid things in the future."

Another quotation indicates Hirohito issued an order, never carried out, that America, Britain and the Netherlands were to be accorded a formal declaration of war before Pearl Harbor was attacked.

After the war, a new constitution stripped the emperor of his power and made him a ceremonial symbol of state. When he heard news that a general election had ended with the political party getting a majority in parliament, he remarked: "Well, democracy is like that."

New ag districts outlined

Editor, Times-News: Something is occurring in the state of New York that should command the attention of the people of Twin Falls County and in a broader sense, the people of Idaho.

One of the serious zoning ordinances and variances granted until the whole concept of orderly development and value protection is lost to speculators and developers, the people, both urban and rural, joined to create by state legislation the right to form "Agricultural Districts."

These districts are formed in strict compliance with EPA regulations, with the Agricultural Resources Commission and the Office of Planning, Services.

Public hearings must be held and all phases of use and development weighed. The success of the program is attested by the fact that in one county 75 per cent of all productive lands will be so distributed by the end of 1974.

In another 95 per cent of commercial farms and residences are within 21 districts already formed. The value of such land control is evident in the fact that urban and rural desires and usage can exist to the betterment of both.

Public agencies must justify any commercial development and must obtain permission of the district. The city dweller who wishes to enjoy country living is assured that no used car lot, fertilizer plant, lumberyard can, by placing key-men on a zoning board, move into the countryside and destroy the value he has created. The farmer is likewise protected in his home and productive plant. Only by consent of the district can a variance be granted.

This information goes on to tell that over 1 million acres in 117 districts have been or are in the process of being approved in New York State.

It would seem from this acceptance in another state that Idaho might well inquire into the procedures involved.

Only a strong and respected farm organization can undertake the time and cost of creating a plan of orderly development to put legislators and laying the groundwork for acceptance within a county.

It is just as important to convince the urban resident or businessman that values can be protected on both sides while moving forward without exploitation by a favored few.

For those interested parties additional information may be had by correspondence with the Agricultural Resources Specialist, Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.

When we view the horrible mess that has developed throughout the countryside adjacent to any of our major cities and extending for miles along beautiful country highways where asphalt-paved used car lots and junk implement yards have literally destroyed both farm and residential values, then we may grasp the need for something better than toothless zoning boards that can, and are, packed and oriented toward wherever the profit is greatest.

Solon's record questioned

Editor, Times-News: You, Times-News, editorial of April 16 stated that the honesty of Orval Hansen is a wonderful thing to have in Congress. I agree that we need honesty, but I think Orval Hansen is more than dedicated to saving American taxpayers.

He is dedicated to representing thousands of serving America. He said he voted against the congressional pay raise against his personal convictions, apparently because it is humiliating to be getting only $42,500 yearly when others beneath him are getting the same wage.

Congressman Hansen's other votes in Congress to raise the debt ceiling, to promote international development programs, to provide more foreign aid, and to allow credit loans to the Soviet Union prove he is not concerned or knowledgeable about what causes the inflation, which he says is our foremost problem.

He says that wage-price controls are not the way to control the inflationary spiral, yet he reversed himself in Congress and votes for the controversial guaranteed annual income and against private ownership of gold.

Congressman Orval Hansen voted for OSHA, Occupational Safety and Health Act, that has created so many jobs in American industry with its federal tyranny of unreasonable searches, seizures, and penalties. The Bolso Statesman quoted him in March 20, 1974, that it had been a success.

If the Alaskan pipeline construction had not been delayed in Congress, we might not be having a fuel shortage now, but Congressman Hansen is not interested in that either.

His vote permitting food stamps to subsidize strikers, and his vote to extend the O.E.O. Office of Economic Opportunity, prove that he isn't helping to alleviate the inflation, which is caused by nothing but government deficit spending. He supports revenue sharing legislation, but seems not to realize that the government has no revenue to share — only a $463 billion deficit.

Congressman Steven Symms voted in opposition to Orval Hansen in all these issues. Mr. Symms' votes will help us return to a constitutional government. Mr. Hansen's votes can only bring us further into Socialism.

Our former Congressman, George Hansen, who is opposed to Orval Hansen in his Congressional record, will vote with Steven Symms to cut down the size of the federal government and return to our constitutional freedoms.

Let's another patriot back there who will stand up for America!

Battle completes circle

By JACK C. LANOU
WASHINGTON — Seven months ago, the U.S. Court of Appeals here ruled President Nixon would have to hand over to the grand jury seven of his Watergate tapes.

Rather than risk contempt of court, the President complied.

Now, the President is threatening a judicial rematch with his announced refusal to turn over the original tapes — so the House impeachment inquiry or to the Watergate special prosecutor.

Despite the court loss last year, Nixon's attorney, James St. Clair, insists that Nixon has a good chance in the courts to stop any further disclosure of the tapes because, he thinks, there are major constitutional differences between the court's demand and this year's House and prosecution demands.

Analysis

The Watergate special prosecution subpoena was issued to Richard M. Nixon, or any subordinate officer with custody of the tapes. It requests 65 different in-person and telephone conversations between the President and various defendants and non-defendants in the Watergate cover-up including John Mitchell, John Ehrlichman, H. R. Haldean, John Dean, Charles Colson and Ronald Ziegler.

After the subpoena was served, Nixon released the edited transcripts of 20 of the 65 conversations.

Jaworski takes the position that he is entitled to the originals of all 65 conversations — not just 20 edited transcripts — on grounds that the edited versions of the tapes are not the "best evidence" available.

Jaworski points to the federal rules of criminal procedure, passed by Congress, which permit the prosecution to obtain evidence for use in a trial before the trial opens.

St. Clair's answer to these demands is that the transcripts are — as far as they go — substantially accurate and that the President has fulfilled his obligation to "give the investigating agencies what he believes is the full Watergate story."

But St. Clair also said in a press conference Wednesday that Nixon might be willing to give the transcripts, as St. Clair indicated is that a defendant has a strong constitutional claim for any evidence held by the government which may help to acquit him.

Favor voiced for Olmstead

Editor, Times-News: Whoever wrote the editorial with advice to Ralph Olmstead, it sounded like you told him he should be more like a politician. Did you?

A politician is a person who thinks he can cure what's wrong with the country without any money. For instance, he is planning to cure campaign ills by developing a pot full of money he can then put his sticky fingers into which, of course, will have to be administered by ANOTHER bureau.

At the same time he looks the TV camera square in the eye and says it won't raise taxes. Where's the money coming from — foreign aid?

If he REALLY was interested in cleaning up political campaigns, he would follow the example of the British and just allow candidates to campaign for a month (or whatever). That would automatically cut the cost and might even cut the air. He or she would have to get down to brass tacks immediately.

Anyway, my opinion is — it's amazing a nonpolitician can even get elected in this day and age, and I think we need more honest people like you. — Ralph Olmstead — keep up the good work; the poor, old, bent over taxpayer needs a friend in the right place.

Enthusiasm may dwindle

Editor, Times-News: Since Christmas, I have talked with many people who are disappointed with the Downtown Merchants' Association because of its failure to publish a list of the tunes in the Mystery Melody contest.

What fun is a puzzle if you never find out if you had the right answer?

The downtown merchants took up ample space in the paper promoting the contest, but once their purpose of encouraging people to do their Christmas shopping downtown was achieved, they promptly forgot all of those who had taken the bait.

I predict that their next promotion will be met with less enthusiasm.

ATTORNEY JAMES ST. CLAIR says obligation fulfilled

She could do anything; she wanted to, all day long. Noticing to her school bell for her—
 "Now you know she had to be up for breakfast, hunt up school books, find clean socks—even though she might have walked the floor half the night with a crampy child.
 She could say "No" and stop all your plans—to go out or stay home from school, to visit a friend.
 Now you know how, caught in a spiral of disciplining and cautioning, she searched for times to say "Yes," to approve a plan, and how heavy a responsibility rested on her shoulders when she did.

 Then, her life seemed totally enviable to you. When did it happen, you wonder. When did you stop seeing motherhood through a child's eyes?
 When did the power of authority turn into the burden of responsibility?
 When was it that a wand was waved over your head and a voice said, "I pronounce you a mother. You will always be reasonable. You will always be fair. You will not lose your temper. You will always put the rest of the family before yourself, in sickness and health, poverty and wealth.

 You won't hear a top-of-the-lungs argument but you will hear a whisper for comfort.
 As you will be quick to say "Thank you" for small favors and not wait for gratitude when you have rearranged the whole household to meet a young emergency.
 You will remain a whole, alive, individual person, while always ready to submerge your own interests in favor of others.

 You will be ready to acknowledge your own mistakes, but never leap to point out what was not your fault.
 And you will always, always resist the temptation to say to a rebellious teenager, "only hope I live long enough to see you going through this with your own children."
 Because when that time comes, the old scars have faded, and you find yourself saying to a grown child, struggling with the hurts and difficulties of motherhood, "Let me help."

Nixon still vowing to hang on

 "I doubt if there is anyone in the Senate," he said, "who'd urge him to stay. There would be a few who would like to see his support."
 Nevertheless, as criticism of the President mounted, largely over the presidential conduct disclosed in the Watergate tapes, the President's spokesmen continued to deny that Nixon had any intention of resigning.

At noon Saturday, as tourists were filing through the White House as usual for a spring Saturday, the Eisenhower met reporters in the East Garden.
 The young people seemed choked with emotion as they took turns defending the President.
 When Mrs. Eisenhower was asked why she had been sent out to speak for the President today, she replied, "I am going today to control myself in answering the question because it really does wound me."
 She said she was there in response to numerous requests from the media to give the family's reaction to the "impeachment move."

 "If the media has a hangup and an obsession about resignation and resignation is reassured from members of the family that my father is not going to resign, I feel that as a daughter it is my obligation to come out here and say so, and he is not going to resign. Secondly, you talk of the amount of power of a monarchy falling on me, I think that anyone who has seen the President in action—I was here young to know what David's grandfather went through—but I've seen what my father's gone through and I am tremendously proud of him."
 She said, "He doesn't want me out here. He doesn't want anyone to construe that, I'm trying to answer questions for him."
 Mrs. Eisenhower was asked to describe her father's mood as she saw it last night.

"I can't figure out why everyone is concerned about mood, I just can't," she said. "The mood is good. My father feels good. He thinks he is doing the right thing."
 David Eisenhower said that as a student in George Washington University in Washington, D.C., he had heard rumors that Nixon was in a shroud of depression and he did not know what to expect when he walked aboard the Sequoia last night.
 "I saw a man approaching his job in the same spirit he has all along," he said.
 "He feels he is accomplishing things," Mrs. Eisenhower added that he is not shackled by Watergate.
 Both said Nixon had had a bad period of depression during April and May a year ago but that since then the trauma and reversals, his determination to stay and his morale has been consistently upward.

Asked about their reaction to the President's conduct as disclosed in the Watergate tapes, the Eisenhower said his behavior was that of a "human being" who had learned that his administration was endangered by the acts of a few men and his reactions were normal and proper.

Guarded condition

TWIN FALLS — Ray Lincoln, 58, state representative from Twin Falls, is listed in "guarded" condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.
 Attendants at the hospital said Lincoln's condition is slightly improved but he is a long way from well. He was hospitalized Sunday following a heart attack. Lincoln is still in the intensive care unit of the hospital.

Israel offers full proposals

JERUSALEM (UPI) — The Israeli cabinet gave Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger its "complete" proposals Saturday night for a military disengagement with Syria on the war-torn Golan Heights.
 Kissinger received the plans in a two-hour meeting with Israeli ministers after sending the two top aides to inspect the Golan Heights city of Quneitra and its neighboring hills—the key to agreement on a cease-fire line.
 "I now have the full range of Israeli considerations. I will take them to Damascus tomorrow and report back tomorrow evening to the Israeli cabinet," Kissinger told reporters after the meeting. Prime Minister Golda Meir was absent because of an illness.
 Kissinger said that both sides were beginning to move toward a serious examination of Labor calls for boycott on Simplot

 The new union was formed early this year by Simplot workers in Healdsburg, who are dissatisfied with the Grain Millers Union. Irvin Crum, a former Grain Millers member, heads the union.
 Officials of the new union said Friday they would have accepted the company's offer in negotiating a new contract without a strike. The union is giving legal advice to Simplot employees who want to go back to work. Twenty-four Grain Millers' Union members resigned Thursday to join the new union but, according to Jackson, two have since asked the Grain Millers to tear up their letters of resignation.
 Attorneys for the Grain Millers and Simplot have not reached an out-of-court agreement on a complaint by Simplot against the union alleging unlawful mass picketing. The incident, which resulted in the complaint, occurred May 1, when a large number of union members staged a picket at the main entrance of the Heuburn plant as supervisory personnel were brought in from the Caldwell plant to attempt to keep up production at the local plant.

 The case will go to court Monday afternoon in Rupert. Roger Lang, attorney for Simplot, and Patricia McWhorter, representing the union, tried to reach an agreement Thursday to keep the case out of court but failed.
 A hearing before Fifth District Judge Sherman Bellows had been set for Tuesday morning but was continued at the suggestion of the judge so that a settlement could be negotiated between the attorneys. The case report by Judge Bellows was not present for the hearing was not correct.

Idaho outlook rosy

Guard units due

SALMON (UPI) — A rosy economic picture was painted for Idaho's 11 northern counties at the concluding session of the North-Idaho Chamber of Commerce Saturday.

Reports presented noted that the economy of the northern Idaho counties was up 15 per cent over the previous year.

The reports also indicated that bank deposits and loans in the area were up 10-12 per cent.

Among resolutions approved by the chamber were:

- Improvements of U.S. Highways 93 and 95.
- Funding of agricultural aircraft navigational facilities in the Challis area.
- Admission of Idaho as a voting member of the Columbia River fisheries compact.
- The Forest Service to give priority urgency to the sale of dying timber in north Idaho.

The chamber also supported non-classification of the Snake River under the wild and scenic rivers act and excluding the lower Salmon and Myrtle Rivers from the system.

It went on record opposing any further inclusion in the national wilderness preservation system of any area of Idaho not already in the system.

Chamber members urged that areas not included on the Forest Service's chief candidate wilderness study list be returned to full multiple use management.

Among other proposals adopted were that the Forest Service consider only those lands within the present boundaries of the Idaho and Salmon Rivers Breaks Primitive Areas for reclassification under the Wilderness Act.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, Friday urged the U.S. Treasury secretary to help in removing restrictions on private ownership of gold by Americans.

Since President Nixon moved to effectively remove gold as the backing for the dollar in international transactions, thereby taking the U.S. off the gold standard, the reason for not allowing citizens to own gold has disappeared,

Church said in a letter to the Treasury secretary.

Church was one of the sponsors of legislation last year to allow private citizens to own gold. The House of Representatives modified the bill to stipulate that a private citizen may own gold as of the date the President reports to Congress that elimination of the restrictions on private ownership of the metal will not adversely affect the U.S. international monetary position.

BOISE (UPI) — Two hundred Army National Guardsmen from throughout Idaho are scheduled to arrive at Gowen Field Saturday to begin the summer training program in which 7,000 troops will participate this summer.

The guardsmen from three separate engineer units will spend 15 days working on construction projects to prepare the base and nearby training area for the units that will follow them.

The 129th Engineer Co., a dump truck unit from Grangeville and Lewiston, will work on the 300-square mile training area 30 miles south of Gowen Field constructing and repairing roads.

Lewiston's 159th Engineer Detachment will work at the main Gowen Field cantonment area rehabilitating barracks.

The 930th engineer firefighting detachment from Moscow will function and train as the base fire department during its two weeks in Boise.

Major Gen. George Bennett, Idaho Adjutant General, said the first large increment of troops using Gowen Field will be Idaho's 116th Armored Cavalry which will arrive on May 25.

Most of the units scheduled to use the base this summer will be from surrounding states but some will come from Maryland, Florida and Rhode Island.

Boise County seat relocation sought

HORSESHOE BEND (UPI) — A group of Horseshoe Bend residents would like to see the Boise County seat moved here from Idaho City.

The Boise County Citizens Committee for good government cites the population of Horseshoe Bend, 600 in the 1970 census, compared to Idaho City's 161, and the isolation of Idaho City as two of the reasons for beginning a petition drive for relocation of the county seat.

Noel McKean, who heads the committee, said economic considerations play a role. For Sunshine support attacked

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Gov. Cecil Andrus have received a double blast of criticism from the Republican Party for supporting the Sunshine Initiative without living up to the document's standards of openness.

Richard Bauer, Boise, secretary of the Idaho Republican Central Committee, said both Andrus and Church have paid lavish lip service to campaign reform legislation but it has been little more than that.

While grandstanding around the state in support of the so-called sunshine initiative, the present governor has consistently refused to disclose the sources of his unprecedented campaign spending — in the last gubernatorial election, even though all the other candidates in that race have agreed to do so," he said.

Hijackers' flight route

Hijacking ends in karate chop

BOGOTA, Columbia (UPI) — Police aided by a pilot with a karate chop subdued hijackers who had taken an Airway Airlines Boeing 727 from other people aboard on an aerial tour of Columbia with demands for a ransom and safe passage to Cuba.

Police posing as a flight crew disarmed the hijackers, one of whom squeezed off several wild shots with a pistol and freed the passengers and crew, police said.

The passengers and crew were unharmed except that several passengers suffered minor injuries in the stampede to get off the plane, police said.

The hijacking ended 19½ hours after it began. Police said three hijackers were involved. One of them was shot during the scuffle when they were arrested, police said.

The condition of the hijacker who was shot was not immediately known.

One eyewitness said that one of the pilots, who happened to be a karate expert, overcame one of the hijackers.

The jet was parked hundreds of yards from the terminal building of Bogota's Eldorado International Airport. It had been refueled and the hijackers had demanded a fresh crew to fly to a final unspecified destination.

The hijackers seized the plane enroute from Pereira to Bogota on Friday and forced the crew to fly to Bogota, where their hijacking ended.

The hijackers ordered the Colombian government to deliver $100,000, the latest ransom figure, for a flight to Cuba. If the government still refuses, the hijackers threatened to blow the red-and-gray jet-up with everyone aboard.

Beaten Spassky holes up

MOSCOW (UPI) — With a grim look and a terse "no interviews," Boris Spassky went into seclusion Saturday, his last hope of regaining his title of chess champion of the world next year snatched by a Leningrad University's economics student.

Spassky's flinty defeat came Friday night in Leningrad, when he rested on the 35th move of the game and lost the match 4-1 to Anatoly Karpov, 22, in their semifinal challengers play.

Spassky, 37, was generally rated by Soviet chess experts as this country's best hope to regain the title from America's Bobby Fischer, his conqueror two years ago. He grimly told television there could be "no interviews" after his stunning loss.

A one-time child prodigy who began tournament play when he was 10, Spassky held the world title until his defeat by Fischer in Iceland in 1972.

Following that defeat, he was roundly criticized by the Soviet press for not having made adequate preparations.

A quiet, amiable man with an aggressive style of play, he was an introverted seclusionist and began preparing his comeback.

Spassky won the Soviet national championship in October 1972 and last February went on to defeat Robert Byrne of the United States easily in a quarterfinal challengers match in Puerto Rico.

Ford says he's not leaving ship of state

(c) N.Y. Times Service

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. — Vice President Ford said Saturday he assured President Nixon Friday that he was not among those "trying to jump off his ship of state."

Discussing what he called "a long talk" that he had with the President, Ford said some of his recent speeches touching on the Watergate affair had been misinterpreted by the news media.

The vice president's comments, in a commencement address at Texas A & M University, appeared to confirm reports that Nixon had expressed some unhappiness over his vice president's comments about the White House handling of the Watergate matter.

Ford said he told Nixon during their one-hour private meeting at the White House that he had been trying to assure this year's college graduates "that the government in Washington isn't about to sink."

The vice president noted that in a commencement address a week ago at the University of Michigan, he had been booed when he spoke of the Watergate affair.

"The next day," said Ford, "I read that the booing was because I was defending the President of the United States for exercising his right to take his case to the people."

The vice president also noted that two days ago, in a second commencement address at Eastern Illinois University, "I talked about corruption in government, which happens in Cook County (Chicago) as well as Washington, and how college students now armed with the vote ought to pitch in and clean up our political process by participating in them."

At a news conference Friday in Buffalo, N.Y., hours after his meeting with Nixon in Washington, the vice president said that he and the President had not discussed the growing demands by key Republicans that Nixon resign.

Yet, his speech there Saturday indicated that the subject of Republican defections from Nixon's "ship of state" was discussed at that private meeting.

Cambodia Red trap kills 7

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Seven Cambodian government soldiers were killed and 28 wounded Saturday when they were tricked into an ambush on national Highway 4, supposedly abandoned by Communist forces, military sources said.

The trap was sprung at O Tanay, about 90 miles southwest of Phnom Penh and 20 miles northeast of the threatened port of Kampong Som. Government forces walked back into the lost outpost without a shot being fired, military sources said.

The soldiers found themselves in a murderous crossfire from Communists surrounding them.

Cambodian air force helicopters gunned strafed Communist forces around O Tanay, the sources said, and dropped ammunition and food into the position to the survivors.

Closer to the capital, government troops responded a section of National Highway 1 about 20 miles southeast of Phnom Penh on Saturday, 24 hours after insurgents, for the first time in 1½ weeks, had closed it.

A government force of 300 infantrymen and 33 armored vehicles drove the Communists off in a three-hour battle, field reporters said.

The government lost three men killed and 10 wounded, while the rebels left six dead behind on the battlefield.

Balaguer continues campaign

WASHINGTON — Judge John J. Sirica imposed Friday a strict "gag" rule that apparently forbids even President Nixon from commenting on the latest developments in the mountain battle between Nixon and the Watergate prosecution over subpoenaed White House tape recordings.

Sirica also placed "under seal" a written report in which the prosecution explains in detail why it wants the subpoenaed material.

In another surprise move, the judge suggested that the court hearing into the subpoenaed tapes, scheduled for 2 p.m. Monday, might be closed to the public.

Sirica orders silence

Sirica outlined these steps in a brief statement to reporters. He gave no explanation for the tightening of secrecy and, in fact, concluded his statement with the remark that "No questions by reporters on this subject should be directed to chambers."

The circumstances surrounding the statement, however, suggested that the judge's moves were prompted at least in part by the type of information that the prosecution has already obtained about the 64 White House conversations covered by the subpoena.

The statement was issued after a meeting at the courthouse in which Leon Jaworski, the special prosecutor, submitted a written memorandum explaining in

Balaguer continues campaign

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI) — President Joaquin Balaguer, who is seeking an unprecedented third term in next Thursday's national elections, thinks God spared him from a "crash" because he still has a job to do.

Wearing dark glasses, possibly to hide facial bruises, Balaguer said the helicopter had crashed hours before about 30 miles from Santo Domingo in a storm. It caught fire and was "totally destroyed," Balaguer said, but none of those aboard, including several top military officers, were hurt.

Balaguer went on national television late Friday night to tell the nation he had walked away unharmed from the flaming wreck of a helicopter in which he was returning from a campaign swing along the country's northern coast.

He said he thanked his life to "a miracle of the divine providence" and added he interpreted his rescue as a sign that the Virgin Mary, patron saint of the Dominican Republic, "deemed my services, modest though they may be, still useful to the country."

Laos unity sought

VIENTIANE (UPI) — Both Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma and King Savang Vatthana appealed for unity in Laos, Saturday in moves apparently aimed at healing a growing rift between rightists and Communists in the five-week-old coalition government.

Souvanna Phouma, speaking at Constitution-Day celebrations, said the opposing factions should forget their differences in order to make the new government work and ensure peace in Laos.

Later in the day, the king, speaking at the opening of his Privy Council, warned that no one should usurp the constitution "in order to apply dictatorship power."

The speeches by the prime minister and the king came one day after the new coalition cabinet made a final decision, approved by the king, not to allow the 58-man lower house of the National Assembly to open.

McDermott recall forces plan to continue effort

BOGATELLO (UPI)—The authors of a petition to recall State Rep. Patricia McDermott campaign name short but say they'll keep trying to get the lady legislator ousted before the next election.

The signature verification of petitions to recall Rep. McDermott showed the tally was one short of the number necessary to initiate a recall election.

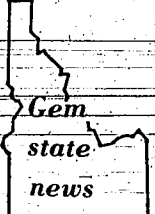

Bannock County Clerk Tim Erickson, said Friday the final total of eligible signatures on the petitions was 2,235—one less than necessary.

She also asked Park "If there are any provisions in the Constitution of Idaho which gives the people proper redress against elected politicians who deliberately abuse the intent of the law for the purpose of protecting themselves or their friends?"

She noted that Park was not bound by law to give legal opinions to private individuals but "we would hope that in this instance you will be so kind as to respond."

Paula B. West wrote Attorney General U. Anthony Park asking if there was any way to get around a state law which prohibits holding an election within the 90 days prior to a primary or general election.

The project will cost $2,100. The Idaho Legislature in 1972 passed a law requiring the attorney general to make the opinions available to the public on an annual basis and supply copies to the state law library and the University of Idaho College of Law.

Idaho opinion compilation prepared

BOISE (UPI)—The first printing of a 12-month compilation of opinions from the Idaho attorney general's office will be published in a limited edition within a month.

David Blackwell, administrative assistant to Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park, told United Press International that budget problems and the difficulties of putting the first set together delayed the production of the first publication.

Blackwell said the first printing will be extremely limited. It covers more than 230 opinions and takes 500 pages.

Copies will be distributed to the 14 county prosecutors because of interest they have expressed in having copies of the opinions.

Blackwell said previous attorneys general have not put their opinions together nor indexed or catalogued them.

Presently, the only way anyone on Park's staff or the public can check on an opinion issued by any previous attorney general, who has been in the office for 13 years, is by rephrasing the question.

Hearing slated

WALLACE (UPI)—Attorneys for five striking steelworkers at the Bunker Hill Mining Co., as well as counsel for the company and the U.S. Steelworkers Union local were expected to appear in First District Court Monday for a hearing on the current strike at Bunker Hill.

Bunker Hill Friday filed suit seeking $100,000 a day damages from the Steelworkers Local 7854 for refusing to honor its no-strike clause with the company after the five crafts set up pickets at the mine early Friday.

The steelworkers represent 1,800 employees, consisting of the bulk of Bunker Hill employees, while the crafts represent about 17%.

Judge Walt Prahtler set the hearing for 1 p.m. Monday.

Blackwell said future compilations will be put together at the end of each fiscal year and be available in a limited edition within a month.

Bank holdup nets $29,000

BOGATELLO (UPI)—A dark-haired man wearing pink shirt and grey plaid trousers escaped with $29,000 after robbing a branch office of the First National Bank.

Douglas Flint, manager of the Yellowstone Avenue Branch office, said the man entered the bank Friday and walked up to teller Pat McKethin.

The teller told police the man greeted her with "good afternoon. Give me some money."

She said she started giving him money, and he finally said, "That's enough."

Flint said the man left the bank with the money through the back door.

Blackwell said future compilations will be put together at the end of each fiscal year and be available in a limited edition within a month.

Land use planning boosted

SALMON (UPI)—Federal officials and a retired U.S. Senator campaigned for land use planning on the state level during the spring meeting of the North Idaho Chamber of Commerce.

No state is an island unto itself, when it comes to land use planning but it is not necessary to turn the whole thing over to the federal government," said retired Sen. Len B. Jordan of Idaho.

"But we had better get going with some proper planning of the state and local level if it will be done at the federal," Dr. Ernest Hartung, president of the University of Idaho, said.

There is a need for generalists, not specialists, to gain the proper input in planning.

"When the population crunch comes, maybe we will have to put the dollar value on wild rivers to determine whether we want to keep wild rivers."

The national director of the Bureau of Land Management said the BLM needs to be involved in what is going on in the state and wants the people to be involved in its land management decisions.

BLM Director Curt Berkland said it takes a coordinated effort of federal, state and local agencies.

Vern Hamre, Region 4 forester from Ogden, Utah, said he is convinced land use planning is "absolutely necessary" and should be completed for all national forest lands within the next few years.

Blind aids unused

BOISE (UPI)—Only about one-fourth of those eligible to use the Idaho State Library's services at the end of each year reached through the library's services are growing rapidly, according to the state librarian.

Miss Helen Miller urged Lions Club members to be alert for friends or relatives who might be eligible users of the service and to be volunteers themselves in helping record materials.

The service, which has been in effect for less than a year, places a tape player in the home of the blind.

'Lip service' scored

SALMON (UPI)—The president pro tempore of the Idaho Senate Friday accused Gov. Cecil D. Andrus of operating a "lost administration" while paying lip service to openness in government.

Sen. James Ellsworth, R-Lendore, said he referred to recent statements by Andrus in which the governor advocated public participation and openness in government.

"One of the glaring recent examples of the governor's attitude toward openness in government is the way the agency heads under the office of the governor," Ellsworth said.

Balance is what we are striving to achieve—a balance between areas set aside for wilderness preservation and areas for commodity uses, timber in the production of wildlife, range domestic livestock grazing, recreation water and minerals.

Project completed

RESULTS of many hours of volunteer work by Boy Scout officials and community minded individuals and companies are admired here by a group of boys from Falls district Boy Scout troops. Here they walk across the 12-foot-high dam which but for an unusual turn of events would have been a bridge. Those who worked on the project include Jim Alkin, Chad Hess, Gary Clowson, Tad Haney, Maurice Egbert and Eric Undheim, Troop 81. The top of the dam is wide enough for vehicle travel.

Unusual circumstances turn simple foot bridge into 12-foot high dam

By BONNIE HAIRD-JONES
Times-News writer

HAGERMAN What started out to be a simple footbridge then weeks ago is now a 12-foot high dam across a section of Snake River.

A group of Boy Scout leaders and volunteers planned a footbridge at Camp T. E. Roach near Banbury Hot Springs in Snake River Canyon. The completion goal was prior to the camporee scheduled there May 18, and the object was to give access to an adjacent level 20 acres of ideal camping terrain.

The area was made inaccessible about six years ago when a dam washed out in the small Snake River current. Bezel and Associates, engineers, volunteered the bridge design, but there is no resemblance between the plans and finished product.

Darl Gleed, scout executive, and George Haney Jr., project chairman, said they had been told a dam could not be built there which would hold the swift water force less than $10,000 and professional construction would be required.

As the work party progressed a number of things happened to bend the plans toward a dam rather than a bridge.

Bob Slacey, a farmer living above the camp on the canyon rim told the scouts they could have rock he was clearing from his land for the bridge foundation. Members of the Army Reserves, Co. D, 321st Engineers Battalion, agreed to build the rock for slinging to strengthen bridge foundations against the river current.

As rock began to fill the gap in the washed out dam, the whole project started to look more like a dam than a bridge. An old power plant foundation which was scheduled for removal at a future date was demolished and the concrete pieces sent into the river.

The camp was donated by Idaho Power Co. in 1966 to the scouts. It consists of 120 acres, 30 acres of which are currently developed for camping purposes.

The dam, built shortly after the camp was acquired, lasted only about six months and then washed out. It was 40 feet across and 10 to 12 feet high and provided access to another 20 acres of ideal camping ground.

The Falls district Boy Scouts had hoped to bridge the washout area to make the 20 acres available for the camporee.

As Haney and Gleed tell it, the past three weekends of work, Larry Fairbanks, a construction company official, was "persuaded" to come down and help convert the bridge to a dam.

This help consisted of two weekends including one Saturday which lasted from early morning until well after midnight. Fairbanks used his influence and connections to obtain a donation of three giant sections of 54-inch concrete pipe, each weighing six tons. These were brought from American Concrete Pipe Co., Idaho Falls, and lifted in place by Fairbanks' equipment to carry the river flow and prevent another washout while work progressed and for the finished product.

Last Saturday, with the pipe and a quantity of rock and dirt in place, darkness overtook the workers. They did not have leave the project at that stage for fear it would wash out.

Fairbanks called his father and brother and the firm's full fleet of trucks to the scene.

Trucks crawled up and down the canyon road until midnight bringing more rock. The need for additional rock resulted in widening the road to the canyon, also, a desirable improvement.

It wasn't all easy, Haney said. There were some bad moments. At one point one of the six-ton sections of concrete pipe was being put into place when it slipped into the water and threatened with washing away down the river.

Nobody breathed for a while, Haney said, and it was heeled back into place. At another point a big tractor and backhoe slid into the river and became stuck. Requiring several hours work by crews and equipment to free it.

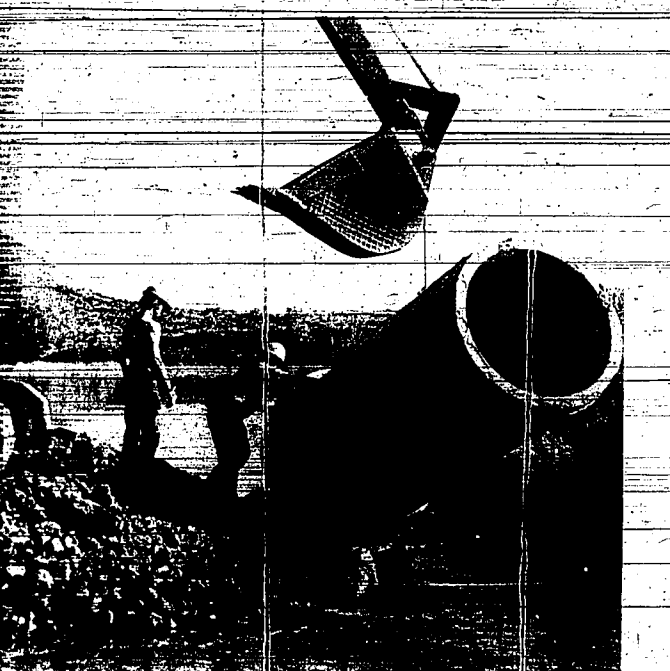

Darl Gleed who operated a crawler tractor before joining the Boy Scout staff 17 years ago called on his forgotten talent, and went to work as a "skinner" to keep the project going.

When the camporee opens next week, there will be an additional camp area of 20 acres, a dam 15 feet in width at the top and some 12 feet high over which a vehicle can drive. There will be a new five-sided pond for boating and canoeing. Gleed said the boating pool created by the dam is crystal clear as it is fed by springs on the canyon wall and is now separated from the main river by the new dam.

Camp Roach is a major asset for the council as it provides ideal outdoor camping with moderate weather in the camp area. Gleed said, it is sufficient in size to provide for weekend or day camping groups and is ideal for training programs.

Surveys progress

GAP caused by a 1966 washout begins to close as crews and equipment build up rock and dirt fill. Here George Haney Jr., project chairman, surveys progress after three weekends of work to rebuild the dam and provide access to an additional 20-acre campsite for the May 18 camporee for the Falls district Scouts.

Expert know-how

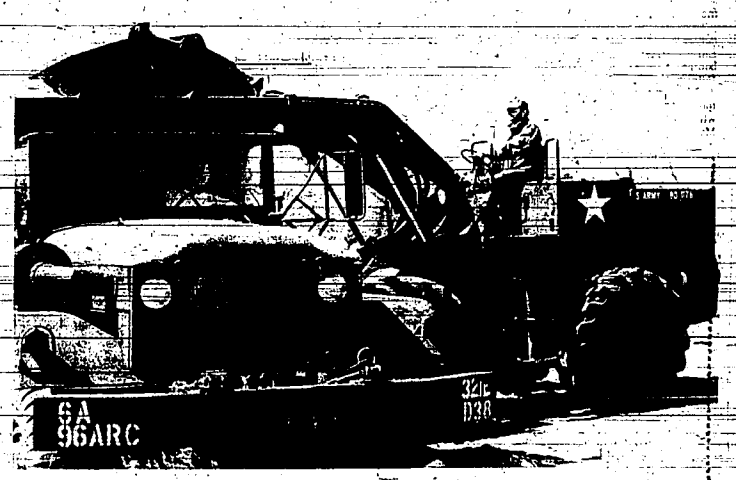

SIXTON concrete culvert section, one of three installed in the dam to carry the swift water current, is swung carefully into place by Fairbanks Construction Co. equipment and crews. The construction firm donated heavy equipment and know-how to build the dam at the Boy Scout Camp on the Snake River in Hagerman Valley.

ARMY Reserve crews of Company D, 321st Engineers Battalion, load and haul 160,000 lbs. of rock donated by former Robert Slacey on the Snake River Canyon above Camp T. E. Roach. The rock donation was so plentiful and the efforts of the reserves so helpful it resulted in bridge abutments being converted into a 40-foot-wide base for a new dam at the Boy Scout Camp near Banbury Hot Springs.

Book Review

By JULIE CAUCHEY
Twin Falls Public Library

TWIN FALLS — Robin Lee Graham has written "Dove," the story of his adventures after he announced to his parents on July 26, 1965, "I'm sailing around the world."
Robin was just 16 at the time, but already was tired of a normal, routine life. History for him was not what was found in school books, but he was interested in the adventure of a sailboat bobbing freely on the waters.
Robin experienced many dangerous and lonely moments in the journey, but all seemed worthwhile when he reached the Fiji Islands and met a beautiful California girl who was hitchhiking around the world. Their love settled both lives for a few months, until it was evident that they must part. They went separate ways now knowing if they would meet again.

Five years and 33,000 miles later, Robin accomplished what few people would attempt. He did go around the world in a sailboat, "Dove," in a true adventure and romantic saga of amazing daring, endurance and joy.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I was the housekeeper for a man and his wife for four years. His wife died rather suddenly, so he asked me to stay on, which I did gladly. A few months later, he asked me to eat dinner with him. Then we started watching television together, and finally he came to my bedroom and I had an affair with him.

This continued for about three months, and I was very happy about it, but suddenly he stopped being friendly and started to act like nothing ever happened between us.

She's no bell-ringer

I couldn't bear it any longer, so I asked him why he didn't make love to me anymore, and he said he didn't love me—that no bells rang, and it never should have happened in the first place, and would please forget it!

DEAR ABBY: Now you should side up and tell the gentleman to find another housekeeper. [Maybe the next one will be a bell-ringer.] Don't renege for his employ. There is nothing ahead for you there but unhappiness and regret.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law has a job as good as the one I have, but she doesn't budget her money, so consequently she always is in debt, and she never has anything to show for her money.

I am just the opposite. I shop around and spend my money wisely, and I have a very nice wardrobe. My sister-in-law is my size, so every time she sees me wearing something new she says, "When you're through with that, throw it my way."

It makes me feel like I should give it to her after I've worn it a season, but I like to keep my clothes from one season to the next, and I really don't want to "throw" anything her way or anybody else's.

How should I handle it? If I say, "I'll keep you in mind," then I'm committed to give it to her. If I don't say anything, she can assume she'll get it eventually.

I have given her a few things in the past, but I don't like to be rushed. Any suggestions? —LIKES TO DRESS

DEAR ABBY: I disagree. Silence doesn't necessarily imply agreement—but to avoid a misunderstanding, say "I'm glad you like it, but I'm not making any promises."

DEAR ABBY: I was faithfully married for 18 years to a man I can only describe as a kind and considerate bus-

Program scheduled

AMONG the Twin Falls Music Club scholarship winners who will present the program for the club's Rose Luncheon are, from left, Dobbie Blades, Melody Youtz and Janie Vincent. The luncheon is set for 12:30 p.m. Monday at the YM-YWCA.

TF dinner postponed

TWIN FALLS — The Valley Christian church senior citizens Fellowship dinner has been postponed from May 17 to May 24. The potluck dinner will be held at noon at the church May 24.

The first ship to land in San Francisco — from the Yukon goldfields — late in 1897 had 22 passengers with $650,000 in gold dust among them.

hand. He doesn't chase and is a good provider and a good father. But hasn't been very exciting for me for many years, but I put on an act for the benefit of his ego. He had no idea he wasn't the greatest lover, but I didn't know how bad he was until I ran into Jimmy, which is why I have this problem.

Jimmy was my high school boyfriend who just happened to be in town the travel on business. It's a long story, but let me just say Jimmy and I have been meeting at a motel a few afternoons a month for the last five months. We're not "in love" — he's married, too, and nobody is going to leave anybody over this. We're just filling a need in the lives of one another. [His wife is a prude.] I never knew a 43-year-old woman, married for 18 years, could come to life the way I did.

The problem is that the "act" has become harder and harder to keep up at home. Comparisons in techniques and results leave me a wreck! Now I'm in a trap of my own making. It was all right as long as I didn't know what I was missing.

There is no way to approach this with my husband. I'd be apt to get one rap for complaining, and another for knowing the difference. At 40, I'm not ready to give up sex, and at 50, my husband isn't going to get any better in bed. Where do I go from here?

"TRAPPED" IN MANKATO, MINN.

DEAR TRAPPED: Go to the Medical School of your university and inquire about its course in Human Sexuality. I believe this and I believe it is available for private self counseling. Quit trying to kid your husband and suggest that the two of you take it together. When enlightenment, replaces ignorance and inhibitions are broken down, miracles occur. But this is possible only when both parties sincerely want improvement. So if you want a more satisfactory love life with your husband, spend the energy. It will probably take far less than all the cloak-and-dagger chasing around for a clandestine affair, and is far more rewarding.

PUT on a Happy Face will be one of the dinner theater production numbers by Junior Dennis and Mark Goloy, above. Musical numbers, Gary and Karen Dalton, bottom, rehearse for "My Funny Valentine." These are two of the numbers to be presented in the first dinner theater in Twin Falls later this month.

Special production

TWIN FALLS — "Celebration '74," a musical revue scheduled for May 30, 31 and June 1, will introduce dinner theater to Magic Valley theatergoers.

The new type of entertainment will be held in the Shoshoni Room of the Blue Lakes Inn. It is the first step in the direction of dinner theater which has become popular in recent years in other parts of the country.

Those purchasing tickets in advance of the event will be able to enjoy a buffet dinner followed by a musical revue from a cast of 14 artists.

No tickets will be sold at the door but must be purchased in advance from members of the cast prior to May 24. The dinner begins at 7:30 p.m. and the performance at 8:30 p.m. There is a seating capacity of 125 for each performance and the audience will watch the show from their dinner seats while lingering over the final cup of coffee.

The cast will present a number of favorite musical selections. Performing will be Gary and Karen Dalton, Art Frantz, Helen Go, Mark Goloy and Janet Dennis, Brad and Dianne Hickerson, Jean Hovey, Jim LaGrone, Esther Nicholson, Buzz Langdon, Peggy Quesnell and Jim Labham.

Some of the songs will include "Me and My Shadow" and "Blossom Burdick."

"Believe in You," "Put on a Happy Face," "My Funny Valentine," "Gonna Build a Mountain," "Hey, Big Spender," "Blues in the Night," "Summertime," "Hazy Heart," "Hallelujah," "Some of These Days," "Joy for Sale," "With Plenty of Money and You," "Brother Can You Spare a Dime," "Get Happy" and others.

The cast of 14 will participate in the various numbers with a light and easy choreography. Tickets are available by calling 734-5501 or from any of the cast or Little Theatre members.

TWIN FALLS — The Shamrock Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Joan Smuty at 2 p.m. Wednesday. Etta Stafford will be co-hostess. The program will be given by Jean Munger. There will be an exchange of flower cuttings or seeds.

Trees planted in Eden park

EDEN — The Eden City Park and Wilson Avenue, is due for landscaping.

Floral Jerome, planted trees and shrubs in the park Tuesday.

The trees include three Norway spruce in a small corner of aspen located in the eastern corner of the park, Norway maples across the eastern end, and several Redwaster honey locusts in the western corner.

At the southern end of the park are cutleaf weeping birch and at the southeastern corner are several Thornless Honeylocusts.

The new shrubs scattered throughout the park are both deciduous and evergreen, including a number of yucca plants.

The trees are all large, over 6 feet tall.

Part improvements are financed by a 50 per cent grant from the Idaho Parks and Recreation department, according to city officials.

New lavatories have also been installed in the park.

The city of Eden is accepting donations to help finance the improvements of the park and the new water storage tower. These contributions will be tax deductible.

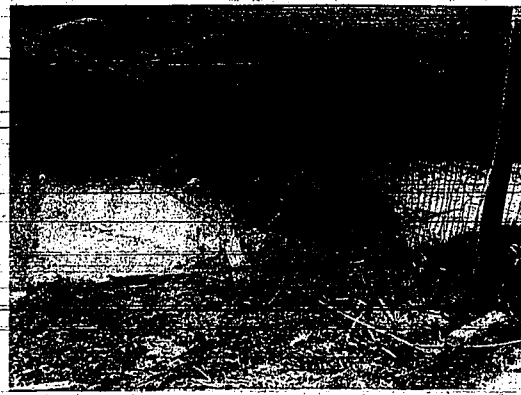

For information concerning the donations call Mrs. Gordon Newby.

The plans for the proposed new water storage tank for the city are progressing.

Most of the needed construction materials have already arrived but about 20 feet of pipe is still lacking. Once this pipe is available construction can begin on the new redwood tank which will have nearly twice the capacity of the present tank.

The Eden City Council is still planning on starting construction in May or early June for the dismantling of the old tank and construction of the new one.

The new tank will be located on the same site as the present tank. Once the old tank is dismantled construction on the new tank must begin immediately because the city's auxiliary storage capacity is limited.

Beaver dams up coulee

Beaver uninvited guest

By LORAYNE O. SMITH Times-News writer

KIMBERLY — A conservation officer is trying to trap a beaver who has moved uninvited into a Kimberly lake yard.

Mrs. and Mrs. Clifford Miller, who live on Highway 38 just west of the Red Cap corner, wondered why their woodpile was diminishing. When the coulee which runs through their acreage began to back up nearly to their chicken coop, they decided something was amiss.

Then Miller saw the beaver, and the family repaired the debris building up against the fence which crosses the coulee on their property line was actually a beaver dam. Now, with heavy irrigation use, the water has receded back into the banks of the coulee.

"I wouldn't complain about him for her. At all. If I hadn't thought of our trees," Mrs. Miller said. The Millers have more than 75 trees on their property, including both fruit and shade trees.

When it occurred to her that their furry friend might well cut down the blossoming cherry tree they had nurtured to full growth for some years, she decided to take action.

Mrs. Miller called the Idaho Fish and Game Department office in Twin Falls, and a conservation officer said he will attempt to live trap the beaver, but this is only possible if he can put the trap in about a foot of water. If the water recedes, Mrs. Miller said, the animal would drown.

So, until the long arm of the law reaches into the beaver pond, the Millers are keeping their fingers crossed that their furry friend will not sink his sharp teeth into their cherry tree.

Lincoln magistrate to attend course

SIPSHONE — The Idaho Supreme Court has announced that Nancy Haddock, Lincoln County magistrate, has been selected to attend a judicial education course being conducted by the National College of State Judiciary in Reno, Nev., May 12 — May 17.

Subject matter of the course will be traffic and will provide Judge Haddock with a study of up-to-date procedures concerning the subject — further improve the administration of justice in Idaho, the Idaho Supreme Court announces.

Judge Haddock has served in Lincoln County the past 18 months.

The course is one of several national programs that have been approved by the supreme court as part of a continuing judicial education program for the Idaho court system.

Humphrey putting last touches on US farm, food reserve bill

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., is putting finishing touches on a farm and food reserve bill which may emerge as a major challenge to administration policy in those fields.

Humphrey's bill, which is expected to be brought to the Senate floor for a vote before the end of June, would set up a new commodity reserve program and set new ground rules for managing U.S. food exports during periods of scarcity.

Also, to head off a potential plunge in farm prices which might depress production next year, the bill will provide a substantial increase in government support levels for major crops.

Even that one-third government ownership is too much for Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, who argues that while the U.S. does need food reserves, they should be carried privately by farmers, processors and traders.

Disease testing slated for beef

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho commissioner of agriculture Thursday issued an emergency order requiring testing of all breeding beef cattle for brucellosis disease.

Officials at the time of the sale. Second, a heavy cattle infection is known to exist in the central and south central states. Breeding cattle shipped into Idaho for breeding and grazing purposes may introduce infected animals if not tested prior to shipment," he said.

The state officials also said cattle consigned to packing plants and livestock feed lots are exempt from the order when shipped or moved with proper documentation.

The order will be effective May 15 and cover all animals offered for sale south of the southern boundary of Idaho County if there is a change of ownership.
Best type bulls one year of age and over also are required to be tested under the order from commissioner Wilson Kellogg.
F. Schneider, director of the Idaho Bureau of Animal Industry, said the order also requires the testing of all adult breeding cattle imported into Idaho from other states.
The need for the testing is twofold, said Schneider. "One, infection is being spread by the sale of cattle from some herds that have infected cattle within the herd but the disease is not known to exist by the owner or the purchaser nor the federal state disease control officials at the time of the sale. Second, a heavy cattle infection is known to exist in the central and south central states. Breeding cattle shipped into Idaho for breeding and grazing purposes may introduce infected animals if not tested prior to shipment," he said.

The state officials also said cattle consigned to packing plants and livestock feed lots are exempt from the order when shipped or moved with proper documentation.
They said testing may be performed on a shipment at the ranch or on arrival at licensed Idaho sales yards.
The new requirements were endorsed by Idaho Cattlemen's Association directors in Boise May 12 as an effort to protect the larger number of negative herds from the smaller number of unknown infected herds.
The requirement supplements a similar order for the dairy cattle in Idaho which went into effect last October.

But Humphrey, fearing serious problems for both farmers and consumers unless something is done, will propose a sharp increase. Under his bill the target support rate on corn, for example, would shoot up from the present $1.38 a bushel to $2.00 a bushel.
In 1975, present law calls for retaining the $1.38 rate, but Humphrey's bill would push it to $2 plus, whatever, further hike is needed to keep up with recent increase in production costs.

Butz contends the target prices, which are still well below current market rates despite recent declines in grain market prices, should be left along so the markets themselves can guide farmers to decisions on how much of various crops to produce.

Live cattle close mixed

CHICAGO — Live cattle futures closed mixed Friday. Commodity News Service said a sharp unhooking of the back months to gain in a relatively heavy turnover of 11,182 contracts.
Weakness was contained mostly in the nearby months, which saw brisk selling pressure from commission houses and cash interests taking prices down from the opening. Final quotes ranged from down 50 cents in June and 55 cents in August to 40 cents higher in actively traded December.

The latter set a new season low minutes after the opening but local support in the back was stimulated by termination of possible recessal of the hull spread and prices found better support throughout the session.

US wheat reserve increase expected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's shrunken wheat reserve is about to increase for the first time in three years and should rise 382 million bushels to a more comfortable total of 533 million bushels by mid-1975, Agriculture Department analysts said today.
The report was issued on the heels of a formal government estimate that the 1974 winter wheat crop would reach a record 1.612 billion bushels—when farmers complete a harvest which has already begun in southern parts of the wheat belt. Experts said that if spring wheat production reaches the potential indicated by March planting intentions, the result would be a total two-winter spring wheat crop of 2.172 billion bushels.
The new total of 99 million bushels above previous forecasts and by far its largest in history, starting on July 1, 1974, adding 383 million bushels during the next 12 months would bring the mid-1975 total to 533 million.

Wheat mart swaps ends

CHICAGO — Wheat turned around Friday on the strength of foreign inquiries and purchases, principally by Portugal and India.
Commodity News Service said commercial participation grew as the session progressed, mostly on the buying side or as spreading. Futures closed 12 cents to 7 1/2 cents higher, mostly on the higher side. Cash wheat was about unchanged at May price in Chicago and 16 cents over July at the Gulf.

LOSE A POUND A DAY AND MORE Vitamin 'E' Discovery Offers Fast Weight Loss

HOLLYWOOD (Special) New scientific discoveries have produced a Vitamin E diet that quickly works wonders on overweight people, and reportedly is gaining great popularity across the country with glowing reports of easy weight loss while still eating almost as much as you want.
Those who follow the simple Vitamin E diet report an average loss of at least a pound a day—and even more without exercise or starvation. Nutritionists are bulging with happy testimonials from formerly overweight people who are now trim and slim again. Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, chicken, fish, sauces, gravies, bacon & eggs and still lose weight. Chewable (candy-like) vitamin E tablets, as used in the diet plan, contain a new scientific combination of ingredients that quickly curbs and controls the appetite, while also giving the wonderful benefits of Vitamin E which is so essential to good health.
The use of the new Vitamin E Diet tablets and foods prescribed in the plan will, through natural action, act to help you burn up excess fat. According to recent clinical test, a person who is deficient in Vitamin E or Protein "will double the speed of fat utilization" with the use of Vitamin E.

Jerome has district title; Tappen and Lyons double

The Jerome Tigers with even more power than their coach expected, stormed easily to the fourth district A-2 track championship Friday and could have made next week's state finals an orange affair.

Coach Karl Kleinhopf, who expressed "fear" his team couldn't reach 120 due to the injury to hurdler Allison, watched his charges rack up 136 points. Meanwhile, Coach Bob Shay of Wood River, pronouncing Jerome the finest A-2 aggregation in the short history of the classification, saw his men gain second with 88 while Buhl had 39, Filer 33 and Gooding 19.

Jerome was totally dominant everywhere but of interest was the possibilities that enthused track watchers. A pair of freshmen budded into district champions and left the fans wondering what the net result would be in four years. Chris Bell of Buhl, best known for his swimming heretofore, became the 100-yard dash champion in a solid 10.3. Gooding contributed another freshman, Butler, who scaled six feet, two inches in the high jump to leave other underclassmen wondering what their fates will be in the next three times out in this event.

While the district title is nice, the important thing about this meet is qualifying men for next week's state finals in Boise. The top three men in all races, the winning relay team and the best two in all field events go on to state. On that basis, Jerome takes a couple of buses full of competitors while the rest can go in one — and some in cars.

Coach Kleinhopf's charges took 12 of the 18 firsts available, including all four relays. In some, the Tigers doubled up and in others, like the triple jump, took the top four places.

The cold, windy day produced only two double winners. Mark Tappen of Buhl led with the competitor in winning the mile and two mile. In both cases he ran on the shoulder of the chief competitors and then burst away in the final 220 yards to win easily.

The other was Byron Lyons of Jerome who won the intermediate hurdles in a hood 41.8 and then collected the triple jump at 45.6.

Jerome's Johnson, on a personal request, went for a difficult double in the quarter and half-mile. He won the quarter but was overtaken in the eighth by teammate Ron Hillier in the half-mile.

Going into next Friday's preliminaries at State Jerome will have 11 firsts, nine seconds and two thirds; Buhl has three firsts and two thirds; Wood River two firsts, four seconds and a third; Gooding one first and one third; and Filer a second and two thirds.

TF golfers nip Burley for crown

TF athletes will receive honors Monday

RUPPERT — The Twin Falls Bruins took a fearsome wind and a hating Burley crew for the district class A golf championship Friday over the Rupert Country Club course.

It wasn't until a recheck after the meet had ended that Twin Falls nipped the young Broncos by two strokes. At first it was announced the two had tied. The Bruins scored 339 while Burley had 341 and Minico 357.

Bruin Kevin Packard took the medalist pin with a nine-over par 80, indicative of the weather factor. However, all three teams will compete for the state championship at Idaho Falls Pincerest course Friday.

TF cagers, Schmidt and Hovey, sign basketball scholarships

Two members of Twin Falls' class A-2 basketball championship team, Eric Hovey and Kent Schmidt, have signed with colleges while Jim Lash reportedly has narrowed his choice to two.

Schmidt, the 6-9 center and three-year starter, will play for Coach Rullie Williams and North Idaho junior college in Coeur d'Alene. Hovey, who scored 92 points during his varsity career at Twin Falls, will attend Gonzaga University in Spokane.

Leaving the teammates about 32 miles apart, Lash will decide in the next few days between College of Southern Idaho and Arizona Western.

Schmidt signed with North Idaho for the opportunity to play in probably 60 to 70 games in the next two years. "We feel," says Coach Don Haynes, "that Kent is definitely a major college player but right now he's got to get out and play a lot against big men and learn about the rough stuff under the boards. Coach Williams has proven himself to be a good big man coach and Schmidt's development should be rapid under him."

"I'm just glad it's all over," said Hovey after signing his letter with Gonzaga. "I really liked Gonzaga because they talked to me about it." Hovey kept in contact throughout the season and were honest with me about everything. I felt that I was definitely a No. 1 choice with them and I wasn't that sure about the others. I know I will have a good chance to prove myself and Coach (Adrian) Buoncrisiana will build a good basketball program there in the next few years."

"Another major reason for picking Gonzaga was it is losing just about all its guards this year," said Coach Buoncrisiana. "Believes I will have a good chance of playing varsity ball this winter. I don't think it is necessary for me to be a starter this year but I wanted to go to a place where I would have a chance to be in 20 or more games this winter. In a jayvee program I would get only 14 or 16 games and rather than do that I would have chosen a junior college," he said.

Hovey was contacted finally by 62 colleges and universities throughout the country. About 12 reached the point of discussing signing commitments.

Coach Buoncrisiana said Hovey was Gonzaga's first guard choice and was recruited with the idea of being a varsity player for four years. "We feel he fulfills a need for good ball handling and passing, can give us penetration and provide perimeter shooting," he said. "Very few can do all that."

Cougars win golf crown

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — Jim Blair defeated teammate Mike Reid in a sudden death playoff Saturday for the individual championship and helped carry Brigham Young University to its third straight Western Athletic Conference golf title.

Led by subpar rounds from Blair, Reid and Joey Dills, the Cougars pulled away from a tie with Arizona State to take the team title with a score of 873. Arizona State finished second at 879; Host New Mexico was third at 882, followed by Arizona, 902, Utah, 920, and Wyoming 963.

Blair, who fired a two-under-par 70, and Reid, with a 71, finished at even-par 216 for the 54 holes.

Bruins retain district crown; Harper, Lynes win 5 for Burley

Twin Falls swept to its 18th consecutive district track championship and placed 25 men in next week's state title along the way Friday night.

Captain Jerry Kleinkopf and his Bruins scored 118 points in the four-place point meet, while Burley, showing up with five first places and two multiple winners, had 49. Minico, shutout of the winner's circle, had 17.

The top three in all individual races, the winning relay team and the one-two men in the field events go to Boise for state competition Friday and Saturday.

Although the Bruins qualified a host of students for the state meet, they aren't expected to produce a fifth straight state title.

Ken Harper, as expected, carried Burley's banner as the top individual of the day while Robert Lynes, not expected, joined his teammate in winning more than one event.

Harper coasted home easily in the 100 and 200-yard dashes and intermediate hurdles. His anchor leg on the 440-yard relay ate up some ground but fell second to Twin Falls.

Lynes won the triple and long jumps and placed fourth in the high jump to round out a fine individual day.

Twin Falls took the other 13 first places. The Bruins' main thrust for another state crown should be spearheaded by the five senior winners. However, the sophomore-laden club will be counting on sophomores and juniors for major points.

Senior Brent Watson had his best day in the discus — despite hurling into a stout wind. He had four throws over 150 feet and wound up with a best of 163-1. He succeeded Terry Hillman in the shotput, Hillman winning at 54-1.

Two surprises cropped up

Bruin senior Pat Kegan, who hasn't run much track before, won the quarter-mile in 54.3 while junior Dennis Bowyer upset defending champion Brent Bodily of Burley in the high jump at a personal best of 6-1 1/2.

Twin Falls won all four relays, Burley giving the most serious competition in the quarter-mile affair. Sophomore Randy Barbour took up the mantle from Jack Cooper and Gary Sievers to extend a half-mile dynasty in 2:06.2, good for the cold and wind.

Another sophomore, Rick Murray won the two-mile and placed second in the mile while senior Doug Larson hit the tape twice, first in the mile and later on the anchor of the medley.

Jesse Abrego of Minico paced the Spartans with second and third place finishes in the two and one-mile runs.

Looking at Friday's preliminaries and finals at Boise, Twin Falls will have its first, nine seconds and four thirds; Burley five firsts, three seconds and two thirds and Minico three seconds and one third.

BURLEY SPRINTER Ken Harper leads the pack easily in the 220-yard dash to add that blue ribbon to his intermediate hurdle and 100-yard high titles during the fourth district A-1 track meet.

BRUINS TOP HOPE for big state points will be provided by shotputter Terry Hillman and discus ace Brent Watson. Watson, who also should get shotput points, is favored in the discus while Hillman has competition from Brent Hughes of Capital. Both won Friday.

3 records fall in west coast

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI) — Charles Rich snapped the tape at 13.2 in easy striding Saturday through the 720-yard hurdles to topple a 24-year-old relay record, one of three meet records to fall in the 47th annual West Coast Relays.

Rich broke the 13.5 record set in 1951 by Dick Attebery of the University of Southern California, which he equaled in a wind-aided run here last year.

Running with California International Track Club, Rich easily kept at bay his closest opponent — veteran Tommy Lee White of the Beverly Hills Striders, who finished with 13.5.

Vice-Dias — Beverly Hills Striders vaulted 176-1 1/2 in the balmy night of the final day of competition, breaking Bob Seaman's mark of 17-6 1/2 that stood since 1968. Dias won the event on fewer misses, with Kjetl Issakson and Casey Carrigane both equalling the mark.

Dias tried three times at the 18-foot relay barrier, but brushed the bar to lose the bid.

Tom Gage, New York Athletic Club, toppled defending hammer throw champion George Frenn with 221-5 for the longest throw by an American this year. The field even mark easily beat unattached Frenn's 201-7 of foot and the 206-7 record Frenn set last year.

The big disappointment of the meet was sprinter Steve Williams' failure in his bid to catch the elusive 9-flat 100. The lanky, San Diego State sophomore turned in a wind-aided, 5.3, while swift little Ivory Crockett in Tennessee became the fastest human at 9-flat.

Veteran high jumper Raymond Brown successfully defended his relay title by clearing the high jump bar at 7-2 1/4. World record holder Dwight Stones finished second with 7-0.

Buhl has district B-golf title

RUPERT — Charlie Hopworth picked up another medalist pin Friday and led the Buhl Indians to the district class B golf championship.

With wind and cold weather ruckering the Rupert Country Club, Hopworth fired an 82 for the low round; Buhl had 343, Kimberly 365, Jerome 386, Filer 391, and Gooding 396.

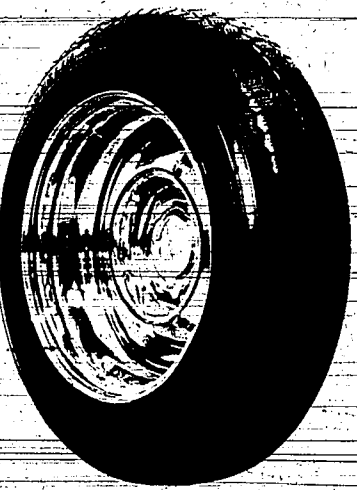

All the teams are expected to play in the state finals Friday at Pinecrest in Idaho Falls.

Individual scorers include: Buhl — Charlie Hopworth 82; Nick Crawford, 91; Glenn Eastman 85; Jeff Hopworth 85, Kimberly — S. Pullmer, 86, Kevin Taylor 91, D. Wilkerson 101; Tom Standley 104; Jerome — Rod Morgan 95, Wade Diehl 90, Brad Diehl 100, Tim Callen 100; Filer — Doug McKay 93, Shelton 90, Carl Brake 91; Hoflund and Tod Bliss at 107; Gooding — Brad Smith 83, Ross Borden, Clark Muscat 105 and Tom Faulkner 106.

The Michelin Radials

Michelin ZX

The Michelin ZX are made especially for imported cars. The wide wrap-around tread has over 15% more contact area than cross-ply tires... up to 4% more than standard radials. The ZX is flexible and tough. A steel-cord belt gives a smoother, safer, quieter ride. There's positive puncture and blow-out protection. The Michelin ZX, an imported radial made especially for your imported car.

Michelin X

There's real gas savings from the Michelin X because the steel cord radial tire rolls easier — your car uses less energy and goes further on a gallon of gas. And they'll cost less in the long run because they'll last. Michelin radials have improved cornering, braking and traction on both wet and dry roads. It's an all-weather, year-round tire. This time, think radial and look to the leader — Michelin!

Glenns Ferry nips Musers for A-3 regional crown

Champions crowned in BLCC meet

BOISE — The Glenns Ferry Patriots, vastly improving their showing from last week's district, won the final event of the day to nip Camas County 38-37 for the southeastern regional A-3 track championship.

Captain Bob Bellstina's mile relay outlegged Camas County to the line to reverse the situation as the thing began. At that point, Camas County had 53 Glenns Ferry 29 and Nampa Christian 29 points — and all three had teams qualified. Glenns Ferry won it without a doubt — while Camas County came from third in the stretch to claim second.

Glenns Ferry's day was a big one. Mark Shelby won the pole vault for unexpected bonus points and Withers, claiming both hurdles, after taking second in the intermediates district.

The important part of the meet was finishing in the top three in each event to qualify for next Saturday's finals, also staged for the Boise Bronco Stadium.

Layne Osborne, bell-weathered Camas County's try for another run for title. The like senior won the 100-yard dash, sharing the mark held by three others including the Boise brothers from Wendell. He also won the 200-yard dash and the long jump but had to settle for second in the triple jump. Meanwhile, Larry Lee bounced from behind in the last 50 yards to win the 100-mile in a personal best of 2:38.

John Hunter of Gooding State won the mile and two mile but fell and was unable to finish in the intermediates. He had moved there to represent his district and part of Gooding State's hopes for a high state finish were dimmed by the fall.

Hunter, who won the district pole vault last week, had trouble there and finished fourth. Meanwhile, teammate Craig Pale kept the Redshirts distance dynasty hopes alive by finishing third and second in the mile and two-mile, respectively.

Steve Suran, of Blaine, moved easily through the weights and at 524½ will make a strong showing in repeating as state A-3 champion. Another defending champion, Alan Schultz of Castelford, took the quarter-mile and will be gunning for a third state crown.

Jeff Higgenbotham of wonder proved up most of the Trojan points and put a strong anchor on the quarter-mile relay that carried the BTON from fourth to first.

Top scorers: Glenns Ferry 38, Camas County 37, Nampa Christian 29, Boise 29, Gooding State 29, Elgin 29, Buhl 29, Burley 29, Caldwell 29, Coeur d'Alene 29, Emmet 29, Idaho Falls 29, Jerome 29, Lewiston 29, Madras 29, Malheur 29, Ontario 29, Power 29, Shoshone 29, Teton 29, Twin Falls 29, Victor 29, Warrenton 29, Weiser 29, Wood River 29, Yreka 29.

SF's six-run sixth-inning beats Braves

ATLANTA (UPI) — Tito Fuentes two-run double capped a six-run San Francisco sixth-inning Saturday and the Giants went on to beat the Atlanta Braves 8-7.

The Giants, trailing 2-0 going into the sixth, got those six runs on six hits and two Atlanta errors.

Garry Maddox started the inning off with a double and Gary Matthews, Dave Hader and Bobby Bonds chipped in with run scoring singles during the inning.

Griffin, Astros stop Reds 4-2

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Tom Griffin struck out 17 and limited the Cincinnati Reds to four hits Saturday night while pitching the Houston Astros to a 4-2 victory.

The triumph was the fifth in six decisions for Griffin.

Expos bounce Cardinals 3-1

MONTEREAL (UPI) — Bob Bailly clouted a two-run homer and righthander Steve Renko completed his first game of the year Saturday afternoon as the Montreal Expos defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 3-1 in a nationally televised game.

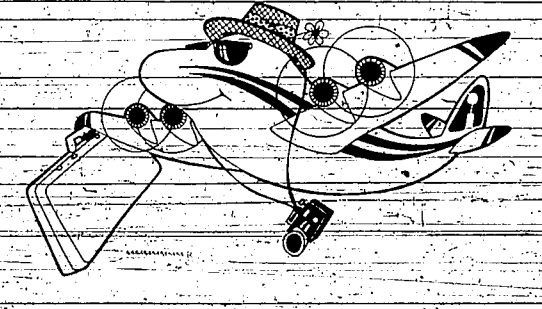

Phillies drop Pirates 3-1

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Mike Schmidt drove in two runs with a homer and sacrifice fly Saturday night and Steve Carlton fired a five-hitter to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to a 3-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The American Radials

BFG Radial T/A

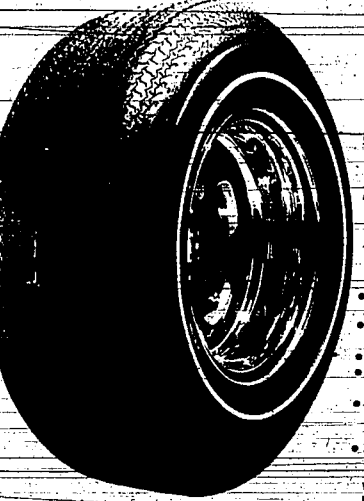

The only performance proven 60 series radial made in America. It's the radial street tire that goes to the races.

There's quicker steering response and improved road holding. The Radial T/A is just as stable at high speeds as they are around town. The radial construction with flexible sidewalls gives you superior mileage. Available with bold raised white letters.

BFG XL-100

This 70 series tire of radial construction saves fuel from reduced rolling resistance. There's improved mileage because there's less tire squirm. Rounded shoulder eases handling in curves. Dual compound tread allows a long wearing surface compound plus a cool running under-tread. And the XL-100 is priced as low as some conventional, non-radial tires. It's an exceptional tire value.

Camas County girls win state B track title

WHEAT RIVER—Tanda White picked victories in three events to lead the Emmett High School team to victory in the Class A Idaho girls' state track meet Saturday.

Miss White won the 220-yard dash, 100-yard dash and the 75-yard dash and was a member of the winning 800-medley relay team.

Emmett finished with a total of 34 points, followed by Wood River and Twin Falls with 28 points.

In the class B competition, Camas County racked up 36 points to lead all other schools.

Other class A results included Highland 20, Lewiston 15, Pocatello 13, Mountain Home, Moscow, Middleton and Idaho Falls 1; Jerome, Buhl and Boise 7; Kellogg, Preston and Meridian 6; Bonneville, Burley and Post Falls 4; Borah 3; Minico and Blackfoot 2; Skyline, Snake River, Weiser and Bonners Ferry 1.

Other class B results were Cascade 24; Clark Fork and Hiramah 19; McCall-Donnelly 19; Filley 14; Highland 11; and Boise 7.

Camas County and Kamiah 10; Glenns Ferry and Timberline 9; Melba, Nampa, Christian and Aberdeen 6; Wendell and Malad 5; Gooding, Richfield, Grangeville, Hagerman and Kendrick; 4; Ririe, Kimberly, Challis and Butte County 3; Garden Valley, Priest River, Soda Springs and Westside 1.

It marked the first time Twin Falls hasn't won this title but Emmett and Wood River made good showings while the Bruins dipped in a couple of places.

Meanwhile, Camas County's girls, leaving the matter of first state-grandma-in-square-up to the boys next week, had to wait a long time for a couple of first places but had sufficient depth to stay in strong contention throughout the day.

Perhaps the major surprise, at least from a Magic Valley standpoint, came in the high jump where Miss Reimers of Wood River reversed two years of being runner-up in the high jump. She cleared 5'2" and left defending state champion, Stacy Bradford, of Twin Falls in second.

Janice Vernon of Wood River took the quartet, as she and Miss Reimers proved to be the only state champions

Magie Valley could muster this year.

Twin Falls took the quartermile and mile relays while Wood River won the 880-yard affair and placed second in the medley.

On the B side, Camas County didn't have a first or second—which surprising—going into the final two events of the day.

Then the medley and mile relay teams led the cake with victories.

Susie Brown of Glenns Ferry took the high jump championship in 5'4" and set a new B state record along the way. Bill she was the only Magic Valley individual champion.

ISU smashes to Big Sky track crown

OGDEN, Utah (UPI)—Idaho State grabbed 10 of 18 firsts in the 1974 Big Sky Conference track and field championships to turn the meet into a runaway Saturday scoring more than 100 points, far ahead of any other conference champion.

Idaho State Olympian Carl Lawson led the Bengals in the successful defense of their conference crown as he grabbed firsts in both the 100- and 220-yard dashes and anchored ISU's winning 400-relay team.

It was ISU's ninth Big Sky championship in 17 years.

Boise State, rated the early favorite to upset ISU, got a conference record from triple jumper Jerry Bell, but the Bengals finished disappointing second to the Bengals. Bell's leap of 50 feet, 10 inches bettered the six-year-old mark of Montana State's Jim Till, made good this title but Emmett and Wood River made good showings while the Bruins dipped in a couple of places.

Milwaukee, Boston title battle reaches last day

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—It's fitting that the two greatest basketball teams as the Boston Celtics and Milwaukee Bucks stretch their NBA championship series—comes down to one final game.

"We beat them there before and there's no reason we can't do it again," he said. "After we beat them there, I'm sure they felt badly but they came back thinking they could win and they did. We have to go out there with the same attitude."

The series has narrowed down to a battle between two excellently schooled teams. Both teams know what the other team is going to do and it's all a matter of execution now.

second on just two hits as walks and three errors kept the Milwaukee rally going.

Warburton's sacrifice fly plated one, an error on a grounder let in another, and a dropped pop fly polished it off.

The Spartans stretched about 1-1 in the third as Dietz and Dean fanned but lived on a passed ball. They worked a double steal for one and a pair of walks for two in the fourth.

Buhl came back a little in the closing two innings, largely on the timely hitting of Hamilton who had three-for-three with four RBIs.

Boise State grabs Big Sky net crown

OGDEN, Utah (UPI)—Boise State University, winning four singles matches and two in doubles, took its first Big Sky Conference tennis championship, easily defeating eight-time defending champion Idaho Saturday at the Mt. Eyrie Racquet Club.

Everything went as planned in the singles finals as Boise State's top seeded Nacho Larracochea easily downed Mike Hallowell of Montana in straight sets to take the No. 1 singles crown.

Larracochea won the first set, 6-2, and then broke Hallowell's second service to take the second set. The Broncos had the team title before the doubles finals were even played.

Steege teamed with Tony Poutious of Boise State to grab the second upset in doubles, downing Weber State's Nelson and Taylor in another three-set match. The Broncos team won 6-3, 5-7 and 6-4, to take the No. 2 doubles.

In the No. 3 doubles, Smyth of Boise State and teammate Larry Parsons lost the opening set, 2-6, to Idaho's Robert Leonard and Dan Shaw but won the final two, 7-6 and 6-1, for the Broncos' sixth title.

ANDY ANDERSON, right RECEIVES AWARD

Andy & Bob's Motor Company of Buhl, Idaho, has won Ford Motor Company's Distinguished Service Citation for outstanding service efficiency and customer relations.

Andy Anderson, president of Andy & Bob's Motor Company, was honored by Ford Customer Service Division at recent luncheon ceremonies in Salt Lake and presented with a specially minted gold-plate coin mounted on glass which can be displayed at the dealership.

Philip E. Benton, Jr., vice president and general manager of Ford Customer Service Division, said, "Andy & Bob's Motor can be justly proud of receiving this distinction for its service department employees. It ranks them in the upper 15 percent of Ford and Lincoln-Mercury service personnel nationally. He explained that the Citation is given annually to qualifying dealerships.

Ford Customer Service Division was formed in October, 1971, and has offices in 34 U.S. cities. In addition to awarding Distinguished Service Citations to selected dealers, the division provides monthly incentive prizes for individual service employees who provide outstanding customer service.

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, MAY 12, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: After services or inspirational studies, get out in the social whirl, enjoy others, and do whatever is available of a humanitarian nature.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Listening to the suggestions of good friends on how to gain your personal wishes brings fine results. Out to the social in p.m. for a delightful time.

TAUROS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A good day to do something that will help you and your community. Plan more efficient future routines. Take it easy tonight!

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Contact bigwig in career, who can aid you and who have information you need. Make new contacts who can be of great future help.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Your intuition is working accurately. You can now know how to advance quickly in the future. Enjoy recreations with mate. Be generous.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Ideal day to sit down with trustees generally, iron out differences and make better arrangements for the future. More harmony with outside world is possible.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Showing appreciation for those who have done you many favors in the past will improve efficiency.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Enjoy sports, other pleasurable activities with those you like. Give a gift to a close friend or acquaintance. Ideal day.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) Come to a far better understanding of home for harmony and love. Study new project that has a fine chance of bringing great future success.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 21) Evaluate your ideas by checking them against spiritual values and make any changes necessary. Have a definite time later with congenials. Get chores done at home in p.m.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Think in terms of more prosperous living, then take the right steps to achieve it. Consider one who can help you with efficient methods for advancement.

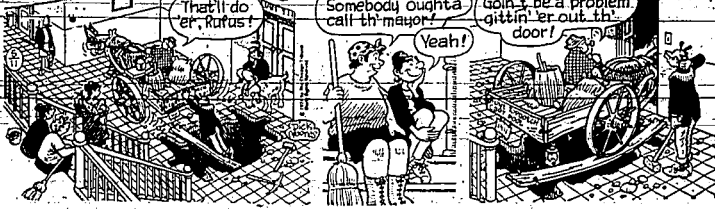

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can expand your personal interests as concerned. Become a far more popular person. Listen to what a clever friend has to suggest for your improvement.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study spiritual truths to guide your life more intelligently. Some personal contact with mediator is fine. Romance favored in p.m.

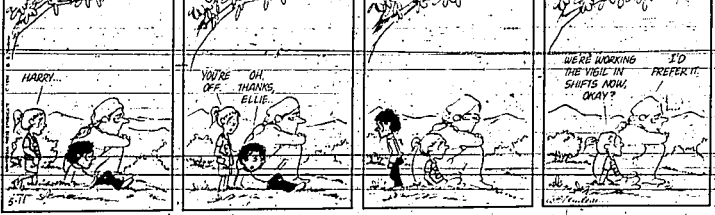

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY - He or she will love education along lines to help better the world at large, since there is also love of work here and ideas are practical. Make sure to give spiritual training early, and don't neglect athletics. Some musical training is fine also.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

What's What

L. M. Boyd

The digger was a dedicated fisherman. Even rigged up his own outfit to weigh every fish he caught. He liked to talk about them lots. Anyhow, this summer at vacation, he got no more than 40 feet out on the lake when a half-hysterical woman, obviously about to become a mother, called to him from shore for help. He delivered the offspring in his parents' room "cabin not too many minutes later." And he checked its health, too, "acts customary." On the only scale handy, there he weighed 14.35 lbs. That baby weighed 44 pounds 6 ounces.

Politicians report that nine out of 10 married women, convinced their husbands changed after marriage. And three of the nine claimed said husbands changed for the worse. It is likely these statistics are accurate. Remember, three out of nine marriages end in divorce.

DRINKING
O How do you explain the fact that my boyfriend can drink bourbon on the rocks for hours at a party, without showing the slightest sign of intoxication; then suddenly no over, dead drunk?

Q My baby's got primary valve young lady. The recent shows numerous nervous citizens possess such stomach valves that tend to stay clamped shut because of tension. Eventually, however, a little relaxation opens them wide. The alcohol rushes into the blood stream. And it's a Good Night, Nurse.

Q How long does it take to make pork and beans from scratch?
A About 12 1/2 minutes. Wash with soaking overnight, hour and a half of something and nine hours or more of taping.

Q What was the most popular handgun during the Civil War days?
A The model 1860 Colt revolver.

Q Can an adult mind be retrained?
A Doctors don't think so.

TOUGH CHICK
A Mashed how it comes to pass that Frenchman has each other but they eat first one side and then the other, in that continental greeting. Origin of that public intimacy remains a mystery. Should mention, though, they don't actually kiss each other, just touch cheeks.

Most popular games among the women who gamble at Las Vegas, in descending order, are slot machines, blackjack, roulette and dice. Write you aware the lady gamblers nationwide outnumber the men gamblers? So we had the claim of that expert John Scarne. He said about 46 million of the almost 90 million gamblers in the country are women. And it's a fact that more than 10,000 women work at casinos.

US gold orders pending

(c) Chicago Daily News
CHICAGO — Americans are only a pen stroke away from being able to own gold. By simply scribbling his name on an executive order, already approved by Congress, President Nixon could legalize gold ownership overnight and give U.S. citizens the opportunity to start their own "Flit-Knox" something they haven't been able to do for 30 years.

While there are not any places in this country where individuals legally can buy gold now — other than official gold coins minted prior to 1959 — experts see a thriving gold market springing up the moment the ban is lifted.

"It won't take any time at all for things to get rolling," says Harry Browne, author of the best-selling book, "You Can Profit From a Monetary Crisis" and "How You Can Profit From the Coming Devaluation."

But he thinks the initial market will be among people whose concern over galloping inflation and wobbly paper money has already led to Swiss bank accounts.

"All they're going to do is buy gold for them, if they haven't done so already," he said.

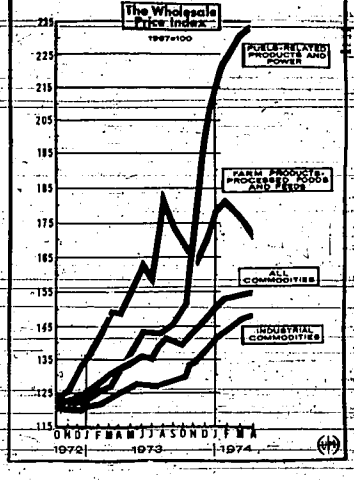

Gold futures could be bought on the Winnipeg (Canada) Commodity Exchange or on the Chicago Board of Trade, which has a gold contract ready to put into operation.

For the small investor who equally — and naturally — has limited amounts of gold, Brown foresees banks offering a wide variety of gold bullion.

If the government doesn't clamp a lot of restrictions on gold, it will be similar to those in Canada.

For example, the bank of Nova Scotia — that country's biggest gold seller — offers gold in a cash and carry basis in bars ranging from a 25 gram (8.10 ounce) wafer to the one-half kilo (10 ounce) London good delivery bar.

The bank also sells gold certificates of bullion stores for customers. The certificate is a cross between a stock certificate and warehouse receipt and can be redeemed at any time for the full strength of the bank. The certificates are sold for a minimum of 10 ounces of gold.

Little effect seen from Nixon ouster

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (UPI) — Even President Nixon's resignation — an impact which would not dampen a healthy economic recovery in 1974, according to a dozen top business executives attending the spring meeting of the Business Council.

The businessmen, who head some of the nation's biggest corporations and who by and large are staunch Republicans, generally say "Nixon" should remain in office.

Several, however, were clearly troubled by transcripts of Nixon's taped conversations he released last week.

But they insisted that the basic economy is so strong that even Nixon's ouster would cause only minor ripples for business.

In interviews, the businessmen refused to be quoted by name. They are among the 100 members of the Council, an unofficial body that acts as liaison between government and the business community in both Republican and Democratic administrations.

"One top industrialist predicted that Nixon would be gone soon and said the economy would be stronger for it. 'The country lacks leadership now,' he said."

Another noted cheerfully that the administration is so occupied with its Watergate troubles that business was being left more and more to its own devices with less government interference.

Several executives admitted that the current heavy-inflation is causing some disruptions, such as rapid inventory building to avoid anticipated higher costs later on.

But they pointed out that the current slowdown is narrowly based, primarily in automobiles and housing, and that their own industries are being pressed to keep up with sales demand.

Their optimism jibed with a forecast by the Council's economic consultants, who said that despite concern over "double digit" inflation, the general level of business is expected to improve slowly this year but with a faster pace evident by the fourth quarter.

But the economists said they were concerned with the prospect of shortages in basic raw materials and new wage demands from labor, triggered by the escalating cost of living.

They were also gloomy over the outlook for new house construction because of the Federal Reserve's announced intention to tighten the money

$10.3 billion aid due for US housing market

(c) Washington Star-Star News
WASHINGTON — President Nixon Friday announced steps to pump $10.3 billion — most of it private funds — into the money-starved housing market before the end of this year.

The move is intended to make home loans easier to get and it will do little to lower record interest rates.

At the same time, Nixon announced an increase from 8% to 8 1/2% per cent in the interest rate on FHA and VA home loans.

Nixon said the boost in the FHA-VA rate will make the government-backed loans more competitive with other money costs.

Following a meeting with house and urban development Secretary James T. Lynn, Nixon announced a three-point program to augment the flow of money into home mortgages.

The program provides for:

- An additional $3 billion to be financed through the government national mortgage association "stamp-out plan" under which the government will guarantee 50 per cent of mortgages on the open market.
- Extended outlook for southern Idaho, Tuesday through Thursday; continued work with chance of showers Tuesday through dry.

Temporarily were a few degrees warmer in the north — 40 to 50 — and warmer in southern Idaho. Highs included 62 at Lewiston and 56 in McCall. In southern Idaho, highs were mostly in the upper 60's to low 70's.

Extended outlook for southern Idaho, Tuesday through Thursday; continued work with chance of showers Tuesday through dry.

Feeder hogs sold 10-16; 26-27; weaner hogs 10-16; fat hogs, 27-28; feeder lambs 15-22-60 per head; killer ewes, 10-13-75; heavier feeder lambs, 50-60 lbs., 37-50-41; best yearling fat lambs, 40-41; baby calves, 42-50-75 per head.

Started calves, 150-200 lbs., 85-125-50 per head; 200-300 lbs., 110-135-50 per head; heavier calves 350-500 lbs., mostly 35-42; feeder steers mostly 37-40; Holstein feeder steers 600-900 lbs., 33-35; feeder heifers, 32-35; light bulls, 28-32; commercial cows mostly 27-28; springers and cutters, 23-26; light yearling — Holstein cows 40 per head.

Pair earn certificates

TWIN FALLS — Leo Marshall of Twin Falls and Francis Wilcox of Eden, local representatives for Mutual of Omaha and United of Omaha, have been awarded certificates of proficiency for completion of an intensive course in life insurance and underwriting.

Marshall and Wilcox are associated with the John S. Squires Agency, general agency for Mutual and United in Pocatello.

Receives honor

"REALTOR of the year" honors are received by Richard G. Messersmith (left) from David Hamlett at a meeting of the Twin Falls Board of Realtors.

TF agent honored

TWIN FALLS — Richard G. Messersmith has been named "Realtor of the Year" in Twin Falls and is eligible to compete for state honors.

He is the owner of Gem State Realty and was selected on a basis of activity in community affairs, business accomplishments, activity and the local board of realtors and in the state and national organization of realtors and his efforts expended in furthering the principles of good real estate practice among other real estate brokers, press and general public.

North Side board cites Jerome man

WENDELL — W. Glen Jackson, Jerome, has been named North Side Board of Realtors Realtor of the year.

Jackson, a native of Jerome, has been a member of the North Side Board of Realtors since 1962, has held a number of community positions and is presently the president of the Jerome Multiple Listing Service.

The new president is Robert Lawerson, Hagerman, president; Dwan Butler, Gooding, vice president; Mrs. Dale (Bessie) Standlee, Jerome, secretary-treasurer; Harrell Thorne, Shoshone, is holder one year director; Mrs. Gladys Davis, Gooding, retiring board president, is the two-year director, and William Kersey, Jerome, was elected as three-year director.

Dividend declared

BOISE (UPI) — The board of directors of Boise Cascade Corp., at the annual meeting of the shareholders, announced both the re-election of the board chairman and a dividend for shareholders.

Stephen B. Messer, 48, has been chairman of the board since October 1972.

The directors voted to increase the annualized dividend rate on common stock to 50 cents per share from 25 cents.

The board said the dividend increase recognizes that the company's financial strength and earning power are sufficient not only to support the largest capital program in the company's history but to increase the cash dividend paid to shareholders.

The company plans a $1.1 billion capital program over the five years beginning in 1974.

Revenues increase

SALT LAKE CITY — JB's Big Boy Family Restaurants, Inc. reported today that revenues in the 24 weeks ending March 17 were up 33 per cent from last year.

Revenues totaled $7,197,511 up from $5,442,330 reported for the similar period of 1973. Net income was $1,478,865 or eight cents per share, compared to $1,198,365 or 11 cents per share in 1973.

Figures are based on an average of 1,638,269 shares outstanding in 1974 and 1,743,200 in 1973.

Valley Comment: Nixon's tapes

QUESTION: Do you think the House impeachment committee should be satisfied with President Nixon's turnover of tape transcripts rather than the actual tapes?

Carol Carlson, Twin Falls: "No. They need to get everything to really find out what's going on. They can't just have parts of it."

Diane Nelson, Twin Falls: "I think he should give over the tapes. How do they know that he's not lying?"

Jackie Schell, Twin Falls: "No, I don't. I feel like there's been enough scandal and I think President Nixon should turn over the tapes to clear his name if possible."

Jack Nipper, Eden: "No. Not right now. He's had time to work things around to his favor now. He's had time to let things cool off. I'm not pleased with him at all."

Karl Brown, Twin Falls: "Yes. There's probably stuff on those tapes that's nobody's business. I think the entire Watergate thing is making a mountain out of a molehill."

M.H. Kloepfer, Twin Falls: "Yes, I think so. He's got just as good a chance to tell the truth as anyone else. I think they show the full picture; he's honest about it."

Tom Prazak, Twin Falls: "Yes. I think that if they would use all their energies for improvement programs and more equal distribution of wealth they'd be contributing a lot more to the welfare of the country. It's a political thing anyway."

Kathryn Galloway, Twin Falls: "No. I think they should have been turned over some time ago. The public is entitled to know what is on them."

Writer remembers early struggles

By NANCY C. ALBRITTON

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Eudora Welty said she "didn't know any" better, when she started sending her short stories to magazines as a young woman just out of her teens.

"I would write things and send them in and they would come back—always with rejection slips—they always come straight back," she recalled with a smile.

The Pulitzer Prize-winning author of "The Optimist's Daughter" agreed recently, during her 65th birthday week, to a rare interview and reminisced about her distinguished literary career.

Sitting in the sunny and quiet living room of her childhood home, Miss Welty said that she was touched with "luck and ignorance and innocence" when she first began submitting her stories of familiar characters and places to small circulation magazines during the Depression.

"It was lucky because in those poor years there were a lot of magazines where an unknown author could be printed," she said.

But she described how the larger publications sent her early stories back to her. She especially remembered mailing a story called "The Petrified Man" to Esquire magazine.

"They accepted the story and then they found out I was a woman," she said. "They wrote me and said they did not know I was a woman and could not use the story."

She didn't allow such early setbacks to deter her from her chosen profession and over the years has become one of America's foremost authors.

The Pulitzer Prize which she received last year was among numerous awards and critical acclaim won by Miss Welty since the first publication of one of her stories in 1938 in a small magazine called Manuscript.

Her novel "Losing Battles" was a Pulitzer Prize nominee in 1971, and "The Ponder Heart" won the William Dean Howells Medal of the American Academy of Arts and Letters for the most distinguished piece of American fiction to be published in the five years before 1954.

She also was recognized in 1972 with the Gold Medal award of the National Institute of Arts and Letters, which had been won 36 years earlier by Yellow Mississippians William Faulkner.

But success, she said modestly, had brought problems and interrupted her coveted privacy with activity that "was not my normal way of going on... there was the excitement, but my life is pretty quiet."

"I look for whole, dear days to work without interruption," she said. "I'm pretty priggishly conscientious. I try not to be priggish, but I probably am because I have a lot of pride in my work."

Miss Welty, the only daughter of a prosperous Jackson insurance executive, attended Mississippi State College for Women and graduated later from the University of Wisconsin with a degree in English. She also studied advertising at Columbia University.

"When I first got out of college," she said, "the country was in the Depression and there weren't any jobs so I took a part time job. It left me with time to write, which I had wanted to do all the time."

She worked for a while as a "general factotum" at a Jackson radio station owned by her father's insurance firm, but it was her rambling crosscrossing of Mississippi by bus and car as a WPA publicist that gave her much of the material for her stories.

"I have trained my memory well," she said. "I have a visual mind and a love of accuracy." During her travels, her keen eye caught infinite qualities of Southern small town living and the characters within.

Those small towns, she said fondly, are "much more likely a setting for a writer—they define a space and simplify your work—you treat it like a family."

Back home in the upstairs bedroom of her chocolate-brown brick house, Eudora Welty wove her many stories on an upright typewriter, which she has often said she'd rather use than talk.

"My ideas come out of a typewriter," she once said. "I can put them down on paper but I'm not very good at just talking them. I like the noise and I don't feel I've really done it until it's been through the typewriter."

She said the people in her stories are mostly composites of people she has known "a lifetime," mixed with a measure of her own feelings.

She said characterization is "the most important thing" in her work. "It's essential; it's what makes you want to

Weather change halts flower blooms

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

BLIND DAFFODILS: We've been asked by many why it is that daffodils (Narcissus) sent up nice green leaves and buds, but failed to blossom.

"Non-blossoming is due to 'blasting' or drying of flower buds. This in turn can be due to violent changes in weather, especially 'hot' and 'cold' spells in spring, accompanied by drying winds. Botrytis Blight is another cause of blasting. Buds start to form; then turn brown and never do open.

Plants which do not get good air circulation are apt to be hit harder by the botrytis than those out in full sun.

Control: Dig up the bulbs, soak them in Captain solution (a tablespoon per gallon of water) and replant. Do this after the foliage has died down. Next spring just as the buds start to form, dust or spray them with captan, or ferbam or other fungicide.

Overcrowding is another cause of failure to bloom. Dividing and replanting every two or three years will prevent this.

Tulips can do the same thing. They have a condition known as "fireblight" (botrytis) which blights the buds. Quite often when manure is added to the tulip bed, you introduce fireblight. When tulips send up one big leaf and no flower, it's a sign that they need digging and dividing.

HOME-GROWN TOMATOES: Every year most gardeners have green tomatoes on the vine in fall and quite often these are wasted. In case you have some green ones, here's a good suggestion sent to us by a reader: Ripen green tomatoes especially those that fall off the stems by pulling them in a plastic sandwich bag. Then put them on my cellar bench near a window. You can see their ripen as time passes. When they were red enough I take them out of the bag and enjoy tomatoes over a long period.

Incidentally, since many of you are going to raise ground cherries, or "husk tomatoes," here's a good recipe for a pie: 1 pint hulled ground cherries, ½ cup white sugar, ¼ cup brown sugar, 1 TBS butter, and 1 TBS quick cooking topioca, ¼ of a lemon juice and rind. Combine and bake between 2 crusts. Bake in a 450 deg. oven for 10 minutes, reduce to 350 degs and bake 40 minutes longer.

DANDELIONS: To some people a lawn full of yellow dandelion blossoms is a real sight. To others, it's ugly. What's the easiest way to get rid of dandelions?

There's not any. You can knock them out but the seed will parachute in from the neighbor's lawn and start anew.

Put dandelions on your menu. Nothing beats dandelion greens, best cooked when young and tender. Some gardeners eat the roots like parsnips, peeled, sliced and double boiled. Try roasting and grinding the roots as a substitute for coffee.

The early colonists cooked dandelion leaves as a tonic against many distempers. Even the Indians made tea from the roots to relieve heart burn and cramps. We understand there's a company in Maine that has been canning dandelions and fiddled with fern since 1877.

Here's a recipe for making dandelion wine, thanks to Lawn Care. Pour boiling water on a gallon of dandelion flowers. Steep for several days, then strain. Add three pounds of sugar, one ounce of yeast, a gallon of water and two lemons. Cover cork and leave for one week in a

'Save English ponds,' cry Britons

LONDON (UPI) — Britons concerned about the environment are wading into battle these days with different sort of rallying cry — "Save the village pond!"

There are worse targets. Those little pools of water left wild life which once beautified every English village are drying up fast. Drying up, sitting over, filling with broken beds and beer cans and all the other castoffs of a rural environment suddenly industrialized.

"Until about 60 years ago," said John Dyson of the Daily Telegraph, which is sponsoring a competition to spur the new campaign, "the pond point of any rural village was its pond."

But now, "with water piped to every field and the use of tractors and motor transport, ponds have too often become obsolete," Dyson said.

They can still be found, and not only on travel posters.

More villages than a pessimist might suppose still grace the green English countryside with a haphazard cluster of pub, church, stonebuilt cottages and Sunday cricket on the green, all suffering from the willfowed ripples of a central village pond.

There are reasons, and they go far back — Roman road-builders drained their roads into ponds so that passing horses could drink.

Smithies and inns clustered around ponds as new cities now do around airports.

Often the pond was the village's only water supply, and it was used for everything from watering livestock and swelling cart wheels to ducking suspected witches.

Now, however, "even witchburning has become a thing of the past," Sophisticated, Dyson said.

Today the pond has no practical use, and nobody to defend its interests.

Enter the "Save the Village Pond Campaign," in which conservation organizations are trying to "pull people out of the cattail roots to salvage ponds which can still be saved."

"It will require more enthusiasm and voluntary effort than cash," said one campaign committee member.

The cost of cleaning out a pond and establishing aquatic plants can be very little indeed, but it will undoubtedly require a lot of labor.

If local muscle isn't up to the job, the campaign will send in a "diving squad" properly equipped to make a start at minimal cost.

"Our primary aim is to encourage people to clean up village ponds and make them more attractive for the sake of both appearance and conservation," said James P. Heard, president of the British Waterfowl Association and chairman of the pond campaign committee.

"A village pond should give visual pleasure," said John Yeomans, a committee member. "But it should also as far as possible make ecological, botanical and every other kind of sense."

Smashing finger removes lump

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told by my doctor that the lump at the base of my finger was a ganglion. It occurred accidentally, hit it and it disappeared. What causes ganglions? What can be done to cure them? Is it possible that mine will return? — S. H.

Quite possible that it might return — about half of them do under such circumstances.

A ganglion is either a cyst or a herniation (a bulge, that).

Your Good Health

is) in the sheath that covers a tendon, and it forms because of a weakness at that spot in the fibrous tissue.

Periodically I get questions about a ganglion, and my usual advice is to ignore it since it is not a cancerous lump.

Banging — a ganglion with a book is the classic old-fashioned way of handling them — a crude method in my opinion and only temporary half the time.

If a ganglion is unsightly or causing discomfort, it can be corrected surgically without the risk of having it come back.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: can you tell me something about diverticulitis? Following an acute attack is it necessary to remain on a low-residue diet the rest of one's life? What is allowed and what is banned? — H. L. C.

No, a low residue diet is not always necessary. You must, however, avoid foods most fruits and berries that have hard seeds as well as a few foods that have irritating husks or hulls.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any way to increase the length of your toes and fingers, any exercises? — Miss D.

Not unless you are young enough to still be growing. And in that case nature decides it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have high cholesterol and watch my diet, but still see a buting could like to know why some doctors say no peanut butter and nuts or chocolate in your booklet you say these do not have to be avoided. My cholesterol has gone down on a fat-free diet. — G. R.

I think a couple of points are being missed by a good many people who are worried about cholesterol. Reduction of total gross fats in the diet can have its impact on cholesterol, and foods that contain cholesterol are not the whole story.

The items you mention are not the type of thing that would be a staple part of the diet — wouldn't be eaten every day.

Peanuts have a fat content of 30 to 50 per cent, but most of the fat is of the polyunsaturated type, which is probably if you are trying to keep your cholesterol level down. Some apples to fresh ground peanut butter — although some processing procedures — increase the amount of saturated fat. But either way, you don't want to go overboard on peanuts, if only because of the high fat content.

It's interesting to note that one authority recommended seven walnuts a day because of their unsaturated fat content.

Chocolate also has a high fat content, mostly saturated in the form we get it.

So let's sum it up this way: Too much of any kind of fat is not going to be good for your cholesterol level, if for no other reason than fat is high in calories. But, for any reasonable person I can't see the point in trying to say, no, you must never eat a peanut or a bite of chocolate.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

10 inches apart.

The more you pick the Cornflower, the more it comes on, right up until heavy frost. They sell-so and come up year after year.

Where did Centaurea get its name? Back in Greece a wise centaur (a half-man, half-horse character) once cured an ugly wound made by an arrow dipped in the blood of the Hydra, a nine-headed snake. The centaur covered the wound with cornflowers and the patient was saved. A Jamaican remedy for a toothache today is to boil a few cornflowers with leaves of a certain pea and use the mixture as a gargle.

In Scotland, if a young man is not sure about his lady friend, he hides a Bachelor's Button in his pocket. If the flower survives a day without wilting, he is certain of winning his girl.

At any rate, the Bachelor's Button is ideal for people who haven't a Green Thumb. It's an easy flower to grow.

QUESTION BOX

B. F. of Twin Falls: "I was given a fresh coconut with husk on and we want to plant it. Do we have to remove the husk or can it be started husk and all?"

Coconuts (Cocos nucifera) should be started with the husk on. We've never been able to start the nut without husk. Lay the coconut horizontally in a pot and plant a soil mixture of 1 part each of sand, peat and loam. Cover with some mixture. Keep moist at about 70 degs.

There's a top and bottom end to a coconut but it won't make any difference which is which if you lay the seed on its side in the pot. It takes about 6 months for the seed to germinate. The coconut seed is the world's largest seed.

write to begin with, a feeling for other people. I cannot write about emotions I have never had.

"You cannot describe something you haven't felt—it's dishonest."

But she said her own emotions "are not acted out the same in a story as it was in my life."

Miss Welty said she usually nurtured the ideas for her stories for a long time before putting them on paper. "I think over some kind of general theme, usually things in the world that bother me. Then all of a sudden something will give you a clue, maybe something you've heard," she said.

"Then you realize the form into which you can put these feelings, you can put it in a hurry. It could be thinking and feeling over a year without even knowing you are doing it."

After a pause, she continued: "You have to have an idea so strong that it compels you to write. Only a strong idea has vitality and you give it all you've got."

Miss Welty, who has never married, lives alone in the big house and still sleeps in her old "private bedroom" where a pink floral carpet covers the floor. Scores of books line the walls.

Except for a housekeeper, she said, she works alone in the house often wearing "an old shirt or a house dress and sometimes barefooted." She said she sometimes gets so involved in her work that she might forget to eat except "sometimes I like to fix myself a peanut butter sandwich quickly and get back to work."

"I am very hard on myself and I hope I always will be," she said.

Although she shuns publicity, she is not a recluse. She enjoys driving around Jackson in an old powder-blue Ford and visits her neighborhood grocery almost anonymously.

"You can move around just the way you want to here," she said.

And her life isn't all work. She said she likes "to knock off work in the late afternoon, meet a friend and go out to dinner or play records and read. I like to travel and to entertain and have good friends in different places."

Some of her favorite books, she said, are mystery stories.

Among her current projects is compiling her nonfiction writing into a book, including lectures, book reviews and speeches that she has made over the years.

She said after she "clears the decks" of that project "I want to write some more short stories—but they may end up longer. It's too much trouble being brief."

She said she was not carrying around any specific idea for future books. "I cannot talk about work unwritten yet, not even to myself," she said. "I'm just peculiar that way."

BEAUTY ARTS ACADEMY . . . Career Opportunity

Pictured above are some students training for their new careers. Beauty Arts Academy has been supplying salons with highly trained beauticians since 1937 and many have successful shops of their own!

Lorene Nelson, instructor, states that the Beauty Arts is guided by the code of ethics of the National Cosmetology Schools Incorporated. They are also licensed by the State of Idaho.

The school uses the Lady text book to help instruct on basic and high style hair.

The cost is a relatively low figure. Also scholarships are available along with loans from governmental agencies, such as GI loans.

High school seniors can take vocational training in Beauty Arts Academy.

Take the first step by requesting information today. You can contact Beauty Arts Academy at 135 Main West or phone 733-6342.

Where did Centauria get its name? Back in Greece a wise centaur (a half-man, half-horse character) once cured an ugly wound made by an arrow dipped in the blood of the Hydra, a nine-headed snake. The centaur covered the wound with cornflowers and the patient was saved. A Jamaican remedy for a toothache today is to boil a few cornflowers with leaves of a certain pea and use the mixture as a gargle.

In Scotland, if a young man is not sure about his lady friend, he hides a bachelor's button in his pocket. If the lover survives a day without wilting, he is certain of winning his girl.

At any rate, the Bachelor's Button is ideal for people who haven't a Green Thumb. It's an easy flower to grow.

QUESTION BOX

B. F. of Twin Falls: "I was given a fresh cobnut with husk on and we want to plant it. Do we have to remove the husk or can it be started husk and all?"

Cocunut: (Coco-nut) should be started with the husk on. We've never been able to start the naked supermarket cocunut. Lay the cocunut horizontally in a pot using a soil mixture of 1 part each of sand, peat and loam. Cover with same mixture. Keep moist at about 70 degs.

There's a top and bottom end to a cocunut but it won't make any difference which is which if you lay the seed flat its side in the pot. It takes about a month for seed to germinate. The coconut seed is the world's largest seed.

write to begin with, a feeling for other people. I cannot write about emotions I have never had.

"You cannot describe something you haven't felt" — it's obvious."

But she said her own emotions "had not acted out the same in a story as it was in my life."

Miss Walty said she usually nurtured the ideas for her stories for a long time before putting them on paper. "I think over some kind of general theme, usually things in the world that bother me. Then all of a sudden something will give you a clue, maybe something you've heard," she said.

"Then you realize the form into which you can put these feelings, you can put it in a hurry. It could be thinking and feeling over a year without even knowing you are doing it."

After a pause, she continued: "You have to have an idea so strong that it compels you to write. Only a strong idea has vitality and you give it all you've got."

Miss Walty, who has never married, lives alone in the big house and still sleeps in her old "private bedroom" where a pink floral carpet covers the floor. Scores of books line the walls.

Except for a housekeeper, she said, she works alone in the house often wearing "an old shirt or a house dress and sometimes barefooted." She said she sometimes gets so involved in her work that she might forget to eat except "sometimes I like to fix myself a peanut butter sandwich quickly and get back to work."

"I put my nose on myself and I hope I always will be," she said.

Although she shops publicly, she is not a recluse. She enjoys driving around Jackson in an old powder-blue Ford and visits her neighborhood grocery almost anonymously.

"You can move around just the way you want to here," she said.

And her life isn't all work. She said she likes "to knock off work in the late afternoon, meet a friend and go out to dinner or play records and read. I like to travel and to entertain and I have good friends in different places."

Some of her favorite books, she said, are mystery stories.

Among her current projects is compiling her nonfiction writing into a book, including lectures, book reviews and speeches that she has made over the years.

She said after she "clears the decks" of that project "I want to write some more short stories — but they may end up longer. It's too much trouble being brief."

She said she was not carrying around any specific idea for future books. "I cannot talk about work unwritten yet, not even to myself," she said. "I'm just peculiar that way."

BEAUTY ARTS ACADEMY ... Career Opportunity

Pictured above are some students training for their new careers. Beauty Arts Academy has been supplying salons with highly trained beauticians since 1937 and many have successful shops of their own!

Lorene Nelson, instructor, states that the Beauty Arts is guided by the code of ethics of the National Cosmetology Schools Incorporated. They are also licensed by the state of Idaho.

The school uses the Lady text book to help instruct on basic and high style hair.

The cost is a relatively low figure. Also scholarships are available along with loans from governmental agencies, such as GI loans.

High school seniors can take vocational training in Beauty Arts Academy.

Take the first step by requesting information today. You can contact Beauty Arts Academy at 135 Main West or phone 733-6342.

Many mothers choosing old art of breast-feeding

Leader JUDI BEAN, a registered nurse and La Leche League leader, draws from both her education—and—own—breast-feeding experiences with her own children to aid league mothers in their efforts.

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Many women today are returning to the methods of yesterday to insure what they feel is the best care for their babies.

As women have done for centuries, until "modernization" and the accompanying promotional push of advertisers hit the institution of motherhood, increasing numbers of mothers are breast-feeding their babies.

Breast-feeding has been out of vogue for decades, and the breast-feeding mother today faces overwhelming amounts of misinformation and plenty of skepticism from friends, family and even her doctor.

Adrienne Thomas, mother of six breast-fed babies and a local La Leche League leader, said the swing to bottle-feeding came "during the 1920's when the female was first liberated." Because of the rapid increase in bottle-feeding, she said, "many mothers now were never around a breast-feeding mother and the art was lost."

"There are so many misconceptions about breast-feeding that help was needed" by the mother who wanted to breast-feed, she said. Thus, the La Leche League was formed in 1956 in Illinois.

"There are so many old wives tales about breast-feeding—you couldn't believe the things you hear," Mrs. Thomas said. Many well-meaning friends and neighbors have so many "suggestions" that breast-feeding mothers often become confused and give up without really giving it a try.

Since the formation of the national La Leche League about 20 years ago, membership has soared. Nearly 20 mothers and pregnant women currently belong to the three-year old Twin Falls organization, which draws members from several counties. Membership fluctuates as babies are weaned and pregnant mothers join the group, though several mothers with grown children remain with the group providing advice from personal experiences.

Perhaps it is an unlikely place for a movement to begin—in a room filled with pregnant women, mothers and babies—but those present are quietly and stubbornly changing the attitudes of a great many people in the Magic Valley.

To the accompaniment of about a dozen gurgling babies, the women discuss their problems, their doctors

GAY Westover, Twin Falls, holding her second child Rachel, talks to Kathy Pierce, Twin Falls, who is expecting her first child. The league encourages pregnant women to attend meetings to prepare themselves for the breast-feeding experience.

Encouraging words and their successes. Because of common experiences, the bonds are close—and the potential for change strong.

League members feel that by constantly feeding their doctors good reports on their breast-feeding experiences and keeping well-informed on the art themselves, they will be able to institute a slow change in the art of mothering in the area.

The mothers try to keep a low profile, though. "The league very strongly urges its members not to become pushy—not to become fanatical," league leader Judi Bean, Jerome, a registered nurse and mother, said.

As member Mary-London Carter explained, "I'm very careful with my friends who are bottle-feeding in talking about breast-feeding because they don't know what I'm talking about."

The league is not against bottle-feeding, but it is strongly in favor of breast-feeding as the best method for both mother and baby. Members aren't pushy, but their enthusiasm is catching and the league is growing by leaps and bounds, with only the support of word-of-mouth advertising.

Still, fewer than 25 per cent of the babies born in the United States are nursed even for the usual five-day hospital stay—that is the lowest percentage of breast-fed babies in the world. And statistics indicate that over 90 per cent of all mothers are physically able to nurse their babies.

Doctors are generally no help, though most are slowly changing. One woman at a recent La Leche League meeting said when she told her doctor she planned to breast-feed her first baby, he told her, "Well, if you want to be a cow, go ahead." Since then, she said, he has approved of her nursing of subsequent babies.

Formula companies begin the push for their products even before a woman has her baby. Pamphlets on mothering, with references to and advertisements about formula-feeding are distributed in the hospitals and doctors' offices. And each mother is given a supply of formula when she leaves the hospital with her new baby.

A push to get more family centered maternity care in local hospitals recently didn't succeed, but members haven't really given up. They realize that change comes slowly. Confidence that their way is the best way for all concerned helps them play the waiting game.

Meanwhile, members provide encouragement for each other as they face a skeptical public.

Mrs. Carter said, "They got me interested in joining the league because they had made it. The first two months are when you really need the league, and when the mother is facing the result of the misinformation and lack of knowledge about breast-feeding."

Information supplied by the national league and the relaying of close personal experiences by other mothers in the group, provides both encouragement and education for the prospective breast-feeding mother.

Adrienne Thomas, mother of six breast-fed babies and Twin Falls La Leche League leader, feels the growth of nursing is partly a result of women's increased awareness of their own potential. It is part of "the whole idea of women wanting to take over the main part of their lives," she said.

"For years they've been told what to do but they're coming back to what is natural," she said.

Young people who are seeking a return to more "natural" things, Mrs. Carter said, are turning in increasing numbers to breast-feeding. Besides, Mrs. Thomas said, "it's fun."

"Nursing is "the one time that I do get to sit down and relax. It's not work, it's relaxing," Mrs. Carter said.

Breast-feeding can also make a mother closer to her baby, members said.

"You're going to feed the baby more so you're going to hold him more," Mrs. Carter said.

"When you are breast-feeding," Mrs. Thomas said, "you are intimately aware of everything. It is easier to know your child."

A nursing mother needs her child to take the milk from her breasts and in turn the child needs the milk for nourishment, building a tie between the mother and her child, Mrs. Thomas said. "You and the baby need each other so much. It just makes you so much closer to the baby."

One mother, who was nursing her first baby over 30 years ago when the more "liberated" women were turning to bottle-feeding, said she stuck to the "old" method because it was more convenient. The milk was always there and didn't need to be prepared.

Mrs. Thomas said on vacations the breast-feeding mother was freed from many of the trappings judged normal by mothers who needed a bag just for bottles and formula.

This could be the deciding factor for mothers today—and not just the somewhat overworked "return to nature." Convenience has led many a hurried mother to turn to dishwashers, washing machines and other electric appliances.

Maybe in the end, mothers will find that the most convenient method to feed the baby is also the most natural—and the oldest.

Mothers, babies

JANE CONNER and son Jeff, above, and Carol MacPhee and son Scott, right, at Twin Falls, attend La Leche League meetings together, as do many mothers and their children. The league encourages this togetherness, and many meetings are accompanied by the restless rattling of numerous infants.

Experience helps

NEAL HARRINGTON, as first March of Dimes poster boy with actor Buddy Rogers, left, overcame his affliction to become a self-made millionaire. At right, Harrington, now 44, chats with one of his employees in a shipping agency, which he owns in the South.

Self-made man

Handicap drives man to success

MIAMI (UPI)—In Neal Harrington's view, the affliction that "made him the first March of Dimes poster boy had a lot to do with his becoming a self-made millionaire at age 44.

"As far as I'm concerned, I prefer to be like I am," Harrington said. "If I had to be born again, I'd be born exactly as I am. I think I have an asset."

Harrington was born with deformed right legs—not from polio, but something close enough to polio so that doctors used fun in polio research. With his leg brace, he became the first March of Dimes poster boy in 1936, when he was 6.

Doctors also told him the only way to avoid dragging around a useless leg for a lifetime was to have it amputated and replaced with an artificial one. Young Neal turned them down.

"I decided to stick with what I'd got," he said. He went on to learn how to swim, bowl and play golf.

He attended two universities, discovered he was a flop as an insurance salesman, went to work for a shipping company and after five years quit to found his own shipping firm.

His defect was the "asset" which drove him to the top, as head of one of the South's largest steamship agencies.

HARRINGTON and Co. started nine years ago; now handles the loading, unloading and other shipping-related business of more than 50 per cent of the passenger and cargo ships that dock at Miami's seaport. Harrington has branches in 10 other ports and represents 46 steamship companies worldwide.

The son of a toll booth collector on Miami's Venetian Causeway, Harrington has fond recollections of his early brush with the famous. He remembers particularly being the guest of honor at President Franklin D. Roosevelt's birthday party at the old Roney Plaza Hotel in Miami Beach. He also "hobbed," he said, in Orange Bowl parades with movie star Mary Pickford.

Harrington keeps abreast of developments in polio research. Although the disease now can be prevented, Harrington says, the progress in helping those already afflicted or born with defects such as his is in the area of artificial limbs.

"Psychologically, I don't think they can do any more today than they could before," he said, adding that it still is up to the individual to conquer his own problem.

He has won the battle himself. "I have no regrets, no remorse," he said.

Sharing child's birth rewarding experience

TWIN FALLS—Sharing her baby's birth with her husband can be a comforting and joyous experience for a woman.

It is also a relatively new experience. Giving birth has always been considered the woman's role and since the dawn of time women in most societies have been left to bear their children on their own or with the aid of other women.

Only relatively recently did men, in their roles as doctors, take an active part in childbirth and even this process excluded the male most involved in the process, the father.

As more women and their men are reconsidering this process, prepared childbirth classes are springing up in increasing numbers across the nation and enrollment is on the rise.

Three prepared childbirth classes are currently conducted in the Twin Falls area. The classes reach fewer than half the mothers in the area, but husbands' attendance with those women is nearly 100 per cent, according to instructors.

The classes, following a variety of methods, prepare both the man and woman for the experience of childbirth. Exercises are taught to ease the birth and both the man and woman receive explanations of the whole fascinating process.

"Husbands can be a great support to wives at this time," Judi Bean, Jerome registered nurse who teaches prepared childbirth classes at St. Benedict's Hospital, told her class.

Husbands are "used as a coach," Delores Sims, a Twin Falls nurse who teaches two childbirth classes said. "He learns all the techniques so he can reinforce her efforts."

"The husband is made to feel he's useful," Mrs. Sims said. "Many get uptight and anxious because they're left out — nurses and medical staffs reinforce this, sometimes."

"I think the husbands end up getting more out of the classes than the wives," she said.

One problem faced by parents who want to share their child's birth is the reluctance on the part of hospitals and doctors to provide more family centered maternity care, according to Mrs. Sims. Last year, she said, overriding the approval of the obstetrics-gynecology board at the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, the medical staff refused to allow fathers in the delivery room.

"Hospitals see some value in it, but they are reluctant to change the way they do things," she said. In spite of the resistance, "I've seen hospitals come a long way," Mrs. Sims said.

So, even after the husband is trained for months to assist his wife in childbirth, he is excluded from the most exciting part of the process.

"He can be with her all the way through labor, but not in delivery," Mrs. Sims explained. "Husbands see them through the hardest part but don't get to see the joyous part. It can make them have a negative attitude about childbirth."

After the child's birth, both father and mother may continue to be isolated from their child. Although St. Benedict's now tries to have children with their mothers about an hour after birth, Magic Valley Memorial waits about 10 hours.

In addition, Mrs. Sims said, the husband is now allowed to touch the baby and even the mother is not supposed to unwrap her child.

According to Mrs. Sims, it is "the more educated couples" who are turning to more natural childbirth. And a few are even organizing a movement to encourage more family centered maternity care in the hospitals.

"If the numbers of couples joining the classes continue to rise, the movement may produce some change."

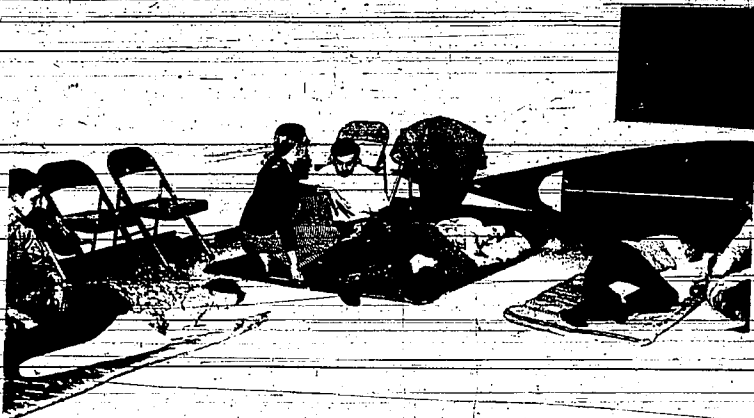

Preparation

BREATHING exercises prepare the women for the process of labor. Proper breathing can help ease the pain and calm the woman during labor.

Classes

SIDE relaxation is one exercise women learn in prepared childbirth classes. By changing from the back to side position, weight is shifted and painful pressure can be eased. "Wives" and husbands join in classes together, providing aid and encouragement.

God created miracle when He made mother

By ERMA BOEMBECK

When the Good Lord was creating Mothers He was into His sixth day of "overtime" when the angel appeared and said, "You're doing a lot of fiddling around on this one."

And the Lord said, "Have you read the spec on this order?"

"She has to be completely washable, but not plastic. Have 180 movable parts . . . all replaceable. Run on black-coffee-and-leftovers."

"Have a flap that disappears when she stands up. A kiss that can cure anything from a broken leg to a disappointed love affair."

"And six pairs of hands."

The angel shook her head slowly and said, "Six pairs of hands—no way."

"It's not the hands that are causing me problems," said the Lord. "It's the three pairs of eyes that Mothers have to have."

"That's on the standard model?" asked the angel.

The Lord nodded. "One pair that sees through closed doors when she asks, 'What are you kids doing in there?' when she already knows. Another here in the back of her head that sees what she shouldn't but what she has to know, and of course the ones here in front so that she can look at a child when he goes and say, 'I understand and I love you' without so much as uttering a word."

"Lord," said the angel touching his sleeve gently, "come to bed. Tomorrow . . ."

"I can't," said the Lord. "I'm so close to creating something so close to myself. Already I have one who heads herself when she is sick . . . can feed a family of six on one pound of hamburger . . . and can get a 9-year-old to stand under a shower."

The angel circled the model of a Mother very slowly. "It's too soft," she sighed. "But tough!" said the Lord excitedly. "You cannot imagine what this Mother can do or endure. Can it think?"

"I'm so close to creating something so close to myself . . . you cannot imagine what this Mother can do or endure."

"Not only think, but it can reason and compromise," said the Creator.

Finally the angel bent over and ran her finger across the cheek. "There's a leak," she pronounced. "I told you. You were trying to put too much into this model."

"It's not a leak," said the Lord. "It's a tear."

"What's it for?"

"It's for joy, sadness, disappointment, pain, loneliness and pride."

"You are a genius," said the angel.

The Lord looked somber. "I didn't put it there."

DELORES Sims, prepared childbirth instructor, checks prospective mother to see if her neck muscles are relaxed as part of class.

Special classes teach childbirth

TWIN FALLS—Three frightening experiences classes are available in the Twin Falls area to teach women how to take a more active part in the birth of their children.

Delores Sims, a Twin Falls nurse, teaches two classes in Twin Falls, and Judi Bean, a Jerome nurse, teaches another course in Jerome.

According to Mrs. Sims, "The classes really are a carry-over. You have to educate the emphasize muscle control and relaxation, all with the assistance of the husband.

"If the mother is focusing on breathing and relaxation, she is not so aware of the pain. With girls who have nothing else to think about, they worry about the next contraction."

Both husband and wife learn how to contract just

"If the mother is focusing on breathing and relaxation, she is not so aware of the pain."

consume because the medical community does not get much help from physicians."

The classes combine a variety of methods, but all focus on explaining the process to both the mother and father and teaching special exercises to ease the process, removing the need for excessive medication.

"The trend is swinging toward less medication," according to Eleanor Kaim, a registered nurse for 23 years who currently works at St. Benedict's Hospital in Jerome.

"The less medicated birth usually results in a more alert, active infant," Mrs. Bean said. And, in addition, "it makes the process easier on medical staffs."

"If the mothers haven't had the course, we have to tell them what to do," she said. "It can be a one muscle in their bodies at a time, so as a team during contractions, they can isolate the muscle tightening in the uterus.

The ideal time for a woman to take the classes is during the last three months of pregnancy. Mrs. Sims said, "so the exercises are still fresh in her mind when the time comes."

In an informal atmosphere, accompanied by her husband, the woman will learn during the series of classes body building exercises, breathing techniques, muscle control, and expulsion techniques. The husband, in addition will be taught several ways to help relax and soothe his wife.

Husband attendance in the classes is almost 100 per cent, instructors say, and each session the number of women signing up increases.

Exercises

KATY Gibb, Twin Falls, practices decontraction exercise while instructor Delores Sims checks for proper muscle relaxation. Classes teach women to relax rest of body when tensing single set of muscles.

The Gossip Column

By ROBIN ADAMISLOAN

HOLLYWOOD'S HOTTEST. They say that Melina Mercouri has been complaining of the way her Cynegogue character in the movie "Once Is Not Enough" has been written. Melina kept demanding of the producers, "Give me more meat!" "Give me more meat!" until the screenwriter screamed, "Maybe we should fire this dame and get a vegetarian."

Q: Is there any chance Steve McQueen will ever go back to his ex-wife, Nelly? — O. N. Y., N. Y.
A: We don't think so, but Nelly (she spells it), who is a dancer, is on the best of terms with her ex. After all they were happily married almost 15 years. Anyway, Steve... I thought very happy with All McGraw — missed Nelly got a part in his new film, "The Towering Inferno."

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Why do the decorators in Paris have it in for Jackie Onassis? Because she called in four rival ones from the chic-chic upper regions and asked for estimates to repolish a single sofa in Ari's Avenue Foch house. The job went to the youngest and best-looking, Jacques Grange, who is a pet of the Rothschilds.

Q: I thought it was disgraced for Barbara Walters to ask Ladybird Johnson about the late President's reputation with other women. How did Mrs. Johnson really feel about that? — J. M., Dallas, Tex.

A: Mrs. Johnson, very much the keeper of LBJ's flame in death as she was in life, gave a convincing and calm answer to Miss Walters on the Today Show TV program. But insiders report Ladybird was deeply offended and so upset by the unexpected question that she says she may never appear on television again.

GUESS WHO? TWO ARE BACK TOGETHER AGAIN? Yes, Mrs. David Frost and the beautiful Diahann Carroll. She filled him sometime back and married somebody else. But now she has divorced somebody else and it's like old times.

POXY GRANDPA: Orson Welles' newest "Rosenblum" is Augustavia's beautiful Oia Kadar. And the ontine boy genius talked Iran's General Mehd. Bousheiri into putting up the dough to finance his new film starring the same Oia. The movie will be a re-make of "Sunset Boulevard"; only a Persian version made in Iran.

Q: Will Laurence Harvey's widow marry again? — N. B., Philadelphia, Pa.

A: We expect so — the beautiful model Pauline Stone is terrifically young and Larry always said he wanted her to go on living life to the hilt, even without him. She is currently going around with David Miven, Jr. and pals say it might be serious.

WIFE IN ROME DON'T DO AS THE ROMANS DO: That is, maybe one shouldn't follow the example of Dr. Andrea Dotti, the dapper 34-year-old headstrong husband of retired actress Audrey Hepburn. The good doctor can now be seen out dancing the night away at the chic La Cabala nightclub while his famous and 45-year-old wife stays home with their two children. Audrey and the doctor seem to be going their increasingly separate ways.

Q: Have you information on a wonderful actress named Genevieve "Something" who was in the movie "Joanna" five or six years ago? What happened to her? Details please and a picture if possible. — K. E., Des Moines, Iowa.

A: You mean Genevieve Waite who bowed in "Joanna" along with actor Donald Sutherland. She is currently living in New York and making an album for Paramount Records to be called "Romance Is On The Rise."

IF THE SECRETARY OF STATE ASKS TO USE YOUR BATHROOM, don't be surprised when Henry Kissinger takes the telephone extension into the bathroom and turns the tap water on full blast. This is one way for him to accept a VIP phone call and not be heard. One actress friend chided him for this behavior: "If you like I'll go into the other room and whistle 'Dixie' but for heaven's sake, do stop acting like a spy."

Q: Fred that the French actor, Jacques Bergerac, may marry the Duchess of Windsor. Can this be true? — E. T., Baltimore, Md.

A: Not very likely. He is 40 and she is 78 and wouldn't relinquish her title for anything under the sun. But they are social friends in Paris where Bergerac has quit acting and become a businessman for Revlon in France. Once wed to Ginger Rogers and then to Dorothy Malone, the ex-actor says he feels warm toward Ginger, but isn't on speaking terms with Dorothy. She took his two daughters away to live in Texas and he is bitter. "All I know is that when they grow up they will resent every flitch that she kept them from me."

SHOCKER OF THE WEEK: Still another Marilyn Monroe book will hit the bookstores next month. This one, called "The Life and Curious Death of Marilyn Monroe," is by Robert Slatzar, who was Marilyn's long-time friend and for a short time, her husband. Slatzar writes about his and Marilyn's early relationship together and then moves on to explore the strange circumstances that surround her death. Where other books have barely hinted at who Marilyn's important lover was and the man who may have triggered her suicide, Slatzar comes out and names Bobby Kennedy. He also suggests a Los Angeles police cover up and calls for a new inquest.

Q: Is it true that Robert Redford and Barbra Streisand hate each other and would never work together again? I read so what is this so as they were great in "The Way We Were." — J. E., Unionville, Conn.

A: Redford says he is contemplating lawsuits against several publications which have printed that he detests Barbra and his other recent "daddy" co-star, Mia Farrow. He claims to have liked every one of his leading ladies and is particularly complimentary about Barbra's talents. He says she is a fascinating actress who gives a lot back. He also is crazy about Jane Fonda, Lauren Hutton and Natalie Wood.

DARLING — WARREN — SETTling DOWN? For years Warren Beatty has been footloose and not tied down to anything more than a hotel suite here and there. (It Hollywood he kept permanent quarters at the Beverly Wilshire). Barrow Warren has been a mansion in L. A. called "The Viking Castle." It once belonged to opera singer Lauris Melchior. So, people are saying that wedding bells might ring for Warren and his longtime girl, Julie Christie. — Q: I heard that Bernie Cornfeld had to pay a lot of money to get out of that Swiss jail. I thought the Swiss had broken. Where did he get that kind of dough? — K. H. N. Y., N. Y.

A: The ball was nearly two million dollars. So it unlikely that Cornfeld is broke and besides he does have some rich and good friends like Tony Curtis and Playboy's Hugh Hefner.

CLASSY REUNION ON THE TUBE: NINE of the biggest and most respected names in the entertainment world will join together to make a "made for TV" movie to be shot in England this summer. The co-stars will be 66-year-old Laurence Olivier (Sir Larry in some) and 65-year-old Katharine Hepburn and they'll be directed by famous Hollywood veteran George Cukor, 74.

Q: Is the Russian writer who just got out of the U.S.S.R. going to visit the U.S.? — J. E., Boston, Mass.

A: You must mean Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the exiled Soviet writer, now making his home in Zurich. He has no plans to visit America but there is a strong, well-organized lobby acting as a channel between the author and the U.S. establishment. It wants to bring him here to address a joint session of Congress or to testify before Congressional committees opposing the present U. S. conciliatory detente with Russia. Solzhenitsyn is reported to have sent President Nixon a private message warning him against generous concessions to the Russians. The writer fears our help to Russia will only accelerate their military attack on China.

PUTTING ON THE RITZ: What's new on the hotel scene? The international bet made a great bet to cover a British real estate group buying 15 per cent of the famous Ritz Hotel in Paris, as if this is an affront to French culture. The fact is most Ritz shares are already owned by London's Lady Berlin and by Greece's Stavros Niarchos, Charlie Ritz, G.oma, only minority stock. The tricolor may fly over the Ritz but the Union Jack shadows it.
