today in brief

Inflation soars; economy slides

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Inflation picked up even more steam in the first three months of 1974 than government economists first thought while the economy slid further into the hole. Commerce Department figures showed today.

Revised figures on the Gross National Product (GNP) showed economic output dropped at a 6.3 per cent annual rate between January and March, the biggest three-month decline since the first quarter of 1959.

Last month, the department had put the decline at 5.6 per cent as the sprawling automobile and housing industries took their toll on the overall economy. But the new figures show even steeper decline and cast a shadow over government forecasts of a healthy upturn in the latter half of 1974.

Moonwalker suffers mental blues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Moonwalker Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin, who has been speaking and writing about mental illness, scrubbed a scheduled speech Thursday because of recurring symptoms of mental depression that developed after his Apollo 11 journey.

Hearst break proves empty

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police surrounded and fired tear gas today into a house where they thought three members of the Symbionese Liberation Army, kidnapers of Patricia Hearst, might be holed up, but the building proved to be empty.

Scores of armed officers and FBI agents crowded behind cars and other buildings as the canisters were shot through windows of the small white frame building where a man and two women involved in a shooting incident Thursday were thought hiding. The trio had been reported armed with machine guns, but there was no movement or reaction within the building.

Gurney indictment dropped

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — An indictment charging Senate Watergate committee member Edward Gurney of Florida with violating a state election law was dismissed today by County Judge Charles McClure.

Saying the Republican senator does not have to stand trial, McClure said the indictment was "so vague and indefinite that it misleads the defendant in the preparation of his defense."

He also declared unconstitutional the state law under which the misdemeanor count was brought.

Chicago transit strike halted

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Transit Authority (CTA) and the Amalgamated Transit Union reached a tentative agreement early today that ended a 2½-hour strike, the first complete transit shutdown ever in the nation's second largest city.

The strike was the first authorized against the CTA in 66 years and had threatened to cut off transportation for 2 million paying passenger per day.

But less than an hour after the settlement, CTA spokesman Tom Buck said buses, elevated and subway trains were rolling again.

Chou En-lai may take new post

TAIPEI (UPI) — Chinese Premier Chou En-lai is likely to be kicked upstairs to fill the ceremonial post of head of state, the English language newspaper China News reported Thursday. It quoted a Nationalist Chinese expert on Communist affairs.

The 78-year-old Chinese premier is reportedly in poor health and recently has appeared less frequently at public occasions.

'Gone With The Wind' due on TV

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Gone With The Wind," the 1939 film classic that has sold more theater admissions than any other motion picture, will be shown on television for the first time in 1974.

NBC-TV is paying $3 million — the highest price ever paid for a single program — for a single showing in 1974. UPI has learned. The movie has been periodically released by MGM since it opened in Atlanta — the setting of much of the film — in 1939. It was technically renovated in 1967 for large-screen projection.

French race close

PARIS (UPI) — France's presidential campaign drew to a close today with opinion polls showing the race so close the outcome may be decided by voters in the country's foreign possessions.

A sampling conducted by the Publicistic Institute and published in the daily newspaper l'Aurore gave conservative Valéry Giscard d'Estaing 51 per cent, to 49 per cent for Socialist Francois Mitterand. Other polls gave each 50 per cent. An estimated 30 million voters will make their choice Sunday.

Striking union headquarters torched in Burley

By ED MITCHELL, Times-News writer

BURLEY — The local headquarters of the striking American Federation of Grain Millers' Union was hit by fire Thursday night, causing serious burns for a woman who was in the building at the time.

Local police fearing arson and a possible union feud in the 15-day old strike, immediately placed city police and fire reserves on alert as a precaution against violence. There were no further incidents reported, however.

Burley police arrested a member of a rival union who witnesses said walked into the union office with a five gallon can of gasoline; turned the can over, threw a match into the fuel and led to a nearby house.

The suspect, Mary Alice Sorenson, 62, Burley, was transported to the Twin Falls Jail as a security precaution.

Police said the suspect had complained earlier that her car tires had been slashed at her home.

Cassia County Prosecutor Gordon S. Nielson said today the suspect would be formally charged with arson and assault with intent to commit murder at her arraignment later today.

Nielson and Burley Police Chief Gary Booth both said the fire was set at 7:58 p.m. Thursday in the doorway of the West Building, 1650 Overland Ave.

The fire was set on the main floor office of the union, as many as five people were in the office at the time.

The fire burned a Boise woman, Zella Peacock, 57. She and the other occupants of the room escaped more serious injury by jumping about 15 feet to the ground below from a window.

Three of the people who jumped were treated and released at Cassia Memorial Hospital for minor injuries sustained during the fall.

Police said today there was only one door in the union office, leaving the only escape route through the window.

Israelis hit guerrilla site

By United Press International

An Israeli commando unit carried out a hit-and-run attack on an Arab guerrilla base a mile inside Lebanon today and Israeli planes struck guerrilla bases near the border in the second day of retaliation for the Maalot massacre, Israeli military spokesmen reported.

Damascus reported a daylight over Lebanon between Israeli and Syrian planes but Israel denied the report. The Lebanese military command said Israeli planes broke the sonic barrier over Beirut today and that the Lebanese air force scrambled but made no contact.

A Syrian communique issued in Damascus said the Syrian and Israeli warplanes fought an air battle over south Lebanon today and that an Israeli plane was shot down in flames.

"There was no contact, there was no battle and there was no downing," an Israeli army spokesman said in Tel Aviv.

The Lebanese government announced that 48 persons were killed and 184 wounded in two Israeli air strikes into Lebanon Thursday, carried out in retaliation for an Arab guerrilla attack on the Israeli border village of Maalot that left 30 persons dead.

The Israeli air strikes brought sharp criticism from Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who had also denounced the Arab guerrilla attack.

Egypt warned Israel that there could be grave consequences from the air raids and the Egyptian War Ministry accused a resumption of the war.

Israel did not mention inflicting casualties in today's ground strikes.

Nixon asks TV, public in hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has caught the House Judiciary committee off guard by demanding that it immediately open its impeachment hearings to the public and open television coverage.

Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., is resisting, saying he must preserve the confidentiality of secret grand jury testimony and the reputations of the innocent.

But Nixon's lawyer, James D. St. Clair, charges "selective leniency" of evidence from the committee's closed door session is "prejudicing the basic right of the President to an impartial inquiry."

"I am suspect," said liberal Democrat Barbara Jordan of Texas after Nixon made his demand, "we will act on this rather casually."

Ironically, most of the committee's 21 Democratic line-up with Nixon and against their chairman on this issue. Many of the Republicans side with Rodino in opposition to Nixon.

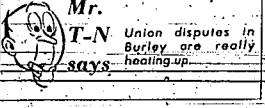

Today is the first anniversary of the opening of the Senate Watergate hearings which brought Watergate to the attention of millions of Americans. Rodino is determined that his inquiry into Nixon's complicity in the scandal must be conducted with greater dignity.

The congressman met for seven hours Thursday behind closed doors, finishing at 6:30 p.m. MDT.

They listened through stereophonic earphones to the tape of a Feb. 28, 1973, conversation between Nixon and his aide, John W. Dean III. Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., said Nixon's discussion of clemency for the original Watergate defendants was just as "vague" as it appeared to be in the transcripts Nixon released April 30.

St. Clair, emerging, was asked how his client was feeling inside the hearing.

"I have no concerns," he said.

Feds close Gem probe

By DAVID HORSMAN, Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The U.S. Justice Department apparently has closed its investigation of possible price fixing by the Idaho State Bar.

The federal agency apparently found no basis for action against the Bar, although officials will not confirm it.

The secret probe, started in April of 1973, centered on the Bar's "minimum fee schedule" for attorney services and reported attempts to limit the number of lawyers in the state.

The Bar abolished the fee schedule one day after the investigation was opened.

During the probe, the Justice Department twice ordered material from the Bar's files.

The federal agency returned all three of the documents "about three or four weeks ago," according to R. B. Rock, a Boise attorney who represented the Bar during the investigation.

James E. Genshaw, a Justice attorney based in San Francisco, telephoned Rock before the material was sent back. "He told me on the phone that they were going to send the material back and were satisfied with what they had received. He said they wouldn't require any more material at this time," Rock said Wednesday.

Kimberly boy killed

TWIN FALLS — An 18-year-old Kimberly youth was killed and a companion injured in a single car rollover south of Hollister Thursday evening.

Idaho State Police said the victim, Michael Floyd Landy, was thrown from the vehicle. County Coroner Joyce Edwards said the Landy youth was pronounced dead at the accident scene of head injuries.

Keith Miller, 18, also Kimberly, was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital by ambulance.

State police said the accident occurred at 6:38 p.m. two-and-one-half miles south of Hollister on US Highway 93.

Officials at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital reported Miller in fair condition today and being held for observation with visible cuts and bruises.

Cpt. Paul Walker of the ISP said he has not yet determined which of the two was driving the vehicle. It was owned by Mr. Dorothy Persons, Kimberly, the grandmother of Miller.

Walker said the vehicle, traveling north, went out of control, left the highway and rolled over several times traveling 811 feet before coming to rest. He said both boys were thrown out.

Gem senior citizens air gripes in TF aging hearing

By CRICKET BIRD, Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — An Idaho senior citizen told a Congressional field hearing Thursday her government benefits were cut off when a computer declared her dead.

Mrs. Blenda Jenkins told the U.S. Senate Special Committee on Aging hearing in Twin Falls she received no check for several months even though she visited her local Social Security office to correct the error.

The testimony came at the first day of a two-day state-wide conference on aging. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, chairman of the committee, conducted the afternoon hearing. He was the only senator present.

Church told the audience of about 600 senior citizens that rampant inflation must be stopped before new and broadened old-age programs can be effective. "The biggest single thing we could do for the elderly and the rest of the people in this country... is to stabilize the dollar and to stabilize the economy," he said.

Other events in the Conference's first day included a senior talent workshop won by 84-year-old Pearl Rigby, Idaho Falls. Mrs. Rigby won first prize for her reading, performed from a wheelchair.

The testimony before the hearing supported increased and broadened social security benefits for older Americans as well as improvements in the system's bureaucracy. Social security office directors and Idaho

Nixon break-in role ruled out

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In his first public comment on President Nixon's role in the Ellsberg break-in, Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski has concluded the President did not authorize it or know about it in advance.

In court briefs filed Thursday, Jaworski rejected claims by defendants in the case that the raid had presidential blessings and was undertaken to protect national security.

Jaworski's statement was in response to claims of the defendants that the raid, conducted on Labor Day weekend of 1971 at the Beverly Hills, Calif., office of Dr. Lewis J. Ehrlichman and Charles W. Colson, had been undertaken to protect national security.

Jaworski's statement was in response to claims of the defendants that the raid, conducted on Labor Day weekend of 1971 at the Beverly Hills, Calif., office of Dr. Lewis J. Ehrlichman and Charles W. Colson, had been undertaken to protect national security.

The prosecutor stressed that the White House "plumbers" unit that carried out the raid had acted illegally on its own, referring to their operations as "warriorlike... trespassory break-in and search that had not received the prior approval of the President or the attorney general."

Two of Nixon's closest former aides, John J. Ehrlichman and Charles W. Colson, have been indicted in the Ellsberg case, along with four of the men who allegedly carried out the raid in search of Ehrlichman's psychiatric files.

Gem energy aides praised

BOISE (UPI) — A Federal Office of Energy representative attributed the success of Idaho's energy office in solving fuel supply problems to professionalism, cooperation and an ability to think ahead.

Chase (Chase, case resolution officer for the regional office in Seattle, told United Press International that the Idaho office is outstanding "for its record in cooperation and professional handling of allocation problems."

He said the most prominent example was the way the Gem State staff worked with the Boise Interagency Fire Center to make sure there would be an adequate supply of fuel to support fire prevention and fire fighting operations.

The office determined what would be needed, where the suppliers would be for both ground and aviation equipment and how to cut red tape.

"... take care of interagency fire center emergency situations."

Chase said reports on the plans for the center have been passed along "all the way to the national level as a perfect example of what a state can do."

In Boise to review changes in allocation regulations with the Idaho office, Chase also commended the Boise office for its promptness in responding to information requests from the federal office.

"Even when I call and they don't have an answer, I know that they will have an answer the same day or the next at the most," he said.

Way Station schedules live music

TWIN FALLS — Live music featuring Randy Davis, a College of Southern Idaho student, is scheduled today and Saturday at the Way Station.

The Way Station located one-half mile west of the hospital, will open at 7:30 each evening for the performance. Davis has appeared previously at the youth group club presenting both music and ministry.

A gathering place for young people, the "Way Station" features entertainment, religious discussions, free food, music and fellowship.

A radio program is also held on Sundays at 3 p.m. on KEEB radio station for the young people. Called "On the Way Street," the program features music and a message dealing with the problems of today.

TWIN FALLS — There will be a dance at the DAV Hall at 8 p.m. today.

M.E. Keeney

TWIN FALLS — Milford E. Keeney, 49, Boise, former Twin Falls and Buhl resident, died at a Boise hospital Tuesday following a heart attack.

Born March 25, 1925, in Peculiar, Mo., he moved to Buhl where he graduated from high school in 1943.

"During World War II, he served in the US Army in Belgium and England and was wounded in Germany. He was awarded a purple heart and the bronze star.

Following his army discharge in August of 1947, he entered Idaho State University at Pocatello, graduating in 1954 with a degree in accounting.

On June 22, 1952, he married Jennette Havlicek at Halger, Neb. They lived at Twin Falls from 1954 to 1958 where Mr. Keeney worked for the accounting firm of Peterson and Seamans and later for Reliance-Credit Corp.

Mr. Keeney was a member of the Idaho Legislative Auditor's Office where he was employed at the time of his death.

Mr. Keeney was a member of the Twin Falls Old Fellows Lodge, the Disabled American Veterans, and the Idaho and American societies of public accountants.

He attended Cole Community Church in Boise.

He is survived by his wife; one daughter; two sons; a sister, Fannie Keeney, Buhl, and one brother, David.

Funeral services and burial will be at 11 a.m. Monday in Boise.

The family suggests "memorials" to the Cole Community Church or the Heart Fund.

Inspection testing planned

TWIN FALLS — Testing and certification for all persons who own motor vehicles, inspections and mobile home inspections in Twin Falls and Buhl will be conducted next month.

Adrian A. Smith, Department of Law Enforcement, Twin Falls, said the new laws governing vehicle inspections for issuance of safety stickers requires every person who actually does the inspections to be individually tested and certified.

Such personnel in the Buhl and Twin Falls area will be given tests June 17, 18, and 19 in the mini-simulation of the College of Southern Idaho. The testing each day will run from 7 to 9 p.m.

Owners, managers and employees who will make out and sign affidavits based on information from work orders will be exempt from the test and certification, Davis said.

CSI favored to handle funds

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Representatives of Magic Valley senior citizen groups have voted overwhelmingly for the College of Southern Idaho to administer aging programs.

But CSI has not yet expressed official interest in administering aging funds.

The recommendation by senior representatives from five valley counties, including Twin Falls, Cassia, Minidoka, Jerome and Gooding, is part of a federally-inspired push towards regionalization.

The Idaho Office on Aging requested several months ago that representatives of valley senior citizens "oppose" an across-the-board agency to administer the funds from the Older-Americans Act.

A move toward regionalization will increase availability of funds and decrease repetition of services and administrative expenditures, according to the government.

Both the South Central Community Action Agency, which presently administers some aging programs, and the newly-created Magic Valley Association of Governments (MVAOG) expressed official interest.

MVAOG is the organization to result from the planned July 1 merger from the Wood River Resource Area Council of Governments (WRRACOG) and the South Idaho Resource Planning and Development Association (SIRPDA).

No formal application was submitted by the college, although seniors said that officials there were favorable about the possibility of administering the programs.

The task force vote of 17 to one for CSI apparently resulted from a continuing rift between some seniors and the CAA.

The final decision rests with the IOOA. Deputy Director Will Overgaard said Thursday he hopes the choice of administrator will be made by seniors and the CAA.

It may depend on whether CSI agrees to serve as program administrator, and whether the state can accept the recommendation of a writing candidate by a group that is not representative of all areas.

Nurses honored

ONE of the many duties of registered nurse Maggie Wheeler is caring for infants like 11-day-old Tanya Lynn Shurtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Shurtz, Jerome, in the intensive care nursery at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Nurses across the country are being honored this week, May 12-18 for National Nurses Week.

Firm asks rezoning OK

TWIN FALLS — A real estate firm has applied for rezoning of about 80 acres east of Twin Falls to allow commercial and residential developments.

A public hearing on the application is scheduled for June 3 before the Twin Falls County commissioners.

Globe Realty, Twin Falls, has requested zone changes that would permit commercial uses on about 40 acres and medium-density residential uses on another 40 acres northwest of Tolman Corner.

About 60 acres of the parcel currently are zoned for agricultural purposes. The remaining land has a commercial designation.

The Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Commission recommended disapproval of the rezoning request May 9 following a public hearing. Several persons voiced opposition to the zone changes.

Bruce Mechem, a Globe Realty spokesman, Wednesday said several "small and large" corporations are interested in locating at the site north of Kimberly Road.

"I don't think it's going to be critical if all 40 acres aren't given a commercial designation," he said. About 20 acres in the area will be zoned for commercial uses under the new county zoning ordinance, according to Mechem.

"Some people will still be interested even with the 20 acres," he said.

Mechem denied reports that Grand Central Stores, a discount chain, is among the commercial firms interested in building on the site.

TF summer fun signup time

TWIN FALLS — Registration is underway for several summer recreation programs offered by the Twin Falls City Parks and Recreation Department.

The team to swim program for beginners, advanced beginners, and intermediates and life saving training will be held again this summer at various city pools.

Students wishing to enter these programs may sign up from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 through Friday at the Harmon Park recreation building.

Chief Brown, recreation director, said children will be limited to one session until all classes are filled and vacancies will then be available to those wishing to take second classes.

The first swimming classes will begin June 17 with sessions going through Aug. 16.

Registration for Knothole Baseball teams is underway and will continue through May 31. Those wishing to participate on Knothole teams this summer should also register at the Harmon Park building. There is a $1 registration fee. League play begins June 14.

Girls softball teams may register throughout May at the Harmon Park building with league play to begin June 11. Girls softball teams are available for girls of the fourth grade up. Women's softball, with registration through May 31 is available to women above high school age.

Brochures are available from the city recreation department covering summer programs. Other classes beginning soon are the tennis and golf clinics.

Registration for the youth golf clinic begins May 28 at the municipal golf course. The clinic will run in two sessions June 4, 5 and 7 and June 11, 12 and 14 with a tournament to follow.

Registration for tennis instructions will be June 3 through 7 at Harmon Park. Registration is open to boys and girls of school age with classes from 7 a.m. to noon for beginners and advanced beginners. Classes open June 10.

The courts are now lighted at Harmon Park and are open from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. for night play.

Youngsters interested in classes in gymnastics, basketball, camping, backpacking and other outdoor skills should register June 3 at the Harmon Park building.

Other activities this summer include band concerts, outdoor camping programs, the summer music program, band and jazz bands, art classes and city parks including Shoshone Falls and Dierkes Lakes are open for family picnics and other outdoor enjoyment during the summer months.

Valley District eyes new school

The Valley School District, like a large number of other Magic Valley districts, is embarking on a program of improving its school facilities.

District trustees have called a special election to raise "seed money" to prepare for an eventual bond election for a new elementary school.

Valley School patrons will vote on a five-mill, three-year levy designed to purchase a building site, design a new school and to purchase a building site.

At a later date a school construction bond election would be presented to the people.

The Valley trustees have taken a reasonable course, moving deliberately, step-by-step toward needed school improvement.

The district plans to replace two obsolete 50-year-old schools serving Eden and Hazelton with a single modern, efficient structure.

Judging by the Valley school patrons' support of schools in the past, there is little doubt that a new school will be built.

In the meantime, the immediate "seed-money" request deserves support.

Congratulations

School patrons in the area have collectively put themselves on their backs for seeing to it that youngsters have adequate space in which to be well educated.

Wentell voters just recently approved by an overwhelming margin an issue to finance additional school construction through Haggen voters last year approved a bond issue for construction of a new elementary school expected to be completed by this fall.

And, in recent years, Goding voters approved a bond election for construction of a new high school which has been completed and has been of great benefit to its teenage occupants and the public in general.

In these times when the national hue and cry is over "tight money," it is encouraging to see area residents take a little deeper into their pockets to see to their children's education.

When education in a community improved, the whole town benefits. The studies show that "how are educational facilities?"

In communities such as Goding and Camas counties, the school is likely the prime of cultural and social activities.

School officials in Wendell, when planning for their bond issue, also kept an eye toward continuing education of adult members of the community—a provision which will be realized because of expansion of present facilities through the bond money.

It took Wendell patrons three tries to pass that bond issue, but when they did, voters turned out in record numbers and exceeded the needed three-fifths majority by about 10 per cent.

"I'd Like to Help You, Kid, But My Regular Customers Are Calling!"

AF cautious, Russians fear 'stand off option'

WASHINGTON—Operating under secret White House pressure, the Pentagon is moving into a new weapons system that may prove a leverage against Moscow's drive to MIRV its long-range missile force.

The contemplated new system is called the stand-off option—a fleet of US bombers or wide-bodied commercial aircraft armed with long-range missiles, capable of circling the Soviet Union at a distance of 1,500 (3,000 miles).

Since Moscow could not begin to match this system, it hopefully would be compelled to agree to MIRVing its missiles—that is, putting from 3 to 8 independently-targeted warheads on a single missile.

What makes this so important is the superior power of Soviet missile launchers. Once Moscow catches up with US MIRV technology, this advantage could make the Soviet long-range missile force far superior to the US force.

There is today no arms expert in the administration still nourishing the illusion that Moscow will agree to any MIRV limitation without something added to US bargaining power. That is the stand-off option.

EVANS & NOVAK

When Elliot Richardson was ending his brief stint as secretary of defense two years ago, he ordered Air Force studies on converting the wide-bodied Lockheed 1011, the Douglas DC-10 and the Boeing 747 into flying launching platforms, each armed with a single ballistic missile.

But resistance from the Air Force and the civilian high command prevailed.

Resisting White House pressure, not a cent was put into the Pentagon budget, even for technical studies, despite Russian anxiety about the stand-off option. They lack the missile technology, the fuels and the aircraft.

Moscow is trying to obtain licensing rights to build its own version of the Lockheed 1011 and other wide-bodied civilian aircraft.

This impasse is being broken. The Pentagon's civilian command has persuaded the Air Force and Navy to ask Congress for $125 million to begin studies of a revised system, bomber-armed with strategic nuclear-tipped cruise missiles which would drop from high altitudes, then start their attack at low levels.

commercial-carrier system feel differently about the cruise missile. Instead of raising questions about the need for the new B-1 bomber, it might well strengthen the B-1 case in Congress.

Given today's nuclear-defense technology, cruise missiles and their carriers would be as invulnerable to Soviet defense as it is possible to get.

Some Pentagon strategists foresee flight-testing a strategic cruise missile within the next two years. Thus, Moscow would be unable to respond to this upset in the present balance of nuclear power.

Fearing the US stand-off option, the Kremlin could be induced to agree to mutual limitation on dangerous, unlimited MIRVing of long-range missiles.

Loyalist states concern over resignation push

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

And the closer we get to a point difficult to argue against, as the present condition, guilty or innocent, he would be an utter fool if he did not prefer to be judged and sentenced by his political peers rather than by the Kay Haganes and even the Bill Buckley. The only hope has now of getting a judicial hearing for his justifications, or extending the circumstances, and of getting them scrubbed into the Record, running in his trial in the Senate.

The great court of the Senate is now the only place where he can, still wearing the dignity of his office, stand on his feet and defend himself.

And even if he is found guilty, it is one thing to say that the country would be better off with Gerald Ford as President and another that the country would be better off with Nixon pushed away; so as to make Gerald Ford President.

BERRY'S WORLD

Gentlemen, why aren't we making obscene profits like the oil companies?

Mansfield for system

(c) N. Y. Times Service WASHINGTON—Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana is a reminder there are still a lot of steady, decent folk around here watching the 'store'.

Room S 208 in the Capitol Building, Mike's hideaway is as plain and calm as a country lawyer's office. The door is always open. Inside, no fancy people or heroic portraits of the majority leader. Some amiable cartoons, and a big picture of Jack Kennedy throwing out the first pitch on opening day with Mike in the background, as usual. An atmosphere of cheerful and relaxed efficiency, coffee perking on the shelf and cookies on the table.

Mike is sad but not pessimistic about the present mess. He thinks it is wrong to press the President to resign, but he understands why the Republican leader in the Senate, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, condemned the President's private Watergate conversations, and why the Republican leader in the House, John Rhodes, suggests that resignation here to be considered.

But pressuring the President to resign; he insists, would be unfair, evade rather than resolve the moral and legal issues. Give the President not only the presumption of innocence, he says, but every opportunity to have his lawyers in the House and Senate to argue his case, cross-examine witnesses, and appear on the floor of the House and Senate, if he chooses, to defend himself personally.

Let the system work, says Mike. It is not only the President, but the Congress and the Constitution that are on trial. But—and here he is tough—let it work all the way, not half way. Take the President at his word. Give him every opportunity to state his case, the lawyers to challenge the evidence and the time to do so. But, he insists, let's have the evidence.

So there must be something right about a system that puts a man like Mansfield at the head of a party, and something consoling in the thought that people in the House and the Senate, worried about what to do in this crisis, come to Room S 208 to talk and seek Mike's counsel.

Mansfield, if I hear him right, is afraid the nation would be divided for a long time if President Nixon were forced to resign by pressure.

Put it all to test, he says, and bring the people into it all the way. He wants televised hearings in the House and Senate. He wants the best witnesses, including the tapes, and if necessary, he wants them played, when relevant, in the chambers of the Congress and on radio and television.

JAMES RESTON

There are many arguments against this procedure, but Mansfield thinks we've had enough hearings and enough debate.

This approach carries great weight, for the importance of Mansfield is that his colleagues in both parties and in both Houses believe in him.

So he has power, even though he doesn't want it—maybe because he doesn't want it. Others here are jumping to conclusions, calling for resignation. But Mansfield goes on with the business of the Senate. That's not before us yet—he says.

He may be right, or wrong, but he has the influence of integrity and in the end, that may be what the controversy is all about.

every one of you. Because of innocent events including character assassination, lies, distortions and vindictiveness by the media, the Congress and my own vice president, I have had to take action tonight which some of you may feel is extreme. "I have promised you that no matter what happened I would finish my term of office as President of the United States because of recent events I have decided the only way I can stay in office is by a military take-over of the government. There are some who say that this is a violation of the constitution, but I have been assured that what I am doing is not only legal but necessary, I intend to complete my term of office."

"I would like to end tonight, my fellow Americans on a personal note: If you don't like what I'm doing, you can lump it."

The next morning Gen. Haig comes into the Oval Office with a long face.

"What's the matter, Art?" "Something's going wrong, Mr. President."

"What do you mean? We had a military takeover and not one drop of blood was spilled."

"How can they not believe it? Isn't the 22nd Airborne all over the city?" "No one's impressed. We did an overnight pull and it turns out your credibility is so low that the people don't even buy it when you say you're taking over the government by force."

"But they've got to believe me," the President says angrily. "Don't they know I've arrested Congress?"

"I'm sorry, sir. It's just not work." Everyone we've talked to says it's won't one more way of you trying to cover up your involvement with Watergate."

"Nixon has his desk with his hand. It's typical of my enemies. What do I do now?" Haig hands the President a sheet of paper, and says:

"We have no choice." "This says I'm going to resign because I can't govern effectively any more."

Revised figures reveal inflation soars faster

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The economy slowed faster and inflation rose faster in the first three months of 1974 than government economists first thought.

Revised figures on the Gross National Product showed that U.S. economic output dropped at a 6.3 per cent annual rate between January and March last month, according to informed sources.

That is the biggest three-month decline since the first quarter of 1958, chiefly resulting from cutbacks in automobile production and a depressed housing industry.

At the same time, inflation soared at an 11.5 per cent annual rate in the first quarter, sources said, a faster pace than the 10.8 per cent rate estimated by the Commerce Department last month.

Not since the first quarter of 1951 when prices rose at a 13 per cent rate, has inflation been so violent during a three-month period.

The new figures make it marginally more difficult for the economy to recover fast enough in the present three-month period to avert a technical recession. Two straight quarters of negative economic growth is the short hand economists argue that the current slump is not broad enough, nor is unemployment high enough, for the current downturn to qualify.

GNP is the value of all goods and services produced by the economy. The latest first-quarter figures were updated using consumer price, foreign trade and inventory figures that were not available when the preliminary estimate was released in mid-April.

The Census Bureau commented Thursday that the year-long home building slump still hasn't bottomed out. Starts of privately-owned homes and apartment units rose 10 per cent over March but building permits, a key indicator of residential construction activity dropped 10 per cent in the same month.

Henry deplors Israeli raids

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger deplored Israel's raids into Lebanon in a statement issued today during talks with Prime Minister Golda Meir and her aides on a "new approach" to peace with Syria.

Kissinger met first with Mrs. Meir privately for an hour and then conferred with her full negotiating team on the 20th day of five effort to disengage troops on the Golan Heights front, where fighting flared for the 67th anniversary day.

On arrival, from Damascus before dawn, Kissinger said he had inspected "new approaches." A High American official on his Jerusalem-Damascus shuttle plane said the two sides were as close to agreement as possible without actually having it.

Even as Kissinger's spokesman got under way, his spokesman was issuing a statement saying the United States "deeply deplors" such loss of life as caused by the Israeli air strikes. It expressed concern that such incidents undermine the peace search.

Kissinger was to return to Damascus on Saturday after a special session of the Israeli cabinet discusses the latest moves. Whether he returns after that to Jerusalem, he depends on "developments."

Senate okays weakened version of busing law

By RICHARD L. MADDEN (The New York Times Service) — WASHINGTON — The Senate narrowly approved Thursday a weakened version of a provision aimed at barring the long-distance busing of children to and from schools.

The final product was a much milder version of a strong antibusing amendment previously passed by the House and supported by the White House, that the Senate tabled Wednesday by a one-vote margin.

The approved amendment would allow school children to attend the school "closest or next closest" to their homes, specifying that the provisions "are not intended to modify or curtail the desegregation efforts of the United States to enforce fully" the United States constitution.

A provision of the stronger, antibusing amendment, that was sponsored by Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., and that Democrats would have reopened litigation on all existing busing orders.

Gurney said after Thursday's Senate action, "It will give the courts the green light to just continue the decisions they have been deciding."

The vote, which came one day before the 20th anniversary of the Supreme Court's historic ruling against "separate, but equal" school systems, apparently completed action on the controversial busing issue and the Senate turned to other amendments of the federal aid to education bill pending on the senate floor.

The final version of whatever antibusing provisions emerge as part of the education bill will be decided by Senate-House conferees after the Senate completes action, probably late Monday on the pending bill.

Indicted for murder of whites SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Four young Black Muslims were indicted for murder and assault Thursday in the "Zebra" killings that left 13 white victims dead.

The indictments were handed up in San Francisco Superior Court following three days of testimony, including an appearance by an informer who tied the killings to a cult called the "Death Angels."

Indicted were: Muhamad Moore, 29; J.C. Simon, 29; and Larry Green, 28, all of San Francisco, and a fourth, arrested May 1 in a pre-dawn raid, but for whom no name was set at $300,000.

Jessie Cooks, already serving a murder term at San Quentin Prison, was also indicted. Cooks had not previously appeared in court in connection with the "Zebra" slayings.

Assistant District Attorney Walter Giubini told the court that police have the weapons used in 12 shootings and six gunshot assaults.

Albert Fortuna, director of evangelism campaigns, said he would meet in Washington, D.C. with other church leaders and ministers of the fundamentalist church. The breakaway group opposes the control and policies of church president Herbert W. Armstrong, 81, and his son, Garner Ted Armstrong, 41, who was allowed to return to church leadership after a period of absence, which the dissidents say "was" brought about by "discoveries" of a number of sexual indiscretions.

The dissidents have taken the name Associated Churches of God.

The Armstrongs control the church's radio and television facilities—and Ambassador College here.

"I repudiate the leadership of the organization," Fortuna wrote in a letter he said was delivered to the elder Armstrong.

He said he was resigning because of the "continuing oppression, the misrepresentations, the corruptions, the ungodly methods employed."

Rains block Viet troop aid

SAIGON (UPI) — A combination of monsoon rains and a Communist shelling attack against a government air base today blocked efforts to aid 570 government troops and 2,200 civilians in the central highlands.

The Saigon command said the North Vietnamese shelled a Communist line. It was reported to have killed 10 government troops and wounded 31.

Low-lying clouds and heavy rain prevented government air strikes and sending in reinforcements to the border camp at Dak Pek, command spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien said.

Dak Pek is 300 miles north of Saigon and 60 miles behind Communist lines. It was a run Thursday by about 5,000 tanked north Vietnamese troops and all radio contact has been lost.

"We are trying to send a plane to Dak Pek and observation aircraft to rescue survivors if any," Hien said. "The weather is very bad, very cloudy and our fighter bombers could not carry out missions today."

Axes used to force strike

BELFAST (UPI) — Roving busloads of men used pickaxes today to force construction workers in the Belfast area to join a three-day-old general strike mounted by militant Protestants, police said.

They said several workers who refused to lay down their tools were beaten. But no one was reported hospitalized.

The attacks came as many shop owners in the city were warned by anonymous telephone calls to close up or be burned out.

Police said they had received numerous complaints about the threats in what they said appeared to be a concerted campaign to paralyze commerce in the province where 1,021 persons have died in intercommunal violence since August, 1969. The latest victim was a young Roman Catholic mother shot as she chatted with a friend in a Belfast doorway.

Tape, Dean accounts vary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House tape of a meeting between President Nixon and John W. Dean III conflicts sharply with a key point in Dean's statements about the conversation, according to at least six congressmen who listened to the tape.

The 38 members of the House Judiciary Committee listened to the tape Thursday of the Feb. 28, 1973, meeting in which Dean discussed Watergate developments. The congressmen, who spoke with UPI afterwards, said the tape bears out Dean's testimony except for one key paragraph.

Testifying about the meeting before the Senate Watergate committee last summer, Dean concluded: "I told him (Nixon) that I thought he should know that I was also involved in the post-June 17 activities regarding Watergate. I briefly described to him why I thought I had legal problems in that I had been a consultant for many of the decisions that were made and therefore could be involved in an obstruction of justice. He would not accept my analysis and did not want me to get into it in any detail. ... He reassured me not to worry, that I had no legal problem."

"There was nothing in there like that at all — nothing," Rep. Thomas Rallsback, R-Ill., said. "No, I heard nothing like that," Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., said.

Four other congressmen voiced the same conclusion.

Nixon takes breather

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon settled in today for a long weekend with his family and an apparent breather in his battle against impeachment. Aides said he planned to relax in the sun and devote most of his working hours to non-Watergate matters.

Oil profit cuts eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Energy Administration (FEA) has proposed a new rule that would lower oil company profits, and possibly raise the price of oil.

The rule is aimed specifically at the "transfer price" a U.S. oil firm pays for oil imported from its foreign affiliate.

Under existing regulations, U.S. oil firms can pass through transfer price increases to the consumer on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

FEA Administrator John C. Sayfill said Thursday there is an obvious incentive for transfer prices to be increased in order to maximize profitability, but to the disadvantage of American consumers.

Before flying to his seaside villa Friday afternoon, Nixon met in Washington with Republican National Chairman George Bush and White House counselors Dean Burch and Anne Armstrong for what was billed as "a general discussion of political matters."

White House spokesmen later declined to provide any details about the hour-long session, indicating that it focused largely on Nixon's efforts to stem further erosion of his GOP support in Congress along with an assessment of the Watergate scandal's impact on next fall's elections.

The strategy involving Nixon's "publication" of an interview in which Nixon was quoted as saying he had given "long thought" to the possibility of resigning before deciding that he would not step aside voluntarily "under any circumstance."

Nixon invited syndicated columnist James J. Kilpatrick to come to the White House for the interview and his remarks clearly were intended to halt speculation that he might bow to Republican pressure and resign in advance of a Senate impeachment trial.

Takeover to hit oil firms

CARACAS (UPI) — A high-level commission began working out details today for taking over all foreign oil companies after the government announced plans for the nationalization of the nation's petroleum industry.

President Carlos Andres Perez said Thursday night the government had officially decided to nationalize American and other foreign oil firms in Venezuela the world's third largest petroleum exporter.

"A new historic opportunity has opened for Venezuela, Latin America and all the countries which are victims of the economic totalitarianism of the great developed nations," Perez said.

He said Venezuela's oil resources, which have been developed by major international firms such as Exxon, Shell, Gulf and Mobil, "will be, from today on, and more than ever, our own history."

Perez appointed a blue-ribbon commission of cabinet members, political leaders, oil experts and other prominent officials to draw up a report within six months for the nationalization.

"We can take over by the end of the year," one high-ranking Mines Ministry spokesman said. Gonzalo Ramirez Cubillo, president of the Chamber of Deputies, estimated the takeover would be finished in about eight months.

Protection asked

BOISE (UPI) — Retail gasoline dealers, worried about losing their jobs, want protection from major oil companies who might close down stations in small communities to cut back on distribution areas.

A delegation of 18 retailers, mainly from Idaho Falls and Pocatello met with Gov. Cecil Andrus and the directors of the Idaho Energy Office Thursday to explain the need for protective measures against the "pruning the tree" steps of the oil companies.

Richard Brown, director of the state energy office, said it is an historical practice for the major companies to cancel leases in areas where they want to cut distribution.

Candidate predicts

IDaho FALLS (UPI) — A Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate predicted Thursday the 1974 election would be based on ideas and principles rather than personality contests.

Bob Smith told a campaign workers seminar sponsored by Bonneville County Republicans that the key to success in a political campaign is to organize people who understand and agree with the candidate's philosophy.

"We should not work so much to elect candidates," Smith said. "Instead we should work for the preservation of the basic concepts of government to which we are committed."

Subsidy end asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top government official has called for elimination of federal subsidies to sugar growers and said the administration has little enthusiasm for a House bill extending the Federal Sugar Control Program.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yeutter, in a speech prepared for delivery to the Sugar Club of New York Thursday, did not call for defeat of the bill approved this week by the House Agriculture Committee.

Office building OK'd

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus asked and got approval Thursday of the Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council for construction of a new $4 million state office building.

The building would be constructed with reserves from the state insurance fund.

Council members unanimously voted to move ahead with plans to let bids within four or five months and begin construction by the first of the year.

It was the second time that the council had endorsed the governor's idea to construct the 100,000-square-foot building, utilizing the reserves.

Case reconsidered

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court decided deficiencies in the presentence investigation warranted the return of a fourth district court case for reconsideration of the 25-year sentence imposed on a Boise man convicted of rape.

The court opinion said the defendant had pleaded guilty to the charge but appealed the sentence imposed by District Judge J. Ray Durishaw, alleging the court had abused its discretion in setting such a severe term.

The high court found the presentence investigation report to include a psychological evaluation of the defendant and to include a discussion of rehabilitation alternatives.

The court opinion said that the report deprived the district court of pertinent information necessary to the proper exercise of its discretion in sentencing the defendant.

IRS chief sworn in

BOISE (UPI) — Howard T. Martin has been sworn in as the new Idaho director for the Internal Revenue Service.

In a brief address after the ceremony Thursday, Martin said he will seek increased services to Idahoans, especially in establishing training classes for new employers and small businesses.

Prior to this assignment, Martin served as assistant director for the Seattle district office of IRS.

Hailey, Bellevue seek water funds

HAILEY — The cities of Hailey and Bellevue are on a list submitted to federal officials by the state in search of rural water and sewer funds.

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz announced last week $120 million for rural water and sewer projects have been received.

Wally Hendricks, assistant director of the State Planning office said Thursday a list was compiled including 75 different Idaho cities, "in need of or interested in water and sewer grants."

He said Hailey and Bellevue were included on the list but could not say whether either city would receive funds.

"My office was called last week by the governor's office, he said, "to prepare a list. District and regional engineers had names to the state planning office."

Direct allocations will be made by Butz, according to Hendricks.

The operation will be handled by the Federal Home Administration, Hendricks said.

The state FHA office in Boise will make determinations by individual cases Hendricks said. Hendricks said the money would be released on an individual basis. Grant monies have to be used on central sewer and water projects servicing small cities, he said.

Hailey has been experiencing building expansion problems although the present water and sewer system has been holding up. Bellevue however, has had complaints this year about a low water supply.

Bellevue receives water from Seaman Creek but pipe from the stream feeding the city system is too small. The city mayor has been searching unsuccessfully for eight-inch plastic pipe.

Bellevue has considered a building moratorium as a precautionary measure until pipe can be found.

The Environmental and Community Services engineers will be in the area next week to examine the problem.

Gasoline fire set in Burley union building

Police said the incident occurred while about 10 other members of the striking local 236 of the American Federation of Grain Millers were holding a meeting in the building's uppermost one floor below the fire. These union members were able to escape the fire by leaving through basement doors.

Firemen were able to contain damage to the upstairs union office.

Nielson said the Burley Fire Department, police reserves and the county sheriff's office had been placed on alert after the incident.

Nielson said an Idaho state fire inspector had been called to the scene of the fire as part of a continuing investigation.

Both Nielson and Booth characterized the fire as an isolated incident.

The fire was the most serious incident growing from the strike by the Grain Millers against the Heburn J. R. Simplot Co. potato processing plant.

An earlier report of attempted arson at the Simplot plant was still under investigation.

Simplot sources said the suspect, who was one of the persons who left the Grain Millers' to return to work this week, told company officials she had been threatened by Grain Millers people. Police did not confirm this report.

Earlier, Simplot officials had charged in court that striking union members had thrown rocks and nails in the path of vehicles carrying strikebreakers.

There were no negotiations scheduled in the strike which has affected production at the Heburn plant and closed the company operations in Caldwell. Negotiators last met in an announced session several days ago.

Rock refused to confirm the action, effectively meant the probe had ended with no negative findings.

"They never make any kind of commitment that they won't do anything in the future," he said.

But Rock said he "certainly did get the impression" in his conversation with Fignesshaw that the case was closed.

"I suspect they've closed their file but I also suspect that they could re-open it at any time," he said.

Contacted by the Times-News, Fignesshaw declined comment on the Idaho case.

"Investigations are confidential," he said. "And so are the results."

He would not confirm that pertinent bar materials would have been retained by the Justice Department if it intended to file formal charges.

Church Thursday said one of the reasons he supported wilderness legislation was to maintain the use of the areas for the public at large.

Church said he has asked regional Forest Service officials to reconsider regulations affecting the outfitters and guides because he feels "current forest service regulations have gone too far with the wilderness protection issue."

Local health inspector Dave Dingman said all pools (over 20 in the county) will be checked, probably by Monday. Each owner or establishment will be issued letters telling them to clean up their operation or add needed safety equipment.

Most of the recommendations will be for safety, according to Dingman.

They will be asked to have throw ropes, markings as to the depth of pool and fencing around pools," he said. "Most of the work will mean painting the cement, painting some signs and buying a first aid kit."

Hansen seeks state funds

TWIN FALLS — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, called for state funding for elderly programs today at the State Conference on Aging.

In remarks prepared for delivery this noon at the College of Southern Idaho, Hansen said, "Regrettably, Idaho is one of the few states that does not provide any program funds for services to the elderly."

"If local communities are to be convinced of the necessity of their participation in programs for the elderly, they must see solid evidence of the state's commitment. Hopefully, the next legislature will remedy this deficiency," Hansen said.

Hansen told the audience "the quality of life for the nation's elderly can and must be upgraded." The responsibility for this is shared by the federal, state and local governments, as well as volunteer groups and individual citizens, Hansen said.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, the keynote speaker for the morning conference session, called for an expansion of Medicare benefits to cover out-of-pocket medical costs.

The gap in the program is immense," Church said, adding the most frequent problem he sees is older people with fixed income paying as much as one-fourth to one-third of their income for prescription drugs.

"I would like to see that straightened out," he said, and mentioned dental care, foot care, eye glasses, dentures and hearing aids as other medical expenses Medicare should pay for.

In the address before more than 650 people, Church said he was working to bring retirement credit up to date, so that persons living on pensions will have the same tax benefits as those under the Social Security system.

Church also told the audience of senior citizens he hopes eventually to eliminate entirely the retirement income test, which sets a limit on earnings by persons on Social Security. The senior also called for work by government on the problems of transportation and housing.

"I've seen a whole transformation in attitude and interest in life in the past several years," Church said. "A new spirit and attitude is what makes the older people today," he said, "the swingers of the present generation."

Blaine to see tightening of Gem standards

By BART QUENNEL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — Idaho Health officials said yesterday Blaine County will see a consistent tightening of state standards this year.

The Hlawatha Hotel swimming pool was closed last Thursday and Clarendon Springs and Bald Mountain Hot Springs received letters requiring safety improvements.

Local health inspector Dave Dingman said all pools (over 20 in the county) will be checked, probably by Monday. Each owner or establishment will be issued letters telling them to clean up their operation or add needed safety equipment.

Most of the recommendations will be for safety, according to Dingman.

They will be asked to have throw ropes, markings as to the depth of pool and fencing around pools," he said. "Most of the work will mean painting the cement, painting some signs and buying a first aid kit."

Most of the pools, according to Dingman, are in good order. He said he doubted that other pools in the area will be shut down.

The Hlawatha Pool was shut down for lack of a chlorination system, and because state requirements demand a lifeguard in that type of pool operation, according to Dingman.

He said any closure in the county could be reopened in two or three days if the owners worked on it," Dingman is working in conjunction with Tim Cochner, in recent addition to the district health officer staff in Twin Falls. Cochner is organizing for a "unified approach" across the county.

The rules end regulations have always been in effect. The county and local health officials are enforcing the code by applying pressure where necessary to get conformity, according to Dingman.

Frank Zoll, manager of Clarendon Hot Springs, said the health department had taken a positive step in seeking safety requirements.

Blaine County rural fire district has been approved by the county commissioners and an election will be held in June.

More than 25 land owners within the district signed the petition. Three public notices must be published here before voters in the fire district can vote on the issue.

The district will run from Greenhorn Road on the north to the east side of Magic Reservoir, eastward to the existing Carey Fire District then southward along the foothills.

The district will include private land except that under city jurisdiction.

If the district is approved by voters the governor will appoint three fire commissioners on staggered terms as terms expire.

Commissioners will be elected by popular vote. The district will have seven to eight mills but cannot levy in the first year of operation. Levy elections in 1975 would mean the district would have its own financial base in 1976.

Peavey said lobbyists will influence legislators to trade votes. He said he would approach legislators with a proposition, "you vote this way this time and we'll get legislation through you want on a different bill."

Peavey said lobbyists killed no-fault insurance and the non-returnable bottle bill and got interest rates on bank credit cards raised.

He said he was not against lobbying techniques but only wanted to "lay down a standard for lobbying. These lobbyists are real fine men," Peavey said. "We go out to dinner and drinks and it's a real clubby atmosphere."

Mary Hecker, a worker for the initiative, is herself a lobbyist for the League of Women Voters. "It's just that the public should be made aware of how these lobbyists work," Peavey said.

Other witnesses, who were selected by the committee staff in advance on the basis of proposed topic of testimony, called for extension of Medicare coverage to prescription drugs.

Several witnesses called for increased benefits and the widening of eligibility ranges. But the witnesses told Church the money should not come from increased payroll taxes. They suggested other sources, including general revenues and a widened tax base which would consider other types of income in addition to earnings.

There was a general feeling expressed by the witnesses that standards for disability compensation and for receiving other program benefits should be changed to make more persons eligible.

The SSI program, which brings the income of senior citizens up to a floor of $140 for a single person by "adding supplemental" income, was criticized for affecting too few people.

Deputy director of IOA, Bill Overgaard, said that in Idaho about 10,000 people were contacted about the program and only one of ten was found qualified — meaning many persons were off the borderline, needing the program benefits but not able to meet eligibility requirements.

More than 1,000 persons paid the Fine Arts Auditorium Thursday night for the second annual statewide Senior Citizen Talent Contest. Onita Hoff, Idaho Falls, captured second prize for a marimba solo. Other prizes were awarded for trumpet and top places in different talent categories.

The first annual Festival of Heritage Arts is another part of the program. Exhibitors have displays in the CSI gym today, showing quilts, jewelry, Indian bead work, photography, painting and other arts and crafts items.

Many items are on sale by exhibitors. The displays will be open to the public until 4 p.m. today.

Horoscope

Carroll Righter

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MAY 18, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The very early part of the day is excellent for whatever requires attention to the lighter side of life and for shopping and doing errands. Later in the day, however, you may have some problems between congenial persons.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are so very emotional today that you could stir up a hornet's nest of indecision, so take it easy and cool off the poison!

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't permit some secret annoyance to keep you out of business or social activity that is important to you. Don't lose your temper.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan your hours properly so that you can visit friends and handle business matters wisely. Try not to spend more than you can afford.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Making sure you keep crucial where cases matters are concerned is important now. Don't neglect to pay a pressing bill.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be sure to use good judgment in handling a civic matter. Keep a promise you have made. Look into a new project that pleases you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) Forget business matters now and be more interested in the recreational side of life. Show more affection for mate and avoid a rift.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21) Avoid a fracas between an official and a friend, otherwise you could get the brunt of the quarrel. Know what others expect of you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21) You have a problem that requires the advice of an expert in order to solve it properly. Don't trust your hunches in the morning.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Difficulties could arise that will stand in the way of your wishes so get rid of them early. An expert can give you good advice.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) There is much confusion at home and you can't get a clear picture of it, so wait until tomorrow before doing anything about it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Use extreme care in motion and avoid a possible accident. Find a new system for handling household chores. Take it easy tonight!

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want to increase your income but it's wise to study new methods before going ahead with your plans. Spend less money on pleasures.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: He or she will want to be active in the outside world as well as at home, so teach early to make a plan whereby both desires can be satisfied. As parents, you need to give praise where it is deserved. Musical studies can please the emotional side of this nature. Religious training brings happiness into this life!

The Star impel "just do not compete" What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

What's What

L. M. Boyd

A statistician named Lewis F. Richardson put together a book called "Statistics of Deadly Quarrels." In it, he reports that 59 million people died violent deaths worldwide between 1820 and 1945. By violent deaths, he doesn't mean those that were killed by their own swords in such a manner every 66 seconds.

The Virgo girl typically tends to be a perfectionist. Particularly in her requirements for gentlemen friends. She's apt to be a little standoffish, at first. But once she catches fire in romance, she burns more brightly than any. Or so say the stargazers.

CHINESE CITY

What's the correct name of that Chinese city, Peking or Peiping? The Chinese name, Peking, was also the original name. Means "northern capital." Chiang Kai-Shek changed the name to Peiping in 1928. That means "northern peace." He didn't want to call that city a capital, because he preferred to make his headquarters at Chungking. Later when the Communists took over, they restored the Peking name.

Sleep specialists recommend either two activities to prevent insomnia. One, a 15-minute walk. Two, a 10-minute reading of the bed in hot water. Either, but not both. Both are said to treat the blood away from the brain into the lower extremities, thus inhibit the mental activity that makes for wakefulness.

EARS

A horse has 17 muscles in each ear. You and I only have nine muscles in each ear. That horse can control just about all of those 17 muscles. You and I can't control many of the nine, if any. Those remarkable souls can wiggle their ears usually do so with their scalp muscles, so he's noted.

The glass makers of Venice centuries ago spread the phony notion that contact with toxic substances would cause their crystal goblets to shatter. A mighty tricky sales technique, that one. It worked, but particularly in Europe, scamped peddlars, who controlled enough money to make a fair market, bought up that Venetian glassware. In the belief it would protect them from peddlars.

Deer, elk permits reduced for fall seasons

By RICHARD CHARNOCK BOISE (UPI) — In an avowed effort to help rebuild game herds, the fish and game commission ordered Thursday an 850-permit reduction in controlled deer hunts and 215 cut in controlled elk hunts this year.

In the same time, the commission revised some of the closing dates of some of the deer and elk hunting seasons to bring about uniformity in the closure of adjacent units.

This action shortened the deer season to the equivalent of 17 unit weeks and elk hunting seasons 14 unit weeks. Commissioners balked, however, at extending the cougar season, especially in the Big Lost area northeast of Yellowstone. Instead, they cut back the proposed season in two areas where the department had recommended closure Feb. 28 instead of Jan. 31 — latest closing of any other deer.

They based their action on a statistical study of deer population in the state, although commissioner John Eaton recommended another study be conducted. He and other commissioners debated whether cougars are on the increase in the Big Lost area, as some suggest, and spreading to other units and ravaging deer and elk herds.

Eaton said he wanted two experts instead of just one to look at the situation so the commission could have something to say to hunters and guides who claim there is an overpopulation of the mountain lions. Peite Thompson's son, Peite Thompson, asked why the commission would do if the second study contradicted the first. Chairman H. Jack Alvord said he had a point.

Alvord added "a lot of people don't want to be confused with facts" and might not believe the commission on matters which the studies show. In Eastern Idaho the commission called for some "drastic" changes in some of the open elk seasons, converting some controlled hunts to three-day open hunts, adding three-day open hunts to controlled hunts and substituting bull-only hunts for either sex hunts.

They called for the elk season changes to help rebuild herds. The commission recommended uniformity in closing dates to prevent abnormal hunter-pressure on one or two herds and there, which heretofore have had later closing dates. Either sex controlled deer hunts were cut to 6,700 permits this year from 7,300. Controlled elk hunts were trimmed to 1,100 permits from 1,350 last year. Hunt 156, a post-season hunt on Skyline ridge in unit 66 east of Idaho Falls, was eliminated.

They also called for three hunts for cow as well as bull moose to be taken. These are in an area where elk intrude into eastern Idaho from Yellowstone. Controlled antelope hunt permits were increased to 1,945 from 1,915 last year. A shotgun and muzzle loader antelope hunt near Henry's Lake, for which 20 permits were allotted last year, was closed. Permits for controlled mountain goat hunts were boosted to 303 from 291, while permits for big horn sheep hunts remained the same as last year at 86.

Thompson asked why no mountain goat hunts are permitted in the northern sector of the state, saying one or two goats could be taken on the east shore of Lake Fossil in Blaine County. Following a brief discussion, he asked the matter be studied and considered for next year. Fish and game commissioner Jay Greenley suggested a hearing on the question in northern Idaho.

Commissioners also set two special-muzzle-loader-hunting seasons this year — one for bear, deer and elk Sept. 14-29 in the Palouse unit of Latah county and one for deer Nov. 23 — Dec. 8 in the Little Lost River area of southeastern Idaho. Because of the conflict between the muzzle loaders and archers in the Palouse unit, the commission agreed to give hunters requesting that they be given hunting privileges in the North Fork unit to replace privileges lost in the Palouse unit.

Cannonade remains Preakness favorite

BALTIMORE (UPI) — After 15 years on the race track, trainer Harold "Red" Tinker finally has made it to Pimlico where his colt, J.R.'s, challenges Kentucky Derby winner Cannonade again Saturday.

day in the $200,000 Preakness Stakes. Five other horses who hopelessly chased Cannonade home in the Kentucky Derby also are among the 13 entered for the second level in the Triple Crown of racing. The series will be completed with the June 8 running of the Belmont Stakes.

Each of the trainers confidently expect their charges to handle Cannonade this time with or none of them more confident than Tinker. J.R.'s finished fourth in the Kentucky Derby behind Cannonade, Hudson County and Agitate.

Kansas City beats Texas, Jenkins 5-3

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — John Mayberry's majestic two-run 450 foot homer into the water — spectacular — finally forced Spectacular Jenkins out of a game in the first inning of Thursday night, spearheading the Kansas City Royals to a 5-3 victory over the Texas Rangers.

Steve Busby, 6-4, allowed nine hits before Doug Bird took over in the ninth, while Jenkins, 6-4, was relieved for the first time this season after nine straight complete games.

St. Louis Cardinals pitcher, Steve Carlton, pitched a complete game for the Philadelphia Phillies, leading them to a 6-3 victory over the Montreal Expos.

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Ted Martinez' two-run double capped a four-run fifth inning uprising Thursday that sent the New York Mets to a 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

With the scored tied 2-2, Bud Harrelson began the fifth inning Mets' rally with a single, and came home after singles by Felix Millan and Rusty Staub.

Irwin has early Colonial lead

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Hale Irwin survived 30-mile-an-hour winds and 50-degree heat Thursday to fire a five-under 65 and move in front by three strokes after one round of the PGA's first designated tournament — the $250,000 Colonial National.

Irwin assumed the lead over a group that included Bert Young, Charles Coody, Billy Cusper, Bobby Nichols, Larry Hirsch and Hubert Green — all at 68.

The wind, heat and high rough made the already rugged 7,142-yard, par-70 Colonial Country Club course play even harder than normal. "It was a pretty tough-out there," said Nichols. "I'm just happy to get away with a 68."

The rough is up as high as five feet in some places, said Irwin. "I wasn't in the deep stuff all day and I'm sure glad it wasn't," he said.

Irwin, the former all-conference defensive back at the University of Colorado, birdied three of the first five holes in his search of his third triumph and one of his playing partners — Tom Weiskopf — said Irwin's found could have been a lot lower.

It was one of the finest single rounds of golf I've ever seen," Irwin's day. "He missed only one shot which was a par at the par's fourth hole. He had putted exceptionally well he could easily have had a 64."

That Churchill Downs track was funny all week long," Stephens said. "When you get that heavy rain Thursday I thought the track would be fast and it was when they were spraying, but every time they rained around the two turns the time was slow," he said.

Cannonade is favored at 9-5 to win the second jewel in the Triple Crown — the $100,000 Hudson County second in the Kentucky Derby, the second choice, at 9-2. Hudson County's trainer, Skip Shaffoff, agreed with Stephens that the Churchill Downs track was slow. "It was 'cuppy.' Most of the time when somebody tells you that, you wonder how they can tell. But this time you could see it. Every time a ball fell, the dirt behind the dirt behind the dirt was moved back about three inches," he said.

Arizona put on probation — MISSION, Kan. (UPI) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association Thursday placed the University of Arizona on probation for violations in its track program. The NCAA committee on infractions said the school violated association rules when a member of Arizona's track staff provided transportation for a prospective athlete to travel part way from his junior college to Tucson, in order to enroll.

Calp jumps to WFL Sun — KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Curley Calp's departure Thursday from the Kansas City Chiefs was not unexpected, but neither was it any less of a blow. The 6-1, 270-pound defensive tackle, a mainstay in the Chiefs' defense, signed a contract with the Southern California Sun and will join the world football league team in 1975.

US won't foot storage costs for grain: Butz

CHICAGO — The government will no longer store huge supplies of grain at taxpayers' expense, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has announced.

The government will no longer be the nation's warehouse — acting as the residual supplier, while holding an umbrella over the market," Butz told a meeting of the International Food Service Manufacturers Association.

If food processors and merchandisers want a stable supply of farm products, he urged them to plan ahead — to let American farmers know in advance what your needs will be, to purchase further ahead, and to store more for your own needs.

Butz said the Agriculture Department is giving the same message to foreign buyers of American farm products.

"He said the United States will not again stockpile food for the world at U.S. taxpayers' expense."

But he said this country's new agricultural policy of full production will assure a constant and dependable supply of farm products for all users of home and for our foreign purchasers as well.

Butz also told the group Wednesday session that Americans could be eating half of their meals away from home within a decade and food industry officials should help improve the nutritional quality of this food.

"Let's face it," Butz said, "some meals outside the home are not very nutritious. Many of them are catch-catch-can. Too many of them are not well balanced. Too many of them are the snack variety."

He urged the industry to use advertising and promotion to help educate the public. He said this would pay off in sales volume.

Americans now eat nearly one-third of their meals away from home.

Rule easing asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A spokesman for the Kansas City based Senate Agriculture Committee to eliminate or modify six sections of a House-approved bill on commodity futures trading.

The sections involved would give the government power to order emergency trading suspensions and other market actions on futures markets and power to control all rule-making by commodity exchanges.

Carlos Bradley, president of the Kansas City board, said that when those two powers are combined, they add up in practical effect to a nationalization of commodity futures trading.

Bradley said the authority would convert officials of futures exchanges into nonfederal employees of the government.

Beef price off, survey reports

DENVER (UPI) — The American National Cattlemen's Association says its second survey indicated retail beef prices are continuing to drop across the country.

Gordon Van Vleet, ANCA president, said Wednesday the survey showed retail prices on five cuts of meat in 19 cities nationwide had dropped 25 cents per pound from prices last February. The drop was one cent per pound lower on the average than a similar survey taken last month.

He said average meat prices were lowest in Chicago, Cleveland, Dallas, Denver, Memphis and Phoenix during the survey period April 9-May 9. Cities with the highest averages included Atlanta, Baltimore, New York, Omaha, Portland and Washington.

"It is apparent that beef prices vary from city to city and that there have been slight to moderate changes up or down during the past month," Van Vleet said. "However, overall prices for the various cuts are mostly lower."

He said ANCA began its surveys in April because government reports usually are six to six weeks old before they are released.

New white wheat out for spring at Jerome

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI) — Washington State University Agricultural Research Center Director Dr. James Nielson says a new soft white spring wheat variety has become available.

Nielson said the wheat, called fielder 1, is a semi-dwarf, stiff-strawed variety of medium maturity which is resistant to rust, stem and leaf rust and moderately resistant to powdery mildew.

North Gem hay supplies short

By United Press International

County extension agents in Eastern Washington and Northern Idaho say there is going to be no oversupply of hay this summer.

The agents said fields in Northern Idaho are still recovering from the freeze of 1972-73 and last summer's drought and acreage planted in alfalfa hay in the Columbia-Basin-Central Washington has been reduced.

Ben W. Studer, county extension agent in Boundary County, Idaho, said about one-half of the normal production was expected this year because of heavy reseeding required after the winter freeze in 1972-73 and last summer's drought.

However, Studer said some of the production drop will be made up by plantings of grain hay which doesn't take as long to grow.

Kansas crop smaller

WASHINGTON — Kansas wheat growers, enduring drought, insects, and plant disease, are saying that the Agriculture Department's May 1 crop production report will be too optimistic in view of the deteriorating crop.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., requested that USDA review and change the crop production report.

Lower expectations of Kansas growers.

Last week, the Kansas Association of Wheat Growers, which claims membership of the majority of Western Kansas wheat producers, said the state will probably harvest around 300-400 million bushels instead of 400-500 million bushels the department says. It will

Cash wheat bids drop

DENVER — Cash bids for wheat farmers were lower last week than the preceding week, according to a US Department of Agriculture report.

Bids, the lowest since July 1973, ranged from 21 cents to 40 cents or about 25-46-30 cents lower than the week before.

Losses during the past two weeks were about 75 to 85 cents per bushel, according to the USDA.

The USDA said the current weakness developed from a slow demand plus the release of two crop estimate reports that were higher than traders expected.

Feed grains lost ground as corn prices were down 20 to 25 cents and yellow sorghum down 5 to 20 cents per hundredweight. Ideal planting weather coupled with increased feed needs generated the losses.

Ordinary wheat, 352 for 12 percent protein, 359 for 13 percent protein, 445-448 for yellow corn and 365 for sorghum.

Fort Worth, 361-366 for all percent wheat, 500-516 for yellow corn, and 437-450 for sorghum.

Omaha, 344-347 for ordinary wheat, 346-349 for 13 percent protein, 429-433 for yellow corn, 447-467 for yellow sorghum and 425-438 for white oats.

Portland, 350 for ordinary wheat, 358 for 12 percent protein, 359 for export, 315 for yellow corn and 480 for yellow sorghum.

The Crop Reporting Board estimated US winter wheat production at 1,612,106 thousand bushels based on May 1 conditions.

Gem field work gains

BOISE — Field work made good progress through Idaho farming areas during the week of May 10 according to the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Northern Idaho operators pushed field operations to get spring crops planted before another period of wet weather moved into the area.

Planting of spring grains, sugar beets and potatoes is near completion in the lower elevation areas of southwest and southeastern Idaho. Spring planting operations were at peak activity in east Idaho and high elevation areas across the state.

Rain is needed in southern and central dryland regions for development of crops, range and pasture forage. Irrigation and cultivation of crops was active in southern Idaho.

Small tractors are more than three-fourths seeded in north and east Idaho and nearly all were planted in southern Idaho. Emerged stands are average or better in all areas.

Potato planting is nearly completed in southwestern Idaho. Three-fourths of the crop is planted in southeastern Idaho and planting is active in eastern Idaho.

Sugar beet planting is nearly complete in southwest and a third in the southeastern area. It is just beginning in the east. Planting of dry peas and lentils is three-fourths done in northern Idaho and one-third is underway in northern Idaho.

Feed is good on north Idaho ranges and pastures in contrast to shortages during the drought period a year ago.

Super Beans with Sorba-Spray

Sorba-Spray shows profit-minded dry bean growers three important ways to improve quality, produce greater yields and increase profits from their bean crop.

1. Sorba-Spray increases blossom retention for greater crop yield.
2. Sorba-Spray produces larger beans of more uniform size and improved quality.
3. Sorba-Spray aids in seed germination and reduces transverse cracking.

Sorba-Spray really works!

As a buffering agent, it lowers spray water alkalinity. One pint of Sorba-Spray in 100 gallons of water, lowers pH to the most effective range, making pesticides work more efficiently, which extends your spray schedule for more economy.

Sorba-Spray works as a spreader containing special wetting agents that insure thorough plant coverage. As an activator, it helps plants absorb available nutrients. For health: more uniform growth.

Sorba-Spray is safe to use at recommended dosages and contains no harmful residues. It is compatible with most pesticides and fungicides and is harmless to bees and to beneficial insects.

The Leflingwell research staff spent more than 37 years in the development of a premium-quality line of foliar-nutritional spray products that rank second to none! Sorba-Spray is one of these products.

It was developed for specific purposes. To supply the growing needs of agriculture with the finest quality foliar nutritional spray product Leflingwell could create.

That's why Sorba-Spray products are unique and different. Others have tried to copy them and fallen far short, while Sorba-Spray still remains the undisputed leader in the foliar nutritional field.

See your Leflingwell dealer for the facts on Sorba-Spray products and what they can mean in terms of improved quality, greater crop yield and high profits for you.
