Strike may halt TF city street work, other jobs

today in brief

TF workers vote strike

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls city employees seeking Teamster Union recognition have voted to strike.

The unprecedented strike is scheduled to begin next Tuesday unless the Twin Falls City Council officially recognizes the Teamsters as the employees' bargaining agent, according to Teamster business representative Roy Corson.

The city took a strong position on the strike. City Manager Jean Milar said today that all strikers will be fired.

The Times-News learned that a strike originally had been scheduled to begin today, but was postponed for a week at a Teamsters meeting Monday night.

Corson said the first strike vote was taken last week following a union request to the council that the Teamsters be recognized as bargaining agent for a group of about 50 employees composed of city maintenance workers — but not including clerical or professional employees.

The City Council had taken no action on the Teamsters request.

But, Corson said, after contacting Mayor Winston Jones Monday, he decided to call for postponement of the strike. He said Jones promised the council would respond to the union's demands at the next council meeting Monday.

Our request is that the city let the State Labor Department conduct a ballot vote to let the city employees decide if they want a union, Corson said.

Jones said this morning the council did not ignore the union demands last week. He said it will respond to the Teamsters' demands at the next council meeting.

But, Jones did not say whether he would favor allowing the union elections.

"The city is not authorized or required by state law to recognize or bargain with any union other than the firefighters' union," Milar said. But he said the council could recognize the union "if they want to take that upon themselves."

"I'm not worried about it at all," Milar said. "I have confidence in the key employees of the city that their sense of providing public service is greater than the appeal of any outside source."

Although they are free to do anything they want on their own time, "I know exactly what they'll do between 8 and 5, their duty hours," he said.

"Certainly any employee that fails to report (to work) is no longer an employee of this city. He is terminated," Milar said.

But Milar said he would not try to oust anyone who reports to the employees' union strike, just as he said he would not try to oust anyone who reports to the City Council.

Monday he said a strike would not seriously hurt Twin Falls. He said the grass might grow taller in the parks, new streets and repairs might not be made and home construction might be slowed down. But, he said, firemen and police would not be involved in the strike and there would be enough supervisory personnel to keep the sewer facilities going and the water plants, he said.

"We'd probably take care of all emergencies and that's about it. If a strike occurs," Sam Hershberger, head of the city's water and sewer facilities, said.

With 60 employees in the department, everybody but himself and his foreman would be off the job, he said. Installation of new equipment, "everything except broken water lines or plugged sewers," would "just have to wait," he said.

"To train a new man, the department could possibly get by with six months but that's still cutting it pretty short," Hershberger said.

Kissinger threatens to quit over leaks

SALZBURG, Austria (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger threatened today to resign unless "leaks and innuendos" about his involvement in national security wiretaps were stopped immediately.

In a hastily called news conference, Kissinger repeated his position on the taps — that he did not initiate or recommend them — and said his campaign against him comes from the House Judiciary Committee which is investigating possible impeachment of President Nixon.

"If it is not cleared up, I will resign," Kissinger said.

Speaking in a hoarse voice from an inn near the palace where Nixon is staying on the beginning of his Mideast trip, Kissinger acknowledged that a review would not object to some of his aides were likely to be wiretapped when he supplied names of persons who had access to sensitive materials, but he said that did not constitute ordering taps on their telephones.

"The implication that my office was spending time reading salacious reports about my subordinates... is symptomatic of the poisonous climate of our times," he said.

In a letter made public today by the White House, Kissinger asked the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to review his testimony on wiretaps.

"If it is not cleared up, I will reappear before the committee at any time. He said, however, he had no reason to change his testimony.

"If the committee decides on a review, I would not object should it wish to examine relevant security files and reports on wiretaps sent to my office," Kissinger said.

Kissinger made it clear he has been angry since his Washington news conference last Thursday after a triumphant return from his successful 33-day Mideast trip in which he secured the Israeli-Syrian cease-fire. He was ready to discuss his mission but was hit instead with questions about wiretapping and asked if he had retained counsel for possible "perjury."

Of his Mideast effort, he told reporters today: "I would like to think that when the record is written that perhaps some lives were saved and mothers are at rest. I leave that to history.

"But I will not leave to history my public honor," he added.

HENRY KISSINGER hits House probes

Nixon meets Austrian chief

SALZBURG, Austria (UPI) — President Nixon got a report today from Chancellor Bruno Kreisky on the Austrian leader's recent Mideast visit, then turned to completing preparations for his own historic "journey for peace" beginning with a lavish arrival in Cairo Wednesday morning.

Away from the cares of Watergate, and the impeachment proceedings at home, Nixon relaxed and recovered from "hot jag" at Kheselm Palace, a Baroque, 18th century mansion on the outskirts of Salzburg before starting on his five-nation trip.

Supermarket denounces suit

OAKLAND (UPI) — Safeway Stores Inc. Monday called an anti-trust suit filed by Nebraska cattleman Loren Schmidt of Bellwood "patently false and a malicious attack on the good image we have established for distribution of meat products."

Schmidt said Safeway and A&P market chains for $1.5 billion, charging they conspired against meat producers in pricing policies.

Schmidt is a Nebraska state senator. (Story, p. 10.)

Simon sees gold ban lifting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon said today that President Nixon probably will lift restrictions on the ownership of gold by U.S. citizens "before the end of this year."

The only roadblock to giving Americans the right to buy and sell gold prior to the end of 1974 would be "damaging developments in economic affairs," Simon told a House Banking subcommittee.

Arco man dies in home fire

ARCO (UPI) — An Arco man died early today in a mobile home fire that destroyed the unit.

Officials said the body of the victim had been identified as Wayne Floyd, 24. The cause of the fire that was discovered at 2:30 a.m. was undetermined.

Ted tries to end Viet aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., tried again today to slash military aid to South Vietnam. His efforts were strongly opposed by Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Jowa, a fellow liberal.

Attorney reprimanded

BOISE — The Idaho Supreme Court Monday reprimanded a Twin Falls attorney for violations of the code of professional ethics for the association to the Idaho State Bar Association recommended a formal reprimand, but added the court reprimand Jay L. Dewep for solicitation of clients and the use of stationery which identified him as a certified accountant.

The code prohibits practicing attorneys from allying himself with another business or profession.

President-elect of the State Bar Association, Thomas Nelson, Twin Falls attorney, said it was "a little unusual" for the association to reprimand a formal reprimand, but added the matter was "not serious."

Dewep said Tuesday the matter involved a misunderstanding of the letter's intent, which he said was sent to the person at the request of one of his clients.

Ex-aide wins own trial

(c) Washington Star-News
WASHINGTON — United States District Judge Gerhard A. Gerell today decided former presidential assistant John D. Ehrlichman will be tried separately from his three co-defendants in the case stemming from the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's former psychiatrist.

Gerell's decision, which resulted from President Nixon's refusal to cooperate with Ehrlichman's pretrial subpoenas for White House files, means that Ehrlichman's trial in the case will probably not come until next spring.

The postponement could mean that Ehrlichman will never be tried for the Watergate bugging case.

Gerell now can drop charges against Ehrlichman completely, or wait until the Supreme Court rules on the prosecutors' attempt to subpoena tapes and documents relating to 64 White House conversations for use in the Watergate cover-up case.

In a strongly worded memorandum filed Monday, the prosecutors argued that Ehrlichman has already received more pre-trial information than a defendant is entitled to.

Gerell, however, has spoken in strong terms of Ehrlichman's right at least to receive his files at the White House and see if anything there might support his claim of innocence in connection with the 1971 burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Among the papers Ehrlichman wants are notes he made of his conversations with the President. The President has refused to comply on the ground of executive privilege.

Conspirator label hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's lawyer charged today that the Watergate grand jury had no authority to name Nixon an undicted co-conspirator in the coverup and demanded the President be given secret evidence that led to that conclusion.

Presidential attorney James S. Clair also asked U. S. District Judge John J. Sirica to forward immediately a copy of that secret grand jury evidence to the Supreme Court, which is considering Nixon's refusal to surrender subpoenaed evidence in the coverup case.

"In my opinion, the grand jury was acting outside its authority in naming the President as an undicted coconspirator," St. Clair said in

Burley 'house' raided

By EDMITCHELL
Times-News writer

BURLEY — A raid on the Lee Hotel, Burley, Monday night resulted in the arrest of three persons on charges involving prostitution.

This is the second time in about a year the hotel has been closed for such activities.

Cassia County Prosecutor Gordon Nilsson is seeking a permanent injunction to close the hotel, according to Burley Chief of Police Gary Booth.

Three women were arrested, including Kay Summers about 85, owner of the hotel. She is charged with four felony counts including procuring prostitutes, receiving money from prostitutes, living on the earnings of prostitutes and harboring prostitutes.

She was released on $500 bond by Magistrate Judge Gleason Anderson.

Two women, Carol J. Stansbury, 35, Seattle, Wash., and Doris I. Griggs, about 30, Spokane, Wash., were charged with common prostitution, misdemeanor, and were released on $100 bond.

Two men were also questioned, and released. Charges against them are pending.

The hotel, locally known as "The Lee Rooms" was raided by Burley Police Department officers with the cooperation of Nilsson. The raid was carried out about 11:30 p.m.

Police impounded paraphernalia, including allegedly pornographic films, a movie camera and projector.

Ketchum lines studied

By BART QUENELL
Times-News writer

KETCHUM — A high tension voltage line proposal through Ketchum was rejected Monday night by the Ketchum Planning and Zoning Commission but the commission will reconsider its action.

Idaho Power Co. requested the city grant a conditional use permit to allow 55-foot poles with lines carrying 138,000 volts to be constructed where the present line runs.

Under the present city ordinance no structure above 35 feet is allowed in the town. The power company is seeking to place the poles along the line running from River Street to Leadville to First Street, then up an alley following the present route. From the alley the line would run northwest to Sun Valley Road and turn northeast to the substation between Ketchum and Sun Valley.

The commission voted 4-2 against the proposal at a two-hour debate and information session. Upon insistence by commission chairman Ed Heaps, the commission voted to set a reconsideration date.

The open meeting with the Idaho Power officials will be June 18 at 8 p.m. in the Holiday Inn.

TF hospital may become 24-hour 'trauma center'

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Memorial Hospital may be designated a trauma center with doctors on emergency-room duty around-the-clock.

Hospital trustees were told Monday the hospital "in all probability" will be named an "area trauma center" by the state.

The designation as trauma center would probably require an upgrading in the emergency room service. "I'm sure they will require physicians," Rosenbaum said.

The emergency room has a 24-hour registered nurse coverage. As a trauma center, 24-hour physician coverage would be necessary. The cost will be "in excess of $250,000 a year,"

Rosenbaum said. But official state designation as a trauma center would give the hospital leverage to apply for state and federal funds, he said.

The status of funding is uncertain at this point, Rosenbaum said, because funds were frozen by the Nixon administration and it is not certain yet when and to whom they will be available.

A trauma center hospital is designed to provide definitive medical care beyond that which could be provided in (the patient's) own community. Rosenbaum said these patients would be referred to the trauma center.

Magic Valley Memorial is a logical choice, he said, because it has specialty services available and already functions as a referral center for other hospital's patients.

Rosenbaum said the hospital is "absolutely" interested in designation as a trauma center. But the mechanism to obtain that designation still is somewhat "nebulous," he said.

Preceding over the development of recognized trauma centers is the State Advisory Council on Emergency Health Services. A member of the council, Rosenbaum said, guidelines and requirements are still being worked out for naming trauma centers.

Everett Perry, of the division of emergency services in the Department of Environmental and Community Services, is presently at Magic Valley Memorial. Perry is studying the hospital and developing guidelines for hospitals named as trauma centers; Rosenbaum said.

Perry is also assisting the hospital in meeting some of the requirements of a trauma center. Rosenbaum said, which include space and equipment necessities. Space may be a big problem, with the hospital's cramped emergency room facilities.

No Idaho hospitals have officially been named as trauma centers yet, with the possible exception of the Idaho Falls hospital, Rosenbaum said.

The development of trauma centers with specialized and streamlined emergency service plans, pioneered in Illinois and other states, is spreading around the country, according to Rosenbaum.

Leaks bring HK threat to quit

(Continued from p. 1) Kissinger at his Senate confirmation hearings last year said he was not involved in the loss of at least 17 of his subordinates and others and had no knowledge of the White House Plumbers unit set up to stop leaks of national security matters to the press. Members of the Judiciary Committee said they heard evidence that might indicate otherwise. As for his concern for national security leaks, Kissinger said at the news conference: "I do not apologize for it. It is not a shoddy affair. It follows legal procedures. It is perfectly true I was profoundly disturbed by the publication of the Pentagon Papers and the leaking of 10,000 classified documents."

He said he would not have been doing his duty had he not been worried.

Two White House aides, Alexander M. Haig, Kissinger's former assistant and now Pentagon Papers and Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, appeared taken back at the news conference as the reporters who were summoned by Kissinger earlier said "Kissinger has something to get off his chest."

"I recognize that national security has been abused in the last few years," Kissinger said. "But just because of these abuses does not mean that there should not be concern..." He said he did not know that the creation of the Plumbers would lead to the Watergate-related "burglaries."

"It seems to me that our national debate has reached the point where documents can be selectively leaked without benefit of any explanation by unnamed sources who can attack the credibility of high level officials," Kissinger said.

Although at one time in the news conference he said it was "not appropriate for me to go with the President to the Middle East without a full discussion of the issues," he made it clear later he intended to continue the tour.

Immediately after the news conference, he drove across the West-German border to Bad Reichenhall for a meeting with West German Foreign Minister Hans Dietrich Genscher. Despite the rain and his earlier anger, Kissinger was smiling when he arrived.

Smile produced

SALZBURG, Austria (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger looked too grim during President Nixon's stop in Austria. Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler thought Kissinger looked too serious for the light occasion. "Henry, you can smile," Ziegler told him. Kissinger smiled obediently for the cameras.

Pair files pleas

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Two men accused in an alleged plot to steal $600,000 in gold from a Nevada mine pleaded guilty to a conspiracy to possess gold and interstate transportation of stolen property. U.S. Atty. Devoe Heaton said the men will appear for sentencing July 19 before Federal Judge Bruce Thompson. The maximum penalty is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Snowberger and Copen were employed at the assay office of the Carlin Mine, the country's second largest gold mine. They and three other mine workers and two gold dealers were arrested after Secret Service agents seized $7,000 worth of gold precipitate and bullion at the International Airport in February.

A subsequent indictment said gold worth $600,000 was removed from the mine operation over the course of about a year.

Juvenile arrested

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls police Monday night arrested a juvenile in the midst of an apparent burglary after a silent alarm was set off.

The arrest took place about 11 p.m. Monday as police responded to an alarm at Douglas's Distributing, 207 Gen. Ave. According to police reports, officers spotted a broken window at the distributing firm when they arrived at the scene. Shining the spotlight from the squad car through the broken window, the police saw a male suspect inside the building. The suspect was apprehended and held at gunpoint. According to reports, he had allegedly been in the process of stealing beer from the firm. The 17-year-old was being held today on a juvenile petition for further processing in the courts.

Overtime law 'void'

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court affirmed Monday a Fourth District Court decision that an Idaho provision over time pay statute for women employed in non-agricultural related industries is void and unenforceable. The high court held that the statute was in direct conflict with several Idaho statutes which prohibited discrimination in employment practices on the basis of sex. It said that by enacting the anti-discrimination statutes the legislature impliedly had intended to repeal the premium overtime pay statute.

The district court had granted a declaratory judgment for the Idaho Trailer Coach Association, Kit Manufacturing Co. and Circle K Corporation. The judgment was made by the state's Commissioner Bartlett R. Brown and Glenn Seander, president, and Judith Grimes, secretary-director, of the Idaho Commission on Human Rights.

Police probe thefts

TWIN FALLS — City police today are investigating burglaries reported at the South Central Idaho Health Center building and the Bible Baptist Church.

Both were reported Monday. Officers said about $125 in cash including small change and the contents of a cash box from the business office desks were taken from the health district building. Entry was gained through a basement window.

The Mobat files were ransacked as were most of the desks in the basement laboratory and those in the main floor offices. A camera valued at $99.95 was also taken from the health offices. The building is located at 324 2nd St. E.

At the Bible Baptist Church, officials listed missing items as a portable typewriter, cassette player and a small amount of change and several cans of soft drink.

Officers said a side window was broken in the church located at 315 Shoup Ave. W.

TF aides to attend conclave

TWIN FALLS — City officials in Twin Falls will be in Boise later this week for the annual Association of Idaho Cities convention.

City Manager Jean Miller, a member of the resolutions and policy committee, will leave late today while others will leave Wednesday or Thursday for various parts of the week-long convention.

Miller said today he believes most of the council members will attend the convention as well as several department heads including Fire Chief Bobby Kopp, Police Chief Frank Barnett and City Clerk Edythe Kooz. He said he will be in Boise.

In an unofficial meeting of the council Monday noon, members discussed the state convention and a law demonstration in billing and accounting equipment from National Cash Register. The city is planning to purchase a new machine for computer-type equipment for the city accounting and billing departments.

Previously the council has heard reports on possible cost and heard presentations from IBM and Burroughs Co. Miller said bids will be called probably later this summer as soon as specifications are prepared on features. The City Council desires to include in the new equipment.

Some of the machines are expected to be on display during the state convention in Boise.

Wendell school trustees set activity rules for principal

By LORAYNE O. SMITH Times-News Writer

WENDELL — A difference in philosophy regarding administrative supervision became apparent at the Wendell school trustee meeting Monday night when newly elected members met with the retiring board.

Four of the five incumbents were defeated last month when all-trustee posts were up for election because of rezoning. The new trustees, who will assume office in July, showed marked reservations of a motion made by Fred Muttz, defining in detail the activities of the principal. The proposal passed by a 3 to 2 margin in the old board.

It stipulates the principal teach five classes in addition to administrative duties, that he work from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., that he sign out when he leaves the building and make no statements as to board intention unless they are in writing. The provision to sign out when leaving the building was to include all faculty members.

expressed the opinion that the regulations were childish. Mrs. Evelyn Campbell, another newcomer, said such supervision was the responsibility of Sgt. Lawrence LaRue and not the school board. No contracts have been signed with either. Arlin Dennis, grade school principal, nor Willard Spalding, high school principal.

Most of the evening was occupied by the harmonious discussion of architectural plans for the new grade school addition and physical education complex and vocational building, for which a bond issue was approved by a 74 per cent margin April 29.

Harold Thompson, Thompson and Kolbe, Nampa, presented site plans and tentative drawings of the plant construction. About 20 persons, including several teachers and grade school principal Dennis, attended the meeting.

Trustees decided to keep the location of the four-room addition on the west side of the present grade school and retain a corridor in the structure which will contain two classrooms, a music and special education rooms.

Both old and new trustees agreed it was advisable to enlarge rest room facilities in the vocational-agricultural building which will be built along with the physical education complex on 40 acres east of town already owned by the district.

Trustees authorized the architectural firm to have soil tests taken on the site, now leased for farmland, within 30 days and discussed problems of hooking on to city water and sewage outlets at the building site.

City Councilmen Lloyd Little said "the city was waiting to see what the school district is going to do." Trustees will discuss the matter further at Thursday night's City Council meeting.

Trustees, both old and new, tentatively favored installation

Sitters' fees may triple

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho may have to pay $300,000 a year for babysitting fees under the new minimum wage law—triple the amount now being paid.

Howard Jamieson, director of management services for the Idaho Department of Environmental Conservation and Community Services (IDCCS), said Monday that the state was notified by federal officials that full-time babysitters must receive a minimum of $1.50 per hour.

Welfare mothers who work are entitled to receive money from the state to pay for babysitting. The state has been paying a minimum of $2.50 per day for babysitting at home or at a day care center.

Jamieson said under the new minimum wage law another could be paying out more than $20 per day in babysitting fees. To offset babysitting costs, Jamieson suggested that DECS encourage development of private day care centers across the state so instead of having a babysitter come to a home the child could be taken to a center.

Shoshone meet slated

SHOSHONE — Primary for the Shoshone LDS Church will meet at 10 a.m. Wednesday, with officers to meet at 9 a.m. for the in-service lesson.

Primary classes will then be held at 2:30 p.m. on Wednesday June 19 and 267 to accommodate children who wish to take swimming lessons those two weeks.

After that the 10 a.m. classes will be resumed throughout the summer months.

All children ages 3 through 12 are invited to attend the classes.

Drop in GOP voting deepening party's worries

(c) Chicago Daily News
WASHINGTON — The continued falloff in Republican voting in the last of the major primary elections last Tuesday has deepened doubts among GOP leaders about the party's ability to surmount President Nixon's Watergate difficulties in November.
"It's a long, long time between June and November," said one Republican legislator, paraphrasing an old song. "Republicans may come out in the fall, but they've sure stayed home in the primaries."

Meanwhile, it has been learned that House Republican leader John Rhodes, of Arizona, has adopted an arm-length posture toward the President—Rhodes has found a convenient excuse to turn down invitations to sail down the Potomac on the presidential yacht Sequoia and has found himself too busy to attend some leadership meetings in the White House.

GOP sources say Rhodes feels obliged to maintain his distance in order to keep up the morale of House members who fear they may be wiped out in November because of the scandals afflicting the Nixon administration.
Rhodes, who succeeded Vice President

Gerald Ford as minority leader in the House, is said to believe that he must display a neutrality as the House Judiciary Committee conducts its impeachment inquiry.

The Arizona Republican has said in the past that he thinks Nixon might well consider resigning if the House should impeach him. However, more recently, he has privately stated that he thinks the judiciary committee might recommend against impeachment, despite widespread belief here that it will vote out a bill of impeachment for full House consideration.

At the governors' conference just concluded in Seattle, Kentucky's Democratic Gov. Wendell Ford, who will challenge Sen. Marlow Cook in November, called the GOP campaign "a cynical ploy," designed to generate fear among voters that a Democrat sweep would be disastrous.

The so-called ploy is admitted by GOP leaders here to be the only weapon they have at the moment. These leaders look with genuine apprehension on the fact that Republicans have simply shunned the polls in large numbers in primaries in Ohio, Michigan and Pennsylvania, where special elections were won by Democrats.

"It's an ominous trend we have to deal with, because if we don't, the Democrats could pick up the 100 seats they talk about," said one Republican House member, who described himself as "disconsolate" at this time.

Idaho justices strike bad law

Fair treatment of women is a two-way street that also involves fair treatment of men.

So it was encouraging Monday when the Idaho Supreme Court voided an Idaho law which had provided for special overtime provisions for women but not men.

For more than 60 years the law had required time-and-a-half pay for women working more than eight hours in any 24-hour period or more than 48 hours in a work week. But the law had failed to set such requirements for men.

The court ruled unanimously, noting the old law was in direct conflict with other Idaho laws prohibiting sexual discrimination in employment. As a practical matter the decision may have only limited effect, as other generally more restrictive wage-hour laws have been enacted, particularly at the federal level.

Fortunately, those new laws provide no overt sexual discrimination.

The court's decision is encouraging, but it is only a small step.
The most difficult problem will be to eliminate the pattern of de facto discrimination that means that many Idaho women — for whatever reason — are paid less than their male counterparts, even when they do the same job.

Funding public TV

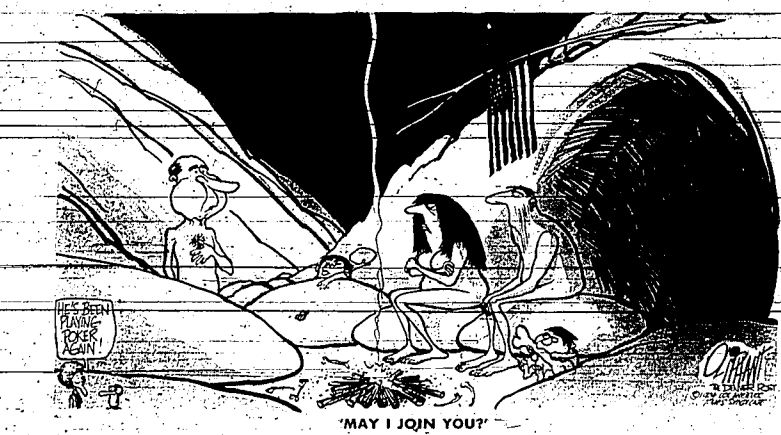

WALL STREET JOURNAL
President Nixon's reported rejection of long-range financing for public television is somewhat surprising. In the past the administration was justly criticized about the ideological imbalance reflected in many of public TV's news and public affairs programs, and the fact that so much of the programming reflected Eastern seaboard orientation. But the widespread assumption was that if these shortcomings were redressed, the administration would help alleviate the industry's annual anxiety about financing.

As someone critical of public TV's public affairs programming, we should perhaps record our own impression that recently it has exhibited a very real concern about balance and fairness, a commitment that has lessened some of the original public hostility while improving the product. Public TV's heading of the Ervin Committee hearings, for example, was excellent. Merely allowing the hearings to speak for themselves was a commendable and essential background information, gave a clearer picture of the unfolding Watergate drama than commercial TV's habit of allowing reporters and commentators to intrude upon and sometimes overshadow the hearings.

To take one further example, "The 51st State," a news and public affairs program telecast throughout Greater New York City, has evoked not only glowing after-the-fact tendentious liberal praise, but also a reasonably balanced effort to analyze public issues as though no one ideology had a monopoly on truth and decency.

Public television has also been the source of such creative and innovative shows as "Sesame Street" and "Electric Company." Yet children's programming will also be in jeopardy if federal financing is withdrawn. The White House's own Office of Telecommunications Policy is said to be urging Mr. Nixon to change his mind and support a long range funding bill. Earlier the telecommunications office proposed a five-year matching grant formula that would assure $100 million by 1980, with the public broadcasting industry required to raise $2.50 for every $1 it received from the federal government. The industry would have preferred the money outright, of course, but the matching grant approach is hardly unreasonable since it would provide some measure of viewer loyalty that would otherwise be missing if the government simply picked up the total tab.

What does seem unreasonable is for the administration to abandon public television entirely, especially in view of its recent efforts to rectify its most glaring shortcomings.

Baltimore program might serve as renewal model

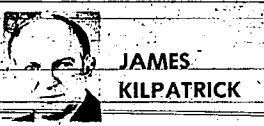

BALTIMORE — The first purpose of conservatism is to conserve; and by that elementary definition, Baltimore is embarked upon a bold venture in conservatism. Its program might well provide a model for other old cities in search of renewal.

You seldom hear much about Baltimore, with a population of more than 900,000, in the seventh-largest city in the land; but except for stories of great athletes and crooked politicians, Baltimore's late life seldom appears in the news. The city's most enduring institution is the "Blaze Star," the "Burtie" queen. It is also acclaimed, in this century, as the home of H. L. Mencken, Gerald Johnson, and the Johns Hopkins lacrosse team.

Baltimore was vastly more to offer. In Mencken's time, the city was known as one of the pleasantest of all American cities to live in. It was just enough off the main line. With no great tourist attractions, Baltimore avoided the swarms of nearby Washington, and with no pretensions toward power and magnificence, the city avoided the frenzies of New York. A Baltimorean could go where the action was, and return to shady streets, superior schools, the Sun papers, and some of the finest seafood in the world.

It was all pleasant, but in the course of time much of Baltimore went to seed. Suburban drew middle-income families away, changing the styles made white elephants of old houses. A gloomy prophet, 10 years ago, might have predicted an irreversible decline. It hasn't turned out that way. With a combination of good sense and good leadership, Baltimore has managed to make the right decisions on urban renewal. Two policies have proved especially wise. The first was to preserve old neighborhoods, rather than to destroy them. The second was to consider not only low-income blacks, but middle and upper-income whites as well.

As a consequence of the first policy, the demolition of slum property has been kept to a minimum. Baltimore has avoided those vast bombed-out blocks that once were thought indispensable preliminaries to urban renewal. Such neighborhoods as Mt. Vernon, Bolton Hill, Tyson Union Square and Federal Hill have been made objects of preservation. Property values are soaring. A three-story rowhouse which could have been had for $2,000 10 years ago, is on the market now for $32,000 — unlisted.

Baltimore is about 50-50 black and white. When the urge for self-improvement swept the city, a wrong decision might have been made to concentrate on public housing for low-income blacks. The emphasis, instead, has been on housing opportunities across the economic scale. The city found itself a couple of years ago with 1,600 vacant houses, all forfeited for non-payment of taxes. Under a homesteading plan (used also in Wilmington and Philadelphia), the houses are sold at one-dollar cash to owners who will agree to restore and occupy them for at least two years. A city loan fund provides six per cent financing for improvements.

One hesitates to paint too rosy a picture. Baltimore's dream is still far from fulfillment. A great deal of money may be invested unwisely in a financially disastrous subway system. The lunacies of racial-balance busing and contrived integration may undermine the sense of community that Baltimore is working to revive. On many high decisions have been made decisions based upon human beings and not on buildings — that one finds solid grounds for hope.

The late Mr. Mencken, who was not pleased with much, might well be pleased at what Baltimore is doing now.

Distrust of Colson must appear justified now

WASHINGTON — "The thing to remember about the guilty plea copped by Chuck Colson is that Leon Jaworski is not stupid," said the man over at the Justice Department.

"Jaworski must be sure to get his pound of flesh."
Chuck Colson is a former special counsel and intimate of President Nixon. He had been indicted on three counts in the Watergate case and the burglary of the office of Daniel (Fongoro Papers) Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Those charges were dismissed when Colson pleaded guilty to obstructing justice by devising a White House scheme to defame Ellsberg and thus influence the outcome of his trial for purloining the Pentagon Papers.

Now that the special counsel has been convicted of three original charges, he could have been sentenced to a maximum of 20 years in prison and fines totaling $20,000. The charge to which he pleaded guilty carries a maximum penalty of only five years in the pen and a $5,000 fine. That the sons-of-a-bitch "justice officials" comment is clear. In agreeing to cooperate with the prosecution, Colson must have spilled to Special Prosecutor Jaworski and his staff enough information to persuade them it is his testimony will greatly further their case against various White House officials and possibly implicate President Nixon.

ANDREW TULLY

Nixon's only accuser so far is former White House Counsel John Dean. But Dean served at the pleasure of John Ehrlichman, Nixon's domestic affairs chief, and saw the President only through Ehrlichman.
But Colson met Nixon when the latter was vice president, and had been a Nixon confidant since 1964. When Nixon did run again, in 1968, Colson was counsel to his Key Issues Committee, and joined the White House staff in November, 1969, as special counsel.

Technically, Colson was subordinate to both Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman, Nixon's chief of staff. Actually, he specialized in cultivating the so-called "white and hard hat" vote. He had a reputation as a willing practitioner of "dirty tricks."

Colson also enjoyed special entrée into the President's office. On one occasion, according to Dean, Colson was ordered by Ehrlichman not to raise the question of Presidential clemency for the Watergate conspirators but defied those orders and discussed the matter with Nixon.

If Dean was telling the truth, it helps to explain why the transcripts of the White House tapes revealed Nixon's preoccupation with the subject of Chuck Colson. Nixon repeatedly brought up Colson's name in conversations with Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen, seeking to learn whether the Watergate prosecutors had implicated Colson in any wrongdoing.

On another occasion, the transcripts have Haldeman telling Nixon that Colson had promised clemency to Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt. "See that, really, that is verbal evil," Haldeman told Nixon. "Colson is — that is your fatal flaw in Chuck. He is an operator in expediency."

If Richard Nixon was nervous, no wonder. He had been persuaded — or had persuaded himself — that Chuck Colson, who quit the White House staff early in 1973, no longer was to be trusted. Now that Colson has made his deal with the prosecution, Nixon's distrust would seem justified.

"I HAVE OFTEN WALKED DOWN THIS STREET BEFORE"

BERRY'S WORLD

(c) New York Times Service
India was always the parson among nations. "Oh, oh!" all the other nations would say when they saw India coming down the street.

"Hide the guns under the table and get rid of the loaded dice. Here comes India."
And India would stride on and stand there, looking at all these miserable sinner nations with such contempt that it did your heart good to see them humbled.

America was always getting caught by India. It could never get all its guns under the table before India walked in.

Also America had the atom bomb, which it wore strapped to its back like a monkey.

America was usually still fumbling with the straps when India strooled in.

"What childish stupidity!" India would say to America.

"Playing with your atom bomb again; I see," India would say. "Will you never grow up, America? What of humanity? What of spiritual values?"

It was no good for America to try to persuade India that it needed its bomb to blow up anybody who let down spiritual values; to wit, Russia.

India would simply stare down America and order it to respect the United Nations for a sermon, which Russia, could not help laughing about.

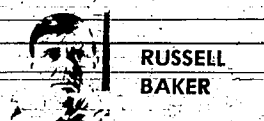

In the end, all the other nations would wind up on their knees feeling guilty, singing, "When the Roll is Called up Yonder, I'll Be There," and listening to India tell them how to mend their ways.

"Sure do hate to see India hit town," America told Russia a few years ago. "If only India had the tiniest little dirt smudge on its turban," replied Russia, "it wouldn't make me feel so inferior." But as for spiritual improvement, bah!

Then, of course, a few weeks ago everybody found out that India and Beer were going to get a bomb of its own.

Saudi Arabia, which had been reading the stock-market reports, came bounding in. "Oh, oh!" Saudi Arabia said. "Hide the guns under the table and get rid of the loaded dice. Here comes India."

RUSSELL BAKER

All the nations put on their pious faces, but India did not appear.

Finally, the doors opened. A bowed India staggered into the room. Strapped to its back like a monkey, it had a brand-new atom bomb strapped to its back.

All the nations still feel depressed about the parson's yielding to lust like that. "The thing I'm going to miss most," America told Russia the other day, "is singing, 'When the Roll is Called up Yonder, I'll Be There,' but I'll still believe in spiritual values no matter how low India sinks."
"As for spiritual values," said Russia, "bah!"

How does TF rodeo fit?

Editor, Times-News: I am upset with the county commissioners when it comes to granting permission for a rock concert, community concert or whatever the name of the concert. The reason being that they put up such a fuss about such concerts and use the inequitable ordinance that says, "prohibiting large gatherings for long periods of time."

I would like to know how the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo is classified under this ordinance. I suppose the reason a rodeo and county fair is granted permission is that the county makes more money off them rather than a concert. The article in the Times-News dated June 3, 1974, entitled, "Concert Jam Irks Sheriff," is the impetus behind this letter. The article claims that there was the drinking of intoxicating beverages, the consumption of narcotic drugs, and lost kids.

The county commissioners were very upset at the above mentioned statements, they are also very biased against concerts where people can enjoy themselves.

I am not condoning such actions as the above mentioned statements, but according to Jean Miller the instances of such actions were few. So I have to assume that most of the people were simply enjoying themselves.

I happen to know that the drinking of intoxicating beverages and lost kids occur at fairs and rodeos.

I would like to see the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo cancelled this year because it violates the ordinance and in the event the ordinance is equitable the cancellation of the fair and rodeo would be the just action to take.

I would also like the rodeo to be cancelled because rodeos have been found to be cruel to the livestock involved.

'Gate overplayed'

Editor, Times-News: Your editorial entitled "Where are the local candidates?" that appeared in the Times-News June 8, 1974 makes one wonder how stupid can you get.

For the answer to your question, I would suggest that you dig out every issue of the Times-News for the past year and review them.

You have taken the Watergate issue and blown it completely out of proportion, in fact to the point where people now believe it was one of the worst atrocities ever committed in history.

Yet nothing was taken or destroyed in a case of dirty politics that has been going on under every president that we have ever had. You have caused people to believe that all politicians are crooks and that's true.

You have destroyed Richard Nixon without ever giving him a fair trial and you have also destroyed the respect for the office of the President of the United States.

You seem to think that anyone who becomes involved in politics is fair game to be criticized and ridiculed for every little mistake he makes, but never to be praised or patted on the back for good things that he does. Then you wonder why people don't want a thing to do with politics.

Unless the news media does an about-face and starts making every effort to give credibility and trust to our elected officials, we are going to lose our present form of government by default.

Oh, we will still have a government, but it will be a military take over or some form of dictatorship. When that happens, the press will be the first ones to get the axe. They will be destroyed by a monster they created.

This letter is not aimed at the Times-News alone but all the news media that have been guilty of this same thing.

Hansen report draws fire

Editor, Times-News: Like many other area citizens, I received my report from Congressman Orval Hansen. I would like to comment on several portions of this report.

Concerning wage and price controls, Congressman Hansen quite correctly made the following statements: "In recent months they (wage and price controls) have failed as an anti-inflation measure and in some cases have been a cause of shortages and high prices." Rep. Hansen went on to say, "Recent experience has reinforced my view that permanent wage-price controls are undesirable. They are inequitable, subvert freedom of choice, abrogate freedom of contract, weaken incentives to efficiency, discourage investment thereby creating unemployment, distort and inefficiently allocate resources, and they do not control inflation."

There is more, but this seems like strange talk from our representative who voted in favor of wage and price controls. Not only did Hansen vote for wage and price controls which completely ignore the real cause of inflation, but he voted for S. 398 which gave this tremendous power to the Executive branch of government, more specifically to the President.

Now Orval Hansen is telling the folks back home about the dangers of wage and price controls.

Later in the report we have a section about congressional powers to control government spending which is OK despite the fact that new budget committees within the House and Senate would provide similar to that of the Office of Management and Budget brings to the President.

An examination of Orval Hansen's voting record reveals some interesting examples of Congressional record-keeping. For example, Rep. Hansen voted:

Against - H.R. 8860, Congressman Steve Symms amendment to prevent credits to our Communist enemies, who have never repaid a single loan. This amendment would put an end to taxpayers subsidies to our self-avowed enemies.

Against - H.R. 8860, The Dickinson amendment to the farm bill which would forbid food stamps for strikers voluntarily out of work.

Against - H.R. 8860, which would prohibit the costly and tension-promoting bussing of students to schools other than the one nearest the student's home.

For - H.R. 11354, which would grant $1.5 billion to the International Development Association (I.D.A.) which grants loans from the U.S. taxpayer to ungrateful, underdeveloped countries at an interest rate of 8% of one per cent with a 10 year grace period and 50 years to pay.

I could go on, but this is sufficient to point out that an examination of the voting records makes it simpler to separate the demagogues from those men who are both in office and seeking office who truly vote the way they talk.

Compassion asked for US President

Editor, Times-News: A Mother's Day event prompts me to plead for compassion for our President, and a close scrutiny as to tape recordings now in the news to discredit him.

—Meeany, a Charolais mother cow designated by us because of her puts her in a state of agitation where she is at first most abusive to her offspring, made her presentation in late afternoon on Mother's Day.

She kept bawling and kicking at the little one every time he approached the dinner area. I talked to her in motherly terms about her duties, even sang to her my grand old lady's favorite lullabies. To no avail.

After an hour or two of trying to understand I had her in a corner of the corral and was about to "fix" her when she kicked the long bar and I landed some distance away, me on all fours with great pressure on my right sprained wrist. My good husband entered the scene in time to help pick me up, and heard every word I said to that cow.

He said Nixon had been mild in his terminology, and I must agree I was grateful my grandchildren were nowhere about and that there was no tape recording which brings me to the point I wish to make about tape recordings!

Having been a transcriber of tapes over a period of years, let me caution those who would convict the President on the basis of the content. I have transcribed court cases, public utility hearings, legislative hearings, and speeches of VIPs delivered for auspicious events.

One occasion the job is almost impossible. The speaker may have turned his back on the microphone, a motor or other distraction might occur outside to obliterate all sound inside; someone might have a coughing spell, or slide back a grating chair; a nervous pencil tapper or paper straightener might tick the sound waves; people might be restless and determine WHO said WHAT is equally difficult; I ran into that pitfall years ago in reporting coroner's inquests.

So, when we read about the famous tapes which sound as if they were "inaudible" or "unintelligible" portions, and with the implication that "fraudulent" have been deliberately made to cover something we should think twice and not make hasty judgment.

Tapes are tricky things and never would I wish to recreate through transcription a scene or conversations, and be especially astute of my accuracy, even where my intent was to be completely impartial.

Rockfest enjoyed by most

Editor, Times-News: As an entertaining musician in the "Dierkes Lake Rockfest" last Sunday, I believe you were misinformed on quite a few things.

Not all the people there last Sunday were intoxicated. There was some rowdiness and swearing, but no fighting took place, and the crowd was generally orderly and relaxed. People were there to enjoy the sun and hear some music, and did so.

The people who put this together had the interests of everyone concerned in mind. They were not professionals, but it was handled well for the first Twin Falls concert of its kind and location. They also cleaned it up thoroughly on Monday.

Some of your reporting of other's opinions is sheer hearsay. Next time, if Twin Falls is lenient enough to permit another program, please follow up and interview people who involved with it, instead of frate bystanders and misinformed concert-goers.

By the way, the traffic jam was terrible - a point-in-your-favor.

Negative reports disputed

Editor, Times-News: In an article in the Times-News Paul Cordor attempted to paint a negative picture of the festival of music held at Dierkes Lake.

I have spoken with several people who attended this festival and they all agree that all went well and orderly, except for the parking.

As I understand it, the people of Twin Falls County hired this gentleman and his force to protect our county highways. In my opinion he shirked his responsibilities severely during this festival.

If this is the type of service he is going to provide during the next Kanelava Jump, I for one am going to steer completely clear of this event as it will be very hazardous to be on the roads.

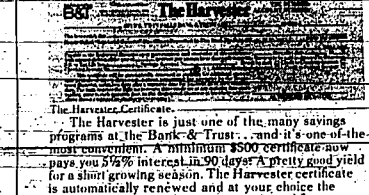

I would like to thank and congratulate all the people who attended this festival for conducting themselves in an orderly and mature fashion. Thanks to them we have been encouraged to put together another festival near the end of July.

The city of Twin Falls proved itself to be very capable of being our city fathers. They were a tremendous help in keeping this festival peaceful and enjoyable. I thank them for their cooperation.

Park trash disappoints

Editor, Times-News: On Memorial Day my family and I were down in Twin Falls and went to Shoshone Falls for picnic. I was very disappointed in the park. If you weren't stepping on broken beer bottles or tripping over empty beer cans there was a piece of paper or other litter in sight.

The water streams are filled with garbage and filth. Also, the rest rooms leave much to be desired. I've never seen such a mess in my life.

Since the park is for the public, why isn't it cleaned up so the public would enjoy going? This is a terrible way to take care of one of the most beautiful parks in the area (if it isn't was beautiful before all the litter was there).

By GEORGE C. THOMPSON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thompson: Will you discuss the difference between a stroke and arthritis? Sign me "one who had it." — Mrs. B.C. Has "it"? Has which?

While I date on short letters, you cut yours a little too short, I'd say, and I have to guess as to what your real question is.

Arthritis, of course, is an affliction of a joint or joints in the body. The joints become painful and stiff, and if a person doesn't know how to take care of arthritic joints (and many don't), they can become "frozen," or unable to move.

The only similarity between arthritis and a stroke is that a stroke may make part of the body unable to move. The cause is entirely different, though.

With arthritis, the "freezing" of a joint is a slow, gradual process resulting from lack of use, inflammation and changes in the bone and tissues in the joint.

When a stroke prevents movement it is usually sudden and is from a totally different cause. There is no damage to the joints or the muscles. Rather, it is because of damage in the brain, and part of the brain no longer is able to send "signals" over the nerves, telling the muscles to move in a particular way.

There is, in fact, a good deal of misunderstanding about what a stroke is. Some folks confuse a stroke with a heart attack. There's no similarity and no connection between the two.

A good many think that the paralysis of a stroke is something that happens in the area of paralysis. That is, let's say a patient finds he cannot move his right leg. Many think it means something has happened in the leg itself. That's not so. The leg is just as healthy right after the stroke as it was before the stroke. The damage was in the brain.

Every time you move a muscle, your brain sends a message along a nerve track telling the muscle exactly what to do. You may not consciously think of placing one foot before the other when you walk, but every movement is directed by nerve impulses which travel from the brain.

If you put your hand on a hot stove, one set of nerves sends a pain signal to the brain and instantly the brain sends back another signal to your muscles telling you to jerk your hand away.

Now suppose a blood vessel ruptures, or becomes clogged, so circulation to some part of the brain is disrupted. That part of the brain stops working efficiently and, depending on the severity of the stroke, may lose the ability to send out messages to the muscles. Without these messages, muscles just do anything. They just sit.

We want you to share our independence.

Troops move

UN forces expand buffer zone

UNITED NATIONS—troops move into the Golan Heights sectors which were evacuated by the Israelis Sunday as part of the troop disengagement agreement between Israel and Syria. (UPI)

United Press International said the United Nations force expanded a buffer zone between Israeli and Syrian front lines today, aiding a smooth disengagement between the two armies in the Golan Heights, military sources in Tel Aviv said.

The U.N. troops moved north from their base camp at the city of Quneitra to survey a sector of "land Israel" will abandon over the weekend, the sources said.

The Israelis are scheduled to hand over another section of land on Friday. That territory includes about a quarter of the land Israel captured from Syria in the 1973 Middle East War.

Two hours after the U.N. officials take possession of the abandoned land Friday, Syrian civilians and administrative personnel will start moving into the area. It will remain under the military control of the observer force.

A second stage of troop pullbacks was due to start June 10, and the final lines were to be completed by June 26. The plans were worked out in an agreement negotiated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

In Tel Aviv, military sources said an Israeli pilot died under interrogation after being taken captive by the Syrians during the October War.

The Syrians told surviving captives of the pilot, Avi Lanier of Jerusalem, that he died of a "rupture" one month after being taken prisoner. Lanier's body was one of 19 returned by the Syrians last week.

In "other developments," American security men today scouted sites in Jerusalem and Tel Aviv where President Nixon has scheduled stops during an 18-hour stay in Israel beginning Sunday.

In Baghdad, Marxist-oriented Iraq complained in the government newspaper Al Qumhoutha Monday that the four Arab nations on Nixon's Middle East trip have "brown objectives in the top of America at a time when America has increased its commitments and support to Israel."

Nixon plans to visit Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Jordan as well as Israel.

In Jerusalem, the three-party Israeli cabinet of Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin suffered its first parliamentary defeat Monday in a 43-40 vote that blocked a government bill dealing with extension of foreign-currency controls.

The vote did not threaten Rabin's mandate, but sources in the ruling Labor party said it indicated the fragility of his one-seat majority in the 120-member parliament. Rabin's government took office only a week ago.

Missile plan endorsed

(4) New York Times Service WASHINGTON—The Senate today endorsed the Nixon administration's decision to develop more powerful, more accurate intercontinental missiles capable of attacking Soviet missiles in their underground silos.

It did so by rejecting by a vote of 48 to 37 a proposal by Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., that the development programs be deferred until the President concluded that it was impossible to get an agreement with the Soviet Union limiting the multiple warheads for missiles known as MIRVs.

McIntyre, the chairman of the research subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee, had introduced his proposal as an amendment to the $21.9 billion military procurement bill now before the Senate.

In that bill, the administration asked for $77 million for initial development work on a more accurate Minuteman missile, a larger Minuteman warhead and a maneuverable warhead that could be guided with precision to a target.

For the first time the government was thus specifically asking for development of high-precision weapons capable of attacking Soviet missile sites rather than continuing to rely on less accurate weapons for retaliating against Soviet cities, industries and military bases if the United States was attacked.

The Senate vote came two weeks before President Nixon is due to visit Moscow, where the prospects of limiting strategic arms are to be discussed.

Aides subject to state tax

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—The state Assembly has unanimously voted to make President Nixon and California congressmen subject to state income taxes.

The bill by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, a Republican candidate for controller, was approved 19-0 Monday with little discussion and sent to the Senate.

Nixon has been able to claim under current state law that he is a nonresident of California for income tax purposes although the voters in 1972 Bagley said his bill would close this "loophole" by declaring that a person who votes in California also shall be automatically obligated to pay state income taxes.

He said the measure would make Nixon subject to state income taxes beginning with this year's White House salary and would affect California congressmen who live in Washington, D.C., which exempts federal officials from income taxes.

Asked by a colleague whether the bill was to "get Nixon," Bagley replied: "No, I am trying to close an obvious tax loophole that the public is concerned about."

"If you voted against this bill it would be wrong, that's for sure."

Voltage cut back

United Press International Power companies on the East Coast cut back their voltage by 1 per cent Monday in an effort to deal with the massive demand for electricity caused by temperatures in the 90s.

A spokesman for the Virginia Electric Power Co. said the voltage reduction was still in effect but full power was expected to be back today.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The FBI has sought to force a radio station to turn over the latest tape recording with a message from Patricia Hearst.

FBI spokesman John Morrison said Monday the bureau asked the U.S. attorney's office here to issue a subpoena on station KPFF for the original of the tape found Friday.

The station supplied the FBI a copy of the tape, but has refused to give up the original, citing the journalistic principle of protection of sources. Morrison said the FBI wants the original for scientific testing and analysis.

The tape, found under a mattress behind the station following a telephone tip, contained the voices of Miss Hearst and Emory and William Harris. The three are being hunted on more than 20 charges of espionage as alleged Symbionese Liberation Army terrorists.

Morrison said there was "nothing new" in the hunt for the fugitives, but the FBI is assuming that they are still in the Los Angeles area.

A letter mailed from Montreal was received Monday by television station KXTV, affirming support of the SLA from an organization described as the "Symbionese Group of Quebec."

The letter said "We are now helping our comrades in California against the fascist pigs," and contained other words and phrases in French, indicating support for French Canadian extremist groups that demand independence from English-speaking Canada.

There was no indication that the "communiques" had any contact with Miss Hearst and the Harrises. There has been a rash of such apparently groundless "communiques" ever since police killed six SLA terrorists in a gun battle May 17.

Radio station KHJ received a hand-printed letter Monday mailed from Victorville, in the desert region just northeast of Los Angeles, saying "our beloved—Tania (Patricia Hearst's SLA name) is dead," and was buried "with full military honors." It was signed by "Captain Cha of the Central Medical Detachment of the Colonel de Fahliz Desert Force of the Symbionese Liberation Army."

Shock hazard warning given

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Whirlpool Corp. has notified the government that some of its trash compactors might pose a shock hazard because of an improperly assembled "power cord."

The company warned the Consumer Product Safety Commission of what it called a possible problem. It said it did not know how many of the units are on the market or in possession of consumers.

The Benton Harbor, Mich., firm said that 610 of the units with the potential problem were turned out at its plant in Danville, Ky.

The model number on the units is SA3007 and the serial numbers were not available.

Whirlpool said it discovered the problem during an assembly line inspection. The units involved recall for about 2200 each. The commission has not yet determined whether the problem represents a substantial hazard under its rules.

Aerosols probed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Government safety officials now believe there may be several more types of aerosol products in the hands of consumers or on store shelves which contain vinyl chloride—a chemical linked to liver cancer.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission's investigation is still not complete, but preliminary results show that some manufacturers were still using the gaseous chemical up until March of this year.

The principal use of the chemical in consumer products appears to have been spray paint. But it also was used as a propellant in aerosol forms of lubricants, cleaners such as degreasing agents, and a few spray adhesives, officials said.

New House subpoena hinted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Undaunted by President Nixon's refusal to comply with four previous subpoenas for White House tapes, the House Judiciary Committee panel may issue a fifth one this week.

And apparently unfazed by the possibility of contempt of Congress and contempt of court citations, Nixon's lawyers Monday reiterated the executive privilege claim before the House committee and two courts.

But they agreed with Watergate prosecutors in asking the Supreme Court to release secret grand jury documents that named Nixon as a co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up case.

Committee member Rep. Robert C. Clary, R-Ill., said he would introduce a resolution in the House today that would put the full body behind the panel's demands for all 98 tapes subpoenaed so far. He said it could lay the basis for a possible contempt order. But Democratic leaders indicated they opposed such a move.

Rodino, after a meeting of committee Democrats Monday night, said Nixon's obstinacy will not affect plans to end the hearings by July 15. He also said the committee may vote on another subpoena this week for tapes related to the ITT and milk investigations.

The committee was set today to hear evidence about the White House "plumbers" unit.

Federal Judge Gerhard A. Gesell called a hearing for today on a joint move by Nixon's lawyers and Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski to prevent former Nixon aide John D. Ehrlichman from getting secret White House files for his defense in the Ellsberg break-in case.

Although Nixon maintains he has sole power to determine what evidence will be made available to defendants, White House lawyer James D. St. Clair Monday offered a compromise under which Ehrlichman would get some of his personal files, after screening by Nixon's lawyers.

Jaworski, siding with St. Clair against Ehrlichman's subpoena, does not want the issue to result in dismissal of charges for lack of evidence. Gesell has said Nixon's lack of cooperation borders on obstruction of justice, and he could hold Nixon or other White House aides in contempt, though it is considered unlikely.

St. Clair and Jaworski took the same side a second time Monday in asking the Supreme Court to make subpoenaed tapes part of a report that named Nixon as a co-conspirator with the seven former White House and campaign aides charged March 1 in the Watergate cover-up.

Lawyers for cover-up defendants John N. Mitchell, Graham M. Staeban, R. Halperin and Ehrlichman argued Monday that U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica should dismiss charges.

Mitchell's and Staeban's lawyers said their clients' testimony before the nationally televised Watergate hearings last summer made it impossible to get a fair trial.

Haldeman and Ehrlichman's lawyers argued on other grounds for dismissal in one of a series of pretrial motions that will be heard this week.

In refusing to turn over 15 tapes to the impeachment committee Monday, despite a previous committee threat his action could be an impeachable offense, Nixon said that compliance could make the presidency heretofore and forevermore "subservient" to other branches of government.

Nixon, who was flying to the Middle East while the various legal battles in his name took place Monday, also told Sirica that a portion of a Sept. 15, 1972, tape should not be given to a grand jury despite the judge's opinion that a 17-minute segment is relevant to the investigation.

DENNIS BANKS
quits AIM post.

Pressured AIM head resigns

MORRISVILLE, S.D. (UPI) — Dennis Banks, executive director and co-founder of the American Indian Movement, resigned Monday because his trial on charges stemming from the Wounded Knee occupation kept him from performing his job.

Banks' announcement came at the third day of AIM's International Treaty Conference. Conference members spent most of the day in small groups designed "to bring about concrete solutions to the problems that face every Indian in North and South America."

Banks said the daily trial sessions in U.S. District Court at St. Paul, Minn., where he and AIM leader Russell Means face nine criminal counts from the 71-day armed occupation, prevented him from carrying out the responsibilities of his job as he would like.

His resignation did not seem to indicate Banks had lost face in the organization.

After his announcement, Banks divided conference members into seven regional workshops.

Participants from each area of the United States and Canada were directed to discuss the treaties pertaining to their tribes and report back to the conference organizers with recommendations for community or legislative action. Each of the regional treaty councils will elect representatives to an International Treaty Council scheduled to meet Friday.

Europe drafts Arab aid plan

(c) New York Times Service — The nine Common Market foreign ministers decided today, despite American objections to make an offer of broad economic, technical, and cultural cooperation to 20 Arab countries.

The European plan had been agreed upon at an informal similar meeting of foreign ministers in Brussels, but was held up after Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who was coming back from negotiating a mission in the Middle East, denounced it. He said the United States had not been properly consulted.

The Europeans agreed as well today on an informal gentlemen's agreement on holding European-American consultations. One diplomat said it would get its first test today when Kissinger is informed of the Arab decision.

The decision, on the eve of President's Nixon tour of Arab capitals, was made with the agreement of the British. The newly elected Labor government of Prime Minister Harold Wilson had held off approval of the plan last March because of the American objections.

The demonstration of Common Market political action, despite British hesitation about the idea of European unity and despite Italian and British financial problems that have led to conflict with their partners, was judged by many here as a reaffirmation of the European cause in a time of faltering hopes.

Contempt, impeachment may bring major clash

(C) Newhouse News Service — WASHINGTON — The possibility of an historic confrontation if the House of Representatives impeaches President Nixon for contempt of court has been raised by Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

But, Scott added, he "cannot condone" of Nixon defying an order of the Supreme Court, an action which the Senator characterized as "a grave mistake" and one which probably would be cited by the House Judiciary Committee as an article of impeachment.

"If they do this, they could become involved in jurisdictional dispute," Scott told a luncheon of Pennsylvania editors and reporters.

"The separation of powers would be involved, with the legislative branch of government impeaching the executive branch of government for failure to obey a directive of the judicial branch of government."

"If the committee would cite the President for contempt of Congress and the House were to pass such a resolution, they wouldn't get into all of that."

"The constitution gives the House 'the sole power of impeachment' and the Senate 'the sole power to try cases of impeachment' and is silent on appeals to the courts. But Scott and other legislative leaders clearly are attempting to avoid even the remotest possibility of an appeal.

There are two possibilities that the President could find himself at the receiving end of a court injunction. On July 8, the court will consider a subpoena for White House tapes and documents by Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

In the meantime, Federal Judge Gerhard Gesell is scheduled to rule whether the President might be in contempt of court for refusal to honor the subpoena calling for release of White House documents to defendants in a criminal case growing out of the Watergate scandals.

Scott predicted that the committee would take a series of "general" articles of impeachment the floor of the House for consideration, and quoted House Republican Leader John Rhodes of Arizona as being optimistic about Nixon's chances there.

Committee sources have predicted that should the President be cited for impeachment, contempt of court would be listed under the general title of "obstruction of justice."

It is expected that if Judge Gesell cites Nixon for contempt and he has indicated that he might — such a citation would be appealed to the high court by White House lawyers.

There has been speculation, too, that any contempt of court citation would be clear impeachment ammunition by both the Rodino committee and the House itself.

US Court narrows Miranda decision

(c) Washington Star-News — WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court narrowed the controversial 1966 Miranda decision Monday, ruling that prosecutors may use some evidence obtained from suspects who have not been advised fully of their legal rights.

The Miranda ruling had barred the use in court of any evidence gathered from a defendant who had not been given a complete warning about his rights to remain silent and to have a lawyer.

Monday, the court — voting 8-1 — said that, if the warning fell short of the full range of rights, the evidence could be used.

Mishap claims Emmett man

EMMETT, Idaho (UPI) — Emmett man Sheriff Tom Skoro said Paul Burton Clauson, 48, Emmett, died from injuries he suffered when the motorcycle he was riding was struck from behind by a pickup.

The pickup was driven by Duane Suttill, 24, Caldwell.

Skoro said Clauson was riding a 1970 Harley-Davidson motorcycle. The pickup was a 1968 Chevrolet. Clauson was riding on Highway 10, near the intersection of Highway 20.

Demo predicts impeachment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill predicts the House of Representatives will impeach President Nixon by a majority of at least 80 votes if the Judiciary Committee recommends impeachment.

On the other hand, O'Neill said Monday, the House will reject impeachment by a similar margin if the Judiciary Committee recommends that course of action.

"In my opinion, if the Judiciary Committee votes to impeach the President of the United States, they will be impeached by a minimum of 80 votes and higher," O'Neill said.

(Also) believe that if the President of the United States is not impeached by the committee, they do not report impeachment. That the President would not be impeached, by a simple majority to impeach if all 435 House members were present and voting on an impeachment bill. O'Neill's statement indicated he thinks there would be at least 286 votes in support of a Judiciary Committee recommendation either way if all 435 members vote.

Gubernatorial ballot in Maine lists 10

By United Press International — Ten candidates are running for governor in Maine, and because of it, or despite it, a newspaper poll shows half the voters still don't know who they'll pick in today's primary election. In Virginia, Democrats are vying for the mantle to unseat the state's senior and junior Republicans in Congress.

State Democrats and four Republicans were trying for a chance to succeed the two-term Democratic governor, Kenneth M. Curtis, who is barred by the state constitution from seeking reelection.

A poll by the Maine Sunday Telegram showed roughly half the registered voters in both parties were undecided on their choice for governor.

Election officials predicted there would be more than the state's 550,000-enrolled voters would go to the polls. Also at stake were six congressional nominations and 200 seats in the state legislature.

Virginia's two races are for House seats from the suburbs of Washington. D.C. Democrats are convinced that Watergate will be a big help in the effort to vote Rep. Stanford Parris and Joel T. Parris' out of office.

Freshman congressman was elected from the Eighth District by a bare 44 per cent plurality two years ago, while Broynhill, of the 10th District, the candidates are Arlington County Board member Joseph L. Fisher, Fairfax County supervisors Martha Pennino and Rufus Phillips and Dennis Gregg, who lists himself as an energy consultant.

Gregg entered the race without posting a filing fee after the state ruled he was entitled to because he was broke. He said his opponents have been using campaign sign literature with the word "sex," invisibly printed so it would sink into the voters' subconscious. The other candidates have called the charge ridiculous.

"If Watergate means anything at all, Broynhill could be in the fight of his life," said state Democratic party chairman Joseph Fitzpatrick.

In Maine's Second District, Mark Gentry, a former prisoner of war in Vietnam, is taking on state Rep. Stewart Smith for the Democratic nomination. The winner will face Rep. William Cohen in November.

Voters in Sanford, Maine, have been asked to approve a rezoning proposal that could pave the way for Gibbs Oil Co. to build a refinery in the town.

Retail sales gain in May

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Retail sales in May rose one per cent from April and were about six per cent above May, 1973, the Census Bureau reports.

Sales at retail outlets were valued at $44.4 billion, seasonally adjusted. Last month, they were $42.9 billion.

Durable goods rose 2.2 per cent in May on the strength of a 2.4 per cent increase in auto sales over April. Non durable goods edged up 0.4 per cent from a month ago. However, retail durables were still 12 per cent below May, 1973, levels while non durables were 10 per cent higher than a year ago, the bureau said Monday.

Saudis win firm chunk

(C) New York Times Service — WASHINGTON — The Arabian American Oil Co. and Saudi Arabia have reached an agreement whereby the Saudis will take majority ownership — 60 per cent — of the company's concession and assets, it was announced today.

The announcement gave no details either as to how much the Saudis would pay or as to who would head the company now. These and other details are to be worked out next month, and the agreement is to be made retroactive to Jan. 1.

Sewage plant grant approved

TWIN FALLS — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, today announced Twin Falls city will receive another $695,000 grant for the sewage treatment plant improvement.

He said the grant from the Environmental Protection Agency is in addition to $3.9 million in EPA funds already allocated for the Twin Falls project. The amended grant brings the total federal funding for the conversion of the city sewage treatment plant from primary to secondary treatment to $4.6 million.

City Manager Jean Millar said the additional or amended grant announced today by Rep. Hansen represents an additional amount needed now that bids have been opened and contracts awarded for the basic plant construction.

Detweiler Brothers Inc., contractor, has been awarded the major bid in the amount of $4.6 million. Other contracts awarded at this time include $1.1 million for the third division and $157,000 for the second division work.

Millar said yet to come are sewer lines and roadway construction bids and work covering several small pump or lift stations and some other small structures.

When the total project is completed, he said, it will probably represent an investment of about $7 million.

Part of the cost from the local share will come from participation by major industries which will send their waste through sewer lines to the treatment plant rather than treating it with a facility of their own. There is no local bond issue or special tax needed as sewer fees, scheduled in anticipation of the upgrading program have been reserved for the project.

Contractor will be called in July or August for the remaining portion of the project.

Primitive tool found

AN Obsidian rabbit pelt scraper especially chipped for a left handed Indian was found by Marvin Urwiler, Jackpot. The primitive tool is both curved and edged for left hand use.

Urwiler, former Twin Falls real estate agent, found the artifact near Salmon Falls Creek 10 miles south of Jackpot. He also uncovered a mashing-grinding stone, which he holds in his right hand.

Auction brings $1,150

FAIRFIELD — An auction held Saturday in the old Union Pacific Railroad Depot here brought $1,150 for the Camas County Historical Society.

The money will be used by the Society to help move the old Depot to its new location about two blocks away where it will be renovated and converted into a museum, a library and possibly a senior citizens center.

Debra Baldwin, president of the historical society, said while the auction proved a big success, the Society is still a long way from its goal of about $10,000 which is the estimated cost of moving and converting the old building. However, she said, about half of this is being sought through a Bicentennial grant for historical preservation programs.

The Historical Society acquired the depot as a gift from the Union Pacific after it was closed as a railroad travel facility. It is a two story building consisting of a waiting room, office and two baggage rooms on the first floor and four rooms which once served as living facilities for the railroad agent on the second floor.

Mrs. Baldwin said the Society hopes to move the building intact, including two large floor-to-roof chimneys.

The Fairview American Legion has donated the new site for the museum and community building, she said.

Life memberships at $100 each are being sold in the Historical Society to help raise the additional several thousand dollars needed.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Judy, our 22-year-old daughter, is a graduate student, living out of state. She's pretty and popular and always has been a leader and an honor student.

Judy had written us about a very fine black girl she had become friendly with at college. She lives in a small mid-west town and never had anything to do with the few black families who live on the highway.

Judy phoned a few days ago and asked if she could bring a young man home for a visit. I said, "Certainly."

Then she said, "He's black."

I asked, "HOW black?"

She said, "About as black as black can get." Then she went on to tell me that he was the brother of her college friend, also a graduate student, and an outstanding person, etc.

Parents shocked

I managed to control my emotions, and asked whether she was serious about him. She said, "Possibly, but I don't think I'm lucky enough to get him." (My stomach turned over.)

Abby, no one in her father's family or mine would ever mention it. If Judy says to marry a black man, I can see nothing but heartaches and problems for her if she marries him. I'm not a bigot, but we just aren't ready for something like this. I told her not to bring him home until I could prepare her father for the shock, so she said, "Unless you will treat him properly, I'd rather not subject him to any humiliation." That's where we left it.

Now, what do we do, Abby? — SLEEPLESS NIGHTS

DEAR SLEEPLESS: Unless you and your husband can treat your daughter's friend as though he were a Caucasian with a suit, tell her not to bring him home. But don't be surprised if Judy doesn't come either. She's old enough to choose her own friends. And by the way, what is your definition of a bigot?

DEAR ABBY: My career is my home and family, and I am proud of it. But for some strange reason, when a housewife is asked to take care of the very apologetically says, "I'm ONLY a housewife." This irritates me no end.

When I am asked what I do, I usually say, "I am an oikologist." The word comes from the Greek words "oikos," which means house, and "ologist" which means "one who studies" or "is an expert in."

Please pass that on for other housewives. Perhaps they will feel more important if they use it, too. OIKOLOGIST

DEAR OIK: I wouldn't recommend springing that on the average Joe without defining it. The "oikologist" might be mistaken for an expert on pigs.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you'll put this in your column for those nice people who are guilty, but are not aware of it.

Two months ago I had a breast removed, also the lymph glands under my arm. (Cancer.) I am doing fine, and I look fine, so I started to go to my club meetings and to church.

Just about every other person I meet is so happy to see me up and around again that they slip or grip my sore arm. I'm sure they don't realize how painful this is because they are not connect my operation with my arm.

They are dear people, and I wouldn't hurt them for the world, but Abby, my arm is swollen, swollen, swollen, swollen, and when it's gripped it hurts me mad. It's getting so I hate to go anywhere because I'm afraid of this painful greeting. I'm sure to get.

Maybe some of those nice-but-stupid people will read this and take note. — ACHING ARM

DEAR ACHING: Consider it done.

SHORT-SHIRT FOR KNEES

By Mary Sue Miller

A lovely writes: Help! I must lose several inches on the sides of my knees, inside and outside. I am terribly conscious of the problem when I wear shorts and tennis dresses.

The Answer: These workouts lead to a neater knee:

1. Sit on the edge of a hard chair or stool with feet raised about 4" off floor. Press knees together and keep them so throughout. Now swing legs from side to side like a pendulum. Without stopping, repeat 20 times. Relax and repeat once again.

2. On floor, stretch out on right side with left leg atop right leg and pressed in it. Keeping knees together, scissor-kick feet, making motions short and quick. Work for 30 minutes. Then turn on left side and continue. Be sure to keep knee next to floor in contact with it.

3. Stand sideways to a sturdy chair and hold on with near hand for balance. Come up onto tiptoes and, knees together, immediately perform a deep knee-bend as deep as you are able. After much practice you will be able to sit on your heels. Always return to erect position 10 repeats before lowering heels. Work up from 3 to 10 repeats, go down quickly, straighten up slowly.

As an aid to the slimming process, try not to let the knees lock when you walk and stand. The knees must be slightly flexed, or strains result and induce fatty pads.

SECRETS OF A LOVELY FIGURE

What's your figure problem? To achieve a lovely figure, use my booklets, SECRETS OF A LOVELY FIGURE. It contains easy ways to reduce waist and proportions, to overcome gyno-problems, such as fat, freckles and blemishes; to move with grace and poise. TF miss, Tillstrom exchange promises

TWIN FALLS — Michelle (Missie) Sweet, Twin Falls, married David B. Tillstrom, Gresham, Ore., in a double ring ceremony at the First Christian Church in Twin Falls May 29.

Tillstrom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Tillstrom, Gresham, and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sweet, Twin Falls. John Vawter and Ray Jones performed the candlelight ceremony before an altar flanked by four candelabra and two large floral arrangements with white gladiolus and blue chrysanthemums. The center aisles were decorated with new candelabra and large blue bows.

The bride wore a white slipper satin gown of colonial style with chantly lace set in front and a stand-up collar bordered and dotted with pearls. The fitted bodice and long-sleeved sleeves were also covered with chantly lace. Pearls accented the scalloped waistline and a band of stephanotis and a band of flowers. Her hair was styled in a high-tail of gathered chantly lace covered the cathedral length train. The gown, originally worn by the bride's mother, was restyled by Mrs. Marvin Custer.

She carried a bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids accented by french illusion lilies. The bouquet was arranged on the New Testament that had been carried by the bride's mother at her wedding. As the bride left the altar she presented her mother and the bridegroom's mother with the ring. Twin Falls, served as maid of honor. She was assisted by bridal attendants Mary Small, Boise; Lynne Collins, Pocatello; Mrs. Carl Wilson, Twin Falls; and Cheryl Sandy, Hagerman.

Best man — Ron Norquist, Gresham; was assisted by ushers Ron Verdon, Boring; Eric, Ronn Hoffman, Twin Falls; Reichenbach, Woodburn; Ore.; Bob Walker, Beaverton, Ore.; and Al Janssen, Sherwood, Ore.

Tony Purves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Purves, was the chief usher and Amy Norquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Norquist was flower girl.

Marsha Roberts and Janis Miles, both Moscow, were candy attendants.

Following the wedding, guests were received in the church fireplace room and attended a reception in the church reception hall.

The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated with yellow roses and blue flowers. A white sugar ribbon was specially made for the third layer of the cake, which was topped with two white doves surrounding a bride with a gold marriage cross in the background. Blue gladiolus flowers decorated the cake with spangeli fern. The cake was topped by Mrs. Uba Allen, Twin Falls.

The cake table was set with crystal, candelabra borrowed from the paternal grandmother. The punch and cake tables were decorated in blue and yellow and encircled with green boxwood and orange blossoms.

Laurie Mathisen, Nampa, and Chris Wyatt, Twin Falls, presided at the guestbook; Vicki Ridgeway, Kimberly, served punch; Sue Montgomery, Eden, served coffee, and Lynn Ramseyer and Christi Griff, both Filer, served the cake. Gift receipt by Bob Sweet, the bride's cousin; Mary Lynn Jones, Tanya Lindsey, and Carolyn Briggs, all Twin Falls.

The bride was honored by musical guests hosted by Phyllis Champlin and Mrs. Eugene Champlin, both Twin Falls; Mrs. Jim Wilson and Mrs. Robert Wilson, both Twin Falls, and Marsha Roberts and Janis Miles, both Moscow.

A wedding rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the Black Whale, Twin Falls.

Special out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Hartley, Sandy, Utah; Mr. and Mrs. Matt Shields, Boring, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Tillstrom, brother and sister-in-law of the groom; Carl Tillstrom, brother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. George Cleveland, Boise; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Bolinger, Pocatello, and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Vance, Phenix, Ariz.

Grandparents attending were Mrs. Betty Sweet, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lulloff, all Twin Falls.

Following a wedding trip to the Oregon coast, the couple will spend the summer at Colorado State University where they will receive training for the Campus Crusade for Christ. Next fall, both will reside in Moscow where they will work as staff members for the crusade.

Couple recites vows

TWIN FALLS — Susan Elizabeth Martin became the bride of Frederick Victor Atkinson in the Salt Lake City LDS Temple.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D.A. Jackson, Twin Falls, and the groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. V.J. Atkinson, Westlake, Calif.

Elder Marvin J. Ashton performed the double ring ceremony. The couple was entertained at an open-house in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eldridge Grant Jr., Salt Lake City.

The bride is employed as assistant manager of "Environment West" in Trolley Square. The groom is assistant director of the physiotherapy department at the University of Utah and is working to complete a master's degree in public health administration.

North-South lose 'blame' tiff

All South had to do was not to play dummy's king of clubs when he did it. East ruffed the second club to lead a heart. South would win; draw trumps and discard his queen of hearts on that, nice clubbing.

If East didn't ruff, West's best play would be to lead a third club. East would ruff; South would overruff and draw trumps. Then he would lose the diamond finesse but would not have to take a dummy's fourth diamond would be a parking place for the heart queen.

(NORTHWATER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

3-CARD Starboard

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1♣	Double	Pass	3

YOU, SOUTH, HOLD:
♠ 6 5 4 3 2
♥ 7 4 3 2
♦ A Q 9 7 4 3
♣ A Q 9 7 4 3

What do you do now?
A — Bid 4♥. Your distribution and seven high-card points call for a strong bid. Incidentally, this particular jump is not absolute.

TODAY'S QUESTION
West bids three spades. North and East pass. What do you do now?

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Inability to see the forest because of all the trees is a common fault of many bridge players.

North wanted to know why South made such a light vulnerable opening bid. South wanted to know why North hadn't doubled four clubs and taken a sure profit. Neither noticed that South had a clinch way to make his game.

West opened the ace of clubs and continued with the queen. The king was played from dummy. East ruffed and led back a heart. When South bid to lose a finesse in that suit and one in diamonds to wind up one trick short.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, JUNE 12, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Except for a tendency to be careless where your health is concerned, and expecting more from an influential person than is practical, the day otherwise is excellent for thinking out your most important plan of action.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You had better plan for entertainment you want early so that it doesn't interfere with other things you have to do. Keep poised.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be more concerned with home affairs that are important instead of running off on a tangent. Do some serious thinking tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make appointments with persons who have the data you need and forget money for the time being. Improve regular routines.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Concern yourself with the practical side of life and know which business experts should be consulted for best results.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You want favors from others now, but you have to show that you are willing to work for them, and give favors back in return.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Private talks with associates concerning a special project bring excellent results now. Don't argue with others. Beware.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Gain the goodwill of one in power by showing you are an excellent citizen. Take no chances with one who is irate at this time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have inspired ideas and should do something about them right away. Change your attitude and get things done right.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Follow your hunches and know how to establish more harmony at home. Try to please loved one. Sidelstep any arguments.

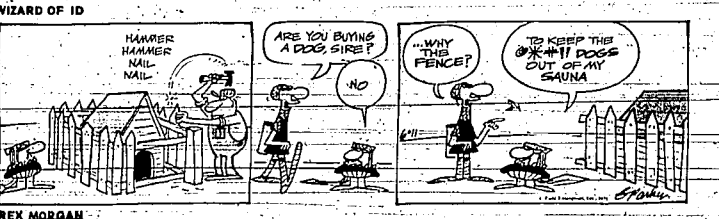

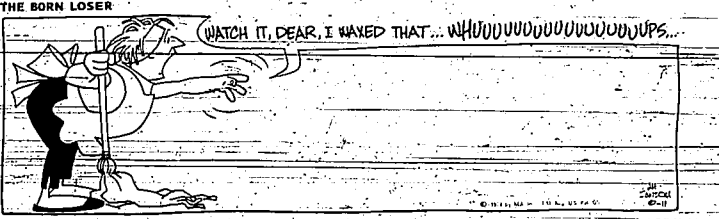

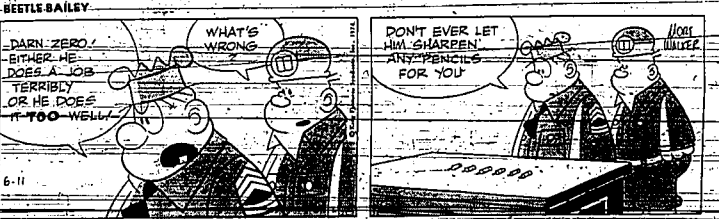

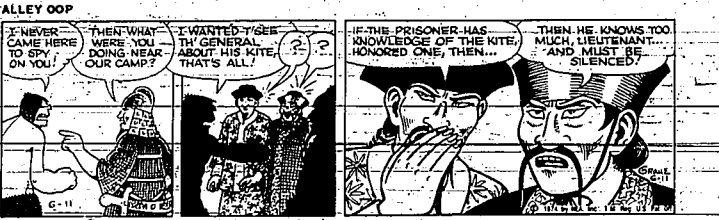

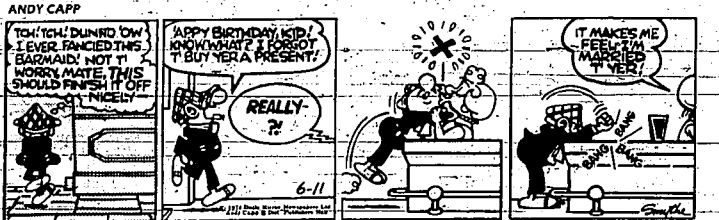

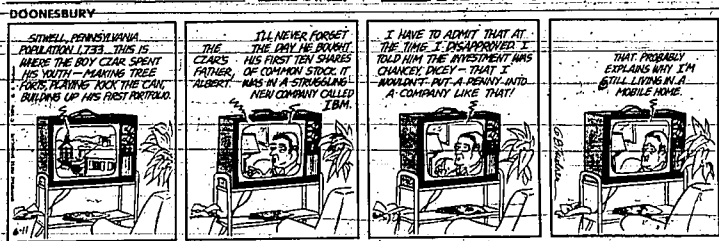

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Come to a fine understanding with associates and be happier in your future dealings. Handle your routines with accuracy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take care of financial affairs that are pressing. Talk matters over with co-workers and gain their full cooperation.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Talk with associates and plan just what must be done to have greater happiness in the future. Show more devotion to mate.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have much warmth and kindness for others and will be highly attracted to the feelings of others. Teach how to ward off any possible danger that could come to your progeny by being too trusting. The field of finance is especially fine here. Give ethical training early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Am asked where and when did the first female entertainer appear naked on stage in 1919. That was Al the Folies Bergere in Paris. Or at least so far as the record shows. Students of modern history say she had much to do with why many Americans vacationed in Paris for 20 years thereafter.

Highest temperature ever recorded in America's northernmost city—59 degrees—T in Fairbanks, Alaska. Highest temperature ever recorded in America's southernmost city—93 degrees F at Honolulu, Hawaii. Or such is the report of a kindly client Odd, what?

Contrary to popular belief, there has never been a tribe of people anywhere in which the women went back to work immediately after the delivery of their babies, I'm told. Ten days in two weeks has been the worldwide average rest period.

BLACKJACK
Odds at blackjack generally favor the house by 6 per cent. The water that drains of Japan's Mt. Fuji is so polluted with alkaline that photographic negatives can be developed in it.

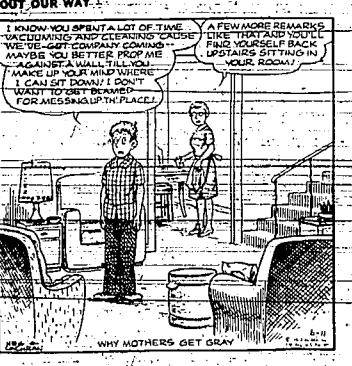

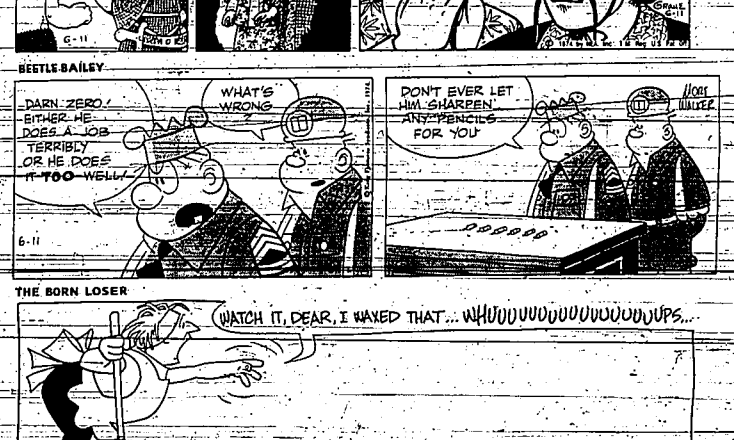

Sorry, it's too late to invent a set of chopsticks, connected by a u-shaped spring in the middle, that will be easy for anybody to handle on the first try. Such chopsticks already have been patented.

Do you realize the secret of silk remained inside China for almost 19 centuries? Originated there in 1300 B.C. Finally, some monks smuggled out a batch of silkworm eggs inside a bamboo cane. And the western world got new pajamas.

TATTOOS
Q. "Is Pearl Bailey tattooed?"
A. She is. And so is Glen Campbell. But not in the same place. She wears a heart on her leg. He, a dagger on his arm.
Q. "Aren't all babies tattooed?"
A. Almost all. Up to about age 2, at any rate.
Q. "How much of my weight is blood?"
A. A tenth to a twelfth of it.

Where I apprenticed in this dusty trade, the best of the newsmen wore the lightest colored copy. Once turned in a story, containing the sentence, "Raise it up a little higher. The city editor said, 'Son, here's why I'm your boss.' He struck out the word 'higher.' The managing editor, looking over his shoulder, said to me, 'Mister, here's why I'm your boss.' He struck out the word 'up a little'.

Torre's homer lets Cards edge Dodgers 4-2 in 11th

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Joe Torre led off the 11th inning with a home run off knucklebatter Charlie Hough Monday night to snip a 2-2 tie and lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Torre's fourth homer of the season enabled the Cardinals to remain two games behind first place Philadelphia in the National League East while the loss kept the Dodgers from moving nine games in front of Cincinnati in the West.

Jack Heidemann singled home Ike McBride who had walked and moved to second on a sacrifice, with the Cardinals' final run.

Arbitrator to hear owner-player talks

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Football League players and owners open a three-day stint at the bargaining table today, attempting to take a leap from the recent garment workers strike.

William Usery, director of the Federal Conciliation Service, who successfully mediated that dispute, has been secured by the players and owners to attempt to bring about a quick settlement.

Acting as a specter behind the talks, however, is the threat by the Players Association to strike if an agreement isn't reached by July 1.

Ed Garvey, NFLPA Executive Director, warned the owners Sunday that "there are 12 days of negotiations between now and July 1. If nothing is settled by that time, we will declare a strike."

Garvey first presented a list of demands to owners last April, but they voted down each issue.

Reside the "freedom issues", involving such topics as the Rozelle Rule and the waiver procedures, the players are asking for large increases in such items as the pension plan.

A total of 90 demands in all by the players will be under discussion, most of which haven't even been discussed in previous meetings.

Garvey has termed the profit figures released last week by the owners "absolutely nonsense."

"There are so many ways you can hide profits. There are all sorts of expenses you can declare."

Anyway, Garvey said, the figures "won't have any effect on our negotiations."

John Thompson, the head of the NFL Management Council, lends the owners' team. The council was created so the owners would have a formal way of dealing with the players.

"We will be represented by as many owners as possible," Thompson said. "We agreed to

Legion opens home season Wednesday

The Twin Falls Legion team will make its first home appearance of the year at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Jayce Park where it will host Orofino.

Twin Falls will carry an 0-2 mark into the game, having dropped a doubleheader Sunday to Idaho Falls 8-4 and 7-4.

The Orofino affair will cover nine innings and be the only home action this week. The team travels to Nampa for three games this weekend, two Saturday starting at 6 p.m. and a nine-inning battle at noon Sunday.

The remainder of the schedule includes: June 18, Twin Falls at Minico, 7 p.m.; June 19, Wood River at Twin Falls, 7 p.m.; June 23, Twin Falls at Boise; doubleheader at 1 p.m., June 24; Valley at Twin Falls, 7 p.m.; June 27, Twin Falls at Buhl; 8 p.m.; June 29, Twin Falls at Caldwell,

Wisecracking and smiles less but Trevino still has game

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (UPI) — The wisecracks and the smiles may be fewer and more infrequent, but one thing remains the same about Lee Trevino: He still can play his game.

The Merry Mex is getting his first look these days at the Winged Foot Golf Club course where the U.S. Open begins Thursday, and he's going about it seriously — and for him, quietly.

"I think," he said Monday between whacks at several dozen balls in a practice range sand trap, "the USGA is mad at us for last year."

Last year was when Johnny Miller blitzed through with a final round 63 to win the Open at Oakmont, Pa. No one believes something like that will happen again.

"Not here," Trevino said. "This is a defensive course. You're not gonna see too much of an offensive move. It's not the type of course where you birdie the first two holes and figure you can shoot 10-under. Anyone gets one or two under here, they'll just try to hold on."

Little has been heard from Trevino lately, although he has

Burleson goes with NBA & Supersonics

SEATTLE (UPI) — Throwing Tom Burleson of North Carolina State signed a five-year, non-call contract with the Seattle Sonics of the National Basketball Association Monday to end speculation over whether the 7-center would choose Seattle or the Indiana Pacers for his pro career.

Salary terms were not disclosed.

The Pacers had American Basketball Association rights to Burleson, but the 22-year-old forward from the mountains of North Carolina said he "preferred Seattle because I think the NBA is much more sound."

"Burleson, standing a half-head taller than 6-9 Sonics coach Bill Russell, said there wasn't much difference in the contracts Seattle and Indiana offered."

"With Tom Burleson we'll be competitive center," Russell said. "I'm not going to say I'm going to make the playoffs right away. We've been burned on that one before. We went out of our way to get Tommy because we think he has a tremendous future in basketball." Some of the basketball world's most interesting things you can't teach a tall player ... tremendous stamina, attitude and — in basketball players, a very important thing — reasonable intelligence."

Sonics owner Sam Schulman, sitting in on the news conference, replied with a crisp, "No comment" to the question of whether Burleson has become the highest-paid Sonics in the history of the club.

CAIRO (UPI)—For the first time in a decade, Egyptian hung American flags in the streets Monday in salute to President Nixon's visit this week.

The Stars and Stripes the size of baby blankets waved in light breeze on poles on the road from Cairo to the Pyramids and the Sphinx.

Not since before the 1967 Arab-Israeli war had the U.S. emblem decked Cairo streets.

Then it was for American businessmen taking part in a fair. Today they hung out flags for a man the Egyptians see as a creator of current peace progress and a maker of more peace tomorrow.

"We Egyptians are a grateful people. We wear our gratitude with pride, and with joy," said Akil Amin, editor of the newspaper "Al Akhbar" and a confidant of President Anwar Sadat, Nixon's host Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

"President Nixon will enjoy himself," Amin told UPI.

Sadat "mustered more than 30,000 uniformed and plain-clothes officers—have been organized to guard Nixon in Cairo in Alexandria, on the Mediterranean and at the Pyramids.

At dawn today, Sadat sent platoons of army explosives experts down the 132 mile railway track he will ride with Nixon Thursday from Cairo to Alexandria. U.S. secret service men hovered overhead in a helicopter, monitoring the security check.

Security men watched the Nile Hilton hotel hand out white notices to guests, asking them to clear out. The White House asked for all eight floors of rooms.

Next door, at Arab League headquarters, Arabs who do not share Sadat's warmth for the Nixon-Henry A. Kissinger peacemaking left town. The Palestine National Council, the "parliament" of the Palestinians fighting to regain the homes they left in the 1948 Arab-Israeli war, Sunday issued a final vow to fight and fight and fight. And then, watched by security men, they went to the airport.

Firm asks higher rate

TOKYO (UPI)—Tokyo Gas Co. will seek government approval this week to raise gas charges an average of 82 per cent starting Aug. 1, a company official said Sunday.

The new rates would affect 4.8 million households in the Tokyo metropolitan area.

The official said the higher rate was made necessary by increased costs for other areas, including a sharp increase in the price of crude oil.

Pathet Lao takes lead in Laotian control

Hotel destroyed

HIT BY a sequence of explosions starting in its middle and working outwards, the Kentworth Hotel, Miami Beach Fla., slinks but keeps part of a wall standing Sunday in this series, from top to bottom. Demolition experts used dynamite to raise the 10-floor hotel, famous in the 1950's, in about 20 seconds. (UPI)

(c) New York Times Service VIENTIANE, LAOS — In the two months since the formation of the new coalition government in Laos, the Communist-orientated Pathet Lao has taken a clear lead over its disorganized rightist and neutralist competitors. Already the Pathet Lao is sounding like the dominant partner of the new arrangement as many of its erstwhile enemies begin — as one diplomat put it — "trimming their sails to strong winds out of Sam Neua."

Sam Neua is the Pathet Lao's administrative capital. And it and the four-fifths of Laos that the Pathet Lao controls with its North Vietnamese allies remain out of bounds to neutralist and rightist officials from Vientiane.

In contrast, the Pathet Lao has virtually taken military control of the up-country royal capital of Luang Prabang and, here in Vientiane, has people at ministerial or subministerial levels in the most important government agencies.

The lopsidedness of the Feb. 21, 1973, peace agreement, which reflected the Pathet Lao's preponderant military position at the time, was always apparent on paper, but some rightists find it much more galling in reality.

"We are losing, we are losing," lamented prominent rightist cabinet minister, surveying an elaborate, colored organizational chart that showed the Pathet Lao's movement into places of power. "They have taken the national assembly, the economy, they are in the ministry of defense — and what do we have of theirs? Nothing."

The Pathet Lao's most resounding forum has been the National Political Council which is based in Luang Prabang and headed by Prince Souphanouvong, the titular leader of the Laotian revolutionary movement.

The 42-member council is theoretically "equal" to the cabinet, which it is supposed to furnish with broad policy recommendations. Though the Vientiane side is equally represented on the council, rightists have long denounced it as "the politburo."

On May 10, Souphanouvong spoke to the council, suggesting that the constitution be damned "to insure Democratic Liberties."

Two weeks later, the council adopted an 18-point program.

STEEL BELTED TIRES

Sears Highway Passenger Tire Guarantee

If you do not receive the number of miles specified because of your tire becoming unserviceable due to (1) defects, (2) normal road hazards, or (3) tread wear.

We will: At our option, exchange it for a new tire or give you a refund charging in either case only the proportion of the tire's current selling price plus Federal Excise tax that represents mileage used. If the tire is unserviceable due to any of the above causes before 10% of the guaranteed mileage is received, the replacement of "tread" will be made with no charge for mileage received.

Nail punctures will be repaired at no charge.

Guarantee applies to travel vehicles used for private family purposes.

Our Lowest Priced Steel Tire

- The extra strength of 2 Steel Belts.
- Polyester cord plies for a smooth ride.
- Single Stripe whitewall sidewall.
- Guaranteed 26,000 miles.
