Nixon Mideast journeys over

US payment balance soars

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. balance of payments swung to a record $2.1 billion surplus in the first three months of 1974 but the improvement will probably be temporary, the Commerce Department said Wednesday.

Sawhill wins 2nd confirmation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John C. Sawhill has gained overwhelming Senate approval to head the Federal Energy Administration, although one senator claimed that Sawhill helped "neuter the public" with high fuel prices.

Busing foe eyes Senate bid

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI)—Leon McCabe, the anti-busing leader who waited in Washington in 1972, filed nominating petitions for a seat on the Oakland County Board of Commissioners Tuesday as a Democrat.

LAJES AIRBASE, AZORES (UPI)—President Nixon headed for home today following exhausting discussions with Arab and Israeli leaders that a top aide said "opened the door to peace in the Middle East."

Nixon's last stop was an overnight rest at Lajes Air Base that included talks with the new Portuguese president, Antonio de Spínola during which the two leaders agreed on continued U.S. support for an "independent, free and prosperous Portugal."

The trip that crisscrossed four Arab nations and Israel and included numerous talks with top leaders, state dinners, sightseeing and public appearances before millions, appeared to take its toll on Nixon. His eyes appeared puffy in his meeting with Spínola today and he called his trip "very long and arduous."

Mideast leaders would bring no instant solutions, raised hopes in the presidential duty of permanent peace in the Mideast.

"The diplomacy on this trip has opened the door to peace in the Middle East and the nations that are now here have an opportunity to walk through that door," Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said.

Ziegler said he could not assess what effect the trip would have on opinion in the United States where Nixon is the subject of an impeachment inquiry.

"I can't judge," he said. "I think the American people will have to be the judges." The President's two daughters, Julie Eisenhower and Tricia Cox, planned to meet their father and mother when they arrived at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., and ride with them in a helicopter for a welcome by Cabinet members, White House aides, foreign diplomats and others on the White House south lawn.

Nixon's stay in Washington will be brief. He plans to go to Key Biscayne, Fla., Thursday for a weekend of rest and preparation for next week's visit to NATO headquarters in Brussels and his trip to Moscow for his third summit meeting with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev.

TF terminating striking workers

By BILL LAZARUS Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The City of Twin Falls has begun the process of terminating striking employees, according to the city manager.

City Manager Dean Miller said today workers who "sit-out" on strike Monday night Tuesday would be given the "opportunity to reconsider" their action.

He set a deadline at 9 a.m. Friday for employees wishing to be "reconsidered" by the city.

Miller said he would accept none of the striking workers back of the job before then, although they could request to retain their jobs before then.

He said there is no set policy that the men reporting back for work would be reinstated. Employees will be notified Tuesday of retentions and dismissals, he said.

"There might be some act between now and Friday that could either get them back or get them out completely," he said. "Up to now, he said, "some comments" about incidents of intimidation have been made, but the city has not made any investigations yet. Miller did not specify the comments.

About 40 city maintenance workers went on strike seeking city recognition of the Teamsters Union as their bargaining agent.

Strikers remained on the picket lines today, but water and sewer services were maintained by skeleton crews. Routine city maintenance jobs were postponed in many cases.

Meanwhile, Teamsters Union business representatives for Snake River companies and individuals have offered help to the city, but these services probably will not be needed, he said.

Miller said the city clerk's office had received "a considerable number" of applications for employment. But the office reported this morning that only two such applications have been made since the strike began.

Idaho Human Rights Commission, the Governor and the State Department of Labor charging discrimination.

Miller said the firefighters and teachers unions are established by state law. "If he (Corson) wants to take to Idaho anyone on discrimination, he should talk with the state legislature. That makes the laws on there," the city manager said.

The Teamsters spokesman said that 39 of the men have joined the Teamsters Union. As members they should receive $50 a day strike benefits. But Corson said his decision on benefits will have to be made when the union's general executive board meets at the end of the month.

He said that all but six of the city maintenance employees are off the job. Pickets are keeping a "no go" picket shift at the city hall, shop, airport, sewer treatment plant, water filter plant, golf course and at Dietrich Lake, he said.

The pickets, Corson said, are receiving a good deal of public sympathy and offers for temporary replacement. He said the strike is effective in keeping the city "on wheels."

Miller said the city has experienced "no unusual problem" with the strike. He said both the city shop, with 22 employees, and the water and sewer departments, with 16 employees, have about six to eight employees still on duty. This does not include department heads, he said.

In the smaller water supply, waste water treatment and airport departments all the regular employees are continuing to work. He said private construction companies and individuals have offered help to the city, but these services probably will not be needed, he said.

Miller said the city clerk's office had received "a considerable number" of applications for employment. But the office reported this morning that only two such applications have been made since the strike began.

Israeli jets blast guerrillas

By United Press International

Israeli warplanes attacked Palestinian guerrilla bases in the border region of southeast Lebanon for the third time in 16 hours today and a Beirut publication said the Israelis appeared to be conducting a "scorched earth policy" there.

Fire danger increasing

TWIN FALLS — Sawtooth National Forest officials said today fire danger levels are climbing "as extremely hot temperatures are expected."

Today, fire danger ratings were "high" in the Rock Creek area and "moderate" at Notch Butte and Halley. Forest officials said two small fires have been spotted for this season. One was caused by lightning and the other was man-caused.

Rabin government passes test

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin's government survived its first no-confidence vote in parliament today over its response to the U.S.-Egyptian nuclear assistance agreement.

The no-confidence motion submitted to the Knesset parliament by the opposition Likud political bloc was defeated by a vote of 63-57 following a sometimes stormy three-hour debate over the government's reaction to the U.S.-Egyptian pact, almost identical to one announced later between Israel and the United States.

Ford denies zigzagging charge

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Vice President Gerald Ford says he is not "zigzagging" in his support of President Nixon but he has asked the President to cooperate with the House Judiciary Committee.

In a telephone radio interview, Ford said he is confident Nixon is innocent of all charges. "Terminating charges is 'zigzagging' and is ridiculous," Ford said he has asked Nixon to cooperate when pertinent questions are asked.

Wood floodwaters at 7 feet

HALLEY — Floodwaters of the Big Wood River remained at the seven-foot level today.

The waters closed three county and one private road and carried large trees downstream. County crews have repaired a ruptured gas line running beneath the river into Hulen Meadows and dumped piles of rocks along the river to shore up banks and bridges.

Blaine County flood commissioner James Hogg said the immediate danger is gone, although high water is expected to remain for two days.

Gem suit asks release of wilderness proposals

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture today to force release of regional wilderness recommendations by the Forest Service.

Andrus brought the action in federal court under the Freedom of Information Act. His complaint names Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz.

Forest Service Chief John R. McGuire and Regional Forester Vern Hamra, Oden, Utah, are defendants.

The Attorney General W. Anthony Parisi, who filed the suit on Andrus' behalf, said he hopes to have a hearing in 10 days to two weeks on the request for a show cause order.

Andrus took the action after regional and other officials of the federal government refused to let him see regional recommendations for wilderness classification in Idaho.

Andrus said he is concerned about other recommendations that went to Washington, D.C., because they contain some exclusions that could destroy a major watershed.

The refusal to disclose the regional wilderness recommendations subjects the review to a secret process within the executive branch of the United States government and seriously compromises the accountability of public officials to the citizens of Idaho and the United States of America," Andrus said in his formal complaint.

The refusal to disclose the regional wilderness recommendations prevents plaintiffs and citizens of Idaho and the United States of America from effectively petitioning the federal government for redress of grievances as guaranteed by the First Amendment to the United States Constitution," he added.

Crews fight range fires

BRUNEAU, Idaho (UPI)—Firefighters hoped today to control two range fires near BrunEAU by nightfall.

More than 100 men spent Tuesday night fighting a blaze which has blackened about 30,000 acres near the BrunEAU sand dunes, reported Mike Young, of the Boise District of the Bureau of Land Management.

Near Richfield, Bureau of Land Management crews battled two fires caused by lightning Tuesday afternoon.

The largest, five miles southeast of Richfield, covered 2,500 acres in lava rock and was still burning this morning. Mike Green, BLM public information officer, said it is expected the blaze will be brought under control today unless strong winds interfere.

He said 24 men and two tankers were dispatched to the site. The other fire, 12 miles east of Richfield, burned 30 to 35 acres before being controlled about midnight Tuesday. Green said 12 men and two tankers battled this fire.

CSI keeps accreditation

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho Tuesday was accredited for at least another five years by the Northwest Regional Accreditation Association.

The higher education commission of the association reaffirmed CSI's accreditation on the basis of an evaluating report at a hearing held in Seattle, Wash.

The report was prepared by a 13-member team which spent several days at the college in late April to study the institution and make recommendations. CSI president Dr. James T. Taylor, representing the college at the hearing, is a member of the Commission.

Taylor quoted Dr. Richard White, team chairman, as reporting he felt "the College of Southern Idaho has made substantial progress and could be ranked as one of the outstanding junior colleges in the northwest." White is the president of Shoreline Community College in Seattle.

"Impressing from Seattle," Taylor said, "I'm thrilled to death" with the accreditation committee's action.

The college originally received accreditation in 1969, submitting a progress report in 1971. But the April study was the first full-blown review of the college since 1969, Taylor said.

Taylor said the accreditation is "not for any specific time but generally implies the school will submit a progress report in five years and have a full evaluation in 10 years."

Volunteers continue hunting lost Pocatello boy

By ED MITCHELL Times-News writer

MINIDOKA — Blaine County Sheriff Orville Drexler said today that although the official search for a Pocatello boy has been called off he has a deputy at the search area.

The deputy is overseeing efforts of about 30 volunteers still operating out of the Crystal See Caves camp. Drexler said "those people are really desperate now. They're doing anything they can, grasping at straws."

Eight or nine people, enough to get me thoroughly confused. The explanation is beyond me at this point."

Drexler said he would like to investigate the incident himself but said it would take him about two weeks because of the number of people involved. He said searchers had used a professional tracker to the search, but they could not follow footprints when they went into the lava beds.

Jeff Hodgson, 11, is described as being about 5 feet 2 inches in height and weighing about 150 to 180 pounds. He has red hair and freckles.

According to Neil Eshragham, Department of Environmental and Community Services (DECS) information specialist, he was referred to the DECS regional recreation division of personal and family services sponsored wilderness survival training program by his school counselor to train himself as a search dog.

Mrs. Darrell Goodnight, Mini-Cassia Search and Rescue member, told the Times-News the area in which Jeff is lost is "60 square miles of pure hell."

She said that about 10 years ago, he was a sheepherder that was lost in the same area. He was never found and no trace of his horse or saddle was even seen.

Blood and urine samples from Myers' body have been submitted to Blaine County Coroner Jay Butler to determine if an overdose of heroin did cause the death.

No autopsy has been ordered yet, the chief said. A witness told police he had seen Myers about 3 p.m. Tuesday and he was all right then.

Use of heroin and roachane on the increase, according to a report released recently by the Idaho attorney general's office in Boise.

Mrs. Goodnight said searchers looking for Jeff had found one vertical chasm into which they dropped a flare attached to a rock. The searchers reported that the flare dropped completely out of sight and said they did not hear the rock hit bottom.

She said "I'd like people to understand how huge that area is."

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said today he was not aware of the survival program and said he has some reservations about sponsorship.

Council okays library funds

TWIN FALLS — On a split vote, the Twin Falls City Council has decided to give an additional $50,000 to help build a city library addition.

The councilmen split on a four-to-three vote Monday night in voting to give the funds from 1975 revenue to complete the Twin Falls Library addition.

Librarian Arlan Call told the council that bids received on the addition are higher than had been expected.

The low bid, from Nelsen and Co., Twin Falls, for $257,000, was above the $200,000 estimated for the project.

Call asked the council for $25,000 and said a six-foot reduction in building size could be made.

However, councilman Dr. Stephen Lincoln suggested the amount be increased by $25,000 to a total of $50,000 to permit completion of the library using original plans.

Mayor Winston Jones said he was opposed to the additional expenditure, saying the additional six feet of space was not that important.

Councilman Leon Smith said he did not believe the council should vote to commit funds for expenditures next year.

Jones, Smith and councilman H. E. Cheagy opposed the expenditure. Supporting the expenditure were councilmen Paul Ostyn, Henry Woodhall, Art Cover and Dr. Lincoln.

Mayor Jones appointed a grievance committee to hear the complaint of former fireman Paul Barnhill. The committee, approved by the council, includes H. W. Zimmerman of the fire department, attorney Lloyd Webb and Carl Snow, school principal.

The council approved an ordinance granting Building Specialties Inc. a conditional use in a restaurant-innium zone, for the construction of four-plexes. The property is located in the area of Jefferson Street and Borah Avenue.

The council approved a waiver of building permit fees for a new elementary school building for the Twin Falls school district. Mayor Jones voted against the waiver as the city has requested a cost estimate on the project but had not received the cost figure.

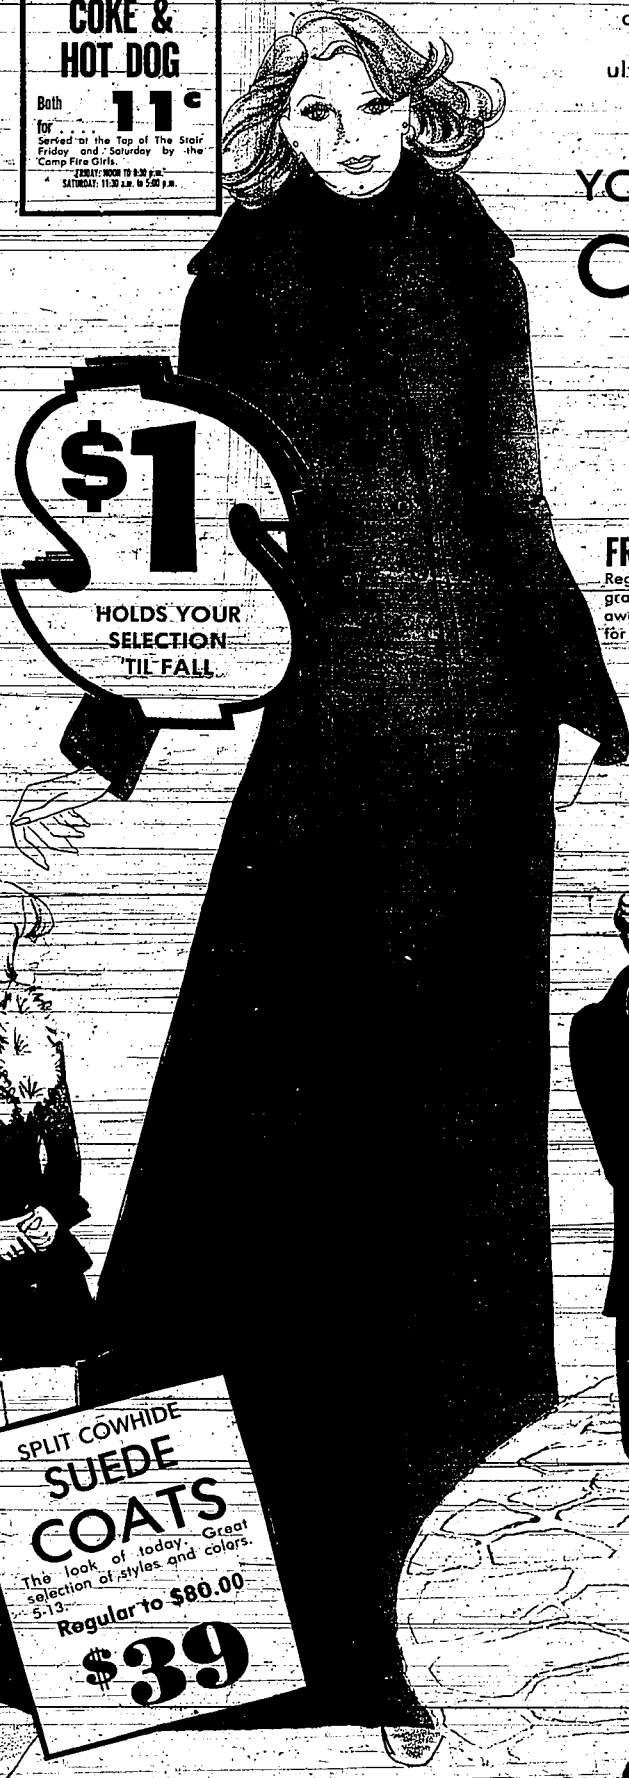

Following approval of the waiver, city Manager Jean Miller explained the school district has not called for bids yet and is not releasing estimate figures.

In other action, the council presented a certificate to Lt. Garry Corder of the police department for completion of special training and gave approval to a final plat for the Villa Vista subdivision and delayed action on the plat for Ridgewood subdivision.

Sewer service for the Northridge subdivision on the Snake River Canyon rim near the Gun Club property was approved giving preliminary approval to the development subject to city engineering and planning and zoning approval.

New FM station in full operation

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley's newest FM stereo radio station, KMTW, has settled to permanent programming, John Carlson, station manager, said Tuesday.

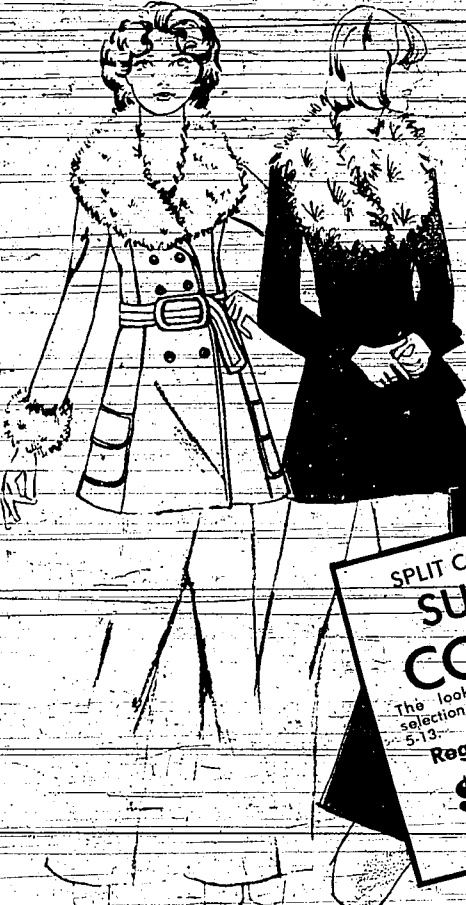

The station, located southwest of Twin Falls, began broadcasting early Saturday morning and it took about two days to "get the bugs out of the operation," Carlson said.

Nine persons are employed fulltime at the station which covers the entire valley. It is the second 100,000 watt FM station in the state, Carlson said, the other being station KID-FM in Idaho Falls.

Programming features five minutes of news every hour, agricultural newscasts and "contemporary and middle of the road" music.

The new station is listed as Media 5 in the telephone book, Carlson said, because the call letters were received too late to be included in the current book.

Nixon commands news, gains ironic revenge

Devoted to the citizens of Magic Valley... William E. Howard, General Manager

Mixed marks for Middle East tour

From very close-at-hand hindsight it appears President Nixon's Middle East tour has had mixed results. Four points might be made.

1. The President was able to impress on an eager world the remarkable achievement of bringing Arab and Israeli enemies to the same table to sign disengagement pacts.

If nothing else, the tenuous agreements hammered out during Henry Kissinger's marathon shuttle diplomacy held together at least long enough for the President's trip.

Moreover, President Nixon received tumultuous welcomes by millions of Arabs and Israelis. The reception suggests America is now accepted as the honest broker to both sides in the Middle East.

2. President Nixon opened a nuclear Pandora's Box. He agreed to sell both Egypt and Israel nuclear fuel and knowhow to permit both sides to use nuclear energy for peaceful purposes.

That may have been a critical mistake. It is only a short step from nuclear fuel and reactor technology to nuclear weaponry.

The Mid East tinderbox is a risky place to play with nuclear matches. Historians could remember Nixon's trip primarily as a step toward nuclear proliferation.

3. Arab leaders of Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia repeatedly and bluntly said they expected to go to war again against Israel. They stressed their animus demand that the Israelis retreat from territory occupied during earlier wars.

Perhaps those were face-saving efforts to placate hard-line Arab militants. At the very least, the remarks take the edge off the euphoria which has surrounded the disengagement agreements.

4. The President temporarily was able to leave Watergate behind him — with one major exception. Nixon did manage to dominate the headlines during this trip, and was able to mute criticism.

The exception was Henry Kissinger's threat to resign unless his name is quickly cleared in connection with National Security Council activities which put domestic scandals at the top of page one for a few days.

Perhaps the epitome from Watergate appears to have been a brief one. Fols released during the President's trip indicate that for the first time a majority of Americans surveyed want Nixon removed from office. A plurality also believed the world trip was a grandstand effort at least partially designed to escape Watergate.

It appears that the short-run benefits and impact of the Middle Eastern trip may be only a prelude to difficult times ahead both in the Middle East and at home.

Trustworthy, loyal

Horatio Alger is probably spinning in his grave at the thought that Boy Scout executives would pad their troop enrollment, and create non-existent units in order to gain a greater share of federal funds.

What we would like to know is when in Hades did we start subsidizing Boy Scouts on the federal level? The organization did well enough with community support for years.

Evidently nothing has yet displaced the love of money as the root of all evil.

BERRY'S WORLD

Have you ever considered that maybe you're unhappy because you're wallowing in Watergate?

In his struggle for political survival, it is ironic President Nixon has relied on the institutions he hates the most — press, radio and television — to save him from the disclosures of the Congress and the courts.

In a way this has been his revenge on his tormentors. He cannot command the law, but he can dominate the news. He can go to the Pyramids and the ancient Biblical lands, and the reporters and cameras will send it all back by satellite to lead the evening television news.

No matter what the commentators or columnists may say, the picture is the thing. This is especially true in the present contest over what is to be done about Nixon. On the whole, the legal and political processes go on either in closed chambers or in the executive sessions of the House-Judiciary Committee.

In any event, the judicial and political processes are slow and often obscure, while the President's actions are swift and almost perfect for television.

This is all made for television and is certainly more exciting to the producer of TV news shows than filming shots of lawyers coming out of closed rooms and there is of course much more traveling for Nixon to come. Next week the President's living press room will move on to Moscow.

The inference of all this on the public mind is not unimportant. The members of the House Judiciary Committee do not admit that they are under public pressure to get off the President's back while he is negotiating peace, but they are now lying low and waiting.

The Democratic leaders of the House and Senate are also watching the television and the press.

They are waiting, watching and delaying. They deny it but they agreed not to do anything dramatic against the President while he is out of the country.

So the White House strategy is now fairly clear. It is to raise as many objections to full disclosure as possible both in the courts and Congress. It will yield and compromise on selected documents under conditions specified by the President's counsel as late as possible, but just short of finding the President in contempt of court or in defiance of the Supreme Court.

The other part of the strategy takes place across the world. That he is active and effective in negotiating peace, and is enthusiastically received abroad wherever he goes.

There are certain dangers in this. He is now traveling in a part of the world where people for years had been told that the wars and other miseries of their lives have largely been caused by Washington's support of Israel.

For example, he has little to offer in order to restore the savage grievances of the Palestinians and other guerrilla leaders who have been responsible for some of the worst cruelties in that region.

Nevertheless, the process of peace has been started in the Middle East and it adds to the President's record of achievement in China and the Soviet Union. The war goes on in Vietnam but it is largely forgotten.

In short, the television world is indeed the world most people see and hear, and it is the great new force of national and world politics. This is Nixon's revenge on the scribblers. They need him for the news he makes so brilliantly, and he needs them for the world stage they provide.

'CERTAINLY I BELIEVE ALL HIS PROMISES... WHY HE WROTE THEM RIGHT HERE IN THE SAND, DIDN'T HE?'

Polarization satisfies White House

WASHINGTON — An overwhelming majority of the House Republicans on the Judiciary Committee have within the last three weeks become covert Nixon advocates, rekindling President Nixon's hope to avoid impeachment by the House.

The Judiciary Committee Republicans, after months of procrastination, have now come down hard on his side following the White House transcripts tour. They no longer complain about his defiance of committee subpoenas. Rather, they now discuss impeachment among themselves in sharply partisan terms.

In the absence of incontrovertible evidence of criminal activity by the President ("finding the murder weapon" in committee jargon), they will vote overwhelmingly — against impeachment — that most likely will not defer the committee's 21-member Democratic majority from voting on impeachment. But a party-line vote in the committee may cause Republican ranks on the House floor. Thus the House Judiciary Committee has been transformed from President Nixon's deadly threat to his last hope for survival.

The change stems from a perceptible decline in — impeachment momentum; unrelenting pressure from — Nikoite constituents; back home; gradual emergence of House Minority Leader John Rhodes as an overt defender of the President — that background, the committee's Republicans are insisting Nixon can be impeached only for a criminal offense. Once engaged by presidential defiance of their subpoenas, House Republicans now privately concede Nixon's right to withhold whatever evidence he wants. This means Nixon can count on 10 of the 17 Republicans. Three others — Robert Taft, Charles McNinch, Henry Smith, New York — and Lawrence Hogan, Maryland — can only dimly prospects for voting for impeachment. That leaves four Republicans who may well support impeachment: Thomas P. Hallaback of Illinois, Hamilton Fish Jr. of New York, William Cohen of Maine and most surprisingly, M. Caldwell Butler of Virginia.

Just how these seven Republicans vote is a matter of utmost concern at the White House. A 10-to-7 GOP vote against impeachment would be regarded there as disastrous, guaranteeing House impeachment and adding impetus to possible Senate conviction. At the other extreme would be a 15 to 1 vote, with Maine's Cohen in uncomfortable isolation. That partisan freeze would pose hope for Nixon's victory on the House floor and even possibly prevent impeachment by the committee.

In demanding the murder weapon," the Republicans establish standards far more rigid than those followed by grand juries in issuing indictments for white-collar crime.

"This creates intense peer group pressure with implacable intent," said a White House aide. "After Virginia's Butler once tries to help DeLoach perfect a subpoena for White House tapes, Latta privately upbraided him for, in effect, collaboration with the enemy."

Such pressure resulted in unanimous Republican passage of the committee. The testimony from Dean, will cross-examination from Nixon defense lawyer James St. Clair. Those few Republicans on the committee seeking to avoid polarization have implored Chairman Peter Rodino to end his opposition to Dean's appearance. Thus avoiding a needless confrontation. But they are too late. Polarization has occurred, to the immense satisfaction of the White House.

Women just not part of scandal

WASHINGTON — Watergate Industries held its annual stockholders meeting at the federal courthouse in Washington last week, and Sherlock Springbinder, the chairman of the board, reported a windfall profit of $2 billion.

Watergate Industries is a conglomerate that deals in all aspects of the Watergate affair from providing legal talent to selling memoirs of Watergate personalities.

Springbinder told the happy stockholders, "The way things are going, Watergate should be one of the best growth stocks of 1974. The legal profession alone has earned $30 million. By the time all the indictments are handed down, we expect to have 30,000 lawyers working full time on complaints. After the trials we will have another 5,000 producing appeals. Estimated net income from this division should bring in $100 million."

There was a great applause. His book division is also showing a great profit.

"We estimate that everyone involved in Watergate from John Dean to the mail room boy at the Committee for the Re-Election of the President will receive a million dollars by Christmas. If you include newspapermen, defendants, prosecutors, former White House personnel, former attorneys general, milk producers, ex-GIA men, secretaries and grand jurors, we believe there will be 670,000 books and the advances alone will come to $20 billion. President Nixon decided to write his book, of what really happened. I could see another $10 million in added revenue. There was more applause.

"The movie rights for Watergate are going briskly. Robert Redford is working on 'All the President's Men,' and several other movie producers are readying projects, including 'Last Tango at the White House,' 'The Times of Wrath,' 'The Life of Bebe Rebozo' and 'Confessions of a Janitor.' Watergate Industries has bought four movie studios, and we have a record division where we intend to produce the hit explosives from the transcripts. Springbinder continued: "We also plan to go into TV if the impeachment trial takes place. We will produce Monday Night at the Senate with Howard Cosell and Frank Gifford, to Tell the Truth with Richard Nixon, 'I've Got a Secret' starring Gordon, 'Life of the Secret Millionaire' with Maurice Szafer.

"Our congressional subpoena printing plant is now working 24 hours a day, and we just received a multimillion-dollar contract from the House Judiciary Committee which should keep us busy for two more years."

Springbinder got a standing ovation. "Are there any questions?" he asked. "Why aren't there more women involved with Watergate?" a militant stockholder shouted from the floor.

Springbinder answered nervously, "It's true that Watergate was strictly a white male affair, with few exceptions. We tried to find women who could be involved, but there just weren't any who were qualified. Women don't seem to be psychologically or mentally able to cope with all it takes to be part of a Watergate scandal."

Kissinger victim of obsession

Henry Kissinger's outburst, with which I thoroughly sympathize, is being criticized on many grounds. That it was self-centered. That it was ill-timed. That it was grandiose. It struck me as just uncontrolled enough to give it an authentic ring. I liked particularly that the statement he pressed was edited and published in other words, the split and polsh that sometimes raise doubts in the listener's mind about whether a statement is over-contrived.

There was no picture of Lincoln, or an American flag, or Mrs. Kissinger. Just a flat bulletin that had been copied anything from the Senate Committee, and a house dismy that, on returning from six weeks in the Midwest, his meeting with the press should have been taken over by the questioning of a reporter — a list of bugs in 1969. It was as if Sir Francis Drake, returning from sinking the Spanish Armada, had been asked at a press conference whether he had submitted the sails on 25 galleon to competitive bidding.

But of course the most relentless of Nixon's critics are not going to blame the most relentless of Nixon's critics for this unseemly interruption in taste and discretion. They will blame Nixon, and the whole Watergate business, they say, a midsman, and no one associated in any way with Nixon's crawl out from under its shadow. That is true, but the reasoning is also circular: there are too many skilled hands at work maintaining the midsman in shape, and moving it like a huge umbrella over any agent of Nixon, or for that matter dead of Nixon.

Perhaps there is sufficient cause for the obsession never as it is true, a desperate business, that every man has the midsman. But that it is an obsession is not to be denied, and there was never a better example of it at work than in the questioning of Kissinger when he returned from the Midwest. It is tiresome to such a point to intelligent people the obvious, such as that what you predict is not necessarily what you would welcome. Or that the conviction of Nixon would not necessarily be an act of justice. But it is painfully clear that Richard Nixon will dissipate the midsman that, for instance, recently caused Kissinger to go to emotional extremes.

At the political level, Nixon is said these days to be much buffeted by recent events. He is being bombarded by every minor discussion, or so it is believed in the White House. A few months ago, a citation of contempt against Nixon which was now before his failure to supply the House Judiciary Committee with the extra tapes would have been met by such a firestorm as followed the Saturday Night Massacre. Now the matter has gone to the courts, and at least the fuse is elongated. Yesterday there was apparent legal chaos within the White House. Today James St. Clair is clearly in command, and his confidence has bolstered the confidence of the President.

It is even rumored that the President does not expect that the House will impeach him. It is even rumored — get this — that the President believes that Peter Rodino, the chairman of the Judiciary Committee, will vote against impeachment. If that should happen, then the vote in the House would be uproarious, and Nixon could win it. He is apparently confident that he will.

Siberian timber for US knowhow

By NEA London Economist News Service NEW YORK — (LENS) — The vast forests of Siberia have been swapped by the Russians for American knowhow. Konstantin Galanushin, the minister for the Russian paper industry, was bubbling with enthusiasm when he signed an outline deal in New York this month under which the world's biggest paper company, International Paper, agreed to sell its technology in return for access to a reserve of timber five times the size of anything in the United States and containing a third of the world's pulpwood supplies.

There is no shortage of timber in the West yet, but America's remaining forests are getting progressively less accessible and the environment lobby is staking its claim to more and more of the trees in here. International Paper hopes that by being friendly with the Russians now it may be able to buy their timber long as it needs it around 1990. It hopes also to land the job of selling the Russians' own timber in Europe, which will need it long before 1990.

What the Russians look for in return is a reduction in the time it takes to get their pulp and paper plants built. These now take twice as long to come into production as plants in America. The Russians' annual investment program pulp and paper exceeds $1 billion, so they have an obvious interest in seeking outside help to speed the process down.

There are, at last, signs of a mini-investment boom in the American paper industry, its startling signal being the announcement in March of the ending of price controls this summer. Up to then neither the shortage of paper nor rising prices could persuade the papermakers that new investment would yield sufficiently attractive profits.

Most of the companies are now dominated by finance men, who remember the disastrous over-investment in the late 1960s that led to the Great Slump of the early 1970s. When the world's papermakers got together in Rome last month, only the Americans could say that their investment forecasts looked more rosy than they did at the start of the year.

Between March and May the Americans announced a $1.5 billion investment program and 1.1 million tons of new pulp-making capacity, the present capacities are 66 million and 51 million tons respectively.

Buhl mishap reporting by T-N questioned

Editor, Times-News:
We were shocked to read in your last Friday's paper (June 14) an article which showed dramatically the irresponsible type of reporting that is becoming only too often a mark of your paper.
The article which attacked the medical integrity of one of Buhl's fine doctors was such an example of unsubstantiated reporting. We have never known a time when Dr. Cullings refused treatment to an injured or sick person. This time, also, he did not refuse. In the presence of his office nurse he examined the child, Leticia Lopez, and diagnosed treatment. This fact can be ascertained by the office receptionist and an office full of patients who waited while the child was examined. The diagnosis indicated immediate hospitalization for the child who had been brought to the office by her mother and an uncle after she was run over by a car driven by her uncle.
Since the indicated treatment could not be done in an office without hospital facilities or staff, Dr. Cullings advised the child's mother and uncle that she would have to be taken immediately to the hospital. By the time an ambulance or emergency vehicle could be summoned, the couple could be almost to the hospital. Dr. Cullings immediately notified the hospital that the child was on the way, and the emergency staff was alerted and prepared for the reception of the child. At no time was Dr. Charles Cullings derelict in his duty as a Doctor.

As any responsible person would do, he refused to comment on his actions to an alleged female reporter for the Times-News on the telephone. For such comment proper credentials should have been presented. Quotations from the police are probably in this same category. No responsible police officer is going to give an unsubstantiated statement in an accident case, and no police officer contacted Dr. Cullings for verification.

We feel that this type of news reporting injured all the people of the West and of the county, because we are directly concerned where our medical coverage is concerned. We realize that the Times-News prides itself in being a controversial newspaper, often misquoting reports or taking quotations out of context, as witnessed by the many letters to the Editor demanding retractions for printed articles. This time you have struck at the very heart of our area. We feel that a big retraction is in order — perhaps in a box on the front page in bold faced type.
This whole unfortunate incident goes further toward proving to us that the Times-News is no longer a credible newspaper.

Welch's description of Nixon 'correct'

Editor, Times-News
For over 15 years Mr. Robert Welch, founder and president of the educational Americanist John Birch Society, has been extensively smeared for exposing the plans and personnel of a gigantic and powerful conspiracy, planning to destroy our nation and to enslave the American people. In 'The Blue Book' first published in 1959 Mr. Welch made the following predictions for the United States:
(1) Greatly expanded government spending for missiles, for so-called defense generally, for foreign aid, for every conceivable means of getting rid of ever larger sums of American money — as wastefully as possible.
(2) Higher and then much higher taxes.
(3) An increasingly unbalanced budget, despite the higher taxes.
(4) Wild inflation of our currency, leading rapidly towards its ultimate repudiation.
(5) Government controls of prices, wages, and materials, supposedly to combat inflation.
(6) Greatly increased socialistic controls over every operation of our economy and every activity of our daily lives. This is to be accompanied, naturally and automatically, by a correspondingly huge increase in the size of our bureaucracy, and both the cost and reach of our domestic government.

(7) Far more centralization of power in Washington, and the practical elimination of our state legislatures.
(8) The steady advance of federal aid to and control over our educational system, leading to complete federalization of our public education.
(9) A constant hammering into the American consciousness of the horror of warfare, the beauties and the absolute necessity of "peace" — peace always on Communist terms, of course.
And (10) the consequent willingness of the American people to allow the steps of appeasement by our government, which amounts to a complete surrender of the rest of the free world and of the United States itself

This projection of coming events has held up very well indeed against the history that has already run its course and that which is unfolding before our eyes today. No clairvoyance was needed for any such forecast. The only requirement was a willingness to be realistic about what the Communists and their bosses were already doing.
Also in the 1959 Blue Book Mr. Welch said the following about Richard Nixon: "He is an extremely smart man. He is one of the ablest, shrewdest, most disingenuous, and slipperiest politicians that ever showed up on the American scene."
Whatever else you call Robert Welch and his John Birch Society, call them "correct."

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Ice consumption only water

By GEO. C. THOSTEN, M.D.
"Dear Dr. Thosten: I have a friend who munches and crunches at least three glasses of ice cubes a day. Are there any bad side effects from this habit from the fact that it is rather noisy?" — Mrs. G.B.
"It's only water, and there's no harm in consuming that much water a day. But there may be some risk of cracking a tooth, or dental bridge. I've known it to happen."
However, when a person acquires such an exaggerated taste for some particular thing, it sometimes turns out to be a sort of automatic, unrecognized rebellion by the human system because of a particularly high iron content.

So a blood test for anemia would be a valid idea to see whether that's the reason for eating all that ice, or whether it's just an odd habit.
Dear Dr. Thosten: Why is a person's temperature 98 in the daytime and 97 in the late afternoon or evening? I am 62 and have an adequate diet and get plenty of rest. — Mrs. J.K.
The temperature ranges you mention are not unusual for your age. The higher temperature later in the day is merely the result of your daily activities.

As we grow older, bodily functions tend to slow down and the body temperature reflects this general lessening of activity. As long as you are getting the rest and sustenance you say you are, don't let the temperatures you speak of bother you.
Dear Dr. Thosten: Is tying the tubes to prevent pregnancy always done after childbirth or can it be done aside from that?
— Mrs. B.M.

Former WH aide faces probers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — He talked quickly and abruptly. He slung smoke. Occasionally he changed his mind. He was the arm of the witness chair. Once he dropped his face so low his forehead nearly touched the microphone.

Thus Richard G. Kleindienst, the second of President Nixon's four attorneys general and now under probation for 20 days, Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., about his handling of the original Watergate investigation.

Kleindienst was summoned to testify as the Senate Judiciary Committee resumed hearings into Nixon's nomination of Earl J. Silbert to be U.S. District Judge in Detroit.

"Were you importuned in any way by anybody at the White House to testify at Watergate?" Hart asked.

"I have no recollection of that," Kleindienst replied. "I don't know when I earned that kind of information."

"If anything is better than a good memory, it's a good forgettery," Ervin said.

Jaworski defends plea-bargaining

(C) New York Times Service WASHINGTON — Leon Jaworski, responding to the first of his seven months as special Watergate prosecutor, defended plea-bargaining today as a fair, legal and necessary way to prosecute persons charged in Watergate criminal cases.

Jaworski also defended the results of the bargains the prosecution has negotiated. He said the plea deals of one after another former Nixon re-election campaign aide or White House official.

"I am not saying that the plea-bargaining is a bad thing," Jaworski said. "I am saying that the plea-bargaining is a necessary part of the justice system."

"The latter shows, as he pointed out, that many plea bargains — all of which were plea-bargained — in fact, with the exception of Richard G. Kleindienst, the former attorney general, and the defendants in the cases involving illegal campaign contributions — had pleaded guilty to felonies that were punishable by up to five years and in one case 10 years in prison."

"I have no recollection of that," Kleindienst replied. "I don't know when I earned that kind of information."

Inquiry leaks queried

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A White House spokesman says President Nixon is being tried by innuendo through a series of memos leaked from the House Judiciary Committee's closed-door impeachment inquiry.

"On top of that, he says, some of the memos were written by a former McGovern campaign worker now employed by the Judiciary Committee."

"The purpose of the effort to bring down the President with innuendo is to protect the President from the impeachment inquiry."

"Saying he was speaking only for himself, Clawson protested that leaks damaging to Nixon have been coming from the impeachment inquiry with the alacrity of a carnival barker at the county fair."

"I have no recollection of that," Kleindienst replied. "I don't know when I earned that kind of information."

Equality asked in HEW proposal

(c) New York Times Service WASHINGTON — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare published Tuesday its proposed regulations for ending sex discrimination in education. They would ban such common practices as offering home economics courses solely to girls and shop courses solely to boys.

The proposed regulations would also require fundamental changes in the athletic programs that are offered to male and female students, but they stop short of requiring equal expenditures on athletic instruction and teams for the two sexes.

With certain exceptions, the regulations will apply to educational activities, public and private, at all levels, from preschool education through graduate and professional school.

While the greatest controversy during the preparation of the rules has involved the subject of sex discrimination in admissions, elementary, secondary and vocational schools, are also exempted from the requirement.

D'Estaing sets talks with Henry

PARIS (UPI) — French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing announced today he will travel to Washington in the request of the secretary of state.

He said the meeting will take place during M. Kissinger's trip to Europe and especially in Paris.

The announcement of Kissinger's visit to Paris came after France's new Foreign Minister, Jean Sauvagnargues and Kissinger resolved remaining differences.

"The Ellysae Palace statement was the first indication that Kissinger planned an official trip early in July, diplomatic observers said."

"The new Atlantic Charter expected to win formal North Atlantic Treaty Organization approval today is scheduled for formal signing in Brussels June 26 during President Nixon's planned stopover on his way to Moscow."

Observers said announcement of Kissinger's talks with Giscard d'Estaing would be a sign of a new chapter in Franco-American relations that date back to the Conservative leader's election as France's new chief of state May 19.

"I have no recollection of that," Kleindienst replied. "I don't know when I earned that kind of information."

Panel reopens wiretap hearing

Tells proposal

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has formally voted to reopen hearings on what role Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger had in the 1969-70 "national security" wiretaps of newsmen and government officials.

Kissinger said last week that he would resign unless cleared of allegations he initiated the wiretaps.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, announced the committee vote Tuesday. He said it was imperative to determine whether Kissinger told the "full truth" when he testified during his confirmation hearings last year that he acquiesced in the eavesdropping and furnished names of those to be tapped, but did not order any such action.

Fulbright said the committee also agreed to ask the Justice Department for any materials that might be pertinent to the investigation. He said he expected Kissinger to appear on his own behalf, perhaps Friday when he reviews President Nixon's Middle East diplomatic mission.

The taps aimed at tracing leaks of government information — more than 70 percent of the University of Missouri at St. Louis faculty had doctoral degrees. The national average is 40 percent.

Double schedule hectic

OBLEN, Italy (UPI) — Flights broke out inside a church Tuesday when two couples tried to beat each other to the altar in an effort to get married first.

Through an oversight, two weddings had been scheduled for the same time. First couples argued, and then the scuffle ensued when neither would yield.

Police finally arrived and calmed the fray, letting Angelo Viriano and Rosa Corti exchange their vows, just a few moments ahead of Salvatore Lanni and Annamari Martorano.

"I have no recollection of that," Kleindienst replied. "I don't know when I earned that kind of information."

'Gate tape data could weaken Nixon's defense

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some members of the House Judiciary Committee think they've found evidence on one of President Nixon's own tapes that he knew of the Watergate cover-up four days before he has insisted he first learned of it.

The point may seem minor but could be crucial: If the tape does establish that "he was under the impression that he had pleaded guilty to felonies that were punishable by up to five years and in one case 10 years in prison."

"I have no recollection of that," Kleindienst replied. "I don't know when I earned that kind of information."

Famed Soviet Marshal Zhukov dies

MARSHAL ZHUKOV
died at 77

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union confirmed today the death of Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, the greatest hero of World War II, and said his funeral will be held Friday.

Zhukov died Tuesday afternoon in a Kremlin hospital at age 77, but official confirmation came only today when the Defense Ministry informed foreign military attaches.

The official Soviet news agency TASS afterward carried a nine-word bulletin announcing the death of Zhukov, who won stunning victories at the gates of Moscow but fell from power in the inner chambers of the Kremlin.

Unofficial Soviet sources reported his death a day before the official agencies.

The sources said Zhukov, the man some historians called the "Eisenhower of Russia" for his successful defense of Moscow and capture of Berlin, died Tuesday afternoon at the Kremlin hospital after suffering a heart attack.

According to the sources, it was Zhukov's fifth heart attack in recent months.

He had been hospitalized since December, a short time after making his last known public appearance at the funeral of his 47-year-old second wife who died of cancer.

During Zhukov's stormy career, the military planner climbed to the upper reaches of power in the Soviet Union. But he was denounced as a coward by dictator Joseph V. Stalin after his stunning World War II victories.

The late Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev rehabilitated Zhukov as a defense minister but then fired him three months later.

Born Dec. 2, 1896, in a peasant village in central Russia, the 5-foot-6-inch, blue-eyed Zhukov first served with outmoded the horse and rose quickly through the ranks of senior Soviet officers thinned by the Stalinist purges. He became chief of staff in 1941 when Nazi forces were bludgeoning the Russia's Western front.

In addition to routing the Nazis from Moscow in 1941 and capturing Berlin in 1945, he had a key role in virtually every major battle involving the Red Army.

But after the war, Stalin banished him to obscure military posts, apparently out of jealousy over his popularity.

After Stalin's death, Zhukov came back to prominence and was named defense minister.

Two years later, Khrushchev made him a member of the Communist party ruling coalition, now called the Politburo. But the glory lasted for only three months.

He was dismissed for "violating Leninist principles concerning the administration of the armed forces," apparently reflecting Khrushchev's fear that the military was becoming too powerful in the government.

In 1966, the present Kremlin leader returned Zhukov to favor, but he made few public appearances in recent years.

House panel OK's gold ownership by Americans

(C) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — The House Banking Committee took an action Tuesday that is likely to lead to the legal right of Americans to own gold by the end of this year.

For 40 years Americans have been forbidden to buy, sell or own gold, except in the form of old coins or jewelry and other ornamental uses.

The action was approval of an amendment to an unrelated bill, one of the amendments to the Nixon administration that would permit ownership of gold no later than Dec. 31. The Senate has already approved a similar amendment to the same bill, but with a date of Sept. 1.

The bill in question would approve a U. S. contribution of $1 billion over the next four years to the International Development Association, the World Bank's "soft loan" affiliate that helps the world's poorest countries.

The House earlier this year rejected the $1.5 billion authorization, though the bill at that time had no gold amendment. The administration has been trying to revive the bill ever since, and the Senate passed it last month by a margin of slightly more than two-to-one.

The gold amendment was sponsored by Rep.

Henry B. Reuss, D-Wis., a strong supporter of the basic gold legislation and also a believer in a diminished role for gold in the world monetary system.

Reuss's proposal was approved by a vote of 13 to 9, with many members of the banking committee absent. Then the full bill was approved by 15 to 6.

The timing of floor consideration is still uncertain, in light of the strong Republican opposition in the last vote in January. Secretary of the Treasury William E. Simon has undertaken to try to round up more Republican support for the second try.

The original ban on gold ownership was adopted by President Roosevelt in 1934 as part of his test of monetary ending the "gold standard" in the United States when the country was plunged into a depression.

Reuss reportedly supported a fixed date in order to help gather Republican support for the underlying legislation. A group of conservative Republicans led by Rep. Philip M. Crane of Illinois, strongly favors freedom to own gold though they oppose a further contribution to I.D.A.

Some Democrats also support gold ownership, including those from mining states.

Long term asked

MADRID (UPI) — A prosecutor demanded a prison term of 35 centuries and 48 years Tuesday for Cirilo V. Lagarto, charged with selling apartments in nonexistent buildings.

Madrid lawyers said their client would reimburse the $38 million.

The prosecutor's demand for punishment was arrived at by multiplying a comparatively mild sentence by the number of plaintiffs. In any case, the law sets 30 years as the maximum that a person can serve in jail.

Hearsts resigned to worst occurring

HILLSBOROUGH, Cal. (UPI) — Patricia Hearst's parents have more or less resigned themselves to the worst and feel authorities have "painted her into a corner," a family spokesman said Tuesday.

The mood of newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst and his wife Catherine is "grim," spokesman John Lester told newsmen at the family home Tuesday.

Miss Hearst, 20, was kidnapped by the Symbionese Liberation Army 4 1/2 months ago but now is sought as a member of the terrorist group along with two others.

Lester said of her parents: "It's gotten more complicated than they could ever have imagined. There is someone over another gunbait and her being killed."

He said authorities were making it more difficult for Miss Hearst to end her flight because they have "painted her into a corner."

"One law enforcement agency, the FBI, is saying, 'Give yourself up, come out, there'll be no trouble there will be for you.' And the other guy (referring to Los Angeles District Attorney Joseph Busch) is saying, 'If you do, in so many words, you'll spend the rest of your life in jail.' So what's the alternative? The alternative is to stay put, no move. She may never come out."

The family representative said it was a "crushing blow" for the Hearsts when their daughter was charged with kidnap, robbery and assault last month.

The charges resulted from a shooting outside an Inglewood, Calif., sporting goods store and a subsequent abduction of a young man.

Six SLA members died in a police gunbattle in Los Angeles on May 17. Two SLA members believed to be with Miss Hearst were identified as William Harris and his wife Emily.

Miss Hearst in tape recorded messages renounced her family and said she had become a "soldier" in the S.L.A.

Nurses threaten staffing reduction

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Striking nurses accusing hospitals of "misusing our goodwill," have threatened to reduce the number of nurses assigned to emergency rooms and intensive care units during the walkout now in its 13th day.

Officials of the California Nurses Association said Tuesday night that a decision would probably be made today after a survey of the 41 struck hospitals in the San Francisco Bay Area and Sacramento.

A CNA spokesman said he had reliable reports strikers working under a voluntary agreement on a rotation basis, were being used in the critical hospital areas to free supervisory personnel to perform "unnecessary" duties. He said, "The hospitals are misusing our goodwill."

About 4,400 nurses were on the picket lines. However, the hospitals were operating at only a 50 per cent patient population, and there were no serious problems reported.

A pivotal issue in the strike was a demand by CNA that nurses be allowed to participate in the staffing decisions at the hospitals. The hospitals said this was the responsibility of doctors and the administrative staff themselves.

Budget change adopted

(C) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — Amid declarations that it was passing "potentially landmark" historical and "redemptive" legislation, the House of Representatives approved today a bill revolutionizing the way Congress deals with the federal budget.

The measure was 401 to 0. The Senate is expected to follow suit, possibly tomorrow, to send the bill on to President Nixon, who is expected to sign it, according to the measure's sponsors.

The bill, which would limit the power of the President to impound, or refuse to spend, funds appropriated by Congress, is the outgrowth of an 18-month effort by the House and Senate to gain more Congressional control over the budget and establish a more coherent procedure for Congress to decide how and where money will be spent.

It would, among other things, create new budget committees in the House and Senate, establish a Congressional budget office to match the expertise of the executive branch's Office of Management and Budget and start in 1976 change the start of the government's fiscal year to Oct. 1 instead of July 1.

The measure had been approved earlier this month by Senate House conferees who had reconciled differing budget-control bills previously passed by both houses.

NZ unions blast tests

By United Press International
New Zealand unions announced a partial embargo against French shipping today and a major Australian union called for a consumer boycott of French products to protest France's nuclear tests in the South Pacific.

The federation of labor in New Zealand said the embargo, similar to the one announced Tuesday by Australian maritime unions, will last until France concludes its present series of atmospheric tests.

The French atomic blasts in the atmosphere began Monday over Mururoa atoll, a tiny island 500 miles southeast of Tahiti.

Tom Skinner, president of the New Zealand trade unions, said in Wellington the federation will also make strong protests to India and China over their nuclear tests.

India detonated its first nuclear device underground last month. China set off a bomb estimated to have the force of one million tons of TNT above ground Monday in a desolate region 1,500 miles west of Peking.

Kenneth Crothers, superintendent of Shoshone Schools said following the meeting that the budget was approved as presented, at $354,096, up from $316,760 a year ago.

The expenditures include $28,798 for administrative salaries, compared to $36,318 last year. This is down as there will be no principal at the elementary school next year, and the superintendent will be handling that work there.

TF County tops signature quota

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County has exceeded its quota of 100 signatures on the Sunshine Initiative petition, according to local coordinator JoAnne Forman.

She said today that in addition to 771 verified signatures, petitions bearing 321 names have been submitted to County Clerk Harold Lancaster.

"With a July 5 deadline for submitting petitions to the secretary of state, we will continue until this Thursday to accept petitions still outstanding and signatures of all interested registered voters," Ms. Forman said.

Her phone number is 734-2072, and anyone who wants a chance to sign a Sunshine petition may call her.

The Sunshine Initiative, if approved by majority vote in November, would require state elected officials and state legislators to report campaign income and expenditures and also would require paid lobbyists to register and report on their activities.

The statewide goal for signatures is 25,000, which is presently about three-fifths complete.

She said "Although Twin Falls County has gone over its announced quota, we hope to add several hundred signatures to the total by Thursday to assure that the measure will be placed on the November general election ballot."

Other coordinators to call are Dave Molen, Rupert; Mildred Fairbrother, Burley; and Sally Doñart, Ketchum.

Poses in strange place

Symms sponsors legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Persons would be able to challenge any false or misleading information about them on personal information files under rights-to-private-legislation co-sponsored by Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho.

Symms said the bill provides that individuals must be notified whenever a personal information file is being maintained on them and that a record of this information may be obtained at a reasonable cost. A person could also block the transfer of personal data to third parties under the legislation.

The bill would also prohibit the use of a person's Social Security number for purposes not directly related to his Social Security account.

The bill was reintroduced Thursday.

Candidate campaigns

TWIN FALLS — Republican attorney general hopeful Tim Hopkins has been campaigning in Magic Valley this week.

Hopkins said he would spend four days in the Valley and then attend the Republican State Convention at Sun Valley on Friday.

The candidate issued a statement here Tuesday calling for a return to "positive participation" in political processes.

"After two years of the exhausting Watergate experience, it is time for the citizens of this country who are so frequently critical to commit themselves to a return to active and positive participation in politics and government," he said.

Hopkins said he expected to campaign in Twin Falls, Burley, Buhl and Gooding during the week.

ONE just never knows what the day may bring. Heading for his mining property 30 miles southeast of Jackpot, Ross Parker, Hagerman, comes upon a rangeland gate to which artificial tulips had been affixed. Who placed the flowers, or why, remains a mystery. Parker fully appreciated the decoration and left it on the aged gatepost to brighten up the sagebrush covered hills.

The California Department of Fish and Game says its hatcheries annually produce 30 million fish, from trout to channel catfish, to stock the state's lakes and streams.

Mileage funds increased
BOISE (UPI) — Mileage reimbursement for use of private cars on state business should be hiked to 15 cents per mile from 12, the Board of Examiners decided today.
In line with a legislative act, the board authorized the increase to the maximum allowable by law as of July 1.
Attorney General W. Adams Park made the motion to approve the increase when Auditor Joe R. Williams, board secretary, told the board it also must act to hike the rate.

Sales discontinued
BOISE (UPI) — Lodgepole pine sales are being discontinued in the Lowman Ranger District of the Boise National Forest until July 3, Supervisor Edward C. Maw said today.
Maw said the sales were discontinued because of road wash-outs resulting from abnormal snow-melt at higher elevations.

Inquest set
CASCADE, Idaho (UPI) — A coroner's inquest is scheduled for 9 a.m. Thursday at Valley County Courthouse in Cascade to look into the gunshot death of McCall Police Chief Jim Perkins.
Perkins died of a gunshot wound Saturday while being pursued by state police and Sheriff's deputies on the state highway between Cascade and Smith's Ferry.

Demos part of telethon

Camping limited
BOISE (UPI) — Camping in underdeveloped areas of the Boise National Forest will be limited to 15 consecutive days, Supervisor Edward C. Maw said today.
Maw said the limitation is necessary to protect underdeveloped camping areas from overuse and to provide a more equal opportunity for all recreation visitors to use the sites.

Boise plant closed
BOISE (UPI) — Missouri Beef Packing, Inc., has closed its Boise plant temporarily.
David La Fleur, Plainview, Tex., president of the company, told local workers in Boise Tuesday the closure was not permanent, but he said there were not enough cattle in the local area to keep the plant active. He said most feedlots in the Northwest are not full, and "that's not enough to sustain a constant supply."
Slaughter at the local plant stopped in April. But the plant had been processing carcasses brought in from other locations. La Fleur indicated the plant may reopen later this fall.

Moist spraying begins
POTLATCH, Idaho (UPI) — The Idaho Department of Public Lands said it will begin moist spraying of the timberland in the Moscow Mountain area near its northern Idaho community in the Moscow National Forest today.
Rex Johnson, information officer for the Department of Public Lands said in all 281 acres of timberland will be sprayed.

Report of the constitution of the accreditation status was made at the monthly board meeting Monday night by Supt. James Muscat.
Contracts were issued to Gary Larson for arts and crafts teacher in the high school and to Richard Davis, sixth grade teacher in the junior high school.
The board accepted resignations from three teachers, all for personal reasons. They include Ron Cline, high school, Mike Carlis, junior high, and Jo Ellen Savage-Haney, elementary teacher.
Trustees also accepted a bid from Daniels Roofing Co., Twin Falls, to re-roof the junior high school gymnasium. It was the only bid received, Scanlon said.

TF, Teamster officials disagree on city's strike showdown
TWIN FALLS — The city of Twin Falls would face a strike if it recognized the Teamsters Union or not, according to councilman Steve Lincoln.
Dr. Lincoln said if the council had gone ahead and recognized the Teamsters as bargaining agents for its maintenance employees, the city soon would have faced a higher wage strike which would have hit higher taxes, Lincoln spoke as an individual councilman, not for council as a whole.
This strike, he said, would have been fruitless since the only time the city can raise wages is in winter when the budget is being set.
"There's no sense to going out on a strike now because that's not going to buy them anything except hard feelings," Lincoln said.
"But even if the employees were willing to wait to negotiate, Lincoln believed it would be better if they worked through a local, not a national union."
"We would like to have them organize locally and to work with the City Council rather than against us," he said.
"Recalling past strikes which have hit major cities, he said this is the type of situation the city wants to avoid."
Lincoln said the city's fire fighters and teachers have achieved unionization by going to the state legislature and getting a law through.

Bike riders stop in TF

BY CRICKET BIRD
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — Bicycle riders — 77 in all — made a brief stop in Twin Falls Tuesday on their way from the Pacific to the Atlantic Ocean.
The tanned and hearty cyclists, all young men, are part of a group called Wandering Wheels. Riders started the trip June 10 at Lincoln City, Ore. on the Pacific Coast. Between there and the final destination, Rehoboth Beach, Del., on the Atlantic coast, lies 3,000 miles of hard pedaling.
Riders hope to arrive at the Atlantic shore July 12, "with the help of God."
Wandering Wheels is a Christian group. Their brochure states the trip's purposes: "to grow up in God," through Eucharist, group Bible study and Christian relationships, and "to give God away" by sharing faith in Christ with persons the group encounters along the road.
Lloyd Couch, Bob Davenport, twice named All-American football star at UCLA, the riders average about 120 miles a day. Davenport at 41 is the oldest rider and the youngest is 15, with about two-thirds high school age and the rest college age.
They bring the sleeping bags, in-lured riders and the three girl cooks — the only women on the trip. A small van brings along extra parts and tools.
The cyclists all ride Schwinn bikes, partly because they are sturdy and partly because the company provides them free parts and some free equipment.
They ride in small groups of six or seven, stopping every 25 or 30 miles to let slow ones catch up and to make sure everyone's still there.
Riders come from all over the country for the trip, which is officially sponsored by Taylor University in Indiana. The group claims representation from Delaware, Alaska, California, Florida, Illinois and other states.
An 874 cross-country trip is WW's 13th since 1966, including some coed trips. Over 500 men and women have successfully made the trip, according to the group.
The tips cost each cyclist $265 to pay for spare parts, food and lodging.
On the road the group is easily identifiable with red safety flags flying above the bicycles. Members proudly tell others Wandering Wheels was the originator of the safety flag.

Wandering Wheels

TF man seeks county post

TWIN FALLS — Another candidate for the third district county commission post has been certified by his party following candidate filing deadline.
William Buhler, real estate man, Twin Falls, was certified by the Democratic party to oppose the Republican candidate in the commission district now represented by William L. Chancey, chairman of the county commission. Chancey is opposed by George Benham, a former law enforcement officer, for the Republican nomination.
Although a candidate had filed for the office on the Democratic ticket, a party can certify a candidate after deadline to fill any vacancy on the ballot.
Harold Lancaster, county clerk, said he will accept any certification within the next few days, although he must get ballots to the printers as soon as the list of state non-partisan candidates is received from the secretary of state.
Buhler has not been available for comment since being certified as a candidate.

Blaine highway plans decision today

KETCHUM — The decision will come today to approve or disapprove a proposed new highway corridor through the Wood River Valley.
Dean Tisdale, deputy state highway engineer, said the Idaho highway directors would base their decision on highway assessment needs and testimony taken from public hearings held here in April.
At that time hundreds of Ketchum and Blaine residents staged a vocal demonstration against a four-lane highway proposal. Instead, most of the testimony was directed at the need for a class 75, two-lane highway.
The proposed corridor would begin at the junction of Idaho Highway 55 and U.S. 83 and meetings here in April. Carl Moore, Lewiston, will chair the board, and Roy Strossheim, continue through Ketchum ending near the North Fork store seven miles north. It also included the highway from Ketchum to Sun Valley.

According to Tisdale, "the board will make only a corridor decision. The decision will not mean a four-lane highway will be built."
He said if the corridor decision was approved, design hearings would be held later to determine standards such as width and right-of-way requirements.
SHUN on the board will be Lloyd Barron, Fairfield rancher who attended the heated Sterling will also sit on the decision-making board.

According to Tisdale, the board has the option to approve the corridor with design hearings scheduled later; reject the proposal and apply designated funding elsewhere; or defer the question probably to the Idaho Board of Transportation.
The new board will take over the highway board July 1 and will include all modes of transportation, according to Tisdale.
"Tisdale said, "It would not appear to be good business to go there without a four-lane highway right-of-way."
He said if the board were to approve the corridor proposal, design hearings would be held before negotiations could begin with area residents.
"We're only talking about 20 feet on each side between a two-lane highway and a four-lane highway," Tisdale said. "It would take about a 140-foot right-of-way for a good two-lane highway."
"First priority, according to Tisdale, for road improvement would be through the Cold Springs community including replacement of the bridge crossing the Big Wood River north of the community."
He said if area residents and the board decided on a 24-foot highway with an 80-foot right-of-way, which is standard to federal requirements it would force 100 per cent state funding.
"Tisdale said he did not know if the board would approve situations like that. On the segments between communities the board would try to be consistent," he said.
"Tisdale said Idaho receives about $8 million annually from the federal government for highway construction."
"The demands on these funds are tremendous," he said. "There is no problem using funds elsewhere."

Gooding ponders event

GOODING — Gooding Chamber of Commerce members are planning some type of promotional event such as a watermelon feed during the Gooding County Fair.
James Burns, assistant during the Tuesday lunch meeting at the Lincoln Inn he will meet with the Gooding County Fair board Thursday night to work out details for whatever type, event chamber members wish to hold.
Possibility of a watermelon feed on the courthouse lawn between the kid's and adult parade during the fair Aug. 5, 7 was suggested. Purpose of the project is to promote the fair and keep people in Gooding between fair attractions.
Clark Seaman, first vice president, conducted the meeting and announced Vern Elliott is a new chamber director.
Paul Carl, Twin Falls sales representative for Phillips 66, spoke on the petroleum industry's answer to criticism regarding the energy shortage.

He denied that petroleum firms are hoarding supplies on tankers or barges to force up gas prices and said seeds for last winter's shortage were sown 20 years ago when the Federal Power Commission established the price which could be paid for natural gas at the well head.
"If the government holding the price down became unprofitable for firms to continue drilling, he said, Carl said industry officials did want the government years ago of the impending shortage but "that doesn't make headlines."
Quoting data gathered by the American Petroleum Institute in his province, Carl said the information is to help provide grass roots understanding of the industry's position.
Increased use and the Arab embargo were listed as the immediate causes of the shortage, plus the cutback in drilling over the past years because of government price fixing.
Industry recommendations to eventually alleviate the situation include completion of the Alaskan pipeline.

TF, Teamster officials disagree on city's strike showdown allowing them to organize.

"I suppose they tried hard enough. They lobbied and elected people who were for it. That's the way things get done in this country. I don't believe they get done by strikes and force," he said.
But the city employees have not done this, he said, and the city is not obligated to recognize their union. "I don't feel that it would be beneficial to the city as a whole to unionize its work force, period."
"I think that in some job classifications our pay scale is low. But I feel that this condition has been drastically magnified by the rapid inflation that we have seen within the past few months," Lincoln said.
"This inflation will have to be recognized with when salaries are discussed in the winter, he said as it now stands, he added, the salary schedule is "higher than the county in all aspects."
"As a councilman, he said, "represents thousands of people who depend daily on city services" and "who can't support the taxes they have now."
"I think there is a middle ground. But I think that unionization won't find that middle ground," Lincoln said.

Strikers on picket line

TWIN FALLS — The city of Twin Falls is acting unfairly toward its maintenance employees, according to Roy Corson, Teamsters Union business representative.
"All these people are asking for is union recognition and that's all," he said. "They feel that department discriminated against them because the fire department has a union and the teachers have their association," he said Monday.
Since the employees suffer the same rising costs and pay the same taxes as everybody else, they ought to have the right to unionize. "To let some city employees have a union and not let other employees have such representation is unfair," he said.
Corson said he filed charges that the city has discriminated against its employees in a letter Monday to the Nonpartisan Department of Labor, US Equal Opportunities Employment Commission, the Idaho Human Rights Commission and the governor.
"With the bulk of the maintenance employees earning less than $500 a month, "The people feel they need better benefits, better wages and better working conditions," he said.

The union official challenged any city official to stand on a manager wages that city employees are forced to live on.
"He would not say, however, what a fair wage would be," he said, comment on this until we enter into negotiations," he said, adding that the city employees would have to determine what they want themselves.
The workers have two basic sources of leverage, he said. "With all but six of the maintenance employees on strike, the city will find it very difficult to perform essential services, such as watering the lawns during these hot, dry days," he said.
He urged people to write to city officials in support of the union drive. "The employees feel that they have the most job for the residents of Twin Falls and they feel now it's their turn to be recognized and supported by the residents of this city," he said.
Corson said a number of residents have been "out talking with the boys" at the picket lines and are "offered to carry signs while the boys rest."

Dumping banned

HAILEY — A temporary restraining order has been signed prohibiting a Ketchum man from dumping fill material in the Big Wood River.
The order was sought by Thomas and Lynn Campbell, Ketchum, to restrain Owen Simpson from diverting flood waters onto their property along the river.
Campbell is also seeking $50,000 in damages to the property alleging the destruction of trees and shrub flooding of the primary dwelling on the property and threatening the complete destruction of the dwelling.
The suit was filed June 17 as the Big Wood River was at a very high water level, flooding several houses along its course.
The suit alleges Simpson commenced the filling and leveling operation in 1969 and that the operation has diverted the Big Wood River toward their property. The suit alleges heavy construction equipment placed large quantities of concrete rock and fill at the edge of the Big Wood River.
It further alleges, the plaintiffs believe the operation was instigated and continues solely at the defendant's behest and that "the defendant intends to continue the operation."
The operations on June 16 and June 17 have caused irreparable damage to the property, according to the suit. It says the defendant has furiously diverted the Wood River against the plaintiff's property and greatly diminished the value, at least $50,000.
The suit also seeks $50,000 in punitive damages. The temporary restraining order signed by Fifth District Judge Charles Scoggin restricts any further filling and orders the removal of recently placed fill in the river.

New chief, merger might come out of NBA meeting

NEW YORK (UPI) — The future of professional basketball could take a dramatic turn today with the possibility of two announcements that would have an immediate effect on each team in both the national and American basketball associations.

The most probable eventuality is that a successor will be named for Walter Kennedy, who announced his resignation as commissioner of the NBA last summer.

Although Kennedy's contract doesn't expire until next season, whenever the board of governors came to an agreement on his replacement.

Two strong candidates have emerged for the job, both of whom are Los Angeles executives and both of whom are currently in New York. They are 35-year-old Alan Rosenbergs, whose firm represents the Los Angeles Lakers and who is a member of the league board of directors, and 41-year-old Henry Sturman, who played for both Wooden at UCLA from 1951-54.

A second possibility is that a long-tumed merger between the NBA and ABA will be announced. But while this is almost a certainty sometime in the near future, the feeling was that no news of this magnitude has reached the final stage.

According to Bill Elitch, the coach of the Cleveland Cavaliers, all thoughts of a merger can be written off for now.

"It's never come up," Elitch said Tuesday, "and I don't expect it to. The newspapers just have to sell papers."

Bill Barkley, vice president of basketball operations for the New Orleans Jazz, was another official who played down the idea of an immediate merger.

"It's up to the board of governors to decide these matters," Barkley said. "It's hard to imagine how the ABA teams would fit into the NBA schedule. I don't know how the teams could physically be absorbed."

"There are pros and cons. A merger would bring a realism to negotiations with the players. The unrealistic salaries would be gone. This would help an able keep the proper perspective on these things. It would also help the athletes by letting them finish their college careers without our interruption not drag them away," said Joseph of juniors.

Atlanta coach Cotton Fitzsimmons offered the observation that "a merger is all talk. Two years ago I thought we were close. Then we moved farther apart than ever.

"One bad point of a merger would be that in certain cities in both leagues we need to pump up their attendance considerably. Most of this help will go to ABA cities. Our attendance won't go up at all."

If a merger should eventuate, the likely end product would be the 18 NBA teams and the strongest six of 10 ABA franchises. The ABA would buy back Carolina, Memphis, Virginia and San Diego, with the remaining clubs sharing the players from those teams in a dispersal draft.

There's a clause which also would be modified. Its present constitution would be tossed out, but compensation would be provided to a team losing a player.

NEW COACH Kurt Knipher, Seattle, goes over a few points with members of the Twin Falls swim team. Knipher will take the youngsters through daily workouts at Harzoo Park pool-end competition throughout the area on weekends.

Frazier would prefer to fight Foreman

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Frazier said Tuesday that no matter who wins the heavyweight title fight Sept. 24 in Zaire, he is ready but he'd prefer to face George Foreman.

Both — Frazier's career losses can be traced to the Zaire combatants — Foreman, who took the title from Frazier in January, 1973, in Jamaica, and to Muhammad Ali, who reversed a March, 1971, loss to Rocky Marciano with a 12-round decision earlier this year.

Frazier fight, Gil Clancy, Quarry's manager, Hedgemon-Lewis, contender for the welterweight title, and Eddie Futch, who manages both Frazier and Lewis.

"Jerry won six straight before this fight," Clancy said. "But I think it's time to reassess and decide what he's going to do. It's time he allowed down."

Brock marks 35th birthday in leading Cards past Giants 3-0

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Lou Brock, celebrating his 35th birthday, singled twice, stole his 41st and 42nd bases, and scored twice Tuesday night to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 3-0 win over the San Francisco Giants.

Brock led off the game for St. Louis with a single, stole second and scored the first run on a single by Joe Torre.

The Cardinals moved to within one game of the front-running Philadelphia Phillies in the Eastern Division of the National League.

St. Louis' ace, Bob Gibson, pitched a complete game, allowing only one run on a single by Joe Torre.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration decided Tuesday to buy $100 million worth of beef and pork for school lunches to help ward off prospects of bankruptcy and economic depression among cattle and hog producers.

But Congressmen and producers led by House Speaker Carl Albert clamored for much more sweeping remedies to rescue cattlemen from a 1930s-style economic slump, stimulate wholesale cattle prices and reduce retail consumer prices.

At House Agriculture Committee hearings, Albert urged retail price cuts for consumers, increased government meat purchases, credit for farmers and controls on imported beef.

At the White House, Kenneth Rush, President Nixon's counselor for economic policy, said the cattle industry slump "could hit the entire national economy like a row of falling dominoes" and lead to "one of the most serious economic problems since the depression."

At the House Agriculture Committee hearing, Rep. James Chapman, chairman of the subcommittee on livestock, said the worst economic shape since the 1930s depression.

In the Senate, after the Agriculture Committee was expected to act on an Emergency Credit Guarantee Bill for livestock producers. The legislation, which was expected to carry nearly unanimous support despite administration opposition, reportedly will authorize the Agriculture Department to guarantee repayment of up to 80 percent of loans made to established livestock producers by private lenders.

Meridian miss weds Fisher

KIMBERLY — Adrienne Wheeler and Mark H. Fisher were married in a 4 p.m. ceremony at the Boise First United Presbyterian Church June 1.

Rev. Ralph O. Marshall performed the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aden Wheeler, Meridian, — and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Fisher, Kimberly.

The bride wore a gown of chiffon over crepe styled with a bouffant skirt and train. The bodice was of venetian lace trimmed with clusters of accessories. The long sleeves were made of accordion pleated chiffon.

Her chiffon veil was held by a Juliet cap of lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Language bank eyed

JEROME — A special language bank is being established at St. Benedict's Hospital.

According to Leon Felder, administrator, the purpose of the bank is to aid in the treatment of patients who do not speak English. "Like most hospitals, St. Benedict's has on staff people who speak Spanish, German or French. However, when English speaking emergency patients come in needing an interpreter, the employee who speaks their language may be off duty, or the patient may speak a rare language," Felder said.

"If there are residents of St. Benedict's Hospital community who speak a foreign language fluently and would be interested in allowing the hospital to place their name on file for use in the event of an emergency, we ask you to contact the public relations office, 324-4301," Felder said.

The bride was escorted by Bishop Monte Carlson in the LDS Church.

Metts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Metts, Hazelton, and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Fiet, King Hill.

Attending the bride were Adele Bagley, Victor, as maid of honor, and bridal attendants Les Ann Bowen, Burley; Leatrice Nelson and Jenness Fiet, both King Hill; Diana Steum, Halley, and Wilda Marion, Burley.

Best man, Del Romer, Hunt, was assisted by ushers Mike Metts, Hazelton, and Layne Fiet, King Hill.

A reception was held in the church recreation hall following the wedding.

The "dinner" table, covered with white lace and yellow bows, held the three tiered wedding cake made by Mrs. Robert DeCoursey, Nampa, aunt of the bride. The cake was decorated with small blue-flowers and sugar ribbons, and bells. It was topped with two kissing angels before a large white heart.

Pam Shockley, Boise, presided at the guest book.

MR. AND MRS. ROCKY L. METTS

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago I met and fell in love with the most beautiful girl I've ever seen. She liked me, and soon she was staying with me, cooking my meals and doing my laundry. It seemed like an ideal setup, but there is just one problem: she works days in a massage parlor, and is a call girl at night.

She makes more in one night than I make in a whole week, but she never has any money because she likes to gamble, and she gives ten per cent of her earnings to the church.

Is there any way I can get her to quit taking those calls at night? She says she loves me, but she can't live on what I make.

A FOOL IN LOVE

She's night call girl

DEAR FOOL: (You said it, I didn't.) So your lady love works in a massage parlor by day and is a call-girl by night. When does she see you? If she's a hopeless, unless you can make more, or she agrees to settle for less.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a peculiar one. I've been dating a very special young lady for the past two months. She is perfect in every way except for her elbows. They have got to be the ugliest matching pair I have ever seen. I've never mentioned this to her, but she must be aware of it because she keeps them hidden by long sleeves when possible.

I've met her parents only once and they both seem to have normal elbows so it's not hereditary. Could she have developed those ugly elbows through drug abuse? Or could she have had a vitamin deficiency when she was young?

I wouldn't hurt her feelings by asking her what happened to her elbows because I love her, but I wonder if you can tell me anything that might shed some light on the subject.

NAME WITHHELD BY REQUEST

DEAR NAME: It's entirely possible that the young lady's elbows are perfectly normal—it's your concept of ugliness that's far-out. As long as they bend in the right places and you say she is otherwise perfect, and you love her, why not accept her as she is—elbows and all? I trust that you are a perfectly flawless man.

DEAR ABBY: I am 41 and my boyfriend is 45. We've gone together for six months, and have been considering marriage. We've both been married and divorced. I have worked for 23 years and have some money in the bank. Probably more than he has.

Out of curiosity mostly, I asked him if I could borrow $200. He said, "Yes, but you will have to sign a note." When I showed surprise, he added, "It wouldn't matter if it was my sister or brother. When it comes to money, I want a note."

I couldn't get over his attitude. Then I told him I really didn't need the money. I just wanted to see how he would handle it, and he said I should write to you and get your opinion. So I'm writing.

CORKY

DEAR CORKY: I'm with him. A loan is a business deal, and he sounds like a hard-nosed businessman. I'll bet a lot more people regret not having asked for a note than regret having asked for one.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CHIVING A RIVER IN BUFFALO." BEHOLD ME, IT'S ALL OVER. I think you gave too much. There's nothing for him to come back for.

Problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 6700, L.A., Calif. 90063. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

South's jump to three spades was a slight overbid, but South had great and well-deserved confidence in his own dummy play.
West opened the king of hearts and admitted to the queen of diamonds. South won in dummy and paused to take stock. Things did not look at all good. He had lost one heart. Surely he had to lose at least one trump and one diamond and might well lose two cards in each of those suits.
You readers have been looking at dummy and can see that neither trumps nor diamonds are going to break, but South made his contract anyway.
He started by ruffing a heart at trick three. Then he played king and ace of spades. West showed out, but that didn't stop South's

Physicals given at Jerome

JEROME — Partial physicals for children wishing to use Tipperware's Jerome pool will be given Saturday and June 22. Children were given the first of the physicals June 15 by the plant nurse, according to Karl Kleinkopf, plant recreation director. Those checked on that day were children of Tipperware employees. The partial physical includes checking for visible signs of communicable disease, eyes, ears, nose, throat, lungs, and heart. Saturday, 6- to 10-year-old children will be examined from 8 to 9 a.m. and 11 to 15-year-old children will be examined from 9 to 10 a.m. Kleinkopf said each child will be given an admittance card allowing use of the Tipperware pool free during specified times. The pool is tentatively scheduled to open July 8, providing construction remains on schedule, according to Kleinkopf.

Application questions removed

BOISE — The United States Civil Service Commission removed one question from its application form last week. The question was No. 29 on the standard Civil Service employment application form which reads: "To insure that you are not placed in a position which would impair your health or which might be a hazard to you or others, we need information about the following: Do you have or have you had 'heart disease,' a nervous breakdown, epilepsy, tuberculosis or diabetes?" The action was applauded last week by members of the Mental Health Association of Idaho, reported Sharon Hubler, M.G. Hubler said it no longer will be necessary for those who have experienced mental and emotional illness to feel that they are deprived of an equal opportunity to apply and be considered for employment in federal Civil Service.

Forest garbage rules set

SALMON — Forest supervisors of the Payette, Salmon and Challis national forests have jointly agreed to adopt a pack-in-pack-out policy involving garbage for the Idaho Primitive Area. The idea is not new; many wilderness and back country areas within the national forest system have previously adopted this measure, the US Forest Service noted. The necessary regulations to carry out the policy were issued under 36 CFR 261.25 and will require no new regulations. The policy is in existence on the Middle Fork and Salmon rivers. The success of the program lies with the acceptance by the general public and the outfitters and guides using the area, the Forest Service said. The success of the Middle Fork-Salmon program is largely due to the excellent assistance and acceptance by the outfitters and guides. We expect this same helpful attitude in the Idaho Primitive Area.

Suit filed in traffic fatality

TWIN FALLS — General damages of $250,000 are being asked in a suit filed in Fifth District Court here involving a 1972 traffic fatality. Plaintiffs in the case are Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Anderson, Twin Falls, parents of Jerry Le Anderson, who was killed Sept. 16, 1972, in a traffic accident on US Highway 30 east of Twin Falls. In their complaint the couple charges LeRoy Arrington, Twin Falls, and N. W. Arrington Farms with negligence in the accident. The complaint states the Anderson youth died when his vehicle was struck from the rear by a pickup truck driven by Arrington as Arrington swung into the inside lane occupied by the Anderson vehicle. The complaint states Arrington was preparing to turn left onto the Shoshone Falls road when the accident occurred. In addition to general damages, the plaintiffs are asking $1,600 funeral costs.

Canadian kettles 'harmful'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader's Health Research Group urged the government today to issue a public warning about a potential lead poisoning hazard in some electric tea kettles made in Canada, and to recall any from the American market. The group noted that the Canadian government on June 6 banned sale of several brands of tea kettles which were found to be releasing lead into the water when it was boiled. The group also said Canadian researchers had found that at least two small children whose formula was prepared in tea kettles required hospitalization. The problem involves soft lead used as solder in the seams of the appliances. Both the Consumer Product Safety Commission and the Food and Drug Administration have said they are investigating the situation. The Nader group said as many as 100,000 of the electric tea kettles may have been imported into the United States each year. It identified the Canadian brands which have been banned as Sunbeam, Samsom Dominion, McGraw Edison, Westinghouse, Kenmore, Viking, Baycrest, Jubilee and Filtrix.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JUNE 20, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: It is necessary to adopt a cheerful attitude now since the eclipse depression of mind is a part of the confluence. Read good books, listen to cheerful radio, music, or view comedy TV.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) The situation at home could bring arguments. If you are not diplomatic, take no chances with persons you do not know. Stick close to home.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Much care in motion should be used now to prevent accidents. Get shopping done but keep your eye on your purse.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You cannot buy your way into things that are not for you, so use more ethical methods along different lines.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You may feel unhappy and should not gab about and make others depressed also, but keep to yourself. Improve appearance and you'll snap out of it.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Proceed with jobs instead of trying to get out of them, and you gain benefits. Graciously assist one in trouble.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't look to any friends for help now since they are occupied. Avoid the social and keep busy. Help a stranger.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Although you may not like some new regulations, try to be patient or you could get into trouble. Increase income.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A new acquaintance could prove disappointing, but that is because you were not very friendly. Have fun tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Though you want to run away from your responsibilities, this is the time to get them done. Stop being so suspicious of male.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A partner is emotional and could give you some trouble, but be patient or a severance of connections. Be objective.

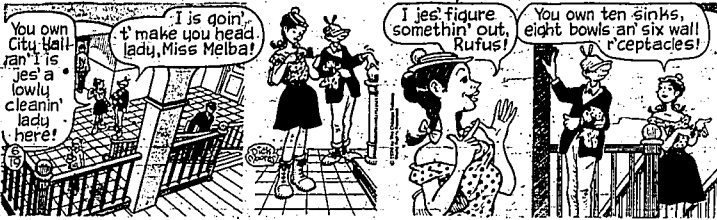

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan work and do it early. Don't lose your temper with others, or you could undermine your health. Be efficient.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Have a good time within budget. Give greater attention to that creative skill you have and make it pay off in big figures.

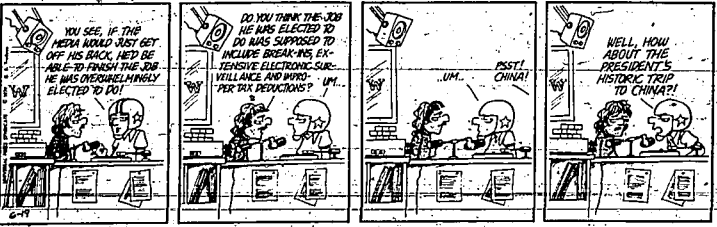

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be a born problem-solver, so start the education along such lines, be it with the police department, the government, big business firms, etc. Teach early not to mix in when others are having trouble, or there can be much trouble here, of a personal nature. Teach while young to work with the hands, since the mind here is so complicated the building of the body might be neglected.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Golda Meir recently intoned a public warning in the hand of the terrorist would be severed. A chilling threat, most particularly to the Arabs, I think. Over many generations, the penalty for stealing in Saudi Arabia was elsewhere therabouts was the loss of a hand at the wrist.

CONSIDER land-bound living things. How far they travel depends on how much they weigh. By land-bound, I mean to exclude flying insects, birds and fishes. This leaves everything from ants to elephants. Man long ago became the great exception with his horse, car, train and plane. But ordinarily in natural life, the heavier the critter, the more widely said critter roams. A scholar told me that.

NEW FOODS
Some food researchers claim that half the grub you'll eat 10 years from now hasn't even been invented yet. They allude to even more dehydrates, concentrates, protein substitutes.

YOUNG LADY, do you spend more than $50 a year on soap, makeup, cold cream, whatnot, for the maintenance of your face? If so, you're just average in the matter, too.

A MAILMAN reports he passes his spare-time by stringing together the names of towns to create geographical situations. His latest: MAN, VA., MAY, OKLA., AZ, WELLS, WA, GIVENS.

WHAT do the initials 'M.A.S.H.' stand for? A. Mobile Army Surgical Hospital.

-IN SINKING CAR
There's a squad of municipal policemen in Amster, dam called the Canal Fishermen. They pull about 50 cars a year out of the water there. They're said to know more than any other experts on earth about how to survive in a sinking automobile. Their advice: Keep the car windows closed. And wait, wait, wait until the water stops rising in the car. Then open a window to swim free.

NINE-OUT of every 10 people reported missing turn up of their own accord. LOS ANGELES law prohibits the hanging out in public view of lady's lingerie.

REBEKAH A rapid, really, eyes, aged, small-cut window, keep better. A FIRST quarter moon is always a little brighter than a last quarter moon. WERE YOU aware that the State of Virginia once levied a tax of $30 on every bathtub there?
