Patients set fee reductions

CHICAGO (Chicago Sun-Times) — A St. Charles, Ill., doctor says he has found a way to collect bills and please his patients. He simply allows any patient to reduce his bill if he feels the doctor is justified.

Dr. Richard R. Grayson, who never asks a patient why a reduction is made, claims the policy doesn't hurt him financially. "The practice probably cancels itself out with the improved collections."

He said patients are under less stress and often feel a greater responsibility and ability to pay their bills.

China-Russ relations still cool

LONDON (UPI) — Moscow's latest attempt to restore friendly relations with China failed, and Soviet chief negotiator Leonid I. Ilychev returned to Moscow after an unsuccessful month's stay in Peking, diplomatic reports said today.

The Soviet negotiator's return coincided with a renewal of sharp press attacks in Peking on the Soviet Union, charging the Kremlin with attempts to infiltrate Africa and dominate the Indian and Pacific Oceans.

Ilychev was sent to China last month after a year's absence for yet another attempt to ease the tension between the one-time Communist allies and try to defuse the deadlocked talks going. But he failed, the reports said.

Oregon governor said satisfactory

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon Gov. Tom McCall, 61, who underwent cancer surgery last year, was reported in satisfactory condition today.

After being hospitalized for an intestinal disorder.

Dr. Ralph Purvine, the governor's physician, said McCall was admitted to Salem Memorial Hospital Thursday after becoming ill with gastroenteritis, a virus he said.

Purvine said there was no connection with the cancer surgery July 24, 1973.

Nixon poll rating fails to low

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's standing in the public eye has fallen to a new low, according to a new Gallup Poll published today.

A survey taken July 12-15 among 1,555 persons in more than 900 facilities around the country showed that only 24 per cent approved of Nixon's conduct in office. Sixty-three per cent gave him a negative rating and 13 per cent gave no opinion.

The 24 per cent rating was four points below the figure Nixon received in a June poll, and only one point above the lowest ever given in the Gallup Polls. That was the 21 per cent positive rating given President Harry S. Truman in the fall of 1951 during the Korean War.

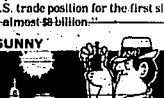

House OKs strip mining bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has joined the Senate in approving federal legislation to control strip mining of coal, a process which has devastated wide areas of Appalachia and is now moving west to the Great Plains.

Payment balance deficit reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Commerce Department today said the nation's balance of trade for the first six months showed a deficit of $257 million because of an increase in the cost of oil imports.

In the absence of an almost four-fold increase in the price of imported oil, Commerce Secretary Federico F. Frenkel said, "the U.S. trade position for the first six months would show a surplus of almost $8 billion."

Nixon: 'limit buying'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — President Nixon's cure for America's economic anxieties is to buy less, save more and be patient.

Dismissing the possibility of an economic "shock treatment," Nixon said Thursday an income tax cut or a new round of wage-price controls "would be like pouring gasoline on a raging fire."

Measures to bring "short-term relief" too often bring long-term grief," he told a nationally broadcast meeting of West-Coast businessmen here.

The only new tactics he announced in outlining a strategy against inflation were cutting 40,000 federal jobs and $5 billion off the federal budget. He also promised to veto any legislation that would exceed the budget.

The job cuts would be through attrition and would take effect immediately.

Earlier in the week, the Senate passed a resolution urging the President Nixon to call a domestic summit to deal with inflation. Thursday, Nixon consultant William Brodsky announced the administration would hold a series of 20 conferences across the country in the next 10 to 12 months with leaders of business, labor and universities.

The idea, Brodsky said, is to improve public understanding of federal economic policies. He said the first session would be held today in Chicago with Vice President Gerald Ford and prominent economic experts participating.

He said the goal is to get government, business and consumers to hold down their spending and increase their own savings as their contribution to the fight against higher prices.

Confounding that, "impalpable is the great enemy of a sound policy," Nixon asked consumers for "a measure of sacrifice in the short run in order to ensure stable growth in the long run."

The answer to inflation, Nixon said, "lies in choosing a sensible, realistic course and sticking to it — whatever the pressures — and that is exactly what we will do."

Nixon promised the government's tight money policy would not produce a credit crunch that would plunge the economy into a recession or worse.

George Means, president of the AFL-CIO, said today President Nixon's advice to Americans to exercise economic restraint and increase savings was an insult.

"The President blamed everyone but himself for the economic mess he has created... When he took office the inflation rate was 3.3 per cent and 2.8 million Americans were unemployed. Today, inflation is 11.1 per cent and 4.8 million are jobless."

Agreement set on tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Richard Nixon and Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski agreed today that the White House would turn over 20 tapes of subpoenaed conversations to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica by Tuesday.

The two men also agreed to report on the status of the remaining 44 subpoenaed conversations by next Friday.

The agreement was hammered out at Sirica's direction during an hour and 15 minute private conference by the two men.

Sirica said, however, the agreement was subject to President Nixon's approval.

It also was understood the agreement to Sirica would be subject to no problems in turning over copies of the 20 tapes, along with originals and transcripts, by next Friday.

These are the 20 tapes for March and April, 1974, at the start of the Watergate unraveling for which the White House has promised to turn strips three months ago.

Associate Watergate prosecutor James P. Nease, the chief trial lawyer for the Watergate case, said today that the tapes were subpoenaed, said that according to the agreement the White House would turn over as many additional tapes as possible by next Friday.

He also said it was his understanding that as additional tapes are available they would be released one or two at a time.

The Supreme Court must Wednesday that Nixon had to comply with Jaworski's subpoena for the tapes and gave Sirica the responsibility of determining when the tapes would be released.

"The special prosecutor's experience in the past in getting delivery of tapes has been a very poor one, a sad one, a disappointing one," Jaworski said in asking for a "clear, definite, specific" time for delivery.

He also said he had been conferring with Nixon, quickly countered by saying the President had "the sad experience" of being material turned over to the special prosecutor appear in the newspapers.

Panel won't delay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee refused today to delay its almost certain vote to recommend President Nixon's impeachment in order to try to obtain more presidential tapes.

A move by Rep. Robert McClary, R-Ill., to delay the proceedings occupied the committee's attention during the first 30 minutes of the third day of its national televised deliberations.

The articles were said to be more than the two specific ones originally proposed. The compromise was aimed at meeting the objections of Republicans and southern Democrats who complained of some of the specific charges against Nixon.

First by voice vote, then by a 27 to 11 roll call — the committee rejected a motion by McClary that would have delayed the committee vote for today in the presidential impeachment proceedings to give the panel the 54 tapes covered in this week's Supreme Court order.

Democrats argued against the motion saying the committee already had enough evidence to recommend that the House impeach Nixon and the case be sent to the Senate for trial.

The "hipsters" group started work late Thursday night and continued talks, today toward redrafting Article I, the first that will be voted on — it charges Nixon with obstruction of justice.

One source said the article was lightened somewhat. Rep. Ed McHenry, D-Ohio, called it "a cleansing operation" and said his supportive charges would remain intact.

Rep. Robert McClary of Illinois, second ranking Republican on the committee, was a key figure in the compromise negotiations, said he hoped the revised articles might be worked so that as many as seven of the committee's 17 Republicans would vote for them.

The debate, scheduled to start at 11 a.m. EDT, began shortly before noon.

Reps. James Mann, D-S.C., and Tom Railsback, R-Ill., who took the lead in redrafting Article I, said no substantive changes were made.

McClary opened the session by calling for a delay in proceedings for 10 more days to give Nixon another chance to comply with committee subpoenas in light of Wednesday's Supreme Court order that Nixon must turn over 64 tapes to Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

McClary's motion reads: "To postpone for 10 days further consideration of whether sufficient grounds exist for the House of Representatives to exercise its constitutional power of impeachment unless by 12 noon EDT on Saturday, July 27, 1974, the President fails to give his unqualified assurance to produce forthwith all taped conversations subpoenaed by the committee which are made available to the District Court pursuant to court order in U.S. vs. Mitchell, shortly before noon."

The McClary proposal was opposed by Democrats who said that more delay would not result in obtaining more evidence. They said the committee already had enough evidence to recommend impeachment.

Political spills?

SEN. CLAY, D-MICH., said today that the name of a new political party, an environmentalist has suggested.

"Our modest proposal," said Douglas Scott of the Sierra Club, "is that each spill, like a hurricane, have a name — the name of a state legislator who votes in favor of bringing big oil trucks into Purec Sound."

Clay said he had been conferring with Nixon, quickly countered by saying the President had "the sad experience" of being material turned over to the special prosecutor appear in the newspapers.

Nease, the chief trial lawyer for the Watergate case, said today that the tapes were subpoenaed, said that according to the agreement the White House would turn over as many additional tapes as possible by next Friday.

He also said it was his understanding that as additional tapes are available they would be released one or two at a time.

Rep. Symms lambasts Nixon act

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Conservative House Republicans say President Nixon betrayed them by signing a bill for legal services to the poor and that Nixon's chances of being impeached have increased as a result.

The conservatives charged that at the last minute Nixon succeeded to pressure from Senate liberals to sign the bill.

"It's a new billgame for the conservatives," said one member who had previously identified the signing of the bill as one likely to lead to impeachment votes.

"For him to play impudent politics is wrong," said Rep. Steven Symms, D-Idaho. "The enemies are his enemies and his friends are his real friends."

Solar, atomic energy needed to prevent 'world starvation'

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — World-wide starvation — can only be avoided by a speedy changeover to solar energy and atomic power, David Pimentel, Cornell University economist, told the Western Agricultural Economics Association Thursday.
Pimentel warned economists meeting at the University of Idaho that the world has been an "energy binge" for the past 125 years, using its coal and oil reserves wastefully and recklessly.
"Back in the 1850's we gained 91 per cent of our energy needs from the burning of wood. But at the present time, 96 per cent of our energy comes from nonrenewable sources," he said.
"If the present trends continue, most of the world's fossil fuels will be gone by the year 2020," Pimentel warned.
Pimentel said modern methods of agricultural production use prodigious amounts of fossil fuel energy. He added it would be a "terrible mistake" to export U.S. agricultural technology to the rest of the world because it is so wasteful.
"Agriculture in the developing countries must continue to make intensive use of human labor as an energy input," he said.
"If the rest of the world suddenly adopted U.S. food production and consumption patterns, the world's food reserves of the 'grain' would last only 10 years," he said.
"How to get the most food from the smallest application of the vanishing fossil fuel is the major problem facing agriculture today," Pimentel told his audience.
He recommended the rapid development of atomic and solar energy sources.

Humans or pets to starve

DENVER (UPI) — Pet owners soon may have to feed their animals starve 50 hungry humans in the event of a nuclear war, according to a university scientist.
"With large segments of the human population starving or malnourished, it is doubtful that they will be able to make the moral decisions concerning the distribution of the earth's resources of food to pets," Lloyd C. Frank, ex-sat Thurston.

Squatters must go

UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL The Israel government voted unanimously today to break up an unauthorized squatters town organized overnight last month in Israel in the occupied West Bank of Jordan, a cabinet communiqué said.
The government will prevent all attempts to settle or establish settlements without its approval or decision," the cabinet said.
"The prime minister and the defense minister are authorized to execute this policy."
The Jewish settlers dodged army barricades to set up the encampment, 50 miles north of Jerusalem, the largest Arab city in the West Bank of the Jordan. They were trying to keep the Israeli government from returning any of the biblical West Bank lands seized in the 1967 Middle East War to Jordan in future peace talks with the Arabs.

Candidate show Sunday

TWIN FALLS — Magle Valley residents can view some of Idaho's second congressional district and Senate candidates on a television program Sunday.

Members of the League of Women Voters of Idaho will moderate the show to be broadcast from noon to 1 p.m. by television station KMYT, Twin Falls.

Senate candidates Bob Smith, Donald Winder and Charley Bolstridge, all Republicans, will be interviewed during a 30-minute segment of the program.

Incumbent Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, Republican George Hansen and Democrat Max Hansen, all candidates for the second congressional district seat, will be questioned in the other half-hour segment.

The candidates will field queries from Idaho newsman Marjorie Slotten, state president of the league, said. Her organization has moderated the candidate shows for broadcast throughout the state in cooperation with educational television stations.

KMYT will also broadcast a program on Aug. 4 from 8:30 to 1:30 p.m. featuring candidates for the state offices of lieutenant governor, superintendent of public instruction and attorney general. League members will act as moderators.

League gives candidate data

TWIN FALLS — Non-partisan information on candidates and issues in Idaho's Aug. 6 primary election is being distributed by the League of Women Voters of Twin Falls.

Mrs. Ingrid Strobe, president, said the "Candidate Information Guide" will be sent to libraries, chambers of commerce, county party headquarters and other public units.

The guide includes information on registration, candidate filing deadlines, election dates and candidates. Candidates for state and national offices — their pictures, biographical information and answers to questions — are contained in the guide.

Mrs. Marjorie Slotten, Twin Falls president of the League of Women Voters of Idaho, said the local leagues will distribute 25,000 copies of the candidate guide throughout the state.

The Twin Falls league, according to Mrs. Sue Paek, voters service chairman, will distribute about 4,000 copies in Magie Valley.

Mrs. Paek said the guides will also be available in banks, grocery stores and meeting places in smaller communities.

Nuclear energy urged

TWIN FALLS — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said here Thursday a huge power plant proposed for southern Idaho should use nuclear energy, not coal.

Hansen, a member of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, said Idaho should consider nuclear energy instead of coal to eliminate air pollution in southern Idaho.

"I would not like to see any further building of large fossil fuel electric generation plants in Idaho," Hansen said. "I would hope that the nuclear alternative is given serious consideration before any final decision is made."

Hansen's remark followed an announcement that Idaho Power was examining three sites in southern Idaho, including one near Bliss, to locate a two-million kilowatt generating plant.

"It's my view that generally nuclear power is a significant more environmentally safe option than coal-fired plants," Hansen said. There has not been a single injury to any member of the public from any kind of nuclear accident from a nuclear power plant, based on the record of "many hundreds of years of reactor operation."

Hansen said the feasibility of coal pollution aggravating pollution problems in the thermal inversion-probe Snake River Valley should be investigated, plans for construction of a coal-fired plant.

Hansen is campaigning for reelection to the U.S. House of Representatives from Idaho's second congressional district.

Barn burns at KH

KING HILL — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a small barn, a tin-roofed shed and 105-bales of hay Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Button.

The fire started in the barn. The hay was piled between the shed and the barn.

Sprinkler pipes were moved by neighbors, and a number of strangers traveling on the highway and winter turned on the fire, but the barn was fully ablaze before the fire was discovered by Button.

The Buttons live on the west edge of the town of King Hill. They had some insurance on the buildings, nothing on the hay.

Fair booth plans made

KING HILL — Mrs. John Davis and Mrs. Joel Young called a committee meeting after the annual picnic at King Hill Grange at the Bliss Dam Park Tuesday evening.

The committee chose a theme and the design for the exhibit booth for the Grange at the Elmore County Fair Aug. 8-10.

About 50 people attended the picnic in the park.

Plans were made for all the Granges to meet at the King Hill Grange Hall to make sheaves of oats, wheat, mixed grains and barley to help with the decorating of the Grange exhibit booth.

Cree is charged with starting a fire at the Royal Apartments on Second Avenue West, May 18, in which Jerry Parrott, 29, was killed and two other persons injured. Injured were Cree and Patricia McWhinnies, 29, Twin Falls.

Until the past two weeks, Cree has been in custody in Magie Valley Memorial Hospital and is still under the care of a physician although now housed in the county jail.

Magistrate Court Judge Daniel Meehl opened the preliminary hearing Thursday morning and recessed it at 11:30 a.m. because of another hearing scheduled in the court for later in the day.

The Cree hearing resumed this morning before Judge Meehl.

Picabo man perplexed about court decision

BY BART QUESNELL
Times-News writer

HATLEY — Bud Purdy, part owner of Picabo Livestock Inc., is perplexed that the government could take my land without compensation.

The Idaho Supreme Court ruled Monday that Silver Creek, which flows through Purdy's land, is navigable and open to the public within the high water mark.

Purdy had closed a two-mile section of the stream through his land, opening it only to fishermen who requested entry.

Purdy said he has federal guaranteed-patents issued in 1883 for his land, including Silver Creek. In addition, Nick Purdy, co-owner, said the corporation had been paying taxes on all of the land until it became entangled in court proceedings.

"In effect the government took away my land without paying for it," Bud Purdy said. "If we enforce this new ruling to the book, fishermen are going to suffer more than they do now."

Purdy said the new ruling would exclude any bank fishing. The higher water mark on Silver Creek is the same in summer as in spring, according to Purdy. Silver Creek is not affected by spring runoff, because it is fed by underground springs.

According to the ruling, Purdy said, fishermen will have to enter the stream to fish. He said he has allowed fishermen on the banks in the past. He said he and other landowners had met to discuss trespassing. With the new ruling, Purdy said, strict action may be taken to restrict sportfishing to the creek.

"We might have to hire our own guard," he said. "Once they get in the water we still have no control over them. You can't fish by the beer bottles and trash I pick off my own property."

Speed, unity of NATO diplomacy reassuring

(c) New York Times Service WASHINGTON — One of the reassuring aspects of Greek-Turkish settlement of the Cyprus crisis has been the speed and unity of NATO diplomacy. Only a few months ago, officials were complaining that American leadership was crippled and that the European allies were getting anything but in the last few days they have demonstrated what can be done when consultation and trust are restored. Within two hours, Secretary of State Kissinger and the other nine foreign ministers were able to agree on the wording of a sharp demarche to the Greek and Turkish governments. The result has been a transformation of the military and political situation in the Eastern Mediterranean. The U.S. government is particularly pleased by the political developments in both Greece and Cyprus. Even Kissinger, who was optimistic that a major Greek-Turkish war could be avoided, had not dared to hope that the military junta in Athens would summon former Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis back from exile in Paris to form a civilian government of national union. Washington is also pleased that Glafkos Clerides, Speaker of the Cypriot House of Representatives, has replaced Archbishop Makarios as the representative of the Cypriot people.

For the future, the main thing is that the allies have rediscovered that they can be effective when they work together on common problems. Since the installation of new governments in London, Paris and Bonn, however, there has been a new spirit of cooperation. Over the past weekend, Kissinger was not only in constant telephonic conversation with the other allied foreign ministers, but also with key allied ambassadors in Washington. Washington is eager to see a "positive" information in Athens that will restore liberty while retaining allied cooperation in the Greek bases on the mainland and in Crete. This is regarded as the foundation as fundamental to the lines of communication between Europe and the Middle East, and restoration of a civilian government would relieve the Albanian administration of charges it put strategic interests ahead of the freedom of the Greek people. What Secretary Kissinger hopes to do now is to expand allied cooperation into the economic field, and more forward to a better understanding on monetary control, trade and energy. His argument has been that the problems of inflation, trade, and defense are linked and cannot be eased without greater consultation and cooperation not only between Europe and the United States but also with Japan. These are more difficult questions but there is a little more confidence here as a result of the last week's diplomacy that the alliance is back on a stronger foundation.

Impending drought in US almost unnoticed

Amid multiple crises in Washington, D. C., and the Magic East, the prediction of an impending drought in the United States tends to pass almost unnoticed.

Magie Valley residents — like many other Americans — have been beset by two major crises in the past two years that another prediction of trouble simply doesn't have much impact.

However, this prediction could have considerable impact on Idaho and the Magic Valley. There are two reasons.

First, any western drought will undoubtedly affect Idaho, which receives its moisture from the Pacific Ocean. Any change in air-flow patterns which would alter the path of moisture-bearing air moving over the western United States would almost certainly affect the amount of snow-accumulating on mountain ranges and yielding water to irrigate the fields of Idaho.

As in the plains states and the southwest, a reduction in water would mean a reduction in crop yields.

With food reserves lowered in the US and in the world, any sharp reduction in food production would mean at the least a matching increase in the price of food — whether consumed by Americans or in other nations.

The worst result would be death for many persons in poorer nations. And it is not inconceivable that if the drought were severe enough and long enough some of those dying could be Americans.

The second point concerns the relation of any drought and energy. Idaho depends primarily on electric power generated by water-driven turbines. Reduced precipitation would mean reduced amounts of water for impoundment in rivers and reservoirs, and in turn the reduced availability of power is not entirely unlikely.

While some utility companies are diversifying their generating facilities to use western coal, the bulk of the region's power will continue to come from water. And if there is less water, there will either have to be less power or else restrictions on its use.

So what we in the Magic Valley are looking at is the prospect of one of the grimmer varieties of hard times come a-visitng.

Although some weather experts disagree with the forecast of an "imminent" drought, there appears to be ample evidence the prediction is valid. However, long-range weather forecasts have been known to miss.

Those who weathered the severe droughts of the 1930s — the Dust Bowl days in the plains — and the 1950s don't care to recall the memories. And while most will hope the prediction is wrong, there's an old saying that expresses the pessimism that so often prevails in dry spells and other hard times.

All signs fall in dry weather.

US lays down law in Athens, topples junta

WASHINGTON — Full-scale war between Turkey and Greece was averted and the seven-year-old military dictatorship in Athens toppled when Washington belatedly laid down the law to the Greek junta.

There is little doubt Greece would have responded to Turkey's invasion of Cyprus with its own invasion of Turkey were it not for the desecration of the Greek people's religious shrines in Athens. In most diplomatic language, the Greek general that the U.S. would abandon them if they attacked Turkey. Jolted by this unexpected reversal, the military dictatorship crumbled and guaranteed its own fall on Tuesday.

But there is no room for American self-congratulation here. The generals held power because of Washington's coddling. The Cyprus crisis which has shaken the NATO alliance has been averted by the United States. What's more, this question remains: will bitterness by ordinary Greeks toward Washington for "betraying" the dictatorship eventually propel their nation out of the Western alliance?

Despite a growing coolness toward Athens recently, the U.S. has refused to pressure the dictatorship. The current junta, dominated by Prime Gen. Dimitrios Ioannides, seemed puzzled that Washington demanded so little for friendship and military aid.

Naming American permissiveness coinciding with increased opposition from the Greek people, Ioannides decided on a foreign adventure. Athens' plot to take over Cyprus should have been prevented by Washington. Instead, there was no U.S. interference.

Moreover, State Department officials who wanted to condemn Athens for the Cyprus plot were overruled by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, heading Pentagon fears of losing Greece as NATO's anchor. Had Kissinger aligned himself with the British against the coup, Congressional critics believe, the Turks might have been dissuaded from invading Cyprus.

By the time Sisco left Washington on July 17 for his try at shuttle diplomacy, the administration was resigned to a Greek-Turkish war.

When Sisco arrived in Athens Friday morning, July 19, the generals informed him they would respond by invading Turkey. Sisco's reply, except for the U.S. you have no friends. You can expect nothing from the Communist world. In the third world, you areentials. And if you attack Turkey, you will lose the U.S. and be totally isolated.

Flying to Ankara that night, Sisco told the Turks the U.S. would work with Turkey and Great Britain to end Greek meddling in Cyprus. But at 5:45 a.m. Saturday, Sisco was informed of the Turkish invasion of Cyprus to begin 15 minutes later. He left for Athens at 8:30 a.m.

In Athens, the Greeks restored their intention to counterattack against Turkey. Again, Sisco greeted his tough lion. Stunned, the generals backed down. When Sisco left for Washington it was clear the loathsome regime could not survive.

Finally, it was replaced by a civilian government headed by Conservative Constantine Karamanlis. But the United States had not escaped the consequences of Sisco's failure. The hardest lesson Washington has to learn is that a policy has yet to be revealed.

We reported from Athens in June, 1969, that the U.S. embraced the junta — because of military requirements in the Eastern Mediterranean — posed "immense danger to long-range stability" in the region. That prediction was realized by the Cyprus crisis.

Whether Sisco's belated badgering of the Greeks can forestall the predicted's early collapse will require a prediction — fully welcomed good fortune.

Saudis see 'Gate plot'

(c) New York Times Service JERUSALEM — Explaining the complexities of the U.S. political system abroad is not the easiest task.

Some months ago, in Peking, Premier Chou En-lai told me Watergate was not called a "scandal" in China. It simply represented the kind of phenomenon expected of American society.

In this distasteful, where a monarchic government is emerging from a strict, and dogmatic, interpretation of Islam's scriptures, Watergate is seen as something wholly different.

Together with what is regarded as a conspiracy to oust Henry Kissinger from the State Department, it is interpreted as deliberate.

This, one hears, was conceived and managed by Soviet Communists and Israeli Zionists. Why? To wreck a United States government, that is genuinely seeking Middle East peace by freeing the Israelis to abandon all territory acquired since the outbreak of the six-day war in 1967 and to acknowledge the rights of Palestinian Arabs.

But this doesn't alter the fact that this is truly believed here, starting with King Faisal himself. Their conception can be summarized as cordially Soviet influence, which is detested in this country, seat of Mecca and other Islamic shrines — would never have intruded into the Arab world save for Zionist creation of Israel.

But — according to this theory — the same movements have really been working together. The U.S.-R. used Israel as a device to infiltrate the Middle East. It allegedly sponsored creation of a Zionist state knowing America would back it and lose its Arab friends to Moscow.

Great Washington caught on, and really managed to cope for peace by pressuring Israel. The Communists and Zionists decided to weaken the United States by labeling Nixon and Kissinger traitors.

Faisal and his ministers had become persuaded that Nixon and Kissinger may have known it was impossible to squeeze Soviet influence from the Arab lands without peace — and that peace could only be obtained on the terms outlined above.

For Faisal, the point of interest in any settlement is Jerusalem with its Moslem sacred places. He clearly wants the old city, controlled by Jordan until 1967, back in Arab hands. Yet there is no doubt his policy would be less obstinate than when he insisted on an all-Arab Jerusalem (meaning the entire city) and a virtual end to Israel's existence.

Yet that religion should so vividly affect diplomatic analyses of power balances and even the U.S. Watergate affair comes as a surprise.

How strange it sounds to Americans, the Saudi interpretation has huge importance because of its remote land's enormous financial and energy power. It could conceivably influence the course of U.S. history to the same degree that Faisal is persuaded Islam influenced the policy of Russia — and the Arabs.

ABOUT THE SIZE OF IT

If it wasn't so much trouble, 'Inc.' would go

SCRABBLE, Va. — We have now been incorporated for about a month, and let us tell you, it's not that bad. In fact, it's really a nice job like us doing in the Inc. business?

All this started about six months ago, when we were flying from San Francisco to Denver, or something, and ran out of things to read. The cockpit reader will read anything. The seat-packet contained an airline magazine, and in the magazine was a piece about the tax and retirement advantages that accrue to professionals who incorporate themselves.

Six months ago, two lawyers, three accountants, and 500 aspirins later, we are now a Virginia corporation with a black check full of stock certificates to "prove" it. The certificates are printed in marmalade-orange. Our vice president picked out the color to match a dress thought for the first directors' meeting.

Everybody, they tell us, is going the corporate route. Our brother pundit, Col. Rowan, used to be a barefoot Tennessee boy, with nothing in his freedom, we are back on a corporate payroll again. Gene, the carefree dandy, last week we ran out of walking-around money and had to get in advance on expenses. It seemed ridiculous for us to sign a check made out to us, so we asked our secretary to sign it.

freedom, we are back on a corporate payroll again. Gene, the carefree dandy, last week we ran out of walking-around money and had to get in advance on expenses. It seemed ridiculous for us to sign a check made out to us, so we asked our secretary to sign it.

Well, she said, disapproval written large upon her lovely forehead, that's an awful lot of money. We said, "but look, Jimmie, it's, uh, only a temporary kind of." Her pen passed over the checkbook. "How long have you been with this corporation?" she asked.

We got the advance, but it was a struggle. Believe us, it is no bed of roses. We had a stockholders' meeting last week. All the stockholders came.

"Now, darling," we said. "Don't darling me," said the heckler. "This must be a pretty sorry corporation if you don't have a box lunch for the stockholders." We took a recess, made three ham and two tuna fish salad, and the meeting resumed. "What about a dividend?" the same voice wanted to know. "And how come with all that equity you need such a position?"

"Look honey," said the president of the corporation. "In today's competitive market for executive talent, we have to give you that position benefits be produced and that income flow."

"That's what all you overpaid fat cats say," sneered the voice. "Here, there isn't any place on the agenda."

In addition to the marmalade certificates, we have a corporate seal, a black minute book, and a flock of tax forms. We had scarcely become a corporation before the heavens opened and the forms came raining down. We have two bank accounts, a little one for us and a big one for the government, and we have given very touchy about those accounts. So we dunno about it. We are the only known corporation with a home office in Scrabble, Va. and if it wouldn't take six months, two lawyers, three accountants and another 500 aspirins to dissolve, by George, we would let the distinction go. Rapid inflation curbs US opulence

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The American standard of living is the highest and most envied in the world as it is in eclipse, according to some government and private economists.

In the headlines are the words of scholars and theorists: "recession," "inflation."

But translated to pocketbook terms, inflation and recession mean Americans are paying more for less.

There has been a real reduction in the standard of living, says Charles F. Schultz, a senior fellow at the Brookings Institution.

Schultz says academic and government discussion now is centered on how to distribute the impact of reduced circumstances: Who will bear the burden? The urban worker, the farmer, the senior citizen on fixed income or the welfare mother.

Alan Greenspan, chairman designate of the Council of Economic Advisors puts it this way:

"The overall effect is that everybody is hurt. The only difference is between having two broken legs or one."

Greenspan says the economy has "deteriorated to the point that the only alternatives are distasteful full employment or a current 12 per cent less federal spending, reduced business activity and consumer restraint."

In the past six months, inflation has risen at a pace that has eroded the buying power of $1 to 90 cents.

The most noticeable effects of the inflation are in the supermarkets where it costs more to buy smaller portions of food.

But food is not the only sector in which Americans have had to cut back. The dream of owning a home has become a nightmare for more than one million potential buyers this year.

Lewis Center, president of the National Association of Home Builders, says the selling price of the average home is now up to $15,000 with interest rates averaging more than 9 per cent.

What it means is competition for the same modest houses between a family earning $12,000 a year and one earning $18,000, with former forced to continue renting and the latter unsatisfied with the quality of the home it can afford.

On a larger scale, total business activity has declined this year. And a public opinion pollster concludes that consumers are expecting an economic collapse.

The Treasury Department says corporate income taxes are "$4 billion" below expectations. The Commerce Department reported the Gross National Product fell 7 per cent between January and March and slipped 1.2 per cent in the April-June period.

Declining to label the figures evidence of a recession, Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent says the slowdown was a "merely 'spasm' caused by the energy crisis."

And the National Bureau of Economic Research, which determines when a recession occurs, says GNP is part of the criteria, but other factors such as unemployment and production have not worsened.

The latest Sindlinger public opinion poll says Americans believe inflation is at 30 per cent, or double the government estimate. And Sindlinger projects that the economy has moved from recession toward depression.

Consumers are cutting back on spending and an economic "collapse" is expected, Sindlinger says.

But President Nixon says the American standard of living can be maintained at a high level.

"We will take what actions are necessary against undue hardship," Nixon said in an economic talk to businessmen in Los Angeles Thursday. "But we will not react either to general or to specific needs with gimmickry or emotionism, and we will continue steadily on our basic anti-inflationary course."

Desegregation 'to advance'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruling such proof is necessary before separate school districts can be ordered consolidated.

The court's opinion was the last one of the 1973-74 term.

After it was announced, the court refused to take a companion case announced late Thursday after the recess, a similar school case involving Louisville and Jefferson County, Ky., was created and argued in the district court for a new ruling in light of the Detroit decision.

The court also refused to review several appeals of obscenity convictions. Among them was a ruling by the New York State of Appeals that the sex newspaper "Screw" was obscene.

Washington (UPI)—The NAACP lawyer said the cause of school desegregation will move forward despite a Supreme Court ruling Thursday which limits busing of children between city and suburban school districts to achieve racial integration.

Nathaniel Jones, chief counsel for the NAACP in New York, said: "Of course I was disappointed by the court decision. What the court did came pretty close to reevaluating Dred Scott by saying blacks have rights but no remedies while folks have to respect."

In 1857, the Supreme Court ruled that even freed slaves were not persons in the view of the Constitution.

The court's 5-4 decision blocked reassignment of children between Detroit's inner city schools, which are 65 per cent black, and 53 suburban districts which are more than 90 per cent white.

The Detroit plan would have involved the busing of thousands of children to achieve a racial balance of both the city and suburban schools.

Jones said the one bright spot in the decision was that city-suburban mergers were not banned altogether. Rather, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said that "anytime there may be bridged where there has been a constitutional violation calling for inter-district relief."

Jones said this means that suburban districts may be named as defendants in desegregation suits and attempts will be made to prove they have acted against black people in employment, housing and school policies.

1,200 dead at DaNang

Saigon (UPI) — Thousands of Communist-stored strategic base guarding Da Nang, touching off a bloody battle that killed nearly 1,200 soldiers in the heaviest fighting since the 1968 Tet offensive, it was reported today.

The Saigon military command said about 1,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers assaulted a 2,000-man government outpost 25 miles southwest of Da Nang in a threat to South Vietnam's second largest city.

The command said the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese began today wave assaults against the battered base Wednesday night after a daylong battle in which it was held by Communist gunners.

A spokesman said the fierce fighting raged into Thursday, killing an estimated 1,100 Communist and 200 South Vietnamese soldiers. Another 300 Saigon troops — 10 per cent of the defenders — were missing.

The Saigon command declined to say whether the base — named by the 2nd Regiment of the government's 3rd Infantry Division — was still in government hands.

Military analysts said the high reported Communist losses indicated the South Vietnamese troops were forced to pull back toward Da Nang a port city 50 miles north of Saigon.

UPI photo reporter Jim Thinh Van, reporting from Da Nang, said South Vietnamese air force units stationed at the city of 400,000 were put on full alert.

Spotter planes were ordered into the air on a 24-hour basis to look for Communist troops moving from the embattled base toward Da Nang's inner defense perimeter.

A Saigon command spokesman said intensive air and artillery strikes were being conducted around the base. The spokesman said two North Vietnamese army regiments and 10 battalions of local Viet Cong troops were involved in the attack on the base, located near the besieged Duc district town.

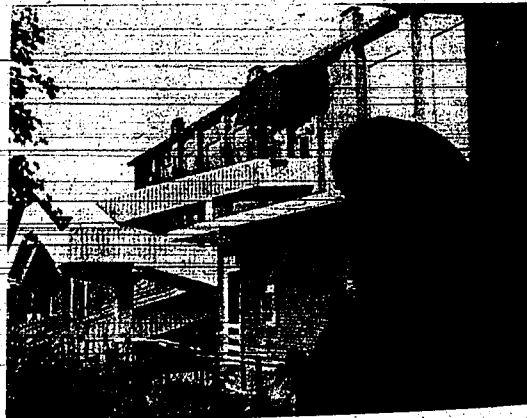

The fighting was the heaviest in South Vietnam since the Jan. 28, 1973, truce agreement. The 5,000-round shelling was the heaviest Communist barrage since the massive North Vietnamese offensive in the South during the spring of 1972.

In Phnom Penh, the government reported killing 100 insurgents in an army push across northwestern flat-topped Cambodia, the rice basket of Cambodia. It said government losses were two dead and 25 wounded.

In other Cambodian fighting, the government reported killing 20 rebels in a government drive along the banks of the Mekong River 30 miles south of Phnom Penh. One government soldier was reported dead and "several" wounded.

The command said fighting in the rest of the country was scattered and "light," continuing a drop in military activity for the past two weeks.

Carrasco negotiated with prison officials throughout the day Thursday giving them several deadlines to meet his demands or risk the deaths of his 11 hostages, four female librarians and three women instructors.

The deadlines passed without incident, and the talks recessed until 11 a.m. EDT today.

France sets off A bomb

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI) — France apparently set off a nuclear explosion today at its testing ground in the South Pacific. New Zealand Prime Minister Norman E. Kirk reported.

The New Zealand leader expressed "grave concern" at the explosion, the 39th atmospheric atomic test at France's Moruroa atoll testing site since 1961.

"I have reason to believe that France conducted a further atmospheric nuclear test today in French Polynesia," Kirk said in a statement. "I must stress that my concern at the continuation of these tests is in no way dismissed." Kirk refused to give the source of his information, but New Zealand warships often steam through the region and could have monitored the explosion.

"We get it on the basis of our own initiative and it's very necessary that we should," the prime minister said.

Prostitute role described as bore

DALLAS (UPI) — An unidentified policeman who spends her time in the force imitating a prostitute says the assignment is boring.

"I expected it to be a lot of things — but boredom never entered my mind," she said.

The policeman's job is to sit in bars and wait for men to offer her money for her sexual favors. When the amount is small, she leaves him, and the policeman comes on the scene and arrests the man.

"Really, the men are for the most part very average and dull," she said. "It's all those long conversations that are so boring. Believe me, there's nothing glamorous."

She said she has only been arrested once, and that was when someone offered her $5.

"My God, my makeup costs more than that," she said. She said the first man who tried to pick her up talked for 45 minutes.

"I was nervous. I wondered what I was doing wrong. He just talked and talked and talked. Finally, he offered me $50."

"It's a pattern I've found the men all talk first. Then they feel they know the girl and that somehow justifies what they are doing."

Professor survives grizzly

GLACIER PARK, Mont. (UPI) — A college professor survived a curious attack by a grizzly bear in Glacier National Park Thursday by wielding an ice ax and finally playing dead.

Park officials said Dr. J. Gordon Edwards, of Saint Jose's Coll., State University, suffered only a bite on his left hand. He was treated and released at a Canadian hospital.

Edwards, an expert on the park and author of books on mountain climbing in Glacier Park, was hiking when he came upon a grizzly sow and her two cubs.

The sow charged him, and he used the ax to fend her off. The bear attacked again and bit his hand.

The park officials said Edwards then went limp and played dead. The bear sniffed and pawed his body. It then left.

Edwards hiked out of the area on his own.

Bawling babies banned

CHICAGO (UPI) — Proclaiming bawling babies the greatest obstacle to the people of God since the barbarians, a Roman Catholic priest has launched a "Ban the Babies" movement.

The Rev. Frank E. Fortkamp, who proclaims himself the "founding father of the Ban the Babies Movement," calls for "an ecclesiastical directive from the highest authority" to "ban babies from the Mass."

The Pennsylvania priest says the constant crying from infant church-goers makes it impossible for him or any other preacher to get their messages across from the pulpit.

The only way to get the message to the people is to get the little people out of earshot by order of the highest available Church authority, he says.

New Grace Baptist Church Baptists dedicate new church facility

TWIN FALLS — The congregation of the Grace Baptist Church will be holding a dedication service for its new church facilities at 7:00 a.m. Sunday at a P.M. Rev. Alan MacCallister, former pastor, will be the dedicatory speaker.

The new facilities comprise a little over 13,000 square feet of floor space. The building is completely carpeted and air conditioned. The design of the building will enable the congregation to establish a Christian day school in the near future.

Pastor Robert Schmitt said the equipment and appointments were selected with this goal in mind.

These facilities comprise only phase one of a three-phase building program which will eventually include a larger auditorium, another educational wing and a multi-purpose recreational building. The community is invited to inspect the facilities after the service. A light buffet luncheon will be served in the Fellowship Hall after the service.

Nursery facilities will be available for those needing this service.

MV group embarks on Alaskan trip

TWIN FALLS — This Sunday a group of 26 persons, mostly from Presbyterian churches in Magic Valley, will embark on a "goose" tour in Alaskan waters.

Rev. and Mrs. Robert Van Nest are tour leaders for the group which includes young people from the Valley Presbyterian Church. They will board the motor vessel "Alma" at 10 a.m. in Siletka, Alaska, for the five-day tour which will include visits to some of the isolated places the denomination serves.

The vessel, which Rev. Van Nest jokingly refers to as "the only ship in the Presbyterian navy" has a full-time skipper and a chaplain and cruises the waters of southeastern Alaska ministering to logging, trapping, fishing villages, Coast Guard light-house stations, drop-out families and anyone living a lonely and isolated existence in the region.

The 65-foot-long boat which has latest sonar and navigational aids, is also used to transport young people to summer camp, pick up ministers and commissioners to presbytery meetings and to move pastors and their families to and from their assignments.

During this summer, in addition to taking guests on these "goose" seminars, the boat also continues its ministry to isolated people and runs a vacation church school throughout the villages of southeastern Alaska.

Participants on the Magic Valley tour, Sunday through Aug. 2, include Mrs. Cleo Midway, Mrs. Norma Reed and three grandchildren and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gibson, all Twin Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Neil Cross, Kim McDonald, Dug Montgomery, Stacy Sneed, Julie Ziegler, Chidy Batsch and Carol Ann Grant, all Valley; Church Doug Jones, Billister, and Jim Walkington, Burley.

Mrs. Florence Fowler, former secretary at the Twin Falls church, and three friends from California, another woman from Salt Lake City and two from Washington, complete the tour group.

Free concert slated

TWIN FALLS — A recording, instrumental and choral ensemble from Anaheim, Calif., will appear in Twin Falls Saturday night for a free concert.

The group, His Kids, will appear at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium of the College of Southern Idaho. Wayne Barney, in charge of local arrangements, said the concert is open to the public.

The Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship, a group of business men interested in religious programs, is sponsoring the concert. The Women's Auxiliary group will provide housing and food for the young musicians while they are in this area.

Members of His Kids range in age from junior high school to college. Director is Tom Newman, formerly a junior high school music director in southern California.

The young people in the group are from southern California and have a talent for contemporary music. Much presents the gospel as it is to the young people as they are.

Members raise their own concert and travel expenses by record sales, special concerts and other projects.

4 Filer youths to world confab

FILER — Four young people from Filer will attend the Eighth Baptist Youth World Conference in Portland, Ore., Wednesday to Aug. 4.

The conference, sponsored by the World Baptist Alliance, enables young people from many countries to come together to share their experiences as Baptists and to seek their roles as Christians.

Baptist Youth World Conferences have been held every five years since 1941. This will be the first in the United States and it will not be held here again in our lifetime. More than 12,000 youth will be attending this conference.

The youth from Filer are Laura Bates, Larry Anderson, Richard Melton and Jaydon Watson with Rev. and Mrs. Roy W. Watson, as their sponsors. The Filer group will be staying with the Andersons and Clark University.

Other youth will be staying in hotels and universities throughout the Portland area. The evening session will bring all youths together at the coliseum.

It has been reported this conference will be one of the most internationally balanced youth conferences in Baptist history.

One of the interesting activities of the conference will be the International Market Place. This will be a time of trading things with other delegates.

To be brought by the delegates will be souvenirs and symbols from their area; and or things personally symbolic to them from their school, town or churches for the purpose of swapping.

Trading will begin during sermons on Wednesday night, and can go on for the entire conference. Not only will they get a variety of things, but they will become better acquainted with other delegates as they trade and bargain.

The youths from Filer will be trading seed beans given them by the Bem Grows and Spud Co. tags furnished by the Spud Co.

Nazarenes schedule puppeteer program

FILER — Rev. Marshall Mastey, associate pastor of Filer Church of the Nazarenes, has announced two special features for the morning services on Sunday.

The morning will begin at 10 a.m. with the presentation of the vacation Bible school program.

All children who have been involved in the family vacation Bible school this week will be involved in presenting the program which will include singing, Bible verse recitations, and the presentation of prayers and attendance certificates.

Following the Bible school program, there will be a special morning service presented by the Sunny Valley Gospel Puppeteers and Singers of Zillah, Wash.

With the help of their hand puppets and the many stringed instruments they will present the story of Queen Esther from the Old Testament book of Esther, as well as presenting the gospel in song.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bale and their children have been in this unique puppet ministry since 1969 and have traveled throughout the western United States and north into Central Canada.

James Bale, the director, says "The script, the puppets, the stage and staging as well as the props, are all a family project. We find that the puppet story thrills children of all ages up to 105 years old."

Following these two events Sunday morning each child that has attended will receive a coupon for a free hot-candy cone.

Filer concert planned

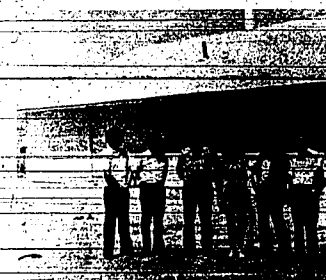

FILER — The Lower Columbia Singers from Longview, Wash., will present a sacred music concert of slightly over one hour in the Filer High School auditorium on Sunday afternoon.

The Lower Columbia Singers are being sponsored by the Church of the Nazarene, United Missionary Church, Memorial Church and The First Baptist Church, all Filer.

The Lower Columbia Singers, with 75 young people, have performed throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico. In this tour they have performed at Expo '74 in Spokane and the Yellowstone National Park. They will be presenting a concert at Fort Hall in the morning before arriving in Filer.

The Singers come from 15 junior highs, high schools and colleges in southwest Washington, and are from about 20 religious denominations. Their ages range from 13 to 24. Each singer is carefully selected for his musical ability, personality, dependability, appearance and leadership potential.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 28, married and has two adorable children. She phoned to ask if she could come over to talk to me about something important. Well, she just left and I am a wreck!

She is having an affair with one of all people her foot doctor! He's married and nearly twice her age! My daughter is very pretty but she's stupid. She has a husband who treats her like a queen. What she wants with this foot doctor, I'll never know.

I wish she had never confided in me. What did she expect me to tell her? Now that she's told me, if she leaves her husband, she says: "My mother knew all about it."

Walks on husband

I told her to get another foot doctor and to quit seeing this man, but she cried and said: "But, Mother, I love him! What a nut! She needs a head doctor, not a foot doctor. Now that she's involved me, what should I do?" HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You've done all you can. You've listened to your daughter, and given her some sound advice. The rest is up to her. (Nice man, this phoning foot doctor.) He's a foot doctor, he's in a shape—(the better to walk out on her husband.)

DEAR ABBY: Every time my husband is near a pencil and a piece of paper, he scribbles his name all over it, I cannot keep a scratch pad near the phone without his ruining it in this manner.

I have had several different opinions as to why he does this. I will believe yours. Can you tell me why a man writes his name on every piece of paper he sees?

Thank you.
FROM TEXAS

DEAR ABBY: Most people when there is a pencil and a scratch pad handy, will doodle. It's normal.

The fact that your husband writes his name all over it, probably consistently could mean: (a) he has an identity problem; or (b) he has NO identity problem.

It's not serious, so quit collecting opinions about a hapless little habit, and lay in an ample supply of scratch pads. Or use the backs of old envelopes and/or butcher paper.

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 years old and I am still a virgin. My problem: Every time a guy tries to get something off me, I turn him down, he starts saying dirty rumors about me saying I gave in. I live in a small town where people like to run their mouths.

How come boys never talk about the girls they get something off, but they make-up lies about the girls who won't give in?

How can a nice girl save her reputation from trash like that?

DEAR NICE: Stay "nice," and don't worry about what anybody says. The kind of people who matter don't listen to trash. And the other kind don't matter.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

"Haste makes waste" is a fine old maxim that bridge players should keep in mind.

South couldn't wait to put dummy's ace of hearts on the table. This gave him the first trick, but lost him the contract because he had to lose the diamonds and a club.

A little thought before playing to the first trick would have told South that he should have let West hold the first trick.

West would continue hearts—South would win the second heart and discard a club. Then he would play two rounds of trumps and stop so as to leave a trump entry to dummy. Three rounds of clubs would come next. He would ruff the third, go to dummy with dummy's last trump, discard a diamond on the 13th club and finally lead a diamond toward his king.

This would give him an overtrick if East held the ace; but with that card resting comfortably in the West hand, South would just make his contract. That is certainly a lot better than going down.

More fertilizer predicted for 1975

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fertilizer supplies will be bigger next year but may still fall short of demand as farmers continue to push for expanded crop production, an administration committee told Congress Wednesday.

Fertilizer, prices, meanwhile, have zoomed beyond all government expectations and are still rising. Spokesmen for the interagency task force on fertilizer told a Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D.

The panel testified that nitrogen fertilizer supplies for the 1974-75 marketing season, covering 1975 crops, the committee predicted total fertilizer supplies will go up another 8 per cent. But experts said that if crop prices remain strong, demand could rise another 3 per cent and buyers will continue to find supplies tight with prices high and shortages in some areas.

For the 1974-75 marketing season, covering 1975 crops, the committee predicted total fertilizer supplies will go up another 8 per cent. But experts

CHICAGO (UPI) — The state chemist says he found the same insecticide in Weber County's dead bees that was used to kill grasshoppers at Hill Air Force Base.

But Kent Francis says it will take additional tests to prove that the chemical, about "Sevin" killed the bees.

"It looks like Sevin is there," the chemist said. "But I want to go back and have another look."

Weber County bee keepers say they suffered $300,000 damage when most of their honey bees suddenly died last week. The bees began dying several hours after the Air Force sprayed "Sevin" to kill grasshoppers.

Choosy Bean Bugger

There are good bugs and bad bugs in every bean field. And DYLUX selective insecticide knows the difference. It delivers a quick cleanup of western and variegated cutworms, armyworms, Mexican bean beetles, lygus bugs and stink bugs. But it doesn't wipe out populations of beneficial predators and pollinators, when used as directed. Help the good bugs help you. Let them "police" your bean fields until "bad" bugs get the upper hand. Then treat your beans with DYLUX Liquid Solution or Soluble Powder. DYLUX will knock out the bad bugs quickly. But the good bugs will continue to multiply and give you extra insect control that doesn't cost a cent.

That's DYLUX, the choosy bean bugger, in the packages with the Blue Bullseye. Look for it at your chemical dealer's Chemagro Division of Baychem Corporation, Box 4913, Kansas City, Missouri 64120.

No progress in strike

HEYBURN — J. R. Simplot officials said this morning that "no substantial progress" had been made in recent negotiations with the striking union.

Negotiation teams from the company and the American Federation of Grain Millers Union met Wednesday in Boise in an attempt to settle the strike which began at the Caldwell and Heyburn processing plants May 2.

Company spokesman William Maxwell said today that no date had been set for further negotiations and that there was no indication of an end to the strike at this time.

Investigators from the National Labor Relations Board are currently investigating charges of unfair labor practices which have been filed by both the union and the company against each other.

Arraignment stated in TF

TWIN FALLS — A man who allegedly escaped from the Oregon State Prison in Salem two years ago was arrested by Twin Falls County and Federal Bureau of Investigation officers Thursday afternoon.

Floyd Wayne Whitewater, 29, was scheduled for arraignment in magistrate court here today and FBI officials say he has waived extradition to Oregon to face the escape charge.

Information from Robert Evans, Butte, Mont., agent in charge of the FBI Idaho and Montana district, indicates the suspect escaped May 7, 1972, and was only recently traced to this area.

He was arrested in the South Hills area where he has been working in a timber cutting project. Officers said he was not armed when arrested, but had several guns in his camp.

Evans said the man was confined in the Oregon prison on a conviction of receiving and concealing stolen property. Bond of $25,000 was reduced to $5,000 today.

Kidwell talks in Blackfoot

BLACKFOOT (UPI) — Attorney General Candidate Wayne Kidwell said Thursday there was no obligation to the private land owner to give him as much freedom as the law allows.

Kidwell, a Republican, told the audience that he was critical of the attitude of those people who wish to have property in Idaho free of attempts to find ways for the government to take even more of it away from the individual landowner.

Court favors wife

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court has ruled in favor of a wife suing her husband's employer for injuries she suffered in the company car driven by her spouse.

The high court overruled District Judge Willard C. Burton, who had said Betty Rogers could not recover damages from her husband — Peter's employer — because of "interspersed immunity."

The majority opinion written by Justice Joseph McFadden said Mrs. Rogers could recover damages from Yellowstone Park Company because any such recovery would become community property shared with her husband.

Convoy search continues

SANDPOINT (Idaho TCP) — We intend to bring them back here sooner or later, Sheriff Robert Wilcox said Thursday as the search for the fugitive triplets in a creek area north of here for an escaped convict and two companions entered its third day.

Banner County sheriff's deputies and federal agents are looking for the triplets in a canyon area north of Sandpoint. Alexander, 23, North Hollywood, Calif., who helped William L. Aze, 24, Springfield, Ohio, escape from the county jail Monday.

State warrants, asking bond for each of the men be set at $100,000, were issued Wednesday.

Warrants, against Aze with escape and O'Donnally and Alexander with assault with a deadly weapon and riding an escapee.

Wilcox said the trio is believed to be using false names.

Party without candidates

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Peoples Party, which appeared on the 1972 ballots as the Peace and Freedom Party, will appear on primary election ballots in the state without listing a single candidate.

Idaho law provides that a party can retain ballot status by having three or more candidates listed for state or national office under the party name in the previous general election.

Chief Deputy Secretary of State Jerry Hill said the organizers of the party in 1972 apparently were not organized as a state central committee in 1974.

An opinion from the Attorney General's office said the party should be given ballot status in this election.

Drilling to start

By Ed Mitchell, Times-News Writer

MAITFA — Drilling of a big geothermal well in southern Cassia County may begin Oct. 1.

According to Edwin Schender, president of Hatfield River Electric Co-op, Oct. 1 has been set as the target date to begin drilling in the bridge area. Schender said that an exploration team from the Colorado School of Mines has completed one set of tests in the area and will return in about a week for further tests.

The team is attempting to determine where the geothermal fault line which brings hot water to the surface is located.

About 1,800 feet of high pressure steel well casing is being delivered to Maitfa in preparation for drilling at the Hatfield River geothermal project.

A area public utilities and rural electric companies are participating in the project. About $150,000 will be invested in testing by the Northwest Power Association to which the local utilities belong.

Schender said, "Everyone is convinced the potential is here now and we think the reservoir (geothermally heated water) is pretty big."

The 104 public owned utilities in the northwest belong to the Northwest Power Association.

Breakfast aroma fills park

Chuck wagon event held

TWIN FALLS — Over 500 people were served at the YV-YWCA's 11th annual Chuck Wagon Breakfast today at the city park.

Proceeds from the breakfast will help the YWCA and YWCA plan and develop new programs this fall. In recent years, girls tumbling, boys wrestling, the Vetterlein contest, and model building programs were started with "seed money" from the breakfast.

"It is expected that the YWCA's portion of this year's profits will be used to launch a flag football or soccer program in the fall.

The YWCA will determine the use of its share of the profits at a program committee meeting Monday.

Donald E. Tracy, 38, and sons, Dean, 14, and Darrell, 10, were attempting to take off from a pasture in North Cassia 100 when the plane hit a tree.

The accident occurred at about 320 South and 465 West. Minidoka County sheriff's officers arrived at the scene at about 8:45 a.m. shortly after the accident occurred.

Sheriff's deputies estimated the loss at about $10,000.

TF girl hurt in accident

TWIN FALLS — Kathy Dyer, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dyer, was listed in serious condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital this morning with injuries suffered in an accident Thursday night.

Eden slates bond election

IDEN — The mayor of Eden Wednesday said bond elections will be called to assure completion of the city's municipal water project.

Mayor James Lidlow made the decision after a special public meeting Wednesday. A majority of residents at the meeting favored a bond election.

The city is faced with the choice of raising water user rates or holding the bond election to complete the project, the "magic hole" the residents.

All possibilities for a federal grant for the water project have been exhausted. Lidlow said. The city has applied without success for grants from the Environmental Protection Agency and the Federal Housing Administration and for a grant-in-aid agreement.

To complete the project, the city must raise water user rates substantially or hold a bond election. Rates would also be increased if a bond election were held, but not substantially.

The FHA has told the city council a 50-year, 1 per cent loan is available to the city if it holds a successful bond election. Lidlow said.

Rates will increase about $2.40 from $1.10 to $3.40 a month, a jump of more than 50 per cent, if the bond issue passes.

The city has committed $13,700 for the new tank, new pump, pump house, removal of the old tank, plumbing, electrical work and other work now in progress.

Nearly $60,000 in additional funds must be raised to complete the $72,000 water project. Water lines which are too small, corroded or worn must be replaced. In some cases, fire hydrants need replacement to improve fire protection capabilities.

Already completed is the removal of the old tank, except for the basement legs. The new, 50,000 gallon redwood tank is assembled, but still needs to be raised on legs.

Tax exemption eyed on bonds for AF dam

BOISE — The Internal Revenue Service is considering tax exemption for the bonds to be sold to finance construction of the new American Falls Dam.

Tax exemption, if granted, could cut reservoir spacheider repayment costs by as much as one-third. Exemption would also improve the marketability of the bonds.

State Sen. John A. Barker, R-Blair, who is president of the board of directors of the American Falls Reservoir District, led a seven-man delegation to Washington, D.C., Tuesday and Wednesday for discussion of tax exemption with IRS officials.

Barker said today the IRS committed itself to specifying action on the exemption for the bonds and could have a decision in three to four weeks.

The Idaho delegation included members of the American Falls Association board, IRS attorney for the reservoir district, an engineer involved in the design of the dam and an Idaho official of the Bureau of Reclamation, which will administer the dam.

Also attending the meetings were Sen. Frank Cameron, Sen. James McInerney, Rep. Steve Symms and representatives from the offices of Gov. Cecil Andrus and Rep. Orval Hansen. Barker said.

"Basically, the philosophy of the government at the moment is not to allow tax exemption, Barker said. He said that the IRS may develop an exception for the bonds if the dam will be built despite the fact it is being built with private funding.

A second concern of IRS officials, Barker said, was that the new dam would require any changes in major over the present dam. He called this a "major" improvement project that is establishing that the proposed dam would be a replacement and not an added and fundamentally changed dam.

Barker said Idaho Power Co., which has $200 million in bonds to build the dam, "repayment" costs in return for "power" generation rights at the site, was not represented at the Washington meetings.

Barker said his delegation pointed out to the IRS that when the original dam was built in 1922, the bonds used to finance construction were tax exempt.

"We don't think that there's any difference in what was done in 1922 and what we will do in 1974," he said.

He said it was noted that the original dam was built to last "for years" and due to structural weaknesses beyond spaceholders control had lasted only 50 years.

If tax exempt status is granted, Barker said, it could cut average spaceholders payback costs to about $1 per acre foot over the 30-year payback period, as opposed to a $1.50 per acre foot cost if tax exemption is not granted.

Marketability of the bonds would also be enhanced by tax exemption, Barker said. Tax exemption plus the backing of the bonds in rural Magic Valley property would "certainly" make the bonds a very excellent bond," he said.

He said no bond rating has yet been assigned to the bonds, possibly because the tax exempt status remains unknown. All that is required to make the bonds tax exempt, he said, is an administrative ruling by the IRS.

Construction of the dam will probably start in January or February of 1975, Barker said. While he said it would have been better to begin construction in November to assure the dam's completion over the winter, he added that adverse effects to water users would be minimized.

Hopefully, he said, the construction project will be run so not as to affect delivery of any available water.

Work begins on library

Work begins on library

TWIN FALLS — Construction has started on a $250,000 addition to the Twin Falls Public Library.

The addition will be a three-story structure with 9,000 square feet of space to allow expansion and improvement of library services. It is being located just east of the existing building and has been in planning stages for several years.

Arlan Call, librarian, said the new facility may be ready for occupancy by February. Nielsen Construction Co. is the builder for the addition.

One of the features of the building will be a complete service to handicapped persons. Call said there will be an elevator at the ground level to take patrons to each of the three floors.

Closure looms

HAILEY — Blaine County public swimming pools not meeting state safety requirements still be closed next week, Dave Dingman, a state health official, said Thursday.

Dingman said the state health department is attempting to clean up all public pools including condominium pools which he considers public. He said he has revisited all pools since the initial warning last month and very few have completely complied with the requests.

Dingman has ordered the Hatwatha Hotel pool closed and said he is on the verge of closing several others.

About 40 pools in Blaine County are under his jurisdiction and only 9 have been issued permits certifying their safety, he said.

Those who have complied are Sun Valley Lodge and hot pools and the Olympic pool at Elburn. In addition, pools at Val de Sol, Bald Mountain Hot Springs, Tyronean, Wildwood Inn, Heidelberg Inn and Sun and Powder condominiums have been issued safety certificates.

Dingman said he has had no complaints from pool owners or managers. Pool operators according to Dingman are waiting until they are pressured before acting on the permit recommendations.

Permits required around many pools was erected "in a hurry," Dingman said. Sanitation was a problem in some pools but the biggest problem, Dingman said, was disregard for required depth markings.

Dingman said the requirement was probably the easiest to adjust to but few owners have done it.

Injunctions will be placed against pools within five days of receipt of formal letters to be mailed today and Saturday if regulations are not met, he said.

Complaint filed

HAILEY — A complaint charging involuntary manslaughter has been filed against James A. Dixon, Hailey, in the death of John Toner, last week.

The complaint charges that Dixon "unlawfully and feloniously but without malice" killed Toner. Toner, Ketchum, was killed in a two-vehicle accident between Ketchum and Hailey July 16.

Toner's vehicle collided head-on with one driven by Dixon.

The complaint, filed by State Prosecutor Jim Sanders, investigating officer, claims "Dixon drove his pickup in an unlawful, negligent, heedless, reckless and careless manner, with gross negligence and without due caution."

EXCAVATION is underway on a new 9,000 square-foot addition for the Twin Falls Public Library. Inspecting the start of the project are Dr. Stephen Lincoln, vice chairman of the library board; Arlan Call, librarian; Robert Paine, chairman of the board, and Richard Heindel, architect, all from left.

Some cynics suspect arson by owners, blaming the gasoline shortage plus inflation. Maybe so. Early in this century, fire insurance in New York City was issued with little or no investigation. So many burnings broke out that the desperate fire department tried a trick: It furnished a room with $3.95 worth of property. And firemen in plain clothes managed to get it insured for $127,500.

Still's 65 leads Canada open by one

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market opened mixed in moderate trading Friday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off a bit at 294.82, shortly after the opening. But advanced declines, 133 to 79, among the 316 issues crossing the tape.

Volume amounted to around 330,000 shares.

Investors were encouraged last Thursday by the report from the Federal Reserve Board business loan demands on New York's 12 lending banks dropped by $239 million in the past week, the first decline in seven weeks. This reported, generally, has an effect on interest rates which have been rising.

In light of this development, First National City Bank of New York, second largest in the nation, left its prime rate that charged key corporate customers at 12 per cent.
