By BILL LAZARUS, Times News writer. The Boise area is Idaho Power Company's preferred site for a proposed coal-fired generating plant...

airport for location of a huge coal-fired generating plant. No preferences were mentioned. But according to Robert Krumm, Boise district manager for the BLM, Idaho Power staff members a week and a half ago suggested to the federal agency that the Boise location would be preferable.

During the meeting between the BLM and Idaho Power, the power company staff reported that the Jim Briggs plant in Wyoming has put pressures on the nearby town of Rock Springs he said. 'The whole town just seemed to be kind of ringed with trailer courts' and schools were overcrowded, Krumm said.

BLM State Director William Mathews said, adding that findings of an environmental impact study being made now may cause the power company to decide on another site. But Mathews said that at the meeting 'collectively their staff members expressed a preference' for the Boise site.

current studies are completed, he said. Idaho Power President James Bruce said he does not know Idaho Power's preference for a plant site. 'That's what we hired a consulting firm for,' he said, maintaining that such a decision will not be made until factors such as the environmental impact, the availability of water and the stability of the ground have been thoroughly studied.

today in brief

Debate starts Aug. 19

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's impeachment — now considered likely by friend and foe alike — will be debated in the House starting Aug. 19, will be carried on radio and television and will come to a vote between Aug. 28 and Aug. 31, according to House leaders.

Nixon's strength since UPI polled the House in January. 'A total of 164 members were committed to or leaned toward a vote to impeach. Opponents of those who leaned against impeachment numbered 42 and there were 180 undecided and 39 unwilling to comment.'

Another Republican, Rep. Charles W. Whalen Jr. of Ohio, said such decision by Rhodes would have 'a profound effect on all the members — liberals, conservatives, whatever.' Rhodes is a conservative and close to Vice President Gerald R. Ford's predecessor.

Demos attack House censure plan. WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican supporters of President Nixon have proposed a fast-track plan to save him from impeachment.

Northside spectator area given tentative OK

By CRICKET BIRD, Times News writer. JEROME — State and federal officials tentatively have approved use of northside land near Evel Knievel's landing area for large crowds, big-time entertainment and concessions.

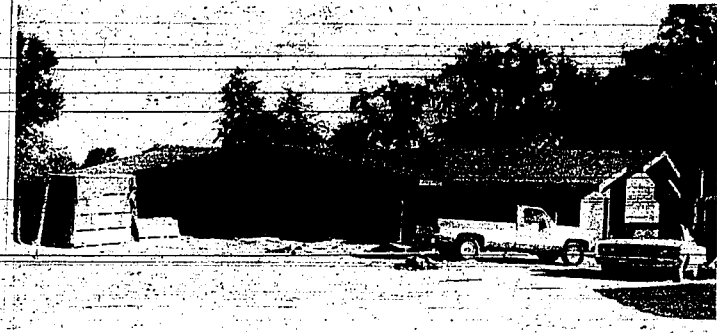

Thacker and Associates, William Scribner, bureau chief for the Department of Public Lands, declined the final decision on granting the permit to Thacker and opening the land rests with the State Land Board, which meets Tuesday.

US jobless rate up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's unemployment rate rose slightly in July to 5.3 per cent of the labor force, the government reported today. The rate in June was 5.2 per cent and such small increases as the 0.1 per cent rise in July are generally regarded as statistically insignificant.

NOW under construction in Jerome is this 110,000 medical professional building which will accommodate four doctors when completed. It is located behind St. Benedict's Hospital.

Chimney stuck

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — John Lopez, 24, was locked out of his parents home after midnight so he slid down the chimney. He didn't make it. Firemen worked two hours to pump him back up the chimney with a jack after he was caught, inches from success, just above the damper early Tuesday. "I couldn't believe it," said Fire Capt. Ron Lane. "I looked in from the top and all I could see was his head. And from the bottom all I could see were two feet wiggling."

Surgeon joins hospital staff

JEROME — A new surgeon has joined the staff of St. Benedict's Hospital. Dr. James R. Babcock has opened temporary offices at the front of the hospital and is temporarily using the emergency rooms. Babcock is a native Idahoan, born and raised in Pocatello and attended school there, according to a news release from St. Benedict's Hospital. He graduated from the University of Utah Medical School and interned at the San Francisco General Hospital and completed his residency in general surgery at the University of Utah Medical Center. Dr. Babcock will occupy office space in the new Professional Building which is now under construction behind the hospital. Construction on the center was started in early May and the building is not expected to be completed until late August. When completed the center will have office space for four doctors. The center became a reality through the efforts of employees at St. Benedict's and is estimated to cost $12,000. Leon Feider, hospital administrator, said efforts are under way by the hospital to have "a complete staff of doctors at the center by the time it is completed. At the present time Jerome has only four doctors.

State employees legal aid asked

BOISE (UPI) — State employees charged with criminal negligence should have the protection of legal counsel provided by the state, the general counsel for the State Employees' Association said Thursday. William C. Roden, Boise, said state employees "should be insured of a fair trial and an adequate defense regardless of the outcome of a trial. They should have the backing of the department to that extent during the trial." Roden said, "How can an employee carrying $200 to $200 a month hire adequate defense counsel?" Roden said the state provides public defenders for his indigent regardless of guilt. "Innocence and asked, 'Why shouldn't state employees, under such circumstances, be given state assistance?'" His comments were made before the attorney general's office released a letter to the Department of Health and Welfare saying seven state employees are not entitled to state financial legal assistance until they have been acquitted of charges dismissed. "The employees are charged with criminal negligence because of the death of Jeff Hodgson," he said. "Hodgson, who became lost on a state-sponsored survival outing. Roden said he was very concerned about the opinion from the attorney general's office because of the precedent it sets for state employees in the future. "The problem with state government is that we operate so many enterprises that are dangerous to state hospitals, St. Anthony, the prison and the state police," he said. "They all are situations which could potentially give rise to allegations of negligence by the people they are supervising," he said. "I don't see how fair it is to ask the employees to place themselves in those positions if we are going to say to them if they get into trouble that we are going to help them only if they can persuade 12 members of a jury that they were right." He said he agreed with the major portion of the attorney general's opinion that compensation would be provided only in cases involving negligence instead of just any criminal offense. Charges of embezzlement, murder and burglary would come from their employment, he said. "I do worry about the state police that if they have to shoot someone in the process of an arrest, depending on the emotion of the case, a prosecuting attorney could say that they would prosecute the police for murder," Roden said.

Freight stolen at bus depot in TF

TWIN FALLS — City police reported the theft of two packages of freight from the loading ramp at the Union Bus Depot sometime early today. One of the boxes contained a quantity of heavy springs for farm implements and the other contained merchandise as yet unknown as the shipping ticket also was taken. City police said the items came in aboard a bus and were not immediately taken into the office. A resident in the 500 block of Fourth Avenue North called the police department today to report the springs had been thrown in the alley behind her home. Investigation is continuing. A city police officer patrolling alleys Thursday night discovered a large piece of concrete had been thrown through a rear window of the Bowl and Board on Main Avenue West. Owner of the business was contacted and said he could find nothing missing from the building. Myers said he had talked to SNRA supervisor Gray Reynolds earlier this year and told him the building and site was inappropriate. Many residents have banded together in opposing the building. Some have urged the US Forest Service to move the building farther north in an open space to leave the 60-acre site untouched. However, crews have already dug long trenches and began laying sewer pipe. Malone said three other areas were studied as possible sites. TF driver charged

TWIN FALLS — James A. Kennedy, 20, Twin Falls, was charged with driving while intoxicated and a hit-and-run accident following Thursday night following two accidents investigated by Twin Falls City Police. City officers said they received a report of a hit-and-run accident in a parking lot shortly before 9:30 p.m. At 9:30 p.m. a second accident was reported at the North-Five Polys Intersection. Officers said a vehicle driven by Kennedy collided with rear of one operated by Paul Elliot Grace, 25, Twin Falls. Officers said Grace was stopped on Blue Lake Boulevard at spotlight when the accident occurred. There were no injuries.

Yardsticks listed

(See related story p. 20) BOISE (UPI) — The president of Idaho Power Co. said Thursday the real yardstick by which each company's performance should be measured is its net income in relation to its plant investment. James Bruce made the statement in response to the Boise Coalition's charge that Idaho Power makes profits far in excess of those made by other power companies. Bruce said the coalition overlooked the net income factor in its charge. He said Idaho Power's plant investment is higher than other companies because of its now all-hydro system and customer sparsity.

At the present time, Bruce said, the company has over $7 of investment for every $1 of revenue. "That," he said, "is nearly double the investment of other companies serving more congested areas of every $1 of revenue they receive." "If a true comparison is made of net income as a percent of net plant," Bruce said, "it will be found that Idaho Power is in the bottom half of the major utility companies." The coalition had made its charges in a brief filed with the Idaho Public Utilities Commission which is currently considering a rate hike for Idaho Power Co.

Not firemen TWIN FALLS — A picture Thursday showed Twin Falls policemen wielding a fire hose, not firemen as the caption claimed. The policemen were helping firemen in a practice session for a "make or break" hose contest and had been trained several times in Twin Falls Saturday. The Times-News regrets the error.

NRA facility work nets complaints

By BART QUENESSL Times-News writer KETCHUM — The Sawtooth National Recreation Area has begun construction on a new administration building Tuesday amid growing citizen complaints.

The 60-acre building site is located about seven miles north of Ketchum east of US Highway 93 where the north fork of Wood River pours into its main channel. According to SNRA planner Norm Malone, the site was selected after considerable research and public participation. Malone said the SNRA had received no adverse comments until a month ago when he appeared before a Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce meeting. Malone was asked to present the plan for the building at the meeting after which residents of the Wood River Valley told him of the undesirability of the location. The building site — approximately 20 per cent of the 60 acres — according to Malone is practically bare-of-trees.

However, many trees and bushes the US 93 and the area where the building is to be placed. Residents have complained of removing Obidian residents while at the same time building in a natural, lush vegetative area. Malone said the administrative visitor center is to be 12,000 square feet. The exterior of the building, with peaks rising 27 feet into the air, was designed, Malone said, to appear as a "mountain rising from out of the ground." Ketchum architect Dick Myers said the design is contrary to SNRA objectives. Myers said the building was designed with total Sawtooth influence, "putting" man-made structures in the area.

"Buildings should make people feel good and happy," Myers said. "They should not dominate the human being." Myers said. Myers said the building was shocking and created an immediate domination over visitors passing into the region. He said US Rep. Ovalton Hansen expressed concern over the problem and dissatisfaction with the building. Myers said he had talked to SNRA supervisor Gray Reynolds earlier this year and told him the building and site was inappropriate. Many residents have banded together in opposing the building. Some have urged the US Forest Service to move the building farther north in an open space to leave the 60-acre site untouched. However, crews have already dug long trenches and began laying sewer pipe.

Malone said three other areas were studied as possible sites. Land in Ketchum-Bureau of Land Management lands between Ketchum and North Fork and a site one-half mile north of the site selected. Ketchum land values were too high, there was not enough room in Ketchum for all facilities planned and parking circulation in Ketchum would be poor, Malone said. There was limited BLM space and what was available did not aesthetically "lend itself" to particular sites to SNRA objectives. Malone said the third site north of the present site could not meet state sewage standards. He said the water table in the area was too high and did not allow the required four feet between buried pipe and the water table. He said the residents of the Sawtooth Valley and its inhabitants to perpetuate their own obscurity upon the upper reaches of the Wood River Valley.

"It is literally evident the residents of the Sawtooth Valley and to simultaneously propose this headquarters Blight is nothing less than sheer governmental hypocrisy." Malone said last week in a press statement superintendent Gray Reynolds had said because of the planning and money involved in the site selection it was too late to relocate.

Malone said the building was to be a "low profile building." He said the visitor center would be on the first floor, offices on the second and open space with no use in the top half of 77 feet, ending in a 45 degree crescendo. In addition, a warehouse and two vehicles storage sheds will be built on the site. "The whole complex will have an architectural continuity," Malone said. "It has been very well analyzed from a planning point of view."

Malone said the site was selected for the southern part of the SNRA because 50 per cent of the summer tourist population and 80 per cent of the winter population enter from the south. An environmental impact statement was not prepared before the building site was selected, he said. An environmental analysis report which does not involve printing in the National Register was prepared. The report said the site offers some early winter range for a few elk and deer, Malone said. He added from the analysis "the present administrative site could result in minor conflicts with deer and elk."

It would also displace some small rodents and mammals, the report read. Malone said the report stated "no animal droppings were found on the building site although there is some feces among the aspens that line the gorge fork of Big Wood River running near the site." Malone said an environmental impact statement was prepared only when the project would be an issue of controversy or substantially in an area. He said several field trips with citizens from the local region and meetings across the state were held. In addition, he said, the new site location was listed in the SNRA objective and analysis booklet released in April this year. Two bitter opponents to the building site have written letters to local newspapers. Hildegard Raeber, Ketchum, writes, "Why can't the free literature, maps, information, etc. be given out at the present forest service buildings? Why is it necessary to build a village for $800,000 with some 30 employees on the payroll, with no revenue whatsoever, coming in to justify such expense?" BOULEVARD TRAIL SERVICE and the SNRA are financed by our tax money," Raeber said. James Desoyers, Ketchum, in agreement with SNRA management policy is staunchly opposed to the building site. "The forest service has declared an end to the obscenity of Obidian in the Sawtooth Valley and then turns around and wishes to perpetuate their own obscurity upon the upper reaches of the Wood River Valley. "It is literally evident the residents of the Sawtooth Valley and to simultaneously propose this headquarters Blight is nothing less than sheer governmental hypocrisy."

Idahoans to pick nominees for 105 seats in legislature on Tuesday

BOISE (UPI)—Some old scores may be settled and some new ones created Tuesday when Idahoans pick nominees for all 105 seats in the State Legislature.

Probably the most discussed race in the state is in Pocostello's District 3 where some disgruntled constituents have tried to recall one of the incumbents for nearly two years.

No sooner was the ink dry on her election certificate two years ago than did the campaign begin against Rep. Patricia Mc Dermott, D-Pocostello.

Chief among the gripes against this legislator was the fact she had voted to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and then refused to recede her action.

Miss Mc Dermott led the ticks, two years ago and despite the campaign against her the past two years is expected to do so again.

That puts the race for the nomination to the other seat tantamount to election in Democratic Pocostello among incumbent Wayne Loveless, former Rep. Perry Swisher and Craig La Chance.

Loveless, who like Miss Mc Dermott is an attorney, is a conservative Democrat and poles apart from Miss Mc Dermott. Swisher, who has a "jerk bar" at home, is a former Republican who filled in for Miss Mc Dermott early in the last session and then switched parties.

La Chance, 29, is chairman of the legislative district. He ran two years ago for a legislative seat and lost.

Clear across the state in District 1 a former Congressman is running against a popular hard-working school teacher and may find himself in a real horse race for state senator.

Compton I. White Jr., Clark Fork, whose father served in congress before him, served two terms. Compton is now in the nation's capital. He is running against Kenneth V. Kiebert, Hope, for the nomination.

Former state Sen. Art Manley and Bliss O. Dignall Jr., both Coeur d'Alene, are in a tight battle for the Democratic nomination in District 2. Manley has the edge in the contest to try to unseat Republican incumbent Ivan Hanson in November.

Martin Stacey, who runs a shop at Coeur d'Alene, is trying to oust incumbent Sen. C.C. Chase, a St. Maries auto dealer, from the senate in District 3. Chase, because of his solid St. Maries base and Stacey's strong environmental stand, is favored.

With veteran Harold Snow retiring there are two candidates for the Republican nomination in District 2. Democrat Norma Dohler of Moscow appears assured of renomination and political science professor Robert Hosack of Moscow appears to have the edge on student David S. Abbott for the berth.

Rep. Leo Biles of Orofino is calling it quits after one term and Rep. Claude Judd, Orofino, is running unopposed for the seat.

Three seek Democratic nomination to their posts in District 7. Lester V. Clemm of Troy seems to have the inside track on one while Carl P. Braun and Alderton Eason, both of Orofino, are jousting for the other.

Reps. Dale Branson of Nez Perce and Harold Reid of Craigmont have opposition for the Democratic nominations in District 8. But their one opponent, Clifford Allen of Lapwai, appears to have blown his chances by alienating the farm vote.

There are after two Republican nominations for the house from District 9. Incumbent Herb Fitz of New Meadows seems assured of one and it's a tossup between Morgah Munger of Oia and Paul E. Shepherd of Garden Valley for the other. Whoever wins must contend with former Rep. Walter Carr of Emmet, a Democrat determined to make a comeback.

Reps. Walter Little, New Plymouth and George Danielson of Cambridge have opposition from Lauritz Christensen of Fruitland in the GOP primary in District 10 but both seem to be safe.

Sen. W. Dean Abraham of Caldwell is opposed by Warren Trunnell of Wilder, a deputy prosecutor, in the GOP primary in District 11 but is expected to win.

Dr. David Weeks of Boise is making a strong bid against veteran Sen. Edith Miller Klein for Boise for the Republican nomination in District 15.

But the real battle in Ada County are in District 16 where Christopher R. Hooper and Harold W. Halter Jr., both Boise, are out to dump Sen. Lyle Cobbs in the GOP primary.

And the house race is even wilder—with Reps. Paul Worthen and Bill Onweiler on a peace ticket, county Commissioner John Bastida and former House Chief Clerk Beth Fitzwater. All are from Boise.

District 17 also has some action with Chairman H. Dean Summers of the Senate State Affairs Committee opposed in the GOP primary by well-known newspaper columnist Dick D'Easum.

In the House, Majority Leader H. Ferd Koch and Rep. E. D. Copple must get by Killy, Gurnsey, Three seek the Democratic nod, including Ron J. Twilgar, Roger Williams and Susan Hill, all are from Boise.

Prosecutor James Risch of Boise is trying to do in Sen. Richard Dave Eskelin of Boise for the GOP nomination in district 18. Peter L. Hirschberg of Boise also is running.

In District 19, Veteran Sen. Walter Yarnum of Grand View has opposition in the Republican primary from Ormond E. Howell of Meridian.

Reps. Ray Infanger of Salmon and Wayne E. Tibbitts of Lorenow are expected to win GOP renomination in district 20 over student Mary Morris.

Rep. of Salmon, Infanger could be vulnerable to a Democratic Noah Hancock of Rplby in the general election.

Sen. J. Wilson Stigot of Glenns Ferry is expected to survive the Republican primary against Leo Cline of Mountain Home in District 22.

Senate Reps. Virgil L. Kraus of Mountain Home and Leo Biron of Corral against Dan Kelly of Mountain Home. But former Rep. Karl Koch, a give Barron a good run in November.

Joe McCollum, Twin Falls, a former president of the State Board of Education and appointed to finish the term of the late Ray Lincoln, has a good chance of the GOP House nomination in District 25. But Rep. Ralph Olmstead of Twin Falls has some stiff opposition from T. W. Stevens and E. J. Morgan of Twin Falls for the other nomination.

In District 33, Rep. Lester Hartvigsen, D-Malden, is running against Richard A. May, a Pocostello businessman, for the Democratic Senatorial nomination. Sen. John Evans of Malad is vouching the post in run for lieutenant governor. Hartvigsen has the edge.

With Rep. John Eyre, D-Pocostello, withdrawing, the Democratic race for both seats in that district is wide open. Of the four running, James Alford of Swan Lake and Beverly Bistline of Pocostello seem to have the edge.

Murphy predicts strong GOP support in primary

United Press International

A Republican candidate for governor says he is convinced next Tuesday's primary election in Idaho will leave the GOP with the "strongest ticket in the West."

Lieutenant Governor Jack Murphy told a Republican picnic in Boise he was convinced after the election the Republican Party will have "the strongest ticket we've had for years and that ticket will go down the road to a sweeping victory in November."

Murphy said he also had teamed during the campaign people realize there must be Republican leaders "if we are to begin making a dent in the problems we face."

A committee for the reelection of Sen. Frank Church, Idaho, reported contributions to the senator's campaign totaled $2745,72. The Idaho for Church Committee also said $72,807 had been expended.

The Citizens for Andrus Committee also reported the amount of contributions to his campaign.

Rep. Charles W. Carr of Humphrey said $102,251 had been contributed.

In other campaign activities, Democratic lieutenant governor candidate Neil Solberg suggested the big game season should be shortened and special hunts should be limited to special areas. He also suggested rotation of game to be hunted every year so that no one area is hunted more than once every two years.

Republican attorney general candidate Wayne Kidwell said if elected he would provide working policemen and sheriffs with a layover manual instead of confusing them with legal opinions.

Hope Kadane, a Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, told Idaho voters in Sun Valley they must be willing to stick their necks out and take the responsibility of solving educational problems.

Also in Sun Valley, Democratic congressional candidate Max Hanson said one of the first pieces of legislation he will introduce, if elected, is an election reform bill.

Democratic public instruction superintendent candidate Roy Truby called for expanded vocational programs to provide usable skills for more than 80 per cent of Idaho's young people who do not graduate from college.

Republican congressional candidate George Hansen questioned the wisdom of the federal government's economic policies. "If you applied the principles of the federal government's economic policies to your own finances, you'd soon be bankrupt—and the national debt of $195.2 billion makes Uncle Sam look pretty sick too," he said.

Leon Olson, Democratic candidate for the Senate, accused Church of being party to the biggest give-away of the century in Hells Canyon. He said Church stated during his 1956 campaign, "It's stupid to build small dams in big canyons" and then changed his mind.

Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said erosion of the confidence in the president is weakening the battle to control inflation.

90 million watched impeachment 'show'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—About 90 million television viewers—41 per cent of the American public—watched the House Judiciary Committee impeachment hearing and its new opening that television also will show the House floor debate and a Senate trial, if necessary.

House leaders agreed informally Thursday to allow live television coverage of the House debate tentatively scheduled to begin Aug. 19 and end Aug. 31.

There was a general feeling in favor of greater live coverage, said Rep. Bill Anderson, R-Ill., chairman of

Ex-aide primary winner

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Former White House aide Lamar Alexander, who carefully told voters the "Watergate scar" happened after he left the Nixon administration, Thursday won the Republican nomination for governor over two wealthy businessmen.

Alexander, 33, will take on Tom Cray, Democratic congressman-Hayden, 44, who won his party's record 12-man primary handily after a painful hearing from Howard Baker in a bid for Baker's U.S. Senate seat two years ago.

Catholic "Sister" Mary Anne Guthrie, seeking to become the first nun in Congress, was soundly defeated for the Democratic nomination in the 8th Congressional District by state Rep. John Ford.

Ford, a black, will take on John Blanton, Dan Kuykendall in November. Alexander carefully informed voters that his 1969 White House stint under Nixon aide "Bryce Hartwig" was "long, but not the 'Watergate' scar."

He and Blanton will battle for the seat of lame duck Republican Gov. Winfield Dunn. It was Alexander's first political race and added up to an overscheduling victory over Nat Winston, 47, a psychiatrist and former state mental health director, and Dootch, 54, a retired publishing executive.

With 1,977 of the state's 2,297 precincts reported, Alexander had 103,620 votes compared to 74,550 for Winston and 30,816 for Dootch. Blanton had 128,656 to easily lead millionaire Oak Ridge banker Jake Bulcher, 38, with 110,307.

Viet units blunt major Red drive

SAIGON (UPI) — Counterattacking government forces blunted the Communist offensive southwest of Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, today by re-taking four villages and two outposts, a district chief reported.

It was the first government advance since the current fighting. At the same time, however, government forces lost another base in the fighting 47 miles southwest of city, he said.

One Son district chief Major Jinh Son Hung told UPI photographer Lim Thinh Van that local military forces and troops of the 2nd Infantry Division took the villages of Son Lanh, Son Thung, Son Chui and Son Trung late this morning.

Backed by A-7 fighter bombers, the government forces then recaptured Ban Vang and Nui Dal bases nearby, Hung said.

Price boost probe looms
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Investigators have begun to determine whether the food and energy industries violated antitrust laws to drive up prices, the chairman of the Federal Trade Commission said Thursday.

Lewis Engman said at a news conference, "We at least feel there is sufficient reason to believe the lack of a competitive market at certain levels in some of the food industries may be contributing to inflation."

He predicted that within the next few months the FTC may file complaints against the two industries. He also said the agency is planning to look into the health care industry for similar antitrust violations.

CALIFORNIA'S ED REINECKE agrees to yield office

Tax bill includes special interests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee made tentative decisions Thursday that could hold down the price of some beer and cigars, and make more difficult for professional sports teams to sell out and leave town.

The committee faced through a series of last minute additions to its pending tax bill, affecting special interests from the Klamath Indians to small breweries, in an effort to finish the first draft of the bill within 10 days.

The bill, which contains a moderate tax cut for most low and middle income Americans in addition to new advantages for the wealthy, still faces a final drafting session in September, a House vote and Senate consideration before it could go to the President.

One decision made Thursday would cut from $9 to $7 per barrel the excise tax paid on beer by small breweries, those producing less than 2 million barrels a year.

That would amount to an overall $6 million tax cut for the affected breweries.

Cigar companies would get a slightly larger tax cut, $9 million, by placing a ceiling on taxes of 8.12 percent of the wholesale price, not to exceed $30 a thousand.

A major tax loophole that makes the sale of professional sports teams more attractive would be closed under one tentative committee decision.

Appeal key for Reinecke

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Gov. Ed Reinecke convicted of perjury, has agreed to relinquish his office if his appeal proves fruitless.

His decision came in spite of a warning from California Attorney General Evelle J. Younger that Reinecke's every act threatens to bring "trauma" to the state as long as he remains lieutenant governor.

Gov. Ronald Reagan meanwhile mounted a full scale search for a replacement. It would be the second time the Republican governor made an appointment to the state's No. 2 constitutional office.

The phased Reinecke from Congress in 1969 as his bid to be appointed California's Robert Flinch, who had joined the Nixon administration.

Press Secretary Clyde Washburn said Reagan was actively calling Republicans and had "talked to many, many people."

Speculation centered on Sen. John L. Harmer of Glendale, the GOP nominee for lieutenant governor in the November general election.

Any replacement would serve until the end of Reinecke's term, Jan. 1975. "Appearing calm and even smiling slightly" for cameras, Reinecke read a 53-word statement to reporters outside his Capitol office Thursday, declaring he would resign once a sentence is imposed. Until then, Reinecke said, he will stay put.

Sentencing on the federal charge is scheduled for August 30, but he asked for a postponement.

Actually, once sentence is passed the lieutenant governor has no choice but to step down, according to an official opinion issued by Younger, a fellow Republican and the state's top legal official.

The "instant" sentence is announced, Younger said, "the lieutenant governor is out of office and nothing that may happen thereafter will restore him to office."

That means if Reinecke is ousted and his conviction later overturned, he could not return to the $35,000-a-year post.

Reinecke said "Reinecke could challenge the attorney general's opinion, but he will not."

The California Constitution specifically forbids perjurers from holding office.

Besides the formal opinion, Younger sent a letter to Reinecke warning that every significant official act he takes will be the subject of lawsuits.

"As long as you remain in office, the State of California is going to have problems and they're going to be long, drawn out and traumatic," Younger said.

Reinecke testified about telling then Attorney General John Mitchell of an offer by an ITT subsidiary to underwrite the 1972 Republican National Convention.

Reinecke's attorneys moved in court Thursday for a reversal of the conviction on grounds his testimony was "literally true . . . and legally truthful."

And, importantly, they sought a delay in sentencing so more motions could be filed.

Casinos lose

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — The Dorado del Mar Hotel this month became the second luxury hotel in Puerto Rico to close its gambling-casino because of financial losses.

The casino at the Puerto Rico Sheraton Hotel was closed several months ago.

While the casinos several years ago were the biggest profit makers in the hotels, several hotels have reported they have been losing money on the operations. They have asked the government to legalize slot machines to help them out of the financial crisis.

SEASONAL BEAUTY PROBLEMS

By Mary Sue Miller

Numerous specialized beauty problems arise in mid-summer. Many lovelies have asked advice on those recapped below, in the belief that the subjects are of general interest:

Q Is there a way to darken powder base to match a deepening tan? The base, purchased in June, is now too pale. A: A mix of bases turns the trick. For the purpose, get a second base—the same brand and type as the first—of the darkest shade available. Then mix the light and dark bases to match your tan before each application. The mixing takes place in the hand, never in a container. Just so, the shade you apply is made to order daily.

Q What treatment takes care of pale under-eye circles that come from wearing sunglasses? A: Film a darker powder base onto the area than is used on the rest of the face, let set, then apply the regular base as usual, being sure to blend well over circles. Also sunbathe the circles a few minutes when possible, after putting on sun lotion and covering lids with moist absorbent cotton.

Q How can lips be protected from the sun? From the look and feel of a severe chapped? A: Several brands of prettily colored lipstick containing sunscreen and moisturizer aim to prevent chapped, peeling conditions.

Q What blusher shades are effective with tans? A: Tawny tones—brownish with warm undertones of ochre or burgundy.

RELIEF FOR OILY SKIN: FOR OILY SKIN, Alpha covers corrective treatments and makeup such as special problems as pimples, blackheads and enlarged pores. Dog meat popular in Philippines

BAGUIO, The Philippines (UPI)—Dog meat is a popular dish in this small town in the mountains 100 miles north of Manila. "Before martial law, people around here would even steal pet dogs and sell them to those who wanted to cook them," a guest told me at a buffet dinner where the main course was dog meat. "That doesn't happen anymore," he said "rather proudly."

Until then, I thought I had heard all of the justifications for martial law, imposed by President Ferdinand E. Marcos 22 months ago. A government official at the guest house of the presidential mansion to entertain newsmen covering a tour of the Philippines by the Miss Universe beauty pageant finalist. The dog meat was served in a bowl and appeared to be soggy. Two Spanish journalists, a husband and wife (both were cat-dog-lovers) leaning against a table with a dog and another guest inquired in broken Spanish if they were enjoying their dog meat. They quickly set their plates make his contract, but neither involved early trump play. South needed to do some ruffing first. One line would be to set up dummy's clubs. He would cash his ace and dummy's king, ruff a club, enter dummy with a trump, ruff another club, lead his last trump to dummy's queen, draw West's last trump, and eventually concede two diamond tricks. The other line was to go right after diamonds. He would take tricks to the ace of king and then ruff a low diamond before drawing trumps and taking the rest of the tricks.

By Oswald & James Jacoby "Nice play, partner," said West. "When you gave South a ruff and discard, you cooked his goose." South had ruffed the second heart; drawn trumps with three leads and led a diamond toward dummy's jack. East had won with the king and led a third heart. This gave South a chance to ruff in either hand and discard in the other, but it also led him no way to score 10 tricks.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I recently heard that the boy I have been going steady with for about two months has been arrested several times for indecent exposure. He's on probation now. He is a very shy and gentle person and I can't imagine him acting anything like that, but the person who told me is an old friend of his who said he thought I should know for my own good. Now I wonder what I should do. Is this fellow dangerous? Do you think he might attack me sexually? Will he outgrow

I am the first girl he has ever dated. Should I let him know that I know? Should I quit seeing him even though I like him a lot? I am 19 and he is 20. SCARED

Boyfriend "exposer"?

DEAR SCARED: Tell him what you've heard and ask him if it's true. If he denies it and you still have doubts, all arrests are a matter of public record and can be easily checked out. If he admits it, ask him if he had a restraining order. (Exhibitionism is an illness as well as a crime.) If he says he's had a restraining order, ask to talk to his therapist. If he says he hasn't, tell him you won't date him unless he goes for treatment. Don't continue seeing him unless you have all the answers.

DEAR ABBY: My brother is always too busy (or too lazy) to shop for gifts, so when Mother's Day or Father's Day approaches, he says, "Buy something, and put my name on the card," and I'll pay you later." Well, I do, but "later" always turns out to be "never." This has happened so many times it's not even funny. What should I say next time this deadbeat asks me to put his name on the card? SIS

DEAR SIS: Why look for a fancy way to convey a plain message? Say, "No!"

DEAR ABBY: I am a newly wed woman, 28, and employed, but my husband and I are saving for a home. I'm not able to spend much on clothes. I have an aunt who has a lot of money and nobody to spend it on but herself. She buys clothes like they are going out of style. (That's funny!) Anyway, three years ago Aunt Ruth gave me four dresses and three pairs of shoes, which I am still wearing. The problem: Aunt Ruth has called me about a dozen times since, and asked me to come over to try on some things because she is cleaning her closets. I drive over and I see short-skirted and try-on stuff for hours, but she doesn't give me anything. She looks at me in her clothes, and says, "I'd better hang on to that—I may wear it again." And into the closet it goes. After being invited over to try things on, I've gone home empty-handed time after time, and I am hurt. She doesn't owe me anything, but why does she do this? And what should I do about it? DISAPPOINTED

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: She does it because, after seeing her wearing apparel on you, she has a change of heart. Tell her that you will gladly come over to pick up anything she wants to give away. But not to call until AFTER she has made the decisions.

Miss Charboneau, Sisson wed in Buhl

BUHL—Becki Charboneau and Larry Sisson were united in marriage July 26 in Buhl's First Christian Church. The bride is the daughter of Thelma Mrs. Kern and Hestley McKee, both of Buhl. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Sisson, also of Buhl. The ceremony was performed by the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums flanked with a candelabra holding gold and white candles. The bride wore a white satin empire waist gown with floor length veil made by her mother. She carried a ballroom cascade of yellow carnations tied with green lemon.

Attending the bride as a maid of honor, was Janice Abshire. Persons given the bridesmaids were the bride's bridesmaids, Laura McKee was the flower girl. Jeff Yurke, Buhl, performed best man duties and Terry Sisson, attended his brother as best man. Kent Sisson, cousin of the bridegroom, also was a groomsmen.

Futures markets decline

Live cattle futures suffered their sharpest losses in more than three weeks Thursday. Heavy liquidation by locals was spurred by falling rain prices despite continued strength in the beef trade. The market closed with losses in all except the nearby option, which dropped 47 cents. Commodity News Service said - in a majority of markets indicated that - in spite of fundamental strength which appears to be holding, futures became technically vulnerable amid the growing commitment which touched the 30,000 mark the first time this year. Private packer sources said prices were up as much as $2 in dressed beef trade with the spread between heavy choice carcasses and lighter weights still holding. Higher retail prices may be in order next week as dressed price surged as high as 5 cents in the Midwest and not most trade. Over 4,000 open contracts remain in August with deliveries set to begin next week. POTATOES LOWER Maine potato futures brought sharply Thursday in the face of trade selling, and heavy commission house liquidation. The market opened at or near the highs before selling from most sectors plummeted the May option to a point short of a limit, decline. Final values ranged from 15 to 41 cents lower on a 50 lb trade. Some traders surmised potatoes may have thrown the Chicago yoke from the market and traded on that fact there will be a good Maine crop this year.

Ford profits drop

General Motors - Ford Motor Co. profits for the first six months of 1974, after the company reported a 37 percent drop in profit last year, were $1.1 billion, or 57 cents a share, for the first six months of 1974, compared with $1.8 billion, or 87 cents a share, for the same period in 1973. Chairman Henry Ford II blamed slumping car sales, higher costs and some labor problems. "But the drop in profits for April through June at Ford announced Wednesday, was not as bad as that suffered by Ford's major competitors, Chrysler and General Motors, which previously announced second-quarter profits of $74 and $82 cent respectively. General Motors' Motor, Chrysler and Ford said profits from the January-June, 1974, period slumped 70.9 percent from $2.53 billion earned in the first six months of 1973, to $746 million this year. It was the first time since 1961 that profits for the trio dipped below $1 billion. Ford said its first-half profits fell 61.5 percent with earnings of $291 million or $3.14 a share compared with a record $745 million for the same period in 1973. Ford's earnings are reported to dealers. The number of cars sold in the United States for the first six months of 1974 was 2,340,000 compared with 2,350,000 for the same period last year. The company also reported a 27 percent increase in revenues with $120,704,571 compared to just over $95 million in 1973. Ford said in its first six months of this year, Saigars reported a 26 percent increase in sales with earnings of 67 cents a share, compared with 50 cents last year's per-share earnings. The company also reported a 27 percent increase in revenues with $120,704,571 compared to just over $95 million in 1973. Poultry expands

DOYLE SHRIVER, Buhl, superintendent of the poultry department at the fair, has a full house in his building each year. Entries include turkeys, ducks, chickens, bantams and geese. He is shown with a prize-winning rooster at the 1973 fair.

TF adds Austra Whites

FILED — Austra White chickens have been added to the poultry department of the Twin Falls County Fair, Sept. 4-7, according to Doyle Shriver, Buhl.

The new class will bring to 12 the kinds of chickens to be entered in the fair. Others being White Taghorn, Black Australop, Barred Plymouth Rock, Rhode Island Red, White Plymouth Rock, New Hampshire, Brahma, Bantam, crossbreeds both light and heavy, and show chickens.

Turkeys include Narragansett, White Bronze and Bourbon; geese, Toulouse and White Embroid; ducks, Mallards, Pekin, Muscovy and Rouen.

First and second premiums will be paid for cock, cockerel, hen, pullet, old pen and young pen in chickens; pen of three roosters, old Tom, young Tom, old hen, young hen and pen.

turkeys; gander and goose; geese; and Drake, Duck and Pen for ducks.

Glenn Ross, Buhl, will be judge for the poultry department from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sept. 4. Exhibitors in this department are scheduled for 9 a.m. Sept. 5.

Judges state that exhibits do not show well if there are too many birds in one cage. Showing too many birds in one cage and displaying space, no exhibitor will be allowed to make more than two entries in any one class.

All birds will be fed and cared for during the show of the fair without cost to the exhibitor. Owners must remove birds at close of fair and all poultry must be removed by noon, Sept. 8.

A pen constitutes four hens or four pullets, and fowls that constitute a pen cannot be entered as singles. A pen of turkeys consists of three hens and a gobbler, and a pen of ducks, three ducks and a drake.

Gem wheat delivery price remains strong

BOISE, UPI — The Idaho Wheat Commission pointed out today that despite predictions of a record wheat crop across the nation, the wheat prices are holding well for this time of year.

Harold West, commission administrator, said harvest of winter and spring wheat is under way in all producing areas of Idaho and the northwest but the delivery price at Portland has remained strong.

He said quotas at the beginning of the week ranged from $1.40 to $1.70 per bushel on soft-white-wheat. Prices normally begin to drop as the northwest wheat harvest gets underway.

West said there are several underlying factors creating the current price strength in wheat.

Reports from northwest wheat industry representatives indicate production in Washington, Idaho and Oregon may be significantly less than reported on the USDA July 1 wheat production estimate.

The USDA's figures for production in Oregon estimates the wheat crop in that state at 49 million bushels, but Oregon industry people feel it will be closer to 41 to 45 million bushels. West said.

He said Washington wheat industry people feel the USA figures of slightly more than 124 million bushels for that state is a close estimate.

"Here in Idaho, however, industry people feel the crop is probably going to be total somewhere between 55 to 57 million bushels — considerably less than the USDA estimate of 63.2 million bushels.

"But regardless of whose figures you choose to accept, the total Northwest crop is going to be significantly larger than that produced in 1973," West said.

West feels Northwest producers should not have any difficulty in marketing their 1974 crop because there are indications that foreign markets will remain interested in soft white wheat grown in the Northwest.

The administrator said a weak spot in the wheat export picture is the rather slow demand and movement at the present time.

"Many attribute this to cautious buyers, who are seeking positive indications of price stability."

He said drought in the Midwest is reducing yields on feed grains and this situation is apparently causing price pressures on related commodities.

West, reporting on the Idaho harvest, said dryland growers had been fearful that extremely dry weather conditions would result in sharply reduced yields.

"Early indications, however, show that yields will be better than anticipated," West said. "Irrigated grain seems to have suffered some from the intense heat in June but in general, it appears Idaho will realize a crop to 60 million bushels — up sharply from last year's 47 million bushels."

Shop for money like you do machinery. Carefully.

You seldom buy the first piece of equipment you see. You study literature. You ask questions. You visit several dealers. You're making a whopping investment — perhaps all the profits from an entire crop. And you're just as selective when buying cattle or other livestock. You judge brand or breed on the basis of performance, service and value. Be the same way about your source of operating capital. Talk to your Production Credit man.

New breeds may assist US flocks

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — A research team headquartered at Utah State University says exotic breeds of foreign sheep may increase the reproductive rate of domestic animals.

Dr. Warren C. Foote, professor of zoology at Utah State and chairman of the International Sheep and Goat Institute, said here Tuesday that cross-breeding of foreign sheep with domestic breeds could have the genetic potential to increase the production of red meat in the world.

'Chestnuts' called horse identity key

DENVER, UPI — Vern Taylor is sick and tired of horse thieves and a "negative fingerprint" every horse in the United States.

"Organized rings of thieves are preying on the growing number of high-priced horses," said Taylor. "More and more pleasure horses are being stolen and sold in horse slaughterhouses."

Taylor is the president of the newly organized National Horse Identification Service (NHIS), headquartered in Billings, Mont. He says he has developed an inexpensive and efficient horse identification system.

The key animals are horses, called "chestnuts." Taylor says the chestnuts are as distinctive as whips on a finger — the hull circles are, under a microscope, look like crop-top horns.

"We've examined thousands of horses and have found no two sets of chestnuts that were identical," said Taylor. "That

Choosy Bean Bugger

There are good bugs and bad bugs in every bean field. And DYLOX selective insecticide knows the difference. It delivers a quick cleanout of western and variegated cutworms, armyworms, Mexican bean beetles, lygus bugs, and stink bugs. But it doesn't wipe out populations of beneficial predators and pollinators, when used as directed.

Help the good bugs help you. Let them police your bean fields until "bad" bugs get the upper hand. Then treat your beans with DYLOX Liquid Solution or Soluble Powder. DYLOX will knock out the bad bugs quickly. But the good bugs will continue to multiply and give you extra insect control that doesn't cost a cent.

That's DYLOX, the choosy bean bugger, in the package with the Blue Bullseye Look for it at your chemical dealer's.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, AUGUST 3, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day to quietly arrange plans vital to you and anyone you feel can be helpful to you in days ahead. Then enjoy social circles where you make progress.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Plan just now to have more of the good things of life with kin, and then be off to the social places that are mutually enjoyed. Follow hunches.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Find a better way to have more happiness in the future, and then get the aid of a bigwig. Show your finest capabilities to those who count.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study new ideas that you think will make the future brighter, then delve right into the work ahead of you. Be alert to what is going on around you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You meet bigwigs now who can be channeled into recognizing your finest capabilities. Make new plans for a vacation.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Show more cooperation with partners and you get excellent results now; talk over joint affairs amiably. Enjoy pleasures with mate impossible before.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Your partner is willing now to give you all the assistance you desire, but make sure you know just what you want. Get new attractive clothing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If there's someone you want to see, get busy and contact early for fine results. Do your work more efficiently if you want the okay of bigwigs.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show affection to kin and home—and problems work out. Make, above, more attractive. Take no chances with one who is erratic and could cause you harm.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is a good day to reach a far better understanding with associates. Think more progressively; handle communications wisely.

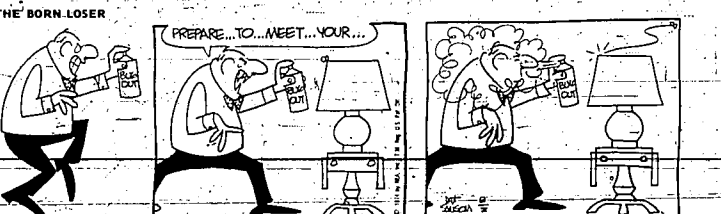

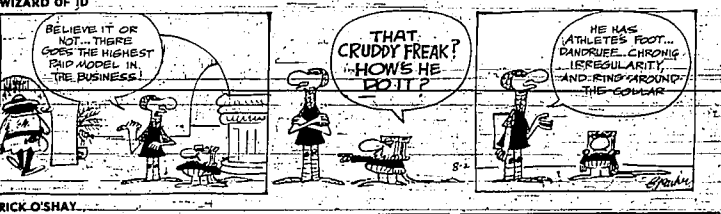

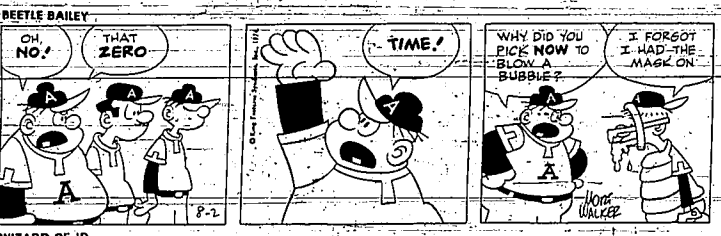

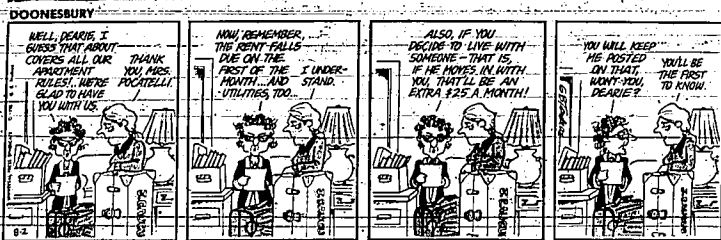

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Forget that owl of a person who impedes your progress and get out and do things in a more modern and progressive way.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are most charming now and can make fine friendships with persons you admire. Discuss with them plans for greater mutual success. Don't be vindictive.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get private aims improved in the future by planning now. Show appreciation for past favors. Evening is fine for romance, happiness.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be very gregarious and will love people, so would do well in any profession dealing with the multitude, whether in politics, teaching, preaching, personnel work, etc. There is also much ability where business is concerned. Give spiritual training early, as well as the benefit of sports and music—some was discipline should be given early, but let it be kindly. "The Sign says," they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

It's commonly believed that the carbon-14 test invariably will determine whether an ancient artifact is genuine or phony. That's wrong. Pretty tricky, those forgers. Classy carvings that go back before Christ are not all that easy to come by. But pieces of wood of such an age are not impossible to find. And many is the statuette carved recently from same, but dated way back.

REMEMBER, my dear, always use twice as much fresh parsley as dried parsley in any given recipe calling for such.

IF YOU TURNED 53 years old this year, sir, you're the same age as was Beethoven when he composed his Ninth symphony. Why don't you sit down at the piano and see what you can do?

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS

Q. "What's the longest running show?"
A. Has to be Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey with 103 years of performances so far.

Q. "DO rattlesnakes eat frogs?"
A. No, rattlers make their grub out of warm-blooded animals only.

Q. "HOW MANY families have been represented twice in the White House?"
A. Only three: The Adams, the Harrisons and the Roosevelts.

A MAN'S SKIN tends to be oilier than a woman's. Make mention of it because a client asks how come the average man develops facial wrinkles at a later age than does the average woman. That's why.

CHRISTMAS STOCKINGS

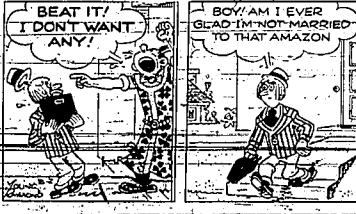

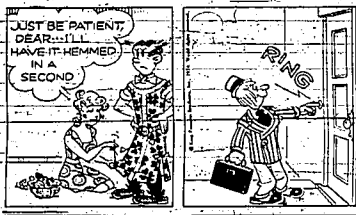

Question arises as to how we came by that Christmas custom of hanging stockings by the fireplace. Originally, those socks were draped there to dry. Not every youngster had more than one pair. It should be noted: And presents were put in them overnight because that's where the presents were sure to be found in the morning.

THE HEAD KEEPER at the Frankfurt Zoo in West Germany rigged up a television set in front of the gorillas' cages. Just to see if it would influence the romantic activity of said beasts. It didn't. But careful observers who kept records found out something else. That the gorillas developed certain "preferences" in their viewing. In descending order, they seem to like love scenes, weight lifting and auto racing.

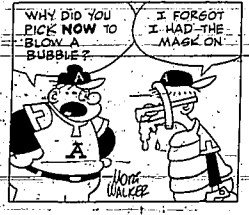

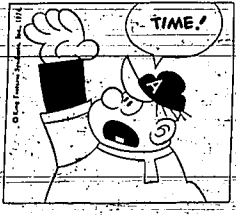

IF YOU WEIGH five pounds more this month than last month, you most probably have about four more miles of blood vessels, too.

Boise group hits power firm over rates

BOISE — Idaho Power Co. has been charged with having a discriminatory rate structure and excessive profits by a Boise citizen group.

The Boise Coalition, this week filed a brief making these charges with the Idaho Public Utilities Commission which is presently considering a 12.8 per cent average rate hike for the company.

The brief charged that the average residential consumer is paying more than three times what the company charges its preferential industrial users.

The brief may not be considered by the commissioners in the rate hearings according to Gary Montgomery, assistant attorney general assigned to the IPU.

"My recommendation as attorney would have to be that the commission ignore these portions of the brief that contain new material, new evidence" on the case, he said.

Montgomery said the coalition had a chance to present testimony in earlier hearings. Briefs being filed now are to discuss evidence, not give new data, he said.

Idaho Power President James Bruce said Thursday that since the evidence in the brief was not given under oath and since Idaho Power has had no chance to counter it in testimony before the commission, acceptance of the brief could be unfair.

"The average residential user pays an average of 1.7 cents for a kilowatt hour while large customers receive the same service for one-half a cent," the brief states.

Coalition spokesman David Bockman, Boise, further charged that Idaho Power in general is charging too much.

"While Idaho Power charges $11.55 for 500 kilowatts of power, Pacific Power and Light at The Dalles, Ore., charges only $6... in Portland, Ore., the rate for 500 kilowatts is only $9.33 and in Eugene $5.72.

"Idahoans who are not customers of Idaho Power Co. are getting a better deal than citizens served by the company. For a citizen in Bonner's Ferry the rate for that 500 kilowatts would be only $3.77 and a study by the Bonneville Power Administration shows that the average northwest family pays only $7 for 500 kilowatts," Bockman said.

The brief calls on the company to lower residential rates and to end "undue price discrimination—between classes."

It also questions the need for a rate increase. "In times of unparalleled inflation there is no particular reason why inflationary costs should be borne by the consumer," it says.

"In the past four years, while charging the highest rates in the northwest, the company has earned profits of 22.4, 21.7, 23 and 25.9 per cent, a record literally unmatched by any of the other 100 largest US electric utilities, who average after tax profits of only 15 per cent."

"The company customers should not be expected to pay increased rates as long as the owners of the company enjoy such excess profits," the brief states.

Course to open

OPENING of the new back nine holes of the Elkhorn golf course at Sun Valley is scheduled for Saturday. The course is open to the public as well as Elkhorn and Sun Valley guests and property owners. Plans are now underway for a grand opening of the entire course in July, 1975.

Stock car races start Sunday at Rupert site

RUPERT — Stock car racing will begin Sunday at the Minidoka County Fairgrounds.

The Magic Valley Stock Car Club was granted the use of the quarter corner of the recently acquired land south of the old fairgrounds.

President of the club, Don Foist, said Wednesday that the fair board had decided last Wednesday to give the club enough land to build a three-eighths mile oval dirt track.

The county commissioners took no action and referred the matter back to the fair board.

Foist said club members had been working since last week to build the new track. It will be ready in time for a stock car race at 5:30 p.m. Sunday. The club will also be allowed to use the old wooden bleachers for the event.

Money for the building of the new track was provided by the club, Foist said. Fifty per cent of the gate will go to the county fair board.

Foist said the track would be used in the winter for snowmobile races and that daredevil events and demolition derbies would be held at the track.

About 30 cars race in club events; Foist said he expects the number to increase because of the new track.

Desert quakes

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — A sparsely populated area of the Mojave Desert has been shaken by 11 light earthquakes in two days.

The Caltech seismological observatory said that three more quakes rippled Wednesday through the 60-mile area between Ludlow and the Twenty-Nine Palms Marine Corps base, about 120 miles east of Los Angeles.

The tremors registered 4.0, 3.5 and 3.6 on the Richter scale.

Only the day before a swarm — the scientific term for a series of earthquakes — of eight tremors — shimmied through the area in a period of one hour 14 minutes. The strongest registered 4.2 on the Richter scale.

Caltech seismologists said the region is located on the Ludlow fault, but there was no reason to believe that — the continuing light quakes indicate that a serious earthquake is coming.

Amalgamated income grows

OGDEN, Utah — The Amalgamated Sugar Co. has reported a net income for the first three quarters of 1974 up more than 128 per cent from the same period last year.

In the company's interim report, dated June 24, net income for the first three quarters is reported at $11,078,000, compared with $4,649,000 in net income for the same period in 1973.

Company officials attributed the huge jump in profits to the increasingly tight world sugar supply, the declining value of the dollar in the world market, and the company's

Hansen asks tight lid on spending

TERRELL, Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said that he will require under control will require a tight lid on government spending and increased production to reduce shortages.

Speaking to a luncheon meeting of the Jerome Kiwanis Club on Monday, Hansen said economic experts are at odds as to how to go about confronting this challenge.

"It appears that the bid answers are no longer applicable in this new, virulent form of stagflation that is fueled by rapidly rising energy costs and commodity resource shortages."

In addition to the traditional causes of inflation, wage price conditions and government fiscal monetary policies, there have been two essential factors in the stagflation boom that sent commodity prices soaring and created shortages, a widespread drought and an energy crisis, Hansen said.

"Increasing dependence on the world market for raw materials and consumer goods has subjected American industry to supply irregularities and competitive world pricing."

Pilgrims throng to see Hindu deity

SHINAGAR, India (UPI) — With conch shells blowing, 12,000 Indian and foreign pilgrims began their annual trek Wednesday to the Aparnath caves for a glimpse of the famed icy lingam of Lord Shiva, presiding deity of the Hindu religion.

The caves, to which thousands of pilgrims throng each year, are 12,720 feet above sea level in a diabolical gorge among the eternal snows of the Himalayas.

Hindu pilgrims have visited the caves since 1,000 B.C. to view the natural ice formation, a symbol of Lord Shiva, who in the Hindu pantheon is the creator, preserver and destroyer.

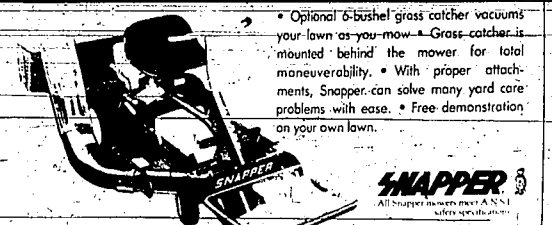

The pilgrim caravan started from the Kashmir mountain resort of Pabalgam near here and will traverse the 31-mile rough and rocky route to the caves in about three days.

The natural ice lingam, or phallic symbol, supposedly waxes and wanes with the moon. Hindu believers say it attains maximum height with the full moon in the Hindu Sivan month, which this year falls on August 3.

The festival has begun to attract foreigners in recent years, particularly hippies from the United States, Britain and Sweden.
