Courts end Standlee appeal
BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court upheld a judgment of conviction and sentencing by Fifth Judicial District Judge James Cunningham in which a 10-year prison term was handed down.
Gay Dean Standlee, Hazelton, had appealed the conviction of sentence for voluntary manslaughter assault with intent to commit murder.
He received two 10-year sentences for the conviction that ran concurrently. In the appeal, he argued that the trial court abused its discretion in imposing a prison sentence rather than probation.
The unanimous opinion of the court was that probation is not a matter of right but is within the discretion of the trial court and the trial court did not abuse its discretion.

Howard named Youth Ranch head
RUPERT — A new executive director has been chosen for the Idaho Youth Ranch.
Neil S. Howard will take over the directorship Sept. 1. Howard, president of the National Association of Homes for Boys, is now living in California where he has been involved with Ettie Lee Homes for Boys for the past 27 years. He plans to move his family here in September.
Howard said he plans to develop a group home program for the ranch and to attempt to make the ranch self-sustaining.

George unseats Orval in 2nd district race

TWIN FALLS — Idaho's Second Congressional District voters rejected their incumbent representative in Tuesday's primary election, handing victory to conservative challenger George Hansen.
With 403 of 410 precincts reporting in the district this morning, George Hansen held a decisive lead, 22,138 to 20,020, over three-term veteran Orval Hansen. The eight Magic Valley counties gave George Hansen a 2-1 victory margin 7,173-5,027.
Only two valley counties, Blaine and Camas, remained loyal to Orval Hansen.
In Twin Falls County, the challenger edged out the incumbent 2,645 to 2,589.
Cassia County voters gave George Hansen a comfortable margin, 1,230-718, and Minidoka County supported him about 2,185 to 496.
Orval Hansen conceded defeat late Tuesday, claiming "no regrets" and "no sense of bitterness."
In a telephone interview with United Press International this morning, he said, "Some you win and some you lose."
Orval Hansen said it was hard to assess what caused his defeat, but speculated that fast-breaking events in the last several days have contributed to a feeling of uneasiness and anxiety on the part of the people.
George Hansen paid special tribute to Magic Valley voters in accepting the winner's mantle and moving on to the general election.
"Magic Valley was the key to my victory," he said, "and I sure have to hand it to the good citizens who responded to the challenge and the issues and carried our case to the people. It couldn't have been accomplished without this tremendous support by so many individuals and families in that area."

Resign, solons tell President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Several Republican senators — acting on their own initiative — have sent President Nixon a message urging him to resign, Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said today.
Sen. Norris H. Cotton, R-N.H., also said the advice had been conveyed to Nixon, but both he and Brooke stressed that the action was not undertaken on behalf of all Republican senators.
Brooke, who last Nov. 3 first called on Nixon to resign, predicted the President would step down.
"I think he's very seriously considering it now more seriously than at any time before."
(Related stories p. 8)

Republican senators met for more than two hours this morning but discussed Nixon's situation for only 30 or 35 minutes. They took no united action and reached no decisions, members said. They planned to meet again later in the day.
The pressure for President Nixon to leave office that began to build Monday when Nixon admitted he had tried to head off a FBI investigation of the Watergate cover-up continued today with some of his previously strongest support dissenting.
Vice President Gerald R. Ford met with Nixon's chief of staff, Alexander M. Haig, for an hour today to exchange views. A Ford spokesman denied Ford was planning for possible succession to the presidency.
Cotton said it was his impression that "two or three" senators had written Nixon to convey their feelings that resignation would be in the national interest. The two or three are in addition to Senate GOP whip Robert Griffin who announced two days ago that he was urging Nixon to give up.
Brooke said he hopes Nixon will step down before the House begins impeachment debate August 19 because he would not go down in history as a second President to be impeached.
"I think the time is now — the time is right," said Brooke.
Brooke said he felt Nixon "now knows the tenor of the Senate; he knows how strongly senators feel. He knows many senators who would rather not have a long and tortuous impeachment trial."
"I can see nothing the President can gain nothing — unless he honestly believes he would not be convicted. The country has everything to lose and nothing to gain."
Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., R-N.J., formerly one of Nixon's most vocal defenders, said today he sees Senate conviction of the President as a certainty.

Kramer judicial winner

TWIN FALLS — The one contested Fifth Judicial District judge position went to Twin Falls attorney Douglas D. Kramer Tuesday when he took 57.4 per cent of the vote.
Kramer, running against Casbia County Magistrate Judge Glenn Anderson and Gooding attorney Severt Swenson, Jr., for retiring judge Charles Scoggin's position, had to capture over half the votes in the district to win the judgeship without a runoff.
"I'm overwhelmed at the vote that I received," Kramer said today. "I can only attribute that to all of the good people that worked for my election. I hope that I can make a good judge."
Kramer and his family will move to Gooding County during his term as district judge.
Sherman J. Bellwood, James M. Cunningham and Theron W. Ward retained their position in other uncontested races for judges of the Fifth Judicial District.
Swenson came out on top of Kramer in only one county, his home county of Gooding. Swenson took about 25 per cent of the votes in the eight-county district. Anderson captured about 17 per cent, and Kramer won about 57 per cent.
County totals were Blaine — Kramer 679, Swenson 213, and Anderson 145; Twin Falls — Kramer 3,277, Swenson 1,047 and Anderson 1,014; Camas — Kramer 167, Swenson 54 and Anderson 17; Gooding — Kramer 307, Swenson 169 and Anderson 119; Jerome — Kramer 1,057, Swenson 429 and Anderson 285; Lincoln — Kramer 370, Swenson 235 and Anderson 80; Cassia — Kramer 1,141, Swenson 363 and Anderson 449; Minidoka — Kramer 834, Swenson 445 and Anderson 456.

Milk lawyer pleads guilty
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jake Jacobsen, a former lawyer for the nation's largest milk producers' cooperative, pleaded guilty today to a charge that he gave forged Treasury Secretary John B. Connally a $10,000 bribe in entering the men's association to testify against Connally.
Jacobsen, 54, of Austin, Tex., pleaded guilty to one count of making a bribe. Chief U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart Jr. then released him to the custody of his attorney.
Jacobsen faces a maximum penalty of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Court gives Jaworski tapes
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge today turned over to Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski tapes of five of 64 presidential conversations that the Supreme Court ordered President Nixon to surrender.
U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica ruled the tapes of Nixon's conversations with key aides in the spring of 1973 as the Watergate cover-up began to unravel contained "material of an inadmissible and relevant character."

Vets overrun district town
SAIGON (UPI) — A North Vietnamese division overran a key district capital near Da Nang in hand-to-hand fighting today, impeding the defense of South Vietnam's second largest city and possibly spelling an end to the Paris peace agreement on Vietnam.
Military spokesmen said the nation's government forces and a militia unit were defending Thuan Duc when it fell shortly before noon after three weeks of pounding by Communist gunfire and the onslaught of the 34th, a fresh division which was spotted last week northwest of Da Nang.

TF turnout light

TWIN FALLS — Voter turnout dropped about 40 per cent from usual levels this primary election in Twin Falls County.
According to County Clerk Harold Lancaster, between 10,000 and 11,000 persons have voted in primaries in years past. But this year the voter turnout will be just above 6,000, he said.

Voters defeat TF incumbents

TWIN FALLS — In a pattern unseen in Twin Falls County for two decades, voters here ousted two incumbent state representatives in Tuesday's primary election.
Rep. William Roberts, R-Blair, lost by a bare four votes, according to the unofficial final tally made late last night.
Roberts, who has served five terms in the Legislature and who is chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee, took 1,063 votes while candidates Lawrence Knigge received 1,069 votes and Roy Brackett took 1,202 votes.
Rep. J. Hoppie received 531 votes in the four-way Republican race for the two districts. R-Blair, who was appointed to take the late Rep. Ray Lincoln's seat, also lost by a narrow margin in the Republican primary.
McCollum came in third in the four-way race for two seats with 1,083 votes compared to Tom Stivers' 1,219 votes, 1,521 votes for Rep. Ralph Olmstead, R-Twin Falls, and 1,136 votes for P.C. Stoppard.
Despite the narrow, unofficial margins, both Roberts and McCollum have conceded the election.
"I don't have any regrets because I think good people were elected," Roberts said. He said the defeat of incumbents seems to be a trend this primary, having occurred in other counties and in other races. But Roberts added, "It's just a matter of having a choice of good people and two good people won."

Pair win

JEROME — Gordon Hollifield and Clair K. Ricketts both Jerome won a hard-fought battle for the Republican nomination for state representative from District 21.
John H. Brooks, Gooding, managed to lead in only Lincoln County in the race to represent the district which includes portions of Gooding, Jerome and Lincoln counties. Final tallies showed Hollifield polled 1,207 votes, Ricketts, 1052, and Brooks, 832.

... defeated

Galley primary loser

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County Prosecuting Attorney Robert Galley lost his bid for another term in the Republican primary Tuesday, and Kramer won about 57 per cent.
The unofficial tally shows Galley took 2,106 votes compared to challenger William Hollifield's 2,732 votes.
"I think it's just indicative that people of Twin Falls County want a change in the prosecutor's office," Hollifield said this morning. He said Galley's primary defeat reflected a general trend of incumbents losing this primary.
He predicted his general election race against Democrat Douglas Kramer would be a hard race "with a lot of hard work."
"But I think I'll win in November," he added.
Galley had been associated with the prosecutor's office for the past eight years. He served one term as prosecutor and three terms as deputy prosecutor under different prosecutors.
The use of buckshot against trespassers recently had become a campaign issue. Galley, in addressing a group of citizens concerned about problems developing during Evel Knievel jump, suggested shooting buckshot against trespassers would be legal. He later said he meant birdshot, not buckshot. Hollifield had come out against shooting trespassers with either birdshot or buckshot.

Nixon decided?

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — The Providence Journal-Bulletin said Wednesday that President Nixon has made an "irrevocable" decision to resign.
The White House initially neither confirmed nor denied it.
"I can't confirm that," Deputy Press Secretary Gerald Warren said in Washington of the Journal-Bulletin report.
Warren refused to say if fully the President would not resign. However, Warren said Tuesday Nixon would not take that step.

Idaho voters name challengers

BOISE (UPI) — A former leader of the State Senate held a no-vote record today in a wild race for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the First District. While a former congressman "upset" a GOP incumbent in the other.

J. Ray Coe, 48, a Haverd Lake attorney who has served as Idaho Senate minority leader in 1961, clung to an uneasy lead over Ken Miller, 42, a Star Point attorney, who was campaigned on $1,400.

Two precincts still were out, and it appeared the ultimate winner may not be known for certain until the official canvass. Votes counted in Tuesday's primary election are unofficial at this stage, and could contain errors that would change the outcome.

Meantime, Sen. Frank Church, 49 won the Democratic nomination for a fourth term, and Bob Smith, 42, a Nampa attorney, established two opponents for the GOP nod to run against him in November.

Rep. Steve Symms, 36, won the Democratic nomination in the First District without opposition. H. Max Hanson, 53, an Idaho Falls realtor, won the Democratic nomination—44 over an opponent in the second.

State Rep. Vernon Havenscroft, Tuttle, beat out Hope Kading, a Boise housewife, by better than 2-1 for the GOP nomination in the 1st legislative district.

Lieutenant governor, State Sen. John Evans of Malad handily defeated former Sen. Ray High for the Democratic nomination.

Wayne Kidwell, 36, Boise, beat Tim Hopkins, 38, Idaho Falls, nearly 2-1 for the right to replace the Republicans in this fall against Democratic incumbent W. Anthony Park, 40, for attorney general. Park was nominated without opposition.

Chancey wins by narrow vote

TWIN FALLS — Incumbent Twin Falls County Commission Chairman William Chancey narrowly survived a challenge by George Benham with a 124-vote margin.

"It's a horse race," Chancey said last night as he walked the floors of the courthouse watching the results come in.

This morning Chancey attributed the narrow 2,414 to 2,290 vote to people's desire for a change. "I think perhaps the fact is that there was a new face. I've got the same face. I've always had and now it's a little worn," he said.

Benham angrily charged today his defeat partially was due to biased press coverage by the Times-News.

He said today the paper had been biased "in favor of Chancey." He objected to earlier stories in which the newspaper reported his statements that he would not comment on campaign issues.

Republican U.S. Senate candidate Bob Smith took a wide lead, with 3,290 votes against Don Winder's 292 votes. Charley Bolstridge took 285 votes in this race.

George Hansen defeated Orval Hansen with 2,416 votes compared to Orval's 2,282 in the Republican race for Congress. On the Democratic side Max Hanson beat Keith Hiltve, 609 to 272.

In the three-way Republican race for lieutenant governor, Vernon Havenscroft pulled far ahead of Hope Kading and Pat Harwood with 3,450 votes to 969 for Kading and 782 for Harwood.

Attorney general candidate Wayne Kidwell easily took the county with 2,107 votes compared to Hopkins' 1,591.

Frank Church easily defeated Leon Olson in the Democratic Senate race with 1,181 to 125 votes in the county.

Unopposed Republican primary winners were Jack Murphy, governor; Pete Cenarrusa, secretary of state; Richard S. High, state senator; Ann Cover, county commissioner; Ron Taylor, county assessor; Clyde Edwards, county clerk.

Unopposed Democratic primary winners were Cecil D. Andrus, governor; Joe Williams, state auditor; Marjorie Moon, state treasurer; Tony Park, attorney general; Ray Graham and John Walker, state representatives; William Butler and William Wiseman, county commissioner; Ruth Jones, county treasurer and Leonard Etinger, prosecuting attorney.

Hansen concedes with 'no regrets'

TWIN FALLS (UPI) — Rep. Orval Hansen conceded his defeat by former Congressman George Hansen in the Republican primary Tuesday with "no regrets" and "no sense of bitterness."

"It seems obvious from the returns that I have not been successful," Hansen said in a telephone interview early this morning. "Some you win and some you lose."

Hansen, 47, is in his third term in the House of Representatives.

He said it was hard to assess what contributed to the defeat he received in voting Tuesday but speculated that "the first breaking events in the last several days have contributed to a feeling of uneasiness and anxiety on the part of the people."

"This may have been reflected in some of the results," he said.

"I have no regrets. I have no sense of bitterness. It always is gratifying to the people of my district for giving me the high honor of representing them for six years in the Congress of the United States," he said.

Hansen also expressed his appreciation for the "loyal friends across the district who worked hard on my behalf and for a dedicated staff who has served me and the people of Idaho faithfully for three terms."

The congressman said he was "sure what part he might play in the general election and pointed out, "I planned to win."

He said he will go back to Congress "and do as much as I can for the rest of my term in Congress. It doesn't end on January 1."

"I'm going to work very hard to fulfill the duties of my office."

Hansen said the most difficult legislative task facing Congress is the question of impeaching President Nixon.

"I don't think much more will pass in this session," he said.

Condition 'fair'

TWIN FALLS — Jack Sturm, 45, filer, was listed in fair condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital today after suffering possible internal injuries when pinned beneath the bed of a hay stacker.

Sheriff Paul Corder said the accident occurred Tuesday afternoon on the Gerald Tevs farm, 9th Pole Line Road between Twin Falls and Piler.

Sturm, an employee of Tevs for a number of years, was operating the hay stacker when the lift bed stuck. He was attempting to work it loose when it dropped, pinning him against the ground.

Sheriff Corder said Julie Tevs, 36, was working in an adjoining field and heard Sturm call for help. She was able to lift up the bed so the could pull himself out.

Tevs helped the man into a pickup truck and was enroute to Twin Falls when met by the sheriff's office and ambulance.

Writer offers look into future

Editor, Times-News: An open letter to Mr. Earl E. Haroldson of the Idaho Power Co. and Twin Falls residents: Dear Mr. Haroldson,

I ask you to look with me into the future. The coal-fired generating plant proposed by your company is running at full capacity and is catering to the business needs and financial pressures brought by your moneyed investors, many of whom, doubtless, have never seen much less lived in Idaho.

You awaken in the morning with a cough you never had before. At breakfast your children ask you "Daddy, why do my eyes sting?" as they gaze up to their father, red-eyed and sniffling. You, an executive of the very company that brought such filth and health destroying pollutants to the former Magic Valley, must answer to those children "It's because of the plant out west that Daddy's company built."

How do you feel?

Mr. Haroldson, will you be able to look your neighbors straight into their smoke-reddened eyes as they question you about the smogges on their house paint, which hereafter, lasted years. How will you feel when you drive out into the country and see farmers bent over their, once healthy, but now yellowed and withering crops? Who will you blame when you pay exorbitant prices at the market for produce?

If the plant your company proposes to build in Southern Idaho is indeed built, the filth and trash it emits in the name of progress and for the purposes of a few rich investors will lay to waste this now fine area.

Who will be responsible? You will be responsible, Mr. Haroldson, and all the Idaho Power Co. executives who permit such an atrocity to be committed. If this plant is built you will face some tough questions at the hands of your neighbors, perhaps worse.

Souled for fetched? Some 800 miles to the south of us lies a once beautiful agricultural area known throughout the world for its climate and particularly for its horning plenty like ability to grow most anything. Citrus was its most famous product.

There is today county known by the name of Orange County where oranges can no longer be grown as they once were, in endless rows. That area is Southern California, now a fetid smog-choked pit with air so thick with pollutants that schools are often curtailed when a heavy attack occurs. The smog spreads out for miles around affecting neighboring counties and even the pines in the high mountains are dying. All this is true and can be shown. It is the result of what happened when money did all the talking and common sense and planning went out the window.

Mr. Haroldson, you and your fellow executives of Idaho Power Co. have far more to answer for than your few investors. You cannot claim ignorance as the same transgression in the name of progress and MONEY, has been committed time and again. You are responsible to the people of Idaho whose air you propose to consume in this financial enterprise.

You had better ask your neighbors if you can see THEIR air—your plant, because once you do, you will be gone forever and all eyes will be on you. Think about it.

TV regulation measure pends

(C) New York Times service WASHINGTON — With the strongly conflicting views of 108 witnesses ranging in the ears, the members of the Senate Communications subcommittee, 500 will meet in private to consider a bill to regulate television stations.

The legislation before the subcommittee, a version of which already has passed the House, would make fundamental changes in the complex rules governing how private business men, and maintain the privilege of owning the limited number of publicly owned airwaves to operate television stations.

Under the present mix of law and regulation, approximately 700 commercial television stations broadcast under licenses that must be renewed every three years. The right to continue holding these licenses may be challenged either by a citizens group that files a particular station has provided poor service or by a business competitor who would like the license for his own profit.

The television industry, working mostly through the National Association of Broadcasters, has brought considerable pressure on Congress to change the rules so it will be harder to make such challenges.

Among the key features of the renewal bill that passed the House by 474-39 in vote margin are the following:

- The license term would be extended from three years to five years, thus reducing the frequency with which broadcasters in theory are required to defend their continued use of the public airwaves.
- The standards of judgment of the Federal Communications Commission in deciding license questions would be changed. Under the new rules, a broadcaster seeking a license in effect would keep his license, prodding the broadcaster had rendered "minimal" program service. A business competitor seeking a license in effect would first have to show the broadcaster whose license he was trying to take over had not provided substantial service before raising the question of his own suitability.

Hysteria reigning

Editor, Times-News: This environmental hysteria that is sweeping the country is getting more and more daily. The environmental dogooders are getting to be worse than the pollution.

Now the Times-News adds to the wall cries predicting dire consequences if a coal-fired power plant is constructed, and a minimum of 50 miles away.

Does the editor and all the people within the Snake River Valley wish to give their air conditioners, dishwashers, refrigerators and many other "civilized" conveniences by not having any power source, electricity, water, etc. manufactured? It doesn't grow on trees. More population, more environmentalists, less convenience.

Everyone seems to forget that the sugar factory and the railroad in the days of steam locomotives, and every home and store in Twin Falls burned coal. The "big ash" was not contained then either.

However, no one expired, the crops still grew and the horizon was still clear in those days. So why all the dire predictions and forecasts of ruin of the best place in the USA?

As to temperature inversion in this area I've never heard of it, unless it was brief due to certain atmospheric conditions, and this could not occur happens anywhere on this earth at all times. If this condition was prevalent we would seldom see the South Hills.

Let the environmentalists start their campaign at the bottom where the waste will be such as trash, litter, unnecessarily produced noises. There are many such "basics" to start on and do something about that will really help the environment of our civilized life.

Tightened security slated for debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unprecedented "security" measures aimed at a possible impeachment of the House, and leaders said they might include virtually sealing off the House, sealing of the Capitol and periodic bomb searches.

The precautions under consideration are unprecedented, even compared to security in effect when the President addresses a joint session of Congress.

Rep. John McFall, D-Calif., chairman of a three-member committee on security, seating and other arrangements for the impeachment debate scheduled to begin Aug. 19, said the precautions are considered because of threats he would not give details Monday, but indicated they involve threats to disrupt the House debate as well as threats to the lives of individual members.

House Judiciary Committee hearings were interrupted on more than one occasion by telephoned bomb threats and Rep. William Conroy, R-Maine, who voted for impeachment of President Nixon, said his life had been threatened.

Under the plans, which must be approved finally by Speaker Carl Albert, D-Ola., the House wing of the Capitol would be virtually sealed off during debate. No tourists would be allowed near the chambers or access areas. Employees and reporters would be carefully screened, and there was a possibility that the number of reporters allowed to cover the impeachment would be sharply curtailed and special passes required.

Electronic devices like the ones at airports to search for weapons might be employed along with regular bomb teams. Regular "bomb sweeps" of the chamber and adjoining rooms, corridors and galleries, would be made morning and night with no one, including members, allowed in the building.

Land swap scored

Editor, Times-News: An open letter to Idaho Power: Keep the air clean so we can SEE the GREEN.

We would like to register emphatically our protest against your swap of your private lands for our public lands for the purpose of building a huge fossil-fueled power plant in southern Idaho.

We moved from states where grand old oaks and pines have threatened or brain-washed the public into acting in their own environmental destruction. Here we have a man-made felling of trees is a shortage of energy in Idaho so go ahead and use all you want!

Create the shortage so we have the excuse to go ahead with our plans whether you or captive customers like it or not but we'll give you a choice of pollutants: water (fossil-fuel or nuclear wastes. What intelligence?)

A nation that can go to the moon can't take time out to develop clean solar energy because we might have to slow down making the bucks during a relatively short transition period.

How can we justify ourselves to the coming generations? Our 8 year old asks, "Don't they need us to oxygen to grow too? How to answer?" You answer, "We'll be waiting."

Old shell game returns Sept. 8

Editor, Times-News: On Sept. 8th, Evel Knievel will play a game with the people which traces its ancestry back to the old game of "which shell is the pea under?"

He's good at it—having had years of experience starting back in Montana as a teenage hell-raiser. He's got it down pat now, leading the public with claims of greatness and daring. When did you last have a look at the failure side of his record? That's pretty impressive. Claiming loud and long that you've broken every bone in your body is like seeing who can hit himself over the head with a hammer—the most insane, biggest!

Anyway, it's a triumph for free enterprise that this thing is coming off. Those money-hungry firebrands down at the Mall are busy trying to get Twin Falls on the map are going to end up getting it wiped out.

When did you last see a full invasion of outdoor motorcycle gangs? I have and believe me, it's a real threat. As a responsible motorcyclist and survivor of years of this same mad stuff in Southern California, I can visualize just how the event will be and it's not a pretty picture.

Channel rights hit

Editor, Times-News: I am writing in regard to the article in last night's paper concerning our "choice" of television stations in this area.

I moved here from another state a few months ago and was shocked back to the old game here would allow the local television station to get away with such an idiotic thing such as this.

Since I'm the one paying the bill, I don't believe channel 11 has any right to tell me "I'm going to watch and when!"

I think it's time for the people of this viewings area to get off their backs and really do something about it.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Over a year ago our son had rheumatic fever. A cardiology doctor said the fever had not damaged his heart. He kept him in the hospital for a week. Then he had to have complete bed rest for about two months. The only medication we have was aspirin. After 10 days, after he came home the doctor kept him on aspirin and penicillin and said he would have to take penicillin for the next 10 to 12 days. (Recently I took him back for a checkup. The doctor said he is in perfect condition. My son said the penicillin was causing some throat. The doctor changes to an antibiotic twice a day.

Our son is almost 15. My question is: do you agree with this form of medication? If he is in perfect health, why should he have to take medication for so long? We are worried about the amount he is taking. When I got his medication last time, the doctor said we must have really sick throats, which we haven't. So naturally that alarmed us.—Mrs. P.M.G.

I hope you realize that your boy was lucky not to have heart damage, because rheumatic fever is notorious for inflaming the valves of the heart and causing permanent damage.

Rheumatic fever is caused by a streptococcus infection. Why it causes rheumatic fever in some patients and not others is not understood, but it is so. Once a person has rheumatic fever, he is likely to get it again whenever he encounters the strep germ—strep throat is probably the commonest form of it.

And that's why rheumatic fever patients just kept on penicillin for years after the original attack—to make sure that the strep germ won't attack them again. For you see, repeated attacks of rheumatic fever will cause progressive heart damage.

So if your doctor says that your son has had rheumatic fever, but when you wanted to change from penicillin, which led the doctor to substitute another antibiotic, that misled the doctor's use of continuing prescriptions for penicillin for rheumatic fever but not used to other antibiotics which are used for that only when a change is required.

So by means of continuing medication, Rheumatic fever can have more attacks of rheumatic fever and perhaps a badly damaged heart.

I have this one thought. Often penicillin is given in a long-lasting form, an injection once a month or thereabouts, in such cases: You might discuss that with your doctor. Your son may be ready for it.

But I have one reservation. Why the tablets made his throat sore raises a question. Could he be developing a sensitivity to penicillin? If so, he will have to use some substitute.

Tests should show whether he is indeed sensitive to it, or whether he could switch to one of the mouth injections.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My mother who is 69 loves chocolates to such an extent that we are afraid they will do her some harm. Can they?

She is slim and it doesn't seem to add any weight to her weight. She also loves eating and we are wondering if that would hurt her.—D & S.

If she were getting fat my answer would be different. But under the circumstances my advice is to stop fretting about how much chocolate she eats, or how many eggwhites.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When a man is 74 would an ulcer on the ankle, caused by varicose veins, be likely to heal if the veins were removed? Would the presence of the ulcer make the surgery difficult?—L. E.

Yes, the ulcer would be likely to heal, and that may be virtually the only way to get it to heal. Presence of the ulcer could not interfere with the surgery.

Church scores Saudis

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Saudi Arabia pressured major US oil companies into conducting a political campaign to change US policy on "Israel," well before last year's Middle East War, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, charged Tuesday.

Church made public testimony by George Kottor, vice chairman of the board of Aramco, the consortium of US oil companies that operates petroleum production in Saudi Arabia, and Omer Miller, former chairman of the board of Standard Oil of California (SOCAL), to support the charge.

In addition he released documents subpoenaed from Aramco and closed-door testimony of newspaper columnist Jack Anderson.

Church said, "in our judgment, this record is highly important to American understanding of the role of the multinational oil companies and their impact on American foreign policy. Further, the issues it raises will have to be taken into account by the responsible officials working on both US energy policy and US Middle East policy."

Church said the record shows that in May 1973 the Saudi government strongly suggested that Aramco and its parents mount a campaign to change the US policy of supporting Israel.

The companies followed those instructions and reported on their activities to the king. The essence of their efforts was a joint memorandum to President Nixon signed by the Aramco chief executives which urged a change in the US position.

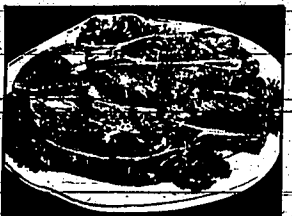

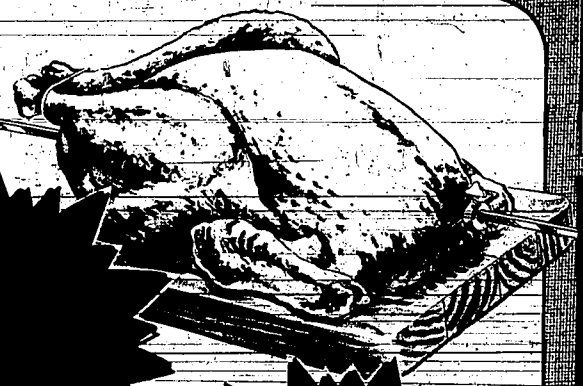

Church said that US Ambassador James Baker, "apparently disappointed with his own ability to change policy, advised the companies to approach the US government at the highest level to hammer home the point that US Middle East policy must change."

Church also said the Saudis, "relied on Aramco to run the embargo for them since they lacked the capacity to administer it."

Same judge to preside

Even though Second District Court Judge John Walquist moved the murder trial of Lyn Ann Farmer from here to Farmington, he will still be the judge when the 14-72 shop case goes to court.

Tuesday he attempted to set trial dates for Williams, Andrews, and Pierre, at that time a conflict of schedules for one of the defense attorneys left the date up in the air.

Walquist had said he wanted to set the trial for Aug. 26, but attorney Gilbert D. Athay, representing Pierre, had another case set the same day. The judge told Athay to notify the court clerk when he would be available.

Monday, after Walquist listened to more than two hours of testimony from a Weber State College sociologist, the judge ordered the trials moved to Davis County.

Dr. Jerry H. Borup said a public opinion sampling of Weber County residents showed it would be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to impanel a jury that had not already formed an opinion about the April 22 robbers slaying, which left three persons dead.

Arab targets blasted

By United Press International—Israeli warplanes bombed southern Lebanon today in retaliation for the Arab shooting of four Jewish settlers building a security fence along the embattled frontier.

The military command in Tel Aviv said the Israeli jets blasted Arab guerrilla targets this morning at Harabeh Junction three miles north of the Lebanese frontier village of Al Majdidi.

The command said all the fighter-bombers returned safely to their bases following the raid, the first air strike against Lebanon since Israeli warplanes raided the same region two weeks ago.

The new air strikes came hours after three armed Arab infiltrators seized four Israeli villagers working on a security fence along the northern frontier and took the captives to Lebanon.

An Israeli armored patrol crossed into southern Lebanon noon after the abduction, but failed to free the kidnapped villagers—residents of a settlement on the Golan Heights.

The Tel Aviv command said the Israeli troops seized six Arab villagers—allegedly connected with the abduction and clashed with Lebanese forces near Al Majdidi, one mile north of the frontier.

The patrol crossed back into Israel with the Lebanese villagers—possibly to exchange them in the future for the kidnapped Jewish settlers.

The Defense Ministry in Beirut said Lebanese artillery fired on the patrol for 45 minutes, forcing the Israelis to withdraw.

In Jerusalem, Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin told the Knesset (parliament) that Israeli cabinet secret contacts with Jordanian officials in an effort to reach a lasting peace settlement.

Rabin said Israel would not reject opportunities to conduct dialogue without publicity, should the opposite side so desire for reasons of its own in order to prepare for a final peace treaty.

Authorities have said that convicted drug dealer Fred Gomez Carrasco and his two convict accomplices used the weapons to murder two women hostages and to seriously wound a Roman Catholic priest during the escape attempt.

Carrasco, who was 34 years old, and one of the other convicts, Raulo Dominguez, 37, also died during the escape attempt. A Justice of the peace has said that they committed suicide when they saw that their escape plan had been foiled.

Escape attempt probed

(C) New York Times Service—HINTSVILLE, Texas—Investigators Tuesday checked the possibility that the guns and ammunition used by three convicts last Saturday night in a deadly escape attempt from the state prison here, may have been mailed through the institution of mail change men believed disguised as grocery supplies.

The three convicts, Ignacio Cuevas, 42, was captured unhurt.

A spokesman for the Vietnamese delegation in France, Dong Dinh Thieu, said at a news conference in Paris that he had personally witnessed American air strikes over South Vietnam. He went on to charge that American military personnel disguise as civilians are still playing advisory roles in the South Vietnamese Army.

Air strikes charged

(C) New York Times Service—PARIS—The Vietcong's provisional revolutionary government Tuesday made specific charges that American pilots are still flying combat missions over communist controlled areas north of Saigon.

Rhodes' tough decision: support impeachment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John J. Rhodes came to the House Republican leader as a result of a scandal in the Nixon administration. This week he almost quit that position because of another scandal.

The decision he announced Tuesday to support an article of impeachment against President Nixon had been made late last week, an aide said. He had even scheduled a news conference for Monday morning to announce it.

Until Sunday, however, he had also been prepared to announce that he would step down temporarily as GOP leader because the status of impeachment would be all variance with the many of the GOP colleagues who was supposed to lead.

When he held his postponed news conference on Tuesday, Rhodes no longer had to offer to step down.

Within the 24-hour period Nixon had admitted the damage impeachment inflicted evidence, the grandeur of decisions from Nixon's camp had grown so large that to do anything but favor impeachment would put Rhodes at odds with his party.

An aide said that Alexander Haig, Nixon's chief of staff, called Rhodes at home on Sunday to tell him that he should know before holding his news conference that the White House would be making some new information available within 24 hours.

Conveniently for Rhodes, he was suffering at the time from a slight fever and sore throat. So he postponed the announcement and stayed home Monday.

Though the timing had saved Rhodes from a decision he might have regretted deeply, he found no joy in his final announcement Tuesday before live television cameras down the hall from the House Judiciary Committee room.

"It was this," he said, "Rhodes began, maintaining complete control of his emotions throughout the ordeal."

"I have considered the evidence to the best of my ability. When the roll is called in the House of Representatives, I will vote 'aye' on impeachment Article One."

Others in the House agonized over their decision, but Rhodes' decision may have been harder than most.

The 57-year-old congressman, a Kansas native elected from Meigs, Ala., 22 years ago, had built a reputation as a conservative, a party loyalist and a staunch administration supporter.

He was a compromise choice last December when his predecessor, Gerald R. Ford, was confirmed as vice president to replace Spiro T. Agnew, who had resigned in disgrace, pleading no contest to a six evasion charge.

Rhodes' anguish began about two weeks ago, his aide said.

The Judiciary Committee was about to begin its debate and already had released mountains of evidence. Rhodes studied the evidence and watched as much of the debates as he could.

Last week he talked first with the 10 GOP stalwarts on the committee who voted against all proposed articles. Later in the week he met with the seven who favored at least one article. All explained their position.

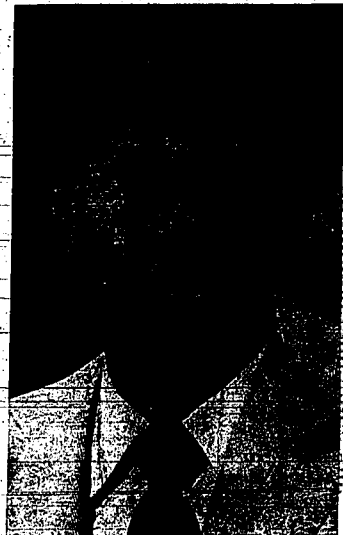

Some came away from these meetings with the indication that Rhodes was leaning for impeachment. He did promise them he would step down as leader temporarily if he chose to vote for impeachment.

His conscience had already told him early in the week that he should favor impeachment, but he knew, an aide said, that his position as leader gave his decisions and words added impact.

He agonized some more and decided about Friday that he would take the step he dreaded.

But Rhodes would lead any impeachment push. He said in his news conference, "I have the intention of imposing my interpretation of the evidence on any other member of Congress."

For a party leader to attempt to dictate a matter of constitutional conscience would be entirely self-advised.

Wants it all

RONALD REAGAN, a staunch supporter of President Nixon during the Watergate crisis, calls on the President to immediately go before Congress and disclose all the information he has. Reagan said until Nixon's disclosures Monday he was not convinced that evidence of an impeachable offense had been presented. (UPI)

Congress' mood against presidential immunity

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress is in no mood to grant President Nixon immunity from criminal prosecution if he resigns.

The law should apply equally, said House Republican leader John Rhodes in expressing what appeared to be the majority sentiment among House members.

Even those who earlier urged immunity, like influential in Nixon to resign such as Sen. William Mills, D-Ark., backed off maintaining their silence as almost everything in Congress assumed that Nixon either would step down or be removed from office in a September trial.

The Constitution expressly states that Nixon would be subject to criminal prosecution if he is removed from office.

One possible route around this would be a House of Congress' resolution, carrying the force of law, expressing the will of Congress in the new president that Nixon had been punished enough.

Even this route has gained few sympathizers. The White House says sympathizers that Nixon has asked for immunity have been developed in Congress (ward a possible immunity resolution.

Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., is sounding out House members on the possibility of a House resolution. He said, "There is a great feeling in the House, and the president should not be presented. Seeing him dragged through every court in the country would be a disaster."

Republicans lead the list in the House of those opposing immunity.

"It might come back to haunt me," said Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., if he deplored the principle the Supreme Court very recently affirmed, equally before the law.

Rep. David Bonior, R-Ind., a member of the House Judiciary Committee and a former Nixon supporter, said he is opposing prosecution, not that it would be opposed to an immunity bill.

Rep. Edward Hutchinson, R-Mich., said immunity legislation would be unnecessary because, "I don't think they would prosecute him for anything if they could."

Both Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and Republican assistant leader Robert D. Griffin said they would consider the possibility of a presidential immunity bill.

But, asked if there were any "serious expectations" of congressional immunity, Mansfield firmly replied, "No."

Even the Russians told Rhodes to vote to this week, a Southern Republican said.

Many congressmen wonder whether the Constitution gives Congress the power to grant immunity to a president and whether any immunity would also extend to state and local level. The Russians told Rhodes to vote to this week, a Southern Republican said.

Tapes tell Nixon bias

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, whose 1972 campaign attracted many Jewish supporters and contributors, referred to Jews as left-wingers in the taped White House conversations released this week.

He said he was unimpressed about his daughters Julie and Tricia making a pro-Jewish speech at the Lincoln Center for the arts because he felt they were Jewish.

in other words, stay away. Make a point," the President said.

He said he wanted his daughters especially to appear at occasions which were not leftist, but related to the ordinary people of Middle America.

House OK's live coverage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Rules Committee approved by a 21-19 vote Tuesday a resolution permitting live television and radio coverage of the House floor debate on the impeachment of President Nixon, which is scheduled to start Aug. 19.

The resolution, which is expected to be approved if the full House possibly today, authorized the Democratic and Republican leaders to draw up "necessary and appropriate" regulations for the broadcast coverage to be subject to the approval of Speaker of the House Carl Albert, D-Okla.

The leaders had discussed the subject of the coverage in the well of the House and the desks of the majority and minority party leadership and forbidding roving camera

Network coverage eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — TV and NBC officials said they were ready to accept a live broadcast of the impeachment proceedings if congressional leaders put excessive restrictions on coverage.

"I am not prepared to give anyone a blank check," said Richard L. Pearson, president of CBS news, and he indicated he would withdraw CBS from live coverage if the network's restrictions on the program are excessive.

There had been reports that the special committee might sanction certain reporters from the proceedings. They tried to find types of camera shots that could be used.

Some members of the rules committee had opposed a resolution last month ending the House floor coverage of the House Judiciary Committee proceedings, on the ground that it could turn the debate into a circus.

Key Colson-Nixon talk in '72 never recorded

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said Tuesday a key telephone conversation between President Nixon and Charles W. Colson three days after the Watergate break-in was never recorded.

James D. St. Clair, Nixon's chief Watergate defense lawyer, said in a "analysis" of 84 presidential conversations filed with Federal District Judge John J. Sirica Tuesday that it was scheduled to turn over the recording of that call to the President's lawyers.

Telephone in the west hall of the White House that was not patched into the tape recording system.

The monitoring setup, according to testimony of the secret service agents who installed it in February, 1971, and operated it until it was dismantled last year, appears to have been in three rooms: the President's oval office, a "hideaway" in the executive office building, and the Lincoln Room, on the second floor of the White House.

The telephone call to Colson, at the time a special counsel to the President, was played at 11:23 p.m. on June 20, less than six hours after Nixon made a four-minute call to John N. Mitchell, then the director of his re-election campaign.

The White House told Sirica last October that the call to Mitchell, a tape of which had been subpoenaed by Archibald Cox, Jewels's prosecutor, had also not been recorded.

Gerald L. Warren, the deputy presidential press secretary, said in October that the President, in calling Mitchell, had used it

The analysis filed by St. Clair Tuesday, which contains the President's assertions that parts of the 202 conversations in the Lincoln Room were recorded, and some of them have been transcribed and released, in edited form, by the White House.

The analysis filed by St. Clair Tuesday, which contains the President's assertions that parts of the 202 recorded conversations are protected from disclosure by the doctrine of "executive privilege." It also says that the tape of another call placed from Nixon's office in the executive office building to Colson earlier in the evening on June 20 "is of poor audio quality."

There appear to have been technical problems with the White House taping system in the week after June 17, 1972, when five burglars employed by agents of Nixon's re-election organization were arrested at the Democratic party's offices in the Watergate complex.

Rematches on ballots

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Michigan Democrats and Missouri Republicans set up political rematches for November in Tuesday's primary elections, but in Idaho a three-way Republican primary lost a bid for renomination.

Rep. Orval Hansen was upset in Idaho's 3rd congressional district by George Hansen, who vacated the same seat in 1960 to run for Senate.

George Hansen campaigned as a strong conservative. The incumbent is considered more of a moderate. The winner will face Max Hanson, the Democratic nominee.

Orval Hansen thus became the fifth member of Congress unseated this year in primary battles.

The others were Rep. Lawrence Williams, D-Ia., by Frank Stahlholder, R-Ky.; Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and Sen. Howard Mendenhall, D-Ohio.

Sander Levin, the former Michigan Democrat who came within 50,000 votes of beating Republican Gov. William Milliken four years ago, bested two opponents, including former Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, in the gubernatorial primary.

Milliken was supposed for the GOP nomination.

Former Rep. Thomas Curtis, who gave Sen. Thomas Eagleton a hard run six years ago, renewed the challenge by winning the GOP nomination over two others in Missouri. Eagleton, the first Democratic vice presidential candidate in 1972, won renomination in a field of three with 40 percent of the vote.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, easily won renomination and will face lawyer Bill Smith in a sharp liberal-conservative conflict.

There was no opposition for incumbent Democratic Gov. Cecil Andrus or his challenger, Republican Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy.

Kansas Democrats nominated Rep. William Toy to oppose Sen. Bob Dole in November.

Toy beat a former state treasurer. Dole had no opposition. State Senate President Hubert Bennett narrowly beat three other candidates in the bid to contest to face Democratic Attorney General Vern Miller at Governor.

Democratic Martha Keyes, in an upset, won nomination for Kansas' 2nd District seat, being defeated by Roy.

Voters in Jackson, Miss., a Democratic stronghold, approved an advisory question calling for the impeachment of President Nixon by a 4-1 margin.

In Kentucky the state court of appeals Tuesday upheld a Democratic challenge to Sen. Marlow Cook, a Republican, is legally on the November ballot.

District 34 voters vindicate McDermott

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. Patricia McDermott's voting record, which prompted a recall movement, was vindicated in Idaho's primary election Tuesday.

While Miss McDermott was once again leading, the ticket in a bid for renomination, several incumbents were going down to defeat. Among these was William Roberts, R-Idaho, co-chairman of the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee, who lost by five votes.

Three of the incumbents that lost were in Ada County.

Miss McDermott was joined in victory in District 34 by former GOP State Legislator Perry Swisher, who is running on the Democratic ticket for the first time.

Their win eliminated incumbent Wayne Loveless, who ran last in a four-way race. Taking third was Craig La Chance.

Miss McDermott had been the subject of an abusive recall attempt for the past two years because she backed the Equal Rights Amendment and refused to change her stand in the face of consistent pressure. She had been the subject of a widespread attack—personally and professionally.

Two women were instrumental in knocking out two of the GOP incumbents in Ada County. Former chief clerk of the Idaho House, Beth Fitzwater, won in District 17, and Edith Guernsey led the ticket for the GOP nomination in District 17.

Mrs. Fitzwater's win knocked out Paul Worthen, and Mrs. Guernsey's victory toppled E. Don Copley, incumbent 1st district, who was the other District 16 winner and House Majority Leader H. Ferd. Koch joined Mrs. Guernsey in District 17.

The other Ada County incumbent defeated was Republican Sen. Dave Tschetter, who lost to Ada County Prosecutor James Kisch.

In the north, former Congressman Compton I. White Jr., Clark Fork, lost in an attempt to make a political comeback. Kenneth V. Kiebert, Hope, a popular school teacher, put the skids to White's attempt.

It was a different story in adjoining District 2, where former Sen. Art Manley, Coeur d'Alene, easily defeated Bliss O. Bignall Jr., also Coeur d'Alene, in his comeback effort.

In District 3, Sen. C.C. Chase St. Maries, automobile dealer, easily staved off primary opposition from Martin G. Stacey, Coeur d'Alene.

GOP Sen. W. Dean Abraham, Caldwell, also faced primary opposition in District 11, but managed to survive.

Sen. Lyle H. Cobbs, Boise, had opposition from two other Republicans. He too was victorious, defeating Christopher R. Hooper and Harold W. Hatten Jr., both Boise.

In District 25, Joe McCollum, Twin Falls, who had been appointed to the House upon the death of Western Legislator Roy Lincoln, was unsuccessful in a four-way GOP race. Ralph E. Ohmstead and T.W. Silvers, both Twin Falls, were nominated.

State Rep. Lester A. Hartvigsen, Malad, had little trouble in getting the Democratic nod for the Senate in District 31. He was seeking the seat vacated when Senate Minority Leader John V. Evans of Malad declined to run for lieutenant governor.

Criticized Idaho judges win re-election

BOISE (UPI) — A northern Idaho judge criticized for being too hard on drug offenders and a southern Idaho judge under fire for being too soft on criminals took non-partisan primary victories Tuesday.

Races for judicial district judges saw heavy campaigning in the primary contest and turned into tactical similar attacks in some cases.

Incumbent Roy Mossman, under fire for not moving to Moscow from Lewiston after being appointed to the Second Judicial District bench, took a narrow lead over attorney Robert Felton of Moscow.

Mossman drew criticism for his record of popular school teaching, but his reputation for being too hard on university students who canceled class during a contested race, Douglas Kramer of Twin Falls won out over Severet Swenson Jr. of Gooding in the fifth district and Gibson Anderson of Burley for the seat to be vacated by the retirement of Judge Charles Scroggin.

Meanwhile, in district seven, incumbent Henry S. Martin won re-election by a solid margin over contender Robert J. Fanning of Idaho Falls.

Cargo theft loss cut Saxbe target

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General William French Saxbe today challenged Congress, the Transportation Department and law enforcement agencies to find a strategy for curbing "staggering" cargo theft losses.

Saxbe estimated that cargo thefts have soared to $2 billion a year, twice the annual amount of federal law enforcement aid to states and cities.

"The magnitude of just this one category of crime facing the nation is staggering," he said in a speech prepared for a cargo security conference.

"The container is never to pay in one way or another for virtually everything that is stolen from the transportation industry."

But law enforcement cannot do the job alone, Saxbe said, and public concern has been "somewhat disappointing." He said "a sense of responsible citizen outrage would be very

Summit delay asked

CAIRO (UPI) — Saudi Arabia joined Egypt today in calling for a postponement of the Arab summit conference scheduled for early September.

In a joint communique, King Faisal of Saudi Arabia and President Anwar Sadat of Egypt suggested the summit be held "immediately after the Al Fitr feast." The statement was issued after an 11-day visit by Faisal.

The feast, which ends the Muslim Ramadan month of fasting, takes place this year in mid-October.

Saudi Arabia became the 11th of the 20 Arab League member nations to support the call for postponement of the summit conference, originally set for Sept. 3 at Rabat, Morocco.

Ethiopian split seen

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — A new Ethiopian rift in the constitution stripping Emperor Haile Selassie of the monarch's age-old absolute powers may split the country's armed forces, diplomats said.

Prime Minister Ali Meles Zenawi said Tuesday Selassie's powers would be taken over by an elected parliament and the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government would be completely separated.

House slashes Vietnam arms aid $300 million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has slashed military aid to Vietnam by $300 million and cut the size of the U.S. mission there by 10 per cent in passing a $4.3 billion defense appropriations bill Tuesday.

The action came late Tuesday, night on one of the last major pieces of legislation to be passed before the House can begin its impeachment proceedings.

The 350-to-43 vote sending the bill to the Senate after some conservatives turned back an effort to cut the total $2.5 billion more.

That proposal, by Rep. Joseph P. Addabbo, D-N.Y., who had the backing of both Democrats and a vote of 210-178.

The amendments cutting the Vietnam aid budget to $700 million and reducing the maximum size of the U.S. embassy by 500 positions effectively cut a third of congressional disbursements with the government of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

The Vietnam amendment passed 233 to 157. The administration had asked for $1.45 billion but later said it could live with a $1 billion figure.

In a non-voted vote of 410 to 11 the House decided to cut 10 per cent in the number of U.S. personnel stationed in South Vietnam, most of them, connected with the embassy.

Passed with little debate, the measure would reduce the U.S. mission to cut its staff from a current level of 3,200 to 2,850.

Opponents cited Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's contention that the balance of forces there is "the best hope for peace" in Southeast Asia.

"But supporters of the cut said it would help persuade South

Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu to start genuine bargaining with North Vietnam for a political settlement.

Earlier, funding for a proposed new nerve gas, intended as a replacement for older stocks of a gas that is difficult to transport safely, was killed in a 214 to 186 vote.

Phone workers protest terms

By United Press International

The tentative national contract settlement with Bell System employees may have averted a nationwide strike, but Bell employees and their constituents staged walkouts Tuesday to protest the contract's terms.

Specific Bell telephone employees in Orange County, Calif., struck in protest of the national contract settlement 600 employees walked off their jobs in a one-day protest. Another 200 Communications Workers of America walked out against Ohio Bell because of what union officials termed a lack of communications concerning terms of the pact.

Two New Jersey Western Electric plants, at Newark and Clark, joined picket lines in the strike by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Talks in Washington continued as the strike moved into its third day.

VP Ford in dark about Nixon role

(c) Washington Star-News

WASHINGTON — The man who would succeed President Nixon if he is forced from office was among the last of the White House inner circle to learn that the President would admit to a role in the Watergate cover-up.

At least one member of Congress, Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., was told of Nixon's admission three days before Vice President Ford was informed.

As a result of his being kept in the dark, Ford continued his coast-to-coast campaign of defending the President on Saturday, the day after Wiggins was angrier of the three White House tapes that implicated the President in the cover-up conspiracy.

In Jackson, Miss., on Saturday, Ford reiterated his view that Nixon "is innocent of any impeachable offense and I haven't changed my mind."

His first inkling of the next development in the impeachment struggle came Monday as he was flying back to Washington aboard Air Force II. He was informed by telephone that Nixon was about to release a "significant statement."

And when he arrived at his office in the executive office building, the vice president found that the White House chief of staff, Alexander M. Haig Jr., wanted to speak to him.

Ford called Haig and was told of the President's decision to release publicly three tape recordings of presidential conversations that linked Nixon to the cover-up.

Ford's response was more restrained and less dramatic, than the angry statements that poured from Congress in the days following the President's decision to release the tapes.

"I have come to the conclusion that the public interest is no longer served by repetition of my previously expressed belief that on the basis of all the evidence known to me and to the American people the President is not guilty of an impeachable offense under the constitutional definition," he said.

"The vice president declined to retract his previous defense of Nixon, but he did not reaffirm it."

"I intend to respectfully decline to discuss his outspoken defense of the man who selected him—last fall to succeed Spiro T. Agnew as vice president."

Conceding that impeachment of the President by the House is a certainty, Ford said that "the whole truth should be the objective of the trial before the Senate."

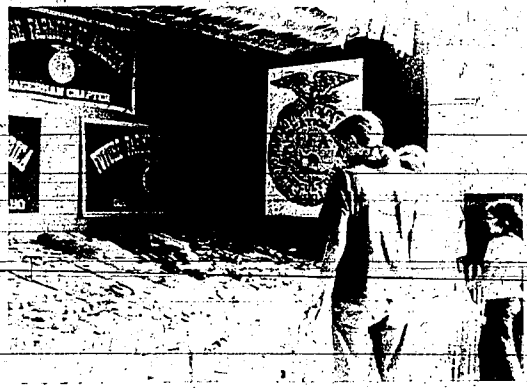

Ford indicated that he would refrain from any effort on Nixon's behalf in persuading senators not to vote for the President's conviction.

"Under the Constitution, the vice president is relieved of his role as presiding officer of the Senate when it sits to try a president 'on impeachment charges,'" he said.

"The wisdom of this provision is obvious, for the vice president—regardless of his personal feeling—is a party of interest as the constitutional successor if a president is removed from office," he added.

On the one hand, sources said, Ford was under pressure from the White House to press on with his outspoken defense of the man who selected him last fall to succeed Spiro T. Agnew as vice president.

On the other hand, he was barraged with advice from his old friends on Capitol Hill to give up his campaigning for Nixon on the ground that it would damage his effectiveness if he became president.

Hiroshima anniversary spurs woman's suicide

HIROSHIMA, Japan (UPI) — While tens of thousands of people in Hiroshima marked the 29th anniversary of the city's atomic bombing Tuesday, a woman radiation victim of the attack hanged herself in despair.

Pelleo said Hisako Hirotsuki, 36, who suffered from radiation disease brought about by the attack, left a note saying, "I could not find purpose in life. I wanted to work but had no will."

Asas Hirotsuki, until recently a part-time worker at a department store, was 17 years old when the bomb was dropped at 8:15 a.m. Aug. 6, 1945. In the closing days of World War II.

"She became sick while in high school with a kind of nerve disease caused by radiation exposure. Both her parents said in a statement she has lived alone since, police said.

"The Hiroshima city government estimates the total number of victims of the bombing at more than 200,000. Including survivors who have died since the attack. American military officials still put the death toll at 70,000, an estimate made three months after the bombing took place.

"More than 40,000 persons gathered in Hiroshima's Peace Park for the annual memorial service for the victims of the bomb, which contained an equivalent of 20,000 tons of

NIT.

They listened to Hiroshima Mayor Setsuo Yamada accuse the United States and the Soviet Union of planning to supply nuclear weapons to countries that don't have them.

"The great powers, America and the Soviet Union, are planning to furnish nuclear weapons to some developing countries," Yamada said.

"They also are helping to proliferate nuclear weapons."

Yamada called for an international conference to ban all future nuclear weapons tests.

"The mayor spoke after eight solemn notes from a Buddhist church bell had summoned the crowd to the ceremony on the spot once occupied by the World War II headquarters of Japan's 3rd Army.

"The memorial ceremony, which has become a ritual over the years, included the placing of wreaths by foreign and Japanese dignitaries at the cenotaph memorial under the spot where the bomb exploded.

A symbolic offering of water from a spring in Hiroshima was laid there for the first time this year, because many persons immobilized by the bomb died of thirst afterward.

Accident victim revives

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UPI) — A physician whose "dead" daughter showed signs of life moments before doctors were to remove her vital organs for transplants says the improvement is "something beyond medicine."

Julienne Kennedy, 34, of Knoxville sustained head injuries July 9 in an automobile accident and her father, Dr. Joseph Kennedy, had authorized physicians to remove her eyes and kidneys for transplant.

"But the girl moved her hand slightly and began breathing before they could remove the organs."

"Julene had decided to donate her organs for transplant after watching a television exposure of her own eyes."

"Kennedy has remained at Baptist Hospital since the automobile accident in which Julene and another daughter were injured."

"She has a greater response in her two arms and her right and left hands moved this morning (Sunday) toward her mouth in purposeful movement."

"Kennedy said Julene's brain is now functioning. Some electrical impulses are getting through the braincase here."

"Kennedy said that at first he had thought it might have been better if Julene had died. "But I have to honestly admit that I hope she can live. I believe in time she will be returned to us."

Gem land board denies festival request

Cycle operation eyed

BURLEY — Members of the Idaho Cycle Association, who also call themselves Idaho Cyclists for Safety, are planning to seek reauthorization of the latest governing cycle operation. Keith Higgins, association member, said among other things the group feels the law requiring helmets is too restrictive. Due to the increase in the cost of live-in and the higher cost of cycles, he said, some of the laws are "questionable."

He asked persons opposing these regulations to write Robert Davis, association president, Box 181, Burley. Higgins and the group plan to go to Boise in January to meet with legislators and seek relief to present regulations.

Jerome tour canceled

JEROME — The planned Thursday night tour of the Jerome Township plant by the Jerome Comprehensive Planning Committee has been canceled.

The committee will meet at 8 p.m. at Wood Cafe. Guest speakers will be from the county sheriff's office, the Idaho State Police and the county clerk's office.

The committee is currently studying the public services and community facilities category of the comprehensive planning study for Jerome County.

At Thursday's meeting, committee members will vote on the transportation category and discuss the strengths and weaknesses of the public services discussed to date.

TF firm low bidder

BOISE (UPI) — The Peter-Kiewit Sons Co., Twin Falls, submitted the apparent low bid of $2,802,740 for a State Department of Highways project in Elmore County.

The project will involve construction of the roadway, drainage structures and surface treatment on 6.98 miles of State Highway 65 west of the national forest boundary in Elmore County.

Western Construction, Inc., submitted the apparent low bid for constructing a roadway, drainage structures and surface treatment on 4.8 miles of State Highway 61 at Grassmere in Owyhee County. The bid was $583,130.

Police seek gunman

BOISE (UPI) — Police are looking for a gunman who captured two security guards making an inspection of a Boise Medical Center Monday night, disarmed them and left them handcuffed to a door frame.

Security officers Leslie A. Barron and Dennis Aigler told police they were checking the third floor of the Idaho Medical Center when the gunman stopped them, took their weapons and handcuffs, made them lie on the floor and manacled them to each other around a door frame.

However, the gunman apparently was unsuccessful in his attempt to break into a doctor's office.

Condition improved

RUBERT — Mrs. Ruth (Bill) Roemer, Twin Falls, has been removed from the critical list at Minidoka Memorial Hospital by hospital officials.

Mrs. Roemer has been in the hospital intensive care unit since being injured in an automobile accident July 25 last.

She is still in intensive care but is now listed in good condition.

Idaho ranks high

BOISE (UPI) — The Associated Taxpayers of Idaho, in a report Tuesday, said the Gem State ranked 13th in state and local government employment per 10,000 population.

The association ranked a Department of Commerce publication for October 1973, which showed the rate of employment in Idaho is especially high for health — first in the nation — and for natural resources — fourth.

Sentence given

POCAHELLO (UPI) — Jean Goodrich, 36, was sentenced to life in prison for the second-degree murder for shooting her husband to death last October.

Judge Gus Carr Anderson, in announcing the sentence, said he had completely reviewed the case and all the philosophy behind the sentencing procedure and he arrived at his decision.

Mrs. Goodrich had told the court that she shot her husband when she thought he was an intruder in their home late one night.

Judge Anderson said that if an appeal is filed Mrs. Goodrich could be released on $25,000 bond.

Under Idaho statute, she would be eligible for parole in 10 years.

Bid opening postponed

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — The University of Idaho has postponed until Sept. 19 the opening of bids for a construction project which includes a covering for the university stadium.

The one-month delay was made to allow the university to send data from a wind tunnel study to interested bidders.

Sherman Carter, university vice president, said Tuesday the university had contracted for the tests to determine wind resistance and construction requirements to withstand the stress created by the end walls and roof of the stadium.

Court upholds sentencing

BOISE (UPI) — A district court conviction and sentencing were upheld by the Idaho Supreme Court on an appeal which contested the handing down of a 10-year prison sentence instead of probation.

Guy Dean Mangold had appealed the conviction and sentence for an attempted murder and assault with intent to commit murder.

He received two concurrent 10-year sentences. In the appeal, he argued that the trial court abused its discretion in imposing a prison sentence rather than probation.

The unanimous opinion of the court was that probation is within the discretion of the trial court and the trial court did not abuse its discretion.

Collisions claims Pocatello woman

POCAHELLO (UPI) — Diane Will, 21, Pocatello, died Tuesday in the head-on collision of two passenger cars on Milk Creek Road in Blaine County.

State police said she was riding in a vehicle driven by Shester Griggs, Pocatello, that car and one driven by Raymond Sanchez, Blackfoot, collided about 4:30 p.m., officers said.

Helpful neighbors

TWIN FALLS — City Manager Jean Milar has some helpful and well-meaning neighbors.

Tuesday Twin Falls City Police received a call from a neighbor stating the Milar home was being burglarized.

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Land Board voted Tuesday to deny an application for a huge gathering on the north side of the Snake River Canyon in conjunction with Evl Knievel's jump.

The action — reversed an earlier recommendation by the board's staff that the request by a Boise firm, Thacker and Associates, be granted.

At the same time the board approved an application by Knievel, to use state land as a landing site after his Sept. 8 canyon leap.

Board members said the Thacker request to hold a music festival would have resulted in an unusually large crowd. The application had said 100,000 people were expected.

There was no explanation for the state's reversal of position on the Thacker application.

After the meeting, Knievel-attorney James May of Twin Falls said he was pleased with the board's action.

The Jerome County commissioners had planned a meeting to consider issuing a license for the proposed event, but canceled the meeting after the state action.

Claude Bernard, chairman of the county commission, said Tuesday commissioners had not received any formal or written requests from Thacker or the Knievel promoters.

"Thacker and Associates were to make a formal written request Tuesday for the music festival, which was not a rock concert, however the meeting was canceled due to the state land board's refusal to grant them a use permit for the land," Bernard said.

Jerome Chief of Police Howard Dubois said Tuesday night he had mixed thoughts over the state and board's decision.

"These people are coming. We can't stop them — and they have to go someplace. By refusing Thacker the use of the land, this is going to put more people into the city of Jerome looking for a place to go. If it also were to be easier to control the crowds if they are congregated in one area and not scattered so much," Dubois said.

Jerome County Sheriff Flza Hall said some kind of a deadline was going to have to be placed on the Knievel promoters for any more requests.

"The county has got to have some idea as to what is going on and what we can expect so we can plan for it," Hall said.

Minico follows pattern

RUBERT — Minidoka County voters broke no valley-wide patterns when they went to the polls Tuesday.

"They may have broken the hearts of a few candidates, however, chief among them incumbent second district congressman Orval Hansen, who lost out to his Republican opponent George Hansen by a surprising 835 vote to 490."

The "only" surprises — in the opinion of party leaders — may have been in the county votes of the Fifth Judicial District judgeship candidate, Gleason Anderson by Douglas Kramer by an almost two-to-one margin, 834 to 456, while Severt Swenson Jr. polled 445 by an almost two-to-one margin 834 to 556.

In other contests for federal offices, Republican Senate hopeful Bob Smith easily trounced his opponents. Smith received 876 votes to Donald Winder 219 and Charles Bolstridge 136.

On the Democratic side, incumbent US Sen. Frank Church received 615 votes to defeat his opponent Leon Olson, who captured 109.

In the Democratic second congressional district race Mar Hansen received votes to bury his opponent Keith Holve, who polled 150.

Although there were no primary contests for the governor's seat, Republican hopeful Jack Murphy polled 734 to GOP's Cecil D. Andrus 694; but the work of course had no bearing on the general election in November.

In the contests for the lieutenant-governor's chair, Democratic hopeful John Evans outpolled his closest opponent; Ray Rigby, 214 to 256, with a third candidate, Neils Solberg, polling 102. The Democratic figures, however, were dwarfed by Republican tallies which saw Vernon Ravenscroft trounce his opponents. Ravenscroft received 621 votes to Hope Kading's 207 and Pat Harwood 191.

In the Republican contest for attorney general, Wayne Kidwell smashed Tim Hopkins 833 to 339.

In the race for state superintendent of public instruction, Republican candidate Ezra Moore easily defeated Democrat Charles Brown. Moore polled 627 votes to Donald Heaney's 103, Jim Groesbeck's 213 and Charles Brown's 265.

On the Democratic side superintendent hopeful Roy Truly beat Janmy Stotcheff 352 to 275.

In the race for trustee of the Southern Idaho Regional Airport, George W. Falkner was defeated by Dale B. Garner 836 to 673.

All other spots on the ballot, state and local, were uncontested and candidates advanced to November's general elections. Those nominees are:

State senator district 21, John T. Peavey; state senator district 22, James H. Baper; state representative district 21, Steve Antone and Ellis Vance; state representative district 26, J. Vard Warburn and Ernest Hale; county commissioner, district 1, Fred Miler; county treasurer, Phyllis Norby; county prosecuting attorney, Henry Manning; and county coroner, Vaughan Blair.

All candidates are Republicans.

Lincoln rejects incumbent

SHOSHONE — Lincoln County voters turned out incumbent second district Congressman Orval Hansen in the primary election Tuesday.

The three-term Republican representative drew 245 votes in Lincoln while his conservative opponent, George Hansen, picked up 304 votes.

Lincoln voters also handed another conservative, Bob Smith, a sound majority in the GOP Senate race. Smith received 361 votes compared to 74 for Donald Winder and 41 for Charles Bolstridge.

In the only contested state legislature race in Lincoln County, John Brooks drew 162 votes and Gordon Hoffield 160 votes, besting Clair Ricketts — 93 votes — in the district 21 representative contest on the Republican ballot.

In the Democratic battle for district 23 representative, Richard Strickland polled 677 votes to William Kersey's 477 in Lincoln County.

The western sector of Lincoln is included in district 23.

In the Republican race for the Lincoln County judicial district, A. Linter Bowman edged out John McKenzie 291 to 280.

Vernon Ravenscroft, buried two Republican opponents in Lincoln in the contest for lieutenant governor. Ravenscroft polled 438 votes compared to 73 for Hope Kading and 32 for Pat Harwood.

On the Democratic side of the lieutenant-governor contest, Ray Rigby took the honors in Lincoln, 214 to 256 votes while John Evans received 102 and Neils Solberg captured 31.

In the Democratic battle for second district congressman, Lincoln voters handed Max Hansen 133 votes, besting Keith Holve's 150.

Republican attorney general, hopeful Wayne Kidwell buried Tim Hopkins 833 to 339 in Lincoln.

"In the four-way battle for superintendent of public instruction on the GOP ticket, Lincoln voters gave Charles Brown an overwhelming majority. He captured 623 votes; Ezra Moore, 81; Donald Heaney, 36, and Harmon Groesbeck, 32."

On the Democratic ballot for superintendent of public instruction, Roy Truly picked up 96 votes and Janmy Stotcheff captured 75.

Three-term incumbent Frank Church whipped Leon Olson 152-29 in the Democratic race for the Senate in Lincoln.

In the only contested race for a 14th Judicial District judge for Lincoln County, Designer Kramer 370 votes; Severt Swenson Jr., 235, and Gleason Anderson 80.

Blaine stance moderate

HAILLEY — Blaine County voters took a moderate stance in the primary election Tuesday, handing Orval Hansen more votes than George Hansen.

In the Republican second district congressional race, Hansen beat incumbent Orval Hansen drew 354 votes to George Hansen's 223 votes in Blaine County.

On the Democratic ballot for second district representative, Blaine voters gave Max Hansen 318 votes to 180 for Keith Holve.

In the Republican Senate race, the county voters overwhelmingly took "Boo" Smith's lead over Republican challenger, Donald Winder and 41 for Charles Bolstridge. On the Democratic ballot for the Senate, three-term incumbent Frank Church whipped Leon Olson 472-58.

Vernon Ravenscroft handily defeated two other Republicans in the lieutenant governor contest in Blaine. Ravenscroft polled 429 votes; Hope Kading 166, and Pat Harwood 141. On the Democratic side of the lieutenant-governor race, Blaine voters gave John Evans 276 votes compared to 137 for Ray Rigby and 67 for Neils Solberg.

Republican Wayne Kidwell buried Tim Hopkins in the attorney general race in Blaine County. Kidwell polled 833 votes to Hopkins' 339.

In the Republican race for superintendent of public instruction, Blaine voters handed Ezra Moore 675 votes, compared to 142 for Charles Brown, 71 for Harmon Groesbeck and 71 for Donald Heaney. On the Democratic ballot, Roy Truly edged out Jim Stotcheff 352 to 275.

In the 21st Judicial District seat being vacated by Judge Charles Scoggia, Twin Falls attorney Douglas Kramer polled 679 votes in Blaine County to 213 votes for Severt Swenson Jr. and 143 for Gleason Anderson.

Democratic incumbent, state senator, John Peavey; Republican, state senator, Steve Antone and E. V. McHan, both Republicans, state representative.

In county uncontested nominations, Van Gilder, incumbent, state treasurer; Deller, incumbent, state treasurer; John Bennett, Democrat, commissioner district three; C. W. Gardner, Democrat, commissioner district two; Rodette Fry, Republican, county treasurer; Lillian Wright, Democrat, county treasurer; Delmer Melchison, Republican, county assessor; and Marie Ivie, Democrat, district court clerk.

TF incumbent solons ousted

Buhl for the house of representatives, Brackett, R. Twin Falls; and Lawrence Krigger, R. Piler.

Nominated in district No. 26 were James H. Baper, R. Burley; and Robert Savelle, R. Burley, incumbent, for the Senate and J. Vard Chalmers, incumbent, and Ernest A. Hale, R. Burley, incumbent for the House of Representatives.

District 21 nominees include John Peavey, R. Rubert; incumbent, Senator, Ellis McHan; R. Rubert, incumbent, and Steve Antone, R. Rubert, incumbent, for the House of Representatives.

District 22 nominees include John Peavey, R. Rubert; incumbent, Senator, Ellis McHan; R. Rubert, incumbent, and Steve Antone, R. Rubert, incumbent, for the House of Representatives.

Legislative district No. 24, nominated for the Senate were John M. Barker, R. Buhl, incumbent, and Raymond E. Strickland, D. Burley.

In uncontested races in the county, Eugene D. Frederickson received the Republican nomination for prosecuting attorney; M. Neher, M. D., Republican, county coroner; and Carl C. Stephens, Democrat, county treasurer.

Lawrence Rubelt, Jr., receiving 10 votes, served as the county's representative on the Regional Airport Board, receiving 711 votes.

Conservatives top Jerome vote list

JEROME — Jerome county voters expressed a strong preference for conservative candidates in Tuesday's primary election returns.

The county residents supported conservative choices for state level office, supporting Bob Smith for US senator among Republicans and Gleason Hansen over incumbent Orval Hansen.

In the single local election voters supported J. Howard Tesson for county assessor, over Ed Messenger by a 318-326 vote margin.

County Republican voters supported Bob Smith with 1,035 over Donald L. Winder, 221 and Charley Bolstridge, 26, for US Senate.

In the Democratic contest for Senate, Frank Church polled 615 votes to Leon Olson 109 and Republican incumbent Orval Hansen.

Republican gubernatorial candidate Jack M. Murphy received 1,161 votes, compared to GOP's Cecil D. Andrus 471.

Vernon F. Ravenscroft with 1,103 votes, smashed Hope Kading, 166, and Pat R. Harwood 141, for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

Democratic hopeful for the same office, John V. Evans received 216 votes, compared to 171 votes for Ray W. Rigby and Neils L. Solberg.

Democratic contest for lieutenant-governor's chair, Republican hopeful John Evans outpolled his closest opponent; Ray Rigby, 214 to 256, with a third candidate, Neils Solberg, polling 102. The

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened slightly lower in routine trading in the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday, reflecting renewed uncertainty about the nation's leadership.

A few intimates after the opening bell, the Dow Jones industrial average had lost 1.02 to 772.76. The blue chip indicator closed up 1.33 at 773.77 Tuesday, after soaring more than 25 points in the first hour of trading, when speculation President Nixon might resign swept Wall Street. Advances outnumbered declines, 201 to 182, among the 627 issues traded.

Cloudy, cool through Thursday

Twin Falls, northside, and warmer Halley, Camas, Prairie, lower Wood River area.

Partly cloudy and cool through Thursday, with chance of a few showers or thundershowers, mainly in the mountains. Gusty winds near showers. Lows tonight in the 40s. Highs Thursday mid-70s to low 80s.

The outlook for Friday, Thursday in the 70s.

Synopsis: The slow moving upper air trough which entered Idaho Tuesday, producing rain and cool temperatures, was stationary over the Gem State this morning.

As a result, the partly cloudy to cloudy skies along with cool temperatures and widely scattered showers will remain over the state through Thursday.

The extended outlook for Friday through Sunday calls for mostly dry weather with a waning trend over the weekend. High temperatures will be generally in the 80s, reaching the low 90s by Sunday.

Overnight lows will be mostly in the 50s.

Mutual Funds Futures markets advance

CHICAGO (UPI) — Futures advanced from 4 cents to 34 cents to 16 cents higher for the week end as volume of corn contracts. Positive activity in corn futures markets as much as 14 cents to 20 cents at the best levels during the morning but credit taking caused most of the gains.

WHEAT STRONGER

Reactivated interest in wheat gains through the world and U.S. export tenders plus limit gains in corn helped limit futures from an interim gain.

Futures closed from 8 1/2 cents to 13 cents higher for the active months with July-October a 20 cent limit gain. Chicago cash basis is steady at 6 cents under September-soft wheat and 4 cents under hard red winter. Gulf basis is 1 cent to 2 cents higher 14 cents over Kansas City September.

Credit slows down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In what could be interpreted as good news if you believe overhauled consumer demand contributes to inflation and had news, U.S. bank demand for credit continues to slow down. The Federal Reserve said Tuesday that growth in consumer credit slowed in June.

Growth in total consumer credit outstanding was $1.6 billion in June after seasonal adjustment, compared to $1.6 billion in April, and $1.5 billion in May.

The second quarter as a whole, advances in both installment and noninstallment credit were larger than the first quarter, substantially below the peaks reached in late 1972 and early 1973.

Installment credit rose $1.6 billion in June compared with $1.5 billion in May. Noninstallment credit was up $67 million compared with a $376 million hike in May.

Most areas of credit growth in June were not significantly different than May, however, nonautomotive consumer goods credit — reflecting the June slowdown in retail sales — grew $20 million from June compared to $34 million in May. Similarly, noninstallment charge account balances grew $70 million in June compared to average increases of $20 million the two previous months.

Mediator sees desire for settlement in NFL strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's chief labor mediator said Tuesday after a five and a half hour bargaining session with owners and players that he was "very hopeful" that a break was in sight in the 37-day old pro football strike.

W.J. Usery Jr., head of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, called both sides back to another round of talks Wednesday at 10 A.M. and told negotiators he thought developments in the next few days would be "very critical" in trying to settle the sports dispute.

At the end of the renewed negotiations Tuesday night,

Usery commented: "I am more hopeful. I don't want to use the word optimistic but I am very hopeful."

He commented: "I was impressed with their attitudes and their desire to get on with it, to dig in as hard as they can to find a resolution to their problem. For the first time we have seen a genuine desire for settlement."

He reported that since talks recessed last Thursday he had conferred with Ed Garvey, Executive Director of the Players Union and Theodore Kheel, special labor consultant to the owners, in times by telephone "trying to set the best climate possible for the negotiations."

The bargaining teams for the players and the owners were together for only approximately 15 minutes during the day but Usery met intensively with a sub-committee consisting of Garvey, Kheel and Bill Curry, president of the Players Association, and Wellington Mara, head of the Management Council.

Attendance at 12 pro-season games over the weekend was drastically down from past years and the rookies and free agents who made up most of the lineups played before an estimated 250,000 empty seats.

The estimated revenue loss to the owners ranged from $2 million to $3.1 million.

On Sunday, player representatives met in Washington and voted unanimously in support of the union bargaining team led by executive director Ed Garvey.

However, during the weekend and Monday, a number of superstar quarterbacks and other veterans gave up the strike and reported to training camps.

Among them were Miami's Bob Griese, Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw, Los Angeles' John Hadl, and Dallas' Bob Lilly and Leroy Jordan.

Caldwell thumps Twin Falls

LEWISTON — Caldwell combined 12 singles with nine errors to drop Twin Falls 13-4 in the first round of the state Legion tournament Tuesday night.

In other action, Idaho Falls dropped Moscow 3-2 and Pocatello thumped the Boise Gems 10-3.

"I think right now the boys are a little embarrassed," Coach Paul Epperson said of his charges. "They went out a little tight and just weren't able to relax."

"We'll go with Gary Miller (on the mound) tomorrow and I expect they will play a little behind them," he continued.

Epperson said he was impressed with the pitching.

Epperson used two Tuesday night but, confident that Caldwell, Gary Hull was charged with the loss when Caldwell picked up four runs in the second and four more in the fourth. Jeff Van Nest allowed three in the sixth and two in the eighth. But of the 13 runs, only two were earned.

Meanwhile, Twin Falls couldn't mount any scoring offense until the sixth. Miller and Bob Woods started the sixth with singles and, after a passed ball, Curt Ward belted a two-run double.

"An inning later Ron Iik collected a hit, moved up on a ground out and came in when Mike Galicia singled. Wood's sacrifice fly plated Miller in the ninth after Miller had lived on a error."

Hanratty stays cool

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Terry Hanratty, the only Pittsburgh Steeler veteran quarterback who remains on strike, is not concerned about being lost in the shuffle.

Hanratty's roommates for five years, Terry Bradshaw, reported to the training camp at St. Vincent College at Latrobe, Pa., Monday. Joe Gilliam, a third string quarterback last year, started in the Steelers' 267 pre-season opener against the Spints in New Orleans last Saturday.

"I'm not worried about my job," the former Notre Dame All American said. "Last Saturday before I left for the players' meeting in Washington, I talked to Bradshaw about returning. He told me he was thinking of giving back. I asked him to wait until I returned Monday, but he didn't."

"With me it's an case of divided loyalty — to the National Football League Players Association and the club. But I'm with the boys for the sake of solidarity."

"Sure, I admit I'm disappointed because Bradshaw went to camp. We've been very close and we know each other's thoughts. We've been roomies for several years. But that was his own decision."

Hanratty said the striking Steelers are not vindictive towards the club.

Chest pain puts Blue in hospital

DALLAS (UPI) — Oakland A's pitcher Vida Blue, complaining of chest pains, was hospitalized Tuesday for further tests on a possible heart irregularity.

Blue has no history of heart trouble.

There was no immediate indication as to the seriousness of Blue's condition and doctors refrained from further comment until a comparison could be made of electrocardiogram (EKG) tests.

Blue, twice a 20-game winner, complained of the chest pains Monday in Minnesota, but did not consult a doctor until the 25th, when Texas for a three-game series which began Tuesday night.

Blue had been suspected to pitch in the series opener.

Dr. Richard J. Hunter, examined Blue and ordered him admitted to Baylor Hospital where an EKG was administered.

76ers pick Williams

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Pat Williams, who said he is excited to be associated with a last place team, Tuesday was named general manager of the NBA Philadelphia 76ers.

Williams, with two years remaining on his contract as GM of the Atlanta Hawks, was given a multi-year contract by 76ers owner Irv Kosloff.

Kosloff said he received permission last June from Atlanta to talk to Williams about coming here. Williams said he called the transition a "smooth one."

"I'm glad and excited to be here," Williams said. "I'm tackling a unique opportunity. I feel most comfortable and fulfilled in a situation that needs rebuilding. I couldn't ask for more. I accepted."

To say the 76ers need rebuilding is almost an understatement. The team had the worst record in the NBA the past two seasons, while finishing last in the Atlantic Division.

"It doesn't take 10 to 15 years to rebuild a winner," Williams explained. "You can turn a team around in two years with good young players."

Staubach blasts Garvey and NFL strike

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (UPI) — Roger Staubach blasted Ed Garvey Tuesday with the grumpy grit of the old Navy man he is.

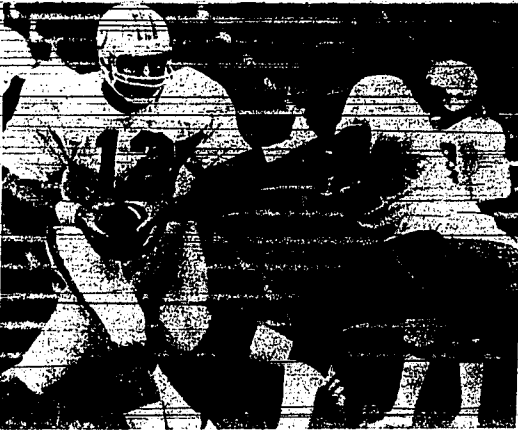

Garvey, executive secretary of the National Football League Players Association, was angry with Staubach's decision to defy the strike and report to the Dallas Cowboys training camp. Garvey was quoted in the Washington Post as saying:

"I'm glad I wasn't at Pearl Harbor with him. I'm glad Staubach, the former Navy quarterback and officer, was indignant."

"That is a really ridiculous analogy," he said. "It shows the type of leadership we have if you have to use analogies like that to make statements."

"Normally, I wouldn't say anything about it. But talking to a Navy man about Pearl Harbor — I just thought that was uncalled for. Garvey has been that way, you know. He's made some strong statements about people who don't listen to his party line."

"You can say a lot of things to a Navy man. But talk about his family, and then Pearl Harbor and you're in trouble."

"I'm making a decision. I think it's right for football," he said of his decision to defy the striking players' union and report to camp. "I would do to the limit if I felt our cause had been handled properly and was reasonable. I think a lot of good, solid demands have been camouflaged by unreasonable demands that have been made."

"When it came down to this last week and I felt the mediator could get things straightened-out over my head, I agreed. And our strategy was still of a belligerent nature. I felt it was best for football to get off to training camp."

"Therefore, the cause did not agree with my personal feelings," he said. "That's related to Garvey, and has been verified by him making a statement about me analogous to Pearl Harbor."

"Of the NFL Players Association demands, Staubach said:

"I'd fight all the way to the end for something I believe in, but you don't fight for something you don't believe in. You become cattle going along with the herd. There are a lot of false causes. For every right cause, there are maybe 10 that are wrong."

Staubach said there was one issue he would have struck the entire year, had it been among the players' demands:

"I would have gone the whole season for getting a pension for the former players. We have one demand — we're fighting for guys — the Canadian League and World Football League, that if they jump to our league they are vested. Those years — in the other leagues count in a pension plan in our league."

"That's one of our demands, yet we can't fight for the former players in the NFL. That just doesn't hit home."

(Do we know something other car makers don't?)

Perhaps. For it seems to us that we have the kind of car you want. One that skimps on gas without skimping on quality. And frankly, we think you'll be more willing to look at one if we lowered the price. When you do, you'll discover a car that got 31.3 mpg in a cross-country test certified by the U.S. Auto Club. A car that comes loaded with "extras" as standard equipment. In short, you'll discover a car that was a great buy at the old price. And a sensational buy today.

Weiskopf won't use wrist injury for losing excuse

CLEMMONS, N.C. (UPI) — Tom Weiskopf's hand, he says, is not in his mind nor in his head. "I just haven't played well this year," he says. "It's that simple."

Looking for his first victory of the year when the PGA Championship begins on Thursday, Weiskopf quickly brushes aside any such ideas. "I don't think about it, and I don't even like to talk about it," he said sharply.

He certainly doesn't think that'll go out and make a bad swing. "I'm gonna reinforce my hand. It's back about 90 per cent now, and it's not gonna get any worse."

Weiskopf, first injured by a thumb on the winter tour, has been bothered through the spring and seriously considered withdrawing on the eve of the U.S. Open in June.

Gauging the foe

APPLICERS Jack Nicklaus, left, and Arnold Palmer, just critical eyes on the 47-year par four hole before teeing it up in a practice round today. They were preparing for the PGA Championship in North Carolina and Nicklaus is defending champion. (UPI)

Rodriguez sees accuracy with driver as key to PGA tourney

CLEMMONS, N.C. (UPI) — Chi Chi Rodriguez, a 33-year-old who wrote a book telling how to overwork a golf ball, says the accurate drivers will have a distinct advantage in this week's PGA Championship.

"This is a week when the long-ball hitters who keep the ball in play drive in the middle of the fairways," said Rodriguez. "This course at Tanglewood is long and narrow with a lot of traps and rough."

"A couple of times," said Thompson, when he came in after playing a practice round. "I could see it was my partner's head when he got into the rough."

The general feeling here this week is that even-par golf will win the PGA Championship. "I don't think it's going to be a 72, 73 or 74," said Rodriguez. "The course is being played to a par of 70 and many of the golfers, including Gary Player, one of the favorites, feel 70 is a winning score."

Victor Regalado, the Mexican who caught his four colleagues by surprise this past weekend with his camp from behind in the final round to win at Sutton, Miss., still hasn't gotten over the shock. "I'm still having trouble convincing myself that it really happened," said the 36-year-old Regalado, who had a net worth of $7,000 one year before making off with $30,000 at Sutton.

"I'm not completely changed," he said. "I don't have to do anything to be playing again. I've had my changes, but my game hasn't been sharp enough for me to do the things I've had to do."

Nicklaus arrived here Tuesday afternoon for some last-minute practice before setting out Thursday in defense of his PGA Championship. The PGA recognizes his last chance to win in this one and it feels it will mark the first year since 1962 that he has won at least one of the so-called majors.

Some contend that Nicklaus' desire has slackened. "I had once he surpassed Bobby Jones' 35-car-old record last year by winning the PGA by four strokes and setting a new goal."

Nicklaus, now in his 44th year as a professional golfer, has won only six majors, but he is still in the top 10 in the world. "Any time I play, there's an urgency to win. I have plenty of desire now. I don't admit that I don't know how to win, but that desire will continue. Even after the desire is gone, I'll have the ability to play well for a number of years."

Nicklaus gets golfing tips

CLEMMONS, N.C. (UPI) — Few would have nerve enough to offer golfing tips to Jack Nicklaus. Right?

"You'd be surprised at how many suggestions I receive through the mail when I'm not playing well," said Nicklaus, smiling at one major championship and one more than any other golfer, past or present.

"You won't believe some of the things I get through the mail. Most of them, however, are pretty hard to understand. But, even Jack Nicklaus gets that he has been playing below his usual standard of late. And Jack has been listening to advice, wherever he might get it."

"I definitely haven't been playing well this year," said Nicklaus, although he's fifth on this year's money list with about $124,000. "I haven't won a tournament since winning in Hawaii last month, and that's what people go by. I've been close a few other times. I've had my changes, but my game hasn't been sharp enough for me to do the things I've had to do."

Hiskers get Cal quarterback

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former California quarterback Vince Ferragamo, an ex-Los Angeles football player of the Year from Bowling High School of Washington, Calif., said Nebraska will attend Nebraska this fall.

Ferragamo, 210 pounds, had planned to spend this week at home in California. But Regalado has no illusions that his own at Sutton is going to suddenly turn into the terror of the tour. He just shrugged his shoulders and smiled when asked what he thought his chances were here this week.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus should be handicapped by the fact that although he has won two PGA championships in a row for the past 17 years, the last time that did happen the double winner got one of his titles in North Carolina.

Drake State won the title PGA at Ponderosa. The last time that tournament was held in this state, then won the 1967 PGA at Pittsburgh.

Entle-Nipflins won his second of three PGA titles in 1971, there had been a span of six years in which no former PGA champ was successful again.

Illini get report

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — The NCAA's recruitment committee has completed its investigation of the University of Illinois' basketball recruiting practices and filed a report with the school. It was disclosed Tuesday.

The school, admitted receiving the report but would not divulge its contents.

The NCAA committee two weeks ago heard arguments and allowed recruitment violations in 1969. The findings of the committee have not been disclosed, but the university has an option of appealing the committee's findings or appealing to the NCAA council.

Import quotas set by Canada

OTTAWA (LPM)

The world surplus of beef, according to the official announcement, reported to LPM by Mike Ellis, special assistant in the Canadian Department of Agriculture.

Based on average imports over the past five year period, 32,835 live cattle imports will be accepted from August 12, 1973 until Aug. 11, 1976.

Stockpile proposal draws fire

WASHINGTON (CNNS) - A Capitol Hill aide Monday accused the U.S. and other states food producers should fund their own food reserves for world emergency use rather than participate in an international stockpiling scheme.

Robert Pickers, chairman of Capitol Hill Committee on Commerce, and a member of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said "We plan to export our operation now."

Song lyrics queried

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Folk singer John Prine says, in lyrics to a new song, that the Peabody Coal Co. wiped out Paradise, Ky., with the world's largest shovel, the coal company disagrees.

Prine's song tells the story of what used to be Paradise, Ky., which, as the song has it, was wiped out and hauled away in a coal train.

Not so, says Peabody Coal. The company feels Prine, a 27-year-old, ex-postman, is taking poetic license a bit too far. So, Peabody has launched a "Fact versus Prine" campaign in its company magazine.

Paradise, the article says, was not a victim but, rather, a beneficiary of progress.

Titled "Paradise Kentucky" revisited the cover of the "Peabody News" features photographs of J.H. Buchanan, the former Paradise postmaster, his wife, and Mrs. Agnes Harralson, the county historian.

National winner

DEBBIE GRANDJEAN, member of the Highliners 4-H Club of Twin Falls, returned from Dallas, Tex., with eighth place honors in the National Youth Horse Congress in which she judged in competition with top 4-H contest winners from throughout the nation. She was high individual in the state of Idaho, and her club's team also placed first. The team attended the national contest.

4-H club sets party

TWIN FALLS — Healthy Cookie Cutters 4-H Club members are planning a child's party for Aug. 20.

The club met Monday afternoon to discuss how to plan a party for children and to see demonstrations on baby feeding and sewing.

Jacqui Powell gave the demonstration on feeding infants and how to plan a party for children. Luanne Platt presented a demonstration on three different types of seam finishing and methods of making a new wardrobe from old clothes.

The next meeting will be Aug. 12 at the home of Pam Moseley.

Linda Danos, Childers recite vows

FILED— Linda Danos and Rod Childers were married July 27 in the Filer Methodist Church with Rev. J. D. Crego officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Danos. Filer, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Childers, Jerome.

The double ring ceremony was performed before an altar decorated with pink, blue and yellow spider chrysanthemums, backed with white gladiol and flanked with candelabra, holding white spiral candles.

The bride wore an empire style gown with a lace bodice, high standup collar and long full sleeves. Her eight-foot-long veil of double net was edged with lace.

She carried a bouquet of pink, blue and yellow spider chrysanthemums with white roses and white leaves.

Rosie Giles was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Danos and Bina Edrington. Lori Fink was flower girl and Will Childers was ring bearer.

Barry Giles was best man. Groomsman were Reed Cragg and Nym Cochran. Tom Cochran and Betty Baumgartner were ushers. Dan and Pat Danos were taper lighters.

Mrs. F. A. Deon was organist. Howard Moon was soloist.

The couple was honored at a reception and dance at the Filer American Legion Hall following the ceremony.

The bride's table was decorated with white satin and lace over a yellow cloth. The three tiered cake was decorated with white and yellow lacework and flowers. A yellow fountain was placed in the center of the table. Six heart shaped cakes flanked the large cake.

Donna Rae Richert was in charge of the guest book. Laura Fink and Pam Childers cared for gifts.

Gregory Bailey and Janet Moll served cake. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mascarello assisted.

Following a honeymoon trip to Seaside, Ore., the couple was honored at a barbecue given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Slatter, Filer, Aug. 3.

The couple resides at 442 Filer, where the bridegroom is employed by the father of the bride.

AUGUST FURS STORED ON ICE

By Mary Sue Miller

New fur coats are now coming into your favorite fur stores. If your name is on the lucky list for a coat, you would be smart to buy now and store till ready.

For long-term satisfaction, consider these points:

- Ecology: Owing to the danger of extinction, those wonderful wild cats—leopards, cheetahs, et. al—are still off limits. We are all for that. But there seems to be growing evidence, according to environmental experts, that well-regulated, supervised trapping of certain furry wildlife amounts to conservation. For the prolific raccoons, skunks and foxes, for instance, storage becomes scarce and disease hantavirus. It could be that you are open to buy. Always available, of course, are ranch-bred skins and those wdyen look-like marvols.
- Durability. The decisive factors are hardness of pelt, quality of fur and of workmanship. For hard wear, the sturdy pelt has a pile on the down side. Quality can be vouchsafed for only by a reputable furrier.
- Becomingness. Generally speaking, the slimming coat is made of the flatter furs worked on the vertical. Becoming color is no problem to figure or face. Thanks to mutation, one possessing the range is wide. Just remember, deep shades pare figures and set off blond hair.
- Styling. As long as the styling follows authentic fashion trends, it lasts as long as the fur. Among those with a future, count a poncho, jacket and cape, both slim and full coats in longer lengths, fur-lined cloth versions of most styles. Good hunting.

MISS GARRISON plans rites

BULL — Rev. and Mrs. Edward C. Garrison, Bull, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Myra, to Curt Rubin, Sacramento, Calif. Rubin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rubin, Sacramento. Miss Garrison is a graduate of the Bull High School and attended the Northwest Nazarene College last year. Rubin graduated from Elk Grove High School, Sacramento, in 1971 and is employed at Wells. The couple plans a Dec. 13 wedding in the Florin Church of the Nazarene, Sacramento.

To prevent flareups and excess smoke on your charcoal grill, tilt it slightly. Drippings then will drain to one side, away from the firebed.

Real switch

KETTERING, England (UPI) — Fifteen British Rail passengers bound for Kettering Monday arrived by bus. The train driver had been right through the Kettering station and rail authorities sent a bus to the next stop, Marke Harborough, to fetch them. "We all make mistakes sometimes," a British Rail spokesman said of the train driver's blunder.

Bridge lessons scheduled at 'Y'

TWIN FALLS — Contract bridge lessons will be taught at the YM-YWCA beginning Sept. 9. Pool player's bridge is scheduled for 1 to 3:30 p.m. Sept. 9. This is supervised bridge—play for any bridge player. It is not necessary to have a partner. Players donate $1 each to the YM-YWCA pool fund. Duplicate bridge lessons will be taught from 8 to 10 p.m., beginning Sept. 9. The class is designed to teach the fundamentals of duplicate bridge play. Advanced bridge lessons will begin Sept. 10 and will be taught from 10 to 11 p.m. Beginning bridge lessons are scheduled for 8 to 10 p.m. Sept. 10. They are for persons who have played very little or no bridge. Intermediate bridge lessons will be taught from 8 to 10 p.m. The cost of ten two-hour lessons is $12 for Y members and $17 for non-members. Registration is being taken now. Those interested are urged to register right away because the classes will not be taught unless there are at least three takers. Those interested may call the YM-YWCA, 743-4394, or the instructor, Ada Burgess, 743-4759, for more information or to register. After a two-hour bridge and pinocchio sessions will begin at the same time.

Jerome couple wed

Project completed

TWIN FALLS — Future members of America, members of the Twin Falls chapter have completed one of several community projects planned for this summer. The group met Saturday at Rock Creek Park west of Twin Falls to pour concrete for playground equipment. The project is one of many under the Building Our American Community program, a national project of FFA.

Jacoby

The only thing he has to go on is that West had probably opened a long suit and therefore will be short somewhere else. So at trick two South leads a low diamond toward dummy. West plays the nine and dummy's jack holds the trick. South returns to his hand with a club and leads his other low diamond. Lo and behold, West produces the ace and South's extra chance has materialized. Now all he has to do is to be sure to keep a club entry to dummy so that he will be able to get to the queen of diamonds after cashing his king.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice works intricates. On June 2, the Philadelphia Bulletin ran the following item, datelined Toronto, Canada: "The tax department received a letter along with a tax return recently: 'I haven't been able to sleep since cheating on my income tax,' the letter read. 'Am enclosing my check for $500. If still unable to sleep, will mail you the balance.' The following item appeared on the same day in the DEAR ABBY column in the Washington (D.C.) DEAR IN: Send the Internal Revenue Service a check for $500. And if you still can't sleep, send them the balance. Now, that's what I call action! A.C. ROUIDOUX, DOVER, DEL. DEAR A.C.: Not really. The letter in my column was scheduled for release on March 22nd. And that's when it ran in Toronto. DEAR ABBY: My husband has a big mouth. I've heard that he has been blabbing all around the warehouse where he works all kinds of personal things about his sex life. This is very embarrassing to me because I know all the guys who work there, and I can hardly look them in the eye knowing they know so much about me. This is enough to make me want to pack up and leave him. Am I wrong? STELLA DEAR STELLA: Don't pack until you're sure he was talking about you. DEAR ABBY: My wife of 20 years has never shown me much affection. You may say, "All right, some people just aren't the affectionate type," but let me lay this on you. When she and her brother get together, you never saw so much hugging, kissing and pawing in your life. They can't keep their hands off each other. The other night they both sat squeezed together in one little loveseat, and it was obvious that they had more than a sister-brother relationship going. I didn't make an issue of it because I didn't know how to do it. This is something completely outside my experience. Maybe divorce is the answer, but I don't want that. Please publish this with a workable solution as there must be other readers of your column with the same problem. PUZZLED IN NEW ORLEANS DEAR PUZZLED: Don't jump to any conclusions. You could be wrong, and you probably are. Many siblings are overly affectionate to each other, and they have nothing going except brotherly and sisterly love. Since your wife obviously is capable of responding to affection, initiate some, and see what happens.

Little Smoky Rd. rebuilding begins

FAIRFIELD — Reconstruction of three miles of road between Ketchikan and Featherville will begin next week.

Larry Weeks, Fairfield district engineer for the Sawtooth National Forest, said the construction site will begin at the Five Points junction on the main road to Couch Summit and extend down the Little Smoky drainage to Lick Creek. The area is about 15 miles north of Fairfield and is within Cuzco County.

Weeks said the contract for reconstruction has been awarded Bateman Brothers Construction Co., Shelley.

He said there may be as much as a two-hour traffic delay during part of the time the project is underway. Plans are to close the road to all traffic at various times between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. during weekdays. The road will be open at all times after 4:30 p.m. and on weekends.

Motorists are advised to check for signs posted near the forest boundary north of Fairfield. These will advise when the road is closed or will be closed for more than two hours.

Purpose of the road project, Weeks said, is to provide a safe travel route to the South Boise River drainage for campers, fishermen, summer home owners, hunters, livestock permittees and logging trucks.

Presently the road is narrow and areas of poor visibility make it unsafe for forest users, Weeks said.

Treasure hunters told to produce Spanish gold

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — Two claimants to an alleged fortune in buried Spanish gold hidden on the White Sands Missile Range have until Friday to produce the treasure or explain why they can't get it.

The action, ordered Monday by District Court Judge Santofloro, Campes, is designed to force the Army to allow the groups to enter the missile range to look for the gold.

State Attorney General David Nowell said if the Army again denies permission to enter the range, the matter is expected to go on to the federal courts.

Campes took the action at a hearing on a suit filed by Owen Noss of Clovis, N.M., one claimant to the treasure, against various state officials and an anonymous group represented by Boston lawyer F. Lee Bailey, which also claims ownership of the gold.

The judge also directed if anyone obtained possession of the legendary treasure, which had been valued as high as $250 million, they should place it in his custody. All parties involved agreed to appoint former New Mexico Gov. Jack Campbell as the qualified receiver to actually take possession of the gold if it were removed from White Sands.

Mrs. Noss, who claims ownership of the treasure because she says her late husband discovered it in the 1920s, asked Campes in the suit to name her the owner of the gold and to nullify the claim of Bailey's group.

Bailey told the judge his group knew where the treasure is hidden but said security around the site was not good.

"Others are stealing it, to put it in blind trusts," he said.

Campes' order gave the Bailey group and Mrs. Noss permission to enter White Sands to recover the gold. Attorneys for both claimants said the court order would be relayed to Army officials.

Army Secretary Howard Callaway last week denied the Bailey group permission to enter the range after the treasure.

Dirty money lead to Nixon panel

(c) Washington Star-News

WASHINGTON — Only six days after the Watergate scandal broke, President Nixon was told that money raised by one of the burglars had been traced back to his re-election campaign committee.

Nixon agreed with his top adviser, H. R. Haldeman, that the Federal Bureau of Investigation should be told to stay out of this. "We don't want you to go any further," he said.

The damning words, which may have hastened the President's pending impeachment and brought him close to the brink of departure from office are in a tape transcript released Monday by the White House for June 23, 1972.

Finance a campaign donation when the Houston firm's president, Robert Allen, later said was meant to be his personal contribution. The lawyer sent the bank drafts, plus $11,000 in cash, back to Houston, where the money was flown up to Washington and delivered to Sloan in the first week of April, 1972.

A $20,000 cashier's check obtained by a regional fundraiser, Kenneth Dahlberg of Minneapolis, also was flown to Washington. A donation he had received from soybean magnate Dwayne O. Andreas. The cash for the donation has been resting in a hotel safe deposit box when a new campaign disclosure law took effect April 7, and Andreas did not hand the money to Dahlberg on a Florida golf course two days later.

Sloan eventually testified that, after Sloan told him to deliver the two donations, he turned both over to the Nixon finance committee's lawyer, G. Gordon Liddy, who was later to be convicted in the Watergate break-in.

Records show Liddy had both the Mexican bank drafts and the Dahlberg check converted to cash through the Miami bank account of Bernard L. Barker, who also was later charged in the break-in. The money was returned to a campaign safe, according to testimony. But Sloan denied taking money out of that safe to furnish to Liddy for his activities.

When five burglars were arrested inside the Watergate on June 17, 1972, investigators traced the draft numbers on $4,300 in $100 bills found on Barker and in the burglars' hotel rooms to the Miami withdrawal that Barker had made in cashing one of the donations.

Six days after the break-in, Haldeman gave the President the news:

E: They've traced the money? Who did they trace it to?

H: Well they've traced it to a name, but they haven't gotten to the guy yet.

E: Would it be somebody here?

H: Ken Dahlberg?

E: Who the hell is Ken Dahlberg?

H: He's a guy, $25,000 in Minnesota and in the check went directly to this guy Barker.

E: It isn't from the committee though, from Sloan?

H: Yeah, it is. It's directly traceable and there's some more through some Texas people that went to the Mexican bank which can also be traced to the Mexican bank — they'll get their names today. — and (Pause)

E: Well, I mean, there's no way — I'm just thinking if they don't cooperate, what do they say? That they were approached by the Cubans. That's what Dahlberg has to say — the Texans too — that they

H: Well, if they will. But then we're relying on more and more people all the time. That's the problem and they'll stop if we could take this other route.

E: All right.

H: And you seem to think the thing to do is get them to stop?

E: Right.

H: Less than two hours after Haldeman's talk with Nixon ended, Haldeman and Ehrlichman met with the CIA's top two officials, Richard M. Helms and Vernon A. Walters, to ask them to approach the FBI and suggest that the investigation should be blunted to avoid exposing CIA operations.

Janie gets 1/3 the protein she should have each day from just 2 glasses of milk.

And loves it.

Your favorite sandwich will always be a mighty good reason for a tall glass of milk. But there's another good reason: Protein. Because you get one-third the protein you should have each day from just two 8 ounce glasses of milk. So, whatever your reason, drink up.

Protein. Another good reason to drink milk.

The events of that now critical day, viewed from the cold distance of two years later, show how fragile the Watergate cover-up already had become in its first week.

Haldeman and fellow presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman were asking the Central Intelligence Agency to turn aside the FBI probe. At almost the same time, the campaign's treasurer was trying to yarn Ehrlichman of his worries about the money involved and was being curt: "I do not want to know."

Later that afternoon in court, a prosecutor would reveal that $9,000 in Mexican money had been traced to one of the burglars' Miami bank account. And the day ended with the treasurer, Hugh W. Sloan Jr., cleaning out half the cash in a campaign safe and carrying it home to be hidden in a trunk — until it was later used for cover-up payments.

But Nixon, in his oval office that morning, would turn from the Watergate talk to such casual topics as how he'd been ruined by his wife's hairdo and to a shrill complaint about Jews in the arts.

Haldeman, according to the tape transcript, told the President: "The FBI investigation is now finding into some productive areas; that the Watergate money had been traced — and it goes in some directions we don't want to know."

"It isn't from the committee though, from Sloan?" Nixon asked in a reference to fundraiser Maurye H. Stans.

"Yeah, it is," replied Haldeman.

And Nixon agreed that the FBI through the CIA should be told to stop. "Don't get any further into this case, period," the President said in the midst of the transcript.

The words in that transcript conflict sharply with Nixon's deftly evasive statement on Watergate in May of last year when he said:

"... there were apparently wide-ranging efforts to limit the investigation or to conceal the possible involvement of members of the administration and the campaign committee. I was not aware of any such efforts at the time."

Ironically, the money that figured in Haldeman's talk with Nixon on that June day actually had only the thinnest of ties to the break-in itself. It involved two questionable campaign donations.

$9,000 in bank drafts flown to the Banco Intercontinental in Mexico City. Investigations would show a Houston mining firm, Gulf Resources and Chemical Co., has sent $100,000 to a Mexican lawyer, Manuel Ogarrio Daguerrre, as a related bill payment for a shut-down sulphur subsidiary.

Ogarrio used that money to finance a campaign donation when the Houston firm's president, Robert Allen, later said was meant to be his personal contribution. The lawyer sent the bank drafts, plus $11,000 in cash, back to Houston, where the money was flown up to Washington and delivered to Sloan in the first week of April, 1972.

A $20,000 cashier's check obtained by a regional fundraiser, Kenneth Dahlberg of Minneapolis, also was flown to Washington. A donation he had received from soybean magnate Dwayne O. Andreas. The cash for the donation has been resting in a hotel safe deposit box when a new campaign disclosure law took effect April 7, and Andreas did not hand the money to Dahlberg on a Florida golf course two days later.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, AUGUST 8, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Interesting new ideas are now present and you would be wise to think out how you can make them work in your life so you will have more success. Discuss your plans with interested persons before putting them in motion.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take the time to try out just what it is you want and how to go about getting it. Try to be more fair in dealing with others.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Meet with business experts and discuss plans for the future. New ideas now come to you that will bring true achievement.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Joining friends at the pleasures that are mutually-enjoyable can make this a happy day. Show mate you are very thoughtful.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Seek the advice of bigwigs and make your operations more successful. Time spent on civic matters can be very helpful.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A good time to step out of that rut you are in and look for brighter horizons. Use that part of your mind that has been dormant.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Use more modern methods now to handle all those obligations ahead of you. The evening can be a happy one in the company of mate.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be with that person who needs your fine advice to solve present problems. Come to a better agreement with "high officials."

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) More imagination and ingenuity is necessary now if you are to make progress the way you want. Take needed health treatments now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can have a wonderful time today, whether at business or at amusements. Show your devotion to your operator. Think wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Good day to entertain at home after you have handled business affairs. Become more interested in musical and cultural affairs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can be clearly just what you must do today and set some to the right decisions very quickly. Be your fun-loving self.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) If properly attended planetarily, you find you can handle financial matters most intelligently today. Make plans for the future.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY—He or she must be taught to complete whatever has once been begun, otherwise there will never be any real success in this lifetime. Give as fine an education as you can, since your progeny will become a persevering and studious person. Teach how to come to decisions quickly. Religion is a must.

—The stars help, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

What's What

L. M. Bov

—Slim, which would you prefer to give your girlfriend a string of pearls or a necklace of grizzly bear teeth? Merly put this rhetorical query to you to point out the difference in the values of the American Indian and the white man. Most any white would choose the pearls. Without explanation. But most any Indian would choose the teeth. With the understanding that it's fairly easy to open an oyster. A philosophical fellow of red ancestry told me that.

Q.—"HOW MUCH MONEY have the reporters who broke the Watergate story, Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein, made out of the thing so far, what with their book, magazine articles and movie rights?

A. $1,480,000 at least, it's reported.

SBILL. Latest report from the federal moneyman indicates the average $1-bill lasts about 13 months. WILT CHAMBERLAIN'S bathtub holds 20 times more water than a normal tub.

MEDICAL TESTS repeatedly indicate that whiskey with soda is more swiftly intoxicating than a like amount of whiskey alone. PERRY, far more sportsman ski on the coastal sands than on the mountain snow, I'm told. REMEMBER, among couples who have any children at all, one out of six have a single child only—no more.

IT'S THE CONTENTION of the stargazers that the typical Capricornian tends to be particularly litigious, even fickle in the early years; but intensely loyal after matrimony, until deceased.

WHITE HANDKERCHIEF—A game warden claims one of the most dangerous things a deer hunter can do in the woods is blow his nose with a white handkerchief. Looks like the flutter of a white tail. Some quick trigger boys evidently can't resist it.

IN ASSYRIAN, too, the word "adam" means "man."

NEVER BUY a book, a record album or a musical tape for a bachelor unless he has specifically named the title of his choice. That is, NOT LOVE THE MEN. His wife or the single girl who wants to please her gentleman friend. He contends the odds run about 49 to 1 that the young lady's random selections won't jibe with the fellow's preferences, so will raise his doubts about how well they'll get along together. However, the gift of an excellent pen knife, key ring or lighter is rarely such a gamble.

KEEP MOVING TO THE GARAGE. YOU DON'T LET HER SEE THE LIGHT. WE DON'T GET TO GET CLEANER BEFORE THEY GET A LOOK. THEY CLAIM CATFISH AREN'T FISH, THEY'RE NO FISH.

CUP CUP CUP CUP

NO RUDDY COLONIST IS GOING TO SPOIL THE KING'S BIRTHDAY PARTY.

HERGIE ARE MADE, NOT BORN.

AND WHY WERE YOU HOPING THAT, JAMIE?

I WAS HOPING YOU'D GET HOME BEFORE I LET TO GO TO THE CAR.

WHAT I'D LIKE TO TELL YOU SOMETHING I GOT HOME LAST NIGHT.

LAST NIGHT? DO YOU MEAN AFTER YOU LEFT ME A NOTE IN THE MORNING SAYING YOU DIDN'T WANT TO SEE HER THIS EVENING?

I WANTED TO KNOW WHETHER SHE WAS GOING TO ASK ME TO ANSWER HER 'SHE SAID SHE'D BE HERE THIS EVENING'.

JAMIE, YOU SHOULDN'T HAVE ASKED THAT QUESTION 'TIL SHE'D BEEN HERE THIS EVENING.
