Nixon settles on resignation course

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon informed Gerald R. Ford today that he was resigning the presidency, a White House aide said. Nixon will make a nationally televised speech at 9 p.m. EDT to tell the American public of his decision.

Nixon met for 70 minutes in the Oval Office earlier today with the vice president to tell him he was dropping down and to lay plans for an orderly transition of power.

"I'm aware of the intense interest of the American people concerning developments over the last two days," said Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, his voice quavered and speaking very slowly.

In announcing the speech by Nixon, Ziegler said, "This of course has been a very difficult time."

Shortly after the Nixon-Ford meeting started, a presidential aide who asked not to be identified said Nixon called in the vice president to tell him he was leaving office.

Nixon's chief speech writer, Ray Price, has been working on his resignation speech for several days.

Ford put off a scheduled western trip shortly before being called to the White House by Nixon.

The meeting started at 11:01 a.m. EDT with only Nixon and Ford present.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren told reporters early Monday before the start of the meeting that Nixon had summoned Ford to the Oval Office.

This followed a statement by a White House aide, who asked not to be identified, that Nixon had decided to resign, leaving only the timing uncertain.

Ford had put off his scheduled departure today for a West Coast trip until late evening or Friday.

As demands for Nixon's resignation mounted and the President was told by congressional leaders that his chances were dim of escaping conviction by the Senate, an aide who asked not to be identified, said that the President now concur with chief advisers that he will have to resign.

Some advisers were reported telling Nixon to wait about a week and allow the atmosphere to calm to show that he is not being stampeded out of office.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said, "I think something will happen today or tomorrow."

White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig is among advisers who have suggested to Nixon that he quit in the aftermath of the President's disclosure that he was aware of the Watergate cover-up as far back as late June, 1972.

In Congress, Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., introduced a resolution urging that Nixon not be prosecuted if he resigned. Such a resolution would not have force of law, but Brooke suggested it would be a sharing of responsibility by Congress with Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski who would make the decision.

Nixon's chief speechwriter, Ray Price, was directed to prepare a draft of Nixon's resignation speech for delivery to the nation.

Some other advisers urged Nixon to stay on and see the fight through a Senate trial. But Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Wednesday he felt Nixon could now count on only about 15 Senate votes, whereas he would need 34 to avoid conviction and removal.

The President's wife and two daughters, Julie Eisenhower and Tricia Cox, were reportedly to have argued strenuously against resignation.

The White House switchboard has been jammed for more than 24 hours with telephone calls since rumors swept the country that Nixon was on the verge of resigning. Most of the callers begged in very emotional terms that the President not leave office.

But signs were in place suggesting his departure soon from the presidency which he never won; the last time with a historic landslide victory.

Wholesale price index rises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A wave of higher prices for industrial goods and farm products pushed the wholesale price index up 3.9 per cent in July's steepest increase in 11 months. The Labor Department reported today.

The index, standing at 161.7, was 20.4 per cent higher than a year ago. The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the increase reflected widespread price gains for industrial goods and much higher prices for livestock, meats, and grains.

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Dr. Werner Von Braun warned Wednesday that a decreasing interest in space projects "may set us up" for another Sputnik surprise.

WASHINGTON — A resolution to grant President Nixon immunity from criminal or civil prosecution in federal, state and local courts if he resigns has been prepared by Congressional leaders who say they expect him to step down.

The resolution for immunity could encounter rank-and-file resistance in Congress, especially if it is introduced before Nixon quits. Some members of Congress feared the resolution would seem to condone crime in high places.

The news about the resolution, however, was that rank-and-file edginess over the resolution would be worked out that the resignation would come by Friday. Nixon reportedly wants assurances that it would pass after he quits. Congress wants him to go first.

Nixon's resignation undoubtedly would short-circuit what appears to be almost certain impeachment by the House of Representatives and conviction of high crimes and misdemeanors by the Senate. The penalty for such a conviction is instantaneous removal from office, but Nixon then would be subject to court action from which he is immune while he occupies the presidency.

The resolution to give him immunity is expected to be introduced by Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass. It was hammered out in a meeting attended by Republican house and senate leaders. Here is the text:

"Concurrent resolution expressing the sense of Congress with respect to proceedings against President Richard M. Nixon.

"Resolved, by the Senate, that it be the sense of Congress that if President Richard M. Nixon should resign, no officer or employee of the United States including the attorney general and the special prosecutor and no officers or employees of any state, territory or foreign government should bring conduct or continue criminal or civil proceedings against him."

The word "continue" was "intended to preclude judges from entertaining civil suits which might be brought against Nixon by individuals over whom Congress has no control."

"It was Brooke who had predicted that Nixon would resign Wednesday night in response to the message—that his days in the White House are numbered—whether or not he quits the post to which he was narrowly elected in 1969 and by the largest landslide in American history in 1972.

2 charged with murder in wake of TF slayings

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Two persons were charged with first degree murder following separate slayings in Twin Falls during a two-hour period Wednesday afternoon, one in a downtown store.

Capt. Tim Qualls, chief of detectives here, said Stephanie Whitesides, 30, was stabbed to death while she was at work alone in a downtown shop about 12:30 p.m.

Charged with first degree murder in connection with her death is Richard Lee Huffman, 23, a resident of the Magic Valley Living Center, a shelter home for retarded adults.

Qualls said the second murder victim is Fred Bender, 53, Buhl. He died at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital about 5 p.m. following a shooting at about 2:30 p.m. in the Pioneer Trailer Court.

Charged with first degree murder in his death is Carol Elizabeth Bybee, 47, Twin Falls. Both suspects are being held without bond and both are scheduled for arraignment in magistrate court today.

Capt. Qualls said two women customers who entered the Bender store between 12:30 p.m. and 1 p.m. Wednesday discovered the body of Mrs. Whitesides in the rear portion of the store.

About 12:45 p.m. police received a call from someone at Idaho Frozen Foods stating a man there needed assistance as he was bleeding from an arm wound. He was picked up by city police and taken to the hospital for emergency treatment and then taken to the police station for questioning.

Idaho reactions mixed

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — President Nixon's reported plan to resign tonight brought mixed reactions from a member of Idaho's congressional team and local political leaders.

Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, today said it's not a matter of whether or not he thinks the President should quit.

He said the resignation announcement may come "before the day is out."

"However, the three-term congressman would not say whether, in his opinion, the President should quit. "I would accept whatever his decision would be," Hansen said.

"I think if the evidence shows that President Nixon has committed criminal offenses," he should step down. Hansen said. Asked if existing evidence already establishes criminal violations by the President, Hansen said, "It's hard to say."

However, he said, there may be "additional incriminating evidence" that his not surprised. "Only God knows," Hansen said, referring to President Nixon.

Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, said, "I've about come to the conclusion that probably his best thing to do is to resign."

"I think it's now got down to that point," Barker said, citing the likelihood that both houses of Congress would vote to remove the President.

Laird Noh, Twin Falls, chairman of the Twin Falls Republican Central Committee, said Nixon should not resign because "there should be a trial in the Senate to determine the facts."

"I'm still not ready to disavow the President," Noh said.

Congress ought to go through the impeachment process," he said.

Stephen Carter, Twin Falls, new chairman of the Twin Falls Democratic Central Committee, said "I personally don't support resignation."

"I'd just as soon he stay on and go through the process," Carter said.

"There won't be any question over it—he goes through the impeachment process," he said.

PRESIDENT RICHARD M. NIXON ... his final day in office?

Resignation preferred

A Times-News telephone survey of Magic Valley residents today showed a majority thinks President Nixon should leave office.

Of those who said he should leave, an overwhelming majority said they would prefer the President resign rather than go through the process of impeachment and removal in the Congress.

Fifty-two per cent said they felt he should leave office; 36 per cent said he should remain in office.

The survey of 50 people suggested a huge shift in sentiment away from the President.

In a similar poll taken throughout the Valley last November, only 31 per cent of the respondents said they felt the President should leave office.

The new survey also showed loss of confidence in the President's handling of his job. In November 53 per cent of those who had an opinion thought the President had done a good job. Today, only 25 per cent believed he had done a good job.

By United Press International Heavy firing broke out across the "green line" dividing the Greek and Turkish communities on Cyprus today in Geneva, Greece and Turkey look pessimistic, stands going into the second round of talks on the future of the embattled island.

A British newsman was killed and five others injured when their car convoy ran into a Turkish minefield on the north coast.

Small arms and mortar fire erupted again after noon in the Cyprus capital of Nicosia and continued two hours later along the "green line." A black pillar of smoke from a burning gasoline station billowed over the old walled part of the city.

There was no indication who started the fighting in the latest in the daily violations of the nine-day Cyprus cease-fire.

In Geneva, a peace conference official said "things don't look good" before the talks scheduled to begin there at 6 p.m. (1 p.m. EDT) among Turkey, Greece and Britain in an attempt to enforce the cease-fire on the island and discuss a new constitution for its Greek and Turkish communities.

Arriving in Geneva, Greek foreign minister George Mavros said "the prospects for success in Geneva look very bleak."

He demanded that Turkey halt violations of the cease-fire agreed in the first stage of talks July 30 and withdraw her troops.

"No self-respecting man can approach the second round of discussions when issues agreed on are being so bluntly violated," Mavros said.

The engineers' walkout followed by eight hours a strike began by some 500 members of the Canadian Merchant Service Guild, representing deck officers on ships plying the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

"All the docks are cleared of ships," a spokesman for the unions' joint union said, "the ships are all lying up and everyone's going home."

More major US newspapers issue calls for Nixon's resignation

By United Press International

Most major newspapers across the nation are calling for President Nixon's resignation or a speeding up of the impeachment process for the good of the country following disclosure of Nixon's own involvement in the Watergate cover-up.

But the New York Times today came out in support of the President's present position that he not resign.

The Times said it saw "considerable merit in the President's attitude... that he intends to allow the Constitution to be the overriding factor."

"To accept this statement as a guilty plea and suggest that resignation would close the book on Watergate would leave too many loose ends, too many questions unresolved," the Times said.

"It would do nothing to inhibit subsequent testing of the myth of a President hounded out of office by his political enemies. Doubts could be created whether the President would actually have been convicted in an impeachment trial, whether his departure from office was really justified by the facts."

The Los Angeles Times, calling for his resignation, said in any event he will be impeached and convicted.

"He should resign immediately," the Times said. "There is no question that he will be impeached. His admissions on Monday assure his conviction in the Senate. To resign is to achieve the purpose of impeachment while sparing the nation more weeks of his inevitably uncertain leadership."

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, Omaha World-Herald and the Dallas Times Herald also said the President should step down.

The Post-Gazette said "The President should step aside and let Vice President Ford attempt to resolve the nation and get it moving in constructive directions."

"All of the President's maneuvering could not salvage anything from the wreckage of the Watergate adventure," the World-Herald said. "At this late date he could salvage something for his country—an end to a disruptive, disquieting and divisive period of history, and for himself—the redemption of bowing gracefully before necessity by resigning."

The Times Herald said "The public trust is gone. He should remove himself and let Vice President Ford begin to bind the nation's wounds."

Other editorial comment: Detroit Free Press: "There should be little doubt for any more that he has committed offenses for which he should be impeached and removed from office."

Chicago Sun-Times: "More than ever we think that the process of impeachment is underway and that the Constitution will be allowed to work its own will."

Chicago Tribune: "Every day that Mr. Nixon remains in office is a day's delay in meeting the many urgent problems that face the country."

Syracuse (N.Y.) Herald-Journal: "Resignation would be his most heroic act. The nation's preoccupation with Watergate must end."

The Oregonian, Portland, Ore.: "President Nixon's admission... dealings not only the remaining vestiges of his credibility as chief executive; it also makes it almost impossible for his lawyers, whom he also deceived, or for any remaining Nixon loyalists in Congress, to provide for the President a credible defense in a trial in the Senate."

Trenton (N.J.) Evening Times: "The good of the country now demands that Richard M. Nixon step down from the presidency."

Boston Herald American (Boston): "Nixon has been his own worst enemy in the Watergate debacle. He would not be in his precarious position today if he had told the American public the truth long ago, instead of trying to outsmart his critics."

"We will not presume to judge this man whose noble dream was a peaceful world, but whose feet have been mired in the mud of supposedly practical politics. That is the duty of the other politicians in Congress. Let them judge honestly, in conscience, and with a maximum of compassion."

Boston Globe: "The President of the United States has made what amounts to a plea of guilty. But it is still his choice as to how he will leave his high office. There has to be an orderly transition. It is time now for Mr. Nixon and the Congress to come to some accommodation respecting the welfare of both the nation and the President who has led it—or mis-led it."

Berkshire Eagle, Pittsfield, Mass.: "The latest and biggest bombshell in the Watergate scandal seems virtually certain to blow to bits what is left of the Nixon presidency. The White House bunker is self-destructing, and the one big thing Mr. Nixon can still do for this country is to quit his office, the sooner the better."

Brockton (Mass.) Enterprise and Times: "President Nixon by his own words, his with a ringing finality sealed the lid on his own credibility. He has stripped the public of any rationale by which one could justify future face-saving. Providence (R.I.) Journal: "IT IS MR. NIXON who continues to hang on to his office, then the constitutional process of impeachment and trial will have to go on to its final bitter end. It is Mr. Nixon's latest statement that only has speeded up that denouement, and that is at least one small thing for which we all can be grateful." New York Daily News: "In any case, we are open to the President. He can resign. He can step aside... he can fight impeachment through the House and Senate... Everybody else, almost, is telling the President what he should or shouldn't do next. We believe the next move is Mr. Nixon's, and Mr. Nixon's alone."

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Best rule: 'Never take the first drink'

BY GEORGE C. THOMPSON, M. D.

Dear Dr. Thompson—Would you write something on the statistics on alcoholism?

I am in my middle 50s. For months I suffered from a painful illness and started taking alcohol to relieve the pain. Let it get the better of me. After an episode which breaks my heart even yet, I definitely stopped alcohol in any form. I stopped it on my own with no therapy or rehabilitation. The thought of it is repulsive.

My husband keeps some in the house for a drink now and then. I have never touched it and have no desire for it.

whenever, it is wonderful to wake up in the morning and not have to wonder what happened the night before. My husband has never lectured me and trusts me, absolutely. It has been 11 months since I touched alcohol.

Recently I was told by a professional person that I am not trusted even though I give no symptoms of any desire to return to drinking. This person said that only a per cent stay off it and the others return to the bottle. Since then I have felt the following:

Please give your opinion and statistics if you will. Mrs. G.G.J.

I cannot confirm that a per cent figure. Possibly somebody else can give us some light on that.

But I flatly don't believe it. Just by a quick count on my fingers, I know five-one-time hard drinkers—alcoholics—who quit and stayed that way.

Two stayed on the wagon all the rest of their lives; three others haven't had a drink for periods ranging from 20 to more than 30 years.

One of the ones who died did a great deal of traveling, and over the years always had a bottle in his briefcase.

So if that 1-per-cent remark has any validity, it means that I ought to have encountered 125 who quit, but then returned to the bottle. Of course I know a lot who never quit. And some who never drink.

To the best of my knowledge, every former steady drinker who has quit will tell you that the only safe rule thereafter is "Never take the first drink."

Delegation idea rejected by Republicans

SENATE GOP LEADER Hugh Scott, left, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., talk with newsmen following a White House meeting they and House GOP Leader John Rhodes held with President Nixon at Nixon's request Wednesday. Goldwater told reporters that President Nixon has not made a decision on whether he will resign or fight his impeachment case through the House and Senate. (UPI)

Discuss meeting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It was a classic example of the Washington rumor mill at work. A series of events into which meaning could be read, "inside" reports and vague denials by the White House combined Wednesday to spark rumors that President Nixon would resign before the end of the day.

At least for that one day, the rumors turned out to be untrue. The reports reached a peak between 2:30 and 5:30 p.m. EDT. During that time, the President was in seclusion for the most part in his midway office in the Executive Office Building. His press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, was with the President's several aides. He made no appearance before the White House press corps, issued no authoritative or official guidance to reporters and dodged their inquiring telephone calls.

Ziegler's deputy, Gerald L. Warren, was left to do battle with the frustrated and sometimes angry newsmen.

Warren repeatedly assured them that he could neither add nor subtract from earlier White House assertions that the President did not intend to resign.

It was not until 3:45 p.m. that the unprepared deputy press secretary would say flatly: "The possibility is unchanged. He does not intend to resign."

Here is a chronology of the day's events which led the resignation reports.

President Nixon dispatches his chief of staff, Alexander Haig, to meet Vice President Gerald R. Ford. Warren describes the meetings as "regular" one but not "routine."

Rabbi Branch Korff, an ardent Nixon supporter from Providence, R.I., states that President Nixon is subordinating his personal interests to the national interests. Korff, who had talked with President Nixon the day before, will not say if President Nixon intends to resign.

The Providence, R.I., Journal Bulletin quoting an unnamed but "ardent" supporter of President Nixon, says that the chief executive has made an "irrevocable decision" to resign. Warren does not confirm the report or categorically deny it.

The Phoenix, Ariz., Gazette quotes an unnamed government spokesman as saying "President Nixon will resign Wednesday afternoon. The White House spokesmen do not confirm the report or deny it categorically."

AIC broadcast a report that Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona has been informed by President Nixon that he is resigning. A Goldwater aide says the report is "without foundation." The Chicago Sun-Times reports that its Thursday editions that Vice President Ford has drawn up a list of 11 possible future U.S. presidents and has asked aides to draft an inaugural address. Staff members in Ford's office have no comment on the newspaper report — but issue no categorical denial.

Ford bars reporters from approaching or covering his office in the Executive Office Building on the grounds that he is preparing to leave the White House. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who would receive a letter of presidential resignation, cancels a Thursday morning appearance before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the grounds that he has been too busy properly to prepare himself.

Some senators' "aware" to reporters they had no inside information. Others winked that they did not want to be "shut out" by the White House. Robert E. Griffin said "scruples" prevented him from telling what he knew.

Warren "swept" the House floor. Congressmen clustered around the UPI and AP desks in the Speaker's Lobby, just off the House floor. When Scott returned from the White House he predicted Nixon would resign in a few days "one way or another."

He said when he told Nixon the situation was gloomy, "You mean damn gloomy," Scott replied. "Yes sir."

"We discussed people and personalities and what we could receive from their views," Scott said. "His state of mind was that of a man at peace with himself."

Earlier in the day, Scott joined Nixon's entourage and that Nixon, following his disclosure Monday of an early role in the Watergate cover-up, was no longer qualified to be president. "I am not qualified to be president," he said.

He seemed to be saying that Nixon was guilty and the only question left was whether his guilt justified his removal from office. He did not elaborate. Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., Nixon's staunchest supporter, proposed that Congress call a special recess as a cooling-off period "on the condition that the members of Congress spend the time with their constituents."

Student helper stays anonymous

CHICAGO (UPI) — Someone is giving money away to students at Chicago's Roosevelt University — $24,000 so far — and is promised to bring the total to $100,000 over the next two years.

No one seems to know who the benefactor is, although a good guess is that the law firm of Elson, Lasser & Wolff has a fair idea. Elson, Lasser and Wolff sends the money.

The common belief around Roosevelt is that the generous someone is a student at the school, even though Roosevelt President Dr. Hal Weil said he did not know of any students with $100,000 to give away.

Weil said he doesn't particularly care to know who the someone is, he said, the money is welcome and he admires its source.

The greatest generosity is that which comes anonymously," he said.

One thing is apparent. The he — or she — sending the money has the welfare of foreign students at Roosevelt, a downtown "Subway" school designed primarily for Chicago youths, most at heart.

The directions relayed through the law firm have specified that at least 90 percent of the money should go to foreign students who can show genuine need. And that is the way it has been spent.

Weil doubled the benefactor was foreign, however.

"Rubor has it that the student is an American student," he said, perhaps one who has made friends with fellow residents at the university's Herman Crown residence hall.

Well said the money started coming in the form of $30,000 last July. The gift, merely supposed that it should be spent on foreign students.

Well and other administrators got a further inkling March 7 when a courier from Elson, Lasser & Wolff showed up with a letter.

It started, "It is my pleasure to inform you that our client wishes to give Roosevelt University a gift of $100,000 and that he wants this gift to remain anonymous."

The letter promised more to come. Attached were two stock certificates worth $34,000.

As David Klein of Inland drew on the fund last October when he was ordered home to serve as an officer in the Yom Kippur war.

When a Nigerian student's father died, the mysterious money paid for his room and board while he arranged for a scholarship — from his government.

King Wido Song of Korea got her flute repaired in time to keep a concert date.

Weil thinks it's wonderful. "These foreign students have a particular plight," he said.

"Even if a student has money in his own country, he might not be able to get it. Under the law, he can't seek outside employment and work his way through school."

"Maybe this kind of foreign aid, person to person, private is every bit as effective or more than government aid. It has the human touch which cannot be applied any other way."

Nixon claims 9 more tapes don't exist

Waiting for word

AMID RUMORS President Nixon's resignation is imminent, television crews and spectators maintained an all-night vigil. This group is in Lafayette Park, across the street from the White House. (UPI)

(c) New York Times Service
 WASHINGTON — President Nixon informed the United States district court Wednesday he could not find any tape-recordings of nine more of the 65 White House conversations covered by the special Watergate-prosecution subpoena.
 The nine include six conversations held by Nixon with H. R. Haldeman and John A. Ehrlichman in mid-April 1973; the three when the Watergate cover-up was beginning to fail.
 Nixon was to have taken Judge John J. Sirica the final installment of the subpoenaed tapes, in compliance with the Supreme Court's unanimous ruling July 23 upholding the subpoena.
 But James D. St. Clair, Nixon's chief defense lawyer, told Judge Sirica five of the subpoenaed conversations were telephone calls placed through telephones in the private quarters of the White House that were apparently not connected to the White House taping system.
 St. Clair told the court that another conversation took place in a lodge at the President's retreat at Camp David that had no taping system. Still another, he said, took place in a second lodge at Camp David from which the tape recorder had been removed a month before the conversation took place.

 And St. Clair said, he could not find tapes of two more conversations on the prosecutor's list. He offered, however, to "continue the search."
 In a written "index and analysis" of an earlier installment of the subpoenaed tapes, St. Clair informed the court that a tenth conversation was apparently never recorded.
 Sirica listened to St. Clair's arguments impassively and made no commitment. Lawyers from the special Watergate prosecution similarly refrained from comment when asked after the proceedings whether the announcement should be viewed with suspicion.
 But Richard Ben-Veniste, an assistant special prosecutor, indicated the prosecution's concern when, during the proceedings before Sirica, he asked whether the White House intended to turn over tapes of conversations that immediately preceded and immediately followed the allegedly unrecorded conversations.
 St. Clair replied that he was willing to comply with any "reasonable" requests.
 St. Clair did present the court with some tapes covering 14 other conversations. He also gave the court the final installment of copies that the White House had made of recorded conversations covered by the subpoena.

St. Clair had been expected to turn over additional material as well Wednesday. He gave Sirica some of the items that had been requested.
 The President's daily logs for the days on which the subpoenaed conversations took place, and the White House records showing who had access to the tapes between last Dec. 4 and today.
 However, the lawyer did not turn over notes that may have been written about the subpoenaed conversations by Nixon or by any of the four former White House aides with whom the various conversations were held: Haldeman, Ehrlichman, John W. Dean 3d and Charles W. Colson.
 St. Clair said Nixon had told him this morning that he had begun to research his personal files for the notes. He said that such files have been written by the others. St. Clair said that a search had been made but that notes had not yet been found.
 St. Clair also said that White House "working papers" developed in the course of preparing the edited White House transcripts issued by Nixon on April 30 containing portions of 20 of the 64 conversations subpoenaed by the prosecution, had been destroyed.

Rocky front-runner as Ford's VP pick

(c) New York Times Service
 WASHINGTON — Nelson A. Rockefeller emerged prominently today in the early speculation about Vice President Ford's choice of a successor, it and when Earl Warren succeeds President Nixon.
 Yet descriptions of the former New York governor as the front-runner were already tentative in speculation that Ford himself said today was premature.
 Knowledgeable sources mentioned realistic and eager possibilities were George Bush of Texas, chairman of the Republican National Committee, and Richardson of Massachusetts, who held three cabinet jobs in the Nixon administration until he quit last October; Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee—the ranking Republican on the Senate Watergate Committee; Melvin Belli of Wisconsin; long-time friend of Ford's in the House and later secretary of defense, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona; the Republican presidential nominee 10 years ago and the paladin of his party's conservatives; and Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the Republican leader in the senate.

 Among those who encouraged the talk of Rockefeller today were Rep. Charles W. Sandman of New Jersey, a conservative who abandoned President Nixon's defense only this week. Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, the House minority leader, and William McLaughlin, the Republican party chairman in Ford's home state of Michigan.
 Even more significantly, perhaps Laird predicted that that Rockefeller would be Ford's choice for vice president. Ford and Rockefeller will form a winning combination for the Republican party, Laird was quoted as saying in today's Washington Post.

 Laird and Ford were close friends in the House and Laird has said he deserted credit for performing President Nixon to choose Ford as vice president last fall when the President's first choice reportedly was John H.

Cannally of Texas. Now, as for most of the last 20 years, Laird is regarded as one of Ford's chief counselors. Yet his advocacy of Rockefeller also prompted some skepticism.

Simon sees possible boost for US

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon says the U.S. economy would get a "psychological" boost if President Nixon resigned, the Los Angeles Times reported today.
 "Simon did not say he was encouraging the President to step down. Only Nixon can make that decision, he said. He cautioned that even the momentary improvement that resignation might bring would do nothing to remedy the root cause of American financial troubles.

 "I would assume, with the current malaise, that there would be a psychological effect," Simon said.
 The resignation and the succession to the presidency of Vice President Gerald R. Ford, Simon was quoted as telling a Times reporter in an interview in Washington.

 He predicted that resignation would specifically give a boost to the stock market, which he said was ripe for a rally anyway. Stock prices rose Wednesday for a second consecutive day as rumors of the President's possible resignation mounted.
 Simon said the country's economic problems stem from economic factors and require

Uncertainty, worry around world

United Press International reports that President Nixon's possible resignation touched off a flurry of concerns across the world today, with initial reactions ranging from skepticism to frank worry.
 In Phnom Penh, a government official said, "We are concerned because the survival of Cambodia has relied heavily on the administration of Mr. Nixon."
 "We are also aware that many Americans dislike the U.S. commitment to our country and we don't know how his successor will react," the official said.
 Gov. Muz Izquierdo of Sulit Province in the southern Philippines said he thought the American people should give Nixon "a chance to continue the good things he has done for the U.S."

Diem Tin, however, expressed hope: his departure will open a new horizon for the U.S. that the period of trouble and violence will pass and give way to peace and confidence.
 In an editorial Wednesday, the Times of London said: "The need for the President's resignation or for a very quick economic cure, not psychological ones, no matter who is President or how the stock market may react temporarily, is the condition it is in because of very high inflation rates in this country and the attendant high rates of interest and because of disillusionment with the President over Watergate proceedings, is more urgent than ever."

 Israel's Ma'ariv said "The world will have to accustom itself to the idea that in the near future, a new man will lead the American Administration

3 key witnesses obtained by Watergate prosecution force

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Watergate Special Prosecution Force has obtained at least three key witnesses—the source of the cash and two middlemen—for use in the $10,000 bribery case against former Treasury Secretary John D. Connally Jr. Jake Jacobsen, former lawyer for the Associated Milk Producers Inc., pleaded guilty Wednesday to one count of making a bribe to Connally.

Jacobsen confessed he made two $5,000 payments in 1971 to Connally, his long-time Texas associate. One week earlier, Harold S. Nelson, former AMPI general manager, pleaded guilty to one count of conspiring to make an illegal payment to a public official. Nelson confessed that he conspired to get $10,000 in AMPI funds for Jacobsen to give to Connally.

Bob A. Lilly, who was Nelson's assistant, received immunity from prosecution for his cooperation. Nelson's indictment charged that Nelson authorized Lilly to give Jacobsen the $10,000.

In exchange for the cooperation of Jacobsen, who was White House legislative counsel in the Johnson administration, the prosecutors agreed to drop other charges against him.

including a seven-count federal indictment in San Angelo, Tex. That charge, handed down in February, involved alleged misuse by Jacobsen and an associate, Ray Cowart, of an $85,000 loan from the First Savings and Loan Association in San Angelo. Jacobsen faces a maximum penalty of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Nelson faces a maximum penalty of five years

Sewer line work

TRAFFIC will experience some delays on Addison Avenue East for the next two weeks as crews work to install the Kimberly sewer line. Work began this week and will involve a block at a time. Here flag girl for contractor Jobeca Construction Co., Yakima, Wash., holds up westbound traffic during work schedule.

Work under way on sewer line

TWIN FALLS — Work is under way on the Kimberly sewer collector line which will bring sewage from the city of Kimberly to the Twin Falls treatment plant.

Bill Block, engineer with J-U-B Engineers, Twin Falls, said the system is expected to be completed by Dec. 31.

First phase of the work is the laying of a line and installation of manholes and other structures on Addison Avenue East.

Block said the contractor, Jobeca Construction Co., Yakima, plans to work about one block at a time so as not to tie up more of the busy street at one time than necessary.

He said each night on completion of the day's work, "trenching will be filled and as frequently as possible the paver will cover the dirt. Some barricades will be required at night and motorists will have two lanes of traffic only for about a one-block area, he said.

The $444,726 contract involves laying an 18-inch concrete pipe with some areas of 21- and 24-inch pipe to accommodate the transportation of the sewage collection.

This is part of the $5 million project to renovate the Twin Falls treatment plant to a secondary facility to handle Twin Falls City, Kimberly City and several industrial treatment requirements.

Block said the line will follow Addison Avenue East, from where it joins the Twin Falls system at a point where Madison Street would be improved.

From there it goes east to about the Anderson Lumber Co. property, then angles to the south of Kimberly Road and will follow Kimberly Road from about the Army Reserve Center and from there across fields into Kimberly to pick up existing Kimberly lines near the present Kimberly treatment facility.

Block said work began on Addison to clear this phase of night and he expects the contractor to be finished in all of Addison within about two weeks.

Work began July 20, Block said, and he expects the contractor to be finished in all of Addison within about two weeks.

Jerome declines MVCG proposal

JEROME — City Council members of Jerome Tuesday night declined to affiliate with the Magic Valley Council of Governments.

Council members, under the leadership of Marshall Eberhart, who has attended the Magic Valley Council of Governments, explained the proposal of MVCG and the council's desire to continue double taxation for city residents and to require the proposal for membership dues is based on a 10-cent-per-capita assessment of both counties and cities.

Eberhart told the council these are the same issues presented at the MVCG meeting he attended and to which he objected at that time. He said city residents of the county under this plan would pay twice what any county resident paid, as they would be assessed by the county and by the city.

He said Twin Falls City and Twin Falls County have also objected to the double taxation and neither has agreed to the bylaws at this time.

John Stelle Jr., representing the off-street parking committee of the Jerome Chamber of Commerce presented a plan for off-street parking development in downtown Jerome. He also proposed a city ordinance as compiled by the committee. The proposal reviewed by Stelle would require all new businesses in the city to provide off-street parking for employees customers. Charles L. Erickson, member of the committee, asked the council to give the ordinance consideration under suspension of the and adopt it immediately. The council took the proposal under advisement.

Verle Sullivan, Jerome Lions Club, asked the city to make a decision on the club's proposal for additional restrooms at North Park. Mayor Charles Hancock said the project is being held up until money is available to complete it all at one time.

Hancock said the city is planning a number of improvements and a new park in the north part of the city. These improvements will be considered along with swimming pool improvement at budget time. The maximum budget for the pool is $100,000. A public hearing on the irrigation district assessment will be held at 8 p.m. Aug. 10 in city hall.

SA Koltman requested a zoning variance for construction of a two-story office building at the corner of East Avenue A and South Adams. The variance would be from the existing zoning in that area. No action was taken.

The council also announced plans to investigate cost of a picnic shelter at the Jerome swimming pool to provide shelter for parents watching their children swimming. Councilman S. N. Weeks said he has been working on this project three years.

Sullivan told the council the Lions Club would be able to assist with expenses if needed. Weeks also announced the pool will close Aug. 11.

Valley Living

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband, who has always been a bit of a hypochondriac, is now on a vitamin kick. He takes huge doses of vitamin C to "prevent colds." He takes vitamin B-complex in enormous quantities to "cure a hangover." And now he's added massive doses of vitamin E to "improve his sex life and prevent heart trouble." Please ask some of your medical consultants if those vitamins do what they claim they'll do. I don't take anything and I'm in better shape than my husband.

Vitamin kick

DEAR ANTI: "Taking something" has become a popular national pastime. No one should introduce a foreign substance into his body (vitamins included) without the knowledge and approval of his physician.

Dr. Irvine H. Page, who has done exceedingly productive research in the prevention and alleviation of heart ailments, says there is growing evidence that gross overdosage of vitamins can cause not only harm to your pocketbook, but to your body.

It's not much of an exaggeration to say that half the sick people in the world can be cured by going to bed, and the other half by getting up.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for three months. This is my second marriage and Harvey's third. I am 56 and Harvey is 50.

We are living in Harvey's lovely large home, but I am not happy here. You see, Harvey has shared this home with his two former wives. There are so many memories here for him, as well as things that belong to his first wives.

Also, this house is much too big for just the two of us. I would much rather have a smaller, cozier place. He could easily sell this house at a profit.

I love Harvey very much and he says he loves me. I've never told him how uncomfortable I am here. Would it be wrong to ask him to move?

DEAR THREE: Ask him. And if he loves you, you're in for a moving experience.

DEAR ABBY: This is in regard to "Desperate," whose widowed mother started "running around" at age 62, joining different social clubs, including a "swingers" club.

I would get down on my hands and knees and thank God for such a mother. Most sons and daughters complain because their widowed mothers refuse to take an interest in anything other than their children and expect "the lady" to entertain them constantly.

And if a 62-year-old widowed mother should be lucky enough to find herself a man for companionship (with or without marriage) it would be a blessing for everyone, for she would then be living her own life and freeing her children to live their.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NEEDS ADVICE IN TUESDAY"

It's pointless to tell a grown daughter: "If you ever get into any trouble, come to me first." If the proper relationship has been built over the years, she will. If it hasn't, the words will be meaningless.

Museum opens SPIDER Lady, Mrs. Ann Moreton, picks tarantula spider from its plastic home at her spider museum in Richmond, Va. (UPI)

Virginia spider museum opens

POWHTAN, Va. (UPI)—Ann Moreton, who drove a camper van from Alaska to Florida hunting spiders, is known in these parts as "The Spider Lady."

"Spiders fascinate me," says the petite, widowed, 62-year-old widow who takes people through a museum of spiders, she founded in Powhatan as if she were graciously showing a friend her home.

"It's terrible what to and moves have done to spiders, always making them appear so evil," she said.

Mrs. Moreton pointed to a large, colored photograph.

"This is a sperm web," she said. "The female spider sits in the center and twangs a cord of the web. The male, on the end of the web, twangs back if he's receptive. They then try to race together and mate."

Society Spider Museum

"There are over 4,000 types of spiders and relatively little is known about them," she said.

"But I like to tell people what I do know about them."

The museum contains photos of spiders feeding, spinning webs, catching flying and shedding their skins. It also has a glass cage full of Black Widows and a Yellow Knut Tarantula—and an ordinary house spider.

"Spiders are actually very beneficial, eating thousands of insects during their lifetimes. Only two spiders are poisonous to humans, the Brown Recluse and the Black Widow."

"The Black Widow is actually very timid. She will only attack if a human threatens her. Then her bite can kill."

She said the bite of the Brown Recluse is rarely fatal.

Mrs. Moreton said this spider, which lives in Southern states, likes to hide in dark places of houses such as inside closets and shoes. Its bite looks like that of a mosquito, but it takes three months to heal, she said.

Mrs. Moreton first got interested in spiders in the mid-1960s, after having been a freelance writer and photographer.

"I got so interested in spiders that I went to the Library of Congress in Washington and read every book I could find about them."

Unique fund drive

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Inmates at Oregon State Penitentiary have set up a unique fund drive for the family of a couple abducted by a convict who escaped from the prison.

"It is not to be viewed as a reimbursement from prisoners," but a reimbursement from people," said Inmate Larry Slopak, head of the fund drive.

The two persons abducted, Earl Hunter, 63, and his wife, Viola, 61, of Eugene, Ore., were later found slain and are survived by an adult son and daughter.

Their abductor, Carl C. Bowles, who escaped May 17 while on a four-hour pass, admitted after his capture that he kidnaped the couple, but insisted he left them unharmed.

"I knew Carl Bowles and I don't feel we should all of us in here be adversely affected by the actions of one guy," Slopak said.

Slopak said the inmates realize that no amount of money will compensate for the death of the Hunters, but they hope the fund will be seen as a humanitarian gesture.

"There are prisoners in here who are emotional human beings," he said. "We have feelings like people on the street. We can certainly sympathize with the remaining members of the Hunter family."

"I know I personally feel a grief about what happened," said inmate Warden Hoy Camp.

Camp has placed a limit on individual contributions from the inmates, but at 35 cents a day for prison work, that amounts to about a month's pay.

So far, the fund totals $20, Slopak said the inmates hope to raise $500 before sending the money to the Hunter family.

Dried apple carvings sell like hotcakes

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — You can find a little bit of yourself, your neighbor or your least favorite politician in Ralph Raynor's dried apple carvings.

"I got 25 of them together. I guarantee someone will say it looks like Uncle George, or it looks like the mailman," Raynor said of the puckered, wrinkled, scowling, frowning, or smirking, mustachioed or beardless yellowed old men's faces he mounts as desk or coffee table pieces.

Raynor, 54, described by co-workers as a "playful, goodnatured" payroll clerk for Mellon Bank, turned to the craft introduced by western Pennsylvania Indians after he dabbled unsuccessfully in other art forms.

"I've done painting, I've sent cartoons in to publications. I'd send them in, they would send them back," he said.

"It's a very dumb thing being a frustrated artist for years—I work in a bank for a living. I first made these small things out of any kind of an apple for Christmas joke gifts for my friends. They would be being something that people seem to like."

Raynor went public about a year ago after he donated many of his carved caricatures to a church fund raiser and found them selling faster than the chocolate fudge and brownies. Now he turns out his faces at the rate of about 70 per year for sale at prices between $1 and $4 in gift shops and department stores.

About 70 per cent of the money left after the stores take their profits goes to his congregation, Hamilton Presbyterian Church. Donation Raynor feels is justified because of the role natural dehydration plays in the look of his apple faces.

"I do 10 per cent of the work and nature does 90 per cent," he said.

Drink prices cited

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The number of California traffic fatalities is dropping because the price of a drink is going up.

California Highway Patrol Commissioner Walter Pundister said drinkers who used to have four or five at their favorite hangout were now using the money to buy a bottle and consume it at home.

"I'm sure the bar people don't like it, but I'm pleased," he said.

The commissioner said there has been a 10 per cent decline in the number of fatalities involving intoxicated drivers so far this year.

Sir Dinadan, the worst knight and worst bridge player of King Arthur's court, knew one thing about the game. That was to raise Sir Lancelot because the less Lancelot could be depended on to make any contribution that was makeable. Sir Dinadan wanted no time in scientific bidding and just put Lancelot in a slam after he rebid his spades.

The lates were top and Lancelot in the way they divided the East-West cards they gave East all the missing trumps.

Lancelot ruffed the diamond lead in dummy. A carefree Sir Dinadan managed to trump to his king at trick two. If trumps broke 2-1, he would be able to make his contract with no trouble. But Lancelot didn't make this play. He saw that a 3-0 break in trumps would lead to his sure defeat. If West held the ace of hearts and was smart enough to lead a high diamond when he gained the lead.

Therefore, Lancelot led dummy's king of hearts and discarded the spade of diamonds. West took his ace and made his best lead with the ace of diamonds. Lancelot trumped with the six of spades. Mail service now available

CHICAGO (UPI) — The ice cream man has come and gone a dozen times, his week was the first time the mailman would venture into a new housing development in which 40 families moved six months ago.

Residents of West Schubert in suburban Glendale Heights have been without mail service for almost a half year because the post office said the road was impassable.

"The post office has certain criteria for covering mail delivery," said William Beavers, Glendale Heights Post Office Branch superintendent. "That street was impassable. They had to rip out part of the curbing because of the building code."

However, families living in the new homes say the ice cream man, department store delivery men and a number of others have had no trouble traveling down the road.

"It's the delivery man going to risk it because there is a very definite profit motive there," Beavers said.

"For economy and safety we can't deliver the mail until their streets meet the criteria," Beavers said. West Schubert Street finally is good enough for mailmen to deliver mail.

The post office official pointed out that it cost too much money to dispatch mailmen into "hard to reach" new developments that many times include only one or two families in the beginning. The delay in mail service was not unusual in a "booming" suburb like Glendale Heights, he said. Residents in five new developments must pick up their mail at the post office.

Beavers said residents on West Schubert street were actually the "victim of circumstance."

"We were just about ready to go in there a few months ago if that strike by cement workers had held off, we would have been able to get in there," Beavers said, referring to a strike by several northern Illinois Teamster Union locals against the Northern Illinois Ready Mix and Materials Association.

"I think the cement strike was the cause of this," he said.

Goose Creek use halted by court

BURLEY — The city of Burley has been enjoined from using Goose Creek as a drain by a recent Idaho Supreme Court decision.

The City Council was informed of the decision in its Monday night meeting by city attorney William Parsons. The creek was ruled not to be a natural drain and, under state regulations, not to be used as it had been in the past.

The city had drained two storm drains into the creek. The spill for the injunction was brought by Mr. and Mrs. Max Dayley who owned land in the area where the city drained water into the creek. Dayley has died since the suit was brought.

Parsons said the amount of water which had been drained into the creek was small, and not enough to worry about. However, the city will have to make an engineering study to find alternatives for disposal of the water, Parsons said.

A decision on the possible remaining of two streets west of the Grandview subdivision has been tabled by the council against George Schaefer, who appeared before the council with a plan to remove 18th Way and 19th Way, to Montana and Oregon streets.

Schaefer has come to the council on several occasions to request a new system of naming streets in new additions. He represented residents in his neighborhood who do not want the continuation of similar street names such as 18th Way, 18th Drive and 18th Lane to occur when the addition is finished.

The council decided in Idaho the request for further consideration. Schaefer has had the consent of the planning and zoning commission to devise a new naming system. The zoning classifications were changed in the area, where a new Cassia Medical Center will be constructed. One area which will be rezoned surrounds the present Cassia Memorial Hospital. It will be rezoned S-1 so that only medical buildings will be built in the area.

The council also considered the rezoning of the area surrounding the new junior high school to a C-1 classification. A public hearing is set for Aug. 19 on the rezoning.

The council decided to pay CH2M, a Boise engineering firm, $2,000 to start a water study in the city. The representatives of the firm have approached the council to explain problems which Burley has with its water system.

Part of the system will have to be enlarged and brought up to date and the new system will be constructed in the south side of the city. Water pressure in the south side area is dangerously low in case a major fire must be fought, according to CH2M.

The council voted in approval a resolution to accept $10,000 from the State Aeronautics Board. The money will be used for improvements at the Burley Municipal Airport.

Ketchum council skirts petition

KETCHUM — Ketchum City councilmen decided not to vote Monday night on a petition to close the Crazy Horse Saloon. Instead, a letter will be drafted and sent to each bar owner in Ketchum informing them the council is concerned with the drinking of many adult town drinkers show to the residents of Ketchum. The letter will say the council wishes owners to enforce closing hours, and not allow their carried out.

A petition bearing 17 nearby residents' names will be brought before the council for consideration, according to one of the signers and pushers of the petition.

Mrs. Betty Lavery said the petition would be put on the agenda for the next meeting and full legal council would present the case at the next council meeting.

The petition reads "The undersigned residents of the city of Ketchum, living within a distance of 700 feet from the premises known as the Crazy Horse Saloon, hereby petition the mayor and city council of Ketchum to take all necessary steps to amend present use of the premises known as the Crazy Horse Saloon in Ketchum, Idaho, by reason of the excessive noise emanating therefrom.

Gregg Birney, councilman, argued during the ten minute discussion the council was not getting its full responsibility with a letter.

"The police don't even know how'd support them if they did crack down," he said.

Councilman Jack Carlock suggested the police patrol the area from midnight until 2 a.m. looking for offenders. He said the residents in the area of the Crazy Horse are "nervous."

"I think these people are possibly asking for one thing hoping for relief from the noise," Carlock said.

TWIN FALLS — Scott Kynce, about 25, was arrested by Twin Falls City police and charged with resisting arrest and disorderly conduct Tuesday night.

Officers said his dog, which was brought to the police station with him, attacked officers as a scuffle developed at the police station. Officer Bud Phillips was attacked and required a number of stitches to close wounds in his forearm.

Police reports stated officers were called to the Holiday Inn parking lot where Kynce was being confronted by a state police officer and was allegedly giving the state officer some trouble.

Hailey seeks attorney's opinion

HAILEY — County officials here sent a letter to the attorney general's office today requesting an opinion on jurisdiction powers on federally owned Blaine County road.

The request is the result of the Sawtooth National Recreation Area division to build a 12,000-square-foot administrative visitor's center on fragile ground at North Fork.

C. W. Gardner, county commissioner, said Tuesday, "we feel we should have jurisdiction if it's in the county."

Gardner said he was unaware of any building or its site until April this year when the new SNRA regulations were published. U.S. Forest Service officials said the commissioners held five meetings together. Gardner said all concerning construction north of Galena. Officials did not inform the commissioners in any of the meetings of the building site, according to Gardner.

County planner Dave Vhay said the forest service never approached him during the time he was completing a comprehensive plan and map for the county.

The area where the building is to be constructed is zoned A-1, agricultural, according to Vhay, as is all federal land in the county.

Vhay said he was unsure if the county ordinance would allow construction there.

Murder investigated

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — The investigation into the deaths of Earl and Viola Hunter of Eugene, Ore., has failed to turn up enough evidence to support any charges, Spokane County Sheriff William Rieley said today.

Rieley said a further investigation would be needed. Some evidence taken from the area where the Hunter's badly decomposed bodies were found July 11 is still undergoing examination by the FBI.

Those tests and information gathered by further questioning of individuals will greatly influence the case, he said.

The Hunters had been kidnapped from their home June 14 by Oregon prison escaper Carl Cletus Howles. Howles is now serving a 75-year sentence at the Idaho State Prison in Boise. He was convicted of three kidnappings in his attempts to elude officers June 16 near Post Falls, Idaho.

He has maintained all along he released the Hunters unharmed near Yakima, Wash.

The Hunters' bodies were found on a farm near Rockford, Wash. An autopsy revealed the man had been shot, but the exact cause of death of Mrs. Hunter has not been determined.

BOISE (UPI) — A hit and run accident in Boise Wednesday led to the arrest of three young escapees from the State Mental Hospital at Blackfoot.

Boise police identified two of the men as Donald W. Silverman and Santiago Garcia, both 19. The third was a juvenile.

Officers said the trio was in a car that ran into the rear of a vehicle driven by a Boise woman at 11:40 a.m. Wednesday and then fled the scene.

Sgt. Milton Bays of the Boise police force said the woman was not injured.

Research paper eyed

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — A scientific research paper presented to a symposium at Idaho State University Friday indicates fish subjected to DDT may not be able to adjust properly to stress conditions.

The paper will be presented by Andrew N. Tiller, Nampa, a graduate in biology at ISU.

"And because fishes like steelhead and salmon, would not be able to adjust to changing salinities and might, as a result, suffer mortally during their juvenile migration to the seas," Tiller said.

Availability important

BOISE (UPI) — An Agriculture Products Corporation official has announced the firm's "Utilities Commission" that availability of power is "more important" to the company's operation in the southern Idaho than its price.

Dean R. Cowley told the commission at a hearing Wednesday planned expansion of the firm's Coeur d'Alene operation would require 50 per cent more electrical power than is now being used.

He said the company currently is using about 15,000 kilowatts of power.

Agriculture Products is an inventor at a hearing on a rate increase application by Utah Power and Light Company.

100-vote margin

TWIN FALLS — Voters in Twin Falls County gave Ezra Moore a 100-vote margin over Charles Brown in the superintendent of schools race Tuesday.

The two other Republican candidates received far less votes. On the Democratic side of the ballot, Twin Falls County voters gave Roy Truly a narrow margin over James Stochel.

John E. Evans was favored as lieutenant governor candidate on the Democratic ticket with 472 votes compared to 439 for Ray Rigby and 227 for Nels Solberg.

Jerome schedules August hearing

JEROME — City Council members here have set Aug. 29, 8 p.m. as the time for public hearing on a zoning variance request for property on West Eighth.

In a meeting Tuesday night, the council heard a report from the Jerome Zoning Commission recommending the variance request of Jack Armstrong be denied.

Armstrong asked for the variance to allow construction of a woodworking shop in the 400 block of West Eighth. The land is owned by Ivan Hooper.

Zoning commission members also recommended the city annex property owned by Ed Heltzman and located just southwest of town as a business zone.

The commission's recommendation said the property of Jerome Implement Co., which includes Heltzman on the north side, should be annexed to the city. Also in a business zone, and if this cannot be accomplished, the commission asked the Heltzman annexation request be denied.

Another zoning commission recommendation asked the city to annex the property of Leighton Inc. south of Jerome, zoning the front 220 feet deep portion South Lincoln for business and the remainder in residential T.A. 1A. It also was suggested retaining right-of-way on the property be 1-A.

TN poll eyes Nixon support

"A woman from Piler said she wanted Nixon to resign because 'I don't want to go through that impeachment hearing.' She added that 'he's getting just what he deserved' in treatment by the public, congress and press.

A Twin Falls woman was disappointed in Pres. Nixon's conduct in watergate related matters but felt in her official actions "you couldn't ask for a better man."

"If what I'm hearing in the news is true," a Kimberly woman said, "I disapprove. I think he should resign." She remained unsure of the true facts, though. "I keep wondering if he's been framed... I really liked him in the beginning."

A Jerome resident expressed the same doubts. "If he's done wrong, I don't think he should remain in office—but who knows whether he's done wrong or not?"

Most people felt Nixon had been treated fairly, in fact, one Burley woman said. "He's been treated very fairly," she said. "I'm disappointed he's not a better thing for the country, but perhaps for his own benefit, resignation."

A Jerome resident felt resignation would be better for the country. "I think it would be more honorable than taking up everybody's time and money and going through the damn impeachment process. It would be much smarter of his part."

Hail pelts West End field crops

BURL — A Buhl farmer estimates Wednesday's hailstorm damaged 50 per cent or more of his crops.

The W. E. McCoy farm, seven miles southwest of Buhl, apparently received the brunt of the storm, although other farmers in the area and some in the Clover area had some crop damage.

On the McCoy farm, a field of sweet corn was estimated to have sustained at least 50 per cent damage by Green Giant officials. The corn had silted, but the ears were just beginning to fill and since the leaves were stripped and the tassels were damaged, it is not known whether or not the ears will fill enough to be harvested.

McCoy said his cornfield was the best he had grown for several years. He said that even the Green Giant field personnel can't tell him whether any of it will mature.

McCoy said his hail shattered about 50 per cent of the kernels from his wheat crop which was already ready to combine.

Probably the worst hit crop, McCoy said, was his field of pinto beans. He said the crop is about two-thirds destroyed because of torn leaves and bruised pods which won't fill normally.

McCoy said the hailstorm seemed to be about one mile wide and probably was two or three miles long. He said this is the first time in 30 years he has been hit by hail. He said he had no insurance.

Minutes of hailstorms could still be seen in borrow pits and other low places this morning. McCoy said that Wednesday evening about six hours after the storm there were still common hailstones under machinery to make snowballs.

McCoy serves as superintendent of the Twin Falls County Fair sheep department.

Overall, for the Republicans, Gordon Hoffield and Clara K. Ricketts emerged victorious for the two open seats and will appear on general election ballots in November. However, eliminated candidate John H. Brooks was a narrow front runner in Lincoln County.

In the overall Democratic race, Richard B. Strickland and Anna Louise Robinson captured party nominations for the two seats, but loser William A. Kersey Jr. led all candidates in Jerome County.

Hoffield polled 1,244 votes district-wide to lead the Republicans. Kersey was second with 1,032. While Brooks trailed with 859 votes.

But on a county-by-county basis, the race reflected the pull of local favorites.

Ricketts led the field in Jerome County with 734 votes, to 60 for Hoffield and 351 for Brooks.

In Gooding County, however, Hoffield was the front runner, with 523 votes, to 237 for Brooks and only 219 for Ricketts.

In Lincoln County, Brooks was the top vote getter, but only by two, edging out Hoffield 162 to 160, while Ricketts trailed with 95.

The same inter-county rivalry held true for Democrats. Strickland led district wide with 369 votes, to 399 for Mrs. Robinson and 348 for Kersey.

But county by county Strickland led only in Gooding, where he outpolled Robinson 338 to 167.

In Jerome County, Strickland edged Mrs. Robinson 176 and Strickland's 164.

In the sparse Democratic vote in Lincoln County, Strickland edged Mrs. Robinson 67 to 56, while Kersey trailed 47.

In the untested races for state senator from district 23, Republican candidate James "Yost" pulled 581 total votes, while his Democratic counterpart Arlyne B. Kistling polled 739 throughout the district. Both will appear on the November ballot.

Need for increased revenue was discussed in light of demand increasing for either a new well or new pump to the present well.

No action was taken on the increase rate proposals, however, until further study is made.

Disguised

BURLEY — A robber with a paper sack over his head held up the Overland Car Wash early Wednesday morning taking about $100 in cash.

Burley police officer L. Pez Rodriguez said the man fled eye slits out in the sack but was sufficiently covered to make identity difficult.

He said the female cashier on duty described him as about 5'10" tall, 160 lbs., dark hair, dark eyes, wearing a dark suit and tie.

Officers said Lucy Cole, cashier, was on duty at about 1:30 a.m. in the combination self-service gasoline station and car wash when the robber approached and demanded the money from the cash register. Rodriguez said the man did not show a weapon but kept his hand under his shirt.

A similar incident occurred at the same establishment earlier this year. Miss Cole was also on duty at that time.

HAILEY — The Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commission received strong opposition to parts of a new county comprehensive plan Tuesday night.

Officers said David Vahy has developed much of the plan which supports a 50 per cent open space policy, 20,000 permanent population figure by 1990 and a strong county road collector system.

Vahy points out the 20,000 resident figure is not a definite ceiling but a goal which was set to plan around.

Vahy said Ketchum and Sun Valley are nearly built out and mostly seasonal residences will be built there in the future. According to Vahy if 100 per cent build-out occurs between Bellevue and North Fork there will be 25,000 residents in Blaine County.

He said because of expected dense growth huge patches of open space were planned. However, homes could be built around the edge of the spaces leaving the middle in agricultural or grassland to preserve the visual beauty of the county.

Technical review board would have to be established to consist of experts in various fields to examine each new subdivision in the future. He said the review board would allow for expansion without the usual grid pattern of development as long as the project adhered to the intent of the plan.

Commission chairman Nick Purdy said the county would soon have to look for a county-wide planning office which would eliminate many planning and zoning commissions in each city now. The one office, he said, would be responsible to each various city jurisdiction.

Chairman Purdy said many of the developments proposed in the plan would be developed by build land out of town and construct businesses without ever paying municipal fees while at the same time taking business from the cities.

Al Bruck said he'd like to see strip development along U. S. 93, he said the county also missed an important chance to have a four-lane highway through the valley which he favored.

"You have a keep-people-out attitude. Bruck said. "It's been very evident this year. Rupert-Jouse, a Hailey miner, said he felt the commission was not aware of the restrictions placed on mining. He criticized portions of the summary of the plan which he said was derogatory to the mining situation."

"Someone is just reaching for power," House said. "The public hearing on the plan will be 3:30 p.m. in the county courthouse Aug. 13. All county residents wishing to present arguments either way are invited to attend."

WENATCHEE, Wash. (UPI) — An explosion on a freight train Tuesday destroyed scores of boxcars and damaged at least four buildings and half a dozen homes. Two persons were killed and 71 others were injured.

The two men killed were a yard foreman for the Burlington Northern, David M. Jones, 22, of Wenatchee, and an unidentified transient riding on the train.

The blast, which occurred shortly after noon, occurred on a fertilizer tanker. It ripped apart boxcars and sent tons of shrapnel over an area a mile and a half down the tracks.

A three-foot section of a track was found in the yard of a startled South Wenatchee resident.

New Blaine land use plan draws strong opposition

HAILEY — The Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commission received strong opposition to parts of a new county comprehensive plan Tuesday night.

AF dam schedule vote Friday

BURLEY — The American Falls Reservoir District Board of Directors will meet Friday to vote on recommendations for bonding and contractual schedules.

The executive committee of the American Falls Reservoir District, which met Monday in Burley, recommended April 1, 1975, be selected as a starting date for the sale of bonds and the awarding of a construction contract for the replacement of American Falls Dam.

The district's recommendations upon the successful elections for authorizing the bonds by the American Falls Reservoir District and the execution of spacheholder contracts by the other 34 spacheholder entities this fall. The date of the election depends upon completion of the review of engineering plans and contract forms by the Department of Interior.

Supplemental information will be transmitted to the Internal Revenue Service within 10 days of Monday's meeting. The executive committee recommended that the American Falls Reservoir District be timed as closely as possible to the IRS decision on the district's tax exemption.

Representatives on the executive committee from the Burley Irrigation District and some upper valley spacheholders abstained from voting on some of the questions because, they said, they were pre-committed at prior meetings to adopt a slow-down attitude.

BOISE (UPI) — Exclusive use of 1,000 acres on the Snake River Canyon rim where Evel Knievel plans to make his landing after a jump across the chasm on a skycycle will be offered at public auction Thursday.

The Department of Lands will auction the exclusive permit to use the land for media coverage in the Statchouse Office of the Department at 1 p.m. The bidding will open at $50,000.

John Gillette, assistant director of the department, said the permit will include a check that the state land on the north side of the rim will be closed to the public. Refreshment and entertainment concessions also will be prohibited.

"The person who is successful bidder will be required to keep the public off and work with the Jerome County officials to maintain law and order," Gillette said.

Land Board recreation division chief, Bill Scriber, said today the permit will authorize installation of television cameras and other media equipment on the permit site. The permit will not allow public access on the north rim, nor will concessions, entertainment or camping be permitted in the permit area.

In addition, Scriber said, the Land Board will close off to the public four sections of north rim land which it holds. The permit contract will require the successful bidder to post the land and assist in enforcing closure of the land to the public.

The permit, Scriber said, would not involve the sale of any state land. The permit would run from about Sept. 1 to Sept. 10. The successful bidder will also have to post a bond and carry liability insurance sufficient to "secure the state and its general interests," Scriber added.

The successful bidder for the permit, Scriber said, would have the right to bargain with media outlets for use of the land for equipment installation.

Gillette said there are two possible bidders for the property — Knievel and Thacker and Associates. Thacker, a Boise entertainment organization, wanted the land for an entertainment package to coincide with the Knievel jump Sept. 8.

Gillette said the entertainment option would have involved the sale of food, parking lots and crowd control.

The Land Board turned down Thacker's proposal for the entertainment event because it would have added in attracting people to the Twin Falls area of Southern Idaho near the jump site.

The Board felt this would place more burden on the local law enforcement and would not be too responsible," Gillette said.

south side of the canyon rim where Knievel will start his jump. That area, under the control of Knievel, is expected to accommodate 50,000 spectators.

Whoever obtains use of the land on the north side of the rim will have control over what radio and television stations and networks have access to the Knievel exhibition. Carnivals and concessions will be strictly prohibited in that area.

"I don't know where that vehicle will come down and it's an awfully dangerous rim," Gillette said.

While the state will realize a minimum $50,000 return on the contract to go into the school endowment fund, Gillette said the problems that have come with the Knievel exhibition have put the State of Idaho to a lot of trouble.

"This has taken a lot of time and work," Gillette said, "and it's not over yet."

Balloon bursts, man dies

OCEAN GATE, N.J. (UPI) — Robert Berger, believed to be the first man to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a balloon, Tuesday rose 6,000 feet in a homemade craft but fell to his death when the balloon burst.

Witnesses said the 12-story-high, helium-filled balloon broke apart as it fell into Barnegat Bay, near the New Jersey shore.

Berger's body was found trapped in the gondola. He apparently did not have time to use his parachute, which was also found in the craft.

Berger, 47, a Philadelphia electrician who was married and the father of four children, had never flown in a homemade balloon before.

He spent two years and $25,000 building the craft. Berger intended to float across the ocean and land in Paris in 28 to 30 hours.

A spokesman at the Lakehurst Naval Air Station spokesman said Berger received "a special visual flight permit" which controlled zone five miles of Lakehurst.

Although he was allowed to fly only at an altitude of up to 5,000 feet, officials said the balloon was 6,000 feet above the ground when it split open, sending Berger to the ground 10 to 15 miles from the air station.

The spokesman said Berger took off shortly after 10 a.m. with a wave toward a small group of spectators, unfurling the American flag as the balloon climbed to an altitude of 100 feet.

China deports young people

MOSCOW (UPI) — China has begun deporting young people from cities to swell the population along the Soviet and Mongolian borders and to reduce potential trouble, the newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda said Tuesday.

The newspaper said Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung and his supporters have found it undesirable to have in the cities large numbers of young people who have acquired a taste for "challenging established authorities."

It also said the Chinese economy is stagnating. Jobs cannot be found for the young people and authorities hope to produce the number of mouths to be fed in the cities.

AMC says profits up

DETROIT (UPI) — Little Shipper Motors Corp. in sharp contrast to its big Three's competitors, Wednesday reported its highest quarterly profits ever.

The smallest of the major U.S. auto manufacturers reported April-June profits of $16 million, up 12.4 per cent from a year ago.

AMC Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr. said the higher profits for the company which specializes in small cars came despite the inability to fully recover higher costs through price hikes. Since the 1974 models were introduced last September, AMC's increased prices an average of $97, the lowest of any automaker.

Revenge backfires

LEICESTER, England (UPI) — Stephanie Cox, 20, pleaded guilty Tuesday to scratching 239 music records belonging to her boyfriend.

Magistrates dismissed the case when she said she and Paul Cook had pitched up their lover's tiff and were now engaged to be married.

Birmingham stays unbeaten

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Quarterback Matthew Reed fired his fourth quarter touchdown pass to Alfred Jenkins, the second of 26 seconds remaining Wednesday.

New York nips

SUNNYVALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Veterans Tom Sherman unleashed a 40-yard touchdown pass to tight end Bert Askson midway through the fourth period to give the New York Stars a hard-fought 13-10 victory over the Southern California Sun Wednesday night in a World Football League game witnessed by 28,174 spectators. Sherman launched the winning drive from his own 12 early in the fourth quarter hitting George Sauer for 14 yards and Al Young for 13. Three running plays were needed to get the 40 and Sherman fired down the middle to Askson on a third-and-two for the winning tally. Sherman passed to Sauer for the action point.

night, to give the unbeaten Birmingham Americans a 26-22 World Football League victory over the winless Detroit Wheels.

Reed and Jenkins, both rookies, combined first on a 30-yard play with 8:23 to play to wipe out a 15-13 lead and then after Reed regained the lead 22-20, got together on a 17-yard play that gave Birmingham its fifth straight victory.

It was the fourth game in which the Americans had come from behind in the final period to win.

Reed, playing in place of injured George Mira for the second straight game, scored the Americans' other touchdown, skirting left end for 20 yards in the third quarter. Earl Sark kicked two field goals for the Americans from 21 yards and 30 yards.

Quarterback Butba Wyche figured in all three Detroit touchdowns, scoring on a one-yard run and a 10-yard touchdown pass of 12 yards to Jerry Phillips and 18 yards to John Henderson.

It was the pass to Henderson that gave the Wheels a 22-20 lead with 1:09 remaining.

Detroit's kickoff following the touchdown was returned 17 yards by Birmingham's Cecil Leonard to the Americans' 41-yard line. Reed then marched the Americans to the goal line in four plays covering about 30 seconds. He hit two straight passes to Dennis Holman, the first for 14 yards and the other for 10, putting the goal line in four plays covering about 30 seconds. Then Reed rolled left for 9 yards to the 17, setting the stage for the winning pass.

Jenkins caught the pass behind a defender in the left rear corner of the end zone.

Officials meet

New rule changes and interpretation will be presented by Homer Williams at the second Fourth District football officials meeting tonight.

Williams, outgoing executive secretary of the Idaho Interscholastic Athletic Association, will begin his clinic at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Twin Falls high school.

Commissioner Paul Ostyn said all planning to officiate football this fall must attend this meeting.

Corcoran bombs Memphis 46-15

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Quarterback King Corcoran threw four touchdown passes and his substitute, Frank DiMaggio, hauled two others to give the Philadelphia Bell a 46-15 victory over the Memphis Southern Wednesday night in a World Football League game at Kennedy Stadium.

The Bell rolled to a 30-half time lead and held Memphis scoreless until the third period.

The winners scored on their first play from scrimmage when Corcoran threw a pass to running back John Land, who faced 64 yards. Corcoran then hit Linzy Cole for a 14-yard touchdown and the Bell led, 15-0, at the end of the first period.

Philadelphia scored twice in the second quarter when Corcoran hit Claude Watts on a one-yard pass and Don Shanklin on a 45-yard throw. Memphis broke the tie in the final period when J. Jennings ran across from the four, but the Bell came back to score again when DiMaggio combined with Cole on a 37-yard play.

Ed Marshall grabbed a 15-yard scoring pass from Danny White for the second Memphis touchdown. Shanklin closed the scoring when he took a 43-yard pass from DiMaggio. The victory was the third for Philadelphia against two losses. Memphis also has three losses. Corcoran completed 12 of 23 passes for 200 yards and DiMaggio connected on three of five for 80 yards.

Philadelphia had a total net yardage of 422, while Memphis had 161.

Florida douses Fire's unbeaten boast

CHICAGO (UPI) — The rugged Florida defense converted a blocked kick and an intercepted pass into two quick touchdowns that rallied the Blazers to a runaway 46-21 win over the previously unbeaten Chicago Fire in a World Football League struggle Wednesday night.

With the Blazers behind 21-0 in the third period, rookie Florida cornerback Lenora Bryant blocked a Chicago punt on the Fire 30, picked up the loose ball at the six and scampered in for the go ahead touchdown.

Less than four minutes later,

Blazers linebacker Billy Hobbs intercepted a partially-blocked pass by Chicago quarterback Virgil Carter and rambled 30 yards for another score.

Florida's Richard James then extinguished the Fire with two fourth period touchdown runs. James scored on a six-yard run to eliminate a 52-yard drive and then ran 64 yards for the longest TD run from scrimmage so far in the new league.

The Florida defense blanketed the Fire, the highest scoring team in the league, in the second half.

Florida, leaders in the WFL's East Division, improved its record to 4-1. The loss was Chicago's first in five starts and dropped the fire out of a share of the lead in the Central Division.

Florida scored first on an 80-yard punt return by Rod Foster in the first period but Chicago matched that on a three-yard plunge by Mark Water Hazard. The offshore waters, along some parts of the Nile River once were so infested with crocodiles that, according to legend, thirsty dogs could only gulp a drink on the run.

Kellar. The Blazers bounced back into the lead on a one-yard plunge by Tommy Reamon in the second period, but Carter hit Jack Dolbin with a 34-yard TD pass moments later and found Jim Scott in the end zone on a one-yard rollout. Just before halftime to give Chicago the lead. Then the Florida defense took over.

New NFL talks described as 'encouraging'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The time after a union in the NFL players and owners bargained for 13 hours Wednesday with some signs of encouragement that they might be edging toward settlement of their 33-day-old strike.

W. J. Uery, Jr., head of the federal mediation and conciliation service, described the sessions as "by far the best we've had so far."

He said, however, it was still "too early to predict what would happen from now on."

He added there was still very hopeful that the strike might be settled this week.

After a four-hour morning bargaining session, the two sides returned to a full and bargained until 1 a.m. Thursday without a dinner break.

Uery said the bargaining teams had agreed to meet Thursday at an unspecified

Tennis deadline set

Entry deadline for the second annual Magic Valley open tennis tournament is Aug. 20, reports Ben Roberts, spokesman for the sponsoring Twin Falls Tennis Club.

Competition will be offered in four divisions over a two-day period, Aug. 21 and 22, at Hartman Park.

The divisions will be open singles, doubles, mixed doubles and men's 45 and older singles. Consolation play is offered in the open singles only.

The tournament committee is expecting a good representation from Twin Falls, Ketchum and the Burley-Tupet area along with some individuals from throughout Southern Idaho and out-of-state.

Owners kill expansion, playoff plans

NEW YORK (UPI) — A proposal to change the major leagues' present playoff system and an attempt by the Chicago White Sox to switch from the West to the American League's East Division were both defeated Wednesday at the start of baseball's annual 10-day summer meetings.

Three changes in the playoff format, all proposed by Bill Bartolomay, owner of the Atlanta Braves, were turned down by the American League.

"Discussion on the proposed changes lasted only two minutes and never even came up for a vote," said Gale Paul, president of the New York Yankees.

As the father of divisional play, it was against the Divisional play as now constituted, said Paul.

Each of Bartolomay's changes would have added two teams to each league playoff so that eight clubs, instead of the present four, would be included in post-season play; it was the fourth time in five years such proposals have been defeated.

The White Sox had hoped to switch to the East and move Milwaukee to the West because it would have provided Chicago better television and radio exposure during prime time and also because of the natural geographic rivalry among the Eastern clubs.

The West Division needs Chicago because of its population," said Paul, who pointed out that the White Sox are located in the only large city in the western sector.

Moving Chicago to the East would have murdered the Tigers sack two vets

DETROIT (UPI) — Jim Northrup, who suspects himself being a tenure man, had something to do with his being traded to Montreal, said Wednesday they're only "a slight change" in the reporting to the press.

Of course, a laughing former Detroit Tiger rightfielder said he doesn't have a chance to talk with them and he hasn't had a chance to talk with my wife.

But as of right now I don't want to be away from my family or surprised if they want to work something out, I don't know.

Northrup was sent to the Expos in a waiver deal for a player to be named the end of the season. His teammate, Norm Cash, was also released but was unavailable for comment on the Tigers' two-trade moves.

Reds drop Dodgers in second straight

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Reds but a two-run home in the third inning and veteran Jack Billingham pitched a six-hitter Wednesday night to give the Cincinnati Reds a 2-0 night-marred victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers in the NL West's 10th game.

The Reds beat the Dodgers for the second night in a row of the final time in 12 meetings this year as Billingham, an ex-Dodger, won his fifth straight game.

SNRA land purchases not tied to park matters

Record claimed

SUN VALLEY—The Sawtooth National Recreation Area superintendent said Tuesday that water and acquisition is not connected with National Parks Service recommendation expected this winter. Gray Reynolds, SNRA superintendent, said in a press briefing Tuesday land was not negotiated quickly by the US Forest Service so Congress would be reluctant to turn over the area to NPS rule. Written into the legislation creating the SNRA is a provision that the NPS would prepare a recommendation to be presented to Congress by the end of 1974. The recommendation was to cover land under SNRA control. Some officials feel the NPS however will recommend more territory outside the present boundaries. Ken Dittmer, private land superintendent, said over 400 owners in the SNRA have negotiated to sell land to the US Forest Service. He said hardship cases and important scenic easements considerations were getting foremost attention. The SNRA recently completed its first land deal at Obidiah and a future parcel on Champton Creek near Stanley Lake. In April this year the forest service announced that land west of U. S. Highway 93 would be classified agricultural. Dittmer said all residences visible from the road there would be eliminated eventually. Regional director Vern Haire, Ogden, said the area needed protection quickly and then he blasted NPS policy.

Anybody familiar with NPS policy would have to determine under NRA regulation private land owners have greater opportunity than exists in any national park. He praised the forest service for accomplishments in two years. WHEN YOU CAN'T USE IT, DON'T KEEP IT! Sell it to cash with a West AG.

DALLAS (UPI)—Two 17-year-old boys Tuesday claimed the world record for the continuous playing of monopoly—90 hours. Tommy Thomas and Robert James started playing Monopoly at 6 p.m. last Friday and ended at noon Tuesday. They said the old record was 86 hours, set in Birmingham, England. The youths agreed to stop playing at noon and promptly fell asleep on the floor.

Expo '74 financial success

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI)—Expo '74 general manager Petr Spruney says the venture is proving to be "highly successful" financially, and should at least break even come the Nov. 3 closing date. Spruney told Expo directors Tuesday 74 per cent of the funds needed to pay off bondholders was already in the bank. He placed the bond service fund at just over $1.3 million. He said such income from such areas as ticket sales, entertainment and concessions, along with slightly better than projected parking lot and amusement area income was well below predictions.

As for the amusement area, Expo introduced a program of 1500 center-folding and discount coupon books for rides in the amusement area in an attempt to regenerate greater attendance.

ticket income totaled $6 million, Spruney said. Gross income from entertainment was $1.4 million, and concessions sales $3.3 million.

Spruney blamed the development of many private parking lots around the site for the poor income from Expo parking areas.

"We will barely recover our capital expenditure to create the parking lots," he said.
