Sets record

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has set a record for Senate leaders.

Mansfield, Thursday completed 13 years and 225 days. The former record was held by Sen. Joseph T. Robinson, D-Ark., who served in the late 1920's and 1930's as both majority and minority leader as control shifted from Democrats to Republicans.

Idaho primary vote canvass delayed

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's board of canvassers met today, then recessed until a later date, probably Aug. 26.

The canvassers, composed of Secretary of State Pete Conarrusa, State Auditor Joe R. Williams and State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon, must meet within 15 days after the primary election to certify results. The 15th day would be Aug. 21. Williams, however, will be out of the state attending a national convention on that date.

Conarrusa said it was decided to hold the session today, but still missing were official abstracts from 15 of the state's 44 counties.

Curbs asked

BOSTON (UPI) — Rabbi Barnett Sussman, chairman of the National Committee for Fairness to the President, said Thursday the news media demanded the presidency in coverage of President Nixon and it should be curbed.

Korff said his organization would urge a campaign of media curbs but didn't specify what type of limitations are contemplated. Korff has been an outspoken supporter of Nixon.

PARIS (UPI) — The seizure of $113 million of heroin, found stuffed into imported Louis XIII style furniture in New York, triggered the arrest of a handful of French drug dealers, French police said today.

The capture of five Frenchmen Thursday brought to 10 the number of persons arrested in the heroin smuggling ring, police said. Nine of the ten are French. The first five suspects were arrested in New York.

Jaworski, Ford block tape turnover

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An angry President Ford and Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski have blocked a move by Richard M. Nixon's lawyers to turn over the White House tapes to the former President.

White House officials, who declined to be identified for publication, indicated that Ford became upset when he learned that the lawyers, without Jaworski's approval, had ruled the tapes belonged to Nixon.

The officials said Ford fretted that his administration "was becoming tarnished" by the tapes issue and so, "he put his foot down and said, 'I'm not going to have it.'"

Thus, in quick succession Thursday: — Press Secretary J. F. Terhorst announced that Nixon's White House counsel, J. Fred Buzhardt, who had participated in the informal ruling that the tapes belonged to Nixon, had tendered his resignation and Ford accepted.

— Jaworski's office said in a terse announcement that the White House had agreed to hold the remaining Nixon tapes and documents in its vaults while the issue was reviewed.

On Wednesday, Nixon's chief Watergate attorney, James St. Clair, who resigned that day, and Buzhardt ruled that the Nixon materials not yet subpoenaed and/or made public were his own property, presumably to dispose of as Nixon wished.

That announcement, channeled through the White House press office, erroneously said the decision had the endorsement of the special prosecutor and the Justice Department.

Jaworski's Thursday announcement indicated this was not the case, and White House officials suggested privately that Ford had been angered "by all this revival of the tapes issue."

Ford instructed chief of staff Alexander M. Haig "himself a holdover" to get Buzhardt's resignation, the sources said, because Ford could no longer rely for legal advice on "Watergate holdovers who are just not believable anymore." He also ordered the White House to consult with Jaworski and the ensuing Saturday issue of the tapes was said to be "Representatives of the White House and the special prosecutor met today to discuss the status of the tapes and documents of the administration of former President Nixon."

"It has been agreed that one of the files will be moved pending further discussion and the special prosecutor's office is satisfied with these arrangements."

Wage-price freeze urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford conferred with Teamster President Frank Fitzsimmons today in his second meeting this week with a top figure in organized labor — and was urged to impose a wage-price freeze "to shock the American people back into reality."

Ford's aides have made clear in economic hearings in Congress this week that he has no intention of returning to mandatory controls of the kind that government officials now say were a mistake. But Fitzsimmons told reporters after a 45-minute meeting with Ford in the Oval Office:

"There should be a wage-price freeze on all prices and wages." He added, "Something has to be done to shock the American people back into reality."

The leader of the 2.2 million Teamsters said in a meeting on the White House lawn with newsmen that Ford only listened and did not react to his suggestion. But he quoted Ford as saying he had in mind "a program that he is going to come out with."

Ford — exactly one week into his presidency — kept the nation as well as close associates in suspense over who he would choose as vice president. The announcement probably will come in the middle of next week, a spokesman said. It had been expected this weekend.

Crash near Rupert injures 5

RUPERT — A Hoyburn woman remains in critical condition following an automobile accident east of Rupert Thursday night.

Mrs. Roslyn Smith, 27, was riding in a small station wagon driven by her husband with their two children as passengers on Highway 25 about two miles east of Rupert when the accident occurred at about 8 p.m. Mindoka County Deputy Sheriff Ray Jarvis said the Smith auto, apparently ran the stop sign at the intersection of Highway 25 and 200 East and collided with a pickup driven by Adam Apperspach, 45, Rupert.

The Smith auto was destroyed in the accident and about $800 damage was done to Apperspach's pickup.

Kerman Smith, 26, was driving the station wagon. He was cited for failure to yield.

Smith and the two children, 4-month-old Ryan and 4-year-old Courtney, were treated and released at Mindoka Memorial Hospital. Apperspach and his passenger, George Bunnell, 64, Rupert, also suffered minor injuries. They were treated and released.

Aide repeats claim about TF center

By GEORGE WILEY
Times News writer

TWIN FALLS — The regional administrator for the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare Thursday reiterated state claims that there are no dangerous persons currently in residence at the Magic Valley Living Center.

At the same time, region five administrator Milt Klein acknowledged that the state has no uniform evaluation procedures for determining potentially "violent" behavior of mentally handicapped shelter-home residents.

Klein's statements came in the wake of an allegation by Twin Falls Police chief of detectives Tim Qualls that the Magic Valley Living Center continues to harbor persons who "could become dangerous."

Qualls made his statements earlier this week after police last Wednesday arrested Rick Huffman, 23, a resident at the shelter home south of Curry, on a charge of rape in the slaying death of Stephanie Whitesides, 20, in a downtown Twin Falls store.

Citing legal requirements for confidentiality, Klein would not comment on the specifics of the Huffman case beyond saying that Huffman had been a voluntary resident of the shelter home and had not been committed as a ward of the state.

Klein did say that screening procedures for shelter home residents vary with each individual. He also noted that the state has no contact with many of the shelter-home residents, who either choose to live at the shelter home themselves and pay for their room and board with their own money or by who are placed in the shelter home by family members.

"We have no reason to evaluate a number of persons there," Klein said.

He said that in cases in which the state is involved "we take every precaution to keep

Turks say peace talks next step

By United Press International

Turkish troops thundered across Cyprus without resistance today, reaching the west coast and securing the northeastern third of the island. Turkey said it had completed its military objectives and was now willing to end the fighting and negotiate for a permanent peace.

The Cyprus government abandoned its offices in the capital of Nicosia when Turkish troops bombed and strafed part of the capital, leaving it in flames. Heavy fighting drizzled along the "green line" in the center of the city, a row of white painted oil drums separating Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities.

Tanked Turkish troops secured the eastern port of Famagusta where Turkish Cypriots dined, wept and cheered as men and supplies rolled into the city at dawn.

On the western front, columns of armored troops backed by air and naval support smashed through feeble Greek Cypriot defenses on Morphou Bay, the western end of the Turkish "Attala line" that begins at Famagusta.

In Ankara, Turkish Premier Bulent Ecevit met with his cabinet for two hours and told newsmen Turkish forces had fulfilled the battle plan.

"At 7 p.m. Turkish time (10 a.m. EDT) our military operation on Cyprus will have reached its objectives and will end," he said. "We will be available to continue negotiations any time after (the fighting ends.)

"We don't want partition. We want Cyprus to remain an independent state," Ecevit said.

"Turkey believes there should be two autonomous administrations (Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot) on the island under a federal arrangement."

Turkish Cypriot leader Rauf Dehshani said the 60-hour renewal of fighting meant that "a federal state has been established on Cyprus. Its boundaries are marked by the Turkish army."

Greece had opposed federation but an angry Premier Constantine Karamanlis admitted Thursday that Greece was powerless to stop Turkey's military expansion on the island.

A government spokesman in Athens said Karamanlis rejected an invitation by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to fly to Washington for talks with President Ford.

Diplomatic reports from London said there was no rush to reconvene the Geneva peace talks that could at best only confirm the Turkish military victory.

Before Ecevit's announcement of a halt in the fighting, Turkish Defense Minister Hasan Esat Isik promised that in a matter of hours the Turkish government would obey the U.N. Security Council's fourth cease-fire order.

Turkey landed 30,000 troops on Cyprus July 20, five days after the Greek-led Cypriot-national guard ousted President Makarios. The invaders expanded from the northern port of Kyrenia and grabbed a 130-mile slice of land.

The fighting ebbed last week when Greece, Turkey and Britain met in Geneva to negotiate a peace but the talks derailed over Turkish demands that separate regions be created for the 360,000 residents of Greek background and the 140,000 of Turkish descent.

Turkey launched a second offensive from its northern beachhead Tuesday, taking advantage of its superior manpower and weapons to push east into Famagusta and west to Morphou Bay along the "Attala line" that runs through Nicosia.

The Turkish sweep to the west coast Thursday nailed down the invaders' hold on the entire northern tier of the bloodied island. Greek Cypriot defenders scattered south from Nicosia.

UPI correspondent Michael Keats reported that the government of President Glafos Clerides hastily vacated its offices in the southern part of the capital because of heavy fighting raging on some parts of the city.

A government source said Clerides moved to other offices in the city though unconfirmed reports said he fled with thousands of other Greek Cypriots to the southern coastal town of Limassol.

West of the capital near the airport Greek Cypriots and Turks battled for a traffic circle leading to the bomb-damaged airport.

Utah gas test site may close

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A study made for the Army recommends transferring biological operations from a Utah site where thousands of sheep were killed by nerve gas to some other facility.

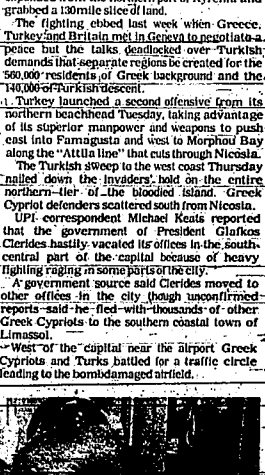

The two-volume joint civilian-military study made for the Army Materiel Command and released Thursday, recommended placing Dugway proving grounds on stand-by status because its operations could be conducted at other facilities more efficiently.

Under stand-by status the base would be closed except for a small maintenance crew. The land, however, would not be sold but kept in reserve in case there was later a need for the installation.

The report, sent to Army Secretary Howard H. Callaway for final decision, did not mention the incident in 1968 at which more than 1,000 sheep near Dugway died from nerve gas that had been tested in the open air 20 miles away.

All open air testing of nerve gas was halted after that incident.

Dugway and Utah had been used to test biological weapons and nerve gas. But in 1969 President Nixon renounced biological warfare and Dugway's workload, the report said, was then limited to testing chemical weapons and defenses against biological weapons.

Utah gas test site may close

Individuals who could furnish themselves or other people with explosives.

Three state wards for whom the state is legally responsible were removed from the living center and taken to alternate homes early last week.

Klein said, but the step followed discovery that the shelter home's license had expired and was not connected with the Huffman case.

Klein said HAW officials are considering reacquisition by the firm for a state license. The agency, he added, has no enforcement authority to prevent the shelter home from operating without a license during the application interim.

Klein disputed charges by other HAW officials that the operators of the shelter home, Mr. and Mrs. Duff Brown, had been uncooperative with the state in the past.

"I think it's completely fair to say (Brown) has never been blatantly uncooperative," Klein said.

Farm aide says US may avoid export controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Agriculture Department official says that despite looming grain crop losses because of drought, the government will try to avoid imposing export controls as a way of keeping domestic prices down.

Instead, said assistant agriculture secretary Clayton Scudder, foreign commercial buyers will be asked to voluntarily cut back purchases of U.S. grain.

His testimony Thursday before a Senate agriculture subcommittee was backed up by several senators and farmers.

"We expect the export cuts can be made without government mechanisms like export controls," Scudder said.

He said grain exports would have to be cut below earlier projections, but that the government strategy now is to talk major foreign commercial buyers into reducing their purchases.

Scudder said the nation will have "adequate" grain supplies throughout the coming year, although farmers will have less corn to use as feed in producing meat, milk and poultry.

He said the reduced corn crop will not likely affect retail food prices until 1975, but consumers then will feel the impact of higher production costs and reduced output especially of poultry and pork.

Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., testified that the latest government crop estimates are "no cause for panic or extreme measures," such as the export limits proposed by some officials.

Americans are not so inhuman as to say to foreigners, "Let your people starve and give us your grain to feed to our boys and poultry and cattle."

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., also urged caution in considering grain export controls.

An Agriculture Department report of an outstanding export contracts indicated Thursday that the Soviet Union apparently canceled an order for 13.3 million bushels of American wheat.

The department's weekly report on contracts held by private traders on farm crops showed that as of August 5 only 6.7 million bushels of wheat were listed for future shipment to Russia during the 1974-75 season.

A week ago, there were commitments of 29 million bushels to the Soviet Union. Officials said the difference was not accounted for by shipments during the week or, as far as they could tell, by substituting other grains for wheat.

Liberal Democrats beef up task unit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Liberal Senate Democrats are trying to strengthen President Ford's request that the Labor Task Force by giving it power to issue subpoenas and to delay price increases.

Both the House and Senate Banking Committees gave quick approval to Ford's request for the new "lawmaking" agency Thursday, and both bodies are expected to consider the bill Monday.

The House is expected to rubber-stamp Ford's request just as he wanted it, but a fight is expected in the Senate where Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., and others plan to try to strengthen the bill. Amendments proposed by Stevenson were defeated in committee, but he may stand in the better chance on the Senate floor.

The Stevenson plan would give the task force authority to delay price or wage increases 30 days and impose an additional 45-day delay while it gathers evidence and holds hearings on price boosts. The task force would not have the power to control permanently wages and prices, but to subpoena company records if it wanted.

Ford asked for $1 billion to run the task force, but the Stevenson bill would give him $5 million.

All Ford asked for was an economic monitoring agency of top presidential advisers and cabinet members to be coordinated.

Sunshine support sought

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Sunshine Committee were in Twin Falls Thursday to organize local support.

Mary Mech, state coordinator for the Sunshine Initiative is touring Idaho in an effort to actively solicit support for the initiative, which requires lobbyist registration and finance disclosure for political candidates in state or legislative elections.

The purpose of the meeting with the citizens of Idaho is to acquaint them with the provisions of the initiative measure, to seek support for the proposal and to assist local organizations in preparation for activities leading to the passage of the "open government" initiative," Mrs. Mech said.

The initiative committee has sought legal counsel to represent the interests of the 28,000 individuals who signed the initiative petition. Mrs. Mech commented arguments as to the constitutionality of the proposal will be heard on Aug. 27 in Fourth District Court in Boise.

Mrs. Mech said the committee believes there are implied, believe that most state office holders and legislators are dishonest. Supporters seek the passage of the measure to remove this stigma from elected officials, the "impurity of whom are sincere, dedicated men and women."

The committee is seeking local supporters and organizers who can work on public information and fund-raising efforts.

Police probe thefts

TWIN FALLS — City police in Twin Falls are investigating a series of thefts reported at South Side Bean Co., South Park Avenue, in which about 700 gallons of gasoline has disappeared.

Officers said sometime between 10 p.m. Wednesday and 8 a.m. Thursday someone gained entry to the plant by forcing open a window. Locks were broken on the gasoline pump control box and about 230 gallons of gasoline taken.

Company officials say gasoline has been missing for some time and locks were recently changed.

Harmon names meanest lifeguard

TWIN FALLS — Tim Schmidt is the meanest lifeguard at the Harmon Park Swimming Pool.

Schmidt was awarded the title Wednesday following a week of voting by swimmers at the pool. Each vote cost a penny and the one buying the most votes got to sit on the lifeguard tower after the pool closing and punch the lifeguard.

Pam Brown bought the most votes and took her turn of the lifeguard tower ordering Schmidt to fetch cold water; push up under water; and various stunts off the diving board. Schmidt is the diving coach at the pool.

According to the lifeguard at the pool, the contest was to help inform children who the lifeguards are, and for them to have a little fun with the guards.

About $5 was raised from the contest. This money has been added to the lifeguard's party fund.

Idaho unemployment up

BOISE — Unemployment in Idaho this June was up half a percentage point over year-ago levels.

According to the latest "Idaho Economic Indicators" published by the Department of Employment, Idaho's unemployment rate rose to 6.1 per cent this June, compared to the 5.6 per cent level established a year ago. The June 1974 figure also represents a climb of one-tenth of a percentage point over the 6.0 per cent unemployment rate registered in May of this year.

although up 17 per cent on year-ago levels, from 3.26 this May to 1.67 this June compared to 1.49 last June.

Residential building permits, however, held nearly constant over the year span and were up slightly for this May to this June. There were 3,119 residential building permits issued in the state in June 1974, compared to 3,022 this June and 2,834 this May. A situation analysis found surprising in light of severely tight money in the mortgage market and all other markets.

Other data released for June 1974 showed:

- daily average nonagricultural job openings over the year span from 176.4 on this May and from 174.3 on this May.
- average manufacturing workweek up to 33 hours this June from 32.5 hours last June and from 32.7 hours this May.
- nonagricultural wage and salary employment down to 247,000 persons statewide this June from 249,400 last June and from 253,600 this May.

Nonagricultural job openings up to 253 per day this June from 219 per day last June and from 192 per day this May.

statewide bank deposits down to $19.4 million this June from $127.7 million last June and from $902.7 million this May.

statewide personal income up to $316 million this April (the latest month for which figures are available) from $266 million last April and from $15 million this March.

electric power sales up to 955 million kilowatt hours (KWH) this June from 899 million KWH last June and from 884 million KWH this May.

statewide gasoline sales down slightly to 39 million gallons this May compared to 39.9 million gallons last May, but up from the 38.4 million gallons sold this May.

New car registrations holding exactly even this June and last at 1,722 for both months, but a significant drop from the 1,650 new cars registered this May.

According to the bulletin, the rise in unemployment took place despite an increase in both the number of job openings received and the number of job placements made this June over last. The increase held also in spite of a slight decline in total unemployment claims — this June compared to last June, 1,205 weekly this year compared to 1,222 last June.

Part of the increased unemployment may have been due to a considerable drop in contract construction employment, which fell this June by 42 per cent over last year's figure, from 14,700 employees last June to 8,500 statewide this June.

The employment drop in the state handicraft industry also reflected a severe drop from month-ago figures for May of this year, from 15,200 this May to the 8,500 of June, a decrease of 44 per cent.

On the other hand, a normal increase in unemployment among food processing workers was delayed this year by cool weather and strikes which set back the industry's processing runs.

Other data released by the employment department showed non-residential building permits for this June down 30 per cent from May.

Nonagricultural job openings up to 253 per day this June from 219 per day last June and from 192 per day this May.

statewide bank deposits down to $19.4 million this June from $127.7 million last June and from $902.7 million this May.

statewide personal income up to $316 million this April (the latest month for which figures are available) from $266 million last April and from $15 million this March.

New car registrations holding exactly even this June and last at 1,722 for both months, but a significant drop from the 1,650 new cars registered this May.

average hourly earnings continuing to increase, reaching $4.42 this June compared to $4.04 last June and $4.30 this May.

food and kindred products employment up to 16,400 persons this June compared to 15,900 last June and up from 14,000 this May.

lumber and wood products employment down to 13,900 this June from 15,300 last June and from 15,600 this May.

retail trade employment up slightly to 48,200 this June compared to 48,000 last June and to 47,000 this May.

Early '70's may produce single useful word

(C) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — In Cantonada, Alabama, I. Willis Russell, professor emeritus of the University of Alabama, sits through newspaper and magazines looking for new words, or new uses of old words. He is the dean of America's word-watchers.

But professor Russell is growing old, and to make certain that new words do not go unwatched, he has trained a younger colleague, Professor Mary Gray Porter, to take his place together, they kneel among the neologisms in "American Speech," the most leisurely quarterly magazine published anywhere in the world.

It is early derivation, while Professors Russell and Porter excel in discovering citations of current usage. All three are on guard against trotting out permanent "sawney words" that wile through the language like Kohoutek's flop comet.

"Stonewall" as a verb originated in the game of cricket, as a term for playing solely on the defensive. Australian political slang picked it up in the late 19th century, and it was adopted quickly by British politicians.

In America, stonewalling was rarely used. The citation in Webster's New International Unabridged Dictionary is a James Reston column of the late 1920's. "Stonewalling for time in order to close the missile gap." But then Henry Kissinger picked up the term. I first heard him use it in late 1969, as "The North Vietnamese are stonewalling us."

As an exact figure of speech, the word's usage increased; more stories were added as a strategy of silence was adopted by the Watergateers, and when the President's tapes revealed him to have said "I want you to stonewall it," the word was sealed into the language.

Stonewalling has a pejorative connotation today. It is the behavior, the scornful use of crickets, politicians from Down Under and up above, the figure of speech was used in admiration during our civil war by one of the Confederacy's greatest generals: "There stands Jackson, like a stone wall!"

Might it be possible, someday, for stonewalling to regain an admirable connotation? The word-watchers will be watching.

Punishment to fit crime

Partisans supporting politicians who lose elections sometimes take their favorite's defeat hard. Then there are others on the periphery of politics who see a chance for a practical joke or a hoax.

Idaho's Democrats, led by Gov. Cecil Andrus and party chairman Joe McCarter, were indignant. Andrus summoned the FBI for an investigation, citing the violation of federal campaign statutes. And an irate Congressman Hansen joined in that call, asking for a full investigation of the matter.

How far prosecution of the perpetrators of the hoax should go may be debatable. Certainly, such dirty tricks have no place in Idaho political campaigns — which can become heated enough without departing from the issues.

But we would hope that if the authors of the fake news release are tracked down and prosecuted, they will receive a stiffer punishment than a figurative slap on the wrist.

We'd suggest making them take down every campaign poster left over from the primary and general elections in all 44 Idaho counties.

Candidate proposed

Leviston Tribune

There is at this moment in American history a craving in our politics for two leadership talents in particular — personal integrity and a creative approach to current economic headaches.

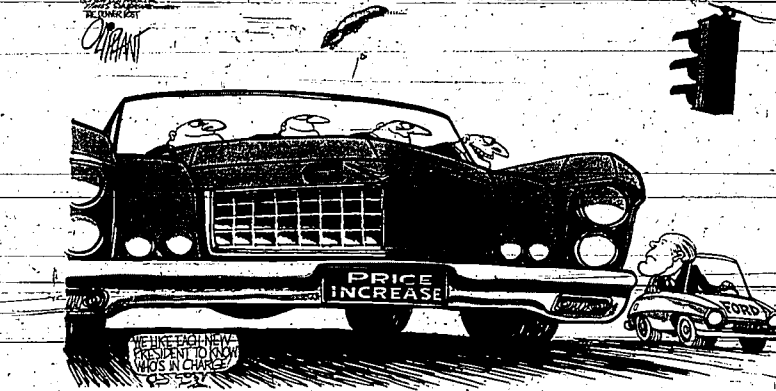

Of these two counts alone, Washington Gov. Dan Evans shines as a vice presidential possibility.

Evans deserves the humorous nickname "Straight Arrow" with which he has been dubbed by the Washington press. He is no stereotypical reformer. He is a man who has been running about the nation counseling people to be as pure as he is.

Evans is also more experienced than most American leaders in coping with economic reversals. A depression in the aircraft manufacturing business of Washington sent that state into a nasty economic upset three years ahead of the rest of the nation.

Evans is also a highly presentable candidate on a 1976 presidential and vice presidential ticket. He is an unassuming looking man, given to intelligent speeches free from clichés.

There is a depth and a promise of excellence in this man from Washington state that warrants his inclusion high on the list of vice presidential possibilities. — B.H.

Caramanlis' goal making Greece modern state

(C) New York Times Service
ATHENS — I have written in the past that Constantine Caramanlis was Greece's best statesman since Pericles and worst politician since Alcibiades.

What I meant was that he had run a first-class government from 1955 to 1963 but then had gone abroad in a huff when he lost power instead of staying to lead the parliamentary opposition.

The second part of my analysis has happily been proven wrong. Caramanlis was his axiomatic back to the top.

During his last 18 months as premier of voluntary emigration (Caramanlis often reflected: "All you have to do is make one mistake and unless you are lucky you have had it. He was lucky, and also shrewd. He knew it is hard to get out of jams. They have been in fashion in many places since World War II. After 1945 juntaism and militarism came in, ideology yielded to brute power.

But he kept in touch with a follower of various factions inside and outside Greece, ranging from leftists to the king — a fellow exile after December, 1967.

Caramanlis concluded there were but three real power sources in junta Greece and that unless one of these moved to blood his back there would be anarchy and bloodshed.

The "real power sources" he discerned were the junta government, which held the reins; the army, which possessed the muscle; and the United States, which could, if it wished, apply overwhelming pressure.

Yet he worried little on the Americans. They kept limited contact with him and held their higher-ranking ambassadors, such as ambassadors, at arm's length.

He cultivated his chances prudently when he returned to Greece. He had turned athletic and wind-up in bed with a saccharine and assorted contents. Friends will confess strange vegetable and come down with passion. Try. The neighbor's dog will steal the ham.

Beaches are worse. For some similar reason, people believe they will be cooler if they drive 100 miles to some hot resort. "I am sure," says a citizen and sit down on the hot sand under a brilliant sun that would cook a medium rare in two minutes. The unwary always return home with a third degree burn about the body.

Outdoors is fine for rabbits, birds, lions, tigers and 50,000 a-year baseball players. But kindly close that window, Ma'am and another helping if you please, of that gray car on highway 101, change and maybe just a dram more of that champagne. Let I go into a decline.

The next day they're bragging to their friends about how good they feel; only kindly do not touch that shoulder. Mac, I have yet to encounter a child who failed to become violently ill at 2 a.m. after a day at the beach with the family.

Houses were made to eat in, especially in summer, winter, spring and fall, and the sensible man could save money, energy and wear and tear on his nervous system by finding the "hot" looking blizzard (there are, alas, the importunities of family and friends who seek to live him outdoors.

What about men's casual fashions?
"There hasn't been too much change in men's fashions this year. They'll still wear Army Parkies, bright-colored sports shirts, sneakers and baseball caps."

Can I do anything to see how the standards in clothes have gone up in the nation's capital this year?
"Yes, it's amazing how clothes-conscious Americans are when they visit Washington these days. It's as though they know that they're on display, and they want to look their best for the new administration."

What about women's casual fashions?
"Does this mean that women-tourists visiting this town will no longer be wearing blue jeans and ill-fitting coats, to forecast Caramanlis' program. He must first deal with the Cyprus mess, the economic crisis and inflation. He has brought resistance leaders into his cabinet and received leftist representatives to muster support from all factions. He is starting to whittle down the residue of junta strength among political officers.

He has deferred the questions of monarchy and a new constitution. Nevertheless, he is beginning tentatively to face these fundamental questions, determined that while parliamentary democracy must prevail, it shall be for the longer be crippled by bickering and corruption as Greece becomes what he considers a modern state.

Indoor meals preferred

WASHINGTON — It has just ingested a bulge of air horse fly, and so it is time for the annual column on a season of the year that for all its balmy charm should be entered into cautiously by the individual with a modicum of concern for his personal comfort.

It is, in short, the season when people all over this great nation indulge in a "bit" of self-indulgence that should be made illegal if sports of the extent of eating out of doors.

Of all the daff American habits, this is the one that would baffle the psychiatrist attempting a mass head-shrinking of the U.S. population. Possessed of a hand crowded with comfortable tennis racket or a fisherman to attend some outdoors for his hobby. Few houses can accommodate a 200-yard drive of over a trout stream gurgling through the master bedroom.

But there is a kind of national nifty in being an indoor sports fan, eating, and into the back yard and into the back yard.

Eating in the open air, summer's worst hazard, and illegal. For renegade man favored to build a fitting zoo over his head so he could eat in a nice still room, and today we invite that refuge to wolf our common sense and to leave on some nice, clear, upward or down of sand.

It matters not the means, eating outdoors is a dreadful nuisance. Brezes wait, foreign substances into food, gnats share each bite, paper napkins blow away, paper plates spill their contents.

Drinking outdoors is not only untidy, it is demonstrably dangerous. Placed in a backyard with a few ounces of Old Popski under his belt, your little aged man will be so exhibited by nature, and distilled spate, he will turn athletic and wind-up in bed with a saccharine and assorted contents. Friends will confess strange vegetable and come down with passion. Try. The neighbor's dog will steal the ham.

Tourists want to look their best for DC visits

Editor's note: Art Buchwald has come to Cape Cod to recuperate from a water-gate related crisis. Here is one of his favorite columns of the past.

WASHINGTON — The new summer fashions for American tourists visiting Washington have recently been released, and from all indications the clothes are going to be more formal than in previous years.

The source of this information was Sophie Ghigi, the famous Washington tourist fashion expert, who said, "It appears now that women will be wearing more stretch pants than Bermuda shorts when visiting the public monuments."

"Does this mean that women-tourists visiting this town will no longer be wearing blue jeans and sweet shirts?"

"Oh, I would not expect that an uptight, busy-daytime you may find a certain number of women in blue jeans and sweat shirts, as well as shorts, but in the evening they will probably change into slacks, stretch pants and blouses."

It is true that the shorts are out, and the new summer fashions are more conservative. They are, after all, a mark of respect, many tourists will still visit the White House and the Lincoln Memorial in short shorts, but we're recommending longer shorts for the Senate and House of Representatives."

"I think that's wise," I said. "What about skirts?"
"Skirts are awfully dressy for sightseeing in Washington, but some women will wear them with halters and bare midriffs and open-toed sandals."

"What about styles?"
"Keeping your hair in curls while sight-seeing still seems to be the rage. The large-colored plastic curlers which stick out all over your head are coming back in vogue."

"How about face cream?"
"It's optional. Many women tourists prefer to sustain oil as suntan of tans'paw up a wall."

What about men's casual fashions?
"There hasn't been too much change in men's fashions this year. They'll still wear Army Parkies, bright-colored sports shirts, sneakers and baseball caps."

Fake release draws anger

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — Congressman Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said Thursday he was "angered" over a fake news release boosting him as a Democratic candidate for Congress and added he was asking for a full-scale investigation into the matter.

Hansen, who lost a bid for re-election to Congress in the Republican primary, said the release "obviously intended to discredit me."

Hansen said he was joining with Democratic Gov. Cecil D. Andrus of Idaho in asking an investigation by the FBI.

The congressman also said he would request an investigation by the Justice Department and the investigative unit of the clerk of the House of Representatives.

Andrus asked an FBI investigation Wednesday after two Idaho newspapers printed a release that had received on Hansen's letterhead stationery purporting that the prominent Idaho Democrats had organized a "Democrats for Orval Hansen" committee.

The release said former state Democratic Chairman Joe McCarter, Corral; Rep. Patricia McDermett, Pocatello; and Idaho State University President William Dwyer were promoting Orval Hansen as the Democratic candidate over nominee Max Hanson.

All three denied any knowledge of the release. "Several things about the news release make it clear it is a fake," Congressmen Hansen said.

"It is a fabrication of our campaign letterhead form that does not exist. In any event, we never use campaign letterhead for news releases and we never send campaign news releases into the First Congressional District."

Hansen said it was his intention to support his primary election opponent and "all Republican candidates just as we have done for the last 28 years."

He said many friends had urged him to run as an independent candidate, but that he had rejected all these suggestions.

"The suggestion in the phony news release that I could become a candidate on the Democratic ticket is sheer fantasy," Hansen said. "I regret very much that the newspaper which had never received any campaign releases from me in the past did not take time to verify the authenticity of the release.

Hansen said the three individuals who were falsely quoted in the news release are highly respected leaders in the Democratic party and this kind of "dirty tricks" tactics does a great disservice to these people as well as to Max Hanson who fairly won the nomination of his party.

"There is no place in Idaho politics for tactics such as this," he said. "The incident should be investigated fully and those responsible for what appears to be a clear violation of the federal election law should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

Legal immunity proposed

HONOLULU (UPI) — The American Bar Association has gone on record as opposing legal immunity for former President Richard M. Nixon.

On a vote voice and without debate the ABA's 346-member House of Delegates Thursday approved a resolution which opposed a "blanket" President Nixon's immunity from prosecution that resulted from disclosures about Nixon and Watergate.

The resolution, substituted for two other stronger resolutions, said:

"Whereas the foundation of the American system of law is equal justice under law... be it resolved, that the American Bar Association continue its dedication to the principle of fair, just and impartial application and enforcement of the law regardless of the position or status of any individual alleged to have violated the law."

Smith had predicted that the House of Delegates would pass the resolution by a 200-vote margin, but the resolution against granting Nixon legal immunity but he said it was proper for the resolution just to mention anyone by name.

"Although it is aimed at the revelations about Nixon, it enunciates a general principle of law," he said.

A second Watergate-related resolution was also approved without debate. It stated that "all applicable disciplinary rules apply to lawyers at all times, whether or not acting in their professional capacity, and calls upon all attorneys engaged in public or private practice to make positions of government to recognize and adhere to their professional ethical responsibilities."

Another resolution, which did mention Nixon specifically, died in the resolutions committee.

Generous man loses 'cool'

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — A 26-year-old man here almost gave a lot more to the Salvation Army than he intended. Only after he had deposited some used clothing in a drop box did he discover he left $1,600 in cash in the pockets of one pair.

"He was wringing his hands when I showed up," said Maj. David Riley, Salvation Army center director, who dispatched a soldier to search the box when the frantic donor called.

"He nearly fainted when we told him we found the money. He told us he would have lost his business if the money had not been recovered."

Repeal of DST approved by Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has voted to end year-round daylight saving time and to authorize a $20 billion, 10-year, research and development program for energy self-sufficiency in the United States.

The repeal of winter daylight saving time passed on a voice vote as an amendment to a larger energy bill passed Thursday.

The change back to standard time was sponsored by Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan. It would exempt November, December, January and February from summer time.

The research and development program for nuclear energy alternatives was also added as an amendment to the Energy Reorganization Act under sponsorship of Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.

Final action on the entire bill is pending.

Jackson's plan was unanimously approved by the Senate as a separate bill in December, but got bogged down in the House in a jurisdictional dispute among committees.

The amendment would authorize $1.3 billion for fiscal 1975 but would commit Congress to funding a minimum of $20 billion in the next decade for the program.

The main bill is designed to consolidate the government's fragmented energy research and development programs under one agency, the Energy Research and Development Administration.

The Soviets contended it is an internal problem, a point made earlier this year by Nixon, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark.

The Russians have been trying to fight a wave of Jewish emigrants, many of them well educated and leaders in scientific and cultural fields, who wish to leave the U.S.S.R.

Profit claim draws fire

BOISE (UPI) — The head office of Idaho Power Co. said Thursday use by the Boise Coalition of the utility's net income as a percentage of gross revenue to show excessive profits was "a meaningless exercise."

James B. Bruce said Idaho Power's net income should be related to its plant investment for the "most meaningful test of its performance."

Presently, he said, the company has over $7 of investment in facilities to serve a grossly unpopulated area for every $1 of revenue.

"This is nearly double the investment that other electric utilities serving more densely populated areas have for every $1 of revenue and is over seven times the investment that a typical manufacturing plant has for every $1 of revenue." The Boise Coalition is fighting attempts by Idaho Power to receive a rate increase. Bruce said that only because the company has use of investor's money "are we able to fulfill our obligations as a regulated public utility."

"He said this year alone the firm would spend about $200 million for needed facilities to provide maximum service and by the end of the year because of the expenditure of Idaho Power's plant investment will approach $500 million."

YOUR GOOD HEALTH: Smallpox shot remains good idea

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like your opinion on the pros and cons of giving a small child a smallpox shot. It seems that every doctor has a different opinion.

I have heard that more people die from the shot itself than from the actual disease.

Mrs. J. B.
Of course, the smallpox shot is no longer mandatory, but I sometimes wonder whether the decision to make it optional is going to turn out to have been wise in the long run.

In 1921 when Dr. Leonard Wood was made governor-general of the Philippines, smallpox was a serious problem. There were about 100,000 cases a year reported.

An inoculation program was begun and within a few years the number of cases was brought down close to zero. In 1927, the inoculation program was abandoned, and within a few years the incidence (rate of cases for the population) shot up again to the 100,000 level.

Need I say more? There is always the danger in any, repeat any, inoculation, for a generalized infection to occur. But to suggest therefore that all protective shots and vaccinations be ended would be like suggesting that we turn back the clock on all scientific and medical advances and subject our society to the ancient ravages of unchecked epidemic diseases.

I and many pediatricians I have talked to have never seen a fatal or extensive reaction to smallpox vaccination. If the child is healthy and has no allergies or skin disorders I see no objection.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I know of someone who has been taking birth control pills for almost two years now. She started taking them right after she had an abortion. Her doctor suggested it to regulate her menstrual periods.

I have heard that once a person starts using these pills, she cannot stop using them or there may be damage to her system. I would like to know if this is true or something that person just have made up in order to stay on them for other reasons. — Mrs. R. M.

after stopping the pills would be a possible reversion to her irregular periods.

I would let it go at that and leave the decision of her continuing with the pills as a private matter between herself and her doctor.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Your booklet on hantle hehri is full of valuable information for anyone having this problem. Today's overworked physicians do not have time to give the patient all this information. I wish you would elaborate on which foods, specifically, are "course foods" and a number of books on nutrition do not give this information. R.C.

Course foods are the high residue foods which contain a lot of fiber. Indigestible bits that can irritate. That would mean such things as nuts, foods with large hard seeds, bran—and "crunchy" vegetables on the order of escarole, radishes and the like. Cooked vegetables are another matter; the cooking

Ex-aide wins delay in trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — John Ehrlichman, former top aide to ex-President Nixon, argued Thursday that his trial on a perjury charge subjects him to double jeopardy, since he has already been convicted of a related charge in federal court in Washington.

The start of his trial was postponed until at least Jan. 6 to take place after the Watergate cover-up trial in Washington, in which he is also a defendant.

Ehrlichman was convicted of perjury for lying to a federal grand jury about his knowledge of the Ellsberg burglary by the White House "Numbers" U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica sentenced him to 20 months in five years in prison.

The perjury charge against Ehrlichman here, for allegedly lying to a county grand jury about his knowledge of the break-in is

Cut in powers studied

(C) New York Times Service WASHINGTON — Seeking to restrict a century of expanding presidential power, a special Senate committee is expected to introduce legislation next week to repeal wide-ranging presidential emergency authority and to establish new standards of public accountability for the President.

Under emergency proclamation dating back to 1933 and still in force, the President has the legal power to censor the air waves, institute martial law, take over office buildings, seize communications, and control ships, planes and trains.

Under existing law, the President is not required to inform Congress or otherwise publish his decisions and orders unless he designates those decisions as either "executive orders" or "presidential proclamations."

In the words of the report of the Senate special committee on national emergencies and delegated emergency powers: "There is no formal accountability for the most important executive decisions affecting the lives of citizens and the freedom of individuals and institutions."

The co-chairmen of this panel, Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., and Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, are expecting to meet with President Ford next week. They are seeking White House support for the new legislation. They already have the unanimous backing of their committee members. They have worked closely with and expect the support of attorney General William B. Saxbe and other executive branch legal officers.

Mathias predicted in an interview that the bill would "sail through the house, even before the next Congress, unless there is active opposition from the White House."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A U.S. District Court has sent a check for $200 to the second highest fees along with a subpoena commanding Richard M. Nixon, private citizen, to testify in court about his actions as president.

The subpoena, issued by lawyers for John D. Ehrlichman, once Nixon's No. 2 aide and now a Watergate cover-up defendant, was addressed to "Presidential (Subpoena) — Sam Clemente, Ctl." It tells Nixon, "You are hereby commanded to appear in court the morning of Sept. 9, 1974, for the start of the trial."

There was no word from Nixon's aides whether he would fight the subpoena now that he has no executive

Hagerman church dedicates windows

HAGERMAN — Dedication services for two newly installed stained glass windows at the local United Methodist church will be held at the church at 2 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited to attend.

The windows were designed, constructed and donated by Mrs. Ruth (Roy) Sparrow, local artist. One window features a cross symbolizing the crucifixion and the other window of a lily symbolizes the resurrection. The idea for the stained glass windows was formulated by Mrs. Sparrow when she first saw the new church building which was completed several years ago, and noted that it did not have any stained glass windows.

The windows are constructed of antique hand-blown glass made in Europe. This unique glass which is more colorful is made mostly in the countries of England, Germany and France.

Mrs. Sparrow said that no antique stained glass is made in the United States, but that there is a cathedral stained glass made in this country.

Except for Mr. and Mrs. Sparrow, first came to Hagerman 11 years ago, they spend six months of the year in Phoenix, Ariz., within a few miles of the art colony of the Scottsdale area.

There, Mrs. Sparrow is a member of three art organizations and she has studied in the watercolor school in Scottsdale and it was through Mr. and Mrs. Sparrow during the past winter, where she did her actual construction of the windows, where she had access to the use of a commercial glass blower.

The lengthy, tedious task began with the design which was made to the exact scale which she desired for the windows. Next, a stencil had to be made for each piece of glass.

To hold each piece of the glass, a lead, piece of the design was made requiring each small piece of lead to be soldered.

There are 217 pieces of stained glass in the lily window, but she was uncertain as to how many were in the cross window, but she said, "there aren't quite as many pieces in that one."

It took three months of actual work of construction after the preliminary work were made to complete the windows.

While this type of art is a new media for her, Mrs. Sparrow has been a professional artist for 25 years, but began her watercolor painting when she was a child, and prefers painting in watercolor to oils.

Mrs. Sparrow keeps turning to the arts of art besides her watercoloring and painting as she likes the challenge and feels that staying with one media alone too long "you get stale."

Two years ago, she donated a 4 foot by 6 foot stone mural of Christ praying in the Garden of Gethsemane, which hangs in the church foyer.

Except for some of the brighter colored stone, which she purchased from lapidaries, the rest of the stone for the mural is native Idaho stone most which she gathered herself. The mural is framed with a 10-inch wrought iron frame she designed.

Adding to this, she has also made a stone mosaic fish, the most which she gathered herself. The mural is framed with a 10-inch wrought iron frame she designed.

TF church studies universal symbols

TWIN FALLS — Prophectic signs and symbols relating to today and a war that stretches throughout the universe are under study at the Twin Falls Seventh-Day Adventist church this month.

Pastor S. O. Francisco refers to the book of Revelation as "News from Jesus." He says, "The mysterious scenes described there by the prophet John are important to understanding what is happening in our world today. It isn't an easy book to understand, but the other books of the Bible, it was given us for a purpose."

Francisco speaks of Satan as a real being, "not just a figment of the nervous system or imagination." He warned that dabbling with the "spirit world," is "placing oneself on dangerous ground, for this opens the door for Satan and his evil spirits to take command of the life."

A careful reading of Revelation, the Pastor says, "will not only present a challenge to the reader but also reveal the dangers of an age in which religions are formed to worship Satan and people seek to contact spirits of departed

Pastor S. O. Francisco refers to the book of Revelation as "News from Jesus." He says, "The mysterious scenes described there by the prophet John are important to understanding what is happening in our world today. It isn't an easy book to understand, but the other books of the Bible, it was given us for a purpose."

Francisco speaks of Satan as a real being, "not just a figment of the nervous system or imagination." He warned that dabbling with the "spirit world," is "placing oneself on dangerous ground, for this opens the door for Satan and his evil spirits to take command of the life."

A careful reading of Revelation, the Pastor says, "will not only present a challenge to the reader but also reveal the dangers of an age in which religions are formed to worship Satan and people seek to contact spirits of departed

Abby

Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Curtis Sittenfeld, T. 1974 by S.M. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 44-year-old widow with three children—two teen-aged boys and a daughter, 12. My husband died last year after a lingering illness that nearly put us in the poorhouse; I am not desistive, but I have to be a very good manager to make ends meet.

My problem: At his funeral, friends and family hovered around me, expressing their sincere sympathy, and the last thing I heard from all of them was: "If you need anything, please call me."

Abby, I need EVERYTHING! I need someone to take an interest in my life, someone who has no other life, I need someone to cheer me up when I'm feeling low. I need someone to dress up for. I need someone to get me out of the house and invite me to a movie, a bridge game, a play, a concert, or an evening of conversation. I will know I'm alive. A widow needs everything any other normal woman needs, but she can't call up her friends and ask them for anything.

Please print this, Abby. Maybe someone who has made this offer to help would know how to do it. Thanks for listening.

YOUR FRIEND THE WIDOW

She needs everything

DEAR FRIEND: Consider it done. If this awakens one of your sleeping friends, let me know.

DEAR ABBY: I hate showers! I am 27 years old, and didn't use to feel this way, but now I do. I need someone to invite to showers for girls I hardly know, some of whom I haven't seen since I got out of high school. Opening presents in front of everyone to publicize how generous I am for "cheap" donations is rubs me the wrong way.

I was married (two years ago) and refused when my friends offered to have a shower for me. I had a planned apartment and didn't want a person for a present. I have been told that if you are invited to a shower, you must send a gift, whether you came or not. How does one courteously reply to a nifty shower invitation for someone she hasn't seen in nine years?

Please answer in your column, Abby. I'm sure I'm not the only one with this problem.

SICK OF SHOWERS

DEAR SICK: There is no "law" which compels you to send a gift if you accept an invitation. Simply decline, and you don't feel obligated to give a present to someone you "hardly know" or haven't seen in nine years.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22, single and fairly attractive. I don't have to elaborate on how difficult it is for a young lady to find a respectable, intelligent, employed, single man these days.

The problem is, I seem to have found one, but he is seeing another girl. He has dated me a few times, but I feel so guilty about the other girl, Abby. I don't want to be the cause of their breaking up. Should I continue to see him? Or should I drop the whole thing before it gets started?

LOST

DEAR LOST: If she wants to break off with the other girl, she can do so. You are not to blame. She is not deliberately set out to lure him away, there is no reason to feel guilty. If you wait for a man who is not seeing anyone, you could wait a long time.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SICK OF ALL THAT SEX IN YOUR COLUMN": Sorry, but lately, every other letter that lands on my desk has to do with sex. I invite people to write to me about their problems, and these are their problems.

Mrs. John Pohlman was in charge of the guest book. Gifts were received by Sharon Hughes, Sherrie Lierman and Brent Lulloff, brother of the bride.

The bride's table was centered with a three tiered cake decorated with pink roses and sweet peas, topped with two white birds sitting on white satin bells.

The cake was placed on a fountain arched with tall white pillars and with a waterfall of pink water, all surrounded by greenery and pink roses. Two sweetheart cakes flanked the large cake. The cake was baked by Mrs. Charles Robinson, Twin Falls.

Pink bows and nosegays of pink and white chrysanthemums accented the white net skirt of the bride's table. Two crystal candelabras decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums held pink candles.

Guest tables were decorated with cupid centerpieces holding pink and white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Howard Munson, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Gary Munson, cousin of the bride, cut and served the cake. Mr. Herbert Wolf, and Mrs. Vern Farley, aunts of the bridegroom, served punch and coffee.

The bride was honored at showers given by Mrs. Everett Hughes and Sharon and by Mrs. Ron Lierman and daughter Sherrie, assisted by Mrs. Ron Ballard and Mrs. John Nelson.

Hundreds of classes set for antiques at TF fair

BY MARJORIE LIERMANN Times-News writer

FILER — Treasured heirlooms, family keepsakes, various collections and unusual odd knickies all show up at the antique department of the Twin Falls County Fair.

This department increases greatly each year and this year's 44th Sept. 4-7 will feature 453 classes of antiques and collector items.

Superintendents of the department are Mrs. Hugh Hanson and Mrs. Marjorie Davis, both Filer.

In order to give the utmost care and attention to each article coming into the building, the superintendents have established several rules.

To alleviate the long standing line to make entries and to pick them up at the close of the fair, entry time has been set from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Aug. 31; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sept. 1, and from 8 a.m. to noon Sept. 2.

No articles will be released on Sunday, Sept. 8. Highest release time will begin at 9 a.m. Sept. 8 and will continue to 3 p.m. and also will extend from 7 to 9 p.m. that day.

First and second cash premiums will be paid on all winners in the classes, but most important to most antique collectors are the prized blue and red ribbons also given winners.

The miscellaneous section includes clocks, mirrors, photo albums, tobacco jars, dresser sets and many other items. There is a section for old Bibles, books and pictures and one for old clothing and cloths.

Collector items are not antiques but are items no longer being produced and highly collectible. A lot of "ret" entries will be accepted in these classes.

The porcelain, china and earthenware division is very large and includes many famous names and patterns. There are divisions for glass articles, colored glass and pattern glass.

One section is reserved for old jewelry and one for furniture. Kitchen articles include old dairy items, woodenware, tinware and other primitives formerly used every day in early homesteads.

Metal articles include antiques of silver, brass, copper and pewter. The tuck division is of interest to horsemen of the area, and for the younger collectors there is a division with classes of toys and games.

Transit funding compromise eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Democrats turned back several attempts to limit a new $2.9 billion mass transit bill Thursday. But they appear ready to compromise with President Ford and cut down the dollar amount of the bill.

Ford held a group of county officials that the bill was inflationary and he would veto it unless it is trimmed. A White House spokesman said he would approve it if Republicans succeed in cutting it almost in half — to $1.2 billion.

Democrats now are trying to compromise at about $1.5 billion, but there is no indication whether Ford would accept. Final action has been put off until Monday or Tuesday.

Rep. William H. Harsha, R-Ohio, is sticking to his amendment cutting the bill in half, avoiding a direct question from Rep. James V. Stanton, D-Ohio, as to whether he could accept the $1.5 billion figure.

During debate Thursday, which often became an urban vs. rural fight, the House defeated by a 202-197 vote an amendment that would have banned use of the funds for transit operating subsidies, limiting it to construction and improvement of transit systems.

About half the money, $1.0 billion, would go to cities that either have large subway or rail systems or are building them: Atlanta, Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and San Francisco.

About $2.9 billion would go to 250 other urban areas and $5.4 billion would be placed in a discretionary fund. About $900 million would go to small towns and rural areas.

Counsel chosen

(c) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — President Ford moved swiftly Thursday to erase remnants of the Watergate affair from the White House by choosing Philip W. Buchen, his former law partner, as his counsel in charge of all legal matters.

Buchen's appointment came as the White House announced the resignation of Fred Buzhardt, the last of former president Nixon's Watergate attorneys, from the presidential legal staff.

White House spokesmen declined to confirm it, there were indications that Ford's decision to appoint Buchen may have been prompted, at least in part, by a letter from Buzhardt and St. Clair directing that tape recordings of Nixon's personal conversations were the property of the former president.

Strikes threaten auto output halt

By United Press International
700 workers faced layoffs as two non-union strikes threatened to halt auto production, grocery stores were closed for lack of groceries and buses were halted today as strikes continued across the country.

General Motors Corp. faced with strikes at two of its assembly plants, also was hard hit by strikes at Briggs & Stratton Corp. and the A.C. Smith Corp. both in Milwaukee, Wis.

Briggs & Stratton manufactures locks and A.O. Smith suspension parts.

The automaker laid off 3,000 hourly workers at its Indianapolis, Ind., Chevrolet plant today. Another 1,500 workers at its Framingham, Mass., sub plant and 4,800 at its Flint, Mich., truck plant also will be laid, though many will find work on car assembly lines and avoid being laid off, GM said.

A spokesman for American Motors Corp., the smallest of the nation's automakers, said its production could be halted by Aug. 20 if the strikes are not settled quickly.

Production at Chrysler and Ford also may be affected by the strikes.

Agreement was reached Thursday night on the 15-day strike by some 2,500 iron miners against Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co.

In Oakland, Calif., negotiators met with little success in an effort to end a 67-day-old strike which has halted AC Transit buses, affecting thousands of commuters. A state conciliator said the talks received "not an encouraging note."

The National Association of Letter Carriers, at its annual convention in Seattle, Wash., Thursday, threatened possible illegal strike, if the Postal Service goes through with proposed changes in job requirements for those delivering mail.

TF merchants set security patrols

TWIN FALLS — Local merchants plan to add security patrols to protect their businesses during the week of Evel Knievel's jump Sept. 24. The Downtowners Association, representing the downtown businessmen, met Thursday to discuss security measures. The decision was made to increase the present security force of one man to six during times of peak activity, according to Jerry McBratney, Downtowners chairman. The security patrol will be used as "protective and preventive device," McBratney said. The big crowds expected in town for the event are a major reason for the move toward increased security, he said.

Young fair-goers

THE CASSIA County Fair means fun for everyone. Two young cowboys enjoy snowcones as they wait for kids' night at the rodeo. The fair and rodeo will end Saturday night with the crowning of the new rodeo queen.

Fair draws large crowd

BURLEY — Two big days of the Cassia County Fair and Rodeo remain. Thursday was the first day of pari-mutuel racing, carnival and rodeo at the Cassia County Fairgrounds. Also new to this year's fair will be a special dance sponsored by the Jerome County 4-H Builders Club. The dance will be held just inside the gates of the fairgrounds arena on Friday night following the 4-H awards. The dance will last until midnight with the proceeds to be used by the club for worthwhile community projects.

Six Quarter Horse races and a quinilla were run Thursday afternoon. Attendance at the races was higher than in previous year, according to fair officials. Top local and touring cowboys competed in the first night of the rodeo. The grandstands were nearly filled by children taking advantage of the annual Kids' Night. Stock for the event included bulls which have seldom been ridden on the national circuit. None carried cowboys the full 8 seconds last night. The crowd at the fair and carnival was heavy for the first day. Local churches and service clubs provided food and refreshments for hungry fairgoers. This year's rodeo queen will be selected at the rodeo Saturday night. Fat stock will be sold at a Sunday sale after they are scalped by the fair judges.

Survives fall

PATERSON, N. J. (UPI) — Three-year old Yvonne Jackson fell five stories out of a Paterson housing project and survived, police said today. The girl was in fair condition at St. Joseph's Hospital and Medical Center with a fractured pelvis.

TWO PARKED vehicles were damaged and a power pole was knocked down early this morning when a van driven by Robert Seaberg, 24, Kimberly, left the Sugar Factory Road, Idaho State Police officer E.L. Abiston said. Seaberg was apparently attempting to pass a vehicle making a left turn when he lost control and slammed into the parked car. Seaberg was not seriously injured. The Sugar Factory was damaged for a short time. Total damage was estimated at about $2,250, and Seaberg was cited for violation of the Basic Rule.

5 vie for 1974 Jerome fair, rodeo queen title

JEROME — Brenda Peterson, 1973 Jerome County Fair and Rodeo queen, will crown her successor Thursday night from five girls vying for the title. The girls will be competing for the honor during this week's fair activities in Jerome. The candidates and their parents were special guests at the queen's banquet Saturday night at Wood Gate in Jerome. The girls and their sponsors are Derry Fender, Farm Bureau; Dixie Barnes, Jerome Sheriff's Posse; Peggy Peters, Jerome Rotary Club; Cynthia Scheer, Elks Club; and Sherri Muir, Jerome Chamber of Commerce. Miss Fender is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fender, a graduate of Jerome High School and is employed at the Motor Motel in Twin Falls. She has been active in rodeo and was named Miss Congeniality of the district Five High School Rodeo and All-Around District Five Cowgirl last year. Miss Fender has trained her own horses and now rides a registered buckskin Quarter horse that she works on the poles. Miss Barnes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Barnes, one of the owners of the Jerome County Sheriff's Mounted Posse. She was also first runner-up at the state posse meet in Boise. Miss Barnes graduated from Jerome High School in 1972 and is employed by the Bank of Idaho. She rides a registered Appaloosa mare and enjoys training the cleverest barrel race, and Miss Peters, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peters, is the youngest member of the group seeking the title. She will be a junior at Jerome High School this fall. She has been riding for 11 years and particularly enjoys barrel racing and goat tying. Miss Peters rides a Thoroughbred in competition but owns a Quarter Horse mare. She was named All-Around Cowgirl at New Plymouth in June. Miss Peters is also a member of the National Little Britches Rodeo. At the Caldwell rodeo she qualified for nationals but was unable to attend. Miss Scheer, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Scheer, has been riding since the age of 4 and will be a senior at Jerome High School this fall. She is employed at Latham Flats. Her future plans include attending dental lab school in Oaden, Utah. Miss Scheer has competed in horse shows and has been active in 4-H and high school rodeo. Miss Muir is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Muir. She has been active the past four years in high school rodeo and has been riding since she was 5 years old. In 1973 she was the runner-up All-Around Cowgirl at the Fifth District High School Rodeo and in 1974 she was named All-Around Cowgirl. Miss Muir attends Brigham Young University and is a member of the college rodeo team.

Jerome parade Tuesday

JEROME — Jerome County Fair and Rodeo activities get under way Tuesday with the parade through downtown Jerome at 3 p.m. Leroy Weigle, in charge of the parade, said anyone who wants to enter may do so at any time. Those interested in entering the parade should contact Weigle at 724-4181. Cash prizes will be awarded for best entries in the different divisions. Fair board members have decided they will not have a parade queen this year. Reining rodeo queen Brenda Peterson will ride at the horse show parade. An open cloverleaf race will be held the three nights of the rodeo and will be open to any girl who wishes to participate. The race will be approved Girls Rodeo Association rules. Fair board members are planning a special surprise for the first night of fair activities. They are mum about the surprise but recommend that fairgoers be near the ticket booth at the fairgrounds between 7:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. Tuesday night. New to the fair this year will be a purchased dairy cattle show, which will be held Friday. No entry fee is being charged for the show. Entries are to be brought in Friday morning at 10 a.m. and taken home after judging. All entries must be registered cattle. Also new to this year's fair will be a special dance sponsored by the Jerome County 4-H Builders Club. The dance will be held just inside the gates of the fairgrounds arena on Friday night following the 4-H awards. The dance will last until midnight with the proceeds to be used by the club for worthwhile community projects.

Duplex requests studied

WENDLELL — Requests for two sets of duplexes were considered Thursday night by the Wendell Planning Commission. C.H. Clark addressed the council and applied for a permit to construct a dog kennel. The council approved the proposal providing Clark abides by city ordinance 229 which states the kennel must be removed if complaints are issued by people in the area stating the dogs are a nuisance, reported commission secretary Bob Thacker. Ben Morgan applied for the conditional use permit to construct a four-plex on lots 9 and 10 on block 106 on East Avenue. The commission approved the request. Charles Freeman, Wendell Housing Authority representative, asked the commission to approve a site for construction of six duplexes for the elderly. The commission considered the request but asked Freeman to check into a different site. The site previously chosen is the only remaining property zoned for commercial use in the downtown area. The council referred Freeman to other possible sites. The final item on the commission's agenda was the discussion of the Wendell City Plan. According to commissioner Bob Auliffe, the plan will hopefully be prepared for the commission's next meet. The plan will be incorporated in the Gooding County comprehensive plan. All commissioners were present at the Thursday meeting.

Claim repeated

(Continued from p. 1) He said the state payments to the mentally handicapped were low. "I guess we want a $5,000 car for $1,000 like everybody else." He added that the state had no provision for "intermediate care" for mentally handicapped individuals which would increase supervision without placing the person in detention. "The people there (at the shelter home) are free to do and to live where they want," Klein said. "They are individuals who have the same rights as you or I have." State supplemental care payments were made on the basis of eligibility, he said, and had nothing to do with where the person might choose to live. "As an overseeing agency for the shelter homes, we have little if any role," he said. "Even as Klein spoke Thursday, state HAW officials were meeting to discuss the reallocation of state funds to increase federal matching monies and to use the funds to increase services provided by shelter homes. Under a plan announced Thursday by HAW Lewiston regional administrator Ralph Colton, the state would institute a pilot program using 25 per cent state money and 75 per cent federal matching funds to begin shelter home "stimulation" programs aimed at getting shelter home residents away from television sets and involved in additional vocational and recreational projects.

today in brief

2 fires under control
TWIN FALLS — Two fires burning in timber near Strevell were reported under control and in the mop up stages today. Sawtooth National Forest fire control officers said the two fires burned in timber that covered only about 5 acres total area. Both were lightning caused and began in the Raft River Mountains of Utah Tuesday afternoon. Location of the fires was described as Italian Canyon, just over the Idaho state line in Utah and Nevada. Aerial attacks were used almost entirely because of the remote location of the fires. Control was gained at 7 p.m. Thursday.

TF man fined
BOISE — Ron Victor, operator of Sound Limited in Twin Falls, was fined $500 and $750 on separate counts of bootlegging copyrighted recordings. Sentence was pronounced by Judge Fred Taylor of US District Court in Boise this week. The first count involved charges of transcribing and selling copies of a copyrighted recording by the Chicago Five on a Columbia Records, Inc. record April 20, 1973. The second count is a record produced and on the copyright label of A and M recordings. A total of six counts was filed against Victor but the others were ordered dismissed on payment of the fines.

Jerome training class set
JEROME — A special training class will be held at 8 p.m. Monday for Jerome County Fair and Rodeo activities. Bob Amoureux, district environmentalist, said the one-night session will be in life coat houses and will cover the handling and storage of food. A film will be shown concerning the means by which foodborne illnesses are spread through the mishandling of food. "This is strictly volunteer but we would like to encourage as many as possible to attend," Amoureux said.

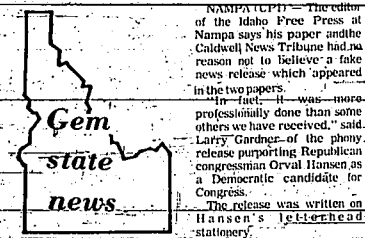

Release appeared genuine
NANPA (UPI) — The editor of the Idaho Free Press at Nampa says his paper and the Caldwell News Tribune had no reason not to believe a fake news release which appeared in the two papers. "In fact, it was more professionally done than some others we have received," said Larry Gardner, editor of the phony release purporting Republican congressman Orval Hansen as a Democratic candidate for Congress. The release was written on Hansen's letterhead stationery.

Dietrich youth injured
DIETRICH — Chad Manning, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Manning, Dietrich, was treated at the Twin Falls Clinic Hospital and released Thursday afternoon following a fall from a horse. Idaho State Police officers escorted the family to Twin Falls about 2:30 p.m. Officers said at that time the child was unconscious suffering a head wound. The incident reportedly happened at the Manning farm when the child was bucked from a horse.

Tiger hand-out night set
JEROME — Tonight is Tiger hand-out night in Jerome. From 7:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. the Jerome High School will be giving out the 1974 Tiger annuals. The event is the annual signing party to which all high school students are invited. Lori Mogensen, last year's annual editor, said students can pick up their 1974 Tiger annuals. Any high school student wishing to purchase a Tiger may do so on a first come, first served basis as there is a limited number of extras, Miss Mogensen said.

Death probe
CALDWELL (UPI) — The Canyon County coroner's office is probing the death of Jesse Dejeff, 62, Caldwell, who was dead on arrival at a Caldwell hospital Thursday. Coroner Harold Craven said cause of death has been termed as heart failure that he was asking the state toxicology laboratory to try to determine a more exact cause of death.

Free tombstone donated to Evel
BARRE, VI. (UPI) — Evel Knievel, the motorcycle daredevil who hopes to leap across Snake River canyon in Idaho next month, will get a free tombstone whether or not he makes it. The Rock of Ages Corporation of Barre, which claims to be the world's largest manufacturer of granite memorials, announced the donation of a four-foot high marker Thursday. "The offer will be good whether or not daredevil Knievel makes it," a spokesman said, adding the memorial would either "commemorate a record-breaking event" or memorialize "Evel's daring feats for generations to come."

Client asks if brides are still for sale in the South Pacific. In New Guinea, they are. At least in the remote highlands. Price varies, depending on the bride's experience or lack of same. An inexperienced bride is said to sell for about $250, five pigs and one cassowary bird. But a bride married once earlier is only valued at $35—and one cassowary. That's approximate. Understand a lot of dickering goes on in these transactions.

THOSE GRAPHOLOGISTS claim the handwriting that leans far to the right identifies the highly social citizen who likes picnics, parties, people. Maybe so, don't know. It's claimed a majority of the politicians show that extreme slant in their penmanship.

ROSES "Say I create a new type of rose that's worth marketing. And patent it. And some national distributor buys the rights. How much money can I expect?" A Standard royalty payment hereabouts runs 15 per cent of retail for the first and second years on the market, 10 per cent for the third year, and 5 per cent from then on. Some new varieties have been known to sell a million plants a year. You could grow old gracefully on that sort of pension, what?

QUESTION ARISES as to why blind horses so often were used on the old horse-drawn ferry boats. Not because they were less likely to shy as commonly believed. They were cheaper, that's all, and not good for much else anyway.

SOFT WATER Customer says it's hard to figure out why New England wound up as a big textile center, considering most all the cotton was grown in the South. The soft water up there explains that. Such is highly desirable for the making of fancy fabrics. I'm told:

THE FRENCH WORD "bunne" means "swelling." That's where we get our word "bun" for a raised bread roll. Good. Beats calling it a "swelling," what?

TWO AND A HALF HOURS, that's about how long a woman can play the slot machines at the Nevada clubs when she's in high heels. But if she shows up in flats, she can perch there with the click and clatter for as long as four hours. So says a gambling expert who made a study of that significant matter.

Upland, migratory bird seasons set

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Fish and Game Commission set daily bag and possession limits for pheasants at the two-cock per day level established a year ago for the first five days of the season to reduce hunting pressure this year.

At a meeting Thursday, the commissioners said the first part-of-the-season-in-popularly hunted areas, of southern Idaho will have a bag limit of two cock pheasants a day and two in possession for the first five days of the season Oct. 26-30.

Jack Alvord, chairman of the Idaho commission, said there will be a weekend hunt Dec. 6-7 in the main pheasant hunting areas when the daily bag limit will be four pheasants, one of which may be a hen, and the possession limit on Dec. 7 will be eight pheasants, two of which may be hens.

Hen hunting regulations have been dropped in the counties of Bligham, Bannock, Power, Caribou, Franklin and Oneida.

Beginning Oct. 31, the daily bag limit will be four cocks in the 16 counties of southwestern and southeastern Idaho. Starting Nov. 1, the possession limit will be eight cocks.

The special commission meeting establishes closing dates for all upland game bird hunting seasons. Opening dates were set in many hunting seasons and regulations for the 1974-75 trapping seasons, for fur-bearing animals also were approved.

Pheasant seasons are Oct. 12-Nov. 17 in northern Idaho; Oct. 20 (noon) to Dec. 8 for the counties of Bligham, Bannock and southeastern Idaho except for the Snake River Islands of Patch and Porter Islands which close Nov. 24.

Other upland game bird seasons are:

- Southwestern and southeastern Idaho, 21 counties, from Sept. 12-Dec. 28 for Huns, Chukar and Quail.
- Daily bag limit is 10 huns, 5 chukar and 10 quail in the aggregate and four species available; possession limits 20 huns, 20 chukar and 20 quail in the aggregate of four species available; possession limits, 20 huns, 20 chukar and 20 quail in the aggregate.
- Blue-ruffed and spruce grouse season will be Sept. 14-Oct. 24 statewide. The daily bag limit is three in the aggregate of blue, ruffed and spruce; six in the aggregate.

There is a reduced bag limit in most areas this year for sage and sharp-tailed grouse. In 22 counties of southern Idaho, the season is Sept. 14-22 with a daily bag limit of two birds in the aggregate. Possession limits after the first day is four birds in the aggregate.

Wild turkey season is Sept. 21-Oct. 4 in units 11, 13, 14, 18, 19A, 22, 23, and 30. One turkey of either sex is the limit. Rifles, shotguns and longbows are permitted for the hunt. A tag is required and must be securely attached to the carcass of the turkey when it is killed and punched to designate the correct day and month of the kill.

Cottontail and pygmy rabbit season is Sept. 1, 1974-Feb. 29, 1975. The limit is eight rabbits in the aggregate. All counties except Boundary are open.

The start of the statewide goose season will be one of either sex is the limit. Rifles, shotguns and longbows are permitted for the hunt. A tag is required and must be securely attached to the carcass of the turkey when it is killed and punched to designate the correct day and month of the kill.

In the Columbia basin mallard area, the daily bag is six ducks, and the possession limit after the first day is 12 ducks. The daily bag and possession limit of ducks in all counties of the state may include not more than one canvasback nor more than two redheads in the daily bag or more than four redheads in possession.

The daily bag limit is three geese and the possession limit is six geese provided that the daily bag and possession limit may not contain more than two Canada geese nor more than one Ross goose.

White geese—Snow and Ross may be taken in all counties of the state except Clark, Fremont, Madison and Teton. There is no open season in Idaho on swans.

Only minor changes from last year were made in the 1974-75 fur trapping regulations. Eleven new controlled-beaver units were added this year, making a total of 48. There will be 745 beaver trapping permits in these units this year, compared with 550 in 1973. These will be allocated at a public drawing in Boise Sept. 19. Applications will be mailed to licensed trappers as in the past.

Two new regulations require trappers to visit each trap at least once every 72 hours and remove all catches, and to refrain from using chow, bait, exposed attractions (lures or baits) in trapping animals in dry land sets within a boundary of the Snake River beds of any natural area adjacent to the Snake River in Ada, Canyon, Elmore and Owyhee counties.

Murphy, Stockton share lead

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (UPI) — Bob Murphy and Dave Stockton first identical rounds of 32-34-63 Thursday to snare a six-under-par first day lead of the $200,000 Sammy Davis Jr. Greater Hartford open at the Wetherfield Country Club.

One stroke back at 66 were rookie Eddie Trevino and Australian veteran Bruce Devlin, while two strokes behind the leaders was a quartet of players, headed by Tom Weir, second-leading money winner Hubert Green and Johnnie Green in the group at 67 were George Johnson, Jerry McGee and Don Bliss.

Lee Trevino, still smiling after his major championship victory at the PGA, leads a group of 14 who shot 34-under-par 68.

Murphy, who left the tour for nearly four months while recovering from an operation on his left thumb, said he was "very, very happy" with his opening round.

"The crowds like me," smiled Murphy, who has not won a PGA tournament since his '69 GHG victory here four years ago. "They slap their hands. They scream. The fans really egged me on."

Murphy had six birdies and no bogies as his short iron game was on target. The longest putt of the round was a six-footer.

Stockton, who matched Murphy's 6-under-par total over the 54-hole round, said he was "very, very happy" with his opening round.

NFL re-acquainted with differences

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Representatives of the NFL owners and players returned to the bargaining table for four hours Thursday for another effort to achieve a contract settlement during a two-week no-strike "cooling off" period at the pro-football training camps.

The afternoon session Thursday amounted to a re-acquainted meeting of the two sides with federal mediators in the light of the decision by the NFL Players Association to suspend its strike for 14 days.

During that period, members of the union have agreed to abandon the picket line for the specific field but have reserved the right to strike again if no settlement is reached.

James B. Secore, deputy director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, presided at the Thursday negotiations in the absence of head government mediator W. J. Casey Jr., who was out of town on government business.

After less than two hours of mediation, Secore dismissed most of the bargainers from the owners and the players, sides until 10 a.m. Friday.

However, Secore kept key members of the NFL Players Association and the owners' Management Council in session for a second day of negotiations until 6 p.m. EDT.

Sun rallies to 18-7 victory over Texans

HOUSTON (UPI) — Fleming Jensen kicked a 19-yard field goal with 2:09 to play and Durwood Keeton returned an interception 66 yards for a touchdown in the closing seconds Thursday night to rally the Southern California Sun to an 18-7 World Football League victory over the Houston Texans.

With the score tied at 7-7, Jensen kicked the field goal on fourth down at the Texans' two-yard line, capping a drive of 38 yards which was set up by Jim Bowman's interception and 20-yard return to the Houston 38.

"The Texans do a trail trying to get back into the ball game, threw his second interception minutes later to Keeton, who picked off the sideline pass and set up the winning drive to tie the victory. Tony Adams passed to Dave Williams for the action point.

The victory propelled the Sun to the top in the WFL, West Division with a 1-3 record. Houston dropped out of the lead with its third loss against two wins and tie.

Houston took an early lead driving 80 yards on its first possession. Mike Tallalero injured late in the first half, threw 16 John Odom for a TD. The action point filled.

Conners, buried on the Odom's catch, took a punt on his own 10 and raced 50 yards for a Sun TD. The action point again failed, leaving the teams tied at 7-7.

Caldwell tips Oregon Legion

KIPAHATH, Falls, Ore. (UPI) — Pitcher Jim Guy struck out six batters and scattered seven hits Thursday to lead Caldwell to a 9-2 win over Lake Oswego, Ore., in second round play at the American Legion western regional baseball tournament.

Kent Hollingsworth had three hits and drove in two runs to lead the Idaho club. The Oregon team was hurt by four errors.

Perry snaps losing spell against Twins

CHICAGO (UPI) — Gaylord Perry, with relief help from Tom Buskey, snapped a personal six-game losing streak Thursday night when he struck out nine batters to lead the Cleveland Indians to a 4-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Perry, who had a 1-2 record since July 3 when he stretched his consecutive winning streak to 15 games, struck out two, walked two and allowed five hits before giving way to Buskey in the eighth. It was the 16th victory against seven losses for the veteran right-hander.

The Indians staked Perry to a 1-0 lead in the third.

CHICAGO (UPI) — A two-base error by Larry Milbourne allowed two Chicago runs to score in the eighth inning Thursday and the Cubs went on to beat the Houston Astros, 5-3.

Billy Williams' 2,500th major league hit triggered a run rally that ended with the Milbourne's costly error.

Milbourne dropped an easy pop fly with two outs in the inning and the bases-loaded Jerry Morales' single had sent the lying run across against Houston loser Ken Forsch.

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Home runs by Earl Williams and Paul Blair backed up Mike Cuellar's 14th victory as the Baltimore Orioles edged the Chicago White Sox 2-1 Thursday night.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)— Prices were narrowly higher at the opening Friday on the New York Stock Exchange.

Shortly after the opening the Dow Jones Industrial average "in a slide" for six days moved 10.51 higher to 737.95. Of the 30 issues in the tape, there were 16 advances and 91 declines. Volume totaled around 700,000 shares.

If any rebound in the stock market is in prospect, it probably will last for a short time, according to some analysts. They pointed out that some upside "inventories" would be minimal after the six-day loss in the Dow, but insisted such long standing problems as soaring inflation and high interest rates would act as a brake on any advance.

The imminent end to the fight on Cyprus could give Wall Street a psychological lift, some said.

Mutual Funds Declines recorded in market

CHICAGO—Depressed feed prices—primarily corn—has been the fundamental cause of the cattle futures to limit losses Thursday.

Continuity News Service said technical conditions also were a factor in the decline.

Interpreted December activity as negative in view of August and October weakness which forced December off the limit late in the session. Sharp declines in wheat and beans substantiated limit down levels. The back months were traded thin as grains recovered some losses before settling back to sharp declines in wheat and beans in corn.

Feeder cattle futures also slumped in heavy losses, apparently spurred by corn's recovery to steady prices after an early decline. Final quotes found feeders limit down as the price of a moderate turnover of contracts.

POTATOES WEAKEN
Maine potatoes weakened from softening grain prices but the market closed near the lows.

Futures lost 10 cents to 13 cents on an overall volume of 4,400 contracts. Wheat and corn futures sold heavily in a session affected by political overtones related to the trade and industry news. However, August moisture was above average and sorghum yields. An irregular opening featuring limit gains for distant months was followed by liquidation as the price fell below Wednesday's close.

Final quotes were centered below Wednesday. Chicago cash corn sold 1 cent more September volume was 100,000 bushels. Fat pricing available. Gulf hogs were 2 cents higher at 8 cents over September.

WHEAT LOSSES
Wheat futures lost ground Thursday, opening weakly amid commission house offerings and commercial hedge selling. After an early 16 cent loss, crop futures closed 10 1/2 cents to 10 3/4 cents lower. Chicago cash wheat was normally unchanged to cents under winter and 5 cents under for soft. Red hogs was steady 17 cents over Kansas City September.

SOYBEANS SELL
Soybean futures declined Thursday, closing with limit declines for beans and a 50 cent limit and more for milt. Nearby lots finished 100 point limit to 15 cents out for a 10 cent loss. A few deferred contracts showed losses of 7.5 points. Widespread commission house liquidation covered all three pits.
