Deadline fire control near

TWIN FALLS — Control of the 3,300-acre Deadline Ridge fire, which has been burning in timber in the Sawtooth National Forest south of here since Saturday is expected today.

Fire boss Jack Wilcock said crews should gain control of the fire by this evening, and be able to move into mop-up operations tonight and Thursday.

The fire was declared officially "contained" Tuesday afternoon and the aerial bombers were dismissed. Four additional airdrop drops were ordered however, when hot spots continued to flare up late Tuesday.

Wilcock said some areas within the 3,300-acre burn have been skipped and these are being watched today by reconnaissance planes. New flare-ups will be attacked by helicopters making "bucket" drops and if necessary, the aerial tankers will be called back with retardant.

Manpower today includes 454 fire-fighters on the fire lines. The fire control officers have dismissed the first crews consisting of smoke jumpers from McCall and Boise. These men were brought to the fire area Sunday and Monday.

Increased humidity and cooler temperatures Tuesday night helped fire fighters considerably, officials said. The crews ate breakfast in 30 degree temperatures on frost covered tables this morning, according to reports from the fire headquarters camp at the Rock Creek guard station.

Still on the fire this morning are 75 men from four special organized groups, four ground pumpers and four tractors. The total 453 men are working in 21 crews.

Air support today includes the water bucket drops from helicopters and the reconnaissance helicopters and planes.

Wilcock said some additional crews may be released today to be available for duty on other fires should they occur.

The five women from the Sawtooth National Recreation area, called the "Missfires" are remaining on the fire and have been working in the Bear Hollow area where the blaze began late Saturday.

National Guard support, called out Tuesday by Gov. Cecil Andrus, includes 57 guardsmen and 18 vehicles. Of the guardsmen, 16 are from Pocatello and 21 from Magic Valley, units including Buhl, Jerome and Twin Falls.

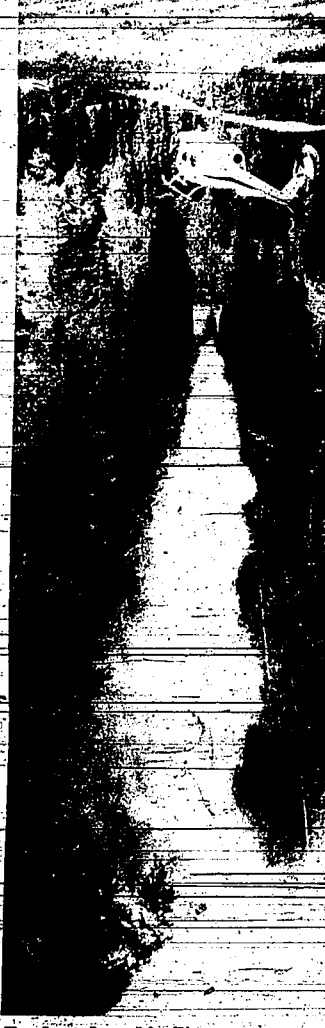

The guard is assisting with transportation and communications, with 12 of the large trucks made available to carry fire fighters to and from the firelines where buses and other equipment cannot operate.

Two of the small radio trucks are being used for on-the-scene communications and two Jeeps are providing communications between the fire camp and Twin Falls army.

During the fire, peak crews and forest officials have come from six different states to assist. Bob Weister, information officer on the Caribou National Forest, is assisting Sawtooth information officer Art Selin by providing on-the-scene information and photographs for news media.

The fire, believed to have been caused by an unattended campfire, began at 5:30 p.m. Saturday in Bear Hollow, 30 air miles south of Twin Falls, and has burned generally to the south and east of Deadline Ridge since then.

today in brief

Minor injuries on fire lines

TWIN FALLS — Sawtooth National Forest officials say only minor injuries have occurred in the Deadline Ridge fire involving about 700 fire fighters.

Four persons were taken to Magic Valley Memorial hospital Tuesday for treatment of eye injuries and sores throats.

Bill Baughn, 20, Orofino, Wash., and Randy Moore, 18, Nordman, Idaho, were treated for sore throats and working in smoke. They were referred to a physician and were not hospitalized.

James Killingsworth, 25, Pocatello, and Theodore Demetriades, 25, Moscow, were treated for eye injuries caused by falling debris. They were also taken to a physician for special treatment.

Panama resumes ties with Havana

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — Panama has decided to restore diplomatic ties with Cuba, the third Latin American nation to do so.

There are no valid reasons for continuing the isolation of Cuba, said Foreign Minister Juan Antonio Tack.

Panama joins Argentina and Peru in renewing ties with Castro's government.

No exports

VAN WERT, Ohio (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl Buttz Tuesday predicted President Ford would decide against favoring export controls for farm products.

Speaking at the Farm Focus USA show, he said that Ford as vice president had called for "the United States to maintain open markets" and, while Ford would have to speak for himself, "it is my feeling that he still feels that way."

Senate defeats defense bill cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today narrowly defeated a move to cut $100 million for South Vietnam from the already sharply reduced defense appropriations bill.

The senators voted 47 to 44 against an amendment by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., which would have reduced military aid for South Vietnam from $700 to $550 million.

Ford leads mourning for slain envoy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford led the mourning today as the body of slain Ambassador to Cyprus Rodger P. Davies was returned to the United States.

"This is a very sad occasion for all Americans as we gather to pay tribute to a great patriot, one of our most respected and admired diplomats," Ford said in a simple ceremony at Andrews AFB.

Davies was shot to death in an attack on the U.S. Embassy in Nicosia Monday.

Ketchum bonds lose

KETCHUM — Ketchum citizens again voted down a proposed $225,000 bond issue for construction of a municipal complex.

The vote was 143 no-119 yes. Voters turned down the same proposal two months ago when the election was invalidated and a second one scheduled.

The bonds will allow means Ketchum will have to find a way to house its fire trucks. A contract has been signed to tear down the fire station this month.

GM pares auto price hike

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp., bowing to White House pressure, today announced a token reduction of $44 from its planned price hike of $50 for 1975 model cars and trucks.

GM said the reduction was in response to an appeal from President Ford to roll back the increase and help fight inflation.

The average increase on GM's 1975 model cars, which are being put on sale as soon as dealers receive them, is now $446, including $100 to $160 for emission control equipment, $24 for higher destination charges and the remainder to cover the higher costs of labor and materials.

The move by the nation's No. 1 auto maker, the acknowledged price leader, was seen as a gesture to take off the pressure that has been building since Aug. 9 when it announced the 9.5 per cent increase.

President Ford was sharply critical of the hike and had called for a reduction. "This reduction is our response to President Ford's appeal to all segments of the American public to help fight inflation," GM chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg said in a three-page news release.

Gerstenberg said the new increase would average six per cent for cars and 10 per cent for trucks. On cars, this would include between $100 and $160 to cover the cost of adding new emission control equipment.

Auto prices, medicine lead climb during July

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Increases in retail prices were not as great in July as they had been the previous two months, due chiefly to a mid-summer drop in some grocery prices, the Labor Department said today.

The consumer price index, the best measure of changes in the cost of living, jumped 0.8 per cent last month.

Increases in automobile prices and the cost of restaurant meals, medical care and buying a home led the July advance that were partially offset by lower prices for clothing and such food items as fresh fruits and vegetables, beef and dairy products.

The July increase was smaller than a 3 1/2 per cent rise in June and 1.1 per cent in May. But it was still large by historical standards and offered no relief to President Ford in his search for ways to beat the nation's soaring inflation.

The Labor Department's report was released shortly after General Motors Corp. announced it was bowing to pressure from the White House and was trimming $44 from its planned $50 price hike on 1975 model cars and trucks.

The cost of living has increased by nearly 12 per cent in the past 12 months, the Labor Department said.

The price index in July stood at 134 compared to 100 in the 1967 base year. This means that a market basket of retail goods and services that cost $10 seven years ago had risen in price to $134 last month.

There was a modest dose of good news in another Labor Department report which showed real disposable earnings — what an average blue-collar worker has left on his weekly paycheck after payroll deductions — rose 0.2 per cent.

Bliss 'best' plant site

By BILL LAZARUS
Times News writer

TWIN FALLS — Ecologically, Bliss probably would be the best site for Idaho Power Co.'s proposed coal-fire power plant, according to a local meteorologist.

Maurice Faulstich, head of the National Weather Service Station in Kimberly, said that from a subjective standpoint, "he would expect air pollutants to disperse better from the Bliss site than from either the Mountain Home or Boise sites."

Idaho Power officials have expressed a preference for the Boise site, though all are still being considered.

Stronger winds, higher elevations and more room for pollution to spread out probably would permit the best dispersion of pollutants generated by the coal-fired plant, Faulstich said.

Dr. J. L. York, environmental programs director for a Denver-based consulting firm retained by Idaho Power to study the impact of the plant, did not deny Faulstich's statement.

But, he said, when all environmental concerns are considered, the Boise site would still have an edge over the other sites. He also said factors other than environmental concerns will have to be considered before a site choice is made. He cited the social-economic impact of the proposed plant as being the primary environmental concern.

TF man, Kimberly woman die in Tuesday accidents

TWIN FALLS — Two Twin Falls County residents died in separate traffic accidents Tuesday.

Richard Charles Turner, 54, a Twin Falls insurance adjuster, died Tuesday afternoon when his vehicle left the highway, five miles northwest of Twin Falls, and crashed into a tree. County Coroner Clyde Edwards has called for an autopsy. It is believed Turner may have suffered an illness or attack before the accident.

Dorothy E. Huettig, 70, Kimberly, was killed at 8:10 p.m. Tuesday near the Idaho-Nevada state line in a head-on collision.

Hospitalized but in good condition are Howard J. Mills, 43, Filer, driver of the vehicle which collided with the Huettig auto, and Otto G. Huettig, 50, husband of the dead woman.

State Entomologist Larry Holland said the Huettigs were traveling north on US Highway 93, about three miles north of the state line and Mills was traveling south. Officials said the collision occurred in the northbound lane of traffic.

Investigation is continuing. Mrs. Huettig was pronounced dead at the scene. The drivers were taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital by ambulance.

Sheriff Paul Corder said Turner was also dead at the scene of the accident on a county road, five miles northwest of Twin Falls. He said the Turner vehicle had been observed driving in erratic manner just before a witness heard the crash. The sheriff said this indicated Turner was ill or may have suffered a heart attack prior to the accident.

His vehicle, traveling north on 2700 East, continued down a gravel roadway at the end of 2700 East after crossing 3400 Road. The roadway narrows to 18 feet and the vehicle gradually pulled to the side of the lane, crashing head-on into a tree.

The accident occurred at 1:15 p.m. Tuesday. Turner was a long-time employee of Farmers Insurance Co. in Twin Falls. His 1974 "small sedan" was demolished, officers said.

At the same line sheriff's officers were investigating the Turner accident, state police were called to check an accident, one mile south on US Highway 93 on US Highway 93, west of Twin Falls.

Eunice Williams, 63, Knoxville, Ark., a passenger in a vehicle driven by Gayle Lee Bengochea, 16, Twin Falls, suffered bruises. Eugene W. Lewis, Ardenia, Calif., was cited for passing at an intersection. State officers said his vehicle passed the Bengochea auto as the latter was turning left, from the highway. Both were traveling south. Damage was estimated at $700 to the Bengochea car and $400 to the Lewis vehicle.

Oil firm charges excessive WASHINGTON (UPI)—An audit of oil corporation financial records has revealed $194 million in possible overcharges by 14 firms.

The audit by the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) was conducted by John C. Sawhill said four firms—Ashland Oil, Ashland, Ky.; Charter Oil Company, Vancouver, Canada; Conoco Oil Company, Stamford, Conn.; and Koch Oil Company, Wichita, Kan.—were charged with a total of $58 million in overcharges.

The FEA issued remedial orders against the firms which "prevent them from raising prices and require them to take other steps, including price rollbacks, until the overcharges are made up," Sawhill said.

"Notices of probable violations" were issued for four other oil firms. The oil companies are being required to post possible overcharges totaling nearly $91 million.

Six other firms voluntarily agreed to a $45 million price rollback. Mr. Sawhill refused to reveal the names of the firms.

The possible overcharges were the result of six month investigation by the FEA's Regulatory Audit Review Group.

Ships flounder

The drop was expected to be aggravated by a smaller-than-expected 1974 corn crop.

"The predictions are for even shorter supplies," the report said.

The food alert for September said pork supplies should be bigger than last year but below the 1972 average. Chicken supplies will be down 2 to 4 percent from last year and 4 to 6 percent under the 1972 average, and egg supplies will be "slightly" below a year ago and 4 to 6 percent below 1972.

"Marketing officials prepare the report primarily as a guide to restaurant, hotel, hospital, and other institutions. They are not price forecasts for individual food items, but one official said commodities listed in the report are "more reasonably" than those in tight supply.

The report also predicted that fluid milk, butter, cheese and eggs will be "adequate."

Consumer beef leaner, tougher

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Consumers will find more beef on grocery shelves than they did last year, but the quality will be leaner, tougher and more expensive.

Supplies of tender, grain-fed beef next month will about equal to the low levels of a year earlier, officials said in a monthly "Food Marketing Alert."

But there will be a step-up in production of grass-fed cattle which yield tougher beef because they have less of the "marbling" fat developed when cattle are finished on grain.

Signs of declining production of grain-fed beef have been apparent for several months. Government reports showing a decline in the number of cattle being started with grain in feedlots. It began with an economic pinch on feedlot operators who found themselves losing up to a third of their stock this year because of a squeeze between high feed prices and low prices for slaughter cattle.

Consumer beef leaner, tougher

California grapes will be "ample," and citrus juices will be "plentiful," but canned tomatoes' fruits will remain "tight."

Consumers will find plenty of fresh and frozen vegetables, but canned vegetable supplies will be only "generally adequate," a term officials say indicates the possibility of some shortages.

Potato supplies are increasing seasonally and should exceed last year, while rice supplies and dry beans will be more than enough to meet needs because crops are setting new records.

Corn supplies for food use should be big enough to avert shortages despite a small 1974 crop and wheat will be "tight," but adequate for domestic needs.

MV hospital board adopts new policy

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS—Following recommendations by state and national hospital associations, the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital board adopted a policy Monday requiring disclosure of possible conflicts of interest.

The new policy, accepted unanimously by the board, requires board members and administrative officials to list outside interests, investments and activities which, when considered in conjunction with the hospital, might constitute a "conflict of interest."

The policy will provide a record of possible conflicts of interest without necessarily preventing a person with dual interests serving on the board. When a matter arises where a board member or administrative official has a dual interest, the policy provides that the board should declare it and withdraw himself from the vote and quorum of the meeting.

But the policy also says the committee should not prevent a board member with a conflict in interest from stating his views, "since his knowledge may be of great assistance."

In other business, the board approved purchase of about $15,000 worth of microfilm equipment. The hospital administration plans to use the machines to transfer medical and hospital records to microfilm in order to keep records efficiently and save space.

Medicare programs require hospitals to keep business records for seven years, and the state requires that medical records be saved for seven years plus 28 years for a newborn, according to James Rosenbaum, hospital administrator.

Sending the records out to be transferred would involve security problems, and would be more costly, said $80,000, Rosenbaum said.

The board also voted to accept a renal dialysis machine, which would be provided at no cost by the State Vocational Rehabilitation Department. The machine, used for persons with kidney problems, would be operated cooperatively by VMVM and the Twin Falls Clinic Hospital, with two clinic doctors acting as physicians.

The board postponed action on an administration proposal to enter a home-health care contract with St. Benedict's Hospital in Jerome. A visiting, at-home nurse, service would be provided by the hospital on the recommendation of a physician. The nurse could provide follow-up care at the patient's home, eliminating the need for nursing home care, and providing a considerable savings to the patient.

Some opposition to the plan was voiced by board members and doctors at the meeting, who questioned the availability and necessity of the service. Both Cassia Memorial Hospital and St. Benedict's offer the service.

Youth aid set for GF

GLENN'S FERRY — Home Start programs will be operated in the Glenns Ferry area this year instead of the head start program.

Mrs. Richard Humphreys, Hammett, will be supervising the homes of 10 children on a regular basis during the school year. She will help parents with teaching their children and preparing them to start school.

The home start program has been operated for several years in the old Hammett school building. Children were transported from Mountain Home and Glenns Ferry.

There is a new center at the North Elementary School, in Mountain Home, but there is no building in Glenns Ferry that will pass inspection, so the alternate program will be operated.

The head-and-home-start programs are designed to help the children of low income families build skills and attitudes receptive to school training, before entering school. The federally funded program was begun in an effort to give all children an equal skill base upon entry in school, since it has been shown in the past that children from more affluent families have a better grounding in the skills needed for success in school when they begin than do those from lower income families.

Evel tunes for canyon cycle jump

TORONTO (UPI) — Evel Knievel "tuned up" for his forthcoming jump across Idaho's Snake River canyon by soaring over 13 trucks on a motorcycle Tuesday at the Canadian National Exhibition.

The 50-year-old daredevil was eager to try his steam-powered "sky cycle" over the Snake River gorge Sept. 8 despite two test shots having failed.

The only try that actually took off fell into the river, he said, and another attempt failed to leave the ramp.

Nevertheless, he said, if he lands successfully, "I'll grab a fistful of Idaho dirt and thank God Almighty that I'm still alive."

"And if something should happen to me, then I'll get somewhere quicker where we're all going someday. I'll sit there and have a beer and I'll wait for you."

TF firm low on project

BOISE — Miller Construction Co., Twin Falls is the apparent low bidder on a bridge project in Bear Lake County.

Idaho Department of Highways officials said the firm bid $149,455 for construction of a 134-foot-long prestressed concrete bridge over Bear River on the Nounan road.

Fire drill for TF units

TWIN FALLS — A practice drill may have fooled some early morning motorists today.

Two fire trucks and the 14 shift men responded to a call at 5:45 a. m. to go to Twin Falls Feed and Ice on South Shoshone. The men were participating in a fire drill, however, and the building wasn't on fire at all.

According to a fire department spokesman, the firemen received the "fire" alarm from their assistant chief.

The men followed the usual procedures for fire, laying hoses, lines out and practicing maneuvers, the spokesman said.

Grass doused

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls firemen extinguished two grass fires Tuesday evening with no damage reported to surrounding buildings.

One fire was reported at 1528 Third Ave. E. and the other in a matter of a few minutes, a fire department spokesman said.

Postal official chosen for GF

GLENN'S FERRY — Dolph Hitesman, Hammett, has been appointed acting postmaster at Glenns Ferry until a permanent appointment can be made.

The late Thomas Rogers was the former postmaster.

Hitesman is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Timbers, King Hill, and the son of the late Mrs. Denver Allred, former King-Hill postmistress.

Rampage upsets Lebanese port

BEIRUT (UPI) — Palestinian guerrillas rampaged through the port city of Sidon in southern Lebanon this morning protesting the police killing of a guerrilla late Tuesday, eyewitnesses said.

Local newsmen said about 100 guerrillas took part in the demonstration, firing machineguns in the air, hurling at least two dynamite bombs and blocking a downtown street with burning car tires until guerrillas arrested them.

There were no reports of injuries. The spree began about 8 a. m. and lasted about an hour.

Shops in the city center closed down their shutters when the shooting started and police cordoned the area. Then guerrilla police of the Palestine Armed Struggle Command rushed to the scene and arrested the troublemakers, the reports said.

The guerrilla spree followed the killing of a Palestinian guerrilla late Tuesday during a clash with Lebanese security men at a roadblock on the outskirts of Sidon. Police were investigating the incident.

The dead guerrilla belonged to the Al Fatah organization. Today a spokesman for Al Fatah told newsmen the roadblock shooting "in no way affects the good relations between the Palestinian and Lebanese peoples."

He described the morning rampage as "a popular manifestation of anger at yesterday's incident."

Later city officials met with local guerrilla leaders. Both sides condemned the spree and said the guerrillas responsible would be brought to justice.

Cuban filming set for Hemingway special

(C) New York Times Service NEW YORK — Bob Banner Associates, a television production company in Beverly Hills, Calif., has received permission from the Cuban government to film portions of a television special about Ernest Hemingway in Cuba.

The United States does not maintain diplomatic relations with Cuba, and the move by the Communist government is regarded as highly unusual by broadcasting industry observers.

The Nobel prize-winning novelist, who died in 1961, wrote about Cuba and lived there for many years. The special "The House of Hemingway" will be filmed in part at the author's Cuban home and at some of his favorite island haunts.

Bob Banner associates received permission to film in the Communist country after a personal telephone conversation between Dick Foster, producer of the show, and Premier Fidel Castro of Cuba, and a two-week visit by Foster to Cuba.

"It was really very simple,"

Foster said. "I placed a long distance call to Castro and, after a brief explanation to one of two aides, the producer found himself speaking to Castro."

Banner, executive producer of the show, said "Hemingway is held in great regard by the Cubans" and that Castro had "personally expressed a desire to make an appearance in the special."

The show has not yet been sold to any television network. Foster said, because he was waiting until he received official confirmation. The confirmation arrived last Friday in the form of a telegram from the Cuban government.

The 90-minute broadcast is being called a "documentary" and will include segments devoted to activities that Hemingway enjoyed.

Foster would like to begin filming in early October in Ketchum, Idaho — another of the places where Hemingway lived.

Expansion planned

TWIN FALLS — Reynolds aluminum recycling plans to expand into the Burley, Sun Valley, Ketchum and Wells, Nev. areas.

The main recycling center will remain in Twin Falls and the company will send an urban recycling unit around the Magic Valley.

The Reynolds Metals Co. is paying 15 cents a pound for all-aluminum beverage cans and other types of aluminum scrap, including pie pans, TV dinner trays and aluminum lawn furniture.

The urban recycling unit will be in Burley Friday at Skaggs-Albertson Shopping Center from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. The unit will return every Friday.

Sun Valley — Ketchum residents can deposit their aluminum when the recycling truck stops at Glanville Square Shopping Center from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m. on the first of its weekly Wednesday stops in the area.

Once each month, beginning Aug. 29, Reynolds will be located at Wells at DeGrain Wholesale Beverage Distributors from noon until 5 p. m.

Demos elect in 23rd

SHOSHONE — Floyd O. Kisting, Dietrich, has been re-elected Democratic chairman in Legislative District No. 23.

Others elected are Gail Christopherson, Hazelton, vice-chairman, and Mrs. Esther Eakle, Jerome, treasurer.

Mrs. L.M. Hafmaker, Shoshone, was appointed secretary.

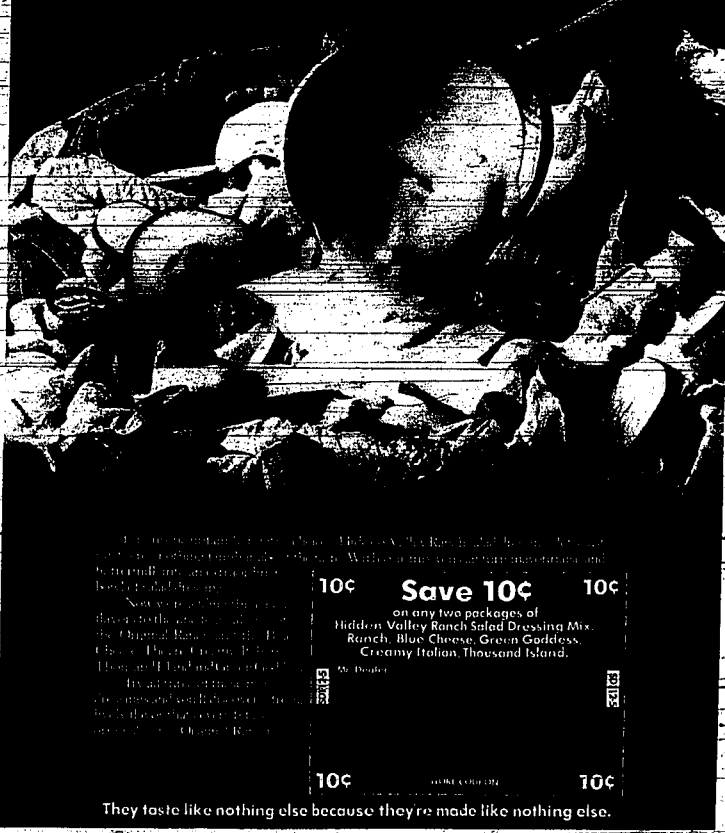

The annual dinner will be held Oct. 10 at the Gooding grade schools, the exact time, date announced later.

The next legislative district meeting will be Sept. 11 at 8:30 p. m. at the Gooding County Courthouse. A dinner will be held Saturday at the Holiday Inn in Twin Falls with Gov. Cecil Andrus and Sen. Frank Church as honored guests.

Pension bill passes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Tuesday passed landmark legislation designed to protect the pension rights of 20 million American workers.

The compromise pension reform bill, one of the most important social issues facing the 93rd Congress, was expected to win final congressional approval from the Senate later this week.

The legislation, worked out by a House-Senate conference committee, is mainly designed to guarantee that the worker who has been enrolled in a pension plan for a number of years will not lose his pension rights if he is fired, quits or if his company goes out of business.

A new government insurance agency would be set up to pay pensions up to $750 a month if a company defaults on its obligations. The new insurance fund would be financed through premium payments from companies with pension plans.

No company would be forced to begin a pension plan, but a company that has a plan or starts one after the law takes effect must meet certain minimum standards for funding, management, participation and vesting.

Easterners support

BUTTE, Mont. (UPI) — Easterners may make up the bulk of Evel Knievel's audience when he attempts to jump the Snake River Canyon early next month.

A spokesman for the ticket agency says most of the ticket sales so far have been in the eastern states. Other large sales have been noted in Denver and California, he said.

But residents of states in this region haven't shown much interest in spending $25 for a ticket to the Sept. 8 event in which the motorcycle daredevil plans to hurtle across the canyon near Twin Falls, Idaho, the spokesman said.

Heavy snow hits near Salmon

SALMON, Idaho (UPI) — The high country around Salmon received the first heavy snow of the season Monday night and this morning.

Snow up to eight inches deep over a foot, were reported north of the Salmon River, between Idaho and Montana.

Salmon National Forest lookouts all reported snow ranging from two to eight inches. Stein Mountain lookout recorded 7 1/2 of an inch precipitation.

An estimated 2,000 to 5,000 persons are believed to have died during and after the military coup in Chile in 1973, according to military sources.

Students learn by satellite

MCCALL, Idaho (UPI) — Gov. Cecil Andrus initiated the first official live two-way, interactive of the new satellite technology demonstration program Tuesday in a broadcast from McCall.

Andrus, as chairman of the Telecommunications Council of the Federation of Rocky Mountain States, used the hookup to thank the people who worked to set up the experimental satellite operation.

The experiment will begin special programs to seven closed sites in Idaho.

Some 1,500 students will receive the satellite technology demonstration program in more than 30 junior high schools throughout the state via Idaho's three public broadcasting stations in addition to the closed sites.

The Materials Distribution Service of the satellite program will also be practiced in seven other Rocky Mountain states, including Utah.

"If, through this satellite, a student in Challis gains a greater appreciation for the world that lies beyond the mountains which surround his community, and his curiosity is sparked, this program will have been worthwhile," Andrus said.

"If, through this satellite, students in McCall or Lapwai are helped in finding out what type of career they want to gear the remainder of their education toward, this program has been worthwhile."

"Education is society's way of insuring that children can come to cope with the world in which they are maturing, and this satellite should help equalize educational opportunity for Idaho's children," Andrus said.

Campers parloin

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's "Rent-a-Tent" program is off to a slow start. Parks Director Steve Bly said only 78 campers have used the program since it was begun June 1. He blamed the low usage on a late start and a lack of advertising.

A pilot program conducted in three areas of the state — Pargaret North of Coeur d'Alene, Ponderosa at McCall and Massacre Rocks near Shoshone — has been successful. In Pargaret, 100 tents were rented and five extinguishers for $7.50. The 9x12 umbrella tents even were pre-pitched.

At Pargaret they were rented 48 times and at Ponderosa, 30. None was rented at Massacre Rocks.

One of the pre-pitched tents at Massacre Rocks, however, was stolen. Campers there in the future will have to pitch their own tents although park employees will assist them.

Anticipation marks August's passage

August is usually the month of "dog days." It's a drawsy, quiet time in late summer.

This year, however, August has been the month of anticipation.

First came anticipation that the protracted Watergate scandal was near a climax. It did, with the historic resignation of Richard Nixon as president and the accession of Gerald Ford as the 43rd chief executive.

Across the Magic Valley, residents of all ages began anticipating the approach of county fairs. Those days, no matter in what county, always bring enjoyable hours of competitive, social and recreational activity.

Adding to the atmosphere of expectancy as the month moves into its final third is the approach of the Ring publicized Snake River canyon leap by motorcycle daredevil Evel Knievel.

Even the weather added to the general atmosphere of anticipation—tinging the climate at mid-month with a touch of autumn, most noticeable on several muggy mornings and brisk evenings.

So Magic Valley residents have had a great many events to anticipate and experience in the past three weeks. With 10 days remaining on August's calendar in this month of anticipation, who can say what will occur to enliven the late summer?

Slowing down snoopers

With little fanfare, Congress has acted to put a long-needed brake on a kind of repellent snooper which is all too typical of today's hunger to compile secret dossiers on just about everybody.

Throughout the nation, in recent years, educational authorities in a host of federal-state programs have been subjecting students to a wide variety of quizzes which invade the most personal aspects of the students' lives.

These quizzes, dreamed up by bureaucrats in the guise of scientific research, inquire not only into the student's lives, racial attitudes and moral concepts of the students...

Under his bill, federal funds would be withheld from any school system or college that refuses to let parents examine the files pertaining to their children — the files of personal evaluations, quiz answers and other information now generally withheld as confidential.

The Buckley bill, if signed into law, will by no means end the practice of educational supervisors' snooping. However, it will provide for more effective control over the many highly questionable practices now in operation.

Will presidency change plain of Jerry Ford?

WASHINGTON — The speculation about what will happen to President Ford has a quality about it. Will plain ol' Jerry, Grand Rapids contemporary, be transformed by the elixirs of power into a baroque, foreigner institution...

For a man whose tutelage in public affairs has been confined mainly to the House of Representatives, the new President knows all else the limits of power and the virtues of compromise.

Many of his former colleagues believe they had a dim glimpse into the White House. Several think they will constitute a kind of children's court on call for advice available for ad hoc assignments.

Fortunes of history bring Rockefeller closer to political goal

By United Press International
 There are not too many men left to conquer for a Rockefeller.

When Nelson A. Rockefeller chose politics as his objective, there's only one game in American politics, he said.

That game was the pursuit of the presidency of the United States—a prize which eluded Rockefeller through three national campaigns. At the age of 66, he came next in rank to it through the fortunes of history.

Rockefeller, who changed the face and finances of New York State in 19 years as its governor, exudes a vitality befitting his age. He is a hard-drinking, energetic administrator who can leave younger aides exhausted.

His square jaw and piercing gray eyes lend themselves to caricature and his raspy voice is a delight to imitators. His 5-foot-9 height is sometimes a liability, there's only one game for the first time because his broad shoulders and large head give the impression of a much taller man.

Rockefeller, one of the five grandsons of John D. Rockefeller Sr., who founded the Standard Oil Co. and one of the world's greatest fortunes, was elected New York governor in 1958.

When he took office, his first state budget totaled $2.041 billion. By the 1973-74 fiscal year, the total had zoomed to $3.61 billion.

The New York State University system, carved out of glass and concrete by a $2-billion construction program, is one of his monuments. Six times larger than when Rockefeller took office, it consists of 22 campuses with a total enrollment of 384,899 and is second only to California's among state higher education systems.

Rockefeller also took stands on non-fiscal matters which gained him both friends and enemies.

He began pushing for legalized abortion in New York state as early as 1969 and the eventual result was New York's "abortion on demand" law, one of the first in the nation.

He also was an early advocate of eliminating the death penalty who has given indications of rethinking his position recently. And one of his last accomplishments before leaving the governor's mansion early this year was to push through one of the toughest drug abuse laws in the nation.

Rockefeller's most controversial decision came when he was elected New York's At-Large State Prison Sept. 9, 1971, in what became the bloodiest penal uprising in modern U.S. history.

Rockefeller refused to go along with demands for amnesty and refused to go to the prison himself.

On Sept. 13, helicopters swooped down in the roaring drizzle to drop tear gas into the small company to enter the oil refining business in 1862, four years after the first American oil well was drilled in Titusville, Pa.

The company became the giant Standard Oil Co., which before it was broken up by antitrust rulings controlled 25 per cent of the oil refining in the United States and made Rockefeller the world's first billionaire.

The Rockefeller fortune is so vast that even today its full scope is not known. It was once estimated that John D. Sr. gave away half a billion dollars in his lifetime to charities and philanthropic causes and this son, John D. Jr., nearly as much.

The philanthropic tradition was carried on to John D.'s sons, Nelson, Winthrop, David, John D. III and Laurance.

Gem GOP reaction to Rocky mixed

By United Press International
 Idaho leading Republicans expressed mixed emotions today about the nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller for vice president while top Democrats generally said they approved the choice.

Lt. Gov. Jack M. Murphy, the GOP nominee for governor in the November general election, said the selection is the first evidence of the new president's willingness to run an open, balanced administration.

"Mr. Rockefeller has the political acumen and governmental experience to provide a broad view of domestic and world affairs in the new administration," Murphy said.

But Orville Sinclair, Twin Falls, the Republican national committeewoman, was less than enthusiastic about President Ford's choice.

"Well, he wasn't my choice."

Mrs. Sinclair said, adding that conservative "are not going to like this."

Another leading Republican, Secretary of State Pete T. Conrussa, said the choice goes along with the President's statements about wanting to achieve unity, cooperation, conciliation and compromise.

"I think that Rocky can do a good job," Conrussa said. "It wouldn't have been my first choice. I'm not displeased but he wouldn't have been my first choice."

William S. Campbell, Boise, coordinator for Richard Nixon's last campaign in Idaho and a former state chairman, said he felt the choice was a good one.

"Rocky will do a good job," Campbell said. "He has a good background in government. I think with the President, they will make a good team for the country."

Howard Humphrey, Boise, state Democratic chairman, said he approves of the selection.

"I think he has the experience and ability to be president in the event it becomes necessary," Humphrey said.

Sen. Frank Church, a Democrat, said "President Ford wisely rejected the demands of the extremists in his party."

"His choice of Nelson Rockefeller means he intends to steer a moderate course," Church said. "I think this bodes well for a turn country in need of mending."

Other reaction:

Republican Congressman Orval Hansen, "President Ford made an excellent choice in nominating Gov. Nelson Rockefeller as vice president. I will vote to confirm the nomination which I am confident will be quickly and overwhelmingly approved by congress."

George V. Hansen, Pocatello, former congressman and GOP congressional nominee, "It's interesting. I think a lot of people out here have other heroes. I do respect Mr. Ford's judgment and I have watched Mr. Rockefeller in recent years and I feel he has moved to a more real, conservative policy in his thinking."

Republican Congressman Steve Symms, "I am very disappointed in the President's choice for vice president. He wasn't my choice. Maybe he (the president) has his reasons. My disappointment is great. I would have preferred Governor Romney or one of the other candidates mentioned."

shattered his liberal image forever with many Americans, but he said later, "I do not see how I could have done differently."

Personal problems have cut across his career. In March of 1962, just as he was to begin his campaign for the second of four terms as governor, Rockefeller was divorced by his wife of 32 years, Mary Tothunter Clark Rockefeller, a Philadelphia-born railroad heiress. Less than 14 months later, Rockefeller married the former Margaretta Miller "Happy" Murphy, a divorced mother of four.

The Rockefeller fortune was founded by John D. Rockefeller, Sr., the son of a small trader at, Richford, N.Y., who started a

Land seizure hit

Editor, Times-News:
 An article in the Aug. 12 issue of the Twin Falls Times-News gave a story of how an environmental organization was buying land from owners in the Obsidian area for resale to the forest service to preserve our wilderness area.

What this article does not state is that private lands are being seized and families and businesses established in the area are being ousted under threat of condemnation. Have our representatives completely forgotten our constitutionally guaranteed right to property or is it that they don't care?

Now we have another group starting up to seize more land. The River of No Return Wilderness Council is soliciting funds for another bill to be presented. How many families will lose their homes if this bill is presented and passed? How many businesses in that area will be destroyed? How long will it take to get the forest service to allow groups to push through bills that destroy others' individual rights?

"I am all for preserving our wilderness but not at the expense of another's individual freedoms. I must oppose any such measure simply because we can not trust our representatives to give us such a bill articles which usurp the individual freedoms of the landowners involved."

Letters

Enforcement sought

Editor, Times-News:
 To the county commissioners, sheriff and prosecuting attorney of Twin Falls County:

Dear Sirs:

If a public official is not enforcing the law, it requires a person to obtain a writ of mandamus to see that the law is enforced. (Idaho R.S. 124 Pac. 122)

This is a very expensive and time consuming procedure and should be unnecessary since the public rightly assumes that the men who are elected to enforce the laws would follow them.

Since you, the county commissioners, are letting Evil E's bypass the requirements of ordinance 11 example - one doctor in attendance instead of 17), since you are allowing Mr. Qualls to charge a parking fee for ordinance 11, prohibits a parking fee, you are acting illegally.

Since you, the sheriff and prosecuting attorney, are enforcing this law by allowing the county commissioners to break the law you are acting illegally.

Since you are all acting illegally I realize even public officials make mistakes. I feel that you should feel ashamed, apologize for your mistake, and follow the law.

If you continue to act illegally I feel you should follow the example of our great ex-president and resign. I hope you as good Christian men realize the truth and act on it immediately.

No change in policy

Editor, Times-News:
 President Ford states he doesn't intend to change foreign policy. This means we will have the same old give-away program forever, every president since Truman has followed.

But that's maybe we have to with our industries, our troops and equipment scattered all over the world.

Some years ago I was talking to ex-Senator John Sanborn. I objected to the foreign-aid billions sent overseas. He said as a matter of fact very little of the money ever is sent overseas but is spent here in the US on equipment. It really is a subsidy to American and labor. This subsidy packet is one big cause of inflation.

We are living in an age similar to that of Julius and Augustus Caesar where the Roman Empire took shape. It lasted 500 years and there was comparative peace during that time. However it was based on slavery and ours is based on machinery.

Roman law was just and sure. It was an honor to be a Roman as well as good business. Oh well, we will live in hopes, even if we die in despair.

Camp abuse rapped

Editor, Times-News:
 An open letter to the 15 Boy Scouts and their leaders from the Paper Trail area who spent Aug. 12 and 13 at the Boulder Chain Lakes and Aug. 14 and 15 at Quiet Lake in the White Cloud Mountains.

Your recently spent several days in some of the beautiful high mountain lakes in Idaho. The amount of work you expended to hike into the area seems indicative of your appreciation for such scenic country.

In light of this apparent appreciation, it is difficult for us to understand the abusive manner in which you treated the mountain environment. Assorted trash, human excrement, fish heads and entrails were left unburned and unburied near the shoreline and in the water.

We appreciate the "good reputation and high ideals associated with the Boy Scouts. Any effort to protect this reputation and to enhance your relationship with the forestry service and other campers we urge you to return to the Boulder Chain-Lakes and Quiet Lake to pick up the trash, remove the material thrown in the lakes, and bury the human excrement and toilet paper.

In recent years much concern has been expressed over the possible detrimental effects of mining in the White Clouds. How ironic it would be while saving the area for recreational use, for it to be ruined through the abusive actions of campers.

 Would equal space be offered for a good used by a post office to balance the front page item "Advice whom" (Washington TFF) in the Times-News dated AUG. 12, 1974?

LA cops jail 'alphabet bomber' suspect

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police Tuesday captured the alleged "Alphabet Bomber" who claimed responsibility for the deadliest civil airport bombing in U.S. history and had threatened a wave of terror.

Assistant Police Chief David Gates identified the suspect as Muharem Kurbegovic, 31, a Yugoslav who entered the United States in 1967. Gates and William Morrison, assistant FBI director in charge of the Los Angeles office, said Kurbegovic was allegedly the "Isaac Rasim" who had left at least two bombs. They said he would be charged with murder in the explosion at Los Angeles International Airport which killed three persons and injured 35 on Aug. 6.

The other bomb was left in the Greyhound bus terminal last Friday, but was found — on a tip from "Rasim" — by the bomb squad and removed. The detonator went off in a bomb squad truck but the bomb itself did not explode.

Gates said Kurbegovic had entered the United States legally and had a previous arrest for a sex offense. The nature of the offense was not revealed.

Kurbegovic was arrested in the men's room of a restaurant in Hollywood by police officers, acting on clues contained in one of the cassette tape recordings by which "Rasim" communicated his demands, Gates said. He said Kurbegovic had been under surveillance for some hours and at one point deposited a taped message, which was recovered and the voice on the tape was found to be the same as the voice on the "Rasim" tapes.

The bomb squad, with explosives snuffing dogs, was reported going over Kurbegovic's Hollywood apartment, hunting more bombs and bomb-making materials.

Kurbegovic was described as 5-foot-11 and weighing about 200 pounds.

The FBI said he also would be charged with destruction of an airport, a federal offense carrying a possible life term in prison.

The voice on the tapes had identified himself as "Military Commander of the Aliens of America" and was given the name "Alphabet Bomber" because he threatened to "write our name in blood across the face of America."

The airport bomb stood for "A," the first letter in the group's name, the taped voice said, and the Greyhound bomb was in a locker — standing for "L" — and also for "L" because he sent a warning where it could be found.

"Rasim" had demanded repeal of all federal immigration and naturalization laws, all sex laws, greater separation between church and state and punishment for two police officers, now retired, who killed two Mexican illegal aliens by mistake during a raid several years ago, and were subsequently cleared of wrongdoing.

Rasim tried to take credit for a chemical explosion in an industrial area of downtown Los Angeles Saturday night. In a call to the Los Angeles Herald Examiner, Rasim said the explosion, which completely leveled an entire block of buildings and warehouses, was "delightful" for lovers of our activities one week ago.

Fire investigators discounted the claim, however, blaming the explosion on a chemical reaction generated by the sun.

In one of his tape-recorded messages, Rasim said:

"The principle of citizenship implies that there are citizens and slaves and the Aliens of America being the slaves. As part of such change, all sex laws must disappear and Congress must more specifically separate church and state."

Ford asks Russ aid in braking arms race

(C) New York Times Service
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said Tuesday President Ford, as one of his first acts of office, had called upon Soviet leaders to join the United States in an intensified effort to negotiate an effective and equitable limitation of strategic arms.

In a speech at the American Legion national convention in Miami Beach, Fla., Kissinger combined a pledge to work with "energy and conviction" toward further arms control accords with an assertion that in the absence of such agreements, "we will maintain American strategic strength whatever the cost."

The President has asked me to emphasize that in his view the choice is clear," Kissinger said. "We will maintain the nuclear balance by whatever means necessary, and by negotiations if at all possible. I can assure you that these negotiations will not fail for lack of good will and readiness to accept new solutions on our part."

Although Kissinger emphasized the need for arms control agreements, he said that America's ability to work for peace depended on its remaining a military power second to none.

"As I can attest from experience, in time of crisis and at the confining table, America's military might is the foundation of our diplomatic strength," he said. "We have made progress towards peace agreements because we have been flexible; but also because we have been resolute."

"Let us never forget that the foundation of a stable global situation is that we cannot be the world's policeman but that we will always use our influence for peace and civilization."

On specific issues, he expressed "unhappiness" with the recent cuts voted by the house of representatives and by Senate and House committees on military and economic aid for South Vietnam.

"We must strengthen the ability of the peoples of Indochina to determine their own future," Kissinger said. "After a decade and a half of loss of 50,000 American lives, some hesitate to give to South Vietnam — for whom the war has not yet ended — the help it so desperately needs to maintain itself as an independent nation."

"It would be tragic if we broke faith with all those Americans who have fought and died there if we now fail to make the relatively modest effort that the administration has proposed to the Congress to enable South Vietnam to survive," he said.

Kissinger was awarded the American Legion's distinguished public service award.

Transit triumph for Ford

(c) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — In a major victory for President Ford, the House of Representatives Tuesday overwhelmingly approved a six-year mass transportation bill after slashing it from $20 billion to $1.1 billion.

The reduction may well doom New York City's 35-cent transit fare if the Senate follows the lead of the House.

Senate action on a transit bill is still in the committee stage.

The House vote on the bill, the first major mass transit measure since 1967, was 324 to 99. Earlier, over the opposition of C. New York City representatives, the House approved by 257 to 153 a key amendment by Rep. William H. Harkin, R-Ohio, to cut the size of the bill.

The bill, while continuing massive federal aid for mass transit capital projects, also provides federal operating subsidies for the first time.

New York transit officials have said that a $20 million federal operating subsidy is needed this year. The House bill would provide a total of $70 million for construction grants and operating subsidies for New York and eight other cities.

Ford had called for a bill in the range of $11 billion or $12 billion as a move to hold over inflationary spending. He had threatened a veto of the original bill.

The total amount that New York and other large cities with rail transit systems might expect to receive is not mentioned in the bill.

Full answers planned by Rocky at hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Multi-millionaire Nelson A. Rockefeller will answer Congressional questions at his extensive financial holdings in a blunt, assuming Congress confirms him as Gerald Ford's vice president.

The former New York governor said he would answer fully during confirmation hearings any questions about his financial situation and was expected to testify before the Senate committee on his income tax returns and a complete financial report.

When a reporter asked him Tuesday how much he is worth, Rockefeller replied in a somewhat apologetic tone: "You're not a member of the Congress."

On the question of what he planned to do with his personal fortune while serving as vice president, he said: "I haven't had a chance to think much about it. This all came rather suddenly, but I'll do whatever the law says. I expect that means a trust." A blind trust would not permit Rockefeller to manipulate the funds while in office with an independent executor established.

After after meeting with Sen. Howard W. D-New York, chairman of the rules committee, Rockefeller said, "I'll do anything that seems correct from the committee's point of view" regarding his financial holdings.

"I'll tell the appropriate committee in Congress whatever they require," Rockefeller said.

Canon said the committee would require Rockefeller's tax returns and a full financial record. The governor said he would comply.

A member of one of America's wealthiest families, Rockefeller hid little to divulge his personal holdings during his 15 years as governor of New York.

At the time it was disclosed that California Gov. Ronald Reagan had paid minimal income taxes, Rockefeller's office said in response to questions about his tax situation. "The only statement we will make is that while he has been governor, his income taxes have been in seven figures."

National business magazines, stressing that they were fiercely guessing, have estimated the Rockefeller family wealth at more than $1 billion. The four living Rockefeller brothers and their sister are believed to hold only a relatively small part of the fortune individually, most of it being controlled jointly or by the Rockefeller Foundation.

The great wealth was amassed initially by Nelson Rockefeller's grandfather, John D. It was estimated in 1932 that Rockefeller's Standard Oil Co. held 95 per cent of the nation's oil refinery business.

By the time stock market laws broke up the big petroleum empire, John D. was in comfortable retirement and establishing the family's bent for philanthropy. By conservative estimates, he had given away more than $300 million by the time he died at his Florida estate in 1957 at the age of 97.

Amnesty opposed

(c) New York Times Service
CHICAGO — A day after President Ford surprised them in an address favoring "leniency" for draft evaders and deserters, delegates to the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars unanimously adopted a resolution reaffirming "total opposition to both general and selective amnesty for draft dodgers and military deserters."

During a brief debate at the VFW's 75th annual convention at the Conrad Hilton Hotel attended by about 400 veterans, the "no amnesty" document was described as "our answer to President Ford's feeler."

The comment was made by James E. VanZandt, a former Republican Congressman from Altoona, Pa., and past commander of the 1,8 million-member organization.

Agency stall persists

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Barkers of the proposed consumer protection agency believe they may finally have victory in sight despite another refusal by the Senate to pull legislation out from under a filibuster.

Continuing Senate labor and other issues plus the closeness of the latest vote to cut off debate — lost by four votes — prompted Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield to allow the backers of the bill a fourth try to end the filibuster on or about Sept. 11.

"The bill will pass in September," predicted Rolph Nader. "The task would be facilitated if consumers all over America asked their senators to support this antiregulatory, anti-inflation consumer advocacy bill. It needs the active support of all consumers."

Nader's lobbyists were pleased with the vote. Things went Tuesday and said the compromise legislation as set up by Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., was acceptable to them. The changes basically provided language that has passed the House and would specifically protect farmers from unwarranted interference.

Sens. James B. Allen, D-Ala., Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., James L. Buckley, R-N.Y., and other opponents said the compromise is presently a new piece of legislation that is still in a bureaucratic disarray, requiring renewed Senate consideration before it comes up for a vote.

The concept is for an agency with a staff of about 250 which would go to bat for the consumer when other government agencies such as the Food and Drug Administration or the Transportation Department make decisions involving health, safety, pocketbook issues and the bill. Dole said his compromise would keep the agency from intervening with the Agriculture Department "in any manner which would directly affect the production or initial sale of raw agricultural commodities." The specific language backing up what was believed to be a provision requiring the agency to consider the adequacy of the food supply and the impact of production on consumers before intervening.

Dole's change involving labor issues simply would adopt the House version which said that the agency could not get involved in private contract talks, but could become a party to any labor dispute reached the federal level. The original Senate version had a blanket labor exemption.

Tuesday's 59-35 vote, four short of the required two-thirds of those voting — saw five senators voting to cut off debate who had not voted that way before. In addition five others who in the past have voted for the bill were absent.

Reagan chances for race vanish

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The chances of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan gaining the presidential nomination in 1976 or four years later seemed to go out the window Tuesday.

"The possibilities now are very remote," said one longtime political observer of the nation's most populous state, has crossed the country as a GOP fundraiser for years, looking and sounding like a presidential candidate. He usually led in the polls.

"He has never said publicly that he wanted to be president," said the insider. "He consistently has said he would announce his decision in 1975."

But President Ford's nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller as his vice president seemed to dash cold water on any hopes Reagan might have had for getting himself installed as a running mate in 1976.

Then came Rockefeller's report that Ford had been "had" every inch of "writing a full term at the next

Food reserves at danger level

(C) New York Times Service
BUCHAREST. — An inattentive international conference on population was told today the world has reserves of food for only 27 days at the moment... a level considered far too low to insure against sudden global calamity.

Since Asia and North America are the two main food exporting regions of the world, grave food shortages may develop in the coming year in parts of the world, Brown said, and such shortages may grow worse each year.

The warning came from Lester R. Brown, an American analyst and writer, who spoke at the "population tribune" being held here. The tribune is being conducted simultaneously with and as supplement to the United Nations World Population Conference, which is also in session here.

The tribune, made up of nongovernmental organizations, is supposed to provide delegates here with an alternative to the essentially political debates being held in another part of Bucharest.

Brown, the main speaker on the subject of "Threats of Disaster," said that the 1974 world grain harvest will almost certainly fall below that of 1973, and that it was possible that a world catastrophe could be taking form.

He said that the two areas most affected by poor yields were in Asia, where energy shortages have resulted in a lack of fertilizer and fuel to run irrigation pumps, and in North America, where adverse weather has been the major factor.

Buford Pusser... crash victim

Car crash kills famous sheriff

SELMA, Tenn. (UPI) — Buford Pusser, a crime-busting sheriff made famous by the movie "Walking Tall," was killed today in a flaming traffic accident.

appearance and he was wearing his hair longer than his crewcut of law enforcement days.

His death came less than 24 hours after he signed to star in a sequel to the smash boxoffice hit about his battles against gambling, moonshining and prostitution in McNairy County Tenn.

Ervin said that Pusser apparently was headed home to Adamsville, Tenn., his daughter was alone in another car traveling behind him and witnessed the accident.

The Tennessee Highway Patrol said the 36-year-old Pusser died when his 1974 red sports car careened off Highway 64, crashed into an embankment and burst into flames.

Pusser was thrown clear and died instantly. The Highway Patrol said there was no sign of foul play in the wreckage.

There were seven attempts on Pusser's life while he served as sheriff and one of them killed his wife and almost killed him.

Pusser said he and his wife were at home when an early morning caller reported a "disturbance" in the south part of McNairy County. The sheriff and his wife drove to the area to investigate.

Hostage released

PLACED on stretcher in Potter County, Tex. Deputy Sheriff Don Sidwell, 39, who was released by inmates who seized the jail at Amarillo, Tex., Tuesday, Sidwell suffered a broken elbow in the takeover. Another deputy, Stan Siltker, was still a prisoner today. (UPI)

Texas jail prisoners gain some concessions

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI) — County officials negotiating with five inmates who took deputy hostage at knife-point today some of the prisoners' demands had been agreed to during all-night talks but that the inmates no longer demanded their freedom.

The inmates, apparently led by a former policeman and a woman who allegedly helped him commit a liquor-store holdup, took over the top two floors of the Potter County courthouse, where the jail is located, Tuesday. They grabbed two deputies for hostages, but released one of them 13 hours later so he could receive medical attention.

He (Merberg) said he wanted to see his lawyer in the morning before doing anything else. Thiel said he didn't mention any demands, other than to allow Thiel, Lundy and Merberg to be all over them.

At no time has Sheriff T. L. Baker agreed to let the prisoners go free. "They no longer are trying to escape," said Fields. "They gave up their demands yesterday for a car and money, and have never asked for weapons."

Herman Thiel, 33, Wichita Falls, husband of the woman inmate, Barbara Thiel, 40, talked to his wife and Darwin Merberg, 39, a former Wichita Falls police officer and the alleged ringleader of the escape attempt.

Californians smoked 2.76 billion packs of cigarettes during the 1972-73 fiscal year, state tax records show.

N-plants' risk low

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new government-sponsored study concludes that nuclear power plants pose less risk to the public than hurricanes, tornadoes or lightning.

The probability of death from a nuclear reactor accident for persons within 10 miles of an atomic power plant is 1 chance in 300 million per year, according to the investigation made public.

In comparison, the study said the per-year risk of death from a severe storm is 1 in 2.5 million, from lightning 1 in 2 million, from air travel 1 in 100,000, from fires 1 in 25,000, from falls 1 in 10,000 and from motor vehicle accidents 1 in 4,000.

Burley City Council hears 'port report

BURLEY — The Burley City Council received a report at its Monday night meeting on the airport improvement project.

William Block, J.U.-B Engineers, Inc., told the council that the improvement project is about 80 percent complete this time. Only about 10 percent of the contract time has been used.

Engineers estimated that the total project will cost $200,000 when finished. Because of the increased cost of building materials, the connecting taxiway between the runways will not be paved at this time. The main taxiway and tie-down area have been completed, Block said.

"I believed we got a good product," Block said.

The state's share of the project is $1,200,000. The city will put up about $27,000 of the improvements. The remainder of the project cost, about $200,000, was granted by the city by the Federal Aviation Administration.

Man held after stabbing

CHALLIS (UPI) — One man was in custody at Custer County Jail Tuesday and another reported in satisfactory condition at Moritz Community Hospital in Sun Valley as a result of an argument that led to a stabbing incident.

Custer County Sheriff Duane Sorenson said the two men — Scott Smith and Lowell Wooline, both of Boise, were traveling together in a car when the argument erupted.

They stopped the car at which time Wooline allegedly stabbed Smith with a knife, the sheriff said.

The stabbing took place Saturday night.

Burley pool to close

BURLEY — The Burley municipal swimming pool will close Thursday.

City recreation director Jack Keen said the pool is losing its summer heat, because most of the employees are students and will soon be returning to school. Keen said the pool would not be safe with a reduced staff.

No price fixing

BOISE (UPI) — A deputy attorney general says he can find no evidence of alleged price-fixing among some of Boise's pediatricians.

Deputy Attorney General Muelenauf wrote the pediatricians' attorneys that he did determine some of them met May 1 at St. Luke's Hospital and did discuss pricing.

But, he said, "we find no evidence of actual agreement or other commitment between physicians to 'fix' or establish prices or pricing policies."

He said his office found that some pediatricians raised prices prior to the meeting and some raised them afterward.

"An analysis of the general pricing structure indicates a lack of uniformity in price and pricing procedures among those physicians attending the meeting," Muelenauf added.

Criticism justified

BOISE (UPI) — The state director of special services says criticism of her department in a management study is justified.

"It's a pretty good study," Director Kay Pollock conceded.

She agreed "there are communication difficulties in the agency and that the department needs to incorporate many of the recommendations made in the study."

Skeleton discovered

CHALLIS (UPI) — Part of the skeleton of a man believed to have been missing from Stanley, Idaho, since June 15, 1972, was discovered north of Clayton in the Salmon River.

Custer County Sheriff Duane Sorenson said only a part of the skeleton was found. Tentative identification has been made that the remains were part of William Wooley, Stanley. Wooley was reported drowned several days after he was reported missing.

SV burglary cases cracked in arrest

SUN VALLEY (UPI) — Sun Valley police officers and Ketchum police said Tuesday they believe they have cracked a series of burglaries in the area in which thousands of dollars of items were taken.

Leonard Johnson, an employee of Sun Valley, was arrested by police and charged with burglary after Sun Valley security officer Fred Hilguy discovered two cases of jewelry in the bed of a truck belonging to Johnson.

After questioning Johnson, a search was conducted of his home where officers said they recovered liquor, clothing and jewelry and Sun Valley property.

He is being held under instructions.

Dude Caine, Sun Valley police department, and Guy Coles, special security officer for the Sun Valley Co., had been investigating the cases prior to Johnson's arrest.

They said several suspects were being watched and the surveillance had paid off.

Most of items taken during major burglaries at Sun Valley were recovered, they said.

They still are investigating other individuals with the possibility that others were involved in the burglaries because of the large volume and variety of items that were recovered.

Ketchum mayor's salary withheld

KETCHUM — The fireman's salary of the Ketchum mayor has been terminated pending action on a possible conflict of interest.

Following a routine meeting on a sewer rate increase two weeks ago, the Ketchum City Council asked Mayor Bill Brand to either resign as mayor or to relinquish his position as a paid city employee. Brand serves as fire chief and had been drawing $685 per month, as a full-time fireman for the city in addition to serving as mayor.

Brand has served as Ketchum mayor since January. In July, he began as a full-time fireman, after acting as volunteer fire chief for several years. Brand's $685 salary for July was paid, but, operating on instructions from the City Council, city clerk Betty Cole withheld Brand's fireman's salary for August.

Brand is continuing to work as a volunteer fireman until the conflict of interest matter is resolved.

Brand said today he has not resigned as mayor. He said in his opinion there is no conflict of interest in his holding the mayoralty and working as a paid fireman. The City Council sets salary levels and controls all hiring and firing of city employees, Brand said, which relieves him of a conflict of interest.

Brand said he intends to write a letter to the public and assess public reaction before making a decision as to whether he will resign as mayor.

"My intention is to level with the public and get some opinions and see what they think," Brand said.

If public opinion demands it, Brand said, he will resign the mayoralty rather than give up his fireman's job, which he said was his "main source of income." Until the matter is resolved, he said, he will continue to work as a volunteer fireman, drawing only a "token" $50 per month as fire chief.

Brand denied that there was political infighting between himself and City Council members over the conflict of interest. Earlier, he told Times-News reporter Bart Quisenberry that he had not stepped down as mayor because a new mayor appointee might have unscrupulous principles. But today Brand described that comment as "I think the council primarily has the interests of the community in mind," he said.

The council decision to terminate Brand's fireman's salary came after many months of intermittent discussion on the subject, Brand said Tuesday when he ran as mayor. He told the council he would resign as mayor if it meant losing his job on the fire department.

During Brand's mayoralty, according to councilmen, the problem has surfaced many times.

Councilwoman Martha Poltevin said she brought the question up again this June. Councilman Glenn Braaten said he initiated the discussion two weeks ago when the decision finally came.

According to an interpretation by city attorney Jim Phillips, Brand can legally serve as mayor while holding down a city employe position.

However, Phillips said the question of legality was irrelevant now since the council has made the decision. Phillips said the City Council and not solely the mayor makes appointments, does all the hirings and sets wage scales.

Consequently, he said the conflict would not legally, under his interpretation, be illegal.

Braaten said he was against the conflict since the beginning of the mayor's term although they remain friends.

"I just wish he had looked at his financial situation before he took the position," Braaten said.

According to Poltevin, under a unanimous decision by the council, Brand was allowed to remain as a city employe and mayor, she said. The fireman situation in January was not the same as it is now, she added.

Brand drew the $685 only during July of this month working on a part-time basis for most of the year, she said.

Phil Puchner, city councilman, said he sided with the council in its decision.

"I think it would be better," Puchner said. "There could be a conflict."

Poltevin said Brand is in a vulnerable position as mayor, fire chief and fireman.

"There is great conflict in it," she said. "It is untenable for Bill to make decisions as fire chief and then have to track them up as mayor."

Bliss best plant site

With higher elevations to the east and mountains to the north and west, pollutants would tend to concentrate on the Snake River Valley running northeast from Boise, Fauthon said. If gases from the power plant were trapped during an inversion lasting several days, the pollution "would likely move up the valley to Ontario, Ore."

Like water, the gases would flow in this downhill direction, he said.

If an "ark" has maintained, the power plant's emissions "are to rise above the inversion ceiling into the upper atmosphere, no significant pollution problem would be created. Under these conditions, Fauthon maintained, the gases would be dispersed by the strong winds aloft over southern Idaho."

Fauthon, who claims no pollution expertise, could not say whether the plant commission would raise inversion ceilings during fall and winter.

The Bliss site, located a few hundred feet higher than the Boise site, would have a lower inversion ceiling, and therefore would be less likely to trap gases, he said.

Furthermore, if the pollutants were trapped, they might have a more room to spread out from the Bliss site. Wind also would play a role.

"There is generally more wind ordinarily at Bliss. I would think that pollutants would disperse more rapidly," he said.

York said the choice of Bliss as the environmentally preferred site was "primarily based on the social-economic impact and a little bit on the ecological impact," prediction.

Most complaints about the recently constructed Jim Bridger plant at Blackfoot, Idaho, had centered around social and economic strains placed on the small town, he said.

Although the dispersion of pollutants might be better at the Bliss site, York said the difference between the sites "would be minuscule with pollution control equipment. It predicted no air pollution problems would occur at any of the sites."

Hand hurt in confusion

Stagecoach 'gunfight' creates Jerome scene

JEROME — A special show in the Jerome County Fair was cut short Tuesday night when a participant was injured.

A large crowd was on hand about 8 p.m. when a staged gun fight broke out among several cowboys near a stagecoach loaded with school girls.

The cowboys were holding up the stage when another gun fight broke out and the cowboys hit the dirt. At the same time, the crowd swarmed around the cowboys lying on the ground. In the confusion, a member of the group suffered severe finger lacerations. The victim refused medical treatment, and was last reported heading into the sunset toward the hospital.

A large crowd attended the fair-parade Tuesday and the results were happier. The parade was led through downtown Jerome by Brenda Peterson, this year's reigning fair queen.

Taking first place in the float division was the Tail Fiddlers 4-H Club with their float "Getting It all together." Second place went to Coles Canvas and Drapes.

In the novelty division, first place went to Heide Jones, Alaska. Second place went to Lou James, Jerome, and Jerome freshmen cheerleaders took third place.

The Gooding Liberty Bells were awarded first place in the posse division with the Gooding Purple Sage, second, and Jerome Junior Posse third.

In the drill team division the Jerome team received first place and the Valley team placed second.

A world of entertainment was to arrive Tuesday and be in full operation that night during the rodeo, but due to an apparent mishap in dates, the Roy Cammbeck show was not on hand the first day of the fair.

Carnival crews began arriving late Tuesday night and will be in full operation tonight.

Campanck said there will be 25 rides to provide entertainment for every age group. "I've added five rides for the younger children and three new rides for the more adventurous teenagers and adults."

Thursday's activities will focus on 4-H livestock and clothing projects. The swine, sheep, beef and poultry fitting and showing and quality judging will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The 4-H style revue will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. and the grand champion fitting and showing contest for livestock will begin at 4 p.m.

Thursday night will also be the final night of rodeo activity and a new fair queen will be crowned.

Burley robbery

BURLEY — Two male Mexicans are being sought by Burley police following a rugging and holdup at a bar in Burley, Tuesday night.

The men, still unidentified, entered the Calico Caf about 10 p.m. Tuesday and ordered two beers, according to Burley police detective Capt. Pete Rodriguez. He said the men assaulted a customer, Joe Struce, 56, Burley. Struce was pushed to the floor and kicked, requiring medical treatment. The men then forced the manager of the Calico Caf, Zola Osterhout, to give them about $100 in cash and a pellet gun.

Rupert annexes subdivision

RUPERT — The Rupert City Council voted Tuesday night to annex the Wheeler subdivision.

The subdivision was taken into the city except for five lots. The tract is located on the northwest side of Rupert.

Annexation of the area had been delayed because the developer, Louis Dewild, had planned the subdivision was taken into the city except for five lots. The tract is located on the northwest side of Rupert.

City water had been extended to the subdivision before annexation.

Wendell slates fun day

WENDELL — A special Wendell fun day and barbecue featuring the Idaho Old Time Fiddlers is planned Saturday.

Phyllis Bunn, chairman, said the all-day event is being held to raise money for the Wendell swimming pool fund.

"It's estimated the pool will cost between $75,000 and $85,000. We have raised $2,000 and the Wendell Job's Daughters has raised another $900 from a recent bike-a-thon. We have to raise half of the money in order to apply for federal matching funds," Mrs. Bunn said.

Saturday's activities will begin at 10 a.m. with a tennis tournament followed by a parade through downtown Wendell at 11:30 a.m. Those participating in the parade are asked to assemble at the grade school.

Starting at noon barbecue will be served complete with hot roasting ears, rolls and salads. Over 1,000 pounds of beef donated by area residents will be cooked in a pit by Harold Brown, and served all day. Committee members are planning on 2,200 to 2,500 people to attend.

A diaper derby also will be held at noon, and will feature babies 18 months and under vying for the title of bluest eyes, most teeth and longest hair.

Other activities include a girls ballgame at noon, a Peewee League vs. its moms at 12:30 p.m., a horseshoe tournament at 1 p.m., pig chase at the playground south of the grade school, bingo, dart throw, fish pond, snooker gallery and an opportunity to dunk the Wendell mayor and Sen. Jimmie Vell at 2 p.m.

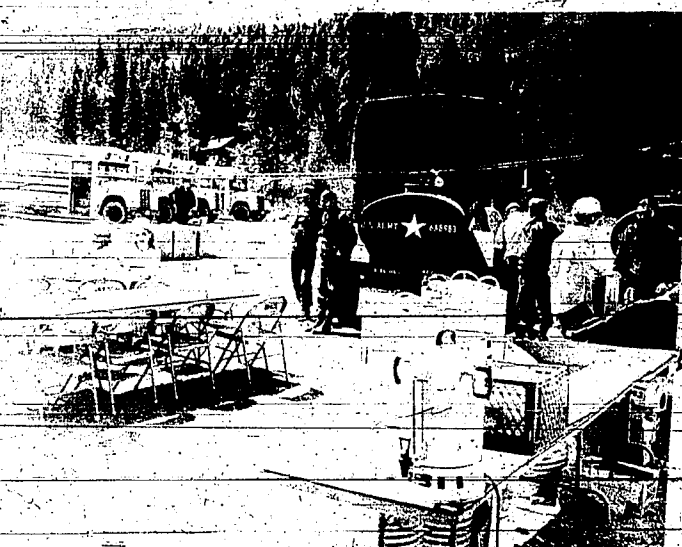

The Wendell Fire Dept. has challenged the Jerome Fire Dept. to a beer barrel water fight.

Races that include three-legged sack race, tug of war and coins in a straw pile will begin at 3 p.m. At 3:30 p.m. an arm wrestling contest will be held.

A hay auction has been scheduled for 4:45 p.m. and a football scrimmage at 6 p.m. Ending the day of activities will be a dance at the American Legion Hall featuring Bruce and the Rendezvous. The music will be piped to the Farmer's National Bank parking lot for the teenagers.

The Idaho Old Time Fiddlers will play in the city park all afternoon.

According to Mrs. Bunn, the event is open to everyone in Magic Valley. The charge for the barbecue will be $2 for adults and $1 for children. Special drawings for items donated will also be held at Mrs. Bunn said.

Hot meals for several hundred fire fighters arrive at headquarters camp.

Americans see coach onster as ill-omen

United Press International — Ordinarily, the firing of a football coach during the course of a season causes few ripples throughout a given sports league. The Birmingham Americans, however, would just as soon have seen their World Football League rival Jacksonville Sharks wait a week or so longer before lowering the axe on head coach Asher.

Utah heat helps crop development

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) - While hot, dry weather has helped crop development in some parts of the state, says the Utah Crop and Livestock Marketing Service.

The highest rainfall recorded for just week was .14 of an inch in Riflefield, but most areas reported less than .07.

This has left irrigation water supplies adequate for about 49 per cent of land under irrigation. Limited supplies were reported on 39 per cent of the land, and 12 per cent had no irrigation water left, the service calculated.

The Utah Basin area was barely hit, with 40 percent of the land without irrigation water.

The dry weather has aided farmers in advancing hay harvest. At the end of last week, second crop alfalfa was 92 per cent completed, and in early areas the third cutting has already begun.

Washington County reported that third crop already harvested.

Harvesting of other crops continued ahead of schedule. Winter wheat was 94 per cent harvested, sweet corn 54 per cent, spring wheat 30 per cent and barley 31 per cent. The service rated prospects as "good" for silage corn and sugar beets; fair to good for grain, potatoes and dry beans.

While stock water ratings now in use is improved, the service said prospects for fall pasture water are poor in almost every area. Calves are expected to be lighter than average this fall.

California's cattle industry was valued at $1.3 billion in 1973.

If the horses are declared wild, the Bureau of Land Management would be required to change land grazing permits for the Howey area and decrease the number of cattle permitted to graze on the land to make room for the horses.

Ranchers have expressed fears that if the wild horses are allowed to regenerate uncontrolled, it eventually would force the ranchers out of business because of the necessary cuts in the number of head of cattle that the land could support along with the wild horse and antelope.

An advocate of the wild horses, Wild Horse Annie and a group she has sponsored, Wild Horse Organized Assistance or "WIOA," are attempting to make the land near Howey a wild horse refuge.

The stockmen will meet in Reno, Nev., this week with other ranchers from the Western states, where wild horses share the range in an effort to find a way to control the animals.

Nevada ranchers have complained the uncontrolled growth of horse herds in their state already has increased the sizes of the herds to a point where the wild animals are facing overpopulation and starvation.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID LACHIONDO

Miss Smedley and Lachiondo marry

TWIN FALLS — Patricia Ann Smedley and David K. Lachiondo were united in marriage Aug. 17 in St. Benedict's Priory in Twin Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Smedley, Twin Falls. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Julien Lachiondo, Boise.

Rev. David J. Kuntz, Boise, performed the wedding ceremony before an altar holding baskets of pink gladiolus.

The bride's gown was white polyester in a fitted princess style with split cap sleeves. She wore a long lace trimmed veil borrowed from Mrs. Mike Barker. The bride's bouquet was constructed of pink roses with baby's breath and a sprig of detachable baby rose-cappars.

Attending the bride was friend of honor Charlene Hansen, Twin Falls; Mrs. Mark Litteras, sister of the groom, Boise; Pat Ullman, Pocatello, and Carolyn Hodges, Hansen, were bridesmaids; Ginger Smedley, sister of the bride, was the flower girl.

Antique Theatre benefit set tonight

TWIN FALLS — The Antique Festival Theatre in cooperation with the Twin Falls Mental Health Association will present a benefit performance of "Tip of Van Winkle" at the CSI Fine Arts Center tonight at 8:30 p.m.

Taking advantage of the versatility of the fine arts stage, the "ATF" will conduct their unique school bus to the edge of the stage, and perform on the stage using their own settings from the bus as the backdrop. Starring in Gerald McDonough's adaptation of Washington Irving's tale are Doug Wildberger, Billy Bidwell, Paul Abbott, Arvid Olson, Constance Bahr, Rory Scanlon, Mary Murfin, and Donna Green.

The play has received good reviews from people all over

Idaho. Admission for the performance will be $2 for adults and $1 for children and senior citizens.

The Twin Falls Mental Health Association will use the proceeds to continue on-going programs in the community such as Hot Line, Community Friends, and their VISTA worker. Tickets will be available at the door.

Miss Bidwell, tour manager for the ATF, reminds Magic Valley residents that the ATF is in their last two weeks of the summer tour and hopes that theatre fans will take advantage of this opportunity to see live professional theatre before the summer ends and support the Mental Health Association at the same time.

TIPS ON LOVELIER HANDS

A mark of a lovely hand is the oval-shaped fingernail. Tapering and delicate, oval nails lend grace to even large or awkward hands.

There is no need to fret, however, even though your nails are downright stubby. By the proper choice and application of nail enamel, an ovalized appearance can be created.

For the purpose you need an opaque enamel in a soft, medium shade — on the coral side if your skin is creamy or olive, on the rosy side if fair. Wipe to use a clear or pale polish, the rose would fit in this regard. Luck is with you. Stronger shades of high-gloss enamels and lipsticks have gained acceptance.

The application method follows: First, file the nails in the most generous oval possible — no points, no square-offs. Try to keep the length to one-quarter inch beyond the fingertips. So as to reveal the moons completely, push the cuticles well back with an orange-wood stick.

In applying polish, cover the entire nail with enamel, except for a slim margin along either side. Then remove a hair's breadth from the tips, pressing a bit harder at the sides than in the center.

You will be amazed at the trimming effect. Not as evident is the plus in a lipstick that matches your enamel. By supplying equal color emphasis to lips and fingertips, your hands become less of a stand-out.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: John and I have been married for 14 months. He had a 3-year-old son by a previous marriage. We had no trouble getting custody of the boy because his mother didn't want him. (She hasn't come to see him since.)

I am 29 and John is 35, and I want to have a child of our own. John's son, whom I honestly couldn't love more if I had given birth to him, would dearly love a little brother or sister, and I desperately want one, but John says no. His excuses are lame. ("The world is in such a sorry state, we shouldn't increase the population now. We have one healthy, normal child now, why press our luck?")

She shouldn't forget pill

I am on the pill, and could conveniently "forget" to take it a few months, but I hate to be dishonest. If I were to get pregnant, he couldn't force me to have an abortion, and I'm sure that after the child was born he would grow to love it like he loves his son.

Please help me sort out my feelings. Abby.

TORN IN CHICAGO

DEAR "TORN": About your scheme to "conveniently forget" the pill. Engage in the scheme, not the pill. Ideally, you and John should get some counseling together. Most clergymen are well equipped; also Chicago has many expert marriage counselors. If John refuses to go, you can't force him, but do go alone. You need some sound, objective counseling to help you resolve this knotty problem.

DEAR ABBY: A writer was unhappy about her flat chest and asked you whether breast implants were considered ideal and therefore sinful in the eyes of the Lord. I disagree. Every clergyman cannot keep abreast of new developments in plastic surgery; some clergymen are big boys as advisers on these points.

The writer should look behind her breast where her heart is—for the answer. Whom is she trying to deceive or please?

"Capping" one's teeth for cosmetic reasons has been an accepted practice for years. Are teeth more important to beauty than breasts?

BEVERLY HILLS M.D.

DEAR M.D.: Only to those who have trouble keeping their mouths shut.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SHIRLEY: I agree. Something is wrong. Maybe he's gay at the office.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER GOODMAN

TF pair feted on 60th anniversary

TWIN FALLS — Walter and Elsie Goodman, longtime Twin Falls residents, observed their 60th wedding anniversary at their home, 635 Huxbury Ave., Sunday with a family picnic.

Goodman, a retired barber, came to Twin Falls with his wife and children in June, 1925. He operated a barbershop on Main Avenue South for a number of years and moved to the KPTL building where he maintained a shop until retiring nine years ago.

He and Elsie Russell were married Aug. 19, 1914, in Ness City, Kans. Two of their three children were born there and the third one in Twin Falls. Goodman has been active in the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club, the Masonic Lodge and both are members of the Christian Church and have taught Sunday school there.

Mrs. Goodman is known for her flower garden which she has enjoyed for many years. She is a member of the Highland View Club and a 51-year member of Eastern Star. Attending the family picnic were the couple's two daughters, Mrs. Leslie (Miss) Burkhalter, Murray, Utah, and Mrs. Richard (Vera) Young, Twin Falls, and their son, Lynn Goodman, who worked with his father, taking over the barber business on his father's retirement.

Also attending were three of the couple's eight grandchildren and four of their nine great-grandchildren. Mrs. Burkhalter presented the couple with a scriptbook, including photographs of their 60 years of married life.

TF woman honored

TWIN FALLS — Francis A. Breeding, Twin Falls, was honored on her 80th birthday Sunday by her family at the W.W. Breeding residence. It was announced Tuesday.

She was greeted by about 50 guests, including out-of-town family. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Breeding, Dodge City, Kan.; nephew, David Breeding, Maitland, Louisiana; grandson, Ed and Mae Cary, Buhl, cousin, of Mrs. Breeding. Refreshments were served by Julie Jodie and Jeannette Breeding and Shaun and Mike Enke, all great-grandchildren of the honored guest.

Mrs. Breeding's family includes six children, 17 grandchildren, 38 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandson.

Mrs. Glandon weds in Nevada rites

TWIN FALLS — Bonita Glandon and Joe Molyneux were married Aug. 3 in Elko, Nev., in a double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Joseph Alves, Kimberly, and Bonnie Alves, Twin Falls. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Molyneux, Twin Falls.

The bride wore a short gown of hunter green with orange and brown accessories. Her only flowers were baby's breath woven in an orange headband matching the band of honor.

Victoria Santos was the maid of honor, and Larry Lullin performed best-man duties.

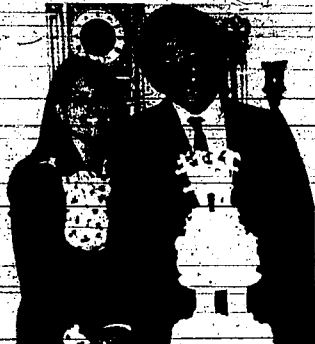

A reception honoring the couple was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents Aug. 17. The color scheme was orange and yellow.

The serving table was covered with a white and green lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with dark and light orange, fuschias, white bells, and cupid. It was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and flanked with orange and yellow candle rings.

The cake was cut and served by Alex Present, cousin of the bridegroom, and Wendy Slane. Punch and coffee were served by Ethel Molyneux, aunt of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Harold Poole, Kristi Slane was in charge of the guest book, Desire Glandon, daughter of the bride, and Cheri Santos were gift bearers. The gift table was attended by Victoria Santos and Bonnie Dalzoglio.

The newlyweds reside in Twin Falls where the bride works for Longview Fibre Co. and the bridegroom is employed at Molyneux Machinery Co.

bid six clubs, whereupon Watson could surely have gone to seven diamonds. Anyway, Holmes found himself at six hearts. He won the spade lead and studied the whole hand before playing to the next trick.

There wasn't much study needed. If trumps broke 3-2 he had 14 top tricks. Suppose they broke 4-1. The contract was six hearts. It wasn't important to make an overtrick and Holmes decided to play safe.

At trick two he led a low heart from his hand. East won that trick but could do nothing to keep Holmes from drawing trumps and making his slam.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

The energy shortage caused the Italian government to call for an early closing of restaurants there. And for less movie going. And for shortened TV broadcasts. And for a ban on Sunday driving. Unwise. Highly unwise. Government officials now say a baby boom is expected to complicate Italy's energy problems considerably.

IF YOU'RE naysighted, you can explain the why of it to curious questioners merely by telling them that your eyeballs are too long.

FIREMEN are known to be far more prone than most other professional fellows to heart attacks.

MAN is the only animal with a jutting chin.

WOMEN

When a previously unacquainted man and woman meet, whether they say anything to each other depends almost entirely on the woman. Or so a scholar contends. Tests prove that the gentleman simply does not open up a conversation unless the lady cues him with some sort of expression. Interesting. Still, I've seen flippant fellows toss uninvited wisecracks at passing girls. But maybe they don't count. This authority claims all pickup meetings in public bistros are engineered by the wick.

Q. "LOUIE, how many birds can you list that are named after the sounds they make?"

A. Cuckoo, bobolink, whippoorwill, chickadee, bob white, towhee and peewee. Can't think of any others right now. Wait until after the next field trip.

ARTHRITIS

That numerous arthritis patients can predict weather changes is no news. But the fact was confirmed recently by the University of Pennsylvania's Climatron. It's a room where the weather is man-made by the control of temperature, humidity, barometric pressure, so on. Nearly all the arthritis patients, who sat through a manly, factured storm there, complained of pains early in the experiment.

AM CERTAIN it's no longer true, but for many years the most popular wedding ring in India was the world's oldest-cut—the old-Numerous-child-marrages explain it.

IN THE SPRING of 1849, the year of the great California gold rush, the record shows there were only 15 women in San Francisco. How they multiplied!

NO, I JUST can't explain why the pupil of a whale's eye is kidney shaped.
